OFFICIAL

Account of the late battle off St. Domingo, which admiral Cochrane enclosed to a friend in this city. Northumberland, off St. Domingo, 10th February, 1806.

SIR,

I HAVE much satisfaction in communicating to you, that the enemy's squadron lately arrived from France, named in the margin,* which vice-admiral Sir John Duckworth went in pursuit of from St. Christopher on the 1st, have been taken or destroyed.

They were discovered at anchor, off the town of St. Domingo, on the morning of the 6th. As the British Squadron advanced they got under weigh, and attempted to escape by running down along the shore to the S. S. W. but were frustrated by the prompt measures adopted by the vice-admiral.

A little after 10 in the forenoon they were headed by the advanced part of the British Squadron, and brought to close action—the Superb, carrying Sir John Duckworth's flag, leading, followed by the Northumberland, Spencer, and Agamemnon; the lee line consisting of the Canopus, bearing the flag of rear-admiral Louis, the Donegal and Atlas coming up to leeward.

The action began by the Superb firing on the Alexander, the leading ship of the enemy's line; the Northumberland taking up the Imperial, the second ship, when the action soon became general.

The Alexander being disabled, dropt a stern, and about eleven struck her colours, having lost all her masts; the rear ships of the enemy closed to support their admiral, in the Imperial, and about a quarter past eleven, one of them (the Jupiter) struck the Donegal. The Brave also submitted soon after.

The Imperial used every means to escape, but finding that impossible, she ran on shore near Point Palanque, about 10 leagues S. W. of St. Domingo, and was followed by the Diomedé, where they stranded, and was afterwards set on fire by the frigates of the Squadron. The enemy all landed from the Imperial, but the captain of the Diomedé was brought off with above 100 of his crew. The rest had got on shore.

The loss of the enemy has been very severe. By a flag of truce which came off to request permission to send supplies to their wounded, I was informed that the Imperial had about 700 killed and wounded—the Diomedé a great many—the three ships captured have also suffered severely, making the total loss of their Squadron from 1,800 to 2,000 men.

I am happy to say the loss of the British Squadron has been comparatively small, not bearing any proportion to that of the enemy, the total killed and wounded not exceeding 200 or 220, of which this ship had 100.

The frigates and corvette effected their escape during the action, but I hope they will yet be met with by a Squadron I have sent in pursuit.

* Imperial, 130 guns; Alexander, 84 guns; Brave, 84 guns; Diomedé, 74 guns; Jupiter, 74 guns; Fraternité, 40 guns; Comet, 40 guns; and a corvette, 30 guns.

By the ship Anne, capt. Bulth, from Amsterdam, we have received Amsterdam papers to the 13th ult. one of which contains a proclamation of the king of Prussia, declaring that in consequence of a convention between him and the emperor of France, the states of his Britannic majesty in Germany, will be occupied by him till the conclusion of a general peace.

By the ship Flora, from the Downs, London papers to the 13th of February, have been received, and by the Jupiter, and other ships from England, a regular file of Lloyd's List to the 12th ult. from which the following is extracted.

It is said, that Mr. Fox, a short time previous to his coming into the ministry, expressed himself averse to the proceedings respecting neutral commerce, which have been recently complained of.

PARIS, January 15.

France and Austria.—The treaty of peace between France and Austria has been published. The electors of Bavaria and Wertemburg, (the last, son-in-law to the king of England,) have been raised to the rank and title of kings, but remain connected with the German empire. The Venetian territory which Austria gained by a former treaty, is now annexed to the French Italian kingdom. New territory has been given to Bavaria and Wertemburg.

January 22.

The emperor has adopted prince Eugene Beauharnois, as his son, and allotted to him the kingdom of Italy, after certain conditions are fulfilled by certain powers, and in the interim the prince is to act as viceroy. It is said he takes the name of Eugene-Napoleon.

On the 4th inst. at Munich, was celebrated the marriage of prince Eugene Beauharnois, [son of the French Empress by her former husband, since adopted by Buonaparte,] with the princess Augusta Amelia of Bavaria.

We are assured that orders have been given to augment the flotilla at Bologne, in as much as the grand army will soon return to the coast.

January 27.

The emperor and empress returned to this capital last evening. The emperor declines any public honours till his troops return. Addressees, as usual, were presented by the different branches of the government.

January 29.

The Rochefort Squadron has returned to port, after a cruise of 161 days. It has taken one man of war, 3 sloops, and 42 merchantmen.

Yesterday his majesty, surrounded by the princefs, and grand dignitaries, received on his throne, the homage and congratulations of the constituted authorities.

February 1.

PROCLAMATION AGAINST NAPLES.

"From my Imperial Camp, at Schoenbrunn, Dec. 27.

"SOLDIERS,

"For ten years I have done all I could to save the king of Naples; he has done every thing in his power to destroy himself.

"After the battles of Dego, of Mondovi, and of Lodi, he could give no effectual opposition. I placed confidence in the word of this prince, and I behaved with generosity towards him.

"When the second coalition was dissolved at Marengo, the king of Naples, who was the first to commence that unjust war, abandoned at Luneville by his allies, remained alone, and without protection. He solicited my pardon, and I forgave him a second time.

"A few weeks ago you were at the gates of Naples. I had sufficient reason to suspect the treachery which was intended, and to avenge the insults which I had received. Still I was generous. I acknowledged the neutrality of Naples—I ordered you to evacuate that kingdom, and, for the third time, the house of Naples was confirmed and saved.

"Shall we grant pardon for a fourth time? Shall we, for a fourth time, place any confidence in a court without truth, honour, or common sense? No! No! The Neapolitan Dynasty has ceased to reign—its existence is incompatible with the repose of Europe, and the honour of our crown.

"Soldiers! March—drive into the sea, if they will wait your attack, these feeble battalions of the tyrants of the sea. Shew to the world the manner in which we punish the perjured. Lose no time in informing me that the whole of Italy is subject to my laws, or those of my allies; that the finest country in the world is emancipated from the yoke of the most perfidious of men; that the sacredness of treaties is avenged; and that the manes of my brave soldiers, massacred in the ports of Sicily, on their return from Egypt, after having escaped from the dangers of the sea, the deserts, and a hundred battles, are at length appeased.

"Soldiers! My brother will lead you on; he is acquainted with all my plans; he is the depositary of my authority—he is in full possession of my confidence—let him have your's.

(Signed)

"NAPOLEON."

37th Bulletin of the Grand Army.

"General St. Cyr is advancing by forced marches towards Naples, to punish the treason of the queen, and to precipitate from the throne this culpable woman, who has violated in so shameful a manner, all that is held sacred among men. It was endeavoured to intercede for her with the emperor; he replied, 'Were hostilities to recommence, and the nation to support a thirty years war, so atrocious an act of perfidy could not be pardoned.' The queen of Naples has ceased to reign. This last crime has completed her destiny; let her go to London to increase the number of intrigues, and form a sympathetic ink committee with Drake, Spencer, Smith, Taylor, and Wickham, she may also invite, if she pleases, baron D'Armfeldt, M. Ferfen, D. Antraigues, and the Monk Merus.

MADRID, December 22.

Troops are assembling near Seville, whose destination is for Portugal, to compel that power to shut its ports against the English. The 6,000 Spanish troops first intended for Etruria, are now to make a part of the expedition to Portugal.

VIENNA, January 22.

Our ministers have daily conferences with the Russian and English ambassadors; they are relative to peace.

LONDON, January 31.

On the 28th of December the French frigate La Liberté, was captured by two British frigates. She mounts 40 guns, and had 280 men; and had parted from another frigate some days before.

The prince regent of Portugal has been obliged to retire from public duties in consequence of mental derangement. His mother, we believe, is in the same melancholy situation.

February 1.

Orders have been issued in France, for renewing the preparations for the invasion of England. The flotilla at Boulogne is to be considerably augmented, and the grand army is immediately to return to the coast.

Another Insurrection in Italy.

The inhabitants of Parma are in a state of rebellion against Buonaparte's authority; in consequence of which prince Eugene has addressed a proclamation to them, in which he threatens them with exemplary vengeance, if they return not immediately to their obedience, and implicitly submit to the will of their oppressor.

The insurrection in Parma and Liguria were encouraged by the debarkation of the British and Russian troops at Naples, and appear to have embraced not only the mass of the people, but the principal inhabitants, who were already weary of the tyranny of their French rulers. Had the allies prevailed in Germany, there is no doubt that the whole of Italy would have united to throw off their yoke.

February 4.

In one of Buonaparte's late proclamations he says, England may have peace if she will reduce her maritime establishments!

Mr. Fox is said to be in favour of peace, without stipulating for the reduction of the Bologne flotilla.

February 5.

The emperor of Russia has arrived at his capital. It is reported, that gen. Baird's expedition is destined against Buenos Ayres. He was at the Brazils on the 18th of November.

