

Plans for a Casino and Pier.

tion will be the Casino and piers of the Casino, which will stand out in the lake 1,000 feet from the shore, is intended to reproduce Venice on a small scale on Lake Michigan. Baring & Whitcomb of Chicago have completed the design for this structure, and the architect is aware of the fact that the design is a reproduction of Venetian order. The Casino will be built on piles and connected with the shore by a pier 800 feet wide. The base dimensions of the Casino will be 180x400 feet. The building will consist of nine pavilions, two of which will be 100 feet high, and the others will be 120 feet high, and with the exception of the central one, 80 feet above the surface of the water. The center pavilion will be 180 feet high. There will be communication between the nine pavilions both by gondolas and bridges. Complete-ly surrounded by water this structure will be a most unusual one. The water, it is expected to have a deck-wall in the center. Surrounding the

The pavilion will run a gallery fifty-six feet wide. The pier connecting this with the Casino will form a broad promenade. At the west end of the pier will stand the thirteen columns designed by Sculptor St. Ganden, to represent the thirteen original States. In front of the Casino will be a harbor for small pleasure craft. At night this harbor will be lighted by incandescent lamps sunk beneath the surface of the floats. The material of the Casinopier will be of wood and the walls will be of

Nine Rules for Bathers.
 Avoid bathing within two hours after a meal.
 Avoid bathing when the body is cool after perspiration.
 Avoid bathing when exhausted by fatigue or from any other cause.

Avoid bathing altogether in the open water if after having been a short time in the water it causes a sense of chilliness or numbness of the hands and feet.

Bathe when the body is warm, provided no time is lost in getting into the water.

Avoid chilling the body by sitting or standing undressed on the banks or in the water after having been in the water.

Don't remain too long in the water; remove the water immediately if there is the slightest chilliness.

The vigorous and strong may bathe daily in the morning on an empty stomach. The young and those who are weak would better bathe two or three times after a meal—the best time for which is from two to three hours after breakfast.

Those who are subject to attacks of dizziness or faintness, and those who suffer from palpitation and other sensations of discomfort at the heart, should not bathe.—From The Ladies Home Journal.

Can an Honest Man Die Uninsured?
No! except under two conditions, first, that he is broken down in health, and therefore uninsurable; second, that he cannot spare a few cents a week for a policy. An honest man's duty to his family compels him to provide for them as well as he can) not only while he lives, but while they live. He has given his word for it—and he follows up his promise by the bond of a good life insurance company. Thus he assures them most respectfully called to look to their own interest and that, when their hard-earned dollars are parted with, they are secured full value. Never during our business career have we seen an opportunity equal to the one just closed. The fact is that the manufacturers had a lot of 700 suits of clothes, from five suits to twenty-five suits of a kind; and the question was, "Will you buy them all and give us spot cash?" We did so, seeing they were so cheap.

Some of these suits will cost you only one-half of their intrinsic value. We bought them cheap and will sell them accordingly, and only ask an examination, as this is, no doubt, one of the greatest opportunities to buy a suit of clothes for an old man, young man, or boy, that has ever been placed on any market.

Also a complete line of neat, nobby, odd Pants. Come and look for yourself.

THE DAY FOR ME.

A brilliant sky, a fine bare tree, some soft breeze blowing down the slope, the colors given as they flash by. The sunbeams fall on the water, and these all come to me with thee. This is the day for me!

A warm, sweet noon, with flowers round, and insects happy in the sun; when public life is kept from the ground, and his higher life no longer begun—Hail blossom, bird and bee. This is the day for me!

A richer sky, a deeper green; a happy scene of well-remembered days; a summer landscape full of bloom. The world at its brightest, sweetest, best! This is the day for me!

The glowing woods to splendor stand; their music is heard from every hand; the eyes may feast on every hand; to be alive is pure delight. Autumn is the day for me!

Be not so fast, my friend; these things are made to last; they only form their perfect part, when the sunbeams, cold and clear. Canst thou say earnestly—This is the day for me!

—Annie Louise Willis in Boston Pilot.

Real is Necessary.

A man who has so much to do that he will work nights and Sundays as well as week days is not likely to do much in the long run as the man who rests at God's appointed times in order to fit himself for the work he has to do. These times, many a busy man needs down a great deal earlier than he needs to, because he is not working when rest is his first duty. And many a man who observes God's law of the night and the Sabbath, written in man's very nature, accomplishes far more in a series of years than he could have wrought with any violation of that law.

Mr. Gladstone, speaking not long ago of his own experiences in busy life, and of the high privilege of "Sunday rest," "Personally, I have always endeavored, so far as circumstances have allowed, to avail myself of this privilege, and now that I have arrived near the goal of a laborious public career, I have found that this practice the prolonging of my life and the preservation of my faculties."

ELECTRIC DYNAMOS.

