ART ENTERTAINMENT

To Be Given At Ulman's Opera House April 7 To Benefit Home For The Aged.

On Tuesday evening, April 7th, there will be given at Ulman's Opera House, under the auspices of the Board of Lady Managers of the Home for the Aged, a lecture on "Art, Its Development and Appreciation," by Miss Lulu Merrick, of New York City. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be added to the building fund of the Home.

Miss Merrick, who is a well known member of the Editorial Staff of the American Art News, acknowledged to be the best periodical on art published in this country, has been for many years a student and lecturer of Art. She illustrated her talk with thirty seven stereoscopic slides, reproductions from the best works of the world's greatest masters.

Beginning with the famous Venus de Milo of 3000 years ago, which was discovered in 1820 during the excavation of ancient Milos, these slides will be used to show the development of art to the present day. Miss Merrick has toured for several years through this country delivering art talks, receiving always the most favorable comments.

Owing to the fact that this entertainment is receiving almost the unanimous support of both church and social circles while the active members of the Ladies Board of the Home have undertaken the personal solicitation of the tickets it is expected that a large and representative audience will be attracted to the Opera House.

There is to be an exceptionally fine musical program prepared to lengthen the evening's entertainment.

The price of admission will be 50 cents except in the gallery, where school children will be admitted for 15 cents.

Among the patrons are Revs. Martindale, Howard and Beale, Judge Holland, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gunby, Mr. Walter B. Miller, Mrs. E. S. Towdine, Mrs. L. D. Collier, Mrs. Wm. M. Cooper, Mrs. W. J. Downing, Mrs. W. F. Presgrave, Miss Irma Graham.

JUDICIAL SITUATION.

Surprise and Indignation Freely Expressed Over Judge Lloyd's Name Being On Retired List.

The bill to retire certain of the Judges of Maryland on the grounds of being physically disqualified for the duties of the office caused comparatively little commotion in legal and political circles here until word was received that the Hon. Henry Lloyd as well as Judge Page was included in the list. How and when his name got in the bill seems to be a mystery, and that it was added at the last moment without giving him any notice of the fact has caused much indignation and condemnation on all sides. It has further complicated the situation as to the appointment of the judges.

It has generally been supposed that Mr. Robley D. Jones, of Worcester, would be a candidate for one of the Judgeships, and Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, of Somerset is also accredited with judicial ambitions. As the last legislature passed a bill increasing the salaries of the Chief Judges, Mr. Jones and Mr. Stanford will not be eligible for this position since the constitution forbids the election or appointment of any member of the legislature holding an office the salary of which was increased during his term. This would seem to force the selection of a man to succeed Judge Page outside of the members of the present legislature. In connection with the Chief Judgeship Hon. Joshua W. Miles of Somerset has been mentioned, but it is not believed that he desires or would have the place.

Mr. W. C. Ward, of the Dorchester Bar has also been mentioned as possible candidates. As the law does not prohibit the Chief Judge and an associate judge coming from the same county, it has been suggested that the chief judge could well be selected from Worcester County. In connection with this it has been pointed out by Mr. Jas. E. Ellsgood's friends that a better appointment could not be made than that of him, since his acknowledged ability would guarantee no mistake had been made, and it would further leave the field open to a fair fight between the aspirants for the place in 1909 as owing to his age he would not be a candidate to succeed himself. It is generally acknowledged that the appointment of any one who will likely be a candidate to succeed himself will give a prestige, which will more than likely assure him of the nomination at the expiration of the present term. Hon. E. Stanley Towdine, of this County has been spoken of and his many friends would like to see him get the appointment, if he wants it. In connection with the appointments the Baltimore sun in its issue of April 2d published the following news item:

"Before May 1 Governor Crothers will be called upon to make five judicial appointments, two of which will be to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city. One of the new judges will be a member of the Court of Appeals, while the remaining two will be associate judges on the different circuits."

The vacancies are caused by retirement and death. The Legislature passed a bill retiring Chief Judge Page, of the First Judicial circuit, and Associate Judge Lloyd, of the same circuit, and Judges Dennis and Phelps, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city. The other vacancy was caused by the death of Judge Revell, of the Fifth Judicial circuit.

Already there are numerous applicants for the places and from present indications the Governor will have an abundance of able men from which to make his selection. From an authoritative source it is learned that Mr. Laird Henry, at present Land Commissioner, will be appointed chief judge of the First circuit. Mr. Henry was appointed Land Commissioner by Governor Crothers, and it is said that he is one of the ablest lawyers on the Eastern Shore.

The friends of Mr. Robley D. Jones who was a member of the House of Delegates from Worcester county, are urging his appointment as associate judge, to succeed Judge Lloyd. The name of Mr. Harry L. D. Stanford, who was also a member of the House is being mentioned in connection with the appointment.

In event of the appointment of Mr. Henry it is believed that Mr. Edward Towdine will be appointed Land Commissioner. Mr. Towdine held the position for a number of years, and it is said that Governor Crothers would like to have him succeed him, but that Mr. Henry and his friends had the first claim for recognition.

It is understood that the position of Chief Judge would be tendered to Judge Holland, if he would consent to serve, but it is believed that he does not care for it, preferring to fill out his remaining time in his present position as Associate Judge.

THRONGS OF VISITORS

Came To The Spring Millinery Openings For Many Miles Around—Some Exhibitions.

R. E. Powell & Co's.

The trend of the trade has been toward Salisbury's millinery openings this week. From afar and near the fair beholders have gathered to view and purchase many fashionable patterns have been displayed.

Great throngs of people visited the large double store of R. E. Powell & Co. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, the special event being their Spring Opening of Millinery, Dress Goods, etc.

The store was attired in gala array, and the effect was very pleasing. The millinery parlor was converted into a grape arbor with the foliage, flowers and grapes and small electric light globes were distributed through making an extremely pretty sight.

The color effect of the Millinery parlors were the shades of Coral and Copenhagen Blue.

The Millinery window was a lattice with various colored flowers twined through, and that with the prettily trimmed hats made a sight that was specially attractive to the fair sex.

In one of the other large windows Dress Goods and trimmings were displayed, the colors used being Copenhagen blue and the new shades of tan. The window containing the display of Dorothy Dodd oxford caused a great deal of favorable comment, all the new shapes in Russett, Gun Metal and Ideal Kids being shown.

Some of the hats created special comment were: A French blue sailor of the Merry Widow design trimmed in pastel shades of large roses, foliage with pastel buds forming a crown trimming. A large French hat of Reims lace high crown backed with lilacs of the valley and high front trimming of lilacs of the valley and orchids. A large burnt flat, French crown imported band of straw color transparent linen with delicate color of French blue, high front trimming of plumes of delicate blue and pink.

Lowenthal's.

All the beautiful shades of millinery were displayed. In the different models; cerise and Copenhagen color seem to lead.

An exquisite black net hat had a large Empire crown, with the cerise fluted ribbon and backed with large roses and foliage with two sweeping black plumes.

Another attractive hat was of Copenhagen blue, the crown surrounded with varied shades of blue flowers, with large sweeping alicettes and wings from the side. Many other beautiful models were displayed.

The Merry Widow Salior, backed high with flowers and the Mary Garden hat with its sweeping flowers and foliage taking the lead.

The store and window decorations were in the leading colors, and fabrics of hue and wear were exhibited.

Mrs. Taylor's.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor exhibited a great many trimmed hats, showing all the new designing, new colors and new shapes. One window was decorated in black net hats, with sequin collars; Amazon plumes, with a touch of the new color, "cerise."

Another window contained French importations of Leghorn, Baby Irish Flower colored hats, Lilac, rose and Hydrangea, and all the new large dotted veils also a beautiful selection of high class tailored hats.

Kennedy-Shockley Co's.

[[Kennedy-Shockley Co's. store was very beautifully decorated, the color used being green, pink, white and purple. In the dress goods department were many new weaves and shades of cloths, Rajah and Suesine silks and cottons. The leading materials and veils in the new shades, Copenhagen blue, onion brown, light blue and tan.

Letter To W. P. Jackson.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: Todd & Downing, contractors and builders, Morgan City, La., have painted Devco for three or four years. They say it takes less gallons Devco than of any other paint they have used. That means that a job costs less with Devco; not only for paint, for labor as well.

They have said nothing about the comparative wear of Devco and others; overnight, may be; perhaps too soon for that. But Devco is the strongest paint; that's why least gallons; best wear, same reason. Least cost and longest time between jobs.

Yours Truly

MARYLAND ANNUAL Conference Now In Session At Snow Hill. President's Report. Important Resolution.

The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, which began its sessions at Snow Hill Wednesday morning in Bates Memorial Church, passed a resolution which will be sent to Governor Crothers opposing the designation of James A. Dawkins and Edgar N. Ash, both members of the last legislature, as police magistrates for Baltimore city. Rev. F. T. Tagg, editor of the Methodist Protestant, sprang the resolution so suddenly on the body of ministers and laymen that some warm discussions on the subject were precipitated.

Dr. Tagg stated that as these two men had been the chief actors in the defeat of the Local Option Bill, they had not thereby measured up to the moral standard required for police magistrates. Revs. T. O. Crouse, J. T. Lassell and J. T. Maloy, the latter a chaplain of the last House of Delegates, took issue with Dr. Tagg. They said that the resolutions were too strong, and urged upon the Conference to go slow in the matter. Dr. Tagg said, however, that he knew what he was talking about, and gave as his authority, Robley Jones, of Snow Hill, who was a member of the House from Worcester county, and who performed such efficient work on the local option measure for his country. After some short debates, the resolution was made to read "that by their attitude on the local option question they have not measured up to the standard required for police magistrates," and it was adopted in this form. The resolution was sent in the shape of a telegram to-night to the Governor at Annapolis.

Dr. Sheridan Re-elected.

Rev. Dr. J. M. Sheridan was re-elected president by the most unanimous vote of the conference. He received 100 of the 100 votes cast. Scattering ballots were cast for Revs. J. M. Gill, W. H. Graham, F. O. Klein, F. T. Little and J. L. Eldridge. Rev. W. S. Phillips was re-elected secretary and he named as his assistants, Revs. J. H. Straughn and G. L. Humphries.

The following stewards were named: Conference, Clayborne Phillips; church extension, R. L. Shipley; superannuated fund, O. P. Nowlin; foreign missions, H. O. Keen; home missions, C. B. Strasburg; educational, E. F. Perry; Bible tract, G. E. Brown; statistics, S. J. Smith and G. K. Hooker; Church Home, B. F. Bailey.

President's Report.

In his annual report President Sheridan announced the deaths of Revs. B. H. Southard, J. M. Tingling and J. H. S. Ewell. He made mention of the fact that Rev. B. T. Tyson, of the Kansas Conference, was an applicant for membership in the Conference. The president dwelt upon the good work that is being done by Western Maryland College and the theological seminary. Mention was made of the fact that Clarke Memorial Independent Methodist Church, in Baltimore, was ready to be formally received into the Conference. W. O. Atwood, the delegate, is there to present the credentials and also to invite the Conference to meet at that church next year.

The deaconess movement was recommended and the suggestion was

FRANK C. TODD

Passes Away After Long Suffering. Was 62 years Of Age. Active In Business And Public Affairs.

In the death of Mr. Frank C. Todd, which occurred at his home on Division St., Saturday morning, Salisbury lost one of its most prominent and useful citizens. Mr. Todd was born in Salisbury August 1846 and was in his sixty second year. His boyhood days were passed here, and he obtained his education in the public schools here. His first started in business at "Five Points" where he conducted a grocery store. His business venture was very successful and for a number of years he conducted one of the most successful wholesale grocery businesses of this section. Later he moved to the lower end of Main Street, where with his nephew Mr. Harry S. Todd, the business was continued under the name of F. C. and H. S. Todd. A few years later the business was incorporated under the name of F. C. and H. S. Todd Co., and occupied the W. B. Tilghman building until Mr. F. C. Todd retired from the mercantile business, a few years ago. After his retirement from the mercantile business Mr. Todd engaged in the manufacture of bricks and siles, and later opened a brokerage office for the handling of grain and feed.

Mr. Todd was long identified with the business, political, and social affairs of our city and county. An active man up to within a few weeks of his death although broken in health and a great sufferer for several years.

A good talker, a good thinker and an aggressive business spirit made Mr. Todd a power in our community, and his influence was always directed to the good of the public. In politics he was a strong Democrat though never seeking public office. The only office he held was that of School Commissioner and he served as President of the Board for several years. He was a leading member of the Wicomico Presbyterian Church, and took an active part in the church work.

Mr. Todd is survived by a widow who was a Miss Irving, and two children, viz: Mrs. L. Ernest Williams and Miss Katherine S. Todd also by one sister, Mrs. Anna T. Wallis, of Salisbury, and three brothers, Dr. H. Laird Todd and Mr. W. Irving Todd, of Salisbury, and Dr. Samuel G. Todd, of Plantersville, Ala.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Beale. The interment was in the family lot in the churchyard.

It was reported to the Conference that Rev. J. W. Gray is ill at the Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

The hospitable residents of Snow Hill have thrown their homes wide open to the members of the Conference, and even the use of the county courtroom has been offered. The Conference for any of its meetings, and at present the faculty of instruction is using it.

WE ALL USE PE-RU-NA IN OUR HOME

Who is best able to judge of the value of Pe-ru-na? The housewife who has used it in her home for years, or prejudiced, sensational writers who have never used Pe-ru-na in their lives? It will not take any fair-minded reader a minute to decide which is the best evidence. The mothers of the United States believe in Pe-ru-na. The half million women who praise Pe-ru-na receive no pay for doing so, and the half dozen editors who disparage Pe-ru-na get big pay for doing so. Which is the best evidence?

Sore Throat For Years.

Mrs. C. Dassel, 364 Irving Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Curator Natural History Society, writes:

"I am glad to be able to recommend Peru-na for chronic sore throat. I had been troubled with sore throat for years, but could find nothing to help me. I had an awful gagging in the morning and was subject to dizzy spells. I could not draw a free breath and life had no pleasure for me. My throat was dry and parched."

"I supposed I was doomed to spend the rest of my days in this condition, when I heard what good Peru-na had been to others, so I tried a bottle of it. After using it I was much better and six bottles of it cured me."

"I cannot say too much for Peru-na, and I hope that some poor sufferer like myself will see this and give it a trial."

Mrs. J. C. Russell.

Anita Indigestion.

Mrs. John C. Russell, 610 County Street, Portsmouth, Va., writes regarding his wife's case as follows:

"I thought it would be doing but justice to your great medicine to tell you what it has done for my wife."

"Two years ago the doctor called at our home, on an average, three times a week, in attendance upon my wife, who was suffering from acute indigestion. Her suffering was so great that nothing but morphine would give her relief."

"While on a visit to some friends in Norfolk she had an attack and I prepared to go for the doctor, when our friend proposed Peru-na. I gave her a dose, repeating it every half hour, and her pains passed in a half hour, and her pains passed in a half hour."

"I was surprised at Peru-na. When the doctor on 7th Avenue called on her she told him that she had used Peru-na. He said that he had never known of it before."

Mrs. Annie Tesch.

New Eats and Sleeps Well.

Mrs. Annie Tesch, 337 3rd Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "When I wrote to you for advice, my health was a total wreck. I could not sleep and thought, I would die, as there seemed to be no help for me. But I followed your advice and Peru-na and Manafin."

"I am now cured. I can eat and sleep well, and enjoy life. I never will be without Peru-na, should any of us be sick."

Cataract of Worst Form.

Mrs. Amanda Long, 733 Seely Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I believe that I am cured of cataract of the worst form and of long standing. I was almost a total wreck. I tried almost everything and doctored with a number of doctors, but they did me no good."

"I tried Peru-na as a last resort, and by the time I had taken one bottle I could see that it was helping me, and so I continued taking it. I can say now that I have not felt the slightest symptoms for three months, and I think there is nothing like Peru-na. I still keep it in the house, and think there is no medicinal like it. I cannot praise it too highly, and bless the day that I learned of it."

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1211 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., writes that several compliments were in getting her cataract, and she thanks Peru-na for her new life and strength.

Peru-na Tablets.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peru-na in tablet form, and their persistence has been rewarded with success. People who wish to avoid the inconvenience of Peru-na should take these Peru-na Tablets.

Peru-na for Her Child.

Mrs. Alice Hoyle, 608 Clifton St., Circleville, Ohio, writes:

"I want to inform you what Peru-na has done for me."

"I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peru-na. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me. I also find it of great benefit to my

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW PROMISED TO THE PEOPLE, EVASIED.

The terminal of the 1906 Legislature at Annapolis was such as to make the voters of this state wide-awake and attentive.

A Democratic Assembly was in full control of the law making machinery. They were nominated to office and elected as representatives under certain specific promises contained in a Democratic platform, accepted by them in receiving their nomination, enunciated and promulgated by them on the fall campaign hustings before the November votes were cast. Yet apparently forgotten when the opportunity came to fulfill.

The Democratic platform, through its nominated legislators, contracted and agreed to give the people of the State of Maryland a Fair State and Senatorial Primary Election Law fashioned after the Crawford County system. They didn't do it, but did worse than ignore it. They passed an excuse which worse than begs the promise they made to the people—and is a complete betrayal of the sacred trust confided in them by the votes they received in November.

True, and no one denies it, that the Legislature now adjourned did some splendid work and effected legislation that will redound to the future welfare and good of the State. But this they promised to do and was their plain duty.

But no plain duty could be placed before a body of Legislators than that of redeeming their fair Primary Pledge the basic foundation of an honest and fair framework to give a better electorate, wiser government and larger patriotism in public matters. No amount of other good legislation or offsets can excuse the failure of the Assembly to fully and honestly redeem its Primary Law promise, and its failure to have done so makes the Democratic party it was sent to Annapolis to represent, guilty of treason to the people, of misrepresentation and deception, and of receiving its last election under false pretenses.

The Democratic voters of Wicomico will be glad to note that delegate Jones stood for an honest redemption of the platform to the last and refused to vote for the evasion.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The legislature, just over, has accomplished many good things, and has left undone—or poorly done, some others of great importance to the people of the State. It is believed that a good Corrupt Practice Act has been passed. If the legislature has passed a bill that will prove effective in stopping or checking the whole-sale debauching of our electorate. In this alone it has done enough to justify its session. When wholesale bribery is stopped then a better tone will prevail in our body politic, and poor men with ability will stand on more even keel with the man with money. An Utopian ideal of the absolute doing away with money for corrupt purposes is not anticipated by anyone, for as long as human nature remains as it is, no law will be made but what some will be found to break it. But if it can be confined to the low criminal class, as is the case with stealing, then but comparatively little harm will be done. Take away from its rank those who stand high in our business and social world and its power for evil is gone. A good provision in this law is the one giving immunity to the seller upon information, and the allowing to him one half the fine. One of the greatest difficulties in the old law was that the buyer and seller were alike guilty and no immunity could be given for information leading up to conviction.

Another good bill passed by the legislature is the one providing for the building of good roads throughout the State. No bill of more importance for farmers and truckers could have been passed, and if it comes up to general expectations then a great benefit (and will accrue to the State. In the passage of the Lehmanyer bill the legislature has taken a step in the right direction. The idea that the State should have to be thrown upon the mercy of the crowd was unjustified in all. With the pencils of the legislature, the State will be better off than it was.

after be counted even if they reach a little too far.

In the passage of these acts alone the legislature has fully justified its existence, and when compared with other sessions made a good showing. Yet there are several measures that did not receive the support that they ought to have, and the failure to pass direct primary laws for the State was a serious mistake. In the passage of the Senatorial Primary bill the legislature has done worse than blundered for bad as the old custom of electing the United States Senator, the one passed is worse. The bill simply legalizes the system adopted last fall, and its most serious defect is that of saddling the expenses on the candidates. As the Primaries last fall cost each candidate about $3800, it will be readily seen that the first and leading requisite for the place must be cash. There are a number of men in the State of Maryland who would be a credit to the State in the U. S. Senate, that will be debared under this provision.

