FARM VALUES ALMOST DOUBLED

Census Bureau Gives Figures For Past Ten Years

The increase in the value of all farm property during the last decade was $24,782,333, or 90.1 per cent. The Census Bureau announced today that the value of farm property in 1910 was $27,211,400, and in 1920 it was $51,993,733.

The value of farm land alone in the United States in 1920 was $24,782,333, an increase of $24,777,778, or 92.8 per cent. over the value in 1910. Farm buildings were valued at $11,430,000, an increase of $5,105,404, or 80.7 per cent. The value of farm implements and machinery in 1920 was $5,595,317, an increase of $2,300,167, or 69.2 per cent. over 1910. This large increase is due in part to the fact that prices of farm implements and machinery were unusually high at the beginning of 1920.

The value of live stock on farms in 1920 was $7,396,362, an increase of $3,071,888, or 62.4 per cent. since 1910.

Four States reported farm property valued at more than $4,000,000,000, in 1920, as follows: Iowa, $8,322,270,956; Illinois, $6,686,817,235; Texas, $4,461,979,297; Nebraska, $4,138,225,242.

Cost of Living Less Than Last Year

"Many people are still talking about the 10 cent dollar as though it still existed," said Mr. Wm. R. Spiva, cashier of the Bank of Somerset, commenting on business conditions in general. "The great majority do not yet realize how much prices have declined."

"For the past year the average consumer has felt that he was not only helping himself but the public as a whole, by cutting down his purchases to the lowest possible point. As a matter of fact, many things are now down to the bottom level and can be bought to advantage."

"The average cost of living in the United States, as shown by the Department of Labor, is 13% less than at this time last year. Foods have dropped 33% and clothing 34%."

"People who send away for merchandise to mail-order houses in the hopes of getting lower prices than are charged for similar goods by the merchants here in Princess Anne are making two mistakes."

"First, they are getting exactly what they pay for; if they pay less, they cannot expect to get the same quality as they would get from local merchants at higher prices. Second, they are not loyal to their home town because the money sent away is never seen in this town again."

"It is only by buying at home and banking at home that you can promote the interests of your own community."

Gave A Birthday Picnic

The relatives of Mrs. G. A. Bounds gave a picnic at Mt. Vernon wharf on Monday of last week in honor of her 73rd birthday. Ethel Clayton In "Sins of Rosanne"

Ethel Clayton plays a sort of feminine Jekyll and Hyde in her latest Paramount photoplay, "Sins of Rosanne," which will be presented at the Auditorium next Thursday night. The picture is a mystery-romance, with the bulk of the action laid in South Africa, and was adapted from Cynthia Stockley's popular novel.

The heroine is an English girl who was mothered for two years by a Malay woman and was imbued by her with a passionate desire for bright stones and the strange power to cause injury to those whom she might hate. When she sees jewels, she comes under the influence of her craving and will not stop at anything, even theft, to obtain them. When the lure is taken away, she becomes again a gentle, lovely personality. A beautiful romance develops, according to the story, and destroys the spell.

An excellent cast supports the pretty star in "Sins of Rosanne." Jack Holt is the leading man, and Fontaine La Rue, Mabel Van Buren, Fred Malatesta, Grace Morse, C. E. Geldart, Dorothy Messenger, James Smith and Guy Oliver are in the company.

Thomas H. Ward Found Dead

Mr. Thomas H. Ward, a well-known farmer of Lawson's district, adjoining Crisfield, and for many years an oyster inspector under the Maryland Conservation Commission, was found dead in bed at his home Monday morning of last week. Death had resulted from a heart attack while Mr. Ward and the members of his household slept.

Mr. Ward was 69 years old. He owned a fine farm between Hopewell and Marion, a short distance below Handy's woods, where he resided and carried on agricultural pursuits. He was an ardent Democrat, always taking an active interest in the affairs of his party.

The deceased is survived by a widow and two children; also one sister, Mrs. O. L. Tawes, of Crisfield, and two brothers, George Ward, of Annapolis, and R. Van Ward, of Crisfield. Funeral services were held from St. Peter's Church, of which he was a member, on Wednesday afternoon, and interment was in the cemetery adjoining.

Soldier's Body Brought Home

The remains of Shelby Dashiell, son of Mr. Joseph C. Dashiell, of Mt. Vernon, arrived in Princess Anne last Friday night from Hoboken, New Jersey, accompanied by Private Arnold Terry, Company K, 16th Infantry. The body was taken in charge by Mr. Dale Dashiell and conveyed to the home of the soldier's father.

Private Dashiell was 28 years old and was a volunteer member of Company D, 313th Infantry, of Baltimore. He was killed in action on October 4th, 1918.

Funeral services were held in Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Mt. Vernon, last Sunday morning. Interment was in the church cemetery.

PLAN CHANGES IN STATE LAWS

The Program Requires Constitutional Amendments And New Code

Maryland's Constitution will have to be amended several times and the code of laws governing administration will have to be rewritten in order to put in effect the changes already approved by the special committee of the Reorganization Commission.

This became apparent last Wednesday when Governor Ritchie and the special committee tolled all through the afternoon and far into the night to get about one-fourth of the way through the departments contemplated by the tentative reorganization plan.

The executive and financial departments occupied the attention of the reorganizers throughout the afternoon. The radical changes proposed by the subcommittee, it was stated, would result in lessening the cost of administration in these two departments a total of $26,600.

The principal proposals in the executive department include the extension of the duties of the Secretary of State, with an increase of salary; the abolition of the offices of Commissioner of the Land Office and State Librarian, both created by the Constitution, and their functions transferred to the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State to handle such detail work now handled by the Governor, in order that the Chief Executive may be quite free to deal with matters of public policy.

The Advisory Board of Pardon should be continued, the committee decided, with only one commissioner instead of three and with fewer parole officers.

The committee decided that no changes were advisable in the office of Superintendent of Public Buildings or the Commissioners for Uniform State Laws, except that the latter body, which now reports to the Legislature, should be required to report to the Governor also. A similar suggestion is made with reference to the Department of Legislative Reference, which is supported jointly by the city of Baltimore and the State.

Dr. Timmons Kills Himself

Dr. A. J. Timmons, a Crisfield dentist, committed suicide Monday evening of last week by cutting his throat with a razor in his office. It was known by intimate friends of the doctor that he had been suffering from melancholy for the last few days and had remarked that he had not attended church on Sunday because he contemplated suicide on that day. It is believed he was temporarily insane, as his actions and statements on the day he took his life were considered unusual.

Mayor E. P. Wyatt visited with the doctor Monday afternoon until 3.30 o'clock, when he left the office to attend some business. A short time later he returned with Dr. Timmons' brother, who had gone there from Berlin upon learning of the doctor's state of mind. It was then the dead man was found near a basin over which he held his throat when slashed.

Dr. Timmons went to Crisfield about five years ago, a widower, with one son, and has since been actively engaged in his profession.

Primaries To Be Held September 8th

Somerset county has probably never, at a period less than six weeks of primary election day, witnessed such a state of political apathy and indifference among the masses of the people as exists at the present time. So far as we have been able to learn there is no political activity in any section of the county. Only one certificate of candidacy has been filed with the Board of Supervisors of Election, that of Mr. Charles C. Byrd, who has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of sheriff.

The chairman of the central committees of the Democratic and Republican parties of the State have fixed upon Thursday, September 8th, as the date for primaries throughout the State, and this means that candidates for county offices have only a little more than two weeks in which to file certificates as candidates for such offices.

Boys' Club Winners On A Trip

The winners of the club contest left yesterday (Monday) to attend the State Boys' Club week at the University of Maryland. The winners from Somerset county who are enjoying the trip are: Maurice Payne; W. C. Liebrand, Weldon Nelson and Granville Brittingham.

The winners will have their expenses paid from a scholarship fund of $100 donated by the Wm. B. Tilghman Company, of Salisbury.

Club Week will include talks, demonstrations, games and a trip to points of interest in Washington. It is an annual event which the boys of the agricultural clubs in Maryland are eligible to attend.

TAIT WILL RETAIN OLD FORCE

Successor To Joshua W. Miles Takes Collector's Office

Galen L. Tait, Republican State Central Committee chairman, announced Monday morning of last week immediately after being sworn in as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore district, that he will make no changes for the present among the 60 field agents of the department unprotected by civil service.

Mr. Tait's first official action was to issue new commissions to these agents, but all were temporary commissions, revocable at the pleasure of the Collector. It is understood Mr. Tait already has a number of applications from Republicans for these places.

