RED CROSS TO CANVASS EVERY HOME IN CITY

House-to-house Canvass For Members Will Be Made On Armistice Day.

EVERYONE WILL BE ASKED TO JOIN ORGANIZATION

Roll Call Committee is Desirous of Obtaining at Least 2,000 members during drive, Nov. 11-24—Personal Workers Committee Will Meet at 3 P. M. This Afternoon.

A house-to-house canvass will be made in Salisbury on Armistice Day by the local Red Cross workers in order to obtain the maximum number of memberships in the city, and the committee in charge of the campaign to secure members is especially anxious that the adult members of each of the households visited will be ready and willing to help the good cause along by taking on membership in the great Red Cross organization.

With the annual Red Cross roll call starting here on November 11 and ending November 24, the Roll Call committee, of which Mrs. Fred P.
Adkins is the chairman, is leaving no stone unturned in order to make the local campaign one of the most successful ever conducted here.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) there will be a meeting of the Personal Workers Committee in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and all the various details for conducting the campaign in an intensive manner will be thoroughly discussed.

Last year the local chapter of the Red Cross succeeded in obtaining approximately 1200 memberships, but owing to the increased activities of the organization in this city and county, the membership in this section should exceed the two thousand mark if the work is to continue here in the way it should. And the committee members in charge of the campaign are confident that the people of the city and county will realize the great importance of the Red Cross work being done here, and that they will make a generous response to the appeal that will be made for memberships.

During the Roll Call campaign this year, the efforts of the Red Cross workers will be exclusively confined to solicitation of $1.00 memberships, and there are very few who cannot afford to give such a small sum to a worthy cause of this kind. Last week throughout error, the statement was made that 50 per cent is deducted from each membership by the national organization. Instead of 50 per cent being deducted, the amount is only 50 cents—no matter how large the membership subscription may be.

The Red Cross has done splendid work here in Salisbury and in Wicomico county, and it is deserving of the support of every citizen in the county. It is a great and remarkable organization, and it really should be considered a privilege to become a member through the mere payment of a lone, solitary dollar.

If the citizens of the city and county will but stop to think of the wonderful work that has been performed by Miss Mary Kell, the Red Cross Nurse, in this section during the past several months, the absolute need of retaining her services so that the excellent work may be carried on here will surely become apparent. And this work cannot be continued unless the citizens respond generously to the Roll Call appeal. Help to make it a success—help to put the Wicomico chapter at the highest pinnacle!

Entertainment Held At Beacom College

Students and Alumni Enjoy Delightful Party, Which is Held in Book-Keeping Department

Last Wednesday night marked the beginning of the social life of Bea-com Business College. A large party was held in the book-keeping department of the school. This room was well suited for entertainments, having a small stage equipped with a fine curtain and side entrances.

The first part of the evening was taken up with various games introduced by Mr. Evans, principal of the school. Among these was a laughing game which caused even the most silent members of the party to burst forth into laughter. Other games, such as drawing animals on the boards for the students to guess their names and a clothes race, were thoroughly enjoyed.

Immediately after the games several boxes which the girls of the school had prepared were auctioned off.
Several Alumni of the school from all over the county were present and celebrated their return by having a real good time. Miss Walls and Miss Henne, members of the faculty, also were present.

TRANSFERRED TO SALISBURY

H. W. Lank, who for the past three years has been in charge of the Geographical branch of the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company, together with his assistant, H. I. German, have been transferred to the home office at Salisbury.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CLERKSHIP INJURED

Mr. Alan F. Benjamin Sustains Broken Left Arm When Auto in Which He Was Riding Overturns

When the Ford runabout, in which they were returning to Salisbury, from Nanticoke, turned over last Wednesday night, Mr. Alan F. Benjamin, Republican candidate for clerk of court of Wicomico County, sustained a broken arm and other bodily injuries, and the other occupant of the car, Mr. Robert Ellis, was painfully bruised about the body.

The accident occurred when the two men were going around a sharp curve in the road, the steering gear of the car locking and causing the car to suddenly overturn. Mr. Benjamin was pinned underneath the car, and passers-by helped Mr. Ellis in raising the car off him. Medical assistance was rendered by Dr. J. R.
Warner, of Nanticoke, and it was found that Mr. Benjamin's arm had been broken about a half inch above the left wrist joint.

On Monday, Mr. Benjamin had an X-ray examination made of the fractured bone, and it was found to be knitting in nice shape. He is expected to return to his office the latter part of this week.

Hallowe'en Dance Held Friday Night

Members Friday Night Class Sommerkamp Dancing School Make Merry
—Several Prizes Awarded

A delightful Hallowe'en Dance was given last Friday night in the Knights of Pythias Hall, by members of the Friday Night Dancing Class of the Sommerkamp. The dance hall was artistically decorated for the occasion with oak leaves, pumpkins, corn stalks, and other decorative features significant of Hallowe'en and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone fortunate enough to be present.

Miss Elizabeth Williams was awarded first prize for the best girl's costume, and Edward Hearn was given first prize for the best boy's costume.
Miss Williams wore a "Jazz Baby" costume, while Mr. Hearn was dressed as a Knight of Olden Times. Harold Powell and Miss Nancy Dennis won the prize for the elimination dance. After awarding of the prizes, refreshments were served.

DONATION WEEK FOR HOSPITAL TO START SOON

November 21, 22 and 23 Set Aside For Receiving Annual Gifts Of Edibles.

CONTRIBUTIONS LAST YEAR WERE SPLENDID

Hoped That This Year's Response Will Be Equally As Generous—Donations May Be Brought Or Sent To Nurses Home—Affair In Charge
Woman's Auxiliary Board.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary Board of the Peninsula General Hospital have set aside November 21, 22 and 23 as the days for receiving donations to the local hospital, and it is earnestly hoped that the number of gifts made this year will equal the contributions of 1920.

Last year, only one day was set aside for receiving the gifts, which were either sent or brought to the Armory, but with three days time in which to make the contributions this year, it is believed that "Donation Week" should be on a bigger and greater scale than ever before. All donations this year may be sent or brought to the Nurses Home, where they will be most gratefully received.

The local hospital received sufficient food-stuffs last year in the way of preserves, canned goods etc., to last a whole year, and while this has been an off-year on preserving fruits, owing to the failure of the fruit crops, it is confidently hoped that those who are interested in contributing will in a measure make up for the dearth of preserved products by adding to their gifts of canned goods.

From many parts of the county have come word that donations for the hospital are being prepared and will be ready on the very first day, while from other parts assurance has been given that nearly all of the donations are practically ready right now and that they will be equally as large as those made last year. The people of Delmar, who made one of the finest contributions received in 1920, have told the hospital authorities that they are going to make another fine donation this year and that the gifts are nearly all ready.

The local hospital authorities are doing splendid work for this city, county and Peninsula, and by making donations to the hospital in the manner above outlined, much good is accomplished. It shows that the people of the community are intensely interested in their hospital and also means the bringing of much cheer and comfort to the patients during their illnesses.

AWAITING THE VERDICT

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR NEW M. P. CHURCH

Inspiring Service Was Held On New Church Lot Tuesday Morning—
Work Will Be Rushed

An inspiring service was held at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning when ground was broken for the new $125,- 000 edifice that will be erected by the members of Bethesda Methodist Church at the corner of North Division and William streets.

A large number of the members of Protestant Church at the corner of North Division and William streets, services, and prayer was offered by the church gathered on the lot for the lay, and Mr. William E. Sheppard, Mr. Raymond Wimbrow used his cornet to accompany the hymns which were sung. The first hymn sung on this plot in the worship of the new church was "Zion Stands With Hills Surrounded", which was followed by the members singing "I am Thine, O Lord".

After the singing of the second hymn, the congregation stood with uncovered heads for a minute of silent prayer and consecration. Immediately following the benediction, the workmen called to their mules, the scoops slid over the ground, and the work on this great enterprise was begun. It was an inspiring service and one that will be long remembered by the faithful members of Bethesda Church, who attended it.

The contractors believe that the excavation work will be completed within about 10 days, and that the new building will be rushed as rapidly as possible. A steam shovel will be used in the excavation work. It is expected that the structure will be fully completed by Thanksgiving, 1922.

Rev. R. L. Shipp stated yesterday that the contributions are coming in splendidly on the pledge made, and that the building committee is giving constant attention to the furnishings of the church, the arrangements for the pipe organ and all the other details which will make this a completely equipped building for modern church work.

DR. T. R. REEVES TO GO TO PORTSMOUTH CHURCH

Trinity's Pastor Appointed To Menmental Church, Portsmouth, Va.

Dr. Thomas Rosser Reeves, who has been pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for three years, has been assigned to the pastorate of Monumental Church, Portsmouth, Va., and will leave for his new field the latter part of this week.
He will be succeeded by Rev. J. B.
Potter, who has been pastor of the Cambridge church for the past two years.

Dr. Reeves preached his farewell sermon here on Sunday, and it is with great regret that the members of his congregation and many of his other friends in the city and county see him leave Salisbury. He came here in 19-18 from McKendree Church, Norfolk, Va., and has been most successful in his pastorate here.

On Tuesday evening, the ladies of Bcom Missionary Society, of Trinity Church assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. McKenny Price, on Walnut street, and presented Mrs. Reeves with a handsome gold ring as a token of the high esteem in which she is held.

FIRE PARTIALLY DESTROYS SMALL FRAME DWELLING

Fire, which broke out in a small frame dwelling on Water street near Wimbrow's Garage, on Tuesday evening, succeeded in getting such headway that the building was partially destroyed before the flames were extinguished. The house has been occupied by a colored family. When the alarm was turned in about 11 P. M.
Tuesday, a mistake was made in calling the Fire Department to Fitzwater street instead of to Water street. This error in giving the alarm greatly interfered the fire department in getting to the scene of the blaze quickly.

SALISBURY CELEBRATES HALLOWE'EN

Main Street Crowded With Countless Numbers Of Be-Costumed Revelers.

CARNIVAL AT Y.M.C.A.
WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Record Crowd Turns Out At Assn.
Bldg., To Participate In The Hallowe'en Festivities—Miss Anne Custer Wins First Prize For Best Costume.

Hallowe'en was celebrated here Monday night in a manner that exemplified the revelry of a Mardi Gras, and at the same time the spirit of fun and merry-making was confined to being joyous and mirthful without over-stepping the bounds of propriety. Early in the evening, the down-town section of the city began to take on the appearance of an old-fashioned masked carnival and by 7:30 P. M., the streets were filled with the merry-makers and the sidewalks lined with the interested onlookers.

Young boys dressed as girls and young girls dressed in the clothes of their male folk, tiny tots with faces blackened and even some of the older folk with be-spangled costumes, became securely hidden, stepping forth and danced to their heart's delight when the band started to play in front of The News Building. Everyone seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion in the right frame of mind, and no untoward incident occurred to mar the proceedings.

At the Young Men's Christian Association, one of the biggest throngs that ever packed the "Y" Building was in attendance. It was estimated that approximately 750 persons wended their way into the Assn.
Building between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 P. M., to take part in the "Y's" big Hallowe'en Carnival.

All of the persons were compelled to enter the building from the rear and to pass through the haunted house, erected on the stage in the auditorium, before emerging into the auditorium proper. Many were the loud shrieks of the new arrivals when they wended their way through for a lighted skull was in the "haunted" house to make the appearance more gruesome and "hanted".

The "Y" Building was decorated with a profusion of corn stalks and other things significant of Hallowe'en.
Many real pumpkins, hewn out, with lighted candles inside, helped to give a real Hallowe'en appearance to the whole scene. Apple bobbing and pie-eating contests helped greatly in entertaining the revelers.

At 9 P. M., the judges—Mrs. M. V.
Brewington, Mr. Walter S. Shepard and Mr. Claude Dorman—called upon all of those who wanted to compete for costume prizes to get ready for the big promenade, and in a short time the promenade was on. So many splendid costumes were worn and the different characters so well made up that it was no easy task to select the prize winners. However, two-pound completed their work and at 10 P. M., the last of the merry-makers had departed.

Those who won prizes follow: First prize, $5 gold piece donated by Army & Navy Store, won by Miss Anne Custer, who was dressed as a Spanish dancer; second prize, two-pound box of candy donated by the Candy Kitchen, won by Mr. Elton Smith, who was dressed as an old-time Southern darkey; third prize, one-pound box of candy donated by Wilkins & Co., won jointly by Miss Thelma Cannon and Miss Lillian Morris, who were dressed as a negro mummy and daughter.
Music for the occasion was furnished by the Snappy Six Orchestra.

MR. H. W. RUARK ELECTED HEAD LOCAL BALL CLUB

Made President Salisbury Baseball Club Monday Night—Club To Purchase Gordy Park.

At a meeting of the committee of the Salisbury Baseball Club held Monday night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Mr. Henry W. Ruark, secretary of the Salisbury Building Loan & Banking Association, was elected president of the club for the coming year; Mr. R. F. Waller was chosen as vice-president, Mr. E. Sheldon Jones was made secretary and Dr. Samuel A. Graham will serve as treasurer of the club. Mr. L. W.
Gunby was elected as director to represent Salisbury at all meetings of the league.

After much discussion, it was decided to purchase Gordy Park and use the grounds for playing the local games next season. The purchase price of the park is said to be $2,500.
Dr. Roy A. Buhrman, Dr. A. B.
Burris and Mr. George R. Cobb were appointed as members of the Players Committee, and they will take charge of the work of securing players for the team Salisbury will put on the field during the 1922 season.

The Finance Committee of the local club will hold a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 4:30 P. M. Friday for the purpose of organizing subscription-teams to handle the work of securing subscriptions to the stock of the local club. The shares will be sold at $10 each and are to be paid for in the following manner: November 15, twenty per cent of purchase price, the remaining amounts to be paid in installments of 20 per cent, each on the fifteenth of each month thereafter.

As the Salisbury Baseball Club has been organized as a community project, it is to be hoped that everyone interested in the great national outdoor sport will subscribe generously to the stock.

ODD FELLOWS MEET IN THEIR NEW TEMPLE

Newton Lodge, No. 56, I. O. O. F.
Met For First Time In Their New Lodge Room Tuesday Night.

On Tuesday night, November 1,
Newton Lodge, No. 56, I. O. O. F., held their first meeting in their new lodge room located in the Odd Fellows Temple, E. Main Street. The building is not quite completed, but the magnificent lodge room is practically completed.

This hall, the largest lodge room in Salisbury, is 38 feet by 61 feet, with a height of 14 feet. It is lighted by four large electric globes and has in addition a central lighting apparatus especially designed for degree work, presented to the lodge by L. Ingersoll.
A class of about 30 candidates was initiated, and it was announced that there were 183 names on the desk, so that it is more than probable that the candidates will number 200 or more from Newton alone for the big doin's on Friday, November 11.

From Kent county, Md., to Cape Charles, Va., reports have come in that legions in all this territory will be present on that day, each bringing its quota of candidates. The parade at 2 P. M. November 11, will have at least 1500 in line and may reach greater proportions than that. Every Odd Fellow should be in line on that day. Report at 1 P. M., Armory, Salisbury, Md.

THREE BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED BY CITY COUNCIL

At a meeting of the City Council on Monday night, the following building permits were granted: Dr. Chas.
T. Fisher, to build an addition to the garage on the north side of Bush street adjoining his own property. J.
Waller Williams, to erect a brick Building on the north side of Church street adjoining the property of Ulyss C. Wimbrow. Edwin F. Wallace, to erect a dwelling on the north side of Washington street, adjoining the property of Jos. Chatham.

FOUR SALISBURIANS HURT IN AUTO SMASH

Raymond Wimbrow, Linwood Morris,
Wm. Windsor and Claude Nock Injured in Bad Accident

Three Salisbury young men were badly injured and one escaped with a few scratches and a severe shaking-up, in an automobile accident that occurred last Wednesday night on the State road about a quarter of a mile from Loretto Station.

As a result of the accident, Messrs Linwood Morris and Raymond Wimbrow are in the Peninsula General Hospital, the former suffering from a fractured leg and the latter with both legs broken and serious internal injuries. Mr. William Windsor was badly cut about the face and arms and was carried to his home after receiving treatment at the Peninsula General Hospital. The other occupant of the car, Mr. Claude Nock, sustained only a few minor injuries.

According to reports of the accident, it occurred about 11 o'clock at night and was due to the big Nash car, which was owned and driven by Mr. Morris, striking a culvert. The car is said to have turned over two or three times and struck with terrible force against a tree. It also is reported that the accident happened when the lights of the car suddenly went out, and the driver lost control of his car. The car, which was practically new, was almost completely demolished.

High School Soccer Teams Clash Today

Wicomico High and Delmar High Will Engage in Battle at Gordy Park
This Afternoon

Delmar High School will clash at soccer with Wicomico High School team this afternoon (Thursday) at Gordy Park, the game starting at 3:30 P. M. This will be the first game that the local high school team has played in the County High School So-cer League. Delmar has played two games, the opponents of the Delmar-ians on each occasion being the Sharp-town team, and has won one game and lost one.

Wicomico High has played two practice games with Crisfield. In the first encounter, the local team was vanquished by a score of 1 to 0, but in the final battle staged here last Thursday, the local team succeeded in coming out on the long end of a 3 to 1 score. Since that time the local boys have been speeding up their playing and are now on edge to put forth their best efforts.

REVIVALS AT ARMORY WILL CLOSE SUNDAY

McCombe-Clase Campaign To Come To An End With Big Sunday Meetings.

LARGE CROWDS HAVE BEEN IN ATTENDANCE

Dr. McCombe, Prof. Clase and Mr.
And Mrs. Roberts Have Won The Hearts Of Their Audiences—Last Sunday's Services Drew Forth Record Crowds To Hear Evangelists.

It is with a deep feeling of sorrow that many realize that the campaign in the Armory which is being conducted by McCombe and Clase under the auspices of Asbury M. E. Church is so nearly over, but the great work that has been started in our city beginning and the influence of these services should be felt all throughout the city.

The real spirit of the campaign has been far reaching. It has brought great good to our city and the full results cannot be told in the terms of the present day; only in the hereafter will the entire good accomplished be known.

The campaign is drawing to a close and as the opportunity to hear and enjoy these people grows less crowds will be clamoring to get in to the Armory. Everyone of the remaining services is too good to be missed and the program for the week gives evidence of a feast of good things in store for those who attend.

The campaign will be brought to a close with a great day Sunday.
At the morning service, 11 a. m., the subject of Dr. McCombe's sermon will be "After the Revival What?"
In the afternoon Mrs. Roberts will speak to women only in the Asbury M. E. Church and judging by the crowds of the previous Sunday afternoons seats will be at a premium next Sunday. At the same hour in the Armory, Dr. McCombe will speak to men only on "The Unpardonable Sin." The members of the party state that this is one of Dr. Mc-Combe's strongest sermons. In the evening at the Armory service Prof.
Clase says the service will commence just as soon as the building is filled, and judging by the previous Sunday evenings this will be about 6:45 p. m.

On Monday morning the party will leave at 7:37 for their homes in Ohio

INTERESTING COLLECTION OF CURRENCY

Made By Mr. Howard Ruark And On Display At Salisbury National Bank.

MONEY OF NEARLY ALL FOREIGN NATIONS SHOWN

Presents Interesting Study In Values
As Normal Worth And Present
Values Are Set Forth—1000-Mark
Note Of Poland, Formerly Worth
$238.21, Now Valued At 23 Cents.

An interesting collection of foreign currency has been made by Mr. Howard H. Ruark, head of the foreign department of the Salisbury National Bank, and the collection now is on exhibition at the bank, all neatly framed and hanging on the wall on the west side of the bank's rotunda.
This collection, which consists of currency from many of the principal foreign countries of the world, presents an interesting study in values.
Underneath each bit of currency is given the pre-war value thereof and also the present value. In view of the fact that foreign currency in most instances has greatly depreciated, it is really astonishing to note the present values of some of the paper money when figured in dollars.

For instance, the 1000-mark note of Poland, which formerly was worth $238.21 in American money, now has a value of approximately 23 cents.
The 500-Ruble note of the Bolshevik Government—a government which has been working its printing presses over-time in turning out paper money —has so depreciated in value that it is practically worthless. At least, it would take about a bushel full of 'em to produce an equivalent in coin to give even a slight metallic sound. On the other hand, the 5-franc note of Switzerland has depreciated very little in value, its pre-war time value being $0.96 and present value, $0.92.

One of the finest specimens of engraving, and one of the most beautiful of all the notes in the collection, is the 100-Roubles note of the pre-war Russian Government. Its normal value was $51.46, but it now is worth $0.07.

Following is a list of the currency in the collection, with its pre-war and present values set forth:
Poland—1000 mark; normal, $238-
21; present, $0.23.
Italy—50-Lire; normal, $0.65; present, $1.96.
India—5-Rupees; normal, $1.62;
present, $1.35.

Austria—100-Kronen; normal, $20-26; present, $0.05.
Bulgaria—10-Levs; normal, $1.03;
present, $0.08.
Argentina—1-Peso; normal, $0.42;
present, $0.32.

Spain—25-Pesetas; normal, $4.82;
present, $3.24.
Holland—1 Guilder; normal, $0.40;

Do You Know Why Pedricks Are the Best Piston Rings?

They go right to the bottom of piston trouble and stop the leakage of compression and oil where it occurs with the ordinary ring—past the face and the back of the ring.

To do that a piston ring has to be round—accurately and perfectly round—and it has to press outward against the cylinder wall with the same amount of pressure at all points.

That's exactly what Pedrick True-Fit Rings do. They are made by a patented process which insures a ring that will stay round under all conditions; that fits the piston grooves perfectly and prevents any leakage past the back of the ring; that holds its shape permanently, regardless of operating heat; that seals the cylinder thoroughly and completely, giving more power, more gasoline mileage, less oil consumption and freedom from smoke and carbon.

Here's a simple test:

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under the unqualified guarantee that they will produce more power, save more fuel, save more oil and have more effect in reducing carbon and smoke, than any other piston ring made.

The customer will be the sole judge. If he is not satisfied that Pedrick True-Fit Rings make good all claims, the dealer is authorized to refund the purchase price any time within six months from date of sale, and the manufacturer will refund the dealer's money without question.

PUBLIC OPINION ON DISARMAMENT PARLEY

Men and Women Nationally Prominent Are Strongly in Favor of Curtailing Armaments

(Contributed by Supt. Tri-County
W. C. T. U.)

Realizing that all good citizens are vitally interested in limitation of Armaments, let our mind and hearts turn in prayerful attitude toward the great International Peace Conference that is to be held in Washington on November 11.

Will not our good people of Salisbury and community write letters at once to President Harding and Secretary Hughes, assuring them of our intense interest and commend the president for calling into the conference representatives of great nations for the purpose of entering into an understanding or agreement for international limitation of armaments to secure the peace of the world?

Hear what some of our great men and women say about disarmament: Gen. John J. Pershing: "Every right-thinking man and woman ought to take some steps to prevent the recurrence of a world war. An important step would be to curtail expenditures for armies and navies. It is a gloomy commentary on world conditions that congress should be called upon to appropriate for war purposes for the next fiscal year over five millions for every working day of the year."

Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, (chief of Staff U. S. A.): "Disarmament is the only means of preserving the world from bankruptcy, and civilization from ruin."

Herbert Hoover: "There is no more inconceivable folly than this continued riot of expenditures on battle-fields at a time when great masses of humanity are dying of starvation."

President Harding, in a speech delivered on July 14, 1921, over the bodies of service men, said: "This must not happen again. I want an America that will teach men that it is not good to make warfare. I believe this is going to be the mission of our America."

Alice Ames Winter, president National Federation of Women's Clubs: "All the things that we women work for—citizenship, education, public health, good institutions, home-life, child welfare, are activities of peace. War sweeps them into the dust heap. It may easily become one of those hideous cataclysms that wipe out a civilization and destroys a race. The very permission to live at all, the very existence of our children, the building up of all that makes life worth living, depends on choking it down. Can we play only with small things, the minor-interests, when the world is making its choice—which shall it be, war or peace, life or death?"

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of N. Y. Bureau of Military Training: "It is inconceivable to me when I hear men talk of the next war in a matter of fact way. It cannot be that they have any conception of what the next war will be like. It will be no hideous in its devastation that it will matter little which side wins, for both will be ruined."

Anna A. Gordon, national president W. C. T. U.: "From the highest vantage point in the United States to its remotest corner, sentiment for peace and arbitration, sentiment favoring world disarmament increasingly must be created, and constantly kept at white heat."

Are You Out of Work?

Phone 1006, Chamber of Commerce, and perhaps something can be done for you.

Do You Want Work Done?

Phone 1006, Chamber of Commerce, and perhaps someone to do that work can be found.

The question of unemployment in Salisbury is serious. Those who are out of work should get in touch with a central agency and the Chamber of Commerce has decided to act as such an agency.

Do you need a job? Call the Secretary of the Chamber. If you feel that you can have your yard cleaned up, little repairs about the house made, cleaning windows, beating carpets, washing autos, odd jobs of painting or white-washing done—anything that will give employment to some one even if only for an hour or two—phone the Chamber and leave your name and address. Let every citizen in the city do what he can to relieve the situation. Combined effort will do much to solve the problem—and remember that it is YOUR problem as much as it is your neighbor's!

CAPT. JOHN T. TAYLOR IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

One of Salisbury's Oldest Citizens
Died Friday Night—Was 91
Years of Age

Capt. John Thomas Taylor, one of the city's oldest and most highly respected citizens died at his home, Newton street, on Friday night last, his death being due to the infirmities of old age. Born on April 4, 1830, near Upper Ferry, on the Wicomico River, in what was then Somerset County, Capt. Taylor started following the water when very young and soon became master of a vessel. The farm on which he was born adjoined that on which Samuel Chase, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was born and raised. Capt. T. W. H. White, another Wicomico County pioneer, was also a neighbor.

He sailed on vessels of the old merchants of Salisbury, with some of whom he had a partnership, William Freney, John D. Williams, Humphrey Humphreys, and others being noted shippers of lumber and grain in those days. After retiring as a sailor thirty years ago he became head of the lumber yards of Humphreys & Tilghman and for the last years of his life was with L. E. Williams & Co.

He was noted for his accuracy and quickness in the measuring of lumber. His memory up to the time of his death was remarkable and he could recall the names of most of the ships which went in and out of this port during his boyhood. He was of a charitable disposition and did many acts of kindness in a quiet way, and was a member of Bethesda M. P. Church.

The deceased is survived by the following children: Misses Virginia and Victoria Taylor, Mrs. C. L. Dickerson, of this city; J. Thomas Taylor, Jr., Princess Anne, and Benjamin W. Taylor, of Washington, N. C. Geo. Victor Taylor who is attending school in Milwaukee is a grandson. Funeral services which were largely attended, were held from his late home on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, the Rev. R. L. Shipley, officiating. Interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

The pallbearers were, Albert C. Smith, O. Straughn Lloyd, E. Jackson Pusey, Charles P. Coates, Wm. T. Banks, and E. Stanley Toadwine, rear neighbors and old friends of the deceased. There was a very large attendance of his old and young friends at the funeral services, as his memory was deep in the affections of the young, the old, the rich and the poor, who appreciated the life and character of one who had been a consistent Christian for over fifty years and who had lived the life of a true and worthy citizen of his county and state.

The same may be said of watermelons, strawberries, peaches, apples, tomatoes, potatoes, both sweet and white. There will be at least four speakers on white potatoes and three on sweet potatoes.

Besides these topics, Dr. Headlee will tell about the insect and diseases of fruit. Other speakers will talk about the value of liquid and dust spraying.

The work of The National Farm Bureau and The North American Fruit Exchange will be fully discussed. The program in detail will be announced in a short time.

A most interesting and attractive exhibit of fruit and vegetables will be held in the garden close to the Globe Theatre, where the meeting is to be held.

Brief Sketches of The Candidates For Public Offices

The News herewith presents short biographical sketches of the candidates for House of Delegates from this county and the candidates for the office of Sheriff of Wicomico. All the sketches have been written in an impartial manner, and in each instance the subject matter comprising the brief resume of the life of each candidate was sought and is printed solely as a news item. In fairness to the candidates, The News further wishes it made clear that all the articles were written without solicitation of any kind on the part of the candidates, and they are not in any way, shape or form in the nature of paid advertisements, either directly or indirectly. Last week, The News published brief sketches of the candidates for Clerk of Court, Register of Wills and County Commissioners.

HENRY WHITE ROBERTS Democratic Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Henry White Roberts, democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, was born in Clara, Nanticoke District, on February 17, 1876, and is the son of the late James Massey Roberts and Olivia A. Roberts. His father was one of the most prominent democrats in the county and for a number of years conducted a big general merchandise store at Clara. The subject of this sketch was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county and ever since he left school he has been engaged in farming and the canning business. He has made a success in both lines of endeavor and is held in the highest esteem by the citizenry of this county. Mr. Roberts is considered by all who know him as being a broad-visioned, energetic, public-spirited man, and one who, if elected, will serve his county and state with distinction. He is intensely interested in the movements for better roads and better schools, and his friends all aver that he can be counted upon to do that which will rebound to the best interests of the county at all times.

Possessing an acquaintanceship that extends throughout the entire county, and numbering his friends by the score, these same friends of the candidate are waging for him an intensive campaign. They point with pride to his splendid record as an upright business man and also to his ability to talk convincingly and to the point on subjects of public interest.

Mr. Roberts is married and has three children. His wife, who was Miss Ruby F. Toadvine, before her marriage, is the daughter of Henry Toadvine, a brother of Stephen P. Toadvine, formerly clerk of the court for Wicomico county, and an uncle of Ernest A. Toadvine, also a former clerk of the court of this county. Mr. Roberts is a brother of John B. Roberts, democratic candidate for county treasurer of Somerset.

He is a member of Manokin Lodge A. F. & A. M., and is a charter member of Salisbury Lodge No. 715, Loyal Order of Moose. He is a director of the Bank of Somerset, Princess Anne, and also a director of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Somerset and Worcester counties. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

JOHN G. BRITTINGHAM Republican Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

John G. Brittingham, republican candidate for the House of Delegates, was born near the town of Willards, on March 22, 1872, and is the son of Daniel G. Brittingham and the late Levinia E. Brittingham. Mr. Brittingham received his education in the Wicomico county public schools and after leaving school he was engaged in farm work with his father until he reached the age of eighteen. He moved to Salisbury about 30 years ago and has been living in Parsons District ever since he located here. Starting out by driving a horse and wagon and working for two or three seasons at basket making, Mr. Brittingham later entered the lumber business. For twenty-three years he has been associated with the L. E. Williams & company, lumber dealers working himself up from a small job until today he is superintendent of the entire plant.

While Mr. Brittingham has never run for public office, he has always been an indefatigable worker in the interests of his party, and includes among his friends many of the most prominent people in all parts of the county. Having been born on a farm, he is naturally very interested in farm problems of every nature, and his friends claim that the farmers will have no better representative in the Maryland legislative halls than Mr. Brittingham if he is elected to office. The subject of this sketch is a member of Newton Lodge No. 56, Odd Fellows, Enterprise Encampment No. 23, Odd Fellows, Helping Hand Rebekahs No. 23, P. O. S. of A., and State Council Secretary of the Order United American Men. Last week he was elected National Representative of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty. He is secretary of the local lodge, Odd Fellows, and is generally regarded as a capable and efficient executive—as a man who thinks clearly and along progressive lines.

Mr. Brittingham is a member of Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church, and for 23 years he has been secretary of the Sunday School of that church. In this connection, it is noteworthy that during his twenty-three years of service as secretary of the Sunday School, he has never missed being present a single Sunday during his whole tenure of office.

JEHU D. DOLBEY Democratic Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Jehu D. Dolbey, democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, was born at White Haven, Tyaskin District, fifty-nine years ago, and is the son of the late Stephen W. Dolbey and M. A. Dolbey. His father settled in Wicomico county about 65 years ago, having come here from New Haven Conn., and he was one of the most prominent democrats of the county up until the time of his death.

The subject of this sketch was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county, and at the present time is engaged in farming and also as a traveling salesman for his brother, W. H. Dolbey, flour manufacturer of White Haven. Mr. Dolbey also has been interested in the canning business.

While he never ran for public office, Mr. Dolbey is widely known all throughout the county. He is a man who is held in the highest esteem by everyone who knows him, and is a citizen of unquestioned integrity. He has had a versatile experience in business and is deeply alive to the problems of the day. If elected as a member of the approaching General Assembly, his friends are unanimously of the opinion that he will always have the best interests of his county and state at heart, and that his voice always will be found aligned with measures that are progressive in every way.

Mr. Dolbey is of the type of citizen who works quietly but determinedly for the good of the people. While he has never been active in politics, so far as the limelight of publicity is concerned, nevertheless he has been a consistent worker—and one who has consumed a lot of good for his party. He enjoys a wide acquaintance, and the friends that he has made are ready to stand by him through thick and thin to help him get the seat in the legislative halls, that he is seeking.

These same friends contend that to send a man of Mr. Dolbey's high caliber to the General Assembly, will mean that Wicomico county will be most ably represented at Annapolis. Mr. Dolbey is married and has four children. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

JOHN W. HARRINGTON Republican Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

John W. Harrington, republican candidate for the House of Delegates, was born in Bivalve, September 20, 1871, and is the son of the late John T. and Sallie Harrington. He received his education in the public schools of Wicomico county, and about fourteen years ago he left Bivalve and bought a farm on the Spring Hill road about three miles and a half from Salisbury, where he now is engaged in general farming.

Mr. Harrington, early in life was engaged in oystering, and he is as fully cognizant of the needs of that industry as he is of the problems that the farmer has to face. In fact, he has always evinced the greatest interest in matters that touch upon the welfare of the county, whether it be farming good roads, school conditions, oyster problems, or anything else, and he is eager to serve his county in the legislature in the hope that he can be instrumental in helping to enact progressive measures that will greatly aid to the prestige of Wicomico and his State.

As a farmer, Mr. Harrington has been successful in raising fine crops of cantaloupes, watermelons, cucumbers and potatoes, and he is intensely interested in agricultural work. For many years, watermelons have been a great specialty with him, and he is a firm believer in the oft-repeated saying that the Wicomico melons are the best in the world for flavor and delicious edible qualities.

Mr. Harrington is a quiet, unassuming man, but he possesses those qualities of the quietly aggressive fighter who lacks no opposition in matters how large or small, in a determined, fearless way that is not to be denied. He has many friends in every part of the county, and they have full confidence in his ability to serve his county with great credit should the voters decide to send him to the House of Delegates.

In 1919, Mr. Harrington was a candidate for Judge of the Orphans Court of Wicomico County.

He is a member of Wicomico Lodge No. 81, Knights of Pythias, and a member of Newton Lodge No. 56, Odd Fellows, having been a member of the Odd Fellows for twenty-seven years. He also is a member of the Bivalve Methodist Protestant Church.

REX A. TAYLOR Democratic Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Rex A. Taylor, democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, was born on his father's farm "Pemberton's Estate," about two miles from Salisbury, on November 18, 1895, and is the son of James I. Taylor and Mary D. Taylor. His maternal grandfather was Henry Wesley Anderson, who was very active in democratic politics in this county for a number of years, having at one time served on the board of county commissioners and also as a member of the General Assembly. His paternal grandfather Cadmus J. Taylor, also was very active in democratic politics of the county, although he never held public office of any kind.

Mr. Taylor is engaged in the practice of law in Salisbury with his brother, Seth P. Taylor, under the firm name of Taylor & Taylor, and he also is associated with his father in farming.

After graduating from Wicomico High School in 1915, he entered the University of Virginia where he took the Bachelor of Science course, which fitted him for the law studies he was to later pursue at the University of Maryland. Entering the University of Maryland Law School, he graduated with honors from that institution in 1920.

In the fall of 1917, Mr. Taylor was connected with the Liberty Loan Bureau of the Baltimore Sun, doing his work while at the same time attending to his studies at the law school. In 1918 and 1919, he was in the army, being stationed at Camp Meade with the Thirty-Second Regiment, Field Artillery, Eleventh Division. During the terrible "flu" epidemic which visited Camp Meade in 1918, Mr. Taylor was stricken with the dreaded disease, which kept him in the base hospital for fourteen days.

Last Fall, Mr. Taylor was associated with the United States Internal Revenue Department in Baltimore, and during the political campaign of 1920 he helped his party by making speeches in various sections of the city. This work gave him invaluable experience which has served him in good stead during his own campaign this year.

Owing to his ability as a public speaker and ready debater, and the fact that he is possessed of a clear-thinking brain, the many friends of Mr. Taylor predict for him a brilliant future. They claim that he will represent the county in the legislative halls of the State, and that he will reflect great credit upon this section. In his religious conviction, he is a Presbyterian.

PETER BOUNDS Republican Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Peter Bounds, republican candidate for the House of Delegates was born in Siloam, October 1884, and lived in the section until he came to Salisbury about twenty years ago. He is the son of the late Jones Bounds and Ann Bounds and was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county.

In 1886, Mr. Bounds started in the mercantile business in Siloam, which he successfully conducted for several years. In 1892, he purchased the H. J. Dashiell farm, opposite old Green Hill Church, and entered upon the growing of strawberries on an extensive scale. This farm, which consists of about 250 acres, is one of the most historic places in the county, it being the birthplace of Samuel Chase, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The house where the famous Marylander was born is still standing.

