Wisdom from Below.

The Devil Has a Word to Say About a Library.

The "Devil" came down for copy one day this week and remarked as he looked at the shelves of the library: "I wish there was some way for a young man to get a chance to read in this town." The editor inquired why he didn't subscribe to the library. "O, that's good enough for people who want a novel to take home and read, but suppose a man has no private room at home, where he can be away from noise and interruption, or suppose he has to consult with several other people to find the information he wants; he had as well be a hundred miles from a library. A library open only two hours a week is not very useful. To do much good, it ought to be open all the time, day and evening, and it ought to be a great deal larger. Then a young man could take time as he could for study. The people who are most in need of a public library are the ones that are practically shut off from the one in Salisbury. They cannot afford to subscribe when there is no chance to get any benefit from it. A large town like Salisbury, a hundred miles from the nearest city, ought to have a better way of furnishing books to those in search of information. Besides a workman whose earnest doesn't want to read poetry and novels. He is after information useful and practical. In the circulating library there is no science and little political economy. The histories are pretty well represented but not well enough and one volume of history is not much use. To read history straight along takes time; the busy man only wants parts and gets along best when he has several works at command. We are not as well educated here as in some parts of the country but most of us can read and if we had a chance would be as ready to improve ourselves. What we need is a library furnished with recent works on Mechanics, science, agricultural chemistry and general information, where the farmer or merchant or newspaper man could go in the evening and study. It ought to have a reading room always open. We spend twice as much as would keep such a library going on other public affairs not so necessary." He passed for breath as we venture to suggest the difficulty of starting such an institution and also a doubt as to whether it would be used by the people. "About starting it, I don't know," he said but the thing has been done in towns no larger than this. As for its being used, it is certain that workingmen are just anxious to improve themselves as anybody. Some fancy people may not think so, but it is so. I am not afraid of its not being used." He went on his way out leaving us to reflect again on the considerable amount of truth in his view of the case.

From the Tuesday Edition.

Ship-Building—A Robbery—Real Estate Sales.

B. E. Gillis, Esq., has closed out his business. He is about to remove to Milford, Del.

The political field is remarkably clear in this county considering the long ticket to be before the people next fall. Candidates appear to be scarce.

Mr. C. M. Gillis brought in Saturday a curious egg. It was an ordinary hen's egg, but in the white was another egg no larger than that of a pigeon. With hard shell and perfect shape.

Levin M. Wilson, of Russum, bought the Horey farm Saturday for $1800.00. The Conway place was sold off by Col. S. A. Graham for $2500.00. The Roark farm and mills were bought the Saturday before by Col. L. Malone for $2105.00.

Mr. Train A. Bounds is now in town making preparations for building two of E. E. Jackson & Co's barges. They will be 118 feet keel and 23 feet beam. The depth of hold will be 7 feet. Each will carry 200,000 feet of lumber. The model is not that of a canal boat, but more like a vessel model, with sharp bow and considerable sheer. The fore and aft timbers are of white oak, and the middle ones of Virginia pine.

Saturday night's window in L. W. Gunby's store was broken and several pistols and other articles taken by unknown parties. Mr. Gunby is positive the guards were placed over the windows before he left. Mr. King says he saw the guard off at a quarter past eleven. A boy had engaged a pistol and had it placed in the window saying he would call for it. There is no proof that he is in any way connected with the affair. One pistol was brought in Monday morning, found in the road.

Delmar Notes.

Good Temperance Organized—Accident to W. H. German.

The new firm of Elliott and Ellis have begun business and the new store presents quite an attractive appearance. Thomas Stevens, son of the late Richard Stevens, who had been in ill health for some time died on Monday and was buried on Wednesday. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. Q. White.

M. J. Dow of Malvern gave a lecture on Temperance Saturday evening and organized a lodge of Good Templars with the following officers: B. M. Dunn, W. C. T. Miss Annie Melson, W. V. T. G. W. Wilcox, Chaplain, W. T. Simon, W. S. S. J. Moore, W. A. S. Miss Ella Melson, W. F. S. W. S. Hitchens, W. T. John Gillis, M. J. Miss Emma Hill, W. D. M. Geo. Hanson, W. O. G. Joe. Gillis, W. L. G. Misses Coraella Moore and Ida Melson, R. & L. H. S. S. K. Simons, L. D.

M. H. German, while hauling timber on Tuesday afternoon lost control of his team. He fell and one wheel of the cart passed over his arm and shoulder, but passing over a portion of a fence at the same time the fall weight was prevented from pressing upon him. He was brought home and medical attention summoned. He is confined to the bed, but it is thought that no very serious injuries are sustained. The horse with the cart was caught about a mile from the scene of the accident.

