POLITICAL NOTICE.

The Democrats of Wicomico are requested to meet in their several Election Districts, at the usual places of voting, on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15TH, at 2 o'clock, P. M., to select two (2) Delegates to represent them in the County Convention to be held in the Court House at Salisbury, Md.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18TH, at the hour of 11 o'clock, A. M., to nominate candidates for two Delegates to the Legislature, one Sheriff, five County Commissioners and one County Surveyor, to be voted for at the election in November next.

H. HUMPHREYS,
PURNELL TOADYNE,
A. J. CHAWFORD,
Democratic Central Committee for Wicomico County. [Aug. 24th, '77.]

The Somerset Herald says the friends of Dr. Wm. H. Gale are urging him to be a candidate for Comptroller of the Treasury. The Doctor is a high-toned gentleman of the strictest integrity, well worthy the support of the people, and would make a strong candidate, and an excellent Comptroller. If he gets the nomination, Wicomico will give him a rousing majority.

NINETEEN THIRDS.—Brigham Young is dead, and his estate is now subject to a division among his representatives. His wives, nineteen in number, must be provided for. Ann Eliza claims to be divorced, but the Courts not having allowed her alimony, she had as well claim to be endowed. One or two have died, and of course there will be some reduction in the number of claims.—Eleven are known to be living. How will the administrator ascertain how to give each one third?

The Two Frands.
Mr. Hayes the larger, and Mr. Key the smaller, have been exhibiting through the New England States for the last ten days. Hayes gets up and tells the people how necessary it was for them to have a fraudulent President like himself, and how necessary it was also for him to take some more frauds into his Cabinet, inasmuch as that little fraud he was taking around with him, claimed to be a Democrat, and he thought if he defrauded the Republican party out of a Cabinet officer, it might help to appease the wrath of the people who had been defrauded. So he took Key in. Well, we have no objection, since the Government has become an almshouse. It might as well take in poor Key as any one.—But we do object to Key speaking for those who are not acknowledged paupers, and who have not yet become so poor as to claim the bounty of his fraudulence. Key had his opportunity, but he failed to improve it. If he had given a proper reply to Hayes when he was introduced as his erring brother. Key should have said yes, I am a fraud, a fraud upon the country. I am called a Democrat, but I am not. I was appointed by a fraud, who calls himself President, and is not. So we are both frauds, creatures of accident and fraud, foisted upon a people who are in part frauds, and the other part are defrauded out of a rightfully elected President, who is the foe to frauds such as we are.

Hayes had a lock,
But he had no key,
And for want of a key
He took in me.

So took and Key,
We all went agree,
And there it is,
To the devil we go.

A Mechanic's Suggestion to Capitalists.

Messrs Editors:—Will you allow a mechanic to make a suggestion that if carried out would be the means of relieving the overcrowded condition of our city, and at the same time keep money at home, be a benefit to the laboring community and retain our laboring population for its future wants, as well as put money in circulation that is now lying idle for the want of investment? My suggestion is this: If we have such a thing as capitalists who have any philanthropy about them to form corporate bodies to buy land in our own and adjoining Southern States, and divide it into ten to twenty acre lots, and to dispose of the same to actual settlers at cost, and furnish about 6000 feet rough lumber, with shingles, flooring, doors, windows and hardware. This would be sufficient to build a house 12 by 24 feet, two stories high, the bill for this would amount to about $260. Also a cucumber-wood pump, if required. With the land and building material furnished a man who has or can borrow a saw, hatchet chisel and square can erect his own house. If otherwise the company can have the house erected and lined with building paper which is cheaper than plaster.—To sum up the whole, say the land at $20, or cheaper if possible, twenty acres would be $400, building material $250, would be $650. The corporation should make further loans, if the needs of the applicant required it, for the pump, horse, cart and such implements as would be required. The total of $800 to $1,000 would be the cost. Let the parties receiving the benefit pay the interest on the loan at six per cent. in cash, and at the end of the year another interest, every year after that interest, with one tenth of the principal until paid.

If we really have capitalists among us who have any sympathy with unemployed workmen, let them show that they are willing to help the willing workmen, thereby putting their money into actual use, thus giving the laboring class a chance to make a home to keep their families in healthful enjoyment and from want. This would be retaining both capital and labor at home, and helping to build up our own State in wealth and population. We have plenty of land lying idle of all qualities and kinds suitable for the different industries and wants of a people, and their settlement by our people would always secure their produce to the city and require their supplies to be drawn from it. This would in my opinion be a fair business arrangement between both parties, and would not the benefits resulting from such an arrangement be like bread thrown upon the waters to be returned?

MARYLAND MECHANIC.
—Baltimore.

We agree with "Maryland Mechanic," and would recommend that the settlement of the people leaving Baltimore should by all means be on the Eastern Shore, where lands and lumber can be bought cheap, and the climate is modern and healthy, lands productive and convenient to railroads and navigation. There is no place better suited for the people of Baltimore, who desire to go to farming than the Eastern Shore. Let them come and live on the Eastern Shore, and prosper. This they will do, if they are only willing to toil.

The Use of Tobacco.

A correspondent propounds to us a question which it is not difficult to answer, and we are somewhat surprised that a man who seems to be in other respects intelligent should ask it. This is the question:

"Being advised as to the presence of any poisonous substance in tobacco, I ask your opinion, hoping you will oblige by answering in your columns. Being a consumer, I will stop at the chewing if your answer is in the affirmative."

First, we will observe that of all forms of using tobacco the chewing of it is the most offensive. This practice is one of gentleness should indulge in, for it carries in its train disgusting necessities, and really renders a man unfit for the society of people of refinement. A tobacco chewer pollutes the places he frequents, and outrages the society into which he intrudes himself. The longer he indulges in the habit, the more careless he becomes of exhibiting his odious incidents, until he grows to be a veritable nuisance, with his discolored lips and bulging cheek, his profuse expectoration and offensive breath. He ought not to be tolerated where ladies are, certainly; and, unless he can keep his quid out of his mouth while in their society, he should not venture into the company of gentlemen. There is much excuse for the tobacco chewing of sailors, for pipes are not available at sea; but no man who lives on shore, and who pretends to the least good breeding, should disgust people with the filthy habit.

All forms in which tobacco is used may be made offensive, and they are so made by men who are careless whether they annoy people or not, and pay no heed to the sensitive nostrils of others. A man may so impregnate his clothing with stale tobacco smoke as to make himself disgusting when he goes into company. This he has no right to do, and no man of proper sense will do it. Before entering a mixed society he will take pains either to change his clothes, or to air those he has on, and he will not suffer himself to become such a slave of the habit that he cannot go without his cigar or his pipe when they may prove disagreeable to his neighbors. Snuff taking, which used to be so general among ladies and gentlemen, has fortunately passed out of vogue, for it was an unclean practice. Though some of the courtiers of a former day used to take their snuff with a degree of grace, and the management of the snuff box was a great art, as the handling of the eye glasses may be made now. It is painful to have to add that large quantities of Scotch snuff are now sold for the disgusting and pernicious purpose of "dipping" by women, practiced in the South by reputable women, but in the North by scarcely any others than those who are in deep moral and social degradation. There is no other way of using tobacco so fatal to health and character as this.

Now, as to the poison of tobacco. There is in it one of the most violent poisons—nicotine, which produces tremor, palpitation of the heart, and in sufficient quantities, paralysis. If you wish to find out whether tobacco is a poison or not, blow the smoke of it on an insect and see the result, or try it on a bird, and see how rapidly it succumbs to the effect. Tobacco, however, is not a poison that leaves important disease of any particular organ or class of organs in its track; and hence it is not an especial object of attack by physicians. The majority of whom, indeed, use it themselves. But that its excessive use seriously damages the nervous system is a fact proved beyond dispute, and one of which large numbers of smokers have personal experience. Tobacco is an irritant of the nervous system, but the body becomes accustomed to it, and in moderation it may be taken by many people with slight injury, though no man addicted to its consumption can be said to be in perfect health from day to day.

But chewing, never!—N. Y. Sun.

The Best Carriages—Where and How they are Made.

Driving is probably the most popular of all our national amusements it has almost supplanted horse-back riding, which is so general in European countries, and the ability to keep a trotter is the aim of all the younger men of the generation. Several causes have contributed to this result, the most active being our celebrated breed of trotting horses and the perfection to which our carriage builders have brought their manufactures. But of late years the inhabitants of other countries have not been slow to appreciate the peculiar excellence of our breed of horses of which many representatives are to be found in every European capital; when the horses were imported it was soon found that home made carriages were quite unsuitable to the characteristics of these animals and consequently American made carriages have been largely imported into Europe. Their advent has exercised a great influence upon foreign carriage builders who are rapidly abandoning the old fashioned heavy and cumbersome vehicles for our lighter, more graceful and equally durable styles. To America, then, belongs the honor of having introduced nearly all the greatest improvements that have of late years almost revolutionized the carriage building trade of the World, and with those who are keeping up with the improvements of the age is L. H. Nock, whose carriage factory you will find on East Camden street, the carriages he manufactures are exclusively first class and have obtained an extended reputation. They comprise every description of family carriage, phaetons, top and open Buggies, trotting wagons, &c. Purchasers who consider their own interest will find they can be suited at his factory with an excellent article in that line and at reasonable terms. An article can be produced at a very small cost, that will have while new all the appearance of a first class carriage, but which on the slightest wear shows unmistakable signs of poverty of material and cheapness of workmanship. Under these circumstances the advantage of dealing with a man whose word and reputation are so thoroughly reliable is evident to all. The greatest care has to be taken in the varnishing of the panels, which in a well made carriage take a long time; many coats of varnish and much careful rubbing down and polishing before completion. Again, the perfection of workmanship is necessary in the wheels, springs, &c., and many serious accidents are caused by imperfections in these parts, when carriages are purchased of inferior makers.

L. H. Nock, has had considerable experience and has given his entire time and attention to the business. Therefore he finds no difficulty in pleasing his customers. He has quite a number of first class workmen employed, and every new appliance that can add to or improve the efficiency of this manufacture, is speedily adopted; every variety of style can be found here and all the new patterns which are so much admired. Every one will find it to their advantage to call at this factory, see quality of work, also prices before buying elsewhere.

Death of the Mormon President.

Brigham Young died at a ripe age, and in the thirty-fifth year of his reign. With more than his share of the vices he had also many of the attributes of greatness. It would strain credulity to its utmost bounds to believe that with all his knowledge of human nature, combined with the average quantity of the learning of books, he had any real faith in the religion that he professed and promulgated, and which he made the cornerstone of his own worldly prosperity. No man of sense ever called Brigham Young a fool. He was a man of unconquerable energy, with a will of iron, a personal magnetism and above all, ambitious. His idols were fame, wealth and power. He allowed no stone to lie in the path he marked out for himself when he received the first honor that the Latter Day Saints laid at his feet. He believed, moreover, in his destiny, and everything that came in conflict with his destiny was hidden to stand aside, whether it were the weak will of a woman or the life of a man. The religion of Mormon was one of the instruments with which he carried his way to power. He could have dispensed with it, for such men never lack the means to gratify their ambition, but no tool would have served his purpose so well. As a temporal ruler he would have been feared; as a spiritual ruler he was both feared and worshiped. But for him in all probability the Mormon Church would have not long survived the death of the lustful profligate who founded it, or surviving, it would have been scattered to the four winds, soon to be as lost to history as are the ten tribes. A merely lustful man would have subsided into the quiet enjoyment of the sensual luxuries that were at his bidding; a mere fanatic would have wrecked the ship confided to his care; a man mentally weak would have found his grave in the battery of his followers; a man of conscience would have filtered at the crimes that lay in his way. Young enlisted the world, the flesh and the devil in his service; and, won the game. His death will be a great blow to the Church, and, despite his foresight, it may be fatal to it. His place cannot easily be filled, and the American people, who have long borne the disgrace of its existence, may find in the confusion that will ensue an opportunity to rid themselves of it in some way not yet apparent. In any event; Mormonism cannot be long-lived. Its mainspring is gone.

