TESTING THE WORK OF PUPILS

Dr. Reavis, Prof. Gibson And Miss Simpson Visiting Public Schools

Last Sunday afternoon Dr. George H. Reavis, Assistant State Superintendent of Schools, and Miss Simpson, of the State Department of Education, arrived at Princess Anne to begin the important problem of testing, under the standardized educational test system, the work of pupils of the public schools of Somerset county. They will be engaged for several weeks in this work which began yesterday. Reading and arithmetic will be the two studies selected. The whole subject, after being thoroughly tabulated, will be reviewed before the teachers of the county at a meeting to be held on April 22d, the day after Field Day, at the high school building in Princess Anne.

Prof. Thomas L. Gibson, State Supervisor of Music, will spend several days this week in this county. During his stay he will exhibit at the several high schools motion pictures, illustrating the work of the Maryland State Normal School, at Towson. He will also take the opportunity of developing the interest of teachers in vocal music.

The program for Field Day is in course of preparation. Dr. William Burdick, Director of Athletics, will address the public upon the importance of physical training. The exercises, including his address, will take place in front of the Court House on the morning of April 21st. The Crisfield band will render music for the occasion.

Meeting In The Interest Of Library

A meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Earle B. Polk Friday evening, April 15th, in the interest of the Princess Anne Public Library. All the lady managers of the library, all book lovers and every one interested in the library, are requested to be present.

It is necessary to make some plans to increase the dollar membership of the library, also to purchase new books, to stimulate the more frequent exchange of books by the five-cent plan.

So few seem interested in the growth of the library that the burden falls on the shoulders of a few of the members. The price of new books has almost doubled in the last few years and the revenue from the exchange of books each month is so small that it takes several months to get enough money to buy even a few books. Come and help prepare a plan for the increased interest of our library that is such a benefit to the town and country at large.

Somerset Parish Elect Vestrymen

Vestrymen—Col. Henry J. Waters, Messrs. C. M. Dashiell, Gordon Tull and Samuel H. Sudler. The holdover vestrymen are: Messrs. Omar A. Jones, W. P. Todd, Richard Fitzgerald and Nathaniel Anderson. Registrar, Mr. C. M. Dashiell; treasurer, Col. Henry J. Waters; wardens, Messrs. H. P. Dashiell and Frank A. Fitzgerald; junior wardens, Messrs. E. O. Smith and Albert Fitzgerald.

Delegate to the diocesan convention which meets in Berlin, Md., on the first Tuesday in May, Mr. C. M. Dashiell; alternate, Mr. Omar A. Jones.

March Weather

The weather report for the month of March, as compiled by Mr. James R. Stewart, co-operative observer of Princess Anne, follows:

Maximum temperature, 86 degrees on the 21st; minimum temperature, 25 degrees on the 30th; total precipitation, 2.85 inches. Clear days, 11; partly cloudy, 16; cloudy, 4. Killing frosts on the 11th, 12th, 19th, 23rd and 30th; ice on the 11th, 19th, 29th and 30th; sleet on the 29th; thunderstorms on the 18th, 21st, 26th and 28th. The prevailing wind was southwest.

Farmers' Meeting Next Saturday

An important meeting of the farmers of this county will be held in the Court House Saturday, April 9th, at 2.30 p.m. sharp. The object of the meeting is to consider the tomato question for this season, cooperative purchase of supplies and the marketing of strawberries.

Plans will also be considered for the erection of an auction block at Princess Anne. All farmers are urged to attend this meeting.

Counterfeit five dollar notes have made their appearance on the peninsula and persons are warned to look out for them. The work is said to look like that of an amateur and should be readily detected.

It is unfair to say that the girls spend all their time on clothes as a lot of them devote a lot of it to making up their faces and fixing their hair.

TRIBUTE TO CARDINAL GIBBONS

Special Gregorian Chant Used At Baltimore Funeral

With all the splendor of a ceremony centuries old the Catholic Church last Thursday laid to rest one of its oldest and most faithful servants—James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore, dean of the College of Cardinals, and the second American to be elevated to the Cardinals.

Archbishop John Bonzano, Apostolic delegate at Washington, celebrated the pontifical requiem mass in the Cathedral of the Blessed Virgin Mary with seminarians chanting Gregorian music never before heard outside the Sistine chapel in Rome during the funeral of a Pope.

Archbishop John J. Glennon, of St. Louis, delivered the funeral sermon, which came just a week after the Cardinal's death. During his eulogy of the dead, there remained scarcely a dry eye among his hearers, whose memories went back to the kindly, gentle old man who led with power of spirit as well as power of mind.

The service was like a scene from the Middle Ages, like an altar piece come to life. Numberless priests in a seemingly endless procession filed to the church and in their stately robes of the varied colors of their orders, moved forward to the catafalque on which rested the Cardinal in his Archbishop's vestments of purple. In a few moments the body of the church was filled with this army of clergy and the atmosphere of the twentieth century was dispelled. It was the greatest assemblage of Catholic dignitaries ever massed in America.

By 9 o'clock, an hour before the time set for the ceremony, streets surrounding the Cathedral were so crowded with clergy and laity not a square inch of pavement could be seen. At 10 o'clock the whole city by gubernatorial and Mayoral proclamation, was urged to drop every activity for a minute in respect to a man it had numbered among its most distinguished citizens. Every motor, every street car, every wagon was directed to stop in its tracks when the clocks of the city tolled ten.

About 90,000 persons viewed the Cardinal's body Wednesday, making a total of 150,000 who had visited the Cathedral while the body rested in state.

Weevil Present On Strawberries

Strawberries, in addition to being injured by the cold wave, have also been damaged by the weevil. The weevil is a small beetle which lays eggs in the stem of the blossoms and then cuts off the blossoms. This causes a reduced yield and a loss to the growers.

It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the growers that this insect can be controlled at a small cost. The results of dusting were so satisfactory the last few years that many of the growers obtained one-third to one-half increased yields on dusted plots over the undusted. Last year nearly fifty farmers in the vicinity of Marion and Princess Anne dusted their strawberries.

The dust used is a mixture of 85% sulphur and 15% arsenate of lead, applied at the rate of 50 to 75 pounds to the acre with a small hand duster. First application is made as the first buds appear and another application is given a week to ten days later. All the injury is done before the blossoms open and it is necessary that two applications of dust be given before the blossoms open.

A number of demonstrations have been arranged by County Agent C. Z. Keller in cooperation with the extension specialist. Farmers desiring further information on dusting strawberries should get in touch with him.

John Gannon Kills Henry T. White

Angered because Henry White, 62 years old, had made serious charges against his son, John Gannon, Jr., 16 years old, John Gannon, 55, hit White with his fist and knocked him from the porch of the White home in Salisbury Monday night of last week to the pavement, five feet below. White's neck was broken by the fall, and when passerby rushed to his assistance he was dead.

White, it was said, circulated a report that his 15-year-old daughter had been compromised by young Gannon. The father of Gannon, according to stories told the police, heard the story, went to White's home to ask him about it and struck White when the latter told him the accusations were true.

Gannon was arrested shortly after the alleged assault and is locked up in jail. A coroner's jury was impaneled Tuesday evening, of which Mayor W. Arthur Kennerly was foreman, and the following verdict was rendered:

"We, the aforesaid jury, decide that the said Henry T. White came to his death by the hands of John Gannon in a fight; said Gannon knocking him off the porch of his (White's) residence, thereby causing his death at once."

COLD WAVE RUINED FRUIT CROP

Freeze Was Disastrous In State—Frost Nips Early Blossoms

Leaving behind widespread destruction in the orchards of the East and Middle West, the cold wave which crossed the Mississippi river Easter, passed out over the Atlantic last Wednesday. A strip starting in eastern New Mexico, crossing south Nebraska and moving eastward through Kansas, southern Indiana, Illinois and Tennessee and reaching the Atlantic seaboard was particularly hard hit. Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, where the peach, plum and early cherry trees were in full bloom, the loss will be heavy.

In this section Monday night of last week the temperature fell from 78 degrees to 28, a drop of 50 degrees. The cold of Monday night, accompanied by rain, hail and high winds, was followed by a heavy frost Tuesday night. It is stated that the first night's cold weather did not affect the peach crop as much as did the cold "snap" of Tuesday night. On Monday night the wind was blowing, and it was set forth that peach trees in blossom can withstand unfavorably cold weather better with the wind blowing. On Tuesday night, however, there was little or no wind, and the damage wrought was tremendous.

Blossoms that bloomed brightly on Sunday hung lifeless on Wednesday. It is stated that peaches are a total loss; cherry and plum trees the same; apples were not so far advanced, but some of them had come fully out; Keifer pears were in full bloom and are badly hurt, if not altogether killed, trees look as though scalded, strawberries damaged, as some of the plants had advanced far enough to have berries on them; others were in bloom or ready to bloom. It is thought, however, there will be a fair crop of berries, but the apple crop will be greatly reduced in the county.

Maryland's peach crop is practically ruined; the apple crop will be only about half as large as usual, and strawberries have been damaged greatly at many points, according to a statement made Wednesday by Dr. T. B. Symons, of the extension service of the University of Maryland. Dr. Symons estimates that the loss will be at least $2,000,000, and continued cold weather, indicated by existing temperatures, may increase the loss, he says, considerably beyond the present estimate.

State Senator Harrison, of Worcester county, who has one of the largest orchards in Maryland, estimates that from 60 to 90 per cent. of the peaches of that section have been killed; from 50 to 75 per cent. of the apples are lost, according to the variety, the harder kinds suffering the less, of course. About 90 per cent. of the cheaper kinds of pears and a similar proportion of cherries have been destroyed. Strawberries will show about 50 per cent. loss.

Conservation Heads On A Trip

Harrison W. Vickers, chairman of the Conservation Commission, accompanied by Captain Blowden, also of the committee; Chief State Inspector Elmer O. Townsend and Swenson Earl, visited Crisfield last Wednesday morning on an inspection trip of oyster bottoms in Tangier Sound.

A conference was held on board the State steamer Governor McLane with representative oyster packers and oystermen with the object in view of securing co-operation in the planting of oyster shells in Tangier Sound. The packers seemed pleased with the movement and expressed themselves as believing it to be for the conservation of the bivalve.

The committee left Crisfield the same day to make a survey of the area upon which they contemplate the planting of shells. They state that this is experimental work and hope to prove to the State just how much it will mean to the industry to replenish the bottoms, which are gradually becoming depleted.

Prof. R. V. Truitt, of the University of Maryland, who has made an extensive study of the oyster problem, gave the commission and packers the benefit of his experience and is confident that the results of planting will be of great financial advantage to the oyster industry as a whole.

Soldier's Body Arrives From France

The body of Lloyd R. Coulbourne, who was the first of Wisconsin's World War heroes to be killed during the great conflict, reached Salisbury Monday night of last week from the battlefields of France. The funeral will be held at St. Luke's Church, near Fruitland, today (Tuesday). This is the first body among those killed in France from Wisconsin county to arrive back home.

The young hero was the son of Mr. John J. and Mrs. Mary E. Coulbourne, of Salisbury, and was killed in action while serving in the Twenty-Sixth U. S. Infantry, First Division. Gen. Pershing afterwards cited him for bravery while under fire.

WILMINGTON M. E. CONFERENCE

Fifty-Third Meeting Held In Crisfield—Bishop McDowell Presiding

Bishop William Frazier McDowell formally opened the fifty-third session of the Wilmington Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Crisfield last Wednesday morning. The 'Sacrament of the Lord's Supper' was administered by the Bishop, assisted by Revs. George C. Williams, John L. Johnson and Howard Davis. The roll-call showed 250 members present at the first business session.

As a token of respect to the members who have died during the year the Conference body stood while the names of Howard T. Quigg, George P. Neese and W. O. Hurst, were read.

The organization of the Conference was completed by the election of Danton W. Jacobs as secretary, Vinal E. Hillis, treasurer, and W. E. Gunby, statistician, each of whom immediately named his assistants.

The nominations for standing committees were read by Dr. W. A. Wise, secretary of the Bishop's cabinet. They were all confirmed and J. T. Prouse was elected postmaster of the Conference for his fifteenth term. Ministerial members of the board of stewards were elected as follows: Wilmington district, Elwood W. Jones; Dover district, F. C. MacSorley; Easton district, E. H. Derrickson; Salisbury district, L. E. Poole.

Members of the deacons' board elected were John L. Johnson, W. E. Gunby, J. W. R. Sumwall and Thomas R. Standley.

R. K. Stephenson, Andrew L. Johnson and Thomas F. Beauchamp were elected members of the conference board of stewards.

Announcement was made by Bishop McDowell of the transfer of Rev. T. R. Jones from the Wilmington to the Maryland Conference and of Rev. J. C. Hopkins to the Colorado Conference.

Announcement was also made of transfers to this conference of Rev. Paul T. Truitt from the Georgia conference and William Compton from the West Ohio conference.

After the collection of statistical reports and returns to the treasurer the Bishop called for the report of the superintendent of the Wilmington district which was read by Dr. Robert Watt, who stated that there were no charges against any elder in his district.

Superintendent W. R. Mowbray read the report of the Dover district and reported all elders in good standing.

During the Thursday morning session Bishop McDowell announced the appointment of W. P. Taylor as agent for the Methodist Review. The following board of conference examiners were also named: T. F. Beauchamp, V. P. Northrup, J. L. Sparklin, V. E. Hills, O. E. Jones, W. O. Bennett, E. W. Jones, G. P. Jones, R. P. Nichols, J. J. Bunting, John L. Johnson, W. H. Briggs, M. D. Nutter, Milton McCann and J. A. Leach.

On motion made by Dr. Wise, Bishop McDowell was requested to change the name of the Easton district to that of Middletown district because the district parsonage is in Middletown. The Bishop announced that he had already made the change.

Eastern Shore Society Meets

The Eastern Shore Society of Baltimore City, at its meeting and dinner last Tuesday night at the Hotel Renner, decided to have made 51 medals for members who served in the World War. This action followed the recommendations of the special committee appointed for the purpose, of which W. T. Kemp is chairman.

Short addresses were made by representatives of each of the counties of the Shore. These were by Dr. J. B. Schwatka, for Kent; Richard T. Martin, Talbot; Lewis M. Milbourne, Somerset; Lynn R. Meekins, Dorchester; Charles W. Wright, Caroline; Cecil R. Ewing, Cecil; L. Irving Politt, Wicomico; and William J. McFeeley, Queen Anne.

Each speaker told of reminiscences of boyhood days, or gave sketches, historical or otherwise. Each was sure his county was the most important of the group in historical associations or wealth of local lore, but Mr. Ewing said Cecil could hold them all in activity.

As proof of this he cited a recent visit to his home county where, he averred, he discovered 14 candidates in the field for each county office.

Is the absence of Dr. Henry P. Hynson, president of the society, the meeting was presided over by Vice-President J. H. K. Shanahan.

A New York man says rent profiteers should be thrown out of church. Why select the landlords? Of course they never have any friends, but there are other profiteers who lie terribly when they sing, "I care not for riches, neither silver nor gold."

LEGION HIKERS ARE GREETED

Two California Ex-service Men Report Cordial Treatment by Posts of the Southwest

The hospitality of the Southwest is reflected in its American Legion posts, according to Van W. Bishop and C. G. Allison, California Legionnaires who are well on their way on a little walk from Los Angeles, Cal., to Mexico City, Mexico, a distance of more than 1,500 miles. Bishop belongs to Los Angeles Post No. 8, and Allison to Irwin Post No. 98 of San Francisco.

Wary with tramping the dusty kilometers and burdened with packs and other impedimenta, the marchers found rest at a number of Legion posts along the way, according to a letter received from them by the adjutant of the Los Angeles post.

"The posts of the American Legion in the towns where we have stopped have treated us royally. Legion members at Yuma, Ariz., started the good things for us. Then Tucson post fixed us up for two days in a room fitted with bunks for the accommodation of a few fellows who come in and want a place to stay.

"Our next stop was at Bisbee for three days. They have a regular home with several rooms and a sleeping porch. A number of the fellows make their home at the club. We arrived in time to attend the funeral of one of the boys brought back from 'over there.' Now, we are at Douglas, where Legion post officers obtained quarters for us. Our plan is to enter Mexico at El Paso or Laredo, Tex."

HALF-HUNDRED LEGION POSTS

Seventeen Foreign Countries and Three Territorial Possessions of Four Continents Represented

Fifty-one American Legion posts are scattered about the face of the globe outside the continental limits of the United States, according to national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization. Seventeen foreign countries and three territorial possessions of four continents are represented.

The list of territorial posts follows: Anchorage, Valdez, Ketchikan, Juneau, Seward, Wrangell, Fort Liscum, Cordova, Nome, Haines, Fairbanks, Sitka, and Petersburg, all in Alaska; Honolulu, Keala, Hilo, Kapaau, Wailuku, Schofield Barracks, Fort Kamehameha and Kahului, in Hawaii, and Manila, Cuartel de Espana, Cavite, Fort William McKinley and Corregidor, in the Philippines.

Foreign posts have been formed at Buenos Aires, Argentina; Brussels, Belgium; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Montreal, Canada; Chuquibambilla, Chile; Shanghai and Peking, China; Havana, Cuba; London, England; Guatemala City, Guatemala; Paris, La Rochelle and Gievres, France; Coblenz, Germany; Tokyo, Yokohama and Kobe, Japan; Mexico City and Tampico, Mexico; Carro de Pasco, Peru; Balboa, Cristobal and Gatun, Panama; Warsaw, Poland, and Santo Domingo, Santo Domingo.

A. E. F. Play Library

An A. E. F. play library has been opened for the use of posts of the American Legion, which produce plays for home talent production. The musical comedy, "Sittin' Pretty" is one of the feature plays now offered to posts. It tells the story of a doughboy who poses as a girl waitress worker in France, saves a party of A. W. O. L. soldiers from court martial, chaperones two charming daughters of a French nobleman, and saves the boys from drowning in the River Cognac. The address of the bureau is A. E. F. Library, 68 West 40th street, New York City.

Measure the Profit of Your Stump Land—Cleared!

PLAN right now to clear off more land before planting—and after harvest, too. Use the "off-seasons" to provide for bigger profits on future crops. One crop usually pays the entire cost of clearing and leaves a profit besides. All following crops are clear profit.

The great land-clearing movement that swept the country in 1920 is even stronger in 1921—farmers the country over are clearing more land this year than ever before.

The modern way is to use dynamite for blasting out stumps and boulders, for this method is very rapid, reasonable in cost and leaves the land in good condition for cultivation. The majority of farmers use which has done and is doing highly efficient and economical work in the clearing of hundreds of thousands of acres, draining swamps and planting trees.

Motion-Picture Films

Motion-picture films are usually developed in sections by being wound around wooden frames and then lowered into slate tanks containing the developer. Then they are taken to the drying chamber, where they are wound around huge wooden drums which are made to revolve by means of electric power. In a big film-printing establishment miles of films can be dried in the course of a few hours.

Wild Horses Roam No More

Sometimes in the isolated mountain canyons of the West horses are fond of running loose, but while these might be termed wild, they usually belong to some rancher who has let them run loose. Wild burros are frequent in various parts of Arizona and occasionally are found in Utah. But the old wild horse herds of the mountain plateau regions have gone, probably forever.

Wise Laws of the Ancients

The Licinian law, effective 275 B. C., forbade anyone to own more than 500 acres of land and more than 100 large cattle, or 500 small animals. Another law of the same name, 56 B. C., imposed a heavy penalty on those who organized clubs for massing power at an election, while another law, 106 B. C., limited the funds one might expend for supplying his table.

Accident Statistics

An American physician who has collected a mass of statistics regarding serious accidents on railways, in mines and factories, has put it on record that the dangerous period of the month is from the twentieth to the twenty-sixth. He declares that nearly half the bad accidents of the whole month occur during those seven days.

A Novel Tip

Speaking of tips, a case recently came to our attention where a diner tendered a smart waitress an offer of marriage, informing her that he could not afford to tip waiters, but if she had no objection she might take himself. The tip was accepted.—Boston Transcript.

BACHELORS KNOWN TO FAME

List Is Not Overlong, but There Have Been Some Great Men Who Remained Single

Who is the most famous bachelor in history? While, as is natural to expect, a large majority of the notables of the past have been married men, there have been a few who have attained prominence in the world of art, of science, of statesmanship and in war without the aid of a "better half."

One who had as much claim as any other to the distinction of most eminent bachelor is Michelangelo, one of the greatest figures of the past. Voltaire, scientist and statesman, is another great man who remained single.

In the realm of warfare few of the really great have remained bachelors. Perhaps the most eminent is Lord Kitchener, who was so largely responsible for England's military strength in the World War.

Eliminating these few the list presents a more complicating problem to one who would pick the greatest. There are several others of about equal prominence. Among the painters Raphael stands out as one of the greatest to die unmarried. Chopin and Beethoven achieved fame in the realm of music without the inspiration of a helpmate.

Several modern writers, poets and essayists achieved prominence by themselves. Charles Lamb, Alexander Pope, Walt Whitman, Phillips Brooks, Henry James, Whittier and Swinburne head the list.

Petrarch was an unmarried historian, and Cecil Rhodes, also single, attained great prominence. Few men have become famous as statesmen without marrying before the end of their career. President Buchanan was a notable exception.

NO QUARREL ON THAT POINT

Father and Small Daughter in Complete Agreement Concerning Classification of Relatives

There lived with an eminent divine his two sisters, Mary and Jane. One morning he was deeply engrossed in a new treatise he was preparing, when his young daughter was brought to him by her governess.

"I have to report Miss Ellen for a terrible thing. She called her Aunt Mary a—a d—d fool!" said the governess.

"How terrible!" responded the divine. "Did you call your Aunt Mary this awful thing?"

"No, father, I didn't," faltered the youngster. "I called her a fool—but not a—a d—d fool."

"Well, even that is very wicked of you," he replied, "but as you did not use that awful adjective I will forgive you. You may go." And he returned to his writing.

The youngster, however, did not go. "Please, father," she said, presently, "I didn't call Aunt Mary a d—d fool. I called her a fool. But—I—I—I did call Aunt Jane a d—d fool!"

"Yes, yes!" he mumbled, without looking up from his work; "I quite agree. That is the precise distinction between them that I usually make myself!"—London Tit-Bits.

"Pain Points."

On every human body there are four million "pain points" connected by nerves with the brain. They are, of course, distributed very unevenly. They are placed close together at the tips of the fingers and are furthest apart in the back. Anyone can test this for himself. If you will place two needles one quarter of an inch apart by sticking them into a piece of cardboard you will have a very effective instrument for making tests. Put your finger on these two points and you will, of course, feel both of them. Now apply them to the small of your back and you will feel but one point. In other words, the nerve centers in your back at this point are more than a quarter of an inch apart.—Boys' Life.

Finds Pleasure in Thinking

Thinking after a while becomes the most pleasurable thing in the world. Give me a satchel and a fishing rod, and I could lie myself off and keep busy at thinking forever. I don't need anybody to amuse me. It is the same way with my friend, John Burroughs, the naturalist. We can derive the most satisfying kind of joy from thinking and thinking and thinking. The man who doesn't make up his mind to cultivate the habit of thinking misses the greatest pleasure in life. He not only misses the greatest pleasure, but he cannot make the most of himself.—Thomas A. Edison.

Bees Eaten for Revenge

Bees are usually employed as manufacturers of honey, which is everywhere considered a delicious food, but there are places where the bees themselves serve as a food.

The negroes of Gambia, when stung by a bee, proceed to catch as many as they can and in revenge eat them. It would be interesting to know what happens as an effect of the sting thus taken internally.

In Ceylon the natives hold a torch under the bee swarm hanging to a tree, catch them as they drop, then carry them home, boil them and eat them.—Popular Science Monthly.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1921

In the flush times a lot of people lay down on their jobs. Now they are being laid off.

The people who claim the young folks don't work any haven't seen them for trot at the dances.

Before attempting to drain the swamp lands they would better try to dry up all this wet belt along the Canadian border.

Girls with burning ears can't tell in these times whether some one is saying something against her or merely the hair puffs getting hot.

The problem with some people in this community is how to get sick enough so their physician will feel conscientiously able to prescribe beer.

It costs money to paint a business building and it also costs something to drive customers away because your establishment looks shabby.

The newspapers are discussing why they put buttons on men's coat sleeves? Perfectly simple, to make jobs for some one sewing them on again.

The public is not much interested yet in Henry Ford's cowless milk but if he can think out a plan for pumpless milk he will please people in many places.

Germany's position seems to be that those destroyed French villages should be repaired by the French as they had no business to be in the way of their army.

The people who will weep because they got left in the coming business boom will be the ones who are now convinced that business will never be any better.

It costs a few small coins to put a want advertisement in the Marylander and Herald and it costs many dollars not to provide for the needs of your business and household.

It is denied that the politicians are not working as they are hustling like everything to find jobs for their heels. Also great injustice is done in claiming that the government clerks are idle as they are busy passing the buck.

WOMEN IN BANKING

At the beginning of the war it created some disturbance in conservative circles that women were doing so much of the clerical work in banks. Formerly almost all of this service was performed by male clerks.

But women are not likely to stop with these subordinate positions. In Clarksville, Tenn., is a woman's bank that has attracted nation-wide attention. Though established but a few months ago it now has deposits of over $60,000. You can't set any limits to the business fields that women are destined to occupy.

Success in this line depends a great deal on estimates of character. A woman's keen intuition should make her a good judge of credits after she has learned to weigh the merits of a business proposition. This ability will come to those who make a study of it.

SPRING MILLINERY

The average man never quite approves of his wife's millinery bill. He argues that he can get a rather good hat at present values for $5.00 and he fails to see just why his wife pays $10.00 to $15.00 or more.

The character and purposes of the two sexes show some divergence at this point. The man wears a hat for a purely utilitarian purpose, to protect his head from cold in winter and from heat in summer. Attempts to add purely decorative and artistic features occasionally gain some ground among the young fellows. But the conservative citizen with a variegated hatband would be apt to get his "lid" knocked off if he ventured into some circles.

Some people will maintain that these highly artistic millinery creations are proof that even in these prosaic days when women have gone into the business field on terms of competitive struggle, they are still bent on fascinating the men in the same way their grandmothers did. But somehow the trend when they feel the keenest need for perfect dress is when they meet the critical eyes of their own sex. They feel instinctively that men are more easily satisfied.

Man's experience in working in the dust and dirt of offices and factories have left him a rather poor judge of what is artistic and beautiful. Women in quiet hours at home have developed and handed down keener tastes of color and harmony.

It is an education in artistic sense for the men to look at these charming creations that the women have purchased at the beautiful millinery establishments of Princess Anne. It is a pleasure to note that they conform to higher standards of taste each year.

THE PROBLEM OF IGNORANCE

A physician was saying the other day that he recently stood at the entrance of an army camp to watch a group of new recruits. As he saw about a hundred of them coming in he was impressed by their foreign air, their shuffling gait and the generally stupid look. They looked to be almost all aliens. "Gracious heavens," he said, "are those Americans?"

A few months later he visited this same camp again and saw the same group march along the parade. The change was marvelous. You could hardly tell them from a group of straight Americans. They held themselves erect, they looked clean and their faces had grown so much more alert.

It was a revelation of the power that contact with American ideals can have on those who are descended from foreign birth. If there is a problem of ignorance in this country it is purely because it is tolerated by our taxpayers who won't support the agencies that can completely transform these undeveloped elements.

PENALIZING NEATNESS

The present system of valuation for taxation which prevails in most communities puts a premium on neglected and lack of progress. The man who improves his property and keeps it neatly is penalized by added taxation.

A man purchased a home which had been neglected. Shrubbery had grown wild; trees had not been pruned; grass never cut. He got a scythe and went to work. In a few days he had the place looking fit for human habitation—and the tax assessor came around and raised the valuation $400. That was the penalty he paid for wanting his home well kept.

The man who improves his property is a good citizen and as such should be encouraged. It is the fellow who permits his place to grow up in weeds or a wilderness that should be made to pay added taxes. There can be no doubt that a well-kept grass plat, neatly trimmed shrubbery and beautiful flower beds add to the value of the property, but they also add to the desirability of the town as a residence place. Why should a man pay a penalty for the well kept home? This is an abuse that should be remedied.

A Farmer Cured Of Rheumatism

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayder, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me." A Fate Well Deserved

The conviction of the negro who murdered Miss Harriet Kavanaugh, a nurse at the Naval Hospital at Annapolis, last January recalls one of the most brutal killings in the history of Maryland. The nurse, an estimable and inoffensive woman, was attacked by the negro for the mere hope of what he might find in her purse. The killer was not driven to his deed through sudden lust of the flesh. He had no reason to believe he would gain any great amount of money through the robbery. He had no cause for personal malice toward his victim. She offered him merely a chance at purse-snatching and while he was purse-snatching he decided to make "a good job" of it and murder the girl in addition.

Most murders, even when committed by near beasts, have some sort of strong motive back of them: Hunger, hatred, passion, revenge. Apparently this murderer had no motive. He killed seemingly for the mere idle pleasure he got out of killing and while he was about it he preferred to tackle a woman instead of a man.

This is an occasion when the ancient principle of "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth and a life for a life" is particularly fitting. —Baltimore American.

Preventative Medicine

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle. (Advertisement)

RECORD OF OUR STEWARDSHIP

Whatever may be the opinions expressed as to business conditions in this country one thing is clear, that every promise or prophecy made by the R. L. Dollings Company or any of its representatives has been fulfilled to the letter.

There will never be a time when storms will not arise nor when winds will not prevail and billows will not roll. Tempestuous seas have been the recurring history of the world of business in every country. No human power can prevent the curves of business expansion and depression, and therefore investors must always expect to have these facts to deal with.

There are, however, great institutions in this country which, despite all of the shocks of storm and wind and wave, have carried through to safety. The main thing is not to be afraid of the storms, but to be on board a ship which will carry through. Millions of people in this country have money to invest, and many have had money on board ships which have perished when the big test came.

The year 1920 has marked probably the greatest business convulsion that this country has ever known or will know for hundreds of years, and during this stormy period some ships have foundered and others have weathered the storm with flags flying and bands playing.

January 15th last, dividend checks went to 46,243 people who had placed their investment aboard the DOLLINGS ship. In money this amounted to $958,314.33. And this, I think, is the greatest demonstration that could be given of the staunchness of the Dollings Plan and what it has meant to our army of clients.

The best minds in the United States within the past week have expressed themselves in a great symposium to the effect that the storm was over and that smoother waters were ahead.

To every one of the Dollings family of investors who has been carried through this trying period in such a triumphant manner, I send today hearty congratulations that your good judgment has caused you to select one of the great vessels which has been able to meet the storm and conquer it.

This should show you that whatever you may wish to do in the way of investing money in the future, should be entrusted to the Dollings Company.

Mr. John B. Fleming is the possessor of a new 5-passenger touring car. It is a "Lexington" and a beauty.

Mrs. Jennie Ward Howeth spent the Easter holidays at the home of Mr. B. F. Wilson, near Pocomoke City.

Mr. Walter L. Walker left last Friday morning for Greensboro, N. C., to spend the week-end with his sister, Mrs. E. S. Learey.

Messrs. John W. Morris & Sons, Inc., are now running a number of advertisements in which the word "Morris" is "Norris." As these ads are electrotyped they cannot be corrected.

Rev. W. F. Atkinson, of Elliott, Dorchester county, en route to Crisfield to attend the M. E. Conference, spent Monday night and part of Tuesday with his sister, Mrs. J. Sidney Hayman.

Eddie Polo, Universal serial star, had to pay a special bonus to the actors who played with him in his current serial, "King of the Circus." This was blood money. Polo demands that the actors with whom he fights before the camera stand up and take real blows, just as he is willing to endure slugging himself. The fourth episode of "King of the Circus," in which some of the most spirited fighting of the serial is to be seen, will be shown at the Auditorium next Saturday night.

Miss Eleanor Stanford, of Baltimore, is visiting friends in Princess Anne.

Miss Effie Handy, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mrs. T. J. Smith.

Mrs. H. H. Richardson spent last week in Wilmington, Del., the guest of Mrs. Emma Riggan.

Mr. Omar A. Jones spent several days last week in Berlin with his sister, Miss Mary Jones, who is still critically ill.

Messrs. Charles Brand and Homer Hughes, licensed plumbers of Pocomoke City, by advertisement in this issue, solicit a share of the public patronage.

Dr. W. E. Gunby, of Cambridge, Md., and Rev. Leolan Jackson, of Tilghman's, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McAllen Sunday and part of yesterday, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lilly and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sirman, who have been visiting Mrs. Sirman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stevenson, have returned to Chester, Pa.

Mrs. Joseph L. Wickes and two daughters, Misses Page and Henrietta, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Wickes' mother, Mrs. Henry Page, returned to Baltimore last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Charnock motored to their home in Cheriton, Va., last Wednesday after spending the Easter holidays with Mrs. Charnock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wilson, of near Pocomoke City.

Mrs. G. R. Nessee and her daughter, Mrs. Leon Ennis, of Wilmington, Del., spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. A. P. Mills. They, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Mills, attended the M. E. Conference at Crisfield Sunday.

President Harding is going to wear a white carnation every day, it is said. Now we can see the pretty little bloom mounting in price to a point that will make observance of "Mother's Day" depend on a supply of other white blossoms.

Mrs. W. C. Hart and daughter, Miss Emily Waters Hart, who have been visiting at "Beechwood," the home of Miss Emily R. Waters, returned to Baltimore Sunday. Mr. Hart came to Princess Anne Saturday and accompanied his wife and daughter to that city.

Mr. and Mr. David William Dixon announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Isabel, to Mr. William Roger Phillips on Wednesday, March 30th, 1921, at Chester, Pa. Mr. Phillips is a son of Mrs. Florence Phillips and the late William J. Phillips formerly of Princess Anne.

County Agent C. Z. Keller has arranged to have the Assistant State Forester, J. A. Cope to visit farmers in this county April 15th. Farmers having woodlots can arrange to have Mr. Cope visit their timber and give advice and demonstrations on thinning and the proper management of the farm woodlot.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stevenson had as their Easter Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brittingham and children, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Ruark, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stevenson and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Sirman, Mr. and Mrs. John Lilly, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton P. Sirman, Mr. and Mrs. John Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Foxwell and daughter, Mrs. Blanche Cealey, Misses Blanche Thomas and Ruby Keister and Messrs. Glenn Butler and Elijah Hastings.

The Shoreland Club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Earle B. Polk at her home on south Main street. Those present were: Mrs. R. F. Duer, Mrs. J. E. Holland, Mrs. H. F. Lankford, Mrs. W. O. Lankford, Jr., Mrs. G. W. Maslin, Mrs. J. A. Powell, Mrs. H. C. Robertson, Mrs. J. G. Scott, Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. J. T. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. R. P. The AMERICAN LEGION

LEGION MEN IN HOSPITALS

One-Third Ex-Service Boys in Institutions Are Members of the Great Organization.

One-third of the ex-service men who are confined in hospitals in thirty-two states are members of the American Legion, according to Gerald J. Murphy, director of the Legion's service division, who bases his report on figures compiled in a national census of disabled men taken by the Legion.

"With one-third of the disabled veterans enrolled in the Legion, against one-fifth of the other eligible ex-service men, it is shown that the disabled man realizes the results the Legion has obtained in its campaign for justice for the sick and wounded of the World War," Mr. Murphy declared. "The disabled man has not joined the Legion for the selfish purpose of obtaining his own compensation, for the Legion service is extended to veterans, regardless of Legion membership.

"Although the principal effort of the Legion is to aid the sick and wounded veteran, national and state legislation, Americanism work and many other projects beneficial to all ex-service men are being accomplished by the organization. These movements are expected to result in a greater percentage of Legion members among those who left the service without physical handicaps."

TO HOLD PRO-GERMAN MEETS

Sessions Alleged for Purpose of Protesting Against Negro Troops in French Army of Occupation.

Pro-German meetings planned for the near future in a number of cities in the East and Middle West will be closely watched by the American Legion, according to national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization. The series of meetings, it is understood, will be held for the purpose of protesting against the reported presence of negro colonial troops in the French army of occupation, despite the fact that the troops in question were withdrawn many months ago.

Cities in which the meetings are scheduled are Milwaukee, Omaha, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Louisville, Chicago, Cleveland and New York. It is understood that Dr. Edmund von Mach, who was rebuffed at Washington, D. C., in an effort to enlist the aid of F. W. Galbraith, Jr., Legion national commander, in the project, and George Sylvester Viereck, notorious Boche magazine editor, are among the sympathized Americans who are sponsoring the movement.

A bulletin from Legion national headquarters, warning state headquarters to watch for an attempt to revive German propaganda and to create sentiment in America hostile to the allies, has been sent out, and steps have been taken by national officials to influence the Department of Justice to prohibit the meetings.

"A recurrence of German propaganda activity in this country is something the Legion has been watching for some time," said Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion. "I feel that the greatest check to a movement of this kind will come from citizens of Teutonic extraction, of whose loyalty and sincerity there can be no doubt. Loyal Americans should know of the sinister efforts to turn sentiment in favor of the nation with which technically we are still at war."

NAVY HEAD SENDS GREETINGS

Josephus Daniels, Retiring Secretary, Expresses Appreciation for Part in World War.