The papers, letters, and treaties, respecting our continental connexions, have been laid before parliament. It appears, that an armed negotiation was at first intended; but on the annexation of Genoa to France, war was determined on—Austria was to furnish 320,000 men, Russia 180,000. The failure of the whole plan was attributed to the precipitancy of Austria, in marching her troops forward too soon; but she is not blamed for this, as it was done from over zeal in the cause.

The house of commons have voted annuities of 2000l. to lady Nelson, and admiral Collingwood, and 1000 to admiral Strachan.

The life of lord Nelson is publishing by permission of his family, who have furnished the necessary papers.

February 8.

A gentleman lately returned from Flushing states, that there are six 74 gun ships nearly ready to launch at Antwerp.

The king of Sweden has withdrawn his minister from the German diet, after giving in a note which concludes, "that his majesty considers it beneath his dignity to take any part in the deliberations of the diet so long as its decisions shall be under the influence of usurpation and selfishness."

The lords of the council have come to a determination, that ships being American property, but not American built, sailing under sea letters, cannot be considered as American vessels; and consequently are not entitled to import into this kingdom, under the act of the 37th of his majesty, cap. 97.

Government are dispatching vessels for the Cape of Good Hope, confident it is now in our hands.

The house of commons have unanimously determined that a monument shall be erected to the memory of the marquis of Cornwallis, the news of whose death in India has just been received.

The French are collecting a very large army in Italy. Too numerous for the mere conquest of Naples, if that were irrevocably determined on. It is therefore conjectured with much reason that France by agreement with Austria, has some designs on European Turkey, and that the German emperor is to be indemnified by territory there for what he has lost by the war just ended. The formidable insurrection which exists in Turkey, of the Servians against the Grand Signior, would make the project easy of execution. But there is another report, that Buonaparte has lately concluded a new treaty with the Porte, by which the integrity of the territory is guaranteed.

Our fleet from off Brest, having been compelled by the weather to return to port, reports are current that the remainder of the Brest fleet have got to sea; but this is improbable.

Twenty-five & Fifty Dollars Reward.

ABOUT three years ago I purchased of Walter W. Norman, tanner, in Queen-Anne, a black boy named STEPHEN, then fifteen years old, remarkably well disposed, a little defective in his knees, but otherwise stout and well made. This boy, about 8 weeks ago, by the instigation of some very disreputable person, was enticed from my service, and (from information derived through the boy's own colour) I have reason to believe has obtained a pass, and is now harboured and protected under it. He is supposed to be either in the Swamp of West River, or on Kentland, where he has a mother named Esther, lately manumitted by a certain Valentine Carter. I will give twenty-five dollars for apprehending said boy, so that I get him again, and fifty dollars for such information as will merely justify my feelings in inflicting the punishment proper for so great a scoundrel.

his fore teeth in his under jaw much worn, some of his finger nails on one hand, it is not recollected which, are very thick, and not of the common form, occasioned by a burn when young. A further description is thought unnecessary, as I suspect he has changed his name and clothing, and will endeavour to pass for a free man, or perhaps he has obtained a pass by some means. Whoever takes up said fellow, and secures him in any gaol, and gives information so that I get him again, shall receive, if taken twenty

THE OLD SOLDIER.

O PITY! if thy holy tear
Immortal decks the wing of time,
'Tis when the soldier's honour'd bier
Demands the glittering drop sublime;
For who, from busy life remov'd,
Such glorious, dangerous toil has prov'd,
As he, who on the embattled plain Lies nobly slain?

He, who forsakes his native shore
To meet the whizzing ball of death;
Who, mid the battle's fatal roar,
Relinquish his ling'ring, parting breath,
Who, when the deaf'ning din is done,
So well deserves as Valour's son,
The proud, the lasting wreath of fame,
To grace his name?

Hard is his fate, the sultry day
To wander o'er the burning plain;
All night to waste the hours away,
Mid howling winds and beating rain;
To talk (O vision sadly sweet!)
With her his eyes will never meet,
And find, at morn's returning gleam,
'Twas but a dream!

To mark the haughty brow severe;
To hear the imperious stern command;
To heave the sigh, to drop the tear,
While mem'ry paints his native land:
To know, the laurel he has won Twines round the brow of fortune's son;
While he when strength and youth are flown,
Shall die unknown!

ANECDOTE.

An honest sailor, on board of a ship in extreme danger, amidst all the distresses and dangers which surrounded him—while the horrid bawling of the boatman's voice could only be equalled by the thundering of the raging tempests, lifted up his soul to his God, and with the utmost sincerity of heart, addressed his Maker for preservation. He had often been exposed to the fury of contending elements, and had borne with fortitude, the "pitiless pelting of the storm," and yet escaped. In the service of his country he had often bravely faced the embattled foe, when his shipmates sunk around him into the arms of death, yet he escaped. These interpositions and manifestations of Divine Providence rushed full upon his mind, and forbade him to despair. "I know," says he, "that God will not forsake me—I'll be DAMNED if he does."

By virtue of a decree of the honourable the High Court of Chancery, will be sold, at Public Auction, on Monday, the 21st day of April next, if fair, if not, on the first fair day thereafter, on the premises, joining each other, lying in Saint-Mary's county, viz. Little Tielding, containing 78½ acres, more or less, and Perch-hole Marsh, containing 30 acres, more or less. These several tracts of land are situated immediately on Saint-Clement's Bay, and the soil is remarkably fertile; this land also includes a valuable marsh, which produces a most luxuriant growth of grass. A credit of twelve months will be given for the purchase money, the purchaser giving

NOTICE.

Will be sold, to the highest bidder, on Friday, the

ALL that tract of LAND called Stepney, lying and being in Anne-Arundel county, five miles from Annapolis, containing eight hundred and thirty-five acres; the improvements on this farm are considerable, with many great advantages, there are several good orchards on it, with the choicest fruits of every kind; its situation almost immediately upon South river ensures always good fish and oysters, and at the head of a creek, which bounds the farm on one side, is a considerable portion of excellent meadow ground. It would be too tedious more minutely to describe this land, as a person wishing to purchase would view the premises. One third of the purchase money must be paid in hand, and a liberal credit, with approved security, will be given for the balance.
Any person desirous of purchasing at private sale will make application to the subscriber, at Port-Tobacco, Charles county. An unexceptionable title will be given to the purchaser, and possession of the premises on the first day of January, 1807.

ington Federalist and Frederick-town Herald, to insert the above advertisement in their several papers until countermanded, and send on their accounts directed to this place for payment.

ters-town.

A Pocket-Book Lost.
LOST, on the road from Annapolis to Poulton's tavern, a large RED MOROCCO POCKET- BOOK, containing a small sum of money in bank notes, and a variety of papers of consequence to the owner. Whoever has found the said book, and will leave it with its enclosures with the subscriber, at the bank of Baltimore, or with John Kilty, Esq; of Annapolis, will be very generously rewarded.
March 11, 1806. D. A. SMITH.

AS it can now be scarcely doubted, that the pocket book mentioned in the foregoing advertisement, which was dropped on the 2d instant, has been found by some person who does not intend to restore the contents to the owner, it is thought proper to direct the attention of the public to a note of one hundred dollars, which, besides the loose money, already noticed, was lost with the book, being enclosed in as sealed letter directed to a gentleman in Baltimore.
The description of this note is no further recollected than that it was of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, and of a very late emission. If such a note has been or should hereafter be offered in payment, or for change, by any person not apparently in the way of possessing so considerable a sum by honest means, it is hoped that notice will be given as above. If the finder of this book, although not scrupulous enough to restore the money, should be inclined on any consideration to return the book itself, and the papers, instead of destroying them, it can be no difficult matter to leave them where they may be picked up, and whoever, if this hint should be taken, may deliver them as above directed, will be suitably rewarded.

Valuable Land for Sale,

public auction, on Saturday, the 12th day of April next, at Peter Orndorff's tavern, on Elk-Ridge, of about one hundred and fifty acres each. This ably healthy neighbourhood, distant from Baltimore twenty-four miles, and three miles from the Poplar Spring; the soil is peculiarly well adapted to the cultivation of small grain, corn and tobacco, and contains a large portion of rich meadow ground. The terms of sale, it is presumed, will be found inviting, as a small part only of the purchase money will be required in hand, and a liberal credit will be given for the residue. It is deemed unnecessary to give a more particular description of this property, as those inclined to purchase will of course view the premises.

A plot of the land is left with Mr. Orndorff, where persons wishing to examine the same are requested to apply.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, April 10, 1806.

VIENNA, January 22.

OUR ministers have daily conferences with the Russian and English ambassadors: they are relative to peace.

It is believed that the archduke Ferdinand will receive the principality of Aschaffenburg as an indemnity of the loss of the Brisgau, as soon as it shall be possible to find an indemnification for the elector arch-chancellor.

General Mathieu Damas has been sent, on the part of the French emperor, to take possession of Venetian Dalmatia.

Several foreigners have been arrested here by the French, and sent to France.

HAMBURG, February 11.