Thurman on the Ohio Contest.

Thurman—As to the canvass, that is yet indefinite. It will probably be pretty warmly contested, and, in the multiplicity of tickets, it is likely there will be a good deal of speech-making. As to the result, I am very hopeful.

"You think then the outlook for the Democracy is cheerful?"

"Decidedly so. I don't think there is much doubt as to the result. The only point causing any special uncertainty is the workmen's movement and its results, and I think, from what I learn, it will probably work favorably to the Democrats."

"By taking a larger number of its following from the Republicans than from the Democrats. The only danger lies right here in Hamilton county. If the Democrats here are anxious for the success of the party, as I believe, of course, they are, they won't be inveigled into throwing away their votes and jeopardizing the success of the party after a ticket that can't possibly carry a single county in the State, let alone the State itself. If the suicidal result of such action is fully considered by the Democrats here. I don't think there is any serious doubt as to a Democratic victory in Ohio, unless from some other causes yet comparatively undeveloped."

"And do you, then, see any other possible dangers to the Democracy?"

"None, unless it be from the Greenback party. There is a possibility that it may draw off a small number of votes which properly belong to us, but I think the thinking Democrats will not allow themselves to throw away their influence and party strength and prospect for this sort of chaff."

"And how about platforms?"

"Oh, I hear nothing much on that subject except in regard to the 'Communist plank in the Republican platform.' That, of course, is much talked of and widely condemned."

"How do you find the feeling regarding the Democratic candidate in the northern part of the State?"

"Very favorable. I think Mr. Bishop will make a very strong run in that section—in fact every where."

"And do you expect to take part in the canvass?"

"Oh, yes; I shall take hold in a few weeks, and expect to do considerable work for the cause."

"And you are, then, hopeful as to the result?"

"Very."

"And look for the full ticket to be elected?"

"Yes."

"By how much of a majority?"

"Enough to redeem Ohio; can't say exactly what figure, but enough."

HOLLAND'S ISLAND, Aug. 24, '77.

Mr. Editor: During the past week I have been my pleasure to visit this delightful place and enjoy the salt breezes, fine sailing and genuine hospitality of these generous hearted Islanders. This Island lies a little South of, and about fifteen miles from the mouth of the Wicomico River, the intermediate waters being the northern end of Tangier Sound, which opens into the Chesapeake Bay by Hooper's Straits on the north and Kedge's Straits on the south. The Island from extreme points is about two miles, and from a half to three-quarters of a mile wide. There is about one hundred acres of arable land, producing in the aggregate about thirty-five hundred bushels of corn, which is the only grain crop raised. Large quantities of potatoes, vegetables and fruits are grown.

There are eleven dwelling houses, all of which are large, comfortable and of modern style of architecture. I have never known a community where the evidences of thrift and morality are so clearly demonstrated in all the comforts of life, as among these people. There is not a resident of the Island who drinks rum, and while the inhabitants are strictly temperate, it is clearly understood that no man dare set up the traffic on, or adjacent to the place, except at the risk of confiscation of place and stock. One of the prominent citizens said to me, that he had not heard of profane or vulgar expression from one of the inhabitants in the past five years.

There is one church here, the Methodist Episcopal, of which Rev. J. W. Poole is Pastor, who preaches steadily on the Sabbath to a congregation of attentive and appreciative listeners. He is happy and successful in his work, and no pastor could be more beloved by his people. This is one of the places where the salary and all church expenses are paid promptly each quarter, with a balance in the treasury.

There is a flourishing public school taught by Mr. Travers who is successful in training the young minds.

This is the time when the boatmen are busy fitting out their crafts for fall and winter work. Their vessels are large, fast sailers, and arranged with a degree of comfort which most alleviate the hardships to which they are exposed in pursuit of their regular business during the oyster season.

It is remarkable that men of means seeking a healthy summer retreat for their families have not fallen upon such a delightful spot as this, free from all malaria, and as healthful as can be found on the continent, and the moral atmosphere as free from all demoralizing tendencies, as any community on the Peninsula.

I have during my stay been the guest of Mr. Peter Parks, a true Christian gentleman, and whose wife, one of the best of the sex, and who, can serve up sheephead, crabs, trout and other of the finny tribe in a style that would tempt the appetite of an epicure. Come down and get a breath of this pure air, and some of this good living.

BATH.

[COMMUNICATED.]

SWAMPSTOWN, Aug. 28, 1877.

Mr. Editor: I want to hear Rev. D. B. Farlow preach last Sunday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Levin Adkins. His text was taken from St. Mark 11th chapter and 30th verse. "The Baptism of John, was it from Heaven, or of men?" Answer me. Mr. F. went into his subject with a vim and resolution. He argued that the command of God could not be changed, no more than the salt springs of the ocean could be discovered or stopped, or its waves hindered from rolling upon the coast. The people feared to answer that the Baptism of John was of men, because they knew that John was a messenger sent from God. Neither would they answer that it was of God, for this would oblige their unbelief. They held their peace. He spoke of the power of God, his omnipotence and omnipresence, and that his ways were past finding out. His audience were well pleased. They will make a place for Mr. F. to preach again on Sunday, September 9th, near John's school house, where he will hold forth at 10 o'clock in the morning, an account of which I will send you.

MINEVILLE, Aug. 28, 1877.

Mr. Editor: After a walk of a half mile to the residence of Mr. L. Adkins, I found a large congregation assembled, where Rev. D. B. Farlow had been announced to hold forth. Friend David expounded the living word in a clear and distinct voice, and convinced many of the true and certain way. I expect soon to hear him again, as many persons, of several denominations, have agreed to fix up a place for him at the school house, near Mineville, and on next Sunday week at 10 o'clock, A. M., he will again expound the gospel truths at that place, and I expect he will baptize some of those he convinced last Sunday, in the Jordan of John's mill pond.

A Time-Honored Specific.

The long and successful career of Dr. Wistar's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, as contrasted with the speedy collapse of nostrums devoid of efficacy which have from time to time been puffed into a brief notoriety during the twenty odd years that this celebrated medicine has been sold, affords a proof that the American public continues to repose its confidence in deserving articles only.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial has long been recognized as the leading specific for Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Diphtheria, and all other diseases of the breathing organs. It is, moreover, a certain, speedy, and safe remedy for Dyspepsia, Liver Disorders, Scrofulous Affections, Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Dropsy, Debility, Constipation, and Female Complaints.

Constantly accumulating evidence of an unimpeachable character establishes the fact that it not only entirely eradicates the diseases to which it is adapted, but also that its action is remarkably prompt and thorough. The crucial test of experience has demonstrated its reliability in every particular. Sold by all druggists, Principal Depot No. 916 Filbert St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PRUDENCE.—There is no doubt that prudence pays, especially in matters of health; as in business it saves money so in disease it saves strength and time by the prompt application of preventive measures, which, in removing the cause, necessarily carry away the effect with it. There is a numerous class of diseases that can only be appropriately and effectually treated by external applications, and for such diseases Keller's Roman Liniment is pre-eminently the best remedy, as its wonderfully penetrating, anodyne, cleansing and healing properties recommend it to professional and popular confidence.

From the Methodist Protestant, Baltimore, Md.: For invalids and those in declining health, we know nothing better than Colden's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Tonic in Vigorator. We recommend it from personal knowledge as carefully prepared, and being all it claims. Dr. L. D. Collier, Agent.

THE PEACH CHOP AND ITS PROFITS A writer in the Wilmington (Del.) Evening Herald estimates that the peach crop of the present year represents a sum of $3,429,000. Of this the various interests of the Maryland and Delaware peninsula will obtain about $2,300,000, the actual owners of the orchards making clear of all expenses about $1,900,000.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

"And that year passed as the other, and I decided at her urgent invitation, to make my home with my aunt. The next spring came, and the lilacs were all in bloom when one morning, Roy came into the house and called 'Daisy.'"

"He always called me that, for he said Margaret meant a daisy."

"I went to him, wondering at his excited manner. He took my hand, and without saying a word we walked down the path to the end of the garden."

"Then he told me of his love, and not giving me time to answer, drew me to him, saying he 'knew he had his Daisy's heart.'"

"Then I drew myself up, and away from him, saying:

"'Are you crazy, Roy? You are either that or mistaken'

"'Never shall I forget the look of reproach in his eyes, as he looked into my face and said:

"'Can it be possible that my little Daisy has been deceiving me—playing with me all this time!'

"Seeing I was about speak, he hastily said:

"'Don't, Daisy! don't tell me it is so; wait until I tell you why I have spoken now. I have enlisted, and am going to fight for my country. We are both young and I should not have spoken to you, but I wanted to carry away the assurance that my Daisy would love and wait for me.'

"Still unmoved, I looked up and said:

"'I am sorry you are going to be a soldier, Roy, for aunt's sake; but I do not care to feel bound. I want to keep my heart to myself for a long time yet.'

"With another of those reproachful looks which I remembered afterwards he reached up and broke a cluster of white lilacs, and placing it in my hand, said sadly:

"'Daisy, I cannot think you are earnest in what you say. Take this, and if you do love me, keep it; if not, come and lay it by the wall, so I will see it when I pass. I go in the morning. Dear mother knows, and she has said, 'God bless you.' She does not grudge a soldier to his country. She does not know, though, of what I am telling you."

"Slopping, he kissed the lilac blooms in my hand, and left me standing alone. Oh, girls—a girl's heart is a cautious thing. I thought it all over, and still the idea of being bound was irksome to me. I knew I was fond of Roy; but as to loving him. So, early in the morning, I stole down and laid the lilac spray by the wall. Then went back to my room and cried—I knew not why."

"Roy went; and I stayed with my aunt. Oh! how lonely it was. Months passed and news of battles and occasional letters came; and at that time I was finding out my own heart—finding that 'Roy, Roy,' was its one cry, and if I could only see him, and tell him how sorry I was, should be contented."

"I told my aunt, after a struggle, with my pride, for I was heartily ashamed of myself; and I could see she was sorer for Roy than for me, and I felt worse than before."

"They were doleful days; but not compared to those that were coming. There was a battle, fierce and long. Many fathers, brothers and lovers who started out buoyed with hope, were carried sadly to the dead. 'Oh, how eagerly we scanned the papers for some news of Roy, and one day, under the list of the dead, we found his name—"

"Roy Bradley, shot while bravely discharging his duty."