MACHINERY THAT CAUSES THE ALTERNATING CURRENT.

Comparison Between the First Frictional Wheel and the Present Powerful Electro-Magneto—Difference in the Two Currents—The Machine.

The first dynamo electric machine ever constructed was made by Faraday. This great physicist, the prince of experimenters, as he has been called, discovered that when a disc or flat plate of copper was made to rotate between the poles of a powerful magnet currents were produced in the plate from the center outward. By making a wire connect the center with one of its ends and bringing the other one in contact with the rim he found that a current of electricity passed along the wire, and that the current was made to indicate its existence by deflecting the needle of a galvanometer, decomposing a chemical solution, or by any of the well known effects produced by electricity in motion.

Faraday saw the importance of this discovery and the great use the way of practical application to which it might be put, but he did not himself say to develop his idea into a form that would be of use to the world. It was left to others to do this. The first of these was a Scotchman, and his name was James Watt. He was the first to apply the principle of the dynamo to the production of the illumination of the North Pole lighthouse. He said, after looking at the large magneto-electric machines then in use, "I gave it to you an infant, you have made it a giant."

Dynamo and magneto electric machines consist essentially of a coil of wire, the armature, as it is called, rotating between the poles of a large magnet, the poles being bent round so as to appear the same, and having the armature between them. This magnet may be either a permanent magnet of hard steel, or an electro-magnet consisting of a coil of wire, the armature, as it is called, rotating between the poles of a large magnet, the poles being bent round so as to appear the same, and having the armature between them. THE OMNIPOTENT TALBOT ALLIANCE.

The Farmers' Alliance of Talbot county met in convention at Easton last Tuesday and nominated a third ticket, which, it is presumed, they intend to support. Two of the nominees on the democratic ticket are placed on this ticket. No nominations are made for Clerk of the Court, Register of Wills or State's Attorney. After ending its labors in this line, the convention took occasion to lash Hon. J. Frank Turner for having something to do with the democratic ticket to general and the delegates to the state convention in particular, whereupon they sat down and "resolved," and this is what they resolved.

Resolved, That the president and secretary of this alliance be authorized and required to confer with said delegates, namely Messrs. Higley, Bateman, Harrington and Thompson, and demand of them a positive promise that they, individually and collectively, will obey to the letter the instructions of said county convention.

Resolved, That in case any one of said delegates refuse to give such a pledge then president and secretary be and are hereby authorized to advertise a call in the county papers for all Democratic voters to assemble in mass convention at the court house in Easton, on Thursday, July 21st, at 12 o'clock, m., to select four delegates to the state Democratic nominating convention at Baltimore on July 30th, who can be relied on to execute the will of four-fifths of the Democratic voters of Talbot county, as embodied in the resolutions of the late county convention.

It is to be hoped that the Talbot democrats will not allow the Talbot Alliance to "outcall" them. If the Alliance threaten to charge of your party, Brother Haddaway, then you take charge of them, and if you don't have enough to "waltz through" on them, call a "mass convention" of republicans and consolidate the two, and whatever you do, don't allow republicans or Alliance people to have any say in the matter. While you have them in "mass convention," you should as well select the delegates to represent the state in the national democratic convention, which will meet in 1892 to nominate a president. See that said delegates are pledged; make them give bond for faithful performance of their duty; make every citizen of the county give bond, too, that he will not attempt to influence them, "individually or collectively," with bribes or threats; possibly it would be best to place them under a special bailiff, who will not let them have any communication with the outside world. Having done this, complicit, take your seat and witness the workings of the glorious machinery which you control and have put to work.

To be Reproduced.

Lieutenant Little, of the Navy department, has sailed for Europe to complete the plans for reproducing the carvings which formed the fleet of Columbus. He carries letters of introduction from the State Department to Minister Grubb and other representatives of the United States abroad. The Spanish Minister has also given him letters to various officials at Madrid. Before going to Spain, Little will visit the museum at Paris, London and the Hague, as valuable historical material can be obtained in those museums. The Lieutenant has consulted with ship builders in this country and they have advised him that the best way to secure a reproduction of the Santa Maria, the Pinta, and the Nina will be to have the most of the work done by the Spanish or Italian ship-builders. The modern American vessel is so vastly different from the fleet of Columbus that shipbuilders here have found it difficult to plan a reproduction. They have all agreed, however, that the methods in vogue abroad, where ship carpentry has been handed down from generation to generation, will produce results in keeping with historic accuracy. Carvings will necessarily be given a smaller draught than the original vessels of Columbus, because they are to pass through the Welland Canal, but in other respects the reproduction is likely to be a faithful one.

Karl M. Crenshaw was instantly killed by lightning early Wednesday morning at Michigan City, Ind. He was in the same bed with his wife and child, neither of whom was injured in the least.

Democratic Societies.

