SUCCESS OF THE FAIR

Means Much To Salisbury. Next Year A Fine Prospect In View.

Now that the Fair is over, and the people have had time to look over the matter carefully, its value to Salisbury and the County at large is being more fully recognized. The City of Salisbury has always claimed and justly so, that all it needs is for the people to come here and see what a hustling, progressive place it is, and that anyone who did come and see for themselves would readily acknowledge its supremacy on the Shore as a business center and a place where the shoppers could get anything that they wanted and that at the right price.

The Fair certainly brought the people here and from comments all over the shore it is apparent that the city of Salisbury did make an impression on the thousands of visitors who came from all sections of the Eastern Shore as well as Virginia and Delaware. Many of these went away impressed with the advantages which Salisbury offers to shoppers and business men and doubtless our merchants will sooner or later profit by the advertising which our city has received. Our farmers are also awakening to the value of the various farm and stock exhibits seen on the ground and it is confidently predicted that another year the number of entries from the agricultural men in this and adjoining counties will be more than double what it was this year. The exhibiting of pure bred stock will doubtless get our stock raisers to see the necessity of improving their stock.

To Mr. D. J. Ward, the President of the Association is due the credit for having a Fair at Salisbury. Mr. Ward took the hold of this proposition when but few were interested in the project and despite many discouragements pushed it through.

It is generally acknowledged that the race track here is one of the best in the State. This track was built under the supervision of Mr. Wm. P. Ward who did a great deal to make the Fair a success by his thorough work and careful management. Many others contributed of their time and work to the making of the Fair, and a great number of Salisbury's business men were quick to see the advantages which Salisbury would derive from a successful Fair and did all they could to make it a success.

NORTH POLE DISCOVERED

And The Star Spangled Banner May Now Wave On Top Of Earth.

Word was received by cablegram this week that the North Pole had been reached by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who left New York on his voyage of discovery, July 4th, 1907, and reached the Pole according to the reports April 21st, 1908.

The reaching of the North Pole has been the object of a large number of daring explorers and scientists for more than 100 years and the statement that it has actually been attained has aroused excitement and interest the world over. Many a life has been sacrificed in the attempt to penetrate the frozen fields of the North and reach the geographical point of the Earth's surface where East, West and North all disappear and looking in whatsoever direction one may, only South is seen.

Dr. Cook is the only man who ever reached this spot and returned home to tell of his discoveries, and the civilized world is impatiently awaiting his arrival at Copenhagen, Denmark, which, according to schedule will take place today, to hear a full account of his trip, the dangers encountered and the difficulties overcome, as well as a full description of the land or water adjacent to and at the North Pole.

Dr. Cook departed from the usual custom of Arctic explorers and determined to make his journey during the winter season instead of the summer as have all previous explorers, and trust to the solid ice fields for a roadway instead of an open channel in the floating ice. That his theory was correct has been proven by his success, and his account of his trip over the ice bound field of the North drawn by dogs and accompanied only by Esquimaux should make interesting reading. It is said that according to the laws of nations the land discovered belongs to the nation under whose flag the expedition was sailing; in this case Uncle Sam now owns the northernmost part of the world and the "Star Spangled Banner" is entitled to wave at a point which looks down on the rest of the world, and which the rest of the nations look up to.

At Session Of The County Commissioners Tuesday.

A committee consisting of Joseph Truitt, S. Green Truitt, Thomas Tingle, Stansbury Wimbrow and others, came before the Board to ask for shells to improve the public road leading from Pittsville north a distance of ¾ miles on the road leading to the James H. West place. The citizens agreed to prepare the road bed and put the shells on the board to furnish the shells delivered at the railroad station. The board agreed to furnish the shells for at least 1,300 yards.

The board heard objections to the ratification of the report on the tax ditch made by L. B. Bristingham, E. P. Morris and E. A. Powell in Dennis district. The objectors agreed to withdraw their objections in consideration that the acreage is reduced, which was agreed to and the report was finally ratified.

G. E. Jackson, E. P. Morris and G. W. Adkins were appointed a commission on tax ditch positioned for by E. Dora Truitt, W. E. Truitt and E. R. Hearn and others in Pittsburg district.

The Board and members of the City Council conferred in regard to making repairs to Humphreys mill dam. It was agreed that both parties should appoint a committee of three to constitute joint committee to take charge of the work. Mr. Cooper, Engineer Clark and Attorney Bailey were appointed a committee for the Commissioners.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Held At The Court House On Tuesday. The Ticket.

The Republicans held their County Convention in the Court House here on Tuesday of this week, and nominated a full ticket for this County. Mr. Levin A. Parsons presided over the meeting and on taking the chair made a very forcible speech which was enthusiastically received by the delegates to the convention. Mr. Parsons predicted in his speech the election of the ticket to be nominated. Mr. W. B. Miller, in placing Dr. W. G. Smith in nomination for Clerk of the Court made a plea for rotation in office, and delivered a strong speech which was well received. The following ticket was nominated, which is regarded as a very good ticket:

Clerk of the Circuit Court—Dr. Wm. G. Smith, of Salisbury District. For Register of Wills—Alan F. Benjamin, of Salisbury District. For House of Delegates—Ernest W. Townsend, of Camden District; Geo. W. Truitt, of Willard District; Harry T. Larmore, of Tysackin District. For County Commissioners—John T. Wilson, of Barren Creek District; W. S. Disharoon, of Quantico District; Granville A. Parsons, of Pittsburg District.

For Sheriff—Joseph P. Cooper, of Sharpton District.

For Surveyor—Thomas W. English, of Barren Creek District.

Eight out of the fourteen districts in the county are represented. The following resolutions were passed:

We, the representatives of the Republican party of Wicomico county, Maryland, in Convention assembled, do hereby re-affirm our allegiance to the national platform of the Republican party adopted in 1908 and the Maryland State platform recently adopted in Baltimore.

Believing that one of the most important local issues is the building and maintaining of a system of modern highways, we declare ourselves in favor of good roads and believe that the expenditure should be properly proportioned throughout the county, so that all sections shall be benefited and the expenditures which are made and that one section of the county shall not receive all public improvements at the expense of less favored sections whose inhabitants are compelled to pay their share of the public taxes without receiving any benefit from the county administration.

We believe in the firmly established American doctrine of rotation in office and do not believe that any man or set of men should control indefinitely the affairs of the county or any of its public offices.

We record our unalterable opposition to the proposed Strass Amendment as a violation to the principles of American government and discriminates against the rights of certain of its citizens. It is un-American and vicious in principle and we respectfully invite the co-operation of all the citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, in securing a majority against it in Wicomico county.

We favor a liberal and progressive policy in dealing with the public affairs of the county and pledge the nominees of this convention, if elected, to carry out promises hereby made.

Meeting Of City Council.

The City Council was busily engaged Monday evening until 10.20 o'clock in the consideration of important business matters.

The report of the commission appointed to open a new street in Camden to be known as Light Street, and extending from Newton to Maryland Avenue, was presented to the Council and the report was accepted. The Council authorized the Clerk to give notice that a special session of the Council would be held Monday evening, September 20th, to hear objections, if any, from property owners as to the ratification of this report.

An ordinance was passed regulating the approach to and driving over the bridges of this city. This ordinance provides that all teams and automobiles must keep to right on approaching and crossing bridges, and makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $1.00 nor more than $10.00 for violations of the provisions of the ordinance. There was quite a delegation of taxpayers present to urge the Council to take speedy action in the matter of repairing Humphreys dam. President W. M. Cooper, of the County Commissioners, was present to represent that body. It was agreed that the City Council and County Commissioners would not in conjunction in the matter of repairing the broken dam, the expense to be borne equally by the city and county. The Council agreed to meet the County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon for consultation as to the kind of bridge to be built and the specifications could be prepared as speedily as possible and the work commenced. It was generally understood among the officials that this work should be taken up at once.

TRAINED COCKROACH MISSING

Alonso, the Pride of Harvard Seniors, Disappears from Holworthy Hall—Played Baseball.

Cambridge, Mass.—Alonso, the trained cockroach, pride of Holworthy Hall, is missing and there is regret in the hearts of fifty Harvard students. Although Alonso was the common property of the seniors in Holworthy, he really belonged to Karl S. Cate, '08, to whom also belongs the credit for the insect's earlier training.

Mr. Cate discovered Alonso in his bedroom at a hotel in Port Antonio, Jamaica, in the winter of 1907-08 and made him a prisoner. When he got back to college Cate made a wire cage for his pet and for a long time the insect thrived on patent leather shoes. Then Cate taught Alonso to respond to his whistle, and rewarded him for prompt responses with moistened sugar.

