MOODY FIGGS' TROUBLES.

Gets Himself into Several Kinds of A Scrape Last Saturday, But Hopes He Has Paid His Way Out.

Moody Figgs, a young Salisbury sport who likes to have a good time with the boys, got himself into all kinds of trouble last Saturday, and it took a lawyer or two and the payment of considerable money the first of this week to get him out—if he is out, as he hopes.

On the evening in question Mr. A. L. Townsend, of South Salisbury, who is running Mr. J. C. Phillips' farm on the Delmar road, when he returned home, missed $57, which he had left in the house during his absence. He looked everywhere for it, but couldn't find it. After he finally decided that it was gone, for some reason that has not been developed, he suspected young Mr. Figgs. So he had Mr. Figgs arrested Monday morning, Chief of Police Disharoon serving the writ. Mr. Figgs did not deny having come into possession of $57, on the Saturday previous, but swore that he found it. He believed that findings were keepings he said, and he started out to have a good time with his treasure trove. He would gladly give it back to Mr. Townsend, he declared, and did give up what he had left of it, but he had spent considerable of it, some $35 or $40 in fact. When pressed to disclose what he had parted with so much good money for, it turned out that he had lost most of it shooting craps, during the "good time" he had had. He did not hesitate to tell who had separated him from his coin and the officers got busy at once.

In a little while they had six more young chaps on the carpet before the judicial table. They were all pretty badly scared up at that and owned up in a hurry. They disgorged their winnings and these sums, with what Figgs had turned over, made $57, precisely. So Mr. Townsend got his money back. Figgs was put under bail for action of the Grand Jury and the rest of the boys were fined $2 and costs each, for gambling, which they paid.

But poor Mr. Figgs' troubles did not end here. The boys were mad because he had given them away about crap shooting and they told about Mr. Figgs sending off for some whiskey on that memorable Saturday, letting them have a part of it when it came on the 7 o'clock train, and taking the money from them when they got it, to pay for it. This, they thought, made Mr. Figgs liable, under the liquor law, even though he had not charged them any profit. Justice Turpin thought so too. So Mr. Figgs got arrested again. His counsel, Mr. Elmer H. Wallon, tried to clear Mr. Figgs of this last charge, claiming that all of the boys were equally interested in the purchase. But it developed that, as a part of the crowd were minors, Mr. Figgs was in it either way.

Justice Turpin found him guilty of selling liquor and fined him $50 and costs. This fine was also paid and Mr. Figgs is free. Altogether, he concluded, his fun last Saturday was a pretty expensive experiment. Hereafter when he finds any money he'll be sure it is lost before he spends it. And he never expects to buy any more whiskey in Salisbury as long as he lives.

REVISION OF TAX BOOKS.

County Commissioners Complete Their Arrangements For Fully Revising The County's Taxable Basis.

The county commissioners on Tuesday completed their arrangements for a complete and full revision of the tax books of the county and ratified the appointments of the special assessors of personal property, one for each Election District. It is moreover the intention not only to have a revaluation of all personal property, but of real estate as well. The real estate values, however, will be carefully gone over in the Commissioners' office and the assessors will not be required to make any report in this connection.

The assessors were appointed at a special meeting of the Board last Friday. They were:

Barren Creek—Thomas W. Venable.
Quantico—William C. Brady.
Tyaskin—Dashiell Hopkins.
Pittsburg—E. Thos. Shockley.
Parsons—J. E. Parsons (inside corporate limits for Parsons and Salisbury Districts) and J. Clayton Kelley.
Dennis—J. J. Adkins.
Trappe—Harry Messick.
Nutter's—Willie P. Ward.
Salisbury—William C. Mitchell.
Sharptown—Azariah B. Howard.
Delmar—J. Wm. Freney.
Nanticoke—Wade H. Insley.
Camden—Sidney J. Truder.
Willard—Nath. T. Rayne.

The Board passed a resolution making a day's work for the assessors ten hours, and fixed the compensation at $4 per day. The appointees received their instructions on Tuesday and began distributing blanks on Wednesday. The blanks are to be filled out by the property owner and the law requires that each item of property, less tools, clothing and jewelry, be listed at full cash value, without looking to a forced sale. Severe penalties are imposed by the law for failure to make a complete report, and the assessors are authorized in such case to make their own estimate, from which there is no appeal.

The method of procedure in revaluing real estate will be to examine the books and make an increase where it is deemed just, and notify the owner of such increase. In case the owner does not appear within five days to protest, the increase as made will stand.

HIGH PRICED GASOLINE.

Standard Oil Has Raised Prices Twice Within A Month—Alcohol Only Redress Against Monopoly.

Salisbury, together with the balance of the country, (where there is no competition) has felt the effect of the Standard Oil monopoly during the past three or four weeks, the price of gasoline having been increased twice during that time, aggregating 1 1/4 cents per gallon, to 13 1/4 cents. On March 20th this oil sold for 12 cents, wholesale, in the local market. It has been raised to the price as above stated, since that date.

The price of this commodity, which, until a few years ago, was comparatively little used, has steadily increased as the Standard Oil Co. has succeeded in introducing it into more general use. At this time, its price, like other products handled by the Standard Co., varies in different localities, according to the competition, or so it is believed. No reason can be assigned so far as this section is concerned, for the increase in price that recently took place.

Very many small manufacturing plants use gasoline engines for power, as do launches and other boats of similar size and build, and so on. So far as this Peninsula is concerned, the recent raise in price instituted by the Standard Oil Co. acts as a squeeze, as the concerns using gasoline are helpless. There is an absolute monopoly here in the sale of the oil and when once a gasoline engine is installed the expense of a change of power would be so great that it is practically prohibitive.

The only redress for existing conditions is by the use of alcohol, which can be made very cheaply from vegetable products. There is a tax of over $2.00 per gallon on this quality alcohol however, which prevents its use by the industries. Outside the tax, the price at which alcohol could be sold at a profit ranges around 10 cents. A bill is now before the Senate of the United States, having passed the House of Representatives, removing this tax. The Senators are being pressed to vote for this bill.

Several communications have gone from Salisburyans lately to the two Maryland Senators asking that they vote for this bill, in order that the people may be relieved from the intolerable conditions imposed by the Standard Oil Co. That alcohol will replace gasoline, at small expense, is assured. Messrs. F. A. Grier & Son received a letter this week from the Foss Gas Engine Co., manufacturing the Foss gasoline engine, which they sell, making plain the situation. The Messrs. Grier expect to make the slight changes necessary to a gasoline engine to use alcohol next week at their shop and exhibit how it may be successfully used.

The letter to the Messrs. Grier stated: "As perhaps noticed, the free Alcohol Bill has passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 222 to 7. It is now before the Senate with some doubt as to its passage on account of the strong opposition of the Wood Alcohol and quite possibly the Standard Oil interests.

"Alcohol is readily manufactured from a great variety of common materials, including grains, potatoes, corn stalks, etc., but the chief supply in this country would doubtless come from the waste of beet sugar factories, and molasses of the lowest quality. With corn at 30 cents per bushel, alcohol therefrom would, it is estimated, cost between 14 and 15 cents per gallon. From this price the estimates run down to about 10 cents per gallon, when made up from the waste materials of various industries. With the present tax of over $2.00 per gallon withdrawn for industrial purposes, the general use of alcohol for power, heat and lighting would increase with surprising rapidity.

It is estimated that about six million gallons of Wood Alcohol are used yearly in the United States. In 1900, 55,000,000 gallons of denatured alcohol were used in Germany. By 1904, this had increased to nearly 74,000,000 gallons. Judging from European practice, and the results of the few tests we have made ourselves, there will be no serious difficulty in utilizing it for gasoline engines. While the engine will not start quite so easily therewith, it is expected to show a slightly higher efficiency than gasoline, and it provides apparently the only satisfactory substitute for a monopolized gasoline, the price of which will be still further raised as the demand makes possible.

Yours truly,
THE FOSS GAS ENGINE CO.

General Conference Southern M. E. Church.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, convened in Birmingham, Ala., on Thursday of this week and promises to be one of the most important in the history of the denomination. In addition to the accredited delegates, between 800 and 1,000 visitors are expected.

One of the fraternal messengers will be the Vice-President Fairbanks, from the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Dinsdale T. Young, of London, representing the Wesleyan Church of England.

The General Conference will be in session about three weeks, and among the important questions to be considered are the establishment of a university for women in the South, to be supported by the church; a change in the present presiding eldership system and institutional churches.

It is probable that two or more bishops will be elected because of the growth of the church.

SHELLFISH COMMISSIONERS.

Green, Mitchell and Grave Appointed On Thursday By Board of Public Works.

The Board of Public Works met under a tree near the Maryland House of Correction, where they had gone to attend a meeting on Thursday, and appointed Benjamin K. Green, of Somerset county, Walter J. Mitchell, of Charles county and Dr. Caswell Grave, of Baltimore city, as Shellfish Commissioners under the new Haman-Seth Oyster Law. The three were put in nomination by Comptroller Atkinson.

Governor Warfield's face colored slightly, and he said:

"I offer as a substitute for that motion that we elect Commander T. B. C. Howard in the place of Benjamin K. Green, and Messrs. Mitchell and Grave."

Treasurer Vandiver said nothing. Secretary Hart called the roll, the Governor voting for Messrs. Howard, Mitchell and Grave.

Comptroller Atkinson and Treasurer Vandiver cast their votes jointly for Messrs. Green, Mitchell and Grave.

Comptroller Atkinson and Treasurer Vandiver said they had no apologies to make for their action and Dr. Atkinson stated that he assumed all responsibility for Mr. Green's selection. Governor Warfield, in commenting on the action of the board, said that he had suggested Commander Howard, had tried to elect him and had voted for him from first to last believing that he is the best equipped man in Maryland to fill the position of president of the Shellfish Commission, and that his conscience is perfectly clear on the subject.

It is understood that Mr. Mitchell will be President of the board. He is a lawyer, editor, politician and farmer. He is very close to Treasurer Vandiver.

Mr. Green is a politician. He is at present a collector of the State oyster tax. He has been in office a long time, holding various positions in the gift of the Democratic party managers. He was private secretary to Hon. Joshua W. Miles when Mr. Miles was in Congress.

Dr. Caswell Grave, accredited to the Republican party, is the scientific member of the commission. He is associate in Zoology at Johns Hopkins University and has had wide experience in oyster culture. For part of four years he was biologist of the North Carolina oyster survey and has made an exhaustive study of the cultivation of the growth of oysters and other shellfish.

SMALLPOX IN SOMERSET.

Dr. Marshall Price, Of State Board Of Health, Finds 15 Cases At Crisfield And Marlon.

Dr. Marshall Langdon Price, of the State Board of Health, returned to Baltimore Wednesday from Somerset county, where he had been inquiring into an outbreak of smallpox, which prevails at Crisfield, Marion Station and at other contiguous points. Dr. Price said the residents of Crisfield are much wrought up over the condition in that town, and some of them, in fear of a further spread of the disease, have left the place.

Dr. Price stated Thursday that he thought the people were unduly frightened, as he had no apprehension of a great epidemic, as the warm weather would have a tendency to check the spread of the disease.

He found nine cases of smallpox in Crisfield, some on the road to recovery, and six others that have a suspicious eruption. He found six cases at Marion Station, ten miles from Crisfield. One white woman is affected, while the others suffering from the disease are negroes.

Dr. Price said he had talked to the County Commissioners of Somerset and their counsel and advised that the patients be put in the pesthouse, near Crisfield. There is room there for eight persons. He also advised that the others be put in tents in the open, and suggested that the authorities make provision for 20 patients.

Dr. Price said also that the authorities at Pocomoke City had proposed to put a quarantine against Crisfield, but he thought that this action would be most unwise.

The epidemic was traced to a negro, who had the disease six weeks ago, having contracted it in Virginia.

The health authorities in Baltimore city were notified of the condition at Crisfield, and Assistant Health Commissioner C. Hampson Jones, the smallpox expert, ordered that close surveillance be kept on the Bay craft from Crisfield and vicinity.

Inter-Scholastic Oratorical Contest.

Arrangements have been completed for the Inter-scholastic contest between the Salisbury, Pocomoke City, Princess Anne and Snow Hill High School, to be held at Pocomoke City, on Friday evening, May 11th. The Courier is requested to announce that all persons in Salisbury who expect to attend the contest, can obtain tickets for reserved seats by applying to Farlow & Clarke's Pharmacy, Pocomoke City. Price for reserved seats is 35 cents.

Salisbury will be represented at the contest by Mr. George Hill as orator and Miss Irma Boston as reciter.

The judges will be Dr. James W. Cain, President of Washington College; Dr. M. Bates Stephens, State Superintendent, and Prof. Edw. M. Noble, Superintendent of Schools for Caroline county.

An Eastern Shore Secret.

Stamp canceling dies for all the postoffices in the United States and its dependencies are made in a lonely little harbor of Northampton county, Va. The man who makes them has had the contract for nearly a generation. His father had it before him, and it seems likely to descend to the third generation, says an exchange. Just one thing makes it possible for the present contractor to hold and transmit his contract, and that is the fact that he has a secret process of hardening the face of his dies so that they last longer than any hardening by other processes. The process is an inheritance and the contractor has two sons associated with him, one or both of whom will inherit the secret.

Nearly twenty years ago the contractor, now getting to be an old man, was ordered by his physician to leave Washington and to live near salt water. He pitched upon the little Northampton county harbor as the scene of his life and labors. Here he set up a small factory, and as his business grew with the growth of the postal system he took a few of the brightest country lads thereabout and taught them so much of the work as they could do without knowing the secret.
He now has about a score of these men with him, and the young men of the neighborhood are keen to get places in the factory, for the workmen are well paid, and theirs are the neatest and most comfortable homes in the hamlet that clusters about the glittering little harbor.

In Memoriam.

Salisbury, Md., May 1st, 1906.

Just one month today,
My dear father passed away,
From toiling cares and fears,
From parting, pains and tears.

Kind friends and physician said all they could,
But father could not stay, the Lord knew best,
You may think my wounded heart is healing,
But oh! it seems but yesterday.

Just to know that never on earth his face I'll

WHY SOCIALISM FAILS.

Tom Watson Points Out The Fundamental Error Of The System.

No matter how much difference there may be in the Tomorrow of Socialism, in its Today, when all it shall be inaugurated as a system, all things must be owned Collectively, and that means that the high and the low come to a common level; the good and the bad start even;
the idle and the industrious share and share alike; the illiterate and the learned, the capable and the incompetent,
the fool and the wise man, the virgin and the troll, the negro and the white all come to the Universal Brotherhood pot, and ladle out an equal porringerful of pottage.

God! What a sordid, sickening dead level! What an enforced equalizing of all men and all women, in a world where God never made two grains of sand, two leaves of the forest, two birds of the air, two fish of the sea, two beasts of the field exactly equal.

Only in a political sense can anyone even dream of two men being equal, for our eyes, our common sense, tell us that such a thing as equality in strength, capacity, character, or in the elements and achievements of manhood has no existence among men.

Socialism proceeds upon the idea that equality is there, or can be put there;
and the effort to prove that the idea is correct has been made time and again and again. It was not only tried among the Ancients, but it has been tried in modern times and it was tried by the colonists who first settled in North America.

Failure, dismal failure has been the result of every experiment. Why? Because Human Nature is radically, eternally different from what the Socialist assumes it to be.

If all were equal, and all were good Socialism would be unnecessary, even from the standpoint of the Socialist.

Give us absolute equality and universal goodness, and we don't need anything but a little time to reach an equal distribution of wealth and an era of Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men.
—Watson's Magazine for May.

Political Gossip.

The Baltimore News last Saturday said:

The contest in the First district will be between Congressman Thomas A.
Smith and former Congressman William H. Jackson. Mr. Jackson's contest of Mr. Smith's seat in Congress closes just about in time to allow Mr.
Smith to make another campaign, after having been on the anxious bench for two years.

Baltimore has been a mecca for country Democrats this week because of the meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday to elect the three Shell Fish Commissioners to enforce the new oyster law. Unless conditions change between now and next Wednesday, when the Board meets again, the Eastern Shore Commissioner will be Mr. B.
K. Green of Somerset, who will receive the vote of Comptroller Atkinson. Mr.
Green has the backing of former Congressman Joshua W. Miles. State Senator Brewington is urging the candidacy of Mr. John W. Willing, and there are a dozen others with more or less political backing.

The Governor will vote for Commander Howard, but it is not unlikely that Dr. Atkinson and Treasurer Vandiver will elect the two Democratic Commissioners and leave to the Governor the privilege of naming the Republican member of the Commission, who is to come from Baltimore city.

If such action is taken it would appear that the Governor would be the gainer, so far as any political effect is concerned. There are so many candidates that no matter which Democrats are selected, if the appointments are made for political reasons, there is bound to be soreness. The Governor is in the position of desiring to vote for Commander Howard, a Democrat, who is commander of the Oyster Navy. If forced to name the Republican, it is believed the Governor will vote for Dr.
Caswell Grave, a biologist of the Johns Hopkins University.

The State Tax Commissioner's term expires in May. Col. Buchanan Schley will probably be reappointed by the Board of Public Works. Friends of State Senator Marion V. Brewington are advocating his appointment as a successor to Colonel Schley.

There has been some talk of Mr.
Brewington as the next Democratic candidate for Comptroller. Those close to Mr. Brewington say, however, that he will be a candidate for re-election to the State Senate. This means a hot fight in Wicomico. Mr. Hugh Jackson a son of ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson, will be a candidate for the Senatorship, and a fight for the nomination between these two would make Democratic fur fly on the Eastern Shore. Mr. Brewington has served two terms in the Senate.

It was decided at the meeting of the Grand Council, Improved Order of Red Men at Brunswick last week to hold the next annual meeting at Snow Hill, Md.

The recently authorized issue of $20,000 worth of bonds by the Board of Anne Arundel County School Commissioners, was on Monday bought at public sale by the Annapolis Saving Institution for 101 for the whole series.
Simon J. Block, manager of the bond department for Hambleton & Co., was a bidder.

The Diamond State Telephone Company is extending its service by direct wires from Pocomoke City to Salisbury, and expects shortly to include to that service the town of Princess Anne, which now reaches Pocomoke indirectly. Both the Diamond State and the Princess Anne companies now have lines to all parts of Somerset and to the adjoining counties.

The surveyors surveying for the new railroad south of Cape Charles have about finished their work. The last line apparently runs south of Cape Charles Point and right of way is now being sought for along that line. While the definite location of this road is not known, the effort to obtain right of way indicates that if built at all it will go to the extreme southern end of the peninsula.

A deal for the sale of the steamer Queen Anne, which was built for and owned by the Queen Anne's Ferry and Equipment Company, of Baltimore, to a Washington firm was consummated last week. The amount involved was $55,- 000. The steamer will be used as an excursion boat between Washington and points along the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay.

Governor Lea, of Delaware, has been requested to remove from office Sheriff Elijah Lynch, of Sussex county, who recently was fined $200 and costs on a charge of neglect of duty in permitting prisoners to escape from Georgetown Jail and also in allowing prisoners in his custody to roam the streets. A copy of the court's action has been filed with the Governor, who has power to remove officials.

Mr. L. S. Tawes, of Crisfield, was in Baltimore last week, and consummated the purchase from J. S. Beacham & Bro., shipbuilders, of the schooner Brazos, now at New York. Captain Tawes has purchased the vessel ostensibly for M.
E. Gillett & Sons, of Tampa, Fla., with the proviso that he takes command for the next six months, during which the Brazos will fill a charter to a Southern port and back to New York.

Last Saturday at a special meeting of the town council of Laurel, Del., the provisions of a gas franchise for the town were agreed upon. They cover a 35-year franchise; the price of gas shall not exceed $1.35 per 1,000 cubic feet, with 6 per cent rebate for cash payment. The company shall not merge or combine with any other local lighting company; at the expiration of the franchise, or if the same be forfeited by breach of contract, all piping buried in the streets shall be forfeited to the town; the plant is to be completed and in operation not later than July 1st,

The season for catching oysters with tongs ended last Wednesday and as the cold and stormy weather during the spring prevented the tongs from work much of the time, and especially as this was the case during the last three days of the season, it closed under a cloud.
In fact the season taken as a whole, has been unremunerative to those engaged in every branch of the industry in this section and it is feared that the new law enacted at the recent session of the Legislature for the regulation of this important matter will fail to infuse any new life in the declining industry in this locality.—St Michaels Comet.

According to the Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, Maryland is to be visited next month by the 11-year and 13-year locust. The department has sent out for distribution in the localities a circular which contains a map indicating the various points where the locusts will appear. The map refers to the 17-year brood, and the circular gives their distribution as follows:
The region commences in Southeastern Massachusetts, extends south across Long Island and along the Atlantic Coast of New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland as far as the Chesapeake Bay; then up the Susquehanna River, in Pennsylvania, to a point little below Harrisburg; thence westward in Ohio, embracing the southwestern corner of the State and the northwestern portion of Kentucky, and then upward through Southwestern Indiana, ending in Central Illinois.

While on his way to dinner, about 11 o'clock last Monday, Junius Smith who is employed in Mayne's saw mill in East New Market District, Dorchester county, was struck by a falling tree while passing through a woods and had his neck broken, resulting in his immediate death.

Many Professional and business men of Ridgely have amputated their mustaches during the week. We do not know whether this was done to obtain better roots for a second crop, or just for the sake of being relieved of a few scattered sprouts here and there.—
Caroline Sun.

Fires raged last week in John F.
Waggaman's woods along the bay shore near Ocean city, destroying a considerable amount of timber. On Wednesday the smoke was so dense around the schoolhouse a mile west of Ocean City, that the teacher, Miss Minnie Tingle, was compelled to dismiss the pupils.

The outlook for a large strawberry crop in Delaware was never more promising than at the present time. The vines are white with blossoms and the berries have begun to form. Some growers expect to make shipments earlier than they did last season, if the weather continues favorable. The prospect for a large peach crop is also bright.

Charged by his wife with nonsupport and assault and battery, Dr. James P.
Lofland, formerly of Milford but now of Wilmington was held Monday in $1000 bail for court. He and his wife have not been living together of late. The assault is alleged to have been committed last April. Both are prominently known throughout Delaware. Mrs.
Lofland is the daughter of Dr. Joseph
P. Waples of Georgetown.

The Cambridge division of the Naval Reserves who went to Annapolis to take part in the burial exercises of John Paul Jones returned to Cambridge none the worse off from their trip. Because of a mishap aboard ship the Cambridge boys did not land at Annapolis, but remained aboard the Miantonomoh just outside the harbor. The boat that was to have conveyed the boys from the monitor to the shore had a hole knocked into her when trying to go alongside.—Cambridge Standard.

Crisfield is no longer a small village with one street and a few people. It is now a thriving and progressive little city with many streets and many people. With new factories and handsome residences going up in all sections of the city, the demand is for better public improvements. The demand must be met; and it is the duty of the Commissioners of Crisfield to consider this matter in an intelligent manner and how to the will of the people. The man who gets improvements is a willing taxpayer; but the man who gives up his money year after year and still resides on a blind alley with a pig path for an outlet, has both cause and reason to ask where the money goes —

Probably the largest sale of real estate ever made on the Eastern Shore of Maryland was consummated this week by Mr. J. B. Hopkins, real estate broker, of Pocomoke City. The property sold is that known as the Red hills property, situated on Chincoteague bay, in Accomac county, Virginia, and 12 miles from Pocomoke City. The tract which was owned by Mr. R. B. Sinnickson, contained 1,600 acres and was purchased by J. S. Histler & Co., of Shenandoah, Pa., at $30 per acre, making the sale aggregate $48,000, which was paid in cash. This property is beautifully located and the greater part of it is heavily set in pine timber. Some years ago it was bought by Mr. Sinnickson from the late W. J. S. Clarke, of Pocomoke City, the price paid being a few thousand dollars.—Worcester Democrat.

A serious accident was narrowly averted at the railroad station at Seaford, Del., Tuesday morning last week.
Mr. Clinton Horsey, who suffered a paralytic stroke about two weeks previous, was being carried on a stretcher to the Cambridge & Seaford train when a freight train which was doing some shifting backed down to the wagon, throwing Mr. Horsey out and nearly demolished the wagon. Jerry Coleman colored, who was driving the team caught the unfortunate man as he was falling out, and by a superhuman effort lifted him out of harm's way. Several others who were in the wagon barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Horsey carried safely to the train and taken to the Cambridge Hospital for treatment.

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1906.

The City Council.

The people of Salisbury have shown unusual confidence in the present Mayor and board of City Council, which must be a source of great pride and satisfaction to the several members. Their efforts toward the welfare of the town are fully appreciated and we, with others, Democrats and Republicans, have been glad to add our unqualified approval of their course for some time past. We have had very little reason to criticize, and it gives us pleasure to add this economy to what we have previously had to say on the subject of their performance of duty.

In the past, the only speck, the only shadow, upon the record of our Council, is that it has been a little slow. Now this is a good fault, if fault it is. To act too quickly is often to act disastrously. But when we find out what we want to do, the quicker 'tis done the better. Salisbury wants its street paved and we have placed ourselves unreservedly in the hands of our Mayor and Council. We've endorsed them and backed them up in every way we can. The preliminaries have all been gone over. We shall therefore confidently look for this improvement just as soon as the work can be done—without doubt in the next few months, before the end of this coming summer.

Tax Revision.

The tax books of Wicomico county have long needed a thorough going over and revision, as we have on several occasions pointed out. As they now stand the taxes are in no wise equally distributed. A large amount of property escapes taxation altogether and many estates are valued far below their real worth. The Commissioners are attempting to remedy this state of affairs and it is the duty of every good citizen to give them all the aid in his power. Taxes are necessary to keep up the county government and it should be the aim of everybody to see that they are equally divided.

We anticipate that, when the books are revised, the rate can and will be lowered. But no matter if it is not, if all share alike, town and country, in paying the expenses, there is not likely to be any grumbling to amount to anything. The condition in which the books have been—the inequalities of the valuation—is the main cause of the criticism that has been directed against the management of the county's finances.

The Shellfish Commissioners.