Hon. Calvin Brice, chairman of the National Democratic Committee before leaving a few days ago for a trip to Europe issued the following circular letter to the State Democratic Committees of the various states:

The importance of immediate preparations for the presidential campaign of next year must be obvious to every democrat. The timely and energetic conduct of our opponents would be warning enough to us that we must not be taken by surprise. It is evident that they expect decisive results upon their extensive and well-organized system of republican clubs. It will be sustained by money without stint, drawn from the pockets of beneficiaries of the monopoly policy maintained by that party. It can be met only by an equally extensive and well-organized system of democratic societies. The latter is more appropriate to our purpose, since it was the first organization of the democratic party in the United States and was the instrument of agitation and defense employed by the fathers of the democratic party in the first great struggle resistance to Federalism and the restoration of constitutional government. It is earnestly recommended that every official in the regular organization of the democratic party will see that everything possible within his jurisdiction shall be done to aid and encourage it. I desire to call your attention to the work now in course of successful accomplishment by the executive committee of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, and to say that their plan has been submitted to, and meets the approval of the national committee. The selection of correspondents under this plan is of the greatest importance, and under this date I have written to the member of the national committee from your state, asking him to communicate with you at once, so that the proper selection could be made. The plan cannot in any way interfere with State organizations, and on the contrary, proposes intimate cooperation with the State committees, as well as with the national committee. It has met with unprecedented success in other States.

A very Costly Commis.

There is scarcely ever a session of congress in which bills are not found to contain mistakes in orthography or punctuation, says the Philadelphia Press. The only wonder is that many more do not occur, when it is remembered that all such work near adjournment is performed under extraordinary circumstances. All haste, noise and confusion. Rest or sleep is unknown, oftentimes for two or three days and nights in succession. The jokes become more and more, and sometimes wholly exhausted by the intense strain and prolonged physical labor.

Probably the smallest, and apparently most insignificant of all such blunders was the most expensive one of the kind ever made. It occurred in a tariff bill more than twenty years ago. There was a section enumerating what articles should be admitted free of duty. Among the many articles specified were "all foreign fruit-plants," etc., meaning plants imported for transplanting, propagation or experiment. The enrolling clerk, in copying the bill, accidentally changed the hyphen in the compound word "fruit-plants" to a comma, making it read, "all foreign fruit, plants," etc. The consequence was, that for a year—until congress could remedy the blunder—all the oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other foreign fruit were admitted free of duty. This little mistake, which the most careful man might easily have made, cost the government about $2,000,000.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

Ex-Vice President Hamlin Dead.

Bangor, Me., July 4.—Ex-Vice President Hannibal Hamlin died to-night at 8:15 o'clock. He was down town this afternoon and went to the Tarrance club room, where he was playing pool when his head fell forward on his chest. A gentleman remarked: "The Senator seems to feel badly." Mr. Hamlin said, "I do." The men gathered around him, and he was taken to a lounge where he died at the hour named above, in the 82nd year of his age. He was born at Paris, Maine, Aug. 27, 1809. He was admitted to the bar in 1833, and continued to practice until 1841. In 1840 he was elected a member of the Legislature of which he was speaker from 1837 to 1840. In 1842 he was elected to Congress as a democrat and re-elected in 1844, and in 1848 he was chosen U. S. senator, but declined the office on being re-elected Senator. In 1860 he was elected vice-President of the United States on the ticket with Abraham Lincoln, and served in that position through the war.

"Hunger Is the Best Sauce."

As a rule, a person who has a good appetite has good health. But how many there are who enjoy nothing they eat, and sit down to meals only as an unpleasant duty. Nature's antidotes for this condition are as happily combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla that it soon restores good digestion, creates an appetite, and renovates and vitalizes the blood so that the beneficial effect of the medicine is imparted to the whole body. Truly hunger is the best sauce, and Hood's Sarsaparilla induces hunger.

Execution in New York.

SINO SING, N. Y., July 7.—The killing of the four murderers, Slocum, Seiler, Wood and Jugro was done this morning. Slocum was killed at 4:42. Seiler was put to death at 5:14. Wood met his doom at 5:35. Jugro was killed at 6:06. Each walked calmly to death and there was not a struggle or hitch at an stage of the proceedings. When the deed was done a man's body he died so quickly that it was difficult to realize that death had occurred, and there were no ghastly marks made by the current, as in the Kemmer case.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than at all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. After one hundred dollars for cure it fails to cure. Send for circular and booklet. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., TOLEDO, O.

Orders have been given to cease work on most of the cuts on the Chicago and Ohio river tickets will be honored for return passage until July 7th inclusive, and west of the Ohio river until July 6th inclusive. Apply to nearest B. & O. agent for rates.