A message of greeting and appreciation to the members of the American Legion was written by Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, just previous to his retirement from office. The message follows:

"Upon my retirement as the directing head of the navy, which place I was privileged to hold during the World War, I wish to send a word of greeting and appreciation to all who belong to the American Legion and all who served their country in the army and navy during those crucial days. It was a privilege I shall regard as the most sacred in my life to have been their comrade in those great days. They truly saved the civilization of the world by their spirit and their valor. In the days that are to come the world depends upon them for saving it from the perils of peace. I have profound faith that they will not be wanting in the new call upon them for the same courage and wisdom in peace which they manifested in war."

Long shoe Points.
At one time—in the fourteenth or fifteenth century—people wore the points of their shoes so long that they were in danger of tumbling over them when they walked. To overcome this inconvenience it became fashionable for both men and women to tie their shoe points to their knees by laces or chains.

The Center of Population.
The center of population is the center of gravity of the population of a country, each individual being assumed to have the same weight. In the United States the center of population has followed the parallel of 39 degrees latitude and has moved in a westward direction during the last 125 years.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars, for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

First Soldiers' Home.
The Soldiers' home at Washington, the first institution of the kind in the United States, was established in 1851. A tract of land for the purpose, 200 acres in extent, was purchased with a sum of money levied by Gen. Winfield Scott on the City of Mexico during the war with that country. There are now several branches of the national home and state homes in twenty-seven states.

"Elephant's Ear."
The "elephant's ear" is a Hawaiian or Fijian plant, with very large, bright green leaves, used to give sub-tropical effect in bedding. The root-stock is planted in good, moist soil out of doors or started in a hotbed or a greenhouse and transplanted. In the fall it is stored where dampness and frost cannot reach it. In the Pacific islands the rootstock is used for food extensively, the pol of Hawaii being made from it. The plant is called taro.

Popular Songs.
"It is a mistake I believe, to act too strongly, on the theory that to the public should be doled out only those things which certain authorities think they should have," said a prominent singer recently. "Let us consider the public's side. Let us give the public some of the things it really wants—even the simple song which the critic condemns for its excess of sentiment, if we can deliver it so that the public is touched and responds."

Mistakes We Often Make.
There is a proverb which reads — "The man who never made a mistake never made anything else." There is a great deal of truth in that saying. Sometimes we come across one of those perfect individuals who claims never to make mistakes, but more often we find that these very same persons not only make mistakes but very grave ones.

Early Irish Coin.
One of the early coins in Ireland was the eagle, made of base metal and current about 1272, but an earlier coin was the farthing, made of silver, during the reigns of King John, and now very rare and of great value.

Missed Him.
Smithsonian investigators report finding the skeleton of a mastodon in Arizona, but unfortunately the mastodon himself was not at home at the time of the discovery.—Boston Transcript.

Trout a Cannibal.
The trout is cannibalistic, feeding upon its own kind when necessity compels, says the American Forestry Magazine, and in numerous instances when necessity does not compel.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

MAKES USE OF DEAD TREE

Ornamental Flowering Vine May Be Traced Over the Top, With Remarkably Good Effect.

The idea of growing an ornamental flowering vine over the dead trunk of a tree suggested a pergola top. After the tree had been sawed off to the height desired, the bark and sapwood were peeled off with a drawknife, and a smooth, even surface thus secured.

The Trunk of a Dead Tree Is Converted into an Attractive Pergola. Over Which an Ornamental Vine Is Trained.

writes C. L. Meller of Fargo, N. D., in Popular Mechanics Magazine. A straight board and a level made it easy to bring the two branches of the crotch to the same height; trial determining the height that would appear best—in this case about 11 feet. The top is made of two 2 by 4-inch pieces resting in recesses on the sides of the trunk and having their tops flush. These pieces are each 12 feet long and the ends were curved, as shown. The 4-inch sides were nailed to the trunk, while the 2½-foot crosspieces, of the same stock, were nailed, broad side down; these were spaced about 8 inches apart and had their ends beveled on the underside. Two coats of oil, into which burnt umber had been stirred, gave the pergola a neutral brown color and, of course, helped to preserve the wood.

NO ROOM FOR THE "KNOCKER"

Indianapolis Newspaper Tells a Few Plain Truths, Straight Out From the Shoulder.

Indianapolis is fortunate in the quality of its citizenship. We are the most American of the great centers in the United States. We have few of the problems brought to other municipalities by alien elements. The city showed front-rank progress in the recent census report. It is leading in building construction and industrial progress. It is not perfect, but is much nearer to that goal than most cities and should not be libeled and slandered even by a few lightweighters of little or no influence.

The residents of Indianapolis know the truth and are not deceived by the city's traducers, but the effect on strangers may be serious and in any case cannot be of advantage to anyone. Those whose stock in trade is destruction instead of helpfulness, are pests who should be made aware of that fact by the loyal, public-spirited citizen. They may have to be endured, but it should be in the contempt they deserve and that will ignore them to the point of ostracism.—Indianapolis Star.

Grow a Rain Tree, Get Water.
It is estimated that one of the Peruvian rain trees will on the average yield nine gallons of water "per diem." In a field of an acre of one kilometer square, that is 3,250 feet each way, can be grown 10,000 trees separated from each other by 25 meters. This plantation produces daily 395,000 liters of water. If we allow for evaporation and infiltration, we have 135,000 liters, or 29,531 gallons, of rain for distribution daily. The rain tree can be cultivated with very little trouble, for it seems indifferent as to the soil in which it grows.

Pillow Effective Weapon.
With her pillow as her only weapon, a woman of Pleasantville, Fla., put to flight a robber who entered her home. The woman was awakened by a creaking on the stairway, and saw a man creeping up. She snatched up a pillow from her bed and, running to the stairway, she heaved the pillow with all her strength, catching the burglar full in the face as he stood up. At the same time she screamed. The impact of the pillow hurled the bandit down the stairway. He jumped through a window and escaped.

Plan Early for Beauty.
All healthy cities desire beauty. Not all have the chance to get it. Many achieve their greatness with such stupendous expense of fortune that beauty is wiped out before the city has time to lift its eyes from its labor to its landscape. The best time to plan for beauty is when the city is starting its growth.

Lincoln Post Takes Exceptions to Government Official's Demand for Use of German.

A resolution requesting the government to relieve Henry C. Jarms, postmaster of Emerald, Neb., from his office was passed by Lincoln (Neb.) Post No. 3 of the American Legion, as a result of the postmaster's efforts to supplant the American language by the German language in a church of Emerald.

The trouble started when the pastor of the church invited two Legion members to deliver patriotic addresses in the church. When the speakers appeared, Jarms objected to their presence and called for a vote of the congregation to decide whether they should be ousted. It was the will of the majority that the Legionnaires should not be heard. After the vote, the Legion members quietly left the church.

The pastor, whose invitation to the Legion men was made in an endeavor to conciliate the pro-German and American elements of his church in their controversy over the use of the American or German language, then took the floor and expressed his surprise at the turn of events and left the meeting.

In commendation of the patience of the American Legion members a Lincoln newspaper expresses the following sentiment in its editorial columns:

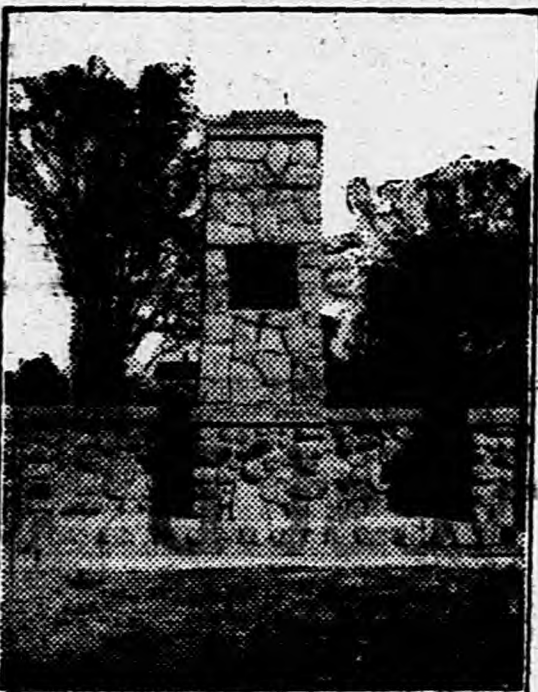

"The policy of the Legion to send speakers to address meetings on invitation only and to teach Americanism by example rather than by force, has everything to commend it. The small groups of unassimilated foreigners in this country can readily be curbed into compact masses by hate. On the other hand, they can be dissolved in time by patience and friendship. The American Legion is honoring the name it bears when it adopts the latter course."

MEMORIAL AT CLINTON, MICH.

Peiper Post Unveils Monument in Honor of Veterans Who Served in Last Four Wars.

Frederick E. Peiper Post of the American Legion at Clinton, Mich., has unveiled a monument erected by the post in honor of sons of Clinton who served in the last four wars of the country.

Patriotic citizens of the town donated a plot of ground surrounding the monument, which will be converted into a beautiful park. The monument is built of stone with a bronze tablet bearing the following inscription:

Memorial to Men of Four Wars.

"In Memoriam—Dedicated to her sons who gave their lives for Freedom's cause in four wars, by the village of Clinton, the Mexican War 1846, War of the Rebellion 1861-1865, Spanish-American War 1898, Great World War 1914-1918."

WOULD AID G. A. R. VETERAN

Schuyler (Neb.) Post Endeavoring to Assist Grand Army Man Who Has Been Stricken.

The gratitude and loyalty of members of the American Legion to their comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic is illustrated by the Legion post at Schuyler, Neb., which is endeavoring to obtain aid for a Civil War veteran of that city, who is suffering from cancer.

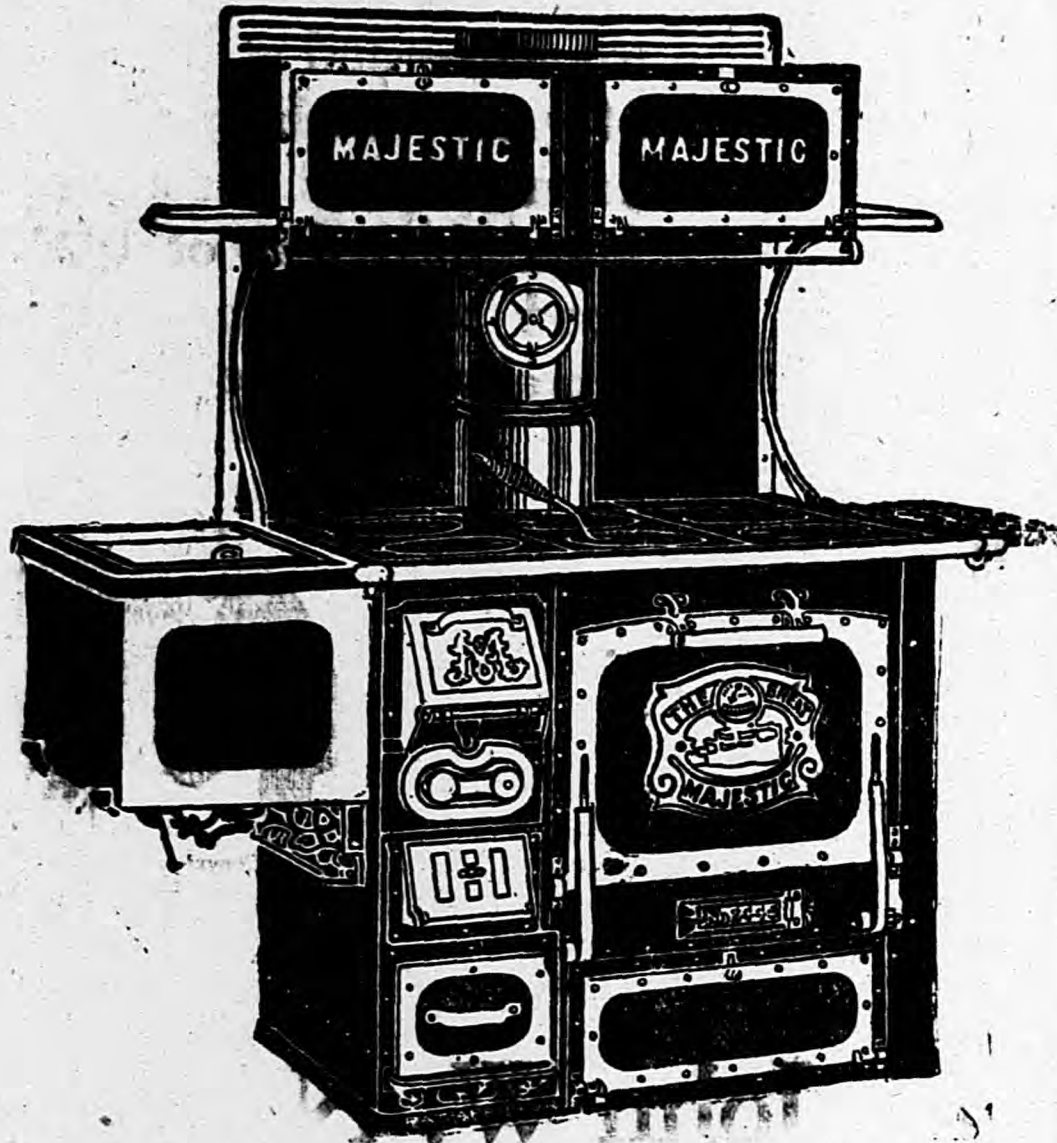

"The post is in need of advice as to how we can assist this hero of another war," the post commander writes. "He is stopping with relatives, who are doing all they can, but since they have to employ a nurse, I know that they cannot continue to care for him because of lack of funds."

"Now, we would like to have you take it up and see if something can't be done for the old veteran. This is a worthy case and I believe anything the Legion can do for the old boys who wore the blue will be appreciated. There are but a few of them left, and I think the Legion would do well to look after them, since no one else will do so."

In Harmony With Legion.

Following an address by Robert A. LaRoux, national field organizer of the American Legion before a joint session of both houses of the Nevada legislature, C. W. Farrington, state organizer for the American Federation of Labor in Nevada, and a number of union members of the bodies stated that they were in harmony with the Legion's policies and that their organization stood with the Legion in its fight against radicalism.

AN AWFUL FEELING SELDOM NECESSARY

Pepto-Mangan, The Red Blood Builder, Does Away With Languor

If you don't feel like doing things, you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

If your blood does not give the nourishment and vigor it should, it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan, if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form, both possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—Advertisement.

LEGION MEN HIT BY RULING

National Judge Advocate Decides Organization Officer Ineligible if Holding Public Office.

A decision of far-reaching importance as affecting the participation in politics of men holding office in the American Legion has just been handed down by Robert A. Adams, national judge advocate of the Legion, in response to an inquiry from the Inter-Post Council of Los Angeles, Cal.

At its annual election held in December a Los Angeles post elected Channing Follette as commander for 1921. A short time afterwards Follette was appointed justice of the peace by the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county.

The question arose whether, in view of the fact that Follette had been appointed to an office which, in its nature, except in the matter of filling vacancies, is an elective, salaried public office, he was eligible to serve as an officer of the Legion.

In his official ruling, the national judge advocate says:

"This being a salaried, elective public office, it is my opinion that the method of filling a vacancy is not essential in determining the eligibility of a Legionnaire holding such office. The office is elective, although the case with which we deal is that of an appointment."

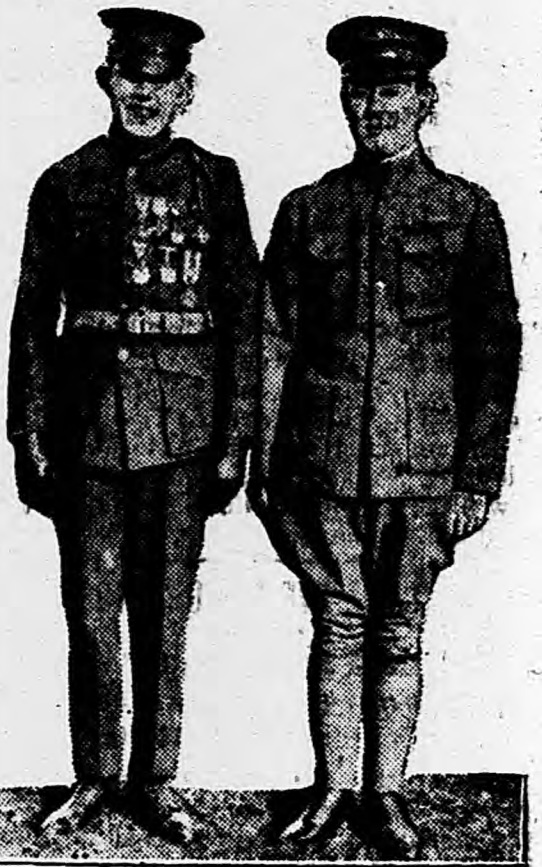

"The purpose of the constitutional provision is, of course, to prevent, so far as possible, the use by a member of the Legion of his Legion membership in furthering a political career. Consequently, the effect of an appointment is in no wise dissimilar from an election, and it is my opinion that the incumbent is, by the acceptance of his office, rendered ineligible for the office of the American Legion."

It is believed that many Legion members, appointed to political offices will be affected by this ruling.

TWO HEROES AS HONOR GUARD

When F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, inspected Illinois posts, he was provided with an honor guard of two heroes of the World war, who have received 16 medals and citations for bravery between them.

Left—Sergt. Jack Riley, M. C. of Chicago, is Illinois' most decorated war hero. He wears the Congressional Medal of Honor, French Military Medal, Croix de Guerre with palm and star, D. S. C., Navy Cross, Belgian War Cross, Victory Medal with five battle clasps and four citation stars.

Right—Robert Waterhouse, a veteran of the 33rd Division of Chicago, holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, British Distinguished Service Order, Croix de Guerre and Belgian War Cross.

GOVERNOR NEFF AIDS LEGION

Chief Executive of Texas Urges All Eligibles to Become Members of the Organization.

Governor Pat Neff of Texas has recognized the importance of the American Legion's effort to extend its influence in that state by giving an unqualified endorsement of the membership campaign now under way.

"Officials of the department of Texas, American Legion, the organization which stands as a living perpetuation of the spirit of the American soldier during the World-war, are now making an especial effort to draw more ex-service men into their ranks," said Governor Neff.

"The record set by the men who form the department of Texas, during that period preceding November 11, 1918, and the principles advocated by these men since they have welded themselves into the American Legion," he continued, "leads me to suggest that the public would be serving its own ends, as well as those of the American Legion, by lending active support to the membership campaign the latter has launched. The former service man who has not affiliated with the American Legion should need no one to point out the advantage to be derived by him and his country through his support of this organization; but in the rush of modern life, some things are overlooked and those who have not the privilege of eligibility for the American Legion may aid by calling this to the attention of their acquaintances who have been in the service."

Spray Fruit Trees

Home orchards at this time should be given considerable attention. The care given now will determine to a great extent the yield of fruit which will be obtained this season.

The trees should have been pruned, removing all dead branches and keeping them thinned out to admit sunlight and also to keep in shape and not to be allowed to grow out of reach for spraying and picking fruit. The dormant spray of concentrated lime-sulphur 1-9 should have been given by this time.

The first spraying for peaches should have been given when the buds showed pink, using self-boiled lime-sulphur 8-8-5, plus 1½ pounds of arsenate of lead. This spray will assist in the control of brown rot, curculio and scab. Another spraying should be given with the same material when the blossoms fall and the shucks start to slip. The third application should be given about four weeks later. Additional sprayings should be given every three or four weeks until ripening, omitting arsenate of lead. Damp weather has a tendency to increase the spread of brown rot and it may be necessary to apply additional applications of the spray during the season.

Apples should be sprayed with commercial lime-sulphur diluted to 1 to 40 to which is added 1 to 1½ pounds of arsenate of lead. The first spraying should be given within one week after the petals fall and another application ten days later. Third application July 1st to 15th and fourth spraying August 1st to 15th.

It will pay to spray fruit trees, as the present price of fruit justifies considerable care being given the home orchards. Spray calendars can be obtained from County Agent C. Z. Keller.

I. O. O. F. Lay Corner Stone For Temple

The laying of the the corner stone of the new Temple of Newton Lodge No. 56, I. O. O. F., of Salisbury, took place at 3.30 last Tuesday afternoon and was attended by representatives of the order from towns all over the Eastern Shore. In the corner stone were placed a list of names of all members of the local lodge of the encampment and of the local chapter of Rebekkahs. Copies of all the Salisbury newspapers and the Baltimore American also were placed in the stone, the American being the only Baltimore paper to be placed therein.

H. Dorsey Etchison, of Frederick, grandmaster of Odd Fellows, presided at the exercises. Incidental to the laying of the corner stone a big reception was held in the First Regiment Armory, at which Noble Grand W. B. Stevens was master of ceremonies. There was also a parade of the visiting lodge men through the city streets.

In the evening a big public meeting was held in the armory. The keynote of the meeting was the advisability of selecting Salisbury as the site of the new $100,000 Odd Fellows home for the aged and orphans.

Crisfield High School Wins Debates

At the debates held by the High Schools of Princess Anne and Crisfield last Friday night the students of the Crisfield High School were victors at both places.

The debates were held in the Court House in Princess Anne and at the Lyric Theatre in Crisfield, and at both places there was a large attendance. The subject of the debates was: "Resolved, That the United States should have some form of Military Training."

At Princess Anne the two pupils of the Washington High School who took the affirmative side of the debate were Miss Nannie Bounds and Mr. Austin Culver. The negative side from Crisfield High School were Messrs. E. Benson Dennis and William Traders. The judges—Messrs. George W. Maslin, L. A. Chamberlin and Senator John B. Robins—decided in favor of the negative.

At Crisfield the debate was taken on the affirmative side by Miss Mary Stevenson and Mr. Eugene Gardner, of the Crisfield High School, and the negative side was taken by Miss Lenora Brown and Mr. Howeth Barnes, of Washington High School. The judges—Col. Henry J. Waters, Dr. C. E. Collins and Mr. S. Frank Miles—decided in favor of the affirmative.

Dates for School Athletic Contests

Thursday, April 21st, has been fixed as the date for the annual county school athletic meet (for white children) of Somerset county. The carnival will be held at Princess Anne and will be participated in by children of the different schools of the county. On the following day, Friday, the 22nd, there will be a meeting of the colored children.

For Wicomico county the meet will be held on Thursday, May 19th, for the white schools and on Wednesday, April 20th, for colored schools.

The dates for the meet in Worcester county is Friday, April 22d, for the white schools and Saturday, April 23rd, for the colored schools.

These games are arranged under the direction of the Public Athletic League of Maryland, and the young athletes showing the greatest proficiency are selected to represent their respective counties in the State championships in Baltimore, the date for which event will be June 10th.

Contract For Road And Bridge Awarded

Chairman Mackall, of the State Roads Commission, last Tuesday opened bids for the construction of several pieces of road in various sections of the State and found that contracts for State road construction were much in demand. There were 45 bidders for eight contracts.

Not only was the number of bidders larger than had been expected, but it was found that for the first time in several years, the low bidders and some others were under the cost of construction as estimated by the commission's engineers. This is taken to mean that the contractors expect a further drop in the cost of material and labor or that they have cut their overhead expenses to a minimum and are willing to get along on smaller profits.

The road through Princess Anne, together with the bridge, 1 mile, concrete, was awarded to the Broad Creek Contracting Company for $38,556, they being the lowest bidder.

The Tri-State Packers' Association—C. M. Dashiell, of Princess Anne, secretary—will meet in Wilmington, Del., Friday morning, April 15th, to discuss and formulate plans for the future, as existing conditions in the business are now deplorable.

Several important matters, outside of actual packing and marketing conditions, will be taken up, such as cost of the coming pack and its relation to the probable market price, reduction of freight rates, cause of the lack of buying of futures and explanation of the new plan of membership in the National Canners' Association, all of which subjects will be handled by men thoroughly conversant therewith.

OYSTER SHELL PLANTING STARTS

One Hundred Thousand Bushels To Be Put In Tangier Sound

Oyster shells should go back into the bay to replenish the depleted beds that have made the State famous rather than be converted into chicken feed, lime and road-building material, according to Swenson Earle, one of the leading authorities of the State on shellfish culture, who will begin the first planting of oyster shells that has ever been attempted by the State.

Mr. Earle, who has been appointed by Harrison W. Vickers, chairman of the State Conservation Commission, to take charge of planting 100,000 bushels of shells for the commission as an experiment, will leave on the steamer McLane this week for Tangier Sound, where he will begin the survey necessary before the planting is begun. He will have full charge of the planting and the study of the results of the experiment. He is confident that the experiment will be so convincing that such measures should be taken every year on a larger scale; that the next Legislature will continue the plan and make appropriations accordingly.

Mr. Earle explained last Tuesday just how the shell planting is to be done. Harris Rock, Tangier Sound, was picked when he and members of the commission recently inspected the grounds, as being the most advantageous point for the planting. Its bottom is peculiarly suited as a bed for shells. The area of 30 acres selected will be subdivided into three 10-acre sections. There will be 1,000 bushels planted on every acre. The location selected, Mr. Earle explained, is directly in the course of the flow of the current from the Manokin and the Big Annamessux rivers, whence come some of the best Tangier oysters.

The first planting of 10,000 bushels will take place during the middle of April, after signals on the area have been built.

Delaware Conference Assignments

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, at the closing of the fifty-eighth annual session of the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church held at Salisbury on Monday of last week, read the assignments for 1921. Few changes were made of the colored preachers. The assignments for Salisbury district are:

Methodist Protestant Conference

The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church convened in Newark, N. J., last Wednesday. The conference met in the First Methodist Protestant Church, of which the Rev. E. C. Makowsky is pastor. More than 75 preachers were present at the opening session. The Rev. Dr. James H. Straughn presided at the sessions which closed yesterday (Monday) when the appointments were read.

In the delegation from Maryland was the Rev. J. W. Gray, 81 years of age, of Brooklyn, Baltimore, a superannuated minister, who celebrated this year the sixtieth anniversary of his service in the ministry. He was ordained at the Maryland Annual Conference meeting in Newark in 1861, and said that of all the clergymen attending that conference only three are now living. They are himself, the Rev. N. M. Strayer, of Oxford, Talbot county, Md., and the Rev. J. L. Mills, of Baltimore, father of J. Bibb Mills, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League.

Messrs. John W. Morris & Sons, Inc. are now running a number of advertisements in which the word "Morris" is "Norris." As these ads are electrotyped they cannot be corrected.

FRUIT CROP DAMAGED BY FROST

Will Reach Millions Of Dollars In Maryland And Delaware

Millions of dollars of damage was done to fruit crops in Maryland and Delaware by the black frost of recent weeks, according to the Weather Bureau's weekly report on crops, issued last Wednesday. It says:

"Weather was moderately cold first half of week, with freezing temperature and killing frost on March 30 and April 2, and retarded plant growth. Moderate but general rains fell over the section on March 31-April 1, followed by light snow in the early morning of April 1. The second half of the week was warm and sunny."

"The freeze of March 29 and 30 killed the bulk of peach, plum, pear and cherry blossoms; heavily damaged early and slightly damaged late varieties of apples and also early strawberries. No county in Maryland and Delaware escaped serious losses. Estimates are to the effect that the damage to fruit will total several hundred thousand dollars in some counties and that the total losses for the section will run into the millions."

"Winter grains are generally in good to excellent condition and far advanced, except jointed wheat which was damaged by the freeze; this damage not general. The height of wheat is 3 to 6 inches in Western and North-central Maryland; 6 to 8 inches in Southern Maryland, and 10 to 12 inches in the Eastern sections of the State. In some localities, Talbot county, for instance, wheat has reached a height of 18 inches. Rye was unharmed and is heading in the South-eastern counties; at Seaford, Sussex county, Del., it has reached a height of 26 inches. Early sown oats doing nicely."

"Pastures are in good condition. Alfalfa and clover were injured in some localities by the freeze."

"Early sown peas that were up were cut down by the freeze, also early garden truck."

"Good progress has been made in planting peas, early potatoes and gardens and in plowing for corn."

Carlyle Webster Visits His Mother

Heeding the request of a dying mother that she be permitted once more to see her son, a life-term convict at the Maryland penitentiary, Col. Claude B. Swezey, warden of the institution, recently permitted Carlyle P. Webster, the murderer who was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1919 for strangling his bride, to leave the "pen" and make the journey to his boyhood home on Deal's Island to spend a few hours at her bedside. Webster left the prison late on a Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by his father and the guard, a prison official. The trip was made by boat, the prisoner arriving at Deal's Island early the following Thursday morning. He was permitted to remain at the bedside of his mother until night, when he and his guard boarded the return boat for Baltimore.

Webster was convicted of having strangled Mrs. Bernice Chaney Webster, his bride of a few days, in their bridal suite at the Hotel Belvedere, Baltimore, some time between October 24 and 26, 1918. Testimony at the trial showed that he had been drinking heavily for some time and that on account of his drunken condition he had been ejected from several local hotels. Efforts of his attorneys at the trial to prove hereditary insanity proved futile and he was convicted by a jury before Judges Dawkins and Heusler on April 2, 1919. A motion for a new trial made in his behalf failed and on May 19 he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Colonel Swezey said that since he assumed the duties of warden at the institution Webster has been a model prisoner.

Bouli Temple's Big Oriental Bazar

Baltimore Shriner and all other Masonic bodies in the city are working for the bazar to be held at the Fifth Regiment Armory April 14th, 15th and 16th. It will be the largest ever held in the city of Baltimore.

Walter A. Raleigh announces that the entire floor space of the armory will be arranged to represent street scenes in Bagdad and other cities of Turkey, the women will be gowned in costumes of oriental design and during the day and night will saunter up and down the "streets" bargaining for and selling their wares. A space in the center of the armory will be roped off for dancing and there will be nightly contests, with music by the Shriner's band.

Dr. Symons Sails For England

Dr. Thomas B. Symons left College Park, Md., April 1st for an extended trip through several European countries, during which he will make an investigation of European co-operative marketing methods as applied to agricultural products. He will also look into the various forms of co-operative organizations among farmers on the Continent, the results of which he hopes will benefit the farmers of Maryland.

Dr. Symons, who was accompanied by his wife, sailed April 2nd from New York on the steamship Lapland for Plymouth, England. His trip is primarily in quest of health and a much-needed rest.

He has been commissioned by the president of the University of Maryland and the State Board of Agriculture, as a representative of the agricultural interests of Maryland, and has received a special commission from the Secretary of Agriculture, which will give him official recognition in many of the countries of Europe and open up sources of information on practically all agricultural subjects.

Autobiography Of M. Van Buren

Until very lately it was not known to the public that Martin Van Buren left an autobiography in manuscript. He wrote it to be published after his death; but when he died the Civil War was coming on and times were not favorable for the publication of such a book. The manuscript was kept in the possession of the Van Buren family until about 1905, when it was presented to the Government. Worthington C. Ford began to prepare it for publication, but he went out of office and the work was dropped.

Recently the editorial work was finished by Mr. Ford's successor, and the book has been issued as a public document. Those who have read it say that it is one of the finest biographies ever written and of absorbing interest to the student of the history of the twelve years when Van Buren was near the head of affairs at Washington, as Secretary of State, as Vice-President and President. He was Andrew Jackson's most intimate political and personal friend, and was in a position to throw the best light on the much-disputed character and doings of that remarkable man. The autobiography was never finished; but it practically covers this most interesting period concerning which the histories have been comparatively few and meager.

The book is written with a charming frankness, Van Buren making no attempt to cover his own mistakes. In downright directness and transparent honesty it is said to resemble the autobiography of Theodore Roosevelt, the other President of Dutch descent.

Although Van Buren was elected Vice-President and then President as a Democrat, he may be regarded as in a sense the founder of the Republican party, for it was he who led the Free Soil (anti-slavery) wing of the Democratic party out of the regular Democratic organization. He was Free Soil candidate for President in 1848. By 1852 that party had changed its name to the Free Democratic party and under that name nominated John P. Hale for President. This portion of the Democratic party, opposed to slavery, formed the nucleus of the Republican party which organized in 1854, nominated Fremont in 1856 and elected Lincoln in 1860.

Pride and Prunes

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mrs. Welles looked at her four daughters with an inquiring expression. They looked very well—very pretty, one might say—although their clothes were obviously last year's style and their shoes were shabby. One noticed that they had made the most of old clothes. The Welles family had suffered reverses since the death of the husband and father. He had been a salaried man, with four daughters to educate and a large house to maintain. Even the house was growing shabby by inches, Molly declared.

"What do you think of my plan?" asked Mrs. Welles at last. "It's awful," groaned Madge. "I never expected we would come to keeping boarders."

"And I particularly detest prunes," complained Cicely. "Think of the hard work," suggested Barbara, looking at her well-kept hands.

"We might make it a pruneless boarding house," and Della went off into a peal of merry laughter at her own wit, but her charming face clouded at once as she saw the disappointment in her mother's countenance. Were those new lines on her mother's placid brow? Lines of care and worry—with four idle daughters? Della stiffened in a ramrod way, that was like her father.

"We can do it if we want to," she said bluntly. "We're too lazy for words—all of our friends, rich and poor, are working—none of us are qualified to take up any special line of work and taking paying guests is respectable; we can keep our own home, reserve some rooms out of this big house for ourselves. Mother can superintend everything. I can help the cook in the kitchen, Molly and Barbara can wait on table and take care of rooms at first until we can afford to keep another maid, and Cicely shall keep all the accounts and sew for the rest of us. Who will join the league of workers?"

With more or less reluctance they all agreed, but Cicely, the clever needle woman, pouted. "People make such foolish jokes about prunes and boarding houses—and oh, dear—I suppose I must join too!"

Della called them the band of unwilling workers, but her enthusiasm soon whipped them into line with the new enterprise, and they were encouraged by their friends and by tales of the money to be made. They could charge well, for the house was large and situated in an extensive garden. The girls found their first happiness in cleaning the house and preparing the rooms.

Everything was planned in advance, and every room was rented before they were ready to receive their "guests." A good cook was hired and then the doors were open to receive the people and the trunks that soon occupied the rooms, small and large. After a while the family retired to a wing of the house, which they held against any siege of would-be boarders.

The girls were happy. Mrs. Welles was relieved of care, and money seemed to flow into the cash box in a steady stream. Table boarders came from the neighborhood, and the Welles place achieved a reputation.

For six months everything went well; never a word of complaint reached the family, and never a prune appeared upon the table, never a baked bean reared itself above the horizon.

Madge became engaged to a young college professor and Cicely was sewing on her sister's modest trousseau. Della, who called herself Cinderella, was dubbed Cinder by the rest of the family, became famous for her delicious pastry and sang like a thrush over her work in the kitchen.

"Dat singin' shuah does add flavor to de cookin', yas ma'am," averred Sally, the black cook. "One day the singing stopped and the singer dropped her pretty head. One of the guests was going to leave—and he had given no reason beyond the fact that his mother needed a change. Mr. Payton was young and attractive. He worked in the local bank and had a bright future. His mother was a robust old lady whom they all loved, but lately she had lost interest in life. She declared she was going out to Ohio to live with her married daughter and that would leave young Payton alone.

"I hate to leave Robert. No one knows what foolish girl he might fall in love with," Mrs. Payton had confided to Mrs. Welles. "One of your daughters now—"

The two elderly ladies did not know it, but one of the daughters—pretty Cicely herself, had captured Robert's heart and lost her own in exchange.

"When he leaves, he will forget all about me in the kitchen," mourned Della. "He will meet pretty girls who wear frilly things all the time and keep their hands immaculate!" She lifted her floury hands for inspection, and then dropped them in confusion, for Robert Payton was looking into the vine-covered window of the butler's pantry where Della made her pastry. He poked his head through the vines, caught Della's floury hands and kissed them, receiving smudges of flour on nose and chin in the process.

"Oh—!" Della began to cry a little, and then told him all her woes. "There is an undercurrent of something. The boarders are dissatisfied—the food is good—abundant and we have variety—" She shook her head perplexedly.

A slow grin spread over Payton's face. "Two things lacking, sweetheart—will you marry me if I tell you? You know I love you?"

"I will anyway!" dared Della happily. "Tell me—what is the matter? What do they want?"

"Prunes!" hissed Mr. Payton, "and baked beans! I know—because I want 'em myself."

Della stared. "We haven't any in the house—we wouldn't serve them."

"I'll get them now—we'll have 'em for dinner—and after dinner—is this your evening off, Miss Cicely?"

"Yes," whispered Della happily. "I want to tell you the rest of the story of we two! In the meantime, to my errand—prunes and beans, hurrah!"

And Della began to sing like a nightingale. Once in awhile she stopped and laughed. "Prunes and beans—prunes and pride!"

WOLFE JOURNALS IN MUSEUM

Montreal Institution Has Complete Collection of Documents Bearing on Life of Great Soldier.

Montreal is in possession of one of the most complete collections in existence of original journals, letters, portraits and effects of Gen. James Wolfe. It was brought together by David Ross McCord, and will be part of the new McCord National museum at McGill university. The letters from the pen of Wolfe begin with a boyhood epistle, dated January 24, 1741, and addressed to his tutor, W. Weston. It shows the serious trend of the boy's thoughts even at that time, and a tendency to meditation and philosophizing. A second letter, written the following December to the same tutor and friend, reveals the other side of Wolfe's character, the appeal of action, for in it he exults over the prospects of a soldier's life, and refers to his having been made an ensign in a line regiment.