Other seniors taught Alonso various tricks. One was to stand on his hind legs upon the edge of an unlighted pipe without falling in. Another taught Alonso how to roll over and die when any one said "Yale" in a loud firm voice. This was accomplished only after weeks of the most arduous labor.

The student would say "Yale" and then he would pin Alonso down to the table after tripping him up by his hind legs. Then he would reward him with a bit of dried lobster claw.

For a long time the approach of the instructor would make Alonso nervous and fidgety, but soon he mastered the trick.

Capt. Currier of the ball team laid out a small baseball diamond and taught Alonso several tricks on it. The one which provoked the most comment was the one in which Alonso took his stand on the home plate. Currier would yell "Slide, Alonso, slide." Then Alonso would set out at top speed and circle the bases, and if any one shouted "Yale" Alonso, instead of falling over in his customary manner, would circle the bases three times.

THE SUFFRAGETTE COCKTAIL.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The suffragette cocktail is the newest American drink.

Any other kind of a cocktail makes a man want to go home and beat his wife. The new drink has exactly the opposite tendency. Two or three of the new drinks make a man go home and relinquish his position as head of the household to his wife and accord her all the privileges he now enjoys as a citizen.

That's true, for it has already been tried. A Hennepin avenue bartender invented the new drink. Here's his recipe:

Sloe gin, French vermouth and Italian vermouth in equal parts to make a gill; mix in a cocktail glass, add a dash of orange bitters, twist in two strips of lemon peel and serve. One makes a man willing to listen to the suffragettes' proposition.

Two convince him that it has some merit. Three make him a missionary, willing to spread the gospel abroad, and four make him go home and wash the dishes.

THE HOPE OF FRENCH MONARCHISTS

Paris, France.—The strike of the public servants in France is hailed with joy by the Bourbon Royalists who are loudly proclaiming in their subsidized newspapers that the downfall of the Republic is at hand.

The Duke of Orleans.

The head of the movement to restore the monarchy in all its splendor and extravagance is the Duke of Orleans. He has immense wealth and is using it lavishly in a propaganda to place himself on the throne.

WAY OF MAKING LIFE EASIER

Many Electrical Devices to Save Cash and Economize Energy in Operating

ELECTRIC COOKING IS TASTIER

Ash Sifters and Moth Traps, Smokeless Ranges and Mechanical Razors Are Already Here, and a Wireless Telephone for Every Navigator.

ELECTRICAL INVENTIONS THAT MAKE LIFE EASIER

Incandescent lamps which give more light with less current.

An ash sifter that will save over a ton of coal a year.

Cheap and easy wireless telephony.

Cooking range that will do everything for 18 cents a day.

A trap that will lure destroying tree moths from half a mile away.

A scrubber that will clean ships' bottoms at trifling cost.

A razor that will shave by simply turning the button.

A writer who has a turn for research and who is a close observer of modern progress in mechanics has enumerated and described some of the many electrical devices which have been invented recently and which have gone far toward making life, in its lesser details, more easy for humanity.

A large business has recently grown up in improved forms of incandescent lamps, which, while giving light at greatly enhanced efficiency, consume less current than the older types.

An electrical ash sifter has been designed to save the leak in coal and cinders thrown out with the ashes in household practice. The machine is simply constructed, being built on the revolving screen principle. Into the hopper of the outfit the ashes are dumped.

The cinders fall into a bin and a can receives the waste. It is estimated that in an ordinary household from a ton to a half of coal can be thus recovered from the ashes in a year.

While recent progress in radio-telephony—the transmission of telephone talk without wires—has been comparatively slow, there is promise of steady development in some recent tests in Europe.

The French navy authorities have reported very satisfactory results in talking from the Eiffel tower in Paris to Dieppe, 93 miles.

The apparatus used for this purpose is being continually simplified, and it bids fair soon to be applicable to a large number of vessels which cannot afford to carry a Morse operator, and whose necessity of wireless telephony conversation will be met by a system effective up to 100 miles.

Electric cooking, hitherto more or less of a luxury, is being brought by improved apparatus and reduction in the price of current within the reach of the ordinary household.

One of these writers enthusiastically of the results by the employment in his own kitchen of an electric oven, a grill, an egg poacher, a toaster, and a 4-14-14 hot plate.

The cost of the current used in running the whole of the outfit for eight days was $3.32, or $1.04 per day; or 18 cents per day, or 3 cents per hour, for each grill, boiling plate and oven in use.

The flavor of meat electrically cooked is said to excel that of meat treated by any other method.

For the caterpillar plague which is having such a disastrous effect on many of the forests of this country, a remedy is suggested by the action of the municipal authorities of a German town. The brown nun moths had been ravaging the trees of the valley in which the town is situated, and many of the densely planted sections were threatened with destruction.

An electric light trap was constructed. Lights of high power were fixed in position, and behind them, put over a deep receptacle and large exhaust fans, were two powerful reflectors. The whole was installed on the top of the municipal electric plant building.

At night two great streams of light are thrown from the reflectors on the woods on the sides of the mountain half a mile away. The moths, drawn by the shining radiance, come fluttering in myriads along the broad lanes of light.

As they reach the reflectors they are caught by the swirl of the exhaust fans and carried down on the grip of the current of air to the receptacle below. It is said that on the first night the trap was put in operation three tons of moths were caught.

The latest thing in a man's dressing kit is the electric razor. The stationary part of this device is simply an ordinary safety razor, consisting of a handle, a blade, and a blade holder, attached directly to the spiral shaft of a vibrator. Running up the handle of the razor is a rotary eccentric, which twists the blade around at any desired angle.

The Road To Success.

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success today demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to neglect Electric Bitters if weak, run down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

NEVER DRENCH CATTLE.

A Personal Demonstration that Will Show Its Danger.

More cattle die from the effects of being drenched than from tuberculosis. Perhaps the best way of demonstrating the danger of drenching cattle is to advise the reader to throw back his head as far as possible and attempt to swallow. This you will find to be a difficult task, and you will find it much more difficult and almost impossible to swallow with mouth open. It is for this reason that drenching cattle is a dangerous practice. However, if a cow's head be raised as high as possible and her mouth kept open, by the drenching bottle or horn, a portion of the liquid is very apt to pass down the windpipe into the lungs, sometimes causing instant death by smothering. At other times causing death to follow in a few days from congestion or inflammation of the lungs.

We are constantly receiving letters at this office describing the sudden death of animals that were ailing with such minor ailments as constipation or loss of appetite, and upon investigation find that they have been drenched and the cause of their death being due to same. This is oftentimes proved by sending out one of our assistant veterinarians to hold post mortem upon such animals only to find that a portion of the drench was still in the lungs; other cases where death had been prolonged and later the animal had died of mechanical pneumonia. I do not feel that the stock raisers of this country realize the danger in drenching cattle and the enormous financial loss brought about by same.—Dr. David Roberts, in the Cultivator.

Don't Weary the Colt.

A two-year-old colt should do no more than haul an empty wagon and then should not be wearied and exerted for the colt is undeveloped in muscle and bone and can be easily injured if not completely ruined. Heavy pulling and straining of any kind should be avoided under five years of age. Three-year-olds can do lots of harrowing, plowing, etc., but should not do heavy pulling. Ring bones, spavins, curbs, etc., are often the results of hard usage at an early age.

Dry Lot Hog Rations.

The determination on the part of a great many farmers to feed nothing but farm grown crops upon the farm, is one that has made it extremely difficult to select rations suitable for fattening growing hogs in a dry lot, which are available and will meet with approval. Skim milk will serve this purpose as well, or possibly better, than any other farm product, but it rarely ever is available in sufficient quantities for extensive use in feeding hogs.

A Well Designed Farrowing-Pen.

The picture shows a view of the corner of a farrowing-pen. It is provided with a fender around the inside of the pen which keeps the sow from lying up against a partition and killing the young pigs, which a large sow will often do. The fenders should project at least eight inches into the pen and allow eight inches clear between the fender and the floor.

Improving the Pig.

A very small percentage of the hogs arriving on the Chicago market are pure-bred. This is due to so much cross breeding beneficial, say buyers who have been long in the business on the Chicago market, as a mixing of the strains has resulted in a general improvement in the class of hogs arriving from the standpoint of the slaughterer.

Care More Than Breed.

The feed and care of the colt is almost as much importance as the breed. A pure bred colt can be ruined by neglect and a colt of fair grade stock can be made a clipper by the proper care. Care in other words is needed in raising any kind of a colt with profit.

The Scalding Temperature.

For scalding hogs have the water 180 degrees. Hotter or colder will not give the best results.

The hog is made or marred by his first year. Start him right, and keep him going right if you would make horse raising pay.

In breeding sows there is great economy in having the litters come near together.

ready wide domains, since the discovery of the North Pole by Dr. Cook will give him a title good in the eyes of the nations of the world to the land discovered by this daring Arctic explorer who is an American and was sailing under the American flag.