THE RETIREMENT OF OUR JUDGES.

Much surprise and regret was expressed when it became known that the name of Judge Lloyd had been added at the last moment to the bill providing for the retirement of certain Judges. This surprise was turned into indignation when it was further learned that his name had been added without his consent or knowledge and condemnation of the action was heard on all sides. There seems to be considerable mystery as to how and why his name was thus added at the last minute. While unquestionably a great sufferer at times, it is not believed that his physical condition is such as to seriously interfere with his duties, which he has always performed to the satisfaction of the Bar and Public. That the legislature has seen fit to terminate his long and faithful services in the manner which it has, without consulting him at all, is poor recognition, and that the members of the legislature were aware of the circumstances is incredible.

The people of the First Judicial District will part with Judge Page and Judge Lloyd, if this means his retirement, with regret. They have well served them in the highest position the American people have to give. And as long as our Courts are administered with the justice and ability which have marked the course of our present bench, the property, rights and liberties of the American citizens are safe.

Hicks On The Weather.

Most persons are just now hoping we will have warmer weather than we had in April and May last year. To those Rev. Mr. Hicks holds out the comfort that if the weather is not like that of last spring it will be warmer and pleasanter, yet with this hope he also gives us predictions of many changes to cooler in April, with snow, frost, thunder storms, squalls, earthquakes, low barometer, violent storms, violent storms and tornado storms.

The moon sits astride the celestial equator on April 4, therefore, Rev. Mr. Hicks says, "higher temperatures, with tendency to electrical storms, will be natural on and touching that date." The period to April 5 is a "reactionary storm period," and it will wind up about April 8, with a change to cooler, with snow squalls and frosts, extending to about April 7.

A "regular storm period" is slated to extend from April 7 to 11. This will bring showers—popular thing for April—and warmer weather, with thunderstorms, but the hopes of the peach grower will be dashed by another sharp change to cooler, with snow squalls and frosts. This may be expected about April 11 to 13. On April 13 the moon will again straddle the celestial equator and on the next day will proceed to set fall. These "breaks," it is said, will add "poeticalness" to storms which will occur at this period. Mercury and Venus will get to monkeying with the weather, with a sudden rise to very high temperatures, a smashing fall of the barometer, dangerous storms or earthquakes as a consequence. The seismic period extends from April 14 to 19. Much cooler and frost again April 16 to 18.

Lack of space and consideration for timid spirits forbid a complete recapitulation of the meteorological events that are to happen from April 19 to 23. If some one would only shoot Mars and Venus and anchor the moon before that time comes, much disaster might be averted, for they will be responsible for all the predicted trouble. The thermometer will skyrocket again, while the barometer will perform the sick portion of the act. "Violent" storms of lightning, thunder, rain and hail will sweep the country, and no one need be surprised at tornadoes or anything else. Snow and colder weather will be the portion of northern localities. But the fingers weary sticking type to tell the story of these remarkable forecasts. Suffice it to say that a "reactionary storm period," accompanied by the same phenomena as noted above, occupies the time from the ending of the last period to April 28. The month winds up in the throes of a "regular storm period," which begins as soon as the "reactionary" gets out of the way. Another earthquake period extends from April 29 to May 3. Wonderful! A man who can tell all these things.

RECORD OF LEGISLATURE

Under Democratic Control. 5 District Pledges. 2 Kept. 3 Broken Says Baltimore Paper.

At the session which has just ended there was conspicuous default in some directions and conspicuous performance in others. The session began, continued and ended with the Democratic party in absolute control. There were not enough Republicans in either House to obstruct or even retard the majority in the performance of their purpose. The majority had the advantage of the advice and guidance of a strong executive, who was in entire sympathy with the pledges set forth in the Democratic State platform and intent upon keeping faith with the people and performing party promises.

In entering upon the work of the session the majority was confronted by five distinct and plain pledges—so distinct and plain that there could be no misunderstanding about them and no honest difference of opinion as to their meaning. They were the platform pledges of the Democratic party, made as plain as language could make them, and in this respect somewhat different from pledges made by Democratic State conventions in former years. These pledges were, in brief:

First.—The enactment of a corrupt practice law.
Second.—The enactment of a good roads law.
Third.—The enactment of a primary election law which should guarantee to all aspirants for State office the right to submit their candidacy to the direct vote of the people of the State.

Fourth.—A Senatorial primary law like that of Mississippi and other Southern States.

Fifth.—The pledge to oppose all attempts to repeal or modify the Oyster Culture law by amendments that would destroy or weaken its efficiency. There was also a platform declaration that no taxation can be justified or excused which takes from the pockets of the people more than is reasonably required to defray the costs of an economical and frugal administration of the Government. In the teeth of this declaration there was a flagrant waste of the public money in largess to political retainers around the State House and in legislative expenses and extravagance.

Of the five distinct pledges which the Democratic party made, which the people accepted, and upon the strength of which the party was continued in control of the Legislature, two were fully and fairly redeemed, one was flagrantly and contemptuously violated and two were swapped for political "changelings" that bear little resemblance to the platform pledges and which will not satisfy the people.

A corrupt practice law was enacted which comes fully up to the public expectation and demand. A road law was enacted which, if it is to be executed by such a commission as the people have the right to expect and demand, will be pretty nearly all that can be desired.

The general Primary Election law that was passed as well as the Senatorial primary law, are in no wise to be considered as fulfillments of the party promises. They neither in terms nor intent nor in spirit conform in any way to the clear terms of the pledges. The general primary law does not give to aspirants for State office the right to submit their candidacy to the direct vote of the people. That is what was promised, and that plain promise has been broken. The Senatorial Primary law does not give the Democrats of Maryland the opportunity of voting directly for United States Senators in the manner in which it is done in Mississippi and other Southern States. That is what was promised, and that promise has been broken. Both primary laws, in addition, slap Baltimore in the face. The promise to give the fullest opportunity to put the oyster planting law into the fullest practical operation was broken when the Shellfish Commission bill for that purpose was defeated. It was more flagrantly violated when the law was partially repealed by the passage of the Worcester County Bill.

This violation of three of the five pledges made by the party cannot in any degree be attributed to Governor Crothers.—Abstract of Baltimore Sun Editorial.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

We Trust Doctors

If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, no medicine can be of benefit. Sarsaparilla, however, cleanses the blood, purifies the system, and thus prevents the impurities from doing harm.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is liver pills. All gentle, all vegetable.

Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Also manufactured by: MAIN BRANCH, NEW YORK, CROSBY & BOWEN.

We have no secret! We publish the formula of all our medicines.

Did You Get Fooled on the First Day of April?

Did somebody put some nice salt in the sugar bowl? Were your kn'ts and feet sewed down to the table cloth? Did you sit down in your office chair and have a nice paper sack explode that the office boy had "BLOWED UP" and put under the cushion? Did the office boy get blown up too? Did some of your un welcomed relatives on your wife's mother's side drive up to up to spend a month? Did your tailor send in his bill? Did your cigar dealer send you a box of cigars that proved to be wood? Did you go Humphreys mill dam to meet that beautiful woman that wrote to you how she was attracted by your appearance and wanted to meet you and did you meet about a half dozen sheepish looking men who looked as if they might have been looking for a woman, too, and did you notice three or four young fellows at the other end of the dam, who well you know now who wrote that letter don't you? Did you get up early the first day of April and rush down town for some big bargains and after you had bought it did you see the same thing in Lucy Thoroughgood's clothing windows for less? Did you say April fool? You'll never get April fooled at either one of Lucy Thoroughgood's two stores, you never get fooled in any way, on goods or quality or on price, unless the goods are better or the price lower than you expected. Some new suits just received today might fool you for you expect to pay $40 for such suits and the price is only $15. From now until E. for Thoroughgood's two stores will be running over with New Suits, New Hats, New Neckties and everything that's pretty.

THE BIG AND BUSY STORE

R. E. Powell & Co.

MAIN STREET, SALISBURY, MD.

Last Day Of The Spring Opening

It is a great success—yes, decidedly so! Some of the most discriminating critics say we have fairly outdone any previous display. This, the last day of our Spring Opening, will be a day of delightful revelations! Every woman who can possibly come should be present. The bewitching fashions are really worth seeing.

Salisbury's Principal Millinery Display

Nothing quite so elegant or luxurious has been seen here before. There are more Paris pattern hats than last season—their beauty and variety were irresistible to us—and will be so to you, too. Each model has some touch characteristic of its maker's genius.

The New Styles Are Beautiful And Becoming

The shapes are varied, both large and small, and charmingly adaptable to every individual taste. The splendid Sailors, from 20 to 22 inches in diameter; the large Hats with extremely high crown and brim of sweeping curves; toques and bolero shapes; the Helmet hats—all decidedly and distinctively new, the newness that must be seen to be fully comprehended.

The Colors.—Gloriously beautiful. One can scarcely realize that the reds, blues, browns and greens could take on such varied, such new hues and tones—colors so different that each must have its distinctive name—scores of exquisitely lovely shades, used in many delightful blendings, harmonies, contrasts not seen before.

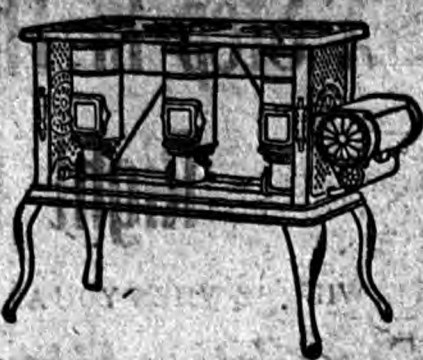

The Trimmings.—Flowers predominate, of course—from the smallest blossoms to the great, gorgeous roses and poppies, in natural colors and idealized blendings. Foliage is used freely; and wings, aligrettes, plumes, pompons; fancy bands and artistic pins in designs suggestive of the Far East; soft silk and velvet ribbons—cash, old rose and Nile Green are popular colors in these.

If you really would like to see bewitching styles, ask for the Queen Leghorn Hat with two shades of plumes—blue and pink—transparent band with wavy effect; foliage crown; high front and very high crown. And there's the Burnt Leghorn, the Merry Widow, the Helmet, etc., etc.

Put This Stove In Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog days. The is so constructed that it cannot add perceptibly to the heat of a room; the flame being directed up a retaining chimney to the stove top where it is needed for cooking. You can see that a stove sending out heat in but one direction would be preferable on a hot day to a stove radiating heat in all directions. The "New Perfection" keeps a kitchen uniformly comfortable. Three sizes, fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

Rayo Lamp is the family use—safe, convenient, economical, and a great light giver. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Incorporated)

E. W. TRUITT, MANUFACTURER OF FERTILIZERS FOR ALL CROPS

For STRAWBERRIES—A fertilizer that is said to prevent frosts from injuring blossoms to a great extent; also make nice berries and make the vine hold up well in case of long drouths. I have experimented on this particular kind for the past six years.

WHITE POTATOES—A fertilizer that will make a good crop (season permitting) without being too expensive.

CORN Fertilizer, for best results, must contain ingredients that will not burn the crop under the worst weather conditions.

TOMATO and CANTALOUPE Fertilizer is another study of mine. To get best results with smallest outlay consistent with what is expected out of the crop, the plants must grow fast from the start and have a fertilizer that contains all necessary elements.

Any kind of goods mixed to order on short notice. It is to my best interest to study the needs of the farmer in this line.

BIRTHDAYS IN JAPAN

The Japanese have a queer way of celebrating birthdays. Instead of a party in June for little Tama, and a party in September for little O Tama, and a party in December for little Ume, there's a party in February in honor of all the little girls and one in May for all the little boys.

February every little girl receives from all her grown-up relatives and friends gifts of dolls, and besides these dolls her mother takes out of the closet many of the dolls she had when she was a child, and some even older dolls that the little girl's grandmother had when she was a little tot, and I dare say there are dolls that belonged to the little girl's great-grandmother, and even her great-great-grandmother—quite dolls in faded clothes of a hundred years and more ago, carefully handed down from mother to daughter ever since.

Then at the first of May, comes the boys' festival—the Fish Festival, it is called.

Every family that's lucky enough to have a boy puts up a tarpole in the door-yard, or perhaps several families combine to use the same pole, and have it a bigger, handsomer one (than one family could afford). On the top of the pole is a gilt ball, or else a basket with something bright and tinsy in it. And flying from the pole in the brisk spring wind is a whole string of carp, made of oiled paper or cloth, painted in bright colors, and anywhere from five to fifteen feet long. Each fish belongs to some particular boy, and the carp is chosen because it is a big, strong fish, and not only can swim against the most rapid currents, but in its eagerness to get up stream will leap straight up waterfalls.

The gold ball means a treasure, which the carp, leaping and struggling, buffeted by the wind, is forever trying to reach. And the whole thing means that the boy, when he's a man, will have to battle his way as the sturdy carp struggles up the river. From Berlin, Germany, in St. Nicholas.

Ten famous sayings.

The ten famous sayings of ten famous Americans, printed in the Eagle of Sunday, September 1, with a request for the authors' names, brought out a large number of replies, more or less correct. Only one, however, is entirely so, that of Lucy Orr Murphy, who is entitled to the first prize.

Bertha E. Low sends in a very nicely written and comprehensive set of answers, the only error being the crediting of the third saying to John Marshall, instead of to Henry Lee.

This saying proved a general stumbling block, so that it may be well to explain that it was introduced in the resolutions prepared by Colonel Henry Lee and presented to the United States House of Representatives on the death of Washington, December, 1799. The entire sentence reads, "To the memory of the Man, first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

The third best list comes from Florence J. Isenburger, whose only mistake is in having written the name of Benjamin Harrison in place of Benjamin Franklin, possibly in a moment of thoughtlessness.

Those earning one credit for answering are Rae King, Dorothy King, Marion Kregor, Anna Kregor, Grace Weber, Herbert Luce, Albert F. Buekman, Thomas O'Malley, Valentine Donovan, Henry Rover, William Nowak, Harriet J. Anderson, Henry Reimer, Ethel Chadwick, William Westring, Olive Bolton, Nixon Courtney. The first five in this list had all the answers correct excepting one.

The sayings and their authors are as follows:

"Don't give up the ship."—James Lawrence.

"Give me liberty, or give me death."—Patrick Henry.

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."—Henry Lee.

"A government of the people, for the people, and by the people."—Abraham Lincoln.

"If we don't hang together, we'll hang separately."—Benjamin Franklin.

"I propose to fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer."—U. S. Grant.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours."—Oliver Hazard Perry.

"Missions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."—Charles Foster Pinckney.

"I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."—Nathan Hale.

"Public office is a public trust."—Grover Cleveland.

A. A. A. An Irishman walking through a fashionable street in London, noticed beside a door a bell. Underneath the bell were these words, "Please ring the bell." Paddy went and rang the bell. In a second a powdered little footman appeared and asked him what he wanted. "Nothing," said Paddy, "but I rang the bell because it says so." "Oh!" said the footman, with a smile. "I see you've come from the country where nanny-goats grow on gooseberry bushes." "Yes," said the Irishman, "but in London there are more wonderful sights. I've only to ring the bell and a monkey pops out."—Golden Days.

Genile and Effective.

A well known Manitoba editor writes: "As an inside worker I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invaluable for the treatment of biliousness natural to sedentary life, their action being gentle and effective, clearing the digestive tract, and the blood." CASTORIA. The kind you have bought before. Chas. H. Fletcher.

He was Taking No Chances.

She—I'm looking up my family tree, but the further I go the harder it gets. He—That's why I quit looking up mine. The further I went the harder my ancestors got to be.

Miss Screecher—Would you like to hear me sing "In Old Madrid"? Mr. Bright (absently)—Yes, if you think you could secure long-distance telephone connections.

Wouldn't Reach. Miss Hotty—Charley Softleigh tried to put his arms around me last night. Miss Cutting—And wouldn't they reach around?

It's for Jackson. En buy up de first dal moly you feel good.

Plenty of Trouble. Is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels to get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or scraping. 25c. at Toulson's drug store.

THE GREEN CONDUCTOR.

Was Determined He Would Not Let the One to Suffer the Loss.

Jersey. James G. Baltimore was negotiating against a certain bill at the recent convention of hotel men in Washington.

"This bill," he said, "is awkward. It goes to work in the wrong way. It is like the green conductor. There was a green conductor on a trolley line, and one morning, just after his trip had begun, a spotter boarded the car.

"The spotter, as these men do, counted the paces, and then he looked at the clock. There were nine passengers, but only eight fares had been collected. He went out on the platform at once. There was nothing crooked; the conductor was green, that was all.

"See here, Mr. Green Hand," he said, "you're a nifty guy. There's nine people in there, and you've only rung up eight fares.

"The conductor stuck his head in the door and made a count. 'You're right darn 'em,' he said. 'And then he entered the car and shouted angrily, at the same time pulling the cord for the motorman to stop.

"Say, one of you fellows'll have to get off!"

Human Nature.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackey, at a meeting of the Roslyn School Board, disagreed with a pessimist opinion that had been expressed.

"To be so unreasonably and so resolutely hopeless is unwise," she said. "It reminds me of an old woman I used to know.

"This old woman was always ill, always ailing. Her various diseases were to her the most interesting topic in the world, and she must have thought them most interesting to others also, for she always talked of them—she talked of nothing else. 'One day I found her eating a hearty meal, and asked her how she was.

"She sighed and answered: 'I feel very well, ma'am, but I always feel bad when I feel well, because I know I am going to feel worse afterwards.'

Colored Evidence.

District Attorney Jerome of New York said one day of a piece of suspicious evidence:

"It is evidence that has been tampered with, colored. It is like the lady's report of her physician's prescription.

"A lady, one day in July, visited her physician. The man examined her and said:

"Madame, you are only a little run down. You need frequent baths and plenty of fresh air, and I advise you to dress in the coolest, most comfortable clothes—nothing stiff or formal.

"When she got home her husband asked her what the physician had said. The lady replied:

"He said I must go to the seashore, do plenty of automobileing and get some new summer gowns."

The Good Provided.

"Though Mrs. McKinley," said a Canton clergyman, "left an estate of about $200,000, she was one of the most charitable women in Ohio. Her experiences in charity work were interesting. I used to like to hear her talk of them.

"She once told me about a colored widow whose children she had helped to educate. The widow, rather late in life, married. A few months after her marriage, Mrs. McKinley asked her how she was getting on.

"'A-gittin' on, son, thank ye, the bride answered.

"And is your husband a good provider?" said Mrs. McKinley.

"'Deed he is a good provider, ma'am," was the reply. "He got me five new places to wash at dinner week."

Would Teach Him a Lesson.

Bridget—Where's the week's wages yet promised to bring home?

Pat—Hic! Well, Bridget, darlint, I spint them.

Bridget—Spint them, did ye? And me here to home with niver a bite to eat!

Pat—Now—hic—Bridget, darlint, don't get excited. I spint them a-gittin' ye a health.

Bridget—Drinkin' me health, was it? Well, be heavin's yes had better when I get through wid ye, ye'll be the sickest mon in the Eighth Ward. Where's me moxy?—Pacific Monthly.

Woman of Experience.

Mrs. Smith—I hear Mrs. Woods is going to marry a farmer and live in the country.

Mrs. Jones—Well, she ought to make good as a farmer's wife.

Mrs. Smith—I don't see why. She has always lived in town.

Mrs. Jones—True; but as this is her sixth matrimonial venture she evidently knows all about husbandry.—Chicago News.

Grasping An Opportunity.

Talkative Boarder—There's one thing certain, an impression once made on the memory is never absolutely lost. It is sure to recur to the mind some day.

