

THE ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTH COMMENCEMENT

FROSTBURG STATE UNIVERSITY

*Saturday, the Thirteenth of May Nineteen Hundred Ninety-Five
Physical Education Center
Frostburg, Maryland*

THE UNIVERSITY

From an opening day enrollment of 57 students, Frostburg State University has grown to a present day enrollment of 5,443 students. Its physical plant, once limited to a single building, Old Main, which housed classrooms, a library, a gymnasium-auditorium, and a modern chemical laboratory, has also grown to over 30 facilities including classroom buildings, residence halls, the Lewis J. Ort Library, the Physical Education Center, the Lane Center, and the Performing Arts Center, situated on 255 beautiful acres.

Opened in 1902 as State Normal School No. 2, the University owes its existence to the tenacity of J. Benson Oder, editor of the Frostburg Mining Journal, and the citizens of Frostburg who, in spite of political barriers, raised funds and purchased the site on which the University is located.

Principal Edmund Dandridge Murdaugh and three faculty instructed the first Normal School class; in addition, the other faculty taught 151 children in the Model School. The Normal School students, who were high school students having to meet no requirements other than age (girls, 16; boys, 17), had but one two-year course of study elementary education. The curriculum consisted of Latin, mathematics, history, rhetoric and literature, natural and physical sciences, drawing, music, calisthenics, psychology, philosophy of education, philosophy of school management, Pedagogy, Observation, Practice Work, and Primary Manual Training.

Over the years, the name of the institution has reflected the changes in the scope of its educational mission. In 1934, The State Normal School No. 2 became the State Teachers College at Frostburg, a four-year college which offered a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education. In 1963, the name became Frostburg State College, and finally in 1987, with the strong support of the local civic and business community, became Frostburg State University, an indication of its growing resources, diversity and excellence in educational opportunities for the region and the State.

In 1988, FSU became a constituent institution of the University of Maryland System, comprising 11 of the State's 13 public institutions. Expanding to meet the educational needs of the region, the FSU Center in Hagerstown was also established in 1988 to offer upper-level bachelor's degree coursework and graduate programs. The University also opened, in 1990, a permanent location for the Frederick MBA program.

Throughout its growth, the University has emphasized excellence in teaching. Nearly 72% of the full-time faculty hold Ph.D.'s or terminal degrees from institutions that are among the most prestigious in the nation. Faculty scholarship has led to scholarly books, manuals and journals, as well as numerous articles and reviews. Faculty have read or presented papers, exhibited works, or performed for hundreds of regional and national organizations. Members of the faculty have also received significant grants and awards from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the National Endowment for the Arts and other national associations, councils and trusts.

At the same time, the University has developed a comparable excellence in academic programs, research, consulting, cultural and athletic events and a well-maintained physical plant. Specifically, in 1990, Time Magazine's Money Guide ranked FSU as the 15th best educational value among public institutions in the U.S., and in recent years the campus received a superior rating, the highest state award given for facilities and maintenance.

Today, the University's mission and services have expanded significantly. Over 413 full-time administrators and support staff, and 244 full-time faculty serve the educational needs of the students who represent every county in Maryland as well as 25 other states and the District of Columbia and 20 other countries. These students have a choice of 34 programs of study leading to the Bachelor of Art, Bachelor of Science, and Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees as well as graduate degrees in applied ecology and conservation biology, business administration, counseling psychology, education, fisheries management, human performance, modern humanities, and wildlife management. In addition, twelve pre-professional programs are offered.

Frostburg State University continues in its pursuit of excellence as we look forward to celebrating our 100th anniversary. It's a tradition of excellence and commitment, which spans nearly a century, that is FSU's legacy - as well as its future.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia is a visible reminder that the process of intellectual pursuits has historic and honorable antecedents. The dignity of scholarship in the past remains vital in the present.

Academic costume consists of gowns, hoods and caps. Traditionally made from black silk, gowns increasingly are the color of the institution granting the degree. The bachelor's gown falls in straight lines and has long pointed sleeves, while the sleeves for the master's gown are closed with slits for the arms at the wrist. The doctor's gown has a velvet facing and three velvet bars on bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet is either black or of the color stipulated for the degree held.