It is true that this new land is mostly ice, yet perhaps it might be put to a good use in holding the Ice Trust of this country in check. Anyway if the land discovered has no value at present, yet it is well worth while to have an American make an achievement of this kind, and the honor of landing this prize has been striven for by the brave, daring and adventurous explorers of many nations for the past 100 years in no small thing in itself. All honor then to Dr. Cook the brave, intrepid explorer, and to Uncle Sam whose realm produces the wisest and bravest in every field.

THE CAMPAIGN NOW ON.

The Republican party closed the last step in the preparation for the political battle of this fall when its convention met here on Tuesday and adopted its platform and nominated its ticket.
From now on the fight will get warmer and warmer until election day when—we predict—the same story will be told as has been told in this County in years gone by.

As far as the personnel of the ticket nominated by the Republican party last Tuesday is concerned, there can be but little criticism, as they have used about as good material as was available.

The Democrats have however nominated men who are as well qualified in every case and much better in a great number than those nominated by the Republicans.

As the men nominated on the Democratic ticket this fall were nominated directly by the voters themselves, it is expected that those who helped nominate will interest themselves in the success of those nominated, and thus roll up a good majority for the ticket this fall.

The ticket nominated is a good ticket, the affairs of the County are well managed, and there is no reason for a change here.

LOST—A tap with word Auburn on it about three inches in diameter on road to Fruitland or on stone road between Salisbury and Quantico.

U. C. Phillips.

REWARD—For return of a light grey overcoat lost Wednesday night on Isabella Street or County road leading by the Byrd Perdue farm.
Suitable reward if returned to Advertiser Office or the Salisbury National Bank.

Kennedy & Mitchell have added a great line of children's hats for this fall, both girls and boys; every new style here.

FALL AND WINTER

Fashions in New York. Great Variety in Styles: Draperies; Guitars; Frocks;
Dress Materials: New Millinery;
Large Turbans and Toques;
Changeable Effects.

The fall fashions are distinctly novel and many new, and what is better, becoming styles have been brought out—two and three piece suits, in separate coats and even separate skirts.
In dressy costumes of all sorts many new drapery effects have been evolved by the great French fashion designers. In its plainest form the overskirt drapery consists of a close straight piece of the fabric reaching to a nationally pleated or shirred half skirt. In the more extreme effects such as the fall draperies at the sides and back, the new washerwoman over-

Call Company, New York. Patterns may be obtained at any McCall Agency skirts, the material is draped and gathered very much on the order of the overskirts of twenty five years ago.

This fall no woman need despair.
The new styles contain such a great variety of models that it is possible to clothe almost any figure becomingly.
For a slender woman the new curlious frocks are extremely chic and well made, but it must be remembered that the variation of an inch or two in length of vogue or curlious will make all the difference between a frock that is becoming and one that is the reverse.
The costume consisting of waist and skirt is again in fashion. This never exactly went out of style among sensible people but in the host of princess effects and one piece frocks, it has seemed almost passe for the past year.

Rough Materials.

Wide waist chevrons, heavy ribbed serges, homespuns and other mannish materials are among the fabrics used to make the new tailor gowns. Zinclines, camel's hair and rough goods are also extremely smart. Broad-cloths and velvets are used for the very dearest type of visiting gowns and are lavishly braided and trimmed.
The salient features of all the new tailor made frocks for fall are the elongated waist line and the snug hip line that is intended to be fitted over the long corset that does much to fatten the hips and make them appear slender.

New Millinery.

Felt hats are making their appearance in the New York shops. It is of course a little too early to wear them but we all like to know just what novel ideas in the millinery line fashion has to show. Although many showing small hats and turbans are displayed the dominant idea is the large Cavalier shape. Fine silk velvet is often used as a covering for the entire hat with crown drapings of various new effects and materials and novelty bands. With handsome ornate plume trimmings these hats are the richest looking and most picturesque headgear that was ever evolved.

Turbans and Toques.

Large turbans are another distinctly new idea in the millinery world.
A charming Paris model is made in a large round shape that entirely covers the head in dark brown velvet, elaborately draped with the folds caught down by velvet covered buttons. It is trimmed rather high on the right side with a full brush of heron feathers. The new Russian toques is another striking novelty. A model just imported from a famous Paris milliner is made of mustard colored velvet and has a very large high crown with the narrow brim abruptly turned up at the left side.

Dressy Effects.

In evening frocks and in fact in dressy gowns of all sorts there is at present a perfect rage for changeable effects and the loveliest of changeable silks and shaded chiffons have been brought out. Black ties and laces are combined most effectively with color for evening wear and old Chantilly shawls are now being pulled out of family treasure chests and draped over party frocks and reception gowns.

A Few Reasons Why

Acadia Butter Is Best

BECAUSE it is an absolutely pure Butter.

BECAUSE it is made from the pure, sweet milk of the best herds of dairy cattle in the State.

BECAUSE it is worked dry and contains not over four per cent moisture. (Most Butters will show from 15 to 20 per cent moisture.)

BECAUSE it is sold only in hermetically sealed packages, thus retaining the natural flavor.

BECAUSE in all the years it has been on the market we have never had a single complaint regarding its quality.

which every person who knows good butter is sure to appre-

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidney is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid solvents."

You might go on till dooms day with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cures the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury's testimony to prove it.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "For almost six months I was in poor health and my house work was a burden. Rheumatic pains between my shoulders, caused me much suffering and my head ached nearly all the time. I was also subject to dizzy spells and I felt all out of sorts. Before I had finished one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at White Leonard's drug store, I was entirely relieved, and I have been in good health since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Night On Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe its the greatest Throat and Lung cure on Earth. Coughs, Colds, Croup, Hemorrhages and Sore Lungs are surely cured by it. Best for Hay Fever, Grip and Whooping Cough. 50c and 1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

"Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent."—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

A HAPPY HOME

Is one where health abounds. With impure blood there cannot be good health. With a disordered LIVER there cannot be good blood.

Tutt's Pills

revivify the torpid LIVER and restore its natural action.

A healthy LIVER means pure blood. Pure blood means health. Health means happiness.

"A Dandy"

"It's a dandy," said the warehouseman, in conclusion. "You ought to take your wife and go see it."

"I think I see myself," said the packer. "It must be a Jim dandy. No, sir, I guess I'll pass that up. I know better ways to put in an evening."

"I thought you liked to take in a good show," said the warehouseman. "It's the best I know of."

"Well, you're welcome to all of them kind," said the packer. "Yes, I like a good show, but that ain't what I call good. Think I want to see an old guy killed and the wrong feller dola' time for it an' his kid dyla' an' his wife starvin' out in the snow? Not much I don't."

"You must be a chump," said the warehouseman. "What's the difference as long as it all comes out in the end? In the last scene don't they throw the hooks into this guy Chauncey good and plenty? Didn't I tell you? This Jack Hardy breaks out of the pen an' Chauncey trails him to the cottage where his wife's been stayin' ever since she was rekeyred from the river an' the woman she's stayin' with is Chauncey's wife, what he deserted, an' she's got him dead to rights with the papers he thought was burned. So when the cops bust in the door to get Jack she springs the papers on 'em, an' 'jest as Chauncey's climbin' out through the window the loot pulls his gun an' gives him his. What's wrong with that?"

"It's all right if you like it, I guess," said the packer. "I don't see what you had to feel good about when the cop shot him. Anyway the kid died."

"She come to life again darned quick if she did," said the warehouseman. "My wife an' me seen her eatin' a lunch o' rye bread an' bologna an' beer when we went into the rest'rant after the show to get a bite."

"It's all right about that too," said the packer. "I didn't 'pose they telephoned to the undertaker as soon as the curtain went down, but you felt bad while the dyin' act was goin' on."

"Sure," said the warehouseman. "She done it as natural as life. The old woman wet her handkerchief till you could wring the water out of it, cryin'."

"You must have enjoyed it," said the packer. "I certainly did."

"That's the difference between you an' me. I'd sooner see a rally or a couple o' good Dutch c'mejans. I ain't huntin' trouble myself. I'd sooner give 30 cents to keep out of it than to see it. If I want a good time I'll take in a voddervil show an' see somethin' worth seein'."

"You take a good tumblin' act or sleight o' hand or bell ringers an' it gives you somethin' to think about an' don't give you the blues. I see a guy the other night played the clarinet with his nose."

"That's right. He played a toon on it. 'Bld o' puttin' it to his mouth he held it up to his nose an' snorted down it. 'Harigug was what he played. An' there was an armless wonder that drawed pictures on a blackboard with colored chalk. He had Tat an' Bryan an' John D. an' Teddy an' a lot more. Swell!"

