

RESIDENCE,
DIVISION STREET,
BURY, MARYLAND,

Good, active, honest agents are wanted to represent The Washington Life Insurance Company in every village and town in the two counties of Delaware and Maryland. Satisfactory references required. Apply to L. R. Rock, Special Agent for Maryland and Delaware, P. O. Box 100, Salisbury, Md.

I am running a smith shop on E. Madison St., foot of the bridge, where I am prepared to do all kinds of work at reasonable rates. 18 year's experience warrants me in believing that I understand the business. Give me a call. 83-14-77. O. E. MARVEL

WANTED.
EMREZ, JR. & CO.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF THE FAMOUS EMREZ PINEAPPLE BRAND

his rich coat.

Madron was neither handsome nor specially well-dressed, yet with something of commanding distinction in his strong face and keen, cross eyes.

"By the way," exclaimed his companion, you will," she replied, turning with cold formality, but a voice unusually with tears. "I had no intention of giving the commission on you."

with a glance of admiration toward his stately, statuesque face—"wanted to be like you, not a particle narrower than you, to soothe Kathie's nerves, Chadron. Jump in, old man.
Go, jump."

appeared upon the scene. She released the little sufferer, but to save his life. He died within minutes after the removal of the morphine & opium, thus making best and safest cough remedy for cough. ? Pleasant to take. That this remedy only costs 35 cents a bottle and can be had at Dr. Collier's Pharmacy, and Country Dealers.

SALISBURY ADVERTISER.

VOL. 21.

SALISBURY, WICOMICO CO., MARYLAND, SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1888.

NO. 35.

Legal Cards.

ONCE MORE

A. F. Parsons & Co.

Choice Whiskies

AND THE BEST BEER ON THE

MARKET FRESH

Also a fine line of Choice Tobacco and Cigars.

THE LARGEST!

WHOLESALE HOUSE

on the Lower Peninsula. Our stock of Rye Whiskies can't be beat anywhere. They are

UNADULTERATED.

Also in stock Old Tom Gin

and various Brandy, the finest brands of imported goods.

We are prepared to fill all orders promptly.

A. F. Parsons & Co.

Liquor Dealers

Near the Pivot Bridge,

Salisbury, Md.

C. E. HARPER,

LEADING JEWELER,

Guarantees Perfect Satisfaction

BOTH IN

GOODS AND WORK

Come and Examine.

GEORGE C. HILL,

Cabinet Maker and Undertaker

COFFINS AND CASKETS

WANTED, CASSIMERS, ETC.

More than 100 styles of clothing, and a large stock of hats, shoes, and gloves.

John W. Jennings,

Salisbury, Md.

I. H. WHITE

DOCK ST.

is prepared to furnish, at the lowest prices, all kinds of building materials.

PRICES MODERATE

I. H. WHITE,

Salisbury, Md.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

MR. JOSEPH RUSSETT

has removed his office to the corner of Dock and Market streets, and is prepared to receive all business at that place.

Teacher of Instrumental Music.

33.00 per hour (20 Lessons).

PAUL TOWN, WIDEN NEXT STE.

RESIDENCE.

PORT C. MICHENER

VISION STREET.

MD.

Legal Cards.

Sherriff's Sale.

By virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, at the suit of George D. Freney against James J. Rhodes, I have levied upon and taken into Execution all the right, title, interest and estate of the said James J.

Rhodes in and to a lot or parcel of land lying in Sharpton District, Wicomico

County, Maryland, called "Tower Hill"

containing more or less, and names the same may be more fully called, containing more or less, the same land that was formerly owned by Robert Hill

and others.

And I hereby give notice that on

Saturday, April 28th,

1888, at 2 o'clock p. m.,

at the Court House Door in Salisbury, I will sell the above described property at public sale to satisfy said writ and costs

and taxes.

ISAAC H. WHITE,

Sheriff.

and 7-12.