Twelve new buildings are to be erected in Denton during the coming summer, with a probability of the number being increased to fifteen. Seven of these buildings will be private residences.

Samuel T. Adams and Judge Griffith both of Baltimore with John B. Williams of Eastville, Northampton county, are about to build a cannery at Eastville. Oysters, clams, fruits and vegetables will be canned.

The steamer Artisan will resume her trips on the Nantuxcoke river line between Seaford and Baltimore about the 10th of March. The steamer is being thoroughly refitted and will be every way first-class for the coming season's trade.

The annual report of George J. Meekins, county treasurer of Dorchester for 1882 is a complete and satisfactory statement. It shows the gross receipts to have been $64,555.05, disbursements $61,315.20, and a cash balance of $3,239.85.

Delaware's governor has not been in the habit of residing at the capital in fact there has been no house there for him to live in unless he rented one. The present legislature has under consideration a measure looking to the providing of a house in Dover for the governor.

Bayard Phillips, a negro about 60 years old, was committed to jail at Georgetown on Tuesday in default of paying a fine of $25 for cruelty to dumb animals. The man was engaged in cutting brush, a cow clanked to get in his way, when he struck her with his axe, cutting a terrible gash in her back and killing her instantly.

Elwood S. Stout secured a place as compositor at the Delaware Ledger office at Newark, joined the Methodist church and was just on the point of marrying a young woman of the congregation when a letter of inquiry sent to Stout's home in Frenchtown, N. J., brought the information that he has a wife and three children in that place. Stout fled for parts unknown.

A colored man named Gibbs drowned himself at Ferry Landing (on the Choptank river a few miles from Preston, in Dorchester county, Md.) on Tuesday night. He had previously tried to cut his throat and being prevented by his wife from so doing ran to the river and sprang in. Gibbs was tenant on a farm belonging to Dr. Benson of Greensboro, and came from that neighborhood a year ago. Disappointment over not growing as large crops as he had expected and consequent financial distress are assigned as reasons for his suicide.

The residence of Edward Stoops, which is on the DuPont farm, about one mile from New Castle on the Hare's Corner road, was entered by burglars who chloroformed the inmates of the building and then stole about $150 worth of wearing apparel. Among the articles carried off was a suit of wedding clothes which had been purchased the day before by a member of the household. Mr. Stoops's children suffered more from the robbers than any other person in the family. All the clothing they owned, except what they had upon their person was stolen. All the dogs upon the premises were chloroformed.

By invitation of the pastor, Rev. F. T. Tucker, of the M. F. Church, the Sunday School scholars, officers and teachers, and members of his church assembled in the lecture room last Friday evening to indulge in a social reunion previous to the pastor's departure for other fields of labor. Everybody present was invited to a supper, which was spread out in the basement of the building, and each person seemed to enjoy his neighbor in doing full justice there. Later in the evening a purse, containing $50, was presented to the pastor, which completely took him by surprise. This event brought forth a number of speakers who eulogized Mr. Tagg for the efficient work done by him during his stay in Easton. It was an evening long to be remembered by those participating in the festivities.—Star.

One of the printing offices in Talbot county has an apprentice who would rather any time lie down on the paper table and take a nap than work. His drowsiness becoming worse daily, one of the compositors, who became worried by this exhibition of laziness, complained to the lad's mother, and she promised him that she would lighten up his load, and if he laid down again to tell her. The next day the boy duly appeared at the office looking careworn and feeble, but as the day wore on he could not resist the temptation to lie down and take his usual nap. The compositor complained again to his maternal parent, and the second day the boy showed up looking greatly the worse for wear. After awhile he stated that he was cured, as his mother was giving him catnip tea and intended doubling the dose every time he laid down in the office. It was a novel cure she adopted but an effective one.

Two Old Citizens Dead.

Upright Men and Good Christian Men in Life and Death.

On the 18th inst. at his residence, near Delmar, Benjamin Elliott died of pneumonia in his sixty-fifth year. The remains were buried Sunday, the services being conducted by Rev. G. W. Wilcox, who preached from I. Cor. XIII. 12. A concourse of friends from Salisbury, Laurel, Delaware and other towns as well as the immediate neighborhood was present. It is not often that so many persons are seen at a funeral. The deceased was a man of pure and honorable life, of whom none had ever spoken an unkind word. Tender to his family, true to his friends and pleasant to all, he was respected and loved universally. For over fifty years he had been a member of the M. E. church and for many years was leader and exhorter. He died as he lived in the full faith of his religion. He had strong convictions and was a life-long believer in the principles of the democratic party, though never a politician nor offensive in asserting his beliefs. He was a warmhearted, honorable, unselfish gentleman. A widow, his second wife survives him and several children, all the offspring of his first marriage. His first wife was a sister of Elijah Gordy, Esq., and his second a sister of Mrs. S. Q. White, of this place.

