1961-'62 Who's Who Nominees Named

Dr. Wilbur Devilbiss, president of Salisbury State Teachers College, has announced the seven seniors at this college who have been named as this year's winners of the coveted "Who's Who" award. These students will be listed in the na-appear in the listing. The students in American Colleges and Universities," a tome serving in college circles for the same purpose as that fulfilled by its illustrious fore-runners in the fields of public life. To qualify for this national honor, a student must meet certain specific and rigid standards which have been devised to select proficiently those individuals who will appear in the listing. The students are Barbara Crum, James Davis, Luther Fennell, Brenda Foxwell, Barbara Mosebrook, Paul Murrell, and Julie Spedden.

Qualifications Standards Cited

The persons selected must be seniors in college. They must have a cumulative average of 2.5, and have been at S.T.C. for at least five semesters during which time they have made worthwhile contributions to college life.

Using the qualifications as guideposts, a committee on this campus composed of Dean Orem Robinson and Miss Margaret Addis from the faculty and Lou Finley, Dorothy Mace, and Sara Nichols from the student body made the selections. Each one selected has contributed to college life in identifiable ways.

Contributions Collated by Committee

The investigation made by the Committee reveals the services each winner has rendered his college. Miss Crum, the daughter of Rev. Ira E. and Mrs. Crum.

Barbara, one of the leading campus leaders throughout her four years at STC, has served as a member of the women's dorm council, Christian Association president during her junior year, and on its executive board this year. Other offices she has held are assistant editor of the Evergreen as a junior, and co-editor this year. (See WHO'S WHO - Page 4)

President Devilbiss Questions Budget

President Devilbiss questioned the amount of appropriations allotted to Noel Farmer's Social Committee, Monday, October 9. Though the budget was signed, he questioned the lack of activities outlined by the Social Committee. Acting quickly, Brenda Foxwell quelled all doubts by calling an emergency Executive Board meeting. The members, Brenda Foxwell, Wayne Towers, Sara Nichols, and Noel Farmer, Social Committee chairman, drew up a letter to the president detailing further the plans of the Social Committee. The SGA stated that these plans, using nearly one-fifth of the total budget, were needed to strengthen school spirit and to further intellectual achievement by causing students to plan work and activities schedules. The plans include coed sports, games parties, films, and Hi-Fi programs, in addition to the dances which alone were listed on the original budget.

Planning the budget is a job handed over to the SGA by President Devilbiss. The SGA appropriates the monies according to requisitions received and then submits the budget to President Devilbiss for approval. The president must, in turn, defend the allocations to the State Board from which he received the right to use the money. Questioning the budget was necessary, since the Social Committee grant was quite large and aimed (seemingly) at one group of students.

High School Seniors To Visit STC

Under the sponsorship of the Student National Education Association, high school seniors will visit S.T.C. on October 24, 25, and 26. Students who will take these guests on guided tours and visitations of classrooms will be members of the sophomore class and under the direction of the S.N.E.A. An interesting program will be offered for them, and the schedule consists of the following activities:

- 9:30-10:00 Coffee for guest faculty members
- 10:00-12:15 Classroom visits and guided tours
- Conferences with Miss Addis, Dean Willis, and Dean Robinson are available
- 12:15-1:00 Lunch
- 1:10-2:00 Auditorium program
- 2:00-2:30 Social gathering in the Student Center

The guided tours will include the Student Centers, new gymnasium, library, music building, language building, and Snack Bar. Classes will be visited by groups of approximately 15 to 45 students. The groups should remain in the class only about 15 or 20 minutes.

In order to provide information about the school, an assembly program is included. Terry Sterling will act as master of ceremonies with Brenda Foxwell, S.G.A. President, speaking on the scholastic opportunities of our college; Beth Reid and Jack Morris on physical education; Barbara Crum on religious aspects; and Noel Farmer on cultural and social functions. Entertainment will be another feature of this auditorium program, some of which will be provided by the Women's Dormitory Association.

We will be welcoming the following schools to our campus:

Tuesday, October 24

Wicomico Senior High, Maryland High, Pittsville High, and Cambridge High.

Wednesday, October 25

Dorchester, Worcester and Somerset Counties.

Thursday, October 26

Kent, Cecil, Queen Anne, Caroline and Talbot Counties.

WELCOME SENIORS!

