Bibliophiles use the many research facilities available in our library to expand their knowledge. The prevailing philosophy at Frostburg State Teachers College is that the library is the rightful hub of our academic wheel, for without it there could be little real progress.

FOREWORD

As the various societies are reviewed down through the ages, they seem to be governed by the educational systems they produce. The American Education System is the greatest in the world; and it provides equal opportunity to all men, through all walks of life. At Frostburg State Teachers College we are only a small part of this endeavor, but a vital one indeed, working in our small way to improve the educational standards of Americans. Our graduates are supplying the guidance to the nation's children which is needed for the continued betterment of education in general. Education is, was, and shall always be foremost in the minds of men working for the betterment of society.

OUR ADMINISTRATION IS CONCERNED ABOUT THE FUTURE

Dr. Pullen Challenges Our School

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.

As I begin this brief statement I am 35,000 feet in the air, traveling at the rate of nearly 600 miles an hour on a jet plane from the east to the west coast of this continent. I shall go from Baltimore to San Francisco in less time than it takes me to go from Baltimore to Cumberland by train. The thought that comes to mind about education is that the curriculum of our schools must change as inevitably as time to meet the needs of new life as it emerges.

The second thought that impresses me is that education in the modern world of speed and terrific impact must be effective. As I gaze down upon the jutting peaks of the Rocky Mountains below me, I muse that if the critics who say that American education is inefficient and inferior are right and the designer and constructor of the plane I am riding did not know what they were doing, I am in a precarious position! But when I reflect upon the fact that I paid only a few dollars for an insurance policy valued at $250,000 for the trip out and back, I am reassured.

In my pocket is a well-thumbed copy of The Meditations of Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, the Roman Emperor. I spent most of the time between Baltimore and Chicago rereading certain passages from this classic of ancient literature. The philosophical meditations of Marcus Aurelius are almost platitudinous today, but we must remember they were written by one we would consider a heathen by modern standards, and yet his teachings are as sound in our modern world as they were when they were penned.

The three simple references above illustrate very clearly what education of the future must be. First, the curriculum and methods of instruction must ever be changing and responsive to modern needs. Horseshoeing, essential in the equine age, has little or no value in the jet age.

Secondly, there are certain eternal truths and values that man has discovered in his relationship with man that are valuable as guides in the life we must all live in all generations, and they must be preserved and passed on to each generation. The task of education is to determine as intelligently as possible what part of the old to eliminate and what part to preserve and what new material to bring into our instruction. There is a "golden mean" in all things, and it is given to the intelligent and wise to find it.

Let us face the future with courage and optimism.

Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.

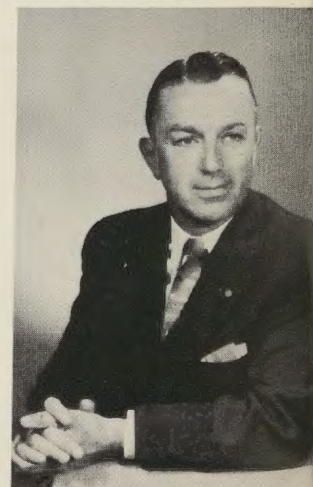

State Superintendent of Schools

State Board President Sends Greetings

When we hear the phrase "education for the future" many of us immediately conjure up visions of various types of automated mass instruction. Techniques involving the use of TV, programmed teaching machines, and subliminal learning tend to be associated with predictions concerning the future trends in education.

This view of the future of education has unfortunately led many people to confuse the basic principles of education in the future with the new technical means being developed to help achieve these goals. Actually, education in the future will probably be little different, in principle, from the education we have had in the past.

To appreciate this continuity in educational philosophy, we must distinguish between two related but nevertheless vastly different concepts which exist in the field of education. On the one hand we have the concept variously identified by the terms "techniques," "means," or "methods." This is the concept which deals with the "how" of teaching and learning. Media employed in a desire to enhance the learning and teaching processes and make them more efficient or conditioned to some extent by subject matter and are constantly changing as a result of technological and psychological progress. Goals, or basic principles, on the other hand, tend to be much more stable and enduring. For instance, many of our school systems have adopted as a basic philosophical tenet a statement which in essence expressed the belief that all children should be given the opportunity to develop intellectually to the maximum limit of their capacity. Although the statement itself may in time be modified and expanded, it is difficult to see why the basic principle it contains will not be equally as true and equally as desirable to future Americans as it is to us today.

Mr. Jerome Framptom

A great deal of nonsense has been written about the revolutionary changes in education which must take place if our nation is to survive into the future. Let us always remember that these changes will be comparatively superficial and will be confined to content, which is inextricably dependent upon technological and sociological progress, and to the media and methods employed to stimulate the learning process.

The plain fact is that the fundamental goals and principles of public education cannot be changed if we wish our democratic society to continue in existence. Those laboriously developed ideals have now become a major bulwark of that same society which gave them birth.

Education for the future will be exciting and different and we trust even more efficient and productive than our own system, but the basic goals and principles will remain unchanged.

Maryland State Board of Education

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The current publication of NEMACOLIN marks our fifty-ninth academic year. Our college was founded in 1898 and was then known as the State Normal School. It was the year of 1934 when the college became a teachers college conferring the Bachelor of Science degree in Education for elementary teachers. During the following year a junior college division was established with a two-year academic program. In 1947 the junior high school teacher preparation program was authorized. A graduate degree program in education was established in 1958.

The year 1960 adds another milestone to the development and progress of our institution. The Maryland State Board of Trustees has authorized the preparation of secondary school teachers in selected fields. This recent authorization includes the extension of the two-year academic program to four years in arts and sciences in selected fields.

Through the years our college has grown from a two-year normal school to graduate work. All these developments have made possible an education for Western Marylanders as well as for many others from our Western Shore of Maryland. Our graduates are sought by employers throughout our State. May your contributions to education and society in general reflect the objectives of your Alma Mater and constant personal growth as you gain experience as leaders in education and in the local community and world community.

The NEMACOLIN Staff and advisor, Dr. Samuel J. Underwood, are to be congratulated upon their publication of this yearbook for our student body.

Cordially yours,
R. Bowen Hardesty
President

Another evidence of progress on campus is the addition of administrative personnel to the staff to help with the many problems occasioned by mounting enrollment figures. Dr. Alice Manicur comes to us this year to assume the position of Dean of Students. The Nemaquin staff is honored to introduce this section with the two deans. Dean Ivan C. Diehl, Dean of Instruction, and Dean Manicur cooperate in planning policies and procedures for the college.

FACULTY

AND

ADMINISTRATION

With unwavering dependability and sound judgement, the faculty and administration of Frostburg State Teachers College continue to lead the students in the ever forward process of education. Our faculty and administration serve as the sturdy framework of our academic life.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once wrote: "The things taught in schools and colleges are not an education, but the means of an education." This is an eternal truth. Only by making use of the skills and abilities we acquire in college can we learn to live a full life ourselves and learn how to aid others in living such a life. With the fine example set by our faculty and administration, and their fine leadership, every student at Frostburg is capable of acquiring this "means" of an education. It is then up to the individual student what he makes of this means.

This introductory section would be incomplete without recognizing the many contributions of Dean Ivan C. Diehl. Having served the college well for thirty four years, Dean Diehl is deservedly referred to as the "master teacher" and leader of the faculty. Dean Diehl has had a large hand in shaping the nature of the academic program on campus. Nema-colin recognizes his leadership, service, and scholarship; we are also aware of the fact that future progress on campus will be built upon the base of the many contributions this outstanding man has made to education. It is with great pride that Nema-colin recognizes Dean Ivan C. Diehl for his academic leadership.

Each year vast amounts of time are required daily to carry on the work of the college. The members of the administration are always on the job, unselfishly fulfilling these requirements. Each student is treated individually from the time he matriculates until he graduates. Courses are set up to meet the needs of the students, according to the specialized training they desire. This year, as is the case every year at Frostburg State Teachers College, progress is of primary concern. This progress is exemplified in the inauguration of a liberal arts program, for which many students have expressed a desire. The Administration has made this possible through the introduction of this program along with the present curriculum of teacher education.

LIBRARY STAFF

One of the many duties of the Library Assistant, Miss Freida Tysinger, is the cataloguing of newly-arrived books and magazines.

Miss Virginia Keister, Library Assistant, and Mr. John Zimmerman, Librarian, are shown demonstrating the micro-film machine, one of the new educational devices and a welcome resource of our library.

A panoramic view of our library is shown above. The card catalogue, magazine rack, filing cabinets for resource materials are shown. Oh, yes, some students are using the library.

Mrs. John Zimmerman, Assistant Librarian, and Miss Comer, Assistant Librarian, check out books for three freshman girls: Bonnie Easterby, Dorothy Wilson, and Shielda Secrest.

MAINTENANCE STAFF

"Hi you, where Pete?" is the word for the day from "Buck" Brady, head of the glass and paint crew, as he goes about his daily work around campus. Here we found him repairing a window in Allegany Gym.

Mr. Franklin Martens, Maintenance Foreman, interviews a man for a job with the maintenance crew.

Herman Kroll, electrician, oils the cooling tank in the boiler room of Gunter Hall. He is also in charge of the Mechanical Handy Men.

Emory Lancaster works in the Maintenance Shop in the basement of Old Main.

"The maintenance staff are all the souls of patience and as such they are appreciated by the students as friends."

"Hi, Laddie," says "Scotty" Hunter to Larry Moser as the men prepare to go out on a carpentry project. "Scotty" is in charge of receiving and dispensing materials and supplies while Larry is a carpenter in charge of the general maintenance of the campus buildings.

"Out of the Night, his footsteps falling, It's twilight time" for Walter Mackay, campus patrolman, as he makes his rounds in the girl's dorm at 2:00 a.m. each morning.

"This is the campus, I work here, I'm a cop," says John "Clancey" Conrad, campus patrolman. He is F.S.T.C.'s original "John Law."

"There'll be a hot time in the old dorm tonight," after Tommy Bond finishes firing the furnace in Allegany Hall.

Books are the mirrors through which students view the history of ideas in the several fields. Modern education would be impossible without the vast number of books available to guarantee progress. Through the use of books, students at Frostburg State Teachers College eliminate prejudice and superstition and become aware of their intellectual history.

SENIORS

What is a Senior?

He is one who has burned the midnight oil in this quest for knowledge to prepare himself for professional work. He is acquainted with the large social issues of his time, and he has the necessary skills and abilities with which to deal with these problems. In short, he has progressed from general to specialized training according to his interests and abilities. He is the hope of society!

"Our parents never suspected we were so talented!" The Freshman play brought out our amazing theatrical talents.

One year we had snow.

In Doctor Ramsay's class we studied "everything from jellyfish to Uncle Frederick."

"He cut us down severely."

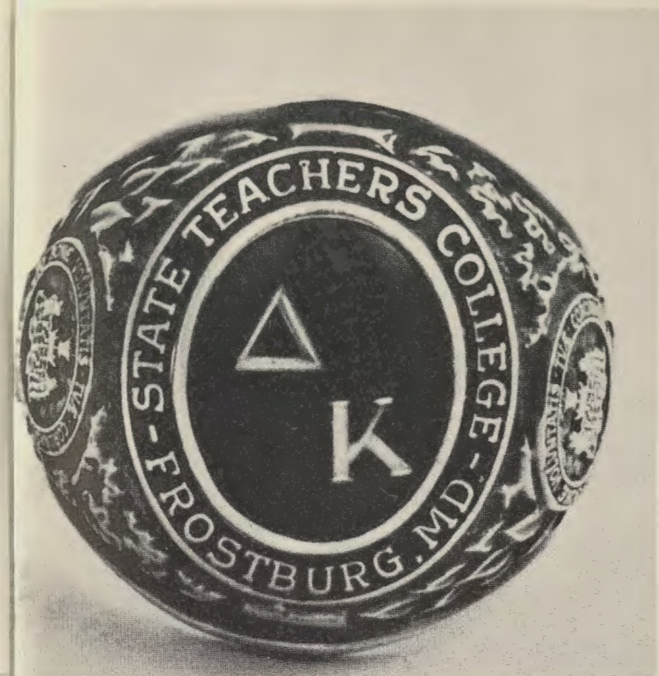

"We all loved modern dance!!! We were so graceful!"

Then we had more snow.

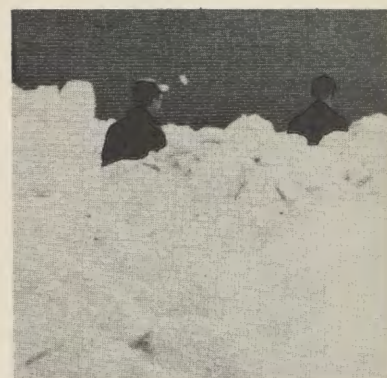

SENIOR MEMORIES

"It took the class of '61 to make the change!" We standardized the Frostburg State Teachers College ring style.

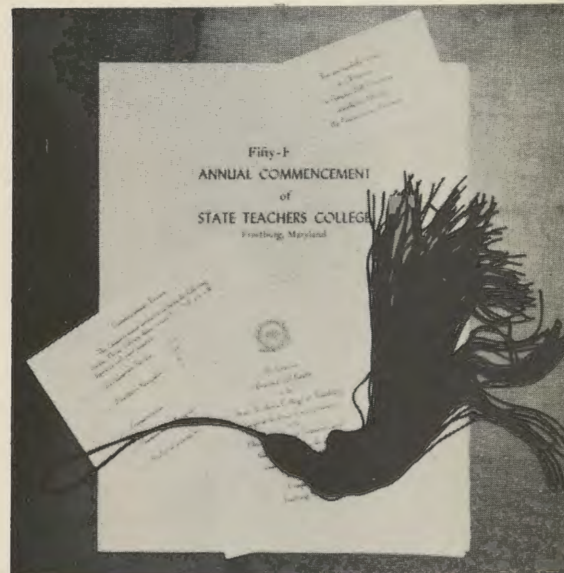

Is Camp Greentop really a wholesome situation???

Doesn't it ever stop snowing here?

Swinging our way through college with Maynard Ferguson.

"Didn't think we'd make it, did you?"

One teaching aid discussed in Mr. Stansberry's method classes is the importance of having resource persons talk to students. Miss Brady, the retired principal of the Laboratory School, is shown talking with the class about her recent trip to Hawaii.

SENIORS COMPLETE DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Senior students are busily engaged in an important art project. In Mr. Schlump's Teaching of Art in the Junior High School class, the seniors work with materials that can be used in teaching art to junior high school students.

Senior students in Mr. Kneisley's Teaching of the Social Studies in the Junior High School watch a movie entitled: "Song of the Clouds." This movie was designed to give the students ideas on how to use available resources to improve the quality of the teaching-learning experience. This class considers the "life of the mind" and "pursuit of excellence."

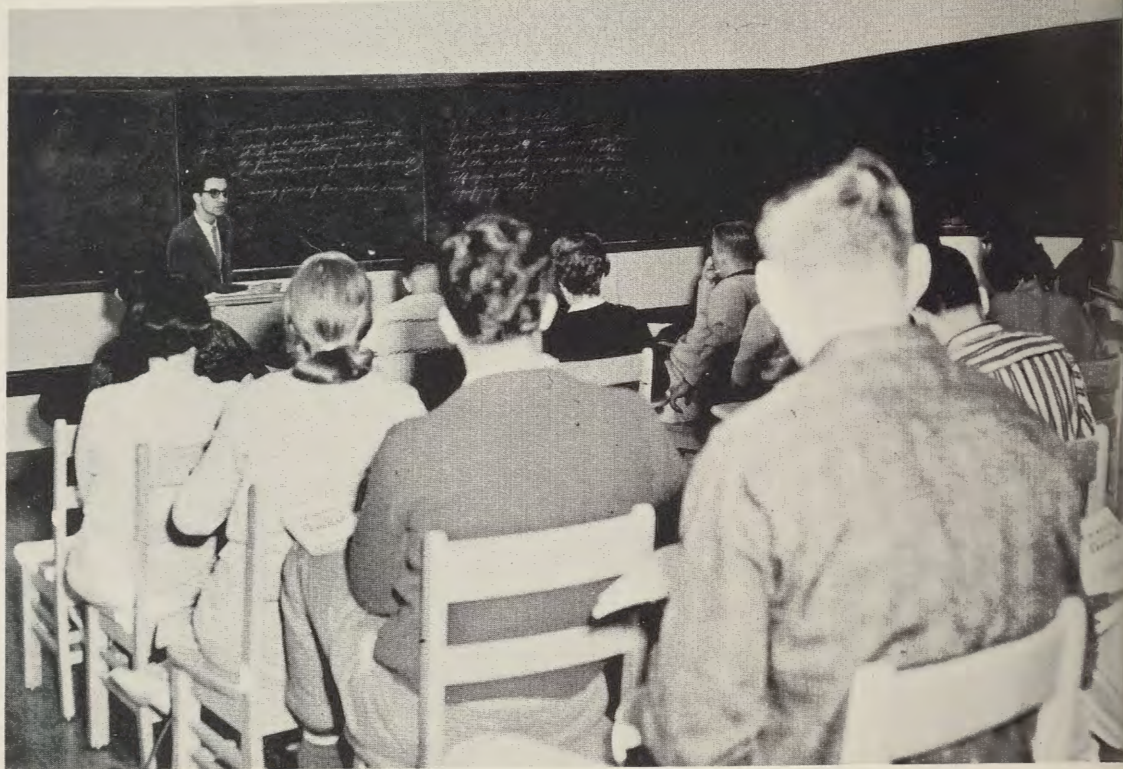

S THROUGH "REQUIRED" EDUCATION COURSES . . .

Students in Mr. Pierce's course, The Teaching of Music in the Elementary School, have as one of their projects the examination of a series of current song books suitable for grades one through six. Actual teaching experiences using many types of aids are stressed in this course.

... AND BY ELECTIVES IN THE

Identify the following quotation: "Out, out, brief candle!" Mr. Holland is explaining to his Modern Novel class that the book The Sound and the Fury gets its theme from this Shakespearean quotation. This is only one of the many books the class reads as they study important literary developments and changes in contemporary world literature.

The NEMACOLIN photographer caught Miss Hilliard's Teaching Physical Education class as they were playing a game that would be appropriate for students in the elementary school. Various singing games, rhythmical activities, circle games, stunts, and organized team games are analyzed, taught, and evaluated by the students.

