An author who fairly riots in cloth and attires her heroines in genuine Arabian Nights magnificence, is Ouida. Her brides travel in cream velvet and ermine and her great ladies are always drawn over white marble terraces "skirted by India muslin, Flemish lace, and primrose satin." As their husbands usually come

Attorney-General Miller has issued instructions to United States District Attorneys to enforce the law against trusts and combinations. The ground upon which trusts are declared illegal is that they are contracts, combinations and conspiracies in restraint of trade—which have been condemned by the English common and statute laws for centuries. The method of procedure against trusts will be by injunction restraining them from controlling inter-State commerce under the criminal provisions of the anti-trust

NEW ORGANIZATION.

The Young Democracy at Work and Revolving.

The good work went right on. Last Friday night the democratic "Patriot" district organization auxiliary club at the N. Y. P. & N. depot. Mr. L. P. Coulbourn tendered them the use of a large room in his new three-story building, and in that they met and selected their officers. Mr. L. P. Coulbourn was chosen president; Mr. Charles E. Davis, secretary; J. C. Johnson, vice-president, and F. A. Grier, treasurer.

Gov. Jackson, Hon. Thos. Humphrey, Messrs. Jas. E. Elligood, and Harry Starford, Hon. E. Stanley Towdine and W. H. Warren, Esq., were among those present, and each spoke to the club. Deep interest was manifested, as was shown by the enrollment list, which at the close of the evening contained the names of 88 members. The club will meet regularly each Friday night until after the election.

The Young Men's Democratic Club met at the headquarters on Dock street as usual on Monday night, but as on the Monday night before the room could not accommodate all those present, and again the meeting was held at the Court House. Other names were added to the list till the roll numbered 435. It had been announced that the Hon. John W. Crawford would be present, and he did appear, but, after closing a day's work at the Wisconsin Bar, he felt obliged to go home to attend to important business. The fact was a great disappointment to all, but Messrs. Granville Elder, Wm. H. Warren, Thos. P. J. Elder, and the worthy president, Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, made interesting speeches. The Court House was comfortably filled with members and the speeches were heartily received. The meeting next Monday night will be the last one before the grand democratic rally on Tuesday, October 13th. By the way that important event now promises to out-shine all past efforts of a similar kind. Last week we published letters from Messrs. Gorman, Brown, Smith, Bayner, Paye, Upham and others. Since then we have heard from the redoubtable Miles, the fearless Brattan, and others.

The big ox has been engaged from Mr. Britton, the butcher, who will roast him whole with his head on and his horns highly polished. This will be a sight to look at. A big boat load of toothsome oysters has been engaged, and no man shall go hungry. Republicans as well as democrats from the county are cordially invited—so are the fascinations. The meeting at night will be held in Ulman's Grand Opera House, and many ladies will be present.

Remember, that day—next Tuesday, October 13th.

The democrats of Pittsfield district will meet at the headquarters of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Salisbury. All democrats are invited to be present. Jas. E. Elligood, Esq., will address the club. Democrats of Pittsfield meet and show the county that "Old Cross Roads," is as true as steel.

Old Papers.

Mr. James Laws of this county recently put into our hands two late patents, printed on sheep skin, from Frederick, Absolute and Proprietor, of the Province of Maryland and Avalon, Lord Baron of Baltimore, etc., one to William Winder for land located in Worcester county on the south east branch of the Potomac river, and the other to John McManis, dated October twenty-third, 1762, for land near land granted Winder.

The blanks are filled out in a beautiful hand, and the descriptions are very full. From what we can get by a perusal of the papers it seems that James is now a part of Wisconsin, and is near near Fruitland now stands.

Any one wishing to look at the papers may do so by coming to this office. Mr. Laws does not know how they came into his father's possession, as there was nothing attached to them to explain, or shed any light upon the matter. It would be interesting to know just where those boundaries would fall and who now holds the property.

School Board Proceedings.

The School Board was in session last Tuesday.

Messrs. Cannon and Darby reported that they received the house built at Green Hill by Mr. W. J. Ennis and ordered settlement for same by the treasurer.

The final report of committee to lay off new school district in Pittsburg election district was laid before the Board also report of Mr. Twilley.