The manner in which the three Shellfish Commissioners were elected, the character of the two Democrats chosen, stamps the commission as a political body, to be worked to the limit for the benefit of Democratic politicians. It is a great disappointment. It looks, at this period, as if it will mean the death of Maryland's oyster industry. The Commission has great powers. There is tremendous opportunity for graft. There is also tremendous opportunity to control votes. The commission will have oystermen and the oyster interests by the throat. If these do not "dance up" as the politicians require, their livelihood is gone.

What a travesty it is. We do not know any more about Mr. Walter J. Mitchell, other than to say he is a Democratic politician, "close to Mr. Vandiver." Mr. Green, as Shellfish Commissioner, is a joke. He is currently reported, even by Democrats, in this locality, to be no more qualified to be a real Shellfish Commissioner than is a man who never saw an oyster. He is qualified to handle votes at elections; he is "Ben. Green, the sweet singer of Somerset," but when it comes down to administering the oyster law without fear or favor or bias, he couldn't do it if he wanted to.

It was a wheel within a wheel. Samuel Harper, of Talbot, is to be secretary of the Commission, Alonzo Miles is to be its attorney, and "Tom." Howard was re-elected Commander of the Oyster Navy.

If the people, and especially the oystermen, can stand Mitchell and Green as Commissioners, and "Tom." Howard as Commander again, and vote the next Legislature Democratic, then we miss our guess by a long, long ways.

—At the recent Great Council of Improved Order Red Men, of Maryland, Mr. E. E. Twilley, of Salisbury, was elected Great Keeper of Wampum. This is quite an honor for Modoc Tribe, the local lodge, as it is the first time in the history of the order in Maryland that this office has been held outside of Baltimore city. No delegate from this section was elected to the Great Council of the United States, which meets at Dallas, Texas, in September. L. L. Drickson, Jr., of Berlin, is a hold-over representative however and Messrs. B. Frank Keenerly and E. E. Twilley, of Salisbury, are planning to attend, accompanied on the trip by their wives.

—Rev. I. H. White, who was recently appointed pastor of the colored M. E. church in Jersey, this town, was stricken with paralysis last Sunday morning while preaching his morning sermon. His condition at this time is somewhat improved. He is one of the best known colored ministers of the Delaware Conference. While Presiding Elder of this District fifteen years ago he established the church in Jersey. Another preacher who is expected today, Saturday, has been sent as supply by Dr. O'Connell, Presiding Elder, to fill the pulpit during Rev. Mr. White's illness.

—Mr. Thomas A. Pinto, practical watchmaker and optician, of Duluth, Minn., formerly of Salisbury, who learned his trade with his uncle, the late A. W. Woodcock, and has been in business in Duluth for the past 20 years, arrived in Salisbury this week for a visit to his cousin, Mr. S. P. Woodcock. Mr. Pinto is much impressed with the wonderful progress Salisbury has made since he left. He says that Minnesota people are greatly interested in the Eastern Shore and he has many inquiries in reference to this locality.

—The White Haven Transportation Co., composed of merchants of White Haven, has been formed to run a freight and passenger line between that town and Salisbury. They have purchased from Mr. Al. Wootten the large gasoline yacht "Waikiki" and, while the details of their plans are not yet completed, they expect to begin operating the line in a week or ten days. The yacht is being put in thorough repair. She is the largest and best equipped boat of this kind, for this business, on the river.

—Hon. W. H. Jackson and W. P. Jackson have erected a 40 foot tower with 10,000 gallon steel tank for a private water supply at their residences on Camden Avenue. The equipment was put in by Mr. R. McKenney Price. Mr. Price has also contracted to put in a water and steam heating plant for Mr. James E. Lowe at his Rockawalking farm.

—No report has yet been received by the County Commissioners from the Geological Survey of the 6 miles of road recently surveyed near Salisbury for shell roads under the Shoemaker Law. The report is expected in a short time and the work will probably be done late this summer.

Death of William G. Grier.

William G. Grier, aged 68 years, died Monday afternoon, at his residence, 708 Poplarhill avenue, this town. Death resulted from heart trouble, with which he was stricken five years ago when a resident of Wilmington. He had been confined to his bed, however, only since February of this year.

Mr. Grier was a son of George S. Grier of Milford, who is still living. He was born in North Shields, England, April 29th, 1848, but had lived in Delaware since he was six years old, the greater part of the time in Wilmington, though his early life was passed in Milford. He was a machinist, having learned the trade at his father's shop and at Sellers', in Philadelphia. For many years he was foreman of the machine shop at Riddle's Mills, after which he was master mechanic of the Junction & Breakwater Railroad. He worked in several other machine shops at different times. During his four years of residence in Salisbury part of the time he was associated with his brothers, Robert D. and Frederick A. Grier, in the machine business, but for the past two years had been custodian of the new Masonic Temple at Salisbury. He was for many years a member of Washington Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Wilmington, but upon going to Salisbury transferred his membership there. He served eight years as a member of the Wilmington Board of Education and for many years was superintendent of Riddle's M. E. Chapel Sunday school. He was of a genial disposition and had a host of friends wherever he was known.

Mr. Grier leaves a widow, a daughter of the late Sheriff Stephen M. Collins of Kent county; two sons and a daughter—A. O. Herman Grier, city editor of Wilmington Every Evening, W. H. Grier, of Salisbury and Miss Maud S. Grier, a teacher in the Wilmington public schools. His father, George S. Grier, his stepmother, and the following brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. John W. Ratcliff, Mrs. James P. Pierce, Mrs. William E. Deputy, Dr. G. Layton, Dr. Frank L. and George S. Grier, Jr., of Milford, Robert D. and Frederick A. Grier of Salisbury, James Younger Grier of Texas, Harry L. Grier of Philadelphia and Davis L. Grier of New Orleans, La.

The funeral, which took place on Thursday afternoon, was largely attended and unusually impressive, being with high Masonic honors. Wicomico Lodge, No. 91, A. F. and A. M., of which Mr. Grier was a member, had charge and acquitted itself in a most creditable manner. Paul E. Watson is Worshipful Master of the Lodge. There were also Masonic visitors from Delmar Lodge.

The services at the house were conducted by Rev. Thomas E. Martindale, D. D., pastor of the M. E. Church North, who paid high tribute to the memory of the deceased. Mr. Grier, he said, was faithful in everything he undertook and had a high Christian character, which was emphasized by the fact that in his early life he spent many years in training children in the right path as Superintendent of Riddle M. E. Sunday school, in Wilmington. Mr. Martindale also said Mr. Grier, in the several responsible positions which he held, showed his ability and faithfulness to the trusts reposed in him.

The services at the grave were conducted by Wicomico Lodge, the following members being pallbearers: A. A. Gillis, J. G. Byrd, William E. Booth, R. Frank Williams, Senator E. Stanley Trafton and James L. Powell. Business was practically suspended during the afternoon.

The floral tributes were numerous and handsome. They included a large square and compass from Wicomico Lodge, a wreath from the trustees of the Masonic Temple; pillow lettered "Father," from the widow, son, W. Haswell and daughter, Miss Maud S. Grier, the latter of Wilmington, 68 carnations from a son, A. O. Herman Grier, and family, of Wilmington; pillow inscribed "Uncle William," from Frederick A. Grier and family; cluster of calla lilies from his three sisters, Mrs. John W. Ratcliff, Mrs. James P. Price and Mrs. William E. Deputy, of Milford; blanket of carnations and sweet peas from Miss Mary E. Duffey and daughter, Mrs. James E. Walters, of Wilmington; white sweet peas from L. Lemon, of Germantown, Pa.; sheaf of wheat and lilies from Dr. and Mrs. J. McFadden Dick; Easter lilies and palm branches from Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Phillips of the Peninsula Hotel; Easter lilies and fern from Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Elliott, of Wilmington and a bouquet of lilies of the valley from a sister, Mrs. John W. Ratcliff, of Milford.

Interment was made at Parsons cemetery. Many letters of condolence were received by the family from sorrowing relatives and friends.

Obituary.

Death visited our home and took away our darling Leon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hastings, Wednesday, May 2, aged one year and eight months. He was the joy of the home and was loved by all who knew him. But God's will, not ours, be done.

Funeral service was held Thursday afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. Hardesty and the body was laid at rest in the family burying ground.

My heart is sad and lonely now,
My grief too sad to tell,
But time will come to me soon,
That I may with him dwell.

Our home is sad and lonely,
Since our darling Leon is gone,
But oh, a brighter home than ours,
In Heaven is now his own.

He was our only treasure,
He was our joy and pride,
We loved him oh, perhaps too well,
For soon he slept and died.

You are not forgotten Leon dear,
Nor will you ever be,
For as long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

'Twas hard to part from one we love,
But God alone knew best,
And the thought that fills our aching hearts:
Is to know he is at rest.

—By his aunt Gertrude.

May Is Here Again

We MAY have more spells of weather to the day this year than we did last MAY. We may have so many sorts that really we can't tell what sort of clothes to tell you about. In the morning it MAY look like rain coats and umbrellas, at noon it MAY look like soft shirts and straw hats, in the afternoon it MAY look like overcoats and rubber shoes, and by five o'clock it MAY look as if everybody was glad MAY was here again.. Well, no matter what your clothes needs are, if you're a man, Lacy Thoroughgood's got it, and so has James Thoroughgood. There has never been a time in the last twenty years, and there never will be, when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can from Lacy Thoroughgood or James Thoroughgood. Why you can't get common shoddy things from them, they don't sell them. No two stores in the world come nearer to doing business right than Lacy Thoroughgood's and James Thoroughgood's. Why we sell you goods solely on their merits, there's no flim flam about it. We never have any apologies to offer or excuses to make for selling goods cheap. We do it simply to sell more. We are selling this week Men's Suits for $10, $12.50 and $15. Children's Suits for $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $5 and $6.50. Men's Shirts for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. We are selling Men's Hats, all kinds, including Straw, at all the popular prices. You MAY expect to see as good hats as ours are—but you won't—anywhere else.

Pilgrim Joe Has a Rough Time of It

He Strikes the Town of Get-Away-Quick and Is Injured to the Extent of $60.

(Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)

As I abided in the town of Last Chance for a few days while suffering the affliction of a carbuncle on my neck I received a letter from the mayor of the town of Get-Away-Quick asking me to come over there as soon as able and show my show of moving pictures and bring along a large stock of the Pilgrim Pain Alleviator. The aforesaid alleviator has now been before the public for many years, and its certain and marvelous virtues are known to all, but I cannot let this opportunity pass without saying that—

It is a remedy for despondency. It cures the cure the sarache. It acts like magic on disappointed love.

One bottle will assuage the deepest sorrow.

If your wife has eloped the alleviator will make you glad of it.

It cures ingrowing toe nails and palpitation of the heart.

Thousands of people who were standing on the verge of the grave have been

THE MAYOR CAME FORWARD TO SHAKE HANDS WITH ME.

yanked back and come to weigh 200 pounds by investing in a single bottle.

Whenever and wherever you find a druggist selling my alleviator you need ask no further references. He is respectable and honest and can be trusted with the Fourth of July contributions.

The carbuncle having busted and a song of joy come back to my heart, I set out for the town mentioned and after a long day's drive I reached the same. On the way, and without any seeming cause for it, the song was hushed on my lips, my joyous soul clouded over, and I found myself taking a despondent view of life. I wrestled with the feeling for a time and finally succeeded in throwing it off, but later on I came to understand that it was a warning that I would have done well to heed. I had sketched entered the town of Get-Away-Quick when I was struck by a certain air of general levity and recklessness. The mayor came forward to shake hands with me, and while doing so he whispered in my ear: "Old cock, I've got it all fixed for you and me to be parts in a game of poker and clean up the town."

I replied that I never indulged in poker except when I felt that the heat of Africa were short of small change, and the mayor seemed to freeze up on me. He had sketched left me when an alderman suggested that I go in with him on a horse race and scoop the town. I gave him a discouraging reply, and he left me with a threat on his lips. Then a third citizen approached me. He was a deputy sheriff, and he wanted me to ring in a tooth paste with my alleviator and beat the public and whack up with him. When I referred him to my spotless reputation for honesty he shook his fist under my nose and said I was an old hypocrite and a fraud. The landlord of the tavern inquired if I had brought along any loaded dice, and when I replied that I never dealt in such things he also called me names and hinted that I was a cuss who needed taking down a peg or two.

As the shades of evening gathered over the rooftrees and tumbled down into the streets I went forth from the tavern and set up my stand in the public square and announced the virtues of my Pilgrim Pain Alleviator. There wasn't a man in the crowd who could say that I was not honest and sincere, and I stood ready to produce any number of certificates, but it was no use. I never struck a town where they needed the alleviator worse, but not a bottle would they buy. "Among other things," I assured them—

That if a man hadn't been left hanging too long the alleviator would restore him to life.

That heart disease gave way before it and consumption took to flight as soon as it saw the yellow label.

That there never was a divorce in a family using it.

That it had five times the enthusiasm of brandy at one-fifth the cost.

That a whole barrel of whisky didn't contain the warwhoops of a single bottle.

But talk was useless, and when I found it so I asked the crowd to follow me to the hall where I was to exhibit my moving pictures. Desiring to let them understand that I was not in the business for gain and thereby rebuke them, I announced that the show would be free to all, including cross-eyed men. This put some life into them, and they tagged on behind. I opened the show by exhibiting a picture of the beef trust raising the price of liver 400 per cent. Wherever else this picture has been exhibited it has been greeted with dismal groans as showing the feelings of the masses, but in this instance a man stood up and swung his hat and shouted:

"Hurrah for the beef trust! Long may it wave! Let's have another 400 per cent raise!"

He was cheered for five minutes, during which time several products of the vegetable kingdom were thrown my way. I then followed with a picture of Washington crossing the Delaware. When this spirited picture was exhibited in the town of Come Off over 100 free American citizens sprang to their feet and cheered until five lengths of stovepipe fell clattering to the floor. During the excitement that followed some one picked my pocket of $7, but I did not lay it up against him. I long ago discovered that when an American citizen's patriotism is appealed to he'll do most anything to show his desire to die for his country.

In this instance the picture did not receive one single cheer, though I kept it in front of the audience for five minutes. When my looks expressed the astonishment I felt the mayor got up and said:

"Move him along. G. Wash. is a back number. Give us something up to date."

I did. I gave them the picture of the congressman found guilty on two trials of stealing government land not a hundred miles from their town and was about to deliver a brief lecture on the enormity of his offense when the crowd rose up and began to cheer and hurrah. They said the congressman was a bully boy with a glass eye and that they would sign a petition for his pardon. I choked off my remarks and exhibited a picture of an orphan girl starving on the streets of New York. Not one sympathetic sigh did I hear from the audience. I showed the same girl dead on the sidewalk, and several persons broke into laughter. I showed her entering the gates of heaven after her trials here on earth, and the mayor rose up and said:

"This 'ere show seems to be a good deal of a fraud, and if it don't improve I shall treat it as a fraud."

I then exhibited a picture of a trust buying up all the butter, eggs and vegetables in the country and holding them for a raise, while workmen and their wives and children were eating burdocks to keep life in them. Wherever that picture has been exhibited it has been received with the wildest enthusiasm, and in two cases men have gone out of the halls with shotguns to pepper members of the trust, and here it was a dead failure. Nobody cheered and nobody groaned. After a painful period of silence a red-headed man arose and said he had a duty to perform. It was a duty he owed to himself, to his town and to the country at large.

While I was wondering what he was getting at he came over and hit me a swat on the jaw that rendered me unconscious. When I recovered I was being escorted out of town by a band of hilarious citizens, and before turning back they made it plain that if I ever entered the town of Get-Away-Quick again I might lose my valuable life.

Upon casting up the damages I found they had injured me to the extent of $80, to say nothing of the humiliation to my feelings. I was cast down for an hour or two, but finally charged it up to profit and loss, and the songs of gladness came back to my soul again. A pilgrim is one of the fellows you can't keep on the grass long. M. QUAD.

Tom's Advantage.
Tom Catt—What! Going to blame that broken jam jar on me too? I don't think that is fair.

Bobby—Well, you see, you have nine lives, and I only have one. You can stand the most knocks.

Realistic.
"Paw, can an honest man play poker?"
"Yes, Tommy, but he can't win anything."—Chicago News.

The Woman of It.

Burglar's Wife (trying on bracelet)—It's too small, Bill. Now, wouldn't that jar yer? After all yer trouble ye'll have to take it back and exchange it.—Browning's Magazine.

Life's Recompense.
Life may be dull and gloom and sad, Its days filled with misgivings, But evenings—oh, the evenings' glad And evening's life's worth living! At evening 'neath the setting sun, However dour the day may be, Your gummy grin fills life with fun, My wee, baldheaded baby, Your little hands reach up to me And brush away all ruing, Till I'm as glad as I can be, And mock you "Goo-ah-gooling!" And I talk baby talk to you And toss and catch you maybe, And life is full of love and you, My wee, baldheaded baby. —Houston Post.

Curious Fishing.
Very curious is the method of fishing followed by the Chinese in the strait of Malacca. The fisherman lets down from the side of the boat a screen of white canvas stretched on wood. The shoal of fish mistake this for some floating obstruction and try to leap over it, with the result that the fish jump into the boat and are thus captured. This method is employed by Malays in their waters.

Ventriloquism in the Bible.
Ventriloquism, which is described as "speaking from the belly," has its first historic mention, as far as we are aware, in Isaiah xxix, 4, "And thou shalt be brought down and shalt speak out of the ground, and thy speech shall be low out of the dust, and thy voice shall be as one that hath a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and thy speech shall whisper out of the dust." —Brooklyn Eagle.

Resourceful.
"Here!" roared the old lawyer to his son, studying law with him. "You told me you had read this work on evidence, and yet the leaves are not out!"

"Used X rays," yawned the versatile son, and the father chuckled with delight as he thought what a lawyer the boy would make.—London Punch.

A Polish Sport.

One of the favorite sports of a Polish country gentleman is to capture a wolf alive, and as his mode of doing it is probably new to many Englishmen I will briefly describe it. A wolf being driven into the open, the well mounted horseman pursues it, armed only with a long whip and some rope. The wolf after a time tries to take rest, but the rider forces it on with his whip till, after repeated attempts at rest, it sinks exhausted. The rider then springs from his horse, jumps astride the wolf and, holding it by the ears, secures it with the rope. Most men require the assistance of a mounted companion, who ties the wolf while the other holds its ears with both hands, and in this way the capture is comparatively easy, but to do it single handed is a difficult feat. Nasty bites and even dangerous wounds result should the hunter have miscalculated the strength of the animal. No one, however, is considered a perfect sportsman till he has done this, yet many never succeed. Of the large party assembled only our host, two of his stalwart brothers and one other man had obtained this blue ribbon of Polish sport.—Blackwood's Magazine.

SHOES DE LUXE

NEVER were shoes more beautiful than the new "Queen Quality" Custom Grade models. The extent of their variety may be precisely presented by stating that they are made in no less than 4,760 variations of shape and style, thus affording accuracy of fit for every type and size of foot, and ease the first day worn. But no figures can express the charm of this variety, indeed it is but faintly suggested by the illustrations here shown. To appreciate this you must see the shoes. Ask for them while our assortments are complete.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEY'S.

Don't Mistake The Cause of Your Troubles—
A Salisbury Citizen Shows How To Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary troubles sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Salisbury people testify to permanent cures.

Wm M. Gordy, carpenter, residing corner of Ann and E. Church Streets says: "I have had backache for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped the trouble. My son also took some of the remedy and received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

IT CASES HAVE.

In France, as in most other countries, it is necessary to give one's age when making a statement in a court of justice as well as in many other official proceedings. But Frenchwomen of mature years are noted above all other women for their unwillingness to state their age.

On one occasion a lady who had to testify was accompanied to the court by a numerous company of her friends, and when the magistrate asked, "How old are you?" there was such a coughing and clearing of throats as of people suffering from severe colds that all that could be heard in the courtroom was "—ty years!"

Through the amiability of the magistrate this more than half suppressed response was allowed to stand, but the tribunals are not always so lenient. On another occasion a magistrate asked a woman:

"What is your age, madam?"

"Whatever you choose, sir," answered the lady. She was under oath.

"You may put down forty-five years, then," said the magistrate to the clerk.

"What is your occupation, madam?"

"Sir," said the witness, "you have made a mistake of ten years in my age."

"Put down fifty-five years, then," said the magistrate. "Your residence?"

"Sir," exclaimed the lady, "my age is thirty-five years, not fifty-five!"

"At last we have your statement," said the magistrate, and he proceeded with the examination.

Lafayette and America.

Marie Jean Paul Roch Yves Gilbert Motier, Marquis de Lafayette, was a young French nobleman who, on hearing that America had declared independence of Great Britain, resolved to come over and assist us in the struggle. He was already an officer in the French army, but obtained leave of absence. On his arrival in Philadelphia, then the seat of government, in the summer of 1777, Congress voted him a commission as major general, though he was not yet twenty-one years of age. He rendered distinguished service to the American cause, especially at the battle of Yorktown, for which Washington publicly thanked him the day after Cornwallis' surrender. After his return to his native land he took an important part in the French revolution and the events which followed. He returned to America in 1824 and was most enthusiastically received in each of the twenty-four states and all the principal cities. Congress voted him $200,000 and a township of land in consideration of his former services, his own fortune having been confiscated during the reign of terror.—St. Louis Republic.

The Emperesses of Russia.

During the eighteenth century no less than four emperesses held sway over Russia, and if perhaps the throne was unjustly usurped in more than one instance it can at least be said of all of them that they reigned more wisely than the emperors of that period and that they have left names more famous than those of their male predecessors and successors. With all her many faults Catherine the Great proved a wise and powerful monarch, and much that disfigured her history may be forgotten, seeing that she almost totally abolished the custom of subjecting all Russian prisoners to a system of ghastly torture besides repealing many other cruel and barbarous laws.

Washington's Hand.

George Washington's hand was described as that of a giant. On the occasion of General Lafayette's visit to this country he remarked to Mr. Custis when referring to a former visit "You were holding to a single finger of the good general's remarkable hand—the greatest feat you could perform at that time." Washington was the champion jumper of his day. In one match he covered 21 feet 3 inches, easily beating all competitors.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

"What I want," said the earnest citizen, "is to see a state of affairs which will give every man a chance to work." "Yes," answered the cheerless person, "but that won't give entire satisfaction. What nearly everybody is looking for is a chance to do nothing and make everybody else work."—Washington Star.

The One Exception.

"Of course," said Henpeck. "I don't always do what my wife tells me!"

"What?" exclaimed Mecker in surprise.

"No; you see if she's in a sarcastic mood when she orders me to do anything I know she wants me to do just the opposite."—Philadelphia Press.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homeopathic) of regular practicing physicians. It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers, there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time, I would be unable to lie on my back, and if I lay flat on my back would have smothering spells. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure, I am now perfectly well. All those dreadful smothering spells, pains in my side and other symptoms, vanished."—P. F. DRAKE, Middlebury, O.

Corn planting is a general thing. Cantaloupe seed are up and strawberries will be shipped from here in a week from the present time, if the good weather continues.

Chickens seem to be in great demand. There is hardly a day passes by that we cannot hear of some one's chicken roasting.

There is not much going on at present in the way of building improvements. However, one of our fellow townsmen has partly painted his door steps. We suppose he does not want his structure to go down on account of some pleasant recollections of by-gone days. He has also ordered some benches fixed on the outside of the door for the benefit of the lame and the lazy.

Much news of great importance is rather scarce this week.

State Political Notes.

President Roosevelt on Tuesday sent to the Senate the nomination of Dr. Robert A. Havenscroft of Garrett county to succeed himself as Surveyor of Customs at the port of Baltimore. Dr. Havenscroft's appointment was recommended by Congressman Pearre, in whose district he resides.

Congressman Sydney E. Mudd was renominated Tuesday afternoon by the Fifth District Convention at Hayttsville, Prince George county. The resolutions endorse Mr. Mudd's every vote and act in the past, and express unqualified confidence in his future action upon public questions. Mr. Mudd's son, Sydney E. Mudd Jr., was temporary chairman of the convention.

Death Of Three Old Residents.

Three of the oldest residents of Trappe district have died during the past few days, all of them being well known in the district and county. The eldest, Mr. Levin W. Malone, died at his home on the Wicomico river, Saturday evening last. He was 84 years old, and was a brother of ex-Senator Lemuel Malone, who for so many years edited the Salisbury Advertiser. The deceased leaves a widow, who was Sarah Jane Stanford before her marriage. The children of Mr. Malone living are James Malone, Theodore Malone, Thomas Malone, Mrs. Thomas W. H. White, and Miss Lizzie Malone.

The other two deaths were Mr. Emory Banks, aged 82 years and Mr. Washington Daley, aged 77. Mr. Banks died Sunday night last. He had been in feeble health for some time past. He leaves one son, Mr. Gabriel Banks.

Mr. Daley also died Sunday night. He leaves two children, Mrs. Samuel Jenkins of Salisbury and John Daley, of Cambridge.

SAM WONG'S REVERIES.

My name's Sam Wong
Of the Chow Hop Tong,
And me come from the Chinese land.
Me likee nice tea,
First chop—'cause me,
Alle long, long day me stand, Washie and scrub at my laundry tub, and me work velly hard as can be,
And long comes night, my pipe me light,
and me likee nice cup of tea.

Me homesick some
When the night-time come,
And me think of my Chinese girl;
And I smellee in a dream,
When my tea go steam,
Those fields where the tea leaves curl.
Allees samee tea, likee used to be—for it's CHASE & SANBORN brand,
And my pipe me light, and me rest come

THE PROSPECT FOR GAS.

Time For Laying Mains In Centre Of Town Will Have To Be Extended. The Situation As It Is.

At a meeting of the Salisbury City Council Monday night January 8th, a franchise was granted the Salisbury Gas Co., under a contract to have the plant installed within a year, and the mains laid on Dock, Main and Division (to Church) streets by June 1st, so as to not interfere with street paving that is contemplated. The Gas Co. filed a bond for $10,000 as evidence of good faith.

The Salisbury Gas Co. was incorporated with a capital stock of $75,000 with the privilege of increasing same to $300,000. The following are directors: Daniel C. Spruance, of Smyrna, Del.; Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, Del.; W. S. Gordy, Jr., M. A. Humphreys and James E. Ellegood, of Salisbury.