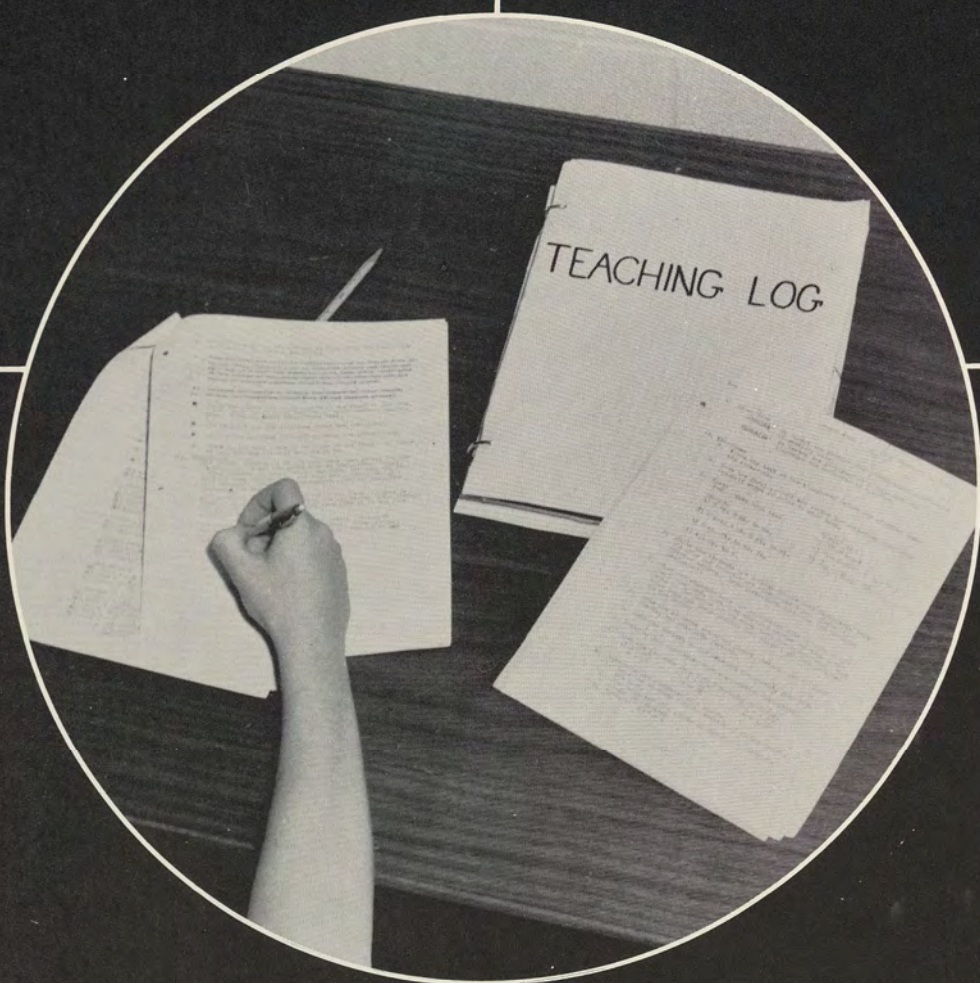

FIELD OF THEIR CHOICE.

Miss Doerr's Far East in Modern Times class is pictured as they discuss problems they are having in studying for their final exam. The chief topics covered in this course are those that are of greatest importance in the development of the Far East.

Sandy Cadarette, John Clark, and Barbara Carbaugh are pictured as they were preparing to act for their final exam in Miss White's Acting class. Drills for developing muscular control, for overcoming inhibitions, and for rendering the body expressive of thought and emotion are learned in this course.

A typical example of the junior year at Frostburg State Teachers College is illustrated by this photograph of a student teaching log. Teacher Education students gain their first actual teaching experience when they "go out in the field" during the second semester of their junior year. At this time students use the skills and abilities they have learned during the previous two and a half semesters.

While the typical activity of the junior class is practice teaching, they continue their academic work. One of the valuable experiences of practice teaching is the weekly seminar which is designed to discuss classroom problems which have arisen during the period of practice teaching.

JUNIORS

The Juniors at Frostburg State Teachers College begin to concentrate in their major fields of interest. They build upon their general education courses which were completed the first two years on campus and prepare to enter one of the professions. The majority of the Juniors choose teaching for their life's work; but under the leadership of the Administration of the college and the State Board of Education, a program of majors and minors has been approved. This decision will make it possible for students to specialize in approved areas.

The Junior Class plans the Junior-Senior Prom and offers vital leadership in other areas. Membership in the many social and service clubs on campus offers further opportunity for the college Junior to perfect qualities of leadership which will take on added significance during the Senior year—and throughout life.

JUNIOR

A teacher's job takes on a new light from the Student-Teacher's position!

We Juniors had an active year. Delving into lesson planning was no easy job, but presenting our lesson plans to our Method's class was as much fun as it was helpful! Education courses were on every schedule and student-teaching assignments were received with excitement!

Has anyone seen Harold Vance? Harold was a big help to the class as he budgeted his time between taking orders for the class rings and helping juniors decide what color stone to order!

Our prom committee was kept on its toes as they contacted the many 'name' bands throughout the country. They came up with a real winner as Larry Elgart's band was selected to entertain the seniors at the annual Junior-Senior prom.

CLASS

Also, from our enthusiastic class came the choice of an Apple Blossom Princess to represent State at the Apple Blossom Festival.

Truly it was an active year! A year filled with lesson plans, committees, and the many exciting experiences found in student-teaching! Yet, we, as a class, feel we could not have accomplished as much as we did without the help of our class advisor!

MISS IRENE L. KIRKEBY
Class Advisor, 1962

An event anticipated with gusto! At last we have our class rings!

THE JUNIORS STRIVE TO COMPLETE

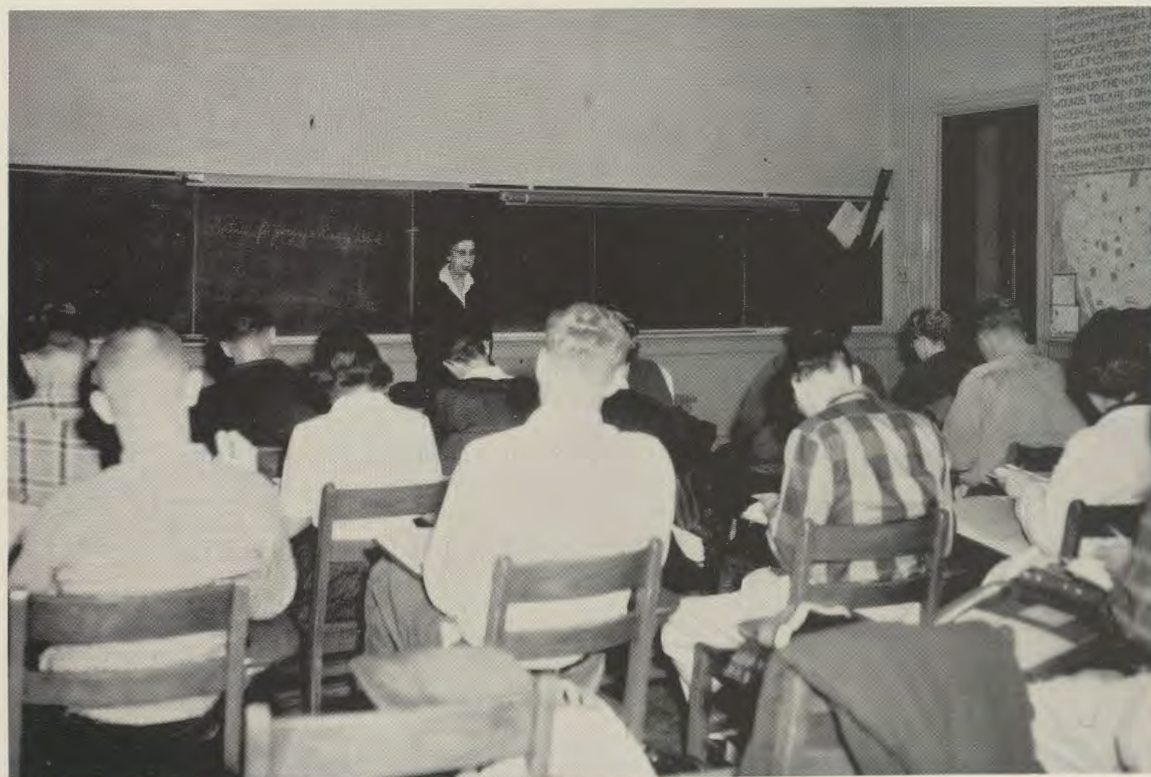

One of the assignments in Dr. Howard's Literature for Youth class is to write an original story and illustrate it in a book for children. Carolina Agnolutto is shown explaining her "Work of art" to her fellow classmates.

Calculus students check their work, as Mr. Rissler works a problem to find the derivative of a trigonometric function. In this advanced mathematics course, emphasis is placed on understanding and the ability to apply the principles covered during the course.

THEIR THIRD YEAR AT "STATE"

The ability to speak, write, spell, and read more fluently is emphasized in Dr. Clay's course in the Language Arts. All juniors in the field of secondary education must complete this course before entering the teaching profession. The proper usage of all phases of the English language is stressed throughout the semester.

"Books, books, books!" These words can be heard coming from all sophomore students during their second year at Frostburg State Teachers College. The books shown in this picture are just a few representative texts and reference materials which must be read and reread in order to complete successfully this traditionally "hardest year" in college.

SOPHOMORES

Sophisma, the Greek stem from which the word sophomore is derived, means clever or wise. No Sophomore would deny the validity of this nomenclature, for the Sophomores have completed their orientation to college life during the freshman year. No longer susceptible to triad reports (issued as the result of unsatisfactory work each six week period throughout the freshman year), the typical Sophomore has learned how to study and how to take advantage of the opportunities of a college education.

The Sophomores take many survey courses which are designed to give a broad knowledge of the fields in question. These second year students develop interests in many branches of learning as a result of the survey courses, and they continue to add to the fund of knowledge which was acquired during their first academic year.

Traditionally, the Sophomore Class organizes Freshman Hazing Week. The week on our campus is designed to help freshmen to get acquainted with upperclassmen, to introduce freshmen to the customs and traditions of our college, and to ease the pangs of homesickness for some students who are "on their own" for the very first time in their lives.

Nemacolin salutes the Sophomores for the constructive way they handle this year of research papers, parallel readings, required courses, and laboratory work.

OFFICERS

ADVISOR

Dr. William C. Van Newkirk is the advisor of the Sophomore Class.

STUDENT CONGRESS REPRESENTATIVES

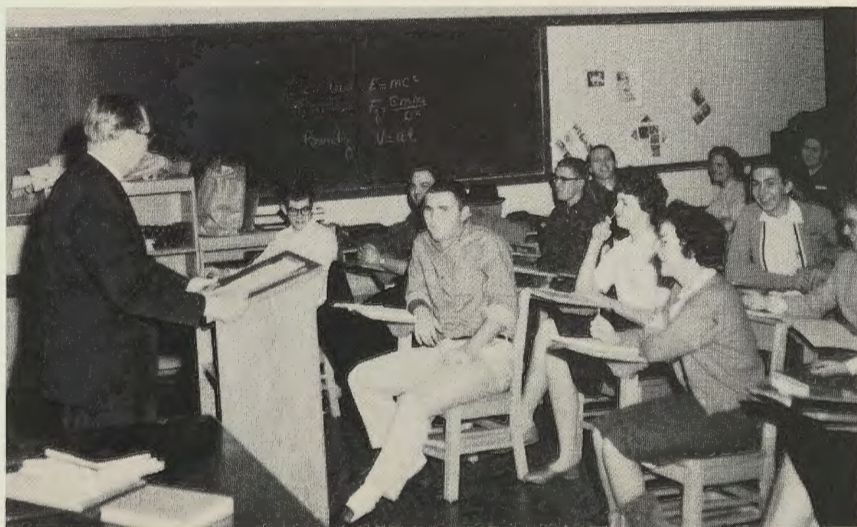

Student Congress Representatives are: Carol Miller, and Mary Alexander.

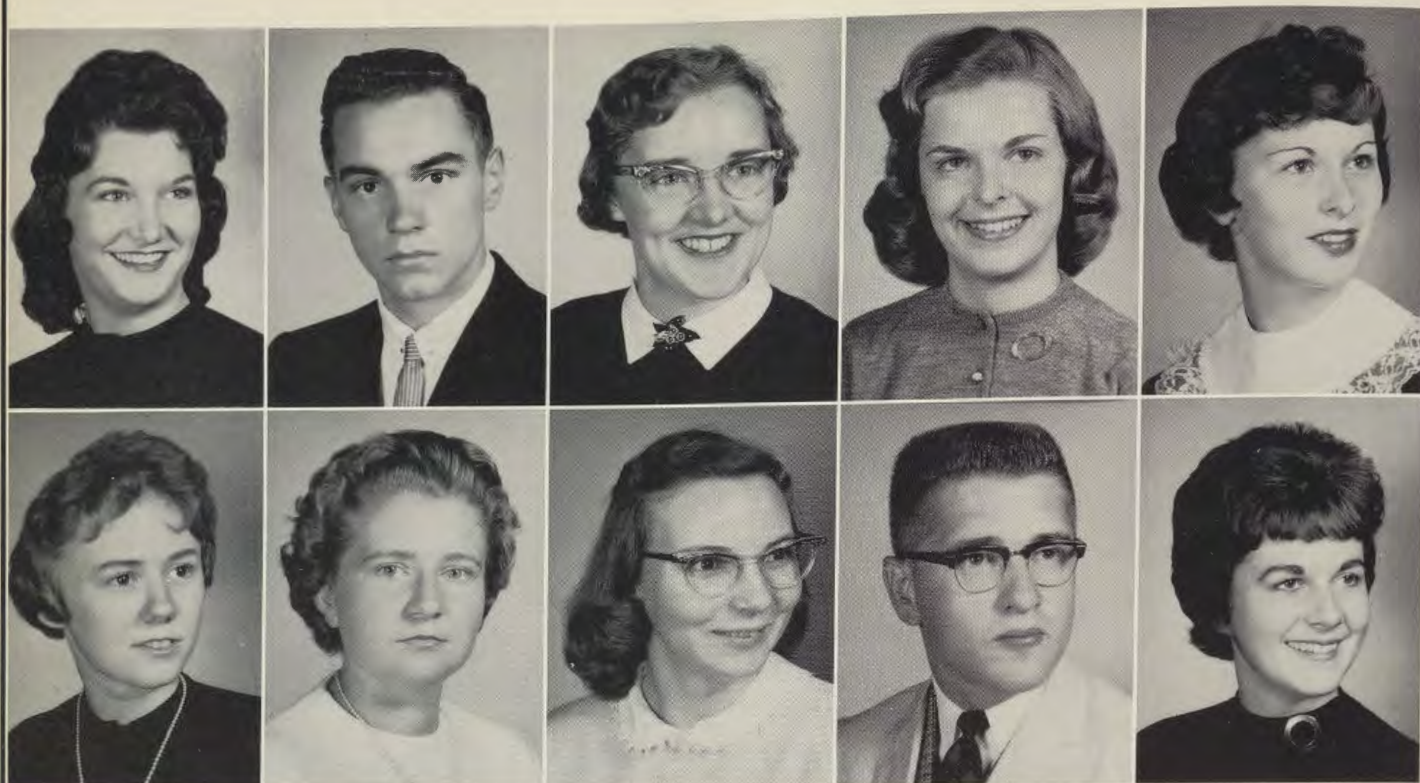

Each Sophomore student has the pleasure of hazing the Freshmen during the first part of the school year.

The Central Dance Committee plans all the dances sponsored by the Sophomore Class during the year. Members of this Committee are: Sherry Phillips, Olwen Sargeant, Terry Phillips, Evelyn Walker, Margaret Strong, Jane Schwanebeck, and Lenora Gateau.

SOPHOMORES WIND UP GENERAL EDUCATION FOR WORK IN

In studying psychology under Mr. John Allison, the class finds emphasis placed on problems of learning and thinking and the effects upon them of motivation, attention, sensation, perception, and emotion. Also considered during the course of the semester are problems of adjustment, intelligence, and measurement.

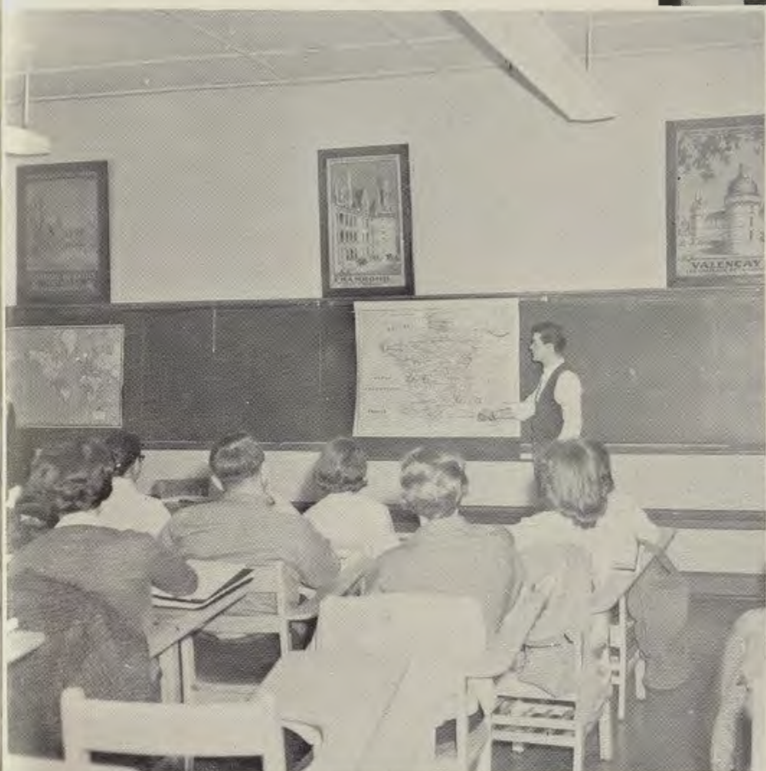

Some of the many activities of Dr. Mills' National Government of the U. S. class are panel discussions on the basic principles, structure, and functions of the National Government of the United States.

In Mr. Turner's Physical Science class, the students are given a broad view of the various fields of the physical sciences. One of the many topics studied are those dealing with relative motion. In the picture to the right Mr. Turner is explaining the formula $S = \frac{1}{2}at^2$ to the class.

