PROSPECTUS
For Publishing in the City of Baltimore a Weekly Paper under the title of
WEEKLY BALTIMORE REPUBLICAN.

The solicitation of several of our friends
in this city, and applications of others
from the different counties of the state, we
have concluded on issuing a weekly edition
of our paper, on or before the first of February next, or as much sooner as a sufficient
number of subscribers shall be obtained, to
warrant the undertaking.

It is deemed unnecessary to enter into a long
detail of our political opinions, as they are well known to our friends throughout the state;
and as it is usual to make some pledges on commencing a new publication, we will merely state, that as we have always been strictly Republican, so shall we continue, in despite
of the machinations of wily politicians who
have exerted every energy to break us down;

and so long as the principles of the present
National Administration continue to receive
the support of the people—the yeomanry of
the land, we shall continue their trusty sen-
inel on the watch-tower of freedom, and warn
them of every encroachment on their liberty, by ambitious and aspiring demagogues.

We are not disposed to eulogize the characters or conduct of men in this prospectus;
but make these few remarks that our friends
know that our principles are unchanged;
and that we shall never desert them in
the time of need—when the cause of our common country calls every man to action.

It is unnecessary to extend a prospectus
of a Newspaper, as every citizen is acquainted with their utility in diffusing intelligence
on all subjects of a local or foreign nature;
and the influence placed within their power,
to be exerted over the public mind, if properly conducted, by giving the general spring
to these principles upon which our liberal institutions are founded, or in correcting those
regrettable errors, by exposing their objects,
and holding up to view the individual who
is disposed, either from a personal distinction or private interest, to sport with the
rights of his country, or trifle with the inalienable rights of FREEMAN.

It will, no doubt, be conceded on all hands,
that the result of the late election in this
state, was owing in a great measure, to the
want of a more general dissemination of information among the people. Our opponents
had every advantage in this respect.—
more than two thirds of the papers in this
state; and in this city, two of them open and
two closed, and two others, while pro-
claiming neutrality, were evidently hostile to
the principles of the Administration, were arrayed against us. Still we battled with them,
and if we were not victorious, it was owing
to the want of a more general circulation
of information among the people, than to the want of energy on our part. With these few marks, we shall submit our sheet to the good sense and liberality of the public, hoping that they will see the necessity of encouraging us in our undertaking, as well for the benefit of the party generally, as for ourselves.

TERMS.
The WEEKLY REPUBLICAN will be printed
the same size sheet as our daily and country edition, and will contain most of the reading matter which may appear in those papers
the course of the week. Good paper and
type will be used, and every improvement
in its mechanical arrangement shall be adopted, of which the encouragement we shall receive will admit. It will be issued every Saturday morning, at the low price of Two Dollars per annum, if paid in advance, Two Dollars and Fifty Cents at the expiration of six months, or Three Dollars if not paid till the end of the year. These terms must be strictly adhered to.

Editors to whom we exchange in this and
adjacent states, will confer a favour by
returning this prospectus a few gratuitous insertions in their papers; and by sending a copy
of themselves to a free exchange for one of our friends to whom we send it.
Please procure as many subscribers as possible, and return their names to this office about the time the publication is to be
commenced.

Post Masters and others, who will exert
themselves in procuring subscribers, and forward the amount of their subscriptions, will
be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per cent
on a copy of the paper for one year for their trouble. They will also forward their names
immediately, in order that we may place them
on our list of Agents. Address, postage
paid.

GEORGE A. CARPENTER, Ex'or.
HENRY G. GARNER.
IN CHANCERY.
10th January, 1835.
Robert S. Bryan,
vs.
David R. Gist.
THE object of the bill in this case is to obtain a decree requiring the defendant,
David R. Gist, to convey to the complainant
parts of two tracts of land called Burlep's
Hill, and Pettibone's Rest.
The bill states, that the defendant on the fifth day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and twenty-seven, sold to the complainant, parts of two tracts of land called Burlep's Hill, and Pettibone's Rest, for the sum of two thousand and eight hundred dollars, and that the defendant thereupon executed to the complainant a bond of conveyance.
The bill further states, that all the purchase money and interest has been paid to the defendant, except about sixty dollars, which the complainant is ready to pay, or bring into court, provided, the defendant will make and execute to the complainant a good and sufficient deed in fee for the said lands. The bill also states, that the defendant resides out of the State of Maryland.
It is thereupon ordered, that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper once in each of four successive weeks before the 14th day of February next, give notice to the said David R. Gist, of the substance and object of this bill, that he be warned to appear in this court
in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of May next, to show cause, if any
he has, why a decree should not pass as prayed.

Mr. Hambleton, of Talbot, offered as a substitute for the report of the committee of the whole house, the following resolutions:

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all proceedings had and entered in-
to on the part of this state, under resolution
No. 80, passed at December session, 1833, in relation to the southern and western boundaries
of this state, and the controversy on that subject with the state of Virginia, be and the same
are hereby suspended, and the Attorney General of this state, is hereby directed to suspend
all proceedings under the same, for the time being.

Resolved, That Maryland, ever-ready and desireous to close this long pending question, does herewith declare her entire willingness finally to adjust the same, with the government of Virginia, upon the terms proposed and contained in resolution passed at December session, 1831, in relation to that subject.

Resolved, That the Governor be, and he is

be and they are hereby authorised and requested, to select and appoint a discreet and competent person as the special agent of the state,
whose duty it shall be to proceed to the city of

to propose to the Government of Virginia, the mode and manner heretofore, to wit:—at December session 1831, by resolution No. 80, adopted and proposed by the state of Maryland, for
the settlement of this question, and to learn from Virginia what explanations they are disposed to give of the act of her Legislature of the 5th of March, 1833, and whether she will now so modify said act, as to render it com-
formable to the aforesaid propositions of Maryland;
and in the event of Virginia not being willing
so to modify said enactment, to learn and forthwith to communicate to this Legislature, what other mode of adjustment she may propose.

Which was read.

On the question being put, on the adoption of
the substitute,

It was determined in the negative.

The question then recurred, and was put on the adoption of the second resolution as reported by the committee of the whole house.

Resolved in the affirmative.

Mr. Merrick, then moved that the following report be adopted.

The special committee to whom was refer-

REPORT.

That although they have been unable to discern any thing in the Executive communication immediately referred to them, or the previous actions of the State of Maryland in relation to this interesting subject, which does not command their entire approbation, or which would indicate the propriety of reviewing in a manner at this time, the merits of the controversy, or recommending any relaxation or change in the course deliberately determined upon by the State at the last session of the Legislation; yet anxious to preserve, if possibly within the reach of any means compatible with the honour and just rights of Maryland, that harmony and good understanding heretofore so long and so happily existing between the two States, your Committee have thought it might be conducive to that desirable end and not inconsistent with the duties assigned them, to notice some of the views expressed in the late Message of his Excellency Governor Tazewell
to the Legislature of Virginia in reference to this subject; this document is not officially before us, but it has been given to the world
through the press, and emanating from so high
a source, and treating of the very subject your
committee are charged to enquire into, with apparent and indeed express regret that circumstances exist, which, in the judgment of his Excellency, preclude Virginia from a direct
communication of her views to Maryland, your
committee think they might be deemed wanting
in their duty, if not in that respect of which Virginia and her functionaries are ever worthy,
were they to pass it over in silence. In that document it is declared that the law of Virginia
to settle the western limits of that State, and
the dividing boundary line between that State
and the Commonwealth of Maryland, passed
5th of March, 1833, was intended as an acceptance of our own proposition for the amicable
settlement of the questions existing between us.
That the determination of Maryland to seek a
decision of her rights by the judicial authority of the Union, was probably occasioned
by a misapprehension of the terms of that enactment of Virginia, which was susceptible of
satisfactory explanation, now only withheld,
and with regret, because the attitude of Mary-
land is regarded as hostile or menacing.

Your committee have been unable to discover
any thing in the proceedings of Maryland which
could suggest the idea of menace, nor does it
seem to be at all applicable to the intimate relations existing between the members of this confederacy; certainly nothing could be more foreign to the intentions of Maryland than to assume such an attitude in relation to Virginia,
one of her earliest and most glorious allies, not
nearer geographically than in consanguinity
and affection. Her great strength we know
with joy, not envy; and in her glory we have
always felt the keen interest of participation.

Maryland had never a hostile feeling towards Virginia; cannot wish to do her violence or wrong, but on the contrary, desires the removal of the only source of disagreement, in order
that if possible their union may be more intimate, and established forever on the best and surest foundations.

The southern and western boundaries of Maryland have never been adjusted and defined by compact with Virginia. We hold by charter,
a charter which has been fully and solemnly recognised by the State of Virginia, but in the interpretation of that instrument the two States
have not been agreed. It is right, even indispensable, that the interpretation should be settled, and the limits of the States ascertained,
and our sister State cannot but sometime perceive that in that settlement her voice (admitted to be equal) is not entitled to preponderating influence.

The State of Maryland seeks or desires nothing which is not her's of right, and it is necessary for her honor, that in her controversy,
though amicable, and with her sister, the terms
of adjustment shall not be dictated to her.