Nothing whatever has been done by the company toward carrying out its contract. As the first of June is rapidly approaching, the question naturally has arisen, and is being considered by the Council, as to what the company proposes doing. As the matter stands, there must necessarily be an extension of the time for laying the pipes in the centre of the town. Whether or not this extension shall be granted by the Council is under discussion.

The local members of the board of directors of the Gas Co. expect to get together at a meeting called by Mr. M. A. Humphreys, the President, next week. It is understood that they will have some very plain talk to the outside interests and that if definite assurances are not given they will take active charge of the situation and introduce other capitalists in the project.

It is also rumored that Mayor C. E. Harper has other parties interested who will assume the contract, if desired, at the proper time. One way or another it is expected that something will be done shortly.

It is the talk on the street that the bond put up by the Salisbury Gas Co. is worthless so far as the city government of Salisbury recovering on it is concerned. In other words, it is simply an indemnity bond and in order to recover the town would be compelled to show damages. The opinion of most attorneys here is that this could not be successfully established.

Pine Bluff Sanatorium Incorporated.

Incorporation papers were filed with Clerk of the Court Ernest A. Toudine on Monday, May 7th, incorporating the Pine Bluff Sanatorium. The incorporators named were George W. Todd, Levin Ernest Williams, H. W. Ruark, Joseph L. Bailey and F. Leonard Wailes. These, with Lucy Thoroughgood, Thomas E. Martindale, Henry S. Todd, Alphus H. Holloway and William F. Allen, are directors for the first year.

The capital stock authorized is $10,000, divided into shares at $25 each. The purpose of the company, as recited in the papers, is to conduct a sanatorium for the treatment of persons afflicted with tuberculosis and other diseases.

3.45—"What part should every Endeavorer take in the Prayer Meeting?"—Mr. John R. Messick.

4.15—Question box and general discussion.—Rev. E. P. Perry.

EVENING SESSION.

7.30—Song and Praise Service.—Mr. E. J. Heath, Jr.

8.00—"What relation does the pastor sustain to the Society?"—Rev. N. V. Cassaboon.

8.30—"What relation does the Society sustain to the church?"—Rev. E. P. Perry.

The Societies on Marble, Quantico and Waltersville churches will be represented and the occasion promises to be an inspiration to the cause. All persons interested in Christian work are cordially invited to attend.

Death Of Thomas S. Roberts.

Thomas S. Roberts, one of the most prominent citizens of Northlake district, died at his home there Monday of tuberculosis. Mr. Roberts was 56 years old, and was a son of the late W. U. Roberts.

Mr. Roberts entered politics when a young man. He was first nominated in 1891 on the Democratic ticket for Sheriff and during the memorable fight of that year defeated Capt. Josephus Hayman, the Fusionist. He made an excellent Sheriff, and was nominated by the Democrats for the Legislature in 1893 and served in the session of 1894. In 1899 he was a candidate for Senator, but was defeated for the nomination by Senator Brewington. He was elected to the House and served in the session of 1900 and the extra session of 1901. He was then a candidate for commander of the oyster police schooner Nellie Jackson, but did not get the appointment.

Mr. Roberts married a daughter of the late George E. R. J. Collier, who survives him, with five children. He also leaves two brothers, Rev. Pearce Roberts, of Easton, and Mr. I. W. Roberts, of Wicomico county. His sisters are Mrs. Geo. D. Walter, Mrs. Henry C. Robertson, Mrs. E. Frank Taylor and Mrs. William S. Evans. His funeral took place Tuesday.

NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM.

Latest Improved Switchboard And Central Battery To Be Installed At Salisbury.

General Manager W. H. Baker and Superintendent W. Branch Wainwright, of the Diamond State Telephone Co., and J. L. Kilpatrick, Chief Wireman of the Bell Telephone Co., of Philadelphia, were in Salisbury Thursday, inspecting the local office and, with a few of improving the service here, preparing plans for a change of the switch-board and the battery system of operating the phones.

The main office in Salisbury will be remodeled to provide additional room for the operating department. A new, 600' phone, latest improved switch-board will be installed, operated by the central energy system. This means that when a person uses a 'phone, it will not be necessary to ring up "central," all that will have to be done will be to take down the receiver and talk. It is the same system used in the large cities. The change will necessitate placing new 'phones with every subscriber.

The changes contemplated as above described, will not be made until sometime during the summer and possibly not until the early fall. The work will be done however, as soon as the company can complete its arrangements.

Dickinson Orator From Wicomico County Won State Contest.

The annual Intercollegiate Prohibition Oratorical Contest for the championship of Pennsylvania was held last night at the University of Susquehanna, Selinsgrove, Pa. Mr. Dayton E. McClain had the honor of carrying off the victory for Dickinson College, together with a money prize of fifty dollars. Mr. McClain, being the winner of the State Contest, will, on May 25, at Grove City, Pa., represent the State of Pennsylvania in the Interstate contest composed of the States of Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Kentucky. Mr. McClain is a good one, and judging from the wide margin with which he won out last night, he certainly bids fair to win the Interstate contest and to get the national contest to be held later on in the year.—The Carlisle Pa. Evening Sentinel May 5.

U. S. Senator Gorman Very Ill.

There is no disguising the fact that United States Senator A. P. Gorman is a very ill man. He has been confined to his home in Washington since the first of the year and is now considered in a serious condition.

Dr. Lewellys F. Barker, professor of medicine of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, has been called into consultation by Dr. William K. Brown, of Washington, Senator Gorman's attending physician, and his friends are greatly worried about him. It had been planned by Senator Gorman's family to take him to his country home, near Laurel, Howard county, last week, but his latest attack has prevented him from being moved, and it may be several weeks before he regains the strength to make the trip. The Senator, it is said, is anxious to get to the country, as he feels that there he will regain his health.

Senator Gorman has been ill practically since the Senate convened last December and has only occupied his seat two or three times in succession this session. At times Senator Bailey and other Democratic leaders have consulted with him at his K street home, but recently his physician has forbidden him to see visitors or to be bothered with political matters of any sort.

Resolutions Of Respect

Upon the death of Mr. William A. Grier, by the local Masonic lodge:

Whereas, In the order of an overruling and all-wise, though unspeakable, Providence our Brother, William A. Grier, has been removed from our midst by the hand of death, now, therefore be it Resolved, By Wicomico Lodge, No. 91, A. F. and A. M., that while we cannot fathom the mystery of Brother Grier's removal from us, we bow in lowly submission to the will of the Supreme Architect of all lives, and do so with a firm reliance upon the eternal justice of his decrees.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Grier, our Lodge has lost one of its most faithful and devoted members, and one whose entire life and conduct was an exemplar and constant reminder of the higher and nobler teachings of our fraternity, and one whose loyalty to right and devotion to conscientious convictions won for himself the love of his brethren and the admiration and respect of all with whom he came in contact.

Resolved, That in this trying hour of sorrow we extend to the surviving members of Brother Grier's family our profound sympathy, and commend them to the care and consolation of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, who afflicts but to bless, and who sustains His people upheld by His strong omnipotent hand.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the members of Brother Grier's family, and that copies be given to the local press for publication, and spread upon the minutes of the Lodge.

County Commissioners' Meeting.

The County Commissioners on Tuesday appointed Fred L. Denson constable for Tyaskin District.

A committee from Sharptown was before the board asking for an appropriation out of next levy for the corporation of $200. It was taken under consideration.

It was ordered that the Commissioners of Somerset county be communicated with to fix a date for inspection of ferry boat at White Haven.

Bids for ferry boats were opened. Those of A. M. Bonds for new boat at Sharptown at $145, and at Wicomico Creek at $125, were accepted. Decided that, if it was determined a new boat is needed at White Haven, to accept Mr. Bonds' bid of $145, for that boat alone. He was ordered to begin on first two at once.

The time of assessors of personal property was extended to May 15.

The Treasurer was ordered to employ the clerks necessary to put new assessments on the books and proceed with the work as fast as schedules are returned.

The Clerk was instructed to write State Geological Survey that this board had decided to use shells exclusively for the roads to be improved under State aid and requesting them to forward specifications accordingly.

County Surveyor P. S. Shockley was instructed to survey road in Rockwalkin, leading from Rockwalkin Church to Jesse Davis road.

Majestic Range Demonstration.

The demonstration of the advantages of the Majestic range at Dorman & Smyth Hdw. Co. this week has been visited by a very large number of persons, particularly the ladies. Mr. C. W. Swann, representing the Majestic Range Co., of St. Louis, Mo., has had charge of the demonstration and is greatly gratified at its success. There has been sold during the week 35 to 40 of the ranges.

To show the qualities of the stove, delicious biscuits and coffee were made and served to the visitors. The cooking is inspected by the visitor and the capabilities of the range fully explained.

Two Hundredth Anniversary Of Presbyterianism In America.

Rehoboth, located on the Pocomoke river, in Somerset county, was the scene of a large gathering of Presbyterians, and others, on Sunday the 29th of April, to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Presbyterian Church in America, at Rehoboth, where Francis Makemie first preached the doctrines of Presbyterianism in the year 1683.

The order of service for the morning was a sermon by Rev. Dr. W. D. Wallace, of Ramoth, Ireland who was sent here as a special envoy from the Presbyterian Church of which Francis Makemie was a member before leaving the Old World to preach the gospel to the settlers of the new.

The services were attended by people from towns as far distant as Princess Anne and Snow Hill, at which places Makemie was instrumental in erecting churches, the one at Snow Hill bearing his name, "Makemie Memorial." The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. J. H. Moore, pastor of the church at Pocomoke City, in which he gave a very interesting account of the history of the church, bringing out the fact in his remarks that Maryland was the first of the American colonies to grant religious toleration to all creeds. The next speaker was Mr. John S. McMaster, of the next City, formerly of Pocomoke City, who made quite an interesting address. In the last half of the seventeenth century Col. William Stevens, a prominent and wealthy citizen, crossed the Atlantic and settled on the banks of the Pocomoke River. The place still bears the name he gave it, Rehoboth. Shortly after his settling the court of Somerset county was instituted and he was made judge, which position he held until death. Colonel Stevens was a Presbyterian, and in due course of time asked the Presbytery of Ireland to send a minister to this country, which request was granted and in the year 1683 the records show that Francis Makemie was preaching at Rehoboth. History also records that his efforts did not stop here, but this was only the beginning for in due course of time he organized Manokin Church, which still bears the name first given it and is located in the town of Princess Anne, and one at Snow Hill and still another "By the side of Virginia," known as Pitts Creek Church.

A similar anniversary celebration will be held in Baltimore next week, at which Rev. Dr. John P. Campbell will read a short paper telling what Presbyterianism is and giving the important events in the history of the church. From it is extracted the following:

Presbyterianism is a church government by representative assemblies, or courts, viz: Sessions Presbyteries, Synods, and General Assembly, composed of presbyters, or elders, ruling and teaching, called by the spirit of God and elected by the people.

Important Events in Presbyterian History.

B. C. 1538—Moses commanded to convene the elders of the children of Israel in Egypt.
B. C. 1490—Moses commanded to gather 70 elders to assist him in the government.
B. C. 1140—The elders of Israel ask for a king.

A. D. 53—The apostles and elders at Jerusalem decide that circumcision is not in force in the Christian Church.

A. D. 65—Timothy's ordination by a Presbytery.

A. D. 96—Four and twenty elders sitting round the throne of God.

First Assembly in Edinburgh.

A. D. 1560—First general assembly met in Edinburgh.

A. D. 1628—First Reformed Dutch (Presbyterian) Church founded in New Amsterdam, now New York.

A. D. 1640—Presbyterian Church organized at Southold, L. I.

A. D. 1643—General Assembly met in Westminster Abbey, London, to prepare confession of faith, catechism, discipline and directory of worship.

A. D. 1684—Rev. Francis Makemie organized Snow Hill and Rehoboth Churches in Maryland.

A. D. 1701—Rev. Jonathan Andrews first ordained minister over a congregation.

A. D. 1706—Rev. John Boyd ordained at Freshold N. J.

A. D. 1766—First Presbytery organized in Philadelphia, with Francis Makemie as moderator.

A. D. 1776—Synod of Philadelphia organized, with three Presbyteries, Philadelphia, New Castle and Long Island.

A. D. 1780—First General Assembly in the United States, composed of the Synods of New York, Philadelphia, New Jersey and Virginia. Met in Philadelphia, with Dr. John Witherspoon as moderator.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEY'S.

Don't Mistake The Cause of Your Troubles—A Salisbury Citizen Shows How To Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Salisbury people testify to permanent cures.

Wm. M. Gordy, carpenter, residing corner of Ann and E. Church Street says: "I have had backache for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped the trouble. My son also took some of the remedy and received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the Blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

Maryland Bankers Association.

The speakers at the Maryland Bankers Association banquet at Ocean City on June 19 will be as follows: Instead of Mr. David Sloan, of Lonsconing as erroneously announced, Maj. Richard M. Venable, of Baltimore, will officiate as toastmaster at the banquet. Governor Warfield will respond to the toast, "The State of Maryland," while the other speakers and their respective toasts will be:

Mr. Joshua W. Miles, of Princess Anne—"The Eastern Shore."

Mr. J. Wirt Randall, of Annapolis—"The Western Shore."

Mr. Alexander Neill, of Hagerstown—"Western Maryland."

Mr. O. F. Henninger, familiarly known as "The Flying Dutchman," of Allentown, Pa., is expected to indulge in a few humorous remarks.

"Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent."—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

The smallpox scare in Somerset county is over and the schools, which were ordered closed by the health authorities, were reopened Wednesday of this week.

Laurel Del., has been the scene of a temperance campaign for the past month. As the result of the election, Laurel will be "dry". The vote was 236 in favor of a dry town to 184 against it.

At a meeting of the directors of the First National Bank of Snow Hill last week Oliver D. Collins, Esq., was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Gen Francis E. Waters, of Baltimore.

There is an ice failure in Delaware and the problem of shipping over 15,000,000 quarts of strawberries so as to preserve them safe to the markets of Boston, New York and Canada, is a problem now facing fruit growers.

Rev. J. A. B. Wilson, a well known Methodist Episcopal preacher formerly of the Wilmington Conference, died at his home at Grass Valley, Cal., last week. Rev. Mr. Wilson went to the Pacific Coast in 1895. His death was caused by typhoid fever.

It is a rather remarkable occurrence or coincidence that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Neil, of near Laurel, Del., should have two children born to them within the course of a few years without eyeballs. The first was born about two years ago and died six weeks after birth and the second, a baby girl, was born last Sunday and is, according to the attending physician, a finely developed child and perfectly normal except that it is totally devoid of eyes.

Capt. C. W. Johnson, of Lewes Del., has announced that he is arranging to take an expedition to Mexico in Dec. for the purpose of endeavoring to recover a million dollars in gold from the steamer Golden Gate, that was sunk in 1862. Captain Johnson went to Mexico in 1902 and obtained a concession from the Government to recover the remainder of the treasure. After pumping up a number of the gold coins he was compelled by storms to desist.

Governor Warfield celebrated his fifty eighth birthday Monday. He spent the morning quietly at the Executive Mansion and left at noon for Baltimore. In less than three score years the Governor has had a varied career, mixed with politics and financiering. He has held several political offices, has taught school in Howard county, and is the founder of the Fidelity and Deposit Company Baltimore, the pioneer institution of the sort in the country.

The silver service, consists of 40 pieces, for the presentation to the cruiser Maryland on behalf of the people of this State, has been completed by Messrs. Samuel Kirk & Son Company, Baltimore and was viewed by the cruiser commission Monday. It will be placed on exhibition in the windows of the firm within the next few days. Governor Warfield was invited to inspect the service, and he expressed himself as being greatly pleased. A date for the presentation will be named soon. The service cost $5,000 but there is still a deficiency of about $1000, which the commission is anxious to make up. Subscriptions may be sent to Col. William A. Boykin, 212 East Lombard street.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Macadam Will Not Answer For Salisbury's Streets.

Unless there was something radically wrong with the construction of the macadamized roadway leading from the street to the Peninsula General Hospital building, and unless such a road could be very much better built on Salisbury's streets, the example offered by this Hospital roadway clearly demonstrates that macadam will not answer for the streets of Salisbury, at any place. We believe therefore that, in considering ways and means toward improving Salisbury's streets by paving, the Council will be brought to the point of using shells or gravel on such streets as are not paved with stone, wood, brick or asphalt.

The macadamized roadway at the Hospital was put down last fall, at considerable expense to the directors of the institution, by the contractor who laid the macadam streets in Snow Hill. A heavy roller was used and the road was understood to have been built on the latest improved principles of construction. It has washed, the grade has been marred at several places, horses have pawed up the stone, and it has proven an unsatisfactory road even for the Hospital.

If such a road, where it is as little used as it is at the Peninsula General Hospital, is not satisfactory, there is no question but that it will not do for the streets of Salisbury. They are driven over too much. The hauling over them is too heavy. It is the opinion that shells or gravel are better, as with these a road repairs itself to a large extent, unless it is cut through to the sand beneath. When once built and properly rounded and ditched, shells make the most satisfactory road that has ever been experimented with in this locality.

Alcohol Can Be Used In Place Of Gasoline.

There seems to be a general demand throughout the country for a removal of the Government tax on denatured alcohol, owing, principally, to the outrageous imposition on the part of the Standard Oil Co. in arbitrarily raising prices on the latter fluid. The bill removing the tax on alcohol for industrial purposes is now before the United States Senate and unless it is passed the Senate will hear from the people. The "treason of the Senate" will be enlarged upon in other periodicals than the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

The National Association of Automobile Manufacturers has taken up the fight for the bill. The bill is favored by President Roosevelt and his Cabinet. It has been endorsed by the National Grange, with over 800,000 members, representing the farmers; the American Federation of Labor and the National Board of Trade.

The report of the Committee on Ways and Means in the National

House of Representatives, submitted to Congress, showed that by tests one gallon of alcohol was equal to two gallons of kerosene for lighting purposes and that it could be used for power engines in place of gasoline with entire success. The use of small motor engines running with gasoline has become very large. In the estimate before the Committee, it was shown that 300,000 of these engines are now in use and the annual output is more than 100,000. Alcohol, used in these engines, develops 10 per cent. more power per gallon than gasoline. The cost per gallon would be less and the resulting competition would force the Standard Oil Co. to lower prices.

Sons Of Prominent Maryland Politicians.

State Senator A. P. Gorman, Jr., who is a very devoted son, has been with his father much of late. During the sessions of the Legislature he invariably went to Washington to see him at the end of the week and kept in constant touch. Ordinarily Senator Gorman would have opened Fairview, his country home, near Laurel, before this. It has been his custom to move out the first of May, but this year the Senator's illness has interfered with the family plans. Young Mr. Gorman entered so actively into affairs during the recent session of the General Assembly that no doubt exists that he likes politics and is looking to a political future.

A reference to young Mr. Gorman suggests the sons of other men in the State who have been identified with public life and politics. Mr. Rasin does not promise to be succeeded by an heir-at-law. His eldest son, young "Free," has an office in the same building with him, but is not taking hold in a political sense. Carroll, the second son, is a thriving business man. He keeps in touch with things political, but it is doubtful if he will ever really get in the game, even when he is older. Carroll Rasin is a popular young fellow. He is a member of the Paint and Powder Club, and gave a good account of himself in the productions seen recently at Albaugh's Theatre.

Ex-Gov. Frank Brown's son, Frank, Jr., prefers horses and dogs, automobiles and taudens to politics. He, however, goes to "the office" with his father, and has expressed a desire to get the run of things in the way of managing the business interests of the family. Senator Rayner's son, Mr. William B. Rayner, has a taste for politics, and was a candidate for the House of Delegates last fall. He was not elected, but he may not be willing to quit at one defeat. One of Ex-Governor Jackson's sons—Mr. Hugh Jackson—is spoken of from time to time as good Legislative timber in the near future. Governor Warfield has a son at St. John's College, at Annapolis, but the present plan is for him to be a farmer, and not a politician. Mayor Timanus has a son who is an able bodied fellow, and can do a good day's work at most anything.

Collector Stone has a son—"Billy," Jr.—who is yet too young to show signs, and Congressman Mull has a son—"Syd," Jr.—who promises to be a chip of the old block in politics. Though just out of his teens, he was the temporary chairman of the convention that nominated his father last week at Hyattsville.

Salisbury Circuit.

Our special services closed at Riverside Chapel April 22, which resulted in several conversions and the reclaiming of many who were backslidden in heart.

We began these services under very unfavorable circumstances, with only four members who would pray in public.

The good people of our sister churches came to our help and greatly assisted us in the meetings.

Rev. G. L. Hardesty, pastor of Whiteville church, was with us a few days and rendered faithful service.

We now have forty members, with two well organized classes under the care of brother Carey and Davis.

The Sunday School and Epworth League at this place are doing noble work. New life has come into these departments of church work. Mr. Tilghman and Carey has charge of these departments.

Bethel Chapel has started off well under the leadership of brother Messick and Downs. The Sunday School is attended with unusual interest. Fifty scholars were present on last Sabbath. Class meeting is well attended.

Parkers' Chapel is not the least of these appointments. Prayer and class meetings have been revived, and placed under the leadership and watchful care of brother Collins, brothers Maddox and Parker have charge of the Sunday School and are doing good work.

So we are praying that this year may be to this church one of great spiritual awakening and fruit gathering for the Master's vineyard.

NEED A LARGER BUILDING.

Management Of Home For The Aged Will Endeavor To Secure Different Location And Better Structure.

A meeting of the Board of Lady Managers and the Directors of the Home for the Aged was held Friday evening at the City Hall, and the question of providing some means for obtaining a new Home was taken up. It is the intention of the Directors to get to work at once on the proposition.

A committee consisting of Messrs A. J. Benjamin, James E. Ellegood, E. S. Adkins and O. J. Schneck was appointed to see the directors of the Peninsula General Hospital and try to arrange for the purchase of a lot of ground on the West side of the Hospital lot on Locust Street fronting on said street 125 feet, and running through to the meadow, on which to build the new Home. This is considered an ideal spot, as the ground is high and the grove of trees in the rear would make a pleasant place in summer for the inmates. It is the intention of the Board of Lady Managers to try and secure enough funds to erect a three story brick building, properly equipped to accommodate 25 persons.

It has been estimated that it will take at least $12,000 to provide a building such as is needed for the new Home. If the efforts meet with success, the present Home in California will be sold and the proceeds used towards the erection of the Home. The ladies will start a popular subscription list towards this worthy object, and it is hoped that the people of Salisbury and of Worcester and Somerset Counties will be generous in their aid. This is one of the most worthy charities in Maryland, and the ladies who have been so successful in establishing and maintaining the Home thus far have done a noble work. We hope their further efforts will be successful and bear fruit.

The Temple of Diana.

The most noted fire which involved the burning of a single edifice was the destruction of the great temple of Diana at Ephesus in B. C. 356 on the night Alexander the Great was born. The fire was kindled by Herostratus, who when apprehended confessed that his only desire was to transmit his name to further ages. He was put to death with exquisite and prolonged tortures, and the Ephesian senate commanded that on pain of death his name should never be pronounced, hoping thus to disappoint his expectation.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

This Association has two separate and distinct departments: The Building & Loan Department and The Banking Department.

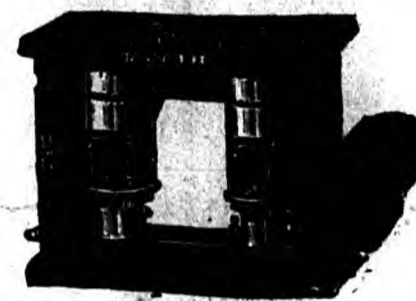

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $14,500.00, makes loans secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower, and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1887.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Open an account with us, no harm can possibly result.

It is the intention of Snott Rhodes to do this work so as to inconvenience the patrons of the company as little as possible, but some little inconvenience will necessarily have to be borne by the patrons on the lines to be relaid.

—There was frost in Western Maryland Tuesday night. The cold snap reached the Eastern Shore but with no ill results. Wednesday night was colder, but a wind prevented frost. Thursday night was not so cold, but there was a heavy frost in some sections owing to the absence of wind; the dryness of the atmosphere however, prevented very much damage. Strawberry blossoms were killed in large quantities and doubtless some vegetable crops were injured. The full extent of the damage will not be known until the cold snap is ended.

—At a meeting of the Peninsula General Hospital directors Friday last President William P. Jackson was authorized to contract for placing of an eight horse power gasoline engine in the basement of the building for the operation of the elevator. The elevator has been operated by electric power from Jackson Bros. Company's No. 3 mill, but on account of the cutting off of power at the mill after eleven o'clock at night has caused much inconvenience, and the Directors decided to install the power within the building to run the elevator. The laboratory at the Hospital has been improved with a first class microscope and the necessary fixtures.

May Is Here Again

We MAY have more spells of weather to the day this year than we did last MAY. We may have so many sorts that really we can't tell what sort of clothes to tell you about. In the morning it MAY look like rain coats and umbrellas, at noon it MAY look like soft shirts and straw hats, in the afternoon it MAY look like overcoats and rubber shoes, and by five o'clock it MAY look as if everybody was glad MAY was here again. Well, no matter what your clothes needs are, if you're a man, Lacy Thoroughgood's got it, and so has James Thoroughgood. There has never been a time in the last twenty years, and there never will be, when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can from Lacy Thoroughgood or James Thoroughgood. Why you can't get common shoddy things from them, they don't sell them. No two stores in the world come nearer to doing business right than Lacy Thoroughgood's and James Thoroughgood's. Why we sell you goods solely on their merits, there's no flim flam about it. We never have any apologies to offer or excuses to make for selling goods cheap. We do it simply to sell more. We are selling this week Men's Suits for $10, $12.50 and $15. Children's Suits for $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $5 and $6.50. Men's Shirts for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. We are selling Men's Hats, all kinds, including Straw, at all the popular prices. You MAY expect to see as good hats as ours are—but you won't—anywhere else.

—The Board of Shellfish Commissioners qualified at Annapolis on Thursday. Mr. Walter J. Mitchell, of Charles county, was designated president of the board. The entire fleet of the oyster navy was assembled in Annapolis harbor on Thursday and was reviewed by the Board of Public Works and the Shell Fish Commissioners.