Eugenie's Home in France. The Eugenie Home will in future live a good deal in the south of France. She has just bought for £7,000 five acres of ground on the most beautiful spot on the French part of the Riviera, namely Cape St. Martin, the tongue of land which juts out into the Mediterranean between Monaco and Mentone. The price for the situation is not high. The Empress intends to build a villa on her ground, and ready to distribute within six days after the adjournment of that body. A form was served on her. She filled it up in her own handwriting which is shaky from rheumatism. The answer to the different printed questions were thus filled in: "Contesse de Pierrefonds (Marie Eugenie), aged sixty-four; born at Grenada, Spain; naturalized French; a widow; and had one child—a son; lives on her property of 500,000 acres, or business, a seigneur in France, lives usually in England; is traveling with two friends and four servants.

The dark sky of England disagrees with the Empress. Being her intention to adopt Prince Napoleon's family, she is glad not to be far from Turin. Her relations with the Duchesse de Mouchy, who often went to her as a person needing money, are not what they used to be. The Empress is a martyr to rheumatism, and is so helpless from it as almost to give the impression that she suffers from a paralytic tendency. She does not care to stay in Paris. It has all grown strange and bewildering to her, and there is still enough of what she recollects to arouse harrowing memories.

Mr. Jones and the Governorship.

The Maryland Republican published at Annapolis and a strong Farmer Alliance in connection with the Hon. Spencer C. Jones for the next governor of Maryland, says of him:

He will make a plain, pure minded, hospitable, capable and energetic, the plainest and poorest laborer in the State will stand before him with the same assurance of having impartial justice meted out to him as will the richest and most powerful.

His head is brim-full of brains, his life is marked with honest and intrepid manliness and his heart full of courtesy and kindness. Spencer C. Jones will of all men we know come up to the highest ideal of the farmer's governor.

Tickets will be valid for return passage until July 30th inclusive.

Dr. John Levergood, a well-known physician of Lancaster, Pa., died there Sunday, aged sixty-five. He commenced the practice of medicine in Wrightsville, York county, in 1848. His wife, who is daughter of the late Judge Emory Schaeffer, survives him. Dr. Levergood was an army surgeon during the war, and held a number of public positions in Lancaster a different times. He was also a prominent Old Fellow.

A summons was issued by Judge Howard of the West Roxbury (Mass.) Municipal Court Tuesday, upon Secretary Henry Abrahamson of the Boston Central Labor Union, directing him to appear on Wednesday on the charge of violating the regulations of the park commissioners in delivering an oration at Franklin Park on July 4, and his additional refusal to desist on the request of one of the park police. A test case will be made of the issue.

Condition of the Theory.
Those who are in ill health are confounded by a condition, not a theory, although there are numbers of people ready and anxious to theorize about it.
In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred S.S.S. will do the work of renovation.
In cases of indigestion, loss of appetite and general debility, this wonderful medicine acts with almost miraculous certainty. It restores the activity of the liver, purifies the blood and builds up the system. As a tonic for young and old it is without a rival. Though it is powerful in its effects, the youngest or the oldest can take it with the most beneficial effects. S. S. S. has behind it a record of half a century and is a more popular as a household remedy today than ever before.

Profitable Cultivation.
The Eastern Shore Herald states that Wm. E. Wilson, of Northampton county, Va., picked this year from eight acres of strawberries, six acres of which are four years old, 24,000 quarts of berries, on which he realized, clear of picking, freight and commission, $1,200—$10 per acre would be a liberal allowance. For labor and fertilizer, Mr. Wilson's account on these eight of $1120 or $140 per acre. Mr. Wilson paid out for picking these berries $480. This money was paid mostly to women and children, who almost immediately went to the some proximity, on which the merchant made some profit. John E. Nottingham, of the same county, is now getting seventy-five barrels of potatoes per acre. On these he will probably realize a clear profit of $2 per barrel, equal to $150 per acre.

Let us Talk it Over.

You know as well as we do that there are hundreds of thousands of widows and orphans living in poverty who bless the memory of a faithful, loving husband or father, who not only cared for them when he was alive, but had the foresight to care for them after his death by leaving them a five, ten or twenty thousand dollar life insurance policy. How will it be with you, good friend? Have you let us talk it over. It is a duty you owe those dependent upon you.

The Washington Life Insurance company of insurance—all good, but some it certain cases better than others. The Washington stands at the head of its class, and offers better and more liberal policies than any company in the world.

A Brave Battle.

In the yard of A. A. Bruner some quails from Bencho Chico have built their nest. A few days ago there was a pretty little brood hatched out, and the mother quail took pleasure in caring for her young. Mr. Bruner encouraged her by putting within reach soft feed suitable for the baby quails. Last Sunday a Maltese tom cat, belonging to Harry Fuller, made its appearance in the yard on a foraging expedition, and watching the opportunity, made a dash at the mother quail, caught it, and was taking it to his own domain to devour. The cry and noise made by the bird was heard by the male, who came to the rescue, and a regular battle ensued. He attacked the cat, pecking with beak and striking with wings until he forced the cat to retreat to the mother bird. The two birds then got on the fence and watched the retreat of the cat with evident satisfaction, no doubt congratulating each other.—Chico (Cal.) Enter-

Good Sense.