A brief review of the proceedings of Maryland would demonstrate that she has from time to time mildly reminded her sister State of her claims, and sought to refer them to the examination of Commissioners, to be appointed by the parties from among their own citizens respectively; desiring only to provide for the appointment of an umpire by one of our disinterested sister States, in the event of disagreement among the Commissioners. In such propositions Maryland has evinced her confidence in the justice of her cause, but has suggested nothing incompatible with the dignity of Virginia. She has desired and still desires the peaceful ascertainment
of her rights, never doubting that Virginia would deem it necessary to her true glory to do right
at whatever sacrifice, just that the relative rights
of herself and neighbour should be equitably
ascertained, and govern herself accordingly,
without reckoning her means of resistance.

The Law of Virginia, before referred to, of March 5th 1833, has been understood by us as
not only not in accordance with, but directly

red so much of the late, Executive Message, as relates to the southern and western boundaries
of this state, have given to the subject that careful examination and attentive consideration its great importance, and the delicate nature of the pending controversy in relation thereto with a sister State, seemed to require, and respectfully

a source, and treating of the very subject your
committee are charged to enquire into, with ap-
parent and indeed express regret that circumstances exist, which, in the judgment of his Excellency, preclude Virginia from a direct
communication of her views to Maryland, your
committee think they might be deemed wanting
in their duty, if not in that respect of which Virginia and her functionaries are ever worthy,
were they to pass it over in silence. In that
document it is declared that the law of Virginia
to settle the western limits of that State, and
the dividing boundary line between that State
and the Commonwealth of Maryland, passed
5th of March, 1833, was intended as an acceptance of our own proposition for the amicable
settlement of the questions existing between us.
That the determination of Maryland to seek a
decision of her rights by the judicial authority of the Union, was probably occasioned
by a misapprehension of the terms of that enactment of Virginia, which was susceptible of
satisfactory explanation, now only withheld,
and with regret, because the attitude of Mary-
land is regarded as hostile or menacing.

Your committee have been unable to discover
any thing in the proceedings of Maryland which
could suggest the idea of menace, nor does it
seem to be at all applicable to the intimate relations existing between the members of this confederacy; certainly nothing could be more foreign to the intentions of Maryland than to assume such an attitude in relation to Virginia,
one of her earliest and most glorious allies, not
nearer geographically than in consanguinity
and affection. Her great strength we know
with joy, not envy; and in her glory we have
always felt the keen interest of participation.

repulsive of the equitable and moderate wishes of Maryland, as an undertaking in truth, by one of the parties, absolutely to settle and pronounce against the claim of the other.

So regarding it, the State of Maryland determined to lay her controversy before that high and independent tribunal empowered by all the States to hear and decide all controversies between two or more States, and she has unshaken confidence that when the founders of the Union agreed that all controversies between these States, should be settled by appeals to justice, and not to arms, they did not fail to achieve that peculiar and brightest glory of our country.

It is, however, gratifying to learn from a source entitled to so much respect, that we may have misconceived the proceedings and intentions of Virginia, and to be allowed to hope that she may yet do what may not be less advantageous and becoming to her, than to Maryland. It would be lamentable that false honour or strained punctilio should be permitted to estrange these States, or prevent the free course of explanation and liberal and just actions among them.

That State will probably be regarded by posterity, as well as our contemporaries, as most loyal to the common welfare and to its own honour which shall be most distinguished by forbearance and moderation; under the influence of these sentiments, your committee recommend that the 'door of explanation' which Virginia seems to consider closed upon her by the resolutions of the last session of the Legislature, be opened wide, by their unconditional repeal, and the discontinuance of all proceedings under them—and that the Governor of this State be requested to communicate to the government of Virginia this intelligence, and propose to re-open with that government a negotiation for the final adjustment of this long pending controversy, upon the basis of the resolutions of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at December session, 1831—and for these purposes your committee have proposed, and herewith report, to the house sundry resolutions.

All which is respectfully submitted,
WM. D. MERRICK,
Chairman.

TEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE PRESIDENT.

While the President was at the capitol yesterday, in attendance on the funeral of the Hon. Mrs. R. Davis, from South Carolina, Richard Vance, a painter, resident in this city, attempted to shoot him. Col. Lane, of Indiana, advised us, that he saw this individual enter the house during the delivery of the funeral sermon. Before its close, however, he had taken his stand on the eastern portico, near one of the columns. The President, with the Secretary of the Treasury on his left arm, on returning from the Rotunda to reach his carriage at the steps of the portico, advanced towards the house where Lawrence stood, who had his pistol leveled under his coat, and when he approached within two yards and a half of him, the assassin extended his arm and leveled the pistol at the President. The percussion cap exploded with such great force that several witnesses supposed the pistol had fired. On the instant, the assassin dropped the pistol from his right hand, and took another ready cocked from his left, and presented it at the President, who at the moment had raised his stick and was rushing upon him. Mr. Woodbury and Lieutenant Godney, the same instant laid hold of the man, who lay way through the crowd and was at last checked down. The President pressed after him until he saw he was secured.

We attended the examining court immediately after the event. The Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Navy, Col. Burd House, Mr. Kingman, and Lieut. Godney, of whom witnesses the act, were examined, gave a more minute detail of the circumstances above stated.

From the U. States Telegraph.

We had hoped to have been able to give a report of the following proceedings in our paper of yesterday, but found it impossible, from the risk of being too late for the Northern mail.

The prisoner being in court, a well dressed man, about 5 feet 7 inches in stature, Mr. P. Key, (the District Attorney General) was as Judge Cranch had taken his seat, that he had several witnesses present, and named the names of Mr. Randolph, (Secretary of the House of Representatives,) Woodbury, Mr. Orme, and Lieutenant Godney.

Mr. Randolph was sworn as a witness in court.

Mr. Randolph.—He heard the pistol snapped at the President; there were two pistols, or else a double barreled pistol, he did not know.

He asked the prisoner the reason why he shot at the President, and he replied, "because the President had killed his father." He, (Mr. R.) did not see the result; the Marshal had him in custody before he saw the prisoner.

The judge informed the prisoner that if he would put any questions to the witness, he would do so.

The prisoner doggedly replied, that those who saw him do the act, must, he supposed, state what they did see.

Mr. Levi Woodbury was then examined.—He would state what he knew with regard to the act of this unfortunate man. He, (Mr. W.) was passing from the Rotunda, the President having hold of his arm, they had just got over the threshold, on to the Eastern portico, when he heard a noise which sounded like the report of a pistol. He turned round, and saw this unfortunate man with a pistol in his hand; who then, to all appearance drew another, finding the first did not go off. He, (Mr. W.) then seized him by the collar, and at the moment he did so, the prisoner discharged the other pistol, or attempted to do so, for the percussion cap only snapped. He judged that the pistol did not go off from the noise. Several persons had got hold of the prisoner when he saw him. He had no doubt as to the identity of the prisoner. He had seized him by the collar, and kept his eyes on him until he was secured by other persons; and then he, (Mr. W.) returned to the President. He thought he saw two pistols; he had no doubt as to the person of the prisoner.

In reply to a question from Mr. Key, the witness said he was certain the second discharge was aimed at the President. The President was from 6 to 8 feet from the prisoner. Among the crowd who rushed upon him, was the President himself. No language passed betwixt himself and the President, nor betwixt him and the prisoner; some words however were uttered by the prisoner.

Mr. Kingman was next called on as a witness. He was passing from the Rotunda to the Eastern portico—saw the President walking on the right of Mr. Woodbury—heard a crack, as it appeared to him, of a rifle, it was so loud.—He turned round, and saw the prisoner with a pistol in his hand. This was the first report. He then looked round to see at what object the shot could have been directed; turning again he saw the prisoner aim, or level the pistol either at the President or Mr. Woodbury. The witness noticed, particularly, the brightness of the barrels of the pistols. There were two explosions.

Mr. Key.—How near was the prisoner to the President?

Mr. Kingman.—About ten feet. He was satisfied as to the identity of the prisoner. He had kept his eyes on him until the Marshal had him in custody.

Judge Cranch.—Was there any thing more than the explosion of the percussion cap?

Mr. Kingman.—Nothing more.

Mr. Orme examined. He was on the second platform of the steps of the eastern portico, and saw the prisoner make both attempts.

Lieutenant Godney examined. In passing from the Rotunda he saw the President on the arm of Mr. Woodbury; as soon as they got out to the eastern portico, he saw the prisoner pull out a pistol, which he leveled at the President; the cap of which snapped, and he then pulled out another. He, (Mr. G.) rushed on the prisoner and took away one pistol; Mr. Burd took away the other. Himself and Mr. Burd, had tried the pistol with a pencil, and found that it was half full; and that there was a ball in it. He was certain as to the person of the prisoner.

Mr. Orme further testified, that he held the prisoner until he was told that it was the Marshal who had taken hold of him, and then he gave him up.

Judge Cranch, (to Lieutenant Godney).—At what distance was the prisoner from the President?

Lieutenant Godney.—About 8 feet, I should judge.