Letters from Hanover of the 8th inst. mention, that on the 7th, the regiment of the duke of Brunf- wick entered that city, and marched to Cell, where a Prussian field hospital had already arrived. The Bri- tish troops have evacuated Bremen, and have for the most part, re-embarked. A great dissention prevails among his Britannic majesty's legion. At the last fair, 300 of the cavalry arrived at Brunswick, where they fold their horses and proceeded on farther.

Some of the German papers contain an account, that the French army had actually entered the king- dom of Naples, and dispersed the combined forces in an engagement, in which the prince royal of Naples is said to have lost his life. These rumours, however, require official confirmation.

According to private letters from Paris, the Nea- politan ambassador marquis de Gallo, had been ordered to quit that city in 24 hours. Cardinal Ruffo was expected there from Naples, but orders are said to have been sent by Napoleon to the frontiers, not to permit him to enter the French territory. Their Si- cilian majesties have returned to Palermo, and the king of Sardinia has returned to his island.

Since Buonaparte's return to Paris, the French Bank has retained its payments. Ninety-six large eaks, full of gold and silver, escorted by a large body of troops, preceded Napoleon's entrance, and have been deposited in the palace of the Thuilleries.

General Layrillon has taken possession of Venice in the name of Napoleon. The French boast much of having become such near neighbors to the Turks.

CASSEL, February 1.

Letters from Berlin contain some curious infor- mation on the subject of the negotiations between Prus- sia and France particularly respecting Hanover. Even so far back as the 15th of December, an agreement was made between the courts of Berlin and St. Cloud, concerning various projects, one particular of which was, that Brunswick Lunenburg should be taken pos- session of by Prussian troops; that the fortrefs of Hameln should be evacuated by the French; that France should immediately treat with England for a peace, and should receive Hanover, as conquered country as a compensation; and that the should re- ceive the same monthly contribution out of that elec- torate which she did when her troops were in posses- sion of it.

BALTIMORE, April 2.

LONDON, February 21.

Capture of Medina.—Last night a packet arrived at the India house from Mr. Barker, the company's resident at Bagdat, containing an account of the cap- ture of Medina by the Wahabees, whose army, hav- ing been reinforced from the desert, has overwhelmed the adjacent country, and taken the city by assault, with infinite bloodshed and devastation. They set fire to Medina, in various places, destroying the mosques, after having ransacked them of their valu- able shrines and treasures, and completely demolished the tomb of the Prophet.

Some thousands of females of the first rank were carried off by the besiegers into the desert, with a number of the principal male inhabitants. A troop of camels were also sent away with jewels and other treasure to an immense amount.

Our letters from Holland continue to assert that Buonaparte persevered in his earnest entreaties to the king of Prussia, to induce his majesty to shut his ports against the commerce of England, and it is feared that the implacable tyrant will ultimately carry his point in this respect. Much, however, will depend upon the result of the negotiations now pending at Berlin, in which the Danish minister takes a conspicuous part.

A council of the cabinet minister was yesterday af- ternoon held at Mr. Secretary Fox's office, in Downing street. Rumour stated, that the deliberations re- lated to the subject of peace; but we could not trace this rumour to any authentic source.

A private letter from Bremen of the 11th instant contains the following article, relative to the senten- ces passed on the officers whose conduct produced the recent misfortunes to the house of Austria:

"You have of course heard that the archduke Charles had caused a thorough investigation into the causes of the misfortunes of the imperial armies in Germany, and, astonishing to think, the undermentio- ned persons, so high in the confidence of his majesty, are said to have had the following sentences passed upon them, for the criminal part they have acted in the late transactions—

Prince Auersberg, to be deprived of his nobility, his estates confiscated, and imprisoned ten years in the fortrefs of Spielberg.

Prince Lambert, imprisoned for life, in the said fortrefs.

General Jell, sentenced to be shot.

Privy Counsellor Callenbach, ordered to quit the imperial states.

Counsellor Fafabender, to be dismissed from his of- fice.

Field-marshal Kaunitz, and field-marshal Aufen- berg, have committed suicide while under arrest.

All the staff officers of the regiments of Kaunitz and Spork, reduced and disgraced.

Count Cobentzel, ordered to quit the country.

General Mack's plans to be submitted to a board of general officers.

Thirty generals dismissed, and many more under examination.

The trimming policy of the cabinet of Berlin is universally reprobated in the north of Germany. It has formally acknowledged the mock sovereigns of Bavaria and Wirtemberg.

The merchants of the city of London have drawn up a petition to government, praying that a more effi- cient protection than that hitherto granted may be of- fered to commerce. In this petition it is set forth, that, notwithstanding the heavy convoy duty at pre- sent imposed, the number of our merchant ships cap- tured during the last three months, has been far greater than during the whole of the present war besides. As a remedy for a grievance so serious and alarming, the merchants propose to government, to commission an additional number of armed luggers, to serve as con- voy, and to cruise in the channel, which now swarms with the privateers of the enemy.

We understand that a close blockade of all the ene- my's ports is one of the measures determined upon by the new board of admiralty.

Accounts were yesterday received from Dublin, of partial disturbances having arisen in the county of Mayo, but wholly unconnected with any political question. They are stated to have originated solely in the vexatious manner, to the poorer classes, in which the tythes are let, and in which they are collected.

February 23.

The electors of Bavaria and Wirtemberg were proclaimed kings on the 1st day of this month, at which time Napoleon was at Munich. A report had prevailed on the continent that he intended making a visit to Berlin, where, it appears, the emperor Alex- ander is again expected.

February 26.

It is the general opinion in Spain, that they will be compelled by the French, to march an army against Portugal in the approaching spring. We recollect an article to this effect, in the Moniteur, some days ago, given as intelligence received from Madrid, but which, in all probability, came direct from the French government.

NEW-YORK, March 29.

Capture of the Cape of Good Hope.

By the ship Æolus, captain Mather, arrived yes- terday from Canton and Saint Helena, we have re- ceived the particulars of the capture of the Cape of Good Hope, by a British force under the command of Sir Home Popham and Sir David Baird.

On the 23d of January, the English brig L'Esper, arrived at St. Helena from the Cape of Good Hope, and brought intelligence of the surrender of that place to the English on the 10th of January. The English troops were landed about the 5th of January, on the Hottentot shore. They were much annoyed in landing, by the Dutch light troops, and so on at- tacked by the whole Dutch force under the command of gen. Yansen. A sharp engagement took place. Various were the reports at St. Helena respecting the number killed and wounded; but it was generally supposed that 1000 Dutch, and from 600 to 800 of the English were killed and wounded. The Dutch troops were finally defeated, and gen. Yansen, with about 3000 troops, retreated to the country, and the place capitulated.

The force sent against the Cape consisted of 7300 troops, under the command of gen. Sir David Baird; and the following ships of war under the command of Sir Home Popham, viz. Diadem, 64 guns; Raisan- able, 64; Bellicieux, 64; Diomedes, 50; Narcissus, 58; Leda, 38; another 38 gun frigate; L'Esper brig, 18, and another brig of 18 guns; 3 Indiamen and 38 transports.

The Britannia, a fine ship belonging to the com- pany, having, as report says 300,000l. sterling in specie on board, and a transport, were totally lost off St. Roque—two lives only were lost, one of which was colonel Yorke, of the royal artillery.

Saturday, 10th January, 1806.

Articles of capitulation proposed by the lieutenant- colonel Hieronimus Castmicos van Prophalow, com- mandant of the town, castle, &c. circumjacent forti- fications of the Cape of Good Hope.

To the major-general, in the service of his Britannic majesty, Sir David Baird, K. B. and commander in chief of his majesty's forces, and commodore Sir Home Popham, K. M. commander in chief of his Britannic majesty's naval forces in Table Bay.

Art. 1. The capitulation being signed, the Cape Town, Castle, and circumjacent fortifications shall be immediately surrendered to the troops of his Bri- tannic majesty. The fortifications of the king's blockhouse, Craig's tower, and all the batteries with- in that circuit, on the other side of Camp's Bay.

Art. 2. The garrison shall, at the surrender, march out with all the honours of war—and shall then lay down their arms and become prisoners of war; but such officers as are natives of the colony, or married with natives, or in possession of sufficient landed property to become regularly, and bona fide domiciliated, shall be at liberty to continue here so long as they behave themselves as becoming good subjects and citizens; or proceed to Great-Britain with regular pas- ports, having previously passed their paroles not to serve until regularly exchanged.

Art. 3. All officers, who, according to the pre- vious article must go to Europe, shall be provided with passages at the expence of his Britannic majesty, and shall have leave to realize their property previous to their departure, and receive the same pay as they did in their own service, till the day of their em- barkation.

Art. 4. The French subjects, who, belonging to the stranded privateer Le Atalante, and the stranded privateer Le Napoleon, were casually here, and com- prehended in the capitulation, shall be treated on the same footing as the garrison, but they must all be embarked for Europe, as well as every other French subject in the colony.

