

WICOMICO HIGH ENCOUNTERS ITS LARGEST ENROLLMENT THIS FALL

Portable Schools Are To Aid In Accommodating of Between 550 And 600 Students.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS ALSO HEAVILY BESET

1,159 Pupils Attend Lower Classes at Opening—Officials Hopeful That High School Will Not Go On Part-Time Basis—Regular Routine Commenced Tuesday.

Enrollment at the Wicomico High School this year is the largest in the history of Salisbury's educational institution. Five hundred and twenty-eight boys and girls had entered their names on the principal's register by Wednesday morning with every indication that the list would be increased during the remainder of the week and that by the end of the first term over 600 will have been enrolled in the various departments.

Meeting this situation as masterfully as it could, the School Board has succeeded in taking care of the crowded conditions by the erection of five portable school-buildings on the south side of the present High School structure. These will temporarily take care of the overflow, although $13,000 had been requested to provide ample accommodations and only $10,000 had been appropriated.

The new buildings make fairly attractive school-rooms and are designed along modern educational lines with lighting effects coming from only one side and blackboards gracing the opposite walls. Each room is separately heated although where the coal is to be got is left for the individual's imagination. Individual desks are provided with armrests under the seats for the scholar's books and other paraphernalia. Principal C. H. Cordrey and his staff of 21 teachers accomplished what seemed to be an herculean task on Monday when they enrolled every boy and girl admitted and distributed all the books on hand. Consequently classes got under way Tuesday morning and regular routine work was followed out.

Not to be outnumbered by the High School's large attendance figures the Elementary Schools of Salisbury also reported a larger enrollment than last year when the names of 1,159 children were written down on the books the first two days. In order to take a number of children out of a damp cellar where they were last year, the School Board erected a portable building on a site between the Bell Street school and the Grammar School. There yet remains a class of youngsters in a second story room that reminds one of a hay-loft in what is known as the Guthrie building on the corner of Union Street and South Division. Poor conditions, such as light coming in from three sides, exist here.

Superintendent Bennett stated in an interview that at present the crowded conditions are being met as satisfactorily as possible and that no student would be on part time, but it is impossible to forecast what the future will bring forth in the way of additional students that will cause overcrowding again. This is in the white schools. In the colored children in the county, other arrangements are apt to be made. All the teaching positions are filled in the white schools but there are some vacancies in the colored ones. Reports from other districts show that Salisbury in the county indicates a full year in the educational field. Duane has enrolled 81 students in the high school; Sharpstown, 57; Hebron, 35; and Mardela, 25.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION IS ENGAGED IN MANY ACTIVITIES THIS FALL

Business Women's Club Starts Campaign For Membership In Physical Classes—Schedules Announced—Secretary Hamerslough To Inaugurate Night School.

Salisbury's Y. M. C. A. under the able leadership of Secretary Hamerslough is actively entering upon a fall and winter season of departmental enterprises. Important among these is the formation of gymnasium classes for women and girls as a part of the physical program of the Business Women's Club.

This Wednesday night a drive was launched by members of the above organization for members to the new classes. The campaign will end Saturday night. Ten teams have been formed an assigned to various districts such as the school and business districts.

The girls' gymnasium classes will commence Tuesday afternoon and Saturday will be the other dates. The schedule is as follows: Business men's classes, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 5:30 o'clock. Senior classes: Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8 o'clock; High School students: Monday at 4 P. M., Wednesday at 4:30 P. M., Saturday at 10:30 A. M.; Juniors: Wednesday at 3:30 P. M., Friday at 4 P. M., and Saturday at 5:30 A. M.; Junior Girls, Tuesday at 4 P. M. and Saturday at 3:30 P. M.; High School Girls, Tuesday at 6 P. M. and Saturday at 4:30 P. M.; Women's A, Tuesdays at 7 P. M. and Wednesdays at 8:30 P. M.

TALL CEDARS FROLIC GAYLY AT OCEAN CITY

Big Parade Features—Milford Delegation Scores Hit—Oscar Morris Excellent in Masquerade.

Tall Cedars from all over the Eastern Shore and from several of the large cities gathered together for the big picnic and frolic at Ocean City last Thursday. From early in the morning until late in the evening the boardwalk at the popular summer resort was thronged with merry-makers. Old Sol and the elements frowned favorably down upon the assembly an deniable everyone to have a grand and glorious time. Showers in the evening made the fireworks' committee huddle that display which was adjudged by everyone to be most spectacular. There were no athletic events on account of the high tide on the beach.

The parade in the afternoon was easily the feature of the day's festivities. Three bands in line and Forest 49 from Milford, Del., was in uniform. About 30 clowns cavorted around with all sorts of antics and drew the applause of the crowds watching. Milford Forest again scored a hit with two negroes dressed up to represent a camel. Oscar Morris, of this city, was excellent in his imitation of a rube mounted on a donkey and Charlie Chaplin, played by Mr. Macruder, was comical also.

Army And Navy Store Stock To Sell Cheap

Philadelphia Underselling Company Closed Deal Thursday And Will Clean Out Present Goods.

The stock of the Army and Navy store on Division street near Church has been purchased by the Philadelphia Underselling Company and early Thursday morning there will be inaugurated a ten-day price wrecking sale.

The deal for the goods was closed last Thursday and it is the intention of the present company to absolutely clear the house of all the present stock at extremely low prices in order to make room for new clothing material. A general store will then be established offering to the public men and ladies' wearing apparel.

SALISBURY GRANGE HAS FIRST MEETING OF FALL

Salisbury Grange met Saturday night after having suspended meetings during summer. A community fair to be held sometime this fall was discussed. A committee was appointed to go in to the matter thoroughly. These men met Tuesday night. It was also decided to send a delegation over next Saturday night to a meeting of the Mardela Grange.

The question of diseases to be discussed was discussed. At the next meeting on the 16th refreshments will be served and a musical program offered.

Announcement has also been made by the Association's secretary that beginning October 2nd and continuing until April 1st there will be night school to be held in the Mardela Business Arithmetic and Spelling and Penmanship conducted by Prof. Hackett, of the English Department, at the Wicomico High School.

Beacom College Opens With Large Enrollment

More Students Present Sept. 4th Than on Corresponding Day Last Year—Buggy Year Ahead.

The fall term opened at the College on Monday, Sept. 4, with a larger enrollment than on the opening day a year ago. Some of the new students are as follows: Annie Letchum, Bishop, Md.; Elizabeth Richardson, Newark, Md.; Irma Toadvine, Salisbury, Md.; Ethel Williams, Bishop, Md.; Virginia Wilson, Eastville, Va.; Elizabeth Rue, Westover, Md.; Viola Melson, Selbyville, Del.; Gertrude Holland, Marion, Md.; Estelle Banks, Prallville, Md.; Edgar Bennett, Carlisle, Md.; Elton Bounds, Mardela Springs, Md.; Joseph Ferbee, Eastville, Va.; John Wagner, Salisbury, Md.; William Toadvine, Salisbury, Md.; Leslie Roberts, Delmar, Del.; Hilton Lang, Greenbackville, Va.

WHITE CLOUDS CLOSE SEASON ON LABOR DAY

Become Cellar Champions By Losing Both Games To Cambridge.

VISITORS GAIN SECOND PLACE OVER CRISFIELD

Discarding of Non-Scheduled Game Won Earlier in Season by Salisbury Establishes Cambridge in Runner-Up Position With League Record of 13 Straight—Umpire Mobbed at Pocomoke.

Members of the Salisbury and Cambridge baseball teams rang down the curtain on the Eastern Shore League's 1922 season before a large crowd at Gordy Park on Monday afternoon. Approximately half of the fans were rooters for the Choptank shores and their frenzied support of their aggregation enlivened the contest and made things very interesting.

In the opening game last June, the White Clouds were distinctly classed, although in their final appearance on the diamond they did not give as rawed an exhibition as at the start. In losing to Cambridge 7 to 2, Manager Adams and his charges put up a beautiful holding game and the visitors secured their series by a narrow margin.

Twelve safeties were gathered off the latter with Flowers leading the opposing attack with two singles, one two-base play and a circuit smash out of four trips to the plate. Johnson, his teammate, pounded the pellet safely three times out of four. For the White Clouds, Adams and Duffy each is credited with three hits.

The Choptank tongues, by winning the morning session at Cambridge and then duplicating their feat in the afternoon, chalked up a league record of 13 straight victories which began two weeks ago when they were undisputed occupants of last place and which has landed them in second position on the final standing. This was made possible by the elimination of a game between Cambridge and Salisbury earlier in the season which Salisbury won and which has been thrown out by league officials because through some mistake it was played though not scheduled.

Division Street Lot To Be Sold Saturday

Speculation Rife As To Who Will Buy Henrietta Parker Property near Postoffice.

Much interest has been manifested in the sale of the Henrietta Parker property on North Division street which will be offered at public auction on Saturday, September 9, in front of the Court House at two o'clock in the afternoon. The property is desirably situated in a good business section and one that is growing.

HOME STRETCH IN POLITICAL RACE REACHED

Whirl-Wind Finishes To Primary Campaigns of Democratic And Republican Candidates.

ORDERLY FIGHTS WAGED BY OPPOSING FACTIONS

Next Monday Democrats Will Mark White Ballots Giving Names of Three Senatorial Candidates and Three for Congress—Republicans Vote Pink Ballots Naming Two Senate Rivals.

With Democratic and Republican candidates coring down the home stretch of the campaign for nomination to the United States Senate and Congress, interest in the primaries, which are but four days away, is becoming more and more intense. On the eve of this last week of vote-seeking, old-time declare there has been apparent less bitterness, less strife, less mud-slinging and less hard feeling shown than in any preliminary skirmish in years. Quite naturally there have been the usual under-tone charges and counter-charges, but on the whole all factions have conducted their fights along orderly lines. Among the candidates there has been no blemishing of reputations; no rattling of skeletons in the closets and very few conflicts of views.

This week found the contest warming up considerably and friends of the various political aspirants are making a whirl-wind campaign during the closing hours of the fight that is scheduled to open in the polling booths on next Monday when both Democrats and Republicans will nominate candidates for the United States Senate and when Eastern Shore Democrats will nominate a candidate for Congress.

For United States Senate: Wm. Cabell Bruce, Democrat, of Baltimore; David J. Lewis, Democrat, of Cumberland; William L. Norris, Democrat, of Baltimore; John W. Garrett, Republican, of Baltimore; Joseph Irwin France, Republican, of Baltimore.

For Congress: T. Alan Goldsborough, Democrat, of Denton; Albert W. Sisk, Democrat, of Preston; Alexander M. Jackson, Democrat, of Salisbury.

They were: Miss Grace Hounds, Mrs. Cooper Disharoon, Miss Elizabeth White and Mr. Isaac White.

HOTEL SURVEY REPORT ACTED ON FAVORABLY

Chamber Of Commerce's Committee Endorses Expert's Recommendations.

MODERN AND FIREPROOF HOTEL LOOMS UP LARGE

Meeting Called For This Thursday Night When Full Membership Of Commerce Body Is Expected To Definitely Take Up Project Of Hotel Financing Company.

Most thorough and detailed was the survey and report of Mr. Harvey J. Hill, of the Hotel Financing Company, New York City, on Salisbury's hotel situation, which was delivered to members of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting called to order last Thursday night by President Fred P. Adkins. The local body's hotel committee, consisting of Messrs. F. P. Adkins, Hooper S. Miles and L. L. Benjamin, was on hand to receive the report and offer recommendations.

Mr. Hill together with several assistants, all experts in different fields, have just completed their analysis of the hotel situation in Salisbury and it is their belief that all forces in this community are ready for the erection of a modern fireproof hotel with ample accommodations for the traveling public through this section of the Shore. A recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce's hotel committee based on this report was voted to be brought before the full membership of the above organization at a meeting called for next Thursday evening, September 7th.

That a modern hotel structure would be a paying proposition in Salisbury was the opinion of Mr. Hill. This he had concluded after determining the radius of territory which the project would cover with the accompanying details of county populations, nearby hotel facilities, amount of railroad travel in local terminals and the need and desire of the citizens of this city for such a civic enterprise.

Among the interesting data submitted by Mr. Hill were the results of 45 personal interviews with prominent business men of Salisbury; and the reports of 12 business concerns whose salesmen cover this territory regularly. These interviews and reports were obtained by the Hotel Committee with the understanding that the individual information given is confidential but that the general tenor of the replies might be made known.

The analysis of these interviews submitted by Mr. Hill on behalf of the Hotel Committee was much the most interesting phase of the report. While a wide diversity of opinion appeared to prevail among the business leaders of Salisbury as to the scope to be given to the local hotel undertaking, 44 out of 45 men interviewed have replied to the effect that something should be immediately done to supplement Salisbury's accommodations for commercial and tourist travelers.

Recommendations made by the Hotel Committee were as follows: (A) Recommended that the Chamber of Commerce endorse to the business public and property holders of Salisbury and vicinity the erection of a modern fireproof hotel of about seventy-five (75) rooms as a necessary and profitable civic undertaking; and (B) That in the plans of the said hotel ample provision be made for public and private dining room, committee room, lobby-lounge, and writing room, facilities such as the recent survey of the Hotel Committee indicates that our community requires and will support; and (C) That in planning and erecting the proposed structure suitable provision be made for future addition or additions to the said hotel; and that from the first commercial revenue producing features such as store rooms, barber shop, cigar and news stand be incorporated in the plan.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT ORDERS CITY TO CLEAN OUT MOSQUITO BOG

SHORE FANS WILL FLOCK HERE SATURDAY

All is in readiness for the championship series between Parkley and Martinsburg, pennant winners respectively in the Eastern Shore and Blue Ridge Leagues. Salisbury fans are planning to attend the opening game at Parkley, Thursday and many will probably repeat on Friday. On Saturday the scene of battle shifts to Gordy Park and followers of the sport all over the Shore will journey to Salisbury to witness on that day the third contest between the rivals.

President M. H. Sexton of the National Association will attend the game, arriving in Salisbury Friday night on an official visit to this league.

BENJAMIN TO OPEN NEW STORE IN GRAND STYLE

Professional Models Engaged For Fashion Show on 14th at Largest Ladies' Store South of Phila.

Conspicuous in the ushering in of Salisbury's fall display of fashions will be the Fashion Show and Promenade staged by Benjamin as a fitting celebration of the grand opening of his imposing new store, Main Street, Thursday, Sept. 14. To the buyers who come to the Wicomico metropolis there will be presented on that day, the best equipped ladies' store south of Philadelphia.

In October, 1915, Benjamin came to Salisbury and started his store featuring a stock of ladies' goods. Perfect quality increased quantity of sales until gradually the business outgrew the quarters and the prosperous merchant decided to enlarge. The thoroughgoing property adjoining his original site was purchased last February and immediately contracts were let for extensive remodeling and renovating of both stores which were destined to be linked into one large fire structure to bear the popular sign of "Benjamin's."

The alterations have just about been completed and on the morning of Sept. 14, the doors will be thrown open to the public on what will instantly be passed as a most modern and beautiful department store for ladies. Wardrobes for ready-to-wear apparel have been installed with attractive mirror alcoves. Other new features have been provided. In fact no stone has been left unturned by the management to modernize in his store all merchant practices and displays.

Shelves of the latest designs form an integral part of the long list of improvements that will be noted instantly by the many customers and the comfort of the patrons while making their purchases has not been overlooked in a single detail.

Professional models have been engaged to come down from New York for the Fashion Show in which the latest creations will be shown to advantage. This promenade will be staged between 10:30 and 11:30 next Thursday afternoon and will be held at the Arcade with special music.

Sheppard who is the Chairman of the Guarantors. This will be followed by greetings and announcements from the president of the Chautauqua Superintendent, William H. Reese, who will later lecture on four subjects: "The Voice of the Heavens," "The Voice of the Earth," "The Interpretation of The Three Voices in Stone by Man."

20 Days Allowed Mayor And Council To Drain Malaria Breeding Grounds.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO REPORT FEASIBILITY

Section Known as "Cranberry Bog" Likely To Be Drained By Ditching. Tom Mitchell Given 14 Days To Clean Out Pond—Dr. Fulton in City Saturday.

Activities of various agencies in the local malarial situation were drawn to a focus last week with the coming to Salisbury the latter part of the week of Dr. Fulton, head of the State Health Department. Dr. Fulton conferred with municipal and county officials after a brief survey of conditions existing in this city and county with which he is already very familiar.

Dr. Fulton served notice on Mayor Kennedy and the City Council of Salisbury to clean out that portion of property known as the "Cranberry Bog" which runs from Delaware Avenue to Lake Street and from Gordon to Main and William Streets. This might be done by ditching, sewerage or other means, that would eliminate the breeding of anopheles mosquito. Notice was also served by the health authorities upon Mr. Tom Mitchell to clean out his pond back of his brickyard from Isabella Street to Fitzwater. Fourteen days were named as the limit for the latter's operations and 20 days were allowed the city.

For months and months the mosquito question here has been agitated by individuals, corporations, newspapers, health agencies and other institutions. Surveys of all descriptions have been made and recommendations offered in hopes that this section might be forever rid of the malaria plague.

A definite action on the part of the city and county authorities has been found lacking and as a consequence, the evil is more potent than ever. Dr. Fulton states that he finds the malaria situation very bad in Salisbury. The central breeding places, he says, seems to be in California and Jersey and around the different mill-ponds.

Maryland's chief health administrator declared that the County Commissioners and the City Council should unite in an effort to free the city and county of these breeding places. He stated that it would be possible for Salisbury not only to get rid of malaria within its limits in 1922 were the proper remedial measures taken now.

It was said that the people of Salisbury had not yet awakened to the seriousness of the situation and that their apathetic treatment of it must needs be corrected. Dr. Fulton stated that it is impossible to really estimate the losses sustained by the community because of the dreaded germ-carrying mosquito. One of the outstanding results is that upon real estate values, for one of the first questions asked at the State Health Department by individuals and concerns contemplating movement into new territories is that regarding the prevalence of malaria. More people are kept away from a community because of the effects of malaria than are other diseases. A noted health official asserted, and it now more than ever, that the much-feared malarial Monday night at the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council.

SMALL BOAT OWNERS WARNED OF U. S. TAX

Boats Craft Over 32 feet and
5 Tons' Capacity Subject to Levy.

Instructions were issued yesterday by revenue inspectors in this district to enforce the new regulations imposing a special tax on all boats and boats of over five net tons and measuring more than 32 feet in length. The law, which became effective July 1, has not been observed by many of the vessel owners and operators because they are unacquainted with its provisions. Indeed, they are unaware of the existence of the statute.

This provides that on and after July 1 yachts, pleasure boats, power boats, motor boats with fixed engines and sailing vessels of over net tonnage and length must pay a tax of $1 for each foot; over 50 and not more than 100 feet $2 for each foot; and over 100 feet $4 for each foot.

Boats exempt from this tax are those used exclusively for trade. This includes those used in connection with any business activity which constitutes a person's business, occupation, profession or means of livelihood; also those operated without profit by benevolent or religious organizations.

All must, however, make a return to the Collector of Internal Revenue and if exemption is claimed the return must be executed in full and a statement of the return must be filed across the face of the paper.

When this is allowed an exemption card will be issued, and this must be kept on board whenever the boat is in use and must be shown to any officer or agent of the internal revenue or navigation service. Failure to pay the tax or not securing an exemption card renders the owner or lessee liable to a fine of $1,000.

A. Lincoln Dryden, the navigation officer in this and adjoining districts, has been directed to board all vessels and report cases where a tax card is not produced.

WRIGHT-HUGHES.

Herbert Wright, of Sharptown, and Miss Mary Hughes, of Hebron, were married on Saturday night at the Methodist Protestant parsonage at Sharptown by Rev. George R. Donaldson. After the ceremony they were given a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, at Sharptown.

Senator France Ever An Obstructionist

In the enactment of the final scenes in the United States Senate for the passage of the SOLDIER BONUS BILL, Maryland suffered a new humiliation at the hands of Senator Joseph Irwin France, when by the overwhelming vote of 55 to 3 his amendment to arrange for the turning back of bonus payment for veterans to assist in creating an educational fund and a chain of universities went down to defeat. An obstructionist to the bitter end, Senator France pitted his amendment against the best thought of his party leaders, and practically the judgment of the United States Senate as a whole.

The friend of the Bolshevik movement, the only voter in the Senate against the Four Power Treaty for the peace of the world, and the man who "Hoped to God for the success of the Democratic Party", thus while appealing for the votes of Republicans of Maryland, gave another example of his unfitness to represent the people of this state in the United States Senate.

Bruce Believes He Will Carry Shore

Candidate For Democratic Nomination
As United States Senator Will Make Another Tour However.

Wm. Cabell Bruce, candidate for the Democratic nomination as United States Senator, is extremely confident that he will carry the entire Eastern Shore in the approaching primaries, according to a statement made by him this week. "I find that the majority of the party leaders on the Shore are with me and the same seems to be true of the rank and file of the party," he added.

Mr. Bruce, who was accompanied by his son, Ames Bruce, and James A. Bradley, of Kent County, made a flying trip through Wicomico, Dorchester and Talbot counties last week. Mr. Bradley stated that there was no question that Mr. Bruce would carry Kent, Queen Anne's and Cecil counties by big majorities and the fact that former Senator John Walter Smith had endorsed his candidacy practically assured the vote of the Shore being cast in his behalf.

Mr. Bruce met a great many of the voters on the Shore and stated he would take another trip through the Shore before the primaries.

Goats In Texas Zoo Care For Antelopes

Little Orphans Thrive on Treatment
Administered by Their Foster
Parents in Park.

"Two goats at the Washington Park Zoo, El Paso, Tex., are now mothering a pair of baby antelopes captured on the plains south of Juarez. The antelopes are five weeks old and are thriving," says the "New York World."

"The goats at first showed some hostility toward their charges. Now they accept the two orphans as a matter of course, although they show little affection."

"In striking contrast is the solitude of a monkey mother in a nearby cage to her baby's digestion. Although he is getting to be a husky youngster, the mother still refuses to allow him to eat peanuts offered by visitors. When he slips by her and gets one in his mouth, she grabs him, boxes his ears and forces open his mouth, removing the peanut. Then she gives him a good scolding."

MANY MUSKRAT SKINS.

According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, there have been 143,212 muskrat skins shipped from Alaska since December 1, 1921. This is almost as many as were shipped during the entire year of 1919.

WILSON-PHILLIPS.

Miss Madelyn Phillips and Mr. Eugene Wilson were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at high noon on Tuesday at the M. P. Parsonage in this city, Rev. R. L. Shibley officiating. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. Medford Phillips of Laurel,

Delaware, and the groom is the son of Mr. Geo. E. Wilson of Delmar, Del. The groom is engaged in business with Mr. E. J. Culver. The bride wore a midnight blue traveling suit with hat to match. The happy couple left on the southbound express amid showers of rice and good wishes for other points. Upon their return they will reside in Delmar.

T. ALAN GOLDSBOROUGH

ENDORSEMENTS OF THE GOLDSBOROUGH STABILIZATION BILL BY

Editorial in Wallace's Farmer, a paper published in Des Moines, Iowa, and owned by Honorable Henry C. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, and his brother:

STABLE MONEY BILL.

It must be fully apparent now to every one how terrific are the evils which follow in the train of alternating periods of inflation and deflation. Fully 90% of the class warfare which is striking so directly at the foundation of our civilization is the result of inflation or deflation.

Our readers will remember that on several occasions we have expressed a favorable opinion concerning the Fisher stabilized dollar as a method of preventing the periods of inflation and deflation which alternately harm the farmer and the laboring man. They will be interested, therefore, in knowing that Congressman Goldsborough of Maryland has introduced a bill providing for the inauguration of the Fisher Stabilized Dollar. While it is too much to expect that the bill will pass at this session of Congress, it is to be hoped that the hearings will educate many Congressmen as to the fundamental truth that it is the alternating periods of inflation and deflation which cause so many troubles concerning which they legislate so futilely.

While the gold standard is unquestionably the best standard of currency the world has ever had, it must certainly give way eventually to a more scientific method of measuring values. The Fisher stabilized dollar is a step in the right direction and we trust our readers will write their Congressmen directing their attention to the Goldsborough Bill on Stabilizing the Dollar.

Letter from Roger W. Babson, President of Babson's Statistical Organization, Wellesley Hills, Mass., whose advice and services are subscribed for by individuals and business organizations throughout the United States:

BABSON'S STATISTICAL ORGANIZATION.

Reports on Fundamental Business Conditions for Merchants, Bankers, and Investors.

Wellesley Hills, Mass., August 4, 1922.

Hon. T. Alan Goldsborough,
House Office Building,
Washington, D. C.
My dear Mr. Goldsborough:

I understand from our correspondence that a hearing is to be held on your bill for stabilizing the dollar toward the end of August. I hope to be present and to make a statement in person, but, whether I shall be able or not I want to tell you how glad I am that you have brought forward this proposal. If you can convince Congress of the grave need of this legislation at this time, you will have accomplished one of the greatest tasks ever set before statesmen. If you do not succeed in your first attempt, I hope you will keep everlastingly at it. Depend upon it, some day the dollar will be stabilized.

It is the growing consciousness of the need of stabilization which has led not only to Professor Fisher's plan, which your bill embodies, but to the less worked-out plans of Edison, Ford, Senator Ladd, etc.

Business men and bankers have expressed alarm over some of these proposals on the ground that they may produce inflation. Any proposal the effect of which would be inflationistic ought to be nipped in the bud. What we want is something to prevent both, and that is the object and effect of the bill, which you have introduced. The common idea that we must on principle oppose any plan to change our currency system is simply sitting on the safety valve. If something is not done to give us a scientific and stable currency, some unsound and unstable currency will be enacted. The only way to tide off instability is to make greater stability. The conservative man who is afraid of a change ought to support your bill, because our present system changes our monetary standard every year. This constant change in the purchasing power of our dollar is the greatest foe of conservative business. It makes a speculation of everything. For years I have been studying the business cycle and trying to help the business man by foresight to struggle through the cycle. But I have repeatedly said in my speeches and writings on this subject that until we had the Fisher plan or some equivalent for stabilizing the dollar the business man would always be suffering from the business cycle. The trolley companies, which were at one time so prosperous, were literally ruined by the depreciation of our dollar. I have made a special investigation of this. I could give instance after instance of the evils which come from a changing yard-stick in commerce.

As ex-Vice President Marshall has said, next to the peace problem the problem of stabilizing the dollar is of the greatest importance.

I have studied Professor Fisher's plan from time to time with great care and the objections which have been alleged against it. As I have often said, only those who do not understand it oppose it.

Let me add that my audience of business men all over the country, when they have had the idea explained to them, like it immensely.

The Congress which stabilizes the dollar will deserve and receive the everlasting gratitude of the business world.

With the most earnest wishes for your success, I am,
Very sincerely yours,

ROGER W. BABSON.

U.S. ARMY IS CUT DOWN TO 125,000 MEN

Reorganization Under Congress Reduction Mandate Has Now Been Accomplished Save For the Dismissing of the Commissioned Personnel—Two Md. Camps Retained.

The reorganization and distribution of the United States Army under the reduction mandate of Congress has now been accomplished, the War Department announced recently. All that remains to be done in order to complete the continuation of the military establishment is to cut the commissioned personnel to 10,400 officers.

Enlisted strength, it is stated by the department, is now reduced to 125,000 men, which is 100,000 less than the strength of the army 18 months ago. This was brought about by normal discharges and the curtailment of recruiting, rather than by drastic measures.

At the same time, plans for the reorganization of what is left of the army have been completed by the General Staff, through the formation of tactical units, the distribution of these units throughout continental United States and its overseas possessions and the quartering of troops at available permanent posts. This process, although worked out in detail, will not be actually completed until the summer training camp season is over.

In this connection it is announced by the department that Camp Meade, Maryland, is being retained as the "principal training area for the Third Corps and as the permanent station of the Tank Battalion and tank activities." All buildings at the camp not required in connection with these activities will be disposed of.

It is also announced that Camp Holabird (Maryland) is to be retained permanently as the headquarters of the Motor Transport Corps; Camp Humphreys (Virginia) as the headquarters of the Engineers and Camp Eustis (Virginia) as the headquarters of the Railroad Artillery Corps, "provided future appropriations permit."

Headquarters of the Third Army Corps will be maintained at Baltimore, but it will be impossible to maintain a full division at any one point in that corps area which includes Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia. In the Third Corps a reinforced brigade will be maintained and substituted for the divisional organization. This brigade headquarters, probably stationed at Camp Meade; two infantry regiments, a battalion of field artillery and Air Service observation squadron and a photo section.

"Although the units (of these brigades) will be widely distributed in each corps area," the department states, "it is hoped through this medium to have a force available in the event of emergency, the basis of rapid expansion in the event of war, and a practical demonstration organization for the instruction of the citizen army."

In the reorganization and re-distribution of the military forces, the department is making every effort at economy and at the same time to provide the best military defense possible within the limits of the army appropriation. In view of the reduced appropriations and the reduced size of the force, the department feels that the missions of the regular army still are:

1. To train and develop the National Guard and the Organized Reserve, the two great branches of the army.
2. To maintain the necessary schools for the training of officers and enlisted men of the three components of the army.

3. To maintain the administrative overhead for the three-part army.

4. To provide peace time garrison for our continental coast defenses.

5. To provide peace and war garrisons for our overseas possessions.

6. To maintain a well-trained force for emergency purposes and to serve as a model and demonstrative force for the two bodies of citizen soldiery.

With these missions as a basis it was first necessary to determine how the available strength of 125,000 men was to be distributed among the several arms and services. This distribution was made as follows:

Infantry, 46,423.
Cavalry, 9,871.
Field artillery, 17,173.
Coast artillery, 12,026.
Air service, 8,500.
Engineers, 5,020.
Signal Corps, 2,184.
Quartermaster Corps, 8,000.
Finance Department, 393.
Ordnance Department, 2,307.
Chemical Warfare service, 445.

Medical Department, 6,890.
Detached enlisted men, 5,794.
Unassigned, 100.

A total of 125,777 soldiers have been allotted to the various possessions of the United States, (those garrisons being apportioned as follows: Philippines, 4,512; Hawaii, 13,735; Panama, 8,856; Porto Rico, 1,174.)

There remains for use in the United States proper, including the force now in Germany, a total of 96,723 enlisted men.

In the distribution of troops in the United States, the greatest reduction necessarily had to be made in the Coast defenses and in the mobile force. By the mobile force, it is explained, it is meant that force which is used for emergency purposes, for the protection of the Southern border, as a model and demonstrative force for the citizen soldiers, and as a basis for expansion in the event of war. This mobile force is now fixed at 43,000 men.

men as against 107,000 as planned by the National Defense act.

First Corps—Eighteenth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.
Second Corps—First Division distributed with a few units stationed in the first and third corps areas.

Third Corps—Sixteenth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.

Fourth Corps—Eighth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.

Fifth Corps—Tenth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.

Sixth Corps—Twelfth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.

Seventh Corps—Fourteenth Infantry Brigade, reinforced.

Eighth Corps—Second Division, concentrated.

Ninth Corps—Third Division, distributed.

Officer reduction is now under way and has been found far more difficult than reduction in the enlisted personnel. A board of general officers of the army is sitting daily at the War Department "plucking" the officers who are to go. The authorized strength of officer personnel under the Act of June 4, 1920, was 14,968, while the authorized strength under the Act of 1922 is 10,400, which forced a reduction of 4,568, most of which is to take place in the grades of captain and first lieutenants. All this is in the "promotion list." Including the non-promotion list the authorized strength at present is 11,932, or 4,670 less than the authorized strength under the old law.—The Sun.

ALL BOAT OWNERS WARNED OF U. S. TAX

Boats Craft Over 32 Feet and
Levy.

Instructions were issued yesterday by revenue inspectors in this district to enforce the new regulations imposing a special tax on all boats and boats of over five net tons and measuring more than 32 feet in length. The law, which became effective July 1, has not been observed by many of the vessel owners and operators because they are unacquainted with the provisions. Indeed, they are unaware of the existence of the statute.

This provides that on and after July 1 yachts, pleasure boats, power boats, motor boats with fixed engines and sailing vessels of over five net tons and length over 32 feet and not over 50 feet must pay a tax of $1 for each foot, over 50 and not more than 100 feet $2 for each foot, and over 100 feet $4 for each foot.

Boats exempt from this tax are those used exclusively for trade. This includes those used in connection with any business activity which constitutes a person's business, occupation, profession or means of livelihood; also those operated without profit by benevolent or religious organizations.

All must, however, make a return to the Collector of Internal Revenue and if exemption is claimed the return must be executed in full and "exemption claimed" noted across the face of the paper.

When this is allowed an exemption card will be issued, and this must be kept on board whenever the boat is in use and must be shown to any officer or agent of the internal revenue or navigation service. Failure to pay the tax or not securing an exemption card renders the owner or lessee liable to a fine of $1,000.

Lincoln Dreyer, the navigation officer in this and adjoining districts, has been directed to board all vessels and report cases where a tax card is not produced.

Senator France Ever An Obstructionist

In the enactment of the final scenes in the United States Senate for the passage of the SOLDIER BONUS BILL, Maryland suffered a new humiliation at the hands of Senator Joseph Irwin France, when by the overwhelming vote of 55 to 3 his amendment to arrange for the turning back of bonus payment for veterans to assist in creating an educational fund and a chain of universities went down to defeat. An obstructionist to the bitter end, Senator France pitted his amendment against the best thought of his party leaders, and practically the judgment of the United States Senate as a whole.

The friend of the Bolshevik movement, the only voter in the Senate against the Four Power Treaty for the peace of the world, and the man who "Hoped to God for the success of the Democratic Party", thus while appealing for the votes of Republicans of Maryland, gave another example of his unfitness to represent the people of this state in the United States Senate.

Bruce Believes He Will Carry Shore

Candidate For Democratic Nomination
As United States Senator Will Make Another Tour However.

Wm. Cabell Bruce, candidate for the Democratic nomination as United States Senator, is extremely confident that he will carry the entire Eastern Shore in the approaching primaries, according to a statement made by him this week. "I find that the majority of the party leaders on the Shore are with me and the same seems to be true of the rank and file of the party," he added.

Mr. Bruce, who was accompanied by his son, James Bruce, and James A. Bradley, of Kent county, made a flying trip through Wicomico, Dorchester and Talbot counties last week. Mr. Bradley stated that there was no question that Mr. Bruce would carry Kent, Queen Anne's and Cecil counties by big majorities and the fact that former Senator John Walter Smith had endorsed his candidacy practically assured the vote of the Shore being cast in his behalf.

Mr. Bruce met a great many of the voters on the Shore and stated he would take another trip through the Shore before the primaries.

Goats In Texas Zoo Care For Antelopes

Little Orphans Thrive on Treatment

Parents in Park.

"Two goats at the Washington Park Zoo, El Paso, Tex., are now nursing a pair of baby antelopes captured on the plains south of Juarez. The antelopes are five weeks old and are thriving," says the "New York World."

"The goats at first showed some hostility toward their charges. Now they accept the two orphans as a matter of course, although they show little affection."

"In striking contrast is the solitude of a monkey mother in a nearby cage to her baby's digestion. Although he is getting to be a husky youngster, the mother still refuses to allow him to eat peanuts offered by visitors. When he alips by her and gets one in his mouth, she grabs him, boxes his ears and forces open his mouth, removing the peanut. Then she gives him a good scolding."

ENDORSEMENTS OF THE GOLDSBOROUGH STABILIZATION BILL BY

Editorial in Wallace's Farmer, a paper published in Des Moines, Iowa, and owned by Honorable Henry C. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, and his brother:

STABLE MONEY BILL.

It must be fully apparent now to every one how terrific are the evils which follow in the train of alternating periods of inflation and deflation. Fully 90% of the class warfare which is striking so directly at the foundation of our civilization is the result of inflation or deflation.

Our readers will remember that on several occasions we have expressed a favorable opinion concerning the Fisher stabilized dollar as a method of preventing the periods of inflation and deflation which alternately harm the farmer and the laboring man. They will be interested, therefore, in knowing that Congressman Goldsborough of Maryland has introduced a bill providing for the inauguration of the Fisher Stabilized Dollar. While it is too much to expect that the bill will pass at this session of Congress, it is to be hoped that the hearings will educate many Congressmen as to the fundamental truth that it is the alternating periods of inflation and deflation which cause so many troubles concerning which they legislate so futilely.

While the gold standard is unquestionably the best standard of currency the world has ever had, it must certainly give way eventually to a more scientific method of measuring values. The Fisher stabilized dollar is a step in the right direction, and we trust our readers will write their Congressmen directing their attention to the Goldsborough Bill on Stabilizing the Dollar.

Letter from Roger W. Babson, President of Babson's Statistical Organization, Wellesley Hills, Mass., whose advice and services are subscribed for by individuals and business organizations throughout the United States:

BABSON'S STATISTICAL ORGANIZATION.

Reports on Fundamental Business Conditions for Merchants, Bankers, and Investors.

Wellesley Hills, Mass., August 4, 1922.

Hon. T. Alan Goldsborough,
House Office Building,
Washington, D. C.
My dear Mr. Goldsborough:

I understand from our correspondence that a hearing is to be held on your bill for stabilizing the dollar toward the end of August. I hope to be present and to make a statement in person, but, whether I shall be able or not I want to tell you how glad I am that you have brought forward this proposal. If you can convince Congress of the grave need of this legislation at this time, you will have accomplished one of the greatest tasks ever set before statesmen. If you do not succeed in your first attempt, I hope you will keep everlastingly at it. Depend upon it, some day the dollar will be stabilized.

It is the growing consciousness of the need of stabilization which has led not only to Professor Fisher's plan, which your bill embodies, but to the less worked-out plans of Edison, Ford, Senator Ladd, etc.

Business men and bankers have expressed alarm over some of these proposals on the ground that they may produce inflation. Any proposal the effect of which would be inflationistic ought to be nipped in the bud. What we want is something to prevent both, and that is the object and effect of the bill, which you have introduced. The common idea that we must on principle oppose any plan to change our currency system is simply sitting on the safety valve. If something is not done to give us a scientific and stable currency, some unsound and unstable currency man who is afraid of a change head off instability is to make greater stability. The conservative man who is afraid of a change ought to support your bill, because our present system changes our monetary standard every year. This constant change in the purchasing power of our dollar is the greatest foe of conservative business. It makes a speculation of everything. For years I have been studying the business cycle and trying to help the business man by foresight to struggle through the cycle. But I have repeatedly said in my speeches and writings on this subject that until we had the Fisher plan or some equivalent for stabilizing the dollar the business man would always be suffering from the business cycle. The trolley companies, which were at one time so prosperous, were literally ruined by the depreciation of our dollar. I have made a special investigation of this. I could give instance after instance of the evils which come from a changing yard-stick in commerce.

An ex-Vice President Marshall has said, next to the peace problem the problem of stabilizing the dollar is of the greatest importance.

I have studied Professor Fisher's plan from time to time with great care and the objections which have been alleged against it. As I have often said, only those who do not understand it oppose it.

Let me add that my audience of business men all over the country, when they have had the idea explained to them, like it immensely.

The Congress which stabilizes the dollar will deserve and receive the everlasting gratitude of the business world.

With the most earnest wishes for your success, I am,
Very sincerely yours,

ROGER W. BABSON.

U.S. ARMY IS CUT DOWN TO 125,000 MEN

Reorganization Under Congress Reduction Mandate Has Now Been Accomplished Save For the Disinching of the Commissioned Personnel—Two Md. Camps Retained.

The reorganization and distribution of the United States Army under the reduction mandate of Congress has now been accomplished, the War Department announced recently. Fall Opening

And Fashion Promenade

Thursday, September 14th, 1922

In celebration of the Formal Opening of our enlarged quarters, we will have Living Models from New York City, in a Fashion Promenade at our Store from 10:00 to 11:30 A. M., and 3:00 to 4:00 P. M., September 14th, to exhibit the new Millinery, Gowns, Suits and Coats, thus giving you a comprehensive understanding of the new garments, in ensemble, as they will be worn by fashionably attired women this season.

On the evening of the above date, with the use of the models, we shall present a style review at the Arcade Theatre. This review will be an added feature to the usual attractive program of the Arcade management.

Fashion's busy times are on and we are introducing the new fall fashions, —exclusive, distinctive, and of profound individuality. It is but natural that with this beautiful newly remodeled store we should endeavor to excel all our previous efforts in presenting the new fashions in this promenade and style review.

With the formal opening of our enlarged quarters we are realizing a dream of seven years. Ever since we started in business here we have been unable, (owing to the lack of space), to render the service which we would have liked to give our patrons. With the additional space recently acquired through the purchase of the adjoining Thoroughgood property, added stocks and modernized methods of merchandising, we are now enabled, and will endeavor, to render such a service as will merit your continued patronage which has made possible the realization of our dream.

We take this means of thanking our sales force for their loyalty and untiring efforts to please our patrons. Without their co-operation, we would not have been able to attain that reputation for service which we now enjoy.

We shall feel highly honored by your presence during the opening and a cordial invitation is extended you.

VOTE AT THE PRIMARY ELECTION.

In an intelligent and alert electorate lies the safety of this great republic. So long as the average citizen sits contentedly at home on election day and then grumbles and complains at the way the government, city, county, state, or national, is administered, just so long will that citizen have things at which to grumble and complain. He is, himself, alone to blame for conditions that exist today as well as for conditions that will exist during the next few years. And as he alone is to blame, he alone has in his hands the remedy for changing the old order of things.

The purpose of the primary election is to allow the individual voter to make his personal selection of those whom he believes should hold office. If the voter refuses to take advantage of this opportunity, he deliberately plays into the hands of those who seek absolute control of the destinies of the State and the nation. He tacitly consents to a continuance of existing conditions by his refusal to try to change them.

As an American citizen, it is his right to cast his ballot for whom he chooses at the primary election, and as an American citizen, inspired by the highest ideals of patriotism and citizenship, it is his duty to do so.

The primary election in this County will be held on Monday, September eleventh. On that day, do your duty as an American citizen. Go to the polls and cast your ballot for those whom you think are best qualified to hold public office. It is your right: it is your duty.

ACTION AT LAST!

After two surveys on the malaria situation, after numerous meetings in which the need for cleaning up the mosquito-breeding places has been clearly and conclusively shown, and after the press of the County has published column after column on the danger of allowing the malaria mosquito to wing its way undisturbed into the health of the community, the authorities have at last begun to take action.

Last week, officials of the State Department of Health visited the County and directed that certain things be done. Work along the lines indicated has already been started by the municipal authorities and it is confidently hoped that the County officers will follow suit.

The work to be done consists, for the most part, in draining several large ponds and a number of small ones. In some cases, it will be necessary to make the larger ponds tide-water, while in others it will be imperative to drain them dry. This will take some money, although the exact amount needed for the improvements has not yet been determined. Mayor Kennerly states that the city will spend only so much as is justifiable. In other words, if by spending five hundred dollars, business houses in the city will be saved fifteen hundred, the investment will be well worth while and will be made.

On the other hand, should it be found that several thousands of dollars will be needed, while the returns on that investment, from a commercial point of view only, will be negligible, the work will probably not be carried out by the city. It is, of course, recognized that health cannot be bought, but at the same time there is no blinking the fact that bad health can be prevented, and it is the latter idea which is causing the fight on the malaria mosquito.

Details of the work to be done have not yet been clearly and finally mapped out. There are some sections of stagnant water, menacing danger spots, which lie partly within and partly without the city limits. On projects of this sort, the County Commissioners and the Mayor and City Council should work together. For instance, there would be little economy in the city's draining a swamp at the end which lay within the city limits while the Commissioners drained the end which lay outside the city limits, when both bodies of officials might combine, drain the swamp at one end only and save money for both the city and the county.

Money for the work can come from three sources. First, it may be taken from the county and municipal treasuries, although this would mean, in all probability, an increased tax rate. Second, it may come from popular subscriptions, but this method is objectionable because it makes public works dependent upon contributions from the private individual. Third, it may come from the property owners whose property is improved.

In the work of fighting the mosquito, the most equitable way to bear the expense would be by dividing it between the city and county and the property owner. This would make those who received the greatest benefit from the work pay a little more, but on the whole they would be aided by the tax-payers and their individual burdens would be greatly lessened. In all fairness to them and to their fellow citizens, this is the method which should be followed.

This battle against malaria is one which should engage the attention of every individual in the County. Conditions existent today are a positive detriment to the growth of the community and a menace to the health of the people. Where the good of all is concerned, all should be equally eager to share in the work of securing that good. Citizens should voluntarily offer their aid and co-operation to the officials engaged in cleaning up the danger spots in the County, and should lose no time in seeing that their own property is proof against the mosquito.

Work such as this calls for the whole-souled co-operative effort of every individual, every civic organization, every fraternal organization, and every business organization in the County.

Let us support the Mayor and City Council in their work. Let us rid the land of Wicomico County of the breeding places of the malaria mosquito and rid the name of the County of a stigma that is doing great harm, as regards both business and health. But above all, let us have a united effort of the citizens, the municipal authorities, and the County officials, and let us have it now when it is most needed.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE BONUS.

Despite the fact that the papers ever since the war have been filled to repletion with discussions of the bonus, or the adjusted compensation act, there are still some phases of it on which the average man and woman are a little vague. It is possible, indeed probable, that the President will veto the bill just passed by Congress, but here are a few reasons why he should not do so.

In the first place, it is future economy to impress upon the public the cost of war. Many are the persons upon whom the idealism of pacifism fails to make the slightest impression but in whose mind will be lodged a distinct impression if the bill goes through all right carrying something like an expenditure of four billions of dollars.

The cost will be first placed on the wealthy and prosperous, which will decrease the amount of their funds for investment and will thereby arrest the wheels of industry. When the community then bids for the resources that are left, the burden will be felt by the plain people. In this way, the burden of the bonus will fall upon rich and poor alike and will effectively put the public under bond to keep the peace. Future wars will have to be absolutely unavoidable before the public will again consent to take up arms. Thus in time the bonus will have proved its value as a preventive of unnecessary wars.