"You're nutty," said the warehouseman.

"Maybe I am," returned the packer. "I've been havin' a touch o' lumbago an' the landlord's threatenin' to put the furniture on the street if the rent ain't paid next week. I'm paying interest now on a loan o' $50 that I got from one o' these sharks an' that keeps me wiggin'—that an' the doctor's bill."

"That's hard luck," said the warehouseman, sympathetically.

"It's hard enough for me," said the packer. "If the boss'd raise my pay an' I could get them debts out o' the way maybe I'd go to see 'A Demon's Revenge' just to tone down my high spirits, but as it is I ain't interested in Jack or Chauncey or any of them. I've got troubles of my own."

"Well, I don't know as I blame you," said the warehouseman. "Chicago News."

The Sweetest Songster. Over the breakfast Miss Dorothy, the enthusiastic ornithologist of the boarding house, discussed the merits of the nightingale, lark, thrush and so forth.

"And which, Mr. Hunker," exclaimed Miss Dorothy, "which of all the song-birds are you fondest of?"

"I prefer the hen, Miss Dorothy."

"But the hen isn't a song-bird at all!" objected Miss Dorothy.

"Well," replied Hunker, tapping another hard-boiled egg, "it's the only bird whose lay I care for!"

Pastor Julius Disselhof, son-in-law and successor of Fiedner, was the father of Evangelical democracy. For thirty-eight years he presided over the work in Kaiserwerth, Germany, and it has grown wonderfully in his hands. "My proud heart never would have desired it," he said, when they elected him. But when he died, they called him one of the great men of the church, and applied to him Paul's glory: "I have fought a good fight."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. If a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance appears, it indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in passing it, or backache, or aching in the back, or the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and aching pain in passing it; or bed effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SINEPUXENT INLET

Does Not Prove To Be The Success Hoped For.

Sinepuxent Inlet, which was constructed some time ago to connect Sinepuxent bay with the ocean near Ocean City is a failure, according to reports received from Ocean City today.

When the Inlet or channel was dug the promoters of the project figured out that the rise and fall of the tide would keep the channel open at all times, and that there would be little or nothing to do to keep the water flowing through the inlet navigable.

Subsequent events, however, indicate that the plan was all wrong, for, instead of keeping open the channel, the tide has persistently washed sand into it until the inlet has been completely closed up on the bay side of the channel.

A proposition is now on foot, to build a bulkhead out into the Sinepuxent bay on both sides of the channel, and by this means it is hoped to keep the sand from blocking up the waterway to the ocean.

Week Death Roll.

Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. W. T. Watson who was badly burned in the fire which destroyed her home six months ago, died last Friday afternoon as the result of injuries sustained in the fire. Mrs. Watson, after the fire, was carried to the Peninsula General Hospital, and afterwards removed to her home; she had been a great sufferer during the entire six months. The deceased was 47 years of age and before her marriage was a Miss Monroe, of Michigan. She is survived by her husband, Mr. W. T. Watson of this city, three children—two boys and one girl, the eldest being about 16 years old, and one brother Mr. O. G. Monroe, of Michigan who was present at the funeral. The interment was made in Parsons' Cemetery after funeral services at her home conducted by Rev. C. A. Hill, of Wilmington, on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Watson was well thought of in this community where she had a wide circle of acquaintances.

Mr. William Moore.

Mr. William Moore, one of Salisbury's aged residents, died suddenly Saturday. Mr. Moore was one of the inmates of the Home for the Aged and on Saturday morning walked out to Mr. Joshua Dryden's a few miles from town to spend the day. The weather was excessively warm Saturday and on returning home Mr. Moore was suddenly taken ill while passing the home of Mrs. Holloway near town. He was immediately carried into the house and given medical attention by Miss Bertha Holloway, a trained nurse, but soon passed away. He leaves two children—Mrs. Bafford, widow of the late Edward Bafford, of Baltimore, and Charles Moore of the same city. Mr. Moore was for many years a wheelwright and continued to work at his trade until the infirmities of old age compelled him to retire. He and his wife then entered the Home for the Aged, when the wife died last February. Mr. Moore was a faithful member of the Division Street Baptist Church. His funeral took place Sunday afternoon from the Home for the Aged, service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Hewitt. Interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

Mrs. S. Jennie Jackson.

Mrs. S. Jennie Jackson, widow of the late George R. Jackson, of Cecil county, died Saturday at her home in this city after an illness of more than a year, due to a complication of diseases. Deceased was 54 years of age and is survived by one son, Mr. Alexander M. Jackson, an attorney of Salisbury. Mrs. Jackson was a member of Trinity M. E. Church South and took an active interest in church work when her health would permit. She was a lady of education and refinement and drew around her host of friends who regret her demise. Funeral services were held at her late home Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. A. Cooper and W. H. Edwards. The interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

FIRE FROM CIGARETTE

Seriously Threatened Easton On Tuesday, Salisbury Ready To Aid.

Easton was threatened with a fire which for a time looked as if it would wipe out the entire town: only the good work done by the firemen and the citizens confined it to one of the business blocks of that town. Calls were sent out for assistance, and the Salisbury Fire Department made ready to rush over and help the fight when word was received that the danger was over. The fire originated in Louis K. Edgell's stables on Federal street, from a cigarette smoked in the hay loft by a colored boy. This is the second time within 12 years that this same block has been partially destroyed, and the strange coincidence is that it originated in identically the same stable. Griffin's home, below the farmers' sheds, was damaged, but the wind set the blaze from it, which was all that saved it. The firemen and citizens deserve great credit for the manner in which they worked. A number of the men were injured by falling glass and some were badly burned about the face and arms. The buildings and contents burned and damaged with the estimated values are as follows:

Louis K. Edgell's stables,	1,000
John H. McFall's stables,	1,000
Lee Weinberg's stable,	800
William Griffin's farm sheds,	3,000
William Griffin's home,	180
Medford Andrews stables,	3,000
Ex-Sheriff O. H. Henry's store,	5,000
Michael McGin's home,	2,000
Mrs. George Warrington's home,	2,000
Samuel Norris' stable,	500
Dr. McCallan's blacksmith shop,	300
J. P. Hall's tin and stove shop,	500
Total,	$18,760

Salisbury To Be Held In Odd Fellows Hall Here Next Saturday.

There will be several topics of interest discussed at the Salisbury Grange, which meets in the Odd Fellows Hall, Salisbury, Md., Saturday evening, September 18th, at 8 o'clock. All the members are requested to be present and each brother and sister come with something to say that will help and encourage some one else.

We feel glad that our Grange has enrolled such a large number of our best farmers, their families, and we are encouraged to believe that our Grange will be a social, intellectual and moral, as well as a financial benefit to the farmers of this Section.

One of the great objects of the Grange is the social meeting together of the farmers and their families and discussing the problems and ways of farming and exchanging views one with another relative to the betterment of farm life.

The Grangers of this country have grown to enormous numbers and have by their united efforts, accomplished some grand things for the country at large. We cheerfully invite the farmers and their families to join us in our Salisbury Grange.

OUT FOR DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES AND THE AMENDMENT.

After Deliberate And Careful Forethought And Consideration The Baltimore Sun Declares Its Attitude—Sees More And Better Opportunities On The Democratic Side.

With the formal notification of Dr. Joshua W. Hering last Thursday of his re-nomination for Comptroller by the Democratic State Convention the campaign in Maryland has passed its initial stage and will soon enter the warmer zones of political conflict. The Sun has up to this time purposely refrained from defining its position with regard to the pending State contest, because of the unusual number of important issues presented by the platforms of the two parties and because it desired to consider them carefully, deliberately and thoroughly. Having done so, it feels that it would be lacking in its duty to itself, as well as to the people of the State, to defer any longer the statement of its attitude.

In announcing as it does now, that it will support the Democratic candidates and the Democratic platform it is not by any means to be understood as expressing entire satisfaction with all the planks in that platform. We do not hesitate to say that the plank on legislative representation for Baltimore is not what this city had a right to expect and to claim at the hands of the Democratic party and that the Republican plan on that subject is far more satisfactory. But in the political world, as in the business world, it is not always a question of what we want, or what we have an abstract right to, but what we can get. Unfortunately for the Republican party, it is not in a position to carry out its promise on this point, except by the aid of a political tidal wave, of which there is not the slightest indication. The Democrats have ten hold-over Senators, and without such a tidal wave the Republicans cannot control the Senate, even if they should carry the House of Delegates. With a Democratic Senate and a Democratic Governor, the Republicans would be helpless to pass any desired legislation. So that if Baltimore is to get the promise of increased representation from the next Legislature, it is safer to depend on the Democratic party than on the Republican.