An original journal kept by Wolfe from the days of his entering the army up to a few days before the Battle of the Plains of Abraham reveals much of the development of his character with the passing years. A second journal of great value is the record of operations before Quebec, written in his own hand. This document was lost for 150 years, was finally traced to St. Louis, from there to the Riviera, where the trail disappeared. Finally it turned up in London in 1914, when it was acquired by Mr. McCord.

Old Sundial as Town Clock.

A sundial on an old wooden building at Union Mills, Md., has marked the passing of the sun for more than a century without once being wound up. It was the "town clock" in Colonial days, before Washington led Americans to independence. And it keeps time as well now as it did then.

Big Men in Small Store.

At Boars hill, near Oxford, England, there is a little notion store, which looks a little different from the usual country store, but the residents of the vicinity patronize it liberally. Most of the residents are literary personages and one is likely to encounter in the store any one of a number of prominent English writers. It is said on many occasions the poet-laureate of England has been seen behind the counter waiting on customers, and others visiting the place frequently are Mr. Masfield, Mr. Galsworthy and Sir Gilbert Murray.

Useful Yarn.

"Historians say there isn't a word of truth in that story about Horatius at the bridge." "Maybe it isn't true," said Senator Shortworth, "but it's a good story and I intend to stick to it. I've been using Horatius in my speeches for the last 40 years and it would be rank ingratitude if I abandon him now."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Revolutionary Army Uniform.

At the close of the Revolutionary war the uniforms of the American troops retained in service closely followed the French, that of the infantry being blue faced with white, and the artillery blue faced with red. At that time these were the only two arms in the composition of the army. Later cavalry was added, wearing green coats with white facings, which soon after changed to black. Since that time the uniforms of the army can be divided into periods, each of which dates back to the close of one of the wars.

"Be Sure You Are Right—"

"Be sure you are right, then go ahead." The foregoing was the maxim of David Crockett, a scout of pioneer days in America, also a soldier and politician, unlearned but shrewd and skillful. He was born in Limestone, Tenn., in 1786. His training was that of the wild frontier, typical of the early Nineteenth century. At the Alamo in 1836 he was one of the six survivors of the siege who, upon their surrender to General Santa Anna, were massacred by the Mexicans.

One-Handed Clock.

What is probably the oldest alarm clock in America, made in America, dates back to pre-Revolutionary times, and was made by Jonathan Wood of Philadelphia. The clock has but one hand, that telling the hours, which are in Roman numerals, separated into four sections, 15 minutes apart, so that it is possible to estimate the time within two or three minutes after a little practice. The time and alarm are both operated by weights.

"Potter's Field."

The term, which is applied to a place where the penniless and unknown are buried, had its origin in Matthew 27:7, when the chief priests "took counsel and bought with them (the thirty pieces of silver for which Judas betrayed the Master) the potter's field to bury strangers in." The name has clung to such plots ever since.

Advice for Movie Hero.

The movie hero, carrying the unconscious heroine, was bravely struggling through a terrible storm. At the point of exhaustion he made the cabin, and bursting in laid the girl on a convenient bed. The storm was raging terribly and the cabin door stood wide open. A little chap, lost in his excitement, yelled: "Shut the door!"

Time for Caution.

Our idea of the time to stop, look and listen, not to say count 100, is when we receive a letter from some one we never heard of before extending us a personal invitation to join with him as a stockholder in an industry which offers the greatest opportunity in the United States today. —Ohio State Journal.

Dog Loyalty.

That loyalty, burning bright and true to the last spark of life, that unfailing welcome on which a man can count more surely than on any human love—indeed, there is no secret in a man's love for a dog, however we may wonder at the dog's love for the man. —R. P. Utter in the Century Magazine.

Names Based on Occupations.

Where a man lived and what he did for a living were two very prolific sources from which was derived the name which eventually stuck to that family, even although they might change their trade or live in some other part of the country.

Bad to Dream of Jubilee.

To dream of being at a jubilee allows that pretended friends are trying to do you an injury and that you will get the better of your difficulties. To the sailor, an unpleasant and stormy voyage.

Spanish Lead as Wine Drinkers.

As a wine drinker the Spaniard sets the pace, with an average of 35 gallons a year, leading the Frenchman by four gallons and the Italian by eleven gallons.

Stagnation Fatal.

To be fossilized is to be stagnant, unprogressive, dead, frozen into a solid. It is only liquid currents of thought that move men and the world.—Wendell Phillips.

One More Credit Given China. Capt. Stanley Flower, director of the zoological gardens at Giza, Cairo, Egypt, has prepared considerable data on the subject, which he obtained from authoritative sources. According to Captain Flower, though the ancient Egyptians kept wild animals in captivity, the first zoological garden of which there is definite knowledge was founded by the first emperor of the Chou dynasty, about eleven B. C., in China. It was called the "Intelligence Park," and had a scientific and educational object.

France's First "Zoo."

The "Menagerie du Parc" at Versailles, founded by Louis XIV, received many animals from Cairo. It was maintained for over a century, during that time furnishing valuable material to French anatomists and naturalists. Gradually it decayed and in 1789 was almost extinguished by the mob. The Paris museum of natural history was re-established by law in 1793 and Buffon's idea of attaching a menagerie was carried out. The latter still survives as the collection in the Jardin des Plantes.

For Cleaning Leather.

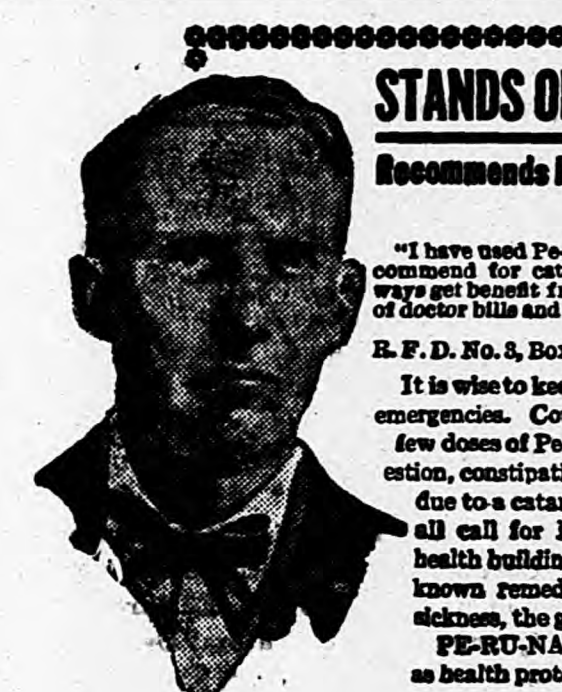

A very good leather dressing is composed of equal parts of glycerin and sweet oil. After applying this mixture with a cloth, it should be left on the leather for 20 minutes, after which the leather must be wiped dry. Ordinary soap and water makes a good cleanser for leather, the soap being applied with a sponge and wiped off with a chamol skin.

Good Building Insulation.

Corrugated cardboard of the kind used for packing cases can be used for insulating buildings against the cold, such insulation being particularly desirable in barns and poultry houses. The boxes are opened along the joints and flattened out, the material being applied with short nails and tin washers, such as used for the application of roofing paper.

Peat Is Full of Chemicals.

Aside from its value as fuel and its use in agriculture, peat has a score or more of uses, and its field is being constantly widened. A long list of chemicals are extracted from it. These include ammonia, methyl alcohol, acetone, acetic acid, pyridines, monophenols, a gasoline-like spirit, some neutral oils, paraffin wax, tar and dyes.

STANDS OFF A LOT OF DOCTOR BILLS

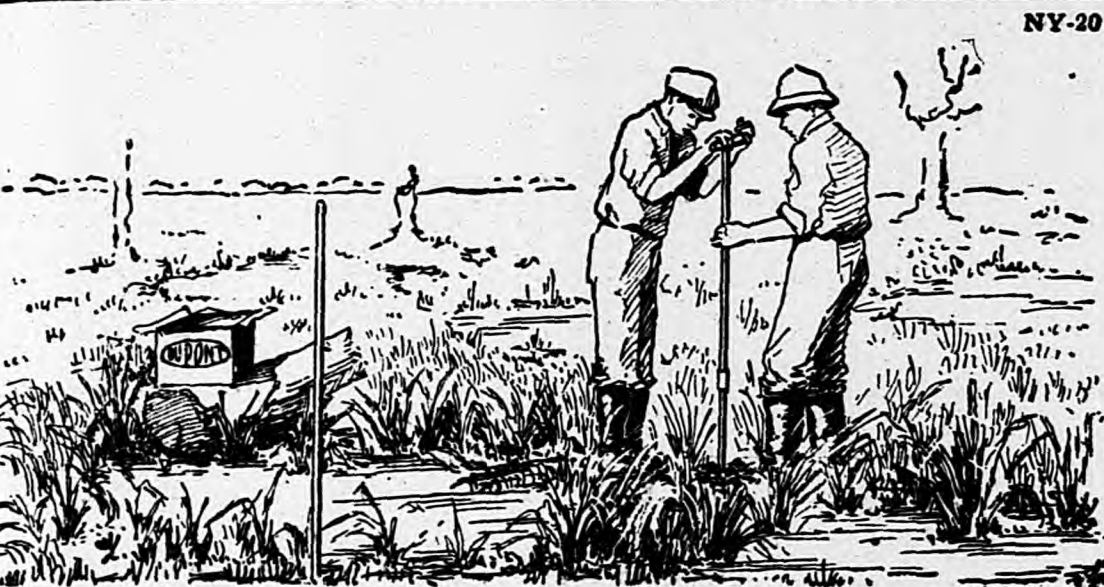

Recommends Pe-ru-na for Catarrh of the Stomach, Colds and Grip

"I have used Pe-ru-na for several years and can heartily recommend it for catarrh of the stomach and entire system. I always get benefit from it for colds and grip. It stands off a lot of doctor bills and makes one feel like a new person."—F. D. NO. 5, Box 51, Waynesburg, Kentucky.

It is wise to keep a bottle of Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies. Coughs and colds may usually be relieved by few doses of Pe-ru-na taken in time. Nasal catarrh, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, rheumatism or other troubles due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes all call for Pe-ru-na as the successful treatment. The health building, strength restoring qualities of this well known remedy are especially marked after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish Flu. PE-ru-na is justly proud of its record of fifty years as health protector for the whole family.

Harry H. Schliact, Head of the Commission on Immigration Aid, Has Unique Plan to Protect Newcomers Against Exploitation.

New York.—The scriptural dictum that "a little child shall lead them" is being applied 10,000-fold in Americanization of New York's east side immigrants.

Its practical demonstration was described by Harry H. Schliact, head of the commission on immigrant aid at Ellis Island, who has conceived a unique plan to protect newcomers from exploitation by their unscrupulous predecessors and radicals.

Through the downtown chamber of commerce, membership of which is limited to foreign-born merchants, bankers and other business men who have gained wealth in this country, Mr. Schliact has developed the idea of placing each immigrant family—fresh from the bewilderment of official red tape and the fantastic New York skyline—in the custody of an American, or Americanized, schoolgirl. Ten thousand of such girls are spending their evenings and spare hours infusing their charges with American ideas and the rudiments of the English language.

Rewards for Teachers.

Stimulated not only by innate interest in the quaint, dejected and often victimized and disillusioned seekers for new homes, but also by rewards from the chamber of commerce for meritorious results, these girls can be seen every evening, by dim lights, spelling out c-a-t, r-a-t and other simple words to enraptured old patriarchs, scarcely aware that they are transplanted in a strange and yet not dissimilar country from that whence they came at such a sacrifice.

"But before I tell you in detail of this Americanization work and its results," interposed Mr. Schliact, "let me tell you something of why they may easily fall prey to radicalism." He then told of how he was aroused to the necessity for this work by some poignant experiences he had going through Ellis Island disguised as an immigrant. Mr. Schliact mingled with the immigrants throughout their trials at admission and learned, he said, that thousands had been induced to migrate by members of an organization which had swindled them of everything they owned before taking them on shipboard.

Since he has been on the island Mr. Schliact said he had investigated these organizations, which he characterized as "professional film-flammers," and has caused the indictment of several individuals, some of whom have fled the country and the cases of some are still pending. Numerous others, he said, who had luxurious offices in New York have scampered away and disbanded operations. He described their operations, while in full swing, somewhat as follows:

They canvassed east side homes to learn if they had relatives on the other side whom they wanted brought to America. Invariably such was the case. These "friends" then told the east siders they were going to Europe and, if they liked, would bring back the desired relatives. Delighted with this "kindness," the east siders would offer up all the money they could scrape together to help their loved ones on their voyage.

Exploited by Radicals.

Equipped with these foreign addresses, the only thing that really interested the exploiters, these "agents" would set out for Europe to transfer their operations to new fields. But instead of turning over the money sent by anxious relatives, they would demand all they could get from the poor Europeans before taking the necessary steps to place them on ships bound for America. If they could get enough they could do this through questionable methods with passport bureaus and shipping companies, Mr. Schliact said.

"So you see," he declared, "they swindled them, both going and coming. This wholesale exploitation," he continued, "is what makes it necessary to do intensive Americanization work among these poor families, who, through no fault of their own, land among us without education and without anything but a misconceived idea that America is a worse place to live in than their home countries. They are ripe for further exploitation by radicals who enlist their willing aid in flaunting false ideals of capitalism."

While it is imperative to correct this immigration menace at its source, Mr. Schliact said, those who have been dumped into this country through influences other than their own volition must be looked after. This is what the "Junior American Missionaries," as these schoolgirls are called, are doing successfully, he said. "Not a family placed in their care has failed to make good," he said.

HOLDS TWO LEGION OFFICES

Winchester, Va., Man Is State Historian as Well as Chairman of Americanism Commission.

B. M. Roszel of Winchester, Va., has been entrusted with two offices by the Virginia department of the American Legion. He is state historian as well as chairman of the Department's Americanism Commission. He also serves as historian of his post.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Mr. Roszel was educated in the schools of his state and received the A. B. and Ph. D. degrees from Johns Hopkins University. Afterwards he was a fellow in astronomy and an instructor in mathematics in that institution, and later a teacher of physics, mathematics and chemistry in the Washington high school system, Washington, D. C. From 1903 to 1908 Mr. Roszel was head master of the Seawane Grammar School, in charge of the preparatory department of the University of the South. Since 1908 he has been superintendent of the Shenandoah Valley Academy, a military school at Winchester, Va.

Mr. Roszel served eighteen months in this country and overseas in the Army and was discharged a major. He has since accepted a similar commission in the Reserve Corps.

TRAVEL PICTURES FOR POSTS

Films Embracing One Thousand Topics, for Use of All Legion Organizations.

By arrangement between the American Legion and the bureau of commercial economics, the most complete and valuable collection of educational and travel motion picture films in existence will be placed at the disposal of the Legion for free exhibition under the auspices of all posts. The films, which embrace 1,000 separate topics, are the property of the bureau, an altruistic institution the sole aim of which is to advance education and pride in American institutions.

At the instance of national headquarters, the bureau has prepared a special catalogue in which each film is numbered and described. A copy of this catalogue will become the property of each Legion post. The only expense attached to posts ordering the films will be the payment of express charges to and from the nearest distributing center of the bureau. No admission fee may be charged by the post.

A distributing center for the films will be established in almost every state. Responsibility for the transmission of the catalogues and the information concerning the location of distributing centers to which each post must apply for films, rests with the state departments.

The story of the establishment of the bureau of commercial economics is that of a fulfillment of a vow which a blind man took years ago, should his sight be restored. Dr. Francis Holley, the founder and director of the bureau, vowed to work for the betterment of mankind when he recovered his sight, and the bureau is the result.

LEGION IS HIS MIDDLE NAME

Adjutant and Americanism Director of Chicago Post First to Name Himself After Organization.

"Every American ought to have an American name," said Jacob Teinowitz, adjutant and Americanism director of Walter S. Poague Post No. 161 of the American Legion in Chicago, at a post meeting.

"To prove that I stand up for my convictions, I have changed my name to Jacob Legion Teinowitz."

Tenny said that there should be a law establishing an American standard of nomenclature and that, in the meantime, it is up to members of the American Legion to set the fashion.

"Teinowitz is a grand old name, but Tenny will be easier to pronounce," said Tenny. "I'm retaining my first name, Jacob, of course, but I'm adding Legion as a brand new middle name. So far as I know, I'm the first man who has named himself after the American Legion. There couldn't be any better name for a man son of an American service man than Legion."

Tenny enlisted with the first contingent of eighteen men from the West side of Chicago and served overseas. He is a lawyer and at the last primary election was a Democratic candidate for municipal judge.

TEACH EUROPE CORN IS FOOD

Must Be Induced to Eat Grain That American Farmers Offered as Gift.

OPEN NEW EXPORT MARKET

Previous Attempts to Teach People of Old World That Corn Is a Healthful and Appetizing Cereal Have Resulted in Failure.

Washington, D. C.—Can Europe and Asia be taught to eat corn?

This momentous question has been raised again by the gift of a million bushels of corn which American farmers are sending to starving Europeans and Chinese.

You must know that in practically no country outside of the two Americas has maize, or Indian corn, been used to any extent as human food. It has been regarded as food for live stock only. The un-American world has simply never learned to eat corn. But now large sections of that world are starving. This would seem to be a most unusual opportunity to teach Europe and Asia to eat corn to the advantage of all parties concerned. Europe would have a new food, and America would have a new export market for its growing corn crop.

Last season this country produced 3,232,367,000 bushels of corn, considerably more than the average for the last five years—2,760,000,000. But the big crop has not brought prosperity to the mid-western farmers. Instead, corn prices have fallen to less than half what they were last year and many farmers have harvested their corn at a loss.

Illinoisian Suggested Gift.

In view of these facts, a young Illinois farmer suggested the gift corn project, which has grown to such proportions. The offer was made to the committees for relief in China and the Near East. They considered the difficulties of transportation and decided to try to overcome them by obtaining donations of money and help. Some money has already been collected and trainmen have offered their services free in carrying the grain across country.

With this much of the ways and means problem worked out, the corn is beginning to be collected at railroad centers and the first cargo has been shipped to Constantinople. An attempt is to be made to keep track of individual donations so that a report can be rendered to the giver, showing when and by whom the corn was used. Shipping corn is a much more complicated business than shipping wheat. There is about 12 per cent water in corn and the moisture in the grain is therefore apt to cause mold in the course of lengthy transportation. Damage due to moisture has frequently been a cause of complaint in the comparatively small shipments of corn which we have sent to Europe.

Water can, however, be baked out of the corn by a kiln drying process, after which it will keep for a much longer time. This precaution is to be taken before the gift corn is shipped abroad in the form of meal, grits and hominy. Preparing the corn will mean some delay, but special machinery which would not be generally available abroad is needed. A first shipment is expected to reach China in April and it will then be ready for immediate consumption.

They Won't Reject It.

As distribution of the corn is to be directly in the hands of relief committees, no difficulty in getting the people to eat the corn is anticipated. In China, where thousands of people have been trying to live on bark and mosses, there will be no caviling over the American corn being pig's food. And the committees believe that the grain will be equally welcome in Armenia and Hungary. Corn was used to some extent in Austria during the war. Europe has never liked it very much, however, and generally preferred rye when wheat was not to be had.

Americans have felt that this dislike was due mainly to ignorance—not many Europeans know much about corn and those who have tasted it more often than not were prejudiced by bad cooking.

There is a story along this line about Carlyle and Emerson. Emerson wrote to his friend, Carlyle, recommending corn as a food and saying that he had sent a package so that the Carlyle family might try it. Carlyle wrote back politely to thank Mr. Emerson, but to say that after several experiments they really did not find the flavor of corn meal agreeable. The correspondence stopped here until Mrs. Emerson could copy off some of her best recipes. Then the Carlyles were asked to try again. They did, and wrote back enthusiastically to know where they could get more of the American delicacy.

Believe Europe Would Like It.

This incident, from the letters of Carlyle and Emerson, is one of the grounds on which Americans base their conviction that Europe would like corn if it could ever be persuaded to give it a fair trial. The department of agriculture once sent demonstrators and lecturers to Europe to enlighten the different countries as to the possibilities of Indian corn. Neither eloquence nor samples of corn disguised to griddle cakes, muffins, gingerbread or corn pone aroused any enthusiasm.

Mostly those present did not even come forward to get the samples.

Because of such experiences, when the food shortage began to afflict Europe, the United States did not send corn to the rescue. You may remember that Herbert Hoover urged us to eat more corn and save wheat because Europe could not very well be taught to eat a new kind of food in so critical a period.

Now the situation is different and Hoover accepted the offered corn gladly. About 1,000,000 bushels, it is announced, will be fed to children of the famine areas, and probably most of it will be prepared by the relief organizations, and served to the children at feeding centers.

What goes to adults may or may not be cooked before distribution. Where it is not prepared for eating, directions doubtless will be given to insure sufficient cooking.

Good Nutritive Value.

With adequate cooking the nutritive value of corn is about the same as that of wheat. Corn contains a large amount of sugar and starch which supply the body with heat and energy. It also has a good deal of protein which builds up the body tissues. It is not, however, rich in minerals, needed in bone formation. Experiments have shown that corn is about as digestible as wheat and that 90 per cent of its dry matter is absorbed in the process of digestion.

Possibly it does not become America to be too impatient with the European lack of appreciation of corn. The high nutritive value of corn is realized all over this country and we have been eating it ever since the Pilgrims, by accident, dug up some seed corn buried by the Indians and got them to explain the growth and uses of the grain. Further back than that, Columbus is said to have found corn growing over here, and the Aztecs in their great civilization used it. This country has had plenty of time to study corn and its uses. Yet it is estimated that less than 10 per cent of our big corn crops is eaten by people, whereas practically all of the wheat is turned into flour.—Frederic J. Haskin in Chicago News.

'DEBUTANTE SLOUCH' PASSING

New Styles for Women Allow Better Posture, Says Instructor in Remedial Gymnastics.

Wellesley, Mass.—The new styles, for women mean the death of the "debutante slouch."

This is the view, at least, of the department of hygiene at Wellesley college, which follows the styles with a watchful eye for their effect on the bearing and general health of Wellesley's 1,500 students.

No one is more delighted at the passing of the styles responsible for the "debutante slouch" than Miss Mary S. Haagen, instructor in remedial gymnastics.

"The old styles, with their tight-fitting and clinging lines," she says, "moulded most girls into a shape much like the figure 'S.' Everything about this posture, from a hygienic point of view, was bad. Today, with looser garments, introduced on the wave of popularity for the sport clothes, it will be a much easier thing for a girl to stand up straight."

Miss Haagen looks for more common sense in all of the styles for the future, due to the wider participation of women in outdoor exercise.

Boy Comes to Life, Asks 'What's Dat Pig?'

Selma, Ala.—Sirfalia Brown, fifteen-year-old negro, has another claim to fame besides his remarkable name, for Sirfalia has just figured in a remarkable accident, which occurred while he was standing at Casey's station to watch the train come in.

A small porker rooting about the station was tossed high into the air by a locomotive, landing on Sirfalia's chest. The pig was killed and so was Sirfalia—apparently. Doctors were summoned from Selma to examine the seemingly dead Sirfalia.

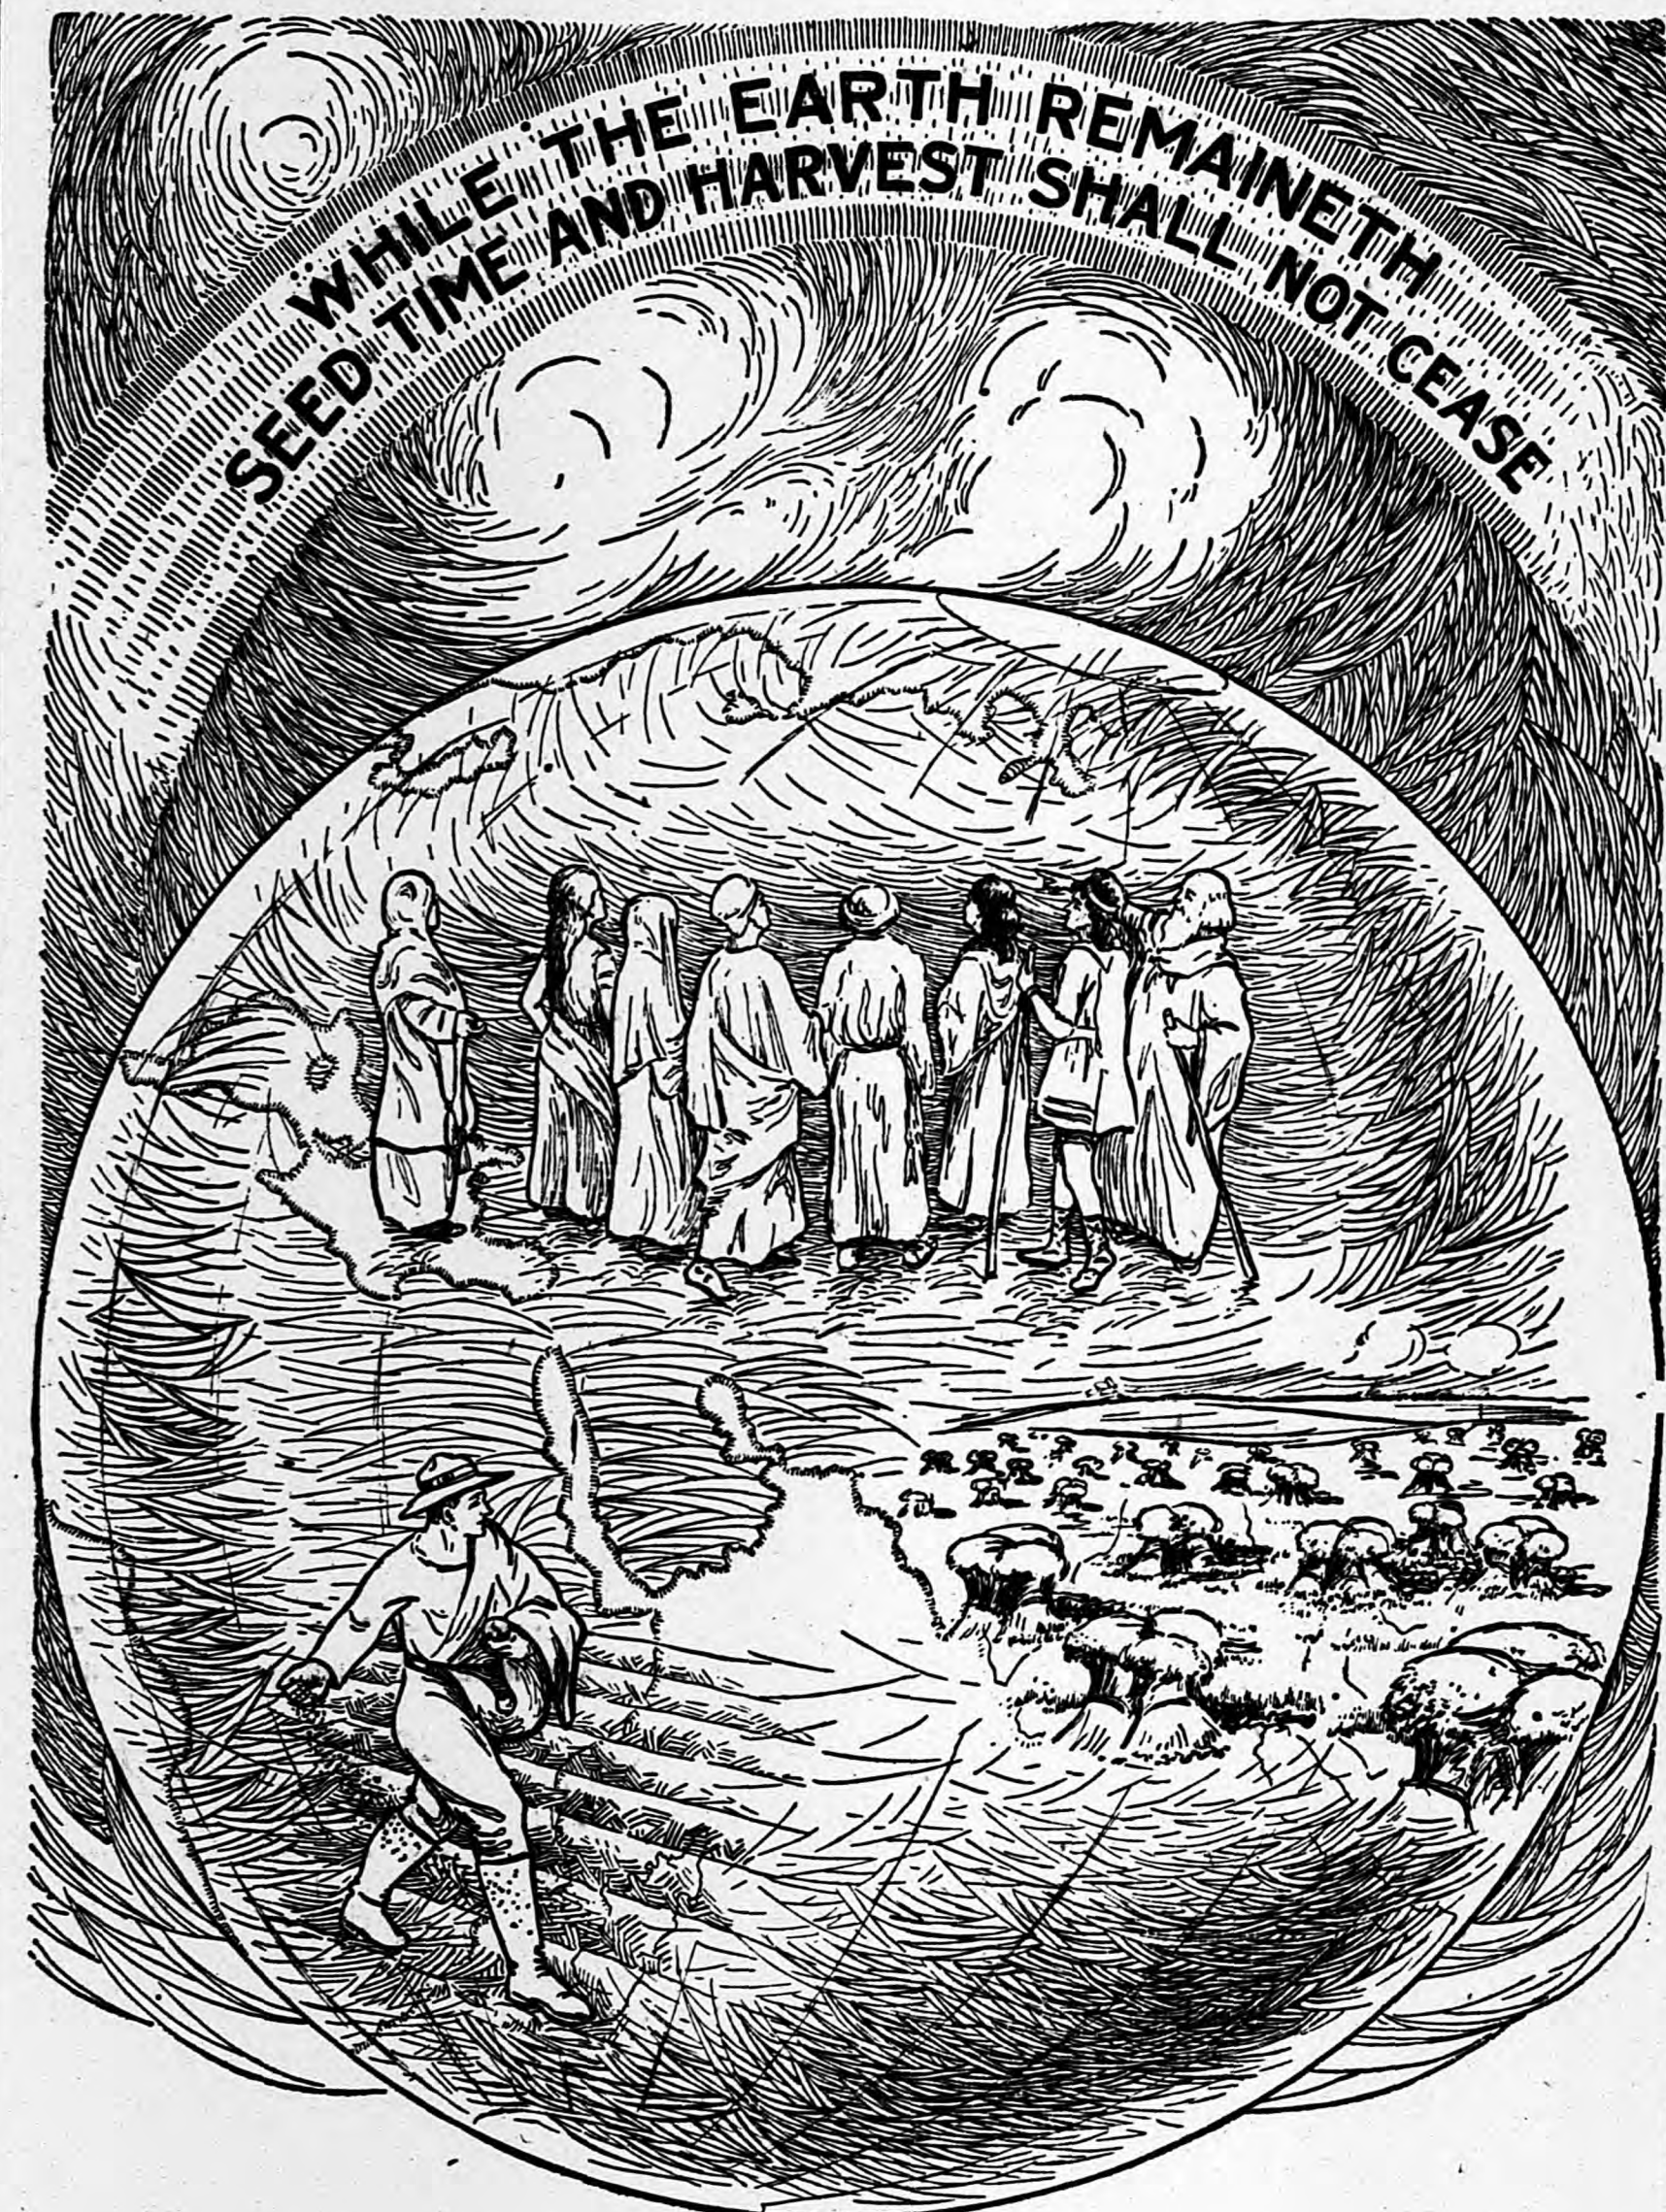

Just before they arrived, however, Sirfalia opened his eyes and demanded to know, "What's dat pig?" Informed that it had been killed by the impact, he claimed it as "his meat," and the offending carcass was turned over to him for sausage.

TOWN HAS EATING 'CHAMPS'

Father and Neighbor in Tennessee Vie With Boy Who Ate 37 Eggs at Meal.

Knoxville, Tenn.—The town of Rogersville, near here, lays claim to the gastronomic champions of the state. Herbert Sibert, 18, recently came out on the long end of a wager by eating at one repast thirty-seven soft-boiled eggs. Just to prove the theory of inherited talents, Sibert, Sr., then ate ten pounds of honey at two meals. Inspired by the eating prowess of his neighbor, Harrison Childress conquered new fields by consuming sixteen cans of potted ham without stopping.

Killed Wife While Cleaning Rifle. Bucyrus, Kan.—Shot by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of her husband, Mrs. Harry Lindwood, forty years old, was killed as she sat at the dinner table in her home near here. Lindwood was cleaning his rifle when he accidentally pulled the trigger.

After the most destructive period of rain and gloom the human race ever experienced, the sun shone forth, the 'bow appeared in the clouds, and the promise was given:

"WHILE THE EARTH REMAINETH SEED TIME AND HARVEST SHALL NOT CEASE."

There have since been many changes, but the laws of nature have never been repealed. They provide that the first of human needs, that of food, must come from the soil. The natural necessity for every one to partake of food every day, makes the tilling of the soil the leading interest and most permanent industry of a self-sustaining people.

This generation has seen the fate of nations decided by the products of agriculture. (The potato crop saved England in 1916.) Therefore, let us pause occasionally and reflect on how the progress of civilization has followed the improvements in agriculture, making the wholesome fruit of honest toil not visible food alone, but thought for the mind and inspiration to the soul.

Mr. O. S. Lloyd Extends Thanks

Salisbury, Md., April 2, 1921. Editor Marylander and Herald

Dear Sir:—Through the columns of your valuable paper kindly permit me to thank the people of Somerset and Wicomico counties for their kindness and interest shown me and my family in so many ways in my recovery from the operation for gallstones under which I went March last at the Peninsula General Hospital in this city.

While I have been a resident of Salisbury for more than nine years it is indeed a pleasure to know that I was in no way forgotten by the people of Princess Anne (my former home), and a people for whom I shall always have a warm spot in my heart.

The people of Salisbury and other sections of Wicomico county certainly took an interest that can never be forgotten by me, and I thank God that we live with such people as are found in Wicomico and Somerset counties.

I wish also to say the average man in health does not know what a blessing this section of the Eastern Shore has in having such an institution as the Peninsula General Hospital and the physicians of this city.

Thanking you for the interest shown, I am, Yours truly,

O. STRAUGHN LLOYD

BILLBOARD THAT HAS MERIT

There Must Be Out-of-Door Advertising This Is Less Offensive Than Most.

This suggestion of happily wedded art and advertising, is one that may prove of value in ending the guerrilla warfare that has long raged between artists and the artistic-minded public on the one hand, and outdoor-publicity men on the other.

