LETTERS from a FARMER in PENNSYLVANIA, to the Inhabitants of the British Colonies.

LETTER

MY DEAR COUNTRYMEN,

HAVE several Times, in the Course of these Letters, mentioned the late Act of Parliament, as being the Foundation of future Measures injurious to these Colonies; and the Belief of this Truth I wish to prevail, because I think it necessary to our Safety.

A perpetual Jealousy, respecting Liberty, is absolutely requisite in all free States. The very Texture of their Constitution, in mixed Governments, demands it. For Constitution, in mixed Governments, demands it. For the Cautions with which Power is distributed among the feveral Orders, imply, that each has that Share which is proper for the general Welfare, and therefore that any further Acquintion must be pernicious. * Machiavel employs a whole Chapter in his Discourses, to prove that a State, to be long lived, must be frequently corrected, and reduced to its first Principles. But of all States that have existed, there never was any, in which this Jealoufy could be more proper than in these Colonies. For the Government here is not only mixt, but dependant, which Circumstance occasions a Peculiarity in its Form, of a very delicate Nature.

Two Reasons induce me to defire, that this Spirit of Apprehension may be always kept up among us, in its utmost Vigilance. The First is this—that as the Happiness of these Provinces indubitably consists in their Connexion with Great-Britain, any Separation between them is less likely to be occasioned by civil Discords, if every difgufting Measure is opposed fingly, and while it is new: For in this Manner of Proceeding, every such Measure is most likely to be rectified. On the other Hand, Oppressions and Distatisfactions being permitted to accumulate—if ever the governed throw off the Load, they will do more. A People does not reform with Moderation. The Rights of the Subject therefore cannot be too often considered, explained, or afferted:
And, whoever attempts to do this, shews himself, whatever may be the rash and prevish Reslections of pretended Wisdom, and pretended Duty, a Friend to hose who injudiciously exercise their Power, as well as to them, over whom it is so exercised.

Had all the Points of Prerogative claimed by Charles the First, been separately contested and settled in preceding Reigns, his Fate would in all Probability have been very different; and the People would have been content with that Liberty which is compatible with regal Authority, But † he thought, it would be as dangerous for him to give up the Powers which at any Time had been by Usurpation exercised by the Crown, as those that were legally vested in it. This produced an equal Excess on the Part of the People. For when their Passions were excited by multiplied Grissyanese them. their Paffions were excited by multiplied Grievances, they thought it would be as dangerous for them to allow the Powers that were legally vefted in the Crown, as those which at any Time had been by Usurpation exercised by it. Acts, that might, by themselves, have been upon many Considerations excused or extenuated, derived a contagious Malignancy and Odium from other Acts, with which they were connected. They were not re-garded according to the simple Force of each, but as Parts of a System of Oppression.—Every one therefore, however small in itself, became alarming, as an additional Evidence of tyrannical Designs. It was in vain for prudent and moderate Men to insist, that there was no Necessity to abolish Royalty. Nothing less than the utter Destruction of Monarchy, could satisfy those who had Reason to believe, they always fould fuffer under it.

The Confequences of these mutual Distrusts are well known: But there is no other People mentioned in History, that I recollect, who have been so constantly watchful of their Liberty, and fo successful in their Struggles for it, as the English. This Consideration leads me to the Second Reason, why I "desire that the Spirit of A. Spirit of Apprehension may be always kept up among us in its utmost Vigilance."

The first Principles of Government are to be looked for in human Nature. Some of the best Writers have asserted, and it seems with good Reason, that "Government is South and the Control of the South asserted in South as a south as vernment is founded on † Opinion."

"Machiavel's discourses—Book 3. chap. 1.

† The author is sensible, that this is putting the gentlest construction on Charles's conduct; and that is one reason with the be made for the why he chuses it. Allowances ought to be made for the why he chuses it. Allowances ought to be made for the errors of those men, who are acknowledged to have been possessed of many virtues. The education of this unhappy prince, and his considence in men not so good or wise as himself, had probably filled him with mistaken notions of his own authority, and of the consequences, that would attend concessions of any kind, to a people, who were represented to him, as aiming at too much power.

1 "OPINION is of two kinds, viz. Opinion of interest, and opinion of RIGHT. By opinion of in-TEREST, and opinion of RIGHT. By opinion of in-terest, I chiefly understand, the sense of the public ad-vantage which is reaped from government; together with the persuasion; that the particular government which it established, is equally advantageous with any other, that could be easily settled."

"Right is of two kinds, right to power, and right to property. What prevalence opinion of the first kind has over mankind, may easily be understood, by observing CUSTOM undoubtedly has a mighty Force in producing Opinion, and reigns in nothing more arbitrarily than in public Affairs. It gradually reconciles us to Objects, even to Dread and Deteftation; and I cannot but think these Lines of Mr. Pope as applicable to Vice in Politics, as to Vice in Ethic. in Politics, as to Vice in Ethics ..

" Vice is a Monster of so horrid Mein, As to be hated, needs but to be feen;
Yet feen too oft, familiar with her Face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

When an Act injurious to Freedom has been once done, and the People bear it, the Repetition of it is most likely to meet with Submission. For as the Mischief of the one was found to be tolerable, they will hope that of the Second will prove fo too; and they will not regard the Infamy of the laft, because they are stained with that of Indeed Nations, in general, are not apt to think until they feel; and therefore Nations in general have loft their Liberty: For, as Violations of the Rights of the governed, are commonly not only * specious, but small at the Beginning, they spread over the Multitude in such a Manner, as to touch Individuals but slightly. Thus they are difregarded +. The Power or Profit that arifes from these Violations, centering in sew Persons, is to them considerable. For this Reason the Governors having in View their particular Purposes, successively preserve an Uniformity of Conduct for attaining them. They regularly increase and multiply the first Injuries, till at length the inattentive People are compelled to perceive the Heaviness of their Burthens .- They begin to complain and enquire-but too late. They find their Oppressors so strengthened by Success, and themselves so entangled in Examples of express Authority, on the Part of their Rulers, and of tacit Recognition on their own Part, that they are quite confounded : For Millions entertain no other Idea of the Legality of Power, than that it is founded on the Exercise of Power. They voluntarily fasten their Chains, by adopting a pusillanimous Opinion, "that there will be too much Danger in attempting a Remedy,"—or another Opinion, no less fatal,—"that the Government has a Right to treat them as it does." They then feek a wretched Relief for their Minds, by perfuading themselves, that to yield their Obedience, is to discharge their Duty. The deplorable Poverty of Spirit, that prostrates all the Dignity bestowed by Divine Providence on our Nature—of Course succeeds.

From these Resections I conclude, that every Free State should incessantly watch, and instantly take A-larm on any Addition being made to the Power exer-cised over them. Innumerable Instances might be produced to flew, from what flight Beginnings the most extensive Consequences have flowed: But I shall felect Two only from the History of England.

Henry the Seventh was the first Monarch of that Kingdom, who established a STANDING BODY OF ARMED MEN. This was a Band of Fisty Archers, called Yeomen of the Guard: And this Institution, called Yeomen of the Guard: And this Initiation, notwithstanding the Smallness of the Number, was, to prevent Discontent 1, "disguised under Pretence of Majesty and Grandcur." In 1684, the Standing Forces were so much augmented, that Rapin says,—"The King, in order to make his People fully sensible of their new Slavery, affected to muster his Troops, which amounted to 4000 well armed and disciplined Men." I think our Army, at this Time, consists of more than Seasonty Regiments.

The Method of taxing by Excise was first intro-duced amidst the Convulsions of the Civil Wars. Extreme Necessity was pretended, and its short Continuance promised. After the Restoration, an Excise upon Beer, Ale, and other Liquors, was granted to the || King, one Half in Fee, the other for Life, as an Equivalent for the Court of Wards. Upon James the Second's Accession, the Parliament & gave him the first Excise, with an additional Duty on Wine, Tobacco, and some other Things. Since the Revolution, it has been extended to Salt, Candles, Leather, Hides, Hope Sonn Paper to Salt, Candles, Leather, Hides, Hops, Soap, Paper, Pafte-boards, Mill-boards, Scale-boards, Vellum, Parchment, Starch, Silks, Callicoes, Linens, Stuffs, printed, stained, &c. Wire, Wrought Plate, Coffee, Tea,

Thus a Standing Army and Excise, have, from their first slender Origins, tho' always bated, always feared, al-ways opposed, at length swelled up to their vast present

These Facts are sufficient to support what I have faid. 'Tis true, that all the Mischies apprehended by our Ancestors from a Standing Army and Excise, have not yet bappened: But it does not follow from thence, that they will not bappen. The Inside of a House may catch Fire, and the most valuable Apartments be ruined, before the Flames burst out. The Question in these Cases is not, what Evil bas actually attended particular Measures—but, what Evil, in the Nature of Things, it likely to attend them. Certain Circumstances may is likely to attend them. Certain Circumstances may, for fome Time, delay Effects, that were reasonably ex-pelled, and that must ensue. There was a long Period, after the Romans had prorogued his Command to 2 Publilius Philo , before that Example destroyed their Liberty. All our Kings, from the Revolution, to the present Reign, have been Foreigners. Their Ministers generally continued but a short Time in Authority +;

and they themselves were mild and virtuous Princes. A bold, ambitious Prince, possessed of great Abilitier, firmly fixed in his Throne by Defcent, served by Mini-fiers like bimfelf, and rendered either venerable or terrible by the Glory of his Successes, may execute what his Predecellors did not dare to attempt. Henry the Fourth tottered in his Seat during his whole Reign. Henry the Fifth drew the Strength of the Kingdom into France, to carry on his Wars there, and left the Commons at home, protesting, " that the People were not bound to ferve out of the Realm."

It is true, that a ftrong Spirit of Liberty subsists at present in Great-Britain, but what Reliance is to be placed in the Temper of a People, when the Prince is pollefled of an unconstitutional Power, our own Hiftory can sufficiently inform us. When Charles the Second had strengthened himself by the Return of the Garrison of Tangier, England (says Rapin) saw on a fudden an amazing Revolution; faw herfelf firipped of all ber Rights and Privileges, excepting such as the King should vouchfase to grant her: And what is more assembling, the English themselves delivered up these very Rights and Privileges to Charles the Second, which they had for passionately, and, if I may say it, suriously defended against the Designs of Charles the First."
This happened only Thirty-fix Years after this last Prince had been beheaded.

Some Persons are of Opinion, that Liberty is not vi-olated, but by such open Acts of Force; but they seem to be greatly mistaken. I could mention a Period within these Forty Years, when almost as great a Change of Disposition was produced by the SECRET Measures of a long Administration, as by Charles's Violence. Liberty, perhaps, is never exposed to so much Danger as when the People believe there is the least; for it may be subverted, and yet they not think so.

Public disgusting Acts are seldom practised by the Ambitious, at the Beginning of their Designs. Such Conduct filences and discourages the Weak, and the Wicked, who would otherwise have been their Advocates or Accomplicer. It is of great Confequence, to allow those who, upon any Account, are inclined to favour them, fomething specious to fay in their Defence. Their Power may be fully established, tho' it would not be fafe for them to do whatever they please. For there are Things, which, at fome Times, even Slaves will not bear. Julius Cesar, and Oliver Cromwell, did not dare to assume the Title of King. The Grand Signior dares not lay a new Tax. The King of France dares not be a Protestant. Certain popular Points may be left untouched, and yet Freedom be extinguished. The Commonalty of Venice imagine themselves free, because they are permitted to do, what they ought not. But I quit a Subject, that would lead me too far from my

By the late Act of Parliament, Taxes are to be levied upon us, for "defraying the Charge of the Administration of Juffice—the Support of Civil Government—and the Expences of dejending his Majesty's Dominions in America."

If any Man doubts what ought to be the Conduct of these Colonies on this Occasion, I would ask him these

† "The republic is always attacked with greater vi-gour than it is defended: For the audacious and profiigate, prompted by their natural enmity to it, are easily impelled to act by the least nod of their leaders : Whereas the HONEST, I know not why, are generally flow and unwilling to flir; and neglecting always the BEGINNINGS of things, are never roused to exert themselves, but by the last necessity: So that through irresolution and BELAY, when they would be glad to compound at last for their QUEIT, at the expence even of their HONOUR, they commonly lose them BOTH."

Such were the Sentiments of this great and excellent man, whose wast abilities, and the calamities of his country, during his time, enabled him, by mournful experience, to form a just judgment on the conduct of the friends and enemies of liberty.

ample of L. Quintius, nobo refused to have his confulship continued to him, they had never admitted that custom of proroguing of magistrates, and then the prolongation of their commands in the army had never been introduced, which very Thing was at length the Ruin of that Common-wealth." Machiavel's Difcourfes, b. 3. chap. 24. † I don't know but it may be faid, with a good deal of reason, that a quick rotation of ministers is very desirable in Great-Britain. A minister there has a wast flore of mate-rials to work with. Long administrations are rather favourable to the reputation of a people abroad, than to their liberty. their liberty.

tain? Will the Taxes, imposed by the late Act, anfiver those Purpojes ? If it will, must it not take an immense Sum from us? If it will not, is it to be expected, that the Parliament will not fury execute their INTENTION, when it is pleasing at Home, and not opposed here? Must not this be done by impoint NEW Taxes? Will not every Addition, thus made to our Taxes, be an Addition to the Power of the Bertyb Legislature, by increafing the Number of Officers employed in the Collection? Will not every adultional Tax therefore render it more difficult to abrogate any of them? When a Branch of Revenue is once eliablihed, does it not appear to many People, uevidious and undutiju, to attempt to abolish it? If Taxes, furficient to accompain the Intention of the Parliament, are imposed by the Parliament, autat Taxes such remain to be imposed by our Atlemoires? If no material Taxes remain to be imposed by them, what must become of them, and the People they represent?

" " If any Person confiders these Things, and yet thinks our Liberties are in no Danger, I wonder at that Perma's Security."

One other Argument is to be added, which, by itfelf, I hope, will be jufficient to convince the most incredulous Man on this Continent, that the late Act of Parliament is only neligned to be a PRECEDENT, whereon the favore Vana age of these Colonies may be established.

Every Duty thereby laid on Articles of British Manufacture, is laid on fome Commodity, upon the Exportation of which from Great-Britain, a Drawback is payable. Those Drawbacks, in most of the Articles, are exactly double to t e Duties given by the late Act. The Parliament werefore might, in Half a Dozen Lines, have raised MUCH MORE MONEY, only by flopping the Drawbacks in the Hands of the Officers at Home, on Exportation to these Colonies, than by this folemn Imposition of Taxes, post us, to be collected here. Probably, the actfu Contrivers of this Act formed it in this Manner, in older to referve to themselves, in case of any Objections being made to it, this specious Pre-tence— "that the Drawbacks are Gifts to the Colonies, and that the litte Act only letten those Gifts." But the Truth is, that the Drawbacks are intended for the Eacouragement and Promotion of British Manufactures and Commerce, and are allowed on Exportation to any foreign Parts, as well as on Exportation to these Provinces. Besides, Care has been taken to flide into the Act, + fome Articles on which there are no Drawbacks. However, the wiele Duties laid by the Act on all the Articles therein specified, are fo finall, that they will not amount to as much as the Drawbacks which are allowed in Part of them only. If therefore, the Sum to be obtained by the late AS, had been the fele Object in forming I., there would not have been any Occasion for " I .. COMMENS of Great-Britain, to GIVE and GRANT to his Majerty Rates and Duties for raising a Revenue IN bu Majesty's Dominions in America, for making a more certain and adequate Provision for defraying the Charges of the Administration of Justice, the Support of Civi Government, and the Expence of defending the Mid Dominions; "-Nor would there have been any Occasion for an 1 expensive Board of Commissioners, and all the other new Charges to which we are made

Upon the Whole, for my Part, I regard the late Act as an Experiment made of our Disposition. It is a Bird fent out over the Waters, to discover, whether the Waves, that lately agitated this Part of the World with fuch Violence, are yet subsided. If this Adventurer gets Footing here, we shall from be convinced, that it is not a Planix; for we shall quickly see it followed by others of the forme kind. We shall find it rather to be of the ! Breed described by the Poet .-

" Infelix Veter."

A direful Foreteller of future Calamities.

Domesthenes's 2d Philippic.

+ Tho' duties by the late act are laid on some articles, on which no drawbacks are allowed, yet the duties imposed by the act are so small, in comparison with the drawbacks that are allowed, that all the duties together will not amount to fo much as the drawbacks.

I The expence of this board, I am informed, is between Four and Five Thousand Pounds sterling a year. The estaamounted before, to Seven Thousand Six Hundred Pounds per annum; and yet, fays the author of "The regulation of the colonies," " the rubole remittance from all the taxes in the colonies, at an average of thirty years, has not amounted to One Thoujand Nine Hundred Pounds a year, and in that fum Seven or Eight Hundred Pounds per annum only, have been remitted from North-America."

The smallness of the revenue arising from the duties in A-merica, demonstrates, that they were intended only as RE-GULATIONS OF TRADE: And can any person be so blind to truth, so dull of apprehension in a matter of unspeakable importunce to his country, as to imagine, that the board of commissioners lately established at such a charge, is instituted to offift in collecting One Thousand Nine Hundred Pounds a year, or the trifling dutie imposed by the late ast ? Surely every man on this continent must perceive, that they are established for the care of a NEW SYSTEM OF REVENUE,

THE STATES OF THE STATES

M A D R I D, October 28.