—Orlando Harrison was on Monday elected Mayor of Berlin for the fourth term by a majority of 71 votes. He had for his opponent Henry J. Adams. The old board of City Council, E. S. Furbush, Thomas Hammond and H. W. Jarvis was re-elected. It was a temperance fight. Mr. Harrison was the candidate of the Anti Saloon League.

—The State Geological Survey reported to the Wicomico County Commissioners the cost of building a shell road on the Snow Hill road at about $4,000 per mile, and if built of stone at about 7,000 per mile. The shell estimate included excavation at 35 cents per square yard and a total cost for this part of the work of $770. The estimate was made with the expectation that shells would be used and this material will be adhered to.

The appointment of Deputy Commanders of the State Oyster Navy were not made on Thursday by the Board of Public Works as was anticipated. Applications were filed for the positions but as there are a number of contests it was decided to hold up the appointments for about two weeks. Capt. James A. Turner of the steamer "McLane" and Capt. Robert F. Walter, of the Schooner "Nellie Jackson" were applicants without opposition. They were endorsed by Senator M. V. Brewington, who was before the meeting to press their claims.

slight yielding to the evil one, but by yielding more and more the present condition had been reached. Parents who fail to subdue or control the first outbreaks in their children are laying up much trouble for themselves in future. The evil spirits do not doubt that Jesus is the Son of God and that He has power to send them to torment (Matt. viii, 29) at an appointed time, but their belief does them no good. "The devils (demons) believe and tremble" (James ii, 19). No amount of knowledge of Christ can benefit any one unless sin is repented of and Christ is honestly received as a personal Saviour. It is to be feared that many who think they are saved are depending upon their knowledge of Christ and His salvation rather than upon their personal interest in Him and dependence upon His precious blood to take away their sins. The greatest gospel on believing defines what believing is in the first chapter (John i, 12). The demons believe in a place of torment, for they besought Jesus not to send them to the bottomless pit, for such is the meaning of "the deep" in Luke viii, 31. They asked permission to enter into a herd of swine feeding near by, and, this being granted, the whole herd ran violently into the sea and perished. Is there any light here upon the ever increasing number of suicides of men and women, boys and girls? It seems so to me. The Lord is the giver of life and peace, but the devil has the power of death (Heb. ii, 14) and is ever doing his utmost to kill both man and beast.

Jesus did not rebuke the poor, afflicted man, but the demons in the man, and commanded them to come out of him, and the demons, like the wind and the sea in the previous story, obey Him, and the man is at once in his right mind, and soon he is seen sitting and clothed at the feet of Jesus. We do not wonder that the man who had experienced so mighty a deliverance prayed that he might stay near his deliverer, for he might fear the return of his enemies. But instead of granting his prayer he was told to go home to his friends and tell them how great things the Lord had done for him. Here is an answer to the question, How shall I stand—how shall I continue to have victory over the enemy? Confess how great things the Lord hath done for thee; publish the name of Jesus. "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom. x, 10). Contrast the prayer of the healed man with that of the people of Gadara, for they besought Him to depart out of their coasts, and He did so. It was probably their only opportunity to receive life, and they put it from them. He granted the prayer of the demons and the Gadarenes, but denied the request of the man that was healed. Consider this also.

The Canadian Line.

The boundary line between Canada and the United States is marked with iron posts at mile intervals for a great part of its length. Cairns, earth mounds and timber posts are also used, and through the forests and swamps a line a rod wide, clear of trees and underwood, has been cut. Across the lakes artificial islands have been made to support the cairns, which rise about eight feet above the high water mark.—Exchange.

To Keep Awake in Church.

A minister once told me a good way to keep awake in church when inclined to be drowsy. The way was this: Lift one foot a little way from the floor and hold it there. It is impossible to go to sleep when your foot is poised in the air. This remedy, though simple, is very effectual and never fails to keep a person awake. National Magazine.

The Worrying Habit.

I asked a physician what cure he would suggest for the worrying habit. "I would prescribe common sense," he said. "And if a man or woman hasn't got a stock on hand and can't cultivate one no doctor can give it to him or her. This worrying nonsense grows. The best means to cure it lies in the hands of the woman herself. If she will just call a little common sense to her aid, resolve not to borrow trouble, to be cheerful and think upon the best side of things, she will live longer and retain her beauty longer. Every woman wants to keep beautiful to the last. Why does she take the course which is sure to make her yellow skinned, dull eyed and thoroughly unlovely?"

Why, indeed? New York Globe.

Vanilla.

It is curious to read that vanilla was employed by the Aztecs of Mexico as an ingredient in the manufacture of chocolate prior to the discovery of America by the Spaniards and that it was brought to Europe as a perfume with indigo, cochineal and cacao ten years before the arrival of tobacco on our shores. The name vanilla is derived from the Spanish vanilla, a pod or capsule. Dampier described it as a little pod full of small black seeds and like the stem of a tobacco leaf, so much so that his men when they found the dried pods at first threw them away, "wondering why the Spaniards should lay up tobacco stems."—Chambers' Journal.

Fiction.

"What are you writing about, Hawley?"
"A story. I'm going in for fiction."
"Really? For a magazine?"
"No; for my tailor. He wants his money, and I'm telling him I'll send him a check next week."

Arrow Shields.

The other day I saw a little, modern book, in a green cover, on a table in a drawing room. I picked it up. It was about the early French in Canada, and my eye fell on a copy of a drawing by their leader, Champlain, or Champlain. The scene represented was an attack by the native allies of the French, the Algonquins, on a fort held by Iroquois. The Algonquins advanced through showers of arrows under shields nearly as tall as themselves, like doors with rounded tops. Now, you may see exactly the same sort of shields in a picture of a lion hunt, in-laid in gold and silver, on the bronze blade of a dagger found by Dr. Schliemann in "the grave of Agamemnon." These monstrous Mycenaean shields cause much discussion among the learned. Why were they so huge? The Algonquins used the very same shields, hung from their necks, and the reason was the same—their battles were battles of archers, and nobody can parry a shower of arrows with a smaller shield. Shields grew small in Greece as bow and arrow went out and sword and spear came in.—London Illustrated News.

The Fiddle Drill.

The "fiddle drill" is one of the oldest stonecutting tools in existence. It is said to antedate Greek sculpture and is in use today in about the same form as it was 2,000 years ago. As its name implies, its action resembles a fiddle. The drill is of two pieces. In one hand a carver holds the drill stock, which is like a carpenter's brace, except that it is straight instead of having a crank. In the other hand he holds the "bow," which is strung with a brass wire and which is given a turn around the drill stock. To use the drill the carver places the drill stock against his breast, holding it with his left hand, and with his right he draws the bow back and forth, fiddle fashion. This imparts a rotary motion to the drill stock, and the drill is ground to cut in either way it turns. The fiddle drill is used in the finest work, in crevices where the sculptor could not reach with his chisel and hammer without endangering the carving.

Because It Was True.

City Editor (to reporter)—Look here, what do you mean by writing, "Among the prettiest girls at the dance was Lieutenant Rogers?" The lieutenant is a man, I believe. Reporter Cubb—Yes, I understand that; but you see he spent the greater part of the evening among the prettiest girls there.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 13.

Text of the Lesson, Mark v, 1-20. Memory Verse, 15—Golden Text, Mark v, 19—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1906, by American Press Association.]

This record of the demoniac of Gadara is found in Matt. viii and Luke viii, as well as in Mark v, and in each it follows the storm on Galilee, still by His word, so there seems to be a connection between the two events. This demoniac was a rather remarkable piece of the devil's property over which men had no control, and it is possible that the great adversary of God and man had an inkling of what was about to happen and would fain frustrate it by drowning the Son of God, for from His birth in Bethlehem to Calvary he was ever seeking to kill Him. The saying of Dr. Weston is worthy of frequent reiteration. The Bible is the record of the conflict between God and the devil for man and his inheritance, the earth. In the record of the storm (iv, 35-41) note the contrast between the great storm and the great calm (verses 37, 39), the fearful disciples and their peacefully sleeping Master (verses 38, 40), their "no faith" and His mighty faith and power, and say if your life is a manifestation of Him or them and see in II Cor. iv, 11, which it ought to be. We see in Him the dominion over all things which was given to the first Adam (Gen. i, 26-28), but lost by sin. It was the rest of us when we shall have become like Him in the resurrection, and for this the whole creation waits (Rom. viii, 19, 20, 21; 1 Cor. xv, 26). "What manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godly fear?" (I Pet. iii, 11). "The will and the sea obey Him." Let us be willing and obedient.

Having crossed the sea, He is immediately met by this man, this piece of demon possession, whom no man could bind or tame. Chains and fetters were nothing to him, and he seemed not to rest either by day or by night. Naked as to his body, dwelling among the dead, no living person dare come near him. Matthew says that there were two of them (viii, 28), but possibly one was so much worse than the other that Mark and Luke only mention the worst one. The marvelous manifestations of strength in Samson were of God, but this man's strength was from the devil, and we are living in days when the devil is taking special pains to counterfeit the gospel of God and the power of God. Take heed to II Thess. ii, 7-12, and Rev. xiii, also I Tim. iv, 1, 2. That people are now possessed by demons cannot be doubted by those who believe God, and if God was relied upon through Jesus Christ some marvelous displays of His power might be seen both in children and adults where the case seems ordinarily incurable.

There must have been a beginning to this man's trouble, perhaps some very

INCIDENTS OF THE FRISCO CALAMITY

Night and Day in a Camp of Refugees.

PIONIO FOR THE YOUNGSTERS

Men and Women Bear Up Bravely and Seek to Remedy the Disaster. Girls Among Tenters Sing in the California Moonlight—Pathetic and Strange Features of the Refugees' Procession.

"Tenting Tonight, Tenting Tonight, Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." The chorus, sung by half a dozen of the sweet voiced daughters of California, is repeated again and again, and when the singing stops one of the singers asks, with a laugh, "Say, Addie, what ought we to get for this?"

"Bunch of carrots," answers a rude boy, who is one of the listeners. He is set upon by the minstrels, cuffed and pinched and sent to the rear. Then the girls start the music again, writes a staff correspondent of the New York Times at Oakland, Cal.

"I Wonder Where You Are Tonight, My Love," they sing, and "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River" and many other of the songs that live because they touch the people's hearts.

Such light as there is comes only from the moon and stars. Below the hill a few street lamps twinkle, and in the distance is the glow of the moonlight upon the sea. It is one of the refugees' camps for the sufferers of the San Francisco disaster. "Camp on the Bum" is the name on the placard stuck on a tree. All around the white tents loom up ghostly and fantastic. Farther away are the hastily constructed wooden shacks which take the place of tents for some of the refugees and which have the appearance of rabbit hutches. In the foreground is an enormous pile of straw, from which the inhabitants of the camp take the material for their beds if they have not been able to save their own bedding.

The shrill note of a bugle stops the music, and thereafter one hears only the snores of sleepers, the conversation of those who are sitting up, the singing of birds, and the barking of many dogs. Hardly a refugee family has not considered of the first importance the saving of the household pets. Dogs, cats, parrots, canaries, even monkeys and tortoises are to be found in the camp.

Outside some tents are big trunks and in others are sewing machines and other unwieldy household articles, the salvage of which appears miraculous. We hear that the refugees got such things away from the burning city of San Francisco by harnessing themselves with ropes and dragging even pianos along the streets. But whether or not other treasures were saved, the pet dog or the pet bird was always the first anxiety.

"I thought he'd die sure," one over-hears a girl say to another. "We had to drag him along from our house to the ferry, and he was scared to death, weren't you, pet?" And she fondles a fat pup, who looks as though he needs a good deal more exercise than he had. "My papa's got $10," remarks a child, apropos of nothing. "He says he'll find a place to live and take us away tomorrow."

"I was never dressed so stylish in my life," is the irony of a pretty girl attired in an old shawl, a nondescript skirt and an apology for a waist. "Oh, well, better times soon," she adds with a toss of her head and a laugh.

"Better times soon!" It is the universal chorus. These people have all been burned out of house and home. Each family has lost its little treasures, things that the poor of the world cling to in every land, obeying the desire for ownership that not the lowest tramp has quite overcome. And yet cheerfulness is everywhere.

The debonair people of the Pacific coast remain themselves in time of disaster as in time of prosperity. More than a thousand of them are in this camp, and one listens in vain for a sob or a complaint. Gradually the conversation is hushed, and then during the night hours the silence is broken only by the crying of babies, the occasional bark of a dog and the queer noise of the California frogs. In the morning the camp seems to wake up all at once.

This is a camp with all the latest improvements, and one sees lines of men and women waiting their turn in the shower baths. Later long lines form outside the big wooden kitchen to get their breakfast. In the kitchen, cooks—Japanese, negroes and whites—are working busily.

In these days the mornings here are the least pleasant hours of the twenty-four—"earthquake weather," the people call it. The sky is cloudy, there is hardly a breath of air, and the whole appearance of things is depressing. At about noon the sun usually breaks through the mist, and the weather is brilliant for the remainder of the day. If the refugees were tempted to show ill temper it would be in the early morning, but they seem just as lively as at night.

Most of the men get away early, either going to work or to hunt for it. The stories of many drunks in the camp are untrue. As a matter of fact, the authorities will not stand for loafers.

Miriam Michelson, author of "In the Bishop's Carriage," contributes to Harper's Weekly a remarkable dramatic and illuminating account of the destruction of San Francisco. "One of the most striking passages in her article is that in which she describes the pathetic and unforgettable sight presented by the procession of refugees who were forced from their homes by the resistless advance of the flames.

"All through that long night," she says, "we heard the feeble footsteps. It was a horrible sound, that continuous, hurried, straggling exodus. The stricken people did not run—they were too exhausted by the time they had reached our quarter—but they tolled doggedly on, on out toward the west, toward the cool eucalyptus forests in the Presidio, out toward the edge of the bay. One man I saw carried with care a brand new pair of tan shoes. He had absolutely nothing else, but these he bore on a stick over his shoulder. Women carried their babies, their canary birds in cages, their parrots. Next to a man who trundled at his household possessions on a lawn mower rode a group of negroes in a ghastly hearse, pulled by stalwart negroes.

"A chattering crowd of Chinamen carried pathetic little bundles of rice, their brightly clad little wives and babies dragging miserably on behind. A man and his wife harnessed themselves with ropes to a trunk and, with bowed backs and blistered feet, went on. It was a fearful procession. And what did they go to? A sleepless, earth racked night in the open, with mothers seeking their children, with aged parents separated from their families. A man I knew wandered through the Presidio five hours that night, calling his wife's name. There was no light, there was nothing to distinguish one huddled mass of refugees from another. My friend called and called till he was hoarse. When he dragged himself back to town on Thursday (April 19) he had the search to begin over again."

CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD

Chairman Foss on Meaning of Our Proposed Great Battleship.

The naval appropriation bill, which carries nearly a hundred million dollars, was taken up by the house of representatives the other day, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York World.

"We have provided in this bill for a battleship more powerful than any afloat," said Chairman Foss, explaining the bill. "It will be greater than the English Dreadnought."

"How many American harbors could the Dreadnought enter?" asked Mr. Underwood of Alabama.

"It could easily enter New York," replied Mr. Foss, "and possibly some other harbors. It has twenty-eight feet draft, and I think the New York harbor is about forty feet."

"Well," said Mr. Underwood, "it couldn't enter any harbor in the southern or gulf states. The proposed American ship must necessarily have a large base of supplies."

"It would not be necessary for such a ship to enter any harbor," replied Mr. Foss. "It would protect the coast by meeting the enemy at sea. The building of this great battleship gives notice to all the world that we propose to look after our interests here or on another continent."

New Ship Canal For the Soo.

The Dominion government is considering the construction of another ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie, and the Ontario government has been asked to donate fifty acres of land, says a Toronto correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel. This fact developed a few days ago during a conference between the Hon. Mr. Cochrane and a delegation from the Soo and Steelton about the water power at the Soo. The new canal will be 1,400 feet long and 80 feet wide, or 20 feet wider than the present channel.

Frank of Frisco Earthquake.

H. E. Poor, a son of A. J. Poor of 1000 Park avenue, Kansas City, is a student of the Leland Stanford university in California, says the Kansas City Star. He sent to Kansas City a picture of a statue which was displaced from its base by the earthquake. The statue fell from the Stanford zoology building and struck headforemost on the tile paving in front of the building. The force of the fall crushed a hole in the paving, and the statue remained fixed in that position.

Self Help Society in Korea.

Yun Hio Chung, who has been in durance vilo on some charge of sedition, has been released and now proposes, with the assistance of the editor of the Whang Sung newspaper, to found a society for self help, says the Korean News. The society is to be called the Cha Kang Hol.

Boy Pipe Smokers' League.

The prevalence of cigarette smoking among boys has induced a number of Dover (England) lads to form a "pipe league," says a London dispatch. They blind themselves to only smoke pipes. Any member of the league found cigarette smoking is to be fined.

Big Colonial Fair.

A great colonial exposition will be opened in Marseilles this spring and continued throughout the summer. It will mark the first attempt to organize a comprehensive manifestation of French colonial work and is arousing much interest.

NOBLE VISITOR FROM INDIA.

Gulowar of Baroda, Owner of the World's Only Golden Artillery.

His highness, the maharajah of Baroda, India, the maharajah who is to visit the United States with his wife and daughter and an extensive suite, is the reincarnation of the glorious of the Arabian Nights, says the New York American. He is the second greatest prince of India, the other being the maharajah of Mysore. He has more jewels than would fill a potato barrel twice over, and he is the owner of the only golden artillery in the world.

Posted to defend his gorgeous palace these guns are one of the world's curiosities. They were the product of a native blacksmith's skill and labor, the time consumed in the work being no less than five years. Each gun weighs 400 pounds and is made of pure gold, with the exception of the inner coat, which is of steel.

It is not in the guns alone, however, that the Hindoo potentate has shown his taste for expensive ornamentation. The entire outfit is on a most sumptuous scale, the carriage being drawn by the finest bullocks that the gulowar's territory produces, and the trappings of the animals are of the most splendid order.

Some idea of the magnificence of the apparel that bedecks this golden artillery team may be gathered from the statement that their best trappings cost $45,000. On the horns of the animals are golden caps, and on the legs are worn anklets of gold and silver. Each head is a flashing mass of gold, and when the guns are polished and the bullocks are in their state attire the sight is somewhat dazzling. The guns are guarded day and night by picked men of the royal bodyguard, a splendid corps equipped after the European manner and officered chiefly by white men. Besides the golden guns the maharajah owns a pair of silver guns of the same style as the others, but smaller, weighing only 320 pounds each.

The gulowar is the descendant of one of those great maharajah generals who were in fact the ruling power in India when the East India company wrested the scepter from the feeble hands of the last of the once great moguls. He is bright, clever, alert and versatile; and he loves the white people and their ways. He speaks English like an Englishman and his domestic standard is equal to that of a western potentate.

The population of the state of Baroda numbers about 3,000,000, and the state has an area of 8,000 square miles. The capital, Baroda, has about 105,000 inhabitants, and is situated on the railroad from Bombay to Ahmedabad.

CREATOR OF SPRINGS.

Frisco Earthquake's Strange Phenomenon in Montrose County, Cal.

A strange phenomenon of the earthquake in San Francisco was recently reported from Paraiso Hot Springs, in Montrose county, Cal., says a special dispatch from Oakland to the Pittsburg Dispatch. The temperature of the water in the hot soda springs, which for many years has been growing colder, has increased. On the day following the earthquake a test revealed that the heat of the water had increased 18 degrees. Since that time the temperature of the water has increased 122 degrees.

The earthquake has also opened two new springs at Paraiso. The first began to flow about 100 feet back from the old spring, being a hot soda spring of the same temperature as the springs flowing before the earthquake.

The second spring opened directly under the floor of the club and bar-room, and the water is ice cold, in direct contrast to the outflow of the other springs in the vicinity.

NIGHT AND DAY BANKS.

Plans on Foot to Establish a Chain of Them.

President Oakleigh Thorne of the Night and Day bank in New York city is trying to get a place for a night and day bank in Denver, according to a dispatch from that city. The company of which Mr. Thorne is president is preparing to establish a chain of night and day banks across the country.

"A few days ago," he says, "the first bank in the world to keep open night and day for regular business was established at Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, New York. It has proved such a success already that the backers of the concern decided to open similar banks in other cities. The restriction of banking business to the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. is no longer popular, and it is an antiquated system. For this reason they welcome a bank having long business hours."

Marconi's New Invention.

Marconi's latest wireless discovery is an apparatus for directing and controlling the electric waves so that they may be aimed like a shot at a specific point, says a special cable dispatch from London to the Chicago News. Hitherto the waves have radiated indiscriminately in various directions and could be intercepted at any number of stations equipped with the Marconi apparatus. This will hereafter be impossible, and marconigrams can be directed to a single ship sailing the high seas or the particular land station desired.

A man cannot escape in thought any more than he can in language from the past and the present.

COUNTY.

Mt. Pleasant.

Planting corn is the order of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Rayne of near Powellville, entertained a number of friends last Monday evening. Those present were Misses Sadie Lewis and Annie Lewis, Messrs. John Adkins, Ernest Williams, Grover Nicholson and Calvin Rayne. All reported a pleasant evening.

Mr. William Hammond of Burbages' Grove was the guest of Mr. James Lewis last Sunday.

Miss Mollie Moore, of Willards spent Sunday with Miss Rosa Nicholson at this place.

Miss Gertrude Mitchell of near Pittsville was the visitor of Miss Annie Lewis last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. William Lewis and family spent Sunday afternoon with relatives near Powellville.

Miss Ella Davis of New York is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Shockley were the guests of Mrs. Shockley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker of Salisbury last Sunday.

The members of the Grace M. P. Church will hold their Children's Day service Sunday May 20th. Come everybody.

Quantico.

We are having rather a cool spell of weather for May. This is bad on gardens and young chickens.

Mr. Will Couch and Miss Lizzie Horsman both of Royal Oak, were married at the M. E. parsonage on Thursday evening of last week by the Rev. J. H. Geohagan.

Rev. C. J. Hurdette of the M. P. Church, we are sorry to say, has left us for Felton, Del. We now have Rev. N. V. Cossalon to fill his place.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Margaret Humphreys and Mrs. V. F. Collier who have been on the sick list are much improved at this writing.

Messrs. Edgar Davis and Clarence Bailey have opened an ice cream saloon and are ready to furnish good cream and soda water. Come boys and bring your best girls.

Mrs. Ida Langdale, of Maryland, spent Wednesday of this week with friends in town.

Mrs. Estelle Collier is having her home newly painted.

Mrs. Doctor Dashiell is spending a few days with friends in Berlin.

Mrs. Emily Kennerly and little grand-daughter Gladys Roberts spent several days this week at Nanticoke.

E. T. Disharoon & Bro. have laid in their new stock of spring goods. Come one, come all and give them a call.

Wedding At Delmar.

Miss Mary Ada Reminger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Reminger, of Delmar, and Austin J. Lorenson of Crisfield, Md., were married at noon Wednesday in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Rev. Z. H. Webster.

Miss Cleve Hearn of Fruitland was bridesmaid, Miss Elvora Reminger of Baltimore maid of honor, Mrs. Harold D. Lorenson of Crisfield matron of honor. The ushers were Carroll Cockett and Oliver S. Horsey. The best man, H. L. Lorenson, all of Crisfield. The bride was dressed in a traveling suit of gray panama and carried Bride Jones. The wedding march was played by Mrs. H. M. Waller. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a luncheon was served.

The bride was the recipient of numerous and handsome presents. The bridal party left on the northbound express for a trip to Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington. They will reside in Crisfield.

How a Big Transit Company Guards Its Passengers.

CARS CONSTANTLY OVERHAULED

Thorough Inspection of All Rolling Stock Made Every Two Days—Up to Date System of Signals and Safety Devices Maintained—A School Car Built For the Careful Training of Motormen.

In the matter of safeguarding the public on the Brooklyn elevated lines there are three main branches in the general scheme of the system which receive the continuous attention of the management. These three main branches consist in a constant and thorough inspection of the rolling stock every forty-eight hours, the installation and maintenance of as perfect a system of signals and safety devices as is possible under the prevailing conditions and the careful training of every motorman for his position before he is given the charge of a train.

In regard to the first of these—the overhauling of the cars—a thorough inspection of all the rolling stock is made possible by the difference between the demand for cars during the periods of ordinary traffic and the demand at the rush hours at the beginning and end of each day. At half past 9 in the morning the rush hour presumably ceases. Thereafter the amount of traffic decreases so rapidly and to such an extent that the number of cars sent out over the road on the schedule trains can be practically cut in half. The cars which are then taken off the road are sidetracked at either the Culver depot or in the train yards at the Thirty-sixth street station. Here each car is thoroughly inspected. The wheels are sounded and examined for any sign of flaws, flattening or loosening tires, and the trucks are carefully overhauled. The motors, controllers and the other electrical mechanism are tested, the packing of the wheel boxes is renewed if necessary, and the air pump and the triple valve air brake are examined for leakages or defects. In places in the yards special sections of track have been constructed called pit tracks. These are dug out underneath between the rails, so when a train is run in over the pit the inspectors have easy access to the underside mechanism of the cars.

As soon as a car enters the yard it passes out of the jurisdiction of the train dispatcher and enters the inspector's department, where it remains until it goes through the examination whereby it is qualified to be sent out again on the road. Before and during the examination a red flag is hung on the front end of the car, and until this red flag has been removed the car is not permitted to go out on its travels again. By this means the inspection of every car in the yard is insured.

At eight minutes past 4 in the afternoon the first heavy train is sent out of the Thirty-sixth street station to handle the increased traffic of the evening rush hour. By the time this evening rush service is fully under way the gang of 100 men on the inspector's payroll have had ample opportunity to inspect the day's allotment of cars. Thus on one day practically one-half of the cars pass through the inspector's hands. On the next day the other half undergoes a similar examination. By this means every car in the service is inspected every forty-eight hours. On account of the steadily increasing service the old train yard at the Thirty-sixth street station has proved to be inadequate. Consequently the management of the road is building at that place a larger train yard, which is provided with twelve lines of tracks and has a capacity of 440 cars.

