Agitation With Education

By rationalization attempts have been made to justify the ignorant capers of Governor Ross Barnett and his field marshal General Edwin Walker in the recent Mississippi crisis. Whether or not one agrees with the principles involved, obedience to federal law is another story entirely. It is interesting to note that this same General Walker made a similar statement when he commanded the forces to bring chaos to a halt during the Little Rock crisis.

Fault cannot be found with the way in which the federal government handled itself in Mississippi or the cause at hand. However, in this time of internal strife in integration, agitation on the part of the publicity agents of James Meredith would appear quite uncalled for. A little constructive self-criticism might be appropriate. Further agitation on the part of James Meredith and the Negro in the South is not needed. This harassing on their part will not help banish the prejudices in the minds of Southerners who, for the most part, for centuries have thought of the Negro as incapable of any skills other than manual labor. Ignorance? Yes. But do we really understand the position of the Southerner? Do the political implications begin to sink in when we realize that the population of the Negro may soon exceed that of the white man in Mississippi?

It was necessary for James Meredith to be admitted to Mississippi. But will this expel Jim Crow?

The Negro must learn to rise to meet his responsibilities as a mem-

'Tis Not a Purple Heart

As I write this editorial, I hear the complaints of freshmen; the day of Dean Slips is drawing near. By the time this editorial reaches the college population, the effect of Dean Willis's reminders will have, for the most part, faded into the background. Many days lie in that period of time. None-the-less, I'm sure that the acquisition of three, four, or five of these slips will be taken as a matter of pride; it has happened in the past, and all evidence indicates that it will happen again.

I do not wish to appear as a crusader, but a Dean Slip is not a "purple heart" received for wounds obtained in the field of academic pursuit, but a warning, a symbol that you have failed to meet the standards of this college. Dean Slips are like a golf score — the fewer points acquired, the better the game.

To anyone who has already boasted of his failure to measure up to the goal he set for himself when he registered at Salisbury College, I ask that he think of the consequences in February, 1963.

The point is merely this: Dean Slips are an assistance to you; a warning to revise your study schedule to help correct any academic difficulty which may exist.

It is my contention that these reminders have too long been considered an award of merit. Remember that they are to remind students of their failure to meet the responsibilities accepted on enrollment in Salisbury College.

A Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to share with my fellow students, through the Holly Leaf, the impressive last event at the Methodist Student Movement Fall Workshop.

Sunday dinner was a time to be gay as well as sad, for we were reviewing the weekend events and yet saying good-bye to our new friends. Ginny Burke, a Negro girl who had been missed all weekend, entered the room in the middle of this event. Excitement filled the room as those who knew Ginny jumped from their tables, ran to her, hugged her, and asked her questions. When it was learned that Ginny had come with her parents and nine of her ten brothers and sisters, they were immediately brought into the room from the cars, introduced and persuaded to join us for dinner.

It was quite a sight as the students made room for these people at their tables, and filled their plates. The children were entertained with songs such as "Jesus Loves Me." My only wish was that more people, not only from Salisbury or this country, but from the whole world, could have witnessed this true expression of Christian brotherhood and love.

Sincerely,
Eleanor M. Jennison

Campus Chatter

BY
HARTMAN

The Nomads: remember the name. Better yet, remember the occasion, October the thirteenth. For the first time STC was introduced to a new trend which has been sweeping the nation. This is a combination of folk music blended with 20th Century humor which has created within audiences an atmosphere of hearty approval and enjoyment, or, in rare, isolated incidences, one of rejection.

The harmony was beyond reproach. Let us examine the material. Some may immediately scream risque, racey, off-color, or any number of similar terms. Others may conversely sing psalms of praise. One's own state of mind usually determines the particular slant with which one receives performance of this type.

Topics such as religion, sex, and government are surely serious subjects. But is there any subject so serious that it cannot be better understood, that it cannot be improved by the injection of humor and the ability to laugh? With an adult audience one can surely expect performance without a Victorian, drawing-room atmosphere.

Congratulations to the Cultural Affairs Committee for providing an exciting evening of mature entertainment. We anxiously await their next presentation.

Jack Morris has called to the attention of this writer (and we use the term loosely) the fact that the WAA has purchased bicycles. He feels that the next step might be the acquisition of a riding stable for the MAA.

Homecoming, November 3rd, the next big weekend. One of the many interesting features of the weekend should be the playing of the Alumni in soccer. Why not play to attend and see some of those old timers who are so sorely missed?

If the number of tribunals in the Men's Dorm continue to mount, might be necessary to offer a few courses in law, or better yet, what not offer a few sociology courses in "How to follow rules and regulations."

Members of the Men's Dorm: can you imagine what sights would be seen if Mrs. Welch had room inspection on two consecutive days?