Naughty Boarder—That certainly is true, but the 22 bill I lent you five years ago didn't make any impression on your memory.—Chicago Tribune.

Chamberlain's Has the Preference.

Mr. Fred O. Harriman, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Cough, Cold and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purpose, but pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customers so certain to appreciate my recommending it to them, that I give it the preference. Now sold at Toulson's Drug Store."

CLOSE OF COURT

Long Term Not A Long One. Cases Disposed Of. Report Of Grand Jury, Etc.

The Grand Jury was discharged Saturday afternoon. In their report on the court the Grand Jury calls special attention to the use of spirituous liquors by minors in the county and recommends more adequate police protection there. They also call attention to the slack manner of doing the work of our road supervisors and strongly recommend that they be compelled to perform their duty. Also on the question of Automobiles strong recommendations are made and recommendation of excessive speed of those driving cars. It being claimed that the law is being broken and a speed of from 35 to 40 is maintained. And to use their own words, "There should be something done to protect a long suffering public". The report in full follows:

Report Of Grand Jury.

"We have examined 678 witnesses and found 35 true bills. We find the public buildings in very good condition, except the floors in the jail, which need repairing; and the grand jury room and the entrance thereto need a coating on the walls. We commend the changes and improvements being made in the County Commissioners' office.

"Upon complaint, and through and by witnesses, we find that the use of intoxicating liquors by minors in some of the outlying districts of the county has assumed enormous proportions, and we believe there is not ample police protection to prevent the perpetration of crime in the rural districts.

"Our attention has been called to the deplorable condition of the public highways, and from complaints brought up we believe that supervisors in some of the districts—especially Quantico, Willard, Pittsville and Dennis—have not performed their full duty.

"The reckless speeding of automobiles has been brought to the attention of this body, and we think there should be something done to protect a long suffering public. And while a speed of 15 or 20 miles is tolerated on the county roads, we have proof that a much higher speed is frequent, even as much as 35 to 40 miles an hour."

Report On Alms House.

Samuel S. Smyth, Charles E. Hearn, James E. Lowe, John F. Hatton and Brady, the committee appointed to investigate the Alms House, made the following report:

ORLANDO HARRISON.

Chairman of Worcester's Citizens' Campaign Committee. Large Nursery Interests. Third Time Mayor Of Berlin.

Orlando Harrison who managed the Campaign for the dry people of Worcester County during the past five weeks is an ex-president of the Maryland State Horticultural Society.

Mr. Harrison, eldest son of J. G. Harrison, was born at Rosana, Delaware, January 27, 1897. He is now in the prime of life. From a boy he has been associated in horticulture, active in organizing and holding Horticultural meetings, one of the first to assist in organizing the Maryland State Horticultural Society and in assisting to secure appropriations. While a member of the Legislature he secured additional appropriations for the advancement of horticulture.

He has served as President of the American Association of Nurserymen and is now Chairman of a special committee on "Uniform Legislation" for the Nurserymen. He is the office manager of his own business, who with his father and brother cultivate over one thousand acres of nursery stock.

Mr. Harrison is interested in the planting of over one hundred thousand apple trees in commercial orchards in Maryland and West Virginia. He attends strictly to business. He is a strong advocate of good roads and ever ready to assist in advancing the Agricultural and Horticultural interests.

Mr. Harrison is Mayor of Berlin for the third term. He has the respect and confidence of the people at home and is well known to the horticulturists of the United States. He was the commissioner of the St. Louis Exposition and Fruit Exhibition.

HENRY AND JONES

Selected By Governor Crothers Chief And Associate Judges, Respectively, To Succeed Page And Lloyd.

The vacancies on the bench in the First Judicial District caused by the bill passed in legislature retiring Chief Judge Henry Page and Associate Judge Henry Lloyd were filled this week by the appointment of Hon. W. Laird Henry of Dorchester County, Chief Judge and Hon. Robley D. Jones of Worcester County as associate.

It is seldom that legal circles are more stirred up than was the case when it became known that two vacancies had been created instead of one as was generally understood to be the intention. And despite Gov. Crothers' warning that he did not want to be bothered by applicants as he was fully acquainted with the bar of the state and felt that he was fully competent to select judicial timber without help an attempt was made by several to land the appointments for either themselves or their friends. In Dorchester County especially the applicants were aroused over the appointments and she had four men in the field—John R. Fattison, Mr. Harrington, Mr. Fletcher and W. Laird Henry the appointee.

While Wicomico had no announced candidates for the position, a good many friends of Hon. Jas. E. Ellsgood and Hon. E. Stanley Toadvine hoped that the Governor would recognize the wisdom of appointing men of their well known legal ability to the position.

Judge Henry.

Hon. W. Laird Henry, who was appointed Chief Judge to succeed Judge Page was elected to Congress to fill out the unexpired term of Congressman Bratton of Somerset at the same time Hon. Joshua W. Miles was elected for the full term. He was appointed Land Commissioner by Gov. Crothers a few weeks ago to succeed Hon. E. Stanley Toadvine of this county. This place has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Lloyd of Talbot County.

Mr. Henry is a cousin of Judge Lloyd, whom he succeeds. He is a native of Dorchester and a son of Daniel M. Henry. He read law at Cambridge. He married the widow of his cousin, Daniel Henry, who was Miss Adkins, a sister of Judge Adkins of Talbot county. He served one term in Congress and has always been identified with the anti-Applgarth faction of his county. He is popular. J. W. Adkins, of Baltimore, is a cousin. He comes of a family well versed in the law. The late Judge Charles Caldborough was another cousin.

Judge Jones.

Mr. Robley D. Jones who was appointed associate Judge to succeed Judge Lloyd is well and favorably known in this county, and is popular with the bar. He is recognized as a lawyer of high standing and acknowledged character, conservative and well balanced. Mr. Jones is the author of the prohibition law recently adopted in Worcester county. He is the son of Dr. Chas. F. Jones of Snow Hill and is 48 years old. He married Miss Louise Franklin of Berlin in 1897 and has one daughter.

He lives at Snow Hill, where he attended the Snow Hill High School. After leaving that institution he taught for several years, and subsequently went to the University of Virginia Law School, where he graduated. For 13 years he served as State's Attorney for Worcester county, declining a reappointment four years ago. He was elected to the House of Delegates last fall, and took a prominent part in the deliberations at the recent session.

Mr. Jones is a member of the official board of the Snow Hill Methodist Episcopal Church, and was elected a delegate to the General Conference at the recent meeting of the Wilmington Conference. He is a prominent Mason, an Odd Fellow and Red Man.

Eureka! Yes, I Have Found It At Last.

Found what? Why that Chamberlain's Salve cures eczema and all manner of itching of the skin. I have been afflicted for many years with skin diseases. I had to get up three or four times every night and wash with cold water to allay the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1905, the itching has stopped and has not troubled me.—Elder John T. Ungley, Rootville, Pa. For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

—Mr. S. F. Harcum of Eden has secured an order from New York for 100 Belgian hares, from one to two months old, to be delivered before the Easter holidays. Mr. Harcum has quite a few of these, and has been realizing $1.35 per pair for hares from four to five months old in the same market.

Model Dirt Road To Be Constructed By The County Commissioners. Alms House Keeper Commended.

The County Commissioners paid a visit to the County Alms House this week, accompanied by the County Treasurer, Mr. Thos. Perry. The board is required by law to make visits to the county property four times a year for the purpose of examining conditions there and seeing the property is well looked after. They report everything in first class shape, and the winter crops in better condition than they ever saw at this time of year.

They paid the Keeper Mr. Darby a high compliment on the way he is managing things and the general condition of the farm and buildings.

The commissioners will soon commence the building of a model dirt road from Hebron to Quantico—one mile there. This work will be under the direction of the County Engineer, Mr. Clark, and is expected to show what can be done to some of our roads to put them in first class condition with material at hand and at little expense. There are a great many roads in the county that it is believed could be made into as good roads as are needed with the material at hand and at a very little expense—it being estimated at from fifty to one hundred dollars a mile.

WED IN WILMINGTON.

Miss Margaret Todd and Mr. Ralph Grier Surprised Their Friends By Secretly Joining Bachelors.

Miss Margaret W. Todd and Mr. Ralph H. Grier surprised their many friends in Salisbury by going up to Wilmington and quietly getting married. They were married at noon Friday by the Rev. Alexander Alton, Jr., pastor of the West Presbyterian church the ceremony being performed at the "Manse". As it was their intention to keep the marriage a secret for a while Mrs. Grier returned home Saturday evening and Mr. Grier continued on a business trip to the city and returned this week. The publication in a Wilmington paper however stopped this plan, and their friends were soon aware of the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Grier were two of the most popular members of the younger social set of this city and their families belong to the most prominent business and social circles of Salisbury. Mrs. Grier being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Todd and Mr. Grier the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Grier. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a long, happy and prosperous life.

ABSORBING STORY

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR"

Starts in this paper next week, April 18. Everyone in this County should read this life-telling tale. It has been an eye opener to many all over the country. Got started with the first copy, April 18.

With all the advantages of youth, education and good looks and no vocation other than the enjoyment of wealth, the hero of our present story chooses rather to sacrifice his ease and comfort on the altar of his duty as a citizen. His city called him to save her from spoliation and corruption, and he responded to the call. To lure him from the path of right came the seductions of love and the claims of a revered parent's memory, allied with the mighty forces at the command of political and financial malefactors. The frictions with which "the man of the hour," singled out for the highest post in a great municipality by those who saw in him only a weakling and a fool, resisted the very forces that had elevated him for their own purposes to official power, will be an inspiration to the reader as it has been an uplifting force in the minds of thousands who have witnessed its theatrical representation.

THE UNTIMELY DEATH

Of Captain Albert Laws In The Prime Of Life. The Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Laws, Of Wango.

The many friends of Captain Albert Laws heard with sorrow and regret of his death last Saturday. Captain Laws had only recently landed in this country from the Philippines and had been in his new quarters at Fort Ontario about a week, when he met with the accident that resulted in his death. The accident happened about ten o'clock Friday night and he died at three o'clock on Saturday. Captain Laws had been going over some papers with his brother officers and had gone to his room to retire when stepping from his room for some purpose he stumbled over a newel post in the dark hall and was thrown headlong down the stairs, fracturing his skull. His toe was almost torn off with the contact in striking the newel.

Captain Laws was one of the best known men in Wicomico County and was popular with all on account of his quiet unassuming manner and gave impression of a man who could and would do whatever occasion demanded, which his record in the army fully substantiated.

Native Of This Country.

Captain Laws was born near Wango on August 6th, 1868, and was appointed to West Point on June 15th, 1890. He was graduated and assigned to twenty-fourth Infantry as a second Lieutenant on June 12th, 1893. He received his promotion to First Lieutenant in the same regiment, on April 26th, 1898 and served with the regiment in Cuba during the Spanish American War.

On July 8th, 1899, he was made Major of Volunteers and assigned to the Thirty-fifth Infantry, with which he served during the Filipino-Insurrection until May 2nd, 1901.

In the meantime he had been promoted to Captain in the Regular Army on Feb. 2nd 1901, and after serving two years with the thirty-fifth he returned to his own regiment, and has continued to serve with it until the time of his death.

When his death became known the large garrison flag at Fort Ontario was hung at half mast in honor of his memory and remained so until his body was carried from the post to the station to be shipped to his home in Wicomico.

Servants were held at the post and G Company of which he was in command at the time of his death was turned out under arms and the other companies were in attendance carrying side arms. The body was accompanied home by Captain Hunter B. Nelson, regimental commissary who graduated in the same class with Captain Laws and had been with him during their entire fifteen years service under the flag. In speaking of Captain Laws Captain Nelson said:

Honored In The Army.

"Capt. Laws was the true type of the American soldier. He was as brave a man as ever wore the straps and his fidelity to duty was one of his strong points. He had perfect control of his men, all of whom loved him and would follow him anywhere. He rendered most conspicuous service in Cuba and the Philippines. It was in the Cuban campaign that he showed such wonderful nerve. He was wounded on the firing line, and had the right to leave the field. He retired to the rear, had his wound dressed and returned to the firing line, where the bullets were falling as thick as

ATTRACTIVE MUSICAL

Arranged By Members Of The Hospital Board. An Enticing Program For The Public.

An attractive Musical will be given in the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening, April 21st. This will be a benefit for the new Nurses Home, and the program is being arranged with much care by some of the ladies of the Hospital Board.

Professional talent has been secured with the assistance of some of our well known local musicians.

Miss Nettie Jones, one of the teachers on the Peabody staff will give piano selections. Her artistic ability and technique are well known in Salisbury.

Miss Albert, a vocalist of much talent who is also a member of the Peabody corps of teachers, will give vocal selections. In addition there will be several numbers by the male quartette, vocal solos, readings by Miss Taylor, and an instrumental number by Miss Willie Adkins of Western Maryland College.

This Musical is in the interest of a worthy charity and the kind patronage of all will be greatly appreciated. Tickets will be on sale at Dr. Toulson's drug store, April 18th. Admission 50 cents.

Unclaimed Letters.

Mrs. Nell Beauchamp, Miss Lema Belle, Mrs. Martha Christopher, Miss Minnie Dorman, Miss Mamie Dorman, Mr. John W. Egan, Mr. J. Wesley Falcon, Mrs. Hester Flanagan, Mr. Harry Gifford, Mr. E. W. Grayson, Mr. G. L. Hooper, Mr. Allen Harlow, R. Hoe and Co., Capt. Winfield Insley, Mr. William Jones, Mr. John Jones Capt. A. R. Loomery, Mr. Geo. W. Moley, Mr. James Morris, Mr. John McCasky, Mrs. E. R. Phillips, Miss Flossie K. Parson, Miss Amelia Parsons, Miss Mamie Palmer, Mr. Elijah P. Reark, Mr. L. M. Robertson, Dr. Reik, John Reibold, Mr. Felix Smith, U. Sparkman, Mrs. Miranda Stevenson, Miss Ida G. Taylor, Mr. Leving W. Williams, Mr. Cecil Wilson, Mr. Charlie White.

He was a splendid officer and a true man."

Major Taggart paid the following high tribute to Captain Laws:

"There is no officer in the regiment who has seen harder or more dangerous service than Capt. Laws."

He was in command of the first District of the Island of Leyte during the entire Filipino insurrection which lasted during the entire service of the 24th in the Island. Since his return here Captain Laws has been suffering from a slight attack of fever contracted during his service in the Island. He had been contemplating leaving for his home near Salisbury in a short time when he thought he would be feeling better.

Officers and men of the entire regiment are united in their grief at the loss of a man who was an officer and a gentleman, a thorough soldier and a man who put his duty first and himself in the background."

Captain Laws was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Levi Laws, well known residents of Wango. His funeral took place from the home at Tuesday afternoon. The pall-bearers were Capt. Nelson, Harry B. Freney, M. V. Brownington, W. S. Gordy, Jr., E. A. Toadvine and N. Price Turner. Elder Poole conducted the service.

Inspector-General Union Veteran Legion

Says: "I Can Recommend Peruna as a Safe and Reliable Medicine."

High Officials and Prominent Citizens

Give Unqualified Endorsement to Pe-ru-na.

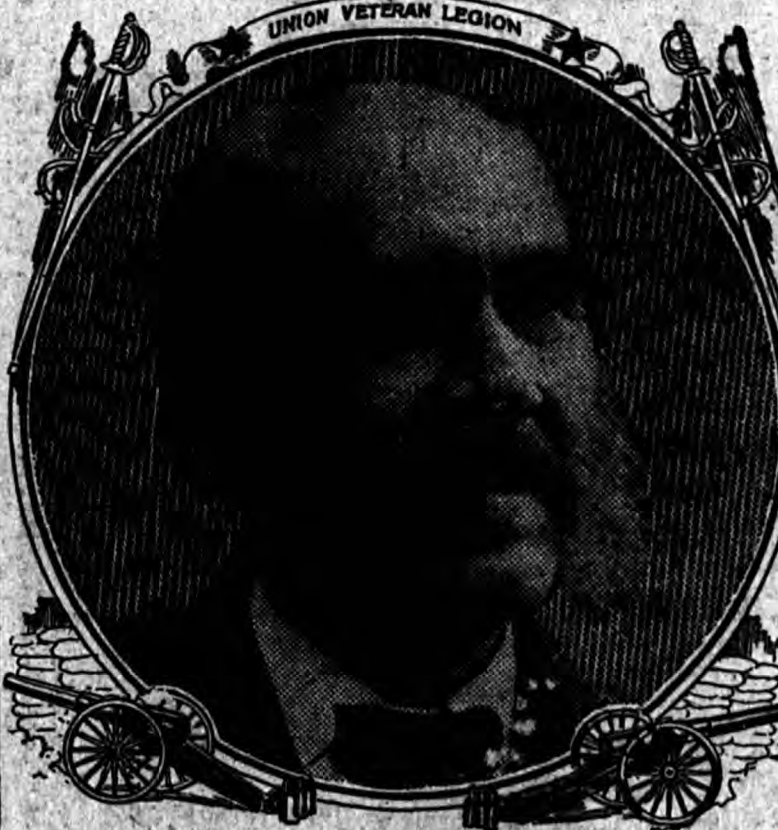

No Medicine in the World Can Produce a More Impressive Array of Testimonials.

Every Testimonial Given in the Exact Words of the Testifier.

Terrible Case of Indigestion.
Mr. Donald Robb, Jr., 15 Wrights Ave., Nova Scotia, Canada, Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger, Independent Order of Foresters, writes:
"While on a visit to Boston I must have eaten something that did not agree with my stomach, as a terrible case of indigestion followed. Peruna was recommended to me, and after using three bottles I was entirely cured. I therefore recommend Peruna to any one suffering with stomach trouble."

Every Trace of Catarrh Gone.
Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 Tenth Ave. He is Post Deputy of Grand Knights of Beldina Colla, Council Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:
"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh, that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times also."
"I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month, when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Agreeable and Effective Tonic.
Corporal John Finn, Washington, D. C., veteran soldier of the Civil War, a prominent Grand Army man and commander of the oldest post in the United States, John A. Rawlins Post No. 1, department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, writes:
"Peruna was recommended to me by many of my associates, and I have given it a fair trial. Have found it a most agreeable and effective tonic, pleasant, soothing, and leaves one free from the debilitating effects produced by the many remedies now on the market. I have suffered from several ailments, and

Col. Homer Riggs, Inspector General on the staff of the National Commander of the Union Veteran Legion, writes from the Pension Bureau, Washington, D. C., as follows:
"I thank you very much for calling my attention to Peruna. It is a pleasant and effective tonic, cures and prevents colds and catarrhal affections, and also acts upon the liver. I can recommend it as a safe and reliable medicine."

past winter, and have found Peruna most beneficial and commend it for what it has done for me."

Relieves Mind and Body.
Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basketball Team, writes:
"When body and mind alike were weary and refused to work, a few doses of Peruna restored lost strength and invigorated quicker and more permanently than anything I know."

Unhesitatingly Recommends Pe-ru-na.
J. Edwin Browne, National Commander Army and Navy Union of U. S. A., 410 11th St., N. B. Washington, D. C., writes:
"I have no hesitation in endorsing your Peruna as a most efficient cure for catarrh. My own experience and that of many friends who have been benefited by its use recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

Peruna Tablets.
The two years Dr. Williams and his associates have been incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets. These tablets represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna, and each tablet is equivalent to one average dose.

OUTLOOK FOR GOOD ROADS.

Announcement has been made by the Board of County Commissioners that they are going to build a road of one mile out of the material, nature has placed in this soil. This road is to be built under the supervision of the County Engineer, Mr. Clark, and it is understood that it is to be, so to speak, a model road to show what can be done with our roads under a scientific treatment with material at hand.