"Ah! that was grief! how reluctantly remorse tugged at my heart-strings, as I thought of his manly form, perchance lying unknown, as the cold face turned upward to sky."

"My aunt and I sorrowed together. Some time after, a brother officer brought us the remains, which have recognized only by the cloth as the face had been mutilated by fatal shot."

"Every afternoon we spent a little time at the grave which held dear one."

"A year passed swiftly by, the still raged with varying results."

"One spring morning I wandered down to the stone wall, and there I saw arms full of the lilac bloom. I sat down overcome by grief brought to my mind so vividly morning when I so blindly threw away the gift I went for now."

"As I sat there I felt some one beside me, and suddenly, flowers all, I was lifted and pressed warmly breast."

"'Yes, girls—you start—it Roy! not dead, but living, and loving his wayward Daisy."

"'It was a fellow-soldier who been shot in his uniform. He been slightly wounded in the beginning of the battle, and rendered fit for duty, so he had loaned clothes to a friend, whose own met with some accident. In battle he had been taken prisoner and had only just been exchanged. How happy I was the secret the lie bring it all back to me. And what a happy meeting! beloved adopted mother and son. It was joyous time. We were married week; and although he was in a battle that followed, Roy came unhurt—and, girls, isn't that noble down at the gate!'"

By the brilliant light that flooded the tender eyes, as Aunt M sprang up and hurried to the Dell and I knew that the loveliest which we had been entranced would be—N. Y. Ledger yet.

We still hear some complaint that the Advertiser does not reach its destination regularly. Postmasters will please inform us when this is the case, and we will endeavor to ferret out the defect. Delinquents will please bear us in mind, and—

The Salisbury Advertiser completed its tenth year on Saturday last. It is a good live newspaper, and we trust it will have the earnest support of all the people of Wicomico County. It is deserving of ten years more of glory in the field of journalism.

If you want a nice fitting pair of hand made gaiters, call at James Cameron's No. 24 Main St. where you can find them of every style, and price. Boots and shoes all prices and quality.

The county convention will be held on Monday and Tuesday next. We have heard there are but few candidates for office. Look for Announced. How many are in the hands of their friends we are not able to say. Their name may be "legion" for ought we know.

The "Blood Purifier" in brown bottles, which features upon a face marked with signs of blood poisoning. The great purifier of the blood is Dr. Hark's Blood Mixture.

"Chew on the Weed" will please not forget that we buy our Tobacco direct from one of the largest factories in Virginia, and that we sell a better quality at a lower price than any other dealer in this city. Reason why we buy from the same source the city jobbers do, we employ no traveling agents and conduct that part of our business without any additional expense.

Our sales are increasing, all we ask is a trial.

Humphreys & Tilghman.
 Paper rollers at 20 cents per lot. Large rollers 30 cents apiece—at Graham's, 47 Main Street.

The new residence of Mr. John H. White is fast approaching completion, and when finished it will be one of the best houses in that part of our town. Comden is keeping pace with the new town, and East the Southwest is also pressing forward, and we are inclined to believe that Comden will be the most thrifty part of our town. Already lands are commanding higher prices in that direction than elsewhere on our suburbs. The town in its march will one day extend a mile or more down the river.

One of the world's greatest selections of choice and aged Scotch Whisky, and the best of the Scotch Whisky, is now on hand at Graham's, 47 Main Street.

S. H. Evans keeps constantly on hand a large supply of Fresh Bread, which he is selling cheap for cash.

The place to buy a neat, comfortable boot or shoe at a low price, is at C. M. Brewington's, 40 Main St. His stock has been selected with care, and no one can fail to be suited. His assortment of hats and caps is complete, and any one in want of a hat would do well to give him a call.

Save trouble with your bird by buying the prepared mocking bird food at Collier's Drug Store.

"Participate" communication, for lack of space, fails to appear this week. Will be published in our next issue.

The place to buy a nice suit of clothes for little money, is at James Cameron's, 24 Main Street.

Improvements are still going on in town, in addition to the steady mansions of Col. W. J. Leonard and J. H. White Esq. Sylvanus Trader is putting up a nice dwelling in Camden, Emory and Edward Humphreys and John and Charles Edin have about completed two neat dwellings in the same part of the town.

W. J. Aikman on Poplar Hill Avenue has a new house raised. Mr. Theodore Parsons is also erecting an addition to his house on Poplar Hill. The new house is being enclosed by a nice railing, preparatory to being occupied.

George B. Gillis is also completing the new house on William Street, owned of Wm. Birchhead Esq. There are several other properties being built improved, and it is expected some of the improved houses will be ready for occupancy before long.

Our readers can get colored Hosiery at Graham's, for 15 cents per pair.

We have received a copy of Dr. C. W. Chandler's report of the condition of the Prisons, Almshouses, reformatories and public charities of the State, made to the Governor. We have examined it with care and studied its comprehensive analysis of the subjects treated, while the authorities of the different counties take exception to it we are disposed to commend it to the hearty approval of every good citizen. It is true corporations and communities, like individuals, dislike to have their dirty linen washed in public, yet there are times when a little exposure, as well as harmony, is necessary to put them all to rights, and whatever else may be said of the report one thing is certain, after a little squally contention about the truth or uncertainty of the statements, there will be a calm of renovation and improvement, which will not only be creditable to the institutions but a great blessing to the unfortunate inmates. We are glad that Dr. Chandler, had the nerve to come out with the facts as they presented themselves without favor or partiality. He has done a good work—one that will live after him. There is too much neglect of duty on the part of officials, and it is well to bring them to account occasionally, and especially when our fellow men are left to suffer in neglect and obscurity. We have no doubt that there are other prison houses whose inmates are pining for the light of day and whose locks and bars should be unloosed.

James Cannon has received a large lot of Fall Clothing, which he is offering very low for cash.

Milkmen conquer—and hence it is that the gentle yet positive influence of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup overcomes so quickly the disorders of Babyhood. Price 25 cents.

I hereby forewarn any person or persons from purchasing my Iron Gray Mare from my son, Thomas F. McAllister.

B. L. Gillis & Son have just replenished their stock of Sugars, Coffees, Flour and provision generally, which they are offering at prices to suit the times, call and see them at No. 70 Main Street.

Having determined to make a change in my business, all persons indebted to me on book account are requested to come forward and settle the same. Also all persons having claims upon me will present the same.

Mr. A. G. Toadvine is now selling dry goods at bottom figures. His assortment of muslin, prints, customers, etc., is excellent. Call and see them. Harness, saddles and blankets always on hand, as well as a fine line of groceries.

One horse and carriage will be given in exchange for a good pair of gentle mules. Apply at this office.

Mr. P. Q. Hunter has returned from his visit North and West, and is now prepared to take pictures which will be a vast improvement on the original. Now is your time to get a good picture, whether you are handsome or not. He can be found next door to Dr. Collier's Drug Store, up stairs. Don't fail to give him a call. He will charge you nothing to look at his sample pictures, and answer any question you may desire to ask.

Eastern Shore of Maryland
And VIRGINIA.
But more strictly confined to the Counties of

WICOMICO, WORCESTER & SOMERSET.
Located at SALISBURY, MD.
"ADVERTISER OFFICE" Headquarters.
L. MALONE & CO.,
Agents.

Wicomico County is bounded on the North by the State of Delaware, South and East by Somerset and Worcester Counties, and the Potomac River, West by the Nanticoke River, which divides it from Dorchester County. The Wicomico River has its source entirely in this County at Salisbury, which is the head of Navigation, while its lower waters divide this from Somerset County. Wicomico County was created by the Constitution of 1867, out of parts of Worcester and Somerset Counties. It contains about 400 square miles, and is watered by the Nanticoke, Wicomico and Potomac Rivers, and the Wicomico Creek which is navigable for large schooners.

The soil in the Western part is a stiff, clay subsoil, with a dark loam, the center is high and sandy, while the Eastern part is a black loam or sweet gum soil, well adapted to the growth of Corn, Oats and Small Fruits. The Western part is well adapted to the growth of Wheat, Corn, Hay, &c. There are several villages in the County, Powellsville, Pittsville and Parsonsburg in the East, Delmar and Sharptown in the North, Warren Creek Springs, Quantico, Riverton, White Haven and Waltersville in the West, Fruitland and Upper Trappe in the South, and Salisbury in the center.

Salisbury, the County seat, is the largest and most important town on the Eastern Shore. Its commerce is extensive, and its mechanical and mercantile pursuits are carried on with great activity. It has nine Churches, eight Schools, about Fifty Stores and twenty manufacturing institutions of various kinds. It is on the line of the Eastern Shore Railroad, an extension of the Delaware and Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroads, and the Wicomico & Potomac Railroad connects this place with Ocean City, Berlin and the intermediate towns.

Trains leave Philadelphia at 8 o'clock, A. M., arriving at Salisbury at 11 P. M. During the fruit season extra trains are run, which greatly facilitate travel and transportation. Freight rates are low, and Railroad Officials are obliging, attentive and agreeable. Farm lands can be bought at prices ranging from $10 to $25 per acre, with some improvements.

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
No. 53 Main St., Salisbury, Md.

In the introduction of Keller's Vegetable Life Drops, a new departure has been initiated. Instead of appealing to the credulity and desperation of the sick, the judgment of all is addressed in "A Brief Manual of Purgative and Depurative Medicine," to be had of druggists free of charge, and given with every bottle of the Drops,—written for those who, having a perception of their diseases, can intelligently apply the principles therein contained, with the assurance of relief and cure.

Diseases of the Blood
LIVER AND STOMACH;—
INDIGESTION,
Dyspepsia, Constipation, &c.

Keller's Vegetable Life Drops
by their peculiar alterative and purgative influence, act especially upon the Blood, purifying it, and removing such diseases as

Liver Complaint,
Biliousness,
Ulcers, Rheumatism,
Pimples, Skin Diseases,
Blotches, Neuralgia,
Boils, Eruptions,
Headache, Nervousness,
Jaundice, Fever & Ague,
Colds, Loss of Appetite,
and Kindred Diseases, resulting from Impure or vitiated Blood.

DYSPEPSIA.
The possession of pure blood depends upon good digestion; for where derangement of the digestive function exists disease inevitably results, and Dyspepsia, with all of its terrors and tortures, becomes established.

Keller's Vegetable Life Drops
are a specific for DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, FLATULENCE, HEARTBURN, CHOLERA, NAUSEA and VOMITING, PAIN in the Head, Side and Back, Palpitation of the Heart, Hypochondria, and all that class of diseases arising from Indigestion.

LIVER COMPLAINT.
When from any of the numerous exciting causes the Liver begins to act abnormally, the bile remains in the system, vitiating and perverting every vital process, and causing Boils, Carbuncles, Blotches, Pimples, Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, Dysentery, Kidney and Bladder diseases, and many other disorders, all originating directly or indirectly from the Liver. Keller's Vegetable Life Drops induce the healthy action of the Liver by providing for the removal of the bilious constituents by the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

CONSTIPATION.
The suppression and retention of the contents of the alimentary canal produce Foul Breath, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Piles, Chronic Headache, Skin affections, and very many other diseases referable to the indolent influence of Constipation. Keller's Vegetable Life Drops promptly cure this disease, and all the bad effects attending upon or resulting from it.