The upright supports of this sign are made from old telegraph poles sunk into the ground; the smaller round pieces, which form the ornamental braces, are furnished by straight saplings. The curved top pieces are made by nailing planks to a framework of

Art and Advertising Are Happily Wedded in This Attractive Outdoor Advertising Sign in Japanese Effect

2 by 4-inch material. The signboard proper, the part that contains the advertising announcement, is made by riveting together several sheets of galvanized iron. The corners are reinforced with heavier metal, so that the whole sign may be held by chains from each corner, as shown in the drawing. By exercising a little care as to location and with tasteful arrangement of inexpensive shrubbery about the base, the appearance of the whole will be decidedly pleasing and the Japanese effect of the signboard will be considerably heightened.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

LITTLE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Some Community Hints That Will Repay the Few Minutes They Will Take to Read.

Some men will not pay $1 a year to support a commercial organization but will cheerfully hand over $100 for a hunting dog.

If town building was like scandal, everybody would push it along.

Agassiz says a full-grown man can live ten days chewing the leather of a boot. But no full-grown town can live chewing the rag.

Job, according to historical belief, was a patient man, but he never was a commercial secretary and had an important committee out.

Some towns don't do things to please themselves but to worry their neighbor.

More dangerous than any foreign foe is to endeavor to make one citizen hate another.

A community is much like an egg. Keep it in hot water and it is bound to become hard.

An optimist is a commercial secretary with a $5,000 deficit in his organization and a state convention on his hands.

There is a wide difference between the best known and the known best men of the community.—The Nation's Business.

Woman and Civic Responsibilities.

In so far as one can generalize from the experience of the last few years, women are taking all their new civic duties with commendable thoroughness. The widespread activities of the women's citizen associations have done much to arouse the female voter to the realities, and more especially the responsibilities of civic life. And these excellent bodies have worked on likely material, for those women who have thrown themselves into public affairs have not erred on the side of underrating the value of hard work. Tutors who have to teach adult students of both sexes have rarely been able to censure women students for lack of industry.—Manchester Guardian.

Bathtub Five Feet Deep Unearthed.

In demolishing one of New York city's old houses recently, a bathtub eight feet long, four feet wide and five feet deep, made of wood and lined with zinc, was discovered by workmen. "To get into it," says the writer who tells of it, "one had to ascend a flight of steps. It had no hot water connection and was used by an old woman born in the house who remembered that it always was there. There were 20 rooms in the house, and this bath in one of them on the third floor was the only bath in the house. It is said this bathtub was one of the first bathtubs in New York.

The Better Part.

"How much have you left of your week's salary?"

"Oh, the better part."

"Impossible! I know you have spent more than half."

"True, but I have part of it left and what isn't spent is certainly the better part."

First American Postal System.
The first successful postal system established in any of the American colonies was that of William Penn, who, in 1683, appointed Henry Walley of Tekonay, to keep a post and "supply passengers with horses from Philadelphia to Newcastle or the Falls of the Delaware."

Catarrahal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrahal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrahal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrahal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since... I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

BIG FUND FOR FOOD RESEARCH

Carnegie Corporation Supplies $700,000 for Study at Leland Stanford University.

WAS SUGGESTED BY HOOVER

One Aim is to Avert Waste, and Marketing and Distribution Will Be Studied—New Institute Will Begin Work in July.

New York.—A food research institute for the study of all problems of production, distribution and consumption is to be established at Leland Stanford Jr. university at the suggestion of Herbert Hoover, with an endowment of $700,000 provided by Carnegie corporation. This announcement was made by the corporation here.

"The need for such an institute was first suggested to Carnegie corporation by Herbert Hoover," said the announcement, "and the selection of Leland Stanford Jr. university as its home was due in part to the fact that it is the point at which the great unique collection of documentary material relative to the economic side of the war, gathered by Mr. Hoover during the war, is deposited."

"The value of such an institute as it is now proposed to establish also was emphasized by experience during the war, when the study of food supply in its different phases was necessary in order to attain maximum efficiency in the nutrition of the nations involved. The knowledge thus acquired clearly indicates the great importance of continued research effort. The general field of the institute will be the problems arising after food has left the farmer's hands."

Efforts to Reduce Waste.

"A special feature of the work of the institute will be the scientific study of the marketing and distribution of food products. The objects of the institute, however, are thoroughly practical, and will, it is hoped, contribute to the welfare of the producer and consumer by eliminating present wastes in the process of marketing nearly all kinds of food. The objects of the institute are not only important from the standpoint of the farmer, but have a direct effect on the question of proper nutrition of the nation."

"In every nation at war, and in neutral nations as well, much of the previous data of production, distribution and consumption of food was found to be inaccurate. Faced with the necessity of securing immediate results, governmental authorities in charge of food programs were frequently compelled to grope in the dark for long periods before they could accomplish the end sought."

"Under the terms of the agreement with Carnegie corporation the university agrees to establish a research organization under the name of the Food Research Institute of Leland Stanford Jr. university and to appoint three men of science to be known as directors of the institute. These directors will have authority to determine the scientific policies of the institute and the problems to be studied. It is the hope of the Carnegie corporation that eventually the new organization will be known as the Hoover institute."

"There will also be an advisory committee made up of men of national prominence, representing agricultural, consumer, economic and other groups of the community, one of whom will be Mr. Hoover. The university will appoint seven members of this body, who, with the president of the university ex officio, and the president of the Carnegie corporation, ex officio, will make the committee number nine men."

To Begin Work July 1.

"The institute will begin its work on July 1 next, and the Carnegie corporation will provide a fund of $700,000 for its support for a period of ten years."

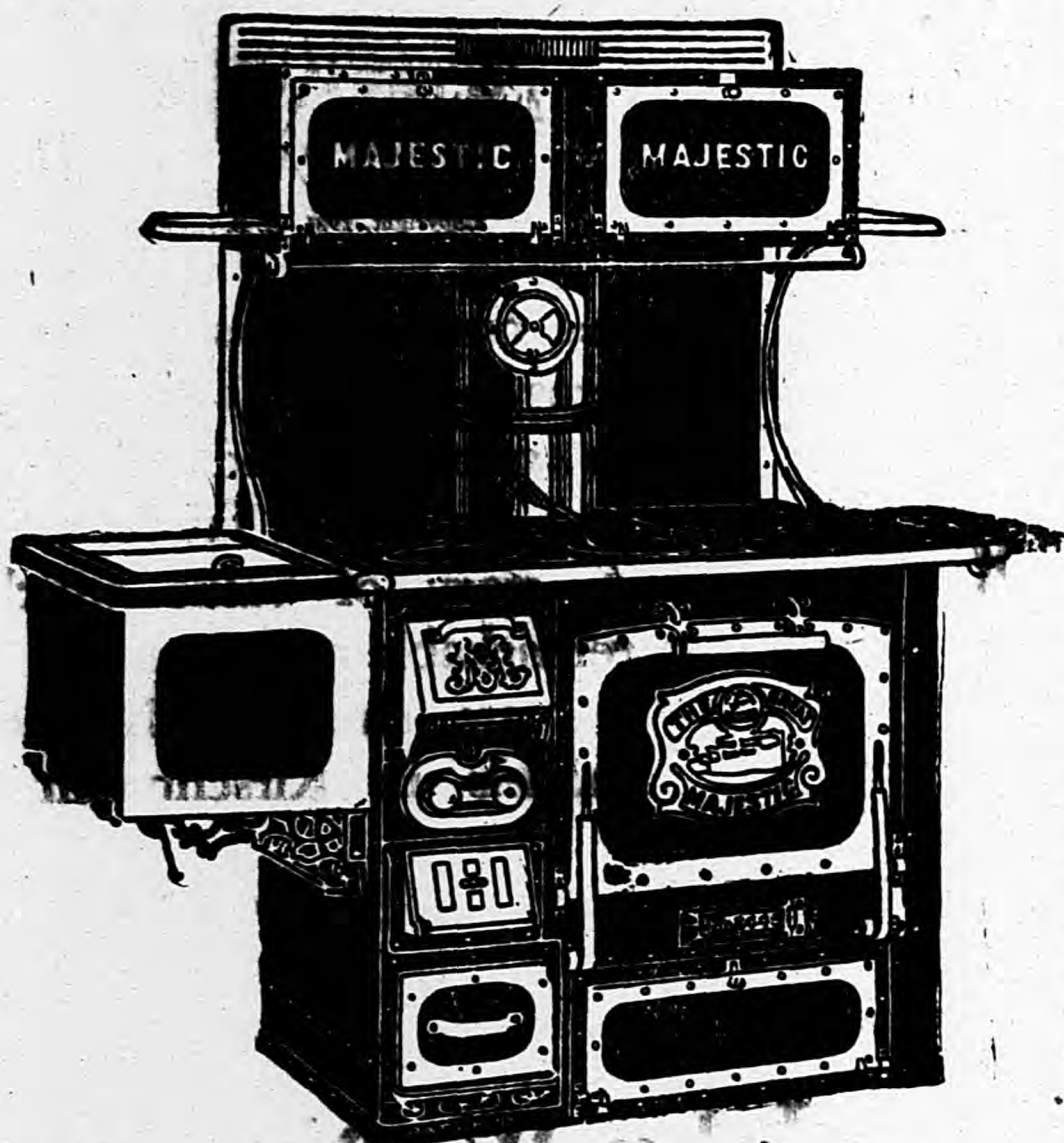

"James R. Angell, president of Carnegie corporation, who has just been called to the presidency of Yale university, announces that Leland Stanford Jr. university has agreed to make its scientific laboratories available to the institute. It is not intended to duplicate the equipment of research laboratories working in the field of nutrition, but as far as it is practicable to have the institute co-operate with other agencies working in the general field."

"The directors to be appointed will head three separate divisions. One will be an expert in the field of physiology and chemistry of nutrition, one an expert in economics and food distribution, and one an expert in chemistry of food manufacture and agriculture. They will work co-operatively from three avenues of approach upon fundamental issues of widest human significance. It is also provided that the institute may receive from time to time such specially qualified students as it may be possible to instruct without disadvantage to the primary research purposes of the organization."

"A small group of fellowships will be available for graduate students of high intellectual promise. These students will receive wholly unusual training for public service while at the same time contributing valuable assistance to the work of the institute."

"Carnegie corporation, after the institute is once established, will abstain from any attempt to direct or control its work."

NOTHING WRONG EXCEPT "RUN DOWN"

Heart All Right—Lungs All Right, But Blood Weak

NO ENERGY OR ENTHUSIASM

That's When You Need Pepto-Mangan—The Red Blood Builder

When you feel weak and almost sick, see a doctor and find out what is wrong. It may be a serious illness. But in many cases the doctor finds nothing really wrong except a general run-down condition due to the need of stronger, richer blood.

For over thirty years physicians have recommended Gude's Pepto-Mangan to restore weakened blood to its normal healthy state.

Pepto-Mangan imparts to the blood the elements it needs to build up vigorous men and women. Children whose blood is impoverished become listless and pale and fail to romp. Pepto-Mangan creates a supply of nourishing red blood that makes the cheeks glow, the eyes sparkle and bring back the energy for play or studies.

Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in liquid or tablet form, whichever proves most convenient. Both forms possess identical medicinal qualities.

There is but one genuine Pepto-Mangan and that is "Gude's." Ask your druggist for "Gude's" and look for the name "Gude's" on the package. If it is not there, it is not Pepto-Mangan. Advertisement.

Literal Youngster.
Jack was being taught by his religious mother some things she thought he ought to know. Among other subjects God and His omnipresence were spoken of. It seemed hard to the boy to think God could be everywhere at once and especially disturbing to find out that He was dwelling inside him. The little fellow, however, took his mother at her word, and soon after at the supper table, as he was about to partake of some hot soup, said: "Look out, God, there's some hot soup comin'."

Let a Child Choose.

Children should never be forced into a line of work for which they show no aptitude, according to Dr. Edward J. Kempf, a New York psycho-pathologist and author, in an article in the New York Sun. "Many parents unwittingly warp their children's whole lives because they fail to realize the vital importance of letting the child pick its own natural bent," says Dr. Kempf, "and they hedge him in by don'ts and taboos to the sacrifice of his personality."

CARVES IN SOAP

Miss Anne Hershey, a junior in Mount Holyoke college, whose exquisite little models and statuettes carved from bars of ordinary white soap, have attracted much attention. The miniature figures, most of them original with Miss Hershey, rival figures of marble in their beauty and workmanship.

It was while cutting up soap for her mother, Miss Hershey says, that she conceived the idea. It was such fun whittling that she immediately tried her hand at making busts and presented her friends with finished models, and now her work has begun to attract considerable attention. Miss Hershey is shown here at work on her conception of "The Thinker."

FIND MONSTER CEDAR TREE

Enough Lumber in Forest Monarch Discovered in Washington to Build Nine Houses.

Seattle.—Timber cruisers working in the forest near Forks have discovered what is believed to be the largest living cedar tree in the United States. It measures 54 feet in circumference and 10 feet above the ground is 17 feet in diameter.

The shape is very symmetrical, the gradual decrease in size being slight until the first limbs, about 125 feet above the earth. The tree has grown up in a thicket of other cedars, many of which are 6 to 10 feet in diameter. One of its neighbors is so close as to touch the giant, and three more guard the other sides about 10 feet distant. To get the big fellow felled loggers would have to cut down the big ones about him first.

It is estimated that this big cedar, if solid, and it appears to be in good living condition, contains approximately 300,000 feet of lumber. Carpenters say that the average six-room house contains about 36,000 feet of lumber, so that this one cedar tree has in its big trunk enough lumber to build nine or ten such houses.

It is doubtful if it will ever be touched by the woodman's ax, for it now stands in the vast territory which former President Roosevelt set aside as a forest reserve. Cruisers working for lumber companies often survey into the reserves before they are aware of it, but the watchful ranger knows it immediately.

Having personally conducted, the automobile journey and expecting to pay for the 10 o'clock dinner, Cy felt entitled to have a couple of words to say about which dance they would now attend. The other five all talked at once and couldn't hear him.

When they got on Cy's nerves he naively lifted his side of the table and dumped the food into the laps of the recalcitrant ones, snatched coat and hat and started for home. Manager Goon met him at the door. Cy put his head down and made a football rush for liberty.

Central court got Cy and fined him $25 for his bad table manners.

Bumper Wheat Crop Forecast

A winter wheat crop, fourth largest in the country's history, was forecast last Thursday by the Department of Agriculture, with a total production of 821,000,000 bushels. This is 44,000,000 bushels more than harvested last year.

The condition of the crop improved 3.1 per cent. from last December 1, the April 1 condition being 91 per cent. of a normal. The crop of 1919 was the largest of winter wheat ever grown, with 72,000,000 bushels.

The area sown last fall was 40,605,000 acres, and it is believed the abandonment has been small. The 1920 crop was sown on 41,767,000 acres, of which 37,778,000 acres were harvested, while the record crop of 1919 was harvested from 49,105,000 acres.

Needs Of Women On Farms

In an effort to meet the immediate needs of women on farms for improving home and community life, the Home Demonstration Department of the University of Maryland Extension Service is preparing to make one of the most comprehensive surveys of rural home conditions ever attempted in this State. Miss Venia M. Kellar, the State home demonstration agent who is directing the survey, has prepared a questionnaire which will be distributed throughout the counties with the aid of the home demonstration agents and the farm women's organizations. It is expected that answers to these letters will be fairly representative of general conditions throughout the State.

Much valuable information relative to the community life also will be obtained. The accessibility of schools and churches, the means of communication by telephone and travel, the place which the newspaper and magazine occupy in the home, and the kind and amount of amusement available, are all elements of recognized importance in rural community life, according to Miss Kellar, and may be used as good indications of the kind of home demonstrations work most needed in the various localities.

Where They Tax Tidiness

In Turkey, due to the short-sighted policy of the government, it is not the custom to paint the exterior of the average house, for the tax is directly determined by the appearance of the building, a neatly painted house being taxed twice as much as a shabby dwelling, irrespective of the interior of either.

A Bad Back Is Generally Worse in The Morning. Princess Anne People Are Finding Relief

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

You can't get rid of kidney backache, until you reach the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for weakened or disordered kidneys—been gratefully recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor.

The following statement proves the merit of Doan's. Harry E. Muir, Upper Fairmount, Md., says: "I can certainly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as a remedy of merit. My kidneys were weak and a source of annoyance for some time. I often had severe soreness and a dull aching across the small of my back. Mornings, especially, I felt lame and the action of my kidneys was irregular. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a few days I was free from the aches and pains and my kidneys didn't trouble me any longer."

Believes In Pure-Bred Stock

Mr. E. B. Figs, of near Delmar, writes that he is a firm believer in pure-bred stock and cites an illustration of the success he has met with in using pure-bred Hampshire hogs. His letter, in part, follows:

"While visiting my brother-in-law in West Virginia, I read an article in a farm paper that caused me to go in the Hampshire hog business. The article referred to a Western man going in the Hampshire hog business with 52 sows in the spring, and at the end of the year he had a little over 800 pigs. He fattened them and sold $58,000 worth that year. Of course, I wanted to make a little easy money too, so I went to a friend of mine who was in the Hampshire hog business and he ordered two sows for me from Indiana, which cost me about $200. In about 30 days they farrowed, both of them being young sows. One of them had 12 pigs, and I saved nine of them; the other had seven and I saved them all.

Then I bred the sows again. In farrowing this time one had five pigs and I saved four, the other had 11 and I saved nine. At the present time I have 26 head. In other words, I now have about $1,200 worth of pure-bred hogs from an investment of $200.

A Farmer Cured Of Rheumatism

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayder, Fatten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me."

First Soldiers' Home

The Soldiers' home at Washington, the first institution of the kind in the United States, was established in 1851. A tract of land for the purpose, 200 acres in extent, was purchased with a sum of money levied by Gen. Winfield Scott on the City of Mexico during the war with that country. There are now several branches of the national home and state homes in twenty-seven states.

Argument For A Big Navy

"A little navy is a dangerous thing," says Rear Admiral McGowan; and he insists that "battles cost more than battleships, taxes are cheaper than tribute." He too wants a navy that can beat the world and considers such a navy cheap insurance against war. Probably he is right unless the nations can agree to some kind of mutual insurance to discourage war and distribute its costs somewhat on the principle of mutual fire insurance. That the League of Nations was supposed to do, and it does seem as if those who objected to it should by this time have some better plan ready to propose.

Vade Mecum.

Pulpitantly, the infatuated young man sought counsel at the bazaar of an ancient and prayed the ancient tell him how he might learn of his lady's faults. "Go forth among her women friends," spake the venerable one, "and praise her in their hearing."

PRESBYTERY OF NEW CASTLE

107th Stated Meeting Now In Session In Manokin Church

The one hundred and seventh stated meeting of the Presbytery of New Castle convened yesterday (Monday) in Manokin Presbyterian Church, the Rev. W. L. Freund, pastor.

The docket for yesterday was: Roll call, reception of members, election of officers, induction of moderator into office, reports of committee of arrangement, seasonal records received and referred to committees.

At night at 8 o'clock the sacrament of the Lord's Supper—after the old Scotch use, and sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. W. S. Kreyer, D. D.

The session today (Tuesday) will open with prayer at 9 o'clock in the morning, with the following program: Report of committees, calls received and installations arranged, pastoral dismissions and dismissions, reports on sustentation and home missions, foreign missions, narrative of christian life and work. In the afternoon beginning at 1:30—New era business, reports of committees, election of commissioners to general assembly, report of committee on publication and Sabbath School work, statistical report of the churches, report of committees, invitations for next stated meeting, order for adjournment and the reading of the minutes of meeting.

Southern Convocation Meeting

The meeting of the Southern Convocation of Eastern Diocese was held in St. Andrew's Church Monday and Tuesday of last week and was in every detail very successful. A large congregation was present at the opening service, when Bishop Cook preached a powerful sermon, calling upon the church of today to awaken to her opportunities.

Those taking part in the service were, the Rev. Messrs. Jones, of Snow Hill; J. F. Virgin, of Crisfield, and F. M. Adams, of Upper Fairmount, together with the rector of the parish, the dean, and Bishop Davenport.

Visiting clergy were present from the Dioceses of Delaware and East Carolina, and all the clergy (but one) within the convocation.

The essay and the conferences held on Tuesday were of all a high standard and much appreciated, many lay delegates being present. The convocation closed on Tuesday with a missionary meeting in the church at 7:30 p. m.

The bishop and those attending expressed the opinion that it was the best and most successful meeting of the convocation yet held, and all spoke in approving terms of the rich appearance of the renovated St. Andrew's Church.

Mrs. Frank T. Smith Dead

Mrs. Annie Maalin Smith, widow of Major Frank T. Smith, died at her apartments at the Washington Hotel about four o'clock last Thursday afternoon, aged 83 years.

Mrs. Smith was born in Kent county, Maryland, in 1838, and was married to Mr. Smith in Martinsburg, West Virginia, April 18th, 1861. Mr. Smith, formerly of Wylie, Smith & Company, grain dealers of Baltimore, came with his wife to reside in Princess Anne 21 years ago. Mrs. Smith was a true Christian lady. She had many friends in this town, who, knowing her, loved her. Among relatives surviving are Mr. Geo. W. Maalin and his daughter, Mrs. E. Herrman Cohn, of Princess Anne.

Funeral services were held in Manokin Presbyterian Church last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock conducted by the Rev. W. L. Freund, pastor of the church. Interment was in the church cemetery beside her husband, who died in 1902. The pallbearers were: Judge Robert F. Duer, Col. Henry J. Waters, Messrs. John E. Holland, Samuel H. Sudler, Omar J. Crowell and Richard Dale.

Community Supper A Success

The community supper, held in the new fire house last Thursday night, was a huge success—$325 being realized.

The new building, which is a great credit to the town, was tastefully decorated for the occasion and received many favorable comments.

The supper was held for the benefit of the Princess Anne Volunteer Fire Company by the ladies of the town, at the suggestion of Mrs. Wm. J. Brown. One and all were pleased with the way in which the affair was carried out and were loud in their praise for the ladies who worked to make the supper such a success.

The women take this opportunity to extend their congratulations to the ladies for their efforts and thanks for the amount which was realized. All hail to the ladies!

It is still lawful for the prize to get stored.

TO AID BISHOP DAVENPORT

Rev. Alward Chamberlaine a Native Of The Shore

The Rev. Alward Chamberlaine, of St. Michael's Cathedral, Boise, Idaho, who has accepted the call of Bishop George W. Davenport to become missioner of the Diocese of Easton, is expected to assume his duties shortly.

During the past five years Mr. Chamberlaine has been dean of the Cathedral. Prior to that time he spent 12 years in other work in Idaho. One of his largest pieces of material work was in lifting the debt of $10,000 which he found on St. Michael's when he took up his pastorate there. During his service there he has baptized 528 persons and presented 400 persons for confirmation. At the time of his resignation at Boise he was secretary of the hospital board, chairman of the diocesan nation-wide campaign, registrar of the district of Idaho, examining chaplain, president of the council of advice, librarian of the district and member of the various diocesan boards and committees.

During the past year he presented the largest class for confirmation ever prepared in his parish, and because of another class of 60 which he is preparing he was unable to leave for Easton immediately.

He was born on the Eastern Shore in Cecil county, near Perryville. His father was Henry Chamberlaine, a banker of Baltimore. His ancestors settled in Talbot county at old "Bonfield" at Oxford in 1730, and he has numerous relatives and family connections all over the State of Maryland.

Methodist Protestant Appointments

The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church closed at Newark, N. J., Monday night of last week with the reading of the pastoral appointments. Among the appointments were:

Accomac, Va., W. C. Mumford; Bi-valve, C. P. Nowling; Crisfield, C. M. Elderidge; Lawsonia, C. M. Jenkins; Mariners, F. M. McCorkle; Delmar, Del., E. H. Jones; Hurlock, C. M. Adams; Mardela, C. N. Alexander; New Church, Va., G. A. Morris; Parkley, Va., W. H. Hodges; Pittsville, G. J. Hooker; Pocomoke City, E. L. Bunce; Salem, W. B. Wexley; Salisbury, R. L. Shipley; Snow Hill, C. R. Strausburg; Trinity, George Hines.

Among the special appointments were: President Western Maryland College, A. M. Ward; Professor Western Maryland College, E. A. Warfield; President Westminster Theological Seminary, H. L. Elderidge; Secretary-Treasurer Board Foreign Missions, F. C. Klein; Editor Methodist Protestant, F. T. Benson.

Ex-Archbishop-General Palmer for his ruling on beer, and the police department of Baltimore for its failure to enforce Sunday observance, were severely criticized in resolutions adopted. The legalizing of race-track gambling in Maryland was condemned and voters in the church were urged to use the proper influence for the election of candidates to the coming Legislature who would pledge support against its overthrow. The election of candidates in favor of Sabbath observance also was suggested.

The resolutions offered by the committee on moral reform also declared that the recent campaign against so-called Sunday laws was nothing but a direct attack of the champions of vice against the church under the camouflage of "liberal interpretation."

New Shore Bus Line Planned

A new bus line for the Eastern Shore, to operate from Salisbury to Delmar, Salisbury to Princess Anne and the south and Salisbury to Ocean City, is in contemplation, according to plans suggested to the Public Service Commission last Thursday by Assistant Attorney-General Amos W. W. Woodcock. Mr. Woodcock was representing Thomas J. Ryan, of Salisbury, who plans to operate the new line. He expects to file application soon for a permit for the line.

FRUIT CROP AGAIN HARD HIT

Cold Weather Last Week Annihilated This Year's Output

The snow storm early Monday morning of last week, which was followed by freezing weather Monday night, is said to have practically annihilated the fruit crop of Somerset county, with the possible exception of strawberries and apples. It was further stated that the damage inflicted was not the result of the snow but of the freezing weather which followed. The temperature was so low Monday night that icicles formed on the edges of buildings, and many farmers throughout the county reported breaking them off their water troughs.

In a summary of a part of the damage in this county it may be stated that the peach crop has been entirely destroyed; pears, plums and cherries have been killed; crimson clover hit very heavily; wheat, especially that which got a good growing start, has been seriously damaged, and alfalfa has also suffered to a great extent.

According to the weekly synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Maryland and Delaware for the week ended last Tuesday, made by Charles F. Marvin, chief of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, fruit that escaped ruin from the March freeze "was heavily damaged in many counties." The report is accompanied by a detailed report of damage by the April freeze, made up from observations of the local correspondents of James H. Spencer, section director of the Weather Bureau for Maryland and Delaware. The synopsis says:

Mild weather first half of week, cold second half. Precipitation deficient west of Chesapeake bay. Ice storm and heavy snow on Eastern Shore during the night of 10th-11th. Temperatures below freezing on 11th and 12th. Fruit that escaped ruin from the freeze of March 29-30 was heavily damaged in many counties. Some wheat has also deteriorated.

Rural Agents Meet in Baltimore

Home demonstration agents from every county in the State who represent the University of Maryland Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture in the work of helping the farm women, met in annual conference last Tuesday morning at the Hotel Remmert, Baltimore, the sessions continuing until Friday. The conference was called by Miss Venia M. Kellar, State home demonstration agent, for the purpose of discussing the various phases of rural home economics work and to give the agents an opportunity to hear the best thought and experience of leaders in this work from many sections of the country.

The activities of the home demonstration agents in conducting milk campaigns, designed to impress on the public the value of milk as an essential food product; organization work, the educational value of community exhibits and practical methods in home dressmaking and sewing was emphasized throughout the program.

The milk campaign and the methods of making it effective was discussed by Miss Jessie Hoover of the United States Department of Agriculture. Efficiency demonstrations in sewing by Mrs. Ruth Stevens Reed, specialist in sewing at Amburst College, Mass., was on the program Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Organization work, particularly from the rural woman's angle, was presented on Wednesday morning by Dr. F. B. Bomberger, assistant director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, and on Thursday afternoon Miss Madge Reese of the United States Department of Agriculture talked on the educational value of fairs. Talks on millinery were given each morning by Mrs. Vena Spence of the McKinley High School, Washington, D. C.

Ritchie To Probe Purchasing Bureau

Governor Ritchie is not entirely satisfied with the operations of the State Purchasing Bureau, a new department of the State government, created within the last year, and he has decided to make a personal investigation of that bureau. The Governor has been moved to such action by complaints, and he is determined to probe these "kicks," and act to eliminate the causes wherever they exist.

The first step said to be contemplated by the Governor in his own investigation probably will be a two or three day visit to the offices of the Purchasing Bureau to watch the operations of that department. The visit may be made this week.

Dear old Congress, having resurrected itself, will now proceed to do a little something and a lot of nothing.

APRIL COURT STILL IN SESSION

Grand Jury Discharged Tuesday Afternoon—11 Indictments Found

The April term of the Circuit Court for Somerset county convened Monday morning of last week with Judges Duer and Bailey on the bench. Judge Duer delivered the charge to the grand jury. Mr. William H. Bradshaw was made foreman of the grand jury with the following associates: Messrs. Fred A. Culver, George McDowell, L. Jerome Murray, Noah J. Brittingham, George A. Christy, E. Herrman Cohn, George W. Revelly, Fred Tyler, John D. East, Rex Riggins, J. Stanley Adams, Upshur Anderson, Isaac W. Lawson, Murray J. Webb, Charles W. Laird, Frank P. Landon, Orrie F. Peyton, H. Edwin Morris, Lorenzo Q. Powell, Guy Chelton, J. Omar Reading, Everett C. Cannon.

The grand jury was discharged late Tuesday afternoon after having found eleven indictments.

The petit jury for the term is as follows: Messrs. E. Thomas Bundick, Abraham Riffin, Thomas F. Rider, Thomas Evans, E. Mace Smith, Kirby Davis, Frank D. Dryden, Zadoc W. Townsend, Elijah Maddix, George H. Willing, Frank H. Heminger, Upton Lee Mitchell, Togie D. Hallberg, Sidney F. Smith, Charles T. Ward, Austin L. Whittington, Edgar Abbott, Hamilton Bradshaw, Edwin E. Moore, William R. White, William T. Holland, Sr., Clifton White, Woodland Milbourne, Fred T. Webster, Charles W. Parks.

Among the cases disposed of last week were:

James Driscoll vs. J. G. & E. E. West. Before jury; suit for debt. Judgment against John G. West.

Thomas Pinto vs. N. Y., P. & N. R. R. Before jury; suit for damages. Judgment for Pinto.

Richard Golloway vs. Aden Davis. Before jury; suit on contract. Judgment for Golloway.

Ponder C. Culver vs. Cyrus L. West, civil appeal. Before jury; suit over tax ditch. Judgment lower court affirmed.

State vs. Scipio Stevenson. Indictment for larceny. Pleads guilty.

Joseph Victory, colored, of Crisfield, who killed his brother, Matthew Victory, at their home in that town last January, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury at a late hour Thursday afternoon.

On Friday Edward Gale, charged with killing Irving Johnson, both colored, on the night of February 26th last, in a fracas on "Bowland's Hill," was on trial. It was stated that after Johnson had beaten Gale and returned to him the second time with a pistol in his hand, Gale reached for a shotgun nearby and shot Johnson in the breast, killing him instantly. The accused man entered a plea of self defense. He was tried before a jury and acquitted.

The damage suit against Mr. William R. Spiva has been transferred to Queen Anne's county court, and that against H. L. Loreman & Bro., has been sent to Snow Hill to be heard by the Worcester county court. Both grew out of automobile accidents.

Court adjourned late Friday afternoon until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Diocesan Convention May 2nd

Bishop George W. Davenport of the Diocese of Easton has announced the program of the thirty-third annual convention at Berlin, beginning May 2d.

On the first day there will be conferences on women's work, religious education and social service. Rev. Charles C. McAllister of Washington, D. C., will lead the one on religious education, and Rev. Charles N. Lathrop, secretary of the church department of social service, the one on that topic. An informal reception will be held in the evening.

The Bishop's address will follow the celebration of Holy Communion on the morning of May 3rd, and the convention will be organized. At a mass-meeting in the evening there will be addresses on "The Program of the Presiding Bishop and Council for 1921-22" by Rev. Charles N. Lathrop; "What the Church Building Fund Commission Has Done for the Church and Can Do for the Diocese of Easton," by Rev. Dr. Charles L. Pardee, secretary, and "Rural Work," by Rev. T. L. Woodward, of Virginia.

On the morning of May 4th the convention will hold a business session. This is the first convention under Bishop Davenport.

County Federation Meeting

A meeting of the county federation of girls' club was held in the Court House on Saturday, April 9th. Thirty girls were added as members and 22 adults were present.

The program consisted of a play entitled "Merry Microbes." An essay on "What Club Work Has Done For Me," by Miss Bessie Gavit; a club yell; a club song, and reports by members of the different clubs. Then refreshments consisting of fruit punch and cakes were served. It is proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting on July 9th, which will be an out-door picnic, at which it is hoped all members will be present.

HARDING'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS

President Lays Down The Elements Of A New American Policy

In his first message to Congress, delivered in person last Tuesday, President Harding, after recommending a program of domestic legislation sweeping in its extent, definitely rejecting the existing League of Nations, urged the adoption of a resolution ending the state of war and announcing that he would ask for the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, with "explicit reservations and modifications."

The most striking points in the President's message are:

In the existing League of Nations, world governing with its superpowers, this republic will have no part.

In rejecting the League Covenant and uttering that rejection to our own people, and to the world, we make no surrender of our hope and aim for an association to promote peace in which we would most heartily join.

I should approve a declaratory resolution by Congress to establish the state of technical peace with Germany without further delay.

We are ready to co-operate with other nations to approximate disarmament, but merest prudence forbids that we disarm alone.

Freight-carrying charges have mounted higher and higher until commerce is halted and production discouraged. Railway rates and costs of operation must be reduced.

The United States means to establish and maintain a great merchant marine. The staggering load of war debt must be cared for in orderly funding and gradual liquidation. We shall hasten the solution and aid effectively in lifting the tax burdens if we strike resolutely at expenditure.

The most substantial relief from the tax burden must come for the present from the readjustment of internal taxes and the revision or repeal of those taxes which have become unproductive and are so artificial and burdensome as to defeat their own purpose.

The message was a series of surprises almost from first to last. Although it was received with manifestations of enthusiasm, it did not bring complete satisfaction to all the President's party associates. Some of them felt that upon foreign relations he had surrendered once more to the irreconcilables in the Senate; others, strange as it may seem, took the view that he had gone back too far in the direction of Wilsonism.

Taken by and large, however, the message has invited the support of virtually all elements within the party, even if many individual members are bewildered as to the exact international policy the President has adopted and are in serious doubt as to the end toward which the President is moving. The proposals to make a separate peace with Germany and yet to ratify the Versailles treaty, minus the League covenant and all other provisions which do not involve American interests, have perplexed many statesmen.

It can be stated authoritatively, however, that the Harding peace program was not as carelessly conceived and not as contradictory as it seemed to many members of the House and Senate. On the contrary it was worked out with the utmost consideration of every line, sentence and phrase in it. It was not designed to be a surrender to any single group upon any proposition whatever, but it is the result of intensive study on the part of the Secretary of State and its consummation is to be made the most serious business of this administration.

Many Want Pheasant Eggs

State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte has requested the publication of the following notice:

"The State Game Department is flooded with applications for Chinese Ring-necked Pheasant eggs, which are furnished gratis by this department to persons who agree to hatch and rear the young birds until they become old enough to care for themselves, when they should be liberated in the covers of this State for propagation purposes. The Department has on file orders for more than 8,000 eggs which is more than can be shipped this season, as the brokers furnishing same have accepted orders for only 8,000. Therefore, it will be impossible to accept additional orders this season.

"We are also issuing a booklet entitled 'Pheasant Culture,' which contains instructions as to the hatching and rearing of the young birds, and if persons receiving eggs will follow these instructions they will no doubt be very successful in raising the birds."

Deaths And Births

County Health Officer Dr. C. C. Ward, of Crisfield, gives the following information of the births and deaths in Somerset county for the month of March:

Deaths..... 35

Births..... 58

The lawn mower made its appearance much earlier this year than is customary.

ATHLETIC MEET NEXT THURSDAY

All Schools Will be Closed and Teachers and Children Will be In Town

The annual athletic meet of Somerset county will be held in Princess Anne next Thursday, after recommending a program of domestic legislation sweeping in its extent, definitely rejecting the existing League of Nations, urged the adoption of a resolution ending the state of war and announcing that he would ask for the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, with "explicit reservations and modifications."

By order of the County Superintendent all schools of the county will be closed for the day, and all teachers, pupils and patrons are earnestly requested to attend this demonstration of a very vital phase of our public educational work.

There will be no parade. Addresses will be delivered in front of the Court House at 9 o'clock by Senator J. S. Robins, of Crisfield, and Dr. William Burdick. After which the assemblage will proceed to the High School grounds where the various ball games will be played. The athletic meet will be held on the grounds in the afternoon. The officials are:

Bill For Pensions For Ex-Presidents

A proposal that former Presidents be paid annual pensions of $10,000 was introduced in the Senate last Friday by Senator Calder, Republican, New York, and in the House by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri.

Another pension plan introduced in the House was that of Representative Ricketts, Republican, Ohio, providing from $6 to $14 a week for persons over 65 years of age with incomes not exceeding $10 a week, and who are attempting to earn a living if physically able to do so.

THE NEW MAID

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

Donald Sinclair picked up the magazine that had been left in the subway, idly. He had no special interest in it; it had merely been occupying the space where he wished to sit.

