The academic door of 1961-1962 opens slowly, enabling the brilliant rays from a social and intellectual spectrum to be reflected upon the hearts and minds of the young men and women of our college.

introduction

Two students pause before the main entrance to Compton Hall Auditorium and Gymnasium.

Students pass Simpson Hall, one of the three women's residence halls.

Gunter Hall houses the dining hall, chapel, offices, and meeting rooms.

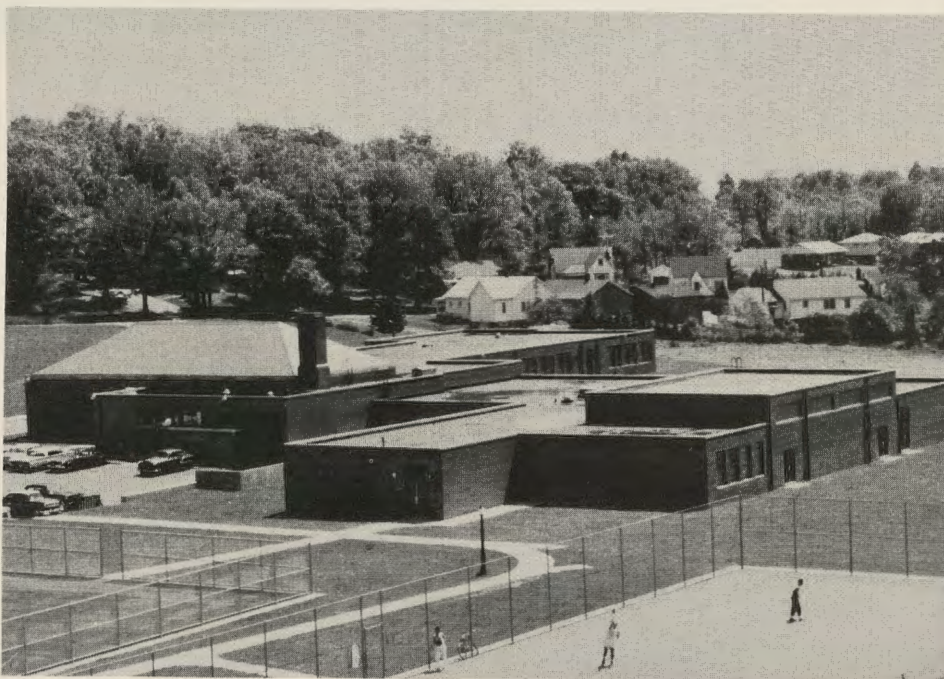

Old Main is the oldest classroom building on campus.

A carpenter puts the finishing touches on the new women's residence hall.

Frost Hall, oldest women's residence hall, is peaceful in the twilight.

The Thomas G. Pullen School is seen beyond the tennis courts.

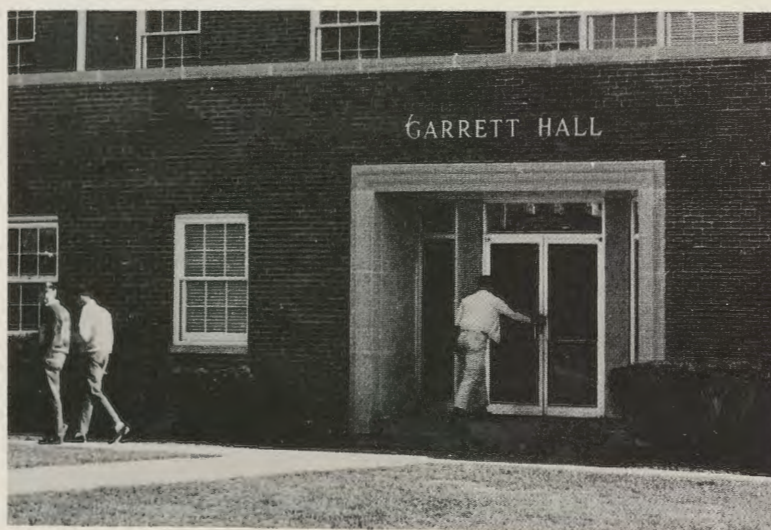

The Day Room is a favorite hang out for Frostburg's expanding day student population.

The Library is aptly termed the "hub of the campus."

Garret Hall houses a mushrooming science program.

Increased population and popularity are changing the image of FSTC's campus. A kaleidoscope of growth progresses with the turn of each new year. New dormitories, a student union building, and a new laboratory school are the most recent manifestations of this expansion.

Present planning promises greater facilities for student pursuit of academic excellence in the future.

Faculty Hall and Alleghany Hall serenely house classrooms and faculty offices.

Lowndes Hall is the stately home of the Administration.

Seen during the first snowfall are Allen Hall, men's residence hall, and Compton Gymnasium.

Miss Wellner competently handles her "problem children."

The Maryland-Madrigal Singers' float, "Alaska and Hawaii Apply for Statehood," won the trophy for the third consecutive year in the parade.

Sonja Steele gives her final speech, as most of us have done.

curriculum

Maurice Wiles and Bill Seibert stand by as Joe Loveless returns a volley in Skills and Techniques.

A group of sophomore girls executes a rhythmic interpretation in modern dance.

Just as increased visibility broadens the color spectrum, so new frontiers of learning have broadened FSTC's curriculum. In addition to kindergarten, elementary, and secondary teacher training, Arts and Sciences has been added to FSTC's color-guard.

social

"... marvelous time today, Tom!"

"... football game, Carol?"
"... love to, Tom!"

"... keep the wind out."

"... can't do a thing with my hair!"

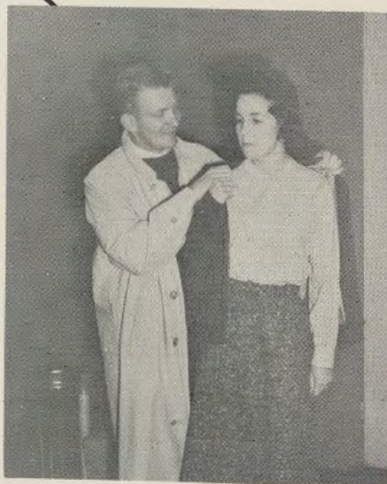

"... getting crowded now."
"... worked up an appetite."