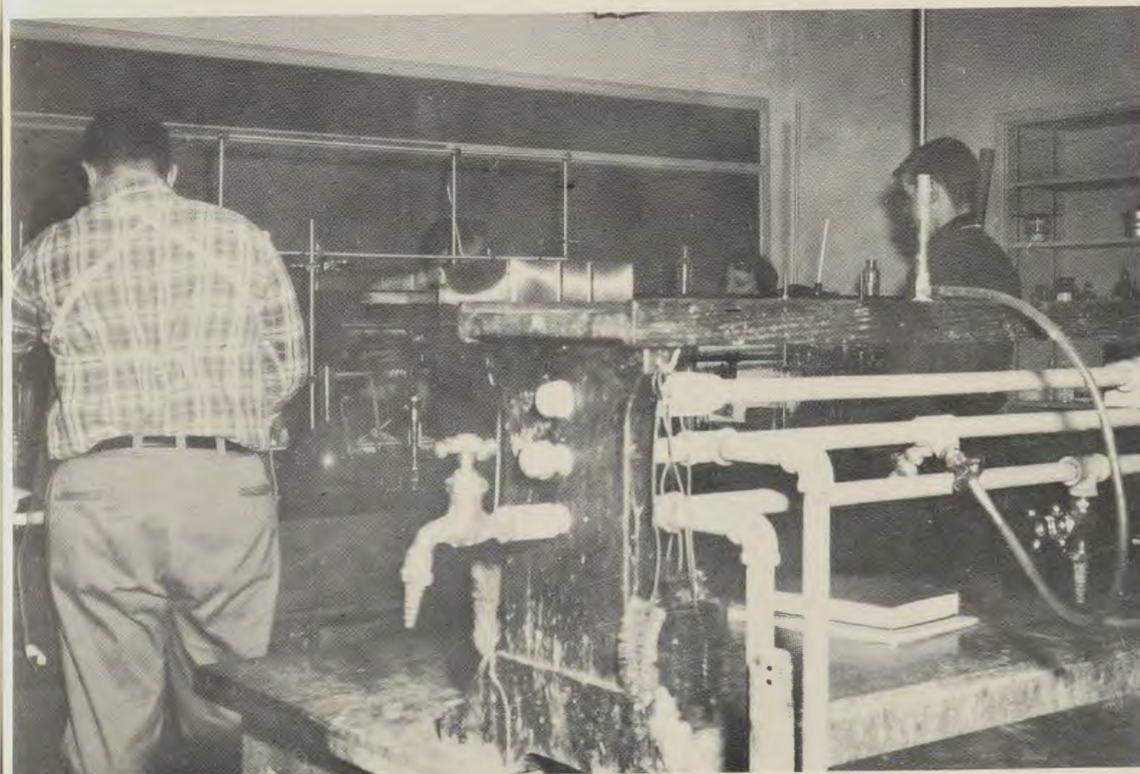

THEIR LAST YEAR OF COURSES AND PREPARE SPECIALIZED AREAS

Don Wittig shows Miss Kirkeby's French Class the location of one of the many positions they study. This advanced class is conducted in French, offering students practical experience in the use of the language.

Our photographer took the picture of Dr. Underwood's English 202 B. On this particular day the students were taking a unit test on the Victorian Period. Other activities of the class have included lecture demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce on Romantic music, and an illustrated lecture of the romantic element in art by Mr. John Schlump, Chairman of the Art Department.

George Strachan works to complete an experiment in Miss Griewahn's Organic Chemistry class.

The class work shown at the left is representative of the courses dealing with organic chemistry. Students who are specializing in biology, medicine, pharmacy, and agriculture, or industry regularly take this course.

The Beanie, a small brimless hat, is a universal symbol for college freshmen. One may see hundreds of these caps during the first few weeks of school. What might be considered the "great leveler," at least by the sophomores, is usually the pride of all freshmen who wear them.

FRESHMEN

The greatest thrill of college entrance is the friendly letter of acceptance from the Director of Admissions, Miss Elizabeth Hitchins. Students who receive these prized letters begin to make preparations for the big day of matriculation. Having successfully completed his high school studies, the student who enters college in the fall brings various attitudes concerning the nature of college with him.

Orientation week is designed to acquaint the freshmen with college life and to help him make wise choices about his future on the basis of standardized tests and teacher evaluations. Orientation is continued during the first semester, and freshmen may discuss academic problems with an experienced counselor who stands ready to give assistance whenever needed.

Nemacolin lauds this year's freshman class for its series of ambitious cultural programs to which the entire student body is invited. We say ambitious, for it is unique to see 430 freshmen cooperating in this wholesome manner. Parent's Day, a traditional visitation day for parents, was well done this year! Your sponsoring the movie "A Rebel Without A Cause" and your invitation to Dean Diehl to present his outstanding travelogue impresses us favorably. An outstanding musical program, presented by Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce and Mr. Rodney Pierce, climaxed a thrilling year for you and for the student body.

FRESHMEN FIND

One of the welcomed changes on campus which we Freshmen really enjoy was the "big move" to our brand new Student Union Building and Dining Hall, Gunter Hall. Among the many improvements to our campus life is the new Varsity Shop which replaces an Army Surplus Barracks used for this purpose last year. Students are shown at the left as they stop for the "pause that refreshes" after one of the many classes of a typical college day.

After touring the campus on Parent's Day, the parents assembled for tea in the foyer of Gunter Hall. This welcomed building contains a lovely dining hall which is the pride of the student body. It is located on the second floor where one sees students regularly enjoying meals as well as many social functions.

Another of the outstanding cultural programs sponsored by the class was the Travelogue by Dean Ivan C. Diehl. He thrilled our guests with a travelogue which he made of the West. The quality of the photography was professional, and the script was scholarly done. After the program, the Freshman Class entertained Dean Diehl at a reception which was held in the large music room of Compton. Dean Diehl is shown here exchanging pleasantries with Miss Esther Harris, as Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. Peterson look on in obvious pleasure.

EDUCATION . . .

One enjoyable cultural program sponsored by the Freshman Class during the second semester was a vocal recital by Mrs. Sara Pierce. She was assisted by Mr. Rodney Pierce, principal oboist with the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra, and accompanied by his brother, Mr. James Pierce, pianist of the faculty. The recital included works by: Bach, Brahms, Purcell, Piston, Schubert, and Telemenn. Mrs. Pierce is pictured to the right.

They just can't say "No" in the talent show, especially not in the Hill Billy Wedding. Of course, the bride's father made sure of that with his trusted shooting iron. At the left, the climax of the wedding is shown.

"Alfred, you are mad!" Mad served as the theme of our Talent-Comedy Show which was presented in Compton Auditorium. Miss Dorothy Stone White, professor of dramatics, helped with the production. Alfred E. Newman acted as the master of ceremonies, and he introduced the different acts of the show. A typical scene of the show is shown at the right.

... IN CLASSROOMS AND IN

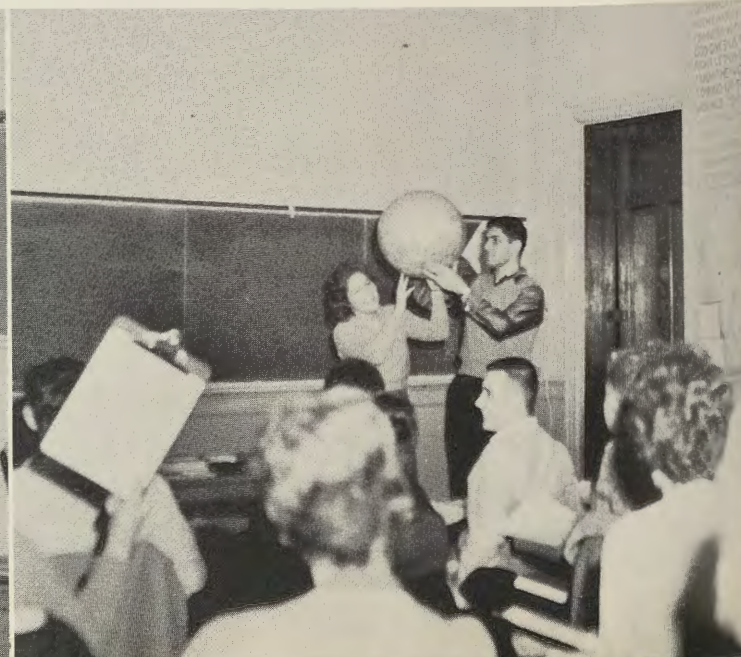

"Those poor worms!" Dr. Snyder's biology class is at it again. A two hour biology laboratory gave us the chance to work with "fresh" materials and the microscope.

"Why don't you just sleep in the library during examination week? You may get a much-needed book between naps." This is how many freshmen felt when they got their first taste of college administered examinations.

Ambitious history students talk with Dr. Ramsey after class about outside readings and culture charts. "Oh, yes, don't forget about your time line." One student said that his time line was long enough to go around his room twice with some room to spare.

Geography students attempt to decipher maps and charts. The contour maps were especially interesting. They were, however, slightly confusing with so many lines. During the year we also saw slides picturing the different land forms of the country.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

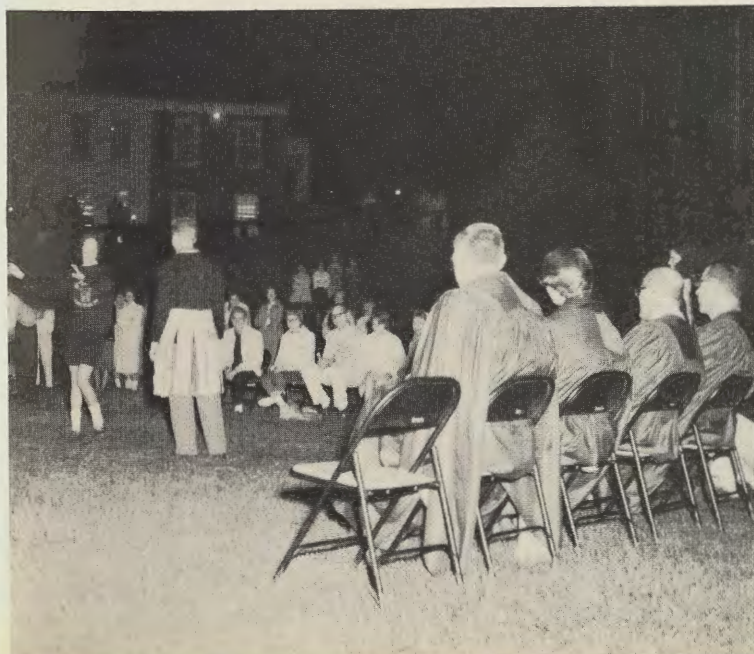

The Madrigal Singers presented a series of numbers during the Welcoming Program on Parent's Day. Composed of nearly 20 members, this musical group entertains special campus guests and community groups. Professor Charles I. Sager is director of this group.

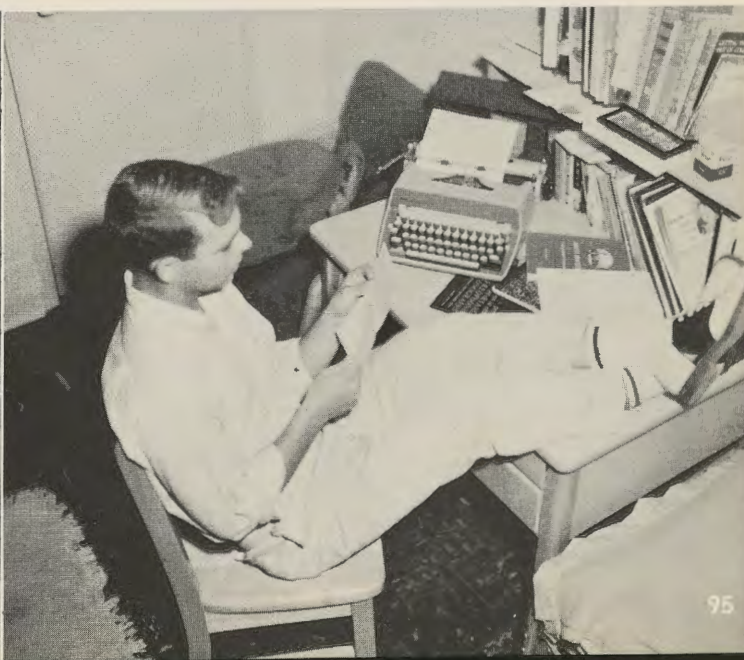

During Parent's Day the parents met the faculty at an informal tea held in their honor in the foyer of Gunter Hall. This tea provided the opportunity for parents to meet and chat informally with the faculty and the administration.

Freshman Week is climaxed by Kangaroo Court. Pictured below are the faculty judges for this year's event; a guest from Hawaii does the Hula as punishment for "misbehavior" and as a salute to the sophomores.

"I wonder if he actually read all of those books before the final exams?"
"He couldn't have done it unless he started in September!"

DR. SAM J. UNDERWOOD
Advisor, Freshman Class

Freshman Student Leaders are President, Bill Buttrill; Vice President, Bob Kaumoff; Secretary, Kathy Froehlich; Treasurer, Bill Ogle; Student Congress Representatives, Mike Todd and Pat Lavelle.

Symbolizing the varied opportunities on campus, the open door is seen hundreds of times a day. Students enter classrooms, offices, and other passageways daily to participate in all kinds of activities. On our campus students may enter the door of social and service clubs where significant extra-curricular activities enrich classroom instruction.

FEATURES

To feature means to display something. The staff takes great pride in picturing the many campus organizations contained in the following section. Oftentimes, the feature section is considered a "society" section; but our staff feels that both the social and academic aspects of our college should be featured. Life is seldom, if ever, compartmentalized; and the feature staff hoped to portray campus life as it really is.

While some campus organizations are of necessity more active than others, all the clubs contribute their share to the development of the "whole" personality of the students who participate in them. Students have individual tastes which may be met by participating in one or more campus groups.

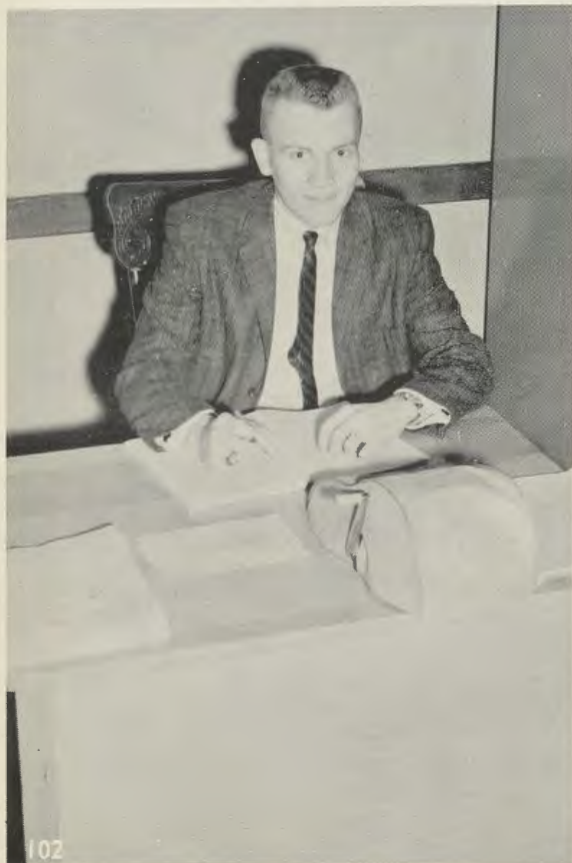

Perhaps the most important function of the features on our campus is the fact that through extra-curricular activities students may put into practice the theories and principles of social development they have learned in the classroom. This function of our activities is significant because many of our graduates will direct similar activities during their professional lives. Furthermore, one may learn by doing in real situations!

The size of the yearbook this year is standard college size for the first time. Heretofore, the size of our book has been the size of many high school yearbooks. The feature staff is able to portray many more academic activities because of the large size of the pages this year.

STUDENT

Marvin Vann, junior, served as president of the Student Congress this year. Every spare minute of his time, Marvin was seated at this desk in the Student Congress room working on the business of Student Congress.

Louise Downton, Kathy Cadle, and Rosita Lazaro, members of the Student Congress Election Committee are busy counting ballots for an All-College Election. Absent from the picture are Janice Pritchett and Adolph Doerk.

CONGRESS

Our Governing Body Is Active Student Group

This year, Student Congress activities have been quite varied. They began the year's activities by sponsoring the Homecoming "Holidays U.S.A.," and the group sponsored the Woody Herman band for a concert and dance.

Campus Thanksgiving festivities were coordinated by Gerry Llewellyn.

Student Congress sponsored the decorating of our campus during the Christmas Season. The campus was gaily decorated under the direction of Larry Hopcraft.

Among the student committees of Student Congress are such active groups as: election procedures, club evaluation, and various studies to try to find better ways of doing the work of the student body.

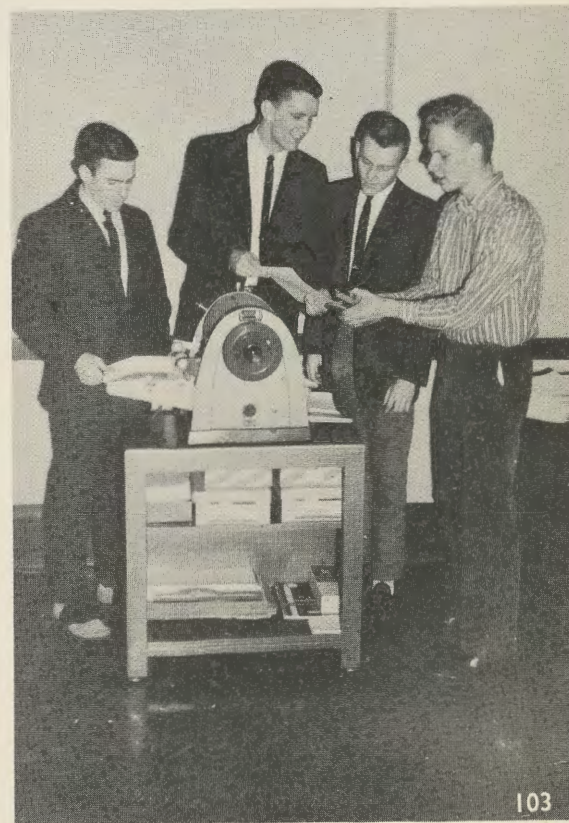

The Student Congress named thirteen people to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities last fall.

One of the most helpful activities was the planning of a leadership conference for all newly elected student congress members.

The officers of Student Congress are: Marvin Vann, President; Don Turley; First Vice President; Judy Ritchey, Second Vice President; Lois Sweitzer, Secretary; and Gene Kidwell, Treasurer. The work of Student Congress is under the direction of Mr. John Allison and Dr. Alice Manicur.

The committees of the Warfield Report, Mike Todd, Eugene Kidwell, Marvin Vann, and Larry McLean, prepare the student poll form on the subject of the Warfield and Kuhn reports.

HOUSE

THE HOUSE COUNCILS GOVERN RESIDENTS

The House Councils govern the students living in the dormitories. Regular house council meetings are held and special parties preceeding vacations are given for and by the residents of each house.

The Council's purpose is to promote harmonious living within the resident halls. The Councils have the power, under Mr. John Allison and Dean Manicur, to make and enforce rules to this end.