Back in his mind, but not so exaggerated a proportion as to mar his outlook, was the wish that he was going home to a well-regulated household, to a dinner nicely served in their own small dining room instead of one that his sister Jean had had to prepare after her own hard day's work. Both he and Jean detested having meals outside and Jean preferred coming home late from the office and preparing dinner rather than to trail out to a restaurant.

Their experience with housekeepers had been unsuccessful.

It was with a very grave delight then that Donald found the magazine he had picked up so idly to contain something that pointed the road to happiness. A letter of recommendation, apparently lost by its owner, was sticking between the pages of the magazine. It read:

"To whom it may concern: This is to state that Gladys Turner has been in my employ as general housekeeper for three years. She is an excellent cook, is strictly honest, neat, clean and a splendid manager. She is leaving my employ only because my son has fallen in love with her, and made it trying for her with his attentions. She has my highest recommendation."

The letter was signed and the telephone and address of the writer added.

Donald did not confide in Jean until his plans should be perfected.

The outcome was that Gladys Turner called at the office of Sinclair & Co. and was ushered in for an interview with Donald.

She was neatly dressed and very nicely spoken.

"My sister and I are out all day—my sister being the editor of a woman's magazine. I want very much to have you take entire charge of the house, planning meals and everything else that will leave my sister entirely free from worry. I will pay you $100 a month, and there is a very dainty room in our apartment for you. We are not in any way difficult people," he added with a rare smile.

Gladys Turner fidgeted in her chair and tried to speak easily, but her task was hard. Finally she found her voice.

"I-I have never worked in this way," she confessed. "That letter is part of a story I am writing, but—I am not too well fixed financially, and really am honest and a splendid cook and could manage your household very easily." She looked up at Donald, awaiting his verdict.

That she had quite taken away his breath was a self-evident fact.

"All I ask," she added a trifle wistfully, "is to be left alone to write when I am finished with your work."

"That seems little enough to ask," Donald said out of the maze of his thoughts.

So it happened that an evening later Jean arrived home after a weary day to find a daintily set table, a beautifully cooked meal and a neat girl in spotless apron ready to serve her and her brother in their own dining room.

Donald had sprung many happy surprises on his sister, but this crowned them all. It was like a dream come true.

"Are you quite, quite sure I will not awaken to have to run out and get a few chops, a baker's cake and some tinned vegetables for our dinner?" she questioned Donald.

"Not this time, sis. The way I got that girl would almost make a movie plot. I'll tell you all about it later."

And Gladys reached a splendid contentment in the home of the Sinclairs. She had hours of uninterrupted concentration, and her material was finding ready markets.

Donald began to feel terribly aggrieved that he was excluded from the long confabs held between Jean and Gladys.

Donald was pacing the floor in lone some wrath. He frowned darkly, then became as suddenly.

He strode into the hall and pounded on that closed door.

"Well—what's the idea?" asked Jean.

"Nothing, except that I am just damned lonesome. I want to go to the movies and no one will go with me."

Jean laughed. "We didn't hear ourselves being invited or even expressing a dislike for movies."

"Well," blurted Donald. "I didn't want Gladys to leave her position for the same reason as she left the other." He looked boyishly but very pleadingly at the two women he loved most on earth.

Gladys blushed hotly and Jean shot a swift glance at her brother.

She had known this was coming and hoped for its early settlement, but Donald's way was a bit unusual. She smiled up at him. Her eyes then lingered on the blushing girl who had risen to such splendid heights both as a woman and a writer.

There was a lovely glow in the girl's eyes as she looked up.

"I have not as yet been annoyed by Gladys," she said softly.

"The best of times now on," laughed Donald, and both women with a College Girls Bare Their Ears, Doff Nets

Norton, Mass. — Putting the hair at the ears will disappear at Whiston college if the campaign, just begun by the second year girls succeeds. Hair nets, too—but this for the sake of economy.

At dawn the rest of the student body was awakened by the sound of beating drums and blaring wind instruments to find the sophomores parading about the quadrangle, all wearing their hair "old style," and with their ears bared to the breeze, many pairs for the first time in months.

Banners explained that the campaign was twofold—for reform in hair dressing and economy in the interests of the endowment fund. Later the freshmen endorsed the latter purpose by hurling from the roof of the dormitory building an effigy of the slacker who does not do her bit for the fund.

HITCHES WIFE TO CULTIVATOR

She Sues for Divorce and Produces Predecessor to Support Charge.

Scranton, Pa.—That she was harnessed to a cultivator and forced to work for hours daily in the fields of their farm in the sweltering summer heat and that she was fed on dried crusts and "rutabagas" all last winter, was the story told in divorce court by Mrs. Edith May Wardell of Moscow, Pa., in her divorce action against Ambrose Wardell, a farmer.

She was married to Wardell four years ago, and is his third wife. The first Mrs. Wardell is dead and the second Mrs. Wardell obtained a divorce.

Court and spectators were given a big surprise when Attorney Frank E. Boyle, appearing for the libellant, called Mrs. Wardell No. 2, who testified that she was forced to obtain a divorce because Wardell also harnessed her to the cultivator and fed her food not fit for pigs.

G. W. Swarts, a neighbor of the Wardells, called as a witness, said that Wardell is known to the people of Moscow as "Bruiser."

250 ATTEND INDIAN SCHOOL

Representatives of 23 Tribes in Seven States Are Enrolled in Bacone University.

Muskogee, Okla.—Representatives of 23 Indian tribes in seven states have been enrolled in Bacone university at Muskogee this year.

In the roster are found lineal descendants of Geronimo, the war chief of the Apaches, and White Eagle, the most famous of Pawnee chiefs. Of the 250 students enrolled, 170 are full-blood Indians.

Bacone university is one of three Protestant Indian colleges in the country and the aims of its president, B. D. Weeks, is to raise the standard of Bacone to leadership of the three schools. The university was established in 1880 by Dr. A. C. Bacone. Two more dormitories and an administration building will be added this year at a cost of $220,000.

RELATES BURIAL OF WASHINGTON

Fake Ulster County Gazette Most Noted Newspaper Forgery of Country.

NO GENUINE COPY KNOWN

Library Officials Doubt If There Is Genuine Copy of Newspaper of That Date in Existence—Forgery Is Easily Proven.

Chicago. — Perennially and usually about this time copies of the most noted newspaper forgery of the country — the Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800, with its account of Washington's funeral—comes to light. The only other newspaper imitation of the kind that compares is the duplication of the Vicksburg Citizen, printed on wall paper during the siege in 1862.

"I doubt if there is a genuine copy of the Ulster County Gazette of that date in existence," Edward A. Henry, who is in charge of the University of Chicago's collection of old newspapers, said. "At any rate, I have never seen one, nor do I know of anybody who has."

"Wilberforce Eames of the New York public library told me half a dozen years ago that he had made the most careful examinations of copies of the Gazette submitted to him as genuine—even to chemical analysis of the paper—and had almost come to the conclusion that there never was an original."

26 Different Editions.

"At the Library of Congress I was told they had 26 different editions. The New York public library lists nine in its latest catalog. We have three, each different from the other."

"I suppose there was once a genuine Ulster County Gazette of the date named, from which all these subsequent copies have been made. The fact that the Wisconsin State Historical society, which has the largest collection of old newspapers in the Middle West, lists two copies of an Ulster Gazette for August 18 and September 23, 1804, strengthens this belief."

"The account of Washington's funeral is accurate and interesting. No fault can be found on that score, although I think reports of the funeral in other papers of the same time are in several instances still more straggling."

"It may have been that many years after the funeral some printer probably in the vicinity of New York, for Kingston, Ulster county, is on the Hudson, thought to produce something of interest to others and profit to himself by making a facsimile of an original account. Had he taken a New York paper, the duplication could have been instantly detected and perhaps for this reason the obscure Ulster county paper was made to serve."

Trick Went Well.

"The trick evidently went well, and perhaps it was this same printer that put out many of the subsequent editions. That is all supposition of course, but there is no doubt of the multitude of editions. Their genuineness only an expert can pass on in most cases. The test is the paper. Most of these copies were made before 1850, but not early enough to have used the fine linen rag paper of 1800. That soft paper will be good for many hundred years yet, while the earliest Ulster County Gazette we have is already badly discolored."

"Variations are found in the printing of the different editions of the same date. In two of our copies the name of the paper is set in italics; in the other it is not. The enterprising publisher of the newest of our forgeries added the word 'copyright.'"

Joined Church; Restored Bill Taken Years Before

A $5 bill, that had been carried for 25 years by a man to whom a Portland (Me.) merchant gave two bills instead of one in making change, was returned to the merchant a few days ago. The man explained that his conscience had troubled him so that he had feared to spend the money, and recently, when he had joined a church, he felt impelled to return it.

On his recovery from his injuries he was astonished to find the sight of his eye fully restored.

Vegetable Oils in China.

The Chinese, lacking an adequate supply of animal fats, turn to vegetable oils, which are their butter and lard. In their country, as well as in India, the "cake," or residue from the oil presses, is turned to valuable account as cattle feed. The oil enters into the manufacture of perfumes and drugs, and in Syria it is used in the preparation of a sweetmeat.

"Loadstone."

This magnetic oxide of iron, or loadstone, as it is called, was first found in Magnesia, in Asia Minor, the name magnet being derived from this circumstance. The name loadstone, which is applied to this natural magnet, was given on account of its being used when suspended as a guiding or leading stone, from the old Saxon word, "laeden," to lead. Loadstone or magnetic oxide of iron, is very abundant in nature, especially in Sweden and Norway, where it is worked as an iron ore and furnishes the best quality of iron. It is also found in Canada.

E. I. DU PONT DE NEMOURS & CO., Inc., NEW YORK

THE UNIVERSITY OF HUMANITY

Diplomas Awarded Men and Women Who Qualify in This Unique Institution.

The four training colleges in the United States, of which two are in Chicago and two in New York City, conducted by The Salvation Army, specializes in the science of art, of understanding and handling people.

Two of these in each city are devoted to the instruction of women.

In addition to the vast fund of general experience which the workers in the Salvation Army have acquired through a forty years apprenticeship at serving men and women in every possible phase and emergency of crime, sorrow and misfortune, it adds to its marvelous efficiency in handing down these traditions by giving to every man and woman who consecrates his and her life to this work, a university course of ten months intensive study.

Besides the evangelical side of this instruction, which prepares the student to conduct all kinds of meetings, they also must learn much of the training that pioneer missionaries need to maintain themselves in a variety of surroundings, establish a home, a meeting place or corps from which their activities will radiate and around which they will draw for all kinds of spiritual and temporal relief, the people of their community.

Officers who receive a commission in the Salvation Army must be skilled in saving men just as the officers of our military armies of the world are trained in destroying men. Their training for life of men-saving is just as complex and diversified. Indeed the men's training colleges of the Salvation Army have been called its "West Point."

Fully as comprehensive is the instruction given to the young women who register for this work. They must learn domestic science, sewing, nursing, as well as the religious side, for there is no demand made upon officers in this great army that is not met by them in the intelligent capable manner of the expert.

After the ten months in the college has been completed the young officer must serve a year's probationary training under some older officer. During that period he has regular monthly examinations which he must pass according to a required standard before he is ordained for service and commissioned and sent forth to establish his own field.

A day's program in a Salvation Army College is fully as rigorous and exacting as that of any military institution.

SLUM SETTLEMENTS

Like oases in the arid deserts, the Salvation Army Slum Settlements are planted in the hearts of the congested foreign population of the big cities.

In the eleven of these modern, fireproof, business-like structures more than 48,000 children were cared for last year in the United States. Crowded to the limit day and night, the demands upon them are always far beyond their resources.

The workers from these settlements visit thousands of poor families yearly, and become acquainted with their needs and their troubles. They know the utility of preaching religion to the starving and shivering, and they provide the bowl of soup and loaf of bread, the warm garment and the bit of medicine and nursing attention that is needed as the opening for their religious work.

Dressing like the poorest of their neighbors in gingham dress and apron, bare headed with a little shawl about their shoulders, these women who have dedicated their lives to the Master's service go forth with scrub pail, and brush and scrub floors, wash dishes, launder clothes, and preach, pray and help the weak, sick and sinful. The settlements have been called Light-houses on a Rocky Coast.

The most absorbing and truly altruistic part of their work is that of the nurseries. There the babies and wee toddlers of the community, under six years of age, are brought by the working mothers on their way to the shop factory. The little ones are tended, fed, bathed, amused, put to bed in snowy cribs for their naps—and given loving care—for five cents a day, if the mother can pay it. If she cannot, Baby gets the care anyway. One is never refused while there is room for it.

The nickel does not pay for the bread, butter, milk and soup served them at noon and at four o'clock, but the payment of it does help to restore self-respect to the mother.

Toys are provided, and the first lessons in cleanliness, decency, unselfishness and Americanism are inculcated in these little foreigners who will some day bear fruit in splendid citizenship. The slum workers also coax the bad boys and girls of the neighborhood into the Halls for Sunday School to keep them from the demoralizing influence of the streets.

They likewise conduct Mothers' meetings where with a cup of tea and cake, the hard worked women in the bright cheer of the uplifting service and attractive surroundings get inspiration and encouragement to try to better their condition.

BAPTISTS REPORT GAIN IN NUMBERS

IN LAST 14 YEARS THEY HAVE ADDED OVER MILLION MEM-BERS IN SOUTH.

WILL MEET IN CHATTANOOGA

Many Matters Related to Future Work Will Come Up for Consideration at the Annual Convention
May 12 to 18.

DR. E. Y. MULLINS
President Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Who is Touring South.

Following the close of the second year of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign April 30, several thousand messengers from the local churches are expected to assemble at Chattanooga, Tenn., for the seventy-sixth annual session of the Southern Baptist Convention. The Convention met in Chattanooga last in May, 1906, and during the interim there has been a marked growth in every department of the Convention's activities and in the numbers and work of the local churches as well. The total number of Baptists reported to the Convention in 1906 was 1,855,784, while last May, fourteen years later, when the body met in Washington, the total membership of the local churches as reported was 2,981,345, or a gain of 1,125,561. The returns for this year are not yet available, but inasmuch as it is known there were practically 175,000 additions to the local churches last year by baptism alone, there is every reason to believe the showing for 1921 will be even larger.

Growth Shown in All Lines.
At the same time there has been a marked increase in the membership of the churches, there has been a distinct advance in all departments of local and denominational work, it is set out. The total number of local churches has grown from 20,129 in 1906 to 25,303 in 1920; the total number of Sunday Schools from 11,332 to 17,488; and the number of Sunday School pupils from 857,244 to 1,835,936, an increase of more than 100 per cent. The value of local church property has mounted from $4,501,122 in 1906 to $74,278,728 in 1920, an increase of more than 1600 per cent, while contributions to missions and benevolences in 1906 were $1,501,396.67, as compared to $7,331,266.55 in 1920, an advance of practically 500 per cent. Fourteen years ago the contributions to all purposes in a year were $6,941,234.44, as against $21,327,446.67 for 1920.

Next Meeting Important.
The approaching session of the Convention is regarded as vitally important to the future of the denomination's work. It is hoped that by the Convention two-fifths of all subscriptions to the 75 Million Campaign will have been paid in cash and that the program for the completion of the remainder of the campaign task can be formulated at this time. Dr. J. B. Gambrell, president of the Convention, and Dr. E. Y. Mullins, who recently completed a tour of Europe, where they carried fraternal greetings to the Baptists of that continent, will give their impressions of Baptist opportunity in that country, while Dr. George W. Truett and Dr. J. F. Love, who represented the Foreign Mission Board at the London Conference last summer when the mission fields of Europe were considered, will tell of the new territory of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania and Southern Russia, which Southern Baptists are asked to occupy. This territory is as large as the Southern States and has a population of 125,000,000.

All the boards of the Convention will report the largest year's accomplishments in their history, the Home Mission Board being scheduled to report the completion of its million dollar loan fund for church building, in addition to the aiding of a thousand churches during the year with gifts and loans for the erection of new houses of worship. The Sunday School Board will report more than $1,000,000 in sales for the year and with collections as well as sales better than at any previous time in its history.

Cleanse the Mouth.
Canned tomatoes and fruit juices are splendid stimulants to the mucous membrane and salivary glands of the mouth, and the former is also a notable antiscorbutic when swallowed. Vinegar, produced from either wine or cider, when well diluted with water, is an excellent mouth and teeth cleaner. Tooth pastes and dentifrices are not as popular in Italy, Spain and France as in the United States, wine being preferred as a mouth lavage.

An Irish Will.
The will of one Henry Green, dated December 22, 1879, "as recorded gave to his sister, Catharine Green, all his lands, and after her decease to others in trust, upon condition that she should give four green waistcoats to four poor women in a green old age every year, such green waistcoats to be liked with green gallow lace and to be delivered to the poor women on December 21 so that they might be worn on Christmas day."

Beginning of Modern Menageries.
The ancient Romans and Greeks kept in captivity leopards, lions, bears, elephants, giraffes, camels, rhinoceroses, antelopes, ostriches and crocodiles, held for slaughter at the gladiatorial shows. It is from the great feudal magnates and royal persons who frequently kept menageries of wild animals, aquaria and aviaries that the modern public gardens have their origin.

"Dacoits."
The word "dacoit" refers to bands of robbers in India. They are a national type of bandits resembling the brigands of Sicily and Greece. They were driven out of Hindustan by the British government, but are now active in Burma. In British-Indian law the term implies the conspiracy of five or more men to engage in any form of theft.

Wood Averts Evil.
There are numerous curious or superstitious beliefs regarding fragrant woods, says the American Forestry Magazine. The Burmese have a superstition that beams of balances should be made of the Thitman or prince of woods (Podocarpus neriifolia), while a peg of it driven into a house post or boat will avert evil.

To Clean Fur.
Take a stiff bristled hair brush and wash. When thoroughly dry cover with absorbent cotton. Brush the fur gently, but firmly, always going the way the fur lies. If the cotton becomes soiled put another piece on. When finished, shake the fur well to make it stand up.

GIRLS OF WHOM TO BEWARE

Japanese "Widowed Physician" Hands Out Some Words of Caution to Susceptible Male Sex.

In "What to Tell Our Grown-Up Sons About Women," a pamphleteer who calls himself "The Widowed Physician," has made a list of the things he dislikes in girls. He admits that he deals with "objectionable characteristics," but disarms the criticism that he fails to indicate positive virtues by saying that "the nice youth needs no qualities of the opposite sex." "The Widowed Physician" sums up his ideas in a few brief warnings, as follows, the Japan Advertiser states:

Beware of the girls who manœuvre their nails to the shape of a claw. I do not know why, but beware of them.
Beware of girls who prefer to dress in purple or scarlet colors.
Beware of girls who are heavily scented.

Beware of the girl who is too obviously modest and demure. She doth protest too much.

Beware of the girl with low, sloping forehead and dry, straight, coarse, jute-like hair. Any experienced magistrate will tell you that this type of woman frequently summons her husband for assault and battery.

Beware of the intensely religious girl. She does not mean to be dangerous, but the fact that she is so devotional indicates that she possesses an unbalanced temperament.

Beware of the girl who slides up to you, or lays hands on you; or comes so close to you as to lead you readily to lay hands on her.

Specially beware of "married women" of reputed responsibility, whom you have formerly had every reason to believe in and respect, when these same women, by acts obvious or guarded, show you that they would not object to your being more intimate with them than you know in your own conscience you ought to be.

Beware of the mothers who are anxious as to the future of their daughters.

Beware of the girl who drinks wines freely; she will make a poor wife and a worse mother.

Beware of the girl who dresses in a slovenly, artistic manner.

The "Widowed Physician" recommends two types—the tomboy and the "pert, modern, self-sufficient learned young woman." He adds: "She would sharpen your wits every time."

"THE INDUSTRIAL HOME"

The Industrial Home turns waste into wealth; both waste material and waste men. Its work, therefore, is absolutely of economic and social value. The man without work and without home, applying for help, is given nothing gratuitously unless from hunger or illness he is manifestly unable to work. If he is able to work there is a variety of labor ready for him through which he may find a home, friends, clothing, food, sympathy, love and a modest remuneration. He may be placed upon a wagon and set to collecting discarded material from the homes of the city. If he be a tailor, cabinetmaker, painter, or a shoemaker, there is employment in the repairing of used clothing, furniture, stoves, shoes and so on.

A list of articles received is most amazing and instructive: Paper, rags, twine, clothing, shoes, metals, bottles, kitchen utensils, bedroom, kitchen, parlor and office furniture, crockery, glassware, clocks, carpets, books, magazines, pictures, cutlery, stoves, pianos, umbrellas, pillows, antiques, hats, ribbons, artificial flowers, lamps, sewing machines, phonographs, jewelry, among usual and common things; but we have also received such uncommon and special articles as invalid's chairs, crutches, artificial teeth, limbs, eyes and hair, which may also be turned into cash.

Your old newspapers, magazines, clothes, furniture, etc., have provided in a year 3,163,878 meals; 1,063,608 beds and cash paid to the otherwise unemployed in exchange for the labor of collecting, sorting, repairing and distributing this material.

If the man possesses no special skill there is, beside the collecting of the used material, the sorting and baling of paper and rags, the care of the horses and the wagons, and the janitorial labors open to him.

In the big cities the Salvation Army places all of the repaired clothing in its storerooms and daily conducts auctions, while regular sales go on at all times. Here whole families are outfitted with hats, coats, shoes, as well as furniture, at a trifling cost.

It is the boast of the Salvation Army officers that a wedding can be conducted and housekeeping necessities furnished for ten dollars ($10.00) by patronizing the Salvation Army salesrooms.

IN PLEA FOR NEGLECTED MEN

Three Thousand Veterans From Legion Ranks Are Explaining Situation to American People.

Three thousand volunteer speakers from the ranks of the American Legion in every state are now carrying by word-of-mouth to the American people the Legion's story of the "suffering, shameful neglect and injustice" in the government's administration of the nation's debt to the disabled, which was contained in the formal memorial which the Legion has presented to President Wilson, President-elect Harding, and to all members of congress. Probably never before in the history of the country has such an army of orators been mobilized to speak at the same time upon a single text.

The Legion aims to present to the people of the United States the facts regarding the disabled in the same language as they were presented to the officials of the government. The Legion's memorial was carried to the President at the White House by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the Legion National Legislative committee. National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr., gave it to Senator Harding at Marion, where he had a long and important conference on the disabled situation with the next President.

The Legion denounces the present method of caring for the disabled as a "failure" which only can be remedied by the entire reconstruction of the federal machinery dealing with the problem.

The functions of the three agencies, which deal with the problems of the disabled, the bureau of war risk insurance, the federal board for vocational education, and the United States public health service, "must be co-ordinated, their machinery decentralized and all three placed under common control," the memorial states.

As an equally essential remedy for existing conditions, the memorial urges the immediate appropriation for the use of the unified organization of a sum ample to build or rent a sufficient number of hospitals to take care of the 16,900 ex-service men who are unable to receive treatment at present because of lack of beds and shelter.

The "failure" of the government to afford justice to the sick and wounded veterans is attributed by the Legion to "an astonishing state of divided responsibility and wasted effort among the government agencies with which the problem rests."

The break in the chain of responsibility occurs, according to the memorial, as a result of the fact that the war risk bureau is under and responsible to an assistant secretary of the treasury, an officer of the executive branch of the government, while the federal board for vocational education is responsible only to congress, and is under none of the executive departments of the government.

The memorial asserts that the United States has been more liberal than any other nation in its provisions for the disabled soldiers, but that it has failed in large measure to make these provisions available in spite of the benefit of the experience of other nations in the recent war and the experience of this nation in previous wars.

"In the re-habilitation of a disabled man there are three needs—medical treatment, vocational training and financial support," the memorial states. "The government has recognized the three needs, but overlooks the fact that they are the simultaneous needs of one man, not of three different men or of one man at three different times. It makes three problems out of what really is one problem."

"Continuing this faulty conception, it has given the problem over to three agencies. All, by force of circumstances, are exercising functions they were not intended to exercise. This presents an amazing spectacle of administrative chaos, duplication, wasted energy and conflict, which is the key to the present condition."

"The result is the suffering of the disabled veterans. Thousands are waiting and have waited for months for compensation for their injuries. Thousands have waited for months for an opportunity to re-establish themselves as self-sustaining members of society by vocational training. Thousands are in need of hospitalization, and the government has no hospital facilities available for them. Of the 20,000 now in hospitals, 4,500 are quartered in institutions unsuited to the needs of the men quartered there. New hospital cases are developing at the rate of 1,500 a month in excess of the number discharged. Sixteen thousand beds are needed now. Hundreds of veterans are the object of public and private charity. Afflicted and penniless veterans have been driven to refuge in almshouses and jails. Many have died, and if immediate relief is not forthcoming, more will die destitute, without proper medical care, without compensation with which to obtain it, abandoned by the country they served. All this is attributable directly to the manner in which the government has administered the affairs of the disabled.

"The bureau of war risk insurance is responsible for the payment of compensation and for medical and hospital care of the man. Logically, this would involve establishing contact with the men at the time of their discharge from the military or naval service. It should then determine the existence and degree of disability and compensation on this basis.

"Due to the centralization of the bureau's forces in Washington, it is practically impossible under the present law to establish contact with the man entitled to these benefits. The disabled man is placed in the position of a man injured in industry who must sue the company. He must carry on an involved and technical correspondence. It is usually months after he is dropped from the pay roll of the army or navy before he is taken upon the pay roll of the bureau, even though his service discharge shows a definite degree of disability. On November 28, 1920, 88,000 cases were pending in the bureau awaiting definite adjustment of compensation. Thousands are suffering and many have died as a result of this neglect.

"The federal board for vocational training will accept the evidence of the bureau's medical files granting compensation as proof that a man is entitled to vocational training. The bureau, however, will not accept the evidence that the board has awarded training as proof that a man is entitled to compensation.

"If the veteran is receiving compensation and wants training, usually he must take another physical examination, administered by the board to determine whether the claimant has a vocational handicap entitling him to training pay, or merely a compensable disability granting him training only. If the veteran is not receiving compensation, due to delay by the bureau, he must be examined by the board, to determine his eligibility for training, as well.

"When a man enters training with training pay, his compensation stops and he is shifted from the pay roll of the bureau to the pay roll of the board. The board, which was created as a training agency only, has become a compensating agency as well. Many men have been kept on the pay roll of the board, not as a training measure solely, but as a measure of financial relief which they were entitled to, but unable to obtain from the bureau.

"When a man is dropped from training he is supposed to be dropped from the pay roll of the board and taken up by the bureau. On both shifts there is delay. The average length of time for a man to be dropped from the bureau pay roll and taken up on the board pay roll is about three weeks. The average time required for the second shift back to the bureau pay roll is two months. No provision is made for the man's maintenance during these interims. In the majority of cases a man must undergo a new physical examination before the bureau will again pay him compensation. In other words, he must again prove his claim.

"The position of the United States public health service is peculiar. It took its place in the re-habilitation scheme poorly equipped for the work it was to perform, but was apparently the best medical governmental agency then available. It acts as an agent both of the bureau and the board, but is responsible to no authority common to both board and bureau, because there is no such authority.

"In view of this condition the remarkable thing about the present re-habilitation program is that it has accomplished what little it has. Such progress as has been made is a tribute to the sincerity of the men in the bureau, the board and the public health service who generally have made the best of an impossible situation.

"The best of this impossible situation, however, has been insufficient always. This is particularly true regarding hospitalization.

"Of the 20,000 men now in hospitals, 4,500 are in institutions which are unfit because suitable hospital facilities are not available."

"The Legion avers that 16,900 beds are needed at once. Of this number, 1,500 are necessary for transfer of tubercular patients from present unsatisfactory hospitals, and 8,000 for transfer of neuro-psychiatric patients from the inadequate lodgings which they occupy now. The number of tubercular cases in need of immediate hospitalization is estimated to be 6,500 and the neuro-psychiatric cases, at 5,000. Beds are also required for about 900 general, medical and surgical cases.

The statistics above are based on statements from the following sources: Public health service, Dr. Thomas W. Salmon of New York, medical director national committee for mental hygiene; bureau of war risk insurance, Dr. T. Victor Keene of Indianapolis, member, American Legion hospitalization committee.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1921

No hip pockets on bathing suits this summer. Not much room for them anyway.

The folks who maintain uncovered garbage pails will later be kicking terribly about the plague of flies.

Nowadays when people won't work it is called "spring fever," but formerly they called it plain laziness.

The only signs of improvement noted in some places is that some of the old fogies die off from time to time.

Being urged to decorate their back yards some people in this town are piling up heaps of bright colored tin cans.

The elderly girls who put the bloom of youth on their faded cheeks may get run in under the misleading advertising law.

Many business people are bothered by "overhead expenses," but the trouble with some of them is too much swelled head.

A careful observer in Princess Anne says that the girl with the scrawniest neck usually calls for the lowest cut waist.

The folks who are trying to get 48 hours pay for 40 hours work are likely to get six days food for seven days meals.

The landlady sometimes tells the boarders to shut their eyes and put it down, but sometimes they need also to close their noses.

Formerly prices of ice went up on account of business inflation, and this year they'll probably go up on account of the warm winter.

After denouncing the railroads for the extravagance that has boosted the freight rates all of places are demanding fancy brick passenger stations.

The United States government has issued a bulletin advising the people to eat onions. Now it should get out another telling how to sweeten their breath.

People desiring fame find it hard to get elected to Congress, but frequently they can get their pictures in the paper by giving a testimonial to a patent medicine.

Only $1500 out of the $50,000 appropriated by Congress for the Harding inaugural was spent by the committee. Yet the inauguration is considered just as binding as if the whole amount had been used.

The desire expressed by President Harding to have the Governors of the various States issue proclamations for what is called a forest preservation week in May will, it must be assumed, be cordially complied with. It admits of no doubt that the subject has become of urgent importance to the American people.

HOME INDUSTRIES

In the old-fashioned home a wide variety of industries was carried on. Back in pioneer days women wove their own cloth. Then when textile machinery was perfected the home folks bought the material for clothing and made their own garments. Some of the men made their own shoes or cobbled them. Everybody had a garden and a great many people kept chickens. Many people even in good-sized towns, would keep a cow. The children helped in the general work and contributed to the family resources. These industries ways built up American prosperity.

During the recent years the father of the family was supposed to earn enough in an eight-hour day so that neither he nor any of the family need carry on any other productive work. Vegetables could be bought at the grocery store, paying costs and profits to a long string of dealers and workers. All clothing could be bought ready-made and the housewife need do but little sewing. If the children wish to work they can have the use of their own money and spend it for candy and treats. It is considered no use to bother with poultry or gardens.

Modern machinery and efficiency systems have made it possible for people to get more of the comforts of life and to cut down hours of labor. But there are limits to that tendency. It is a costly way to live and the outcome of such habits is a high level of prices. People have to be paid enough so they can live in this extravagant way. Then when prices are boosted up to this high level there is not capital enough in the country to do business on the inflated basis, high rates of interest result and a halt has to be called on business.

When production falls off through such changes, prices of commodities get so high that people can't afford to buy as much, and industrial depression results, as has recently happened. Economic prosperity has not yet reached the point where all the old thrifty habits of the pioneer are being forgotten.

FACTORY GARDENS

Employees of the Frick Coke Company, of Connellyville, Pa., last year raised $320,000 in garden stuffs. The company furnishes the garden plots with each of the houses occupied by its workers, and in addition leased 354 plots to employees. There were 7964 families engaged in this enterprise.

It cost the company a little less than $20,000 to promote this plan. It must have paid many times over in the better physical condition and contentment of the workers. The man who is hoeing in his garden is going to reduce much the cost of his living and his mind is occupied otherwise than in listening to the false philosophy of agitators.

THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY AND WAR

The socialists who lay all the troubles of the human race on employers of labor and on those who have acquired wealth, claim that the capitalists create wars. They say that men of wealth promote armed conflict because it creates high prices and a demand for their goods.

Business men fear war above all others. Wars tend to unsettle confidence, to create business panics, to bring about commercial failures. They involve heavy taxation in which the accumulations of capital are bit very hard.

The business community is proverbially timid in its fear of change. War is the most changeful thing that human passion ever introduced on this planet. Business suffers from war because war impoverishes the people and business thrives only when the people are prosperous. The socialists should invent some new fairy tale as this one is played out.

A PERIOD OF FRUGALITY

"Buyers all over the country refuse to buy women's dresses when they are quoted at more than $30.00 by the manufacturers" was the report at the recent convention of the Manufacturers' and Importers' Association at Chicago. Frugality is the watchword this year. The time when you could sell goods by marking up the price is not likely to recur.

It is the tendency of human nature to rush from one extreme to another. When a year ago, people were spending money with blind and stupid lack of forethought, today some of them are more economical than is necessary. All these tendencies pass and business is fast returning to a normal basis.

What the people want now is plain and substantial goods at a moderate price. They have got beyond the point where they feel they must have the most costly grades. The merchants of this town long ago sized up this attitude. They are showing up new lines in which inexpensive styles are the most prominent.

POULTRY AND DISORDER

Economy experts tell us to keep hens, but many residents of towns decline to do so for fear of getting disorderly back yards. It must be admitted that old mother hen does not usually contribute much to realize the town beautiful idea. She does not comprehend that her fluffy plumage looks far better on her own back than when scattered over the ground. Also she regards green grass as a kind of weed to be thoroughly eradicated.

Yet some people can keep poultry with an air of style. They are not too tired to use the paint brush. Who could expect that a hen kept in a weather-beaten old coop would feel cheerful enough to lay any eggs? A touch of bright paint might relieve her depression that she would go to work with some industry. And when you take a flock of chickens, all one breed and color, they have the smart aspect that goes with any kind of regular uniformity. Perhaps the speckled hen's principles of order have been contaminated by too long and intimate association with the human race.

A Farmer Cured Of Rheumatism

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayder, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'"

156 LIVING DESCENDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lawson, living at Andalusia, Ala., have 156 living descendents. They have nine children, 64 grandchildren and 83 great grandchildren. How would you like to have a family like that? Years ago such a tribe of people would not be unusual.

What is the matter with modern life that such families have become very rare? Prudence has something to do with it. Most people do not see how they can support large families. But in these times most people could not raise them if they wanted to. The old timers lived vigorous lives in the oxygen of all outdoors. Never yet was a prolific race bred in furnace-heated houses with air tight windows.

MATRIMONIAL ADVERTISING

Many men and women are said to be advertising for wives and husbands and getting thousands of replies. This may suggest the value of advertising. But most newspaper men would rather see their home folks find their mates in some way differing from that of securing cooks and chore boys.

Many people who live in congested cities and move from place to place frequently, will marry a chance acquaintance whose character seems quite different after the fatal knot is tied.

It is one of the blessings of such a place as Princess Anne that it has plenty of social organizations where the stranger can make friends. In these circles the young man has a chance to see a good deal of wholesome and desirable girls before he is compelled to make up his mind. If he or the girl is fooled by camouflage it is their own fault.

The Road To Happiness

You must keep well if you wish to be happy. When constipated take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. They cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

"Hardly gets a chance to read it," was the reply. "Ma sees the R. F. D. carrier first, an' she grabs it." And when I think of the good things for women that this great service weekly prints, I really can't blame her.

Just for instance, take next week's issue: Maids Johnson's big series on canning that we have all been looking forward to begins next week—early enough to help with the first fruits and vegetables. And John R. McMahon has a jimmidy article on modernizing the farm home. The rest of the issue is just as good—articles on the Federal Land Banks, the rice situation, increasing consumer demand, water transportation, cooperative marketing, poultry, bee keeping, pure-bred livestock. Miss Amanda Lankford spent a few days last week in Onancock, Va., the guest of Miss Virginia Hopkins.

Mr. Ashton Tull, formerly of Tull's Corner, but now of Baltimore, is visiting relatives at Marion Station.

Mr. Frank Greenwood, of Glen Mills, Delaware county, Pa., after spending several days in Princess Anne last week looking after his family interests, returned to his home last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. H. S. Royce left last Thursday for her home in Auburnville, near Boston, Mass. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. S. Frank Dashiell, who will spend some weeks at her daughter's home.

The County Board of Education give notice to contractors, by advertisement in another column, that they will receive bids at their meeting on May 17th, for the erection of a new school building at Mt. Vernon.

A beautiful young girl she married a rich old man—for love. But the world sneered and said, "She's after his money." Then came a younger man into her life, seeming to confirm the sneer. What happened then? See "The World and His Wife" at the Auditorium tonight.

The Middle Convocation, Diocese of Eastern, met in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, St. Michael's, yesterday (Monday) and will conclude its session tonight. The Rev. Walter Archibald, D. D., rector of Somerset Parish, is attending the convocation and will deliver an address tonight in the interest of diocesan missions.

Mrs. Mary Leach, of New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Colborn, Sr.

Beginning next Saturday the Princess Anne Public Library will be opened at 4 o'clock and will be closed at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. George D. Taylor and little daughter, Frances, after a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. J. S. Bradley, at Westover, have returned to Tasley, Va.

Next Saturday afternoon Mr. Harry T. Phoebus will offer for sale, at his stables in Princess Anne, 15 horses and mules and 15 young cows and heifers. See advertisement on the 4th page.

Last (Monday) night the Boy Scouts held a dance in their hall in the Cohn building and will continue holding them every other Monday night for some time. The next dance will be held May 2d. Admission 75 cents a couple.

