Kennerly Wins Over Walls In Primary Elections, Tuesday

Gets 349 Votes Against His Opponents 287; Majority Of 62.

TWO COUNCILMANIC CANDIDATES TIED

Bennett And Dickerson Poll 353 Votes Each. Hitch Gets 354 But Reports Say One Vote Will Be Excluded. This Will Tie Him With Other Two. Will Necessitate Recount of Votes.

Six hundred and thirty six of Salisbury's voters went to the primary polls on Tuesday and voted for their choice of Democratic candidates for nomination to city office, to be elected on May 3. The election was the closest in the history of the city. Two candidates for councilmanic nomination being tied with 353 votes each with the possibility of a third tying with them.

John W. Serman led the entire ticket with a total of 516 votes. Wade H. Insley was the low man of the day with 312 votes.

W. Arthur Kennerly and Albert M. Walls, candidates for mayoral nomination, ran a very close race. Mr. Kennerly receiving 349 votes and Mr. Walls, 287. Mr. Kennerly's majority is 62.

The vote on all candidates for nomination is given below:

For Mayor
W. Arthur Kennerly	349
Albert M. Walls	287
For Council
Charles E. Bennett	353
C. L. Dickerson	353
Ernest B. Hitch	354
John W. Serman	516
Wade H. Insley	312

While Mr. Hitch seems to have a lead of one vote over Messrs. Bennett and Dickerson, it is learned just as The News goes to press that included in his count was one vote marked for Mr. Kennerly and for Mr. Hitch which was technically a spoiled ballot because of its having another lead pencil cross mark made upon its face. The election judges, it is said decided to admit the ballot as a vote for Kennerly and Hitch, but later when it was found that two candidates were tied and that there were only one vote behind Mr. Hitch, decided to exclude that improperly marked ballot.

If it is true that this Kennerly-Hitch ballot is thrown out, Mr. Kennerly's lead over Mr. Walls is reduced to 61, and Mr. Hitch enters the tie with Messrs. Bennett and Dickerson for the councilmanic nomination.

Of course there will be a recount of the vote for Bennett and Dickerson, and possibly for Mr. Hitch. Certainly the Hitch vote will be recounted should it be true that the alleged improperly marked ballot is excluded; and possibly there may be a recount of his vote even though this ballot is not excluded, in view of the fact that his lead over his next nearest opponents is but one vote.

Mr. Bennett is an openly avowed advocate of the proposed location of the Farmers & Planters Co., fertilizer factory on Mill street. Mr. Dickerson, while not committing himself on the subject, is reported to feel as Mr. Bennett feels in the matter. Mr. Hitch is also uncommitted, but his friends say that he does not favor the location of a fertilizer or any other factory in a section of the city where it would

FIRE THREATENS PRINCESS ANNE

Nine Buildings Destroyed There On Monday Afternoon. Salisbury Firemen Save The Situation.

Fire which threatened the entire northern section of Princess Anne and which destroyed nine buildings in that place on Monday afternoon, was started in the upper floor of a building used as a livery stable by S. D. Murray. It is presumed by boys playing with matches.

The fire which was discovered, at about 2 o'clock, had gained rapid headway before the town's firemen could get on the scene; and fanned by a stiff southwest wind, the flames spread so quickly that the fire was soon beyond the control of the Princess Anne department. Calls for help were sent to Salisbury, Crisfield and Pocomoke City.

Shortly before 2 o'clock the Salisbury fire fighters began speeding on their way to the relief of Princess Anne and with their arrival there the flames were almost immediately brought under control in spite of the fact that there was some difficulty in getting water to the flames because the local hose equipment was not fitted for the Princess Anne fire plugs.

The buildings destroyed by the fire were the homes of Mrs. Uriah Lankford, Columbus Lankford, Mrs. Hayman, Mrs. Upshur Dixon and S. D. Murray; The barns of J. T. Taylor, W. J. Brown, George Powell and S. D. Murray. The contents of each of the destroyed buildings are said to have been a total loss. The loss of a brand new Buick car and a mule is also reported. It is estimated that the fire damage will aggregate more than $50,000.

The Crisfield firemen arrived on the scene after the Princess Anne and Salisbury departments had checked the progress of the flames and the Pocomoke department did not put in an appearance. As soon as it was ascertained that the fire was of considerable proportions, The Wicomico News sent a representative to Princess Anne by automobile to ascertain the facts for the benefit of the paper's readers.

It is safe to say that without the assistance of the Salisbury firemen, the entire northern section of Princess Anne would have been destroyed. It is a fact that the Princess Anne department found itself unequal to the task before it because of its inadequate equipment, though its members fought bravely and doggedly to save their neighbors' homes and properties.

WILL COMPLETE ALL IMPROVEMENTS SOON

Dorman & Smyth Store Is Given 50 Per Cent. More Working Space By Rearrangement of Interior.

The hardware firm of Dorman and Smyth in this city expects to complete, early next week, its extensive store alterations which have been being made since January under the direction of W. E. Booth.

The entire building has been changed, the office in the center of the first floor having been removed and replaced by floor space, the building of a large mezzanine floor in the front part of the building for office purposes alone, the substitution of large front windows instead of the small ones that were there before, the tearing down of all shelves in the back and side sections of the store replaced by modern ones holding twice the former amount, and the entire rearrangement and greatly increased stock, complete the changes.

All the paints have been placed in the rear of the store, stoves on the side nearest Dock street and seeds and farming implements on the opposite side.

The greatest improvement that has been made however is the installation of the Lawson Electrical Cash Carrier system which is the only one in Salisbury. It is noiseless, and swift and covers the entire building, where before the cash register in the office forced all clerks to go there to record a sale.

The improvements mount into the thousands of dollars, a conservative estimate of one of the owners being over $5,000.00.

The recent acquirement of the complete line of the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. greatly increased the need of more floor space and even before that, conditions were too crowded to continue but now with a 50 per cent increased stock which is the figure given the News reporter, customers will not be crowded.

W. E. Booth, the contractor in charge, says that this is one of the most complete propositions handled by him for a business houses in Salisbury.

Endorses School Bond Issue

Campaign Committee for the School Bond Issue, Salisbury, Maryland.

Gentlemen:

It is my opinion that the best way to finance almost any needed enterprise is through the use of capital. There can be no question but that we need schools and need them badly. To pay for them all at one time would mean a decided hardship on the taxpayers, and as new buildings will last a long number of years, it seems altogether desirable that we should borrow the money to erect the buildings and give our children the education they need.

Nothing can be more expensive than ignorance and I know of nothing worth more than a good education. It gives me pleasure to subscribe to this bond issue proposition, and I hope there will be very few voters in this county to oppose it.

Yours very truly,

FRED P. ADKINS,

President Salisbury Chamber of Commerce.
President E. S. Adkins & Co.

Making An Effort To

Check Census

Chamber Of Commerce Gets Report. Many People Of City Were Not Enumerated In Recent Census.

It has been reported to the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce that there are several residents, white and colored, of this city whose names were not taken in the making of the 1920 Federal census, a work just recently completed.

In order that every resident of this city, of every race, color, creed and age, may be properly enumerated, the Chamber of Commerce asks those persons who believe that their names were not taken, to fill out the following blank form, cut it from the paper and mail it to The Salisbury Chamber of Commerce.

I have reason to believe that my name was not taken in the making of the 1920 census.

Name _____

Address _____

This is a matter which demands the immediate attention of those people, if any, who were not enumerated so that steps may be taken to give credit to Salisbury for its complete population.

AMERICAN LEGION

FAVORS BOND ISSUE

Former Fighters for Humanity and Democracy Believe School Children Should Have Square Deal.

The local post of the American Legion, in a regular meeting on Monday night went on record as favoring the school bond issue. When the motion was put, there was but one dissenting vote. Standing for true Americanism as it does, the legion believes that the needs of the county and the advancement of the country can be best served by better schools and more of them.

On discussion of the Liberty building as proposed by H. W. Carty in the county papers last week, the legion passed a resolution, already adopted by the executive committee, to the effect that it would cordially support any sincere movement on the part of the citizens in regard to a memorial; that it would not advocate its own ideas until the citizens had had ample time to decide and to act; but in the event of the citizens failing to take the initiative, the legion pledged itself to see that the dead of Wicomico county are fittingly commemorated.

The following men were elected to the executive committee: Calvert L. Estill, John K. Gunby, S. T. Bailey, E. E. Powell, and Howard H. Ruark. The legion received a proposal for a street carnival to be held during the week of April 19; but left the deciding action to the executive committee.

Owners Willing To Co-operate In Matter Of Solving Housing Problems.

THREE PARTIES MAKE

LIBERAL PROPOSITIONS

R. D. Grier Chairman Of Housing Committee Of Chamber Of Commerce Makes Report On Thursday Which Shows He Is Actively Engaged In The Work.

Within a week of his appointment as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Housing committee, R. D. Grier on Thursday night reported such progress as to give absolute assurance of his activity in his work and to indicate that he and his co-workers will find a solution of the city's housing problems very quickly.

Mr. Grier reported that his committee has reached no definite conclusions. They have done a great deal of investigating and have consulted with several people and municipalities which have worked out similar housing problems. They have considered the buying of houses owned by the U. S. government at the army cantonments, these houses having already been bought by so-called wrecking companies who will re-sell them and erect them here. The committee, Mr. Grier said, is also looking into the portable house question with the view of arriving at a quick solution of Salisbury's need for more homes.

However, Mr. Grier is of the opinion that the greatest difficulty to be met with will be the question of erecting houses at prices which working men can afford to pay. Mr. Grier is sure that there will be no difficulty in getting the capital with which to carry on the housing development. He said that Robert G. Walker, architect, has given the committee valuable assistance and called on Mr. Walker for a report.

Mr. Walker said he had figured building houses at a cost of from $2,600 to $3,000. This price he thinks can be held to, if a sufficient number of houses are built. These will be six room, segregated frame structures with pipeless furnace heat, electric lights, bath and modern plumbing.

Some of the members of the Chamber present questioned the advisability of erecting houses of this character for all of the several classes of working people and expressed the opinion that much of the labor would be better able to pay rentals for cheaper houses, even though the cheaper houses do not offer all of the more modern improvements. While no definite action was taken in the matter, the whole situation being left to the committee to work out, it was practically decided that all of the houses to be erected shall not be of the same class, but that some be a cheaper grade than the others and that the cheaper and the higher grades be kept in groups by themselves.

Mr. Walker reported that three responsible parties have offered to permit the use of their land for the proposed housing development without cost to the Chamber of Commerce. Their proposition is to let the Chamber have their land on a 40 per cent reservation basis. That is to say they will permit the Chamber to cover 60 per cent of their land with housing improvements, reserving the remaining 40 per cent for themselves, depending upon the improvements made by the Chamber on its 60 per cent of the land to rapidly enhance the value of their reserved holdings.

The committee was continued and will make a further report at a meeting of the Chamber next Thursday night.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

TO MEET TONIGHT

There will be a very important meeting of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock sharp. At this meeting, matters of vital importance to the city and county will be discussed and a full attendance of all the members is earnestly desired. If the meeting can be started promptly at 8 o'clock, the business can be expedited and the meeting quickly concluded.

HEALTH HINTS.

Miss Margaret G. Laws, Red Cross Public Health nurse in Wicomico county has consented to write for The News each week an article on the care of health and prevention of disease and sickness. This is the first of Miss Laws' articles.

TIMELY HINTS

ON CHILD HEALTH

Questions Every Mother Should Ask Herself At The Close Of The Day.

Did each child take about a quart of milk in some form? Has the milk that comes to my house been handled in a clean way? If I was obliged to serve skim milk for the sake of cleanliness or economy, did I supply a little extra fat?

Were the fats of the wholesome kind found in milk, cream, butter, and salad oils, or of the unwholesome kind found in doughnuts and other fried foods?

Did I make good use of all skim milk in the preparation of cereal mushes, puddings, or otherwise? Were cereals thoroughly cooked? Was the bread soggy? If so, was it because the loaves were too large, or not cooked long enough? Did I take pains to get a variety of foods from the cereal group by serving a cereal mush once during the day?

Did I keep in mind that cereal foods, while good in themselves, do not take the place of meat, milk, eggs, fruit, and vegetables? Did I keep in mind that children who do not have plenty of fruit and vegetables need whole wheat bread and whole grains served in other ways?

Did each child have an egg or its equivalent in meat, fish, or poultry? Did any child have more than this of flesh foods or eggs? If so, might the money not have been better spent for fruits or vegetables? If unable to get milk, meat, fish, poultry, or eggs, did I serve dried beans, or other legumes thoroughly cooked and carefully seasoned?

Were vegetables and fruits both on the day's bill of fare once? Might we have raised them in our home garden? Did fruit or vegetable disagree with the child? If so, ought I to have cooked it more thoroughly, chopped it more finely, or removed the skins or seeds?

Were sweets given between meals, or anything that tempted the child to eat when he was not hungry? Was he allowed to eat sweets when he should have been having substantial foods? Were sweets given unmixed with much fat or with hard substances difficult to chew, and not too highly flavored?

Was the food served in a neat and orderly way, and did the child chew his food properly?

SUGAR IS SHORT

PRICES WILL SOAR

Reports Say Price Will Jump To 30 Cents Or More A Pound Within A Few Weeks.

Housewives should take warning and lay in a supply of sugar; for the reports of the day indicate that within a few weeks the supply will be shorter than it has been at any time previously within the last year, and that the price per pound will soar to 30 cents or more.

Already certain lines of business are beginning to feel the pinch of shortage. One ice cream manufacturer in a nearby city has been unable to lay in a supply of sugar, except by buying a large order of groceries with it, and he said to a News man on Saturday.

"If I have to buy groceries at this rate to get sugar to operate my business all through the summer, by next fall I'll have a grocery stock bigger than that of the biggest wholesale grocery house on the Eastern Shore."

Just why a sugar shortage and high prices are threatened, no one seems to know; but the fact remains that the report is current that sugar will be almost a minus quantity within a few weeks and that the price per pound will be higher than it has been during the last four or five years.

There will be a social at Pusey's school on Friday evening, April 16.

This is Your GUARANTEE of Potash and Fish in Your Sweet Potato Fertilizer

Are you one of those farmers who think you are saving money by buying an unknown, untried brand of fertilizer because it costs a little less?

If you are, you are making a big mistake, because the results produced are in proportion to the analysis of the fertilizer. A low analysis fertilizer will result in disappointing yields, whereas a high analysis fertilizer made with Fish will produce much more than enough to pay for the slight increase in cost.

When you use fertilizers, guarantee your investment by using a standard brand. You can do this by using TILGHMAN'S. Our name on the bag is your guarantee of a fertilizer that produces. It is your guarantee of a fertilizer containing high proportions of Potash and Fish, the two ingredients so necessary in plant foods.

Success of School Bond Issue Seems Assured

Reports Made To Chamber Of Commerce Indicate Opposition To Measure Is Fast Weakening And That Great Majority Of Voters Will Support The Bonding Proposition. Bonds Will Be Voted On Monday, May 3.

CHAMBER MEMBERS HARD AT WORK.

There appears to be no question in the minds of the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Salisbury regarding the success of their effort to have the $200,000 school bond issue approved by the voters of the county on Monday, May 3.

At a meeting of the Chamber on Thursday night it was shown by the reports of H. W. Carty, manager of the School Bond Issue campaign, and his several workers, that a systematic campaign in the interests of the bond issue is being waged by the Chamber. Meetings are being held almost nightly and quiet educational work is being done at all times.

There is no denying that there is opposition to the bond issue in certain sections of the county; but it is believed that the great majority of the voters realize the necessity of approving the bond issue in order that the county may be given adequate schools and educational facilities, and that those who favor the measure will greatly outnumber its opponents.

Mr. Carty has arranged a plan under which each election district is to be made the scene of an active campaign for the bond issue. Each district is to have a chairman who is a member of the Chamber and each chairman will have two associates, representatives of the Chamber. In addition, the chairman will have the assistance of the prominent people in the district of which he is the chairman, and it will be his job to thoroughly canvass the district in an effort to create sentiment for the bond issue. The plan promises success and the Chamber of Commerce members are enthusiastic to begin work. Public meetings will be held in each election district, visits will be made at the home of the residents. Literature will be circulated and speeches will be made.

It is reported that much of the opposition which was originally shown toward the bond issue has disappeared, that its opponents, and they are opponents almost solely for selfish or political reasons, are making no concerted drive, but are confining their efforts to curb stone arguments.

The bond issue is going to succeed. This is the opinion of the men in Salisbury who for several weeks have studied the situation; and the most prominent business men as well as the most public spirited call upon the voters to go to the polls on Monday, May 3 and support with all their might, a bond issue that will give to the children of the county a chance to make of themselves good citizens.

Meetings of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce will be held each Thursday night until after the School Board Issue election on May 3.

CHILD'S RIGHT TO HAPPINESS

Fathers Should Become Companions And Friends Of Their Children, And Share In Their Games and Talks.

By Nathan G. Schaeffer.

A man in middle life once wrote to his parents, "I shall never cease to be thankful for the happy boyhood which my father and mother gave me. It is a treasure house of memories more valuable than gold and silver."

Fathers sometimes forget that children have the right to be happy at home as well as at school. Let fathers become the friends and companions of their children, share in the Sunday walks and talks, evening games and stories, help with studies or take an interest in inspecting some achievement. The right relationship between father and child will increase when mothers cease to resort to the father's discipline and punishment as a threat for disobedience. Any man prefers to work and sacrifice for an affectionate, confiding child than for one who has been led to consider him a harsh and strict disciplinarian.

Almost anything which a child can claim as his very own, can protect and care for will serve to develop his affections, and increase his sense of responsibility and self-respect. A dog, a cat, rabbits, guinea pigs, pets of any kind are a source of joy to any child, for it takes very little to make healthy children happy.

Playmates are helpful in adding joy to the child's life, and an only child should frequently have playmates. Little friends should be invited to the home, and the child encouraged to share his toys with them. Every child, too, should have the opportunity to go to the social kindergarten, for in its democratic atmosphere, little people of all types come together. The over-indulged, the neglected, the shy and the backward all meet on common ground and learn adaptability and self-control in their happy activities.

There is nothing which a boy dislikes more than idleness and inactivity. On the other hand, toil and fatigue, day after day stunt growth and take the joy out of life. A certain farmer once complained that the school enticed all his children away from the old farm. Upon inquiry, it was found that he assigned useless tasks on rainy days to keep them busy and that they never had any time for play or recreation. The leisure and the companionship of the school were the only relief from drudgery which those children ever knew, and only through compulsory attendance laws was that relief insured them. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." On the other hand, all play and no work is the curse of the rich man's son.

Every child finds satisfaction in work for which he receives pay. So-called projects from which he derives an income and for which he is responsible, give him a taste for work and develop an appreciation for the value of money. "I'll pay you back when we get home" whispered a self-respecting son of nine as he watched his father pay the family carfare one Sunday morning. A smile crept over the kindly face of the father as he replied "No indeed, Sonny."

Both city and country children have opportunities to earn money. Though a farm may be the graveyard of talent, it is the best place to spend one's childhood if life there is coupled with good school advantages.

For a Severe Cold.
"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured my daughter Anna of a severe cold and cough a few years ago and ever since then I have never missed an opportunity to recommend this medicine to anyone suffering from throat or lung troubles. I cannot speak too highly in praise of it," writes Mrs. D. J. Shelley, Earlville, N. Y. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no narcotic and may be given to children with perfect confidence. It is a pleasant syrup so they do not object to taking it. —Adv't.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

The members of Salisbury's Chamber of Commerce are vitally interested in the matter of solving the need for more houses in this city and the committee headed by R. D. Grier which has the actual working out of a solution of the problem in hand is working hard at its task. But it is a big problem.

At the meeting of the Chamber on Thursday night the type of houses to be erected was discussed. The ideas presented seemed to indicate that only single family and segregated or semi-segregated houses are being considered; and that the idea of the two or three family house, such as is very popular even in the most restricted residential sections of the Bronx, Mount Vernon, Pelham Manor and others of New York's adjacent towns, have not been considered.

In Bridgeport, Conn., at the beginning of the war, The Remington Arms Co., erected a village of several hundreds of these two and three families within a period of about three months. In fact all through the New England states this type of house for people of the middle class is highly popular.

According to the amount of money invested in their construction, these houses with a single family on a floor, each with its private entrance both front and rear, each with its own heating plant its own porch, its own cellar, has from five to six rooms. These consist of a living room, dining room, kitchen and bed rooms, and bath. Such houses, or floors, rent according to their location and construction from $20 to $50 a month and upward.

In the case of those houses which accommodate two families, it is the contention of their owners and builders that the construction cost is about one and a half times the cost of two single family houses. Rentals for the first floor are usually less than those charged for the second in two family houses and in the three family houses the rentals for the first and third floors are a little less than those charged for the middle floor.

The houses if properly designed, closely resemble the usual single family house. There is nothing about their exterior appearance, especially in the case of the two family houses, to indicate that they are not the homes of single families.

It is just possible that those in charge of the task of solving the housing problem which now confronts Salisbury may find in the two and three family houses a suggestion which may be of benefit. It will be a very easy matter to obtain pictures and plans of such houses should they be desired.

KEEP THE TAX RATE DOWN.

The School Bond Issue!

This is the paramount issue of the day in Wicomico county.

Whether or not the voters of the county will approve it on May 3, is the burning question.

Great importance attaches itself to this question because it so seriously affects the futures of the county's children and because it may or may not seriously affect the next county tax rate, by causing a great increase in that rate, in the improbable event of the people failing to sanction the bond issue.

Here is one thing as certain as gospel.

If the money needed for the improvement of the schools in this county is not raised by a long term bond issue such as is now proposed, the money will be raised by a direct tax upon the people. The need of the money for the schools is an absolute, a crying need. Too long already the schools and the schools' equipment have been neglected. The educations of the children are suffering, and the children within a few years will look back upon the voters of today and wonder how we could have been so short sighted and so selfish as to deprive them of the educational advantages to which as free born American citizens they were entitled.

If the people who are the tax payers of Wicomico county are willing to dig down in their pockets and pay a tax rate of $3.00 or more on each $100 of their taxable property, then it is without doubt best to raise the $200,000 needed for schools by a direct tax, no matter how high the tax rate may be.

It is not fair however to suppose that the people will be willing to pay such a tax rate—and such a rate will not be necessary if the money for the school improvements is raised by a bond issue. If the bonds are not issued, a very high tax rate will be necessary because the money for the schools MUST be raised.

The school children of the county should not be forced to get along in a haphazard fashion in the matter of getting their educations. They are entitled to the very best that the county can give them. They are not alone entitled to the best, but they MUST HAVE THE BEST.

If their fathers will not support the bond issue by which ample provision is made for the needs of the children, then in the interests of good Americanism, good citizenship and sound democracy, it will be the duty of the county's School board to recommend to the County Commissioners that the money needed by the schools and the county's free educational system, be raised in some other way;—and the only other way to raise the money is by a direct tax which will take from the farmers and the working men of the county, all in one year, a vast amount of their hard earned money.

The money for the schools must be and will be provided, because it is needed! By the bond issue method, the increase in the tax rate will not be noticeable in any one year. By the direct tax method a tax rate which will be unbearable will be created.

Vote for the bond issue on Monday, May 3, and give the children the money they need in the schools, while at the same time you are protecting yourself against a burdensome tax rate.

LET'S HAVE A SPOTLESS TOWN.

The spring season has arrived and with it the usual season of house cleaning; and this house cleaning season should be applied to homes, business houses and cities.

Doubtless the housewives of the city have cleaned their homes and are planning to do so; and doubtless many of the business houses have swept away the winter's accumulation of waste matter; but the streets of Salisbury, especially in and near the business center, in spite of the fact that spring has come with its warm, glowing sunshine, are very often dirty.

Great quantities of waste paper are permitted to blow about and the usual street dirt accumulated during the dry season is not removed with sufficient frequency to give the city an appearance of cleanliness.

The fact that Salisbury's business streets are not kept clear has been remarked upon within the last fortnight by many people.

Maybe the streets are kept as clean as they can be kept, when the amount of traffic on them is taken into consideration; but the fact remains that they are very often dirty and a little more effort on the part of those responsible for their condition would not be amiss.

Clean streets make a wonderfully favorable impression on a stranger; so why shouldn't we, if we are to work for the growth and prosperity of our city, do all in our power to make the stranger feel that in Salisbury we have a city which is a real spotless town?

Increased Tax Against Fountains Will Come Hard To A Hot and Thirsty Public This Summer.

With sizzling summer days approaching the comforts of the soda fountain lizards promise to be curtailed; for there is every indication that the prices charged by local dispensers of the cooling foam-topped soft drinks will be increased. Just what the amount of the increase will be, is hard to tell but the fact remains that the license fees charged against soda fountains is to be increased in May; and it is certain that the thirsty public will pay the increase.

The May license ratings show an increase of $17. Hereafter fountains have been taxed $7. Hereafter, that is after May 1, they will be charged $26.00.

The May ratings show also that the license fees charged against motion picture houses will be practically doubled. Bowling alleys, pool rooms, and storage warehouses all figure prominently in the license increases. Just how the movie houses and bowling alleys will be affected is told by the following figures:

For a 1,000 capacity movie house charging five cents, a fee of $101, as against the old one of $51, is charged, with a proportionate decrease for houses of less seating capacity. For houses charging over five cents admission, $301 must be paid, as against the old rate of $101, and a proportionate decrease in the rate for smaller houses. Bowling alleys will be taxed $26, for one alley, and $21 for each additional alley, whereas the old rates were $21 and $11. Storage warehouses now pay $151 tax, while they formerly paid but $51.

RECEPTION GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Engel Are Hosts At Greeting To Bride and Groom Of February 13.

On Wednesday, April 7th, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Engel gave a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Engel, who were married in New York on February 13 in the Corpus Christi church by Rev. Walter S. Knight of Salisbury, assisted by the Rev. Del-negro.

After the ceremony, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom were guests at a luncheon served at the Hotel Marcellines.

At the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Engel last week about 50 guests attended. The young couple wore the same bridal costumes as at the wedding. Their many beautiful wedding presents were displayed and greatly admired. During the evening dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served with the liberality for which the Engels are so well known.

DIED IN NORFOLK, IS BURIED HERE

Mrs. Florence Josephine De Corse Is Laid To Rest In Parsons Cemetery On Saturday Morning.

Mrs. Florence Josephine DeCorse, daughter of the late George W. Hitch died in Norfolk, Va., on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, and was buried in Parsons cemetery in this city on Saturday, after funeral services were read at St. Peter's Episcopal church by the Rev. H. D. Cone. The pallbearers were H. H. Hitch, George R. Hitch, Levin B. Weatherly, W. C. Mitchell, Charles Wiles and L. W. Dorman.

Mrs. DeCorse was a native of the Spring Hill district of Wicomico county. She was born on the place where five generations of her family have lived, the land having come into the possession of the family through a King's grant. The deceased was the widow of Edward DeCorse, for many years a prominent resident of Kent county; and for the last few years before her death resided in Laurel, Md.

Death ended a lingering illness, at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. Q. Collins in Norfolk. Besides Mrs. Collins she is survived by a number of nieces and nephews but no nearer relatives.

From its very nature, your work taxes the eyes severely, unless they are in the best possible condition.

DOINGS AT THE WICOMICO HIGH SCHOOL

(The editors of the Wicomico News have set aside this column for the use of the pupils and faculty of The Wicomico High School and the items published here will be furnished by one or more of the scholars weekly.)

The climax of the basketball season for the girls was reached last Wednesday afternoon when the deciding game of three was played between the Juniors and Seniors at the S. Y. M. A. gymnasium.

The previous game had been very close, the Seniors winning 31-29 and class spirit was running high. At the end of the first half the Seniors were two points ahead of the Juniors but by the marvelous shooting of Waller playing for the Juniors that lead had been overcome and passed by one point. Ruark, the star Senior forward, was shooting for the basket and the ball went thru just as the referee's whistle blew but the goal was not counted because time had been called a second before the throw was made. Woe and lamentation is a mild way of putting the Senior grief at being defeated by one lone point and then one second after the whistle blew to make a goal winning the game if it was counted. The final score was 29-28.

Yesterday the first game of the season in baseball was played but the paper going to press before the game was over details will be given next week. Tomorrow the second game of the season will be played namely with Denton. This game will be an extremely interesting one as Denton always has a crackerjack team, being champs of the upper Eastern Shore last year, while our teams are generally the best in the six lower counties. Mr. Cobb has been working hard with the boys and the material for a team has not been as good this year as last, the graduating of the star pitcher hurting the team very much.

Friday a luncheon was given several of the bond issue supporters who are making a tour of the county speaking in favor of it.

The final Lyceum number (The War Players and Singers), was presented Tuesday a week ago at the Armory and was the best attended of the series showing how popular the Lyceum is getting to be. A course for next year was contracted for and subscription to the amount of $287.00 were received at the entertainment.

The tickets for next year will be sold at the same price but the course will be greatly improved especially by the addition of a theatrical company who will give a travesty on one of Shakespeare's plays besides a short comedy. This company is known as the Pellerin Players and the other numbers of the course are: The Alumni Sextette, here in October, the Pellerin Players, here in November, the Pierces, here in January, Mr. William Rader here again at the request of practically everyone who heard him at the Armory this winter, he will be here in February, and the Copley Quintette, here in April. Throughout the spring and the summer pupils of the school will canvass for subscriptions and the amount $400.00 has already been reached in pledges. But as the course costs $175.00 more next year and the price of tickets has not been raised many more are needed to place the school over the top.

The "Tatler" goes to the publishers this week for the final once-over and all type must be sent in to the editor-in-chief this week. The pictures for the book are exceptionally fine this year and William Morgan as the chief is putting practically all his time on it the book will surely be a good one.

LOCAL GRANGE TO ENTERTAIN POMONA

Important Meetings On Saturday Will Preface Pomona Session When Fine Program Will Be Feature.

At the meeting of the Salisbury Grange held April 3rd, J. M. Bennett, superintendent of schools, told the grange of the need of Wicomico county's schools and discussed the merits of the proposed school bond issue.

The next meeting of Salisbury Grange will be held on Saturday, April 17th, which will be the last meeting of the grange before the Pomona grange meeting. The meeting of Pomona grange will be on Wednesday, April 21st. Salisbury Grange will be the entertaining guest and as the most of the 17th will be the last day when there can be a discussion of matters for the consideration of the Pomona grange, it is expected the membership of Salisbury Grange to be out in force on that date. The men will serve refreshments, and have extra charge of the evening in general.

Prof. Bennett has promised a speaker to tell the needs of the county's public schools at the Pomona grange, so Salisbury Grange has that much promised for Pomona. A lively meeting is to be expected April 17th.

IOWA HAS SUCCESSFUL WOMAN AUTO DEALER

Over in Iowa, Iowa, is one of the Ford Motor Company's most interesting dealers—Mrs. M. P. Estes, who sells something like 500 Ford Cars yearly, to say nothing of the Fordson Tractor she sells. Her only regret is that the company couldn't produce her more than 300 cars this year. She is said to be one of the three most successful women automobile dealers in Iowa.

Mrs. Estes is a thorough business woman. She knows her product, she knows her territory, she knows how to sell cars and she knows the value of business system for that is her hobby. "You can't do business right without a good system," she declares. "People don't like to wait. If a man comes in and wants to know if he can get a certain part, or what his account is or what something will cost, you've got to be able to tell him quickly."

In a letter to the Ford Motor Company, the Mrs. Estes Branch mentioned says of Mrs. Estes: "This dealer has the largest number of cars and tractors in the territory of the territory of any dealer under this Branch. Her estimate for this year is the car for every 25 people including mechanics, children and inmates of the poor farm. And she has consistently carried a greater percentage of unfilled orders for immediate delivery than any other dealer we have."

COMMUNICATION.

I notice in recent issue of the local papers, and I presume the same obtains as to all the local papers published in the first Congressional district, that Mr. Hiram Robertson is a candidate for the nomination to Congress on the Democratic ticket, has announced as a part of his platform that he is in favor of a modification of the Volstead Act passed by Congress for the enforcement of the 18th Constitutional Amendment. It is not my purpose to attempt to dictate the policies that Mr. Robertson should incorporate in his platform. However as my name has been used as a member of the Executive Committee of Mr.

Robertson's campaign; and as Mr. Robertson at the time of using my name in the beginning of his campaign had not announced his position on the temperance question in its relation to the enforcement of said Amendment, but since has taken the position that he stands for a modification of the Volstead Act and as that position is at variance with my views upon this question, I desire to state that I will not support Mr. Robertson for Congress. I have always tried to be consistent upon this question and I believe my views and stand upon same are very well known throughout the State of Maryland.

I shall therefore vote and use my influence for the candidate for Congress who stands for the retention and enforcement of the Volstead Act.

The farmers and trappers of Wicomico county are indeed very grateful to Ernest H. Burns of St. Michaels, for the excellent prices paid them during the muskrat season just closed.

Represented by D. M. Porter of Tyaskin and E. M. Donoho of Maryland, the business done in Wicomico county will approximate $150,000.

Mr. Burns is the largest operator in muskrat skins in the United States, and at the present time has more than one half million dollars worth on hand. Were it not for his operations on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, the prices of muskrat furs would be materially lower, as the smaller buyers fail to show up when the market is inactive.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

(Too Late for Last Week).