Secretary was instructed to furnish return to county in school district No. 3 Pittsburg territory, reported that Dr. B. H. Whaley has consented to give deed for half acre of land for house in new district in Pittsburg, provided land reverted if used to be used for school purposes. Board accepted proposition, provided consent to be given the Board to remove any building that might be there on in case it seemed to be occupied.

Messrs. Laws and Cannon were appointed committee to locate new house being built on above named lot.

Mr. Samuel White and Miss Annie Laidley both of this county were married at Waterbury Me. P. church last Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. J. L. Strangh not Quamto cleric! After the marriage ceremony was performed, the bride and groom started for Palsala, Fla., which will be their future home.

Messrs. Robert Lowe and George Ellis near this place left for Philadelphia Tuesday. They are expected to play until the spring.

O. A. Nelson is erecting a new building at this place.

Amusement Display of Miss Maudie Work.

Mr. H. P. Pope, general agent, has a display in the store lately occupied by Mr. C. E. Harper, last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, a quantity of fancy articles especially wrought by Miss E. A. Brooks of Washington, D. C., who is assisting Mr. Pope, of the Singer Machine. Many ladies and others visited them while they were here, and several were taught the art. The purpose of the display was to exhibit the claims of the Singer Machine to superiority over all competitors.

Undelivered Letters.

The following is a list of letters remaining in the Salisbury (Md.) Post-office Saturday, Oct. 10, 1903:

Letter 1st—Miss Ann Fordice, James H. Williams, John Venables, George E. Titchman.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

Letters 2nd—Messrs. Postmaster, Messrs. Postmaster.

THE COURT HOUSE.

There was a political meeting in the Court House last Thursday night which was presided over by the fascinations. Mr. Samuel H. Evans called the meeting to order and Mr. Albert E. Acworth was called to the chair.

Several hundred voters were present, representing the three elements of the present political campaign—the straight republicans, the dissatisfied democrats and the regular democrats. Of these elements the first named was much in the majority. About all the dissatisfied democrats of the county were present, with a few exceptions, of course; and quite a number of those in the audience were men identified with and strong supporters of the democratic ticket.

The chairman first introduced Mr. Robert P. Graham, who spoke briefly of the situation, but told the audience that he had not come to make much of a speech. He was followed by Mr. Geo. W. D. Waller, the fusion candidate for state's attorney. Mr. Waller conducted the program for more than a half hour, and then gave way to Mr. Robt. G. Robinson, a former democrat who is now supported by the fascinations for the legislature. Mr. Robinson was quite witty and kept his audience laughing much of the time.

He did not speak to any great length and was followed by the chairman of the double-headed movement, the venerable and dignified Col. Wm. J. Leonard. His followers greeted him with applause when he arose to address them. After talking in a conventional tone for nearly an hour he complained of being out of breath, and, clapping his audience, took his seat.

A call was made for Mr. Joseph Bailey. Mr. Bailey rose and made his acknowledgments. Then Mr. Woodland I. Todd responded to the wishes of the fascinations and held the audience till the close of the evening.

All the speeches were very mild in tone and their freedom from personal abuse of the opposing parties, was in striking contrast to the speech made by the leader at B. C. Springs three weeks ago.

The best hit made during the evening came from a democrat. In his speech Mr. W. I. Todd vehemently asked the question, "Who asked Mr. Jas. E. Elligood to go on the democratic ticket?" Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, president of the Young Men's Democratic Club, was sitting in the audience and quickly answered, "Frank Todd."

There was a great deal of laughter and it was intensely amusing because it involved a fact which is now a matter of history.

Local Notes.

—Hon. Wm. H. Stevens of Seaford, Del., was in town last Monday.

Miss Montgomery of Washington, D. C. has been a guest of Mrs. Jesse D. Price on Division street.

—Mr. Chas. J. Birchard is in the city purchasing a stock of overcoats, ready-made clothing, boots and shoes, for the firm of Birchard & Carey, Main street.

—Mrs. Malone of Allen, and Miss Porter of Somerset county have been guests of Mrs. Isaac L. Price and Mrs. John P. Owens this week.

—Mr. J. J. Morris who has been in the West for the past month looking after the affairs of a deceased brother, who died sometime ago in Kansas, returned last Monday night. He thinks the West a great country, especially that Oklahoma country.

—Our young friend, Mr. George H. Towdine, who has been on the peninsula for several weeks soliciting and placing orders for Mr. L. W. Gunby's large wholesale hardware house, returned to Salisbury last Monday, and was in favor of the railroad, Messrs. Crawford and Messrs. Graham & Stanford for Mr. Phillips.