"He who would a courtin' go"

In the second place, unless the bonus is granted now, the question will linger for years, furnishing something for demagogues to rant about and for prejudice creators to use as a fulcrum in gaining public office. To this may be added the horrors of a pension system that would in time quadruple the cost of the present adjusted compensation bill.

Finally, in every state in which a referendum on the bonus has been held, the people have shown overwhelmingly that they favor the act. This is a democracy: let the will of the majority rule. Place the nation under a bond to keep the peace and future wars will be few and far between.

THE NEW WONDER.

In most towns by this time the annual Chautauqua is over or soon will be. September and October are the county and state fair months. These are the big get-together festivals of the American people.

I talked recently with a radio expert and enthusiast who enumerated at length the inestimable benefits, both recreational and educational, of this marvelous little mechanism. Rather boastfully he said, "Radio will ultimately eliminate the Chautauqua, the lecture and entertainment platform."

He predicted that the itinerant musician will stay in his studio and the lecturer in his library, while the country folk from Maine to Oregon will need only to open up their receivers and a perpetual Chautauqua is theirs at their firesides.

In answer to all this, I said, "Well, we are still going to have our fairs." "Yes," he said, "that's because the fair is a thing to SEE, not to hear."

"That," I replied, "is why the Chautauqua is as secure as the fair. The eye is a greater educator than the ear."

We learn more by seeing than by hearing. The concert violinist puts personality into the bending of his bow. His manner quite as much as his music becomes part of the emotion. We may hear him a hundred times a year but we do not get the full message of his melody until we see him invest himself in his fiddle.

Oratory is still good when reduced to type and put in a book. But the oratory that sways with inspiration and convinces most has the personality of the man as well as the abstract thought of the theme.

"Seeing is believing," runs the ancient adage. A positive person is more convincing than an abstract principle.

Radio will add to our wealth of education, entertainment, and inspiration, but it will subtract nothing.

The multiplication of good roads is going to bring the country folk out to see the master minds that they may better appreciate the worth of all the radio brings to them in their homes.

Nor did our friend take into his too quick deduction the human hunger for fellowship. We like to be altogether, to hear and see good things together. We love to laugh together. When our hearts are touched with sweet sentiments, deep emotions, we like to feel the comradeship of company. We want to applaud together. Whoever heard a hermit hurrah?

We like to greet friends. It's nice to be neighbors. It's fun to say "howdy." It is living to ask, "Did you hear that, or see this?" We like to see what we can do. We like to see what the other fellow can do. That's why we go to the county fair and the state fair; that's why we go to the Chautauqua tent and the Lyceum hall. That's why the movie lures.

The radio is going to make us want more and not less. It is going to whet our appetites for more fine things and more fellowship with fine things. Radio is going to draw together talent and attendance. It is going to fill our tents and halls.

WICOMICALITIES.

Man will soon show how little he is swayed by convention by refusing to wear his straw hat after a certain date—regardless of the height of the mercury.

The newest association has for its object the wiping off of the statute books the unwritten law.

Congressman Herrick has bought eleven airplanes. Does a Congressman need such things as these to keep him up in the air?

The report that President Harding has already written his message vetoing the bonus bill will put heart into some of its supporters.

Still, our foreign policy need not be an endowment policy.

"Touch and scent seem to be the mediums of communications between bees," says a learned scientist. Particularly touch. The bonus is one way to convince the public that war is costly.

REPUBLICANS

Vote for Joseph I. France for Senator in the Primaries September 11, 1922.

He is a man of the people and for the people.

He has never refused to aid a constituent, rich or poor.

He is a scholar and a statesman whose one aim is to serve his State and Country, and to uphold our Constitution.

His opponents say that he is a Bolshevik. But why? He went to Russia to rescue an American, Mrs. Margaret Harrison, a Maryland woman in peril, and did it. He advocated a commission of Americans to study the Russian situation. Nothing more. Does that make him a Bolshevik? Secretary Hughes has just advocated such a Commission.

His opponents charge that he said he hoped the Democrats would win. That is simply the misrepresentation of a newspaper owned by Frank A. Munsey, a New Yorker. In a debate in the Senate, after quoting at length from Washington's Farewell Address Senator France said if the Democrats would advocate the principles of that address, he hoped they would meet their reward. Does any fair-minded man find fault with that? They were trying to keep the party alive after.

His opponents say that he is not a Republican. Again the misrepresentation of the same newspaper. Let those who know say whether he has not been for the last twenty years a constant and loyal supporter of our party in Maryland. Can that newspaper say as much? President Harding approves of Senator France and his Republicanism. Is not that enough?

His opponent was appointed to office by President Wilson. He is a member of the firm of Robert Garrett and Sons, Investment Bankers. He inherited great wealth. During the lean years of Republicanism in Maryland, when Senator France and W. P. Jackson were fighting the Poe Amendment, when they were trying to keep the party alive after the assaults of the same Frank A. Munsey in 1912, what was Mr. Garrett doing for Republicanism in Maryland? What has he done?

When Mr. Garrett came to the Eastern Shore two weeks ago, he did not know ten persons on it. Of course that was merely his misfortune. Mr. Garrett is merely a gentleman who has served as a Diplomat. But what does he know of Maryland people and their needs? Senator France has felt the keen pinch of poverty. He knows the struggles and problems of the poor. He is a physician who has practiced in Maryland. He knows the needs of Maryland. He has studied the problems of the farmer. He has sympathy and understanding with all. A Senator should understand and represent all the people, not only the favored few.

Senator France can be elected. The Democrats realize it. He is entitled to a second term by long party custom. He has proved himself by service in the ranks, as well as while a Senator, a loyal, earnest Republican with the will to think and the courage to act. The great majority of the leaders and of the rank and file favor his renomination.

PAPER DRESS FOR WOMEN.

A homemade gummed paper dress form for every woman in the State who wants one is the goal set by local leaders in extension work in Washington State, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The method of making the forms as originally demonstrated to group meetings of local representatives or leaders of the various communities in each county organized for the work, has been taken by them to the farm women in their communities. As a result, 2,213 dress forms are reported as having been made by farm women in Washington State in the six months ending June 1, 1922.

Living will teach you how to live, better than the preaching of a sermon or a book.

JUNIOR CHAUTAUQUA ACTIVITIES PLANNED

National Organization Would Make "Recreational Oasis" in Child Life of Smaller Places.

With popular interest in all phases of child training as its impetus, because of the opening of the schools throughout the nation this week, the Chautauqua Managers' Association of America and Canada has just announced, through its appointed committee, Dr. Paul M. Pearson, of Swarthmore, Pa., Mr. A. C. Colt, of Cleveland, O., and Mr. Loring White, of New Haven, Conn., a notable plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization.

Junior Chautauqua work has grown to such an extent that the various Chautauqua managers, who as a part of their Chautauqua service during the past decade have been bringing supervised play and elementary training in social service and civic government to the children of "Main Street," have secured the services of an Advisory Committee, consisting of Dr. Owen B. Lewis, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, Washington, D. C.; Dr. S. Josephine Baker, director, Bureau Child Hygiene, Department of Health, New York City; Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, professor of Recreation Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City; Dr. H. Benson, director, Junior Achievement Bureau, Eastern States League, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

The Junior Chautauqua enrollment now numbers 1,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of six and fourteen. Its activities are conducted in connection with the regular Chautauqua programs now held in 9,000 towns in every state in the United States, and reaching 10,000,000 people annually.

The Junior Chautauqua activities are especially planned for the children of the smaller towns and cities. The week's Junior program includes games, stories, and pageantry under the direction of a trained leader. It is a "recreational oasis" in the child life of the town. The Junior citizens are organized into a miniature municipality and elect their Mayor, Town Clerk, and law making commissioners. During the week the activities of "Junior Town" are directed in a parliamentary manner by the duly elected officials. As a part of their "Junior community" work the small citizens carry out in each town some kind of community service. Swimming pool funds are started, hospital beds endowed, poor children helped. But the training in service is the main objective.

The directors of the children's work in the various Chautauqua systems of the country, met recently in Chicago and organized the National Association of Junior Chautauqua directors. Miss Ida M. Loseth of the Elliston-White Chautauquas of Portland, Ore., was chosen president, and Miss Mary L. Flynn of the Swarthmore Chautauquas, Swarthmore, Pa., was elected secretary. At this meeting it was decided to use on Chautauqua circuits, the prize pageant, "Conquests of Peace." The author of the winning pageant is Miss Mabel Wain, a senior in Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, chairman of the managers' committee on the National Junior Chautauqua, and also president of the International Lyceum and Chautauqua Association, voices the importance which the Chautauqua managers attach to this educational and recreational work with the children of the smaller communities by saying: "Chautauqua managers consider no phase of their work more important than the work with the children. This new plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization is a permanent investment in the town, which will make it more enduring and which, if properly directed and handled, bids fair to take its place as one of the potent present-day factors in the proper direction of the physical, mental, and social activities of our young people."

Already one of the most widely used songs in schools, playgrounds, and community centres, is the "Town Song" written especially for Junior Chautauqua. Its refrain runs: "I am proud of my town, Is my town proud of me? and this is the heart of the message which the National Director of Junior Chautauqua, who is to be appointed for 1923, will carry to the Chautauqua towns. No longer are statesmen to be merely "born," here is a definite attempt to "make" them.

WILLIAM J. HOLLOWAY GAINED SUCCESS BY STUDYING DURING HIS RECREATION HOURS

Wicomico Native Who Has Just Been Named Assistant Superintendent Of Education Tells How "Curiosity" Led To Useful Study. His Early Life Inspiring Example.

Chance brought him to the business of teaching school, but chance did not hold him there nor give him the amount of knowledge he has acquired in years of hard work and in the face of many obstacles.

And today he is Assistant State Superintendent of Education in Maryland.

That in a few words is William J. Holloway, who was elected to this office at the quarterly meeting of the State Board of Education, held last week. Previously Mr. Holloway was State Superintendent of Rural Schools which work will be carried on by him with the assistance of State Superintendent of Schools Albert S. Cook and Miss T. Jewell Simpson.

Ordinarily a teacher or an educator is thought of as having received his schooling in the regular manner—grade, high school and college, with one or two breaks between any of these three steps.

Because his knowledge of books was not attained in the usual manner, and because in spite of many handicaps he has received his master's degree and is about to receive the degree of doctor of philosophy, Mr. Holloway's life has been filled with many interesting events.

Born in Wicomico County, Maryland, in 1873, Mr. Holloway received, without any "hitch" a grammar and high school education, but then, because of his father's death, he had to go to work, for he was the eldest of many children, and the burden of supporting the family naturally fell on him. The present Assistant State Superintendent of Education chose telegraphy.

His reason, however, for this choice of vocation coincides with the reason later when he decided to make teaching his life work.

"I always have been anxious to learn about everything. Some people might call it curiosity, but if curiosity leads one to useful study, then I am glad I am curious. That is how I happened to choose telegraphy as my first work. The knowledge I had a fascination for me. I wanted to know this code which telegraphers seemed literally to have at their fingers' tips."

And, so he became a telegraph operator and continued at it for four years. The code, he says, is still clear in his memory as it was 29 years ago!

Then homesickness overtook this young man, for he was working at a little town some miles away from his home.

"Young men now," Mr. Holloway said, shaking his head slowly, "don't seem to miss their homes, but to me nothing has ever been complete without the home to go to. First it was my mother's, now mine."

For Mr. Holloway has—well, that's ahead of the story.

Anyway, at just this time, when the call of home was urging within him, the Wicomico County school teacher left. Mr. Holloway thought—another opportunity to learn. He applied and secured the position.

"Of course, if that had been now I never would have passed the examination, because the requirements are more inclusive at the present time. But then a high school education was considered quite sufficient."

Here by a turn of fate and a desire for knowing more the life of Mr. Holloway was completely changed. Getting into the game of teaching that which he had learned did this thing for him. It made him all the more anxious to acquire more knowledge, not only for himself, but that he might impart it to his pupils whose minds, he said, literally grew under his daily observation.

"It was wonderful!" exclaimed Mr. Holloway suddenly, and he braced up under the spell of this memory, as though each child were before him in the little village school house where the eight grades were taught in one and the big old hand bell tolled in and out the various sessions.

Almost 10 years he was the "village schoolmaster," during which time all spare moments were devoted to study instead of attending dances and parties, as other young men of his age were doing, Mr. Holloway said.

"But I do not regret it, because, you see, to me studying was a real pleasure," he was quick to add.

His efforts were rewarded when he received an appointment to the Maryland State Normal School as teacher of mathematics and science. And while here he took a summer school course at Harvard University, and for three years devoted his remaining afternoons, after normal school hours to special study at Johns Hopkins University.

Watching his pupils develop mentally under the influence of a teacher was still a special liking of Holloway.

"And as for finding out what sort of characters your pupils have, there is no better way than seeing them in the classroom," he said, but with a twinkle in his eye, which aroused the curiosity of his visitor.

The twinkle meant something, a great deal, in fact for one of the pupils was receiving more than her ordinary share of the teacher's scrutinizing glance, which, however, in this case, was more than a careful study of character.

It so happened that this very pupil is now the present Mrs. William J. Holloway. The teacher and pupil were married following the latter's graduation—16 years ago. Today they have five youngsters, two boys and three girls.

After five years at the Normal School, Mr. Holloway was made county superintendent in Wicomico county, where he remained for nine years.—The Sun.

Don't try to put on too many airs, as it may make your friends cold.

SHIPBUILDING PLANT ADDS TO EQUIPMENT

Adjoining Property Has Been Purchased and New Wharves and Railway Will Be Constructed.

Keeping time with the vast amount of newly acquired business, the shipbuilding plant of Smith and Williams has announced that extensive improvements will be made to their marine yards and that a new cradle railway will be erected which will be large enough to take care of any ship that comes up the Wicomico River. The estimated cost is about $30,000 and the railway will be 250 feet in length and capable of handling a 1,000-ton vessel.

The local firm has recently completed a deal which entails the purchasing of eight acres of property adjoining the present location. New wharves will be constructed there and boats awaiting repair work will be docked at this point.

Several new large building orders have been received by the Smith and Williams shipbuilding company which will keep the payroll of approximately 50 employees busy all winter. A fast 75-foot auxiliary schooner is being built for Mr. Redmond Kersey, of New York City and a 150-foot houseboat for Mr. Swan Hartwell, of Boston, in addition to the contemplated filling of several other orders the bids for which having been sent in and all indications pointing to the awarding of the contracts to the Salisbury plant.

We illustrate here a striking combination of a handsome eight day clock and two candlesticks. The clock is in a handsome labour shape, made of mahogany. There is a charming cathedral gong which strikes on the hour and half hour in a most effective way. The candlesticks are of solid mahogany, in the same pattern as clock.

Such a combination will prove most ornamental on the mantle-piece. And as a gift it is most appropriate.

"LOVER'S CO-OPERATIVE UNION" OF NEW JERSEY EDITOR WINS FAME AND FORTUNE

Small-Town Joke Becomes A Lover's Clearing House And Veritable "Ponzi Pool of Love" Bringing Together Solitary Widows And Widowers Through Publicity.

Playing upon the heart-strings of solitary widows and widowers, Thomas Baneroff Delker, small-town editor of the "South Jersey Star," is daily winning fame with his "Lover's Co-operative Union." And with this fame there is coming into the treasury plenty of long green. The originator of the above bureau is coming money by capitalizing Cupid.

One day not so many weeks ago, Mr. Delker and Lewis S. Conley, proprietor of the leading cigar store in Hammonton, N. J., were chatting together on Main Street when the idea was conceived of uniting the widows and widowers of their small town. The pair of them laughed over each other's inability to find a mate and the whole affair was regarded as one great joke until editor Delker saw a vision, a vision of columns and columns of publicity from the 28 dews papers for which he claimed to be the South Jersey correspondent.

The find was worse than an oil strike in the barren fields of Texas or some other western state. For on the second day after the published item concerning the "Lover's Co-operative Union," letters began to pour into the office from interested individuals. The backers of this "Ponzi Pool of Love" realized that it was going to pay. So they devised further methods of expansion. A questionnaire was prepared and sent out to inquiring parties which was designed with the purpose of eliminating, as much as possible, the element of chance in this great game.

The first answer from these questionnaires came from a young Canadian, who had been badly wounded in the terrible fighting at Vimy Ridge and after spending months in an English hospital returned home to find his sweetheart married. He was now willing to relent from his first outburst of despair that he was "through with all women" and wanted the Co-operative Union to find him a "real girl."

Perhaps the most interesting letter in the first batch to reach the South Jersey enterprise was written on the stationery of a seaman's hotel, feelingly written, and an account of one of the heart-breaks of the war. The writer's name is withheld but his lines are thus:

"Having read about your 'Cupid's Jury' in this morning's news and not having previously heard about it, I am adding this application to your already large list, hoping it is not arriving too late. I feel sure that your able jury will help to put me into communication with a girl, or girls, whose temperament will coincide with my own, judging by the tone of my letter. If any detailed facts are required I will give them first."

The lady must be of the sympathetic or lonely type, preferably orphan—as I am myself—and, if possible, Scotch or of British descent, but, of course, not necessarily. As long as she has the old-fashioned tone qualities of womanhood and motherhood and would be content to be loved by a man and not to try and boss him, and so kill all chance of sympathetic affection. Any Protestant religion would suit me, as I am a Scotch Presbyterian. As I like a girl to be younger than myself she must be in her early twenties. I myself am 38. For size I prefer 120 to 130 pounds. I am rather partial to auburn hair, but, of course, I could never love a girl for the color of her hair alone.

"Now, then, I will give you my name and the reason why I thought you may have the lonely, unloved girl on your list that I would like to meet, and by reading my life story may be able to spot just the girl I mean."

"Well, am an orphan, born of Scotch parents, although most of my living relatives are happy American citizens, domiciled in the Middle West. Unfortunately my rights to citizenship were retarded by the World War as in patriotism I served with the British from 1914 until the finish. While stationed in the north of England I married an English girl with whom I had fallen in love, almost at first sight. She was a petite beauty, with large brown eyes that fairly danced with the joy of living. She seemed to transfer that joy to me, for we were both very happy until orders came—France. Gee—talk about suffering and cruelty. I wanted to cry. To hell with king and country. I just want to live in peace with my wife."

"Then followed the horrors of battlefields, the kill or to be killed of close-quarter fighting, gas, every mortal invention of civilized cannibals to mutilate us callously. Of course, I was wounded, and as I lay there huddled among hundreds of others, both Germans and British, we wondered what it was all about."

"For king and country! This brings back to my memory sad nights of suffering and proud endurance, sights that only men can see and understand. Women get the honor of being 'truest advocates in love,' but my travels all over the world as a soldier and sailor have entirely routed that idea."

"Could any of those who have that idea have visited those battlefields when the ground was strewn with bodies of men, fathers, brothers, breadwinners, mostly dying slowly and in terrible agony, they would soon hand the fidelity palm to those wonderful men. I can see them yet, bits of lads, some almost torn to two by the rip of a brutal bayonet, or riddled by machine-gun fire. In most cases you could clearly trace a smile, beyond the facial contortion caused by the pain of his wound. But do you think he was smiling because King George or Kaiser Bill was winning?

"I'll tell the world he wasn't. His interest in the international quarrel died with his wound. Then, in fancy, he was back home. A fond mother was bending over him, or perhaps a faithful wife, or—a yet unseen child would cry that magic word, 'Daddy.' His lips would murmur an inarticulate caress. Then another soldier had died for 'king and country,' another soldier's name was crossed off the payroll. It was then that we made that new slogan, 'We are fighting for the honor of our women and children.'"

"And, gee, didn't I think I had the best right in the world to be a soldier, for I had the sweetest wife and the cutest baby boy in the world. Then I was shifted to the Dardanelles where I served for two years, until long after the evacuation, without leave. My unit was broken up and exchanged into different units and I finished the war submarine hunting with the navy. It was while on Mediterranean service that we first heard that disheartening rumor. 'All the women were going to the dogs morally.' 'Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die,' was the motto being well lived up to. I will never forget the looks on the faces of those bronzed heroes as they wondered if their own wives were included in that degradation of their sacrifice."

"Letters were produced from wallets and vows of fidelity were read and suspiciously criticized."

"A soldier is worthy of his wife's greatest sacrifice." God will bring you safely back to me because he knows I love you. These were the tender phrases of my letters, and I felt secure with my wife, and offered sympathy to those who had already an instinct of wrong or treachery."

"So it was with a heart beating with joy and freedom that I made all speed for my love the next February following the armistice, but only to be rudely shocked. She was gone—gone a year ago."

"Sympathetic neighbors explained what had happened to hundreds more of my comrades. They had all fallen the same way. Moping in an empty house. The lure of the dance hall. The man with the masterful ways seeing her home late at night, who lent a mock sympathy to her tales of hardship and loneliness. The kisses which were supposed to be sympathetic, but in reality were awakening primitive passion. The thrill of sneaking him in the back entrance was quickly followed by the abandonment of all things sacred."

"I shall never forget the hour when I found her. She had not changed a bit, as she stood amidst the ruins of my once-proud noire. She thought I had not heard of her escapades and her arms were around my neck as before, her lips waiting—hungry for my kisses. My first impulse was to crush her to me. Give and forgive, my nature urged."

Entrance Examinations

Engineering Scholarships

Applications for Scholarships in the School of Engineering, established under provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 20, 1912, will now be received. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, competitive examinations will be held September 22, 1922, beginning at 9 a. m.

Each Legislative District of Baltimore City and each County of the State, with the exception of Caroline, Cecil, Queen Anne's, Talbot and Worcester, will be entitled to one or more engineering scholarships for the year 1922-1923, in addition to those already assigned. In the five counties mentioned, all available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, the County and City Scholarships in the School of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in Engineering unless free tuition be granted them.

The Scholarships entitle the holders to free tuition, free use of text books, and exemption from all regular fees. One of the scholarships in each County and in each Legislative District of the City carries also the sum of $200. The expense of attendance for those who do not receive scholarships is not greater than at other Maryland institutions.

Scholarships may be awarded to graduates of Loyola College, St. John's College, Washington College, Western Maryland College, University of Maryland (Maryland Agricultural College), Md. St. Mary's College and Rock Hill College.

Applicants should address The Registrar, The Johns Hopkins University, for blank application forms and for catalogues of information regarding examinations, award of scholarships, and courses of instruction. The next session begins Tuesday, October 2, 1922.

THE DUTY OF TRUE REPUBLICANS IS TO SEND

BECAUSE:

John W. Garrett is a 100%
Republican And a 100% American

JOHN W. GARRETT To The United States Senate

1 Mr. Garrett began serving his country under President McKinley, and has served through the administrations of Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Harding. Mr. Garrett, in addition to being a 100% Republican, is a statesman of international fame. The Republican voters of Maryland have an opportunity to send a man to the United States Senate who will be a credit to the state of Maryland in every sense of the word. Mr. Garrett is a man of ripe scholarship, sound judgment, sane and sensible utterance, years of experience in serving the Nation.

Mr. Garrett is a Well Versed Business Man And a Trained Diplomat

(The Baltimore American of July 13, 1922, says:)

2 "John W. Garrett is a quiet, studious, even-tempered man, of broad education and broad experience, a well-versed business man, a trained diplomat,—which means a trained observer of affairs—a man who has been shown the confidence of successive administrations."

(From the Baltimore American of July 16, 1922)

"John W. Garrett, as a Senatorial candidate, should prove himself the kind of man who makes automatic appeal to the regular Republican voter and who is well liked, besides, by many voters within the Democratic party. He is the kind of man who should make a mark for himself—and not against himself—in the United States Senate. If we make Garrett a Senator, we will probably add one to that body from Maryland who will be both conspicuous and sensible."

Mr. Garrett Will Prove To Be An Asset To The Entire United States

(From the Evening Sun of July 18, 1922)

3 "For many years he (Mr. Garrett) has served the nation in important diplomatic posts. His knowledge of international affairs is probably as broad and as searching as that of any man in the country, and it is commonly agreed that during the next few years international affairs are to have equal place in our national policy with the more pressing domestic problems—to this extent his (Mr. Garrett's) presence in the Senate chamber would add dignity to a degenerating body and bring prestige to the State of Maryland."

JOHN W. GARRETT

BECAUSE:

Senator France Denounced The Republican Party

1 Senator France, on March 2, 1922, in denunciation of the Republican Party, said, according to page 3616 of the Congressional Record: "If you Democratic Senators stand steadfastly and determinedly for these principles which my party seems to be now repudiating you will meet your reward at the hands of the American people and I hope to God that you do."

Calls France a Bolshevik Sympathizer

(From the Phila. Public Ledger, August 3, 1921)

2 "Today Senator France is an avowed Bolshevik, primarily, and the supporter of Radical theories without number. His office in the Senate is the headquarters for Bolshevik supporters. Followers of Radicalism regard him as their leader and he accepts their trust."

Senator France Has Done Nothing Constructive

(From the Baltimore News, August 11, 1922)

3 "As a legislator Senator France has been tried out for six years. During that time there has been no other member of the Senate who consumed more hours in the exploitation of less practical ideas. He belongs essentially to that class of members whose activities shake the country's confidence in the judgment and ability of the Senate as a whole."

Senator France Has Been Destructive

(From the Baltimore Sun, March 6, 1919)

4 "In his filibustering activities Senator France talked to death over $3,500,000 of appropriations for Maryland. Practically $2,000,000 of this sum was to have been expended in the construction of permanent buildings at Baltimore, Annapolis, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Easton, Elkton, Ellicott City and Laurel, so that every section of the state is made to suffer."

Opposed Leading Doctrines Of Republican Party Leaders

5 Senator France cast the only vote against the bill for limitation of naval armament, the greatest measure passed in any administration. This measure stopped huge economic waste and danger of the race for naval armament. He stood against the entire United States Senate, although this particular legislation had been approved by, and had the hearty support of all elements in the United States.

Senator France Casts Slur At Every Republican Voter

6 The words of Senator France that appear below, appear in the Congressional Record of March 20, 1920. Every Republican should read this remark:

"Both of these two parties are decadent as to the issues that first quickened them into being. They hold their noble names, but they have become apostate from the great principles which they once advanced and so valiantly defended."

95 MILLION PEOPLE IN CHURCHES OF COUNTRY

Methodists With 7,915,557 Members
Constitute Largest Religious Body
In America.

According to statistics gathered by the Federal Council of Churches and printed in the Year Book of the churches which has just been issued, of every 100 persons in the United States, 10 have no religious affiliation and 9 are affiliated through membership, financial support, attendance or other ties with various religious bodies as follows:

Protestant	75
Roman Catholic	18
Other Faiths	3
No religious affiliation	10

Total 95,584,107
The Year Book of the Churches gives the total church population of the country as follows:

Roman Catholic	17,885,646
Eastern Orthodox	411,054
Latter Day Saints	587,918
Jewish	1,600,000
Protestant	75,099,489

Total 95,584,107
On this basis the Methodist and Baptist churches have a greater constituency than the Roman Catholic church, the figures being:

Methodists	22,171,958
Baptists	21,338,700
Roman Catholics	17,885,646

In connection with these figures, the Year Book, which was originally compiled by Dr. E. O. Watson, Washington secretary of the Federal Council of churches explains the difficulty of reaching a basis of comparison of the different religious bodies owing to their varying basis of membership.

The Year Book of the Churches brings out the different methods of computing membership in the Roman Catholic and most of the Protestant bodies. The Roman Catholic church, according to the Catholic Directory includes in its membership "Catholic population," while all but a few small bodies of the Protestant churches count only communicant members. So the two figures are not comparable unless the Protestant membership is used as a basis for "constituency" or "Protestant population."

It has been somewhat difficult to get the proper ratio between communicant membership and constituency, but Dr. Walter Laidlaw of New York, who has had large experience as a statistician of the New York Federation of Churches and in the Census Bureau, has demonstrated through various tests that communicant membership multiplied by 2.8 will give "church population." For instance, it is misleading to say that there are 17,885,646 Roman Catholics and 22,171,958 Protestants, when the former refers to "Roman Catholic Population" and the latter to "communicant membership." To make them comparable the Protestant communicant membership has been multiplied by 2.8.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

Beans and Boxes.

It is often hard for the mother to find lasting and pleasant pastimes for her little child. He may be too young to play outdoors alone. During the winter months many hours a day must be spent indoors.

My knowledge of a two-year-old child's play instincts and the use of some very ordinary household materials, have developed several occupations which might be found useful and helpful to others.

There are his beloved "Beans." He has already spent days and days with them and still shows a ready interest when they appear from the shelf in the pantry. A little cup of beans, the hard red kidney beans, and a glass dish were the extent of his materials to begin with. He loved to pour these out and refill his cup, becoming absorbed in his occupation for as long as thirty minutes at one time. Later I added a glass fruit jar, and mixed with the red beans some large white navy beans for him to sort out and drop into his jar. This also was found to be a successful experiment, giving training to his powers to discriminate in color and size.

Our "Beans" lend themselves to many occasions. They were the means of keeping two little visitors happy while the mother, who had left them in my charge, went to town. She told me afterwards that she has borrowed the idea for their playtime at home.

My son's irrepressible desire to pound the chairs and tables or hammer on the furniture with almost any article he could get hold of led to another occupation. The material this time consisted of a box which the grocery boy had left, a good sized nail, and the coveted household hammer. Although he does not do anything so far but fit the nail in an old nail hole and pound, he is safely giving vent to a growing instinct to handle and wield, in imitation of his father. Late two or three nails could be given, and still later a bit of board to nail to the box, anticipating future crude but effective toy making and carpentry.

Speaking of boxes, I might mention one "toy house" which was made by nailing together two boxes of the same size, one above the other. This is kept in the kitchen because the children are often playing here during the time that meals are under way or kitchen work being done. This low and convenient place having been provided for them, toys formerly left discarded on the floor are kept picked up and stowed away in the toy house. One shelf holds a large basket of little things, "junk" of all descriptions so easily lost and so dear to every child's heart. The rest of the space is given to a box of blocks, dolls and balls, while a few old magazines and picture books are kept on the top. The house is enjoyed by the children, and is a big help to mother in keeping her rooms in general good order.

Cultivating a Child's Sense of Humor

We are all familiar with the old well-directed habit of roaming off saying that a sense of humor is a saying grace, but even though we adults, mothers and teachers, appreciate this trait, too often we neglect the opportunity to encourage it in the child. All children love a joke. Even very young children are quick to catch a pun or a play on words. They are always ready for a good laugh, and they are all the happier if some one will enjoy the laugh with them.

Fortunate indeed is the child who has a teacher who indulges a sense of humor in both herself and her children. And if these same pupils receive further encouragement at home through mother, they develop a clean wit which is a joy even while they are small. The children who daily play under a window make remarks that are clever enough for any writer to use in his daily newspaper department, but I am not surprised at their remarks when I know the teacher who has them in charge at least four hours each day. She is always bubbling with mirth and never allows the tiresome details of routine to dull her perspective. She never loses a chance to turn a word or a phrase at the proper moment so that the children catch the humor. And they grow to like this game of matching wits with the keenly alert mind of the joking teacher.

I visited that teacher's room one day and the class was writing a composition on "Mother." Ruth raised her hand and asked, "How do you spell 'awful'?" Miss Allen looked at her, moment in surprise and then said, "Why, Ruth, you don't mean you are using that word in a talk about 'Mother'?" Ruth's eyes danced and a broad smile broke over her face as she replied, "I just asked that on purpose to see you look surprised. I know how to spell that word and I'm saying my mother does awful nice things for me." The idea was that the child planned to use that word (this is not the place to discuss the propriety of its use) and when she saw the opportunity for a joke, she felt at liberty to share her discovery with the teacher because there was that certainty of expectation which Miss Allen had encouraged.

Yesterday that same crowd of children to which I have previously referred was exploring the mysteries of a new house in process of construction. The carpenters had laid the shingles in around the top of the roof in bunches just as they came from the lumber yards, and Dorothy had never happened to see shingles in that shape before. So she said carelessly, "I didn't know shingles came that way," and Bobbie, catching the remark, quick as a flash, said, "If you did you think they came in paste board boxes wrapped in pink tissue paper?" Now Bobbie goes to school to Miss Allen, and in addition he comes from a family who, although very modestly endowed financially, have a wonderful faculty of getting fun out of life. They can construct a gloriously happy home on the very foundation of adversity, simply because they mix in that wonderful saving grace, a sense of humor.

Aside from teaching the children this happy trait, it is a most helpful factor in adding zest to the daily tasks of the teacher. A good laugh is a splendid nerve tonic, as any physician will testify, and the tension of everlasting-keeping-at-it can be relieved many times during the day by the well-directed habit of roaming off for a moment into "litterer." Some children as well as adults are more richly endowed by nature than others with this characteristic of humor, but it is wonderful what cultivation of even the tiniest germ will produce even in the soberest and seemingly dullest individual.

White Supremacy.

They were a couple of ex-doughboys but had been out of the army so long that they had forgotten the discomforts of hiking and fighting and freezing and starving and all the rest of it, and remember only the good times and the free-for-all existence. Civilian life had become so monotonous that they decided something had to be done about it.

"Let's beat it for China," suggested one. "There's a good war goin' on and there ought to be some excitement, because they got three armies."

"No," objected the other. "Let's go to Ireland. They got one army there per capita."

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and this, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would not sleep, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of and I then remembered my mother used to take it. After the first bottle I was better. I began to freshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

CARDUI

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed. If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need. At your druggist's or dealer's.

When One Claims Adjuster Fainted.

Out in Wyoming a train ran over the cow of a Swedish farmer named Ole Olson. The claim adjuster went out to the home of Ole to adjust the claim likely to be made by Ole for the loss of his cow.

"Well, Mr. Olson," said the claim adjuster, "I came out to see you about your cow being killed on our track. What are you expecting to do about it?"

"Well," said Ole stolidly, "I ban a poor man, an' I can not do much because I ban so poor, but I will try to pay you five dollars."—Judge.

A famous artist was asked which particular masterpiece he considered to be his best.

REEDVILLE

We had a most interesting letter last week from Mrs. J. C. Fisher. She had been in San Francisco several days, had crossed San Francisco Bay, and looked on the Golden Gate, "famed in verse and story," had been through many wonderful experiences "all pleasant." Together with her husband she had crossed the Continental Divide at an altitude of 3,950 ft. Had been up the Columbia River, passed Luther Burbank's wonderful place, had driven through forest of the far-famed Redwood trees, thousands of years old, and according to Peter B. Kyne in his splendid book, "The Valley of the Giants," growing no other place in the world. The lumber from one of these giants, it is said, will build ten or twelve houses. A wonderful trip they are having and getting a world of pleasure out of it. The "Shook" show, which was this morning here, Thursday afternoon and evening. A full attendance each time was reported. The desert scenery was said to be beautiful, and the picture true to the life of the land. Many farmers in this vicinity have been "pulling fodder," though heavy rains have spoiled much of their crop. Some beautiful hay has been housed, saved between showers luckily. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Forrester, of Baltimore, motored to Northumberland last Thursday, bringing Mrs. James H. Crowther, who has been having a most delightful visit of six weeks or more to that city, and Washington. Mr. John Crowther Marsh, of Washington, also made the trip with them. After seeing their people at Tibitha, Fleeton, and Reedville, for a few happy moments, the party, minus Mrs. Crowther, left Saturday afternoon, for a night near Coat, with relatives, and home again Sunday.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Clara Burgess of Sunnybrook, is very sick again. Hope she may soon be better.

Mrs. John C. Taliaferro, and little son, Henry D., are leaving Reedville today for a week at Mila, with Mrs. W. H. Russell, and family. On Saturday they will go back to Norfolk for the winter. They have been very welcome here this summer, and carry with them love and best wishes from many old friends in the homeland. Mr. Charles Lofland is working on his house up the street at this time. Mr. Rodson is doing the lathing, and they are expecting to finish at least the greater part of it, and move in during October.

Mrs. W. R. Phillips, and her little daughter, have returned to Salisbury after a visit of several weeks at Burgess Store, and this place, with relatives.

Mrs. M. L. White and little son, Marion, are here from Suffolk, visiting at Capt. J. B. Hinton's, near Lillian, and relatives here in Reedville. Mr. John B. Hinton, of Reedville, has been sick recently, but is better. We are glad to know. Dr. Hudnall of Beverlyville, has been attending him.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Towles, have been entertaining at their home here the past week. Mrs. E. B. Crooks, and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Crooks, who are on their way to Delaware for the winter. Mr. Crooks has occupied the chair of Philosophy and Education at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, a number of years, but this year will be at the University of Delaware.

Many friends were sorry to hear that Capt. John A. Haynie, has been sick recently at Braddock Heights, where a party from here were rusticated. We are hoping he will soon be all right again. Capt. and Mrs. E. W. Edwards, who were at the Heights, have returned to Fleeton.

The James Adams Floating Theatre has been playing nightly at the Reedville wharf this week. The attendance, while not as great as it once was, has been very good, at times large, and the shows said to have been very good and well-rended.

Mrs. Mittie Overton, as was seen in The News last week, has opened a Millinery Shop in the Reedville Company Inc., here, and in addition to her work on hats and bonnets, will run a novelty line or two, which is new here, and will indeed be a very convenient and pleasing thing. We are wishing her much success.

Miss Rowlett has returned to take charge of the millinery at Reed and Price's again, and has the opening announced for several days next week. Miss Rowlett is from Blackstone and did fine work here last year.

Mrs. Jack Haynie, and little daughter, Verma, who have been in Baltimore at Chincoteague for sometime have returned to their home here. School will begin at R. H. S. on the 8th (next Friday) and at the absentees will be wending homeward ways soon.

though in some instances with probably reluctant feet.

The carpenters from Kilmarnock are getting along very nicely on the Church road for Mr. E. R. Perkins, and Mr. Mitchell. They are to be ready for occupancy during the fall, at which time there will be many moving here.

Quite a number of houses in town are being improved by a coat of paint. Mr. T. J. Parks is now painting the home of Mr. L. N. Powell, whose family will soon be coming back from their summer outing at Chincoteague. He has recently finished Mrs. Ophelia Williams' house, leaving it looking like new. At Mr. Alonzo Dawson's a bath has recently been installed.

Mrs. Jennie Pitman of Lillian, is in Baltimore for a visit of several weeks with her daughters, all of whom have been recent guests at the old home here. Miss Pearl Pitman of Johns Hopkins returned with her mother to take up her hospital duties in the city on Wednesday.

Miss Mabel Jones of Rainwood, has been spending some time at Fleeton recently, with Mrs. Francis Slaughter.

Mrs. Lula Butler and Mrs. Owen Booth, of this place are visiting in Richmond.

Aunt Hannah Walker, an aged and highly respected colored woman was found dead at her home at Crowder's Store, near Reedville, one day last week. She had not been well for some time and had been out watching her pigs eat. Death came quick and quietly and she was found resting on the pen quite dead. Aunt Hannah was a good woman, a good faithful worker and will be remembered and missed by friends white and colored.

Mr. Pinckard Ashburn, of Tibitha, was in town one day this week, bringing his little girl to Dr. Cockrell for help. The little child had gotten a grain of corn some distance up its nostril, and had to be given ether before the obstruction could be removed. The child was panic stricken and could be heard screaming in most distressing manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Echols, and little Miss Barbara Ruth, of Richmond, and Mr. Henry Marsh, of Baltimore, have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marsh, at their home in this place the past week or two.

Landis To Convention

Just as soon as the last bell has been rung in the World's Series, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is going to "catch him self a rattler," direct for New Orleans. The famous jurist attended the national American Legion convention at Kansas City last year, and was so popular that the Legionnaires would want him back for the New Orleans gathering. Sanford MacNider, national commander, wrote to Judge Landis inviting him.

And he got this reply:

"Dear Colonel: Replying to your letter, I have intended all along to attend this year's annual convention at New Orleans, and never to miss one in the future while I live."

"I shall start for New Orleans on the first train after the World's Series game is played. Just what day this will probably get me to New Orleans I will try to figure out a little later and advise you."

Judge Landis is one of many notable, both from this country and abroad who will be honored guests at the big convention in New Orleans. The Louisiana city is trying to outdo Kansas City in its list of famous men and women guests, and from the past already prepared it appears success will crown New Orleans' efforts. When asked after the Kansas City convention whether or not he intended to attend the New Orleans gathering, Judge Landis declared:

"You couldn't keep me away. I'll be there if I'm able to wiggle."

Resent Sawyer's Attitude

From over all the country are arising protests from former service men, filled with anxiety concerning the welfare of their disabled buddies, over the interference of Brigadier General Charles Sawyer, with the planned hospital program of the Veterans' Bureau. Following the charges of A. A. Sprague, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, Legion posts and papers, and individuals have voiced indignation, and demands that the President's personal physician step aside and permit the program to be carried out.

Action on General Sawyer's interference was one of the first suggestions considered at the Oregon department convention, held at Dallas, Ore., and a resolution was adopted for removal of General Sawyer "from his position as coordinator of the Federal Hospitalization Board for the best interests of the disabled."

Legion papers and many of the daily papers of the country, large and small, have taken up the issue editorially, and most unanimously indorse the stand of the Rehabilitation Committee, and unite in demanding that General Sawyer stand aside. Many of the posts have sent telegrams direct to General Sawyer. The following telegram, sent to the General by La Volture No. 217, de La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, Atlanta, Ga., is typical of the attitude shown:

"Volture No. 217 de La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux last night passed resolution strongly resenting your unwarranted action in personally blocking United States hospital program. We respectfully ask that you stand aside. It is the will of the American people that the money appropriated by Congress be used immediately in building hospitals for disabled men. Here in the South we need 600 beds for mental cases. We know the needs of our disabled men, and you do not. In the name of humanity, we appeal to you to stand aside!"

U. S. Navy To Show

The United States Navy will participate in the naval show to be held during the American Legion national convention in New Orleans next October, the convention committee has been informed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt. Representation will consist of at least one battleship or cruiser and a number of destroyers.

Twelve hydroplanes, with 17 from Pensacola to New Orleans and will remain on the Mississippi river for exhibition flights during the convention period. The order authorizing the New Orleans flight was issued by Admiral William A. Moffett, head of the Navy Bureau of aeronautics, who a few weeks ago made the first hydroplane flight from Pensacola to New Orleans.

In addition, the Legion committee hopes to obtain a number of submarines. One flotilla of under-sea craft is on the way from Mare, Island, Cal., to the East Coast and it is believed that its schedule will enable the flotilla to make the port of New Orleans about convention time.

Invitations to send ships to the Legion naval show have been dispatched to naval authorities of England, including Canada and Australia, France, Italy, Japan, Brazil and China.

Bonus Is Chief Topic

At various informal meetings at the capitol, according to information gathered by the national legislative committee of the American Legion, Congressmen who have returned for the reconvening of Congress, report that the only legislation of national importance discussed in their districts is the adjusted compensation bill for World War veterans. This is declared to be true to the exclusion of all such matters as the tariff and the proposed ship subsidy. Their information bears out the repeated statement that this is the one matter that the whole country is interested in and war is settled definitely without any further delay.

Queen of Roumania Invited

Queen Marie of Roumania and Mrs. Warren G. Harding have been invited to attend the national convention of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held in New Orleans, Oct. 16-20, Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, Auxiliary national president, has announced. The auxiliary plans to entertain some of the most prominent men and women in the country during its sessions in New Orleans. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, has accepted an invitation to address the convention and a similar reply to the invitation is expected from George B. Ullev, president of the American Library Association.

Other notables invited to the convention are Mrs. M. P. Higgins, president of the National Parent-Teachers' Association; Mrs. Herbert Hoover, president of the Girl Scouts of America; Mrs. George Minor, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Phillip A. Moore, president of the National Council of Women; Mrs. Agnes H. Parker, president of the Women's Relief Corps of the G. A. R.; Mrs. Livingstone Rowe Schuyler, president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Gora A. Thompson, president of the Spanish-American War Veterans' Auxiliary and Mrs. Thomas Winters, president of the American Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mary Roberts Rinehart and a number of other well known writers are also expected at the convention.

Trophies To All States

The national legislative and military policy committees of the American Legion have taken steps to obtain from the house military affairs committee a favorable report on a bill which has been introduced and which provides for the equitable distribution of war trophies to various States. This action has been taken so that the bill can be voted on during this session.

Kate O'Hare In Wrong

When Kate O'Hare, whose name is known more or less well, announced a speech at the State Capitol in Madison, Wis., she stirred up a hornet's nest. The local posts of the American Legion immediately protested vigorously against the State building being used for any such purpose, the protest being filed with the governor. He refused to have the speech prohibited.

"We are having a hard time in Wisconsin on account of the coming fall election," Edward J. Barrett, Wisconsin department commander, who lodged the protest, wrote to headquarters following the incident. "The governor worked with us up to the point where he had to decide between Kate O'Hare and the American Legion, and he took sides with the former. Since that time we have had to get along without a governor."

Commander Barrett explained the Legion's attitude in a letter written to Thomas P. Hayden, an official of the Locomotive Firemen and Engine-men. He said:

"One hundred and thirty thousand Wisconsin soldiers went out from this state to defend its capitol buildings and everything they represent, from the Red Flag of Anarchy, as well as from the encroachments of the Imperial German Government. Five thousand never came back—thousands of others were wounded and are in hospitals with disease which will eventually cause their deaths—others are mentally unbalanced and can never hope to again become useful citizens. With these sacrifices staring these who served in the face, we would be derelict in our duty if we did not protest vigorously against a woman who was convicted of espionage, an obstructor of the draft, and guilty of using the most violent language against the mothers of these soldiers and against the soldiers themselves."

Of Course Not—Hello Girl! Some of the things over the wires are not fit for me to hear.

Linesman: Aw, you can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked.

Leave it to Dad—Mother, tell me a fairy story please.

Wait, child. Your father will be home in a few minutes, and he will tell us both one.

VOTE DOWN THE MAN WHO DESERTED YOU

Senator Joseph I. France, in the United States Senate, March 2, 1922, said:

"If you Democratic Senators stand steadfastly and determinedly for these principles which my party seems to be now repudiating you will meet with your reward at the hands of the American people, and I hope to God that you do."

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side."

I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month."

I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."