Talent, Talent, Talent

Isn't it a shame that a professional talent scout wasn't present at the talent show following the women's open house last week? No one can deny that it was a success, and it definitely proved that although S.T.C. is a small school enrollment-wise, she definitely is a large school talent-wise. Last Tuesday's show witnessed such a variety of talent that everyone was insured of finding something that appealed to his individual tastes.

Is the U. S. Press Competent?

Recently, Jack Paar became involved in a verbal affray with the American press, Congress, and elements of the military. It was reported that Paar had large numbers of soldiers, tanks, two high ranking officers, plus a staff of 70 television personnel at the East-West German border to film a television show. He was attacked by various newspapers in their movie columns, editorials, and even in front page headlines. The Senate wanted a full investigation. When Paar returned home, he opened fire with a four-barrel shotgun revealing documented evidence (his words), of a smear campaign directed against him by the press. He was being accused of agitating along the tense border and creating hysteria because of the alleged show of force. Paar, in his defense, revealed a photo showing only 28 men, no tanks, and little activity at the border. The Communists had, in fact, withdrawn their tanks to avoid embarrassment. The TV crew was comprised of seven men. The Senate, even before this TV rebuttal, dropped its plans to investigate. Two Army Colonels previously reprimanded for their part in this were exonerated. After the disputed show was broadcast, comments were generally favorable, even from conservative points of view such as that of David Lawrence.

Let's forget Jack Paar for a moment. His personal embarrassment is over. But, the point is this! If Paar is right in this matter, and it certainly seems that he is, the press is wrong and this is dangerous. Can we afford incompetent reporting? Is this the fruits reaped by freedom of the press? It was shocking when Paar revealed a recent New York newspaper headline which cried, "If War is Coming, Let's Get it Over With!" In Russia this would be war-mongering. The American press has never, in the minds of many, outlived the famous quote of William Randolph Hurst to artist Remington while in Cuba: "You provide the pictures, I'll provide the war." (Reference is to the Spanish-American War.) In this tense world, it seems that armies are less likely to start trouble than are propaganda organs. A "let's get it over with" attitude is incompetent when U. S. officials are talking peace. Any misrepresentation is deplorable. Imagine the shock which would be expressed by the press if censorship was mentioned? The only thing that avoids regulation in this complex age is that which is spotless and exemplifies integrity.

Jerome Costello

Spanish Club Organized

On Wednesday night, October 11, the first meeting of the Spanish Club was held in the Faculty Room. Acting as head spokesman of the meeting was Mr. Jerome Costello, the Spanish teacher, who outlined the purpose of the club and discussed the possibilities for the future.

Among these possibilities are those of giving plays and skits in the college, writing to students in Latin America and Spain, and having a workshop. Also discussed were the time and place of future meetings. Though it is not definite, the next meeting is scheduled to be held in the Faculty Room on October 25.

During the meeting, a "steering committee" of five, consisting of Carroll Henderson, president, Donald Johnson, vice-president, L. T. Short, treasurer, Margie Lomax, corresponding secretary, and Sharon Dennis, recording secretary was elected. This committee will guide the club until officers are elected. In addition, they will write a constitution, which, when approved by the S.G.A., will make the club official.

While the club will supplement what is done in the Spanish classroom, it is not necessary to speak the language in order to join. Anyone who is interested in further knowledge of Spanish customs, history, culture, art, music, and all those things which go to give a country its particular charm will be welcomed. There will be movies, slides, and talks planned for the meetings.

Those in the Spanish Club send a special invitation to all of you to come to the next meeting and learn what makes Spain and the Latin American countries "tick."

Poor Attendance at Assemblies Prompts SGA To Consider Problem

The SGA has taken the initiative and responsibility to try and solve the poor attendance problem at assemblies. At the first meeting, held in September, this matter was discussed.

The SGA felt that since the students were directly involved, they should have some say in deciding the matter, so the Board decided on a poll. The poll was held at class meetings and was conducted by the class presidents. The Freshman class did not participate because they were not organized. Since the majority polled voted against the recommendation for compulsory attendance at assemblies, the SGA felt that they could not recommend action to the administration.

Miss Brenda Foxwell, President of the SGA, was disheartened at the outcome of the poll. She said, "We felt that the poor attendance was embarrassing to the Cultural Affairs Committee, to the speaker, and to the College. I do not feel that the problem is settled. I feel sure it will be brought up again."

The Holly Leaf has done some polling on its own and has found varying opinions. Dean Robinson said, "Assemblies are a mutual responsibility on the part of those sponsoring them and students. The sponsor should put on a good assembly and the students should attend. The student should accept the responsibility of seeking knowledge and culture, whatever the source. Mandatory attendance at a good assembly should not be considered an imposition."