Keller's Vegetable Life Drops
are the safest remedy for those peculiar diseases arising from the structural differences between the sexes, and known as Female Complaints.

The use of Keller's Vegetable Life Drops has been thus only partially indicated; their range of application is very great, and their work is always more than satisfactory. Their remarkable efficacy, as already shown, is particularly exhibited in diseases of Blood, Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

Keller's Vegetable Life Drops are recommended as being the best and cheapest FAMILY MEDICINE ever offered, and are sold by druggists and dealers at 50 cents a bottle, or five bottles for $2.50.

The Discovery of America.
On the deck stood Columbus; the ocean's expanse,
Untried and unexplored, swept by his glance.
"Back to Spain!" cry his men, but the vessel
about,
We venture no further through danger and doubt.
"Three days, and I give you a world!" he replied;
He said, but no token of land is in sight.
He said, but the day shows no more than the night.
On, onward he sails, while in vain o'er the loose,
The least is plunged down through a fathomless sea.
The pilot, in silence, leans mournfully o'er,
The rudder which cracks and the bellowing
roar;
He hears the hoarse moan of the spray-driving blast,
And his funeral wail through the shrouds of
the mast.
The stars of far Europe have sunk from the
skies,
And the great Southern Cross meets his terrified eyes;
But, at length, the slow dawn, softly streaking
the night,
Illumes the blue vault with its faint crimson
light.
"Columbus!" "tis day, and the darkness is o'er
"Day! and what dost thou say?"—"Aye, and ocean no more."

The second day's past, and Columbus is sleeping.
While mutiny near him 'tis vigil is keeping.
"Shall he perish?" "Aye! death!" is the barbarous cry.
"He must triumph to-morrow, or perished,
must die."
Ungrateful and blind! shall the world-linking seas,
He traced for the future, his sepulchre be?
Shall that sea, on the morrow, with pitiless
waves,
Fling his corpse on that shore which his patient eye craves?
The course of an humble adventurer, then;
One day later, Columbus, the first among men.

But, hush! he is dreaming! A well on the
At the distant horizon, is parted in twain!
And now, on his dreaming eye, a-rapturous
sight!
Fresh bursts the New World from the darkness
of night.
O, vision of glory! how dazzling it seems!
How glitters the verdure! how sparkles the strewn
How blue the far mountains! how glad the green
leaves!
"Joy! Joy!" cries Columbus, "this region is mine!"
Ah! not o'er his name, wondrous dreamer, is thine!

—A vision less bright,
But, lo! his dream changes.
Come to awaken and banish that scene of delight.
The gold-seeking Spaniards, a merciless band,
Assail the meek natives, and ravage the land.
He sees the fair palace, the temple on fire,
And the peaceful cacique 'mid their ashes
expire.
He sees too—O, saddest! O, mournfullest
sight!
The crucifix gleam in the thick of the fight,
More terrible far than the merciless steel
is the up-lifted cross in the red hand of zeal!

Again the dream changes! Is Columbus loath
And a bright constellation beholds in the skies.
Tis the herald of empire! A people appear,
Impetuous of wrong, and unconquered of fear!
They level the forest, they ransack the seas,
Each soon finds their canvas unfurled to the breeze.

"Hold!" Tyranny cries; but their resolute breath
Leads back the reply, "Independence or death!"
The plangh of their turn to a weapon of might,
And, defying all odds, they go forth to the fight.

They have conquered! The people, with looks to Washington's guidance, from Washington's fame;
Behold Cincinnati and Cato combined
in his patriot heart and republican mind.
O, type of true manhood! What sceptre or crown?

But fades in the light of the simple renown
And to the side of the Hero, a sage,
In Freedom's behalf, sets his mark in the age;
Whom science admiringly hails, while he
wings,
The lightning from Heaven, the sceptre
from Kings!

At length, o'er Columbus' loss consciousness
breaks,
"Land! land!" cry the sailors; "Land! land!"
he awakes,
He runs, yes! behold it! it bleaseth his sight,
The land! O, dear spectacle! transport! de-
light!

O, generous souls, which he cannot restrain!
What will Ferdinand say! and the Future?
and Spain?
He will lay this fair land at the foot of the Throne,
His King will repay all the ills he has known,
In exchange for a world what are honors
and gains?
Or a crown? But how is he rewarded? With chains!

OABOOR NUMBER FOUR.
Larry Hallam closed the windows
of his caboose and entered the depot
for the purpose of getting a bite before going up. He was a young man of six and twenty, a thorough railroader, and a favorite with his superiors. It was rumored that he would soon leave the road to take up himself a wife, but Larry kept his own counsel concerning his future actions.

"It's going to rain," said the res-taurantier to Larry.
"Big drops are coming down now,"

replied the conductor. "We will have a lonely run of it."

Larry ate a moment in silence, and then spoke again.
"Any news?"
"Nothing in particular, only that Direk Waterman has been put in jail here. They talk so strongly about lynching him in Xenia, that the authorities were obliged to remove
him. They lodged him in jail here
one day last week, and he is as docile
as a kitten. I guess he'll get a long term, but as for hanging—that's out of the question; a bad man seldom gets his just dues nowadays."

"Justice seems to sleep," Larry replied. "But she will awake before long; then look out. But our jail is not over strong, I understand."

"That's so, but it will hold Direk Waterman. He is afraid to trust himself at large in a country where his face is so well known."

Larry Hallam finished his late lunch, and then, with an interchange of good nights, the men separated.

On the track just without the station
stood the train destined for Pemberton, a town of importance, thirty-six miles up the road. The
make-up comprised six freight cars,
not heavily loaded, and was the lightest train that Larry had ever been called to run.

"We've got a feather train tonight," the engineer said to him,
with a smile. "We could run out Pemberton before the passenger ran out, but I suppose we'll have to switch as usual at Peterson's."

"Certainly," returned Larry. "We have waited on that switch in the rain before to-night. Mebbe it will clear off."

Larry sat down in the caboose and freshened the fire; then he folded his arms and leaned back against the side of the car.

The speed of the train was gradually increasing, and he could see the lights in many windows, when the door opened, and a man dripping
wet, and with a ferocious look walked in.

The young freight conductor started
when he looked into the bloodshot eyes of the man who might prove one of the wickedest passengers
a conductor ever carried. The wet garments worn by the man heightened his ill-appearance, and his cleanly shaven face could not conceal the shadow of a once blackbeard.

Larry thought he might recognize his passenger if the beard had remained, and he began to conjecture
who he might be.

"Bad night," the man said, throwing himself, upon a cushion opposite Larry.

The voice startled the conductor,
and betrayed to him that he sat face to face with Direk Waterman, the man whose diabolical crime had shocked the State. Waterman, a short time prior to his arrest, had been discharged from the service of a well-known line of railway. Exasperated with his deserved treatment,
he deliberately obstructed the track
one bad October night, and hurled the train down an embankment into a rocky gorge. Many people were killed outright by the catastrophe,
others maimed for life.

He was apprehended by the sheriff and sent to jail, there to wait his trial. The people of Xenia determined to take the law in their own hands. They attacked the jail, but the sheriff and his deputies baffled them by conveying the prisoner by a secret post to Piqua, a town in an adjoining county, and now he had escaped from the county jail.

"It is indeed a bad night," Larry answered. "Where are you going?"
"To Pemberton. You run very slowly."

"We are in no hurry. We switch
at Peterson's for the down passenger."

"Couldn't you get to Pemberton before she moved out?"
"Don't know; never tried it."
"Well, we'll try it to-night," said Direk Waterman quickly, and the next instant Larry was in his grasp.
The young conductor struggled manfully, but without avail. The murderer's strength was too great for him, and he soon found himself
helpless on the floor of the caboose,
and bound with ropes which he had purchased for use in the car but the day before.

him.

The silence that seemed to fall
about Larry was dreadful. He did not hear the rumble of the cars, nor the patter of the rain on the roof and against the windows. The silence of death seemed to hang over him, and he waited for the pistol shot that should slay Tom Kyle at his post.
He knew that the villain was a thorough engineer, and believed that he would not hesitate to slay Tom
and take his place on the engine.

Of course he could not see the cunning man creeping over the sticks
of wood on the tender nor catch the gleam of the revolver in his hand.

Tom Kyle was at his post, and his fireman dozed on his accustomed seat. The rain had slackened up a little, and the engineer of the train had opened the door.

Suddenly he heard a voice that seemed to come from the tender.
"Faster! don't switch at Peterson's!"

Tom Kyle turned in an instant, and saw the face that glanced at him from above the wood. And at the same time he saw the revolver that covered his head.

"I want you to obey me," said
Direk Waterman, "I am a dangerous
man, and will do dangerous things.
We must get to Pemberton before the passenger train starts out. You can do it, Tom Kyle. Now to work at once. I can see the gauge from here. If you don't obey me, I'll drop you in your tracks, and feed the boiler with your carcass. Now, let us go faster!"

Tom Kyle was a little pale when he turned from the desperate man.
He doubted his ability to run into Pemberton before the 10 o'clock passenger train departed. Already they had traversed a good part of the run,
and the switch was not far off. But the engineer knew the man who was dealing with him, and he thought of his young wife far down the road.
He thought, too, of Larry, and wondered if Waterman had slain him
in caboose No. 4.

The speed of the train visibly increased until it seemed to fly like an arrow over the dark road.

On, on, at the rate of a mile a minute, till the lights of Pemberton became visible. As the engine rounded
a curve which had hidden the city
from sight, a dark form dropped
from a car lightly upon the tender.

Direk Waterman did not see it, so intently was he watching the engineer, still covered by his revolver.
The man crept forward, and the light of the stars fell upon an iron rod that glinted in his hands.

He stopped a few feet behind the rascal and raised his novel weapon, the poker belonging to the caboose stove. The next instant it descended with crashing force upon Waterman's
unprotected head, and he fell backward
with a smothered groan and "bye-bye!"
Tom Kyle's feet.

"Slack! slack!" cried the voyer,
springing from the tender. "Slack,
for Heaven's sake. The passenger train is moving out. Don't you hear her?"

The engineer did not need the commands, for his hands were already on the lever, and when the train stood still, quivering like a leaf,
twenty feet did not lie between her
and the down train loaded with passengers.

Direk Waterman was found to be quite dead, and the people said he had met the fate he richly merited.

Larry had managed to free his hands by severing the cords by means of a nail in the floor of the caboose,
and his knife had completed his work.
Shortly after the adventure he left caboose No. 4, wedded his sweetheart, and returned to the road promoted to the conductorship of a passenger train. To this day he often recalls to his wife how near she came losing him on the wild night of Direk Waterman's escape from jail.

DAMES QUARTER, MD., Sept. 4th, '77.
Mr. Editor:—The large and handsome schooner James Preston, Capt. M. A.
Todd, left this place Aug. 14th with a pleasant party of excursionists on board,
on route for Washington, D. C., and intermediate points of interest along the Potomac; and if you will permit me, I will endeavor to give a brief account of the sights seen and places visited by these
"innocent aboard" during this delighful trip. After stopping at various places along the river, we reached Alexandria on the 17th. Here we saw some very fine dwellings, but, with its quiet streets and moss-covered buildings, the ruinous and dilapidated wharves, and the empty and deserted warehouses fast going to decay, reminded us more of a city of the Old World than of a Young America. One of the main points of interest in this place is the old Christ Church, built in 1774, of which Washington was for many years a parson, and in which Lee was confirmed in 1858. The tower of this church contains a bell cast in 1783, and in the eastern wall of the church are beautiful marble tablets erected to the memory of each. Many quaint and curious epitaphs are to be found in the yard surrounding this memorable structure but my limited space will not permit me to give copies of them here—
in which city are also to be seen the place in which Washington made his last appearance to Braddock to forgo the civilized

SATURDAY, SEPT. 15, 1877.