It has long been contended that if our roads were built in a proper and scientific way with proper drainage we would have as good roads as we need to want in most sections of the county. The mixture of sand and clay with due regard to the bed of the road and drainage, give a hard firm foundation that would answer for all travel over the major part of the County where the traffic was not too heavy.

If this experiment proves a success and it is clearly demonstrated a road can be so built and at the little expense per mile that has been estimated then it is expected that roads of this nature will be built in all sections where the natural soil will so permit. It is somewhat doubtful as to this treatment on our extremely sandy roads in the Eastern and other sections of the county, but unquestionably a proper building of the road bed will be a great benefit anywhere.

The recent appropriation by the legislature of 5,000,000, for the purpose of building and improving roads throughout the state is expected to provide the county with at least one main artery for that traffic, and if this can be supplemented with good dirt roads through the less traversed portion of the county then Wicomico will indeed be a comparative paradise for travelers as compared with its present condition. As to how much of the appropriation will be apportioned to Wicomico is of course a matter of speculation at the present time. A few many miles of road will be built and where, is a matter for the future to settle, but it is hoped and expected that at least one main highway will be built across the county.

The County commissioners will then of course have to map out their plan of road improvement in accordance with the general plan as laid down by the commission after its decision, in order to get the greatest amount of good from it. If we could get two main arteries running East and West and North, and South through the County then the improvement of the by-roads running to them would not be an impossible task for us to tackle; and by a system of roads well built and properly kept up, our distant farmland would be brought into close contact with the markets and an almost inestimable benefit would be conferred on them and the county. For the County itself at the expense of from $5,000 to $10,000 per mile to attempt building these arteries out of macadam seems like a heartless and impossible undertaking, but with the state appropriation and the Shoemaker law it is believed that a few years will see a great step taken in this direction and this united with the improvement of our dirt roads—at an estimated expense of from $50 to $100 per mile makes the outlook for good roads in Wicomico very promising.

Palm Sunday And Passion Week At Trinity Church.

Palm Sunday will be especially interesting at Trinity M. E. Church, South. The musical program will be rendered by Mr. Luther Messick and Miss Messick. Rev. W. A. Cooper will preach at 11 o'clock on "The Royal Entry into Jerusalem," and at night, at the earnest solicitation of many friends, he will repeat his sermon of two weeks ago on, "Is Jesus at Nazareth Divine or Human, God or Man?"

Passion week services will also be held in this church every afternoon at 4.30 as follows:

Monday: The Entrance of Christ and the Apostles into the Upper Room and Washing the Disciples Feet—Rev. W. S. Phillips.

Tuesday: "The Interrupted Supper and the Departure of Judas"—Rev. S. W. Stewart D. D.

Wednesday: "The Valerity of Jesus"—Rev. T. E. Martindale D. D.

Thursday: "Entrance into and the Garden"—Rev. W. S. Phillips.

Friday: Arrest, Trial and Crucifixion of Jesus—Rev. W. S. Phillips.

Everybody is cordially invited to these services.

KING'S DAUGHTERS

Started As "Earnest Workers." Salisbury's Motto, "Lend A Hand." Society Has Prospered.

I have been asked to write a few words concerning the history of our beloved little society. We have not always been known as the King's Daughters or belonged to that large and influential organization. We formed ourselves first under the name of "Earnest Workers." That was on the 26th. day of February 1900. But later on we became a King's Daughters Circle. The King's Daughters, as you all know was organized early in the year 1886 in New York City. The purpose from its earliest beginning was to band together women, and later on both women, and men, as a distinctly spiritual force. The organization is and always has been strictly un denominational and each local circle is independent, to the extent at least of choosing its own work and its own methods. The guiding idea of the Circle is to work "first for the heart, next the home, then the church and after that the great outside."

Our first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Collier. Twelve persons were present. The text chosen to over direct our thought and our actions was that most impressive and practical message of the scriptures found in the 9th chapter of Ecclesiastes, the 10th verse: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Out of this text we chose as our Motto these three words, "Lend a hand." Such a motto is worthy to lead us out into nobler, unselfish and even self sacrificing service. "Lend a hand!"

Our society has prospered; at times the interest in our meetings has lagged a little but wherever urgent need presented itself we have never failed to meet it in an able manner. One of our most worthy members and among the charter members was Mrs. Walter B. Miller. Though she has been dead since September 1902 we still mourn her loss and realize the great use she might have been to us. Among those who have moved from our midst and yet are worthy of our remembrance today are Mrs. Prettymann and Mrs. Judkins. Mrs. Ernest Toadvine.

FUNERAL HELD UP

Miss Katie Hammond, Who Died in Berlin, Buried Thursday.

Berlin, Md., April 9. Because color still lingered in her lips and cheeks and rigor mortis had not set in, the body of Miss Katie Hammond of Berlin, this county, was not buried yesterday afternoon, as had been intended. Physicians today however, pronounced her dead, in which opinion Dr. Thomas V. Hammond of Washington, a brother of Miss Hammond, concurred, and interment will probably take place this afternoon.

Miss Hammond was found apparently lifeless in her bedroom on Sunday morning. The bed had not been disturbed. She evidently had fallen out of a chair to the floor. Funeral services were arranged for yesterday afternoon, and were held at the church. Before the start for the cemetery was made, however, some of Miss Hammond's relatives, feeling that life was not extinct, decided to defer the burial until today. It is said that yesterday afternoon the lips and cheeks of the woman retained their natural color and her limbs had not stiffened. Relatives kept watch over the body last night, and this morning Miss Hammond was pronounced dead. She was a niece of Hon. E. Stanley Toadvine, of Salisbury, and Mrs. E. Clarence Smith of San Francisco, Cal.

Surviving her are her mother, Mrs. Esther I. Hammond and the following brothers and sisters: Edward P. Hammond, of London, Eng.; Dr. Thomas E. Hammond, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Virginia Fleming, of Harrisburg, Pa.

Resolutions of Respect.

Death has again entered the ranks of our beloved order, Wicomico Lodge No. 81, Knights of Pythias, and claimed for its victim our Dear Brother, Edward J. Heath, Sr. He was ever ready to do what he could for the Lodge and was always glad to meet his Brother Knights, especially in his last months, being in feeble health for some time.

Therefore be it Resolved, That we sorrow with and extend our sympathy to the bereaved widow and children and commend them to our Heavenly Father, who is too wise to make a mistake and too good to be unkind.

Further Resolved: That these resolutions be recorded in our Lodge room, a copy be sent to the family of our deceased Brother and read in the Lodge room and published in the Local Papers.

The K. & M. Display Of Easter Suits Are Great.

This is the grandest Easter display ever made by this store, and comprises every new style known this season. The long sack coat, with broad shoulders, two or three buttons, with cuff on sleeve, wide lapel, medium loose-fitting back, is the most popular. K. & M. Clothes are not like the ready-made clothes you usually buy, but are equal to made-to-measure garments made by the best tailors in the business. The new shades of tan, fancy worsted, dark mixed, blue serge, greys, plaids, striped brown, and in fact all that's new for young men, can be found in K. & M. Clothes. "Satisfaction or your dollars back" our motto.

The prices of K. & M. Clothes are $10.00, $12.50, $14.00, $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00. Young man, try a K. & M. Suit for Easter.

BACK GIVES OUT.

Plenty of Salisbury Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains: Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

B. A. Bennett, Orisfield Md., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family and we found them to be exactly as represented. I used them for backache and a severe weakness across the small of the back brought on by inactive kidneys. A dull heavy pain and a weak all gone feeling of depression prevented my whole system, at times so severe as to make the least exertion not only painful but insupportable. Particularly mornings after a long sleepless night, when I would suffer with a lack of energy and languid, listless feelings. Doctors and medicines failed to help me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and was in a miserable condition. They soon cured me of the whole trouble and not a trace of it has ever returned. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Failures in 1908.

R. G. Dun & Co., report for the first three months of 1908 failures to the number of 4,909, when liabilities aggregating $73,706,911. This is the heaviest total on record for the first quarter, but it shows an improvement in the last quarter of 1907. Further comfort is found in the fact that the March liabilities were smaller than in any month since last September.

The aggregate of failures in March last was $10,000,000 larger than in March, 1907. Bank failures in the first quarter were 60, with liabilities of $69,751,628, against 12 last year in the like period with liabilities of $6,985,219. But in the same period many banks that closed in the preceding quarter reopened their doors.

Salphur The Accepted Remedy For A Hundred Years.

Salphur is one of the greatest remedies nature ever gave to man. Every physician knows it cures skin and blood troubles. Hancock's Liquid Salphur enables you to get the full benefit in most convenient form.

Don't take salphur "tablets" or "wafers," or powdered salphur in molasses. Hancock's Liquid Salphur is pleasant to take and perfect in its action. Druggists sell it.

A well known citizen of Danville, Pa., writes: "I have had an aggravated case of Eczema for over twenty-five years. I have used seven or eight bottles of the Liquid, and one jar of your Hancock's Liquid Salphur Ointment, and now I feel as though I had a brand new pair of hands. It has cured me and am certain it will cure anyone if they persist in using Hancock's Liquid Salphur according to directions." "Butler Edgar."

When You Go To The Doctor

You don't expect him to prescribe patent medicines; when you come to the painter let him use his judgment as to the best materials and methods to employ in the treatment of your house.

John Nelson, Practical Painter

PROGRESS.

Yet there he many windows to your soul.

That all the glory of the Universe May be seen in the narrow pane Of one poor creed can catch the radiant light.

That shine from countless sources.

Tear away

The blinds of superstition; let the light

Four thousand fair wind broad as

And high as God. Why should the spirit peer

Through some man-ordained orifice, and grope

Along dim corridors of doubt, when

The splendors from unfathomed seas of Space

Might bathe it with the golden waves of Love?

Sweep up the debris of decaying beliefs;

Sweep down the cobwebs of worn out beliefs.

And throw your soul wide open to the light

Of Nature and of Knowledge. Tune your

To all the wordless music of the stars

And to the voice of Wisdom, and your heart

Small tears to truth and goodness as the plant

Turns to the sun. A thousand unseen hands

Reach down to help you to the peace of heaven's heights.

And all the forces of the Firmament Shall fortify your strength. Be not afraid.

To cast aside half truths, and grasp the whole.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

"One Touch of Nature Makes The Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm heartfelt wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Toulson's Drug Store, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation.

We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are hundreds, yes, thousands of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary and many have been avoided by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letters.

Mrs. Barbara Bess, of Kingman, Kansas, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For eight years I suffered from the most severe form of female troubles and was told that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has saved my life and made me a well woman."

Mrs. Arthur R. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day I am well and strong."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ailments, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

WHO FOR CONGRESS?

Solution Of This Question. The Chief Political Event In The First District At Fall Election.

There seems to be a growing conviction on the part of the Democrats in the First Congressional District that they can win with the right man this year. It is believed that making the Wilson Ballot law applicable to other counties in the district, Dorchester and Queen Anne, has further improved the chances, together with the repeal of the clause in our election laws making it compulsory to provide sample ballots in those counties.

The voters this year will not be allowed to have sample ballots to guide them in the marking of the ticket and consequently can not be taught to mark certain known spaces on the ticket.

It is also believed that the passage of the Corrupt Practice act has very materially improved democratic chances, as this will probably keep our district from being flooded with money as has been the case in all previous Congressional elections for several years back.

Possible Candidates Spoken Of.

On the Republican side the impression seems to be growing that Hon. W. H. Jackson will again be the nominee, although it is generally understood that this honor is not desired by Mr. Jackson and party welfare will be the only reason for his consent if he agrees to again run.

On the Democratic side the name of J. Harry Covington of Talbot is coming prominently to the front as a possible nominee. Hon. Joshua W. Miles of Somerset is being mentioned in connection with the nomination, as well as that of his brother, Mr. H. L. D. Stanford who made such a high record for himself and county in the last Legislature.

It is not known whether either of these gentlemen will allow the use of their names in this connection. Hon. John P. Moore is also mentioned as a possible nominee. He has not, however, given an indication of any desire for the honor. Hon. Thos. A. Smith of Caroline, who has fought hard battles against Congressman Jackson, resulting in a tie, is believed by many to be a winner for the nomination. The friends of State Senator Harper of Queen Anne are pointing him out as good congressional timber. Wicomico as far as is now known will not have any candidate in the field, although with money elicited by the Corrupt Practice Act, John James E. Ellegood would be a natural selection for a winner considering the splendid fight he made in 1906 against such heavy odds.

—Mrs. Lena B. Sampson, of Fruitland, wishes to announce that she has returned home from the city with a full load of millinery and notions and will have her spring and summer opening on April 14th and 15th, 1908. All are cordially invited to call and inspect the goods before purchasing elsewhere.

—The selection of young men's names to the local militia company, the 1st Salisbury, is being made.

MARDELA.

The young people of Hebron will give "The Mari Jera Return," a drama in three acts in Grange Hall this Saturday evening the 11th. They will also sing the latest and popular songs. Doors open at 7.00 and curtain rises at 8 P. M. Admission, children 15 cents and adults 30 cents.

An automobile touring party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Robertson, daughter Mary and son Will, Mrs. J. A. Robertson and Mr. Claude S. Bounds, of Whaleyville, Va., arrived here Wednesday night via Norfolk, Va.

Rev. W. N. and Mrs. Conaway left Thursday for their new charge at Hollands Island. While here they made many friends who were loath to part with them.

Rev. Burdett and family have been spending some time at the Austin House.

Shad are very plentiful in our waters and many large catches are being reported. Sorry to hear that James T. could not stack 'em.

Mrs. C. G. Jackson returned home on Thursday after having spent some time in Salisbury.

Mr. Geo. Dougherty and family of Tyaskin have moved in our vicinity on the Jackson Farm. We gladly welcome them in our midst.

Rev. H. L. Elderdice and wife of Westminster are visiting Mrs. Eunty Elderdice this town.

Mrs. Lawrence Freeny and children of Pittsville returned home on Friday.

Mr. D. C. Johnson left Monday for Mansfield, Pa., where he has accepted a position. While here Mr. Johnson won many friends.

We are all glad to learn that Rev. Mr. Harriman is coming back to Mardeela for another year. We are sorry that Rev. Mr. Conaway has been sent to another field. We feel that we are very fortunate in having a set of ministers who get along so nicely with each other. They are kind and brotherly towards each other. Rev. Mr. Parker of the Baptist Church has been pastor here for four years.

After an absence of two months, Mrs. B. G. Parker has returned home. She was away taking care of her son, Wallace, who had a bad spell of the Typhoid fever. Wallace is now out of danger it is believed. He expected to come home for a while, but on account of his sister, Marian having the measles his doctor thought it best for him not to come home now.

Miss Marian Parker took the measles while attending the Business College in Salisbury. Dr. Elderdice the attending physician says it was a very severe case. The young lady at this writing is much improved.

The farmers hereabout are busy with their spring work. The clover is growing nicely. The peas are not looking as well as they ought to be at this time of the year. There are a great many of them planted this year. Some of the farmers think that this will be an off year for truck of all kinds. They think this because it will be the Presidential year. But they seem to forget that the people will have to eat, Bryan or no Bryan, Taft or no Taft. The tomato crop has not received much of a boom yet. The prices offered by the canners do not seem to warrant any large planting. If there is not something more favorable soon the acreage of tomatoes will be small this year. The Cannery does not seem to make any advances towards the growers and the growers seem unconcerned about the matter. If they cannot get a fair price for their tomatoes they will not plant.

Some of our prominent people here, who received letters from some of our State Legislators, who promised to vote for the Local Option bill, are at a loss to know why they did not do as they promised. But if they ever come out for re-election the people will know. The people may be fooled once, but woe, betide the politician who attempts to do it the second time.

Letter to S. A. Graham, Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: A bank messenger lost a small coin. He set his bag down and looked for it. Found it, but somebody else had run off with his bag $30.00. A man who is going to paint his better look out for his gallons. Devil is the least gallons paint. It's gallons that cost; it isn't the price of a gallon. With one paint ten gallons is plenty another eleven or twelve or thirteen and so on twenty two gallons; and every gallon has to be paid for and painted $3 to $4 a day for painting paint stuffed out with some sort of whitewash. The less the price of a gallon the more the gallons.

Bank messengers better look out for their bags and not stop to hunt for small coin; and property owner better look out for the gallons the make the expense, and not for the price which has nothing to do with it. Yours truly, F. W. DEVORE OF P. S.—The L. W. Ganby Co., set our paint.

For the Children

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health in every way.

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the blood is in proper condition. Correct any impurities by giving small doses of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. All vegetable, sugar-coated.

OCEAN CITY MECCA.

"Dry" Resort For Temperance Conventions. Plan Improvements. Big Payroll For Large Gatherings.

Temperance and local option are to have a home at Ocean City on the famous Eastern Shore of Maryland, if the project headed by George F. Taylor, of this city, can be realized through a liberal expenditure of time, money and energy.

As Chautauque, N. Y., is the summer convention place of scientific and literary scholars, and Northfield, Mass., and Aubury Park, N. J., the meeting places of religious bodies, so is Ocean City to be made the Mecca of the foes of rum.

Hardly had this resort voted "dry" March 6, until the project was launched by temperance men to take over the properties formerly licensed and to erect from them a flourishing city by the sea. They got with little effort a majority of the most valuable lots and buildings, and yesterday took the initial step, when a party of temperance men from this city joined a excursion from Salisbury and Berlin, Md., to view Ocean City and make plans to boom it.

It is proposed to start work within a fortnight on a pavilion large enough to accommodate the crowds of excursionists expected this season. This auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1000 and will be constructed along the lines of the concert pavilion in Willow Grove.

Already invitations have been sent to temperance and anti-saloon organizations of the eastern Atlantic states that they convene this summer at Ocean City, and it is said the offer will be accepted in many cases.

Besides catering to organization, it is also proposed to make Ocean City a cottage as well as a convention resort. To guard against erection of cheap stores and homes, stringent building laws setting a minimum price for the cost of structures will be enforced.

This resort of two score years' activity is much frequented by people of Washington and Baltimore. It is 140 miles from Philadelphia and the national capital and 180 miles from Baltimore.

Situated on the Sinepuxent Beach, midway between Atlantic City, N. J., and Old Point Comfort, Va., it is the nearest point to the gulf stream on the coast excepting Cape Hatteras.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Held Special Session Wednesday. School Appropriations. Other Business.

The Board of County Commissioners met at their office in the Court House Wednesday with all members present. A delegation from Pittsville came before the board asking for an appropriation for a new school building. Another delegation from Friendship was before the board on a similar mission.

The Commissioners stated they could not make separate appropriations for school buildings but would make their appropriation direct to the School Board to be used as the School Board, thought best. The Commissioners expressed themselves as desiring to have the public make known the needs of the county through delegations sent before them.

The greater part of the session was taken up with the Road question. A new road was asked for, to extend from Friendship Church in Tassikin across the swamp to the John J. Dashiell farm. The matter was referred to Mr. Clark and Mr. Messick.

A petition was put in for a new road from Willards north to Gum Run Branch. The papers were referred to Commissioners Johnson and Traut and to Mr. Clark, engineer. The Clerk of the Circuit Court was authorized to have tile flooring in the vault in his office and $100.00 was appropriated for that purpose.

Bills were passed and ordered paid as follows:

U. G. Messick, $11.55, work on road. State Insane Asylum, $3.00. John A. Inley, $68.33, Road Supervisor.

Winona Packing Co., $106.40, shells. F. P. Anderson, $11.38, Road Supervisor.

W. K. Leatherbury, $359.00 for shells. W. K. Leatherbury, $584.10 for shells to shell Creek Crossing.

W. K. Leatherbury, $584.70, Conl-bourn Road.

T. P. Prior, $3.00, Road Supervisor. Joe Palayette, $298.63.

John Hutton, $38.45, road work. Sundry Parties for Ferry house, $167.30.