Doolan, Bill Bartlett, and Mrs. Carter, house mother.

The Intra-Resident Hall Council, a central organization composed of representatives from all the councils, meets regularly to consider problems relevant to all dormitory students. There are nine members on this council this year; and Miss Cleopatra Campbell, Social Director, is the director.

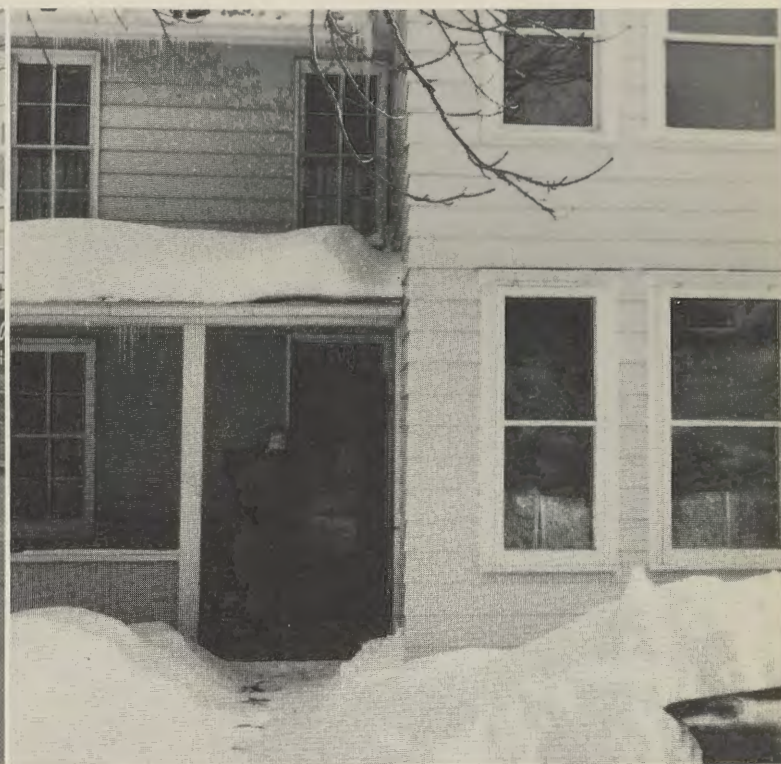

The annual Christmas Dance is sponsored by the Intra-Resident Hall Council; and, at present, the Council is working on a handbook for all residents on campus.

DAY STUDENT ASSOCIATION

BOARDING STUDENTS

Each day some of Frostburg's boarding students walk "uptown" along the city's Main Street on their way to classes at State.

A State girl enters the door of one of the many Frostburg homes which has been opened to college students due to a lack of dormitory space on campus.

"Not even four feet of drifts will keep us from coming home to Hafer House each afternoon," remarks this group of boarding students from "uptown" as they enter their dormitory.

STUDENT EDUCA

Martha DeBerry, President, and Patsy Tewalt are shown serving punch to the students at registration. Dr. Mills, of the social sciences department, also seems to enjoy the refreshments offered by the members of S.E.A.

Our Student Education Association provides opportunities for college students to increase their understanding of professional ethics, to share teaching philosophies, and to take advantage of professional literature, movies and other teaching aids. All teacher education students are considered members of this organization.

The group sponsored a display for Organizations Night, a float for the Homecoming Parade, and tea during registration.

Delegates were sent to a Fresh Air Camp in Bel Air, Maryland, for a leadership conference. It was attended by 15 colleges and several high schools.

The fall convention was held in Baltimore at Morgan State College. The first week end in May the members of S.E.A. attended their Spring Convention. Larry McLean, president of M.A.F.T.A., presided over the meeting in the fall.

The organization held their traditional Christmas party in the Thomas G. Pullen School. The group presented skits and sang Christmas carols. The highlight of the evening was Santa's appearance with small presents for the children.

Happy Hills was the site of the annual banquet at which time Mr. H. Orville Berwick, State Coordinator, spoke to the organization.

The officers of S.E.A. are: Martha DeBerry, President; Gene Lum, Vice President; Mary Alice Troth, Secretary; Beatrice Boer, Treasurer; Dot Strawsburg, Historian; and Pat Tewalt, Area Council Representative.

Our artist furnished us with a drawing of the professional journal which gives us ideas and information about our profession.

The Executive Committee of S.E.A. is pictured above. The committee includes: (standing left to right): M. A. Troth, secretary; B. Baer, treasurer; L. Hopcraft, member-at-large; P. Tewalt, area councilman; C. Rowan, member-at-large; and K. Roach, member-at-large; (seated) G. Lum, vice president; M. DeBerry, President; and Dr. Snyder, one of the faculty advisors.

Mr. James Hosack is pictured during a lecture in his principles of education class. The work of the club is directly related to classroom activities, and the club strives to broaden the classroom experience through many activities.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Members of the Student Christian Association listen attentively as one of their guest speakers stands before them at one of this year's meetings.

The Student Christian Association is inter-denominational and is open to all students on campus. Morning Chapel services are held Monday through Friday. Vespers with guest speakers take place every Tuesday evening. UNICEF, clothing, and food drives are held during Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Easter assembly and Religious Emphasis Week are headed and conducted by this organization. The co-advisors are Miss Pauline Hobbs and Dr. Virginia Mills. The officers are: Florence Beitzel and Eugene Lum, Co-Presidents; Patsy Tewalt, Vice President; Carol Zimmerman, Secretary; Janice Glime, Treasurer; and Martha DeBerry, Historian.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

At an executive meeting, President Jim Smith discusses the program for the next week with officers Janice Pritchett, Sharon Talifero, Laurel Bachetti, and Linda Edwards.

Excited Baptist students prepare to leave for a convention in Annapolis last fall.

A song fest, a coke time, a group devotional, a thought-provoking discussion, a car caravan filled with happy "conventioners," a prayer partner, a shared testimony, a picnic on a mountain top, a mountain top experience—this is Baptist Student Union. The group of B.S.U.'ers here on campus represent a small segment of a nationwide movement: to make the message of Jesus Christ real to collegians throughout the United States.

Three state-wide meetings are held each year, and they are attended by this campus group; these meetings are: the pre-school Retreat in Baltimore in August, the State Convention, held this year in Annapolis as guests of the Naval Academy B.S.U., and the Spring Retreat held in Carroll County at which time the State officers are elected. On the campus level the activities are many. From group singing, visiting, picnicking, church attendance to discussing, all are aimed at providing a link between the college life and the church life.

Laurel Bachetti leads State Baptist students in a program held at the Welsh Baptist Church in Frostburg.

CANTERBURY

Donna Berry, Mimi Pierce, Wilma Starley, Frieda Cooley, and Carolyn Brooks plan for the annual spring convention at the Episcopal Diocesan Center at Claggett.

The Canterbury Club is a local chapter of the National Canterbury Association of the Episcopal Church. Members attend a dinner and a communion service twice a month at St. John's Episcopal Church. This year several members of the group formed a choir that sang at the 10:30 service at the church. Another project was the presentation of a movie, "The Seventh Seal," during Lent for the entire student body. The advisor is Miss Dorothy Stone White. The officers include: Wilma Stanley, President; Alan Hugglestone, Vice President; Janice Krach, Secretary; and Jeanne Dussault, Treasurer.

Mr. James Daly, advisor of the Newman Club, is shown above with the officers of the group making plans for the year's activities.

The Newman Club is a Roman Catholic Organization of Catholic culture and fellowship whose purposes are to foster the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of the Roman Catholic students on the Frostburg campus. Among the activities planned to achieve these purposes is the Rosary Monday through Thursday in Old Main. Attendance at several communion breakfasts also aids the Roman Catholic student to achieve the purposes of the Newman Club. A talk by Mr. John Allison early this year gave the members an interesting view of the religious aspects of Rome, the Eternal City.

Officers for the school year (1960-61) include: Mike Sheerer, President; Margaret Strong, Vice President; Sally Sullivan, Recording Secretary; Joan Gisreal, Corresponding Secretary; and Pat King, Treasurer. Mr. James Daly is the faculty advisor of the Newman Club.

WESLEY CLUB

The Wesley Club is affiliated with the M.S.M., the Methodist Student Movement. Programs for the club are built around a Methodist Student Magazine, Motive.

Guest speakers spoke on various Christian topics throughout the year. Jazz and the church, other religions, missionary work, minority groups, and beliefs of a Methodist were the main discussion topics for the year. Slides of a trip to the Holy Land were presented by the group.

Faculty advisor of the Methodist Organization is Mr. Thomas Hutcheson. Officers for the year are: Jane Wright, President; Jane McCall, Vice President; Lynn McSpadden, Recording Secretary, and Pat Wenner, Treasurer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Above, members of I.R.C. are excitedly discussing plans for their trip to the Model United Nations Meeting at Montreal this winter.

Several members of State's International Relations Club discuss the minutes of a previous meeting.

The United Nation's flag affords an appropriate backdrop for members of the I.R.C. and their advisors, Dr. Hazel Ramsay and Dr. Howard Briggs, Chairman of the Department of Social Sciences.

Attending the model United Nations meeting at Montreal, the Regional A I.R.C. Convention in New York, and the National A I.R.C. convention in Baltimore are among the experiences offered the Frostburg student interested in foreign affairs. Regularly scheduled panel discussions and a banquet with a guest speaker provide added opportunities for Frostburg students to become better acquainted with contemporary international relations.

Dr. Hazel Ramsay and Dr. Howard Briggs are this year's faculty advisors. Officers for the school year include: Donald Unger, President; Galen Clagget, Vice President; Sharon Shelley, Secretary; Carol Hooper, Treasurer; Carolyn Baucom, Reporter; and Member at Large, Carolina Agnolutto and Maria Amerein.

LITERARY CIRCLE

The Literary Circle was formed for students who wish to realize a more full and creative life through literary interests. As members of the Circle, students seek to understand their neighbors and to promote friendship and understanding of literature.

Activities include trips during the year to the Mountain Playhouse, Jennerstown, Pennsylvania; discussion and review of books; and the playing of records of literary repute.

Officers for the year include: Don Unger, President; Lee Drost, Vice President; Martha DeBerry, Treasurer; Mary Louise Teets, Secretary; Dorothy Schlect, Librarian; Dorothy Strine, Reporter; Miss Pauline Hobbs, Advisor.

Members of the Literary Circle get together for the reading of poems by Robert Frost.

Don Unger, President of the Circle, reads from Shakespeare's works.

ART CLUB

Above, Lynn Tracy, President of the Art Club, calls a meeting of this club to order.

No, it's not Venus de Milo, but Sue Wilson, complete with arms, modeling in the background for Art Club members to sketch.

The photographer caught these members busily engaged in their individual projects at a recent work session.

Art Students Continue Activities in Club

The Art Club has a steadily increasing popularity on campus. It is open to all students having an interest in art. Members of the club work together in the media with which they are most familiar. Some of the materials used are: charcoal, tempera, water colors, oils, wood and metals. The club includes among its activities: visits to art galleries, annual banquets, and the making of posters and place cards for college functions. The club has exhibits in the Art Gallery on the third floor of Old Main, and it enters a float in the Homecoming Parade.

Officers of the club are: Lynn Tracy, President; Carolyn Brooks, Vice President; Suzanne Clover, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. John Schlump, Chairman of the Art Department, is faculty advisor for the club.

DO-CI-DO

Above, Mary June Wolfe leads a discussion of future plans for the Do-Ci-Do Club.

Two students are pictured demonstrating some square dancing techniques to several interested members of the club.

"Do-Ci-Do to your corner," can be heard on our campus whenever the Do-Ci-Do Club is in action. The purpose of the club is to acquaint the members with folk dancing, both square and round. The club sponsors folk, square and round dances throughout the year for all students. It also sponsors hay rides, sledding, and skating parties.

Officers of the club are: Harriet Ripperger, President; Maurice Wiles, Vice President; Mary June Wolfe, Secretary; Robert Wiles, Treasurer; Ann Schwanebeck, Social Director; and Miss Dorothy Hilliard, Faculty Advisor.

OUTDOOR CLUB

The photographer found these members of the Outdoor Club looking over recent additions to the club's newly-formed collection of slides.

"Nature lovers" are contented here at State by the meetings of the Outdoor Club. Slides, hikes, and lectures were used in this year's program to promote greater interest, appreciation, and knowledge of out door education. Various members of the club relate their experiences in many areas of nature study. This year's activities included: hikes, and over-night camping trips to Great Falls, New Germany, Swallow Falls, and John's Rock.

Co-advisors of the club are Dr. Franklin C. Lane and Dr. W. Waldon Skinner. Officers of the club are: Ora Kile, President; Jacqueline Calhoun, Vice President; Janice Glime, Secretary; Rebecca Naill, Treasurer; and Helen Cummings, Historian.

Labeling the trees on campus is one of the services of the Outdoor Club.

Members of the Rod and Gun Club and their advisor, Mr. Charles Stansberry, look on with interest as Ted Hebb explains the intricate working of a rifle.

ORGANIZATIONS

The club provided half-time entertainment by presenting an old fashioned basketball game.

For those students in good health, and physical education, recreation, the Physical Education Club offers excellent opportunities for growth.

The Club has sponsored the fun-filled co-ed sports days and the Olympics, which are open to all interested men and women on campus. After the first basketball game, the faculty was entertained at a tea by the club.

In the early spring delegates enjoyed a convention in Atlantic City.

The officers of the club are: Paul Flynn, President; Mary June Wolfe, Secretary; Bill Bruckey, Treasurer; and George Kuhn, Program Chairman.

The advisor is Dr. Harold Cordts, Chairman of the Department of Physical Education.

The Olympics was one of the most successful projects of the year. Club members are shown here with the trophies which were presented to winners.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

W.R.A. Is Active in Sports Field

The Woman's Recreation Association has as its purpose the creating and maintaining of interest in those sports which are necessary for the welfare of its members. Intramural sports such as: bowling, badminton, volleyball, basketball, and swimming are among the activities of the W.R.A. This fall members participated in a Hockey Play Day at Fairmont and a Play Day at the University of Maryland.

The State Conference to take place in late April is one of the most important events being planned this year, and it will be centrally located at a camp site near Baltimore. Six member colleges will participate in the conference.

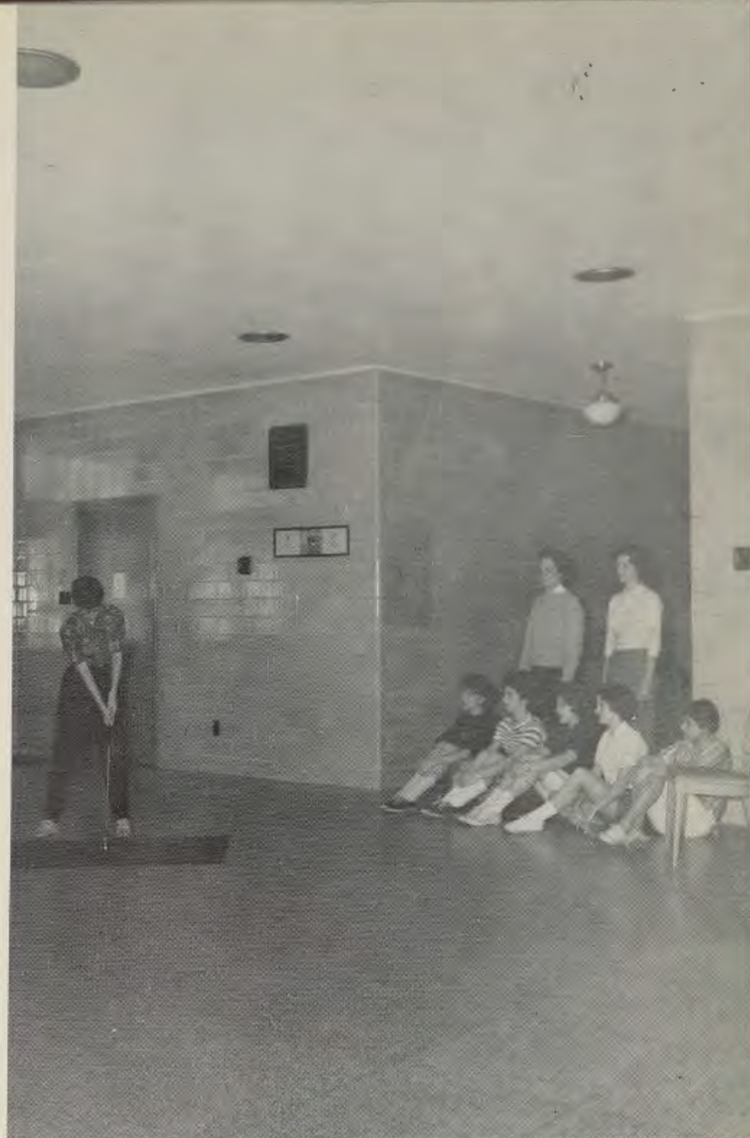

The officers for this year are: Jean Ward and Mary Hawkecker, Co-Presidents; Deanna Knepper, Vice President; Kay Branch, Corresponding Secretary; Edna Mae Leppo, Recording Secretary; Barbara Tompkins, Treasurer; Miss Hilliard, Advisor.

The Executive Board included the elected officers. Joan Ward and Mary Hawkecker, Co-Presidents; Deanna Knepper, Vice President; Kay Branch, Corresponding Secretary; Barbara Tompkins, Treasurer. Absent from the picture was Edna Mae Leppo who serves as secretary.

Enjoying refreshments after a business meeting are the W.R.A. girls. Jackie Fullerton and Sharon Heubeck were responsible for planning this affair.

The club has purchased new golf equipment, and many girls have shown interest in learning how to play. In the future the club hopes to compete with other college teams.

Members of the W.R.A. honored the Soccer team at a dinner. Barbara Carbaugh acted as mistress of ceremonies, and she was assisted by eight girls who helped to serve the team.

Seated at the head table were members of the faculty, including coaches Van Ryswyk, Cordts, Dr. Hardesty, Dean Manicur, Miss Hilliard, Miss Thomas, Miss Cleveland and co-captains of the team Jim Kelly and "Butch" Young.

Volleyball is a favorite sport of many girls, and it provides much physical exercise.

Spring brings out the badminton rackets, birdies, and a number of girls to play a round-robin. Singles and doubles are played; and, by the process of elimination, champions are chosen. Badminton is another of the activities in which the girls participate for credit towards the coveted W.R.A. blazer.

Oralee Hankins demonstrates the correct way to serve the "birdie" to a group of girls.

The highlight of the year's activities for the hockey team was the trip to the University of Maryland to participate in a play day. New hockey equipment was purchased early in the fall for the entire team.

SPORTS

Jean Ward goes through the motions of the correct procedure for the serve in tennis.