Charles L. Wiegand, chief in the office of the Federal Steamboat Inspector, active Republican and secretary of the Baltimore Federation of Labor, was sworn in as Mr. Tait's chief deputy.

Collector Joshua W. Miles, Mr. Tait's Democratic predecessor, and Lewis Milbourne, who was Mr. Miles' chief deputy during the last seven years, met Mr. Tait at the Custom House at 8.30 Monday morning. George W. Rhein, notary public, and formerly deputy collector in the office, administered the oaths of office to Mr. Tait and Mr. Wiegand. Mr. Miles was the first to offer congratulations to the new officials.

On the desks of Mr. Tait and Mr. Wiegand were numerous baskets of flowers from friends and organizations. The employees of the office all were present at the inauguration of the new officials, and to them Mr. Tait made a brief address.

Joshua W. Miles and former State Senator Lewis M. Milbourne, who served as Collector and Deputy Collector during the eight years of the Wilson administration, administered the affairs of the office during the time when it was expanding greatly.

The income tax, Federal corporation tax, luxury taxes, amusement taxes and numerous other Federal taxes which followed in the wake of the declaration of war greatly increased the work of the office. The brunt of this fell on Mr. Milbourne, who, with Mr. Miles, is generally regarded as having handled it in a most creditable manner. Their forced retirement is regretted.

Farmers Asked For Contributions

Maryland farmers are asked for direct contributions of wheat and corn for relief of the famine stricken peoples of southeastern Europe and plans are being made for the organization of local agencies for collecting and forwarding Maryland grain, similar to the gift-corn projects successfully conducted throughout the west.

The plight of the people of southern Europe and the imperative necessity for additional supplies to care for the refugees in the territory where the Greeks and Turks are fighting, has been brought to the attention of D. H. Harry, president of the Maryland Agricultural Society, and Dr. F. B. Bomberger, acting director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, who in turn have presented the facts to the various county organizations, urging such response as the farmers feel capable of making.

The campaign has been set for the weeks from August 1st to 15th. Flour, wheat and corn of last season's crop will make particularly acceptable contributions, it is announced, but farmers who do not have a supply of corn from last season's crop may contribute later from this year's production. The Maryland headquarters of the Near East Relief will provide transportation from central points in each county.

This Was Some Shark

Fishermen of the Walker Fish Company, of Willis Wharf, Va., caught what is believed to have been the largest shark ever seen on the Eastern Shore. The monster fish measured 10 feet 6 inches in circumference; the distance across its jaws, which increased six rows of vicious looking teeth, being 24 inches, its weight being 1200 pounds. Upon being dissected the shark was found to contain among other things several smaller sharks and a large sea turtle. The skin of the monster, which apparently served as a protecting armor plate, was more than half an inch thick, being of dark lead color, having a rough surface, sufficiently sharp to lacerate the hands of the 20-odd fishermen who participated in its capture.

The Peacock Fund In Bank

The subscribers to the Peacock fund will be interested to know that the funds will be deposited in the Bank of Somerset—Rev. W. F. Dawson, agent. It is hoped to have the money in hand by August 15th. The response to this worthy cause reflects great credit upon the generosity of the town and county.

State Board Of Health Running Show

The State Board of Health is organizing a travelling show to teach health education in the rural districts of Maryland. A motorized "show" of several tons of material is now being assembled, while its "bookings" for exhibitions at practically all county fairs are being arranged.

The production includes movies, which will show the evils and the toll of disease prevention. In addition, the exhibit will include live disease germs, which will be displayed under microscopes.

The first appearance of the show will be made at Cambridge today, August 2d. The exhibit will be under the direction of Dr. J. Daxie Donovan. Tuberculosis, its causes and methods of prevention and cure, will be discussed in lectures by Dr. R. E. Barnes, while social hygiene will be discussed by Dr. Allen J. Wednesday the Princess Anne club journeyed to Nanticoke where a ragged game was played which resulted in Princess Anne being defeated by a score of 6 to 5.

The game at Princess Anne last Friday afternoon between Princess Anne and Salisbury was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain, neither side being able to score. This was the third game played between these teams. Princess Anne won the first game by a score of 4 to 1 in seven innings. The second game was called on account of darkness at the end of the twelfth inning with a score of 5 to 5. The largest crowd on the local diamond this season was present to witness Friday's game. The battery for Princess Anne was Hummer and Jones, and for Salisbury Rothrock and Jackson. Both pitchers were in excellent form, allowing only one hit each. The feature of the game was the snappy throw of W. Bounds for Princess Anne from left field, cutting runner off at home plate.

In a stubbornly fought contest here last Saturday afternoon Princess Anne defeated Laurel, Del., by a score of 5 to 4. The features of the game were home runs by J. Bounds and Sharpley, and Sharpley's quick, sure fielding at third. Porter's snappy fielding at short cut off hits. Ringgold relieved Bradford after the fourth. He was in wonderful form allowing only one hit.

COURT SETS VALUE ON TREES

Decision That Will Be of Interest to Many Communities Throughout the Country.

In Salem, Mass., a resident sued the town gas light company for damages caused by the killing of five shade trees through the escape of gas from a leaky main. A verdict for $1,000 against the company was rendered—$300 a tree. The decision is said to have been awaited with a good deal of interest by surrounding towns, for tree killing from this cause is a common thing. It has happened many times in Indianapolis, according to report, though complaints have not been heard lately with the frequency that characterized them back in the days when natural gas was piped through the streets, hastily and no doubt often carelessly.

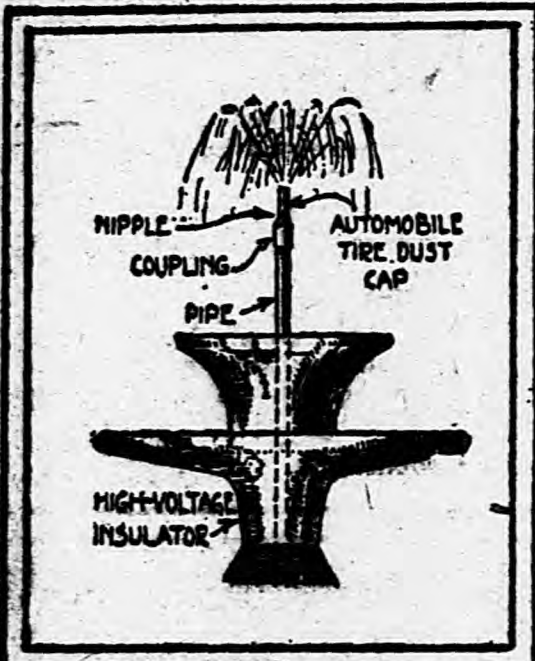

The killing of a thrifty, well-grown shade tree is usually a distinct loss to any property, commonly lowering its value. In view of the time required for the growth of such trees $200 is a moderate sum in the way of damages, and no amount of money, when it comes to that, can really recompense the owner of the trees. They have to him, especially if he planted and cared for them, a sentimental value that dollars cannot measure. They have added beauty to his home and he has counted them among his treasures. To a real tree lover, a beautiful tree, whether his own or not, seems almost to possess a personality of its own and to see it struggle for life and gradually die, brings real sorrow. It is to view a calamity.—Indianapolis Star.

Advancement Everywhere.

The national agencies engaged in rural social work are reported as beginning to co-operate in their programs. The rural church is grappling with its peculiar problem in a dynamic manner. The rural home is being reconstructed in a new and encouraging way as a center of all social organization. Rural government and legislation are undergoing a far-reaching change. Country communities are thinking about country planning and art as integral parts of community life. Road building in country districts is proceeding with unprecedented rapidity, and the country life movement is on the verge of an international understanding.—Exchange.

Untactful.

Brown was the possessor of very large feet and a very bad cough. He entered a boot shop and the young assistant turned the shop upside down to find something to fit him. Brown had just tried on the fortieth pair when he started coughing.

"Nasty cough," said the assistant. "Yes," gasped Brown. "Doctor says I've got one foot in the grave."

"I shouldn't worry," said the assistant. "You'll never get the other in; it's too big!"

Solved.

Uncle Hi had just passed his first night in a hotel and was still curious. "Son," he inquired of a bellhop, "what's that funny contraption out the window?"

"That's the fire escape," replied the youth.

The Family Tree.

Seven-year-old Mary Jane has an aunt, who is a schoolteacher and who is also very self-willed. At Mary Jane's home whenever the little girl displays any evidence of stubbornness, her parents straightway call her Aunt Mary.