Bill Cotton, President of the Senior Class, said, "The Seniors will go on record as opposing compulsory assemblies. We feel that compulsion puts the attendance on an elementary level, and we think that we should be able to choose the ones we wish to attend. For the Freshmen it is good orientation to college life."

Avery Saulsbury, President of the Freshman Class, has stated that attendance should be compulsory for ALL students because the Cultural Affairs Committee, the SGA, and the Administration go to a lot of expense and work to sponsor assemblies.

Rotary to Honor STC Graduate

Beginning this year, one of the men in each succeeding Senior Class at Salisbury State Teachers' College will be given an award by the Salisbury Rotary Club amounting to two hundred dollars. The details are not all known as yet but the award will be similar to the one presented annually to the senior at Wicomico High that exemplifies the qualities held high by the Rotary Club and signified by their motto, "Service Before Self." Dr. Devilbiss made the preceding (See ROTARY - Page 4)

Thinking Out Loud

Tuesday, October 17, is certainly a day to remember. The women dorm put together an open house and talent show which were both an example of the fine talent, cooperation and excellent leadership which is here on our campus. Girls, your show was tremendously exciting, unique and, above all, credit to our college.

The sophomore class also deserves a hand for their Harvest Ball. The receiving line was not too long nor too formal, the band was good and the Queen was lovely. Congratulations Terry Sterling and class members.

Are You Proud of STC?

Would someone please tell me why so many students in the library? It looks good. I hope the more and more of the students use the building. It must be a good idea if it stayed open until 10 p.m. at nights. Just a thought.

I dislike to bring up old business but let's keep the snack bar clean. It reflects on one's sense of respectability.

Are you sure you are proud of STC?

What is a college student? Is he or she is unique, in a different world, on their own, and, above all, a college student is a potential leader who should be developing leadership qualities now. The college student should never be irresponsible, nor should he be cheating himself by treating books lightly—you not only sell yourself short, you also sell your country short.

A Service to Our School

The new aim of the Student Christian Association this year is to develop into a service organization at State Teachers College. This paper goes to press, its constitution is being revised so as to widen its area of service.

Perhaps it is fitting to ask: What is the S.C.A.? It is a campus organization which welcomes all students of all religious denominations to join with it in fostering spiritual growth as well as intellectual. The S.C.A., a corporate member of the Student Government Association, is the coordinating body for the four religious groups, which are: The Wesleyan Foundation, The Canterbury Club, The Baptist Student Union, and The Newman Club. To better understand each group a brief description is given of each group.

The Wesleyan Foundation, a Methodist religious club, has one program this year, group discussions of problems which are related to college life. This year (See SERVICE - Page 4)

Chotts Chatters the Sports

"We've got the coach, team, pep, steam"—and after the Skyrockets' 3-0 victory over Philadelphia, dare anyone disagree? Thumbs down on superstition — Friday the 13th proved anything but unlucky for our varsity hockey squad composed this year of: (Seniors) L. Fitzsimmons and B. Quimby (co-captains); (Juniors) B. Reid, L. Dentz and D. Seward (managers); (Sophomores) K. Romoser, L. Shanoski (manager), A. West; (Freshmen) L. Bell, M. Corbett, J. Freeman, H. Hansen, D. Hubbard, K. Hudson, D. Sheets and C. Walls.

C. Arndt, B. Bryan, C. Caldwell, B. Collison, B. Dean, D. Finley, D. Griffith, L. Hall, N. Laramore, J. Murphey, S. Ransone, J. Townsley and F. Vickers are this year's junior varsity players. Both teams will represent S.T.C. at the University of Maryland's sports day on October 28. The W.A.A. is also recruiting tennis players for the trip, so let's have a fine turnout.

A quick glimpse at hockey practice — Freshman Mary Corbett, right halfback, is an excellent player whose smooth actions lend art and grace to the rough sport. Betty Quimby is raring to go as varsity goalie, and I don't envy the opponent who faces such determination. Keep your eye on our center this season, Lorraine Bell. This perky redhead who hails from Snow Hill has played hockey for three years, but this is her first experience as center having previously held the position of inner. So far, so very good. Keep up that pace, Lorraine!

Sue Ransone's black eye is one dark cloud in the sports news, but she is taking the misfortune good naturedly. The black-eyed Susan even had the spunk to show up for her sophomore picture.