The monetary troubles of the people seem now to be the one perplexing subject to the politician, the financier and the statesman. How to get out of the difficulty and start the wheels of progress and general business is the great enigma. Among all the remedies we have heard or seen suggested, we have not seen one which seemed, in our opinion, to even lean towards substantial relief. Resumption and anti-resumption have been suggested, and one has about as much to do with it as the other. Another class cry out lustily for the issue of more greenbacks. This remedy will do, provided some means are devised for the government to call in its bonds and issue legal tender greenbacks in their stead, which shall be used as a circulating medium. Let Congress repeal the several acts providing for the issue of all interest-bearing notes and bonds, to take effect at some future date, not too far in the future, at which time the holders of the bonds must take the money of the government, known as greenbacks currency, or cease to receive interest on said bonds from that day. Then the money would be invested in real estate as the next best and safe thing to invest in. Ships would be built, the lands would be improved, and prosperity would again return to our people. But so long as the capitalist can look up his capital in government bonds, and collect the interest in gold, he will not engage in the precarious calling of a merchant, a manufacturer, or even a farmer. Now this is so evident to everybody, that it should not need an argument to sustain it. If the government can issue bonds to pay its debts, it can also issue legal tender greenbacks to do the same thing. What difference does it make if the government owes a man, a corporation or another government? She can pay her own citizens in her circulating medium. She can give her obligations to the foreign nations as she did with France, England and Holland in days gone by. The plan of issuing interest-bearing bonds for every emergency is the cause of our country, or at least it has put its prosperity back three score years. We have not time to devote to this subject at present, but will pay attention to it as an early day.

We again call attention to our country of Wicomico, as a good and healthy section to settle in, while the lands which have been cleared for many years, are somewhat exhausted for want of proper application of manure, and a proper change of crops, as well as indifferent cultivation and bad management generally. No grasses or as good as none being grown to recuperate the soil, and produce something out of which to obtain domestic fertilizers. Yet a proper state of cultivation the application of a moderate amount of manure, grass culture, increase of stock &c., would soon bring up the old waste lands, while the clearing up of our forests and woodlands, would develop a soil in many places second to none in the country, all that is wanted is a sufficient amount of capital for a man to bring up our lands and make them equal to any in the country one of the reasons why strangers who have heretofore settled among us have become discouraged is that none, or very few of them had money enough to live upon until they could procure the first crop, others expected to make a fortune the first year, and because they were discouraged themselves they have endeavored to discourage everybody else. All that is wanted in a settler is enough means to support his family a year or two pay his laborers, pay the cash payments on his lands and not be held to any one until he gets settled in his place, becomes acquainted with the people the soil and the climate, which by the by is as pleasant as most latitudes, and not subject to the same degrees of heat and cold, that afflict many other places. Men of this stamp who come to stay are generally good citizens, and are a great benefit to the country into which they have settled. That other kind often benefit the place they leave more than the place they come to, so settle.

A Central Committee for Kent County. Several years ago the County Convention resolved unanimously that there should be a central (or Executive) Committee for this county, and provided for its appointment. For some unknown reason the mandate of the Convention was disregarded and since then, resident members of the State Central Committee have assumed, without any authority, the right to call Primary Meetings and County Conventions, and otherwise to control our local politics. We do not know the origin of this anomalous custom, but it was not always so in Kent. The State Central Committee has no jurisdiction over the local affairs of a county. Its duty is to provide for the nomination and election of State officers, and therein its jurisdiction begins and ceases. If the State Committee, acting as a whole in a full meeting, cannot call primaries and conventions for the management of local and county affairs, how can three or more of its members justify themselves in assuming such a power? We are assured that the members of the State Central Committee, for this county, are fully impressed with this view, and that at our next Convention a move will be made for the appointment of a Central Committee for Kent county. If such a committee is properly appointed and organized, it will insure the success of our ticket in the fall campaign. Every school district in each Election district should be represented in this committee. By giving ten members to each of the five districts, a full and fair representation of every neighborhood would be secured, and the actions of the committee would be viewed with respect and reverence. It will be the duty of the committee to conduct and provide ways and means for the coming campaign, to see that the full vote of the party is brought out, to call all local meetings of the party until the next County Convention, which will appoint a new committee for the ensuing two years.

We recall the following, which have local Central Committees: Baltimore city, and the counties of Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Washington, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Queen Anne's and Wicomico. There are also many others, whose names escape us at present. It is sufficient to say that a local Central Committee is the only authority, generally known to the Democratic party, for the management of local and county politics.

We clip the above from the Chesapeake Transcript, and commend it to the consideration of the Convention which meets here next Tuesday. It is true, as stated above, that Wicomico once had a local Central or Executive Committee. They were appointed by the resident members of the State Central Committee, about eight years ago. They could not hold over longer than two years, unless re-appointed or elected. We suggested then, that they should have been elected by the districts. This is Democratic, and it is to be supposed that the voters of the district know best who they want for their local Central or Executive Committee. At all events, we hope the members of the convention to be elected to-day, if they should not be instructed by the voters attending the Primaries, may take some action upon the subject next Tuesday. There should be at least two members for each district. A larger number would do no harm. Their duties are clearly defined in the article above quoted.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10, 1877.

Editor Advertiser:

Dear Sir,

Pursuant to an intention which I formed during the past Summer while travelling in your county in the capacity of colporteur for the Maryland Bible Society, I now desire a place in your columns for the purpose of laying before the public the prominent outlines of my work in your midst. Of course, the impressions I received on the Eastern Shore will also crop out in the course of what I wish to say.

It may not be out of place to state here, first of all, that I came to your coast with some hesitancy, even with forboding. The reason lay in the fact that I had never heard much good spoken of either the people or the place. It seems to be characteristic of human nature to exaggerate the virtues of a people, rather to bewail their wants than to acknowledge their advantages. The green-spectacle philosophy is too prevalent among men. We are too often governed by moods and prejudices. Well, so it was anyway. I had received disparaging reports from the Eastern Shore. My imagination was wrought upon, and I finally arrived at Salisbury on the morning of the 29th of June with a series of pictured horrors floating before my mind!

I began work, however. At first I thought I could canvass the entire county, but as my journey from house to house was performed on foot I was unable to make but little progress. Trappa, Tyskin, Quantico, Barren Creek and a portion of Salisbury district constitute the extent of my operations. The time employed was two months. I visited 1025 families which are represented by 2529 adults. Among this number I found 436 who were destitute of Holy Scriptures and of whom only 179 could read. The number of Bibles and Testaments distributed amounted to 452 copies. Providence permitting I shall canvass the remaining part of the county next Summer. Being a student at college, that season of the year is the only time I can attend to any work of the kind.

Now, in conclusion, what shall I say of the people of Wicomico county and their manner of life? Shall I misrepresent them as others before me have done? Since coming north I met a little fellow who declared his picture, taken at side-view, was not genuine—"cause it had only one ear on." In a similar manner I could present such a narrow, one-sided view of your place and people that you wouldn't own the picture. I might magnify your faults, for who is without them? I might indulge in a dissertation on what we Pennsylvanians would consider your deficiencies in practical agriculture. But let me rather set a more pleasant part. Let me commend the lively enterprise, the large-hearted liberality, the hardy industry, downright honesty, wise economy, the native intelligence and pure morality of your citizens, in so far as I had the pleasure of seeing them. Contrary to my expectations, schools in which the minds of youth are cultivated and adorned for the future service of the community abound on every hand, churches in which the oracles of God are interpreted and where a degraded man is led to a life of purity and peace are the common good of many vicinities. The full development of the resources you possess, along with such appliances of Art you may yet introduce and the progress you will make in Science, cannot fail of making you a prosperous and happy people.

Sitting now in my quiet rural home while the evening shadows are chasing each other on my native hills and the voices of loved ones are falling like sweet music upon my ear, memory calls up many pleasant scenes of my sojourn among you—the fraternal greetings, the cheering encouragement, the gracious hospitality, the blessed charity. I was a stranger, you took me in, fed and gave me drink. My work was burdensome, but your kindness made it pleasant. The last strings of your dwellings were always on the outside welcome was written over your doorways.

Truly has the Poet said:
"If there be a crime
Of deeper dye than all the guilty train
Of human vices, 'tis ingratitude."
I would, therefore, thank my many friends publicly for the good I received at their hands. May the bread they cast upon the waters return to them again ere many days.

All in all my visit to the Eastern Shore will be a pleasant epoch in my career and will occasion many subjects for future thought. Farewell.
Yours,
ADAM STUMP.

CHRISTIANA, DEL., Sept. 10, '77.

Excursioning has been the rage for several weeks among our people. The Presbyterians led off with one across the Delaware to Pennsylvania. Then came one by the M. E. Church S. S. of this place to Sea Breeze. This was about forty miles down the river, and proved a delightful occasion. After this the S. S. of Salem M. E. Church, about two miles from here, got up a well patronized excursion to Pennsylvania, another popular summer resort on the Jersey shore-line, and besides all these excursions a private source of revenue for Sunday School work.

We had determined on a grove meeting for the Ebenezer M. E. Society to begin on Thursday last, but the protracted north easter which commenced in the morning, literally drowned us out, and we were obliged to postpone it till the week following. We had Revs. Bristol, Mann, Sheppard, Wilson, France and others of the Wilmington conference besides Revs. Lybrand and String of the Philadelphia conference and Rev. Wm. Jones of the Rock River conference to render us efficient aid. A strong force this, and such as a meeting like this needs, and such a force as we expect when the meeting is held.

Our Ebenezer M. E. Sunday School School picked a week since, and had one of the jolliest of times. The morning was devoted to speechifying by Prof. Mackey, two S. S. Superintendents and myself, the speeches being interspersed with appropriate songs. Then came just such a dinner as you down-country people can get up, then eat. The afternoon was spent in various amusements, interesting chit-chat, and a general onslaught on cake and ice-cream and confectionaries. This would make any Methodist preacher's mouth "water."

The Ebenezer S. S. numbers 170. These hills are full of people.

Crops good from beginning to end; but money is still scarce. Preachers even like money you know. BURKE.

QUANTICO, SEPT. 12TH, 1877.