WE are informed the Jesuits of Mexico, to the Number of 700, were all fuddenly and unexpectably arrested in the Month of July laft, and their Effects conficated, to the Amount, according to Effimation, of 77 Millions of Hard Piastres, or 385 Millions of Livres, French-Money.

L O N D O N, December 1.

Some of the last Letters from Germany advise, that his Pruffian Majesty employs much of his Time with his General Officers, and is going to introduce fome more new Manœuvres among his Troops.

A Perition of Appeal is presented to an August Affembly in the great Douglas Caufe.

It is an acknowledged Fact, among the first Ranks who are now returned from the different Counties, that a general Diffress at this Time reigns among the poorer Sort throughout the Kingdom. It is equally true, that the principal Caufe of the Calamity, is the Failure in the last Harvest, and the Want of an old Stock of Corn in Hand as formerly. If we may credit the Opinions of fome of the London Bakers, the Effects will be more feverely felt; for they think that the Quartern Loaf will probably be fold this Winter at a Snilling. What rather adds to the public Apprehension, is the present Scarcity of Corn throughout Europe. The only Part of the World from which we hear of no Want in this Article, is-America: From thence, we might, e'ere this, have been amply fupplied, had our Ports been opened upon a Certainty for any confiderable Length of Time : For, the Merchant, who is uncertain, whether American Corn may arrive here in a short limited Time, must necessarily be cramped in fending his Com-

Dec. 5. We hear upwards of Twenty Ships will in a few Days be taken up by the Merchants, and fent to import American Corn to England.

Letters from Dublin advise, that the Bill for li-miting the Duration of Parliaments in that Kingdom to Seven Years, has palled the House of Commons; and that, on the 20th Ult. the Speaker, attended by a great Number of the Commons, waited on his Excellency Lord Townshend, with the said Bill, in order to have it transmitted to England.

Dec. 3. Letters from Madrid mention, that the Jefuits had proposed the giving up entirely to the Spanish Crown, the whole Province of Paraguay, with the Difcovery of its Gold, Silver, and Diamond Mines, and even engaged to make the Natives subservient to that Monarchy, on Condition of obtaining of his Catholic Majesty an Asylum in his Dominions, or those of the neighbouring States, through his Means.

Dec. 8. They write from Sicily that an Infurrection has happened in that Island, occasioned by a Scar-city of Bread, in which the Populace massacred the Vice-Roy's Guards, took him Prisoner, and killed the Prince Ventmiglia, and hung up several other Per-sons of Distinction. The Armament preparing at Naples is intended to quell the Infurgents; but, in the mean Time, the People are in fuch a Ferment, that an Infurrection is expected also at the last mentioned Place every Day.

Dec. 10. Monday a Meffenger arrived at St. James's from his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who it is faid, brought the Septennial Bill, lately paffed both Houses of Parliament in that Kingdom, for his Majesty's Approbation.

Dec. 12. An Arret of Council was published on the 14th Uit, at Paris, in which his Most Christian Majelty ordered the Payment of the Canada Paper Money to the Parties mentioned in a Lift annexed.

Dec. 15. On Saturday in the Afternoon a Cabinet-council was held at the Queen's Palace, and the same Evening Two Messengers were sent away to Dublin, one of whom was ordered to embark at Parkgate, and the other at Holy-head, with Dispatches for the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Dec. 17. Letters from Constantinople advise, that a dangerous Infurrection has lately happened there. High Disputes began in the Divan, but on what Subject is not positively mentioned; and the Janissaries and Mob immediately fook Part in the Dispute, and a great deal of Blood was spilt on the Occasion before it could be quelled.

We hear from Frome, in Somersetshire, that some Gentlemen of that Town have made a Collection of near 200 l. in order to purchase Flour, which is to be made into Bread, and fold to the Poor, at One Penny per Pound.

Dec. 19. The following Military Promotions, it is faid, will fhortly take Place. His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester will be appointed Commander in Chief of the Forces in Ireland; and also to be Colonel of the Third (or Scotch)

Regiment of Guards, vice Earl of Rothes, deceased.
General Murray, Governor of Canada, to have the 13th Regiment of Foot, vice the Duke of Gloucester.
General Armstrong, to have the 2d Battalion of Royal Americans, vice General Murray.

Colonel Robert Cuninghame to have the 38th Regiment of Foot, vice General Anstruther, deceased.

Lord Robert Bertie, to be Governor of Duncannon Fort, vice Earl of Rothes; by which Promotion the Government of Cork is vacant.

'Tis faid, that the Earl of Findlater will be elected one of the Sixteen Peers for Scotland, in the Room of Lord Rothes .- Other "Advices mention the Earl of

The Right Hon, the Earl of Sandwich will, we are informed, foon be made Secretary of Sate. It is expected that there will be a Loan of Two Millions, at the Rate of Three per Cent. We hear that his Majesty is expected to go on Mon-day next, to the House of Peers, and give the Royal Assent to such Bills as shall be ready.

NEW-YORK, February 22.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, to his Friend in New-York, dated October 30.

" It is believed here that all Matters will go on well in America, but I cannot for my Life believe it, fince it feems that the Revenues lately established under the Inspection of Commissioners, are to be applied to make Governors and Civil Officers independent of the People, though they are totally dependent upon Prerogative. If it made Civil Officers, or at leaft fome of the Principal Judges, thoroughly independent of King and People, there would be fomewhat rational in the Scheme, but the other is a most ruinous and injurious Method. "If your Legislature ceases, they will, I dure say, after a few Years, be obliged to restore what they so fhamefully took away, as they did to Jamaica.

"I fear little will be done for America the next Seffion, for the Commons will not be fettled till late in the

We find by the English Papers, that Provisions still continue at an exorbitant Price, Manufactories seemed every where in a State of Decay, and the Poor in the greatest Distress.—Nor was it likely that the Parliament could be able to apply any adequate Ramedy, without an entire Change in the late System of Politics

A Letter from London, dated Dec. 10, 1767, fays, the Duke of Bedford's Friends is coming into the Ministry, Lord Sandwich, to be at the Head of the Admiralty, Lords Gower and Weymouth, to be Secretaries of State; and it is imagined Lord Chatham and his Friends will be out, and appear again in Opposi-tion; Grenville will join the Marquis of Rockingham's Party, but he must alter his Sentiments of America, as the Marquis will not give up his, who appears to be the best Friend we have got here.

By publishing in your Paper, the following Observations on a Piece, figued A BYSTANDER, inferted in your GAZETTE, No. 1168, you will oblige, Yours, A PLAIN DEALER.

SHOULD not have given myfelf the Trouble of a. nimadverting upon the Bystander's Performance, had not the Neglect, with which it has been generally received, given Rife to the Quellion, often repeated,

Why, if weak, has it not been exposed? If any Lawyer of Emineace has really given an 0-pinion, that the Appointment to the Office of Counjelfor, incapacitates him from acting as a Veftryman, I can eafily believe it was only Prima Facie, and that he hardly even allowed himfelf the very fort Time, in which the Byfiander's Reflections led him to concur. The Occasion and Manner of this Prima Facie Opinion have not been explained, or probably its Authority might be fill flighter. If we cou'd arrive at the na ked Fact, perhaps it would appear, that the Word Iscapacitate has been made Use of by the Essander, instead of the Term Exempt, which seems probable from the Confideration, that in his Idea they are fynonimous, or of equivalent Signification. But be this as it may, I never understood that the Prima Facie Opis nion of Counfel, however eminent, is fo incontroulable and decifive, as to exclude all Conteil, nor do I think it receives much additional Vigour from the monthley Reflections of the fagacious Byflander. I shall therefore take the Liberty of examining into the Weight and Solidity of his Authorities and Arguments in Support of this ftrange Doctrine, as well as of some other Noveltins which are incidentally introduced into his Piece. That the Qualification of a Veftryman depends upon any other than the temporal Law in England, whether the Vestry be general or felect, is a wild Assertion; for, in the former Case, every Parishioner, liable to Parochial Rates, and Out-dwellers, occupying Land in the Parish, are by the Common Law qualified to be of the Veftry, and entitled to an Action in the temporal Court against the Disturbers of their Right; in the latter, the Qualification depends upon Cultom, of which the temporal Courts only can take Cognizance. In this Province, Veftrymen must be Freebolders, elected to that Office by Freeholders. And it would be too extravagant almost for any one to affert, that the Qualification of Freebold, is cognizable by any Ecclefical Jurishition.

But, in what Part of Maryland is this Ecclefication. Jurisdiction, of which the Bystander speaks?—He takes a Distinction between the Words unfit and incapable in the Act, and applies to them the Terms visitable and void.—Voidable imports fomething that may be done, or not, and is improperly used, because the Duty of the Vestry, and the Provisions of the Act, are the same, whether the Person, to be removed, should be unfit or incatable.—But I must have remark, that be unfit or incapable. But I must here remark, that the Bystander did not fully understand the Meaning of his own Expression; for, the Idea annexed to the Word woidable, suggests an Answer to all he has said about Exemption and Incapacity; as one out of many Instances which might be produced, will sufficiently them. A Many when of Area is exempted from the thew. A Man, when of Age, is exempted from the Payment of a Bond, given in his Minority; yet, when by a Suit, called upon for his Defence, if he will wave the Privilege, he is confidered in all the Capacities of any other Person.

The Bystander quotes Gibson thus:of the Realm, by reason of their Dignity, are ex-Hence, by Parity of Reason, he infers that Counfellors in this Province are under the like Exemption.

Now, in this Quotation, I have some Suspicion he has not been candid; fer, altho' I have not Gibson, yet I find that Burn (from whom I guess our Author has collected most of his Ecclesiastical Learning) cites the

If this be really an Interpolation, the Author's View

ds,

I will now proceed to examine his Authorities upon this Head. To support his Position, he relies upon two Cases, the first of which is to shew that Incapacity is conimous with Exemption, and is flated thus-" It was held, fays he, in the great Caufe between the City of London and the Diffenters, that Diffenters being in-capacitated by the Act of Toleration, to take upon "themselves Offices of Trust, without conforming, were exempt from the Fines for refusing to serve the Office of Sheriff of London."—Whereupon he ob-"Here an Incapacity works an Exemption." This Case is most egregiously misrepresented by the By-fander. It is reported in Eurn, I, 509, &c. and is to the following Effect: By the 13th of Cha. II. "No Perfon fhou'd be chosen to any Office of Magistracy, &c. " relating to the Government of any City, &c. who a fall not have received the Sacrament, &c. within one Year next before his Election, &c. In Default " thereof, every fuch Election shall be void." An Action was brought, upon a Byc-Law, against Evans, who was a Diffenter, for refuting to ferve in the Office of sheriff, and the general Question was, whether he was table to Fine for not ferving-Mr. Justice Foster was of Opinion that the Act being prohibitory, upon the Electors, the Election was therefore a mere Nullity, Evans being a Digitater-Mr. Justice Wilmot was of the same Opinion, observing that the above Clause is not addreffed to the Party eletted, but to the Elettors, the Prohibition being laid clearly upon them—that it was the Voice of the Legislature, commanding them not to elect fach Perfons-that the Election, contrary thereto, was a Transgression; if wilful, a moral Wrong, on which an Action cannot be founded in Courts of Justice, which ure to inforce the Will of the Society, and the Laws maextinguishes the Right to elect. -That the Election, being void, is an Infraction of the Law, and Right tannet fpring from Wrong. Is there one Tittle in the above Case, to shew, that it ever came into the Consideration of the Judges, whether the Incapacity of the cleffed, exempted him from the Fine? Did they not expressly confine themselves to the Incapacity of the Eliciors, and make that alone the Principle of their Determination ? But, if the Case had even been as reprefented by the Byflander, it wou'd only have flewn, that Incapacity is not liable to the Confequence of Caeity, that Ponishment shall not be inflicted without Delinquency, and his Conclusion, that Incapacity and Exemption are of the fame Import, because Incorneity, in one Respect, may be productive of Exemption in a nother, would have been still abfurd .- For, does it folw, because one Thing works another, that they must be toth the fame, and is there really no Difference between Cause and Effest? But let it even be granted for a Moment, that Incapacity and Exemption are fynonimous, what will be the Consequence of the Concession? Why, plainly this, that his Position—" Here an Incapacity works an Exemption" is equivalent to this " Here an Incapacity works an Incapacity" --- which is one of those harmless Propositions, which neither affirm or deny my Thing; and are most aptly distinguished by the

His Second Case is to shew, that Exemption is made Use of in the Sense of Incapacity, and stands thus— "The Bisbops first claimed as an Exemption and Privilege, not to fit in Case of Life or Limb. Nevertheless, Lord Coke, fays, in Cafes of Trial for Treason, Mif-"prison of Treason, or Felony, the Lords Spiritual "must withdraw"—" Here, says he, an Exemption "works an Incapacity."—The Reader who has the Book, is desired to consult Burn, Title Bishops, Folio 156-7—and he will there find another Instance of our Author's Disingenuity in his Misapplication of my Lord Cake's Authority; but as the Book is in very few Hands, I must beg Leave to give a short State of the Cafe: "In Fact, fays Burn, there are feveral Initances, wherein Bishops did fit and vote, or " wherein their Right was acknowledged to fit and " vote, in like Cafes"——and then proceeds to cite five Instances in Confirmation of his Observation. Immediately after these Cuses, follows the Passage in Question, viz. "Nevertheless, Lord Coke says generally, in "Cases of Trial for Treason, Misprisson of Treason, or Felony, the Lords Spiritual must withdraw, and

" make their Proxies, 3 Inft. 31." Now, in the Name of Candour, and Common Senfe, to what does Burn apply this Observation of my Lord Coke? Does it not most clearly refer to the Cases immediately before cited, and does it go one Step further, than to declare, that notwithstanding the Authority of those Cases to the contrary, it was my Lord Coke's Opinion, that the Bishops must withdraw? Does my Lord Coke say, as is suggested by the Bystander, that although the Lords Spiritual claimed it as a Privilege and Exemptian, to withdraw in Trials of Treason, &c. neverthely they must withdraw? Was it fair in the Bystander to transfer my Lord Coke's Opinion from the real Subjest, to Premission to the Candour of such d, to Premifies totally different? The Candour of fuch Behaviour I must submit to every Reader's Resection ! "a Peer, being indicted of Treason, &c. pleads not guilty, he shall be tried per Pares sues, and then the Lords Spiritual must withdraw."

Whether the Exclusion of the Bishops, in Cases of Blood is just or otherwise, is not the Question; but,

Blood, is just, or otherwise, is not the Question; but, whether the Assertion of the Bystander, that Exemp-"tion and Incapacity are Terms of equivalent Signifi-cation," is countenanced by that Instance. By the Canon Law, the Bishops were disabled from condemning any one to Death, and they contended, that this Law, or its Principle, (being taught by Christ himfelf, in his Command to Peter—" Peter put up your "Sword in the Sheath,") was obligatory upon them, and therefore withdrew from Trials of Life and Death. But, when afterwards they confidered this Matter in a different Light, and others thought it expedient to hold them to their old Doctrine, the Bishops contended that their Withdrawing did not proceed from their In-capacity, but their Privilege or Exemption, and there-fore it was in their Option either to claim or to wave. But, had Incapacity and Exemption been the fame Thing, it would have been inconfistent with the Wisdom of this reverend Body, to advance their Pretention on a Diffination between them, and their Opponents would have infifted upon their Incapacity, upon their own Admission of Exemption .- This Example, therefore, is very far indeed from affording any Colour to the Byftander's Reasoning. I must, upon the Whole, submit to the Reader, whether the Bystander has not failed in every Effort to support his Point, and left it as void of Proof, as if he had never written one Syllable upon the Subject.

If Counsellors are incapable, because exempted, then all others, equally entitled to Exemption, are also incapable - Magistrates - Physician - Lawyers - Members of the Lower House of Assembly, &c. But the Exemption of Counsellors will hardly be claimed by them, or allowed by others, on the Principle that Peers are exempted in England, which would entitle them to Privileges, both unnecessary and inconvenient. The Dignity of a Counsellor, upon the Bystander's Argument of Parity, exempts him from Arrest, from swearing to his Answer in Chancery, entitles him to be tried by Counsellors only, in Cases of Life, to his Action of Scandalum Magnatum, &c. In a Word, tho' a Coun-fellor, according to the Byflander's Reasoning, wou'd be deprived of fitting in Vestry, he wou'd have ample Amends from the Accession of a Variety of Privileges. Supposing, however, that a Counfellor still will be, as he always has been, equally liable in his Person and Estate, with any other Person; how will there be a Want of Power to compel his Attendance on his Duty ? -But, " an Appeal lies to the Governor and Coune cil; and, by the Canon Law, an Appeal cannot be " made from the fame Person to the same Person."— " Is not this (says he) " a Case in Point?——I think not; for, to make it so, we must suppose the Vestry to act judicially-the whole Power thereof to be in one Counfellor, -and this one Counfellor to be the Governor and Council,-But this is not the Case, for the Counsellor is only one of many Vestrymen, and one of many Judges on the Appeal. A Chancellor, or any of the Judges, being Peers, do fit in the House of Lords, on Appeals from their own Decisions. The Chancellor of Maryland sits on Appeals from his own Decrees; and it has been usual for Provincial Magiana being Councillors. ftrates, beingtCounfellors, to exercise a like Jurisdic-Why does not the Bystander apply some Part of his Zeal to correct these Abuses? Why does he not extend his Care to the Reformation of the State, as well as of the Church? And, especially, when he has declared, that fuch a " Practice wou'd stop the Course of " Justice, introduce and establish Tyranny and Oppres-" fion, and is; in a Word, as repugnant to Reason as " to Law."