One day she was over to auntie's and with her was discussing her future occupation. "You'll probably be a schoolteacher like me," auntie said. "Oh, I suppose I had better be one," the youngster agreed. "If I wasn't one whom would they say my little niece take after when they get stubborn and want their own way?"

Bird Sewe Leaves With Silk.

The winter is a good time to find birds' nests, as the hedges are leafless, and nests may be found in places which have been carefully searched in vain in summer. The kingfisher's nest is a wonderful thing, being composed of fishbones. It is possible that these bones are the remains of feasts, the bird going to the same hole year after year when nesting. Still more wonderful is the craftsmanship of the nelsy tailor birds of India, which with their bills thread leaves together with the silk of caterpillar cocoons.

The Air We Breathe.

A cubic foot of air weighs about one and three-tenths ounces. Thus it is reckoned that a single human individual breathes in 12 months six and one-fifth tons of air. To keep him alive for three score and ten years will require 480 tons of air. The population of the United States breathes annually 658,000,000 tons of air. The requirement for the entire population of the world is in the neighborhood of 10,500,000 tons.

"Gone to the Dogs."

The ancient Romans called the ace in dice "canis," the Latin word for dog. To them three aces was to lose the pot in their gaming, whence came the saying "gone to the dogs" as a synonym for ruin or bad luck. The expression "dirty dog" means one morally filthy; one defiled with mere skin dirt is called a "dirty pig." Our literature is sprinkled with reference to the dog, many of them highly complimentary.

Birds in the Dark.

Not a few birds practically rear their nestlings in the dark, says the American Forestry Magazine. Well known examples of this are seen in sand-martins and kingfishers—birds that dig, or scrape out, long burrows in banks, and lay their eggs at the farther end of them.

REDS LOOK TO SOUTH AMERICA

Bolshevik Leaders See Final Haven of Refuge in Our Neighboring Continent.

SAY LENIN IS WEAKENING

Intercepted Correspondence of Communist Officials Shows That Many Octobrists Are Sending Their Families Aboard.

Reval, Esthonia.—According to recently intercepted correspondence from communist officials in Moscow to communist agents abroad, advising them of the "inside situation" in Russia, South America is looked on as a final haven of refuge by many of the less hopeful Bolshevik leaders in event Russia becomes too hot for them.

One of these letters, recently published in a Reval newspaper, the Poslednie Novosti, advises one of the official's friends, who now is apparently in Germany, to "convert your valuables into dollars as frequently as you can, or, better still, into South American currency."

Says Lenin Is Weakening.

"The Octobrists," the letter adds, meaning by them those communists who participated in the October (1917) revolution, "are frequently sending their families abroad. Soon, it may be, I shall send my wife across to you, in which case try to put her up as best you can."

Referring to the political situation, this communist wrote: "Ilitch (meaning Lenin, that being his middle name by which he is popularly known in Russia) is weakening. Zinovieff has grown too fat. Trotsky alone remains as of old the unrecognized Napoleon, but he is 'evolutionizing' also."

In connection with the sending abroad of the families of the Octobrists, this letter goes on:

"Will you kindly keep a detailed account of their arrivals and of their means? Further, by a decision of the military department of the party, I want you to withdraw from the banks all the deposits at your disposal and put them in safe hands."

Bring It to Switzerland.

"Bring to Switzerland a third of the 'iron fund' and hand it to B—. The rest can be left in Germany for any eventualities."

The writer constantly refers to the ruling councils of the Bolsheviks as "the Olympians," and remarks that "our Olympians are going the pace too fast."

"From January," he says, "the situation in the council of the party and in the central committee has come to a point to the last degree. The result of these conflicts was the expulsion of Comrades Krylenko, Bontch-Bourouietch, Dubov, Blumenthal and many others. This was the last gesture of the gay party gods. For a word said against Ilitch, Krestinsky or Zinovieff, even not in public, ostracism is imminent."

WILL MARRY HER STEPFATHER

Man's Promise to Care for Wife's Daughter Led to Interesting Romance.

New York.—A vow at her mother's deathbed led to the unusual romance that will culminate in the marriage of Miss Isabel Gordon to her stepfather, Alexander Taylor, at their home in Richmond Hill, L. I. Miss Gordon is twenty-one years old and her fiancé-stepfather is thirty-five.

Ten years ago Taylor married Mrs. Grace Gordon, a widow. Although only a child, Isabel refused to look upon Taylor as her father. She always called him by his first name, and it was not until after her mother's death that she called him "dad."

Her mother's dying request was that Taylor should always take care of Isabel and never become separated from her as long as he lived. This he promised. In their bereavement the couple sought solace in each other's company, and soon they became warmly attached to each other.

Together they sought counsel of Miss Gordon's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, who occupies the adjoining cottage. Mrs. Wheeler readily approved the wedding.

RACING FRAUD IN GERMANY

Promoters Fix Things So No One Else Gets Any of the Money.

Berlin.—Horse races in Germany generally were honest affairs before the war, but scandals are the rule nowadays. Typical of the rest were the recent Carlshorst races, under the auspices of the Strausberg Racing society, which so arranged matters as to keep not only all the purses but also the amounts of the totalization and registration fees.

Four horses ran in the so-called Fredersdorf race. When the jockeys had galloped over more than three-quarters of the distance they began trotting, so that the first horse arrived at the starting point seven and a half minutes after the agreed maximum time.

According to the rules no purse was paid and the money placed on the horses and the registration fees went to the treasury of the Strausberg Racing society.

Octopus Seizes Boy, Who Is Saved by Sister

Eureka, Cal.—Word reached here that a 16-foot octopus was killed at Samoa, Humboldt county, after it had seized in its tentacles eight-year-old George Peterson, son of a Eureka tug captain. The octopus lashed out with the other tentacles and wrenched an ear from the hands of a sister, who was trying to rescue the lad. With another ear she stunned the animal, which loosened its hold on the boy and crawled to nearby rocks, where it was beaten to death.

WALES GETS FEUDAL GIFTS

Ceremonies 600 Years Old Are Revived on Visit of Prince to Cornwall.

Launceston, Cornwall, England.—Picturesque feudal ceremonies of 600 years ago were revived here when the prince of Wales, who is also duke of Cornwall, paid a visit to the old-time capital of his duchy. Launceston has been a royal borough since about 1086.

The ceremonies included the presentation of rent and "offerings of fealty" in kind, according to ancient custom. The mayor presented to the prince 100 shillings and one pound of pepper on a silver dish.

To Sir Hugh Molesworth St. Aubyn fell the duty to offer a brace of greyhounds. According to ancient usage, they should be pure white, but the nearest obtainable approach was a well-matched piebald couple.

Another ducal tenant tendered a pair of gilt spurs, and others presented a pound of cumin, a salmon spear, a faggot of wood, a pair of white gloves and a rose.

Strangest of all these curious terms of tenure is one requiring the representatives of the manor of Swannacot and St. Mary Week to present themselves at the ducal court clad in mantles of goatskins. The present-day incumbent, Bethuel Hutchings, stoically endured this attire over the ordinary clothes on a broiling hot day. His appearance suggested a blend of a modern country tourist and Robinson Crusoe.

The prince, much amused at the variety of gifts, solemnly "confirmed" all the loyal tenants in their holdings.

BUG MURDERS POTATO BUG

Illinois Man Believes He Has Made a Discovery of Immense Value.

Chicago.—John Laux of Waukegan believes he has solved the problem of eradicating the potato bug.

A year ago he saw a strange kind of bug engaged in a battle royal with a potato bug. After the mortal combat had ended fatally for the potato bug, which had been stung on the head, Laux gathered up the mystery bug. He searched for several days until he found another bug of the same shape but of a different color. One bug had a black shell with white stripes around the edges and on its back a letter "Y." The other bug was black, with deep red "trimmings" on its back in the shape of a triangle.

Laux put the bugs in a box in the cellar. They raised a family of ten during the winter.

When the potato bugs made their appearance in his garden a few days ago he released his mystery bug family. The battle for supremacy raged for three days. Every potato bug was killed.

Laux has sent a pair of his bugs to the United States Department of Agriculture, together with a history of his discovery. He has visions of a government hatchery to raise these enemies of the potato bug.

FIREMEN'S HOSE ROUTS DOG

Children's House Burns When Pet Hails Squad of Fire Fighters at Gate.