Art. 5. The inhabitants of the town, who have borne arms, to be considered as belonging to the town, and may immediately return to their former occupations. But the distinction between the burghers and other inhabitants is to remain the same, and sub- ject to the same restrictions as under the Dutch laws.

Art. 6. All bona fide private property, whether be- longing to the civil or military servants of the go- vernment, to the burghers and inhabitants, to churches, orphans, and other public institutions of that kind, shall remain free and untouched.

Art. 7. Public property of every description, whe- ther consisting of treasure, or naval, or military stores, buildings, estates or merchandises belonging to the Batavian republic or the government of France, shall be delivered up, and proper inventories given of them as soon as possible.

Art. 8. The burghers and inhabitants shall preserve all their rights and privileges which they have enjoyed hitherto, public worship as at present in use, shall also be maintained without alteration.

Art. 9. The paper money actually in circulation shall continue current as heretofore, until the pleasure of his Britannic majesty is known.

Art. 10. The lands and houses, the property of the Batavian republic, which must be delivered in conse- quence of the present capitulation, shall remain as security for that part of the paper money which is not already secured by mortgages upon the estates of individuals, by its having been put to them. This is however to be without prejudice to the free use to be made of the said lands and houses for public purposes.

Art. 11. Prisoners of war, comprehended in the present capitulation, shall not be pressed into his Bri- tannic majesty's service, or engaged against their own free will and consent. With respect to other persons, they are provided for in article 5 of this capitulation.

Art. 12. The inhabitants of Cape Town shall be exempted from having troops quartered on them.

Art. 13. Two ships having been sunk in Table Bay, to the great detriment of the Roadstead—either after the Batavian republic had sent out a flag of truce, or whilst it was in contemplation to do so, they are to be raised again and delivered over in an entire state of repair: this being done without the function of the commandant, the raising of the said ships, shall be incumbent on those who sunk them.

Art. 14. The capitulation shall be signed at Fort Olto this afternoon, when the castle of the Cape Town, and all the adjacent forts previously mentioned, shall be surrendered to his Britannic majesty's troops.

Given under our hands and seals, this thirtieth day of January, in the year of our Lord, 1806, at Pampor, near Fort Knocke.

April 2.

Yesterday, in the circuit court of the United States now sitting in this city, Mr. Samuel G. Ogden came into court and surrendered himself into the custody of the marshal, in discharge of his bail. He was again recognized to appear during the present term, himself in the sum of ten thousand dollars, and one surety in twenty thousand dollars. The district judge presided, none of the judges of the supreme court having arrived in this city.

We have been informed that a mad dog was killed in the precincts of this city yesterday, after having bitten two or three persons and several cows.

As the season is coming on when that dreadful disease, the hydrophobia, more commonly prevails among the canine race, we hasten to lay before our readers the following account of a remedy which has every appearance of being effectual.—[Evening Post.]

STATE OF NEW-YORK.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE.

Pursuant to the direction of an act, entitled, "An act for granting a compensation to John M. Crous, for discovering and publishing a cure for the canine madness," passed the 20th day of February, 1806, I do hereby certify, that the said John M. Crous hath this day deposited in this office a certain writing, purporting to be the remedy used by him with certain success for more than twenty years past, for the cure of the hydrophobia or canine madness—which writing is in the words and figures following, to wit:

"Cure for the Bite of the Mad Dog."

"The following is an account and prescription of a cure for the hydrophobia or canine madness, made by John M. Crous, in conformity to an act of the legislature of this State of New-York, passed in their present session, viz:

"1st. Take one ounce of the jaw bone of a dog, burned and pulverized, or pounded to fine dust.

"2dly. Take the false tongue of a newly folded eel; let that be also dried and pulverized—and,

"3dly. The one scruple of the verdigrease, which is raised on the surface of old copper by laying in moist earth; the coppers of George I. or II. are the purest and best. Mix these ingredients together, and if the patient be an adult or full grown, take the common tea spoonful a day, and so in proportion for a child according to its age, one half of the copper of the above kind, if to be had; if not, then a small increased quantity of any baser metal of the same kind—this to be taken in a small quantity of water.

Take next morning fasting (or before eating) repeat the same as before. This if complied with after the biting of the dog, or before symptoms of madness, will effectually prevent any appearance of the disorder; but if after the symptoms appear, a physician must be immediately applied to, to administer the following, viz:

"Three drams of verdigrease of the kind before-mentioned, mixed with half an ounce of calomel, to be taken at one dose. This quantity the physician need not fear to administer, as the re-action of the venom then diffused through the whole system of the patient, neutralizes considerably the powerful quality of the medicine—

"Secondly, if in three hours thereafter the patient is not completely relieved, administer four grains of pure opium, or one.

N. B. The patient must be careful to avoid the use of milk for several days after taking any of the foregoing medicine.

"JOHN M. CROUS.

"Albany, ss. John M. Crous being duly sworn, deposes, that the above account and prescription for the remedy and cure for the hydrophobia or canine madness, is a just and true account and prescription, and the only one used and practised upon by himself more than 20 years past, and which has not failed of perfect success, in any instance of the vast number of unfortunate human beings who have been bitten by mad dogs, and who have applied to him, the deponent, for relief.

JOHN M. CROUS.

"Sworn the 24th day of March, 1806, before me, James Kent, chief justice, &c.

M. m.—The word three in the last line of the first page written before an erasure, and then sworn to.

J. KENT."

Hostilities with the Spaniards.

A letter from judge Rodney, dated at the Natches, corroborates the account which has been published of a rencounter between a party of Spaniards, and a number of American troops near our frontiers. The Judge writes, (under date of Feb. 18,) that the Spanish governor and his people, having been ordered to desist from their surveys, and to quit the American territory, had resisted, but were compelled to retire —that collecting a reinforcement of 500 horse, they returned two days afterwards, when an action ensued between them and the American troops under capt. Porter, in which the Spaniards were beaten, and again forced to retire.—Boston pap.

A Charleston paper of the 25th ult. says, "We are informed that several counterfeit bank notes, of 50 and 100 dollars, of the Branch Bank of Baltimore and New-York, are now in circulation in this city."

MIRANDA—AGAIN!!

From a Philadelphia paper, April 3.

Extract of a letter from Baltimore, dated March 31.

"By an arrival this day from St. Domingo, in 17 days, it appears, that the Leander was actually at Jacquemel, organizing and recruiting for the Maine. Capt. Lewis, of the ship Emperor, was, it is said, aiding and assisting Miranda, but was not to proceed with him."

Extract of a letter from New-York, dated April 1.

"The district court of the United States opens this day at 12 o'clock—Judge Patterson was to have presided, but is prevented by indisposition. I cannot believe that our administration will bring forward in this court, the cause they at first appeared so anxious to prosecute against Ogden, Smith, and others, although those in opposition eagerly desire it, as they insist that proof will be brought forward in evidence that government was acquainted with the Leander's expedition, and Miranda's plans, as far back as November last.

"What motives led to the suspension of the bill brought forward early this session, prohibiting the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States? what induced them not to consent to gen. Eaton's going? these and many other particulars are now well known and explained since Mr Ogden's journey to Washington.

"Although Ogden says he has no news of the arrival of the Leander at Jacquemel, this is confirmed by letters received in 15 days, and by another under date of the 26th of February, from St. Marks, from a doctor in Ogden's employ, who says that captain Lewis and Miranda were going to visit the emperor Desfalines."

Capt. Chipman arrived at Salem, informs, that the Algerines were out of the Straits, and had taken 3 Portuguese ships, 2 of which were said to be Brazilian. An Algerine frigate was cruising off Madeira. The Portuguese were fitting out 3 frigates to restrain their depredations.

Extract of a letter from an American captain in the Mediterranean, received at Boston, dated January 21, 1806.

"On my passage I was boarded by five cruizers, two British, two French, and one Spaniard; from all of whom, I received the most gentlemanly and polite treatment. I was first boarded by the Unit, British frigate; not a question was asked relative to the origin of the property, but merely whether the ship and property were neutral; and the register, bills of lading, and the invoice of the cargo, were with them sufficient evidence. I concluded from this gentle treatment, they were ignorant of the late decisions of the British courts, and ascribed my easy escape to the want of knowledge. I soon after fell in with the Aetna bomb ketch, right out of Gibraltar. "It is now all over with me," said I, "this fellow has a lesson from a different school; he has studied too deep to let me pass without molestation;" but the same questions were made, and the same treatment were shewn me by the latter as the former, and I was suffered to proceed with the least hindrance possible. The two French cruizers merely asked for the evidence of the neutrality of the ship, and the French consul's certificate; and the Spaniard, in a little dirty Felucca, to my great astonishment came on board bowing and scraping, curving his body into an obtuse angle of at least 30 degrees, and was perfectly satisfied with the examination of the passport in four languages, and declared there was no document like that; it was sufficient, he said, to convince a Turk. This same fellow, twenty years ago, when crimes were committed in the Straights with impunity, would most likely have taken a man's teeth out of his head, if he could find nothing of more value.—Since the commencement of the French revolution, I have not witnessed so much respect for the American flag as I have this passage, nor can I learn that any of our vessels in this quarter have experienced a different treatment of late."