As the international crisis increases we cannot help but notice how Buddy Deane and the Secret Storm are losing viewers to the NBC News Report.

Look for a revamping of The Holly Leaf's Constitution. Much to our surprise, we found this was about as antiquated as The Articles of Confederation. This comparison probably applies to the column as well.

Dotty Deals With Sports

Girls, I see those early morning exercises definitely agree with you. That cold air certainly can wake one up for a lengthy day of hard work. That way we won't offend any of our new professors by nodding our heads during interesting lectures and tests.

Attention: Ann Colten, when you start making points for the junior varsity hockey team, please head toward the right goal. Absentees, when are you going to run your forty-five laps? Girls, wipe the mud from your spikes, switch from water hockey to hockey proper, and rack up the goals on Thursday and Saturday against Villa Julie and Philadelphia College of the Bible. Congratulations are in order for the new members of the two hockey squads. It's good to see such enthusiasm for the girls' athletic program.

How do you have a good time and lose weight at the same time? Just ask the W.A.A. to explain their newly proposed program — bicycle riding. Two bicycles have been purchased for the future enjoyment of women students. It is hoped that these will be available on weekends with a small charge of fifteen cents an hour. This plan can only be effective if we have some interest and participation on the part of students.

Speaking of enthusiasm, Freshmen are still needed for the S.T.C. bowling league. You're missing a great deal of fun for such a small amount of time and money. Let's wake up and show some interest! Both the tennis and modern dance clubs have been formed with great success. Keep up the good work!

There is still some doubt about the setting up of interscholastic volleyball. Although this has been proposed, no assurance can yet be given as to the possible outcome.

Miss Morrison — Now that you are officially introduced to our W.A.A. Board, please feel welcome to join us at our future meetings. Until the next issue . . . Dotty

STC Gulls Down Glassboro 2-1

The famine has come to an end as our Gulls defeated a good Glassboro team on October 18. A good crowd of students and faculty members saw a close and exciting game which ended a two year and seven game losing streak. Shell Clendaniel again started us off with a second period score from inside the circle making the half-time score 1-0. Glassboro tied it up in the third period and the score remained that way until the last four minutes of the game. Here Jack Morris, Bill Jefferson, and Paul Ward put a rush on the Glassboro defense. Ward climaxed the rush by driving through the winning score.

The team worked well together and placed great emphasis on control. The defense did a terrific job holding back the Glassboro line. Half-backs Jay Barnes, Ernie Barnes, and Stu Palmer working with Wayne Towers and Sam Lord helped break the back of the Glassboro plays.

In losing to Frostburg 3-2, our men worked hard also, but the game was played in mud during a steady downpour. Jack Morris and Addison Smith scored, but Frostburg took its fourth consecutive win.

As the paper goes to press, the toughest game of the year is being played at Maryland against the Jayvees. Here's hoping.

Paul Ward Boots Winning Tally

SNEA Outlines Year's Schedule

Members of the Student National Education Association, an extension of the Future Teachers of America Organization, conferred at a panel discussion on October 9, 1962 to formulate the association's activity schedule for the 1962-63 school year.

Functioning to acquaint the student with the National Education Association and to assist him in gaining more information concerning the teaching profession, the SNEA is open to the student body and financed by the Student Government Association. Plans for the year include formal conferences, to which the entire student body is welcomed to attend, guest speakers, provisions for obtaining educational magazines at student rates, and state and national conventions to which student representatives will sojourn.

In February, the SNEA will co-sponsor with the Christian Association a panel discussion of "The Role of Religion in Teaching," to which local clergymen and faculty members will be invited. Mr. Lloyd Simpkins, Secretary to the State of Maryland, has been chosen to speak on "The Role of the Teacher in Politics," while Mr. Morris Jones, head of the state's Future Teachers of America Organization and of Maryland's high school student councils, and a graduate of STC, will converse on diversified aspects of the field of education.

In an effort to better acquaint the student with literature in the field of education, the SNEA will provide educational magazines for students at reduced rates. With money allocated to the organization, the SNEA will send student representatives to Frostburg, Md., and New York City, designated as local and national convention headquarters.

Meetings of the SNEA are held in the SGA room at 4:00 o'clock on the second Tuesday of every month. An invitation to attend these meetings is extended to the entire student body.

The Gull Groans

THE GULL GROANS

for Paul Ward who will be out of action for ten days with torn ligaments. They tell me that he's taking up a new sport, collecting autographs!

He groans for the members of the basketball team. Conversation used to be on how many points Bill scored. But now I hear Ed Burton ask Marty Davis how much weight he was using now. Ralph Hazel is sure to make first string because he can do sixty-nine sit-ups. Ask Dr. Wroten about the "Good Old Days." I hope to have a story on our team next issue.