A shepherd dog fell into a dry well in Oglethorpe county, Georgia. A young man went to the well to get water, and saw the dog at the bottom. He threw a rope to the dog, and he came up. The dog was very much exhausted, and the man procured a long enough to reach the bottom of the well, and lowering it was flung to the dog. The dog was very strong, but the man was not. He was killed in his mouth and body, and he was drawn to the top. The dog had received no serious injuries, and after a hearty meal was as fit as ever.—

The Great Benefit.

Which people in run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act as a stimulant, but as a purifier, which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.

Alabama has forged to the front, and

JOHN WANAMAKER.

Beating a Wolf story is told in a way to show the cowardly nature of the animal. For this reason the author of "Twenty-seven Years in Canada West," has its own value and interest.

My wife's youngest sister had a pet sheep, and she had brought up the lamb, and to which she was much attached. One afternoon she was going down to the spring for a pail of water, when she saw a large dog, as she thought, worrying her sheep, upon which she picked up a large stick and struck the dog. The dog was very much startled, and she was very much pleased, this compelling him to drop his prey.

This, however, he did very reluctantly, turning his head at the same time, showing his teeth with a most diabolical smile. She saw at once when he faced her, by his grimace, that he was a dog, and that he was a wolf. Nothing dumb, she again bravely attacked him, for he seemed determined, in spite of her valiant opposition, to have her pet lamb, which he again attacked.

She boldly beat him off the second time, following him down the creek, thrusting him and calling for aid with her might, when, fortunately, one of her brothers, attracted by her cry, ran down with the dog and gun. But he was too late for a shot, for when the wolf saw the reinforcement, he scampered off with all his speed.

A Brawl of the Famous Strasburg Clock.

The most wonderful clock is on exhibition in the parochial school building connected with St. Paul's German Lu-tharian church in Lancaster, Wis.
The timepiece is divided into four parts—geographical, astronomical, musical and numerical. A little less than every minute. The first quarter hour represents childhood; the second, youth; the third, middle age, and the fourth, old age. As it has been shown, a corresponding number of apostles make their appearance from one to twelve.

Above them stand the twelve apostles, the twelve signs of the zodiac are represented. At 6 and 12 o'clock a section ring is pulled down, and the clock is set, and the organ is played. There are four dials on each side of the clock, showing the years on one side and the leap years on the other.

At midnight heathen gods make their appearance, and scenes in the life of Jesus are represented at noonday. The four seasons are represented by appropriate figures, as are the moon's phases.
Again there are twelve signs of the zodiac, and the clock is set, and the organ is played. At 6 and 12 o'clock a section ring is pulled down, and the clock is set, and the organ is played.

I got to thinking afterward how old this bullet must be. The log was fat bullet just two feet thick. Evidently the bullet was shot into the tree when small or else it could not have pierced to the center, and the tree was evidently 100 years old when it fell to the ground.

JUST A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE.

The Possession of It Does Not Pay Very

Well in the Long Run.

"It doesn't pay to know just a little about things," said one of those men who are always after "general information." "Judging from experience I thoroughly agree with the gentleman who said, 'A little knowledge is a dangerous thing.' For example, I learned that the little spot on one side of the yolk, toward the left end, is the germ of the chicken.
You may cook an egg in what fashion you please, but whether it is boiled, poached or fried, you will find that germ always conspicuous, when once you know it is there, and you cannot eat the egg until you have carefully removed it.
It would add considerably to my happiness if I could believe today what I was taught in the nursery, that the white of an egg makes the bones of the flesh-eater, and the yolk the blood. Instead of knowing, as I do, that both are merely the food by the consumption of which the germ developed."

"But that is only a very minor instance. My slight knowledge of pathology is sufficient to tell me that the stomach is a source of continual distress to me. Though an abstemious man, on the whole, I cannot indulge in the use of alcohol, and I am realizing that I am an unhealthy man. The slightest sensation of any sort about my chest causes me to imagine, despite myself, that my lungs are affected. I am sure that in their daily work upon my pulmonary system."

"Presumably it is only a trifling interest in rheumatism, but I am none the less uneasy. A similar feeling in the muscles of my back makes me think of Bright's disease, and I am sure that
system."

"A superficial knowledge of physiology takes much of the poetry out of existence and removes a large part of the charm of the human body. I know that my intestines are a prey to the verminous parasites, as are those of every one else; but they do not cause me so much annoyance as I have been led to believe, and I am sure that in their daily work upon my pulmonary
system."

"Supposing that one's partner in the germ is this girl, who cannot help figuring her out as an articulated skeleton and setting an estimated price upon her as a preparation for the day when she does not apply, however, when she is an acknowledged hetere."