Rev. J. T. Graham, M. E. pastor, has been sent to Roxana, Del. The people generally are sorry to see him leave.

On Tuesday night at one o'clock, fire broke out in the home of Thomas Seabreeze and burned up all their belongings. Even the little pet dog was burned up. The house belonged to Wilson Robinson and was located only a little way from Mardela. It is thought that the house was insured. The Red Cross society came at once to the assistance of the Seabreeze family.

Ned Wilkinson has gone to Baltimore for treatment. Mr. Wilkinson received a severe wound during the war with Germany. Shame on our legislators who would vote against a suitable financial recognition of these brave boys who stood between us and danger. It is not in our power to pay them enough for the services they have rendered to their country. Their wage was miserly small, while we stay-at-homes had the advantage of high wages. Our legislators were glad enough to get the soldier vote, and then once in the legislature, voted against the soldier.

Walter Adams of Baltimore brought his bride to his parents' home in Mardela, this week, to surprise the folks at home, as they did not know that he was married. When Mr. Adams returned to Baltimore, he took with him his brother, Johnny, who had never ridden on the boat, or seen a large city.

On Thursday morning another little child of Oscar Holloway was buried in our cemetery, and on Friday afternoon the remains of another was deposited in the same cemetery. Dr. Parker officiated. The profound sympathy of the whole community goes out to the only remaining member of the family, the husband and father. These are providences which we poor mortals can not fathom. God only knows their significance.

Rev. E. E. Krauss and wife made a short visit to Mardela this past week. When a person has once lived in Mardela, it is hard to tear themselves away, they are sure to come back again.

On one of number 1's trips this winter, it carried 29 passengers, 1187 pounds of mail and 940 pounds of express or a total of approximately 6165 pounds up a 2 1/2 per cent grade on high speed—Advt.

Little Miss Nellie Elliott of Delmar has been the guest of Miss Imoga Ward at her home on Church street, for several days.

What can we put our money into that will give a better interest than voting for the School Bond Issue, Monday, May 3.

BIG FIRE IN CRISFIELD FRIDAY

Four Buildings in Business Section Are Wiped Out And Many Are Badly Damaged—Losses Heavy.

In a fire which broke out after midnight in Crisfield Friday night, and which raged until nearly morning, four store buildings in the block on lower Main street, were completely destroyed and adjoining property was badly damaged. For a time it looked as if the entire block in which the fire occurred, would be wiped out by the flames.

The fire originated in the building occupied by Smith & Rowley, and owned by L. C. Quinn, Sr., adjoining the brick office building of Senator John B. Robbins. It apparently started in the second story of the building, and fanned by a heavy wind, the flames soon jumped to the barber shop of Edward J. Smith, adjoining. By the time the alarm was sounded and the fire department could arrive on the scene, these two buildings were practically gone, and the flames had spread to the store of George Trell, which adjoined the barber shop. The Trell store was soon a mass of flames and the grocery store of F. L. Godman, next to the Trell store, was also a mass of smoldering ruins in a very short time. The bicycle establishment of Charles C. Spire, caught from the Godman store, and the roof and side was in a light blaze, but the work of the fire department, managed to check the progress of the flames, and saved the Spire store from destruction. The L. S. Nock garage, was endangered by the fire but saved without damage.

The fire entered the brick office building of Senator Robbins and did considerable damage, burning out windows and door facings, and the interior wood work. The brick walls withstood the flames but the building was otherwise badly injured. Throughout the blaze the wind brought sparks and scattering embers across the street to The Times newspaper office, and this building was in jeopardy for a considerable time. The prompt response of the fire department and its good work after arriving on the scene, saved considerable property nearby.

The losses in all cases were heavy, as neither the owners of the buildings nor the tenants had more than a small percentage of insurance in comparison to the value of their property. The buildings destroyed were owned by Dr. G. T. Atkinson, W. L. Gibson, John Somers and L. C. Quinn, Sr.

SON OF MINISTER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Kingman Handy, Jr., Son of Former Pocomoke City Pastor Is Victim of Blood Poisoning, Sunday.

Kingman A. Handy, Jr., the five-year-old son of Rev. Kingman A. Handy and Mrs. Handy, of 1525 Park avenue, Baltimore, died Sunday night at the Woman's hospital. The little fellow, while playing in the yard at his home about 10 days ago, ran a rusty nail in his thigh. Blood poisoning soon developed. Every effort was made by physicians to save the boy's life, but he failed to respond to treatment.

He was taken to the hospital on Saturday. Rev. Mr. Handy is one of the most prominent Baptist ministers in Baltimore, and is well known in the Eastern Shore of Maryland. He was at one time pastor of the First Baptist church of Pocomoke City and has preached and visited in Salisbury many times.

Kennerly Wins Over Walls In Primaries

or relate property values or cause inconvenience to residents.

Mr. Kennerly, interviewed by a News man on Wednesday morning, said:

"I am deeply appreciative of the support the people of this city gave me at the primary elections yesterday. I thank them all for their support and for the confidence which I believe they have in me. If I am elected mayor of Salisbury on May 3, I will try to show during my term of office that they have not misplaced their confidence, by doing my best to give them a clean business administration of their city's affairs."

Mr. Walls was interviewed and called there by telegraph and was interviewed on the outcome of the primary elections. There was question however but that he is extending his congratulations to Mr. Kennerly and wishing him success in the elections next month.

COMING EVENTS IN MOVIEDOM

Some Wonderful Fine Feature Plays Are Scheduled For Local Theatres For This And Next Week.

(By Dick van Dyck).

This week has seen the presentation of some good pictures and some that were not so good. Among the former, William Farnum in "The Adventurer" was perhaps the best. The play is based on the adventures of a penniless count in those days when duelling was popular and men fought to the death to win a smile from a pretty woman. The hero is that rollicking, romantic type so well suited to Farnum; and the famous actor played his part with wonderful success.

Monday night, Anita Stewart in "Mind the Paint Girl" proved that she is attractive as ever in her latest play. Those who missed the picture truly have something to regret.

The vaudeville was good of its kind, though the type of acts did not seem to be universally liked. George Moore is one of the neatest jugglers seen here this season; and the comedy chatter in the other two skits furnished numbers of new and original witticisms.

Among the coming plays are three that deserve especial mention. Owen Moore in "Piccadilly Jim", and Norma Talmadge in "The Probation Wife" at the Liberty the first part of the week; and Clara Kimball Young in "Eyes of Youth" at Ulman's Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday. Perhaps you read "Piccadilly Jim" by Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in the Saturday Evening Post. If you did not fail to see the photoplay, for it is thoroughly enjoyable from beginning to end—just as the story was.

In the "Probation Wife" Norma Talmadge has a role well suited to her special qualities. She is the most popular attraction of a very popular cafe, until the place is raided, then she is sentenced to three years in the reformatory. She escapes and meets a man who had tried to help her in the cafe. He offers to marry her, and she accepts the offer—hence the probation. It all goes to prove that a woman's love is deeper than the ocean and she never shares it except—but see the play.

Clara Kimball Young is, well—she's Clara Kimball. That ought to be enough to make any movie fan eagerly await the coming of her latest success!

GOVERNOR SIGNS RACETRACK BILL

Legalizes Horse Racing Under Strict State Supervision. Chief Executive Gives His Reason For Signing.

Late on Wednesday afternoon Governor Ritchie signed the Horse Racetrack bill, under which the Blue track is enabled to hold its April meeting, as the measure has an emergency clause which puts it into effect as soon as signed.

At the same time the governor signed the Burke State-Wide Regulation bill, which passed the Senate that morning. The quick signature of that measure was somewhat surprising, but the Governor evidently wanted it to be a law at the same time as the Bowie bill. After signing the bills the Governor gave out the following statement:

"The Burke bill and the Bowie bill have both passed the legislature and are before me for action. I have decided to approve both bills, and in view of the public interest in them I will briefly give my reasons."

"The Burke bill, before me now, is a measure of regulation and supervision of horse racing as at present regulated by the State."

"On this question I have no opinion whatever. If racing is to continue this should not be under the present conditions. It should be under strict state supervision, through a properly constituted commission, and payment of a heavy license fee."

"The Bowie bill provides for the regulation of the State Lottery, and if I do not approve it, then racing will continue in Maryland unregulated and uncontrolled."

"For these reasons I have signed the Burke bill."

QUIETLY WED AT ASBURY PARSONAGE

Harold M. Kennerly, Mayor of Salisbury, was married to Miss Mary E. Walls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walls, of Salisbury, at the Asbury parsonage, on Wednesday morning, April 14, 1920. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. E. Shockley, pastor of the Asbury church. The bride was attended by her mother and sister, and the groom by his father and brother. The wedding party consisted of the bride, groom, best man, maid of honor, bridesmaids, and flower girls. The reception was held at the Asbury parsonage. The couple will reside at 1525 Park avenue, Baltimore.

In speaking to your friends, you will find that the issue of the Salisbury News is the same as the issue of the Salisbury News.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS VISITS HERE

States Attorney Alfred Stengle Marine of Cambridge, a recently announced Republican candidate for congressional nomination in the First Congressional district was a Salisbury visitor on Wednesday. Mr. Marine is a prominent figure in the life of Dorchester county. In 1912 he was elected county superintendent of schools, in 1915 he was elected states attorney by a majority of 23 and in 1919 was re-elected to that office by a majority of 1,320. Mr. Marine has announced his candidacy for the Republican congressional nomination and seems to have the friendship and support of many influential Republicans in the First Congressional district.

DYKES POTASH 3% MIXTURE

Applying broadcast 1000 lbs. of this mixture, (Kainit-15 K2O-actual water soluble Potash and Hydrated Shell Lime), to the acre serves two purposes:

Three years cropping without Potash makes it necessary for you to replenish your soil with this one important plant food—POTASH.

At the same time this is being done, you are sweetening your soils with a high grade lime.

Considering the serious farm labor conditions, "2 in 1" application should prove very effective.

Editorial Comments of Live Local Subjects

COSTLY LIVING.

The H. C. of L. is not merely high cost of production. It is more luxurious standards.

Take the matter of house construction and furnishings as an example. A few years ago people were content to live on soft wood floors. If they did not care to tack down carpets, they had the edges painted at slight expense, and laid down rugs in the center of the room. The floor would be as sanitary as the hardest maple or oak surface. Yet it lacks the style of the hard wood floor, which many people consider an absolute necessity, though costing now $50.00 to $100.00 a room.

Similarly in the matter of furniture. The people who formerly used simple pine chairs, now must have oak, and those who formerly had oak, now have mahogany. So it goes all over the house.

While it is a normal desire for people to gradually collect good and substantial articles for their home use, yet many people carry it so far that it becomes a materialistic worship of things. They lose interest in culture and education, and turn their attention to display and money making. They live beyond their means, and get away from the spirit of simplicity on which a healthy life is founded.

Those who are giving fine service to the world, teachers, college professors, ministers, social workers, etc., do not have to surround themselves with a nest of luxury in order to attain happiness. If there could be some return to this simplicity, life would become easier. Producers would turn attention to plain and simple articles of enduring quality, rather than to elaborate designs of costly materials. Living costs would be reduced and burdens lifted from everyone.

OPPORTUNITY.

A little old stoop-shouldered woman walked into one of Pittsburgh's department stores one rainy day and wandered up and down the aisles. She did not look like "ready money," therefore the clerks "didn't see her," none except one of them.

This young man was not one of the "regular" clerks. He had only been with the store a few days, therefore he hadn't "wised" up yet. He stepped up to the old lady, helped her with her purchase, escorted her to the door and raised her umbrella for her.

As she left she asked for his card!

Later an order came to that store for furnishings for one of the finest mansions in the world. With the order came the request that this same young man be sent to oversee the installation of the furnishings. The manager of the store protested that the young man was inexperienced; that the store had more experienced men; but the customer insisted that this young man was the one she wanted to oversee the work.

The customer who placed that order and requested the services of that young man was Mrs. Andrew Carnegie; none other than the little old woman whom this young man had shown unusual courtesy, while all the other clerks were "looking the other direction."

Opportunity knocked at that young man's door and found him in.

Opportunity never comes in silks and satins, nor seldom is it heralded with the plowing of horns or led by a brass band. It usually sneaks up to us when we are not expecting it.

Opportunity stands at our side from morning until night. Every time a little old lady comes along near us opportunity comes with her—opportunity to at least be courteous and receive happiness for our efforts. Every time there is work to be done which no one else wants to do, opportunity beckons us to step up and embrace her, because it is here that the first step toward leadership is taken.

The poet who wrote in his verse that opportunity knocks but once, did the world a tremendous damage!

Every time a person does you an injustice you are face to face with opportunity—a glorious opportunity to prove to yourself to the world how big you are by applying the Golden Rules, forgiving and forgetting.

Every time you have a chance to get the better of your fellowman in a business deal you are face to face with opportunity—opportunity to increase your own self-respect and gain the confidence of your fellowman by doing the unusual thing by not taking any advantage.

It makes no difference what may be your calling in life, or how lowly the work you are doing at present, you have a glorious opportunity to raise yourself into more important and more profitable work by the simple process of performing more service and better service than you are actually paid to perform.

LIFE—DEATH.

(Contributed).

Death?

What is it?

Nothing to be feared by those who have LIVED!

Lived? What is it to live?

Death is but a temporary passing; a separation of ego and body for a time until the rebirth of the former, and the beginning of a new cycle of life on this planet. A rebirth to be followed in time by another death and another reincarnation of ego, each cycle to bear the marks of the former existence, each new life to be influenced by the progress or the regress of its immediate predecessor.

What is it to live?

To live is to prepare daily for the death, so called, which must come as a preface to that rebirth of ego into a new life which will be controlled as to its plane of spirituality, by the progress made by the same ego in its preceding cycle of life.

On and on will move the ego through the cycles of life, perfecting itself or debasing itself as it goes, until the given number of cycles being finished, it finds itself in the Supreme Presence, or cast into eternal darkness.

Life is but a preparation for Death; and Death is but a preparation for Life. There cannot be one without the other. Therefore Death is not to be feared if Life has been properly lived.

Women's Section

A part of this page is devoted to a discussion of some of those problems and themes which are of interest to women. The page is written by Miss Esther Dell, one of The News special feature writers who invites her readers to send her communications and news items for publication on The Woman's Page.

From time to time Miss Dell will discuss topics which she believes will interest the women readers of The News; but she asks the co-operation of her readers in the matter of furnishing subjects to be discussed.

All communications of this character should be addressed personally to Miss Esther Dell in care The Wicomico News, so that her personal attention to such matters may be assured.

Social Worker, a Juvenile and Marital Court are Needed Here

Attention Of Women Is Called By Miss Dell, To Conditions Which Demand Attention, And She Pleads In The Name Of Humanity And Christianity That Quick Action Be Taken.

EXPERIENCES OF RED CROSS NURSE.

(By Esther Dell).

I believe that there are many of Salisbury's greatest needs which could be supplied by the women of the city if they would just set themselves to the task. I said something like this to a Salisbury woman the other day and she looked at me in astonishment and asked:

"Why, what does Salisbury need so badly?"

My answer was, "Go and talk to Miss Margaret Laws, the Red Cross nurse working in this county, and get her to tell you some of the crying needs she finds almost every day in her house to house rounds."

Then I told my friend a story which Miss Laws told to a friend of mine a few days ago and tried to show her by this true story why Salisbury has a crying need of a competent worker, and a juvenile and marital court which really functions.

Here is the story which came from Miss Laws, the Red Cross nurse:

A few days ago a man, evidently mentally deficient, but very respectable, came to the Red Cross office where I was at work and told me he and his wife had had a quarrel. He said his wife drove him from the house with an axe; she refused to cook his meals, or in any way treat him like a human being. The wife, he said, accused him of not working; and when he bought eggs for a meal, she refused to cook them and spit in the pan when he attempted to prepare them for the meal.

The man is afraid of the woman and cannot possibly live with her another day. He asked Miss Laws to go to the woman, talk with her and try to straighten things out with her. She advised him to talk with Miss Lizzie Collier, head of the Associated Charities, also with Mr. Long and in the meantime to go out in the country and get work. She said perhaps the wife would be more reasonable after a while.

The man says he loves his children, there are three of them, and he wants to support them, but he does not care for his wife.

This is one of many sad cases which Miss Laws in her daily rounds in search of people who need her assistance as a nurse, finds. Miss Laws is a nurse. She is not a social worker. She has no jurisdiction in such cases as the one related above. This is a case for a social worker—some person who by tact and diplomacy may make the home of that man and his wife and their children happier.

It does seem to me that this is a case for the women of this city to settle. The peace of the home, the well-fare of the children, should be dear to the heart of every woman. The men are engrossed with the business and the financial problems; it is up to the women to make the homes in their own homes exclusively, but the homes of their sister women as well.

Then, the need for a juvenile court which really functions is shown by another experience of Miss Laws the other day.

She found a little girl of 12 summers who is sent from her home every day by her mother to beg. The child is taught to plead a fearful story in order to reach the hearts and pockets of other people. On certain occasions, the mother will say to this little kiddy, "Now you can have a lot of money."

Just imagine what a case! What will be the social status of this little Salisbury girl in a few years?

And yet, Miss Laws says, the mother of this child may be punished.

In another community where there is a functioning juvenile court, the child would be taken into custody, and in privacy before a kind hearted judge, would be induced to tell her story. An investigation would be made and the mother hauled into court, where, if the child's story were found to be true, she would be charged with a criminal offense and sent away. The juvenile court would then commit the child to some good institution, and keep it there away from the mother's bad influence until it had learned to become a useful and a respectable citizen.

This little experience of Miss Laws shows the crying need of a juvenile court in this county.

Another experience of Miss Laws:
She knows of a little 12-year-old Salisbury boy who runs away from home and stays for two and three days at a time. On his return, his father beats him unmercifully and boasts among his neighbors of the harshness with which he has punished his boy. The little lad naturally resents his father's treatment. He is a human being. He wants to love and he wants to be loved.
Tucking his shame and his resentment away in his heart, the little fellow lets it simmer and smoulder there until it boils forth and off he goes again on one of his runaway jaunts, to return after a few days to another beating and more of his parent's beatings.

It seems to me that this father should be talked with and shown the error of his ways. The boy is naturally a nice little fellow; but bad management at home is spoiling him, and in time may turn him into a criminal.

I am interested in these things because I am a woman and I believe that all women are interested in such things. Because I am interested, because my heart throbs for those poor people who are going wrong through a lack of proper guidance from their more fortunate neighbors, it occurs to me to ask the women of Salisbury to take a hand and do something to remedy a condition which in my opinion is a real menace to the pure social conditions of this city.

RELIABLE RECIPES WELL WORTH TRYING

Miss Dell In Presenting These Recipes Is Waging Campaign Against The High Cost of Living.

Miss Esther Dell again presents for The News women readers, a number of well tested recipes, each of which she recommends. Miss Dell again asks her readers to send her for publication, any recipe when they have tried and found it to be good and economical, so that their neighbors may be benefited by their experiences.

Baked Stuffed Flank Steak.

Flank steak, about two pounds.
1 cup crumbs
1/2 cup water, salted
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 small onion, chopped fine
1 small carrot, sliced
1/2 cup celery

Wash steak, remove fat and cut it for stuffing. Make a sauce of salt, pepper and water and mix with the meat. Rub with the hands that water of it may be all across the meat. Fill with the stuffing and bake in a hot oven for one hour.

Beef Goulash
This may be made for a large party or for a small one. It is a sprinkle with vinegar and a little summer savory. Add a teaspoonful of salt, and half teaspoonful of paprika; cook six onions for each two pounds of meat, slowly, in one-fourth of a cup of butter or butter substitute. Add the cooked onions to the meat; cover tightly, and cook slowly for about two hours. The liquid may be increased just before serving by the addition of a little beef stock, or either sweet or sour cream.

Savory Beef.

2 pounds beef cut in size for serving (use plate, shank, rump or round)
3 large onions sliced
3 tablespoons lard
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves and thyme or summer savory 1 pint brown stock or boiling water and meat extract
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon catsup Brown onions slowly in lard. Increase the heat. Add meat and brown.
Mix the flour, pepper and other seasonings. Sprinkle this mixture over the meat. Add the stock, vinegar and catsup. Cover closely. Simmer until meat is tender, allowing two hours for shank or plate and 1 1/2 hours for rump or round.

Browned Pig's Feet.

1 can beets
6 pig's feet
1 egg
1/2 cup crumbs
Butter or butter substitute Crumb the pig's feet and brown in butter or butter substitute. Arrange in casserole and bake basting with high grade table sauce and butter.
Serve in casserole, having 1 can beets, which have been heated, surrounding the pig's feet.

Veal Pot-Pie.

2 pounds veal neck
Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Trim all meat possible from the bones. Add to white sauce.

White Sauce.

2 teaspoons flour
2 tablespoons melted butter or butter substitute
Salt and pepper
1 1/2 cup milk
Scald milk, then add the butter and flour which has been made into a paste. Add seasoning.
Make an ordinary biscuit dough and line a baking dish with this. Into the dish pour the meat and white sauce combined, and put a covering of biscuit over the top, being careful that

A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the rule of Gold

THIRTY denominations of the Church are uniting in a simultaneous campaign in the week of April 25th-May 2nd.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

These churches know that the world needs many things;
but it needs Faith most of all.

They know that there can be no final solution of our economic problems that is not a spiritual solution, based on the teachings of Jesus Christ and His Golden Rule.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The budget is large in the aggregate; yet if each person who loves America would increase his contribution by only a few dollars the whole amount would be easily subscribed.

We face the task of rebuilding the world.
Let the cornerstone be a strong and vital church in every American community; and the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

SALVATION ARMY SHOW $13,257,552

Commander Evangeline Booth Makes Public Annual Home Service Fund Accounting.

EXPANSION OF WORK IN ALL DEPARTMENTS NOTED

Popular Organization's Budget for 1920
Totals $10,000,000—Details of Figures for 1919 and 1920.

New York, April 12.—Expansion and advancement in every department of Salvation Army work as a result of the 1919 Home Service Fund are shown in a full accounting of that Fund just made public by Commander Evangeline Booth at the National Headquarters of the organization here. The financial statement, which is of January 31, 1920, shows total expenditures throughout the country up to and including that date of $13,257,552, with a remainder on hand for the four months to May 31, of $910,140.

Details of the statement disclose that the sum of $1,441,185 was expended up to January 31, for the maintenance of 939 corps and outposts in all parts of the United States. This item includes rentals of halls and their maintenance, salaries of 1,800 officers, the expenses of work for children and young people, the cost of all local relief work of whatever nature, and such incidental expenditures as postage, printing, stationery and the like.

In the period covered by the report the sum of $1,688,420 was expended by thirty-four provincial and divisional headquarters for fresh-air farms and camps, comprehensive relief work of a special nature amongst the poor, the sick and the distressed. These headquarters are charged with the oversight and direction of all corps and similar activities in their jurisdiction as well as the extension of Salvation Army effort to unoccupied fields and localities. Hence, this item includes also salaries of executive officers, of clerical and other employees, necessary traveling expenses, postage, the cost of advertising, publicity and a portion of the expenditures incidental to the organization of the financial campaign.

Details of Expenditures.
Other items detailed in the report include the sum of $621,099, representing administrative and other expenses borne by National Headquarters in New York and Territorial Headquarters in Chicago; $187,309 represented the cost of operating and maintaining 25 rescue homes and maternity hospitals, a general hospital and one for children, 3 children's homes and 11 slum settlements and nurseries; and $400,000 apportioned according to the 1919 budget for the pension fund for aged or disabled officers.

Most significant, as indicating the remarkable advancement made by the Salvationists during the past year as a result of the 1919 Fund contributed by the country, are the lifting of mortgages to the amount of $1,881,193 and the outlay of $7,038,834 for new buildings and additions, making a total of $8,919,528.

Hitherto demands upon the Salvation Army's efforts have been so much greater than its income that it has labored under a tremendous indebtedness, its officers have been reduced to part pay year after year, and the organization has been handicapped in its operations.

Not All Mortgages Liquidated.
Only a part of the mortgage indebtedness was paid off last year, however; the increased demands upon the Army everywhere in the country being so great that increased and new facilities for hospitals, rescue homes and other Army institutions called for the outlay of more than $7,000,000. Army officers hope that the response to the 1920 Home Service Appeal will be such as to permit of the wiping out of much of the remaining mortgage indebtedness, provide for the maintenance of the organization's established activities and make urgently needed extensions and development possible.

The 1919 balance sheet shows the following:

	Expenditure To Jan. 31.	Reserve To May 31.
For support of corps activities	$1,441,185.16	$447,235.48
Maintenance of 34 provincial & divisional headquarters	1,688,420.62	297,133.93
Maintenance of national & territorial headquarters	621,099.97	63,474.09
Maintenance of institutions for women and children	187,309.75	102,297.09
Pension fund	400,000.00
Mortgages and properties	8,919,528.42
Total expenditures		$10,140.53
For eight months 1919	$13,257,552.91
Reserve for four months	910,140.52
Grand total
(Amount contributed in 1919)	14,167,693.50

The Army's 1920 budget, asking for $10,000,000, calls for $1,000,000 to carry on its evangelistic and relief work in 1,000 separate centers; $3,000,000 for relief work among the poor, sick and unfortunate, work for mothers and children, and other social work under provincial and divisional headquarters; $2,000,000 for the maintenance of national and territorial headquarters; $2,000,000 for rescue homes, nurseries, hospitals, slum homes and other institutions for women and children; $100,000 for the maintenance of pension fund; and $2,000,000 for the liquidation of mortgages and the acquiring of new property, as recommended by the Arthur's Plan Commission of 1914.

It is computed that the London docks contain about 1,000,000 rats, which attack grain, food, and other cargoes, causing about $2,000,000 loss per annum. A society was established to exterminate this destructive enemy, but the congested state of the wharves made their schemes inoperative. Now a new benefactor has come forward with a "trap" that opens up a possibility of putting armies of rodents out of business. The process employed is simple. Traps are placed along or near rat holes. The trap is made of cardboard covered with lithographic varnish. The varnish is warmed by heating its container in boiling water till the varnish becomes sufficiently liquid, when it is spread 1-16 to 1-8 of an inch thick on pieces of straw-board or thickish cardboard, measuring about 15 in. by 12 in. A margin of about 1 in. is left clear of varnish, and bait placed in the center of the board, where it adheres to the varnish. Bags of 60 at a time have been secured. The medical officer of health for the port of London reports favorably of the antidote to the rat thief, and gives it as his opinion that once their tails stick on the board they are doomed, and that the majority die of fright. Another feature is that if two rats get on to the varnish together one of them kills the other, evidently thinking the other is holding him.

HELD BACK TIME'S PROGRESS
Announcing Hour of Noon Secondary in Importance to Mexican Servant's Other Duties.
A certain village in northern Mexico did not boast of a town clock. When twelve o'clock arrived the parish priest used to tell his servant to mount the belfry and strike the church bell twelve times, so that the villagers would know that it was high noon. One of the neighbors, who had a watch, noticed that for some days twelve o'clock had struck a few minutes late. Thinking that perhaps the priest's watch was slow, he asked the mozo (servant) why it was that he had delayed in striking the hour. The mozo answered: "It is this way: The padrecito tells me it is time to strike twelve; but just as I am to start up the ladder the cook tells me to get the tortillas. So I have to go after tortillas, and when I get back and climb the ladder again it makes the noon late."

Foch Saved the Day.
M. Poincaré, as president of the French academy, had the task of welcoming Marshal Foch when that soldier was a member of the academy and, in the course of his remarks said:

"Field Marshal French was on the point of moving back his heavy artillery and beating a retreat. You rushed to Vlamertinghe and summoned him to you. 'If we make known your weakness,' you declared, 'we shall be carried away like a wisp of straw. Keep at all costs your first corps where it is; I will myself attack on the right and on the left with French troops.' As you spoke you took a sheet of paper to the desk; hastily you scribbled four lines in which you made clear your thought and you handed the note to the field marshal. He read it, thought a moment, called a staff officer, and said to him: 'Go and carry out this order.' Disaster was averted."

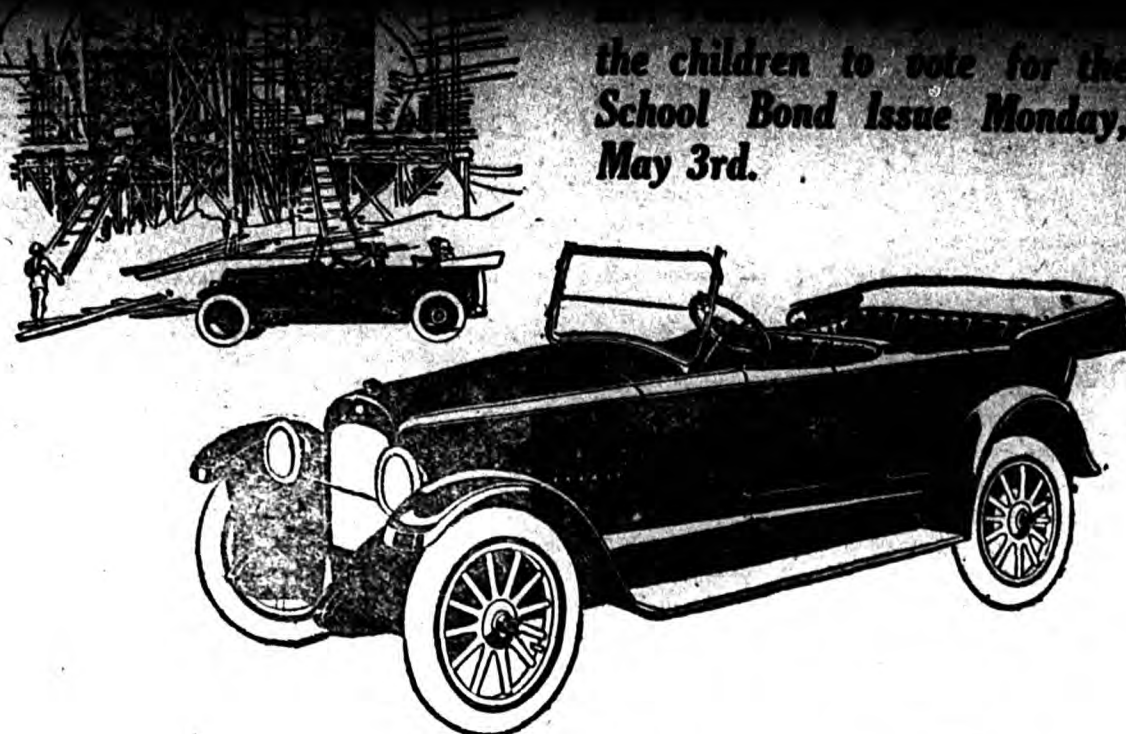

Sand Long Retained Properties.
Prof. H. L. Fairchild of the University of Rochester and Dr. H. Carrington Bolton of New York found the sands at Rockaway beach emitting a high musical note one summer day in 1884. They collected some of the sand and took it home, where Prof. Fairchild put in a large glass bottle a sample, but except for that one instance the sand has been undisturbed for more than thirty-five years.

Professor Fairchild writes now to Science, saying that on December 2, 1919, he poured the contents of the bottle into a stocking and found that when quickly compressed it still gave out its characteristic high note, audible at a considerable distance. But since he spread it out in a dry room and handled it considerably it has lost its sonorous quality.

Hotels in Japan.
Plans are under consideration for providing the larger cities of Japan—Tokyo, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka—with more hotels, it was announced recently in Tokyo by D. Shono, general manager of the Japan tourist bureau. He said, however, that it would be some time before these hotels are erected. "Efforts are being made to relieve the congestion in the city hotels by inducing guests to travel in the country, where hotels have room to spare." It is proposed to supply wireless information to incoming boats concerning the number of unoccupied rooms in the various hotels. The matter is under negotiation with the companies.

The Usual Thing.
"It says in the paper, here," remarked Mrs. Fields, in the midst of her reading, "that in a debate in congress Hon. Benjamin Blawie rose and shouted—"

"Don't bother to read the rest of it, Debby," interrupted Farmer Fields. "The honorable didn't say any more when he shouted than he does when he keeps still."—Kansas City Star.

War Memorial Should Be Of Widest Public Benefit

H. W. Carty Makes Statement Regarding Nature Of Memorial To Be Erected.

MUNICIPAL PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED

Comprehensive Study Of Community Needs Should Be Made Before Definite Plan Is Decided Upon. War Won By Civilians As Well as Soldiers; Memorial Should Benefit All.

In an interview given The Wicomico News this week, H. W. Carty, secretary of the Wicomico Memorial committee discusses several matters pertaining to the selection of a suitable memorial to the county's heroes of the World War.

An interesting feature of the interview is Mr. Carty's statement that the war was not won by the bearers of arms alone, but by the several institutions of mercy which functioned so well at home and abroad and by the people of the country-at-large.

Mr. Carty is of the opinion that the county's memorial should be something which the people of the county can enjoy and be benefited by. His interview in full follows:

"The experience of towns and cities shows that it is more and more necessary to make a comprehensive study and a general town plan as a proper basis for the solution of any single problem of importance in the development of a town or city. We have other pressing public problems in addition to that of the soldiers' and sailors' memorial, that affect directly a satisfactory decision with regard to the general form, character and location of the proposed memorial itself.