Desiring to move to Salisbury, Mr. Bounds, in 1901, sold the Dashiell farm to his cousin and brought R. B. White's residence on Camden avenue, opposite Camden court. Located here he formed a partnership with W. E. Howard and conducted a wholesale grocery business under the firm name of Howard Grocery Company. This business grew rapidly and the original quarters were found inadequate and in 1903 Mr. Bounds bought out the interest of his partner and moved the business into the quarters now occupied by Turner Bros. Company. He sold out his interests to Turner Bros. Co., in 1905 and went into the business of buying timber land and operating saw mills both in Wicomico and on the Western Shore. At one time he had three schooners carrying timber for him and fifty men helping him with his lumber interests. He later sold his vessels and lumber business, and at the present time is engaged in buying and selling real estate.

Mr. Bounds was a candidate for county commissioner at the time the late Elihu E. Jackson ran for Governor of Maryland, in 1887. He is a man who has been successful in life and one who is ardently interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of his county, county and state. He is alert and progressive and believes in doing things in a big, substantial way. In 1887, he married Maydel Bounds, of Siloam, a daughter of John H. Bounds, and is the proud father of three charming daughters.

L. THOMAS PARKER Democratic Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

L. Thomas Parker, democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, was born in Sussex County, Delaware, on the Maryland-Delaware line near Line Church, on November 9, 1881, and is the son of Henry J. Parker and Nancy E. Parker. At an early age, his family moved to Salisbury, and ever since he was in his teens, Mr. Parker has been a consistent and active proponent of every measure that tended to advance the interests of the county and state.

When he was 11 years old, he accepted a position with the firm of E. S. Adkins & Company, and by constant application to work, indomitable courage and excellent ability, he rose step by step until today he occupies the position of general superintendent of the plant. His persistency in going right to the bottom of things and in mastering every detail of the task he set out to accomplish not only won him success in his chosen line of work—the lumber business—but it also is an attribute of character which his host of friends are pointing to as being an invaluable asset for a legislator to possess.

That Mr. Parker has friends who are loyal and true is attested by the fact that he has never been defeated for office. This is so because all of his friends are aware of the fact that he is honest to the core and that he is always to be found working with might and main for the public interest.

In 1911, Mr. Parker was elected a member of the City Council of Salisbury; he was re-elected in 1913, and again re-elected in 1916. He was president of the council for two years. It was during his tenure of office as councilman that big street improvements in the city were made—when East Main street, Railroad avenue, South Division, Camden and Mill streets were improved.

Early in his term as a member of the council, he helped to wage the fight for motorizing the local fire department, with the result that we now have here one of the finest fire-fighting departments in the State, and insurance premiums have considerably dropped from the former rates. He also was active in having the Pennsylvania Railroad build a larger station for the city than the original plans called for. Residents of East Salisbury will never forget the good work he helped to accomplish in getting a new school for that section and in having the city's water mains extended there. In fact, his whole record while he was a member of the council was one of splendid public service.

He is a member of the O. U. A. M., the Odd Fellows, Moose and Daughters of Liberty, and a member of Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church. He also is a member of the firm of E. S. Adkins & Company and was one of the organizers of the W. F. Mesick Ice Company, of which concern he is a stockholder.

HOWARD S. BENNETT Republican Candidate HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Howard S. Bennett, republican candidate for the House of Delegates, was born in Sharptown, on January 28, 1891, and is the son of J. Rigin Bennett and Naomi Bennett.

After attending the public schools of Wicomico county, Mr. Bennett matriculated as a pupil of the Atlantic Telegraph Institute, which was formerly located at Delmar, Del., and graduated from that institution in 1907. He accepted a position with the P. & N. R. Co., and was made operator and assistant relief agent and block operator on the Division. He served with the railroad company for seven years, and during three years of this period he acted as relief assistant cashier of the Eastern Shore Banking Co., of Keller, Va.

In September 1914, Mr. Bennett resigned his position with the railroad and took up the study of pharmacy at the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, from which institution he was graduated in June, 1916. He was then put in charge of the dispensing laboratory and book department of the college for one year, but resigned in January, 1917, and purchased an interest in the drug firm of T. A. Miller Company, one of the largest drug stores in Richmond.

When the United States entered the war, Mr. Bennett sold out his interest in the drug store and enlisted in the Signal Corps. He was sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., and from there to Fort Wood, N. Y. While at Fort Wood, Mr. Bennett was selected from a big list because of his business ability and initiative and transferred to Headquarters, Port of Embarkation, Signal Corps, N. Y. City. He was placed in charge as chief clerk in the confidential department and promoted to the rank of sergeant. Later he was promoted to the rank of Chief Clerk of the Civilian and Enlisted Personnel Department, and still later, to the rank of Master Signal Electrician, which rank he held when he was returned to civilian life, December 16, 1918.

Upon leaving the army, Mr. Bennett returned to Sharptown and opened up a drug store in that town under the name of Bennett's Pharmacy, which business he is still conducting. Mr. Bennett is a member of the Phi Theta Sigma college fraternity, a member of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, and the American Pharmaceutical Association, and a member of the Knights of Pythias and Masonic Lodges. He is superintendent of the Sunday School of Salisbury M. E. Church, Sharptown, and also a member of the official board of that church.

ULYS C. WIMBROW Republican Candidate SHERIFF

Ulyss C. Wimbrow, who is republican candidate for Sheriff of Wicomico county, was born in Nutter District on March 13, 1882, and is the only son of Joseph Henry Wimbrow and Leah C. Wimbrow. He was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county and shortly after leaving school went into the lumber business. He first started by running a sawmill and later went into business for himself. Most of the time he spent in the lumber business was taken up with operations in Worcester county. For three years, however, he operated two tracts there—one in Venton (Hager) and the other at Oriole.

About eight years ago, Mr. Wimbrow came to Salisbury and made this city his home. Upon his arrival here, he built the concrete building that the Star Shirt Mfg. Co., used as their first plant, and which is now used by Eldman Bros., as a warehouse. Shortly after, he bought the Catholic Church property, remodeled the building, built additions to the front and rear of the property and engaged in the vulcanizing business for four years in the back end of the remodeled structure.

In September 1920, he sold out his vulcanizing business and now is devoting his entire time and attention to the sale of automobiles. He conducts the well known U. C. Wimbrow Garage, on West Church street, and is agent for the Haynes and Cleveland cars.

Mr. Wimbrow is widely known in both the city and county. He is a man of strict integrity and one who has the happy faculty of making friends by the score, and these friends are convinced that he would fill with great distinction the office of sheriff if the voters see fit to elect him. That he is progressive is shown by the success he has met with in his business pursuits.

This is the first time Mr. Wimbrow has ever run for office, but he has for many years been actively identified with his party. He is a member of the Salisbury Lodge of Elks, No. 817.

JOHN H. FARLOW Democratic Candidate SHERIFF

John H. Farlow, democratic candidate for Sheriff of Wicomico County, was born in Parsons District, Salisbury, on June 21, 1877, and is the son of the late George R. Farlow and Hester Farlow. His father was an old-line democrat and was one of the most prominent men of his party in the county during his life time.

Mr. Farlow was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county. Mr. Farlow has had a versatile experience in business and in public affairs ever since he laid aside his school books. While he has never run for office, in 1920 he was made assistant secretary of the Finance Committee of the Maryland Senate, and he performed the duties of his office with great credit. He later was employed in the U. S. Census Office in Washington, and when he resigned this position he was the recipient of an exceptional fine letter from the Director of census complimenting him upon the excellence of his work while a member of the census bureau.

At the present time, Mr. Farlow is the representative of the firm of Kemper-Thomas Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, manufacturers of advertising matter of every description, including signs, calendars and all sorts of novelties. He has been with the big Western firm for several years, and has succeeded in building up the firm's business in this section by leaps and bounds. In every city, town and village of the whole Peninsula from Wilmington to Cape Charles, Mr. Farlow, by his initiative and progressive ways, has made the products of his firm well and favorably known—and in each of these places he also has

HUMANITY'S REAL NEWS IN HOME TOWN PAPERS

That's Why We Want To Tell Our Readers Why There's Going To Be Such A Thing As A "Subscribe For Your Town Paper" Week.

(By R. T. Porte)

It is a notable fact that with all the wonderful things that have been written about the so-called "country newspapers," very few of them realize all their possibilities, or what an influence they are in the world.

It is also a notable fact that very few of the readers of those papers realize what a loss it would be to them and to the world if the "country paper" should cease to exist. The large papers, with immense circulations, tell of "world happenings" as they understand them, and display heads telling of the latest scandals, prize fights, and the misfortunes of humanity.

But it remains for the local "home town paper" to really give the news of the world, or that of Mr. Common People and his wife.

It is time that the country newspaper should do something to place itself on a higher plane, and also make some noise. Just one paper to start something would not amount to much, but if the 15,000 country papers would join in the chorus, a noise that would go around the world would result.

Sometime ago I was going through some trade paper, or bulletin of a state press association, or something of that kind, and noted that somebody wrote that it might be a good idea to have a "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week." I smiled at the idea at first, but some way the idea stuck, and then I started to find out who originated the idea, but the paper was lost.

The publisher who thought of the idea just let it go at that, but I decided that it was so good, that it should not die, so at once asked all the trade papers, printers' magazines, and the great printers' supply houses what they thought of the idea.

The officers of the National Editorial Association were written to, and in fact some two hundred letters were sent out.

The result was that everyone wrote that the idea was just the thing, and by common consent it was decided that the week of November 7 to 12 be adopted as the week to be known as "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper Week."

It is now up to the newspapers of the country, the home town papers,

R. T. PORTE

President of the Porte Publishing Co. of Salt Lake City, and one of the country newspaper's greatest friends to see the wonderful possibilities of such a week, where in every locality readers will be asked to subscribe for the home town paper, and in addition to the home town paper where they were born—if they were not born where they now live.

In this way every home town paper will help every other home town paper, and by concentrating the efforts to one week, or three or four weeks, the home town paper will receive the publicity it is entitled to.

The home town paper is ever ready to "boost" for the other fellow, to print item after item about this and that kind of day or week—the time has come for it to boost and blow its own bugle for itself, to print several columns about itself and all home town papers, to put on a campaign of publicity, and take advantage of what other papers will do.

In other words, throw its hat into the ring, and put up a fight that will get it somewhere instead of sitting on the side lines and hollerin' for the other fellow.

Viola Dana

Perhaps out of consideration of the feelings of her parents, Viola Dana, the dainty star, waited until she was quite grown up before going on the stage. Her first public appearance—she made her debut as a dancer—did not come, therefore, until Miss Dana was fully five years old. She was born in Brooklyn; has two sisters, both on the screen—Shirley Mason and Edna Flugrath.

EVERYDAY SALADS.

A MOST acceptable salad may be made of a few leftovers if the combination is good. Many a good bit of food is thrown away for lack of knowing how to use it wisely.

Potato and Corn Salad.

Take a pint or less of cold boiled potatoes cut in half-inch cubes, add one cupful of green corn cooked on the cob, a bit of chopped green pepper if at hand, a little scraped onion to give it zest and enough well seasoned dressing to moisten, adding salt and pepper to season.

Hot Corn and Pepper Salad.

Take a pint of sweet corn (fresh) and just cut from the cob. Shred or mince one green pepper and cook in a little butter until well softened, add the green corn and more butter, stirring and mixing well over the fire. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne and serve piping hot. It is wise to double this recipe if the family is at all fond of corn for there is never a kernel left.

Crisp Lettuce With Peanuts.

Wash a bunch or two of tender head lettuce, drain and dry thoroughly, arrange on individual plates and sprinkle with fresh crisp peanuts that have been crushed by rolling with the rolling pin until like coarse crumbs. Serve with a French dressing passed at the table or with a good bottled dressing. Adding the dressing to the lettuce, if it stands any length of time, wilts it and destroys its attractiveness.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"COUNTY."

WHEN a Saxon king created an earl, it was the natural thing that he should be endowed with a certain section of land over which he held jurisdiction, therefore a "share" of ground was assigned to him to govern—a custom to which the English "shire" is directly traceable. But, at the time of the Norman conquest, the Saxon earls were replaced by Norman counts, titles borrowed from the later Roman empire and originally meaning "companion," one who had the honor of being closest to his leader. The "shares" or "shires" therefore became "counties" or lands governed by the counts.

In that singular fortune of words which causes some to disappear, even under circumstances most favorable to their life, while others hold their own when everything seems to oppose them, the title "county" has vanished from the roster of British nobility and "enril" has recovered its place, though the wife of an earl is still known as a "countess," thus proving the essential identity of the two words. In England the "shire" and the "county" still survive, while county is the accepted American term and shire remains only in names, which, like New Hampshire, have been imported bodily from across the Atlantic.

How It Started

THE UMBRELLA.

THE modern umbrella is a lineal descendant of the gorgeous canopies which slaves carried to shield the royalties of old from the sun. The rolling umbrella, to protect against rain was not generally used till about 1752. Even then it was an object of ridicule. James Hanway, who died in 1780, is credited with being the first Englishman habitually to carry an umbrella. The modern steel rib was invented by Samuel Fox in 1802.

MARTYRS AND MENACES

(By Margaret Steel Hard)

We are all familiar with the memorable scene enacted in Mrs. Ruggles' kitchen (The Bird's Christmas Carol) when Mrs. Ruggles, distraught and determined, struggled to impart the rules of polite behavior in the minds of her nine harem-searum youngsters during the space of a few fleeting hours. The scene was occasioned by their most immediate appearance at Mrs. Bird's dinner-table and their mother's terror lest they conduct themselves in too outrageous a manner.

Today, mothers are confronted with the same problem; though in a less acute and humorous degree. Children go forth to take part in a larger group than the immediate family one, and unless we have managed wisely and surely from the very beginning, we are beset with the same misgivings which Mrs. Ruggles endured; the almost certain knowledge that they may cause us mortification and chagrin.

It may be in the home realization comes. How many, entertaining a caller, have experienced the disagreeable of finding that half of untidy consideration and inattention looked at home, become a stumbling block at school. How many look upon this child with indignation and pity. Indignation that his parents have allowed to come to such a pass; pity that the child must face existence so handicapped at the start.

The mistaken devotion which for granted that all restriction child's desires means deprivation which cannot bear to see a child suffer temporary disappointment or punishment allows him to develop an individuality which later will sap and prey upon all other individuals with whom he comes in contact.

The mother who trails after her children all day, picking up mislaid playthings and articles of clothing, who makes countless trips upstairs in answer to repeated calls after they are supposed to have gone to bed,

EFFECTS OF "CANCER WEEK" ARE EXPLAINED BY HENRY L. MENCKEN

Sign To Enlighten The Public As To Nature Of Dread Disease Is Being Conducted This Week In All Parts Of The United States—Mencken's Article On The Subject Is Very Interesting.

Written by H. L. Mencken, at the at of and with the approval of Maryland Cancer Committee, representing the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The object of Cancer Week is not to spread alarm about cancer, but to bring hope. The surgical experience of the past few decades has proven that cancer, in most cases, can be prevented—that early treatment will dispose of it and work a complete cure. Furthermore, this experience has also demonstrated that a cancer does not begin as a cancer—that at first it is always something else; a lump, a wart, a mole, an ulcer, a bruise, a burn—something that, in itself, is harmless enough. How sure things turn into cancer is not known, but that they do it is abundantly proved. The aim of the cancer education is to cause the public to take notice of such pre-cancerous warnings.
If they are treated in time, then all cancer is disposed of. If they are neglected, there is always the chance that they will suddenly turn malignant, and bring about a condition that even the most desperate surgery cannot remedy.

Cancer is not inherited. It is a blood disease. It is not contagious.
A patient with cancer is no more dangerous to those around him than a patient with a broken arm. Just why and how cancer starts no one knows accurately, but a great deal is known about its progress after it has started. It spreads from the site of its beginning, destroys the healthy tissues of the body as it grows. It sends forth living cells which start other cancers in other parts of the body.
It gradually reduces its victims to such a condition that nothing whatever can be done for him, save palliative measures to relieve his agony.
He is hopelessly ill, and will certainly die. But this is only after the cancer has become fully developed. In its early stages there are plenty of chances to cure the patient. The best of these chances were at the very start, before the lump, the pre-cancerous wart, or ulcer or bruise had become a genuine cancer. But there were still good chances after it had become a cancer, but before it had begun to spread. Once that spreading had begun, the patient's outlook began to be dark. Slowly the odds against him mounted up until they were beyond a hundred to one. But at the start the odds in favor of him were even greater.

The pre-cancerous lesion—the lump the wart, or ulcer, or unhealed bruise or burn—behaves differently in different cases. Sometimes it remains harmless indefinitely, and the patient dies years afterward of some disease other than cancer. Sometimes a cancer develops within a few weeks.
Sometimes it takes years. But the pre-cancerous lesion is always menacing—it is always a sword suspended over the patient's head. He should get rid of it while there is yet plenty of time, for once it is gone no cancer will develop where it was. A good doctor will be able to decide what it is, and how dangerous it is; no layman can hope to do so without grave risk of fatal error. If it is of the dangerous variety, simple and painless treatment will usually dispose of it.
If it is neglected and a cancer appears then only the most radical treatment can cope with it. And in its later stages not even the most appalling operation can do more than prolong the patient's life. A pre-cancerous lesion is always curable. An early cancer is usually curable. But a late cancer is usually absolutely hopeless.

The records of every great hospital show how steadily the patient's chances of recovery decline. In some varieties of cancer, in the early stages nearly every patient who submits to proper treatment gets well, and the majority of them stay well. But as each successive stage is reached the percentage of recoveries falls, and toward the last stage it falls suddenly to zero. This last stage comes when the original cancer begins to send out colonies. These colonies start other cancers elsewhere—usually in the internal organs, beyond the reach of operation. The patient, starting with one cancer, now has many cancers, and it is quite hopeless to try to remove them. All that can be done for him is to try to relieve some of the terrible suffering of his last days.

No one knows precisely what causes cancer, or what it is. But the enormous study that has been given to the problem in late years has at least shown surgeons how to deal with it, and so the struggle against the disease begins to be hopeful. It can be cured, if taken in time. But the time to take it is before it has definitely

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief
At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up" must attend to duties inside of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains, they must stoop over, when to sleep means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills.
Keeping the kidneys well has saved thousands of women much misery.
Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.
Mrs. Theodore Short, 420 E. Isa-bella St., Salisbury, says: "My kidneys were a source of annoyance to me for some time. I felt badly mornings and could hardly get started to do my housework. My back pained a great deal and I had severe headaches and weak sinking spells. The action of my kidneys was irregular. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me, strengthening my back and kidneys."

danger of cancer—that simple treatment will suffice to remove the danger signal. And even if cancer is threatened, the treatment at this early stage is simple and painless, and the cure is certain. But every day's delay means a graver danger.
When the cancer is fully developed only the most radical treatment can do any good, and even this is usually unavailing.

But there is no reason why the great majority of cancer victims should ever get into this last stage.
The proof that early treatment might have saved them is now overwhelming. If laymen will only heed that proof—if they will seek competent advice about the signs that go before cancer—then the present high deathrate from the disease will be greatly reduced, and the world will be saved much intolerable suffering. The cancer situation is anything but hopeless.
On the contrary, it is full of hope.

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system.

There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drugs.

DEMAND FOR TREASURY NOTES BIG AID TO U. S.

Has Helped Treasury Officials In Their Operations—Next Issue To Bear Lower Interest

Demand by investors and corporations for gilt edge short term loans has been a great aid to the Treasury in its operations, and has enabled it to mark down its high interest rates of last year. Though the Treasury passed the October 15 certificate maturities and loan interest without new financing, it will probably be in the market for funds shortly.

Secretary Mellon is expected to sound out the market at a rate under 5%. All the outstanding certificates command a premium, and the issues due March 15, 1922, are selling at 4.14 to a 4.19% basis. As March 15, is a tax installment date Secretary Mellon may offer a 4 1/4% issue, dated November 1, and due March 15. At the same time he may offer certificates running about one year, possibly at 4 1/2%. It is not expected that there will be an offering of 3 year Treasury notes at this time, as such an issue was sold September 15, to refund Victory rates. The Treasury will probably wait till December 15, before making another offering of this class.

4 1/2% rate would mark the lowest on certificates. The Treasury sold Feb. 2, 1920, which matured March 15, 1920. On the issues dated March 15 and April 1, 1920, the rate was raised to 4%, and this was subsequently increased to 6% at which rate several issues were sold. The last 6% certificate was dated Dec. 15, 1920, and is due Dec. 15, 1921. In January, the rate was dropped to 5 1/4% and the rate was gradually lowered till on Sept. 15 the Treasury offered three issues, one running for six months, bearing 5%. This is now selling on a 4.9 basis.

The Treasury has sold two issues of three year notes in connection with refunding plans; one dated June 15, bearing 5 1/4% and one dated September 15, bearing 5 1/2%. Both are selling on about 5% basis, and if money conditions continue to ease toward the end of the year the Treasury will probably be able to sell its next issue of three year notes on a 5% basis, which will considerably lessen the cost of refunding.

There are no certificate maturities in November, the next and last maturity this year being the tax certificates Series T D 1921 bearing 6% and coming due December 15. There are about $389,000,000 of these certificates outstanding, and they will be offset by payment of the final installment of taxes. Interest payments on the Second Liberty Loan come due November 15, and will approximate $75,000,000.

1920 LUMBER CUT WAS BELOW PRECEDING YEAR

Was 2.2 Per Cent Less Than in 1919 and 27 Per Cent Lower Than Peak of 1907

Lumber cut of the United States in 1920 was 33,798,800,000 feet, 2.2% less than in 1919, and 27% less than the peak in 1907.

The average price at the mill increased to $38.42 a thousand, a rise of 150% since 1910. Aggregate value of the cut is $1,299,000,000.

The states which increased their cut are all in the Pacific Coast group and the Rocky mountains. Washington is first, Oregon attains second place for the first time, displacing Louisiana from a position held for fifteen years, while California takes rank among the first five, displacing another southern yellow pine state.

In 1920 the Pacific and Rocky Mountain groups of states, combined, produced 35.6% of the cut. The eight states of the southern pine group produced 34%, while all the rest of the United States produced 30.4%.

Combined production of Douglas fir and western yellow pine, which in 1919 was less than 60% of the amount of southern yellow pine cut, in 1920 became 83%. This relative increase in the western species arises in part from the decrease in southern pine production, which amounted to 15%. The conditions reported by southern operators, arising directly or indirectly from the war, were so adverse that the southern pine may be expected to recover part of the loss sustained during the next few years. But the indications of the statistics are that the supremacy in lumber production held by the southern pine states is moving to the West.

Packard Motor Co. To Increase Output

President Says Prices Will Be Reduced And Unemployment Helped By Giving More Men Work

In commenting on price reduction in single six models, President Alvan Macauley, of Packard Motor Car Co., said:

"We have decided to try the experiment not only of maintaining, but increasing, during the winter months, the rate of production which has obtained during the Summer. This will be accomplished by the deep cut in prices. One of the chief considerations impelling us is that we may expect in this way to move toward relieving unemployment than by any other method."

"Relief of various sorts is to be commended, but what the American public needs and wants is work. If there is no work they must have help, but they want work rather than help. The difficulty aggravating unemployment conditions in the motor industry is that the winter season is approaching when production normally is reduced to the minimum. We expect actually to increase the number of our employees during the Winter."

STEEL RAIL PRICE CUT TO STIMULATE BUYING

U. S. Steel Corp. Makes Reduction Of $7. Per Ton From Recent Level Of $47. Per Ton

United States Steel Corporation's action reducing standard open-hearth rails to $40 a ton, mill, is obviously taken principally for the purpose of stimulating rail buying for 1922 delivery.

Price reduction, amounting to $7 a ton from the recent level of $47, a ton, is somewhat surprising in view of the fact that production costs of rails are abnormally high, and it is doubtful if any producer can show a profit at the new prices, except with full mill operation which is hardly to be expected for some time. As Judge Gary's statement says, "Present costs of production do not justify this action."

One of the principal cost making factors in the assembly costs on raw materials. Freight paid on the various items going into a ton of steel rails in the Pittsburgh district amount to approximately $17. a ton today, compared with a pre-war assembly charge of just about half that amount.

New price of standard open-hearth rails is $10 above the pre-war price of $30 a ton. Practically all this difference is taken up by the increased freight charges on raw materials, leaving only $1 to $2 a ton to meet the increase of 50% in wage costs.

Steel producers have all along contended that before prices could be reduced to anything like pre-war levels, freight rates on raw materials must be substantially lowered. As freight rates are to some extent dependent on the cost of steel purchased by the railroads, the steel men have apparently decided to take the initial step in setting the cost ball rolling down hill in the hope that any immediate loss might be more than made up by future beneficial reactions on the industry.

Pre-war price of standard open-hearth rails was $30 a ton. During the war this was advanced to as high as $57 a ton by the Corporation, and to over $80 a ton by some independent producers. On March 21, 1919, the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce, in conference with steel manufacturers, agreed on a price of $47 a ton for open-hearth rails, and when the Railroad Administration refused to honor this agreement some independent producers put their prices back to $57 a ton—in some cases even higher—the Corporation, however, maintained the $47 a ton level, and continued to do so until several days ago.

Judge Gary's statement does not make it clear whether the new price will apply on tonnages now on the books for delivery this year, but the presumption is that it will.

Independent rail producers are expected to follow the Corporation's reduction immediately. —Wall St. Journal.

PRESS COMMENT

British Government's revenues, originally estimated for current fiscal year at $6,000,000,000, have amounted in five months to $2,000,000,000.

State and Federal governments will spend over $15,000,000 in next few months on highways, providing work for 200,000 men, says Washington dispatch to Herald.

Germany's yield of winter wheat estimated at 19.44 double centners against 17.1 in 1920; spring wheat 18 against 17; winter rye 15.5 against 12.4; spring rye 11.2 against 10.5; oats 14.9 against 15.5.

Official statistics of operation of airplane line between London and the Continent from Jan. 1, 1921 to Aug. 6, 1921, show number of journeys 2,022, covering 440,000 miles, at average cost of 25 cents a mile for five passengers. Passengers carried totaled 6,700.

United States Department of reports persons employed in industry in September showed increase of 59.2 over 1920; increase of shoe factory workers 13.9%; number of steel workers decreased 42; car building and repair workers 35 and paper makers 31.5%.

Proposal is expected at armament conference that French claim for needs of army be met by our government's guarantee to cancel French indebtedness in proportion to any default by Germany on payments to France. United States bankers are said to have impressed on administration that conference can do little unless it considers financial legacies of the war.

Business is on a sound basis, according to Henry Ford who says deflation of labor and material prices is neither desirable nor necessary. Has no fear for future of motor industry. He distrusts approaching disarmament conference and dislikes idea of Lloyd George coming here, fearing his purpose is to bring about cancellation of British debt.

FOREIGN SHIPS MAKING INROADS ON U. S. TRADE

Foreign ships are rapidly regaining control of our import trade, according to figures for July, the record 1921 month. In July last year foreign lines carried only 36% of the trade total while this July they carried 54%, a gain of 18%. During the same period, American independent vessels increased their percentage from 32 to 36, while Shipping Board vessels lost 22%. It is believed that British and other foreign maritime nations are anticipating the enforcement of Section 28 of the Shipping Law and definite moves are expected in the near future on the part of France, Italy, Greece, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Spain to meet the situation the enforcement of the section would bring about.

REGULATING THE SALE OF FOREIGN EGGS

A Washington statute regulates the sale, labelling and marketing of eggs and provides that all restaurants, hotels, bakers and confectioners using or serving foreign eggs must place a sign in some conspicuous place reading, "We use foreign eggs." In an action for a permanent injunction to restrain the enforcement of this provision on the ground of unconstitutionality it was held that the act, being within the police power of the state and not regulating foreign commerce, was constitutional.

THE SWEET POTATO SEED AT DIGGING TIME

Selection of Seed Stock When Digging Tends to Build up Heavy Yielding Strains

Selection of the sweet-potato seed stock at digging time permits of the choice of potatoes that are true to variety and from high-yielding hills and tends to build up heavy yielding strains, experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture have shown. Seed free from stem rot can be secured at digging time, while the potatoes are still attached to the vines. Each hill should be tested by splitting the stem, and potatoes should be taken for seed only from plants, the insides of whose stems are not streaked with black, though it should be remembered that a heavy frost will also produce a similar appearance.

Only a few of the varieties of sweet potatoes grown in the United States are of commercial importance. Many other varieties and strains are widely distributed, however, and much of the sweet potato stock ordinarily obtainable is a mixture of varieties and strains, some of which are practically worthless for market. The United States Department of Agriculture points out that growers will do well to concentrate their efforts to true-name stocks of such well-known varieties as Yellow Jersey, Big Stem Jersey, Gold Skin, Nancy Hall, Porto Rico, Dooley and Triumph. This list includes the well-known worth-while commercial sorts.

Some varieties and strains, while at first of good quality, later degenerate, are of such poor quality that they are not desirable, and these should be omitted from the grower's list of varieties. Some of these undesirable varieties are of such poor quality that they are not desirable, and these should be omitted from the grower's list of varieties. A grower should determine the sort best suited to his soil and most in demand in the market available to him, then secure true-name seed stock.

The fall selection of seed is necessary, owing to the fact that in the spring or during the winter it is difficult, and frequently impossible, to tell whether the roots are diseased or not, since after a period in storage the tubers (the tissues traversing the tubers) of healthy sweet potatoes often become somewhat darkened, even though the fungus is not present. A good plan is to go over the field as the roots are plowed out and select the hills showing the desired characteristics, as an opportunity is thus presented to study all the characteristics of each plant. It is not necessary to retain the large potatoes from the desired plants for seed, as the medium sized ones, those from 1 to 2 inches in diameter and from 3 to 6 inches long, are better for seed purposes.

The seed stock should be gathered in crates or bampers, marked to show the variety, transported to the storage house on a spring wagon, and placed in a part of the house where they will not come in contact with the general stock. In other respects the treatment should be the same as that given the commercial crop—that is, it should be cured for a period of from 10 to 12 days, at a temperature of about 85°—after which the temperature should be reduced to about 55° and held there for the storage period. Every sweet-potato grower should secure a copy of Farmer's Bulletin 909, entitled "Sweet Potato Growing," and Farmers' Bulletin 1059, entitled "Sweet Potato Diseases." These bulletins may be obtained free upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

FEEDING YEAST TO HENS FOUND NOT BENEFICIAL

Tests Showed That Hens Ate The Yeast Mash Fairly Well, But Mortality Rate Was High

Preliminary tests have been carried on by the Poultry Husbandry Division of the United States Department of Agriculture in the use of yeast as feed for laying hens, the theory being that this material was extremely high in vitamins and particularly valuable in the dietary of laying hens. In the initial test the yeast was dissolved in warm water, added to the mash, and the mixture allowed to stand for 24 hours until the yeast had thoroughly permeated the feed. While the hens ate this mash fairly well, with the result that their egg production was slightly increased for a short period, apparently they soon tired of the mixture and did not consume it with a relish. Subsequently, decreased egg production resulted, and the mortality among the fowls which received the yeast was noticeably higher than in the pens not receiving it.

It is thought that this mortality was due to changes occurring in the mash which developed while it was being held in a moist condition for the 24-hour period previous to feeding, rather than as a result of the yeast itself. The moist mash was discontinued and the experimental pens were put on a dry mash containing 1 per cent of dried fresh yeast. The condition of the flock improved materially with this change, and the birds soon resumed their normal appearance, with fair egg production.

However, the egg yield was not greater than that from check pens without the yeast. Therefore, a per cent of yeast which was air and sun-dried and fed in a ground condition was used in the mash without any perceptible increase in egg production. These tests in the feeding of yeast were continued on a very extensive scale.

MILK CONSUMPTION INCREASED BY DRIVES

Campaigns Conducted By U. S. Dept. Of Agriculture and Other Agencies Have Proved Beneficial

Consumption of milk is on the increase as a result of the milk campaigns of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges and local agencies, inaugurated to extend and increase the use of milk and other dairy products in cities, towns and rural districts. The increases in sales of milk as a result of these educational campaigns carried on during the past year in 11 States, 15 cities, and 4 counties range from 3.5 to 35 per cent, the average increase being 15 per cent. The health of the children has been improved while undernourishment has been reduced.

Nutrition clinics have been held, and underweight, poorly fed children have improved greatly in health as a consequence of the more general and intelligent use of milk as a daily food. In Kansas City a previous survey showed a condition of 30 per cent undernourishment among the children, while after the milk campaign and regular instruction in health habits, a second investigation showed that malnutrition had been reduced to 15 per cent. Of late milk campaigns have been held in Madison, Wis.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Greenville, S. C.; Akron, Ohio; Warren, Ohio; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Springfield, Mass.; Oskaloosa, Iowa; Baltimore, Md.; Oakland County, Mich.

Advertised His Herd Free From Bovine T.B.
Idaho Dairymen Let People Know His Herd Had Been Federally Tested—Good Results Followed
It pays to advertise a worth-while article. In Pocatello, Idaho, the inspector in charge of the tuberculosis-eradication work of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, came upon a dairymen whose herd had been tested and was under Federal and State supervision. He turned these facts to good account in advertising his wares and greatly increased his business.

Why pay your dairymen for keeping poor cows when you can get MILK from the MODERN DAIRY? pure, healthy, clean cows at $3.75 per month, cash in advance? Cows all under Federal TB test. Milk all guaranteed pure and clean.
This poster was widely circulated in the district, and on his milk tickets the fact is reiterated that "Our dairy cows are tuberculosis-free by Government test." These methods have resulted in many other dairymen in the Pocatello district applying to the tuberculosis-eradication office at Boise, Idaho, for the testing of their herds.—Weekly News Letter.

NEW WATERMELON DISTRICT ATTRACTS WIDE ATTENTION

A half-million-dollar cash crop of watermelons is grown annually in two counties of southwestern Missouri, which were recently considered swamp counties. By clearing and draining these lands a sandy soil is obtained, which with abundant moisture and hot weather, is making the section widely known for its watermelons. The district, which has been developed the past 10 years, centers around Kennett, where a representative of the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, is stationed each year to aid in marketing the crop. The season extends approximately from July 25 to August 30, which about bridges the gap between heavy southern shipments and the heavy yield farther North. At this period Missouri becomes temporarily the most important watermelon shipping district of the country.

PENNSYLVANIA LEADS IN AUTOMOBILE REGISTRATION

Pennsylvania leads the Union in the number of passenger automobiles registered, according to a tabulation prepared by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The total number of such cars registered in Pennsylvania is 557,765. California had only several hundred fewer—557,231. Passenger automobiles in New York are estimated, as the lack of complete information, at 505,642. Other States showing large registrations are Ohio, 547,000; Illinois, 512,541; and Texas, 412,332. Nevada has the smallest number of registrations, 8,688.

LD GAME ABOUNDS IN PLENTY IN DORCHESTER COUNTY MARSHES

King Season Opened Nov. 1, And Much Interest Is Being Shown In Sport—Mr. Atley Lankford, Of Sharptown, Will Have Charge Of 1200-acre Marsh Of Baccus Club.

Atley Lankford, of Sharptown, for three years with the ZORF CLUB, of Baltimore, and who had charge of the Club's 1800 acres of Marsh land in lower Dorchester county, bordering on the west bank of the Nanticoke river, about ten miles from its mouth, superintending the killing of muskrats in season, feeding and decoying ducks, catching fish and entertaining guests and arranging for gunning trip has severed his connection with the club and has associated himself with the Baccus Club of Baltimore.

The last named club has leased 1200 acres of marsh land just west of the Zorf tract, known as the Langold's Island marsh, bordering on the Nanticoke river south of the Zorf tract and extending from the river to the head of Fishing bay. This tract is traversed about in the center by the county road leading from Vienna to Elliott's Island, easily accessible by motor truck. A by-road from the main road leads to a large and fertile island, on which this club has a fine and comfortable home. This island is very fertile and has several acres of tillable land. The club will reside here during the hunting and ducking season. Mr. Lankford will have charge of this home and entertaining the guests and arranging their hunting trips, but he expects to be at home in Sharptown with his family on Sunday days and he has a motor truck, covered, to travel in, with which he can go to the marsh and also has a drive way to and from the island.

This marsh has a large number of duck ponds and some so well located as to be easily accessible. One part of marsh reaches to the bay shore where thousands of ducks and geese flock during the day time for safety; and yet they come close enough to the shore to be killed by the gunners. Mr. Lankford began feeding the ducks on October 15th, and this feeding serves as a bait. The ducks decoyed by the corn with which they are fed are easily gotten in shooting range. The duck shooting law opened on November 1st, and Mr. Lankford has his blinds or shooting booths ready and the ducks are thoroughly familiar with the feeding grounds. Mr. Lankford is one of the best shots on the Shore, and is not only a good shot but thoroughly conversant with the habits of the ducks and knows the character of the weather best suited for duck shooting.

By feeding the ducks before the shooting season is open, the ducks grow familiar with the feeding ground and after the shooting is over, usually in the evening, the ducks return and resume their search for food. While there are vast flocks of Maryland ducks, the migratory ducks are now arriving in large flocks from the northern waters even from as far north as Canada. The famous canvass back ducks visit these small duck ponds as places of hiding. The other varieties include the red heads, the black heads, the marsh duck, the black mallard, the spring tail, ball crown and the blue winged teal. Thousands of black ducks are reared here annually in fact many of the other varieties lay their eggs and rear their young in these smooth waters. A few swan are seen annually in this section. Vast flocks of wild geese from northern waters have come here for the winter and will continue to arrive for several weeks yet. This marsh is thickly set in muskrat houses and rattling will be Mr. Lankford's principal work.

