JAMES DAUGHTERS' ESTATE.

Mr. Williams has Established the Claims of His Clients.

The Bozeman, (Montana) Chronicle, in a recent issue said: The arrival of Jay Williams, a prominent attorney of Salisbury, Md., on Monday revealed the fact to a few that he was in Bozeman for the purpose of establishing a claim to the late Jimmy Darts' estate, which inventories about $18,000.

It seems that some time after Darts' death Col. Pierce of the firm of Pierce & Pease, recalled a conversation he had with Darts, who told Pierce that he had relatives living in Maryland near Salisbury. Pierce & Pease wrote to attorney Williams, who had no difficulty in finding the heirs, when it was ascertained that Jimmy, who was very illiterate, had written his name "Darter" when it should have been Daughters. From "Darter" it became Darts. In referring to the records in Maryland Mr. Williams found the family had phonetically spelled Daughters in all conceivable shapes, but usually leaning toward "Darter." With this as a starter Mr. Williams had no difficulty; he found all of Jimmy's connections at once. They all remembered him and told of many characteristics, such as a love of money and drink, a desire to walk rather than ride, and of unclean habits so well known of the deceased.

Mr. Williams has traced Jimmy Darts' ancestry from the time of one Hudson Daughters, who came to Maryland from New Castle county, Delaware. He had nine children one of whom was James. The heirs to Jimmy Darts' estate consist of five persons, a niece, Mrs. John Young, of Baltimore, Md., Alonzo B. and Samuel J. Collins, of Salisbury and Easton, Md., respectively, Mrs. Katherine Maddox, a niece of Texas, and Wm. E. Daughters.

Mr. Williams says that those who knew Jimmy, both in and outside of the family, described him as a peculiar man, and when his late picture, which is a snapshot taken by amateurs because of the novelty of his costume, was shown them, they at once recognized him. Indeed there is a strong resemblance to the survivors. They described Jimmy as a great rover. He would appear among them suddenly and depart without leave-taking. At one time he went to England and Ireland and the family supposed he was dead, when one day he returned. He traveled all over the United States, tramping from one place to another. When the war broke out he was in Florida. He returned home and enlisted in the Confederate army. About 1867 or 1868 he disappeared. He came to this valley in 1870, where he accumulated real estate and loaned out every cent of money he could scrape together, living on whatever he could get hold of regardless of its fitness for food. This undoubtedly was the result of his tramping experience.

The story of his death from exposure and insufficient nourishment this paper had told—the recital being so true that it was unpleasant—and need not be recounted again. In the meanwhile people in this valley have been resting under the belief that Jimmy was without heirs and this will be the first intimation that there are relatives with an absolute title to the money he denied himself the slightest benefit of.

Mr. Williams, who is accompanied by his wife, and who is making a tour of the west, has contracts from all the heirs to act for them in this matter, and Pierce & Pease have at once started in to establish the legitimacy of the claim. The same paper says editorially: "Well let us be thankful that Jimmy Darts' life contributed to the happiness of five heirs—after he died."

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

State Central Committee Will Meet in Baltimore June 14.

Chairman Murray Vandiver, of the Democratic State Central Committee, has issued a call for the meeting of the committee at the Carrollton Hotel at noon June 14.

The committee will select the dates for holding the State convention, the primaries in Baltimore city and in the counties, the county conventions and the legislative district and city conventions in Baltimore.

The State committee leaves the arrangements for primaries and local conventions largely to the representatives on the committee from the various counties and from Baltimore city and merely ratifies as a body the selection of dates made by those representatives. The entire committee, however, considers the question of the date and place for the holding of the State convention. It is probable that this convention will be held this year in Baltimore in the latter part of July. It is desirous of starting out thus early in order to get the candidates in the field before the registration begins in September, in order to create an interest in the contest and thereby insure the registration of the party vote.

The State convention will nominate candidates for Governor, Comptroller and Attorney-General. It now seems probable that the contest for these nominations will be fought out on the floor of the convention. Those will be several candidates, it is thought, for each nomination.

The counties have a number of local offices to fill and delegates to the General Assembly to nominate. About half of the counties will nominate candidates for the State Senate.

It was stated Thursday that the convention might not be held before the middle of or late in August. There is also a growing sentiment against the holding of the convention at Ocean City and Baltimore may be selected for the place of meeting.

SALISBURY, MD.

LOOKS EASY!

But Isn't

You are told so often by so many advertisers that they are selling shoes "worth so and so" for "this and that"—ever so much below what it is claimed they are worth, that you come to think it an easy matter to sell shoes for less than they're worth.

BUT IT ISN'T.

As a rule we must pay the makers of good shoes a good price, and we must make a profit or go out of business. If you want good shoes you must pay our prices. We could sell you junk at less than we can sell really good footwear, but you wouldn't want it. You want only good shoes. We believe you are willing to pay fair prices. At any rate, call and see.

DR. ANNIE F. COLLEY,
DENTIST,

Did you ever see gold put into a tooth by electricity? Well, it is done almost as rapidly and almost as gently as if the gold were putty. It is put there to stay too. Cataphoresis or electro-medical diffusion is the process whereby a tooth is rendered insensible by electricity so that it can be cut with as little pain as you experience when you cut your finger nails. These are among the latest achievements of scientific dentistry. Every thing in modern dentistry either from a scientific or from a aesthetic point of view, I offer my patrons at a moderate price. Its just fun now-a-days to have teeth extracted, or to have gold filling put in. Come and be convinced.

These Full Set of teeth I am making for $10.00 are the very best money can buy and they are truly beautiful and are fully guaranteed. Office on Division Street, Oppo. Court House, SALISBURY, MD.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Gliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." None should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed at Dr. L. D. Collier's drug store.

By using a mixture of dissolved rock and nitrate of soda on his truck patch, Prof. Robinson, Maryland Agricultural college, Deer Park, has raised strawberries, which he says are as large as tennis balls, more or less.

Try it at Once.

There are a few things in this world whose enjoyment can only be realized by actual experience. One of these is the delicious taste of a cup of Lion Coffee. No other coffee at twice the price can be compared to Lion Coffee in purity and delicacy of aroma. Beside this it is the most economical coffee to use; a single pound makes 40 cups. If any of our readers have not tried Lion Coffee we urge them to make the trial at once. It is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packets and can be readily distinguished by the lion head on the wrapper.

They all saw wood, and nearly every one of 60 stations on West Virginia Central, from Cumberland to Elkton, has a sawmill. Estimated they will cut 200,000,000 feet of lumber this season.

When wear begins to exceed repair in your body you are going to fall sick. The signs of it are, loss of flesh, paleness, weakness, nervousness, etc. The repair needed is food. You think you eat enough, and yet you feel that you wear out more tissue, energy, nerve force, than your food makes for you. The difficulty is that you do not digest enough. And this is so serious it is worth sitting down seriously to think about. If you can't digest what you eat, take a few doses of Shaker Digestive Cordial. The effect of it will be to increase your flesh and make you feel stronger. You won't fall sick. Proof that it is in control of your repair apparatus. It's easy enough to test this for yourself. Take a few bottles of Shaker Digestive Cordial.

A grain of sand in the eyes can cause excruciating agony. A grain of pepper in place of the grain of sand intensifies the torment. The pain is not confined to the organs affected. The whole body feels the shock of that little irritating particle. It is so when there is any derangement or disorder of the delicate womanly organs. The disorder may seem trivial but the whole body feels it. The nervous system is disordered. There are fretfulness, irritability, sullenness and depression of spirits. The general health of woman depends on the local health of the organs peculiarly feminine. Removes the drains, ulcerations, bearing down pains, and other affliction of woman, and the whole body feels the benefit. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for the diseases that undermine the strength of women. It is free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics, poisons which enter into many other preparations for women's use. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

WAS GOV. LOWNDES SINCERE.

Governor Lowndes has announced with a flourish of trumpets that he favored the re-election of Prof. Prettyman secretary of the State Board of Education and Principal of the State Normal School and that he opposed mixing up politics and the schools.

The Governor is now a candidate for re-election and is no doubt bidding for the independent vote of Baltimore. We have no criticism to make of his action in this case, for if the principal of the State Normal School is the eminent educator, that one having his position should be, he should be left undisturbed by changing administrations. But was the governor sincere in his position that he did not believe in bringing politics into schools. It seems to us that the governor has appointed a State Board of Education since he has been in office, and most of them are new men. It might embarrass the Governor to suggest that his new board is republican, and we will not do it, although there are a great many people who seem to know Jas. M. Cushing and Z. P. Wharton as republicans and know that they would spurn the imputation of being called anything but republicans. How has it been in Wicomico? In 1896 Dr. Graham, a republican was appointed to succeed a democrat whose term expired. In 1898 Mr. E. H. Parsons a republican was appointed to succeed Mr. Jones democrat whose term expired, and these two organized the board and elected a republican examiner. Understand the ADVERTISER is not criticizing the Governor's act in this case; nor the appointments, because the appointees are capable men. Dr. Graham makes a very capable president of the board and Mr. Williams a very capable examiner.

Neither the action of the Governor in remodeling the board nor the personnel of his appointments are subjects of criticism, but the insincerity and hypocrisy of the Governor in his new position of regarding politics and the schools. We can have party boards and party examiners without having a partisan administration of school affairs. What the Governor has done in Wicomico he has done in most of the counties of the state. In some cases, however, his appointees refused to remove democratic examiners. Notably Caroline, but the Governor is in no way to be credited with this.

It is very evident that Governor Lowndes is trying to profit by Wellington's indiscretion in Baltimore, during the last municipal campaign when he spurned the help of the independents.

It will be difficult for the Governor to reconcile his statement with his former acts. He was not sincere in his statement.

—The New York Telegram, speaking of democratic candidates for the Presidency, says: The work for Senator Gorman will go on. It is pointed out in his behalf that he is one of the few statesmen the United States has produced in the last 20 years. He is of the greatest political sagacity and of the highest moral character and purpose. There is no objection that can be urged against Gorman save the one of expediency. That argument grows less formidable daily. His fitness for the place is recognized.

MR. WILLIAMS' WESTERN TRIP

Confident that James Darts' Estate Worth $18,000, Should Come to His Clients.

PLEASANT TOUR OF SIGHT SEEING IN THE ROCKIES.

Mr. Jay Williams who is in the West on business as heretofore stated in THE ADVERTISER writes Mr. Wm. M. Cooper as follows. The letter was written on the train near Spokane Falls, in the State of Washington, May 26th. Mr. Williams says:

My stay in Bozeman was a pleasant one and a successful one from a business standpoint. I do not think there can be any doubt left but that the "James Darts" who died in Galletin county Montana, in January, 1898 was a brother of Isaiah and Gillis J. Daughters and a son of Samuel Daughters whose body was buried in the Old School Baptist Church yard in Salisbury. In fact I talked with an old man who did the writing and attended to business for "Uncle Jimmy" (as they called him) and this old man told me that the deceased had told him that his father's name was Samuel. He also spoke of a brother and two sisters, and when I called their names he remembered them as being the same the deceased had mentioned in conversations with him. The deceased also told Mr. Peirce that he left two brothers in or near Salisbury. The deceased also, about 26 years ago, got a certain man now living in Galletin county, in the country near where the deceased then lived, to write to a lawyer in Salisbury concerning a note the deceased held secured by mortgage on property in our county. I have an idea that the lawyer referred to was Col. Samuel A. Graham, because I noticed from the records that Col. Graham acted as trustee in the sale of the real estate of Samuel Daughters. But the man who did the writing for "Uncle Jimmy" cannot now remember the name of the lawyer at Salisbury with whom the correspondence was had. That is a matter I shall try to look more fully into after I get home. In this correspondence the name of the deceased was written "James Daughters", but after this people who did his writing for him got to writing his name "James Darts" because he sounded his name "Darts" in pronouncing it. He did not know how to spell or to write it; but later he was taught how to write his name as "James Darts" in signing notes and deeds which is the only writing he ever did, and that was very poor writing.

The stories he told the people in Galletin county, Mont., of his past career, and the peculiarities and characteristics of the man correspond exactly with what is known of him by people in and near Salisbury. And that together with his photographs and what he said to others about his brothers and sisters gives me sufficient evidence already at hand to prove his identity and the heirship of my clients to his estate. I secured copies of two publications of a weekly county paper called the "Bozeman Chronicle". One published Jan. 6, 1898, gave an account of the finding of the old man near his cabin nearly frozen to death. The other published January 13, 1898, gives an account of his death and his career and the peculiarities and manner of his life, and is very interesting reading.

He got to be one of the worst misers I ever heard of, and the story of his manner of living is shocking.

Bozeman is a pretty town of 4000 inhabitants, lying in very rich valley surrounded by mountains whose summits are covered with snow. In the town there are two National banks, the county court house, a very large high school building, the state agricultural college a large hotel, five or six churches, a large city hall, with fire engine apparatus, opera house, free library, etc.

After leaving Bozeman, going West we passed through some of the finest scenery I ever saw in my life. In the first place the farms are immense, rich and fine. I saw them plowing; one man would have four horses to a gang-plow and would plow up a very wide breadth each time he went around. I saw them also planting and sowing by machinery and they also harvest with machinery. Everything is done by machinery on a large scale. They raise from 40 to 70 bushels of wheat to the acre and from 75 to 125 bushels of oats to the acre. They need no fertilizers and they use none. The land looks to me to be about as rich as some fertilizer I have seen used on farms in Wicomico.

For several hundred miles we were drawn by two locomotives with small drive wheels and slow motion up a continuous ascent up the Rocky mountains. At times we would be passing around high mountains, when on the other side of the car we would look down into the deep gully or chasm below and could hardly see what held the train up on the side of the mountain. At one time we entered a pass or canyon between high mountains and ran for several miles along side of a rapid flowing stream with very high mountains on each side. Along one side of the mountains was built a foot board walk extending a long distance. How they could build it along those massive rocks and fasten it there, I could not understand. There seemed to be nothing to which to secure or fasten it except the rocks of the mountain which was very high and steep.

The ascent made by the train was an average of about four feet to every 100 feet of distance traversed. At one time after we had gotten well up on the mountain we could see the railroad below us, and a freight train far below following after on the same road we had just passed over, and then further below we could see the track again we had passed over. It was fearfully grand.

When crossing from one mountain to another over tressel work bridges built over the ravines the whole train seemed as if suspended in mid air. When at the highest point traversed by the railroad we passed through a tunnel cut through the mountain. This is at what is called the "divide". On one side of the mountain at the east end of the tunnel, the water flows through the Missouri and Mississippi river to the gulf of Mexico, while the water on the other side of the mountain at the other end of the tunnel flows into the Pacific Ocean. When the train stopped at the west end of the tunnel I got out and picked up a very pretty stone which looks to me to contain quartz, coal and silver. At this point I was told by the conductor that we were over seven thousand feet above sea level. This was near Homestead, a few miles east of Butte. Soon after we passed Butte we retired, which we regretted very much, but night prevented us from seeing more of the exquisite beauty of that mountain scenery. When I raised the curtain and looked out in the morning I beheld Lake Pend d'Oreille in Idaho. It was very beautiful; but not like the mountains, they were grandly and fearfully beautiful. The lake was serenely beautiful. Reaching the lake the railroad crosses the mouth of Pack river on a tressel one mile and a half in length and skirts the northern shore for nearly twenty miles. The shores are mountainous but wherever there is a bit of beach it is covered with forest. The view of the lake from the car window, with its beautiful islands and its arms reaching into the surrounding ranges is superb.

We will stop at Toconoma and go up to Seattle and probably also to Victoria, Vancouver Island, Can., thence to Portland, Oregon, thence to San Francisco. I am enjoying my trip immensely.

Judge Holland is chairman of the committee and has called it to meet at 10 o'clock at the Carrollton Hotel Thursday.

—Tuesday evening a violent storm did some damage to the roofs of barns in the neighborhood of Boonsboro. High wind damaged trees and chimney tops at Denton, Caroline county, but little rain fell. At Easton, Talbot county, the wind and rain were severe. Two omnibus horses were killed by a live wire on an electric lighting pole which was prostrated.

—The man who left his horse standing hitched to an awning post on Main street one day last week from early morning till late in the afternoon, without food or drink is a preacher of the county, it is said. THE ADVERTISER can hardly believe this. There are scarcely a half dozen laymen in the county whose ignorance, thoughtlessness or inhumanity, would permit them to do so gross a wrong to a defenseless dumb creature.

—Mr. Denard Adkins, who tenants Mrs. Ellen Toadvine's Rockawalking farm, lost a valuable mare in a peculiar way last Thursday. He was delivering wood to the brick yard of Mr. F. C. Todd, near the farm. While trying to back the cart up to a kiln a shaft broke and ripped open the creature's abdomen. The driver attempted to lead the horse home, but before he had gone far the animal's entrails dropped to the ground, and, treading upon them she completely disemboweled herself. The mare lived only a little while.

—WANTED—A middle aged lady of fair education, to fill the position of matron of the Peninsula General Hospital. Good reference needed. Direct all communications or apply in person to PENINSULA GENERAL HOSPITAL.

Where'r You Goin'?

As thoughts of summer time come flitting through our minds—as we think of the quiet, restful country, with its Sunday-school picnics, its shady woods, its cool streams with hungry fish; as we think of the more or less fashionable summer resorts, as we think of the trip out west, the ocean voyage; as we think of the letting up from business for a few days or a few weeks; as we ask each other "where are you going this summer." Just think of it. Hav'nt you been asked where you are going this summer? Of course you have. Most of the milkmen will go with the CREAM of society to different WATERING places. Some of Salisbury's politicians will go boat racing where they can enjoy a PULL. The clothing men will go wherever it SUITS them. Probably you will go where you will need some fine clothing—some beautiful soft shirts made of madras, or may be you like silk front shirts. You may need cool underwear, fancy hosiery, or it may be that you like fine linen collars and cuffs, and lovely neck wear, or if it is white duck pants and blue serge coat and vest, Thoroughgood's got 'em. Why, Lacy Thoroughgood has got anything for gentlemen. Thoroughgood has got a grand store and carries the finest line of goods kept in any store south of Philadelphia. But remember good goods are cheap. Now Thoroughgood wants you to enjoy your vacation and Thoroughgood wants to raise money enough so that he can afford to take one. That is the reason Thoroughgood is working so hard and selling so cheap this season.

CUTS OFF THEIR HEADS.

This is How the Sultan of Morocco Treats Tax Dodgers.

The sultan of Morocco is going to prevent his subjects from evading the payment of their taxes, even if in doing it he has to behead every tax dodger in the country.

In his majesty's domain tax dodging by the rich is well nigh universal, and well informed students and travelers, knowing how corrupt and rapacious the sultan's government is, do not doubt that much of it is justifiable. But the sultan looks at the matter in a different light. He declares that there is no excuse for tax dodging, that it is criminal and, moreover, that he has hit upon a punishment to fit the crime.

Frank E. Jackson, a globe trotter of 30 years' experience, has recently made a tour of north Africa, including the accessible parts of Morocco, and in a personal letter to Frank L. Dingley of Lewiston, Me., a brother of the well known representative of that name, he gives a graphic account of the sultan's bloody and desperate method of procedure.

While in Tangier, Mr. Jackson learned that the sultan, at the head of a large body of troops, was marching through the country collecting taxes, and that at Larochie he had decapitated a large number of tax dodgers and spiked their heads above the city gates, to serve as a warning to others who might not be disposed to pay their dues promptly.

"A company of five was formed," writes Mr. Jackson, "to visit Larochie and see if this ghastly report was true. The party consisted of an Englishman, who spoke Arabic; a German and three Americans.

"We boarded a small steamboat at Tangier and sailed down the coast to Cosa Blanca. There we engaged mules, donned Arab costumes (a very prudent thing to do) and early in the morning started to Larochie, about 25 miles inland. It was a beautiful country through which we passed, fertile and well cultivated, the monotony of the desert relieved by the fig and olive trees and the stately and ever present palm. But it is a country centuries behind modern civilization. Women are still sold into virtual slavery and not infrequently to take the places of beasts of burden. More than once along the way we saw a farmer working his land, his wife and a mule yoked together drawing the plow.

"We reached Larochie about noon. It is impossible to describe the sickening sight which met our gaze as we rode up to the main entrance to the city. There above us in a ghastly row were 15 human heads shriveling in the broiling sun. We rode around to the other gates, only to find the same gruesome display. In all we counted 45 heads spiked to the board arches over the city gates. Our curiosity was fully satisfied, and all of us regretted that we had traveled so far to learn that there was at the close of the nineteenth century so barbarous a country on the face of the earth as Morocco.

"And not all of the heads were those of tax dodgers. Some were of old men and women who had never possessed anything worth taxing. It seems the sultan had vented his spite on them after learning that a number of wealthy residents of the city had been warned of his coming and had fled to the mountains, taking their cash and other portable valuables with them.

"These murderous raids are made once a year by the sultan, and it is said that he nearly depopulates some of the districts through which he passes. Upon trustworthy authority we learned that what we saw at Larochie may be seen in the wake of the sultan at every city along his route. If more bloody caputs are gathered in one place than can be conveniently disposed of there, these are carried on to decorate the gateways of the next city."—Boston Herald.

Fashions in Baths.

The oft debated question whether the present generation carries personal cleanliness to a greater length than the preceding generation did had a curious light thrown upon it at the recent Tin Plate Workers' conference. One Wolverhampton manufacturer stated that not a quarter as many portable baths were made now as formerly, and another referred to the fact of orders for 200 shower baths having been taken by a traveler in one journey at some past period, while he supposed that at the present time a manufacturer did not sell three shower baths in a year. From this it would seem that the shower bath is obsolete and that the fixed bath has merely superseded the portable one. It would appear, therefore, that the verdict should rather be that fashion in baths has changed than that cleanliness came in with the prevalence of the fixed bath.—London News.

Kept the Taylor.

When President Taylor of Vassar was considering his call to the presidency of Brown university, a student of the latter institution telegraphed this to a Vassar girl whom he knew: "The Taylor makes the man. We have a thousand men."

After the announcement of the president's decision the Vassar girl responded: "Wear your old clothes. We keep the Taylor."

A DANGEROUS DUTY.

INSPECTING DOUBLE BOTTOMS IN OUR NAVAL VESSELS.

It is Extremely Hazardous and Trying Work, and Many Precautions Are Necessary to Prevent Loss of Life During the Operation.

There is one phase of the ship life of the American naval officer that is scarcely known to the layman and that can hardly be understood by him as he looks upon the modern ship in all her attractive cleanliness and meets her neatly uniformed officers upon the spotless upper deck. Not only are the parts of the ship in sight kept clean and free from rust and decay, but also those far down, contracted spaces that never see the light of day. These include the cellular compartments between the inner and outer skins of the ship, known technically as the "double bottom," and other places that separate the magazines and various built up structures within the ship from the outer skin.

These narrow compartments are especially susceptible to dampness and rust, and in order that those who have the care of them may do their duty well and so prevent the decay of the ship, a system of inspection has been devised, and the inspectors must be, under the naval regulations, commissioned officers. A permanent board of inspection is formed upon each ship, which must consist of one engineer and two line officers. The duty of this board is periodically to make personal inspections of all the parts of the ship, examine everything critically, suggest remedies for any evils that may be found to exist and to report to the commanding officer, for transmission to the navy department, the condition of the vessel in detail.

Uniforms are discarded while making these inspections, and clad in seamen's ordinary working suits these officers crawl upon all fours throughout the length of the bottom of the ship, wriggle snakelike through narrow openings and examine with their own eyes every inch of the surface of the thin steel plates. The paint of these compartments, softened by dampness in some places and by heat and the steam laden air of the boiler rooms in others, rubs off upon the working suits, and an hour's crawling transforms the neat officer into a very sorry spectacle. In some modern navies this duty is performed by the enlisted men, the officers being exempted from it, but in our navy the feeling exists that an enlisted man should not be asked to go where an officer is not willing to lead. The result is that "things always work" with the Americans and the efficiency of the fleet is assured.

Numerous precautions must be taken to avoid the risk of losing life while performing this duty, for it is attended with no little danger. The atmosphere of confined spaces entirely or partly closed for a considerable length of time becomes robbed of its oxygen in the formation of rust and is soon made unfit to sustain life. If possible, such compartments are blown out with pure air led through a hose from a blower duct and all manhole plates removed before being entered. A lighted candle is always carried by the inspecting officer upon his crawling tour. If the candle burns dimly or seems upon the point of being extinguished, there is a deficiency of oxygen, and he will immediately seek the nearest opening leading from the compartment and leave it at once. Men are stationed at places as near as possible to him, so that they may hear his voice and render immediate assistance in case of need. No one is allowed to enter any confined space on board ship without an uncovered light, although in addition a portable electric light is carried frequently to render the inspection more thorough.

It not infrequently happens that officers and men become so wedged between bulkheads and beams while performing this duty as to make it extremely difficult to remove them, and more than one officer of the navy is upon the retired list today because of permanent injury to his health contracted while performing this arduous labor. Because of the care exercised it is rare that a life is lost in this service, but in one case at least the rashness of a man proved fatal to him. One of the main boilers of the cruiser Newark, while flagship of the south Atlantic station, having been tightly closed for a month, while empty, in order to preserve it from deterioration, the coppersmith of that vessel, an energetic, faithful man, thought its interior should be examined and, although warned repeatedly never to enter such a boiler without an open light, removed an upper manhole plate and crawled in upon the braces with an electric light. He told no one that he was going into the boiler, and no one was stationed to assist him in case of need. His dead body was found half out and half in the boiler manhole with the electric light still burning brightly within the boiler. He had evidently crawled in upon the braces, felt a faintness creeping over him and had endeavored to regain the open air, but lost consciousness just as life lay within his reach, and so died of asphyxiation. The air in the boiler had been entirely robbed of its oxygen by the iron of the shell in the formation of rust, and the residuum was unfit to breathe. A lighted candle was snuffed out immediately upon being thrust into the boiler, and this condition prevailed until a lower manhole plate was removed, when the heavy gas ran out as water might, and the air within soon came to be quite pure. No more vivid illustration of the dangers to be encountered in the care of ships afloat and the precautions necessary to be taken in this duty could be given than this incident, which shows that shot and shell and bursting steam pipes are not the only dangers that confront the officers and men of Uncle Sam's navy.—New York Sun.

He Was Book Mad.

In the history of the world only a few bibliophiles have existed. The bibliophile, in contrast to the bibliomaniac, who loves books, and the bibliomaniac, who is possessed by an unrestrained passion for them, is one who delights in buying and storing them as squirrels, mice and ground animals store things against the imaginary needs of a future day.

Bishop Heber was the most distinguished of bibliophiles. He was rich, and he bought books by the tens of thousands. He would hold as foolishness that saying of the Greeks which exhorts one to do nothing too much. According to Heber's theory, it was impossible to have too many books. He had a library in his house at Hodnet. His residence in Pimlico, where he died, was filled, like Magliabecchi's at Florence, with books from the top to the bottom. Every chair, every table, every passage contained piles of erudition. He had a house in York street, London, filled with books. He had a library at Oxford, one at Antwerp, one at Brussels and one at Ghent. The most accurate estimate of his collections places the total at 146,827 volumes, which cost him $500,000. After his death the catalogue of his accumulations was published in three parts, and the sales lasted over three years.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

To Cure Seasickness.

Another contrivance for the cure or amelioration of seasickness has been brought out. It is a small electric hanging stove, which can be put on a bracket and fastened up in a stateroom. It holds a cup which will contain liquid food and keep it hot, so that the patient may not have to wait an instant for a swallow of beef tea or broth, which is considered almost a preventive of sickness if taken when the first qualms attack the traveler. The difficulty is to get the broth perfectly hot. When it is half warm, it only increases the nausea, and the most attentive stewards cannot wait on numberless passengers and serve each one with food at the exact moment when it is needed. Thus the electric stove becomes a boon to all who would avoid the approach of seasickness.

Still Standing Where He Froze.

Out on the Laramie plains, west of Laramie, Wyo., there is a grim monument to the terrors of the past rigorous winter. Between the two Laramie rivers there stands a horse which was frozen to death during one of the very severe storms of the past season. The animal was frozen while standing, the snow having drifted in about him and held the carcass erect. The snow has since melted away and the horse is still standing, his four feet being extended in a bracing position.—Denver Republican.

Telephones In Use.

The advance sheets of the consular reports present statistics showing that the world has in use 1,288,182 telephones, with 1,509,499 miles of distance covered. The United States leads, with 772,627 telephones, followed by Germany, with 151,101; France, with 27,736 (in 1894); England, 69,645 (in 1894); Sweden, 58,500; Norway, 20,678; Canada, 33,500; Switzerland, 28,946. Russia is but poorly equipped, with 18,495.

DR. TALMAGE DISCUSSES OUR NATIONAL LIFE.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]
WASHINGTON, May 28.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage speaks of some of the perils that threaten our American institutions and points out the path of safety; text, Isaiah lxii. 4. "Thy land shall be married."

As the greater includes the less, so does the circle of future joy around our entire world include the epicycle of our own republic. Bold, exuberant, unique, divine imagery of the text. At the close of a week in which for three days our national capital was a pageant, and all that grand review and bannered procession and national anthems could do celebrated peace, it may not be inapt to anticipate the time when the Prince of Peace and the Heir of Universal Dominion shall take possession of this nation and "thy land shall be married."

In discussing the final destiny of this nation, it makes all the difference in the world whether we are on the way to a funeral or a wedding. The Bible leaves no doubt on this subject. In pulpits and on platforms and in places of public concourse I hear so many of the muffled drums of evil prophecy sounded, as though we were on the way to national interment, and beside Thebes and Babylon and Tyre in the cemetery of dead nations our republic was to be entombed, that I wish you to understand it is not to be obsequies, but nuptials; not mausoleum, but carpeted altar; not cypress, but orange blossoms; not requiem, but wedding march, for "thy land shall be married."

I propose to name some of the suitors who are claiming the hand of this republic. This land is so fair, so beautiful, so affluent that it has many suitors, and it will depend much upon your advice whether this or that shall be accepted or rejected. In the first place, I remark: There is a greedy, all grasping monster who comes in as suitor seeking the hand of this republic, and that monster is known by the name of monopoly. His scepter is made out of the iron of the rail track and the wire of telegraphy. He does everything for his own advantage and for the robbery of the people.

Things went on from bad to worse until in the three legislatures of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania for a long time monopoly decided every thing. If monopoly favor a law, it passes; if monopoly opposes a law it is rejected. Monopoly stands in the railroad depot putting into his pockets in one year $200,000,000 in excess of all reasonable charges for services. Monopoly holds in his one hand the steam power of locomotion and in the other the electricity of swift communication. Monopoly has the Republican party in one pocket and the Democratic party in the other pocket. Monopoly decides nominations and elections—city elections, state elections, national elections. With bribes he secures the votes of legislators, giving them free passes, giving appointments to needy relatives to lucrative position, employing them as attorneys if they are lawyers, carrying their goods 15 per cent less if they are merchants, and if he find a case very stubborn as well as very important puts down before him the hard cash of bribery.

Not Easily Overthrown.
But monopoly is not so easily caught now as when during the term of Mr. Buchanan the legislative committee in one of our states explored and exposed the manner in which a certain railway company had obtained a donation of public land. It was found out that 18 of the senators of that state received $175,000 among them, 60 members of the lower house of that state received between $5,000 and $10,000 each, the governor of that state received $50,000, his clerk received $5,000, the lieutenant governor received $10,000, all the clerks of the legislature received $5,000 each, while $50,000 were divided among the lobby agents. That thing on a larger or smaller scale is all the time going on in some of the states in the union, but it is not so blundering as it used to be, and therefore not so easily exposed or arrested. I tell you that the overshadowing curse of the United States today is monopoly. He puts his hand upon every bushel of wheat, upon every sack of salt, upon every ton of coal, and every man, woman and child in the United States feels the touch of that moneyed despotism. I rejoice that in 24 states of the union already antimonopoly leagues have been established. God speed them in the work of liberation.

I have nothing to say against capitalists. A man has a right to all the money he can make honestly—I have nothing to say against corporations as such; without them no great enterprise would be possible, but what I do say is that the same principles are to be applied to capitalists and to corporations that are applied to the poorest man and the plainest laborer. What is wrong for me is wrong for great corporations. If I take from you your property without any adequate compensation, I am a thief, and if a railway damages the property of the people without making any adequate compensation, that is a gigantic theft. What is wrong on a small scale is wrong on a large scale. Monopoly in England has ground hundreds of thousands of her best people into semistarvation and in Ireland has driven multitudinous tenants almost to madness and in the United States proposes to take the wealth of 60,000,000 or 70,000,000 of people and put it in a few silken wallets.