Philadelphia.—The four children of H. M. McGarry implored firemen to save their toys when flames broke out in a one-story playhouse built on the rear lawn of their home.

When the engines arrived the rush of the firemen was met by a bulldog, which could not be made to understand that the firefighters were not intruders bent on mischief. He growled and snapped until a fireman turned a stream of water on him and rolled him over and over.

Then the dog decided discretion was the better part of valor and got out of the way of the spurting hose, letting the firemen attack the flames.

The fire was put out in a few minutes, but not before it had spoiled treasured playthings and spoiled the little building for "playing house" for many days to come.

Moose Ditches Automobiles.

Easton, Me.—An encounter with a moose which ditched the automobile in which they were riding was related by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chase of this town. They said they were riding in their automobile near Murray Foster's farm when the moose, a large animal, sprang from the woods with its head down. The automobile was stuck with such force that it was thrown into a ditch. It was not overturned, however, and Chase and his wife were unhurt.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 2, 1921

While there is some danger in riding in automobiles the people who stay at home frequently fall out of hammocks.

No difficulty is anticipated in getting volunteers to demonstrate that 2.75 per cent. beer is not intoxicating.

Being told that they must make a better showing, the dear girls go home and slash two or three inches off their skirts.

It is hoped that some of the diplomats will carry their guns in their pockets when they attend the government conference.

If some people would only use judgment in selecting a wife as they do in buying an automobile the divorce courts would have less to do.

Many people are being drowned while bathing. They evidently made a great mistake in going into the water before knowing how to swim.

While it usually takes two fools to make an automobile accident, there are enough of them on the road so that they frequently get together.

The popular method of saving public money is for the politicians to juggle the deficit over so that the next administration has to pay for it.

Lots of seized liquor is piling up at the United States customs service stations and plenty of people will agree to dispose of it, if it is in the way.

Now that oil has been struck in Alaska, our government will probably feel that the people of that forsaken territory are entitled to better treatment.

A lot of people who can't stand to have their corns stepped on, will howl down a prize ring bruiser who quits after being pummeled for eight or ten rounds.

The loafers at the village hangouts don't do much work, but anyway they claim they are giving the country the benefit of their massive brains on pending problems.

Political harmony is the ideal toward which the politicians are always working, but when it exists it usually means merely that the boys have agreed on the division of the swag.

WASTE IN THE SHIPPING BUSINESS

Our people groan almost daily over their high taxes and it will not make them feel happier when Chairman Lasker of the United States Shipping Board declares that the loss in operating the shipping fleet of the United States last year amounted to $220,000,000.

The modern farmer who has a cow that does not give milk enough to pay for her feed, learns how to spot her from his charts and she is soon converted into beef. The fact that the animal would not bring much in cash would not deter him long from getting rid of the unprofitable creature.

The government will have to look at its shipping investments in the same way. If the thing cannot be operated on a paying basis, the ships must be sold for what they are worth in the market. At the rate of operating loss, it would not pay to wait long for higher prices.

THE SPIRIT OF HOSPITALITY

Old-fashioned hospitality has somewhat declined in these days, but in many places it is still observed and sometimes in a very public spirited way.

Hospitality as a matter of community building, is being illustrated in San Francisco this year where the Chamber of Commerce has asked 10,000 citizens to offer their services for three half days each year in entertaining visitors, to take them around the place by automobile and entertain them at luncheons. This year's visitors to "Frisco" are going to come away with an enthusiastic admiration for a town where such a fine spirit of hospitality prevails.

Many people formerly used to keep open house for guests. They not merely entertained intimate friends but they would take in visitors who came to public gatherings and entertain business friends. Business men would bring their out-of-town customers home with them. The women folks entertained in a simple way and did not fuss with elaborations. Both hosts and visitors enjoyed the hospitality, warm friendships were created and business relations grew more cordial. Wherever this spirit prevailed the reputation of these hospitable people and communities was spread broadcast.

Today people have to do things with so much style and elaboration that it seems a burden to entertain either personal or business friends. Of course many women who formerly had help are without servants and cannot entertain as they used to. Still such a scheme as that which the San Francisco people are working could be carried out in a simple way anywhere.

DOG DAYS

These are the days when the hardships of heat and humidity are cheered by the fact that misery has plenty of company. Take Monday. In Baltimore the mercury ran up to 90, but in Washington and Philadelphia it was 92 and in Boston it was 94, while New York complained of unusual discomfort because of the humidity, although the heat was only 88. It is a time when Canada has been sweating in the 90's, while the highest in the far-down Southern cities was 84. The world and the weather are both topsy-turvy.

Inevitably there is sweating under the big glass roof of the House of Representatives and we find so faithful a patriot as Representative Mann of Illinois asking for a dog-day recess and a release from the toils and broils of Washington. Mr. Mann began the legislative day in ill humor. "The gentleman is in a critical mood this morning," said Mr. Mondell. "It is the dog days," replied Mr. Mann, "and it's going to be dog days a long while," and he added, "we are killing time and wasting the time of the House and the country, trying to fool the people, and they know it. We pretend to be doing business when we are not. We are wasting time instead of having courage enough to quit awhile and go home." In other years Mr. Mann was the Republican floor leader—he knows.

That's the trouble with the dog-day habit. We keep dawdling along half doing things without the courage to rest up a bit and get a fresh hold and go it again. And yet, what is the answer? The machine must move. Life cannot stop. With debts piled mountain high on the whole human race, men must earn bread by the sweat of their brow, and their task is all the harder because a worried Congress is slow in rearranging and redistributing the load. Dog days or no dog days, the work must be done.—Baltimore News.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mr. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo. relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

The Tax Test of Business

According to the Nation's Business, taxes as indications of the volume of business may have their fallacies, but are not the less interesting.

Figures now available show that in the current year the Government is collecting more than last year from taxes on freight charges; the tax has remained the same, the volume of freight has fallen off, but the freight rates have gone up, to the advantage of the public exchequer. The tax upon decedents' estates has yielded 50 per cent. more than in the earlier year, not because more Americans are dying, but for the reason that the full yield of such a tax is not at once reflected in the Treasury's receipts. The Panama Canal had the biggest year in its history, and produced over $12,000,000 in tolls. The tax on admission to theatres and other entertainments has produced approximately 25 per cent. more than last year. On the face of the tax returns, outdoor life is regaining its feet, after the effects of war. At any rate, the taxes on sporting goods, yachts, cameras and films show larger figures than in 1919-20, sporting goods alone accounting for a $1,000,000 increase. Chewing gum keeps pace with the articles of outdoor life. On the other hand, there must be an increased inclination for comfort indoors, for the tax on electric fans will produce $180,000, extra in the last twelve months and the tax on toilet soap, etc., will turn in over $200,000 extra.

Order of Publication

Elizabeth Woods vs. Edward Woods.

No. 3486 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, Maryland, in Equity.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff a vinculo matrimonii from the defendant.

The bill states that the plaintiff and defendant were married on the 30th day of June, 1916, and resided together in Philadelphia, Pa., and near Princess Anne, in Somerset county, Maryland, until the 13th day of June, 1918; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards the defendant has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said defendant without any just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterrupted for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the said plaintiff and defendant have two children born to them from said marriage, both daughters, viz: Mary Elizabeth Woods, aged four years, and Francis Woods, aged three years, both residing with their mother in said Somerset county, Maryland, and that the said defendant, Edward Woods, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore, this 6th day of July, 1921, ordered by the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Somerset county, Maryland, on the 10th day of August next, give notice to said non-resident defendant of the object and substance of the bill, warning him to appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 25th day of August next, to show cause, if he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

THE LURE OF THE SODA FOUNTAIN

Sage and sober-minded people, who, from an outlook of reasoned philosophy view all the affairs of life with calm detachment, can not quite understand the rush of the sweet seeking crowd to the summer soda fountain. They see all these folks, largely the younger element, crowding up to the marble rail or swashing down the saccharine stuff about the round tables. They look at it as one of the minor examples of human folly, damaging digestion and squandering a great aggregate of money.

Yet human nature craves some outlet. If it can be satisfied with the sweet delights of the soda fountain and ice cream joint, it has escaped far worse perils. Millions of people who swelter under a scorching climate, get relief from their feelings by cooling concoctions and feel a lot more cheerful through the hot weather. So the soda fountain will have to be considered a legitimate American institution, also one that performs a very useful service in diverting a lot of people from the pursuit of hootch.