Mr. Lankford has his trained dogs for the purpose of bringing game home after it is shot. The dogs are great swimmers and often swim as far as 200 yards to get a duck crippled by gun shot; in fact it would be impossible to retrieve all the game without trained dogs. They follow the gunners in the rear until all shooting is over and then they rush out in deep water if necessary and get the game and return to the gunner and put it at his feet. They go out and rescue and return with the game until every duck has been retrieved.

In this lease, the Baccus Club has secured the Savannah Lake, the largest lake in the State, three miles long and one mile wide. The water flows into this lake from the vast swamps on the north and east, but this continued dry weather has dried up the water in the swamps and the lake is absolutely dry on the north and the water is very shallow from the center to its mouth. With hip boots, almost the entire lake is fordable and the fish with which the lake teems have been driven to the center or near the outlet and are numerous where the water is very shallow.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter taking good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over. Adv.

Fit to go along with "Penrod," "Seventeen" or "Too Gentle Julia;" in fact, it is woven about the same interesting characters as the latter.

"The Oriole" deals with "thirteen," that transition age between childhood and youth when one never knows what the young human offspring will be up to next. It is the age when imagination takes the most unexpected turns and fancy plays the queerest pranks.

In this narrative Mr. Tarkington brings to bear all his genius for character, situations and humor. Every line is either a laugh or a study in the delectable ways of the young; the whole is a work of unbounded joy.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Community Fair and Poultry Show in the Armory, Salisbury, November 16, 17 and 18. Get your Premium List and start now selecting and getting your exhibit ready.

Entry fees for the Poultry Show will be 25 cents on singles and 50 cents on pairs. This charge will no more than cover the cost of feed, coops and care of the birds. No pet stock to be entered but every and all standard breeds of poultry are included in the premiums. We are late getting this started but it will be a fore-runner for our show next year.

We tested a can of John Dulany's lima beans the other day and the consensus of opinion was that they were mighty good. Now we want to test some sweet potato tarts; contributions cheerfully received.

What happens to buckwheat if sown just before a rain? Several instances have occurred where rye and buckwheat were seeded together, just before a rain. The rye did finely but the buckwheat was more or less a failure. Where the same combination was sown this year after the rain we found a good yield of buckwheat but a poor stand of rye. We have our ideas on this but we want some more before we are ready to make any explanation.

W. C. Mitchell and Minos Oliphant were digging some mighty pretty sweet potatoes last week. The yields were good but as Mr. Oliphant said, "We have the number but the dry spell kept the size down."

Ran across one of our Delaware friends who is getting fine yields of sweet potatoes. Naturally we asked many questions and found out that his rotation is corn, sweet potatoes, hogs and melons, and clover. He applies no fertilizer under his sweet potatoes but at the time of laying, by the top dresses with a high grade fertilizer, 5-8-5 or 4-8-10 at the rate of 1000 pounds per acre. His rotation does not vary much from that used in our own county but we do not know that our farmers apply all the fertilizer as a top dressing. His soil is about the same as ours and he grows Big Stem Jerseys and Gold Skins so that his situation is very similar to ours.

C. E. Culver tells us that he gets poor results with clover after peas. He seeded a mixture of wheat, vetch, and oats this year, one peck of each mainly for hay. Many of our farmers seeded the same combination on account of the dry spell preventing the seeding of clover at the proper time.

Referring to the Clover-Pea question, we found four men this week who are fifty-fifty in their experiences with these two crops. Two of them have good success with clover after peas and two have no success.

We were very much interested to note that local correspondents are including items about farmers and their crops. We noticed in the "Ketty's" locals that Ernest Matthews thrashed out two bushels of good peas from one quart of seed. John D. Shockley comes second with one and one half bushels from one quart of seed. In the Sharptown locals we see that Clarence Bramble is getting a yield of 250 to 300 baskets of turnips per acre—practically no expense except for seed, pulling, trimming and hauling to the steambent wharf and netting. Mr. Bramble about 75 cents per bushel. Let's have some more of this sort of advertising for we don't have to take a back seat when it comes to farming but we want other people to know of our progress and progress, so let's have more of this sort of locals.

Walter Farlow stopped in to enter some birds for the Poultry Show and to make a report on their laying ability. As we mentioned before, he has White Wyandottes, and right now he is getting an average of 15 eggs from 62 birds. Many of the birds are in heavy molt but some keep on laying just the same. Walter gives all the credit to Mrs. Farlow as she is the "poultryman" of the family. In addition to the care the birds get they must be from a good strain and fed and housed properly in order to maintain this high average while in heavy molt.

We have seen many cases of "Fus" on sweet potatoes this year. This disease is also known as "Soot Rot" and shows up as "holes" in the potatoes. Some of these holes are shallow but this is only true when the disease attacks the potatoes when they are nearly mature. Early attacks cut down the yield materially. Lime seems to increase the germs of this disease but experiments have shown that this disease may be checked by the use of sulphur.

It pays to grade and select any product very carefully. If not convinced of this fact, ask our friend and advisor, Jerome L. Roney. Cultivate about the results with eggs and poultry. We are sure it pays him for he told us so and what is more Mr. Culver averages 150 eggs per year from about 1500 birds—evidence of knowledge and proper care and attention to detail.

Two facts stand out very prominently this year in regard to sweet potatoes. In the first place the large yields are coming from fields that had from 8 to 10 percent potash and secondly, the fields that have practically all the lime needed to correct acidity are among the high yielders. We have tested the soil from 8 high producing fields and find that they need practically no lime in order to correct the acidity in the soil.

Our "selected" seed corn at B. S. Morris' farm is yielding about 25 bushels more per acre than the "unselected." This is work with corn root rot and it looks as if we may be able to overcome this disease by careful selection of the seed. The disease shows up as weak stalks, not growing tall, blades become streaked, brace roots rot off and the stalk falls down easily. The disease shows up in the ear of cob, also as a pink discoloration. The same disease attacks wheat and when the wheat and corn, on same piece of land, looks badly we should suspect the root rot and practice careful selection of seed.

Henry O. Hall had good results this year using rock and kankit although results are not always so good. He broadcasts 1000 pounds of this rock-kankit mixture per acre and mixes it half and half.

Too much is as bad as too little apparently as we have heard this expression several times recently. "I have more corn than I know what to do with" and "What are we going to do with all the corn we have this year?" One of our farmers is going to increase his poultry houses and use some of this corn to fatten several hundred birds. Another friend of ours has purchased some additional hogs and cattle to feed. We hope that the market gets stronger soon although there seems to be no indication of high priced corn for some time to come.

Geo. Waller Phillips brought us some white and yellow sweets on the same vine. These were grown from slips, vine cuttings and were grown by John T. Horsman on Mr. Phillips' farm near Williamsiding. This is the first sample we have had of the two colors on same vine from slips.

It pays to lime timothy and clover according to results of C. V. Landing. The plants on the piece not limed grew up to about 12 inches tall and they stopped while the plants on the limed portion made the proper growth. Our lime list now includes cantaloupe, wheat, clover and timothy, sweet potatoes and cucumbers in addition to our legumes such as clover, alfalfa, etc.

We felt somewhat complimented the other day when Frank Pilchard said, "You certainly believe in lime don't you?" Glad that our belief is "getting across" for we are convinced that lime can be of great benefit when used correctly. No question of theory for we have too many facts and results back of us to prove that it is not mere theory.

BURGARS AVOID THE LIMELIGHT

Prominent Local Business Man Gives His Views On Advertising To News Reporter

"Burgars don't seek the limelight," said a prominent Salisbury merchant the other day in talking to a News reporter, "they work by stealth and secrecy—unheard and unseen. Their movements are cloaked in darkness. The honest toils are the ones that seek the limelight and they do it because they like it and can stand it." "In business one can observe the same thing. The manufacturer or merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise because advertising would quickly cut an end to his business career. His products could not stand the test of pitiless publicity. The advertising searchlight would soon show up the bad spots."

The man who advertises, on the other hand, deliberately invites your inspection of his products and his method of doing business. He puts himself publicly on record about his merchandise. He acknowledges his ability and his intention of standing behind every statement he makes.

If A Carburetor Blew Out—

OR let you down, as times do occasionally, it would not be hard to determine when you needed a new one.

But it doesn't keep on working and wearing; steadily growing less efficient, cutting down power and increasing fuel consumption.

That's why you need a new Rayfield—the best carburetor made. It will reduce your gas bill 25%; give quick starting, full power, speed and endurance.

Put a Rayfield on your car and take those hills in high again. Ask your nearest man to demonstrate the Rayfield for you.

You can depend on him—he knows his goods are good. He would no sooner publish a false statement in an advertisement than he would give you a false check. In fact his advertisement is just like his endorsement on a check: he is there to make good.

"Living costs would be materially reduced in Salisbury if the readers of your paper would read the advertisements as diligently as they read the "locals". Advertisements are, after all, simply news of the business world, and through them you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men in the city are spending money to get for your convenience and satisfaction. Besides this, they are interesting, instructive, and profitable, for they deal with things that concern you most intimately—things, for yourself and for your home.

"I do not mean to say that all the business men who fail to advertise are afraid to advertise—what I say is that the men who DO advertise do so because they are NOT afraid to do it. It is almost always better and more profitable, therefore, to patronize the merchants who are willing to lay their goods open to inspection. You can't go wrong in dealing with them because they have given their word publicly, that their merchandise is all right—but the other way, you take your chance. As for me, my motto is "safety first".

NEW $20 COUNTERFEIT NOTE IN CIRCULATION

A new $20 counterfeit note on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has been found in circulation. Details of the counterfeit follow:

This counterfeit is apparently printed from photo-etched plates, retouched with a graver, on two pieces of paper, with silk threads distributed between them. At first glance this counterfeit might be taken for a too heavily printed genuine, but an examination of the portrait of Cleveland should determine its character. The lines in the face of the portrait are too deep. The nose in the counterfeit is pointed instead of nicely rounded as in the genuine. The lapel and collar of the coat are clearly defined by thin white lines in the genuine. These lines are missing in the counterfeit, and the only indication of the collar and lapel are more or less indistinct black lines. The whole portrait has a flat appearance due to the absence of the light and shade effects of the genuine which bring the portrait out into relief against the background. The small lettering in the titles "Secretary of the Treasury" and "Treasurer of the United States" is poorly executed. The numbering and seal are excellent, both as to color and workmanship. The back of the counterfeit is a darker shade of green than the genuine. It bears plate number 222, to be found immediately under the "D" in "dollars" in the lower center of note.

Team Will Confer Degrees On Approximately 350 Candidates.

Dedication of the new $40,000 home of Newton Lodge No. 56, Independent Order Odd Fellows, will take place Friday afternoon, November 11, and members of Odd Fellow lodges from all over the Del-Mar-Via Peninsula will come to Salisbury and take part in the exercises and in the other events programmed for Armistice Day.

Nineteen lodges have already written local officials of Newton Lodge that they will be on hand for the big occasion and that they will bring here about 150 candidates for the initiation that will take place late in the afternoon and during the evening. Newton Lodge will have about 200 candidates to be inducted into the lodge that day, and, altogether, it is going to be a big day for Odd Fellowship in this section.

The day's program will start at 1 P. M., with registration of the visitors and distribution of appropriate collars at the Armory and at 2 P. M., there will be a grand street parade. Three bands—the Salisbury Odd Fellows band, Mardels band and Easton band—will furnish music for the occasion and more than 1000 Odd Fellows will be in line of march. During the parade, the singing of "The Church" will be played by Miss M. Dobson.

The parade will form on Locust street and from there the marchers will proceed to Camden avenue, to Dock, to Main, to Division, to Isabella, to Eastern avenue, to 4th, to Broad, to Division and from thence, out to the Temple on East Main street. Each lodge will be under its own marshal during the parade, and Dr. F. E. Hatch will be the Grand Marshal.

At 3 P. M., the dedicatory exercises will be held with Grand Master Saul Prager, of Cumberland, presiding. William A. Jones of Baltimore, Grand Secretary of the Order in this State, also will have a prominent part in the dedicatory exercises.

Prizes will be awarded for the three best lodges in line of parade, and will consist of $20 in gold, a bible, or gavel. The judges will award the prizes to the lodges having the greatest numbers and those making the best appearance. Newton Lodge, of course, will not compete. Dr. Samuel A. Graham and Messrs. C. M. Freeman and Carl M. Fayner will be the judges.

It is desired that all owners of residences and places of business situated on the route of march, will decorate their premises, so that a satisfactory impression may be conveyed to the visiting Odd Fellows.

Starting at 4 P. M., the degree team of Eden Lodge No. 34, Wilmington, will confer the first degree upon the big class of candidates. Supper will be served in the Temple at 6 P. M., under the direction of Helping Hand Rebekah Lodge No. 23, L. O. O. F. At 7:15 the second and third degrees will be conferred by Eden degree team, and the day's program will come to an end with the conferring of those degrees.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. ALEX. D. TOADVIN

Prominent Salisbury Man Dies Suddenly Early Wednesday Morning From Heart Failure.

While on his way home early Wednesday morning, Mr. Alexander D. Toadvin, who was one of Salisbury's most prominent citizens, was suddenly stricken with an attack of heart trouble and died before assistance could be rendered him.

Mr. Toadvin, who was 49 years old, had served in the capacity of election judge Precinct No. 2, Parsons district, all day Tuesday and had worked until late at night performing his duties. On his way home he stopped into a restaurant to get a cup of coffee and, at the time, he complained of feeling badly. Leaving the restaurant, he had proceeded a short way up North Division street when he was observed to reel and fall to the pavement.

He was the son of the late Alexander G. Toadvin and Mrs. Ellen Covington Toadvin, and a member of one of the most prominent and influential families in Wicomico county. In politics he was a staunch Democrat and was a man who was universally liked all throughout the county. He conducted the well known insurance business of A. G. Toadvin & Son. Deceased is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Riegiart, and one sister, Miss Dora Toadvin.

Reverend John Brandon Peters, the new pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, who is a former service man, has been asked to lead the meeting, and Mr. Walter S. Shepard has been requested to lead the singing. The service will be short, consisting of a prayer and the singing of two stanzas each of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "America."

Latest election returns at the time of going to press indicated that William S. Gordy, Jr., had been elected Comptroller of Maryland by about 30,000, and also that the Democrats had elected the majority of their legislative candidates in the various counties.

In Wicomico county, Mr. Gordy received the biggest plurality ever received by a candidate for office in this county, his plurality over Mr. Metzgerott, the Republican candidate, being 2121. Mr. Gordy ran way ahead of his ticket in Wicomico, his total vote being 5238 while the next highest vote received by any of the candidates was that polled by J. Clayton Kelly, Democratic candidate for clerk of Wicomico county, who received 4913 votes.

With the exception of one county commissioner, the Democrats in Wicomico elected the full ticket. Dr. W. O. Daisey, of Fruitland, was the Republican candidate for county commissioner who was elected. He received 77 more votes than George L. Long, of Delmar, who was the only Democrat to be defeated.

In the clerkship fight here, the present incumbent of the clerk's office, J. Clayton Kelly received a plurality of 1025 over his Republican opponent, Alan F. Benjamin.

All four of the Democratic candidates for the legislature were elected. Rex A. Taylor polled the highest vote of those candidates, he receiving 4665; L. Thomas Parker was second with 4605; Henry White Roberts received 4334 votes and Jehu D. Dolbey 4281.

Theodore S. Hearn led the candidates for county commissioner in the number of votes polled, receiving a total of 4330, while Manlius K. Morris polled 4181 and Dr. W. O. Daisey received 4142.

The contest between John H. Farlow, Democrat, and Ulys C. Wimbrow, Republican, for sheriff, was very close, the former being elected to the office by a majority of 225 votes.

Miss Elizabeth A. Collier, Republican candidate for Register of Wills, polled 3534 votes, while her opponent, John W. Dashiell, present incumbent of the office, received 4590. Peter S. Shockley was re-elected county surveyor, he having no opposition for the office at the polls.

ROD AND GUN CLUB ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Dr. E. Riall White is President of New Organization. Committee Now Looking For Club Site.

At a meeting of the Rod and Gun Club held last week in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Dr. E. Riall White was elected president of the organization. Mr. E. Homer White was chosen as vice-president and Mr. E. D. Mitchell was selected as the club's secretary and treasurer. A Board of Trustees composed of Mr. Waller Williams, chairman, Dr. J. McFadden Dick, Dr. Warner and Mr. W. C. Day, was selected and the following Committee on Locations was appointed: Mr. G. C. Bounds, Hebron, chairman; Dr. Warner, Nanticoke; Messrs. Herman Hodgson, Robert Leatherbury and Waller Williams.

Last Friday ten of the club's members journeyed to Nanticoke to investigate some locations, but the report rendered by the committee was that the prices asked were entirely too high. It was then decided to visit Sinepuxent Bay and other places in order to locate a suitable site for the club.

At a meeting held Friday night at the Lantern Tea Room, it was decided to limit the club's membership to forty. About thirty members already have joined the club. It also was decided to make a charge of $25 for membership and to place the dues at $18 a year.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 18.

In fitting commemoration of
ARMISTICE DAY
Friday, November 11.
All stores in Salisbury will be closed after 12 o'clock noon.

MAKING EXAMINATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Miss Mary C. Kell, public health nurse for Wicomico County, has begun making physical examinations of the school children of Salisbury's schools who are in the first and second grades. The work was started last Wednesday at Camden School and will be continued until approximately 400 pupils of the first and second grades in Camden, East Salisbury and Bell street schools have been given the examination.

SALE BOATS IN ARCADE LOBBY ATTRACT CROWDS

The Arcade management had its lobby attractively decorated on Monday and Tuesday of this week while the splendid "Cappy Ricks" film was being shown, and crowds of passers-by were attracted by the novel decoration. In the front part of the lobby right near the sidewalk, a yawl boat fitted with full rigged sail and in ship-shape order was an appropriate reminder of the fine story of the sea that was being flashed on the screen inside.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSN. COMMITTEE MEETS

Executive Committee Wicomico High Decides To Hold Second Annual Reunion December 29.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Alumni Association of Wicomico High School was held last Thursday evening in the offices of Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, and definite plans were formulated regarding the next annual meeting of the Alumni Association.

The second reunion will be held on Thursday, December 29, at 8 P. M., in the Wicomico High School. A delightful and entertaining program will be arranged and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Announcements to this effect will be mailed to every alumnus about December 1.

The main topic of discussion at Thursday's meeting was the possibility of getting every class from 1876 to 1922 to join in friendly competition in raising a student fund to add to the Memorial Scholarship Fund. Those who were present at the meeting were Miss Irma Ellegood, Miss Mary Little, Miss Irma Bounds and Colonel Woodcock. Another meeting of the executive committee will be held on Tuesday, November 15.

The regular Saturday night "movie program at the 'Y' will be held at 7:30, and a William S. Hart picture, "The Disciple," will be the photoplay flashed upon the screen.

ACTIVITIES OF THE SALISBURY Y.M.C.A.

"Father and Son Rally" will be held at Assn. Building on Sunday Afternoon.

Father and Son Week, which is being celebrated this week by the local Young Men's Christian Association, will come to an end Sunday afternoon with a "Father and Son Rally," which will be held at 3:30 o'clock in the Association Building. Rev. John Peters, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be the speaker on Sunday and will have as his subject "An Old Testament Father and Son." A special musical program will be rendered.

On Thursday night, the Jackson & Gutman indoor baseball team will clash with the team from the plant of E. S. Adkins & Company, and on Friday night the "Y" will hold its first gymnastic exhibition. Mr. William Boggs, who will have charge of the "Y" exhibition, has outlined a program of gymnastic stunts for his classes that should prove to be very interesting. All of the "Y's" gymnastic classes will take part, and an athletic dance will be one of the principal features of the entertainment.

The Wednesday night program consisted of an interesting basketball game between the team representing Company "I" and team wearing the "Y" colors and also a game of volleyball between "Y" students and seniors. On Tuesday evening a "Father and Son" banquet was held in the "Y" Building, which was largely attended.

LOCAL FIRM TAKES OVER LUMBER CO.

R. G. Evans & Son, Inc., Acquires Controlling Interest
In L. E. Williams & Co.

BIG DEAL WAS MADE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Newly Acquired Business Will Be Conducted Under Firm Name Of R. G. Evans & Son, Inc.—Transaction Believed To Have Involved
$75,000 Consideration.

One of the most important business transactions consummated here in many years was effected last Saturday night when the firm of R. G. Evans & Son, Inc., purchased a controlling interest in L. E. Williams & Company, lumber dealers. While the purchase price was not mentioned, it is believed that the big deal involved a consideration of approximately $75,000.

The J. E. Williams & Company plant had been operated by the late Mr. Levin Williams and his father for about fifty years, and it has always occupied a prominent place in the business annals of the city and county. The Williams property occupies more than three acres of the most valuable water-front space in the city and is ideally located. More than a million feet of lumber already is stored in the yards, and, excepting for the change in name, in the management and a few minor changes, the lumber business will be conducted as usual.

The large warehouse of the Williams plant located near the Camden avenue bridge will be refitted through and used as a retail store by the new firm. The offices of R. G. Evans & Son will be moved to the office building of the Williams Company facing Camden avenue, and the property on Mill street, now used by R. G. Evans & Son, will be used mainly for storage purposes.

In taking over the lumber interests of L. E. Williams & Company, the progressive firm of R. G. Evans & Son now is in position to furnish everything needed in building from the foundation of a house to the peak of the roof. The Evans firm has been engaged principally in the sale of mason's supplies and other building accessories, and due to the progressiveness of its management it has had a splendid growth.

When asked yesterday as to who would manage the newly acquired property, a member of the firm stated that this question had not yet been decided upon. The business of the Evans firm, however, will in the future be conducted under the firm name of R. G. Evans & Son, Inc.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TOMORROW

House-To-House Canvass Will Be Made In Salisbury Armistice Day.

CAMPAIGN TO LAST UNTIL NOVEMBER 24

Gov. Ritchie Issues Proclamation Urging All Citizens To Respond To Appeal—Red Cross Booths Will Be Located Here In Postoffice And Arcade Theatre.

With Governor Ritchie issuing a proclamation requesting the people of Maryland to respond to the Roll Call of the Red Cross and the local workers all ready to wage an intensive campaign for members in the city and county so that Wicomico will go "over the top" with a record membership, the fifth annual Red Cross Roll Call will get under way here tomorrow—Armistice Day—and will continue until November 24.

A house-to-house canvass will be made in Salisbury on Armistice Day, and we appeal to every person in Salisbury to be ready to give their dollar to the solicitor. If you are not going to be at home, leave your dollar with some member of the family or with a neighbor.

An opportunity also will be given to join the Red Cross at a public booth at the postoffice and one at the Arcade Theatre. These booths will be open for a week and if by any chance you should miss the membership solicitor at your home, you are urgently requested to call at one of the booths and join the Red Cross.

The Red Cross Roll Call that will be conducted in Wicomico county this year is of the greatest importance to every citizen, for upon its success depends whether the great work that is being done here by the public health nurse, Miss Mary C. Kell, is to be continued or whether the county will be compelled to look to the services of its nurse through failure of the citizens to respond to the appeal.

Wicomico county cannot afford to lose Miss Kell's services, and we are sure that once the citizens are fully acquainted with the excellent service she has been rendering the public, they will flock to the Red Cross standards and give their aid by joining the organization. It costs only one dollar to become a member, and though the amount is small, the benefit derived by the community thru many such membership contributions is simply incalculable.

In her infant welfare work, in instructing mothers in the care of children, Miss Kell has performed signal service, but important as that branch of her work is, there are many other duties that she is constantly performing in order to help raise the health standards of the county. She has succeeded well here in all her work, and would be a calamity if this work had to be stopped right at the time when it is exerting such a beneficial influence.

Give as generously as you can when approached by the Red Cross solicitors, but DO NOT FAIL to take out a dollar membership.

LIQUOR STILL SEIZED BY POLICE OFFICERS

Sheriff Larmore, Chief Disharoon, Officer Williams, of the city police force, and State Officer Sharpe, arrested George Cannon Tuesday morning on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Later, the officers, upon information furnished them, went to the unoccupied tenant house on a farm a short way down the river and confiscated a large still and several barrels of mash. The still, mash, oil stoves, copper coil and other paraphernalia was brought here and placed outside the county jail, where it was viewed with much curiosity all day Tuesday by crowds of persons.

LOCAL GRANGE APPROVES PROPOSED POULTRY ASSN.

The Salisbury Grange has endorsed the proposed poultry project outlined to the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. H. W. Rickey. After having Mr. Rickey present his plans for the organization of an Eastern Shore Sales Association for the buying and selling of eggs, fattening poultry and procuring the best markets, the Grange gave hearty endorsement to the plan, its members stating that they see in this enterprise the greatest possible benefit to the farmers of the county.

COUNTY NEWS.

MARDELA SPRINGS

The removal of the oak and pine, those much loved landmarks which stood at the western side of our town, caused some heart aches. We had grown so accustomed to their majestic appearance that we feel we have sustained a loss in their removal. Years ago, as we passed and repassed them, they were on the left side of the road, but after years of absence, we went that way again, and strange to say, they were on the right hand side of the road. Could it be some trick of memory, or had some giant, in the night season, moved them to the other side of the public highway? Be it as it may, we can never be quite reconciled to this act of vandalism of the woodsman in felling them.

Wood seems to be more plentiful this winter than it was last winter. Coal can not be had, unless it is gotten from a distance. Some of our people haul it from Salisbury. What a blessing it would be if it could be kept on hand in Mardele, so as the poorer class of our people could buy it by the ton, or half ton. So many are not able to buy enough at any one time to last over the winter. We need to have a more perfect social system. All profiteering at the expense of the poor, should be stringently dealt with and suppressed. Those who are financially unable to defend themselves should be defended by those who are able. We are our brother's keepers.

The need of more houses for Mardele is being felt more and more. There are those who would like to move here, but can not because there are no vacant houses. There could be a ready sale for new houses, especially of the smaller type. There are not near enough houses for rent. Who will build some small houses? Invest some of your surplus money in this way, for it is the opinion of many that it would pay. The town ought to spread out the other way, and not be content to follow the two main streets. Those who have land for sale should give the poorer men a chance to get a home for themselves and families. Be public spirited.

BIG COMMUNITY FAIR TO BEGIN NEXT WEDNESDAY

Will Be Held In First Regiment Armory And Last Three Days.

TO HAVE FINE MILK BOOTH AND EXHIBIT

Miss Mary C. Kell Will Weigh Babies And Children And Give Advice On Proper Feeding And Care Of Children. Poultry Exhibits Will Be Of Excellent Standard.

The fifth annual Community Fair will be held November 16, 17 and 18 in the First Regiment Armory under the auspices of Wicomico Pomona Grange, and much interest is being shown in the approaching event. The armory will be open from 8 A. M. to 11 P. M., on each of the days the fair is in progress, and in view of the fact that the list of prizes to be awarded totals $1200, the exhibits are expected to be both numerous and of excellent quality.

This year those in charge of the Fair are looking for a record exhibit of corn. The farm products collection, too, will be exceptionally interesting, as it will bring in varied exhibits from many of the county's farms.

One of the special features of the Fair will be the Milk Booth and Exhibit. The Milk Booth will be attractively decorated and the club girls from Wicomico county will serve milk drinks. These girls are members of the Hebron, Shad Point, Mt. Herman and Leonard's School clubs.

Miss Mary C. Kell, Red Cross Nurse for Wicomico county, will weigh the babies and children and advise the mothers of the county on the proper care and feeding of children. Mrs. Marion C. Bell, Extension Service, University of Maryland, will also be at the booth and answer questions on the value of milk in the diet.

Mr. J. A. Conover, dairy specialist, will talk on the cow, her housing and care, as a producer of the milk supply of a community. There also will be an electrically controlled panel showing a cow and the use of milk, not forgetting the value of serving it in the school and home. This panel comes to Wicomico county for the first time through the courtesy of the Baltimore Dairy Council.

The poultry exhibits this year will be varied and interesting, and it will be the first time that poultry has been exhibited at a Community Fair. The household and family work exhibits also are expected to be unusually attractive.

The management has stated that all exhibits must be at the armory by 5 P. M., Tuesday, November 15.

Farm Wages High; Produce Prices Low

Gov. Report Shows Farm Wages Still Much Above Pre-war Times. Although Lower Than 1920

Farm wages are still much above the rates of 1916, the year before the United States entered the World War, although they have declined some from the rates of 1920, the highest ever reached in this country, says the United States Department of Agriculture. A recent investigation made by the department shows that by the month with board, the rate of 1921 is $29.48, as an average for the United States a drop of 37 per cent from the $49.89 of 1920. In 1916, the rate was $23.25. By the month without board, the rate declined from $64.35 to $42.65 or 34 per cent, and yet this year's rate far exceeds the $32.42 of 1916.

Harvest wages by the day declined nearly as much in one year, from 1920 to 1921, or $3.60 to $2.12, as they gained in the four years 1916 to 1920, or $1.69 to $3.60. Without board, harvest wages shared in the general spectacular movement and rose from $2.07 in 1916 to $4.36 in 1920, followed by a decline to $2.80 in 1921.

Similarly with day wages on the farm outside of harvest, the rate, both with and without board, receded nearly as much from 1920 to 1921 as it gained from 1916 to 1920. The rate for 1921, as an average for the United States, is $1.60 with board and $2.17 without board.

While the farmer is paying high wages, he is also buying many things for use and consumption on his farm and by his family at high prices; and on the other hand, he is selling his products at very low prices and out of these sales he must pay his expenses, if he can.

Duck Hunting From Motor Boats Illegal

Federal Laws Prohibit Shooting Wild Fowl From Power Vessels—No Changes Made In Law

No changes have been made in the Federal regulations which prohibit the use of power boats in taking wild fowl, according to a statement just issued by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. It will be unlawful, therefore, to hunt ducks in the State of Maryland and elsewhere with a boat equipped with an engine, and especially will it be a violation of the law for persons to run down with motor boats ducks which have settled among decoys previously placed, a practice which is generally known as "bush-whacking."

Erroneous reports had been circulated in the vicinity of the Susquehanna flats that changes had been made in the Federal regulations governing shooting of wild fowl from power boats, and as a consequence persons relying upon such rumor were getting their boats in shape to use in pursuing ducks during the coming season. The regulations do not prevent a person from using a motor boat to go to and from the ducking grounds or to attend to ducking out-

JOIN THE RED CROSS.

Tomorrow is Armistice Day, and no more fitting day could have been chosen for the annual Roll Call of the Red Cross which will be conducted throughout the United States. Just three years ago tomorrow the opposing armies in the great World War laid down their arms, the strife of battle ceased, and soon the battlefields were deserted. Only the bodies of its sacred dead kept watch.

In the midst of all this horrible turmoil of bloodshed, ceaselessly working by day and night, always were to be found the workers of this great Red Cross organization. Courageously and with almost superhuman efforts, these valiant workers performed their duties. Fear and thought of personal self were strangers to them. Where the fighting was the thickest, where the wounded and the dying were in dire need of ministrations, there the Red Cross workers could be found, unselfishly and fearlessly devoting their attention to the physical hurts and encouraging the soldiers with comforting words like a mother soothes the drooping spirits of her child. Vast and infinite were the good accomplishments of the Red Cross during the war—a record of service that will stand high in the history of the world for all time to come.

But even as great as were the war-time achievements of this great organization, the activities of the Red Cross during peacetime have been and are of almost equal importance. We hear of a flood, a terrible railroad disaster or of any similar catastrophe, we have come to take it as a matter of fact that the Red Cross workers, as usual, are first upon the scene rendering aid. This great organization is always on the "qui vive"—always alive and instantly alert to the needs of humanity.

In Wicomico County the local chapter of the Red Cross performed excellent service throughout the war, and its program of aid of post-war achievements also has been of splendid character. With the employment in this county of a public health nurse, a vast amount of good has been and is being done to educate the public as to the necessity of keeping the health standards on the highest plane; many visits are made every week by our public health nurse to the homes in the county needing her assistance; former service men have come to her for aid and have been ministered to—in fact, everything is being done by the Red Cross organization to make this a better and healthier community to live in.

And all this requires money. It cannot be accomplished without the necessary finances. The amount of money required is comparatively small, but it is an absolute necessity if the great work is to go on and on. Shall this splendid work being done in Wicomico county by the Red Cross fail because of a lack of finances, or shall it receive the spontaneous and generous response from the citizenry that it deserves? That question will be answered at the annual Roll Call which begins tomorrow.

To become a member of the Red Cross, the small sum of one dollar is the only requirement. That sum—insignificant as it is when compared to the gigantic amount of good it helps to accomplish—should be given by at least two thousand separate individuals in Wicomico county. By joining the Red Cross, by taking out a dollar membership in the great organization, you will be helping to carry on a work in this county that is of the utmost importance—you will, in fact, become a better citizen by your donation.

Tomorrow, or sometime between that time and November 21, you will be visited by a Red Cross worker and asked to become a member. Show that you are as ready to stand behind this organization NOW as you were during the war.

THE SPIRITUAL ELEMENT.

During the period of deflation that followed the war we heard much anent the crying need of production and more production in order to make for a return to normalcy—in order to stabilize both capital and labor and thereby bring back the good times of old. Industrial conditions admittedly were bad, unemployment grew apace, and business apparently was dazed and reeling as it from a deadly knockout blow from a mighty fist. Every remedy conceivable in the mind of man was suggested as a cure for the stagnation of industry.

However, during all the hue and cry that went forth, many of our learned writers on economic questions failed to include in their digests of the situation one element for the up-building of industry that far surpasses in point of importance any other remedy suggested. And that is the inclusion of greater spirituality in industry—of paying more attention to the Spirit of God in our industrial relations than to the mere physical elements. As one writer has aptly said: "Materials, labor, plants, markets, all these things can be adjusted, but the soul of man, which determines his purposes and motives, can only be converted through religion."

Religion teaches man to serve, and when man is imbued with this splendid quality, he becomes a better citizen, a better worker, and is filled with the faith that knows no obstacles. The financial ratings of a man, which, unfortunately, are only too often looked upon as the symbols of his success, should be held of far less report than his spiritual rating. Given a God-fearing man, one who conducts his business with due reverence to the blessings that God has poured upon him, and you will find that he has no fear of the future—he faces it unafraid, with faith in his fellow-man and faith in the infinite wisdom of his Maker.

If more spirituality were injected into industry today, men would get down on their knees and pray regularly to their God in humble spirit, the world today would be better off.

"HOME TOWN PAPER" WEEK.

The "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper" campaign, being conducted this week by thousands of weekly newspapers in every part of the United States. An effort is being made to acquaint the public with the vast good that "The Home Town Paper" does for the community that it serves and to induce those who still remain "on the outside" to send in their subscriptions. This newspaper has published several articles during the past few weeks setting forth the merits and inestimable value of "The Home Town Paper," but the words of Dean A. R. Mann, of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University on the subject are worthy of further comment. Said Dr. Mann:

"The home town paper as an aid to community consciousness and development, deserves the support of all who believe in the highest possibilities of rural life. No one familiar with the great good done by the country press—a journalistic institution peculiar to the United States—can be indifferent to its continued successful service to rural affairs."

"For the past half-dozen years the college of agriculture has consistently tried to help the country papers in New York because it believes in them and in their mission. There is no other community institution nor activity which is not in some measure served by, and in a degree dependent upon, the local newspaper, when that paper is a going concern, as it should be. Since the college believes in whole-hearted support for the home town paper, it is glad to give every encouragement to the home town paper week."

"New York's country papers are rendering conspicuous service to the interests of farm and home, and they deserve the support of all those who believe in these two great bulwarks of the best in American civilization."

Are you supporting yourself, your business and this county's interests, economically, morally, educationally and spiritually, by supporting your "Home Town Paper"?

Uncle John's Poem~

NEIGHBORS.

When a fellow loves his neighbor, like the ten commandments means, it hits up common people to the stage of kings an' queens; there's a music floatin' everywhere, on every balmy breeze, an' the harmony is echoed by the robins in the trees.

The devil never camps around a lovin' neighborhood, an' there ain't no "latest gossip" to pizen people's blood, but there's borrowin' an' lendin' with a willin' heart an' hand, an' a wholesome lendin' spirit that the children understand.

I never liked to be afraid of trampin' some ones toes, nor to see a skyward angle onto Mrs. Henpeck's nose,—an' the time when I was sicked, which it lasted more'n a week, was when I jawed at Bilkin, an' neither wouldn't speak.

There's lots of sorry pastime that associates with 'gall, but fussin' with a neighbor is the sorriest of 'em all.

To The Citizens of Salisbury

When Friday, November 11, known as Armistice Day, will be appropriately celebrated in every part of the United States, and whereas we desire to pay fitting tribute to all of our soldiers, living and dead, who fought in the great world war.

Therefore, I, W. Arthur Kennerly, mayor of the city of Salisbury, do most earnestly urge all the citizens to help in the celebration of this day by meeting on the Court House lawn at 12:10 P. M. for the purpose of joining in a few minutes of prayer and the singing of patriotic songs to the end that this day may be solemnly commemorated.

W. ARTHUR KENNERLY, Mayor.

Local Red Cross Comes To The Rescue

Two photographs will give the layman a better idea of the work the local chapter Red Cross is doing. The photograph on the left shows "Bobbie," a Salisbury baby, who was born with a (cherry tumor) at the time the case was first brought to the attention of Miss Kell, public health nurse for Wicomico county. The tumor was removed by the care of a prominent local surgeon. The photograph on the right shows the same baby, now in splendid shape. The tumor was on the upper jaw under the upper lip and was removed in size until it was as big as a baby's thumb. It came to Miss Kell's attention, "Bobbie" being the fact that the baby was ill during the summer of 1920. The tumor was removed last September. However, the baby did not seem to be getting any better. The local Red Cross was called in and a member of the organization, Miss Kell, was called in to see the baby. She found the tumor and removed it. The baby is now in splendid shape. The local Red Cross is doing a great work.