Mr. Editor: I have read with great interest your editorial in last week's Advertiser upon the subject of the "Primary Meetings—Their Use and Abuse," and as you invite persons to give their views upon the plan suggested by you, I take great pleasure in saying that I entirely agree with you, inasmuch as it is next to impossible to get good men for delegates who truly represent the wishes of the whole people of a district. They may represent public sentiment upon one or two persons, and for some particular office; but when this is done, and they are called upon to make out the balance of a ticket, they are often at sea as to what the people want. Now, if we had five delegates, as your proposition provides, we should be sure to get some good men, and some of them, at least, would represent truly the sentiments of the people. I do not pretend to say that good men cannot be prevailed upon to serve as delegates at present, but I do say that good men who do not want to offend their neighbors had rather serve with four others, to share the responsibility, than serve with one other who might desire to shirk the responsibility. Besides, this would be a mass convention on a small scale, fairly and equitably chosen from among the whole people, equally distributed among the districts, while the party vote would be fairly represented. I sincerely hope your plan will be adopted.

DEMOCRAT.

POWELLVILLE, SEPT. 13, 1877.

Mr. Editor: I write to say, that your plan for regulating the number of Delegates to represent the several districts in Wicomico county meets my hearty approbation, without assigning any more reasons than those you gave, and I hope the plan will be adopted.

I am, &c.

FAIR PLAY.

COL. F. W. M. HOLLIDAY, recently nominated for Governor of Virginia, will be remembered as one of the most earnest and eloquent advocates of the Sunday closing of the Centennial Exhibition. The proposal to keep the gates on Sundays had been sneered at by some members of the Centennial Commission as a Puritanical notion, and as an outgrowth of New England bigotry. Colonel Holliday, as one of the commissioners, met and repelled these sneers in a speech of surpassing eloquence. He was certainly not to be called a New Englander or a Puritan, he said, but he was long enough in New England, as a student at Yale, to learn to prize the very characteristics of her people for which she was now being held up to ridicule. He thanked God that there were so many in New England who honored the Lord's Day, and he was glad to stand by them in their efforts to keep the Centennial Exhibition from desecrating the Christian Sabbath, and dishonoring the fair fame of our common country. It was in concluding that speech that he asked if those who had so much to say of "the true and the beautiful," were unwilling to give one day to the contemplation of the true, after giving six days to the study of the beautiful; and then it was that, turning to Mr. Corlies, he said, "That magnificent engine of yours, sir, is a thing of beauty. Each mighty revolution made by it, as it puts and keeps in motion, for six days in the week, the varied machinery which covers fifteen acres of space, is beautiful beyond a question. But is there any truth in it? No, sir! Not unless, on the seventh day, that mighty engine stands silent before Almighty God." It is good to see such men candidates for high political station. The more of them we can have, the better for all concerned.—Philadelphia Sunday School Times.

A Time-Honored Specific.—The long and successful career of Dr. Wislart's Pine Tree Tonic Cordial, as contrasted with the speedy collapse of nostrums devoid of efficacy which have from time to time been puffed into a brief notoriety during the twenty odd years that this celebrated medicine has been sold, affords a proof that the American public continues to repose its confidence in deserving articles only. The Pine Tree Tonic Cordial has long been recognized as the leading specific for Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Diphtheria, and all other diseases of the breathing organs. It is, moreover, a certain, speedy, and safe botanic remedy for Dyspepsia, Liver Disorders, Scrofulous Affections, Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Dropsy, Debility, Constipation, and Female Complaints. Constantly accumulating evidence of an unimpeachable character establishes the fact that it not only entirely eradicates the diseases to which it is adapted, but also that its action is remarkably prompt and thorough. The crucial test of experience has demonstrated its reliability in every particular. Sold by all druggists. Principal Depot No. 916 Filbert St., Philadelphia, Pa. June 9th, 3m.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For Wicomico County.
ELECTION NOV. 6th, 1877.

FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES:

THOMAS J. TURPIN,
SAMUEL H. FOOKS.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS:

ADAM P. BETHARDS,
CLAYTON C. PARKER,
WM. W. DISHARON,
HENRY W. ANDERSON,
JAMES H. ELLIOTT.

FOR SHERIFF:

JOSHUA H. TRADER.

FOR SURVEYOR:

HORATIO N. CRAWFORD.

We publish above the Democratic ticket for Wicomico County, which we regard as a good, strong one. Mr. Turpin, who heads the county ticket, is a farmer, about 46 years of age, has been engaged in mercantile pursuits at intervals, and was once a member of the board of County Commissioners of Somerset county before the formation of Wicomico, is a well-informed man, good personal appearance, possessed of good judgment, an amiable disposition, and will make a good, sound representative.

Mr. S. H. Fooks, his colleague on the ticket, is a farmer, and also at present one of the Commissioners of the county, is President of the board for 40 years old, and a shrewd, quick man, has a good education, was engaged for several years, while a young man, as a merchant, has been successful in the management of business, and will make a good representative.

The candidates for County Commissioners are all farmers, while some of them are also engaged in other pursuits, are all good business men, large property-holders, and in consequence, will be disposed to take care of the financial interests of the county. Like the present board, they have large interests of their own to induce them to take care of those of others. Altogether it is a first rate ticket, no better men could have been selected for County Commissioners.

For Sheriff, Joshua H. Trader, is a good, upright, earnest, plain man, honest in purpose, making no pretensions, but to do his whole duty will be his chief aim. He will make a good Sheriff.

For Surveyor, the present incumbent, Mr. H. N. Crawford, is a good, honest, upright man, well qualified for a place on any part of the ticket, is a high toned gentleman and a scholar.

The Democracy of Wicomico may congratulate itself, that a good ticket has been nominated, worthy the support of every citizen of the whole county. While we must condole with the friends of other good men who were aspiring for a place on the ticket, and were disappointed, we have only to say to them, their turn will perhaps yet come, when it will be as well for them as if they had been served this time.

GEN. GEORGE B. McCLELLAN was on Wednesday last nominated by the Democrats of New Jersey as their candidate for Governor. There was a heated contest for the position by the friends of Abbott and Stockton, but the dissent was immediately healed when McClellan's name was mentioned, and he was nominated with the greatest enthusiasm.

COL. CLEMENT SULLIVAN, editor of the Cambridge Chronicle, has been nominated for the State Senate by the Democrats of Dorchester, and Joe H. Johnson, Esq., editor of the Democrat and News, for the House of Delegates. Success to our brethren of the quill.

Letter from Cuba.

SAGUA LA GRANDE, Sept. 10, 77.

Editor of Advertiser: Agreeable to my promise, I take advantage of my first opportunity to write you a communication from this "far-away-land."

On my arrival here, I felt myself "a stranger in a strange land," for everything was remarkably foreign.

Sagua, one of the most important places of Cuba, is situated on the northern side of it, about one hundred and ten miles distant from Havana. It nestles at the base of the range of mountains that extend through the whole length of the island, and is about twelve miles from the bay of that name. Viewed from this bay, it presents a really beautiful landscape. The innumerable sails of the vessels and lighters (flat-bottomed schooners) moving through the keys, which are covered with the luxuriant mangrove trees, form a varied front, while a pleasing background is furnished by the azure mountains of the distance.

The coast closely resembles that of Florida, having a system of coral "keys" along it some miles from the main land, thus forming land-locked harbors, capable of containing thousands of vessels.

At Sagua bay, you land at a small place called Boka, which is composed principally of immense sugar warehouses, and their attendant cooper shops.

Of late, however, it has become a place of summer resort, and now at early morn and late in the evening hundreds of Spanish ladies may be seen either promenading or making their way to the baths, and a strange as it may appear to our Maryland ladies, many of them hold daily cigarettes between their rosy lips, and puff away with the greatest gusto.

The houses here are nearly all single story buildings, and are roofed with tiles, or as it is called "adobe," which are made similar to brick, only are much larger and thinner. They are built thus on account of the hurricanes which often sweep the island during the months of August and September. The months are included in what is called the "rainy season," and during them scarcely a day passes without bringing its quota of rain. Boka is the terminus of the Havana and Sagua R. R.

This road is run after the European plan—having English carriages of three different classes, instead of our common passenger car. It takes nearly an hour to go from Boka to Sagua, and for this ride you pay the moderate (?) charge of seventy-five cents—the distance only twelve miles. Well, this is the only thing I have found dear, and we can excuse that, as it is a comparatively new thing. The soil is exceedingly fertile, and the application of manure is entirely unknown. Oranges, lemons, bananas and coconuts grow in the greatest profusion at most seasons of the year. Sugar and tobacco constitute the great staples. Large sugar mills are on almost every plantation, and the negro slaves are the chief manipulators of this crystallized sweetness. How forcibly it reminds me of the ante bellum days, to see the hundreds of slaves at work. Yet, the slave is in a good condition here. A few years ago a law was passed, that in a certain number of years all slaves were to be free, and the government is to partially recompense their owners at that time, and it is to allow an additional premium for every year that a slave is free before that time. Many are already free, and all will be in two or three years more. Would to God we had adopted a similar policy for the abolition of slavery. Then we would not hear the murmuring of a tax-burdened people. Then the ocean of blood quaffed by the mother earth, would be tranquilly concurring the channel God created for that purpose. Then the widow's tears and the orphan's cries would seldom have been found in our land. The slave holders here too strongly opposed to this law at first, seem now perfectly reconciled to it.

In view of the negroes freedom, Chinese labor has been introduced, and there are already thousands of these almost-eyed orientals here, who, though they can "no savvy" Mexican man, can jabber Spanish with the greatest facility. Upon their arrival here, they are required to bind themselves to some one for a term of years, and thus virtually become slaves for that time. When it expires they are free, and can follow the occupation of their choice. They were once treated with great severity, but a law was enacted forbidding the lash. The heat is exceedingly oppressive, and were it not for the daily rains and sea breezes, it would be almost unbearable. They call this place very healthy now, as there are not more than fifteen or twenty dying a day of the yellow fever and black vomit, and they are principally soldiers, who are exposed to the miasma of the swamps. I am well pleased with my visit, but do not think I should like to live here. I shall be better prepared to pass an opinion when I become better acquainted with the country and its inhabitants. Until then, I remain,

Yours Truly,

INSURGENCE ABROAD.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Sept. 1, 1877.

On the 3rd of October, 1876, I sowed 24 acres of corn stalk ground in Fultz Wheat, and applied "Whitehead's Vegetable" at the rate of 250 pounds to the acre. Much to my surprise, I have just threshed 100 bushels and 48 pounds of prime wheat as the result. In addition to this I would say, that there were three strips of land through the field where the corn stalks were left standing. I got very little wheat from that portion, as it was not sowed until Nov. 6th, consequently, there could not have been much over 24 acres of wheat. I feel that I am largely indebted to the "Vegetator" for this extraordinary yield.

Respectfully,
THOMAS TURPIN.

PERSONALS.

Brother Moody has begun a revival in Amherst, Mass.

Baron Rothschild, of Paris, has just paid $800,000 for a picture.

Edwin Adams is on his way to New York from California a very sick man.

A son of the wife of Pere Hyacinthe has been appointed to a position in the Treasury.

Senator Bayard, after Mr. Tilden, stands fairest for the next Democratic nomination for President.

Thiers is to have a monument. It should be built to correspond with the sighs of the nation.

Some papers assert that Sitting Bull's real name is Jacob. It will not be a bit surprising then to hear that he was the father of Joseph.

A marriage is probable between the ex-Prince Imperial of France and the Princess of the Pillar, sister of the King of Spain. She is sixteen years of age.

Detectives have discovered that the defaulting bank president Spencer, of Chicago, purchased $5,000 worth of Bank of England notes in Quebec.