DORIMANT,

Six years old,

WILL stand this season, at Mr. Ogle's farm near Annapolis, at ten dollars a mare, and dollar to the groom.

He is as well bred a horse as any in America, handsome and strong, when in training had great speed, until he fell lame from a hurt received when young.

He was got by the famous horse Gabriel, (first Oscar and Post-Boy,) his dam by Hall's Edgemoor grandam by governor Eden's Badger, (sire of Ogle's Badger,) great-grandam by Morton's Traveller, and of col. Talker's Selima by the Godolphin Arabian.

Gabriel (bred by lord Ossory) was got by Dorimant, dam by Highflyer, grandam by Snap, out of Shepherd's Crab mare, her dam was Miss Mermaid by Cade, out of the Little Hartley mare, so that Dorimant has the Godolphin Arabian blood both by fire and dam.

Gabriel won in three seasons fifteen matches, stakes and plates, including four kings. He beat both the famous horses Waxy and Gohanna, proving himself a capital horse at low and high weights, and long courses.

Pasturage at half a dollar a week, but not answerable for accidents or escapes. The money, or note payable on or before the first of September, will be expected before the mares are taken away.

Dorimant may be seen any morning at Mr. Ogle's stable, in Annapolis.

February 4, 1806.

THE BIRTH DAY OF FREEDOM, OR,
BATTLE OF DERNE.
[Sung by Mr. Woodham, at Mr. Holland's Benefit.]

LET the sons of Columbia, with triumph proclaim,
That the day ever sacred shall be,
When our forefather's rous'd, to break tyranny's chain
And declared they were born to be Free.
Shall the land that gave birth to a Washington fear,
Tho' millions in arms should oppose?
No! those rights we'll defend, by their conquest made
dear,
And destruction, send back on its foes.
As on Derne's wild plain, where the fierce savage
hoft
Fled before us with terror dismay'd, Whilst with war's dreadful thunder, we ravag'd their coast,
And full tribute in Victory paid.
See Liberty's banner, by EATON unfurl'd
On their walls, where our hero commands,
From whose high rampart towers just vengeance he hurld,
And his countrymen's freedom demands.

As the proud swelling wave o'er its bosom shall bear
To our shores the poor exile distress'd,
See the arms of our country, a welcome prepare,
And each forrow dispel from his breast.
Let those blessings, to gain which, with valour we fought,
To the sons of oppression extend,
Who seeking our shores, will by precept be taught Equal rights to respect and defend.

THE WEALTH OF THE COTTAGE.
A BLESSING unknown to ambition and pride,
That fortune can never abate,
To wealth and splendour tho' often deny'd,
Yet on poverty deigns to await;
That blessing, ye powers, oh! be it my lot
The choicest best gift from above;
Deep fix'd in my heart, shall be never forgot—
The wealth of the Cottage is love.
Whate'er my condition, why should I repine,
By poverty never distress'd?
Exulting I felt what a treasure was mine;
A treasure enshrined in my breast.
That blessing, ye powers! still be in my lot;
The choicest best gift from above!
Still fix'd in my heart, it shall ne'er be forgot—
The wealth of the Cottage is love.

Wonderful power of magnetism.
A GENTLEMAN travelling in foreign parts, happened to be benighted, far from any place of accommodation: to avoid the dreariness of the night, in a strange place, he thought it advisable to seek for some shelter, and having discovered a cave, he dismounted his horse, which he fastened by the bridle on the outside of the cave, and then went in and laid himself down in his cloaths, and being much fatigued, fell asleep, nor did he wake till the daylight appeared;
when, to his great astonishment, he found himself suspended by his heels from the roof of the cave.
He made many efforts to free himself from so disagreeable a situation when at length he shuffled his legs out of his boots and came to the ground, almost stunned by the fall; when looking up he perceived the cause of this disaster was owing to the cave being formed out of a rock of loadstone, and he unfortunately having steel spurs on, was attracted up in the manner described; and some say the boots are hanging there yet.

ALL that tract of LAND called Stepney, lying and being in Anne-Arundel county, five miles from Annapolis, containing eight hundred and thirty-five acres; the improvements on this farm are considerable, with many great advantages, there are several good orchards on it, with the choicest fruits of every kind; its situation almost immediately upon South river ensures always good fish and oysters, and at the head of a creek, which bounds the farm on one side, is a considerable portion of excellent meadow ground. It would be too tedious more minutely to describe this land, as a person wishing to purchase would view the premises. One third of the purchase money must be paid in hand, and a liberal credit, with approved security, will be given for the balance. Any person desirous of purchasing at private sale will make application to the subscriber, at Port-Tobacco, Charles county. An unexceptionable title will be given to the purchaser, and possession of the premises on the first day of January, 1807.

Thirty Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the ninth of December last, negro DICK, about forty years of age, five feet seven or eight inches high, well made, of a black complexion, short wool, remarkable wide mouth, thick lips, and flat nose, looks down, and is inclined to flammer when questioned, his fore teeth in his under jaw much worn, some of his finger nails on one hand, it is not recollected which, are very thick, and not of the common form, occasioned by a burn when young. A further description is thought unnecessary, as I suspect he has changed his name and clothing, and will endeavour to pass for a free man, or perhaps he has obtained a pass by some means. Whoever takes up said fellow, and secures him in any gaol, and gives information so that I get him again, shall receive, if taken twenty miles from home TEN DOLLARS, if thirty miles TWENTY DOLLARS, and if forty miles, or out of this state the above reward, and all reasonable charges if brought home.

HENRY WOODWARD.
N. B. All persons are forewarned from harbouring, employing, or carrying off said fellow at their peril.
Anne-Arundel county, February, 1806.

Twenty-five & Fifty Dollars Reward.

ABOUT three years ago I purchased of Walter A. W. Norman, tanner, in Queen-Anne, a black boy named STEPHEN, then fifteen years old, remarkably well disposed, a little defective in his knees, but otherwise stout and well made. This boy, about 8 weeks ago, by the instigation of some very disreputable person, was enticed from my service, and (from information derived through the boy's own colour) I have reason to believe has obtained a pass, and is now harboured and protected under it. He is supposed to be either in the Swamp of West river, or on Kent-Island, where he has a mother named Esther, lately manumitted by a certain Valentine Carter. I will give twenty-five dollars for apprehending said boy, so that I get him again, and fifty dollars for such information as will merely justify my feelings in inflicting the punishment proper for so great a scoundrel.

THOMAS CONTEE BOWIE.

Bond has been given to the amount of 50,000 dollars, to the mayor and city council, for the faithful performance of its conditions.

For Sale, on a long credit,

A VALUABLE country MILL, with about three hundred acres of land adjoining the mill, on the north side of Severn river, about two and a half miles from the ferry, has a constant supply of water, and as much work as it can do—it is one of the best as to water on that side of the river, and some good timber. For terms apply to NICHOLAS BRICE, in Baltimore, or the subscriber, in Annapolis.

SPARTA, (Geo.) March 8.
William Hill, who had for sometime past acted in the capacity of an assistant to Col. Hawkins in the Creek agency, and in which station he had conducted himself to the entire satisfaction of the colonel, on Sunday night the 23d ult. put a period to his existence by hanging himself. The circumstances, as far as we have been able to learn, are—he had been for several days in a deranged state of mind, and had made several attempts to destroy himself—as soon as this was discovered he was confined in one of the small rooms of the Factory of Fort Wilkinson, and every thing taken out of the room with which he could injure himself—when he was discovered he was hanging by means of a small piece of raw hide which he had put over a small peg—the raw hide being too short to admit of his placing it over the peg, he placed a key of nails so that he could, by getting on top of the key, be high enough to hitch the hide to the peg, and so accomplished his purpose. He had been recently appointed agent for the Choctaw department.

CHARLESTON, March 29.
Arrived last evening from the southward, the rev. Mr. Blackburn, a missionary of general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, to the Cherokee Indians. The account this gentleman gives of the improvement of the Indians in civilization, and moral and religious principle, is highly interesting, and to the humane and benevolent mind, is truly gratifying. While the fathers among these savage tribes are turning their attention to the peaceful paths of agriculture, their children are training up under the direction of good and competent men, in the principles of piety and virtue, and learning the necessary rudiments of science, to prepare them for a more regular and refined state of society. Two schools are already established, at which between 50 and 60 young savages are fed, clothed, and instructed in reading, writing, and arithmetic, in which they had made a progress that does credit to their teachers, and displays a capacity in the children, that is worthy of public patronage.

The utility of this pious undertaking has obtained for it the countenance of the highest characters in the United States: And as Mr. Blackburn intends to solicit the assistance of the benevolent, it is hoped that among the charities encouraged by the citizens of Charleston, this, whose beneficial effects will almost be witnessed by our own eyes, will share in the public liberality.