Bob! Bob! Itch! Scratch! Scratch! The more you scratch, the worse the itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures any skin itching. 50c a box. Advt.

ROTARIANS COMPLETE
'BACK TO SCHOOL' PLANS

Members Will Visit Every School in County—Board of Education Approves Movement.

Details of the comprehensive plan of International Rotary's "Back to School" movement were made public at the last meeting of the Salisbury Rotary Club on Thursday evening. Oscar L. Morris, Chairman of the Boy's Work Committee, has appointed Rotarian committees to visit every room in every school in the county and these committees will do all in their power to foster the good work of the schools, and the various rooms in carrying out special plans such as entertainments and athletics, and endeavor to point out in practical way the advantages of a higher education. Special attention will be given to pupils in the seventh grade.

Officials of the Board of Education have approved the plans of the Rotary Club in detail and will co-operate to make the movement successful. The "Back to School" movement is one of the most important features of the program laid down for the year's work by International Headquarters, and the local organization expects and hopes to accomplish real and lasting good. Further details of the plan will be made public later.

Recognizing "Rotary's distinguished service during the World War," the Adjutant General, U. S. A., has issued a special invitation from the War Department for representatives of Rotary to attend the ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day. Ed. L. Stock, governor of this district of the organization, has been selected as special representative and will have a place of honor in the Amphitheater.

Of far reaching importance was the decision of the local club to hold weekly meetings beginning with Thursday, November 10. The weekly luncheon will be held at the Y. M. C. A. as heretofore, at 6:15 P. M., and the time allotted to each meeting has been limited to about one hour.

Colonel A. W. W. Woodcock will address the meeting on Thursday evening preceding Armistice Day, and other features of the program will consist of war time songs. Rotary Secretary Carl M. Paynter states that an exceptionally good meeting is expected.

IN MEMORIAM

Once again our ranks are broken;
Once again our hearts are sad;
Comrade Neuman Porter has gone to his eternal reward, leaving behind in the hearts of all who knew him reflections of a life well spent.

For fifteen years as an active member of Salisbury Fire Department, and for several years Chief Foreman of the hose line, he exemplified the efficiency and heroic spirit, winning the admiration and respect of all.

When the bell in the tower of the City Hall rang out, calling the Department to the rescue of life and property, he was always first in the snows and sleets of winter; sometimes in the midnight hours with unknown dangers and sacrifices on every hand; one of the first to respond to the call was Comrade Neuman Porter.

As we are writing this, which only in a measure portrays the sterling qualities of our friend, our hearts are deeply stirred, for the old bell in the tower is sounding again, but the mortal remains of our comrade is calmly sleeping beneath the sod at Allen, awaiting the call at the last day.

We miss his helping hand, but his noble heroic spirit is living on and ever with us, inspiring us to service and sacrifice. As long as gratitude warms the breast of man, unselfish service will be appreciated, and the public as well as the Fire Department, place a high value upon a man whose chief ambition is unselfish to the extent that his greatest delight was extending a helpful hand to the weak and a sympathetic heart to the unfortunate.

M'COMBE-CLASE THANK OFFERING TOTALLED $1608

Other Gifts, Too, Were Made To Evangelists Whose Campaign Closed Sunday.

140 HOME MEETINGS HELD DURING REVIVALS

Twenty-five Shop Meetings Also Were Conducted—393 Signed Cards Were Returned During Meetings—Dr. Heron Advocates Two Great Campaigns For Wicomico County.

The evangelistic meetings conducted in the Armory by the McCombe-Clase party under the auspices of Asbury Methodist Episcopal church came to an end Sunday evening. During the campaign 140 meetings were held in 120 different homes in the city and 25 shop meetings were conducted. Meetings also were held in the schools of the city, but at no time was anything of a denominational character mentioned.

Dr. Joseph T. Heron, pastor of Asbury Church, stated yesterday the thank offering for Dr. McCombe and Prof. Clase amounted to $1608, but that this sum did not include the $300 provided for Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. Many useful and expensive gifts were made to the party by individuals and by the shops where meetings were held. The total bill of expense for the Armory meeting was $1763.

The Men's Meeting at the Armory on last Sunday afternoon was a signal success, more than 1500 being in attendance. At the meeting for Women only held in Asbury Church Sunday afternoon, about 1100 were present, both rooms and the little galleries being used in accommodating the crowds.

Dr. Heron said yesterday that 393 signed cards were returned during the meetings, and that a number of people were converted, for whom no signed cards were returned. "At no time was an attempt made," said Dr. Heron, "to have those persons coming to the altar for a recognition or for redemption of sinners. Their lives to God to sign cards, since their names already appeared on their home church records. As main measures results the greatest good was accomplished in the great number of persons offering themselves definitely to God for Christian service. At no time during the four weeks was an opportunity offered to join Asbury Church, but on several occasions the people were urged to return to their own churches to be more useful than before."

Continuing, Dr. Heron said: "I have a word of real gratitude for the people of Salisbury. You can trust the heart of the folks hereabouts. I want to thank the people of all the churches both in Salisbury and in the county for the perfectly wonderful way in which they supported the Armory campaign. It was a great responsibility, but it brought immeasurable blessing to our church and I trust to other churches in the city and county."

"I am anxious now to see two great campaigns put on in Wicomico county—the Word of God, putting a way all 'helps' of every sort and getting back to the Bible itself. The second, a revival in the interest of building and rebuilding the 'Family Altar' in the home of the people. The spirituality of our fathers and mothers was not an accident. They knew God well because they talked often with HIM."

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Community Fair and Poultry Show in the Armory, Salisbury, November 16, 17 and 18. All exhibits, except bread stuffs, must be in the Armory by 5 o'clock P. M. Tuesday, November 16.

We were in Somerset County one day last week working along the strawberry question. In company with County Agent Keller we visited several well known strawberry growers and added something to our store of knowledge about strawberry growing. Mighty fine-looking beds in Somerset, so heavily set that the growers had to thin out and plow out the middle.

Some of the pointers we gathered were:

1. The Premier and Horsey are popular berries.
2. Rye good to precede the setting of plants.
3. Cowpeas plowed under, lime about 1000 pounds per acre, seed to be plowed under in spring before setting out plants.
4. Best results on land that is slightly acid, needing about 1000 pounds of lime to sweeten it.
5. Lime is applied over the entire bed, when needed, about October and many growers try to work this in when they are cleaning out the middles.
6. The growers optimistic about the future and are increasing the acreage.

We took several samples of soil from the prettiest beds and the test showed that these soils were only slightly acid and that 500 pounds of burned lime would correct the acidity. Sort of disproves our old ideas that strawberries needed a very acid soil.

Had a chance to argue that lime does not, and cannot create the scab on Irish potatoes. This disease spreads faster in a sweet soil but lime cannot create the disease. This question has been a good source of argument and heated discussions for many years.

Tests on soils taken from 15 different high producing sweet potato fields show that these high yields were produced on fields that were not acid. Our field experiments showed a gain of 15 bushels where we used only enough lime to correct the acidity. Somewhat convincing that sweets need a soil not very acid to give high yields and clean potatoes.

Make up your mind to prune, or trim, your fruit trees this winter. After you have trimmed them up give them a thorough spraying with a Lime-Sulphur mixture. If you have any of the Lime-Sulphur mixture left after spraying the fruit trees give the walls, roosts, etc., of the poultry house a dose—this will clean up the mites and lice.

It doesn't pay to force pullets, too much, into laying early, although many of our farmers don't realize this fact. Joseph E. Little has proven this to be good advice by his own experience. Last year he forced his White Leghorn pullets by feeding them heavily, and they began to lay early in the fall. Result—after the pullets had laid a short time, they began to molt, stopped laying and never did anything afterward. This year he did not force his birds and as a result they have made good growth of bone, etc., and have just started to lay. They should lay during the winter months when eggs are high-priced.

C. V. Landing has the right idea in trying to build up the soil before he tries to grow what we may call a cash crop. Sowed Rye in 1919 for grain, cut this (1920) high, leaving tall stubble, followed this in 1920 with cowpeas. Rye in fall of 1920 after cowpeas. Let this rye crop grow tall but turned it under while still green in 1921. Followed by sweet potatoes, averaged 35 bushels more per acre than on similar land but with only a crop of rye preceding sweet. Used lime and commercial fertilizer in drill.

Soybeans may be used in stead of cowpeas in this rotation. Henry O. Hall experimented with sweets this year, used Tilghman's 2-8-10, rows having fertilizer yielded 7 1/4 hampers per acre while rows not fertilized yielded 2 1/4 hampers per acre. This mixture sold for about $36 per ton when it was purchased and it is a very easy problem in arithmetic to find the gain made by this fertilizer. As will be remembered the 308 hamper yield per acre of Arthur Holloway and Charles Wilkins was made by the use of this same formula 2-8-10.

Lime is not a fertilizer, as such, but a great many times it is the limiting factor between a high and low yield. A very excellent thought came to our mind this past week while we were working on the soil campaign. The soil of C. Thomas Dryden showed that one sample needed lime while the other did not. In talking with Mr. Dryden we found that last year he fertilized part of his wheat field, but no lime, while he put lime but no fertilizer on the other part. The limed portion averaged 21 bushels of wheat per acre while the fertilized section yielded but 9 bushels per acre. This is no proof that fertilizer can be replaced by lime—each one must know conditions before drawing conclusions.

C. H. Cordrey is getting good results from a rotation that is somewhat different from the ones most popular in this section. Corn is grown on a fairly large scale and this is followed by Irish potatoes, tomatoes, etc. Wheat, for grain, follows these crops to be followed by clover. The clover is cut for hay and the second crop is cut but left on the ground. Lime is spread on this clover sod, or stubble, about 500 pounds per acre before it is turned under for corn. This rotation follows out the principle of the "ideal" rotation which consists of a cash crop, small grain crop, cleaning or cultivated crop and a leguminous crop.

MR. L. IRVING POLLITT COMPLIMENTS THE NEWS

Former Wicomico Gentleman Says The News Is Without A Superior In Maryland or Elsewhere

In renewing his subscription to The News for three years, Mr. L. Irving Pollitt, formerly of Wicomico county, but who now is living in Baltimore, paid a high compliment to this newspaper in declaring it to be "a county newspaper without a superior and with few equals, in Maryland or elsewhere." Mr. Pollitt's letter in full, follows:

"It is a pleasure for me to herein enclose check for subscription renewal. Back in my old high school days, I recall the near-sensation it made with Prof. Ingle and his charges when the news that Wicomico was to have another newspaper. A day or so later I recall Marion Brewington's visit up in the school room and the felicitations he received upon the initiation of the enterprise.

"The Wicomico News started out a good paper; and, really, I believe it has improved some, by easy but sure stages, every year. An improvement every year—for every year over a third of a century and more—necessarily makes it what it actually is, a country paper without a superior and with few equals, in Maryland or elsewhere. The "elsewhere" is a quickly added thought. Since the birth of The News, it has been my privilege to have owned and edited a country newspaper myself, and in that capacity I necessarily read many county newspaper exchanges, came into contact with many more elsewhere than in the state where I was, and gained some knowledge of the merits and demerits of the county newspaper press. "The News has been consistently clean editorially, whether dealing with politics or current and domestic problems. I think it is the newest county paper I have ever known. Its special articles and kindred articles have placed it far above the average, and, certainly to me, made its weekly coming an always-looked-for pleasure. "It would be impossible to estimate what its part has been in the development of Salisbury and Wicomico county; but it is safe to say Salisbury's development into the metropolis of the Peninsula and the evolution of Wicomico into the largest population and second largest property assessment of the counties of the Eastern Shore, has been in a large measure due to The News and the county's press."

LIKE AN ELEPHANT

While in the country last summer a little boy saw his first baby pig, and it made a great impression on him. So great was the impression, in fact, that the youngster made the pig the first object of his concern when the family again visited the country place this spring. "Where is my little piggie?" he immediately inquired. "Come with me and I will show you," his country cousin replied. When the city boy reached the pen with his companion and saw what looked to be about eight hundred pounds of pork "on the hoof" he was dumbfounded. "And did that little piggie grow as much as that in one year?" "Yes." In open-eyed wonder the boy exclaimed. "Gee! I betcha when I come back next summer he'll have a trunk."—Youngstown Telegram.

Dr. Herson said yesterday that 393 signed cards were returned during the meetings, and that a number of people were converted for whom no signed cards were returned. "At no time was an attempt made," said Dr. Herson, "to have these persons coming to the Altar for consecration or for re-dedication of their lives to God to sign cards, since their names already appeared on their home church records. As a measure, results the greatest good was accomplished in the great number of persons offering themselves definitely to God for Christian service. At no time during the four weeks was an opportunity offered to join Asbury Church, but on several occasions the people were urged to return to their own churches to be more useful than before."

Continuing, Dr. Herson said: "I have a word of real gratitude for the people of Salisbury. You can trust the heart of the folks hereabouts. I want to thank the people of all the churches both in Salisbury and in the county for the perfectly wonderful way in which they supported the Armory campaign. It was a great responsibility, but it brought immeasurable blessing to our church and I trust to other churches in the city and county."

"I am anxious now to see two great campaigns put on in Wicomico county—the Word of God, putting away all help of every sort and getting back to the Bible itself. The second, a revival in the interest of building and rebuilding the 'family Altar' in the home of the people. The spiritual life of a father and mother was not an accident. They knew God well before they talked often with HIM."

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Community Fair and Poultry Show in the Armory, Salisbury, November 16, 17 and 18. All exhibits, except bread stuffs, must be in the Armory by 5 o'clock P. M. Tuesday, November 15.

We were in Somerset County one day last week working along the strawberry question. In company with County Agent Keller we visited several well known strawberry growers and added something to our store of knowledge about strawberry growing. Mighty fine-looking beds in Somerset, so heavily set that the growers had to thin out and plow out the middle.

Some of the pointers we gathered were:

1. The Premier and Horsey are popular berries.
2. Rye good to precede the setting of plants.
3. Cowpeas plowed under, lime about 1000 pounds per acre, seed to rye to be plowed under in spring before setting out plants.
4. Best results on land that is slightly acid, needing about 1000 pounds of lime to sweeten it.
5. Lime is applied over the entire bed, when needed, about October and many growers try to work this in when they are cleaning out the middles.
6. The growers optimistic about the future and are increasing the acreage.

We took several samples of soil from the prettiest beds and the test showed that these soils were only slightly acid and that 500 pounds of burned lime would correct the acidity. Sort of disproves our old ideas that strawberries needed a very acid soil.

Had a chance to argue that lime does not, and cannot create the scab on Irish potatoes. This disease spreads faster in a sweet soil but lime cannot create the disease. This question has been a good source of argument and heated discussions for many years.

Tests on soils taken from 15 different high producing sweet potato fields show that these high yields were produced on fields that were not acid. Our field experiments showed a gain of 15 bushels where we used only enough lime to correct the acidity. Somewhat convincing that sweets need a soil not very acid to give high yields and clean potatoes.

Make up your mind to prune, or trim, your fruit trees this winter. After you have trimmed them up give them a thorough spraying with a Lime-Sulphur mixture. If you have any of the Lime-Sulphur mixture left after spraying the fruit trees give the walls, roosts, etc., of the poultry house a dose—this will clean up the mites and lice.

It doesn't pay to force pullets, too much, into laying early, although many of our farmers don't realize this fact. Joseph E. Little has proven this to be good advice by his own experience. Last year he forced his White Leghorn pullets by feeding them heavily, and they began to lay early in the fall. Result—after the pullets had laid a short time, they began to molt, stopped laying and never did anything afterward. This year he did not force his birds and as a result they have made good growth of bone, etc., and have just started to lay. They should lay during the winter months when eggs are high-priced.

C. V. Landing has the right idea in trying to build up the soil before he tries to grow what we may call a cash crop. Sowed Rye in 1919 for grain, cut this (1920) high, leaving tall stubble, followed this in 1920 with cowpeas. Rye in fall of 1920 after cowpeas. Let this rye crop grow tall but turned it under while still green in 1921. Followed by sweet potatoes, averaged 35 bushels more per acre than on similar land but with only a crop of rye preceding sweets. Used lime and commercial fertilizer in drill.

Soybeans may be used in stead of cowpeas in this rotation. Henry O. Hall experimented with sweets this year, used Tilghman's 2-8-10, rows having fertilizer yielded 7 1/2 bushels per acre while rows not fertilized yielded 2 1/2 bushels per acre. This mixture sold for about $56 per ton when it was purchased and it is a very easy problem in arithmetic to find the gain made by this fertilizer. As will be remembered the 308 hamper yield per acre of Arthur Holloway and Charles Wilkins was made by the use of this same formula 2-8-10.

Lime is not a fertilizer, as such, but a great many times it is the limiting factor between a high and low yield. A very excellent thought came to our mind this past week while we were working on the soil campaign. The soil of C. Thomas Dryden showed that one sample needed lime while the other did not. In talking with Mr. Dryden we found that last year he fertilized part of his wheat field, but no lime, while he put lime but no fertilizer on the other party. The limed portion averaged 21 bushels of wheat per acre while the unfertilized section yielded but 9 bushels per acre. This is no proof that fertilizer can be replaced by lime—each one must know conditions before drawing conclusions.

C. H. Cordrey is getting good results from a rotation that is somewhat different from the ones most popular in this section. Corn is grown on a fairly large scale and this is followed by Irish potatoes, tomatoes, etc. Wheat, for grain, follows these crops to be followed by clover. The clover is cut for hay and the second crop is cut but left on the ground. Lime is spread on this clover sod, or stubble, about 600 pounds per acre before it is turned under for corn. This rotation follows out the principle of the "ideal" rotation which consists of a cash crop, small grain crop, cleaning or cultivated crop and a leguminous crop.

MR. L. IRVING POLLITT COMPLIMENTS THE NEWS

Former Wicomico Gentleman Says The News Is Without A Superior In Maryland or Elsewhere

In renewing his subscription to The News for three years, Mr. L. Irving Pollitt, formerly of Wicomico county, but who now is living in Baltimore, paid a high compliment to this newspaper in declaring it to be "a county newspaper without a superior and with few equals, in Maryland or elsewhere." Mr. Pollitt's letter in full, follows:

"It is a pleasure for me to herein enclose check for subscription renewal. I recall the near-sensation it made with Prof. Ingle and his charges when the news that Wicomico was to have another newspaper. A day or so later I recall Marion Brewington's visit up in the school room and the felicitations he received upon the initiation of the enterprise.

"The Wicomico News started out a good paper; and, really, I believe it has improved some, by easy but sure stages, every year. An improvement every year—for every year over a third of a century and more—necessarily makes it what it actually is, a country paper without a superior and with few equals, in Maryland or elsewhere. The "elsewhere" is a quickly added thought. Since the birth of The News, it has been my privilege to have owned and edited a country newspaper myself, and in that capacity I necessarily read many county newspaper exchanges, came into contact with many more elsewhere than in the state where I was, and gained some knowledge of the merits and demerits of the county newspaper press. "The News has been consistently clean editorially, whether dealing with politics or current and domestic problems. I think it is the newsiest county paper I have ever known. Its special articles and kindred articles have placed it far above the average, and, certainly to me, made its weekly coming an always-looked-for pleasure. "It would be impossible to estimate what its part has been in the development of Salisbury and Wicomico county; but it is safe to say Salisbury's development into the metropolis of the Peninsula and the evolution of Wicomico into the largest population and second largest property assessment of the counties of the Eastern Shore, has been in a large measure due to The News and the county's press."

LIKE AN ELEPHANT

While in the country last summer a little boy saw his first baby pig, and it made a great impression on him. So great was the impression, in fact, that the youngster made the pig the first object of his concern when the family again visited the country place this spring. "Where is my little piggie?" he immediately inquired. "Come with me and I will show you," his country cousin replied. When the city boy reached the pen with his companion and saw what looked to be about eight hundred pounds of pork "on the hoof" he was dumfounded. "And did that little piggie grow as much as that in one year?" "Yes." In open-eyed wonder the boy exclaimed. "Gee! I betcha when I come back next summer he'll have a trunk."—Youngstown Telegram.

Chiropractic

Is the result of viewing the human body from an entirely new angle. Older health methods have completely overlooked the cause of disease and most every form of bodily ailment, all of which are due to derangements in the human spine, which displacements obstruct the passage of health energy from the brain to the parts afflicted. These conditions are the real cause of disease, a fact that has been demonstrated through twenty-six years on thousands of patients of the chiropractors through restoring health by chiropractic spinal adjustment.

Your own case is no more difficult than hundreds of others I have successfully handled. If it has so far proved too stubborn to yield to the efforts of other health practitioners, you need not consider it a hopeless case. Many cases so pronounced have found full recovery through my adjustment. Let me examine your spine without any charge and I will candidly inform you whether adjustments will help you. The most of my patients have been persons whom others had failed to relieve. I can refer you to many benefited persons among them who will confirm the merit to be found in my work.

A brief time in my care will satisfy you of the benefits of chiropractic adjustments

How Is Your Car Running?

Everything O. K.? How about the motor? What's going on inside the cylinders? That is where the power is made, and that's where the secret of operating efficiency and smooth, powerful running lies.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings will stop, forever, one of your most persistent motor troubles. They will prevent loss of power, oil leakage, smoke and carbon. They will remedy all the complaints that are caused by inefficient piston rings.

They are the only rings that continue to fit the cylinder accurately when hot. The patented process by which Pedricks are made insures a round ring at all times, under all conditions.

They fit perfectly when new—pushing outward against the cylinder wall with the same pressure at all points. They fit perfectly when in use, unaffected by heat and driving stress; sealing the cylinder completely against loss of compression and oil leakage.

Laboratory tests conducted by automobile engineers showed that an engine fitted with Pedrick Rings delivers more power than the same engine fitted with the best known two-piece ring and the best known hammered ring.

One of the surest indications of Pedrick superiority is the list of manufacturers who have selected Pedrick True-Fit Rings as part of their factory equipment. After the most severe road and laboratory tests in which Pedricks were compared with other well-known rings, the most prominent automobile, truck and engine manufacturers have adopted Pedricks. The list includes such names as Cadillac, Hudson, Packard, Bethlehem and Kelly-Springfield.

The tests to which these manufacturers put Pedrick Rings is your assurance of unusual performance.

Equip with Pedrick True-Fit Rings and get full power and better driving out of your car. Here's the guarantee that goes with them.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under the unqualified guarantee that they will produce more power, save more fuel, save more oil and have more effect in reducing carbon and smoke than any other piston rings made.

The customer will be the sole judge. If he is not satisfied that Pedrick True-Fit Rings make good claims, the dealer is authorized to refund the purchase price, and the manufacturer will refund the dealer's money without question.

PART ONE

By the end of October, with the dispersal of that foliage which has served all summer long as a pleasant screen for whatever small privacy may exist between American neighbors, we begin to get our autumn high tides of gossip. At this season of the year, in our towns of moderate size and ambition, where apartment houses have not yet condensed and at the same time sequestered the population, one may secure visual command of back yard beyond back yard, both up and down the street; especially if one takes the trouble to sit for an hour or so, daily, upon the top of a high board fence at about the middle of a block.

Of course an adult who followed such a course would be thought peculiar; no doubt he would be subject to undesirable comment, and presently might be called upon to purify severe if, indeed, not hostile inquiries; but boys are considered so inexplicable that they have gathered for themselves any privileges denied their parents and elders; and a boy can do such a thing as this to his full content, without anybody's thinking about it at all. So it was that Herbert Illingsworth Atwater, Jr., aged thirteen and a few months, sat for a considerable time upon such a fence, after school hours, every afternoon of the last week in October; and only one person particularly observed him or was stimulated to any mental activity by his procedure. Even at that, this person was affected only because she was Herbert's relative, and of an age sympathetic to his—and of a sex antipathetic.

In spite of the fact that Herbert Illingsworth Atwater, Jr., thus seriously disporting himself on his father's back fence, attracted only this audience of one (and she hostile at a rather distant window) his behavior really should have been considered plausibly interesting by anybody. After climbing to the top of the fence he would produce from interior pockets a small memorandum book and a pencil; seldom putting these implements to immediate use. His expression was gravely alert, his manner more than businesslike; yet nobody could have failed to comprehend that he was enjoying himself, especially when his attitude became tense—as at times it certainly did. Then he would rise, balancing himself at a slight angle, his feet aligned one before the other on the inner rail, a foot below the top of the boards, and with eyes dramatically shielded beneath a scowling palm, he would gaze sternly in the direction of some object or motion which had attracted his attention; and then, having satisfied himself of something or other, he would sit again and decisively enter a note in his memorandum book.

He was not always alone; he was frequently joined by a friend, male, and, though shorter than Herbert, quite as old; and this companion was inspired, it seemed, by motives precisely similar to those from which sprang Herbert's own actions. Like Herbert, he would sit upon the top of the high fence, usually at a little distance from him; like Herbert he would rise at intervals, for the better study of something this side of the horizon; then, also concluding like Herbert, he would sit again and write firmly in a little notebook. And seldom in the history of the world have any sessions been invested by the participants with so intentional an appearance of importance.

That was what most injured their lone observer at the somewhat distant back window, upstairs at her own place of residence; she found their importance almost impossible to bear without screaming. Her provocation was great; the important importance of Herbert and his friend, impressively maneuvering upon their fence, was so extreme as to be all too plainly visible across four intervening broad back yards; in fact, there was almost reason to suspect that the two performers were aware of their audience and even of her goaded condition; and that they sometimes deliberately increased the outrageousness of their importance because they knew she was watching them. And upon the Saturday of that week, when the notebook writers were upon the fence at intervals throughout the afternoon, Florence Atwater's fascinated indignation became vocal.

At one moment idling—
at the next the full power load

IT IS fine to be sure of quick response when you want to jump your car ahead. It is just as necessary to be able to idle on a low throttle.

It is not so difficult to make a gasoline that will do either of these things well. But to produce a balanced gasoline that does both, that combines power, economy, clean burning and big mileage, took years of experience in refining, experiments with crudes from every producing field, innumerable tests in chemical and physical laboratories, and with thousands of automobiles of all types and under all conditions of service.

This balanced motor fuel is "Standard" Motor Gasoline of surpassing goodness. It is wonderful in volatility, flame speed, completeness of combustion and mileage. It assures quick starts, rapid acceleration and unusual pulling power up heavy grades. Even in cold weather, when less perfectly conditioned gasoline is sluggish, you can operate on a lean, clean-burning, economical mixture of "Standard" Motor Gasoline. Why try your temper with others "just as good"?

And when you need oil say POLARINE. Made with the same care—always right.

Foch At Tomb Of Washington

It was an inspiring moment for those permitted to be present, when Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of all allied armies, visited the tomb of Washington on his second day in America. The great French hero placed a wreath in tribute to the genius of Washington. Foch's arrival in America for the American Legion convention at Kansas City and attendance at the Armament conference in Washington, marked the start of the most enthusiastic reception ever accorded a foreign visitor. All the way across the continent, Marshal Foch and General Pershing were met by record crowds, who cheered until Foch himself was often moved to tears of appreciation.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 53 of the Fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

In speaking of the needs of a poverty-stricken family of our acquaintance, a friend once said to me, in shocked and disapproving tones, "And they have a piano! Think of it, a piano! And those seven children have not enough to eat, and are always needing help. I think that family deserves no help and no sympathy. A piano, of all things!" "Fortunate children!" I replied, "Perhaps the piano makes them forget the lack of food and coal and keeps them off the streets. I must call and see that piano," which I did, forthwith. I could scarcely conceal my astonishment at the transformation in this erstwhile home of poverty and uncleanness.

The piano, which was the only object worthy the name of a piece of furniture, shone from recent polishing, and floor and every object within vision had been scrubbed and rubbed to make it a proper associate for the piano.

"Sure," said the mother beaming with pride and blissfully unconscious of the tales concerning the family extravagance, "it is a grand thing for the children. They don't never go out nights now, and," impressively "you just ought to hear Mary play"—never had a lesson and plays everything, by ear. And it's the same with Ellen. She plays grand. Oh, they all take turns. It's too bad the girls ain't here to play for you, and the way they keep the house clean! You see their friends come to see them now."

I tried to look my grief at missing the musical (?) treat, expressed my admiration for the piano, my interest in the welfare of the family, and departed rejoicing. My theory had been vindicated.

Music in that home, as in every other, is as much a necessity as food and clothing. Why expect the poor to be satisfied with food alone while their souls starve for the things that make life worth-while, and, in many cases, barely endurable.

Many complain that the workman is receiving high wages and "wasting" his money on a piano, a victrola, or other musical instrument and in paying for music lessons for his children.

Every child has the right to music in the home. It is essential to health and happiness. It will keep children in the home and cause them to carry with them memories which may save them in times of temptation.

The moral values of "good" music cannot be overestimated, while the degrading, unspeakable "jazz" has no more place in the home than trashy and immoral literature.

Children will go where they find music and song, companionship and Ardie Goswellen, 407 Martin St., says: "I was troubled with a bad case of kidney disorder and backache. Mornings when I would get up it was hard for me to stoop over to tie my shoes and when I would try to straighten up, my back would feel as though it were cut in two. My kidneys acted frequently and I would have to get up during the night to pass the kidney secretions. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at White & Leonard's Drug Store. Before finishing one box I was entirely relieved of the trouble." (Statement given July 20, 1915).

On January 8, 1921, Mr. Goswellen said: "I gladly confirm all I said in favor of Doan's. If I have any return of the trouble I know I can depend on Doan's."

A First Aid for "Weak Circulation"

Keep the favorite windows warm and safe

Many well-lighted parts of the house are not only uncomfortable but unsafe as well when a cold, raw wind is blowing outside. Cold drafts do get in, somehow. But you can turn them into warm ones with a Perfection Oil Heater.

There are some corners that you just can't seem to warm up with your regular coal heater. A Perfection will do it and save "rushing" the furnace for hours a time.

Too much heat is almost as bad as not enough. Keep the chill out of the house with your regular heating device and then apply the warmth of a glowing Perfection.

The Perfection is remarkably light and durable. Put it just where grandmother wants it. It burns for about ten hours with a single filling.

Economize on coal this year by using more kerosene for heating. The price of Aladdin Security Oil is only about half what it was a year ago.

Almost all hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell the Perfection Heater.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD FINDS THAT BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

In Its November Bulletin, Board Says That Some Distinctly Encouraging Elements In The Business Situation Are To Be Noted—Rapid Marketing Of Agricultural Products Has Had Good Influence.

Some distinctly encouraging elements in the general business situation are to be noted, according to the Federal Reserve Board in its November bulletin. In reviewing business and financial conditions the board says, in part:

"Marketing of agricultural products has proceeded rapidly during October. This has had a beneficial influence in stimulating the activity of important lines of industry and trade."

"The higher prices realized by the farmer for tobacco and cotton, and from heavy sales abroad of cereals have given him ready cash and have brought him into the market for purchases of seasonal goods with corresponding benefit to trade in the producing regions. Improved collections and the reduction of outstanding loan accounts have followed in the train of this renewed activity."

"The beginning of improvement is noticeable, even in portions of the country such as some of the southern and southwestern districts where credit conditions have been more serious than generally."

"Some distinctly encouraging elements in the textile industry are to be noted. The outlook in the textile industries is among these. There has been a more active demand for raw wool especially of the medium grades heretofore in smaller demand, while it is true that uncertainty of the future of cotton prices has held some textile manufacturers to hold off, the disposition to buy has been much more pronounced during the past few weeks. Consumption of raw materials continues at a high figure and the total used in September was in excess of that reported for September, 1920."

"In iron and steel an increase both in production and in unfilled orders has taken place which, although limited in amount, is regarded as of first rate importance as marking the turn from the low point. Conditions surrounding the production and sale of non-ferrous metals are materially improved in the southwestern mining districts, and bituminous coal production has shown a substantial increase."

"Better conditions are also reported in the lumber industry, one or two districts, notably Minneapolis, however, furnishing an exception. The activity of building has been particularly noteworthy because of its continuance beyond the time when a seasonal reaction would ordinarily occur."

"The better conditions in the agricultural districts, accompanied by improved buying demand and the enlarged activity in manufacturing, have naturally been reflected in increased activity of wholesale trade. Retail trade has been well maintained in most parts of the country."

"Steady liquidation of credit, increases in reserve strength and of reserve ratios, and some decline in bills held by Federal Reserve banks, have been the characteristic features of the month from the banking standpoint. Financially the outstanding occurrence has been the marked increase in the prices of standard bonds, particularly of Liberty bonds, and the limited decline in rates of interest. Foreign exchange, however, has shown great instability largely due to disturbed political conditions in foreign countries and continued difficulty of devising any system of international financing."

U. S. CANNOT AFFORD TO CANCEL ALLIED DEBT

Claimed By Well Known Economist That First Thought Should Be Given To Taxation Problems (From Wall St. Journal)

"I see no reason why the Allies should not pay their debts to the United States," said a well-known economist to a representative of The Wall Street Journal. "Our late Allies have done nothing to justify our evading them from payment of the $10,000,000,000 which the owe us. 'Charity begins at home'—we should do something to relieve our own business men from the huge tax-burden under which they are now laboring before we begin to consider making wholesale gifts to other nations."

"It is absurd to say American business will be ruined if the Allied debts are paid in goods. The theory that an excess of exports over imports is an indication of national prosperity, and the reverse an indication of national decline, has been exploded long ago. England showed an excess of imports for many years, while she was the richest nation in the world. She was drawing the interest on her foreign investments in the form of goods; this is what every investor does, the cash which he receives as interest and dividends being, in the great majority of cases, converted into goods and services."

"The idea that, if the debt is paid, American markets will be flooded with European goods is absurd. Of course, payments of principal will extend over a long period of years. At 5% the annual interest on the debt will be $500,000,000 a year. But this apparently enormous sum would amount to less than $5 per capita."

"I believe Europeans should be allowed to enter our markets with as few restrictions as possible. The benefits to the nation as a whole as consumers would far exceed the harm done to the few American manufacturers with whom they compete."

MEXICAN PETROLEUM CO.
The management of the Mexican Petroleum Co. refuse to comment on statements regarding conditions in the Mexican oil fields other than to point out what it claims is the speculative purpose of the statements. The company says that its production at present is the largest in the history of the company.

66 STOCKYARDS NOW UNDER GOV. CONTROL

The bulk of the nation's stockyards are now under the control of the Federal Government.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced the names of sixty-six stockyards in various parts of the country that have been determined as coming within his jurisdiction under the recently enacted Packers and Stockyards Act. The owners have been formally notified and notices were posted in each of the yards today.

EQUIPMENT CO.'S LOOK FOR INCREASED BUYING

Doubtful, However, if Market Will Be Improved Before January—Prices Far Below 1920 Highs (From Wall St. Journal)

Although volume of railroad buying in rails, track equipment and cars, has been insignificant so far there are better indications of future buying in the market than there have been in a year or more and sentiment in equipment circles is decidedly improved. It is not expected, however, that much buying will occur before January, although several roads are feeling out the market and some are understood to have assured manufacturers of their intention to purchase new equipment."

Prices of railroad equipment are now considerably under the high of last year. Rails, quoted in 1920 at $57 a ton, are now $40, against a pre-war level of $30. Locomotives are now being bid on at about 16 1/2 to 17 cents a pound, figured on total weight of engine in working order. This compares with a pre-war price of $178.095,959, or $214.601, 953 less than for the corresponding period of last year.

Prices of equipment are based on three major factors, labor, specialties and steel. As equipment companies do not carry any important volume of inventories except commitments against business actually booked they have no high-priced material to work off on buyers and are able to figure prices on inquiries on the basis of current market prices for their labor and material. Labor rates in the equipment industry are still high as are prices of the various specialties and, while steel prices have receded materially, they are still above the pre-war quotations.

By So Doing, the Fuel Bills Will Be Cut Down—Saving of 15 To 25 Per Cent Possible

Stopping up cracks around doors and windows is an important factor in cutting down the coal bill and keeping the rooms comfortable, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1194, Operating a Home Heating Plant, published by the United States Department of Agriculture. More fuel invariably is consumed in a house with loosely fitted windows than in one where the cracks are protected. In the windward rooms of some houses on particularly cold, windy days the leakage about window and door framing will be so great that the rooms can not be heated to a comfortable temperature, even by forcing the furnace to its limit.

Tight-fitting windows, says the bulletin are essential if leakage losses are to be kept down. Ordinarily felt weather stripping helps to reduce this loss. Metal weather stripping is still better and aids materially in saving fuel. Tests have demonstrated that it is possible, by the use of metal weather stripping, to reduce by 88 per cent the leakage through a one-thirty-second inch crack when the wind is blowing 15 miles an hour and by 83 per cent with a 30-mile wind.

The condition of the windows in a building, whether tight, loose, or just loose enough to rattle, plays a very important part not only in the comfort derived from a heating plant but more noticeably in the annual cost of operation. Suitable metal weather stripping frequently reduces by 15 to 20 per cent the radiation required.

The prevention of window leakage means a saving of heat and a lessening of dirt blown into the house. In a certain apartment house, says the bulletin, situated near a railroad station in a large city, during the first season of its occupancy the heating system supplied sufficient heat with a reasonable economy of fuel, but smoke and dust were nuisances. Metal weather stripping was applied before the next heating season, and as a result the temperature of the rooms was too high. The radiating surface was almost one-fourth, and it still supplied sufficient heat, while the fuel consumption also showed a noticeable reduction.