Hunger, The Best Sauce

Sauce is used to create an appetite or relish for the food. The right way is to look to your digestion. When you have good digestion you are certain to relish your food. Chamberlain's Tablets improve the digestion, create a healthy appetite and cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

Creston Beauchamp appeared for the prosecution. The shooting occurred at the farm of Mr. Edward B. Lankford, in Dublin district, and was caused by a dispute over $3.

County Free From Hog Cholera

The farmers of Somerset county will be pleased to know that there has not been reported to the county agent a single case of hog cholera in the county.

There were one or two suspected cases of cholera reported several weeks ago but the disease was confined to the farm where it first appeared. The prevention of outbreaks of cholera is attributed to the fact that the farmers understand the control of the disease.

Outbreaks of cholera can be prevented if the farmers will report all cases of sick hogs at once to County Agent C. Z. Keller who will obtain the services of a government veterinarian to make investigation and hold post mortem examinations to determine cases of diseased animals.

If cholera appears in a community the farmers are warned not to visit their neighbors having sick hogs and are advised to have their hogs inoculated at once by the community vaccinator. There are over 50 farmers who are acting as community vaccinators in various sections of the county.

Uncle Sam's Finances

One billion dollars was the amount by which the government's revenues in the twelve months closed with June fell short of the revenues of the year that had ended on June 30, 1920, according to The Nation's Business. Customs receipts fell off by a matter of $24,000,000. The receipts from sales of surplus war property, public lands and all of the odds and ends that make up the item of miscellaneous revenue decreased by $250,000,000. The productivity of the various excise taxes declined by $50,000,000. But the great fall was in the yield of taxes on incomes and profits; they dropped by $788,000,000. That would have been three-quarters of the amount necessary to pay the interest on the entire national debt.

Within a total income from revenues of $5,524,000,000 in the year which has just closed, the Government managed to keep with a margin of $509,000,000. The big end of the expenditures was for governmental expenses, as they are ordinarily understood, $4,009,000,000 going for this purpose. The interest bill on the public debt took $999,000,000 more.

Of the margin of income over expenditure, almost an even $100,000,000 went to retire bonds of the Liberty loans, about $130,000,000 were paid back on war savings securities, and a good sum was used to retire Victory notes.

Asks Aid For State Schools

The school situation in Queen Anne's, Somerset and Garrett counties has given the officials of the State Board of Education concern and has caused them to give a new slant to the campaign for the improvement of the schools. In all three of these counties there has been trouble about the taxes levied for schools. In Queen Anne's the school authorities refused to levy money sufficient to keep the schools open for 180 days, as required by law; in Somerset they refused to employ a school supervisor, and the Garrett authorities have not levied enough for current expenses of the schools.

In view of the situation, the State school authorities have decided not to ask for any increase in the State tax rate for the support of schools. They have been insisting that the schools ought to have at least $1,250,000 to carry out a reasonable program and to keep the schools from going back. Part of this money, it was expected, would be raised by direct taxation. It will be insisted that $1,250,000 is needed and ought to be produced, but it will ask that this money be provided not by increasing the tax rate but from the indirect revenues of the State.

State Superintendent of Education Albert S. Cook said last Thursday that most of the other expenses of the State were provided for out of the State's indirect revenues and there was no reason why the schools should not be provided for in this way.

"Even if something else has to be cut down," he said, "the money ought to be found for the schools. I believe it can be found. We feel that we have asked for the minimum that is needed to carry out only a reasonable program of improvement and we stand pat on that. But we believe there is no need of increasing the State tax rate in order to raise the money. We feel, too, that the counties ought to carry out the program required by law until they can get the relief which the State school program will provide."

Remits $26,513 To State

For the first six months of 1921 the State Tax Commission has collected and remitted to the Comptroller of the Treasury $26,513.70, constituting bonus tax collected from new corporations based on authorized capital stock and from increases in capital stock from existing corporations.

Recording fees collected and remitted for the same period amounted to $10,252. As compared with the same period in 1920 this is a decided drop and is some reflection of the financial and industrial condition. The bonus tax for the period last year was $42,156 and the recording fees $10,522.

The Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia in considering the telephone company's present schedule of rates, which expired on August 1st, 1921, have ruled that the present rates are to remain into effect for an extended period of seven months.

Maryland Telephone Statistics

A return of 5.6% on the value of the plant of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Maryland, for the first six months of the year, is shown in figures made public by that company last week.

Since January 1, telephone company officials said, the gross revenues in Maryland have been $3,744,000; expenses have been $3,226,000; leaving net revenues of $518,000, which is a return of 5.6% on the fair value of the property in Maryland, amounting to $18,500,000.

There are 137,772 telephones in the state, or 4,280 more than there were on January 1st. Maryland is, telephonically speaking, one of the best equipped communities in the world. It is expected that during the entire year 1921 the increase in telephones in Maryland will amount to 10,000.

To keep pace with growth and development throughout the state the telephone company's 1921 program entails building and extension work costing $3,000,000. Of this amount about one and one-quarter millions have already been expended and engineering plans for the remainder are now being completed, so that the work will be done before the end of the year.

THAT SATISFIED SMILE

It's Broadest at Harvest Time

Poets rhyme about the 'smiling country in the month of May.' But we'd rather see that same country at harvest time, when the smiles are on the faces of the farmers after their well-earned crops have come in.

It's the same in every business at 'harvest'—the time when a man gathers in the returns on his hard work.

Our patrons, using to the full our many facilities and personal service, reap better returns on their investments of time, work and money.

LEGION MEN LIKE HIS TYPE

State Adjutant of Minnesota Made Numerous Efforts Before Accepted for War Service.

Horace G. Whitmore began serving under Pershing early. He was holding down a pivot in the cadet battalion at the University of Nebraska in 1895 when the future general was a commandant there. Incidentally Mr. Whitmore and General Pershing formed a friendship on the campus which endures to the present day and which found expression after the armistice, when the C-in-C, inspecting the One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery in Germany, left a crowd of generals, walked over to a stubby little first sergeant, thrust out his hand and said:

"Whitmore, I am glad to see you." Whitmore was born in Dayton, O., in 1878; was brought up on a farm in Nebraska, and graduated from the state university there in 1895.

He was a contractor in Minneapolis in 1917, when he presented himself for admission to the first series of officers' training camps. He was rejected as being overweight. Back to the farm went Whitmore. In four weeks he took off 20 pounds and asked to be admitted to the second series of training camps, but the surgeon said: "Too fat to fight." Another examiner said: "Too old."

Whitmore went from recruiting office to recruiting office until he became a private in Battery B, One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery, Forty-second division. He went overseas with the outfit and served with it through the war, participating in every engagement in which the Rainbows took part.

When discharged he was induced to become state adjutant of the American Legion for Minnesota. He has done much for the development of the Legion in the Northwest. Mr. Whitmore recently resigned from that position to accept the directorship of a company formed for the manufacture of an automobile accessory device which he invented.

WAS BORN UNDER LUCKY STAR

Indianapolis Legion Man Sustained Twenty-Six Wounds During His Service in War.

Wounded 26 times and glad it wasn't 27, William N. Evans, Indianapolis, Ind., still believes he was born under a lucky star.

He walked into national headquarters of the American Legion the other day seeking "just any kind of work that will keep my mind occupied." He said he was an overseas veteran. "I'm still a bit weak," he explained. "I was wounded."

When pressed for details he owned up to 26 wounds in four major offensives. A job was made for him, clerical work that would "keep his mind occupied" but which would be consistent with 26 wounds.

Evans was a private in the Twenty-eighth infantry, First division. A machine gun got him at Cantigny; a bayonet came next at Soissons; he was struck by shrapnel in the St. Mihiel push and in the Argonne a one-pounder shell hit him a glancing blow on the chin before it exploded. When it went off almost under him 22 pieces of shrapnel peppered his body. He remained on the battlefield 36 hours before he was picked up.

"But I'm happy just the same," Evans says. "This job keeps me from being a loafer and pays just enough with my government compensation for me to get married. I guess I was born lucky."

Benefit Performance.

For some time the benign old gentleman sat watching the novice in his vain attempts to land a fish. Finally the angler was reduced to his last worm and still no catch.

"Cheer up, son," said the old gentleman. "They're biting well for you at any rate."

"No, they ain't," retorted the other aggrievedly. "They're bitin' for their own personal benefit, that's what they are."—American Legion Weekly.