Those who desire to witness a total eclipse of the moon must keep watch on the night of April 21, for they will not have another opportunity for fifty or sixty years. The earth will be between the sun and moon at that time, causing a partial shadow about 11 p. m., and a full shadow an hour and a half later.

At the Girls' Federated Club meeting on Saturday, April 9th, a splendid gift of twelve choice books for the girls' library was given by Mrs. C. E. Barnett, of Somerset county. At present the library consists of 24 books and five magazines. Thanks to Dr. Tull and Mrs. Barnett.

Rev. George E. Sterling, with his wife and two children, spent last Thursday at the home of his mother, Mrs. A. P. Mills. He was on his way from Fairmount to Galena, Md., where he has been assigned. Mr. Sterling was pastor of the M. E. Church at Fairmount for two years, where he made many warm friends who were loath to see him go.

Thursday night Shirley Mason will be the attraction at the Auditorium in her latest Fox production, "Girl of My Heart." Miss Mason portrays the part of a nameless little waif who runs away from an orphanage and after many vicissitudes finds happiness with a young Southerner into whose hopeless life she brings new sunshine. Raymond McKee is seen as the young Southerner.

The Shoreland Club met at the home of Mrs. H. C. Robertson last Thursday afternoon. The following members were present: Mrs. W. A. N. Bowland, Mrs. Frank M. Cline, Mrs. H. F. Lankford, Mrs. Earle B. Polk, Mrs. J. A. Powell, Mrs. J. G. Scott, Mrs. Charles Fitzgerald, Mrs. R. P. Thompson and Miss Berenice Thompson. Mrs. Walter, of Maryland, was the guest of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Irving Jones, accompanied by the Hon. A. W. Brumbaugh, of Greensborough, Md., on their way to Pocomoke City, stopped in Princess Anne last Tuesday for a short stay with Mr. Jones' brother, Mr. Frank C. Jones. Mr. Brumbaugh, who is one of the leading merchants in his home town, spoke in complimentary terms of the appearance of our stores and the class of goods carried by our merchants.

A meeting in the interest of the Princess Anne Public Library was held at the home of Mrs. Earle B. Polk last Friday evening. The attendance was very good and quite a bit of enthusiasm was displayed. Plans were made to increase the annual membership of the library and various committees were formed. Another meeting will be held at the same place on Friday evening, April 29th, to report what progress has been made.

Among the visiting attorneys who attended court in Princess Anne last week were: Messrs. L. Claud Bailey, Amos W. W. Woodcock, James E. Ellegood, Alexander M. Jackson, F. Leonard Wailes, Harry Freney, Hooper S. Miles, Taylor & Taylor, of Salisbury; Charles O. Melvin, L. Paul Ewell, Godfrey Child, Staton & Whaley, of Worcester county; Curtis O. Tyson, of Baltimore; James Anderson, of Philadelphia, and William J. Rickard, of Denton, Md.

Notice that on May 1 the Pennsylvania Railroad will abolish its present ten cent rebate system for cash fares paid on trains and will substitute a five-cent penalty, has been posted. Accompanying the notice was a statement that the company estimated that more than four million cash fares were paid last year and that the practice delays conductors. The new plan will not affect passengers boarding trains at non-agency stations or where the ticket offices are closed.

Mrs. Sudler, wife of Mr. Albert Sudler, of near Westover, died at the home of her son, Dr. Mervin Sudler, in Lawrence, Kansas, on Friday of last week, aged about 65 years. Mrs. Sudler had been in ill health for some time and last fall she and Mr. Sudler went to spend the winter with their son, hoping the change would improve her health. Her remains will be brought to Westover on the afternoon train today (Tuesday) and funeral services will be held in Salem M. P. Church at Manokin. Interment will be made in the cemetery adjoining.

Flour Takes A Drop

For the first time in almost seven years flour sold under $8 a barrel at the mills in Minneapolis, Minn., last Thursday. One large mill reduced its quotation for family patents from $8.20 to $7.90. Not since July, 1914, local millers said, has flour been quoted under $8 a barrel. Today's range for family patents was $7.90 to $8.15 when sold in carload lots in 98-pound cotton sacks. Bran, selling for $15 a ton, was lower than it has been for about ten years, the grain men said.

Indigestion And Constipation

Preventative Medicine

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle. (Advertisement.)

NOT TURNED BY $720,000 LEGACY

Indiana Second-Hand Furniture Dealer Is Happy Without Immense Fortune.

NEAR TO SLICE OF "PHILLY"

Through Death of Grandfather He Inherits Share of $6,500,000 Estate—Long-Term Lease Expires.

Chicago.—J. S. Polk, a second-hand furniture dealer at 4718 Olcott avenue, East Chicago, is figuring out what he will do with his share of a $6,500,000 Philadelphia estate which he has been informed has come to him through the death of a grandfather he never heard of.

His first conclusion concerning the disposition of this wealth is that he will give most of it away. He expects his share will be $722,222. He has no scruples against accepting the money and no particular theories about reforming the world with it.

"We couldn't be any happier, friend, but we will be able to make others happy," he said, as he dusted off the old furniture and listened to the voices of four children in play.

Polk is nearly 60 years old and has Mrs. Polk and the four children to consider, so there is no telling what will happen to the money, if it comes. His story is that recently he received a telegram as follows:

"Sir: You have come into property in Philadelphia through the will of Thomas Bennett of New York. I am empowered to offer you $200,000."

"T. A. Ross, Attorney, Philadelphia."

Polk wired Ross to call on him. Ross came. He offered to settle for $200,000 finally, after Polk had refused other offers. The $200,000 offer also was refused.

"The real estate left by my grandfather is located in the heart of Philadelphia," said Mr. Polk. "I understand I am one of nine heirs. The others, most of them, live in Milwaukee. We met up there about two weeks ago and decided the best thing we can do will be to await developments."

Ninety-Nine Year Lease Expires. "As I understand it, my grandfather holds the land, which was leased to the city of Philadelphia for 99 years. The lease expires July 30, 1924. We have been unable to locate Mr. Ross lately, but I suppose he is somewhere in Philadelphia."

Mr. Polk added that he will be patient until the "lease expires," then "see what's what."

"And I didn't even know I had a grandfather," ruminated Mr. Polk. "What'll I do with the money when I get it? Well, I'll give away about $100,000 to the Salvation Army. Then Mary and the kids and I will have a good time. We're going to play Andy and Min Gump, and call this money Uncle Ben."

Inquiry in Philadelphia failed to discover Attorney T. A. Ross. Other attorneys of the name of Ross are in practice there, but none knew about the legacy to Polk in the heart of Philadelphia's business district.

SEEK POTATO WART REMEDY

Government Agricultural Experts May Yet Have to Invoke Rites of Mysticism.

Washington.—Mystic rites of childhood for wart removal, involving shivering midnight visits to lonesome, spook-infested grave yards, the use of a rabbit's left hind foot, with proper incantations and the like may yet be necessary to chase warts off potatoes.

At least the department of agriculture has not so far found other means to do the job. Its official witches have steamed, boiled, dosed and otherwise assailed the wart with inconclusive results, according to a report just published. They have not given up, however and still hope to eradicate the plant disease from the country.

Potato wart infection is now limited to a small area in Pennsylvania, due to a 1912 importation of "spuds" which later proved to be undesirable aliens. The experts have tried all sorts of chemical treatment of the soil, and even steamed the ground before planting, but without complete success.

Bear Burned Hair.

Stone, Pa.—A bear shot on the top of the mountain range at Tadashton Gorge rolled down the mountain side nearly 700 feet and landed at the feet of the hunter, who had fired at it from the bottom of Pine Creek Valley. The side of the mountain is so steep that few men have been able to scale it, and the bear rolled down so fast that its hair was burned from its skin in many places.

Teacher Kills Huge Bear.

Chico, Cal.—A flirtatiously inclined cinnamon bear failed to make a hit when he paraded around the little "red school house" of Selad Valley, Shasta county, presided over by Schoolmarm Gladys Westlein, nineteen years of age. Miss Westlein organized a hunting party, traced Bruin to his lair and killed him with a shot from her rifle. Now Bruin graces the door of Miss Westlein's home here as a handsome rug.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists.

Doctrine of Reincarnation.
The doctrine of a previous existence being made manifest to the individual is very old, and certain sects, especially in the Far East, believe that man experiences many incarnations, carrying the memory to a greater or less degree from one incarnation to the other. Theological writers have taken up this strange state of feeling as an evidence that our mentality had an existence before our present bodily life—souls being created from the beginning.

Change of Trade.
Some years ago a cotton man inquired at a large bank regarding his note, which the bank held for a sizable amount. "Yes," remarked an officer, "it falls due tomorrow, and we expect it will be paid." The cotton man made no reply for a moment, then asked abruptly, "What is your business?" "Why, I am a banker," mused the cotton man, "tomorrow you are going to be a cotton merchant."—New York Times.

The Yodeling of the Swiss.
Yodeling is a peculiar manner of singing by using the falsetto voice in harmonic progressions; with sudden and unexpected changes to notes of the chest register. It exists chiefly among the Tyrolese and Swiss mountaineers.

A Nation-Wide Employment Bureau

With the return of the discharged soldier from overseas the problems of employment, unemployment and proper employment rose to paramount importance, where they have remained ever since. All organizations that were at all qualified to cope with the problems lent every effort, but none of them worked more effectively than the Salvation Army.

It was not a new work for the Salvation Army, merely an old job enlarged and broadened. For many years through many an unemployment crisis the organization has successfully conducted what is probably one of the most efficient interstate employment agencies with branches in every large city throughout the length and breadth of the land.

During the last year The Salvation Army found employment for 65,000 men and women. The positions found ranged anywhere from the lowest positions of unskilled labor to the most highly specialized professional work with, of course, a great preponderance toward the former, for in employment as in everything else the primary object of The Salvation Army is to help those who cannot help themselves.

Nor does the work of The Salvation Army stop with fitting the job to the man. It makes the man fit the job as well. Those who apply for work shabby and down at the heel are given good clothing and neat shoes in order that they may apply for the positions to which the Army sends them with no physical handicaps. Scores of soldiers discharged from the army with little or no money have found a warm friend; financial aid and a free suit of civilian clothes in The Salvation Army Employment Bureau.

Leprosy Not Fully Understood.
Leprosy is still somewhat of a puzzle to medical science, and the means by which it is spread has never been satisfactorily determined. The housefly is suspected of occasional agency in the matter, but the case against that insect has never been proved. In a considerable majority of cases studied personal contact with lepers seemed unquestionably to be accountable for the infection.

Tired

"I was weak and run-down," relates Mrs. Eula Burnett, of Dalton, Ga. "I was thin and just felt tired, all the time. I didn't rest well. I wasn't ever hungry. I knew, by this, I needed a tonic, and as there is none better than—"

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"... I began using Cardui," continues Mrs. Burnett. "After my first bottle, I slept better and ate better. I took four bottles. Now I'm well, feel just fine, eat and sleep, my skin is clear and I have gained and sure feel that Cardui is the best tonic ever made."

Thousands of other women have found Cardui just as Mrs. Burnett did. It should help you.

THE PORT OF MISSING FRIENDS

World-Wide Bureau Locates Lost, Strayed or Stolen Human Beings.

The Salvation Army conducts the most extensive detective bureau in the world. The chain of branches from which the search goes forth reaches around the world and extends, even to the leper colonies in Java and the criminal tribes of India. In seventy countries and colonies and over 7,000 cities, towns and villages throughout the world it has trained workers seeking those who have disappeared.

In the United States 1,900 inquiries for missing persons came into the Salvation Army last year. Out of this number The Salvation Army was successful in restoring over fifty per cent, or nearly 1,000 of the delinquents to their homes and families. Husbands and wives were reunited; lost, strayed or stolen children were restored to their parents and relatives, many of whom had come to America and forgotten to write home for several years, were finally rejoined through the efforts of The Salvation Army.

In Baltimore not long ago, a young girl disappeared from her home. Her parents kept a small shop and after all of their frantic efforts to locate her failed, they applied to the Salvation Army. Its Missing Friends Bureau began operations and after eleven months of absence that girl was restored to her people.

Lured away on a promise of marriage and a wonderful wedding journey, she was taken aboard a ship bound for South America, and was discovered only when that ship docked at a port in Argentina. There the girl was taken from the man, who, needless to say, had not married her, and ill, destitute and wretched she was cared for by the Salvationists and later, when able to travel, was sent home to her people to begin life again.

The methods used by the Salvation Army to find these delinquents are many and varied. Sometimes an advertisement inserted in the War Cry, the Salvation Army's Weekly publication issued in most countries of the world, brings an old friend, a former employer or an old letter. Sometimes it takes years of painful searching, but more times than not the search has a happy and successful ending.

Two weeks ago a girl in Baltimore attempted suicide. One hundred and fifty people called at the hospital to inquire about her, thinking she might prove to be a missing daughter, wife or sister.

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

Among the activities of the Salvation Army not generally known, though of vital importance, are the Children's Homes.

Throughout the world, there are 37 of these accommodating about 4,000 children orphaned or dependent.

In the United States, there are five, and in Maryland one.

Poverty, desertion, sickness and death of parents all contribute to make this work for children necessary. Frequently it is found best to remove a child from its parents—then it is at once obligatory to provide a home.

Skilled dieticians plan and prepare the food for the little bodies, often wasted by inherited diseases or from long neglect and lack of nutritious food and sanitary care.

In these homes no baby is too small, too ill or too obscure of origin to be admitted, and no effort too great to bring back a child to normal condition. There are no barriers to any child who needs its care—neither race, color, creed nor condition is considered.

In New York City in one of these homes out of 120 babies under a year old, 5 were foundlings picked up on doorsteps, from the subway and from ash cans, wrapped in newspaper and entirely devoid of any mark of identification. They had been thrown out by heartless parents as refuse to die.

One of these, named by the city, John McDonald, now about three months old is a sturdy beautiful boy.

The non-institution idea prevails—and no two dresses or rompers are alike, and these homes furnish splendid examples of the Salvation Army's investment in citizenship—for it believes every baby worth its weight in gold, and by this means provides those thrown upon its bounty with a care-free love sheltered babyhood, and a good education which embraces vocational and spiritual training, as well as the regular public school education.

A model home is at Lytton Springs, Sonoma county, California, to which place the courts of the State commit a great number of boys and girls, all of whom are cared for in the best way possible. The instruction and training comprehends all that is included in a public school education and added thereto are the most practical lessons, in farming, dairying, fruit-raising, with courses in domestic science especially for the girls. Music, both vocal and instrumental, has a place in the curriculum, but the thing regarded as of supreme importance is the moral training of the young.

MAKE HIT IN PERU

American Jackies Thoroughly at Home in Lima, the Capital.

Cafe Managers Find It Saves Trouble to Have Bill Agree With Menu Prices and Change Correct.

Lima.—A strange language, a still more puzzling currency and exchange rate and a strike of chauffeurs and coach drivers during the Atlantic fleet's visit to Peru did not prevent American sailors from stirring into every nook and cranny of Lima, seven miles from this port, from the humblest saloon to the cathedral.

They may have lost a little in exchange or paid more for a meal than the average Peruvian, but the smiling storekeeper and cafe manager found it saved them time and trouble to have their bill agree with menu prices and their change correct. For instance:

In one of the best hotels a tanned bos'un called for the bill for himself and three companions.

"No," he declared, "it's too much," as the waiter laid down a bit of paper with a column of figures on it.

"How do you know it's too much; you haven't looked at it yet?" one of his friends remonstrated.

"It's always too much the first time," the bos'un replied without moving his hand from the pile of Peruvian currency he had placed on the table. "I've been in France, and I know."

A long argument ensued in English by the sailor and Spanish by the waiter.

The head waiter came, tried his ten words of English and also beat a retreat to be replaced by the manager of the hotel.

"Look here," said the bos'un after ascertaining that the manager understood him, more or less. "That waiter tried to gyp us. He said we owed twelve of these cigarette papers (pointing to a Peruvian sol, worth about 45 cents). I figured it up from the menu, and we only owe eight. How about it?"

The manager glanced at the bill and then at the bos'un. "All right," he said, and bowed the four out.

"What did I tell you?" were the last words of the bos'un as he reached the street.

The navy's "Four N's" yell echoed for the first time from the high, vaulted ceilings of the aristocratic National club of Lima during the visit of the Atlantic fleet and created a welcome seldom equaled in that magnificent relic of the Spanish occupation.

Following a reception and banquet, Peruvian orators excelled themselves in expressing their best wishes for the Atlantic fleet and the United States. In concluding his eloquent response, Vice Admiral H. P. Jones suggested a navy yell.

"Give them the four N's, with one navy and three Lima's," the leader shouted, and then led a cheer that shook the building. The sight of a gold-braided, whirling dervish spinning and leaping in perfect time to a thundering rhythmic cheer, brought every member of the club to his feet, and the flushed junior officer was carried around the hall on the shoulders of gray-haired notables.

STEAL HER LINGERIE

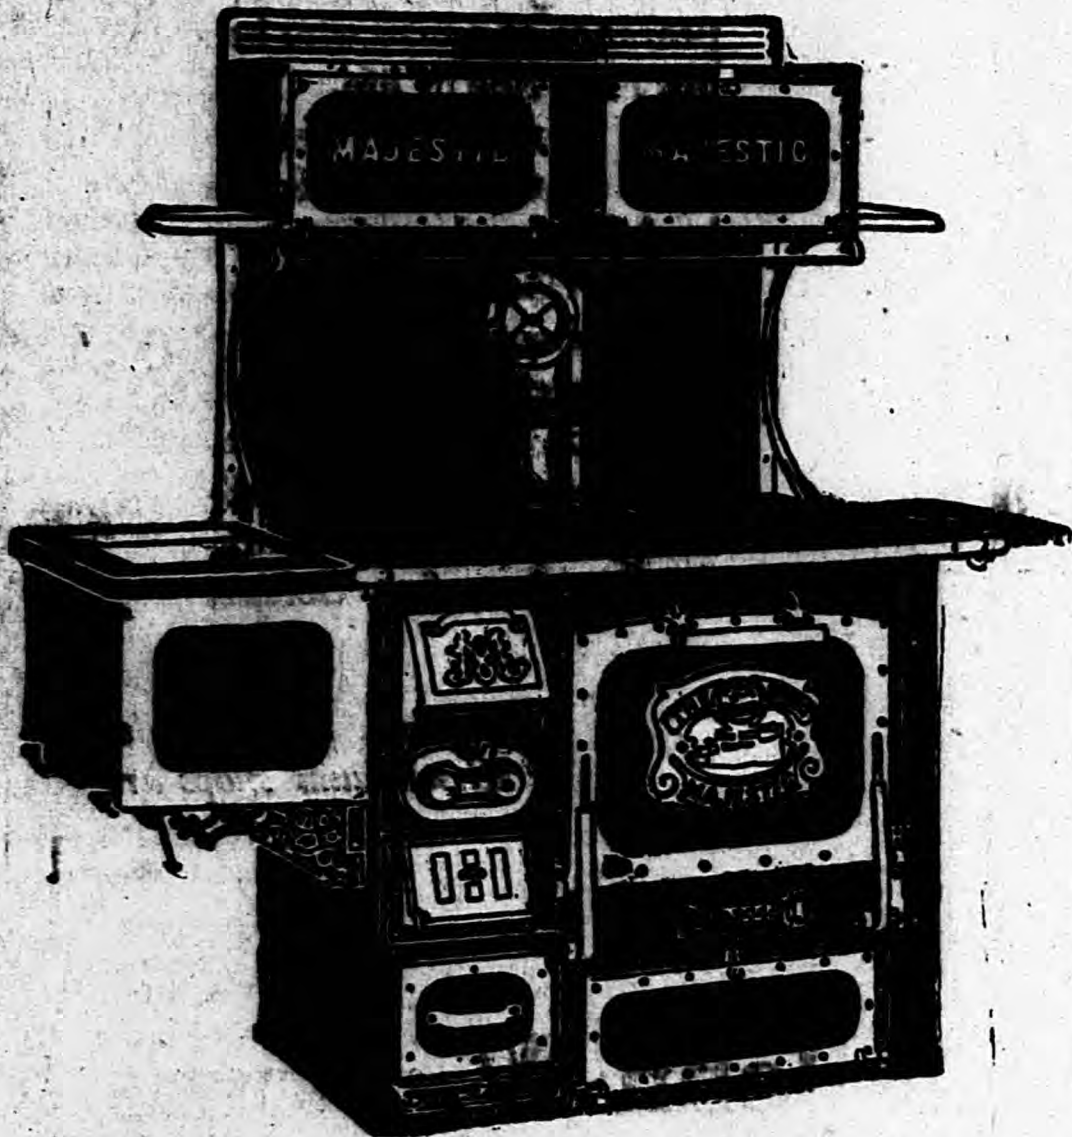

Mrs. Gaby May Barry of New York, who reported to the police that she had been robbed of $3,000 worth of wearing apparel during a brief absence from her apartment on Saturday. The burglars left several thousand dollars worth of jewelry, but failed to overlook anything in the way of lingerie, Mrs. Barry said.

"This is too much for me," she said, "I'm going back to Brooklyn where I was raised."

Woman Kills Wolf With Ax. Groton, S. D.—Mrs. Bert Peters, a farmer's wife, armed with an ax, won a fight with a large gray wolf, when she cornered the animal in a hog house and killed it. A dog pack had been fatigued when she joined the chase. The pet is valued highly.

Operated While Children Played. Louisville.—A boy and a girl, five and four years old, respectively, played burglar with two real bandits, when they thought masked especially for the occasion, while a third and unnamed robber held on their father, S. B. Gordon, a grocer.

Trying To Get Along With Low Vitality And Weak Blood

Pepto-Mangan Builds Rich Red Blood
And Restores Strength

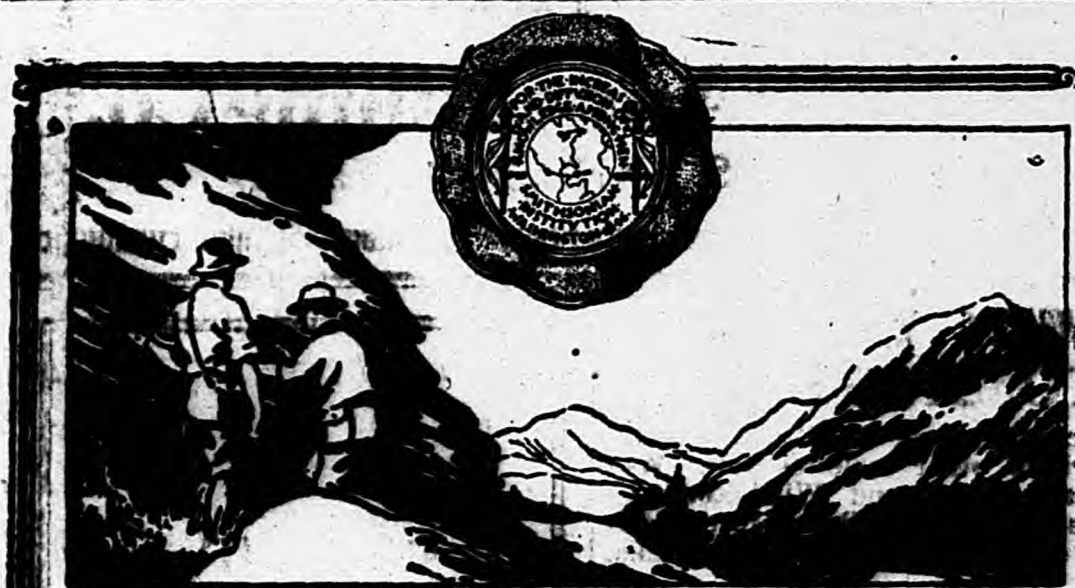

If you want to succeed in your work—to get to the top, look first to your health. Be physically fit. Keep your blood in good condition.

If your blood is bad, you lose enthusiasm. Little things bother you. Instead of concentrating on your work, you drowse. You try to pull yourself together. It takes all your energy to do just average work.

Perhaps your blood has become clogged with poisons. You are just beginning to feel it. You need the good blood tonic, Pepto-Mangan. It contains ingredients that feed your blood and purify it. You get more red corpuscles. Then your energy comes back and you eat better, feel better and look better. It shows in your daily work. You get things done without exhausting yourself. You get back to normal—the way you should be.

There is but one genuine Pepto-Mangan and that is "Gude's." It is put up in both liquid and tablet form. Each has the same medicinal value. Ask your druggist for "Gude's" and look for the name "Gude's" on the package. If it is not there, it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

WHY DID SMITHSON CHOOSE THE UNITED STATES?

No one knows why James Smithson, an Englishman, bequeathed his fortune to the United States to found, at Washington, an "establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

Whatever his reason, it is certain that his gift formed the basis of the most important scientific organization in the country. The story of the Smithsonian Institution is told in one of the series of folders and booklets on Our Government now being issued by this Institution.

If your name is not on our list you should drop in today and have it put on.

FRESH AIR CAMPS.

One of the greatest of the many wonderful institutions of the Salvation Army, because it touches the future citizen, is the Fresh Air Camp.

These breathing spots are for weary mothers and the city-bound youngsters of the tenements.

No joy life ever brings can mean quite so much as the first vision and first breath of the country to the child whose eyes and ears have known anything but cobblestones and forbidding sun stretches of brick walls.

One little girl on the journey to the country remarked disdainfully as the train passed a city park with its perfection of clipped lawns and non-touchable shrubbery.

"That's man's woods—I want God's woods!"

Last year in the United States 6,000 worn out, heat-jaded mothers, and 33,366 poor children were given from a week to two weeks at the seaside or in the country by the Salvation Army.

Think what such a treat means to children who have never before had green grass to walk, roll or sit upon, trees to climb, or the chance to wade and play in the sand, to say nothing of the wholesome food and pure air.

In Maryland, a Fresh Air Camp was conducted at Jackson Grove, near Odenton, for several years, where each week from fifty to sixty city youngsters were sent for a week during the period from July to September, to revel in the delights of the country. However, a lack of funds, forced the discontinuance of this regular camp, and the substitution of day's outings at nearby river resorts.

Droves of a thousand to fifteen hundred children have spent glorious days in this manner.

JAPS LOSE MILLION

Census of 1920 Shows Big Decrease in Population.

Practically Every City Shows a Big Drop as Compared With Incorrect Figures of 1918.

Tokyo.—Population figures that prove the population of the Japanese empire over 1,000,000 less than it was estimated in 1918 were given out by the bureau of national power investigation here recently. Practically every city shows a large decrease as compared with the incorrect figures of 1918, Tokyo alone being 190,000 less than its semi-official figures indicated. The population of the empire, according to these figures, which are the result of months of labor on the part of the bureau officials, is 77,005,519; that of Japan proper, exclusive of Korea, Formosa and Saghalien, 55,961,140.

Both of these figures are less by more than a million than the figures given in 1918. The population of the empire, then estimated from a compilation of old registers, was given at 78,261,856, or 1,256,346 more than the census of 1920 gives. The decrease for the Japanese empire, therefore, is 1.6 per cent.

Thus Japan, by its first modern census, for the 1920 figures are the first made along modern lines of investigation, fails to bear out its story of ever increasing population which is literally driving the nation to seek new lands in Asia and send its immigrants out into the far corners of the earth.

Since the fall of the Tokugawas, it has been customary to compile all census records from old registers and it has been known for some time that duplications were not only apt to creep in, but that they had come to be the customary thing.

According to the new figures, there are 128,850 more males than females in Japan proper. The total number of families in Japan proper is 11,222,063.

Tokyo, Osaka and Kobe rank the first three cities of the empire in the list of statistics.

BALK AT ACTING ON SUNDAY

London Theatrical Folk Overwhelm-ingly Vote Down Proposal for Sabbath Shows.

London.—British actors and actresses have no desire to emulate players in America by giving Sunday theatrical performances. A proposal to open London theaters on Sundays has just been voted down by an overwhelming majority at a meeting organized by the British Drama league. Most of those who voted were members of the theatrical profession.

The suggestion that plays be given on Sunday was made by Arthur Bonchier, an actor, and Father Adderley, a socialist.

George Bernard Shaw began by supporting the proposal with extraordinary enthusiasm in his capacity of playwright who wanted to make money out of his plays and ended by condemning it with even greater fervor as a "friend of the actor."

New York.—That life in Clinton reformatory, New Jersey, is preferable to life with any imaginable husband is the conclusion of Emma J. Preiss, thirty-three, who was held in $3,000 bail by Recorder Cain of Bayonne on a charge of bigamy.

Mrs. Preiss has had three husbands and considers herself qualified to speak.

"My experience with men began early, and was varied, but I have never found much difference between them. You may talk about women being gold diggers. They don't class with the men. Once you give a man an idea you have money you can always get him."

INDIAN WOMEN SEEK VOTE

Penobscot Squaws Demand Share in Tribal Elections and Conduct of Affairs.

Old Town, Me.—Indian women of the Penobscot tribe started on the warpath to obtain the right to vote in the tribal elections and share in the conduct of reservation affairs. Already some forward-looking squaws have nailed the suffrage colors to the figurative totem pole, with the assertion that a grand lady Sachem would make a wiser chief than any brave that ever wore a basket or built a canoe.

The new women of an ancient people began rejoicing recently when they received a ruling from Attorney General Shaw that they could go as far as the tribe allowed, for the state would remain neutral. He said the tribal suffrage was entirely a matter for domestic adjustment. The ruling came in answer to a letter received by the governor from Mrs. Peter Nicolai of Old Town.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IN SCHOOLS

Superintendent at Columbus, Ohio, Adopts New System of Study in Public Institutions.

Columbus, O.—The eight-hour union day has invaded the public schools here, and Superintendent J. G. Olliott has launched a movement for an eight-hour day for students.

His plan, however, does not contemplate that children shall actually attend school eight hours a day, but that the time devoted to recitations, school study and study at home shall amount to a full working day.

To further the plan, pupils have adopted a daily study and class program, one copy of which will go to the teacher, another to the parents. The idea is that both parents and teachers, with the daily routine of the children before them, should see that they perform all the tasks assigned to them.

Old Debt Paid.

Towanda, Pa.—After waiting 23 years, during which he had given up all hope of ever getting his money back, Louis Marks, a local business man, has received a letter containing $30 from a man who, borrowed $10 from him on a note a quarter of a century ago.

The man, now living in a small Maryland town, wrote that the $20 was for interest. Marks kept $10 and returned the $20 and the canceled note.

Epidemic Of Whooping Cough

Whooping cough is a State-wide epidemic, according to the statement made by Dr. R. H. Riley, chief of the Bureau of Infections and Contagious Diseases of the State Health Board.

Dr. Riley said: "We have estimated that during the present month whooping cough in Maryland would not exceed 32 cases. Instead of this estimate proving true, we are surprised to find that so far during the present month there are 123 cases throughout the State.

"This disease is not confined to any particular locality but has spread from Garrett to Worcester county. Notices have been sent out to all the health deputies throughout the State directing them to call attention to all teachers of public schools that any child found to be coughing shall immediately be prohibited from attending school sessions."

The spread of the disease, he said, in the majority of cases, is due to the failure to recognize it in the milder form.

WOMEN'S WOES

Princess Anne Women Are Finding Relief At Last

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or backaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidney ills only that is endorsed by people in this locality.

Mrs. Martha J. Tyler, Fairmount, Md., says: "I had kidney complaint and my back ached nearly all the time. I felt dull and had no energy. Headaches were frequent and I was often so dizzy I couldn't keep on my feet. My kidneys acted irregularly and annoyed me considerably. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills helping others and I tried them. They just suited the trouble and relieved the backaches, headaches and dizziness. My kidneys were regulated and I felt stronger and better in every way."

PRINCESS ANNE H. S. VICTORIOUS ON FIELD DAY

Many People Came To Town To Witness The Athletic Sports On The Washington High School Campus

Last Thursday proved to be an ideal day for the Field and Track meet of the public schools of Somerset county. The sun shone warm and bright and still there was just coolness enough in the air to keep exercises from being unpleasant.

The exercises of the day began in front of the Court House at 9.45 a. m. The Crisfield band rendered agreeable music there and also on the High School grounds during the remainder of the day. Addresses were made in front of the Court House by Dr. William Burdick, of Baltimore, and Hon. John B. Robins, of Crisfield. After which the assemblage left for the High School grounds where the athletic sports and games were held, which were very interesting. During the morning dodge ball, captain ball, volley ball and end ball games were played. The afternoon was devoted to other athletic contests.

A special train from Crisfield and intervening points reached Princess Anne at 9.30 and brought a large number of persons from the lower part of the county. The train left Princess Anne for the return trip at 6 p. m.

The whole day, as we have stated, was an ideal one, and the campus of the High School was the scene of activity and pleasure as the hundreds of people watched, with interest the sports and games. The pupils of the Washington High School are to be congratulated upon their victory of 30 points over the Crisfield High School pupils. The points scored by the pupils of the different schools are as follows:

Princess Anne High School.....179
Crisfield High School.....149
Deal's Island High School.....10

APRIL TERM OF COURT ENDED

After Being In Session Two Weeks Adjourned Last Saturday

The April term of the Circuit Court for Somerset county, after being in session for two weeks, adjourned last Saturday afternoon and will not convene again in jury session until September. Among the cases disposed of were:

George D. Horner vs. Lloyd Willis. Suit for debt; before jury. Judgment for Horner.

William A. Morse vs. C. Paul Ray and others. Suit for debt; before jury. Judgment for plaintiff.

Frank G. Thomas vs. Bruce Thomas and others. Suit for debt; before jury. Verdict for defendant.

A removed case from Worcester county occupied the attention of the court all day Tuesday, and on Wednesday the entire day was consumed by the damage suit of Percy J. Nelson vs. the Consumers Ice Co. The case grew out of an accident which occurred on June 17th last, when Nelson ran into an electric light pole of the Consumers Ice Co., located in Crisfield, which had blown down across the road, Mr. Nelson being severely injured and his automobile practically demolished. The jury was hung for more than six hours, finally bringing in a verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff's counsel immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

The damage suit of Rev. J. L. Wright against I. Henry Hall, for damages growing out of a collision between the plaintiff's bicycle and the defendant's automobile, in which Rev. Wright was injured, was removed by his counsel and will come up for trial in the Worcester county court at its next term.

Duer Advocated For Federal Judgeship

Prominent Republican leaders of the Eastern Shore and friends of Judge Robert F. Duer, of Princess Anne, who is Associate Judge of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland, comprising Somerset, Worcester, Wicomico and Dorchester counties, are urging his name as successor to Judge Rose, of Baltimore, who, it is said, may receive higher judicial honors from President Harding.

In an interview Judge Duer said he was unwilling to have any action taken in his behalf, as he had only served two years of his 15-year term. As for being considered by party leaders throughout the State for the gubernatorial nomination two years hence, there was nothing in it.

Somerset County Teachers Meet

The public school teachers of Somerset county met at the High School building last Friday morning in response to a call from the State school authorities. The object of the call was to inform the teachers further upon the various tests given to the pupils of the county during the past three weeks and to present to them tabulations of such tests for their individual schools. The program was as follows:

"How Standardization Tests Differ from Teachers' Examinations," by Dr. George H. Reavis.

"Results of the Survey of Reading and Arithmetic in Somerset County and Explanation of Graphs," by Prof. W. A. N. Bowland.

"Analysis of Special Classes in Arithmetic," by Dr. George H. Reavis.

"Financial Program of the State Department of Education," by State Superintendent A. S. Cook.

An intermission here followed for the noon hour and at 1 o'clock the teachers divided into two classes, the high school teachers going to a smaller room to listen to a diagnosis of pupils by Dr. George H. Reavis, and the elementary teachers proceeding to continue exercises in silent reading. Miss Elizabeth Cahill gave an interesting demonstration lesson upon this subject with pupils of the sixth grade, which was followed by a critique by Miss I. Jewell Simpson, of the State Department. Miss Simpson also followed up the critique with a valuable lecture upon "How to Improve Instruction in Silent Reading."

Salisbury Printers Form Union

An epoch in the history of the printing craft in Salisbury occurred on Monday evening of last week, when Mr. William E. Griffiths, of Philadelphia, representing the International Typographical Union, installed the officers and obligated the members of the newly formed Typographical Union, No. 869, in that city.

The officers are: James W. Bannister, president; Henry N. Morgan, vice-president; James E. Byrd, secretary-treasurer; Archie F. Jones, sergeant at arms; executive committee, George P. Kennerly, Harry N. Morgan and W. W. Webb.

Salisbury Typographical Union is the first organization of its kind on the Eastern Shore.

SHELLS PLANTED IN TANGIER

Conservation Commission Plans To Replenish Barren Bottoms

Under the supervision of Swenson Earle and Chief Inspector Elmer O. Townsend, the Conservation Commission last Wednesday planted the first oyster shells, which marks the beginning of an experimental program to restore the depleted oyster rocks of Chesapeake Bay.

As the result of an examination of the once famous oyster bottoms in Tangier Sound, a few weeks ago, it was disclosed that "Harris Rock" in Tangier Sound, was practically barren and it was on this ground that the commission decided to plant the first shells. Large oyster schooners transported 3,000 bushels of shells Wednesday to "Harris Rock."

Swenson Earle, who is personally in charge, expects to hurry the reconstruction work to a rapid conclusion.

The commission plans to plant 30,000 bushels of shells in Tangier Sound, 10,000 of which will be planted this month and 10,000 during each of the months of May and June. It is the purpose of the commission to plant 75,000 bushels of shells on the various unproductive oyster bottoms in Chesapeake Bay during the summer months in an effort to prove that the depleted oyster beds can be restored.