A fuel saving of 15 to 25 per cent appears possible by equipping windows with metal weather stripping. If, therefore, metal stripping is put in when a house is built, it is possible to reduce the size and cost of the heating plant in proportion to the reduction in radiation surface made possible. The cost to metal weather stripping may frequently be offset by the reduction in the cost of the heating plant.

Copies of the bulletin may be had, upon request of the department at Washington, D. C.

PEACH-TREE BORER NOW UNDER CONTROL

Application of Para-Dichlorobenzene At Base Of Tree Will Destroy The Larvae

The so-called peach-tree borer has constituted one of the principal drawbacks to the successful cultivation of the peach for 150 years, and only within 5 years have effective and practical means of control been discovered.

The para-dichlorobenzene treatment developed by E. B. Blakeslee, of the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, is described in Farmers' Bulletin 1246, "The Peach Borer: How to Prevent or Lessen Its Ravages," by Dr. A. L. Quaintance, entomologist in charge of fruit insect investigations.

The peach borer is the larva of a beautiful clear-winged moth. It feeds on the inner bark at the base of the tree or on the adjacent roots, seriously injuring and frequently killing the trees attacked. Few American insects have been more experimented with by entomologists and others than the peach borer.

As a result of experiments begun by the department in 1915, it was found that this pest could be largely destroyed by the application of para-dichlorobenzene, which is a volatile poison.

The chemical is applied in the fall around the base of the tree. The soil is first leveled off and a band of "Paradichlor" is applied to the soil on a continuous band about 2 inches from the tree trunk, using it at the rate of 1 ounce per tree. After the chemical is applied the soil is covered with two or three shovelfuls of earth. The vapor from the chemical permeates the soil and kills the larvae in their burrows.

The bulletin treats briefly of the life and habits of the insect, of the "worming" method of destroying the borers where there are only a few trees involved, and of the "Paradichlor" method. The bulletin may be had on application to the Department at Washington.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK FOR 1922 IS FAVORABLE

In a telegram to the editor of a western agricultural paper, Secretary Henry C. Wallace made the following encouraging statement:

The agricultural outlook for 1922 is favorable. As we have seen marked improvement over conditions as they have existed this year. Time will be required for full recovery, but we have reached the bottom and are on the up-grade. The most important things farmers should work for are the perfection of their cooperative selling organizations with a view to putting the marketing of farm products on a thoroughly sound basis, and the careful study of needs of the consumer and intelligent adjustment of production to these needs.

Demonstration of Raising Hogs On Soiling Crops is Highly Successful

No less than 2,000 farmers, it is estimated, have been shown a hog demonstration in Covington County, Ala. The county agent started last year the system on which this demonstration was based, when cotton was abnormally high and hogs so low that farmers were not making money on them the way they were producing them. He found a man conspicuously located who was willing to give special attention the year around to hogs, which were to be raised on soiling crops, together with a small amount of grain.

The farmer making the demonstration offered to devote 30 acres to it. He bought 10 brood sows and a good young boar and put up the proper houses and fences. The 30 acres were divided into four fields of equal size and planted with a succession of crops to be grazed. The program of crops followed was that recommended at a conference of farmers, bankers and State and county agents.

The first field was planted January 1, 1920, to oats and Canadian peas. Late in the county agent recommended leaving Canadian peas out and using rye in the first field instead. The hogs were turned on this March 1 for two months. Five of the sows had pigs at the time they began to graze. The hogs were moved for May and June to the next field, where sudan grass and millet had been planted April 1.

In July and August the third field was used. It was planted to corn and Spanish peanuts during the first half of March. From this crop the hogs went in September and October to soy beans, planted the middle of May as the second crop in the first field. The second field, replanted July 1, was ready for November and December with sweet potatoes. By January 1 the rye and oats sowed in field No. 4 on October 1 were ready for the hogs, and so on the year around.

The 30 demonstration acres and 10 sows cleared approximately $500 the first eight months. But the important object of this demonstration was to have a place to show farmers how they could raise hogs on soiling crops and have a few matured hogs ready for the market every month in the year. About 20,000 copies of this program was sent out to farmers in southwest Alabama, and it is expected that 100 or more such systems will be started in the county next winter.

QUAIL PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR IN MARYLAND

The bobwhite is plentiful this year. Two successive mild winters and three good breeding seasons have multiplied bobwhite coveys by the thousand, according to reports to the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture. In Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Illinois, and Indiana there has not been such an abundance of quail in many years, the department is advised. In a recent trip through northern and northwestern Indiana, the bobwhite was seen in greater numbers than ever before, and warblers in many other States in which there is no open season on quail report that the bobwhite is abundant in their localities, notably in Ohio, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering From Nerves and Depression—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I am sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

THE ORIOLE

"Vile things!" she said. Her mother, sewing beside another window of the room, looked up inquiringly.

"What are, Florence?" "Cousin Herbert and that nasty little Henry Rooter."

"Are you watching them again?" her mother asked.

"Yes, I am," said Florence, tartly. "Not because I care to, but merely to amuse myself at their expense."

Mrs. Atwater murmured deprecatingly. "Couldn't you find some other way to amuse yourself, Florence?"

"I don't call this amusement," the inconsistent girl responded, not without a twinge. "Think I'd spend all my days staring at Herbert Illingsworth Atwater, Junior, and that nasty little Henry Rooter, and call it amusement?"

"Then why do you do it?"

"Why do I do what, mama?" Florence inquired as if in despair of Mrs. Atwater's ever learning to put things clearly.

"Why do you spend all your days watching them? You don't seem able to keep away from the window, and it appears to make you irritable. I should think if they wouldn't let you play with them you'd be too proud."

"Oh, good heavens, mama!"

"Don't use expressions like that, Florence, please."

"Well," said Florence, "I got to use some expression when you accuse me of wantin' to 'play' with those two vile things! My goodness mercy, mama, I don't want to 'play' with 'em! I'm more than four years old, I guess; though you don't ever seem willing to give me credit for it. I don't haf to 'play' all the time, mama; and, anyway, Herbert and that nasty little Henry Rooter aren't playing, either."

"Aren't they?" Mrs. Atwater inquired. "I thought the other day you said you wanted them to let you play at being a newspaper reporter, or editor, or something like that, with them, and they were rude and told you to go away. Wasn't that it?"

Florence sighed. "No, mama, it certainly wasn't."

"They weren't rude to you?"

"Yes, they certainly were!"

"Well, then—"

"Mama, can't you understand?" Florence turned from the window to beseech Mrs. Atwater's concentration upon the matter. "It isn't 'playing'! I didn't want to 'play' being a reporter; they ain't 'playing'—"

"Aren't playing, Florence?"

"Yes'm. They're not. Herbert's got a real printing press; Uncle Joseph gave it to him. It's a real one, mama, can't you understand?"

"I'll try," said Mrs. Atwater. "You mustn't get so excited about it, Florence."

"I'm not!" Florence turned vehemently. "I guess I'd take more than those two vile things and their old printing press to get me excited! I don't care what they do; it's far less than nothing to me! All I wish is they'd fall off the fence and break their vile ole necks!"

With this manifestation of impersonal calmness, she turned again to the window; but her mother protested. "Do find something else to amuse you, Florence; and quit watching those foolish boys; you mustn't let them upset you so by their playing."

Florence moaned. "They don't 'upset' me, mama! They have no effect on me by the slightest degree! And I told you, mama, they're not 'playing.'"

"Then what are they doing?"

"Well, they're having a newspaper. They got the printing press and an office in Herbert's ole stable, and everything. They got somebody to give 'em some ole banisters and a railing from a house that was torn down somewhere, and then they got it stuck up in the stable loft, so it runs across with a kind of a gate in the middle of these banisters, and on one side is the printing press, and the other side they got a desk from that nasty little Henry Rooter's mother's attic; and a table and some chairs, and a map on the wall; and that's their newspaper office. They go out and look for what's the news, and write it down in ink; and then they go through the gate to the other side of the railing where the printing press is, and print it for their newspaper."

"But what do they do on the fence so much?"

"That's where they go to watch what the news is," Florence explained morosely. "They think they're so grand, sittin' up there, pokin' around. They go other places, too; and they ask people. That's all they said I could be!" Here the lady's bitterness became strongly intensified. "They said, maybe I could be one of the ones they asked if I knew anything, sometimes, if they happen to think of it! I just respectfully told 'em I'd decline to wipe my ole shoes on 'em to save their lives!"

Mrs. Atwater sighed. "You mustn't use such expressions, Florence."

"I don't see why not," the daughter objected. "They're a lot more refined than the expressions they used on me!"

"Then I'm very glad you didn't play with them."

But at this, Florence once more gave way to filial despair. "Mama, you just can't see through anything! I've said a hundred times they ain't—aren't playing! They're getting up a real newspaper, and people buy it, and everything. They have been all over this part of town and got every aunt and uncle they have, besides their own fathers and mothers, and some people in the neighborhood, and Kitty Silver and two of those other colored people besides, that work for families they know. They're going to charge twenty-five cents a year, collect in advance because they want the money first, and even papa gave 'em a quarter last night; he told me so."

"How often do they publish their paper, Florence?" Mrs. Atwater inquired somewhat absently, having resumed her sewing.

"Every week; and they're goin' to have the first one a week from today."

"What do they call it?"

"The North End Daily Oriole. It's the silliest name I ever heard of for a newspaper; and I told 'em so. I told 'em what I thought of it, I guess!"

"Was that the reason?" Mrs. Atwater asked.

"Was it what reason, mama?"

"Was it the reason they wouldn't let you be a reporter with them?"

"Pooh!" Florence exclaimed airily. "I didn't want anything to do with their ole paper. But anyway I didn't make fun o' their callin' it the North End Daily Oriole till after they said I couldn't be in it. Then I did, you bet!"

"Florence, don't say—"

"Mama, I got to say some'm! Well, I told 'em I wouldn't be in their ole paper if they begged me on their bent knees; and I said if they begged me a thousand years I wouldn't be in any paper with such a crazy name; and I wouldn't tell 'em any news if I knew the President of the United States had the scarlet fever! I just politely informed 'em they could say what they liked if they was lying; I declined so much as wipe the oldest shoes I got on 'em!"

"But why wouldn't they let you be on the paper?" her mother insisted.

Upon this Florence became analytical. "Just so's they could act so important!" And she added, as a consequence: "They ought to be arrested."

Mrs. Atwater murmured absently, but forbore to press her inquiry; and Florence was silent, in a brooding mood. The journalists upon the fence had disappeared from view, during the conversation with her mother; and presently she sighed and quietly left the room. She went to her own apartment, where, at a small and rather battered little white desk, after a period of earnest reverie, she took up a pen, wet the point in purple ink, and without any great effort or any critical delayings, produced a poem.

It was, in a sense, an original poem; though, like the greater number of all literary offerings, it was so strongly inspirational that the source of its inspiration might easily become manifest to a cold-blooded reader. Nevertheless, to the poetess herself, as she explained later in good faith, the words just seemed to come to her—doubtless with either genius or some form of miracle involved; for sources of inspiration are seldom recognized by inspired writers themselves. She had not long ago been party to a musical Sunday afternoon at her great-uncle Joseph Atwater's house where Mr. Clairdyce, that amiable and robust baritone, sang some of his songs over and over again, as long as the requests for them held out. Florence's poem may have begun to coagulate within her then.

THE ORGANIST

By Florence Atwater

The organist was seated at his organ in a church.

In some beautiful woods of maple and birch.

He was very weary while he played upon the keys.

But he was a great organist and always played with ease.

When the soul is weary, and the wind is dreary,

I would like to be an organist seated all day at the organ.

Whether my name might be Fairchild or Morgan,

I would play music like a vast amen, the way it sounds in a church of men.

Florence read her poem over seven or eight times, the deepening pleasure of her expression being evidence that repetition failed to denature this work, but, on the contrary, enhanced an appreciative surprise at its singular merit. Finally she folded the sheet of paper with a delicate carefulness unusual to her, and placed it in her skirt pocket. Then she went downstairs and out into the back yard. With thoughtful and determined eyes she obliqued her gaze over the intervening fences to the repellent skyline formed by the too-simple profile

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter taking good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over. Adv.

lated out as fundamental, but in regard to any newspaper which should "elaborately call itself an 'Oriole.'" The partners remained superior in manner, though unable to conceal a natural resentment; they had adopted "Oriole" not out of sentiment for the distant city of Baltimore, nor, indeed, on account of any orthologic interest of their own, but as a relic from an abandoned club, or secret society, which they had previously contemplated forming. Its members to be called "The Orioles" for no reason whatever. The two friends had talked of their plan at many meetings throughout the summer, and when Herbert's great-uncle, Mr. Joseph Atwater, made his nephew the unexpected present of a printing press, and a newspaper consequently took the place of the club, Herbert and Henry still entertained an affection for their former scheme and decided to perpetuate the name. They were the more sensitive to attack; they lay by an important outdoor and girl like Florence, and her chance of ingratiating herself with them, if that could be now her intention, was not promising.

It would be inaccurate to speak of her as hoping to please them, however; her mood was inscrutable. She descended from the fence with pronounced elegance, and, approaching the old double doors of the "carriage-house," which were open, paused to listen. Sounds from above assured her that the editors were editing—or at least that they could be found at their place of business. Therefore, she ascended the cobbley stairway to the loft, and made her appearance in the printing room of the North End Daily Oriole.

Herbert, frowning with the burden of composition, sat at a table beyond the official railing, and his partner was engaged at the press, painfully setting type. This latter person, whom Florence ence for several months had named "not once otherwise than as 'That nasty little Henry Rooter,'" was of strangely clean and smooth fair-haired appearance, for his age. She looked him over.

"Here! Didn't I and Herbert tell you to keep out of here?"

His profile was of a symmetry he had not himself yet begun to appreciate; his dress was scrupulous and modish; and though he was short, nothing outward about him explained the more sinister of Florence's two adjectives. Yet she had true occasion for it, because on the day before she began its long observance he had made her uneasy lest an orange seed she had swallowed should take root and grow up within her to a size inevitably fatal. Then, with her cousin Herbert's stern assistance, Florence had realized that her gullibility was not to be expected in anybody over seven years old, after which age such legends are supposed to be encountered with the decision of experienced people.

Her fastidiousness aroused, she decided that Henry Rooter had no business to be talking about what would happen to her insides, anyhow; and so informed him at their next meeting, adding an explanation which absolutely proved him to be no gentleman. And her opinion of him was still far from plain in her expression as she made her present intrusion upon his working hours. He seemed to re-probate.

"Here! Didn't I and Herbert tell you to keep out of here?" he demanded, even before Florence had developed the slightest hint of greeting. "Look at her, Herbert! She's back again!"

"You get out of here, Florence," said Herbert, abandoning his task with a look of pain. "How often we have to tell you we don't want you around here when we're in our office like this?"

"For heaven's sake!" Henry Rooter thought fit to add. "Can't you put running up and down our office stairs once in a while, long enough for us to get our newspaper work done? Can't you give us a little peace?"

The persistence of Florence's annoying compulsion was insupportable, and had not been near their old office for four days. She stated the fact with heat, adding: "And I only came then because I knew somebody ought to see that this stable isn't ruined. It's my own uncle and aunt's stable, and I got as much right here as anybody."

the aunt and uncle's stable." "It isn't!" "No, it is not! This isn't anybody's stable. It's my and Herbert's newspaper building, and I guess you haven't got the face to stand there and claim you got a right to go in a newspaper building and say you got a right there when everybody tells you to stay outside of it, I guess!" "Oh, haven't I?"

"No, you haven't!" Mr. Rooter maintained bitterly. "You just walk downtown and go in one of the newspaper buildings down there and tell 'em you got a right to stay there all day long when they tell you to get out of there! Just try it! That's all I ask!"

Florence uttered a cry of derision. "And pray, whoever told you I was bound to do everything you ask me to do, Mister Henry Rooter?" And she concluded by reverting to that hostile impulse, so ancient, which in despair of touching an antagonist effectively, reflects upon his ancestors. "If you got anything you want to ask, you go ask your grandmother!"

"Here!" Herbert sprang to his feet, outraged. "You try and behave like a lady!"

"Who'll make me?" she inquired. "You got to behave like a lady as long as you're in our newspaper building, anyway," Herbert said ominously. "If you expect to come up here after you been told five dozen times to keep out—"

"For heaven's sake!" his partner interposed. "When we go in to get our newspaper work done? She's your cousin; I should think you could get her out."

"Well, I'm going to, ain't I?" Herbert protested indignantly. "I expect to get her out, don't I?"

"Oh, you do?" Miss Atwater inquired, with severe mockery. "Pray, how do you expect to accomplish it, pray?"

Herbert looked desperate, but was unable to form a reply consistent with some rules of etiquette and gallantry which he had begun to observe during the past year or so. "Now, see here, Florence," he said. "You're old enough to know when people tell you to keep out of a place, why, it means they want you to stay away from there."

Florence remained cold to this reasoning. "Oh, pooh!" she said. "Now, look here!" her cousin remonstrated, and went on with his argument. "We got our newspaper work to do, and you ought to have some enough to know newspaper work like this newspaper work we got on our hands here isn't—well, it ain't any child's play."

His partner appeared to approve of the expression, for he nodded severely, and then used it himself. "No, you bet it isn't any child's play," he said.

"No, sir," Henry Rooter again agreed. "Newspaper work like this isn't any child's play at all!"

"It isn't any child's play, Florence," said Herbert. "It ain't any child's play at all, Florence. If it was just child's play or something like that, why, it wouldn't matter so much your always pokin' up here, and—"

"Well," the partner interrupted, judicially. "We wouldn't want her around, even if it was child's play." "No, we wouldn't; that's so," Herbert agreed.

"We wouldn't want you around, anyhow, Florence," Herbert's tone became more plaintive. "So, for mercy's sake, can't you go on home and give us a little rest? What you want, anyhow?"

"Well, I guess it's about time you was askin' me that," she said, not unreasonably. "If you'd asked me that in the first place, instead of actin' like you'd never been taught anything, and was only fit to associate with hoodlums, perhaps my time is of some value, wasn't it?"

The lack of rhetorical education was largely counteracted by the strong expressiveness of tone and manner, at all events, Florence made perfectly clear her position as a person of value, wasn't it?

The principle of washing clothes by air pressure and suction was first used in the "EASY" in 1877—then a small hand operated machine which gradually developed until the adaptation of electricity made possible the present "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE.

It will wash ten sheets or the equivalent in fifteen minutes. The action is so gentle compared with the scrubbing board that your clothes will last twice as long. It is so easy to operate that you may do your other work while your wash is being done. You or your maid can operate it and save the expense of a wash woman.

DOORS OPENED FOR COMMUNITY FAIR YESTERDAY

Annual Event Started In First Regiment Armory Wednesday Morning.

THIS YEAR'S EXHIBITS ARE OF HIGH STANDARD

Fine Collections Of Farm Products, Household Articles, Public School Work And Poultry—Many Interesting Things To Hold The Attention Of The Onlookers.

All roads are leading to the Armory this week, for the big Community Fair started yesterday and will last for three days. The fifth annual Community Fair is being held under the auspices of the Wicomico Pomona Grange and with a splendid collection of exhibits to attract the eye and to hold the attention of the visitors, this year's event should be one of the best ever held here.

This year marks the first time that poultry has been exhibited at the Community Fair. The poultry exhibits are stationed in the basement of the armory, and there are about 200 exhibits in all. In fact, more poultry is on exhibition than was expected, and all of the exhibits are of excellent standard. Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, White Leghorns, White Wyandottes, and a large number of geese, are some of the specimens exhibited in the basement. The poultry exhibit is in charge of Mr. William Collier.

The collection of farm products, which are arranged on the north side of the main floor of the armory, will make the onlookers realize more fully just what Wicomico county produces. The farm products on exhibition are an unusually fine collection, there being a wonderful collection of Irish potatoes, sweet corn, turnips, cabbage, lettuce and other vegetable products. One tomato plant is on exhibition that measures 15 feet in diameter and from which 592 tomatoes were picked.

The exhibit of yellow and white corn is the finest ever shown at a Community Fair, while the exhibits of small grains, cowpeas, soybeans, wheat, rye, buckwheat, black-eyed peas, etc., are plentiful and of superior quality. The exhibits of cauliflower and celery also convince one that Wicomico's climate and soil are adaptable to growing such food-stuffs excellently. A seed collection of home grown seed that is placed in a receptacle containing 60 small compartments has aroused much admiration among the visitors.

In the center aisle of the main floor of the armory stage is to be found the Household products such as canned vegetables, pickles, preserves, cakes, biscuits, candies and all the other deliciously made edibles.

One of the main attractions at the fair is the mechanical cow, electrically operated, which is located on the armory stage. This animal shows the cow and the various uses made of the milk. It is the first time that it has ever been exhibited in Wicomico county, and is exceptionally interesting.

A Milk Booth is stationed in the south west corner of the building and the club girls from Wicomico county are assisting in serving milk.

Many things to attract the eyes of the women-folk are to be found on the south side of the armory where the fancy needle work, embroidery and garments of all kinds are on display. One piece that has attracted much attention is an American flag made by a boy patient at Pine Bluff Sanatorium. Flirt crochet, Irish Crochet and hand made garments of all description are on exhibition.

The Public School exhibit also is very interesting this year. The graded schools and rural schools have exhibits of all sorts, and the work of the pupils is well worth the time spent in inspecting it.

EXPRESS AND R. R. OFFICIALS ADDRESS C. OF C.

Mr. Huff, American Ry. Express And Mr. Gillis, N. Y. P. & N., Talk To Chamber Members.

"PERFECT PACKAGE" CAMPAIGN THE TOPIC

Many Instances Cited Where Careless Marking Of Packages Has Resulted In Loss Of Time And Money—Mr. Gillis Tells About Importance Of Proper Classification.

At Thursday night's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Supt. W. H. Huff, of the American Railway Express Company, and Mr. Lee Gillis, representative of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad, delivered interesting talks to the members regarding "Perfect Package" shipments and pointed out many savings that could be effected by shippers.

"The Perfect Package" campaign is being conducted jointly by the express company and the railroad during the month of November, and Mr. Huff explained to Chamber members the advantages that would accrue not only to the express and railroad companies in the way of saving on claims but also how shippers could protect themselves and secure much quicker shipments by having goods, solid packages with the address clearly shown thereon. In other words, if shippers would exert every precaution when preparing packages for shipment, both time and money would be saved all parties concerned.

Mr. Huff cited many instances where packages had gone astray because the shipper used a container on which previous addresses were still legible. This, he said, naturally resulted in confusion and was detrimental to good service.

A number of Chamber members took part in the discussion and pointed out wherein the Express Company could vastly improve the service now rendered to the people of Salisbury. Superintendent Huff expressed his appreciation of the attitude shown by the Chamber of Commerce members and assured them that the matters complained of would receive prompt attention.

Mr. Gillis cited a number of savings that could be effected by local shippers if the bills of lading were made out in such a way that they might secure the proper ratings. He thoroughly illustrated his point by referring specifically to shipments of salt, which has different classifications. According to Mr. Gillis, of tentimes a shipment would be brought to the station with the bill of lading simply setting forth the word "salt," and inasmuch as there are several grades of salt, some of which take a much higher rating than others, the low word "salt" compelled them to put all such shipments on the higher rate schedule.

Such things are matters that every shipper should look into very carefully, said Mr. Gillis. By doing so, the shippers often would save themselves considerable money by securing a lower freight rate on many items that have different classifications.

SQUADRON OF AIRPLANES TO FLY HERE SOON

Salisbury Will Be Visited By Air Squadron Of Maryland National Guard.

WILL JOURNEY HERE IN INTEREST CO. "I"

Trip To Be Made Either Next Saturday Or Soon Thereafter As Possible—Airmen Will Alight At Fair Grounds And Civilians Will Have Chance To Take A Flight.

Within a short time Salisburyans will have an opportunity of seeing a squadron of airplanes soaring majestically above the city in battle formation and will be given a demonstration of the ease with which these birds of the air alight when they descend to earth here on the Fair Grounds. Any of the local citizens who are interested in flying and who may desire to take a flight through the air, will be given the opportunity to do so.

Arrangements have just been completed by Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, State Commander of the American Legion, Maryland Department, with Adjutant General Milton A. Reckord, to have the aero squadron of the Maryland National Guard visit Salisbury either this coming Saturday afternoon or at some time as soon thereafter as will be feasible.

The Guard's aero squadron will come to Salisbury in order to arouse interest in recruiting of Company "I", and it will be the first time that a full squadron of planes has ever visited this city. Consequently much interest is being shown in the approaching visit of the airmen, and a good sized crowd undoubtedly will be on hand at the Fair Grounds to greet them when they alight and to give them a most cordial welcome to our city.

Col. Woodcock stated yesterday that the Maryland National Guard is the only national guard unit in the country which has a complete air squadron. Until a week ago the Maryland air squadron consisted of five planes, but five additional planes were received from the United States Government last week and since that time interest in the air work in the Guard has been greatly intensified.

Previous to the arrival of the squadron, it is possible that an air scouting plane will fly here in order to do a little reconnoitering in getting the lay of the land. This visit of the scout plane may be expected on the preceding Thursday of the squadron's visit.

The trip from Baltimore to Salisbury can be made in the big army planes in about an hour's time. Through the courtesy of Mr. D. J. Ward, the Fair Grounds will be made the rendezvous of the airmen while here, and civilians desiring to take a flight will be accommodated.

TROPHY BEING EXHIBITED IN NEWS OFFICE WINDOW

The Harry L. Webb Memorial Trophy won by Private C. E. Tighman, Company "I" First Maryland Regiment, at the Maryland Guard Rifle matches, is now on exhibition in the window of the Wicomico News office and is attracting quite a bit of attention. The trophy is a handsome silver cup standing about 12 inches high and is of excellent design.

NECK BROKEN IN FALL; DIES AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Mr. Clarence Parsons, 35 years old, of Pittsville, died at the Peninsula General Hospital Monday night from injuries sustained in a fall which resulted in a broken neck. It is said that the unfortunate accident occurred when Mr. Parsons fell from his car, and although he was rushed to the hospital soon after the accident happened his injury was of such a serious nature that death shortly followed.

Hospital Donation Week Begins Monday

Will Last For Three Days And All Contributions Will Be Received At Nurse's Home.

"Donation Week" for the Peninsula General Hospital will start next Monday, and for three days the people of Salisbury and Wicomico county will have an opportunity to send their annual donations to the local institution. November 21, 22, and 23 are the days set aside for receiving the contributions, and all of the gifts this year will be received at the Nurse's Home. Members of the Woman's Auxiliary Board of the hospital will have charge of "Donation Week" and from the many assurances of contributions that have been received from various parts of the county, it is believed that the gifts this year will equal if not surpass those of former years. Preserved fruits, canned food-stuffs and other articles will be gratefully received.

CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY HERE

Appropriate Services Held on Court House Lawn In Honor Of The War Heroes.

Armistice Day was appropriately celebrated in Salisbury last Friday when a large crowd of citizens assembled on the court house lawn out of respect to the memory of the soldiers and sailors, living and dead, who fought in the recent world war. The exercises were opened at 12:10 P. M. with prayer by Rev. Dr. Herbert D. Cone.

The principal address was delivered by Rev. John Brandon Peters, who extolled the heroism of our boys during the great conflict and paid fitting tribute to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice. Rev. R. L. Shipley pronounced the benediction. Music was furnished by Mr. Raymond Wimbrow on his cornet, and the large crowd joined in the singing of patriotic songs.

While the services were being held, a large basket of beautiful yellow carnations were placed on the lawn by the Camden greenhouse as a memorial tribute to the boys who fell in battle.

SHORE LEAGUE NOW A MEMBER OF O. B.

Admitted Into The Fold Of Organized Baseball Tuesday. First O. B. League In This Section.

President Walter A. Miller of the Eastern Shore League, was advised Tuesday morning by Secretary J. H. Farrell, of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, that the newly organized Eastern Shore League had been admitted into the fold of organized baseball. With his communitarian Secretary, Farrell sent the necessary contracts and other data that the league officials will use.

With the Eastern Shore League now a member of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, the league is all set for some real baseball next season. It will be the first time that organized baseball has ever been played on the Shore, and the games next year should receive the wholehearted support of the fans in this section.

The clubs comprising the circuit, Pocomoke, Berlin, Cambridge, Princess Anne, Laurel, Parkside, Crisfield and Salisbury, have all organized for the coming year and extensive plans have been made by each club for a big season. A committee composed of M. B. Thawley, Crisfield, T. W. Sibbett, Cambridge, and Henry W. Ruark, Salisbury, is just at present busily engaged in preparing the schedule for 1922 season, and the playing dates will probably be announced within a short time.

Since it is the intention of the League officials to have the season close here on Labor Day, it is altogether probable that a post-season series will be arranged between the winner of the Eastern Shore League pennant and the team capturing the bunting in the Blue Ridge League.

PYTHIAN LODGES WILL HOLD RALLY IN EASTON

Big Affair Will Take Place On Nov. 21 And All Shore K. o. P. Lodges To Be Represented.

What is expected to be one of the largest gatherings of fraternal men ever held on the Eastern Shore is being planned by Star of the East Lodge, No. 106, Knights of Pythias, on November 21 in Easton. Every Pythian Lodge on the Shore will be asked to take part and send a delegation of members.

The affair has the sanction of the Grand Chancellor, Brice W. Johnson, of Cambridge, and he being an Eastern Shoreman is naturally desirous of seeing the lodges in this section show up well during his term of office.

The program for the day, which is now in the hands of a committee from the local Pythian lodge, will probably include a closed meeting of the lodge from 3 to 5 in the afternoon; a class initiation from 5 to 6:30, at which it is hoped to confer the rank of Page on the largest class of candidates ever held in Easton; a banquet from 6:30 to 8 o'clock, and a public meeting at 8:15, at which time an orator of national repute will deliver an address.

A rally similar to the one being planned for Easton was held at Salisbury last year, and also one at Cambridge, and they were both long-talked-of affairs. It is the aim of the Eastern lodge to measure up to the standard set by their sister lodges in these two towns, and if the program as planned by the committee is carried out there is no doubt that this will be accomplished.

DRIVE FOR RED CROSS MEMBERS IS SUCCESSFUL

Annual Roll Call Started Friday And About 800 Members Obtained In City.

WILL BE CONTINUED UNTIL NOVEMBER 24

Personal Campaign For Members, However, Will End In City Today. Beginning Tomorrow, Memberships May Be Taken Out At Local Red Cross Offices.

The annual roll call of the Red Cross got under way in the city and county last Friday morning and the valiant band of Red Cross workers have been doing splendid work ever since in helping to put Wicomico county on a high plane in point of Red Cross membership.

Up until noon yesterday, approximately 800 persons had joined the Red Cross in Salisbury, and it is confidently believed that this total will be swelled near the 1000-mark before the house-to-house campaign of the city is ended and the Red Cross booths dismantled.

At present the Red Cross has two booths. One is located in the post-office and the other is a movable booth which has been placed in the different city drug stores. Yesterday (Wednesday) the movable booth was stationed in White and Leonard's drug store and today those who have not yet joined the Red Cross will find one booth in the postoffice and the other at the Community Fair, in the Armory.

While the campaign for Red Cross members will continue until Thanksgiving Day, the canvass of the city has been done so thoroughly that the booths will be taken down at 8 P. M. today (Thursday) and from Friday until November 24, those citizens of Salisbury who have not yet received their little Red Cross buttons may obtain them by applying at the Red Cross offices in the Salisbury Building Loan & Banking Association Building and taking out a dollar membership. A letter with a dollar check sent to local Red Cross headquarters, also will make you a member of the Red Cross organization if you have overlooked becoming a member and find it inconvenient to apply in person at headquarters.

Mrs. Fred P. Adkins, chairman of the Roll Call Committee, stated yesterday that the chairman of the various committees of Red Cross workers throughout the county had not yet been asked to send in the list of members obtained in the county outside of Salisbury, but that the chairman of the county sections and their workers are doing splendid work and it is believed that the number of Red Cross members obtained in the county will exceed that of last year. As a matter of fact, when the county chairman has reported, it is expected that the total members in the city and county may reach close to 1500.

Following is a list of the chairman of the Red Cross workers in the county: Fruitland—Mrs. Ralph O. Dulany; Allen—Mrs. Harry Messick; Quantico—Mrs. Lay Phillips; Hebron—Mrs. Anna Davis; Mardela Springs—Mrs. A. B. Armstrong; Parsonsburg—Mrs. Agnes Jackson; Pittsville—Mrs. Rebecca Smith.

If you have not already joined the Red Cross—JOIN TODAY!

The Travellers' Club will meet Wednesday, November 23rd, at the home of Mrs. King White, Camden Avenue extended.

VAST THrong GATHERS HERE FOR BIG RALLY

Thirty-four Lodges Represented At Dedication Of I. O. O. F. Temple Friday.

MONSTER STREET PARADE PRECEDES DEDICATION

1532 Lodgement In Line Of March—400 Candidates Initiated At Night In Armory—Newton Lodge Now Stands Sixth In Point Of Membership Of Md. Odd Fellow Lodges.

The big gathering of Odd Fellows here last Friday, at which time the new $40,000 Temple of Newton Lodge No. 56, Salisbury, was dedicated, is believed to have been the largest fraternal event ever held on the Eastern Shore. Exactly 1532 members and prospective members of the order marched in the parade while the army attendance at night, when the degree team of Eden Lodge No. 34, of Wilmington, conferred the degrees upon the candidates, totaled 1650.

Early Friday morning, Odd Fellows from every part of the Del-Mar-Via Peninsula began to arrive in Salisbury and by 1 o'clock the streets were jammed with people and the local restaurants were doing a land-office business. Thirty-four lodges in all participated in the gala event, which will stand for a long time as a Rally hard to surpass.

The street parade got under way shortly after two o'clock, and, with three bands furnishing the music, things were kept enlivened along the route of march. The chiming of the Trinity bells as the paraders passed by the church, was another feature that was very pleasing. A ghastly figure clad in white and leading a real Billy goat, headed the procession of 400 candidates who marched at the rear end of the parade.

Following the parade the dedicatory exercises were held at the new Temple on East Main Street. Rev. L. B. Hater, of Taneytown, deputy grand master of Maryland, and his staff had charge of the ceremonies, which were very impressive throughout. Mr. D. Dorsey Edmonson, of Frederick, past Grand Master of Maryland, delivered dedicatory addresses in the presence of several thousand persons.

After the dedicatory services were over, the first degree was conferred upon the 400 candidates at the First Regiment Armory. The second and third degrees were conferred at night, and it is said that the work of Eden degree team, of Wilmington, was a revelation in ritualistic work. Newton Lodge No. 56, furnished 162 candidates for the initiation, and the local lodge now ranks sixth in point of membership in the State of Maryland.

Several prizes were awarded during the day, the first prize of $20 in gold being awarded to Miller Lodge No. 18, of Easton, Md.; a prize of $20 in gold also was awarded to Massey Lodge No. 157, Massey, Md., for being the lodge having the most men in line when the work of the best point distant from Salisbury. Band prizes of $5 gold were awarded to both Miller Lodge of Easton and Union Lodge No. 3, of Georgetown, Delaware.

Among the visiting lodges in attendance Friday were Grand Warden Frank L. Duncan, Towson; Grand Secretary Wm. A. Jones, Baltimore; Grand Treasurer J. F. Plummer, Baltimore; Secretary to Sovereign Grand Lodge J. Edward Kroph, Baltimore; Grand Master Calvin M. Whitell, Grand Secretary Wm. W. Doty, and P. J. Isaac, of the Grand Lodge of Delaware, and several officers from the Grand Lodge of Virginia.

Supper was served to the lodgesmen in the New Temple at 6 P. M., under the auspices of the H. P. H. Hand Rebekah Lodge No. 22.

Crucial Soccer Tilt Will Be Staged Today

Wicomico High To Play Sharptown At Gordy Park—Victory For Locals Means County Championship.

Much interest centers in the soccer tilt to be staged this afternoon (Thursday), at Gordy Park between the teams of Sharptown High School and Wicomico High. In the event that the local school team emerges from the fray the victor, it will mean that Wicomico High will wear the laurel of champions of the County High School soccer championship.

Having won two games played in the county league, Wicomico High is bent upon taking the game that will mean the clinching of the honors, and the rosters will be on hand in plenty this afternoon to help spur on their team with vocal encouragement. So far, W. H. S. has not even been scored on in the previous two games, having taken the first game from Delmar by a 2-0 score and beating Sharptown last week, 1 to 0.

The next big game on the local soccer schedule after the close of county race, will be that to be played at Pocomoke City with the Crisfield High School team. ## SHARPTOWN

Harvey Elzey and Mrs. Ella Rounds of Salisbury motored here and were married at the M. E. Parsonage by Rev. Henry S. Dulany.

John S. Vickers of this town and Miss Mildred M. Eskridge of Gales-town were married in the Methodist Protestant parsonage on Saturday night by Rev. George R. Donaldson.

Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Kuhlman and two interesting twin boys, aged two and one half years arrived here from Vindex, Garrett County, Md. to succeed Dr. L. L. Gordy who will move to Baltimore in a few weeks to practise his profession in that city. Dr. Gordy has been a successful practitioner here and has developed an extensive practise, covering a large territory, necessitating almost a constant rush not only during the day but was frequently called to make long trips of nights and to this was added a large office practice and all this was too much of strain on his constitution and no time to rebuild or recuperate. He was offered easier work and much less exposure in Baltimore city and as his practice there will be less arduous than here and equally as remunerative he accepted the new position. The Doctor, his wife and two boys have endeavored themselves to the people in the town and community and it is with much regret that the people say adieu. He leaves accompanied with the best wishes of a host of people, in two states and three counties. But he did not agree to leave until he was satisfied that he had placed in his stead, a doctor, a gentleman and a family that would be a valuable asset to the town and community, an honor to the profession and a man every way qualified to meet the requirements and maintain a high standard of professional and social life. And in this he had the good fortune to secure as a successor, a successful man in the profession with a splendid record of six years practice, Dr. H. S. Kuhlman, a native of Pennsylvania, but now fully and truly an established citizen in his adopted State. He will at once enter upon the practice of his profession and as soon as Dr. Gordy and family can vacate their beautiful home on Water street he will take over the property and become a citizen of our town. In the meantime the Doctor and family are being well cared for at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mooney, on Main street.

Choice Cuts —and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side."

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choice cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

The sweeping victory of the Democratic party at the polls last Tuesday shows conclusively that Maryland is still to be classified as a "doubtful" state when it comes to forecasting election results. Following the Republican victory of last year, when Mr. Harding's plurality in the State totaled 55,000 the overwhelming switch-back to the Democratic side last week would seem to indicate that neither the Democrats nor the Republicans can sit back and count the votes of this state "hatched" for them before-hand.

That the head of the Democratic State ticket this year—Mr. William S. Gordy, Jr.—should have been elected by a plurality of nearly 25,000 is indeed very gratifying to us. When a man can lead his party to such a splendid victory—a victory that was clean-cut and surpassed all previous records for high pluralities in State-wide elections—within a year's time of the most stupendous Republican plurality ever rolled up in this State for any candidate, it speaks wonders for the achievement of the candidate and is a splendid testimonial of the confidence reposed in him by the voters.

Previous to Tuesday's election, Mr. Gordy had never come before the people as a candidate for political office, but the quiet and thorough campaign that he waged in behalf of his candidacy and his party's interests were tremendously successful. Wherever he went during the campaign he made friends. He had no political buncombe to hand out—he spoke quietly and unostentatiously, and what is more, he impressed the voters with his sincerity of purpose. And they did the rest on Tuesday. Wicomico rolled up a majority for Mr. Gordy of more than two thousand votes—a record majority for this county—and the people are to be congratulated in helping to put him in office by such a splendid outpouring of their votes.

We congratulate Mr. Gordy upon his wonderful victory, and if the political rumblings we have heard since election time take definite shape, we bespeak for him even higher political honors in the future.

The victory of Mr. J. Clayton Kelly, who was re-elected clerk of the court for Wicomico county, also conclusively proved that he is a man who enjoys the full confidence of the voters of this county. Despite the purported political enmity of certain Democratic leaders the outstanding fact remains that Mr. Kelly is strongly entrenched in the high esteem of the rank and file of Democratic voters. His majority of more than one thousand votes is sufficient evidence of their confidence in him, and is a splendid tribute to his administration of the clerk's office during the past six years.

We congratulate all the candidates elected in Wicomico county, and when they take up their respective duties, may it be with the determination to at all times work for the best interests of Wicomico.

MR. HUGHES WASTES NO TIME.

Secretary of State Hughes not only tossed a bombshell into the camp of the visiting delegates to the disarmament conference when he made announcement Saturday of this country's plan for limitation of armaments but he also startled the whole country as well. Not the slightest inkling had been gleaned of the program this country would advance for limiting armaments, but the plan advocated by Mr. Hughes was so clear-cut, forceful and admitting of no room for doubt as to where this country stands, that the public is still left gasping in admiration at its very directness and boldness.

What the country had really come to believe was that the conference would be opened with the usual exchange of diplomatic amenities and that days and days would pass before any real, definite plan of action, or basis for getting down to real work, would be forthcoming. And right at the outset, Mr. Hughes, in his cool, logical, incisive manner throws all diplomatic pleasantries to the winds and gets down to the meat of the matter instantly. No wonder that the foreign diplomats gasped for breath and appeared dazed when Mr. Hughes had completed his task. The plan outlined is so comprehensive, and so little room is left for quibbling, that it will require some pretty astute diplomatic dickering to evade the main issue in the event either England or Japan is unwilling to accept the plan.

The mere fact that this country has agreed to go much further in the way of scrapping ships than has been asked of either Japan and England, alone shows the good faith underlying the proposal. According to the plan of Mr. Hughes, this country would agree to destroy thirty capital ships, aggregating 843,740 tons, while England would be required to scrap nineteen ships, aggregating 583,375 tons, and Japan seventeen, aggregating 418,928 tons. Within three months after the agreement, according to the Hughes plan, the United States would have eighteen capital ships, England would be in possession of twenty and Japan would have ten.

Mr. Hughes shows his astuteness by going even still farther and naming specifically the exact ships that each country will be required to send to the scrap heap. With the plan fully accepted by the three nations involved, each would know definitely what particular ships were to be destroyed—there would be no room left for argument on this score.

Inclusion of a ten-year naval building holiday, with no replacements of ships during that period, also is a strong feature of the Hughes plan, and if honestly carried out by each of the governments would be one of the greatest steps toward general disarmament ever made. Given a ten-year rest from the staggering expense of naval construction and it is reasonable to suppose that sufficient good results will have shown themselves during that period that no nation will want to start again the mad scramble for naval building supremacy that must eventually lead to war.

By outlining a complete and definite plan right at the outset of the conference, Mr. Hughes has performed a signal service in the interest not only of this country but also of humanity as well. May the representatives of England and Japan agree to the Hughes plan is our earnest wish.

HONORING THE DEAD.

One of the finest phrases that has come to our attention in a long while was that set forth in the message of the governor-general of Canada upon the occasion of the recent Armistice Day celebration. He said: "Honor the dead by helping the living." It is a message of seven words about which volumes could be written, and then this splendid phrase would lose none of its wonderful significance.

The burial of the unknown soldier on last Friday found this country honoring its dead in a solemn and awe-inspiring manner that has seldom or ever been equaled anywhere in the world—the whole nation bowed its head in reverence. That day—Friday—was given over in commemoration of the valiant deeds performed by our soldiers and sailors in the late war, and in solemn memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice upon the battlefields and upon the high seas. It was a most fitting tribute.

However, in honoring our brave soldier dead on Armistice Day of each year, with befitting public celebrations, would it not be well for us to ever keep uppermost in mind that there are three hundred and sixty four more days of each year in which we can "honor the dead by helping the living"?

Lately we have seen the news columns of the daily press in the cities carrying numerous articles setting forth the fact that many former service men are having a hard time getting employment, and the complaint of various of these men has been that when they stated that they had been in the service they were told there was "nothing doing" in the way of a job.

Some of these reports may be exaggerated, or they may have every essence of the plain, unvarnished truth behind them. But we do know that today there are thousands and thousands of former service men out of employment, and while we are honoring the dead we might also be exerting our utmost efforts in seeing that the living at least should not be discriminated against when it comes to a question of employment.

The Maryland Department, American Legion, is performing a fine work by doing everything within its power to procure employment for former service men out of jobs. An employment bureau has been opened at the Howard Street Armory, Baltimore, and since it was started many former soldiers and sailors have found employment through its aid. But there is still plenty of room for whole-hearted co-operation. Employers needing men will do well to keep the phrase "honor the dead by helping the living" ever before them when they are filling jobs. Every living service man helped is an added honor to those who died in the cause of liberty.

MR. RICKEY'S POULTRY NOTES.

The Eastern Shore is an ideal poultry section, and more of our readers each year are beginning to realize this fact. It is, therefore, with a great deal of genuine pleasure that we announce a series of articles on poultry raising to be written for and published exclusively in The Wicomico News during the next year. The author of these notes will publish the first article next week. It will be worth your while to read it, whether or not you may be a poultry fancier.

Few men are better qualified to serve the people of this section in the manner outlined than Mr. H. W. Rickey. He has what many instructors lack: years of practical experience on poultry farms in various parts of the United States and Canada. He served his apprenticeship under F. W. Corey, E. I. Elston, and D. J. Lambert, succeeding the last named as head of the poultry department of Rhode Island State College. For the past thirty years he has been recognized as one of the best all-round poultry men and poultry judges in New England.

During the past four years, Mr. Rickey has been in the extension service of the University of Maryland as Poultry Specialist where he has done excellent work, and at present he is making his headquarters in Salisbury organizing the Eastern Shore Poultry Sales Company. Mr. Rickey's services will be devoted to the interests of the farmers and poultry keepers in Wicomico and the neighboring counties.

While Mr. Rickey's articles will have an especial and profitable appeal to the keepers of large flocks, it will also be invaluable to the raisers of small flocks of from 50 to 100. His notes are written not from books, but from practical experience. For those who will read and put into practice the principles they teach, The News predicts a profitable season of poultry raising.

Uncle John's Poem

A THANKSGIVING HYMN

When ripeness crowns the fruitful fields, and the bins has took their toll, a million comforts stand revealed to cheer our inmost soul. And so, this fittin' hour has come to doff our lids and say, "These blessings' pure from a Higher Power inspires Thanksgiving' Day."

We ain't been what we might abeen, such weaklings are we, nor realized the state we're in, so close to eternity! And therefore it becomes us well, with these poor forms of clay, to sanctify the place we dwell with a glad Thanksgiving' Day.

Contrite because of wrongs we've did, repentant knees we bend, well-knowin' that no deeds is hid from the blessed Lord, our friend. Considerin' what he'd done for us, our best is but meager pay. Let's tell him so, in harmony plus, this glad Thanksgiving' Day.

For your own Uncle John.

MARTIN-SENOUR MONARCH PAINT 100% PURE

The Power of Paint Nobody questions the power of paint to protect property from decay and ruin.

When you place insurance you look into the resources of the Company. When you buy paint look into the ingredients that determine its power of service.

Few people ask for adulterated White Lead when they want to paint. Ask for Pure White Lead more conventionally prepared and ground with a proper amount of Zinc in Pure Linseed Oil—that is Monarch Paint.

Zinc will make it last longer and hold its color. The spreading quality of Martin-Senour Monarch Paint 100% Pure is remarkable.

It always pays to investigate fully the material best suited to your purpose and then use that material, even if it does cost a little more in the beginning. Permanent Building Products add to the life of your building, decrease decidedly the cost of repairs and maintenance, and ensure long tenancy at minimum upkeep. ## TALKS TO CLUBWOMEN ABOUT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Supt. Bennett Delivers Address At Tuesday's Meeting Of The Woman's Club.

Mr. James M. Bennett, superintendent of Wicomico county public schools, was the speaker to address the members of the Woman's Club at the regular bi-weekly meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Mr. Bennett spoke on the "State Program of Education" and gave a very interesting talk. In referring to the number of defective children in the schools of Salisbury, Mr. Bennett advocated separate schools for children who are sub-normal. He also touched upon the fine work the Rotary Club is doing in regard to local school problems, and expressed the hope that the Woman's Club would lend its active assistance in the promotion of such work.

Mrs. R. D. Grier Sr., chairman of the club's Near East Relief Committee for Newtown District, reported that she had collected $121 for the fund. An appeal for old victrola records for the disabled soldiers at Ft. Henry Hospital was made and the club voted to send a number of the records to the hospital.

Three new members were elected Tuesday. They are, Mrs. Samuel Adkins, Mrs. Branch Phillips and Mrs. H. S. Todd Jr. Miss Wilsie Adkins acted as chairman of the Social Committee Tuesday, and a delightful program was rendered. Mrs. Harry Harcum read a poem "Thanksgiving," written by Miss Amanda Dennis, a native of Wicomico county who now lives near St. Martin's, and Mrs. Archer-Burton read an original essay on the spirit of Thanksgiving. "America" and several other patriotic songs were sung.

The speaker at the next meeting of the club will be Hon. James E. Ellegood.

ACTIVITIES OF THE SALISBURY Y.M.C.A.

Rev. John Brandon Peters Delivers Interesting Address At Father and Son Rally.

The Father and Son Rally held in the "Y" auditorium last Sunday afternoon was attended by a crowd of about 200 persons. Rev. John Brandon Peters, pastor of Trinity Church, was the speaker and used the basis of his remarks "David and his son Absalom." Splendid musical selections were rendered by Miss Marie Walls, violinist, accompanied by Miss Marion Dobson on the piano. Mr. William E. Sheppard and Mr. R. W.

Hammerslough, accompanied on the piano by Miss Nellie Sheppard, sang a duet.

On Saturday night, the regular weekly movie show will be given in the "Y" Building, and several attractive and instructive pictures will be shown. Rev. R. L. Shipley will deliver a short talk while the one-reel picture "God Is Love" is being flashed on the screen. Other pictures to be shown are a two reel film "The Lost Lie," "Alice in Wonderland," one reel: "A Trip to the Pyramids," one reel: "A little of Little Miss Japan's Sunday," one reel and "Bumpy Gets Pa's Goat," one-reel comic. ## ROTARY CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Mr. A. T. Grier Tells Rotarians About What Happened in Paris On November 11, 1918.

Thursday evening marked the beginning of the Rotary Club's new regime of meeting every week and as it preceded Armistice Day, a special feature of the evening's programme was a talk by Rotarian A. T. Grier on what happened before the Armistice and on the great day itself.

Mr. Grier related many interesting experiences, particularly about the work of the Aviation Corps, and concluded with a description of Paris on the night of November eleventh. Following this, Rotarian Calvert L. Estill read a paper outlining the American Legion four-fall compensation plan in which it was pointed out that the ex-service men are entitled to consideration by the federal government on that basis on which laborers who remained at home to work were paid by the same government.

Comptroller-elect, William S. Gordy, Jr., a charter of the local club, was given an ovation when he appeared. One new member, Franklin Adams, was admitted.

BEACOM COLLEGE NOTES

Armistice Day was observed by declaring a holiday to those who chose to make it so. A number of the students went to their homes to spend the day and the week-end.

The new students admitted to the College recently are: Lloyd Jones, Hopewell Va., William Prettyman Jr., Georgetown Del., Hance V. Cherrix, Snow Hill, Md. and Nelson Robertson, Salisbury.

Diplomas have been granted recently to the following: Miss Charlotte Cooper, Salisbury, Mr. Raymond Bunting, Selbyville, Del. Both of these are graduates of the Commercial Dept.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Joseph Parker was troubled last year with black rot in sweet potatoes. We suggested that he disinfect the seed with corrosive sublimate; as a result he found less than one peck of infected potatoes in 800 bushels gathered this year. This result showed two things (1) that disinfection will kill the disease germs and (2) it proves apparently, that the disease was in Mr. Parker's seed and not in the land which is a point well worth knowing.

"In the Connecticut River valley many tobacco men have quit buying New York manure and are setting market growers the pace by vigorous use of cover crops and by a well planned system of rotation."

"I do not know of any investment in market gardening that pays better than the purchase of good sash. By proper management it is easily possible to grow two crops of plants every spring under the sash and these two crops should more than pay for the cost of the sash."

The cauliflower and celery spoken of in this paper last week was grown by Roger Williams of Powellville. We were talking with Roger recently and find that he has plenty more cauliflower and celery that is really better than any he has harvested. Some what difficult to grow cauliflower in this section as the climate is such that the plant instead of making good heads usually "buttons."

We took a day off last week and saw the Navy-Penn State football game at Philadelphia on Saturday. Drove to Philadelphia and had a good chance to see farm and crop conditions along the way. Plenty of corn all along the line—good yields of white potatoes in our northern counties—a large amount of wheat seeded and most of it following corn, sheep, cows and hogs on many of the farms.

So many hogs in Worcester County that the price has dropped to 8 cents per pound, according to reports. One of our local butchers told us that he could buy hogs at 8 cents per pound at Cambridge. Seems as if we ought to get a roast fairly cheap now—hope so, although a low price to the producer does not always mean a low price to the consumer.

The Vegetable Growers Association held their annual meeting at Albany, November 1 to 5 and some of the points brought out at the meeting are well worth repeating.

1. Difficulties of marketing must be overcome through organization.
2. Recommended classification of prices and grading of produce at markets in order to arrive at a uniform standard.
3. A single application of nitrate of soda before setting celery plants sufficient, in some cases, to grow the crop.
4. Valuable green manures are clover, rye and vetch, peas, etc. Rye alone not very valuable except to all organic matter, prevent erosion and working of the soil.
5. Grower should be willing to pay the price to get good seed.
6. Cheaper methods must be worked out in growing crops for the cannery.

Cows must have sufficient bulk in their ration and best pulp seems to fill the bill. Dairymen claim that it increases the milk yield and helps to keep the cattle healthy.

We were much interested in the mushroom growing section at Ken- neth. Several carloads of mushrooms are shipped daily and we understand that this is perhaps the largest mushroom growing section in the U. S. Not space enough to give details on the production end here, but we gathered together a large number of facts that may come in handy some day.

It is becoming very popular to have fresh vegetables practically all winter by forcing them in the cellar. Not very difficult to force rhubarb, asparagus, chervil, dandelions, etc. In the home cellar providing one can keep the temperature around 55 degrees.

Sweet potatoes, in some fields, have been attacked by insects that work on the surface of the tuber. The injury shows up as shallow tunnels, or furrows, and when severe will lessen the value of the affected potatoes. This injury is caused by wireworms and by the larvae of the sweet potato flea beetle. Directions for combatting these two insects will be published at a suitable time, also directions for controlling Fox or "holes" in sweet potatoes.

The dairymen of the Tri-State Association are sticking by their associations and having their herds tested. Milk is selling for 12 cents per quart in Philly and we heard a rumor that milk will be delivered down this way from Talbot, Queen Anne's and other counties north of us. They claim that it can be delivered here as cheaply, if not cheaper, than to Philadelphia.

For young pigs we like to feed a slop made up of equal parts of corn meal, wheat bran, ground oats and middlings.

Roger Williams has just given us a detailed report on a remarkable tomato vine that he grew this year. This plant bore fruit from August 13 to November 15, and there was fruit on the plant when he dug it up to bring in to the community fair. The total number of tomatoes gathered was 393 consisting of 275 ripe ones and 118 green fruits. The plant was over 15 feet in diameter and Roger says that the proof can be seen at the Community Fair.

OLD VICTROLA RECORDS WANTED BY RED CROSS

Director At Ft. McHenry Asks For Discarded Records For Use Of Wounded War Veterans.

An opportunity to bring cheer to the wounded and disabled soldiers in the public health hospital at Fort McHenry is offered to those who have old Victrola records and who would be willing to send them to Baltimore to be used for that purpose.

Miss Elizabeth A. Collier has received a letter from Mr. A. Wilson Mattox, recreational director of the Red Cross at Ft. McHenry, in which he makes an appeal for Victrola records for the soldiers. His letter follows:

"I am very much in need of Victrola records for the wards, and am writing you asking if you will see the Chapter of Salisbury and ask them if they will collect from some of the people there all the discarded records they can and send them to me at Fort McHenry. We have six-hundred and seventy-two patients. The demand is great and the need is far greater on the wards for Victrolas and records. We are able to take care of the machine end of it, but have not been able to get a sufficient quantity of records. I have taken it up with the Baltimore Chapter and they are not able to supply any due to the constant demand on them. I am sure that you will not object in putting this before your local chapter."

TIMELY ADVICE FOR MARYLAND HUNTERS

With Hunting Season Open, Nimrods Should Exert Every Precaution
To Prevent Forest Fires.

The hunting season has opened and from all reports game is abundant all through the forested sections of the State. The past summer seems to have been especially favorable for the development of broods of young quail. Good sport is promised for all devotees of the gun. To the true sportsman, however, there are certain obligations that go with the sport. Of prime significance is the necessity of care with fire in the woods. A little camp fire left unextinguished, a careless match or cigarette butt thrown among dry leaves may start a forest fire that will sweep over vast areas and besides doing great damage to the young timber, will kill the very game that the forest shelters.

There are six lookout towers, sixteen Forest Patrolmen, and over two hundred Forest Wardens in Maryland all working together to protect Maryland's forests from fire.

Let every hunter as he takes out his license solemnly pledge himself to help make Maryland's forests safe from fire.

IS YOUR BARN SAPPING YOUR PROFITS?

Modern manufacturers pay large salaries to efficiency

On the farm you must be your own efficiency expert.

A leaky roof may ruin your hay loft. A broken down stall can injure your horses. A rotten, worm-eaten floor may breed disease or break an animal's leg. A cold windswept barn is a bad place to house cattle.

When figuring up your profit and loss for the year you will find these little things are sapping your profits.

Look over your farm buildings, fences and sheds, and see if you aren't letting profits leak through which a little lumber and labor would stop. Then tell us what you want to do to stop this leakage, and we may be able to offer some suggestions. We will tell you what the materials for the repairs will cost.

Some rainy day when it is too wet to work in the fields and the help is idle, you can set to work repairing your barn and other buildings.

COME IN AND TALK IT OVER NOW.

The Power and Pep of a New Car—with Pedricks

There's a world of power in that machine of yours, waiting for you to bring it out.

But you can't expect to get it if your piston rings are faulty. The best efforts of a good motor count for nothing if there is leakage of oil and gas in the cylinders. Lost power, smoke and carbon is the result instead of clean, smooth running.

Pedrick Rings are made by a new process that insures perfect fit against every part of the cylinder wall.

They stop the leakage in a way no other rings can. They put to work every ounce of energy the engine produces. They put an end to engine trouble, carbon and fouled cylinders. They will put pep and power into your motor and make it pull like new.

By actual test, 98 per cent. of all piston leakage is past the face of the ring and around the back; only two per cent. of the leakage is through the joint.

Pedricks once and for all overcome this leakage past the face and behind the back of the ring. They fit the cylinder around its entire circumference, and exert an even pressure at all points. They have no side twist and are accurately ground on all sides, thus preventing leakage past the back. All internal stresses have been removed by annealing, so that Pedricks retain their original shape permanently, regardless of operating conditions. They are concentric, filling the piston grooves to the same depth all around, eliminating the oil-trapping, carbon-collecting pockets always present behind the thin part of eccentric rings.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under an ironclad guarantee of satisfaction. Put Pedricks on your pistons and know what it means to get full driving power out of every gallon of gas.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under the unequalled guarantee that they will produce more power, save more fuel, save more oil and have more effect in reducing carbon and smoke, than any other piston rings made.

The customer will be the sole judge. If he is not satisfied that Pedrick True-Fit Rings make good claims, the dealer is authorized to refund the purchase price any time within six months from date of sale, and the manufacturer will refund the dealer's money without question.

"IT IMPROVES WITH USE."

OLDFIELD "999" 30x3½ @ $9.99
Just Arrived.

Thus speaking, she took the poem from her pocket and with dignity held it forth to her cousin.
"What's that?" Herbert inquired, not moving a hand. He was but an amateur, yet already enough of an editor to have his suspicions.
"It's a poem," Florence said. "I don't know whether I exactly ought to have it in your old newspaper or not, but on account of the family's sake I guess I better. Here, take it."

Herbert at once withdrew a few steps, placing his hands behind him.

"Listen, here," he said, "you think you got time to read a lot o' writin' in your old handwritin' that nobody can read anyhow, and then go to work and tell me to print it on the printer's press? I guess we got work enough printin' what we wrote for our newspaper our own selves! My goodness, Florence, I told you this isn't any child's play!"

Florence appeared to be somewhat baffled. "Well," she said, "Well, you better put this poem in your old newspaper if you want to have anyhow one thing in it that won't make everybody sick that reads it."

"I won't do it!" Herbert said, more firmly.

"What you take us for?" his partner added, convincingly.

"All right, then," Florence responded, with apparent decisiveness. "I'll go back and tell Uncle Joseph and he'll take this printing press back."

"He will not take it back. I already did tell him how you keep pokin' around tryin' to run everything, and we just worried our lives out tryin' to keep you away. He said he bet it was a hard job; that's what Uncle Joseph said. So go on, tell him anything you want to. You don't get your old poem in our newspaper!"

"Not if she lived to be two hundred years old!" Henry Rooter added. Then he had an afterthought. "Not unless she pays for it."

"How do you mean?" Herbert asked, puzzled.

Henry's brow had become corrugated with his little professional impressiveness. "You know what we were talkin' about this morning," he said. "How the right way to run our newspaper, we ought to have some advertisements in it and everything. Well, we want money, don't we? We could put this poem in our newspaper like an advertisement; that is, if Florence has got any money, we could."

Herbert frowned. "If her old poem isn't too long, I guess we could. Here, let's see it, Florence." And, taking the sheet of paper in his hand, he studied the dimensions of the poem, though without pausing himself to read it. "Well, I guess, maybe we can do it," he said. "How much ought we to charge her?"

This question plunged Henry Rooter into a state of calculation, while Florence observed him with veiled anxiety; but after a time he looked up, his brow showing continued strain. "Do you keep a bank, Florence—for nickels and dimes and maybe quarters, you know?" he inquired.

It was her cousin who impulsively replied for her. "No, she don't," he said.

"Not since I was about seven years old!" Florence added sharply, though with dignity. "Do you still make mud pies in your back yard, pray?"

"Now, see here!" Henry objected.

"Try and be a lady anyway for a few minutes, can't you? I got to figure out how much we got to charge you for your old poem, don't I?"

"Well, then," Florence returned, "you better ask me somepin' about that, hadn't you?"

"Well," said Henry Rooter, "have you got any money at home?"

The Gasoline That Delivers the Goods

Delivery service, with its innumerable stops and starts, puts motor fuel to a severe test, especially in cold weather. Unless the gasoline is quick firing, valuable time is frittered away every time the motor has to be started. The alternative of allowing it to idle every time a call is made means wasting a lot of gasoline.

But there are other qualities that are desirable in gasoline besides the "pep" that proper volatility assures. There must be sturdy pulling power for heavy grades, combined with big mileage per gallon. The motor fuel must burn up so completely that there is practically no half-burned residue to foul the moving parts of the motor and dilute the lubricating oil.

These properties of a well balanced motor fuel are all possessed by "Standard" Motor Gasoline. It is an improved article which leads other gasolines in every important quality that makes for efficient and economical operation.

Work with your engine, not against it. Give it "Standard" Motor Gasoline for power and Polarine Oil for lubrication.

WILL MAKE TESTS OF HOG BREEDING METHODS

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to Determine Merit of Hogs By Experimental Breeding.

Although there is a higher percentage of purebred hogs in the country than of any other class of live stock, there is still much room for improvement. And there is much to be known concerning the relative merits of scrubs, crossbreds, and purebreds. To make some of the points clearer the Animal Husbandry Division, of the United States Department of Agriculture, is starting a breeding and feeding experiment that will contrast the results of using scrub, crossbred and purebred boars on scrub and crossbred sows. If appropriations provide sufficient money it may be that the effect of using crossbred and scrub boars on purebred sows will be studied.

Ten crossbred sows, of various breed mixtures, and 10 scrub sows of the same kind will be used. Half of each of those groups will be bred to a purebred boar; half of the first group will be bred to a crossbred, and half of the other group will be bred to a scrub. This same scheme of breeding will be carried on from generation to generation. Some of the offspring will be fed out and some of them will be kept for breeding before being fed out. Shoats from the different lots will be put in feed lots together and fed alike so that a fair comparison can be made. Some of these scrubs and crossbreds will be compared in feeding trials with purebreds raised on the department's experimental farm at Beltsville, Md. Some will be put into different experimental lots on various feeds.

Nearly everybody thinks the purebred is superior to the scrub, but there is disagreement among farmers about the merits of purebred and crossbred feeders. The department hopes that in due time its experiments will give results that will answer any doubts.

Accredited Herds Movement Growing

Many Cattle Breeders Want Their Stock Tested—Demand so Great Inspectors Can't Keep Up.

The work of ridding the country of bovine tuberculosis through the accredited-herd system, which is based upon Federal supervision and the issuance of certificates by the United States Department of Agriculture, is making steady progress throughout the country. The State of Minnesota has been leading for some time in the number of fully accredited herds and the number of cattle certified free of the disease, but the report for September shows that the lead has gone to Wisconsin. The latter State now has 1,309 accredited herds containing 29,001 head of cattle. Minnesota has 1,171 accredited herds with 28,089 cattle.

The total number of herds accredited in the United States is 9,963. The number of cattle in the country certified free of the disease is 230,704. There are 71,999 herds and 848,244 head of cattle that have been tested once and, presumably, will subsequently be on the accredited list. There are 1,546,814 cattle in 103,046 herds now under Federal supervision. The demand for inspections and tests under this tuberculosis clean-up plan is so great that the inspectors can not keep up. At present there are 15,671 herds on the waiting list. These herds contain nearly a quarter of a million cattle. During September 163,742 cattle were tested in the various States. Of these 6,093, or 3.7 per cent, reacted.

W. C. T. U. NOW LOOKS FOR STATE DRY LAW

Its Members Say That 1922 Maryland Legislature Should Pass Strict Enforcement Law.

We believe in Law Enforcement, and trust that our State has elected representatives to the legislature who are pledged to pass a state-wide law that will cooperate with the Federal law and stand back of the Federal enforcement officer. It is even surprising how much has been accomplished without state support, but we are optimistic about the future.

Wicomico is going to send a delegation to Annapolis who have pledged their loyalty to the dry interests and we look to them to make good. Violation of national law is considered treason and it is indeed to Maryland's discredit that she has formerly elected representatives who, in the majority, have been hostile to the Eighteenth Amendment. We trust the newly elected candidates will consider it a sacred privilege to legislate against the lawlessness which is threatening our state.

One of the common statements of the wets is that there had no voice in bringing in Prohibition, that it was the work of legislative puppets under the lash of the Anti-Saloon League. Still others consider it a fad, and yet others a joke, but when the facts are truly known, we find that twenty-five states adopted Prohibition by referendum votes, and eight that have it by statute, were largely dry by local option.

It is worse than foolish to talk about repealing the Eighteenth Amendment. We do not believe any Congress could be elected now that would be two-thirds wet; public sentiment is against it. There has been a time when men of moral standing and men who were deemed strong in christian faith were not ashamed to ally themselves with the liquor interests, but that day has gone. Men of decency, of high ambitions will not line up and support the riff-raff, the boot-legging element of a country.

As a nation we are being aroused, we know that what does not build up will surely pull down and destroy, and never in the history of our country was there more need of a sober, sane thinking race of people to represent our government to form its laws, and to stabilize conditions into channels that will become normal again.

Just at present our country is at one of its critical periods. Every nation is looking to America in the convention which has assembled at Washington so let us give our representatives our moral support, aid them by our prayers and if we do not agree with everything that is being done, let us remember that she would desire peace and so let us quote the words of Marshall Foch in a speech at Detroit a few days ago: "We must fight for peace in the moral sphere as we did in the physical sphere. Peace has been promised from the first night of Christianity only to men of good will. God will must be in the heart; without it, it is only a sham peace."

Good will cannot exist where men criticize our national laws and attempt to violate them in every possible way. Our government is our strong anchor and to that we must cling; for it we must fight; to it we must pledge our unswerving allegiance as American citizens.

SOY-BEAN STRAW IS GOOD ROUGHAGE

The Tennessee station compared soy-bean straw and corn stover as roughage in the production of milk and butter. The ration containing soy-bean straw was found superior to that containing corn stover. This ration produced more pounds of milk and butter fat and produced them more cheaply than the corn-stover ration. In every case there was less loss in milk and butter fat during the feeding of soy-bean straw than during the feeding of corn stover. It was concluded from these tests that soy-bean straw is a valuable addition to the roughage in the feeding of dairy cows.

"Well, then," said Henry gloomily, "what we got to do about it? How much you think we ought to charge her?"

Herbert's expression became non-committal. "Just let me think a minute," he said; and with his hand to his brow stepped behind the unsuspecting Florence.

"I got to think," he murmured; then with the straightforwardness of his age, he suddenly seized his damsel, cousin from the rear and held her in a tight but far from affectionate embrace, pinioning her arms. She shrieked, "Murder!" and "Let me go!" and "Help! Hay-yup!"

"Look in her pocket," Herbert shouted. "She keeps her money in her skirt pocket when she's got any. It's on the left side of her. Don't let her kick you! Look out!"

"I got it!" said the dexterous Henry, retreating and exhibiting coins. "It's one dime and two nickels—twenty cents. Has she got any more pockets?"

"No, I haven't!" Florence fiercely informed him, as Herbert released

"Look in Her Pocket," Herbert Shouted. "Don't Let Her Kick You!"

her. "And I guess you better hand that money back if you don't want to be arrested for stealing!"

Henry was unmoved. "Twenty cents," he said calculatingly. "Well, all right; it isn't much, but you can have your poem in our newspaper for twenty cents, Florence. If you don't want to pay that much, why take your old twenty cents and go on away!"

"Yes," said Herbert. "That's as cheap as we'll do it, Florence. Take it or leave it."

"Take it or leave it," Henry Rooter agreed. "That's the way to talk to her; take it, or leave it, Florence. If you don't take it you got to leave it." Florence was indignant, but she decided to take it. "All right," she said coldly. "I wouldn't pay another cent if I died for it."

"Well, you haven't got another cent, so that's all right," Mr. Rooter remarked; and he honorably extended an open palm, supporting the coins, toward his partner. "Here, Herbert; you can have the dime, or the two nickels, whichever you rather have. It makes no difference to me; I'd as soon have one as the other."

Herbert took the two nickels, and turned to Florence. "See here, Florence," he said, in a tone of strong complaint. "This business is all done and paid for now. What you want to hang around here any more for?"

"Yes, Florence," his partner faithfully seconded him, at once. "We haven't got any more time to waste around here today, and so what you want to stand around in the way and everything for? You ought to know yourself we don't want you."

"I'm not in the way," said Florence boldly. "Whose way am I in?"

"Well, anyhow, if you don't go," Herbert informed her, "we'll carry you downstairs and lock you out."

"I'd just like to see you!" she returned, her eyes flashing. "Just you dare to lay a finger on me again!"

And she added, "Anyhow, if you did, those old doors haven't got any lock on 'em. I'll come right straight in and walk right straight up the stairs again!"

Herbert advanced toward her. "Now you pay attention to me," he said. "You've paid for your old poem, and we got to have some peace around here. I'm going straight over to your mother and ask her to come and get you."

Florence gave up. "What difference would that make, Mister Tadpole?" she inquired mockingly. "I wouldn't be here when she came, would I? I'll thank you to notice there's some value to my time, myself; and I'll just politely ask you to excuse me, pray!"

With a proud air, she crushingly departed; and returned to her own home, far from dissatisfied with what she had accomplished. Moreover, she began to expand with the realization of a new importance; and she was gratified with the effect upon her parents, at dinner that evening, when she informed them that she had written a poem which was to be published in the prospective first number of the North End Daily Oriole.

"Written a poem?" said her father. "Well, I declare! Why, that's remarkable, Florence!"

"I'm glad the boys were nice about it," said her mother. "I should have feared they couldn't appreciate it; after being so cross to you about letting you have anything to do with the printing press. They must have thought it was a very good poem."

"Where is the poem, Florence?" Mr. Atwater asked. "Let's read it and see what our little girl can do."

Unfortunately Florence had not a copy, and when she informed her father of this fact, he professed himself greatly disappointed, as well as anxious for the first appearance of the Oriole, that he might felicitate himself upon the evidence of his daughter's heretofore unsuspected talent. Florence was herself anxious for the newspaper's debut, and she made her anxiety so clear to Atwater & Root, ex-Owners & Proprietors, every afternoon after school, during the following week, that by Thursday further argument and repartee on their part were felt to be indeed futile, and in order to have a little peace around there they carried her downstairs. At least they defined their action as "carrying," and having deposited her in the yard, they were obliged to stand guard at the doors, which they closed and contrived to hold against her until her strength was worn out for that day.

Why styles are different

STYLE in William III's period was the result of the character and thought of his age. The fashions of 1921—very different from William's reign—are the outcome just as surely of the spirit of the time.

Men whose correctness in dress looks toward styles which reflect this spirit. Designed and tailored in New York, Cortley Clothes possess beyond excellence of material and workmanship a distinction of style which expresses the assurance, the clean-cut alertness of successful men today.

Club Boys And Girls Like Summer Courses

Short Courses At State Agricultural Colleges Have Proved To Be Popular And Beneficial.

Hundreds of boys and girls in club work in the different States have profited during the summer by attending one of the short courses held at the State agricultural colleges, usually for those who have risen to leadership in their own communities and counties. The courses lasted as a rule from 5 to 10 days. The program for boys was generally along production lines, including instruction in live-stock judging, various crops, farm mechanics, or poultry; the girls were offered courses in bread making, clothing, gardening, poultry, canning and preserving and various branches of home economics. The Virginia Agricultural and Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg, Va., reports 227 boys and 127 girls at the annual short course given in July by the extension workers of the college and the United States Department of Agriculture. A very definite program was carried out each day. Setting-up exercises followed 10 minutes after the sounding of reveille at 6.45 the bugle sounded for breakfast. Classes began at 7.45.

What Is The Telephone Company?

It is an organization of 3084 Maryland men and women banded together to give the people of Maryland the best telephone service brains and energy and effort can make possible.

These people—many of whom have dedicated their lives to this service—are nearly all natives of this State. They are citizens of your cities and towns—they are your neighbors and friends.

The telephone is a regulated utility; the price of our service is controlled by state regulation. Our revenues being regulated, our expenses must be held in proportion. At no time during recent years, did our wages keep pace with those of other industries.

That condition still exists. But in spite of this limitation and the exacting requirements of war and reconstruction, Maryland's telephone people are now giving you a higher grade of service than at any time in the history of the system.