Monopoly, brazen faced, iron fingered, vulture hearted monopoly offers his hand to this republic. He stretches it out over the lakes and up the great railroads and over the telegraph poles of the continent and says, "Here is my heart and hand; be mine forever." Let the millions of the people north, south, east and west forbid the banns of that marriage, forbid them at the ballot box, forbid them on the platform, forbid them by great organizations, forbid them by the overwhelming sentiment of an outraged nation, forbid them by the protest of the church of God, forbid them by prayer to high heaven. That Herod shall not have this Abigail. It shall not be to all devouring monopoly that this land is to be married.

Another suitor claiming the hand of this republic is nihilism.

The Menace of Nihilism.

He owns nothing but a knife for universal outthroatery and a nitroglycerin bomb for universal explosion. He believes in no God, no government, no heaven and no hell except what he can make on earth! He slew the czar of Russia, keeps many a king practically imprisoned, killed Abraham Lincoln, would put to death every king and president on earth, and if he had the power would climb up until he could drive the God of heaven from his throne and take it himself, the universal butcher. In France it is called communism; in the United States it is called anarchism; in Russia it is called nihilism, but that last is the most graphic and descriptive term. It means complete and eternal smash up. It would make the holding of property a crime, and it would drive a dagger through your heart and put a torch to your dwelling and turn over this whole land into the possession of theft and lust and rapine and murder.

Where does this monster live? In all the towns and cities of this land. It offers its hand to this fair republic. It proposes to tear to pieces the ballot box, the legislative hall, the congressional assembly. It would take this land and divide it up, or rather divide it down. It would give as much to the idler as to the worker, to the bad as to the good. Nihilism! This panther, having prowled across other lands, has set its paw on our soil, and it is only waiting for the time in which to spring upon its prey. It was nihilism that burned the railroad property at Pittsburgh during the great riots; it was nihilism that slew black people in our northern cities during the war; it was nihilism that mauled to death the Chinese immigrants years ago; it is nihilism that glares out of the windows of the drinkeries upon sober people as they go by. Ah! Its power has never yet been tested. I pray God its power may never be fully tested. It would, if it had the power, leave every church, chapel, cathedral, schoolhouse and college in ashes.

Danger From Infidelity.

Another suitor for the hand of this nation is infidelity. When the midnight ruffians despoiled the grave of A. T. Stewart in St. Mark's churchyard, everybody was shocked, but infidelity proposes something worse than that—the robbing of all the graves of Christendom of the hope of a resurrection. It proposes to chisel out from the tombstones of your Christian dead the words, "Asleep in Jesus" and substitute the words, "Oblivation—annihilation." Infidelity proposes to take the letter from the world's Father, inviting the nations to virtue and happiness and tear it up into fragments so small that you cannot read a word of it. It proposes to take the consolation from the broken hearted and the soothing pillow from the dying. Infidelity proposes to swear in the president of the United States and the supreme court and the governors of states and the witnesses in the courtroom with their right hand on Paine's "Age of Reason" or Voltaire's "Philosophy of History." It proposes to take away from this country the book that makes the difference between the United States and the kingdom of Dahomey, between American civilization and Bornean cannibalism. If infidelity could destroy the Scriptures, it would in 200 years turn the civilized nations back to semibarbarism, and then from semibarbarism into midnight savagery until the morals of a menagerie of tigers, rattlesnakes and chimpanzees would be better than the morals of the shipwrecked human race.

The only impulse in the right direction that this world has ever had has come from the Bible. It was the mother of Roman law and of beautiful jurisprudence. That book has been the mother of all reforms and all charities—mother of English magna charta and American Declaration of Independence. Benjamin Franklin, holding that Holy Book in his hand, stood before an infidel club in Paris and read to them out of the prophecies of Habakkuk, and the infidels, not knowing what book it was, declared it was the best poetry they had ever heard. That book brought George Washington down on his knees in the snow at Valley Forge and led the dying Prince Albert to ask some one to sing "Rock of Ages."

I tell you that the worst attempted crime of the century is the attempt to destroy this book. Yet infidelity, loathsome, stenchful, leprous, pestiferous, rotten monster, stretches out its hand, ichorous with the second death, to take the hand of this republic. It stretches it out through seductive magazines, and through lyceum lectures and through caricatures of religion. It asks for all that part of the continent already fully settled, and the two-thirds not yet occupied. It says: "Give me all east of the Mississippi, with the keys of the church and with the Christian printing presses—then give me Wyoming, give me Alaska give me Montana, give me Colorado, give me all the states west of the Mississippi, and I will take those places and keep them by right of possession long before the gospel can be fully entrenched."

And this suitor presses his case appealingly. Shall the banns of that marriage be proclaimed? "No!" say the home missionaries of the west, a martyr band of whom the world is not worthy, toiling amid fatigues and malaria and starvation. "No!" not if we can help it. By what we and our children have suffered, we forbid the banns of that marriage! "No!" say all patriotic voices, "our institutions were bought at too dear a price and were defended at too great a sacrifice to be so cheaply surrendered." "No!" says the God of Bunker Hill and Independence hall and Gettysburg, "I did not start this nation for such a farce." "No!" cry 10,000 voices, "to infidelity this land shall not be married!"

Christ as the Bridegroom.

But there is another suitor that presents his claim for the hand of this republic. He is mentioned in the verse following my text where it says, "As the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee." It is not my figure—it is the figure of the Bible. Christ is so desirous to have this world love him that he stops at no humiliation of simile. He compares his grace to spittle on the eyes of the blind man. He compares himself to a hen gathering the chickens, and in my text he compares himself to a suitor begging a hand in marriage. Does this Christ, the king, deserve this land? Behold Pilate's hall and the insulting expectation on the face of Christ. Behold the Calvarian massacre and the awful hemorrhage of five wounds. Jacob served 14 years for Rachel, but Christ, my Lord, the king, suffered in torture 33 years to win the love of this world. As often princesses at their very birth are pledged in treaty of marriage to princes or kings of earth, so this nation at its birth was pledged to Christ for divine marriage. Before Columbus and his 120 men embarked on the Santa Maria, the Pinta, and the Nina, for their wonderful voyage, what was the last thing they did? They sat down and took the holy sacrament of the Lord Jesus Christ. After they caught the first glimpse of this country and the gun of one ship had announced it to the other vessels that land had been discovered, what was the song that went up from all the three decks? "Gloria in excelsis." After Columbus and his 120 men had stepped from the ship's deck to the solid ground, what did they do? They all knelt and consecrated the new world to God. What did the Huguenots do after they landed in the Carolinas? What did the Holland refugees do after they had landed in New York? What did the pilgrim fathers do after they landed in New England? With bended knee and uplifted face and heaven beseeching prayer, they took possession of this continent for God. How was the first American congress opened? By prayer, in the name of Jesus Christ. From its birth this nation was pledged for holy marriage with Christ.

And then see how good God has been to us! Just open the map of the continent and see how it is shaped for immeasurable prosperities. Navigable rivers, more in number and greater than of any other land, rolling down on all sides into the sea, prophesying large manufactures and easy commerce. Look at the great ranges of mountains timbered with wealth on the top and sides, metaled with wealth underneath. One hundred and eighty thousand square miles of coal. One hundred and eighty thousand square miles of iron. The land so contoured that extreme weather hardly ever lasts more than three days—extreme heat or extreme cold. Climate for the most part bracing and favorable for brawn and brain. All fruits, all minerals, all harvests. Scenery displaying an autumnal pageantry that no land on earth pretends to rival. No South American earthquake. No Scotch mists. No London fogs. No Egyptian plagues. No Germanic divisions. The people of the United States are happier than any people on earth. It is the testimony of every man that has traveled abroad. For the poor more sympathy, for the industrious more opportunity. Oh, how good God was to our fathers, and how good he has been to us and our children. To him—blessed be his mighty name—to him of cross and triumph, to him who still remembers the prayer of the Huguenots and Holland refugees and the pilgrim fathers, to him shall this land be married. Oh, you Christian patriots, by your contributions and your prayers, hasten on the fulfillment of the text.

The Immigration Question.

We have been turning an important leaf in the mighty tome of our national history. One year at the gates of this continent over 500,000 emigrants arrived. I was told by the commissioners of emigration that the probability was that in that one year 600,000 emigrants would arrive at the different gates of commerce. Who were they? the paupers of Europe? No. At Kansas City, I was told by a gentleman, who had opportunity for large investigation, that a great multitude had gone through there, averaging in worldly estate $800. I was told by an officer of the government, who had opportunity for authentic investigation, that thousands and thousands had gone, averaging $1,000 in possession each. I was told by the commission of emigration that 20 families that had recently arrived brought $85,000 with them. Mark you, families, not tramps. Additions to the national wealth, not subtractions therefrom. I saw some of them reading their Bibles and their hymn books, thanking God for his kindness in helping them cross the sea. Some of them had Christ in the steerage all across the waves, and they will have Christ in the rail trains which at 5 o'clock every afternoon start for the great west. They are being taken by the commission of emigration in New York, taken from the vessels, protected from the Shylocks and the sharper, and in the name of God and humanity passed on to their destination, and there they will turn your wildernesses into gardens, if you will build for them churches and establish for them schools and send to them Christian missionaries.

Are you afraid this continent is going to be overcrowded with this population? Ah, that shows you have not been to California, that shows you have not been to Oregon, that shows that you have not been to Texas. A fishing smack today on Lake Ontario might as well be afraid of being crowded by other shipping before night as for any one of the next ten generations of Americans to be afraid of being overcrowded by foreign populations in this country. The one state of Texas is far larger than all the Austrian empire, yet the Austrian empire supports 35,000,000 people. The one state of Texas is larger than all France and France supports 36,000,000 people. The one state of Texas far surpasses in size the Germanic empire, yet the Germanic empire supports 41,000,000 people. I tell you the great want of the western states is more population.

While some people may stand at the gates of the city, saying, "Stay back!" to foreign populations, I press out as far beyond those gates as I can press out beyond them and beckon to foreign nations, saying, "Come, come, all ye people who are honest and industrious and God loving!" But say you, "I am so afraid that they will bring their prejudices for foreign governments and plant them here." Absurd. They are sick of the governments that have oppressed them and they want free America! Give them the great gospel of welcome. Throw around them all Christian hospitalities. They will add their industry and hard earned wages to this country, and then we will dedicate all to Christ and "thy land shall be married." But where shall the marriage altar be? Let it be the Rocky mountains, when, through artificial and mighty irrigation, all their tops shall be covered, as they will be, with vineyards and orchards and grainfields. Then let the Bostons and the New Yorks and the Charlesons of the Pacific coast come to the marriage altar on one side, and then let the Bostons and the New Yorks and the Charlesons of the Atlantic coast come to the marriage altar on the other side, and there between them let this bride of nations kneel, and then if the organ of the loudest thunders that ever shook the Sierra Nevadas on the one side or moved the foundations of the Alleghanies on the other side should open full diapason of wedding march that organ of thunders could not drown the voice of him who would take the hand of this bride of nations, saying, "As a bridegroom rejoiceth over a bride, so thy God rejoiceth over thee." At that marriage banquet the platters shall be of Nevada silver, and the chalices of California gold, and the fruits of northern orchards, and the spices of southern groves, and the tapestry of American manufacture, and the congratulations from all the free nations of earth and from all the triumphant armies of heaven, "And so thy land shall be married."

Dr. Hillis Tells This Story.

A recent fire in Chicago destroyed McClurg's great bookstore and with it a collection of old and rare volumes. These books were kept in an obscure place which Eugene Field called Saints' and Sinners' corner, because of the heterogeneous character of its frequenters. Dr. Hillis, who is now pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, tells some interesting stories about Saints' and Sinners' corner. One of them is concerning Field. He dearly loved these old books, but their valuation was often out of his reach. One book in particular he coveted, a rare volume of Burns. He could not afford to buy it when it first came into the collection, but he saved it for himself by writing on a fly leaf:

Gude friends, for Jesus' sake forebare
To buy ye book that's soeant here,
For I have gone to earn the pelf—
I mean to buy ye book myself.

THE BETHEL FLAG.

How "Bully" Hayes Used It as an Emblem of Piracy.

Two sets of missionary initials divide the Pacific ocean north and south. Along about the line, in the Gilbert and the Marshall islands and in the Carolines before the Spaniards took charge, everything belongs to the A. B. C. F. M., which is American, and maintains the Morning Star as the mission vessel. South of the line the initials are L. M. S., and the fast steamer yacht John Williams is the moral commerce destroyer of the London Missionary society, which has entered into a friendly division of heathen territory with the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

This is a true story of the Bethel flag of the London missions, one of the best known ensigns in the south seas, and always trusted by even the wildest natives, who have learned to recognize the blue flag with the white palm leaves and initials. The present John Williams, the steamer, is the third vessel to bear the name of the martyred pioneer of the gospel in those waters.

The first John Williams was a brig which ended a long career of usefulness by being wrecked on a reef at Niue, the Savage island of the charts. After her crew had landed all her cargo and stores among the friendly natives the vessel was put up at underwriters' sale by the British consul at Apia, with the stipulation that the name John Williams should not be used if the wreck were salvaged.

For a small sum the wreck became the property of William G. Hayes, an American, who added a decided spice to south sea life in the seventies, and who has not escaped fame under his common and well earned designation of "Bully Hayes the Pirate." Being one of the most accomplished of seamen, he found no great difficulty in hauling the wreck to the reef and patching the holes in her bottom. Changing her name to Lenore, he sailed her into Apia. The mission authorities were shocked to see flying at the fore their familiar flag, "Bully" Hayes refused to surrender it. He claimed it as part of his property, since he had bought the wreck as she stood, and this flag had been found aboard.

When the limited legal machinery of the time and place was set in operation against him, he nailed the mission flag to the mast and swore that it should never be hauled down. It never was. His first use of the emblem of peace was to run up to one of the islands to the northward. There the people flocked aboard as soon as they saw the familiar vessel with the well known flag. They staid aboard permanently, under grating hatches, for "Bully" Hayes said he was not responsible if they could not read the brig's name. That was only the first cargo of slaves which found its way to the plantations, where few questions were then asked which might interfere with the labor trade.

The missionary people were frantic at this desecration of their flag. But before the wind had worn it to rags the Lenore had made a piratical reputation solely out of keeping with the pious profession displayed at its fore.—New York Tribune.

A Fugitive With a Fortune.

W. H. Bridgens, who died the other day, was in 1864 a messenger for the Holiday Express, running from Leavenworth to Santa Fe. On one of his trips he had $100,000 in greenbacks strapped about his person and secreted in his clothes. There was no one but him and the driver in charge of the coach, and for days they proceeded along their lonesome journey without seeing a human face.

When yet many miles from Santa Fe they were overtaken by a howling band of Indians and a fierce battle was fought. Bridgens and his companion exhausted their ammunition and continued the fight with their knives. Finally they succeeded in unloosening their horses from the stage, and, quickly mounting them, fled through the timber. The savages gave chase and succeeded in separating the two men, but did not capture either of them. Mr. Bridgens still retained his treasure, but he lost his way among the crags and canyons, and it was more than two weeks before he found his way to the house of a white man. During all this time he subsisted entirely upon berries and herbs. His long absence caused his employers to believe that he had been robbed and killed by the Indians, and before his return they had made good the money they had given up as lost. When Mr. Bridgens returned with his precious burden still intact they were amazed, and so grateful were they that they presented their young agent with a handsome token of their appreciation.—Kansas City Journal.

The Kansas Boys.

In a letter home one of the Kansas boys in Manila says that when General Miller was organizing his expedition to Hilo he asked General Otis to assign the Twentieth Kansas to his command, giving as a reason that the men had been under his command in San Francisco, that he knew them and had confidence in them and believed they would stand their ground in any fight. "That settles it," said General Otis. "I need them here."

MATRIMONIAL ENIGMAS.

Queer Relationships Resulting From Some Recent Indiana Marriages.

There are more freak matrimonial complications in Indiana to the square mile than in any other section of the country. Cupid, in his operations through Indiana, seems to have been afflicted with a most aggravated case of blind staggers.

Justice W. W. Strader has just united in marriage Russell Debusk and Miss Ella Bevars, and William Bevars and Miss Alpha Debusk. Miss Debusk is the daughter of Russell Debusk, and William Bevars is a brother of Debusk's bride. A queer relationship is the result. Bevars' own sister is naturally his mother-in-law, and his father-in-law is also his brother-in-law. Debusk's daughter becomes his sister-in-law. Mrs. Debusk is the stepmother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Bevars. Mrs. Bevars, being her father's sister, is consequently an aunt unto herself, while Debusk, being his daughter's brother, must necessarily be his own father. In case there is issue the child might be its own grandparent or the grandparent of its own father, while if this was carried out another generation it might easily be deduced that the child was never born.

But this case is hardly as remarkable as one which has come to light at Dillsboro. David Gray married his granddaughter by a former marriage. It would appear that the Grays believe in odd marriages, for Gray's father married his stepdaughter, whose mother was an aunt of the present wife. Now the question of relationship comes up. These two queer matrimonial ventures encircle themselves so often when the pencil is applied to the problem that by tracing it out it is very easy to figure all parties off the earth.

Over the line, in Ohio county, a man named Miller married a widow who had a grown up daughter. His father fell in love with the stepdaughter. The father became the son's son-in-law and the stepdaughter became his mother. Recently the son's wife had a child. The child was Miller's father's brother-in-law and Miller's own uncle, for he was a brother of his stepdaughter. Miller's father's wife—his stepdaughter—also had a son, who was, of course, Miller's brother, and incidentally Miller's grandchild, for he was the son of Miller's daughter. Thus Miller's own wife was his mother's mother and Miller became his wife's grandchild at the same time. And then, to top the whole thing off, as the husband of his grandmother he was his own grandfather.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A HINDOO SACRIFICE.

A Growsome Story of the Superstition That Prevails in India.

India is a country where the gross superstitions prevailing among the natives frequently produce the most horrible and inconceivable tragedies. Many of these are done in secret, but now and then they come to light and give a startling reminder to the Englishmen in India that "east is east and west is west, and never the twain shall meet."

In the up country town of Hingoli, in the Deccan, is a cotton spinning mill owned by natives. One of the proprietors, a Parsee named Nowrojee, looks after the engines and machinery of the mill. Lately the machinery has not been working well, and the engine in particular has given considerable trouble. The native engineers seem to have got it into their heads that the engine was really driven by a god which took the form of steam. When it went wrong, they thought the god was angry and needed propitiating by the sacrifice of a human being.

One night a Hindoo laborer named Govindah was passing the mill. Some workmen, sitting in the yard smoking, called out to him to join them. The gang had just been discussing the vagaries of the engine and the necessity for offering a sacrifice to it. The whole party walked toward the boiler, and some of the men seized Govindah. Others swung open the furnace door and the unfortunate man was crammed inside head first. They had to loose their hold of his body in order to shove the furnace door, whereupon Govindah, who was a very powerful man, managed to get out and free himself.

He was frenzied with pain and fear and had sustained ghastly injuries. The engineers did not make a second attempt to thrust him in the furnace, and he crawled away to his hut. His faithful wife tended him all night and took him in the morning to the local hospital, where it was found that he was horribly burned about the head, arms and chest, parts being absolutely charred. He died of tetanus. Nowrojee and one of the engineers have been arrested.—Bombay Letter to Chicago Record.

A Night of Horror.

They trampled on their victim and they tore him with their claws; They swooped upon him in a band; They pecked him without pause; They stalked across his aching form; They made him roll and shriek; They swooped upon him in a swarm, And ripped with claw and beak. He rolled and tumbled all about— At last he gave a scream That in a jiffy put to rout That horrid turkey dream! —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Then and Now.

"Twenty-five years ago," said the Kansas City Journal, "a Russian lad of 16 years arrived in Hays City, Kan., direct from the river Volga. He was dressed in a sheepskin coat, and his first act on stepping from the train was to light his pipe with flint and steel. Last week Hays City inaugurated a fine electric light system, of which this Russian lad is the sole proprietor."

An Added Burden.

"So!" exclaimed the Ohio judge scornfully. "You are the kind of man who would try to get a divorce from your wife simply because she had an artificial optic!"

"It wasn't simply that, your honor," said the man defiantly. "She made life a burden to me asking me if her eyes was in straight."—Washington Star.

Extreme Caution.

"This isn't very good," remarked the naval officer, as he ruefully gazed at the restaurant table.

"Why don't you complain?" "I don't dare say a word against it. It's a German pancake."—Washington Star.

Chinese Bamboo.

Bamboo is of universal use in China. The windows are delicate latticework of bamboo, and the furniture is of slender bamboo, bent and curled and plaited. The water bucket is a good big stalk, sawed off just below the joint and made as deep as is needed above it. For a bottle a slender piece is taken and treated in the same way.

DO ROCKS GROW?

Instances in Which a Real Process Has Been Noticed.

Is it indeed true that rocks grow in the sea? Are there reefs in course of rapid formation? A circular recently issued by the minister of marine calls attention to unknown rocks along the seacoast and offers premiums to fishermen who discover rocks not shown by the charts. An inhabitant of Biarritz writes to Cosmos:

"What is taking place at Biarritz is probably occurring along other rocky shores and may well explain the deficiencies of our charts. Submarine rocks grow, and in the course of a few years a reef may be found where there was none when the chart was prepared. When I was a child, some 50 years ago, the rocks lying farthest west in the belt of rocks surrounding our promontory hardly showed at lowest tide. An old fisherman told me that when he was 10 years old he was on a Biarritz boat near this rock. His master showed him the rock, then covered by several feet of water, saying, 'Child, if you live to be 60 years old you will see this rock out of water.'"

"Today the rock, which, in the childhood of the old fisherman, was covered with water and in my childhood was hardly uncovered at low water, is 20 meters above the water."

"A more recent fact: Fifteen years ago a fisherman perceived at a distance of 200 meters from the rock just mentioned, beyond the belt that protects us, a new rock which was beginning to 'grow.' Today this rock, which was not in existence 25 years ago, shows itself at high tide. It is at a spot where the charts indicate ten meters of water at lowest tide and endangers navigation."

Evidently our charts are not revised often enough. If rocks "grow," as claims the correspondent of Cosmos, revision should be made every ten years. But do they grow? There is no doubt that the seacoast rises and sinks. There is a pronounced seaway movement along the Atlantic shores, but is it sufficient to cause rocks to grow out of the water in half a century? The question is interesting, illusion is easy, but indifference would be criminal in a matter so dangerous to navigation as submarine rocks.—Current Literature.

Kate Chase Sprague.

Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, whose unfortunate circumstances are constantly appealing to her friends, has recently had reason to learn something of the good heartedness of Secretary Gage. Her case was brought before him, and he gave her a place in the treasury department.

Mrs. Sprague still holds possession of Edgewood, which was her father's home. This place is only a few miles out of Washington, but all her efforts to make it profitable have been unavailing. She has tried farming, raising cows and chickens and gardening without success, the outlay in wages for this sort of thing being far in excess of the profits.

Her eldest daughter, Ethel, who married a physician in Baltimore, has returned to vaudeville, as her husband is not able to support her. Mrs. Sprague has her child with her, an additional care. Her estate is now free from debt, and with the income from the place it is hoped Mrs. Sprague will be able to live in comfort.—Washington Correspondence.

Neighborhood Revenge.

"Aren't we going to pay the street sprinkler this year, Edmund?"
"No. Those people on each side of us wouldn't employ him last year and now that they do sprinkle I'm going to let them see how they like it."—Chicago Record.

Expensive Features.

Mr. Ingalls of Kansas says, "There is no luxury so expensive as a caustic tongue." We beg to differ with the once distinguished gentleman. A red nose can discount it in the expense line.—Denver Post.

He Pulled the Rope.

Because of an inquisitive turn of mind sub-Policeman John Atkinson of the Twenty-second district had his new summer uniform thoroughly drenched a few days ago. Atkinson was stationed near the Undine bathhouse along the Schuylkill river. Prior to the arrival of the parade he became very much interested in the boats and fixtures in the clubhouse. Finally he came to a sign posted on the wall which read, "Pull the Rope and See the Monkey Jump." Atkinson gave the rope a jerk and then proceeded to do the jumping. He had pulled the rope attached to the shower bath.—Philadelphia Record.

Science Crowds Out Pallbearers.

The latest novelty in the line of funeral equipments has just been introduced into Portland. It is in the nature of a casket lowering device which does away with the pallbearers lowering the body into the grave. By this new invention the casket is brought from the hearse and placed on the device, which is automatic in its operation, and at the proper time the undertaker touches a spring and the casket is, by invisible means, lowered quietly into the grave. Thus does science smooth our passage to the cold and silent tomb.—Portland Oregonian.

SENATOR TELLER'S PRAYER.

And What Tom Bowen Thought of the Invocation.

The senior senator from Colorado, with the exception of the period he served as secretary of the interior in President Arthur's cabinet, has represented his state in the senate since her admission to the Union in the centennial year. He is one of the most dignified members of that body, a man with whom it is difficult to connect a romantic episode, and yet in the early days when he was a pioneer in Gilpin county, Colo., at the time of the silver excitement there, he was a participant in many thrilling incidents. No one was more forward in insisting that the law should be observed, and he was frequently called upon to help in the execution of justice.

It is told of him that on one occasion he took part in the lynching of a Mexican who was caught robbing the sluice boxes. It was not the first offense, and the man had again and again been warned, but to no purpose. The trial was conducted with all order and propriety by the miners about there, and it was decided that the culprit must hang. Senator Teller took a prominent part in the debate, and while he regretted the necessity he still advocated the hanging as important in maintaining law and order.

The preparations were made, the rope fixed around the prisoner's neck, and everything was ready for the execution. At this moment Senator Teller, who is a deeply religious man, asked for a stay in the proceedings and suggested that a chance be given the Mexican to pray, a privilege the poor wretch declined. But Teller determined he should not swing into eternity without a prayer being offered up in his behalf, bowed his own head and earnestly besought the Almighty that the offending brother should not be punished in the next world for the crime for which they were sending him out of this one. After the hanging, Tom Bowen, who subsequently served in the upper house with Teller, came up and said:

"Old man, that was a great prayer you put up. That Mexican ought to have felt flattered, and would if he had understood you. I couldn't help but think, however, that there was a certain amount of sarcasm in it. It struck me that you displayed a fashion of insolent effrontery in urging the admission to heaven of a Mexican whom you had already condemned as not good enough for Gilpin county, Colo. However, it was a great petition and ought to go a long way toward getting the Mexican through the great white gate."—Philadelphia Post.

Two Williams.

The German emperor has consented to stand as godfather to the twin sons of a coachman at Giesdorf. He has also made their parents a handsome present of money and has given permission for the babies to be christened William I and William II. These names will appear in the church register. The twins are the seventh and eighth sons of their parents.

A Fact of Possible Significance.

"Has there been any diplomatic activity with reference to our foreign relations?" asked the Chinese empress dowager.
"I couldn't say for sure, your majesty," answered the courtier, "but I haven't seen Li Hung Chang going to the bank lately."—Washington Star.

The farmer who keeps bees plants buckwheat handy to the hives. He understands that to put flowers rich in honey where the bee can get them with least effort, means an increase in the quantity and quality of the honey garnered in the hives.

It is on this principle that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery increases the quantity and quality of the nutrition of the body. The ingredients of this medicine are selected to furnish the blood and stomach with the essential materials for body building, in a concentrated and assimilable form. They make the conditions under which the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition must work, as easy as possible, and so reduce strain and waste. As the strength of the body is re-established disease is thrown off. It is due to this fact that persons with weak lungs, obstinate cough, bronchitis, and other diseases, which if neglected lead to consumption, find a complete cure by using "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best blood purifier that I ever used," writes Mrs. M. Hartrick, of Demeter, Oswego Co., N.Y. "It is about three years since my health began to fail. Last September I gave up entirely with what the physicians pronounced enlargement of the liver. My back pained me all the time; the doctor said I must not ride, in fact I could not ride nor walk, nor hardly sit still; could not lie on my right side. I commenced taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pelllets' took them for three months, and still continue the 'Pelllets.' I will be glad if I can say anything to help those who are suffering."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away by the author. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the edition in paper, or 31 stamps for the book bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

County Correspondence

MARDELA SPRINGS, MD.

Bishop Adams confirmed a class of three at the Hall last Friday afternoon. The class was composed of Misses Bartie Bennett, Ruby Phillips and Ada Bounds. Since Rev. F. B. Adkins of Spring Hill parish has been holding regular services here, the congregation has steadily increased in numbers. The need of the congregation is a church edifice in which to worship. Many of the most influential citizens of the community are Episcopalians. The congregation now worships in a hall.

White potatoes were shipped from this station last Wednesday, May 31st. They were grown by George A. Travers, who tenants Mr. Wm. J. Graham's farm on the South side of Baron Creek. The potatoes were about the size of turkey eggs. The early potato crop in this district is large and very promising. Heavy shipments will be made from this station within the next ten days.

Shipments of berries from here were practically discontinued last week. The crop was not altogether a financial failure, neither was it a great success. The pea crop was short, but prices have been quite satisfactory—the best in fact that growers here ever realized.

Messrs. Wm. H. Beach and Irving N. Cooper have for a week been serving early cabbage on their tables, grown on their farms just outside the village. The plants were set out last fall and despite the extreme severity of the winter they lived, and when Spring opened, began to grow.

Builder S. W. Bennett has begun work on the parsonage of the Methodist Protestant church.

Geo. P. Sewall is erecting a two story dwelling on Bridge Street which he will occupy with his family, when completed.

Mr. Samuel J. Bounds, of Baltimore, spent last Sunday with his family in this place.

NANTICOKE, MD.

The strawberry season in this section is practically over and shipments made now are light and, in but few exceptions, of an inferior stock. The earliest shipment from here this season was made about May 10th and since then an unusually large quantity of this fruit has been sent from this wharf to different markets. The heaviest shipment was on Monday week but during the entire season the daily shipments averaged in number of crates, above that since the culture of the crop. And too, the season has been fairly profitable, not only to the pickers but to the growers as well.

Fourth of July bids fair to be a gay day here and the vicinity, though this is a customary thing. For this occasion two celebrations are promised, the Odd Fellows and the M. E. church, holding them respectively at Odd Fellows hall and Jones M. E. church. No definite program has yet been arranged.

Preparations for Children's Day service are being made by the M. E. Sunday school, and an interesting program has been secured. Sunday June 11th will be observed here as the Day.

The extra steamer Helen which has been connecting the regular steamer at this wharf for the past fortnight has been withdrawn from service on her special route, the berry season being now so light. The steamer was of undisputed convenience to many of the strawberry growers.

Sturgeon fishermen have laid their nets aside; the season now being over and many of the fisherman report not a single catch of these fish.

The young men here in behalf of the unfinished M. E. church contemplate giving a musical and literary entertainment here a few weeks hence.

FRUITLAND, MD.

—Miss Bennett of Hollands Island, was last week the welcome guest of Miss Anna Matthews.

Miss Blackney and Mrs. Lillian Satterfield of Baltimore are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Bussela.

One of our bright young gentlemen remarked a few days ago that he was afraid the war wasn't yet over, for there was talk of the United States and America coming together.

Miss Ella Messick spent Saturday and Sunday last with her Uncle, Capt. Thos. White near Whayland.

We are looking forward to a glorious Fourth and those wishing to spend a pleasant afternoon come to our picnic. Benefits will be for a new church in our town.

Every preparation is being made for the annual Childrens Day service June 11th.

Epworth League service will be in charge of Mr. Jas. M. Dykes Sunday. Evening topic Wheat and Tares, Matt. 13, 24-30.

Wanted—One dozen girls between the age of 6 and 14 years, none older need apply; not overly handsome but quite interesting. Call on or address "Fruitland Dude."

We hope one of our boys will now get a rest, as he no more has a girl to go see. (Can you imagine who?)

Some of "Our young ladies and gentlemen" took a stroll a few mornings ago, looking for water lilies. Hope they succeeded in finding them.

Mr. Rounds of Salisbury visited Fruitland last Sunday evening.

Plates Found at Snow Hill.

New York, May 28.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: "Chief Wilkie, of the secret service, has secured two more counterfeit plates made by the Jacobs-Taylor-Bredell combination, of Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pa. The plates now in the possession of Detective Burns, of the secret service force, are the front and back of the Sheridan head $10 silver certificate. The officials first learned of the existence of these plates through an inquiry from the attorney for Taylor and Bredell whether a lighter sentence could be secured if more plates should be surrendered."