It has been heard around campus that they are doing away with intramurals on a separate class basis. It was mentioned to me that there is a lull between soccer and basketball season and there should not be a great rush to pick teams. I don't know what to say; I only work here.

The Gull is looking forward to next Saturday's homecoming game between the varsity and the Alumni. We can expect some good opposition from the "old men" who will probably include Jerry "Animal" Wilson, Ed "Sleepy" Mitchell, Tom "Old Man" Alderson, Charles Muir and even Phil Slacum. It has been suggested that John Barnes play for the Alumni since he's been here so long.

The Gull Has a Question:

Two weeks ago the temperature was 80 degrees on Saturday and the tennis courts were closed. Last Saturday the temperature was 45 degrees and the courts were open. Any comment? . . . Rich

Circle K Busy With Projects

On October 2, Mr. James Di-Virgilio spoke to the Circle K Club on the people of the Philippines. Robert Sinagra was the guest speaker of the Circle K Club on October 9. His "Analysis of the Spirit of the American People" is based on observations made by him during a tour of the United States and Mexico last summer.

Circle K announces that four new members have been added. They are Douglas Gibson, Wayne Turner, Ralph Hazel, and Addison Smith, making a total of sixteen members.

An excellent set of history books has just been presented to the college library by the Circle K. At the present time, they are organizing a book fund, which, if approved, will be in operation next semester.

Phi Alpha Theta Initiates Twelve New Members Into the Organization

The Eta Iota Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta here on campus held its initiation of new members on Thursday, October 18. This organization, instituted in 1959, is a select group composed only of juniors and seniors with a high general scholastic average and a B+ average in history. A member of the national honor society in history, it is the only honorary society on campus.

Officers for the current year are President, Carolyn Noble; Vice President, Sandra Wharton; Program Chairman, Sara Nichols; Secretary-Treasurer, Sylvia Messick. The new members are Mrs. Barbara Camp, Mrs. John L. Camp, Suzi Dunstan, Ronald Lilley, Sylvia Messick, Mrs. Dorothy Newcomb, Nancy Solloway, Terry Sterling, Mrs. Naurita Taylor, Mrs. Diana Thompson, Phyllis Trice, and Carolyn Young. Faculty members of the society are Dr. Wroten, advisor; Dr. LesCallette, Dean Robinson, and Mr. Kadlubowski.

In September the club sponsored a trip to Smith and Tangier Islands. An invitation was extended to all history and geography majoring upperclassmen. Forty individuals including students and faculty participated in this effort to combine pleasure with learning. Future plans include sending delegates to regional conferences.

Student Christian Association Plans Thanksgiving Assembly

Under the sponsorship of the Student Christian Association, the annual Thanksgiving Assembly will be held on Tuesday, November 21, at 2:00 P.M. The featured speaker for this occasion will be Father Benedict Dudley, who is the chaplain of the New York Giants football team. Included among Father Dudley's achievements is the fact that he has served as the president of three colleges. The College Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Jesse Fleming, will provide the sacred music with the singing of "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Rosary." A voice choir composed of members of Miss Jacqueline MacMurrian's speech classes will deliver the opening prayer.

This year several new features will be added to the program. A prelude and postlude will be played with Charles Simpson, '64, at the piano; a seven-fold Amen will be employed after the closing prayer; and extra decorations will be used. All of these factors, together with the appearance of a prominent and interesting speaker, should make this a most enjoyable and beneficial assembly.

In other Christian Association news, Maurice Howard, president of the SCA and also state president of the Baptist Student Union, announces that the Maryland BSU convention will be held in Salisbury this year from November 2-4.

Plans for this evening include a collegian dinner on Sunday evening with music furnished by Richard Wilson of STC. Charles Simpson will provide organ music for the convention.

The Christian Association wishes to congratulate the Wesley Foundation (composed of the Methodist students of the college) as they complete their plans to move into their new home located on Camden Avenue across from the Men's Dorm. This is certainly a big event not only for the Wesley Foundation, but for the entire Christian Association. More news on the new home should be forthcoming.

The Canterbury Club (Episcopal students) is presently contacting new members and is planning its first meeting in the near future. The Newman Club (Catholic students) is this year meeting on campus weekly each Thursday evening. The Lutheran Association held its first meeting following their organization on October 17 and plan a party on October 31.

The Student Christian Association, whose purpose is to provide opportunity for spiritual growth to all interested students, is this year stressing the co-operation and support of each student for his particular religious organization.