—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Here is a woman who is so grateful and glad to be relieved from a painful and nerve-racking physical condition that she wishes to tell all sick women.

LEFT HANDED MEN IN U.S. ARMY DURING WAR

Two-Fisted Fighters Shocked Old Infantry School But Also Were Terror To Enemy.

There were 4,000,000 soldiers in the American army that was recruited to stop the Germans on their rapid way to Paris and thence to—where?

That army stopped the Germans. It stopped them with left-handed men. To understand fully the force of this statement one must compare the personnel of the American army with any or all of the others that poured into the maw of the big guns their millions of young men, Eugene Bissbee writes in the New York Globe. In the armies of England, of Canada, of Australia, of France, and of Belgium, and Italy nothing out of the ordinary was outstanding.

In the American army in action the outstanding characteristic, after you saw their fierce fighting, was the great number of left-handed men. All through the ranks during the close conflict against the Germans, men were everywhere using their left hands for their pistols, their grenades, and their rifles. To the disciplined officer of the old infantry school, watching many hundreds of men in hot action, each seeming to be acting independently of the others, and many of them using both hands for their work of destruction, it looked much like a mob riot.

Following one individual, he was observed to draw his pistol with his left hand, pick up a grenade with his right hand, while aiming and shooting with the forearm, hurl the grenade with accuracy toward the enemy. Often a man would handle a pistol in one hand and a rifle in the other, each with equal ease. This particular instance is explained by the fact that the embryo soldiers were instructed to use the rifle with the right hand while being drilled, but were permitted to use either hand for the pistol.

Exploration into the files of the great draft of five years ago unearthed the rather startling information that no provision whatever was made for the special needs of men who were naturally left-handed. Statistics are not conclusive on the subject of the proportion of left-handed persons in a given number of the country's population, but observation tends to the conclusion that it is about one in twenty of the males.

There is a smaller proportion who are ambidextrous. With these there was little or no trouble. But with the left-handers there was born at once the question of what to do with such a vast number of men who, in at least one respect, were totally different from their fellows. The recruiting officers could not agree that a regiment, or several of them, should be formed of left-handers. That would have been impracticable, for the reason that they were scattered throughout the whole army and in no camp was there a sufficient number to form a regiment.

When the men of the first draft underwent their physical examination and it was found that a large number of them were left-handed, some of the boards inclined to a suggestion that they be given a deferred classification. But this would have been manifestly unfair to the others, for they were, as a rule, men of fine physique. So off they went to the concentration camps for training to be sent to France.

The drill masters assigned to the task managed to teach these men to handle a rifle with their right hands, but they let them use the pistol with either hand, since that weapon is not one of the drilling essentials. And when it was found that a man could not be taught to fire a rifle with any degree of accuracy with his right hand when he was normally left-handed the officers forgot his deficiency and let him use either hand. The important thing was that he shoot to hit, it mattered little with what hand he killed them when the time came for that work.

The consequence was that we developed the most remarkable aggregation of left-handed men that ever shouldered guns. On drill they did very well and few would have noticed anything unusual about them. But the minute they went into action from the trenches of France those left hands began to make themselves known. They were noticed by the who really is lonely and would care to write to me." Willingness to take a chance, after two matrimonial failures in her field of experience, led a Southern woman now living in Atlantic City to pen one of the clearest letters now reposing in a shoebox in the office of the union.

She says: "I have had two husbands during my 30-odd years. Neither was exactly a success, so that anything you may have to offer might prove as good as, if not better, than my past experiences. I am a Southern woman, but would not care to have a Southern husband particularly. I would want that he be a widower, between 45 and 50, and that he have not more than one child, preferably a little girl.

"Were he a gentleman farmer I would be well pleased. I mean by that a man who directs farm labor on property of his own, but does not himself till the soil. And his fondness for chickens should be confined to his own backyard, although I would like to have a small car in which we could run about together.

I want a tall man and would not care if he were a little plump. Also I could overlook some baldness and even false teeth, if put in with good intent. If my craft is to have a third mate he must know how to rake a furnace and shovel coal, as well as polish his nails. He must know how to be thoughtful when I am ill, even to the point of throwing the ice pick at hand organs when they insist on playing the songs under my window at such a time. I will be better suited if he thinks of my loneliness and gets home on time for dinner than if he always remembers to take off his hat in an elevator, which is a public convenience anyhow.

"I want my man to be virile, upstanding; not a listless patron of the vitamins factories. He can be somewhat on the cave order if he will know when to abandon rough tactics for gentler technique. As for myself, I am told that I resemble the fabled queen in Elsinore. Glynn's 'Three Weeks'; but I do not seek any tiger-skin, cuddling mate or la-de-la lounge-lizard. Do what you can to make a success of my third try. I will try to make the man happy if he half way measures up. Life is a big gamble, anyhow; but I am willing to take one more chance."

SECOND-CHOICE LAW PUZZLES OFFICIALS

Underlying Principle of Primary Election Provisions is That Majority Not Plurality Decides.

Because of the complexity of the second-choice provisions of the Primary Election law, which may be invoked in the three-cornered Democratic Senatorial fight, election officials and party workers are having great difficulty in understanding what must be done under the law. Numerous inquiries have been received by State officials the "Baltimore Sun" goes on to say.

The underlying principle of the law is that a choice must be made by a majority instead of by a plurality. That rule applies equally in determining the choice of a political unit—that is, a county or a legislative district—and in determining the final result of the choice of all the units. In any given county—say Wicomico—following the election, the official must determine the first choice of a majority of those who voted in the Democratic primary, and then the second choice, for the guidance of the delegates from the county to the State convention.

If there are 5,000 votes cast and Candidate A gets 3,000, Candidate B gets 1,500 and Candidate C 500, there is no question that the delegation from the county is instructed to vote for Candidate A as the first choice. He will have a clear majority. There will remain the matter of determining the county's second choice. That illustrates the procedure if one of the candidates has had a clear majority for first choice. If of 5,000 votes cast in the county Candidate A had 2,400, Candidate B had 2,000, and Candidate C had 600, there would be no first choice indicated—only a plurality result. Thereupon, the low man would be eliminated, and the second choice of those who voted for him distributed.

Assume that of the 600 who voted for Candidate C, as first choice, 400 favored Candidate A as second choice and 200 favored Candidate B. By adding that 400 to the 2,400 given Candidate A in the first place, he would have a total of 2,800 votes, and a clear majority of the 5,000 cast, and would become the first choice of the county. Candidate B, with 200 added to his original 2,000, would have a total of 2,200, and would become the second choice.

By applying these rules the delegation from each county will enter the State convention with definite instructions as to its first and second choices. If any of the three candidates for the nomination for Senator had a clear majority of all the delegates in the convention that is, 67 or more, as the first choice, all would be over.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

But if no candidate had a clear majority, then the second choice would be resorted to. That would be done in this way: The low man among the candidates would be eliminated. Suppose he had, on the first choice, the delegations from three counties. Each of these delegations would recall that it was instructed, under the procedure outlined above, as to second choice. Necessarily the second choice would be one of the two remaining candidates. Each of these delegations would vote according to the second-choice instructions given it. And, there being but two candidates, one would have enough from his original first choices, plus the second choices given him by delegates of the eliminated candidate, to have a majority of all the delegates in the State convention.

There was a constant dull ache through my back and sides and I had such a soreness across my kidneys that every move I made caused dreadful pains. I had headaches and nervous, dizzy spells. My feet and ankles swelled at times, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard's Drug Store and they soon relieved the backache and headaches and the swelling left. I felt better in every way."

DRAINAGE OF CRANBERRY BOG BY DITCHES AND TIDE-GATES PLANNED

Committee Appointed By Mayor And City Council Makes That Report.

COPY IS SENT TO DR. FULTON FOR APPROVAL

Breeding Ground For Malaria Mosquito Can Not Be Drained By Gravity To River Because Below Tide Level, While Filling In Would Involve An Enormous Expenditure.

At the regular Monday night meeting of the Mayor and City Council this week, a report was made to the body by the committee appointed on the 4th of the month to investigate conditions affecting the drainage of the Cranberry Bog, which is that property bounded by Willow, Lake, Gordon, Delaware and West Main Streets. This bog has been declared by the State Health Department several weeks ago to be a fertile breeding ground for the malaria mosquito and the city was allowed 20 days in which to clear the land by drainage of the fever-carrying insect. Dr. John S. Fulton, who is the head of the state health group, himself investigated the conditions and delivered to the Mayor the clean-up order.

Accordingly at the next meeting of the city council the matter was discussed. City Engineer Dryden and Street Commissioner Bounds were named as a committee to make the survey and to recommend what course to pursue in carrying out the edict of the Health Department.

Friday and Saturday a very thorough tour of investigation of the Cranberry Bog was made by the two members of the committee and their report to the Mayor and City Council has been also mailed to Dr. Fulton in order that any action on the part of the city authorities might meet with the approval of the health commissioners.

The report recommends the drainage of the specified territory by means of ditches and tide-gates. In brief outline, the main features of it are herewith included.

The greater portion of the property known as the Cranberry Bog is owned by Dr. S. A. Graham, approximately 18 acres, and the remaining two acres are owned by Mr. D. J. Wheaton. A large portion of this property is below tide level and it is regarded as impossible to drain the bog by gravity to the river although by the cutting of ditches and the establishing of tide gates it is expected that the average water level can be lowered from one to two feet. The work thus outlined could be performed for about $700.00.

It was brought out that to effect a complete drainage of this area it would be necessary to install pumps and to raise the water to tide level, which would involve heavy expenditures; or the ground may be raised by filling but estimates on this work were around $600 an acre.

Approximately fifty per cent of the property owned by the F. A. D. Realty Company in this region has been filled to mean water level but in doing this work the inlet to the sewer from Lake street to the river has been filled and the water in the unfilled portion of this property is two feet above the flow-line of the sewer. It is suggested that the property owners cut a ditch through so that this condition might be eliminated.

It is thought that with an opening of another ditch and the installation of tide gates at the inlet to the large sewer, the water level in the Realty Company's property would be lowered from 18 inches to 2 feet.

These plans all met with the approval of the Mayor and City Council and a representative from the County Commissioners, Judge Toadine, ascertained that he thought the latter would co-operate with the former in any proposition offered that involved no enormous expenditures. For the County Commissioners were served with just the same order as was the City Council.

DR. H. D. CONE RESIGNS EPISCOPAL RECTORATE

Local Pastor Accepts Call From Parish of St. Paul Church at Windsor, Vermont.

Announcement was made last week by Rev. Dr. Herbert D. Cone, of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church, this city, that he had resigned from his present rectorate to accept a call from the parish of St. Paul Episcopal Church at Windsor, Vt. The change will be made in the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. Cone returned Friday from their vacation which was spent at Windsor with Mrs. Cone recuperated from a serious condition of impaired health. Dr. Cone came to Salisbury in December, 1917, from Erie, Pa., where he was Arch-Deacon of the Diocese.

BUYS PARKER PROPERTY.

The Henrietta Parker property on Division Street was bought last week by Mr. Tom Cinnio who conducts a confectionery parlor on Main Street. The purchase price was given as $13,500. Mr. Cinnio has not made any definite plans regarding his new property and says that no announcement may be expected before the first of the year.

SALISBURY ATTENDANCE FIGURES ARE HIGHEST

More People Witnessed Series Game Here Than In Either One Of Two Pennant-Winning Towns.

Salisbury turned out a greater attendance at the third championship game here between Parkley and Martinsburg than in either of the other two towns which were represented by the pennant-winning teams. Which goes to show that the Wicomico metropolis practically supported the series, and is the best baseball town on the Shore. Just as many people witnessed Saturday's conflict at Gordy Park as did the opening two games at Parkley.

Attendance figures at this year's series showed a decrease of 239 paid admissions over last year's exhibitions. For the first game at Parkley there were present, 1,445, with receipts, $1,628.60. For the second game at Salisbury, the attendance was, 2,229, receipts, $2,579.15. For the third game at Martinsburg, attendance, 1,196, receipts, $1,332.25. Total attendance was, 5,057; receipts, $6,440.50.

The winning players pool totaled $2,477.99 and the losing men $1,851.98. Each club had 14 men eligible to participate in the pools. For Martinsburg men will receive $176.92 and each Parkley man $117.92.

The umpires, Bill Byers, of the Blue Ridge League, and Arthur Cloak, of the Eastern Shore League, pooled a winning and losing share, giving each an equal division of $147.42. Each league received two and one-half per cent, making $144.91. Each club's share was 12 1/2 per cent, or $688.33. Each club paid an umpire's share, leaving Martinsburg $540.91. In addition to paying its umpire Parkley also paid $35 for the use of the Salisbury field on Saturday, making its total $205.91.

Thirteen Frederick players received $149.47 apiece a year ago, and the losing players of Princess Anne, 14 in number, took down $92.53.

The clubs will not much more than break even on the series because of the long jumps to and from Parkley, Va., and vice versa. If the clubs could have gotten in one more game, the same as last year, they probably would have split at least $1,000, and probably $3,000, for the full series of seven games. Consequently it was a players' series, just like it was between the Athletics and Boston Braves several years ago in the world series.

"MAN OF MYSTERY" IS GRATEFUL TO FRIEND

Asphasia Victim Sends Interesting Card To Salisburyman Who Befriended Him.

A card has been received by Mr. Elmer Holt from William Phoenix whom he befriended when the latter was the victim of asphasia on the streets of Salisbury July 21st. Mr. Holt was on duty at the city pumping station when the stranger came up to him about midnight and asked for a place to bunk.

Mr. Holt took him home and gave him a place to sleep only to be awakened later in the night by his guest's sudden departure. The speechless man was later taken to hospital and his case attracted attention for some time. Through the newspapers, his parents in West Chester learned of their son's whereabouts and came down to this city and took him home. "Just a line from the man of mystery to let you know that I haven't forgotten you," was the words written on the card which was addressed to Mr. Elmer Holt, first house on corner across from steamboat wharf, Salisbury, Md.

AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATION IS DEVELOPED

County Agent Cobb Institutes Board Of Agriculture For Wicomico Farmers.

NEW BODY SIMILAR TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Only Will Function Along Agricultural Lines Rather Than Industrial. To Act As Clearing House For Prices, Information, Etc.—Excellent Personnel Supports Bright Outlook.

County Agent Cobb has developed a somewhat unique organization in Wicomico County known as the Board of Agriculture. Its functions are summed up in the short phrase "self starter" for all things pertaining to agriculture.

The organization will soon compare very favorably with the Chamber of Commerce in that its work is along similar lines except that its efforts are along agricultural lines rather than industrial lines. At present the organization is in its infancy but its personnel and broad foundation augur well for its permanency and success.

This organization acts as an advisory body to the County Agent and is a non-secret body with no dues and with no paid officials. Later on it is hoped that its growth will necessitate one or more paid officials who can and will devote all of their time and energy to its work.

At present the work of this organization is confined to the starting of any movement advantageous to the farmer and the farming interests of the county. It has not, as yet, served as a buying or selling combination in any way but in time there may be developed a branch which will take on the duties of buying and selling for the farmers. But at no time will it assume the marketing of all farm products as this work is highly specialized and needs experts in its management. The buying of seeds, fertilizers, feeds, etc., as well as the selling of some of the farm products such as grain, livestock, etc., will eventually become part of the duty of the organization.

As in addition to the above functions the Board of Agriculture will act as a clearing house for prices, information and advice that may benefit the farmer in his work. It is expected that the main office will have at all times up to date information on any and all lines pertaining to the farming industry. Similar organizations have been organized in other counties.

SUGGESTS FOLLOWING SALISBURY'S EXAMPLE

Proposal To Baltimore's Police Chief To Use Legion Members For Police Duty.

The following story clipped from the Baltimore Sun dated Tuesday morning proves interesting to readers who are inclined to boost Salisbury. Police Commissioner Gathier, of Baltimore, is here quoted as being prone to consider the practicability of utilizing the services of members of the American Legion for police duty. He has been advised that just such steps were taken in Salisbury last year during a crime wave of petty thefts.

Charles D. Gathier, Police Commissioner, discussing the proposed offer of members of the American Legion to serve as deputies or special policemen, Saturday, said that if they will report violations of law it will be of great assistance.

"If the public will cooperate with the police," he continued, "it will be of greater assistance than any organization agrees to aid in upholding the law. It will have a great moral effect. We want their help and support."

Arthur Renouf, commander of the Maryland Department of the Legion, Saturday proposed to make the offer State-wide. He said the Legion in Salisbury had helped reduce crime in the town. Should the posts in the State offer their services, more than 5,000 men would be available for minor police duties, he said.

LEAVES FOR GREAT COUNCIL.

Senior member of Maryland's delegation to the Great Council of the United States, Improved Order Red Men, Mr. M. E. Tyndall, of this city, left Saturday for the meeting which is being held at Boston, Mass. Mr. Tyndall is a member of the Salisbury Lodge No. 14, and is a Past Great Sachem of Maryland.

THREE RING MAIN CIRCUS WILL EXHIBIT HERE SOON

On its 43rd annual tour after covering the principal cities of the eastern states, and repeating its established reputation for introducing new special attractions, the Walter L. Main big three ring circus, museum and menagerie will soon land on the Eastern Shore and Salisbury people will have the opportunity of attending its splendid shows sometime in the early fall.

LOCAL HOUSEHOLDERS MUST USE SOFT COAL

Coal Dealers Do Not Expect Any Large Shipments of Anthracite In Before Late October.

Despite the fact that the anthracite mines began their operations on Sept. 11, those Salisbury householders who have not a ton or two of hard coal already in the cellar must start the winter with soft coal as fuel. This is the conclusion reached by coal dealers, who unite in stating that shipments cannot begin to reach this city for some time after the reopening of the mines and that capacity production cannot be expected before middle of October.

The first shipments, it is said, will go to New England and the Northwest, where winter comes earlier than in Maryland. Nearly all the coal that goes to the Northwest is sent by way of the Great Lakes, and as much as possible must be rushed through before the lakes are closed by ice in November.

The entire hard coal production probably will be allotted to different parts of the country by a conference of operators.

One of the largest coal dealers in Salisbury when questioned over the telephone Tuesday replied that he would not expect over two or three carloads of hard coal in before the first of the year. However he is planning to have some shipments of soft coal and what is known as semi-bituminous coal in his yards very shortly. Another dealer was more optimistic and stated that he looked for normal quantities by the latter part of October.

Until that time some consumers at least must use soft coal, of which there will be a sufficient supply, although the chances of receiving the 30,000 tons allotted to Maryland before the Federal fuel distributor ceased operations continue to diminish.

The coal was to come to Maryland for household use. Now that the Federal distribution is no more, the State committee has no way of compelling delivery, and the West Virginia operators who produced it are unwilling to ship the coal for $4.75, the stipulated price, when they have been offered $6 a ton, it is said.

Vice-Chairman O. L. Eaton, is still trying to secure delivery of the coal, but not without optimistic over the probable success of his efforts.

The price of anthracite, when it is mined again, is not expected to be materially increased. The speedy passage of the administration coal control bill by the Senate, following the approval of the House of Representatives, would give the Interstate Commerce Commission authority to prevent an attempt to take advantage of the short supply.

PARKLEY'S DOWNFALL

Clayton and Roberts Stage Pretty Pitching Duel With The Farmer's Tensmates Failing To Produce The Punch Needed For Victory—Shore Fans Thrill at Battle.

Gordy Park, the home of the White Clouds during the past baseball season, was besieged by hundreds and hundreds of baseball fans from all parts of the Eastern Shore last Saturday afternoon when the pennant-winning Parkley and Martinsburg teams were scheduled to combat on the local diamond in the third and crucial game of the championship series.

Parkley having already dropped two contests in her own backlot needed this one to make things interesting when the fireworks open up in the hills of West Virginia. Poke Whalen and his charges were lacking in supporters for when Umpire Bill Byers called out, "Play Ball" the stands accorded the Parkley team a rousing cheer.

Just previous to this the two teams had metched from the flag pole in centerfield to the home plate and Managers Whalen and Shipley holding the prize gonfalon which represented Ban Johnson's own personal gift to the Five State Champions to be. The pennant was then hoisted to the breezes by a group of the high rogues.

Garrett Swings Four Shore Counties In Hot Republican Fight For Majority.

WICOMICO GIVES FRANCE BUT 59 LEAD OVER RIVAL

Baltimore City Independent Voters Made Strong Fight Against Kelly Organization Backing Bruce, Goldsbrough Overwhelmingly Carries Eastern Shore.

What is regarded as the most extraordinary primary election in the history of Maryland resulted in the nomination by the Democratic party of Mr. William Cabell Bruce, of Baltimore, for candidate for the United States Senate, and of Senator Joseph Irwin France by the Republicans for candidate for the same office.

The struggle in the Republican party was particularly hot and on the Eastern Shore culminated in four counties swinging to Mr. John W. Garrett, France's opponent for the nomination. These counties, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Anne, and Somerset, all gave Garrett a big margin, while in many of the counties that went for France, the majority was decisively cut down.

In Wicomico County, the vote stood 1522 for Garrett and 1581 for France, according to the unofficial figures reported from each district. Garrett carried Dorchester county by 988 to 855, Kent County by 432 to 87, Queen Anne by 693 to 426, and Somerset by 1451 to 1116. Full returns from each county rather than the number of delegates in convention won by each man, tells the story of the size and force of the Republican revolt against Mr. France and shows how effectively the Garrett forces worked during the campaign.

In the Democratic ranks, an anomalous situation was apparent. The organization was strongly supporting the nomination of Mr. Bruce, against whom were opposed Mr. David J. Lewis and State Senator William I. Norris. The independent vote of Baltimore City, which has been time and again struggling against the Kelly machine futilely; on this occasion nearly played havoc although the Kelly people were back of a man popularly conceded to be of Senate caliber and worthy of the support of every Democrat in the State.

The opposition to Mr. Bruce in Baltimore City is supposed to have arisen because of his limited "wet" program. Mr. Norris, who is openly and unqualifiedly "wet" made a remarkable run and caused no little uneasiness at Democratic organization headquarters. In the counties, the fight took on a different complexion. There, David J. Lewis, who is very conservative "wet," gave the organization a run for their money while Norris received a vote that was almost negligible.

On the Eastern Shore, the vote for Mr. Goldsbrough was overwhelming. In Wicomico County, he received the highest number of votes cast, 1745, and left his opponents A. M. Jackson and Albert W. Sisk standing at the starting line with 434 and 411 respectively.

So great has been the reversal of predictions in regard to the elections that the future remains shrouded in mystery. It is possible that the second choice on the Democratic ballots may have to be resorted to and a rumor was prevalent Wednesday morning that Senator William I. Norris might ask for a recount.

The surprising force in which the "wet" vote turned out Monday has caused no little speculation. Yet on the other hand the manner in which a distinction was made between "moist, damp and wet" candidates indicates that the prohibition question is, for the most part, confined to geographical localities.

The issues at the coming general election should be clearly marked. Mr. Bruce believes in a modification of the present prohibition law while Senator France favors a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is this issue, in fact, which has caused the voters of Maryland to be able to indicate once for all their position on the "wet and dry" question.

HOG CHOLERA FOUND IN WICOMICO COUNTY

Dr. McLaughlin Issues Warning That New Cases Have Been Reported And Disease Is Spreading.

Hog Cholera is spreading in Wicomico County. Last week new cases were reported near Fair Grounds and also near Parsonsburg, Wango, and Powlerville. Dr. McLaughlin has issued a warning concerning same.

Farmers should take every possible precaution to keep this disease away from their hogs. In spite of warning received many farmers are neglecting to have hogs vaccinated when the disease breaks out near their farms. Farmers are complaining this year, and with reason, of the low prices received for their farm products. And yet a great many of them are making no effort to control a disease that can be controlled by the adoption of sanitary measures.

The policy of waiting to see if their hogs contract hog cholera before resorting to vaccination is frequently adhered with disastrous results, and many hogs are lost that could easily have been saved.

FARMERS ARE LAW-ABIDING WAGE-EARNERS

Their Interests Have Never Failed to Fulfill Obligations of Producing Food and Fair Play Demands For Them Industrial Peace Declares Secretary Wallace.

In a talk before a gathering of farmers at Leesburg, Va., Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave an exposition of the present strike situation from the standpoint of agricultural interests. Secretary Wallace first compared the relative buying power of wages in the mining and railroad industry for the years 1913 and 1921. Upon this subject he said: "It is worth while to compare wages in the organized industries with the wages received by the farmer, as represented in the price he gets for the things he grows. The value of income, whether it be in the form of wages or of money received for sale of products, is represented not in dollars and cents but in what that income will buy by its purchasing power."

"Take the average wage received by the coal miner for mining a ton of coal. In 1913 this wage per ton would buy 1.1 bus. of corn. In 1921 it would buy 2.5 bus. of corn in Iowa. In 1913 the ton wage would buy 7.7 of a bushel of wheat in North Dakota; in 1921 9 of a bushel. In 1913 it would buy 4.7 pounds of cotton in Texas; in 1921, 8.5 pounds. In 1913 7 pounds of hog in Nebraska; in 1921, 1.46 bus. of corn. In 1913, 8 of a bushel of potatoes in New York; in 1921, 1.2 bus. In 1913, 11 pounds of sheep in Wyoming; in 1921, 18 pounds. In 1913, 1.6 bus. of oats in Illinois; in 1921, 3.1 bush. In 1913, 3.4 pounds of butter in Missouri; in 1921, 3.2 pounds."

"Taking the average yearly earnings of railroad employees, we find that in 1913 the yearly wage would buy 1.492 bus. of corn in Iowa, and in 1921, 1.112 bus. It would buy 1.028 bus. of wheat in North Dakota in 1913; in 1921, 1.466 bus. In 1913 it would buy 6.449 pounds of cotton in Texas; and in 1921, 13.934 pounds. It would buy in 1913, 102 hundred weight of hogs in Nebraska; and in 1921, 237 hundred weight. It would buy 148 hundred weight of sheep in Wyoming in 1913; and in 1921, 241 hundred weight. In 1913 it would buy 1.087 bus. of potatoes in New York; in 1921, 1.916 bus. In 1913, 2.174 bus. of oats in Illinois; in 1921, 5.109 bus. In 1913, 3.209 pounds of butter in Missouri; in 1921, 5.285 pounds."

Secretary Wallace then compared the relative prices of a ton of coal in 1913 and 1921 measured in what it would buy of farm products. He made the same comparison relative to the freight rates in 1913 and 1921. Upon that point he said:

"In 1913 the freight revenue per ton mile received by the railroads would buy 1.4 bus. of corn in Iowa; in 1921, this revenue per ton mile would buy 3.1 bus. of corn in Iowa. In 1913, 1 bushel of wheat in North Dakota; in 1921, 1.1 bushels. In 1913, 6.1 pounds of cotton in Texas; in 1921, 10.6 pounds. In 1913, 10 pounds of hogs in Nebraska; in 1921, 18 pounds. In 1913, 1 bushel of potatoes in New York; in 1921, 1.5 bushels. In 1913, 14 pounds of sheep in Wyoming; in 1921, 22 pounds. In 1913, 2.1 bushels of oats in Illinois; in 1921, 3.5 bushels. In 1913, 2.1 bushels of oats in Illinois; in 1921, 3.9 bushels. In 1913, 3.1 pounds of butter in Missouri; in 1921, 4 pounds."

"In 1913 the price of a ton of coal f. o. b. the mine would buy 2.4 bus. of corn in Iowa; in 1921, 6.2 bushels; in July, 1922, 9.3 bushels. It would buy in 1913, 1.7 bushels of wheat in North Dakota; in 1921, 2.2 bushels; in July, 1922, 4.4 bushels. In 1913 it would buy 10.4 pounds of cotton in Texas; in 1921, 21.1 pounds; in July, 1922, 22.9 pounds. In 1913, 16 pounds of hogs in Nebraska; in 1921, 36 pounds; in July, 1922, 53 pounds. In 1913, 1.8 bushels of potatoes in New York; in 1921, 2.9 bushels; in July, 1922, 4.7 bushels. In 1913, 24 pounds of sheep in Wyoming; in 1921, 45 pounds; in July, 1922, 70 pounds. In 1913, 3.5 bushels of oats in Illinois; in 1921, 7.7 bushels; in July, 1922, 14.2 bushels. In 1913, 5.4 pounds of butter in Missouri; in 1921, 8 pounds; in July, 1922, 16.1 pounds."

"In fairness it should be noted that before the corn, wheat, hogs, sheep, cotton, butter, or other farm products get to the consumer's table, a good deal has been added to the price the farmer receives. This margin between the farmer and the consumer has considerably increased during the past eight years, but it is also fair to note that a good deal of this increase has been due to the increase in the wages paid the people who handle these products. What these figures show is that the wages of the farmer, as represented by the prices paid for his crops, are lower than his wages were before the war, measured in purchasing power, while the wages of the workman, and especially in organized industries, are considerably higher than they were before the war, whether measured in dollars and cents or in purchasing power. The purchasing power of the wage of the railway employee in 1921 was 51 per cent. greater than in 1913. The purchasing power of the wages of the coal miner in 1921 was 30 per cent. greater than in 1913. The purchasing power of the farm hand who works for wages in 1921 was 4 per cent. less than in 1913, while the purchasing power of the farmer himself was, on an average, from 25 to 45 per cent. less than in 1913."

Continuing Secretary Wallace drew the moral that while the farming interests of the country during the year of 1921 faces the most discouraging conditions they have experienced in over a generation, conditions which brought thousands of them bankruptcy, yet they at no time talked of strike or advocated violence or disorder. They confined their efforts at relief to the legitimate, lawful channels of public opinion and public legislation.

"The farmers have endeavored to get relief by all lawful means. They have appealed to the administration, to Congress and to every other agency which they thought might be able to help them, but while making these efforts to avoid their heavy losses they have not struck. They have not created disorders. They have kept on producing and in the face of extraordinarily low prices have this year grown one of the largest crops in our entire history. The farmer believes in law and order. He believes in government. He believes in fairness between man and man. He believes in working hard and producing efficiently."

"If other groups would do as the farmer has done, our economic troubles would soon be over. Prices would soon be adjusted to their normal relationships. There would be work for everybody and at just wages. The farmer is disgusted with these recurring disputes between capital and labor especially as connected with the essential industries. He has no reason why such disputes cannot and should not be settled in an orderly and lawful way and without the interruptions of service which cost him so dearly."

The farmer recognizes his obligation to produce food for people must eat to live. He demands that both the owners of the coal mines and the coal miners recognize their equal obligation to produce coal, and he demands that the management of the railroads and the railroad workmen recognize also their equal obligation to keep trains moving, for unless the food he produces is moved promptly the people will starve.

"The farmer calls upon capital and labor to cease their petty bickerings and resume production, trusting to American institutions and the American sense of fair play to see that justice is done to both of them."

FLORIDA TRAVELERS LOOK UP ALLIGATORS

Gators Are Raised On a Regular Farm Where Thousands Are Brought When Young.

You can see an alligator any day you please in Florida; in their natural haunts if you are ambitious, in the museums, in curio shops, in hotel gardens sometimes, where in concrete tanks they are provided instead of goldfish, for the beguilement of the guests, and sometimes you find them in the studios of enterprising photographers and you can have your photograph taken with one, if you wish, to send back home to the folks in Calgary or Bangor.

But notwithstanding all this, a visit to an alligator farm, where you can stare to your heart's content at the dreadful, weird beasts and learn first-hand about their habits, is one of the most thrilling of the many thrilling experiences that tourists to Florida have, says a writer in the Philadelphia Record.

There is usually a showman to take you round and give you all the natural history about the animals that you will want to know. The only thing to remember is that most of his observations have been made of the alligator in captivity, and that the discrepancy between his statements and those of established men of science are due to this fact.

At one well-known "farm," where you pay a quarter to go through and look as long as you wish, the showman has provided a big thrill as a starter in the long narrow box at the entrance which bears the inscription "Emergency Only—Gun, Ax, Net, Lasso." It has never been opened, but it does certainly put a spirit of adventure into the visit that you couldn't get if the box was not there. In a glass case is an exhibit, reptiles in alcohol, alligator skins, skulls

WEDDING BELLS AND GREATEST WEALTH

Miss Anne Burnett, of Ft. Worth, Tex., is heiress to the famous Durke-Burnett oil fortune. Guy Waggoner, of the same town, is heir to vast oil fortunes of the Southwest. If they wed, as is reported, theirs will be a fortune estimated greater than Rockefeller's wealth.

and eggs, and the showman will pause there if you wish and give you a brief lecture on the habits of alligators.

One look at the skull assures you that the alligator must use his jaws more than his brain. The skull is practically all jaw, the brain space being no bigger than a thimble. The teeth are large and most efficient in appearance. The lecturer says that when one decays a new one pushes it out and takes its place (the only really painless dentistry in the world), so the happy alligator always has a complete set of 80 perfect teeth and no dentist bills.

The egg is the size of a duck's egg, though narrower and longer, and the average number in a setting is about 30. The nests vary much in size and form, some looking like an accidental pile of dead vegetation and others being large and compact and conical. When the eggs are laid the nest is covered over and this keeps the temperature pretty even. Eggs exposed to the great range of temperature of a swamp would probably be destroyed. It is believed that the entire vegetation produced by the decaying vegetation of the nest is what hatches the eggs. For some hours previous to the hatching the young alligators make a curious squeaking sound inside the shell, probably for the purpose of attracting the attention of the female alligator, who will open the nest in time for the newly hatched little ones to make their escape.

At this special fair the "gators" really do seem to know their names when the owner calls. "Here, Adam; here, Old Boy!" he shouted, leaning over the edge of the pen to prove this, and when an old brute of a beast deliberately crawled out of the crowd and "came a-running" a little flapper gasped, "How sweet!" The secret of this, though, is simply patience and gentleness. After long training they get to know that when their names are called it means food, for there is always a piece of meat for them then. It is interesting to hear how these "farmers" obtain the alligators for their farms. There are men whose business it is to supply them. The alligator holes are along the banks of the lakes and rivers, more than 10 ft. deep. The hunter digs in as far as he can, then takes his pole, which has a hook on the end, and runs that into the hole. The animal, if he is there, bites the hook every time and holds onto it, and then the men pull him out. As soon as they get his head out, one man jumps on to it to hold it, and the other ties the jaw. The opening power of the jaw is very weak, but the crushing power is terrific. The alligator is then drawn out farther until his front legs can be tied, a little farther and the hind legs are tied, and finally the tail, which is able to strike powerful blows, is strapped to a board or a pole.

One day a negro came to an alligator farm and asked the "farmer" how much he would pay for a three-foot alligator. The man told him $3. The negro went out and returned with the gator in a bag, but seemed in a great hurry to get his money and get away; wanted to catch the next trolley, he said. When the new owner opened the bag the alligator was over five feet long, so he gave him his money and he fled. But when the animal was finally taken from the sack it was discovered that it was a three-foot alligator, as the darky had said—three feet was all it had. "One foot short instead of three feet long," the new owner says when he tells the tale.

There are three months when the alligators are hibernating that they eat nothing at all, but the rest of the time they must be fed twice a week. But when you consider the tourists passing through who pay their quarters to see these animals first-hand, they more than pay for their keep.

Mrs. A. Atwood Adds Her Voice To The Thousands Already Praising Tanlac.

Mrs. A. Atwood, residing at 2532 Druid Hill Avenue, Baltimore, adds her voice to the hundreds who have already endorsed the wonderful medicine, Tanlac.

"It certainly is astonishing," said Mrs. Atwood, "how quickly I got to feeling right after I started taking Tanlac. It is such a grand, good medicine that if I could I would tell everybody about it."

"I had been feeling all run-down and nervous for a year or more. My appetite left me and my stomach was so disordered that I would suffer for hours after eating from gas pains and indigestion. My sleep was never sound and I became so weak and nervous that my housework seemed like a mountain to me. "Feeling Tanlac praised so highly in the papers I began taking it myself, and it helped me from the very first dose. I have just finished my first bottle now and I can feel the beneficial effects to my finger tips. "I have a perfectly wonderful appetite and can eat anything I want at any time without an uncomfortable feeling afterwards. I sleep as peacefully as a child every night and my nerves are as calm as nerves can be. In fact I am feeling fine in every way and my gratitude to Tanlac is unbounded. Tanlac is sold in Salisbury by all good druggists.—Advt. 617.

Helpful Office Hints

—By—

HOWARD L. EVANS

Principal Beacon Business College

The stenographer's work is very often erratic the first thing in the morning. A few limbering up exercises before starting the day's work will do much toward getting in form. The following sentences can be used very effectively:

"The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog."

"John quickly extemporized five town bags."

"Quick, glad zephyrs, wave my jayvlin box."

"Pack my box with five dozen liquor jugs."

An Aid in Writing Telegrams.

Stenographers are often called upon in a great hurry to take a telegram. Oftentimes it is a night letter or other long message and the employer is anxious to get it on the way as soon as possible. This is a good idea for expediting this kind of work.

When taking the telegram from dictation, allow only five words to the note book page. Consequently, to determine the number of words in a day night letter or regular telegram, all that is necessary is to count the number of full lines—then count and add the number of separate words in case there is an incomplete line. This saves time in figuring the charges on Telegrams—time that is often very valuable.

How To Center Headings.

To preserve uniform right and left margins or indentations in typewriting, insert a sheet of paper in the typewriter, move the carriage to the center of the scale (one-half of the entire scale, usually 37 or 40) and strike the period at that point. Shift the paper to the right or left until the period when struck is in the center of the sheet, ascertained of course by measuring the distance from the period to the edge of the sheet on both sides. Then adjust the paper guide so the paper can be inserted in this manner in the machine each time without adjusting. In changing the length of the line, to make narrower or wider margins on the page, be sure to move both marginal stops an equal distance toward or from the center so that both margins will remain uniform.

If the above directions are followed, the centering of heads may be made easily and accurately by shifting the carriage to the extreme left of the scale (not the marginal stop), and backspacing one space for each letter in the head to be centered. Then divide the number shown by the carriage indicator by two, and begin the heading at that point on the scale. Heads may be centered in this way regardless of length of line or varying width of margins that it may be desired to make in writing different letters.

Heads are usually centered with respect to the body of the letter and an equal white margin on each side of the page; however, if the heads or subheads are centered with reference only to the body of the letter, the whole may give the appearance of a lopsided page, which a printer would call a bad "register."

Artistic typewriting is tending more and more to harmonize with the printed page, and it will be profitable for any typist who desires to turn out neat, artistic work on the typewriter to look over standard works on typography and appropriate the ideas obtained from them, so far as is practicable and possible to work on the typewriter.

Accurate Typing of Capitals.

There are few typists who do not waste time when striking capital letters, and this is chiefly due to the fact that they fail to strike the shift key and the letter at the same time, with opposite hands. The shift key must be struck before the letter, it is true, but only a theoretical instant before. To master this trick, try the following exercise:

AaBbCcDdEeFfGgHhIiJjKkLlMmNnOoPpQqRrSsTtUuVvWwXxYyZz.

Practice very slowly at first, repeating the two strokes (shift key and letter) far enough to be heard as two strokes. Then, when this becomes easy, put the two strokes closer together, so that only one stroke can be heard, but still having the shift completed before the type strikes the ribbon.

When you can write the above exercise smoothly and rapidly, in perfect rhythm, you will be saving 50 per cent. of the time used in making capital letters the old way. In these days of efficiency, 50 per cent. is well worth saving.

ANCIENT KINGDOM OF NUALOLO INTERESTING

Unconquered Domain of Hawaii Has Been Recently "Rediscovered" and Rope Ladder for Visitors.

The kingdom that "died," but never was conquered, the kingdom with the smallest standing army on record, three men, the kingdom of Nualolo, behind its walls of mountain and surf in an almost forgotten corner of the island of Kauai, is being "rediscovered."

This ancient domain, the only part of Hawaii which King Kamehameha the Great could not bring under his scepter when he routed all other rivals in battle and united the islands, has been reopened. A rope ladder once again dangles from the Nualolo cliffs, in the same place and fastened through the same holes cut in the rocks by the Hawaiian warriors of long ago.

Nualolo is on the northwest coast of the island of Kauai, of the Hawaiian group, in the heart of a wonderful precipice section which rises abruptly from the sea in almost perpendicular cliffs from 2,500 to more than 4,000 ft. in height. It comprises nine valleys, three large and six small ending at the sea in a precipice.

There are only three practical ways of getting into this old domain. One is by a dangerous trail upward from the ocean front, a second is by another and steeper trail over the mountains from the land side and the third and easiest is by rope ladder from Nualolo beach and thence over a narrow, winding path cut out of the rock, where a misstep means a fall to death. The latter route recently has been reopened by the placing of a new rope ladder where its predecessors hung many years ago.

When Nualolo maintained its independence in the face of the advances of the great Kamehameha, before the days of high explosives and airplanes, three men only were needed to keep its gates. An old Hawaiian named Ku has given the following graphic description of Nualolo's simple but effective method of defense.

"One guard sat at the top of the Honoupeh Beach precipice with a pile of rocks at his side. Only one enemy at a time could climb the trail, and in case of attack the guard dropped a stone on the head of each enemy as he appeared from below, or smashed his fingers with a rock as they clutched the overhanging ledge."

"At Nualolo, where the trail is up a ladder, one guard was stationed at the top of the ladder with a stone ax. As each hostile head appeared the ax came into play."

"On the Kamale trail from above on the land side a guard with a pole waited within a niche in the cliff out of sight of the approaching enemy. When the latter came within reach along the narrow pathway the guard would give him a shove with the pole and a 2,000-ft. drop did the rest."

Locked behind their barriers of towering mountains and pounding surf, the people of Nualolo developed a system of agricultural irrigation which remains to this day a tribute to their industry and engineering ability.

According to Dr. H. E. Gregory, of the Bishop Museum, Honolulu, no finer irrigation system ever has been worked out by the Hawaiians than that of the ancient valley kingdom. Every available foot of the steep vales was made productive.

Very few persons have been able to get into the old kingdom during the past three-quarters of a century, but the recent placing of the rope ladder near Nualolo beach has opened up to end Nualolo's decades of isolation and reopen its historic terraces and trails once again to the foot of man.

TUBERCULOSIS PLAGUE IS BEING ELIMINATED

Farmers of Hartford County Latest Stock Raisers To Join Ranks of Cattle Testers.

Hartford County, Maryland, is now well on its way to join the ranks of the counties that have freed their cattle herds of the great plague, tuberculosis. Owing to a lack of money to carry on the work to the finish, a number of previous attempts failed when the end was almost in sight. This time State, county, and Federal funds were sufficient and as a result practically every herd has been tested and the reacting animals have been sent to slaughter. Nearly 12,000 animals were tested in a few weeks in spite of the fact that there was no law to force the cattle owners to submit their herds to the test. All of these men were convinced of the desirability of eliminating the disease, and once they were assured of fair treatment in the payment of indemnities they welcomed the veterinarians to their farms.

There is still much misunderstanding of the nature of tuberculosis, the methods of testing, and the ways in which eradication is carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State. At first many Hartford County farmers held back because of stories of unfair dealing, but they have been convinced in the campaign once they learned that these rumors were unfounded. If there are any holdouts who refuse absolutely to have their cattle tested they will soon find themselves at a great disadvantage in disposing of either milk or surplus stock. A few diseased herds in a county that is otherwise clean will be conspicuous and avoided as a menace to the health and economic welfare of the community. It is this sort of pressure that ultimately will bring the backward ones into line over, though no enforcement law is passed.

Through the efforts of the Department of Agriculture farmers who have their herds tested are now getting a much higher salvage price for the animals that react and are sent to the packing houses. During the campaign in Hartford County special attention was given to marketing the reactors. They were shipped to Baltimore in small numbers, about 200 a week, so they would not become a drug on the market and were sold at prices that compared favorably with those paid for untested cattle of the same quality. Most of the cattle were shipped in earload lots, but in some cases motor trucks were used. In the beginning the price charged by truck operators was from $4 to $5 a head, but during the last drive officials in charge of the testing got truckers to bid on the work and as a result the price was cut down to $2.50 a head.

LIFE OF AUTO TEACHER IN HANDS OF AMATEURS

Men Who Instruct Drivers Especially Women Operators Have Nervetracking Experiences.

The automobile went over the curb, across a rose bush and stalled with one wheel on the porch. "There we are!" begged the lady driver, getting out. "That wasn't so bad, was it?"

"No ma'am," groaned the driving instructor, rubbing his ear, sweat dripping from his brow. And it wasn't either. Yesterday she had climbed the back stoop.

Let us return to the garage with the instructor and hear him talk. "This game," he exclaimed, "is going to give me a nervous blowout."

"I'm going to chuck it. I shall take up steeljacking or some other business where a man don't have to worry so much."

"Say, I've given three lessons so far this morning, and so help me Henry Ford, I've been three-quarters killed twenty-eight times. You think there's too much air in that statement, hey? All right. Listen!"

"The first lesson was with that old man Huffnuckle and his new coupe. He stalled in front of a fire engine. Then he stalled on the railroad track, that's two; then he stalled in front of a runaway horse, three; then he cut ahead of a trolley car and stalled there, four and then he stalled seven time going fast in traffic which makes eleven."

"After him came the jame with the roadster. She tried to back out to powder her nose while shifting, thirteen; forgot her feet was on the clutch while standing behind a traffic cop, fourteen; the cop found out I was teaching her, fifteen; she got tangled up with a steam roller, sixteen; motioned a car to pass and turned a left hand corner, seventeen; thought an old lady was walking faster than she was, eighteen and fixed her hair with both hands nineteen."

"And after her came the patron I've just come away from, who had it over the others like a new landauet top. Well, first she tried to see her face in the mud guard mirror, and that makes twenty; then she looked out to see if she had any punctures, twenty-one; then she forgot how to stop, twenty-two; then she tried the emergency brake at thirty miles an hour, twenty-three; then she waved at a friend, twenty-four; then she leaned out and screamed at the same, twenty-five; then a June bug lit on her knee, twenty-six; then she got drowsy, twenty-seven, and then she went to sleep which makes a grand total so far this morning of twenty."

"Say, mister, I don't know what your job is, but I wish I had it."