"The government attorney referred the matter to Chief Wilkie, who replied that no such agreement could be entered into, and while the government would be glad to have any information the prisoners might have, no promise could be made to them. Detective Burns then saw Taylor and Bredell and made it clear to them that if they persisted in holding the plates the inference would be either that they were trying to coerce the government or that they intended to use them in making counterfeit bills as soon as their sentence had expired."

"The prisoners realized that it might go harder with them if they declined to give up the plates, and told Detective Burns where they were concealed, at the home of Bredell's father, in Snow Hill, Md. The detective went there and found the plates described. Although the attorney for Taylor and Bredell said that many notes had been printed from these plates, Chief Wilkie believes that very few of them were ever put into circulation."

Summer Schedule.

Commencing Wednesday, June 7th, 1899, there will be a change of passenger schedule on the Railway Division of the B. C. & A. R'y. Local passenger trains Nos. 1 and 2 will be withdrawn and through trains Nos. 3 and 10 (and No. 12 on Saturdays) to and from Baltimore substituted for same, thereby giving double service between Baltimore and all points daily except Sunday. Sunday service will go into effect later on. No. 3 will leave Baltimore at 7 o'clock a. m., arriving at Ocean City at 1.20 p. m.; No. 10 will leave Ocean City (except Saturdays) at 4.35 p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 11 o'clock p. m. Train No. 12 will leave Ocean City on Saturdays at 8 o'clock p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 8.25 p. m. Train No. 6 will leave Ocean City at 7.20 a. m., arriving in Baltimore at 1.45 p. m. Train No. 9 will leave Baltimore at 4.10 p. m., arriving at Ocean City at 10.35 p. m., and train No. 11 (Saturdays) will leave Baltimore at 2.30 p. m., arriving at Ocean City at 9 p. m. For change of leaving and arriving time for local points, see poster time tables and revised newspaper schedules.

Good Detective Work.

Hagerstown, Md., May 29.—He thought he was talking to a criminal like himself, but found out he had been confessing to a detective. In this way it is said, the officials made a case against Percy Embley.

Detective Kinsey dressed himself as a tramp, and the sheriff arrested him, putting him in the same cell with Embley. Together planned to escape from jail. The detective told Embley that he had shot an engineer in Kentucky, and the latter told him, the detective says, that he burned the Western Maryland warehouse, Smithsburg, and that he had also shot at Arthur L. Towson a few days before. The next night Detective Daird C. Smart and Deputy Sheriff Curiman concealed themselves in an adjoining cell and heard Embley retell his crime to Kinsey, and also of other robberies which he had committed around Smithsburg. Other persons it is said, were implicated in his confession.

CANADA FOLLOWS SUIT.

Maryland Method Adopted For Exterminating Orchard Pests.

College Park, Md., May 29.—The Ontario (Canada) Legislature last winter passed an amendment to their law requiring nurserymen to fumigate all nursery stock with hydrocyanic acid gas before leaving the nursery. This work is in the hands of the minister of agriculture. After some preliminary correspondence with the minister he adopted a scheme which was outlined by Prof. W. G. Johnson, the State entomologist for Maryland. The minister appointed Prof. Wm. Lockhead to take charge of the work. Professor Lockhead visited Maryland and was at the Experiment Station with Professor Johnson for several days in the latter part of March. Professor Johnson went over the matter with him, explaining every detail and giving him photographs of the fumigating houses and equipment in this State. Ontario is a large nursery province. In fact, there are there about seventy nurseries all told, large and small. The authorities are actively engaged in the work of cutting out infected trees in orchards and orchard fumigation.

Old John not Satisfied.

Frederick, Md., May 29.—"I want no more Hagerstown girls," says old John Fox, who filed a divorce petition from pretty Kitty Fox, whom he courted only two hours before marrying, last Monday. Kitty is as lively and pert as ever.

In the past four years John Fox has spent nearly all his money and neglected his crops in search of a wife. After the case is settled, he says he'll look around for another wife.

"Courage and Strength

in Times of Danger."

Read the warning between the lines. What is that warning? It is of the danger from the accumulation of badness in the blood, caused by the usual heavy living of the Winter months. Spring is the clearing, cleansing time of the year; the forerunner of the brightness and beauty of glorious summer.

Follow the principle that Nature lays down. Start in at once and purify your blood with that great specific, Hood's Sarsaparilla. It never disappoints. Grip—"Sixteen weeks of grip made me weak, but after all week Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me. Later I overworked, and dyspepsia and canker in mouth and stomach bothered me. I took the Sarsaparilla again and it completely restored me." Mrs. ELIZABETH FOMAN, Exeter, N. H.

Rheumatism—"Myself and a friend both suffered from severe attacks of rheumatism. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured both. We would not be without it." Wm. H. LESTER, 65 Leonard St., Fall River, Mass.

Head and Back—"For one year pains in my back and head prevented my household duties. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am a well woman. It also cured the grip in our family." Mrs. MATTIE HENDERSON, Cor. First and Franklin Ave., Columbus, Ind.

THE SHOOTING OF WEBSTER.

An Unfortunate Affair Between Officials and a Crabber.

The Maryland-Herald, of Princess Anne, of last Tuesday gives the following account of the killing of Bain Webster:

On Thursday morning last Capt. J. E. Insley and Mate Cannon of the Dorchester oyster police force sailed down to Holland's Straits, located across Tangier Sound from Deal's Island, and ordered Capt. Bain Webster, of Deal's Island, who was said to be crabbing, to haul down his jib; instead of doing so Capt. Webster sailed for Rock Hole crab house, located in Somerset waters, a few miles from Deal's Island. The police gave chase, and finally overtook Capt. Webster at Rock Hole, and when both boats were side by side, Capt. Insley reached out and got hold of Webster, and pulled him on board of his boat; in doing so Webster fell on Insley when a struggle ensued. Mate Cannon stood with rifle in hand and warned outsiders not to come near. Presently there was a report of a pistol and a ball ploughed its way through the body of Webster, and in a few minutes he was dead. There is some division of opinion as to who did the shooting; it lies however between Insley and his mate, of course. After the tragedy Capt. Insley and mate sailed for Dorchester waters, taking the body of Webster with them. It is stated that an inquest was held over the body in Dorchester—but there is no authority for such proceedings. Thursday evening friends from Deal's Island went after Capt. Webster's remains and brought them to his home, where an inquest was held Friday morning. The jury brought in a verdict that Bain Webster came to his death by a pistol ball fired either by Capt. Insley or his mate.

The unfortunate man was about 23 years of age and weighed over 200 pounds. He was unmarried, but leaves a mother and five brothers. His remains were interred in the cemetery of the church at the lower part of the Island on Friday morning. The funeral was largely attended. A strong feeling prevails on the Island against the police officers who, it is claimed, exceeded their authority.

Mr. James Webster, a brother of the deceased, was in Princess Anne on Sunday consulting counsel, and to take such steps as would lead to the arrest of the perpetrator of the deed. A letter was addressed to Gov. Lowndes and a thorough investigation requested.

The Jesse James Gang.

The Jesse James Gang which has been terrorizing Crisfield and vicinity for the past two years received quite a shock on Saturday last when two of the leaders, West Evans and Junkie Dize, were arrested and confined in the lockup charged with robbing the store of Henry Blumenthal and attempting to rob the crab house of C. W. Sterling. In the last case which occurred Friday night, the thieves were caught in the act by night bailiffs Sterling and Pruitt and Evans was arrested later in the day at his home by Sheriff Cox and Deputy Sheriff Britton.

The Blumenthal case was worked up by two clever detectives from the Bartholomew Agency, of Baltimore, who were employed by the W. C. T. U., of Crisfield to do the work. A part of the clothing stolen from Blumenthal's store which was disposed of in Salisbury was recovered.

Evans and Dize were tried before Justice Tyler on Monday who committed them to the county jail at Princess Anne to await the action of the grand jury.—Crisfield Times.

Wright—Phillips.

A very pretty marriage took place in Sharptown M. P. Church on Wednesday night. The contracting parties were Ira W. Wright and Miss Mamie E. Phillips, both of that town. Three beautiful floral arches were erected near the chancel of the church, from one of which hung a lovely bell made of flowers; between two of these arches the lovely bride stood, dressed in white Swiss trimmed in liberty silk, with hat and gloves to match, beside the groom dressed in the conventional black. She carried a bouquet of La France roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Mather. The church was filled with friends of the contracting parties. She is organist in the M. P. Church and was a very handsome bride. After the ceremony they were entertained at the home of the groom's mother in town.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH.

Children's Day Exercises Last Sunday.

The Methodist Protestant Church was very tastefully decorated last Sunday with flowers and plants, the occasion being Children's Day. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Warner, preached a special sermon in the morning.

Recitations were made by the following pupils: "Welcome," Eva Wimbrow; "The Growth of Foreign Missionary Work in the Present Century," Willie Sheppard; "Incidental Results of Foreign Missionary Work," Minnie Wimbrow; "A Cry for Light," Elmer Powell; "An Appeal for Pagan Women," Edna Windsor; "The Favorable Conditions," Janie Layfield; "Hear and Help," John Hudson; "The Gates Unhinged," Minnie Brittingham; "Is It Worth While," Wilkie Adkins; dialogue between two boot blacks, Russel Pope and Wallace Powell; "The Volunteer," by five girls; "Forty Cents a Year," Grace Darby; "Why We Should Give," by seven small children; "She Hath Done What She Could," Maude Pope; "Our Watchword," Reese Wimbrow.

Watch These "Gentlemen"

A little game of flim-flam was attempted in Salisbury last week. Two suave and polished "gentlemen" who were strangers here entered the store of Messrs. White & Leonard last Saturday night. One of them bought some article at a trifling price and gave a ten dollar bill in payment. It was in making the change that the flim-flam was attempted but Mr. Leonard could not be "queered" and reminded the gentleman that he saw his game. The two hastily retreated. Other stores were visited and the game tried, but in each case failed.

The plan of operation is to enter a store, buy an article for a small amount and give in payment a ten dollar note. After receiving the change, the flim-flammers say: "Didn't you make a mistake? I thought I gave you only a one dollar bill." Upon being assured that it was a ten dollar bill he quietly puts four dollars and fifty cents, (his change) in his pocket and then saying he does not want so much small money, hands back five one dollars to the salesman and requests a five dollar note. About the time the salesman gets the five dollar note from the drawer, the "pal" calls his attention away to give him the price of another article, and the flim-flam says hurriedly, "Just give the ten dollars I am in a hurry." The salesman becoming confused hands the individual the five one and the five note. The flim-flammer gets out and when the cash is counted the salesman finds he is five dollars out of pocket. It is said the gang is operating in all the towns on the Peninsula. Look out for them!

Fine Strawberries.

Mr. W. J. Station has been shipping this week large quantities of the Gandy strawberry from Fruitland. He had about 24 acres of his own growing and will get from them about one hundred thousand quarts. In addition to these he has been buying large quantities of strawberries from persons to whom he furnishes them. He has been shipping from the station about four car loads per day in refrigerator cars. The fruit is put in first class condition and loaded with the utmost care. The price obtained during the week has been an average of about 8 cents. The fruit has been exceptionally fine, large, firm, well shaped perfectly colored and very glossy. Mr. Orlando Harris, Berlin who was over here Tuesday drove down to Fruitland to see the fruit and Mr. Staton's method of shipment. He said he had never seen whole car loads of better fruit, or put in better condition.

This fruit is grown on low black land, springy. The patches were well manured and mulched. This accounts for the fruit bearing in such fine condition.

"Dr." Adams Shot.

A dispatch from Laurel, Del., to the Philadelphia Record says: Professor Ed. McDay shot and perhaps mortally wounded Doc Adams Sunday morning. Adams is proprietor of the German Medicine Dramatic Company, of Cincinnati, and McDay and his wife were performers. McDay claims to have caught Adams and his wife on Friday evening last just previous to the performance and trouble has been brewing since.

McDay and his wife, a pretty sou-brette, are both clever in their roles and have been very popular during their two weeks engagement. Adams was hissed on the stage Saturday night. A friend was waiting in a carriage and McDay fled after the shooting. His home is in Georgia.

The company was in Salisbury in May and exhibited at Ulmans Opera house each evening for a week.

Salisbury Firemen at Westminster.

Nineteen of the Salisbury firemen left Salisbury Tuesday afternoon for the state Firemen's Association at Westminster. Second Assistant chief H. Winter Owens headed the Salisbury delegation who went in full uniform. The others were Claude Sirman, Rev. F. A. Clark, John C. Lank, Stephen Toadvine, Harry Moore, Ashland F. Malone, Dr. Weiderhall, William Bomberger, Joseph Morris, William White, William J. Collins, Joseph Hastings, Percy Brewington, Wm. H. McConkey, A. R. Lohner, Severn Dawson, and Fred Grier Jr.

Chief Grier could not leave home, and was therefore not of the party. Weber's Band was secured at Baltimore and accompanied the Salisburyans to Westminster. Chief and two other firemen from Pocomoke were of our party. They will return Friday.

Mr. James E. Lowe of the firm of Lowe and Hearn, liverymen, has sold his half interest in Palace livery stable to Capt. I. H. White. The new firm will be known as Hearn and White.

Mr. Lowe will retire altogether from the livery business and conduct a boarding stable. He has employed Messrs. Bounds & Slemons to erect a large brick stable on West Church Street on the site now occupied by a frame structure. Work will commence July 1st. The new stable will be 37x143 feet, two stories, and will have, in addition to numerous other stalls, 28 large box stalls, 9x11 feet, for the use of boarding horses. The second floor will be fitted up for vehicles, with elevator. Heavy oak lumber will be used to cover the ground floor, making a dry and healthy place for the equines. The contractors will push work to completion as rapidly as possible.

SALISBURY, MD.

LOOKS EASY! But Isn't

You are told so often by so many advertisers that they are selling shoes "worth so and so" for "this and that"—ever so much below what it is claimed they are worth, that you come to think it an easy matter to sell shoes for less than they're worth.

BUT IT ISN'T.

As a rule we must pay the makers of good shoes a good price, and we must make a profit or go out of business. If you want good shoes you must pay our prices. We could sell you junk at less than we can sell really good footwear, but you wouldn't want it. You want only good shoes. We believe you are willing to pay fair prices. At any rate, call and see.

DR. ANNIE F. COLLEY, DENTIST,

Did you ever see gold put into a tooth by electricity? Well, it is done almost as rapidly and almost as gently as if the gold were putty. It is put there to stay too. Cataphoresis or electro-medical diffusion is the process whereby a tooth is rendered insensible by electricity so that it can be cut with as little pain as you experience when you cut your finger nails. These are among the latest achievements of scientific dentistry. Every thing in modern dentistry either from a scientific or from a esthetic point of view, I offer my patrons at a moderate price. Its just fun now-a-days to have teeth extracted, or to have gold filling put in. Come and be convinced.

MARDELA SPRINGS, MD.

Bishop Adams confirmed a class of three at the Hall last Friday afternoon. The class was composed of Misses Bartie Bennett, Ruby Phillips and Ada Bounda. Since Rev. F. B. Adkins of Spring Hill parish has been holding regular services here, the congregation has steadily increased in numbers. The need of the congregation is a church edifice in which to worship. Many of the most influential citizens of the community are Episcopalians. The congregation now worships in a hall.

White potatoes were shipped from this station last Wednesday, May 31st. They were grown by George A. Travers, who tenants Mr. Wm. J. Graham's farm on the South side of Baron Creek. The potatoes were about the size of turkey eggs. The early potato crop in this district is large and very promising. Heavy shipments will be made from this station within the next ten days.

Shipments of berries from here were practically discontinued last week. The crop was not altogether a financial failure, neither was it a great success. The pea crop was short, but prices have been quite satisfactory—the best in fact that growers here ever realized.

Messrs. Wm. H. Beach and Irving N. Cooper have for a week been serving early cabbage on their tables, grown on their farms just outside the village. The plants were set out last fall and despite the extreme severity of the winter they lived, and when Spring opened, began to grow.

Builder S. W. Bennett has begun work on the parsonage of the Methodist Protestant church.

Geo. P. Sewall is erecting a two story dwelling on Bridge Street which he will occupy with his family, when completed.

Mr. Samuel J. Bounds, of Baltimore, spent last Sunday with his family in this place.

NANTICOKE, MD.

The strawberry season in this section is practically over and shipments made now are light and, in but few exceptions, of an inferior stock. The earliest shipment from here this season was made about May 10th and since then an unusually large quantity of this fruit has been sent from this wharf to different markets. The heaviest shipment was on Monday week but during the entire season the daily shipments averaged in number of crates, above that since the culture of the crop. And too, the season has been fairly profitable, not only to the pickers but to the growers as well.

Fourth of July bids fair to be a gay day here and the vicinity, though this is a customary thing. For this occasion two celebrations are promised, the Odd Fellows and the M. E. church, holding them respectively at Odd Fellows hall and Jones M. E. church. No definite program has yet been arranged.

Preparations for Children's Day service are being made by the M. E. Sunday school, and an interesting program has been secured. Sunday June 11th will be observed here as the Day.

The extra steamer Helen which has been connecting the regular steamer at this wharf for the past fortnight has been withdrawn from service on her special route, the berry season being now so light. The steamer was of undisputed convenience to many of the strawberry growers.

Sturgeon fishermen have laid their nets aside; the season now being over and many of the fishermen report not a single catch of these fish.

The young men here in behalf of the unfinished M. E. church contemplate giving a musical and literary entertainment here a few weeks hence.

Miss Blackney and Mrs. Lillian Satterfield of Baltimore are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Bussels.

One of our bright young gentlemen remarked a few days ago that he was afraid the war wasn't yet over, for there was talk of the United States and America coming together.

Miss Ella Messick spent Saturday and Sunday last with her Uncle, Capt. Thos. White near Whayland.

We are looking forward to a glorious Fourth and those wishing to spend a pleasant afternoon come to our picnic. Benefits will be for a new church in our town.

Every preparation is being made for the annual Childrens Day service June 11th.

Epworth League service will be in charge of Mr. Jas. M. Dykes Sunday. Evening topic Wheat and Tares, Matt. 13, 24-30.

Wanted—One dozen girls between the age of 6 and 14 years, none older need apply; not overly handsome but quite interesting. Call on or address "Fruitland Dude."

We hope one of our boys will now get a rest, as he no more has a girl to go see. (Can you imagine who?)

Some of "Our young ladies and gentlemen" took a stroll a few mornings ago, looking for water lilies. Hope they succeeded in finding them.

Mr. Rounds of Salisbury visited Fruitland last Sunday evening.

Plates Found at Snow Hill.

New York, May 28.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: "Chief Wilkie, of the secret service, has secured two more counterfeit plates made by the Jacobs-Taylor-Bredell combination, of Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pa. The plates now in the possession of Detective Burns, of the secret service force, are the front and back of the Sheridan head $10 silver certificate. The officials first learned of the existence of these plates through an inquiry from the attorney for Taylor and Bredell whether a lighter sentence could be secured if more plates should be surrendered."

"The government attorney referred the matter to Chief Wilkie, who replied that no such agreement could be entered into, and while the government would be glad to have any information the prisoners might have, no promise could be made to them. Detective Burns then saw Taylor and Bredell and made it clear to them that if they persisted in holding the plates the inference would be either that they were trying to coerce the government or that they intended to use them in making counterfeit bills as soon as their sentence had expired."

"The prisoners realized that it might go harder with them if they declined to give up the plates, and told Detective Burns where they were concealed, at the home of Bredell's father, in Snow Hill, Md. The detective went there and found the plates described. Although the attorney for Taylor and Bredell said that many notes had been printed from these plates, Chief Wilkie believes that very few of them were ever put into circulation."

Summer Schedule.

Commencing Wednesday, June 7th, 1899, there will be a change of passenger schedule on the Railway Division of the B. C. & A. R'y. Local passenger trains Nos. 1 and 2 will be withdrawn and through trains Nos. 3 and 10 (and No. 12 on Saturdays) to and from Baltimore substituted for same, thereby giving double service between Baltimore and all points daily except Sunday. Sunday service will go into effect later on. No. 3 will leave Baltimore at 7 o'clock a. m., arriving at Ocean City at 1.30 p. m.; No. 10 will leave Ocean City (except Saturdays) at 4.35 p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 11 o'clock p. m. Train No. 12 will leave Ocean City on Saturdays at 3 o'clock p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 8.25 p. m. Train No. 6 will leave Ocean City at 7.20 a. m., arriving in Baltimore at 1.45 p. m. Train No. 9 will leave Baltimore at 4.10 p. m., arriving at Ocean City at 10.35 p. m., and train No. 11 (Saturdays) will leave Baltimore at 2.30 p. m., arriving at Ocean City at 9 p. m. For change of leaving and arriving time for local points, see poster time tables and revised newspaper schedules.

Good Detective Work.

Hagerstown, Md., May 29.—He thought he was talking to a criminal like himself, but found out he had been confessing to a detective. In this way it is said, the officials made a case against Percy Embley.

Detective Kinsey dressed himself as a tramp, and the sheriff arrested him, putting him in the same cell with Embley. Together planned to escape from jail. The detective told Embley that he had shot an engineer in Kentucky, and the latter told him, the detective says, that he burned the Western Maryland warehouse, Smithsburg, and that he had also shot at Arthur L. Towson a few days before. The next night Detective Daird C. Smart and Deputy Sheriff Curiman concealed themselves in an adjoining cell and heard Embley retell his crimes to Kinsey, and also of other robberies which he had committed around Smithsburg. Other persons it is said, were implicated in his confession.

CANADA FOLLOWS SUIT.

Maryland Method Adopted For Exterminating Orchard Pests.

College Park, Md., May 29.—The Ontario (Canada) Legislature last winter passed an amendment to their law requiring nurserymen to fumigate all nursery stock with hydrocyanic acid gas before leaving the nursery. This work is in the hands of the minister of agriculture. After some preliminary correspondence with the minister he adopted a scheme which was outlined by Prof. W. G. Johnson, the State entomologist for Maryland. The minister appointed Prof. Wm. Lockhead to take charge of the work. Professor Lockhead visited Maryland and was at the Experiment Station with Professor Johnson for several days in the latter part of March. Professor Johnson went over the matter with him, explaining every detail and giving him photographs of the fumigating houses and equipment in this State. Ontario is a large nursery province. In fact, there are there about seventy nurseries all told, large and small. The authorities are actively engaged in the work of cutting out infected trees in orchards and orchard fumigation.

Old John not Satisfied.

Frederick, Md., May 29.—"I want no more Hagerstown girls," says old John Fox, who filed a divorce petition from pretty Kitty Fox, whom he courted only two hours before marrying, last Monday. Kitty is as lively and pert as ever.

In the past four years John Fox has spent nearly all his money and neglected his crops in search of a wife. After the case is settled, he says he'll look around for another wife.

THE SHOOTING OF WEBSTER.

An Unfortunate Affair Between Officials and a Crabber.

The Marylander-Herald, of Princess Anne, of last Tuesday gives the following account of the killing of Bain Webster:

On Thursday morning last Capt. J. E. Insley and Mate Cannon of the Dorchester oyster police force sailed down to Holland's Straits, located across Tangier Sound from Deal's Island, and ordered Capt. Bain Webster, of Deal's Island, who was said to be crabbing, to haul down his jib; instead of doing so Capt. Webster sailed for Rock Hole crab house, located in Somerset waters, a few miles from Deal's Island. The police gave chase, and finally overtook Capt. Webster at Rock Hole, and when both boats were side by side, Capt. Insley reached out and got hold of Webster, and pulled him on board of his boat; in doing so Webster fell on Insley when a struggle ensued. Mate Cannon stood with rifle in hand and warned outsiders not to come near. Presently there was a report of a pistol and a ball ploughed its way through the body of Webster, and in a few minutes he was dead. There is some division of opinion as to who did the shooting; it lies however between Insley and his mate, of course. After the tragedy Capt. Insley and mate sailed for Dorchester waters, taking the body of Webster with them. It is stated that an inquest was held over the body in Dorchester—but there is no authority for such proceedings. Thursday evening friends from Deal's Island went after Capt. Webster's remains and brought them to his home, where an inquest was held Friday morning. The jury brought in a verdict that Bain Webster came to his death by a pistol ball fired either by Capt. Insley or his mate.

The unfortunate man was about 23 years of age and weighed over 200 pounds. He was unmarried, but leaves a mother and five brothers. His remains were interred in the cemetery of the church at the lower part of the Island on Friday morning. The funeral was largely attended. A strong feeling prevails on the Island against the police officers who, it is claimed, exceeded their authority.

Mr. James Webster, a brother of the deceased, was in Princess Anne on Sunday consulting counsel, and to take such steps as would lead to the arrest of the perpetrator of the deed. A letter was addressed to Gov. Lowndes and a thorough investigation requested.

The Jesse James Gang.

The Jesse James Gang which has been terrorizing Crisfield and vicinity for the past two years received quite a shock on Saturday last when two of the leaders, West Evans and Junkie Dize, were arrested and confined in the lockup charged with robbing the store of Henry Blumenthal and attempting to rob the crab house of C. W. Sterling. In the last case which occurred Friday night, the thieves were caught in the act by night bailiffs Sterling and Pruitt and Evans was arrested later in the day at his home by Sheriff Cox and Deputy Sheriff Britton.

The Blumenthal case was worked up by two clever detectives from the Bartholomew Agency, of Baltimore, who were employed by the W. C. T. U., of Crisfield to do the work. A part of the clothing stolen from Blumenthal's store which was disposed of in Salisbury was recovered.

Evans and Dize were tried before Justice Tyler on Monday, who committed them to the county jail at Princess Anne to await the action of the grand jury.—Crisfield Times.

Wright—Phillips.

A very pretty marriage took place in Sharptown M. P. Church on Wednesday night. The contracting parties were Ira W. Wright and Miss Mamie E. Phillips, both of that town. Three beautiful floral arches were erected near the chancel of the church, from one of which hung a lovely bell made of flowers; between two of these arches the lovely bride stood, dressed in white Swiss trimmed in liberty silk, with hat and gloves to match, beside the groom dressed in the conventional black. She carried a bouquet of La France roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Mather. The church was filled with friends of the contracting parties. She is organist in the M. P. Church and was a very handsome bride. After the ceremony they were entertained at the home of the groom's mother in town.

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH.

Children's Day Exercises Last Sunday.

The Methodist Protestant Church was very tastefully decorated last Sunday with flowers and plants, the occasion being Children's Day. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Warner, preached a special sermon in the morning.

Recitations were made by the following pupils: "Welcome," Eva Wimbrow; "The Growth of Foreign Missionary Work in the Present Century," Willie Sheppard; "Incidental Results of Foreign Missionary Work," Minnie Wimbrow; "A Cry for Light," Elmer Powell; "An Appeal for Pagan Women," Edna Windsor; "The Favorable Conditions," Janie Layfield; "Hear and Help," John Hudson; "The Gates Unhinged," Minnie Brittingham; "Is It Worth While," Wilkie Adkins; dialogue between two boot blacks, Russel Pope and Wallace Powell; "The Volunteer," by five girls; "Forty Cents a Year," Grace Darby; "Why We Should Give," by seven small children; "She Hath Done What She Could," Maude Pope; "Our Watchword," Reese Wimbrow.

Watch These "Gentlemen"

A little game of flim-flam was attempted in Salisbury last week. Two suave and polished "gentlemen" who were strangers here entered the store of Messrs. White & Leonard last Saturday night. One of them bought some article at a trifling price and gave a ten dollar bill in payment. It was in making the change that the flim-flam was attempted but Mr. Leonard could not be "queered" and reminded the gentleman that he saw his game. The two hastily retreated. Other stores were visited and the game tried, but in each case failed.

The plan of operation is to enter a store, buy an article for a small amount and give in payment a ten dollar note. After receiving the change, the flim-flammers say: "Didn't you make a mistake? I thought I gave you only a one dollar bill." Upon being assured that it was a ten dollar bill he quietly puts four dollars and fifty cents, (his change) in his pocket and then saying he does not want so much small money, hands back five one dollars to the salesman and requests a five dollar note. About the time the salesman gets the five dollar note from the drawer, the "pal" calls his attention away to give him the price of another article, and the flim-flam says hurriedly, "Just give the ten dollars I am in a hurry." The salesman becoming confused hands the individual the five one and the five note. The flim-flammer gets out and when the cash is counted the salesman finds he is five dollars out of pocket. It is said the gang is operating in all the towns on the Peninsula. Look out for them!

Fine Strawberries.

Mr W. J. Station has been shipping this week large quantities of the Gandy strawberry from Fruitland. He had about 24 acres of his own growing and will get from them about one hundred thousand quarts. In addition to these he has been buying large quantities of these from persons to whom he furnished plants. He has been shipping from the station about four car loads per day in refrigerator cars. The fruit is put in first class condition and loaded with the utmost care. The price obtained during the week has been an average of about 8 cents. The fruit has been exceptionally fine, large, firm, well shaped perfectly colored and very glossy. Mr. Orlando Harrison of Berlin who was over here Tuesday drove down to Fruitland to see the fruit and Mr. Station's method of shipment. He said he had never seen whole car loads of better fruit, or put in better condition.

This fruit is grown on low black land, springy. The patches were well manured and mulched. This accounts for the fruit bearing in such fine condition.

"Dr." Adams Shot.

A dispatch from Laurel, Del., to the Philadelphia Record says: Professor Ed. McDay shot and perhaps mortally wounded Doc Adams Sunday morning. Adams is proprietor of the German Medicine Dramatic Company, of Cincinnati, and McDay and his wife were performers. McDay claims to have caught Adams and his wife on Friday evening last just previous to the performance and trouble has been brewing since.

McDay and his wife, a pretty sourette, are both clever in their roles and have been very popular during their two weeks engagement. Adams was hissed on the stage Saturday night. A friend was waiting in a carriage and McDay fled after the shooting. His home is in Georgia.

The company was in Salisbury in May and exhibited at Ulmans Opera house each evening for a week.

Salisbury Firemen at Westminster.

Malone, Dr. Weiderhall, William Bomberger, Joseph Morris, William White, William J. Collins, Joseph Hastings, Percy Brewington, Wm. H. McConkey, A. R. Lohner, Severn Dawson, and Fred Grier Jr.

Chief Grier could not leave home, and was therefore not of the party. Weber's Band was secured at Baltimore and accompanied the Salisburyans to Westminster. Chief and two other firemen from Pocomoke were of our party. They will return Friday.

LOOKS EASY! But Isn't

You are told so often by so many advertisers that they are selling shoes "worth so and so" for "this and that"—ever so much below what it is claimed they are worth, that you come to think it an easy matter to sell shoes for less than they're worth.

BUT IT ISN'T.

As a rule we must pay the makers of good shoes a good price, and we must make a profit or go out of business. If you want good shoes you must pay our prices. We could sell you junk at less than we can sell really good footwear, but you wouldn't want it. You want only good shoes. We believe you are willing to pay fair prices. At any rate, call and see.

DR. ANNIE F. COLLEY, DENTIST,

Did you ever see gold put into a tooth by electricity? Well, it is done almost as rapidly and almost as gently as if the gold were putty. It is put there to stay too. Cataphoresis or electro-medical diffusion is the process whereby a tooth is rendered insensible by electricity so that it can be cut with as little pain as you experience when you cut your finger nails. These are among the latest achievements of scientific dentistry. Every dentist in modern dentistry either from a scientific or from a resthetic point of view, offer my patrons at a moderate price. Its just fun now-a-days to have teeth extracted, or to have gold filling put in. Come and be convinced.

MR. WILLIAMS IN CANADA.

Letter to Advertiser in Which He Tells of What He Sees in the Northwest.

Mr. Jay Williams has written as follows, of his trip to the Northwestern States and Canada:

HOTEL VICTORIA,
Victoria, B. C., May 28, 1899.

Here I am in Canada in the Capitol of British Columbia. This is a city of 25,000 inhabitants or more. The parliament buildings are very beautiful and I shall go through them tomorrow. We sailed from Seattle, Washington by the steamer "Utopia" on Puget Sound, yesterday (Saturday) morning and reached here last evening in time for dinner. From the steamer on the sound could be seen Mount Baker and Mount Hood and other lofty mountains and ranges of mountains. Forts are in course of construction on prominent promontory points along the Sound to protect Seattle, Port Townsend and other American cities and towns. Victoria is a typical English city. It differs from the Western American cities in that it is very quiet. Its citizens take life easy and yet there is much wealth here. There are some very handsome buildings. After breakfast we took a walk. As we passed the Catholic Cathedral, a very large, beautiful stone building, we were so very much attracted by the sweet music inside that we entered and remained during the service of the morning high mass. The Bishop preached in English after reading in English two selections from the Holy Bible. The sermon was truly Catholic, upholding the doctrine of transubstantiation and the power and authority of the priest-hood.