The second branch of the general scheme for safeguarding the public which has received special attention from the management consists in the establishment of a thoroughly up to date system of signals. But in addition to all the latest devices for minimizing the possibility of accidents, such as lock switches, indicators, etc., the company has installed various other contrivances which are not so generally used in railroading.

One of the contrivances is the "dwarf signal." Another is the "derailer." The "dwarf signal" is like a small, one armed semaphore built low down to the tracks. It is used in places where there is a siding running off from the main line. For instance, a train on the siding outbound wishes to back out of the siding again on to the outbound main track in order to continue its journey. The towerman sets the switch accordingly and gives the motorman the dwarf signal to back up. But in case there should happen to be an outbound train on the main track approaching, the setting of the dwarf signal sets automatically the regular semaphore of the main line at block, so that even the towerman cannot alter that reading of the semaphore until the backing train has cleared from the siding.

The "derailer" is a device which is being used on the grade leading down into the new train yard at the Thirty-sixth street station. Naturally during the course of the day a vast number of cars must pass in and out of the yard, and as the grade leads directly on to the main line of tracks the utmost precaution must be taken to prevent the cars in leaving the yard from colliding with the main line trains. As an additional safeguard a "derailer" has been installed on the grade. The "derailer" works automatically in conjunction with the switch at the top of the grade. This device consists of a heavy iron block which fits closely on top of the outer rail with an outward curving flange. When the switch above is set for the main line, this block is raised mechanically from the roadbed and placed in position on the rail, so that if by any possible chance a motorman should misread his signals and attempt to pass up the grade with the semaphore against him the wheels of the car would run up to the iron block, where the flange of the wheels would follow the outward curvature and the trucks be thrown completely off the track.

For the sole purpose of giving the new motormen a thorough training in the work before they are assigned to a position in the regular service, a special car has been constructed containing in plain view all the various kinds of apparatus employed in the handling of a train. This is called the school car, and here the new motorman, in addition to being given practice in the actual running of a train, also receives instruction from one experienced engineer on the inside workings of the electrical and mechanical devices. The course in this motorman's school lasts from eighteen to twenty days, at the conclusion of which the student must pass a severe examination before he can qualify for the position.

The Man Under the Bed.
Mrs. Timid—Did you ever find a man under the bed? Mrs. Bluff—Yes; the night we thought there were burglars in the house. I found my husband there.

San Francisco is not going to do everything at once in the matter of rebuilding, says a special dispatch to the Chicago Post. It is bearing in mind the axiom, "Big oaks from little acorns grow," and it is making small beginnings.

But, just the same, the city will lose an instant in getting the "little acorns" into the ground, and every modern device will be used to force their growth. The plans recently decided on for a new city hall are a good example of this tendency.

IRON HUT FOR FRISCO.

Corrugated Steel Shanty to Take Place of Costly City Hall.

As everybody now knows, San Francisco before the earthquake had a magnificent municipal building which cost $7,000,000, and looked it. That structure is at present a heap of more or less picturesque ruins. To take its place the authorities decided to erect a corrugated iron hut that will look like the headquarters of a gang of railway henchmen.

Mayor Schmitz and his advisers determined to make this modest start toward a city home not only because of their expressed desire "to have some place where they can hang their hat," but also to save money. Owners who have buildings standing which might be available for temporary municipal purposes are inclined to charge all sorts of fancy prices for them. And the city fathers are too canny to be "held up" even in such parlous times as these.

It is proposed to erect the temporary building of corrugated iron or steel frame and to have in it all the city offices, as it will be practically fireproof.

EARTH TREMOR STUDY.
Sismograph May Be Placed Underground in Mammoth Cave.

If the recommendations of government geologists are carried out congress will appropriate money to establish in the Mammoth cave, Kentucky, a sismograph for the recording of earth tremors, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune. Fresh interest has been aroused in the subject of sismological disturbances by the San Francisco earthquake, and scientists are anxious to extend the field of study in an effort to solve the problems connected with these earthquake shocks.

At a recent international conference of sismologists held in Strassburg, Germany, the question of improving sismographs and achieving the best results with them was discussed, and it was agreed by the delegates that unusual facilities were offered for making a study of subterranean tremors by establishing a sismograph far underground in the Mammoth cave on this continent.

Hand Painted Gloves In Vogue.

The short sleeve, now the fashion, has led to startling innovations in gloves. Instead of the conventional one color glove the new covering for the hand and arm is delicately shaded at the top in an almost imperceptible mauve, with a slightly embossed and indefinitely traced pattern upon it of hills of the valley or ivy leaves, says a London cable dispatch to the New York American and Journal. Embossed patterns of the same indefinite and picturesque nature appear on the upper arm of white gloves shaded a faint shell pink or faint sea green. It is claimed for these tinted gloves that they round arms naturally angular, and by blending with the color of the dress the spectrum effect is artistic. Evening gloves inset with lace bracelets and gloves into which hand painted plaques have been introduced are being offered, but owing to the great expense a large sale is not expected.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN.

Attempt Made to Rob B. C. & A. Ry. Passenger Station in Salisbury Thursday Night—One Burglar Hurt—No Cash Taken.

A gang of tramps have been camped around Humphreys' mill pond for the past two weeks, and evidently, from developments, with the intention of robbing some of the safes in town after they had gotten their bearings. They were ostensibly selling fancy articles however, and hawked picture frames, small cases and other, similar things, which they made from materials bought at the hardware stores, all over town. Wednesday there was a big excursion over the B. C. & A. Ry. to Baltimore and a consequent large sale of tickets. They doubtless concluded their time had come to make a haul and Thursday night a gang of five of them (or so it is supposed) forced their way into the office of the passenger station somewhere near two o'clock with the intention of getting away with the cash. They broke open the cash drawer but found nothing to reward them and then attacked the safe with nitro-glycerine.

They bungled their job however, or the charge went off prematurely, as there was a tremendous explosion, arousing the neighbors, and one of the thieves was badly injured. This was somewhere near two o'clock, as the railroad night-watchman makes his rounds at that hour and it was after he had been to the station and gone. William S. Parker and Elisha T. Jones, both of whom live just across from the station, were alarmed by the noise and both started to investigate. Mr. Parker went to his front door and Mr. Jones to the window. Both saw the five men pass by. Mr. Parker had his door open and was standing there looking toward the station. He heard the men jabbering in some foreign language he says. He went inside until they passed. He then phoned to Sheriff Bradley.

The sheriff and his deputy, J. Frank Walker, took prompt steps to catch the burglars. They sent out a general alarm, telegraphing up and down the railroad. The first news they had was between four and five o'clock, when they got word that a wounded man had been taken to the hospital. He had been taken there by William D. Pettit, a farmer living near the railroad about a mile and a half from town toward Delmar. Dr. Dick was called upon and found the man badly hurt. A piece of iron about one and one-half inches by about three and a half inches and weighing about one-half pound had entered his back just under the right shoulder blade, had penetrated his lung and stuck in the muscles near the back bone. Dr. Dick removed this piece of iron, dressed the wound and administered restoratives, as the man was unconscious. The fellow partially regained consciousness but would not talk. He said he had been hit by a train, and knew nothing of what had occurred.

The piece of iron was taken in charge by Chief of Police Disharoon. It fit in a hole in the safe door precisely. While at the depot Disharoon picked up a revolver that probably had been dropped by the wounded man. A ball of soap was also found. Disharoon and Pettit then started for Delmar on foot, in pursuit of the fugitives. Mr. Pettit said that when the party got to his house the wounded man was cursing and swearing, and wishing for his pistol. If he had that he said, he would never go to any hospital, he would end it right there. His companions would not give him a gun however and went off and left him.

It is evident that the robbers wasted no time after the explosion, but started off immediately in an attempt to get away with their wounded partner. When Parker saw them three were together and the other two in the rear. The three were the man who was hurt being supported by two others. The officers tracked them by blood to Mr. E. S. Adkins' residence, opposite the cemetery. They are supposed to have gone out the Middle Neck road until they struck the railroad and then followed the railroad. Mr. Pettit lives to the right of the tracks on Mr. John Tomlinson's land, just beyond Middle Neck bridge. The men had abandoned their friend here as he was retarding their progress too much. They therefore left him and hurried on North.

The office at the passenger station was badly wrecked. Most of the windows were broken by the concussion. The outside plate of the safe door, the combination knob and one leg and wheel were blown to bits, or twisted and torn out of shape. One piece of iron strap about two inches wide and eighteen inches long was blown through the partition, broke off the leg of a step-ladder and went through the window into the street where the buses stand. Another, smaller piece of iron strap, was blown through the partition, splintering the wood and making a hole about eight inches long. A hole was also blown in the floor near the leg of the safe that was blown off, about six inches square. There was between $12 and $15 in the safe, but the thieves did not stop to make any further attempt to secure it. In fact the safe door was still locked, though the front plate was gone. The ticket case was not molested.

Soon after the burglary was discovered, deputy sheriff Walker put out for Delmar in his buggy. He phoned sheriff Bradley about seven thirty o'clock from Delmar that three men had been arrested at Laurel, that he was going after them and would bring them to Salisbury. The wounded man at the hospital fully regained consciousness around seven o'clock. He still refused to say very much, but told one of the nurses that his name was James Avery.

BRICKS FOR PAVING.

Council Has Decided, And Surveys Are Being Made—Work On The Streets To Begin Early In June.

At its meeting Monday evening the City Council decided to do what paving is done in Salisbury at this time with vitrified brick. T. Chalkley Hutton, civil engineer, of Wilmington, Del., was contracted with to do the preliminary work of surveying and preparing plans and specifications. Mr. Hutton began this work on Tuesday.

The Council did not decide whether the paving should be by contract or by employing the labor. This, together with other details, will be left to the Street Paving Commission, which they will now appoint in a short time. It is expected that the actual work will be begun on the streets early in June.

Alfred D. Jones Killed.

Mr. Alfred D. Jones, a lineman employed by the Delaware Railroad, was killed at Salisbury station, N. Y. P. & N. R. R., last Sunday morning about 3:35 o'clock, while attempting to jump on a through freight, northbound. Mr. Jones had been to Wilmington on Saturday and came to Salisbury on the night express train. He was putting in a new electric light plant for the railroad at Delmar and as there are no Sunday passenger trains wished to return to Delmar on the freight. He fell under the wheels and was cut to pieces.

Mr. Jones was well known in Salisbury and had a number of friends here. He was employed for several years as lineman by the Salisbury Telephone Co. and later by the Diamond State Telephone Co. here. The remains were taken charge of by undertaker Holloway by direction of Salisbury Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of which Jones was a member. Later the body was sent to Greenwood, Del., for interment. No inquest was held, Justice Trader considering it unnecessary.

Strawberry Shipments.

Shipments of strawberries have been light on the B. C. & A. Ry. this week, the average being not more than one car a day from stations on that line. There were two cars on Friday and shipments are expected to be much heavier next week. It is reported that the special berry train service will be started on the B. C. & A. next Monday afternoon, the 21st. The N. Y. P. & N. R. R. started its special berry trains on Thursday, the 17th. On that date 8 car loads went North from the Crisfield branch. Shipments over this road will be very heavy next week. Most of the berries shipped this week have gone to New York. Prices range, in New York, from 8 to 10 cents for small berries and 12 to 14 for large. In Philadelphia and Newark, N. J., about the same price as above is being realized. There have been as yet no quotations of any consequence from Boston or Providence.

Remarkable Corn.

The Whitaker Iron Company, of Principio Furnace, will experiment this season with an improved strain of corn, the seed of which has been procured from S. M. Friedenwald, of White Hall Manor Stock Farm, Glyndon, Baltimore county. This variety of corn is said to be something remarkable. The stalks grow to the height of 14 to 16 feet and produce four to five ears 14 to 16 inches long to a plant. Mr. Friedenwald had a yield of over 112 bushels to the acre from a 25 acre field, and one prize acre has been known to yield 225 bushels. —Elkton Appeal.

and that he came from Baltimore. He gave his age as 29. He relapsed again into unconsciousness about ten o'clock and had a high fever. His recovery is considered doubtful.

When deputy sheriff Walker arrived at Laurel he found that the three men that were being held were not the men wanted. He learned that four men were between Delmar and Laurel and had likely jumped a freight that had just left Delmar. He enlisted constable M. D. Hearn and met the train at a block station a short way from Laurel. Three men jumped off and were hailed. They started to run and the officers, enforced by a crowd that had gathered, ran them about two miles before they were caught. They refused to give their names or say anything whatever. They were put in the lockup. The conductor of the train told Walker that four men had tried to jump the train but that one had missed. One of the three that succeeded lost his hat. Constable Hearn stationed himself at the railroad, and waited for a tramp with two hats. The tramp came along presently and Hearn called to him to stop. The man showed fight and pulled a revolver. As he reached for his hip pocket, young Robert Revel, of Salisbury, slipped up behind him and knocked him down with a club.

Deputy Walker and Constable Hearn brought the four men to Salisbury on the two o'clock train, handcuffed. Three of them persisted in refusing to give their names. The other, who was the last one captured, said his name was Frank Matthews and that he was from New York city. He said that he had come down the peninsula to pick berries and had not gotten as far south as Salisbury. He complained of being subject to fits, owing to a fractured skull when he was young, and objected to being left in a cell by himself, saying he might injure himself. A doctor was sent for to examine him. None of the four men are over thirty-five years of age and are tough looking characters—typical yeggmen. The officers in Salisbury failed to identify them as having been among the gang that has been encamped here. It is now thought the first lot were simply "stool pigeons" and spelt out the land for the real burglars and that this is the reason the station was not robbed on Wednesday night—the gang who did the actual work having been notified in the meantime of the "plant."

Echo From Berlin's Municipal Fight.

The municipal fight at Berlin, which ended last week by the re-election of the temperance ticket headed by Orlando Harrison by a large majority, caused much bitter feeling and warm controversy. The following letter from the President of the Anti-Saloon League, published in the current issue of the Berlin Advance, makes some interesting comment upon past and future battles:

"The town election is over; wounds have been made; the saloons have been hit; the future looks bright for temperance. Men are seeing that reform all along the line is possible. We are building up an organization that is not entirely sentimental, but will bring results; so fall in line and join the march—the watchword is 'better citizenship.'"

We regret the necessity of the personal wounds sustained and sympathize with those who are deluded and beguiled into arraying themselves against right and justice, and hope when they shall have reflected, they will help to swell the majorities of the future, of which last Monday's victory was but a shadow.

Let all interests join to fight the blight of rum and corruption, and raise Old Worcester to heights for admiration, above the slough of degradation. It can be done and it shall be done. Be strong and organize; for weakness and vacillation never yet won liberty.

We hope all who are interested in good government, cleaner politics, better men for office holders, purer leaders of the people, and the cause of temperance, will be present at Dirickson's Hall next Monday evening, May 14th, at eight o'clock, where the Anti-Saloon League will meet to discuss the issues, and formulate plans to bring about these desired results in Worcester County. Nothing is ever finished until the best possible has been attained; so we must not now rest upon our oars and drift into oblivion, but pull one, pull all with a mighty stroke for the harbor of prosperity and civilization. The wind is fair, the tide is right, the craft is staunch, and the crew is in earnest; so get aboard, every body is welcome to a first class berth.

ROBERT J. SHOWELL.

P. S. We were surprised to learn that many people did not know that our petition of 1771 names to the Legislature, and the referendum liquor license bill, were sent to Senator John P. Moore to be presented and introduced, and that he refused to take any action in the matter whatever; thus denying us, as far as he was able, the great right of a free people, the right to petition; and also, the principle for which the American Revolution was fought and won, viz: representation. After waiting for his decision, Hon. Orlando Harrison took the matter in hand and did his full duty as a sworn representative of Worcester County and as a man in sympathy with the popular government. We know that the political leader of our county, ex-Gov. John Walter Smith, defeated Mr. Harrison's efforts. Subserviency to Rum is not leadership of Democracy, and we will demonstrate it.

made High Schools, and under the school laws are placed under the supervision of the School Board—hence no appointment of trustees was made.

Mrs. W. L. White has received letters from her brothers, Messrs. George and Charles Fisher, of San Francisco, giving assurance of their safety. The Messrs. Fisher gave a graphic description of the catastrophe and state that their own hair turned white by the horror.—Chesertown Transcript.

A well-known resident of Chesertown met with a singular accident one day recently.
While engaged about her household duties
she yawned so heartily that she lost her set of false teeth! We are glad to report however, that the teeth have been recovered and that the jaw is working satisfactorily.
—Kent News.

The colored Farmers' Institute for Somerset County under the direction of Prof. Wm.
L. Amoss, of the Maryland Agricultural College, was held at the College for Colored teachers near Princess Anne, last week. The assembly hall was crowded with colored farmers, and their wives and the institute was said to be a great success.

The new jail building to be erected at Denton, for which bids are asked by the County Commissioners, will be made of brick, with stone or concrete foundation, and will be three stories high. There will be eight cells in the rear of the sheriff's residence, which is to be a comfortable home, with conveniences of light heat and water.

Lawrence Cornish, colored who shot and killed Joe Camper, colored, at Cambridge about midnight on the twenty first of January, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree before the Dorchester county court last week and was sentenced to a term of twelve years in the penitentiary. The plea was accepted, by the States Attorney and sentence was imposed by Judge Lloyd.

Some of our boys seem to have the gymnasium craze. That is right and proper, but after all the cheapest and best gymnasium in the world—one that will exercise every bone and muscle in the body—is a flat piece of steel, notched in one side, fitted tightly into a wooden frame, and after being greased on both sides with a bacon rind, rubbed into a stick of wood lengthwise on a sawbuck.
—St. Mary's Enterprise.

On the fifteenth of next month the term of Postmaster Maull of the Georgetown postoffice expires and much interest is observed in the appointment of his successor. The two leading aspirants are W. Scott Wall and John Barr, both Union Republicans, with Dr. John W. Messick, another Union Republican in the background, as a possible dark horse. Mr. Wall is backed politically by the anti-Layton crowd—Sussex Journal.

Peninsula lumbermen are continuing to make big investments in southern tracts, which are paying like gold mines. J. Dallas Marvel of this town, and A. B. Robertson, of Sharptown, Charles H. Martin, of Lewes, Joseph D. Thompson of Rehoboth, and others have purchased 15,000,000 feet of pine timber in Franklin and Pender counties, North Carolina, and will engage in the manufacture of lumber for northern markets—Laurel Register.

Elkton, Md., May 11.—It now appears as though the discovery of gold on the Wilson farm, Red Hill, one mile east of Elkton, now owned by L. O. L. Atwood, will result in a fortune for the owner. Since the first assay of the ore was made, which showed $5 worth of the precious metal to the ton, two other assays of the ore, taken from different veins, show that it contains from $16 to $30 worth of gold to the ton. When it was first announced that gold had been found, many thought it a hoax, and little account was paid to the report. Since the assays have become known, one of which was made by the United States Government at Washington, it has created considerable excitement among property holders in that vicinity.

A tumor weighing nearly 80 pounds has been taken from Mrs. Thomas Courtney, of Frederick Md., at St. Joseph's Hospital,
Baltimore and she is recovering.

The size and weight of the growth is said to be unparalleled in the history of surgery, and a number of photographs have been taken by Dr. Frank Martin, who performed the operation.

Mrs. Courtney entered the institution on May 2. She refused to take ether, and the doctors were compelled to use cocaine. The operation lasted for an hour. Nearly eight gallons of fluid were taken from the tumor, which was about 16 inches in diameter.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

Here is a very pretty design for a cottage house with a broad piazza across the front and a long sloping roof reaching out over the piazza. There are four nice rooms in the first floor and three rooms in the second floor. The upper portion of the house is shingled, lower portion sided. Painted up in colors, this makes a very attractive design. The entrance is in the center, and each of the two front rooms has a nice fireplace; also the dining room and each of the two chambers. This house is well adapted to a warm climate, but makes a pretty home for any location. Size 32 by 30 feet. Cost $1,775.

A Sussex county, Delaware, man has been hatching kildes in an incubator. Though the report does not state the fact, it is taken for granted that he owns some of lower Delaware's famous sand hills—too poor to raise kildes or support black-eyed peas.

The Soft Crab season has opened at Crisfield and the prospects are for a profitable season. The catchers report crabs plentiful, and of a nice size, and shippers are enjoying the same patronage for their delicious sea food, as in the days gone by. Already several large shipments have been made by dealers who report orders plentiful and prices good.

Announcement is made in the current issue of the Sussex Journal, of Georgetown, of its consolidation with the Delaware Democrat, of that town. Both papers recently passed into the same management, and the consolidation was decided upon later, as it was felt that "one Democratic paper was sufficient for this town and community." By this consolidation the number of newspapers in Georgetown—population about 1,300—is reduced from four to three. The Union Republican, of Georgetown, recently reduced its size from eight pages to four.

When the Grand Lodge of Masons of Delaware meets next June in Wilmington, they will have as their guest of honor, Uncle Joe Cannon, Speaker of the National House of Representatives.

The daily round-trip-steamer-to-Baltimore is a thing of the past. The last trip was made on Wednesday, and, although it was rainy, chilly and windy in the morning, a crowd of two hundred and twenty took the trip. The steamer has been removed to another route, but there is no information as to whether the suspension is permanent or temporary. During the existence of the day steamer a large number of people took the trip, the trips ranging from 20 to 220 passengers. It was by no means a paying investment for the company, and it did not accomplish the object for which it was put into effect. Instead of attracting buyers from Cambridge to the Baltimore stores the people spent their money at home and used the advantage of the day boat for enjoyable purpose. It was getting to be a disease to go for a day on the water, a trip to Baltimore, and the whole thing for a half dollar—Cambridge Democrat.

Mr. Benjamin K. Green, one of the Shell-Fish Commissioners, has already begun investigations in Somerset county to ascertain the number of acres of oyster land now held by the residents. He finds that there are more than 15,000 acres of oyster bottom held within that county. All this ground will come in under the provisions of the Haman bill, and if all the lot holders decide to continue in the oyster planting business the State will receive from this county alone $15,000 at once. This quality of land is but a small part of the ground which will be available in Somerset under the law. A resident of the county said that there are 75,000 acres of bottom which can be leased. While no effort has been made to ascertain just what quantity of land has been held by oyster planters in Wicomico and Dorchester it is said that in Wicomico it is thought this acreage is equal to or greater than that now held by the residents of Somerset, and that in Dorchester there are a large number of lots now occupied. Taking these three counties alone, it is safe to predict that the State will be able to derive some $50,000 income alone from these sources.

Comparatively Small Damage To Fruit Crops.

Just as we anticipated, the truckers and fruit-growers in this and adjoining counties are taking a philosophical view of the result attending the heavy frost last week and in fact many consider it a blessing in disguise. Of course considerable damage was done in some instances to such crops as cantaloupes, watermelons and tomatoes, but potatoes in this vicinity were not damaged appreciably and the other crops mentioned can and will be replanted. A portion of the yield will therefore be late, but even so they may bring all the better prices.

The strawberry yield was cut, but this is expected to be the cause of higher prices for those that ripen. The grower who sold his crop will suffer most, as he will not have so many berries to deliver. A condition that, while unfortunate for our neighbors, will assist our farmers, is the fact that in Virginia potatoes both white and sweet were killed to a great extent, and the Delaware strawberries, being more in blossom than ours, were hurt worse. Wicomico county for this particular frost, occupied a middle position, between the advance of the Virginia crops and the later Delaware crops. After all, we are likely to be helped more than we are injured.

Mayor Harper's Message.

Mayor Charles E. Harper's message to the City Council, read at its meeting last Monday night, covered matters of the greatest importance to all the residents and tax-payers of Salisbury. The especial features touched upon were street paving, sidewalks, the verbal agreement between the Council and the railroads in reference to safety gates, and the installation of a gas plant. Mayor Harper further commends the Council for its financial management of the town's affairs, compliments Clerk H. J. Byrd for his energy and promptness, and praises the fire department, all of which are worthy of his commendation. The Mayor calls attention to the necessity of enforcing the town ordinances through the police and suggests that citizens should be notified by the police of the provisions of these ordinances and compliance demanded.

We would suggest to the Council, as a better method of informing citizens of these ordinances, that they be printed in pamphlet form and distributed liberally throughout the town. They could be added to from time to time by circular and the expense would be light. As it is, it would be practically impossible for the police to properly notify people of these laws.

The Mayor very properly urges upon the Council the necessity for energetic methods in solving the street paving problem. From all evidences, the Council is proceeding with this work without delay.

The financial condition of the town, as pointed out by Mayor Harper, is worthy of particular attention. In this connection he says:

"Your honorable body should be especially commended for the financial condition of our town, having decreased its indebtedness very materially during the past two years by paying off about $10,000, leaving an indebtedness of about $4,000 bonds, and the town being run on a cash basis, notwithstanding the extra expenditure in the way of laying sewers for the town and shelling North Division Street to the city limits, South Division Street and East William Street, which has required thousands of bushels of shells."

In regard to sidewalks, Mayor Harper advises that all wooden curbs be removed and stone or cement substituted. This is a good suggestion. Wooden curbs allow the bricks to settle and spread out of place, and should not be used. One of the main advantages of a town are good sidewalks. They are first commented upon and praised or criticized as the case demands.

Ordinances should be passed at once, as Mayor Harper advises, requiring the railroads to provide the additional safeguards to life at the various crossings in town as agreed upon some time ago. The Salisbury Gas Co. should also be required to live up to the requirements of their contract.

Taking it altogether, little could be added to or taken from Mayor Harper's recommendations.

Delawarean Notes On Wicomico.

Between Rockwalkin and the beautiful town of Mardela Springs, on the B. C. & A. Ry., way down among the sand dunes and pine forests of old Wicomico, lays the fast growing town of Hebron. This place is all bustle and hum, having three shirt factories, one large stove mill, two fine canneries and four stores. Each year a camp is held under the auspices of the M. E. Church. In this town lives a Mr. Ellis, a prominent merchant, standing over six feet and weighs 275 pounds, and for his life companion he chose a Miss Ralph. Her weight is 65 pounds and she is only four feet two inches high. She wears a No. 6 child's shoe. The topmost flowers of Mrs. Ellis' hat just reach Mr. Ellis' elbow. While on their wedding tour, in Baltimore a great throng followed them. —Laurie (Del.) Register.