The recent examination by Chairman Harrison W. Vickers and other State officials showed some of the oyster rocks of the bay to be entirely depleted, while others, which have not been dredged in recent years, are gradually being replenished by nature.

It is the intention of the commission to plant these bottoms and prohibit dredging thereon until the oysters are full grown and then charge a small tax for all oysters taken from the planted bottoms to defray the cost of planting. Oystermen are awaiting with interest the result of the experimental planting.

Kaiserin Buried Last Tuesday

The remains of buried Empress Augusta Victoria was buried at Postdam, Germany, last Tuesday amid honors denied her while living.

The former Kaiserin was buried as a heroine with thousands of persons massing back of police lines to doff their hats and bow as the casket passed toward the mausoleum in which it was to be laid.

No event since the war has brought out such a display of the nobility and military pride of Prussia.

General von Hindenburg, in full uniform, was a prominent figure in the services. He was accompanied by Ludendorff and Mackensen. General von Falkenhayn led a regiment of Hussars, the only complete military organization in the procession. The General carried the crown of the ex-Empress.

Behind the General's horsemen, guarded by a squadron of Cuirassiers, rolled the hearse and immediately back of it paced four Knights of the Black Eagle, carrying the casket cloth. The former Kaiserin's sons followed the Knights. Eitel Friedrich, Adalbert and August Wilhelm were in full uniform. The former Crown Princess, whose husband was left in Holland to mourn with his exiled father, came next in an automobile.

A Superb Photodrama

Monday night, May 2d, there will be special pictures shown at the Auditorium for the benefit of the charity fund of Shekinah Lodge, No. 35, Knights of Pythias, of Princess Anne.

"The Great Redeemer"—5 reels—with an all-star cast, is a big screen production. A notable cast appears in the picture. It includes House Peters as Dan Malloy, Majorie Daw as the girl; Joseph Singleton and Jack MacDonald. Charles J. Van Eger photographed the production, which is distributed by Metro Pictures Corporation. The exterior scenes were "shot" in the most picturesque portions of California and Arizona and are said to show this land of mountains and gorgeous sunsets in all its vast and rugged beauty.

This picture, with the 2-reel comedy, Buster Keaton in "Neighbors," cannot but fail to give the patrons of the movies an evening of pleasure. Park your grouch with Buster Keaton's "Neighbors" and then go home in high, good humor.

Strawberry Growers To Meet

An important meeting of strawberry growers who ship through the Princess Anne station will be held Saturday afternoon, April 30th, at 2 o'clock sharp in the court house. The object of the meeting is to discuss the selling of the strawberry crop through an auction block to be erected at the Princess Anne station. Details of operating the block will be considered and it is desired that all growers and buyers of strawberries be present at this meeting.

PRESBYTERY OF NEW CASTLE MEET

Women Not Permitted To Act As Deacons And Elders

The one hundred and seventh stated meeting of the Presbytery of New Castle was in session Monday and Tuesday of last week in Manokin Presbyterian Church, Princess Anne. One of the most important questions decided upon at this meeting was whether or not women should be permitted to act as deacons and elders in the Presbyterian Church. The matter of proposed religious unity was also discussed.

By a vote of 21 to 14 the Presbytery negated an overture recommending that women be admitted to deacons' and elders' orders. Presbytery also negated an overture proposing organic union of church denominations.

Presbytery concurred in the following overtures:

Recommending that the stated clerk of General Assembly be elected for five years, instead of for life.

Proposing a reduction in the number of commissioners to the General Assembly.

An overture directing the executive council to reallocate the General Assembly.

An overture directing the executive council to reallocate the General Assembly's budget for 1921-22 and to hear reports of boards before making allotments.

An overture recommending that the Board of Foreign Missions carefully consider the orthodoxy of Presbyterian missionaries.

Rev. Joel L. Gillilan resigned as chairman of the committee on home missions and Rev. Thomas S. Armentrout resigned as chairman of the committee on foreign missions, so that they can devote their time to pastoral work.

Rev. T. C. Easton was dismissed from the Presbytery of San Francisco. Presbytery negated the request for the appointment of a standing committee on the American Bible Society.

There was a large attendance, the Presbyterian Churches of Wilmington, Del., and those of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware each being represented by one clerical and one lay delegate.

An impressive rite of the convention was the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in the oldest Presbyterian church in the country, Rehoboth Church, near Pocomoke City, and which was built in 1683. The Scotch form was used in this feature.

The Rev. J. W. Lacy, of Pocomoke City, was elected as moderator for the ensuing term.

Maryland Congressman Lauded

Thousands of letters from men and women in all parts of the country, including many from persons who say they favor the prohibition amendment, are pouring into the Washington office of Representative John Philip Hill, of Maryland, commending this new House member for introducing a bill for a blanket repeal of the Volstead law.

Many of the writers declare they are unalterably opposed to whisky and spirits, but that this country is made to appear ridiculous in the eyes of the world by the drastic legislation against light wines and beer.

Mr. Hill has the courage of his convictions. Sworn in on April 11, he introduced on April 14 his repeal bill, which has become the rallying point for those who have never given up hope of a more liberal interpretation of the prohibition constitutional amendment. Mr. Hill's secretary is so busy opening and filing letters of praise that he has little time to devote to anything else.

"The Eighteenth Amendment," says Mr. Hill, "provides for either State or Federal enforcement. I believe in real law enforcement, not farcical evasion which breeds contempt for all law. I, therefore, advocate the repeal of the Volstead Act, in order that the several States may individually deal with the local police question of the use of wines, beer and liquor."

Summer School At Johns Hopkins

The summer school of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, will be held this year from July 5th to August 12th.

Courses are offered in these subjects: Biology, Chemistry, Classical Literature, Economics, Education, English, French, Geography, German, History, Home Economics, Journalism, Manual Training and Shop Work, Mathematics, Philosophy, Politics, Psychology, School Music and Spanish.

The program in education is expanded to meet present needs of superintendents, supervisors, principals and teachers in administration and measurements, and the theory and practice of teaching in senior and junior high schools, elementary schools and kindergarten, in both city and rural schools.

NEW PLEDGE TO LATIN-AMERICA

Harding Assures Sister Republic Of Friendship Of United States

The Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed anew last Tuesday by President Harding in a speech in Central Park, New York City, at the unveiling of a bronze statue of Gen. Simon Bolivar, liberator of five of the South American republics that are shielded by this policy.

Although the President declared the United States stands ready to make war to uphold the doctrine, he absolved his speech from any taint of jingoism by making a flat declaration in favor of universal disarmament. The address was a message of good will for all Latin-America and it rang in the ears of diplomatic representatives of every Republic south of the Panama Canal.

President and Mrs. Harding were in New York precisely three hours and a half, but in that period they crowded so much that was eventful to justify Professor Einstein's theory of relativity of time.

The text of President Harding's address follows in part:

"There is significance in dates, as though some days were destined for a high place in the history of human progress, also an abiding place in human affections. This day is the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, when the colonies of North America made their first sacrifice in blood for independence and new standards of freedom. On this same day, a generation later, Venezuela's struggle for freedom had its immortal beginning."

"Having sacrificed in arms to establish the human inheritance belonging to free men, the American republics may well touch elbows to prove their unselfishness, and to show mankind that righteous achievement does not mean anybody's destruction, individually or nationally, but that real victory lies in that human progress wherein every contender, individual or national, may share as it is sought to merit it."

"It is an interesting thing to compare the careers of the two great fathers of American liberty, Bolivar and Washington. Each wrought an empire of freedom, and builded more vastly than he dreamed."

"It is not too much to say that out of the liberations wrought by Washington and Bolivar grew the republican constitutional system which is America's gift to mankind. Our constitutions are the models after which are fashioned the fundamental laws of a world won to democracy. Whether they looked to the North or South, or whether the beacon fire was Pan-American, in the new world burned the great torch to light the way to constitutional freedom, and hope was assured by outstanding example."

"These things are said with due deference to the older civilization and the longer-established systems from which all America came and to which we may trace back the inspiration which gave conceptions to the institutions of freedom to which we are dedicated. It is fine to be able to say that new world temples of liberty were not wrought in destruction of the old. We speak historically of revolution, when in reality we mean severance and freedom for evolution. The world isn't calling today for destruction, it needs reconstruction, where the test of justice is applied to the things which were as well as the things which are to be."

"Liberty without security would be a barren boast, and inspiration without stabilization would challenge every claim of democracy."

"With all humility, but in all sincerity and earnestness, I feel that we Americans, North and South, are entitled to hold that our democracy has come as a light into the world of international relations, and that it will show us a way out of the world's present troubles into a day when mankind may know peace and plenty and happiness, and when the first duty of organized society may be to promote the welfare of its members rather than to array itself in power against the threat of its destruction."

"The world needs, in order that its economic balance may be redressed, peace, enterprise, industry, frugality and commercial development. Here we have two rich and mighty continents which, as a whole, have felt far less the effects of the great war than have the older Continental areas. To us the world is turning with the plea that we draw upon the resources which nature and our common good fortune have assured to us to aid those who have suffered more grievously than we."

The Pimlico races will take place from Tuesday, May 3rd, to Monday, May 16th, inclusive, and promises to be of a high order of excellence. There will be seven races daily, including a steeplechase. The first race will start at 2.30 p. m.

MISS FINCH

By CLARISSA MACKIE.

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Neil Latimer had met Celia Finch and Ethel, the youngest of that popular family, noted for its feminine psychitide, but of Rosamond, the eldest, he had only heard echoes of her calm beauty. Men said she was a marble statue and that nothing could awaken her dreaming peace.

"My sister Rosamond!" Celia had repeated one day. "She's the dearest thing, but she wouldn't be interested in any of this," she waved her fan at the room full of dancers. "She is browsing among books most of the time. Is the most absent-minded creature imaginable, and—we are missing most of this dance, aren't we?" she ended wistfully.

Neil apologized and in a moment they were vanishing in the maze.

One afternoon when the fever of spring was in the air and he could not remain indoors harnessed to the routine of a busy office, Neil got into his car and rode out East avenue to the country club. The Finch residence was on East avenue and he had passed Mrs. Finch and the younger girls in the shabby car driven by a middle-aged negro. The Finches were poor in this world's goods but, as they came of a good old family and had many rich relatives, the fatherless family went around a great deal and entertained occasionally in their lovely, decaying home, filled with heirlooms.

Just as Neil reached the Finch residence he became aware that the machine needed water. A maid was standing with her back to him hanging out a snowy washing of clothes. She wore a pink sunbonnet, but he could see a couple of clotheplins protruding from the depths of the bonnet.

"Good morning," he said in his pleasant voice. "May I have a pail of water, my car?" he did not finish the sentence but paused in dismay, for the clotheplins were removed from the bonnet and the face turned to his was never that of an ordinary maid-servant. Such rare beauty could only belong to the sister of Celia and Ethel—she saw his embarrassment and smiled gravely.

"Water? Certainly," she said in a voice which made his pulses tingle. "If you will come to the house I will give you a pail: there is water in the garage, but you may as well fill the pail in the kitchen." She led the way into a great kitchen, immaculately clean, where an ancient colored woman, crippled with rheumatism, sat in a comfortable armchair by the fire. She croaked hoarse protests when the girl gave Neil a shining pail.

"No, Miss Rosamond, honey, done you be waitin' on folks lak that—"

"Please, be quiet, Aunt Heppy," chided the girl.

"I am sorry to trouble you—I didn't know that I might be intruding—I am acquainted with Mrs. Finch and her daughters and—"

"You must be coming to dinner tonight, then," suggested the girl. "I recognized you at once—I am Rosamond Finch."

Neil took her hand. "May I stay a little while and be kitchen company?" he asked. "I'd like to get acquainted." Rosamond looked doubtful. Then a wave of color invaded her fairness. "I shall be glad, Mr. Latimer, but you see it would embarrass mother and the girls if it were known—you see, Heppy is crippled, so, as we cannot afford another maid, I come out and help. Heppy directs me and I love to cook."

"She shore am de beatestest cook!" interrupted Heppy.

Rosamond joined in Neil's laughter. "Heppy is a good teacher, and it gives the younger girls a chance to go about. 'I've been out two seasons already, and I do like a chance to keep up with my studies. I must fly around now because there is dinner to get—ok, we have an extra maid in for that to help Abner in the dining room. Can you mix mayonnaise?"

"Can I?" Neil washed his hands and pushed back his cuffs. "If you will let me help you a little I'll forswear any knowledge of you and your dark plottings in this kitchen."

"Very well," she laughed merrily, "only you must fly at the stroke of four, so that you will not scandalize mother and the girls."

Neil never forgot that hour spent in the kitchen with lovely Rosamond Finch.

That night at the happy, informal dinner party for which the Finches were famous Neil saw her again and she seemed another girl. Her family and friends took fire from her gaiety and it was a never-to-be-forgotten evening. Rosamond Finch had awakened.

During the weeks that followed Neil learned more about the interesting family of girls who maintained their social position on a depleted income, remade their own clothes, until there came a day when they had to unpack Mrs. Finch's own wedding dress and veil for Rosamond's bridal. After all the "eldest Miss Finch," who had contentedly stayed at home in the kitchen, was the first bride, and Aunt Heppy, who had turned her into a famous cook, was almost as proud as Neil himself as the bride came up the aisle. "She looks like a lovely statue," said some on that day.

Neil only smiled. He knew that Rosamond's marriage there was some-thing to be proud of. He knew that she had found his Galatea into-

EXIST AS OF OLD

Persians Far Behind on the Road of Civilization.

Country May Be Said to Have Made No Progress Since Dawn of the Christian Era.

The next time I see a railway system I am going to make a deep salem to it—even if it is government owned. Picture a country almost three times the size of France without any railroad to speak of. If you could float over that territory you would see most of the people living exactly as their ancestors did in the centuries before Christ.

In seed time you would see men plowing with one hand, two oxen and what looks like a piece of crooked stick, writes Maude Radford Warren in the Saturday Evening Post. In harvest time you would see the oxen trampling out the wheat from the chaff. You would see mills consisting of a couple of stones and a stream of water. You would discover in this vast area only one waterway, no rivers to speak of, and but four main roads. Of these four only two are fully practicable for vehicles, and even they do not equal third-class European roads. They were made or repaired by foreigners. On them you may see a few motor cars, also instituted by foreigners. And by no means do they travel with the ease and cheapness of the cars of the West. There is a good telegraph system, but letters nowadays take weeks and even months to travel from one side of the country to another.

You would see no real mines of coal or copper, no quarries, no cotton mills or clothing factories, no foundries or machine shops, no big electrical installations; none of the modern improvements that we westerners consider essential to prevent stagnation. It is medieval, this land, as no country can possibly be nowadays that has railways, with all which that connotes. Here time does not matter; nothing matters. There is but little sense of isolation, little consciousness of backwardness, little urge of progress, little realization of the necessity of surveying the country to find out its resources, little moral obligation to develop all powers and promises.

Sometimes resources are not even conserved. Wood is appallingly scarce and coal seventy-odd dollars a ton; and yet many who cut down trees do not replant. The industries are simple—copper and brass work, skin collecting, tanning, rug weaving, dyeing. The one great industry, oil wells, is under the control of foreign power. And if the tentative observations of outsiders are to be trusted, the country is amazingly rich in oils, in minerals, including coal and iron, and in parts its agricultural products are abundant and of first quality. It is Persia.

Mystery Grass.

In England a mysterious grass which grows in muddy flat land and bears the name of Spartina Townsendii, is giving the scientists "furiously to think" just at the moment. This reedlike grass was first observed in 1870 in Southampton Water, but for many years it attracted little attention except from botanists. Later, however, it has started to grow at a positively alarming rate. It has spread rapidly over the mud-flats about its place of origin, until now it occupies dozens of square miles. It has a remarkable capacity for holding mud, and in this respect it acts as a protector of the coast-line and a reclamer of land. This is all right in some districts. On the other hand, in such places as Poole Harbor the channels are in danger of becoming choked by it, because by matting the mud together it prevents the scour of the tide from carrying it out to sea. If this danger can be counteracted, the new grass may be useful as a food for stock and as raw material for paper.

Improved Fuel Oil Engine.

A Louisiana inventor has succeeded in developing a new fuel oil engine of semi-Diesel design, in which the excessively high compressions of this type are eliminated, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Owing to the use of an improved fuel-injection jet and a method of preheating the oil, it is claimed that the power impulses are smooth expansions rather than abrupt, racking explosions, and that, for this reason, the engine can be built lighter than existing models of heavy oil burners, making it suitable for installation in passenger automobiles and motortrucks.

Schools and Museum Co-operate.

Natural history study in Cleveland, O., will be enhanced by affiliation of the public schools with the museum of natural history to be established in that city. At consultations of the museum director, the superintendent of schools and the staff of each, tentative plans were formed by which the resources of the museum may be utilized by the school children. The museum probably will not be built for two or three years.

Dismisses Women Teachers.

Women teachers are no longer employed in French schools for boys. The authorization to employ them, granted during the war, has been withdrawn, because the return to normal life has rendered men teachers available.

KOREAN FOOTBALL 2697 B. C.

Players Wore Silk Stockings and Used Fans, According to Account Found in Old Book.

"Tuk tuk."

That's just Korean for football. Antiquarians digging around the dusty tomes of old Japan came across a document which seems to be the Police Gazette of B. C. 2697. The mole-skins of the day were made of silk. It was not uncommon to find a huge pansy across the back of a stalwart tackle. Stockings were silk, too, and of variegated colors.

The Big Bill Edwards of those days was Emperor Ch'eng Ti of the Han dynasty. History relates that he backed his team to the limit. Whether he showed the devotion of the modern college student who sells his furniture to bet on the game is not known. Walter Camp was represented by Gen. Asuka Masatsune. He got out the original rule book and guide. Whether he also picked his own crowd for the All-Mongolian or not, history does not say. At any event he was the original coach and probably won his share of moral victories while the other teams got the touchdowns.

Football in those days was like yachting now. Only those in whose veins flowed the bluest blood could make the team.

Nothing is known about the formations of that day, but we have a description of the ball. It was round and stuffed with hair. "Goat's hair" gave it resiliency. The game seems to have been all kicking. Stage waits were as prevalent as in a corner lots ball game of today. So long winded were the protests that the attendants used to serve tea to the players while a decision was being given.

Unnecessary roughness was frequent, and when the game was played in the army as a military exercise, a famous general protested that it was too strenuous, and the contestants were forthwith equipped with fans. A fan in the hands of the umpire replaced the whistle of today, and we can imagine him nearly waving his wrist off when things went wrong.

No goal posts as we knew them today existed. At one end of the field there was a cherry tree and at the other end an apple tree, which served as goals. The apple tree was the more popular, as a tally was signified by a shower of fruit, at which the game was suspended while all contestants ate an apple. Once early in the spring when the goals were in bloom a half-back of the Lu province team mistook the apple tree for the cherry and shot the ball past his own goal, thereby losing the game for his team. He was "cussed out" quite heartily by the spectators in true Yankee style.—New York Mail.

Trees for Future Generations.

Sometimes it is said that in certain European countries the law compels the planting of a tree for every tree cut down, and it is urged that such a law should be enacted in different provinces of Canada. The expression, however, is only metaphorical. What European countries do provide, is that for every acre of forest cut down, in certain areas unsuitable for agriculture, another crop of trees must be started by either natural or artificial methods of regeneration on that area. When forest trees are planted, the trees are set, say 2,000 to the acre, and when they are harvested, 60 or 70 years later, they stand from 150 to 200 to the acre. If they had been planted 200 to the acre they would have grown short and full of limbs from the ground up, and would be useless for lumber. Planted thickly they reach upward for the light, making long, clean trunks. The trees which never reach maturity are thinned out either naturally or with the ax, after they have served their purpose.—Montreal Herald.

Magnesium in Alloys.

Magnesium in massive form, as sticks or rods, is used to deoxidize other metals in foundries and is a constituent of alloys. More magnesium is now used as a deoxidizer or scavenger in metallurgy than for any other purpose, but its employment in alloys is increasing and may eventually become the largest one. An alloy of magnesium and aluminum is used in making castings for aircraft engines and parts of airplanes. The skeleton of the British airship R-34, the first dirigible to cross the Atlantic, is an alloy of aluminum and magnesium, and the yacht Resolute, the defender of the America's cup in the races in July, 1920, as well as the alternative defender the Vauite, carried galle made of this alloy.

IN OLD TIPPERARY

Valley of Slieve-na-Mon Land Rich in Historic Interest.

Long Famed as a Storehouse of Folklore and Fairy Legends—On Devil's Bit Mountain.

Recent news dispatches from Ireland contained the story of an ambush and battle between Sinn Féiners and crown forces in the Slieve-na-mon country, County Tipperary.

To those who have read and studied the history of Ireland the name will strike a familiar chord.

The valley of Slieve-na-mon is a country rich in historical interest. Many of the stirring events which grace the annals of Irish history have been enacted there. Perhaps in no other section of southern Ireland will you find such a wealth of historic events, such a storehouse of folklore and fairy legends and such typically Irish people as you will find in this section.

It was here in 1848 that Smith O'Brien and the Young Irish party gathered their forces; it was here a pitched battle took place between them and the royal Irish constabulary and the British military, and it was here occurred many of the stirring events of the Fenian rebellion.

The valley of Slieve-na-mon is so-called from the mountain of that name which at times towers aloft, cold dark and repellent, but when clothed in the soft gray mists of early morning or bathed in the glamor of an Irish sunset is truly a sight to gladden the senses. The valley embraces part of that section of Tipperary called the Golden vale of Munster, said to be the richest farming land in all Ireland.

Away to the northeast is the famous Devil's Bit mountain, another of the Gaitee range. It was on this Mountain that Cromwell is said to have stood when he turned to his soldiers and said: "This is indeed a land well worth fighting for."

The sides of the mountain are very steep and the climb a hard one, but the view well repays for the trouble. Away to the north a vision of wonderful blue hills and little green valleys, and afar off a glimpse of the lordly Shannon and to the south the beautiful Golden vale dotted over with little whitewashed cottages and farmhouses. Further south is the famous Rock of Cashel, the seat of the kings of Munster, a very interesting series of ruins and well worthy a visit.

There is a story attached to every place of note in Ireland, and it goes without saying that the Devil's Bit has one. If you visit any of the peasant homes in the valley, the woman of the house will tell you this story as she bustles about preparing you a cup of tea:

One day, the devil, through mistake, landed in the Emerald Isle and, having lost his way, became very hungry. He dare not enter any peasant's cabin and ask for food or shelter, for he knew that few and far between were the homes where a little wooden cross was not hanging on the wall.

He sat down at the foot of the mountain while and was sorely troubled. But on looking up he saw a goat making his way up the rough mountain side and instantly he was on his feet. He started in hot pursuit, but the goat being very nimble, as are most of his kind, seemed to be getting the best of the race.

Enraged with fear of losing his prey the ruler of the lower regions let out a terrific roar, and opening his huge mouth, bit a hole out of the mountain side. And the "bit" is there today to show itself. And if you are a doubting Thomas, you will find the rocks which he could not swallow scattered over the mountain side, some of them large enough to build a good-sized house.

Wonderful Farm Machinery.

The first mower was invented in 1832, but few were used for many years. Now one man with the average mower can cut 12 to 15 acres in a day, instead of two with a scythe. The cost of handling is vastly reduced with the use of the present side-delivery rake, self-loader and hay fork for unloading.

In 1834 the reaper was invented but did not come into general use for 20 years after. Then came the self-rake harvester, and the self-binder. The modern self-binder with one man and three horses can cut and bind as much grain in a day as 15 men could do in 1840. Even greater efficiency is secured in very dry sections where the combined harvester is used, which cuts, threshes and sacks the grain in one operation.

Pennsylvania's Good Record.

The state of Pennsylvania owns 1,100,000 acres of land and there is half as much yet suitable for tree-growing that the state should own, says the Chicago Journal. The state maintains 2,000 fire wardens, 16 steel lookout fire towers and 175 buildings which have been erected or put in condition for use by the state fire department. The commonwealth's investment in forest lands has netted for it $5,000,000.

HOME TOWN HELPS

TAKING CITY INTO COUNTRY

England Putting Into Effect Scheme Which Seems to Be Along Lines of Common Sense.

In England, instead of developing suburban communities, they are trying the scheme of taking the city into the country, to the benefit of the city and doing no harm to the country. Every new development in England will be practically a garden city, with plenty of open spaces, recreation grounds, golf courses, well-placed factories and industrial sections, and beautiful residential quarters. The worker will have his patch of ground, and the usual smoke and grime of industrial communities will be nonexistent.

Town-planning schemes, many of them conceived before the new idea was generally adopted, were naturally much delayed by preoccupation during the years of war with more urgent matters—and since the war by a housing scheme which occupied the full attention of the technical staffs of the local authorities. For the best results town planning should have preceded housing. Owing to the extreme urgency of the latter, however, it had to go forward first.

In all building schemes and proposals for improvement there is, occasionally, injury done to owners of property by the invasion of rights they have enjoyed for many years. Compensation in such cases is payable to the injured owner. No claim can be made, however, for injury to buildings erected, or improvements made subsequent to the scheduling of the area for town planning. And the further important provision is made: That authorities can claim one-half of the increase in value of property consequent upon the town-planning scheme. The government now realizes the commercial value of town planning and has no intention of creating private fortune by its intervention.

BURN UP UNSIGHTLY RUBBISH

Simple Contrivance Will Solve Many Problems That Have Probably Long Puzzled Housewife.

What to do with paper trash, rags that have outlived their usefulness, paper boxes and a hundred other things that accumulate and which are known as trash is a problem for every housekeeper. Yet it can be very easily solved. Trash can, of course, be burned in the kitchen range, provided it is a wood or coal burner, but it fills the stovepipe with soot, necessitating frequent cleanings, and makes an unpleasant smell and a great many ashes to carry out. As for making a bonfire outside, that can never be done unless some one watches it closely, and even then stuff blows about, littering the lawn, and the fire leaves an unsightly black spot.

A rubbish burner which is very inconspicuous can be placed in the back yard, is perfectly safe and answers in an entirely satisfactory way the question, "What shall I do with this?" which comes up every cleanup day either in the house or in the yard. It is nothing but a woven wire container. A piece of woven wire fencing long enough to make a circular receptacle two and a half to three feet in diameter would answer the purpose. Wire the ends together, making it circular in form. Make a cover for it by putting another piece of the woven wire over an iron hoop. Then weight it down, or anchor it in some way so that the wind will not blow it over or it will not be tipped easily.

Such a rubbish burner makes outdoor burning even on windy days safe and gives one a place in which to put rubbish whenever found. Wet things can be placed in it and left to dry out in the sun and then burned.

"Hedgers."

Hedgers are folks who never come out into the open. They are timid souls who would like to run something if they weren't afraid they might make a mistake. Sometimes these dwellers by the side have good ideas, but they are afraid to air them. They fear criticism and escape that incentive to better effort if they possibly can. So they continue living in the shade of the hedges and never doing anything to bring them into their best. And because of their peculiar thinking and habits they are not even harmless. Such folks need a fire in the hedge or something else that will make them bet themselves, and do things worthy of men and the times.

Will It Help Trains Make Time?

Many persons are still fond of the oil lamp to read by at home. In the house it still gives the amount of brilliancy desired. But lighting engineers claim superiority for the electric light in a fog.

An electric light of 1,000,000 candle-power is to be installed in the Santa Barbara lighthouse. The light itself is not 1,000,000 candle-power, but the light is intensified by the use of reflectors ingeniously cut and placed. In clear weather the light will not be visible any further than the old oil lamp, which shines 20 miles. The light is 178 feet above sea level and 20 miles is the horizon limit. But in foggy weather the new light will be visible two or three miles in place of one mile, the limit of the old lamp's beams.

Rocky Road to Knowledge.

A man who was acting queerly about the rooms of the local library last week excited much comment. He was in search of some book of reference but refused to accept the aid of the librarian in his search. After he had made a second or third visit and gone it was learned he was a member of a debating society and had been chosen to uphold the affirmative on the question: "Could you and would you order the court-martial of a soldier who saved the lives of the members of his company by shooting the company cook?"—Pottsville (Pa.) Corner, one of the most famous surgeons in England, has been conducting experiments with light metal artificial limbs on soldiers who had lost limbs during the war and whose recovery had been slow. These show that about 90 per cent of thigh amputations can advantageously be fitted with light artificial limbs, with which the men are able to walk with less fatigue and more satisfaction.

ANTI SUICIDE BUREAU.

For the past thirteen years The Salvation Army has waged an active war against suicide.

The Anti Suicide Bureau was established in London when the great suicidal mania swept through England and in a few months this little refuge for the desperate and life weary—had raised 1125 men and 90 women.

From that time on the Salvation Army has found a definite field of work in supplying the friendless with friends, the heart-broken with comfort, the bewildered and helpless with a guide, those hysterically maddened by folly with a calming influence that would steady them.

Overwork, ill health, disappointment in love, infidelity of husband or wife, sudden bereavement, drink, drugs and crime as well as mental weakness and melancholia are many of the numerous causes that lead people to think seriously upon exterminating life.

Four-fifths of the people with melancholia have suicidal tendencies and two-thirds of them actually attempt it.

It is a curious fact that it is seldom among the underworld or lower classes that suicide is frequent, but is mainly among clergymen, doctors, actors, financiers, journalists, politicians, chemists, architects, schoolmasters, bank clerks, and tradesmen.

"SEEING THE TOWN"

Just at dusk two country boys, hatless, coatless and shoeless, staggered into the Salvation Army headquarters in Baltimore, begging for money.

One was past talking, the other claimed they had run away from home to see the town, and that they had been robbed of their money and clothes on the boat that brought them from their home on the Eastern Shore. Bad whiskey and worse company had reduced these lads of 16 and 20 to a pitiable condition.

The Salvation Army officer took them in, got them into bed and a day or so later, when sobered up and repentant they worked at several jobs to pay for their keeps and were then persuaded to return to their homes again, and not risk an appearance in court for drunkenness and vagrancy while "seeing the town."

SUNK BANK'S MONEY IN WELL.

How Gold Belonging to Georgia Financial Institution Was Kept Out of Sherman's Hands.

How the money of the State Bank of Georgia was successfully hidden during Sherman's march to the sea, and how the entire sum, which was between $150,000 and $200,000, was returned to the bank virtually intact, makes a strange story. An old subscriber sends up the tale.

On the evening of November 28, 1864, Wallace Cumming, cashier of the Bank at Savannah, was ordered to take the money out of danger, for Sherman was approaching the city. Cumming's wife, who subsequently wrote the story of the adventure for her grandchildren, accompanied him on a special train that was hurrying to cross the Altamaha river before the southern troops cut the bridge. The gold was packed in nail kegs. At Thomasville they hired an empty store and placed the kegs of gold there. Jerry, one of Cumming's servants, took turns with a man named Ross in guarding the store at night.

Later they transported the money to Macon, where the State bank had a branch office. In April, 1865, news came that another federal force was making its way southward, and what to do with the money became again an anxious question.

Finally they decided to wear what gold they could, bury some and sink the rest in a deep well. Each member of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nesbit, with whom the Cumming family had lived for six months, wore wide belts made of heavy linen, which they had stitched full of $20 gold pieces. That of course took care of a comparatively small sum. Every day Mr. Cumming made several trips between the house and the bank, and on each trip came home loaded with money. Nesbit, who owned a large iron foundry, cast a long, round iron bar, about the width of a $20 gold piece, and sharpened at one end. One night Nesbit and Cumming went out into the front yard, which was a mass of rosebushes in full bloom. They thrust the rod down close to the roots of a bush and as deep as their united strength could sink it; then they filled the hole with gold eagles, which they dropped in one by one, and threw loose earth over the top. In that way they buried between $30,000 and $40,000; and they kept a record of how much was buried under each rosebush. The rest of the money they sewed up in little bags, which they placed in boxes and let down into a deep well.

Two days after the gold was buried the Yankee army took possession of Macon and seized the assets of two or three other banks in Savannah. Cumming was captured, but all that the army found in his vault was several barrels of Confederate money and a few hundred dollars in silver that he had not had time to hide. The money remained in the garden and in the well more than two years, and all of it was recovered and returned to the bank at Savannah except one small package of gold $1 pieces, which was lost in the mud and water.—Youth's Companion.

Hard Fate of Brilliant Woman. French newspapers are making terrible revelations of the poverty in which many of the greatest French savants are found to live.

The first woman doctor to practice medicine in France, Mme. Madeleine Bres, has just been discovered by the newspapers living in extreme poverty and completely blind. She is 82 years old.

Mme. Bres was a poor man's child, and when a child was employed in the hospital conducted by the Sisters of Charity at Nimes. When she was 15 years old she married a bus conductor, who was jealous of her attainments. After marriage she took lessons in Latin and gained her degree at 28. Later, by special intervention of the Empress Eugenie, she was enabled to attend examinations in medicine and study under the most noted French physicians. After practicing for 50 years, however, her sight failed and for some years she had lived on the verge of starvation, refusing the invitation of the public charity authorities to enter the paupers' home.—London Herald.

"I went to the town and made my speech. The next day the Republican county chairman wired his speakers' bureau: 'Cancel all arrangements for meeting tonight. It is not needed now.'"—Indianapolis News.

INVENTS NEW FLYER IN JAIL

Barcelona Engineer Claims His Machine Will Rise Vertically From the Ground.

CAN DIP IN ANY DIRECTION

French Government is Interested in Invention and Will Send Technical Commission to Barcelona to Witness the Trials.

London.—Paris, according to the London Daily Telegraph correspondent, is talking about a new flying machine and the romantic story of its invention.

It is called the "helicoptere," and the inventor, M. Pateras-Pescara, a Barcelona engineer, made his discovery in the Sante prison at two o'clock in the morning. It is claimed for this new flying vehicle, in which the French government is interested, for it will send a technical mission to Barcelona to witness the trials, that passengers can descend from the air with the same comfort as though they were sitting in armchairs.

How It Works. The invention consists of an axle fixed to a motor which is placed in the vehicle. The axle sets in motion sets of propellers, one set turning one way, one another. The vehicle rises vertically from the ground; it can dip in every direction, remain immobile in space, and descend like an airplane with engine stopped.

M. Pateras-Pescara, a nationalized Argentine, who married an Austrian princess, had to leave Italy when that country entered the war. He came to France, where he was employed in the ministry of inventions. In 1916 he was at work on a bombing machine which was intended to fly between Paris and Berlin with a cargo of explosives at a speed of 130 miles an hour. He had had trouble with the international police.

Arrested, he was taken to the Sante prison, and it was in his cell on December 18, 1916, that he solved the problem of the "helicoptere." The expulsion proceedings against him were dropped, and after his release he applied himself to his invention.

Proves Successful. In August, 1919, a mission from the French air department went to Barcelona to witness the trials of his parachute "helicoptere," and as a result of its report a contract was signed with the inventor. Compelled to reside outside France, M. Pescara built a definite model of his machine at Barcelona. It was tried recently, and it is said that the propellers worked admirably.

With reference to this claim of the Barcelona inventor, it may be pointed out that there is nothing whatever new about the idea of a "helicoptere," i. e., a machine capable of rising from the ground by the action of horizontally-placed propellers. The plan, in fact, is one of the oldest in the history of aeronautical theory and experiment, and has been put forward more than once during the past quarter of a century. Whether M. Pescara has succeeded in surmounting the difficulties heretofore encountered remains to be seen.

FRENCH OPEN POTASH MINES

Again Rival of Germany as Producer From Fields of Alsace Now Controlled by France.

New York.—The potash mines of Alsace, which before the war were operated by the Germans, but now are under French control, have been restored to working order, and France has again become a rival of Germany in the world's markets as a producer of this fertilizing agent, say French agents here.