SAD-EYED MENDICANT SPEAKS DERISIVELY OF SUDDEN ACTIVITY OF NEW YORK POLICE

Mark Synon, Dean Of Gotham Beggars, Declares Professional Alms-Seekers Collect Over $15,000,000 Annually But "Heavy Split" With Organization Officers Cuts Down Profits.

Mark Synon, said to be the dean of the professional beggars in the United States, a sad-eyed mendicant whose activities during 10 years have been admitted by him as an average of $22 a day in upstate territory less than a block square, engaged counsel yesterday for defense of his business partner, "Tinpot" Taylor. Synon, who owns a farm in Connecticut and has accounts in three banks, he says, escaped the police dragnet. Taylor is locked up under an alias.

Synon spoke derisively of a sudden police activity against New York City mendicants. He said more than $15,000,000 is collected annually by professional alms seekers in Greater New York. If it were worked for heavy profit, he added, begging would be more profitable than it is for those who actually gather the cash.

"The way things are," said this bearded mendicant, "we have to obey orders and be obedient to the law. If I could pick my location I'd be making more money. I suppose there has been a holler because the big boys up top wouldn't stand for turning over the whole pot. You know how it is, with a campaign coming and every angle being worked for cash. We beggars in the street don't know a lot of what's going on. The organization officers handle 60 per cent. of our takings and attend to squels when there are any."

"All the stuff about 'Shortie' Malone being the cause of this row with the police because of trouble he had over his automobile is plain bunk. Everybody on the inside knows what started the round-up. It began more than three months ago and has been working up to a climax. The bulls pick up 'Tinpot' Taylor by mistake. He's a regular. Most of the men locked up are just trimmers. The bulls are making a front. That's all it amounts to. I'd like to get a ruling on Taylor's game. He's an artist."

"There are some fine points of law relating to the profession of begging. Is there any law to prevent a man walking down a city street with his hat in his hand instead of on his head? Believe me, there ain't. Of course, the man carrying his hat must not panhandle. He's got to keep moving, holding his hat in his hand. He may bow politely to ladies and give every man he meets the same eye. He does that from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. anywhere in Broadway, for instance, I'll give him $10 a day for an honest 50-50 split. This is the most charitable town on God's green earth. It's an easy money town."

"I can't go into details. This trouble is going to blow over. Later all will be well. There are 16,000 professional beggars in Greater New York. Some are the best operators in the world. The biggest money getter, you know, is not armless or legless. Any guy with a thin face and speaking eyes can put it on the less per former. Want to know why? Nine out of 10 legless beggars get fat. They have to squat in one place and so not to panhandle. A fat beggar isn't worth the powder to blow him up. He is just an offense in sight of the charitable and a drag on the industry."

"I used to cover a beat in this town 30 years ago when 'Blinky' Lewis was in charge. The big boss now is a lot smarter than Blinky, and he was no slouch. He kept headquarters down behind 180 Park Row, back of 'Diamond Dan O'Brien's' place."

"Tinpot" Taylor, which is my pard's professional name, was one of Lewis' best bets. He worked the onion trick. That guy could cry all day—used to knot a raw onion into the handkerchief he wiped his eyes with and sold his heart out. Most of the gang that operated then are dead. There was 'Pegleg' Blandin, 'Curley' Wells, 'Scarface' Porter and 'Jimmy' the Fireman—whose real name was Hinds. He used to be a fireman. Both arms were amputated after he was smashed up in a crash between a ladder truck and horsecar in Twenty-third street."

"Professionals in New York today are more collectors. They don't get the divvy Lewis used to allow, but then they gather a lot more coin. The trouble with this organized and efficiency expert game is that it destroys initiative. If a man pulls another new he gets called down or else they let him go ahead with it and assess him for increased revenue. It's the same way in big business wherever you go. Any boob that invents a scheme and thinks he's going to use a millinaire finds out his mistake. Somebody takes him into partnership."

Synon referred to "floating hand" as unworthy of public support. He made no objection to their operations, he added, because nine out of ten know nothing and "couldn't collect day wages in Grand Central Terminal." He attributed a recent slump in receipts of professional mendicants in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other large Eastern cities to bad management of "the men upstairs."

"They had the best thing in the world here in New York," Synon growled. "What happened? They thought there was no limit and began crowding their luck. For five months we have had at least 1,000 more men working than ought to have been employed. They got too greedy. There's beggars in the subway stations and every other place that men and women pass through except railway stations, where they are not permitted."

"The big drive was bound to bring reaction. Influential men have been complaining about conditions. The police sent word several months ago to cut down. Well, politicians had their way. Now we're up against a roar that will knock the game dead for a year. I figure on going to my farm in Connecticut."

No man is born into the world whose work is not born with him. There is always work and tools to work with for those who will; and blessed are the strong hands of labor.

THE MUT MOTORIST.

The following article was awarded first prize in a recent "Knocker's Contest," conducted by the "Syracuse Journal."

I knock the mut motorist. He leaves the curb without signals—stops suddenly in traffic without warning.

He uses his horn instead of his brakes in a street filled with playing children.

He steals places in traffic and "cuts in" regardless.

Overlooks and passes another car near the brow of a hill, or on a curve.

Stops his car on a curve in the road without getting out of the roadway.

He hogs the road.

Overlooks and passes another car near the brow of a hill, or on a curve.

He drives with a snoot full.

He is a curse—an abomination—an affliction to humanity.

SHARPTOWN

Mrs. George R. Fletcher was given a birthday party on Saturday evening at her home. The whole affair was so privately arranged and so well understood that it was a complete surprise. In the early evening her husband had her accompany him to their son's home with the understanding that they would return by 8:50. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Owens, had all the guests seated, table tastefully arranged and supplied with a abundance of good things to eat. A large birthday cake was placed in the center with sixty candles set in it and other good things to eat ready at hand. When Mrs. Fletcher arrived she found the house dark, but she was met at the door by Mrs. Owens and on opening the door the light was suddenly turned on and to Mrs. Fletcher's delight and surprise she was greeted by 30 of her lady friends, all of whom were seated in the parlor awaiting her arrival. After an hour of social greetings and recalling old associations, especially of school days, and most of the ladies were her school mates, several songs old and familiar were sung and then followed the refreshments, ice cream, cake and fruits. Mrs. Fletcher received many presents, every guest taking some token of friendship and one lady took 60 pennies representing her 60th birthday. After the surprise was over Mrs. Fletcher seemed very grateful that so many of her friends had given such evidences of their good feeling toward her. The eating, the fun and the songs being over, the guests returned to their homes leaving Mrs. Fletcher their best wishes for many more such happy occasions.

On Monday afternoon news reached this town of the death of John H. Smith at his home in Baltimore at 11 o'clock on Monday after a long illness of tubercular trouble. Mrs. Oscar T. Smith of this town is a sister. His remains were interred in Baltimore.

Mrs. Charles H. Griffith died in Camden on Sunday last after many months' suffering with cancer of the breast. She leaves a husband and three children. Her remains were brought here for interment.

Mr. J. L. Hughes stumbled in passing out of the door at her home and broke her leg near the ankle. W. D. Gravenor and U. T. Gravenor attended the convention of the Maryland Funeral Association at Ocean City last week.

Capt. O. N. Bennett driving his car on the stone road near town a few evenings ago had an accident in which his car was damaged and his wife's arm badly hurt. A colored man driving in front of Mr. Bennett attempted to cross the road ahead of him and he turned his car very suddenly, locked the wheels and turned the car over.

On Sunday morning last it was decided to resume the afternoon program for Sunday School and hereafter the session of Sunday School in the M. E. church will be held in the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, instead of the morning session.

NOTES OF NEW HATS

are much used in combination. Or, you can use Leather or Taffeta with Duvetyn, so you've a wide choice, and the combinations are so soft and pretty.

BLACK

is very popular, if the hat is of gleaming Cere Satin, or of Velvet. They are to be worn with Black Suits or Dresses, which are also to be in vogue.

BROWNS AND TANS

with many names will be much worn—Ginger, Muffin, Tiffin, "Marron d'Inde" and Wood Brown are examples. "Vieux rouge" (old red) and "Wall-flower" (a new Henna).

MÉTAL EMBROIDERY mostly silver, is the embellishment of many of the early Fall Hats.

LARGE HATS

are much more in evidence than usual in Fall and Winter. Many of the brims are irregular, and take to the most unusual outlines.

The Season of the Autumn Fashions

The hints of the longer skirt to come, growing in assurance for several months, have now developed into actuality.

The skirts, say the fashion arbiters, should be from five to seven inches off the floor.

This is a sudden reversion that gives us a dignity and a grand air, that we simply could not attain in the styles now passing.

The new silhouette is slim and straight.

The gowns are created with soft, graceful folds—folds many and intricate in their various ways, but all aiming at the illusion of height to the figure.

Tight sleeves are to be noted here and there.

GRAND OLD CIRCUS DAY

Fresh from winter quarters, bright and glittering with gold and silver, and with a beautiful patriotic ensemble, which serves to introduce the entire personnel from the big dressing rooms.

Then, with blood-stirring music from the large concert band, the acts follow each other in bewildering rapidity. Prominent among the displays are the Clifton troupe in a series of new and daring feats in the air and on the ground, The Day-Long Family of Riders, the Azuki Japs, Campbell-Bailey-Hutchinson Herd of performing Elephants, Ro-chetta, the man who walks on his head, and a score of other acts. The clowns number 25 and include some of the funniest jesters known. At most three hours of solid enjoyment is given those who attend, and this is augmented by a thrilling Wild West exhibition entitled "The Passing of the West." The Campbell-Bailey-Hutchinson circus will give two complete performances at Salisbury, Thursday, September 21.

There will be the usual free street parade at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors open one hour earlier.—Adv't. 448.

VETERAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Hanging himself from a beam in the storage room of the American Sugar Refining Co., in Baltimore, where he was employed, Lambert M. Jones, who went overseas with Company I, committed suicide last week. It is thought that Jones' mind was affected by disability incurred in France from gas-poisoning and shell-shock. He was buried in Baltimore.

One reason why so many people are extravagant these days is that there are a thousand ways to spend money and only one way to save it.

PROHIBITION OFFICIALS MAP OUT ACTIVE PLANS

Commissioner Haynes Institutes Series of Conferences Among Directors All Over Country.

Federal Prohibition Director Edmund Budnitz states that Commissioner Haynes has instituted a series of conferences of directors and enforcement officials in various sections of the country to discuss numerous problems and map out plans for action. A conference will soon be held in this State. Several such conferences have already been held and matters of vital concern to the public have been considered.

Among the problems on which action will be taken is that of rubbing compounds which through bootleg channels have caused many deaths. Analyses of several hundred gallons of seized product revealed quantities of concentrated lye, an excessive amount of which remained in the compound even after redistillation. Conspiracy sections of the Volstead Act will be evoked against cereal beverage manufacturers who inject such rubbing compounds into so-called "near-beer."

Recent conferences have resulted in recommendations that retail sales of Jamaica ginger be limited to one fluid ounce, and exposure of an alleged German fake preparation reputed to produce wine, champagne, brandy, also be taken. The prohibition of a fraud to hoodwink the public with so-called "Canadian rye."

Directors have been instructed to educate agents along the lines of manufacture and transportation of industrial or denatured alcohol. The men will be taught the differences in varieties of alcohol and it is believed that violations of this nature will be greatly lessened.

A signal victory for enforcement was the recent announcement by a leading vaudeville circuit that performers would be allowed to make humorous references to the 18th amendment. Commissioner Haynes is elated that within so short a space of time such splendid compliance with a request made by him upon assuming his duties a little over a year ago has been secured.

Over 12,000 convictions for violation of the 18th amendment have been obtained in the last twelve months throughout the country during the past year, showing that courts and juries are displaying an improved attitude. In the opinion of Commissioner Haynes the most effective weapon in the hands of enforcement officials is the "padlock" provision, which provides that a place may be closed as a nuisance. This provision is being enforced throughout the country. Some of the most notorious resorts being affected by its operation.

Conferences will discuss the proposal made by certain directors that Bertillon records be kept of every captured bootlegger and moonshiner in order that prompt and accurate identification may be made of persons who violate the prohibition laws, as well as of their criminal records. The records would be sent to police departments all over the country and, it is believed, would aid materially in suppressing bootleggers' activities.

Unspeaking conditions surround the manufacture of bootleg whiskey, according to daily reports being received by Commissioner Haynes concerning the unsanitary locations of stills, and vermin, maggots and dead animals of all kinds which have been discovered in vats of mash. In many instances concentrated lye is used to hasten fermentation, as many as 200 empty lye cans have been found in one place, which gives one an idea of the amount of this stuff used and the extremely poisonous mixture which results.

BETTER SIRE LISTING PASSES MARK OF 8,000

Enrollment in Better-Stock Campaign Is Increasing as Value of Pure-Bred Sires Is Recognized.

With the growing understanding of the utility value of pure-bred live stock and especially pure-bred sires, the list of persons enrolled in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign is rapidly increasing. The middle of August, it passed the 8,000 mark, signifying that many persons have filed statements with the United States Department of Agriculture that their live stock breeding operations will be conducted henceforth on a pure-bred sire basis. This includes all classes of domestic live stock, including poultry.

In some counties of limited area the number of farms is relatively small. Gordon B. Nance, county agent of Oldham County, Ky., points out, however, that although his county has only 1,086 farms, 10 per cent. of the farms have signed enrollment blanks, which signifies active participation in systematic live stock improvement work. Other counties in which 10 per cent. or more of the farmers are using pure-bred sires exclusively are: Pulaski County, Va., 52 per cent.; Kittitas County, Wash., 48 per cent.; Oregon County, Mo., 43 per cent.; and Orange County, Va., 10 per cent. In this connection the Bureau of Animal Industry points out that the proportions are for farms in which live stock is the principal market product probably would be much higher.

FEDERAL-AIDED ROADS INCREASED 600 MILES

Goal of 180,000 miles of Trunk Lines and Secondary Roads Is Gradually Approached.

Nearly 600 miles nearer the goal of a completed system of highways for the United States is the road of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture for the month of July. The final goal, the construction of a system of approximately 180,000 miles of Federal-aid highway consisting of a network of trunk line and secondary roads reaching into practically every county is still a long way off, but we are 5,392 miles nearer than at the beginning of the year according to the bureau.

Completed Federal-aid roads now total 18,299 miles with 14,512 miles under construction and approximately 60 per cent. complete. Including projects not yet under construction Federal-aid roads in all stages now total 40,838 miles.

There is no indication of any slackening of the greatly increased rate of progress which has been maintained since 1921 as the States continue to pour in plans for new projects and place them under construction as rapidly as possible. Nearly twelve and one-half million dollars was obligated to new projects in June and July, and more than $10,000,000 was received of the letting of 63 new projects and announcements of 57 to be let.

At the present time the force of the bureau is taxed to the limit with the examination of new plans and projects, inspection of work under construction and the planning of the Federal-aid highway system which is being gotten into final shape.

NEW GOLD PROSPECTOR DIFFERENT FROM OLD

1922 Prospectors In Arizona Fields Carry More Luggage Than War Relief Workers.

Where is the old desert rat who used to prow the gold hills of Arizona, Nebraska, California and Colorado? asks Robert S. Doman, an Oatman (Ariz.) correspondent.

Where is his burro, his sawed-off saddle gun and his whippers? All gone, never to return.

The prospector of today is an entirely different type, a type quite in keeping with the times.

From all parts of the world mining men are flocking to Oatman, Ariz., the new gold fields. But they don't come in prairie schooners, on mule or horseback. No. They come in automobiles, if you please. Yes, and they bring their families with them.

The 1922 prospectors come into Oatman to outfit. They carry more baggage than a war relief worker. One man drove into town yesterday with a gold-sized bungalow built on a motor-truck chassis. The interior of his traveling home contained stove, laundry tub, collapsible bathtub, a small library of mining books, wardrobes, built-in bed and a wonderful collection of miscellaneous junk which would have made an old-time prospector snort in disdain.

The women are prospecting these days, too.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

Meal time, parents and children, can be an interesting combination, but will not be unless especially prepared for by the mother. Why not make it one of the pleasantest times of the day and teach the children at the same time to take their part in conversation with sense and dignity? This can best be done by making it the time to tell the pleasant things that each one has seen, heard, done, or read. Enforce a rule that nothing disagreeable shall be talked over at meals; this is not good for digestion. We are told, and to good effect, that the stories of grandmas were a girl.

Even little children can learn to talk about the picture they liked, the funny story the teacher told, the dog that wagged at them on the way home, and any little detail of cheeriness. Happy days, Daddy could tell of the people he met of anything he saw made or done in an unusual way, and relate stories of "when I was a boy."

Mother could talk about the people who had telephoned, or been to the door, the books she had read or heard about, the stories of when grandma was a girl.

In the morning no bad news from the paper should mar the meal. The occasion would be a merry one, and everyone would feel better and brighter if we all learned to be the right kind of tale talkers. It is never too early to begin with the children. Even a baby will react to smiles or frowns, and good cheerful talk breeds kind, thoughtful deeds.

Safety First.—"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Effie! You're a good mind to spank you."

"If you won't spank me, mother, I'll promise to be awfully ashamed."

Something to Think About By F. A. WALKER

MOTHERS MAKE MEN.

SAMUEL MATTHEWS VAUCLAIN, head of the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia, has had wide experience in the selection as well as the handling of men.

He admits that he has a method, a secret, in making his selections. HE FINDS OUT WHAT KIND OF A MOTHER A BOY HAS, and pays no attention to the father. In the course of a long business life he has made few exceptions to this rule.

This theory of Mr. Vauclain has a negative as well as a positive side. It explains not only why so many undistinguished fathers have distinguished sons, but also why so many fathers who are failures have sons who are successful.

There are two sides to the question. For one thing there is a tendency on the part of a boy to derive his predominant traits from his mother.

For another, the mother is obviously more instrumental than the father in creating the environment which plays a large part in the development of the sons.

In the average home the problem of providing a minimum of income—which is the duty of the father—is much less complicated than the problem of making both ends meet—which is the problem of the mother.

Long before statesmen ever dreamed of a budget system, that method was familiar to the women. In one generation after another they have had to pay their way with resources that did not increase in proportion as the families grew.

The carefulness, prudence and foresight that a woman displays in running her house naturally show themselves in the bringing up of her children. If she is incompetent and shiftless in one direction, she will be the same in the other.

The mother, as distinguished from the father, has played a leading part in the formative period of men of conspicuous genius who have lifted themselves "by their bootstraps" into places of great eminence.

The mothers of Abraham Lincoln and Napoleon Bonaparte supply the only available explanations of the rise to leadership of two men who are types of success, under the most difficult circumstances.

In each case a powerful, dominant character made possible the passage from a log cabin to the White House and from Corsica to the leading place in Europe and an imperial throne.

In our own time the supreme qualities of Marshal Foch are traceable to the powerful individuality of his mother.

From the dawn of history to the present day, in sacred and secular affairs, the influence of the mother has always been the greatest factor in the development of ability or genius. She has been the source of inspiration as she was the source of being.

Sometimes she has pulled the children, handicapped by the father's characteristics up to her own level.

Sometimes she has pushed them above both herself and the father by an indomitable determination that neither poverty nor ill-fortune of any kind should interfere with her ambitions.

Mr. Vauclain's plan of selection will serve its purpose in the great majority of instances. He is safe in concluding that if the boy had the right kind of a mother he can count on his being the right kind of a boy.

RAW, RAW, RAW!

All the other excuses had been tried and found wanting when suddenly the buck bethought himself of a new one. He went to the orderly room to try it out.

"Sarge," he complained to the topper, "I can't go on K. P. today. I got the itch."

"Itch, eh?" queried the three-stripes-plus-diamond. "All right, company clerk, scratch him out."

SOLITAIRE.

"Honey," began the colored suitor nervously five minutes after he had been accepted, "when us-all gets married yo' ain't gwine give up dat good job workin' fo' de white folks, is you?"

"But," remonstrated the bride-to-be, "aint us-all goin' on a honeymoon and have a trip on a train somewhere?"

"One of us might go, honey. Dey 't ain't a thing holdin' me, but you is go' sponshibilities."

Her Father—Certainly my boy, certainly take the one that's always in my pocket.

Every man stamps his own value upon himself and we are great or little according to our will.

"You seem, able-bodied and healthy you ought to be strong" enough to work, she remarked scathingly.

"Yes, m'am I know. And you seem beautiful enough to be on the stage, but evidently you prefer the simple life."

He got a square meal without any further reference to work.

Monkey Talk—Professor Garner reports that the female ape says, "Moo-hoo," and the male ape replies, "Wahoo." Evolution does not appear to have carried us very far. A chap on the moonlit beach last night said, "Who's is co?" and the girl replied, "It's oo's."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Scratch as cats can—Two cats were about to have a duel.

"Let us have an understanding before we begin," said one.

"About what?" asked the other.

"Is it to be a duel to the death, or shall we make it the best three lives out of five?"

Keep your face always toward the sunshine and the shadows will fall behind you.

The darkest shadows of life are those which a man himself makes when he stands in his sunlight.

Answered—"You know," said the lady whose motor-car had run down a man, "you must have been walking very carelessly. I am a very careful driver. I have been driving a car for seven years."

"Lady, you've got nothing on me. I've been walking for fifty-four years."

Rare is the virtue of self-control. One of the most important, but one of the most difficult things for a powerful mind is to be its own master; a pond may lay quiet in a plain, but a lake wants mountains to compass and hold it in.

The recent death of Capt. John Johncox calls to mind the story of his once having attempted to thrash the late King Edward of England, then Prince of Wales, who stripped him in the dark on the yachtman's green at Cowes in 1880. The captain did not get very far for the Prince's identity was soon revealed and the fight came to an end; but apparently he was justified in the attempt, and as he frequently showed in after life, was a good-enough "sport" to admit it.

She Wanted Progress.—"No, sah, Ah don't neber ride on dem things," said an old colored lady looking on on the merry-go-round. "Why, de other day I seen dat Bastus Johnson orther an' ride as much as a dollar's worth an' git off at the very same place he got on at, an' I sez to him, 'Rastus,' I sez, 'you spent yo' money but whar yo' been?'"

If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it. Toil is the law. Pleasure comes through toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one.

British Columbia is making plans on a large scale to kill sea lions and use their skins as material for shoes; a project that the fishermen of the province welcome, because a sea lion eats on an average of 50 pounds of fish a day.

Disappearing Hair.—"I think the baby has your hair, m'am," said the new nurse, looking pleasantly at her mistress.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the lady, glancing up from the novel, "Run in to the nursery and take it away from her. She will ruin it."

Palor Competition.—"How is it that Arthur never takes you to the theatre nowadays?" queried Marjorie.

"Well, you see," her friend replied, "one evening it rained, and we sat in the parlor."

"Well, ever since that we— Oh, I don't know, don't you think that the theatre is an awful bore?"

Looks the Part

Ralph Bingham, to appear soon at the Chautauque, not only is funny, but he LOOKS the part. He describes himself as "looking like a bureau with the middle drawer pulled out."

It is one of those rare creatures who can laugh at his own jokes as heartily as the audience without detracting in the least from the desire of the audience to join in the uproar. Their keen enjoyment of the entire program is evident every minute, and the program is clean and wholesome throughout.

In addition to being a humorist of the first order, Bingham is an artist of no small ability on the piano and violin, both of which he plays with great expression and uses as allies to his powers of getting a laugh from the audience. In short, it seems that everything he does has a humorous turn to it, and is possessed of possibilities to get at least a snicker. Then, when he interprets it in his particularly comical way, it becomes almost side-splitting.

His program is divided into several classes of humor which he enumerates as accumulative humor, which includes the pianologue and the monologue, character sketches and dialect humor.

In the first mentioned the name fitted the type for he starts up with practically nothing and rolls up a veritable snowball of jokes and puns that make laughter more frequent as he progresses.

Before the close of the program he makes a short, serious discourse to the audience on Americanism, it is surprising in its eloquence and full particulars about the program that everybody talk and think disarmament and peace and that we join the campaign to stamp out bolshevism and radicalism. He then calls his auditors out of their trance and gives them a clever, dialect story for a parting shot and leaves the stage in a burst of applause.

NEW HOTEL FOR THIS CITY LOOMS UP LARGE

Business Men Endeavor Undertaking at Thursday Night Meeting Funds Campaign in November.

Interest in the new hotel project planned for Salisbury marked the meeting held last Friday night in the Chamber of Commerce's rooms which was attended by a large group of the city's leading business men. Mr. Harvey J. Hill, representing the Hotel Financing Corporation of New York City, made his report on the survey which he and several assistants conducted about a month ago.

This thorough study of the hotel situation here made by Hill clearly showed the need of a modern hotel of about 75 rooms. Figures were presented that tended to substantiate the assertion that the section as a whole needs just such an enterprise and would patronize same. The estimated cost of the hotel, however, building site, would be in the neighborhood of $250,000.

It is understood that the plan of raising the money for the building would be the so-called committee plan much like the method used in erecting the Peninsula Hospital. The present hotel committee consists of Messrs. Fred P. Adkins, Hooper S. Miles and L. L. Benjamin, was authorized to continue its work and to do whatever seemed necessary "for the promotion and success of the undertaking." Option on several sites immediately secured and plans and specifications will be drawn up.

It is expected that in the latter part of November active steps in starting the campaign will be taken. The following resolutions were passed by the members of the meeting:

Be it Resolved, That the recommendations of the Hotel Committee be, and it is hereby adopted, and that it is the sense of this meeting that on evidences submitted by the representative of the Hotel Financing Corporation at this meeting and previously, such a structure as our community requires in the way of a hotel can be erected and equipped for a sum (exclusive of site) not exceeding $250,000, and that in addition to filling a long felt want in our business and civic life, the financing and erection of such an edifice at a comparatively such cost can be accomplished in Salisbury and the immediate vicinity to the profit of all who lend their assistance to the movement.

And be it further Resolved, That the said Hotel Committee of the Chamber of Commerce be, and it is hereby authorized and directed to forthwith appoint from representative members of the several business and civic interests of Salisbury and Wicomico County a general Citizens' Hotel Committee with authority to take such steps and to do all manner of things necessary to incorporate and organize a hotel building company for the promotion of this project and with which the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of the community may cooperate in acquiring a suitable site, devising plans, financing, erecting, equipping and leasing the proposed hotel.

And be it further Resolved, That until such time as said Citizens' Committee shall have been appointed and ready to function, the present Hotel Committee be, and it is hereby constituted a temporary executive committee of the aforesaid Citizens' Committee with authority to conclude such arrangements as may be immediately essential and necessary for the promotion and success of this undertaking, provided, however, said temporary executive committee shall not incur any expense for the account of the Citizens' Committee or the corporation to be hereafter formed by said committee which shall become due and demandable prior to the receipt of hotel financing funds either by the Citizens' Committee or the proposed corporation.

And be it further Resolved, That we individually and collectively, the citizens present at this meeting, pledge to the Citizens' Hotel Committee to be hereafter appointed and to the corporation to be organized by said committee, our best and most determined support of and accord with any and all measures undertaken by either of them which are calculated to promote and result in the erection and leasing of such a hotel as was recommended to us by the Hotel Committee and the Hotel Financing Corporation, at this meeting.

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT WINS HONORS

Miss Alice P. Smith Now Living in Detroit Takes First Prize in Michigan For Essay.

Friends of Miss Alice P. Smith, who formerly lived in this city, will be pleased to learn of her recent accomplishment as a student of the Northern High School of Detroit, Mich., where she was awarded the first prize for Michigan in the Henry Morgenthau Near East Relief fund national essay contest.

Miss Smith is a daughter of Mr. Harold W. Smith who up to a year ago was manager of the Citizens' Gas Co. in Salisbury. At that time he moved to Detroit where he is now with the General Insurance Co. The daughter, 18 years old, attended the Wicomico High School while living here and was considered one of the brightest students. She is planning to enter the University of Michigan next year.

Her grandmother, Mrs. T. A. Smith, lives on Camden Avenue and Mrs. M. A. Derr is an aunt. Miss Smith's picture appeared in the Detroit papers and she was given a write-up for her success in the contest which had many candidates in for the honors. Her victory leaves her a competitor in the national essay contest.

The prizes were offered by Henry Morgenthau, whose ambassadorship to Turkey has won him a keen appreciation of the need of stimulating American interest in the solution of Near East problems. Not only were the essays to be based on these problems, but one of the conditions of the contest provided that they must be presented publicly in oratorical, a high school commencement or similar occasion.

MARYLAND GIRLS WIN PRIZES IN CONTEST

Awarded Second and Third Place in Essay Contest On The Situation in The Near East.

Maryland girls have won second and third prizes in the Montgomery contest for essays on the situation in the Near East.

Miss Agnes Burrows, of Perryville, is the second prize winner, and Miss Gertrude M. Barranger, 2006 Harford Road, Baltimore, takes the third prize. Miss Burrows wrote on "Social Conditions of the Near East," and Miss Barranger's topic was "The Near East."

The contest was for the best essays in Maryland-District of Columbia area of the Near East Relief Administration on the industrial, political, social or educational situation in Turkey, Georgia, Syria, Palestine or the other adjacent regions in which the Near East Relief is working. The prizes are divided into two classes: National, $500, $200 and $100; State, $15, $10, $5, all offered by Henry Morgenthau, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey. The first Maryland-District of Columbia prize was won by Karl G. Pearson of Washington, D. C., as has been announced.

The committee judging the state contest was composed of Miss Mary Joseph, Miss Rebecca Pennington and Mrs. John H. Latane. Dr. Bernard Steiner is chairman of the Maryland Near East Relief Committee having in hand the arrangements for the contest.

ODD FELLOWS PREPARE FOR MICHIGAN SESSION

Maryland Representatives Are Among Crowd of 75,000 Planning To Attend Big Event.

Plans are nearing completion by the Odd Fellows of Michigan to accommodate 75,000 visitors at the 98th annual session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, which will convene in Detroit, Sept. 17 to 22. The event will mark the 104th year of the Order in America.

Representatives from every Jurisdiction in America, from Canada, Australia, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway will have part in the proceedings which will be held at the Hotel Statler. Grand Sire Lucian J. Eastin, of St. Joseph, Mo., will preside, and all branches of the Order, including the General Military Council, Patriarchal Militant and the Rebekah's Assemblies will meet simultaneously.

An elaborate program of entertainment features has been arranged, which will begin on Saturday, Sept. 16, with a public reception and trip on the Detroit River and St. Clair Lake. The Grand Decoration of Citizenship and Military Ball will be on Tuesday and the big attraction—the annual parade, with 50,000 or more in line with appropriate costumes, floats, etc., on Wednesday afternoon.

Many important propositions will come before the body for action, and the report of Grand Secretary Edward Kroh, of Baltimore, will be especially interesting. The report will show that during the year the Order made a net gain of 175,000 members, with the Rebekahs breaking all records for increase. It will also reveal that there are 59 Odd Fellows Homes for Orphans and aged in 42 jurisdictions, with a real estate value of over $9,000,000, all under the supervision of the Sovereign body. That the present membership numbers nearly 3,000,000 and over $200,000 has been paid in relief and benefits.

Special excursion rates have been secured from all passenger associations in the United States and Canada, and a record attendance is anticipated. Maryland's representatives are: John B. Spencer, of Baltimore; H. Dorsey Etchison, of Frederick, for the Grand Lodge; Philip J. Bernstein, of Baltimore; and E. Earl Hearn, of Cambridge, for the Grand Encampment. Besides these Grand Encampment, William A. Jones and a large delegation of Maryland Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will leave Camden Station, Baltimore, on Thursday, Sept. 14.

The easiest way—Following the line of the least resistance is what makes rivers and men crooked.

HEARN-OIL SIGNBOARD IS ATTRACTIVE DESIGN

Church Street Advertisement of Salisbury's New Distributing Station Calls Attention To Its Merits.

Pedestrians and autoists are being attracted by the large and elaborate sign-board of the Hearn Oil Co. on Church Street. The advertisement is 50 feet long and is illuminated by 23 incandescent bulbs. It has been pronounced the most pretentious sign-board in Salisbury, bearing as it does the painting of both the front and rear section of an automobile with gleaming headlights. Just recently the Hearn Oil Co., of Wilmington, Del., established a wholesale distributing station here and the new plant is located on the old Homer Dickerson property on Mill Street. Mr. S. Lee Englar, Jr., manager of Salisbury's new gasoline and oil station, has completely renovated the old building and has erected neat-looking quarters.

There is room for bulk storage of 55,000 gals. of gasoline and 26,000 gals. of kerosene. Each system is complete with piping and the petroleum products from the railroads on the siding into the huge tanks is done by two engines set up in the cellar.

Mr. Englar also points out the fact that whereas other companies secure their lubricating oils in motor truck lots, his equipment allows him to buy in tank car lots thus enabling him to sell quality oil to be sold at the standard price.

Two trucks are distributing the Hearn products to the dealers in this section and the "gas" is fast becoming popular with motorists. Because of its extreme volatility it is especially a cold-weather fuel and will not doubt create a wide demand for its use in the coming cold months.

The home office is in Wilmington with distributing stations at Chestertown, Milford, Seaford, Middletown and Salisbury. The plant uses the Sun Co.'s gasoline and kerosene but follows its own formula in making motor oils and manufactures its own grease. The station in Salisbury represents an investment of about $20,000 and with its motto of "Quality and Service" should find a good trade here.

"BUFFALO BILL" IS BIG ATTRACTION FOR ULMANS

Stupendous Universal Production Will Be Screened at Local Opera House Beginning Sept. 22.

Beginning on Friday, 22nd, Ulman's Opera House will present the first chapter of a stupendous Universal production, "In The Days of Buffalo Bill." Other high-class attractions have also been secured by the management, which include "The Sheikh of Araby" on the 19th and Lillian Gish and Wallace Reid in "The Fatal Marriage" on the 20th and 27th.

"In The Days of Buffalo Bill" is a spectacular chronicle of events and adventures in the life of America's greatest scout and Art Acord is the actor who essays the role of the popular hero.

The tale is woven around the construction of the original iron trail that connected the East with the West—the Union Pacific Railroad—in the time during and just after the Civil War. Over one hundred and fifty characters from history are said to be included in the progress of the story, and this may be substantiated by the fact that the initial episodes include more such noted figures than can be enumerated here. The principal of these is, of course, William F. Cody, later known as "Buffalo Bill," who was at that time a noted scout and agent of the celebrated Pony Express. Lincoln, his famous Cabinet, war generals and famous plainsmen headed the list of the others that are faithfully depicted and furnish a thrill of interest. These characters are not dragged in merely for their historical value but are logically worked into the story or are prime features in the movement of the plot. The scenes are historically correct, and for this among other things, including well staged action, Edward Laemmle, the director, is to be heartily commended.

CIRCUS IS COMING TO SALISBURY ON THE 21ST

Special Trains Bearing Campbell-Bailey-Hutchinson Performers Will Arrive—Parade at Noon.

The Circus is coming—holds many interests for every member of the family. For example, little Willie's behavior has been beyond reproach. He has seen the flaming posters announcing the coming of the circus and nightly chores are done with a precision which has caused mothers to take particular notice. Willie has felt the thrill.

The circus is an American institution—it is a recreation for all classes. Seated side by side, the youngsters of the rich are just as delighted and can gain no more enjoyment than the poorest orphan, and the daring feats of the bareback riders, thrilling aerial acts and wholesome comedy of the clowns fall alike upon eyes and ears.

The special trains bearing the Campbell-Bailey-Hutchinson Combined Circus and Wild West will arrive in Salisbury at daybreak Sept. 21.

The glittering mile long free street parade will take place at noonday and there will be two complete performances at 2 and 8 P. M. Doors will open one hour earlier.

LOCAL FURNITURE MAN SELLS OUT BUSINESS

T. J. Truitt Disposes of Store on Church Street To Young Partners From Chester, Pa.

T. J. Truitt, furniture dealer on East Church Street, has sold his property and business to Mr. Warren Bozman and Mr. Alexander Anderson, formerly of Frank Tolin, Inc., of Chester, Pa. The transfer of property took effect on Monday, Sept. 11. Mr. Truitt had done business here for more than 12 years.

Under the firm name of T. J. Truitt, Inc., the young men will remodel the store and make it one of the most up-to-date on the Peninsula. One of the most important changes will be in the store front where a large plate glass display window will be built that will provide ample room for the exhibition of entire suites of furniture.

Both Mr. Bozman and Mr. Anderson have been for years in the furniture business and are well qualified to conduct a first class shop. They are confident of success because they intend to carry a complete line of grade, fine quality furniture that must necessarily appeal to the discriminating buyer.

Mayor Is Invited To Aeronautic Meeting

High Government Officials, Military Chiefs, Governors and Mayors Are Asked To Attend.

Mayor Kennerly has been asked to attend the first Aeronautic Convention of the Third Corps Army Area, comprising Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, to be held in Baltimore, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 22 and 23. William F. Broening, Mayor of Baltimore, invited him by personal letter several days ago to either be here in person or send delegates. Mayors of 150 five, wide-awake cities in this area have been invited. More than 250 have already replied they would be here or send delegates.

High government officials and the chiefs of the military air service, army, navy and Marines, will be present. The Governor has asked the Governors of Virginia and Maryland to attend. The Mayor of Philadelphia has appointed six delegates to attend as have numerous other Mayors.

WORLD'S SHIPPING IS FAST RECOVERING FROM DEADLY DESTRUCTION OF WORLD WAR

Save Germany And Greece, Now Show Tonnage
Over 1914—Sailing Vessels, Revived By War, Now Declining As Liquid Fuel Engines Develop.

and other articles appear in the principal newspapers of the world relating to the existing status of shipping as compared with conditions preceding the World War and particularly with reference to the post-war advent of the United States in overseas activities all bear evidence of the general interest affecting this situation. A most comprehensive survey is contained in Lloyd's Register Book, recently issued.

The section of the book which is perhaps of the greatest interest is that containing the statistical tables. In dealing with these tables it is important to draw special attention to the notice at the commencement of the section, which defines with precision the bases on which the figures have been compiled.

Table No. 5 shows that more than 28,750,000 tons of shipping are classed by Lloyd's Register. Table No. 1 shows that there are recorded in the Register Book (excluding vessels of less than 100 tons) 4,680 sailing vessels of 3,027,834 tons, and 29,255 steamers and motor vessels of 61,342,952 tons, making a world total of 33,355 vessels of 64,370,786 tons gross.

The reduction in sailing tonnage since pre-war time—say June, 1914—amounts to 952,000 tons, a much smaller decrease than occurred in the previous period of eight years. This result is principally due to the increase which has taken place in the United States, the only country which has added to its sailing tonnage since 1914, apart from any ex-German tonnage allocated. Over 41 per cent. of the world's sailing tonnage is now owned in the United States. It should, however, be remembered that the figures for this country include a large proportion of sailing barges. The other countries which still have a considerable amount of sailing tonnage are: France (308,000 tons), United Kingdom (207,000 tons), Norway (183,000 tons) and Italy (163,000 tons). The percentage of sailing vessels to the world's tonnage is now 4.7 per cent., as compared with 8 per cent. in 1914, and nearly 22 per cent. in 1902, and in view of this small percentage it will no doubt be more convenient if sailing vessels be considered from considerations of sailing with the prevailing current of the various countries.

The tonnage of wood vessels owned in 1914 amounted to 1 per cent. of the total steam tonnage, whereas for the present year the percentage has risen to 3.6 per cent. This is, of course, one of the effects of the war, whereas in 1914 the wood sea-going steam tonnage owned in the United States amounted to 210,000 tons, the corresponding figure is now not less than 1,147,000 tons. Wood vessels, however, are not of great importance in international trade. It will be seen that among the principal countries, apart from Germany, Greece is the only one which still shows a reduction in the tonnage now owned as compared with 1914. Notwithstanding the increased destruction and a large amount of ex-enemy tonnage allocated to British ownership and, of course, included in the figures, there are at the present time only 16,000 tons more owned in the United Kingdom than in 1914. The seagoing tonnage of the United States has increased by over ten and two-thirds millions of tons. The other countries in which the largest increases are recorded are: Japan, 1,683,000 tons; France, 1,385,000 tons; Italy, 1,172,000 tons. As in the case of the United Kingdom, the figures for France and Italy include a considerable amount of ex-enemy tonnage allocated to these countries. The figures for Germany conclusively show the change in the maritime position of that country. While in 1914 Germany ranked next to the United Kingdom, with over 5,000,000 tons of steel and iron seagoing steamers, such tonnage now stands at only 1,783,000 tons. The United States' percentage of the world's seagoing steel and iron steam tonnage has increased from 4.3 in 1914 to 22 in 1922.

The relative position of some other countries has also altered to a considerable extent. In 1914 the United Kingdom owned nearly 44½ per cent. of the world's seagoing steam tonnage; the present percentage is just over 33½. Norway, which occupied the third place, is now seventh, while a total tonnage of 848,000 tons. A great development has also taken place as regards the use of liquid fuel on board steamers. In 1914 there were 364 steamers of 1,310,000 tons fitted for burning fuel oil, whereas the present Register Book includes no less than 2,793 such vessels of 14,383,000 tons, which tonnage is nearly 11 times that of 1914. The following interesting comparison between the two years may be noted as regards the division of motive power.

JAMES H. WILKERSON

These men were the principals in the far reaching court action which granted the United States an injunction against the Rail Unions. They are (upper, left to right) U. S. District Atty. Cline, of Chicago; Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. Blackburn Esterline and U. S. Atty. Gen. Harry M. Daugherty. Below, U. S. Judge James H. Wilkerson, of the Chicago District, who granted the injunction. Attorney General Daugherty claims it a move only to prevent interfering with national public utilities. The Unions say they will fight to a finish.

P.C. of Total gross Tonnage	P.C. of Total gross Tonnage
Sail power only—7.95	4.70
Oil, etc., in internal combustion engines—0.47	2.35
Oil fuel for boilers—2.62	22.34
Coal—88.96	70.61
	100.00	100.00

It will thus be seen that only 70.6 per cent. of the tonnage of the merchant marine now depends upon coal, while in 1914 the percentage was 89.

The statistical tables contained in the appendix of the new Register Book contain a number of new features this year; e. g., table 2 (new) shows the number and tonnage of steam and motor travelers, drifters and other fishing vessels of 100 tons gross and above. There are at present 3,625 such vessels, recorded in the Register Book and over 34 per cent. of them are owned in the United Kingdom. Table 9 (new) shows the number and tonnage of steamers and motor vessels lost throughout the world owing to marine and war casualties during the last 20 years, distinguishing the losses of the principal maritime countries. Cases of vessels broken up, condemned, etc., not due to stress of weather, are excluded. The huge amount of war losses is well shown by the fact that, whereas the yearly average of the world's losses of steamers for the three pre-war years (1911-13) was only 448,312 tons, the average for the four years

REEDVILLE

Those who took in the excursion to Salisbury and attended the splendid Fair held recently, were perfectly charmed with the trip, and can find no words strong enough to express their appreciation of the kind and hospitable welcome and treatment they received while there. They thought Salisbury a wonderful town, full of interest, and enthusiasm. (We are hoping to catch the spirit over here after awhile.) At Kilmarnock they are looking forward with much pleasure to having the friends from the Eastern Shore attend their Fair early in November, and are hoping to return, at least, part of the hearty Salisbury greeting.

Dr. H. Ward Randolph, motored from Richmond, Thursday, to see his brother-in-law, Mr. John R. Hinton, who has been very sick and to tell his little son Reed, who has been spending his summer here with his grandfather, Mr. George N. Reed, back to enter school. Mr. Hinton is better.

Mrs. Charles Bertram Pattinson and her attractive little son, Noel, went back to Baltimore Friday after spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Morrison, and other relatives here. Noel is an unusually nice child, and captured the hearts of all his country cousins.

Miss Hilda Johnston and her brothers, J. T. and Asa, motored from their home near Suffolk, have been recent guests of their sister, Mrs. R. H. Hinton, near Lillian, also calling here in town.

Rev. Mr. Hudson, presiding elder, was in town Sunday night, preaching at Bethany, and holding a quarterly Conference, Monday morning.

Many summer visitors are leaving for their homes now. Miss Eunice Evans, who has been visiting her brother's family at the Bethany parsonage has gone to her school at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Barnhart who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McAloney have left for Oxford, N. C., where Mr. Barnhart is principal of a large school.

Mr. J. Otho Marsh was in our town a few nights recently, while giving the merchants in this section an opportunity for placing orders for his line, that fragrant, popular weed which is apparently so conducive to comfort for man-kind, and more horrible still, sometimes for the gentler sex also.

Mr. Jacob French, of Fairport, has been sick the past week to the sorrow of many friends. Mr. and Mrs. French have enjoyed having their son, Hugh, spend a couple of happy weeks with them recently.

Many friends of Mr. Moreau Blackwell, of near Sunbury, are so glad to hear that he is very much better than he has been for sometime. Indeed his condition is so much improved that his daughter, Miss Fannie, has consented to take her last year's classes at Reedville High School, when school begins on the 8th (Friday) and substitute until Miss Maher, assistant principal, arrives, which will probably be a week or so later.

Miss Fannie Blackwell was one of the best loved and most competent teachers Reedville ever had. Her place will be hard to fill indeed.

Miss Florence Haynie left for Portsmouth, Va., Wednesday night (via Baltimore) to begin her experience as a "school marm". She is a graduate of R. H. S. and Farmville Normal and will doubtless do good work.

Miss Mary Ekridge, who has been spending the past month with Miss Evelyn Covington, at Burgess Store, left Wednesday for her home in West Virginia.

Dr. and Mrs. John V. Tarrant have returned to Reedville after a visit to Richmond and other places. Dr. Tarrant spent sometime in Baltimore this week.