Mr. Dickerson was next sworn and examined. As he came from the Rotunda, he had descended perhaps one or two steps of the eastern portico; he heard the report of a pistol, so it appeared to him, such as they very often heard from a pocket pistol. He did not see the man until he saw a rush towards him. After the man was seized, he saw him, as deliberately as a man in his situation could do, take out another pistol, and snap it at the President. He was positive as to the identity of the man; there was no person betwixt the prisoner and himself. The distance of the prisoner from the President was 8 or 9 feet; certainly, not more than 9 feet. The President himself attempted to get at the prisoner but was prevented by the crowd that rushed upon the culprit.

The Hon. Mr. Burd was examined. He was near the President, heard the snap of a percussion cap, and turned his head saw the individual then before the court, (the prisoner,) leveling a pistol in the direction of the President. He, (Mr. B.) rushed upon him, but previous to that Lieut. Godney had got hold of him. He had ascertained, together with that gentleman, that the pistols were loaded, and with balls.

Mr. Burd, in reply to a question from Judge Cranch, said, the barrels of the pistol did not un-screw.

The prisoner expressed a hope that the pistols might be kept in the same condition as they were not his own.

A gunsmith was ordered to be sent for, to draw the charge of the pistols, but Mr. Blair, the Editor of the Globe, who was present, officiated, and drew the charge; the pistol was loaded with a ball.

Judge Cranch called for witnesses to the fact. Mr. Key announced as such, himself, Mr. Blair, General Hunter, and Colonel Pope. Mr. K. further said that the Marshal had gone for the powder and balls which had been taken out of the prisoner's pocket, to see if they corresponded with those of the charge in the pistols.

Mr. Hurley was sworn and examined. The prisoner had boarded in the same house with him for three or four months; he believed he lodged there. The prisoner was by trade a house-painter. It was now two months since he came to work for Mr. Purdy. He, (the witness,) had never heard him say any thing against the President, he was a man of few words; he never spoke unless he was spoken to. It was four weeks since he left the house of the witness.

Mr. Key said, he did not know that it would be necessary to call for further testimony. Had the prisoner any questions to put to the witness.—He had nothing to say in the matter.

Mr. Key asked if there had been any thing remarkable in the habits of the man.

Mr. Purdy testified that there had not been any thing remarkable in his habits, he was reckoned to be a steady sober man.

Judge Cranch. Have you ever heard the witness say any thing injurious to the character of the President? Have you ever heard him express a feeling of malice towards him?

The witness. He had had no conversation with him on political subjects.

Mr. Key said, he had a great deal more testimony which he could produce, but presumed he had produced all that was necessary.

Judge Cranch, (to the witness.) Do you know any thing of the circumstances of the prisoner?

The witness. He had not heard of his being embarrassed in any way; the prisoner was an Englishman by birth.

Dr. Clark examined. The prisoner had been apprenticed to him. He had known the prisoner for ten years. His Christian name was Richard. He had lived with him for three years; when he first knew him he was accounted to be one of the finest youths in Georgetown. He had never known any imputation to be made against his character. When he came to live with him, he (the prisoner,) was very young. His father was dead; he had two sisters, one of whom was married to a very respectable man, (Mr. Ritner,) in the First Ward. The prisoner had lived with him three years, more or less.

Mr. Key. What were the habits of the prisoner? what was his course of life?

Dr. Clark. He had heard that he had of late done little business—he had not heard that he was intemperate; but had been informed that he was apt to be quarrelsome with his friends; so much so that his sister had turned him out of her house. He was by birth an Englishman, but came over to this country when very young. He (Mr. C.) had been in the habit of seeing the prisoner passing and repassing nearly every day. It was nearly eight years since he had left witness's house. The witness had not known his (the prisoner's) father, nor the time or manner of his death. He thought, however, that the prisoner's father had lived in Washington.

The prisoner declined asking the witness any questions.

Judge Cranch. The only thing, then, to be settled is, what amount of bail we shall require of the prisoner?

Mr. Key suggested, that the highest bail should be demanded which could be awarded in a case of assault and battery.

Judge Cranch did not think that the charge of battery was made out, so as to bring the conduct of the prisoner within the Penitentiary act.

Mr. Key. The offence was a common law offence, and must be punished as such.

Judge Cranch. It appeared to him that $1000 would not be too high; he should require bail of the prisoner to that amount, in default, he should commit him.

Mr. Key suggested that an addition ought to be made to the order of the Court, viz. "that the prisoner should keep the peace." He thought also that an additional sum in the bail bond should be required on this ground.

Judge Cranch.—Under those circumstances the amount of bail might be increased to 1500 dollars.

Mr. Key, urged the necessity of calling for the highest amount of bail. Persons might possibly be found who would become security for the prisoner. He would further impress upon the Court the deliberate and determined intention of the prisoner, the repetition of the offence &c. If they liberated him, he might again repeat the attempt. He thought an additional security ought to be demanded, "that the prisoner should keep the peace."

Judge Cranch.—Under the circumstances the bail might be increased to 1500 dollars, the constitution said, that excessive bail should not be demanded. He thought 1500 dollars would be sufficient. It had not been shown that the prisoner was connected with any other person or persons.

Mr. Key.—There was nothing to show that fact; but, notwithstanding, it was most surprising that the prisoner, whether in passion, or from any other cause, should take the guilty business on his own hands.

Judge Cranch.—He had taken into consideration the circumstances of the prisoner, and the aggravation of the offence. If he considered the circumstances of the prisoner, the bail he had demanded might seem too high; if he considered the aggravation of the offence, it was too low. He thought 1500 dollars was as much as could be asked.

The prisoner not being able to give the bail required was committed.

THE SACRED CLASSICS,

OR, CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY:

With an original Introductory Essay to each Author.

THE REV. RICH'D. COTTERMOLE, B. D.

THE REV. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

NO other country is so rich as England in Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing the truths of Revelation while her Divines have been distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

The soundness of character thus given to the standard Theology of England has, through a variety of circumstances, been happily prevented from degenerating into the harshness of scholasticism; and thus the whole series of our "Sacred Classics," is a well of truth and consolation, as open to the general reader as to the most learned student.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of the principles of revealed truth, whether in their application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well being of society. Treatises on the Doctrines, Morality, and Evidences of Christianity, which have received the permanent stamp of general approbation; select Sermons of the most eminent Divines; the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography; and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred Poetry, will succeed each other in the order which may be judged most conducive to the benefit and gratification of the reader.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in undertaking "THE CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY," to present the collection to the public at such a price, that he who purchases at present the cheapest of ephemeral publications, may, for the same money, possess himself of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his faculties, and under every vicissitude of life.

The work will be handsomely printed in Foolscape 8 vo. on good paper, cloth pressed, neatly bound in Morocco Cloth, lettered and published (in Volumes of about 400 pages each) on the first day of every month.

Price, Three Shillings and Sixpence: Forming the cheapest series of works ever offered to the public.

The following names of Authors whose works are intended for publication is submitted as evidence of the impartiality of the selection:—

Jeremy Taylor, Bates, Boyle, Baxter, Owen, Caldworth, Thomas A. Kempis, Burnet, Howe, Butler, Wilson, Bunyan, Fenelon, Doddridge, South, Bull, Hammond, Barrow, Tillotson, Sherlock, Jortin, Farinon, Horsley, Hale, Stillingfleet, Porteus, Locke, Leighton, Caver, Chillingworth, Hall, Jewel, Jackson, Flavel, Charnock, Wesley, Skelton, Watts, Lawth, Romaine, Waterland, Whitecote, Balguy, Pearson, Ken, Newton, Stanhope, Whitby, Hammond, Burkitt, Herbert, Doune, Merrick, &c. &c.

Vol. I. (to be published on the 1st of January,) will contain

THE LIBERTY OF PROPHECYING, by Jeremy Taylor—with an Introductory Essay, by the Rev. Richard Cottermole, B. D.

Vol. II. (to be published on the 1st of February) will contain

CAVE'S LIVES OF THE APOSTLES—with Notes, and an Introductory Essay, by the Rev. Henry Stebbing, M. A.

Vol. III. (to be published on the 1st of March) will contain

PROPOSALS

TO REPUBLISH THE

LONDON, EDINBURGH, FOREIGN AND WESTMINSTER

QUARTERLY REVIEWS,

FOR $8 PER ANNUM.

THE above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits.

The well sustained reputation of the LONDON QUARTERLY, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, and the old order of things, but as the witness and most entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific.

The EDINBURGH, celebrated for the vigor, learning and acuteness which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform party.

The FOREIGN QUARTERLY occupies a neutral ground in Politics, and is devoted to constitutional literature.

The WESTMINSTER is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Benthamism. It represents the principles of a party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

The numbers will be put to press immediately after they shall be received from Europe; and will cost in the entire matter of the above works; making four annual volumes of upwards of six hundred pages.

They will be executed in a good style, and be printed in a shape but little differing from that of the European editions.

The price will be $8 per annum, payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $30. Of the three at present republished, two of them alone cost $10.

Any individual procuring four subscribers, and remitting $30 on the receipt of the first Number, will be allowed an additional copy.

COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

The cheapest reprint from English Periodicals ever offered to the public.