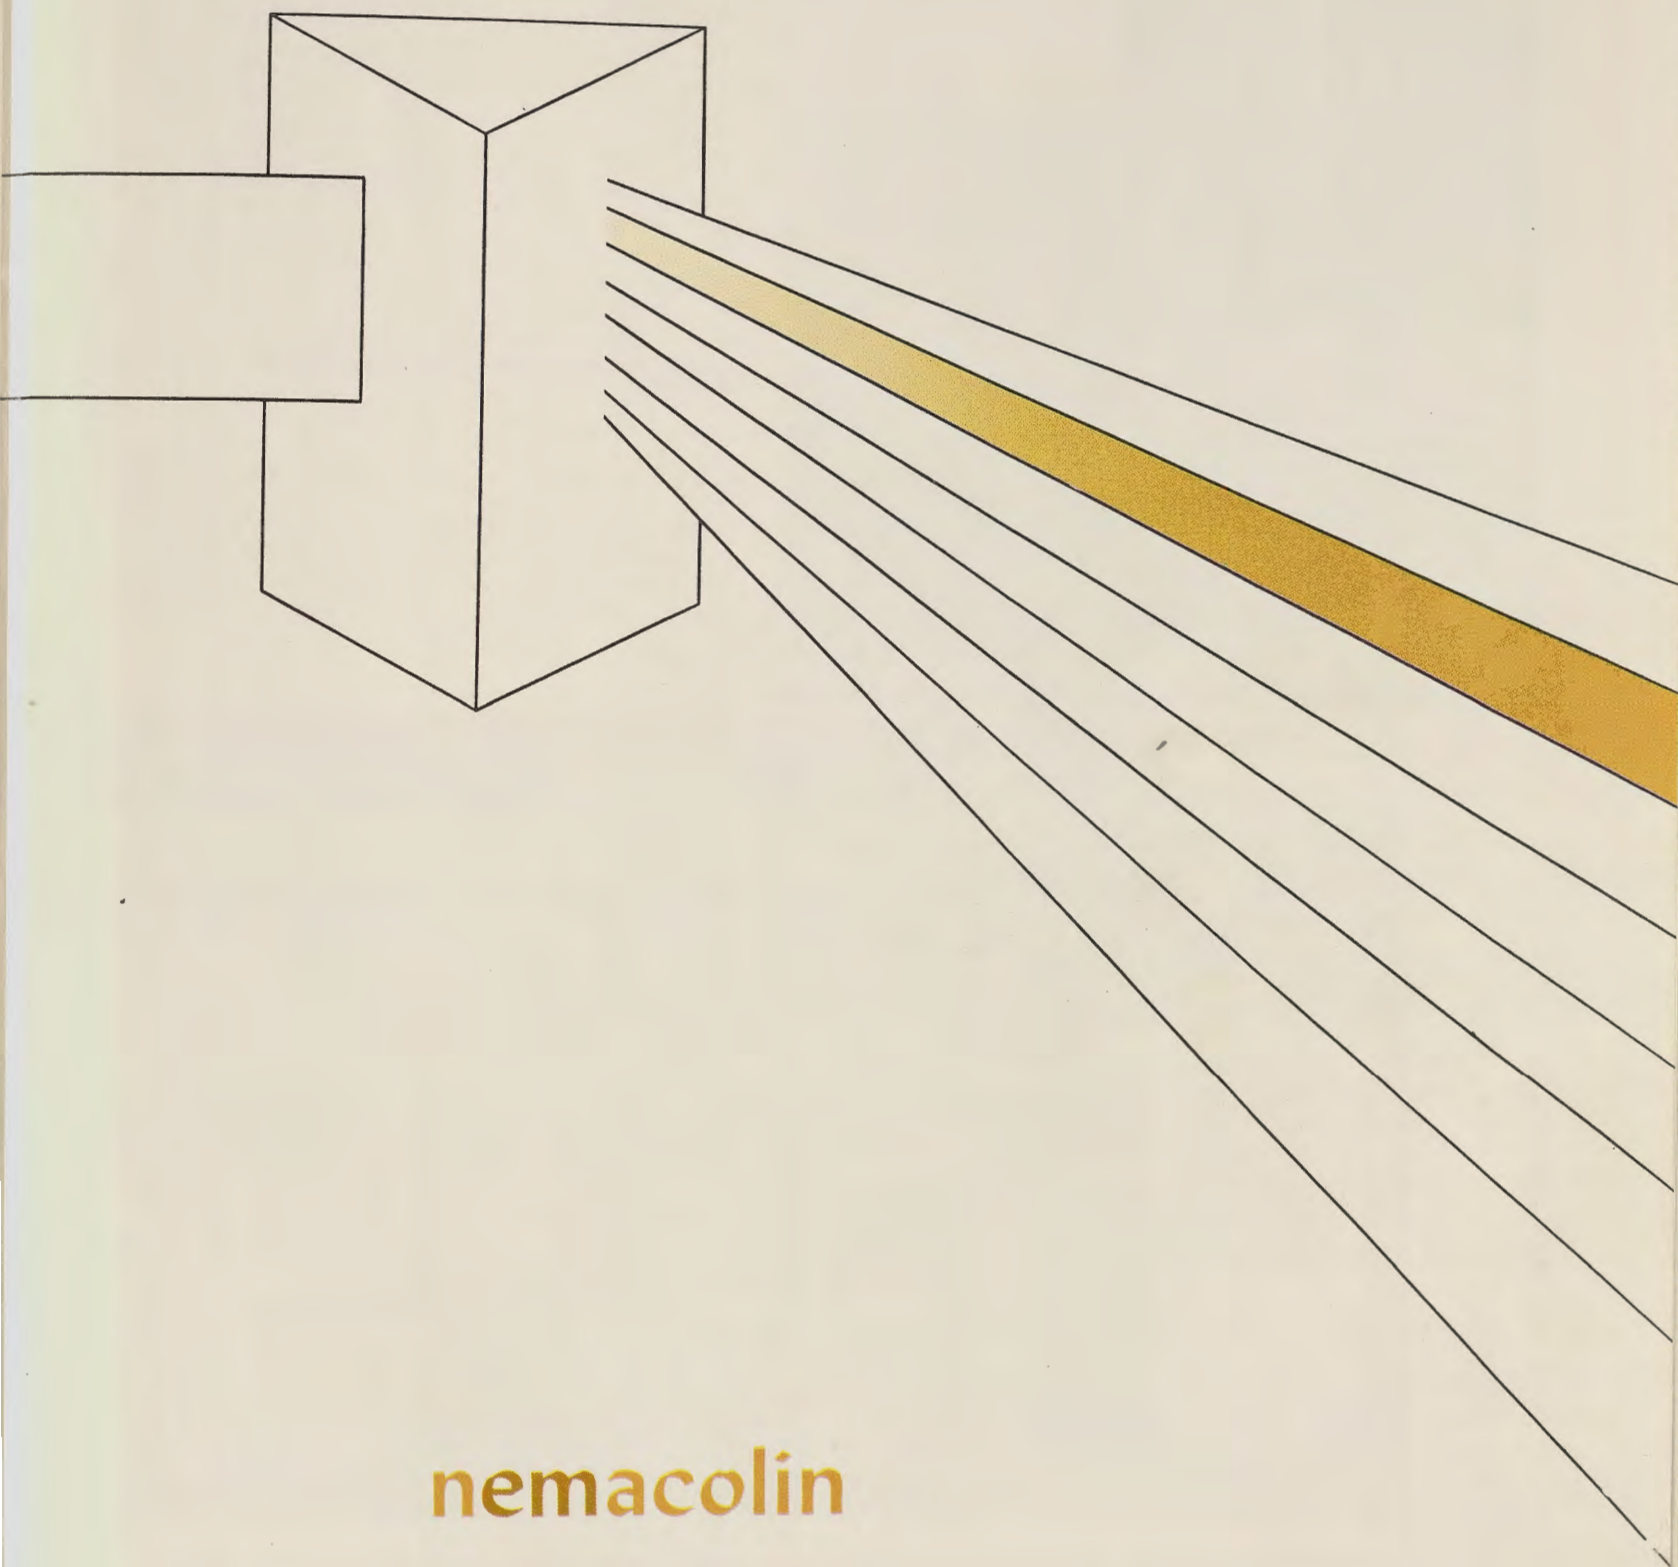

"... looks like rain."

"... see that play!"
"Where, Tom?"

nemacolin

Dr. Sam J. Underwood, advisor, is close at hand in any situation.

Rebecca Engel, Editor-in-chief, is sure to be found all hours of the day at work in the Nema-colin office.

The school year at Frostburg State is comparable to a spectrum. The college represents the prism through which a source of light (students, faculty, administration) is refracted into the separate colors of the spectrum (total school life).

The NEMACOLIN staff, comprised of approximately seventy persons, has devoted countless hours to the task of representing each color of the spectrum of 1961-62 at State. As the spectrum endures, so, we hope, will the memories preserved in the 1962 NEMACOLIN.

Student Congress is an active group on Frostburg's campus. As a major legislative body at F.S.T.C., this organization is an important component of the extra-curricular spectrum.

This group began the year by sponsoring Homecoming and its activities. As Christmastime, decorations, parties, and the annual Christmas dance were but visible signs of the planning and leadership of Student Congress.

A major role in the selection of the candidates for WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES was also undertaken by this organization.

Advisor to Student Congress for this school year was Dr. Alice Manicur.

The only inhabitant of New Hall, before February 1st was this workman; but, soon afterwards, ninety girls were seen roaming through the halls of their new dormitory.