Mrs. Gen. Sherman disapproves of "round dating," for her girls, but she makes her boys dance round every time they tear their breeches sliding down cellar doors.

The negotiations for the marriage of Prince Arthur to the daughter of the ex-King of Hanover are broken off. She is of a literary turn, and thinks he does not know enough.

Senator Kernan says the President need not expect any factional opposition from the Democrats in the United States Senate. They will give a fair support to good appointments and wise and salutary measures.

The czar would like to hitch the Creedmore team to his army and have them practice on Turkish targets. General Sherman would probably be satisfied if they would strike a Sitting Bull's eye at short range with an ounce ball once.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

The first illustrated paper in Lippincott's Magazine for October is "Chatter and the Dec," an attractive subject, few English rivers being more beautiful or famous than the Dec, and no English town so full of quaint and picturesque remains as Chester. "Among the Kabbies," also illustrated, is concluded in this number.

Mr. Henry James, Jr., has a sparkling article on "Abbey and Castle," which is in fact a description of English country life. "The Dams of the Potomac" is a capital fishing sketch by W. Mackay Laffan. Under the title of "Communism in the United States," Austin Bierbower gives an account of the socialistic communities that exist in different parts of the country, all of them he considers, doomed to early extinction. Mr. Sarah B. Wister writes of "Alfred De Musset," analyzing his genius, and recounting the sad story of his brilliant but wasted life.

A new serial, "For Percival," is begun in this number, starts in an entertaining manner, and will have the additional attraction of illustrations in future installments. Mrs. Davis's novel, "A Law unto Herself," deepens in interest; and among the short stories, "Little Lizzy," by Mrs. Sarah Wister Kellogg, deserves notice as a faithful and pathetic picture of negro life. The poems are by Mrs. S. M. B. Platt, Sidney Lanier, and Maurice Egan; and the "Monthly Gossip" embraces "Notes from Moscow," "An Account of the Paris Conservatoire," and other interesting matter.

Delays are Dangerous.—If this axiom is true respecting the ordinary affairs of life, still more obviously so as regards the exigencies of approaching disease. Unquestionably. Yet how many neglect to practically recognize this plain truth when health is in the balance. Of the many promissory symptoms of disease a hacking cough is the most prophetic of peril. Arrest it at the outset with Dr. Wistar's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, and so avoid Consumption, Bronchitis, inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and, indeed, all Affections of the Respiratory Organs are entirely cured by this sovereign remedy, which also eradicates Dyspepsia, Gravel, Piles, Nervous Debility, Torpidity of the Liver, Urinary Difficulties, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Scrofulous Affections, and the infirmities peculiar to the gentler sex. This Cordial derives its virtues from the vegetable kingdom, and is infinitely to be preferred, both on account of its superior efficacy and freedom from nauseous and injurious properties to the official drugs so often administered with no other effect than to offend the palate and disorder the stomach. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial can always be relied on to do what is claimed for it. Sold by all druggists. Principal Depot No. 916 Filbert St., Philadelphia Pa.

Most people will bear, with a relative degree of patience, many of the pains and sufferings of the body; but we do not know of any one who can quietly and patiently suffer with that most excruciating torture—Headache. Yet thousands of persons throughout the land suffer all the distress and discomfort that Headache inevitably induces because they have not heard of or do not use that sovereign remedy for every species of Headache—Keller's Vegetable Life Drops.

Are all millers in-dust rye men?

Boots and Shoes cheap at Cannon's.

School.—Miss Agnes D. Waller will resume her school in the Female Seminary on Monday next, 24th inst.

Jones says that the man who undertakes to "vote him against his choice," will at once be afflicted with convulsions of the brain.

There is no use for any person to suffer from the cold this winter as Graham Bros. are selling superior quality of under shirts and drawers at extremely low prices.

PREACHING.—Elder Wm. J. Purinton is expected to preach in the O. S. Baptist meeting house Monday evening, Sept. 24th, at 7 o'clock.

Over in that part of our town called California, a Goslin made its appearance a few days since, weighing thirteen pounds at one day old. Dr. Dennis says it's a girl.

SHILL LINE.—At $22.61 a car load of 250 bushels delivered at Salisbury Depot on application to D. E. FOOKS.

Jones has the cheek to say that when a butcher sells a cow for beef, when she ought to be converted into sole leather, it's a bad thing for the morals of the town. Butchers will make mistakes sometimes like the rest of us.

DEATH OF AN AGED MAN.—At his residence in Trappe District on Monday, 17th inst., John Goslee, aged 84 years. Mr. G. has lived at his late residence on the Wicomico for 60 years, and was a good, quiet citizen, a kind-hearted neighbor, and we believe, a consistent Christian.

The price of coal will be advanced about 25c per ton on and after 1st of October.

HUMPHREYS & TILGHMAN.

Mrs. Esther J. Lloyd will again please accept our thanks for an excellent basket of pears and apples. Mrs. L. brings to our town choice fruits, and our citizens are beginning to find it out. Her sales another year will greatly increase, because she does not forget the printer. We wish her an abundant harvest.

For Ladies' Shoes go to James Cannon's. He is selling a splendid article very cheap.

We understand that a number of cottages are to be built at Ocean City during the winter and next spring, also two hotels. We hope this is a true report, as no enterprise will go so far to bring our Peninsula into notice. Hitherto we have been an isolated people, not known nor cared for by the rest of the world, nor it would seem that our people cared much whether school kept or not.

Telegraphic tariff rates have been very much reduced from this place. All 40 cent rates lowered to 25 cents. A message of 10 words will be sent to any Western Union office in the United States east of the Mississippi, for $1.00, the rates ranging from 25 cents to $1.00. Telegraphing is fast supplanting the slower method of letter correspondence, and the time is not far distant, when more messages will be sent than letters.

Boys and Youths.—A fine and cheap lot of Youths & Boys clothing to fit boys of any size and at very low prices, just received at Graham Bros.

To Correspondents.—Miss G. F. E. Your very interesting communication came safe to hand. It is well written, and worthy a place in the columns of the press, but it lacks two important things, one is the full name of the writer (not for publication) and a little more brevity, as our columns are just now full of advertising. Please send full name, and your communication will be published as soon as space will permit, and in the meantime let us hear from you often.

James Cannon has just returned from the cities with an immense stock of every conceivable style and quality of Gents' and Boys' Clothing. Call and examine.

"Dear old homestead" is the title of a very fine new song, by Miss Anna C. Hilt. This song has taken a strong hold on the popular fancy. No doubt there are thousands who never forget the "Dear Old Homestead," where so many happy hours were spent in joyfulness and glee, during their childhood days. Price 40 cents, with splendid lithograph of a country homestead.

"A place I shall ever remember. Should I live to be fifty years old, 'Twas the home of us all in our childhood. And we prize it, we prize it higher than gold."

Address all orders to F. W. Helmick, publisher, No. 50 West Fourth St. Cincinnati, O.

N. B.—Over 200 second hand pianos for sale cheap.

A large stock of fall and winter clothing has just been received at Graham Bros. and the splendid styles are equally appreciated by the marvelous low prices. An examination by the public would be sufficient to convince them that these are the cheapest goods ever placed upon the shelves of any clothing house on the shore.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for October is worthy of special favor. One scarcely knows where to commence in quoting of its varied and liberal contents. The number is just replete with literary gems interesting in the extreme throughout its 128 pages, it is at once a book of poems, short stories, continued tales, history, sermons, pleasing and instructive anecdotes; beautiful illustrations, 100 of them; wit, science, etc., etc. In a word, it is a library in itself, to be welcomed and enjoyed by readers of all ages who may be fortunate enough to secure a copy. Extra editions of this number will surely be called for Subscription price for one year $3; for a single number, 25 cents. In each case it is sent free by mail. Our readers should address their orders to Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 537 Pearl Street, New York.

HEAVY WHEAT YIELD.—Mr. Henry S. Lankford, who resides about four miles from this town, sowed four bushels of wheat on three and a half acres, and threshed out 125 bushels. This is the best yield he has heard of in this county for a long time. The yield was 31 bushels to the acre. We asked Mr. Lankford what kind of fertilizer was used, and he answered that he used no fertilizer, but that he used the good judgment of his own soil, and he informed us that he used one bag of Whitelock's Vegetator to the acre. We have often heard of the good qualities of this fertilizer. We would advise more of our farmers to give this man a trial.—Princess Anne (Md.) Somerset Herald, Aug. 77.

Mr. Whitelock was one of the first to embark in the manufacture of fertilizers, thirty years ago. While other new fertilizers have been offered to the public and proved unsatisfactory, Whitelock's still retains its high reputation. Mr. W. issues no pamphlet of testimonials but refers to any one who has ever used his Vegetator. He has reduced his price and his terms are liberal.

Babies are the institution and should be guarded from attacks of Colic, Flatulence, etc., by Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price 25 cents per bottle.

The Democratic County Convention met on Tuesday, 18th inst., and was called to order at 1 o'clock, P. M., by Gen'l H. Humphreys. On call of list of delegates the following were present: James L. Bedworth and Train A. Bonds, Levin J. Gale and James Freedy, James R. Willing and James Larimer, Isaac N. Hearn and Dr. G. W. Freedy, A. C. Smith and C. C. Parker, James Laws and K. P. Massey, Thomas W. H. White and B. F. Mezik, A. P. Malone and George W. Catbelle, George H. W. Ruark and W. A. Trader, Thomas J. Twilley and Joseph A. Taylor, Thomas W. H. White was made Chairman and A. C. Smith Secretary. After considerable caucusing the following ticket was nominated: For Sheriff, J. H. Trader; for House of Delegates, Thomas J. Tarpin and Sam'l H. Fooks; for County Commissioners, H. W. Anderson, Wm. W. Disharoon, A. P. Beatharde, C. C. Parker and Jas. H. Elliott; for Surveyor, H. N. Crawford. On motion the nominations were made unanimous. James R. Willing offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the thanks, not only of the people of the Eastern Shore and the entire State of Maryland are due to the Hon. Geo. R. Dennis for the zeal and ability with which he has represented them in the U. S. Senate, but particularly of the people of Wicomico county for the energy, skill and power which he has displayed in their behalf for the improvement of Wicomico river.

Resolved, That in view of his efficient services, they recommend him most heartily to the next Legislature of Maryland as an officer true and tried, for re-election to the U. S. Senate.

Resolved, That this Convention has just heard with profound regret of his serious illness, and in tendering their sympathy to his family and friends, beg leave also to express the hope that an all-wise Providence may soon restore him to perfect health, so that he may again be elected to the position which he now so ably and worthily fills.

"L'homme qui rit."—The man who laughs is a happy man, and no man can be happy with his blood loaded with impurities. The remedy which all can depend upon for every vitiated condition of the blood is Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture.

ASTONISHING SUCCESS.—It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your Druggist about it. Sample Bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all Druggists in the U. S.

Wood, Marsh & Co., the large, old and favorably known Dry Goods and Notion House of 309 and 311 Market Street, Philadelphia is represented in our town at present by Sam'l P. Godwin Esq., one of the firm. Mr. Godwin is on the Peninsula to renew a thirty years acquaintance with the mercantile trade, and we have no doubt will be gratified with the renewed assurance of the patronage of the merchants of Worcester and Wicomico counties during the fall and winter months.