"Imagination is always opposed to facts, and by as much as the facts are calculated to dispel agreeable illusions, they are destructive of happiness. Therefore I am inclined to think that the desirable knowledge may be respecting things with which one has no personal and intimate concern, it is most comfortable to know a very little about one's own anatomy. Drink deep or taste not the Pierian spring."—Washington Herald.

Two German Words That Mean Much.
German barbers in New York City are curious system of signs and mysterious words by which they indicate to each other the tendency of customers to give large tips, small tips or none at all.
If a new barber in a large shop gets a generous customer in his chair, a fellow barber, who has shaved the customer before, mutters in his ear, "Brunn," that is, "He tips." "Brunn," that is, "He tips." A distinctly German word, and it is used by the barbers to indicate to each other the tendency of customers to give large tips, small tips or none at all. If a new barber in a large shop

Stones Are Composed of Shells.
The triplite, used for polishing out tableware, is composed entirely of the silicious shells of infusoria. The earthy part of the stone is a large dog, as she thought, worrying her sheep, upon which
pleased, this compelling him to drop his prey.

In the Train.

"That fellow over there must feel uncomfortable."

"Why?"

"He tried to shut the window for the girl in front of him, but couldn't do it, and after he saw the girl tried and succeeded."—Boston Herald.

He Knows Now.

Mr. and Mrs. Wings were reading the evening paper.

"Peculiar ways the Japanese have," said Mrs. Wings casually, "they read the evening paper, and then they read the morning paper. What do you suppose they do that for?"

"What questions you women do ask!"
Then there was silence, until suddenly Wings threw down the paper with a remark and began polishing the fire-iron.

"What is the matter, Mr. Wings?" asked his wife.

"Nothing—nothing at all. I only read half a column of thrilling narrative before I found that it wound up with a patent medicine advertisement."

Among civilized nations the wearing of earrings by men has been by no means uncommon, as it has been shown in the early English days some of the most distinguished courtiers bedecked their ears with very costly specimens. The great Shakespeare is said to have worn them, and Charles I. is reported to have been the owner of a magnificent pair of pearl earrings, which he bequeathed to his daughter the day before he was executed.

In the South Sea islands the females and males alike adopt this style of perfume, and even in the wilds of Africa they are worn by the untutored savages of both sexes.

At the present day the only civilized people of the male sex who wear earrings are the Italians, the French, a few sailors of other foreign nations, and occasionally a German, but as a matter of course precious few females the world over will be found without them.—Detroit Free

MINING IN 1940.

How "Rockers" Separating Was Carried on in Pioneer Days in California.

The most expensive instrument of the miner in the early days of the gold rush, though simple in construction, cost in the mines from fifty to a hundred dollars. It was a simple machine, and was used to separate the gold from the gangue. It consisted of a flat bottom with a series of rollers, and was used to separate the gold from the gangue. It was a simple machine, and was used to
separate the gold from the gangue.

The modern operant may be described as follows: Two sticks of wood hewn on the upper side were imbedded at the ends of the rollers, and the rollers were set in motion. The gold was then separated from the gangue. It was a simple machine, and was used to separate the gold from the gangue.

To keep the rocker going another hand would be employed to carry earth, and each would carry two buckets at a time.
The hand would be employed to carry earth, and each would carry two buckets at a time. The hand would be employed to carry earth, and each would carry two

One of the most precious relics of the past is a bronze statue dug up at Herculaneum in 1761, and thought to be a copy of the original statue of Alexander the Great by Lysippos, after the battle of the Granicus, when statues of all the brave who fought in the initial victory were made by the famous sculptor. It is a truly a copy of Lysippos work we can judge it how the Macedonian emperor, when he was a child, he grasps this substantive for a saddle at the withers, and turning full half way to the right, he looks backward, gives a swinging cut with his sword to the rear, covering as big an arc of the circle as the best swiftness of any equestrian.

The statue is full of life and natural to a degree. If not Lysippos' work, it is that of a master. The statue is full

WICOMICO DEMOCRATS.

SPRINTED CONTEST AT THE PRIMARIES.

LAST SATURDAY.

A Harmonious Convention on Tuesday.

A Strong Ticket Nominated—Jackson, Gorman, Bratton and Brown.

Entered.

Wicomico county is full of democrats.