Another facet of the governing bodies of Frostburg includes the House Councils. It is the duty of these organizations to enforce "law and order" in their respective residences.

The girls of Hafer dorm show how life away from home develops domestic arts as the art of leisurely living.

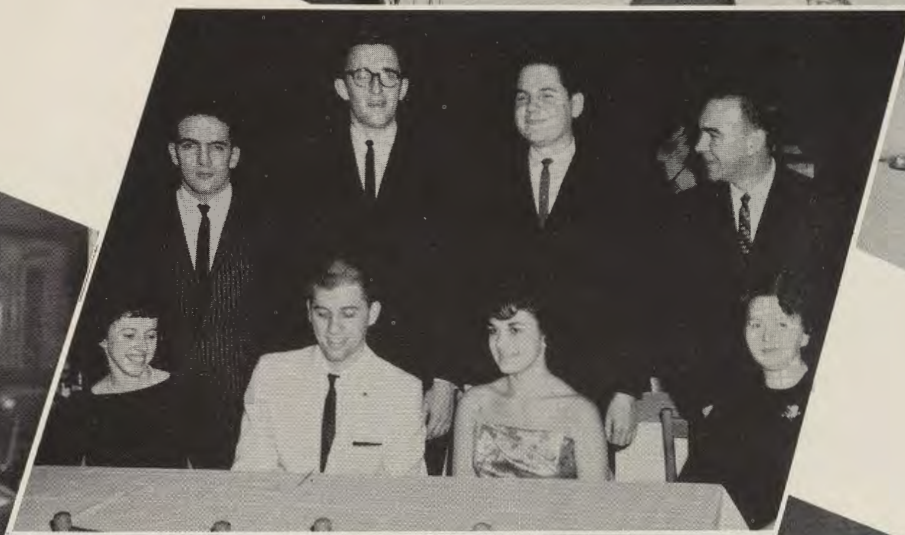

Four of the well groomed co-eds of Hafer file down the steps completing a before and after picture.

Imagine spending Freshman year at ease in Gunter Hotel, or are these lassies just taking time out from studies?

The Student Union Committee was organized to coordinate club activities, to equip Gunter Hall, and to promote and sponsor social activities. Included among its various projects are: the acquisition of a showcase and television set for Gunter foyer, the sponsoring of dances, movies, and roller skating parties, and the building of an ice skating rink.

Many a student suffered from aching muscles after spending an afternoon building the ice skating rink behind Compton Gym. But all was not in vain, for soon after, other students were enjoying the finished product.

"American Bandstand" was one of the favorite shows tuned in on the new television set in Gunter foyer. Boarding and resident students alike were provided with endless hours of enjoyment in this manner.

Bill Patton, F.S.T.C. student, plays the drums as other members of his band provide entertainment at one of the many Student Union hops.

Students drown their registration worries in their cup of punch served by members of the Student Education Association.