But why need the Bystander be so anxious to have the Counfellor displaced, as a Vestryman, when his Ecclesi-assical Law has pointed out an effectual Remedy against Oppression, by forbidding him to sit on the Appeal. In the Case he puts, the Bishop was not deprived of his inferior Jurisdiction, but the Appeal was not to be made to him. Now, I think, the most that can be inferred from this Cafe, upon the Principle of Parity, is, that the Counfellor shall not be stript of his Vestry Power, but he shall not sit upon the Appeal; and thus I think all the dreadful Consequences, so much apprehended by this jealous Patriot, will be obviated.

A Counfellor is certainly disqualified from voting at Elections, not on Account of his Dignity, but because such Persons only vote, as are represented by the elected, and Counfellors, being personally present, and Parties in passing of all Laws, are not represented. The Acceptance of a Place vacates a Seat in the House of Affembly; because, by the Statute, it does in the House of Commons, the Precedents of whose Proceedings we have adopted; but to extend this Statute to Veftrymen, is, upon a Rule of Equity, never before heard of here or elsewhere. That an Option should revert to the People, whether they will continue their Confi-dence in a Person they had once intrusted with the important Character of a Legislator, after the Acceptance of an Office, which may bias him against their Interest, is very proper.——But what are the Politics carried on in Vestries that can make a Placeman particularly exceptionable? It appears to me, that a Minister, intriguing for Pluralities, against Law, is a more dangerous Person to be intrusted with such a Power.

I acknowledge that every Vestryman takes a strict Oath "That he will justly and truly execute the Trust "or Office of a Vestryman of the Parish according to "the best of his Skill and Knowledge, without Preju-dice, Favour, or Affection," and I agree with the Bystander, " that if the Principal had overlooked his "Duty, thro' Favour or Prejudice, he wou'd deservedly have incurred Censure" But, altho' one wou'd "have incurred Censure"—But, altho one wou'd wish to avoid the Censure of the World, yet I must suppose, that he had an higher Motive of Conduct.—Awed by the facred Nature of his Oath, and knowing how much the Cause of Religion, and eternal Welfare of his Flock depend upon his Example, no Confideration cou'd induce him to act against his Sentiments of Duty. Unbiassed by Favour or Prejudice, no Expectation of Affiliance in, no Dread of Opposition, to any little Emoluments, merely temporal, to which he might have Pretensions, cou'd influence a Gentleman of bis Piety. His Attempt to displace the unit Counseller, and his pious Attempt to displace the unfit Counsellor, and his pious Precautions to provide a fit Successor in his Room, both proceeded, no Doubt, from a Senfe of Duty, and an in-violable Regard to the most facred of all Sanctions—Acting upon a Motive, fo truly religious and honourable, he, by a fingle Step, gives a Lesson to his Parishioners more efficacious than a thousand Sermons, and they must always remember, that, when they are Vestrymen, no Favour, no Prejudice, no felast Campiderations are to influence or bias their Conduct.

But whatever Opinion I may entertain of the Purity of the Principal's Conduct upon this Occasion, yet others are apt to alledge, that the Act of Assembly does not " make it one great Branch of his Duty, to restrain, or if fet aside an irregular Representation" as the Bystander asserts, but places this Power in the Residue of the Vestry, of which he is only one—that it directs a Notice to be given to the Party, and a particular Mode of Proceeding, before he is oufted of his Seat in the Veffry, and a confiderable. Time to the Parishioners to supply the Vacancy--that when an Oath is directed by an Act, it implies an Obligation to perform all the Duties thereby imposed on the Party taking the Oath that the Terms of the Act are precise and plain, and cou'd not be milunderstood by a Man of the Principol's Understanding—that therefore he was gusty of a direct Breach of his Duty, in endeavouring it egally to disposses one Person of his Seat, and to supply it, by Surprize, with another—In Confirmation of their Opinion, that the Principal had formed a premeditated Defign of facrificing his Duty to his Interest, they mention fundry Facts to the following Purpofe-Principal had a fond Defire of holding the two Parishes of St. James and St. Anne—that it was once his O-pinion, he cou'd not hold them, without the Confent of -That he applied first to the Vefthe Vettries of bothtry of St. James, and got fomething like a Confent from them— That then he applied privately to the Members of the Vestry of St. Anne—and, among the rest, to a Counfellor, who happened to be one of thein-That the Counfellor frankly told him, that he thought his Pretentions illegal, the Law requiring that the Two Parishes thou'd be adjacent, which he thought cou'd not be, when there was an interjacent Parish between them-That, finding, after to ne Conversations, no Change in the Counfellor's Opinion, and that he was inflexibly determined to be governed by his own sense of the Law, when he was acting upon Oath, the Principal grew angry, reviled him behind his Back, conceived that he was unfit to be of the Vestry, and formed a Scheme to turn him out -- That, previously to the execution of his Plot, he spoke to a Gentleman, to be of the Vetry, and upon his Acquiescence, added—us you must engage to give me your Vote to hold the two Parisest, or you joint not come in—That the Gentleman wou'd have neated the Principal with proper Respect for the Indignity, had it not been for a particular Circumstance—That he then applied to another Gentleman in the same Manner, who likewife rejected his Proposition with Scorn-And, laftly, that he found a fit Perfin, who entered into all the proper preliminary Eng ge ents—These People fur-ther add—That, the dot ocing ripe for Execution, the Principal, upon a Sunday, stuck up an Advertisement, notifying to the Parishioners, that there was to be an Election of a Vestryman upon the Tuesday following-That he also summoned a Vettay to meet anon the latter Day, but gave no Notice to the Cet njeue -- 1 has he lodged his Friend, abovementioned, in a neighbouring House, who, upon a signal, was to come out (as foon as the Coun ellor's Seat in the Vestry was determined to be vacant) and supply his Prace—That the Vestry met— That the Principal proposed the Business of the Day, which was the Election of a Vestryman in the Room of one who was become unfit by being a Counfellorthe Vestry were startled at the Novelty of the Objection, and defired that the Counjellor might be fent for, to which the Principal would not confent-That the Neftry politively refuled to enter upon a new Election, till the Counfellor (who was all this white engaged as a Niember of the Mayor's Court, upon the City Election) was fent for, and heard in Support of his Right-That the Principal, thus disappointed, went off in a great Wrath, and his Friend, in Ambufb, followed after -And, fay they, thus ended this pious Plot-Theie Gentlemen go on and make Reflections upon the above Factsin feme Cases is an arrant beet. That Honesty is the best Policy, and. That Craft seldom fails to out-wit itfelf, and meet in the End with its just Rewards, Hatred-Contempt and Disappointment .-

If indeed the above Facts are as true as they are confidently and generally afferted, I should give up the Principal's Conscience, and believe, with the rest of the World, that the Plea of Duty is a mere Pretence, that he endeavoured to accomplish his Purpose, by Means un-justifiable, that his Words and Actions have not been displayed in querfe Colours" than they deferve, and that if he has met with any particular Marks of Odium here, it was not owing to his being a Stranger, but to quite a different Principle. When Contempt is deferved, it ought, for the Interest of real Merit and Virtue, to be Referve, without Diffinction of Perfons; but I fhou'd, indeed be forry, that any Stranger, merely because a Stranger, should be treated in so unworthy a Manner, Stranger, should be treated in lo unworthy a Manner, as to have "his every Word and Action displayed in the worst Colours"—Having, however, observed the excessive Disingenuity of the Bysander, in other Matters, I should suspect his Veracity in the present Instance, even if I did not know the Fact he alledges to be absolutely false.—I sincerely wish, and make not the least Doubt, but that the Character of Hospitality and sivil Record to Strangers, by which we have been hither. civil Regard to Strangers, by which we have been hither-to diftinguished, will be ever preserved; and that we shall always cherish a peculiar Respect, for every con-ficientious Minister, labouring in the great Work of the Gospel, from the Example of whose Life and Conversation, and the Piety of whose Precepts, so many and such in-valuable Benefits flow to the Community.

LETTER

MY DEAR COUNTRYMEN,

MY DEAR COUNTRYMEN,

OME States have loft their Liberty by particular Accidents: But this Calamity is generally owing to the Decay of Virtue. A People is travelling faft to Destruction, when Individuals consider their Interests as distinct from those of the Public. Such Notions are fatal to their Country, and to themselves. Yet how many are there, so awak and fordid, as to think they perform all the Offices of Life, if they earnestly endeavour to increase their own Wealth, Power, and Credit, without the least Regard for the Society, under the Protection of which they live; who, if they can make an imme-of which they live; who, if they can make an immediate Profit to themselves, by lending their Affistance to those, whose Projects plainly tend to the Injury of their Country, rejoice in their Dexterity, and believe themselves entitled to the Character of able Politicians. Miserable Men! Of whom it is hard to say, whether they ought to be most the Objects of Pity or Contempt : But whose Opinions are certainly as detestable, as their

The I always reflect, with a high Pleasure, on the Integrity and Understanding of my Countrymen, which, joined with a pure and humble Devotion to the great and gracious Author of every Blessing they enjoy, will, I hope, ensure to them, and their Posterity, all temporal and eternal Happiness; yet when I confider, that in every Age and Country, there have been bad. Men, my Heart at this threatening Period, is so full of Apprehension, as not to permit me to believe, but that there may be some on this Continent, against whom you ought to be upon your Guard-Men, who either " hold, or expect to hold certain Advantages; by fetting Examples of Servility to their Countrymen. -Men, who trained to the Employment, or felf-taught by a natural Verfatility of Genius, ferve as Decoys for drawing the Innocent and Unwary into Snares. It is not to be doubted but that such Men will diligently bestir themselves on this and every like Occasion, to spread the Infection of their Meanness as far as they can. On the Plans they have adopted, this is their Course. This is the Method to recommend themselves to their Patrons.

From them we shall learn, how pleasant and profitable a Thing it is, to be for our SUBMISSIVE Behaviour well foken of at St. Jamer's, or St. Stephens's, at Guildball, or the Reyal Exchange. Specious Fallacies will be dreft up with all the Arts of Delufion, to perfuade one Colony to diffinguif berfelf from another, by unbecoming Condescensions, which will serve the ambitious Purposet of great Men at home, and therefore will be thought by them to entitle their Affifiance in obtaining to them confiderable Rewards. fiderable Rewards.

Our Fears will be excited. Our Hopes will be awakened. It will be infinuated to us, with a plaufible Affectation of Wifdom and Concern, how prudent it is to please the Powerful—how dangerous to provoke them and then comes in the perpetual Incantation that freezes up every generous Purpole of the Soul, in cold, inactive Expectation-" that if there is any Request to be made, Compliance will obtain a favourable At-

Our Vigilance and our Union are Success and Safety.
Our Negligence and our Division are Distress and Death.
They are worse—They are Shame and Slavery. Let tus equally thun the benumbing Stillness of overweening Sloth, and the feverish Activity of that ill informed Zeal, which busies itself in maintaining little; mean, and narrow Opinions. Let us, with a truly wise Generosity, and Charity, banish and discourage all illiberal Distinctions, which may arise from Differences in Situation, Forms of Government, or Modes of Religion. Let us consider ourselves as Men—Freemen—Christian FreeMen—separated from the rest of the World, and firmly bound together by the same Rights, Interests and Dangers.
Let these keep our Attention insteady fixed on the GREAT OBJECTS, which we must continually see GREAT OBJECTS, which we must continually Re-GARD, in order to prefereve those Rights, to promote those Interests, and to overt these Dangers.

Let these Truths be indelibly impressed on our Minds that we cannot be MAPPY, without being PREEthat we cannot be free, willout being secure in our Property—that we cannot be secure in our Property, if, without our Consent, ethers may, as by Right, take it away—that Takes imposed on us by Parliament, do thus take it away—that Duties laid for the sole Purpose of raising Money, are Taxes—that Attempts to lay such Duties should be instantly and farmly opposed—that this Opposition can never be effectual, unless it is the united Effort of these Provinces—that therefore Benevolence of Temper towards each other, and Unanimity of Counsels, are essential to the Welfare of the Whole—And, lastly, that for this Reason, every Man amongst us. lastly, that for this Reason, every Man amongst us, who in any Manner would encourage either Diffention, Diffidence, or Indifference, Between these Colonies, is an Enemy to bimself, and to bis Country.

The Belief of these Truths, I verily think, my Counrymen, is indifpensably necessary to your Happiness. I bestech you, therefore, " teach them diligently un-

I beseech you, therefore, " teach them diligently unto your Children, and talk of them when you sit in your Houses, and when you walk by the Way, and when you lie down, and when you rise up."

What have these Colonies to ask, while they continue free? Or what have they to dread, but insidious Attempts to subvert their Freedom? Their Prosperity does rempts to subvert their Freedom? Their Proferity does not depend on Ministerial Favours, deled out to particular. Provinces. They form one Political Body, of which each Colony is a Member. Their Happiness is sounded on their Constitution; and is to be promoted, by preserving that Constitution in unabated Vigour, throughout every Part. A Spot, a Speck of Decay, however small the Limb on which it appears, and however remote it may seem from the Vitals, should be alarming. We have all the Rights requisite for our Prosperity. The legal Authority of Great-Britain may indeed lay hard Restrictions upon us; but like the Spear of Telephis, it will cure as well as wound. Her Unkindness will instruct and compel us, after some Time, to discover, in our Industry and Fra-gality, surprising Remedies—if our Rights continue en-violated: For, as long as the Products of our Labour, and violated: For, as long as the Products of our Labour, and the Rewards of our Care, can properly be called our own, so long it will be worth our while to be industrient and frugal. But if, when we plow—sow—reap—gather—and thresh—we find, that we plow—sow—reap—gather—and thresh for others, whose PLEASURE is to be the SOLE LIMITATION bow much they shall take; and bow much they shall keve, was should we repeat the unprofitable Toil t Horses and Onen are content with that Portion of the Fruits of their Work; which their Downers assign them, in order to keep them strong enough to raise successive Grops; but even these Beasts will not submit to draw for their Masters, until they are subdued by Weiss and Goads. Let us take Care of our Rights, and we therein take Care of our Prosperity t.

STATES SHOULD SCORN IT — and if you are not wanting to pourfelver, you will have a proper Regard paid you by these, to whom if you are not respectable, you will be contemptible. But— if we have already forget the Reasons that urged us, with unexampled Unanimity, to exert ourselves Two Years ago— If our Zeal for the Public Good is sworn out before the homespus Cleather, which it caused us to have made—if our Re-Cleaths, which it caused us to have made if our Refolutions are fo faint, as by our prefent Conduct, to con-demn our own late fuccestful Example—if are are not infected by any Reverence for the Memory of our Anceftors, who transmitted to us that Freedom in which they had been blest-if we are not animated by any Regard for Posterity, to whom, by the most facred Obligations, we are bound to deliver down the invaluable Inheritance—THEN, indeed, any Munifer—or any Tool of a Minister—or any Creature of a I ool of a Minister—or any lower Infrument of † Administration, if lower there be, is a Personage whom it may be dangerous to offend. gerous to offend.

I shall be extremely forry, if any Man mistakes my Meaning in any Thing I have said. Officers employed by the Crown, are, while according to the Laws, they conduct themselves, entitled to legal Obedience, and sincere Respect. These it is a Duty to render them; and these no good or prudent Person will withhold. But when these Officers, thro Rashness or Design, defire to enlarge their Authority beyond its due Limits, and expect improper Concessions to be made to them, from regard for the Employments they bear, their Atfrom regard for the Employments they bear, their Attempts should be considered as equal Injuries to the Crown and People, and should be conrageously and constantly opposed. To suffer our Ideas to be confounded by Names on such Occasions, would be an inexcusable Weakness, and probably an irremediable Error. We have Reason to believe, that several of his Ma-jesty's present Ministers are good Men, and Friends to our Country; and it feems not unlikely, that by a particular Concurrence of Events, we have been treated a little more feverely than they wished we should be, They might not think it prudent to stem a Torrent. But what is the Difference to us, whether arbitrary Acts take their Rise from Ministers, or are permitted by them? Ought any Point to be allowed to 1 a good Minister, that should be denied to a bad one? The Mortality of Ministers, is a very frail Mortality.