Trustee's Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit

Court for Wicomico County, passed in the case of J. G. Gentry, Plaintiff, vs. J. G. Gentry

and J. G. Gentry, Defendants, I have been appointed Trustee to sell the following described property, to wit:

One acre of land, situated in the County of Wicomico, Maryland, and containing more or less, and names the

same may be more fully called, containing

more or less, the same land that was

formerly owned by Robert Hill

and others.

And I hereby give notice that on

Saturday, April 28th,

1888, at 2 o'clock p. m.,

at the Court House Door in Salisbury, I

will sell the above described property at

public sale to satisfy said writ and costs

and taxes.

ISAAC H. WHITE,

Sheriff.

and 7-12.

Trustee's Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit

Court for Wicomico County, passed in the case of J. G. Gentry, Plaintiff, vs. J. G. Gentry

and J. G. Gentry, Defendants, I have been appointed Trustee to sell the

following described property, to wit:

One acre of land, situated in the County of Wicomico, Maryland, and containing more or less, and names the

same may be more fully called, containing

more or less, the same land that was

formerly owned by Robert Hill

and others.

And I hereby give notice that on

Saturday, April 28th,

1888, at 2 o'clock p. m.,

at the Court House Door in Salisbury, I

will sell the above described property at

public sale to satisfy said writ and costs

and taxes.

ISAAC H. WHITE,

Sheriff.

and 7-12.

Trustee's Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit

Court for Wicomico County, passed in the case of J. G. Gentry, Plaintiff, vs. J. G. Gentry

and J. G. Gentry, Defendants, I have been appointed Trustee to sell the

following described property, to wit:

One acre of land, situated in the County of Wicomico, Maryland, and Miscellaneous Cards.

The Washington's New Policy.

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Washington's New Policy

Miscellaneous Cards.

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

ROYAL

Miscellaneous Cards.

VERNON'S SCARE.

BY GUY R. B.

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

VERNON'S SCARE

Transfer of the Lick Observatory.

The New York Tribune's correspondent at San Francisco writes (April 14) that "the Lick Observatory, at Mount Hamilton, which has been open to visitors for several years, will be closed next week, and will remain closed until the observatory is formally made over to the university. Defects in the movable floor of the dome will be remedied by the use of four hydraulic rams, which will move the floor at the rate of a foot per minute. The great telescope and spectroscopes are now in good working order. Through the telescope this week have been observed plainly two moons of Mars, which apochromatic greenish-yellow prism of the refractive index of the constituents of stars. The transfer of the observatory to the university, which was to have been made last June, is still uncertain as to date. One thing is certain—the institution will not have enough endowment left to pay the salary of a single first-class observer. Out of 700,000 given by James Lick twelve years ago there only remained one year ago $350,000. During the past year the expenditures were $250,000, so that when the observatory is turned over there will not be more than $100,000 left. This, at 6 per cent, will realize $6,000 per year.

Syrup of Figs

Is Nature's own true laxative. It is the most easily taken, and the most effective remedy known to Cleanse the System when Bilious or Costive; to dispel Headaches, Colds, and Fevers; to cure Habitual Constipation, Indigestion, Piles, etc. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal. By L. P. Colgate.

An Expensive Trip.
Tammany Hall and the County Democracy will each take six hundred men to the democratic national convention at St. Louis. The actual cost of transporting and providing sleeping accommodations has been placed by the railroad and sleeping-car companies at such a figure as to make it $34 to each man. However economical the individual may be, his meals and incidental expenses will certainly amount of $16, making $50 for the round trip. This will represent a total cost of $30,000 to the members of the

for the return trip, she will represent a total cost of $50,000 to the members of the two organizations. Allowance for the amounts spent by the leaders for the more comfortable accommodations, for the more generously furnished of each, follows. The expenses will raise the average $30 for each man. This makes the total cost of this trip to the democracy of New York city $72,000.

unknown—to-day it is as common as any word used in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in bygone past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the poison through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Biliousness, Fever, etc. You who are suffer-compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Biliousness, Etc., etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's Angust Flower. Its cures are marvellous.

Now Raymond Again in N. J.