There is also another practical consideration to be taken into account in this connection. The county voters—Democratic and Republican alike—are not disposed to look with favor upon the bill of the Just Representation League. The bill to be passed by the Legislature will have to be submitted for ratification to the voters of the State. There were in 1908 171,790 registered voters in the counties and 118,986 in the city. If that bill arouses the suspicion and antagonism of the county voters by giving Baltimore what those voters consider undue representation, the result will be that it will be defeated when it is submitted to them, and that we shall get no increase at all in our representation. It is, therefore, a condition, not a theory, which confronts us—a question of arithmetic and facts, rather than of abstract right. It is a case of half a loaf or no bread, and it seems wiser to make sure of half a loaf.

On the issue of direct popular primaries both platforms are alike. But here again there is more to be hoped for from the Democrats than from the Republicans. In the matter of local nominations, city and county, the Democrats have made a beginning, and not an altogether bad beginning. In a large number of counties, as well as the city of Baltimore, they adopted this year the plan of direct popular nominations and as Governor Crothers and many leading Democrats are in favor of making this system compulsory, there is good reason for believing that with the Democrats in power at Annapolis the people will secure their full rights in this matter. The Republicans naturally fight shy of this issue as the elements which make up their electorate are not homogeneous, and the results which might ensue from direct primaries would prove disastrous to the party.

On the issue of a public utilities commission both parties are unreservedly committed to the creation of such an agency as will control all public service corporations alike, so that on that question, other things being equal, there is nothing to choose between them.

We come now to the suffrage amendment, which both parties have declared to be the paramount issue of the campaign. We are frank to say that if the pending suffrage amendment contained the objectionable features of what is known as the Poe amendment, defeated in 1906, The Sun could not support it. But it is free from the objections urged to that amendment, and as far as the qualifications prescribed for the colored voter are concerned, is very similar in principle to the amendment advocated by Governor Warfield. It will not disfranchise any white voter in the State, native or foreign born. It will have the effect of disfranchising most colored voters, and it is frankly intended to do this. But under it many colored voters will still be able to vote—all can do so, in fact, who have $500 worth of property or who can answer a limited number of designated questions, none of which are inherently difficult. Nor does it close the door of hope against the masses of colored electorate. It, in fact, holds it open by the property and educational qualifications and offers a stimulus of thrift and literacy which would, in the end, prove a valuable aid to negro advancement. Without dwelling in detail at present upon all the arguments in favor of the amendment, we believe that its general effect would be not only to promote good government in Maryland, but to promote the best interests of the colored people of the State and to advance them ultimately to a higher plane of citizenship.

Thus believing, The Sun unreservedly advocates the passage of this amendment as an important step in the creation of a purer and more intelligent electorate and the elimination of elements which have hampered progress in certain sections of the State and which might easily prove dangerous in the hands of unscrupulous leaders.—Baltimore Sun Editorial, Sept. 7.

FORTUNE OF $17,000

Found In Mattress. Had Hidden Double Eagles In His Lonely Home.

An old mattress in the home in Brooklyn of the late Daniel Applegate, the eccentric old policeman, became a treasure house to members of the family who were searching among his effects to settle up the estate. The mattress was so heavy that it was impossible to move it, so the searchers ripped it open and found $17,000 in double eagles stowed away at the bottom. The 860 coins were so arranged that their presence would not be suspected unless the mattress was taken from the bed.

The Applegate home is on Flatbush avenue, near Hanson place and the Long Island railroad station. It has been unoccupied since the death of the old policeman in New Jersey a month ago.

Many persons in Brooklyn knew "Dan" Applegate and his eccentricities. Although on post for years near the Borough Hall, he refused to go near or look at the Brooklyn Bridge, only a quarter of a mile away.

He had no faith in savings banks and changed his pay into double eagles every month. Nobody lived in his home with him, and he did his own housework. The money found will be divided among his sons and daughters.

LOST—A tap with word Auburn on it about three inches in diameter on road to Fruitland or on stone road between Salisbury and Quantico. U. G. Phillips.

TO OPEN SEPT. 20th

Salisbury Schools Being Arranged For In Good Shape By Supt. Holloway.

The public schools of Salisbury will be re-opened on Monday, September 20th and all arrangements for the re-opening have practically been made. School buildings and grounds have been thoroughly cleaned and every thing will be in readiness by the time the bells tap at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 20th.

It is expected by school officials that there will be a largely increased attendance over last year, and to prepare for this two new buildings have been contracted for in Salisbury—a six room house beyond the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad, on William Street Extended and a four room house on Locust Street, in Camden. The building beyond the depot will be completed the 30th, but the one in Camden will be delayed a few weeks. It is hoped, however to provide for all pupils until this building is ready for occupancy.

Superintendent Holloway stated that they are up-to-date school buildings in every particular, and represent the best that has been worked out in lighting, heating and ventilation and everything that pertains to health conditions. The increased appropriation made by the County Commissioners has greatly encouraged the teachers and the superintendent says that he is looking forward to the best year in the history of the schools.

The superintendent is now busily at work on the grading of the various schools, so as to have everything in readiness by the opening day. It is proposed if possible, to grade the schools so that all those residing beyond the depot can attend that school, and that scholars residing in Camden can attend the new school on Locust street. This problem is a hard one to solve, but the Superintendent is endeavoring to work it out in a satisfactory manner.

$1,000,000 IN FISH

Report For 1908 Does Not Include $2,127,000 In Maryland Oysters.

According to figures taken from the preliminary report of the census Bureau regarding its investigation of the fisheries of Maryland during 1908, the Maryland product of fish for market purposes was approximately 70,000,000 pounds. This does not include oysters and clams. The fish output is valued at about $1,000,000.

For market purposes the Maryland product of oysters during the same period was 5,880,000 bushels, valued at $2,127,140. The clam output was 10,800 bushels, worth $16,470. According to the report of 40,800 bushels of oysters valued at $101,190, were used for seedling purposes during the year. The value of miscellaneous fish, skins etc., is put at $70,400.

These figures are confined to the fishing industry, and do not include wholesale fish dealers or commercial fishermen. According to the figures there were in Maryland at the end of 1908, 8444 independent fishermen, 3948 wage-earning fishers and 1100 vessels engaged in the industry.

Howe's Great London Shows

Howe's Great London Shows are advertised to exhibit here Saturday, September 18th. It has the finest of circus features and one of the best traveling menageries in America. Animals from every quarter of the globe are represented. There are real live tigers, a whole cove of them, fresh from the jungles of India, where their ancestors have sapped upon many a luckless native, and a great cove of lions, baby lion and some of them not babies. There are monkeys to delight the small boys. Those strange animals, the water buffalo, direct from our own Philippine Islands, will be found in our collection. There are sacred cows, camels, buffaloes, alks, deer, caribbons and many other strange and curious animals. Among them are a number of elephants, among them the largest and smallest elephants in the known world.

The street parade will traverse the principal streets of the city in the morning. In the parade will appear about 40 cages and wagons, drawn by four, six and eight teams. A large calico will play all the latest music of the day.

One of the noticeable features at the grounds where Howe's Shows appear is the courtesy of the employees. Every one is willing and anxious that the spectator shall see all of it. The show employs only those who know how to be gentleman, and particular care is taken to see that the children are properly cared for and the first consideration of the Howe's management.

Two performances will be given beginning at 2 and 5 p. m., respectively. Don't forget the date, Saturday, September 18—Adv.

TOWN TO HUNT THE TREASURE

Ancient Schoenberg's Architectural Eyesore Bites the Dust But the Murghers are not Happy Throat—
Secret of the Iron Box.

Vienna, Austria.—Schoenberg, Moravia, has an ancient, stately Tower Hall, at one corner of which stood until recently a tower with a pointed spire. This gray and worn old tower was the eyesore of the modern municipality because it formed such a contrast to the modern building erected around it. So a committee was appointed which declared that the tower was unsound; that it might fall down some stormy night. It was absolutely necessary, the committee declared, that the tower be pulled down.

So the venerable walls were laid low and the solid stones had nearly all been carted away when the masons discovered near the base of the tower a large stone and in the hollow at the bottom of the box. When the box was opened a signed and sealed document was found in it, showing that the town Councilors who deposited it feared the approach of the Swedish army and buried the treasure of the city in a place on which, on a certain day in the year, at a certain hour, the shadow of the top of the spire would fall.

Imagine the consternation of the municipal Council when that document was read to them by the Mayor. The tower had been pulled down, nothing remained but the site on which it stood. The beginning of the Thirty Years' War was not a time for practical jokes, so the affair could not be passed over unnoticed. No word has been found in the town records to indicate that the treasure was ever recovered.

The precise measurements of the tower exist and photographs of it. So the Mayor will have the tower reconstructed of wood in the exact shape in which it stood in the market place, and on the date given in the document, if the sun shines and the tower throws a shadow, the place will be made a thorough hunt for the treasure.