Attention bowlers! Dinner is served early on Monday nights for your benefit since bowling must start promptly at 6:00. Let's all cooperate with these kids and fight the hunger pangs just long enough to let the bowlers get through the dinner line. Speaking of bowling, Manager Betty Quimby is quite pleased with the enthusiasm displayed this year. S.T.C. has 12 teams, and the members always seem to have a good time, win or lose. Transportation is a problem, however, so why not remedy the situation with a little cooperation?

The W.A.A.'s budget this year is $3,525 as reported by treasurer, Sandy Weaver. It has been itemized and was read to the Board at the W.A.A. meeting on October 10. The Board has approved the purchase of a Samsonite card table and chairs which can be used by any girl who wishes to study in the new gym.

Guess that does it. Bye now . . . —Chotts

Skyrockets Top Philadelphia Bible

On October 13, our STC Skyrockets nonchalantly cast aside that old "Friday the 13th" superstition and traveled to Philadelphia to engage our friendly rivals, the Philadelphia College of the Bible, in a field hockey game. To the utter delight of local rooters, our club came out on top with a 3-0 (SHUTOUT, MIND YOU!) victory, their first of the yet young campaign.

Spurred on by a grand total of three non-participating rooters, our girls really had an easy time of it. Splendid teamwork kept the ball away from the STC goal and for the better part of the time into the opposition's field.

Heroine of the game would have to be center Lorraine Bell who scored the three Skyrocket goals. Her task was made a great deal easier by having outstanding assistance from half-backs Kay Romoser, Mary Ann Corbett, and Helen Hansen. Not to be overlooked is the forward wall consisting of Fitz, Janice Freeman and Arleta West.

Fullback Beth Reid and Goalie Betty Quimby had an easier time of it than was expected, but future games should provide these girls with more action than they may want. All in all, it was a wonderful team victory and the girls really deserve our praise and thanks for representing us so capably on the field of battle.

The only trouble (?) of the day was experienced by Fitz, but if you find out it will have to come from her lips.

The STC club has gotten off to a wonderful start, so now it is our duty to aid them in a successful finish. Let's all turn out to cheer them on to victory, when the opportunity presents itself. Rest assured, they'll do us up proud.

Bonnie Ewing Queen Of Harvest Ball

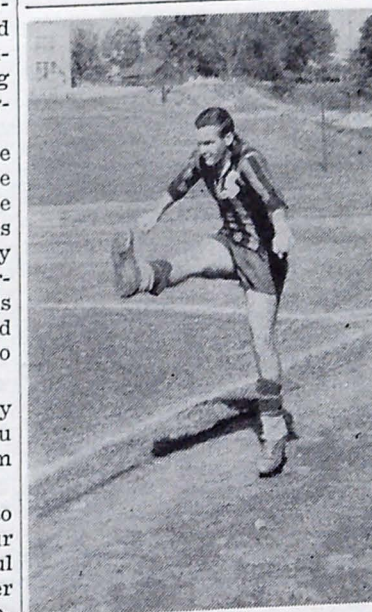

Miss Bonnie Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ewing, Sr., of Cambridge, Maryland, was crowned queen of the Harvest Ball on Friday night, October 13. The lovely sophomore, arrayed in a Kelly green brocade dress, was crowned by Dean Willis.

Other members of the Queen's court were Miss Billye Parks, senior representative; Linda Elburn, junior representative; Judy Murphy, sophomore representative; and Diane Hopkins, freshman representative.

Prior to this honor, Bonnie was, during her freshman year, selected by her classmates to represent her class at the annual Christmas Dance. Her interests are sports and participating in several extracurricular activities. She is also a member of the Women's Athletic Association board.

Escorts for the Queen and her court were Jim Hartman, Wayne Brittingham, Charles Isenhower, Dick Bailey and Norman Conway.

Those in attendance at the Harvest Ball had nothing but praise for the orchestra, refreshments, and expert handling of the program.

A problem has arisen with the switching of class period time. As we all know, many of us are not out of class until 5:00 o'clock, and dinner is served no later than 6:15. This leaves an all too short period of time of only an hour and fifteen minutes to practice varsity athletics. Allow 10 to 15 minutes to dress for practice and then another 15 to 20 minutes to shower and to dress for dinner. This leaves us with something like 40 to 50 minutes of actual practice time. A good practice session should last at least two hours. It is disturbing to have a practice just begin to "click" and then to have it cut short with an hour or more of sunlight left.