The colorful hoods designate the degree of the wearer, the subject in which the degree is held, and the institution which awarded the degree. The colors of the velvet bands on each hood and robe represent the scholar's field of learning while the official colors of the school awarding the degree are always shown in the lining of the hood. Frostburg State University's colors are red, black and white.

The black mortarboard type of cap is most commonly worn and it is usually made of the same material as the gown. Doctor's caps may be made of velvet and may have tassels of gold or in the color of the wearer's degree. Tassels of different colors are also used to indicate academic honors.

The colors for academic fields established by the American Council on Education include:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White

THE MACE

In the Middle Ages, the mace was a weapon used against armored warriors. It evolved through the years into an ornamental staff which served as a symbol of the authority of the ruler. Colleges and universities have adopted the mace as a decorative staff or baton which is carried by the grand marshal of the institution in all formal academic processions. The mace is also displayed at other significant events.

The Frostburg State University mace was crafted from mountain walnut which was milled in nearby Flintstone, Maryland in 1945. The grain pattern of the quarter-sawn wood was enhanced by laminating side sections to a central shaft which was then turned, point-to-point, on a wood lathe. To obtain a high-gloss finish, ten coats of trewax were applied while mace was turned at high speed on the lathe. The fine detail work around the medallions and the final coating of wax were done by hand.

The design of the Frostburg State University mace is based upon the recorder, a woodwind musical instrument. Two die-struck replicas of the University seal are affixed to the top.

The mace was designed and crafted in 1986 by Dustin Davis of the Frostburg State University Department of Visual Arts.

THE MEDALLION

The Frostburg State University medallion is a replica of the seal of the University and is worn by the President at all formal academic convocations as a symbol of leadership and responsibility vested in that office.

The Presidential medallion is die-struck metal with a highly polished gold finish. The design depicts a torch and shield encircled by the name Frostburg State University, and its location, Frostburg, Maryland. The torch symbolizes the enlightenment of higher education, while banners on each side proclaim the dual mission of the University: Leadership and Scholarship. Appearing on the shield are mountains which represent not only the location of the University, but timelessness and endurance; a bobcat, the mascot of FSU, representing strength and courage; an open book and a candle representing learning; and the founding date of the University, 1898.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

MARK D. ASHBY

Mark Ashby who graduates today with a degree in Mass Communications is already using the skills he learned in his FSU classes. Since Fall of 1992, Mark has reviewed records for Beyond the Horizon, an international electronic music publication and served as a staff writer for several FSU campus publications such as Profile, Outreach and The Bottom Line. He has been managing editor of a bi-monthly newsletter for Filsinger Games, a company specializing in reality simulation games. In the performing arts, Mark appeared in productions for Stage Left Theatre in Cumberland and Frostburg Community Theatre and has copyrighted musical compositions which have been favorably reviewed.

On top of all this, Mark is an outstanding scholar. He recently won undergraduate departmental honors in Mass Communication and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the Freshman Honor Society. He volunteers as a big brother for "Big Brothers/Big Sisters" and his 15-minute video on the organization is currently being used for promotional purposes and viewing by prospective volunteers.

As a native of Frostburg, Mark is proud of the institution he will call his alma mater. "Not only have I been part of the University for four years, I also have been a member of the Frostburg community my whole life," he says. "As I have grown, I have watched Frostburg State grow and change along with me. The town and the University will always be the place I call home."

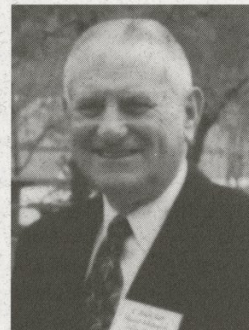

OLIVER RALPH ROTH

When alumni speaker Oliver Ralph Roth graduated from Frostburg State in 1942, he embarked on an educational venture which has taken him to positions as both a radiologist and a professor. He accredits FSU with helping him on his journey. "Besides providing the scientific foundation for a professional career in medicine, my FSU education enabled me to pursue an academic career after retirement from active practice."

That strong foundation helped Roth during his pursuit of a medical degree from University of Maryland, Baltimore and his residence in radiology at The Johns Hopkins University Hospital. After his residency he was hired as director of the Department of Radiotherapy and Oncology at Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, NC. Moving to Ashland, KY, Roth worked for 20 years at Kings Daughters Hospital. From there, Roth held faculty positions at Shawnee State University in Ohio and Marshall University School of Medicine in Huntington, WV. While teaching, he still practiced radiology at Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital in Ashland and currently, in his semi-retirement, he works with the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Huntington.