* It is not intended, by these words, to throw any reflec-tion upon gentlemen, because they are possessed of offices: for, many of them are certainly men of wirtue, and lowers of their country. But, supposed obligations of gratitude, and honour, may induce them to be silent. Whether these shigations ought to be regarded or not, is not so much to be considered by others, in the judgment they form of these gentlemen, as aubether they think they ought to be regarded. Perhaps, therefore, we shall all in the properest manner towards them, if we neither reproach nor imitate them. The persons meant in this letter, are the base spirited wretches, who may endeavour to distinguish them-felves by their fordid zeal in defending and promoting mea-fares, which they know, beyond all question, to be de-structive to the just rights and true interests of their country. It is fearcely possible to speak of these men with any degree of patience—It is searcely possible to speak of them with any degree of propriety—For no awards can truly describe their guilt and meanness—But every honess before, on their being mentioned, will feel what cannot be exercised.

If their wickedness did not blind them, they might perceive along the coast of these colonies, many skeletons of awrecked ambition, awhich, after diffinguishing themselves in the support of the Stamp-Act, by a courageous contempt of their country, and of juffice, have been left to linger out their miferchie existence, without a government, collectorship, secreincrybip, or any other commission, to confole them as well as it could, for loss of wirtue and reputation—while numberless offices have been bestoqued in these colonies on people from Great-Britain, and new ones are continually invent-id, to be thus bestowed. As a few great Prizes are put into a lottery to TEMPT multitudes to lose, so here and there an American bas been raised to a great Post

Mr. Grenville, indeed, in order to recommend the Stamp-Act, bad the unequalled generofty, to pour down a golden flower of offices upon Americans; and yet these ungrateful colonies did not thank Mr. Grenville for flewing his hindness to their countrymen, nor them for accepting it. How must that great statesman have been surprized, to find, that the unpolished colonies could not be reconciled to infamy by treachery? Such a bountiful disposition towards us, of treachery? Such a bountiful disposition towards us, never appeared in any minister before him, and probably never will appear again: For it is evident, that such a system of policy is to be established on this continent, as, in a foot time, is to render it utterly unnecessary to use the least art in order to conciliate our approbation of any measures. Some of our countrymen may be employed to fix chains upon us, but they will never be permitted to hold them afterwards. So that the utmost, that any of them can exped, is only a temporary provision, that may expire in their is only a temporary provision, that may expire in their even Time; but which, they may be affured, will preclude their children from having any confideration paid to them.

NATIVES of America must fink into total NEGLECT and CONTENDET, the moment that their country loses the conflictuous for powers she now possesses. Most succeedy do I wish and pray, that every one of us may be convinced of this great truth, that—industry and integrity are public of pleasantness," which lead to bappiness. " " Instrumenta Regni." † "If any person shall imagine that he discovers, in these letters, the least disasfection towards our most excellent sovereign, and the parliament of Great-Britain, and the parliament of Great-Britain. or distike of the dependance of these colonies on that kingdom, I beg that such person will not form any judgment on particular expressions, but will consider the tenor of all the letters taken together. In that case, I flatter myself, that every unprejudiced reader will be convinced, that the true interests of Great-Britain are as dear to me, as they ought to be to every good subject.

"If I am an Enthusass in any thing, it is in my zeal for the perpetual dependance of these colonies on their mother country.—A dependance founded on mutual benefits, the continuance of which can be secured only by mutual affections. Therefore is benefits, the continuance of which can be fecured only by matual affections. Therefore it is, that with extreme apprehension, I view the smallest seeds of discontent, which are unwarily scattered abroad. Fifty or Sixty years will make assonishing alterations in these colonies; and this consideration should render it the business of Great-Britain more and more to cultivate our good dispositions towards her: But the missortune is, that those great men, who are wrestling for power at home, think themselves very slightly interested in the prosperity of their country Fifty of Sixty years hence, but are deeply concerned in blowing up a popular clamour for supposed immediate advantages.

"For my part, I regard Great-Britain as a Bulwark happily fixed between these commiss and the powerful nations of Europe. That kingdom is our advanced post.

nations of Europe. That kingdom is our advanced post or fortification, which remaining safe, we, under its protection, enjoying peace; may diffuse the bleffings of religion, science, and liberty, thro' remote wilderneffes. It is therefore incontestably our duty and our interest to support the strength of the same than the same trength of the same than the same trength of the same tre terest to support the strength of Great-Britain. When, confiding in that strength, she begins to forget from whence it arose; it will be an easy thing to shew the source. She may readily be reminded of the loud alarm spread among her merchants and tradesmen, by the universal association of these colonies, at the time of the Stomp-All, not to import any of her MANUTAC.

" In the Year 1718, the Ruffins and Swedes entered into an agreement, not to fuffer Great-Britain to export any MAVAL STORES from their dominions, but in Ruffian or Savedift ships, and at their own prices. Great-Britain was distressed. Pitch and tor role to Three Powers a barrel. At length she thought of getting these articles from the colonies; and the attempt fucceeding, they fell down to Fifteen Shillings. In the Year 1756, Great-Britain was threatened with an invation. eafterly Wind blowing for fix weeks, she could not man her fleet; and the whole Nation was thrown into the utmost consternation. The winds changed: The American Ships arrived. The fleet failed in ten or fifteen days. There are some other reflections on this subject; worthy of the most deliberate attention of the British parliament; but they are of fuch a nature, that I do parliament; but they are of such a nature, that I do not chuse to mention them publickly. I thought that I discharged my duty to my country, by taking the liberty, in the year 1765, while the Stamp-Ad was in suspence, of writing my sentiments to a gentleman of the greatest influence at home, who afterwards distinguished himself, by espousing our cause, in the debates concerning the repeal of that act."

We find a new Kind of Minister lately spoken of at home—"The Minister of the House of Commons." The Term seems to have peculiar Propriety, when referred to these Colonies, with a different Meaning annexed to it, from that in which it is taken there. By the Word "Minister," we may understand not only a Servant of the Crown, but a Man of Insuence among the Commons, who regard themselves as having a Share in the Sovereignty over us. The "Minister of the House" may, in a Point respecting the Colonies, be so strong, that the Minister of the Crown in the House, if he is a distinct Person, may not chuse, even where his Sentiments are favourable to us, to come to a pitched Battle upon our Account. For, tho' I have the highest Opinion of the Deference of the House for the King's Minister, yet he may be so good natured, as not to put it to the Test, except it be for the mere and immediate Profit of his Master, or himself.

But, whatever kind of Minister he is, that attempts

But, whatever kind of Minister he is, that attempts to innovate a fingle lota in the Privileges of these Colonies, him I hope you will undauntedly oppose; and that you will never surfer yourselves to be either cheated or frightened into any unworthy Obsequiausness. On such Emergencies, you may surely, without Presumption, believe that ALMIGHTY GOD himself will look down upon your righteous Contest with gracious Approbation. You will be a "Band of Brothers," cemented by the dearest Ties,—and strengthened with inconceivable Supplies of Force and Constancy, by that sympathetic Ardour, which animates good Men, consederated in a good Cause. Your Honour and Wessare will be, as they now are, most intimately concerned; and besides—you are assigned by Divine Providence, in the appointed Order of Things, the Providence, in the appointed Order of Things, the Providence, Whether they shall arise the generous and indisputable Heirs of the noblest Patrimonies, or the dassardy and bereditary Drudges of imperious Task-masters, you must determine.

To discharge this double Duty to yourselves, and to your Posterity, you have nothing to do, but to call forth into Use, the good Sense and Spirit of which you are possessed. You have nothing to do, but to conduct your Assairs peaceably—prudently—firmly—jointly. By these Means you will support the Character of Freemen, without losing that of faithful Subjects—a good Character in any Government—one of the best under a British Government—You will prove, that Americans have that true Magnanimity of Soul, that can resent Injuries, without failing into Rage; and that the your Devotion to Great-Britain is the most affectionare, yet you can make proper Distinctions, and know what you owe to yourselves, as well as to her—You will, at the same Time that you advance your Interests, advance your Reputation—You will convince the World of the Justice of your Demands, and the Purity of your Intentions.—While all Mankind must, with unceasing Applauses consess, that you indeed Deserve Liberty, who so well understand it, so passionately love it, so temperately enjoy it, and so wifely, bravely, and wirtuously, asset to the proper in the

Is there not the strongest Probability, that if the universal Sense of these Colonies is immediately expressed by RESOLVES of the Assemblies, in Support of their Rights, by INSTRUCTIONS to their Agents on the Subject, and by Petitions to the Crown and Parliament for Redress, these Measures will have the same Success now, that they had in the Time of the Stamp-Ad?

W A R S.A W, Odober 15.

PRINCE Repnin, the Russian Ambassador, has published the following Declaration relative to the Proceedings of the Russian Troops, in carrying off some of the Members of the Diet.

"The Troops of the Empress, my Sovereign, who are Friends and Allies to the confederated Republic, arrested the Bishops of Cracovia, and the Staroste of Dolin, for having been wanting in their Behaviour towards the Dignity of her Imperial Majesty, by attacking the Purity of her falutary, disinterested, and amicable Intentions towards the Republic. As the General Confederacy of the Crown of Poland and of the grand Dutchy of Lithuania is under the Protection of her Imperial Majesty, the undersigned gives them Notice of the taking away these Noblemen, assuring them at the same Time, that the General Confederacy shall still enjoy the Assistance and Support of her Imperial Majesty; which Assurances the General Confederacy may rely upon, as well for Preservation and Support of the Laws of Poland, as for the Redress of the many Abuses that have crept into the Form of Government, to the Prejudice of the sandamental Laws. Her Imperial Majesty aims at nothing but the Prosperity of the Kingdom, and will not discontinue to employ her Forces, in order to attain that End, without any other Interest in View, but the Happiness and Liberty of the Polish Nation, as has been already clearly expressed in the Declarations of her Imperial Majesty, which guarantee to the Republic her Possissions, Laws, and Form of Government, and the Prerogatives of the People in general."

The Deputies appointed by the King, in the Name of the States assembled, to demand the Liberty of the Prifoners, have not been able to succeed in their Application; and they have even been refused the Assurances of Safety for the other Nuncios, which they were charged to apply for.

Part of the Russian Troops quitted the Neighbour-hood of Warsaw Yesterday, and are gone farther into the Country, upon the Report of another Confederacy being formed in the Palatine of Cracovia, and upon the Frontiers of Hungary. Nov. 16. The Troubles of Poland increase daily. A Nobleman of this Kingdom having delivered himfelf with too much Warmth in the Diet against the Dissipance of the Russians. Prince Repnin, General in Chief, and Ambassador from the Empress, dispatched immediately Three Thousand Men to live at Discretion on the said Nobleman's Estates, whose Lady thereon armed his Vassals, to the Number of Two Thousand, and at their Head offered Battle to the Russians. The Officer who commanded the latter sent for fresh Orders to Prince Repnin, who commanded him to retire, as not who commanded the latter fent for fresh Orders to Prince Repnin, who commanded him to retire, as not likely to acquire any Honour by fighting against such a Heroine. It is added, that this Example of Firmness and Gourage on the Part of the Polish Lady, has produced a very great Effect over the Minds of all, and considerably animates the Party who oppose the Dissidents.

Nov. 18. A Convention between Russia and this Republic is said to be upon the Carpet, by Virtue of which the former of those Powers is to have a Body of 40,000 Men always in this Kingdom ready to act in Support of the Two Treaties that are going to be made, one of which is to restore the Dissidents to the Enjoyment of their ancient Privileges, and the other is to reform the Abuses that have crept into the Form of Government.

GENOA, Oct. 24. It is assured that a Treaty is on Foot for an Accommodation between this Republic and the Malecontents of Corsica, by which the Inhabitants of that Island will be acknowledged a free and independent People, and entitled to all the other Stipulations guaranteed by France.

LEGHORN, Nov. 14. It is reported that the Corficans resolved, at their last General Assembly, that if their Differences with the Genoese shall not be settled before the 6th of next August, the French Troops shall retire, and the War shall be renewed. The Malecontents have 150 Pieces of Cannon, besides Ship Guns.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 12. Letters from Venice advise, that a Turkish Army is upon the March towards the Black Sea.

Nov. 19. On Sunday last a superstitious Gentlewoman, whose Husband had presented her with a Ticket in the present Lottery, put up Prayers in a Church not a Mile from St. Andrew's, in Holbourn, in the following Manner:——" The Prayers of this "Congregation are desired for the Success of a Person

"engag'd in a new Undertaking."
At a Church in North-Wales, the whole Sum collected by a Brief for a terrible Fire, amounted to ONE FARTHING, which was given by the Curate, who declared it was the most he could afford to give, out of Ten Pounds per Annum, considering he had a Wife, and Six Children.

Nov. 26. There is now living, at his House in Esex, a Gentleman named Fleetwood Sheppard, Esq; who is 120 Years of Age, enjoys an unusual Flow of Spirits, and the Use of his Senses; he is mentioned in a very honourable Manner, by the celebrated Matthew Prior, in his Poems.

Nov. 30. They write from Constantinople, that Haffan Bey, a famous Pyrate, who had committed divers Robberies on the Euxine Sea, and had plundered several Turkish Saics, during the late War with Georgia, was taken and impaled; he offered Five Hundred Thoufand Gold Chequins for his Life.

Dec. 8. Letters from Copenhagen advise, that his Danish Majesty has determined to release the Peasants of his Kingdom from their State of Servitude, so contrary to Humanity, and the natural Liberty to which every Individual has an undoubted Right, and actually appointed a Commission to consider of the most proper Expedients for carrying into Execution this great and good Project. In the mean Time, the Directory of War has already annulled the Privilege which the Officers of the Militia had in Norway, to treat the inrolled Subjects as Slaves, and to employ them in any kind of Drudgery.

of Drudgery.

Dec. 7. We hear that the very ingenious Cabinet-Maker, Author of the extraordinary curious Machine and Engine, mentioned in the Papers, hath also invented Two curious Pieces of Ordnance or Cannon, one of which fires 50 Balls at one Firing, which, when discharged, spread themselves at 100 or 200 Yards Distance from each other; useful both by Land and Sea. The other fires in a right Line, like common Cannon, but, with once Loading, discharges Four, Six or Nine different Times in one Minute, so contrived that one Charge does not heat another, and for Conveniency of Carriage, may be taken in Parts.

B O S T O N, February 11.

Capt. Pattin, in the Brigantine Neptune, arrived here, a few Days ago, from Monto Christi, in 32 Days Passage, in whom came Passenger, Capt. William Bett, who gives the following melancholly Account, viz. That on the 27th of June 1767, we failed from Senegal, on the Coast of Africa, in the Ship Good Intent, bound to the Island of Tenerisse, having on board the Chief Justice of Senegambia, Lieutenant George Cox, of the Artillery, Mr. Christopher Mills, and Seven Slaves, who with the Ships Grew, made 22 Souls in all.—That on our Passage we met with bad Weather, being in the Turnado Season, was drove so far to the Westward, that we could not reach the Shore, the Wind being on the Eastern Quarter, and blew so violent that we lost half the Water we had on board, which brought us to an Allowance of a Quart a Man per Day, from that to a Pint, and so to Half a Pint, then to a single Glass, and finally were Nine Days without a Drop; in the mean Time Eleven of our People died, among which unhappy Number, was Lieutenant Cox. Those of us who survived, were so weak, that we could not move from our Beds, and the Vessel drove as the Wind and Sea carried her.—That on the 4th of September, being 200 Leagues due West from the Canaries, a Ship from Marfeilles, bound to St. Domingo, came up with us, and after stripping the Vessel of her Sails and Rigging, and other Valuables, took us all on board, (excepting Two of the People who were then dying) and proceeded on her Voyage, and after her Arrival at St. Domingo, we could not be released from the Ship, unless we paid the French Captain an extravagant Demand for his Loss of Time, and Trouble in taking us up, which took the little we had left. Capt. Bett proceeded from St. Domingo, to Mento Christi, and took Passes in Capt. Pattin, and arrived here, as mentioned above.

The Chief Justice took his Passage for Marfeilles, Two Days after he arrived at St. Domingo, in his Way to England.

Feb. 15. It is said the House of Representatives, now fitting in General Assembly, have preferred a humble, dutiful, and loyal Petition to the King, imploring his Majesty's gracious Protection of their Constitutional and Charter Rights, which are thought to be infringed by feveral Acts, imposing Duties to be levied on their Constituents, without their Consent in Parliament; And that they have forwarded Letters to the Right Honourable the Lords Sn, Rm, C .. C----n, and to Mr. Secretary C----y, &c. representing the Grievances, and earneftly intreating their Aid and Patronage: It is, moreover, added, that their Committee have reported a Letter, which is accepted by the House, directed to the several Houses of Repre-fentatives and Burgesses on the Continent; communicating, in decent Terms, their Sentiments and Pro-ceedings, on this common Concern. And to prevent the Enemies of the Colonies misrepresenting this Meafure, we are informed, the House has ordered a Copy of the last mentioned Letter to be transmitted to Mr. De Berdt, to be by him produced as Necessity may require. It is further faid, that for the Sake of cultivating, as far as lies in their Power, a Harmony in the General Affembly, a Committee from the House waited on the Governor of the Province, to acquaint him, that the House was ready to lay before his Excellency their whole Proceedings in this important Affair, if he defired it : Which Committee was directed humbly to request his Excellency, that he would be pleased to favour the House with a Copy of a Letter from Lord Shelburne, which had been read in the House by the Governor's Order; and also Copies of his own Letters to which it referred. We are affored, that while the House have been setting forth the unspeakable Grievance of Subjects being taxed unrepresented, the great-eft Care has been taken to shew, that an equal Reprefentation of this Province in the British Parliament is utterly impossible.