Mrs. Chas. W. Neal and her son Herschel, are here this week from Baltimore making plans for returning to that city to live. Mr. Neal has bought a home on Harlem Avenue, near where all Mrs. Neal's immediate family now own homes. A large circle of relatives and friends here will miss them very much, but wish them happiness and success in their new and busy future life in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey and children, Miss Sarah Jett, John and Rosser are at home in Reedville, after the summer at Laves, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. McNeal and their daughter, Miss Velma, also Miss Florence McNeal, and Mr. Herbert Rice, all of Fairport and Mrs. Howard Rice, of Reedville, motored to Fredericksburg Friday enroute to Richmond. Miss Velma, a recent graduate of R. H. S. and Miss Florence, of the Onancock High School, will go to Westhampton College this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Blackmore are here this week motoring over from their home near Harttinsburg for a visit to Mr. O. R. Williams and sister, Miss Titha, at Tibitha; and other relatives. Mrs. C. T. Myers and little son from Wicomico, also joined the family party at Tibitha for awhile.

Mrs. T. E. Blackwell, Jr., of near Burgess Store, has been enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. Kennedy, of Clark Co. in this state, for the past month. They have been attending the Reedville Chautauqua this week.

The old familiar sound of the Reedville High School bell pierced the air this morning, calling from homes far and near hordes of bright and happy children to again take up the matter of books, and the upshots thereof. Regular classes will not be resumed until Monday.

Mr. Milton Enoch has rented his home and little farm at Lillian to Mr. Frank Jones and family. We are told and will himself spend the winter with his son, Capt. Arthur Booth, and family here at Reedville.

About 30 young folks most of them members of the Willing Circle, of Bethany, chaperoned by Mrs. W. R. Evans, Mrs. O. W. Douglas, Mrs. W. T. Edwards and Miss Frances Carey spent a most delightful afternoon at Gaskins' Beach, Sunday last.

The occasion was a "Wienie Roast". The "Wienies" were roasted over a rousing camp fire, suspended from little poles and formed the prelude to a substantial lunch which the happy young cooks and their attendants consumed with a great deal of pleasure, and a like amount of appetite.

Mrs. Henry Blundon and Mrs. Albert Davis also little Albert Blundon Davis, of Reedville, spent a recent week in Baltimore.

Mrs. Janet Covington Haynie and her little son, Pratt, have been visiting Mr. W. T. Covington and family of Reedville, the past week. Mr. C. J. Covington, of Lillian, has been driving his car here recently, so much better is he since coming home.

WARREN'S CORNER

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hancock and two children, Maurice and Lawrence, from near Pittsville; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hancock and two children spent Sunday with Mrs. Mylie Hancock at Shanon.

Miss Sallie Snack and Mr. Marvel Snack spent Sunday with Mr. Isaac Riley and sister near Parsonsburg.

Mrs. Clara Clark and daughter, Sarah, spent last Tuesday at Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hancock's home.

Mrs. Bell Esham and children from Salisbury and Mrs. Roland Adkins from Willards were guests last Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adkins and had a joyful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Palmer from Powellville spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Brown's home.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Snack spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will Ellis, taking supper there.

DELMAR

Mrs. Godfrey entertained her Sunday School Class Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. L. Ellis is visiting Mrs. W. J. Downing at Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baker, of Crisfield are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ira Phillips.

Mrs. J. A. Price, of Salisbury, was a recent guest of Mrs. George Maddox.

Mrs. Gardiner Hastings has been very ill at her home on North Second Street.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Culver attended the Fair at Wilmington Thursday.

Mr. T. A. Vasey has returned after spending several weeks in the Pocomo Mountains.

Mrs. Applebaugh, of Cape Charles, was a recent guest of Mrs. Howard Lynch.

Mrs. Annie E. Vincent is visiting in Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson have returned from their wedding trip.

Mr. Ira E. Hearn and Mr. Harry Elliott attended the Delaware State Fair last week.

Owing to the crowded conditions of the Delaware School, the seventh and eighth grades are attending only every other day until some provision for accommodating the pupils can be made.

Miss Emma Bacon, of Philadelphia, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Trader.

Mrs. A. Ellis is visiting in New Castle.

Mrs. C. N. Laudon, Mrs. Ross Gordy and Mrs. W. S. Nelson spent the first of the week in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hair were recent Philadelphia visitors.

Miss Helen Jefferson, of Seaford, was a recent guest of Mrs. George Ellegood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Long, of Fruitland, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Culver.

PITTSVILLE

Mrs. Norman White, of Chester, returned to her home last Tuesday after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Shockley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Tingle spent part of last week in Baltimore.

Misses Essie Strickland, Anna Smith and Maude Truitt left last Monday for Maryland State Normal School where they expect to enroll as students for the coming year.

Mrs. J. Willes Parker and daughter spent part of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wallace, of Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dennis, of Weehawken, are spending some time at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Dennis.

Mrs. Kate Davis and Mrs. J. G. Sheppard are spending the week at the home of Mr. W. E. Sheppard, of Salisbury.

Mr. Maurice Jones left last Monday morning for Grafton, W. Va., where he has accepted a position.

Mrs. R. E. Parsons and little daughter spent the first part of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sheppard, of Salisbury.

Mrs. Stansbury White is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Brown, of Delmar.

Mrs. J. E. Evans has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brittingham and Mr. and Mrs. Fred White spent last Tuesday at the home of their mother, Mrs. S. M. Brittingham.

Misses Evelyn and Pauline Richardson, of Baltimore, returned to their home last Saturday after spending the summer with relatives here.

The Ladies Aid Society of Ayres M. E. Church will hold a picnic on the church lawn Saturday evening, Sept. 16. All are cordially invited to attend.

WANGO

Mr. Joseph Calloway spent the first part of the week at Delmar.

Mrs. Arlie Dennis, of Berlin, returned to her home Saturday after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Gordy.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, of Denton, visited relatives here last week.

Miss Mildred Brittingham and Miss Carolyn Hastings, of Parsonsburg, spent the week-end with Miss Gertrude and Sallie Laws.

Mr. Albert Morris, of Salisbury, visited Wango Saturday and enjoyed a hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Laws entertained the following guests Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Olin Parker, of near Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. Magruder Tilghman and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tilghman, of near Parsonsburg.

Mrs. A. Dennis spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Clarence Laws.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis and children Francis and Alfred, visited her mother, Mrs. Mattie Wimbrow, Saturday.

Miss Irene Laws, teacher at Riley's school, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Laws.

Mr. Harry Calloway, of Delmar, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Amanda Calloway, on Saturday.

Mrs. Clarence Laws is on the sick list this week.

"Paper Day" at the Village Postoffice

By WILLIAM G. BROGAN
Vice President, The American Press Association

You who were raised in the country—do you recollect the scene in the village post office on "paper day?" Do you recall the postmaster distributing copies of the local paper and almost every glass faced post office box, to be pulled out at the other end by the waiting throng as quickly as a key could be inserted by each lessee of a post office box?

Remember how freckled faced Johnny grabbed his copy and made a bee line for home with it tightly clutched in his good right hand?

Think of the bustle, hustle and commotion, the busy hour and all the excitement—the bunch in the post office and outside the door—awaiting their turn at the "free delivery" window. Or the same scene out in the country with rows of lettered tin boxes spiked to posts all revolving horizontally on the rims of old wagon wheels at every cross road.

For the farmer folks are there, too, when the rural free delivery man shows up, waiting eagerly for their copies of the nearby village papers. Ah, those were the happy days!

You, who are now in the big city, can never, never experience the thrills in reading the city journal with its staff of highly paid writers that you got from the little old eight-page weekly "at home."

Everything worth reading was there. You knew most everybody the editor wrote about, and he made it his business to get in as many names as he could. It was a faithful chronicle of everything that goes to make up life—its joys and its sorrows—births, marriages, deaths, all faithfully recorded and all bearing intimately on the existence of everybody you knew and loved.

You don't get that any more, city man—you're lost in the mass. You've become a sort of impersonal thing—a tooth in a gear, spoke in a wheel. Through the whirl and noise of the big business machinery the human interest tones to which you were once so close and to which you loved to listen are all gone, lost to you, because you are too far away—you can't hear them now.

Things are just about the same in the old town, however—there are more folks there, of course, but the weekly paper is the same enjoyable institution, and there's the same eagerness for it on "paper day," and it's read from cover to cover, ads and all, just as it was in the old days. You've moved away, that's all, and you've forgotten all about it. Think back—visualize the good old town paper and the way the folks "ate it up."

You believe your business message reaches the people when you advertise in the city paper. Well, there are more folks in the country than there are in the cities, and they think more of their papers than they ever did, for the papers are better. If you have something to sell, don't spend your entire appropriation in magazines and city papers. See that a reasonable percentage goes for country newspaper advertising—get back into touch with the "old home town"—get the benefit of the intimate acquaintance "Bill," the publisher, has with "Jack," the local dealer. The publisher will ask the dealer to push the sales of your goods if you advertise in his columns, and the local dealer will help the publisher to show you that it pays you to advertise in the local paper.

If your advertising manager is a born and bred city man perhaps he may not see anything in the little country paper compared with the big city papers. You can, however, if you will just stop and think a minute—you'll know that your old town paper carries influence and human interest qualities in its eight pages that are, by the very nature of things, forever beyond the reach of big city publications.

The advertiser who overlooks country papers fails to get properly in touch with half the purchasing power of the United States. If you have forgotten the home town paper, Mr. City Man—come from the country, stop and think and you will see to it that your next advertising campaign carries a reasonable appropriation for country newspaper space.

It will pay to advertise locally wherever you have dealers and distribution. Your city sales may have been pushed to the limit, but you haven't scratched the surface of the small town field. The same sort of intensive advertising—cultivation of the country field which you have applied to the big cities will open up a brand new market and yield a harvest beyond your expectations.

Remember this when you plan your next advertising campaign—From "The American Press," July, 1922.

"Well! Strong!"

Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic
I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."

RENEWED TESTIMONY.

No one in Salisbury who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Salisbury man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Salisbury resident can doubt.

W. F. Bounds, brick mason, 110 Williams Street, says: "I was troubled with lame back and disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were scanty and caused annoyance."

When I bent to tie my shoes I found it hard to straighten because of the sharp pains that caught me in the small of my back. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Collier Drug Co. I had no more trouble and can recommend Doan's highly to anyone suffering as I did."

(Statement given January 21, 1916)

On January 7, 1921, Mr. Bounds said: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good condition and never miss a chance to recommend them. I seldom have any sign of kidney trouble now and give Doan's all the credit."

To Wed At Convention.

Prospective benedicts of the American Legion, who plan to marry during the national convention of the ex-service men's organization in New Orleans, October 16-20, will have the way paved for them by a member of the convention committee.

Announcement has been made that Theodore A. Silvers, chairman of the convention historical records committee, will marry Miss Helen Haukey Smith, also of New Orleans, in the presence of his Legion buddies assembled in convention hall.

A chaplain from one of the United States warships is to be sent to New Orleans for the convention will be asked to perform the ceremony. Eighteen flower girls are being trained and a detachment of boy scouts will act as ushers.

Convention headquarters has received a number of inquiries in regard to the holding of marriage during the Legion gathering which have been answered with the statement that all facilities will be provided to assist the lovers. Twenty Legionnaires were married at the Legion convention in Kansas City last year.

Organizes Sales Forces.

The American Legion Weekly has just inaugurated a plan for distribution of the Weekly which will financially benefit Legion men and at the same time make the bank balance of the post larger. By acting as local distributing agents for the new stand sales of the Weekly a certain percentage of the total sales will go to the Legionnaire doing the distributing and to the post treasury. The news stand director of the Weekly has mapped out a plan for placing the Legion's magazine on the news stands which has features no other magazine can offer. Under this plan post treasuries and post membership can work up a steady income. Write the news stand director at the Weekly. He'll tell you more about making money pockets bulge.

Stars Eligible For Journey.

Nationally prominent players from all sections of the country will compete for the tennis championship of the American Legion at the annual national convention of that organization in New Orleans, Oct. 16-20. The convention tennis tournament will be held in three divisions. Men of the Legion will play for the title in both singles and doubles, while women of the Legion and members of the Legion Auxiliary will play for championship in singles only. The tournament will open Oct. 16 on the courts of the New Orleans Lawn Tennis Club and will end Oct. 20. Preliminary rounds will be held Oct. 16 and 17, the semi-finals Oct. 19 and the finals on Oct. 20. Silver loving cups will go to title winners in all divisions.

Among those eligible for play in the Legion's net tournament are: William T. Tilden, national champion, William M. Johnston, Wallace F. Johnson, Watson Washburn, R. Norris Williams, William E. Davis; Dean Matthey, Roland Roberts and Marshall Allen. These men are shown on the national ranking list of men's singles of the United States Lawn Tennis Association as among the 20 best players.

Against Women Employees.

Resolutions against the employment by the government of women whose husbands also are drawing salaries from governmental agencies were passed at a recent meeting of George Washington Post of the American Legion at Washington, D. C. The Legion post named 13 women, among them Mrs. Caroline Harding Votaw, President Harding's sister. The Legion asserts Mrs. Votaw's husband holds the job of superintendent of prisons which pays $4,000 a year while she draws $5,000 as head of the industrial service section of the Veterans Bureau. The Legionnaires hold that one job in a family is enough and that the women's places should be filled by former service men.

Sailors To New Orleans.

More than 2,200 sailors and 20 of the fleet of the United States Navy will come to New Orleans during the American Legion national convention Oct. 16-20, the result of a recent order made by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt.

The naval men will come with a fleet of one cruiser and six destroyers ordered to New Orleans for the convention. The cruiser, Birmingham, flagship of Rear Admiral W. C. Cole, who will command the fleet has normal quota of 1,000 men and 60 officers. The six destroyers that will accompany the Birmingham will have crews of 200 men and five officers each.

Hydroplanes ordered to fly to the convention from Pensacola, Fla., will induce some of the largest models in existence. Their wing span measures 100 ft. All planes will be twin screw equipped with Liberty motors. Arrangements have been made for the appearance at the convention of a band of 70 pieces from the naval training station at Pensacola.

Balance on Bonus.

According to a report received by New Jersey American Legion State Senator Joseph F. Wallworth, of Camden, will introduce a bill in the legislature to have the people vote on what shall be done with the unexpended balance of $800,000 left after paying the State bonus. The introduction of the bill is contingent on Governor Edward L. Edwards calling a special session of the legislature. The Legion seeks the special assembly in order that the fund may be used to build one or more hospitals for the care of sick and disabled World War veterans.

Message From Serbia.

Bound by the common tie of suffering, disabled ex-service men of the Kingdom of the Serbs and the Croats and the Slovenians thought of their disabled friends in America on Fourth of July. They transcribed their thought in a message on that day, which was forwarded to the Secretary of State and to C. R. Forbes director of the Veterans Bureau, asking that it be broadcasted to the disabled men in this country. The message follows:

"The Associated Invalids of the Kingdom of Serbians, Croats and Slovenians, remembering most reverently of the holy sacrifices which America has borne for her liberty and independence under the leadership of the glorious General Washington, have the honor to congratulate their heroic comrades the celebration of the Fourth of July, 1922.

"The invalids of this Kingdom love to think of the superhuman sacrifices which their American comrades have endured in the course of the World's War running from their distant American Continent to our rescue and that of our noble Allies and drawing their swords in defence of the most sacred principle of humanity, thus exposing to deadly danger their very lives for our common cause.

"They can never forget the precious help which the United States of America, through their knightly representatives, have shown on the scene of the reconstruction of our devastated country as also in the intricate diplomatic problems which have arisen after the War.

"It is with fervent and spontaneous enthusiasm that we greet our invalid comrades in America requesting them never to forget their sincere comrades and friends of the small Jugoslav country which is rich only in love for those who so highly appreciate the liberty of others and so tenderly nourish the cult of mutual love among nations.

Legion To Fight Reds.

That the Americanism department of the American Legion, and the 11,000 posts of the Legion have their work cut out for them in an announced program of opposition to radicalism, and the Americanization of foreign born in the country, is indicated by surveys made in various states by officials of the organization. Some typical reports received at National Headquarters is the declaration of William R. McCauley, commander of the Illinois department.

"Our American people feel entirely safe and secure—too much so for their own good, Commander McCauley said. "Some cold facts, bluntly admitted, might wake them up to the conditions, all about them. It is not generally realized that in Illinois there are more than 175,000 persons above the age of 10 years who cannot read or write the English language. Those who cannot understand our tongue number thousands. "It is realized that Bolshevik literature, supplied through generous funds from the Russian government, is being circulated among those who are ignorant of our own printed language, our institutions."

Activities of radicals in many of the States is reported, and in most cases they are said to be of bolder nature than at any time since the close of the World War. In South Dakota, Kansas and other wheat sections the American Legion during the wheat harvest has engaged itself in fighting the I. W. W. and its work of sabotage and intimidation. In Kansas, Phil Zimmerman, noted nemesis of the Wabblers, organized Legionnaires in combat groups throughout the wheat belt, and succeeded in frustrating the I. W. W. in a campaign designed to increase membership and coerce the farmers, aided with "cow-itch" fire-creating chemicals and other of their "terrorism" weapons.

In Illinois Commander McCauley cited American Legion efforts in Chicago and in Centralia as illustrative of Americanism methods being employed by the Legion. In Chicago the radicals have invaded the fashionable residential or "white collar" districts, and from soap boxes harangue crowds with their un-American and disloyal utterances. Instead of calling upon the police to quell the exhorters, furnishing them with a "persecution" appeal for sympathy, the North Shore Post of the American Legion, headed by Ferre Watkins, commander, organized a flying detachment of orators. Wherever a radical soap box rostrum is set down, an American Legion soap box is placed near by. And sometimes it is logic—but the "longhairs" are getting the worst of it on every occasion.

In Centralia, Ill., nearly all the members of Centralia Post are union coal miners, and the post commander, Paul M. Kramer, is one of the strikers. The post is conducting an aggressive, extensive campaign of Americanism, of patriotism, among the foreign-born elements in the community. Under the auspices of the post, and the Rotary Club, a boy Scout camp is conducted in a park near Centralia, and boys of all classes bankers' sons, miners' sons, sons of men of wealth and men in humble station, attend. In Oregon the immigration question has been occupying the Legion, and at its recent state convention the alien question was one of the most important questions considered. The convention adopted resolutions for the deportation of all aliens who have been in this country six years without becoming citizens; the examination of immigrants for entry into the country placed in the hands of a bureau with the power to regulate the number; that steps be taken to educate the immigrants in the duties of citizenship, and to prevent congregation of aliens in colonies in the large cities—and for the filing by Oregon employers of a semi-annual report of more than five alien employees, segregating the aliens from citizens.

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."—STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

The Character of Your Home

Plans and specifications for every building on your city lot or farm determine a great deal of the character of your home. But not all. There are so lawn, paint, arrangement—but most vital of all, the quality of lumber or building material used.

"A" grade lumber insures substantial and durable building. Inferior building materials still leave the best of construction perishable and the owner subject to continual care and expense.

Standard lengths for timber have been developed which save both time and money in home building.

Seasoned lumber which is carefully inspected at our yard is always included in estimates we gladly make for you when you are thinking of building.

No matter whether it is house, barn, alteration or repairing, we want to supply you with materials.

HOSPITAL IS MOVING INTO NEW QUARTERS

Pretentious Annex Of Peninsula General Is Opened To Patients.

OLD BUILDING WILL BE COMPLETELY REMODELED

Citizens And Organizations Slow In Responding To Appeal Of Institution Officials For Furnishings And Equipment For Private Rooms And Wards—Laboratory Expert Added.

Complete transference of patients and equipment into the new annex quarters is being consummated this week by the authorities of the Peninsula General Hospital. Actual moving of the hospital furniture began Monday morning and the removal of the patients and operating rooms is taking place now.

The main building after it has been cleared out will immediately undergo a thorough process of renovating and remodeling which when completed will result in the Peninsula General Hospital being regarded as the most modernly equipped hospital on the Peninsula.

The estimated cost of the new annex when finally finished and equipped is $140,000. And no effort has been spared in making it attractive both interior and exterior and the service rendered to the public through increased facilities will be greatly enhanced by the better conditions afforded the authorities for the care of their patients.

No fair estimate can be given of the great worth of this institution to the community and this city is considered fortunate to be able to possess it. It is appropriately styled Salisbury's biggest institutional asset. And for that reason its sponsors and officials are hoping that the citizens will support it unstintingly.

There are now about 22 private rooms to be furnished and appeals are being made to public-spirited individuals and organizations to take care of that expense. Already approximately six rooms and several wards are being equipped in this manner.

The Matron's Home Club of Salisbury is providing furnishings for one room and Loyal Order of Moose Lodge is following example with another room. The Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital is refurbishing a room in memory of Mrs. W. B. Miller, who was the first president of that organization. The Women's Christian Temperance Union is also preparing one room with all that is needed.

The children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ulman are completing the furnishing of the dining room which was commenced some time ago in memory of their father and they are going to furnish another room in memory of their mother. The High School will be asked to furnish their room.

The Sunday School class of Asbury Methodist Church taught by Mr. Riffe is furnishing the white children's ward. The ward for the colored children will be fixed up from contributions received from the colored populace of Salisbury who are conducting a campaign for that purpose.

That the work of the hospital is being rapidly extended is evinced by the fact that during the past two weeks accommodations have been refused new patients. With the opening of the new quarters, Miss Wise, Superintendent, stated yesterday that all the available room will be used and that no applicant will be refused admittance. As there are no large ward rooms in the new wing, these patients will be taken care of in other rooms, while the wards in the old building are undergoing extensive repairs.

Temporarily the operating will be done on the top floor of the annex until the main surgery room is opened. Dr. Barnes, a resident of the Fernon, who has just returned from an eight months' course of study in Washington will be on the hospital staff as laboratory specialist and will perform his duties in such capacity on full-time.

The home of Mrs. Stanley Towdine on Camden Avenue has been rented to be used as a nurse's home in order to take care of the overflow of nurses this winter. While other hospitals are supposed to be in crying need of nurses, the Peninsula General is well favored in this line and has enrolled in its probation classes this fall 14 young women.

The appointment of Colonel Woodcock did not come in the form of a surprise as his ability in law circles has long been recognized.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Organization Elects Mr. W. C. Mitchell Pres.—Program of Work Outlined—Meeting Oct. 21.

Wicomico's newly formed Board of Agriculture met last Saturday. Election of officers was held and the following members were appointed to the high executive positions: W. C. Mitchell, president; W. S. Moore, vice-president; G. R. Cobb, secretary.

Enthusiasm among the various individuals present was noted for their new organization. The main idea was evolved to be that each community or section should analyze their agricultural deficiencies and reports made at each meeting as to what they were and what steps had been taken to remedy the conditions.

Improvements were to be noted alone all lines and in event of new problems, programs will be outlined and demonstrations given. The main board's representative will organize a division under his supervision in each section with local officers.

The next meeting will be held on the third Saturday in October at 2 o'clock. Then will be discussed the county-wide drive for new members.

HELD FIRST FALL MEETING LAST MONDAY

Women's Christian Temperance Union Resumes Activities After Summer Vacation.

TO EMPHASIZE NEED OF LAW ENFORCEMENT

Delegates Named To State Convention At Walkerville—Organization Will Furnish Room In New Hospital Annex—Prize Essay Contest To Include County Schools.

After a period of inactivity during the summer months in which time no meetings were held, the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union met in regular session on Monday afternoon at the Elk's home on Main Street.

The gathering was well attended and many important questions came up in the course of the afternoon discussion. However, what appeared to be the main issue, was strongly brought into the limelight by the president, Mrs. Taylor. She emphasized the need of a thorough concentration of all activities upon law enforcement of the constitution's 18th amendment.

It was declared that the State of Maryland was grossly neglecting this duty and that it was the duty of every member present and those who were away to arouse sentiment in favor of the cause whenever the opportunity presented itself. The W. C. T. U. is going to lend every effort toward the curtailing of all the opposition now being waged against the full enforcement of the Volstead Act. Another motion that was made, approved and received with no small degree of enthusiasm was that providing for the furnishing of a room in the new hospital annex. Quite an amount was subscribed by those present as a starting fund.

Delegates were named to go to the State convention which meets at Walkerville, Oct. 2, 3 and 4. They are: Mrs. Alice Adkins, Mrs. Dobson, Mrs. Gullett, Mrs. Herbert Hitch, Mrs. E. Jones, Mrs. F. A. Gordy, Mrs. Fred Adkins, Mrs. Walter Sheppard and Mrs. Wheaton.

It was also planned to hold several informal teas with entertainment added. These would be without any admission charges. The first one will be on Sept. 29 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Hitch on High Street. The organization voted to make the prize essay contest, which was inaugurated for the students of the city's schools and high school, a county-wide affair.

HEBREW STORES TO CLOSE OVER NEW YEAR HOLIDAYS

This week witnesses the advent of the Hebrew New Year. This holiday commences at sunset Friday night and continues until sunset, Sunday night. The stores of that sect will therefore be closed on Saturday. Benjamin's will be closed on that day. Most of the Hebrews of this city are planning to leave for the larger cities Friday where they will attend services in their respective synagogues.

HIGH SCHOOL NEEDS FIELD FOR ATHLETES

Recreational And Sport Programs Of Local Institution Seriously Handicapped.

GORDY PARK DESIRED FOR SOCCER PRACTICE

Effort Is Being Made To Secure Grounds For Use This Fall—Board of Education Names Conditions Governing Athletics—Two Instructors Are Coaches.

Wicomico High School is in need of a field for athletics. Conspicuous among the things that this institution is lacking in, is a space for recreational development. As conditions stand now, there is not even room for rope-skipping around the girls.

This glaring and outstanding deficiency is to be condoned. Educational authorities the country over are united in accepting the great value of athletics and other recreational programs among students.

There is however a diversity of opinion as to the limitations to be imposed and as to the promotion of the varsity teams in contrast to the development of every individual in the student body with a sport program that includes everybody in physical exercises.

It is in the larger colleges and universities, however, that the opponents of varsity athletics are most strenuous in their denunciations of that plan that is believed to be beneficial to a select few of the players who come under the tutelage of the high-salaried coach and his assistants.

In the various high schools in the smaller city districts, it is not so much the case of only a few boys getting all of the training. Practically every young man interests himself in some form of sport activity. But Wicomico's aspiring athletes are seriously handicapped by the absence of any grounds on which their teams might practice and athletics on a whole be developed.

Just now an effort is being made to secure the use of Gordy Park in the afternoons for soccer practice but no definite reply has been received from the park officials. Permission has also been requested of Adjutant-General Rockford for the use of the Army grounds for basketball practice during week-days.

Soon the fall inter-high school contests in soccer will be staged by the Public Athletic League that have for their purpose the determining of champion schools on both the Eastern and Western Shores. These contests will be held in the State championship.

At Wicomico High School interest in soccer is running high and already the candidates for the team have appeared for try-outs. Two able coaches have been secured in Mr. R. H. Hackett, professor in English, and Mr. Unger, manual training teacher. The former was popular at Ridgely High School last year while the latter has recently completed a course in athletic coaching at Columbia University.

The Board of Education will not officially direct the activities this fall. Instead it has named certain conditions that must be adhered to by the players and officials. First, no student will be allowed to represent the high school on the athletic field who has not made a passing grade in his studies.

The board will not furnish officials nor draw up the schedules as it did last spring in the baseball season. But it has named the restriction that not more than two games a week may be played and one of these must be on the home grounds. The home teams are expected to provide the officials. Salisbury, Sharpton and Delmar are looking forward to placing creditable teams in the race for championship honors and it is hoped that some of the second-group schools will also enter the play.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION WILL MEET

Teachers And Officers Will Assemble At Hebron For Annual Convention On October 3rd

Sunday School workers of Wicomico county will assemble at Hebron on Tuesday, October 3rd, which date has been set for the opening sessions of the annual convention of the Wicomico County Sunday School Association.

The program is featured with the names of several very prominent speakers familiar with Sunday School work in the state. "Back to the Bible" has been adopted as the motto for these meetings together and every teacher and Sunday School official in the county, regardless of denomination, are being urged to attend. As has been the custom in the past, a banner will be awarded to the school having the largest per capita attendance of officers and teachers present at the afternoon session.

Dr. Hugh Cork, associate editor of the Sunday School Times, is listed among the various speakers who will interpret the several phases of Sunday School Activities. Dr. Carlyle L. Hubbard, another influential worker, will speak at the evening session. The date of the convention was changed to coincide with the engagements of Dr. Hubbard.

BLOODHOUNDS ON HOT TRAIL OF ASSAILANT

Negro Who Attacked Pocomoke Woman Early Tuesday Believed Surrounded At King's Creek.

Pocomoke and community is today in the throes of a man-hunt following the alleged rape of Mrs. William A. Taylor by a young negro about nine o'clock Tuesday morning. Bloodhounds rushed from Norfolk are hot on the trail of the assailant with a mob of armed men about 1,000 strong in pursuit.

Mrs. Taylor was picking butterbeans in the garden of her home near the grounds when the negro attacked her. She describes him as being about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing about 140 lbs. Was light in color and wore khaki shirt and trousers. He is said to have lost the light cap he was wearing.

Immediately upon the arrival of the bloodhounds the trail was picked up to the place where the negro was where he had spent the day in hiding. Then last night his movements were traced to Costen and it is believed that they have him cornered in a swamp in the vicinity of King's Creek. The crowd is bent on violent justice, it is said, if they find the negro.

BUSY WEEK IN CIRCUIT COURT ON ALL CASES

Criminal Docket Cleaned Up—Sensational Lee Justice Trial Moved To Somerset.

GRAND JURY REPORTS ON PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Jail Found in Clean Condition And Inmates Well-Cared For—Shower Bath in "Dungeon" Recommended—County Commissioners Commended—Strong Fight on Walston Will.

All of the criminal cases on the docket for the September term of court were disposed of this week. In several instances, however, sentence was postponed by the presiding judges who were waiting for additional information.

Many spectators were disappointed when it was announced that the trial of Lee Justice had been removed to Somerset county. Justice's alleged assault on an eleven year old child had aroused little interest in the community and several sensational disclosures were promised in event of the trial.

Prominent among civil cases is the contesting of the Walston will. This case has been up before the court for two days and is expected to hold attention for two more. Attorneys for the caveator, Mrs. Mollie E. Parker are: Curtis Long, Benjamin Johnson, Levin C. Bailey and Joshua W. Miles. The caveatees are represented by L. A. Bennett and W. L. Rawls, of Salisbury. (Continued on Page 2.)

ACTION MARKS GATHERING OF BASEBALL MEN

Salisbury Club's Stockholders Endorse Shipley of Martinsburg For Manager, 1923.

PILOT OF CHAMPIONS WANTS TO COME HERE

New Officials Named At Tuesday Night Meeting—President Ruark's Financial Report Shows Only $1,000 Loss—Raising Of Club Salary Limit And Visiting Guarantee Favored.

There was action at the baseball meeting on Tuesday night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Conclusive results and not endless discussions marked this post-season assemblage of stockholders and officials of the Salisbury Baseball Club.

More than fifty prominent citizens of the city were gathered together for business purposes along baseball lines and decisive judgments as regards the future policies of the club were the outcome of practical reasoning based on the experience gained during the past season.

Unanimous was the opinion of the body that there was truth abundant in the old adage, "A Wise Man Profits by his Mistake." And it was evident from the tone of the various speeches that the 1923 baseball season was not going to be a repetition of 1922.

Whereupon the question of managerial selection immediately came to the fore. President Ruark stated that what had come to him that Manager Shipley of the Five-State Championship Martinsburg was open for a berth next Spring. Acting upon this information he had communicated with Shipley who affirmed the rumor and asserted that he would be glad to come to Salisbury next year in the capacity of manager of the local team. Naming his figure which was supposed to be $2,000. (Continued on Page 2.)

DREDGING OF WICOMICO IS NEARING END

Engineer In Charge Expects To Reach Shipyards By First Of Month.

TO AID INSTALLING OF HUGE MARINE RAILWAY

Captain Caulkins Hopes To Complete Contract November 1st—Sand And Gravel Check Hydraulic Pumps Off Shad Point—Would Fill In Cranberry Bog By Making Boat Lake.

Rapid progress in dredging the Wicomico river is being made by Captain J. D. Caulkins and his dredging crew who are doing the contract work for the Arundel Corporation of Baltimore. The powerful hydraulic pressure barge is now several hundred yards this side of Shad Point and Captain Caulkins expects to be opposite the Smith & Williams shipyards by the first of the month.

Here work will be done for the shipyard which is pursuing its policy of expansion in order to take care of the vast amount of business now being directed its way. The dredger will cut into the strip of land on the west side of the yards to make way for the installation of the 200 ton marine railway which will be able to take care of any ship that comes up the river and needs repairs.

After completing the job here, Captain Caulkins will move up the river and continue into the north and south prongs. He wants to have the work completed by the original plans, and specifications finished by the first of November.

The dredge arrived at the mouth of the river on the 12th of August but was held up for sometime by the heavy tides and winds. Only five working days were able to be secured out of the first two weeks. Rapid progress has been made possible by it since then because for the most part the bottom of the river was mud and there has been very little rubbish and under-water objects encountered to break the machinery.

However, at Shad Point, gravel and sand were struck and less headway has been made. There is also lots of river gas at this point. The powerful pump is capable of removing 2,000 cu. yards in 10 hours. It pumps 3,000 gallons of water a minute and with this there is sucked up 7 per cent sand and 25 per cent mud according to which is found.

Vessels at the bar, heretofore a menace to the mariner, now have 11 ft. at low tide and 14½ feet at high tide. The minimum width of the channel is 100 ft. with 150 ft. clearance at the bends. The depth of 10 ft. at low tide will be sustained from the mouth of the river up to Salisbury. The contract price was $15,000.

Captain Caulkins, who hails from Norfolk was approached by the city engineer in regards to the cost of filling in the Cranberry Bog. The price he quoted, which is said to be around $17,000, was more than the city could expend.

However the veteran waterman stated that now would be the time for the city to undertake such an enterprise as there would be no cost attached to the securing of the dredging company to move its barge in line for the work as it is already here. He was of the opinion that the best plan would be to dig out the swamp on the south side by Evans' mill and make that a boat lake and harbor to take care of the craft that have to use the river bulkheads as wharves.

At the same time the Cranberry Bog could be filled in so as to make it above high tide level, which after all, Captain Caulkins declares, is the only way of remedying the mosquito situation there. Drainage is impossible, he says, as long as the land is below low tide level. This tract of land the city could then offer to incoming industrial plans for building sites. The theory seems practical and would not doubt save the expenditure of a larger sum of money at some future date but city authorities are averse to just such a plan now when no money is available for such a big project.

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES TO BE HIGHER IN PRICE

United States Treasury Department Makes Announcement Through Local Post Office.

The United States Treasury Department announces that after Sept. 30, 1922, the $1 Treasury Savings Stamps will not be on sale and the purchase prices of Treasury Savings Certificates will be advanced from $20 to $20.50 for the $-5 certificates, from $30 to $32 for the $10 certificates and from $80 to $82 for the $100 certificates.

Postmaster Owens, who has just been advised of this change in prices of savings certificates, states that it will be possible for persons to make purchases at the present price of $20, $30 and $80 respectively, until the close of business, Sept. 30, 1922.

Treasury Savings certificates, on sale at the post office are for those seeking an investment with the assurance of absolute safety and a guarantee of the return of principal with interest at the rate of 4½ per cent on present issue price, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

BONUS BILL IS VETOED.

President Harding on Tuesday vetoed the soldier's bonus bill as was generally predicted. The nation's executive sent the bill back to the House with a vigorous message of disapproval. The President applied without stint the whip of criticism to Congress for pretending to provide adjusted compensation for former veterans, while doing nothing to furnish the necessary funds beyond a hazy scheme of cash certificates which he held to be a menace to the credit of the Government. The House will probably re-pass the measure but the future action of the Senate is uncertain.

GIRLS AND WOMEN ARE NOW IN CLASSES AT 'Y'

Approximately 50 Members Enrolled In New Department—Board of Directors Appoint Committees.

Thirty-two girls formed the gymnasium class at the Young Men's Christian Association on Tuesday afternoon. Instructor Boggs merely outlined a few points to be included in their proposed course and several games were indulged in by the eager new members.

Twenty-six of the number were in the high school and six in the junior classes. That night about 20 representatives of the Business Women's Club gathered together for their opening exercises. About 50 members have been secured for the Women's Department.

At a meeting of the "Y" directors Friday night committees were appointed to formulate plans and review arrangements for the new swimming pool which is to be installed in the basement of the building.

FIRE AROUSES POPULACE LATE MONDAY NIGHT

Destruction Of Twilley Building On South Division Street Draws Crowds.

PROXIMITY OF HOSPITAL SPURS ON FIREFIGHTERS

Owners Of Store, Barber Shop And Plumbing Establishment All Under One Roof Are Losers With Part Insurance. Mr. Twilley's Loss Partly Covered.

Fire, which broke out near midnight Monday, completely destroyed the building owned by Mr. Elisha Twilley on South Division Street just across the bridge and at the intersection point with Upton Street.

The alarm was sounded about quarter of twelve by a passing automobilist who saw the red flames leaping up past the roof in the back part of the shop. He immediately notified the fire station and the distinct tolling of the old fire bell in the city hall tower quickly summoned firemen from their homes.

By the time the apparatus reached the scene the flames had succeeded in getting much headway and the wooden structure was a mass of burning timbers that sent thick and heavy volumes of smoke upwards. Townspeople who had been awakened by the fire alarm lost no time in flocking to the scene when they witnessed the red glare in the skies that suggested the vicinity of the Hospital.

Quickly the crowd gathered, some coming in machines, others on foot. Various garbs of attire were discernible among the spectators who had evidently grabbed up anything that looked like clothing in a frantic attempt to be on the scene as early as possible.

Hospital authorities displayed no little anxiety over the nearness of the fire to their institution and carefully attended to the sparks that drifted lazily over the tree-tops in the direction of the new annex. Firemen were spurred on in their efforts to control the conflagration.

The building was divided into several parts. Mr. Guthrie conducted a store in the front, while the back part had just been rented by Mr. Albert Coulbourne, who had opened up a plumbing shop. There was also included within its walls a barber shop. Equipment from this was all that was saved. However, Mr. Coulbourne had $500 insurance on his shop and Mr. Guthrie carried part insurance.

Mr. Twilley when asked for an estimate of his loss declared that he could give no accurate amount inasmuch as the property had changed owners so much before he had acquired sole possession. He had, he said had been originally built in 1911 for a laundry but the promoter had failed and new interests secured rights to the title. Mr. Twilley stated that he thought the loss would be between $1,500 and $2,000 which was partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

SOMERSET FIELD MEETING.

The third annual field meeting of the Somerset County Agricultural Association will be held on Thursday, Sept. 28th, on the Arcadia farm of Arthur White, on the outskirts of Princess Anne on the Deal's Island road.

TO ESTABLISH CREDIT BUREAU IN SALISBURY

Merchant's Credit Company Of Boston Will Install Credit Reporting System.

OPERATIVE CENTER OF LOWER PENINSULA HERE

District Includes Eastern, Maryland And Greenwood, Delaware And All Counties South To Cape Charles. Individual Credit Standings To Be Indexed For Merchants Benefits.

A complete and up-to-date Credit Reporting Bureau covering Salisbury and all the surrounding towns, with headquarters here, is being organized and is expected to fill a long felt need among the local merchants and is already arousing considerable interest.

The Merchants' Credit Company Inc. of Boston, an organization of specialists in credit reporting work, is to install the system and its representatives are now in town arranging the preliminaries incident to the work. The plan is designed to give the merchants a highly specialized system which is similar to that followed by many cities throughout the country, and to which The Merchants Credit Co. is adding new cities as rapidly as possible.

The bureau that is to be established here will be the central office for the district that covers the lower half of the Delmarvia Peninsula as does the Wilmington office for the upper part. Northumberland County, Va., also to be included in the territory that extends from an imaginary latitude line running through Eastern and Greenwood, Del., as far south as Cape Charles.

A complete card index record will be installed in the local office and will allow the merchants to obtain information direct by phone and bring the credit standing of every individual up to the minute at all times. Their plans include a collection department to supplement the reporting work, without any commission being charged the members, and results in cities close by, have proven that thousands of dollars have been returned to the merchants, which would have otherwise been entirely lost.

In the preliminary canvass the active and enthusiastic support of many representative business concerns has been secured.

H. W. Arthur, Sales Manager of The Merchants' Credit Co., states that the company follows a policy of constructive propaganda, rather than destructive criticism, which is a departure from the general idea of conducting a credit bureau. It will conduct its work on the well established fact that by far the greater part of the population of every community is not only honest, but desires to transact business with tradesmen on business principles. The company has demonstrated to its entire satisfaction that when its people learn that in running a charge account at a store they are merely borrowing a portion of the merchants capital for a stipulated period, just as if they were borrowing money from their bankers, they are generally surprised at first, but the logic of it is so plain that a new conception of their obligations to the firms with which they transact business and convenience, is nearly always the result.

That The Credit Reporting Bureau will start out with the full support of the best business interests of the city, is said to be assured, and that the firm will do its utmost to justify the permanent confidence and support of its members is affirmed by its representatives.

FIRST CARLOAD OF COAL REACHES CITY WEDNESDAY

The first carload of anthracite coal received in Salisbury since the strike came in Wednesday morning consigned to Walter Neck. It was immediately distributed to parties already having placed their orders. Other cars are expected to follow shortly. The hard coal situation will be relieved somewhat by the incoming of this first lot from the Pennsylvania mines. However, local householders will have to content themselves with the use of soft coal during the late fall and early part of the winter.

Local Real Estate Agent To Hold Sale

Well-Located Business And Residence Lots Together With Homes Offered by S. Franklyn Woodcock.

S. Franklyn Woodcock, Salisbury's prominent real estate agent, is conducting a big auction sale of valuable real estate on Wednesday, September 27th. The sale starts at 7 o'clock in the evening on East Camden Street on a lot opposite the City Hand Laundry.

Among the property that is to be sold there is included a well-located business lot and also a nice site for a residence on Camden avenue, adjoining the property of George C. Hill and Mrs. Frank Waller. In addition there are several attractive homes that will be put up for purchase. Much interest has been aroused over the coming sale and the bidding promises to be spirited.

BULLETIN GIVES HINTS UPON FIRE INSURANCE

Local Chamber of Commerce Paper Warns Against Fire Loss and Urges Study of Policy.

Helpful to property owners is the information to be found in an article on "Fire Insurance" given out by the local Chamber of Commerce in its weekly news bulletin. It reads as follows:

"Have you ever suffered a fire loss? And when the adjustment was made, were you disappointed because you received less than you felt you were entitled to? More than likely the agent then endeavored to explain to you the much discussed co-insurers clause that is in all mercantile form policies."

"Even if you haven't had a disappointing experience in this matter you had better study your policy now to guard against disappointment later."

"Here is the experience one of your neighbors had some time ago:

His stock and fixtures were worth $50,000. Since about 95 per cent. on all fires result only in partial loss—usually a slight one—he felt it would be a prudent thing to insure for only $10,000. There was a fire and the loss estimated to be just $10,000. So he sat back and awaited the insurance company's check for $10,000. The check came. It was for $2,500. He protested, feeling that he had been defrauded out of $7,500. "He hadn't been at all," said the agent. "The amount to which he was entitled. Here is the way it came about. There was in this contract, as in all policies covering stock and fixtures, a 'reduced rate contribution clause' which made the insured a co-insurer with the company, for it stipulated that the insured agreed to carry insurance to an amount at least 80 per cent. of the total value of stock and fixtures. By the terms of that clause the insurance company agreed to pay a proportionate share of the loss. This share of the loss would be the proportion which the insurance bore to 80 per cent. of the value of the stock and fixtures. Therefore, since the total value of stock and fixtures was $50,000, 80 per cent. was $40,000. He carried $10,000 insurance. This was one-fourth of $40,000. Hence he received one-fourth of the fire loss, or $2,500."

"Had the fire loss been $5,000 the indemnity would have been $1,250; had it been $20,000 the indemnity would have been $5,000. Get the proportion idea?"

"This co-insurers clause is standard. The underwriters adopted it about 25 years ago to safeguard them against paying maximum losses when the maximum insurance was not carried. This practice, it was felt, was unfair to the insurance companies and to the 'co-insurer' was inserted. It is involved and technical and is not easily understood."

Busy Week In Circuit Court On All Cases

timore, is the attorney for Mr. Wallis and Mrs. Walston.

On Friday the Grand Jury made their report on several findings. Regarding the County Jail, Court House and Criminal Investigations the following is the gist of their report. In the inspection tour of the public buildings it was found that the jail was in a very clean condition and presented a neat appearance. The inmates were said to have made a very good and favorable report of the way that they were fed and taken care of by the keeper.

It was recommended by the Grand Jury that a "shower bath" be installed in the jail in the room known as the "dungeon" for the use of the prisoners. This room has not been used for some time.

The Court House was reported on as being kept in a very creditable condition and it was felt by members of the body that the County Commissioners and the janitor be complimented on the manner in which it was kept. The building was adjudged not to need any repairs. The Grand Jury stated that in their criminal investigations they were given careful and courteous treatment by all the authorities and that they had examined 60 witnesses and found 18 indictments.

Another report was made on the county almshouse which included the facts that the main building on the property was badly in need of repairs but that the farm and the improvements were found to be in good shape. It was recommended that a new building be constructed if the almshouse is to be maintained in its present location.

"YES, we'll sell you a car that will take you far," says our Mr. Speed O'Day, "and one that will bring you back again. You'll get your money's worth out of one of our rebuilt autos."

ported by other offers, the peppery Blue Sox pilot declared that he was impressed with the plan at Gordy Park and in addition was anxious to promote the national pastime on this shore and in this community. Mr. Ruark told of having interviewed Mr. Shipley on last Saturday afternoon and that he was highly impressed with the personality of the man as a leader.

Mr. L. W. Gunby then told of having received a letter from a party in a position to know of the candidate's record, which was penned in a most commendatory tone and clearly set forth Mr. Shipley's qualifications. President Ruark was then authorized by the stockholders present to enter into negotiations with the Martinsburg manager, who has now become a free agent, and to secure his signature to a contract after going over a few minor details with him in conference.