BEFORE the Select Circulating Library had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Helles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magazinarian, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret.

To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "COMPRANION" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume

every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each.

4. As the work will not be commenced, unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name, sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, as it is intended to commence the work on the first of January next. On the issuing of the second number payment will be expected, as its appearance will evince a sufficiency of patronage.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter up—, the "Library" itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same matter, in the usual American reprint of reviews and magazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscription to the "Companion," will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

THE Rev. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

NO other country is so rich as England in Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing the truths of Revelation; while her Divines have been distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

The soundness of character thus given to the standard Theology of England has, through a variety of circumstances, been happily prevented from degenerating into the harshness of scholasticism; and thus the whole series of our "Sacred Classics," is a well of truth and consolation, as open to the general reader as to the most learned student.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of the principles of revealed truth, whether in their application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well being of society. Treatises on the Doctrines, Morality, and Evidence of Christianity, which have received the permanent stamp of general approbation; select Sermons of the most important Divines; the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography; and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred Poetry, will succeed each other in the order which may be judged most conducive to the benefit and gratification of the reader.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in undertaking "THE CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY," to present the collection to the public at such a price, that he who purchases at present the cheapest of ephemeral publications, may, for the same money, possess himself of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his faculties, and under every vicissitude of life.

The work will be handsomely printed in Foolscap 8vo. on good paper, cold-pressed, neatly bound in Morocco Cloth, lettered and published (in Volumes of about 400 pages each) on the first day of every month. Price, Three Shillings and Sixpence: Forming the cheapest series of works ever offered to the public.

Jeremy Taylor, Bates, Boyle, Baxter, Owen, Cudworth, Thomas A. Kempis, Burnet, Howe, Butler, Wilson, Bunyan, Fenelon, Doddridge, South, Bull, Hammond, Barrow, Tillotson, Sherlock, Jurin, Farinon, Horsley, Hale, Stillingfleet, Porteus, Locke, Leighton, Cave, Chillingworth, Hall, Jewel, Jackson, Flavel, Charnock, Wesley, Skelton, Watts, Lowth, Romaine, Waterland, Whichcote, Balguy, Pearson, Ken, Newton, Stanhope, Whitby, Hammond, Burkitt, Herbert, Doune, Merrick, &c. &c.

Vol. I. (to be published on the 1st of January) will contain

THE LIBERTY OF PROPHECYING, by Jeremy Taylor—with an Introductory Essay, by the Rev. Richard Cattermole, B. D.

Vol. II. (to be published on the 1st of February) will contain

CAVE'S LIVES OF THE APOSTLES—with Notes, and an Introductory Essay, by the Rev. Henry Stebbing, M. A.

Vol. III. (to be published on the 1st of March) will contain

BATES'S SPIRITUAL PERFECTION, UNFOLDED AND ENFORCED—with an Introductory Essay, by the Rev. John P. Smith, B. D.

LONDON: John Hatchard and Son; Piccadilly. Whittaker & Co. Ave Maria Lane; Simpkin & Marshall; Stationers' Court; D. A. Talboys, Oxford; J. & J. Deighton, Cambridge; Oliver & Boyd, Edinburgh and J. Cumming, Dublin.

And to be had of every Bookseller throughout the Kingdom. March 4th, 1834.

The English copy will cost in England, about ten dollars. We propose to issue the American edition, under the superintendence of a learned American clergyman, in weekly numbers, on a single sheet of superfine paper, giving nearly six large 12mo. pages, to be folded and stitched, and covered with strong envelope paper, at the rate of five dollars per annum.

THE Rev. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

NO other country is so rich as England in Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing the truths of Revelation; while her Divines have been distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

The soundness of character thus given to the standard Theology of England has, through a variety of circumstances, been happily prevented from degenerating into the harshness of scholasticism; and thus the whole series of our "Sacred Classics," is a well of truth and consolation, as open to the general reader as to the most learned student.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of the principles of revealed truth, whether in their application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well being of society. Treatises on the Doctrines, Morality, and Evidence of Christianity, which have received the permanent stamp of general approbation; select Sermons of the most important Divines; the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography; and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred

ANNAPOLES:
Thursday, February 19, 1835.

For the Maryland Gazette.

Mr. GUNN: I am glad to see that the bill for the increase of Judge Buchanan's salary has passed the House of Delegates, and only regret that it has not been increased to a larger amount.

I was in the house during the discussion of this subject, and listened to the debates with great pleasure and interest. The speech made by Mr. Dulany, of Charles, in favour of the bill, was a most convincing argument, and it is a matter of astonishment to me, that the proposition for the proposed greater increase was not adopted.

Mr. Dulany was listened to with profound attention by the house. It was I believe his first speech this session, and furnishes the assurance, that he is a young man of sound and discriminating mind, and ready as a debater. He does credit to the constituents who sent him here, and to the state at large. It is hoped that Mr. D. will take a more active part in the debates of the house than he has done. His timidity has heretofore deterred him; but as the ice is now broken, as he has made a most favourable impression upon the mind of every one who heard him, it is confidently expected that he will take a prominent part in the future debates of the house.

On returning from the Pictures of Adam and Eve.

THE TEMPTATION.

O! would you see Man in his majesty of birth
The living likeness of the King of Kings,
Treading in native dignity the sinless earth,
The unfallen Emperor of all created things,
Behold him heret with limbs of matchless mould,
And proud sublimity of form, grand yet not stern,
And brow, whose marble arch seems strained to hold
The weight of mighty thoughts and doubts that burn
Thro' his dark eyes that look immovably to Heaven!
His clinch'd foot craves the softness: whence this?
Ah! 'tis the temptation! To his hand is given
The fruit of knowledge, with the loss of bliss.
And you wonder that he chooses to err,
With "Ye shall surely die!" still moaning in his ear?
Turn to that bank, and for a moment gaze on her
Who gave; and for our father's frailty drop a tear.
I've had and have my boyish dreams of angel-visag'd girls;
And worship'd female beauty, with her sweet sunny smiles,
And witchery of the lip, and eye, and soft golden curls;
And have been, and still hope to be, entangled by the wiles
Of her magic—but no picture yet, no poetry, no face
Of woman-kind, has left such feelings, or will leave,
As those that steal upon the heart whilst we there trace
Each melting tint and feature of the false yet lovely Eve.
Reclining, like an artless child, on a green slope,
Whose velvet verdure bloomed forever fair;
Her eye upturned to Adam as her Star of Hope,
And her long flashing ringlets waving in the air,
And over his broad shoulders pressing in his grasp
The mellow fruit he half receives and half refuses;
See how she looks and woe, and how that tender clasp
Of hand to hand pleads for her, while he chooses
Beyond them is the blue sky, and the sun's mild beam;
Around them wild vine and bright coloured flowers;
Beneath them flows the cool and crystal summer stream,
And with it flows the last of many happy hours!
His glittering folds still wreathed around the tree,
Where the first Tempter lur'd weak woman first,
He breathes his hot breath on her cheek, till she Temple in her turn, and both of God are curst!

THE EXPULSION.

Turn from the picture of man's splendour, to his doom:
And see the Tree Forbidden torn and riven;
While from its blazing centre scowls the foe,
With daring arm brand 'gainst the God of Heaven.
O! what malice is that clench'd hand rais'd!
What hellish triumph's wreath'd in that lip's curl!
Scornful and tauntingly he stands, unawed and unarm'd,
Though Earth quakes, and the elements in mad strife whirl!
In the wide and wild confusion. Splinter'd by the fire,
Which for the first time gleam'd and glimmer'd in the cloud,
The Tree of Knowledge smokes and burns—the funeral pyre
Of man's lost innocence; and thunders, long and loud,
Mutter and crash in the thick gloom. Where all was calm
And sunshine, Night and Blackness brood, and Fear.
The Lion, sleeping yonder like a harmless lamb,
Bristles his shaggy mane, and, with a bloodthirsty leer,
Stalks grimly from the cowering, guilty, fallen pair.
The Ocean, which before lay wondrous, hush'd, and smooth,
Heaves its blue foam-fringed billows in the murky air;
And terror-stricken man has nothing left to sooth
His new-born agony. On his strong knee he's bent,
But not, alas! as erst, in holy prayer and praise.
Red lightning flash and hiss along the firmament,
And light the world's destruction in the lurid blaze
Of the Eternal's hot displeasure! Clinging to him
Whom she had ruin'd, prostrate her beseeching form,
Eve looks in his tumultuous face, her mild eye dim
With sin's first tear, to shield her from the storm.
His raven hair hanging diabolically down his brow,
And outstretch'd hands, tell his distraction and despair;
While, bending over her, he seems to ask, O! how Can I protect thee? Banish'd, debas'd, how dare
Hope mercy from th' offended One? His dismal wrath
Howls in the booming thunder and the boiling seas,
And burns and burns, along its flaming path,
Through the dark tempest. Whither shall we flee
From his dread presence? Why didst thou, Eve, O why Poison'd thy virgin soul with a foul lie?
And curst thy pure blood, and mine, with death?
Hark! hearken thou the Lord God calling "Where art thou?"
Said we are naked, too! O! what a fatal price
For knowledge! to know our shame—to know that now
We're wretched! and have lost, forever lost, our Paradise!