Plans For Houses.

The Courier is printing a series of plans for houses, designed by some of the most noted architects in the country. They (the houses) range in price from $1,500 up to several thousand and there should be building of value to all who contemplate building.

The estimate of cost on these plans is the architect's and would likely have to be revised to meet local conditions.

Quite Busy.

GEN. R. L. HOLLIDAY DEAD.

Superintendent Of The Delaware Railroad Passes Away At His Home In Dover Last Saturday.

General Robert L. Holliday, Superintendent of the Delaware Railroad, died at two o'clock Saturday afternoon last at his residence in Dover, Del., from the effects of apoplexy, with which he was stricken in his office in Wilmington about 11 o'clock in the morning. When he first became ill the nature of the trouble was not apparent, as he had not been feeling badly, although for some time his health had not been of the best. Shortly after being stricken, at his request he was assisted to the 10.58 train, on which he went to Dover. He was accompanied by J. H. Stadelman, chief engineer of the road, and Dr. L. A. H. Bishop, who had been notified of Gen. Holliday's illness, met them at the station and accompanied them to Gen. Holliday's home.

Dr. Bishop saw that the patient was suffering from apoplexy, and although everything possible was done to save his life, it was unavailing and the end came at two o'clock Mrs. Holliday, who had been in Seaford, attending the convention of State Federation of Women's Clubs, arrived home just before Gen. Holliday died. The two sons, Percy and Fleming, who hold positions away from Dover, were not home at the time. Gen. Holliday's body was taken to Bellwood, Blair county, Pa., on Monday for interment.

SKETCH OF GENERAL HOLLIDAY.

Robert Lowry Holliday was born at Bellwood, Pa., May 6th, 1848. He was educated at Logan Academy, Bellwood and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. From 1869 to 1876 he was connected with the Bell's Gap and other railroads on preliminary surveys and construction work. He entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. in the office of the principal assistant engineer at Altoona, as rodman, March 23d, 1876.

On April 6th, 1876, he was appointed supervisor of the Bedford division; December 15th, 1879, assistant supervisor of Division No. 10, Pittsburgh division; April 20th, 1880, supervisor of Division No. 4, Philadelphia division; June 1st, 1881, assistant engineer of the Pittsburgh division; October 1st, 1882, engineer of maintenance of way, Pennsylvania Railroad division; August 1st, 1883, superintendent of the Bedford division; May 1st, 1889, superintendent of the Lewistown division; July 1st, 1890, superintendent of the Central division of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad; April 1st, 1891, superintendent of the Delaware railroad.

From the time he became connected with the Delaware railroad, he made his home in Dover, but the main offices of the company were located at Clayton until March of this year, when they were moved to Wilmington.

He leaves a widow and two sons. Gen. Holliday was one of the most prominent and popular men in Delaware. He was a Democrat and though he was never actively connected with politics, he took a great deal of interest in matters pertaining to the welfare of the party. He was quartermaster-general on the staff of Governor Ebe Tunnell and during the entire time he lived in the state assisted the military authorities in improving the National Guard service.

Baltimore Likes Mr. Oscar Turner.

Mr. Oscar A. Turner, who came to Baltimore last fall and bought the house of the late Major Alexander Shaw, at the southeast corner of Monument and Cathedral streets, has spent about $40,000 on improvements. I hear, and has made it one of the most desirable homes in the city. In fact, in Major Shaw's time the residence was a model of comfort, but Mr. Turner has introduced innovations. He has a handsome picture gallery and during the summer a conservatory will be built between the house and the stable in the rear, facing on Cathedral street. Mr. Turner is a native of Wicomico, and is a half brother of Capt. E. S. S. Turner ("Syd") of that county, who was commander of the Oyster Navy in the Lowndes Administration. When Oscar was a youngster he cut out for the West and struck luck in mining. He is credited with having discovered the Tonopah mines in Nevada, and went in to develop them with remarkable financial success. He is a very heavy holder in the enterprise, which is still paying handsomely.

During his years in the West, Mr. Turner was always proud of being a Maryland boy. He made up his mind that when he had succeeded he would return to his native State to live. This he has done. Even before securing a home in Baltimore he purchased as a country residence Castle Haven, the fine estate in Dorchester county of the late Col. Wilbur F. Jackson. He will move down there for the summer when his two young sons return from school, about the middle of June. Castle Haven is on the Choptank, just across the river from Oxford, which is in Talbot county. Both in Baltimore and at his Eastern Shore home Mr. Turner has surrounded himself with the luxuries of life. He has two automobiles and a handsome yacht. It has been rumored that he contemplated taking up his residence in Philadelphia, but I have it from an authentic source that he will not again leave old Maryland. His wife and himself like Baltimore, and Baltimore is glad to have them. —From "Our Own and Other People" in Baltimore News.

City Council Meeting.

The new City Council organized Monday night by electing W. C. Polk president. The drawing for the long and short terms resulted in Messrs. L. W. Dorman and C. M. Brewington getting the two year terms and W. C. Polk the one year term. The Mayor's message was read, the list of appointments was not sent in, however, as announced in the columns of this paper, and they will not be made until the first Monday in June.

The Council closed up the affairs of its former term and adjourned the old Council, sine die. It was decided by the board during its session to extend the ten-inch sewer on N. Division St. 175 feet to the property of E. S. Adkins, and a permit was granted to Dr. Dick to build an addition to his residence on W. Church st. to cost about $1,400.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $14,500.00, makes loans secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower, and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes. It receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. His wife, who has been spending the winter in Philadelphia, is expected today. Mr. Waller's health is much improved; he expects, however, to leave in a short time for Colorado, to reside permanently.

—At the contest of the Interscholastic Oratorical Association, at Pocomoke last Friday evening, the two prizes (each a gold medal) were won, for oratory, by Mr. J. Percy Pinkerton, of Pocomoke, and for recitation, by Miss Anne Thorn Brock, of Princess Anne. Mr. George R. Hill, of Salisbury, was awarded second place in the orations, and Miss Irma Boston second place in the recitations.

—A carload of lumber standing on a siding of the Delaware Railroad just north of Dover station became loosened early Sunday morning, the lumber falling to the northbound track. A freight train arriving at 2.30 ran into and over the lumber, narrowly escaping a serious wreck. Some of the heavy timbers were cut in half by the wheels and yet the cars remained on the track until the entire train had passed over. The track was cleared in time for the passenger train to pass by without injury.

—Governor and Mrs. John Walter Smith lost a valuable and much esteemed friend this week in the death of Rachel Brown, an old colored woman, who has been living with them for the past 20 years. "Aunt Rachel" would have willingly laid down her life for Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their daughter and grandchildren at any time, and they, in turn, appreciated to the fullest extent her faithfulness; and her place in the family was as fully established as any other member of it. "Aunt Rachel" was 68 years of age. Her funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, and was largely attended. Services were held in the colored M. E. Church, and Governor and Mrs. Smith were in attendance and followed their faithful old friend to her last resting place—Snow Hill Messenger.

For The Boys

People your boy can be well-dressed for $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, or $5.00—stylish, well-made suits from N. Snellenburg & Co., Philadelphia, made of Fancy Cheviots in all sorts of neat effects—Stripes, Plaids, and Overplaids. Plenty of Blue Serge! Think of a good Blue Serge Suit for $3.50, and a better Blue Serge Suit for $5.00. Scores of patterns and styles your boy would be proud to wear. Bring him to Lacy Thoroughgood's this week. Lacy Thoroughgood believes he knows the clothing business pretty thoroughly, and from what he knows and from what he sees, he believes that his stock of boys' clothing beats the town. You'll find it a pleasure to make selection of boy's clothing at Thoroughgood's—there's such a vast stock of all that's newest and most desirable in all grades of apparel for big and little boys. Don't forget it—Lacy Thoroughgood is having a Boys' and Children's Suit Sale this week. You'll find the Spring Suits that Lacy Thoroughgood is showing for Boys and Children to be as good, if not much better than any suits in town. In price you'll find them considerably lower. Just to stimulate business in Lacy Thoroughgood's Boys' and Children's Departments this week Thoroughgood is offering a price tonic that will speedily cure the ailment of an over-stock and dress up a lot of youngsters better than they have ever been dressed for the same money or a good deal more. and Thoroughgood wants to remark right now that no such values have ever been offered by him or any other store in Salisbury in suits ranging in size—3 to 16 years. There are juvenile novelties, Suits, Norfolk, for boys 2 to 8, and hundreds of Suits for boys 8 to 15 years.

SHOES DE LUXE

NEVER were shoes more beautiful than the new "Queen Quality" Custom Grade models. The extent of their variety may be prosaically presented by stating that they are made in no less than 4,760 variations of shape and style, thus affording accuracy of fit for every type and size of foot, and ease the first day worn. But no figures can express the charm of this variety, indeed it is but faintly suggested by the illustrations here shown. To appreciate this you must see the shoes. Ask for them while our assortments are complete.

The Wonders of Transposition.

The word "time" admits of a very peculiar arrangement of its letters. The four letters of the word transposed and read backward and forward and up and down give four perfect English and Latin words. It is said to be the only word in our language that will admit of so many transpositions and arrangements. Note the oddity of the square below:

T I M E
M E T I
E M I T

The above words in English as well as in Latin are all complete, and the curious part of it is that reading them backward and forward and up and down gives the same result that transposing the letters in the original word does. Their signification as Latin words is as follows: Time, fear thou; item, likewise; meti, to be measured; emit, he buys.

Trees That Form Islands.

In the course of great rivers, islands are generally formed by the stranding of trees, shrubs, plants and such things brought down by the current. In the Mackenzie river of Canada the whole process of island making in this way can be easily observed. Trees borne down from the banks by the underminding action of the current usually retain considerable mass of earth and stones entangled in their roots. They, therefore, readily sink, and by doing so form considerable shoals, which time converts into regular vegetable islands. Then a thicket of small willows covers the newly formed land and their fibrous roots serve to bind the whole firmly together. A peaty soil is formed by the gradual decay of the vegetation, including the trunks of the trees, and on this many new varieties of plants spring up. Sometimes the island clears its moorings and floats away down stream until it is again arrested by an obstacle, or it may become in a sense water-logged and subside close to the bottom. In this latter case it often gets covered over with mud and sand, which form a new and more permanent land surface above it.

Tobacco Penalties.

The Shah of Persia, in the seventh century, proclaimed that every soldier in whose possession tobacco was found should have his lips cut; while in the same century Massachusetts ordered that "no person shall take tobacco publicly, and any one shall pay one penny for every time he is convicted of taking tobacco in any place."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VIII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 20.

Text of the Lesson, Mark vi, 14-29. Memory Verse, 20—Golden Text, Eph. v, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1906, by American Press Association.]

It seems to me that the sentence in parentheses in the first verse of our lesson—"for His name was spread abroad"—is worthy of much attention. This was how Herod heard of Him. Some one had talked to Herod, or in his hearing, of the words and works of Jesus. It was because the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the Lord that she came from her faraway home to see and hear for herself (1 Kings x, 1, 6, 7). If we are redeemed by His precious blood, it is that His fame as a Saviour and deliverer may be far and wide made known by us. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy" (Ps. cxviii, 2). Delivered that we might serve Him (Luke i, 74). He brought Israel out of Egypt, dividing the waters of the Red sea, leading them through the desert and drying up Jordan before them to make His glorious name known that the many might be blessed in Him (Isa. lxiii, 12, 14; Josh. iv, 24). If we have been saved by Him and are not doing our utmost to make His salvation known, what can be said of our gratitude to Him or our love for others in the light of 1 John iii, 16, or John iii, 16?

It is said in verse 20 of our lesson that Herod knew that John was a just and holy man, that he heard him gladly and did many things; but, as neither hearing nor doing will avail unless Christ is actually received into the heart (John i, 12; 1 John v, 12), Herod's knowledge did not profit him, but brought upon him the heavier condemnation because his evil doings would not suffer him to turn unto God (Hos. v, 4). Herod's love for sin was greater than his desire to do right, and he was really the slave of this sinful Herodias and chose rather to please her than holy John, the servant of the only living and true God. Eve chose the devil and his words and ways rather than God and His word, and it is always with each of us a case of God or the devil. The cry is always, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," and blessed are those who can say, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Josh. xxiv, 15).

Herod might stop the testimony of John by imprisonment, and he might kill him also, for he had the power, but he could not shut up nor still the accusing voice within him, so when he heard of this mighty man and His wondrous works his guilty conscience made him fear that John the Baptist had risen from the dead. If a guilty conscience can prove such a torment here in this life, what will it be before the great white throne and in the ages of torment in the place of the lost? (Luke xvi, 23, 24; Rev. xiv, 10, 11.) Herod feared the woman under whose control he had placed himself for sinful lust's sake; he feared the people over whom he was placed, and he evidently had some fear of the hereafter, for he did many things that John said, but he would not forsake sin.

This birthday party of Herod's was truly the devil's own affair. How well he enabled that poor godless girl to dance that day! How he enabled her to captivate the sinful heart of Herod and to lead him in his excitement to make her this great promise, and all to accomplish the death of John! It is to be feared that he is still accomplishing many a death, temporal and spiritual, by his feasts and entertainments in the church itself, for he is doing his utmost to drag souls down to hell. The church has so turned away from the Son of God and His glorious gospel and the power of the Holy Spirit and accepted in place of God's one appointed way any and every suggestion of the evil one, not only in the way of feasts and festivals and the introduction of all sorts of things into so-called church work, but has made even the preaching to be about anything but Jesus and His salvation, that we cannot but believe that we are already in the days of 1 Tim. iii, 13; iv, 3. John might have saved himself from Herodias' hatred if he had said concerning their sin, "It is no affair of mine; they are the children of the devil anyway, and to him they are going, whether Herodias lives with Herod or Philip," but John was brought face to face with the sin and either had to be blind to it for peace's sake or speak faithfully for Christ's sake.

That God, who can control even the devil, should permit Joseph to be stolen, sold into slavery, falsely accused and imprisoned; David to be hunted as a partridge upon the mountains; Jeremiah to know the horrors of the dungeon mire and John the Baptist, herald of our Lord, to suffer imprisonment and death—these are among the to us seemingly strange things, but when we more fully understand we will see how all the sufferings of the saints are part of a perfect plan of infinite wisdom.

Contrast the devil's "whatsoever" of verse 23 with the Lord's precious and enduring "whatsoever" of John xiv, 13, 14; xv, 10; xvi, 23, but remember that, while one can dance or drink himself to hell or just float along with the stream carelessly and reach there just the same, to be saved is to turn away from the world, the flesh and the devil, receive Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour and henceforth stand with Him against all that is not of God, not fearing death (Matt. x, 20), but fearing only to grieve Him and coveting always His approval.

The Lobster's Birth Name.

"Did you ever see the name a lobster is born with?" asked a fish dealer the other day. "It is marked on his body. No? Well, I'll show you one."

The dealer took a live lobster out of a heap on the marble slab.

"Its name is Joe," the dealer said after he had inspected one of its legs. "Now, can you find it?"

The customer took the lobster gingerly by the back of the neck, where it could not reach his hand with its pincers. Turning it on its back so that the brown legs at its side flopped backward, a smooth streak half an inch long and nearly as wide was seen on the inside of the thigh. In this streak, like a mosaic, were short lines, as though some one had printed on it with indelible brown ink in backward the characters J-O-E.

"Some lobsters are named Jim," the dealer said, "some Jack, others John, and I once clearly made out the name Julia."

A Stag and a Ladder.

Stories of deer with rain barrels or water pails on their heads are common enough among Maine and Adirondack guides, but it is left for Europe to come to the fore with a variant. Some hunters near Innsbruck came upon a stag with a ladder on its antlers. In spite of this handicap it made off at great speed on seeing the man, leaping hedges and dashing through the undergrowth as if quite unimpeded. Its mad career was stopped, however, when the ends of the ladder caught between two trees. Its struggles were so frantic at the approach of the huntsman's dog that it broke off part of its antlers and, thus freed, made good its escape. The ladder proved to belong to a farmer who had left it standing against one of his haystacks. While stealing the hay the stag had evidently upset the ladder, which had thus become fixed on its horns.

Progress, the growth of intelligence and power, is the end and boon of liberty, and without this a people may have the name, but want the substance and spirit of freedom.—Channing.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nerveine.

Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Worry, Restlessness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Ambition.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nerveine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. Our baby girl was sent away, and all callers barred, because he could not stand a bit of talking. I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine. We began giving it to him and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nerveine saved his life."—MRS. C. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEY'S.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary troubles set in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Salisbury people testify to permanent cures.

Wm M. Gordy, carpenter, residing corner of Ann and E Church Streets says: "I have had backache for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped the trouble. My son also took some of the remedy and received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

AUSTRIAN'S BOLD TRIP

Wants to Cross the Atlantic In a Big Balloon.

WILL CARRY FIVE PASSENGERS

Joseph Wartscher Explains His Plans For Reaching Europe by Aerial Route—To Use Trade Winds and Condense His Gas—Ingenious Chemical Apparatus to Re-enforce His Airship—Asks Aid From Aero Club.

Joseph Wartscher, a practical head aeronaut who wants to fly across the Atlantic ocean, has sent a letter to the Aero Club of America offering to fly from New York to Europe if it will only find him $25,000 to build and equip his balloon, says the New York World.

Herr Wartscher was born in the Tyrol twenty-eight years ago and was graduated from the Municipal Industrial school at Innsbruck. At that city he experimented with a motor balloon in 1902 and was highly commended by the government officials. In 1903 he was an assistant of Surcouf, the Parisian balloonist, and in 1904 and 1905 he managed the captive balloons for the wireless service maintained by Berlin's military aeronautic battalion.

Herr Wartscher declares that a transatlantic trip is not only practical, but can be accomplished without much risk. He would depend upon the counter trade wind, which blows to the eastward 2,500 meters above the trade wind and reverses, roughly speaking, the course of the gulf stream.

From four to five days will be required to make the trip. Herr Wartscher thinks, but he will rig his balloon to run for ten days without discomfort to himself or the five passengers he wishes to carry. In ordinary balloons the great trouble is that the aeronaut, in order to descend, has to throw away his hydrogen gas. Herr Wartscher has a plan to obviate this. He writes:

"In the interior of the balloon are a number of smaller balloons made of particularly strong material, which, under normal conditions, are filled with gas, like the balloon. In the car is an exhaustor, operated by a small explosion motor. The exhaustor is connected with the balloon and smaller balloons by tubes. This enables me, when the temperature rises and the gas expands, to pass a part of the gas into the smaller balloons. There it is under compression and in its greater density the gas becomes heavier, loses its lifting power and is not to be taken into consideration as an agency of buoyancy. By this means I am able to meet the differences of temperature without loss of gas or ballast, because the gas compressed into the smaller balloons is always at my disposal for bringing it back to the big balloon."

"The progress of chemistry enables us to secure to a certain degree a supplementary filling of the balloon during the trip. As we can produce a liquid air we can also produce transportable liquid hydrogen. I intend to take along, instead of the usual sand ballast, ballast in the form of liquid hydrogen, which I shall use for refilling the balloon. By experiments I have established the fact that the quantity of ballast in the form of liquid hydrogen, which, in proportion to the size of the balloon, may be taken along, would be sufficient to provide nearly the fourth part of the contents of the balloon."

"A certain quantity of sand has, of course, to be carried to permit the execution of quick maneuvers during the ascension and at the landing. I intend to also use correspondingly long and heavy drag ropes, which may be advantageously employed during the trip, especially at night, particularly as it would be of great advantage in directing the balloon to remain as much as possible in inconsiderable altitudes."

The balloon, Herr Wartscher declares, would be of a capacity of 10,000 cubic meters of gas—say, 90 feet in diameter. He continues:

"The balloon and the smaller balloons, or inner chambers, will be provided with specially constructed meters for determining the pressure of the gas. Likewise there will be automatic safety valves provided for the escape of excess gas when the limit of safety in expansion is reached, so that the bursting of the balloon will be avoided."

"The car itself will also form a marked departure from precedent in the pattern. It is quite evident that a balloon trip of this nature and duration could not be made by several persons in an open basket, exposed to changes of the weather and temperature and to other distressing conditions. Measures must be taken to keep the voyagers in good health and in perfect physical condition. The open basket must be replaced by a spacious closed car with windows and platforms, the interior to be fitted with every comfort."

"The interior of the car will serve as the regular living room and may also be utilized for storing provisions and ballast. The platforms will be reserved for the management of the balloon and for scientific observation and experiments. The car will be lighted up at night by incandescent lights."

"The lower part of the car must be water tight in case that a drop into the sea may be one of the necessities. An apparatus for wireless telegraphy will be taken along in order that communication may be had with stations on the continent or with passing transatlantic steamers. I intend to take along carrier pigeons for the news service."

Herr Wartscher feels assured that the necessary $25,000 will soon be put up. Then he will start from Coney Island early in August and break all records to Europe.

Refrigerator Wagons For Nevada.
An interesting experiment is being tried by an Austin (Tex.) freighting company, which has put into use between Austin and Manhattan a line of refrigerator wagons, says an Austin correspondent of the Sacramento Bee. In these wagons will be carried beer, fruits and perishable groceries. The wagons are built upon the lines followed by the private car companies.

Fine Lunch Cloth For Cruiser Colorado.
When the cruiser Colorado gets its silver service it will have a handsome centerpiece as a portion of its complement, says a Denver correspondent of the Colorado Springs Telegraph. This centerpiece is to be furnished by the Daughters of the American Revolution, according to information conveyed to Governor McDonald by a committee from the Colorado chapter.

Getting Quick Action.
"The gambling instinct, once aroused, will make the victim gamble with anything," said a Detroit. "I saw two gamblers meet the other day and indulge in a quick gamble with 50 cent pieces. 'Odd or even?' asked the first. 'Odd,' said the second. And the man with the odd date on the coin won. His half dollar was dated 1870. The other was dated 1880. Another game is played with dollar bills. It is 'greenback poker,' and was hatched in Washington. Each bill bears a series number—say, 99067634 or the like. In the number cited are two nines and three sixes—a 'full house.' The next man may have a bill numbered 72243890. He has, you observe, two pairs."

"High wins," the players say on meeting, each holding his bill out of sight. Then they compare and settle up. "Greenback poker" is a good quick way to lose a whole lot of money."—Detroit News.

Model Sickness.
The pretty girl had told the artist that she had posed before, and on the strength of that statement she got a job. She hadn't held the pose ten minutes before she turned deadly white and sank to the floor.

"Model sickness," said the experienced artist after she had gone. "I knew she was lying, for the first time always get it. It is as well defined a complaint as seasickness and has to be treated the same way. It is a form of nausea and is caused as much by the nervous strain the new model is always under as by the unusual experience of standing in one position. I have had big, strong men, even negroes, go the same way. It is something every artist has to make allowances for, and only practice can cure it, although I know old models who still suffer from it, especially if they are in an awkward pose."—Exchange.

Some Words Beginning With H.
Most persons aspire the initial letter of "humble" nowadays and write "a humble" just as they write "a humbug" or "a humming bird." But there are very many who would not naturally sound an h in "humble," or in "herb," "hospital," "homage," or even "humor." Before the nineteenth century nobody did, though it is clear that the aspirate had become regular by "David Copperfield's" time, from the fact that Dickens harps on Uriah Heap's "humble." The insistence on the h is comparatively modern; mediaeval men not only said "abit" for "habit," but wrote it so and the Bible has "an Hebrew."

Literally Translated.
On visiting Ireland the great traveler Livingstone was much feted. In Dublin at a dinner party he happened to be placed next to a literary lady who was a very stout woman. She worried him greatly about the language of the savage cannibals among whom he had managed to live and wanted to know the sound of their language. He spoke a sentence of it to satisfy her, and she answered, "Being translated, what does that mean?" "It means," he replied, "there is great cutting on you."

Geese From Shellfish.
Everybody in the whole civilized world between the eleventh and the seventeenth centuries believed that the "barnacle goose" hatched from that species of shellfish called the barnacle. The story was first told by Cambrensis and was devoutly believed by all Christendom for more than half a thousand years. A well known scientific writer, reviewing the opinions of Cambrensis, says: "According to our venerable authority, the barnacle goose is generated from logs of wood allowed to decompose in the water. When decomposition has fairly begun, small bumps on the log may be observed. Little by little these increase in size, and finally assume the form and shape of a mass of barnacles, which is well known as a kind of shellfish. Soon after the shell, or husk, bursts open and a full grown goose may be seen in the water clinging to the log only by its bill. A few days longer it continues to draw its nourishment from the log, then breaks away in the form of a perfect goose, exercising all the functions of its kind."

Antidote Them All.
Aunt Panthea Brooks lived in a little New Hampshire village very many years without quarrelling with any one, and was so thoroughly liked by every one for miles round that her popularity excited the interest of a summer visitor.

"Aunt Panthea," he asked, "how is it that you keep on such good terms with every one, while they are all quarrelling among themselves?"

"Well," said Aunt Panthea, "being as you aren't to stay here long I'll tell you. When I go down the street I meet Jason Purdy, and he says, 'Why, Panthea, how well you look?'"

"I'm glad you think so, Jason," I say, smiling at him.

"Next minute up comes Ezra Dracut. 'Well, now, Panthea,' he says, 'how poorly you are looking this year?'"

"My land, Ezra," I say, 'how quick you are to notice those things?'"

"So it is with everything. Those who like to think one way, I let 'em think it, and those who like to think the other, I let 'em think it."

Who can deny that Aunt Panthea had discovered a comfortable philosophy of life?—Youth's Companion.

Lacoste.

As Napoleon was one day passing in review some of his troops he came in front of an old and faithful officer, who, perhaps from want of brilliancy on the man's part, had never been advanced beyond the grade of captain, though he was well enough known to the emperor. The emperor was passing at a slow trot. As he came directly in front of the old captain the officer saluted and said loudly, but without any apparent movement of the muscles of his face:

"Fifteen campaigns, private, captain!"

And the emperor, without turning his head or slackening his pace, said: "Colonel, brigadier, baron?"