A dispatch from Freehold, N. J., says: "Now Raymond, at one time a famed newspaper correspondent, who has just served a sentence of two years at Sing Sing, was taken to Freehold last Tuesday evening by State Detective, William G. Reine, on a requisition. Raymond is a More Raymond Again In Demand.

A dispatch from Freehold, N. J., says: How Raymond, at one time a famed newspaper correspondent, who has just served a sentence of two years at Ringling, was taken to Freehold last Tuesday evening by State Detective, William G. Fryling on a requisition. Raymond is here in answer to an old indictment for passing worthless check on Theo. Swift, hotel-keeper at the Highlands of Navesink during the summer of 1886. Raymond killed upon Capt. Corcoran, keeper of the Navesink Highlands lights, and introduced himself as Captain Bower, govern-ryan on a requisition. Raymond is here answer to an old indictment for passing worthless check on Theo. Swift, hotel-keeper at the Highlands of Noyack.

 During the summer of 1886 Raymond called on Capt. Corcoran, keeper of the Noyack Highlands lights, and introduced himself as Captain Roper, government-inspector of lighthouse. He was treated with all the courtesy due his assumed office and position. He made a thorough inspection, and Capt. Corcoran invited him to Swift's Hotel to dine. It was then that Swift asked the check. After Raymond left Capt. Corco-

posed himself as Captain Roper, government inspector of lighthouses. He was treated with all the courtesy due his assumed office and position. He made a thorough inspection, and Capt. Corcoran invited him to Swift's hotel to dine. "It was then that Swift cashed the check. After Raymond left, Mr. Corcoran missed her jewelry. Raymond inspected several other lighthouses under the significant name of Capt. Roper."

The Quaint Little Things.

"Cute!" he echoed. "Well, I don't know as the adjective would have oc-

The Quaint Little Things.

"Cute," he echoed. "Well, I don't know as the adjective would have occurred to me in just that connection. But you mean that they do their work thoroughly, yet make no fuss about it; causes no pain or weakness; and, in short, does everything that a pill ought to be, and nothing that it ought not, then I agree that Pierce's Pleasant Purgative now as the adjective would have occurred to me in just that connection. But you mean that they do their work properly, yet make no fuss about it, and are so pain or weakness; and in short, are everything that a pill ought to be, in nothing that it ought not, then I perceive that Piero's Pleasant Purgative Pills are about the cutest little things going!

— JAMES W. A. GARDNER.

To Wed a German Lieutenant.

Brooklyn society is interested in the announcement just made that Miss Annie Ward, the eldest daughter of Gen.

Brooklyn society is interested in the announcement just made that Miss Annie Ward, the eldest daughter of George C. Ward, is soon to be married to Herr Albrecht. Von Bulow, a lieutenant in the Second Imperial Guard Germany, a son of a Counsellor of State on Bulow, and a nephew of Gen. Von Bulow.

Ward, the eldest daughter of General C. Ward, is soon to be married to Herr Albrecht Von Bulow, a lieutenant in the Second Imperial Guard, Germany, a son of a Councillor of State on Bulow, and a nephew of Gen. Von Bulow. Ward went to Germany a year and half ago to complete her musical education, and got acquainted with her future husband in Berlin. Cards for this wedding are already out in Berlin.

That Harvest of Contentions.
True delicacy of flavor, with true, creamy softness has been attained in the famous California blend from remedy plant of F. H. I. This liquid, tonic and medicinal agents have rendered it extremely popular. It cures the Syphilis, Gout, Rheumatism, etc. Dr. J. D. Collier, Jr.

"Mr. B." asked a question at the Main Street Colliery, "What do you understand naturalization?" Mr. B. "Naturalization is the process of making a foreigner a citizen, and that is the thing I want."

Alp. R." asked a professor at the Middlebury College, "What do you understand by naturalization?" Mr. S.—"Naturalization is the process of making a foreign-born person a citizen of the United States."

At Akron, Ohio, yesterday, December 2, a student hit a girl, named Mary, with a baseball bat, and then commenced a fight by drawing to the coach.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

—The electric light poles have received a coat of paint this week.