Yes, come to my heart, my erring, yet lov'd Eve!
And with the judgment-smoke, wafting in the sky,
Here let us kneel, and, side by side, receive
The doom for sin, sin living, less and loving, die!

W. H. C.

From the Baltimore American.
The justice of the following remarks on the opinion entertained in Europe of our navy, will be recognized by all Americans who have been, even for a short time, on the Continent. Never in the history of the world did a nation attain, at so little cost of blood, such a position in the estimation of the world as a formidable antagonist, as the United States did by her naval victories in the short war with Great Britain. British supremacy on the ocean, established by repeated triumphs, was the chief source of the despairing envy of her European rivals as well as of her predominance in influence. A nation, therefore, that in frequent trials, showed its ability to resist that supremacy, was hailed in Europe not only with admiration but with a feeling of gratitude. An American abroad is respected as the countryman of Washington and Franklin, as the citizen of a great republic, as a man who acknowledges no superior in a king or a lord; but his chief title to honour and respect is, that he is one of a nation that beat the English at sea. And on none has a deeper impression been made by our naval feats than on our great adversary herself. The national feeling on this point is fully conveyed in an exclamation of an old veteran British tar. He was looking with longing eyes on some cured beef—far better than he had been accustomed to—that had just been landed on a London wharf from an American vessel, and on being told that it was of the same quality as that with which American men of war are stored, he exclaimed, "No wonder they fight so like devils!"
"From the comparisons I have made between our own and the ships of war of other nations, I think we may well be proud of our navy. I had learned in Europe, long before joining the 'United States,' that the respect we exact from foreigners is paid more to America afloat, than to a continent they think as far off at least as the moon. They see our men-of-war, and they know very well what they have done, and from the appearance and character of our officers, they know they might do again—and there is a tangibility in the deductions of knowledge and eyesight, which beats books and statistics. I have heard Englishmen deny, one by one, every claim we have to political and moral superiority, but I have found no one illiberal enough to refuse a compliment, and a handsome one too, to Yankee ships."

DESTRUCTION OF THE ATHENEUM.

In the Patriot of Saturday, we had but a moment's time before going to press, to announce the destruction of this building by fire. The following particulars of this unfortunate event we copy from the American of this morning.
This elegant building, we regret to state, was destroyed by fire on Saturday last. The chimneys and blackened walls are standing, but all within is now a mass of smoking ruins. We have taken no little pains to ascertain how, and precisely in what part of this extensive edifice, the fire originated, but without being able to gain any positive information on these points. When the alarm was first given, about an hour before noon; the fire was seen bursting through the windows of the third story near the western end. A gentleman who was in his office in the second story, immediately beneath, informs us that the first object which met his eyes on hearing the alarm, was the appearance of the fire breaking from the story above, as we have already mentioned. It is evident, therefore, that the fire must have been burning in the third story for some time, to have gained such great headway when discovered. The flames soon rose to the fourth story and afterwards to the roof, and a strong wind from the north-west carried them rapidly to the eastern and southern parts of the edifice. At this period of time the appearance of the conflagration was truly fearful; the destruction of the Athenæum was from the first seen to be inevitable—its lofty walls, the high wind, the intense cold, and the shortness of the supply of water, all combining to render unavailing the efforts which were made to prevent it—but serious apprehensions were felt that the surrounding property might be involved in a common ruin. Large lakes of fire were wasted to the roofs of the adjacent houses, and in two or three cases had actually communicated to the shingles, but they were immediately discovered and extinguished. The dwellings of Wm. J. Ward and Solomon Betts, Esq., immediately south of the Athenæum, and the Masonic Hall, were in imminent danger from this cause, but were happily saved from damage by the watchfulness and activity of the firemen. The dwelling houses on the north side of Lexington st. directly opposite the Athenæum, were preserved in a great measure from the effects of the heat by the force and direction of the wind. Their roofs and fronts were also kept wet by judicious applications of water from the engines stationed in that quarter.
The gradual destruction of the roof and attic of the Athenæum in the same degree circumscribed the action of the flames within its walls, and diminished the danger of spreading. The fire was thus happily confined to the premises in which it originated, but the devastation there was complete. From the roof down to the floors of the basement, the flames have devoured every thing combustible. The offices of the attorneys in the basement and second stories were all cleared of their books, papers and other contents before the fire reached them. Except the damage incident to so hasty a removal, it is believed that the gentlemen of the bar have escaped without loss. In the third and fourth stories, however, the loss has been extensive and heavy. The particulars, as well as we were able to gather them hastily on Saturday, are as follows:
In the fourth story were the rooms occupied by the Maryland Academy of Arts and Sciences. In these were arranged, in costly and elegant cases and fixtures, valuable and interesting cabinets of minerals, shells, insects, birds, and other specimens of Natural History—a collection of fifteen years' formation. There was also a library of costly works, not so valuable for its extent as for its interest and fitness for the purpose for which it is established. Buffon's Natural History, in 100 volumes, was among them. Added to these was an extensive collection of phonological casts, imported from Edinburgh, comprising the heads of several hundred celebrated individuals. We learn that the property of the Academy was insured, but the loss, in many respects, is one which money cannot easily replace.

The Baltimore Lyceum Library was in the third story. We are informed that this institution had recently purchased the collection of books which was formerly known as the Athenæum Library. Here, we believe, there was nothing saved.

On the same floor were the Lecturing Hall and Library of the Maryland Institute, and a valuable philosophical apparatus—nothing of which was saved.

The Young Men's Society also occupied a room or two in the building, and it is said their loss in books is several hundred dollars.

The elegant Musical Saloon, so frequently used on public occasions, was the last of the upper rooms destroyed. The framed work which formed its arched and beautiful ornamented ceiling, added, for a time, new vigor to the flames. The few moveable articles it contained were saved, but there was no time afforded to take down an excellent organ belonging to Mr. R. Shaw, teacher of psalmody, and it was consequently involved in general destruction.—We learn that there is a policy of insurance on the organ for $1000, which does not, however, cover its value.

The severest individual loss we apprehend will fall on Mr. STAVELY, an architect of much merit. Mr. S. had occasion to go out of town on Saturday morning and not returning until two o'clock, found his office, which was on the second story, completely enveloped in the flames. Besides many valuable architectural and engineering instruments, all his drawings and plans were consumed—a loss in which we can the more strongly sympathize from having known their value from personal inspection. The calamity is to him a most serious one, as besides the intrinsic value of his instruments and papers, they constituted nearly the whole of his wealth.

The Athenæum Building is insured in the Equitable Society's office for $20,000 and we hear that there are policies for $10,000 each, in two other offices.

The firemen had a most severe duty to perform at those two conflagrations, in consequence of the intenseness of the cold. They themselves and all their apparatus were enveloped in coats of ice, during the whole of the protracted and arduous period of their praiseworthy exertions. The sentiment of the city is warm and decided in praise of the admirable manner in which they went through their extraordinary labours.

OBITUARY.

Died, in Georgetown, D. C. on the 2d inst. in the 72d year of her age, Mrs. MATILDA RIDGELY, Relict of Judge Henry Ridgely, and eldest daughter of the late Samuel Chase, Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, and one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. R. possessed in an eminent degree, the most estimable virtues that adorn the Christian character: she was endowed with an amiable and cheerful disposition, and a benevolent and pious spirit. Her health had been in a delicate state during the last forty years, and she viewed the progressive decline with entire resignation and cheerful acquiescence, for she knew in whom she trusted. The affliction of her devotedly attached family and relations will be soled by the persuasion that she was fully prepared for the solemn change, and that she is gone to receive the reward reserved for the righteous.

Mrs. R. was a native of this city, where she had many relations and friends who loved her and will cherish her memory.

Died, on Wednesday evening, the 4th inst. at Snow Hill, the residence of Charles Hammond Esq. A. A. county, Mr. EVAN MARRIOTT, in the 27th year of his age.

With an original Introductory Essay to each Author.

THE REV. RICH'D. COTTERMOLE, B. D. AND

THE REV. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

Other countries are so rich as England in Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing the truths of Revelation while her Divines have been distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

The soundness of character thus given to the standard Theology of England has, through a variety of circumstances, been happily prevented from degenerating into the harshness of scholasticism; and thus the whole series of our "Sacred Classics," is a well of truth and consolation, as open to the general reader as to the most learned student.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of the principles of revealed truth, whether in their application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well being of society. Treatises on the Doctrines, Morality, and Evidences of Christianity, which have received the permanent stamp of general approbation; select Sermons of the most eminent Divines; the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography; and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred Poetry, will succeed each other in the order which may be judged most conducive to the benefit and gratification of the reader.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in undertaking "THE SACRED CLASSICS," to present the collection to the public at such a price, that he who purchases at present the cheapest of ephemeral publications, may, for the same in price, possess himself of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his faculties, and under every vicissitude of life.

The work will be handsomely printed in Foolscap 8 vo. on good paper, cold pressed, neatly bound in Morocco Cloth, lettered and published (in Volumes of about 400 pages each) on the first day of every month. Price, Three Shillings and Sixpence: Forming the cheapest series of works ever offered to the public.