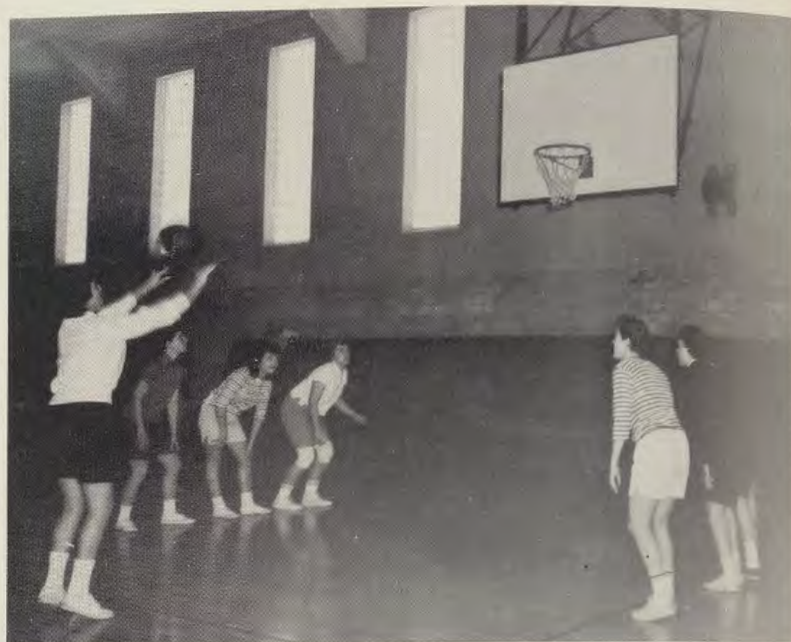

Competition with tennis teams from other colleges is the present goal of the club. Some such matches are in the planning—lots of luck, girls!

Talking over plans for the spring schedule is the committee in charge of the tennis activities. The game of tennis is fast becoming a favorite sport for girls, and spring finds the tennis courts crowded and the girls developing their skills in friendly competition.

"Jump, Carol!" The girls compete during class and develop skills while enjoying physical activity.

"Careful now—ready—aim—shoot!" There is friendly competition and complete involvement, as the girls complete physical education requirements.

"Jump, girls!" Who says basketball isn't a strenuous game?"

Strike! No, this isn't a baseball game; rather, it is the word every girl likes to hear after her ball goes rolling down the alley to hit the ten pins. The girls bowl two games a week, having five on a team and tallying their scores to compare with other teams.

This little ball is the important "implement" with which we play our games.

One night a week is reserved for bowling. Class teams compete against each other with the top team honored at the Spring Banquet. The top ten bowlers are announced every week, and they are given special recognition at the banquet.

CONCERT BAND

We Kiss in a Shadow

The above program is but a part of the concert which was given this fall in Compton Auditorium.

Our photographer caught this unusual pose of the band during one of the concerts this fall. Dr. Cole is shown directing this active musical organization.

The first band to appear in the annual Homecoming Parade is always the Marching Band. Besides the honored tradition, the College Concert Band also occupies a spot in the Halloween Parade and the Assembly Program on Parent's Day, as well as Campus Day. The band presents an Annual Concert featuring soloists, majorettes, and the Dance Band. Several pop concerts are also held each semester for the entertainment of the college students and members of the community as well.

The college Dance Band, composed of members of the Concert Band, presented a program this year at the Campus Day; this band also performed at the Welcoming Program for Parent's Day. The all-college Thanksgiving Dance had the pleasure of dancing to the music of this group. Other activities of the band include: a spring concert tour to the high schools in selected areas for the purpose of student recruitment, the training of potential directors for high school bands, and the presentation of a musical program for the annual Commencement exercises.

Under the direction of Dr. Ward Cole, the bands have done more than their share in interpreting instrumental music for the town and gown and in offering musical leadership beyond the campus.

Winston Manning, Drum Major for the college Band, casts an authoritative glance as he "struts" to the music.

Leading the Homecoming Parade, the Band shows off its splendor, as they high step along the Main Street of Frostburg.

SINGERS

The Madrigal Singers, a select group of singers, chosen from members of the Maryland Singers, are shown here with their director, Mr. Charles I. Sager. This group is well known throughout the Western Maryland area for its participation in community and college musical events.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays at 1:10 the Maryland Singers practice in Compton Auditorium. The photographer caught the Singers at an informal rehearsal.

Some 120 students sang in the Maryland Singers this year. Of this group, twenty were chosen to sing with the Madrigals. This smaller group of voices performs for various assemblies, Campus Day, Parent's Day, May Day, high school groups, and civic organizations. The Maryland Singers sponsored a fall concert, the Christmas Cantata, and a Spring Concert. For the second year in a row, the Singers won first prize in the Homecoming Parade float contest.

Officers for this year were: Howie Lemmert, President; Larry Fresh, Vice President; Marian Skidmore, Secretary; and Sam Huffer, Treasurer. Mr. Charles I. Sager is the director of these musical groups.

A unique over-head shot affords a view of the Madrigal Singers as they complete part of their presentation at the Christmas Cantata.

ACTIVITIES OF THE DRAMA DEPARTMENT SHOWN

These photographs reflect some of Alpha Psi Omega and Little Theatre's dramatic highlights. Other enjoyable occasions are the supper following the major production, the spring banquet at Big Savage Inn, and a trip to the Mountain Playhouse at Jennerstown.

Second semester activities include: films depicting various facets of theatre presentation, an evening of scenes from famous plays, and a reading performance.

Last year Alpha Psi Omega established a Scholarship to be awarded an adjudged deserving member of Kappa Xi Cast. Susanne Ebersole was the 1960 recipient. The fraternity plans to make such an award each year.

Pictured to the right, Little Theatre and Alpha Psi Omega cooperated with the Student Congress in the Christmas decoration project. Shown here are committee members, first row: Patricia Hayden, Sherry Phillips, Madeline Barr. Second row: Diana Livingood, Nancy McCluskey; Kenneth Moreland, Doris Wilder, Samuel Huffer, Patricia Humelsine, Terry Phillips. The beautifully decorated trees added much to the Christmas festivities at State Teachers College.

Highlight of the year was Little Theatre's production of André Obey's Biblical phantasy, "Noah," November 2-3. One of the dramatic scenes depicted Noah with some of the animals aboard the Ark: Winston Manning as the Rooster; Betsy Blose, as the Rabbit; Terry Phillips, as the Lamb; Linda La-Grange, as the Turtle; William King, as the Lion. John Goss appeared as Noah.

FRENCH AND SPANISH

Members of the French Club and their guests wish each other "Un joyeux Noel" at their Christmas Party held in the gaily-decorated French classroom.

The purposes of the French and Spanish Clubs are to give interested students a broader understanding of the ideals, customs, and ways of the French and Spanish people and to encourage the use of the spoken language.

During the year the club made a trip to Pittsburgh where the members attended the Opera "La Boheme" at the Mosque, toured the University of Pittsburgh, and visited Heinz Memorial Chapel. Club members also toured several foreign embassies in Washington to gain further experience with a "second language."

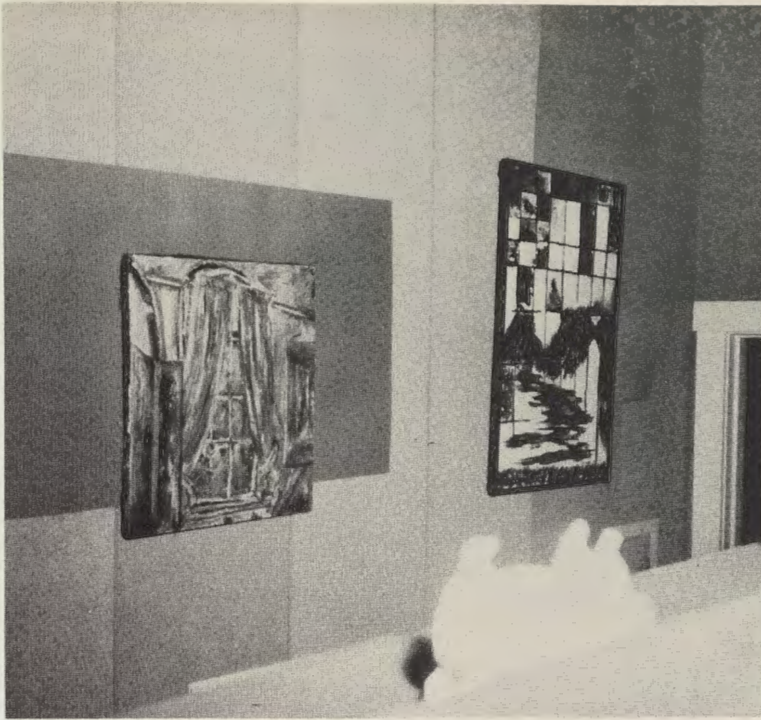

The faculty advisor of the French Club is Miss Irene Kirkeby. Officers of the French Club are: Lynda Forbes, President; Betty Saunders, Vice President; and Carol Layton, Secretary-Treasurer.

Mr. James Daly is the faculty advisor of the Spanish Club. Officers include: Evelyn Walker, President; Jeanne Dussault, Vice President; Rosito Lazaro, Secretary; and Suzanne Clover, Treasurer.

Several members of the Spanish Club discuss plans for their trip to Pittsburgh.

KAPPI PI

Two original paintings by members of Kappa Pi are shown hanging in one of the art rooms.

Handiwork by several fraternity members seems to span the realm of nature from plants to animals.

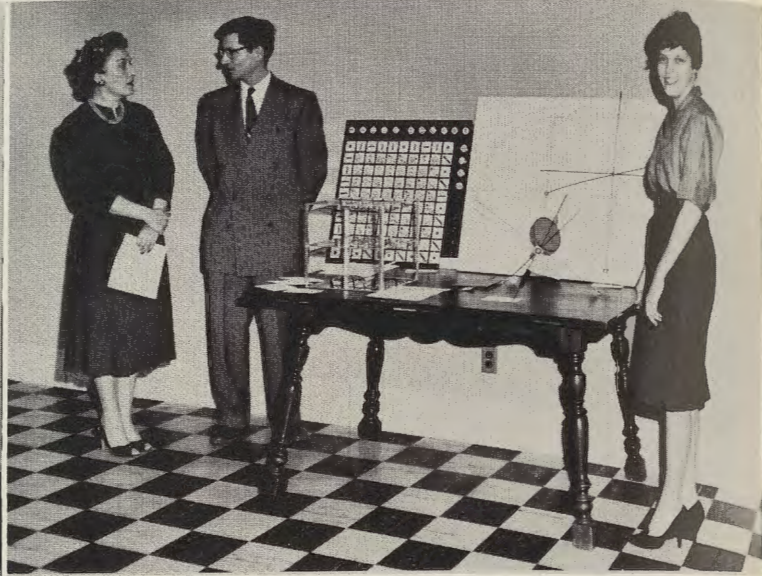

Kappa Pi is a national art fraternity whose Beta Mu Chapter is located here at State. The purposes of this organization are to promote interest in art and to stimulate higher scholarship and artistic achievement among its members. The fraternity has as its members those art students who maintain above average grades in the field of art. Lectures and work sessions are among the activities engaged in by members of Kappa Pi to further their knowledge in the field of art.

A student and one of the judges study some of the entries of this year's Science Fair.

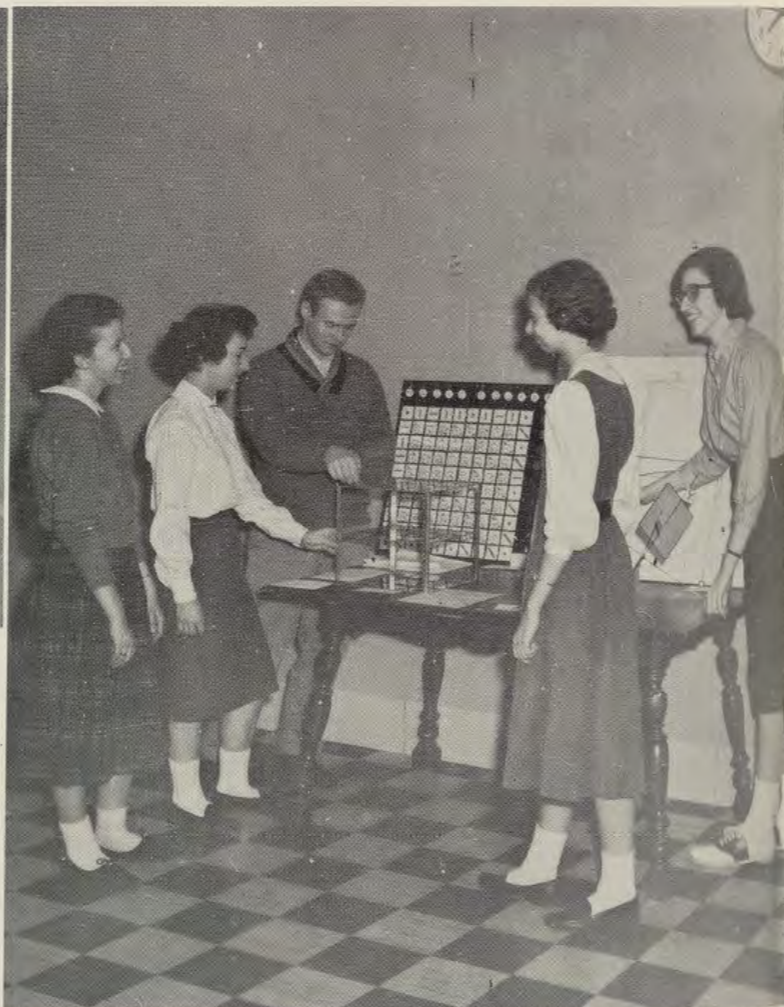

Two of the Science Fair judges, Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw of Fort Hill High School and Mr. Rissler of Frostburg's Math Department discuss some of the projects as an interested student looks on.

Janice Glime, Bessie Bailey, and Sherry Phillips look over the biology projects entered in the Science Fair.

Xi Xi is one of the honorary fraternities on campus. A student must maintain a B average in Science and mathematics to be eligible for membership in this organization.

The winning projects in the Xi Xi Science Fair are shown here. Martha DeBerry, Sally Layman, Rusty Mara, Janice Glime, and Jane Blake seem to be pleased with the winners.

PHI OMICRON DELTA

Phi Omicron Delta Sorority sponsored a semi-formal dance early this spring as one of its major activities. The Phi Omicron Delta girls, members of the only sorority on campus, also held their annual Christmas Party for under-privileged children in the area. A Valentine float, entered by the sorority, placed third in the annual Homecoming Parade last fall, adding even more prestige to the well established name which this organization has acquired in recent years. The sale of State pennants and mugs, stuffed animals, and holiday candy was another sorority activity. The advisor of this group is Dr. Lucille Clay, Chairman of the Department of English. Officers of the sorority are: Darleen Van Roon, President; Lynn Tracy, Vice President; Jane McCall, Secretary; Jackie Calhoun, Treasurer; and Nevelyn Pfeltz, Guard.

Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity, initiated in May of 1960, has taken great strides in realizing their goals. This social organization is but a small part of a vast national organization which is working for the betterment of society.

The goals of the fraternity are of a social nature. The organization is open to all men of good academic standing and of good moral character. Each year the men acting as an organized group take part in many campus events, including the many social functions.

The quality of the Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity is often measured against the standard: "Is the member capable of acting purposefully, thinking rationally and dealing effectively with his environment?"

DELTA KAPPA

Members of Delta Kappa, Sigma Phi Chapter, Frostburg, Maryland, are, seated (left to right): Geoffrey Whitmore, President, Bill Brown, Tom Arnold, David Arnold, and Bill Henline. Second Row (left to right): Make Fabbri, Fulton Katz, Mason, Callis, Jim Kight, Larry Stup, Gary Holtzman, Ed Bittinger, Dr. VanNewkirk, Faculty Advisor. Third Row (left to right): Mike Holshey, Bob Brannon, Fulton Davis, Bill Cessna, Jim Shertzer, Adolf Doerk, Treasurer, and Joseph Hay. Fourth Row (left to right): Denny Murray, Kerry Highsmith, Mike Scheerer, Cliff Sanders, Vice President, and Dave Soppa.

Sigma Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa National Fraternity is a social fraternity on our campus. The Chapter's many activities include: entering a float in the Homecoming Parade, participating in the Campus Day Program, intramural sports, and the Olympics, sponsoring four smokers—two open and two closed—selling Freshman Beanies, school sweaters and beach towels, co-sponsoring an annual all-college dance with Phi Omicron Delta Sorority, from which they choose a queen to reign over the dance. Throughout the year the group sponsors dances and banquets. Every spring and fall delegates are sent to National Conventions which are held at many places throughout the U. S. Faculty advisors for the fraternity this year are: Dr. VanNewkirk and Dr. Harold Cordts.

WE PUBLISH THE CAMPUS NEWSPAPER

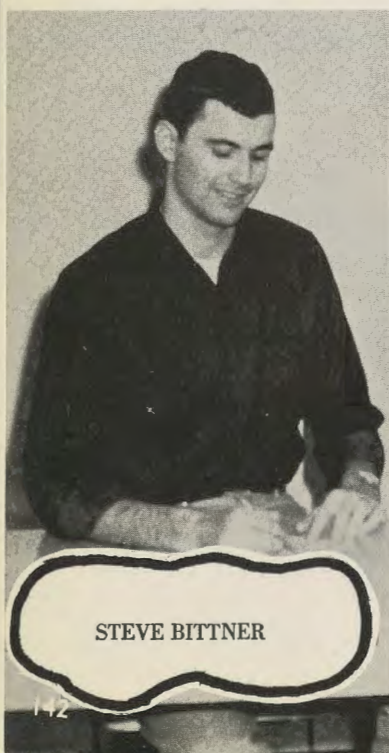

"You mean no one was assigned that article!" is a cry from many a distraught page editor on the night before deadline.

Any student displaying journalistic ability and interest is welcome to the staff. From the photo lab to layout, it's a "do-it-yourself" job for everyone. Recruiting is done painlessly at a party in September, and the school year is closed with a banquet at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club in Cumberland.

It takes a heap of hours to publish a bi-monthly newspaper which wins First Place Ratings at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York City each Spring. When the editorial staff journeys to the "Big City" for these meetings, accompanied by their able advisor, Dr. Lucille Clay, everything seems worthwhile. Dr. Clay is a Member of the Board of Advisors for the C.S.P.A. College Division.

It's a busy group which publishes our college newspaper!

Dr. Lucille Clay, advisor to State-to-Date, confers with photographer Bob Long about the scheduling of pictures for the newspaper.