CUMBERLAND, (Md.) April 1.
This morning about four o'clock the inhabitants of this town were called together by the cry of fire. It first broke out in the kitchen of capt. Harry, and before it was discovered had reached his dwelling-house, a large building of wood, which in a few moments, and by the time the citizens assembled, was wrapt in one entire blaze of flame, which bid defiance to every possible effort to extinguish it, and left them time only to get out a very small part of the furniture. Adjoining capt. Harry's was the fine large brick building belonging to Mr. Hoffman, to which the flame communicated; and as the town was totally destitute of ladders, hooks, and every thing useful on such an occasion, the fury of the flame could not be checked, and we became painful spectators to the destruction of the most valuable house in town, and obliged to lend our effort only to the saving the furniture, and stopping the fire, which now had reached the out-houses; these being low, were more within our power, and together with the stables were preserved. The night was highly favourable; a slight sprinkle of rain, and no air, saved us; had there been a wind, as has generally been the case all the spring, the lower part of the town must inevitably have perished. Mr. Hoffman's house was occupied as a tavern, and for years has been our principal one, and the loss to him is great and severe; but to capt. Harry it is greater, for his all is gone; and from a state of independence, procured by his own industry, in a few hours finds himself reduced to poverty and want.—The generous liberality of our citizens upon this occasion reflects the highest credit upon their characters.—A few hours after the fire had ceased, they pretty generally got together, and with a truly noble spirit, every man cheerfully threw in his little, and seemed anxious to be forward in doing something for his distressed and unfortunate neighbours.—The loss upon this occasion may be estimated at about six to eight thousand dollars; and a subscription is on foot for the purpose of repaying in some degree the injury sustained by the principal sufferers. It is difficult satisfactorily to tell how this fire took rise, as the family say a few half extinguished embers only were left in the fireplace when they went to bed.

DREADFUL HURRICANE.
About the 20th of Nov. one of the most violent hurricanes was experienced on the coast of Spain, that ever was remembered. A letter received by a respectable house in London, from Valencia, of the 23d ult. states its effects to have been most dreadful in that place. It rained incessantly for four days, during which time, upwards of 200 houses were washed away, and not a vestige of them left behind; a number of persons in endeavouring to save their effects, lost their lives. To add to the disaster, numbers of shipping were driven ashore and shivered to pieces, and many of the people on board perished. The Ber-bice Packet, belonging to the house by whom the letter was received, was one of the ships driven on shore; and although strong built, she did not survive the hurricane half an hour.

NEW-YORK, April 8.
The grand jury have found bills against Samuel G. Ogden, Col. W. S. Smith, Capt. Wm. Armstrong, Gen. Miranda and Capt. Thomas Lewis.

Our correspondent at Kingston, under date of the 17th inst. says "Admiral Duckworth's squadron failed from Kingston on the 10th inst. with the prize-ships Jupiter, &c. for England."

We have been favoured with a letter from the captain of one of the Jamaica fleet, bound to Halifax, dated March 14, lat. at 37, 45, long. 73, which mentions that the commodore of the fleet had just hailed him, and informed, that the day before he gave chase to a large ship, which he supposed to be a French line of battle of 74 guns, apparently in distress, steering for Virginia—and had that moment parted convoy for Halifax, to give information to the commander there. On the Florida Reef the 20th of March, the commodore's ship struck and lost her rudder. The brig Minerva of Quebec, and brig Truly of Halifax, were both on shore and both destroyed—the latter a complete wreck and full of water.

A letter from Canton, received by the Manderne, at Bolton, says—"Perhaps it may alleviate affliction by your giving notice that two of the crew of the late ship Bolton, captured at Nootka, were living with the natives at that place, in Sept. 1804. If my memory serves me, one is named Thompson, the other Jewett Rogers, both, I believe, belong to Bolton—the former, I understand, is the son of a boat builder, living at the north end of the town. Every other person on board the ship was massacred.—The above mentioned were badly wounded in the attack; but after the natives got possession of the ship, and learnt these two were mechanics, they were spared.—Shortly after they recovered. This may be relied on."

The schooner Medusa, captain Gold, arrived here on Saturday in 12 days from Lagaira.—She had been sent out express, to apprise the government of the province of Caracas of Miranda's expected expedition; he had not been heard of when captain Gold failed. If Miranda is actually bound to Caracas, it is probable his attempt will fail, as with notice to the government, the force he has must be inadequate to any important object. [Norfolk Ledger.]

Reports are in circulation, (says the Salem Register,) that in the river of Canton, piratical boats had been employed, and they had attempted to take an American vessel, and had been repulsed with great loss.

From the Georgia Republican.
The gentleman who was the bearer of the following account of the Sack Indians, informed us, that he brought dispatches from his excellency governor Claiborne, to the commander in chief of this state; which, no doubt, throws more light on the subject. Extract of a letter from major Drury Bart, to the editors of this paper, dated Jackson county, State of Tennessee, Feb. 15th, 1806.

"I transmit to you a small detail of the transactions and depredations lately committed by the tribe or nation of Sack Indians, on the other side of the Mississippi, on the bodies of eleven people, seven of whom were men, one woman and her three children, on the 12th instant. This affair took place about 4 o'clock in the morning, when to my great astonishment, I heard a tremendous howling, shouting, crying, and shooting with guns; I immediately got out of bed, looked out of the door, and observed a body encamped within about 400 yards of my house, where they struck up several fires; and on seeing them we immediately took our cloaths in our arms and retreated to the swamp; in which situation we continued the next day and night without any refreshment, except swamp water—at last I formed a resolution, knowing I was to be beggared or reduced to hardship for the remainder of my life, I took my departure from the swamp, and shaped my course towards my former habitation, my hopes were in the Almighty—on approaching my dwelling-house, I found it on fire, and I immediately penetrated the little building which contained my furniture and other effects, which were rummaged and plundered, except a small desk and two beds, which I put out side of the door, so that they might not be destroyed; when I found that the fire became too hot, I departed from the house, taking with me my beds wrapt in a sheet, leaving my little desk behind, intending to return for it, and accordingly did, and when approaching within about a quarter of a mile on a rising hill, I observed between five or six hundred of this tribe; I went back and alarmed my little camp, and packed our horses, consisting of only five, took our departure, and came in eleven days to Jackson county."

In CHANCERY, April 10, 1806.

DORIMANT,

Six years old,
WILL stand this season, at Mr. Ogle's farm, near Annapolis, at ten dollars a mare, and a dollar to the groom.

He is as well bred a horse as any in America, handsome and strong, when in training had great speed, until he fell lame from a hurt received when young.

He was got by the famous horse Gabriel, (fire of Oscar and Post-Boy,) his dam by Hall's Eclipse, grandam by governor Eden's Badger, (fire of Ogle's Badger,) great-grandam by Morton's Traveller, out of col. Taker's Selima by the Godolphin Arabian.

Gabriel (bred by lord Offory) was got by Dorimant, dam by Highflyer, grandam by Snap, out of Shepherd's Crab mare, her dam was Miss Meredith by Code, out of the Little Hartley mare, so that Do-rimant has the Godolphin Arabian blood both by fire and dam.

Gabriel won in three seasons fifteen matches, stakes and plates, including four kings. He beat both the famous horses Waxy and Gohanna, proving himself a capital horse at low and high weights, short and long courses.

Pasturage at half a-dollar a week, but not answerable for accidents or escapes. The money, or notes payable on or before the first of September, will be expected before the mares are taken away.

Dorimant may be seen any morning at Mr. Ogle's stable, in Annapolis.

February 4, 1806.

deceased. All persons having claims against said de-

Poet's Corner.

SELECTED.

From the Connecticut Gazette.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The following original effusions on a Segar, by a youth of 16, with a counterpart on Snuff, by a youth of the same age—both members of Bacon Academy, Colchester—are not unworthy to be numbered with the elder smoothly flowing streams of Helicon.

THE SEGAR.

YE Muses! hear,
Your vot'ry's pray'r,
Descend and aid my humble strain:
Leave now the fount,
The tow'ring mount,
The shady grove and grassy plain:

Where flow'rs of morn,
The fields adorn,
And shed their sweet perfumes in air;
Where purling streams
Emit the gleams
Of morning, rising from afar.

O, leave the shade,
The verdant glade,
To aid your vot'ry's strain, appear!
Let magic fire,
The song inspire,
And sweetly charm the list'ning ear.

I choose a theme,
Which well may claim
The Muses' kind and fostering care;
Let others raise
The hero's praise,
Thy charms, I sing, O, sweet SEGAR!

The flowing bowl
Inspires the soul
To lust, to rage, and horrid war!
But friendly peace,
Thy fumes increase,
And social converse, sweet SEGAR!

In silent shade,
When earth is laid,
And lovely evening mounts her car;
While zephyrs tread,
The lonely mead,
O, how I love the sweet SEGAR!