PROPOSALS TO REPUBLISH THE LONDON, EDINBURGH, FOREIGN AND WESTMINSTER QUARTERLY REVIEWS, FOR $8 PER ANNUM.

THE above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits.

The well sustained reputation of the LONDON QUARTERLY, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, and the old order of things, but as the witty and most entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific.

The EDINBURGH, celebrated for the vigor, learning and accuracy which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform party.

The FOREIGN QUARTERLY occupies a new ground in Politics, and is devoted to continental literature.

The WESTMINSTER is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Benthamism. It represents the principles of a party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

The numbers will be put to press immediately after they shall be received from Europe; and will contain the entire matter of the above works; making four annual volumes of upwards of six hundred pages.

The price will be $8 per annum, payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $30. Of the three at present republished, two of them alone cost $10.

Any individual procuring four subscribers, and remitting $30 on the receipt of the first Number, will be allowed an additional copy.

Subscription papers to be returned, and all communications to be addressed, post paid, to Theodore Foster, Albany, N. Y.

COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

BEFORE the Select Circulating Library had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magazines, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret.

To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "COMPANION" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.
2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume

every year, of 410 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each.

4. As the work will not be commenced, unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name, sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, as it is intended to commence the work on the first of January next. On the issuing of the second number payment will be expected, as its appearance will evince a sufficiency of patronage.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter upon, the "Library" itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy-eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscribers to the "Companion" will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

PROSPECTUS
Publishing in the City of Baltimore a Weekly Paper under the title of
THE WEEKLY BALTIMORE REPUBLICAN.

The solicitation of several of our friends
in this city, and applications of others
in the different counties of the state, we are concluded on issuing a weekly edition
of our paper, on or before the first of February next, or as much sooner as a sufficient
number of subscribers shall be obtained, to
warrant the undertaking.

It is deemed unnecessary to enter into a long
and detailed account of our political opinions, as they are well known to our friends throughout the state,
and as it is usual to make some pledges on
the occasion of a new publication, we will merely
state, that as we have always been strictly Republican, so shall we continue, in despite
of the machinations of wily politicians who
are exerting every energy to break us down.

As long as the principles of the present Administration continue to receive
the support of the people—the permanency of which we shall continue their trusty sentinel on the watch-tower of freedom, and warn
of every encroachment on their liberty, by ambitious and aspiring demagogues.

We are not disposed to eulogize the conduct of our friends in this prospectus,
but make these few remarks that our friends
know that our principles are unchanged,
and that we shall never desert from
the cause of our country, when the cause of our country calls every man to action.

It is unnecessary to extend a prospectus
of a Newspaper, as every citizen is acquaint-
ed with its utility in diffusing intelligence
all subjects of a local or foreign nature;
the influence placed within their power,
to be exerted over the public mind, if properly conducted, by giving the general spring
these principles upon which our liberal institutions are founded, or in correcting those
negatives thereto, by exposing their objects,
holding up to view the individual who
is disposed, either from a personal distinction or private interest, to sport with the rights of his country, or trifle with the inalienable rights of Freedom.

It will, no doubt, be conceded on all hands,
that the result of the late election in this
state, was owing to a great measure, to the
want of a more general dissemination of information among the people. Our opponents
had every advantage in this respect.—
More than two thirds of the papers in this
state, and in this city, two of them open and
two closed, and two others, while pro-
claiming neutrality, were evidently hostile
to the principles of the Administration, were against us. Still we battled with them,
and if we were not victorious, it was owing
to the want of a more general circulation
of information among the people, than to the
want of energy on our part. With these few remarks, we shall submit our sheet to the test of sense and liberality of the public, hoping that they will see the necessity of encouraging us in our undertaking, as well for the interests of the party generally, as for ourselves.

TERMS.
The WEEKLY REPUBLICAN will be printed
the same size sheet as our daily and coun-
try edition, and will contain most of the reading matter which may appear in those papers
the course of the week. Good paper and
type will be used, and every improvement
in its mechanical arrangement shall be adopted, of which the encouragement we shall receive will admit. It will be issued every Saturday morning, at the low price of Two Dollars per annum, if paid in advance, Two Dollars and Fifty Cents at the expiration of six months, or Three Dollars if not paid till the
end of the year. These terms must be
strictly adhered to.

Editors with whom we exchange in this and
adjacent states, will confer a favour by
sending this prospectus a few gratuitous inser-
tions in their papers; and by sending a copy
containing it, marked, they will thereby enable themselves to a free exchange for one
copy and those friends to whom we send it,
will please procure as many subscribers as
possible, and return their names to this office about the time the publication is to be
commenced.

Post Masters and others, who will exert
themselves in procuring subscribers, and forward the amount of their subscriptions, will be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per cent
on a copy of the paper for one year for their
trouble. They will also forward their names
immediately, in order that we may place them
on our list of Agents. Address, postage
paid.

The foregoing statements exhibit in a strong light the depressed condition of the finances of the State, and cannot fail at a glance to convince every intelligent mind of the improvidence of that course of legislation, which has led to such unwelcome results.

Great as

the interest. Your Committee think it advisable, and will therefore recommend to the House to go one step farther, and carry out in this respect, fully, the views presented by the Treasurer in his annual report at the commencement of the present session, by applying in augmentation of the sinking fund, the whole of the States' special deposits, which it may not be absolutely necessary to reserve for the ordinary purposes of the Treasury during the current year. It is believed a sufficient addition may thus be made to the sinking fund, to provide for the extinguishment, not only of the debt contracted on account of the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road, (which it has been stated will be accomplished by $155,000, in 24 years, compounded at 5 per cent,) but for the absorption of the whole debt for internal improvements, within the period at which it will have become redeemable. The whole authorized debt for those purposes is $1,710,000, and it will all have become redeemable in the course of forty three years—$211,000 now invested in sinking fund, and regularly compounded at five per cent, will in that period, entirely extinguish it. The appropriation of this latter sum, ($211,000) to the sinking fund, will leave of the States' special deposits, subject to be applied to the demands upon the Treasury during the current year, $44,014 78; which it is believed, if it should please the Legislature to provide the other additional means recommended by your committee in the sequel, will be sufficient for that purpose.

The most secure, and indeed, the only investment entirely free from all risk, for the sinking fund, is the States' own stock—but to sustain the estimates above made, the investment must be made in the five per cent stocks at par. That cannot be done immediately, and so serious would be the ultimate effect of any diminution of the amount of that fund now, for premiums on investment—that your committee think it better the fund should be continued on special deposits, if the Bank, in which it now is, shall be willing to retain the same at the present rate of interest, giving to the Treasurer the collateral securities therefore, now held by him, or others equally satisfactory, until investments can be made at par in the States' own stocks. Your committee will, for this purpose, submit a separate resolution, deeming it the imperative duty of the Legislature to regulate as precisely as possible, the disposition of all public moneys, and but justice to the Treasurer to relieve him from the improper weight of responsibility which seems heretofore to have been thrown upon him in relation to these deposits. That estimable public officer, to whom the committee, the Legislature, and the State are alike indebted for the liberal public spirit, signal ability and ceaseless vigilance, with which he watches over and administers the fiscal concerns of the government, is believed to have suffered much deep and anxious, though unnecessary, solicitude, in consequence of the heavy loss sustained by the failure of Bank of Maryland; and it seems due to the occasion, for your committee to remark, that his conduct, both in making the original deposits in that Bank, and subsequently in endeavouring to protect the State from loss, appears to them to have been the dictate of an ever zealous anxiety to advance the public interest. The deposits were safe when placed there, and long afterwards. The Legislature acquiesced in it for two successive sessions, and if blame could attach to any department of the Government, it would be to the Legislature. But your committee believe it to have been one of those misfortunes, against which no human prudence can at all times guard, and for which censure can rightfully attach to none but the managers and conductors of the institution.

The estimated deficiency in the Ways and Means already provided, to meet the authorized demands upon the Treasury during the present year, is $87,000 33—which will be increased, however, should the foregoing recommendations of the committee in relation to the augmentation of the sinking fund be adopted, by a sum equal to the amount of interest to accrue upon the special deposits, from the time of their being transferred to the sinking fund, say $9,000—making the total estimated deficit in the revenues of the current year, $96,000 33. To provide for this, no revenue being expected from the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road before the year 1836, your committee propose to apply in aid of the ordinary means of the Treasury.