Jobe Darby, $21.30, work on road. Chas. Parks, $10.94, work on road.

W. H. Budd, $12.63, work on road. Eugene Bailey, $4.50, work on road.

L. B. Brumby, $4.50, work on road. B. O. & A. Ry. Co., $90, shells.

The Board will meet again on Tuesday, April 21.

ABOUT STREET PAVING.

City Council Held Special Meeting To Consider Division Street Improvement. The Matter Discussed.

The question of paving our street was taken up by the City Council on Friday night at a special meeting held for that purpose. At the request of the members of the Council property owners of Division Street in the portion that is being considered for paving, were present in large numbers and the question was argued with a much spirit and earnestness.

The question of what should be done with the street, whether pave it with vitrified brick, bitulithic, macadam or leave it as it is with shells, was taken up, and each system had its advocates. Many of those present however were opposed to brick on account of the cost—about $2.50 per running foot fronting on property, and also to bitulithic which was more expensive than brick. Objections were also made to brick on account of the noise, which was held to be a very objectionable feature on a street which is a resident street altogether.

It was pointed out by those who were opposed to brick or bitulithic that while traffic was heavy on that street as far as number of vehicles using it were concerned, this was of a light nature as practically no hauling or heavy loads were carried to this street—the mills and manufacturers of this section getting most of their material by water and carrying it to their plants down Church St., and that all the freight coming to town by the way of the B. O. & A. R. R. is carried to Fulton Station and thence to the merchants and wholesalers by way of the back street. On the other hand those who were in favor of brick or bitulithic argue that this was one of the most used streets in town and that the placing of any material less substantial than brick or bitulithic was folly and would not answer the purpose as it would not be hard enough to stand the wear and tear it would be put to on this street and while the money was being spent they believed in getting something that would last and be a permanent improvement and not have to be done over again in a few years. The meeting adjourned without reaching any decision and the matter is in the hands of the Council.

FOR MORE BUSINESS

Wm. M. Cooper & Bro. Establish Office For General Brokerage Commission. Grain, Feed And Hay Trade.

Messrs. Wm. M. Cooper and Brothers have prepared to engage in a general brokerage Commission and Manufacturers agents business and for this purpose have opened an office at 113 North Division Street head of Main. They will also include a Grain, Hay and Feed business, which will be an accommodation to many buyers.

Salisbury, owing to its natural location and shipping facilities presents an admirable selection for an enterprise of this character, which should be a convenience to the trade, enabling buyers to fill their requirements in the lines above mentioned, which are needed in almost every branch of industry, in this city which is a central point easy of access and quick for distribution.

The firm is well known in this county, having been engaged in fire insurance which is continued on, for several years.

Mr. W. M. Cooper, the senior member, is president of the Board of County Commissioners and much interested in advanced agriculture. Mr. Mark Cooper, the Junior member, will be the manager of the new business at 113 North Division Street. He has been successfully associated with his brother here since 1899 and is well known in this section. The trade may expect to get value in full in their dealings and share profitably as a mutual concern.

Our people are fortunate in having a reliable home company to deal with, and should respond with their co-operation and trade. Salisbury wants all the business possible. It's good for our city and country.

A NEW ENTERPRISE

For Salisbury. Wholesale Confectionery, Etc., To Be Established By Salisbury Candy Co. The Incorporators.

L. Atwood Bennett, Attorney, has filed papers with the Clerk of Court incorporating the "Salisbury Candy Company of Salisbury, Md." The new company is capitalized at $5,000 with the privilege of increasing the Capital to $50,000. The incorporators are Messrs. V. Ferry, W. F. Allen, W. A. Ennis, W. J. White and Jas. L. Bennett. The principle office of the new company will be a Salisbury, and they will occupy the building on Main St., below Dock now used by Mr. W. A. Ennis as a food store. This building will be renovated and fixed up to meet the requirements of their business. The company will engage in the sale of confectionaries, fruits, extracts, essences, patent medicines, etc. While under their charter they are authorized to conduct either a wholesale or retail business or both it is understood that their purpose is to engage in the wholesale business.

The following were elected officers of the Company: Vandalia Perry, Pres., W. F. Allen, Vice-Pres., W. A. Ennis, Sec'y, Treas. and Gen. Manager. These with W. J. White and Jas. L. Bennett of Somerset County, make up the board of Directors.

They expect to be ready to open up for business on or about the first of May.

DISTRICT JUDGE U. S. COURT

Recommends Pe-ru-na as an Invigorating Tonic.

Judge John W. Bixler, formerly United States Circuit Judge, now United States District Judge, of Kansas, endorses Peruna.

JUDGE JOHN W. BIXLER.
1750 P. STREET,
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Pe-ru-na Testimonials.

When any man or woman, out of pure gratitude, writes a letter, commenting upon the benefits he has received from the use of Peruna, when he does this without any solicitation or remuneration of any sort, and furnishes us a recent photograph, so that his identity and responsibility in the matter is beyond question, then do we consider a testimonial available for our advertising purposes.

We are at the present time publishing many hundreds of testimonials. We give the name and address in full of each one of these people.

We have no use for, nor would we publish for any sum of money, a fraudulent testimonial. To do such a thing would be dishonorable from a moral standpoint, and commercial suicide from a business standpoint.

Tonic and Appetizer.

W. H. Parsons is ex-State Senator and ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, also Brigadier General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials of the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip, with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula.

"I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week. It is especially good in toning up the stomach, and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged and I am on the road to complete recovery."

Appetite and Digestion Poor.

Mr. Charles Schwelha, Lexington, Texas, writes:

"I suffered from catarrh of the liver. What I ate disagreed with me. I was weak and feverish. I slept very poorly, had rash of blood to the head. I was very dependent, and took no pleasure in anything. My appetite was changeable, digestion poor.

"Your medicine made me well again, for which I express to you my heartfelt thanks. I firmly believe that for all who suffer in like manner it would have the same good effect."

Disordered Liver, Constipation.

Mr. W. O. Clement, Assistant Manager "Rome Georgian," Rome, Ga., writes: "It affords me pleasure to voluntarily testify to the true merits of your wonderful Peruna.

"I have for several years been suffering from disordered liver and chronic constipation, for which I had tried a great many remedies, but none did me any good. My whole system was so thoroughly overcome that I was easy to catch cold and the consequence was that a chronic case of catarrh was fast developing.

"I have been taking Peruna for six weeks and am happy to say that it has had the desired effect. My liver is in good condition, constipation disappeared, and I no longer feel any of the symptoms of catarrh.

"In truth I am now in better health and feel stronger than I have for several years and it is all due to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

Systemic Catarrh.

Mr. Moses F. Morrill, Route 8, Columbus, Kansas, writes:

"The improvement in my health has been wonderful. My bowels are regular as clock-work. I can now eat like other people and my vitality is completely restored. I think I am cured of systemic catarrh.

"It has been a hard fight, but I came out victor. Many thanks for your kind counsel and management."

FEW HERE KNOW THIS.

Simple Home Made Treatment Said To Overcome Rheumatism.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton, Pa., Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, every-day drugs found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get at any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Basilium, one-half ounce; Compound Eucalypti, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bed time. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache. He also warns people in a leading New York paper against the discriminate use of many patent medicines.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

Eureka! Yes, I Have Found It At Last.

I found what? Why that Chamberlain's Salve cures eczema and all manner of itching of the skin. I have been afflicted for many years with this disease. I had to get up twice or four times every night and wash with cold water to allay the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1906, the itching has stopped and I am enabled to sleep. I am now John T. Ungley, Roanoke, Va. For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but Chamberlain's Salve cures them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

TWO REMARKABLE CURES OF ECZEMA

Over Twenty-three Years Ago Baby had Severe Attack—Years Later Grandfather Suffered Torments with the Disease—Violent Sores Developed from Knees to Toes.

BOTH OWE COMPLETE RECOVERY TO CUTICURA

"In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after trying the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an increased severity of the disease and suffering, I recommended Cuticura, and in a few weeks the child was well. He is to-day a strong man and a successful lawyer from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema, and became an invalid sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having an sleep, my toes and fingers from the knees to the toes being covered with violent sores. I tried practitioners, specialists, dermatologists for no purpose. My daughter-in-law reminded me of having prescribed Cuticura for my grandson more than twenty years ago. I at once procured the Cuticura Remedies and found immediate improvement and final cure, all to-day, though well along in years, I am as though I had never had that disease. I am well known in the vicinity of Louisville and Cincinnati, and all could be verified by witnesses. M. W. Laithe, 845 Seventh St., Louisville, Ky., April 23 and May 14, 1907."

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema, the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis, the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurement, as in acne—all demand remedies of extraordinary virtue to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stand proven by testimonials of remarkable cures when many remedies and even physicians have failed. One use is often sufficient to cure.

GOOD FRIDAY.

Yesterday, Good Friday, was the anniversary of the crucifixion of Christ—an anniversary which has been observed from the earliest period of Christianity, as a day of mourning and solemn observances.

In order that mortals might be benefited and saved, Christ, on this day made the supreme sacrifice of his life.

Possessed of a spotless reputation among men, a perfect character, and of infinite wisdom and love, he was persecuted by those he was attempting to help, and called upon to give up life itself by the most cruel and barbarous method so that an erring, sinful world might be helped and redeemed.

The cup he was called upon to drink was bitter, so bitter that even his indomitable spirit quailed before the sacrifice, and he prayed that it might be taken from him, yet willingly endured the tortures and agonies of death that his sacrifice might be complete.

Who, be he christian or pagan has read of the pure, simple, perfect, life of Christ without being filled with admiration and respect, veneration and love at the life he led, at the love and wisdom revealed, and the perfect character displayed; or without being filled with sorrow and sympathy, coupled with grief and desolation, at his sublime sacrifice on the cross.

It is fitting indeed his sacrifice should be remembered at this time of year and that special services should be held throughout the country reminding the people of his sufferings for their sake and binding them by the tender ties of gratitude and love to his cause and service.

Perfection is not found in any human being, and the chief difference between one individual and another is only a matter of degree: Our memories are short; Our gratitude uncertain and variable in duration; trifles and vanities of life creep in and crowd out the deeper, the truer, the nobler sentiments of life: we allow our minds to be filled with the little—the non-essential things to the detriment, and at times, the almost annihilation of the better. The flesh is weak indeed.

An uncertainty—a fickleness is found everywhere: in our business world; in our political world; our social intercourse is not free from it; nor is our so-called religious world.

Our gratitude and our respect, our admiration and our love often varies its intensity to the distance in time we have passed since the act or acts first aroused the sentiment in our breast.

Perhaps this is for our own good for it is likewise true of worse side of our feelings, and envy and dislike, jealousy and hatred decrease and diminish as time passes by and we are thus given the opportunity of strengthening our better side by nursing and encouraging, while by neglecting the other it will pass away of itself.

All in all we are a strange combination of good and bad, each apparently warring a relentless and unremitting war against the other for the supremacy in our nature with first one and then the other in the ascendancy.

Upon ourselves alone depends the outcome of the fight, for our nature can be built up or pulled down; our minds can be improved or allowed to degenerate, our consciences can be made more and more sensitive to what is right and what is wrong until the distinction is very subtle indeed, or they can be dulled to the point of almost total obliteration and will not condemn or disapprove any action no matter how depraved or how bad. It is well for us in this fight to have the noble life and example of Christ constantly before us, to encourage us in the fight, and remind us that what little we may be called upon to sacrifice for the right place into insignificance when paled beside that of His.

MUSIC OVER WIRES.

Telegraph To Be Given Public Demonstration in Baltimore April 21. New Use For Phones.

The first public demonstration of the telmusica, the invention of Mr. George R. Webb, of Baltimore, for transmitting music over telephone wires, will be given at the Lyric, Baltimore City, on Tuesday, April 21, at the annual entertainment of the Journalists' Club. Mr. Webb has been working on the device for nearly three years, and only recently succeeded in perfecting it. On Monday Mr. Webb made a test with the device at the Lyric and the result was most satisfactory.

The feature of the telmusica is that it will reproduce vocal as well as instrumental music. The music is of the disc-record character, and is reproduced by an apparatus of Mr. Webb's own invention. This apparatus is located at some central station and the music sent over wires to wherever desired. So well adjusted are the instruments used in reproducing the music that it is almost perfect and completely fills a big hall like the Lyric.

The telmusica will probably come into general use within the next few years. As the name indicates, it is music designed especially for telephone subscribers. Mr. Webb had in mind the furnishing of music over telephone wires when he went to work on the device, and the idea is to have telephone companies install the apparatus in their central exchanges and furnish subscribers music service.

How The Telmusica Works.

First there is a little box to which a horn is connected that by the mere turning of a lever becomes connected with the telephone wires leading to the central exchange. A subscriber takes off the receiver and asks the operator for a half hour or an hour of music, designating the selections desired and a second later the music begins coming over the wire. The device is so arranged that the volume of music can be adjusted to suit the size of the room. At the end of the month the telephone subscriber is charged for the half hour or hour of music, in addition to calls.

The cost of such service it is pointed out, is comparatively small, and it is predicted that there will be a large demand for it as soon as the invention is taken up by telephone companies. Mr. Webb has shown his invention so far only to a limited number of people, but those who have heard it have been amazed at the results he has obtained. Only recently an experiment was made in receiving the music over a telephone wire six miles away from the building where the apparatus was located, and the music was as clear and as perfect as when tried in a building only half a mile away.

Mr. Webb is an associate member of the Journalists' Club, and when preparations for the entertainment were begun he consented to allow the first public demonstration of his new invention to be made a part of the programme.

The special sale of Chas. M. Steiff in the Mitchell building, which has been going on for the past two weeks, will practically be brought to a close this week. Under the management of Mr. Ivey Jessup it has been a great success, and the courtesy that was shown to every customer and visitor by their salesmen and Miss Weissbach, makes their leaving a matter of regret by many. For many years the Steiff piano has stood at the highest in this section, and we should feel proud to encourage the sale of a piano of such reputation and one built in our own State.

—Mr. J. Cleveland White gave a supper at the Palm Garden to a number of his friends Thursday evening. Those present were Miss Pauline Collier, Miss Elizabeth Collier, Miss Alice Gumbly, Miss Ruth Gumbly, Messrs. O. Edgar Laws, John M. Laws, Harry C. Fooks, and J. Cleveland White.

—Miss Bartie E. Bennett, Massena graduate of the Pennsylvania Orthopaedic Institute of Medical and Cosmetic Massage and Medical Gymnastics. Office hours from 9 to 5, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at the Masonic Temple. Room 7. Manicuring at office each day mentioned above.

—A Missionary Musical Tea will be given by the ladies of the Presbytery Missionary Society, on Easter Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Toadvine. Admission 25 cents including refreshments.

—The will of Elizabeth Brown was probated this week. She appoints M. A. Davis, of Pittsville, her administrator and leaves her farm and all personal property to him to hold in trust for her son, Stansbury Brown.

—Miss Helen Fairfield, a skilled masseuse, a graduate of the Walter Sanatorium and School of Massage offers her professional services to the ladies of Salisbury. For fuller information she may be seen or addressed at No. 107 Isabella Street. Best of references furnished.

—Rev. B. O. Parker will hold special Easter services in the old Presbyterian Church of Marcola Springs on Sunday afternoon at 3.30. There will be special music. The sermon will be a discourse on the Resurrection.

—The City Council held an informal meeting Thursday night and discussed the proposition of paving Division and other streets. They expect to get down to work in a short time.

—You will like it. The "Man of the Hour" story, which is creating so much talk over land and sea begins in today's Advertiser. Start from the Republican Convention Of The First District In Salisbury.

In one of the shortest conventions on record, it lasting only about 30 minutes, the Republicans in the First district Thursday elected delegates and alternates to the national convention, and also a presidential elector.

The delegates are Collector Phillips Lee Goldsborough, of Dorchester, and State Senator Joseph I. France, of Cecil.

Alternates—Robert F. Duer, of Somerset, and David P. McMenamin, of Kent.

Presidential Elector—Joseph P. Adkins, of Worcester.

Although the business of the convention was quickly transacted, it required some very fine political engineering on the part of the winners to land the prizes.

—The trial of Tobe Barkley, colored, formerly of Salisbury, charged with the murder of William Jackson, also colored at Milford, last July, in a game of crap, was postponed until the October term of the Sussex County Court, and the special jurors drawn were discharged. The prisoner claims he can prove an alibi.

E. W. TRUITT, MANUFACTURER OF FERTILIZERS FOR ALL CROPS

For STRAWBERRIES—A fertilizer that is said to prevent frosts from injuring blossoms to a great extent; also make nice berries and make the size hold up well in case of long drouths. I have experimented on this particular kind for the past six years.

WHITE POTATOES—A fertilizer that will make a good crop (season permitting) without being too expensive.

CORN Fertilizer, for best results, must contain ingredients that will not burn the crop under the worst weather conditions.

TOMATO and CANTALOUPE Fertilizer is another study of mine. To get best results with smallest outlay consistent with what is expected out of the crop, the plants must grow fast from the start and have a fertilizer that contains all necessary elements.

Any kind of goods mixed to order on short notice. It is to my best interest to study the needs of the farmer in this line.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

BY ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE
OF THE NEW YORK TIMES
AND THE LONDON TIMES

With all the advantages of youth, education and good looks and no vocation other than the enjoyment of wealth, the hero of our present story chose rather to sacrifice his ease and comfort on the altar of his duty as a citizen. His city called him to save her from spoliation and corruption, and he responded to the call. To lure him from the path of right came the seductions of love and the claims of a revered parent's memory, allied with the mighty forces at the command of political and financial malfeasance. The firmness with which "the man of the hour" singled out for the highest post in a great municipality by those who saw in him only a weakling and a fool, resisted the very forces that had elevated him for their own purposes to official power will be an inspiration to the reader, as it has been an uplifting force in the minds of thousands who have witnessed its theatrical representation.

CHAPTER I.

THE country house of Charles Walwright, financier, topped the ridge overlooking the water in a climax of architectural hideousness and extravagant cost. The grounds of Charles Walwright, financier, stretched out into countless acres of landscape gardening. The whole estate of Charles Walwright, financier, eclipsed those of his neighbors in the fashionable suburb, even as the name of Charles Walwright, financier, eclipsed almost every other in the city world where money ruled as undisputed and absolute monarch.

Even when he turned from the bustle of the city and fellow money builders and sought for a space the simple life on his $2,500,000 country place, with its modest equipment of forty-one servants, Mr. Walwright so far carried into the wilds the atmosphere of business and the burden of other men's wealth as to have a very complete little stockbroker room fitted up adjoining his library and to keep a man night and day at his private wire. Charles Walwright, financier, was a bachelor. No estate or status was carried about with her portable advertisement of his wealth in the shape of fabulously valuable jewels or made his name renowned in opera box, Newport casino or Lenox cottages. His only brother had died years before, leaving a mere beggarly million dollars or so and two children to divide it. These children—Dallas, a strikingly pretty and still more strikingly independent girl of twenty-four, and Perry, a delightfully lazy, lovable lad of twenty-one—lived with their uncle, who managed their affairs, let them go pretty much as they chose and—as they were more or less unobtrusive and entertaining and decidedly popular—was rather fond of them.

The trio had passed a pleasant, uneventful month at the big house on the hill early in the summer of 19—, when a day dawned whereon fate booked a number of decidedly interesting fateful happenings to occur.