Because of the need to correlate the religious activities on campus, the Inter-Faith Council evolved as an advisory and planning group. As an advisory group, the council, made up of the presidents of each religious organization and one elected representative, pools ideas for the betterment of each club. As a planning organization, the Council made all the arrangements for the Christmas Assembly and Religious Emphasis Week. Unity in promoting the spiritual growth of the students on campus is the goal of the Council.

The Student Christian Association and their advisor, Mr. Peterson, stop for a moment of silence in the midst of a busy college week's activities. The Association sponsors a service for all denominations every morning, Monday through Friday, in the chapel.

The Wesley Club, a religious organization affiliated with the Methodist Church, is pictured above singing with Reverend Current before the beginning of one of their meetings.

The L.S.U., which is a newcomer among the religious groups on campus, is shown above gathered around the organ as Meryl Lacotti plays for them.

... experiences growth in numbers

Pictured to the right are members of the Canterbury Club, whose purpose is to explore and study the teachings of the Episcopal Church.

The International Relations Club, under the direction of Dr. Briggs and Dr. Ramsay, has broadened the knowledge of interested students concerning world affairs. The I.R.C. offers regularly scheduled panel discussions for Frostburg Students so that they may become better acquainted with contemporary international affairs.

... new groups added in other areas

A new club added to our campus's activities this year was the History Club. Formed under the guidance of Mr. Landon and Mr. Morris, the club has acquired many interested members. Shown to the right with the advisors are Mike Scheerer, Vice President; John Nussear, President; and Charles Wilson, Secretary.

Members of the Literary Circle and their advisor, Miss Hobbs, seem to be enjoying themselves as Lee Drost reads a selection from a current novel.

Dr. Crawford, advisor to the Art Club, relaxes with other members of the club—naturally, they're discussing art.

To the left, Pat King, president of the 4-H club, discusses plans with some members for the National 4-H Club Week. The members also worked together to sponsor a dinner in Gunter Hall, and a library display.

These 4-H club members are engaged in making ceramic ashtrays for the Student Union.

Kappa Pi is a national art fraternity. This organization promotes an interest in art and stimulates higher scholarship and artistic ability among its members. Members of the fraternity are art students who maintain above average grades in the art field. During the year, the members of Kappa Pi engage in lectures and work sessions to further their knowledge in art.

Sigma Zeta is a national honorary science society which advances science and mathematics among students.

The requirements for membership are a 3.0 average in science and mathematics, and a 2.75 average overall. A minimum of 12 hours math and science, of which 3 must be electives, is required for active membership.

The activities of Sigma Zeta include: the science fair, a banquet with the American Chemical Society, a spring picnic, and a science program at each meeting.

As the tree was officially lighted by Dr. Howard (below), students joined in the singing of traditional Christmas songs. Later, an organ recital and sing-along were held in Gunter Hall, after which refreshments were served.

The cleverly constructed decorations which adorned the buildings, following the theme of "The Night Before Christmas," added festivity to the Christmas season.

Dances and parties, with the appearance of Santa and his reindeer, all led up to the long awaited Christmas Vacation.

Won 4, Lost 3, Tied 2

With some LUCK State would have had an undefeated season this year, but LUCK was not with us. The Bobcats showed spirit and determination and ended the season with a 4 won, 3 lost, and 2 tied record.

The Homecoming game against Howard University was the best game ever seen in this area.

State had four players selected to the All-Southern team. They were: Roy Sigler, George Lauder, Jerry Llewellyn, and Hank Winner. Roy Sigler, the Bobcat's right wing, was also selected to the All-American soccer team.

COACH KENNETH BABCOCK

With Coach Kenneth Babcock's leadership in soccer this season, State's squad is proving to be a challenge for rival contenders.