The balance of the special deposits in the Union Bank of Maryland, $44,014 78
The avails of debt due the State by Trustees of Bank of Maryland, 12,500 00
First instalment of bonus from the Merchants Bank of Baltimore, to incorporate, which a bill has already been reported, 25,000 00
And to raise by tax upon collateral legacies and inheritances, 15,000 00
$96,514 78

In the year 1836, and thereafter, the Treasury will require, in addition to the existing revenues, to enable it to meet all the demands then to be made upon it in virtue of existing enactments—say, $100,000 00

And this, your committee hope, will be supplied, if the law setting apart the revenues of the Baltimore & Washington Rail Road, is repealed.
1st. By bonus, or tax on passengers upon said road, say 100,000, at 50 per cent, 50,000 00.
2d. By dividends on stock in Baltimore and Washington and Baltimore & Ohio Rail Road, 25,000 00

2d. By second instalment of bonus from the Merchants Bank of Baltimore, (should it be chartered,) 25,000 00
100,000 00

And the estimated avails of tax now recommended upon collateral legacies, (should that measure be adopted,) will be available for accidental or contingent deficiencies to the amount of, say, 15,000 00

Your Committee feeling the necessity of providing by taxation some additional revenue, have, after much consultation and deliberation, determined to recommend a tax of one per cent upon the actual value of all property in the State, which shall hereafter pass by devise, bequest, descent, or in course of distribution to any person other than the widow or lineal descendants of the deceased owner or proprietor. It has been asserted by the most able writers, that there is no foundation in nature, for the right even of the child to succeed to the possessions of a deceased parent; but waiving the discussion of the abstract questions involved in this assertion, your committee will assume, in conformity to the generally received opinions of society, that natural justice does require of the body politic to secure to the offspring of every member of the community, the possession and enjoyment of all the fruits of his skill, industry or economy; and they will add, that even independent of their willing recognition of this principle, they would still be steadfastly opposed, from motives of enlightened policy as well as philanthropy and benevolence, to any law which should contemplate appropriating to the public use the least portion of the possessions of a deceased fellow citizen, who should have left behind him objects of such tender affection and constant solicitude, as a wife, or children—no good reason, however, can be perceived for carrying either these principles or reasons beyond what seems to be their natural and just limits. The rights of all others than the widow or descendants of a deceased person, to succeed to his possessions, is, beyond question, a matter exclusively of civil regulation, and there seems to be a peculiar propriety in requiring of those who are to enjoy large substantial goods, purely by virtue of governmental rules, to contribute some small portion of the goods so to be enjoyed, towards the support of that government. Such a tax, therefore, appears to your committee to be both just and proper, and it has these additional recommendations, that it will press hard upon no peculiar class of the community, abstracts nothing from the earnings or industry of the persons upon whom it may fall, and will always be promptly, and in most cases, willingly paid. Your committee will further beg leave to remark, before they conclude this report, that some provision seems to be necessary to insure the more prompt and regular collection of the tax heretofore authorized for Colonization. The Treasurer, in his last annual report, in speaking of this tax, remarks: "more than $30,000 of it have accrued, and in the course of three years, only $8,809 79 have been received on both shores. In some parts of the state it has never even been levied, and in most of such cases, the failure in that duty may be traced, it is thought, to the want of the responsibility to the legislature, through the Executive, of the subordinate authorities charged with its performance, which the framers of our Constitution had secured."

This is a state of things which ought not to be permitted to exist in any well regulated community, and calls loudly for a corrective. Your committee mean to say nothing as to the policy of the original enactment imposing this tax, or the expediency of continuing it in force, but it appears to them indispensably necessary that means should be promptly adopted for the collection of the arrears now due, and the regular levy, collection, and payment over of their relative portions by the respective counties and cities in future, so long as the law shall remain in force; and for this purpose your committee will take occasion to report a bill. Your committee will also prepare and in due time report a bill to repeal the 9th section of the act of 1832 chapter 175, entitled, a further supplement to the act entitled, an act to promote internal improvement by the construction of a Rail Road from Baltimore to the city of Washington, passed at December session 1830.

A bill to provide for the augmentation of the sinking fund and the gradual extinction of the public debt.

A bill to provide additional revenue by laying a tax on collateral legacies and inheritances, and for other purposes.

Also a resolution in relation to the states special deposits in the Union Bank of Maryland; and another resolution relative to the debt due the state, by the trustees of the Bank of Maryland.

And in further illustration of the views herebefore expressed, your committee have prepared the following detailed Estimate of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year, ending on the 1st of December, 1835.

Receipts and Expenditures.
1st—Receipts.
From income on States productive capital, 45,073 74
From licenses of all kinds, 82,000 00
From fines, forfeitures and amercements, 2,500 00

From public lands and vacant land, 1,500 00
From taxes in Chancery, 500 00
From taxes on Palatine, 4,000 00
From section duties, 30,000 00
From medical professors of the University of Maryland, 1,500 00
From the Directors of the Maryland Penitentiary, 2,397 36
From State Lotteries, 30,000 00

From the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company for interest on advances, 11,975 00
From Andrew McLaughlin, 2,923 50
From State's wharves in Baltimore, 1,000 00
On account of direct tax for 1834 '5 and '6, 500 00
On account of tax for Colonization, 10,000 00
$234,668 00

Showing a deficiency to meet the estimated expenses of the year, of, 87,000 33
To which must be added estimated loss to the current receipts of the Treasury, by proposed transfer of special deposits to sinking fund of, 9,000 00
Total deficit, $96,000 33

But to these estimated receipts the committee desire to add:

1st, balance of special deposits in the Union Bank of Maryland after applying $211,000 thereof in augmentation of the sinking fund, 44,014 78

The avails of debt due the State by Trustees of Bank of Maryland, 12,500 00

First instalment of bonus from the Merchants Bank of Baltimore, 25,000 00

Avails of contemplated tax upon collateral legacies and inheritances, 15,000 00

331,183 38

Deduct therefrom the probable reduction of said receipts in consequence of proposed transfer of special deposits to sinking fund, 9,000 00

322,183 38

And it will appear the ways and means suggested, should they be approved of and adopted by the Legislature, will come within a very trifling sum of providing for all the demands of the current year, say, 85 55
$322,268 93

2d—Expenditures.

Contingent expenses of the State, 3,000 00

Miscellaneous and additional expenses, 15,000 00
$322,268 93

All of which is respectfully submitted;
Wm. D. MERRICK, Chairman.
By order,
Jesse D. Rann, Clerk.

LEGISLATURE OF MARYLAND.

House of Delegates.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 11th, 1835.

Mr. McMahon presented a petition of sundry citizens of Allegany county, counter to the petition of sundry citizens, praying for a rail road from the Coal mines to the river Potomac.

Mr. Gantt presented a petition of sundry citizens of Prince-George's county, praying that Archibald Beall and Ellen Beall, of said county, may be placed on the pension roll of said county.

The committee on claims, to whom was referred an order of the House of Delegates, submitted on the 6th February, instant, instructing them to enquire into the propriety of the state paying the expenses incurred at the special court for the trial of rioters on the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road, beg leave to report; that they have had the same under consideration, and have come to the conclusion, that the state ought not to pay said expenses.

They ask to be discharged from the further consideration of said order.

JOHN BECKETT, Chairman.

Which was read the first and second time by special order.

Mr. Iglehart offered as a substitute for said report, the following:

Whereas, the arrest, imprisonment and trial of the rioters and murderers on the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road, within the limits of Anne-Arundel county, have occasioned a considerable expenditure which it would be manifestly unjust to throw upon the county, which not only had no agency in introducing this body of lawless men among them, but on the contrary, had repeatedly remonstrated with the directors of the company against their employment; and whereas the State of Maryland is one of the largest stockholders in the company which employed them, and in equity bound to defray any expense incurred by their act; Therefore,

Resolved, That the Governor and Council be, and they are hereby authorized to pay out of any unappropriated money in the treasury, all the expenses incurred in the apprehension, imprisonment and trial of the rioters and murderers on the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road, with which Anne-Arundel county may be chargeable.

Which was read.

Mr. Iglehart then moved to lay said report and substitute on the table;

Determined in the negative.

On motion of Mr. Ely, said substitute was amended, by inserting after the word 'Anne-Arundel,' the words 'and Baltimore.'

The question was then put, 'will the house adopt the substitute?'

Determined in the negative.

The question then recurred, and was put on concurring in the report of the committee;

Resolved in the affirmative.

THE SACRED CLASSICS, OR, CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY:

With an original Introductory Essay to each Author.

EDITED BY THE Rev. RICH'D. COTTEMOLE, B. D. AND

THE Rev. HENRY STEBBING, M. A.

NO other country is so rich as England in Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing the truths of Revelation while her Divines have been distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

The soundness of character thus given to the standard Theology of England has, thro' a variety of circumstances, been happily prevented from degenerating into the harshness of scholasticism; and thus the whole series of our "Sacred Classics," is a well of truth and consolation, as open to the general reader as to the most learned student.

It is intended to comprise in this collection, the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of the principles of revealed truth, whether in their application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well being of society. Treatises on the Doctrines, Morality, and Evidences of Christianity, which have received the permanent stamp of general approbation; select Sermons of the most eminent Divines; the most interesting specimens of Religious Biography; and the choicest examples of Devotional and Sacred Poetry, will succeed each other in the order which may be judged most conducive to the benefit and gratification of the reader.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in undertaking "THE SACRED CLASSICS," to present the collection to the public at such a price, that he who purchases at present the cheapest of ephemeral publications, may, for the same money, possess himself of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his faculties, and under every vicissitude of life.