Everybody recognizes this fact, but if there had been any doubting Thomases before last Saturday all doubts would have vanished when the crowds were seen walking up to the polling places and depositing their democratic ballots at the primary elections. This was all part of a call from the Central Committee to elected delegates to send to the County Convention to nominate a ticket on Tuesday. There were contests in Bar-ren Creek, Parsons, Salisbury, Nutter's and Trappe districts. In all the other districts delegates were selected without contest. In all the other districts the Democratic Club had selected delegates who it desired should represent the district. Many both inside and outside the club, opposed the delegation and organized an opposing delegation which was successful. Here, as in all the other districts of the county where there were contests, the clerkship seemed to be the issue. The clerkship delegation was successful in the case of the Salisbury and Parsons districts, where joint delegations were run by Dr. F. M. Siemens, the present incumbent, and Mr. J. T. Trull, opposed by Dr. H. L. Todd. The joint delegation was successful in both districts. In Nutter's district the contest was between Mr. John T. Gorman, candidiate for county commissioner, and Mr. James C. Johnson, candidate for sheriff, resulting in a victory for Mr. Gorman. In Trappe district the Todd and Siemens forces joined issue against the Trullite party, and the result was a victory for the Todd delegates being elected by a majority of two.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Convention of Wicomico democrats met at the Court House in Salisbury on Tuesday morning for the purpose of nominating the local ticket. Capt. Thos.

W. H. White of the county central committee, called the body to order at 11 o'clock. On motion Mr. Geo. A. Bonds of Quantico was called to the chair.

Walter C. Mann, Esq., of Sharptown, was selected as secretary.

A committee on credentials, composed of one delegate from each district, was appointed by the chair. This committee found the following delegates entitled to seats in the convention:

Barren Creek—J. J. Wright, S. P. Wilson, W. J. Bradley.

Quantico—G. W. Messick, G. A.

Bonds, L. C. Bailey.

Tyaskin—Geo. D. Insley, H. J. Messick, D. J. Elliott.

Pittsburg—G. W. Freney, P. Taylor

Baker, J. M. Jones.

Parsons—E. E. Bradley, C. C. Parker,

J. A. D. Holloway.

Dennis—John W. Davis, Isaac S. Williams, A. Q. Hamblin.

Trappe—T. W. H. White, J. W. Huf-ington, W. J. Station, John R. Reddish,

W. H. H. Cooper.

Nutter's—George W. Messick, James

Dykes, E. M. Walton.

Salisbury—Thomas Humphreys, I. H.

White, T. A. Vessey.

Sharptown—A. W. Robinson, W. C.

Mann, G. E. Bennett.

Nominations being then in order,

Mr. Elmer C. Bradley of Parsons district,

Mr. Jas. T. Trull of Clerk of the Circuit Court, Mr. I. H. White and others seconded the nomination. Capt.

Thos. W. H. White of Trappe district rose and in a very complimentary speech placed before the convention the name of Dr. F. Marion Siemens, the present incumbent of the office. This had a ready second from Hon. Thos. Hamphreys who also spoke in the highest terms of Dr. Siemens' personal character, and his official record. Mr. I. H. White then took the floor and in a speech of about seven minutes, paid a fervent tribute to Mr. Trull. The ballot was then cast. The result was 27 votes for Trull, 8 for Dr. Siemens. The chair announced that the choice of the convention.

The next nomination made was for Register of Wills, which Mr. J. L. Gale, who now holds the office, received by acclamation. Immediately thereafter Mr.

Thos. S. Roberts of Tyaskin district received the nomination for Sheriff in the same way.

Messrs. George W. D. Waller, Jos. L.

Bailey and Thomas F. J. Rider, were each put in nomination for State's At-—From the rough and tumble struggle which characterized the primary elections in Baltimore county Friday and Saturday last week, our contemporaries, the Baltimore Sun, draw the conclusion that the coming legislature should take some action looking to the purification of primary elections. That there is an urgent demand throughout the State for some measure that will lessen bribery and corruption at the polls, both at the primaries and at the election, there is no question, especially as to the primary election. There is little or no existing stringent measures to guard the ballot box on election day when the persons being voted for were virtually selected two months before at the primaries. As a matter of fact there is in two thirds of the voting precincts of this country greater necessity for drastic measures to guard the primaries, than the elections. All this we concede, but where is the remedy? How the legislature the power to say how a voluntary primary organization shall select the men whom it agrees to vote for at the polls? Political parties are not constitutional organizations or as such by name, legislative or organizations.

They have no existence in law, either as individuals, corporations, or co-partnerships, but are purely voluntary.

How then can the legislature say what they shall or shall not do? Suppose the legislature should lay down specific directions for holding primaries? What would be the penalty for violating the law? How could it be enforced? The answer will of course come that, unless the nominations are made as prescribed, the secretary of State will not consider them primary nominations and therefore refuse to place the names of the nominees on the official ticket. But there are other methods of selecting candidates under the law, which parties could take a disadvantage of and thereby render the primary election law null. But that is not the greatest obstacle. What seems the most serious impediment would be the impracticability from the very nature of things, of issuing an official ticket. Without this there would be no secrecy in voting, and with-out secrecy and an official ticket, the whole thing would be practically worthless as a measure to prevent bribery, every one knows that bribery existed to an alarming extent at our elections before the passage of the election law of 1880.