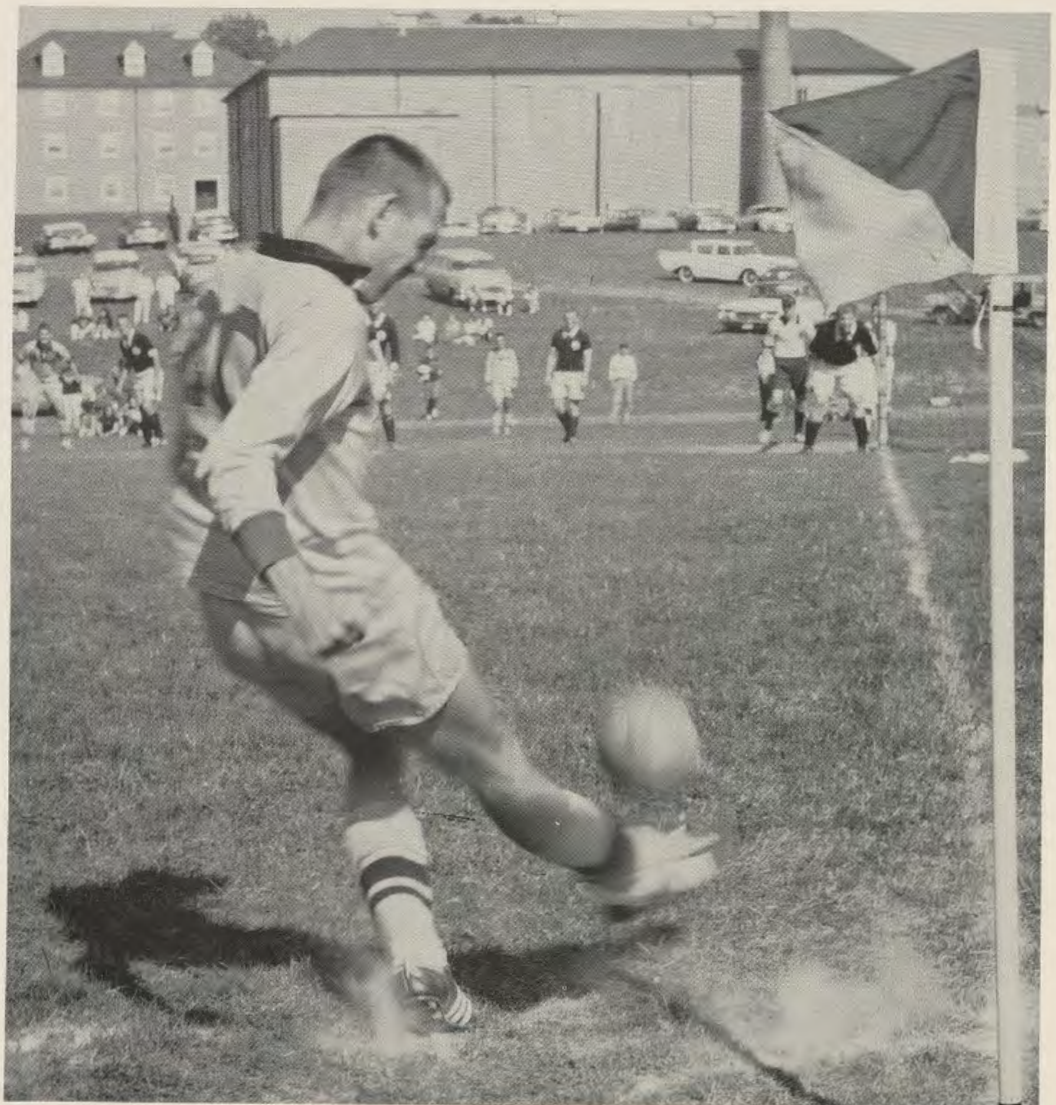

During past years, Coach Babcock's teams have produced four All-American soccer players. There also have been many All-Southern selections.

After 23 years of coaching soccer in high school and college, Coach Babcock shows a record at State of 57 wins, 41 losses, and 16 ties.

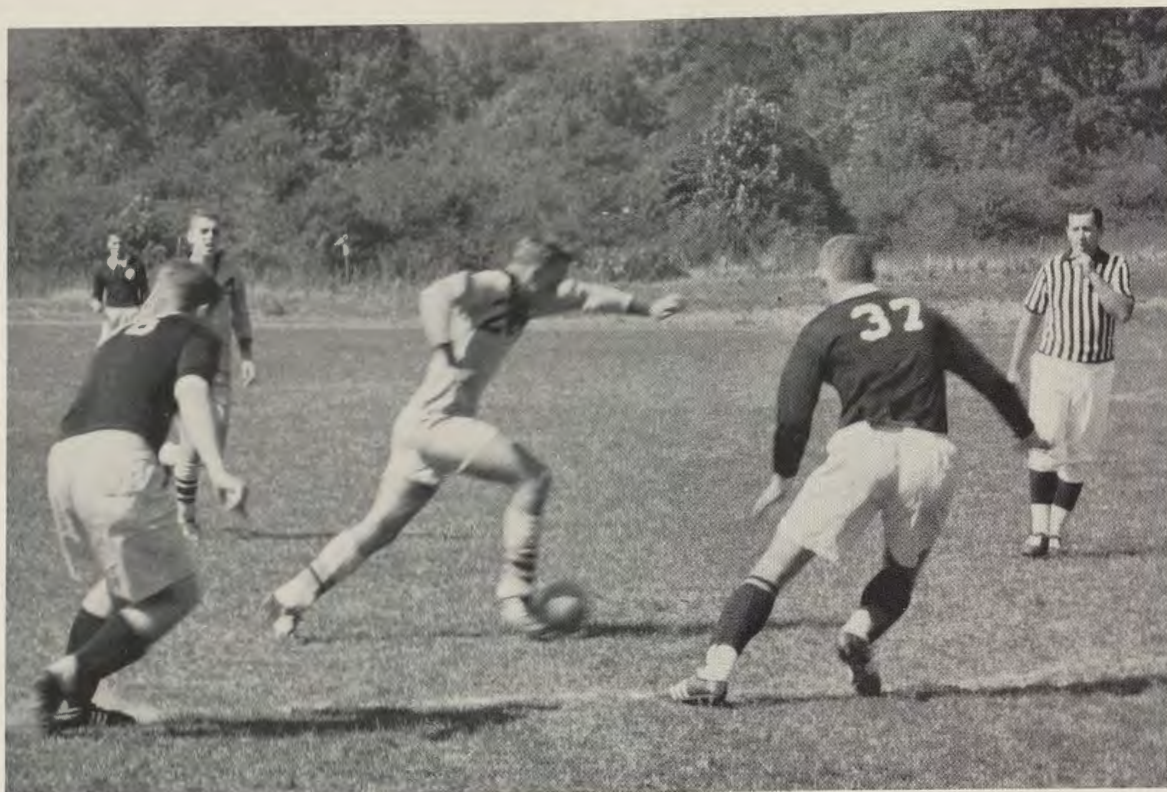

Roy, four year All-Southern and this year an All-American selection, has been one of State's outstanding soccer players.

As a playmaker, Roy is invaluable to his team. Teammates laud, and opponents respect Roy's reputation and skill for setting up plays and scoring.

F.S.T.C. salutes and thanks you, Roy Sigler, for your exceptional individual and team participation as a member of State's soccer team.

intramural football

Soon after the beginning of the new school year, intramural football became one of the popular activities for men.

The teams completed a total of 21 games on the basis of 3 points for a win, $1\frac{1}{2}$ points each for a tie, and 0 points for a loss.

THE RESULTS

1. Rolling Rocks	12 points
2. Sigma Tau Gamma	$10\frac{1}{2}$ points
3. Sigma Phi	9 points
4. No Names	$7\frac{1}{2}$ points
5. Ramblers	$4\frac{1}{2}$ points

varsity basketball

Coach Ron Van Ryswyk's Bobcats enjoyed one of the best seasons in many years. This year's successful season was attributed to the well-balanced team scoring of the Frostburg squad. The scoring punch was provided by Captain George Lauder, Jim Thompson, Hank Winner, Corky Connolly, Bill Wiltison, and Charlie Robinson. The resounding ability of Hank Winner, Jack Patterson, and Jim Thompson and the aggressiveness of Roy Sigler and Corky Connolly provided many thrills for the spectators.

This season was highlighted by the Bowie Invitational Tournament which showed Frostburg's Basketballers winning the contest in a double overtime against D. C. Teachers College.

bobcats gain victories in basketball

Congratulations are given as State routs Shenandoah College.

The highlight of the Bobcats' season was the successful playing at the Bowie Invitational Tournament. The Bobcats gained championship by defeating Gallaudet College in overtime and D. C. Teachers College in double overtime.

George Lauder, captain of the Bobcats received a trophy for being chosen the outstanding player of the tournament.

intramural basketball

The competition in the Men's Intramural basketball league reached a climax which was decided by a championship game.