A N N A P O L I S, March 10.

The Snow Rodney, Capt. Purdie, bound for Pataple, arrived here on Tuesday last, from London, with upwards of Seventy Convicts, which Place he left the 20th of September. When, coming on this Coast he met with very bad Weather, and after a long Time beating off the Capes, and his Provisions being nearly expended, he was obliged to bear away for the Wol. Indies, and arrived fase at Antigua, not having them a lingle Ounce of Provision left, although for a considerable Time before, were allowanced to Two Ounces 2 Man per Day, and reduced to such Distress, that some of the People eat their Shoes and Leather Breeches—It was happy for them that they had always Plenty of Water.

N the Veries published in your last Gazette, there feems to be a capital Error, whether of the Pres, or the Author, I will not determine. It is in the following Line:

"Paint all the Blackness of your Mind and Face,"
The descriptive Words, "Blackness of Face," denote, that the Person whom the Author had in his Eye, is a black Man; but, as no Man can help the Colour of his Complexion, all personal Reslections are ungenerous; it being impossible to wash a Black-a-moor white. I beg, therefore, at my Risk, you will correct the Line in the following Manner, which will sait the Rhyme as well, and the Sense a great deal better;

"Paint all the Blackness of your Mind and" Rate.

ing to be made Slaves.

SIR,

Sthe approaching Seffion is the last of the present Parliament; and we must have a new one chosen in a few Months; so I find, great Interest is making in many Parts of the Kingdom against the next Election. But, I am not a little surprized, that some old Members, can have the Assurance to appear as Candidates again. Men who did all in their Power to put a Yoke upon the Necks of their Fellow-Subjects, and force their Money out of their Pockets without their own Consent. And also shew themselves ready and willing to facrifice, and give up the Liberties and Privileges of the People of Great-Britain; to subject our Persons and Properties unto Eritain; to subject our Persons and Properties unto Seizure and Imprisonment at the capricious arbitrary Will and Pleasure of a S- of State. Can there be a greater Insult upon the Understanding of a Free People, than for them to think we shall ever be willing to intrust our Liberties, Privileges, Persons, and Properties, in the same Hands any more? Surely they must

If the British Electors should be so weak and venal, as to chuse those Men for their Representatives, will it not evince our Degeneracy from the noble Spirit of our Ancestors; and that we are become, not only ripe, and sit, but even willing to be Slaves? And may not some future corrupt Minister, make Use of such sit Tools to establish for himself an arbitrary despotic Power; and thereby deprive us and our Posterity of all those invaluable Bleffings and Privileges, which our brave Forefathers maintained with the noblest Fortitude and Resolution, at the Hazard of their Lives and Fortunes; and for which they freely shed their Blood to onvey the same down intire to their dear Postericy? A Minister may now see how Members have been inluenced, and if the People chuse those Men again, he may thereby justly conclude, we will as tamely sub-mit to the Lois of all our envied Liberties, without the least Danger to himself. If there should be found think us the most egregious Fools, and that we are wil-

(which God forbid) an Elector in Britain, so degene-rate and base, as to vote for one of those who were so willing to betray our Liberties, and enflave us; let him be for ever despised, abhorred and detested, as the Bane of Society, and Enemy of Civil Liberty.

One of these Tools, at a Meeting of the Gentlemen and Clergy of the County he now reprefents, when he found them disposed to set him and his Colleague aside, and put Two other Gentlemen in Nomination, threatened to spend his paternal Estate (which is known to be very large) but he would be chosen : And, at another Time, faid, he had Six Thoufand Pounds by him, which he did not well know what to do with, and he would spend that. Speeches which clearly discover what his Principles are, and that, if he cannot et into the Parliament by the Free Choice and Good Will of the Farnament by the Free Choice and Good Will of the Electors, he will endeavour to get in by Bribery and Corruption. And we may affure ourselves, that those who buy us with their Money, will as certainly sell us for a Place, a Pension, or a Title. But those venal Gentlemen should themselves consider, that when they give up, or undermine the Liberties of others, they are forging Fetters and Chains for their own Children, and all their Descendants to curse their

In order to prevent those Evils, I should be glad to see the Names of all those who voted for General Warrants, and the American Stamp-Act, printed weekly in our Public Papers, that they may be univerfally known, and the honest Electors secured from Imposition or tors fecured from Imposition or Mistake. And, if they are every where, rejected with that Contempt, which they justly deserve, it will display a becoming British Spirit in the Electors, and may prevent other Members in future, from voting for any Thing which has the least Tendency to undermine. mine, or retrench our invaluable Liberties.

AN INDEPENDENT ELECTOR.

FROM THE NEW-YORK GAZETTE.

Mr. GAINE,

he pleased to give the following a Place in your Paper, and you will oblige your constant Reader,

THE People of America in general are strangely possessed with an Opinion, that Wine cannot be nade in this Country: But if they knew how to plant, the and many ways to be a supply to the strangely the strangely strangely the strangely s made in this Country: But if they knew how to plant, rim and manage Vines, if they were acquainted with the Method of making, fermenting and preferving of Wines, they would find that nothing is more easy; and hat the greatest Part of this Continent, upon Trial, would be found finely adapted to that Purpose. The Climate generally is dry and warm, from the Middle of Spril, to the Middle or End of Olober, and very hot luring the Summer Season; and as the Country opens, it is visible to every sensible Observer, that our Seasons become more dry: Most of the valuable Grapes, for making of Wine, come to full Maturity within that sight not to discourage any Man, because the severest of them, may casily be guarded against, by forming the Heads of the Vines near the Ground, which indeed is the best Way, and now generally practifed, and by burying the Branches, which is foon done: Two Hands burying the Branches, which is 1000 done: I wo rather can lay down and bury an Acre of Vines in one Day. As to the Profits arifing from Vineyards, it is agreed upon on all Hands, that have writ upon the Subject, or are acquainted with the true Value of them, that they are by far the most advantageous of any Culture in Husbandry in Northern Countries. Four Acres of good Vines, well cultivated, and well secured, in a good Seafon, will yield as much clear Profit, as Four Hundred Acres of good Land generally do in these Countries. Some few Attempts have been made for making of Wine in some Parts of America; but, unhappily, the common Burgundy, as being the most common and easiest to be had, has been pitched upon for the Purpose. This Vine, which is the Munier, or Miller's Grape, is hardy and thrifty, grows well in any dry Soil that is in tolerable good Heart, and bears well; these Properties, I imagine, have been the chief Inducements to this Choice; but then this fame Burgundy, of all Grapes that I am acquainted with, is most apt to burst and fail, just as they begin to ripen, if a smart Rain, or wet Seafon happens about that Time. All Black Grapes are not subject to this Accident, and no White Grapes are subject to this Accident, and no White Grapes are subject to it; and therefore it is the greater Misfortune for America, that this critical and precarious Grape, thould, of all others, be pitched upon, for the first Trial; for that failing, after Five or Six Years Trial, all farther Attempts have been laid aside, and the Thing for some Time has been looked upon as impracticable; However fome fresh Attempts are now making, and a little Time will discover the Success: It is not every Spot of Ground that is fit for a Vineyard, and therefore particular Regard ought to be had to the Choice of it, as well as to the Nature of the Vines that are planted in it; fince on these, as well as on the right Culture of them, depends the Success of a Vine-yard. But these and all other Things relating to this Affair, shall be fully explained whenever there shall be a proper Occasion.

That Wine can be made in America, I know by Experience; I have tried it, and find that it can be done with Ease and Certainty.

Many Men, and fome of them Men of Learning and Figure, have writ upon the Culture of Vines, and the making of Wine; but they have generally taken Things upon Truft, and have never gone through the Process themselves; and therefore have delivered Things by Halves, and in a Manner unintelligible to those who are to learn the Whole from the Beginning, and are unacquainted with every Part; besides, their Rules and Precepts, are calculated either for the warm Countries of Italy, Spain, Portugal, or the South of France, or else for the cold, wet Country of Great-Britain; neither of which at present suits this Pare of the World.

If the Gentlemen of Public Spirit in the different Colonies, or the Bodies of Men affociated for promoting Arts, Manufactures and Agriculture, thall think the making of Wine a Subject or Matter worthy of their Attention at this Time, and will unite in the Expence of a Public Vineyard, to be planted in fome convenient Place, nearly centrical, for the Benefit of the Whole, from which may be drawn fuch Vines as may best fuit from which may be drawn such Vines as may best suit any Part, by any Person demanding the same, free and clear of any Expence; which is the best Method I can think of at present, for a ready general Supply; or will fall upon any other Measure for carrying the Thing into Execution, for the general Good; upon their giving Public Notice of their being willing to set on Foot an Affair of this Importance, I will, at their Desire, freely surnish them with such Instructions, for the planting of Vineyards, making of Wine, and curing planting of Vineyards, making of Wine, and curing of Raifins, as shall fully answer those Purposes, adapted dian of every Colony, which being printed in a Small Volume, may be of general Ufe.

This Affair is new to the People of America, and most People born here, are unacquainted with the Nature of it: But many of the Germani and French in this Country, are well acquainted with the Management and Profits of Vineyards; they have feen both in France and Germany, as far North as Paris, and the Rhiae, which lay in Fifty and Fifty-one Degrees, Numbers of fine Vineyards, and have drank excellent Wines of their Produce; our Country is as dry as theirs, the Air as ferene and warm, the Heat more intense and more lasting, and our Falls at least as favourable; I mean in our Northern Colonies; those to the South of Delaware; are every Way much more fo; and it is well known, that, as our Country opens, and is cleared, the Swamps, Bogs, and wet Grounds drained, the Scafons become more mild, dry and warm, which are Circumstances not a little favourable to Vines.

If fome Gentlemen of Fortune would lead the Way; in the different Colonies, and observe the Rules which shall be laid down in as plain and full a Manner as need be required, the Thing would become general in a few Years: The Sides of floping Grounds, of Hills and Mountains, would be covered with Vires; America foon, and Great-Britain, in Time, would tafte and enjoy the Sweets of her Labours, and the rich Product of her Colonies: Wine would become a Staple, a ready Colonies: Wine would become a Staple, a ready and lafting Remittance, and a reciprocal Advantage in Point of Trade. Many a poor Man, that could rent or purchase a Piece of Ground, that now lies neglected and little efteemed, flould be able foon to maintain a Family in a comfortable Manner; and contribute by their Labour; to the Public Emolument: S M Y R N A, September 3.

Moscow, Sept. 24. Letters have been received here from Afracan, which advise, that above roco Buildings, in that Capital, have been confumed by Fire.

BOLOGNA, O.B. 3. They write from Milan, that a Pragmatic Law has lately been published there, which is from henceforward to be observed throughout the Austrian Lombards. Auftrian Lombardy. This Law, which is divided into feveral Articles, contains principally; that all the Rights which the Pope or the Rightps have hitherto had over Ecclefialtics, either with Regard to their Effects or their Persons, shall be transferred to a Council, established for that Purpose, at Milan; that all Ecclesiastics shall be obliged to sell their Estates which they have become possessed of since the Year 1722; and that no Subject, either Ecclesiastic or Secular, shall be permitted to go to Rome, without the Consent of the Council, to solicit any Favour, except Letters of Indulgence. This Law is the same as was published at Venice, under the Ponis the same as was published at Venice, under the Pontificate of Benedict XIV, and which occasioned to many Debates, that the Republic was obliged to abolifh it in the Beginning of the Pontificate of Clement XIII. It is thought this Law will be by no Means agreeable to the Court of Rome, on account of the Confequences that will refult from it.

Nov. 1. The Dutch are in the highest Spirits on Account of the Marriage of the Stadtholder with a Prin-cess of Prussia; and now laugh at our Threatnings of confining their Fisheries in proper Bounds, and making this and that Demand. They have now got a good this and that Demand. They have now got a good Barrier and Friend in the King of Pruffia, against England. And England is the Object of Jealousy and secret Resentment of the Family Compact, the Powers of France, Spain, and Austria, in consequence of our late Successes in the East and West; which Increase of Wealth and Power has also excited the Jealousy of the Dutch. And the Resente of the King of Pruffia is Wealth and Power has also excited the Jealousy of the Dutch. And the Revenge of the King of Prussia is excited by our making Peace without him, and not answering his Demand; and may induce him to join the Family Compact, on Condition of his having Sile, singuaranteed by them; which, when completed, he will have no Power to obstruct his paying himself the Demands he has upon England, by seizing Hanover; which will be a fine Acquisition, and is to be guaranteed also by the Compact Powers—Such are the Conjectures of many of our most shrewd Politicians.

and yet never were People more listless and more inattentive to them—An immense National Debt; a Decline of Manufasturess. Taxations as numerous, as burdenof Manufactures; Taxations as numerous, as burden-fome; a Fifth Part of our Subjects denying our Autho-rity; a petty Prince infulting us; Timidity in G—t; a War, perhaps, not distant, with extreme Venality, and many Et cæteras; form a Catalogue sufficient to alarm the securest. This is not the empty Cant of Political Writers; the Facts are incontestible, and as such, long since recognized by the Public."

Extrail of a Letter from Lifton, Sept. 20.

4 The King has iffued an Edict, by which his Majesty forbids his Subjects, of all Ranks and Conditions, to accept of any Letters of Fraternity from the Jefuits, to accept of any Letters of Fraternity from the Jesuits, and orders, at the same Time, all those who have engaged themselves in any Association with that Society, to renounce the same; it being his Majesty's Pleasure, that no Regard be paid to the Bull of the Court of Rome, dated the 10th of September 1766, beginning with the Words, "Animarum Salute, &c." Lastly, the King enjoins all those who continue to have any Connection with the said Fathers, to quit his Dominious immediately." Nov. 7. They write from Copenhagen, that a Propolal has just been made to the Danish Ministry, for importing Tobacco from the Levant, that which grows in Afia Minor being very good, and exceeding cheap; and they add, that this Scheme will immediately be carried into Execution.

Letters from Poitiers inform, that on the 5th of last Month, about Two o'Clock in the Afternoon, there was one of the most violent Hurricanes ever known at Montmorillon, which had its Direction from West to East; it shook the Walls, uncovered the Roofs of Houses, and overthrew Chimnies and the Timber-Work of many Houses which were situated on the River Gardemple, and the Wind was fo violent and boilterous, that it raised the Waves of the River 15 Feet high, fo that one could have feen the bare Chan-nel; this Hurricane plucked up many Trees by the Roots, and those which could resist its Fury, had their Branches all tore to Pieces. The last Letters from Senegal mention, that a French Interpreter and Secretary to the King of Brack, had been poisoned by the Natives, for endeavouring to perfuade that Prince to go to War with another Nation, in Alliance with Great-Britain. Letters from Paris fay, that a Duel has just been fought there, between an Exempt of the King's Body-Guards and a Musqueteer, concerning a Mistress to whom each paid his Addresses. The former had the Consent of the Parents, the latter pretended to the good Wishes of the Girl. Both were killed, and both left dead on the Field of Battle.

ANNAPOLIS, March 17.

On Sunday Morning last died, in the Jail of this City, William Duprieft, who was under Confinement for having been concerned in counterfeiting the Eight Dollar Bills of Credit of this Province. 'Tis suppofed he has been, for fome Years, an eminent Artist in that Species of Villainy, as 'tis alledged he counterfeited the Paper Currency of Virginia and Carolina.

—It is generally thought he took a Dose of Laudanum, as he slept from the Tuesday preceding his Death, to the Time above-mentioned.

*. The Piece figned, CRAMBO, came too late to be inferted in this Week's GAZETTE.

Mrs. GREEN,

Please to insert the following Lines in your next Gazette, in Answer to the Verses to C. D. in No. 1273, and you will oblige, Your's, &c.

To Fame, 'tis true, thy Name shall be confign'd, With all the Marks of thy corrupted Mind; Where Falsehood, Rancour, Fraud, and Av'rice dwell, Where Envy broods, and all within is Hell. Where Demons fierce, difturb the calm Repose, And Confcience preys with agonizing Woes.

Proceed, vain Boafter! fpeed th' envenom'd Dart, Patch other's Labours with thy cobling Art : Strike quick the Man, with thy avenging Rod, Whose Oath is sacred, and who fears his GoD: Who soon discern'd the Soul-polluted Elf, That makes Religion center in Himfelf With Rage malignant, urge th' intrepid Foe, And raze Church Rev'nues at a fingle Blow: Like curst † Herestratus, thy Worth proclaim, And set the sacred Temple in a Flame.

But on the Ground supreme, with Caution tread, A Sage of Law has fometimes lost his Head. Events as fatal too—without a Trope, Have often happen'd from an Hempen Rope. Then wifely, doubt thy Knowledge to be fuch, That here's too little given, there too much. A little Learning is a dangerous Thing, Drink deep, or tafte not the Pierian Spring. Some have for Pimps, and then for Poets past Turn'd Lawyers next, and canting Rogues at laft.