While warrior's rage,
And, from his cage,
Let out the bloody fiend of war;
And pant for fame,
An idle name,
I, peaceful, ask a sweet SEGAR.

When bleak winds howl,
And tempests growl,
And snow and hail congeal the air;
Beside the fire,
Then I admire
A social friend, a sweet SEGAR.

While fumes arise
Before my eyes,
All cares and pain, they waft afar;
Then is the time
For joy and rhyme,
And social bliss, my sweet SEGAR!

If cares oppress,
If love distress,
And fortune's frowns my pleasures mar;
If life decay,
Joys fleet away,
I ask a friend, a sweet SEGAR.

SNUFF.

O, Muse! whom  has enjoy'd,
Thy generous aid has been employ'd,
On his Segars, enough:
Now leave thy favour'd poets bow'r,
And grant me one poetic hour,
To sing the praise of SNUFF!

If e'er, perchance, the simp'ring cit,
Has wasted all his store of wit,
What then shall help him out?
His hand quick to his pocket goes,
He holds the rappee to his nose,
And hands the box about.

Ask but the dame, whose sombre nose
Sheds crumbling essence as she goes,
What makes her lip so rough?
She'll tell, at once, the grateful truth,
That she has sneez'd away her youth,
In all the joys of SNUFF.

The powder'd beau is quite in fear
His brilliant ring will not appear,
And be admir'd enough;
He soon can bring it into sight,
If he will fix his fingers right,
And take a pinch of SNUFF.

Some may segars and pipes befriend,
But soon their short liv'd pleasures end,
And vanish in a puff.
All other trades must ere long fail,
But ages yet unborn shall hail
The man who first made SNUFF.

ANNAPOLIS, Thursday, April 24, 1806.

NEW-YORK, April 18.

By the brig Integrity, capt. FULTON, arrived yester- day from Jamaica, we have received Kingston and Montego Bay papers to the 22d ult. They contain the following intelligence.

KINGSTON, March 15.

On Sunday morning the Superb, of 74 guns, capt. Keats, bearing the flag of vice-admiral Sir John T. Duckworth, K. B. and the Haddock schooner, of 4 guns, lieutenant Foley, sailed from Port-Royal; the former to rejoin the fleet under the command of vice-admiral lord Collingwood, stationed off Cadiz and in the Mediterranean; and the latter on a cruise. Sir John received the customary salutes on getting under weigh.

Le Jupiter, of 74 guns, capt. Gill, sailed on Monday morning for Great-Britain.

The Donnell, of 80 guns, capt. Malcolm, and Le Brave, of 74 guns, capt. Boger, sailed on Tuesday morning: L. Alexander, of 80 guns, capt. Impey, and the Spencer, of 74 guns, the hon. captain Stopford, on Wednesday morning, and the Canopus, of 80 guns, capt. Austen, bearing the flag of rear-admiral Louis, on Thursday morning, for Great-Britain. Lieutenant-general Nugent, our late worthy lieutenant-governor, and several officers of his suite, went passengers in the Canopus, and brigadier-general Carmichael, late second in command, in Le Brave. The usual salutes were fired on the Canopus's quitting Port-Royal.

March 22.

The Success frigate, of 32 guns, capt. Aylcough, sailed on Wednesday for Halifax.

"A very extraordinary and somewhat mysterious circumstance has occurred here and excited considerable curiosity, not unattended with anxiety. A woman, who represented herself as the widow of a capt. Watson, and pleaded great distress, applied to capt. Morie, of the brig Hope, of Philadelphia, for a passage for herself and female child, about six years old, to this island, which was given gratuitously.

"This vessel having been boarded and plundered by a French felucca near Turks-Island, the woman with the child went on board another American schooner, from which she threw the child into the sea, whence it was taken nearly suffocated. She a second time threw the child overboard and it was again picked up. They were at length brought into Port Mouton and a passage was taken for them in a plain-tain-boat coming to this port. They had been but a very short time on board when the woman seizing the child in her arms, plunged into the sea. Humanity was again excited, and with effect; they were preserved. The child was found. The woman is not her mother, but that she is the daughter of a Mr. Smith, a carpenter in Philadelphia, and was clandestinely stolen from her parents.

"In the present state of business, nothing further should be said; the woman is now too ill to undergo an examination, and, until that takes place, it would look too much like prejudice to give any opinion as to her guilt or innocence; whether impelled by mental derangement or innate depravity may appear hereafter."

CHARLESTON, April 3.

Our last London papers mention a report that another French squadron, consisting of several sail of the line, had during the tempestuous weather made their escape from Brest early in February.

Captain Woodward, arrived this morning, fell in with a British squadron off Madeira on the 16th February. They consisted of nine sail of the line and two frigates; and informed that they were in pursuit of that part of the French fleet which had escaped from Brest under Jerome Buonaparte.

A few days before capt. Jewitt left Guadaloupe, the ship Felicite, capt. Jones, of Philadelphia, arrived from Bordeaux. It was immediately proclaimed by the officers of the government, that accounts were received of a general continental peace—that Hamburg had been seized by Prussia—and that Kosciuszko had been proclaimed king of Poland.

Capt. Jewitt informs that the British frigates detained and sent into Antigua and Monserrat, every Danish and American vessel they fall in with.

April 7.

The ship Leander arrived from New-York at Jacmel, about the first of March: as soon as her arrival was known at Port-au-Prince, the ship Emperor, capt. Lewis, sailed to join her—a number of Americans that were there, went on board as volunteers. It is certain that the expedition is intended for the Caraccas; those engaged in it made no doubt of their success, as they were assured they would be received with great joy by the colonists there, who were stated to be ready for a revolution. The Leander had one hundred and eighty men on board, these and those who went from Port-au-Prince, it was supposed would make a force of about two hundred and fifty men, that could be spared from the ships to make a landing. It was said that the Leander had great quantities of arms, ammunition, and cloathing, on board. Many commissions were given to Americans at Port-au-Prince. A Mr. Kirkland, from Boston, was appointed a colonel. A number of articles, such as cloathing, saddles, &c. were purchased at Port-au-Prince.

BALTIMORE, April 18.

A letter from an intelligent gentleman at Laguayra, to his friend in this city, dated the 16th inst. is silent as to any preparations of any kind made there to oppose the expedition under general Miranda. This silence is considered as contradictory of the letter from the same place, published in yesterday's Gazette. The embargo which took place on the following day, indicates, at all events, the apprehensions of the government, and their intention of making some show of resistance.

As exhibiting a complete view of the last and present administrations of the British government, the following statement, selected from our London papers is an article of considerable interest.

Attorney-General to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

Mr. Garrow, Mr. Adam.

It will be recollected also, that lord Ellenborough has a seat in the cabinet.

The following melancholy article is copied from the "Pennsylvania Correspondent," printed at Doylestown, in Bucks county, Pennsylvania.

News of murders and robberies, generally excites a greater degree of interest, than information of any other kind. Intelligence is circulating in this neighbourhood, of which the following is the substance. Its authenticity is not sworn to; but should it prove to have been a melancholy reality, the public shall hear "more about it."

A man living on or near the Dry Lands, who had to pay the sum of $800k about the first of April, called on a neighbour who kept a public house, informed him of the payment he had to make, and observed he had the whole amount, at his own house, except 15k, which he wished to loan for a few weeks; the landlord very cheerfully agreed to lend the sum required, stating that he had it not in possession, but expected to go abroad the next day to collect the money, and would return in the evening, when his neighbour might call and receive the sum wanted. With the joy which an honest man derives from the expectation of being able to fulfil his contract, did the neighbour call at the time appointed; the landlord had not returned; he therefore waited contentedly, every moment expecting him to come in; at the request of the landlady, he concluded to retire to bed, and if asleep, at the return of her husband, he was to be called up; it being late he soon fell asleep—but had not slept long before his slumbers were disturbed by terrific dreams; he awoke his bed-fellow (a pedler who had taken his lodgings there for one night only) and informed him he had dreamed his house was on fire, and his wife and children enveloped in the flames. The pedler intreated him to lie down and quiet his apprehensions; but expostulations are unavailing to a man whose imagination is disordered from the idea that his family are in imminent danger. He would go home, and the pedler feeling interested in the interpretation of the dream, agreed to accompany him, taking along a pair of excellent pistols which he had with him, well loaded. The night was dark, and as they approached the house, a bright light excited new and strong suspicions. Each taking a pistol, they cautiously approached the lighted window, where with astonishment, they beheld 3 men with blackened faces, counting money at a table; each of the spectators singled out his man, and two of the midnight plunderers fell lifeless on the floor; the third was met at the door, but conscious guilt had unnerved his arm—he was soon dispatched. Reader, "If you have tears prepare to shed them now." The agitated husband went into his bed chamber, where the wife of his bosom, and three young children were weltering in blood, and closing their eyes in death; having been inhumanly butchered "in the unsuspecting moments of sleep," by the three persons before mentioned. My informant could not give the names of the parties, but states, that on washing the blackened faces of the deceased robbers, they proved to be near neighbours of the owner of the house, and were intimate family connexions.