William Rounds, who also lived near Delmar, died Monday. He was a brother to John Rounds whose piety was an example to the Christians of this county for so many years. William was like John in many respects. He was 83 years old and had been for 31 years a member of the M. E. church. He was an earnest Christian, zealous and faithful in the cause of religion. He was always poor in this world's goods, but never was without the friendship and respect of those who knew how to appreciate his good qualities. Rev. G. W. Wilcox also preached the funeral sermon over his remains. Rev. Elijah E. White assisted and Rev. S. Q. White, who had been a life-long friend, added a few words as a tribute to the memory of the departed. The service was held at the residence of the deceased and was the grandest of the kind. "I know that my Redeemer lives," Mr. Rounds was also a warm adherent of the democratic party in politics and was nearly always present at the polls on election days even when he had become enfeebled by his great age.

Delmar Baptists.

Recent Services—An Endeavor to Secure a New Place of Worship.

Editor Advertiser—In November last John T. Craig, S. S. Missionary of the American Baptist Publication Society for Delaware visited and preached at this place for the first time. On his second visit, in December, a Sunday School was organized with thirty members. It has since increased in members and interest.

Mr. Craig has visited here and preached once a month since that time, and on Friday evening 8th inst., a series of meetings was begun in which much interest has been manifested. A large number of the people in the presence of a large concourse of people. It was estimated that from one thousand to fifteen hundred persons were present.

The meetings have been continued this week with interest and it is expected that the church will be organized and administered to others on Sunday 25th inst.

The members of the denomination contemplate the erection of a house of worship at an early day, for which purpose subscriptions amounting to nearly $800 have been received, and also where. More will be required to finish the building as desired.

Mr. Craig endeavors to impress upon the minds of his hearers that giving of their means for the extension of the gospel is an act of worship, so that if any of the readers of this paper are desirous of contributing toward the erection of this house of worship, their contributions will be gratefully received and promptly acknowledged if sent to the chairman of the building committee, S. K. Stemons, Delmar, Sussex County, Delaware.

The appearance docket is very light so far and from other indications, the term of Court which begins next Monday will be short and not very important.

Marion Adams was tried before Justice Dashiell Monday morning charged with setting a fish well in a creek. There was no law to hold him and he was discharged.

Rev. J. A. B. Wilson, the new Presiding Elder of the M. E. church, is looking for a suitable house in Salisbury. They seem to be scarce, and perhaps he will have to locate in Princess Anne.

Thomas McKillister got into a quarrel with several colored men near the depot Saturday night and came out with a cut head. A blackjack inflicted the wound which was serious. The party who struck him is not known.

A case of considerable interest to a family in this county has turned up in Charleston, S. C. A gentleman named Malone died there recently without heirs in that state. He stated to a lawyer there before his death, that he was related to the Malone family on this Peninsula. He left an estate of about thirty thousand dollars. An inquiry was sent here to Col. L. Malone. At first not much importance was attached to the affair as the only relative they knew who could have been the person, is dead. But it now begins to appear more tangible and a probability exists that the family here are the heirs.

What the Newspapers May Say in Various Subjects.

A genuine seal four feet long was recently caught in Accomac county waters.

An earthquake was felt in parts of Harford and Baltimore counties one night recently.

A three-year-old child of William Jones of the Milford neighborhood was burned to death on Monday last.

Strawberries from the South have been selling in Baltimore from $2 to $3 per quart. An expensive luxury.

Richard A. Crothers, a well-known Cecil county Democrat, died at his home in North East this week, aged 70 years.

The Rev. Henry Bumer, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at St. Georges, has been holding revival services at his church.

At a public sale in Cecil county a few days since about 20 cents per pound. This shows the great scarcity of hogs. They are very scarce but not quite so high in this section.

Mr. Sutro, the president of the Ontario Society in Baltimore, is trying to raise $300,000 for the erection of a music hall in that city. It is proposed to hold a musical festival there on April 26, 27 and 28.

Hon. Geo. W. Covington has appointed John L. Wethered, of Talbot, a cadet at the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, from the first congressional district of Maryland, vice Pearce Crisfield, resigned.