Among his many awards, Roth received an honorary Doctoral of Science degree from FSU and the Alumni Achievement Award in 1994. He also received the FSU departmental Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1979 for contributions to nuclear medicine and Marshall University School of Medicine's Outstanding Clinical Teacher of the Year Award for the past three years.

DUSTY L. TWYMAN

Dusty Twyman is clearly a student with a vision. Having returned to academia after an eight year absence, Dusty gave up a successful job as a court reporter and set her sights on becoming an attorney. This student speaker welcomed the challenge.

"I returned to college at age 26, all I had was the very real interest in becoming a lawyer. I am now completing the first step in the most challenging and fulfilling adventure of my life," she says.

Dusty's life at FSU has been quite eventful. While maintaining outstanding averages in her double major of Political Science and Justice Studies and Philosophy and Sociology minors, Dusty has been instrumental in coordinating several groups on campus. As a member of the National Coalition Building Institute (NCBI), she worked to create a campus environment characterized by the celebration of diversity and promotion of social justice. She also assisted in reviving the 25+ Network organization which gives support for non-traditional students and served as an active senator for non-traditional students in the Student Government Association.

Dusty's determination and hard work has paid off and she plans to attend Emory University School of Law in Atlanta. "To date, pursuing a college education has been the most rewarding experience of my life."

DR. CATHERINE GIRA

Dr. Catherine R. Gira became the President of Frostburg State University on September 1, 1991. Prior to that, she served for nine years as Provost at the University of Baltimore. She also previously held the positions of Professor of English and Acting Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at that institution. Dr. Gira has held leadership positions in numerous national and state professional associations including the American Association of University Administrators (President, 1988-90); Federation of State Humanities Councils (Vice-Chair, 1993-94; National Secretary, 1991-93; and member of the Board of Directors, 1991-present); Commission on Higher Education, Middle State Association (1994-present); American Council on Education Leadership Commission (1994-present); Maryland Humanities Council (Chair, 1989-91); Maryland Association of Higher Education (President, 1986-87). She sits on several boards, including those of the Alvin Ailey Dance Foundation of Maryland, Rocky Gap Foundation, the Western Maryland Railfest, Regional Education Service Agency, and the National Defense Intelligence College. Dr. Gira earned a B.S. from California State College (PA), an M.Ed. and a Master's in Liberal Arts from The Johns Hopkins University, and a Ph.D. in Literature from The American University. She has published numerous articles on Shakespeare, Renaissance art and literature, and issues in higher education. She has recently completed a bibliographic and critical study of Shakespeare's Henry IV, from Garland Publishing Company.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

At this Commencement, degrees are conferred upon persons who completed requirements in January and May, 1995. As final action cannot always be taken by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The diploma of the University, signed and sealed by its proper officers, remains the official testimony to the possession of a degree. The designation of honors is based on the grade point average at the end of the fall semester. The final grade point average will determine honor ranking.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

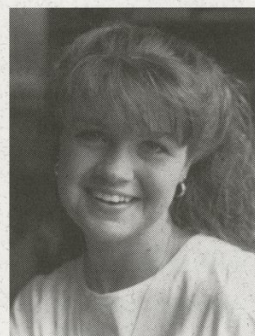

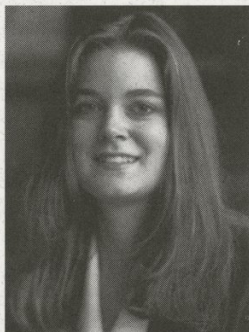

KIMBERLY A. SAULSBURY

According to Kimberly Saulsbury's instructors, she has the motivation, personality and logical thinking ability it takes to succeed in her chosen field of international business and economics.

The student speaker from Salisbury, Maryland, recently received recognition from the Department of International Studies at the annual Honors Convocation for her accomplishments at FSU. Over the past years, Kim studied in Ireland for a semester and interned at the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Economics and Business where she worked on developmental economic issues and witnessed trade relations with Japan and the Middle East. "The internship allowed me to complement my classroom economic knowledge with valuable practical experience," she notes.