Too well he knows thee, to renounce the War, To fear thy Taunts, or dread a Fribble's Scar. He dares thy Worft, with Scorn beholds thy Rage, The pert dull Ranting of thy nerve-less Page. Defy thy Rage! Yes, surely he defies The Rage of branded Fraud, that all despise. Attack the Honour that unveil'd your Wiles, Betray the Pique of disappointed Guiles! No ufelest Shields his upright Heart defend ; The blust Shaft shall sink, e'er it verges there, And the dull His, but die away in Air. Had He, to've pleas'd thee, facrific'd bis Oath, He still had been the—REAL MAN OF WORTH!

But, fay not, BALTIMORD commends thy Crimes, Or weighs Mens Merit by their jingling Rhymes : Strict Virtue oft, to others' Vice is blind, Suspicion dwells not in the noble Mind.

Then draw thy Pencil, stigmatize the Man, Whom Confcience governs, to oppose thy Plan;
Who pays Obedience to his Country's Laws,
And dares to vindicate her rightful Cause:
His truest Lineaments, with Justice trace,
The striking Contrast shall thyself disgrace!
Virtues, like his, adorn a Public State,
Whilst Worth, like thing, deserves and Haman's Whilft Worth, like thine, deserves-an 1 Haman's Fate!

B D, T N PERSON well acquainted with the Business of a A COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE. Such a one, on Application to the Printer, will be duly encouraged.

AMES M'MORDIE, TEREBY informs the Public, that he has open'd TAVERN, on the Dock, at the Sign of the BLUE-BALL, near Charles Carroll's, Efq; where all Gentlemen Travellers, and others, will meet with good Entertainment, both for themselves and Horses. * He likewise would be obliged to his Friends and Acquaintances, both on the Western and Eastern

"Whether there be Two different Goddess, called Fame, as some Authors contend, or only one Goddess, sounding Two different Trumpets, it is certain, that People dissinguished for their Villainy, have as good a Title to a Blass from the proper Trumpet, as those who are most renowned for their Virtues, have from the other; and have equal Reason to complain if it be refused them. And, accordingly, the Names of the most celebrated Prossingates have been faithfully transmitted down to Posterity. And, although the Person here unseed deritand, asked his Part in an obscure Corner of the World; yet his Talents might have shone with Lustre enough in the noblest Scene."

MARYLAND LIBERTY LOTTERY THE Lower House of Assembly of MARYLAND, have constantly, and ineffectually, hitherto, fince Seventeen Hundred and Thirty-nine, RESOLVED, That his Lordship hath no Right to collect Twelve-pence per Hogshead on Tobacco exported.

A CONSTITUTIONAL Tax on the People to Support an Agent of the Appointment of the Lower House has been greatly defired, frequently attempted, and as often refused by the Upper House.

The Lower House of Assembly contend, That the Clerk of the Council his reafonable Reward, as well as every other Expence necessarily attending the Exas every other expense necessarily attending the Ex-ecution of the Powers of Government, ought to be defrayed out of the Fines, Forfeitures, Amer-ciaments, and other Monies, received by the Government for the Support thereof; and, "That Government for the support thereor; and, "That "Sentiment being directly opposite to the Opinion the Upper House had, on mature Consideration, formed upon the Subject of the Clerk of the Councills Claim," principally occasioned the Non-payment of the Public Debt for upwards of Ten Years: The Diffress of Trade for Want of a Circulating Medium, and the extreme Necessity of Public Creditors, compelled the Lower House to agree to an Appeal to his Majesty in Council, on the Subject Matter of Dif-ference, without the Allotment of any Public Money for that Purpose, as the only Means to settle Disputes, restore Public Credit, and lay a sure Foundation for the future Ease and Good of the Province.

A SUBSCRIPTION therefore, by RESOLVE of the Lower House, has been open'd, and Subscriptions Agent, and supporting the Appeal on the Part of the People, as well as obtaining Redress of their OTHER Grievances; and, by RESOLVE also of the Lower House, as an additional Means of raising Money for the fame Purpofes, the following SCHEME of a LOTTERY, by which to raise ONE THOUSAND POUNDS Common Money, is submitted to the Public

Extract of a Letter from Rome, Nov. 21.

HE Ambaffador from the Republic of Venice at this Court has * received, by the last Courier, the following News. In the Province of Montenera, which is tributary to the Grand Seignior, and which borders on the Venetian Dalmatia, a Foreigner who has gone by the Name of Stefano, and who for some Time exercised the Profession of a Physician in that Province, has declared himself to be the Czar Peter III. pretending that the Report of his Death was designedly spread at the Time, but that he had found Means to escape from his Prison. Under Favour of this Name, and feconded by the Caloyers, Schifmatic Greek Monks, who have great Influence over the Inhabitants, he has got himself publickly acknowledged for the Czar, not only by the People, but likewise by the Bishop, and all the other Orders; so that he is already at the Head of some Thousand Soldiers. 'Tis reckoned that in the Province of Montenera there are Thirty Thousand Men able to bear Arms; and his Situation is very advantageous, because he is inclosed by inaccessible Moun-The People there are extremely attached to the Name of Moscovite, as well on Account of the Conformity of their Religion, as because the Sovereignty of Ruffia have always employed the necessary Means to maintain a great Influence among them. The pretend-ed Peter III. is faid to be a Man of Spirit, a fine Figure, and feems to abound in Money, which he distributes with Profusion to his Soldiers. Tis added, that the Republic of Venice, fearing the Consequence of this Enterprise, has sent Orders for the immediate March of all the Infantry and other Troops from Dalmatia to Cataro, a Town of that Province, which is not above a Mile from Montenera."

Dec. 22. If ever there was a Time for the great Men of the Land, to be united, to throw afide all past Difficultinations and Animosities, it is now; it is of much more Consequence to preserve the Balance of Affection between this Country and America, than ever it was to preferve the Balance of Power in Europe, about which fo many Millions have been thrown away. Anerica is now almost the only Market for our Manufactures; and if they are crampt in their Trade, and affronted about Trifles, it will induce them to set up manufacturing for themselves, and a very few Years would enable them to do without us; and how fatal a Stroke that would be, is very evident. This is a Matter of fuch Importance to the future Well-being of this Country, that it is hoped the Leaders of the different Parties in it, will lay afide all other Confiderations, and convince the World, there is yet fome Public Virtue left, by uniting together in a grand impartial Plan of Politics, with regard to Great-Britain and America, as will be equally advantageous to both.

They write from Spain, that People are daily arrested there, and especially Churchmen, amongst whom is one of the King's Almoners. The Bishop of Cuenca has been fent for to Madrid, to be publickly reprimanded for having advanced, in a Mandamus, " that Religion had suffered an irreparable Injury by the Destruction of the Jesuits in that Kingdom,

Dec. 26. We hear that the Earl of Northington has ctired with an Appointment of 3000 l. per Annum, is ill State of Health not permitting him to give due ttendance to the important Office he lately held, It is faid for certain, that the new Ministry will be fixed on the broadest Bottom possible, and that a most extensive Coalition of Parties is actually on the Tapis.

It is one Proposition, we are told, in the present political Plan, to add to the Strength, Dignity and Permanency of Administration, by the Acquisition of Earl Temple, and Mr. George Grenville, in consequence of Terms too agreeable to the Sentiments of those great Personages for them to refuse.

We hear that a Most Noble Marquis will come again into Administration; and that his Lordship has given up every Point relative to a Right Hon. Gentleman now in a high Station, the faid Right Hon. Gentleman having declared his earnest Inclination to retire totally from all State Bufiness whatever.

We hear that Mr. Conway will not leave the Office of Secretary of State, 'til after the Holidays, when he will be fucceeded by Lord Weymouth.

We hear from Guernsey, that upwards of 5000 Eng-lish Sheep are constantly fed in the Neighbourhood of Rouen, in Normandy, and their Number kept up by fresh Supplies from this Kingdom, for the Benefit of their Woollen Manufactures carried on there.

It is estimated that the ensuing Election will cost the various Candidates at least One Million Sterling.

Dec. 29. It is reported, that a certain great Man, finding himself no longer able to look proud Connections in the Face, has at last agreed that the Coalition so long talked of, should take Place, on Conditition that a certain Number of his Friends should still continue in their Places.

We are informed that the following Promotions will foon take Place, viz.

Lord Weymouth to be Secretary of State, in the room of the Hon. Henry Seymour Conway, Efq;
Robert Wood, Efq; Member for Brackley, to be Chief Secretary.

Lord Sandwich to succeed Lord Hillsborough, as oint-Post-Master General, who is appointed Secretary for the Affairs of the American Colonies.

By a Gentleman arrived in Town from Perth-Amboy, in America, we are informed, that a Manufactory of Shaloons and Serges, very good in Quality, has lately been fet on Foot there; and at Staten-Island they make Blankets, Ticking, &c. fufficient to fupply the Country round.

Numbers of our Manufacturers are daily shipping themselves off for the happy Regions of America.

In the last Holland Mail is the following Article, dated Lisbon, Dec. 1. " The Hon. William Henry Littleton, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of Great-Britain, holds frequent Conferences with the Ministry, in order to fettle, in an amicable Manner, the Misunderstanding which has arisen between the Two Nations, on Account of Trade. He takes great Pains to remove this Stumbling-Block; for, as to the general System of Politics, it is certain that the most perfect Harmony subsists between the Two Courts, notwithstanding the Reports that have been maliciously propogated to the contrary.

Jan. 9. We are told the Right Hon. Lord Viscount
Weymouth will be shortly appointed one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, in the room of the Right Hon. Mr. Conway, who, we are informed, refigned the Seals on Thursday.

We are affured from very good Authority, that the E— of D— did not refign the Prefidentship of the Board of Trade, merely "because his Lordship was not appointed Secretary of State for the Colonie." but because the noble Lord did not approve of the unstable Disposition of some of the leading Members of the Ad——n; and because his Lordship would not as -n; and because his Lordship would not acquiesce in the erecting an important (though necessary)

The Situation of Political Matters in regard to L-d C—m, feems to be, that the M-n-ftry are very defirous of his Lordship's retiring, and yet are totally deficient in Spirit of coming to compulsive Measures with him. On the other Hand, we have it considertly affirmed to use that the noble Lord has really as firmed to us, that the noble Lord has made the follow-

Jan. 15. The Ministry, during the Summer, thinking themselves too weak to stand the ensuing Winter, negociated with the Marquis of Rookingham-Charles Townshend's Death rendered them still weaker. His Place was foon filled up by a Nobleman, whose Abilities were much boasted of by his Friends, and as much decried by his Opponents; and it was believed that they could not go on without fome other Affifance. The Marquis of Rockingham had been twice entreated without Effect. Mr. Grenville was dreaded: His Abilities were confessed, but these intimidated them. They wavered, remained inactive, and trufted to Chance, which at last did more for them than their most fanguine Friends could have wished. On the Meeting of Parliament, it was evident from what passed the first Day, that the feveral great Parts of the Opposition, were far from being united. The Minister then threw out a Lure to the select Friends of the Duke of Bedford; the Proposals were accepted; however it was agreed to only by a few, who declared to the other refpectable Persons who had acted and adhered to that Interest with uncorrupted Fidelity, That it was hoped their Acceptance of the Offer which had been made to them, would not be considered as a Breach of the good Faith that had subsided between them. had fubfifled between them.

A Division of the Opposition being thus effected, a general Negotiation was openly set on Foot, and by December 22d, the following Arrangements were agreed

Earl Gower, Lord Prefident of the Council, in the room of the Earl of Northington, who retires upon a Penfion of 4000l. per Annum,

Earl of Hillfborough, Secretary of State for the American Colonies.—A new Officer.

Viscount Weymouth, Secretary of State for the Northern Department, in the room of Mr. Conway. Mr. Conway to have the first Military Vacancy worth his Acceptance. dwich, Joint-Postmaster, in the room of Earl of Lord Hillfborough. Lord Charles Spencer, a Lord of the Admiralty, (in the room of Mr. Jenkinson, made a Lord Treasurer of, some Weeks before.)

Right Hon. Mr. Rigby, one of the Joint Vice-Trea-furers of Ireland, in the room of Mr. Ofwald, who retires with the Reversion of a lucrative Place in Scotland for his Son.

Hon. Henry F. Thynne, Mafter of the Houshold, in the room of Mr. Harris, deceased. Richard Vernon, Esq; Clerk of the Board of Green Cloth, in the room of the Hon. Mr. Grey.

A Third Secretary had been first proposed folely for the Colonies, by Lord Halifax, when first Lord of Trade, a Number of Years ago; the Expence at that Time was the Objection. On the Accession of the Marquis of Rockingham to Power, it was revived, and the first Lord of Trade intended for that Office. No Increase of Expence was intended; the Clerks of the Board of Trade were proposed as Clerks to the new Secretary for the Colonies, and the Lords of Trade as Secretary for the Colonies, and the Lords of Trade as a Council to him. A Change of Ministry defeated this Plan, just on the Point of being finished, and when Lord Dartmouth (then first Lord of Trade) had only to kifs his Majesty's Hand on-being appointed.

However, from the Manner in which the Affairs of the Colonies have been transacted of late, or rather minimum of the Necessity of a Secretary of State for mismanaged; the Necessity of a Secretary of State for the Colonies solely, has been more manifest, and been deemed a Measure absolutely necessary both for the Good of America and the Welsare of Great-Britain.

Feb. 22. It is faid that at a Political Club, a Question was lately flarted, which was the most dangerous to a free People, an Army of Soldiers, or an Army of Pen-fioners? After much Altercation, it was the universal Opinion, that a free People would be in more Danger of being subdued by Pensioners than Soldiers. In either Instance with the utmost Exertions of Virtue and Public Spirit, the Case would be bazardous: But should a People be attacked by both these formidable Powers at once, it would then be desperate!

THERE is a laudable Ambition in fome Men, to undertake Offices of great Labour and Truft, for the Good of Mankind. Actuated by these Sentiments, I have long cast about me for a Place, where I could most benefit the Public, and resect the greatest Credit on myself: The First that occurred, was that of Petty Constable, Lord it over Negroes! Carry my Whip in my Hand! Look stern! Flea the Dogs alive! But my tender Heart made me turn my Thoughts to a more civil Employ. Crier of the Provincial, or Wood-Corder; walk about like a Gentleman, with my Stick under my Arm, or twirling on the Tops of my Fingers: Very pretty! The next that came in my Thoughts, was that of Clerk of the Parish, to become, like my Brother P. P. of immortal Memory, a Shred of the Vestment of Aaron. A fine Bass Voice, but can't pitch the Organ! A Sexton—Bones and Sculls put me too much in mind of—Mortality. Where to fix next! Whither will my aspiring Thoughts transport me? My Head swims with Rapture! I see with Ecstasy, the glorious, tho' diftant Prize! A Churchwardner or Vestry-man. Pardon my Ambition, Gentlemen; but, if I may be so happy as to meet with Encouragement, on Easter-Monday, you may depend upon my best Endeavours to discharge so important a Trust, to the Satisfaction of my kind Constituents, and the Approbation of my own Conscience: This was a happy Thought! Fortunam favit audacis. Fortune favours the bold. Now thinks I, within myfelf, if so be, that a Counsellor to my Lord, be a Vestryman, why may not a Vestryman be a Counsellor to my Lord? A very good Step to Prefar-ment, I affure you; unless that itrange Composition of Squire—Lawyer—Parson———— the Bystander, undertake to prove, that a Vestryman is disqualified for being a Counsellor, as he has proved a Counsellor is disqualified for being a Vestryman. But having a Conscience, Gentlemen, a tender Conscience ftrain at a Knat, and swallow a Camel——I resolv'd to learn my Duty before I undertook it. I applied to the Bystander: What do I read? Oh! blasted Hopes, and frustrated Ambition! To glaze Church-Windows, to pave Church-Floors, to mend Church-Yard Rails A Principal too into the Bargainin Gaib, publish it not in the Streets of Afkalon—
Not invade my Lord's Rights! Not bully a Parson! Not cuff a Churchwarden! Not kick a Constable! Then will not I be a Vestryman. No! decay Churchesfall Chapels—be broken Windows—be plowed up Pavements—and be burnt Rails—ere I submit to the mean low menial Office of seeing you repaired; suitable perhaps to the real Dignity of a Counsellor; but much beneath a Man of my Spirit. My Ambition will not let me reft. I turn my Eyes to the Worshipful Corporation. Is there a Vacancy, or is there not? Is Master Jackey Common Council-Man, or is he not?—That is the Question—between Hawk and Buzzard.—Give me Leave then to recommend myself to your Notice, at the next Court—dressed in White, according to antient Custom, under the humble and obsequious Character of A CANDIDATE.

IS with Concern I have read your last Papers; wherein I find a Gentleman lately come among us, abused in a vile and scandalous Manner. I am an American, and forry to fee there should be such a Spirit of Malevolence and Envy in my Countrymen, especially as it is generally thought to be wrote by those, whose Station in Life ought to make them set better Eximples: If Education teaches People to behave gented, C. D. I think should know better.

How does C. D. prove the Facts ? For, let me tell him, tis dangerous to advance fuch Things upon mere Sumife. I have had the Pleasure to know the Gentlema ever fince he came into this Country; his Appearance pleased me; he is a genteel well bred Man, his whose Carriage and Behaviour befpeak the Gentleman, and his Conversation the Man of Learning, drawn from a good Education and strong Genius. Ought not we to encourage fuch Persons to come amongst us? Would it not be advantageous, as well as pleasing, to see Polite Literature flourish in our Colony, and not fend them back, prejudiced with unfavourable Ideas of us?