The Monday night league was led by the Gunners, Sigma Phi, and Sigma Tau Gamma. The Creek Boys, Triad Kids, and the Faculty led the Thursday night league.

With the many entries in each league, most of the teams were well-balanced and brought forth many exciting thrills.

Bill Bruchey makes the out at third on an assist from right fielder, George Kuhn.

Don Nave practices the squeeze play which helped State win several one-run decisions.

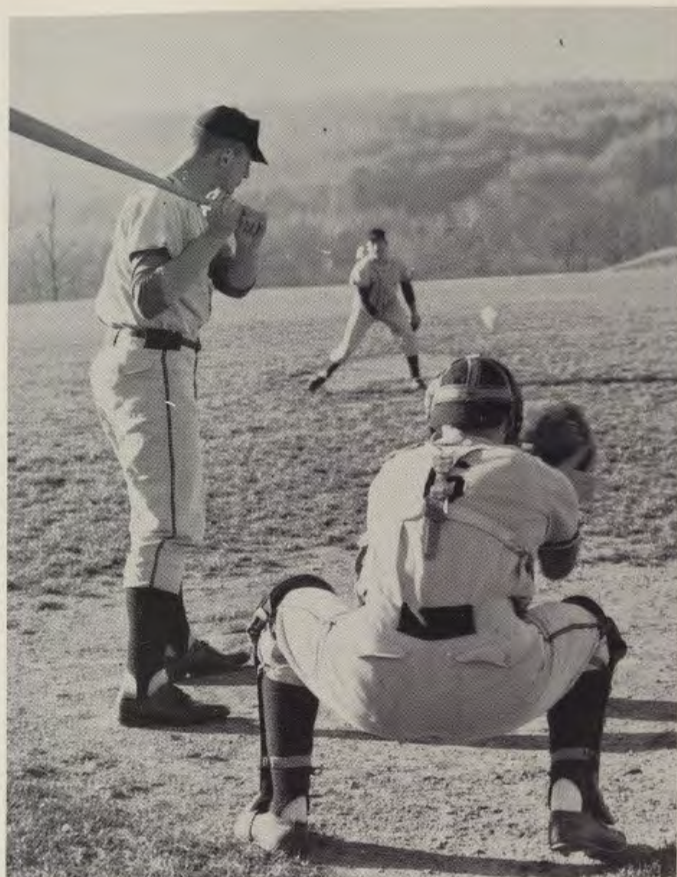

DR. HAROLD J. CORDTS

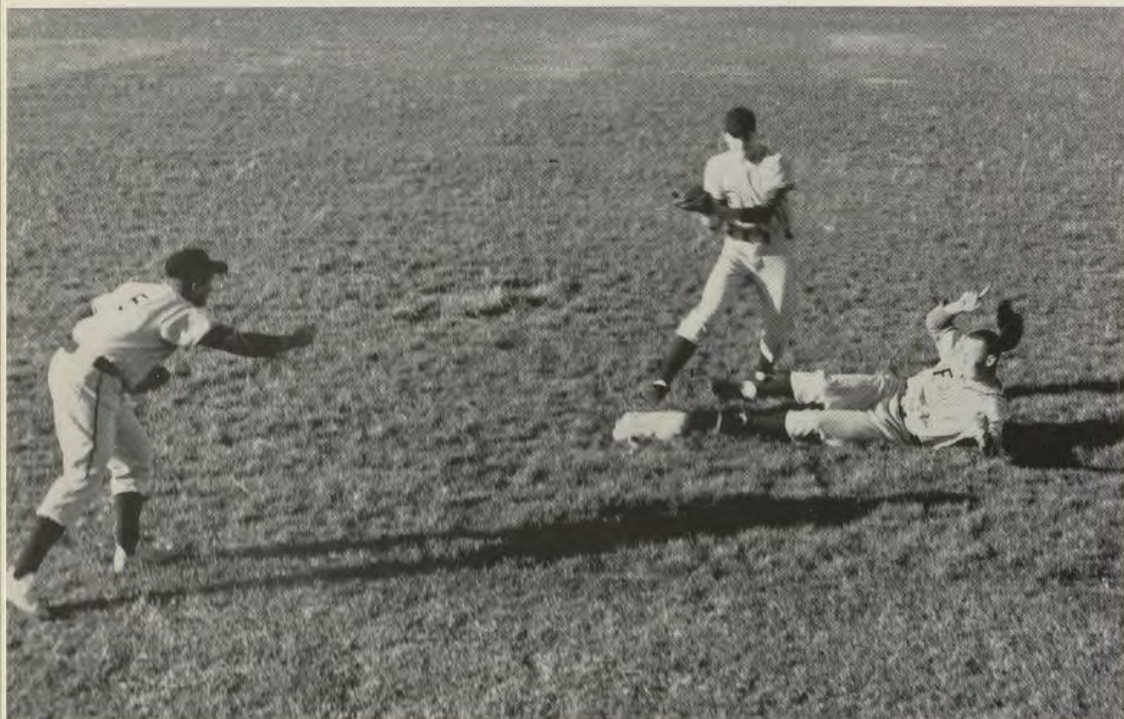

Coach Harold J. Cordts directed State through one of its finest seasons in several years. The returning mound staff, led by George Kuhn, Don Hurvitz, and Hank Winner, found their job easier with the hitting provided by the veterans, Ron Broadwater, Gene Zumpano, and Don Nave. The season's highlight was a four-day road trip through the South.

Don Nave, hard hitting State infielder, greatly aided the team in their run production.

Outfielder, Hank Winner, was caught off guard by a pitch as State receiver John Nussear exemplifies his ability to handle his pitcher.

Spring training found Gene Wood and Andy Schroeder practicing the double-play, with Joe Loveless being the victim at second base.

Veteran southpaw George Kuhn and catcher John Nussear practiced a very important play concerning the bunt from Gene Zumpano.

The art of sliding practiced in spring training greatly improved the total number of stolen bases during the season.

Through this letter of commendation to the staff, President R. Bowen Hardesty in effect extended the same message to the entire student body. It is through the cooperation of the students, faculty, and administration that an FSTC organization is able to achieve such recognition for the college. It is hoped that the achievements of graduates of FSTC will continue to bring favorable recognition to the college.