NEMACOLIN

WE PUBLISH THE COLLEGE YEARBOOK

The production of the 1961 Nemacolin was composed of equal parts of hard work, luck, and chaos. Gunter Hall 3 was the site of many long hours of planning the format, theme, and cover of this year's annual. Only the members of the Editorial Board can hope to realize the good fortune of how they met their deadlines and managed to succeed in scheduling and procuring the hundreds of pictures that had to be taken.

The year was highlighted by two events that helped to make all the work worthwhile—the Columbia Scholastic Press Convention in New York City and the annual Nemacolin picnic. Ten members of the Editorial Board traveled to New York to gain tips on how to improve the annual and to pass their knowledge on to others. At the annual picnic all those who worked on Nemacolin spent the day eating shrimp and basking in the sun.

One of the most important aspects of yearbook production is photography. Don Wittig, photography editor, and Dr. Sam J. Underwood, advisor, are discussing one of the many "weekly photography schedules."

STAFFS AT WORK

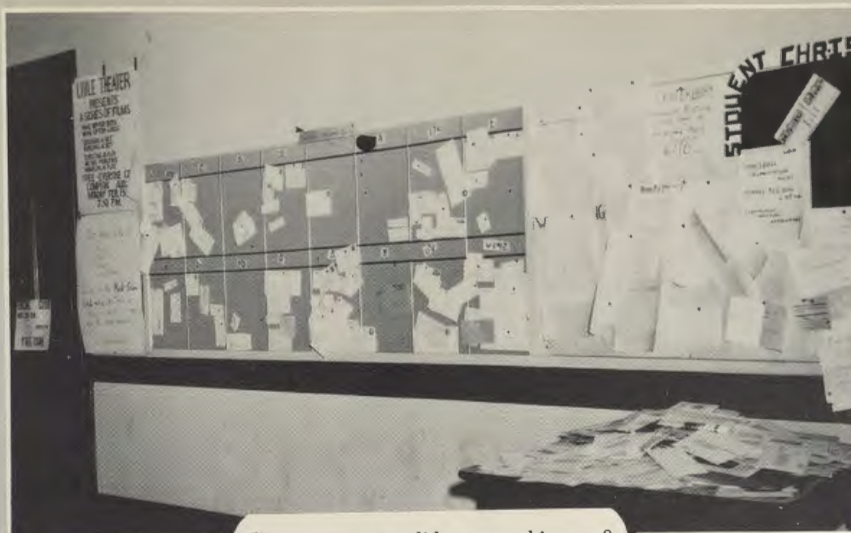

Nemacolin has had as its aim for 1961 to show the academic side of State along with the social side. All of the class editors have shown required and elective courses in their student sections. The feature section, under the leadership of Sally Layman and Barbara Carbaugh, has attempted to show the activities of each organization instead of the previously used notion of "mass organization pictures." They have written the copy for each page to show the educational opportunities offered to the many interested students on campus.

FRESHMAN WEEK

A bonfire goes up in flames at the weenie roast and sing during Freshman week. Freshman Week was organized by Student Congress, and it is one of the important functions of the "back-to-school" in early fall.

Delta Kappans are shown familiarizing F.S.T.C. freshmen with the role of a college fraternity on campus during Organizational nights.

On arrival at college this fall, the Freshmen were greeted with the hopes and expectations of beginning their college careers.

Throughout the dorms there was a hustle and a bustle as everybody got situated in their new "homes." New acquaintances were made and past friendships were renewed.

Ever present in their minds was the question of what the next four years had in store for them. At present, though, was the question, what would they encounter in that first important week of college?

The first event was an informal dance which began in the old dining hall and turned into a lawn party. This was followed the next evening by a wiener roast, bonfire, and group sing. The days were filled with assemblies, meetings, tours, tests, and more tests. On Wednesday evening President and Mrs. Hardesty held a reception to honor the Freshman class.

Activities were many and varied, and these experiences helped to make the adjustment complete.

Freshmen, as well as upperclassmen, enjoy the Music at the Get Acquainted Dance.

Loretta Frush, Pat Ballentine, Linda Felter, and Pat Vranas take a rest after a hectic day of avoiding sophomores.

Registration, the final step that makes you a college freshman, is held in Compton Auditorium.

HOMECOMING

HOMECOMING WAS A MEMORABLE DAY

The last days of October were used in preparation for the annual Homecoming, one of the biggest events of the campus year, excluding graduation. Festivities began Friday night with a concert and dance by Woody Herman and his orchestra. For a few minutes, the spotlight was also turned on a bonfire behind Compton Auditorium where the student body cheered as the Majorettes twirled their flaming batons and a dummy player from the American University team was burned in effigy.

Bright and early Saturday morning, Frostburg students put the finishing touches on their floats in preparation for the big parade. The Homecoming Parade attracted hundreds of spectators from the community as well as the college. During the afternoon, cheering Frostburg Students saw the Bobcats win over American University by a score of 4 to 1.

That evening, members of the student body danced to the music of Peter Lucas at the Clary Club and the Metrenomes at the Armory. Homecoming Queen, Senior Kay Branch, reigned over the festivities at both dances with the court which was composed of Pat Harvey and Jane Ann Walters, seniors; Bessie Lee Bailey and Sally Layman, Juniors; Marsha Barclay and Lynn McSpadden, sophomores; and Sandra Melby and Joanne Wardman, Freshmen.

Homecoming for alumni is one of the best ways of evaluating the work of the college, as faculty and administration have ample opportunity to chat with the many alumni who come back to visit on this day of days. Too, this day gives the students a chance to work together on a campus-wide basis to produce the total effect of good public relations for the school. Evidences of a job well done may be seen on these two pages!

GAME AND FLOATS

American University's goalie desperately attempts to prevent one of Frostburg's Bobcats from making another goal.

"Will we ever finish in time?" question these hard-working float makers early Saturday morning? These folk are pictured below left.

Protected from temperamental Frostburg weather, several day students seem to be lining up for the big game, in this case, the Rose Bowl. This picture is below.

To the left, members of the Sigma Tau Gamma put finishing touches on their New Year's Eve float as the clock on the front of it strikes a signal of the New Year.

On the left, The Physical Education Club anxiously awaits the appearance of a ground hog, as they celebrate his day with their float.

A SNOWY

CHRISTMAS CAPERS

"Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow" was the favorite song on campus after Thanksgiving Vacation to find the short three weeks until Christmas Vacation which was filled with parties, dances, dinners, and snow!

A white Christmas certainly seemed in prospect as everyone gathered around the Christmas tree in the quadrangle one snowy evening. Here the holiday season was officially opened with the singing of carols, munching on doughnuts, and drinking hot chocolate.

The new dining hall, Gunter Hall, had been magically transformed into a chandelier lit ballroom for the Christmas Dance the week end before, an event which opened the season for many students. And, before the week was over, the dining hall underwent still another transformation—this time it was changed into an elegant dining room as boarding students sat down to a turkey dinner complete with all the extras, including linen tablecloths and hot rolls. This Christmas Dinner was prepared and served only as Miss Geraldine Drake and Mrs. Gail Baptist, dietitians, can serve.

The pictures at the left illustrate some of the Christmas week events. Not pictured, of course, are all the many cleverly executed decorations which graced all the campus buildings. Memorable were the large candy sticks which were made of the columns on Lownes Hall.

Friday, as students left to spend the holidays at home, they carried with them the vivid memories of a wonderfully exciting and snowy week at F.S.T.C.

HOLIDAY

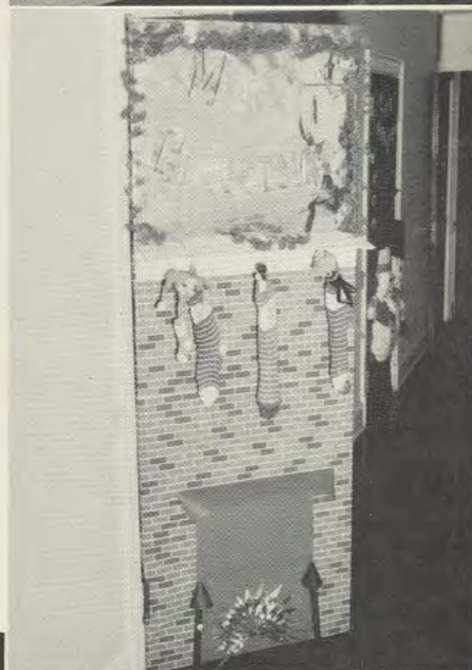

A ceiling of snowflakes and an evergreen tree don't seem to affect two Simpson Hall girls as they read the evening paper in the lobby of their dormitory.

Pictured at the right is one of the many doors in the dormitory which were decorated to carry out the Christmas theme. This contest was one of the most successful ones ever held on campus, and one could see that the girls used their artistic ability and their imagination to create startling effects.

Christmas would not be complete without the fireplace and stockings which grace many homes during the season. At the right one may see the traditional stocking display and a "mock" fireplace which did not detract from the joy of the occasion.

The students of F.S.T.C. often feel sorry for those people in warm climates who never experience a White Christmas. A velvety blanket of snow covers the manger scene in front of Allen Hall.

Coke and candy seem to be the "menu" for these residents of Simpson Hall as they sample some of each commodity at their annual Christmas Party.

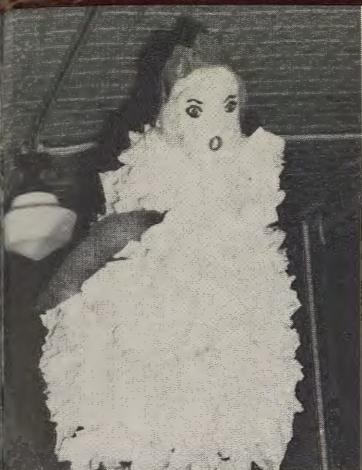

"Santa, what 'cute freckles you have!" These Simpson Hall girls seem to be paying more attention to the photographer than to St. Nick, though. "Tank" Schultze portrayed Santa Claus, and his large bag contained a candy cane for each girl.

PARTIES

Evelyn Walker listens attentively as Bob Wiles attempts to make a point at the "Night-before-we-go-home" hop.

This glowing angel brightened our thoughts as she floated high above our heads in Old Main. Many different organizations participated in decorating our campus at the Yuletide Season.

AND DANCES

Several couples take time out for a coke during the Christmas dance, while the stately pine tree in the dining room foyer provided a colorful setting for the Christmas Dance.

The dimly lighted dining room reflects the Christmas atmosphere as the students danced to the music of John Ritchey. Everyone is full of the holiday spirit at this gala affair. Especially memorable was the bringing of a gift for a needy child.

VALENTINE SWEETHEARTS

Each year the men of Frostburg's campus choose a Valentine Sweetheart from the several nominees of the Day Student's Association. Candidates for the coveted honor of presiding over this year's Sweetheart Dance held at the Clary Club are as follows: seated, left to right, Louise Downton, Junior; Pat Harvey, Senior; Lois Sweitzer, Senior; and Sally Layman, Junior. Standing, in the same order, are: Ruth Kreitzburg, Sophomore; Marsha Barclay, Sophomore; and Donna Hopkins, Freshman.

SPRING EVENTS

Maynard Ferguson and members of his band provided a delightful musical background for Frostburg students as they danced into the morning at the Junior-Senior Prom in May 1960.

A near capacity audience marvels at the grace of the members of the May Court as the performers entertain the Queen and the Court.

Kay Branch was selected as Homecoming Queen in a all-college election. Kay, a senior, reigned over the Homecoming game and dance on October 29.

WHO'S WHO

Thirteen Students were Elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities; two members of this group were not available when our photographer took this picture.

Early last fall, it was announced that thirteen of Frostburg's Seniors had been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This honor is bestowed upon those members of the Senior Class who have distinguished themselves throughout their college careers in service to various campus organizations. Those seniors included in this year's edition are as follows:

Carol Chaney Adams
 Donald Amoruso
 Jacqueline Calhoun
 Barbara Carbaugh
 Susanna Ebersole
 Mary Angle Hawbecker
 Marianne Hoelzer

Alton Hoopengardner
 Eugene Kidwell
 Jane Duling McCall
 Harold Schriver
 Lois Sweitzer
 Wanda Tate

PROGRAMS

A group of the Madrigal Singers entertained our parents and guests at Parent's Day, a program sponsored by the Freshman Class.

The Royal Welsh Male Choir presented an outstanding musical program for our enjoyment.

The Canadian Players are shown here as they presented a modern dress version of St. Joan, directed by Douglas Campbell.

Mr. Sager, accompanied by Mr. James Pierce, gave an inspiring performance during his fall vocal recital.

A lovely ballet was included in the Christmas program, which was a student production.

Directed by Miss Dorothy Stone White, Little Theater and Alpha Psi Omega presented the biblical fantasy Noah.

PROFESSIONALS

Pat Calloway as Joan of Arc is shown praying after the coronation of her daughter.

Don Freeman, artist and lecturer, fascinated the audience during his early fall performance on the Compton Auditorium stage.

Mike Kirkland offers the photographer a coke during a back stage autograph session. The Brothers Four were sponsored by Student Congress.

Bob Flick, Mike Kirkland, Dick Foley, and John Paine, more commonly known as the Brothers Four, sing their folk songs on the stage at F.S.T.C.

GUNTER

The busiest place on campus is the "Shop." Card playing, chatting, smoking, and drinking cokes are the main activities in this section of Gunter Hall.

"Five Hamburgers" says Jim Cave as Judy Wilson, Barbara Carbaugh, Don Turley, and Deanna Knepper get a snack before returning to their dorms.

Books, paper, pencils, stationery are on sale in the Book Store. Bob Funk is shown above ordering his English Literature book for the second semester.

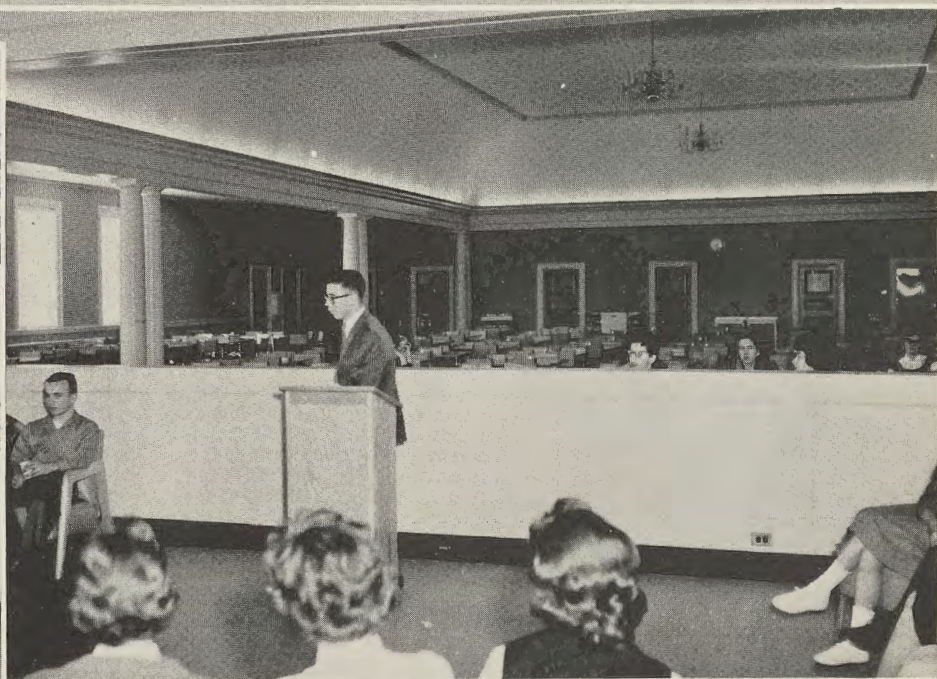

Throughout the year, the lobby of Gunter Hall was used for the selling of tickets. Barbara Krumpe buys her ticket from Gene Kidwell for the Brother's Four concert.

HALL ACTIVITIES

To the left, lunch is served in the Main Dining hall. Eating and chatting are the main activities here three times per day.

Dave Sappa and Cookie Nash are looking for rides to Oxon Hill. As a service to the students, Delta Kappa donated this bulletin board to Gunter Hall. Students desiring rides to various parts of Maryland put their names on the bulletin board for the ride.

Mike McClelland addresses a group of students at one of the coffee hours held in the lobby of Gunter Hall.

Gunter Hall . . . a gathering place for the campus students.

Physical growth, as exemplified by sports and the various equipment needed to perform these sports, is a part of the ultimate growth reached in this phase of education.

SPORTS

Sportsmanship, scholarship, and leadership—phases of mature growth—are acquired through competitive sports. Action off the field oftentimes speaks louder than those on the field, and it is to this end that coaches, players, and spectators of Frostburg State Teachers College have pledged themselves—that students at State shall become citizenship-conscious.

Society demands sportsmanship, fair play, leadership, and academic achievement. Participation in the many sports programs helps students to realize sound bodies and sound minds.

COACH KENNETH BABCOCK

BOBCATS COMPLETE WITH WINS OVER YOUNG BREAKS

Under the capable direction of Coach Kenneth Babcock, the soccer team capped a very successful season by winning their last five games and ending the season with a 6 won, 3 lost record.

Three individual scoring marks were set by "Butch" Young, State's inside left, who finished four years of soccer under Coach Babcock.

Coach Kenneth Babcock came to the Frostburg campus in the fall of 1946. During his fourteen years here his soccer teams have won 53, lost 38 and tied 14 games, for a won-lost percentage of .582. In this period Coach Babcock has produced three All-American and innumerable All-Southern selections.

The 1960 edition of the Frostburg soccer team is pictured below: Row 1—R. Sigler, E. Truly, R. Young, Coach Babcock, J. Kelly, A. Scarpelli, J. Garon. ROW 2—S. DeBone, S. Holliday, D. Amoroso, R. Funk, R. Hesterberg, W. Grove, J. Graham, A. Doerk, W. Henaghan, J. Llewellyn, W. Patton, Mgr. ROW 3—W. Buttrill, L. DeHart, H. Winner, M. Stone, J. Patterson, G. Lauder, T. Swauger, G. Whitmore.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

FIVE FINAL FOES;

SCORING MARKS

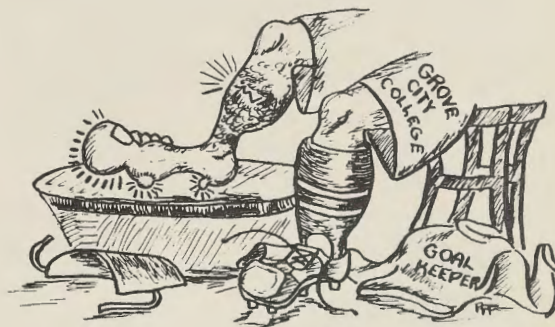

Frostburg's soccer reputation has grown proportionately with the length of Coach Babcock's tenure here as soccer coach. Thanks to his constant efforts to acquire games with the East's top teams, Frostburg now plays a schedule second to few colleges in the country.