On campus, Kim served as president of the National Business Honor Society, secretary of the International Economic Honor Society and student representative for a faculty search committee. Her total FSU experience has inspired Kim to one day find employment as an economics teacher at the university level. First, she plans to work in the business world and has already secured a position at Abt Associates, a research based consulting firm located in Bethesda.

"I want to work in the business community for several years, so that, as a professor, I can bring to the classroom first-hand knowledge and experience."

HOLLY C. SCHNELL

The word "outstanding" is constantly cited when discussing the qualifications of student speaker Holly Schnell. Professors deem her an "outstanding" Elementary/Middle School major. She was rated "outstanding" by classroom teachers in all of her field experiences and the Department of Educational Professions recently recognized her for "outstanding" accomplishments. Holly's love of teaching has motivated her throughout the years to become such a noteworthy individual.

"I have a true desire to teach," she says. "This desire began in the second grade and has grown considerably with each passing year. I have come to learn that an effective teacher makes learning meaningful and fun. And I plan to be an effective teacher."

During her years at FSU, Holly was effective in many organizations. The resident of Fallston, MD, worked as a peer tutor and camp counselor/math tutor with the campus Upward Bound program. She served as vice president of the Student Education Association and campus tour guide for visiting students and parents. In her evenings, she would work for the FSU Admissions Office and call prospective students to answer questions regarding the University. Her other campus activities included band, drum major and Geography club.

OLIVER RALPH ROTH

When alumni speaker Oliver Ralph Roth graduated from Frostburg State in 1942, he embarked on an educational venture which has taken him to positions as both a radiologist and a professor. He accredits FSU with helping him on his journey. "Besides providing the scientific foundation for a professional career in medicine, my FSU education enabled me to pursue an academic career after retirement from active practice."

That strong foundation helped Roth during his pursuit of a medical degree from University of Maryland, Baltimore and his residence in radiology at The Johns Hopkins University Hospital. After his residency he was hired as director of the Department of Radiotherapy and Oncology at Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, NC. Moving to Ashland, KY, Roth worked for 20 years at Kings Daughters Hospital. From there, Roth held faculty positions at Shawnee State University in Ohio and Marshall University School of Medicine in Huntington, WV. While teaching, he still practiced radiology at Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital in Ashland and currently, in his semi-retirement, he works with the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Huntington.

Among his many awards, Roth received an honorary Doctoral of Science degree from FSU and the Alumni Achievement Award in 1994. He also received the FSU departmental Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1979 for contributions to nuclear medicine and Marshall University School of Medicine's Outstanding Clinical Teacher of the Year Award for the past three years.

DR. CATHERINE GIRA

Dr. Catherine R. Gira became the President of Frostburg State University on September 1, 1991. Prior to that, she served for nine years as Provost at the University of Baltimore. She also previously held the positions of Professor of English and Acting Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at that institution. Dr. Gira has held leadership positions in numerous national and state professional associations including the American Association of University Administrators (President, 1988-90); Federation of State Humanities Councils (Vice-Chair, 1993-94; National Secretary, 1991-93; and member of the Board of Directors, 1991-present); Commission on Higher Education, Middle State Association (1994-present); American Council on Education Leadership Commission (1994-present); Maryland Humanities Council (Chair, 1989-91); Maryland Association of Higher Education (President, 1986-87). She sits on several boards, including those of the Alvin Ailey Dance Foundation of Maryland, Rocky Gap Foundation, the Western Maryland Railfest, Regional Education Service Agency, and the National Defense Intelligence College. Dr. Gira earned a B.S. from California State College (PA), an M.Ed. and a Master's in Liberal Arts from The Johns Hopkins University, and a Ph.D. in Literature from The American University. She has published numerous articles on Shakespeare, Renaissance art and literature, and issues in higher education. She has recently completed a bibliographic and critical study of Shakespeare's Henry IV, from Garland Publishing Company.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

At this Commencement, degrees are conferred upon persons who completed requirements in January and May, 1995. As final action cannot always be taken by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The diploma of the University, signed and sealed by its proper officers, remains the official testimony to the possession of a degree. The designation of honors is based on the grade point average at the end of the fall semester. The final grade point average will determine honor ranking.

Text by Richard Trask / Music by Jacob Opper

The musical score is written on a single staff in 4/4 time, featuring a key signature of three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat). The melody is composed of eighth and quarter notes, with some measures containing rests. The lyrics are printed below the staff, aligned with the notes. The piece concludes with a double bar line.