Walwright himself was up betimes and at work in his library, poring over market reports, cipher telegrams and a dozen other details of deals which his simple life cut did not prevent him from operating at long range. With him was his secretary, Thompson, a jaded, earnest looking young fellow, whose unobtrusive efficiency had long since won the financier's admiration. This morning affairs in the financial world had gone more than ordinarily to Mr. Walwright's liking. Moreover, a paragraph in one of the city papers that had caught his eye had set his lean gray face to twitching with an near approach to a smile as the great man ever permitted. Altogether he was in an unwontedly genial mood, and some of his good nature so far expanded as to include his busy secretary.

"Thompson," he remarked as the last batch of correspondence was cleared away, "you're looking pale. Do I work you too hard?"

"No, indeed, sir," replied the secretary, with a promptitude that had something almost slavish in it.

"Feeling all right?" went on Walwright. "You need more exercise. Why don't you get out of doors often?"

"The work, sir—"

"Get another man to help you do the telegraph part of it, then. I—"

"Thank you, sir. You are very kind indeed; but, if it's just the same to you, I'd rather handle it all myself. I hope the work's perfectly satisfactory, sir?"

"Perfectly, Thompson. You're the only employee I have who seems to love work for work's sake. Send anything of Mr. Gibbs this morning?"

"No, sir. I don't believe he's up yet. Coming by such a late train last night, you know, sir."

and that interested me in you. For instance, that deal of yours in South Sea copper?"

"Yet that was the deal the papers all—"

"All denounced you for? What do you care? You were within the law. They've been hammering me for years and attributing all sorts of low motives to me. As long as the law doesn't interfere I'm going to get all I can. So are you. So is every sane man. As long as it can be done without any fuss or shouting. A mosquito could bite twice as often if only he didn't sing a song about it. By the way, have you seen the papers?"

"No. Anything new?"

"One thing at least that ought to interest you. Listen to this. The engagement of the niece of a world celebrated financier to a prominent young broker is about to be announced. The young lady and her brother are orphans and are not only their famous uncle's wards, but also the sole heirs to his vast wealth. They are summering at his magnificent country place, where the fortunate broker is said to spend every one of the very few moments left vacant by his darling stock manipulations. No mistaking that, eh, Gibbs?"

"It ought to bring matters to a head, I should think."

"It certainly should," assented Walwright. "In fact, it's such an additional master stroke that I've a notion you may possibly have been at the bottom of it. Now, confess. Weren't you?"

"Well, of course I didn't exactly write it. But—"

"Clever boy! Dallas will have to show her hand now or never. She's kept you on the anxious seat too long as it is. That's the reason I asked you up here for the day. She must settle it today if I can manage it. She knows how anxious I am for her to accept."

"But I'm sometimes afraid she does not care for me."

"Then make her care. As long as she cares for no one else you can persuade her to believe she adores you."

"How do you know? You're a bachelor."

"Perhaps that's how I know. And she doesn't care for any one else."

"You're sure? There's Bennett, for instance."

"Always Bennett? Why, absurd! She's known him all her life. They're just good friends; nothing more. He's our nearest neighbor here, and it's only natural. Besides, he isn't the sort of man she wants. He's an idiot. She likes men who have made something of themselves—like yourself, for instance. So make yourself easy on that score. If Bennett loved her, he'd have proposed long ago."

"Not necessarily. He's not a man to get started easily, but once start him and—"

"Then don't start him. Go in and win. What is it, Thompson?"

The secretary entered from the office with a dispatch.

"There's an answer, sir," said he. "Here's a blank."

Walwright read the message, scribbled a few lines and handed the reply to the secretary, who hurried out with it.

"So Thompson is not only a secretary, but a telegraph operator as well," remarked Gibbs as the clicking of a Morse instrument sounded from the office.

"He's everything," replied Walwright. "He's a wonder. He heard me say I wished I had a good operator up here, whom I could trust, so without a word he was here and learned"

"I was up as late as he was, and I was at work by 8. But when a man takes his first holiday in six years, as he is doing, I suppose oversleeping is part of the fun. There's a man to pattern yourself after, Thompson! I remember when he started out he hadn't a penny—nothing but the resolve to get money and then to get more of it. And now look at him! At thirty-five he's the head of one of the busiest brokerage houses in—"

"Good morning!" broke in a voice from the foot of the broad stairway across the hall. "Sorry to be so late. Do you know how the market is?"

"It's opened even stronger than I hoped," said Walwright. "Take a look at these dispatches and see for yourself. Had your breakfast?"

"Yes, thank," answered the new-comer, a well-groomed, stockily built man, lounging into the room, with a nod at Thompson, who discreetly withdrew into the adjoining office.

"Seems queer to have a whole day away from the office. I hardly know what to do with so much spare time."

"It's the everyday hard work that's put you where you are today, Gibbs."

"You mean the defeat of the present city administration this fall?"

"Just that, and I don't believe it will be beaten. The organization's solid as a rock. They have the police, the firemen, the school board and—"

"But the people at large?"

"The people at large are sheep that like to be driven by the strongest shepherd. If they weren't, they'd have broken loose a century ago and run the city and the country to suit themselves. Just now Dick Horrigan happens to be the 'shepherd' who can make them go wherever he says."

"Shepherd and 'crook' combined, I should say," commented Gibbs, chuckling at his own feeble joke.

"I wouldn't let a speech like that get back to Horrigan if I were you," returned Walwright dryly. "Your cleverness might suffer. Nothing except maybe, gratitude is so bad as humor for spoiling a man's chances in business or politics. A laugh costs more than people think. But, speaking of the election this fall, a reform wave or any change of city administration would smash our Borough Street railway deal. To offset that, I've joined hands with Horrigan. If I can bring him to see things my way, he shall have cash enough to buy all the honest voters he needs. He's coming here this noon to talk things over with me. Phelan's coming too."

"Phelan? You mean the alderman of the Eighth? You'll have a pleasant little gathering. Perhaps you didn't know that Phelan and Horrigan have had a row and—"

"And that's why I'm bringing them together here today. I want to patch up their quarrel if I can. I need them both. Phelan's a useful man."

"But Horrigan is boss of the organization. If you have him on your side, why do you bother about getting Phelan too?"

"Yes, Horrigan is boss. He's fought his way up by bulldog tactics. He has no diplomacy—nothing but brute force. Now, Phelan has just as much force in his way, but he's as tricky as a fox too. I've known him ever since he was chief of police. He's a dangerous man. If he's against us, he can make trouble. I want him. He'll be a 'Judge Newman' announced the butler."

A whimsical frown crossed Walwright's face, but cleared into a passably hospitable expression as a little gray-haired man, with a solemn, weak face, trotted pompously in on the heels of the butler's announcement.

"Good morning, Judge," said the host pleasantly. "You don't know Mr. Gibbs. I think of Gibbs, Norton & Co. Judge Newman is my next-door neighbor on the left as you come from the station. Gibbs. You must have noticed the place—Queen Anne house, with—"

"Oh, he probably never gave it a glance," put in the Judge. "A mere cottage, that's all. When a man with my meager judicial salary has a social position to keep up and four daughters that aren't married and—Charles, you can't realize what it means to have four unmarried—"

"No, I cannot," assented Walwright quickly, "and from present signs I'm not likely to. I hope Mrs. Newman is well!"

The little Judge's face grew doubly important.

"Extremely well, thank you," said he. "A wonderful woman! You've met her, Mr. Gibbs?"

"No! But of course you have often heard—"

"By the way, Charles, it was she who told me to drop in on you this morning. You see—I—she—"

"Mrs. Newman is most anxious for me to come up for re-election this fall. Mr. Horrigan, to whom I branch out the subject, doesn't quite seem to see it that way. He doesn't want to have me renominated. I thought, perhaps, as a personal favor to so old a friend, you might say a word to Mr. Horrigan in my behalf."

"Of course I'll do what little I can. Horrigan will be here today. Drop in a little after noon and I'll tell you how my intervention turns out."

"Oh, thank you so much!" cried the Judge, positively wriggling in his delight. "Mrs. Newman will be so pleased. And, by the way, won't you ask Perry why he never comes over to see my daughters? Please ask him if he won't. I'm sure Mrs. Newman would be glad if he did. Well, till afternoon, then. Good morning."

"Queer little rat!" observed Gibbs as the Judge bowed himself out. "Mrs. Newman must be a marvel if all he says is—"

"She is a wonder as a husband trainer. She's tamed him so he doesn't know his soul's his own. A good little man because he's never had a chance to be otherwise. It's against Horrigan about him, though. It's always well to have a crowd on the bench. One never can tell when—"

But Gibbs was not listening. His heavy face had lighted with a sudden glow of eagerness. Turning to note the cause, Walwright saw his niece Dallas descending the stairs. Involuntarily she halted as she reached the threshold and saw Gibbs. Then, her sense of hospitality triumphing over impulse, she came in and greeted her uncle's guest with some show of cordiality.

"Remember, Dallas," said Walwright as he prepared to go into his office, "Gibbs is here only for the day. I count on you to make his holiday as pleasant as you can." He glanced covertly at Gibbs, who had strolled to the window. Then the financier lowered his voice and said rapidly:

"Please be nice to Gibbs for my sake, Dallas. I do a great deal for you, and I don't mean ask anything in return."

He patted her on the shoulder with a gesture meant to be affectionate and hurried into the adjoining office. Scarcely had the door closed when Gibbs turned from the window, crossed the room to where Dallas stood and in his usual direct fashion said:

"You saw that?"

"The article in this morning's paper?"

"Yes."

"There was no confusion, no embarrassment, neither in the clear, girlish voice nor in the honest dark eyes that met Gibbs so calmly. He went on with a shade less confidence.

"It annoys you?"

"Very much indeed."

"You can't feel worse about it than I do, Miss Walwright."

"You didn't write it yourself, then?"

"Of course not! How could you think—"

"I didn't! I just wondered. Please see that the rumor is denied."

"Why should I? You are going to marry me some day, aren't you, Dallas?"

"Have I ever given you reason to think I would?"

"You have let me keep on coming to see you. You have—"

"I have told you that I don't care for you the way you want me to. I have great admiration and respect for you, but that is all. And it is not enough to marry on."

"It is enough for me, if I have your admiration and respect to start on. I'll soon make you love me."

"You would be satisfied with so little?"

"Yes. Knowing I could in time win more. You aren't the sort of girl who could marry a man if she didn't respect him—didn't admire him. You—"

"Perhaps I couldn't marry such a man. But perhaps I couldn't help loving him."

"Your chances for happiness would be better with me. Oh, Dallas, you know I love you! You've kept me waiting so long! Is it fair to either of us?"

"I hesitate because I want to be fair to us both. For that reason I must still ask you to wait."

"But I've waited so long! Tell me one thing: Is there any one else that—"

"Steps, none too light, clattered down the stairs, and into the library bounced a lad in tennis flannels. He was tall, well set up and good to look at and seemed always to have stepped directly from a bandbox and to have had extremely recent acquaintance with much soap and water.

"Hello, Dallas!" he shouted, encompassing his sister in a bear hug. "How soon are you?"

"Here's Mr. Gibbs, Perry," Dallas reminded him as she emerged, somewhat crumpled from the embrace.

"Have you?"

"The lad's manner underwent a lightning and fright change."

"Oh, good morning!" he grunted, with a curt nod to the visitor, and, picking up a paper, turned to the sport light sheet and became immersed in its contents, oblivious of all else.

"Mr. Gibbs is only spending one day with us," admonished Dallas, trying to soften her young brother's rudeness.

"Hope he'll enjoy it," came in absent tones from the depths of the paper.

Gibbs rose.

"I'm going out for a cigar on the terrace," said he. "I'll join you a little later."

"Perry," scolded Dallas as soon as the brother disappeared through the long windows, "how could you treat a guest of uncle's so rudely?"

"I don't like the fellow. And I don't like what I read in the paper today about him and you. Gee, what a mean paragraph! It's enough to make a white man want to dash out his brains with a cigarette. You're going to deny it in time for the retractions to get into tomorrow's paper, aren't you?"

"I'm not quite sure."

"Good Lord!" gasped Perry, slumping down in the nearest chair. "Are you crazy? Say, if you are looking for a real good, exciting match why don't you marry a Wall-street stock expert? It'd be better 'n Gibbs. If you marry him you'll only be an 'also rafter' with the ticker tape and the market news. Oh, keep out of it, old girl! You owe something to your intelligent and distinguished little brother. If you've got to commit matrimony, marry some one I like, can't you?"

"I haven't given him a definite answer yet," admitted the girl, a little touched by the real feeling that underlay her brother's flippant words.

"That's good medicine. Confidence restored and the run on Brother's emotions is checked. Next time you get the marry bee I have a dandy candidate to suggest for the job."

"Who?" laughed Dallas, amused in spite of herself.

"Always Bennett?"

"How silly!"

"Not on your life! Words of wisdom from the young—that's what it is. Go ahead and marry Bennett. Be a sport and say 'Yes.' Why don't you want to marry him?"

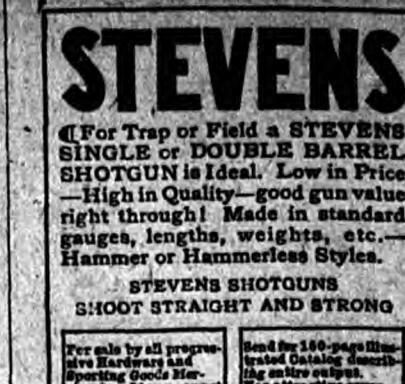

"For any one of a million reasons. First of all, he never asked me to."

"Maybe he's scared to. But if he wasn't stuck on you he wouldn't be hanging around here every day and going everywhere with you the way he does. I'll bet $5 he's—"

"Mr. Bennett!" the butler announced. Brother and sister stared guiltily at each other.

"Speaking of angels"—muttered Perry. But Dallas had already turned to welcome the visitor.

THE SONG OF THE WIND.

The wind that sings in the chimney

What does it say to me and you?

Rich is its haunting minor key—

Mourning for things that can never be,

Or things that are lost to the day and sup.

Back in some black oblivion.

It moves on wings from the misty past.

Over its gloom are shadows cast.

It whistles a dirge for ancient days—

Solemnly and are the times it plays.

Its volume rises and falls. 'Tis illa

The heart with tremors and doubts and thrills.

It's a drowsy throne by light or day—

As if Life and Joy had gone away.

It roams the breadth of the sea and earth,

But it never harbors a note of grief.

O, away old Harper, in wilderness ways,

Your requiem tells of the yesterday.

But who tells lies can the tale translate.

Or quote the promise of Life and Fate?

But sing away, in the chimney flue,

Or things that are old and things that are new—

Till sorrow suffering seem sublime—

To the very ends of the sands of Time

As if Life and Joy had gone away.

It roams the breadth of the sea and earth,

But it never harbors a note of grief.

O, away old Harper, in wilderness ways,

Your requiem tells of the yesterday.

But who tells lies can the tale translate.

Or quote the promise of Life and Fate?

But sing away, in the chimney flue,

Or things that are old and things that are new—

Till sorrow suffering seem sublime—

To the very ends of the sands of Time

Plenty of Salisbury Readers Have This Experience.

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and

Don't wait longer—take Doan's

Kidney Pills.

B. A. Bennett, Oriskany, N. Y., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family and we found them to be exactly as represented. I used them for backache and a general weakness across the small of the back brought on by inactive kidneys. A dull heavy pain and a weak, all gone feeling of depression prevailed my whole system, at times so severe as to make the least exertion not only painful but irksome, particularly mornings after a long sleepless night, when I would suffer with a lack of energy and languid, listless feelings.

Doctors and medicines failed to help me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and was in a miserable condition. They soon cured me of the whole trouble and not a trace of it has ever returned. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers.

before the National Mothers' Congress in Washington:

"If every mistress of a household in this country should demand pure foods there would be little difficulty in the courts, and manufacturers would soon cease making things which the moth-concerning an article of food, than made by manufacturers who produced foods that were naturally crooked. But by far the greatest majority have produced it, if they produced it at all, because of a public demand. 'Cheap,' as something cheap 'the people have cried and they have gotten their fill. Most naturally the realization has not been quite the anticipation, and in this fact is wrapped the origin of food law.

But it has been a good thing—this campaign of adulterated food. Because it has taught the public that while it can have cheap stuff, if it likes, it will be cheap in quality as well as in price.

URIAH W. SHOCKLEY

Of Worcester, Dead. Was Prominent in That County. Father Of P. S. Shockley, This City.

Mr. Uriah Shockley, a prominent resident of Worcester county, died at his home in Snow Hill, Sunday morning, of heart failure. He had just finished eating his breakfast and was reading the paper, when he died without a struggle. Mr. Shockley was born in Colbourne election district in Worcester county, Nov. 24, 1831. He was the son of Peter Shockley and Nancy Shockley and one of 14 children—seven sons and seven daughters—twelve of which lived to middle age and some longer.

Mr. Shockley was a retired farmer and the father of County Surveyor Peter S. Shockley, of Salisbury. In 1885 he engaged in the lumber business which he continued until 1890. For some time he was engaged in farming in Colbourne district, but on account of failing health he moved to Snow Hill and retired from active life. In 1854 he married Julia A. Tighman, daughter of Joshua and Sophia Tighman of this county. They had ten children of whom four are now living.

He was prominently identified with the Democratic party in Worcester county and was County Commissioner in 1871 and 1872. In 1889 and 1890 he was Sheriff. During both the Lowmire and Smith administrations he was president of the Board of Election Supervisors. He was also a director of the First National Bank of Snow Hill.

Mr. Shockley was 77 years of age. He leaves a widow, Miss Julia A. Tighman, of Worcester county; three sons (Peter Sidney Shockley, of Salisbury; Lieut. J. W. Shockley, of the Baltimore Police Force, and Clayton Shockley, Dendrow, Va.) and one daughter (Mrs. Parnell Books, of Snow Hill). He is also survived by three brothers (Lorenzo, William J. and Benjamin T. Shockley).

Letter to E. E. Twilley.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: There are two sorts of paint: one to sell and make money, the other to paint and save money. Who gets the paint? The maker, the seller, the painter?

Where does it come from? The answer, of course, is he pays the painter for doing the work, and the dealer for gallons of paint; and he pays the paint manufacturer, gallons again; and the owner to pay to the painter, dealer and paint manufacturer.

What's the paint that saves money? Gallons again; less gallons, less money for paint, less money for wages, less gallons of paint is $5 for wages and paint. Less gallons, less money to pay, $5 a gallon.

Two sorts of paint: less gallons and more; less money and more: $5 a gallon difference: two to one in gallons and money.

It costs twice as much to paint the average more-gallons paint as to paint yours. When the people find out, it may not be quite so easy to sell expensive paint by calling it "cheap."

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOS & CO.
L. W. Gushy Co. sell our paint.

Habitual Constipation

It can be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with and no longer needed as the best of health, and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, regular efforts and right living generally. It is its beneficial effects, always the genuine.

PRESBYTERIAN NEWS.

Meeting Of Women's Societies On Missions New Members Received In Church Here. Presbytery At Berlin.

The 23d annual meeting of the Women's Presbyterian Societies for Foreign and Home Missions was held in the Presbyterian Church at Middletown, Del., Thursday and Friday of last week. Representatives of the thirty-six churches on the Peninsula were in attendance. Representatives from Wicomico Presbyterian Church, Salisbury, were: From Woman's Home Missionary Society, Miss Alice Davis and Mrs. A. J. Benjamin; from the Young People's Missionary Society, Miss Alice Hill.

Mrs. Louisa Collier was re-elected vice-president of the Home Missionary Society, of which she is an active member.

Mrs. Charles E. Haizer, of this city, was elected secretary of Freedmen Society, a branch of the Home Mission Society. The treasurer of Home Missions reported receipts of $2,704.34 for the past year, and expenditures of $2,675.95. The expenditures for Foreign Missions totaled $1,780.84. The contributions of the Christian Endeavor were: Home, $655.85; Foreign, $658.65; total, $1,314.50. There are 66 organizations, with a total membership of 1,529.