Miss Diane Bunting Reigns Over Annual Harvest Ball

With a backdrop of corn shocks, pumpkins and dried grain befitting the fall season, Diane Bunting of Selbyville, Delaware was crowned Harvest Ball Queen for 1962. The crowning of the lovely queen was done by Dr. Devilbiss during the intermission halfway through the dance. Representatives from each class made up the Queen's court. Miss Peggy Ann Sterling representing the Sophomore class; Miss Betty Lee Pilchard representing the Junior class; and Miss Gai Street representing the Senior class. All these lovely girls helped to add "just the right touch" to the beautiful atmosphere of the dance which was created by the members of the Sophomore class. Many thanks for a job very well done should go to Kay Raymond and the many others who assisted her in preparations for the dance. Thanks should also go to their advisor, Mr. White, for his assistance. Music for the dance was provided by "The Continentals", a local dance band. Selections ranged from the waltz to the twist. Certainly we would all like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Sophomore class for a lovely evening that was enjoyed by all attending.

High School Seniors Tour College

This year, the annual High School Senior Days were held for the three-day period, October 30—November 1. These were planned to acquaint high school seniors with aspects of college life — scholastic, cultural, and social — and to let these students see college life in action. This SNEA-sponsored activity ran from 9:30 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. and constituted nine Eastern Shore counties: Wicomico on Tuesday; Dorchester, Somerset, and Worcester on Wednesday; and Kent, Queen Anne, Caroline, Talbot, and Cecil on Thursday.

Counselors, supervisors, and principals of these high schools were also invited to attend our campus to meet with Dr. Devilbiss, Dean Willis, Dean Robinson, and various faculty members for a Coffee Hour.

Tours conducted by STC Sophomores included a trip to the library, gymnasium, dining hall, dormitories, campus school, and other campus buildings, as well as taking students into the classrooms to observe the teaching of various subjects.

A program planned for the students began with a cordial welcome by Dean Robinson. Speakers included Phyllis Trice, president of the SNEA, on the nature and purposes of their activities; Wayne Towers on the academic program; and Maurice Howard concerning and Tom Taylor on the Student Christian Association.

After which Sandy Weaver discussed the Women's Athletic Association. Jackie Dickerson presented an idea of the college's social affairs. After these informative talks, there was a social hour in the student center.

Last year, approximately 400 students attended, and we had even more this year. We hope all these students have a vivid impression of college life and that we will see them on our campus in September.

Students Visit Virginia

Dr. Wroten and a group of students from the Colonial History Class put away their books, chartered a bus, and set out to see for themselves the places where colonial history had taken place.

The group left Salisbury at 7:30 A.M. on Friday, October 26, to go to Jamestown, Virginia. Here they visited and studied the ruins of the first permanent settlement in America. From Jamestown they went to Williamsburg, the colonial capital of eighteenth century Virginia, where they spent the night.

The first thing on the agenda for Saturday was a film on early Williamsburg. The STC'ers then toured the old street buildings — the capitol, the governor's mansion, and several of the shops. Saturday afternoon they viewed the battle grounds and the scene of surrender of Cornwallis which closed the American War for Independence.

Student Government Activities

The Student Government Association is the official representative agency of the student body. All full-time students, by paying the activities fee, are automatically members. This year, members of the SGA Board are Wayne Towers, President; Terry Sterling, Vice President; Fred Distler, Secretary; and Ed Burton, Treasurer.

The SGA holds as its purpose the promoting of cultural, social, and special interests of the students and the co-ordinating of the various campus organizations.

Two meetings of the SGA Board have been held this year to work with the budget and planning the use of funds for the best advantage of all. A new budget system is being considered to work toward more co-ordination of our clubs.

The SGA has set up a committee to work on the method of choosing students for the "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" recognition. They will study the present method of selecting these persons and will determine whether or not changes are necessary. Various other committees are included in the SGA such as the Social Committee.

The Student Government Association Board, combining with the Social Committee and the Circle K, is considering the possibility that we can present a well-known performing group; for example, the Kingston Trio, The Limelighters, Ray Charles, or another in whom students show interest. These performances would provide entertainment for the community as well as students. The main problem would involve the financing of such activities.

The SGA is your representative always working for you and with you. It is anxious to hear any suggestions which you may have toward the stimulation and improvement of student welfare. It truly deserves your support.

Open House and Talent Show

A big night is coming up for the Women's Dormitory Association. Friday, November 16. There will be a grand tour of the Women's Dorm followed by a talent show. After these two big events, there will be a record hop in the snack bar where refreshments will be served.

Preparing for the open house, the women have selected the following for their areas of the dorm: this evening, you can visit "Cottontown," "Book Land," "Chatterbox," "Song Titles," and "Just Happenings." You will be able to travel "Around the World in 80 Days" through "Pure Chaos" to a "Surprise" in the Boy's Dorm.

Auditions for the talent show are now under way so that you can have the most entertaining of acts to your pleasure. After the show, you can visit the snack bar to enjoy refreshments prepared by the girls and while you are there, you can dance to your heart's delight.