Commenting on this year's fine team, he felt that the best efforts were made in beating Slippery Rock and losing to Howard University.

Good sportsmanship, clean soccer and teamwork have always been advocated by Coach Babcock. His players have the deepest respect for him, knowing full well that the entire educational process centers around good sportsmanship, clean living, and teamwork.

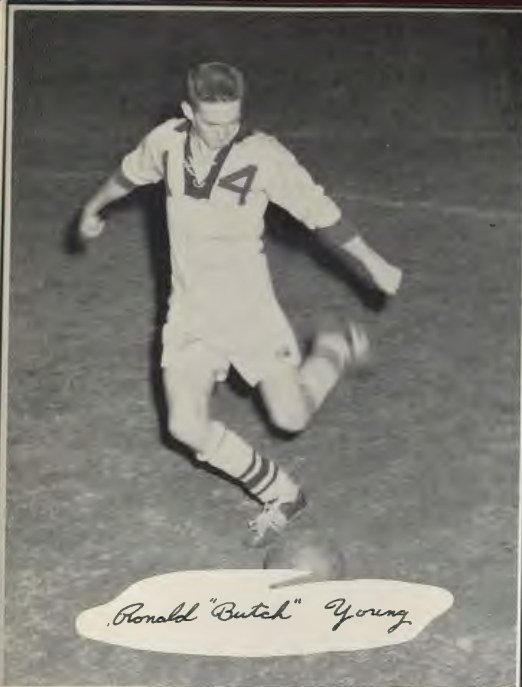

American University's goalie is snapped into reality by a Bobcat setting up a shot. Simultaneously Frostburg's bench, led by Coach Babcock, nervously focus their attention on enemy defense.

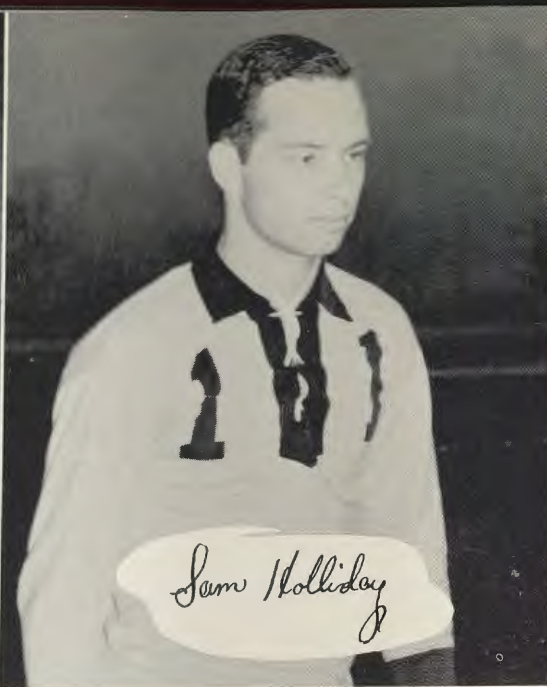

With the ball in the air, Coach Babcock is anxiously engrossed in the outcome of the shot.

There is no cause for alarm! The ball glides into the net beyond the goalie's reach and sets up a spontaneous roar from the fans.

Butch Young scored five goals, a new single game record. This brought his season's total to ten, tying a school record. He set a new record; 4 years, 20 goals. A successful season.

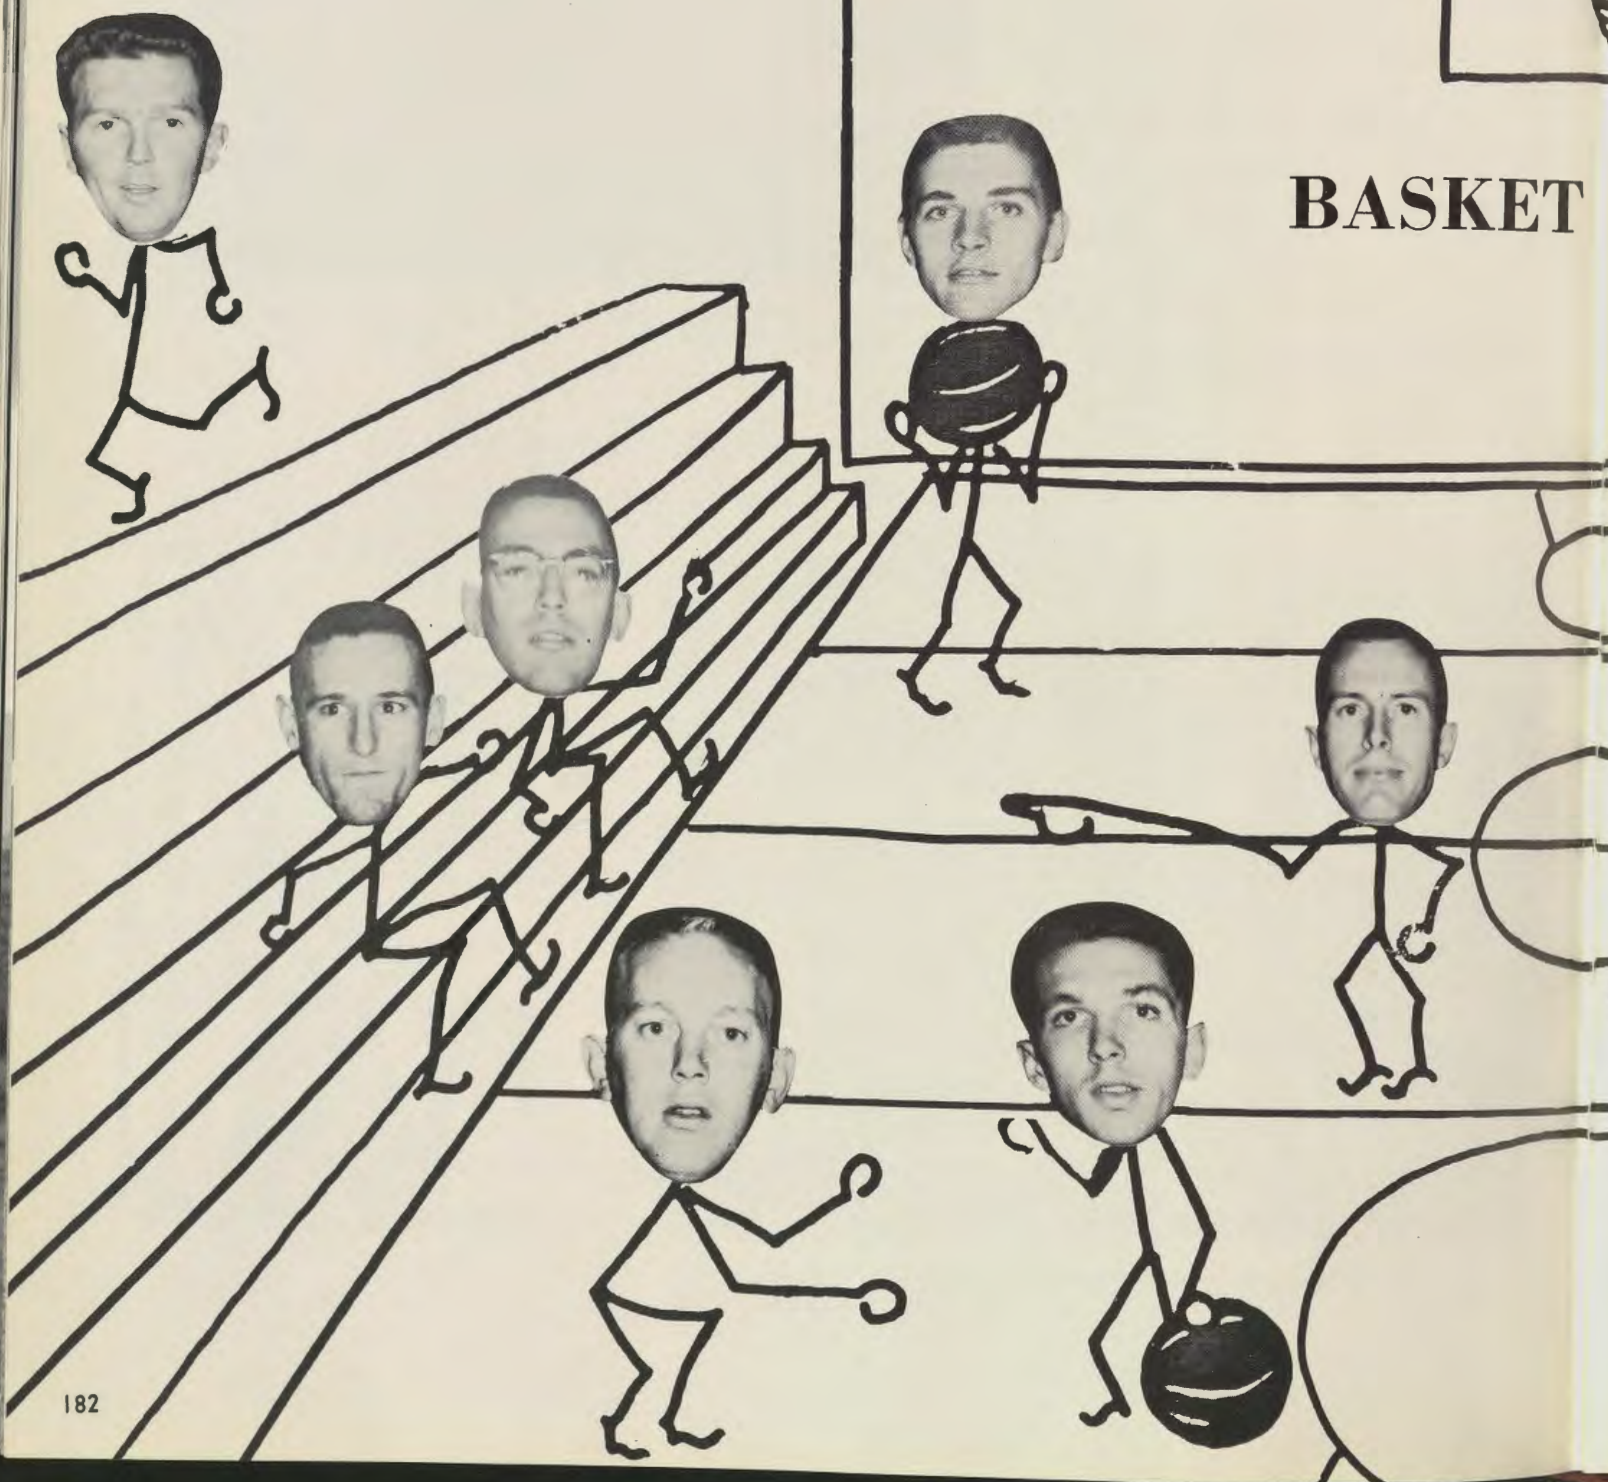

Frostburg's strong defense in action as goalie Mike Stone makes a save as the defense drops back to give assistance.

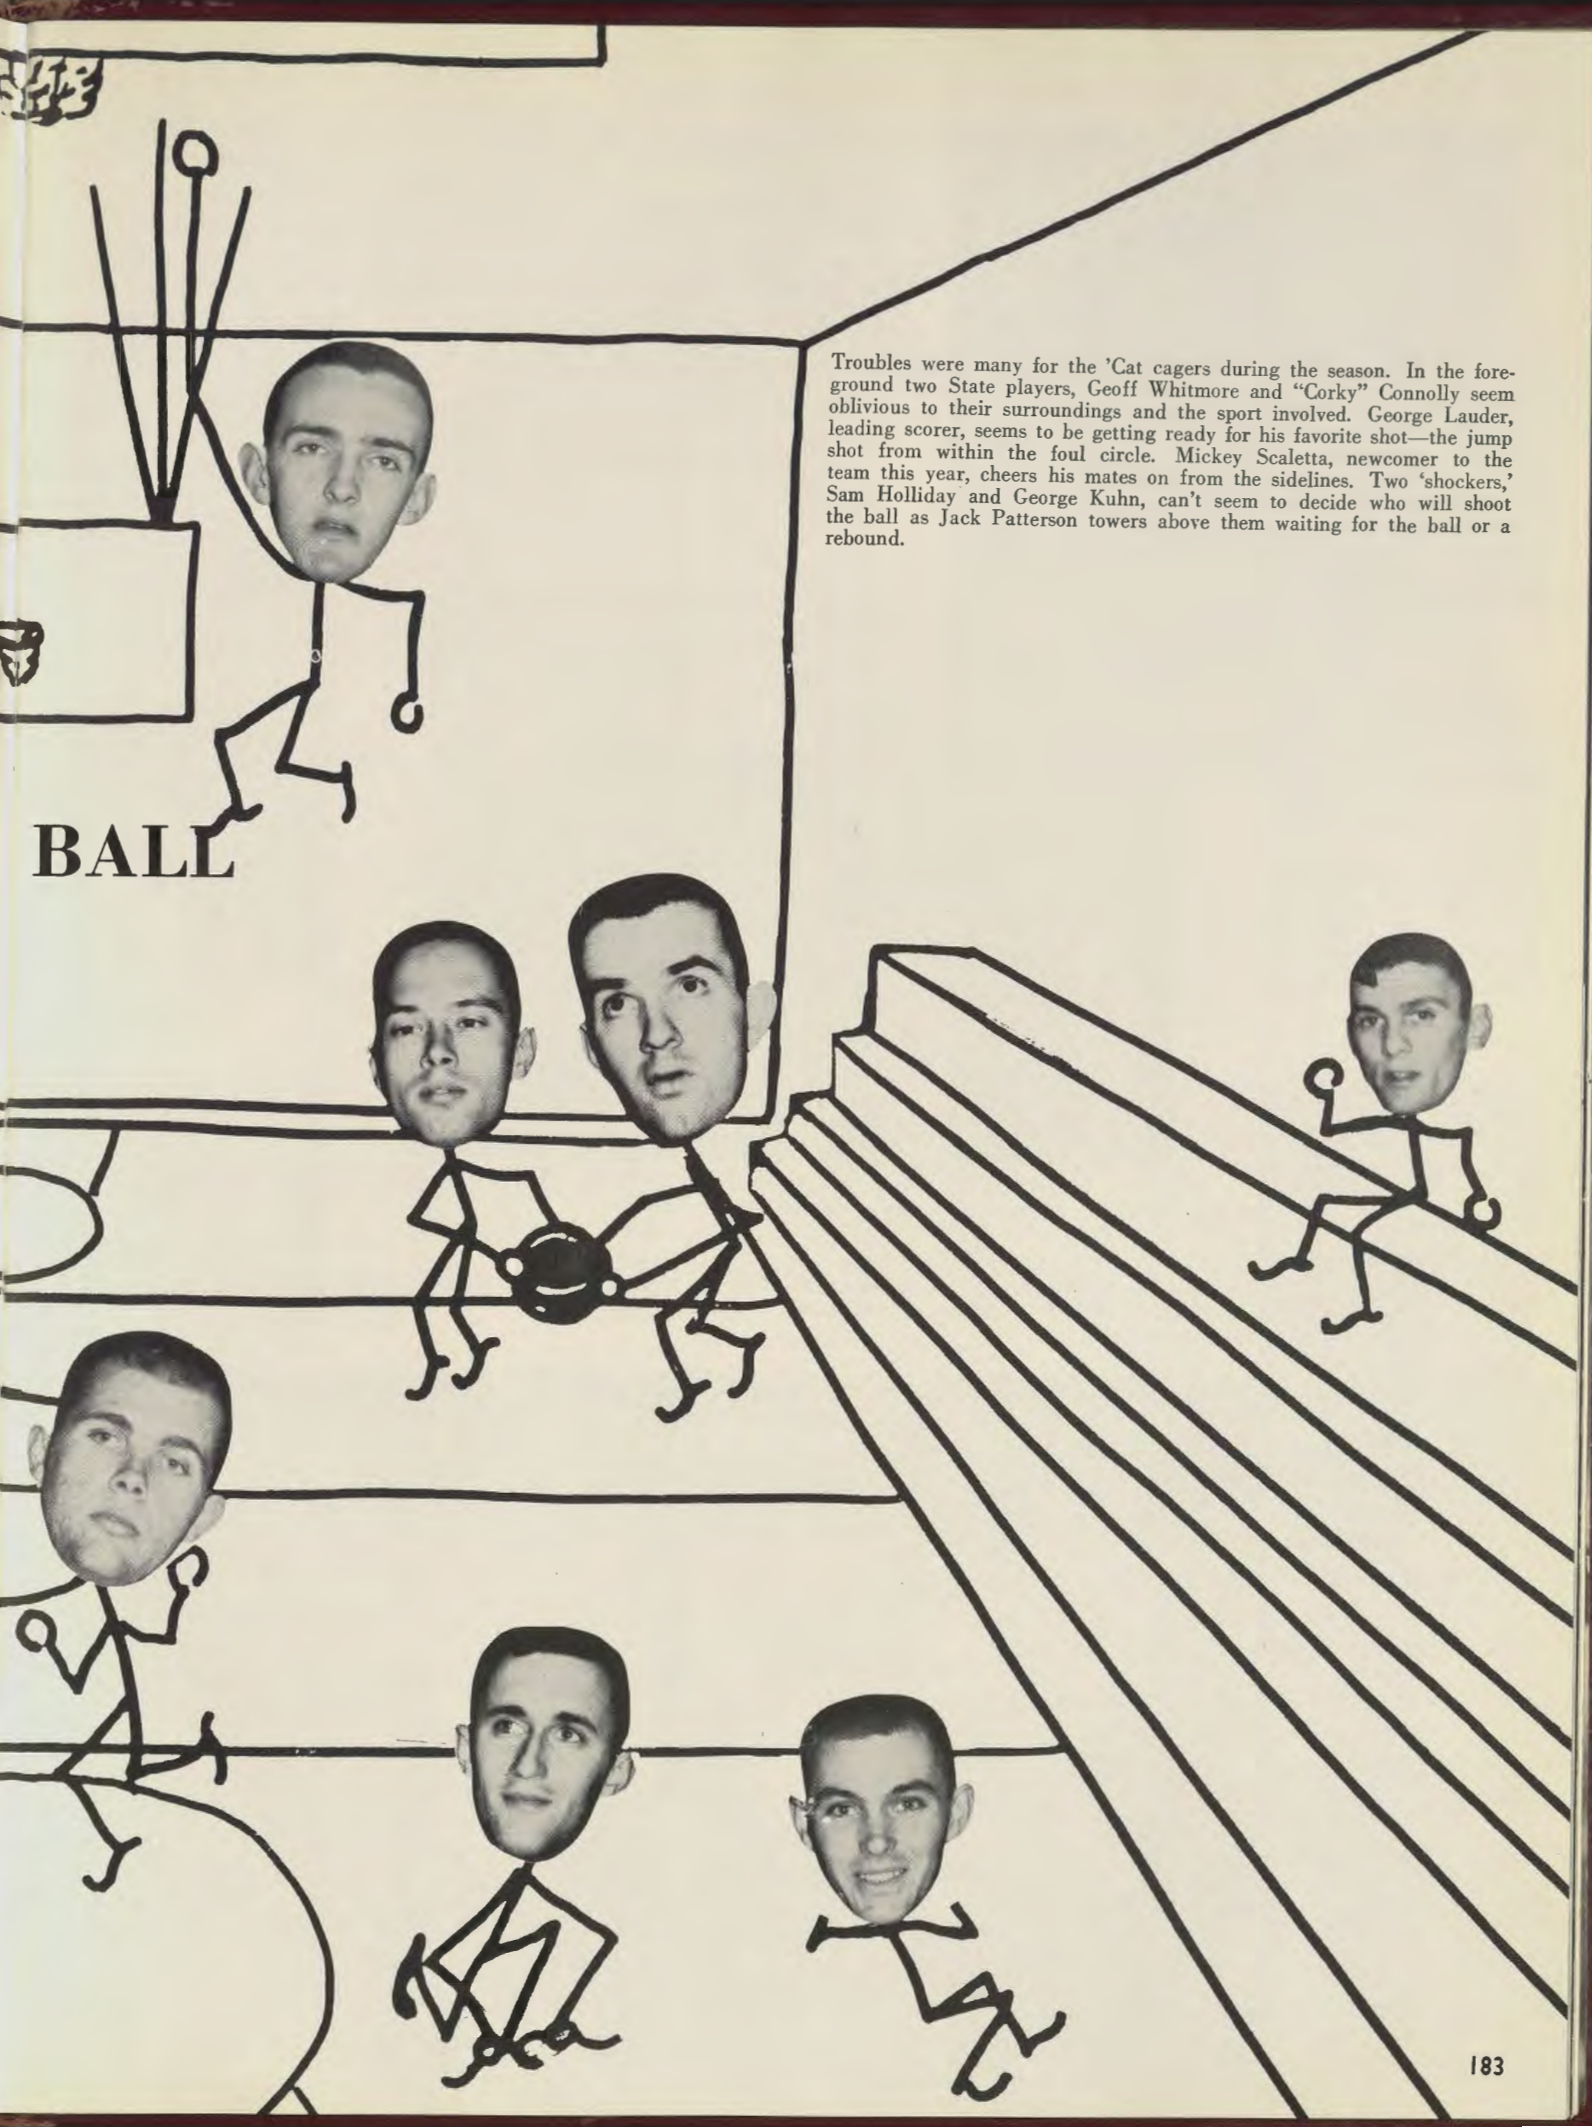

Happy Bobcats gather in the locker room to celebrate another victory.