"In these days it ought to be apparent that the selection of a worthy and permanently satisfactory site for a war memorial cannot be made without at least a tentative understanding of what is to be done in the future toward the creation of a real community center (of which the proposed memorial would be only a part), and the stability of that center, affected as it would be by improved communication, by parks, and by the districting or zoning of the entire city.

"It seems to me that it would be better for the Wicomico Memorial committee to determine upon a comprehensive study that should include all of the important municipal problems, even though at this time nothing could be done except what related directly or intimately to a really successful erection of the war memorial itself.

"When you pause to consider that not one per cent. of many towns and cities were ever planned, or even re-planned, all their fundamental features—their railroads, main streets, public buildings, parks, etc.—the accidental results of haphazard, piecemeal, and often unintelligent, procedure. If it is wise to spend a large sum on a complete and beautiful community building as a war memorial, is it not also wise to invest a modest sum if necessary in a well directed investigation of the group of problems upon which action should rest?

"The people of Wicomico county will have the responsibility for the location, form and character of a peace memorial that shall be appropriate and enduring. What form shall such a memorial take? It would seem that there are only three classes of possible memorials of the world war for the average community.

"The first is what might be a record in the form of something that the community needs, something along the line of its daily life. I mean a hospital, a public school, a library or a clubhouse for the Wicomico post American Legion or other indispensable public work.

"Then there is a second type of memorial, that is, what might be called a purely symbolic or allegorical war record, usually a monument. Such monuments have their place. They have been erected in great numbers as memorials of other wars, notably our Civil War. Some of them are satisfactory, but most are far from satisfactory.

"In this country the standard of memorial art has been too low. So again, there will be places where local memorials of the world war will very appropriately take the form of monuments in which the symbolic featuring of courage, loyalty, self-sacrifice, responsibility to duty, or some other high personal quality, will be the controlling motive.

"But is not a combination of these two ideas suitable for our county? Is there not some building or institution that the people have not yet been able to get—something that will be serviceable, and yet something that cannot be secured ordinarily because other needs are so insistent? Here we have an occasion and an opportunity for adding something out of the ordinary for community life. Should not our town embrace that opportunity and secure such a memorial as a community building, a Liberty hall as a means of carrying on the ideas and ideals that are connected with the sacrifices and aspirations resulting from the war? A community building seems one of the most fitting memorials of this war—a war in which men fought for liberty, for freedom, for democracy, and for world peace more truly than in any war which preceded it.

"We need to establish in our communities, civic institutions that will stand for the highest ideals. A Liberty building would be an effective means of breaking down prejudice, lessening ignorance, and removing social barriers. It would tend to check unrest. Such a Liberty building should not be for any one class, not even for soldier and sailors alone. There should be nothing exclusive about it.
The war was not won by soldiers and sailors, and marines alone; it was won by the whole people. Victory was not entirely a victory through force of arms; it was a victory secured through the conservation of food, through the Red Cross work, through subscription of every kind. Enthusiastic as I am, however, for the construction of local community building as a means of bettering neighborhood life, I think it would be preferable to build a monument than to construct a Liberty building or other social building unless it were fully comprehended what such an active social institution would really involve.

"It should, if possible, unite all the public and semi-public activities of the entire community. Therefore, it is necessary for us to be resourceful enough to provide the local organizing of other buildings, as to appeal to our civic pride. It should be put where it will not only be seen, but even favorably.

"Action in connection with a proposed war memorial is one reason why a town plan should be prepared.
But there are often other reasons.
The average town is usually confronted with the necessity of making local improvements involving changes sooner or later in streets, public buildings, etc. Finally we have come to appreciate in these recent years that there are two things absolutely indispensable for civic betterment in a democracy. One is public opinion.
We have learned how to guide and form public opinion, and we know how dependent we are upon it. The other is leadership. The men and women who have been active as leaders during the war must continue to serve now and help solve the equally difficult problems of peace.

On February 4, 1919, a meeting was called by Senator M. V. Brewington of the following:
H. W. Ruark, R. D. Grier, W. B.
Tilghman, Graham Gunby, W. S. Gor-dy, Jr., E. D. Mitchell, L. A. Bennett,

The auditorium should be used for great meetings of all kinds including bankers conventions, agricultural, lumber and other branches of industry in this community. Salisbury will be confronted with all of these more in a few years to come, however, the need is here now, and we should provide for an auditorium such as will invite these conventions to our city.
Embracing the group as mentioned in the foregoing, we should secure the moral and financial support of all the people in the county. Its scope of serving the community and especially the farmers, for it was their many sacrifices that helped the winning of the war, the Liberty building should continue to grow in strength and service; however, if it should be our misfortune to have a small building serving one or two purposes, agencies that do not reach out and take in the whole county would not be serving its purpose.

But there is another fundamental question about a community building or any other public building, for that matter. Where is it to be located?

Various principles control the selection of sites for public buildings. One of these is accessibility. What do we mean by accessibility, and how are we going to find out what accessibility is in relation to a permanent memorial not for the year 1920, but one that will endure through a long future?
The selection of a site involves a study of the town plan, of methods of street circulation both present and future, and the growth of the town center.
Another question, of course, is the appearance of the building as affected by its approach, its setting and background.

Such a building should be so located and its surroundings so developed,

MINISTERS NEED FREE HOSPITALS

Survey by Interchurch World Movement Reveals Pulpit's Poverty.

$1,242 HIGH AVERAGE SALARY
FOR PROTESTANT PREACHERS

Clinics and Homes for Aged and Infirm and Better Salaries for Pastors Are Part of New Cooperation Program.

As a result of the campaign now being made by the Interchurch World Movement the combined Protestant churches of America will provide many more hospitals, clinics and homes for the aged and infirm. An interesting feature of these Protestant hospitals will be free treatment for ministers, as recent surveys made by the Interchurch organization have made the need for special dispensations very obvious.

The following startling facts were divulged as to the average salaries in the various denominations. Starting with the highest, the average for Episcopal ministers is $1,242; the average for Presbyterian (North), $1,177; for the United Presbyterians, $1,086; for the Reformed Church (Dutch), $1,170;
for the Methodist Episcopal (North), $1,170; Congregational, $1,012, and for the Baptists (Northern), $950.

With government experts announcing that $1,500 is the lowest salary upon which a family can be decently maintained and suggesting budgets for home lower, ministers have a discouraging outlook. Such things as hospital bills are almost impossible to meet, and yet every ministerial family has some illness in its midst every year. Accordingly the Interchurch Movement, while on its way to obtain higher averages in salaries, will assist by providing free care in its institutions.

Thomas' Electric Oil. Two sizes, 30c

THIS THE MOMENT OF MOMENTS TO GAIN SPIRITUAL UNITY

By DR. JOHN R. MOTT.

DR. JOHN R. MOTT.
Chairman Executive Committee Interchurch World Movement.

This is the moment of moments for us to find our unity, our spiritual solidarity, without sacrificing our diversity and that which is most distinctive to each of our communions and which, by the way, is the choicest possession we have.

The reason why we of each denomination most value that which is distinctive to us is not simply because it is ours, but because we honestly believe it is the truth. It is our choicest possession. Without sacrificing our distinctiveness we want to realize our unity and solidarity as we gather 'round the figure of our Lord with open minds, responsive hearts, and I would say, hair-trigger wills—by that I mean wills that are eager to leap into action when we see a clear path.

MURDER MADE EASY MATTER

With Formula Possessed by English Chemist, Slayer Might Laugh at Human Law.

The lunch-time conversation of the scientists at the national physical laboratory, Teddington, shifts daily to all sorts of interesting subjects, and it was inevitable that the topic of murder should have been suggested by the "wave crime" in Great Britain (an epidemic that amounts to less than one homicide a week).

It was agreed that all the murders reported in the daily papers were commonplace, dull, sordid affairs, showing no ingenuity and deliberation. "If I had a murder to commit, how should I go about it?" became the theme.

The metallurgists, electricians, radi-ologists, physicists and other scientists had many astounding murder methods, but with a common weak point, writes an English correspondent. None of them disposed of the body so that detection would be not only improbable, but impossible.

It remained for a chemist to solve the problem. "I would not be so clever as you in the assassination itself," he said. "Any quick way of silent dispatch would do. But I could swiftly dissolve a body, bones and all, so that it could be poured as a liquid into a sewer and be thoroughly done away with. No; I mustn't give the formula."
He was the victor in the discussion.

They Speak Well of It.

"I frequently hear Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praised by friends and acquaintances which only tends to strengthen my good opinion of it," writes Mrs. Fred Arter, Zanesville, Ohio. Try it when you have a cough or cold and see for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.—Adv.

See and Hear THE VOCALION

"World's Phonograph Supreme"

We invite our friends, the people of Salisbury and vicinity, to a demonstration of the Aeolian-Vocalion, "World's Phonograph Supreme."

It is made by the Aeolian Co., largest manufacturers of musical instruments in the world—makers of the famous Pianola.

The Vocalion has revolutionized the art of sound reproduction. Until you hear it, you can have no conception of the wonderful improvement in phonograph tone.

Vocalion Tone Quality is not phonography; it's character is human—the glorious voice, the dashing military band, the snappy dance orchestra. Whether vocal or instrumental—Vocal records vibrate with life—they're human.

A potent factor in this humanlike quality is the Graduola, an exclusive Vocalion device that enables you to gradually increase or diminish the tone volume, which actually gives one the sensation of playing the Vocalion.

You sing with the singer, you personally seem to play the violin, cello, horn and other orchestral and band instruments. And only with the Vocalion can you obtain these marvelous human-like effects.

Vocalion cabinets are made in all the costly woods and are modeled in exquisite period and modern designs; you will easily find one that will harmonize with your room decorations.

See, hear and play the Vocalion; come, listen to music of a quality you never expected in a phonograph.

A County Library Book Wagon.

A number of states successfully operate book wagons for the circulation of reading material in the rural districts. The American Library Association includes the needs of the rural communities in its Enlarged Program which is the backbone of its "Books for Everybody!" movement. The A. L. A. hopes some day to see book wagons in every state and is pledged to advocate such service.

LIBRARIANS JOIN FIGHT ON UNREST

American Library Association inaugurates Nation-wide "Books for Everybody!" Movement.

WILL AID FOREIGN BORN.

Social Problems Can Be Solved by Teaching American Ideals and Traditions.

The spirit of unrest that has been sweeping the country indicates that the foreign born, who have flocked to the United States from every corner of the globe have not been given the proper help and encouragement, in the opinion of the 4,000 librarians who make up the American Library Association and who are now enlisted in a "Books for Everybody!" movement. The effort is a concerted movement to carry out the Enlarged Program which the association has adopted.

There are approximately fifteen millions of foreign born in the United States and of this number six millions do not read or speak the English language. One phase of the Enlarged Program will be to bring the publisher and translator together with the view of furnishing the proper books in sufficient numbers to carry the message of American ideals and traditions to this vast army of untrained people. They have been largely dependent upon the foreign press for their written messages. Many men who live with their fingers on the pulse of current events are firmly convinced that a sound foundation in Americanism can be easily built among the foreign born if the proper literature is placed within their reach in a language they can understand.

No Drive to Be Held.

In order to carry out the Enlarged Program two million dollars will be required. This money will not be sought through the medium of a campaign or an intensive drive, but will be obtained through the individual efforts of the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries. The American Library Association will bend every effort to bring about the nationwide adoption of each of the cardinal points in the Program, which includes the extension of the county library system and the establishment of more industrial and business libraries. It now has in operation book service to the United States Merchant Marine, Coast Guard, Lighthouse Service and hospitals of the United States Public Health Service. The needs of the 75,000 blind persons in the United States will be cared for. At present the number of books available is woefully inadequate. This will be remedied and the joys of good literature will be brought into lives that are darkened by a wall which will never be raised by any other method.

Not all the work of Americanization lies in the great centers of population. Great sections of the country where industry is carried on by foreign workers do not know public library service. There are important mining states where less than a score of libraries exist. One mining state has but two public libraries.

MORE BOOKS FOR BLIND.

American Library Association Behind Movement to Bring Good Literature to Those Who Walk in the Dark.

There are between 75,000 and 80,000 blind people in the United States. The supply of books in the recently adopted Braille type for their use is inadequate, there being less than 100 titles existing at this point. The American Library Association has included in the projects of its Enlarged Program the motive to aid in printing and distributing additional volumes. It has already succeeded in inducing several well known authors to finance the braille of one or more of their books. In inaugurating its "Books for Everybody!" movement a fund of $5,000,000 will be raised to carry out the provisions of the Program. The money to be obtained not by a campaign or drive, but through the efforts of the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries.

GOOD BOOKS AT ALL CROSSROADS

American Library Association Urges Adoption of County Library System.

IDEA PROVES SUCCESSFUL.

California, the Pioneer—Other States Adopting the Plan.

The American Library Association, in announcing its "Books for Everybody!" movement, which is to be nationwide in its scope, advises and urges the extension of the county library system as a solution of the problem of supplying good literature to the rural districts. Its intention is to persist in advocating the nation-wide adoption of the idea as successfully applied in California, Ohio and Maryland until every one of the 2,904 counties in the nation have adopted the system and regular shipments of good books are being made from the central point in the county to the designated outposts. California stands out as the high point in the successful application of the idea. Of the 58 counties in the state 42 have adopted and are supporting the system at a trifling cost. This it urges as a part of its enlarged program which aims to promote a better citizenship and to combat the social and industrial unrest through the teaching of American ideals and traditions to the foreign born.

The book needs of the sixty million or more Americans who live outside of the big cities will be called to the attention of those in a position to serve them.

County Libraries Urged.

The county library system provides for establishing one central library at the county seat or in the largest town in every county. This does not mean necessarily the erecting of a library building and the stocking of its shelves. In many cases the tools already exist. From this central station books will be loaned to designated outpost stations. The books will be delivered by trucks, parcel post or whatever method may be adopted in any given county to the country stores, tollgates, post offices, schoolhouses and private homes. When one shipment has been circulated and returned another will be sent out. Also, in communities of any size in the county, branch libraries will be maintained.

The American Library Association, with its 4,000 active librarian members and its 40 years of practical functioning, is in a position to know the needs of the country and in the fight for wider knowledge is a force to be reckoned with.

The Enlarged Program calls for an expenditure of $2,000,000. There will be no drive or intensive campaign. The money will be raised by the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries. The movement for better citizenship and a well read population is on and the slogan is "Books for Everybody!"

"BOOKS FOR EVERYBODY!"

Four Thousand Librarian Members of the American Library Association in Nation-Wide Movement.

Since the advent of peace the American Library Association has turned its efforts from war work into other channels. With the benefit of its forty years of experience and the co-operation of its membership of 4,000 active librarians in all parts of the United States, in addition to conducting certain war activities not taken over by the government, it proposes to promote the development of the library service throughout the country and to encourage the reading habit in all ways possible. The A. L. A. supplies over 7,000,000 volumes to our fighting men here and overseas and on board vessels. It has the confidence and the admiration of the nation back of it in its inaugurating its "Books for Everybody!" movement. The money to carry out the provisions of the campaign will not be raised through an intensive drive, but will be obtained by the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries who have enthusiastically pledged their co-operation in obtaining the necessary $2,000,000.

CULTIVATION OF PLANTS.

By G. R. COBB, County Agent.

Practically every farmer knows the benefits arising from frequent and thorough cultivation of crops but at times either carelessness, forgetfulness or laziness prevents the proper amount of cultivation at the proper time. Perhaps the two main reasons for cultivating a crop are (1) Keep down weeds and (2) stir up the soil to allow ventilation and provide a mulch to prevent evaporation. Cultivation influences the texture, ventilation, heat, plant food and moisture factors but most especially the moisture factor. Weeds, as a usual thing, will take as much moisture and plant food from the soil as the crop will itself so that killing the weeds saves the moisture and food for the plants. Most plants, including weeds, require an amount of water equal to from 400 to 500 times their dry weight and this moisture is largely absorbed by the roots and sent up to the leaves where it is taken by the air and other agencies and thus lost from the soil.

In one experiment a careful record was kept for eight years, and with the same preparation of seed bed corn averaged only 7.3 bushels per acre where weeds were allowed to grow and 45.9 bushels where the weeds were kept down. The best time to cultivate to kill weeds, or any plant is just as it has started into growth and as it appears above the surface of the soil. The best time to cultivate to save or conserve the moisture is just as soon as the surface of the soil becomes compact or hard due to the rain, trampling or other causes. The surface soil should always be kept loose and open thus providing for a mulch to prevent too rapid evaporation, allowing air and sunlight and heat to get into the soil more readily which will make the plant food in the soil more available.

Many farmers are not convinced that cultivating corn with a spike, spring or smoothing harrow when the plants are small. The main objection being that this form of cultivating will break or pull out so many plants that it is poor practice. The majority of corn growers on the other hand practice this system with marked results and it has proved to be a profitable practice.

Experiments and observation have shown conclusively that better yields of corn are secured if shallow cultivation is practiced than if cultivated deeply. Corn roots do not run down into the soil to a great depth but spread laterally and when the corn is 12 inches high the roots have filled the space between rows and three fourths of the roots are near the surface. The first cultivation may be done with a weeder, spike tooth harrow or smoothing harrow before the corn is up and this same sort of cultivation may be given until the corn is 4 or 5 inches high by slating the spikes backward. It is true that some plants may be pulled up but if this harrowing be done at the time of day when the young plants bend readily there will be very little damage done and the increased yield will more than pay for the few plants, pulled up or broken off. Two harrowings of this nature will, as a rule completely destroy the sprouting weed seeds and the following cultivations may be given with a cultivator. It is important that shallow cultivation be followed so as not to cut off the roots which are mainly near the surface; the first cultivation may be three or four inches deep but the second should not be so deep until the last cultivation should not be deeper than 1½ to two inches. There is no definite number of times set to cultivate corn as conditions and seasons vary, but cultivate as often as necessary to keep down weeds and stir up the soil to form a mulch to conserve moisture.

Save all the labor and expense possible by using the most efficient implements. It has been figured out that each cultivation given by a smoothing harrow reduces the cost of that cultivation from 50 to 75 per cent. One man with two horses and a two section spike tooth harrow or weeder can cultivate approximately 15 to 18 acres per day and for cultivation before and the first few cultivations after the corn is up there is nothing superior to one of these implements.

From 5 to 7 acres per day can be cultivated with a two-horse riding cultivator and they do uniform work. Have easy and quick adjustments so that they can be adapted to almost any condition. Walking cultivators are necessary on hilly land, very rocky soils and on small truck patches but other than these the walking cultivator is not the most efficient means to employ. The same principles, keeping down the weeds and providing a mulch, holds true for all crops but the methods used to get these results vary. Some melon growers believe better results can be obtained with cantaloupes if the vines be kept out of between the rows and laid over on the plant row and the space between the rows kept cultivated while others claim best results are obtained by stopping cultivation as soon as the vines get large enough to interfere with cultivation.

The same arguments are advanced in respect to sweet potatoes for many growers allow the vines to take root between rows and cease cultivating while others prefer to keep on with the cultivating and keep the vines or runners loose and free from the soil. We are not prepared to say which of these methods give best results for at the present time we do not have sufficient proof to offer on either side.

With Irish potatoes it is usually two or three weeks after the seed is planted before the plants come up and during this time weeds are liable to come up and the soil may get hard and compact. Just as soon as a crust begins to form on the soil or the weeds begin to grow it is good practice to run a spike tooth harrow, with teeth slanted backward over the land. Keep this up even after the plants are up two or three inches, but in these later cultivations run the harrow lengthwise of the rows.

Cultivation when done properly destroys weeds, conserves moisture, allows air and heat to enter the soil, thus assisting in making the plant food available to the plant.

Using a weeder or spike tooth harrow, instead of the one row cultivator, will reduce the labor cost 40 per cent, do the job in one third of the time, can be used on most ground until the plants are five to six inches high. If desired the crops can be cultivated twice as often during the first part of the season so that there will be little doing and cultivating to do during haying.

Harrowing just as the plants are coming through the ground is not advisable as many will be pulled out, so it is good practice to suspend this form of harrowing just as the plants are showing and for a few days thereafter.

THE NEW GARDENER.
By J. K. MARSHALL.

(© 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was Sunday afternoon, while walking in the park, that the idea came to Thomas Hicks, president and owner of the Thomas Hicks company, brokers, to visit his old home town, Lynne-wood, in the southern part of Florida.

It had been ten years since he left home, and in all that time he had not been back. In those years he had been busy and he had made money—plenty of it. Now, he could afford to take the time for a vacation. Then, he had not been feeling up to par of late, and for the past few weeks memories of the old happy, care-free life kept coming to him.

Uppermost among these thoughts was the memory of the last year he had spent there, when he and pretty Martha Wells were engaged. He remembered, with an amused smile, the bitter disappointment of his old rival, Ben Gwynne, when Martha told him of their plans. Then came the evening when he told Martha's father of his plan to sell his old home and use the money to give him a start in the city.

Mr. Wells would not hear of this at all. "What!" he had exclaimed. "Sell your home, adjoining mine, and take my daughter away from me to the city to live?" Of course if Tom wanted to sell his home, he could not stop him, but unless he settled down on the place he could not have Martha. So Martha had to make her choice.

At first she tried to persuade Tom to stay; but Tom was ambitious, and wanted to make money. Then she tried to change her father's ideas, but was without success. And so Martha had stayed back home with her father, while Tom went to the city. They had parted with the hopes that, in a very short time Tom would make good, return home and buy back the old place; then he and Martha could be married.

After three years of hard work, and just as he was beginning to realize his dreams of success, Martha had stopped answering his letters, and Tom decided that Martha had ceased to care for him. Now he was going back to see Martha. Even though she were married to another man, he wanted to see her again.

As Tom stood in the depot waiting for the train that would take him to Lynne-wood, he reviewed the past few days with satisfaction. They had been busy days, but he had left everything in good shape, so that he would be free from worry and could take his time about coming back.

By the time he had arrived at the little southern town he was a boy again. As he alighted at the station and glanced down the clean, white streets, with their lovely shade trees, he wondered how he had ever come to leave it all. He recognized several people on the platform, and at first there came a pang of disappointment when they did not speak to him. Then he remembered why. The day before he left the city he had conceived the idea of returning home incognito.

The result was the purchase of a sandy wig to cover his dark hair, large dark glasses and regular country clothes. And none knew better than Tom just what to buy. There were blue overalls, a straw hat and a gray tweed suit, which he had donned that morning.

He would hire himself as a farm-hand somewhere near Martha's home. And, disguised as he was, he could see her often, and perhaps talk to her without being recognized. Then fate took a hand in helping Tom.

The Abe Cory farm was just on the other side of Martha's home and their gardener had left them the day before, so Tom got the job. He learned that Martha was still single and was living alone, her father having died.

Mrs. Cory had not favored hiring the new gardener, concerning whom, as she told her husband, they knew nothing. He had merely given the name,

A few days later Mrs. Cory felt that her prejudice had been well founded. Time after time she saw the gardener stop his work and stand staring across toward Martha's place.

"He is even worse when Martha's out in the yard," she said. "I'm sure he has some designs on Martha, or else he is planning to rob her."

The next afternoon Mrs. Cory watched him as he worked nearer and nearer the fence dividing the two farms. Suddenly he ceased his work entirely and leaned on the fence, looking steadily at Martha's home.

Now Tom had been longing to go over and talk to Martha, but then would come the thought: "No, she doesn't love me now, and I cannot bear to hear her tell me so. As things are, I can see her, and that is something."

As he leaned on the fence he was tempted. There was no one in sight, and the lilac bush, under which they sat the night she had promised to be his wife, was just a short distance from the fence. He wanted, just once more, to sit underneath that bush. That lilac bush was full of memories to him. He wanted to sit under it and imagine that Martha was with him. Leaping the fence, he went quickly to the bush, touching its blossoms as though they were sacred.

His meditations were cut short by the sound of voices coming toward him. As he peered cautiously around the bush he saw Martha and a little girl approaching. He glanced quickly around for some means of escape, and seeing none, stooped lower under the branches.

The next instant Martha and the little girl seated themselves on the other side of the bush not three feet away from him. And then the childish voice:

"Aunt Martha, why do you like to sit under this bush better than the others? Did you plant it yourself?"

Tom's heart gave a leap as he listened breathlessly for Martha's answer.

"No, Jeane, dear, a man planted it for me."

"Oh, Aunt Martha, do tell me! Is it the man you have the picture of; the picture I saw you kiss last night?"

As Martha hesitated two strong arms folded around her and a deep voice said: "And tell me, too, Martha."

At first Martha gasped with fright. Then Tom hastily drew off the wig and glasses, and Martha's look of fright turned to one of happiness—then doubt.

"But, Tom, Ben told me that you were married to a city girl."

Tom looked surprised. "And that is why my letters were not answered? There has never been room in my heart for any one but you, Martha."

And the little, romantic Jeane was satisfied.

THEORY OF EARTH FORMATION

Its Acceptance Would Explain the Triangular Shape of the World's Continents and Seas.

Any theory which attempts to explain the formation of our world must take into account certain curious facts. Among these is a great preponderance of land in the northern hemisphere and of water in the southern. Second: Most oceans and most continents are more or less triangular in shape, and they nearly all point southward. Third: The land forms an almost unbroken ring in the north and water in the south. Fourth: If we place a map of the northern hemisphere over the southern it will be found that land never falls over land, but always over water, except in a few small patches. These curious facts have given rise to the so-called "tetrahedral" theory of the formation of our globe. It has been found by experiment that a round tube, under pressure, tends to collapse into a triangular form, writes Hereward Carrington in Leslie's. This gives the greatest amount of surface for the relative area. Our earth, in cooling, shrinks, and consequently its spherical form (maintained by its revolution or spinning) tends to fall into this triangular or tetrahedral shape. The result of this is that certain flat surfaces are formed and also certain points or angles which project. Water, being fluid, tends to flow on to the flat spaces, being nearer the center of gravity than the projecting corners. The result is that the "continents," which correspond to this theory to the corners, would project or rise above the level of the water; and if we examined a map of the world with this theory in view it will be found that the general conformation of the land and water and their distribution on our globe correspond precisely to this theory.

Philosophical Thought.

When I read what a splendid hill climber this or that automobile is," said a friend of mine who is coming along in years, "it reminds me that I am not so good on hills as I once was."

"There was a time when I used to take hills without slowing up and with no sense whatever of extra exertion; but now right from the start I find myself slowing down and called upon to put on power; and I have to make this added effort all the way up."

"But I can still make the grade; and as long as I can do that I shan't worry."

Opinion That Silk Stockings, Low Shoes And Flimsy Pank-a-bee Waists Are Not Suitable for Arctic Climate.

Freezing weather, crepe de chine waists, low cut shoes and thin silk stockings, what a combination!

Now The Man About Town doesn't often notice what the women are wearing; but one evening a week ago when the temperature on the streets was down about the freezing point, he was sitting over a cup of near-coffee and a thing called a steak in a local restaurant when two very dainty maids entered the place from the street and seated themselves near his table.

Their conversation on entering the warm room was something like this: "I'm just about frozen. Mother warned me against wearing this thin waist tonight but I simply had to wear it. Joe admires it so much, you know, and I just thought it wouldn't be so cold after all."

The other girl of about 18 sweet summers, offered sympathy thusly: "Well I bought these hose and these pumps to wear on Easter; but it rained and my mother raised such a row, I simply couldn't wear them; so tonight I just put 'em on and ran out without her seeing them. I'm just freezing though and I do hope I don't take cold!"

Now the Man About Town was wearing his heavy suit, his heavy rubber soled high shoes and an overcoat, so he had no complaint to make about the weather, except of course that he would have liked, as all people like, a warm balmy evening at this season of the year. It wasn't his intention to listen to the table talk of his neighbors, but there were not many people in the restaurant and their conversation was not by any means confined to stage whispers.

Naturally, hearing these little ladies talk about being cold and worrying about their unreasonable clothing, he gave them the Once Over; and what he saw convinced him of their foolishness.

One of them wore a dark blue net looking affair for a waist. Her arms from the shoulders to her finger tips were bare except for that filmy covering. The waist was cut so low in the neck as to leave her entire throat exposed to the cool air, her only throat protection being a tiny gold chain and locket, probably a gift from the adored and adoring Joe.

The other girl was more sensibly and seasonably clad, excepting for the silk stockings and the pumps. The stockings, there was just a little weeny glimpse of them visible, were made of something thinner than cob-webs and the shoes, well The Man About Town couldn't help but wonder why the poor girl hadn't paid $1 more and bought a whole pair.

Do you know, women must be stronger than men?

Here they are day after day appearing on the streets in clothing which would be thin for summer wear, according to a man's notions, and yet very few of them seem to suffer any ill effects from exposure. Take a man who leaves his overcoat off a little too soon and the first thing you know he has tonsillitis or some other ailment equally distressing.

Women take awful chances though! In the matter of dress they certainly tempt a kind Providence. Here we are having weather that is equal to that which usually comes in the early part of March and just because Easter has passed, the women folks feel constrained to wear their spring togs. Why, to appear on the streets in a warm and comfortable last winter's coat would be a crime almost unpardonable!

They look nice, did you say? Well yes and no. They do and they don't.

Of course the new spring frocks and hose and shoes are pretty and they of themselves look very nice; but if you will just stop on the street corner some cold day and watch the faces of the women who are dressed for style rather than for comfort you will realize that their faces are pinched with cold, that their bodies are shivering and that they are uncomfortable.

Now if you think a woman can look well when she is so cold that she is uncomfortable, then I can't agree with you.

Spring clothing of the filmy sort is absolutely O.K. in the proper season, but when it comes to using judgment in the matter of dress, give me every time, the woman who considers her health and her personal comfort ahead of Joe's fanciful fancies or the opinions of her neighbors and acquaintances.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Relieves Rheumatic Pains.

"I am subject to rheumatism and when I have a spell of it one or two applications of Chamberlain's Liniment relieves the pain and makes rest and sleep possible. I would not think of doing without it," writes Mrs. C. Owsley, Moberly, Mo.—Adv't.

(By Calvert L. Matill).

The dealer who advertises has something to live up to; he has an incentive to bigger and better business; he has a reputation to keep untarnished, to raise to a higher standard. His word is publicly given and he must make good. He has a "moral anchor" that keeps him lashed to the bed-rock of honest business and honest service. You know he will make good anything he says; you can trust him.

When he says that he is going to sell goods at half-price, rest assured that your 50 cents has purchased a full dollar's worth. When he tells you that he has the very latest styles or the best qualities, be satisfied that is what you can buy from him. He has got to make good; he can no more afford to put his name on fraudulent advertising than he can on fraudulent checks—the one means bankruptcy, the other means jail.

A man may mould his character, but the public gives him his reputation. By advertising, he makes a reputation much more rapidly than he otherwise would; by advertising, he tells you exactly where he stands. He asks you to take nothing for granted; he tells you what you ought to know about his business. He is open, honest, frank; and he stands back of all that he says.

You don't put your money in a bank you know nothing about; why trust yourself in other ways to the unknown? Place your faith where you know it will be faithfully kept.

The advertiser and the non-advertiser may be equally honest; their goods may be of equal merit—but the man who does not advertise makes no claims publicly, assumes no public responsibility, proclaims no standard up to which he must live.

You may be perfectly satisfied that when you patronize an advertiser, you are patronizing a man who has made a reputation, who is proud of it, and who will make every human effort to uphold it. In dealing with him, you are dealing with a certainty; you don't have to take chances; why do it?

High School Girl Writes Prize Essay

The following is the essay written by Miss Lucile Horsey, a student at the Wicomico High school in the contest arranged by the United States Recruiting bureau and by the writing of which she won a first prize. Announcement of Miss Horsey's success in the contest was made in The Wicomico News last week. Her prize winning essay follows:

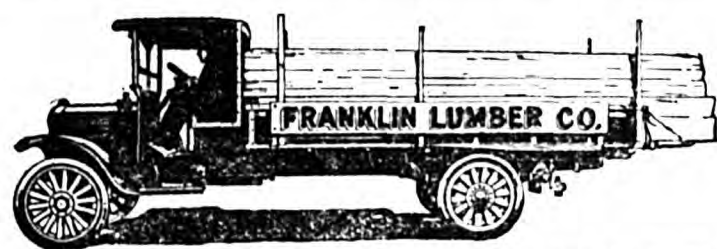

It is the duty of every American citizen no matter to what scale of life he may belong, to train himself with the interest of being of the greatest use to the world. Ten years ago this was a problem confronting the average man that had not simplified itself as it has today. Unless a man could go to college or specialize in some trade he must apprentice himself to a tradesman to learn to support himself. Now in this era of Democracy the problem of a man supporting himself and others is solved by posters: "Join the United States Army." Perhaps he asks why he should join the Army. Because it offers the greatest opportunities in educational, financial physical and moral lines.

Since the armistice and during the recent war the army has permanently and definitely instituted a system of education and vocational improvements. At the various camps throughout the country this training will be carried on and given the attention of the officers. There is every branch of training offered that can be wished for, from blacksmith to musician. A man may advance his education in the army and at the same time continue his vocational training. At the successful completion of a course he is given a certificate to that effect. The efficiency of the course will be such that the certificate will be recognized as a sign of merit and proficiency. Similarly an educational certificate will be recognized.

The financial is another question of paramount importance to the average man. The private entering the army with no knowledge of the trade he wishes to pursue and practically illiterate receives $30 a month. Statistics show that a man averages $58 a month expenses, and this makes the private get in reality $88 a month. What would this same man be able to earn in civil life where each man must be an expert to keep his job. He has every chance of advancement and with each a raise in pay.