Monday morning Virgil Barrie, a colored boy, was tried for an alleged attempt to rape a young woman, a white woman. The jury found a verdict of guilty of assault. The Court imposed a fine of $50 cents and costs, amounting to $18.00, which was paid and the youth released.

Tuesday judgments were rendered in several cases, which occupied much of the day.

Wednesday the case of Betts vs. Phillips was called, and tried before jury. The jury found a judgment of $30 for plaintiff but he is to pay costs, which amounted to more than judgment.

Wednesday morning the Grand Jury brought in a bill against John Gordy, the young colored man for the murder of Emma Watson, colored, Jan. 2nd, last. Gordy was brought before court and Mr. H. L. D. Stanford appointed by the court to defend him. He pleaded not guilty, and asked to be tried by his country. The Grand Jury was discharged. Gordy's trial was set for November 2nd, and Wednesday afternoon the petit jury was dismissed to return that day for the trial of Gordy.

Cases and Collars.

Of the many attractions in the various show windows of our Main street merchants, the most novel is that of Messrs. Fowler & Timmons. The first is agent for the "Cotton" Collar and Cuff, and a crowd of conspicuous advertising it. Col. Fowler has happily hit upon it. In his show window nature has been made to take the place of art. Instead of tastefully arranged fabrics on display, earthenware and glassware are shown in the window in which has been planted the holly and the trunk of a dead tree. On this latter is stamped in plain letters, "We sell Ocas Collars and Cuffs." A crowd of nature-loving people, and a crowd of conspicuous advertising it. Col. Fowler has happily hit upon it. In our issue of August 8th we took occasion to refer to and comment upon that "call to the democrats of Wisconsin county to suppress fraud, bribery," etc., in which we declared that "if the object of the call is sincerely set forth, and its purpose is to memorialize the legislature or to express views for the instruction or guidance of the legislative ticket, then its purpose is a worthy one and should receive the support of every democrat in Wisconsin county; but if it is a call under the specious guise of reform for the sinister purpose of making an attack upon the democratic party and the nominated ticket, then it will get but little support from the democrats of Wisconsin county."

In this we were sincere and had hoped there was some sincerity in the purpose of the "call," but it soon became apparent that the only grievance to redress was the defeat of certain office-seekers for the only resolution adopted at that meeting was the appointment of a "committee to nominate such a ticket as will be agreeable to and receive the support of all those who acted under this call, and that this meeting hereby promise to the ticket they may select a cordial and hearty support."

The first deception practiced was the dissolving of a meeting called to correct and prevent bribery into a committee to nominate a ticket.

Many good democrats came to that meeting expecting something to be done looking to a correction of abuses in the primaries, but as soon as a "committee" was appointed to meet on the same day as the republican convention, they saw the drift and would have nothing more to do with it.

The next step taken by this committee was to go into the republican convention and set to work to take part in its proceedings toward nominating a ticket. This privilege was denied them, and they were informed by the president of the convention that as it was a republican convention, only republican delegates could be recognized in that meeting, and when one of the committee members moved to nominate certain men to be informed by the president that they were not republican delegates, thereupon the whole ticket was nominated and voted for by the republican delegates only—the only just and proper course the convention could take.

The next step was to get that it was the "People's Party" ticket, and the president of the convention informed them that it was a republican ticket, and that they were not republican delegates, and that they were not to take part in its proceedings.

to go into, and republican candidates were good enough to be associated with on the ticket, but the republican name and a republican nomination were more than they could stand, and they would not take office.

The next step was to get that it was the "People's Party" ticket, and the president of the convention informed them that it was a republican ticket, and that they were not republican delegates, and that they were not to take part in its proceedings.

What a spectacle! Two tickets composed of the same names, insisted upon by the republicans as the republican ticket, so certified and sworn to by the president of the convention and so printed on the ballot. On the other hand, the fusion committee, not of democrats but of a new party, calling themselves "The People's Party," insisting that it is not a republican ticket, but the "People's Ticket," and have it so printed on the ballot.