The world is almost complete for the Juniors—we have come three-fourths of the way and have greatly anticipated our senior year. During this year, we have pushed toward our final year with many planned activities. These activities have included movies, dances, teas, and discussion groups. The junior year is the greatest step toward the professional field. During this year, we begin the practice teaching in public classrooms. We have spent endless hours on seating charts, lesson plans, and elective courses. During this year, it seemed as if we were often ready to give up; instead, we worked harder. Our long-awaited desire will soon be fulfilled. We will be Seniors!

Commencing with the election of officers in early November, the Freshman Class became an official segment of campus activity. The first weeks of college had been filled with Orientation programs which aided the class in adjusting to a busy, snowy, and exciting year. Soon after electing their leaders, the Freshmen nominated their sponsor, Dr. Virginia Mills, for "Kind Lady" during the school competition for that honor. Dr. Mills was selected, bringing the class its first honor. There followed a long list of activities which were sponsored by the Class of 1965. Immediately following the Thanksgiving holiday, a reception was given to thank the Sophomore Class for its help during Orientation. A slave auction was held early in December to raise money for coal for three needy families in the area at Christmas. The Freshmen did not grow lax when winter came, for in February and March they sponsored a cultural program and movies. Winter activities were popular with the Freshman Class, which sponsored the Winter Carnival near the beginning of the new year. Throughout their first college year, the class could be found helping to make this a successful year by actively participating in campus programs.

Freshmen act as guides during the Campus Day program held early in November to acquaint high school seniors with State.

The Student Union sponsors a Thanksgiving Dance which all Frostburg students heartily support.

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
FROSTBURG, MARYLAND

IN APPRECIATION.....

Most yearbook staffs collapse at the end of the year and wonder how they ever met that final deadline. The NEMACOLIN staff has had particular occasion to do so this year due to a loss of numerous key people at crucial moments. We have only to "count our blessings" to know how we met our final deadline. As the Editor-in-Chief of a dream which began in the spring of 1961, I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the following:

To Dr. Sam J. Underwood, our advisor, who navigated an inexperienced crew through a stormy sea with expert guidance and encouragement,

To Patricia Ballentine, who suddenly found that she was the entire photography staff,

To Judy Kuhn, who not only completed her own section, but who also helped out when our features editor was left alone to do the job of two people,

To Mildred Orndorff, who restored financial order out of chaos caused by the loss of our original business manager,

To Dave Leasure, who aided Mildred by taking over the headache of filling numerous blank advertisers' pages,

To Ruhl Studio, for a rush job on the senior portraits,

To the Students and Faculty for their endless posing,

To our Advertisers, who make a better annual possible and keep us in "the black,"