The communion service in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday was well attended, a large proportion of the membership being present. Communion cards, signed by each communicant, and corresponding to some extent to the "Communion Tokens" in vogue years ago, were used for the first time. At this service 25 persons were publicly received into membership in the church, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Pope, Mrs. Mary P. Maddux, Capt. W. F. Vessey, Miss Alice O. Hill, Mr. H. W. Carty, Miss Lizzie E. McAllister, Miss Clara Morris, Miss Blanche Pennewell, Nevins W. Todd, Francis P. Todd, Wm. Byrd Green, J. Herman Williams, J. F. A FORMER SCRIBE

Now in Another Section Thinks of Home.
Wants Johnson for President.

Editors The Advertiser:
 Having been engaged for some time past in writing special articles for the leading dailies of the South and Middle West, I feel this morning, to say the least, a little homesick. I would like to return to my first love, the ADVERTISER, for a while and say something once more to the people of dear old Wisconsin. My people, as Roosevelt would say, who are here and dearer to me than all others on this terrestrial ball. Time hangs heavily on my hands for the time being and naturally my thoughts drift across the Mississippi over to old Wisconsin for, for this is a son of a gun living today who does not give the land of his birth a single thought he should not only be ostracized but promptly ostracized.

What is going on in Wisconsin politics these days? So far as I am able to learn everything is quiet over there. Dear old Wisconsin. She gave Gov. O'Brien a majority last fall that did that gentleman honor, showing that he should have appreciated, but so far he has never returned the compliment paid him by way of dropping any of the political plume in her lap. However, Wisconsin Democracy is as true as steel always and the admirable manner in which she acquitted herself last fall is glory enough for her. As the old hymn goes: "There's a better day a-comin' by and bye," for the Wisconsin Democracy and we look for it next fall if the National Democratic Convention gets the kinks out of its hair before the assembling of the Denver Convention. That a general "straightening up" among the Wisconsin Democrats may take place before that time is the wish of every "safe and sane" Democrat in Maryland today.

The Denver Convention is close upon us. Will it be in control of the sturdy Democracy of the Nation or will it be controlled by a lot of Bryan enthusiasts who wear scrambled eggs and pepper sauce in their whiskers? Maryland can and should do her part toward the Nation. The first of its kind since 1892. Everyone knows who means the election of the Republican National ticket. This much is certain and I believe that no one knows this better than Mr. Bryan himself. Knowing the feeling of the people toward him politically, and having been twice bound by his party when he doesn't believe in it, the people who once try it "swear by it," especially those who have urinary and kidney trouble and suffer with Rheumatism.

The druggists in this neighborhood say they can supply the ingredients which are easily mixed at home. There is said to be no better blood cleansing agent or system tonic known, and certainly none more harmless or simple to use.

The girl's mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly function begins is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions of health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness." Well recognized authorities of all schools of medicine have nothing but praise for the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet giving ingredients and what authorities say about them. Not a patent medicine but a "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce—who makes the disease of woman his specialty. It has forty years of cure back of it.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. "Don'ts" of itching piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy vanish like the bloom from the cheek which is rudely handled when the woman is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate a shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native American medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine, and adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments. Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Saturday Night Tales

By F. E. DAVISON - RUTLAND, Vt.

FIRST WASHING UP TO DATE.

April 26, 08. (John 13:1-15.)

The Lord's Supper is a religious service observed by nearly all churches, and familiar to us all. There is no question about its significance, its divine authority, and its perpetuity. Whether observed in simple ceremonial or elaborate liturgical formula, it teaches an impressive lesson. It is one of the unshakable pillars of the church.

There are, however, small bodies of Protestants who claim that the ceremony of feet washing is equally binding with the Eucharist. They teach and believe that when Christ instituted the sacrament of the last supper He also ordained the rite of washing the disciples' feet as a testimonial and example of humility.

We are familiar with the incident. In order to rebuke the unseemly scramble for position among the apostles the great Master gave them an object lesson of ministering unto others by rising from the table and assuming a servant's place in washing the feet of the disciples. Then He said, "If I your Lord and Master, have washed your feet, ye ought also to wash one another's feet." This some people accept as a literal command, and in their meetings for worship, actually with real water and towel, perform ablutions for each other.

It is not at all likely, however, that the founder of Christianity had any such intention, and the consensus of opinion is against its observance. The genius of this age and the occidental customs repudiate such a literal conception of the incident. Modern plumbing arrangements and sanitary science have decided that washing the feet of the brethren should be done before, not during church services.

The great truth, however, should not be overlooked. Humility is the main thing. Crucifixion of pride is the all-essential. To stoop to the lowest and extend common and menial service to our brethren is the lesson. Not to imagine that we are in this world to be ministered unto, but to minister, is the highest conception of life. The example of Christ in this incident rebukes that spirit in any man which assumes superiority and expects all others to bow the knee. The high head, the haughty look, the supercilious air, the tone and manner which says, "Touch me not, I am holier than thou," is the thing which is here struck a telling blow. Pride of birth, of station, of blood, of race, of color, of attainment, mental pride, moral pride, spiritual pride, are all drowned in the true wash basin in which Christ bathed the disciples' feet.

Now there are plenty of people who would be willing to wash disciples' feet as a religious ordinance. In church, to the sound of low music, an orderly congregation looking on, girded with a clean towel, water held in a golden ewer they could bow the knee gracefully and perform the act of feet washing. Possibly they could even do it for a personal enemy's feet. But it would be quite another thing to deny self and do something for that brother or Monday that would take time and money. "Put yourself in his place." Do for him what you would that others should do for you. Help him when no one is looking. Take off a burden without telling a newspaper reporter all about it afterwards. Be really humble, not ostentatiously, poetically humble—that is the real part of character.

There has ever been the tendency of men to be hypocritical in religion. Religious services in which the mass of people partake with Pharisaical ostentation, while the common strong looks on with awe at such overwhelming piety, appeals to the men who enjoy strut and display. What a man is in his business, however, is what counts with the Almighty. The devotee might wash the feet of half the town as a religious observance, but if he failed to act a brother's part six days in the week, his Sunday ablutions would not raise him in the estimation of heaven. Christ washed the disciples' feet once, but he did so only once, lest they should gather from his conduct that such literal acts were expected of them. It was as sensible to make of every ordinary meal a holy sacrament as to lift the common every day care of the home into a sacred ordinance.

Genuine humility reveals itself in little deeds of kindness done without a thought of applause. It never poses, it never says "look at me, you see, I am humble enough to wash this man's feet, there are not many who have become so pious as I am."

It is not so much clean feet as clean hearts the people need. To give them a smile, hand-clasp, a kind word, assistance in trouble, employment when out of work, help, up the ladder of opportunity, to be charitable toward their faults, is of more value than rivers of water.

Some people scold their brethren with the boiling water of criticism, others chill them with the ice water of patronage; the true disciple tempers the water of ablation to suit each individual case, and so fulfills in largest measure the teachings of the Master of men.

Rheumatism Pains Relieved.

Mr. Theo. Stanton, postmaster of Pottsville, Ont., writes: "For the past eight years I suffered from rheumatic pains and during that time I used many different liniments and remedies for the cure of rheumatism. Last summer I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was more relieved from it than anything I have ever used, and cheerfully recommend this liniment to all sufferers from rheumatism." Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the fact that it stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle sent by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

RAISING GUINEA FOWL.

Easily Raised and a Useful Addition to the Farm.

The great objection to the Guinea is its wild nature, but the control of the flock depends upon the beginning made. The best plan is to buy eggs instead of fowls, and put the eggs under a chicken hen. When the guinea eggs have been under the hen a week, add two or three hen's eggs, and the chicks will hatch at the same time as the eggs of the guinea, as the latter require four weeks for incubation. The young chicks will obey the hen, and the young guinea will follow their example, with the result that the guinea will remain with the other fowls as they grow, and go into the poultry house to roost with the hens. Guinea as raised will be tame and can be better managed.

The guinea is most active of all feathered foragers, and is capable of destroying many insects. They quickly notice strange persons or animals, and will at once make sufficient alarm to warn their owner, and they can see the hawk long before he can reach the barnyard. The guinea-hens are very prolific, and lay during the entire summer, but will hide their nests, attracting attention to them however, by making noise, which assists the farmer to secure the eggs. They are usually hardy, self supporting in summer, and will roost in the trees near the house, if they do not go into the poultry house. Their eggs are rich, and the nests are usually well filled. The guinea may be said to be a semidomestic bird. Its flesh has a gamey flavor, and it is considered by some as a domesticated wild bird. There is an opportunity in some localities for establishing a trade in guinea by educating customers to the excellence of their flesh and the high quality of their eggs.—Indiana Farmer.

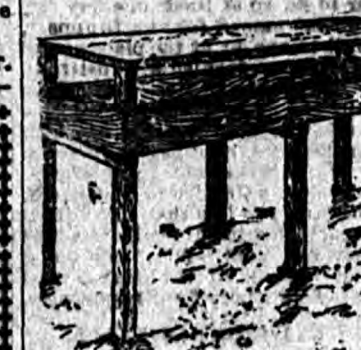

White Indians.

The ideal general purpose breed is becoming popular with the up-to-date fancier who appreciates the Leghorn, the world's finest table and non-setting breed—perfect in color, comb and plumage. The White Indian, produced from the Cornish Indians had originally some Leghorns or Minorca blood. They stand in a class by themselves, as they resemble the turkey more than any other fowl, especially in plumage and favor of flesh, as well as size. The 8 1/2 to 10 pound Indians are as active as the Leghorns, naturally more vigorous, and easily bred to the highest scores. When the public realizes that the Indians are the most cowardly of birds (non-fighters really), and without a doubt, the greatest utility breed, there is going to be a decided change in our motto: "Less feathers and comb, and more meat and bone." The profits will double and still the same birds will win and stay.

For lack of good advertising this fine breed has been left in the background while many other new varieties are being "boomed" on their fine plumage and facing. The "proof of the pudding is the eating," and after actual comparison of different varieties, fine feathers will not always produce fine birds, or add to their table or laying qualities. Advertising is the secret of popularity, but when backed by actual merit, it gives assured success.—Poultry Gazette.

Trough to Fatten Turkeys.

Here is a device used on our farm for fattening turkeys, where other poultry runs away, writes in Prairie Farmer. It consists simply of a trough with a 6-inch bottom and 3-inch sides, raised about 16 inches from the ground. About 4 inches from the top of the trough another 6 or 8 inch board is nailed parallel with the bottom of the trough thus effectually excluding the laying hens and other poultry which you do not wish to feed so heavily.

RACK FOR FATTENING TURKEYS

Destructive to Chickens.

Rose bugs will kill chickens if they eat of them too plentifully. Chickens eight and nine weeks old often turn up their toes and die in a few hours after filling their crops with these bugs. Oftentimes, in some localities, the grass is covered with these hateful bugs in the morning. Then if the chickens get after them with an empty crop the work is done.

Hot Stove—Cool Kitchen

How do you expect to endure the broiling days of summer if you prepare all the food over a glowing coal fire?

You need a "New Perfection" Oil Stove that will do the cooking without cooking the cook. It concentrates plenty of heat under the pot and diffuses little or none through the room. Therefore, when working with the

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

the kitchen actually seems as comfortable as you could wish it to be.

This, in itself, is wonderful, but more than that, the "New Perfection" Oil Stove does perfectly everything that any stove can do. It is an ideal all-round cook-stove. Made in three sizes, and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp

a substantial, strongly made and hand-burned lamp. Burns for hours with a strong, mellow light. Just what you need for evening reading or to light the dining-room. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

Alwyn Bennett at first glance had little to distinguish him from the average good looking young man about town. But a closer observer would have noticed a firmness about the shapely mouth, an honesty and strength of purpose about the eyes, a general air of latent power that lay unawakened beneath the jolly, purposeless exterior. No crisis had yet called forth any special manifestation of this power, and meanwhile Bennett was content to loaf through an existence that thus far had been decidedly pleasant. The only son of a widowed mother who advised and spoiled him, more than comfortably well off from the great fortune amassed by his dead father, possessed of a social position unassailable and equally fortunate in that mysterious quality that spells popularity—all these gifts had saved Alwyn Bennett the trouble of fighting life's battle or showing who might be within his reach.

"Good old Bennett!" called Perry. "We were just talking about you."

Dallas Wainwright.

"Good!" answered Alwyn. "Anything is better than indifference. What were you saying about me?"

"You tell him, Dallas!" grinned the boy.

"Be quiet!" whispered his sister, flushing with vexation.

"Then I'll tell for myself," went on Perry gleefully. "I was just asking her—"

Seeing the girl's confusion, Bennett quickly changed the subject by interrupting:

"My mother will be over here in a few minutes, Dallas. She is bringing along a guest of ours, who says you and she were chums at school—Miss Garrison."

"Cynthia Garrison! Oh, I'll be ever so glad to see her again!" cried Perry.

"I know who she is," cried Perry, refusing to be snubbed. "They say she's a gorgeous looker. When her kinsel was under the hammer I bought in her two per Boston tatters, Betty and Prince. Maybe that won't make me solid with her, eh? Well, I guess. All I ask is a start, and you'll find a whole lot of cripples slower than I'll be. If they're walking over I might wander out, sort of aimless-like and happen to meet 'em. Maybe that's a bum idea? Good old me!"

Fall of his machivellian scheme, the lad bolted through the long window and was gone.

"Dallas," began Bennett, without preamble. "You must surely know why I'm here today. You've seen that paragraph in the—"

"I have seen it," she answered quietly.

Taken aback by her manner, Bennett hesitated an instant; then asked nervously:

"The rumor isn't true, Dallas? Tell me if it is."

"Why shouldn't it be true?" she countered perversely, as though not wholly sorry to witness the new look her words called to his face. The look deepened as Bennett continued:

"You don't love Gibbs? Surely you don't love him?"

"The French windows swung wide, breaking off her reply.

CHAPTER II.

ALWYN BENNETT turned sharply toward the window, angry at the interruption, but Perry Wainwright, ushering two ladies in from the veranda, met his scorn with a wink of triumph.

"Not so bad, eh?" called the boy. "Met them as they were turning into the drive. You see—"

"Oh," observed the younger of the two women—a pretty, flower-faced girl who since her entrance into the room had been engaged in exchanging delighted greetings with Dallas. "So you came to meet us? You said you just happened—"

"Did I?" asked Perry in deep amazement. "Well, well! The fact is, I wanted to do something startling in honor of meeting you, so I told my first lie. I—"

"Don't mind him, Cynthia!" laughed Dallas. "He's taking that way quite often."

"Oh, it's his usual pace, then?" queried Miss Garrison innocently. "I thought perhaps he was just warming up."

"And now," pursued Dallas, taking possession of Cynthia, who to Perry's disgust, "tell me all about yourself."

"There isn't much to tell. But there's going to be. I'm going to work."

"Work? What for?"

"For a living, of course."

"Not really?"

"Yes, isn't it ridiculous?" broke in Mrs. Bennett, a sweet little old lady who now found her first chance to edge in a word amid the general volleys of talk. "But Cynthia is set on doing it."

"Why shouldn't I? I haven't a dollar, and there's a theory that one must live."

"But what are you going to do?" asked Dallas.

"I don't know. I have a pretty good education. I shall find something. I—Dallas, I think your brother is giving you a high sign of some sort."

"I don't see it," declared Perry. "I just wanted to tell you there's a surprise waiting for you. Two surprises in one kindred. Want to see 'em?"

"What is he talking about?" queried Cynthia, appealing to Dallas for light on the mystery.

"About Betty and Prince Charlie," retorted Perry. "Your two Boston tatters that I bought. Want to see 'em?"

"Oh, the darlings! Of course I do. Where are they?"

"Come along and I'll show you. The darlings, eh? Talk like that makes me wish I was a dog."

"Don't despair," suggested Cynthia. "Maybe you'll grow."

Still puzzling vaguely the meaning of this cryptic utterance, Perry followed Miss Garrison from the room, a grin of satisfied ambition wreathing his tanned face.

"I think of poor little Cynthia having to go to work!" sighed Dallas, looking after them. "One would as soon think of putting a butterfly into harness. Is it true she has no money left?"

"I'm afraid it's only too true," answered Mrs. Bennett. "Her father lost everything in speculating. He was cashier of the Israel Putnam Trust company and afterward president."

She paused as the office door opened and Thompson, the secretary, came into the room. At sight of Mrs. Bennett he seemed about to turn back; but, changing his purpose, crossed to the table and began to look for some documents he had failed to gather up.

"What was the rest of the story about Mr. Garrison?" asked Dallas, really interested in the older woman's recital.

Thompson's papers slipped through his fingers and he went skidding across the polished floor. The others looked round in surprise.

"Excuse me!" muttered the secretary as he stooped to gather up the documents. "Very awkward! I'm sorry."

He went on arranging the scattered papers in his usual unobtrusive silence, effacing himself from the general talk.

"You were telling me about Cynthia's father," said Dallas.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Bennett, taking up the thread of her tale. "He was looked on as one of the most honorable bankers in the city. And so he was until his misfortune."

"Misfortune?"

"More misfortune than crime. His wife was a girlhood friend of mine, so perhaps I am prejudiced in his favor. A famous financier—a dear friend of his—induced him to make a very large loan that proved to be a mistake. He went to the financier for advice as to how to recoup the loss. The financier told him of an investment by which he could get all the money back with but any risk and could make good the loan. Mr. Garrison took the advice, used the bank's funds for the purpose and—the investment proved worthless. The bank was insolvent. Mr. Garrison lost himself."

"Horrible! Horrible!" murmured Dallas.

"The horrible part of the whole story came out later," said Alwyn Bennett.

"It seems the financier had deliberately ruined Mr. Garrison and was on the other side of the deal by which the bank's funds were lost. In other words, he persuaded his friend to put money in what he knew was a losing venture, then took that money himself."

"He did it willfully," chimed in Mrs. Bennett, "knowing his friend would be ruined and that the bank's money which he lured Mr. Garrison into investing was going to swell his own pocket."

"I did not think any one lived who could do such things," shuddered Dallas. "Poor Cynthia!"

"Cynthia suffered least of all," said Mrs. Bennett. "She was little more than a child at the time. Her mother died of grief, and her brother—a promising, clever young fellow—just entering college—disappeared."

"Deserted Cynthia?"

"Not so bad as that. He probably went away sooner than face his father's disgrace and began life somewhere far from home. That was also years ago, yet ever since then he sends Cynthia a little money every month—not much, but no doubt all he can scrape together above his bare living expenses. She has tried in every way to get in touch with him, but she can't locate him anywhere. There is no clew except that monthly money order. I never knew him very well—in fact, I only saw him once or twice—but I've heard he was a fine, manly boy. The shock must have been worst of all on him."

"So a man lost his good name and his life, his wife died, his son's life was wrecked and his daughter impoverished," mused Dallas. "And all that a financier might grow a little richer. I can't believe it!"

A little ashamed of displaying such vehemence in the presence of one of her uncle's dependents, the girl glanced toward the table. But the secretary had gone.

"My goodness," mused Mrs. Bennett, "what a man! Always with the new who rose highest in the storm."

world reached their lofty places over the despoiled bodies of hundreds of victims. Thank God, my boy has no such parental record to look back on. My husband was out in a mill—the sort of honor both in business and in private life. You've read of his splendid civil war record. Then he went into business as a contractor and engineer, and earned a fortune, every dollar of which was honest. That's something to be proud of in these money loving times."

"What was the name of the financier who ruined Mr. Garrison?" asked Dallas, still haunted by the narrative she had just heard.