Now what is it? Is a question we have before asked without receiving a reply. When the votes were counted and tabulated will the "People's Party" claim the vote, or will they allow the republican party to have the credit of the vote cast for that ticket? Will all the candidates allow themselves to be claimed as republicans, or will the republicans allow themselves to be claimed as the "People's Party"? Why did not the fusion committee be honest with themselves and say "we stand by the republican nomination, and we care not for names," or why were they not honest with the voters and say our nomination is a little trick to catch the votes of dissatisfied democrats who can't stand the name of republican.

It is almost inconceivable that reformers could be guilty of such duplicity. But this is not all. This committee not only insult the republicans of this county by rejecting their nomination, but they find defiance into the face of democratic party of the State and reject the nomination of the ticket made in the democratic state convention, and attempt to nominate the same men to be put at the head of the ticket of the "People's Party," the ticket that was nominated in the republican convention. But Messrs. Frank Brown, John P. Poe, J. Frank Ford, and Marion DeKalb Smith, with draw from this nomination and refuse to allow their names to stand at the head of such a ticket. They say, in effect, that we prefer the nomination by the state convention which ought to be satisfactory to any democrat, and we can not allow our names to stand at the head of a ticket nominated by a republican convention, half of which are avowed republicans.

We cannot allow our names to be used to help a republican cause in a purely local contest where there is no issue but the scramble for office, where the democratic ticket is admitted to be a good ticket. We would be pleased to have your votes as democrats and if you be democrats we can see no reason why the nomination by the whole state in a convention of all the counties and Baltimore city is not enough for any democrat.

Now what is the result? Some of these fusion leaders openly declare they will reject the republican state ticket, and they expect independent democrats to follow them. But the real independents are beginning to see the true inwardness of this fusion movement. They have been waiting for the promised platform but have not seen it. They have been looking for the reasons for this movement and have found but one, and that is office. They have heard of charges but have seen no proof. They see that the defeat of the regular democratic ticket means the success of a ticket nominated by republicans and the election of two U. S. Senators from Maryland. They see that the movement is repudiated by the democratic party of the whole state and that it is without respect at home or sympathy abroad.

That scheme of the little fusion "bow" last Tuesday didn't work. He went to the republican committee and informed them that they must not have the colored band to blow for the meeting, nor have the colored lawyers to speak for them, but the little fusion bow was informed that he could not turn that machine any longer; that the meeting was a republican meeting and the republicans intended to run it suit themselves, and they did it, and they had the colored band to furnish the music and the republicans and fusionists alike marched to the music, including the "little bow," and they went into the hall and heard the colored orator, all of which was unquestionably true republican doctrine with the usual amount of campaign thunder and misrepresentation. In the afternoon there was a small sprinkling of well known fusion leaders, but they did not seem at all at home. They were the same persons that we had seen before at democratic fairs, which were evidently more malapropos than that.

But they were dancing to republican music furnished by a colored band and rounding the echoes of the republican warwhoop, and yet they are not republicans! But good democrats. What do you good fusion democrats who didn't put in an appearance think of their position?

We have been asked if the nomination of the state ticket made by the so-called "People's Party" in this county would have been printed on any other ticket than the republican ticket. The answer is, no. The fusion committee would have been printed in a separate column in the state where that law prevails, without any other in that column. In every county and the city of Baltimore they would have been printed as the nominees of a "People's Party."

When Frank Brown and the other candidates on the Democratic State ticket withdrew their names from the so-called People's ticket, the little fusion bow immediately heated up the executive committee of the Fusion party and made the proposition to run their State ticket in consideration that the prohibitionists would run the Fusion county ticket.

This is the best illustration of their position, that we have seen yet. It shows the extremity to which they will go in the means that they will resort to, for the purpose of electing two or three men on the Fusion ticket.

That they made such a proposition is no hear-say. We dare them to deny that they did it, and we will bring the proof. And it was made too, by some of the same emissaries that marched into the republican camp last August. If they had the power to hand over this little band to the republicans of course they had the power to strike a deal with the prohibitionists. Talk about Boston, Bingle and One Man Power. What do you call this? Can any man with one spark of democratic blood in his veins suffer himself to be contracted for in any such manner as this? Who, that has one spark of manhood in his veins, will not resent it? A Fusion-Republican-Prohibitionist ticket.

It is sufficient to add that the prohibitionists very promptly replied that they were voting for principles and not temporary success; that they had no intention to sell out their party. They couldn't deliver the goods if they should make such a sale.