MOOSE TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW ON JANUARY 31

"Epileptic Minstrels—A Fit In Two Spasms" Will Be Held At Arcade.

LOCAL TALENT WILL BASK IN SPOTLIGHT

All The Burnt-Cork Artists Will Be Be Salisbury's "Best"—Committee Has Planned To Make This "The Biggest Thing In Minstrelsy Ever Produced In Wicomico."

This minstrel show, which will be conducted under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose, Salisbury Lodge No. 715, is going to be the last word in minstrelsy, and, according to the gentlemanly press agent, "it will be a riot of fun and merry-making extraordinary." The same G. P. A. also has advised that the scenery, the costumes, the super-tones of the songsters, the hyper-excellence of the clog and fancy dancers, all will help to make the evening one long to be remembered by those who are fortunate enough to procure tickets for the big occasion.

Unlike some of the high-falutin' names that label the more orthodox minstrel shows, the Moose committee having the management plans under the wing, has strayed from the beaten path in its selection of a title for its Minstrel Show de luxe. A "Fit In Two Spasms." And there have been compressed in the title a good inkling of some of the fun that will be produced on the eventful evening on the last day of the month of January.

"The Moose Epileptic Minstrels" is the title decided upon, and to make the sub-title follow in chronological order, it has further been decided to describe the event as "A Fit In Two Spasms." And there have been compressed in the title a good inkling of some of the fun that will be produced on the eventful evening on the last day of the month of January.

Dr. S. Norris Pilehard, chairman of the stage committee for the show, left for Philadelphia and New York Tuesday afternoon, and while away Dr. Pilehard will get in touch with some of the country's big minstrel men and procure the lines and songs for the local show. An effort also will be made to hire the best and most men of the minstrel profession to come to Salisbury the week before the big show is put on here and coach the local burnt-cork thespians.

STATE GAME WARDEN ASKS HUNTERS' AID

Urges Sportsmen To Refrain From Shooting Any Chinese Ringnecked Pheasants.

STATE IS TRYING TO *ESTABLISH BIRDS HERE

Many Of The Young Birds Were Liberated In State In 1920-21 And Are Propagating Rapidly—It Is An Insectivorous Bird And, Therefore, Beneficial To Agriculture.

The following letter relative to the killing of Chinese Ringnecked Pheasants has been received by The News from State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte:

"In 1920 the State Game Department established a State Game Farm for the purpose of propagating Chinese Ringnecked Pheasants, and establish same in the covers of this State, as a permanent Game Bird. During the seasons of 1920 and 1921, we liberated into the covers 4400 ten and 12 week old birds of this species, and from reports received throughout the State, it is evident they are propagating and increasing wonderfully.

"The Acts of 1920, prohibit the killing of the Female at any time. However, it does not prohibit licensed hunters from killing the Male during open season which is November 10 to January 1.

"From all indications the public in general is very much interested in this species of Game, and in order to permanently establish this Bird, we urgently request that persons desire themselves the privilege of killing these birds if the opportunity should present itself. We also urgently request the landowners on whose property the young birds were liberated to use their best endeavors in protecting them and prohibit hunters from killing same in any manner or at any time, until they firmly establish themselves.

"The Chinese Ringnecked Pheasant is an insectivorous bird and of course, are very beneficial to the Agricultural Industry, and just for this reason they should receive every consideration at the hands of the hunter and at the same time given an opportunity to propagate and increase their family. When this has been accomplished, which no doubt will be within a few years, we will then request an open season on same.

DEATH CLAIMS MINOS A. DAVIS OF PITTSVILLE

Prominent Citizen Of Pittsburg District Passed Away Friday Evening.

HAD LED AN ACTIVE AND VERY USEFUL LIFE

Was At All Times Interested In The Uplifting Of His Native County—Was Cashier Of Pittsville Bank—Served In Md. Legislature During Session Of 1898.

Mr. Minos A. Davis, one of the most prominent citizens of Pittsburg district died at his home in Pittsville on Friday evening, November 18, after a lingering illness of several months. He had been declining in health since July 1, and although his family employed the best medical aid obtainable in the State his health continued to fail to such an extent that the end was not entirely unexpected.

The deceased was born November 22, 1857, on a farm in Pittsburg District, and was the son of Sampson and Phoebe Davis. His father was a farmer and successful school teacher in this county for several years. He died leaving his son, Minos A., who was eight years old, and three younger brothers and three older sisters, to the care of a most excellent mother, who by her untiring energy and the willing assistance of her children continued farming. By displaying splendid business qualities, she was soon able to purchase a farm of her own on which the family resided until all the children had reached manhood and were married.

His mother was the daughter of William S. Truitt, of Pittsville (Derickson's Cross Roads). Mr. Truitt also was a teacher and was one of the best known Justices of the Peace Wicomico county ever had. He was a lawyer after knowledge, and Mr. Davis therefore inherited a desire for education which he soon gratified. Although laboring regularly on the farm, by persistent study at night and with the assistance of a willing and efficient teacher, Dr. J. C. Littleton, he acquired a good education ere he reached majority.

Soon after he reached twenty-one years of age, Mr. Davis accepted a position in Hearn's school, this county, under the late examiner, Thomas Perry, whom he ever held in the highest esteem. After two years of service in this school, his success as a teacher became well known far and wide and he accepted the principalship of the Pittsville School, in which he continued to teach successfully for 23 years, raising it from a one-room to a three-room school.

After accepting the latter position, he built a home in Pittsville, and on December 25, 1884, he was married to Catherine Smith, daughter of the late John W. and Ann Smith and sister of Mrs. W. E. Shepard, Mr. J. Willard Smith, of Pittsville, and Messrs. W. C. and Wesley Smith, of Milford, Del. Mr. and Mrs. Davis lived happily together and reared a highly respected family of five children.

During school vacations, Mr. Davis was engaged in shipping and speculating in grain, and was a successful dealer in kind disposition and excellent business ability he gained.

AIR TRIP MADE FROM BALTO. TO SALISBURY

Col. Woodcock And Lieut. Masson Made The Trip Thursday In One Hour 15 Minutes.

Col. A. W. W. Woodcock and Lieutenant Chas. A. Masson, adjutant of the First Observation Squadron, Aero Service, Maryland National Guard, flew from Baltimore to Salisbury in one of the Navy's biplanes last Thursday, the trip being made in a little more than an hour's time despite the high winds that prevailed on that day.

Leaving Baltimore at 11 A. M. the plane driven by Lieut. Masson and bearing Col. Woodcock as passenger, made a landing at the Fair Grounds at 12:15. A small crowd attracted by the sight of the air-plane circled the Fair Grounds was on hand to greet the air tourists when they alighted.

Within about an hour after reaching here, Col. Woodcock and Lieut. Masson again took to the air in their plane and headed for Annapolis, where they arrived in short order. After Col. Woodcock had gotten out of the plane, and while Lieut. Masson was starting on his return trip from Annapolis to Baltimore, the plane met with an obstruction attempting to clear the ground and toppled over. Lieut. Masson escaped uninjured but the air cruiser was slightly damaged.

While in Salisbury, Lieut. Masson stated that the full squadron of ten planes belonging to the Navy would fly here within a short time. He said, however, that he did not believe there would be room enough at the Fair Grounds for all the planes to make landings in safety, and, upon the occasion of their journey here, it is believed that the landings will be made in some nearby field that will afford ample room for the manoeuvres.

Odd Fellows Will Visit Easton and Georgetown

To Make Trips To Easton and Georgetown, Del., In Order To Present Prizes Won In Rally Here.

Newton Lodge Number 56, I. O. O. F., will go to Easton on Friday, December 2, to present to the Easton Lodge a prize for having the best appearing organization in line in the parade on Armistice Day.

The prize consists of a set of beautiful gavel and five dollars in gold. The gavel is made of ebony, polished, silver mounted and suitably inscribed. Miller Lodge, Easton has arranged a special program for the occasion. On Monday, December 5, Newton Lodge will visit Georgetown, Delaware, and present prize for bringing a band to the Odd Fellows' Rally here.

Members of the organization are requested to report whether or not they will be able to accompany the delegation, and Tuesday evening, November 29th, has been chosen as the time for receiving such reports at the Odd Fellows Temple on East Main Street.

Such members of the Order as are interested in the formation of a lodge in Salisbury should make it a point of being present at the meeting Tuesday night next. An organization has been formed to carry on the degree work, and already is a flourishing institution. A few more members are needed to round out a degree team that will mean much to Newton Lodge No. 56.

Postoffice Asks Aid Of Its Patrons

Postmaster Owens Says Small, Odd Sized Xmas Cards Delay All The Mail And Cause Confusion.

The public is urged to desist from using small-sized cards and envelopes which are common at the Christmas period. It is hoped that the stationers will not stock up on these small sizes. An untold amount of time is used in canceling such mail by hand, as it will not pass through the cancelling machines, which are built to cancel the proper sizes of envelopes at the maximum rate of 50,000 an hour. The hand stamping not only causes delay to the small size cards and envelopes but also delays the other mail which follows.

In this connection we appeal to the women especially to avoid the stylish forms of handwriting, "debutant stuff" as one postal worker calls it, and use instead a plain if not so pretty handwriting.

Mr. Fred P. Adkins Addresses Rotarians

Tells Members Rotary Club That Local Architectural Conditions Are Steadily Progressing.

Addressing the Rotary Club at its weekly meeting on Thursday evening at the "Y," Rotarian F. P. Adkins described the growth of E. S. Adkins & Company and told something of the general policies of the firm in seeking to educate builders to erect houses of the right kind.

He pointed out that architecture has been progressing steadily in this section and that standardization of sizes is coming more and more into prominence, with the inevitable result that better, more attractive buildings can be erected at less cost than before.

Rotarian Oscar L. Morris, chairman of the Boy's Work Committee, reported that the State Board of Education is eagerly watching the result of the work undertaken by the local club in regard to the public schools.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET IN JANUARY

The next meeting of the Business Women's Organization will be held at the "Y" Building the first Tuesday in January. Owing to the fact that it was impossible to secure the "Y" as a meeting place next month, no meeting will be held during December. At the January meeting, supper will be served at 6:15 P. M., and immediately thereafter officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The organization now has about 150 members and an interesting program of club activity is planned for 1922.

Movies For Wicomico High On Wednesdays

Universal News Films Shown Each Week Through Courtesy Of Ulman's Opera House.

Through the courtesy of the management of Ulman's Opera House, the weekly news films of the Universal Company are shown at Wicomico High School as soon as they are received here. For the past three years, Mr. Ulman has permitted the local high school to use the weekly films, and they have proved to be a source of much instructive entertainment for the pupils. Throughout all of this year, they will be shown at Wicomico High on Wednesday afternoons of each week.

Last week, the main feature of the picture was the departure of America's "Unknown Soldier" from France to the States. This week many interesting features of the Armament Conference were shown, and next week the Armistice Day exercises at Arlington will be flashed on the screen. Many of these pictures were taken from an airplane, and are highly entertaining.

The Woman's Club of Salisbury recently invited Miss Kell to deliver an address to its members on the work of a Community Red Cross Public Health Nurse. Caroline county is agitating the question of employing such a nurse.

The report of the public health nurse for Wicomico county for the month of October shows a total of 146 visits made.

ACTIVITIES OF THE SALISBURY Y.M.C.A.

First Of The Lyceum Courses To Start Tomorrow Night—Stirring Movie Caden For Saturday.

The Young Men's Christian Association Lyceum courses will be started tomorrow (Friday) night in the "Y" auditorium. The Dietries being programmed for the opening event, Quantico, Salisbury, and Milford music, and the press comments of their high-class entertainment have been exceptionally glowing. Their performance here Friday night will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

The fourth of the series of Bible Lectures for men will be held at the "Y" next Tuesday at 8 P. M. Supper will be served from 6 until 6:30 by the ladies of the Presbyterian church and the bible lecture will be held from 6:30 until 7 P. M. Rev. R. A. Boyle will be the speaker and will have as his subject "Jesus and Wealth." The "Y" Bible Lectures are all based on the book of Dr. H. H. Horne, "Modern Problems as Jesus Saw Them."

On Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, the regular weekly bible class for boys will be held at the "Y." Rev. R. L. Shipley is the teacher of these classes for the boys, and they are proving to be very interesting and instructive. The boys are studying "The Heroes of the Bible." All boys are extended an invitation to join these classes.

"Daphne," a five-reel historical drama of colonial days, will be the main picture to be shown on the "Y" screen Saturday evening. This picture is a stirring drama, with a gigantic night battle between the pirates and His Majesty's ship only one of the thrilling parts to hold the attention. One reel of the National Review will be shown, and special music will be furnished for the occasion.

TEACHING FIRST AID TO PHONE EMPLOYEES

Red Cross Workers Showing Them
How To Offer First Aid In All Accident Cases.

Red Cross workers are now putting their first-aid doctrines, used with such well-known results in France and in American Hospitals during the war, into practical industrial use.

Under the direction of Major M. J. Shields, industrial workers will be taught how to administer first aid, how to prevent accidents and to pass on the Red Cross doctrines to their fellow-workmen. In this manner it is hoped to reduce industrial casualties to a minimum.

Major Shields, who makes his headquarters in Washington, is now instructing a class of 17 employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at the North Exchange, 14th and E Streets northwest. For some time the company has been using Red Cross text in teaching its employees how to work safely, but recently the society placed its full knowledge and services at the company's disposal. The telephone officials, realizing that their own efforts could be improved upon by the organization that accomplished such a gigantic amount of good not only during the war but in other emergency periods of the past 70 years, willingly organized the class for instruction by Major Shields.

Major Shields is a pioneer in first aid work, having begun to teach it in 1910. His first efforts were among the miners and railroad men, and among various organizations. He made a study of emergency hospital methods, and always made it a practice when giving instruction to stress the importance of preventing accidents, rather than having to treat them after they happened.

During the war, he served in the Medical Corps of the regular army and was of considerable help in instructing men how to administer first aid on the battle field.

His course to the telephone men includes lectures on the anatomy and structure of the body, the use of various medicines and demonstrations of the various means of respiration. He will teach them how to bandage all sorts of wounds, how to treat illnesses and to render elementary surgical aid. The men, at the conclusion of their course, will be given an examination and then sent back to their respective divisions to teach other employees what they have learned.

When the men are thoroughly familiar with the teachings of Major Shields, they will be instructed to offer aid in all cases of street or traffic accidents that they may chance upon in the day's work. The trucks and other motor vehicles of the company have for some time been equipped with Red Cross first-aid boxes and every employee will be taught how to use them. This equipment will be used in accidents of any kind, whether they affect the company's men or not, and in this way the public in general will benefit.

CABBAGE GROWN UNDER IRRIGATION IN 96 DAYS

The above photograph shows the four enormous heads of cabbage that were recently on display in the front window of The Wicomico News office for several days. The cabbage was grown under the irrigation plant located on the Adkins farm, near Salisbury, and the specimens exhibited were of the finest variety. Each of the heads measured more than a foot in diameter and were the center of much attention while they were on display. It required only 96 days to grow the cabbage, and the splendid results obtained show conclusively the vast benefits to be derived through irrigation. The irrigation system on the Adkins farm was furnished by R. D. Grier & Sons Company.

Surprise Reception For Mr. John E. Taylor

Many Friends Gather At His Home And Help Celebrate His 72nd Birthday.

John E. Taylor of Riverton, will long remember the reception and genuine surprise party tendered him on the occasion of his seventy-second birthday, November 15. Many friends paid their respects during the day, but it was not until evening that the joy-bells began to ring for this fitting testimonial to one of Wicomico's leading citizens. For manifestation of individual esteem and hearty good will, this meeting will mark a milestone.

Mr. Lee Bailey was master of ceremonies. He presented to Mr. Taylor a loving pipe in behalf of the entire village of Riverton, as a token of the peace and joy his many friends have found in his friendship. Mr. Leekner, a master at the violin, rendered many old favorites. Mr. Sensibaugh kept the company in joyous mood with lively music from the piano while Mr. J. H. Held sang many songs appropriate to the occasion.

The hostess at the supper, Mrs. J. E. Taylor shared the enthusiasm and joy of this token to her worthy partner of more than forty years. Among those present were, Atlas Wilson and Edgar Bradley, Captain George Kennerly, Bryan Brennan, J. J. Daly, Captain Rufus Knowles, J. H. Morgan, W. O. Johnson, W. E. Robinson, T. P. English, and C. H. Phillips.

Linen Shower For Salisbury Nurse

Miss Martha A. Williams Is Given Surprise By Her Friends At Stamford Hall, Conn.

The following article appeared in a recent issue of the Stamford (Conn.) Advocate:

A party which was a surprise as well as a linen shower, was given at Stamford Hall, on Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Martha A. Williams, a nurse at the sanitarium, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, of Salisbury, Maryland, whose engagement to Frederick B. Shepard of Brooklyn, N. Y., was announced in the late fall. There were just a few very intimate friends of Miss Williams present, and she received many beautiful and appropriate gifts.

The decorations were very pretty, pink and white being the predominant colors. The "engagement cake," which was made in Baltimore, was a very elaborate and tasty affair, the color scheme carried out in white frosting with "Congratulations," and the prospective bride's and groom's initials in pink sugar.

The beauty of the scene was further enhanced by a group of potted plants and ferns.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in card games, and concluded with refreshments in the form of sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake.

Miss Williams' charming personality has won her many friends, whose good wishes will follow her and the man of her choice wherever they may go.

POULTRY NOTES

BY H. W. RICKET

When I accepted the invitation of The News to furnish material for the Poultry column, I did so with the feeling that I could be of some service to the poultry keepers of the county and particularly to those who are just beginning to realize that the usual way of handling poultry is unprofitable. It is a matter of common knowledge that the average farm flock is not profitable, but right housing, right feeding, and management will change all this and the unprofitable poultry may be made profitable without imposing any unusual demands on the poultry keeper and poultry keeping then becomes a work of pleasure. It is one of my ambitions to see this section of the Eastern Shore grow into one of the greatest poultry districts in the East. The climate is here, the soil is here and our markets for poultry and eggs are reasonably good and may be further developed.

The farm flock of from 75 to 200 laying hens is the backbone of the poultry industry. MAKE IT PROFITABLE!

Let us have the motto, "A standard breed of fowls and a suitable poultry house on every farm in the county." With this to start with the possibilities for future growth seem almost unlimited. Having this in view I will, during the next twelve months, present to the people of the county a clear, concise and seasonable course in poultry keeping. Anticipating, in so far as possible, the needs and the problems of the poultry keeper.

For those who read with unprejudiced and open mind there are wonderful possibilities open to them in their poultry work.

Four years ago I had occasion to visit a well known farmer who was something of a poultry fancier. The time was in mid-winter and as darkness came on, I saw hen after hen going to roost in the trees. I investigated a little and found that in the laying house there were confined two hundred or more pullets. I was rather surprised to see this condition and asked the reason for it, thinking perhaps that it was due to lack of housing facilities. The information that I got was that the fowls in the trees were kept for breeding purposes and that the out door life made them more vigorous and better fitted to produce strong and vigorous chicks.

It may have been true in this particular instance that the farmer was right, as his pullets were so well protected from outside conditions and influences that in a house with four small windows only one was kept open during the day and even this was covered with muslin during stormy weather, while at night all windows were so tightly closed that if it had not been for a small opening between the roof and the front plate scarcely a breath of fresh air could have found entrance. Under such management it is more than possible that the offspring of the fowls in the trees would be the more vigorous, in spite of the fact that exposure to cold and storms of winter is never beneficial.

It is unfortunate that too many of our poultrymen are like the man in the story, not familiar with the fundamental principles of housing, where others give too little consideration to their housing problems believing that most any old building or shed, provided it is covered, will answer the needs of the fowl. When it comes to the question of egg production, everything in their opinion depends upon the feeding. As this view is obviously wrong and as we may expect a need for better housing conditions this winter I will in my first article, which will appear in The News next week, discuss poultry houses and housing and will at the same time give directions for building.

Income Tax Force Will Be Increased

Civil Service To Conduct Examinations Dec. 14 For Additional Auditors And Inspectors.

The United States Civil Service Commission stated today that the Income Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue will appoint several hundred additional auditors and revenue agents or inspectors as soon as the Commission can supply the eligibles for auditing work in the central office at Washington and inspection work throughout the country. It is stated that the Bureau of Internal Revenue finds it necessary to greatly augment its present force in order to bring its inspection and auditing work up to date and keep it current. The Bureau recognizes the importance to business interests of clearing away work in arrears.

The Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held throughout the United States on December 14 to fill these positions. The entrance salaries offered range from $1,800 to $2,400 a year. Advancement will depend upon the record of the employee.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the Civil Service Board at the post office or customhouse in this city.

Dr. Morris Pilehard, of Salisbury, Md., has added 26 new members to the Wicomico Post of the American Legion, in a drive for new members recently held.

A Christmas gift to the ex-service men of the United States in the form of the passage by Congress of the Fordney-McCumber adjusted compensation bill, is a prediction made at Washington by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the American Legion's National Legislative Committee.

A few hours after he had been released from the military prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, where he had been serving a sentence for a "buddy" who had saved his life in France, Harry W. Haley was greeted at Springfield, Mo., by several thousand citizens of that place headed by the American Legion. Haley is now ensconced on a ranch near Springfield where he is the guest of Col. R. P. Dickerson, commander of the National Loyalty League.

Disinterment of the bodies of American soldiers buried in Brest, France, during the war, has been completed, according to word received by the American Legion. Army authorities have forwarded to the four permanent American cemeteries in France 1,080 bodies, removal of which to the United States was not requested by relatives.

When the Y.M.C.A. in Somerville, Mass., burned down, American Legion men rescued 24 lodgers, clothed them and turned the Legion club-rooms into a temporary Y.M.C.A. of the city.

More than a million members of the American Legion have pledged themselves to assist in the American Education Week campaign, December 4-10, under the auspices of the Legion and the National Educational Association composed of school and college teachers. The purpose of the campaign are to inform the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure support and co-operation of the public in meeting these needs.

Louis W. Hill, the railroad magnate, was unanimously elected mayor of "Slippery Gulch, the wickedest city," staged for one week at St. Paul, Minn., under the auspices of the American Legion. Governor Preuss of Minnesota assumed the role of a bad man known as "Mexican Pete" and Lieut. Gov. Collins was his rival in the character of "Alkali Ike."

Fifty per cent of the men employed on the new highway projects in Minnesota are ex-service men, according to report received by the American Legion Employment Bureau at Minneapolis.

A MUNICIPAL BAND FOR SALISBURY.

Lately we have heard quite a bit of discussion regarding a municipal band for Salisbury, and everywhere the subject has been broached it has met with a favorable reception. The idea seems to be an excellent one, and we believe that a project of this kind could be very successfully started here in a short time if the citizens would get solidly behind the movement with their active support.

There is an almost unlimited supply of musical talent in Salisbury and with a paid director of high professional standing to instruct the talent which we could furnish—a director who would devote his entire time and energy to welding together a municipal band organization that would be second to none in the State—this city could soon point with pride to its musical achievement.

A municipal band such as could be formed here in Salisbury would be one of the best assets that the town could have. Not only would it stimulate a desire for the highest grade of music but the advertising value of a municipal band of the kind we would want and would insist on having here, would be simply incalculable. Given a municipal band of the highest grade, and when it journeyed to a neighboring town for a concert the favorable impression that it would leave behind would be of inestimable value to this city. A regular program of municipal band concerts also would be a feature that would help to stimulate musical activity here, and would be a source of great enjoyment for the citizens.

Salisbury might well emulate the example of Clarinda, Iowa, which a short time ago voted heavily in favor of a two-mill tax for the support of its municipal band. Previous to the referendum as to whether the town would agree to the tax, a bill was enacted in the Iowa legislature making it possible for all municipalities of the State to support bands with public money. With the passage of this law, all that is necessary for an Iowa town to have a municipal band is for the voters of such town to decide on the question at a municipal election.

The Iowa plan is well worthy of consideration, and we would like very much to see it adopted here. For Salisbury to have a municipal band would require a tax levy so small that it would be infinitesimal in proportion to the vast benefits that would accrue to the city through such an organization.

THE COMMUNITY FAIR.

The Community Fair conducted under the auspices of the Wicomico Pomona Grange came to an end last Friday night in the Armory, and this year's event was fully up to the high standards of previous years. As a matter of fact, the Community Fair is increasing in popularity and importance each succeeding year, and we foresee the time in the near future when the exhibits and the educational features at these annual fairs will be on an even larger scale than they have been in the past.

Such fairs always are of prime importance to the growers of the county, and the lessons learned by the practical grower who views each exhibit with the idea in mind of finding out how best he can improve his own products, should be invaluable. In other words, if he sees an especial variety of corn, potatoes or other product that appears to stand out pre-eminently, by making full inquiries into how and under what conditions such varieties were grown he will be greatly adding to his own farming knowledge. It was noteworthy of this year's fair that these frank exchanges of opinion regarding farming methods were greatly in evidence throughout the whole time the fair was going on, and the results of the impromptu discussions, of the exchange of ideas on farming subjects, undoubtedly will be far-reaching.

It has not been so long ago when agricultural fairs were looked upon as the time for mainly exhibiting those farm products that were of unusual size or which had something of the "curiosity" element about them. Now, however, just the opposite is true, and the exhibits seen at the Community Fair were truly representative of the grade of farming products in the county taken as a whole. This is as it should be. If agricultural fairs are to fill the niche they should in the community life, if they are to help stimulate interest in improved standards of agriculture, the exhibits at all-times should be of those things grown in the usual course of the day's work and not of products that are "showy," freakish and seldom seen.

We are glad to say that at this year's Fair, the varieties of corn, potatoes and other products exhibited were not only of excellent standard but also they were representative of the excellent food-stuffs grown in Wicomico's soil day in and day out. Such exhibits as those shown in the Armory last week were a great credit to the growers of the county, and we hope that next year's exhibits will be equally as interesting and of as high quality.

SPIRITUAL INVENTORY.

Do you recall the words of that old hymn, "Count your blessings one by one"? And have you ever sat down with paper and pencil and written the things for which you ought to be thankful? If you have not, try it; it will probably be a revelation to you. Most of us are doubtless so busy asking for things, and possibly finding fault when we get them, that we never think of giving thanks for the things we do receive. Some of our great trials and tribulations today are perhaps due to the fact that we have failed to consider God, the giver of every good and perfect gift.

Yet for one nation in the world, at least, our own, is set aside one day each year for the purpose of giving thanks to our Almighty Father for the blessings He has bestowed upon us. Our celebration of Thanksgiving Day dates back to that historic time when the Pilgrim Fathers expressed their gratitude for God's mercy to them. The day is now set aside for the same purpose by euphoniously phrased proclamations from the Chief Executive, by the Governors of sovereign states, and even from the Mayors of great municipalities. But how is it spent?

In the majority of cities and towns, the citizens gather in the morning for an hour or so of song and prayer at some union church service. The rest of the day is usually spent in sport, football games, shooting matches, and hunting being the leading attractions. In other words, out of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year, we consecrate a little part of one day for returning to God thanks for his goodness to us. Yet how bountifully he has blessed us! How carefully he has watched over us! How he has surrounded us with creature comforts. Would it not be well on this day to stop and count our blessings and then express in a positive way our deep gratitude for them? After all, most of us are grateful, did we but stop a moment to consider it. Make this then a period of spiritual inventory and accounting, trying to return to our Creator adequate thanks for what he has done for us.

Even as the peoples of old came to grief because they forgot God, so, too are we likely to find ourselves face to face with ruin unless we consider him. Of almost nine thousand hours in the year, the majority of us probably give fewer than fifty to the Giver of them all, though every day we live should be a day of giving thanks. Let us give thanks this season, and let us continue so to do the rest of our lives, because we have much for which to be thankful.

If we feel that this is showing too much gratitude, then let us be honest and call that deity whom we worship not Our God but Hour God.

We scurry along like the clouds overhead,

Like children in fleeing the rod;

We devote the whole week to the business we've wed,

But only one hour to our God.

ALWAYS A BRIGHT SIDE.

I used to think the Devil dwelt in subterranean den, and stoked his hellish fires to melt the stubborn souls of men. I used to picture out the fiend, in childhood's fertile dreams, and almost fancied I could hear his scorching victim's screams. . . . Therefore, I lived a decent life, and always toted fair; I think I've done enough of good, to keep me out of there. . . . But still, in spite of all I've done, and all I've said and wrote,—in spite of others' heavy loads, that I have had to tote,—I sometimes can't evade the thought, how easy 'tis, to slip, and scoot into the Devil's joint, and terminate my trip. . . . If that should be my mournful end, I'd try to grin and bear it,—but I know a few old stingarees who will be on hand to share it. . . .

Yours truly,
 Uncle John.

To the Editor:

An Open Letter to the Democrats of Delmar District:

How do you feel after election and find that the only candidate on the ticket from Delmar district was defeated for election and was the only Democrat in the county to be defeated?

The county politicians are trying to tell you the reason he was defeated, was that the Democrats in Delmar District did not turn out—Don't you believe it—Mr. Long received 53 votes more in Delmar district than did the two Democratic County Commissioners who were elected, which goes to show that Long was defeated in the county outside of Delmar district.

Now there must be a reason—Why? Delmar is the Gibraltar of Wicomico Democracy, just as Pennsylvania is the Gibraltar of Republicanism in national politics.

How many candidates for president are ever nominated from Pennsylvania? None—The candidates come from close states like Ohio, Indiana, and they let Pennsylvania furnish the votes.

How many county officers ever come from Delmar district? You can count them all on the fingers of your hand, since Wicomico county was formed. The officers come from the four districts and they let Delmar furnish the votes.

For the same reason, Delmar district probably stands last in the county in the matter of road improvements. They tell you they haven't the money, or can't get the money to improve the Delmar-Salisbury road (the most important and most used road in the county). Don't you believe it. They found money to build a nice improved road from nowhere to nowhere. I mean the "Zion Church" road.

Wonder if this was because County Treasurer Cannon had a farm on this road, or one of the County Commissioners attended Zion church?

We can see no other reason for this road.

Now that we have elected another County Commissioner from the Zion neighborhood, suppose we will have a road built from Zion Church south to the Salisbury-Ocean City road—but the Delmar-Salisbury road—never. Delmar district is too hopelessly Democratic for that.

Let Delmar District furnish the votes. Let the other districts get the candidates and improvements.

Democrats of Delmar—Awake. If you can't get results from the party in power—Vote differently next time. Recoup a close district and then you will get the candidates and improvements.

BEACON COLLEGE NOTES

There will be only three days of school this week. Thursday and Friday will be awarded to the students as Thanksgiving holidays. This will give all the out-of-town students a chance to spend several days at home. During the last week of school the rapid calculation class has been advancing a little faster than usual. Several short methods of multiplication have been introduced and practiced until the students have obtained a fair degree of efficiency and speed along this line.

A general review of important letters and words has been given to the penmanship class. This is a very important subject and most of the students are working hard to master the art of good writing.

The speed class in shorthand is making a splendid record. Three students passed tests during the last week.

There are now in the one hundred word tests, Miss Laura Baker, Miss Emma Barnes and Mr. Clifton Mattson; in the ninety word tests, Miss Louise Parsons; in the seventy-five word tests Miss Marian Bradley and Mr. Lynn Melvin. There is no one in the sixty word tests at present but in the course of a few weeks several students will enter this class.

SOMERSET COUNTY GETS IMPORTANT POST

Dr. A. P. Dennis, Of Princess Anne, Appointed Special Representative
U. S. Dept. Commerce.

Dr. Alfred P. Dennis, of Princess Anne, who for the last 18 months has been the United States Commercial Attaché to the American Embassy at London, has been promoted and shortly will take up his new work as special representative of the Department of Commerce.

Exhaustive investigations of the food situation, both as to production and consumption, will be made by Dr. Dennis in England and in Europe for the Department of Commerce.

Few Americans know European commerce better than Dr. Dennis, who is a brother of Samuel K. Dennis and a cousin of John M. Dennis, of Baltimore. Since 1918 he has been in Europe almost continuously. He was appointed United States Trade Commissioner to Italy in December, 1918, the position being nonpolitical. While his residence was maintained in Rome, he kept in direct touch with commercial affairs not only in Italy, but throughout Continental Europe. His work was so satisfactory that he was transferred to London.

Dr. Dennis was graduated from Princeton in 1901 and received his degree of doctor of philosophy in 1904, becoming professor of history at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. Later he was called to the chair of political economy and European history at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. Besides his teaching, he did a great amount of research work, and became known as a publicist concerning European affairs.

Poor health caused Dr. Dennis to give up his teaching about 13 years ago and he entered the lumber business on the Eastern Shore, but continued his studies on European economics. He accepted his first public office when he was sent as Trade Commissioner to Italy. He speaks German, French and Spanish, as well as Italian. His wife, whom he married in 1914, was Miss Mary Value, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Value, of Somerset county.

ed the lasting confidence of the producers of the community. When the Truckers and Savings Bank of Pittsville was being organized about 16 years ago, he was chosen the unanimous choice of the stockholders for cashier of the bank, which position he filled with great credit to himself, with great accommodation to the patrons and financial benefit of the stockholders for the remainder of his life.

In politics, Mr. Davis was a life-long Democrat, but not an office-seeker, preferring rather to help his friends. He held but one elective office, having served the county with great distinction in the House of Delegates in the session of 1898. He was a staunch Methodist Protestant, and allowed nothing to stand between him and his church. For forty years he was successfully elected superintendent of the Sunday School of Grace M. P. Church, of which he was a member. He was entrusted with practically all the financial duties of the church, which he administered to the satisfaction of all concerned. He was a liberal contributor and often advanced money for his church until other members were in position to make their contributions.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Davis, four daughters, Mrs. L. G. Tingle, Mrs. J. Willis Parker, Mrs. W. R. Parsons, Miss Grace Davis, and one son, Master M. Alton Davis; three sons-in-law, two brothers, Mr. L. W. Davis, of Pittsville, Rev. Thomas E. Davis, of Belle Haven, N. C., and Mrs. Sarah M. Littleton, of North Bergen, N. J., together with a host of friends who will ever remember his willing hand and gentle smile.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon from his late residence in Pittsville, and were conducted by the Rev. George J. Hooker, pastor of the Pittsville M. P. Church, assisted by Rev. R. L. Shipley, of Salisbury, and Rev. Mr. Jones, of Delmar. The pall-bearers were Mr. L. W. Davis, a brother, and Messrs. William E. Sheppard, John G. Sheppard, Astory, Wesley and J. William Smith, brothers-in-law. A great concourse of friends and relatives attended the funeral, and the many floral tributes were silent evidences of the high esteem in which Mr. Davis was held. So many in the community enjoyed a wider circle of friends than Mr. Davis, and he was sadly missed. By nature he was kind and gentle and he was ever ready to offer a helping hand to all.

The following memorial tribute, written by his close friend, Mr. Thomas H. Truitt, shows how Mr. Davis had endeared himself in the hearts of all the people:

"Come, let us place flowers on his casket here
Of the freshest and fairest of all the year
These fitting tributes to our comrade Whose smile and blessing oft brought us good cheer;
Let us drop with care and a loving tear
These tender buds on our brother's bier
Let's place his corpse in this vault that's near
To the village he loved and helped to rear."

STATE FOOD INSPECTOR
VISITED HERE THURSDAY

Mr. Chas. E. Taylor, Food and Drug Inspector of the State Health Department, was in Salisbury last Friday on business. Mr. Taylor, who was born in Salisbury and who moved away twenty-two years ago, has been on a tour of inspection of the Eastern Shore, investigating oyster conditions. While here, he renewed acquaintances with many of his old-time local friends.

TO RAISE $60,000 FOR CAMBRIDGE HOSPITAL

The directors of the Cambridge Hospital have decided to launch a campaign to raise $60,000 for the purpose of erecting a nurses' home and canceling the indebtedness of the institution. The National Service Association, of New York, was engaged to direct the campaign and headquarters have been opened in the Cambridge Armory. The campaign will be conducted December 9 to December 16. A hundred or more workers will be named in Cambridge and committees will be named in every district of the county.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter taking good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over. Adv.

Pedrick
True-Fit
PISTON RINGS

Are You Losing Power

There is one thing the matter when cylinders foul with oil and carbon and the motor lays down on the job—bad piston rings.

And there is one correct answer to the problem—Pedrick True-Fit Rings.

Pedrick Rings are built to seal the cylinder chamber—and that's exactly what they do. They press against the cylinder wall with equal radial pressure at all points. This feature, which is the secret of piston ring perfection, is exclusive to Pedrick True-Fit Rings. It results from the patented process by which the rings are made and it accounts for their quick and permanent fit against the cylinder wall.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings have been adopted by leading automobile and engine manufacturers after exhaustive road and laboratory tests proved them superior to any other piston ring on the market.

The experience of such manufacturers as Cadillac, Packard, Hudson, etc., is your assurance of perfect piston performance with Pedrick.

Your car will be a better car with Pedrick Piston Rings. The motor will operate like new. You will have increased power, less fuel and oil consumption, and carbon troubles will be banished.

Stop at your dealer or repair shop today and ask him to show you why Pedrick's are the best Piston Rings you can buy.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under the implied guarantee that they will produce more power, save more fuel, save more oil and have more effect in reducing carbon and smoke, than any other piston rings made.

The customer will be the sole judge. If he is not satisfied that Pedrick True-Fit Rings make good claims, the dealer is authorized to refund the purchase price any time within six months from date of sale, and the manufacturer will refund the dealer's money without question.

Grateful for Life and Love and Light--

On the wall the turkey's shadow—silent witness to the presence of that radiant guest at every feast, the Edison MAZDA Lamp.