"Son of a Gun." The phrase, "son of a gun," is sometimes explained as "Son of the Wine-pot or Flagon." There is a word "goan" which is a dialectal variety of "gawn"—gallon. Another view is that the expression was originally applied to boys born on board ship. One admiral said that he had been cradled under the breast of a gun-carriage. It occurs in this sense in Smyth's "Sailor's Word-Book" (1867). It is usually used in a deprecatory sense.

SAN MARINO REDS' REFUGE

Italian Communists Flee to Tiny Republic—Not Wanted by People.

Bologna, Italy.—Cities of refuge, parallels of the cities of refuge maintained in Moslem times, have been discovered in San Marino, the world's oldest republic, situated in the very heart of Italy. Hundreds of communists flee there to escape surveillance of the Italian police, and attacks of the fascists, or extreme nationalists.

In many cases, attired in the garb of priests, communists apply to the authorities of San Marino for protection and permission to live within the republic's jurisdiction. One communist was so overcome with fright that he asked to be confined in prison, so that he would be safe from any assault of the fascists.

The republic, on the other hand, does not welcome its new guests and has applied to the Italian government for an extra force of carabinieri to ferret out the communist refugees and take them back within the jurisdiction of Italy.

LEGION CHAPLAIN SETS PACE

Iowa Department Official, Elected Sheriff, With Aid of Buddies, Rounds Up Criminals.

When veterans of the World war in Des Moines, Ia., elected Rev. W. E. Robb, chaplain of the Iowa department of the American Legion, to the office of sheriff of Polk county, they disregarded party lines for the good of the community. The Legion chaplain ran far ahead of his opponent in the face of a landslide.

After he assumed his office, Sheriff Robb set a pace that woke up the county. He seized more illicit liquor and bootleggers in the first 60 days of his term than his predecessor obtained in two years. His 21 deputies were almost all members of the American Legion.

Then he turned his attention to an alleged graft ring composed of Des Moines police officials. He caused the demotion of the chief of police, his assistant and the chief of detectives.

Chaplain Robb was a theological student at Drake university in Des Moines when war was declared. In some manner he succeeded in obtaining a commission as a chaplain in the army before he was ordained and went overseas with the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth infantry. He served 18 months in France, was decorated with a D. S. C. for bravery under fire and was idolized by the doughboys of his regiment.

Upon his return he wrote and published "The Price of Our Heritage," a book depicting the prominent part in the World war taken by men of Iowa.

MANY NURSES BEING SOUGHT

Three Hundred Graduates Are Needed to Serve in New Hospitals for Veterans.

A nation-wide canvass to obtain three hundred graduate nurses to care for sick and wounded veterans of the World war is being made by Mrs. Mary A. Hickey, assistant superintendent of nurses, U. S. public health service, and a member of Springfield (Mass.) post of the American Legion.

"We are ready to open up two new hospitals for our wounded and disabled men at Chelsea, Mass., and Gulfport, Miss., as soon as we can recruit 300 nurses to take care of the boys," said Mrs. Hickey.

The record of Mrs. Hickey in the World war includes service as nurse with both the French and American armies. She was a member of Base Hospital unit No. 87 at Toul and later served as chief nurse at Fort McHenry, Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Hickey can be reached at the Polyclinic hospital, 345 West Fifty-fifth street, New York city, and will give full information upon request. Application blanks, however, for this service may be obtained from the chief nurse, Polyclinic hospital, or direct from the surgeon general, U. S. public health service, Washington, D. C.

FOLLOWED YANKS BACK HOME

Member of London Rifle Brigade Likes American Boys and Is Anxious to Be Citizen.

Tommy Atkins and the doughboy might have aired different views when London entertained a portion of the American Expeditionary Force, and there are few cases where Tommy followed the Yanks back home.

Baden Grindle of the London Rifle Brigade did, however. The Americans were his buddies up and down Piccadilly Circus and he swapped yarns and magazines with them in London hospitals. He grew homesick for them last summer and caught the next boat out of Liverpool.

Although he will not be eligible for membership in the American Legion until he becomes an American citizen, Grindle wanted to show the ex-service men's organization where he stood. While in hospital he passed away his idle moments in making a large replica of the American Legion emblem on a brass plate. A buddy lent him a Legion button as a model. He took the plate to national headquarters of the Legion recently as a token of friendship and asked if someone wouldn't have a law passed so he could become a citizen without further ado.

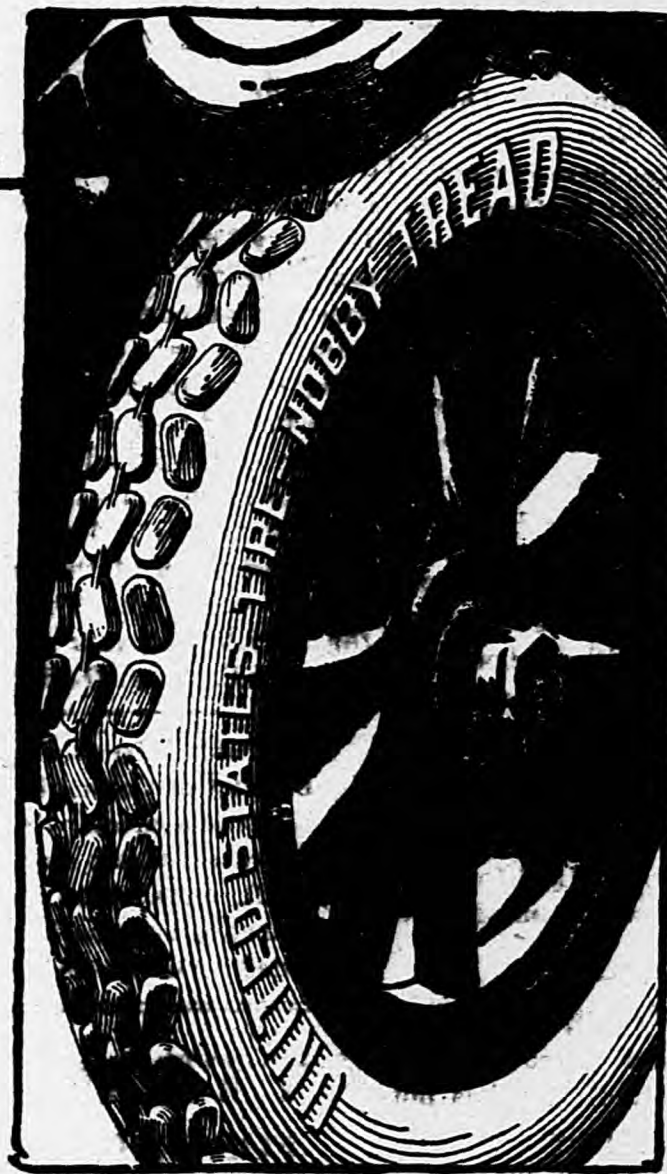

Grindle is now working in a photographic studio in Indianapolis, Ind., counting the days until he can become a full-fledged buddy.

Nipped in the Bud. A buddy stopped drinking Budweiser. His buddy said to him: "Bud, why, sir?" The first buddy said: "I've a much clearer head and feel certain I'm a bud wiser."—American Legion Weekly.

THE U. S. NOBBY TREAD

Where the going is specially heavy with snow, mud or sand, in hilly country where maximum traction on the road is a factor, no other tire tread yet devised is quite so effective, or so wholly approved by motoring opinion, as the U. S. Nobby Tread.

Its very simplicity—three rows of diagonal knobs, gripping the road—is the result of all the years of U. S. Rubber experience with every type of road the world over.

If every one listened to experience, how much they'd save

STOP and talk to the next man you see with U. S. Tires on his car. Ask him why.

Most likely you'll hear an interesting story about his tire experiences—before the answer was found. Money wasted. Promises unkept. Trouble on the road—humorous to every one except the man who went through it.

Finally U. S. Tires. And U. S. Tires ever since.

Perhaps it's the experience of U. S. Tire buyers that makes them more emphatic in their preference than ever this year.

When these men have tried most everything by the way of "staggering bargains", "hurrah discounts", "discontinued lines at less" and so forth they know what not to get.

They want a fresh, live tire. With a good reputation. That's everything it says it is. With the people behind it who back it up.

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Your local U. S. Dealer is drawing upon them continually to keep his stocks sized up, complete—to give you service. Whenever he gets one or a hundred tires from a U. S. Factory Branch, they are newly made this season's tires.

Sold to you at a net price. Full values. Square-dealing. A reputable maker. A reputable dealer. The whole transaction as befits the leadership of the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.

DAY IS SAVED BY GOLF BALL

Amateur Champion Sees His

Roundabout Drive.