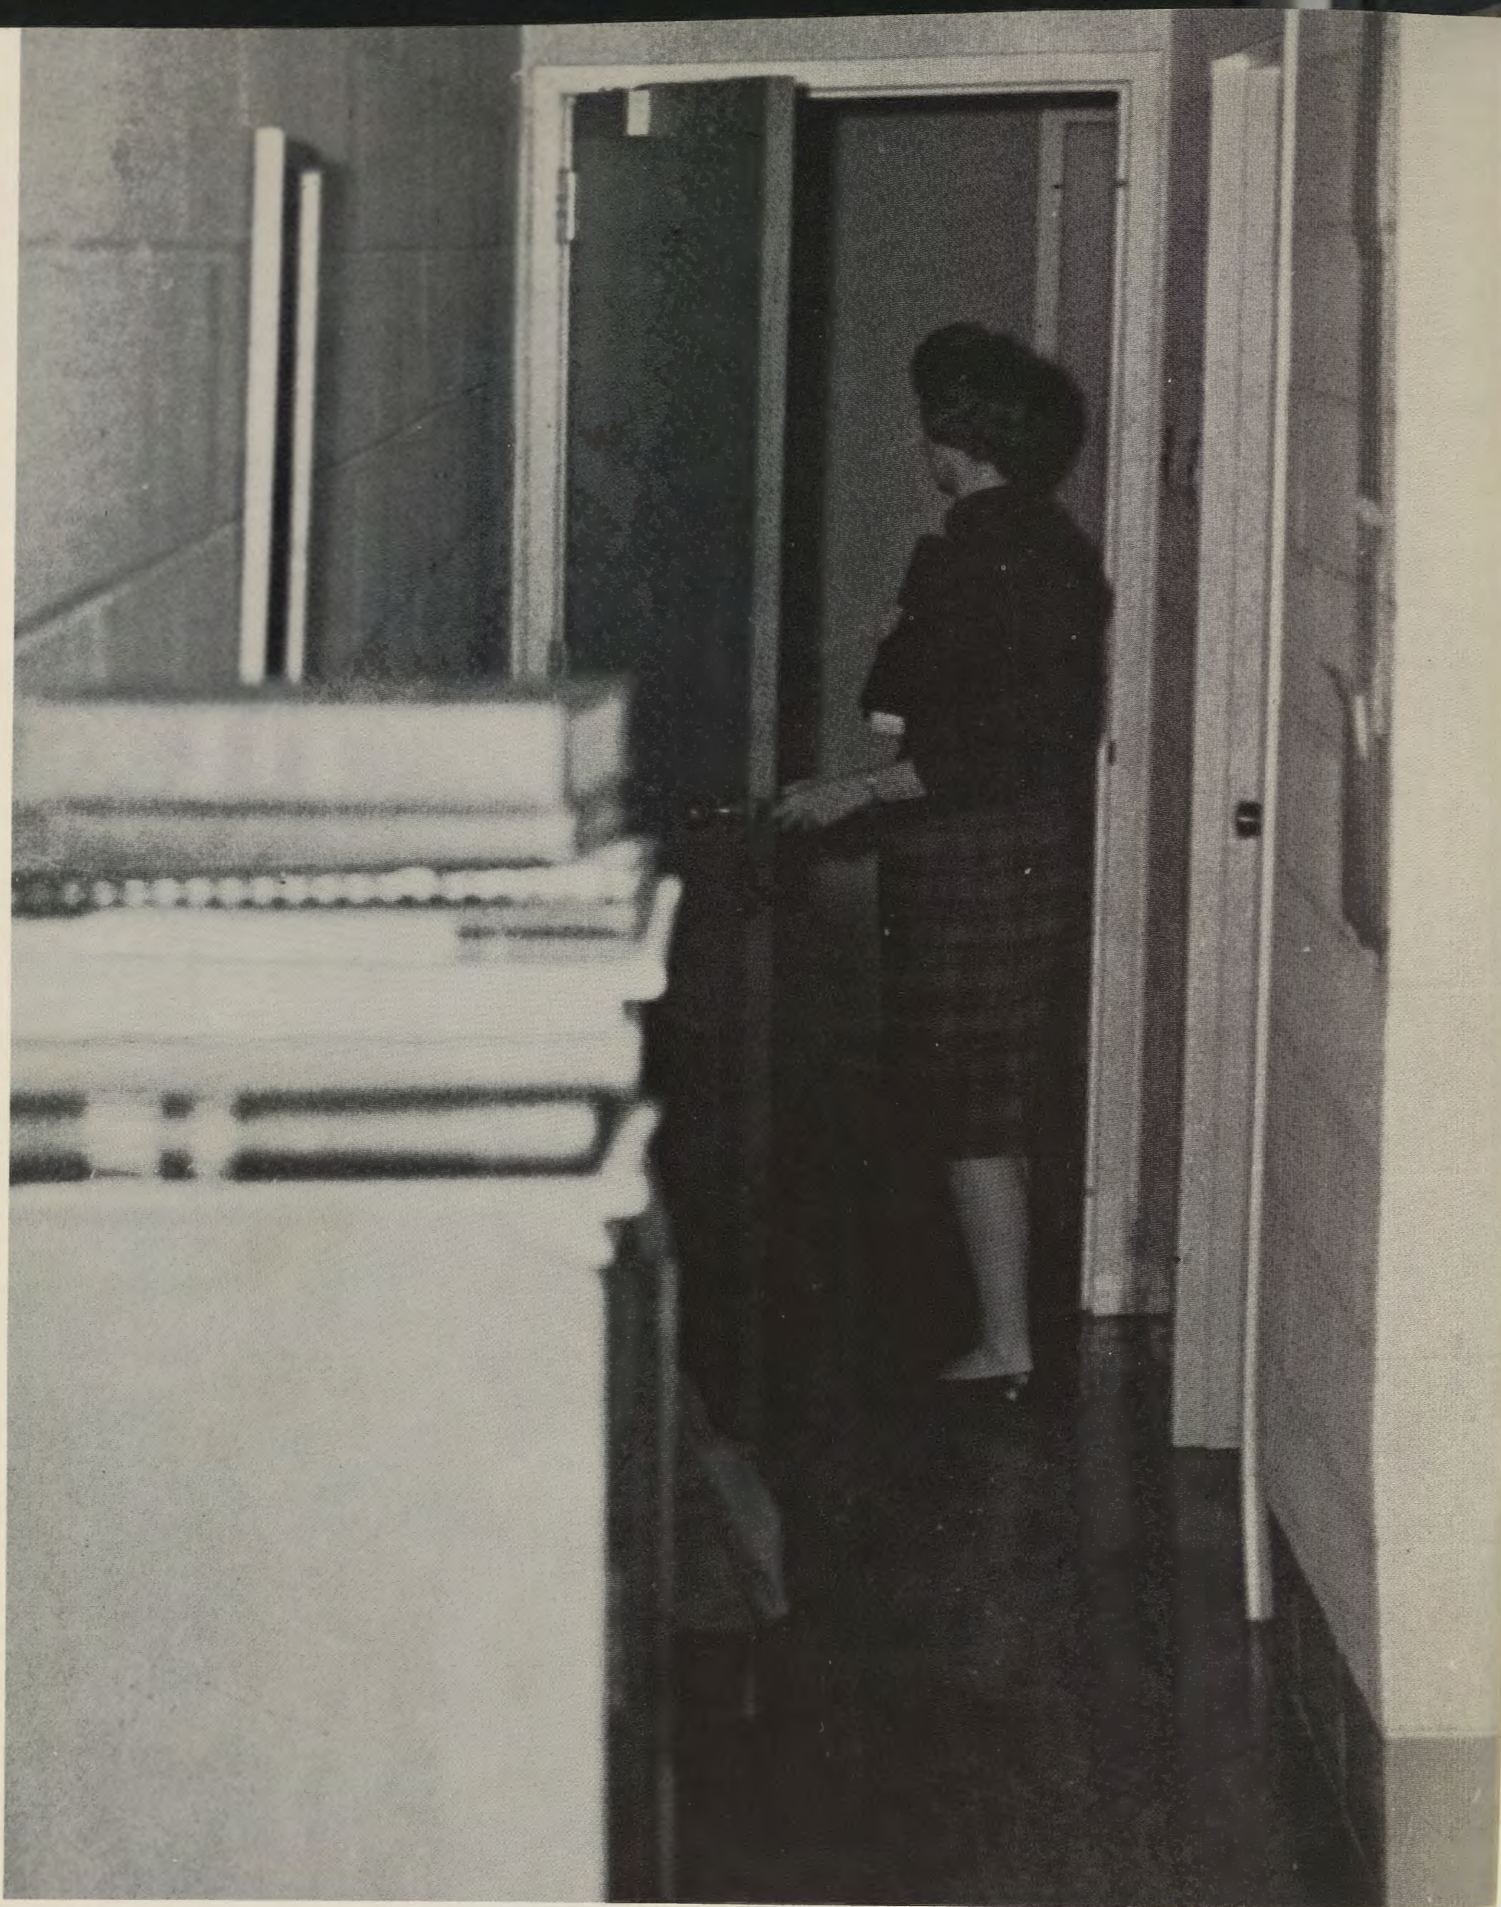

To Christopher Photo Lab, for training our own printers and then for doing the job themselves when we lost our printers,

To Mr. Richardson, our indispensable representative from the publisher, for his advice and the day he devoted to individual staffs.

Without the unselfish contributions of time, ideas, and hard work on the part of each of the above, we couldn't have done it. We think it was worth every anxious minute and we hope that you will too.

The Editor-in-Chief

J. Rebecca Engel

The academic door of 1961-1962 closes—not upon an ending, but upon a beginning—as the Seniors carry the light of F.S.T.C.'s spectrum forth into the hearts and minds of the children of our public schools.