Then he was gone. There had, indeed, been no time for a word more than had been passed, but these had sufficed for the captain to communicate a long story and a reproachful complaint and for the emperor to set matters right with a military and social promotion.

A Wise Father.

When Sherman Hoar, a lawyer of recognized ability, left the law school and opened an office in Boston, his father, Judge Hoar, was at the height of his legal reputation. The young man's first client was an Irishman, and the case, though only some small matter of a boundary line, was one that required the examination of a number of deeds and records. Mr. Hoar accordingly told his client to come back in two days for his opinion. The Irishman left the office, evidently very reluctant at the delay. Turning at the door, he asked, "Couldn't ye give me the answer tomorrow, Misther Hoar?"

"No, no," was the reply; "come on Thursday."

The client went as far as the stairs. Then he turned and tiptoed back to the door and put his head inside, with a finger at his lips.

"Whist!" he whispered. "Couldn't ye get to see your father tonight, Misther Hoar?"—Boston Herald.

Can Animals Blush?

It is hard to tell whether animals blush, for their faces are covered so thickly with fur or hair or feathers that we do not know what may be going on beneath. Were they as bare-faced as man it is more than likely we should see them blush, especially the more bashful sort and those with some sense of shame. It is a fact that the faces of vultures flush, and several of the monkeys become purple with rage, which may be considered as a kind of blushing. This may be proved any day in the monkey house in the London zoological gardens, where the baboons seem to fly into a passion on the smallest provocation.—London Mail.

For a Change.

"You don't mean to tell me that you have named your baby 'Ananias?'"

"Yessuh," answered Uncle Ben. "Dat's his name."

"But Ananias was the most untruthful man in history."

Origin of Alcohol.

A scientist says that when people were cave dwellers their diet consisted entirely of roots and fruits and that it is not unnatural to suppose that the food was often stored away. In course of time the fruit fermented, the sugar in it was turned into pure alcohol and the cave dwellers drank it and got to like it. This was the beginning of the use of alcohol.

Medical.

A young doctor said to a girl: "Do you know, my dear, I have a heart affection for you?"

"Have you had it long?" she coyly required.

"Oh, yes. I feel I will liver troubled life without you," he responded. "Then you had better asthma," she softly murmured.

A Word With a Strange History.

"Treachle," or molasses, is a word with an interesting history. The earliest "treachle" was an antidote against the viper's bite and probably was made of viper's flesh itself. It is a word with a strange history, descending from the Greek "ther," a wild beast, whence came the adjective "thariakos," pertaining to a wild beast, which was eventually specialized to mean serving as an antidote against a wild beast's bite. In English "treachle" then came to mean anything soothing or comforting. Chaucer even speaks of Christ as "treachle of all harm." And, as so many soothing remedies were sirups, "treachle" at length meant simply sirups of various kinds.

BURGULARS IDENTIFIED.

Detective Bradley, Of Baltimore, Says He Knows Two Of Them—Their Hearing Put Off.

The authorities, both of Wicomico County and of Baltimore, have been endeavoring all the past week to fix the identity of the five burglars who were arrested here Friday—four of them being in jail and the fifth at the hospital recovering from his injury received when the safe at the B. C. & A. Ry. passenger station was blown open early that morning. Inspector Maxwell, of the Postoffice department, spent most of the week here and had been conducting the investigation as to who the prisoners really are. He was reinforced on Monday by Detective Peter Bradley, of the Baltimore police force. Photographs of the four prisoners in jail were taken on Wednesday. The hearing of the prisoners before Police Justice W. A. Trader, which was set for Monday was indefinitely postponed. No date has yet been fixed but it is thought it will be held early next week. Ellegood, Freney and Wailes will probably appear to defend the prisoners.

The wounded man is getting better. He was in a bad way on Monday and it was reported several times that he was dead. It is now thought he will recover. He gave his name as James Avery. The fourth prisoner captured by Deputy Sheriff Waller gave his name as Frank Matthews. Detective Bradley says the other three men are Frank Smith, John Pennell and James Hawkins.

Detective Bradley returned to Baltimore Thursday. He stated to a Baltimore Herald reporter that he had, without doubt, established the identity of two of the yegmen. Bradley, it is stated, is the best informed man in the Baltimore police department on yegmen affairs. He was sent to Salisbury by request of Inspector Maxwell, who believed the five men were none other than those who have been operating all along the eastern coast. A number of postoffice robberies have occurred during the past several months and Inspector Maxwell believed that the men who attempted the robbery at the station at Salisbury are the same who are responsible for these robberies.

The report of Bradley's investigation in the Herald continues as follows:

Frank Smith, one of the yegs who has operated in Baltimore city on numerous occasions, and whose photograph adorns the rogue's gallery, was the first man brought before Detective Bradley in Salisbury. The detective was writing at the time the man was brought in and did not glance up as Smith was ushered into the room.

"What is your name?" asked Bradley of the prisoner.

Smith started and glanced intently at the detective's face for a few moments and then a smile gradually overspread his face.

"Oh, it's alright, Mr. Bradley, I know you know me, but they have got me wrong this time."

Bradley immediately recognized the man as one of a gang which operated in Baltimore last fall, and was arrested and charged with larceny of goods from the cars of the Pennsylvania railroad valued at $1,000 or more.

"What are you doing down this way, Smith?" asked the detective, smiling. "I came down here to pick berries," replied the man, sheepishly. The next man brought out was one of the three men who ran when captured at Laurel. He had refused to say a word since his incarceration and persisted in acting in a surly manner. When he was brought into the room he did not raise his head, and remained stolid and surly while the sheriff ordered him to give his full name. He said that his name was Robert Taylor and that he lived at Richmond, Va.

"That is not your name, it is Pennell," quietly remarked Bradley.

The prisoner went pale and glared at the detective in a curious manner, then strode forward and extended his hand, remarking at the same time that he was caught with the goods on him.

"I know that I am done now," he remarked to Bradley. "When I heard your voice it sounded like a voice from the dead."

When arrested in Baltimore last fall with Smith, "Taylor" gave his name as John Pennell and said that he lived at 617 Vine street, Philadelphia. The men, when tried before Magistrate Grannan, admitted having stolen goods from the cars, and informed the police where they had disposed of the things. Those who had purchased the stolen articles were subsequently arrested and Smith and Pennell, it is alleged, turned state's evidence. The case against them was settled January 31 of this year.

James Hawkins and Frank Matthews, who were arrested with Smith and "Taylor," are also thought to have operated in Baltimore.

Photographs of them bear striking likeness to two men whose pictures are in the rogue's gallery. Lieutenant Cole, when the photograph of Matthews was shown him, remarked at once that he knew the man and declared that he believed he had been locked up at the Central Police Station.

As yet, however, no one has been found who can identify the picture. The picture of Hawkins also bears a likeness to a notorious crook whose picture is held by the police. It is thought that all four men will in time be identified as men who have done jobs in Baltimore city.

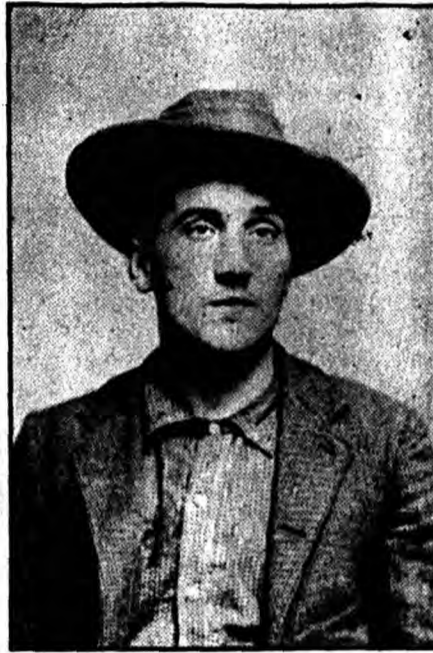

"All of the prisoners stoutly deny having been connected with the attempted robbery at Salisbury and say that they were in the vicinity hunting jobs," said Detective Bradley.

"When the four prisoners were brought before me I had them stripped to the waist

GAS CO. TO BEGIN WORK.

Contractor Expected To Start Laying Pipes Today (Saturday)—Will Finish In Time.

The contractor for the Salisbury Gas Co. was expected to arrive here today, Saturday, and begin laying the pipes on Main, Dock and Division streets at once. The local members of the board of directors were notified of this fact on Thursday and that a meeting of the directors to complete plans for pushing forward the installation of the entire plant would be held in Salisbury Friday afternoon. The pipe for the streets above mentioned was shipped from Philadelphia on Thursday.

It was stated that a large force of men who would be brought here by the contractor would be put at work on the three streets that are required by the company's contract with the town to be laid by June 1st, and that there was no doubt this would be accomplished within the time limit. In fact it was said that the pipes would be laid down within three days from the time ground was broken. No application has been made by the company to the City Council for an extension of time and, it is understood, none will be made unless some unforeseen accident prevents the carrying out of the plans as arranged.

Democratic Congressional Conventions.

The Democratic State Central Committee met in Baltimore on Tuesday and selected dates for the several congressional convention with the exception of the Third and Fourth districts, both of which are in Baltimore city. This, under the primary law, must be held the same day as those of the Republicans and the date will be named later. Resolutions were also adopted at the meeting regretting the serious illness of United States Senator Arthur Pue Gorman.

The dates selected were as follows, all the conventions to assemble at 12 o'clock, noon, on the day named:

First Congressional district, at Ocean City, on July 12.
Second Congressional district, at Westminster, on June 27.
Fifth Congressional district, at Cross Street Hall, on September 6.
Sixth Congressional district, at Hagerstown on September 20.

and their clothes examined. The lining of the coat sleeves was missing. In going over the ground I found the lining of four sleeves under a tree in the woods in which the men had stopped when they carried their wounded comrade away with them.

"The cloth was saturated with blood and had evidently been pulled out of the sleeves for the purpose of dressing the wound. When I confronted the men with this evidence they merely hung their heads and refused to make any reply to the accusation that the lining fitted the sleeves of their coats."

ADVANCE IN INSURANCE.

Fire Companies Put Up Rates On And After May 25—Will Amount To From 10 To 25 Per Cent.

The local fire insurance agencies received notice the first of this week that on and after May 25th (Friday) the rates would be advanced on a large number of risks in this territory, the increase amounting to from 10 to 25 per cent. The increase takes effect on all new policies and renewals.

The increase is made by the Underwriter Association and covers the entire country. It includes all the old-line companies doing business in the United States. It is presumed that the higher rates are charged on account of the recent heavy losses of the companies at San Francisco, and of other large losses. In some sections of the country the advance is much heavier than in this territory and the Eastern Shore of Maryland gets off with comparatively a slight raise.

From the list of different risks that have been advanced 25 per cent in this territory, the following are about the only ones that will interest the people of this county:

Basket Works; Barrel Works; Box Factories; Brick Works; Fertilizer Works; Kindling Wood Factories; Laundries; Poultry and Pigeon Farms; Slave Works.

The 10 per cent advance practically covers the business section of Salisbury and means all classes of risk of this character other than those enumerated above. This 10 per cent increase includes brick and frame stores, stocks of goods of all description, offices and contents, small manufactures and contents, and so forth. The only exception is in dwellings, household furniture and private stables. These are not advanced over the present rates.

Among the special hazards that are not advanced in this territory are cannery factories and their contents and lumber yards.

The increased rates will mean a considerable burden to the business people of the country, but the companies state that the situation demand that it be made. As all the companies except those doing a mutual business have entered into the agreement, there is no way out of paying the higher cost.

TO BE POSTMASTER AGAIN.

Mr. Marlon A. Humphreys' Re-Appointment Sent To The Senate On Monday.

President Roosevelt sent to the Senate on Monday the nomination of Mr. M. A. Humphreys to be reappointed postmaster at Salisbury. The appointment was expected to be promptly confirmed.

Mr. Humphreys has made a good official and was largely endorsed for reappointment both by the business men and Republicans in town. He has increased the facilities of the office and during his administration the office has been run on strictly business lines. He intends to put into effect some improved service during the present year. His many friends in Salisbury congratulate him upon his good fortune in again securing the appointment.

Delmar, Del., High School.

The third annual commencement of the Delmar High School was held in the Opera House, Monday evening. The graduating class consisted of Miss Anna Francis and William Stephens. Prayer was offered by Rev. G. J. Hill of the M. P. Church. The salutatory and an oration on "Character" was delivered by Miss Francis. "The American Boy" was the subject of an oration by Mr. Stephens, who delivered the valedictory.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. John M. Arters, on "Education." The speaker paid a tribute to the "home, the church and the school" as the bulwarks of American institutions.

Superintendent John D. Brook, after a few remarks of a humorous and pleasing character, presented diplomas to the graduates. Closing remarks were made by Prof. Jefferson, principal of the school, and by Elder A. B. Francis and Rev. Z. H. Webster.

Music was furnished by an orchestra of home talent—Mrs. F. E. Lynch on the piano, Miss Helen Lowe and Walter Venables, violin, S. M. Ellis, cornet, and F. H. Robertson, baritone.

The Contestants From Salisbury.

In reporting the Interscholastic contest held in Pocomoke two weeks ago, the Ledger-Enterprise of that town has the following to say in reference to the contestants from Salisbury:

George Reigart Hill, of Salisbury. Manly in bearing, prepossessing in appearance, with quiet force and marked composure of manner, Mr. Hill gave evidence of much oratorical ability, and in a voice that easily filled every corner and crevice of the crowded building, spoke in glowing and eloquent terms of "America Supreme," comparing her with other nations, outlining her glorious history and placing her on the highest pinnacle of power.

With the characteristics of a patriot of which the country might one day be proud, Mr. Hill left the stage amid great applause.

Miss Irma de Lasey Boston, of Salisbury, appeared before the footlights. Her fair face, charming personality and unusually sweet voice won the admiration of the audience and held rapt attention as with delicate art and rare skill she unfolded the pathetic story of "Willie Baird."

The tenderness with which she dwelt upon the love of the schoolmaster for his little pupil, the aptness of expression when referring to the dog and the description of the storm, contributed greatly to effective rendition and she retired amid much applause.

Resolutions Of Respect.

On Thursday May 24—1906. At the meeting of Salisbury Council No. 32, Order of United American Mechanics, the following Resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the great council above on April 7, 1906 to invade the ranks of Salisbury Co. 32, O. U. A. M. and call from our midst our Brother, Thomas Records, therefore be it

Resolved, That by the death of Brother Records our council has lost a useful member, the family a devoted son and the community a highly respected citizen, therefore be it

Resolved, That as we cherish his memory. We commend the sorrowing ones to him who doeth all things well.

Be it Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be inserted on the pages of our Record, a copy be sent to the family also to a county paper.

City Improvement Rules To Observe.

Every citizen is interested in the welfare and beauty of Salisbury, which is already admitted to be the prettiest town on Delaware, Maryland, Virginia peninsula. In order to further improve the appearance of the town, we offer the following suggestions which have been adopted by a western improvement society.

If your store front, residence or fence is dull or dingy, have it painted.

If your awning is old, torn or faded, get a new one.

If your sidewalk, fence or gate needs repairing, fix it.

Destroy young weeds that are starting on your property.

If your advertising sign is old or faded, take it down and paint it.

Resolve never to throw paper in the streets.

Burn all the rubbish possible—allow no one to throw it on the streets, alleys or vacant lots.

Premise not to spit on the sidewalk.

Organized a block improvement society and allow no weeds to grow on sidewalk, area or vacant property in your block.

And here are some facts about what makes streets dirty.

Sweeping the litter of store and offices floors into the street.

Teams with leaking wagon beds.

Smokers who throw cigar and cigarette stubs on pavements.

Peanut shells who throw shells and paper sacks anywhere they please.

The man who reads a letter or circular, tears it up and throws letter and envelope in the street.

Newsboys who remove the wrappers from their bundles and toss them into the gutter.

The man who burns paper on the street and does not remove the ashes.

Refuse dumped into alleys which washes or blows all over town.

Banana and orange skins thrown around regardless of where they drop.

Posters which blow down from buildings and fences.

Grass and weeds removed from gutters and thrown into the street.

Lack of care in keeping gutters in proper drainage condition and washed out.

Pools of water in gutters catching all loose matter.

Whats in McClure's

There is as much important and entertaining reading in McClure's for June as one would expect to find in a volume let alone a single number of a magazine.

The leading story is "Buried Treasure" by Stewart Edward White, which combines romance and reality most suggestively and which goes with a swing reminiscent of Stevenson.

Mr. Ray Stannard Baker contributes the sixth of his series "The Railroads on Trial," telling the astonishing story of how Danville, Virginia, has wavered between prosperity and ruin because of its struggle with the Southern Railway.

Mr. Burton J. Hendrick continues the story of Life-Insurance with a resume of the work of Eliza Wright, the Pioneer, who made the failure of a life-insurance company a mathematical impossibility, and who gave the Equitable, the New York life and the Mutual, the strength to withstand the awful test of the last twelve months.

"Yellow Fever: A Problem Solved," by Samuel Hopkins Adams, is a most engrossing story of last summer's Battle of New Orleans. Mr. Adams tells of the discovery of the mosquito theory and how by its working out last year this country has probably been saved from another great epidemic of yellow fever.

Carl Schurz continues his "Reminiscences of a Long Life," with an account of Paris on the eve of the Second Empire. The second instalment of the Kipling series is even more engrossing than the first.

"On the Great Wall" is the story of how a British-born Roman took a hopeless task from his Emperor and sacrificed his youth to its performance.

The number is remarkably illustrated by such artists as Andre Castaigne, Fredric Dorr Steele, P. V. E. Ivory, E. Dalton Stevens, and George A. Shipley.

In Memoriam.

In loving remembrance of my dear son, Harlev Taylor, who died April 25, 1906.

Our hearts are sad and lonely,
Our grief too sad to tell,
But 'tis God who has bereft us,
Who can all our sorrows heal.

Our home is very lonely,
Since my dear boy has gone,
But still we loved him oh, so well
None but God can tell.

You are not forgotten Harley, dear,
Nor will you ever be;
For as long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

STATE.

The new Delaware league of baseball clubs has been organized to play a three months' season beginning May 30.

The Castle Haven $1200 pig pen has been put in the shade by a more expensive and voluptuous hen house. An engineer is now engaged in putting in a hot water heating apparatus for the Castle Haven fowls.—Cambridge Democrat and News.

The negotiations for the sale of the plant of The Cambridge Gas Company to Philadelphia capitalists, which have been pending for several weeks, has been terminated. The capitalists declined to exercise their option on the ground of the title being defective.

Capt. Andrew Woodall, one of the best-known and wealthiest men of the community, died at Georgetown, Md., on Saturday. Capt. Woodall, who was 87 years old, owned 12,000 acres of land in Kent and Cecil counties and for years was the heaviest shipper of Maryland grain at Baltimore.

The Methodist Episcopal Church at Sharptown, which has been rebuilt at a cost of $3,500, was reopened last Sunday. The first Methodist society was organized in Sharptown in 1805 and worshipped in private houses until 1832, when the first church was built. The society then numbered 30. When the second church was built, in 1876, the society had grown to 125 members and now numbers 220.

Fire destroyed 23 houses at Crisfield last Sunday morning. The portion of the town burned was mostly inhabited by negroes, and the disaster is a great hardship to them. By good work the fire was headed off from Main street. The town's single engine was brought out, but as the tide was low there was not adequate water supply available. The fireman used water from the mains, and with this limited supply saved the town. The loss was about $20,000.

Mr. James Teackle Dennis, of Princess Anne who spent the past winter in Egypt, has had the title of "Bey" conferred on him by the Khedive. This honor was given for various Egyptological researches in which Mr. Dennis participated. He was one of the discoverers of the great Hathor Shrine at Dar el Bahri this year. The title is about equivalent to the English "baronet." Mr. Dennis has also been instrumental in raising large sums of money for researches in Egypt.

The Board of School Commissioners of Somerset county reorganized last Tuesday. Mr. John S. Sudler, of Fairmount, who was reappointed by the Governor recently for a term of six years, having qualified before the Clerk of the Court the same day. Mr. Thos. H. Bock was re-elected president of the Board and Mr. Wm. H. Dashiell was re-elected secretary, treasurer and county superintendent for a term of two years, beginning August 1st. Mr. Lorie C. Quinn, of Crisfield, is the third member of the Board.

A case of small pox was discovered by Dr. Guy Steele about two miles below Cambridge last Friday at the home of John Harris, colored. Martha Temple, colored, was the unfortunate person, and is said to have contracted it in Baltimore. The place was quarantined and every precaution taken to prevent the spread of the disease. The woman is said to be improving. Some consternation among ladies in Cambridge was caused by the discovery of the case owing to the fact that the laundry (from several homes was at the house where the woman was confined).

A board meeting of the Baltimore Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Monday morning to arrange the program for the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the bronze tablet to Lieut. Tench Tilghman. The date of the unveiling has not been fully determined, but it is probable that June 7 will be the time chosen. The tablet will be placed in the old Senate Chamber at Annapolis, and is commemorative of the ride from Yorktown to Philadelphia, which Colonel Tilghman, who was aid-de-camp to General Washington, took to tell the Continental Congress the surrender of Cornwallis.

It is stated that on and after June 12th, the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk R. R. Co., will place on sale at all stations along their route mileage books, containing 500 and 1000 miles at two cents per mile without rebate. These books may be used by the purchaser, or any member of the family, or any employee of said purchaser. The two cent rate for mileage books was a law passed by the last Legislature and the N. Y. P. & N. R. R. Co., is the first company in the state to comply with the new law. Other Railroads in Maryland will probably follow the example of the N. Y. P. & N. R. R. Co., later on, but may first secure an opinion from the Court of Appeals on the legality of the law before doing so.

IT'S YOUR MONEY'S.

Don't Mistake The Cause of Your Troubles—A Salisbury Citizen Shows How To Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary troubles sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Salisbury people testify to permanent cures.

Wm. M. Gordy, carpenter, residing corner of Ann and E. Church Streets says: "I have had backache for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped the trouble. My son also took some of the remedy and received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Mayor Harper, of Salisbury, has notified Miss Carey, Principal of Buckingham High School, of Berlin of his desire to again present a gold medal to the pupil of the graduating class making the highest general average for the year. The Principal, her assistants, the pupils, and the public greatly appreciate the honor Mayor Harper has a second time paid them in presenting to the Berlin School this beautiful medal. Mayor Harper is a member of the well-known firm of jewellers, Harper and Taylor of Salisbury, Md. Each year he gives a medal to the Salisbury School, and last year presented a very handsome one to Berlin. We appreciate being thus favored, and congratulate the pupil who is so fortunate as to be the recipient of this reward for their labors.—Berlin Advance.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Attorney General Bryan has notified the comptroller that no provision was made in the bill creating the shellfish commission for any expenses incurred up to October, 1906, other than the salaries of the members of the commission. The failure to provide for aught else is due to carelessness in framing the bill. But for indirect reference to the salaries, which makes the provision by implication, none of the funds appropriated would be available. Notwithstanding the oversight the work of the commission need not be interfered with, as the next Legislature will undoubtedly make good the money expended. The amount can readily be borrowed from any institution, it being apparently the intent of the Legislature to carry out the provision of the law without delay.

Graft in The Pennsylvania Railroad.

There has been talk for years in railroad circles of the graft there was among the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Inter-State Commerce Commission inquiry is bringing much of it as it exists to light. It is not a pleasing spectacle. It is to be hoped that the whole thing will be dragged out and exposed. It should result greatly to the benefit of the stockholders and to the road's customers.

The graft in high places, together with watered stock, is one cause of the heavy cost to consumers and producers, of railroad freight rates and of travel. If these are cut out, rates should be lower. The time is past in this country for railroads to be run as a private corporation, to squeeze out of the shipper all the traffic will bear. A railroad is a semi-public institution and it must be operated as such. The sooner the railroads find this out the better it will be for them.

Democrats Disappointed.

The Democratic press is making a great fuss over President Roosevelt's alleged "flop" on the Railroad Rate Bill, but we notice that all of the Democratic Senators with the exception of two voted for the bill when it was finally passed by that body. Senator Foraker, of Ohio, was the only Republican to vote against it. The total vote was 71 to 3.

The truth of the matter is that, the bill having been placed in the hands of Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, the Democrats hoped to reap party advantage from the situation. President Roosevelt and Senator Allison spoiled their game. The Democrats have been claiming Roosevelt praises on his head, notwithstanding their nasty fight against him during his campaign. Now they take the other tack, because President Roosevelt remains a Republican in spite of them. He is a shrewd politician; too smart for Tillman, Bailey, Sharp Williams and the whole Democratic contingent.

But few people will pay much attention to Democratic criticism of the Republican administration. The country moreover will not hesitate when it comes to an election. The Democrats in Congress have been out maneuvered and are squealing. That's all there is to it.

Peninsula Produce Exchange Meeting

The Peninsula Produce Exchange will hold a meeting in the Salisbury, Court room Saturday afternoon June 2d, at 4:30 o'clock. Matters of interest to the stockholders and to produce growers will be discussed. The methods which are responsible for the remarkable success of the Virginia Exchange, will be explained in detail by a gentleman familiar with that association.

The Peninsula Produce Exchange paid 7 per cent dividend last year to its stockholders and hope to increase their business this year.

GOV. JACKSON'S PLANS.

The Baltimore Sun on Thursday prints its view of his position in politics.

The Baltimore Sun on Thursday printed an extremely interesting article on state politics, in which it has the following to say in reference to Ex-Governor E. E. Jackson's plans: Ex-Governor Elihu E. Jackson, the veteran Democrat of Wicomico county, who is looked upon in many quarters as likely to be the next Democratic candidate for Governor, it is said will leave the State for a trip abroad early in July. It is understood that Mr. Jackson will sail about July 3 and expects to be gone more than three months. This would not bring the ex-Governor back to Maryland before October or the last part of September, and is taken to mean that he does not propose to take any active interest in the Congressional fight in the First district next fall between his brother, former Congressman William H. Jackson, who will be the Republican candidate, and Congressman Thomas A. Smith, who will undoubtedly be renominated by the Democrats.