In Shipley the White Clouds will get a young man who knows baseball and who has that personality necessary to hold his players together and get the best out of them on the diamond. He is a former college mentor, having coached both at University of Maryland and the University of Delaware and is therefore a warm exponent of collegiate diamond artists. He has also played professional ball for several years. After having thus disposed of the important matter of team management, the members of the meeting heard the report by the President of the Club on the finances. This showed that, notwithstanding all of the hardships and extra expenses incurred at the beginning of the season throughout the middle which is familiar to everyone interested in this city's baseball, the putting of a representative team on the field for the summer cost but in the neighborhood of $1,000.

There is still a balance of $8,000 owed on the ball-park and equipment, the statement showed. This debt is to be taken care of by additional subscriptions to the stock. However, a canvass will not be made until Spring.

Officers of the club were then elected. Mr. H. W. Ruark was re-elected president; R. Fulton Waller, vice-president; F. W. C. Webb, secretary; S. A. Graham, treasurer; Donald Graham, purchasing agent; and L. W. Gunby, league director.

The following men were elected as directors: Messrs. H. W. Ruark, L. W. Gunby, H. S. Todd, F. W. C. Webb, S. E. Gordy, Augustus Toadvine, E. Riall White, S. A. Graham, Fred P. Adkins, Graham Gunby, W. H. Morton, C. O. Culver, R. Fulton Waller, J. H. Carpenter, and Charles E. Wilkins.

The player's committee was named to be composed of: Dr. E. Riall White, Dr. J. H. Carpenter, Mr. S. E. Gordy, Mr. R. Fulton Waller and Dr. A. B. Burris. The committee on grounds, Mr. S. E. Gordy, chairman, Mr. Graham Gunby and Mr. W. H. Morton.

At the next meeting of the league directors which will soon be called the Salisbury representatives will be authorized to favor the raising of the player salary limit to $2,100 and the guarantee price to visiting teams from $80 to $75.

Conspicuous throughout the whole meeting was one sentiment. That was this: Salisbury must put on the ball fields of the Eastern Shore League next year a winning ball-team. And judging from the enthusiasm displayed at Tuesday's gathering and the action taken, the actual realizing of the above objective is going to be no smoker's dream.

BEST CREAM TO WHIP.

The best cream to whip is good, rich cream, from 24 to 48 hours old, says the United States Department of Agriculture. It should contain at least 80 per cent. butter fat to produce ideal results, and be kept very cold. Pasteurization tends to lower the whipping quality of the cream, and homogenization is very harmful to it. Combined they practically destroy the value of cream for whipping.

Priced from $25.50 up to $59.50.

STYLE 2801

Just sufficient slimness is given to the narrow fitted shoulders of this Tricotine tailor. Long lines are accented by braid-bound seams, tapering revers and slit pockets set on a slant. Skirt features the slender silhouette. Skinner lined.

STYLE 2804

The striking note of this Twill Cord suit is its studied, feminine simplicity. The lines are long and strictly tailored. Bias folds of material, the only trimming. Skirt is very flat, front and back. Skinner lined.

STYLE 2807

Straight as the slimmest mode could desire is this Twill Cord tailor with its long, sweeping lines. Very narrow cording defines the seams and suggests slenderness. The skirt gives the wanted straight effect. Skinner lined.

STYLE 2818

There is unquestioned quality in this tailored Homespun suit. Cut on long lines, attractive and pleasing features are seen in the inverted plait down back, patch pockets, snug fitting shoulders and sleeves, skirt falls in straight fold.

STYLE 2827

This Twill Cord model possesses those mannish characteristics which have established their prestige in women's dress. The long jacket has pockets and corded loops for trimming features. Skirt is flat front and back. Striped-silk lined.

STYLE 2821

The smart woman may be certain of her charm in this suit of Checked Eweed. Cut on long lines, it is simply tailored. The skirt suggests narrowness through the hips. Striped-silk lined.

STYLE 2834

The tailored suit finds itself represented in the wardrobe of every well-dressed woman. The trim, clean cut lines of this Tricotine model are especially appealing and distinctive. Skirt is of ample fullness. Striped-silk lined.

STYLE 2837

Much of the charm of the silhouette of this Tricotine model is due to its cut and the long tailored lines. A distinctive touch is given the jacket by slitting the back panel to waist line. The graceful skirt is narrow through the hips. Striped-silk lined.

STYLE 2811

This Tricotine suit anticipates the preference of women exacting in matters of style, by featuring the long silhouette. The severity of the back is relieved by box plaits combined with cording and skirt hangs straight from waist. Striped-silk lined.

PUBLISHERS OF STATE PRESS IN CONVENTION

Editors' Association Addressed by Notables at Westminister Assembly.

Denouncing the tyranny of both capital and labor when in a concerted effort either takes action that is harmful to the public, Senator Blair Lee told the members of the Maryland Press Association assembled in convention at Westminister on Monday that the press of the country, and particularly the county press, has a wonderful opportunity to educate the people and assuage unrest.

Senator Lee delivered one of the most instructive and enjoyable addresses ever made before the Association and the editors were particularly honored in having had an opportunity of hearing him. He was candid and unafraid in his utterances because, as he explained, he is not an office holder and does not seek office. He has, therefore, no fear of a political rebuke.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Senator Lee and Attorney General Alexander Armstrong were the guests of honor at the convention. The Chief Executive attended the business meeting of the Association, the main purpose of which is to place the county press on the State as a business basis with regard to State advertising. A committee composed of Messrs. Samuel A. Shannahan, Easton; Leo Moore, Havre de Grace; and John Finnan, Cumberland, was appointed to confer with the Governor and arrange an equitable advertising rate.

In his address to the publishers after the banquet, Governor Ritchie thanked the press of the State for the hearty support it had given him on his reconstruction program and then the speaker reviewed the accomplishments of his administration, which have been numerous and noteworthy. The Executive stated that he hoped the county press would still continue to support any public official, regardless of party, when that official is doing good for the State.

Attorney General Alexander Armstrong was the third speaker of the evening. He showed convincingly that he believes the public officials need and are entitled to the support and cooperation of the newspapers of the State and that the closest friendship should exist between these officials and the newspaper fraternity. On Tuesday, the publishers were taken by motor to Gettysburg on a sight seeing trip and many stayed for the event. The meeting was presided over by the president of the Association, Mr. Fidelity T. Melvin, of Annapolis. The next meeting of the editors will probably take place in Baltimore this winter.

Those attending the convention from Salisbury were Messrs. Walter J. Brewington, of the Advertiser, and Calvert L. Estill, of The News.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING ON THE SPRING HILL ROAD

Miss Martha Williams, Popular in Local Circles, Becomes Bride of Prominent Young Financier.

Much interest was evinced in this community in the wedding on Friday of last week of Miss Martha Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Williams, to Mr. Frederick Burr Shepard, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The ceremony was conducted at the home of the parents on the Spring Hill Road.

With Miss Dorothy Rawlings, of Greensboro, Md., at the organ, just at the noon-hour, the bride on the arm of her father proceeded down the main stairway to the living room, where under beautiful decorations, she met the groom and his best man, Mr. Ralph Shepard, of Brooklyn. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Robert A. Boyle, of this city. The bride's attendants were Miss Elizabeth Williams, a sister of the bride, as flower girl; Mrs. Charles Engle, Miss Wilfred Adkins, Miss Frances Williams and Miss Frances Price, attired in frocks of rainbow hues, as bridesmaids; and Miss Fleurette Goshen, of Milin, Pa., who wore a cream lace gown. The bride's attendants carried asters and smilax. The bride was attractively gowned in white tulle and carried white roses and smilax.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the guests, which included only the families of the contracting parties and immediate friends, following which Mr. and Mrs. Shepard left for a honeymoon trip to the Bermuda Isles.

The bride is well known in this city and attended Mary Baldwin Seminary at Staunton, Va., afterwards making her home in Stamford, Conn. The groom, who is a graduate of Yale, served in the late war as First Lieutenant in the 345th Field Artillery and later in the flying corps overseas. He is prominent in financial circles in New York and is associated with Johnson & Higgins, Wall Street.

Upon their return they will make their home in Tokeneke, Conn. The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shepard, of Brooklyn; Mrs. A. R. Jones and Mr. Raymond Jones, of Brooklyn; Mr. Harris Tamm, Miss M. F. Burr and Mrs. Ellen Tamm, of Wilmington; Mr. R. Lee Waller and Mr. Robert Waller, of Annapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Waller, of Baltimore.

courses and if the people are agreeably plagued other plays by the same troupe will be put on in the future.

Mr. Pelletier is a young actor of personality and ability. Formerly associated with Sothern and Marlowe in their Shakespearean productions, he later went with Mrs. Fiske and Leo Dietrichstein. Mrs. Pelletier has had an extensive professional career. She served as leading lady with companies playing "Madame X" and afterwards was promoted to stardom, playing "Mary" in "What Happened to Mary." The remainder of the cast is up to the same standard and the company carries added scenery and costumes.

STATE SYSTEM WEATHER FORECASTING EXTENDED

The State system of distributing weather forecasts, warnings, and other information sent out by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture is being continually extended. There are 91 State broadcasting stations which send out weather reports now in operation, of which 20 are operated by leading newspapers. Negotiations are in progress with 33 additional stations, and most of these, which include 11 newspapers, are expected to be in operation in a short time.

"Tanlac Certainly Does Away With Stomach Trouble," Declares Member of Co. No. 26.

Another splendid endorsement of Tanlac that will be read with interest by thousands of frail, suffering people in this vicinity was given a few days ago by Nelson E. Bowen, residing at Contee Md. Mr. Bowen is a highly efficient and popular member of Engine Company No. 26, Fire Department, and his post of duty is Langdon, D. C., a suburb of Washington. His statement regarding Tanlac follows:

"Tanlac certainly stands high at my home. The family thinks no other medicine can compare with it and they have good reason for thinking so, for I must say they have gotten wonderful results from it.

"My wife's mother, especially, has taken Tanlac with astonishing benefits. This in the first spring in ten years she has avoided a spell of sickness and we can attribute it to nothing else but Tanlac.

"For ten years she has had stomach trouble and indigestion and has had to live on a strict diet. She could eat no meats and even eggs did not agree with her. If she happened to eat anything that did not agree with her a sick spell would come on and she would have to lie down for hours just suffering away with pains and cramps. Last spring these attacks came so often and severe we did not think she would survive.

"The month of April has always been looked forward to with dread, by her as well as the rest of the family, but Tanlac has saved her from her suffering this time and we are certainly enthusiastic about it.

"In fact, she is enjoying the best health she has in years and we all consider Tanlac the best medicine we have ever had in our house. It certainly does away with stomach trouble and the cramps and pains that come from indigestion. It has made a wonderful change in my mother-in-law's health and we are all strong for it."

Tanlac is sold in Salisbury by all good druggists.—Adv't. 655.

NO MONEY NECESSARY

It's interesting, educational and fun—looking and costs nothing to try. It is not a subscription contest, and you don't have to send in a single subscription in order to win a prize.

How to Win $1500

It costs nothing to take part in the game, and you don't have to send in a single subscription to win a prize. If your list of "P-Objects" is awarded First Prize by the judges you will win $1500. If it is not, you would like to win more than $500, you can do so by sending in one or two yearly subscriptions to "The American," with remittance to cover.

HOW: If you have sent one six-month subscription and your answer is awarded First Prize by the judges you will win $750.00. (See column of prizes in Class "C.")

OR: If you have sent one yearly or two six-month subscriptions and your answer is awarded First Prize by the judges you will win $1500.00 as your reward. (See column of prizes in Class "B.")

BETTER STILL: If your answer is awarded First Prize and you have sent two yearly or four six-month subscriptions (half of which must be new), you will receive the Big Cash Prize of $1500.00, in place of only $500.00. (See column of prizes in Class "A.")

Just think! It takes but two yearly subscriptions or four for six months to qualify for the Big Cash Prize. This is absolutely all you need. Your own new or renewal subscription will count as one and you can get one more, then your answer will be qualified in full. We can accept subscriptions to start at any future date. To put your subscription to rest, your subscriptions can be either new or renewal; Class "B," if it is for one year it can be either new or renewal, but if two six-month subscriptions, one of them must be new. If you desire to put your list in Class "A," one yearly subscription must be new, and if you send four six-month subscriptions, two of them must be new. In sending in subscriptions, give full instructions on a separate sheet from that on which you send in your answer.

Extra copies of picture free on request.

REMOVING THE MENACE.

Three announcements of almost unprecedented importance to mankind the world over will probably be made in the very near future, according to the National Geographic Magazine for September. The first of these will be that the yellow fever germ has been banished from the face of the earth; the second, that any community which so desires may rid itself of the hookworm disease; and the third, that malaria can be eradicated from any community that has left enough vital force to wage a thorough, active, but inexpensive campaign for its abolition. It is this last announcement that should interest Salisbury.

Malaria annually kills more people in the tropics than were killed in any one year of the World War. This is a staggering indictment against a disease which most people consider anything but dangerous. Here in Wicomico County, malaria is not of itself necessarily fatal, but by helping to weaken the body and make it unable to resist other more dangerous diseases, malaria becomes often a contributory cause of death.

Referring to the article mentioned above, we find that in 1888 the number of deaths caused by malaria in Italy was 28,000. In 1910, the number of deaths had been cut to 2,000 by reason of preventive measures. In one community where the annual mortality rate was 79 out of every thousand people, anti-malaria campaigns in eight years cut that rate to twelve. The effective way in which epidemic diseases were held in absolute check by drastic measures during the World War proves that man is master of the disease-producing germ when he desires to be.

The malaria mosquito is essentially a rural pest and its elimination must, therefore, be dealt with by the small city, the town, and the county. It was recently demonstrated in many towns and villages in Arkansas and Mississippi that from 75 to 95 per cent of the malaria in a community can be eradicated at a cost of from 5 cent to one dollar per capita.

Measures for the elimination of the anopheline mosquito are simple and inexpensive, but effective. They are drainage, filling in shallow pools, cutting channels in streams to obtain a strong current, clearing the margins of ponds and streams, oiling, and using the "top minnow." The average cost of taking these measures not long ago in 52 towns was 78 cents per capita. The communities were largely rid of the disease and gained immeasurably in community pride as well as in saving the business houses hundreds of dollars by not having to carry malaria sufferers on their pay rolls.

The "top minnow" has proved to be a wonderful annihilator of the baby anopheles and in some waters has been able to eliminate 90 per cent of the malaria mosquitos before the latter has reached the flying stage. The fish are not efficient where the banks of the stream or pond are overgrown with vegetation and consequently all such growth must be kept cut away. This, of course, adds to the expense of the war on the mosquito, but it is an expense that is justified, since it costs only one-fourth as much to get rid of malaria as it does to keep it.

The Mayor and City Council of Salisbury have recently declared war on the mosquito in this community. Already committees have made surveys on drainage projects and have reported on them. One of these projects is the draining of the Cranberry bog, which, it is estimated, will cost about $700. This is a small sum well spent if the authorities intend to give the mosquito the fight to the finish. If they intend to clean up the entire community, their efforts will have the hearty co-operation of every thoughtful person in the city; but if the work is to be confined to the draining of only one or two of the worst breeding places, it will, in a large sense, be wasted effort.

There can be no half-way measures. If the war against the malaria mosquito is started, it must be a war of annihilation. Every spot that is a breeding place, every spot that may become a breeding place, must be made safe. It will be useless to pick out a few of the more notorious breeding places, clean them up, and let the others remain as they are. A clear, definite program should be mapped out that will take into consideration every menacing spot in the city, and this program should be carried through to the letter.

In order to do this, it will be necessary for the municipal authorities to have the united co-operation of every citizen of Salisbury individually, and of every organization in the city which has for its purpose the advancement of the city's welfare. Will you help?

OUR COLLEGIATE ICEMEN.

American colleges prepared for the greatest year in their history. In almost every state of the union the enrollment figures show marked advances and records broken.

Yale, Princeton, Wellesley, Union, Pennsylvania, Vassar and Dartmouth reached the pinnacle of their prosperity. It is also true of many western colleges.

Fact is that this prosperity for colleges is due largely to the change in the viewpoint of our educational institutions. Many cobwebs have been swept away.

Today the college means more than the accepted understanding of academic teaching. It means a broader vision of life and a greater understanding of the necessity for the thing worth while.

The college man today is to be found everywhere. He is at the head of a great banking institution, he is a chauffeur, he drives a race wagon, he tills the soil, he appears in literature and ornaments the plumbing establishment.

Sometimes the unthinking criticize the college because its graduates may be found driving a milk wagon and the like. The answer, of course, is that if all milk wagon drivers were college men milk would be delivered more orderly and even our babyhood would be helped.

The greatness of the college does not lie in its being the gangway down which one may walk to the professions. Its worth is in giving to the country men who can thoroughly perform the duty of the hour.

The college is not the panacea for empty skulls. The best it can do is to equip the man who has something under his hat.

WICOMICALITIES.

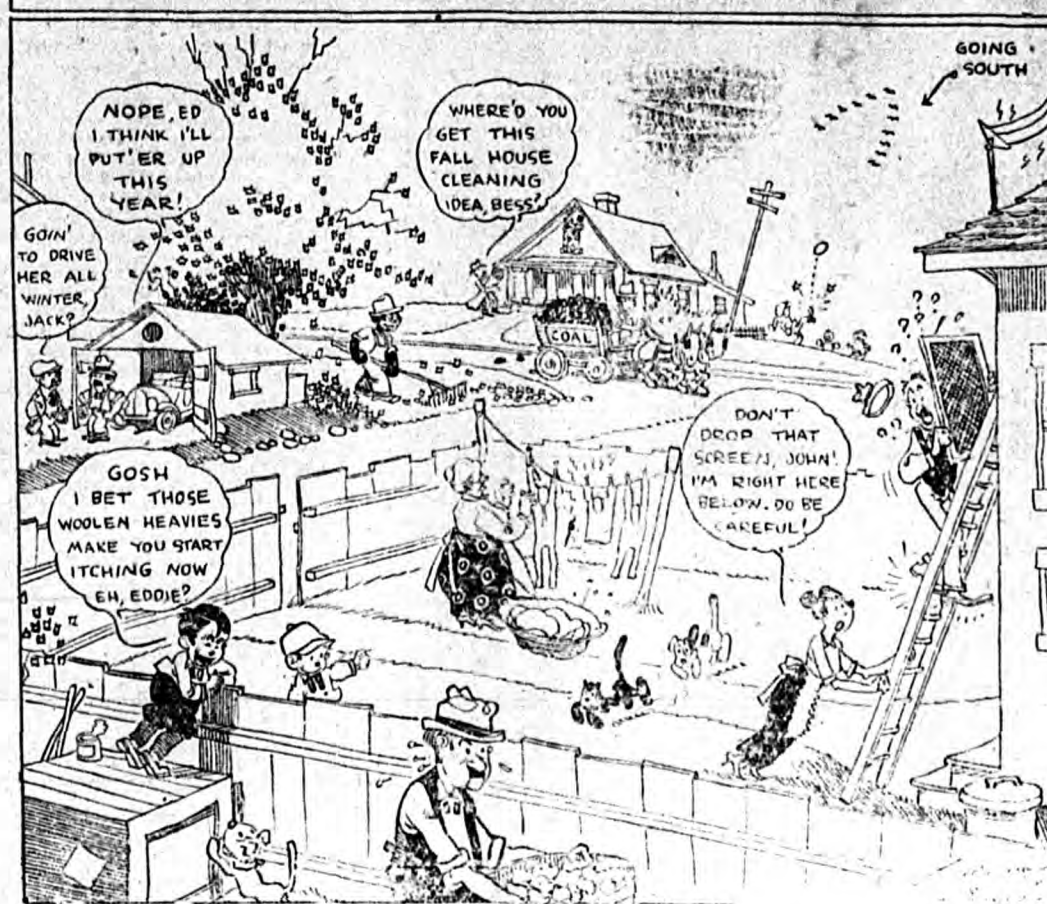

The nations seem unable to decide on the "par" in reparations.

When the Anopheles mosquito sends in her bill, it will be found quite expensive.

Evolution works two ways. Many a man makes a monkey of himself.

The malaria mosquito can sting anything but the public into action.

IT'S IN THE AIR

Richard Lloyd Jones

WE ARE GOING TO BE GRASSHOPPERS.

Did you ever hear of Doolittle?

If some fellow had told your grandfather when he was a boy that in the time of his grandchildren a man would take dinner one evening on the cool summer veranda overlooking the broad Atlantic and at ten o'clock bid his friends good night saying, "I am dining with friends on the Pacific Coast tomorrow evening. I must be on my way," your grand father would have looked upon the predictor as either a laughable romancer or a pitiable fool.

Well—Doolittle did it. And not many people noticed it. The whole world accepted it as a little new item of passing interest. Few even noted the item and most of those who did as quickly forgot it.

Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, U. S. Army aviator, hopped off in his aeroplane from the broad Atlantic at Pablo Beach at three minutes past ten o'clock Labor Day. At 5.34 the next afternoon (Pacific time), he stepped out of his sky-boat at San Diego, Calif., on the Pacific.

Doolittle stopped an hour and seven minutes at San Antonio, Texas, to take breakfast with his wife and mother. In actual flying time, he flew from sea to sea in twenty-one hours and eighteen minutes.

What would grandfather, as a boy, have thought of that? Nothing more than a passing news item of the hour now. We have grown accustomed to startling events.

Some day some fellow will rise up into the heavens and sail all the way around the world. And when that day comes, even that will not amaze us.

We once thought it a wonderful thing to talk by wire across town. Now we talk by wireless across the continent.

We once thought it was a great thing to go from New York to Buffalo in one day. Now we go from sea to sea in a day.

You have seen in your school histories pictures of the little Columbus fleet, the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria, compared to the modern ocean liner, nearly one-fifth of a mile long, accommodating thousands of passengers in the luxury of palatial grandeur.

You have seen pictures of the little kettle-like locomotive, the De Witt Clinton, which was the marvel of 1831 because it acquired the amazing speed of 15 miles an hour. You have seen the modern engine which pulls a palatial Pullman faster than a mile a minute. Wonderful changes, aren't they? Well—

The little air ship that Doolittle lifted above the storm clouds and sailed by compass was but the Santa Maria sailing an uncharted sky. A sky where great ships will follow. It was the De Witt Clinton plotting the path for the up-in-the-air passenger coach that our children will some day use to meet a business engagement or to greet a friend at dinner a few thousand miles away.

All over the skies new lines of passenger ships will fly. As Doolittle hopped from sea to sea, we will hop from shore to shore.

Soon Asia is but a day away. We take breakfast in Buenos Ayres tomorrow.

BOBBED HAIR.

My little niece has bobbed her hair—which makes her look a trifle queer about her upper story. . . . For she was mighty well supplied with what we call the woman's pride,—in fact, her crownin' glory. . . . I couldn't say that she's improved, by whackin' off the curls I loved—it makes her look so sassy! But—when she's had 'em off a spell, she n'ay look sweeter—who can tell?—or, mebbe, twice as classy! I'm shore-an-certain now, that I could never be induced to try to wear luxuriant tresses. . . . I wouldn't want to face a gale, with skypiece like a hoss's tale, or hooked up in long dresses. . . . An' so, that little niece of mine can occupy the front line in front of my affections. . . . A fairy-neck an' dimpled knee can shell my works, an' captiv' me,—in spite of all objections! But, still—there's drawbacks to the game, and little resks about the same,—it's useless to deny it. . . . Therefore—if I was Tegy's Ma, or other dames that I have saw—I don't believe I'd try it!

For your own safety

This winter will you be coaled or cold?

limity of the fall equinox.

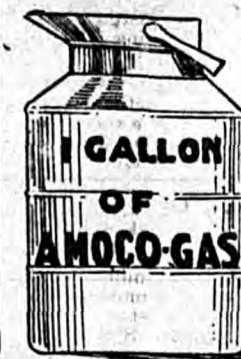

Theoretically the statement is true that on next Saturday the night will equal the length of the day. But as a matter of fact, the earth's atmosphere refracts the sun's rays, causing the sun to appear above the eastern horizon before it has actually risen, and to be visible above the western sky-line at night after it has really set.

The vernal equinox occurred this year on March 21. On the dates of these two equinoxes, it has been explained, the earth is said to be "square with the sun" and that is why the days and nights are equal to be sure. It is at the two equinoxes that the sun's rays at mid-day are vertical at the equator and touch each pole.

While summer then ends this year on Sept. 22, astronomically speaking, the real ending as computed by the meteorologists occurred on Aug. 31. In all weather bureau statistics, "summer" is considered the three months of June, July and August.

BENJAMIN'S FASHION

PROMENADE ATTRACTS

Throngs of Women Critically Review Display of Latest Creations Exhibited by Models.

"Superlatively successful" is the term applied most freely to the fashion promenade staged by Benjamin's for the formal fall opening of his enlarged store.

A recollection of his newly acquired and remodeled store, Mr. Benjamin gave the first fashion show that has been held here in years, and the first show of its kind in point of magnitude and elaborateness that Salisbury has ever witnessed.

With eight models from New York, Mr. Benjamin placed on exhibit more than 60 costumes. In the morning, the first review was held at the store and was witnessed by nearly three hundred women. The store was crowded to capacity and the street in front was lined with spectators anxious to see the models who, after their trip through the store, stepped into the display window where they posed before the crowd that surged along Main Street.

The second review was attended by an even larger number of spectators who evinced their interest in the promenade by hearty applause as each model appeared in a new costume. For the third showing, the review was removed to the Arcade Theatre, which soon displayed the "Standing Room Only" sign. After the regular program, the fashion promenade began and for more than an hour held the spectators in rapt attention.

Mr. Benjamin has received congratulatory from all sources on the appearance of his new store, remodeled by William E. Booth & Son, and has been particularly complimented on the fashion show which has convinced many women that they can procure what they want in Salisbury and are not compelled to go to the larger cities for their shopping.

The models who posed for the fashion promenade were Misses Betty Markey and Loretta Sullivan from "Betty Wales," Agnes Lyons and Gertrude Bruenau from the G. B. G. Manufacturing Co., Grace Ollan from the Superior Garment Co., Mrs. M. L. Bonn, from Blogg and Littauer, R. Giffin from Helfrich, a Fifth Avenue importer, and Miss Rowan from E. Newgass & Co. Mr. E. H. Valentine, of Valentine & Stairs, resident buyers and Mrs. J. D. Hirschberg, of E. Newgass & Co., assisted in the promenade.

OCTOGENERIAN KILLED

BY PARALYTIC STROKE

William H. Rounds in Feeble Health Succumbs Sunday—Was Retired Merchant. Member Bethesda.

William H. Rounds, one of Wicomico's oldest citizens, died two o'clock Sunday afternoon. In feeble health for some time, he suffered a slight paralytic stroke Sunday a week ago which soon "devoured" his ebbing strength.

Mr. Rounds was 85 years old and had been living at the home of Mrs. Ira J. Dolbey on Camden avenue. He had sold his house to this family some time back with the provision that he could keep his old room which he had been living in for over 40 years.

The deceased was a prominent member of the Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church. He is said to have been the oldest member of the church, having attended services there for 50 years, the anniversary date of his joining being September 27th.

Mr. Rounds was a retired merchant, having conducted a general merchandise and grocery store for two score years on Dock street and selling out to Mitchell and Goslee about eleven years ago.

His wife died in 1916. Before her marriage she was Miss Elizabeth E. Brownington. There are no children surviving. After funeral services on Tuesday afternoon at the church conducted by Rev. Shipley the body of Mr. Rounds was laid next to that of his wife in Parson's Cemetery. Many people attended the services and flowery expressions of respect for Wicomico's prominent octogenarian were profuse. There remains a brother, E. Purnell Rounds, of Moore, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Samuel A. Gordy. Many other relatives, including nephews and nieces mourn his loss.

MRS. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Mrs. George Williams, aged 50 years, died at her home on the River Road, about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, her health being due to a complication of diseases from which she had suffered for several months.

She is survived by her husband, George Williams and two sons, Edgar and Elwood Williams.

Mrs. Williams was a faithful member of the Asbury M. E. Church. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Heron, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home. Interment was in the family burying ground at Rockawalkin.

VAST SUM SPENT ON ROADS.

The United States spent $600,000,000 for roads in 1921, according to estimates of the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. This sum was derived from the following sources: Local road bonds, 33 per cent.; county, township, and district taxes, assessments, and appropriations, 14 per cent.; State taxes and appropriations, 12 per cent.; State road bonds, 7 per cent.; motor vehicle license revenues, 19 per cent.; Federal aid, 14 per cent.; and miscellaneous sources, 1 per cent.

TYPHOID IS REGARDED AS BEING CONTAGIOUS

No Longer Locked Upon As Only Infectious Says Dr. Fulton of State Board of Health

Typhoid fever is a contagious disease and may be put in the category with such diseases as measles, chickenpox and other contagious ailments, according to Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the Maryland State Board of Health, while commenting on new discoveries in the field of medicine.

The study and analysis of typhoid fever is undergoing one of the most important modifications in the history of disease, said Dr. Fulton. Always in the past looked upon as a disease with many complex causes, Dr. Fulton said that recent examinations have proved these very simple in nature.

"Ten to 15 years ago," said Dr. Fulton, "we studied the disease at every possible angle, including the growing of crops and the composition of the soil and so on, but today we are closer to the real cause than ever before."

"Typhoid fever may be caught from those suffering from the malady and a great number of those now stricken with the disease have contracted it from mother people. Though some of these germs do come from milk and its products, the proportion is less than generally believed."

"Good hospitals began years ago to put their patients suffering from typhoid fever into restricted parts of the hospital. But while this is being practiced at the hospital it is not always done at the home and as a result the disease spreads when the proper precautions are not taken."

"At present spread of the disease from water is on the decline and we hope to see it eventually disappear. Cases reported in the counties and in the city are about normal for this time of the year."

Now that the department has more time to study this disease more knowledge is expected to result of the causes of typhoid fever, Dr. Fulton said. For a long time typhoid fever has been known as an infectious disease but it has been learned only recently that it is contagious.

INTERNATIONAL DISHES FOR GOTHAM APPETITES

New Yorkers Ever Seeking New Places To Eat Where Strangely Concocted Dishes Appear

New Yorkers have an international appetite. Hardly a dish is concocted anywhere in the world that cannot be found there. Here is a lineup taken from score cards in diversified eating places:

Chinese noodles
Hungarian goulash
Japanese moon
Mexican chile con carne cakes
Italian spaghetti
French pastry
Swiss cheese
Ad lib.

Spanish onions
English mutton
Russian caviar
chops.
Irish stew
Belgian hare
Scotch scones
Bulgarian milk
Et al.

The above is no attempt at vers libre. It is an effort to describe the international and internal complications threatening the anatomy of a human being and what is offered to tempt his appetite in the course of a short round of pleasure.

Those who advocate a back to nature diet would fume, fume and probably founder in a conglomeration of warring powers of nutrition, and yet there are men who eat thereof and live.

On pleasure bent, men have hotels and homes nightly, and taking their money in one hand and their lives in the other, they fare forth in search of something new in the way of "eats."

There are Chinese restaurants, Japanese bakeries, Bavarian beaneries, Hindu hasheries, Greek coffee houses, delicatessen stores and assorted eating places which fly strange flags and mysterious symbolism.

It matters not to the man with an international appetite whether the town is as "wet" as the bottom of the lake or as "dry" as a Saratoga chip. He defies all the rules of health and home economics and punishes his anatomy with strange and weird food concoctions. He eats with the aristocrats and with the struggling riff raff of the world. Then he eats further by going home and gorging himself on the efforts of a French chef, the good intentions of a Swedish cook, or the worst that his wife can do. He eats everything from soup to nuts and washes it down with everything from water to grape juice.

His is no ordinary endeavor. It is a heroic effort in the way of gastronomy.

mic accomplishment. It should win him medals for bravery in action and raise his insurance on ground of extra hazardous risk.

Be it Curly's Spaghetti Emporium, or Nang Chang Foo's Chinese Wayfarers' Rest, he puts under his belt all that is offered him and neither how nor why asks he. It is a daring system, withal, but one fraught with much music and pleasure. It gathereth unto the gourmandizer both fatty degeneration and the gout, but he lifts his chin in disdain of domestic science and his mothers' advice and says, recklessly: "Let's find some nice little place where we never ate before."

Somebody once said, "A man is his own worst enemy." Then that somebody probably went out and ate himself to death. The days of the New England Boiled Dinner are past and spent. They whisper only from the grave of the man who steered a plough and sang sweet melodies to a team of oxen, after which he probably ate the oxen.

ENGLISH WORLD WAR HERO NOW A TRAMP

Misfortunes Drops Him From Riches To Poverty—Rose From Buck Private To Captaincy

From military honors and riches to poverty and a park bench for a bed is the strange transition in the fortunes of Captain Henry Donald Penn of London.

Ordinarily Penn would have been accounted among this world's lucky ones. From a buck private in the army he rose to the rank of captain, and in addition to that won even a greater distinction—that of drawing the winning horse in the Calcutta sweepstakes. That brought him a fortune of $150,000. But today Penn sleeps on a hard, uncharitable park bench on Thames embankment, down and out. He is penniless and consequently is friendless.

Penn's story is a sad one. Perhaps his unluckiest moment was when he won the Calcutta sweepstakes. But for that he might now be a well-pensioned old soldier having a position of trust with some big firm and living, if not in luxury, in plenty and comfort.

Tabulated briefly, Penn's life is as follows:

1908—Private in the British army.
1909—Won $150,000 in the Calcutta sweepstakes.
1910—Living the life of a country squire in Surrey.

1914—Rejoined the army and was promoted to captaincy.
1922—Sleeping, penniless and friendless on Thames embankment.

Penn's career in the army was disastrous.

tinguished. As a trooper in the Twenty-first lancers he rode in the famous charge against the Arabs at Omdurman and was awarded the medal of the Distinguished Service Order for bravery in the face of the enemy.

In 1909 he bought a ticket from a barrack-room comrade for the Calcutta sweepstakes. He drew Kink Edward's horse Minor, and Penn won the $150,000 prize. He quickly purchased the discharge from the army and bought a magnificent country estate in Surrey near the ancient town of Dorking, in one of the most picturesque bits of old England. There he lived the typical life of an English country gentleman. He went to church on Sunday and sat in the family pew. On week-days, like Horrocks of old, he rode to the hounds and looked after the tilling of his fields. The best people of the countryside joined him in the chase. His money was ample for a time, but eventually some of his speculations went bad and he had to give up his country place and come to London. Here he purchased a tobacco shop and settled down to the life of a small tradesman.

Penn tried to recoup, but his financial manipulations went from bad to worse. At the beginning of 1914 he found himself a poor man once again. The war broke out and Penn rejoined his old regiment as a sergeant. His previous military training enabled him to get a commission and he rose rapidly to the rank of captain.

The war ended and Penn was demobilized. Soon his soldiers' bonus disappeared. Now he is a tramp—an involuntary tramp—going from one factory to another seeking work. Ragged and down and out, he avoids the men who were formerly his fellow officers. As an ex-officer in a crack cavalry regiment he is too proud to approach his former wealthy comrades for help. He prefers to hide himself in squalor and poverty and to live the life of "the man who was."

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."

Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

Truly, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eastern Shore League Official Averages And All Star Team

SCRIBE PICKS EASTERN SHORE ALL-STAR NINE

Four White Cloud Players Named On Mythical Team Calculated To Form The Strongest Combination Of Individual Stars From The Six Clubs In Pres. Miller's Baby Minor.

Team line-up: Hewell—Parkesley; Brown—Salisbury; Yapp—Crisfield; Tagg—Crisfield; Flowers—Cambridge; Hammen—Crisfield; Adams—Salisbury; Hart—Salisbury; Hearne—Salisbury; Klingelhoff—Parkesley; Early—Laurel.

In making this selection of an All-Star team composed of players from the six clubs in the Eastern Shore League, the scribe is merely following out the post-season custom on all American sports where a choice is made of certain athletes to fill certain positions in fiction style only.

These mythical selections represent but one individual's judgment and are good for but one solitary thing, and that is, to be the instigating element for rounds and rounds of heated discussion and petty debates on the respective merits of the players chosen to fill the "vacant" positions and the promoting of other names for top honors.

Therefore the team as it stands above is subject to change and is not copy-righted. It is to be expected that but few hours will elapse from the time of reading this article that "died-in-the-swoon" fans will already have challenged the line-up and radical changes will have been made in it.

In making the above selection, three important points were considered carefully in the player's make-up: Offensive strength, defensive strength and team work. The offensive strength was the main basis for picking the player whether he filled an outfield or infield position for it is known that a team's ability to win ball-games depends on its ability to score runs and that next to this, the most important comes the essential requisite of being able to keep the opponents from scoring runs. Lastly there must be present in the combination a potent action of team-work. Harmony of action and thought must prevail in the dug-out and on the field at all times.

With these standards constantly in the foreground, the task of weeding out the undesirables began and there remained as first-choice for the position behind the plate, Salisbury premier back stop, Hart. A veteran of the national pastime with an ability to handle the young pitcher made Hart an invaluable asset to his club.

A dangerous batter, his lightning smashes down the third-base foul-line sent many a White Cloud base-runner scampering across the rubber. Agile in his position behind the batsman he fielded his territory in grand style and his deadly throwing arm was always a deterrent force to ambitious base-runners. He makes a peppery leader for the all-star aggregation. Schroll of Cambridge deserves special mention.

In "Lefty" Hearne and "Smoky" Klingelhoff the mound duties would be taken care of in surprisingly good style as this pair is unquestionably made up of the two twirling aces of the league. Other candidates for the choice might be: Phillips, of Pocomoke, Clayton, of Parkesley and Knowlton, of Crisfield.

Hammen, of Crisfield is given the preference over Fisher, of Parkesley at the initial call because in addition to the fact that his season's batting average was practically the same as the Spud's first baseman, he is a younger and therefore more peppery player and a better fielder. His grace in crouching around the first station often aroused the plaudits of the crowds.

Flowers, of Cambridge, is placed at second because his terrific clouts are a driving force behind any team and it is believed that the short throws from second would eliminate many errors which were chalked up against him in the daily summaries because of his eagerness and anxiety to get his hands on the elusive ball.

Hewell, of Parkesley, stands out conspicuously among the infielders of the Peninsula diamonds. Fast as a hare, this diminutive shortstop fairly glided in going far to either side and cutting down grounder, that were labeled for him. Then he was able to complete the play by accurate and snappy throws from any position. He is the one player on the above list who was selected because of his great defensive ability. The Eastern Shore League had, perhaps, its greatest wealth in the six shortstops. They were all far above the mediocre class.

At the hot corner, Yapp, who started the season with Pocomoke and finished with the Crabs, is located. This star from the Orient, who came from Delaware University, is due a place because of his prowess with the willow and his long-armed playing ability. The Chinaman would be a strong cog in the inner works. Johnson, of Cambridge, came up for lots of consideration.

In the outer gardens, the names of three slugging stars immediately suggested themselves for they stand well up in the final averages. Tagg, of Crisfield, leads the league's batsmen and also played most of the season in left field without an error. Brown, of white Cloud fame, proved to be a heavy-hitting garden and clings on to the aerial offerings in death-trap style. Adams, who managed the local nine, is placed in right field because pitchers feared his presence at the plate and he is a ball-player who knows the game. There were two fielders who would unquestionably have won places on the All-Star team had they been able to hit and they the Mannix, of Laurel, and Janowski, of Parkesley. "Dick" Early, of Laurel, is agreeable acceptable as general utility man.

Flowers, of Cambridge, is placed at second because his terrific clouts are a driving force behind any team and it is believed that the short throws from second would eliminate many errors which were chalked up against him in the daily summaries because of his eagerness and anxiety to get his hands on the elusive ball.

Hewell, of Parkesley, stands out conspicuously among the infielders of the Peninsula diamonds. Fast as a hare, this diminutive shortstop fairly glided in going far to either side and cutting down grounder, that were labeled for him. Then he was able to complete the play by accurate and snappy throws from any position. He is the one player on the above list who was selected because of his great defensive ability. The Eastern Shore League had, perhaps, its greatest wealth in the six shortstops. They were all far above the mediocre class.

At the hot corner, Yapp, who started the season with Pocomoke and finished with the Crabs, is located. This star from the Orient, who came from Delaware University, is due a place because of his prowess with the willow and his long-armed playing ability. The Chinaman would be a strong cog in the inner works. Johnson, of Cambridge, came up for lots of consideration.

In the outer gardens, the names of three slugging stars immediately suggested themselves for they stand well up in the final averages. Tagg, of Crisfield, leads the league's batsmen and also played most of the season in left field without an error. Brown, of white Cloud fame, proved to be a heavy-hitting garden and clings on to the aerial offerings in death-trap style. Adams, who managed the local nine, is placed in right field because pitchers feared his presence at the plate and he is a ball

ALMA MATER TRADITIONS BECKON TO YOUNG PEOPLE FROM WICOMICO

Over 50 Students To Attend Colleges And Universities From Here.
Half Of Last Year's Graduating Class Going Away To School—17 Local Girls At State Normal.

Young men and women from this city and county are leaving every day now for their different schools and colleges. With the advent of September, the registrars of the various seats of learning are kept busy enrolling the new students and assigning them the respective studies.

Inquiries have brought forth the information that over 65 of this city's younger set will seek knowledge away from home this year. And almost half of last year's graduating class is included in that number. All of which should make the citizens of this city and county proud to know that the young people are going forward so eagerly to seek admission in the big college and universities.

First reports of Eastern college enrollments tend to indicate that the number of entrants for 1922 will far exceed that of 1921. It is reported that many applicants have been turned away because of lack of accommodations. The outlook is therefore most encouraging. For the increase of enrollments and the compulsory refusal of so many more applicants means an enhanced demand for the educational facilities which the colleges have to offer.

Each community benefits from the number of its scholars who delve into the higher realms of knowledge. The character of thought as acquired in the university halls is clearly reflected in the everyday life of the individual after graduation. In educational circles there is a growing amount of questioning and discussion as to the real meaning and purpose of higher education.

One would abolish college work in the older traditional sense and confine the curriculum to purely professional activities; but against this there is a decided reaction back to the older view that the purpose of the colleges and universities is mainly cultural and that the professional schools of a university should be subordinate or supplementary to the "college." Although severer standards of admission have been imposed upon those seeking courses of training this year is said to find the number of enrollments higher than ever before. This is true of every class of school. The High Schools and Elementary classes in the rural districts reflect the above condition.

As far as could be ascertained by a reporter of The News, Salisbury and outlying districts are sending 65 students to the college campuses this fall. Seventeen of this number are young women enrolled on the books of the State Normal School at Towson. Six of them are second year students: Catherine Purdue, Eugenia Graham, Annie Griffith, Emma Collins, Clara Gunby and Carolyn Waller.

The eleven who will ascend the white marble steps for the first time with trepidation are: Blanche Bounds, Nancy Dennis, Maude English, Kathryn Harmon, Gladys Hunt, Grace Jones, Margaret Jones, Lala Messick, Ella Shockley, Anna Truitt and Rebecca Wilson.

Next to the Maryland Normal School in popularity comes the University of Maryland. Six of Salisbury's stalwart sons will be at College Park for the nine coming months. Guy Kelley, Kearns Mears and Edward Adkins are upper classmen who will return and spend their "freshie" comrades: James Bounds, Paul Hufington and James Mitchell.

St. Johns and Western Maryland each draw four young prospects from this section of the Eastern Shore. Walter Whayland, of Delmar, has a scholarship to the Annapolis institution and will be accompanied across the Chesapeake's waters by Fred McBrierty, a sophomore there, George Byrd and Winifred Cooper. To the rival college at Westminster go: Marie Davis, of Pittsville, Florence Messick, David Wroten and Chauncey Nuttall, of Sharptown who is a scholarship holder.

Three old followers of the University of Pennsylvania will return this fall: William Moore, of Fruitland and a Junior there, Howard Ward, Junior, and William Cooper, Sophomore. Dickinson calls: Richard LeVine, for the second time and Harry Smith, of last year's graduating class at W. H. S. Maryland College for Women at Lutherville will next spring present its diploma to Francis Malone and the following year to Nellie Pusey as both of these young ladies are going back this fall. At Goucher will be: Linda Messick, of Allen, second year, Rosalie Freemy and Marian Moore. At the Russell Sage Institute in New York will likely be: Mattie Pusey and Mabel Davis. These young ladies were there the last two semesters.

Following is the names of single individuals who have entered different colleges and universities: Bertha Adkins, Baldwin Seminary; Cornelia Wallis, Sweet Briar College; Ruth Truitt, Peabody Institute; Dorothy Ruark, Temple University; Bruce Dickerson, Maryland Institute; Ralph Richardson, Washington College; Charles LeVine, Princeton; Howard Powell, Georgia Institute of Technology; William Morgan, Carnegie Tech.; Phillips Mitchell, Pratt Institute, New York City; McFadden Dick, Augusta Military Academy; John Vanderborght, Gilman Country School; Charles and William Howard, Delaware University; Harry Dennis and Irving Miller, University of Virginia; William Humphreys, Pratt Institute; Lydia Conter, St. Mary's College; Wilmer Guille, West Point; Doane Waller, Naval Academy; William Rawson, Johns Hopkins; Vincent Taylor, Northwestern University and Katherine Todd, Wilson College.

PARENTS LOSE INFANT BOY.

CAPTAIN THOMAS PAYNE OF ELDORADO IS DEAD

On Friday of last week Captain Thomas L. M. Payne, a merchant at Eldorado, died while waiting on a customer, aged about 70 years. He was for many years a bay captain, but for several years has been in the mercantile business. He leaves three sons, Arthur, Alvin and Ralph, of Baltimore and two daughters, Mrs. Harley Brinsfield, of Eldorado, and Miss Enza Payne, of Baltimore. He leaves a widow, three brothers, Ned, Benjamin and George, also one sister, Mrs. W. Hughes. His remains were interred on Sunday afternoon.

MRS JESSIE HALLAM.

Mrs. Jessie Hallam, wife of Mr. Isaac W. Hallam died at her home Friday, September 15th, aged 38. Mrs. Hallam had been in failing health for some time, and despite all that loving friends and the best medical aid could do, she grew gradually weaker, until Friday morning when she passed peacefully away.