We will attend one of the Methodist churches this evening. The largest Methodist church is the finest church in this city, the Cathedral not excepted, so I was told this morning by the clerk in the office of the hotel and I afterwards found it true. When out walking we saw it as well as several other churches, including the church of England, the chimneys of which were rung just as we were passing as if done for our entertainment, and we thoroughly enjoyed it. The English flag waves here from every house. There is hardly a dwelling or store to be seen anywhere but that it bears the flag of England.

The people are certainly very patriotic. The town is spread over a very large area and the houses on the suburbs are not closely built together. They have ample yards and beautiful lawns with large quantities of pretty flowers. Rapid electric cars traverse the city.

In another letter written from Portland, Oregon, dated June 1st, Mr. Williams says:

After attending the Cathedral in Victoria, British Columbia, Sunday morning, and hearing the Bishop preach, we went in the afternoon to Esquimalt bay five miles West of Victoria, a station for the British navy, with large and extensive dry dock constructed by the British Government, and saw there British Naval Vessels. In the evening we attended the leading Methodist church, one of the largest and finest churches I ever entered. It is the largest and most beautiful church in that city. We were not only highly edified by the excellent sermon on "Who can show me any good thing" a text taken from the Old Testament, but we were also highly entertained by the Bass Solo taken from the Messiah. On Monday we visited Beacon Hill and the City Park on a high bluff overlooking the city. The scenery in the Park was fine. The wild animals were also very interesting. We rode out through the Park along the shore of the Strait Juan de Fuca to the residence of the Lieutenant Governor, who is the chief executive and representative of the Queen in the Province. This was a magnificent residence. They called it the "Castle". On our return we visited the Parliament buildings. These are new and very fine. They were finished and first occupied last year. They have been several years in course of construction. We were taken into the Parliament chamber and shown the Throne which alone cost almost one thousand dollars. The party in power were seated on the right of the Throne, and the opposition on the left. We were told that at the next session the Liberals would occupy the seat of the party in power, after the Conservatives had been in power for eighteen years. We were also shown the committee rooms, which were named from the wood in which they were finished. Every room in the building was finished in native wood of different kinds plainly varnished. But they were fine. We were also taken to the top of the dome one hundred and fifty feet high from which we had a fine view of the city. We then visited the Museum, in which were collected samples of all the animals, birds, minerals, etc., of British Columbia. Also Indian skulls of various tribes, and their implements of warfare. All these things were exceedingly instructive, and there was enough there to have entertained us for weeks, could we have given the time.

We returned to Seattle Tuesday morning. This is a fine city of about 45,000 inhabitants. We visited Lake Washington, upon whose shores are some beautiful Summer resorts. We stopped at the Ranier Grand hotel, an exceedingly fine hotel in every respect, built on the second terrace above the bay, and commanding from its piazzas a wonderful view over Puget Sound across to the bold range of the Olympia mountains. I was impressed with the beauty of Seattle and the progressive spirit of its people. And I might say the same thing also of Portland, Oregon, which is equally as beautiful and progressive, and I am surprised how cheap everything is here. I expected from what I had heard that everything was high priced out here. But not so; Merchandise is lower, I think, here than in the East. Hotel rates are also very reasonable here. I also notice a difference in the use of money. Specie, gold and silver, is used here altogether, except in larger transactions. No notes of less than five dollars are in circulation. No pennies are used, especially is that true in Canada. Our gold and silver circulate as freely and fully in Canada, as does the native currency. Another thing which has impressed me is the honesty of the people, and the confidence which they have in one another. There seems to be less distrust in the West than in the East, though the contrary is what I expected to find. I expect to reach San Francisco Saturday, after which I will write you again.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents, large for 50 cents. All druggists keep it. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

After meals you should have simply a feeling of comfort and satisfaction. You should not feel any special indication that digestion is going on. If you do, you have indigestion, which means non-digestion. This may be the beginning of so many dangerous diseases that it is best to take it in hand at once and treat it with Shaker Digestive Cordial. For you know that indigestion makes poison, which causes pain and sickness. And that Shaker Digestive Cordial helps digestion and cures indigestion. Shaker Digestive Cordial does this by providing the digestive materials in which the sick stomach is wanting. It also tones up and strengthens the digestive organs and makes them perfectly healthy. This is the rationale of its method of cure, as the doctors would say. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

A three-story addition will be built to Frederick Woman's College during the summer, to enlarge kitchen and dining-room, and provide more room for students.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50 cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BABCOCK, Erie Pa. It is for sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons's, Druggist, Salisbury, Md.

—The results of the strawberry crop of 1899 carry with them some valuable lessons to growers. One was that very early fruit will no longer pay growers of the Eastern Shore. The big prices once obtained for first shipments are no more. Very early varieties are usually shy bearers and the fruit inferior. The Mitchell's Early, however, is a partial exception. The time was when the great bulk of the strawberry crop was north of us—Delaware, Jersey and Long Island. The South is now largely engaged in fruit culture, especially Virginia and North Carolina. The crop is sufficient in these sections to meet the demand and under ordinary conditions it laps over on ours. As a result our early stock this year did not pay shipping expenses. As soon as the southern stock was out of the way our berries brought fair prices, that is, week before last. The weather however, was favorable—cool and clear. Last week only the best grades paid shipping expenses. Many shippers however rushed inferior stock on the market and were injured by three cent sales. Good stock properly taken care of paid last week. What is meant by properly taken care of? This is what we mean. Well selected varieties, manured on the beds during the fall or winter with a good mulch of stable manure spread well over the rows so the fruit will be kept off the ground and will be free from dirt. If the stable manure cannot be obtained commercial fertilizers may be used and the beds and alleys between covered with some kind of straw. The straw serves two purposes. It keeps the fruit clean and it prevents the moisture from escaping from the ground. It was once thought manure put on strawberry beds during the fall and winter, was wasted, but those who saw Mr. Allen's beds this year, were convinced that the treatment had great value. It furnishes nourishment for the fruit when most needed. In addition it produces a vigorous growth of vines that will stand dry weather much better than those not winter manured. The stem and cap does much toward selling the berry and a healthy green cap and stem are only found on healthy growing foliage. Our growers must realize that four thousand quarts grown on one acre can be produced for less cost of capital and labor than if grown on four acres, and the chances are a hundred to one that better fruit will be produced on the one acre. Then the fruit must be picked properly, be clean and free of green and over ripe berries will not pay shipping expenses generally. If the weather is warm it pays to ship in refrigerator cars, that is, it pays to ship good, firm stock that can be reshipped to distant points. If stock is inferior or over-ripe it will not pay to use refrigerator cars, because it cannot be reshipped.

WEBS OF MEMORY.

Woven in the Flickering Light of the Domestic Fireside.

"Mildred!"

It was the young wife's name which was called, and the husband was sitting in the cozy front parlor of their happy little home, reading by the soft light of the flickering gas burner and resting his slipped feet upon the burnished brass fender in front of a glowing fire of rosy embers.

"Mildred!" he called again, as when a lover he breathed her name, the sweetest in all the world to him.

But there was no answer.

"Ah," he murmured, "the dear girl does not hear her husband's voice." And he lay back in his easy chair and watched the blue flames dance in and out among the sparkling coals. At such a time memory weaves cunning webs of softened colors and sweet designs, and the young husband's thoughts flew backward and forward in the loom of the past.

Three years ago he had been a mother's petted darling, with no wish ungratified, no comfort neglected, no luxury forgotten. Yet he felt within his heart a tender longing, an empty void, which so far in his happy life had remained unfilled. Mildred Ray came, and the mother's heart knew that the wife was greater than the mother.

A year passed, and Mildred was his wife. Gentle, loving, beautiful, he took her to their new home, and for two years she had filled his mother's place and made his home a beautiful ideal, a four walled paradise upon earth, yet far above it. He was serenely happy and peacefully comfortable. Mildred had given him her thought, her energy, her time, her endeavor—and he was at rest. He awoke from his reverie with a start.

"Mildred!" he called.

"Yes, Henry," came the sweet voiced answer from a sofa in the corner.

"Oh!" he said, in a tone of relief.

"Are you there, darling?"

"Yes, huddle mine."

"Well, love, the fire is going out. Won't you go and get some more coal?"

"Not much, petsey! I've been doing the loving wife slave business long enough, and if you want any more coal you'll have to get it yourself!"

Mildred's memory had been weaving a few webs itself while that fire was slowly getting cold.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Annual Turtle Dinner.

The annual turtle dinner came off at Bailey's hotel in Quantico last Wednesday. The attendance was not so large as usual on years of the general election when a county ticket is to be elected. There were only about one hundred present nearly all of whom were from Salisbury and the districts on the west side of town. Judging from the general tendency of those present, we will have a "tame" campaign. Most of the crowd arrived about dinner time and after dinner they went over on the church yard and stretched out on the grass; some slept, and others smoked and "swapped" stories that bore no kind of relation to the approaching campaign. "Bill" Smith was chairman of the committee on entertainment. The occasion can hardly be looked upon this year as a campaign opener. The weather was so warm that it took a supreme effort to say "candidate", much less to act. We will have to have cooler weather than last Wednesday before much of the campaign is undertaken.

AND THE BAND PLAYED ON.

When the leader of the Salisbury Brass Band stepped out on the stage around at the Firemen's Park last Saturday night and made his bow to the gang he seemed to hesitate for a moment before he raised his hand for his band to begin banding—his face looked puzzled, and then a smile seemed to flit across the puzzle, and the band played on. Say! Lacy Thoroughgood will have over five thousand bands at his store next Saturday night, and everybody is invited to come and hear the music.—These five thousand bands will be around five thousand good hats of every shape, style, quality and price (except fancy prices) Lacy Thoroughgood invites you again to come, whether you are married to some particular make of hat or not—you can't beat the Stetson. Every hat sold by Lacy Thoroughgood was made special for Lacy Thoroughgood. The price that Lacy Thoroughgood sells hats at will make music in your ears. Thoroughgood sells Derby Hats in black or brown for $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, then comes Stetson, you know the price, $3.50; of course it's a regular $4.00 hat. Lacy Thoroughgood sells soft hats at 50c, 75c and $1.00. Fedora hats in Beautiful shapes and shades (Pearl with white band is the leader) selling for $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50. Crash Hats 15c, 25c, 50c, that's the highest. Now comes Straw Hats They have the finest bands you ever saw. ## A Valuable Publication.

On June 1 the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will publish the 1899 edition of its summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with short descriptive notes of the principal summer resorts of Eastern America, with the routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. It contains all the principal seashore and mountain resorts of the east, and over fifteen hundred different routes or combinations of routes for reaching them. The book has been compiled with the utmost care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of summer travel ever offered to the public.

It is bound in a handsome and striking cover, in colors, and contains several maps, presenting the exact routes over which the tickets are sold. It is also profusely illustrated with five half-tone cuts of scenery at the various resorts and along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

On and after June 1 it may be procured at any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office at the nominal cost of ten cents, or, upon application to the general office, Broad Street Station, by mail for twenty cents.

The New Style of Writing.

Since vertical writing has been adopted in schools it has been considered necessary by some to use a very stiff and hard pen, and nearly all the pen makers recommend pens of this heavy and unyielding description. It is an error, however, to make them too stiff, for sufficient action and flexibility are the essential qualities of a perfect pen. It is well known that many persons have a tendency to grip the holder and press too hard with the pen. This habit can only be overcome by using one made with degree of flexibility and fineness of point, which compels a lightness of touch, and helps toward a graceful and gliding motion. Pens made properly will be found to write smoothly, and are suitable either for the vertical or ordinary slanting writing.

The Spencerian Vertical Pens No. 37, carry out these ideas and possess this smoothness of action and well tempered firmness, together with the well known superiority in finish of the Spencerian Pens.

Samples will be sent free of charge to our readers, if this item is cut out and sent with name and address to the Spencerian Pen Co., 450 Broome St., New York City.

Have You Catarrh Taint?

Here's strong evidence of the quickness and sureness of that wonderful remedy, Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. "For years I was a victim of Chronic Catarrh—tried many remedies, but no cure was effected until I had procured and used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. First application gave instant relief, and in an incredibly short while I was absolutely cured!"—James Headley Dundee, N. Y.

A trip of 148,500 miles in 25 years is record of "level walk" Ed. Moore, who for nine months in each year of that time has patrolled 22 miles of the B. C. & O. canal daily between Harper's Ferry and Catoctin.

The Stomach's Woes.

Eminent physicians have noted their sterling merit and the wonderful cures wrought right in their own practice and prescribe to relief and cure. 35 cents.

HE WANTED THE SHIP

THOUGHT HE WAS ELIGIBLE TO COMMAND A CRUISER.

The Shabby Trick Played Upon a Patriotic Greek Boiler Maker by Some of Uncle Sam's Sailors With Whom He Had Shipped.

"About four years ago the cruiser on which I was serving shipped a boiler maker while we were on the Mediterranean station," said a Washington chief petty officer of the navy, now on leave of absence. "Our former boiler maker's time expired while we were at Gibraltar, and as he was not in good physical shape he wasn't re-enlisted, but took his discharge and returned to the United States by mail steamer. So the ship was shy a boiler maker, a very important and necessary petty officer down below in the engineer's department, and when the ship pulled into Naples harbor the chief engineer went ashore to see if he couldn't dig up a boiler maker.

"There's a clause in the enlistment regulations permitting commanding officers to ship necessary men on foreign stations in short handed emergencies. The chief engineer brought back to the ship a Greek named Charlie Maro. The man couldn't speak any English—to speak of—but he was a good man at the boiler making business, and he was duly shipped aboard of us for three years. He was a wild, hairy looking lot, Maro was, and he got a good deal of a laugh at the hands of the crew, especially the younger fellows, from the time he first came over the side.

"Maro thought that there wasn't any other country on the map except Greece. He thought that the 'Greeks' man' was the hottest kind of a tamale when it came to scrapping by land or sea, and after he got hold of enough English to make himself understood he used to take some of the young apprentice boys up into the eyes of the ship and tell them with many gesticulations and furious words of the different kinds of tar Greece would knock out of Turkey if the two countries ever came to an open rupture.

"The ship was around on the Pacific station when the war broke out between Greece and Turkey. When the news of the outbreak of the war got to Maro, our boiler maker, he nearly had heart disease and a whole lot of other sudden things from pure excitement. He just couldn't hold himself in, he looked so tickled.

"'Da Greeka man willa bim! bim! bim! da Turka man,' was Charlie Maro's way of putting it, and he didn't see that the Turk had a ghost of a show. All hands forward encouraged him in the belief. They all acquiesced in expressing the belief to Maro that Greece would simply eat Turkey up. Then a bo'sun's mate who knew how to crack the most impossible kind of steers with a face as solemn and wooden as an Indian's took Charlie in hand and told him some things. He told Maro that the United States was so much in sympathy with Greece in the struggle with Turkey that the navy department had decided to turn over all of the ships of the American navy to Greek commanders.

"'Here's a big chance for you, Maro,' the bo'sun's mate told Maro. 'You just want to work your edge. Here you are already shipped on this cruiser, and it's dollars to doughnuts that if you ask for the command of this ship in order to take her over to Greece to mix it up with the Turks you'll get it hands down. Better try it on.'

"That idea impressed Maro a heap. He asked the bo'sun's mate whom he'd have to apply to to get command of the cruiser.

"'Why, to the commanding officer, of course,' was the reply.

"Maro was tremendously important for a day or so while he let this huge idea grow within him, and he bullied the men detailed to work with him down below in the boiler room a good deal. The bo'sun's mate kept working him up to it, and finally Maro appeared on deck one morning togged out in his very best mustering suit of bluejacket clothes and went up to the officer of the deck and asked permission to see the commanding officer at the mast. The officer of the deck was rather surprised to see the man all done up in his mustering togs when all hands were at work, but, as he is obliged to do when an enlisted man requests permission to see the commanding officer, he sent word to the skipper, who soon emerged from his cabin and appeared at 'the stick.'

"'Well, my man?' said the skipper to Maro, who stood bolt upright and saluted with a flourish.

"'Sare,' said Maro to the skipper, 'I have-a da honor to her-a-by taka da command of a da ship.'

"'Hey?' said the commanding officer, putting his hand to his ear and looking as if he hadn't heard aright.

"'Da ship,' repeated Maro. 'For-a da naave of-a Hellas—da Greeka naave.'

"I have da honor to taka da command."

"All hands among the enlisted men were up on the to'gallant fo'c'sle taking the thing in, and they broke into a roar that you could have heard five cable lengths' distance. Maro heard it, and, suspecting that his confidence had been abused, got red and flabbergasted. He suddenly bolted for the engine room hatch and made his way below, and it took three marines to drag him aft to the sick bay, where the surgeon, at the skipper's command, gave Maro a half hour's examination as to his sanity. Maro was game enough to decline to give the name of the enlisted man who had told him he was eligible for the command of the ship upon its being 'turned into the navy of Greece,' but the thrashing he gave that bo'sun's mate when he got him 'on the beach' was certainly savage."—Washington Star.

expansion of the knowledge and intellectual qualification of all those islandy regions is the desire of all intelligent Americans. Awake, all you schools and colleges and universities and printing presses, to your opportunity!

Still further, here is a wide open door for Christianity. First of all, we have the attention of those people. The heathen nations are for the most part soporific. The American missionaries heretofore had great difficulty in getting heathendom to listen. They excited some comment by their attire, so different was the parting of the hair and the shape of the hat and the cut of the coat and the formation of the shoe of the evangelizers, but the questions constantly arose in regard to the missionary: "Who is he?" "What is he here for?" And then the interrogator would relax into the previous stupid indifference. But that condition of things has passed. The guns of our American navy have awakened those populations.
They do not ask who we are. They have found out. They are now listening to what American civilization and our Christian religion have to say on any subject. Now is the time, while their ears and eyes are wide open, to tell them of the rescuing and salvable and inspiring power of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world.
The steam printing press which secular education plants there may be used and will be used to print religious newspapers and tracts and sermons and mighty discussions of questions temporal and eternal.

Influence of Homes.

The comfortable homes of those populations, when Christianized, standing side by side with the degraded huts of those who remain pagans will be revolutionary for good. The Porto Rican and the Filipino will come out from this uncleansed and low roofed and uninviting kennel and say to his neighbor of beautiful household, "Why cannot I have things as you have them?" And when he finds that it is the Bible, with its teachings on family life and personal purity and exalted principle, and the church of God that proposes the rectification of all evil and the implantation of all good, he will cry out,
"Give me the Bible, and the church, and the earthly alleviations, and the eternal hope which have wrought for you such transfiguration."

Now, church of God, now, all Christian philanthropists, is your opportunity! Nothing like it has occurred since Christ came. Perhaps there may be nothing like it till his second coming.
Here is a definiteness of aim that is most helpful and inspiring. The millions of dollars given for the redemption of the world and the thousands of glorious missionaries who have as volunteers gone forth among barbaric nations were given and enlisted under a great and immeasurable idea. But when they come to add to the great and immeasurable idea the idea of definiteness we will infinitely augment the work. More than three hundred million of heathen in India, more than three hundred million of people in China and more millions of heathen than can be guessed outside of those countries sometimes stagger and confound and defeat our faith. But here in these islands of present controversy we can farm out the work among the churches and in five years, under the blessing of God, not only fit the people for the right of suffrage, but prepare them for usefulness and heaven. The difference between the general idea of the world's evangelization and some particularized field of evangelization is the difference between the improvement of agriculture among all nations and the improvement of 75 acres put under one's especial care and industry. By all means let the general work go on. But here is the specific field for religious concentration and development. This is not chimerical or impractical. I read this morning that the American Missionary association of the Congregational church has already begun the work at San Juan, Utusdo and Albonito, and all denominations of Christians in six months will be in those islandy fields, and we all need with our prayers and contributions to cheer them on to take for God and righteousness those regions which our American navy has captured from Spanish perfidy.

It has been estimated that this Americo-Spanish war cost us $300,000, 000. It would not cost half of that to proclaim and carry on and consummate a holy war that will rescue those archipelagoes from satanic domination. Who will volunteer? I beat the drum of a recruiting station. Who will enlist under the one starred, blood striped banner of Immanuel? Cuba and Porto Rico and the Philippines are stepping stones warm rivers and some waters in religious assemblage silent as the Quaker meeting house, and others would have as many jubilant ejacula-tions as a backwoods camp meeting, and some of those who preached would be gowned and surpliced for the work, and others would stand in citizen's apparel or in their shirtsleeves preaching that gospel which is to save the world.

Religious Teaching Needed.

Mark you well that statesmanship, however grand it is, and wise men of the world, however noble, cannot do this work. Mere secular education does not moralize. Some of the most thoroughly educated men in all the world have been the worst men. Quicken a man's intellect, while at the same time you do not make his morals good, and you only augment his power for evil.
Geography and mathematics and metaphysics and philosophy will never qualify a people to govern themselves. A corrupt printing press is worse than no printing press at all, but let loose an open Bible upon those islands and let the apocalyptic angel once fly over them, and you will prepare them to become either colonies of the United States government, or, as I hope will be the case, independent republics.

God did not exhaust himself when he built this nation. Those islands will yet have their Thomas Jeffersons, qualified to write for them declarations of independence; and George Washingtons, capable of achieving their liberties; and Abraham Lincolns, strong enough to emancipate their serfdoms, and Long-fellows and Bryants, capable of putting their hills and their rivers and their landscapes into poems; and their Bancrofts and Prescotts, to make their histories;
and their Irvings, to write their Sketch Books; and their Charles O'Conors and Rufus Choates, to plead in their courtrooms; and their Daniel Websters and John J. Crittendens, to move their senates.

The day cometh—hear it all ye who have no hope for those islands of bedwarfed and diseased illiterates—the day cometh when those regions will have a Christian civilization equal to that which this country now enjoys, while I hope by that time this country will be as superior to what it now is as today Washington and New York are better than Manila and Santiago.
Do you see by this process of gospelization intelligence those archipelagoes will as a nation be protected from the two woes prophesied in regard to this country—the one woe prophesied by the expansionists and the other woe prophesied by the antiexpansionists? It is said by those who would have us take all we can lay our hands on as a nation that, unless we enter the door now open for the enlargement of our national domain, we will decline the mission which God in his providence has assigned us. But surely no woe will come upon us or upon them if we Christianize them as we now have the opportunity of doing. The political technicalities are nothing as compared with the importance of this movement.
I implore all political expansionists to augment us in this work of moral and religious expansion, for unless those islands are moralized and elevated in intelligence and habits we do not want them, and their annexation would be political damnation. On the other hand, I implore all antiexpansionists to take a hand in the gospelization of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands.
The only way to prepare them to take care of themselves is to give them the Ten Commandments that were published on Mount Sinai and let them hear the groan of sacrifice that was breathed out on the heights of Golgotha.
What they most want is the gospel, the pure gospel, the omnipotent gospel, the gospel that helps heal the wounds of the body and irradiates the darkness of the mind and achieves the ransom of the soul.

One Platform For All.

But on this platform the so called expansionists and so called antiexpan-sionists will yet stand side by side.
Though I am not a prophet or the son of a prophet, within five years, if this religio-educational work is properly attended to, there will be a Cuban republic, a Porto Rican republic and a Philippine republic, none of them on a large scale, but they will all have their schools and printing presses and evangelical churches, their presidents, their senates and house of representatives, their mayors and their constabularies, and as good order will be observed in their cities as now reigns on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, or Broadway, New York.

Christ has started for the conquest of the nations, and nothing on earth or a new world

eries, especial attention is called to islands. "Declare the Lord's praise in the islands," commands Isaiah. "Let the multitudes of the islands be glad thereof," says the psalmist. "All the islands of the heathen shall worship him," writes Zephaniah. "He shall turn his face to the islands," prophesies Daniel. "The inhabitants of the isles shall be astonished at thee," foretells Ezekiel. "Hear it and declare it to the islands afar off," exclaims Jeremiah.

You see from this the islands are not to be neglected. Perhaps they are the Lord's favorites, as in households, if there is any favoritism at all, it is for the weakest. The islands, too small to take care of themselves, have the eternal God to take care of them. Let nations look out how they tread on the islands, however small and weak, for they are omnipotently defended. They may not be able to marshal large armies or to send out natives to sweep the sea, but, better than that, they have the chariots of heaven on their side and the drawn swords of the Almighty. I have as much faith in the salvation of the smallest island of the Falklands, of the Canaries, of the Ladrões, of the Carolines, of the Fijis, of the Barbadoes, of the Cape Verdes, of the Society islands, as I have in the salvation of America.

The continents themselves are only larger islands, and the world in which we live is only a still larger island, and the solar system is a group of islands, and the universe is an archipelago studded with islands of worlds, surrounded by the great ocean of infinitude and immensity. So you see when God planned the universe he diagrammed it into islands, and he will look after the interest of each of those islands, however small, and England and Holland and France and Germany and America must not treat the smallest and weakest island that comes under their sway any different from the way they treat the strongest nation of all the earth.
God may chiefly deal with individuals in the next world, but he deals with nations only in this world, and when persistently a nation practices injustice against other people it is only a question of time when the offender will find his doom. The path of time is strewn with the carcasses of nations that because of their maltreatment of other nations perished. The higher such offending empires rise, the harder will

Perpetuity of Our Government.

I believe the United States government will last as long as the world lasts.
I believe the fires of the judgment day will leap on the domes of our state and national capitals while yet they are in their full power. I believe the last earthquake will put its explosion under our national foundations while yet they stand firm. I believe that Republican and Democratic form of government will be the universal form of government for all nations when they have been evangelized, for then the nations will be capable of self government and will have demanded and secured that right. It will be either that or a theocracy, which will be the direct government of Christ in his personal reign on earth, as many Bible students believe.
Yet that jubilant expectation is founded not on the skill of human statesmanship or human legislation, but upon the belief that this nation will submit to divine guidance and obey the divine law and carry out its divinely imposed mission. But if we defy the God of nations our doom is fixed.

It required the pen of an Edward Gibbon, through four great volumes of more than 500 pages each, to tell the story of "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," concluding his monumental work with the words, "It was among the ruins of the capital that I first conceived the idea of a work which has amused and exercised near 20 years of my life, and which, however inadequate to my own wishes, I finally deliver to the curiosity and candor of the public." What, the Roman empire dead! Did she lack warriors? No. Behold her Pompey and her Julius Caesar.
Did she lack lawmakers and lawgivers?
No. Think of the masters of Roman jurisprudence, our American attorneys today quoting those laws in our courtrooms more than 15 centuries after they were enacted. In poetry did she not have her Virgil and Ovid? In history did she not have her Sallust and her Livy? In eloquence did she not have her Scipio and Cicero? In satire did she not have a Juvenal and a Horace? What pens were wielded by her Cato and her Terence and her Pliny!
All nations heard the cry of her war ordinance to which she has been ordained is more stupendous than any bestowed by the Almighty upon any people, if we forget our God and enact wickedness our overthrow will be quicker and more tremendous. And yonder capitoline hill, with its architectural magnificence, will become a heap of gigantic ruins, to be visited by the people of other times and other nations, who will read in letters of crushed and crumbled marble that which David wrote many hundred years ago upon parchment. #### Garlands For Our Heroes.

We concluded a few days ago the annual decoration of northern and southern graves. Three years ago, at this season, in memorial sermon I proposed the twisting of two garlands—one to be put upon the grave of the northern soldier and the other to be put on the grave of the southern soldier. But this year, we need three garlands, the third to be put upon the graves of those who fell in this Americano-Hispanic conflict. The third garland needs to be quite as fragrant and as radiant as the other two. These last heroes braved more than bayonets and bombshells. They braved the pestiferous breath of the tropics—whole battalions, whole regiments, whole brigades, whole armies of deathful malaria. They confronted those oppositions of the torrid climes which no sword can pierce, no agility climb, no stratagem flank, no torpedo explode, no courage conquer. Under the awful charge of visible and invisible hosts about 6,000 men went down, some to instant death and others through lingering pangs in hospital.

If in this third wreath you twist the crimson rose, suggestive of sanguinary sacrifice, and the white calla lily, suggestive of glorious resurrection, put in also a few forgetmenots, suggestive of remembrance, and a few passion flowers, suggestive of the love that mourns the slain, and a few heliotropes, suggestive of the fragrance of their memory. Then let the night's dew put the tears into the blue eyes of the violets, and all the soldiers' cemeteries be so many censers burning incense before the throne of that God who has been the friend of this nation from the time of Lexington to the time of San Juan Hill, from the guns of the United States warships Constitution and Constellation, at the beginning of this century, to the guns of the United States warships Olympia, Oregon, Brooklyn and other loaded thunders at the close of this century.

Remember here and now that those brave boys opened up the way for a kind of expansion we all believe in. They swung open the gates for the speedy gospelization of islands stupid with the superstition of ages. They cleared the way for missionaries and Bibles. They set those islands free. Leaving to the United States government to decide what shall be the political destiny of those peoples, let us all join in a campaign of religious expansion—expansion of affection that can take all the world in, expansion of our theologies until none shall reject their broad invitation, expansion of hope that embraces eternity as well as time, expansion of effort that will not cease till the whole earth is saved and the time arrives when the prophecy shall be fulfilled, and "they shall come from the north and the south and the east and the west and sit down in the kingdom of God, and the last shall be first and the first last."

Week before last, in this capital of the nation, we set three nights on fire in celebration of naval and soldiery heroics, and there were rockets of fire, and wheels of fire, and sheaves of fire, and spouting fountains of fire, and bombardments of fire, and ships of fire sank in billows of fire, and those three nights were three garlands of fire. But now we are in softer and quieter mood, and the three garlands of today are woven of blossoms and corollas of all colors and all pungencies of aroma, and we bethink ourselves that this third garland was needed to chain together the northern garland of other decorative times to the southern garland of other decorative times. Floral chain of three links! For the first time in 60 years the north and south stand in complete brotherhood. Heroes of Vermont and Alabama, of Massachusetts and South Carolina, of Maine and Louisiana, shoulder to shoulder! May that alliance remain until the last oppression is extirpated from the earth and all nations stand in the liberty with which Christ would make all people free!

Especially Calculated For the Meridian of the United States," which was published at Lansingburg N. Y., in 1797. Its author was the Rev. Chauncey Lee of Rutland, Vt.

In this book was set forth a system of so called "characteristics," by which one vertical stroke was to designate the mill, two vertical strokes the cent, these two crossed by one curved stroke the dime, and for the dollar a sign consisting of two verticals combined with two curved strokes, now so familiar, was proposed. At that time the people of the country were just emerging from the use of pounds, shillings and pence, each separated in writing by a space from the next denomination.

It seemed necessary to Mr. Lee to have an arbitrary mark for each of the denominations of our monetary system. But he soon found that one character, with the aid of a decimal point, was all that was necessary, and in the latter part of his own book all of the elaborate system of symbols except the one intended to mark the dollar was found to have been dropped.

Dr. Baker certainly finds the dollar sign in this old arithmetic and does not find it in use at any earlier date. By the time Adams' arithmetic was published in 1805 the symbol had become well established. Dr. Baker therefore regards Mr. Lee as the inventor, and believes the sign to have been absolutely arbitrary in its origin.

Since the publication of his paper in one of the magazines Dr. Baker has received many letters on the subject, but none in which his conclusions are challenged. He intends, for further verification, to make a study of the departmental records to see when the dollar sign first appeared in the treasury accounts. He also hopes to make a more thorough search of the old textbooks to see if by chance any use of this sign prior to that of the Rev. Chauncey Lee can be discovered. Perhaps some of the descendants of Mr. Lee will be able to find the author's manuscript, in which case additional light might be thrown upon the subject.

It is certainly interesting to know the origin of a thing in so constant use as the dollar sign. Dr. Baker's discoveries seem likely to take all the sentiment out of the matter, but this is the common result of modern historical research.—Washington Letter.

WOULDN'T BELIEVE IT.

He Thought Young Jesse James Must Be a Big Man.

Heroes come and heroes go, but Jesse James goes on forever. In spite of the fact that one or two eastern newspapers were much put out because he was not convicted, whether or no, in his recent trial for train robbery, he continues the idol of numerous worshippers, who gather about his shrine daily. It was the most considerate act of his life when he deserted the courthouse and set up a cigar stand on Ninth street, where his admirers more readily reach him.

The unassuming appearance of the young man, however, does not always satisfy those who call upon him. He is considerably less than seven feet tall and has nothing of the countenance of a Corsican brigand. He has proved a sore disappointment to many novel reading small boys, who expected to find him clothed in velvet, bristling with firearms and studded over with diamonds as big as Ben Davis apples—a la "Sealakin Sam, the Deadwood Plunger."