The work will be handsomely printed in Fools cap 8 vo. on good paper, cold-pressed, neatly bound in Morocco Cloth, lettered, and published (in Volumes of about 400 pages each) on the first day of every month. PROPOSALS TO REPUBLISH THE LONDON, EDINBURGH, FOREIGN AND WESTMINSTER QUARTERLY REVIEWS, FOR $8 PER ANNUM.

THE above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits.

The well sustained reputation of the LONDON QUARTERLY, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, but also the order of things, but as the wit and most entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific.

The EDINBURGH, celebrated for the vigor, learning and acuteness which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform party.

The FOREIGN QUARTERLY occupies a neutral ground in Politics, and is devoted to continental literature.

The WESTMINSTER is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Benthamism. It represents the principles of a party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

The numbers will be put to press immediately after they shall be received from Europe; and will contain the entire matter of the above works; making four annual volumes of upwards of six hundred pages.

They will be executed in as good style, and be printed in a shape but little differing from that of the European editions.

The price will be $8 per annum, payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $50. Of the three at present republished, two of them alone cost $10.

Any individual procuring four subscribers, and remitting $30 on the receipt of the first Number, will be allowed an additional copy.

Subscription papers to be returned, and all communications to be addressed, post paid, to Theodore Foster, Albany, N. Y.

COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

BEFORE the Select Circulating Library had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magazintaria, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "COMPANION" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume

every year, of 416 quarto pages of the new

price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs of three or more will be applied at two dollars each.

3. As the work will not be commenced, unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name, sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, so it is intended to commence the work on the first of January next. On the issuing of the second number payment will be expected, as its appearance will evince a sufficiency of patronage.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter upon, the "Library" itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy-eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscriptions to the "Companion," will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

PROSPECTUS
Publishing in the City of Baltimore a
WEEKLY BALTIMORE REPUBLICAN.

The solicitation of several of our friends
in this city, and applications of others
from the different counties of the state, we
have concluded on issuing a weekly edition
of our paper, on or before the first of February next, or as much sooner as a sufficient
number of subscribers shall be obtained, to
warrant the undertaking.

It is deemed unnecessary to enter into a long
and tedious discussion of the merits of the different political opinions, as they are well
known to our friends throughout the state;
and it is usual to make some pledges of support to the friends of the new publication, we will
state, that as we have always been strictly Republican, so shall we continue, in despite
of the machinations of wily politicians who
have exerted every energy to break us down;

and so long as the principles of the present
Administration continue to receive
the support of the people—the yeomanry of
the land, we shall continue their trusty sentinel on the watch-tower of freedom, and warn
them of every encroachment on their liberty, by ambitious and aspiring demagogues.

We are not disposed to eulogize the characters or conduct of men in this prospectus,
but make these few remarks that our friends
may know that our principles are unchangeable,
and that we shall never desert them in
the time of need—when the cause of our country calls every man to action.

It is unnecessary to extend a prospectus
of a Newspaper, as every citizen is acquaint-
ed with its utility in diffusing intelligence
among all subjects of a local or foreign nature;
and the influence placed within their power,
to be exerted over the public mind, if properly conducted, by giving the general principles, upon which our liberal institutions are founded, or in correcting those
regrettable errors, by exposing their objects,
and holding up to view the individual who
may be disposed, either from a personal distinction or private interest, to sport with the
rights of his country, or trifle with the in-
alienable rights of FREEDOM.

It will, no doubt, be conceded on all hands,
that the result of the late election in this
state, was owing in a great measure, to the
want of a more general dissemination of information among the people. Our opponents
have had every advantage in this respect—
more than two thirds of the papers in this
state and in this city, two of them open and pious enemies, and two others, while pro-
claiming neutrality, were evidently hostile to
the principles of the Administration, were arranged against us. Still we battled with them
all, and if we were not victorious, it was owing to the want of a more general circulation of information among the people, than to the want of energy on our part. With these few
remarks, we shall submit our sheet to the
sense and liberality of the public, hoping that they will see the necessity of encouraging us in our undertaking, as well for the interests of the party generally, as for ourselves.

TERMS.
The WEEKLY REPUBLICAN will be printed
in the same size sheet as our daily and country edition, and will contain most of the reading matter which may appear in those papers
in the course of the week. Good paper and fair type will be used, and every improvement
in its mechanical arrangement shall be adopt-
ed of which the encouragement we shall receive will admit. It will be issued every Saturday morning, at the low price of Two Dollars per annum, if paid in advance, Two Dollars and Fifty Cents at the expiration of six months, or Three Dollars if not paid till the
end of the year. These terms must be
strictly adhered to.

Editors with whom we exchange if this and the adjacent states, will confer a favour by sending us a prospectus a few gratuitous inser-
tions in their papers; and by sending a copy
containing the marked, they will thereby enable themselves to a free exchange for one
year, and those friends to whom we send it,
will please procure as many subscribers as
possible, and return their names to this office about the time the publication is to be
commenced.

Post Masters and others, who will exert
themselves in procuring subscribers, and forward the amount of their subscriptions, will
be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per cent
and a copy of the paper for one year for their
trouble. They will also forward their names
immediately, in order that we may place them
among our list of Agents. Address, postage
paid.

LEGISLATURE OF MARYLAND.

House of Delegates.

SATURDAY, Feb. 14, 1836.

The Speaker announced the following message as having been received from the senate on yesterday, by the clerk thereof.

The bill, for the relief of Otho Savoy,—also,
The supplement to an act, passed December
session 1832, chap. 118—Also,

The supplement to an act to lay out and open
a road in Cecil county, passed at December session 1832, severally endorsed, 'will pass,' ordered to be engrossed.

Also, the resolution in favour of James Tannehill, endorsed 'disseated from.'

And delivered a bill, originated in and passed by the senate, entitled, an act to authorise the recording of certain deeds of manumission.

Also, a bill, to make valid the proceedings
therein mentioned.

And the following message:

Gentlemen of the House of Delegates:

We have received your message proposing
the appointment of a joint committee, to proceed immediately to the State of Delaware, and urge upon the Legislature of that State, the adoption of some measure for the relief of our citizens
from the onerous exactions and serious inconveniences experienced by them in trading
through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal,
and have carefully considered the same.

Whilst we entirely concur in sentiment as to the grievances complained of, and the absolute necessity of some decisive and efficient measures, to protect our citizens from the oppressions and exactions to which they are subjected by the provisions of the laws of Delaware in the conflict between the Canal and its creditors.

It is to the nature of the remedy and the means to be applied for correcting the evil, that the difference of opinion exists. It is believed that it is from some countervailing legislation on our own part that redress is to be obtained. The enquiry as to the nature of those measures we propose to entrust to an appropriate committee,
so that they may after due examination present
some specific remedy. With this view of the question we are unable to discern any beneficial results that would accrue from authorizing
a deputation to repair to Delaware, for the purpose of personally urging upon the attention of the Legislature of that State, some corrective of the evil complained of, and therefore, respectfully decline acceding to the proposition contained in your message.

By order,

J. H. Nicholson, Clerk

Which was read.

the unfinished business of yesterday, being the bill, entitled, an act to incorporate the Merchants Bank of Baltimore.

Mr. Merrick called for the previous question, which being demanded by a majority of the members present, the said previous question was put—viz: shall the main question be now put;
and it was Resolved in the affirmative.

The question was then put, 'shall the said bill
pass?'

PROSPECTUS.
2 THE Subscriber proposes to publish, in Upper Marlboro', Prince George's county, Maryland, a weekly journal, to be called
THE BULLETIN.

In undertaking to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has the fortune to reside, his hope of ultimate success finds not its origin in sanguineness of temperament, but proceeds from the eminent advantages of its location. Published in the metropolis of a large and wealthy county, situated equi-distant from the State and National capitals, facilities of an early communication of whatever may interest its patrons, are particularly afforded to the Editor; and though he may not hope to present to his friends much foreign information through the medium of his columns, not derivable from other journals, it is still certain that intelligence of a local nature, interesting to all, and important to many, and otherwise unattainable, will by this means be communicated. It will also offer to those whose means are inadequate to the expense of the larger journals, at least a synoptical view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in its columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the plan of every publication which is to find its success in popular support, must first be exposed before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his design, with the full knowledge that it will constitute an ordeal, by which, to determine both its merit and the fidelity of its prosecution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wishes of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows them to be intelligent and inquiring.—The Literary department, shall, therefore, be assiduously regarded, and the most approved domestic and foreign periodicals resorted to for belles lettres notices. He knows them to be patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. To gratify this sentiment to the extent of his ability, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calculated to interest them. No man, with the faculty of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevailing in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present Administration. But having neither the temper nor the motive of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by frankness of argument, not violence or abuse—and as it never has been his practice, so shall it never become his habit to deal in political invective or party virulence. He will cheerfully lend the aid of his columns to communications from all parties—reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal allusion or indecorous language. In addition to the advantages of appropriate political and literary selections, he trusts also to tempt into exercise whatever of native talent may surround him, and with such aids he may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks not the patronage of his friends longer than his efforts merit and repay it, as he wishes not to owe that favour to personal feeling, which would be denied to his editorial labors.

The BULLETIN will be published on Thursday in each week. Terms of subscription $3 per annum.