—Mr. Milton A. Parsons, gray horse, was severely injured last Sunday by an iron ball.

—The N. Y. & N. B. Railroad Company has discontinued the Old Point express, north and south.

—Dr. Silmon, Clerk of the Circuit Court, gave an excellent dinner to the county officials last Tuesday.

—The Young People's Association of the Presbyterian church will meet at the school house this (Friday) evening.

—The school board will have a meeting next Wednesday which will probably be the last before the school closes.

—The town council met last Monday night, and reported the Mayor's appointment of J. McKim Porter, Chief of Police.

—Mr. H. B. Harper, of Havre de Grace, Md., is the guest of Mr. J. E. Dwyer, the Presbyterian church of this town.

—Wm. H. H. H. is erecting a dwelling on East Church St., next to James' farm, for his brother Samuel Henry.

—Rev. Mr. Voorhees of the Presbyterian Church of Princess Anne, Md., exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Eckels last Sunday.

—A delay in the shipment of the machinery for the Water Works Co. has caused a suspension of work at the headquarters.

—Mr. Joe. White has this week had the pavement in front of his store property on Main St. raised. This is a much needed improvement.

—Miss Marian Silmon, of Delmar, Del., and Miss Annie Parnell, of Lexington, Ky., are the guests of Miss Bettie Silmon of this town.

—Mr. Clarence Vincent, of the Snow Hill Messenger, spent last Sunday and Monday in this city. Mr. Vincent called on the Advertiser on Monday.

—Concrete pavements have been laid in front of Dr. Silmon's and Mr. T. L. Williams' residences, also in front of the bank, and Mr. L. W. Gundry's store.

—The bell for the tower of the new Adams M. E. Church arrived last Wednesday. It was cast by the McShane Bell Foundry Co., of Baltimore, and weighs 2,241 lbs.

—Rev. Geo. W. Wray, of the M. E. Church, South, has returned from his trip to Virginia and will fill his pulpit next Sunday at the usual hour for holding service.

—Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Miss Eliza H. Tobin and Mr. A. T. Truitt, Thos. R. Ecks and Caroline Travers, Chas. Rider and William Stewart.

—The senior class of the High School have been taking their final examination this week. It will be the work of several days. The commencement of the School will come off about the 15th of May.

—Mr. Edmund, of Onondaga, Md., has secured the bakery adjoining Capt. L. A. Parsons' store, near the Court House, and will do a wholesale and retail business. There are now two bakeries in Salisbury.

—The extra supplement prepared by Mr. S. Kimes is sent out with this issue. As stated by us to those making inquiry, we did not have a contract with Kimes but have agreed to run the supplement.

—Mr. Joseph C. Bailey, who left Salisbury last February for Duluth, Minn., has been of communication with the business of the West and returned to his native home to bridge the remainder of the brief stay.

—Owing to illness of Rev. Chas. F. Brown, pastor of St. Peter's Church, here, services at that place last Sunday, but were intended to announce that he is again out and will fill his pulpit next Sabbath at the usual hour.

—Mr. Owens of Baltimore city, county and Andrews, the accomplice of Bond and Parker who robbed the post office here last February, was in town Wednesday of this week. Andrews' trial will take place next Tuesday.

—We have in this week's issue the publication of the Public General Laws, passed at the January Session of 1888. We would suggest that our subscribers lay the laws containing the laws as they will have occasion to refer to them in the future.

—Wm. Lee Long, the Chinese leader, who came to Salisbury from Wilmington last February, is soon going to fill his brethren again. He finds the friendly business men unremunerative and will close his business next Saturday.

—Miss W. A. Warrington & Co., whose factory is located at the depot, are now turning out berry crates and baskets in large quantities. They are making a most excellent crate. It is strong and durable. The company are the patentees of the crate.

—Judge Holland returned from Prince Anne yesterday morning where he has been presiding over the Somerset court. The court adjourned yesterday night. We are pleased to note that the Judge is improving from his late attack of fever. He will leave for the Cambridge Court to-day.