A blase youngster, fatigued with the unsatisfying imaginary characters of 5 cent fiction, entered young James' cigar stand the other day with the evident intention of inspecting the "real thing." He invested 5 cents in chewing gum as an excuse for his coming and then glanced about in search of the popular hero. Nothing resembling his ideal was in sight, and he looked disappointed. Jesse James was behind the counter, grinning with an understanding born of many similar incidents.

"Say," inquired the boy, "are you Jesse James?"

"That's my name," said Jesse.

The youngster looked him over critically. No diamonds, no velvet, not a pistol nor a dagger in sight, no scars of battle, no trusty rifle with notches in the stock to indicate the foes that had fallen before an unerring aim. The boy's upper lip curled disdainfully and a "you can't bunko me" expression came into his eye.

"Jesse James—nit!" he exclaimed, and stalked out.—Kansas City Times.

which developed a new peach pest which arrests the growth of the fruit when it is about the size of a hazelnut, thus producing a crop locally known as "little peaches." It was first noticed about two years ago, and this year its ravages were alarmingly extensive. So far no remedy has been found for it, though expert investigation and experiment are not wanting. In Saugatuck township during the present season more than 4,000 trees were affected.

NANTICOKE, MD.

The first shipment of raspberries this season in this section will be made this week and very likely that of blackberries will follow but a few days later. Unlike blackberries, the raspberry crop for reasons of unadapted soil, is one of the most unimportant of the fruit crops, especially in this immediate vicinity. It has not been very many years since its culture was introduced and since this time its acreage has but little increased with every succeeding season. The obstacle to the success of the crop, the natural unfitness of the soil is now being overcome by the wide awake growers, so in this, a few years hence will place the raspberry crop one of the first in this section.

Work is being rapidly pushed for the completion of the telephone line connecting this place. Poles for the line have been settled over nearly the entire route having reached within a few miles of here and though the line was expected to have been in operation now it is very likely that such will not be a matter of fact before the lapse of many weeks. Telephone communication would have been a great advantage to growers of strawberries the season now closed, yet whenever this communication is established it will not be without its benefits in this section of the county.

About two hundred berry pickers imported from this place have returned home from Delaware where for the past two weeks they have been picking strawberries. They report plenty of picking. Usually the pickers remain for the other berry crops, but the failure of these in that State brought them home at this time.

Mrs. Sarah Hill, formerly a six year resident of India where she was engaged as a missionary, lectured in the M. The lecture was highly interesting, containing many novel and curious facts and told in her graphic way they could not fail to win the appreciation of her large audience. Following a collection taken after the close of the lecture, a repast of cake and strawberries with cream was served to those who remained.

An enormous yield, the largest for years of early white potatoes is expected in this vicinity. Few shipments have already been made, but the heaviest will be made during next week. The heavy yield is due to increase of acreage.

Owing to inadequate seating accommodations of the M. E. church, colored, here the members are agitating the matter of enlarging the old or building a new church.

The crab industry of Mr John D. Inaley in this vicinity was recently put in operation, and is now running on regular time. Crabs are furnished by unemployed oystermen who catch them in the river, (Nanticoke) within convenient distance of the factory. For these seventy five cents per hundred are paid, and at this rate a days catch averages per man about seventy five cents. At present, being early in the season, crabs are scarce, but a few weeks hence will find them abundant, when the crabber will find a considerable remuneration in this employment. But one other firm in the United States prepares crab meat as by the process used by Mr. Inaley.

Reported Iceberg.

Mr. James E. Tyson, of Ellicott City was at Ocean City this week and he says that at sunset Wednesday an iceberg was reported off the Worcester coast of Maryland. Thermometers there had been as high as 90° until the visitor from the polar regions appeared, when he says, there was a sudden drop in the temperature of 60°. Women on the porches found it necessary to put on heavy wraps. Such a sudden change was never before known, it is said, at Ocean City. Mr. Tyson said the iceberg, seeming to be three or four miles from shore, appearing like a white mass towering above the ocean as a mountain and was veiled in a mist that half hid it from view except when a glass was employed, but he did not say what kind of a glass or how employed. The iceberg had no mint around it, but seemed to the observer to be passing down the coast on its mission of relieving suffering humanity from the intense and sudden heat, and it seemed to be of sufficient size to do a lot of good before melting away. So far as known an iceberg was never known to travel so far south.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION

To be Held in Baltimore August 24—A Large Attendance at Committee Meeting—Letter From Senator Gorman.

The Democratic State Central Committee met at the Carrollton Hotel Wednesday and decided that the Democratic State convention shall be held in Baltimore Wednesday, August 24.

Primaries and conventions in the counties shall be held at such times as the county members of the State Central Committee may select for their respective counties. Two weeks notice of the primaries must be given. Local tickets have already been placed in the field in Cecil and Kent counties.

The city members of the State committee and the campaign committee of seven will select the date for primaries in Baltimore, giving two weeks notice. The campaign committee of seven is continued in existence and will have entire charge of the primaries, appointing judges and clerks and managing the financial details. There shall be but one polling place in a ward except there be a contest, when, upon request of any candidate, three polling places may be designated. The candidate making the application shall deposit a sum of money sufficient to meet the necessary additional expense. The time and place for holding the city convention shall be designated by the committee of seven, and that committee, with the city members of the State Central Committee, shall fix the time and places for the legislative district conventions. At the primaries the polls will be open from noon till 8 p. m.

The members of the campaign committee of seven are: Jas. P. Gorton, ex-officio member and chairman; Henry Williams, Congressman John W. Denney, Mr. John B. Schwatka, William F. Porter Chas. F. Field, Geo. Warfield and Dr. Wm. B. Burch. Glowing tributes to their work in the recent municipal campaign were paid both in the address of chairman Murray Vandiver and in the resolutions adopted by the state convention.

MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED.

When chairman Vandiver called the state committee to order at noon the attendance was very large. After roll call, upon motion of ex-Congressman Joshua W. Miles, a committee of nine upon resolutions was appointed—three from the Eastern Shore, three from the Western Shore counties, and three from Baltimore city, as follows: Joshua W. Miles, Somerset; John P. Moore, Worcester; Wilfred Bateman, Talbot, B. F. Grouse, Carroll; Hollis Courtney, Jr.; Harford; John S. Wilson, Baltimore county; John B. Spence, John F. Williams, and Hiram G. Dudley Baltimore city.

This committee was in session some time before it decided to recommend August 24 as the date of the State Convention. That date was favored by the county members and opposed by the city members. The latter argued that a later date should be selected, in order that public sentiment might have an opportunity to crystallize about candidates for state officers, that the plans of the republicans might be learned, and that the campaign might be made short and snappy. The county members did not seem to care about republican plans, but desired the state and local tickets in the field early in order that they might have a good effect upon registration; they also desired time to smooth away any soreness that might follow heated primary contests, and to map out thorough and careful plans for the campaign. Being in the majority the county members had their views adopted by the special committee and the recommendation was adopted by the state committee without discussion. The remainder of the special committee's report related to plans for the primaries in Baltimore city and the counties and was also adopted without discussion.

Chairman Vandiver was also authorized to appoint an executive committee of three in each county to assist the state central committee members in getting the voter registered and conducting the campaign.

MR. VANDIVER IS HOPEFUL.

In calling the committee to order Chairman Vandiver made a short address in which he said: "The recent municipal campaign was necessarily conducted on party lines, but as the issue involved very much more than a mere party triumph, our candidates were supported by large numbers of voters who, in past contests upon questions of Federal and State politics, have not sided with us. Hence, while the election of our municipal ticket by an average plurality of 8,000 is a source of just gratification, indicating a much larger vote on our side than we have ever had before, we are not authorized to claim the result as clearly demonstrating that, in a strictly party contest, the city is absolutely and safely ours.

"An examination of the figures cannot fail to satisfy us that, while in the coming campaign we ought not to rely upon our victory as conclusively proving that Baltimore is a democratic city, there is no reason to doubt that under, like conditions of harmony in our own ranks, and with a satisfactory ticket, we can repeat in November the gratifying work done in May. But we must not forget that harmony alone will not bring us success. Enthusiasm and confidence are most valuable and important elements of success, but unless supplemented by vigor and active work they will not avail. We must forget and ignore all past animosities, lay deeply into heart the lessons which bitter adversity has taught us and pledge ourselves in truth and sincerity to such enlightened measures of entrenchment and reform as will give to the people good yet progressive government."

LETTER FROM SENATOR GORMAN.

The following letter was read from ex-Senator A. P. Gorman, who was prevented by sickness from being present: "I trust—and doubt not—you have a perfectly harmonious meeting. There is no reason whatever to prevent all democrats in the state uniting upon a thoroughly good ticket and restoring the control of the affairs of Maryland, as has been recently done in the city of Baltimore, to the one party that can best secure good government in the interest of the people of the state. While I am denied the privilege of taking any part in your preliminary work, I fully expect to do my full share for the success of the party in November."

After the meeting adjourned the members of the committee were entertained at luncheon.

—Mr. Edwin Teakle and daughters are guests of his sister Mrs. Geo. W. Leonard.

—Miss Lee Mitchell is home from Blackstone Female Institute for the summer vacation.

—Miss Elizabeth Johnson left Salisbury last Saturday to visit friends and relatives in Milford.

—Police Commissioner Johnson and his friend Mr. Snyder of Baltimore spent last Sunday in Salisbury.

—Wm. T. Bedell of Philadelphia is a guest of Mr. John T. Ellis. Mr. Bedell is a former citizen of Salisbury.

—Miss Alice Carey and her brother Julian are visiting the family of Mr. Albert Bounds at Mardela Springs this week.

—Mrs. Ellen Toadvine who has spent several weeks in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington returned Thursday of last week.

—Miss Edna Adkins and Miss Virgie Gilbert, who have been attending Western Maryland College are home for the summer vacation.

—Miss Mary Wilcox, assistant Principal of Seaford Academy is spending her vacation with her parents Rev. and Mrs. Geo. W. Wilcox of this city.

—The Maryland State Bankers' Association will hold its fourth annual session at Ocean City, on Thursday and Friday, July 20th and 21st. Judge Henry Page, President of the Savings Bank of Somerset County, is one of the vice-presidents of the association.

—Mr. J. Howard Pastorfield, representing "The Globe," Baltimore's Progressive Clothiers will be in Salisbury June 20th and 21st at Peninsula Hotel, when he will have on exhibition a complete line of Summer Clothing, Furnishings and Hats. He will be glad to have you call and inspect his line. Remember it costs you nothing to look and you have an opportunity to buy if you like.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Interesting Exercises at the Several Churches.

The Children's Day exercises at Asbury M. E. Church last Sunday evening proved very interesting to the large audience which filled the entire house. The program rendered was entitled "Peace or war, Young America's Verdict." Peace was represented by Miss Wilaie Woodcock, War by Mr. Herman Murrill Tributes of Conquest and Liberty were brought to War by Miss Alice Bradley and Miss May Sirmann; while the tributes of History, Patriotism and Religion were laid on the shrine of Peace, by Mr. Amos W. Woodcock, Mr. Emory Coughlin, and Miss May Roberts.

The exercises by the primary class were very much enjoyed. The stage was crowded with the little folks while they sang their sweet little songs and had their say in the way of recitations. Solos were sung by Misses Dela Dashiell and Laura Reinwall. Lilies were used for floral decorations. The school raised the sum of $78.00, which will go to the Board of Education who are doing a good work in helping the young people of the church to secure a college education.

Children's Day services at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, attracted an audience which filled every portion of the sacred edifice. The church was handsomely decorated with flowers, evergreens and potted plants. On the sacred desk were large bouquets of cut flowers, and in front of the chancel was a large bank of potted plants. The altar rail was festooned with evergreens. The singing by the infant class was especially sweet, the little ones acquitting themselves admirably. Mrs. J. D. Wallop sang a solo entitled "New Jerusalem," which was highly complimented. Mrs. R. D. Grier presided at the organ, and Messrs. Arthur Kennerly and Donald Graham assisted in the musical program with cornets. The collection, which will be devoted to Home Missions, amounted to $70.00. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Reigart, addressed the congregation, explaining the object of the Twentieth Century Movement.

"The Heavenly Journey" is the title of the program for Children's Day services at Trinity M. E. Church South, Sabbath evening next. It is a very interesting program, and the time and care devoted to the training of the children promises an unusually interesting service to those who attend. The full program is as follows:

Singing by Primary Department, "Jesus' Little Stars." Soloists, Ruth Price, Virgie Tindle, Helen Bethke. Responsive Reading. Solo and Chorus. Solo by Margaret Ingersoll. Chorus by school. ## DR. ANNIE F. COLLEY, DENTIST,

Did you ever see gold put into a tooth by electricity? Well, it is done almost as rapidly and almost as gently as if the gold were putty. It is put there to stay too. Cataphoresis or electro-medical diffusion is the process whereby a tooth is rendered insensible by electricity so that it can be cut with as little pain as you experience when you cut your finger nails. These are among the latest achievements of scientific dentistry. Every thing in modern dentistry either from a scientific or from an aesthetic point of view, I offer my patrons at a moderate price. Its just fun now-a-days to have teeth extracted, or to have gold filling put in. Come and be convinced.

These Full Set of teeth I am making for $10.00 are the very best money can buy and they are truly beautiful and are fully guaranteed. Office on Division Street, Oppo. Court House, SALISBURY, MD.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BARCOCK, Erie Pa. It is for sale by R. K. TRUITT & SONS'S, Druggist, Salisbury, Md.

The healthy old man wears his gray hairs like a silver crown. What if he be threescore and ten if there is still fire in his eye, firmness in his step, command in his voice and wisdom in his counsel? He commands love and reverence. Yet how few wear the mantle of age with dignity. Dim eyed, querulous of speech, halting in step, childish in mind, they "lag superfluous on the stage," dragging out the fag end of life in a simple existence. The secret of a healthy old age is a healthy middle age. The man who takes care of his stomach, who keeps his body properly nourished will find that the body does not fail him in old age. The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery lies in the preservation of the working power of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. From this centre is distributed the nourishment of the whole body, the salt for the blood the lime for the bones, phosphates for the brain and nerves. A sound stomach means a sound man. A man who keeps his stomach sound by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" will wear the crown of gray hairs as befits a monarch, with dignity and ease.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

We have mailed to all delinquent subscribers in the county, within the past ten days, statements of their accounts. We are very anxious to have these subscription bills all paid up to date. Our friends will please give the matter prompt attention.

The meeting of the State Central Committee in Baltimore last Wednesday has in a measure opened the campaign. It served as an occasion to bring out candidates for the State ticket. It is said by those present that Col. John Walter Smith is developing very decided strength for the gubernatorial nomination. The whole Eastern Shore is now for the Colonel and many counties west of the Chesapeake. It is no longer a secret that Col. Smith would be pleased for the people to make him the nominee.

He is ready to answer the bugle call. His friends it is understood fixed the date of the convention; making it August 2nd instead of putting it off to the middle of September. Baltimore City asked for a late convention. Mr. Warfield seems to have attracted some attention by announcing his candidacy. The friends of Col. Smith are very anxious in case he is put on the ticket that he be given ample time to make the canvass. He is a most excellent campaigner and makes friends by coming in contact with the people.

The Baltimore Sun of Thursday bristled wonderfully with threatnings and warnings to the party for fixing upon an early date. It says:

Those who are in politics as a business may like the early date well enough, and candidates who have "their fences" to look after may be satisfied with the opportunities which a prolonged campaign gives them but the great mass of the voters cannot possibly feel reconciled to the decree which the politicians have ordered for the dog days. In view of the decidedly delicate political situation in this city, to say nothing of the counties, it is strange that wiser counsel did not prevail in this matter. The Democrats who constitute the party committee, or the majority of them at least, inspired by the fact that Baltimore has been wrenched from Republican control, seem to think that the "promised land" is so plainly in sight that they may return to the old plan of leaving the people out of consideration altogether as heretofore.

Like the Sun the ADVERTISER advocated a late convention but unlike the Sun we fail to see why the people of the State can't attend the primaries and select delegates to a convention to be held August 2nd, as well as September 2nd, or October 2nd. We fail to see how it is a return "To the old plan of leaving the people out of consideration altogether."

We are not aware that the people have spoken on the subject. The party representatives to the State Central Committee have, and the party will abide by the result.

—If you are thinking of buying a watch call and examine my stock. I have received just from factory the latest in the celebrated Waltham & Elgin watches; also a full line of the well known Jas. Boes Cases.—Harold N. Fitch.

FATAL INDECISION.

President Blamed For the Situation in Philippines.

Washington, June 11.—It is startling intelligence, and it is the truth which makes it startling, that at this very time hostile Filipinos are encamped within a few miles of Manila. For two months we have had almost daily accounts of the advances of our troops, the wholesale killing of the Filipinos and constant reports of what the aggressive tactics were intended to accomplish.

Whatever may have been the intentions, practically nothing has been accomplished. The President has sent probably a dozen telegrams of formal congratulation to our brave officers and soldiers, all of whom are really doing everything possible for men to do under the circumstances. The last telegram sent in the name of the President was an account of another "advance" resulting in the killing of 60 Filipinos, and the killing, wounding and prostration by the deadly heat of more than that number of our troops. It is said the men prostrated by the heat are incapable of further service, so it is almost as bad as if they were killed or wounded.

These continued congratulatory telegrams of the President are becoming very cheap. There has been more of this kind of business on the part of the Executive than has ever been known in the military history of any government. In fact, until the example set by the President of the United States, no government has ever thought to make formal recognition of the valor of its troops except in the event of some great and decisive battle, or some notable example of daring and heroism which set the world to thinking.

The fact that the head of this mighty nation telegraphing congratulations because of the death or temporary dispersion of a few Filipinos is witnessed with amazement by other powers. Even the ceremony and etiquette of diplomatic circles in this city does not avail to stifle lively comment. The King of France who marched up the hill and then marched down again effected quite as much as all the results which have accrued up to date from the marching, counter-marching, advances and dashes of our troops in the Philippines. It is a crying shame that so many valuable lives have been absolutely thrown away in this two months daily panorama, brilliant with American daring and ghastly with uselessness.

The President knows he has taken a job upon himself which cannot be executed with the present means at his command. He knows what every military authority the world over knows. His indecision is hourly making the matter worse. A week or two since, as set forth in this correspondence, he and his advisers realized that more troops must be called. Then haste was made to disavow the purpose for fear of political expediency. But he has got himself into a situation where he cannot much longer evade the responsibility. No one can pretend to question that the army in the Philippines is not strong enough to hold the territory it takes. It drives out the Filipinos for the moment and then retreats upon its own intrenchments. This sort of business can never conquer, never pacify the Filipinos. It can only imbue them with contempt for our authority and disregard for our demands. Not another life should be criminally sacrificed. The President should either withdraw the brave little army or reinforce it sufficiently to enable it to retain what it wins.—Baltimore Sun.

Death of Miss Hastings.

Miss Lizzie Hastings died at an early hour last Monday morning of consumption, at the home of her sister Miss Susan Hastings, Main Street, extended. The remains were interred in Parsons Cemetery Wednesday afternoon after funeral services by Rev. Dr. Reigart at Wicomico Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member. The late Samuel Hastings and Mrs. Margaret Hastings were the parents of the deceased. Her surviving sisters and brothers are Mrs. Henry J. Brinkley of Hampton, Va., Mrs. R. Wesley Hearn, Miss Susan Hastings, Miss Ella Hastings, Messrs. John E. and Wm. A. Hastings, all of Salisbury.

Miss Hastings had for several years been a devoted member of the Presbyterian church.

Damage By Wind.

The extreme heat which prevailed during last week was followed Friday afternoon by a wind and rain storm and much thunder and lightning. The rain was timely and did great good to growing vegetation, but the wind injured fruit and ornamental trees. In some parts of the Peninsula houses were wrecked. Several lives were lost by the lightning. In this county the severest damage resulted to orchard and shade trees. One of the finest oaks in Governor Jackson's grounds was uprooted and it fell across the telephone wires, across Division street into the yard of Mr. F. A. Grier, thus cutting off travel and telephone communication with the B. C. & A. railroad office until it was removed and the line repaired. The damage to the Salisbury Telephone line was the most serious the company has ever encountered. Growing wheat was blown flat, but has since straightened up.

The force of the wind seemed to be particularly noticeable in the vicinity of Quantico. In all parts of the peninsula the loss of life and the damage to trees and other property is reported to be very considerable.

The storm was followed by a decided fall in the temperature which was a welcome change.

—Miss Alice Vincent, accompanied by her little nephew, Master George Lankford, left on Wednesday last for an extended visit among her brothers and sisters in different parts of southern and western Virginia.

—Rev. L. F. Warner will speak in the M. P. church Sunday morning on "Mary and Martha in Modern Life." "How to spend the Sabbath" will be the subject at night. Short services during the heated term.

—The County Commissioners made a contract with Dr. Charles R. Truitt to serve as health officer, physician to the jail, and furnish the medicine for the jail for the sum of $150.00. The levy is not yet ready. The board will meet again next Tuesday.

—A large Newfoundland dog jumped from the third story of R. E. Powell & Co.'s store last Saturday afternoon. In the descent the dog struck the iron awning and rolled to the ground, pitching on a horse attached to a dearborn wagon. The animal became frightened and started to run away, but was stopped before proceeding very far. The dog escaped injury.

—The members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Maryland are raising a fund, to erect a monument in Baltimore to Maryland's Confederate dead. Mrs. Owen Norris of Easton has undertaken the work on the Eastern Shore and will hold a lawn fete June 20th at Easton on the grounds at Bishop Adams' residence. Mrs. Norris expects to raise $200. for the fund.

—One week during this season 110 car loads of strawberries were shipped from Bridgeville, Del. alone. Not in history of the strawberry business have one week's shipments been as large, and yet it is stated that the growers in that vicinity have realized very little money out of the crop. It seems that the railroad companies, the berry pickers and the commission men have been the favored ones this season.

—Dr. Hasbrouck performed an operation on Ella Haymon colored last Sunday morning for fibroid tumor and pus on the kidney. The woman is now doing well. He was assisted by Dr. Humphreys, and by Dr. Johnson of Washington.

—Mr. O. J. Schneck has added another improvement to the landscape lying along the Spring Hill road by placing a neat white washed fence around the twelve acre lot he recently purchased from Col. Leonard. The purchase lies this side his poultry farm adjoining the lands of Messrs. Mitchell and White.

—Mr. Wm. J. Ennis has about completed a large three story frame building at "Isabella"—corner Isabella and Lake Streets. The first floor will be used as a store, and the other floors will be for rent. Several new homes have been recently finished at "Isabella" and others are in course of erection. This section of Salisbury is naturally attractive, and is now growing in wealth and commercial importance.

—Mrs. Amelia P. Waller has sold her property corner of William street and Poplar Hill Avenue to Mr. Charles McMakin of Baltimore who will come to Salisbury to reside in the future. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. A. W. Woodcock and Mrs. A. J. Carey. The price paid for the property was $1650. Before occupying it he will make some repairs on it. Mr. McMakin is a retired merchant of Baltimore.

—All persons having my berry checks will please present them at my office for payment, at once and hereafter always bring them on Friday as this is our cash day. I further wish to state that no Merchant in Salisbury or else where is authorized to take my tickets and, if they do take them they must present them at my office for payment not later than June 15th for strawberries and not later than July 15th for Blackberries.—W. F. ALLEN, JR.

—Miss Amanda Elizabeth Dennis of Powellville was in town Thursday. She has seldom been seen on the streets of Salisbury for the past four or five years since she left the county to reside in Berlin. She returned to her old home in Dennis District last January. During these years she has appeared in print as seldom almost as she is seen in person. Her muse seems sleeping. From appearances however the years do not bear heavily upon her. She is as sprightly and jovial as usual, and has added some pounds to her avoirdupois. The only evidence that Father Time has journeyed with her these late years, is the gentle stroke she has received on the head by the aged reaper, for her hair has grown decidedly frosty.

THE RED MEN GOT TOGETHER

In Salisbury a few weeks ago in convention. Once a year they get together. They never got together where they were more welcome than they were this year. With a desire to set things straight in the minds of a good many people who do not understand why the axe is the badge of a Red Man, Lacy Thoroughgood, being a Red Man, has, at a great deal of expense and time, been making an investigation as to the origin. George Washington was the first Red Man. He got an axe and went out and cut down a cherry tree. His father was dead onto him and said, "George, did you chop that tree?" George said, "I did, but it was an AXE-I-DENT." Ever since then an axe has been worn as a badge of a Red Man. George couldn't sit down for a week after that interview, he was in such good standing. Lacy Thoroughgood has got a Red Man's axe and he's going to use it to chop down profits and prices just now when people want to buy Clothing and Hats. Lacy Thoroughgood is going to make quite a chopping among some mighty swell suits. Some suits that were bought to sell for $18—they drop with one chop of the axe to $12.50. Yes, Thoroughgood is only AXEING $12.50 a suit for them. Yes, Lacy Thoroughgood is only AXEING $5, $6, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50 and $10 for the very cream of his clothing stock. Lacy Thoroughgood has plenty of Clothing; plenty of kinds, plenty of each kind, plenty of sizes, plenty of cool to the inch, plenty of shades and again you are AXED to come.

The New Style of Writing.

Since vertical writing has been adopted in schools it has been considered necessary by some to use a very stiff and hard pen, and nearly all the pen makers recommend pens of this heavy and unyielding description. It is an error, however, to make them too stiff, for sufficient action and flexibility are the essential qualities of a perfect pen. It is well known that many persons have a tendency to grip the holder and press too hard with the pen. This habit can only be overcome by using one made with degree of flexibility and fineness of point, which compels a lightness of touch, and helps toward a graceful and gliding motion. Pens made properly will be found to write smoothly, and are suitable either for the vertical or ordinary slanting writing.

The Spencerian Vertical Pens No. 37, carry out these ideas and possess this smoothness of action and well tempered firmness, together with the well known superiority in finish of the Spencerian Pens.

Samples will be sent free of charge to our readers, if this item is cut out and sent with name and address to the Spencerian Pen Co., 450 Broome St., New York City.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Call for an Annual Convention of Those of the Eastern Shore.

Denton, Md., June 14.—The members of the Board of County Commissioners of Caroline, Messrs. Willard C. Todd, William E. Lord and D. J. Zacharias, have suggested the idea of an annual convention of all the County Commissioners of the Eastern Shore. September is mentioned as a fitting time and Denton as the proper place for holding the first convention. The Caroline board has sent a circular to the board of each of the nine Eastern Shore counties. In it they say: "The object of these conventions will be to meet and exchange ideas concerning the best and most practical way of transacting the business of the various counties on the Shore. The adoption of such a system cannot fail to be beneficial for the counties adopting the plan. Each year the commissioners are confronted with perplexing questions, the proper solution of which is no easy matter. Again, we think the commissioners of the various counties on the Shore should be in close touch with another and this can be done by holding annual conventions and matters of general interest discussed."

It is also proposed, later on if deemed advisable, to include the entire State in the Conventions.

Three Difficulties Relieved.

"I have been troubled with salt rheum, scrofula and fluttering of the heart for several years, and I could not find any medicine that would cure me until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This has done me so much good that I recommend it to all who are troubled in this way." Miss Sara J. Salter, Griggstown, N. J.

That distress after eating is prevented by one or two of Hood's Pills. They don't gripe.

Proud of their record members of Co., 4th Immunes, marched further into interior of Cuba than any other body of American troops, and raised stars and stripes over Siguaní. Majority of company live in Hagerstown.

Without a Peer.—Works Miracles

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is without a peer. This great remedy relieves instantly the most aggravated and distressing forms of heart disease. Thousands of times has the hand of the grim destroyer been stayed by its use. If there is Palpitation, Shortness of Breath, Pain in Left Side, Smothering Sensations, don't delay or you may be counted in the long list of those who have gone over to the great majority, because the best remedy in the world to-day was not promptly used. Sold by Dr. L. D. Collier.

Struck by lightning while riding horse back, Hubert Mumma, a young Washington county farmer, lies in a precarious condition. The horse was uninjured but two farm hands were severely stunned by same bolt.

Offensive even to Myself.

F. A. Bottom, druggist, Cookshire, Que., says: "For 20 years I suffered from Catarrh. My breath was very offensive even to myself. I tried everything which promised me a cure. In almost all instances I had to proclaim them no good at all. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I got relief instantly after first application. It cured me and I am free from all the effects of it." Sold by Dr. L. D. Collier.

Threw his arms around her when she opened the door, and used abusive language towards her, was way villainous tramp greeted Mrs. Frank Miller near Falling Waters, Washington county. She broke away, screamed, and tramp escaped.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. To test it, a trial size for 10 cents or the large, for 50 cents, is mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. Druggists keep it. A remedy for Nasal Catarrh which is drying or exciting to the diseased membrane should not be used. Cream Balm is recognized as a specific.

The Spanish guns captured in Cuba and Porto Rico will be turned over, one each to the Governors of the States for disposition by the War Department. Hagerstown is justly entitled to Maryland's share.

Fossil Pills.

The demand is proof of their worth—Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are beating out many fossil formulas at a quarter a box—They are better medicine—Easier doses and 10 cents a vial. A thousand ailments may arise from a disordered liver. Keep the liver right and you'll not have Sick Headache, Biliousness, Nausea, Constipation and Sallow Skin. Sold by Dr. L. D. Collier.

Civil War Correspondents.

Of the regular correspondents who followed the army from 1861 to 1865 several notable writers have survived John Russell Young, George Alfred Townsend, whose battle pictures surpass everything of their kind in literature, is still a prolific contributor to the press. He spends his winters in Washington and his summers at his farm in Maryland, called Gaplands. George W. Smalley is the New York correspondent of the London Times. Henry V. Boynton is chairman of the Chickamauga park commission and a brigadier general in the volunteer army. Bull Run Russell is still writing in London. Henry Villard is a millionaire, with one place in Germany, another in Madison avenue, New York, and a third on the banks of the Hudson, near Dobbs Ferry. Whitelaw Reid is editor of the New York Tribune and was a member of the peace commission. Edward H. House lives at Tokyo and writes for several American papers. He is the Japanese representative of the Associated Press. Joseph Howard, Jr., still follows his profession in New York, as also do Murat Halstead, W. F. G. Shanks and several others. In fact, more of the men who became famous as correspondents during the war are living than are dead. They were nearly all between 25 and 30 years of age at that time, and it is only 34 years since the war closed.—Chicago Record.

A Woman's Voice.

Crusty old bachelors and henpecked husbands have often expatiated on the carrying power of a woman's voice, but the average man, with the memory of soft, sweet words lingering in his mind, has not hesitated to denounce such statements as pure fiction. Scientific investigation proves, however, that the woman haters were right. An English aeronaut has just registered on a very delicate instrument the human voice heard at different altitudes. He has noticed that the voice of a woman is audible in a balloon at the height of exactly two miles, while that of a man has never reached higher than a mile. There is no reverberation in the sounds which are carried to those altitudes, but the sounds once heard are gone forever. At this point, however, the aeronaut and woman hater part company, for the latter is haunted by the reverberations. Whatever else the experiment has proved, it has certainly confirmed the fact of the "penetration" of woman.—New York Times.

Very Inconsiderate of Him.

May—I think Charlie is too mean for anything!
Daisy—Why, what is the matter?
May—You remember that lovely pen-wiper I was at so much trouble making him? Well, I saw it the other day, and it's all full of ink stains!—Stray Stories.

Reduced Rates via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the National Educational Association Convention, to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., July 11 to 14; the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets via direct routes from points on its line, to Los Angeles, Cal., and return, at rate of single fare for the round trip, plus $2.00 membership fee. These tickets will be sold, good going, June 24 to July 7, and, when stamped by Joint Agent at Los Angeles, good to return arriving at final destination, until September 5.

CHOICE OF BELIEFS.

REV. DR. TALMAGE SPEAKS ON RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE.

All Evangelical Churches, He Says, Are Good and Are Seeking the Same End—Angry Sectarian Discussions Deplored.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—In this sermon Dr. Talmage discusses a topic which will interest domestic circles everywhere. The text is Genesis xiii, 8: "Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee and between my herdmen and thy herdmen. Is not the whole land before thee?"