Democrats, this is no hear-say, we can give name if necessary.

Well-informed men who heard Col. Leonard's speech at the Court House last Tuesday night wonder at the statement made by him that he pays more taxes to the county than any other property holder of the county.

An investigation of the books shows that Col. Leonard pays individual taxes in Parson's district to the amount of $120.61; in Salisbury district, $210.35; in Notter's district, $417.71, making a total of $748.67 all told. Wm. H. Jackson pays individual taxes in Parson's district, $50.09; in Trappe district, $23.35; in Salisbury district, $218.54, making a total of $291.98. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Wm. H. Jackson pays more than as much again taxes on individual property than does Col. Leonard.

The above figures have nothing to do with Mr. Jackson's partnership interests with his son, Wm. P. Jackson, and Gov. Jackson. His proportion of his various partnership businesses, added to his individual taxes increase the latter to $1189.59. Leaving out altogether his 110 shares of bank stock which is assessed at premium, it will be seen that Mr. Jackson pays considerably more than twice as much taxes to Wisconsin county as does Col. Leonard. Examine the books again, Colonel.

The fusionists tried last Saturday night at Delmar to interrupt a democratic meeting. The first scheme was to yell fire! but that didn't work then they tried to interrupt the speakers by having boys make a noise, but those present had made up their minds to hear the other side of the question and notified both the boys and those inciting them, that they would be taken outside the town limits and dealt with according to their just deserts.

The efforts, to say the least, were cowardly.

The gathering was large and the people were interested in the discussions. Some of those present had heard but one side of the question, and now that they are in possession of the whole truth, they will be prepared to act intelligently the 31st of November. That's what we want. We want the whole truth told and if the democrats of this county can then say there is sufficient reason for them to leave their party, then we are ready to abide by the result.

The efforts, to say the least, were cowardly.

He went to the republican committee and informed them that they must not have the colored band to blow for the meeting, nor have the colored lawyers to speak for them, but the little fusion bow was informed that he could not turn that machine any longer; that the meeting was a republican meeting and the republicans intended to run it suit themselves, and they did it, and they had the colored band to furnish the music and the republicans and fusionists alike marched to the music, including the "little bow," and they went into the hall and heard the colored orator, all of which was unquestionably true republican doctrine with the usual amount of campaign thunder and misrepresentation. In the afternoon there was a small sprinkling of well known fusion leaders, but they did not seem at all at home. They were the same persons that we had seen before at democratic fairs, which were evidently more malapropos than that.

But they were dancing to republican music furnished by a colored band and rounding the echoes of the republican warwhoop, and yet they are not republicans! But good democrats. What do you good fusion democrats who didn't put in an appearance think of their position?

We have been asked if the nomination of the state ticket made by the so-called "People's Party" in this county would have been printed on any other ticket than the republican ticket. The answer is, no. The fusion committee would have been printed in a separate column in the state where that law prevails, without any other in that column. In every county and the city of Baltimore they would have been printed as the nominees of a "People's Party."

When Frank Brown and the other candidates on the Democratic State ticket withdrew their names from the so-called People's ticket, the little fusion bow immediately heated up the executive committee of the Fusion party and made the proposition to run their State ticket in consideration that the prohibitionists would run the Fusion county ticket.

This is the best illustration of their position, that we have seen yet. It shows the extremity to which they will go in the means that they will resort to, for the purpose of electing two or three men on the Fusion ticket.

That they made such a proposition is no hear-say. We dare them to deny that they did it, and we will bring the proof. And it was made too, by some of the same emissaries that marched into the republican camp last August. If they had the power to hand over this little band to the republicans of course they had the power to strike a deal with the prohibitionists. Talk about Boston, Bingle and One Man Power. What do you call this? Can any man with one spark of democratic blood in his veins suffer himself to be contracted for in any such manner as this? Who, that has one spark of manhood in his veins, will not resent it? A Fusion-Republican-Prohibitionist ticket.

It is sufficient to add that the prohibitionists very promptly replied that they were voting for principles and not temporary success; that they had no intention to sell out their party. They couldn't deliver the goods if they should make such a sale.

Democrats, this is no hear-say, we can give name if necessary.

Well-informed men who heard Col. Leonard's speech at the Court House last Tuesday night wonder at the statement made by him that he pays more taxes to the county than any other property holder of the county.