—Messrs. Humphreys & Tilghman are making large quantities of their fertilizer in the form of a dust and adjoining counties. They have disposed of about five tons this week. Since they have been the manufacturers of their mixture a year ago, the demand has steadily increased, and the fertilizer grown in popularity.

—A mare belonging to Mr. Geo. R. Hines of this town, in frolic some from a yard attempted to clear a gate, but in doing so came in contact with a iron post which cut a gash in her body and cut her leg. Dr. Geo. W. Wray pulled away the open wound and the animal is still alive, but it is impossible that she will ever be of service again.

—The new Methodist Episcopal Church here will be dedicated Sunday, May 20th. Pastor Foster of Boston is expected to conduct the dedicatory service. The Rev. J. C. McKim, Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is also expected to be present. It will be a most interesting service. We are anxious to have the church filled with worshippers.

—The 25th Society of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the residence of Dr. H. L. Laidlaw next Tuesday evening.

MISS DENNIS'S POEMS.

"Aphrodite and Eros," a Poem by Miss Amanda Elizabeth Dennis, published by the Poetess of Wicomico.

"Aphrodite and Eros," is the title of a volume of Miss Amanda Elizabeth Dennis's poems which is just published. It is a neatly bound, gilt edged volume of 232 pages, printed by J. B. Lippincott & Co. of Philadelphia. The work is dedicated to the author's mother. In the following beautiful and poetic lines, "To my mother, whose lot still tread the bitter side of the mystic stream, and whose head the fount of eighty autumn have woven their silvery rill, this volume is tenderly and reverently dedicated."

The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary.

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

"In the poem on 'Christ Church Bells,' we have glimpses of this portion of her uneventful biography. These were happy years. At high school the pupils were occasionally allowed to select subjects for the inevitable composition. Upon one such occasion, with many mistletoes, she headed in four or five verses, which were passed over for examination. They were awarded a high grade of merit. Her first published poem appeared in the Baltimore Weekly Star."

It would be a work of supererogation to attempt a comparative estimate of the varied contents of this volume. A friend and trusted adviser of her mother's, the Rev. David Wilson, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"The poems of Miss Dennis are so familiar to every reader of the Advertiser, that any comment upon them would be unnecessary."

The Rev. David Wilson, a life long friend of the author, and one who has always been very close to her, more familiar perhaps with her writings than any other, has written a most interesting and valuable introduction, which contains a brief sketch of her life and a short criticism upon the work. It is as follows:

"Amanda Elizabeth Dennis was born in what was then Worcester, now Wicomico county, Maryland, twelve miles from Snow Hill, and fourteen miles from Salisbury. It is a short distance from the Potomac river. Here she has spent her whole life, with the exception of the few years in which she was a pupil of the Western Female High School, Baltimore."

THE TIDE IS TURNING.

It is the goods that bring the people, and the people that change the tide.

We're on the threshold of a great season. We have made ample preparation, and with bright prospects. We take great pleasure in informing the ladies that our line of Dress Goods is complete; also that we have just received an elegant line of Notions, consisting of Underwear, Parasols, Gloves, Dress Trimmings, etc. Come and see our 25c Silk Gloves. Laws & Purnell.

THE TIDE IS TURNING.

It is the goods that bring the people, and the people that change the tide.

We're on the threshold of a great season. We have made ample preparation, and with bright prospects. We take great pleasure in informing the ladies that our line of Dress Goods is complete; also that we have just received an elegant line of Notions, consisting of Underwear, Parasols, Gloves, Dress Trimmings, etc. Come and see our 25c Silk Gloves. Laws & Purnell.

THE TIDE IS TURNING.

It is the goods that bring the people, and the people that change the tide.

We're on the threshold of a great season. We have made ample preparation, and with bright prospects. We take great pleasure in informing the ladies that our line of Dress Goods is complete; also that we have just received an elegant line of Notions, consisting of Underwear, Parasols, Gloves, Dress Trimmings, etc. Come and see our 25c Silk Gloves. Laws & Purnell.