Two Local Stores Sell Millinery Equal To Big City Stores

Comparison Of Hats Bought In Philadelphia And Baltimore With Those Bought At Powell And Benjamin Stores, Here, Shows Salisbury Product To Be Best And Cheapest.

MIDSUMMER MODELS NOW SHOWN.

(By Esther Dell).

Although it is several weeks since the Easter Millinery openings at the R. E. Powell & Co., and at the Benjamin stores, I believe that the success of those two big opening are worth of just a few brief more comments even at this late day.

It is safe to say that never before in the history of Salisbury, if indeed in the history of the entire Eastern Shore, have two such openings been so successful from every point of view as those of the Powell and the Benjamin stores. It seems to me that no effort on the part of the management of those stores or on the part of the heads of the millinery departments in those stores, was spared to meet the needs and to gratify the desires of every customer.

In spite of the terrible rush after spring millinery just prior to Easter day, the millinery department employees in those stores wore smiling faces. They were cheerful, patient and kind. I visited both stores during the crush and could tell by watching the girls and women employed there that they were worried and tired. I saw them handle the most exacting customers in the kindest and the most courteous manner. Nothing was too much trouble for them, and as far as I could see the wishes of every customer were met.

I have talked with dozens of women since Easter, who bought their spring millinery at the Powell or the Benjamin store and I have yet to find a single one who is dissatisfied.

I have taken it upon myself to compare the Powell and Benjamin hats with some of those which my friends bought in Philadelphia and Baltimore, and I find the styles in the Salisbury stores product just as good as those which came in from the larger cities. I have compared the workmanship in the big city and the Powell and Benjamin hats and have found that the hats produced in the two home stores are better in many respects than those which came from a distance.

I have compared the prices of the Philadelphia and the Baltimore hats with those which were bought at the Powell and the Benjamin stores and find that the hats bought here cost less than those which were bought in either of the two larger places.

While the rush at each of these stores for the advanced spring styles ended with the buying of the Easter hats, there is still a lively business being done at both places in the later spring and summer models and styles. There is a reason for this, it seems to me.

And that reason is, the Powell and the Benjamin millinery departments are managed by persons who give their whole time and attention to the management of those departments. They are artists in their lines, they know their business. Furthermore they have studied the millinery needs of the women of this vicinity and have assorted their stocks accordingly.

There is another advantage in buying at either of these two reliable stores. The sales personnel at each store is very friendly with the stores' trade. The saleswomen are not apt to give a customer some unsuitable or unbecoming article just for the sake of making a sale. They feel that they know their customers sufficiently well to advise them what to buy, and they know that by giving real and honest advice they are making new and retaining old friends for their employers and for themselves. In the big city stores the saleswomen are often paid commissions on their sales, and it is their business to sell. Their trade is more or less transient. They sell a woman a hat today and may never see her again. They have no personal interest in her or her appearance and they do not care whether she is pleased with what she buys or not. If she doesn't go back for more purchases, somebody else will. In the Powell and the Benjamin stores the condition is different. The women who are buying hats there today have been millinery customers for many seasons and they will continue to be customers for many seasons to come, because they are advised against buying unsuitable and unbecoming head gear.

I have made a study of the work done in the millinery departments of these two big Salisbury stores and I cannot refrain from advising my friends and my readers from making their millinery purchases in one of those stores.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS GIVEN A SHOWER

Miss Dorothy White, Soon To Be Mrs. Joseph M. Jones Is Greeted By Her Friends In Norfolk.

Miss Hannah Hitch and Miss Alpha Kellum were hostesses at a very pretty shower given at the home of Mrs. Carroll C. Bounds, on Colonial avenue, Norfolk, last Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Bounds' niece, Miss Dorothy White, whose marriage to Joseph M. Jones took place Saturday afternoon. The house was attractively decorated with growing plants and spring flowers, the color scheme being pink and green. A huge Easter basket delivered by a special messenger, laden with beautiful gifts for the prospective bride, was one of the many pleasant surprises of the evening.

Among those present were: Misses Beulah White, sister of the bride-elect of Allen, Elva Hutchinson, Ella Jordan, Elizabeth Jordan, Blanch Holt, Susie Whetstone, Susie Jordan, Lena McMillan, Pattie Jordan, Mary Langston, Esther Aydelotte, Mary Finley, Elizabeth Finley, Mrs. A. WHAT IS A BOND?

An obligation, a note, a promise to pay a certain sum of money on a certain date.

WHAT IS A "BOND ISSUE"?

The empowering of the county commissioners by law to sell bonds in order to erect new school buildings, etc.

If you wish to build a home and have not enough money to do so, you can borrow the money, build your home, and live in it while you are paying for it. In a way you buy it on the installment plan; you spread your payments over a period of years and make life a pleasure, not a burden.

In the same way, Wicomico County can float a bond issue; build new and better schools; provide for the welfare of its children; and pay for the whole undertaking while the children are getting the benefit of the Schools.

The State of Maryland Ranks 34th in the Matter of Schools!

32,000 People are living in this county; the taxable property of the county is valued at more than $15,000,000.

A $200,000 School Bond Issue in Comparison with the Wealth of the County Would Not be a Great Obligation.

To Raise That Amount by Direct Taxation Would Be a Great Burden.

To Raise That Amount by Bond Issue Would be an Almost Imperceptible Increase in Tax Rates.

The indebtedness grows less each year as the bonds are retired; the children will be in a position to help pay the cost of their education; the children will be brighter, happier, better citizens.

May Contest City Elections To Be Held Here Next Tuesday

Report Says Farmers & Planters Co., Will Raise Technical Issue.

PRIMARIES NOT LEGALLY CALLED

Fertilizer Factory Advocates May Contend City Committee Holds Office Illegally. Bennett's and Dickerson's Petition To Go On Ticket Not Acted on Monday Night.

There is a real possibility that the city elections to be held here on May 4, may be contested in the courts, as the result of the vote between C. L. Dickerson and C. E. Bennett with 353 votes each in the primary elections held recently, when E. B. Hitch also a candidate for nomination to the City Council, received but 354 votes.

The possibility of legal entanglements and expense to the city thru a contest of the elections on May 4, will be the outcome of the desire of the Farmers & Planters Co., to locate a factory to be used for the making of fertilizer on Mill street, within a few blocks of an exclusive residential section and practically in the business heart of the city. It will be remembered that the Mayor and Council a year or more ago declined to issue a permit for the erection of the fertilizer factory building on Mill street, that the matter was carried into court where the action of the Mayor and Council was sustained and that the matter is now in the courts, awaiting a decision on a writ of mandamus action brought by the Farmers & Planters Co., a few weeks ago.

It was generally understood before the city primaries that C. E. Bennett and C. L. Dickerson, candidates for councilman nomination, were favorable to the Farmers & Planters cause, and that E. B. Hitch was not in accord with that concern's desire to locate its factory on Mill street. The tied vote between Dickerson and Bennett and the lead of Mr. Hitch over these men by one vote has given rise to complications which now threaten to bring forth technicalities on the merits of which the courts may be called to decide.

It is reported that because the time between now and the date of the elections is too short for it to take action, the Farmers & Planters will permit the elections to be held without raising a question; but that after ward, it will raise the point that the primary elections at which the candidates were nominated were illegally held, in that the City Committee, which it contends is empowered to call such elections, has not been appointed since its original appointment several years ago under an alleged law which it is said provides for its appointment annually; that the City Committee as it now exists does not function, but that all of its work (Continued on Page Seven).

Fifteen Counties To Bond For Schools

Only Five Are Forced To Apply The Referendum. These Five Rank Low in State's School Circles.

During the session of the Maryland legislature just concluded, school bonds were authorized to 8 counties without the referendum, and five counties, including Wicomico, were forced to resort to the referendum in order to have their needed school bonds legally authorized.

Those counties to which bonds for school purposes were made available without the referendum and the amounts of the bonds authorized are: Allegany, $700,000; Anne Arundel, $150,000; Calvert, $20,000; Baltimore, $500,000; Caroline, $120,000; Frederick, $250,000; Dorchester, $150,000; Washington, $550,000.

Those counties to whose bonding measures the referendum must be applied are Carroll, $300,000; Charles, $100,000; Garrett, $250,000; Worcester, $15,000; Wicomico, $200,000. It is a significant fact that those counties which are compelled to use the referendum on their school bonding measures, rank low in the educational circles of the state, Wicomico and Worcester counties being among the very lowest of the lot.

An Explanation.

The question has been raised as to who is paying the expenses of advertising, etc., of the School Bond Campaign committee, and in this connection I desire to say that the funds are being raised by voluntary contributions.

The Board of Education and the County Commissioners will not be asked to defray any of the expenses. The advocates of the School Bond issue are business men of high standing in our county, and their energy and time are given to the cause for the reason that they are firmly convinced that we cannot accomplish the needed improvements in our schools in any other way and be fair to all taxpayers.

Borrowing money for permanent improvements is following the proven method of business.

FORUM CORPORATION TO BUILD 40 HOUSES

Ground To Be Broken For Big Development Within A Few Days. Will Include Stores.

I. Frank Bilger, vice president and general manager of the Forum corporation was in Salisbury last week and closed the deal for the block of land bounded by Barkley, Baker and Anne streets. The corporation expects to build moderate priced homes on each of these streets, also a three-story building with stores on the first floor and apartments on the upper floors. This building will be located opposite the Union Station and will add considerably to the appearance of that section of the city.

The center of this triangular plot will be utilized as a community play ground which will still further add to the attractiveness of the location.

The corporation is planning to build about 40 houses in Salisbury as fast as labor and other conditions will permit.

Ground will be broken in a few days for the big store building and apartments. V. J. Downing, general manager of the Salisbury branch has sent out a hurry call for workmen and will push the work to completion as rapidly as possible.

W. B. MILLER TO GO ON SCHOOL BOARD

Governor Ritchie Wires Senator Disaroon Mr. Miller Will Be Named To Succeed L. T. Cooper.

Walter B. Miller of this city will be appointed as a member of the Wicomico County School board, this week.

Senator C. R. Disaroon received a telegram from Governor Ritchie on Monday stating that he, the governor, will appoint Mr. Miller a member of the School board to succeed L. T. Cooper of Sharptown.

It is believed, in fact it is understood, that just as soon as Mr. Miller's appointment is made, some of the few prominent business men of this city and county who are now opposed to the School Bond issue will withdraw their opposition and fall in line with the supporters of the bonding proposition.

Mr. Miller is a man of well recognized business ability. He is well-known as one of the most public spirited citizens of the county, and he occupies a high place in the esteem of all the people regardless of their color, creed or politics.

The fact that he is to be made a member of the School board is exceedingly gratifying to those who have the educational interests of the county's children at heart. Mr. Miller is a staunch advocate of the proposed School Bond issue.

The members of the School board after Mr. Miller is appointed will be Harry L. Brewington, L. W. Gunby and W. B. Miller, each one of whom is a man in whom the people have the utmost confidence and for whom they feel a great respect—and each one is a staunch and true supporter of the School Bond issue to be voted on Monday.

The Wicomico News extends its heartiest congratulations to Mr. Miller and to the people upon his promised appointment.

WILL TEST CITY'S CENSUS ENUMERATION

Not Satisfied With Federal Figures Chamber of Commerce Will Take Census Itself.

Because it is not satisfied with the figures which have reached it unofficially, but which it assumes will be used by the U. S. Census bureau as representing the population of Salisbury, in the making up of the census of the nation for 1920, the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night voted to appropriate $100 with which to compensate some reliable man to canvass a single enumeration section of Salisbury and make an enumeration to be used in checking the enumeration of the same district by the regular census enumerators made just a few weeks ago. Walter B. Miller was named as a committee to take charge of this work, to engage the enumerator and to hold him responsible for accurate results.

This action on the part of the Chamber came as the result of a report made by Col. A. W. Woodcock, who said he had taken the matter of the city's reported population up with the Federal census officials, only to be told that if the city or Chamber of Commerce would enumerate a single enumeration district of the city, and send the same to Washington to be compared with the enumeration of that district made by the regular enumerators, the Government will, if a sufficient number of eliminations are shown to have been made by the Federal enumerators, re-enumerate the entire city of Salisbury.

The entire matter of settling upon the district to be re-canvassed, the appointment of the enumerator, and the direction of his work is left in the hands of Mr. Miller. The Chamber took this action after listening to the report of Colonel Woodcock and upon his motion that such action be immediately taken by the Chamber.

Shriners Take City By Storm On Saturday

About 900 Nobles Take Over Keys To Salisbury. Present Wonderful Street Parade In Afternoon. Ceremonies At Armory At Night. Order Of Mystic Shrine Conferred On 132 Candidates.

BOY SCOUTS AND GIRLS GIVE SERVICE.

Saturday was Shriners' day in Salisbury.

The 900 Nobles who came here from all parts of the country, simply took possession of the city. They owned the place. Every building in the business section was dressed in gala attire; flags and bunting played a prominent part in the decorations, and flags floated from many of the city's residences.

The visitors included 350 members of Bounti temple, Baltimore, 50 of whom arrived here in automobiles; 70 members of Lulu temple, Philadelphia, 20 from Khedive temple, Norfolk; 20 from Almas temple, Washington, D. C.; 400 from temples of Eastern Shore cities and towns, and one each from Montana, New York, North Carolina and Ohio.

A reception committee composed of F. P. Adkins, R. D. Grier and W. B. Tilghman, all of this city, greeted the visitors as they arrived at the railroad station. Boy Scouts by the scores were there also to run errands for and be of general assistance to the visitors.

The feature of the afternoon was a big street parade which began at the railroad station and was concluded at the Armory where the ceremonial and entertainment features were staged. The parade, one of the most interesting ever seen in this city, was headed by the members of the Reception committee, followed by the Bounti temple band of 40 or more musicians. Following the band was a patrol of 60 Bounti shriners in Arabian costumes. These men gave some wonderful drill exhibitions as they marched through the city's streets. Following the Arab patrol were the Bounti Nobles and after them the Salisbury candidates. After them were the visiting Nobles from Norfolk and Philadelphia and they were followed by the remainder of the candidates, who in turn were followed in the parade formation by a great host of Shriners wearing only the Fez, as the insignia of their order. Following these were a score of Girl Scouts, all Salisbury girls, who made an admirable appearance and 60 Salisbury Boy Scouts and the Boy Scouts' life and drum corps. The Salisbury band was also in the line, rendering good service with its march music. At frequent intervals the parade presented comic features which were thoroughly enjoyed by all the hundreds of people who lined the city's streets to view the pageant and greet the visitors.

At the Armory, W. L. Barrett, Chief Potentate of Maryland, who had previously, at the railroad station, been presented with a silver loving cup by the Eastern Shore Shriners, took charge of the ceremonials. The program consisted of a business meeting at 5:30 o'clock; luncheon in the basement served by the management of the Central hotel; ceremonial at 7:30 o'clock when Potentate Barrett presented each member of the Executive committee with a silver Shrine jewel. This committee consists of Marvin Evans, W. F. Messick, Charles Bourne and Ralph Grier. It was at this ceremonial that 109 candidates from the Eastern Shore and 23 others from Baltimore and Wilmington had conferred upon them, the order of the Shrine.

Later in the evening the visitors, escorted by the local Nobles, visited the Arcade theater where they were the guests of honor. They visited every store and every business house in the center of the city and were made welcome to Salisbury.

A. M. Walls, as chairman of the Housing committee, accomplished an almost impossible task in that he found entertainment for each of the hundreds of visitors. Unable to find sleeping accommodations sufficient to the need in the hotels and private homes, Mr. Walls obtained the services of six Pullman sleeping cars which were parked on the B. C. & A. R. R. sidings for the use of many of the visitors.

Chamber Of Commerce Is Solidly Behind Plan For Shoreman Hotel

If You Can't

Vote for the School Bond issue on Monday, don't vote at all. Don't put yourself on record as being opposed to giving the boys and girls an education. Don't listen to the professional politicians who tell you it will be unwise to build school houses now. Consider that building costs are ever advancing; that even though they are lower at the end of five years, hundreds of boys and girls in this county, at the end of five years from now, will have forfeited, through your selfishness, their opportunities to get the public school education to which they, as American citizens, are entitled.

THE NEWS BEGINS ITS 35TH YEAR

Records Show The Paper To Be A Stronger Favorite With The Public Than Ever Before.

The Wicomico News today begins its 35th volume. One volume of the paper consists of 52 consecutive issues. This means that The Wicomico News has existed and been published weekly through 34 consecutive years and is now beginning the 35th year of its existence as a newspaper.

The News today is a better newspaper than at any other time during its long period of life as a public institution. The paper's business records show that it is a better business proposition than ever before—that its circulation is greater and that its advertising patrons are more numerous than at any time in its entire 34 years of its public service.

There can be but one reason for this increase. The paper must be a better newspaper, a better advertising medium than it has been heretofore. The records speak for themselves. The News is growing. It is an indication of efficiency in public service, such as no newspaper on the Eastern Shore, except The News can truthfully boast.

NEWTON LODGE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Interesting Program Given In S.Y.M. A. Building On Tuesday Night Is Thoroughly Enjoyed.

Newton lodge 1. O. O. F. celebrated the 101st anniversary of Oddfellowship on Tuesday evening at 8.15 in the auditorium of the S.Y.M.A. building.

The first floor of the S.Y.M.A. was completely crowded when Charles Bennett, a past grand of the lodge, called the meeting to order. In a few remarks explaining the reasons why the anniversary was held he opened the program, which consisted of songs by Arthur Ward, a vocal solo by Miss Margaret Holloway, a humorous ditty dialogue by Mrs. Hitch and Mrs. Taylor, a vocal solo by Mrs. Helen McDaniel, a piano solo by Miss Louise Fields, a short address by the Rev. Shipley, a piano solo by Miss Marie Brumley, songs by Mr. and Mrs. Reese Wimbrow, a short talk on "Odd Fellowship," by E. J. C. Parsons, past grand master of Maryland, and another dialogue by Mrs. Hitch and Mrs. Taylor. Refreshments were served upon the conclusion of the program.

SIMPLICITY NIGHT WITH THE GRANGERS

The next meeting of Salisbury grange will be held on May 1st. It will be simplicity night.

It is desired that all members attend wearing the same clothes they wear in the field or kitchen. The master has assured the press agent that he will attend, wearing overalls and the press agent will do the same.

The literary program for the next meeting will be a play given by the Matrons Home club with possibly a question box and short talks by the members.

ANOTHER $15,000 IS PRACTICALLY PROMISED

W. B. Miller Injects New Life Into Hotel Plans. After Directors And Promoters Had Announced Their Inability To Get Co-operation Of City's Business Interests.

The progress of the Shoreman hotel proposition which has sadly lagged for some time, was given a great and new impetus at the meeting of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night when through the personal efforts of Walter B. Miller, those of its members who were present subscribed to stock in the corporation to the amount of about $45,750, in addition to an almost positive guarantee that three other Salisbury men will each take $5,000 of the hotel stock.

Clarence W. Miles, one of the hotel stock promoters, reported to the Chamber that he and Mark Cooper, associated with him in the sale of the hotel stock, were greatly discouraged. He said he and Mr. Cooper had canvassed and re-canvassed in a conscientious effort to dispose of the stock and make a good and modern hotel available to the city. Mr. Miles said that the Main street business men, those who will be most benefited by the operation of a good hotel here, had failed to co-operate, and that only $58,800 of the stock had been subscribed up to that time. He said there was much criticism of the hotel corporation directors because of the fact that the two promoters were being paid a commission of five per cent for their services. He said too, that he and Mr. Cooper, not desiring to embarrass the directors in making of the hotel plan a success, had resigned as promoters at a meeting of the directors on Thursday afternoon.

Jesse D. Price for the hotel directors spoke briefly. He said the directors were up against a dilemma in that they seemed to have gone as far as they can go and have not met with great success. He was unable, he said, to give a definite reason for the failure of the business people of the city to support the new hotel movement more generously. He could not believe that it was caused by a failure on their part to realize the worth to the city of a good hotel.

The people he said, are loud in their praise of the effort to have a good hotel here, but they are very slow in the matter of putting up their money. He said each one of the directors had subscribed liberally and assumed personal financial responsibilities because of their faith in the proposition as an advantage to the city. They have no personal axes to grind, he said, and their only interest in having (Continued On Page 12).

C. E. Society Installs Officers

M. P. Church Is Scene Of Impressive Ceremony On Sunday. Junior C. E. Has Afternoon Meeting.

A very interesting and inspiring service was held last Sunday evening in Bethesda Methodist Protestant church when the newly elected officers of the Christian Endeavor society were installed using the ritual of the organization. Definite pledges of service and co-operation were exchanged by the officers and members in a most impressive way. The new officers are as follows: President, Walter P. Nock; vice president, Miss Edna Windsor; secretary, Miss Ruth Dawson; treasurer, John G. Melson; pianist, Miss Gladys Cleary; corresponding secretary, Miss Bertha Shepard; chorister, W. E. Merrick; superintendent of the Intermediate society, Mrs. John G. Melson; superintendent of the Junior society, Mrs. J. Ryland Taylor.

The Junior Christian Endeavor society holds its regular meeting on Friday afternoon just after the close of the public school. This time is a new departure and all children desiring a pleasant religious service are invited to attend these meetings.

You Mothers

What are you going to do about the school bond issue that will demand the support of your husband at the polls next Monday? Remember that you are as greatly responsible for the welfare of your children as is your husband.

It is up to you as much as to him to see that your children are well educated.

Of course you have no vote, because you are JUST A WOMAN; but you can talk with and convince that husband of yours, that it is his duty as an American and as a Christian to do all in his power to provide the money with which to give his children and YOURS, the best available public school advantages, lest in the years to come, those children blame you for their ignorance.

The responsibility rests as greatly upon the MOTHER as upon the FATHER!

WILL YOU SHIRK THAT RESPONSIBILITY—or will you do all IN YOUR POWER TO GET YOUR HUSBAND TO VOTE FOR A GOOD EDUCATION FOR YOUR CHILDREN?

HEALTH HINTS.

Miss Margaret G. Laws, Red Cross Public Health nurse in Wicomico county has consented to write for The News each week an article on the care of health and prevention of disease and sickness. This is the third of Miss Laws' articles.

CLEAN FOOD AND DISEASE PREVENTION

(By Margaret Laws, R. N.)

To preserve health, clean food is important. That is why we have the laws about clean food and why the food stores must obey them.

Remember that dirty, dusty, fly-specked, much-handled food may carry tuberculosis, typhoid fever and diarrheal diseases or summer complaint.

To get clean food:

Insist at the store and at home, on food protected from the three dangerous F's: Filth, Flies, Fingers.

Buy your groceries, meats, fish, milk, vegetables, etc., from a store where they fight the three deadly D's: Dirt, Disease, Death.

Another thing that is important is decent food. Indecent and dirty food is food covered with dust, food to which flies have carried dirt and disease germs and food that unwashed hands have handled.

You may get disease—typhoid fever and tuberculosis—this way, but even if you escape that, do you want to eat fruit or candies or meat upon which flies, probably from a near-by garbage pail, have feasted?

Is the bread wrapped and are the vegetables covered? Is the floor clean? Are the clerks healthy? Do they spit on the floor? You are entitled to cleanliness and food protection in your butcher shop, in your milk store and wherever you buy food. Remember that the stores where you trade will clean up if you object to the dirt.

Tell your grocer and your butcher that things will spoil and rot if he does not protect his foods from dust, dirt, flies and dirty hands. This means that his show cases should be covered, that his packages especially bread should be carefully wrapped, and that his meats should be kept in the ice-box and not on hooks outside.

CLEAN FOOD PAYS because people like to buy clean food. Your butcher, your milk dealer or any one else can increase his business by having a clean, safe and decent store.

Three things go together: CLEANLINESS, GOOD BUSINESS and LOW PRICES. Buy clean food from a clean store. Tell your neighbors to do this too.

HOSPITAL TAG DAY VERY SUCCESSFUL

Salisbury's Girl Scouts Tagged Pedestrians On Saturday And Raised About $200.

"Buy a tag!"

"Have you been tagged?"

In this manner were pedestrians in Salisbury greeted on the streets in the business sections on Saturday morning, for the Girl Scouts of the city under the direction of their captain, Mrs. L. C. Tayntor, took it upon themselves to raise money for the free dispensary of the Peninsula General hospital by the "tagging" method.

As thick as flies about a molasses barrel were the Girl Scouts about the principal street corners; and the man or the woman who eluded their tagging efforts was indeed shrewd. In justice to the people of the city it should be said that they made no really desperate efforts to avoid buying the tags. The response to the call for hospital aid was really generous. Almost every man and woman on the streets during the forenoon was wearing one of the little blue tags which signified that he or she had contributed to the hospital cause.

Long before noon all the tags provided for the occasion had been sold and there were none left for the big crowds of the afternoon. However, dandelion blossoms were sold in lieu of the tags during the afternoon, with very good success.

It is reported that Tag day netted the hospital's free dispensary treasury somewhere in the neighborhood of $200.

The following expression of gratitude to the Girl Scouts for their efforts, by the hospital's Free Dispensary committee is sufficient indication of the girls' success:

"The committee, consisting of the wives of the physicians of Salisbury, who have interested themselves in the Free Dispensary opened Monday April 26, at the Peninsula General hospital, wish to thank the public for their generous response on Tag Day. Also to the Girl Scouts under the supervision of their captain, Mrs. L. O. Tayntor, they wish to express their appreciation for hearty cooperation, and good work done."

WOMAN LEADER TO AID SALVATIONISTS

Mrs. J. Charles Linthicum, Wife of Maryland Congressman, Heads Women's Branch.

Mrs. J. C. Linthicum.

Of extreme interest to the women of Maryland is the announcement that Mrs. J. Charles Linthicum, wife of the Maryland Congressman, has accepted the Women's State Chairmanship of the Home Service Fund of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Linthicum is prominent in women's work in the State and recently presented the dreadnought Maryland with its flag.

She is Maryland State Chaplain of the Daughters of America, and during the war was a member of the Women's Branch of the National Defense League and chairman of several other organizations having in hand war work.

She has always been deeply interested in the Salvation Army, and has accepted the Maryland State Chairmanship with the belief that no work is more important at this time than the raising of funds to carry out the plans of this organization in the purchase of a Girls' Home, and other enterprises of equal importance.

Mrs. Linthicum will ask that every woman in Maryland who realizes the wonderful performance of the Salvation Army before, during and after the war, put her hands to the wheel and help raise the $200,000 which is necessary for this most laudable enterprise.

The drive will be made from the 10th to the 20th of May, and everyone in the State will be expected to lend a helping hand.

Under date of April 13, writing to Brigadier William Escott, head of the Salvation Army in Maryland, Mrs. Linthicum paid a high tribute to the Salvationists, saying:

"In response to your request that I accept the State Chairmanship of this work in Maryland, I beg to say that realizing the wonderful work which the Salvation Army performed while in France, and their great follow-up system since their return at home, it would be difficult indeed for me to refuse to accept any work laid down by this great organization for my performance.

"Wonderful opportunities were afforded and grasped by the many organizations in war work in the encampments and cantonments in this country, and during hostilities abroad, and I may say since the return of the boys to America. There is no organization, however, which stands more prominently before the public, and whose work is more generally approved than is that of the Salvation Army.

"It is therefore incumbent upon all of us to do everything we can to further its work, and to make more helpful its every effort. It is very laudable indeed that this organization has determined to establish a home in Baltimore for the working girls, and to procure money for other purposes just as essential.

"I take pleasure, therefore, in accepting the State Chairmanship for the work in hand, and assure you it will give me great pleasure at all times to do my utmost for its success."

"Found Seven Rats Dead in Bin Next Morning."

Robert Woodruff says: "My premises were infested with rats. I tried RAT-SNAP on friend's recommendation. Next morning found seven dead rats in bin, two near feed box, three in stall. Found large number since. No smell from dead rats—RAT-SNAP dries them up. Best thing I have ever used." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by DORMAN & SMYTH, HDW. CO.—Advt. *

GRAVE OF FOUR DYNASTIES

Ambitions of Austria, Russia, Germany and Turkey All Lie Buried in the Balkans.

We stood on the forward deck of the Sirio as she slipped southward, through the placid waters of the Adriatic, at 20 knots an hour. Less than a league away the Balkan mountains, savage, mysterious, forbidding, rose in a rocky rampart against the eastern sky.

"Did it ever occur to you," remarked the Italian officer who stood beside me, a noted historian in his own land, "that four great empires have died as a result of their lust for dominion over the restless lands which lie beyond those mountains? Austria coveted Serbia—and the empire of the Hapsburgs is in fragments now. Russia, seeing her influence in the peninsula imperiled, hastened to the support of her fellow Slavs—but Russia has gone down in red ruin, and the Romanoffs are dead, Germany, seeking a gateway to the warm water, and a highway to the East, seized on the excuse thus offered to launch her waiting armies—and the empire reared by the Hohenzollerns is bankrupt and broken. Turkey fought to retain her hold on such European territory as still remained under the crescent banner. Today a postmortem is about to be held on the Turkish empire and the house of Osman.

"Think of it! Four great empires, four ancient dynasties, lie buried over there in the Balkans. It is something more than a range of mountains at which we are looking; it is the wall of a cemetery."—E. Alexander Powell in Scribner's Magazine.

CHECK ON TRICKY "COPPERS"

Simple Contrivance Prevents Fraud on the Part of Applicants for Coveted Positions.

In Philadelphia the position of traffic policeman is open only to men who are six feet or more in height. Such positions are so much sought after that many applicants who fall short of the required height by only a small fraction of an inch are tempted to cheat a little bit by rising on their heels.

An ingenious application of electricity is now used to circumvent this trick, and any attempt to register a fraudulent measure is disclosed at once. The applicant, as he stands upon the platform under the slide rule, sets his feet upon two metal plates that are normally a trifle above the platform. They are just large enough to be covered by a man's heels, and when the candidate stands with his heels on the floor the plates are so depressed that they make a contact and form a circuit that lights a lamp overhead. As long as the man stands with both heels on the ground the lamp stays lighted, but the moment he raises either heel the smallest part of an inch the contact is broken and the lamp goes out. So does he.

Russian Painters Thriving.
"Art" so far as the production of pictures is concerned, is said to have had a great boom in bolshevist Russia owing to the fact that the government pays a liberal amount for all works approved by official experts.

The whole domain of art has been placed under the control of a council of seven members, four of whom are apostles of futurism. Artists' earnings have been increased through a rule established by the council under which all pictures that pass the judges are to be paid for at the uniform rate of 7,000 rubles each.

Whether the artist has devoted months of assiduous labor to a picture or whether it is a dab which has taken a few hours to paint, the recompense is the same. With such encouragement the number of artists in Russia is increasing rapidly.

Town Bells for $10,000.

The entire town of Moneta, Wyo., has been sold for $10,000. The purchaser, John Goodman, received title from A. Kanson, who founded Moneta twenty years ago, to the following: One township of forty lots, one eight-room hotel, one five-room cottage, one three-room cottage, two two-room cottages, one large livery barn, one railroad eating house and a miscellaneous assortment of outbuildings. No person other than Goodman owns a single thing in Moneta, but the Chicago and Northwestern owns the right of way on which the town site fronts and a small depot building on this right of way.—Christian Science Monitor.

Biggest Opal in the World.

Proclaimed as the largest uncut precious stone in the world, an enormous, absolutely flawless black opal, recently discovered in this country, is now in the office of a government official in Washington. The gem contains approximately 21 cubic inches, and weighs 2,572.332 carats. It is valued at $250,000 by the owners. The famous Viennese opal, which was without an equal until the American specimen was found, weighs 1,658,927 carats, but has a number of flaws.

Less Embarrassment.

"What difference does it make to you?"

SOME OBSERVATIONS OF THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

He Discusses The Wonderful Food Served And The Admirable Service Rendered In Restaurants.

Do you know that Salisbury has some wonderful restaurants?

Ever eat in them three times a day, six times a week?

Oh it's just a glorious thing to go into one of them once a week maybe, with your best girl and eat a club sandwich or something. That sort of thing goes very well, because under those circumstances you don't know what you eat and you don't care!

You just go into the place, seat yourself and HER, place your order and HER'S, and then you don't mind the half or three quarters of an hour that you have to wait for your food, because you can sit opposite HER and look into her smiling blue or brown eyes, as the case may be—personally I prefer blue—and think yourself a lucky dog.

Then finally when the sandwich is served you don't notice that you are eating ham instead of the chicken you ordered, and you don't mind if half of your cupful of coffee is spilled from the cup into the saucer and you need a sponge or a bar cloth to wipe off the top of the table every time you lift the cup from the saucer because of the dribbles which run from it, and maybe make spots on your best Sunday clothes.

Oh of course you don't mind such things under the circumstances I have described. HER presence, her smiling eyes, her rosebud lips and her teasing laughter fascinate you. You don't know and you don't care what you eat, whether you eat at all or what it costs you—but—

How about the fellow who works all morning and depends upon one of the local restaurants for his dinner? I say dinner, because he has already eaten his breakfast in one of them, and he seldom forgets that breakfast. Either he remembers it because of the aching void which makes itself known at about 11:30, or he remembers it because of the heaviness which fills his bosom, if that's the name of the place where a heavy breakfast is most apt to lodge.