An investigation of the books shows that Col. Leonard pays individual taxes in Parson's district to the amount of $120.61; in Salisbury district, $210.35; in Notter's district, $417.71, making a total of $748.67 all told. Wm. H. Jackson pays individual taxes in Parson's district, $50.09; in Trappe district, $23.35; in Salisbury district, $218.54, making a total of $291.98. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Wm. H. Jackson pays more than as much again taxes on individual property than does Col. Leonard.

The above figures have nothing to do with Mr. Jackson's partnership interests with his son, Wm. P. Jackson, and Gov. Jackson. His proportion of his various partnership businesses, added to his individual taxes increase the latter to $1189.59. Leaving out altogether his 110 shares of bank stock which is assessed at premium, it will be seen that Mr. Jackson pays considerably more than twice as much taxes to Wisconsin county as does Col. Leonard. Examine the books again, Colonel.

The fusionists tried last Saturday night at Delmar to interrupt a democratic meeting. The first scheme was to yell fire! but that didn't work then they tried to interrupt the speakers by having boys make a noise, but those present had made up their minds to hear the other side of the question and notified both the boys and those inciting them, that they would be taken outside the town limits and dealt with according to their just deserts.

The efforts, to say the least, were cowardly.

The efforts, to say the least, were cowardly.

What a spectacle! Two tickets composed of the same names, insisted upon by the republicans as the republican ticket, so certified and sworn to by the president of the convention and so printed on the ballot. On the other hand, the fusion committee, not of democrats but of a new party, calling themselves "The People's Party," insisting that it is not a republican ticket, but the "People's Ticket," and have it so printed on the ballot.

Now what is it? Is a question we have before asked without receiving a reply. When the votes were counted and tabulated will the "People's Party" claim the vote, or will they allow the republican party to have the credit of the vote cast for that ticket? Will all the candidates allow themselves to be claimed as republicans, or will the republicans allow themselves to be claimed as the "People's Party"? Why did not the fusion committee be honest with themselves and say "we stand by the republican nomination, and we care not for names," or why were they not honest with the voters and say our nomination is a little trick to catch the votes of dissatisfied democrats who can't stand the name of republican.

It is almost inconceivable that reformers could be guilty of such duplicity. But this is not all. This committee not only insult the republicans of this county by rejecting their nomination, but they find defiance into the face of democratic party of the State and reject the nomination of the ticket made in the democratic state convention, and attempt to nominate the same men to be put at the head of the ticket of the "People's Party," the ticket that was nominated in the republican convention. But Messrs. Frank Brown, John P. Poe, J. Frank Ford, and Marion DeKalb Smith, with draw from this nomination and refuse to allow their names to stand at the head of such a ticket. They say, in effect, that we prefer the nomination by the state convention which ought to be satisfactory to any democrat, and we can not allow our names to stand at the head of a ticket nominated by a republican convention, half of which are avowed republicans.

We cannot allow our names to be used to help a republican cause in a purely local contest where there is no issue but the scramble for office, where the democratic ticket is admitted to be a good ticket. We would be pleased to have your votes as democrats and if you be democrats we can see no reason why the nomination by the whole state in a convention of all the counties and Baltimore city is not enough for any democrat.

Now what is the result? Some of these fusion leaders openly declare they will reject the republican state ticket, and they expect independent democrats to follow them. But the real independents are beginning to see the true inwardness of this fusion movement. They have been waiting for the promised platform but have not seen it. They have been looking for the reasons for this movement and have found but one, and that is office. They have heard of charges but have seen no proof. They see that the defeat of the regular democratic ticket means the success of a ticket nominated by republicans and the election of two U. S. Senators from Maryland. They see that the movement is repudiated by the democratic party of the whole state and that it is without respect at home or sympathy abroad.

That scheme of the little fusion "bow" last Tuesday didn't work. He went to the republican committee and informed them that they must not have the colored band to blow for the meeting, nor have the colored lawyers to speak for them, but the little fusion bow was informed that he could not turn that machine any longer; that the meeting was a republican meeting and the republicans intended to run it suit themselves, and they did it, and they had the colored band to furnish the music and the republicans and fusionists alike marched to the music, including the "little bow," and they went into the hall and heard the colored orator, all of which was unquestionably true republican doctrine with the usual amount of campaign thunder and misrepresentation.