Those who opposed destroying the tower reproach the committee for having it pulled down. But the Councilmen retort that if the tower had been left standing nobody would ever have known anything about the treasure.

The date when the shadow must be observed is not published, but the Vienna committee for the preservation of old buildings has been informed and will share in the search.

SHAVES WITH A WAX TAPER.

After the Growth is Shaved a Towel Rub Completes the Job. Danville, Ill.—Buff Cummins, the steeplejack, says he is the only man in the country that can shave himself with a candle. "How is it done?" said Cummins when asked for an explanation. "Well, it is this way, a candle or an ordinary wax taper, such as I use daily in lighting the gas in my home, is as great an improvement over the old-fashioned way of shaving with a razor as the safety razor is over the ungainly hoe. All you have to do is to light the taper, of course, swing it once twice about the face, singing the waxy beard and causing it to shrivel up. A rough towel serves to move the shaggy part and a smooth shave is the result in less than two minutes."

GIRL SLEUTHS FOR BERLIN.

Police Will Rely on Feminine Intuition in the Detection of Crime. Berlin Germany.—The police administration, convinced that many crimes can be best traced by women, is establishing a corps of women detectives. Ten have already been enrolled. Some of them are mere girls. They will henceforth be employed wherever it is likely that feminine intuition will be useful.

Digging Plotters Caught.

Gort, Russia.—A daring plan to rob the treasury of Gort, in which $1,000,000 are kept, has been discovered. The scheme of the criminals, five men and a woman, was to dig a tunnel into the building from outside. They had progressed a distance of 350 feet and had reached a point directly below the cellar when a bookkeeper heard sounds of excavating and summoned the police to investigate, with the result that all six were captured.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage of its urine, it is afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. A BLUNDER
INTO WISDOM

Never before in all his life had Billy Le Voe been to walk with a girl. Even now it was no fault of his that Peggy Carlton was along. He had, in fact, fought bitterly against it, but his cherished younger brother, Bob, had wished a clear field that evening in order that he might make certain statements of unusual interest to Peggy's younger sister, Polly. Bob had demonstrated fluently that, to attain this end Billy must take sister to walk. Now Billy had never had any use for girls, and could not understand his brother's interest in them, but he had never denied the "kid" anything. So in the end, shutting his teeth firmly upon his rapidly oozing courage, he stalked over to the next house to deliver his invitation.

"Well go to the shore through Brendon Lane, and then we'll come back by the State road," he said. Peggy, who was still consumed with wonderment at having been invited at all, made no reply, and in unadulterated silence they entered the quiet, grassy path which he had selected.

"It's a lovely night," Peggy ventured after a time.

"Night's all right," grunted Billy, leaving it to be inferred from his emphasis that the night possessed a corner in righteousness. He was in no mood for scenery, being on a quest for something sensible to say. He did not succeed, and the birds had the silence to themselves. Peggy tried again.

"Where's Bob this evening?" she inquired sociably.

"Over at your place. He said he wanted the parlor to himself."

"So that's why you asked me to go to walk!" Billy was aghast at his mistake, and also at the way Peggy took it, for she stood still in the middle of the lane and laughed till the tears came.

"I hope you don't mind," he offered lamely.

"Not—not if you don't," replied Peggy, wiping her eyes; and of course in order to be decently polite Billy had to assert that he was enjoying himself immensely, all of which was very educative indeed for Billy.

After this they talked of the Polly-and-Bob affair, and agreed that the children were absurdly young to think of matrimony. The crickets were chirping in an undertone, and a light wind stirred the leaves.

"It is a nice night," Billy heard himself saying, and was surprised again at himself this time.

Just then they rounded a little curve in the lane; the woods on the right had dropped behind, and in their place stretched a broad meadow with only a low stone wall between. Billy, glancing ahead saw that which brought him to an abrupt stop. Directly in their path and dangerously near sat a pretty black-and-white pussie.

Billy was certain that girls in critical situations invariably scream; so Peggy presently found herself swept off her feet and being borne rapidly over a stone wall and across a post-rail fence. This only seemed admitted, though, that neither the poetry of the scene nor the romantic character of the adventure appealed to her. When he came to set her down, he decided, at the sight of her blazing eyes, that he had better have the first word. "It was a sort of a cat!" he blurted breathlessly. "If you had screamed, you'd have frightened it to increase the girl's resentment."

"What right had you to think I would scream?" she demanded.

"Why, any girl would," he assured her, to air his knowledge of the sex, as well as to assuage her wrath. There was an uncomfortable pause.

"Are you still mad?" he inquired plaintively, after a time.

"Somehow, I can't seem to be," she confessed. Billy felt absurdly relieved, but pulled himself together and said gruffly:

"The State road's over there to the right; we'll have to cut across lots."

"That were in the geometrical centre of a 10-acre field," he remarked.

"How very wet the grass is!" marvelled Peggy. "Do you suppose the 'sort of a cat' had rubbers on, Billy?"

"You haven't, at any rate," he discovered and drew a long breath. "You'll have to let me carry you again," he stated boldly, adding quickly, however, "but there really isn't any hurry; Bob won't be expecting us—and the grass won't get any wetter, anyway." So they stayed and discussed the scenery. Above the horizon the sky was clear gold; it reminded Billy of a ring which Bob had gotten a few days before, anticipating a future need.

"That kid brother of mine knows a heap more about girls than I do," he confessed with sudden humility.

"He has learned a lot from Polly," suggested Peggy, the alibi.

Billy thought the idea all his own, and awfully clever, too. "Say, Peggy, would you—would you mind sort of coaching a fellow?" he asked eagerly. "I know I'm an awful chump, but if you would you know—"

"Don't be rash," she begged; "you might have to take me to walk again!"

"Who's afraid?" demanded Billy manfully. "Let's shake on it," which having done, they had another silence, this one by mutual consent. Peggy was the first to notice that the moon had risen.

"And the grass is wet," she admitted.

"Bully for the geranium kitten!" said Billy Le Voe, some time later, as they stood on her doorstep. "Let's see if it's still there to-morrow, Peggy!"

"KATHERINE CROSBY."

DEMOCRATIC OUTLOOK THIS FALL.

There were many at the beginning of the year who believed that the Democratic party would have a hard time to carry the state this fall, but as time passes and election day draws nearer there is heard less of gloomy forebodings and many of those who doubted are becoming convinced that Maryland still wants Democratic rule. There has never been much of a question in the counties as to Democratic success, and Baltimore City is now getting in such shape as to lead the careful observer to believe the Democrats will succeed in carrying the city with the usual majority. The Baltimore Sun has come out flat footed in favor of the Amendment and for the ticket.

The Sun undoubtedly has a big following all over the state and especially in this true in Baltimore City where it is conceded that the independent, so-called, voter holds the balance of power. It is with the independent voter that the Sun seems to have the greatest strength, and if this vote backs up the stand taken, then not only the ticket will be elected but the Amendment carried as well.

Here in Wicomico County the party should pull one of the largest votes in recent years; the interest taken in the primaries this summer show that the old party is still strong in Wicomico County. The candidates start in with a better prospect than has any ticket started with in several years; in the first place the candidates were all named by the voters themselves; again, owing to the campaign each made in the primaries, the candidates are all well known to the voters of the county and this part of the work, getting acquainted, will not have to be done over. It will not do, however, for the candidates to fold their arms and say all is over but the voting, for if this attitude is adopted some may wake up on the day after election and see things in different light. Work by all those interested in success from the present time until election day without any let up will show the people of the state that Wicomico county is stronger in its democratic principles than ever before.

A Few Reasons Why Acadia Butter Is Best

BECAUSE it is an absolutely pure Butter.

BECAUSE it is made from the pure, sweet milk of the best herds of dairy cattle in the State.

BECAUSE it is worked dry and contains not over four per cent moisture. (Most Butters will show from 15 to 20 per cent moisture.)

BECAUSE it is sold only in hermetically sealed packages, thus retaining the natural flavor.

BECAUSE in all the years it has been on the market we have never had a single complaint regarding its quality.

BECAUSE of a dozen other reasons which every person who knows good butter is sure to appreciate.

Sold by all first-class grocers.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been afflicted with indigestion, have been cured by it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nausea, bloating, flatulence, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary people "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Kodol is only at all druggists.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have had the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question of delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know this guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to one in a family. The large bottle contains 3/4 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of M. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Well, we can show you more styles than any other store in Baltimore.

Now, please don't think this is "just newspaper claim." We really can show you more different styles of furniture, carpets, rugs, etc., and at a wider price-range than any other local establishment. Most newspaper advertising is, unfortunately, like campaign claims before an election—mere verbosity, to which no one pays much heed—but the FACTS in the present case are certainly of great importance and special interest to all who intend making any purchases for their home, and merit investigation.