Well as I was saying, he goes into one of the restaurants for his dinner. Usually he is alone and in a hurry. He seats himself at a table and maybe after a 10-minute wait he gives his order. Then he waits from 10 to 15 minutes longer and his food is brought to him. That is, the stuff with which he is served is called food. It's really the same stuff he gets when he goes into the restaurant with his best girl, but under those circumstances, he don't mind; now, however a different situation has presented itself. He is hungry and he has no red lips and blue eyes to feast upon. He needs the food and he wants it. He doesn't like to have his coffee slopped from his cup to his saucer, and he don't enjoy having his crackers skidded from the plate to the table-top so that the waiter may scoop them up with his hand and delicately replace them on the plate. He doesn't like to eat fried eggs right side up when he has ordered fried eggs turned over, and when he orders an oyster stew he likes to find at least one tiny oyster in the liquid slop.

He doesn't like his toast cut more than three inches thick and he doesn't enjoy having his French fried potatoes unless the chef has completed the frying process.

Now these are just a few of the things the restaurant lizard in Salisbury is up against. He has an hour for his dinner and he uses anywhere from 20 minutes to a half hour of that time in getting his order served to him. Now maybe that's a lucky thing for if he had more time in which to contemplate the awful things which are served him, maybe he wouldn't eat at all—and it's unfortunate that as soon as a man gets in the habit of doing without food he dies.

So far this little preachment on the restaurants of Salisbury has treated only of breakfast and dinner. Nothing has been said about supper because it's just the same as breakfast and dinner. There are no supper specialties, there are no supper inducements. The bill of fare is never changed. It's the same thing yesterday, today and tomorrow, world without end: will somebody say the Amen, please?

It's a fact though, that the man who eats in the restaurants pays the biggest table board and has less to eat than any other man in Salisbury. Why, if he eats just a common roast beef sandwich he busts a half dollar all to pieces, and if he goes in for a steak with some fixin's he's set back an iron man or two.

He pays well for what he gets to eat, I guess, because certainly they can't charge much for the service they give!

Salisbury needs a restaurant or a hotel or something where a man may go and get quick service, good food at prices which do not cripple a week's salary at the first whack.

This is the opinion of the Man About Town this week and believe me, he knows because he has tried every eating place in Salisbury!

To The Mothers

On Monday, May 3rd, the voters of Wilcomico county will be called upon to decide at the polls whether or not bonds shall be issued for school purposes. This is a matter of vital importance to the parents and children of this county and upon us rests the responsibility of doing what we can to see that this question is properly presented and rightly decided.

It will be apparent to any one visiting the schools in this county that we are in need of more schools and better schools. In one locality, a building formerly used as a smoke house is now used as a school room, in another Franklin sugar boxes are used for desks, in yet another the foul odors from a cess pool pollute the air. In some of the primary grades, the children are attending only one session a day on account of crowded conditions. The need is apparent and the remedy must be applied.

It will never do for the schools of this county to be closed for lack of funds. Some provision must be made for the raising of funds or the children will suffer greatly in educational advantages. To raise the money by direct taxation will mean a heavy burden to the tax payers of the county, but it can be raised by means of a bond issue without placing a burden upon any one.

A bond issue covering a period of 25 years will mean only a taxation of 50c on each $1,000.00 per year. Do you want your children and the children of your friends to have good educational advantages? If so, do what you can to aid in putting across the bond issue. The children of this county are its greatest asset and failure to provide proper educational advantages and facilities for them now will make them liabilities instead of assets. Schools we must have. Make it your business to see that they are provided in the easiest and best way by a bond issue.

Yours truly,
MOTHERS' COMMITTEE.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE TRANSFER

The property of W. P. Jackson at the corner of Main and Dock streets which was offered at auction last Saturday by E. P. Woodcock & Son, was withdrawn from sale because the high offer was but $19,250. The property was bought however at private sale on Monday by I. L. Benjamin and A. E. Williams. This property is now occupied in part by Dean Perdue, the remainder being a vacant lot. When interviewed this week one of the present owners said they have no present plans for developing the property, but might, if a proper opportunity presents itself, consider the re-selling of the property.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET TONIGHT

There will be a very important meeting of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce tonight, Thursday, promptly at 8 o'clock. Some matters very vitally connected with the interests and growth of Salisbury are to be discussed and a full attendance of all the members is desired.

MODERN PLAYER EXCELS

A group of Yankee players were talking to Joe Kelley, the scout, in his day one of the game's greatest outfielders and batters. "Tell me, Mr. Kelley," said one with real college diction, "is there any department whatever in which the modern player has it on the old-timers?" "Only one," responded Mr. Kelley. "And what is that?" "Playing golf," was the answer of Mr. Kelley.

BASEBALL STORIES

Ed Barrow is still endeavoring to land a second baseman for his club.

New York university has a veteran nine except for third base this season.

The Joplin club sold infielder Joe Evers to the Peoria club of the Three I league.

As the Brooklyn infield has been playing it is a 20 per cent better outfit than last year.

Every time Larry Woodall, the juvenile Tiger catcher, appears behind the bat, he looks better.

Babe Ruth says he will beat his record of 29 home runs for the season made last year this year.

Manager Mitchell has great hopes of Tuck Turner developing into a pitcher fit to be used as a regular.

Roy Massey and Bill Lamar have ended their holdout stuff and the Louisville outfield is now complete.

The two Schang brothers who were given trials by the Baltimore club have been released by Jack Dunn.

W. T. Morrissey, president of the Grand Rapids club of the Central league, is after several Tiger cast-offs.

Herman Held, former umpire in the Pacific coast league, will be an umpire in the Pacific International this year.

Spliters are going to have a tough time of it, under the rule that they may not rub the ball on their uniforms.

The Colonels have an unusually well-balanced team this year, a set of men who can be shifted around in case of emergency.

Report from Little Rock has it that Scrappy Moore, secured from Atlanta, has won the third base job on Kild Elberfeld's team.

Tim Hendryx, the leading batter in the American Association in 1916, has the regular job in center field clinched with the Red Sox.

The release by Cleveland to New Orleans by Larry Gilbert gives Jamieson a chance to stick with the Indians as utility outfielder.

Johnny Lavan has branched out as a regular physician in St. Louis, but he is not ready to drag himself away from baseball.

When the New York Nationals asked waivers on Bowen, the Holy Cross college outfielder, the Boston Americans held him up.

Joe Evans has been named to fill the role of pinch hitter on the Cleveland team when southpaws are pitching against the Indians.

Cleveland players are so busy talking about winning the pennant that Manager Speaker has forbidden mention of this contingency.

If anything happens to the Red Sox infield, Manager Ed Barrow thinks he can patch it up with Harry Hiller, the recruit from the Virginia league.

Andrew V. King, former University of West Virginia football and baseball player, has signed a Pittsburgh National league contract as catcher.

Rip Hagerman, who used to be a star hurler with the Saints a few years ago, now pitches independent ball with the Alma Republics of Alma, Mich.

George Clink, pitcher secured from Regina by Milwaukee, and given his release when he refused to report to the Brewers, has signed with Seattle.

Sentell, the umpire, who makes Fort Worth his home, once played with the Phillies of the National league while under the management of Billy Murray.

SALLY'S VOCATION

By LULU M. PAULEY.

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sally finished tying a gorgeous pink bow on her long dark braid, and smiled at herself in the mirror.

"This is a great old world," she remarked to her room-mate, Anna Flarity, who was already in bed.

"It sure is," Anna agreed, then added wistfully: "I wish Frank and I were going to be married, along with Peter and you, tomorrow night."

Sally's face clouded. "I'm not going to marry anyone," she announced shortly.

Anna sat up in bed in wide-eyed astonishment. "Not going to get married, and the time all set, and everything in readiness?" she gasped. "Why, Sally Day, have you and Peter quarreled?"

Sally shook her head in silence. "Why aren't you going to marry Peter?" pleaded Anna.

Sally, with half-shut eyelids turned and gazed thoughtfully at her companion.

"Anna," she said shortly, "you think you love Frank, and expect to marry him some day. Well, suppose some big thing you had hoped for all your life should suddenly come to you. Which would you choose—this big thing or Frank's love?"

Anna did not hesitate. "Frank's love," she said simply. Sally sighed.

"I choose the big thing," she said—"a literary career."

"Literary career?" Anna laughed openly. "Why, Sally Day, you've never had a thing published in your life—not even gratuitously."

Sally smilingly drew a letter from the folds of her kimono.

"Read that," she cried triumphantly. Anna read with widening eyes.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "it can't be true."

"It is," exulted Sally. "My story has won the first prize of one thousand dollars."

"It will start Peter off nicely in a business of his own, or fix a comfortable home for you both," was Anna's view.

"Peter is out of it," declared Sally, half impatiently. "Marriage would interfere with my future success."

Anna was silent. "Well?" questioned Sally. "You know, dear, you always said my vocation was a home, husband and babies. What have you to say now?"

Anna met the amused look in her friend's eyes, unflinchingly.

"Since you ask," she retorted, "I will say that I think you a mean, unprincipled girl to throw the man who loves you over without just reason. You never loved him, else you would be glad to share this success of yours with him. Suppose all this—this wonderful future you anticipate—should not materialize, and Peter is lost, too?" Sally yawned.

"What a pessimist you are," she remarked. "Do be quiet while I write to Peter. He will understand, perhaps; but if he don't"—she shrugged her shoulders and drew forward her writing materials.

"There," she said when she had finished, "you can mail this for me in the morning. I'm going to take a good rest until lunch time, after which I shall go for my prize money."

It was raining the next day, and Sally with the wet from her umbrella making little pools on the concrete floor of the outer office, waited patiently for the great editor of the story magazine to receive her. Finally she was ushered into the presence of that distinguished personage.

Sally unfolded his letter and laid it before him.

"Ahem," he pursed his lips while glancing the letter over. "Sally Day is your name, I suppose?" "Yes," Sally looked surprised.

The man opened a drawer in his desk and brought out a neatly typewritten manuscript. From a pigeon-hole he took another, which Sally recognized as her own. He placed the two side by side.

"Miss Day," he said, kindly, "my stenographer made a little mistake, for which I am exceedingly sorry. The winner of the first prize is a well-known writer, Miss Ella Townsley, whose non-de-plume is sometimes Sally Day. Miss Townsley's address is 168 West, while yours is the same number East. Singular coincidence, is it not? I am indeed sorry because of the disappointment to you."

He held out her manuscript, which she clutched at blindly. Her voice choked, her head swam.

The editor followed her to the door of the outer office.

"Good-day," he said gently, and added: "Don't think me cruel if I tell you story writing is not your vocation."

How Sally found her way to the street again she did not remember.

Anna opened the door and Sally fell sobbing into her friendly arms. "It was all a mistake, Anna," she wailed. "You were right; and now I've lost Peter, too."

"Hush!" exclaimed Anna, drawing the grief-stricken girl into the room and closing the door. "Things aren't so bad, honey. Come, cheer up, so we can get dressed and ready by the time Peter and Frank get here. A box of beautiful roses has come. Stop crying and look at them. You won't make a pretty bride if your eyes are red. Yes, Peter is coming. You see, I didn't mail that letter you wrote to him last night; I burned it."

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED?

Much has been written, more has been said about the necessity of raising money for school improvements in this county by a long term bond issue. For several weeks the most prominent business men in the county have sought to prove the advisability of raising the money for school purposes by a bond issue, rather than by a direct tax.

The bonding proposition will be voted on by the voters of this county on Monday. What will be the result?

It has been shown conclusively that a great injustice will be done the children, if the schools are not improved immediately. It has been shown that, since the money will have to be raised, the raising of it by the direct tax method will be a great injustice to every taxpayer in the county. It has been shown beyond all question of doubt that the bonding method will give the county the immediate use of the money needed and that the tax rate will not be increased more than five cents on the $100 of taxable values. It has also been shown that the tax rate will be increased more than $1 if the voters turn down the bonding proposition on Monday, and the direct tax method of raising the money is resorted to.

A few of the very few opponents to the bond issue say, "Wait until building costs are lower." When will building costs be lower? Will they be lower at the end of five years? Suppose they are! Do you mean to say that as a Christian, as an American, you will deprive your own and your neighbor's children of their right to good public school education for five years, just so that you may save a few pennies?

Do you realize that the five years you deprive your boy or your girl of an education can never be retrieved? That those five years will have passed never to return? That they will be lost?

If you have a hay crop standing ready for the harvest and your mower breaks, will you let the hay crop waste just because you haven't the money to pay for having your mower fixed?

Of course you won't!

You'll borrow the money for the repairs on your machine, or you will go into debt to the man who repairs the machine until such time as you are able to pay him.

You won't waste your hay crop, but you will waste years of your children's lives rather than borrow a little money that they may be educated!

Do you know why the schools are in such bad condition today?

It is because you as a taxpayer have demanded the lowest possible tax rate; and the men whom you have elected to office over a long period of years in order to get your vote, have held down the tax rate to the lowest possible limit to the detriment of the schools. In order to get your votes they have failed to keep the schools up to a high standard by spending a little money each year. The result is now, that the school machine is broken. It will hardly do the work required of it. The harvest of children wanting an education is here. What will you do with it? Will you let the harvest go to waste or will you vote for the bond issue, and permit the county to borrow the money with which to put the educational machinery of the county in good working order?

Can you allow a few cents, or even a few dollars to balance against the futures of your sons and your daughters? Are you the kind of a father who thinks more of your pocketbook or your bank account than you do of your son's education?

Do you realize that YOUR SON is entitled to everything that is good in the way of an education, that it is POSSIBLE for you to give him, and that unless you make good schools and a good education available to him, you are not GIVING HIM A SQUARE DEAL?

You have no right to deprive your children of their rights—you have no right to hamper their futures by refusing to give them a chance now, even though that chance costs you twice what the bond issue will add to your taxes!

The schools are in a horrible condition and the fault is YOURS, because you have demanded the lowest possible tax rate without demanding to know what part of the county's work was being neglected by your getting that low tax rate. You did not think that maybe the school which your boy attends was not being kept up to standard. It fell below a little each year, and each year you demanded a low tax rate. You paid nothing to keep the school in good working order. This has gone on over a long period of years. Today the school is unfit for use, or it is so over crowded that good work cannot be done in it, or there is room only for two sets of pupils to attend half day sessions.

The time has come when you must pay the piper.

How will you do it? Will you vote for the bonds and pay just a small addition to your present tax rate, or will you vote against the bonds and pay all of the needed money in taxes, all at one time?

Whatever you do, you will do on Monday. Which will it be?

The money must be and will be had. Take your choice between the bond issue with a small increase in your taxes, or take the direct tax method with an increase in your taxes of at least a dollar!

The choice is yours to make—but the money for schools will be raised.

TIME TO ELIMINATE OLD METHODS.

Within a few weeks, Salisbury will elect an almost entirely new council and a new mayor. During the primary campaign, much was heard of the progressive spirit of the two candidates for mayor and the several candidates for city council; and many promises were made of reforms should they be nominated and elected. Looking forward, the News believes that the time has arrived in this community for an entirely new method in the matter of keeping the streets clean and doing away with the waste and expense which has prevailed here for many years.

In all up-to-date cities today, the matter of street cleaning is one which is engaging the attention of the authorities to probably a larger degree than any other department of city government. Here in Salisbury, for years, a force of men has been working on the streets, maintaining four horses at the City Hall, several wagons, and making an expenditure of $15,000 to $18,000 a year for street cleaning service; and during all this time there have been given no advantages of a garbage system, which is one of the most important things which a community like this could have. Having made some investigation into the matter, it is believed that the new Mayor and Council could probably serve this community to the best advantage if early in their administration, they would take up the matter of doing away with the old system and contracting with some reputable and reliable firm to do the street cleaning and collect the garbage in Salisbury.

From a hygienic standpoint, nothing is so advantageous to a city as cleanliness. The city has a population of nearly 10,000 people and yet, it is struggling along with no garbage system and no effort to have one. The health of the citizens is probably the most valuable asset which any community could have; but there seems to be no effort on the part of the city government to protect this health or to aid in its protection by keeping the garbage which collects day after day, from contaminating the health of the community.

It is believed that for almost the same amount of money which it is now costing this city to keep the streets clean and hauling a few shells on the streets, a contract could be entered into with some reputable and experienced concern which would obligate not only to keep the streets clean but also to give a complete garbage collecting system in all sections of the city. A daily garbage collection is not meant by this, but the city could be divided in such a way as to make it possible to collect the garbage at least twice each week in every section; and by this means, it would greatly aid not only in preserving the health but in making safe the comfort of the people, and the streets would present a much neater and cleaner appearance than they do now.

No criticism can be made of the men who are working on the streets, but it is believed that the time has arrived when this community needs a more up-to-date system of taking care of its thoroughfares, and that it is a public duty to keep a city clean, so as to protect the health of its citizens.

This matter has been talked about for years and yet, no one has taken the initiative to push it to a conclusion. It is believed that the Chamber of Commerce could also find a very lucrative and substantial work if it would appoint a special committee, to take this matter up with the Mayor and Council after the next election and to vigorously push the idea of giving Salisbury something new in the way of street cleaning and garbage collection.

It is almost certain that there are hundreds of outhouses and cellars in Salisbury which have not been cleaned in years and where all manner of refuse has collected which cannot but breed disease; and no doubt in past years, the large percentage of typhoid fever and flu could be traced to these pest holes. It is never too late to mend, and it is hoped that the Chamber of Commerce will take some action in this matter.

SOME REGULATION NEEDED HERE.

The daily press throughout the country is full of reports concerning the arrest and conviction of food profiteers who have been caught red handed, mulcting the people's pockets by excessive prices for food stuffs. It seems that there is a flux of profiteering going on in almost every line of business throughout the entire United States and the government has made up its mind to use its entire influence to put a stop to this depredation of the public.

Many of the citizens of Salisbury are of the opinion that there are a few lines of trade in this city which need a careful overhauling on the part of the Fair Price commission of this state, and that Mr. Killian and his corps of assistants could find a prolific field in and around this city if they would give this section a little attention. It seems that the most exorbitant prices are being charged for food stuffs and that there are some retail grocery and meat establishments here which have gone beyond the bounds of decency in their efforts to accumulate profits, which to say the least, could be placed in the category of dishonesty.

Recently, it was noticed that one grocery establishment in Salisbury was charging its customers as much as 50 cents a head for lettuce which of course, was outrageous and without reason; and another case to which attention was called was one where a certain meat store in this city charged its customers as much as 80 cents a pound for mutton. One family reported that six pounds of mutton cost $4.80.

Such outrageous charges as these should be investigated by the authorities and something done to relieve the people of these excessive prices.

In the larger cities, the government is rounding up sugar profiteers and profiteers in other food stuffs and presenting them to the grand juries for trial. It seems likely that many convictions will be made and that some of the profiteers will find their way into penitentiary stripes. There is no reason why this section of Maryland should not receive this same protection on the part of the government, if the reports which are now current are true of the profiteering which is going on here.

The same thing holds good regarding many lines of peddling by the farmers in the way of vegetables and fruits, wood and other commodities which the people have to buy.

It is a pleasure to note that in other lines of trade, nothing has been heard of an effort to mulct the public and the chief cause for complaint seems to lie with the grocery and meat establishments of the community.

A merchant is entitled to a fair profit on his investment and there should be no effort to disturb his business so long as he is acting honestly with the public; but if these reports which are now current, are true, it is certainly time that action be taken by the authorities who have such matters in charge.

There could probably be no better field of operation and investigation on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club than for them to take cognizance of these reports and aid in the investigation as to whether or not they are true, and if they are true, to aid the state authorities in an effort to break up this contemptible habit of profiteering on the part of the merchants. These two organizations are working industriously to bring manufacturing establishments to this city and to increase our population and attract working people to Salisbury, but it is a fact that nothing is so detrimental to this community as the fact that living costs are higher here than they are in many of the places of like population, and if new settlers and inhabitants are to come to this city, they must be shown that their cost of living, which is today the fundamental question in every household, is as cheap as they can find in other places of like importance. These two organizations could probably serve this community at the present time in no better way than to take some action in looking into the matter of these reports of the profiteering which is said to be going on and to do their utmost to aid the authorities to bring about a cessation of the custom and a better understanding of the whole situation.

The two cases cited above are probably only two of many hundreds of like character and during the early spring and even at the present time, many complaints have been made that the people of this community have been forced to pay higher prices for their sea foods than was charged in any other town south of Philadelphia and that the prevailing prices in Wilmington and Baltimore for this class of food was at least 20 to 30 per cent. cheaper than Salisbury people were able to buy them for.

The News takes the position that as the leading newspaper of this community, it is its duty to call the attention of the authorities to such matters as this, and the reports are so current as to make them bear a semblance of truth. While the paper does not want in any way to cause any friction or disturbance between these mercantile establishments and the state authorities, it is the real duty of a newspaper to take this position, and if the reports are true, to aid in every possible way to furnish information to the authorities to aid them in running down the profiteers and prosecute them to the limit of the law.

ELMER C. WILLIAMS WARNS THAT WE STOP - LOOK - LISTEN

To The Taxpayers of Wicomico County,
Ladies and Gentlemen:

On next Monday the voters of Wicomico County will be called upon to decide whether or not a HUGE BONDED INDEBTEDNESS shall be placed upon you. To create a debt amounting, with interest, to MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS and covering a period of TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS is a very serious matter. It is unusually serious at this time, and should be given the careful consideration of every voter whether now a taxpayer or not, for many who do not now pay taxes may be called upon to pay much of this proposed debt before the expiration of twenty-seven years.

If you will permit me, I will call your attention to some important provisions of the School Bond Act, which I have not heard discussed by the advocates of the School Bond Issue.

1st.—After designating the various allotments for school buildings as set forth in the Act, and in the SAME SENTENCE, the Act says, "but the misapplication of the funds so allotted as herein provided shall not in any way affect or invalidate the legality of said bonds issued under the power granted in this Act to issue said bonds." Should the voters grant the power to issue these bonds, is there anything to prevent a "misapplication of the funds"?

2nd.—Should the funds be spent as allotted in the Act, MORE THAN NINE-TENTHS of the entire issue of $200,000.00 will be spent in SALISBURY AND SHARPTOWN—THE HOMES OF THE THREE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION,—thus leaving LESS THAN ONE-TENTH of the entire issue to be spent in the balance of the county.

3rd.—The Act provides that about ONE-FIFTH of the entire issue is to be spent for Colored Schools, including an allotment of THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS for a Colored INDUSTRIAL School here in Salisbury. It is said, however, that this part of the Act is not taken seriously by the Democratic Politicians, and that it has been frankly admitted that the original bill was so framed in order to secure the COLORED VOTE for the School Bond Issue.

Now, my friends, is this a proper time to create a HUGE bonded indebtedness to build INDUSTRIAL schools or any other kind? It is said that a dollar is now worth slightly more than TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. This means that, to issue said bonds for building school houses at the present time, we would create a debt which, with interest, will amount to THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS and would get slightly more than FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS of ordinary value in buildings. Of course, it is not hard to understand why those who sell "Everything Needed In Building," or even those who sell some of the things needed in building, strongly favor the School Bond Issue. So also regarding the banks or others who may be in a position to buy the bonds; and this is not to question who will pay for the intensive Advertising Campaign that may probably be so profitable to the Newspapers and others.

Personally, I am perfectly willing to follow the advice of older heads who have passed through abnormal times like the present, and I will give my readers the benefit of the views of two of them. The first is the view of that "Grand Old Man" of Trappe District, Capt. Thos. W. H. White; who, I am told, remarked while in Salisbury a few days ago "Boys, this is no time to build School Houses even though you HAD THE MONEY IN THE TREASURY." The other is the view of Mr. Geo. W. Bell of this city; and, having obtained permission from Mr. Bell, I quote below from a letter which he published in the Wicomico News last October as follows:

"Mr. Editor:

Is the time of a thirty-five cent dollar the time to issue bonds? It may be for the man who has the money to buy the bonds, but it is not for the property owner who has to pay them and the interest thereon.

Every bond issued by the Government, State, City or County, is a first mortgage on every citizen's property, having to be paid by taxation, and taxes when laid are preferred over all other claims.

"The people may want to pile up a large bonded indebtedness for their children to pay, but I do not believe it.

"I am opposed to bonding of the county at this time, for any purpose. I went through the boom times after the Civil War, and the hard times of 1872-73 and years thereafter, and I know that the time to be economical and save is in the time of the cheap dollar."

Vote AGAINST the School Bond Issue next Monday and see that your friends and neighbors do likewise, and thus record your disapproval of the borrowing of Two Hundred Thousand TWENTY-FIVE CENT Dollars, which, with interest, is almost certain will have to be paid back with Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand ONE-HUNDRED CENT Dollars. The fact that United States Government 4 1/2% Bonds are now selling at over FIFTEEN PER CENT below par should serve a sufficient warning for us to STOP—LOOK—LISTEN.

Yours very respectfully,
ELMER C. WILLIAMS.

May Contest City Elections, Tuesday

is done in its name by the Mayor and Council.

In order to make sure of a place for themselves on the city ticket to be voted here on May 4, Mr. Dickerson and Mr. Bennett sought to get on the ticket by petition. These petitions were presented to the Mayor and Council on Monday night. That body was in session until midnight checking the signers of the two petitions.

The law provides that there shall be 200 qualified voters as signers to each such petition. It is said, that Mr. Dickerson had 216 signers, several of whom are not registered as voters; also that Mr. Bennett had about 260 signers with several who are alleged to be without the required legal qualifications.

W. Arthur Kennerly, candidate for mayor, evidently anticipating an attempt to contest the elections, also presented a petition to the Mayor and Council. It has but 195 signers and was not drawn in proper form, according to some of the city officials.

As a consequence, it was said at the City Hall on Tuesday, Mr. Kennerly's petition was not considered. John W. Serman who at the primaries was nominated for the City Council with a vote so great as to remove all possibility of doubt as to his nomination, also filed a petition on Monday night to go on the city ticket. It is reasoned that he too must have anticipated the action which it is said the Farmers & Planters Co. is reported to be planning. Like the petition of Mr. Kennerly, though it had the required number of signers, Mr. Serman's petition was not considered because of its alleged irregularity of form.

Just what action the Mayor and Council will take on the petitions of Messrs. Bennett and Dickerson is not known. Mayor I. E. Jones, it is said, will probably call a special meeting of the council for Wednesday night to take some action in the matter. That action will be taken too late however to be reported in THE NEWS this week.

Interviewed by a News man on Tuesday, D. J. Ward, president of The Farmers & Planters Co., said:

"The Farmers & Planters Co., as a body has nothing to say. Its directors have never met on this question nor have they ever discussed the question in any of their meetings."

"What interest any individual stockholder has taken in the cause of any candidate in the primary or city elections has been solely a personal interest."

"Personally, I have nothing to say in the matter at this time."

An attempt to interview City Solicitor Johnson on the legal status of the petitions of Messrs. Bennett and Dickerson this week failed, because of the absence of Mr. Johnson from the city. He was in Baltimore on Monday night when these petitions were laid before the Mayor and Council and that body will probably not act on the documents until he returns and renders his opinion.

Now the attitude of the people of Salisbury toward the location of a fertilizer factory in any section where it will injure property values and cause distress of mind and body is something like this.

These people are residents of Salisbury. Many of them own their own homes. Not one of them is opposed to the city having any kind of industries; in fact they welcome industries because they know that the more work is offered to men and women in the city, the more people will come here and the better place the city will be; but they are unitedly opposed to the location of any factory in any section of the city where it will be a menace to the beauty of that section, a menace to property values, a disturber of the quiet and peace of the community or a public nuisance through the odors which it may cause.

They contend that if an undesirable factory is permitted to locate in or near one residential section, the bars will be let down to all factories in all sections of the city. The people near Mill street are not opposed to the Mill street site alone, but they are opposed to the location of a factory in any section of the city where it will be a disturbing element. This spirit of co-operation, one section of the city with another, was never before more pronounced in Salisbury than now.

Then again the people of the city generally, feel that since the Mayor and Council under the provisions of the charter, has the power to issue or refuse to issue building permits, and that since the courts have already substantiated the action of that body in refusing to issue the permit for the erection of the fertilizer factory on Mill street, it smacks a little of autocracy for the promoters of the Mill street factory site to put themselves in a position where they might possibly be accused of flying in the face of legal opinion, city welfare and public opinion.

It is probable that if Messrs. Dickerson and Bennett are admitted to the city ticket to be voted on next Tuesday, they will be favored by the Farmers & Planters Co., and once elected, will doubtless vote for the location of the fertilizer factory on Mill street—and after that, who can tell that they will not vote to put even more obnoxious industries in even closer proximity to residential sections?

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Emma Adkins, wife of N. J. Adkins, who departed this life, April 27th, 1896.

Twenty-four long years on earth since wife and mother was taken from us, twenty-four years without her presence, but in the clear morning of that other country with the face which we have loved so well we shall meet you face to face. Gone in the best of her days to sleep in her lonely grave.

O God, how mysterious, how strange are Thy ways, to take from us this loved one in the best of her days. Vain is grief which cannot be comforted, and sorrow is deep in our hearts, which cannot half be revealed.

Twenty-four years have come and gone since we were called to part but time and space cannot efface your memory from our hearts.

By her husband and children, N. J. ADKINS, Rt. 3, Salisbury, Md. Ap 29-1t. 179.

BUY SERVICE—NOT SPACE

A REMARKABLE SALE OF SHOES

For Ten Days Only Beginning Thursday, April 29th.

From the standpoint of Security, WEARPLEDGE is the Daddy of them all

This story is told in the headlines—but the style isn't.

The Insurance Policy that goes with suits is the first of its kind ever attached to boys' clothes—but that's only the first act in the Wearpledge program: Wait until you see the Models.

And wait until he sees the "Live" Leather Belt—that S-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s. And wait until his Daddy sees both and then we won't have to wait for your decision.

Remarkable, because of the ever increasing price on all good shoes, and again because of the fact that the shoes that are included in this sale are not old stock, but new stylish and up-to-date models.

THERE MUST BE A REASON FOR A SALE OF THIS KIND.

The reason for this one is the fact that there is no complete run of sizes in any shoe that we are putting on sale, however all sizes are represented in the complete assortment.

The fact is that they have been sold down to incomplete individual selection, and we are going to sell them as remnants at a Remnant Price. $3.65

THEY INCLUDE

DOROTHY DODD PUMPS, in Brown and Black Kid, that formerly sold from $5.00 to $7.00.

DOROTHY DODD LOW HEEL OXFORDS AND PUMPS, that sold from $6.00 to $7.00.

DOROTHY DODD PATENT COLT OXFORDS, that sold for $6.50—Only a few Odd Sizes.

BLACK DULL KID PUMPS, French Heel, that sold for $5.50—Most sizes from 2 1/4 to 7 1/4.

LOW HEEL BROWN AND BLACK PUMPS, Broken sizes, formerly sold for $5.00.

CHILDRENS SHOES IN THE REDUCTION.

Along with the women's shoes that go on sale on Thursday is one lot of Children's pumps and Oxfords.

As in the case of the women's shoes, these too are broken sizes and while all sizes from 8 1/4 to 2 are represented in the assortment, no one shoe of a particular kind may be had in all sizes.

THE CHILDREN'S PUMPS AND OXFORDS WILL BE SOLD AT $1.92

NOTE:—None of these shoes will be sent on approval, we will gladly fit them upon purchase.

Wearpledge Spring Suits

are also unusual in value. At $12.00 to $20.00 there is nothing in the city that can hold a candle to them for fit, fabric, lines and lasting qualities.

Sizes 6 to 18 Years.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editors:

According to reports from Salisbury someone has informed the political leaders there that the voters of Tynskin and Nanticoke districts were not going to support the school loan; and as usual the leaders are showing their authority by sending the word down the line that unless the voters here support the school loan that they would use their influence to keep us from getting a stone road. That is nothing more than a threat to try to whip the voters in line for the loan. The time is now here when the politicians in Salisbury can no longer pass the word down the line and have the voters here do their bidding. The report is entirely false that the voters are against the school loan, and I firmly believe the loan will receive a large majority.

What angers the voters here is the threat of the leaders in Salisbury to keep the good roads from us. Such threats I am sure will not change a single vote in the district, as we have about lost all hopes of getting improved roads. The people in Salisbury act as though they do not want to help us in getting improved roads. They have the power if they would only use it. They desire all improvements in and near Salisbury and our part of the county can do without good roads.

The only money from the school loan to be spent on this side of Salisbury will be used in building a colored school at Wetipquin. We are not sure over that as we do not desire any school improvements. Our one need above all others is improved roads. In the winter at times we are cut off entirely from the rest of the county. One week last winter we had no mail for four days.

When the ballots are counted I feel sure it will be found that the voters in this section of the county have supported the school loan but the threat that the leaders in Salisbury sent down the line will have no influence over the voters. The voters now use their own judgment when they go to the polls.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of The Wicomico News,
Salisbury, Maryland.

My dear Mr. Editor:

Every since the 1st Congressional primary fight has been staged, the public has been flooded with political propaganda in the way of literature, advertisements and "stamp" speaking. The nearer the primary election draws, the heavier and stronger the flood.

Each political agent preaches his ideal as to what he has been, what he stands for and what he will do if elected. Then he turns around on the other side and throws political mud at his opponent.

This is politics and it is natural. Politics has always been played this way by some and always will be.