Since the mention of his name in connection with the next gubernatorial nomination, ex-Governor Jackson has stated to friends in this city that had the Congressional nomination two years ago come to him in the right way he would have felt under obligations to accept it and would have made the fight. Had the party in the district made an unanimous call upon him, uninspired by sinister motives, he would have felt that he was not at liberty to refuse, as he had received high honors at the hands of the Democrats of his district and the State.

He said that he felt the same way in reference to the gubernatorial nomination. He would not say that he is not a candidate for the nomination and admitted that under certain conditions he would accept and make the fight for Governor. These conditions, he intimated, include a unanimous nomination and a lack of opposition in the convention that will convince him that he is his party's choice for the office. Under these conditions he would certainly be a candidate, but if in order to secure the nomination it is necessary to enter into a primary fight or a scramble he will keep out of it. This is the way the ex-Governor has expressed himself privately on the subject and this, it is believed, accurately represents his position.

In the light of experience the answer to the above question must be yes. Adversity has never come to the people of the United States except following a reduction of the Tariff. We were prosperous at the close of the war of 1812. We lowered the Tariff in 1816 and adversity followed. We were prosperous under the Protection of the Tariffs of 1824 and 1828. We lowered the Tariff and adversity followed.

We became prosperous again under the Protective Tariff of 1842, but adversity came in larger chunks under the reductions of 1846 in spite of many favorable conditions, and the further reductions of 1857 wrought panic and bankruptcy. We were prosperous after the war under the Protective Morrill Tariff till 1873, when adversity followed the reductions of 1872, even though they were slight. A restoration of higher duties brought prosperity again, which continued till 1884, when a depression followed the reduction of duties by the compromise Tariff. We recovered, however, and with the still more Protective duties of the McKinley law we became more prosperous than ever before in our history. Then came adversity again with the Free-Trade Wilson-German Tariff. Happily it was repealed after three years and replaced by the most perfect and equitable Tariff law we have ever had. Under the operations of this law we have for nine years had unprecedented prosperity, and there is no sign of that prosperity waning. We may well assume, in the light of experience, that it will continue in increasing volume so long as we keep in operation our present Tariff.

If we revise it which means reduce it, then adversity is as sure to follow as the night the day. Such a result has been the consequence always for a century and it always will be.

The cause and effects have always been similar. Idleness must follow when home production is displaced by foreign products. There must also be lower wages for those fortunate enough to have work. Low wages and no wages mean adversity for all. Its an open, simple, little problem, and it is easy of solution. There is but one result. The equations always have been and always will be.

Protection—prosperity.
Free-Trade—adversity.

Jackson vs. Smith.

No decision in the Jackson-Smith election contest has yet been made public by the committee having the matter in charge, nor is there likely to be at the present session. The indications are that it is the purpose to let Mr. Jackson fight it out with his competitor again at the polls this fall. This action we do not hesitate to condemn as cowardly. The elections committee of the House should have made report long before this, whether favorable or not to the contestant. They have all the testimony and facts in the case before them, and after hearing something about Maryland crooked election laws, together with Alonzo Miles' admission that those laws were made for partisan advantage, they are still unable to reach just conclusions, the inference is that they lack the courage of what must be their true convictions.

As to candidates in the coming contest we presume the republican managers will insist upon Mr. Jackson entering the race again. If he consents we will credit him with a larger share of patience than most men, since the days of Job, possess. He has not received proper treatment from his party, and under the circumstances would be justified, so far as he is concerned, in letting the First Maryland district take care of itself without his aid. —Dorchester, Md.

ON! FOR A LITTLE RAIN.

Good Strawberries Are Bringing High Prices in All The Cities—A Light Crop Going In.

"Oh! for a little rain," is the cry of the strawberry grower. The crop is being out short and many berries are going into market too small to command the high prices that prevail for good fruit. Berries of fine size, color and flavor are selling without trouble anywhere for from 10 to 18 cents. Small berries are selling from 7 to 8 cents. A drenching downpour of rain within the next few days would therefore mean thousands of dollars to the farmers in this vicinity.

The Gandy strawberries will not begin to go into market in any quantity until the middle of next week. Rain between now and then would save them and probably increase the crop one-quarter. The improvement in their quality would almost double their value.

All this week shipments have been light. Though it is the height of the season on the Crisfield branch of the N. Y. P. & N. R. R., not more than 25 carloads per day are going North from this road. On the B. C. & A. Ry. not more than 5 to 6 cars per day are being shipped. The early berries have been cut short by the drought.

In upper Eastern Shore counties and down in Anne Arundel, on the Western Shore, it is worse. It is reported that there is not more than one-third of a crop in Anne Arundel; and in Caroline, it is stated, Davis, the "strawberry King," is plowing up his patches. The vines, even, have died.

On Thursday and Friday telegrams from the Northern markets all told the same story. "Market strong, ship heavy, good fruit wanted," they said. In New York, the quotations were, small stock, 7 to 8, large berries 10 to 12. Boston quotations were 11 to 18, according to grade, with prospect good. Philadelphia reported 8 to 11; Newark, N. J., 6 to 9, for small stock; Chester, Pa., 9 to 13; Providence, R. I., 11 to 17, with not enough berries arriving to supply the demand.

Norfolk, Va., was entirely through shipping berries by the middle of the week and if the skies only smile on the peninsula growers during the next week or ten days they will reap the richest kind of a reward. Their cry is therefore: "Oh, for a little rain."

CONFER OVER THE PLUMS.

Mudd, Jackson And Wachter See Bonaparte—It Is Believed The Federal Offices Have Now Been Filled.

The most important conference on the Maryland patronage question that has yet been held took place Thursday afternoon at Secretary Bonaparte's office in Washington. There were present, besides the Secretary, Representative Mudd and Wachter and Jackson. These gentlemen were together for less than half an hour, and the brevity of the meeting was taken as an indication that there was general harmony. On leaving the Navy Department the three Maryland politicians drove to the office of Secretary Shaw and remained with him for some time. All the parties to these conferences were mum as to what had been accomplished, but there are grounds for believing that considerable progress has been made toward a satisfactory solution of the matter.

The understanding is that appointment to the offices of Naval Office, United States Marshal, Assistant United States Treasurer and Appraiser at Baltimore were discussed. It has been known for a long time that Mr. Wachter favors the retention of Judge Langhammer in the Marshalship, and wants Gen. J. Stuart MacDonald named for the Naval Office.

That A. Lincoln Dryden and C. Ross Mace, Sub-Treasurer and Appraiser, respectively, are almost certain to go out, was stated recently, but it is not so certain who will succeed them in that event. Mr. Mudd maintained a sphinx like silence as to his wishes, but it is assumed that whatever they may happen to be, they are identical with Mr. Jackson's. Gossip has it that he has under consideration the names of James B. Belt, of Prince George's county and J. Carlisle Wilmer, of Charles county.

Sub-Treasurer Dryden went to Washington Wednesday night and saw Messrs. Jackson and Mudd at the Arlington. L. E. P. Dennis of Somerset county was also present. Mr. Dryden was frankly informed that under certain conditions he might expect a fight to be made for his place.

Death of Mrs. George S. Grier.

Mrs. George S. Grier, aged 67 years, of Milford, mother of Messrs. R. D. and F. A. Grier, of this town, died at her home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Her husband and ten other children also survive. They were all present at her bedside when she died, her sons from Salisbury arriving before she passed away.

Mrs. Grier was one of the best known women in the state of Delaware and her funeral on Wednesday was one of the largest ever held at Milford. The floral offerings were very beautiful and many were sent from a long distance. Her friends were not only among the higher ranks of society, but among the poor and lowly, as she was noted throughout lower Delaware for her kindness and charity. A great many poor people were recipients of her philanthropy and the grief of her humble friends was touching. Mrs. Grier was for many years President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union for the State of Delaware and took a deep interest in this cause.

At her funeral her eight sons acted as pallbearers. She was laid to rest at Barrett's Chapel, at Frederica, the oldest Methodist Church in Delaware, Rev. Dr. T. E. Martin, of Salisbury, who is a particular friend of the family, assisted at the services.

Mrs. Grier's death, coming as it did such a short time after the death of her oldest stepson, Mr. William A. Grier, was a sad blow to her family. They have the deepest sympathy of their large circle of friends and acquaintances.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking Association

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $14,500.00, makes loans secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower, and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1887.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to act as part of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Open an account with us, no harm can possibly result.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 27.

Text of the Lesson, Mark vi, 30-44. Memory Verse, 41—Golden Text, John vi, 32—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1906, by American Press Association.) When John was beheaded his disciples came and took up the body and buried it and went and told Jesus. (Matt. xiv, 12). It is to me a great comfort that we can only bury the body, never the person. John went right from prison to the presence of God, for absent from the body means present with the Lord. To die is gain (II Cor. v, 8; Phil. i, 21, 23), and the devil's wrath proved to be for John's very far better.

Our lesson today opens with the statement that the apostles, returning from their mission (Matt. x, 5-8), gathered together unto Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught. This way of telling Jesus everything, all sorrows and all joys, all words and all deeds, is the secret of all true rest and happiness. He sent them forth; He received them back; He gave them the words and the works. How fitting that they should tell Him what His words and works had accomplished before their eyes. This ought to be our way always (Phil. iv, 6).

No leisure to eat, many coming and going. He feels for them and says, "Come away where there are no people and rest awhile." It was such a short rest, just a few hours alone with Him in the boat, and then again the crowds, who, seeing them depart, had run on foot faster than the boat and were waiting for Him when He landed. We are not told how the apostles felt about it, but, judging from what they said later, "Send them away" (verse 36), we may imagine that they thought it somewhat of an imposition and a trial that they could not have a few days' rest. Jesus, the good Shepherd, felt for the shepherdless multitude, was moved with compassion toward them, taught them, spake to them of the kingdom of God and healed them that had need of healing (verse 34; Luke ix, 11). We learn from John vi, 4, that it was Passover time, and perhaps the people were gathering for the journey to Jerusalem. He taught them until the day was far spent, and then, in reply to the apostles' request to send them away, He said, "Give ye them to eat." It has been said that this miracle, which is the only one recorded by the four evangelists, brings before us most suggestively the worldwide multitudes who have no bread of life, and to all believers who are so inclined to act on the "send them away" principle the Master is ever saying, "Give ye them to eat." Instead of considering Him and His power and His resources who gives the command, we are prone to do as Philip and Andrew did (John vi, 5-9) and consider what we might do if we had enough money or else look at what is within our reach and say, "It is no use to think of it; it cannot be done." We are so slow to learn the lesson of unshod feet which the Lord taught to Moses and Joshua (Ex. xii, 5; Josh. v, 15), seeking to impress upon them and upon us through them that the affair all through is His, not ours. All the power and all the resources are His, and He is able to see to all His work.

When He asked Philip on this occasion how they would feed this multitude, it was to prove Philip, for He Himself knew what He would do (John vi, 6), and if we are ever called upon to face seeming impossibilities let us remember that He is only proving us, for He always knows just what He will do and how and when, and it becomes us to dwell in peace with the King, for His work (I Chron. iv, 23). In Zech. iv we are taught neither to fear mountains nor to despise the day of small things, but to remember that the work of the Lord is not accomplished by might or power of man, but by the Spirit of the Lord (verses 6-10). The Lord could have fed these 5,000 as He fed Israel in the wilderness and just rained some manna of heaven upon them or caused it to be on the ground all about them. But He generally uses some human instrumentality, and now He takes what is at hand, and as in the case of the widow's meat and oil at Sarepta or that other widow's pot of oil, He multiplies it. He says concerning the lad's loaves and fishes, "Bring them hither to me" (Matt. xiv, 18), as He said later concerning the boy the disciples could not heal, "Bring him hither to me" (Matt. xvii, 17). Himself, His hands, His power, this is all our need. Apart from Him we are nothing and can do nothing. With the loaves and fishes in His hands He looked up to heaven, acknowledging His Father who had sent Him, for He had said, "I can of mine own self do nothing" (John v, 30). Then, blessing the food, He passed it to the multitudes by the disciples, and all were filled. How great must have been the surprise of Philip and Andrew and the others, and doubtless they felt that they did not know their Lord.

To know Him is to cease from ourselves and from our efforts and our wisdom and just yield to Him with unbounded confidence and let Him work, for He is the same Lord who wrought in Gen. i and it and who wrought all the mighty works on behalf of Israel. In all times of difficulty or perplexity let us repeat from the heart Jer. xxxii, 17, and look to Him who has all power.

The Kiss Carnegic.

"Compared to Mr. Carnegie's kiss," she said, "Hobson's was a mere peck on the lips. Mr. Carnegie understands the philosophy of kissing. He takes his time to it, and his kiss lingers; it thrills."—New York Sun.

He hates to keep his wealth, they say. He dotes upon donation. And with each book he gives away He adds an osculation. The ringing, clinging, stinging kind Of wholesale osculation.

To every town he gives a school. A church to every city. And, rather than be harsh or "cross" To ladies young and pretty, A whacking, cracking, smacking kiss He gives 'em—when they're pretty.

When children to his doorstep come They do not ask for candy. But, rather, cry, "Oh, give us some Scotch kisses, Uncle Andy! The wholesome kind, the soul-some kind Of sweetmeat, Uncle Andy!"

In Andrew's soft salutes you feel That he's a willing spender. How strange that one can deal in steel Yet be so very tender! Each goosey, cooey, cooey kiss, It is so very tender.

But, should all millionaires persist In kissing of the bonnie, Who will enthrone on being kissed By dear old Uncle Johnny? The only, colly standard goods Dispensed by Uncle Johnny?

But, girls, be kind and never mind. Though John is not aesthetic. Think of his wealth and go it blind. For even he's magnetic. Ah, such is fame—in a kissing game All magnates are magnetic.

Have you heart trouble? You have, if you find it hard to breathe after walking up stairs, exercising, etc. If you have pain in your left side, in chest, back or shoulder. If you suffer from cold extremities, pale face, blue lips, dry cough, swollen ankles.

If you have fainting spells, breast pang, palpitation, redness of the face, discomfort in sleeping on one side. The only scientific treatment for this whole train of troubles is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the prescription of a famous specialist, whose great success in treating obstinate nervous heart disease has made his name pre-eminent in the medical and scientific world.

The medicine will cure you. We know it. We want you to prove it. If first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will give you back your money.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. Why He Knew About the Apples.

Not long ago a man was about to purchase a barrel of apples at the establishment of a produce dealer. They appeared to be especially fine ones, but an old farmer standing near whispered to him to look in the middle of the barrel. This the would be purchaser did, to find that with the exception of a layer at each end the apples were small and inferior.

"I'm much obliged," he said, turning to the old farmer.

"I've got some nice ones on my wagon I jest brought in," the old fellow ventured, diffidently.

"I'll take a barrel from you, then," the man said, paying him the price and giving his address for their delivery.

"Say," a bystander asked, as the purchaser walked away, "how did you know those apples in the center of the barrel were no good?"

A twinkle came into the old codger's eye.

"Oh, that was one of my bar's," he said.—Sturm's Statehood Magazine.

HENRY WITTEKIND.

An Eye For an Eye.

A young lady friend of our acquaintance has recently received a shock. Among her extensive male acquaintances there is a blue eyed youth. He goes much into society and is a hot favorite among the clever sex because of his eyes. Alack! One of them is glass. But there is no need, as he says, for every one to know that, and, really, it seems so much the counterpart of the other that not one in a hundred would detect it. On this occasion he escorted the young lady in question to a refreshment room. As they were taking tea and coffee he looked unutterable things at her, when all of a sudden she gave vent to a startled exclamation. Her eyes fixed on his with a mysterious intensity and horror. A fly had settled in the center of his glass eye and remained there, he, of course, unconscious of its presence. The sight of that eye looking at her with a fly on it and the owner making no attempt to brush it off, was too much for his companion. It overpowered her, and she shudders when she recalls the circumstance.—London Answers.

The Queer Chameleon.

There is nothing in the world will induce a chameleon to take even the slightest apparent interest in its surroundings unless it be the sight of what it considers a toothsome insect. The chameleon's method of taking its prey is very curious, being effected by shooting out an enormously long, wormlike tongue, the end of which is clubbed and covered with a viscid secretion, to which the insects stick and are thus drawn into its mouth. The actual projection of the tongue is made with marvelous rapidity. The eyes of the chameleon are very curious. They are very large, but, with the exception of a small opening in the center, are covered with skin. They are also entirely independent of each other, with the result that occasionally the creature is looking forward over its nose with one eye, while with the other it is intently watching something directly behind it.

Why They Left.

A comedian appeared in a four act comedy in a western mining town, according to the Buffalo Commercial. At the end of the third act the miners rose in a body, gathered up their belongings and started to depart. The comedian, in dismay, rushed before the curtain. "Gentlemen," he said, "there is another act yet." "Yes; that's why we are going," said the miners.

A Bit of English Humor.

An English humorist many years ago hit upon a neat way of scoring against certain politicians of the times. A comic journal, not being a newspaper within the meaning of the act, was prohibited from giving news, and so in place of a parliamentary report the humorist is questioned reported a few "first lines" from speeches by prominent members: "Sir Charles Wetherell said he was not sensible." "Mr. Hunt was entirely ignorant." "Lord Ashley said he should take the earliest opportunity of moving." "Mr. Percival presented a petition praying." "Colonel Sibthorpe never could understand." "Lord Lyndhurst said he must entreat of every one to give him credit." "Sir Edward Sugden was not one of those who thought." "Mr. Croker said he had the fullest assurance."

Glass Worth More Than Gold.

When is glass worth more than gold? When it is the lens of a microscope. The record increase in value of the manufactured article over the raw material is probably made by this variety of glass which multiplies itself 50,000,000 times. The front lens of a microscope costing about $5 weighs no more than about .0017 of a gram; hence the value of such lenses to the weight of a kilogram would be about $3,000,000. The cost of making this weight of glass is 3 to 6 cents, and thus when worked up into the shape of a lens the glass has increased in value about 50,000,000.—Chicago Tribune.

Woman's Rights in Burma.

The Burmese woman must make an excellent wife. A Singapore paper says that her highest ambition is to maintain her husband in lordly idleness and to supply him with abundant funds for cockfighting, bullock cart racing and gambling. And many of the Burmese women do big deals in timber, buying up in advance the "paddy" crops of a whole district, and so on, on a scale that requires big financing.

"Talking" in England.

English people are not only the worst talkers in the world, but they have, in addition, a natural suspicion of any one who can string half a dozen sentences together without stammering—in fact, to have any degree of fluency of speech lays a man open at once to the charge of not being "sound," while a woman who can talk at all inspires universal terror.—Ladies' Field.

Everybody's Nightmare For 1906

How did it feel to live through the San Francisco earthquake and fire—to watch men die, and buildings shrivel in the flames? James Hopper, the brilliant short-story writer, tells the story in the June Everybody's. You should read it. It is the one sensitively realized, accurately truthful, powerfully phrased description of the great catastrophe that has been published. It is the human side of the disaster that Mr. Hopper tells, and he tells at first hand. His story will live in literature. Everybody's also publishes the latest pictures of the destroyed city, sketched a few days before the earthquake by Vernon Howe Bailey, whose series of drawings of American cities have aroused so much admiration.

Bucket-shops are one of our greatest national evils. Merrill A. Teague, who has made a special personal investigation of this matter, begins in this number a series of stirring revelations under the heading "Bucket-shop Sharks." Thousands of honest, hard-working men are yearly preyed upon, robbed of their earnings, plunged into tragedy. Mr. Teague makes it plain that bucket-shops must be done away with, and Everybody's has taken the first step.

Still another strong appeal to the human heart is made in this installment of Charles Edward Russell's important narrative, "Soldiers of the Common Good." After reading what Mr. Russell has to say about the present situation in India, the famines, the character of British rule, the horrors of the caste system, you will perhaps conclude that these chapters form one of the strongest arguments for pure democracy that could be presented.

Many people do not realize that a constant "Campaign against Consumption" is being maintained all over the country. Eugene Wood, whose articles in Everybody's two years ago instigated the war against the "Great White Plague," tells in this issue what progress the campaign is making. Thomas W. Lawson continues his sledge-hammer attacks upon dishonesty and corruption in his eminently readable article, "Punch and Judging the United States Court." If you do not realize the change in the legal position of women in the past fifty years, read "Women First," by H. Gerald Chapin; it is full of important facts.

In its June fiction Everybody's keeps up to its own admirable standard. "Hrdlika" is a brilliant story of the coal-mines, by Maximilian Foster, that is sure to be widely read. A thoroughly good horse story is Edwin L. Sablin's "The Outlaw" every woman—and man too—will want to read Ruth Kimball Gardner's "Maria Redburn"; Eleanor Hoyt Brainard has an amusing little story, "An Angel Unaware"; and Dorothy Censile gives you something to think about in "Goblin Gold." Edith Rickert contributes an excellent bit of work, entitled "Grandfathers Both," and there are "Little Stories," by Anne O'Hagan and Winifred Arnold, in addition to the usual departments.

COUNTY.

Mt. Pleasant.

It is with sincere grief that we chronicle the death of Mr. Henry Rayne of near Fowlesville which occurred last Saturday morning. For almost a year he has been suffering from that fatal malady consumption. Many friends and relatives mourn his loss.

Miss Rosa Nicholson was the guest of Miss Annie Baker last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Arthur Lewis of Powells was at this place last Saturday.

Mrs. Della Lewis and two sons Harvey and Lester, were the visitors of Mrs. Jennie Lewis last Saturday afternoon.

Senator Brewington's Roses.

No Democrat gets a more cordial reception than Senator Marion V. Brewington of Wilcomico, the editor of the Salisbury News. Mr. Brewington was at the Butaw House early with the same roses in his cheeks that were the envy of the ladies' gallery whenever he loosed the floodgates of oratory at Annapolis last winter. Mr. Brewington has served two terms in the Senate, which means that he has represented Wilcomico for eight years. He is a candidate for re-election.—From side lights on State Central committee meeting in Baltimore News.

Hooper's Island Camp.

The camp at the middle Hooper's Island will begin July 20th, 1906, and close August 6th. Ample arrangements are being made to accommodate the visitors. Anyone wishing a tent on the ground can apply in person or by letter to the pastor, Rev. J. S. Bozman. We expect to make this one of the greatest camps of the season, as it is beautifully situated near the steamboat wharf and also beside the Chesapeake Bay. The shore is a splendid bathing shore where bath houses will be arranged during the camp.

The boarding of the public will be amply arranged for as there will be two well equipped boarding tents by experienced men, nobody need leave the ground hungry. Persons who wish to attend the camp may get board by the day or week, just as they wish. Come and spend ten days with us at this delightful spot by the bay shore.

REV. J. S. BOZMAN.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SAM WONG'S REVERIES.

(To the Tune of Chopsticks.)

My name's Sam Wong
Of the Chow Hop Tong,
And me come from the Chinese land.
Me like nice tea,
First chop—'cause me,
Alle long, long day me stand,
Washee and scrub at my laundry tub, and
me work velly hard as can be,
And long come night, my pipe me light,
and me like nice cup of tea.

Me homesick some
When the night-time come,
And me think of my Chinese girl;
And I smell in a dream,
When my tea go steam,
Those fields where the tea leaves curl.
Alle same tea, like used to be—for it's CHASE & SANBORN brand,
And my pipe me light, and me rest come
night, and dream of my Chinese land.

She Feared For the Young Man's Safety

After he had fallen upon his knees and kissed her hand she said: "Before I answer yes or no there are some things I would like to ask you. Do you ever drink or gamble?" "No," he eagerly replied. "I do not know what the taste of liquor is. I have never defiled my lips with tobacco. I have never uttered a profane word in my life. I have never even played euchre where a prize was at stake."

She looked at him thoughtfully for a moment, drew a long sigh and then asked: "Have you ever broken a woman's heart?"

"Ah, how can you ask me that?" he almost reproachfully answered. "If I had ever spoken words of love to another I would not deem myself worthy to touch the hem of your garment. I have never cared for any one but you. I have never kissed any woman except my mother. I have never given any girl cause to utter one sorrowful sigh. Yours is the first dear, soft little hand that I have ever held in my own. Never before tonight have I looked into any girl's eyes as I am looking into your deep, soulful eyes. Never!" "Oh, dear," she impatiently interrupted, drawing her hand away from him, "it's after 8 o'clock, and you shouldn't be so far away from home at this time of night. Wait a minute, please, and I'll see if I can't get my brother Tom to go with you. Your mamma must be terribly worried."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Brain and Muscle.

The superintendent of a factory went into the storehouse one day and saw the storekeeper tugging away at a big case of goods. His face was red, and the muscles of his neck were bulging out.

"Hold on there, Jack," cried the superintendent, "allow me to demonstrate to you the power of brain over muscle." He then grabbed a book that was on a shelf and stuck it in the case, gave a quick jerk and toppled over into a pile of rubbish. He got up and looked at the storekeeper and said, "Blame it, the handle was loose."

"Yes, sir," replied Jack, "that's why I didn't use it."—Houston Post.

His Comment.

Timothy Huggins was not precisely a brilliant scholar, and as the old fashioned methods of correction seemed to act like water on a duck's back it was decided to supplement the usual by sending a report of his misdoings home to his parents. "Well, Huggins," was the master's next morning query, "did you give your father my report?" "Yes, sir," was the sullen answer. "And what did he say?" "E said e'd like to wring your blissed neck for you," was the genial reply. No more reports regarding infraction of discipline have been sent to that parent.—Answers.

Hooked, but Not (Yet) Landed.

The Unwilling Airship Passenger—These 'ere navigable balloons is begun to get a confounded nuisance.—Sketch.

Worrying.

"They say that a woman always knows when a man is going to propose," observed the man with the growing mustache. "She does," affirmed the lady with the contemplative eyes. "That must at times worry her, doesn't it?" "Not half so much as the other side of the picture. She also knows when a man is not going to propose."—Chicago Tribune.

His Little Scheme.

Penulbs—My boss has worked me ten hours a day for eight years, but I'm going to get even with him. Inkerton—How are you going to do it? Penulbs—I'm going to marry his daughter. Then I'll work him twenty-four hours a day as long as he lives.—Chicago News.

Not to Blame.

Mrs. Swellum (severely)—What! Begging again? Weren't you told never to come to this house again? Raggle—Oh, madam, it was only the cook told me that. I was never officially informed.—Megendorfer Blatter.