And not only do we excel in the diversity of our stocks, but we give our customers the fullest protection in the matter of price, guaranteeing all our prices to be the lowest for which the same goods can be bought anywhere.

And further, we extend all who so desire the courtesy of a credit arrangement that is simple, dignified and convenient.

CHAPTER IV.

THE INDIVIDUAL MR. CHASE.

HERE was not a handsome, more striking figure in the palace gardens on the night of the reception than Hollingsworth Chase nor one whose pose proved that he knew the world quite as well as it is possible for any one man to know it. He was a unique figure also, for he was easily distinguishable as the only American in the brilliant assemblage.

He was presented to the princess late in the evening, together with Bagge of the British office. His pride and confidence received a severe shock. She glanced at him with unaffected welcome, but with the air of one who was looking upon his face for the first time.

He could not again approach within speaking distance of the princess, nor did he presume to make the effort. Chase knew his proper place. She was the gayest, the most vivacious being in the whole assemblage. She had but to stretch out her hand or project her smile and every man in touch with the spell was ready to drop at her feet.

At last she led her court out toward the pavilion under which the royal orchestra was playing. As if it were a signal, every one turned his steps in that direction. Chase and the Englishman had been conversing diligently with an ancient countess and her two attractive daughters near the fountain.

Again the dapper director came forward to lead the musicians, and again he was most enthusiastically received. This time Chase was not where he could watch the princess. He found, therefore, that he could devote his attention to the music and the popular conductor. He was amazed to find that the fellow seemed to be inspired. He was also surprised to find himself carried away by the fervor of the moment.

With the final crash of the orchestra he found himself shouting again with the others. Oddly, this time he was as mad as they. A score or more of surprised, disapproving eyes were turned upon him when he yelled "Encore!"

"There will be no encore," admonished the fair girl at his side kindly. "It is not New York," she added, with a sly smile.

Ten minutes later Chase and the Englishman were lighting their cigars in an obscure corner of the gardens. "Extraordinarily beautiful," Chase murmured reflectively as he seated himself upon the stone railing along the drive.

"Yes, they say he really wrote it himself," drawled Bagge, putting away. "I'm not talking about the music," corrected Chase sharply.

"Oh!" murmured Bagge apologetically. "The night?"

"No; the princess, Bagge. Haven't you noticed her?" with intense sarcasm in his tone.

"Of course I have, old chap. By Jove, do you know she is good looking—positively ripping."

They lazily observed the approach of one couple, attracted no doubt by the disparity in the height of the two shadows. The man was at least half a head shorter than his companion, but his ardor seemed a thousandfold more vast. Chase was amused by the apparent intensity of the small officer's devotion, especially as it was met with a coldness that would have chilled the fervor of a man much larger and therefore more timid. It was impossible to see the faces of the couple until they passed through a moonlit streak in the walk quite close at hand.

Chase started and grasped his companion's arm. "One was the Princess, Geneva, and—was it possible? Yes, the visible conductor—the sensation of the hour, the musical lion! Moreover, to Chase's cold horror, the 'little freak' was actually making violent love to the divinity of Bagge-Thorberg!"

The princess had not seen the two men, nor had the fervent conductor, whose lips were such a warm, moist, distinguishable by the unwillingly lure. The sharp, indignant "No" of the princess, on repeated, did much to relieve the pain in the heart of her American admirer. Finally, with an unmistakable cry of anger, she halted not ten feet from where Chase sat, as though he had become a part of the stone wall.

"I have asked you not to touch me, sir! Is not that enough? If you persist I shall be compelled to appeal to my father again. The whole situation is loathsome to me. Are you blind? Can you not see that I despise you? I will not endure it a day longer. You promised to respect my wishes."

"How can I respect a promise which condemns me to purgatory every time I see you?" he cried passionately. "I adore you. You are the queen of my life, the holder of my soul. Geneva, Geneva, I love you! My soul for one tender word, for one soft caress! Ah, do not be so cruel! I will be your slave!"

"Enough! Stop, I say! If you dare to touch me!" she cried, drawing away from her tormentor, her voice trembling with anger. The little conductor's manner changed on the instant. He gave a snarl of rage.

"By heaven, I'll make you pay for this some day! You shall learn what a man can do with a woman such as you are!"

But at that moment a tall figure leaped from the shadows and confronted the quivering musician. A heavy hand fell upon his collar, and he was almost jerked from his feet, half choked, half paralyzed with alarm. Not a word was spoken. Chase whirled the presumptuous suitor about until he faced the gates to the garden. Then, with more force than he realized, he applied his boot to the person of the offender—once, twice, thrice!

The princess stared, wide-eyed and unbelieving, upon the brief tragedy. She saw her tormentor hurried viciously toward the gates and then, with new alarm, saw him pick himself up from the ground, writhing with pain and anger. His sword flashed from its scabbard as, with a scream of rage, he dashed upon the tall intruder. She saw Chase—even in the shadows she knew him to be the American—she saw Chase lightly leap aside, avoiding the thrust for his heart. Then, as if he were playing with a child, he wrested the weapon from the conductor's hand, snapped the blade in two pieces and threw them off into the bushes.

"Skip!" was his only word. It was a command that no one in Bagge-Thorberg ever had heard before.

"You shall pay for this!" screamed the conductor, tugging at his collar. "Scoundrel! Dog! Beast! What do you mean? Murderer! Robber! Assassin!"

"You know what I mean, you little shrimp!" roared Chase. "Skip! Don't hang around here a second longer or I'll—"

And he took a threatening step toward his adversary. The latter turned tail and ran twenty paces or more in heartbreaking time, then, realizing that he was not pursued, stopped and shook his first at his assailant.

"Come, Geneva," he gasped, but she remained as if rooted to the spot. He walked away in the direction of the palace. Bagge grasped Chase by the shoulder, shook him and exclaimed when it was too late:

"You blooming ass, do you know what you've done?"

"The—miserable cur was annoying the princess," muttered Chase, straightening his cuffs, vaguely realizing that he had interfered too hastily.

"Confound it, man, he's the chap she's going to marry!"

"Skip!" gasped Chase.

"The hereditary prince of Brabets—Karl Brabets."

"Good Lord!"

"How the dev— Of course I didn't know," groaned Chase. "But hang it all, man, he was annoying her. She was frowning him for it. She said she despised him. I don't understand—"

The princess came forward into the light of the path. There was a quaint little wrinkle of pith about her lips, which trembled ever so slightly, but her eyes were full of solicitude.

"I'm sorry, sir," she began nervously. "You have made a serious mistake. But," she added frankly, holding out her hand to him, "you meant to defend me. I thank you."

Chase bowed low over her hand, too bewildered to speak. Bagge was pulling at his mustache and looking nervously in the direction which the prince had taken.

"He'll be back here with the guard," he muttered.

"He will go to my father," said Geneva, her voice trembling. "He will be very angry. I am sorry, indeed, that you should have witnessed our scene. Of course you could not have known who he was."

"I thought he was a— But in any event, your highness, he was annoying you," supplemented Chase eagerly. "You will forgive me if I've caused you even greater, greater annoyance. What can I do to atone for my error? I can explain my error to the duke."

"Perhaps—perhaps you'd better go at once," said the princess, rather tactically. "My father will not overlook the indignity to— to my— to my father—"

"Forgive me," muttered the "happiest" Chase.

"It would not be proper for me to say that I could blame you for what you have done," she said, so nervously that he lifted his eyes to hers and let his heart escape heavenward.

"The whole world will call me a bungling, stupid ass for not knowing who he was," said Chase, with a wretched smile.

"Did I dare you'd never confess that I did not know who he was," she said. "Let the world think that you did know. It will not laugh then. If you can trust your friend to keep the secret I am sure you can trust me to do the same."

Again Chase was speechless—this time with joy. She would shield him from ridicule!

"And now please go! It grieves me to feel that I may be the unhappy cause of misfortune to you."

"No misfortune can assail me now," murmured he gallantly. Then came the revolting realization that she was to wed the little musician.

The thought burst from his lips before he could prevent: "I don't believe you want to marry him. He is the duke's choice. You!"

"And I am the duke's daughter," she said steadily, a touch of hauteur in her voice. "Good night, Goodby. I am not sorry that it has happened."

She turned and left them, walking swiftly among the trees. A moment later her voice came from the shadows, quick and pleading.

"Hasten," she called softly. "They are coming. I can see them."

"It's a devil of a mess," sighed Bagge when they were far from the walls. "I'm sure it will cost you your job, if nothing else. You'll be relieved before tomorrow night, my word for it. And you'll be lucky if that's all. The duke's a terror. I don't for the life of me see how you failed to know who the chap really is."