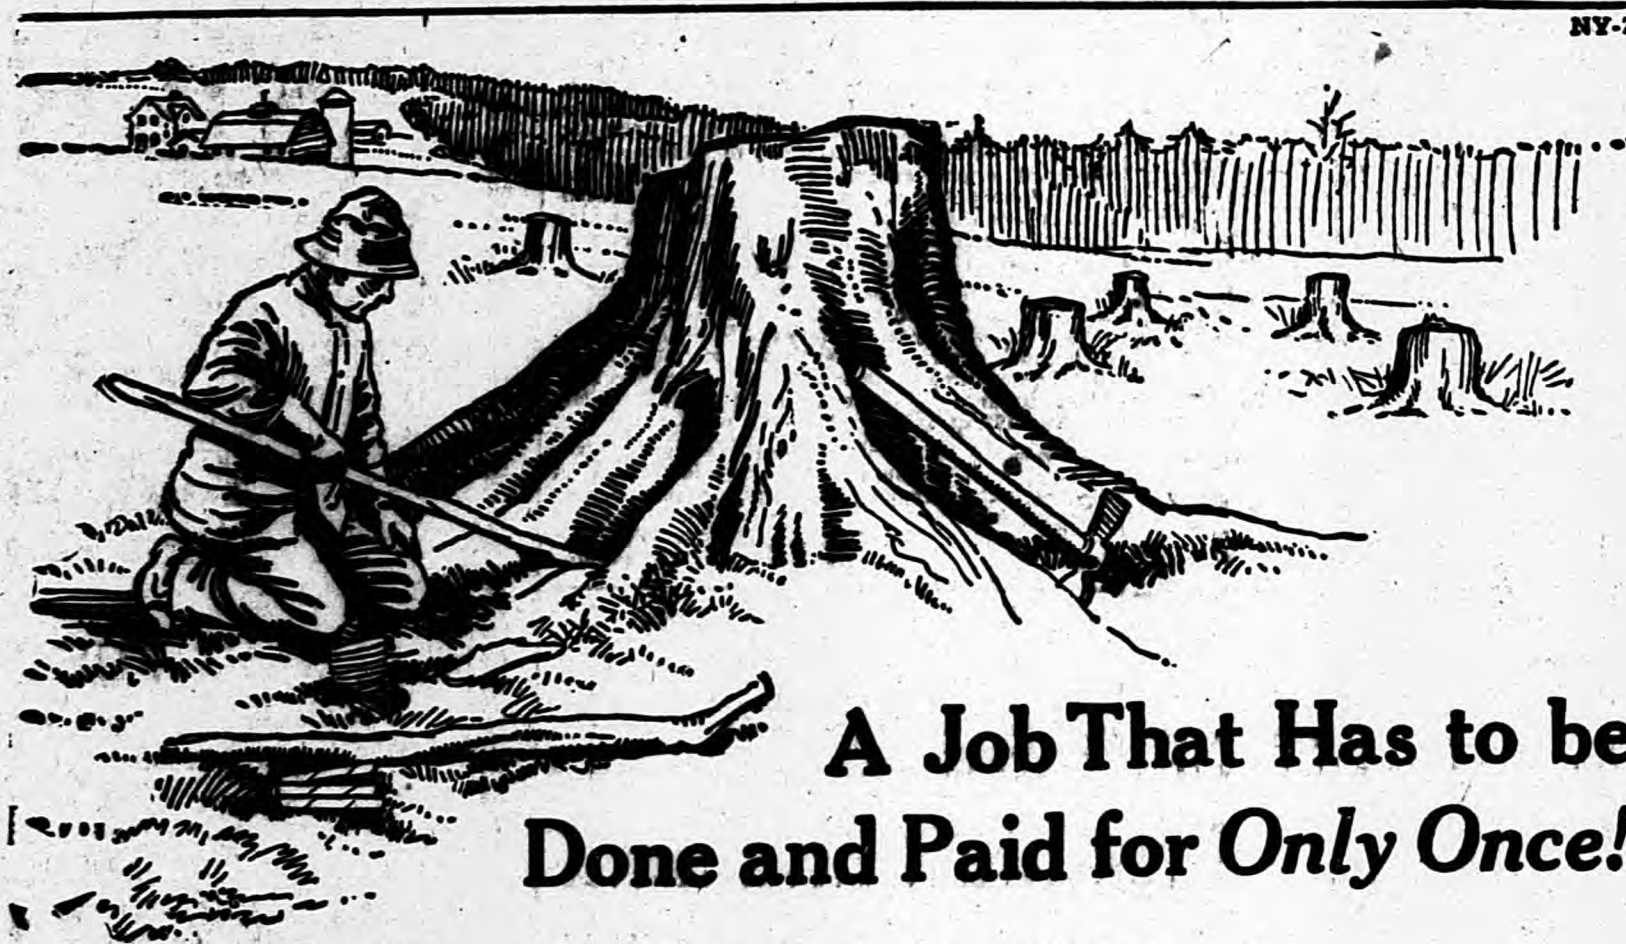

Prior to the war the Germans controlled virtually the only source of the world's supply of potash, and while the great conflict was in progress farmers everywhere suffered from lack of it.

With the restoration of Alsace to France, French engineers began the work of restoring the mines to activity, and after two years of effort, now announce that new machinery has been installed, the extraction shafts repaired and refining plants put in working order.

Many people never realized the horrors of war until they learned it had brought about prohibition.

The man who waters his milk claims that he is merely making this new-fangled synthetic product.

You hear a great deal of blue talk in these times from merchants who never dared risk a dollar on advertising.

The German government is willing to work for peace provided the other nations will permit it to do what it sees fit.

Many people are willing to make a harmonious adjustment of labor troubles provided they can have their own way.

Some people in this town take unnecessary pains to demonstrate that they are following the government advice to eat onions.

No one is willing to do common labor in these times, but no difficulty is reported in securing foremen and superintendents.

Now that income and outgo and assets are as highly taxed as possible the next step will be to tax everybody on their debts and liabilities.

The country boys who are going back to the farms from the big cities have concluded that jazz music is not very filling for an empty stomach.

You couldn't persuade a boy to aspire to be a college president if he thought there was a chance he could become captain of a local fire company.

'The freedom of the city' is a privilege granted to two classes of persons, distinguished visitors and the kid element that trample down our laws.

It is denied that the public is not interested in 'relativity,' as they all want to know whether they can get invited out to their relatives for the summer vacation.

Upon learning that the women are to make war on bosoms, Mr. Hen Peck remarks that he knows personal instances of the above which he hopes will have prompt attention.

President Harding's recommendations for economy are enthusiastically accepted by the Congressmen, except that each one has mental reservations in regard to his own district.

The tremendous enthusiasm for federal highway appropriations was slightly clouded in some districts when they learned that they have got to maintain the roads after they are built.

Many people for the benefit of their health will pay a hundred or two dollars for the privilege of swinging a golf stick at a country club when the manipulation of the hoe in the back yard would give them the same results.

THE FISHING SEASON

Many men look back to the scenes of their boyhood and dream of those bright May days when they used to get out their fishing tackle and start in pursuit of the elusive trout or other fishy prey. A lot of them do it still and keenly look forward to the first excursion of spring.

Growth of population and use of many streams for industrial purposes has limited the field for this sport. On many brooks there seem to be more fishermen than fish. The automobile extends the distance they can cover and many enthusiasts of rod and line will take a long journey for their favorite sport. Some people claim that prohibition will dry up the ardor of some of these sportsmen, but at least some of these parties still have private stocks that can be drawn upon for bottled enthusiasm.

However, most of these devotees require no artificial inspiration to send them out after the scaly prey. Many incentives urge them along brook and river paths. There is a challenge in the elusiveness of a fish. His wary and astute caution defy the sportsman to come on and see if he can get him. It is a battle of human wit against the deep rooted instinct of nature and it is a hard fight, with human faculties often defeated in the conflict. The man who has learned to outwit a wise and gamy trout has penetrated one of the mysteries of nature and is entitled to a feeling of triumph.

Fishermen are supposed to be philosophers. It takes a calm and contented mental habit and a cool patience to succeed in this game. The fisherman must be content with many off days and find compensations for his ill luck in the sweet peace of nature and the refreshment of stream and sunshine. If he is a true follower of Isaac Walton these satisfactions are ample to make up for all his reverses. Every such excursion, whether rewarded with tangible trophies or not, brings an old reward.

GOOD ROADS DAYS

Many states and cities during recent years have had Good Roads Days in which they asked all able bodied men to get out and do some work on the roads and help put them in decent shape. The results of these efforts have been highly satisfactory.

Lima, Ohio, is one of the first communities to announce such a plan for this spring. The Automobile Club is asked to make their desire for good roads something more than a vague general wish and to get out and contribute their own muscle to the work. The Farm Bureau is to help and all the surrounding towns and villages are to co-operate. You can very readily see that a county where such a movement is promoted is going to have better riding conditions this summer.

The demands for construction of permanent highways are so many and urgent and the costs of building and so great that it is impossible to attend to all these needs at once. About all that can be done, on many of these calls for help, is to haul on some good substantial material and put the road in fairly decent shape for a few years. That kind of work can be done very successfully by volunteer road makers. But of course they need competent direction and good organizing.

The volunteers should be carefully distributed as needed to the places most urgently requiring repairs, and each party should be under the oversight of some good road man.

A drive of this kind ought to be put over this spring. A well directed force of volunteer workers could do a lot to improve some of our highways. Efforts of this kind not merely improve the roads but they give people better ideas of co-operation. Public work costs more in these times because citizens expect everything to be done by public gangs and paid for out of taxes. If real estate owners would fill up hollows in the roads in front of their own places it would take but little of their time and they could save many bad holes from developing.

Pretzel Co. Declares Extra Dividend

It is understood that the American Pretzel Company, one of the Dollings Industries, will pay a bonus of $10 per share in cash to its stockholders on July 15 next, in addition to the usual 3 1/2% semi-annual dividend.

This was one of the first securities offered to the people of the Eastern Shore when the Dollings Company began operations here some three and a half years ago. A large portion of the $100,000 which this company will distribute in cash will find its way into the pockets of the Eastern Shore customers of the Dollings Company.

Their representative informs us that this is in line with the policy of the Dollings Company to have their clients participate in any profits their companies may earn over and above the usual 7 per cent.

A letter that was in the mail over four years has just been delivered in Louisiana. Postal service is improving under the new administration.

A Farmer Cured Of Rheumatism

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayder, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me." The Luxury Tax

The American people are the greatest spenders that history records, and when the annals of the World War are written the economist will have much to say about the manner in which the nation gayly and lightly threw its money into the maw of extravagance during those fateful years of 1918 and 1919. Face powder, cosmetics and perfumery cost the country three-quarters of a billion dollars in the fiscal year ended last June. Cigars, cigarettes, candy, jewelry, furs—the purchases of these goods went to figures which amazed the business men of the country. The Federal tax system laid a heavy toll upon all of these commodities, and undoubtedly have had something to do with the decline in sales.

If the sole criterion of a tax is its revenue-raising potentialities, the increase in the luxury taxes, as proposed by Henry W. Taft, is a move of doubtful value. In common with the general trend of prices, the prices of the so-called nonessentials are falling, and an addition to the tax upon them would serve to arrest this decline and to discourage the revival of the public purchases of them. Undoubtedly, certain inequalities in the luxury taxes should be straightened out as soon as tax revision is taken up by the new Congress. It seems curious that cosmetics and perfumery should be taxed only 4 per cent., while the automobile tax is 5 per cent., and railroad passenger fares 8 per cent.

Ethically, the luxury tax is more easily vindicated than any other impost on the Federal statutes. It shines in comparison with the Republican proposal to tax the food and clothing of Americans contained in that "misspoken, shambling thing," the Emergency Tariff bill. But the country must not forget, even in these days when the Treasury is so sorely in need of resources, that the purpose of a Republican tariff is only secondarily to raise money for the Government!—Baltimore Sun.

Preventative Medicine

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle. (Advertisement)

Farmers of near Marion Station who looked their berry patches over last week say they are in good shape. There is an abundance of healthy irrigation, the plants look fresh and green and what berries are in sight look splendid. A few were ripe last week and crate lots are expected to be shipped this week.

Thursday night all who were up at one o'clock witnessed the total eclipse of the moon. According to schedule the shadow of the earth passed over the face of the moon, centre to centre, and it will be many moons before such a chance will be presented to them again. The shadow began about 11 o'clock, but was not interesting until about 1 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. James Teackle Dennis, who spent the winter and early spring on the Riviera, has returned to London, where she and Lady Markham have taken a house at 13 Charles street, Knightsbridge. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spence, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Dennis, and their daughter, Miss Ida Lee Spence, may go to England later to join them.—Baltimore News.

Among the attorneys from out-of-town who attended court last week were: Messrs. W. Trickett Giles, of Baltimore; A. M. Jackson, L. C. Bailey, F. Leonard Wailes, James E. Ellegood, A. W. W. Woodcock, Taylor & Taylor, of Salisbury; James M. Crockett, L. Paul Ewell, Godfrey Child, J. Shiles Crockett, of Pocomoke City; C. P. Lankford, John B. Robins, of Crisfield.

The semi-annual meeting of the Associated Banks of Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico counties will be held in Delmar tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon, April 27th. On that occasion the officials of the Bank of Delmar and the First National Bank of Delmar will be the hosts of members of the association, and no stone is being left unturned to make the affair a memorable one.

Another of those rollicking light comedy pictures with Wallace Reid. It's called "Sick Abed" this time and will be at the Auditorium tonight—Tuesday. You don't generally go to a sick-room for laughs, do you? But in the picture Wallie isn't really ill. He's just shamming in order to get a friend out of a merry matrimonial mess. And he makes the jazziest patient the doctors ever had. With pretty Bebe Daniels as the nurse.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will run an excursion to Wilmington and Philadelphia on Sunday, May 8th. Special train will leave Princess Anne at 5.16 a. m. Returning, the train will leave Philadelphia at 6.05 p. m. Fare for round trip from Princess Anne to Philadelphia, $3.50; to Wilmington and return, $3.00. Proportionate fare from principal stations between Crisfield and Dover, Del. See advertisement on 8th page of this issue.

The remains of Mrs. Albert T. Sudler were brought to Westover last Tuesday and funeral services were held at Salem Methodist Protestant Church at Jamestown, the Rev. J. W. Baxley, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment was in the cemetery adjoining the church, of which she had been a member for many years. Mrs. Sudler was 70 years old and died in Lawrence, Kansas. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Musselman, of near Gettysburg, Pa. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons, Dr. Mervin T. Sudler, of Lawrence, Kansas; Messrs. Amos Sudler, of Denver, Col., and Oscar Sudler, of Philadelphia, Pa.

County Association Active

The Somerset County Agricultural Association is receiving orders from its members for various supplies. The members are purchasing fertilizer for corn and other summer crops. Prices have also been obtained on carlot shipments of lime. The Association will be in a position to furnish lime free to a limited number of farmers who will conduct demonstrations showing the value of lime in the crop rotation. The Association has obtained prices on certified Cobler seed potatoes for summer planting. These potatoes were grown in Western Maryland and are from first-class stock. Attractive prices have been obtained on spraying materials and barrels for early potatoes.

Arrangements have also been made by the Association to furnish auto tires to the members at a saving of 25 per cent. off the list price and 33 per cent. off on tubes. Samples of these tires can be seen at the office of the secretary and on the car of the treasurer of the Association. Farmers who are not members of the Association should join now and take advantage of the opportunities offered in co-operative buying.

Junior Order U. A. M. Meet

The fifty-first annual session of the State Council of Maryland, Junior Order United American Mechanics, opened in the Junior Order United American Mechanics' Temple, Baltimore, with more than 200 delegates and visitors in attendance. Meetings were held morning and afternoon and the session was concluded with two meetings Wednesday.

The officers elected were: State councilor, C. N. Satterfield, of Chestertown; State vice-councilor, I. R. Hosking and W. W. Dell, both of Baltimore; assistant State secretary, W. S. Kaufman, of Baltimore; State treasurer, W. P. Wright, of Baltimore; State conductor, William C. Morgan, of Frostburg; State warden, Raymond Hopkins, of Wicomico county; and Eugene Worthington, of Carroll county; State inside sentinel, W. D. Tuft, of Caroline county; State outside sentinel, Beall Gosnell, Carroll county; State chaplain, the Rev. M. R. Etchison, of Frederick county; national representatives, E. M. Thomas and William S. Howe, of Baltimore; J. A. Young, of Cumberland, and J. W. Carver, of Havre de Grace.

Specialist To Inspect Seed Corn

Arrangements have been made to have R. A. Jehle, Extension Pathologist, spend next Thursday, April 28th, in this county visiting farmers who are interested in controlling corn root rot, a disease which is causing considerable loss to the corn crop throughout the country. It is estimated that the loss from this disease last year was about 4% of the entire corn crop in the country.

This disease may be noticed on the farms of this county by spots in the corn field where the corn seems stunted and does not show a vigorous growth. Plants turn yellow and during a storm are easily blown over. This condition is caused by the disease destroying the root system which lowers the vitality of the corn plant, giving a weak stalk bearing a small, immature ear. This disease can be noted in the seed corn by a reddish brown ring in the center of the cob surrounding the pith.

Farmers having this disease in their corn and who are interested in selecting disease-free seed corn can arrange for a visit of the pathologist by getting in touch with County Agent C. Z. Keller.

Baby Born With One Tooth

Efficiency is the motto of the age, and on the 18th of this month its newest exponent, in the shape of Miss Virginia Christine Nielson, made her bow to a world of toil and struggle already partly equipped for the battle, for she arrived with one tooth in good working order, which is setting an awfully hot pace for other babies to keep up with. Virginia Christine is the daughter of Ensign and Mrs. H. S. Nielson, of Annapolis. Her father, who graduated from the Naval Academy in 1919, is now with the fleet at Guantanamo.

MAKING BAD MEN GOOD

Effective Revolutionary Method Use by the Salvation Army in Prison Work.

During the last year The Salvation Army has found employment and given financial aid to 2,800 discharged prisoners. The old story of the man who cannot find a job because he has "done time" is a thing of the past, for The Salvation Army is always willing to find him employment. The old tale of the convict who is driven back to crime through poverty and friendlessness is out of date, for The Salvation Army is daily applying its theories of practical Christianity to the prison problem.

In 383 prisons and reformatories during the last year, 8,000 religious meetings were held under the auspices of the Salvation Army. They were attended by more than 260,000 prisoners and more than 9,500 men and women declared their intention of becoming self-respecting and useful members of society.

Nor does The Salvation Army confine its prison activities to convicts and ex-convicts. The entire family is frequently cared for and protected by The Salvation Army. Food is provided where there is want, shelter is given to the homeless, and a spirit of forgiveness is instilled in order that the family may be ready to welcome the transgressor on the day of his release.

In connection with the work of The Salvation Army, both inside and outside of the prison gates, some of the most remarkable stories might be told. Among the conversions made during the last year are some of the most notorious criminals in the United States—men who were old-timers hardened offenders who had spent the major portion of their adult years behind bars. And in almost every instance the conversion has been sincere. Out of the scores placed on parole to The Salvation Army from every State and every county during the last year, only eight per cent. of the entire number failed to make good, the remaining ninety-two per cent. report regularly to The Salvation Army once each month and are quickly becoming hard-working, self-respecting men and women.

Among the recent activities of the Prison Department of The Salvation Army is the Lifer's Club, an organization composed exclusively of the 152 men who are serving life terms in the penal institutions of this country. The purpose of the club is to give the lifer something to occupy his mind—something to keep him in contact with fellow prisoners in other institutions and with the outside world. The officers of the organization are lifers, the members are lifers, and it will not be long before a magazine, edited by lifers, will be circulated by The Salvation Army through every prison in the United States, as a message of cheer for the present and hope for the future.

MATERNITY HOSPITALS

For the suffering womanhood of the world The Salvation Army has established a chain of Maternity Hospitals, where the girls, betrayed, deserted, without money, home and friends, may find a refuge and medical attention. While here, every effort is put forth toward their regeneration—the first step in which is the future care of their babies. When physically fit to go out, they are sent out to situations with their babies, which they are urged to keep and support, or they are sent back to their parents and friends.

During the past year 7103 were received into these homes of whom 6408, or 90 per cent., returned to self-sustaining lives of respectability.

Another feature of the Maternity Hospital is that section set apart for the respectable woman of moderate circumstances who may here obtain a room and the attention and nursing during her confinement at a low charge, that she could not possibly afford in the regular hospitals.

The Salvation Army has also created a little club in each Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital by means of which it is able to keep in touch with the girls who have found a haven in these hospitals in their time of great trouble. This is called the "Out-of-Love-Circle" and its members are the girls whose little nameless babies first saw light of day in a Salvation Army Maternity Hospital.

They meet once a month in each of the 23 cities in this country in which there is located a Salvation Army Rescue Home for women.

All employed in positions, most of which the Army has secured for them, and all making good; they come back to their meetings out of love, they feel for what was done for them, and thus try to show it by helping the inmates of the homes toward getting new hope for the future.

This is one of the reasons why more than 85 per cent. of all the women and girls who are graduates of the Salvation Army's 23 institutions for erring girls are now supporting themselves and their children.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

Turn and Turn About.
Prof. Nicholas Roerich, the Russian painter who refused the post of minister of fine arts in the Lenin government and who is now in the United States, tells an amusing story of the initiation of the soviet system in the imperial opera. The entire staff of the opera house in Moscow, directors, scene painters, singers, were instructed that thereafter all were to be treated on an equal basis, no one being considered better than another, and all to receive the same wage. It may be imagined that the temperamental stars did not receive this without emotion. On the night of the next performance the tenor in the leading role could not be found and a frantic search was made while the audience waited. Finally he was discovered by an amazed manager selling programs in the lobby.

"What madness. Is this?" shouted the manager. "Don't you know we are holding the curtain for you?"
"Ah," answered the singer with ironic sweetness, "you see we are all equal now. Tonight I sell the programs. Let one of the ushers sing my role."

Remedy Worth Trying.
There are many troubles which you cannot cure by the Bible or hymn book, but which you can cure by systematic exercise and fresh air.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Rescue Home Beacons Of Hope

Sixty-eight thousand girls, eight women disappeared from the streets of our cities last year. Six thousand from New York alone. Where are they?

Everywhere throughout the country the great problem of illegitimacy is confronting those who interest themselves in welfare work, but nowhere perhaps has it been met with the practical Christianity shown by The Salvation Army, which through its twenty-six Rescue and Maternity Homes in the United States returns to health, hope and sanity every year, approximately 2,000 unfortunate girls.

A Salvation Army Rescue Home is open to any girl who needs its protection and who otherwise would be forced along the paths to which only heartbreak, despair and disgrace can point. Once admitted, the past is closed behind her, the future thrown open with hope and courage, while besides the best of physical care she receives the spiritual and mental regeneration necessary if that physical care is to have its best effect.

Besides the best of prenatal and maternity care, the girl receives adequate opportunity for convalescence and assistance in finding work, which in many cases will not separate her from her child, on the ground that just as this responsibility is part of the blessing so is it part of the cure. In these new opportunities for work the girl's history is forgotten and the future thrown open with such hope and courage that the bitterness and resentment brought into the home are replaced by a steady hope and courage not only to be carried away with her but to be transposed in her influence among those whom she meets.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's.

MILLIONS FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Indiana Legislature Appropriated Nearly $10,000,000 for Legion Structure at State Capital.

A suitable national headquarters building of the American Legion in Indianapolis was assured with the passage of three bills by the state legislature, appropriating almost $10,000,000 for a war memorial structure, which will house the Legion's main offices.

Five city blocks in the heart of Indianapolis will be used for the memorial project. The building will be erected in the middle block, with the remaining plots transformed into a magnificent city plaza. At one exterior of the memorial site is located the Federal Postoffice building, erected at a cost of $6,000,000. Facing the outer end of the plaza is the $3,000,000 city library.

Tentative plans for the construction of the buildings are now in the hands of a state commission, of which Postmaster General Will H. Hays is a member. Selection of the architect will be made by the National Institute of Architecture, following a contest in which all architects of America have been invited to participate. The legislature set aside a fund of $100,000 to defray expenses of the contest and to award the artist whose designs and plans are adopted a prize of $50,000.

Invitations have been issued to national headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Women's Relief Corps, Service Star Legion, American War Mothers, Spanish War Veterans and Women's Auxiliary of the Legion to occupy quarters in the Memorial building along with the Legion.

To Dr. T. Victor Keene, national executive committeeman of Indiana, will go much of the credit for making the war memorial possible. Dr. Keene fathered the movement from its infancy and fought for it when other Legionnaires, although supporting the fight, were fearful of success. Dr. Keene was the first officer of the reserve corps of any branch of service called to active duty during the World war. He was a colonel, medical corps, in command of base hospital 70 overseas.

THE "MOTHER OF THE BONUS"

Friendly Title Assigned to Kansas Woman Member of the Legislature and Called "Legislady."

Mrs. Ida M. Walker, first woman member of the Kansas legislature, is honored by American Legion members of that state with the title of "Mother of the Bonus," for it was Mrs. Walker who drew up and pushed through a state bonus, which grants ex-service men one dollar for each day of military or naval service during the World war.

Although Mrs. Walker cannot qualify for membership in the Legion or in its Women's Auxiliary, she has been a tireless worker for the cause which brought the organizations into existence, and for which they now stand. During the World war she was state director of women's work in the Belgian relief fund and also served as food administrator for her county. The "Mother of the Bonus" also assists her husband in the publication of a weekly newspaper and is a former president of the Kansas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The advent of Mrs. Walker to the legislature resulted in the coining of a new word. At loss to distinguish between male and female members, the recent session decided to refer to women lawmakers or "legisladies."

LEGION LAWMAKER ALL THERE

Youngest Member of North Dakota Legislature Produces Results for His Fellow Soldiers.

To Robert J. Boyd, a member of Gilbert C. Gratton Post No. 2 of the American Legion at Fargo, N. D., goes the honor of being the youngest member of the house of representatives of the North Dakota legislature. He is twenty-five years old.

A former president of the Fargo Trade and Labor assembly and an active member of the Pressmen's union at Fargo, Mr.
Boyd was active in support of several bills advantageous to organized labor. He was also a strong advocate of legislation backed by the North Dakota department of the Legion.

Among the results of his work are:
the passage of bills making Armistice day a legal holiday, protecting the Legion emblem and increasing tax for bonus fund from three-fourths to one mill on taxable property. He also led the fight which resulted in the passage of a resolution urging congress to pass the Fordney five-fold compensation bill, a measure backed by the Legion.

Victory for the Legion.

The closing of the United States public health service hospital for tu-bercular ex-service men at Markle-ton, Pa., by order of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ewing La Follette, is regarded by American Legion officials as a great victory for the ex-service men's national policy in regard to disabled veterans. This hospital was first denounced as an improper place for the treatment of tu-bercular ex-service men by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, in a speech in Philadelphia last November. His stand followed numerous investigations made by government authorities, and a public appeal from 96 tubercular veterans being treated there.

First in Membership Contest.

In the first published list of leading posts in the Kansas membership contest of the American Legion, Cal
Mathewson post No. 280 of Edmond, Kan., takes first place. Next in order are the Legion posts at Sterling, Elkhart, Well and Logan. Seventy-eight posts in Kansas have already passed their 1920 membership, while ten posts have no delinquent members.

AFTER ANY ILLNESS THE BLOOD IS WEAK

If You Get Well Slowly, Try Building Up Your Blood

IT'S BLOOD THAT FEEDS THE BODY

Pepto-Mangan Creates Rich, Red Blood, Changes Pale Complexions to Bloom of Health

A serious illness, even a cold that is hard to shake off, can reduce the blood to a weak, watery condition which keeps the normal strength and vigor from coming back.

This poor physical condition brings on a helpless, discouraged mental condition which rich, red blood can restore.
Pure blood should be rich in iron which Nature supplies to some extent in food. But often through faulty digestion or improper diet, you don't get the needed iron, and your blood, on which your health depends, grows weaker and weaker.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood, increases the red blood cells and supplies the ingredients that bring a quick response in vigor, vitality and fine color.

Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-

"THE WORKINGMAN'S HOTELS"

The Salvation Army makes provision for the poor workingman of meagre wage who could not afford the luxuries of a clean bed in a respectable place for the five cents which these hotels charge.

There are 114 of these workingmen's hotels throughout the world, of which 60 are in the United States.

From 5c. to 25c. a man may secure a room with individual electric light, clean bed, with the privilege for a dime per night with a bed and locker in a large, airy dormitory.

Coffee and rolls are also furnished in some of the hotels.

While the men are expected to pay their way, orders and requests from other Salvation Army departments and various other established agencies of the cities are honored. Last year 518,142 beds were supplied free.

In these hotels they have regular band concerts and weekly religious services are conducted.

One of these, erected a little over three years ago in Chicago is a six-story structure with 611 rooms. It is steam heated, lighted by electricity and is thoroughly modern and sanitary in all of its equipment. There is a large reading room on the ground floor. This one is termed the workingman's palace—and the balance of these institutions are palaces of cleanliness and comfort to the men who make use of them. It is estimated that 1,496,887 beds have been supplied and 371,334 meals provided in these institutions.

Temples of Wood.

The Shinto temples, says the American Forestry Magazine, are always constructed from the wood of the Japanese aborvitae or hinoki.

AWAITING THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

A boy of 21 sat in the death cell, awaiting execution for murder, convicted on circumstantial evidence.

A former hoodlum and member of a gang, when caught in the near vicinity of the crime, he was the logical suspect, and falling funds, lacking friends and money, together with false evidence, sent him to prison to await the electric chair.

One day a section of a women's magazine came into his hands. There was a department devoted to the needs and problems of the men in the service and their families. The idea of the personal service suggested all through it, appealed strongly to him and he wrote to the woman editor, asking, not for help or sympathy, but for reading matter with which to while away the six remaining weeks of life.
He told her nothing of his trouble, but only of his one good friend who had visited him and was doing everything possible in his behalf.

Being a real woman with boys of her own, she sent a bundle of books and magazines and asked to have his story. Furthermore she wrote to the warden of the prison and to the boy's Salvation Army friend. From these two men came the story of the hasty trial, its details and conviction. The two men who had tried to help the boy, the lawyer who had volunteered to defend him had died before the trial was completed, and his colleague sent away to Europe on a special government mission, and was not on hand to put forth the effort for a new trial.

Before any progress toward a new trial could be made the evidence relating to the case had to be printed.
The cost of this was $75, and nowhere had this boy and friends to produce such a sum. A bed-ridden mother, a widowed sister with two small children could hardly keep themselves, let alone help him.

When the Editor Woman received this letter from the Salvation Army men, she promptly sent the $75 from her own slender resources, with the instruction to get evidence quickly.
They began to struggle to get someone of sufficient importance to move legal wheels to re-open the case. When all appeals to officials, the ministry and other agencies failed, attended by the time-worn phrase, "Let the law take its course," this determined woman resolved to appeal to another woman. A telegram was sent to the wife of the editor of one of the greatest cosmopolitan newspapers in the Boys' Home city with the plea that the case be reopened, to establish the possible innocence of a boy charged with murder.

This brought results—for the newspaper took up the case, reprinted all of the evidence, brought to light several points in the boy's favor overlooked before. The case was reopened and in a very few days on the strength of the new evidence thus developed, the boy was released and the identity of the real murderer was discovered.
Thus through the patient, kindly visitation of the Salvation Army Prison Worker, who had exhausted every resource within his power to get interest aroused in a case which he believed deserving of investigation, machinery was set in motion which gave back to society a youth of 21 whose two years of confinement under the death shadow had made of him a serious, Christian citizen, and prevented a miscarriage of justice.

Usually!

When a rogue goes to law, it is generally to keep the law from coming after him.

EVE WAS JEALOUS

Kabyles' Version of Tragedy in the Garden of Eden.

Serpent Said to Have Used Mirror to Induce Woman to Partake of Forbidden Fruit.

The Kabyles of northern Africa are an independent people—as mountain climbers are apt to be. They are not Arabs, and are far superior in honesty and integrity to the Arabs of Algeria.

Kabyle women go unveiled and enjoy considerable freedom. The people as a whole are said to be descended from north European races, perhaps remotely the same from which came the ancestors of our own Pilgrim Fathers. They are white, fresh-skinned folk, often blonde.

At one time they were Christians.
Now, although they are nominally Mohammedans, they still retain many Christian customs, and their legends abound in curious distortions of Bible tales.

They have a peculiar version as to how Eve came to eat the apple.
The serpent asked Eve if she knew the real reason why the fruit of the apple tree had been forbidden her.
She was all curiosity at once. "Because," explained the serpent, "the apples are wanted for Adam's second wife."

Eve was sure he was lying—for was not she the only woman in the world?
"No," said the serpent, "you are not.
Come to the corner of the garden tomorrow and I will show you another woman." The next day she came to the place appointed.

The serpent held up the world's first mirror and Eve looked through the bushes into the mirror and saw what she supposed was another woman. In a rage of jealousy Eve went and ate the apple.

Such warped versions of the Bible are slowly being corrected nowadays by all too few Christian missionaries.
One athletic, cliff-climbing preacher has told the story so constantly that he has been called the "Lord Jesus man"—or "Lord Jesus" for short.

In a certain village he has a special Kabyle friend called Moses. So when he visits this particular village, everyone calls to him, "Hello, Lord Jesus, are you going to the house of Moses?"

He is a good tooth puller and a fair physician and combines these arts with his preaching.

Although a learned man, he makes himself a friend of the people and will help a man catch an errant goat, or sit down with a family in a cobblestone hut and eat with them a meal of cous-cous, acorns and thrushes' brains as easily as he will lecture before a learned society on the etymology of the Berbers.—Willard Price, in the Christian Herald.

First Phonograph Disk.

The first phonographic disk is still in existence, in the Smithsonian institution at Washington. It was made in 1887, by Emil Berliner, and the first song sung on a phonographic disk was "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The original disk that Berliner experimented with is of glass. A coat of soot was rubbed over the surface.
The revolution of the machine caused the needle to scratch the sound into the glass, and thus make lines. Thus the voice of a person singing into the horn was recorded. From it a zinc disk was then made, and a copper matrix was the next step. From the matrix all records were cast. Thirty-four years ago all finished records were of rubber. Today the finished record is made of various chemical compositions, with a good proportion of rubber.

There were five steps in casting the first disks, whereas today only three steps are necessary. First, there is the wax disk, which records the voice.
Then the matrix is cast, and finally the complete record.

To Increase Goats' Milk.

Milk goat experiments in grading up from native and grade Toggenburg and Saanen does with purebred Swiss bucks, begun in 1911, were continued last year by the United States Department of Agriculture, at the government experimental farm at Beltsville, Md. The flock comprises 20 does and eight kids of one-half, three-fourths, seven-eighths and fifteen-sixteenths blood. The average daily milk yield per doe in 1919 was 3.92 pounds, an increase of 2.42 pounds over the yield of the ten selected native does which formed the foundation stock of the herd. The highest milk yield for an individual doe in one day is 8.6 pounds. For 1919 the flock showed an average of 3.7 per cent butterfat.

Never Waste.

Caution against wastefulness as practiced by many persons is apt to show itself regardless of time or place. Pedestrians attempting to round one of the busiest downtown street corners in Indianapolis recently found their path blocked by a little shawl-clad woman whose very dress and manner bespoke thrift. She was picking up a pin.

larly supposed to be Robinson Cru-

Goldsborough Opposed Tariff Bill

Following the passage of the Emergency Agricultural Tariff bill in the House Friday, the 15th instant, Representative T. Alan Goldsborough, one of the two Maryland Democrats who voted against the measure, Monday of last week explained his opposition to the bill. Representative Linthicum had previously announced why he regarded the legislation as unwise and an additional burden upon the consuming public.

"This bill will not help the farmer, but give an opportunity to the food profiteers to keep prices up," was the concluding comment of Mr. Goldsborough, who issued his first statement since going to Washington.

"In private conversation the members of the Republican minority who understand the bill, and who are frank, admit that the measure is primarily in the interest of the wool and cotton manufacturers of New England and the Packers' Trust. We import practically no corn and export about five bushels of wheat to every one imported, so that the wheat and corn farmers will not be helped," he said.

The Seven Weeks' War.

The Seven Weeks' war was a brief war in 1866 between Prussia and Italy on one side and Austria and her German allies (Bavaria, Wurttemberg, Baden, Saxony, Hesse-Cassel, Hanover, Nassau) on the other. The war was the culmination of Bismarck's plan for forcing Austria out of the German confederation and making way for a new Germany under Prussian leadership.

Moon Insignificant in Size.

The smallness of the moon as compared with the earth is found by a mechanical journal's correspondent to be little appreciated. The diameter is approximately 2,160 miles, and on a map of the same scale the disc would be not quite as wide as Australia, while it would correspond closely to the outline of the northwest shoulder of Africa.

Wonderful!

It was the terminal examination, and a budding philosopher concluded his essay on "Mother Earth" with this startling statement: "The earth revolves on its own axis three hundred and sixty-five times in twenty-four hours. The rapid motion through space causes its sides to perspire; this is called dew."

Microscopic Writing.

The British museum possesses a portrait of Queen Anne not much above the size of a hand, on which appear what seem to be a number of scratches. The scratches when magnified prove to be the entire contents of a book carried in the queen's hand.

The Oyster's Rival.

A novel industry, which promises rapid expansion in Canada, is the development of the sea mussel. The Dominion, with the co-operation of scientists, has proved that mussels can be produced commercially and sold profitably at a cheap rate.

Would Banish Scrub Bulls

County agents, dairymen and all farmers who own dairy herds are being asked by G. E. Wolcott, specialist in dairying for the University of Maryland Extension Service, to join in a still hunt against the scrub bull.

As an initial step in the campaign, Mr. Wolcott has planned a bull census which will disclose the number of herd sires in each county of the State, the farms on which they are located and the breed to which they belong. Bulls of mixed and unknown ancestry will be included and an effort will be made to ascertain the attitude of the owners of scrub sires regarding their replacement with pure-bred, registered animals.

With this information, county agents and the Extension Service will be able to launch a determined campaign for the improvement of the State's dairy herds.

"The influence of the pure-bred sire of known ancestry in improving milk and butter fat production is now so well established as hardly to need comment," says Mr. Wolcott. "A very striking example of it recently came to light in Carroll county where six daughters of one pure-bred sire gave an average production of 1,400 pounds of milk and 50 pounds of butter fat in excess of the average production of their dams."

WOMEN'S WOES

Princess Anne Women Are Finding Relief At Last

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or backaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people in this locality.

Mrs. Martha J. Tyler, Fairmount, Md., says: "I had kidney complaint and my back ached nearly all the time. I felt dull and had no energy. Headaches were frequent and I was often so dizzy I couldn't keep on my feet. My kidneys acted irregularly and annoyed me considerably. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills helping others and I tried them. They just suited the trouble and relieved the backaches, headaches and dizziness. My kidneys were regulated and I felt stronger and better in every way."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Tyler had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.