Uncle and nephew, Abram and Lot, both pious, both millionaires, and with each large flocks of bleating sheep and lowing cattle that their herdmen got into a fight, perhaps about the best pasture or about the best water privilege or because the cow of one got hooked by the horns of the other. Not their poverty of opportunity, but their wealth, was the cause of controversy between these two men. To Abram, the glorious old Mesopotamian sheik, such controversy seemed absurd. It was like two ships quarreling for sea room in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. There was a vast reach of country, cornfields, vineyards, harvests and plenty of room in illimitable acreage. "Now," says Abram, "let us agree to differ. Here are the mountain districts, swept by the tonic sea breeze and with wide reaching prospect, and there is the plain of the Jordan, with tropical luxuriance. You may have either." Lot, who was not as rich as Abram, and might have been expected to take the second choice, made the first selection and with a modesty that must have made Abram smile said to him:

"You may have the rocks and the fine prospect; I will take the valley of the Jordan, with all its luxuriance of cornfields and the river to water the flocks and the genial climate and the wealth immeasurable." So the controversy was forever settled and great souled Abram carried out the suggestion of the text: "Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdmen and thy herdmen. Is not the whole land before thee?"

Well, in this the last decade of the nineteenth century and in this beautiful land, which was called America, after Americus Vesputius, but should have been called Columbia, after its discoverer, Columbus, we have a wealth of religious privilege and opportunity that is positively bewildering. Churches of all sorts of creeds and of all kinds of government and all forms of worship and all styles of architecture—what opulence of ecclesiastical opportunity! Now, while in desolate regions there may be only one church, in the opulent districts of this country there is such a profusion that there ought to be no difficulty in making a selection. No fight about vestments, or between liturgical or nonliturgical adherents, or as to baptismal modes, or a handful of water as compared with a riverful. If a man prefers to dwell on the heights, where he can get only a sprinkling from the clouds, let him consent that Lot have all the Jordan in which to immerse himself. "Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee and between my herdmen and thy herdmen. Is not the whole land before thee?"

Angry Discussion Deplored.

Especially is it unfortunate when families allow angry discussion at the breakfast or dining or tea table as to which is the best church or denomination, one at one end of the table saying he could never endure the rigid doctrines of Presbyterianism, one at the other end responding that she never could stand the forms of Episcopacy, and one at one side of the table saying he did not understand how anybody could hear the noise in the Methodist church, and another declaring all the Baptists bigots. There are hundreds of families hopelessly split on ecclesiasticism, and in the middle of every discussion on such subjects there is a kindling of indignation, and it needs some old father Abram to come and put his foot on the loaded fuse before the explosion takes place and say: "Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee and between my herdmen and thy herdmen. Is not the whole land before thee?"

I undertake a subject never undertaken by any other pulpit, for it is an exceedingly delicate subject, and if not rightly handled might give serious offense, but I approach it without the slightest trepidation, for I am sure I have the divine direction in the matters I propose to present. It is a tremendous question, asked all over Christendom, often asked with tears and sobs and heart breaks and involving the peace of families, the eternal happiness of many souls. In matters of church attendance should the wife go with the husband or the husband go with the wife?

First, remember that all the evangelical churches have enough truth in them to save the soul and prepare us for happiness on earth and in heaven. I will go with you into any well-acted theological library, and I will show you sermons from ministers in all denominations that set forth man as sinner and Christ as a deliverer from sin and sorrow. That is the whole gospel. Get that into your soul and you are fitted for the here and the hereafter. There are differences, we admit, and some denominations we like better than others. But suppose three or four of us make solemn agreement to meet each other a week from now in Chicago on important business, and one goes by the New York Central railroad, another by the Erie railroad, another by the Pennsylvania railroad, another by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. One goes this way because the mountains are grander; another takes this because the cars are more luxurious; another that because the speed is greater; another takes the other because he has long been accustomed to that route, and all the employees are familiar. So far as our engagement to meet is concerned it makes no difference if we only get there. Now, any one of the innumerable evangelical denominations, if you practice its teaching—although some of their trains run on a broad gauge and some on a narrow gauge—will bring you out at the city of the New Jerusalem.

Safe in Any Church.

It being evident that you will be safe in any of the evangelical denominations, I proceed to remark, first, if one of the married couple be a Christian and the other not, the one a Christian is bound to go anywhere to a church where the unconverted companion is willing to go, if he or she will go to no other. You of the connubial partnership are a Christian. You are safe for the skies. Then it is your first duty to secure the eternal safety of your lifetime associate. Is not the everlasting welfare of your wife impenitent, or your husband impenitent, of more importance than your church relationship? Is not the condition of your companion for the next quadrillion of years a mightier consideration to you than the gratification of your ecclesiastical taste for 40 or 50 years? A man or a woman that would stop half a minute to weigh preferences as to whether he or she had better go with the unconverted companion to this or that church or denomination has no religion at all, and never has had, and I fear never will have. You are loaded up with what you suppose to be religion, but you are like Captain Frobisher who brought back from his voyage of discovery a shipload of what he supposed valuable minerals, yet, instead of being silver and gold, were nothing but common stones of the field, to be hurled out as finally useless.

Mighty God! In all thy realm is there one man or woman professing religion, yet so stolid, so unfitted, so far gone unto death that there would be any hesitancy in surrendering all preferences before such an opportunity of salvation and heavenly reunion? If you, a Christian wife, are an attendant upon any church, and your unconverted husband does not go there because he does not like its preacher, or its music, or its architecture, or its uncomfortable crowding, and goes not to any house of worship, but would go if you would accompany him somewhere else, change your church relations. Take your hymnbook home with you today. Say goodbye to your friends in the neighboring pews, and go with him to any one of a hundred churches till his soul is saved and he joins you in the march to heaven. More important than that ring on the third finger of your left hand it is that your heavenly Father command the angel of mercy, concerning your husband at his conversion, as in the parable of old, "Put a ring on his hand."

The Dearest Sacrifice.

No letter of more importance ever came to the great city of Corinth, situated on what was called the "Bridge of the Sea," and glistening with sculpture and gated with a style of brass the magnificence of which the following ages have not been able to successfully imitate and overshadowed by the Acropolis, a fortress of rock 2,000 feet high—I say no letter ever came to that great city of more importance than that letter in which Paul puts the two startling questions: "What knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt save thy husband? Or how knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt save thy wife?" The dearest sacrifice on the part of the one is cheap if it rescue the other. Better go to the smallest, weakest, most insignificant church on earth and be copartners in eternal bliss than pass your earthly membership in most gorgeously attractive church while your companion stays outside of evangelical privilege. Better have the drowning saved by a scow or a sloop than let him or her go down while you sail by in the gilded cabins of a Majestic or Campana.

Second remark. If both of the married couples be Christians, but one is so naturally constructed that it is impossible to enjoy the services of a particular denomination, and the other is not so sectarian or prejudicial, let the one less particular go with the other who is very particular. As for myself, I feel as much at home in one denomination of evangelical Christians as another, and I think I must have been born very near the line. I like the solemn roll of the Episcopal liturgy, and I like the spontaneity of the Methodists and I like the importance given to the ordinance of baptism by the Baptists and I like the freedom of the Congregationalists and I like the government and the sublime doctrine of the Presbyterians and I like many of the others just as much as any I have mentioned and I could happily live and preach and die and be buried from any of them. But others are born with a liking so stout, so unbending, so inexorable for some denomination that it is a positive necessity they have the advantage of that one. What they were intended to be in ecclesiasticism was written in the sides of their cradle, if the father and mother had eyes keen enough to see it. They would not stop crying until they had put in their hands as a plaything a Westminster Catechism or the Thirty-nine Articles. The whole current of their temperament and thought and character runs into one set of religionists as naturally as the James river into the Chesapeake. It would be a torture to such persons to be anywhere outside of that one church.

Now, let the wife or husband who is not so constructed sacrifice the milder preference for the one more inflexible and rigorous. Let the grapevine follow the rugosities and sinuosities of the oak or hickory. Abram, the richer in flocks of Christian grace, should say to Lot, who is built on a smaller scale: "Let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee and between my herdmen and thy herdmen. Is not the whole land before thee?" As you can be edified and happy anywhere, go with your companion to the church to which he or she must go or be miserable.

Agree to Differ.

Remark the third: If both the married couple are very strong in their sectarianism, let them attend the different churches preferred. It is not necessary that you attend the same church. Religion is between your conscience and your God. Like Abram and Lot, agree to differ. When on Sabbath morning you come out of your home together and one goes one way and the other the other, heartily wish each other a good sermon and a time of profitable devotion, and when you meet again at the noonday repast let it be evident, each to each, and to your children, and to the hired help, that you have both been on the Mount of Transfiguration, although you went up by different paths, and that you have both been fed by the bread of life, though kneaded by different hands in different trays and baked in different ovens. "But how about the children?" I am often asked by scores of parents. Let them also make their own choice. They will grow up with reverence for both the denominations represented by father and mother if you, by holy lives, commend those denominations. If the father lives the better life, they will have the more favorable opinion of his denomination. If the mother lives the better life, they will have the more favorable opinion of her denomination. And some day both the parents will, for at least one service, go to the same church. The neighbors will say, "I wonder what is going on today, for I saw our neighbor and his wife, who always go to different churches, going arm in arm to the same sanctuary."

Well, I will tell you what has brought them together, arm in arm, to the same altar. Something very important has happened. Their son is today uniting with the church. He is standing in the aisle, taking the vows of a Christian. He had been somewhat wayward, and gave father and mother a good deal of anxiety, but their prayers have been answered in his conversion, and as he stands in the aisle and the minister of religion says, "Do you consecrate yourself to the God who made and redeemed you and do you promise to serve him all your days?" and with manly voice he answers, "I do," there is an April shower in the pew where father and mother sit and a rainbow of joy which arches both their souls, that makes all differences of creed infinitesimal. And the daughter who had been very worldly and gay and thoughtless, puts her life on the altar of consecration and as the sunlight of that Sabbath streams through the church window and falls upon her brow and cheek, she looks like their other daughter, whose face was illumined with the brightness of another world on the day when the Lord took her into his heavenly keeping years ago.

Joy in the House of God.

I should not wonder, if, after all, these parents pass the evening of their life in the same church, all differences of church preference overcome by the joy of being in the house of God where their children were prepared for usefulness and heaven. But I can give you a recipe for ruining your children. Angriely contend in the household that your church is right and the church of your companion is wrong. Bring sneer and caricature to emphasize your opinions, and your children will make up their minds that religion is a sham, and they will have none of it. In the northeast storm of domestic controversy the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valley will not grow. Fight about apostolic succession, fight about election and free agency, fight about baptism, fight about the bishopric, fight about gown and surplice, and the religious prospects of your children will be left dead on the field. You will be as unfortunate as Charles, Duke of Burgundy, who in battle lost a diamond the value of a kingdom, for in your fight you will lose the jewel of salvation for your entire household. This is nothing against the advocacy of your own religious theories. Use all forcible argument, bring all telling illustration, array all demonstrative facts, but let there be no acerbity, no stinging retort, no mean insinuation, no superciliousness, as though all others were wrong and you infallibly right.

Take a hint from astronomy. The Ptolemaic system made the earth the center of the solar system, and everything was thought to turn round the earth. But the Copernican system came and made the sun the center around which the planets revolved. The bigot makes his little belief the center of everything, but the large souled Christian makes the Sun of Righteousness the center, and all denominations, without any clashing and each in its own sphere, revolving around it. Over the tomb of Dean Stanley in Westminster abbey is the passage of Scripture, "Thy commandments are exceeding broad." Let no man crowd us on to a path like the bridge Al Sirat, which the Mohammedan thinks leads from this world over the abyss of hell into paradise, the breadth of the bridge less than the web of a starved spider or the edge of a sword or razor, off the edges of which many fall. No. While the way is not wide enough to take with us any of our sins, it is wide enough for all Christian believers to pass without peril into everlasting safety. But do not any of you depend upon what you call "a sound creed" for salvation. A man may own all the statutes of the state of New York and yet not be a lawyer, and a man may own all the best medical treatises and not be a physician, and a man may own all the best works on painting and architecture and not be either painter or architect, and a man may own all the sound creeds in the world and yet not be a Christian. Not what you have in your head and in your tongue, but in your heart and in your life, will decide everything.

"Hang Out Your Lights."

In olden times in England before the modern street lamps were invented every householder was expected to have a lantern suspended in front of his house, and the cry of the watchmen in London as they went along at eventide was, "Hang out your lights!" Instead of disputing in your home about the different kinds of lantern, as a watchman on the walls of Zion I cry, "Let your light so shine before men that they, seeing your good works, may glorify your Father which is in heaven!" Hang out your lights! You may have a thousand ideas about religion and yet not the great idea of pardoning mercy. It is not the number of your ideas, but the greatness of them. A mouse hath ten offsprings in her nest, while the lioness hath one in her lair. All ideas about forms and ceremonies and church government put together are not worth the one idea of getting to heaven yourself and taking your family with you.

But do not reject Christianity, as many do, because there are so many sects. Standing in Westminster hotel, London, I looked out of the window and saw three clocks, as near as I can remember, one on the parliament house, another on St. Margaret's chapel, another on Westminster abbey, and they were all different. One said 12 o'clock at noon, another said five minutes before 12, another said five minutes after 12. I might as well have concluded that there is no such thing as time, because the three timepieces were different, as for you to conclude that there is no such thing as pure Christianity, because the churches differ in their statement of it.

But let us all rejoice that, although part of our family may worship on earth in one church and part in another church, or bowed at the same altar in a compromise of preferences, we are, if redeemed, on the way to a perfect church, where all our preferences will be fully gratified. Great cathedral of eternity, with arches of amethysts and pillars of sapphire, with floors of emerald and windows aglow with the sunrise of heaven! What stupendous towers, with chiming angel hoisted and angel rung! What myriads of worshippers, white robed and coroneted! What an officiator at the altar, even "the great High Priest of our profession!" What walls, hung with the captured shields and flags, by the church militant passed up to be church triumphant! What doxologies of all nations! Coronet to coronet, cymbal to cymbal, harp to harp, organ to organ! Pull out the tremulant stop to recall the sufferings past! Pull out the trumpet stop to celebrate the victory!

And nearly gates behold,
Thy bulwarks, with salvation strong,
And streets of shining gold?

He "Plained."

A noted preacher is said to have been in the habit of calling on an ignorant but devout servant girl to read to her his sermons before presenting them to his congregation. Her "Please, sir, plain it a little," as the reading proceeded, was a criticism that was always needed.

PLAYING AT PARLIAMENT.

A New Game Which Flourishes in the Schools of Japan.

An ingenious schoolteacher in Japan recently conceived the idea of having his pupils hold sessions similar to those of the Japanese parliament, and so successful has this noble idea proved that it is now being generally adopted through the schools of the country. It has also attracted the attention of many Europeans and certain leading journals in Germany and France claim that schoolteachers in every country might well follow the example of the Japanese professor.

In his school the principal plays the part of the prime minister, and three teachers represent respectively the ministers of public instruction, of war and of the navy. Three of the senior scholars take the part of privy councilors, and the oldest professor acts as president of the parliament, the place of vice president being taken by the professor of history. Other professors and pupils act the parts of speaker, secretary of state and the other official personages attached to the parliament.

At the opening session, which was held in the large schoolroom of the high school at Sendai, a city in the north of Japan, an embryo member of parliament presented for discussion a bill for the abolition of all examinations. The principal champion of the bill was a young student named Kato. He spoke for two hours in its favor, paying not the slightest attention to the many interruptions which were made by the deputies on the crowded benches. The newspapers next day gave a long account of his speech and predicted for him a brilliant parliamentary career if he decided to enter public life.

The speakers who followed him were not so fortunate. One of them indeed was so embarrassed by the interruptions from the benches that he lost his head completely and was fain to turn aside and swallow a cup of tea, after which he hastily left the platform. A curious feature of the session was the gaiety of all those who took part in it. Students, as well as professors, did not hesitate to lay stress on the weak points of the grave dignitaries whom they represented, and many a hearty laugh was aroused by the skillful manner in which they portrayed the leading legislators of their country. This first session lasted for seven hours, and it might not have ended then if the prime minister had not remarked that it was time for dinner.

Evidently there will be no lack of candidates for parliamentary honors in Japan, at least during the present generation.—New York Herald.

TO CURE BY DREAMS.

A Doctor's Device For Making the Patients See Pleasant Visions.

An English physician claims to have discovered a new and efficacious cure for persons afflicted with nervous or mental maladies. If such persons, he says, can only procure pleasant dreams, they will soon regain their health, and his aim is therefore to furnish them with delightful dreams.

For this purpose he uses a soft leather cap, which covers the patient's head and ears and leaves only the face uncovered. Beside the ears are placed two metal plates, which are joined by a rubber tube to a phonograph. The patient rests on a divan in a dark room, and in front of him is a sort of magic lantern, from which are projected at brief intervals various enjoyable pictures. In this way, it is claimed, the eyes of the sick person are delighted, while at the same time his ears are soothed by the vibrations of the phonograph.

As a result weariness comes upon him and is soon followed by slumber, and it is while he is dozing in this manner that happy dreams are evoked, thanks to the phonograph and the stereopticon. After this light slumber comes a deep sleep, which, we are assured, is always most beneficial.

Several tests of this kind have been made with success, and it is said that not only are tired nerves refreshed by this method, but that the patient's body also rapidly increases in weight. That pleasant sounds and sights are soothing to the senses we have all known for a long time, but that pleasant dreams have a tendency to make persons fat will certainly be news to the general public.—Philadelphia

Frick's Rise to Wealth.

Thirty years ago Henry C. Frick was a poor bookkeeper in a flour mill in Fayette county, Pa. He made his start in business by the purchase of a small interest in a coal mine near his home. The business grew steadily. In 1878, at the time of the panic, he was only 24 years old. The panic enabled him to acquire the whole plant, and then he began to spread. He bought everything he could in the way of coal land, and when the reaction came he found himself enormously wealthy.

At 40 he was master of the coal trade. In 1878 he took in a partner, E. M. Ferguson, and after that, in 1882, the Frick-Coke company was organized. Andrew Carnegie then became associated with Mr. Frick in the coal and coke business, and for many years the two have worked together. Mr. Frick is only 5 feet 4 inches tall, blond and slight. He is affable and generous and has great capacity for work and organization.

AN UNBURIED SKULL.

The Weird Story of the Ghost of Boynton Agnes Hall.

Boynton Agnes Hall, the country seat of Sir Henry Somerville Boynton, who has so recently died, has one of the most extraordinary ghost stories attached to it. The house, which was designed by Inigo Jones, is a large and picturesque red brick building, partly in the Tudor and partly in the Elizabethan and Jacobean styles. The interior, which was decorated by Rubens, contains some magnificent apartments, including a grand hall, with a finely carved screen, behind which is a splendid staircase. Over the mantelpiece in the hall there was a curious representation of the "Empire of Death." In the time of Elizabeth the hall and estates became vested in three sisters, coheirs, who determined to have erected for themselves and their descendants the present mansion, instead of the older building.

The youngest of the three sisters, who had taken a special interest in the erection of the new house, was brutally maltreated by some ruffians when paying a visit to Harpham Hall, the residence of Lady St. Quentin, and died very shortly after. Before her death she made her sisters promise that her head should be removed from her body and preserved within the hall, to remain there forever. She also left a weird message to future owners of the house that if they disobeyed these injunctions she would render the place uninhabitable.

Her sisters, who had only made the promise to pacify her, had the body interred in the church without decapitation. A very short time afterward such terrible disturbances took place in Boynton Agnes Hall that the servants refused to remain in it, and it became, in truth, impossible to live there. The two sisters then consulted with the vicar of the parish and had the coffin brought up from the vault, and, on opening it, found the head severed from the body and rapidly assuming the appearance of a fleshless skull. The skull was duly brought to the house and placed on a table in the hall, where, with the exception of very short periods, it has remained ever since.

On one occasion a maidservant secretly threw it from a window on to a wagon, which remained immovable until, terror-stricken with what she had done, the girl confessed, and the skull was restored to its place. At another time the Boynton of the day, ignoring or disbelieving his ancestress' power, caused the skull to be buried in the garden. The result was that dreadful wailings and numerous unexplained crashings were heard about the hall, and the skull had to be again reinstated.—London Mail.

What Waked Them.

Bill Jackson, the hero of Willimantic, has a new story of El Caney. It is about the Twelfth regulars, of which Bill was one. The story dates from the night attack. Captain Clarke, who was a fine soldier and who seemed never to sleep, hurried back from the trenches to where the men of the company slept and cried: "To arms! Get up! They are coming at us!"

One or two men sprang to their feet, and a few sat up and drowsily rubbed their eyes. The rest slept peacefully on, dreaming of home perhaps. They were dead tired. Then Captain Clarke began to swear. We will hope that in the excitement of the occasion the Angel Gabriel failed to set it down against the captain. Clarke began to swear and to go from man to man, kicking each one in turn. "We are attacked! Rally at the trenches!" he shouted.

But still the weary, fagged out men were slow. They roused, but seemed unable to shake off the meshes of slumber which clogged their brains.

"For goodness sake, boys, wake up!" cried the captain, and then, with a sudden inspiration, he shouted, "Company F, play ball!"

That settled it. The men were wide awake in an instant, and led by their captain, every man dashed for the trenches to the relief of the detail already there, and the enemy was thrust back—as history will tell us.—Willimantic Journal.

Colonel San Martin's Unhappy End.

The Literary Digest prints the following, concerning Colonel San Martin's unhappy ending to what promised to be a glorious military career:

Colonel San Martin of the Spanish army has indeed come to an unhappy end. When General Miles arrived at Ponce, Porto Rico, San Martin commanded a force of 1,000 men in the town, but was so surprised that he made no attempt at resistance and fell back through the island to San Juan. When he reached the Porto Rican capital, he was court-martialed, by order of Captain General Macias, and condemned to be shot. The unfortunate colonel begged that he might die in Spain. This request, in view of the fact that he had won six medals for bravery in battle, was granted. Meanwhile General Brooke and other Americans who had been engaged in the campaign petitioned for clemency, showing the Spanish authorities that Colonel San Martin could not possibly have done otherwise than retire. Despite the fact that he did the best he could under the circumstances, the Spanish war department had sentenced him for life.

Freeing a Domestic Eagle.

A friend of mine, who told me the story, had an eagle. He caught it when it was young, and had brought it up as far as he could like a domestic fowl. Having, in God's providence, to go over to the other side of the world, he was selling off everything. He wondered what he should do with his eagle, and the happy thought came to him that he would not give it to anybody, but would give it back to itself—he would set it free. And he then opened the place in which it had been kept and brought it to the back green. How he was astonished! It walked about, feeling as if this were rather bigger than its ordinary run, but that was all. He was disappointed, and, taking the big bird in his arms, he lifted it up and set it up on his garden wall.

It turned and looked down at him! The sun had been obscured behind a cloud. But just then the cloud passed away and the bright, warm beams poured out. The eagle lifted its eyes and pulled itself up. I wonder what it was thinking? Can an eagle recollect the crags and cliffs, the reveling in the tempests of long ago, the joyous thundering and the flashing lightnings? Pulling itself up, it lifted one wing and stretched it out—"by prayer and supplication"—and it lifted the other wing—"with thanksgiving"—and out-stretched it. Then it gave a scream and soon was a vanishing speck away in the blue heaven.—Presbyterian Banner.

CORNCOB MEAL.

Used For Making Maple Sugar, Coffee and Tobacco.

"We are constantly meeting with fakes and fakirs," said a young Wall street broker the other day, "but one of the slickest schemes that I have ever come across was a corncob mill in Cairo, Ills. The way I became acquainted with the business was through a friend of mine out there, who was interested in the deal and who picked me up, a young chap without any money, and made me the purchasing agent in Chicago."

"It was a long time before I myself knew the wherefore of the mill. It was erected in an inaccessible place, two or three miles out from Cairo, and a board fence ten feet high was built around it. The company had its own private wires to Chicago, Kansas City and New Orleans, and every detail of the business was scrupulously kept secret. The employees themselves did not know what use the corncocks were put to. They merely knew that large quantities of cocks were sent in, but the company gave it out that they were seeking to invent a new process for paper pulp, and that silenced questions."

"This was not the only use for the cob meal, however. The company furnished it straight to one concern out in Kansas City and to another down in New Orleans. It was part of my business, however, to find out the disposition that was made of the meal, and this is the strange part of my story. The firm out in Kansas City showed me a large vat and a distilling apparatus. In the vat coffee berries were placed and boiled. The drip, which was strong black coffee, passed by means of the distiller over to another vat containing nothing but this corncob meal. The latter became saturated with the coffee juice. Both berries and meal were dried, and the boiled berries were placed upon the market as a cheaper grade of coffee, while the meal was put up in packages and sold for ground coffee."

"The firm in New Orleans had a similar scheme, except that it made use of the stems of tobacco leaves. You know that in cigar and other tobacco factories the leaves are stemmed and the stems are sold to snuff manufacturers. But this firm boiled the stems, distilling them off into a vat containing corncob meal. The result was sold as tobacco under a brand you'd easily recognize were I to mention it."

"Another curious use for corncocks I discovered in Chicago when I was doing the buying. I went around to all the big grain elevators and contracted to take their cocks at $1 per car. All you had to do was to run your car on the siding next to the elevator when they opened a shoot and fill the car with cocks in a very few minutes. So you see there was very little expense attached to it, as the elevator people helped load the cars in order to get rid of the cocks. But I was greatly surprised one day to find that I had a rival who was trying to buy the market. He had gone to the elevator men and offered them $1.25 per car for the cocks. I hunted him up and laughingly told him that I didn't know there was another fool in town looking for corncocks. Later on he told me the use he made of them. He showed me three or four immense kettles in which he made sirup out of the commonest and coarsest brown sugar. Into the sirup he dumped his cocks, broken up into little bits. The result, after straining, was one of the best imitations of maple sirup that I ever struck. It tasted exactly like the genuine."

The firm that I worked for paid $50,000 for its plant and declared a dividend the first year. The second year it paid $50 per cent dividend. It along swimmingly until the illi legislature passed a law prohibiting exportation of adulterated food stuffs. That killed the scheme. The plant is being used now as a flouring mill."

New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Coptic Prayer.

I have written with my hand, and the writing bears witness to me, because one day I shall leave it and depart.

With what strength my hand has written, when my hand shall perish my strength is still there.

And there is no scribe that will not pass away, but what his hands have written will remain forever.

Write nothing with thy hand but that which thou wilt be well pleased to see at the resurrection.

I wrote, and I thought there was no harm, because my hand will perish one day, and its writing will remain.

And I knew that God will bring it forth tomorrow. What then—oh, that I had considered—what defense will it make?

The Lord Jesus Christ, may he cause this holy copy to avail for the saving of the soul of the wretched man who wrote it!

And lighten the eyes of his mind to know the mystery of his interpretation and the understanding of his spiritual secret and make him worthy to strive in knowing for himself and him who shall read in it!—From Coptic Version of New Testament.

And Won.

"Didn't the bride get a fine lot of presents?"

"Yes, indeed. She played her cards well."—Providence Journal.

CHRISTMAS IN GERMAN ARMY

At Metz, Where 30,000 Men Are Always Ready to March.

As all the world knows, Metz, the great outpost of the German army, faces watchfully toward the west. From its gates the road to Paris tapers through wall after wall of entrenchments, which end in the "stricken field" and heights of Gravelotte. Thence to the French frontier is only a shortish walk by the mounds of graves which cover the battleground. Between Metz and France is one long "glacis," unsailable by the invader, and when you have walked through one street of the old French city you can see that you are in the entrenchment of an army on a war footing.

Infantry, artillery, cavalry and the rest are all equipped as if for instant active service; the stores are all to hand; harness and carts lie ready by the side of the transport animals. "Not a gaiter button is wanting"—in half an hour 30,000 men can be marching out of Metz with all the machinery and munitions of modern war—with all the stores and equipment needed for a campaign. But still, in spite of all this, you cannot help feeling that Metz is no threat, but merely a warning, a reminder and a recognition of the instability of Germany's neighbor.

It is only at Christmas that this great frontier force has a brief holiday from the incessant work which is necessary to keep the continental war machine in working order, but at Christmas even the iron routine of the German army, sterner than ever on the frontier, gives way to the homeliness of the German race.

Every private who has the money may go home for Christmas. For those who cannot go home a little festival is held in the barracks, which seems characteristic of the simple affection for old homely customs which the Germans, most of all people, have preserved.

By order of the company officer the barrack room of each company is closed on Christmas afternoon, while a Christmas tree is decorated by the sergeant and his wife with lights and small presents paid for by the canteen fund are tied to the boughs. Near it stands a huge cask of beer.

The childish fiction of a surprise is innocently maintained, and each company is ordered by its commanding officer to assemble in the evening. At the appointed moment he leads the way, unlocks the door and enters the gayly lighted room, while a few singers chant an old nursery carol of rejoicing for the event which Christmas celebrates.

Then the officer, broaching the barrel of beer, drinks to the health of his men, proposing it in the words of an old formula of mediæval German, and then he leaves them to the sociability of toasts and talking and to the simple, childish pleasure of the loaded tree, which, heightened by mild but pleteous beer and tobacco, are the joys of the German people at Christmas.—London News.

The Poets' Fate.

It is beginning to be discovered by the world that Sidney Lanier, Henry Timrod and Paul Hayne were great poets. As the Irishman would say, a great poet has a hard time of it while he is alive, but after he dies everybody rushes up to shake his hand and congratulate him.—Norfolk Landmark.

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and nourish the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

A book of 1008 pages given away. On receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only, we will send you The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, free. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered edition, or 31 stamps for the same edition cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NANTICOKE, MD.

The heaviest wind and rain storm accompanied with severe lightning and thunder of the season visited this section the other afternoon. Among the casualties of the storm was the total destruction by lightning of the Ebenezer M. E. church, valued at $3,000 across the river from here. Reports of buildings being moved from their foundations and in few instances blown over, a few crafts capsized, and trees uprooted and carried an almost incredible distance were also among the number. Many fruit trees were nearly stripped of their green fruit and particular rasp berry patches unpicked a few days since suffered much damage. The storm raged furiously for nearly an hour.

Nanticoke boasts of a sleeping wonder in the person of Benjamin Somers, a young man a life time resident of this place. He is abnormally large for his age and has a massive frame upon which is continually growing added weight every day destined him as an avoirdupois prodigy a few years hence. It is a matter of difficulty for him to remain awake any reasonable length of time and even while at work as has been his experience in many instances, amid noise and excitement the sensation of sleep comes on and to this he readily succumbs. And, too, in walking his appearance is that of one asleep. Since he has been a victim of this peculiarity, two years since, hardly has he ever felt thoroughly wide awake, having not slept to an entire satisfaction. His case baffles every one, doctors included, and as yet nothing prescribed or suggested has so much in a trial brought even temporary relief. His prodigiously rapid growth is accepted in general as the foundation of his trouble.

Children's Day service was held in Jones M. E. church Sunday afternoon, and as usual the attendance was large. The customary exercises were used for the occasion.

In yield the black berry crop promises to surpass that of last season. In many patches the vines are bending with the weight of the green berries and not only prolific but for reasons of the timely rain the crop will be the finest for years. The blackberry crop is an extensive one in this section.

Crabs are exceedingly scarce in the neighboring waters here, the scarcest for several years. Evidently, as in the general opinion, the severe past winter is the sole cause of this scarcity. In support of this belief is the fact that in early spring, at low tide, the river shores were strewn with dead crabs. It is no strange sight to see such at that time of the year, but the past spring the number was exceptionally large and every tide until a short time since added to the strewn ones along the shores. Noticeable again the few crabs that have been caught are small and poor. This is a general complaint in particular of the crab cannery owners who are the sufferers having obligated to accept the crabs at a stipulated price regardless of size. Now double the number of the usual sized crab is required to fill a barrel, and even in this the yield of meat is not so large nor of the same quality.

What seems almost incredible to the average person was told by Mr. John Messick, a prominent citizen here concerning a chicken now featherless. This chicken, nearly half grown was exposed to the terrific winds of a few days ago, having nowhere to shelter, and Mr. Messick after the storm had abated, so he stated, while looking after his poultry discovered the chicken with not a single vestige of its once feathered coat. To confirm the story the ill-fated chicken was shown to the neighbors who had received the matter as a jest. The chicken is a great curiosity.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist Protestant Church here Thursday evening, June 15th. The two happy young people who were united in the bonds of matrimony were Mr. L. Tilden Walter and Miss Stella Phillips, daughter of Joseph A. Phillips of this place. Rev. Mr. Warner of Salisbury performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a pretty gown of white organdie and held a bouquet of white carnations. The groom wore a black cutaway coat and light trousers. The bridal march from Lohengrin was rendered by Mrs. Elizabeth Price of Allen. Messrs. Wm. F. Humphreys and Benj. J. D. Phillips were ushers.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, to which many of the friends of the newly wedded couple were invited.

Salisbury a Second Class Post Office.