A Stengle Marine, state's attorney of Dorchester county, is waging a bitter fight to defeat our present Congressman for nomination in the coming primaries, now.

What tools and weapons are Marine's political bosses using to wage this fight?

What statements are being made to show that Congressman Andrews is not loyal to his party?

What statements are being made to prove he is not 100% American? "Clean talk" through columns of advertisements that are not worth the printers ink used to write them (more bark than bite). These are the tools and weapons that are being used by A. Stengle Marine's political bosses to wage the fight against Congressman Andrews. Read these advertisements very closely and be convinced as to their cheapness.

As to Congressman Andrews' loyalty to the Republican party, there was no man who worked harder and more sincerely for the party at large than he did for Harry W. Nice when Mr. Nice was running for governor, while on the other hand the faction now back of Mr. Marine, their slogan at the time of the gubernatorial contest was "Vote for Tilson and the rest will take care of itself."

Never was there a man more loyal to his party, in city, county, state and nation than Wm. N. Andrews.

Every broad minded voter of the First Congressional district can readily understand how things were so unsettled during these days of turmoil and unrest but through it all our present congressman has stuck to his duty and has gone down in history as opposing anything but what was truly American and thoroughly Christian.

Never a move has he made but what he has considered the interest and needs of those he represents.

What did he do in the case of the 1/2 basket question but save the farmers thousands of dollars. What move did he make to save money for the fishermen and the oystermen in the case of the license question, ask any fisherman or oysterman. How did he feel towards the "Blue Sky" law for Maryland, he felt as the people felt, that it was becoming necessary for Maryland to have such a law.

No doubt throughout this district even among some Democrats there is a sincere feeling and knowledge that the present congressman has "filled the shoes he is wearing and if necessary can fill shoes a good bit larger."

I most earnestly hope and pray that every voter in the First Congressional district will study very closely each candidate and go to the polls on May the 3rd with the satisfaction that the man he is going to vote for is fully equipped to fill the "Congressional shoes." And by all means don't fail to vote for the School Bond issue of Wicomico county.

Gratefully yours,

A REPUBLICAN VOTER OF WICOMICO COUNTY.

WHEN CONOVER CONNED.

By CORONA REMINGTON.

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Well, young man?" said Brockton absently as he took his gaze off a pile of letters that were lying on the desk in front of him. "Why, hello there! It's Conover. Glad to see you." Brockton shook his visitor's hand warmly as he offered him a seat.

"Yes," was all that Conover could think to say as he dropped into the chair like a piece of lead.

The older man leaned back in his chair and waited, an expression of amused sympathy playing over his face.

"Mr. Brockton, I want to—I want to—" Conover stopped and tried again. "I want—I want—"

"I guess I know what it's about," said Brockton kindly, his blue eyes twinkling. "I had to do the same thing myself once, and I haven't forgotten it yet. It's about Doris, isn't it?"

"Yes," he answered quickly as he glanced gratefully at his prospective father-in-law.

"I thought so. How are you fixed about supporting a wife?"

"Of course, Mr. Brockton, I couldn't keep Doris in the luxury to which she is accustomed—that is, not at present—but I believe I could make her comfortable. I'd certainly do everything in my power, anyhow."

"That's right, young man, and I believe you'd do it. I know there's nothing stingy about you, and I'm glad to see it. If there's one incurable sin among mortals, it's stinginess—I never heard of anyone getting over it."

"No, sir, I don't think I'm stingy, and I feel sure we'd be very happy together."

"Take her, then, my boy," said Brockton, gently.

A few minutes later Conover left the office of L. B. Brockton, attorney, on winged feet. He stopped at a florist's shop and blew in on a most gorgeous bouquet of American Beauties, then recklessly hailed a passing taxi and went speeding toward the Brockton home.

Somewhere far back in the recesses of his mind he realized dimly that three boxes of flowers, two evenings at the theater, with supper afterward, and a few taxis thrown in, made rather an expensive week for a man on a salary, but, after all, weren't they for Doris? And who could spend too much on such a girl? His thoughts were suddenly interrupted by the taxi coming to a standstill in front of the Brockton home.

"Your father's a regular trump!" he told his sweetheart exultantly as soon as he had entered the drawing-room.

"What did he say?" came in smothered tones from the region of his coat front.

"He said I could have you; so you only have to name the day. Let's do it tomorrow," he pleaded.

"How absurd, you old dear. Just think about all my trousseau to make yet, and the announcements and things."

For nearly three hours they were totally engrossed planning the rosy future, but at last Conover had to pull himself away.

"When can I see you again?" he asked, as he rose to leave.

"This is Saturday," she mused.

"Let me take you to church tomorrow morning," he begged. "You know I haven't been with you to Trinity yet."

"Not in the morning," she answered, "but we could go to the evening service."

"Good! Then let's go to Foster's afterward."

"All right," Doris smilingly agreed. There remained nothing for Conover to do but wait until the evening of the next day, and a long, long wait it was. He began dressing at a little after five o'clock, and found himself ready ages too soon, in spite of the fact that he tried on every silk shirt and necktie

he possessed. At last, being unable to keep still any longer, he decided to start out and wait for Doris home. It was only about four miles, and walking would be better than having to sit down and wait in that confounded club, where no one could understand what it was like to be engaged to the most wonderful and beautiful girl in the world. His face lighted up as he put on his hat and took a last glance at himself in the mirror.

John Conover made the distance in record-breaking time, notwithstanding he had tried to go very slowly so as to avoid arriving too soon. But there is an end to the longest wait, and the appointed hour finally approached.

"I began to think all the clocks had stopped," he told Doris as he helped her on with her wrap.

"You're such an impatient boy," she smiled at him.

Notwithstanding John's eagerness to get to church he paid little attention to what the rector was saying, but kept his eyes glued on the dainty little profile beside him. Suddenly he noticed the vestrymen starting slowly from the altar carrying the collection plates. Four dreadful thoughts flashed into his consciousness simultaneously: "He and Doris were sitting in the second pew from the front and the plate would be practically empty; Mr. Brockton was taking up the collection in their section and he, John Conover, had in his pocket exactly one ten-dollar bill and one nickel. He had promised to take Doris to Foster's after the service, and, lastly, he felt the perspiration trickling down his back as he further remembered that stinginess was an incurable sin.

Wildly he plunged both hands into his pockets; his left hand gripped the ten-dollar bill, the other the nickel—which one should he draw forth and place beneath the eyes of his future father-in-law? If he put in the bill he'd be all right with the father, but how about Doris? If he put in the nickel he'd be all right with Doris, but how about the father?

Suddenly he looked down to see the almost empty plate nearly under his chin. Hysterically, he jumped, and jerking both hands out of his pockets, held them over the silver dish. His left hand opened and the ten-dollar bill dropped from his grip.

It was all over in a second.

In a frenzy he glanced down at Doris sitting demurely at his side and probably thinking about that trip to Foster's at that very instant. How was he to break the news and how would she take it? He hadn't even the face to get her home.

When the services were over he walked down the aisle by her side like one going to his execution, realizing that each step was bringing him nearer the fatal moment. Now they were out of the church, and he had not thought of any possible escape. His lips were parched and his hands wet and clammy as he tried to speak to Doris.

"Doris," he began.

"Oh, there you are," a voice interrupted at his side. "I thought you'd given me the slip. Don't know what your plans are, but I was wondering whether you youngsters wouldn't come down to Foster's with me. I know there's a crowd, but she's all the family I have," Brockton explained to Conover, "and I thought maybe you'd let me have a little share tonight."

"We'd love it, daddy, dear," said Doris, slipping a hand into his.

"Nothing could make me happier," replied John with such fervency that Brockton slapped him on the back and mentally doubled the size of his wedding present.

DETERMINING SEX OF CHICKS

According to French Scientist, the Weight of the Egg is a Certain Indication.

That the weight of eggs may indicate the sex of chickens, under certain conditions, is suggested by experiments reported to the French Academy of Sciences. Noticing the heaviness of the cock, M. Lelhart found that in all breeds of fowl the adult male is from one to two pounds or more heavier than the female, and even in chicks as young as five days the difference ranges from a little more than half an ounce to a little less than an ounce. This made it appear that the difference might also exist in the egg. Many trials showed that the eggs of leghorns weighed from 1.9 to 2.5 ounces, the average being 2.2 ounces, and in the spring of 1918, 60 eggs selected on account of their size, were placed in an incubator for hatching. The selected eggs weighed between 2.1 ounces and 2.5 ounces, seven being slightly below the average, while the others exceeded it. The chicks hatched numbered 48, of which 37 were males and 11 females—convincing the experimenter that the sex of the fowls can be determined in the eggs. It is pointed out, however, that the parent fowls must be pure bred, and that the hens must be of the same age and the eggs gathered at the height of the laying season.

Convincing.

Arthur had been allowed to accompany his uncle to court, where the latter was a witness for the defense in a libel action.

While he was being cross examined, the plaintiff's counsel asked:

"Are you married?"

The witness replied that he was.

"We have no proof of that, sir," said the cross examiner.

Little Arthur stood up on a bench and piped up:

"Show him the bump on your head, uncle."

FERTILIZERS

What They Do for Crops

Fertilizers are carriers of plant food in an available and concentrated form. They contain the three elements of plant food most needed in crop production—nitrogen, usually referred to as ammonia; phosphorus, known to the buyer as available phosphoric acid, and potassium, known as potash. Each of these elements performs definite functions in plant growth.

There is no mystery about the action of fertilizers in plant growth. Nitrogen, or ammonia, causes quick and vigorous growth of stalk or stem. Available phosphoric acid helps fill the grain or fruit and hastens ripening. Potash strengthens the straw or stalk and helps to plump and fill the grain and fruit.

For the past 33 years Tilghman's Fish Fertilizers have been the standard plant food in this territory. When you use Tilghman's Fish Fertilizers you are guaranteed high proportions of these three vitally important plant foods: ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash. Take no chances on the outcome of your crops by gambling with unknown brands of fertilizers when you are guaranteed a high production fertilizer when you use Tilghman's.

Do not take a chance. Buy Tilghman's Fish Fertilizers and "B" guaranteed.

Cornell-Wood-Board

Triple Sized; Takes the Place of Plaster for Walls, Ceilings, Partitions, Repairs, Alterations and New Work

The Answer to the Housing Problem

In the face of today's high rents and the cry for quarters, all spare space in every home, office, store and factory should be finished up with Cornell-Wood-Board, the strong, rigid panels that take the place of plaster.

An old attic charmingly finished in Cornell-Wood-Board paneling at a few dollars cost can be rented for $20 or $25 a month, and more; or be converted into a cozy nursery, a study room or den. Many costly homes are finished throughout with Cornell-Wood-Board. It is ready and quickly applied right to the joists or studs, or over the old plaster.

Cornell paneling is in highest favor with architects, carpenters, contractors, decorators and home owners, not only because it is elegant and permanent, but because Cornell is unequalled for painting and calceining.

"Cornell 32" Will Add a Room

Cornell-Wood-Board panels come in 32-inch width, in addition to the old standard 48-inch, because the width of the paneling makes a vast difference in the effect of the room.

Cornell's Mill Primed Surface needs no sizing and gives a perfect spread of paint with one coat. In this way alone, Cornell saves you about $5 per thousand square feet.

"Cornell 32" is especially adapted to hallways, ceilings and walls of smaller rooms. It also gives the effect of height to walls with low ceilings. For larger rooms and broad partitions, "Cornell 48" is recommended.

No Other Triple-Sized

Cornell is sized internally to resist the moisture, expansion and contraction—an exclusive Cornell feature. It is also primed at the mill—both sides—with high-grade sizing. Just apply paint or calceining—that's all. No priming or calceining—just that expense by insisting on "Cornell."

The Guaranteed Board

Cornell-Wood-Board is the only material for interior walls and ceilings that is guaranteed to stand up to the test of time and weather. It is the only board that will give you "just as good."

Phone or call at any Cornell lumber dealer's, or write direct to us for samples, panel plans and prices. Begin today—turn waste space into money.

SALISBURY MARYLAND

How Many Are There?

The Salisbury Chamber of Commerce through its Housing committee is planning to relieve the present congestion and critical demand for living accommodations by forming a local corporation to finance, build and sell, moderate priced homes on a very small margin of profit over the actual cost of construction.

In order that they may determine the magnitude of the work required, it is requested that all persons desiring to own a home in Salisbury write to the committee at once, stating the kind and size of house required and location favored.

Address—THE HOUSING COMMITTEE of the SALISBURY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, LOCK BOX 453, SALISBURY, MARYLAND.

WILL AID ALL.

The Salvation Army, which won for itself such a warm place in our hearts by its splendid war work, is about to embark upon a new program—one of constructive service for every village and hamlet in Maryland.

Having begun its work in the city slums, the organization now plans to branch out and extend its helping hand to the small town and the isolated community.

In doing so it hopes to reach the source of many of the disquieting streams that flow continuously toward the great city. Social problems will be dealt with at their origin.

The Army will reply for success in this movement on thousands of advisory boards made up from the best elements of the remote communities—public-spirited citizens, who will co-operate with the central organization in remedying such problems as juvenile delinquency, dependency and poverty.

Thus by curbing the stream before it grows into a torrent, the new program aims at prevention rather than cure. The wayward girl who runs away from the small town, lured by the city's cabaret and dance halls, or with the desire to hide her shame will be reached at the starting point.

The Salvation Army has always battled against sorrow and despair in the front lines, and from its long experience has developed the proper method of extending help. If it can enlarge its influence without interference with the existing relief agencies, if it can prevent human waste before preventative measures are too late, it will be doing a great service for humanity.

The new work deserves the support of every progressive citizen of the smaller communities, and its progress will be watched with interest.

A large glass show window will occupy the entire front of the store.

The firm which was founded several years ago by W. T. Dashiell, and is now owned by him and his son, Percy, handles many of the best known makes of instruments, chief of which are the Kranch and Bach, Newby and Evans, A. B. Chase, and Shoninger pianos, the Hook-Hasting pipe organs and all the best makes of stringed instruments.

For many years she has been an active member of Asbury M. E. church and has always held a high place in the esteem of the people of Wicomico county.

Beside her husband Mrs. Woodcock is survived by the following sons and daughters: the Misses Alice and Emma Wood of Salisbury, Mrs. A. B. Lansing of St. Louis, Mo., S. Franklyn Woodcock and Miss Mamie Woodcock of Salisbury. Surviving brothers and sisters are A. C. Smith of Salisbury, Edward Smith, George Smith, Mrs. Emma Moore, Mrs. Edward Pyle and Mrs. Wilber F. On Tuesday evening, April 19, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Phillips, of Sharptown, entertained at their home about 50 young people, it being the occasion of their daughter Louise's 16th birthday.

The evening was spent in games interspersed with music and dancing, after which the guests repaired to the dining room, for refreshments. Miss Louise was the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts, and each of the guests on wishing her many returns of the day, expressed themselves as having spent a most enjoyable evening.

The out of town guests were: Bernice Wright, Algie Smith, Preston Burbage and Avery Dugan of Salisbury. Webster Truitt and Robert Pitts of Denton. Mildred Higgins of near Mandela and Margaret Eskridge of near Seaford.

HEBRON.

The Misses Grace Haddock, Edith Taylor, Percy Laws, and Vernon Taylor were the guests Sunday evening of Miss Lulo Bailey.

Earl Calver is confined to his home by illness.

Miss May White and James Hughes of this town were quietly married on Saturday evening, 8:30, Rev. Matthews officiating.

Elmer Wilkinson is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Wilkinson.

DOINGS AT THE WICOMICO HIGH SCHOOL

The Sophomore entertainment is now a thing of the past but its memory will remain long in the minds of those who crowded the Assembly last Friday morning to see its presentation.

Miss Aline Mitchell, president of the Sophomore class, made a few opening remarks and announced the program which consisted of a violin solo by Ruth Truitt, a dainty sketch by Helen Bailey, and a comedy entitled "Dinner at Six."

All numbers were well received but especially the comedy which convulsed the audience many times during its presentation. Miss Cornelia Wailes and Clifford Dryden had the leading parts and did themselves proud in their roles. The class is surely to be congratulated on its entertainment.

Tomorrow week, the Freshmen have complete charge of the Assembly and the play is called "Fun on the Bingleville Branch". The last Freshman play was one of the best of the year and this is being eagerly waited for by the High school pupils.

So far Wicomico's baseball season has not brought the results that had been anticipated, Cambridge defeating us here last Friday 8-4 while Federalsburg handed us another set back last Wednesday when we journeyed there, 5-2. At that game Allan Huston, our new pitcher, held the opponents to three hits and struck out seven men but the team's support was lacking. Our one redeeming feature has been the playing of Adkins at short and Bailey in the box. Our defeat of Denton on our home grounds last Friday week 11-8, was a good victory for us but all games have been loosely played. This Friday Federalsburg comes here and we have high hopes of repaying her with interest for the drubbing she administered us last week.

Chamber of Commerce Behind New Hotel

ing a real hotel here, is their interest in the welfare of the city. He said the directors were ready to drop the entire hotel plan and swallow their losses and failure gracefully, unless given some real encouragement. He asked the Chamber of Commerce to get behind the hotel proposition and appoint a committee to go out and sell the stock.

Mr. Miles, at this point said, Mr. Price had neglected to tell that only two of the Main street business men had subscribed to the hotel stock to the amount of more than $500.

Walter B. Miller took the floor as Mr. Price and Mr. Miles concluded. He said the hotel scheme is dear to his heart because he knows it will greatly benefit Salisbury and the betterment of Salisbury is his first interest. Mr. Miller said he believes the need of a good hotel here entirely overshadows the need for houses, school bonds or any other of the city's crying needs. He talked pointedly and showed beyond all question of doubt that the business men who have not supported the hotel proposition morally and financially have been disloyal to themselves and to Salisbury.

Mr. Miller did not handle the situation with kid gloves, but went at it with bared fists and told facts which he drove home to the hearts of his hearers in a most convincing style.

After a 20 minute talk, Mr. Miller began the task of receiving subscriptions for the hotel stock, with the result that inside of a half hour he had pledges from the Chamber of Commerce members for stock to the amount of about $45,750 and an almost guarantee that three other Salisbury men will subscribe to the amount of $5,000 each.

On his suggestion the hotel corporation directors and stock promoters were given a vote of thanks and confidence by the Chamber of Commerce and it was decided to continue the same organization in power. Mr. Miller told Mr. Price to call at any time on him, or on any member of the Chamber for assistance in the work of making the hotel plan a reality.

Mr. Price said he felt much encouraged at the action of the Chamber and was sure that with the assistance of its members, there would be little or no difficulty from this time on in making the desired progress for the new hotel plans.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

Have you stopped to consider, Mr. Voter, how much better your chances in life would have been, had your father seen to it in his day that you were given a proper public school education?

Those of you who today cannot read or write, and there are 10 or more of you in every 100 of white men and women in this county, have you stopped to consider how you are handicapped by your lack of education?

Don't you want your children to be better educated than you are?

Do you want your children to grow up as you grew up, without having the first fundamentals of a common education?

You know how you have been handicapped, do you want your sons and your daughters to be handicapped as you are handicapped?

If you don't, if you want that boy of yours to have a better chance in life than you have had, go to the polls on Monday and vote for the $200,000 school bond issue!

Are you a church member? Have you learned the Golden Rule?

Don't you believe that you should do to others as you would have them do to you?

If you believe this, can you vote against giving the children of this county an opportunity to gain the education to which, under the provisions of the constitution of the state and nation, they are entitled and without which they will be sadly handicapped in the matter of making their livings decently in the days to come?

Can you afford as a Christian man to be held responsible at the High Tribunal of Justice, for your neglect of this wonderful opportunity to do your duty toward your neighbor, to apply the Golden Rule and to do something worth while for one of the "least of these," His "little ones?"

This question of the school bond issue which you will be called upon to vote for or against on Monday, is not solely a question of voting for a really efficient school system in the county—it is also a question of actually applying those Christian principles which you have absorbed through your Sunday schools and your churches since your childhood.

The voting on the bond issue on Monday will put this county on record. It will show whether its people are selfish or whether they are willing to give their children a SQUARE DEAL: It will show whether or not the Christianity which we boast to possess is a real Christianity which can be applied to the betterment of others, or whether it is just a thin veneer which will not stand up to the test of spending a few dollars for the good of our own and our neighbors' children.

It is to be hoped that each minister in each pulpit in Wicomico county on Sunday, the day before the School Bonds are voted on, will urge upon his people the Christian duty which they owe to the children of the county; and each minister will do this if he is conscientious in his ministry.

HOUSING.

It is a fact that there are many people in Salisbury who are without the kind of housing accommodations they would like to have.

It is a fact too, that there are many people here who will jump at an opportunity to move from an old fashioned house without accommodations into a new house with modern conveniences, if such places are made available to them.

The Chamber of Commerce has made, and is still making an effort to supply the need for houses; but it is doubtful if the effort has been made along the right lines.

The Chamber has taken it for granted that every person who desires to live in Salisbury, desires to own property here. This is undoubtedly a mistake.

It is doubtless true that people who own their own homes make up the most substantial class of citizens; but it should be remembered that there are many good people who do not, for reasons sufficient to themselves, care to become property owners. The newly married man, for instance, may not care to invest in real estate or to burden himself with the responsibilities of a large debt or obligation. The man who has not lived long in Salisbury, whose position is held without a contract with his employers, may not feel like assuming the obligation that a contract to purchase a home would entail—and yet each of these men may be worthy citizens.

It is a fact that the man who pays rent for a house is the greatest of all tax payers. He pays the taxes for the owner of the property and he pays the owner a profit on the original investment as well. Why then, is he not a desirable citizen and why should not his demands for a rented house be met?

What is the percentage of the people living in New York or in Philadelphia who own their own homes? Very, very small; and yet those rent-payers in the aggregate make up the population of two of the largest cities in the country. Those cities are glad to get rent payers. Why should not Salisbury be equally glad to get them, if it is conscientious in its efforts to grow?

Is it possible that we feel we must hog tie the people who come here, with obligation and debt, in order to have them stay?

Haven't we sufficient confidence in our city to warrant us in the belief that even the free lance rent payer will like the city so well that he will continue to remain here as long as his employment here is enjoyable and profitable to him?

When the Chamber of Commerce gets down to a basis where it shows an earnestness to solve the housing problem by building houses which can be rented as well as sold, it will find that there will be no trouble in getting people to signify their desires for homes—but it is doubtful if many of the working men of the city will ever say that they are willing to assume the responsibilities of buying a home. The salaries which they are paid in Salisbury are hardly sufficient to warrant such a step especially on the parts of the men who have families dependent upon them for their livings and their educations.

HELP NEEDED.

How many of us complain when the service which is rendered us at the post office in Salisbury is not up to our expectations?

And again how many of us realize that while the population of Salisbury has grown, its incoming and outgoing mail vastly increased, little or no additions have been made to the number of clerks and carriers employed by the government at the Salisbury office?

Salisbury, with a population at least 50 per cent greater than that of 10 years ago, has the same number of letter carriers as it had then—just four. The clerical force has not been materially increased, and in spite of the fact that people living here are clamoring for lock boxes there are no boxes for rent and in many cases the mail of as many as three or four persons is being put into one little mail box.

Here is a condition which should be met and remedied.

The city's mail service should be the best available. It is one of the greatest assets any community can have—but when the actual conditions are considered, it is safe to say that Salisbury has as good service from its post office as any other place of its size which is handicapped by a shortage of help.

Just why relief is not given is not known. Just whose fault it is, no one knows. It is one of those things which the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce should get behind and investigate and remedy.

DOINGS AT THE WICOMICO HIGH SCHOOL

The editors of the Wicomico News have set aside this column for the use of the pupils and faculty of the Wicomico High School and the items published here will be furnished by one or more of the scholars weekly.

Last week the first two games of the baseball season were played, both here. The first was lost, the best reason being errors with which some of our players were profusely supplied and the other we won having gotten teamwork down a little better and the boys playing with pep.

Crisfield was our victor 11-8 and although we forced the visitors to use two pitchers nevertheless errors beat us. Adkins, at short, was the star of the game with a clean fielding slate and a .500 batting average. In the second game Denton was defeated 10-7 and their first pitcher lasted just two innings before a salvo of hits and runs made him run for the bench. Roland Adkins again distinguished himself especially by his sensational double play unassisted after successfully stopping a hot grounder. Our line up so far has been: Bailey, pitcher; Mears, catcher; Moore, 1st base; Reddis, 2nd base; R. Adkins, shortstop; Cooper, 3rd base; Lankford, left field; Brown and Davis, center field; and Tubbs, right field.

The benefit given by the High school for the Armenian Relief fund was a success, over $100.00 being realized.

This week the base ball team played Federalsburg and Cambridge, the latter Friday, at 4 p. m. Everyone will want to see our old rival taken into camp.

The Freshman English club is gradually becoming a strong factor in the school life. Tuesday of last week an anti-musical program was given successfully.

Senior exams begin May 11th and undergraduates take their beginning May 21st. Commencement night will be June 1st at the Arcade. Class night immediately following.

A movement is on among the girls who formerly played basketball to start a Girls' Tennis club in the school. The courts will be those of the S. Y. M. A. Athletic park and it is to be hoped that tennis becomes a permanent part of athletics especially for the girls.

The Domestic Science dept. served the delegates to the Y.M.C.A. conference luncheon on Saturday and Miss Ruth Powell is to be congratulated because nothing was known of it before Friday afternoon, everything being done that afternoon.

Work has been started on the Senior Class play the title of which is "The Romancers."

MAKE 500,000 FORDS IN HALF YEAR

Company Expects To Make More Than One Million Yearly.

When the first six months of the Ford Motor Company fiscal year ended January 31st, more than half a million of the sturdy little Fords had left the factory to join their three and a half million brothers and sisters on the world's highways. And Ford Officials express confidence in their ability to turn loose the other half of a million by July 31st, when their year ends.

However, they say that a million a year is far from the ultimate in motor car manufacturing; and that with the completion of the Blast Furnaces and Body Plants which Henry Ford is now building in Detroit, the yearly output capacity is bound to assume larger dimensions. The present capacity is 1,200,000.

The Blast Furnace project on which Mr. Ford has been working for the past three years will enable the Ford Company to make Ford parts direct from the iron ore instead of buying the iron ingots and then melting them before making into parts. At the present time there are approximately 15,000 men engaged at the Blast Furnaces and in the new body plant. But it is quite probable that that number will be more than doubled once the Steel mills—which will be the largest in America—begin to operate. Ford men do not attempt to place any estimate on what the production of cars will be in the future, but point to the fact that they have not been able to supply the demand for the past 10 years and that at the present time there are some 230,000 unfilled orders on file.—Advt. 155.

NO LONGER REFLECTS SOUND

Defect Which Made Supreme Courtroom "Whispering Gallery" Has Been Remedied.

According to the Washington Star, the "whispering gallery" of the United States Supreme court has been eliminated. It was Chief Justice White who called it a "whispering gallery." In a letter to Elliott Woods, superintendent of the capitol he said:

"The situation is at times almost unbearable, a result which will be readily appreciated when it is understood that from one end of the rostrum to the other there exists what may be described as a whispering gallery, by which speech in the most modulated tone is magnified and carried from one end of the bench to the other, so that a statement by one judge at one end to his neighbor is magnified and spoken into the ear of a member of the court at the other end."

The acoustic properties of the Supreme courtroom have been very bad since 1902, when the roof of the central portion of the capitol was fireproofed and the ceilings of the statutory hall and the present Supreme courtroom were fireproofed. The character of the material used made the surface sound-reflecting. The Supreme court has had a great deal of trouble from that time with the reflection of sound from the spherical ceiling. This defect has now been remedied at a cost of $10,000.

LOOKED LIKE SURE TROUBLE

Little Wonder Courtroom Was In Panic Over Colored Woman's Spectacular Appearance.

During a trial of a colored man in the criminal court recently on a charge of murder, there was considerable nervous tension in the courtroom, the result of remarks that had been made that some one was "going to start something," regardless of the outcome of the case. The courtroom was crowded to capacity, and several police officers were stationed about the room.

At an impressive moment, while the defendant was on the witness stand, a commotion was heard at one of the courtroom doors. Into the midst of the nervous spectators walked a large colored woman who carried in one hand a formidable-looking rifle. Collectors and detectives seized her and rushed her into an outside room, where they began examining the weapon. It was not loaded. She explained that she had been in juvenile court in a case in which the rifle had been used as evidence.

Before going home, she said, she decided to hear some of the evidence in the murder case. She and her rifle were sent out of the building, and the murder trial was resumed.—Indianapolis News.

Power from Volcanic Steam.

In 1905 Prince Giori Conti, general director of the Larderello works at Larderello, Italy, decided to experiment with the natural steam springs of Larderello for obtaining motive power. His experiments were so successful that the company built a large power station at Larderello with three units of 2,500 kilowatts each. The work, says The Illustrated London News, was begun in 1914, but was delayed by the European war. The first unit was started in 1919, and the power station was completed in the same year. Four overhead lines at 35,000 volts carry electric current to Siena, Leghorn, Plominia and Massa. The holes bored to the natural steam pockets, which vary in depth from 108 feet to 235 feet are lined with iron tubing sixteen inches in diameter. The steam is cleared of gas before it is carried to the turbine generators.

Clemenceau and Heaven.

The latest Clemenceau anecdote that is going the rounds of the boulevards is to the effect that the premier was annoyed because a tree in the neighboring garden overshadowed his. The tree was the property of some Jesuit fathers, on whom M. Clemenceau called, politely explaining that his attitude to the church was unchanged, but he would regard it as a personal favor if the Jesuit fathers would cut down the tree "because it prevents me from seeing the heavens." The Jesuit father who received him was very courteous and was much flattered by the premier's call. He promised that the offending tree should be speedily removed, but he added, with the suave smile of the ecclesiastic: "I am afraid, M. le Premier, that just the same, you will not see heaven."—London Morning Post.

His "College."

During debate in the New York state assembly one day, when Gov. Smith was a member of that body, another member arose to a question of personal privilege and announced that Cornell had won the boat race at Poughkeepsie, adding that he was a graduate of Cornell. This started a reminiscence meeting, other members arising to tell the name of their alma mater. Smith finally rose and announced:

"I am a graduate of the F. F. M." "What college is that?" "Fulton Fish Market"—World's Work

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Price, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child, I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time. I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble,' so he got me 5 bottles. After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved. Before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it.

Little-Girl, Big-Boy, and The Garden Elf

The Clover and the Bumble Bee.

Part I.

"I think," said the Little-Girl, "that I will go

To-day where the clover blossoms grow;

Outside of the fence, and down the lane

With the Bumble Bee and then back again."

Big-Boy and Little-Girl (of course he wasn't big but Little-Girl thought he was; she was only seven and he was all of five years older) were again in the old garden. The little Green Elf was about, you may be sure, and so was the Bumble Bee, who wanted to tell her own story. Big-Boy said to Little-Girl:

"You had better go to-day if you want to hear the Bumble Bees story, for the men will plow the clover under in a few days. It's plowing time and they are going to make a vegetable garden out of that field. I am to have my own little garden in one corner, all for myself. Want to help me plant it?"

Of course Little-Girl did, and she was very much flattered that a person like Big-Boy wanted her to help; but she was sorry for the clover field, so she said, "Oh, the beautiful red clover. Why do they bury it under the earth when it is so sweet and the Bumble Bee loves it? I love it too. I love to make clover chains."

"Ho, ho," laughed the Little Green Elf, "you see, Little-Girl, you have not studied as much at school as Big-Boy. He knows the Garden Manual by heart. He knows how to make the soil rich and productive. And about the clover, how it gives food to the ground when it is plowed under."

"That is just it," sighed Little-Girl, "it dies before its time is up."

"There is no such thing as death," said the Elf Man (who was very wise), in a strange sweet voice, "what we call death is really birth into another life; the clover comes up in another form of plant life. It has given its strength to form food for you to eat."

"The clover fields keep the earth moist and open during the winter and spring months," explained Big-Boy, "and then when it is turned under it adds humus to the ground so that the vegetable plants will be well nourished and the vegetables be sweet and tender for our dinner. I studied all about it in the Garden Manual. They planted this clover field on purpose to help the vegetables."

Big-Boy was very proud of his knowledge.

"Hum-um-um-m-m-m-m," sang the Bumble Bee, "it's my turn next. Let me tell how I help. There wouldn't be any clover field if I didn't sow the seed. At least, I help germinate it. Hum-um-um-m-m-m-m. Bumble-bumble-bum."

"Do let her tell her story or we shall never be at peace," the Elf-Man whispered to Big-Boy when Little-Girl wasn't looking. "She is a lady bee, you know, and very persistent."

"Bumble, bumble," sang the bee, "Who will roam the fields with me? Learn the secret of the clover—Who would be a nature lover?"

"We will, we will," cried the three little people, Little-Girl, Big-Boy, and the tiny Green Elf.

The Elf Man, who knew all garden secrets, broke into song:

"The Bumble Bee is dressed in yellow downy velvet trimmed in black. I know, he is a handsome fellow. And what he borrows he pays back."

The Elf Man was so small his voice could not be heard.

Unless you were a bee, person, and you knew the word.

The magic word that opens up the way

To wondrous fairy tales of every day.

The children knew it, and the Bumble Bee.

"But I know," said the Elf Man, "it is a 'he'."

Its mother bumble bee that helps the clover;

Now Father Bumble Bee is not a rover;

He hums a little song and goes to sleep.