Various positions on the basketball court were held by all members of the 1960-61 Bobcat cage team. Shown with the ball in the foreground is diminutive guard "Butch" Young, possibly being guarded by his own teammate Lennie Kerns. Coach Dr. Ron Van Ryswyk is shown in a characteristic pose giving intimate directions to John McClelland and "Muggs" Sigler while Jim Thompson tries vainly to escape the "skull session." Hank Winner (with ball in background) is set to score another of his many timely baskets.

Troubles were many for the 'Cat cagers during the season. In the foreground two State players, Geoff Whitmore and "Corky" Connolly seem oblivious to their surroundings and the sport involved. George Lauder, leading scorer, seems to be getting ready for his favorite shot—the jump shot from within the foul circle. Mickey Scaletta, newcomer to the team this year, cheers his mates on from the sidelines. Two 'shockers,' Sam Holliday and George Kuhn, can't seem to decide who will shoot the ball as Jack Patterson towers above them waiting for the ball or a rebound.

This action typifies the aggressive spirit of which the Frostburg cagers were endowed during the entire basketball campaign.

Led in scoring by George Lauder and "Butch" Young, State employed a "10 game," "Red" game, "13 game" and "diamond" patterns on offense to score many victories over their collegiate opponents on the hardwoods. Lauder and Young were assisted by Hank Winner, Jim Thompson, Corky Connolly, Lennie Kerns, and Jack Patterson as Coach Ron Van Ryswyk shuffled his starting line-up and reserves effectively.

The sometimes forgotten art of bunting and defending the bunt is practiced by pitcher, G. Kuhn; catcher, J. Nussear; and hitter, G. Zumpano.

That long, last stretch by first-baseman J. Nash results in an out for the offensive team.

Displaying the basic skills for completing the double play are R. Mann, shortstop; and W. Bruchey, second-baseman. "Getting two" is the best way to help a pitcher out of a tight jam.

BASEBALL

With seven returning veterans for the 1961 season, the Bobcat baseball nine hopes to improve upon its 6-7 record of the previous campaign.

The infield has all the solid strength it fielded last year as Joe Nash, Bill Bruchey, Ronnie Mann, Ron Broadwater, and John Nassear return to their respective positions at first, second, short, third, and catching.

Also back from a fine 1960 season in which he led the team in batting average and runs batted in is left fielder Gene Zumpano.

Again such arch-rivals as Potomac State, Shippensburg, Shepherd, Altoona, and Mount Union will be met.

The track squad, bolstered by several returning veterans and some very promising "rookies," made a good showing for themselves during the current and past track season.

Those returning thinclads include Jerrie Boccuto, Dave Soppa, Roy Sigler, and Jim Cave. Boccuto returns as the leading high jumper for State. He has cleared 6' 1", just one inch short of the school record.

Soppa and Cave, Bobcat weight men, are again throwing the discus and putting the shot, and have won their share of points in the many meets engaged in by the local runners.

Fred "Tank" Schultze also adds additional strength in the field events entering the discus throw and shot put.

Roy "Muggs" Sigler, long distance runner par excellence, is back for his third year and has only been beaten once in his college career in the two mile run. "Muggs" holds the exciting school records in the one mile and two mile runs.

Newcomers Mike Todd, Gene Wood, and Kenny Smith have won positions on the squad and have bolstered the team's final standings in the meets in which they participated.

Meets have been staged against Fairmont State, Davis-Elkins, West Virginia University, West Virginia Wesleyan, Towson, Shippensburg, Slippery Rock, California, and Indiana, Pennsylvania. The first home meet in four years was to be a triangular affair with Frostburg playing host to Pottomac State and Shepherd.

INTRAMURALS

After an exhausting championship game the Scotties, who won the Men's Intramural Football League are shown above. They are, left to right, row 1: W. Bruchey, W. Bruchey, J. Nussear, T. Dubel. Row 2: G. Connolly, R. Wiles, H. Vance, and J. McClelland.

Spirit displayed by the men in the Intramural Football League is indicative of the spirit that will be evident in the 1961 grid team representing Frostburg in the collegiate football wars.

With five teams entering into competition, the league games were well played, and on occasion, it was hard to ascertain whether touch or tackle football was being played.

L. Kerns "totes" the leather in a league game.

This action typifies the spirit of football at F.S.T.C.

Basketball 1891 style.

Competition between the Monday League and the Thursday League of the Men's Intramural Basketball League reached a climax with the championship game.

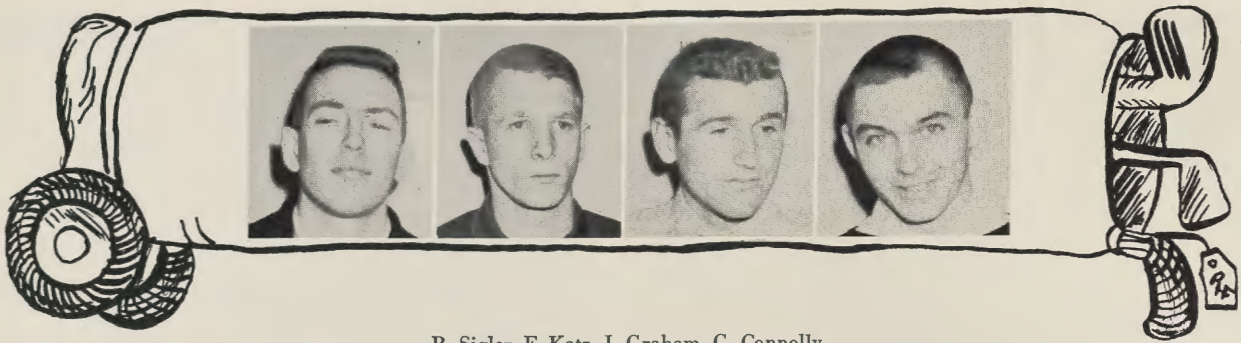

No less than twelve teams entered this year, establishing a record for entrants and proving that basketball is a rapidly rising team sport.

Led by the Globetrotters, Eckhart Miners, and the Creek Boys from the Monday League, and the Rimrammers and Faculty from the Thursday League, the play-offs were exciting and the entire league evenly balanced.

Various rules have changed since the introduction of basketball in 1891.

GOLF

R. Sigler, F. Katz, J. Graham, G. Connolly

Frostburg linksmen are looking forward to a more promising season. With the advent of more top-flight golfers to the campus each year, the sport has begun to gain more prestige.

With returning players Roy Sigler, Fulton Katz, and Jim Graham, plus newcomer Corky Connolly the squad should improve upon the records of yesteryear.

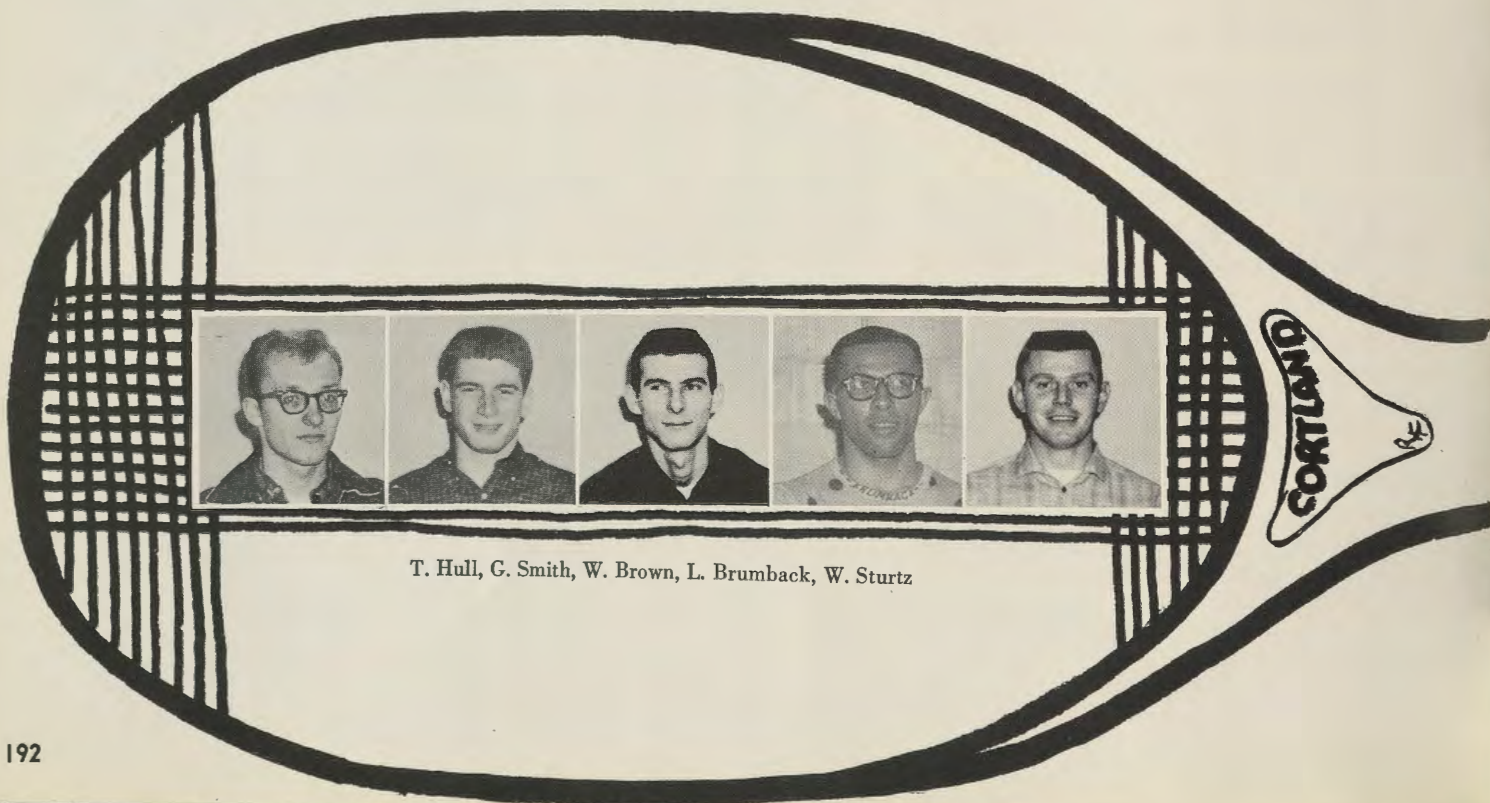

The duffers this year met such opponents as California State, Fairmont, Wheeling, Slippery Rock, Shippensburg, and Davis-Elkins.

Virtually the entire tennis team has returned to the courts for competition in the 1961 net season.

ience to aid them and through strenuous practice the State netsmen hope to improve upon last year's record.

RIFLE TEAM

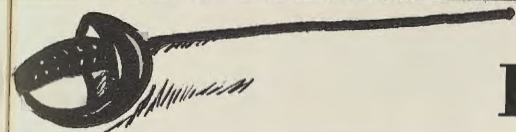

Competing for national honors under the auspices of the National Rifle Association is the Frostburg Rifle Team. The squad made its first appearance on the firing line as a competitor for State during the 1960-61 season when they defeated the Frostburg National Guard Rifle Team on the Armory firing range. Other matches included a contest against Potomac State, a rematch with the Guard team, and clashes with several rifle clubs in Cumberland.

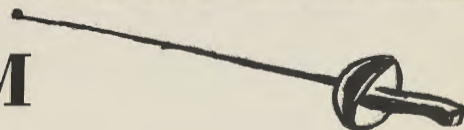

In March the team competed in a regional match held at the University of Maryland. Representing the Bobcat sharpshooters were Ted Hebb, John Hetzer, and Alton Hoopengardner. Upon a successful showing at Maryland, the squad planned to compete in a National contest at the University of Illinois.

Members of the first rifle team to represent State are: D. Nicholson, E. Morgan, J. Hetzer, C. Nies, and T. Hebb, row 1. Coach Babcock, A. Hoopengardner, J. Spessard, T. Dubel, J. Dabrowski, Sgt. R. C. Harden, and R. Frantz, row 2.

FENCING TEAM

Practicing for upcoming matches are the members of the Fencing Team. They include: Miss Grimes, advisor; J. Williams, D. Haight, B. Krumpe, R. Clemmensen, S. McKenzie.

Fencers from Frostburg recorded an early season victory over Virginia Military Institute in the opening match of the season.

The Bobcats then were to replay the Keydets, and were to meet Augusta Military and the University of North Carolina fencers in a quadrangle match at V.M.I.

The five member team under the direction of Miss Grimes also met the Fairmont Falcons in a dual match.

Having become quite efficient with the foil and sabre, the Frostburg Fencers were hoping to master the epee before the season closed.

This picture suggests the wholesome cooperation of the "town and gown." Our business manager is shown shaking hands with Mr. Edward P. Flanigan, a local businessman who helps support the school through advertising in the yearbook and also through his shop.

ADVERTISING

Each year the yearbook staff solicits its many friends and patrons for advertising copy to focus attention on the many fine business concerns in our environs and to help finance the publication costs of the yearbook. The staff feels that one of the most permanent types of advertising is the college yearbook, for such a volume has wide circulation and it has permanence. Students, numbering well over one thousand, regularly patronize the many fine businesses in the area; business and industry recognize the importance of this student market by patronizing the school through advertising and other activities.

By purchasing an "ad" for publication in Nema-colin, business and industry put their stamp of approval on us, as well as on the school at large, for what we represent in the modern world. Of course, the staff invites its many friends to patronize our advertisers, for without them this book could not be published. Indeed, the publication cost of the book is handled through student activity fees; but, without the advertising in our yearbook, the staff would have no camera with which to take its pictures, no typewriters with which to prepare copy, and no paper on which to write the copy. Our Constitution states that all monies collected in this manner must be spent for equipment. Our books are audited regularly—both by campus authorities and by State officials. This past June our business manager received a note of commendation from the State auditors for his excellent work.

In short, the staff advertises because it believes in advertising; our many friends are invited to patronize our local businessmen who help in a real way to make this history of the school year possible.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. LOWELL M. SOWERS

When I was asked to write a short tribute to Lowell Martin Sowers for the 1961 Nemacolin, I immediately thought of a talk Virginia Woolf had made on June 20, 1937, for the British Broadcasting Corporation entitled, "Words Fail Me." In the recorded portion of this address which I heard during the summer of 1960 in the "Poetry Room" of the Widener Library at Harvard University, Miss Woolf made the startling statement that we cannot use words because "words live in the mind."

And yet words are the only medium by which I can convey the esteem, the affection, and the sadness felt by members of the faculty and of the student body in having lost a beloved companion. The musician could compose a nocturne or an elegy; the artist could paint a striking likeness from a good photograph, but for me words must be both musical notes and palette and brush.

By means of words, I must portray the picture of a familiar figure, wearing a light gray suit with matching topcoat and soft gray hat, as he entered or left Lowndes Hall. In each hand he was wont to carry a "recruiting case" for, more often than not, he would be on his way to, or returning from a visit to a high school in the Eastern part of the State or in nearby Garrett County. These were always important assignments calling for his best efforts. The fact that State College's enrollment has steadily increased from year to year bears testimony to Mr. Sowers' diligence.

When he was not travelling about, he put on the white uniform of the scientist with easy grace. In this guise, he frequently visited the old Varsity Shop for a sandwich or a cup of coffee. While he waited for his order, he paused to chat about his garden, his church activities, or a forthcoming Rotary program.

His was a busy life, and his enthusiasm for his many activities cast a radiance which drew others forward to their best accomplishment. His charm and friendliness captivated not only the students in his classes, but also his associates on committees and at faculty gatherings.

On February 27, 1961, Mr. Sowers left us. The memory of his life here brings with it the reassurance that God is "working his purpose out," and in that purpose he will continue to use Mr. Sowers' talents. We rejoice in his release from suffering and pain, but on a brilliant June morning, as the academic procession moves across the campus on its way to another commencement, we shall note a "lonesome place against the sky." The bright colors symbolic of different degrees and colleges will dim, the sunshine will pale, for our marshal will not be heading that procession as he did less than one brief year ago.