But, to return to the Charge: I have made it my Bufiness to enquire into his Character, and cannot side one who has ever seen him the least disguised in Liquor, or with a _____; and all agree, he never neglected any Part of his Ministerial Function. At Churth, I have been a constant Attendant upon him. His Belaviour there, is devout and solemn; fitted to the Plaz, and Divine Truths he utters. I will maintain this, we never had one who read Prayers, and Preach'd fo well fince I remember; and I may go further, and add, face you remember, C. D.

I was ftartled when a Friend came to my House, and told me our Parson was guilty of Forgery, a Sharper, Liar, and every Thing that was bad: Well, thought I, how am I deceived? Is it possible there can be such Diguise in the human Species? I got the Paper, and was much rejoiced to see it all a Chimera of C. D's. own Brain, there not being one Proof to support the Charge. I was glad to find the Parson clear'd however; and, as false Assertions soon wear off, I think it will rather be of Service, than not, to the injured Party; for, however deprayed the Mind of Man may be, they generally lean to the Object offended lean to the Object offended.

I think C. D. is no great Scholar any more than ap-felf; but tis fo long fince he went to School, he say have forgot the little he learnt there. I am no Lawer, have forgot the little he learnt there. I am no Lawer, fo shall not quibble upon Words; nor have I any Desga to enter into a Controversy with C. D. Abuse and Scurrility I shall ever detest; nor do I set up for a Witter. I am forry to say our Colony cannot boast of any endowed with that happy Talent. My design in this, is to desire the Public may not be deceived, nor some their Opinions of an honest Man by those Papers.

But what has the Parson done then to deserve this vile Treatment, and genteel Discipline, C. D. would give him? Why he wanted to held Two Livings lith that a Crime? (Would not you Mr. C. D. hold Two Places, if you could get them? Yes, Half a Dozen of I am mistaken in the Man) or is it repugnant to the Laws No! with the Consent of Vestries, all allow it to be risid. Why then should my Lord Counsellor take such lid. Why then should my Lord Counsellor take such lid. Why should his Conscience be pleaded, to deep his conference and the state of the stay Why should his Conscience be pleaded, to deep his conforming to a desire of the Proprietor's, to whom he is bound by such Obligations, when it is a Thing by no Means inconsistent with the Constitution? VESCOVALO, November 15.

N Order having arrived from the Court of France, for the Troops of that Nation to evacuate the Garrifons of Ajaccio, of Calvi, and of Algagliola, to make Room for the Spanish Jesuits; the Inha-bitants of these Garrisons, thinking that this was the Attachment nalize their Zeal and Attachment to their Country, and unite themselves with the Patriotic Nation, they took all Measures to prevent the Landing of the Genoese Troops, which were sent this ther by the Republic; but fo foon as the Genoese Gallies appeared, commanded by Signor Spinola, the French Commander at Calvi ordered all the Inhabitants to be immediately difarmed, fo that they were prevented from putting their spirited Designs in Execu-tion. Spinola therefore made good his Landing at Calvi, without any Disturbance. The principal Inha-bitants, knowing that their Conduct would expose them to the Resentment of the Republic, were obliged to abandon their Houses, and retire with their Fami-lies into the internal Parts of the Kingdom. There remained only the poorer Sort, who not having where-withal to maintain themselves, were obliged to enter into the Pay of the Republic.

Hardly were the French departed from the Garrison of Calvi, when it was immediately blocked up by the Troops of the Nation, who had feveral Pieces of Cannon, and occupied many high Grounds, fo advantageously situated, as to command the whole Harbour. They also possessed themselves of the Convent of St. Francis, which is within Musket-Shot of the Fortress of Calvi. Their Influence was fo great, that they were able to hinder the Entrance of all Kinds of Verfels, so that the Garrison was reduced to such a Penury of Provisions, that it must very soon have been obliged to furrender, had not the French interfered.

The little Garrison of Algagliola, immediately on the Departure of the French Troops, fell into the Pos-fession of the Troops of the Nation. The Inhabitants celebrated that Day of their Liberty with the greatest Demonstrations of Joy and Festivity.

Ajaccio, the Third Garrison Town evacuated by the French, opened its Ports to the Troops of the Nation; and the young Signor Gastori, who was at the Head of them, near that Place, took Possessino of it in Name of the Patriots. The Genoese Troops, who had Orders to land, durst not enter the Town, but were received into the Citadel. Our Troops possessed themselves of into the Citadel. Our Troops polleffed themselves of the Tower of Campomoro; and at this Place too they occupied advantageous Heights, which commanded the Harbour, so that Ajaccio must also soon have been obliged to furrender itself, had not the French here too

A Commissary of War was dispatched from Bastia by Count Marbœuf, Commander in Chief of the French Troops in Corfica; and, with this Commiffary, the Nation entered into Articles of a Neutrality, and Suspension of Arms, 'til the Expiration of the Term of Four Years, as agreed upon between France and Genoa, by the Treaty of 1764.

All these interesting Circumstances have occasioned an Assembly of all those who have ever held the Office of Counsellors of State in the supreme Government of this Nation.

WARSAW, Dec. 2. The Success which the Affair of WARSAW, Dec. 2. The Success which the Affair of the Dissidents has met with, is owing principally to the private Conferences, which were holden at the Houses of Prince de Repnin, the Prince Primate, and the Marshals of the Confederacy. It was there agreed, that the King and Queen of Poland shall be of the Roman Catholick Religion; but that nevertheless, the Dissidents, Greeks, and Protestants, shall enjoy the same Privileges as the Catholicks, throughout Poland, and the Provinces annexed to the Crown. All the Proceedings of the Dissidents shall henceforth be judged before ings of the Diffidents shall henceforth be judged before a superior Tribunal, intitled Judicium Mixtum, the Members of which are to be of different Religions, and the Prefident to be alternately a Catholick, Greek, or

Dec. 9. Although the Affairs of the Diffidents are actually fettled, we cannot, however, know juftly and precifely the Privileges which are granted them, 'til after the conclusive Treaty on this Object between Poland and Ruffia shall be made public; to which Treaty the Courts of Berlin, Stockholm, Copenhagen, and London, will accede as Guarantees.

LEGHORN, Dec. 12. There is much talk of a Treaty of Commerce, by which the English are to have the fole Liberty of going to load Oil and Wine with the Corficans. It is also faid, that Paoli has folicited the Court of London, to engage that of Turin to evacuate the Two fmall Islands, which it lately took Possession of in the Neighbourhood of Corfica. ALTENA, Dec. 26. We are informed that the Crown of Sweden, as well as ours, hath affigned 9000 Crowns (besides the Expence of Instruments) for proper Persons to be appointed to make Observations of the Passage of Venus over the Sun's Disk, which will happen the 3d of June, 1769.

RATISBON, Jan. 5. According to some Advices from Amsterdam, the Sea hath not, in the Memory of Man, been so stormy as in November last; during which have been so the Number of Ships have been lost. Month a confiderable Number of Ships have been lott.

Fourteen of the Republic's Veffels, richly laden, have, among others (as these Letters say) been sunk in the North Seas; and the like Number have met with the fame Fate in the Baltick.

PARIS, Jan. 4. Certain Advices bring, that the Spaniards and Portuguese having entered with united Forces into Paraguay, the Jesuits opposed them with an armed Force; but that, after a sharp and obstinate Fight, 130 of the Brethren were made Prisoners, and directly hanged up on the Spot.

Jan. 15. It is reported that the Emperor intends to marry the Sifter of the Duke de Chartres, whose Beauty, Wit, and other amiable Qualifications, make her adored by all who fee her.

Dec. 23. They write from the Hague, of the 16th of this Month, that Mr. Wilkes is actually there, and lodges at the Sign of the Marshal de Tourainne, where he daily receives Abundance of Visits.

Dec. 24. We hear that a very ingenious Gentleman, thoroughly acquainted with all the landed and commercial Property in the Three Kingdoms, has made an Estimate of the same, by which it appears, that England, including Wales, is Ten Times richer than Ireland, and Thirty Times richer than Scotland.

We hear from Dublin, that upwards of one Hun-dred prime Artificers, in various Branches of Manu-facture, had lately embarked for the American Colonies, on Promise of great Encouragement.

Dec. 28. It is faid an Ambassador at the Hague, not being able any longer to penetrate into the Affairs of a Cabinet, now governed by Pruffian Politics, is very much diffatisfied on the Occasion, and it is expected he will not flay much longer.

Dec. 30. A Letter from Rome, observes, that all the disastrous Events that can affect the Church, seem to be united under the present Pope. In France, Spain, Portugal, and Naples, the Jesuits are expelled. In Po-land, where the Church is possessed of great Estates, they talk of re-uniting them to the Government. The Nobility of the Kingdom, the' Roman Catholicks, yet alarmed at the too great Power of the Clergy, are come, it is faid, into the Proposal, to which is added, that the Primate himself is not far from being of the fame Way of thinking.

It is reported that the Dutch are, at this Time, privately transporting large Quantities of Naval and other Stores to their Islands of Caracoa and St. Eustatia, in the West-Indies, which causes much Speculation among the Coffee-house Politicians in Holland.

The Dutch a letting out Six Frigates of 36 Guns each, to go out, as pretended, in Company with the Tryton Man of War, upon a new Embally to the Court of Morocco; but it is observable, that each of these Frigates is to be fully manned, and that they are to carry out Nine Months Provisions.

We hear that strong Squadrons of Ships of War will fail for the West-Indies early in the Spring.

Jan. 1. Yesterday Morning, an Express arrived at the Secretary of State's Office, from his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with Dispatches, faid to be of great Importance. We are told from Naples, that though the Populace in that City are the most superstitious of any in Europe, yet they testified to a Man the greatest Indignation against the Jesuits at their late Embarkment; and even seemed rejoiced at their Expulsion. To prevent any Tumult however, besides the Garrison, which was drawn out under Arms, all the Cannon of the several Forts around that Metropolis, were pointed at the City, and every other Measure taken for the Preferva-tion of the Public Tranquility.

Extra& of a Letter from Paris, dated Dec. 19.

"Twelve Hundred Workmen are now actually employed about the new City, which the Government of France hath refolved to build on the Borders of the Lake of Geneva, Half a League from that Place. It is to be called, 'Choiseul City.' The Project appears to be, to draw thither the Trade of Geneva, and especially a Number of French Refugees. It is afferted, that Toleration will be allowed there for all Religions. This Place, is, however, in France, in the County of Gex. This Resolution is considered as the Presage of a Permission for those Subjects, whom the fatal Revocation of the Edict of Nantz hath carried away, to re-enter the Kingdom.

We hear that James Burraw, Efq; late of the Customs at Glasgow, is appointed a Revenue-Officer in America, Jan. 2. Richard Hawkshaw Losack, Esq. is appointed Lieutenant-General, and Governor of all his Majesty's Leeward Carribee Islands in America. Some Letters from the Hague advise, that Couriers are frequently arriving there from Berlin, which causes much Speculation among the Politicians in Holland.

We are told that Three Expresses have been dispatched to Sir Joseph Yorke, Ambassador at the Hague.

It is faid that Two Deputies from Corsica are daily expected, in order to lay fome very material Affairs before the Government.

Jan. 13. They write from Northampton, that on the 3d Instant, between is and i in the Morning, an Earthquake was felt at Crick, in that County, which shook the Houses very much, and lasted about a Minute and Three Quarters. The same was also felt at Wel-ford, Naseby, and several other Places.

Jan. 14. We are authorifed to affure the Public, that from recent and authentic Accounts, the real State of North-America, and particularly of the Provinces of New-England and New-York, is that of a dutiful Acquiescence in the Regulations made by the British Go-vernment—The Commissioners of the Customs have been received at Boston, with proper Respect, and there are the strongest Appearances of the Continuance of good Order through the whole Continent.

Lord C—, it is faid, will be created an Earl be-fore the rifing of Parliament, and we are told, that no Change in the Law will take Place before his Lordship's Elevation to that Dignity, Tis now we hear beyond a Doubt, that no Alteration in the Ministry will take Place, 'til after the Election of a new Parliament.

At this present Time the Prussians, Spaniards, and French, are recruiting and buying up Arms in the Bishoprick of Liege.

By a Gentleman arrived from Paris, we are assured, that the Duke of Courland is confined a Prisoner in the Bastile, the Cause of which extraordinary Procedure is not known.

We are informed that in a late Riot at Northampton, occasioned by the present vigorous contested Election, one great Man was knocked down by a Parson, and another of equal Rand (Earl) was rolled in the Mud, and otherwise greatly hurt by the Mob, for interfering in a Matter, which the opposite Party declared, these great Men had no Right to interfere in.

On Monday last died at Mitcham, in Surry, Mrs. Hutchins, who about Three Months ago, was hit by a mad Cat; she went to the Salt Water to be dipped, but finding herfelf better, she was not dipped as was ad-vised; the Neglect proved fatal, and she died in great Agonies.

A Letter from Paris fays, "A most daring Robber, who has some Time infested the Neighbourhood of this Capital, begins now greatly to alarm the City, where Murders are frequently committed. This Villain is faid to have a numerous Gang under him, whose first Proceeding, in the Robberies they meditate, is to knock down and diffartch their Object with a Club armed with long Iron Spikes. A few Days ago the dead Body of an Officer was found in a Ditch near the Square of Lewis XV. with the Skull pierced in Two Places. Several other Bodies have fince been found. The Chief of this Band, it is faid (who calls himfelf Pierrotin) has wrote to the Principal Members of the Police, that he has under his Command upwards of 300 Men, whom Mifery had engaged, like him, to undertake any Thing, and that he is determined to fell his Life dearly, Extract of a Letter from Florence, Dec. 14.

" In the Night between the 1st and 2d of this Month, a Fire broke out here, at a Druggist's, which was soon consumed, together with Six other Houses, and amongst them one occupied by a Man who kept Wild Beafts for Shew; the Flames having foon reached a Stable, wherein were Two Lions, a Tyger, and Three Bears, those Animals got loofe, and ran thro' the City, which re-founded with the Cries of the unhappy People who became a Prey to their Fury. A Hundred Men were ordered in Pursuit of them, and they were so fortunate as to kill Two of the Bears, One Lion, and the Tyger; but the other Lion and Bear escaped their Vigilance. As soon as Day appeared, we saw with Horror the dreadful Ravage made by the Fire, but still more by those Animals. We reckon upwards of an Hundred Persons killed, and a much greater Number wounded."

Jan. 16. Letters from Parma advise, that an epidemical Distemper had for some Time reigned there, and likewise at Bologna and Modena, at which latter Places it had been very fatal.

They write from Leghorn, that the total Inhabitants of Corfica, including Foreigners, were faid to be 700,000 Persons, on whom Paoli intended to lay a Capitation Tax, to be applied towards enabling them to fhake off entirely the Genoese Yoke.

By letters from Portugal we are informed, that we mult speak very plain English to the Prime Minister, before there can be the least Likelihood of his listening to our Arguments.

It being found by Experience, that a temporary Imprisonment of Profittutes, is much more dangerous that a Power will be vested in the Magistrates to trans-port the most wicked and abandoned to the new acquired Settlements in America, where White Servants are greatly wanted.

They write from Gibraltar, that an Agent of the Grand Signior, who had been fent with fome Difpatches to the Dey of Algiers, was lately found murdered there.

It is faid, that the Hon, and Rev. Sir Robert Pyn-fent, Bart. will be preferred in the Church in Ireland, in Confequence of fome removes occasioned by the death of Dr. Barnard.

The Bishoprick of Derry in Ireland, which has just become vacant, and which, we are informed, is designed for Sir Robert Pynsent, is said to be worth 4500 l. a Year.

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

T H U R S D A Y, MARCH 31, 1768.

FROM THE CORSICAN GAZETTE.

VESCOVALO, November 15.

N Order having arrived from the Court of France, for the Troops of that Nation to evacuate the Garrifons of Ajaccio, of Calvi, and of Algagliola, to make Room for the Spanish Jesuits; the Inha-bitants of these Garrifons, thinking that this was the Time to fig-

to their Country, and unite themselves with the Patriotic Nation, they took all Measures to prevent the Landing of the Genoese Troops, which were sent thi-ther by the Republic; but so soon as the Genoese Gal-lies appeared, commanded by Signor Spinola, the French Commander at Calvi ordered all the Inhabitants to be immediately difarmed, so that they were prevented from putting their spirited Designs in Execution. Spinola therefore made good his Landing at Calvi, without any Disturbance. The principal Inhabitants, knowing that their Conduct would expose them to the Refentment of the Republic, were obliged to abandon their Houses, and retire with their Families into the internal Parts of the Kingdom. There remained only the poorer Sort, who not having where-withal to maintain themselves, were obliged to enter into the Pay of the Republic.