And Mother Bumble Bee that helps the clover keep

Tis she must fly to the heart of the food

To feed her tiny ones who dress the clover green.

And helps the tender Bumble Bee,

Because it takes her her place to wear

The pollen from the clover to another.

And then grows Clover-Sister, Clover Brother.

"I learned that piece," to say at school, that's why it sounds like a book; and it's all true," finished Big-Boy.

The Little-Girl lifted her wondering eyes—

"Tell me, Big-Boy, for you are so wise.

How it helps Baby Clover?"

"Oh, that I learned at school. In the School Garden Army Class—this is one rule

How flowers are made; the busy Bumble Bee

Hunting for pollen in the flowers you see

Gets her slim and gauzy feet all over

Dusted with pollen dusts to another flower.

Then to another, so she mixes up

The golden powder in each clover cup

And so in time is grown a little seed

That seed then falls to earth by wind and rain

Is planted; then, in time, up springs a clover field again."

"That's another part of my verse about the clover and the Bumble. Do you like it?" Big-Boy's face was very pink, but he was smiling a shy smile. Little-Girl looked up at him lovingly and thought she would be very happy when she was old enough to remember so many fine things taught in the Garden Manual.

The Little Green Man nodded his approval. The Bumble Bee was almost bursting with pride.

"You see how I pay back," she said. "The clover gives me bee bread for my babies and, I really have more pollen than I need, I always leave some in the next flower I visit. I do not confine my visit to the clover. I help other flowers also. But the red clover simply can not get along without me; no other outdoor creature helps it in just the right way."

Not to be outdone the little Green Elf had to speak a word. "Now I am going to speak," he said.—By Cecilia Reynolds Robertson.

FAMOUS MEN AND MAIDS OF MOVIEDOM

The Week Has Been Notable For The Visits Of Several Popular Stars.

(By Dick Van Dyck).

Baltimore, Washington, even New York, may be leaders in some things; but the local playhouses are second to none. This week in Baltimore, Charles Ray in "Alarm Clock Andy" and Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna" are playing to full houses; but both of these pictures were presented in Salisbury weeks ago. The movie loving public owe their thanks to the managers of the three theaters, Insley, Marvel, and Ullman, for the high class screen productions shown here.

The week, past and present, has been and will be notable for an unusual gathering in Salisbury of popular screen stars. At the Liberty, Owen Moore in "Piccadilly Jim" delighted packed audiences for two nights. The play was featured as "round the town with the town rounder"—and it was well characterized. With his recent quasi-divorce, so prominently before the public, Moore was even more of a drawing card than usual.

"The River's End" at the Arcade has been spoken of by all who saw it as one of the strongest pictures presented in the city. It is a smashing new story of God's country, of love, of adventure,—of all those things that go to make life in a land where the mountains are nameless, where the rivers all run—God knows where!—and there are lives that are erring and aimless, and deaths that just hang by a hair. Marjorie Daw, the youngest screen star of the present time, and Lewis Stone have the leading roles.

At Ullman's Opera House the chief attraction was Clara Kimball Young in "Eyes of Youth" and the chief attraction of the star seems to be her starry eyes. The picture is one of love and youth—flirt and powder; when the spark flashes, the action starts.

Constance Talmadge in "The Veiled Adventure" and Norma Talmadge in "The Probation Wife" were two strong plays at the Liberty; and Eugene O'Brien in "The Broken Melody" drew the enthusiastic reception he deserved.

Among the coming photoplays, Marion Davies and Conway Tearle in "April Folly" will perhaps be the most popular, though Shirley Mason in "Her Elephant Man" and Vivian Martin in "Husbands and Wives" will be heavy competitors. Robert Warwick in "T. and in the Hills," the latter part of this week at the Arcade, is sure to be well received by all lovers of red-headed people. Warwick in "Jack Straw" was one of the most lovable characters seen here for months; and doubtless he will be just as attractive in this play.

In "April Folly" the plot combines a mystery and love story. It centers around April Poole, a writer, who exchanges places with Lady Diana Manner when the latter is sent to South Africa by her father with a valuable diamond to be delivered to an aunt. At sea, she is beset by a pair of international thieves; but foiling them in the end by a clever ruse, she brings the adventure to a happy conclusion; and her heart to her protector.

Endorsement

Campaign Committee:

In response to your letter of the 15th inst., I am glad to endorse the school loan of $200,000. My seven years experience as a member of the City Council of Salisbury leads me to believe that this is the only way to meet a problem in this country in regard to our schools.

At first I was not thoroughly in accord with the School Loan, but after investigating and finding out the true conditions, I see very clearly that the situation must be met. If not by a bond, then by a direct tax. Therefore, I shall do all in my power to put it over, so the young boys and girls who are coming on now may have better facilities than in the past.

Wishing the bond success, I am

Yours very truly,

(Sd) L. THOS. PARKER.

WHAT KIND OF MAN SHOULD BE MAYOR?

The Best People of Salisbury Want A Man Who Can Creditably Represent Them.

That the man who becomes mayor of Salisbury should be truly representative of all the people, that he should be a man of fair education, that he should be a man of clean conversation, that he should be a man affiliated with some Christian church, that he should be a man who knows something of city government, a man who has made a study of the needs of Salisbury, a man interested in the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club, the Red Cross, the United Charities and every one of the other organizations which advocate the growth of the city and the relief of its poor and suffering, is the opinion of many of this city's best people.

Salisbury's chief executive officer should be a man in whom the city's people could feel a personal pride; a man who would be able to conduct himself properly in the presence of groups of executives of other larger municipalities; a man who on such occasions would be a credit to Salisbury.

Just a few of the things which the mayor of Salisbury should do for Salisbury were cited a few days ago by H. W. Carty who for years has had the best interests of the city close to his heart and who has worked, and is working tooth and nail to promote those things which are most likely to make for the city's growth and good standing among other communities.

Mr. Carty said in part and in effect that, the man who is mayor of this city should take it upon himself to install a proper but economic street cleaning system; that he should combine this street cleaning system with a garbage collection system—and it is his opinion that the two if properly managed, can be operated successfully at a cost which will be less than that of the present inadequate street cleaning system.

Mr. Carty is of the opinion that the mayor of Salisbury should be a man with a back-bone. That he should use his every effort to stamp out all attempts to "put something over on the city by cliques of selfish business men and politicians."

"Just one good dose of this kind of medicine would do more to help this city, than any other treatment can possibly do," said Mr. Carty, on Friday.

He contends that the city, through its mayor, should take an active interest in the doings of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club, the relief and charity organizations, etc. He believes in the elimination of politics from city government and the application of safe and sane business methods. He believes in efficiency rather than expediency.

Mr. Carty, for years has been a loyal worker in the interests of Salisbury. He is largely responsible for the organization of the Salisbury Business Men's association and for the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. He is at present working day and night without hope of compensation, in the interests of Wicomico county through the Chamber of Commerce. It is safe to say that Salisbury has no more actively interested loyal citizen than H. W. Carty; and when he gives his opinion of what the mayor of Salisbury should be and what he should do, that opinion can be taken as being based on facts as gleaned by Mr. Carty in his years of study of conditions in this city.

RETRACTION.

A few weeks ago The News published as endorers of the School Bond issue, the firm names, Jackson & Gutman, and The Jackson Brothers Co. At the request of Colonel M. A. Humphreys, The News retracts these endorsements of the school bond issue. In an advertisement authorized by The Rotary club, in The News last week the name of Colonel Humphreys appeared as a member of that club endorsing the bond issue. At the request of M. C. Evans, president of The Rotary club, the endorsement of the bond issue by Col. Humphreys is hereby retracted by the club.

BOY BONDS AND BUTTON

How The Boy Scout Did His Duty in The Matter of Buying And Selling Liberty Bonds.

You have bought bonds for liberty. It was a vital investment.

A few hundred dollars in Salisbury this year will train the boys as scouts to know what liberty bought with those other bonds, really means.

A few hundred dollars in boy bonds. That is what is necessary to help the Boy Scout organization of Salisbury to do a real job.

Every subscriber is entitled to wear the Boy Scout button. As we have shown in these articles, scouting is a moral insurance for the future of your boy and the future of Salisbury.

The Scout Stopped the Runaway. You read that story of how the scout stopped the runaway horse on a city street the other day. His action doubtless saved the people from injury and perhaps from death.

Men had tried to stop the runaway before it reached the boy.

The scout stopped it. The men did not.

The men wanted to stop it.

They were anxious to stop it.

But they did not know how.

The Boy Scout stopped it because he did know how.

He Ran With the Runaway.

The men tried to head the horse off.

The horse shied and went around the men.

The scout started running with the horse. He went just a little ways just as fast as the horse went.

Then he had the bridle in his hand and he began to slow down.

The horse slowed down too.

How About Those Runaway Boys?

We were telling you about that other boy. The other boy is a runaway boy. He isn't so different after all from the runaway horse.

Men try to stop the runaway boy by heading him off. He shies and keeps on running.

Scouting runs with the boy just a little way and just as fast as he runs.

It catches the bridle of his own desire: "Physically strong." Then it slows down. The runaway boys slows down too. Then the boy who was running away becomes a scout, trained to be "mentally awake" and "morally straight."

A man who has given more than a quarter of a century to training teachers for school work, in one of our normal schools, said a while ago that the play and recreation of a child have more to do with forming its character than all the study hours have.

To get a boy to study things worth while because he is interested from his own desire is the height of success.

Nor does it interfere in any way with the boy's regular school work. On the contrary it help the school in what it wants the boy to do.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Last Sunday, Dr. B. G. Parker visited Nord Wilkinson, in the Marine hospital, Baltimore. Mr. Wilkinson has just undergone a serious operation for a wound which he received in the war with Germany. He stood the operation splendidly. The latest word from him was on Friday morning when he was still improving. Nord is well thought of in this community and much interest has been manifested in his behalf. He came very near laying down his life for his country.

The bank is now nearing completion. The cellar has been cemented this past week and the ceiling has been put on.

James E. Bacon is making improvements in his house, which will add to the convenience and beauty of the home. Mr. Bacon is a much honored citizen. He is also one of the leading members of the Masonic fraternity.

A Mennonite from below Princess Anne, on his return trip from Pennsylvania stopped in Zack Venable's shop to have his horse shod. He had gone up to Pennsylvania to buy a horse and jagger wagon. He reports that wagons of all kinds are very cheap up there, since the autos have come. There is scarcely any sale for them.

Little Franklin Wilkerson is the happy recipient of a bicycle on the anniversary of his birth.

Dr. Parker preached in the Grace Baptist church of Baltimore last Sunday. His services are in demand for supply work.

For the last two Sundays, Rev. G. W. Gorrell, of Baltimore, has been preaching as a candidate for the three Baptist churches in this community. Branch Hill, Athol and Hebron.

The men are meeting in little groups and discussing the question of bonding the county for school purposes. Some are in favor of it and some are against it. The "Pros" seem to have it in some crowds and the "Cons" in other crowds. Men are very tender when you touch their pockets. If the friends of the bill could make it clear how you can bond the county, without increasing taxation, their point would carry.

Some sarchers have been looking after the geodetic marker on the corner property now owned by Charles Bacon in Mardela, just across from the Masonic temple, but it could not be found. The government has put a severe penalty upon anyone disturbing this marker. It records the altitude of Mardela and the surrounding section.

As was hoped by many, Rev. Mr. Owens has been returned to this field for another year. The M. E. church has not as yet been supplied. News was received this week that the former pastor, Rev. Mr. Graham, is being encouraged by fine congregations, on his new field.

Do You Change Gears in Traffic

POLICE records show that over 90 percent of all auto accidents could be easily avoided. Watching the car instead of the road seems to be the motorist's biggest trouble.

Stand on any congested corner. Notice how the driver of practically every car is compelled to change gears when the traffic slows down even to 3, 4 or 5 miles an hour.

Packard drivers keep both hands on the wheel—the car easily throttles down to two miles an hour on high—and then can pick up to thirty in twelve seconds.

WE say—no other car can give you such a wide range of speeds on high as quickly and as smoothly as a Twin Six. Further, take Packard turning radius—the 136" wheel base

THE Fuelizer is THE NEW engineering development which makes any gas a perfect fuel—Eliminates carbon.

Stops fouling of spark plugs.
Prevents oil dilution on the cylinder walls and in the crankcase.
Makes starting easy in any weather.

The Fuelizer is only found on Twin Six cars.
Come in and see how it works.

of a Twin insures maximum riding comfort—yet the turning space required is no greater than that of ordinary cars which have a wheel base 10 to 20 inches shorter.

THERE is nothing radically new about Packard performance. Even those features which make it unchallenged in ease of handling and performance, are simply gradual Packard engineering developments, brought about by 21 years continuous building of passenger cars.

To test performance—drive any car, both in traffic and in the open—then try a Twin Six.

After proving to yourself that Packard out-performs any other car—inquire for the facts that show a Twin Six is just as economical to run as many cars costing one-half to two-thirds as much.

COLLEGE COURSE AS AN ESSAY PRIZE

All High School Pupils in The County May Compete for A Full 4 Years' College Course.

High school pupils of the county are to be given an opportunity to compete for a four years' university scholarship to be awarded for the best essay submitted in connection with Ship by Truck—Good Roads week, May 17-22, according to an announcement made today, which will read that the prizes awarded by judges to be appointed by the Federal Bureau of Education.

The contest, it is said, is for the purpose of focussing public attention on the necessity for good roads and the feasibility of the motor truck as a short haul medium.

According to plans approved by Commissioner of Education, P. P. Claxton, contestants, to be eligible to compete for the national prize, first must have won one of the prizes to be awarded by various organizations and individuals in their respective communities. The national prize is to be known as the H. S. Firestone University scholarship, and will be given in any college or university chosen by the winner. All High school pupils may submit a 500 word essay, which must be entitled, "Ship by Truck and Good Roads," but if the national prize is won by any pupil other than a senior, the award will be deferred until the winner is ready to matriculate at the institution of his choice.

Judges who will make the national award will be named by Commissioner Claxton before May 22, by which time all essays must be submitted. School superintendents and principals of High schools are being acquainted this week with the terms of the contest and, it is expected, more than one million essays will be written upon this subject, serving to accentuate the interest and to widen the scope of discussion to be created by Ship by Truck—Good Roads Week, during which time caravans of motor trucks will tour every section of the country.

Organizations whose members are lending the weight of their influence and activities toward making the week a success include the American Automobile association, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the National Grange, the Ship by Truck bureau, the Army, the Navy, and churches and schools generally.

State superintendents of instruction are being requested to direct their content within their communities. Prizes are to be awarded in each community and will be determined by local committees.

Announcement of other national prizes to be awarded by organizations which are lending their support to the program for the week is expected to be made soon. H. S. Firestone, donor of the scholarship, is originator and sponsor of the Ship by Truck movement.

COMMERCE CHAMBER'S IMPORTANT SESSION

L. W. Gunby Presided In Absence of President Adkins. Much Important Business Transacted.

In the absence from the city on Thursday night of President Fred P. Adkins, L. W. Gunby presided over the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, while E. T. Johnston acted as secretary in the absence of F. W. Woodcock.

The meeting which was very well attended was convened at 8 o'clock and was continued in active session for three hours. Many matters of importance to the interests of the city were discussed and transacted, and the meeting was perhaps one of the most successful in the history of the Chamber.

Marvin C. Evans, for the Membership committee reported progress. No report could be had from the School Bond Issue committee owing to the fact that H. W. Carty was conducting a School Bond Issue rally in Nutter's district. Since the meeting however, Mr. Carty who is in close touch with the situation, has said that there is no doubt but that the school bonds will be ratified by the voters next Monday. He says that the thinking people of the county are not willing to balance a few dollars against the futures of the children of the county and that the bond issue will be carried by a heavy majority on Monday.

It is generally understood that the opposition to the bond issue is recognized by the majority of the people as coming from persons who either have no children in the public schools, or who are shortsighted business men who are not willing to give the children of the county a chance to become good citizens, when that chance will cost them, the tax payers, a very slight increase in their tax rates.

Little Maid in the "Moon Door" Symbol of the Hope of New China

Ginling College, at Nanking, is Girls' School in Five Provinces With Population of 111,000,000—Interchurch World Movement to Aid Institution.

The way to all things at Ginling lies through the moon door. And through the moon door on the way to wisdom pass and re-pass, every day the 70 Chinese maidens of the "kung-gwan." The moon door at Ginling is round as the full moon whence it has its name. And the Chinese maidens, as she steps over its high sill, may spread wide her arms and still not touch its rim with the tips of her fingers.

Some times across the court yard to another moon door, and beyond it, like a smaller concentric circle, still another, leading on through that Chinese puzzle of a house, the "kung-gwan" or official residence at Nanking, China, which is now the home of Ginling College for Chinese girls—one of the three women's colleges in all China.

The moon door is but a single feature of the old place. Once inside the high stone walls that enclose it one is lost in a maze of courts and galleries and covered passages and isolated rooms.

The whole is China, old China and new. The moon doors and the architecture as a whole lend the dignity and the greatness of old China. But the laboratories and dormitories, libraries and studies made from the old rooms of state and ceremony are modern, just as the spirit of the Chinese girls who use them is modern; just as the force of America is behind it all, represented by the five American missionary organizations and the American Smith College which maintain Galling, is modern.

One pushes ajar the halves of a moon door, latticed over, paper in plum blossom and honeycomb design, and enters a chemical laboratory set up in a room with 20 windows, each framed in dragon tracery. And from the flagstones of the laboratory floor, often is scraped fungi and mould for use under the microscope.

These are typical contrasts of Ginling College, revealed through the survey of the Chinese field now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, which seeks to promote the closer co-operation of Protestant Churches of America in attaining their world aims.

Ginling College the survey shows, is at the heart of five Chinese provinces with a total population of 110,000,000—and is the only woman's college in that great area. Yet its capacity to receive young Chinese girls is limited by the capacity of the old "kung-gwan," rented since the beginning of the institution, four years ago.

Fund of $500,000

Ginling owns 37 acres of land on the hills beside the Yangtze river. In the Interchurch World Movement survey of China, there is a budget item of $500,000. It is there to show the Churches of America how they can place upon that land on the hill the library, administration building, recitation buildings, chapel—all that are needed for a modern college. Unless the fund is available by 1921, many young women of China seeking college education must be denied admission to Ginling, because the old "kung-gwan" is too small.

City Folks Becoming Wanderers Due to Increasing Cost of Homes

More Than 54 Per Cent of Nation's Population Are Paying Rent, Interchurch Survey Shows—New York City Leads Country, With 97 In Every 100 in Manhattan Giving Monthly Tribute to Landlord.

More than 88 per cent of the homes in New York City are rented. In the Borough of Manhattan the percentage rises to 97.

Nor is this condition limited to the Metropolis. It is common to most cities. The people of the United States who live in rented homes are in excess of 54 per cent of the population, according to the latest government returns. About 45 per cent own the houses in which they live.

These statistics have been collected for the survey of city life now being conducted by the Interchurch World Movement to provide a practical program for closer co-operation of Protestant Churches in America. And the survey already reveals one of the gravest problems now confronting the Church.

Rented homes, the survey shows, mean migrant families, for the day of the long lease is passing, and increases in rent cause increases in moving. The migration of families has shifted and changed the congregations of urban churches. And too often the family that moves beyond the reach of one church does not transfer its membership to another, even though it attends that other.

The moving family, say the workers on the survey, leaves the church leader by which membership is transferred, and the family cut behind. If the church did not have more lives than a cat, these survey workers are beginning to think, it would have been denuded long ago, for just as the family "loses" its cat, a church loses members, although another church does not gain them.

One preacher in a pastorate of 13 years noted 3,000 changes in his congregation.

The present generation of the city, the survey reveals, is a generation of wanderers because of the growing number of rented homes and the rising rents. As a result, the family church is becoming an urban rarity. The family in which the father is a founder of the Church he attends, married to a member of the congregation, and with children baptized by the family minister, is more and more seldom found, the survey workers report.

Too often the increase in rent has sent the family to another neighborhood. The purpose of the Interchurch World Movement's survey of the cities is to detect a new, though it is difficult to see, a new way of life that will bring the family back to the church. The survey workers are now in the midst of their work.

They'd Met Before. My first attempt proving a failure, I embarked a second time upon the matrimonial seas. We returned from our honeymoon, by way of a little town where my new husband had business interests. That afternoon, much to my surprise, I met an old schoolmate of mine on the street. She made me promise that we would dine with her the next evening.

"I'm a newly wed, too," she explained, "and I want you to meet Harry."

For me a most delicious dinner was spoiled. Harry proved to be my first husband! I experienced the most embarrassing moment of my life when my friend exclaimed, "O, you're acquainted!"—Chicago Tribune.

Italy Trains Blind Soldiers.

Italy has about 1,500 blind soldiers. All of these are being trained for useful employment. In addition to having lost their sight, a number of these unfortunate soldiers are without arms or legs. Several ingenious devices have been invented to assist the armless blind soldiers to read. One of these consists of a little pocket battery and a belt encircling the chest and containing small needles. The device plays a record that causes a different needle to prick for each letter and so the blind man reads.

Oranges for Marmalade.

Women who are in the habit of making orange marmalade—this is just time of year for doing it—will be interested to know that the crop of bitter oranges in the Seville consular district is very full and of magnificent quality, though only about 75 per cent as plentiful as that of last year. Most of it goes to the marmalade manufacturers in Dundee, but about 10,000 half chests are available for other markets.

A WORD WITH WOMEN.

Valuable Advice for Salisbury Readers

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Salisbury woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Chas. T. Bradley, 315 Elizabeth St., says: "I was troubled with a bad case of kidney complaint and backache. When I did anything that obliged me to stoop, I could hardly straighten up, because sharp pains would catch me in the small of my back. One day I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking several boxes, I was rid of the trouble. Since my cure, I have always recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from backache or disordered kidneys."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bradley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv't.

Robertson, Local Business Man, Opposed By State Organization's Paid Agent, Who Asks Democrats to Vote for Republican

Wicomico Business Man Faced Issue, Not Made It. Crabbe Forces
Volstead Act Issue By Putting Anti-Saloon League Back of Republican Candidate for Congress.

Real Question Before Voters Monday Is Rule by Prohibition Organization or Rule By Citizens of Eastern Shore, Represented in Congress by Business Man.

To the Voters of Wicomico County:

You will have the opportunity of making your choice for your next
REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS at the Primary Election to be held next MONDAY, MAY 3.

Will you, Mr. Citizen, go out to the polls on Monday, of your own free will and mark your ballot in your own free way, or stay at home and leave it to the politicians and the agents of the Anti-Saloon League to run the election to suit themselves?

If you are entirely satisfied with the way in which the U. S. Government is being run; if you like the income tax and excess profits tax laws, the high cost of living and the prohibition enforcement act; if you think there is no need in Congress for the services of experienced business men and that the politicians and the Anti-Saloon League should remain in charge of your Government, it's hardly worth while to vote at all.

But, to get down to cases:
The man you send to Congress is going to do his share, cast his vote, use his influence, for or against the Federal laws in accordance with the way you express your wishes at the polls on Monday.

As to the Republican candidates for Congress we have nothing to say at this time. Superintendents of the Anti-Saloon League, of the Eastern Shore (of whom we will say a word in a moment) already has publicly endorsed the present Republican incumbent. We are content to let the Republicans be led by the Anti-Saloon League.

At the Democratic Primaries, however, you will have two candidates asking for the honor of being the party candidate in the November election for Congress.

Republican Plot?

The Robertson for Congress League, which through the past six weeks in this paper has been telling you something about one of the Democratic candidates, now asks you carefully to consider the reasons why you should mark your X after the name of H. W. Robertson on the official ballot.

First Reason:
Robertson's candidacy has been made the occasion or excuse for an attack upon him and the Democratic Party of the Eastern Shore by the Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland. Let us try, coolly and dispassionately, to see just what this means.

First of all, who is Crabbe? Limiting ourselves entirely to a consideration of his public life we find that Mr. Crabbe is the salaried agent of a national organization, sent by that organization into Maryland to serve its purpose. He came to this State from Ohio where he was a Republican in politics. He is said by those who know him personally not to have much esteem for Democrats, particularly Southern Democrats. Perhaps that has something to do with his advice to Eastern Shore Democrats to vote for the Republican Congressman.

Foreign Agent Vs. Local Man.
Mr. Crabbe, a foreigner so far as the Eastern Shore is concerned, is sent down here as the paid agent of his organization to attack a man whose home has been here all his life and whose business has brought prosperity to hundreds in the counties around his home that they have urged him into the race for Congress.

Why does Mr. Crabbe and his organization attack Mr. Robertson?
Simply because Mr. Robertson, personally a dry mart, came out like an American man and publicly answered
the voters' questions as to how he stood on the Volstead Act. Mr. Crabbe would have the Eastern Shore represented by a Republican in Congress for the sole reason, according to his own statement, that that Republican has stood against any modification of the terms of the act.

Robertson has told you just what he means by modification of the Volstead Act. Will you vote for him, or Crabbe?

Only Candid Candidate.

Second Reason:
Robertson is the only Democratic candidate for the Congressional nomination who has laid his cards on the table before you, Mr. Voter. You have been told through this newspaper in advertising space, paid for by men who know Robertson and his ability, just who he is, what he looks like, what he has done, how he views national problems and how well he understands the needs of his neighbors of the First District.

He has not left it to the politicians and the Anti-Saloon League to run the election to suit themselves. He has looked you in the face and told you the very day he came out his candid position. He has used his funds, and the funds of his friends who knew him and who

FREDERICK WOMAN WAS FRIEND OF BARBARA FRITCHIE

Mrs. Addie James, Oldest Of Maryland's Salvation Army
"Lasses."

IS TRUE TO CREED

Frederick, Md., April 24.—A friend of Barbara Fritchie, whose heroic action during the Civil War has been perpetuated in verse, and a woman who has taken an active part in two wars, Mrs. Addie James, of 506 North Market street, this city, has the honor
of being the oldest Salvation Army
"Lassie" in Maryland, if not in the entire country. Though she is in her 84th year, Mrs. James is active and loyal in her support of the one church
she has known.

Mrs. James was a young woman
when she came here two years before the Civil War broke out. She immediately became popular in society and made many friends. During the four years of bloody turmoil, which followed the outbreak of the Civil War, she was unremitting in caring for the soldiers wounded and gray-headed, who continually streamed through this city.

She was a witness of the battle fought within the limits of old Frederick, she heard the boom of the great guns on the historic Gettysburg field and she often saw the figure of the gallant Stonewall Jackson. She was always among the first to minister to the wounded of the great struggle of half a century ago and when the war with Germany broke out, although too old to nurse American boys she made scores of them happy with the clothing she knitted
and sent to them.

Then almost 30 years ago, there came to Frederick a little band of Salvation Army Workers. It was not long before Mrs. James, seeing the great work done by the members of this band, became one of their most ardent members. For a number of years she took an active part in their services and true to the spirit of the organization,
has been a loyal member ever since.
There hangs on her wall now the picture of the first commander of the Army in America.

For almost 20 years the Salvation
Army was unable to maintain a corps of workers in this city, but Mrs. James,
the true Salvationist, held to her first convictions. When asked of what church she was a "Salvationist," she replied: "Through the period of 20 years she remained true to the Army standard of militant righteousness although she attended various churches."

Through these years other organizations have come and gone here and have tried to do the same work on a smaller scale. But the spirit of the Salvation Army has lived in the heart and conduct of Mrs. James.

With the same indomitable zeal this true Salvationist held to her belief in the great war just ended. Although her age prevented her from taking an active part in saving the brave knickknack boys who fell in the heat of battle, her heart was with them as her fingers knitted and sent them the sweaters and other articles to shield the warriors from the biting winds.
Whole days from early in the morning
until the sun had long disappeared,
did she spend in knitting these necessary articles for the young fighters.

CHRISTIANIZED FOREIGNERS PROVE LOYAL TO FLAG OF UNITED STATES

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS FIND THAT NO EVANGELIZED PERSON FROM OTHER COUNTRIES HAS PROVED TRAITOR TO HIS ADOPTED
LAND—LARGE WORK IS BEING DONE AMONG THEM.

A group of large boys of foreign parentage, reached and made happy by a Baptist Good Will Center.

Patriotism and religion go hand in hand in the work which Southern Baptists are doing for the foreigners in their midst, declare the several workers in this field who have found that wherever a man, woman or child of foreign birth or parentage has been won to the Christian religion that one stands foursquare for the flag, laws and institutions of the United States. Work in evangelizing and Americanizing the 4,000,000 people of foreign birth and parentage residing within the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention has been carried on by representatives of the Home Mission Board and the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention and the various state mission boards for several years, but this work will be enlarged and intensified as a result of the larger proceeds made available for it through the 75 Million Campaign.

Important Centers Named.
Among some of the more important centers in the South and Southwest where work of this character is carried on are Richmond and Norfolk, Virginia; Baltimore, Maryland; Louisville, Kentucky; Tampa, Florida; Birmingham, Silver Hill and Mobile, Alabama; Meridian, Miss.; New Orleans and Church Point, La.; San Antonio, Laredo, El Paso and Fort Worth, Texas; Krebs, Okla., and East St. Louis, Herrin, Christopher, Harrisburg, Granite City and other points in Illinois.

Aims That Are Sought.
Indicating the aims that are sought in this work, they may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. To reach the little children that their feet may be started in the upward path.
2. To inspire the older boys and girls with ideals that will help them to improve their environment and give them strength to cope with temptations.
3. To interest the young people in sane and wholesome pleasures that their energies may be rightly directed.
4. To help the women to be better home-makers, more careful wives and mothers and better Christians.

To give Christ and an exalted citizenship to the neighborhood. In addition to the nurseries and playgrounds maintained for the children, clubs and classes are held daily for young and old, the neighborhood houses being open during the winter months from 3 to 6 in the afternoon and four nights in the week from 7 to 9. In addition to the English courses, cooking, sewing, first aid and nursing are taught girls, manual training and other useful courses are given the boys, along with practice in debating; while for the mothers there is instruction in housekeeping, care of the sick, sanitation and food selection. Through the mission Sunday schools, vacation Bible study classes and otherwise a knowledge of the Bible is afforded and the way thus opened for a personal surrender of lives to God.

Life of Communities Changed.
And in every community where a Good Will Center or other social work has been established by the Christian workers there has come about a marked transformation in the lives of individual members of the community and in the appearance of the homes and general premises. Cleanliness has superseded dirt, happiness has taken the place of sorrow, and hope has come to lighten the faces that were formerly overshadowed by depression and doubt. Little tots who previously wandered through the streets now find pleasure and helpful entertainment in the games, stories and Bible lessons provided at the settlement houses; aimless boys and girls have been fired with zeal and ambition to become useful Christian citizens; mothers burdened with handicaps of heavy work and poverty have taken a new lease on life when they have found that there are those in the world who want to help them to a higher life; and the fathers, noting the improvement of the members of their families, have yielded to the refining and uplifting influences that have been thrown about them in the home and the community. The viewpoint of the whole community has been changed and better citizens, from both the patriotic and the religious viewpoint, are the result.

THIS SUMMER.

75 Million Campaign, with Assistance
of Sunday School Board, Makes Extension Program
Possible.

DR. I. J. VAN NESS.
Corresponding Secretary Baptist
Sunday School Board.

In what is believed to be the most extensive campaign for the development of rural Sunday Schools that has yet been undertaken by any single denomination, the forces of Southern Baptists especially interested in Sunday School work will undertake to reach 15,000 or more rural Sunday Schools of the South and Southwest this summer, announces Dr. I. J. Van

Ness, corresponding secretary of the Baptist Sunday School Board at Nashville.

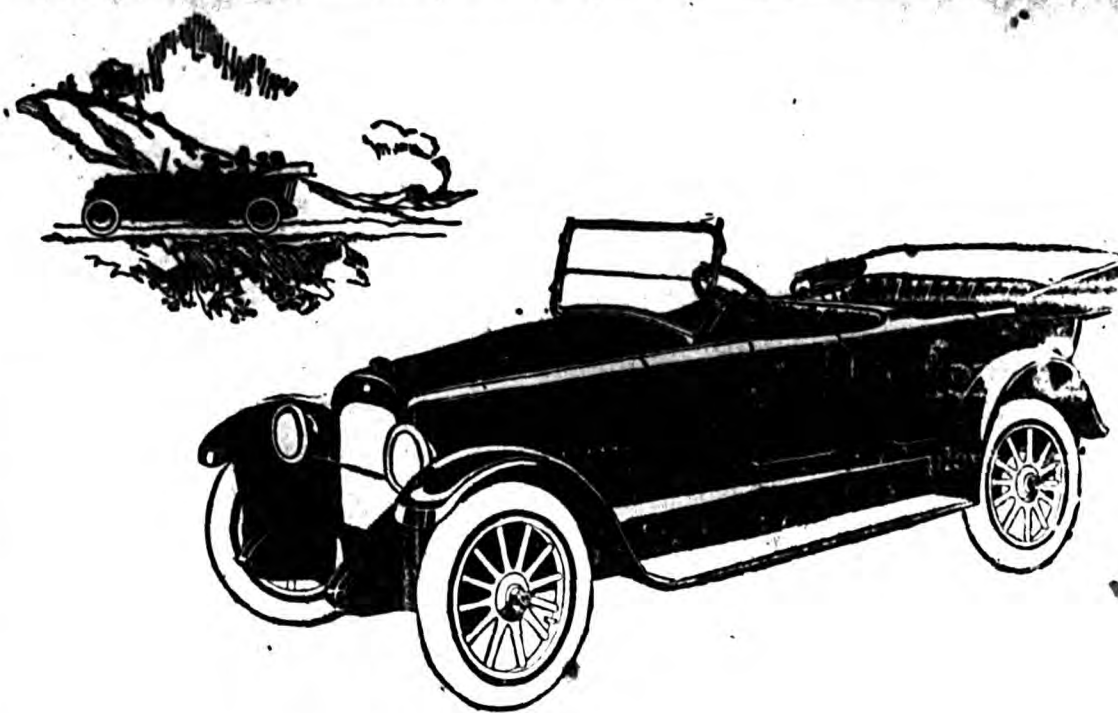

The work is made possible by the larger funds available from the 75 Million Campaign and will be carried on by the forces of the eighteen states of the Southern Baptist Convention, in co-operation with the Sunday School Board. Additional workers will be put on in every state and a large number of Sunday School institutes will be held in the hope of reaching a great majority of the rural Sunday Schools in every state. Normal Sunday School institutes will be held in fifty counties of Tennessee, for instance, and over 500 rural centers will be reached with the better system of Sunday School teaching and methods of administration. Similar methods will be followed in all the states.