Postmaster Adkins has received official notice from the Postoffice Department to the effect that this is now a second class office, and with the exception of Dover it is the only second class office on the peninsula south of Wilmington.

Dover is the capitol of Delaware and consequently has a heavy increase in mail matter during the sessions of the State legislature but ordinarily its mail is hardly as large as Salisbury's. With the official change the postmaster's salary is increased. In the near future some important changes will be made in the arrangements at the Salisbury postoffice. The boxes will be pushed out near the front entrance, and 72 lock boxes added, with an increase of 100 call boxes. Mrs. Graham the owner of the building, will repaper and paint it inside and out.

Princess Anne Post Office Robbed.

Burglars entered the Princess Anne postoffice last Wednesday night and robbed it of about $470 worth of stamps.

The same night the telephone wires between Princess Anne and White Haven were cut, and it is supposed that the robbers did that. Postmaster Lankford wrote Deputy Postmaster Price Friday morning that the thieves were supposed to be going about the country on bicycles and that bicycles were found Thursday about eight miles from town. He added that he had hope of overtaking the thieves before they could escape from the peninsula.

Why the Post Office Closes at 7 O'clock.

Messrs. Editors.—"A Patron" writing in this week's issue of the Wicomico News, asks why the post office closes at 7 o'clock "instead of being kept open until 8 o'clock or after as in other towns on the Eastern Shore."

The writer, who is also "a patron" of the office, called the postmaster's attention to the communication which appeared in the News. The postmaster and his assistants said they were not aware that "business men and laborers" were at all inconvenienced by the present arrangement. Seven o'clock has been the closing hour for many previous administrations of the office, because it was not believed that keeping the doors open longer could in any way add to the convenience of the patrons, all the mails having been received and distributed earlier in the day.

All mail deposited in the office before 7 o'clock for points north of Wilmington is dispatched in the same pouch as the Southern mail and forwarded on same train going south, leaving Salisbury at 7:44, and must be in the office by seven in order to get off. It is distributed by the postal clerk between Salisbury and Pocomoke City, held over in Pocomoke City, and dispatched back on the north night train which passes Salisbury 12:47 a. m., otherwise its being dispatched would depend upon the night operator at the Salisbury depot, whose duties are already sufficient to keep him busy, and might cause him to neglect the pouch, which would cause much greater inconvenience to patrons than closing the office at 7 o'clock. The small amount of local mail which would come into the office were it kept open until nine o'clock is insignificant. It is distributed at 6 o'clock the following morning.

The postmaster told me he had interviewed a large majority of the business men on the subject, and with hardly an exception they expressed themselves as being satisfied with the present arrangement. He had not the opportunity to gather the opinion of the laborers, but so far as he is able to judge the hour before seven in the morning and the hour after six in the evening—the commencing and quitting time respectively of the day's work, gave them ample opportunity to look after their mail matter.

The fact that Salisbury is now a second class postoffice is not of itself a sufficient reason, I believe, for its being kept open one or two hours longer than is necessary to give its patrons the very best service the conditions will permit. From five o'clock in the morning till seven o'clock at night makes a long day for the officials, and while I believe they would give uncomplainingly more time if the public could thereby be better served, is it right to demand it if the conditions make it impossible for an increased service to be rendered? The News correspondent is mistaken about other towns on the Eastern Shore remaining open longer. At least Princess Anne, mentioned by him, closes at 7:30 o'clock. "ANOTHER PATRON"

MARYLAND STATE EDITORS.

Annual Meeting This Year At Snow Hill.

COL. JOHN WALTER SMITH AS HOST.

The Maryland Democratic Editors' Association met last Saturday at Snow Hill, in annual convention.

The Western Shore Editors and some of those from the upper end of the Eastern Shore embarked from Baltimore Friday and reached Snow Hill via the Pocomoke steamer about five o'clock Saturday afternoon. At Pocomoke City the steamer stopped long enough for the mayor and representative citizens to meet the editors and their wives and drive them through the town. Arriving at Snow Hill a delegation of the prominent citizens headed by the Mayor and Col. John Walter Smith, met the editors at the wharf and escorted them to the Washington hotel where headquarters were established. While in Snow Hill the Editors were the guests of Col. John Walter Smith.

A business session was held on arrival at the hotel. One was also held on the boat en route. Addresses on topics of interest to the profession were made by William B. Usilton of the Kent News, Chestertown; Geo. E. Ash of the Cecil Democrat, Elkton; Paul Winchester of Baltimore and Arthur F. Haddaway of the Eastern Ledger. Bertram E. Whitman, news editor of the Eastern Star-Democrat, and J. Roscoe White, editor of the Berlin Herald, were elected members of the association. These officers were re-elected:

President—Joseph M. Street, Harford Democrat, Bel Air.

Vice-President—William B. Usilton, Kent News, Chestertown.

Secretary—Fred Sasser, Prince George's Enquirer, Upper Marlboro.

Executive Committee—George E. Haddaway, The Eastern Ledger, chairman; William J. Price, Jr., Observer, Centerville; John W. Avirett, Times, Cumberland; Charles H. Vanderford, Democratic Advocate, Westminster; Francis V. King, St. Mary's Beacon, Leonardtown.

Resolutions were passed pledging the support of the association to the Democratic State ticket.

Saturday evening the members of the association, with some invited guests, were given a magnificent reception at Col. John Walter Smith's palatial residence. Covers were laid for seventy.

Sunday morning the visitors were taken by special train to Ocean City, where they were the guests of Col. John F. Waggaman of Washington, proprietor of the Atlantic Hotel. This hotel is not yet open, so the Colonial was made headquarters and proprietor Warrington made the visitor's stay a pleasant one. At Ocean City Superintendent Robert L. Holliday of the Delaware railroad, General Superintendent E. F. Brooks of the P.W. & B. and Preston Lea of Wilmington joined the party.

Some of the visitors remained at Ocean City and returned to Baltimore by rail Monday morning, while others went back to Snow Hill and left by steamer. The members of the association, with their ladies, who were of the party were:

Annapolis—Mr. and Mrs. William M. Abbott, J. Edward Abbott, Evening Capital; Mr. and Mrs. F. Eugene Wathen, Maryland Republican; Elithu S. Riley, Record; W. Meade Holladay, Advertiser.

Baltimore—Paul Winchester.

Bel Air—J. M. Street, Harford Democrat, Mrs. Jacobs.

Berlin—J. Roscoe White, Herald.

Cambridge—Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mills, Miss Mills, Democrat and News.

Chestertown—William B. Usilton, Kent News.

Crisfield—L. C. Quinn, Times.

Denton—Howard Melvin, Journal; Miss Mary Crouse.

Easton—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Haddaway, Mrs. Nina F. Aldridge, Arthur F. Haddaway, The Ledger.

Elkton—George R. Ash, Cecil Democrat; William D. Bratton, Cecil County News.

Ellicott City—Mr. and Mrs. James F. Melvin, Miss Melvin, Democrat.

Greensboro—Riden Plummer, Free Press.

Leonardtown—Mr. and Mrs. Francis V. King, St. Mary's Beacon.

Pocomoke City—Samuel M. Crockett, Worcester Democrat.

Rockville—A. J. Almon, Advocate.

Salisbury—Mr. and Mrs. Marion V. Brevington, Wicomico News; Thomas F. Fry, William M. Cooper, Advertiser.

Snow Hill—Oscar M. Purnell, Clarence L. Vincent, Messenger.

Upper Marlboro—Fred Sasser, Prince George's Enquirer; George W. Wilson, Marlboro Gazette.

Westminster—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Vanderford, Democratic Advocate.

Among others in the party and who aided in entertaining the visitors were Col. John Walter Smith, Mayor John P. Moore, Dr. Paul Jones, George S. Payne, Deputy Clerk John W. Staton, Clerk of the Court Francis H. Purnell, T. Spence Smith, John L. Nock, Ernest Purnell, M. T. Hargis, A. D. Irwin, Charles S. Richardson, E. King Wilson, William F. Johnson, Sidney Burroughs, William G. Kerbin, O. D. Collins of Snow Hill; W. Lee Carey, Gordon Marshall, School Commissioner Laban T. Quillin of Berlin; Lloyd Wilkinson of Pocomoke City, Judge Charles F. Holland of Salisbury and Thomas J. Ewell of the Baltimore Sun.

At one the business session Mr. Fredrick Sasser introduced the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"The Maryland Democratic Editors, in convention assembled, desire to give expression to their recognition of the fact that the Democratic party in this state enters upon the present campaign under most auspicious circumstances. The patriotic zeal and generous rivalry existing between the friends of the representative candidates whose names have been mentioned in connection with the Democratic nominations, manifest a spirit of reconciliation and harmony among once discordant elements that gives inspiring hope of future success, and we congratulate the people upon the prospect of the restoration of good management in every department of the State government. The Republican party having forfeited the confidence of the citizens of Baltimore, has been deposed of its brief lease of power in municipal affairs through a cordial reunion of Democrats, and the same influence will be potent in the State campaign, if the ticket selected by the convention shall deserve the confidence of the public and the Democratic party. The editors of Maryland pledge their hearty sympathy and support to the candidates, whoever they may be, believing that the nominees of the convention will be men of such high character and ability as to be a guarantee that the reforms so greatly desired will be accomplished in good faith should the party again be entrusted with power."

The resolutions were adopted without discussion.

Suit for Damages.

W. H. Waller of Philadelphia has brought suit for damages in the United States Court for the District of Delaware against A. W. Robinson & Co., of Sharptown, for the death of his son, Irving Waller, who fell into a steaming vat and received scalds from which he died.

It is not believed in the county that Waller can recover any damages. The boy was an employee of the factory and had gone out of the house to get hoops and it was no part of his business to be around the steaming vat. The vat was open but it was opened for the purpose of removing timber. The allegation of the father is that he loses the services of his son, but it is said that he abandoned the child in the town some years ago and left him to his own efforts for support and that the child had not contributed to the parent's support nor had the parents contributed to the child's. The father is now living in Philadelphia. The suit is brought by Levi C. Bird of Wilmington and brought in Del. because one of the partners, Dallas Marvil, resides there. James E. Ellegood Esq. of Salisbury is attorney for the Messrs. A. W. Robinson & Co.

—The lawn party held on Mrs. Annie T. Waller's lawn last Friday evening was a financial success and a very pleasant social affair.

—A newly organized orchestra in the town with Miss Sallie Toadvine at the head of it held a concert in Firemen's park last Thursday evening. The audience was entertained with very fine music for two hours and then invited to entertain themselves with ice cream, cake and etc. The proceeds from the sale of refreshments will be applied to the purchase of musical instruments. About $10 was netted.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERS.

Two Men Charged With Entering the Princess Anne Office.

Charlie Williams and Frank Morris, aged 45 and 47 years, respectively, have been held by United States Commissioner Rogers for the action of the Federal Grand Jury, charged with the robbery of the postoffice at Princess Anne, Md., on Wednesday night or Thursday morning of last week. They were taken to Baltimore by Chief of Police Charles G. Kizer of Norfolk and Inspector William J. Maxwell of the Postoffice Department. They were measured by the Bertillon system and photographed for the rogues' gallery. After their arrest at Norfolk they made a full confession, and said they intended to throw themselves on the mercy of the court.

The capture of Williams and Morris reflected great credit on the Norfolk police. The burglars blew the safe open at Princess Anne, completely wrecking the interior of the postoffice, and secured $470 in stamps, $449 of which was recovered in their possession. Inspector Maxwell was immediately notified, and in turn notified Chief Kinzer, who received his information at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Within five hours Detectives Childress and West, who were detailed on the case, located their men. They were dressed in blue bicycle uniforms. Detective Childress saw them preparing to board a boat for Baltimore, and recognized them by the description furnished. The burglars became alarmed and ran, and during the chase several shots were fired at them. After a hard fight they were subdued and landed in the patrol wagon. On the way to the police station Morris jumped from the patrol wagon and started to run, but a son of Detective Childress overtook him. It was found that in jumping he had broken his left leg.

Chief Kizer said that he believed both men had criminal records. Their pictures were taken at Norfolk. During the sitting they fought desperately and distorted their features to prevent the officers from securing good likenesses. It is believed that pictures of the men will be found in the possession of the authorities in other parts of the country.

Thursday Judge Morris sentenced the two to five years in the Maryland penitentiary at hard labor.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT TRINITY.

Interesting Program Attracted a Large Audience.

The Children's Day exercises held at Trinity M. E. church South last Sunday evening attracted a large audience all the pews and extra seats being filled.

The music was particularly attractive. Miss Powell directed it and Miss Disharoon played the organ which was accompanied by George Sirman with cornet. The superintendent, Mr. Price, assisted by the teachers, brought the pupils through with the program quite effectively.

The edifice was decorated with flowers which lent a charming effect.

MR. WILLIAMS AT SAN FRANCISCO

HEARD REV. J. A. B. WILSON PREACH

My dear friend:—We reached San Francisco Saturday morning, June 8, and at once registered at the Palace Hotel, said to be the largest hotel in the world with the exception of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. The Palace hotel contains 1400 rooms and 900 baths, each room being large, airy, and very nicely furnished. After luncheon we went out to the Cliff House. The Cliff House is the "Lands End" of the west. From the Cliff House we looked down over the Seal Rocks and its noisy "sea hogs." Along the beach for some distance to the south of the Cliff House is elegant bathing. On the opposite side are the Suto Baths, constructed by Adolph Suto, late deceased, the most remarkable baths in the world. We also visited the Suto Park and the residence of Mr. Suto within the park. No one is living in the residence except two old ladies to take care of the property. The park is magnificent and kept scrupulously clean by a number of men constantly at work. I was told that Mr. Suto owned about one-third of the city of San Francisco at the time of his death. I thought that was a little stretch of the imagination. At all events he was a very wealthy man. The population of San Francisco is supposed to be about 300,000. Its situation geographically and commercially is certainly very fine. Looking west to the commerce of Asia and Oceania, north to the fisheries and gold fields of Alaska and the illimitable resources of the northwest as well as the east and south over a country of enormous extent and capacity.

Practically San Francisco is without a rival. Its growth has been steady and grand. Its public buildings are substantial and fine; lacking, it is true, the height and grandeur of some of the other cities. The fear of earthquakes along the coast in that vicinity seems to be the reason why they do not build such lofty structures as may be seen in other western cities. The situation of the city is happy and commanding, being on the bay affording an excellent harbor to large ocean ships at the same time being so near to the great highways of the Pacific Ocean.

On our return from the Suto Park we stopped at the Golden Gate Park, the name given to the park belonging to the city, and visited the museum in the park, remaining in the museum until the closing hour, five o'clock. There were large and elegant collections of curiosities. I was especially taken with the room devoted to Egyptian antiquities, and more especially with the mummies, it being the first time I had ever had the opportunity of seeing one.

Among the different mummies was a Princess, the daughter of Ptolemy II. The casket in which she was laid in the tomb in Egypt was there. What seemed so wonderful to me was that wood could be preserved through the course of 2500 years and the body of the Princess herself preserved by that wonderful art known to the Egyptians, which unfortunately has been lost. I believe our modern civilization knows of no means of embalming bodies of the dead to preserve them and keep them so long as did the Egyptians. There were the fingers perfectly preserved and perfectly natural in form and shape, and more wonderful still, there was the scent of the spices used in embalming, still perceptible after a lapse of so many hundred years. There was also the body of another personage of the Egyptians of an earlier date, who had been dead about 3000 years and several others. I regret I did not take down in pencil the inscriptions and information attached to those mummies, but I was so interested in hurrying along from one to another, that I did not take time to do so. I was also especially struck with the room devoted to Napoleon Bonaparte, Emperor I of France. There was the real chair in which Napoleon sat when Emperor I; there was his real signature to an order advancing the rank of one of his officers.

Sunday afternoon after luncheon we went again to Golden Gate Park to hear music by the First Regiment band of 40 pieces. There were seats arranged in front of band stand for a very large audience and they were filled to overflowing. The music was very fine.

After dinner we went to hear Rev. John A. B. Wilson, D. D., late of the Wilmington conference, formerly Presiding elder of Salisbury district, now stationed at Howard Street Methodist church in San Francisco. The services were very interesting and varied, beginning at half past seven, we had half hour song service followed by prayer, then followed the reading of scripture and the reading of a poem by Miss Jennie Long. The poem was written by Prof. Edward Markham, entitled "The Man With the Hoe," written after seeing Millet's world-famous painting. A painting made as nearly like the original as could be, was hung beside the pulpit and was unveiled just before the poem was read. The young lady who read the poem, Miss Long, was a volunteer nurse for the soldiers in Cuba during the fight there, and fully appreciated the sentiment contained in the poem, which she knew by heart and rather recited it than read it, speaking slowly and distinctly. Perhaps many readers of the ADVERTISER are familiar with the poem.

After reading the poem, Dr. Wilson preached a brief but excellent sermon to his congregation, which filled the church. At the close of the services at the request of Dr. Wilson, Prof. Markham made a short and excellent address bearing on the poem which had just been read. The concluding paragraph of the address was:

"I believe that the industrial question is a religious question. Everything that has to do with the welfare of man in politics or in industry is religious at the bottom. Everything shows our relation to one another and our relation to the Father of Life. Jesus of Nazareth is the Father, the Savior of the human race. In his principle of justice and of brotherhood we find the solution of these problems. Fraternity to me is the dearest of all words, and in that word is the hope of the human race."

The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

You pay the postage. Dr. Pierce gives you the book. The people's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, 700 illustrations is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray cost of mailing only. Send 21 one cent stamps for the paper bound book, or 31 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Card of Thanks.

I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations for what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in so many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and it has always given the most perfect satisfaction, we feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of this remedy and wish them to please accept our hearty thanks.—Respectfully, Mrs. S. DORR, Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by R. K. TRUITT & Son's, Druggist, Salisbury, Md.

Bailey's Laxative Tablets Cures Constipation.

The active principle is cascara sagrada, a plant found in California. It does not do the work of the bowels, but makes the bowels do their own work. It gets the bowels back into the habit of doing their own work, and after they have been roused into a state of healthy activity, and the liver and other organs also they will continue without medicine. They will cure sick headache, biliousness and liver troubles and remove poisonous matter from the system and cure constipation. Put up in 25 and 10 cent packages. Sold by Dr. L. D. Collier.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Either working a "scoop" for his paper or was a case of mistaken identity, for two tramps would never be guilty of such unprofessional conduct as to knowingly waylay an editor for purpose of robbery. Yet, in the dark, they tackled Editor Willison, Cumberland Times, but he got away, and so did the outlaws.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty TIMES ITS PRICE.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the suffering of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. WILSON, Liverymen, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by R. K. TRUITT & Son's, Druggist Salisbury, Md.

A few "must note" issued by B. & O., to passenger employees: Must not use tobacco in any form while on duty; no conductor allowed to count up tickets in any coach; no tan or russet shoes while on duty, and no loud neckties shall be worn.

Is Your Ailment Catarrh?

"I had catarrh for 1 year." "I had catarrh for 2 years." "I had catarrh for 5 years." "I had catarrh for 20 years." "I had catarrh for 50 years." and Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder cured me. These are sentences from the volumes and volumes of testimony for this great catarrh cure—not mythical patients, but words from men and women all over the continent who had been cured. It relieves in 10 minutes. Dr. L. D. Collier druggist.

Charged with shooting with intent to kill Harry L. Jones, at Pen-Mar park, May 30, Luther H. Bair was given hearing at Hagerstown Friday and released on $800 bail. Jones attended hearing, but still very weak.

Don't be Humbugged.

Don't buy your glasses from peddlers claiming to be opticians or you will lose your money. Come to Chas. E. Harper, the graduate optician, and be fitted right, and if not satisfactory your money is refunded.

Do Your Eyes Need Attention?

Why Not Have the Best?

Do you suffer with Headache? There are very few who don't. If so, perhaps defective or impaired vision is the cause.

Have you read the hundreds of testimonials from the most prominent people of Maryland, published on my last visit testifying as to the great relief and comfort obtained to their eyes by the use of my celebrated Eye perfecting Crystal Spectacles and Eye Glasses. Among them are as follows: Governors, Judges of Circuit and Court of Appeals, Clergymen, Lawyers, Justices of the Peace, Physicians, Bankers, Merchants and Mechanics.

If you are a headache sufferer, or do your eyes ache or pain while reading, writing or sewing, or during the action of any bright light? why not call and have your eyes scientifically examined and procure a pair of my celebrated Crystal Glasses, and obtain instant relief. No Charge for the optical examination of your eyes. Entire satisfaction Guaranteed.

THE GREATEST CARE

Should be taken with children's eyes, and they should receive close attention. When a child holds its book conspicuously near, when he has difficulty in seeing figures on the blackboard at school, when he complains of his eyes hurting and of headaches, have the eyes examined and, if necessary, corrected and let him grow up in the comfort of perfect vision. If a child can see better with glasses, he should wear them. To say that he is too small or too young to wear glasses is as reasonable as it is to contend that he is too young to have a fever or a toothache. The continued neglect of a child's eyes may cause strabismus (cross-eye). The eyes are too short for paper vision. Too much strain is brought on the muscle that move them, in consequence of which they become crossed. This defect can be cured by the continued wearing of properly adjusted glasses.

BEWARE OF IMPOSTORS. NO AGENTS OR PEDDLARS ARE EMPLOYED.

This cut represents my double glasses or Lenticulars. Those who are compelled to wear two pair of spectacles will find the greatest comfort and convenience in a single pair composed of two pair of lenses; that is the upper part for distance, the lower for reading or close work. By an improved method of construction the line between upper and lower lenses is almost imperceptible. After a fair trial in using and becoming well used to them, you will wonder how you could go all this time without the Lenticulars. Bear in mind, if you ever had your eyes examined and glasses fitted by me the record of your examination is still kept and can be referred to at any time.

J. Siegel, the scientific and manufacturing optician, from 11 E. Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md., who has been visiting and examining eyes in your city, as well as throughout the State since 1873, and well-known for reliability.

Thanking you for your past patronage, and trusting that new and more modern facilities shall merit a continuance, I am, yours truly,

J. SIEGEL

OPTICIAN.

When your stomach begins to trouble you, it needs help. The help it needs is to digest your food, and, until it gets it, you won't have any peace. Stomach trouble is very distressing, very obstinate, very dangerous. Many of the most dangerous diseases begin with simple indigestion. The reason is that indigestion (not digestion, not-nourishment) weakens the system and allows disease germs to attack it. The antidote is Shaker Digestive Cordial, strengthening, nourishing, curative. It cures indigestion and renews strength and health. It does this by strengthening the stomach, by helping it to digest your food. It nourishes you. Shaker Digestive Cordial is made of pure herbs, plants and wine, is perfectly harmless and will certainly cure all genuine stomach trouble. Sold by druggists, 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

NOMINATE PARTY MEN.

Sentiment in the state is crystallizing very rapidly in favor of the nomination of party men by the democratic state convention which has been called to meet in Baltimore August 2d. The members of the State Editorial Association, which met at Snow Hill last week were very decided in their position on this point. The question there was not, whom shall be nominated? but, what kind of a man shall be nominated? The consensus of opinion expressed, was, that a party man should be chosen. There is no longer any Gorman issue in the state. The people have retired Gorman to private life. Mr. Gorman was the issue two years ago, and the people settled it. All this talk about Gorman and anti-Gorman is nonsense. The people are now called upon to elect a Governor, and the democratic party is called upon to send representatives to Baltimore to meet in convention August 2d to select a candidate to be voted for by the party. One of the best ways to insure the election of the nominees is for the people to make the nomination.

We don't mean by this any clap-trap campaign trash. The people must participate in the selection. They must express their views. This will do more than anything else to secure hearty support.

It's a waste of time to speculate on the probable course of this or that independent journal; or what or who will please them. The duty of the party is to make nominations that are unobjectionable. nominations that the independent press can't oppose consistently. That is, can't oppose without putting itself in the position of dictator.

The independent press is only powerful when its cause is just, and its treatment is fair. The party must therefore put itself in position to make opposition illogical, inconsistent and dictatorial. Should the journals in this position fight the party candidates, the position of 1895 would be reversed. They would fight as dictators, and not as defenders of the people's rights.

If the nominations are made by the people, and by that we mean that if the people turn out at the primaries and express their preferences there will be no trouble about the independent press, for the reason that they would be powerless if they desired to oppose the ticket in the first place, and in the next place they would not risk opposing a ticket made out by the people.

If the people make the nomination they will see to it that the ticket is elected.

—Mrs. Clara Hastings, widow of the late Warren Hastings died last Sunday at the home of her brother Mr. Charles Ruark, Bishop Head, Dorchester county. She had been a patient at the Peninsula General hospital, and left several weeks ago much improved in health. Her death was sudden and unexpected. Her remains were interred at Bishop's Head. Three children survive her, one of whom, Ralph, is employed at the News office.

MAY LOSE MARYLAND.

Senator Wellington Says the Criticism of Admiral Schley may Cost the Republicans the State.

Washington, June 21.—United States Senator George L. Wellington, of Maryland, has fired a 19-inch political gun at the Navy Department anti-Schley ring, the echoes of which will reach the Executive Office in the White House.

Senator Wellington is the leader of the Republican party, which, in 1896, captured Maryland from the Democrats. While in Washington recently he informed a number of Administration managers that the attitude of the President in permitting the Navy Department ring headed by Admiral Crowninshield, to continue its persecution of Admiral Schley would inevitably result in the loss of Maryland's electoral vote for four years more of McKinley.

Senator Wellington who feels very strongly on the subject, announced that the anti-Schley crusade, unchecked by the President, was, in a measure, responsible for the overwhelming defeat of the Republicans at the municipal election in Baltimore last spring, and that the entire State would go Democratic in the national campaign next year unless the persecution was stopped. The people of Maryland, Senator Wellington explained, had reached the conclusion that if such injustice to a naval hero could be perpetrated with a Republican President and a Republican Secretary of the Navy, it would be a good thing to change both—and they would vote their convictions. This statement from the Maryland Senator will possibly have more effect in silencing the Crowninshield anti Schley crusaders than anything thus far put forth in the controversy.

It is not unlikely that executive orders will be issued which will have a salutary effect upon the anti-Schley combination.

The County Levy "Struck"

The County Commissioners were in session last Tuesday. The principal business was the declaring of the county levy for 1899 which was fixed at 80¢ cents on the hundred dollars. This together with the state tax of 17½ cents on the hundred dollars makes the levy 97½ cents. The basis for the dividend is in round figures $5,456,000. This will yield an income of $43,784. The county expenses provided for make something over forty thousand dollars which leaves a contingent fund of $3000 somewhat larger than last year. The principal items contained in the levy: Public Schools $11,000. Registration and Elections $1866.44, Public Roads $4353.91; Court Expenses $2509; Alms house $1500; Jail $1000; Hospitals (Insane Asylum $1800, Peninsula General Hospital $300) $2100; Pensions $2000. The items for Public Schools. Court expenses, Alms house, Pensioners, Jail and Hospitals are advance levies, that is, levies to provide for year 1900. These items amount to $20,000 about one-half of the total levy.

The Commissioners are to be congratulated upon the careful management of the county's finances that there is no increase in the levy when considerably more is being done to improve public roads.

Court House Business.

The School Board was in session Tuesday engaged in auditing teacher's accounts. The treasurer Mr. Williams will be ready to pay off teachers on and after today.

The regular monthly meetings of the Board are held on the first Wednesday in the month.

The County Commissioners were in session Wednesday and declared the levy. They will be in session again next Tuesday.

The orphans court will hold its regular session next Tuesday being the fourth Tuesday of the month.

Teacher please excuse Luella from school tomorrow for her father is going to thrash her mother.

A poor excuse is better than none (sometimes). A teacher in one of our country schools, not very far from here, who has had quite a good deal of experience in excuses, got a new excuse about harvest time, that, for originality, takes the cake, frosting and all. If it had been punctuated at all, it might have changed it somewhat; but this is the excuse as it came: "Teacher please excuse Luella from school tomorrow for her father is going to thrash her mother." Whether her mother wanted Luella to stay at home and enjoy seeing her mother thrashed or not, it is difficult to state. Some people are always making excuses. Some merchants say they haven't got many goods in now as they have had big trade and sold them out. Don't you believe it. They haven't had many this season. But if you want to see a stock of beautiful Clothing, Hats, Shirts, Collars and Cuffs, drop in at Lacy Thoroughgood's. Another merchant in Salisbury buys plunder, and old plunder too, and says, excuse me for selling it. Thoroughgood's stock of Clothing and Hats is always peaches and cream. Lacy Thoroughgood has never found it necessary to make any excuses for selling goods cheap. Thoroughgood sells good goods cheap because it pays him to do it. For instance, Lacy Thoroughgood is selling a Straw Hat for 25 cents that is as good as you can buy for 45c, 46c, 47c, 48c, 49c, or 50c, of anybody else. What do you care why Thoroughgood does it, if you can get it for a quarter? Thoroughgood don't need any excuse for saving you some money.

Our Duty.

Messrs. Editors—It is to be observed in glancing over the world of today that man has discovered a well nigh countless number of ways of employing himself. An attempt to enumerate them would doubtless prove uninteresting, unprofitable and tiresome.

Some are engaged in work that has for its object the palliation of the sufferings of the world, and the promotion of human happiness. Surely no grander or more noble work could engage the attention of man. Such work comes of God and wakens the strings of the harp that will greet the ears of those thus engaged, when they strike the shores of the Celestial City.

Whether one be a Theosophist, Spiritualist Buddhist, or any other ist, who doubts that "karma is kismet", work the result of work, or that man is the builder of his own heaven or hell, whether either be a place of existence or state of existence.

On this point or in relation to the question as to the heaven or hell of the future, we may be pardoned for quoting from Omas Khaygam the following verse;

I sent my soul through the invisible.
Some letter of that after-life to spell;
And by-and-by my soul returned to me
And answered: I myself am heaven or hell

Others are engaged in work that tends to increase the miseries and burdens of life, degrade, demoralize, and damn the human family. Such work comes from the devil and those thus engaged are surely agents of the devil, and will surely reap what they sow, and hence had better seek a change of employment.

When we shall knock at the gate of the eternal city for admission, and the Lord of the heavens and the universe shall ask, what was your business on earth? Ah! What will be the answer of those whose work, instead of helping to lift man into a brighter and more glorious sphere, contributed largely to his debauchery and everlasting ruin?

The days of this life are but few and short, and the temporary and insignificant character of the advantages to be derived here from unholy work, constitute but poor compensation for the ineffable glories of an endless future.

Whether or not we can say with the Persian astronomer poet:—

Into this universe, and why not knowing,
Nor whence, like water willy-willy flowing;
And out of it, as wind along the waste,
I know not whither, willy-willy blowing.

We feel that we are building our own future, and that we shall realize the future of our own building.

But we are not a preacher save in the sense in which we are all preachers, nor did we begin these lines for the purpose of sermonizing, but would add before leaving the subject, that the preacher who closes his eyes when he starts to church, stumbles over the evils of the day that obstruct his path, and preaches about Jonah or Lot's wife or any other antiquated issue, is worth but little to the world. When I say antiquated issue, I simply mean that if the story of Jonah and Lot's wife be true, it furnishes no food for the needs of today, nor does our salvation depend upon our acceptance of it, as some preachers and teachers would have us believe. And furthermore to maintain that one shall believe that which is inconsistent, contradictory, and obviously erroneous, and repugnant to one's intelligence, we regard as simply childish and absurd, and we maintain that who ever says he believes when he believes not, belittles himself, lies, and is a hypocrite.

The Lord will not ask us, when we ask to enter in, what was your creed? Did you accept as true the story of the Hebrew children?

Swedenberg tells us (and wonder that so few preachers and teachers know so little of Swedenberg's works) that it will not be as to the character of our creed the Lord will inquire, when we seek admission into the kingdom of the blessed, but what was your life? Yea, the great question, the question that will embrace all others, and that transcends all others in importance, will be, not as to creed, not as to denominational association, not as to the author of your hymn book, or politics of your preacher, but did you on earth at all times, and under all circumstances, strive to do your duty as you understood it?

Duty as we understand it—the all of creeds, the all of philosophy, the all of religion, the all of life.

Twenty years ago millions of bottles were given away, and your druggists will tell you its success was marvelous. It is really the only Throat and Lung remedy generally endorsed by physicians. One 75 cent bottle will cure or prove its value. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

Increase of annual appropriation from $45,000 to $55,000 desired by Allegany county school board, to meet demand for new school buildings. Residents of Charlestown ask for $1,500 building.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Dr. L. D. Collier's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

"Who punched Dewey's ticket" when he went over the B. & O. from Washington to Chicago en route to Manila, is problem now agitating conductors of that road. All trying to make their punches fit holes in far-sinful tickets.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Dr. L. D. Collier's drug store.