"No one knows. It was suppressed at the time. The facts in the written confession left by Mr. Garrison became public property; but, through political influence, the name of the man responsible for the tragedy was suppressed. Here I sit chatting on superficial topics, while those two young people are running all over the place unchaperoned. Excuse me, won't you. I'll look them up."

She smiled at Alwyn as she left the room, and his answering smile showed how fully he understood and appreciated her motive in leaving him alone with Dallas Wainwright. Perhaps Dallas, too, understood, for she made as though to follow Mrs. Bennett out into the lawn. But Alwyn stepped between her and the window.

"Don't go just yet," he begged. "I've so much to talk with you. When they came in we were speaking of that paragraph about Gibbs and yourself. You don't love him, do you, Dallas? Tell me you don't."

"What right have you to ask me such a question?"

"Only the right that my love for you gives me, dear heart. You must have known I loved you even though I never said it before. I love you, Dallas, as though till today, I think, I never realized how much. Tell me it isn't true that you're going to marry Gibbs."

"Even if it weren't true I should not marry you, Alwyn."

"Ah!"

The exclamation was wrung unconsciously from his whitening lips. It was as though a pang of physical pain had pierced him.

"I wouldn't marry you," went on Dallas, though more gently, "because you don't really love me."

"I do! I do! With my whole heart."

"Oh, Alwyn!" she exclaimed with almost mother-like tolerance. "What a child you are! What a mere child! Some one tries to take away from you a plaything you've grown used to having. You never cared especially about the plaything before; but now that you're in danger of losing it, you cry out: 'Oh, I love it! I love it!' You'll soon find another toy that'll make you forget."

"Dallas, you are unfair! You have no right to treat my love for you as if—"

"As if it were a mere whim? Isn't it? Now, don't say 'No,' but look me in the eyes and answer one question. If Scott Gibbs hadn't proposed to me—if that paragraph had not appeared in the paper—would you have come here today and told me you loved me? No, you know you wouldn't!"

"Don't talk like that, dear!" implored Bennett. "I tell you I love you! More than I ever dreamed a woman could be loved. I love you!"

"There's an easy way to prove it, then."

"What way? Anything?"

"By doing something to make me feel proud of you. I don't feel so now. I could not marry a man who loiters his life away—a man who sits idle while others are thronging past him in the upward climb. You are rich, thanks to your father's efforts. What have you done with that wealth? I've done no harm with it, you're at least pitiful to no good use. You are young, talented, highly educated. What have you done with your youth, your talents, your education? How have you used them for your own betterment or for your fellow men's?"

"What have you to offer me? Money? Social position? I have plenty of both. What else can you offer me? Nothing—absolutely nothing."

"My love, for one thing. I can offer you that."

"In what is your love better than any other man's? Behind it is not a record of hard work, of self sacrifice, of achievement of any of the things that go toward making love strong and enduring and beautiful? To make it a support that a woman can lean her life? What have you to offer me or any other woman?"

There was a silence. Yet when Bennett spoke there was a new note in his voice—a ring of awakening strength that impressed Dallas in spite of herself—that sent a wholly strange thrill through her and set her heart to beating with unwarmed quickness.

"You are right," said he. "I have done nothing. I've been content to be a rich man's son, and I've nothing to offer that is worthy your acceptance, but that does not mean I never shall have. And by the grace of God I shall! You've put things in a new light. I see them as I never did. It isn't a wholly pleasant experience, but it's good for me. There's nothing yet that I'm fitted to do, but I'll find something, never fear. And when I do—"

"Don't say there's nothing you're fit for," protested Dallas. "There's nothing you couldn't accomplish if once you set yourself to it. Why, just think of those speeches you made for Mr. Lorimer last campaign. They were fine. I was so—"

"Oh, those amounted to nothing. I just did it to please him. And, besides, it was his money that I was giving."

"That's just it. You did it for fun and for a friend. Why not do something in earnest and for yourself? The world is fairly bristling with opportunities for such a man as you. Grasp those opportunities. Won't you?"

"Yes! And when I do—is there any hope that you will?"

"I have given Mr. Gibbs no promise. I told him to wait."

"Then my chance is as good as his. From now on I am going to drop the role of rich man's son and be something on my own account. If you have faith in me—if you believe in me—if there is a ghost of a chance that you can some day love me—"

"I have faith in you, Alwyn," she answered softly, letting her hand be drawn to his. Then, withdrawing it with a pretty gesture of reticence she added:

"Only I wish it didn't always require a blow to rouse you to action. Did you ever happen to notice that trait in yourself?"

"Why, no. I don't quite understand."

"Then here's an instance that will show you what I mean. In your senior year at Yale when you were playing halfback on the varsity eleven I saw my first football game. It was against Princeton. You were the only man on either team I knew, so I watched you from first to last. Little as I understood football, I could see you were playing a clever, hard, conscientious game. But it wasn't a fighting game—not the sort of game that carries everything before it. Then, in the second half, in one of the scoring plays, I saw you strike you. Oh, it was a dastardly, cowardly blow! He struck you when you were head down, turned away. You saw who it was, and you made no appeal to the referee, but in the next scrimmage you broke that man's collar bone and stunned him. He was carried senseless from the field, and you kept on. You had begun to play a fighting game, and I carried you through the Princeton line for the only touchdown of the day. You won the game for Yale. You were the college hero—the man of the hour. But it took a blow to rouse you. Now do you understand?"

"Yes, I think I do. Perhaps you're right. I certainly remember the blow well enough. Do you happen to know who it was that struck me that day on the football field?"

"No. I knew none of the players except you. No."

"It was Gibbs."

"No?"

"I'm not likely to have forgotten. Ask him yourself. He will remember it. I fancy. It was a week before he left the infirmary."

"But I can't realize that Mr. Gibbs would do such a thing! It was so cowardly, so—"

"Oh, don't hold it against him. He was excited and—"

"Tell Mr. Phelan I'll see him in the library," called Wainwright from the hall.

"More politics!" exclaimed Dallas. "Come, shall we go out to the tennis court?"

"They passed through the open French window as Wainwright and Gibbs entered the library from the opposite door.

"The alderman's a little behind time," said Wainwright. "He's a character in the way. You'll be interested in meeting him, Gibbs."

"Mr. Phelan," announced the butler. "I know my own name, son," remarked a voice behind him. "You needn't go hollerin' it at me like I was bel'n' rattled at an east side meeting. Mornin', Mr. Wainwright. Maybe it was you he was hollerin' at."

"You're a little late, alderman," said the financier.

"I always am. Let the other feller do the waitin'. That's my motto, and many a good hour's time I've saved by it. Who's your friend?"

"Mr. Gibbs of Gibbs & Norton. Mr. Gibbs, this is Alderman Phelan."

"Of the Eighth," amended Phelan. "Only man to carry his ward last election runnin' independent. Pleased to meet you. Yes, sir, I ran independent, and I win. As Wainwright here can tell you, Horrigan's out against me this year, and he's got carried away by some fool idea that he can down the next campaign."

"Can he?" asked Gibbs politely.

"Can he?" roared Phelan, his close clipped hair a-bristle. "Can he? Can he?"

Alderman Phelan—

cheerily Dick Horrigan down Alderman Jimmy Phelan? Well! Nothin' to it, son. When I'm through with Dick Horrigan he'll have worried himself so this they'll have to wear glasses to shave him. I'll bury him so deep this fall that they'll never find him till they start diggin' a subway to China."

"You seem pretty confident," observed Gibbs.

"Confident? Why not? Why not, I ask you? Why wouldn't I be confident? Is there a voter in the ward—black, white, yellow or greenhorn—that I can't win by his first name and ask after all his children by name? Is there a voter in the ward I haven't staked to coal or outlin' or ball or booze? Is there, if so, name him to me. Put a name to him. They're my friends twelve months of every year, not just at election time. Horrigan, indeed! Say, if he starts runnin' any man in my ward he'll have to fight him by a tree to see if he's makin' any progress or not. Horrigan, hey?"

"Come, come, alderman," interposed Wainwright. "Why don't you and Horrigan smoke the pipe of peace? Why?"

"The only pipe me an' Dick Horrigan will ever come together over will be a yard of lead pipe, an' my fist will be at one end of that an' his thick head at the other."

"But," remonstrated Wainwright, "he's a strong man. It is safe to fight him."

"I've got a better idea," interposed Wainwright. "Why don't you and Horrigan smoke the pipe of peace? Why?"

Wainwright and Gibbs entered the library from the opposite door.

"The alderman's a little behind time," said Wainwright. "He's a character in the way. You'll be interested in meeting him, Gibbs."

Wainwright and Gibbs entered the library from the opposite door.

"The alderman's a little behind time," said Wainwright. "He's a character in the way. You'll be interested in meeting him, Gibbs."

"Mr. Phelan," announced the butler. "I know my own name, son," remarked a voice behind him. "You needn't go hollerin' it at me like I was bel'n' rattled at an east side meeting. Mornin', Mr. Wainwright. Maybe it was you he was hollerin' at."

"You're a little late, alderman," said the financier.

"I always am. Let the other feller do the waitin'. That's my motto, and many a good hour's time I've saved by it. Who's your friend?"

"Mr. Gibbs of Gibbs & Norton. Mr. Gibbs, this is Alderman Phelan."

"Of the Eighth," amended Phelan. "Only man to carry his ward last election runnin' independent. Pleased to meet you. Yes, sir, I ran independent, and I win. As Wainwright here can tell you, Horrigan's out against me this year, and he's got carried away by some fool idea that he can down the next campaign."

"Can he?" asked Gibbs politely.

"Can he?" roared Phelan, his close clipped hair a-bristle. "Can he? Can he?"

THE VOYAGERS.

By Clinton Scollard. They cleared the cloudy cape, and looked and rolled. In the rough roadstead all the gusty morn'g. Then sailed the sullen flava, and soon was born With zenith burst of warm, unshadowed gold.

They saw the palms their gracious arms upbraid. As though to beckon them, and lo, the lorn. Dances of travel suddenly were shorn. Of the and of menace manifold!

Calm swept upon the waves; with buoyant glee. These gained that haven of the at- night sea. By beauty doubly blessed. The voyage of trial so shall we. Awaiting tale of radiance and of bliss. —Clinton, N. Y., S. S. Times.

BACK GIVES OUT.

Plenty of Salisbury Readers Have This Experience! You tax the kidneys—overwork them. They can't keep up the continual strain. The back gives out—it aches and pains.

Where Good Men Are Made.

You must look for the good men in the places where good men are made. It isn't in the hotels. It is in the home. It is in the old-fashioned home. You read the rolls of great men whom the country delights to honor and you find they are the products of the good American home, the home in which there has been care and management and denial and self-control. Your hotel man—your hotel bred family, is not that kind. You know the sweetness and the purity of the kind of home I mean. Out of such clean, healthy, pure homes clean men come. They are the men you can trust. I thank God that there are still such homes—homes of comparative poverty, for from such come dependable men.

"One Touch of Nature Makes The Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefit of his discovery. This is the reason why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm heartfelt wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

"Yes, said the suffragist on the platform, 'women have been wronged for ages. They have suffered in a thousand ways.'"

"There is one way in which they never suffered," said a meek looking man, standing up in the rear of the hall.

"What way is that?" demanded the suffragist.

"They have never suffered in silence." —"The Bids."

Death Was On His Heels. Jesse F. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded by Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Toulson's Drug Store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Many thousands of bushels of oysters have died in salt water tributaries of the bay. This is something unusual. It is not strange for oysters to become weak and die in the upper rivers, but to die along the bay can be attributed only to starvation.

Chamberlain's Has the Preference. Mr. Fred O. Hamrahan, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, Va., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Cold, Coughs and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purpose, but pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customers are certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

A bill has passed Congress increasing from $5 to $12 a month the pension of widows of soldiers of the Mexican, Indian and Civil Wars. The new law increases the pension expense of the Government about $15,000,000.

Plenty of Trouble. Is caused by stagnation of the liver and bowels to get rid of it and headache and biliousness and the poison that brings jaundice, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, the reliable purifiers that do the work without grinding or griping. 50c at Toulson's drug store.

The session of the Great Council of Red Men of the State of Maryland this week was an interesting one. Great Incoherence, W. A. S. Bird, of Kansas, was there. He is a distinguished Red Man of the West.

Gentle and Effective. A well known Manitoba editor writes: "As an inside worker I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invaluable for the touch of biliousness natural to sedentary life, their action being gentle and effective, clearing the digestive tract and the head." Price 25 cents. Samples free at Toulson's Drug Store.

To quote a wise old grandfather, "Boys, pay as you go; and if you can't pay, then don't go."

A Twenty Year Sentence. "I have just completed a twenty year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. O. Woolver, of LeRayville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at Toulson's drug store.

AN OLD ADAGE SAYS "A light purse is a heavy curse." Sickness makes a light purse. The LIVER is the seat of nine tenths of all diseases.

Tutt's Pills go to the root of the whole matter, thoroughly, quickly and safely and restore the action of the LIVER to normal condition.

Give tone to the system and solid flesh to the body. Take No Substitute.

THE COME AND SEE SIGN

This sign is permanently attached to the front of the main building of the Lydie E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

What Does This Sign Mean? It means that public inspection of the Laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired. It means that there is nothing about the business which is not "open and above-board."

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydie E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is it a purely vegetable compound made from roots and herbs—without drugs? Come and See.

Do the women of America continually use as much of it as we are told? Come and See.

Was there ever such a person as Lydie E. Pinkham, and is there any Mrs. Pinkham now to whom sick women are asked to write? Come and See.

Is the vast private correspondence with sick women conducted by women only, and are the letters kept strictly confidential? Come and See.

Have they really got letters from over one million, one hundred thousand women correspondents? Come and See.

Have they proof that Lydie E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands of these women? Come and See.

This advertisement is only for doubters. The great army of women who know from their own personal experience that no medicine in the world equals Lydie E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female ills will all go on using and being benefited by it, but the poor doubting, suffering woman must, for her own sake, be taught confidence, for she also might just as well regain her health.

Still They Hustle

Phillips Brothers are busier than ever, handling the new wheat which has just been harvested. Exceptional care has been exercised in selecting the grain to be used in their different brands of flour.

Can Have A Report Of Horticultural Meeting For The Spring.

Dover, Del., April 17. Dear Sir:—I am sending the report of the last meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society, and it will be a favor if you will say in the columns of your paper, if possible, that I have a copy of this report free of charge by simply sending a postal card request to me. The next meeting of the Society will be in Wilmington on January 12-15, 1909, when an extensive exhibit of fruits, vegetables and flowers will be held. Arrangements have been made with the Pennsylvania Gold Storage Company, 30th and Market Streets, and the Reading Terminal Market, Philadelphia, to store the fruit free of charge.

Thanking you, I am,

Very truly yours,

Wesley Webb, Secretary.

QUANTICO.

The Rev. J. W. Gray, pastor of Quantico M. E. Church will preach in the following pulpits this Sunday, April 26th. Rockawalking at 10.30 a. m.; Quantico at 7.45 p. m. Subject "Isaiah's Vision of the Holy Wonders." Something entirely new and will not fail to interest you, as have all of his sermons since coming to Quantico, judging from the steadily increasing congregations. All denominations have a cordial welcome.

Unclaimed Letters.

Mrs. J. E. Adams, Maria Barker, Mrs. Harry Daley, Miss Margaret Adams, Rev. W. H. Elliott, Mrs. I. C. C. Horsman, Ells S. Hastings, Mrs. J. D. McIntyre, Mr. Frank A. Matherson, Miss Mary McPherson, H. C. Phillips, Mr. J. G. Williams, Miss Annie Williams.

Thursday morning fire was discovered in the stable belonging to Henry Tilghman, in the southern suburbs of Fryingtown. The flames made rapid progress, owing to the high wind, and in a short time the house nearby, used by Mr. Tilghman for the manufacture of soft shoes, and the two-story dwelling occupied by Joseph Turpin, colored, were on fire. The three buildings, together with their contents, were destroyed. Five persons in the stable adjoining the stable were rescued. Turpin did not succeed in saving anything belonging to his family. The fire was caused by a small candle burning in the stable. Mr. Tilghman's loss on the property is about $10,000, with no insurance. He is a son of Mr. T. Tilghman, of this city.

Francis Lockford after spending several holidays with relatives in this city, returned to Maryland Agricultural College.

Indigestion and Nervousness.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 99, Kernersville, North Carolina, writes the following letter to The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company:

"I suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion for some time, and nothing that I ate agreed with me.

"I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear.

"I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good. I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach.

"I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with these troubles will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

but now I am perfectly healthy.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and I recommend it to others."

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 6, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, for which I am sincerely thankful to you for your advice. If it had not been for Peruna I would never have been well.

"I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me.

"I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it.

"I can eat and walk and work. Everybody says I look as well as I ever did. Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you.

"I have got several other people to take Peruna. I praise it to everybody."

For Children's Colds.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. B. No. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes: "I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. I have followed your good and kind advice faithfully. I bless the day when I wrote you of my condition, and I will always praise Peruna. I think it is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

"Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years, and after having tried four different doctors they only relieved me for a little while. I gave up all hope of being cured. I only weighed one hundred and thirty pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around the room.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My weight is now one hundred and eighty-eight pounds, my health never was better in my life, I shall always praise Dr. Hartman and his remedies."

"The first bottle relieved me, and after using four bottles I was entirely cured.

"I do recommend Peruna to all who are afflicted with catarrh. I have found it to be a great remedy also for coughs and colds of children; a dose at bedtime will relieve them from coughing all night. I always keep it on hand, and recommend it."

AUDIENCE AT TEMPLE

Is Given A Most Delightful Entertainment By Musical Recital For Nurse's Home

Harmony lovers of Salisbury were given a rare treat Tuesday evening at the Musical given in the Masonic Temple under the auspices and management of Miss Maria Ellegood and Mrs. Frederick P. Adkins. The program contains the names of some of the best of our town who were also assisted by Miss Jones and Miss Albert of the Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the Nurse's New Home. The following program was rendered:

Piano Solo, Prelude in E Minor, Mendelssohn, Miss Nellie R. Jones.

Soprano Solo, (a) "Should He Upbraid," Bishop; (b) "Requiem," Homer (c) "Hark! Hark! The Lark!" Schubert, Miss Elizabeth Albert; Miss Jones, accompanist.

Piano Solo, "Pathétique Sonata," Beethoven, Miss Willie Adkins.

Reading, Selected, Miss Jessie Rae Taylor.

Piano Solo, "A Dream of Love" List, Miss Elizabeth Albert.

Soprano Solo, "The Swallows," Cowen, Mrs. M. A. Humphreys; Miss Jones, accompanist.

Male Quartette, "The Sweetest Flower that Grows," Hawley, Mr. C. Edgar Laws, Mr. W. W. Shepard, Prof. W. T. Dashiell, Mr. F. F. Adkins; Miss Adkins, accompanist.

Piano Solo, (a) "To a Wild Rose," (b) "The Brook," Mac Dowell, Miss Jones.

Soprano Solo, (a) "My Mother Bids Me Sing," (b) "Hayden," (c) "Aetina's Song," Nettie B. Jones, Miss Albert; Miss Jones, accompanist.

Baritone Solo, "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind," Sarjeant, Mr. W. A. Sheppard.

Reading, Selected, Miss Taylor.

Male Quartette, "The Rosary," Nevins, Mr. Edgar Laws, Mr. W. A. Sheppard, Prof. W. T. Dashiell, Mr. F. F. Adkins; Miss Edna Akins, accompanist.

Soprano Solo, (a) "Songs My Mother Taught Me," (b) "The Lark Now Leaves His Watery Nest," Parker, Miss Albert; Miss Jones, accompanist.

Piano Solo, "Scherzo in F Sharp," D'Albert, Miss Jones.

The program was a great grand, loaned by Prof. W. T. Dashiell, of this city.