Hardly were the French departed from the Garrison of Calvi, when it was immediately blocked up by the Troops of the Nation, who had feveral Pieces of Cannon, and occupied many high Grounds, so advanta-geously situated, as to command the whole Harbour. They also possessed themselves of the Convent of St. Francis, which is within Musket-Shot of the Fortress of Calvi. Their Influence was fo great, that they were able to hinder the Entrance of all Kinds of Veifels, so that the Garrison was reduced to such a Penury of Provisions, that it must very soon have been obliged to furrender, had not the French interfered.

to surrender, had not the French interfered.

The little Garrison of Algagliela, immediately on the Departure of the French Troops, fell into the Possessian of the Troops of the Nation. The Inhabitants celebrated that Day of their Liberty with the greatest Demonstrations of Joy and Festivity.

Ajaccio, the Third Garrison Town evacuated by the French, opened its Ports to the Troops of the Nation; and the young Signor Gassori, who was at the Head of them, near that Place, took Possessian of it in Name of the Patriots. The Genoese Troops, who had Orders to land, durst not enter the Town, but were received into the Citadel. Our Troops possessed themselves of the Tower of Campomoro; and at this Place too they occupied advantageous Heights, which commanded the Harbour, so that Ajaccio must also soen have been obliged to surrender itself, had not the French here too interfered.

A Commissary of War was dispatched from Bastia by Count Marboruf, Commander in Chief of the French Troops in Corfica; and, with this Commiffary, the Nation entered into Articles of a Neutrality, and Suspension of Arms, 'til the Expiration of the Term of Four Years, as agreed upon between France and Genoa, by the Treaty of 1764.

All these interesting Circumstances have occasioned an Assembly of all those who have ever held the Office of Counsellors of State in the supreme Government of this Nation.

this Nation.

WARSAW, Dec. 2. The Success which the Affair of the Dissidents has met with, is owing principally to the private Conferences, which were holden at the Houses of Prince de Repnin, the Prince Primate, and the Marshals of the Confederacy. It was there agreed, that the King and Queen of Poland shall be of the Roman Catholick Religion; but that nevertheless, the Dissidents, Greeks, and Protestants, shall enjoy the same Privileges as the Catholicks, throughout Poland, and the Provinces annexed to the Crown. All the Proceedings of the Dissidents shall henceforth be judged before ings of the Diffidents shall henceforth be judged before a superior Tribunal, intitled Judicium Mixtum, the Members of which are to be of different Religions, and the President to be alternately a Catholick, Greek, or

Dec. 9. Although the Affairs of the Diffidents are actually fettled, we cannot, however, know justly and precisely the Privileges which are granted them, 'til after the conclusive Treaty on this Object between Poland and Russia shall be made public; to which Treaty the Courts of Berlin, Stockholm, Copenhagen, and London, will accede as Guarantees.

LEGHORS, Dec. 12. There is much talk of a Treaty LEGRORS, Dec. 12. There is much talk of a Treaty of Commerce, by which the English are to have the sole Liberty of going to load Oil and Wine with the Corficans. It is also said, that Paoli has solicited the Court of London, to engage that of Turin to evacuate the Two small Islands, which it lately took Possession of in the Neighbourhood of Corsica.

ALTENA, Dec. 26. We are informed that the Crown of Sweden, as well as ours, hath assigned 2000 Crowns (besides the Expence of Instruments) for proper Persons to be appointed to make Observations of the Passage of Venus over the Sun's Disk, which will happen the 3d of June, 1769.

Dec. 30. A Letter from Rome, observes, that all the disaftrous Events that can affect the Church, seem to be united under the present Pope. In France, Spain, Portugal, and Naples, the Jesuits are expelled. In Poland, where the Church is possessed of great Estates, they talk of re-uniting them to the Government. The Nobility of the Kingdom, the Roman Catholicks, yet alarmed at the too great Power of the Clergy, are come, it is faid, into the Proposal, to which is added, that the Primate himself is not far from being of the

be of great Importance.

We are told from Naples, that though the Populace in that City are the most superstitious of any in Europe, yet they testified to a Man the greatest Indignation against the Jesuits at their late Embarkment; and even seemed rejoiced at their Expulsion. To prevent any Tumult however, besides the Garrison, which was drawn out under Arms, all the Cannon of the several Forts around that Metropolis, were pointed at the City, and every other Measure taken for the Preservation of the Public Tranquility.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated Dec. 19.
"Twelve Hundred Workmen are now actually employed about the new City, which the Government of France hath refolved to build on the Borders of the Lake of Geneva, Half a League from that Place. It is to be called, 'Choifeul City.' The Project appears to be, to draw thither the Trade of Geneva, and especially a Number of French Refugees. It is afferted, that Toleration will be allowed there for all Religions. This Place, is, however, in France, in the County of Gex. This Resolution is considered as the Presage of a Per-mission for those Subjects, whom the satal Revocation of the Edict of Nantz hath carried away, to re-enter the Kingdom.

TO THE PRINTERS.

By inferting the following Poem, in return to the Author of the Lines to C. D. you will greatly oblige, Your conftant Reader, RUSTICUS.

Some write, to make their Barrenness appear, And strain, from hard-bound Brains, Eight Lines a Year.

WITH honest Scorn, we read thy weak Defence, And challenge Truth, to prove one Word of Senfe!

With Pain, peruse the Wonders of thy Brain, While Thousands deem thee foolish, mad, and vain; But fay, nor be again, by Folly led, Is it not Sacrilege to rob the dead? To piliage Lines from fuch, who filent lay, Might it not discompose the lifeless Clay? Be dumb, nor arrogate a mean Applaufe, Justice has tried thee, and condemns thy Cause. The artful Thest has stamp'd, with endless Shame, And from the Lift of Bards, eraz'd thy Name.

Yet, tho' fo bold, thy prefent Error mend, Nor trust too often to thy noble Friend. Remain at Peace, 'tis fervile to contend, Or tax those Laws thou hast no Power to mend. Thyfelf must know (if thou hast learn) Fools only in a barren Cause proceed And that, by ignorantly braving Fat This Truth, Experience may unveil too late, Injur'd Authority her Power shall call. And fix it's Basis on the Madman's Fall.

ARCHILOCHUS, fays the Bylander, in a Note upon CRAMBO, "being a Greek Name, is not understood by all Sorts of People," of which he immediately gives a Proof in his own Character, for I think he has made it very clear, that he understands nothing of the Matter himself. The Derivation, says he, may be better explained by Princeps Verborum. Where, in the Composition of it, does he find any Thing to answer to Verbum? Let us analize the Word, and fee what Foundation he has for his Interpretation .-Arches will not do, for that fignifies Princeps; Loches will do as ill, for that fignifies Infidies; and altho' it is fometimes used in other Senses, yet I cannot find, that he has the least Colour of Authority for rendering it. he has the least Colour of Authority for rendering it by Verbum. The Derivation, I think, might be better explain'd" by Artium-Magister*, which may be rendered with less Violence to the Words—A Master of Tricks. It would have been nearer to the Sense, and at the same Time have admitted of a witty Application. But the Truth of the Matter is, something like the Sound, which he had a Notion signified Verbum*, as the Word Legg perhaps, was floating in his confus'd like the Sound, which he had a Notion fignified Verbum, as the Word Logos perhaps, was floating in his confus'd Noddle, and he took it to be fynonimous (for he is hugely fond of Synonima) with Lochos. There is only the Difference of a Chi and a Gamma, which to be fure are all the fame in the Greek. Indeed Mr. Eyflander, you ought, for the future, to be filled Archimorus: In Latin, Stultorum Princeps: In English, a Prince of Blunderbuffes.

HE Controverfy between the Byflander and his Opponents, began upon Points of a Public Nature; but, according to the usual Fate of that Species of Writing, hath deviated into personal Invective, and lost Sight of the original Subject.—It is no uncomponent or all of the original Subject.—It is no uncomponent of the original Subject. loft Sight of the original Subject.—It is no uncommon Artifice among Authors, when too elosely push'd by an Antagonist, to shift the Matter in Debate, and to divert the Attention of the Public, to Topics foreign and extrinsic. They think themselves happy if they can turn to their Advantage any little incidental Circumstance, and are content to nibble where they cannot bite, and to affect Merriment where sober Reason will not serve their Cause.—The Bysander, under all the various Characters he has affum'd, is driven to this last Shift of a defeated Champion .-He has been charg'd Shift of a dereated Champion. He has been charged home, and how has he answer'd? Why, with an old home, and how has he answer de way, with an old Song or Two, as if the Public were to be amus'd with Ballads, instead of Arguments, and cou'd not diffinguish between Rhyme and Reason. I must beg Leave therefore to bring this Gentleman back to the Bar of the Public than the Answers to the following Assistant and to demand his Answers to the following Articles, which have been publickly exhibited against him.

If he answers evalively, or stands mute, nothing will remain but to país Sentence !-

He stands charg'd as follows :

I. THAT when he reasons upon a Passage in the Querift, he leaves out the Words, in Favour of a Main fer, and then charges him with the Nonlenie, aring from his own difingenuous Mutilation of the Pallage.

II. THAT he politively declares " Sidefmen, other. avise Questmen, otherwise Vestrymen, to be certain Persons, chosen in each Parist, as Alistants (expressly so called in ALL the Law Books) to Churchavardes. In this Article, it is alledg'd against him, that he could not, with the utmost Exertion of his Talents, extraordinary as they are, have crouded more Falsehoods into so small a Compass, there being scarce a Proposition in it, but what is directly repugnant to Truth.

III. THAT, referring to our Act of Affembly, he fays, "In case of a Vacancy, the Vestry may defire, or petition the Ordinary, to appoint a Minister of a neighbouring Parish to officiate."—Here he is called upon to point out the Words, Petition and Neighbour. ing, in the Act, or he stands convicted of Two Interpolations, offensive to Truth and Modesty, and to the common Sense of every Inhabitant, who can read-

IV. THAT he fays, "The Vestries wou'd be Ordinatives, Patrons, and Incumbents."—This is an extensive Charge, for which he is challeng'd to produce his Proofs, or the World will pronounce him guilty of a vile Calumny .-

V. THAT he declares ... When a Man accufes a. " nother of acting repugnant (Anglice, REBUGNANTLY) " to the Law, he ought to be a Sage of the Law."-But this Falsehood ought, in Charity, to be imputed to the Head, and not to the Heart. Here seems to be no Obliquity of the Will; it is only filly.

VI. THAT he has quoted Co. 1 Infl. for what is not to be found according to his Reference, and complimented the Chancellor with a Power to punish, by Fine and Impriforment, upon a Writ de Vi Laica Removenda.

VII. THAT he has had the amazing Effrontery to cite Godolphin, about the Churches of MARYLAND, whereas the Book is totally filent about them, and was actually publish'd long before the Church of ENGLAND was establish'd in the Province, which may more at large appear in a Piece, fign'd C. D. to which I crave Leave to refer the curious Reader.

VIII. THAT he afferts-" Pluralities are tenable " by Laws, the Effect of which no Act of Assembly can invalidate." He is call'd upon to snew-when a Tax upon the People is appropriated by a Provincial Law, by what Law or Authority the Appropriation may be alter'd. He is call'd upon to flew the Difference between imposing a Tax upon the People in the fift Instance, and diverting it to a different Object, in Contradiction to the Mode prescribed by the Legisla-

IX. THAT he charges the Querif, with faying, "First, "He is Minister of A, then he is not Minister of A. " Secondly, He is Minister of B, then he is not Minister of B, &c." Let him produce the Passage, of Let him produce the Paffage, or any Thing that implies it, from the Querif, or here again he incurs the Imputation of-faying the Thing that is not .-

X. THAT he afferts The Qualification of a Vestryman must be determin'd by the Canon Law alone, because it is a Matter of Ecclesiastical Juristication," which, 'tis contended, is not trut.

XI. THAT, in quoting Gibson, he has foisted in an &c. without any Warrant from the Authority, by which he has added one more—to the Score.—

XII. THAT he has given a false Representation of the Case between the Diffenters and the City of London. XIII. THAT he has perverted the Authority of line plied it to serve the Turn of his unhallowed Pretenk-

XIV. THAT he afferts " The Act of Affembly XIV. THAT he afferts "The Act of Alemony makes it one great Branch of the Principal's Duty to restrain or set aside an irregular Representation" in the Vestry. To purge himself from this Charge, he has but one Way, and that is to point out the Act, the Chap, and Sect. wherein this Power is given to the Principal of the Vestry.

WV. THAT upon finding the Counfellor-Vefryman wou'd not bend to his Inclinations by confenting to his holding Two Livings against a positive Law of the Province, he had recourse to very improper Arts to disposses him of his Seat in the Vestry, and to supply it, by Surprize upon the Parisbioners, with another, whom he had ensured into an unwary Promise of seconding his Schemes, by sundry false and delusive Pretences.——That altho' he was sworn as a Vestryman, to perform the Duties of that Office, ac-Pretences.— That altho' he was fwom as a Vestryman, to perform the Duties of that Office, according to the Ast of Assembly, yet he, out of Farver and Assertion to himself, and in diametrical Opposition both to the Spirit and Letter of the Ast, was guilty of sindry unfair Practices, disgraceful to his Character, as a Minister, and of evil Example to his Flock, the Particulars whereof are stated at large, in a Piece, signed A Plain Dealer, his Answers to which are required to be precisely set forth.—

THESE are the Points to which the Principal should apply himself, if he is really in Earnest, when he says, to stand well in the Opinion of the Public is one of " the chief Objects of his Ambition."-Confequence to the Community, whether Mr. C. These are Matters eccentric to the Merits of the Dispute, and agree entirely with the bumane Mr. P. Hint, that pernal Reflections are ungenerous, and shou'd never be admitted into Public Disquisitions.—Nor, can I see, that singing of Catches, conduces any Thing to the Settlement of Matters of Law or Fact, or so what Purpose this Method is introduced by the Bysander, since it apwars from abundant Instances, that whenever it ferves Turn, to make free with Truth, he can assume the Privilege, without relying upon the Plea of Poetic Lireal Merits of the Cause, plain Prose will better answer his Purpose in this Part of the World, where Phoebus has but here and there a Favourite. The World's good Word is better than a Song.

Let this Gentleman, then, leave off Singing, and apply himfelf to the better Object of gaining the World's good Word, and especially, as the Secret is now out, that he is but a forry Songster—Let him vindicate himself arainft the Charges of his Adverfaries, and flew the Inofficiency of the Proofs which have been advanc'd against him. Until he has satisfied the Public in these Points, it will be in vain for him, to waunt of his sacred Name, to brag of his Virtue, to boast of his Fame, or to rely upon the Favours of Pharbus, or the Smiles of the Muses. Real Merit, like Charity, waunteth not herself; but Selfpraise is generally the Issue of a base Heart and a brazen Front.—As little to his Purpose is it to talk of energing War—of his Reserved of his Rage—of his Knack at painting grotesque Figures—hideous sheet—or covering his Enemies with Insamy—These are all empty Menaces!—According to the Light, in which he at present appears, if he would instict a real Wound, he must turn Pamegyrist, and by his Plantses, blacken into Insamy, the Objects of his Hard. In Answer to all his Railing and Abuse, C. D. my apply to himself, with a little Variation, the Words of the Poet; Until he has fatisfied the Public in these Points,

On me when R-ls are fatyric, I take it for a Panegyric. Hated by Knaves, and Knaves to hate, Be that my Motto, and my Fate.

MARYLAND LIBERTY LOTTERY

THE Lower House of Assembly of MARYLAND, have constantly, and inessectually, hitherto, since Seventeen Hundred and Thirty-nine, RESOLVED That his Lordship hath no Right to collect Twen

Pence per Hogshead on Tobacco exported.

A Constitutional Tax on the People to Support an Agent of the Appointment of the Lower House has been greatly defired, frequently attempted, and a often refused by the Upper House.

The Lower House of Assembly contend, That the Clerk of the Council his reasonable Reward, as me as every other Expence necessarily attending the Et. ecution of the Powers of Government, ought to be defrayed out of the FINES, FORFEITURES, AMEL.

CIAMENTS, and OTHER MONIES, received by the Government for the Support thereof; and, "That
"Sentiment being directly opposite to the Opinion
"Sentiment being directly opposite to the Opinion
"Sentiment being directly opposite to the Opinion "Sentiment being directly oppoint to the Opinion the Upper House had, on mature Consideration, formed upon the Subject of the Clerk of the Countries Claim," principally occasioned the Non-payment of the Public Debt for upwards of Ten Years, and the Public Debt for Upwards of Ten Years, and the Public Debt for Upwards of Tendes for Want of a Circulation. The Diffress of Trade for Want of a Circulating Me. dium, and the extreme Necessity of Public Crediton compelled the Lower House to agree to an Appeal to his Majesty in Council, on the Subject Matter of Difference, without the Allotment of any Public Money for that Purpose, as the only Means to settle Dispute, restore Public Credit, and lay a fure Foundation for the future Ease and Good of the Province.

The future Ease and Good of the Province.

A SUBSCRIPTION therefore, by RESOLVE of the Lower House, has been open'd, and Subscriptions are taken in by every Member, for maintaining an Agent, and supporting the Appeal on the Part of the People, as well as obtaining Redress of their other Grievances; and, by RESOLVE also of the Lower House, as an additional Means of raising Money for the same Purposes, the following SCHEME of a LOTTERY, by which to raise ONE THOUSAND POUNDS Common Money, is submitted to the Public.