Every State Enlarges Work.
Over $300,000 a year will be expended on Sunday School field work in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention. It is announced, and every state organization will greatly enlarge its Sunday School force, giving especial attention to the development of the rural schools.

In order that an adequate number of instructors may be available for carrying on this larger program, a thirty day normal school will be held in Nashville, beginning May 31, in the instruction in which a large regular faculty of Sunday School experts and many special lecturers will be employed.

The Sunday School Board at Nashville has just established a department of Sunday School administration which will deal with all questions of Sunday School organization and equipment. This department will be in charge of Arthur Flake, who has been a member of the field force of the Sunday School Board for quite a while and who was formerly superintendent of the Sunday School of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, Texas, said to be the largest Sunday School in the South.

Build Better Church Houses.
Another department of the Sunday School Board is giving attention to the encouragement of better church houses and pastors' homes in the rural districts, furnishing architects' plans for this purpose and detailed instructions without cost to churches which contemplate buildings along these lines.

Robertson, Local Business Man, Opposed By State Organization's Paid Agent, Who Asks Democrats to Vote for Republican

Volstead Act Issue By Putting Anti-Saloon League Back of Republican Candidate for Congress.

Real Question Before Voters Monday Is Rule by Prohibition Organization or Rule by Citizens of Eastern Shore, Represented in Congress by Business Man.

To the Voters of Wicomico County:

You will have the opportunity of making your choice for your next
MONDAY, MAY 3.

Will you, Mr. Citizen, go out to the polls on Monday, of your own free will and mark your ballot in your own free way, or stay at home and leave it to the politicians and the agents of the Anti-Saloon League to run the election to suit themselves?

If you are entirely satisfied with the way in which the U. S. Government is being run; if you like the income tax and excess profits tax laws, the high cost of living and the prohibition enforcement act; if you think there is no need in Congress for the services of experienced business men and that the politicians and the Anti-Saloon League should remain in charge of your Government, it's hardly worth while to vote at all.

But, to get down to cases:

The man you send to Congress is going to do his share, cast his vote, use his influence, for or against the Federal laws in accordance with the way you express your wishes at the polls on Monday.

As to the Republican candidates for Congress we have nothing to say at this time. Superintendent G. W.
Crabbe, of the Anti-Saloon League (of whom we will say a word in a moment) already has publicly endorsed the present Republican incumbent. We are content to let the Republicans be led by the Anti-Saloon League.

At the Democratic Primaries, however, you will have two candidates asking for the honor of being the party candidate in the November election for Congress.

Republican Plot?

The Robertson for Congress League, which through the past six weeks in this paper has been telling you something about one of the Democratic candidates, now asks you carefully to consider the reasons why you should mark your X after the name of H. W. Robertson on the official ballot.

First Reason:

Robertson's candidacy has been made the occasion or excuse for an attack upon him and the Democratic Party of the Eastern Shore by the Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland. Let us try, coolly and dispassionately, to see just what this means.

First of all, who is Crabbe? Limiting ourselves entirely to a consideration of his public life we find that
Mr. Crabbe is the salaried agent of a national organization, sent by that organization into Maryland to serve its purpose. He came to this State
from Ohio where he was a Republican in politics. He is said by those who know him personally not to have much esteem for Democrats, particularly Southern Democrats. Perhaps that has something to do with his

advice to Eastern Shore Democrats
to vote for the Republican Congressman.

Foreign Agent Vs. Local Man.
Mr. Crabbe, a foreigner so far as the Eastern Shore is concerned, is sent down here as the paid agent of
his organization to attack a man whose home has been here all his life and whose business has brought such prosperity to hundreds in the counties around his home that they have urged him into the race for Congress.

Why does Mr. Crabbe and his organization attack Mr. Robertson?
Simply because Mr. Robertson, personally a dry man, came out like an American man and publicly answered
the voters' questions as to how he stood on the Volstead Act. Mr. Crabbe
would have the Eastern Shore represented by a Republican in Congress
for the sole reason, according to his own statement, that that Republican
has stood against any modification of the terms of the act.

Robertson has told you just what
he means by modification of the Volstead Act. Will you vote for him or Crabbe?

Only Candid Candidate.

Second Reason:
Robertson is the only Democratic candidate for the Congressional nomination who has laid his cards on the table before you, Mr. Voter. You have been told through this newspaper in advertising space, paid for by men who know Robertson and his ability, just who he is, what he looks like, what he has done, how he views
national problems and how well he understands the needs of his neighbors of the First District.

He has not left it to the organization, the anti-organization or any factional leaders to "deliver" your votes. He took you into his confidence from the very day he announced his candidacy early in March. He has used his funds, and the funds of those friends who knew him and vol-

H. W. ROBERTSON, of White Haven, Only Business Man for Congress

untarily contributed, in distributing information that would enable you to know whether you want to cast your vote for him or not. Advertising in this newspaper enables you to buy intelligently. He believed it would enable you to vote the same way.
Has any other candidate, Democratic or Republican, done as much?

Business Man Vs. Politicians.

Business men are needed in Congress. While Robertson has taken a degree in law, he is not a lawyer, but a business man. It was because of his success as a business man that his employees at the White Haven ship yards and the people in the surrounding country who had business dealings with him, when he was building ships for the Government, urged him to run for Congress. When a business man, who is a large employer, so far wins the esteem of his employees and those with whom he deals that they urge him to take a hand in the business of Government, a more sincere endorsement is hardly needed.

Reasons Should Be Weighed.

Other Reasons:
If these are not sufficient reasons to justify you in marking your ballot Monday for Robertson, ask yourself before you vote if there are as valid reasons why you should not do so.

If by any chance you have not read the series of advertisements during the past six weeks in this newspaper in which the Robertson for Congress League have been giving you many other reasons for their faith in Robertson, buy a file of the paper and read them before Monday.

The case is before you, gentlemen of the jury. Return your verdict, according to the dictates of your best judgment, at the facts, next MON-DAY, MAY 3.

FREDERICK WOMAN WAS FRIEND OF BARBARA FRITCHIE

Mrs. Addie James, Oldest Of Mary-
land's Salvation Army
"Lasses."

Frederick, Md., April 24.—A friend
of Barbara Fritchie, whose heroic action during the Civil War has been perpetuated in verse, and a woman who has taken an active part in two wars, Mrs. Addie James, of 506 North Market street, this city, has the honor
of being the oldest Salvation Army
"lassie" in Maryland, if not in the entire country. Though she is in her 84th year, Mrs. James is active and loyal in her support of the one church
she has known.

Mrs. James was a young woman
when she came here two years before
the Civil War broke out. She immediately became popular in society and made many friends. During the four years of bloody turmoil which followed the outbreak of the Civil War, she was unwilling in caring for the soldiers, blue-clad and gray-clad, who continually streamed through this city.

She was a witness of the battle
fought within the limits of old Frederick; she heard the boom of the great guns on the historic Gettysburg field and she often saw the figure of the gallant Stonewall Jackson. She was always among the first to minister to the wounded of the great struggle of half a century ago and when the war with Germany broke out, although too old to nurse America's boys she made scores of them happy with the clothing she knitted
and sent to them.

Then, almost 30 years ago, there
came to Frederick a little band of Salvation Army Workers. It was not long before Mrs. James, seeing the great work done by the members of this band,
became one of their most ardent members. For a number of years she took an active part in their services and
true to the spirit of the organization,
has been a loyal member ever since.
There hangs on her wall now the picture of the first commander of the Army in America.

For almost 20 years the Salvation
Army was unable to maintain a corps
of workers in this city, but Mrs. James,
the true Salvationist, held to her first convictions. When asked of what church censures she was a "Salvation-ist" through the period of 20 years
she remained true to the Army standard of militant righteousness although
she attended various churches.

Through these years other organizations have come and gone here and
have tried to do the same work on a smaller scale. But the spirit of the Salvation Army has lived in the heart
and conduct of Mrs. James.

With the same indomitable zeal this true Salvationist did her bit in the great war just ended. Although her age prevented her from taking an active part in caring for the brave khaki-clad boys who fell on the field of battle, her heart was with them as her fingers deftly worked the needles and threads to make sweaters, solders against the biting winds.
Whole days from early in the morning
until the sun had long disappeared,
did she spend in knitting these necessary articles for the young fighters.

CHRISTIANIZED FOREIGNERS PROVE LOYAL TO FLAG OF UNITED STATES

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION THAT NO EVANGELIZED PERSON FROM
LAND—LARGE WORK IS BEING DONE AMONG THEM.

A group of large boys of foreign parentage, reached and made happy by a Baptist Good Will Center.

Patriotism and religion go hand in hand in the work which Southern Baptists are doing for the foreigners in their midst, declare the several workers in this field who have found that wherever a man, woman or child of foreign birth or parentage has been won to the Christian religion that one stands foursquare for the flag, laws and institutions of the United States. Work in evangelizing and Americanizing the 4,000,000 people of foreign birth and parentage residing within the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention has been carried on by representatives of the Home Mission Board and the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention and the various state mission boards for several years, but this work will be enlarged and intensified as a result of the larger proceeds made available for it through the 75 Million Campaign.

Important Centers Named.
Among some of the more important centers in the South and Southwest where work of this character is carried on are Richmond and Norfolk, Virginia; Baltimore, Maryland; Louisville, Kentucky; Tampa, Florida; Birmingham, Silver Hill and Mobile, Alabama; Meridian, Miss.; New Orleans and Church Point, La.; San Antonio, Laredo, El Paso and Fort Worth, Texas; Krebs, Okla., and East St. Louis, Herrin, Christopher, Harrisburg, Granite City and other points in Illinois.

Aims That Are Sought.
Indicating the aims that are sought in this work, they may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. To reach the little children that their feet may be started in the upward path.
2. To inspire the older boys and girls with ideals that will help them to improve their environment and give them strength to cope with temptations.
3. To interest the young people in sane and wholesome pleasures that their energies may be rightly directed.
4. To help the women to be better home-makers, more careful wives and mothers and better Christians.

RURAL CHURCH WORK WILL BE DEVELOPED

BAPTISTS PLAN TO REACH 15,000
COUNTRY SUNDAY SCHOOLS
THIS SUMMER.

PROVIDE BETTER TEACHERS

75 Million Campaign, with Assistance
of Sunday School Board, Makes Extension Program
Possible.

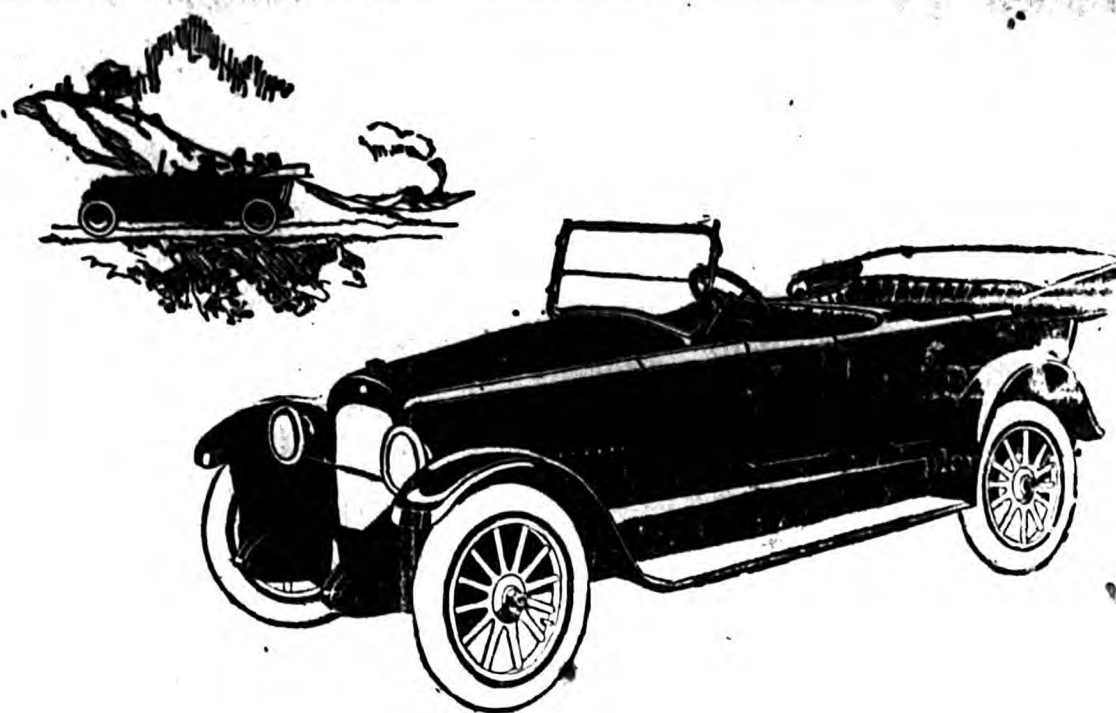

DR. I. J. VAN NESS,
Corresponding Secretary Baptist
Sunday School Board.

In what is believed to be the most extensive campaign for the development of rural Sunday Schools that has yet been undertaken by any single denomination, the forces of Southern Baptists especially interested in Sunday School work will undertake to reach 15,000 or more rural Sunday Schools of the South and Southwest this summer, announces Dr. I. J. Van Ness, corresponding secretary of the Baptist Sunday School Board at Nashville. The work is made possible by the larger funds available from the 75 Million Campaign and will be carried on by the forces of the eighteen states of the Southern Baptist Convention, in co-operation with the Sunday School Board. Additional workers will be put on in every state and a large number of Sunday School Institutes will be held in the hope of reaching a great majority of the rural Sunday Schools in every state. Normal Sunday School Institutes will be held in fifty counties of Tennessee, for instance, and over 500 rural centers will be reached with the better system of Sunday School teaching and methods of administration. Similar methods will be followed in all the states.

Every State Enlarges Work.
Over $300,000 a year will be expended on Sunday School field work in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention. It is announced, and every state organization will greatly enlarge its Sunday School force, giving especial attention to the development of the rural schools. In order that an adequate number of instructors may be available for carrying on this larger program, a thirty-day normal school will be held in Nashville, beginning May 31, in the instruction in which a large regular faculty of Sunday School experts and many special lecturers will be employed. The Sunday School Board at Nashville has just established a department of Sunday School administration which will deal with all questions of Sunday School organization and equipment. This department will be in charge of Arthur Flake, who has been a member of the field force of the Sunday School Board for quite a while and who was formerly superintendent of the Sunday School of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, Texas, said to be the largest Sunday School in the South.

Build Better Church Houses.
Another department of the Sunday School Board is giving attention to the encouragement of better church houses and pastors' homes in the rural districts, furnishing architectural plans for this purpose and detailing instructions without cost to churches which contemplate buildings along these lines.

COMMUNICATION.

Editors Wicomico News, Gentlemen:

We have with us again, the subject of a bond issue for Wicomico county, this time for $200,000.00. Let us look at this matter. If the school affairs of Wicomico county have been efficiently managed in the past, do you believe we find ourselves needing $200,000.00 worth of school houses all at once?

We also will make this assertion, that if the proper authorities do their duty, that even if Wicomico county is not bonded for $200,000, every child in the county will have a chance for an education. Let us look at some of the things the advocates of this measure say. One says "If we bond, taxes will not be any higher"; another says "An increase in the tax rate of 5 cents on the hundred dollars, gives us good schools"; still another says, "If we had bonded two years ago, my taxes which are now $50.00 per year, would not be more than $28.00, or one half as much." Now, which of these is true?

This bill was marked as an emergency measure; they tell us the need is immediate, and yet, I find in my hand, a letter addressed to me, signed Campaign committee, which says among other things, "That argument assumes that the entire $200,000 will be issued and spent on the day after the primaries. That is distinctly not true. Bond will be issued only as needed. Improvements will be begun only in the sound judgment of the School commissioners." Which is true?

Let us look at the facts. If these bonds are issued as advocated, the interest we pay on them, $1 on $200,000 is ten thousand dollars ($10,000) each year, which up to and including January 1, 1924, makes Thirty Five Thousand Dollars ($35,000) which we pay in interest before we begin to pay on the principal. This interest would build all the country school houses named in the bill, with thousands to spare, all thrown away in interest. Then, on January 1, 1924, payment on the principal begins, which is Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000), which with the interest for the preceding year, ten thousand dollars, makes eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000) to be paid that day, which must come from the tax payers, and at last, in the year 1947, when the bill provides for the last payment, the tax payers of Wicomico county, will have paid in interest alone, the appalling sum of ONE HUNDRED FIFTY TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($152,500) which with the principal, $200,000 makes the sum of $352,500, paid by the tax payers on this bond. Now, as compared with normal times, they tell us one dollar today buys 29 cents worth. If so, Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) will buy Fifty Eight Thousand Dollars ($58,000) worth of school houses. Therefore, the tax payers pay $352,500 and get $58,000 worth of school houses, the most stupendous, gigantic, colossal piece of bad judgment ever offered to the people of Wicomico county.

Study it, think of it, analyze it, know what it means, then you'll vote against the bond. Why not do in this matter, as any successful person does in his private business, proceed economically, building one by one, year after year, as jealously guarding the public credit as the said successful man guards his private credit?

The advocates tell us it will lessen taxes (please allow for their condition) and that the future tax payers will pay it off in easy, delightful excursions into the tax payers paradise. Let me ask this: Do you not believe that the wants of the people next year and each year following, will be as great in proportion to their ability to pay as ours are now? You know they will. If so, how are they going to attend to their own wants, and in addition, pay this gigantic sum they are trying to fasten on them?

Some tell us that $200,000 is a very small amount for which to bond the county. Well, some of the advocates do not pay one cent taxes in Wicomico county or in the world, that we know of, therefore, it is immaterial to them whether it be Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) or Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000).

Relegate them to the waste heap of would be great financiers with other people's credit, and vote against the bond.

But the most self-satisfied statement of the bonders is, "We are doing something for the children." That is one time they tell the truth. Remembering that a school house doesn't make a school, and that bonding Wicomico county is equivalent to mortgaging every dollar's worth of taxable property in the county, let us see what they do for the children. They vote to make them bonded debtors till 1947. They fasten a debt on them about which the children, some born, some unborn, cannot have anything to say, you vote to place your children in public financial bondage, from which your parents, whose memory you should honor, jealously guarded you.

Let us not do so, but rather, let us be true to those who follow. Let us say to our children and our grandchildren, "You are entitled to your heritage of freedom. We'll place no unjust burden on you, but will leave you a chance to live your lives free from public vassalage; we will vote against the bond."

Unusual Value—In Tires for the Smaller Cars

Not only is characteristic Goodyear merit conspicuous in Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars, but ordinarily the first cost is found to be not greater than that of other tires; often it is actually less.

The combination of unusual value in first cost and very low final cost, of course, is a result of Goodyear experience, expertness and care employed as insistently in the making of 30x3, 30x3 1/2 and 31x4-inch tires as it is in the construction of the famous Goodyear Cord Tires used on the highest-priced automobiles.

For this reason more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Get this unusual tire value to enjoy on your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Get these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at this station.

30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30x 3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x 3 1/2 size in water-proof bag $4.50

DISTRICT STEWARDS IN SESSION HERE

Delegates From 30 Or More Methodist Churches Assemble Here and Agree to Taboo Wet Candidates.

On Tuesday, April 20th, at Asbury church, Salisbury, the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of district stewards ever known in Salisbury district assembled at 9:30 a. m. These leaders of Methodist laymen from 30 or more churches set about their task in an earnest way that betokens a great forward movement in the denomination on this territory.

Some of the more important items decided were:

Arranging for the payment of interest no deferred payments on the district parsonage.

Advance in the district superintendent's salary of $500 making it now $4,200.00.

The election of Dr. W. F. Hall of Crisfield; Wm. J. Downing and L. Atwood Bennett of Salisbury, as trustees of the district parsonage for the full term of three years.

Arranging for the putting the new district parsonage in thorough repair and fully furnishing it for the occupancy of the district superintendent in December next. Every vote taken in the meeting was unanimous.

At noon the district stewards, together with a half dozen visiting pastors and their wives, adjourned to the Peninsula Hotel as guests of the district superintendent, and were served an excellent dinner.

After dinner the party visited the new property of the district, located at 103 East Elizabeth street, where Mrs. Bennett, the present tenant, very kindly showed the home to the new owners. All agreed it will be a worthy home for the superintendent of this great district.

At 2:30 p. m. the ministers of Salisbury district assembled in their third district conference. The meeting was well attended and while most of the business transacted was of a private nature, intended for the ministers alone, one action was taken that deserves the widest possible publicity. If the politicians of the eastern shore think they can make political capital by advocating the repeal of the prohibition laws now on the statute books they will find they will have the fight of their lives. The Methodist preachers have ever been the foes of the whole liquor business, and have had no small share in the various campaigns that have resulted in the outlawing this curse of humanity. So if any man thinks that he can wheedle the Christians of this eastern shore in believing him to be worthy of election to public office when he openly advocates beer and wine he will have the surprise of his life coming to him as a resolution unanimously adopted, will show. This resolution puts the Methodist ministers on record as being opposed, both in and out of the pulpit, to all candidates for public office who stand for any modification whatever in the present prohibition laws and their enforcement. It pledges them to use their untiring efforts to defeat such candidates.

At 8 p. m. Rev. John J. Bunting of Berlin, preached an inspiring sermon to a very attentive congregation, and the day closed with a consecration service led by the Superintendent Rev. Vaughan S. Collins.

A Piece of Bread

well, And make white flour for the baker's bread; For the very last loaf is sold" he said.

The farmer stopped working and listened to Jack. Then he smiled and said:

"I've bushels of wheat all ready to sell; I plowed and I planted; I t'ended it well; I cut it and threshed it and put it away

And I'm ready to sell it whenever I may."

So the farmer harnessed his horse Whitenoose and Dobbin, to his big wagon. He loaded the wagon with sacks of wheat. Then he climbed away up high on the seat, and Jack climbed up beside him. Clip-clap, clip-clap, clip-clap went the horses' feet as they rode to town; and there they stopped at the mill. They unloaded the wheat; the miller poured some of it into the mill and started the machinery. The great wheels and belts that had been standing so still began to turn round; slowly at first, then faster and faster, making such a noise that Jack could not hear what the farmer said when he spoke to him. And in less time than it takes to tell you, the fine white flour was flowing into the sacks!

The miller tied up one of the sacks and gave it to Jack, and he took it to the baker. The baker started his fire and got out his bread board and pans, and soon he was mixing and stirring and kneading the dough; and in a few hours he had a tray of fine loaves baked. Jack gave him the bright new dime for one of them, and ran home with it to his mother.

"Here is the bread, Mother," he called as he ran in. Then he told her why he had been gone so long and where he had been. She quickly cut off a slice of bread, spread it with sugar. "I never knew before how many people have to work hard so that I may have bread," said the hungry boy, as he ate his well-earned repast.

DRILLING FOR OIL IN PRINCE GEORGE CO.

Noted Geologist Has Discovered Oil In Maryland, 12 Miles From Washington.

W. A. White and J. R. Christie of Salisbury were in Washington on Sunday to watch the beginning of the Potomac Oil & Gas Co.'s first drilling operations in Prince George county, Maryland, about 12 miles from the capital. The noted geologist, Orlando, who made the original survey of the Famous Goose Creek field, has discovered the presence of oil and believes that a new field will be opened up.

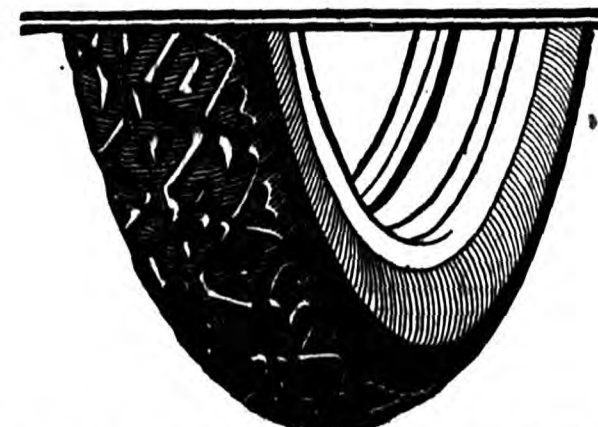

Thousands of people attended the ceremony, and the cameramen from both the Fox and Pathe bureaus were present. The well will be drilled by the most modern of rotary rigs and will go to a depth of about 4,000 feet.

SPACE SHORT. LETTERS ARE NOT PUBLISHED

Two or three communications from people who are opposed to the school bond issue to be voted on Monday, have been received at The News office for publication. Because of a crowded condition in the newspaper, which this week has forced a 24 page publication, it has been found necessary to let the publication of these communications go over until next week. The News is always glad to publish the signed opinions of its readers and friends on any matter of public interest, and will always do so when sufficient space is available.

Which is worse; to have a thing you don't want, or to want a thing you haven't got? In either case you are dissatisfied; but you are not deserving of sympathy. The gods help them that help themselves; we are no longer in that phlegmatic stage where we can sit calmly back and sagely say "All things come to him who waits."

If you want a thing today, you must go after it. In some cases you can go in person; in many, you will have to depend on some sort of representative. And right there is where the newsy little want ad. has a chance to prove its infinite value.

It has access to more than three thousand homes every week. Think how long it would take to call in person on three thousand people! And the want ad. gets in where you might not; an obstacle to be reckoned with. The want ad. can be published, read, and answered while you are writing a hundred letters; and the postage on those letters alone would pay for a want ad. for weeks and weeks.

Storage space is valuable at the present time. Instead of filling your attic and cellar with old articles that you don't want; phone a want ad. to this paper and sell them. You'll save all that space for something really worth while to you; and you'll make money, too. Just because the articles in question have lost their usefulness to you, is no reason to be sure that they won't be useful to some one else. Try a want ad. once, and you will be a confirmed believer in classified advertising.

There's another side, too. Read the classified ads. You may find in them the very thing you have been searching for far and wide. The alert, progressive buyer today keeps his eyes on the "For Sale" columns of his local paper. And he gets bargains that you never dreamed of. You see, it's all in knowing how to go about it. And now you know—read the want ads., a bonanza may stare up at you any day from the classified columns.

Not only be prepared to grasp the opportunity; but be on the constant lookout for it. Read these little ads. in this paper today.

PENNA CONCERN TO BUILD MANY HOUSES

Manager of Sunbury Concern Outlines Its Housing Plans For Information of the Chamber.

For the Housing committee of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, R. D. Grier on Thursday night, reported progress.

Mr. Grier reported his committee fully organized and hard at work. He said he recently visited Wilmington in an effort to get information as to how that city is solving its housing problems. He found a deplorable condition there. Within a few weeks hundreds of families will be without homes and the city officials and Chamber of Commerce are doing everything possible to relieve the situation.

Mr. Grier learned that Wilmington is buying houses formerly used by the DuPont Chemical Co., for its employees at Carney's point. He thought some of these places might be used in Salisbury. He went to Carney's point and investigated.

He found the houses in question to be long rows of single story four-room shacks formerly used by Italian laborers. As they now stand they would be utterly unfit for use here. He found that to dismantle the houses, ship them here, re-erect them and revamp them would make each place cost about $1,200 and after that they would not be suitable for use by Salisbury workers.

Mr. Grier called attention to the fact that his committee through the local papers last week asked the people for information concerning their desires for homes in this city. He said but one reply had been received by his committee. He was of the opinion that if there is no demand for houses here, the work of the committee is being thrown away and had better be concluded, before more energy and money is expended. He desired though, he said, to give the people one more chance by having the papers publish his committee's request for information as to the need for houses here, again next week.

Dr. S. A. Graham suggested that The Forum Corporation of Sunbury, Pa., has opened an office here and has under consideration, a plan whereby houses may be furnished to those who desire them. He thought that a representative of that concern might be asked to appear before the Chamber and explain the plan. Mr. Grier agreed with this idea, because he said, if the Forum Corporation is going to fill the housing needs of the city and knows how to do it, there is little or no use of the Chamber of Commerce trying to do it—a thing it doesn't know how to do.

Colonel Woodcock volunteered to find a representative of the Forum corporation and after a few minutes, presented L. Frank Bilger, manager of the Forum concern which has opened offices in this city.

Mr. Bilger explained the plans of his concern in detail. It was agreed at his conclusion that his plans are perfectly fair and businesslike and that his operations here should be a great benefit to the city. Mr. Bilger stated that his concern has bought the land opposite the Union Railroad station, where the No. 2 Jackson mill is located and will begin within a week to erect several dwellings on the site. These will be sold to purchasers on very liberal terms which he explained in detail.

NOVEL CURE FOR TOOTHACHE

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell Tells of Experience With Patient Possessing Powerful Imagination.

In medicine things sometimes happen that professional men have difficulty in explaining, according to Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who in his autobiography tells the following story: A big fisherman came aboard my steamer one day and said that he had toothache. His jaw was swollen, his mouth was hard to open, and the offending molar was visible within; but when I produced the forceps he protested loudly that he would not have it touched for worlds.

"Why, then, did you come to me?" I asked. "You are wasting my time." "I wanted you to charm her, doctor," he answered.

"But, my dear friend, I do not know how to charm, and I don't think it would do the slightest good. Doctors are not allowed to do such things."

He was evidently much put out, and had turned to go when I said, "If you really think it would do any good, come along. You'll have to pay 25 cents exactly as if you had it pulled out."

"Gladly, doctor. Please go ahead." He sat on the rail while I put one finger into his mouth, touched the molar and repeated the most mystic nonsense I could think of. "Abracadabra Tiddlywinkum Umslopoga," and then jerked the finger out lest the patient close his ponderous jaws. The fisherman took a turn round the deck, pulled out the quarter and solemnly handed it to me, saying, "All the pain is gone. Many thanks, doctor."

I found myself standing alone in amazement, twiddling a miserable shilling, and wondering how I came to make such a fool of myself—

CORSET FIRST WORN BY MEN

Garment Now Almost Exclusively Feminine Shown to Have Been Made for Norman King.

The corset as such has not always gone by that name. First mention of the word is found in the household register of Eleanor, countess of Leicester, May 24, 1235, and the person for whom the garment was made was Richard, king of the Normans. Another pair is mentioned at the same time as intended for Richard's son Edward. Which would seem to prove that corsets were originally used for men as well as for women.

Some authorities claim that the word corset is from the French word corpe, the body, and serret (to tighten, inclose or incase). This may have been a corruption or diminutive form of the single word "corps," which was formerly written "cors," or the name may have been taken from a rich material known as corse, which was at one time extensively used for its making. About the year 1900 the corset is referred to as "stays" in England. The word bodice was not infrequently spelled bodies by old authors and was used to designate the garment now known as the corset.

Beaver's Remarkable Work

A single colony of beaver are capable of constructing a dam 12 feet high and a quarter of a mile long. Such a dam was recently discovered by a state game warden, in a secluded spot along Taylor's creek, Hayfield county, Wis. The beaver house at the center of the dam, 16 feet high and 40 feet broad at the base, the sleeping apartment inside the house was exceptionally spacious for a beaver house, being large enough for a tall man to lie down at full length. The floor was found to be covered with a dry substance and was as clean as a whistle. Large quantities of food were found stored for cold weather use. Nine beavers, the parents and their children, were found living comfortably in the house, the result of their engineering feat.

ANNOUNCEMENT

It is with increasing regret that the Citizens Gas Co., makes the announcement that the price of gas to all of its customers will be advanced on and after May 27th, 1920, fifty cents per 1000 cubic feet.

This will make the price to domestic consumers $2.50 per 1000 cubic feet, less 10 cents per 1000 cubic feet for payment of bills within ten days of date.

The necessity for this advance in price is shown on the following table of comparative costs of material and labor on May 16, 1919 and the costs at the present time.

	May 16, 1919	Present	% Increase
Oil	$ 6.30	$16.09	149%
Generator Coal	8.75	9.15	5%
Labor at Works	12.40	15.04	21%
Chemical Work	65.00	75.00	15%

The extra burden placed upon the housekeeper is greatly deplored and nothing less than an absolute necessity compels us to make this advance.

We promise to give to our patrons a reduction in the price of gas, just as rapidly as the cost of production decreases.