MOUSE IS CAUSE OF IT ALL

Champ Hurts Ball at Flying Rodent,
Misses, Ball Rebounds, Hitting
Waiter, Who Drops Tray and That Ends Mouse.

Chicago.—Seated about a table at dinner in a loop restaurant recently, three Hammond residents carried on an animated conversation about golf. Earlier the talk had dealt with animals, artificial ice and Admiral Sims' speech, but had veered around due to a sincere effort on the part of two women present to please their male escort, Freddie Beckman, champion amateur golfer of Hammond.

Since this story deals particularly with Freddie, it must be understood he has several laudable characteristics and accomplishments. Beckman really is a good golfer. Back in civilization he is at a disadvantage because of his acute bashfulness, but this affliction is remedied for him in circumstances demanding instant action.

Beckman was very polite and nodded briskly whenever he was appealed to during the golf discussion, but signally failed to register enthusiasm.

Golf Ball to Rescue.

It was just after the conversation had swung back to animals that Beckman's moment came. His companion, Mrs. Mena Mayn and "L. M." had just finished their dessert when an uproar arose near the band.

A woman shrieked and another and a third. As one person, patrons of that entire end of the restaurant rose to their feet and mounted chairs.

"It's a mouse and coming this way," cried Mrs. Mayn to Freddie.

There was no question it was a second—just made for the amateur golf champ of Hammond. His hand stole into his coat pocket and brought out a golf ball. It was one he had made a hole in "1" with just the day before, and he was keeping it as a souvenir.

Balancing the ball in his hand, he gazed earnestly at the fleeing rodent, heaved straight for him. Then he swung his arm in a long underhand stroke and let the ball fly.

It flew across the ten feet of space between Freddie and the mouse with a swish. Perhaps the mouse moved a trifle or maybe the ball was not exactly round—at any rate, the shot missed by a hair.

Goes the Rodent.

A gasp went up, and ended in a shout of wild laughter, for the ball, striking the wall with a thump, rebounded back and fitted snugly in the exact middle of a round waiter's ass.

The waiter had remained to all appearances petrified after the first shock, following the discovery of the rodent, but at the advent of the golf ball he bounded up with a howl. A platter of food and drink in his hands fell to the floor and his moans rose louder as he saw the extent of the casualties.

As the platter fell, Beckman watched it with pop eyes, and then, at the last echo of the crash died away, he murmured to his companions: "By gosh, I got that mouse after all."

Yes, you have guessed it—the platter killed the mouse. Freddie's shot cost him $7.70 and a golf ball, however.

BOARDING HOUSE FOR BLIND

James Reilly and Wife Have Unique
Institution—Runs Without Rules and Harmony Reigns.

New York.—New York has a boarding-house that is without doubt the only kind not alone in America, but in the world.

It is a boarding-house for blind men, and between Mr. and Mrs. James Reilly, who run it, and the blind men who live there complete harmony reigns.

For in this interesting message exists none of the rules and regulations which are usually the cause of conflict between boarders and boarders. The guests are privileged to throw things around on the floors if they wish, and there is never any trouble about forgotten latchkeys.

There are 15 regulars in the boarding-house and anywhere from 35 to 50 drop in daily for luncheon—all totally blind. Outwardly the house is the counterpart of the boarding-house known as "typical" in New York, but once within its doors one finds a world entirely different.

Erie, Pa.—Carl Henderson and Axel Macki, employed in the construction of the Mill creek water tube, were swept nearly a mile through the 18-foot concrete tube when a temporary dam let go during a terrific rainstorm.

Nearly an inch and a half of rain fell in 20 minutes, flooding many cellars and interfering with traffic.

WHERE VENDETTA STILL PREVAILS

Code of Honor as It Is Enforced in Sardinia, Corsica and Elsewhere

DIFFICULT TO STAMP OUT

Most Persistent Disciples Are Among the Most Mild-Mannered and Most Hospitable People in the World
—Ceremony of Reconciliation.

New York.—Vendetta still flourishes in many parts of the old world, but in no place is it more firmly established than in the Island of Sardinia.

Why it flourishes there is a mystery still unsolved, for the Sardinians themselves are probably among the mildest mannered men in the world. Travel all over their island and you will be received with the greatest hospitality.

There are few inns, except in the two or three chief towns, but inns are not needed, for every door is open to the stranger, the best of fare is offered—may, lavished with open hands—the fattest calf is instantly slain, the cellars are ransacked for the oldest wine. Indeed, you might almost start a vendetta by refusing hospitality or wanting to hurry away too soon!

So long as you do not smile at the women folk you are an honored guest for a much longer time than you wish to remain. But the etiquette about women is as strict as in any harem land in the East, and no intercourse is allowed with strangers.

Next to Sardinia in the vendetta business comes Corsica, where the people, after all, are not very different. There is plenty of bloodshed in Sicily, but it is organized by a secret society and has nothing to do with vendetta.

Albania runs the blood-feud on very similar lines and Albania's hereditary enemy, Montenegro, oddly enough, cherishes almost the same traditions, whereas the Serbians, the cousins of the Montenegrins, are bloodthirsty in quite a different way. It is probably not an accident that feuds and feudalism have the same derivation, and clanish traditions must have something to do with the custom, writes Herbert Vivian.

Part of Their Code of Honor.

The great difficulty that governments find in suppressing vendetta is that its disciples regard it as part of their code of honor. Men who go to church regularly and observe all the religious feasts—black-coated gentlemen of infinite respectability, who could be trusted anywhere with untold gold and frivolous females—nevertheless consider it their sacred duty to slay the second cousin twice removed of some one who has killed a member of their family in legitimate self-defense. Indeed, there is a stigma on their whole clan if blood has not been wiped out with blood, if many molars have not repaid a single tooth. It ceases to be—it never is, in fact—a personal affair. It is just primitive, savage justice.

In Sardinia church and state have been frantically at work for generations trying to suppress the vendetta, but it is very slow work.

From time to time, however, reconciliations do take place. Sixty-five years ago there was a solemn ceremony of forgiveness between two families that had been at war for two centuries, killing one another and destroying one another's cattle and farmsteads. It made an enormous sensation, and marked an epoch in the history of the island. Only the other day there was a similar event, for which the parish priest and the mayor of Tempio, amid the savage rockland of Angina, are jointly responsible.

Almost endless negotiations preceded the formal kiss of peace. No one wished to forego his vengeance; the honor of five hostile families was at stake. Again and again, for a whole generation, men and boys have been stabbed, and though everybody knew the culprits and all the reasons for the crimes, no one was ever punished by the law.

Agreed to Attend Mass Together.

Then some one having authority suddenly listened to reason. All the hostile families—the Leporis, the Pes, the Seazzus, the Spezzigas and the Vassas—far more hostile than the Montagues and Capulets, agreed to attend a service of reconciliation together.

Their famous feud has been responsible for no fewer than 75 homicides during the last 15 years. It all began with the murder of Prof. Pier Felice Stangoni, a widower who lectured at the technical institute of Sassari. What he had done is not quite clear. Some say he had flirted with a Miss Pes and then refused to marry her.

Another story is that he was unintentionally killed by a mischievous boy from an unfriendly village. Anyhow, the professor was taking a country walk with his three boys, Albert, Mario and Arnold, when some one lurking in the thickets suddenly hit him on the forehead with a bullet from a catapult and killed him instantly.

There was a sensational trial and the suspects were acquitted. A few months later, however, one of them, Martin Pes, was killed. Thereupon the authorities arrested Professor Stangoni's father-in-law, Paul Lepori, a vigorous old man, and he was acquitted for lack of evidence. Assassinations followed with furious rapidity. Nicholas Vasa was seriously wounded one day and killed the next. Members of the various families were found dead in lonely places or disappeared and were never seen again. An immense amount of property was destroyed. Great numbers of innocent people went in daily fear of their lives.

Ceremony of Reconciliation.

Two hundred members came from far and near to attend the ceremony of reconciliation.

The boys of Tempio seminary walked first in the procession. Then came Monsignor Sanna, bishop of Tempio and Castelsardo, followed by the parish priest, the mayor with an Italian flag and an enormous crowd from the whole countryside. Penitential hymns were sung and mass was celebrated in the open air amid deep emotion.

Then Father Deligios, a famous Franciscan preacher, spoke of the beauty of Sardinia, the hospitality of her people, always generous except when carried away by traditional hatreds. He alluded to the 75 victims and invoked the blessing and pardon of heaven on the survivors.