Got cash, but $10,000 in government bonds and bank certificates were secured by safe crackers from George T. Steiner, of Steiner Milling Co., Jefferson, Frederick county, during absence of Mr. and Mrs. Steiner. Dwelling was completely ransacked.

Has Gone to Stay.

"I had malaria, with chills, and took several different kinds of medicine which would drive away the chills for a short time but they would return. Last Spring I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and I have not had any chills since. My appetite is good and I feel as well as I ever did." Viola Lewis, Rocky Hill, N. J.

Hood's Pills give strength even while their cathartic qualities are at work. Easy to take.

All the way to Honolulu to a U. S. special agent, were sent six pieces of antique furniture by a Frederick firm. Furniture was bought in Frederick county and repaired before shipment.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "New Great South American Kidney Cure." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by R. K. Truitt & Sons, Salisbury, Md.

Appearing in Filipino costume on Frederick streets early in morning a Walkersville man with "wheels" caused quite a sensation. Police took charge of the unfortunate who had wandered away from home.

The July Lippincott's, with which number the old magazine begins a new career, will contain, beside the lovely Japanese romance, "The Fox Woman," by John Luther Long, the only short story in existence by the author of "David Harum," entitled "The Teller," in which the pathetic incident—the all-mastering tragedy—of everyday life, is treated with a power never surpassed, and seldom even equaled in contemporary literature.

Kipling on The American Girl

"As to the maiden, she is taught to respect herself; that her fate is in her own hands, and that she is the more stringently bound by the very measure of the liberty so freely accorded to her. Wherefore, in her own language, 'she has a lovely time' with about two or three hundred boys who have sisters of their own, and a very accurate perception that if they were unworthy of their trust a syndicate of other boys would probably pass them into a world where there is neither marrying nor giving in marriage. And so time goes till the maiden knows the other sides of the house—knows that a man is not a demi-god nor a mysteriously veiled monster, but an average, egotistical, vain, gluttonous, but, on the whole, companionable sort of person, to be soothed, fed and managed—knowledge that does not come to her sister in England till after a few years of matrimony. And then she makes her choice. The golden light touches eyes that are full of comprehension, but the light is golden none the less, for she makes just the same sweet, irrational choice that an English girl does, with this advantage—she knows a little more, has experience in entertaining, insight into the businesses, employ and hobbies of men, gathered from countless talks with the boys and talks with the other girls who find time at those mysterious conclaves to discuss what Tom, Ted, Stuke or Jack have been doing. Thus it happens that she is a companion in the fullest sense of the word, of the man she weds, zealous for the interest of the firm, to be consulted in time of stress and to be called upon for help and sympathy in time of danger. Pleasant it is that one heart should beat for yet, but it is better when the head above that heart has been thinking hard on your behalf and when the lips, that are always very pleasant to kiss, give wise counsel."

Brutally assaulted and badly cut on right arm with dirk knife during a dispute with John W. Preston, a colored farm hand; Joseph Phipps, superintendent of the Hampton estate, near Towson, was severely injured and greatly weakened by loss of blood Monday. Warrant issued but Preston escaped.

—New line of Monarch low cut shoes shoes received this week, in tan and patent leather. Full English toes.

A MIGHTY REMEDY FOR THE SALVATION OF THE HUMAN RACE

Picture Patent For Good and Evil. The world is full of pictures. Some are good, some are bad. Some are for the salvation of the human race, some are for the destruction of it. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. It can be used for good or for evil. It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. It can be used for good or for evil. It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it.

It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it.

It is not in a spirit of prudery, but backed up by God's eternal truth, that we must have a picture of the human race. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. It can be used for good or for evil. It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. What overbearing commentary on the Bible, what reinforcement for patriarchy, prophets, apostles, and Christ, what distribution of Scriptural knowledge of all nations, in the paintings and engravings therefrom, of Holman Hunt's "Christ in the Temple," Paul Veronese's "Magdalen Washing the Feet of Christ," Raphael's "Michael the Archangel," Albert Durer's "Descent from the Cross," Michael Angelo's "The Fall of Man," Veronese's "The Last Supper," and many others. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. It can be used for good or for evil. It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it.

What a preparation for the year and the day, a five-minute look in the morning at some picture that will open a door into some larger world than that in which you are living. The picture patent is a powerful weapon in the hands of the artist. It can be used for good or for evil. It can be used to save the human race, or it can be used to destroy it.

A Universal Language.

As the day of the Lord of hosts, according to this text, will scrutinize the pictures, I implore all parents to see that in their households they have neither in book nor newspaper nor on canvas anything that will deprave. Pictures are no longer the exclusive possession of the affluent. There is not a respectable home in these cities that has not specimens of woodcut or steel engraving, if not of painting, and your whole family will feel the moral uplifting or depression. Have nothing on your wall or in books that will familiarize the young with scenes of cruelty and wassail. Have only those sketches made by artists in elevated moods, and none of those scenes that seem the product of artistic delirium tremens. Pictures are not only a strong but a universal language. The human race is divided into almost as many languages as there are nations, but the pictures may speak to people of all tongues. Volapuk may have hoped, with little reason, would become a worldwide language. But the pictorial is always a worldwide language, and printers' types have no emphasis compared with it. We say that children are fond of pictures; but notice any man when he takes up a book and you will see that the first thing that he looks at is the pictures. Have only those in your house that appeal to the better nature. One engraving has sometimes decided an eternal destiny. Under the title of fine arts there have come here from France a class of pictures which elaborate argument has tried to prove irreproachable. They would disgrace a barroom and they need to be confiscated. Your children will carry the pictures of their father's house with them clear on to the grave, and, passing that marble pillar, will take them through eternity.

Furthermore, let all reformers, and all Sabbath school teachers and all Christian workers realize that, if they would be effective for good, they must make pictures, if not by chalk on blackboards, or kindergarten designs, or by pencil on canvas, then by words. Arguments are soon forgotten, but pictures, whether in language or in colors, are what produce strongest effects. Christ was always telling what a thing was like, and his sermon on the mount was a great picture gallery, beginning with a sketch of a "city on a hill that cannot be hid" and ending with a tempest beating against two houses, one on the rock and the other on the sand. The parable of the prodigal son, a picture; parable of the sower who went forth to sow, a picture; parable of the unmerciful servant, a picture; parable of the ten virgins, a picture; parable of the talents, a picture. The world wants pictures, and the appetite begins with the child, who consents to go early to bed if the mother will sit beside him and rehearse a story, which is only a picture. When we see how much has been accomplished in secular directions by pictures—Shakespeare's tragedies, a picture; Victor Hugo's writings, all pictures; John Ruskin's and Tennyson's and Longfellow's works, all pictures—why not enlist as far as possible for our churches and schools and reformatory work and evangelistic endeavor, the power of thought that can be put into word pictures, if not pictures in color? Yes, why not all young men draw for themselves on paper with pen or pencil their coming career, of virtue if they prefer that, of vice if they prefer that. After making the picture put it on the wall or paste it on the fly leaf of some favorite book that you may have it before you.

I read of a man who had been executed for murder, and the jailer found afterward a picture made on the wall of the cell by the assassin's own hand, a picture of a flight of stairs. On the lowest step he had written: "Disobedience to parents;" on the second, "Sabbath breaking;" on the third, "drunkenness and gambling;" on the fourth, "murder;" and on the fifth and top step, "a gallows." If that man had made that picture before he took the first step, he never would have taken any of them! Oh, man, make another picture, a bright picture, an evangelical picture and I will help you make it! I suggest six steps for this flight of stairs. On the first step write the words, "A nature changed by the Holy Ghost and washed in the blood of the lamb;" on the second step, "Industry and good companionship;" on the third step, "A Christian home with a family altar;" on the fourth step, "Ever widening usefulness;" on the fifth step, "A glorious departure from this world;" on the sixth step, "Heaven, heaven, heaven!" Write it three times, and let the letters of the one word be made up of banners, the second of coronets and the third of thrones! Promise me that you will do that, and I will promise to meet you on the sixth step, if the Lord will, through his pardoning grace, bring me there too.

And here I am going to say a word of cheer to people who have never had a word of consolation on that subject. There are men and women in this world by hundreds of thousands who have a fine natural taste and yet all their lives that taste has been suppressed, and although they could appreciate the galleries of Dresden and Vienna and Naples far more than 900 people out of 1,000 who visit them, they may never go for they must support their households, and bread and schooling for their children are of more importance than pictures. Though fond of music they are compelled to live amid discord; and though fond of architecture they dwell in clumsy abodes, and though appreciative of all that engravings and paintings can do they are in perpetual deprivation. You are going, after you get on the sixth step of that stairs just spoken of, to find yourselves in the royal gallery of the universe, the concentrated splendors of all worlds before your transported vision. In some way all the thrilling scenes through which we and the church of God have passed in our earthly state will be pictured or brought to mind.

At a cyclorama of Gettysburg a blind man who lost his sight in battle was with his child heard talking while standing before that picture. The blind man said to the daughter, "Are there at the right of the picture some regiments marching up a hill?" "Yes," she said. "Well," said the blind man, "is there a general on horseback leading them on?" "Yes," she said. "Well, is there rushing down on these men a cavalry charge?" "Yes," was the reply. "And do there seem to be many dying and dead?" "Yes," was the answer. "Well, now, do you see a shell from the woods bursting near the wheel of a cannon?" "Yes," she said. "Stop right there!" said the blind man. "That is the last thing I ever saw on earth! What a time it was, Jenny, when I lost my eyesight!" But when you, who have found life a hard battle, a very Gettysburg, shall stand in the royal gallery of heaven, and with your new vision begin to see and understand that which in your earthly blindness you could not see at all, you will point out to your celestial comrades, perhaps to your own dear children who have gone before, the scenes of the earthly conflicts in which you participated, saying: "There from that hill of prosperity I was driven back; in that valley of humiliation I was wounded. There I lost my eyesight. That was the way the world looked when I last saw it." But what a grand thing to get celestial vision and stand here before the cyclorama of all worlds while the rider on the white horse goes on "conquering and to conquer," the moon under his feet and the stars of heaven for his tiara!

Her Forty-third Voyage.

Miss Emily V. Mason, an aunt of General Fitz-Hugh Lee, in spite of her 84 years, is preparing for a trip to Europe, which will be her forty-third voyage to the other side. During the civil war Miss Mason devoted herself to hospital work, and she would frequently soothe the boys in gray with the assurance that if they died she would take care of their children. As a consequence 30 orphans were sent by express to her at Baltimore from the south after the war, two of whom, found among the ruins of Columbia, and scarcely more than babies, were ignorant of their own names. With the assistance of friends and the proceeds of the sale of her collected poems (the first edition of which brought her $1,000), she has succeeded in maintaining and educating these orphans, all of whom, with one exception, are still living and are self supporting. Her first trip to Europe was made in 1868.

Telepathy From His Departed Arm.

Recently James Pickering was struck by a train in the yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company at Parkersburg, W. Va., and it was necessary to amputate one of his arms. Ever since the accident the portion of Pickering's arm which remained has caused him intense pain. Railroaders who have lost limbs in similar accidents informed the unfortunate man that if the arm which was amputated was buried in a cramped position the pain would never cease as long as it remained cramped. Pickering caused the dismembered portion to be disinterred, and it was found to be in a cramped position, the elbow being bent until both the joints of the arm met. The arm was straightened out and again buried, and Pickering has felt no pain since.—Baltimore Sun.

Newfoundland's Case.

Robert Gillespie Reid, who has been called the "Czar of Newfoundland," is building at his own expense a railway across the island and opening up the resources of the country in a way that will make Newfoundland one of the most prosperous communities. Mr. Reid is a Scot and started life as a working stonemason. He came to America as a young man, and today is the biggest landowner in the world, for the Newfoundland government has given him 2,500,000 acres on condition that he makes the railway and operates it for ten years.

Hard Workers.

"A few days ago," says an Englishman in Madrid, "I called at the general postoffice about a letter, and went into two departments before I found the right one. In the three departments that I entered I did not see a single person at work. They were all either standing, looking out of the window or sitting down smoking and chatting."

WE ARE PARTLY HEATHEN

Trifles in Everyday Life That Are Remains of Ancient Worship.

Every mark of respect we pay to each other in the streets is a heathen act of worship, says an English paper.

Take the soldier's salute as an instance. When England was a province of the Roman empire, our ancestors had to worship the Roman gods. The worshiper sidled up to the statue and threw a kiss with one hand. But in Roman times the emperor was also a god, and the salute was paid to him. Then it was paid to his viceroys, governors, generals and officers. It is still paid by the soldiers to every officer. Though he doesn't know it, Tommy Atkins treats Lieutenant Jones as a god.

In approaching a god or king the ancients bowed the knee. Today a servant approaching her mistress bows both knees, and the mistress approaching the queen bows one knee in the courtesy. Men bow one knee to the queen, bow the head to a superior or employer, nod the head to an acquaintance. The nod is a survival of the divine honors.

In approaching a god the Romans went uncovered. We uncover to ladies, in the presence of the queen and at the sound of the national anthem. We uncover on entering a private house, but in Russia one must uncover in every shop and public house because the emperor's picture always hangs in a corner.

In pagan times the king was always a god—or a descendant of the gods. So the ancient king demanded that divine honors be addressed to him. He must be called "lord." Sooner or later all the little kings were thrashed into obedience to the one big king who ruled the whole country. But the little kings kept the divine title lord, and their descendants keep it today.

One common custom goes right back to the time when our forefathers were painted savages and made human sacrifices to the gods. It is kissing under the mistletoe.

The Last of the Group.

When Thomas B. Reed begins the practice of law in New York, Robert R. Hitt of Illinois will be the last one left in congress of a famous group of Republican statesmen who sat closely together during several sessions, entertaining themselves and their neighbors by the brilliancy of their wit while keeping a tight rein on the business of the house. The other members of the group were William Walter Phelps of New Jersey, Benjamin Butterworth of Ohio and Thomas M. Bayne of Pennsylvania.

When the Democrats were to be stirred up, the Republicans usually depended upon some member of this group to do the stirring, but it was during a recess in the proceedings that their bright humor was most enjoyed. Then the members crowded around their seats, all eager listeners to the witty attacks and sharp retorts. Phelps, Butterworth and Bayne are dead, and with Reed out of congress Hitt is left as the most experienced man in legislation and foreign affairs on the Republican side.—San Francisco Argonaut.

You've Heard Them All.

An old time fiddlers' contest took place the other day in Charlestown, Ind. The following prizes were offered for the best performance of the tunes named: "Money Musk," pair of sheep shears; "Leather Breches," corn cutter; "Old Dan Tucker," pair of pants (no one barred); "Rye Straw," fine hat; "Pop Goes the Weasel," $1 worth of jewelry; "Devil's Dream," $1 worth of groceries; "Girl I Left Behind Me," $1 worth of cigars; "Suwanee River," $1 worth of groceries; "Arkansas Traveler," $1 in cash; "Dixie," 50 cents worth of soap; "Yankee Doodle," large coffeepot; "Raggy Bill," rocking chair; "Mocking Bird," $1 worth of lumber; "Guilderoy," 25 pounds of flour; "Home, Sweet Home," $1 worth of goods; "Flowers of Edinburgh," one fine hat.

To Beat the Postal Service.

A scheme to beat the United States postal service has been evolved by Chicago men. The plan is to gather up all of the second class mail matter of large commercial houses, ship it to Mexico by freight, change their American money into Mexican money at a rate of two to one, buy Mexican stamps, and with them mail the matter back to the United States through the Mexican postoffice. It is estimated that one-half cent could be saved on each letter and package thus handled. It is claimed that the government could not interfere without the aid of new legislation.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Queer Accident.

Dr. Playfair, the London physician who was condemned to pay $50,000 damages for libel a few years ago, was hurt in a queer automobile accident recently. He was going up a hill when something gave way and the carriage began to roll backward down the slope. The driver applied the power brake to the rear wheels, forgetting that he was going backward, with the result that the carriage stood up on end and tipped backward, bruising Dr. Playfair as it fell upon him.

The milliner displayed the hat with some pride.

"Oh, it will never do!" cried the patron. "Just look at those flowers."

"They're splendid imitations," protested the milliner. "They look like real flowers."

"Precisely," said the patron. "And real flowers are so cheap at this season of the year. I want something that looks more expensive."—Chicago Post.

AMERICA'S LAST CAMEL.

He Went to Feed the Indians After a Long and Honorable Career.

The last wild camel in America was killed and eaten by the Indians in Yuma a few days ago. The venerable beast was one of the herd of camels brought from Asia Minor many years ago to carry ore from the Comstock mines. So ends the greatest attempt at acclimating foreign animals ever made in the United States. It seems sad that the noble beast, the last of his tribe, should have such an inglorious end. And yet some sympathy must be given the poor Indians, for they must have been awful hungry to be able to masticate the tough, 75-year-old camel. Besides, the poor camel would most likely have died of slow starvation in a short time, for when last seen alive by white men it was very feeble.

Just who the man was who thought of bringing camels to this country seems to be a matter of some doubt. Several men are credited with having done so, but even the old timers themselves seem to be a little tangled up on this bit of western history. P. T. Barton of Prescott, A. T., who was in the Comstock at the time, said he was positive that the late Adolph Sutro was largely instrumental in bringing the camels here. This, however, has been strenuously denied. Dozens of similar stories are told about other prominent Californians, but little credence can be given to any of them.

But the fact remains that the camels were brought here. On all the points connected with this part of the story the old timers agree.

It was in the old days, when the Comstock was in its glory, the days before the railroad, when Virginia City was almost as important a town as San Francisco. It so happened that a certain group of mines about 25 or 30 miles out of Virginia City was panning out piles of rich ore. It was impossible to put up a mill close to the mines on account of lack of water.

Mules were put to the work, and during the winter months did fairly well, although to feed and care for them was a terrorizing expense. It must be understood that as dry, rocky and barren a desert as there is on the face of the earth lay between Virginia City and the mines. To use a vehicle of any kind was out of the question, and so the ore was carried in bags slung over the backs of the animals.

From the first it was apparent that the mule plan was not a success. In the summer it took about two mules to carry water for the one that carried ore. And all the while the animals kept dying. The intense heat and dry, sandy air were too much for them, and they fell by the wayside so fast that a new band was required almost weekly. But the ore had to be carried to the mill, for there was "millions in it."

At this juncture some genius suggested that the miners buy camels for the work. So the camels were bought at great expense. Some of them were obtained from the veteran showman, P. T. Barnum, and about 20 came direct from Asia Minor under the care of an agent dispatched from Virginia City.

From the first the camels did all that was expected of them. Each morning they would eat a meager breakfast of any old weed, that happened in their way, drink a few gallons of water, and were ready for business. Two bags of ore, each containing between 200 and 300 pounds, were strapped to the back over the hump of each camel.

When the train was ready, all started off at once, striking a good swinging gait that was kept up until the mill was reached. The drivers had nothing to do but follow the train; no stopping for water, no urging, no beatings. The faithful beasts did their work willingly. —Denver Republican.

Right Up to Date.

A 10-year-old boy in Cleveland reads a great deal, and his father delights in encouraging his literary taste. Not long ago the father suggested to the boy that he should read up on the life and death of Nathan Hale, the spy and hero of the Revolution. A few evenings later the father asked the lad if he had carried out his request. The boy said he had. "Who was Nathan Hale?" the father inquired.

"He was strung up by the British soldiers," was the somewhat irrelevant reply.

"You should say hanged," said the father.

"Strung up is just the same," said the boy.

"No," said the father. "It isn't just the same."

"Well," said the boy, "it's just the same to Nathan Hale."

This was something of a poser, and the father discreetly changed the subject.

"And why did the British hang Nathan Hale?" he asked.

"Because," replied the boy promptly—"because he rubbered for General George Washington!"

This atrocious definition of a spy's duties was too much for the father, and he promptly dropped the Hale inquiry then and there.—Exchange.

BEAR NATURE.

It Is Good and Bad, Something Like the Human Variety.

A little Tam O'Shanter cap afforded the text for a discourse which interested a number of visitors to Forest park the other afternoon. It belonged to a golden haired little girl, who rushed up to the bear cage, after a romp through the autumn leaves. With the buoyancy of childhood she twirled the cap about her fingers and laughed gleefully at the antics of the bears until in her excitement the Tam O'Shanter escaped her and went flying into the cage. A black paw was upon it the instant it struck the stone floor of the pit. Two black eyes surveyed it critically, and then the owner of the paws and eyes rolled over it like a football player scoring a touchdown. Miss Columbia lay in a corner of the pit and let Uncle Sam have all the fun. Suddenly the little black ball of fur unfolded. One black paw grasped the cap and bruin advanced to the iron bars outside of which many grown persons and children, one of them a crying little girl, stood watching him. His next move was surprising. He threw the cap through the bars at the very feet of its golden haired owner.

"Well, that beats anything I ever saw!" exclaimed a young man who had witnessed the whole performance.

"That observation, my boy, shows how little you know about bear nature." It was a gray bearded man, bent with age and leaning on a cane, who spoke.

"If you knew bears as I do," he continued, "you would not marvel. The black bear is the best natured fellow on earth. He is mean only when self preservation demands it. Now, if that little girl's cap had fallen in the cage of that old grizzly over there, there would not be enough of it left to cover a safe cracker's conscience. The grizzly is a confirmed pessimist. He would have taken that cap as a personal insult. He would have jumped to the conclusion that that little girl there was trying to worry him, and he'd have got even good and strong. The black bear, on the other hand, is a sunny natured optimist. He was sorry for the little girl, and when he saw her crying he just couldn't help handing back the cap. Now watch this."

The old man picked up a piece of paper, rolled it into a wad and threw it into the cage containing the black bears. It was Miss Columbia who came to the front this time. She seemed delighted beyond expression and played with the piece of paper, knocking it about from one end of the cage to the other. The gray whiskered man had meantime prepared another paper ball. This he tossed into the grizzly's pit. The big fellow hit it at viciously as it flew past him. With grunts of rage he pursued it and tore it into a thousand fragments. Then he leaped toward the bars, saying plainly in bear language that he could lick the fellow who had insulted him. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Mad Princess.

According to L'Etoile Belge, the health of Princess Louise of Coburg, daughter of the king of the Belgians, who has been for many months shut up in a lunatic asylum in Austria, is beginning to decline. Her memory is, it is said, completely gone, and she never asks for any news of her parents or other relatives. She passes her time in walking up and down her apartment, where she is always strictly watched, and in cutting little paper patterns.

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no rich cheek and round form where there are debilitating drains, and female weakness. Women who have suffered from these troubles have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, opium or other narcotic is contained in "Favorite Prescription."

Any sick woman may consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va., "in June, 1897, also his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I cannot express the benefit I have received from these medicines. I was suffering with what the doctors called chronic indigestion, torpid liver and vertigo. I also suffered with female weakness. The doctor did not do me any good, so I wrote to you for advice. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 115 pounds, now I weigh 140 pounds."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the liver.

NANTICOKE, MD.

The Nanticoke coronet band comprising nearly a score of instruments, recently reorganized for public service. Few of its former members are absent from the place, making the membership smaller for this season, yet no effort will be spared by the remaining to make them feel worthy the envied reputation as musicians won in the past years. Their first public appearance will be July 4th. Rehearsals are being pushed in preparation for this occasion.

Active steps are being taken by the building committee of the unfinished M. E. church for the resumption of work on it, said church. Reports though lacking confidence, as to these steps have frequently been in circulation, but in this instance the report comes from reliable source.

Sailing parties are now a popular past-time among the young people of this place. These sails are generally taken after sundown when the wind is fairly brisk and often these parties number nearly all the young men and ladies of the neighborhood so many as to threaten the safety of the trip. The largest crafts here are selected for the purpose, yet in these barely room is found sometimes and speeding over the water with every sail unfurled venturing at times several miles from home, the gay occupants revel in music both vocal and instrumental and refreshments.

Vacancies due to resignation, as learned in each of three schools, Nanticoke, Pine Grove and Oak Grove, adjoining schools, supplying the former. These schools should be accusable to any unemployed teacher.

The tomato acreage this season will be an increase on that of last season in this locality. Early market tomatoes on a small scale have been grown here for a number of years and this to a profit, but not until last season, until many years since have tomatoes been grown for cannery use. This attempt in many reported cases, was a failure, likely for lack of knowledge of the crop but this experience was beneficial, renewing the growers with hope in the success of the coming season. In addition to the old growers others will take interest in the crop supplying the new cannery in this vicinity of the firm of Roberts and Stewart.

Prospects for a campmeeting in this neighborhood this summer are very poor. Neither the M. E. nor the M. P. church promise a camp, and this is exceptional, breaking a custom practiced almost since the settlement of the place. Available grounds are at hand and the major portion of the people clamor for a camp and in view of this outlook no little murmuring is heard.

Mr. Chas. H. Stanley and Prof. J. Albere Loee in behalf of the new M. E. church, will hold an illustrated patriotic temperance entertainment in the M. E. church nightly for one week, beginning Monday, June 26th. The cineograph will be the illustrator reproducing life motion pictures, including war ships, war scenes, war heroes, scenes in our new possession acquired by the late war, scenes of the holy land, and many touching and impressive pictures of intemperance. Instrumental and vocal music will be in addition.

Mrs. J. Roberts, widow of the late Frank Roberts and Mrs. Kate Haley, wife of Mr. Irving Haley died respectively Sunday morning and night at their homes in this vicinity. Both had been suffering a protracted time ending in their death. The remains were interred Monday in the burial grounds of the M. P. church where Rev. Dryden, the pastor in charge, conducted the service.

The telephone polls in this section of the county have now been settled finishing this work on the entire line and the wire has been distributed awaiting its being strung a few days hence. The line is now completed within several miles of here.

MARDELA SPRINGS, MD.

The public spirited people of the community are making arrangements to observe the Fourth of July at this place. Already the Heptasophs have arranged for a public speaking, and Okonoko Tribe No 117 Improved Order Red Men will celebrate by having a public raising up of their chiefs. They will have prominent speakers present. A more complete program will appear in this correspondence later. There will be special rates on all the trains that day. A band of music has been secured.

Wheat harvesting has begun in this vicinity and the yield is surprisingly good in some instances when the outlook last spring is considered. Messrs. James E. Bacon and John W. Humphreys threshed Thursday. Mr. Bacon got 148 bushels; Mr. Humphreys' yield was 168 bushels.

The writer saw Mr. Wm. H. Jackson's transplanted cantaloupes on his Rock-awalking farm recently. At that time they did not compare with Mr. C. W. Bacon's grown in the open air. His cannot be equaled in the county.

Some sort of insect has done much injury to watermelon vines in this vicinity. The attack seems to be made at the base or in the tap root and soon the plant withers and dies.

Farmers here are still shipping potatoes and prices continue good. The acreage is large here as elsewhere, but there is barely more than half a yield.

Rev. Jas. Straughn is here and will preach in the Methodist Protestant church until autumn when he will return to the Seminary to complete his theological course.

Corn is now looking well.

SHARPTOWN, MD.

The Bethel, Laurel and Sharptown Telephone Co., has sold its line running from here to Bethel and Laurel to the Diamond State Telephone Co. The new company is now at work putting in the metallic system and will connect with the exchange at Laurel which will give us direct communication by phone to lower Delaware, Salisbury, Delmar, and other towns within reach of the several lines running through the adjacent counties.

The new shirt factory started up last week with twenty one operators and is getting along very nicely.

A new set of ways is now being put down at the marine railway, running up the river from the old ways, which will take up vessels side toward shore and the old ways being straight, gives more room and makes the work more convenient. A Cambridge firm is here doing the piling.

The berry-crate and basket factory closed the crate making this week after a long and busy season.

Prof. Irving L. Twilley a Professor in the schools of Marion, Ind., is now in town for his summer vacation. He is very much pleased with his position in tee West and expects to return in the fall. He is also editor of a very fine journal published in the interest of the school.

Miss Dollie Elzey is visiting St. Michaels this week.

Mrs. Ara J. Connolly is in Baltimore this week.

POWELLVILLE, MD.

The Powellville Manufacturing Company has shut down its plant temporarily and is calling in its basket forms to have them changed to smaller and lighter ones. The old basket forms were too large, thus causing some complaint. In the change of the form the company expects to remedy all defects in the basket. It is conceded that this company turns out the best carrier on the market for the money.

The company has recently purchased two large tracts of gum timber from James Laws and I. M. Bailey. This added to the company's stock of gum already owned, and what Mr. K. V. White & Bro., members of the firm, individually hold, gives the company control of almost 10,000,000 feet of this essential material—enough for the company's use for forty years. Thus fortified the company bids defiance to all combinations and trusts that may be formed, even if they are of the "million dollar" kind.

MT. PLEASANT, MD.

Children's Day service was observed at Mt. Pleasant M. P. church last Sunday evening and attracted an audience which filled every portion of that sacred edifice. The superintendent of the Sabbath School, Mr. E. L. Austin presented the one who received the most money with a handsome hymn-book. The recipient was Miss Fannie Phillips.

The Sunday School of Mt. Pleasant M. P. church will hold a lawn party in Mr. E. L. Austin's yard Saturday evening June 24. Proceeds for the benefit of the Sunday School.

$25,000 For the Maryland College.

Washington, June 21.—An apportionment of the funds available for the support of State agricultural college was announced today by the Secretary of the Interior. Under the law these funds are obtained by the sale of public lands, and the amounts given the States are uniform. For the coming year the Maryland Agricultural College will receive $25,000 from the national Government.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION

Court of Appeals Decided in Favor of Mr. Jackson and the Salisbury National Bank.

The Court of Appeals on Wednesday last handed down two opinions of much importance to the town of Salisbury, and many other towns in the state.

The cases were those of the Mayor and Council vs. W. H. Jackson and same vs. the Salisbury National Bank. The bank and Mr. Jackson each sued out injunctions against the town because the town did not follow out the plan of assessment prescribed by the charter, and because the town undertook to levy taxes upon the private securities of Mr. Jackson and upon the stock of the bank, whereas the charter exempts "private securities and judgments" from taxation. The city authorities on the other hand contended that the general assessment law of 1896 which subjected private securities to taxation for "state, county and municipal purposes" operated as a repeal of the town charter, both as to the method of assessment and the subject matter of taxation. On behalf of the bank it was also argued that the general assessment law violated the National Banking Act in that it subjected stock of National banks to a greater rate of taxation than was taxed on "other moneyed capital similarly invested".

It was contended for Mr. Jackson that if the charter was repealed by implication, and his private securities made liable to assessment for municipal purposes, the city's levy of 85 cents was illegal, as he had already been taxed 80 cents on his securities, while the assessment law provided that there "should be paid thirty cents (and no more) on each $100 for state, county and municipal taxation"; thus making his taxation 65 cents instead of 80 cents on the $100.

Judge Page, before whom the case was argued in the Circuit Court, decided that the town charter had not been repealed and that the levy and assessment should have been made in accordance with its provisions and not under the General Assessment Law, as had been attempted, from whose decision the town appealed, but lost the case, as the judgments below were affirmed.

Messrs. Ellegood and Ratcliffe represented Mr. Jackson, and these gentlemen with Mr. Jay Williams, the Salisbury National Bank. Messrs. Toadvin & Bell and Thos. G. Hayes were attorneys for the corporation.

Why the Czar Desires Peace.

The current issue of Literature contains a review of the book that influenced the Czar to make his proposal for universal disarmament. "In certain respects," says Literature, "M. Von Bloch's work is the most comprehensive treatise on modern warfare that has yet been written. The author is a Warsaw banker; he is neither scientist nor soldier by profession. This brings with it the obvious advantage that war is not to him, as it usually is to the military specialist, merely an affair of army and navy; his eyes are constantly open to its wider social and economic aspects; and here, it may be said at once, lies the strongest side of 'The War of the Future'." The fundamental idea of the book is that the European war of the future will take place under conditions so widely different from those of any war in the past that even for the highest military authorities it is a Sphinx with an unsolved riddle. Had the French and German troops of 1870 been armed with the latest development of small bore rifle, their firing, it is calculated, would have been at least fourteen times as effective as it was, while the artillery of our day is forty times as deadly as that of twenty five years ago. And who can say what aluminum and still finer bores may do in the immediate future? The war of the future, according to M. Bloch will bring no decisive conflicts, will be incalculably destructive, and will end only after years, not of fighting, but of mechanical annihilation. And the same is true in regard to naval wars.

Another interesting prediction made by M. Bloch is that if the present rate of war expenditure goes on for another fifty years Europe will be financially ruined.

M. Von Bloch's book, published in six large volumes, comprises over three thousand pages. It has recently been translated into German.