Notice is given by the lighthouse board that a fog bell, struck by machinery, has been established on the west side of the lighthouse at Bloody Point Bar, Kent Island, Md. During thick and foggy weather this bell will be sounded, giving one blow at intervals of twelve seconds.

An egg buyer of Milford took in 2100 dozen of eggs in 16 days. They were gathered up by wagon from farm house to farm house and he reports that the egg supply is greater this season than he ever knew it before. It is a fact that on many farms the poultry and egg crop is far more valuable than the grain raised.—Milford Chronicle.

Pneumonia is far more reason more prevalent than usual this year in all parts of the country, and it is also uncommonly fatal. Carelessness in regard to taking sudden colds is assigned by physicians as one of the principal causes of the dread disease. March is proverbially a month of changing weather and very severe on the throat and lungs.

A lady from Wilmington visited the Register's office last Monday and apologized for failing to keep an appointment on the preceding Monday, by stating that she was then suffering from an attack of the small-pox. But, inasmuch as she had a physician's certificate stating that she fully recovered, the obliging Register, who would have gladly excused her absence, transacted his business with her as soon as possible, and much to his relief she left the office.—Cecil Democrat.

A statistical statement of the work of the Wilmington Conference for the year ending March 7th, 1883: Number of probationers, 3,676; increase of probationers, 182; 419; full members in church, 26,623; increase of full members, 1,177; value of churches, $1,248,628; increase in value of churches, $130,228; value of the parsonages, $143,900; paid for improving church parsonages 1882, $49,811; paid on old indebtedness, $13,861; present indebtedness on church property, $39,415; Sunday school officers and teachers, 4,586; scholars, 30,185; paid for missions, $18,983 increase over 1882, $1,197; for bishops, elders and pastors, $27,882; current expenses, including Sunday schools, $27,275; conference claimants, $4,617; an increase of $1,245; general benevolent collection, $5,714.84.

Of Accomac and Northampton counties the Eastern Shore Herald says: "Under the generous hand of cultivation, there is, we believe, no section of our country, (all things considered), which is better suited for trucks than the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Surprising to say there are many who believe that this section is nothing more than a sand ridge; that the water is salt, quagmires thick, and fever prevalent, etc. All this is an entire mistake. The great desideratum is labor. With a good system established, the country is a very inviting one for farmers, especially those who delight in trucking. We need an additional population of about 10,000 persons, good truckers, good mechanics, good laborers, people who are not afraid of work, who work for the money."

Advices from Oriskany to the Baltimore Sun state that during a heavy wind last Thursday night the tug Jaspier Jaspier and Industry collided in the mouth of the Wicomico river, where they were going for harbor. The captain tried to run the Jaspier on shore, but she sank before she reached it. Several boats tried to reach her, but as it was snowing and the night was dark they could not locate her. In the morning the captain and two men were found lashed in the rigging, one of them being already frozen to death. The four others of the crew not being lashed had dropped off during the night from cold and exhaustion and were drowned. The survivors were brought to that port by the Anna Crosswell, and have fully recovered from their exposure and sufferings. The Jaspier was owned by Captain David Evans. No attempt will be made to raise her. The drowned men are said to have been Germans shipped from Baltimore.

Daniel Smith, near Delmar, died Wednesday.

An Unexplained Accident.

A Man Found in the Street with his skull Fractured.

About ten o'clock Saturday night, John Brown, a young man who lives near Fruitland, was found lying in the middle of the street, near the Episcopal Church. It was thought at first to be a case of intoxication, but examination disclosed a wound on the head, just above the right eye. Ballist Kennerly had him taken to the jail, in lieu of a hospital and Dr. Todd was called in. The skull was found to be crushed making a very dangerous, probably fatal wound. Brown was rational, but could give no intelligible account of how he was hurt. He was drinking in the early part of the evening and was considerably under the influence of liquor. A little while before he was found, Bill Leonard, an employee of Richardson and Deaf's livery stables was riding horseback at that place, and came near as he thought running over the man who was then lying in the same place where he was found. He and two gentlemen passing by tried to raise Brown up, but he resisted and they left him. They did not notice any wound. When the injury was made known, or after, does not seem to appear. Brown was taken to his home Sunday morning.

THE GIRLS.

Hear the laughter of the girls—

Pretty girls!

What a fund of merriment such only they can furnish!

How they chatter, chatter, chatter,

How they laugh, laugh, laugh,

While the stars that over-arch

All the heavens hear their laughter

In a soft and mild delight,

Keeping time, time, time,

In a softer-laden rhyme,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,

To the lullaby of the night,