A noteworthy incident.

In Bowell's life of Dr. Samuel Johnson is a letter from the great lexicographer to the Rev. Wm. White, of Philadelphia, in which, among other matters, is mentioned that "Dr. Oliver Goldsmith has written a comedy soon to be produced at the Covent Garden Theatre, in London." "She Stoops to Conquer" was the play meant, and the letter bore date March 4th, 1773. It seemed that

Wm. White, a divinity student, had taught London for holy orders, and when there came frequently the distinguished literary circle of which Dr. Johnson was the head and Dr. Oliver Goldsmith, who had a father, uncle and brother in the ministry, was a member. Dr. White was ordained in London by ecclesiastical authority, returned to America, and finally became the friend of his relatives.

He was the Bishop of Pennsylvania and the first in the United States, predecessor of the first in the United States, the originator of the Episcopal Church in America. He died in 1834.

The Highland Association of Illinois

Cincinnati's Female Christ.

Cincinnati, O., July 18.—The dissemination of all the strange religious world has known since religion had a place in it has its birth and growth here.

Unhappily much of this growth has been in the form of fanaticism, and the new religion, at least in a grosser sense, its head and founder is Mrs.

John B. Martin, wife of a well-known business man, and herself for years a pillar of Methodism. In the latter years of her connection with that denomination she became a zealous and influential advocate of sanctification or perfect holiness, and this was probably the foundation for vagaries which later, as most people believe, grew into the most shocking blasphemy of the present.

Mrs. Martin was quietly dropped from the church rolls, and soon separated from her husband. She was not heard of for some time, when the astounding announcement was made that she had set herself up as Jesus Christ, and had gathered about her a set of believers who worshipped her as such. The most astounding part of this was the information that Mrs. Martin's followers were not Christians, but rather, in the eyes of the community, a set of fanatics, and superstitious people, but persons of wealth, refinement and culture—families whose names are known and honored in the best social and business circles of the city. So devoted were some of her followers that they became maniacs in her defence, ready to kill, if necessary. It was almost impossible to secure access to the meetings or to learn what occurred there, but it was learned that Mrs.

Martin was obeyed blindly that was believed she was Christ come to earth again never to die, and that these, her first converts, were to be rulers in the new kingdom.

A sister of Mrs. Martin possesses the Holy Ghost, and the community call themselves Perfectists. They hold a little communication with the outside world as possible, and, to a certain degree, communitarians in their belief.

To-day it is announced that a great religious movement is about to take place at Walnut Hills. Mrs. Martin, the self-styled Christ, is going to Europe. Whether she goes for pleasure or inspiration is not known, but certain it is she will be accompanied by beloved disciples. At least one pair of lovers will be of the party—

Mr. Herbert G. Shepherd and his intended bride, Miss Emma Brooke. The others who will accompany her are as follows:

Mrs. Thomas Foulke, Mrs. Katharine

John Koch and his sister, Rose, Dr. Julia

Carroll, Miss Lillie Carpenter, Miss

Miller Donohoe, Miss Cora Watts, Ed

Gerome.

During Mrs. Martin's vacation last summer seven of the faithful dropped away from the fold and two others almost left, but were called back again.

In order not to risk anything, one of those who has money, will accompany her abroad, while the other, a poor working girl, will go as far as New York, where she will be left with her parents until the party returns. They will leave to-morrow for New York, where they will take the steamer, Europa, Saturday for Europe, where they will remain two months.

Mrs. Martin has taken every possible occasion to condemn in unmeasured terms all preachers who go off on a vacation. She is considered to take with her fold for whom she has any regard, and the 30 odd who remain must suffer because they have not the gold.—St. Louis Republician.

A Perilous Position.

The Press of Snow Hill is responsible for the following from Ocean City, told in its last issue:

One of the most marvelous escapes from an instantaneous and shocking death occurred here this morning. Robert Rennet, Jr., Esq., had hired from the River stable of Isaac Powell, a pair of his finest horses, and a victoria, and had started down the beach, with a party of friends, all in the best of spirits. The horses, a pair of evenly matched bays, were, from rest, high-strung and nervous, and as they approached the crossing of the R. &

E. S. R. on Wisconsin St., Mr. Bennett, who was handling the reins, thoughtlessly struck one of the horses with the whip. Just as they were on the crossing one of the horses caught his foot and fell. The Washington express was coming down the road at the rate of fifty miles an hour and was within a short distance of the spot before the engine saw the state of affairs; he at once engaged the air-brakes but not in time to stop the train, and the engine and his friends were however saved, but by the coolness and prompt action of some gentlemen who pulled Mr. Bennett and his friends from their perilous situation and extricated the horses and victoria.

The affair caused great excitement, but

Mr. R. and his friends came away smiling and singing "Comrades, comrades, ever since we were boys."