Then the members of the hostile families were divided into two long files and went up side by side to receive the episcopal benediction. There was Paul Lepori, "Uncle Paul," as he is known to the whole countryside, the father-in-law and alleged avenger of the first victim, now ninety years of age, and very hoary, but still erect and vigorous.

Beside him was Salvatore Pes, the son of Martin Pes, whom old Lepori was accused of killing. Salvatore is now some forty years of age. Then there were Mario and Arnold Stangoni, sons of the first victim, well able to remember the horror of their father's murder, Arnold in the uniform of an arditto (storm trooper), with two silver medals earned by prowess in the war.

After the benediction, old Paul Lepori and Salvatore Pes solemnly embraced and wept on each other's shoulders, amid the intense emotion and loud applause of the crowd. The kissing became general and there were solemn vows of mutual love and respect.

The Last Combat.

This is the story of the latest reconciliation. Two families carried on a feud until they were both nearly destroyed. They fought like wild beasts, concentrating every nerve, every emotion, in the business of killing the traditional foe. Year after year, in ambush and open fight, members of both families fell victims of the implacable rancor.

Oddly enough, however, the two heads of the respective clans, sturdy old men, remained unmolested. Youths and even children were laid low, but the chiefs remained, like stalwart oaks, undisturbed by the raging tempest of crime.

At last they remained almost alone. A few more murders and they would have been the solitary representatives of their slaughtered lines. They took no special precautions to guard against attack. In fact, one afternoon, one of them was riding quietly back to Sassari, accompanied by a servant. A few miles from home a shot resounded from behind a hill and he bit the dust. He shook himself and rose to his elbows, but he knew that his hour had struck.

He called quietly to his servant, "Take off the saddle," he said.

When this was done he took cover very stealthily behind it, pointed his gun in the direction from which death had been let loose upon him.

Then he bade his servant run toward the town, shouting as he ran: "My master is dead!"

Deceived by Ruse.

The man who had fired the shot was completely taken in by this device. First, he peered out cautiously; then his whole body appeared above the hill. It was the chieftain of the other family.

The wounded man took a long, deliberate aim, fired and saw with satisfaction that he had hit his mark. The servant came running back, recalled by the shot, and to him the old man said grimly:

"Tell them to bring two biers, for we are two dead men." And so it proved.

They found the chieftain with his head resting on the hard pillow afforded by his saddle, and in death he still clung to his gun. After this last tragedy the few survivors of the two families consented to make peace, for it seemed to them that they had carried out the law of vendetta to its bitter end.

But vendetta is in their blood—the very children's play at vendetta, just as little Spaniards play at bull fights. A trifling accident or a petty quarrel may easily lead to another feud lasting for centuries and spreading a reign of terror over whole provinces.

Pure, Fresh Candy

When you walk up to the door and SHE answers the bell — it's lucky you have the candy. You'd be speechless otherwise. You hand it to her with, "Sweets to the sweet," (if you have the nerve) and she opens it. Gee! You're glad you bought it here 'cause you know it's fresh and pure!

It's pretty small, after you have won her with sweet food and sweeter words, to forget that she likes either after you're married. Stop in today and get a box of chocolates or bon bons.

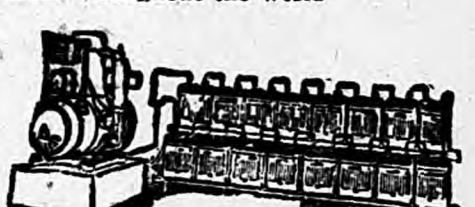

If there's sickness at your home—nerves or constipation, or that run down feeling, or heart trouble, take a package of Dr. Miles' Medicines along with the candy.

MAY TROU FETTER

When Will Princess Anne People Learn The Importance Of It? Backache is only a simple thing at first.

But if you find 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles may follow.

That droopy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end. You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Princess Anne citizen.

My kidneys were never regular in action and my feet and limbs ached awfully. I used Doan's Kidney Pills as directed and they helped me by strengthening my back and kidneys. I am glad to endorse Doan's for what they have done for me."

New Breed Of Poultry

Lamona is the name given to a new breed of poultry that has been developed at the Experimental Farm of the United States Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Md. It has been named by Secretary Wallace after the originator, Harry M. Lamon, senior poultryman of the Bureau of Animal Industry. It is a white fowl with red ear lobes that lays a white-shelled egg. White Plymouth Rock, Silver Gray

Dorking and White Leghorn were the breeds used as foundation stock.

The fowls are larger than Leghorns, with long, deep bodies, well feathered and comb and wattles of medium size. The new breed is not ready for introduction and neither eggs or fowls can be secured. When a sufficient stock of birds has been raised specimens will be sent to State agricultural colleges and experiment stations to test their adaptability to different sections and conditions.

Cause Of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

Don't stick with the prunes

MY DAD'S favorite yarn.
WAS THE one about.
THE OLD storekeeper.
WHO WAS playing checkers.
IN THE back of the store.
AMONG THE coal oil.
AND THE prunes.
WHEN THE sheriff.
WHO HAD just jumped his king.
SAID "Si there's a customer.
WAITIN' OUT front."
AND SI said "Sh-h-h!"
IF YOU'LL keep quiet.
MEBBE HE'LL go away."
NOW HERE'S the big idea.
WHEN A good thing.
HAPPENS ALONG.
DON'T LEAVE it to George.
TO GRAB the gravy.
FR'INSTANCE IF.

YOU HEAR of a smoke.
OR READ about a smoke.
THAT REALLY does more.
THAN PLEASE the taste.
THERE ARE no hooks on you.
THERE'S NO law against.
YOUR STEPPING UP.
WITH THE other live ones.
AND SAYING right out.
IN A loud, clear voice.
"GIMME A pack of.
THOSE CIGARETTES.
THAT SATISFY."

YOU'LL say you never tasted such flavor, such mild but full-bodied tobacco goodness. You're right, too, because they don't make other cigarettes like Chesterfields. The Chesterfield blend can't be copied.

Have you seen the new AIR-TIGHT tins of 50?

IDEAL—that greatly abused word—aptly describes Palm Beach cloth as a summer-clothes fabric.

It has long been the dream of the manufacturer to secure a material which, while light in weight, would yet be adaptable for the purposes of fine tailoring. And Palm Beach fills the bill.

You simply cannot understand the comfort and satisfaction of these eminently sane garments unless you have had the personal experience of wearing them.

Tropical-weight coat and trouser suits made of Palm Beach cloth, Summer worsteds, Breezeweve, mohair,—$15.00.

THE Ford worm-driven, One-Ton Truck with demountable rims and pneumatic tires, are dependable, as well as serviceable. This, probably more than any other factor, accounts for their popularity. There is no evidence so convincing as that which comes from long practical experience. Like the Ford car, the Ford One-Ton Truck—Ford-built throughout—has proven itself. In it are combined the Ford principles of simplicity, with strength, lowest first cost, lowest operating cost, durability.

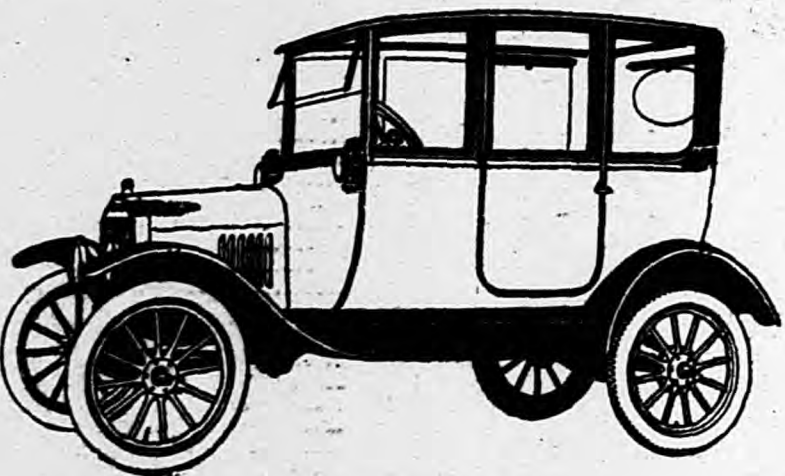

In the city, on the farm, carrying its loads between cities—everywhere you will find the Ford One-Ton Truck doing duty. Merchants, manufacturers, farmers, have come to know it as the truck of utmost service.

MORE and more every day the demand for Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping or threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns, so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the enormous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery." A card to me will bring one to your door.