"An Englishman never sees a joke until it is too late, they say. This time it appears to be the American who is slow witted. What I don't understand is why he was leading that confounded band."

"My word, Chase, everybody in Europe, except you, knows that Brabets is a crank about music—composes, directs and all that. He's a confounded little blunder just the same. He's mad about music and women and doesn't care a hang about wine—the worst kind, don't you know. I say it's a shame she has to marry him. But that's the way of it with royalty, old chap. You Americans don't understand it. They have to marry one another whether they like it or not. But, I say, you'd better come over and stop with me tonight. It will be better if they don't find you just yet."

Three days later a man came down to relieve Chase of his office. He was unceremoniously supplanted in the duchy of Rapp-Thorberg.

It was the successful pleading of the Princess Geneva that kept him from serving a period in durance vile.

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION NEW YORK CITY

Three hundred years ago, Henry Hudson, an Englishman in command of a Dutch expedition, with eighteen men, explored the Hudson River from Sandy Hook to Troy in his small craft, the "Half Moon."

One hundred and ninety eight years later, Robert Fulton established, with his steamboat, the "Clermont," a regular water service between New York and the towns along the Hudson river to the North.

This year, New York City, with sister cities and towns along the Hudson, will celebrate these two achievements by a series of imposing observances, religious, historical, military, naval, musical and literary, extending from September 25 to October 9.

Replicas of the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" have been built and will play a large part in the celebration. They will be the center of attraction in the great naval pageant on Saturday, September 25. The United States Government will have fifty two war ships anchored in the Hudson, and Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentina, Guatemala, Mexico, and Cuba will be represented by war vessels.

Two great parades of water craft will escort the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" in triumphal procession past the war leviathans, first in the morning and again in the evening, when all the vessels will be illuminated.

On September 28 there will be a grand historical pageant, and on September 30 a big military parade in New York City. On October 1, the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" will proceed up the Hudson to Troy escorted by hundreds of river craft, including torpedo boats.

A magnificent carnival parade will be held in New York on Saturday evening, October 2, which promises to eclipse all previous attempts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the direct line to New York, with its unsurpassed service of fast express trains, will sell excursion tickets to New York for this period at reduced rates of fare.

Full details concerning specific fares, dates of sale, return limits, and train service may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidney is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

You might go on till dooms day with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cures the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury's testimony to prove it.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "For almost six months I was in poor health and my house work was a burden. Rheumatic pains between my shoulders, caused me much suffering and my head ached nearly all the time. I was also subject to dizzy spells and I felt all out of sorts. Before I had finished one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, pronounced at White Legnard's drug store, I was entirely relieved, and I have been in good health since."

Theme:

REASON IN RELIGION

By Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D. D.

Text: "Come, now, let us reason together, saith the Lord."—Isaiah 1, 18.

The greatest of the Hebrew prophets puts these words into the mouth of God. The Almighty is represented as bawling the fact that men do not think enough in their religion. "Israel doth not know, my people doth not consider," so runs divine arraignment. According to Isaiah God wishes men to think, and He wishes them to think with Him. The weakness of religious people in all generations has been that they have not thought enough.

It is wicked not to think. A man gives up his manhood who does not think. We are unworthy who do not think. We are unworthy of the Christian name if we are too timid to scrutinize and investigate and reason about every doctrine which the religion of Jesus teaches. Suppose that thinking does lead you into doubt. Doubt is oftentimes medicinal. There is more faith in honest doubt than in a creed about which you are afraid to think. Doubt is an experience which belongs to a growing life. A man must fight his way through doubt to the clear and sunlit spaces which lie beyond. He can do this only by hard and honest thinking. "Come, let us reason together," saith the Lord.

This has been the exhortation of the Almighty from the beginning. In the fulness of time Jesus came, and in Jesus we hear God saying, "Come, now, let us reason together." Jesus was always reasoning. It has been said that He never argued, and that is true if we mean He never argued in the form of Occidental syllogisms; but in the deepest sense He was always arguing. His whole speech was a reasoned argument. His questions are mightier than syllogisms and compel the mind to reason. "Is not a man better than a sheep?" "Will I think of man have a hundred sheep and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine and goeth into the mountains and seeketh that which is gone astray?" The priest, the Levite, the Samaritan: Which now of these three thinkest thou was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?" "When the lord of the vineyard cometh, what will he do unto those husbandmen?" "If ye, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more will your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?" The Christian religion is God's voice saying, "Come, now, let us reason together."

Many a man is not a Christian because he is not willing to reason the matter out with God in Christ. If our convictions are becoming flabby it is because we do not think. If the old distinctions between right and wrong are fading out it is because we have ceased to reason with God. If the sense of sin is today disappearing from the hearts of men it is because they are too busy to sit down and meditate with God. I have heard men bewail the fact that they had no time to get acquainted with their wives and children. This indeed is tragic to have no time to get acquainted with one's self. We never know ourselves until we think about our life with God. Let us, then, spend more time in reasoning with him. Let us pick up the things which we have lost. Let us sit down and think about that man which we fully intended to be and which, alas, we have never yet become!

Entering into Joy.
What a blessed and glorious thing human existence would be if we fully realized that the infinitely wise and infinitely powerful God loves each one of us with an intensity infinitely beyond what the most fervid human spirit ever felt toward another, and with a concentration as if he had none else to think of. And his love has brought us into being. Just that we might be taught to enter into full sympathy with him, receiving his giving our own—thus entering into the joy of our Lord.—Thomas Merton.

In Thy Trust Heart.
They wakest morning by morning with the love of God oversteaming thee. Give thyself for the day to Him—speak words or to leave them unspeakable, to do acts or to leave them undone, as thou thinkest in thy trust heart that the God who loves thee wills for thee.—Dr. Pusey.

The Best in Him.
A man is specially and divinely fortunate, not when his conditions are easy, but when they prove the very best that is in him, provoking him to nobleness and stinging him to strength.—Mable.

The Fire Ordeal.
Greatest happiness is the fire ordeal of mankind, great misfortune only the trial by water; for the former opens a large extent of futurity, whereas the latter circumscribes or closes it.—Richter.

Truest Wisdom.
A loving heart is the truest wisdom.—Dickens

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's barked himself, terribly! Johnnie's out his foot with the axe—Mama's scolded—Pa can't walk from pills—Billie has boiled—and my corns ache. He got it and soon cured all the family. It's the greatest healer on earth. Sold by all druggists.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with it, and you apply Dr. Thomas' Pain-Ex-Per.

IN WRONG HOUSE

Over Three Months. Summer Visitors Discover Fact By Chance Remark. Rent Paid In Advance.

Through overhearing a chance remark on the dancing pier at Arundel-on-the-Bay, a summer resort near Annapolis, Mrs. Wm. Speed of Washington has just learned that she and her family have been living in the wrong house for over three months.

Early in the spring Mrs. Speed and her husband determined to spend the summer at Arundel-on-the-Bay, and through Arthur L. Bosley, brother of Health Commissioner Bosley of Baltimore, rented a cottage from Lester Flint, who was travelling in the West.

Broke Into House.

The key the owner sent to Mr. Bosley would not work, so that gentleman kindly broke open the door for the Speed family and let them settle in the house for which they had paid three months' rent in advance.

They had been living there comfortably until the other night, when Mrs. Speed overheard a gentleman she did not know, but who was addressed as "Mr. Flint," tell the lady he was talking to that he could not understand what had become of some tenants of his who had paid in advance but apparently had never entered the house.

Owner Will Be Surprised.

An investigation brought out that Mr. Bosley had made a mistake and placed the Speeds in the private cottage of Mrs. David Wah and that Mr. Flint had again rented his cottage for the remainder of the summer.

To add to the complications, Mrs. Wah is coming down from Washington this week in total ignorance of the fact that her cottage is occupied by technical squatters and with the idea of entertaining a September house party.

Letter To E. J. Parsons.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: We make Devco, and of course know what there is in it; but you don't, your neighbors don't, and the people don't. So we get the official chemist of every State in the Union to analyze it and tell what he finds; of course, they find what we put in; lead, zinc and oil, a little turpentine, dryer and color for tinting. And that's plain. Every agent has the analysis of Devco by his State chemist.

We also analyze all other paints, and what do we find?

We find eight made of the same material as Devco; all paint; pure paint. But we find not one of the same proportions as Devco; no one so strong.

And people are trying Devco alongside of these other paints, and finding out how they work: what it costs to paint Devco; what it costs to paint these several paints; how they wear alongside and comparatively.

There's no guess work in any of these results. A gallon Devco goes further than any other gallon in all paint; it therefore saves both parts of first cost of a job, of paint and labor. It makes the best job of the lot besides. It takes years and experience by the thousand to find that out.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVCO & CO.