Mrs. Hallam had many warm friends, for she was a lady of very beautiful character, always bright and cheerful with a kind word for everyone. Throughout her long illness she maintained the same cheerful disposition and though she had much to live for, was ready to submit to the will of God, for she was a true Christian and had been a member of the M. E. Church since her childhood.

The funeral services were held at Parsonsburg M. E. church Sunday afternoon and were largely attended. Rev. E. C. Sunfield conducted the services. The casket was more than covered with beautiful flowers showing the esteem in which she was held. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing relatives.

Stetson Hats For Fall, 1922

Styles For Young Men

YOU can't blame a man for being very careful about his appearance. When he buys a Stetson he knows that it is the right style the world over. We have never seen a finer variety of blocks and shades than is being shown in Stetson hats for Fall. A tenth of an inch in the width of a brim or the height of a crown makes a mile of difference in the looks of a man's hat. We want to tell you good dressers of every age that never before in the history of our business have we brought together such a great showing of Men's Hats as we have this Fall. When you see them you will be pleased and we invite you to come in and look, and we will assure you that no city store can serve you better.

THE EASTERN SHORE THE GARDEN SPOT AND SOME OF ITS HISTORY

Ocean City Known To Old Indian Tribes On Shore As "Great Waters"—Many Trails Led To Beach Where Money From Wrecked Pirate Ship Was Found.

Ocean City is not only the oldest resort on the Eastern Shore but perhaps the oldest in the United States. When the white man came to the Eastern Shore he found that the Indians had two favorite resorts and to which well-beaten trails showed the way; one was the flowing spring at Mardela Springs, shooting out its crystal stream from the foot of one of the most beautiful hills on the Shore; then there was what the Indians called "Great Waters" destined even in that remote period to become a great resort and now thousands of visitors come to Ocean City each summer.

In the days of the early settlements by the whites, the most advanced Indians, that is leaders in their race, lived in Talbot County and as soon as the white man began to grow crops in the newly made fields, the wild horses belonging to the Indians, running at large gave the pale-faces a great deal of trouble. The wild horse is to be found on the Shore only on Chincoteague Island and other nearby islands on the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

These Indians trailed from the Choptank across the Marsh Hope Creek just below Federalsburg, then across the Nanticoke below Sharptown. Near this crossing on the Wicomico side there is still to be seen on an elevation seen a mammoth cedar, under whose branches the Choptank Indians usually met the Nanticoke and celebrated the after which they trailed to the "Medicine Waters," and on to the "Great Waters."

On the bank of the "Great Waters" they gathered shells and often found much wreckage, but the greatest find was the chest of money described in a previous article. The early white settlers followed the trail and used the fords of the Indians and during the very hot summer days, farmers in Worcester County for many miles around would drive their teams to the ocean taking the families to spend the day. Those soon grew into companies.

The ford of the Sinepuxent was some distance north of the present crossing. All this took place many years before the hand of man laid a board, made a boat for the waters, or built a house upon the shore, but fish and game were in great abundance.

But the real attraction of Ocean City began when visitors began to find money along the shore, some miles above the present resort and this part of the beach was called "Money Beach" located near the Isle of Wight. Following a wind storm from over the sea much foreign silver coin was picked up, supposed to have come from a wrecked pirate ship which had been lashed to pieces upon the shore. Much of this coin is still to be found in homes of people living in Worcester County.

One man living in this county at Sharptown has in his possession one of these coins about the size of a United States 25-cent piece. It has a hole in it and the present owner wore it around his neck when he was cutting his teeth. It was also used by other children older than he. This silver coin was made in the seventeenth century and one piece we have bears the date 1708. The shore, above and below Ocean City, has always been considered treacherous and many a valuable ship and many a precious life have been lost on these shores, so much dreaded by the ancient mariner. About sixty years ago, the "Northern" was lost near Ocean City with all the crew and five families in Sharptown mourned for years the loss of loved ones.

Not many years ago the Government blew up an old hull that had become a menace to navigation and the explosion killed hundreds of tons of up from the shore where they had fish and hordes of them were gathered. Strange to say every fish picked up that was examined had a broken back.

Stephen Tabor, of New York, and Herbert Benson, of Washington, D. C. took up Ocean City for gunning purposes in 1867. They also bought a farm on the opposite side of Sinepuxent Bay. Later John Tracy, a well known hotel proprietor of Salisbury, took up five miles down the beach four miles north and which gave them nine miles of beach. Col. Lemuel Showell built the first house in 1873.

The Atlantic Hotel was built the following year and opened for business on July 4th, 1875. The grant of land for this hotel included 50 acres for summer resort. The first church, the Episcopal church was built in 1885 at the lower end of Ocean City by Col. William B. Selby and friends. This, however, was sold and the present church was built in 1900 on a lot given by Mrs. John F. Waggoner. The next was a union chapel, now the Presbyterian church, built as a place of worship. The Catholic church was built in 1885.

The railroad was completed to Ocean City in 1874 and a boat service across the small bay was the first means of reaching the beach city, but in 1875 a bridge was built across the bay, by the Bridge Stock Co. The state bridge was completed in 1918. From the beginning Ocean City has been very popular as a resort and there has been a gradual growth in population, in churches and in schools. It has had but few dull seasons and since the state road was completed its popularity has spread from the roaring of these mighty waves across the country even to where the placid waters of the majestic Pacific on the Far Western borders of our great country are seen.

Many tourists now travel in autos across from the western shores of California. The railroad service furnished by the B. C. & A. Railway Co. has done more than any one thing to build up and maintain the commercial and social standards of this place, through its advertising, this company has reached people of high standing and brought to this place conventions, political and otherwise, meetings of fraternal and social organizations.

Mr. John F. Waggoner of Washington has done as much as any one man to bring this place to the front, using money and time in great abundance. By some this place is claimed to be the finest ocean beach from Maine to Florida. Its situation is elegant, its climatic conditions all that could be desired and its breezes highly invigorating. Sinepuxent Bay between Ocean City and the main land of 50 miles long and about one-half mile broad at the broadest point with shallow water making it a fine place for boating and yachting and also for fishing, as crabs, perch, blue fish, rock and other varieties are to be found in its waters, with the ocean near for deep water fishing.

One of the questions frequently asked by visitors to the shore is how is it that the beach is not swept away by the high waves rolling in; but here as in many other places on the Eastern Shore nature has provided a protection, in fact it is nature that has made the shore the "Garden Spot." "Twas the masterpiece, primeval, of the great creative God; Once the rendezvous of angels, where his heather was untrod. The hidden soul of harmony, where the Lotus brewed its spice, In lonely, proud magnificence stood the world's lone Paradise."

About one mile from the beach is a long bar from eight to fifteen feet in depth and still another farther out and these serve as breakwater to the high inrolling seas. These bars break the fury and force of the surf that when it reaches the beach, even in terrific storms, much of its force is spent. The waters of Ocean City are tempered by the fact that the Gulf Stream flows nearer to the coast than anywhere else along the Atlantic. The drinking water at Ocean City is from an artesian well. It is from an artesian well, it is the greatest flow of water from any subterranean spring on the Shore, if not in the state.

The generally accepted theory is that these underground springs flowing through permeable beds or strata may travel under ground for many miles and that these artesian wells on the Shore have their source in Allegheny or Blue Ridge mountains flowing below the bed of Chesapeake Bay on to the Atlantic ocean where the flow is lost in the great depth of that body of water and this accounts

PRETTIEST GIRL IN UNITED STATES

Mary Katherine Campbell, of Columbus, Ohio, was crowned National Beauty Queen for 1922 in the Annual Pageant at Atlantic City. She is 16 years old, 5 feet 5 inches in height, and weighs 133 pounds. She swims, rides, dances—and goes to school. She triumphed over 170 other American beauty winners from as many different towns and cities in the U. S.

for the great force of the artesian well at Sinepuxent Bay from which the drinking water is taken that is used at Ocean City. The man who drilled the well many years ago held to that theory.

The season of 1922 has equalled if not surpassed any previous season. Ocean City is destined to become much greater in size and in importance. The place is popular and increasing the degree of popularity it has attained. Its schools, its churches and the high character of the permanent residents insure permanent prosperity for the place. Maryland is justly proud of such a resort with its high degree of excellence and to the Eastern Shore is one of her most highly prized possessions and given this garden spot a name and a reputation that has been carried to the four quarters of the earth and enabled the people almost everywhere to realize what blessings are about us to enjoy.

The Helpful Recruit—"You told me to file these letters, sir," said the new yeoman. "Yes," returned the officer. "Well, I was just thinkin' that it'd be easier to trim 'em with a pair of scissors."—Mississippi Bulletin.

AMERICA'S QUEEN OF BEAUTY IS OHIO GIRL

Successful Miss Among 170 Other Aspirants Is Outdoor Type But Knows The Kitchen.

Being beautiful does not take all of one's time. One can be beautiful and still be quite intimate with kitchen utensils. Mary Katherine Campbell, of Columbus, O., says so—and Mary ought to know.

Miss Campbell is a 16-year-old school girl and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Campbell. She has just been crowned Queen of American Beauty for 1922. She prides herself that she can cook a well-seasoned dish of ham and cabbage.

Miss Campbell was picked as America's most beautiful girl from a group of 170 prize winners representing as many different towns and cities in the United States. The competition was the annual Beauty Pageant at Atlantic City. She was entered as Miss Columbus.

Miss Campbell is a wholesome, mid-Western miss just out of high school. She swims, rides, dances and helps mother cook. She is 5 ft. 5 in. in height and weighs 133 pounds.

Marriage, she blushing admits, is at least 4 years away—although she confessed 7 proposals already. The man of her dreams—well, he should be tall, slightly interested in athletics, good-humored, and not too handsome. He can be either rich or poor—if she loves him.

Coles Phillips, famous American illustrator and artist, and one of the judges in the contest, said of Miss Campbell:

"Years ago the nation was thrilled by the so-called Gibson Girl. In the last few years two types of beauty have usurped her place. These are the type that Flo Ziegfeld has exploited, and the Mary Pickford type.

"Neither of these girls in my opinion really typifies the American girl. Instead, I should say she more nearly approximates Miss Campbell's appearance. The type I mean is rather tall, with straight lines, broad shoulders, a free swing to her body, and a clear intelligent face. She is rather athletic.

"As a matter of fact, measurements mean really nothing. Proportion is much more important. At any rate, the type I have described is seen to the highest degree in Miss Campbell. Artists, by the way, say that the type is produced most generally in the Middle West. The beauties were judged from three points—in evening gown, bathing suit and general appearance.

EXTENSION WORK ANNUAL
Farmers and farm women have recently celebrated the tenth anniversary of the beginning of agricultural extension work in four counties—De Kalb County, Ill.; Sussex County, N. J.; Cape Girardeau County, Mo.; and Portage County, O.—according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. The first county extension agent began work in Texas in 1906. Organized extension work is now being carried on in over 2,100 counties.

AMERICAN ★ LEGION ★

"Beauty Contest" In Paris.

As a "counterblast" to the feminine beauty contest which have swept across France this summer, the Paris post of the American Legion announces a "beauty contest" of its own. Instead of a competition to ascertain the most beautiful woman in the American colony here the ex-dough-boys have started a search for the most handsome American man in Paris.

The Paris Legion post has a membership of more than 1,000. As fully as many more Americans are now located in the French capital the contest promises to be one of the most interesting of the many activities the Americans have engaged in this season. The usual photographs of contestants will be displayed and votes by men and women members of the colony will be received and tabulated by a board, the members of which are barred from competing.

So many stranded ex-service men have applied for help at the Legion headquarters here that the post has been forced out of its quarters at 10 Rue de l'Ellysee, by lack of funds. Instead of the several rooms the post had it is now housed in a single office on the third floor of the same building. The welfare work will be continued, however, as long as possible.

Wanted $100,000 For Match.

Turn Over Club Rooms

Weatherly, Pa., wanted a "better babies" clinic but rooms for the holding of the clinic were not available until the former service men of the town, comprising the American Legion post, turned over the Legion club rooms to those sponsoring the move.

Special Message By Harding.

A special message to American Legion members attending their national convention in New Orleans, Oct. 16-20, has been sent by President Harding through a New Orleans newspaper.

In a letter, addressed to Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States, President Harding stated: "Convinced as I am that this autumn's national convention of the American Legion will be for many reasons the most important yet held by that splendid organization, I am writing to tell you of my concern for its success. New Orleans as the municipal host to the convention will, of course, make the utmost contribution to the occasion. The fine hospitality that has made New Orleans and Louisiana famous, will impress upon their guests from other sections a realization of the greatness and variety of our country, its economic unity, and its singleness of purpose in behalf of the national aspirations. It is most desirable that the men of the Legion, who have served so nobly to establish our country's place in the world, shall embrace every opportunity to expand their knowledge of their native land.

"The nation as a result of the war's upheaval, confronts trying times and difficult problems, to whose settlement we must demand all that singleness of effort and willingness of sacrifice, that marked the common effort in the war. No class of our citizens knows so well as these men of the Legion what such effort and such sacrifice mean; none has proved so splendidly its readiness to respond as the first call. Therefore, in dealing with the problems of today and the possible crises of the future, none will be summoned with more confidence to help sustain the authority of the government.

"It is a satisfaction to know of your plans for special effort, through the 'New Orleans States,' to contribute largely to the truly national character and significance of this gathering. I want to congratulate you upon them, and to hope for your fullest success."

President Harding has tentatively accepted an invitation to attend the Legion convention.

FOOD DEALERS SHOULD INSPECT CANNED GOODS

Customers Thus Protected Against Unwholesome Foods Contained In "Swells" and Other Spoilage.

Food dealers may safeguard the public against unwholesome foods by making careful inspections of all lots received before they are offered for sale, says the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Although the food-canning industry is now so well developed that most of the products put up in this way are safe and good, the safety of the consumer may be still further increased if the retailer keeps in mind the following suggestions:

Inspect every container when you open the case. No "swell," "springer," "flipper" or "leaker" should be accepted or sold by you. In glass, examine the cover and the seam, inspect the contents for signs of spoilage. Do not tolerate any spoiled product upon your shelves.

If a lot shows many swells, reject the lot. Do not take the responsibility of sorting a bad lot of cans and selling those apparently good.

You are entitled to demand a well-exhausted pack, every can showing good vacuum, with clean and bright metal.

Your customers are entitled to the same protection. Even a trace of swell should prevent the sale of a can to any customer.

No spoiled can should ever be reprocessed. The removal of every container showing a sign of swell will go a long way toward preventing food poisoning.

Rigorous withdrawal of all packs showing extensive spoilage is imperative.

Cause of Appendicitis.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.—Adv.

What is your future worth?

WORTH is a matter of fitness, whether it is in work or in goods. The purpose a thing or act can fill, makes it valuable. Your worth is measured by what you can do.

What are you worth today? WHAT WILL YOU BE WORTH FIVE YEARS FROM NOW? Your regard for self-improvement, your attitude toward systematic study, your decision to sacrifice today, that you may enjoy tomorrow, will tell. Take your future seriously. Plan ahead! REEDVILLE Fishing was much better on the creek here this week than last. The steamers have been bringing in "good jags." We have been almost smothered in odorous billows of smoke from the dryers, and we have again assumed a coppery taste. But if the ultimate result spells prosperity, we shall catalog the unpleasant features with other necessary evils, and hope to be cleansed with the rains and winds of winter.

Mrs. Garnett Haynie, of Fleeton, spent last week in Baltimore, having life Miss Elizabeth Haynie's teeth looked after.

Mrs. J. T. Richardson, of Baltimore, is spending a week or ten days with her sister, Mrs. E. R. Perkins, and family, at Reedville.

We are sorry to know that Capt. Elias Edwards of Fleeton, has been sick recently. Hope he may soon be up again.

We have enjoyed beautiful blue fish and fine spot the past week; appreciated gifts from thoughtful hearts. They have been caught on hook and line and in gill nets, and the finest ever seen. Splendid crabs are in evidence here also.

Mr. Wayland Marsh, is having his house enlarged, and making some changes on the interior. The work is being done by Mr. Scott, Fairport.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McAloney, of Reedville, and Mrs. F. L. Jett, of Fairport, are in Richmond visiting Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Thomason. Mrs. McAloney will also be under medical treatment while in the city.

Mrs. Luther Rice, and daughter, Miss Mary, of Reedville, spent last week in Baltimore, where the latter was operated on for bad tonsils.

Miss Mary, an R. H. S. graduate of last spring will enter Western Maryland College at Westminster, Md., this week. Rev. Dr. J. M. Gill, of Baltimore, taking her over to the fine old institution almost lost in the Maryland hills. Westminster is a pretty town, and the College grounds were beautiful years ago. Quite a number from Fairfield's High School are entering Western Maryland this fall, we are told.

Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Dey, of Lynchburg, are spending sometime at Reedville with their mother, also Miss Lela, and Mr. Russell Dey. Mrs. Bascom Dey, Sr., is able to go out for frequent rides and many friends hope soon will be entirely well.

Late potatoes in this vicinity will probably be a total failure, as many think that the frequent heavy rains have caused the seed to rot in the ground. Once in awhile one sees a right pretty patch. Few potatoes of any kind can be bought here at Reedville.

Mr. Graham Evans, who came home from Chincoteague for a week or two is at the Metho dist parsonage with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Evans, left Reedville last week to resume his studies at Randolph Macon College, Ashland. Richard Evans, of the parsonage, and John Cockrell, of the Doctor's family, enjoyed recently a fine trip to Norfolk, and Richmond.

Ray Dawson is spending a few days with his parents here, before returning to his studies at V. P. I. Ray has been traveling for some business house all the past summer.

Jack Crowther, after a few months' here, left on the Plankatank Monday for Baltimore, enroute for his home in Georgia, where his studies will be resumed. Friends and loved ones here are following him with best wishes for success.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Florence Gates is not so well. Mrs. L. E. Cockrell, and little Agnes Burgess are with her in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Covington, of this place, motored to Richmond Monday, carrying Miss Florence McNeal, of Fairport, who who has enrolled at Westhampton College, for the fall term. Miss Florence is a graduate of the High School at Onancock, and spent last winter at some School in Pennsylvania.

Little Edward Nelson Page, of our town is carrying his arm in a sling and bravely making the best of one or two broken bones, resulting from a fall from a wagon while on a visit to Mr. Willie McGill's near Milla. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McGill brought him home immediately, and Dr. Cockrell looked after the little fellow's injury.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Haynie, of Reedville, are in Baltimore with their little son, Raymond Lee, Jr., who is having his tonsils removed and adenoids also.

Mr. Wm. Blundon, of this place, left recently for a week at the Seaboard factory at Chincoteague.

Mrs. Lela B. Rawling, of Reedville, and Mrs. W. R. Phillips, of Salisbury, have been spending some time with their mother, Mrs. Kate Blundon, at her pretty home near Burgess Store. Little Margaret Blundon Phillips has been there for some time.

Miss Evelyn Perkinson, of Richmond, spent last week here visiting Mrs. T. W. Marsh.

Mrs. D. F. Truitt, of "Locksley Hall," Lillian, has been enjoying recently a visit from her brother, Mr. Rich, of Maryland.

Little Miss Frances Leonard Cryer celebrated her third birthday Saturday afternoon last by entertaining a number of small friends at the home of her grandfather, Mr. F. P. Haynie, Tibbitha. Those going from here reported a "good time."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Morgan, Miss Anna Morgan, and Mrs. Shackelford, all Warsaw folk, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Omohundro, of Lillian, last Thursday attending the Chautauqua in town.

Hon. E. Hugh Smith and Mrs. Smith, of Smith, and Mrs. J. M. Jenevieve Smith, of "Sunny Side" Heathsville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lee Haynie, last week, taking in the Chautauqua at Reedville Hall.

Mrs. Mittie Overton has been having many to visit and inspect her very attractive millinery shop recently opened in the Reedville Co., Inc., building. Miss Caddie Bray, of Beverlyville, is assisting her.

Katz Tailoring Co., of Baltimore, had several representatives here last week exhibiting samples at the Reedville Co. Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pearson spent some time last week in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Edwards, of Fleeton, will have an apartment at Northumberland Hotel, of that place, this winter.

A host of friends are glad to know that Mrs. Slater Rice, who has been at Sarah Leigh Hospital, Norfolk, for probably a month, is now very well, and will return to Fleeton this week with Mr. Rice who has gone down for her.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards, Fleeton folk, motored to Baltimore for the past week-end in their handsome Oldsmobile sedan.

Mr. Louis Cora, who has been teaching at Fleeton for several years, has taken a school at Litwalton in Lancaster County, leaving a few days ago. Miss Esther Flynn and Miss Elsie Booth both of Burgess Store, will teach at Fleeton. The former boarding with Mrs. Virginia Douglas the latter with Mrs. C. E. Davis, of that place.

MARDELA SPRINGS

Miss Rebecca Wilson and Miss Marian English left last week to matriculate at the State Normal School at Towson, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Robinson and children, Miss Louise Morsen, of Bivalve, and Mr. Calvert Elliott motored to Baltimore last Thursday and spent the week-end.

Mr. Chas. Gabler is painting the M. P. Parsonage and Mr. Guy Jackson's home.

Messrs Robert Wilson and John Armstrong motored to Oxford, Pa., on Monday last and spent the week.

Mrs. James Hall and little daughter, Vega, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. Lizzie W. Parker and Miss Marian Parker are on a ten days' visit to relatives in Baltimore.

Mr. Marion Elliott returned to his home in Baltimore after having spent his vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Venables, of Spring Grove.

Rev. G. W. Gorrell has started a short series of sermons at the Branch Hill Church on noted characters in the Bible. His subject on Sunday was "Zacchaeus."

The regular business meeting will be held in the Branch Hill Baptist Church, Friday evening, Sept. 22.

Mrs. I. N. Cooper, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. J. Windsor Bounds, of Pocomoke City, returned home Friday.

Mrs. Greenleaf Hearn and daughter, Elizabeth, spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. J. E. Bacon.

Mrs. Walter Wright, who has been quite ill, is very much improved.

Miss Mary Wilson, Mr. Ralph Lednum and Mr. George Waller spent the week-end as guests of Mrs. G. C. Bounds on board her yacht Chisota.

Miss Doris Wilkinson returned to Philadelphia Monday after having spent ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilkinson.

Mrs. Frank Wimbrow, Mrs. P. Harcum and children spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Emma Wright.

Miss Ruth Wright, of Baltimore, spent the past ten days with her mother, Mrs. Annie Wright.

Misses Lulo, Hester and Bessie Bounds, Messrs. Herman and Gilbert Robertson motored to Ocean City Sunday and on their return stopped at "Blue Bird Tea Room" for supper.

Inactive Liver

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get congested, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

At a late hour refreshments were served consisting of ice cream and cake, after which the guests departed wishing them many happy returns of the day.

TEST THE SINGLE CATTLE.

Tuberculosis in cattle can not be kept under control, much less eradicated, if grade animals and single cows owned by families are omitted in the clean-up of any territory. Whole areas, therefore, like townships and counties, should be cleaned up rather than scattered herds, if the work is to be of permanent value and handled in the most economical way, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

NO REST—NO PEACE.

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back, and distressing urinary disorders. Salisbury people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Be guided by their experience. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. Fred Wagner, 422 East Isabella Street, says: "I suffered with kidney trouble nearly all my life. My back ached and pained so I couldn't do my work. It was impossible for me to rest day or night and I often had to neglect my housework. Headaches and dizzy spells kept me feeling miserable and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief from backache and other signs of kidney complaint. I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when I hear any one complaining of kidney trouble."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wagner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Own Your Own Home This Fall!!

Start Building Now

During this very month of September, thousands of families will realize their dreams and will spend the winter in their own homes, built as they want them built, planned to give them the greatest comfort and convenience.

Right here in Salisbury many homes are being built today. Is one of them yours?

You can own your own home. If you have never investigated the cost of building, do it now. You will probably be deeply surprised to learn how cheaply you can put up the kind of house you have always wanted.

We have on hand complete stocks of everything needed for building and can make prompt delivery on your orders. By obtaining all your materials from the same firm, you save time, money and worry. That is why we are in position to give exceptional service to home-builders.

The high character of our service is matched by the high quality of our materials. Make use of both.

The word "HOME" has been called the best known in the English language, because it is there that all of our hopes are centered and our ambitions supported.

The husband and wife's responsibility to their children—and to themselves—is to build a home which is an incentive to the best that is in them.

When you plan—think of a home which will be a lasting inspiration.

SHARPTOWN

Sunday was an unusual day in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The first consideration was a large congregation. The special attraction was the entertainment given by Newton E. Hastings, the six year old boy of Salisbury. This boy, who stood in the pulpit and addressed the audience in a very interesting manner, recited Bible stories and urging the people, whom he frequently addressed as "Friends," to live good lives. He sang several selections in a very attractive manner. He also prayed. At the close of the Sunday School session an offering was taken for him and receiving this he offered a beautiful prayer of acceptance and asked the Lord's direction in its use. Added to this was the presence and activity of Mr. C. C. Phillips, also of Salisbury. He taught the Men's Bible class and made a good impression as a teacher.

Mrs. J. F. Wheatley is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Horsey, of Delmar.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard S. Bennett spent much of last week in Baltimore.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Twilley died last week and the remains were interred in the Twilley family cemetery.

Mrs. Maggie Selby and daughter, Miss Mamie, after spending several weeks with relatives and friends have returned to Kent Island and will reside there for some time as Mrs. Selby has sold her large farm in Charles County, near LaPlata.

W. R. Robinson has returned from a trip to Norfolk, Va., having made a trip on the Schenck D. J. Ward with his son-in-law, Capt. Isaac Banks.

Miss Martha Tilghman, of Salisbury, spent much of last week with Miss Nellie Boudin.

W. L. Wright, of Baltimore, was the guest last week of his brother, John H. Wright.

News reached here a few days ago of the death of Mrs. John E. Darby Table Rock, Neb., on Aug. 3 at the age of 70 years. She is survived by her husband, Rev. John E. Darby, a native of Riverton, this county, and minister for more than 50 years and five sons. She was a native of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Julia Ellis is home from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Blueford, Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. James Hastings is visiting Miss Priscilla Coulborn, at Crisfield. Little Rachel Jane is being well cared for by her grand-mother, Mrs. Flora Collison and her aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Elsey.

A wonderful revival is sweeping Indian Town, near Vienna, Md. The church called "Manship" an old land mark of Methodism. Seats are arranged on the outside of the church and a canvass cover put over them and a pulpit arranged. Rev. P. Reynolds, the pastor, is attending school at the Collegiate Institute, Dover, and during the week, Willard Donoho, formerly of this county directs the revival services. He has some one to preach nearly every night and when no preacher attends he preaches himself.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

Doing It For Others.

From the time the children went to kindergarten they began to make all sorts of things and bring them proudly home to Mother. And each time I would say, "Now make another one just like that here at home and give it to someone who will enjoy it." Often the second article was made in a different color, or the child was encouraged to think out various improvements. If we did not have exactly the same materials in the house as were used at the school, we would hunt until we found something almost as good, or that carried out the same idea in a different way. When I mentioned this plan to one of the teachers she approved of it and told me she wished all the mothers would do the same, for the child really understood then just how the work was done, and in the second trial corrected mistakes of the first.

So all through the school days, the children have made duplicates of pictures, frames, blotters, boxes, calendars and woodwork. Some of these were always given to the school, some were always given for birthday presents. I remember one cold day when the oldest boy had to stay in the house because of a cold, yet the time passed quickly to him for he was busily working on five new pin-wheels that he had just learned to make. Every little while a child's face would be pressed against the window pane and a voice would call eagerly, "Is mine done yet?" The boy was very pleased and proud to think the children outdoors were waiting so anxiously for his work.

Thus practice makes perfect and little fingers and hearts learn to work for the pleasure of others.

The Curl Made Peggy Cry.

Mrs. Ivy was sitting at her living room window sewing buttons on a new gingham dress when Mrs. Baxter came to her dining room window and looked out. "I've had such a scare!" shivered Mrs. Baxter.

"Peggy?" inquired Mrs. Ivy anxiously rising from her chair. "Do you want me to come over and help you?"

"No, no, Peggy isn't really hurt," said Mrs. Baxter, "but Oman nearly put her eye out with the scissors. When I went out of the nursery to empty the bath water, he cut one of her curls off. I happened to look through the door and there he stood with the curl in one hand and the point of the scissors within an inch of Peggy's eye! I was never so frightened in my life. Every mother has anxious times with her children; but when one undertakes to rear another person's baby the responsibility seems to double. Peggy's father is so pitifully grateful because we have consented to care for the baby that I feel even more responsible for her than I did for Oman. If my child should injure Peggy's eye I'd never get over it!"

"Oman is very fond of Peggy," said the neighbor. "I never saw greater devotion on the part of a little four-year-old boy. He would do anything to keep her from crying."

"Yes," agreed Mrs. Baxter, "that is true, but why did he go near her with the scissors? He is never allowed to play with them—in fact I punish them every time he handles any but his blunt pair."

"It may be he had a really good reason for cutting Peggy's curl," suggested Mrs. Ivy. "I mean a good reason from a child's point of view. Did you ask him why he did it?"

"No. I put him to bed as fast as I could and brought Peggy in here and put her in the kiddie coon. Now that you mention it, Oman did look quite puzzled and once or twice he tried to tell me something, but I was so faint with fright I did not listen. Oman is a good child and does love Peggy. I'm sure he had a reason for what he did. Maybe I was too quick in my judgment, I'll go now and talk with him."

It was afternoon. Once more Mrs. Ivy sat besides her living room window. Presently a childish voice addressed her. "Scissors" are dangerous," announced Oman Baxter, looking at her very seriously.

"Yes," agreed Mrs. Ivy, "very, very dangerous."

"When a boy loves his little baby cousin," continued Oman in the tone of one reciting a lesson, "he never goes near her with the scissors. Even if the baby cries and cries because her curl hurts when it is brushed the boy does not cut the curl off. A baby jumps real often and might stick the scissors in its eye. You see, a baby can get over a curl that hurts, but a baby could never, never grow a new eye!"

HOUSEWIVES URGED TO DO THEIR OWN CANNING

Scarcity Of Packed Products, Especially Tomatoes, Predicted As Short Crop Closes Factories

Housewives in Salisbury had better get out their glass jars and prepare for a lot of home-canning, especially of tomatoes. Though it is not expected that the retail prices of canned goods will go "soaring," there is every reason to believe that the old pre-war sales marks will not be found on the goods this winter. It looks as if there is going to be a scarcity of canned foods, especially tomatoes.

It is a known fact that 12,000,000 cases are required to supply the normal demand and from all indications this year's pack will not exceed 9,000,000 cases. The tomato canning season is practically over for the reason that there will be no second stand of tomatoes. The heavy rains during the first week in August not only washed the pollen off the blossoms but washed off the blossoms themselves.

Only about 64 per cent of the packing establishments were in operation this summer due to the fact that the storm and stress of the times has forced out the smaller plants. Another reason why a shortage may be expected is that the vast stocks of canned foods bought by the Government during the war and sold at low prices to the people since then have now been practically consumed. There is practically no reserve stock on the market.

An intimate glimpse into the canning situation is given by the Canners' Trade which says in an article on the subject:

"There is one feature the market jugglers have overlooked, and that is the large number of canneries that have remained idle this season. Some of these could not finance themselves and some of the usual factors were compelled to shorten their strides and leave out a lot of canners they formerly carried; other canners could not make satisfactory contracts with the growers and so decided to close up their factories for the season; others closed down because they could not sell their prospective packs as futures and still others did not open because the growers would not make contracts except at such figures as the canners knew they could not afford to pay.

These conditions prevail all over the tri-State region and down into Virginia, and it has left a very considerable per centage of the canneries idle this season. There are more factories operating this season than in 1921, but please remember that it was the number of idle canneries, as much as anything else, that reduced last year's pack to the smallest this industry has been in a quarter of a century.

"There was a better crop of tomatoes in 1921 when fine tomatoes sold as low as 10 cents a basket. That is why so many growers refused to plant this season without contracts.

"Corn canning is about done in most sections and the shocks now dot the fields where the corn was but a short time ago. Maine is praying for a late autumn and that frosts may hold off, so that it may be able to get its 50 to 60 per cent. of a pack made before the year ends. Maine's corn canning season is usually ended by frost, and this year may be the exception, or at least the canners hope so.

"New York State has promise of no better results than Maine, and from out in the Middle West, even Illinois, come reports that the pack shows a considerable per centage below normal. "The Far Northwest expected to have a heavy berry crop and pack, but their hopes were dashed this season, and as a consequence of this small pack the buyers are looking for good berries. Other fruits are not too plentiful, with the possible exception of apples, and it would seem the buyers have such low ideas of values in canned apples that the canners cannot afford to pack them. That shows wisdom on the part of canners. If the prices do not warrant packing them, let them alone; and if the jobbers want apples, let them offer a profitable price."

SUGGESTS METHODS FOR BURNING OF SOFT COAL

Trick Is In Burning Not Wasting Gas Which Is So Prevalent In Semi-Bituminous Kind

In asking how to fire coal to get smokeless combustion we hear many different views.

With furnaces specially adapted for soft coal no instruction may be needed. But for anthracite furnaces these two methods may be helpful.

Soft coal is rich in burnable gas, the same gas made for gas stoves. If burned this gas gives much heat and no smoke. If unburned it passes out in smoke and waste. The trick is to burn it and not waste it.

Soft coal should be fired first on the right side of the furnace, leaving a hot fire exposed on the left side to consume the volatile matter as it rises then when the coal on the right side is at red heat fire fresh coal on the left side. Repeat this method as needed.

The smoke pipe damper is closed only when all gas is burned off with both hard and soft coal. To close this damper with fresh coal on the fire may send the gas out the fire door or, by confining it, invite explosion.

The system will work in any fire pot square, round, oblong, shallow or deep, whether for a warm air furnace, a hot water boiler or a steam boiler.

If it takes to heat a 10-room house 10 tons of anthracite at $15 a ton, or $150, it would take less than 10 tons of semi-bituminous, containing from 10 per cent. to 20 per cent. more heat costing $10 a ton, or $100, saving at least $50. The extra economy due to greater heat in the coal should save an additional $15, a total of $35 per cent. or $65.

And soft coal makes about half the usual ash of anthracite. No change of grates is desirable.

Reason Enough—Miss Smart—"I don't know what's the matter with that little man over there. He was so attentive a few moments ago, and now he won't even look at me!"

GIVES INDUSTRIES CLIMATE DATA AS TO NEW LOCATIONS

One of the ways in which the United States Department of Agriculture gives a dollar-and-cents return to the public is exemplified by a recent problem presented to the Weather Bureau. This bureau is frequently called upon to give information on climate in various localities especially when a person is considering establishing a home or an industry in an unfamiliar region. A director of motion-picture activities recently considered building a studio in a northern city in the East. He wanted to know whether he could be sure of good light there 50 per cent. of the time. The weather man supplied convincing figures as to the amount of light to be expected during the daylight hours during different months of the year.

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR FUNDS IN FOREIGN WORK

250 Members Salisbury Dist. M. E. Church At Luncheon Meeting Saturday.

ASBURY CHURCH TAKES SIXTH OF $6000 QUOTA

Stirring Address Made By Bishop Fisher, Christian Worker In India—$4,000 Of District Quota Pledged Immediately—Funds Needed To Spread Gospel In Foreign Fields.

Two hundred and fifty persons were present at the luncheon given at the Peninsula Hotel, Saturday noon, by the Salisbury District of the Wilmington Conference, M. E. Church. It was one of many meetings held over the Washington area to take up discussion of work in foreign fields. Delegates were present from every part of this district which extends from Delmar to Cape Charles.

These meetings were called at the instance of Bishop William F. McDowell, of Washington, D. C., for the purpose of instituting a drive for the raising of an emergency fund of two million dollars for promoting the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church in foreign fields.

Bishop F. P. Fisher and Rev. A. L. Grey, both missionaries in India, were on hand to tell the people of the wonderful success attending the spreading of the gospel among the natives in the far East. The latter is district superintendent of the Bikaner district in India.

Bishop Fisher made a very strong and stirring address in which he vividly described the progress of the gospel in India, the present day opportunities for service in all fields and the crisis now faced because of a lack of funds with which to continue the work.

He also stated that although thousands of the natives had been brought under the influence of the gospel, there were yet many still awaiting baptism. For it is the policy of the church not to administer the sacred rites unless facilities were at hand to properly teach and train the converts.

In the coming drive for the two million fund, the quota for the Salisbury District has been set at $6,000. One sixth of this was immediately accepted by the Asbury Church. Sacrificial giving was emphasized by Bishop Wilson as being the only way in which this great need for foreign funds might be met.

The occasion for Christian service is imperative at this time, he added, and church people throughout this country should not be long in awakening to a full response to the opportunity presented.

$4,000 was pledged to the cause after the splendid address by Bishop Fisher and enthusiasm marked the spirit of the whole assembly. The General Conference of the Church has appointed a committee of financial experts to see that all of the funds acquired are used so as to secure the best results.

Rev. A. L. Grey will speak on "India" at the morning service of the Asbury Church, October 13th. This announcement is expected to draw a large congregation on that morning as Rev. Grey has charge of the district in India in which the Rev. Arjun Singh, a native pastor supported by the local church, is active.

BEAUTIFUL MODEL TO POSE AT BIG OPENING

First Prize Winner In Balto. Fashion Show, To Feature Kennerly & Mitchell's Women's Display.

Salisburyans will have a chance to see Baltimore's most beautiful woman at the fashion show to be staged by Kennerly and Mitchell on Saturday when they open their women's department on the third floor of their big daylight store.

Miss Maybelle Griffith, the Baltimore belle, was awarded a prize of $500 at the recent fashion show in her home city as being the most beautiful woman there. Since there was no dearth of competitors, her honors are of considerable magnitude.

Five or six other models have been engaged in New York and will pose at Kennerly and Mitchell's Saturday afternoon and evening. Mr. Mitchell is anticipating a large number of visitors on his big elaborate preparation for their entertainment.

NIGHT SCHOOL AT "Y"

Night school in the Young Men's Christian Association will commence next Monday night and during the coming winter months, classes will be continued on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Professor Hackett of the Wicomico High School will teach Mathematics to the students who have enrolled in these classes.

LIGHTING CONTRACT ACCEPTED

At the Monday night meeting of the City Council, the contract of the city with the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company for lighting service was received and accepted. This company will then supply the city with lighting power for the coming year. The service last year was reported to have been very good under the same contract.

AFTER FINDINGS IN CEDAR GUN CLUB AND WALSTON WILL CASES FALL COURT CLOSES

Declaring Of Ebenezer Walston's Will As Valid Ends Warm Contest—Crisfield Watermen Lose Means Of Livelihood By Decision Forbidding Trespassing On Marsh Land.

Circuit Court for Wicomico county adjourned Saturday night at six p.m. after clearing the docket of all cases, both criminal and civil. Save for a brief session this coming Saturday to complete the clerical work, the Court will not convene again until the next term in March.

Practically all of the criminal cases were disposed of last Monday. For four days following that, the Walston Will case occupied the attention of the court. The verdict of the jury was that, "Ebenezer Q. Walston, at the time of the signing of papers or instrument of writing purporting to be his last will and testament, was of sound and disposing mind." Thus the attempt to invalidate the will failed.

Another case of importance was the suit brought by the Cedar Island Gun Club, Inc., against Lloyd Tyler for alleged trespassing on the former's property during the month of November, 1921. The jury returned the findings in favor of the plaintiff. Damages were named at $1,000 and costs were placed on the defendant.

The case attracted much attention inasmuch as the decision affects a large number of people living near the section in Crisfield, known as Asbury. The gun club was named as the legal owner of the strip of marsh land of about 10,000 acres lying below Crisfield in Pocomoke Sound.

The disputed land had been a common hunting ground for those of Crisfield who gun, crab and fish for a living. Long considered the best crabbing and oystering territory in those regions, it has ever been the main support of many Crisfield families.

Evidence in the case was displayed which showed that in 1882 the late Oliver Horsey surveyed the tract and took out a patent from the state of Maryland. Eventually the ownership drifted along to his grandson, Oliver S. Horsey, father of the Bank of Crisfield, who filed papers in the Circuit Court for Somerset county in 1910.

In 1920 Mr. Horsey sold his rights to Gustave Fast, of Salisbury, said to have been representing the Cedar Island Gun Club, Inc., and then the island began to take on new appearances with the erecting of a large club-house and sportsmen strolling about in search of fish and game.

For years, inhabitants of Crisfield had trapped and sailed the many inlets and rivers of the island in the pursuit of livelihood and were unmolested. When now they were called upon by guards to cease these activities, trouble began to brew. Those who refused to leave the waters were arrested and carried before a magistrate in Princess Anne.

The aquire released the men who were later re-arrested and after being denied a jury trial appealed to the Somerset County Court. At the request of the plaintiff the case was removed to Dorchester county and then to Wicomico by the defendant.

The patent, the will of the late Oliver Horsey and the deed of the club were produced by the plaintiff as evidences of ownership. It was declared by the attorneys for the defendant that the last named deed was written for Gustave Fast, and inasmuch as the club was incorporated at some later date the latter had no case. The same attorneys placed much stress upon the fact that the guard, who was placed upon the witness stand, was not acquainted with the boundaries of the tract of marsh land in question.

This was the first of six suits brought by the club, which was represented in court by Mr. Fast. The five others are filed against Isaac Lawson, William Lawson, Alva Lawson, Herman Kiggin and Carl Tyler, all of Crisfield. Due to the fact that the court sessions ended here yesterday the other cases were continued until the March term.

Attorneys for the plaintiff were George H. Myers, of Princess Anne; F. H. Fletcher, of Cambridge; Amos W. Woodcock and F. W. C. Webb, of this city. The defendant was represented by James E. Ellegood and F. Leonard Wailes. Associated Judges Robert F. Duer and Joseph L. Bailey were upon the bench.

PROPOSES HOME FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

Mr. H. A. Nock Appears Before C. of C. With Plans For Project—Investigating Committee Appointed.

Believing that a home fire insurance company would prove to be a paying proposition, Mr. H. A. Nock, who has just resigned as secretary of the Wicomico Farmers Association after two years' service, appeared before an unusually well attended meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening and presented to the members present some interesting information relative to the project.

Plans for organizing such a company are still rather vague and indefinite, but a committee of insurance men is at work to see what can be done with the proposition. The general plan is to organize a company that will stock in which would be sold in Wicomico, Worcester, Somerset, and Dorchester counties, Maryland, and Sussex county, Delaware.

Various amounts for capitalization were discussed, ranging from $100,000 to $500,000. Definite information was given as to just what security must be placed with the insurance Commissioner of the State and this fact will, of course, determine to a large extent, the amount of stock to be sold.

Until the company should be ready to carry its own risks, it would reinsure in some of the other companies. This would protect both the insured and the home company in full. Mr. Nock asked that if the company be organized, he be elected treasurer and be given charge of all reinsurance.

Salisbury Ice Company Buys Additional Land

Facilities For Ice Refrigerator Cars Greatly Increased By Purchase Of Tract Opposite Present Plant

Purchasing additional ground on the west side of the N. Y. P. & N. tracks at Naylor Street the Salisbury Ice Company is planning to build additional storage having a capacity of six thousand tons. There will also be erected another ice platform, 400 ft. in length, which will be used for ice refrigerator cars for southbound loading stations.

The tract was bought from E. Dale Adkins and Harry Adkins at a price that hasn't been made known. When the improvements are completed the Salisbury Ice Company will be able to boast of one of the most up-to-date ice plants in the country and will be able to easily take care of the refrigerator service on the Peninsula which has been rapidly increasing.

LOCAL COAL OUTLOOK IS NOT BRIGHT

Dealers Give No Definite Assurances Of Large Shipments Coming To City.

ANTHRACITE PRICES PURELY SPECULATIVE

Carlson Received Last Week Distributed In One Ton Lots—Dealers Urge That Householders Merely Take Supply For 30 Days To Avoid Serious Consequences.

Pessimism still characterizes the outlook of local coal dealers on the fuel situation. Three of the largest dealers in the city when asked Tuesday for some assurances that Salisbury households would soon be provided with small quantities of anthracite coal with which to start their furnaces, replied in a negative manner.

The Farmers and Planters Company have negotiated with brokers for seven cars two of which are expected this week but nothing definite has been heard regarding the exact time of their arrival. It is impossible to buy from the independent companies, one of the officials stated yesterday.

Mr. Walter Nock received a carload of 60 tons last week. Not more than one ton was sold to a family so that 60 homes were served by this one lot. This method of distribution will probably have to be adopted in order to avoid serious consequences. Mr. Nock left Wednesday morning for Baltimore, Philadelphia and Wilkes Barre in an effort to secure coal for his customers.

Mr. Marvin Evans of R. G. Evans & Son, stated that fuel-users could help the situation greatly if they would only content themselves with getting in a 30 days supply rather than attempting to store away a stock for the whole winter. His company, he says, is expecting five carloads in the latter part of the week and only small lots from these will be sold.

It is the opinion of William Milnes Maloy, chairman of the Maryland Coal Commission, that it is a purely speculative matter as to what the prices of future shipments of coal will be. In Baltimore one resident paid $32 for two tons and $1 for delivery. The coal trade has assured the Maryland committee that coal will be lower in the point of production, but members of the trade seem to realize, as do other men in touch with the situation, that the real question this winter will not be one of production but of transportation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has diverted every other form of freight to give priority to coal but the situation still remains serious. The price has been set at $8.50 at the mines. The distributors will be allowed a fair transportation charge and profit, and if any household is charged what he believes to be an exorbitant price he is asked to notify the Commission.

Dealers will also be asked to get an equitable supply of coal if they complain of being unable to get it. A campaign of education, to teach people the use of the smaller sizes of hard coal, will be conducted.

SATURDAY MOVIES AT "Y" Movies at the "Y" next Saturday night will consist of both feature and educational films. In the main picture Florence Vidor and Zasu Pitts will be seen in a well-directed play, "The Other Half." The educational picture will be "Farming With Dynamite" and "Multiplying Man Power."