By late advices from Gorte, we learn that Mungo Park, had arrived at the head of the Niger, and was building boats to proceed up that river. The captain and several of his escort had died. [American.]

Letters from Canton, via Boston, bore that the English China fleet had safely arrived there. [Phil. Gaz.]

NEW-YORK, April 16.

The hon. WILLIAM PINNEY, Esq; of this state, is appointed minister extraordinary to the court of St. James's.

LONDON, February 17.

Lord Henry Petty said he did not wish to do any thing that might be considered as taking the house by surprise; and he would therefore give notice, that to-morrow he should move that the house do adjourn till Monday, and on Monday he should move for the joint account between Great-Britain and Ireland.

Act of Union with Ireland.

The speaker said, the hon. member was wholly irregular in making an allusion to any thing that passed in a former debate. However, gentlemen are at liberty to make any explanation they may think proper.

Mr. Alexander said his object in alluding to this subject was to quiet the public mind, which had been in a state of considerable agitation.

It is said that his Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence will immediately hoist his flag as admiral of the white, and take command of the second division of the channel fleet, under the earl of St. Vincent.

The Courier which arrived this day, confirms the appointment of Mr. Curran to the office of attorney-general for Ireland. It also states that Mr. Foster was to resign his situation on Tuesday.

Some time since in making an excavation before one of the gates of Stuttgart, the workmen discovered the bones and teth of an elephant. The largest of the teeth is six feet long. Six years since, in digging at a little distance from the same place, were also found the skeletons of 14 elephants, which appeared of a different nature from those we now know. At the side of the bones of the elephant were found the bones of a rhinoceros. Here are ample materials for conjecture on the antiquity, the flooding and the changes of the globe. [London papers.]

We learn by a letter from New-York, that the court over-ruled the plea in abatement of Mr. Ogden's counsel as to the illegality of the testimony submitted to the grand jury, and put the defendants to plead upon the indictments. [Phil. paper.]

"Between the Swan Inn, in Birmingham, (Eng.) and St. Martin's church, there is an open, bold space of ground, occasioned by the removal of the old thames and a number of small houses, in the middle of which the inhabitants of that town are about erecting an august pillar to the memory of the late lord Nelson. Already more than two thousand pounds sterling are subscribed for the purpose. Nearly 100,000,000 have been collected in the kingdom, at different churches, chapels, and meeting-houses, for the relief of the relatives of the seamen who fell at Nelson's victory—although not many more than 500 persons are said to be objects of this charity."

Accounts by the America, from Rio Pongo, confirm the reports of the arrival of a French Squadron on that coast. They were stated to consist of one 74, a 50 gun ship, three frigates and a brig; had captured the Favourite sloop of war, and a brig; were scouring the coast, and it was supposed, would take possession of Coree. The Arab sloop of war had failed for the Isles de Los, and it was expected would fall into their hands:—[Ibid.]

United States.*

Under these circumstances, and considering that the several provisions of the act of March twenty-fifth, one thousand eight hundred and four, will cease in consequence of the ratification of the treaty of peace with Tripoli, now advised and consented to by the senate, I have thought it my duty to communicate these facts, in order that congress may consider the expediency of continuing the same provisions for a limited time, or making others equivalent.

AN EXTRACT.

"A Bofom should remain unseen,
"Hid from the lawless glance;
"No charm there is, so great, I ween,
"Which fancy's dream cannot enhance.
"The scanty robe, and bosom bare,
"Wither the bud of virgin shame;
"The sleeveless arm and forward stare,
"Ill become the virgin's name.
"What steals the blush of timid shame,
"Steals the first of beauty's charms;
"What grace and modesty disclaim,
"Can add no force to beauty's arms.
"I love to see the maid aspire,
"By other arts to please,
"I love the simple, neat attire,
"Combining elegance with ease."

RESIGNATION.

THE rose has its thorns; and the violet tho' fair,
From its sweet purple leaves, deadly poison supplies;
And when bright is the sky, soft and gentle the air,
How oft, unexpected, a storm will arise.

Yet who would, thro' fear, pass unnoticed the rose?
Or stunn the perfume of the violet's sweet breath?
Or shrink from the air, while the mild zephyr blows,
Lest a cloud yet unseen scatter tempest and death?

The thorn of the rose, when 'tis gather'd with care,
Has seldom been known the possessor to wound;
And the peasant scarce shudders the tempest to hear,
Rememb'ring the verdure it pours on the ground.

The poison conceal'd in the sweet violet's leaves,
Lies harmless, till forced into action by art;
And the sorrows of life, which mild patience receives,
Have lost half their power to torture the heart.

Bloom on, lovely rose; modest violet, bloom;
Unhurt by the tempest, undrenched by the rain;
Yet a canker, alas, may thy beauty consume,
And scatter thy withering leaves on the plain.

But thy thorn is forgot while we think on thy sweets,
The tempest not dreaded while clear is the sky;
And the heart which, resigned, stern calamity meets,
Thinks on blessings received, and represses the sigh.

THE SILENT TEAR.

THE tear which silent falls,
When misery tells its woes,
Adds beauty to the eye,
Like dew upon the rose.
The sigh which swells the breast
And rends the heart with pain,
Is dear to virtue's cause,
Humanity's best claim.

The feeling, manly heart,
Ne'er hears them plead in vain;
Alive to all their grief,
It feels for all their pain.
Unseen by human kind,
It seeks for misery's haunt,
And offers to the Poor
The little they may want.

Oh! did you know the bliss
Soft Pity e'er imparts,
Or feel the pure delight
It kindles in the heart;
How oft would you relieve
The beggar at your door,
Protect misfortune's child
Befriend the Orphan Poor.

ANECDOTE.

Two sailors went into a church at Plymouth, on the thanksgiving day, both of whom belonged to the Temeraire, at the ever memorable battle off Trafalgar. The clergyman, in the course of his sermon, mentioned the words "glorious victory," on which one of the tars observed to the other, "Hear, Jack, there's the Victory." The clergyman pronounced the word "victory," a second time, on which the tar observed, "mind, Jack, there's the victory again." The clergyman, not long after, mentioned the word "victory" a third time, on which the irritated tar observed to his companion, "D—n my eyes, Jack, if we stop here any longer—that fellow has mentioned the Victory three times, and never mentioned the Temeraire, that was in the hottest part of the engagement, and took two ships," when they immediately left the church.

THE subscriber wants, this spring, eighty or one hundred cords of good Spanish, water, black or white oak bark, he will give from seven to nine dollars per cord, or at any rate he will give one dollar more than the Baltimore price, if brought to this city; any one having that article to dispose of, within twenty miles of Annapolis, and find it inconvenient to peal or deliver it, he will get it himself, and give a good price in proportion.

NOTICE.

Will be sold, to the highest bidder, on Friday, the 12th day of September next, if fair, if not, the first fair day afterwards, unless disposed of at private sale before the 1st of September, in which case public notice will be given.

ALL that tract of LAND called Stepnay, lying and being in Anne-Arundel county, five miles from Annapolis, containing eight hundred and thirty-five acres; the improvements on this farm are considerable, with many great advantages, there are several good orchards on it, with the choicest fruits of every kind; its situation almost immediately upon South river ensures always good fish and oysters, and at the head of a creek, which bounds the farm on one side, is a considerable portion of excellent meadow ground. It would be too tedious more minutely to describe this land, as a person willing to purchase would view the premises. One third of the purchase money must be paid in hand, and a liberal credit, with approved security, will be given for the balance. Any person desirous of purchasing at private sale will make application to the subscriber, at Port-Tobacco, Charles county. An unexceptionable title will be given to the purchaser, and possession of the premises on the first day of January, 1807.

All prizes will be paid within sixty days from the completion of the drawing; and such as may not be demanded within twelve months after will be considered as generous donations to the objects of the lottery. Bond has been given to the amount of 50,000 dollars, to the mayor and city council, for the faithful performance of its conditions.

Tickets may be had of the managers, and of such other persons as they may appoint; and prizes in the Cathedral and Second Presbyterian Church Lotteries will be received in payment.

Twenty-five & Fifty Dollars Reward.

ABOUT three years ago I purchased of Walter W. Norman, tanner, in Queen-Anne, a black boy named STEPHEN, then fifteen years old, remarkably well disposed, a little defective in his knees, but otherwise stout and well made. This boy, about 6 weeks ago, by the instigation of some very disreputable person, was enticed from my service, and (from information derived through the boy's own colour) I have reason to believe has obtained a pass, and is now harboured and protected under it. He is supposed to be either in the Swamp of West river, or on Kent Island, where he has a mother named Esther, lately manumitted by a certain Valentine Carter. I will give twenty-five dollars for apprehending said boy, so that I get him again, and fifty dollars for such information as will merely justify my feelings in inflicting the punishment proper for so great a scoundrel.