No other contributor to the happiness of the home is used as much or missed as soon. Joys are heightened in its radiance; sorrows softened by its glow.

Sit down under its rays this Thanksgiving Day, grateful for all that the year has brought. For peace and plenty, life and love; and the symbol of love, which is radiant light.

The millionaire's Thanksgiving table may shine with richer silver than yours; but no palace anywhere in the world can shine with richer light.

The MAZDA mark on the lamp you buy is your assurance that you have the finest—and the cheapest—light that science knows how to provide. And when MAZDA Service in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company develops a more perfect light, that, too, will be an Edison Mazda Lamp.

A Telephone System Must Expand

THERE is no such thing as closing the capital account of a telephone system unless it proposes to go out of business. The telephone system that is not going forward is going backward.

Each new subscriber requires additional plant—a new telephone set, additional central office equipment, in most cases an additional line from the central office to the subscriber's premises.

But these additions cannot wait until the subscriber wants service. To do this would require that applicants wait sometimes for an indefinite period. We must anticipate the public's needs and always maintain a reserve plant—conduits, cables, switchboards, wires.

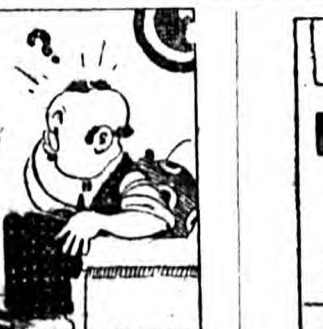

To meet the requirements for next year and the years to come the money for the extensions must be secured from the investors this year. Our earnings this year, then, will determine whether we can attract new capital necessary to meet your requirements for service next year.

GIDEON MEETING AT 7TH SUNDAY, NOV. 27

Insipid Service Will Be Held
At 3 P. M.—Bibles To Be Furnished Hotel Guest Rooms.

There will be held on Sunday, November 27, at 3 P. M., at the Y.M.C.A., a meeting which will be unique in the religious annals of Salisbury. At that time, there will be held under the auspices of the Baltimore Camp of Gideons, an inspirational meeting, from which it is hoped to see inspire the people of Salisbury, that they may have a part in furnishing Bibles for the guest rooms of the hotels in Salisbury, and to learn of the wonderful work which is being done by this organization.

The Gideons are Christian traveling men who, in addition to their own church work, have had a vision of Christian service which takes the form, whenever opportunity affords, to quietly but very consistently, seek to evangelize the men of their class, but more particularly to place Bibles in the guest rooms of hotels all over the land. These men have been the means of placing already 500,000 Bibles in this field, and when it is considered that there is practically no new guest in every hotel, it is not over the land, every night, the potential possibilities of this wonderful bit of missionary work becomes at once apparent.

There are 80 hotel guest rooms in Salisbury to be thus blessed and the Bibles will be on hand at this meeting at which time they will be consecrated, by the local ministers, for their Holy task.

The meeting will be addressed by Mr. Horace Lytton Varian, vice-president of the Baltimore Gideons, a traveling man, whose business takes him from Canada to Louisiana and from the Atlantic Coast to Omaha. Mr. Varian is a trained vocalist and it is expected he will sing several selections, as well as address the meeting. All of the churches of Salisbury are co-operating to make this meeting a success and the families of men who are compelled to travel in their professions are especially invited to hear of this work.

MRS. ANNIE J. BUTLER PASSED AWAY MONDAY

Wife Of Rev. Chas. P. Butler, Of Whaleyville, Died Monday Night
After Protracted Illness.

Mrs. Annie J. Butler, 48 years old, wife of Rev. Charles P. Butler, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, Whaleyville, died at her home Monday night after an illness of about a year. While her death was not unexpected, still it came as a great shock to her many friends and her leave-taking has cast a gloom upon the whole community.

The deceased came to Whaleyville from Jane Lew, W. Va., about three years ago when her husband assumed the pastorate of the M. P. Church there, and she had endeavored herself in the hearts of the people in a way that bespoke the affection and high esteem in which she was held by all.

Short funeral services were held at the home Tuesday evening, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Bowen, of Berlin. Rev. Dr. Bowen was a little girl in her home town in Missouri, he having received her into the church and also administering to her her first communion. The body was carried to Jane Lew, W. Va., Wednesday morning for interment and funeral services will be held there this afternoon.

She is survived by her husband, one son, J. Vaughn Butler, and one daughter, Miss Katherine Butler.

Local Talent Helps Make Dinner Success

Several Wicomico Men Take Leading Parts In Big Father And Son Dinner In Talbot County.

Possibly the largest Father and Son dinner ever held on the Eastern Shore was held at the town of Tilghman, Talbot county on Wednesday evening, November 16, under the auspices of the Talbot County Young Men Christian Association. One hundred and seventy fathers and sons came together on this occasion for an evening of inspiration, fellowship, and fun. The idea was to bring the fathers and sons closer together in spirit than ever before and give them a real vision of what their relationship should be to each other.

It is interesting to know that the success of this affair was largely due to Wicomico talent. Julian D. Carey, formerly a Salisbury boy but now secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in Talbot, arranged for the dinner and engineered it through to the end. Walter S. Sheppard of Salisbury delivered the main address of the evening on "The Relationship Of The Fathers To The Sons". "Poor Ole Dad" a beautiful poem written by Raymond Allen, of Allen, in 1903 was read and made a wonderful hit. Mr. Carey delivered a forceful address on the value of the Y. M. C. A. for real christian character building. Oscar Morris attended the dinner. This dinner was just one of the eight in a series of Father and Son Dinners being held throughout Talbot under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

MISS IRMA W. BOUNDS WEDS MR. W. H. TILGHMAN

Popular Young Local Couple United In Matrimony Today—To Motor North On Honeymoon.

A very quiet but beautiful wedding was solemnized today (Thanksgiving Day), at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bounds, when their youngest daughter, Irma Willard, was married to Mr. William Henry Tilghman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Tilghman. The Rev. J. T. Heron of Salisbury, M. E. Church, performed the ceremony, in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, under an arch of autumn leaves and evergreens. The wedding march was played by Miss Arietta Smith, and "O, Promise Me" was sung by Miss Mamie Wodcock. The bride was attired in a gown of reindeer georgette and lace embroidery in old blue, and wore a large picture hat with blue ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of ward roses, orchids and larkspur. Little Anne Elizabeth Green, niece of the bride, was daintily gowned in white, net with pink rose-buds, and carried a large basket of sweetheart roses.

Miss Clara Louise Jones, of Salado, Texas, was maid of honor, and wore brown canton crepe, embroidered in gold. Her bouquet was of ward roses and orchids. The groom had for his best man, his cousin, Mr. John G. Townsend, Jr., of Selbyville, Del. The bride is one of Salisbury's most attractive and popular young ladies. She is a graduate of the Wicomico High School and Randolph-Macon College.

The groom is one of the city's most successful young business men, being a member of the firm of T. H. Tilghman & Sons, manufacturers of Ray Hide Belting Pins. He served in the world war and saw overseas duty for fourteen months with the 79th Division. He was educated at the Dover Academy and Pierce's School.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, after which the young couple left in their car for an extended tour through the North.

EASTERN SHORE, THE GARDEN SPOT, AND SOME OF ITS TOWNS

Incidents Of Historical, Biographical And Legendary Interest About The Famous Peninsula Are Interestingly Told By The News Reporter.

(Editor's Note—This is the first of a series of articles on the Eastern Shore Peninsula. Another article will be published next week.)

The Eastern Shore is widely known by the intelligent people in the United States because its situation is very interesting, its people have a distinction of marked character and personality, its products are valuable and known in the markets of this country and in many places in other countries, a noted place from which the finest table delicacies of the world are marketed. The Eastern Shore is a part of the Chesapeake and Delaware Peninsula bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, on the east by the Delaware bay and Atlantic ocean and extending west to Chesapeake bay; of this territory the Eastern Shore comprises about four-ninths, Delaware three-ninths and the Eastern Shore of Virginia two-ninths. The Eastern Shore for three centuries has been making history in America.

The early settlers were a class of gentry and almost entirely English, and the special characteristics have been developed and the people are almost entirely the product of a noble ancestry. Here are to be seen fixed types of character, products of the past. Evidences of culture and refinement are to be seen in the beautiful homes, neat and tastefully surroundings, the culture of yard trees and the redolent flower gardens. The home life is ideal, always cheerful, genial and hospitable, and visiting each other's homes is both a privilege and a duty and an old custom that is kept up as a leading feature of community life.

Great veneration is shown for the aborigines in the naming of the counties, rivers and many of the towns on the Shore, such as Quantico, Nanticoke, Pocomoke of the towns, and of the rivers Nanticoke, Wicomico and Choptank. The English Protestants, Catholics and Friends were the early religious denominations on the Shore with the Church of England leading in early religious worship and in disseminating the principles of benevolence and charity.

We have to turn back the pages of history only a few hundred years to find this Garden of Eden, a dense wilderness and absolutely unknown to the white race. It was then the dwelling place of a powerful nation of Indians, known as the Nanticookes, which nation at one time had as many as seventeen tribes and these were divided and subdivided into groups, bands and families, of these may be mentioned the Arocks, Saponanah, Nause and Nantiquak Indians. The Nause were located on the north side of the Nanticoke river, near its mouth and the Nantiquaks were located farther up the river. The location of the other bands is uncertain. The Alabanes, Hutsanaps and Tequassimores, bands of the Choptank Indians, were located on the South side of the Choptank river. The Conoy's, Canal were located on the Manokin river. The Ozonies were located on the south side of Chester river.

John Smith mentions the Kuskaranaks as a powerful tribe occupying both sides of the Nanticoke river. The Susquehannas occupied the section near the Bay, around and about the mouth of the Susquehanna, Elk and North-east rivers. The Lockwags were located on the Sasafas river. The Wightmocos resided on the Wicomico river.

Captain John Smith, the first explorer of the Eastern Shore, in his expedition in 1608 estimated that Wightmocos and Ozonies had 460 warriors and he estimated that there was one warrior for every ten persons. In fact there was never a census of the Indians on the Eastern Shore, but thousands of savages roamed the forests, fished in the streams and cultivated in a very crude way the open sections and planted a village here and there, subsisting upon the products of water field and forests. In 1902, Prof. Dinwiddie, headed a small force sent out from Washington to make excavations and surveys on the Eastern Shore for the purpose of ascertaining some historic facts regarding the various tribes, once living in this section and located many Indian village sites along the rivers; two very large ones on the Manokin river and many smaller ones on the Wicomico and Nanticoke rivers. Many large burying grounds also were located.

In the explorations of John Smith he located on the west side of the Nanticoke river ten miles from its mouth what he called the village of the Nause. He located another at Indian Town just above Vienna; another at Red Banks farther north-east and still another just above Seaford, supposed to be the last village of the Kuskaranaks, where the Great Chief lived; the Red Banks however seemed to him to be the largest, numbering about eight hundred people. With the gradual passing away from this land, with its lovely landscapes, richness of a vast acreage of land, drained by many beautiful rivers, with its abundance of natural foods in its waters, the real American, there came here a people to find new homes and associations, and these are our noble ancestors.

AMERICAN PLAN FOR LIMITING ARMAMENTS

Mr. Hughes' Advocates Scrapping 66 Capital Ships And A 10-Year Naval Holiday.

More drastic and far-reaching than the most ardent advocate of disarmament dared to hope, America's proposals were laid before the arms conference by Secretary Hughes.

A ten-year naval holiday is proposed, with the United States, Great Britain and Japan scrapping at once sixty-six capital ships, aggregating 1,878,043 tons.

The United States would scrap thirty vessels, aggregating 843,740 tons; Great Britain nineteen, aggregating 583,375 tons, and Japan seventeen, aggregating 448,928 tons.

Within three months after the conclusion of an agreement the United States would have eighteen capital ships, Great Britain twenty-two and Japan ten. The tonnage of the three nations would be 500,650 and 604,450 and 299,700, respectively.

In detail the American project is as follows:

That for not less than ten years competitive naval building shall by agreement cease as between Great Britain, the United States and Japan. That all capital ships, building or planned shall be scrapped and a few, recently placed in the water, be destroyed within three months of ratification of the agreement.

That older ships also shall be destroyed, reducing the British battleship force to twenty-two, the American to eighteen and the Japanese to ten, each ship to be retained being specifically named. That during the agreement no capital craft shall be laid down except under a detailed replacement scheme, which would provide for ultimate equality of the British and American fleets and for a Japanese force at 60 per cent. of the strength of either of the others.

That all other naval craft shall be similarly provided for in the same ratio, specific figures for the aggregate tonnage in each class being stated.

That the life of a battleship shall be fixed at twenty years and that ships to be replaced shall be destroyed before the replacement vessel is more than three months past completion. That no battleship replacement whatever shall be undertaken for ten years from date of the agreement. That no naval building of any character shall be undertaken in any of the three countries on foreign account during the life of the agreement. That no combat craft shall be acquired except by construction and none shall be so disposed of that it might become part of another navy. That naval aircraft shall be disregarded in the sailing down processes, as a problem incapable of solution owing to the convertibility of commercial aircraft for war purposes. That regulations to govern conversion of merchant craft for war purposes shall be drawn up, because of the importance of the merchant marine "in inverse ratio to the size of naval armaments."

The essence of the proposal lies in this: That the United States offers to go far beyond what she asks Great Britain to do, and to make good from the financial losses involved. The whole American big-ship building program with the exception of one vessel, is on the stocks, while Great Britain has no capital ships under construction, and the Japanese "eight and eight" program is still largely on paper.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the family system tonic. Price, $1.25.

BERRIES SCARCE ON HOLLY THIS SEASON

Cold Weather Of Last April Is Said To Be The Contributing Factor.

That users of holly wreaths in Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and other cities will have to depend, to a large extent, on artificial decorations during the approaching holiday season is the consensus among holly dealers. All are finding the same situation—the holly is practically devoid of berries. Not only is this true, but it is reported that the formation of the leaves is not of the best this season, small holes having been eaten in them here and there.

The berry situation was brought about largely by the freeze and heavy snow storm last April. The holly berry at the time was in full blossom and, as a result, met the fate of the fruit blossom. Another contributing element to the scarcity of berries, says E. D. Bozman, of Somerset county, pioneer holly buyer of this section, is a vast army of rosebugs which made their appearance during the month of May, this year, and devastated that part of the blossoms which escaped the ravages of the storm the preceding month.

The outlook is the same in Delaware as in this State and Virginia and North Carolina have fared no better, notwithstanding their geographical location, says Mr. Bozman. This condition will not, however, deter the brokers from shipping the usual amount of holly wreaths to the Eastern and Middle Western cities and towns, many of them having already placed orders for artificial berries to take the places of the natural product.

It simply needs a new carburator—a Rayfield—to put new life and pep into it and make it the powerful, smooth running machine it used to be.

You wouldn't believe, till you've tried it, what a wonderful change the Rayfield makes. Quick starting, rapid acceleration, eager, determined power; the endurance that gets you through any kind of travel without changing a gear—that's what a Rayfield does. And it cuts your gas bills 25% in the bargain.

Install a Rayfield on your car and have real satisfaction.

This also served as her explanation when some of her school friends expressed their admiration, after being told the news in confidence; though to the teachers she said, smiling ruefully, as in remembrance of midnight oil, "It does take work, of course!"

When opportunity offered, upon the street, she joined people she knew—and even rather distant acquaintances—and walked with them a little way, and with unaffected directness led the conversation to the subject of poetry, including her own contribution to that art. Altogether, if Florence was not in a fair way to become a poetic celebrity it was not her own fault but entirely that of the North End Daily Oriole, which was to make its appearance on Saturday, but failed to do so, on account of too much enthusiasm on the part of Atwater & Rooters in manipulating the printing press. It broke, had to be repaired; and Florence, her nerves upset by the accident, demanded her money back. This was impossible, and the postponement proved to be an episode; moreover it gave time to let more people know of the treat that was coming.

Among these was Noble Dill, Florence's Ideal. Until the Friday following her disappointment she had found no opportunity to acquaint this being with the news; and but for an encounter, partly due to chance, he might not have heard of it. Mr. Dill was twenty-two, but that was his only perceptible distinction. He was kind, usually, and not unpleasant in appearance or attire; yet he had neither beauty nor that look of power which is said to joggle women from their natural poise. He was the most everyday young man in all the town; and Florence's selection of him to be her Ideal still awaits a precise explanation. Nevertheless, it had happened; and a sentimental enrichment of color in her cheeks was the result of her catching sight of him, as she was on the point of opening and entering her own front door that Friday afternoon on her return from school. He was passing the house, walking somewhat dreamily.

Florence stepped into the sheltering vestibule, peeping round it with earnest eyes to watch him as he went by; obviously he had taken no note of her. Satisfied of this, she waited until he was at a little distance, then ran lightly to the gate, hurried after him, and joined him.

"Why, Mr. Dill!" she exclaimed, in her mother's most polished manner. "How surprising to see you! I presume, as we both happen to be walking in the same direction, we might just as well keep together."

Noble looked puzzled. "Surprising to see me?" he said vaguely. "I haven't been away anywhere in particular, Florence." Then, at a thought, he brightened hopefully. "I'm glad to see you, Florence. Do you know if any of your family or relatives have heard when your Aunt Julia is coming home?"

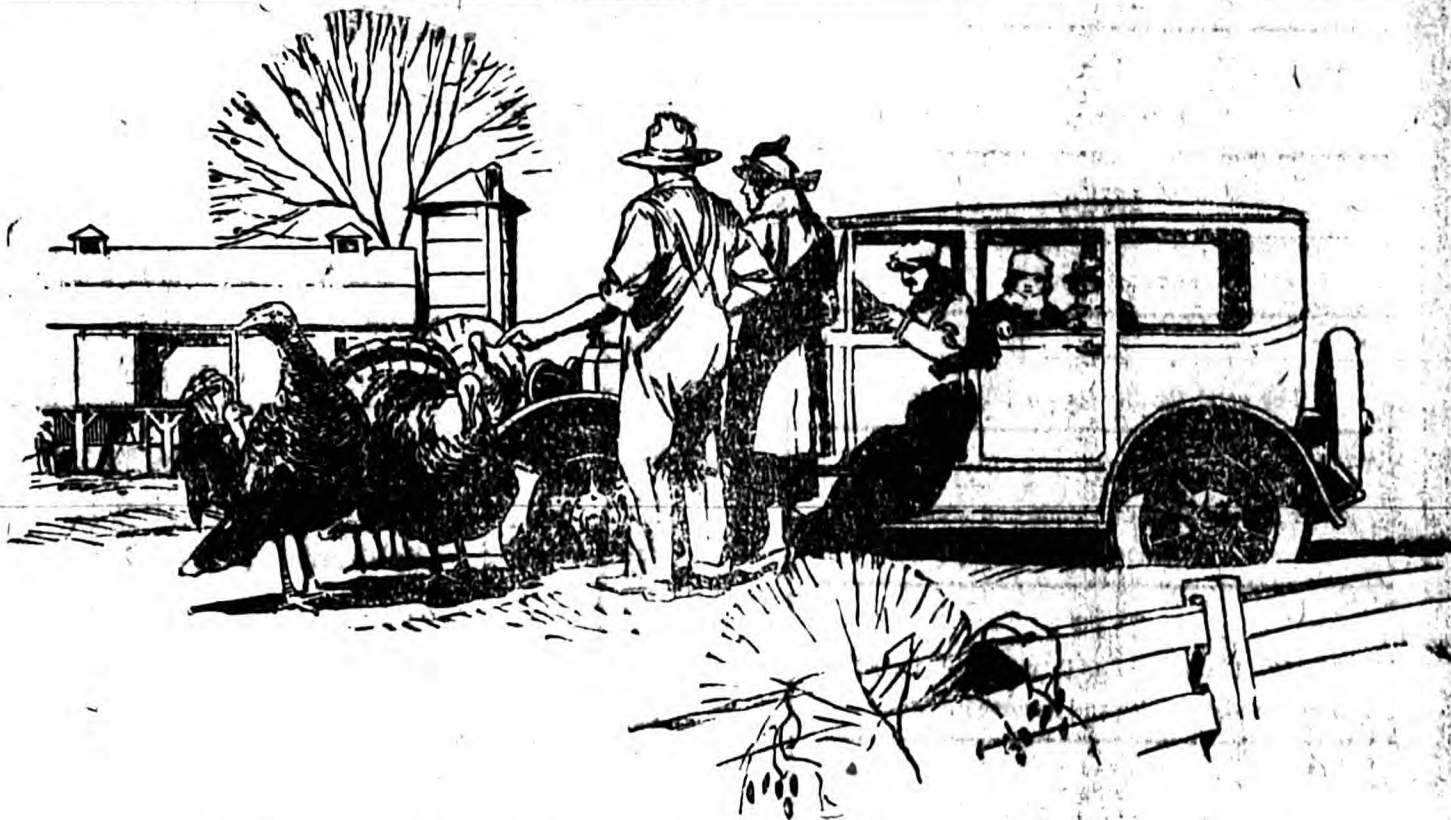

"Aunt Julia? Why, she's out of town," said Florence. "She's visiting different people she used to know when she was away at school."

"Yes, I know," Mr. Dill returned. "She's been gone six weeks."

"Oh, I don't believe it's that long," Florence said, casually; then with more earnestness. "Mr. Dill, I was going to ask you something; it's kind of a funny question for me to ask, but—"

"Yes, she has," Noble interrupted, though not sensible that his remark was an interruption, for he had been unaware of Florence's voice in action after the word "long." "Oh, yes, she has," he said. "It was six weeks, day-

Talking Turkey

WHETHER it's a bird for Thanksgiving dinner or a tankful of gasoline for your motor you will get real satisfaction only through careful selection.

Volatility is important to good gasoline. It largely governs the starting speed of your motor and the richness of the mixture you have to use. For steady power that enables you to creep along in traffic or whirl up steep grades without a lot of gear shifting your motor fuel must have high flame speed, and a high rate of pressure development. For economical operation gasoline must give you big mileage per gallon and burn up so completely that it leaves a minimum of carbon behind.

It needed years of refining experience and countless tests to develop a balanced gasoline to meet all these specifications. But it has been done.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is best not in one or two respects only. Under the most rigid tests covering every feature of motor performance, "Standard" Motor Gasoline stands first.

You can easily prove this. Draw up where you see the familiar "S. O." sign. Test a tankful. Notice the "pop" and power your car has. See how easily it climbs hard hills. Keep tabs on the mileage you get. One quality wherever you buy it, and for sale everywhere.

Do you know that your motor is properly lubricated? You can eliminate any doubt by specifying POLARINE.

CARE OF MILK AND ITS USE IN THE HOME

In Subject of New Farmer's Bulletin
Recently Issued By U. S. Dept.
Agriculture.

The consumer, rather than the producer, the distributor of milk, or the manufacturer of dairy products is the person for whose use a new Farmer's Bulletin No. 1297, Milk and Its Uses in the Home, has recently been issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. Milk is indispensable in the diet of children, because its solids are in such form that they can be easily utilized by the body, and because it is one of the best sources of the lime needed to build bones and teeth, and of vitamin A, a substance essential to health and normal growth. For adults also milk is an important supplementary food. It should be given scrupulously care in the home.

Milk is an important food, because it contains proteins for tissue forming, fat and sugar for body fuel, and minerals, particularly phosphorus and lime, for building and repairing bones and other tissues. Milk is much richer in lime than most other common foods. A cup of milk, says the bulletin, contains at least seven times as much lime as two medium sized potatoes, and nearly twenty times as much as two slices of white bread or 4 ounces of average beef. This is one of the reasons why it is such an excellent food for children for bone and tooth building.

Vitamins are recently discovered constituents of food. Relatively little is known about the nature of vitamins save that they are indispensable for normal health and growth, and that if they are left out of the diet for a long period so-called "deficiency diseases" may develop. Absence of vitamin A is believed to induce rickets. Vitamin B is thought to prevent polyneuritis and beriberi. Milk is exceptionally valuable for providing vitamin A, and supplies vitamin B in abundance. Perfectly fresh, raw milk often supplies vitamin C, but its security-preventing power may be lost when it is heated or aged.

Each child should have a full quart of milk a day, if possible, is the advice given in the bulletin.

While certified raw milk is usually the cleanest milk obtainable, it usually costs a little more than ordinary milk. Good pasteurized milk is satisfactory for children, if the juice of oranges, canned or raw tomatoes, or certain other vegetables and fruits is given to provide vitamin C. Directions for home pasteurization are given in the bulletin, together with an explanation of how bacteria get into milk, the harm they cause, and the effect of careless handling upon them.

A great many kinds of bacteria have been found in milk. Some of them cause the formation of lactic acid, which gives sour milk its characteristic flavor, while others cause milk to putrefy if allowed to stand long enough. The bacteria that cause serious diseases may also get into milk, and are sometimes spread in this way, resulting in epidemics. Especial precautions as to cleanliness on the part of those who produce and handle milk are strongly urged.

RIGID SELECTION OF HENS HALTS BROODINESS

Tests Made by Dept. Agriculture Show That Broody Traits in Flock Can Be Greatly Restricted.

Broody hens, like wayward children, are a great discredit to their parents and a source of annoyance to all who have to do with them. That is why one of the greatest concerns of every ambitious and enthusiastic poultryman is to restrict the appearance and development of broodiness in his flock.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficacy of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E. M.

Causes of Frost Injury To Potatoes

U. S. Dept. Agriculture Finds That Jarring And Rough Handling Are Some Of The Factors.

Jarring and rough handling when at low temperature greatly increases the damage to potatoes by freezing, according to investigations made by the United States Department of Agriculture. It was also found that potatoes freeze more quickly when exposed to a rapid diminishing temperature than when the temperature diminishes slowly. There are two general classes of frost-injured potatoes—those frozen solid and subject to collapse immediately on thawing and those that show evidence of injury only on being cut open.

Frost injury seems to be the result of actual ice formation within the potato tissue. It was found that where the temperature of the storage place was reduced gradually it could be carried to several degrees below freezing point before actual freezing took place, and that it was possible gradually to warm the potatoes and restore them to normal without their suffering injury. The actual freezing point of potatoes was fixed at from 2 to 3½ degrees below the freezing point of water.

The effect of jarring upon under-cooled potatoes is considered extremely important to growers and shippers, since under some circumstances it would be entirely possible that a lot of potatoes, or even other products, might be undercooled considerably below the freezing point and escape injury if they remained undisturbed until their temperature was above the freezing point. If it should be found necessary to move such a lot in order to protect them from low temperature, this should be very carefully done, having in mind the danger of freezing as the result of jarring or jolting.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Most of our notes this week will bear on the Community Fair and Poultry Show. We will not give a list of the prize winners as that will be published in full elsewhere in this paper. We helped to judge the agricultural products at Princess Anne and Snow Hill, last week and both places had mighty fine shows.

Our attention has been called to an error in our notes of two weeks ago. In speaking of Mr. Hall's results with fertilizer versus no fertilizer the yields should have read "per row" and not "per acre". We feel sure that no one would even imagine any of our growers getting only 2 1/2 hampers of sweets per acre but we want to make note of the error.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the Community Fair and Poultry Show was a success and we are glad that we did not agree with some of our pessimistic friends when they suggested that we call the show off for this year. Many people have told us that this was the best exhibit ever held—and this in spite of the poor year for farm crops and products. Thanks will for the exhibitors and the committee.

Morris Oliphant deserves mention and credit for his prize winning "farm collection" exhibit. So far as we know this is Mr. Oliphant's first attempt and that he should win first prize is a credit to him and his farm.

Roger Williams first prize collection of farm seeds merited all the attention and praise that it received. He also showed celery, cauliflower, a 16 foot sunflower stalk and a tremendous big tomato vine. We heard one man say that several vines had been fastened together in some way to get the large one displayed—yes we were able to show that he was mistaken.

We should mention in passing that we do not know all those who won premiums and as we have no list, as yet, we will have to be pardoned if we do not mention all the prize winners in our notes this week. It is not our attention to slight anyone and we will try to give everyone the credit they deserve as soon as we get the list.

Mrs. Bell, one of the lady judges, told us that the handkerchiefs, exhibited by Mrs. H. Osborne Pyle, were the finest she had seen in the state this year. And Mrs. Bell has judged at every show from Marlboro to Salisbury. Sorry, but we can't claim credit for this as all the fancy work we are able to teach is sewing on buttons with a nail or match.

"Parson" Boyle and Senator Disharoon were "spotting" the different exhibits that they wanted to take home with them. They were both very anxious to take home the prize winning ham and we do not know how they settled the matter.

The Irish, or white potato display was as fine as any we have seen this year. There were more baskets displayed at Snow Hill, about the same number as ours at Princess Anne, but we believe that none of these exhibits excelled ours in quality or attractiveness. The corn exhibit at Princess Anne was great and had ours beaten by a large margin. But this year's exhibit of corn was the best we have seen at any show in Wicomico County.

The Adkins Farms Co. displayed some of their irrigated lettuce and cabbage and received a first premium in each. The lettuce "packages" attracted much attention as it was a new style of package to many of our people.

One of our regrets is that we could not act as judge on candies, cookies, etc. We do not recall having seen a better exhibit of these and we know the quality was unbeatable as we have sampled some of our county's cooking before. The sweet potato biscuits were "too good to last" for they gradually disappeared—either we had several assistant judges or some body else liked them as well as we do.

It is sure an "ill wind that blows nobody good," we mentioned before in these notes that good had come from the frost that hurt the clover crop. Here comes John Holloway with a yield of 570 baskets of corn on 4 acres. Wheat last year, seeded to clover and clover turned under on account of frost hurting it—plus 175 pounds of phosphate. Nine consecutive stalks with 4 ears on each stalk—another credit mark for clover.

Walter Farlow, A. Sidney Hearn and Glenn Merick exhibited some fine White Wyandottes and the judges had a somewhat difficult job in placing the ribbons. The fact that they were not simply show birds is shown by the eggs found daily in the pens. "In a consumption most to be desired" when we get real good show birds that also perform their natural function and produce eggs.

How many noticed the fine basket of Porto Rican sweet potatoes at the Fair? As mentioned before this variety is getting very popular in the southern states. Chicago still clamors for Nancy Hall's and pay a bonus for them.

In summing up the results of all the North American Egg Laying Contests we find that in all these years no one breed has proved to be the best layers. Several breeds have won first place which shows that good laying strains can be found in Reds, Wyandottes, etc. as well as in Leghorns. The proper care and attention, proper housing and feeding will produce eggs from a laying strain of birds.

The American Magazine is one of our favorites and no issue fails to have something in it that seems to strike us very forcibly. In the December issue, Alexander Graham Bell gives some advice on education that coincides with our views entirely. In speaking of Edison's test questions Mr. Bell says that he does not believe in trying to carry too many things in a person's head—his advice is to carry what you need and to know where to look for the others. "Observe, Remember and Compare" are the three points Mr. Bell makes on education and he states that the observance of these three cardinal points has made all of our big men what they are. Too many of us fail to observe and, of course we have nothing to remember or compare.

J. Raymond Parker is acting as one of our Poultry Demonstrators this year and is getting good results thus far. He has a pen of 25 Rhode Island Reds which he feeds and cares for as the demonstration egg production. Last week these 25 birds produced 85 eggs and after deducting cost of mash, scratch grain, shells, they showed a profit of $3.53 cents—allowing a value of 62 cents per dozen for the eggs. We are sure that there are many of our farmers who are not getting a 50 per cent production right now and we are also certain that they could get much nearer that percentage if they practiced proper methods.

Several commission men from New York and other large cities make this statement—"the Eastern Shore of Maryland growers cannot get high prices for their sweets until they put up a better pack. Too many small potatoes in the packages, and this, of course, detracts from any high price. The quality is fine but the pack is so much poorer than Delaware or Jersey that their goods get the preference and the high dollars." We are sorry to hear this but we asked them for a frank statement and we got what we asked for. No theory about this and a "word to the wise is sufficient" although some of us, are so hard of hearing that we never hear that word.

Our good friend Chas Rennie had an exhibit of Hahos—soybeans at the Fair and we were glad to note that they won a first premium. This is one that has been pushed a great deal because of its edible qualities. The bean is about the size of a small butter bean, flat, sort of a greenish color with a dark eye and is a good yielder of beans and hay.

W. F. Pilgrim is very well pleased with the way his soybean harvester performed this year. Much different than the old way of gathering the seed by hand or with hand implements. We are after definite figures now to ascertain just what acreage will justify the expense of such a machine.

Miss Alice Parker received many compliments on her success as a "poultryman." The Barred Rocks she exhibited were prize winners without any question as the judge gave the pen pair a second ribbon in open competition and a first ribbon in the Girls Club Contest. Miss Madeline Cordrey won a first ribbon with her Rhode Island Reds, and Miss Myra Parker won first with her Buff Rocks. We "old youngsters" do certainly congratulate these young ladies and are looking forward to their exhibit next year.

Noble Looked Puzzled. "Surprising to see Mr. Bell," he said. "I was just saying that I believed I'd ask you—"

But a sectional rumor seemed to affect the young man all at once. "Oh, yes. I heard about that," he said. "Your Aunt Fanny lent my mother the newspaper. Those people in that part of the country—well—" He paused, remembering that it was only Florence he addressed; and he withheld from utterance his opinion that the Civil War ought to be fought all over again. "Your father said your grandfather hadn't heard from her for several days, and even then she hadn't said when she was coming home."

"No, I expect she didn't," said Florence. "Mr. Bell, I was going to ask you something—it's kind of a queer kind of question for me to ask, I guess—" she paused. However, he did not interrupt her, seeming preoccupied with gloom; whereupon Florence permitted herself a deprecatory laugh and continued: "It might be you'd answer yes, or it might be you'd answer no; but anyway I was going to ask you—"

Kind of a funny question for me to ask, I expect—but do you like poetry?" (Continued Next Week.)

RAILROADS MAY FAVOR U. S. MERCHANT MARINE

Changed Conditions Makes This Action Probable, Says Shipping Board Commissioner.

Contracts where American railroad companies agree to obtain freight for foreign steamship lines, to the exclusion of American companies, are mostly of many years' standing. As a member of the committee in charge of matters relating to interstate commerce, Commissioner Meyer Lissner, U. S. Shipping Board, said that he doubted very much, when the matter is brought to the notice of railroad executives as militating against an American merchant marine, whether such contracts will be continued.

Mr. Lissner said: "Most of the agreements between the roads and foreign steamship lines probably were entered into by the carrier as a result of competition and for self protection. 'They may have been forced to do business with foreign lines because, at the time we were only capable of carrying a small percentage of our foreign commerce. Conditions have changed now, and it is one of the many problems of the Shipping Board to evolve a policy whereby a greater proportion of our exports should be carried in our bottoms. Whether this will come about by enforcement of Section 28 of the Jones Act, cannot be discussed at present, but I feel sure that the railroads will be ready quite voluntarily, and not necessarily as the result of legal suasion, to advance the cause of the American merchant marine when they are assured American lines can offer the service. 'It must be remembered that when the contracts in question were made, this country did not possess a merchant service sufficiently adequate to carry our exports. Now, we have the fleet; we are establishing the services, and soon will be in a position to demonstrate the efficiency necessary to attract business.'"—Wall Street Journal.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 54 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

THE OUTGOING AND HOMECOMING OF THE CHILD

By Nella Gardner White.

Did you ever watch pigeons circling about the pigeon house, and listen to their cooing before they settle down for the night? The flying in and out of the pigeon suggests "the glad out-going—sweet homecoming" of childhood, around the mother's knee. Froebel recognized in this scene a symbol of life, a lesson for us, as mothers, which we cannot study too faithfully. The "outgoing" and the "homecoming" there is a world of meaning in each word. Do you send your child out each day, to school or to play, happily, trustingly, lovingly? Is he glad to go, but gladder still to return? What sort of a home coming does he have? Aren't we, Mothers, too apt to make that homecoming full of scoldings for tardiness, or nagging over table-department, or rushing the children off to bed so we can have the evening to ourselves? Those things, seem of small importance, but wouldn't it be of more lasting value to us and to our children if, instead, we made of that homecoming a happy summary of the day's affairs?

There is no child who is not glad to tell what he has been doing all day. If he has been at school there are often little difficulties, little vexations that the teacher has not had time to satisfactorily explain or smooth out. A word or two from Mother may make it clear and right. And if he has been at play there will be so many things to tell. It is while out at play that the child becomes acquainted with the fascinating realm of out-of-doors. Flowers, birds, trees, bees and butterflies,—he may become closer acquainted with them all through the retelling of his experiences among them. Wouldn't he be more interested in insect life if he knew the life history of the butterfly or of the ant with its almost human arrangement of home and work? Wouldn't he find more satisfaction in the fields if he knew that there were weeds that ate bugs and some that lived on other plants. Like selfish folks? And wouldn't you like to have him so form the habit of telling you things that he goes on telling them, even after he passes out of childhood? Wouldn't you like to be the one he always comes back to for understanding and intelligent enlargement of his small ideas? And isn't it in this deep abiding faith in Mother and Father, and in the intimate comradeship with the outside world, that the faith in the infinite is born? Perhaps, in childhood, the connection between the Creator of the Universe and a white-fringed, golden-hearted daisy may not be overly clear, but if the connection is made at all, if the child sees the manifestation of the Divine in all the forces of nature, it will not be such a far cry to discovering such manifestations in his own soul. Then, as you help him to weave his daily experiences into happy whole at the day's end, so may his larger experiences fashion themselves into a life pattern that he will not be ashamed to show to himself or his Creator at the "twilight hour" of life.