Organization Of Peninsula Chamber of Commerce Perfected Here Last Thursday

Representatives From Other Cities On Hand—By-Laws Adopted That State Purpose Of Body Is Promotion Of Economic, Civic And Social Welfare Of People And Communities On Del-Mar-Via Peninsula.

Representatives from Cambridge, Seaford, Dover and Salisbury met here last Thursday to perfect the organization of the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. Written instructions from Milford, Centerville, Chestertown and Ocean City indicated that the chambers of commerce of those communities would acquiesce in any action taken by the representatives in Salisbury.

Provisional by-laws recently sent out by Secretary Freeman of Salisbury were read article by article and, after revision, were adopted. The by-laws state that the purpose of the organization is to promote the economic, civic and social welfare of the people and communities of the Del-Mar-Via peninsula, and to bring before the people of the United States facts concerning the peninsula in order to secure wider markets, more visitors to this section, and more responsible and progressive property owners.

Dues are fixed at twenty-five dollars a year for each member and the year begins February first. All commercial organizations including Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, Rotary clubs or other civic bodies; all trade associations such as Lumber, Fertilizer, Marble Cutters; all individual firms; granges and farmers' associations; banks and trust companies; and villages and towns that do not have representative civic associations are entitled to membership in the centralized chamber of commerce.

The date of the annual meeting for the election of officers and directors is fixed for the first Monday in February. Ten members constitute a quorum. Regular meetings of all membership representatives will be held on the first Thursday in June and in October, although the time may be changed at any time by the president. The Board of Directors meets regularly on the first Monday in February.

Following the action of the representatives in adopting the by-laws as read and revised, the following directors were elected: Robert H. Matthews of Cambridge; Albert L. Diamond of Seaford; Henry P. Jones of Dover; E. O. Willis of Centerville; H. S. Valliant of Milford; and C. M. Freeman of Salisbury. Mr. Jones of Dover was chosen temporary chairman of the Board and will serve until the first annual meeting in February. The Board decided that the temporary officers elected at the pre-

PASSING OF "LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE" ALL OVER COUNTRY NOTED IN WICOMICO

Closing Of Several Elementary Schools In This County And Transportation Of Students To Centralized And Consolidated Schools Marks Improvement Of Educational Facilities.

Here in Wicomico county, as in all other parts of the country, the old fashioned, one room school—the "Little Red Schoolhouse" which has figured so strongly in prose, poetry and political speeches will soon be in the class with hoop-skirts, tallow candles and tinder boxes. The reason for this is simply that the little country school cannot keep pace with the modern educational system.

Lack of proper study facilities, incomplete equipment, and the custom of having only one or two teachers for many grades are few reasons for scrapping the isolated, one-room country school in all the progressive sections of the country over and Wicomico county in a measure has followed suit.

Three schools have therefore had their doors closed and in two others certain grades have been discontinued. All of these pupils, approximately 60 in number are now taking their class-room studies under more ideal conditions elsewhere. Buses and wagon teams are the means by which these plans are accomplished.

Perhaps one of the reasons why centralized schools were not started years ago is that the country roads in general were of the poorest type and that there was no economical or dependable method of transportation. In many states the question has been solved by the adoption of motor trucks to carry the children in the rural districts to the so-called consolidated or rural union schools of which there are over 12,000 in operation in the United States.

The School Board of this county and Superintendent of Education Bennett are to be commended for their following out of the new program of education in the rural schools under which the child is taken from a little old one-room school with poor teaching facilities and conveyed to concentrated educational centers where separate teachers are to be had for special studies.

Pupils of the former Waterview elementary grades now go to Eden school while scholars of the Clara school journey to White Haven. The school at Farlow is closed and its boys and girls travel to the elementary classes at Pittsville. The high school grades in Tyaskin and Bivalve have been closed and the students transferred to Nanticoke.

Wicomico High School now gets the benefit of both the 8th grade of the Allen school and the 8th and 9th grades of Fruitland. This change in taken care of by a motor bus running from Allen to Salisbury. On the other routes, animal teams are used which are regarded as the safest mode of transportation and which can be used in these instances because the distance traveled is short.

Undoubtedly, the greatest problem now facing the American people is the rural school. Over 12,000,000 children must depend upon the country school for their education and over 90% of these get no other education except in the country school. Recent investigations shows that the average period for which village and country children attend school is 6½ years for the village and less than 5 years in the country. There is little or no equipment for the teacher to use and the teachers has no opportunity to do his or her best while teaching a large number of subjects of assorted ages and sizes in a wide range of classes.

However no improvement has been noted along these lines and continued progress is practically assured. Wicomico's Board of Education is awake to all the needs together with the developing factors for progressive change and the passing example of the "Little Red Schoolhouse" is but an indication of the "Spirit of the Times."

Big Deficit Wiped Out By Board Of Education

Last Payment Recently Made That Clears Off Books $50,000 Deficits First Incurred In 1905

Conspicuous among the accomplishments of the present Board of Education with James M. Bennett as Superintendent of Education is the wiping out just recently of the huge deficit that has been appearing on the books since 1915.

The first deficit was incurred at that time in the construction of the local high school and during the succeeding years it gradually increased and soon assumed alarming proportions. The reducing of this liability that had amounted to about $50,000 was one of Mr. Bennett's first tasks. On September 14th the last payment was made and a clean balance sheet for the first time in years presented.

MOTHER OF WM. F. ALLEN DIES AT HOME OF SON

Mrs. Elizabeth Twilley Allen, mother of Mr. William F. Allen, died at the latter's home on Camden Ave. extended, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. Allen was 76 years old. Her brother, Mr. Samuel Twilley was buried last Sunday at Allen.

The deceased is survived by one son, Wm. F. Allen, and an adopted daughter, Miss Cora Twilley. Four grandsons mourn her loss. They are: Rev. Walter Allen, missionary in India; Lee Allen, Fulton Allen and Albert Allen.

8 CLUBS LOOM UP FOR SHORE LOOP IN 1923

Milford And Dover Among Cities Seeking Franchises—One Of Original Six Tottering.

PRESIDENT MILLER IS IN FAVOR OF INCREASE

First Season Of Organized Ball On Peninsula Considered Success By League Moguls At Meeting Here Last Thursday—Raising Of Salary Limit To Be Decided Nov. 15th.

Directors of the Eastern Shore Baseball League met Thursday afternoon and received the reports of the secretary which showed that the general treasury of the league presented a balance on the right side of the ledger and that therefore, generally speaking, the first season under Organized Ball might be considered a success along financial lines as well as the sportsman's. All the umpires were paid bonuses.

Of course several clubs reported deficits in their respective coffers but that in a measure may be attributed to the inexperienced handling of the baseball matters at the outset. Heavy expenses were found to be attached to the transportation of many players who were given brief tryouts and then released.

Among the important topics that were discussed during the course of the afternoon meeting between President Miller and his associates was the probable expansion next year of the Shore league into four clubs circuit. President Miller is quoted as being favorably inclined toward a larger loop provided certain conditions are agreeably met and taken care of by both the old clubs and those seeking franchises.

It is understood that both Milford and Dover are anxious to be included in the Peninsula baby minor next spring and that the former has already made overtures to that effect. According to President Miller, however, nothing will be decided upon in that particular line, until the next meeting scheduled for November 15. In the meantime clubs seeking admission will be notified to make formal application setting forth points to be considered in the selection.

There is a rumor to the effect that one of the towns included in the circuit the past season will be found missing when "Play Ball" rings out on the diamonds next year. Speculations are rife as to which one that is and what the reasons might be for the release of the franchise. It is understood that Laurel did not enjoy as favorable a season as was hoped for in the beginning. Pocomoke also has been mentioned as the likely city to drop out.

Whether or not the salary limit will be raised from $1,750 to $2,100 is a question that will be settled at the November meeting. There will also be brought up at that time the matter of increasing the visiting club's guarantee from $80 to $75. Election of officers will also take place then. That President Miller has ably handled the affairs of Organized Ball in its first introduction to the Eastern Shore seems to be the opinion of both officials and fans and the success of the league is attributed in a large manner to the Salisbury executive and his capable assistants and associates.

NOTED HARPISTE WILL PLAY AT CONCERT HERE

Mrs. Baseler Among Other Artists Secured For Entertainment At "Y" Benefit For Pine Bluff.

Music lovers of the city will be delighted to learn that Dorothy Johnson Baseler, the noted harpiste of Philadelphia, has offered her services for the concert at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Thursday evening, October 5, for the benefit of Pine Bluff, Sinitan.

Other artists who will take part in the entertainment are Julia Baynard Clark, soprano; Isabel Spring Dryden, pianist; and William A. Sheppard, baritone. A splendid program has been arranged that will be sure to gain the approval of the hearers.

"Musical America" says that Mrs. Baseler is "a veritable wizard of the harp and under her touch it responds to an extraordinary range of expression." The concert is being given for the benefit of Pine Bluff, one of the worst hit areas which the public locally can espouse, and the committees in charge are hopeful that the public will take the fullest advantage of the visit of America's greatest harpiste to Salisbury and at the same time evince their support in a tangible manner for Pine Bluff.

Coal Shortage Fails To Stop Citizen's Gas

Salisbury Company Has Maintained High Standard Of Service Through Fuel Crisis.

Anthracite coal is the principal fuel used in the generators that make the city's gas supply. In spite of the shortage which has been created in this fuel by the strike of the coal miners, the Citizen's Gas Company reports that its service here in Salisbury has been kept at the usual high standard without interruption.

To accomplish this, officials of the company declare they have been forced to spare neither effort nor expense in obtaining the necessary amount of coal. And they expect to provide this adequate service until the crisis has been passed. Salisbury has been fortunate in this respect, for in several other cities of like size the gas companies have been forced to shut down and various kinds of complications have arisen.

Excellent Pictures And Vaudeville Now

Arcade Theatre Presenting Feature Films And Acts To Patrons—"Four Horsemen" Coming Monday

That popular young actor, Dick Barthelmess, is at the Arcade Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. He is appearing to advantage in a film called, "The Seventh Day." Friday and Saturday, an All-Star cast will be presented in a picture, "The Silent Call."

Movie fans will be thrilled by the announcement that the great spectacle of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" will be again displayed on the local screen, Monday and Tuesday. Manager Insley is securing better vaudeville now and the increased patronage last week is therefore accounted for.

MOVIE FILMS TO BE SHOWN TO ROTARIANS

Motion Pictures Of C. & P. Telephone Plant Arranged For By Mr. Carby—Form Committee

Rotarians will be entertained on Thursday evening at the "Y" by a motion picture depicting scenes in the C. & P. Telephone Company's plants. The picture will be shown under the direction of Mr. H. W. Carby, local manager.

At the last meeting of the Club, President Grier appointed the following committee to draw up rules for the winning of the Rotary prize: James M. Bennett, Fred P. Adkins, Rev. R. A. Boyle, William M. Cooper and Charles W. Bennett.

Rotarian Herman Purnell gave an interesting talk on his business and Rotarian James M. Bennett described conditions in the public schools, stating that the work done last year by the Rotary Club was beneficial and asking that the work be continued.

Contract Awarded To Erect Shirt Factory

Romero Brothers' Plant To Be Built By J. W. Windsor—New Industries Corporation Elec Officers

Perfecting their organization by the election of permanent officers at a recent stockholders meeting, the New Industries Corporation awarded to J. W. Windsor the contract for erecting a building to be used as a shirt factory by Romero Brothers, of Baltimore. This marks the first practical step of this new corporation which will have unlimited opportunities of making for Salisbury's advancement.

The officers of the corporation are: W. P. Ward, president; W. J. Powell, vice-president; Hooper S. Miles, secretary; William F. Messick, treasurer; A. T. Grier, assistant secretary and treasurer.

THE STORE OF QUALITY

FASHIONS IN READY TO WEAR

As one woman remarked the other day, while looking over our extended stock of new Autumn Coats, Suits, Dresses, etc., "Why, your styles are every bit as smart as those I see pictured in the late Fashion Magazines."

True, Madam, up-to-date-ness is a hobby with this store. Nowhere, even in the larger cities, will you find more beautiful garments at prices that can compare with those assembled at our store.

Stunning New Autumn Suits

Our display of Autumn Suits is certain of an enthusiastic reception. Women have but to try them on to be convinced that rare distinctiveness is embodied in each and every model.

The quality of the material, the extreme care of the tailoring, the little charming new touches that set them apart from the commonplace. All of these things will appeal to you mightily in these suits.

Youthful suits of the novelty type showing rows of braid, and graceful flaring lines. Plenty of the larger sizes for the Matron.

New Fall and Winter COATS

An early selection from a complete assortment would be wise. It seems there is nothing Fashion could do to make Coats more beautiful than they are this season.

So much thought has been put into the designing of sleeves, in developing materials, to trimming with fur, in ways smart and practical.

Materials are varied — Gersona, Shawshien, Panvelaine, Evora, Marvella and such fabrics.

Collars of Fox and Squirrel, large, enveloping and warm. Other coats use no fur, but are wonderfully smart of cut and beautiful in materials.

Just Unpacked New Fall Dresses

A real combination of style and value. Every one is a very pretty style and beautifully tailored. The recent shipment comprises all the most pleasing fashions that have been produced during the past two weeks. They meet the demands of nearly every occasion, business, street, afternoon, semi-dress, travel—they are trim and good-looking. Draped skirts, uneven hems, novelty sleeves, and new necklines. Colors are Navy, Black, Brown, and Cocoa. Materials of Canton Crepe, Satin Crepe, Poiret Twill, Trikotine, and Kittie Kloth, and the styles are too numerous to mention.

This Store will be closed all day Monday, October 2, on account of religious holiday.

IS IT ON THE WAY?

General prosperity, so long promised by politicians and predicted by prophets, seems actually to be on the way at last. Within the past few weeks there have been a large number of favorable indications that the tone of business as a whole is better and that before long economic conditions may become practically normal.

Settlement of the rail strike, whether that settlement be permanent or temporary, has allowed the shippers to move their goods, to lay in supplies, and to keep manufacturing plants going. The return of the miners to work has given added impetus to manufacturing in all lines and has caused a much better feeling among the public who know now they will not have to suffer during the coming winter.

In the textile world, the return toward normalcy is more evident. In some of the largest textile plants in the country, the workers who have been on strike for many months have gone back to work at their old wages or at slightly higher ones. In the market, the United States Steel Corporation recently made a record increase in wages that will go a long way toward offsetting the increase incident to the high cost of living.

According to the analyses of prominent economists, we are seeing a downward trend for both wages and commodities and the few present examples of wage increase are only temporary. They will, nevertheless, be prolonged enough to protect the American standard of living and when conditions are such that both commodities and wages go down together and in proportion, no one will be any the worse off.

The President's veto of the adjusted compensation, or "bonus," bill has done much to restore the confidence of capital. Judging from the tone of the majority of the press, the Chief Executive's action has met with almost universal favor among business men who felt that they could not stand an additional tax upon their already over-taxed businesses. It is believed Mr. Harding's disapproval of the bill will give a fresh impetus to business generally while the new tariff is already making economic history.

The Secretary of Labor recently made a statement in which he said that unemployment has reached its normal level, and it is noteworthy that even during the time when nearly a million miners and shipmen were not working, the total amount of employment was on the increase.

The effect of these factors will not be unfelt here in Salisbury. Already, business seems to have turned. Buying is getting away from the conservative, hand-to-mouth system of purchasing and stocks in most lines are moving freely. Retail local stores have stimulated buying with their recent lavish fall openings that have drawn crowds of shoppers from all parts of the peninsula. The result is bound to be beneficial.

From now on think prosperity, talk prosperity, but above all ACT prosperity and we'll enjoy prosperity.

NATIONAL BUDGET ON TRIAL.

The new director of the budget, General Lord, has before him a standard of accomplishment the administration points to with an excusable feeling of pride.

The books for the fiscal year 1922 recently closed show the year began with a prospective deficit of $24,468,703 and ended with a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $313,801,651.

The national debt has been reduced $1,041,968,844, and a balance of $272,105,512 remains in the general fund.

It is only fair to say, however, that Secretary Mellon clearly pointed out some months ago that much of the reduction of expenditure is merely a postponement of payments due to a shift in the government's financial operations.

Calm analysis of the results of the budget system do not warrant more than an indication in its favor, though certainly nothing can be said against it. The system has not yet been put to the test, proof of its efficacy being impossible to date.

With a more complete knowledge of the resources of the government now known and a closer tabulation on expenditures that elastic, the likelihood is that the new budget which is now in effect will be much more accurate than its predecessor.

General Lord is ready to report, the public will be in a position to judge the system and its workings and permit to appreciate the ground-work laid by General Dawes.

On its face the budget appears to be working in favor of the American pocketbook.

Richard Lloyd Jones

WE NEED MORE BURBANKS.

The boy in school fifty years ago looking upon the map of the United States in his geography found the vast territory between the Pacific Coast States and the Missouri River designated as the American Desert.

One of the surveyors has clearly defined the state of the hundreds of thousands of brave people.

On that desert land the great Burbank lives. From out that barren wilderness he brought forth fruits that have been the joy of the world.

Daniel Webster was a wise man. But amazement would make him wiser were he alive today. On the floor of the United States Senate he opposed the acquisition of the Oregon territory because he said, "You cannot roll a wheel out there."

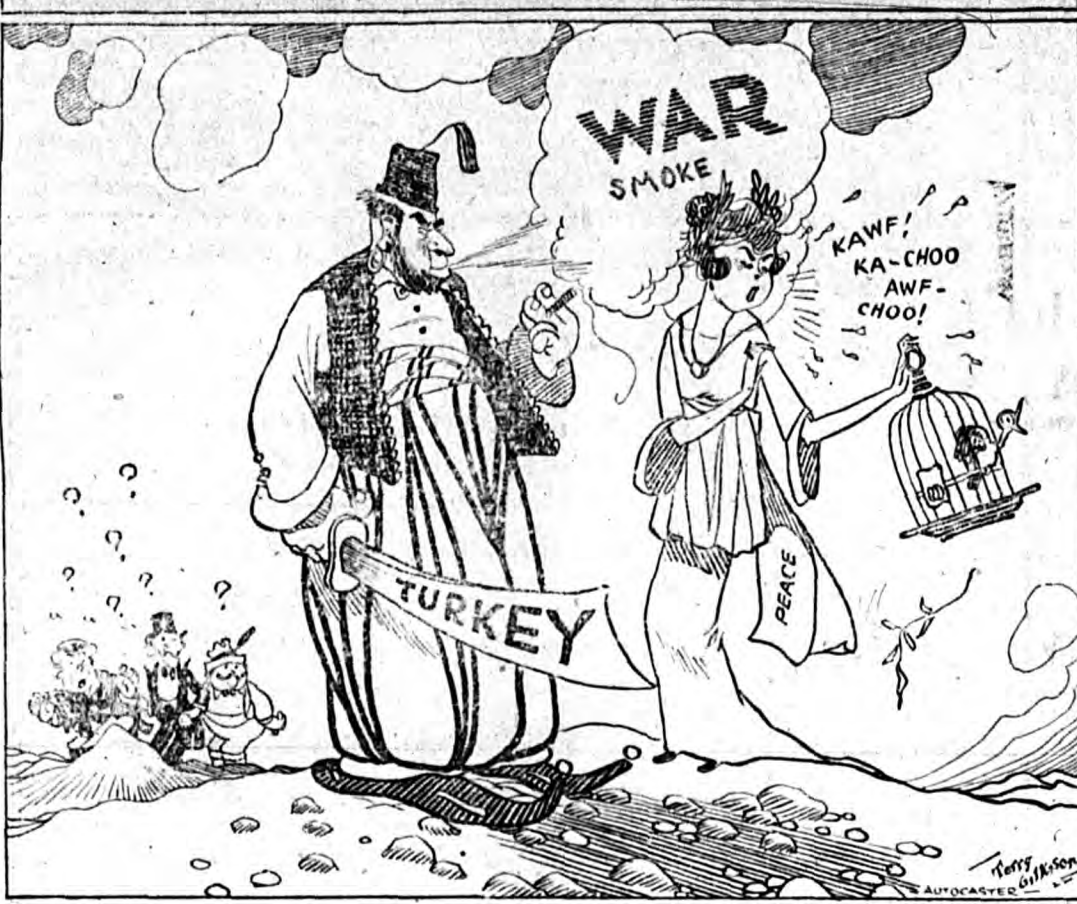

Soon after Daniel made this declaration a fellow by the name of Whitman rolled a wheel out there. On his wheel Whitman laid a load of apple tree roots. With them he planted out there what have grown to be the greatest apple orchards in the world.

The changed map has taught anew the old lesson that all things are possible to the men who deny defeat to the men who dare.

Twenty years ago we used to speak of undeveloped sections as "the last west." As we have closed in on these unsettled places we found the new east.

While developing ways to fertile fields in what was once the desolate desert we learned much. Now abandoned farms in New York and New England are attracting the college trained agriculturalist of the West. The Carolinas and the Southern States about them are revealing farms that lure the lowman, than whom there is no better farmer known. Florida, long looked upon as a tangled mass of semi-tropical verdure, is proving to be a matchless garden spot. Good land is everywhere.

Our agricultural colleges are turning out engineers to irrigate and drain; chemists who teach us how to replenish the soil; agronomists who tell us how to grow better grain and captains of commerce who show us how to make a better product-pack and find a better market. These colleges are changing farming from drudgery to a scientific profession.

Lincoln said, "I always plucked the thistle and planted a flower wherever I thought a flower would grow."

Give us more Burbanks; give us more scientifically trained men, and we have land enough in the United States to feed and clothe all the people in the whole wide world.

A Wish

"I have taken Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak, too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of

CARDUI

and her condition was much better.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard for us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work."

ROCKAWALKIN SUBDUES SALISBURY ALL-STAR

After Allowing 6 Run Rally in First Inning at Gordy Park Saturday Timmons Settles Down

Rockawalkin defeated the Salisbury All-Star Club Saturday afternoon at Gordy Park. With the exception of the first inning when the home team scored six runs, Timmons was master of the situation at all times. The feature of the game was a two-base hit by Langrell which would have cleared the center-field fence had it been a few feet higher. Rockawalkin—2 3 0 2 0 0 0 1 1—9 Salisbury—6 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—8

Two base hits—Langrell, Bailey, Turner. Sacrifices, Vaughn, Bases on balls by Timmons 7, by Ward 4. Struck out by Timmons 12, by Ward 4, by Ingersoll 2. Hit by pitched ball by Timmons 4. Umpire Disharoon.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS.

Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbors.

A. F. Carter, 502 Foker Street, Salisbury, says: "I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and I haven't found anything to equal them. I wrenched my back some time ago and since then, my kidneys have been weak. If I overwork I suffer awfully with my back. When I stoop I can hardly straighten and I feel lame and stiff all over. My kidneys act irregularly, too. Doan's Kidney Pills never fail to relieve these attacks and strengthen my back and kidneys. I know there is nothing better for weak kidneys than Doan's."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Carter had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advt.

Duplex Lighting Table & Floor Lamps

A New Lighting Comfort

THE diagram shows how the glass bowl keeps the bulb from shining through the shade or below it into the eyes of those sitting around the room.

The Duplex Lighting Lamps give a great deal more and better light for reading than the older types of lamps—and, in addition, the soft, comfortable illumination pervades the entire room, something never before possible with a table or floor lamp.

These new lamps will prove a revelation to you in the beauty and comfort they add to your home. Their cost is surprisingly low.

GOSSARD Front Lacing CORSET

MODEL 200

A truly remarkable corset for the average to stout figures. The comfortable top graduates to a slightly higher back to care for excess flesh at the shoulder blades. The medium length skirt has ample fullness to insure comfort through hips and thighs and is characterized by those very flat back lines every fashionable woman seeks today. Made of pink or white coutil.

Sizes 22 to 34.

THE price is the only resemblance between these models and the ordinary $2.00 Corsets. They are designed and faultlessly made to safeguard Gossard leadership. They had to be the best and we sell them with our guarantee of your satisfaction.

If you have never worn a Gossard Corset, $2.00 is surely a small sum to find out a becoming style and graceful comfort such as you have never known before.

If you have thought this gentlewoman's corset cost more than you cared to pay, you now are offered the opportunity to know its refinements at a price heretofore unthought of for garments of such superior quality.

MODEL 202

A very modern corset fashioned for the slight to medium figures. The low top curves under the bust to a slightly higher support at the back. The skirt slopes to medium length over hips and thighs to give long graceful lines and graduates to a medium length, unusually flat back. Made of a dainty pink fancy batiste.

We have been planning to have a gathering that exceeds any occasion of its kind before—

So with the first arrival of real snappy cold weather, we may say to our customers that we have ready for you:

FIRST—

An unlimited supply.

SECOND—

The very latest styles developed this season.

THIRD

The greatest possible diversity in Collars, Sleeves, Furs, Beltings, Lengths, Widths, Fabrics and Colors.

Prices run from $15.00 to $125.00.

A Diversity of Hats

The popularity of our Hat Section with women who are unusually particular is we think, because we so carefully select our hats.

Harmony of shapes, color and trimmings is not so common as one would suppose—but we are careful to make it a feature here; so that there is a "personal character" about these new hats.

Diversity is the keynote of the new collection of street hats—

Large, medium and small, high or low, black or colors and trimmings in unending variety—ostrich, coque, quills, flowers, ribbons, tinsel and fur offer a wide selection.

Among the Regular Gasolines

again proves best by tests

This Paragraph tells the Story

LEXINGTON MOTOR SALES COMPANY OF BALTIMORE
HOWARD STREET AT PARK AVENUE
BALTIMORE

August 21, 1922.

The American Oil Company,
Baltimore, Maryland.

Gentlemen:

Numerous tests and trials made in our demonstrating cars of the different regular gasolines on the market have convinced us that your AMERICAN-STRATE Gasoline gives the best results.

It has decided advantages over other Regular Gasolines. For instance, we observe that AMERICAN-STRATE gives added power, increased mileage, more flexibility, and also keeps the valves free from carbon.

We are recommending the use of AMERICAN-STRATE Gasoline to Lexington car owners.

Very truly yours,
J. W. Horne,
Service Manager.

Cornell

Wood Board

Pure Wood Fiber "Triple-Sized"—"Oatmeal Finished"—"Mill-Primed"
Eight lengths from 6 to 16 ft.; two widths, "Cornell 32" and "Cornell 48"

For Lining Rooms or Making Handy Things

Use the Pure Wood Fiber wallboard

Cornell's super-resistance to moisture and variation in temperature is due to its pure wood fiber content (not paper), protected by a special process of "Triple-Sizing."

Yet the price is low, due to Cornell's low-cost water power and extensive timber holdings.

Don't expect Cornell results from any other wallboard.

Call us or ask your lumberman for sample bearing Cornell imprint and book of "165 Uses," free!

CIRCUS COMING TO SALISBURY ON OCTOBER 6

Walter L. Main's Big Shows Have Just Completed Tour of New England States—Trained Wild Animals Feature Performances—Nubian Lions Lead Act.

The Walter L. Main Circus, billed to appear here on October 6th, has been making its 1922 tour of the New England states in dthoroughout the whole territory, has been attracting thousands and thousands of people to its mammoth tents and shows.

Featuring this big circus, which will exhibit only one day, is the trained wild animal show, presented in two large steel arenas as the introductory feature of the main performances. In these steel dens are presented sensational, death-defying stunts by groups of lions, tigers, pumas, leopards and other beasts of the jungle.

There are two groups of monster

Nubian lions who perform heretofore unheard-of tricks, forming pyramids, rolling globes, jumping through hoops of fire, and always responding to the will of the trainer. A new and distinctive feature is the first appearance in this country of Wilson's group of trained Nubian lions, including Duke, the only lion in the world that has been taught to lead a group of animal actors.

Then there is a sensational feature in the assembling of a group comprised of two lions and a dog who sit around a table and eat a meal in perfect harmony. A lady trainer feeds these lions raw meat with her bare hands.

Added to the wild animal portion of the circus is a group of trained seals and sea lions, who not only prove adept at feats of juggling, but play musical instruments as well. Trained elephants contribute astonishing stunts, and the half hour's program of animal acts is said to be one of the most pleasing features of the circus.

In the main ring every act that goes to make up a most entertaining show has been provided. Daring equestrians and trapeze artists will vie with each other for honors while there will be the usual assortment of clowns whose antics delight the children so much.

AMERICANS ON TURKISH FRONT

Uncle Sam shakes a positive head and says we will not be drawn into the European tangle caused by Turk victories over the Greeks and the massacre at Smyrna. However, American representatives are at work to report developments and help in relief work. The photo shows Admiral Mark L. Bristol, with his wife, and Davis C. HENRY FORD RICHEST MAN IN THIS COUNTRY

With $180,000,000 Cash He Is Adjudged To Be The Richest Banker In World

The Wall Street Journal says: Henry Ford has in the Ford Motor Company the largest income and, if capitalized, the largest fortune in the world.

Profits before taxes for 1922 will exceed $125,000,000. After taxes they will be $110,000,000 about $100 a car. With these earnings the Ford Motor Company could be capitalized at $2,000,000,000 and pay 5 per cent. on that capital.

Ford continues bankers, but with $180,000,000 cash he himself is the largest individual banker in this country, if not in the world. Michigan sugar beet growers and automobile manufacturers have little need for such a stupendous sum, and only a few millions are banked in Detroit.

Wall Street—the finance of the country—absorbs the other millions, and Ford accumulated profits expand and multiply with Wall Street assistance.

In his newspaper interviews Ford says that Wall Street and the gold standard have outlived their usefulness, but his millions flow through to Wall Street at 4 per cent. to bring his company a possible $7,200,000 gold standard money annually in interest. This is more than $6 for every car he produces.

Even a Republican Congress unites to add to the Ford wealth. The Company paid more than 50,000,000 in Federal taxes in 1921. Because of the abolition of the excess profits tax it will pay only $16,000,000 in 1922. The Ford is $34,000,000 richer, though if they would pay more than 50 per cent. additional in personal income taxes.

So Ford continues to pile up in his business the millions which find their way into Wall Street. His replacement parts business is so profitable that he could chop off his manufacturing profit of probably 80 a car and make more than $15,000,000 annually, or $14 on each car produced from the millions of Ford's now on the roads in running condition.

He could distribute this $14 as a bonus to his workmen and still make the $6 a car profit from interest. But he is not selling at cost. He is holding on to profits from interest, parts and cars: $53,000,000 in the record 10 months ended last February, despite the heavy taxes; $110,000,000 in all probability after taxes in 1922.

Henry Ford is a Wall Street in himself, and the few blocks of Woodward avenue running past his factories in Detroit form a companion thoroughfare with the few blocks of Wall Street from Trinity Church to the East river. His income, adding to his boundless wealth $500,000 a day through the busy season, is probably unequaled in all history.

If he continues to pile up cash at this rate he cannot long denounce Wall Street, or the money power of the country.

Henry Ford will be that money power.

KENNERLY & MITCHELL'S BIG DAYLIGHT STORE TO INAUGURATE NEW DEPARTMENT

In Conjunction With Fall Display On Saturday, Sept. 30th Salisbury's Popular Men's Clothing House Will Open Women's Shop With Exclusive Ready-to-Wear Garments.

Kennerly and Mitchell's big opening date this Fall is Saturday, September 30th. On that day in conjunction with a grand display of fall fashion-wear for men and boys, Salisbury's "old and reliable" store has announced the opening of a ladies ready-to-wear clothing department on the spacious and attractive third floor of the big building. The entire building will be given over to the entertainment of visitors in both afternoon and evening and there will be music by an orchestra.

This modern day-light store for years has been catering to the highest class of patronage with its well-equipped stock of men's clothing. Its reputation as the leading store of its kind on the Delmarvia Peninsula has drawn customers from all sections until today Kennerly and Mitchell stands pre-eminently in a class by itself as a leader in the clothing and outfitting of men and boys.

It is therefore with interest that one learns of the plan of this firm to add to its accomplishments in the mercantile world by the installation of a complete ladies' department on a par with the hitherto established trade in men's and boy's clothing. The third floor has been gone over in detail by interior decorators and no stone has been left unturned to arrange everything in excellent shape for the new outfit.

The entire space has been attractively prepared and along each side will be installed imposing wardrobes and clothing cases with mirrored alcoves. Show tables, roomy shelves and other display furnishing will complete the equipment. The color scheme will be that of a rich gray which will be enhanced by the special fixtures and style of ceiling with deep soft rugs adding their air of comfort and fineness to the tone of the surroundings.

Quite naturally the customer will be well cared for as has been the policy of the store officials from the very start. And in selecting their styles and fashions the ladies will find that the goods before them represent the best that can be had and are the products of the leading manufacturers in the country.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx coats for women will be featured. The standard lines of stock which have been exclusively handled in the men's department of Kennerly and Mitchell will be presented also in the ladies department. This policy of only selling the well-known brands of goods at moderate prices is certainly worthy of success.

There will be no millinery displays, only ladies' ready-to-wear garments. Miss Virginia Brewington, who has a number of years experience in Salisbury in this field will be at the head of the new department and will be assisted by an able sales force. Laying great stress upon the fitting of the various garments upon the prospective purchasers, the store heads have secured a high-grade and fashionable dress-maker, Mrs. C. E.

Same Old Story But a Good One.

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."—Adv.

AMERICAN LEGION

Special Offer to Heroes

Wives of congressional medal of honor men have been invited to accompany their husbands to the American Legion national convention in New Orleans, October 16-20. Their expenses will be paid by the Legion convention committee.

Reserve Parking Yards

The entire capacity of the parking yards of the Illinois Central and Louisville and Nashville railroads in New Orleans has been reserved by prospective visitors to the American Legion national convention in New Orleans, October 16-20. Funds for the entertainment project were raised at a Labor Day celebration.

Panama Products Exhibit

An exhibition of products and industries of Panama will be brought to New Orleans during the American Legion national convention, October 16-20. The exhibit will represent an outlay of several thousand dollars. It will include a special edition of the "Panama Canal Observation Post," a Legion publication which will issue 50,000 copies of a 32-page newspaper.

Wants to Locate Brother

Virgil E. Goldsmith, attached to the U. S. S. Huron, flagship of the American Asiatic fleet, has asked the American Legion to help locate his brother, William A. Goldsmith, a discharged sailor who has not been heard from since September, 1919. At that time Goldsmith was employed in Lafayette, Ind. His brother believes he is somewhere in the West on in Alaska.

Legion Stamps on Letters

All letters leaving the New Orleans postoffice will advertise the American Legion national convention, October 16-20, convention headquarters here has been advised.

Four special die hubs, operating on canceling machines in the post office will bear the following legend: "American Legion National Convention, October 16-20. The postoffice ruling means that the Legion stamp will appear on 300,000 pieces of first-class mail daily, sent out from the New Orleans office to all parts of the country."

Anzacs As Honor Guard

A guard of honor composed of members of the Australian Imperial Forces similar to the one that escorted the 27th division in their parade through the streets of New York, will march in the American Legion national convention parade in New Orleans, October 16-20. All Anzacs wishing to participate in the parade are asked to communicate with Staff Sergeant E. J. Beck, postoffice box 856, New Orleans.

Clean-Up Committee Busy

Members of the "clean-up" committee of the New Orleans Association of Commerce will concentrate their efforts on beautifying the city for the American Legion national convention, October 16-20. Superintendent of Police Molony will enforce the ordinance prohibiting the littering of the streets with paper and trash. The committee will compile all ordinances bearing on this phase of the clean-up campaign, with a view of obtaining general observance of all sanitary laws.

Cares for Stranded Buddies

During the last eight months the Kankakee, Ill., American Legion post cared for 250 ex-service men who became stranded in the town. In addition it investigated a large number of cases which proved fraudulent and drove out 85 fakers who were endeavoring to enlist sympathy and obtain money under false representation.

"Mother" Reaches France

Mrs. D. H. Davison, known as "Mother" Davison to thousands of American Legion men, has arrived in France with the party of Legion pilgrims who are touring the overseas battlefields. She brought with her from the states a letter from Gen. Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces in Germany. Mrs. Davison will stage several entertainments for "my boys" while in Coblenz.

To Rededicate Fort

Major General John A. Lejeune of the United States Marine Corps, is expected to rededicate the historic Spanish Fort to the memory of those garrisons which protected the northern entrance of New Orleans from roving buccaners and hostile Indians in the days of Spanish dominion of Louisiana, during his visit to the American Legion national convention. General Lejeune, who led the Fifth Marines in the World War, is a native of Louisiana, and it is considered peculiarly fitting that he should officiate at the ceremonies commemorating the faithful performance of hazardous duty by the early garrisons of the fort.

A detail of marines and the New Orleans marine band will assist in the dedication exercises, which will take place, October 18. Immediately after the ceremonies a banquet will be given to General Lejeune and national Legion officers.

Spanish Fort was built in 1788 by Governor De Ulloa to guard the mouth of Bayou St. John and Lake Pontchartrain against pirates and hostile Indians. The old fort still stands, a grim and silent relic of more adventurous days and hardy people.

State Headquarters Selected

Headquarters for the various departments, American Legion Auxiliary and the American Legion in New Orleans during the national convention, October 16-20, have been selected according to an announcement received from convention headquarters.

American Legion national headquarters will be at the Hotel Grunwald, which will also accommodate the distinguished guests and the following state departments: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Canada, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Washington, Texas and Wyoming.

The St. Charles Hotel will be departmental headquarters for the following: Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North and South Carolina, North and South Dakota, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Virginia, Vermont and Wisconsin.

The Monteleone Hotel will house the delegations and be departmental headquarters for Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Mexico, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Panama, Philippine Islands and Utah. The delegation from Tennessee and a number of crack military organizations will be cared for at the Planters Hotel.

American Legion Auxiliary national headquarters will be at the Bienville Hotel, which will also house the distinguished guests of that organization.

SNAKE BITE DEATHS RARE IN OUR LAND

Relatively Few Persons Encounter Or Are Bitten By Dangerous Species Of Country

Although the average mortality from American venomous snakes is a little more than 10 per cent of the persons bitten, death from snake bites is quite rare, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, because relatively few persons encounter or are bitten by the dangerous species.

The most venomous of our native snakes live in lonely, little-settled districts, often on stony or swampy land that can not be cultivated. Usually they disappear at the approach of man and while they may strike if provoked, the popular belief in respect to the distance they can strike is erroneous. Three-fourths of their own length is about the greatest distance possible. If the legs are well protected when one is going into deep woods or places known to be infested by rattlers or other poisonous snakes, there is slight chance of being bitten.

As the food of snakes consists of living prey, they cannot be killed by poisoned baits. The only method thus far devised to kill them seems to be clubbing or shooting. This is best done in early spring, when they are still sluggish after the winter hibernation. Allowing hogs to run on infested land may reduce the number of snakes. However, the popular idea that hogs are immune to snake bite is probably based on the impenetrability by the venomous frangs of their thick skin and fat layer rather than on actual immunity of these animals.

The varieties most commonly found in this country are the Elapidae, or Harlequin snakes, and the Crotalidae, or "pit vipers," which include rattlesnakes, cotton-mouth water moccasins and copperheads.

Today's News Too Big for Printed Word, Hence News-Photos and Cartoons

The cameras of the Publishers Autocaster Service circle the world. This paper only has the right to print Autocaster pictures in this territory. The biggest dailies in the country can run no more striking photos than are now available to the readers of this paper, through our ability to make cuts in our own plant.

You'll always like the Autocaster cartoons and comics.

Our Job Office Equipment Has Been Greatly Added to by Autocaster Cuts

We do posters, calendars, hand bills, office forms and all kinds of the job printing.

We do this work well, and just a lot better by reason of the fact that as the holder of the Autocaster franchise our job illustration and type equipment is constantly being built up.

Come in and see our Autocaster Stereotyping Machine working and you'll understand how we can furnish cuts without increasing cost.

REEDVILLE

Many people here have felt a sense of personal loss, and sincere grief in the recent death of Col. Robert E. Lee, Jr., Ravensworth, the old Lee home in Fairfax Co. Col. Lee was well-known here, having made splendid addresses at both Reedville and Heathsville, upon U. S. occasions, and also speaking to the young people at Reedville High School. He had been a welcome visitor in the homes of Mr. J. C. Jett, at Fleeton, Mr. William Blunder, and Mr. T. H. Jett, of Reedville, and Rev. T. S. D. Govington, of Llan. Colonel Lee had the traits which have always been found in the Lee family; gentleness, tenderness, manliness and chivalry, entirely free from undue pride and ever courteous. We loved him for his own sake, as well as for the line of illustrious men from which he came. The son of William Henry Fitzhugh Lee, the grandson of General Robert Edward Lee and great grandson of Light-Horse Harry Lee, his loss indeed is great. Col. Lee was laid to rest in the Lee mausoleum at Washington and Lee University, after a funeral in the Episcopal Church at Lexington. May he rest in peace.

Thomas Blackwell, of Sunnybank, Robbery Reamy, of Burgess Store and a son of Dr. Booker, of Lottsburg, are school mates at Chatham Virginia, this winter. Dr. Booker took them over last week.

Misses Media Williams, of Reedville, and Elizabeth Coleman, of Tibitha, have returned to Fairville for their second year.

Mr. Beverly Robinson, of Beverlyville, made a business trip to Baltimore last week.

Mrs. Treadie, who has been spending the summer at Fairport, while her husband is engaged in fishing, took her little son, Ronald, to Baltimore recently to have his tonsils removed.

Mrs. Rebecca Haynie, of Hack's Neck is with her aunt, Mrs. Luther Rice, again this winter, attending Reedville High School.

Miss Mildred Towles, of this place, left last week for Baltimore, where she will enroll at Goucher College, for the coming term. Desired was a letter of R. H. S. last spring and the winner of the Scholarship medal. She will doubtless do good work at Goucher.

An interesting reception was held at Reedville High School last Friday evening in honor of the faculty; and to inaugurate the year's work in this friendly, get-together way. The reception hall had been decorated in most attractive manner. Golden rod and Broom sedge being combined with graceful effect. Mrs. C. E. Davis of Fleeton, president of the School League, presided, making a very good talk in the interest of school work. Rev. R. N. Brooking, of Fleeton, followed with prayer; after which a stirring and earnest talks were made by Rev. W. R. Evans and Dr. L. E. Cockrell, in regards to the dreadfully crowded conditions at Reedville High School, the woeful lack of room, and the inadequate equipment for successful work. The new principle, Mr. Wornack, was also heard, voicing his surprise at finding how poorly the school building compared with other indications of prosperity and wealth to be seen in the town. A committee was appointed to see what can be done to improve matters but of this we shall speak sometime later. The entire faculty also Mrs. Wornack, were present, and given a cordial welcome. Cake and coffee were served and a very pleasant time spent.

Rev. W. R. Evans was at Melrose, this week, assisting Rev. J. S. Wallace in a revival meeting.

Mrs. John A. Palmer, Jr., of Fleeton, entertained a number of young friends at her home, on Saturday evening last in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Miss Louise Worthington Palmer. After attending the movies at Reedville, as guests of the hostess, the young folks were delighted to be entertained at the Palmer home where refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Misses Mildred Towles, Flora Jett, Virginia Douglas, Mildred Edwards, Elizabeth Evans, Miriam Evans, Margaret Davis, Waring Jett, William McCullough, Jack Crowther, Granville Carey, Lewis Haynie, Urban Haynie and Thomas Blackwell. Miss Louise Palmer and John Palmer completed the happy party.

Miss Florence Carey, of Lillian, left for Norfolk, Saturday, where she will teach again this winter. Miss Frances Carey, who also taught in Norfolk last term, will be a member of the Reedville High School faculty this fall.

Thomas Williams, of the T. J. Williams family, on the Tibitha road, accompanied Mr. T. H. Jett to Chincoteague last week, and will remain the rest of the season. Lawrence Haynie, of the Seaboard colony, was here last week for a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Otho Haynie, and family, of Baltimore, also Miss Ellen Haynie, and friends, are here at this time.

Fishing has been almost nothing on the creek the past week. Northeast winds have been keeping the steamers in harbor most of the time. A great deal depends on the fishing in this section. Our spirits rise and fall in harmony with the catch of the all important "bunker", who plays an important part in the prosperity, and well-being of this tide-water country. This has been a poor season so far, but we are hoping for better results during the fall.

Mr. T. H. Fallin, of Coan, was on the Potomac Thursday, enroute to Crisfield and Eastern points.

Mrs. S. O. Butler, of this place, is in Washington, visiting her sister and other relatives.

Mr. George N. Reed, Mrs. John R. Hinton, and little daughter, Lillian Nelson, are in Richmond this week, visiting Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Randolph.

Mr. Hinton had been quite sick here for several weeks, under the medical of Dr. L. Hudnall, of Beverlyville, and nursed by Miss Robinson, from Heathsville. Many friends are glad to know that he was well enough to travel, and are hoping soon to hear that he is entirely well again.

Mrs. J. Clarence Jett, of Fleeton, has been sick again this week, to the sorrow of many friends.

Mr. S. Frank Otwell, of Reedville, member of the new County School Board from Fairfields District, was at Heathsville Thursday, attending a meeting. All the schools are laboring under very crowded conditions; it seems, with a larger enrollment than ever before. Here at Reedville High School one grade has from fifty to fifty-five children in it, with three children packed in desks intended for two and two crowded in single desks. This of course is very wrong, and will be remedied as soon as possible. More teachers could be obtained, if room could be found.

THE CREDIT MEN ARE HERE

HOW WILL YOU BE RATED?

If you owe any past due accounts, pay them, do it now, so you will be well rated.

This association keeps the merchants informed at all times as to just how you pay your bills.

It is built on constructive lines.

It makes the poor but honest man's credit as good as that of the rich. It also prevents the man who does not pay his bills from getting credit.

If you have a good credit record, your trade is valuable and any merchant is glad to accommodate you.

Credit is a matter of trust.

Your honor is involved.

It is granted you on a promise to pay---your promise to pay, and you cannot afford to break that promise.

The Merchant can better afford to lose the bill than you can afford not to pay it.

Don't blame the merchant if you are refused credit.

You and you alone are to blame, for you are refused on your record and you have built that record yourself.