What can be done about this? There are two alternatives. We could make provisions to have varsity athletes served at a later hour, or we could have the dinner hour moved back. Either of these could cause a great improvement in practice and likewise in varsity games.

Here & There

Intramural football fever has again swept the campus. The Sophomores opened the season by soundly trouncing the Freshmen 18-0. The Freshmen were unable to get their offense rolling and managed to get only one first down. Two touchdowns were scored when Jim Whaley and Ronnie Brewington ran back interceptions. Shortly after this a pass from Burton to Whaley accounted for the final T.D. Considering all of this, plus the fact that two touchdowns were called back due to penalties, the Sophomores might well be the team to beat for the championship.

The real thriller was when those antiques, called the Seniors, pulled one out of the fire with about 30 seconds remaining on a T.D. pass from McCrea to Barnes to beat the Juniors 6-0. Again they have that murderous line which will average a good two hundred pounds.

One sober note was struck in the Freshman - Sophomore game when Jimmy Harris suffered a broken leg on the opening kick-off. This was one of those freak accidents which will occur occasionally in any sports program. Why not drop Jim a card? I'm sure he would appreciate it.

The soccer squad lost to Frostburg 3-0 on October 5. About the only heartening feature was several daring saves made by goalie Jay McCrea. Most of the ball game was played on Salisbury's end of the field, and it was not until the end of the fourth quarter that the Gulls began to play anywhere near the caliber of ball they were capable of playing.

October 17 will find the squad playing Philadelphia Bible at Philadelphia. Better things are expected!

Jim Bennett, deserve special praise for their performances, and it is obvious that the entire band put in a lot of practice to make such a terrific showing. Their vast selection of numbers, ranging from the lively "Charleston" to the dreamy "Chapel in the Moonlight" proved that the group is equally adept in all types of music.

Richard Wilson with his haunting ballad of the eternal triangle was entertaining as usual, even though he was not backed up this year by the other "Pages."

Lois Muth and Sharon Brown brought the first example of exclusive freshman talent to the program with their cute pantomime of the "Little Space Girl."

A rapid change of pace was provided by Mary Ann Piepers' excellent interpretation of the Spanish dance "Granada," which was considered by many to be "muy buen."

This was followed by the Hill Hicks, Jim Bennett and Bill Holmead. Once again Mr. Bennett displayed his unique spunk and talent, but this time as a natural comedian. The two "hicks" were perfectly matched, and their antics were enjoyed by all.

The Senior gals proved that they were still in the swing of things with their "TV Spectacular." Congrats to Rhonda Roomate on her title of "Queen for a Night"—hope she enjoys her stay in the men's dorm Christmas.

The girls' quintet led by sophomore, Carol Anderson, delivered a fine performance of "Among My Souvenirs."

A touch of serious dancing was provided by the Flora Dora Girls and their Can-Can. Special recognition should be given to twisting champs, Jim Hartman and Wayne Towers. The antics of these guys really added a lot of spark to the entire show.

Last, but most definitely not least, come Cookie Dobos, STC's own Blues Singer. No one can deny Cookie's spirit, enthusiasm, and talent. Let's all keep our eye on this vivacious freshman gal, for she really has a lot to offer our fair campus.

Holding the show together marvelously with his stories and natural knack for handling an audience, was S. J. Disharoon. Congrats, Sam! You did a fine job!

Yes, our talent show was definitely a success and certainly proved that STC has a treasure chest of talent hidden within its brick walls that should be unlocked more often.

ing a shortage of storing space for their books between classes, brought the problem to the SGA. Knowing the lockers in the old dressing rooms were not in use, the SGA asked Dean Robinson if the lockers could not be repaired and placed in the halls for use. The answer: affirmative. announcement at the banquet held October 12 in the college dining hall. Present were members of the Salisbury Rotary Club and as their guests, the senior men of the college.

The banquet, preceeded by an informal gathering in the student center, began with the invocation given by Dr. French. Following the dinner, Dr. Devilbiss recognized the various members of the senior class. Presiding at the dinner for the Rotary was their Vice President, Dr. Cantrell. For the program, Dr. Cantrell introduced Mr. Marsh Gollner, a past district governor of the Rotary Club, who in turn introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Rubin Steinmeyer, professor of political sciences at the University of Maryland and also a past district governor.

Dr. Steinmeyer talked on the meaning of Rotary, its history, what it stands for, and how it can be of help to each member. He cited the world wide influence the Rotary Club has and also how, being a member, has helped him in many situations.

Following the speech, the dinner gathering was closed, with time left for more informal discussions.