FOUND AT LAST.—The great remedy for Rheumatism, Gout, Sore Throat and soreness of all kinds. Dr. J. W. Fletcher has secured the sole proprietorship of the Great Troost Remedy for Rheumatism Sore Throat, etc., etc. It is a word, it is a library in itself, to be welcomed and enjoyed by readers of all ages who may be fortunate enough to secure a copy. Extra editions of this number will surely be called for Subscription price for one year $3; for a single number, 25 cents. In each case it is sent free by mail. Our readers should address their orders to Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 537 Pearl Street, New York.

Dobbins Electric Soap.

Having obtained the agency for this Celebrated Soap for Salisbury and vicinity, we express the opinion of some of our people as to its merits: Martha Brewington says: With Babbets Soap I have to boil and rub my clothes and it takes me until 12 o'clock to get out my wash.—But with Dobbins Electric Soap made by I. L. Cragin & Co., Philadelphia Pa., I avoid boiling the clothes, and it requires but little labor in rubbing and have my wash done by 10 o'clock. Charlotte Leatherbury and Caroline Williams both say: We generally have to get 2 cakes of Babbets Soap for our Monday's wash and now we do it with one cake of Dobbins and we get our wash out at least 3 hours sooner, and also avoid the use of the washboard and the Soda and need not boil the clothes.

Both Molly Purnell and Hester Somers speak highly in favor of Dobbins Electric Soap. For further information we respectfully refer to the following ladies:

Mrs. John Tracy, Mrs. K. T. Williams, Mrs. R. H. Atkins and Mrs. A. E. Williams.

We desire all our friends and customers to give this Soap one trial so that they may know just how good the best Soap in the U. S. is.

HUMPHREYS & TILGHMAN, August, 25th St. Salisbury Md.

THE CONFLICT.—The most prominent characteristic of life is its uncertainty; the conflict between the life and death principle begins with birth and terminates with a victory for death; yet every one sincerely desires the issue to be as far removed as possible, and when threatened with disease employs such aids and measures for its removal as the common experience of mankind has proven valuable and reliable. Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, and very many other diseases, dangerous in their tendency, readily yield to treatment with Keller's Roman Liniment, everywhere acknowledged as the best external application in the world.

Some democratic papers on the Western Shore are urging the election of a gentleman from that section to a seat in the United States Senate in place of Dr. Dennis, whose term will soon expire. The custom of taking a Senator from each Shore has existed from the first election of Senators to Congress, and is guaranteed to the weaker Shore by law, and to abrogate the custom and repeal the law without cause would produce a feeling of dissatisfaction on this side of the Bay that would result in a severe loss to the political party that deprived this Shore of its right to equal representation in the Senate. We cannot believe that the democratic party of the Western Shore have so little wisdom as to attempt a change which would cause so much dissatisfaction and heart-burning as would the violation of this ancient and time-honored custom.—Easton Ledger.

The Democratic State Convention
met in Baltimore on Thursday, 27th
inst., and organized by electing Hon.
Wm. Pinkney Whyte, President, and
J. B. Hubbard, Dr. R. R. Waters
and Morris Thomas, Secretaries, with one Vice-President from each county.
Hon. Thomas J. Keating was put in nomination for Comptroller by Mr.
Daly, of Garrett county, and on motion of Mr. Geo. W. Covington, of Worcester, Mr. Keating was declared by acclamation the unanimous choice of the Convention, when Mr. K. was introduced to the Convention, and accepted the nomination in an appropriate speech. After the appointment of a State Central Committee, the Convention adjourned. The proceedings were entirely harmonious.

The Maryland Editorial Association
met at Gay's Hotel in Baltimore on Thursday, 27th inst., and was organized by calling Vice-President Chas.
Cole to the chair, and George Savage
secretary. Dr. C. C. Bombaugh, in the absence of the recording secretary
read the minutes of the last meeting,
which were approved. The following new members were elected:

Messrs. N. C. Ford, of the Baltimore Sun; W. B. Hazell, of the Baltimore Gazette; George T. Melvin, of the Denton Journal; T. B.
Taylor, of the Cumberland Allegan-
y; E. Stanley Tordin, of the Salisbury Eastern Shoreman; and Harry
C. Keefe, of the Frederick Examiner.

Dr. Bombaugh then announced the death of the President of the Association, Hon. George W. Wilson, also
Mr. Chas. Keefe, a member of the Executive Committee, and submitted
a series of resolutions expressive of the sympathy of the Association, and commendatory of the virtues of the deceased. Messrs. Cruikshank, Iglehart and Malone made appropriate remarks to the resolutions, after which they were unanimously adopted. The election of officers, for the ensuing term, was next in order, when a committee recommended the following:

George Calton, President; Chas.
Cole, Lemuel Malone, J. Guest King,
Clement Sullivan, H. C. Longnecker,
A. P. McCombe, Vice-Presidents.
W. H. Vanderford, Corresponding Secretary; George Savage, Recording Secretary; Peter Negley, Treasurer; V. L. Baughman, C. R. Bombaugh, I. B. Wilson, Dr. W. H. Rippard, W. H. Kuty, Executive Committee.

On motion of W. F. Iglehart, Dr. C.
C. Bombaugh was requested to prepare a biographical sketch of the late president of the association, Mr. G. W.
Wilson, and on motion of Lemuel
Malone, Mr. Vanderford was requested to assist in the work.

On motion of Jos. M. Street of Harford, the association adjourned subject
to the call of the executive committee.

It is understood that the association will hold its annual dinner this coming winter at Annapolis.

LABOR DEMORALIZATION.

The system of labor in this country seems to be out of joint. There are more men idle than ever before.
Many who could obtain work on some terms seem indifferent about
it. They will work one or two days
at a spell, and then idle away a week or more. This is a bad state of things, and will lead to serious trouble. It is already producing great distress in the land, and may lead to still more serious consequences. If men who have families are not employed at least half of their time, they will certainly be destitute
of the means of support for their families, besides they are reducing the amount of products, and thereby raising the price of living to such an extent as to place a moderate living entirely out of their reach. One of the serious mistakes made by the laboring man is this: They seem to desire to reduce the amount of labor
done, so as to increase the demand for it. This is all wrong. For in proportion as labor ceases, the production is cut off so that the scarcity of food and clothing adds to their distress, and in the end, they will find that high wages, with high priced
food and raiment, is worse than low wages with products in proportion.
Inasmuch as those who chance to be unemployed are compelled to suffer
in proportion, as the means of living are out of their reach. If laboring men will cease to talk over their grievances and go to work at such employment and such wages as they can get, and toil on, they will one day reach a better state of things.—
But, it can never be attained by gathering together and passing resolutions, &c.

Gen. McClellan's Letter of Acceptance.

Gen. George B. McClellan has written the following letter, addressed to the committee appointed to notify him of his nomination for Governor
by the New Jersey Democratic State Convention:

ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 24.—Gentlemen: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22nd inst., conveying to me the official notification of my nomination
by the Democratic State convention
as the candidate of the party for Governor of New Jersey.

Not being a native of New Jersey,
although a citizen and a resident of the State for the last fourteen years,
I recognize with all the more pride
the great honor conferred upon me
by so large a portion of the citizens of my adopted State. The fact that the nomination was unopposed renders it doubly satisfactory to me.

Being assured that it is the unanimous wish of the Democratic party,
I accept the nomination. The resolutions adopted by the convention
have my hearty approval.

I beg, gentlemen, to offer, through
you, to the members of the convention and to the people they represented, my heartfelt thanks for the very high compliment they have paid
me, and for the manner in which it was done.

Should I be elected Governor of New Jersey, I will do all in my power to insure honesty and economy in the expenditures of the State, to secure the rights of all its inhabitants,
and to promote the prosperity of its people. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN.

SENATORS WHOSE TERMS EXPIRE.—
At the close of the present Congress
in 1879 the terms of the following
Senators will expire:

Spencer, rep., Alabama; Dorsey,
rep., Arkansas; Sargent, rep., California; Chaffee, rep., Colorado; Har-
num, dem., Connecticut; Conover,
rep., Florida; Gordon, dem., Geo-
gia; Oglesby, rep., Illinois; Morton,
rep., Indiana; Allison, rep., Iowa;
Ingalls, rep., Kansas; McCrorey,
dem., Kentucky; Dennis, dem.,
Maryland; Rogers, dem., Missouri;
Jones, rep., Nevada; Wadsworth, rep.,
New Hampshire; Conkling, rep.,
New York; Morrison, dem., North Carolina; Matthews, rep., Ohio;
Mitchell, rep., Oregon; Cameron,
rep., Pennsylvania; Patterson, rep.,
South Carolina; Merrill, rep., Vermont; Howe, rep., Wisconsin. The Louisiana seat now in controversy becomes vacant in 1879. Of the outgoing Senators eighteen are republicans and six democrats.

No matter how perfectly adjusted
every portion of a fine piece of machinery may be, there is some one part more likely to get out of order
than the others, and require skilled attention. So in the human body
there is one organ the direct or indirect cause of more physical discomfort than any other, and that is the liver. When functionally dis-ordered it induces a long series of troublesome and dangerous complaints. Keller's Vegetable Life
Drops are pronounced the best remedy for all derangements of the liver ever compounded.

A SOLEMN WARNING of the peril
of prosecuting editors for libel has been given in Lebanon, Pennsylvania,
where the verdict was in favor of the editor, and the libeled man is in jail because he couldn't raise the money to pay the costs.

Another Blessed Fraud.

In a camp-meeting in New York a woman related her experience in giving up certain articles of ornament
and gay attire that she had loved.
She said that at first she resolved to wear no more artificial flowers, gray
colored ribbons, handsome silks, car-ornaments, nor brooches, but one idol remained: It was her wedding ring. At last she resolved to throw this away too, and when she did
the blessing of sanctification came.
The Methodist says: "As she stood in the audience relating the great change that came over her, she displayed an immense mass of false hair
wound up on the back of her head,
upon which was mounted a top knot
of a hat, neither protection from sun
or cold, nor ornamental to behold.
She disclosed beneath a half cast-off
shawl a corseted waist which was reduced to such diminutive proportions
as to appear painfully abnormal. She supported paddings, puffs, panier,
and pin back, and a dress skirt sadly bedrabbled to a depth of the several inches which it dragged upon the ground. As she sat down after her testimony and an exhortation to erring sisters to renounce all pomp and glory of the world, she plied her fan
and panted very like a ball room
belle who had waltzed too long and was dressed too tightly to breathe with ease. When, at the close of the meeting, the woman walked away,
she had a parasol, a fan and a hymn book to hold in one hand, and the other was employed in gathering and holding the front breadth of her skirts high enough to enable her to step, while the limit of her mincing
gait was determined by her contracted pin-back and stilted boot heels.
And away she went, a sanctified woman."

STRANDED ON A DANGEROUS SHOAL.— Advice from Lavatrick report that the new iron clipper ship Glen Finlay, of the Allan Line, is stranded on a dangerous shoal. Lighters have been dispatched to unload her. She left this port Friday, and has a full cargo of peas, wheat, flour and provisions.

Dr. W. E. Scott, President of the College of Physicians, Montreal,
writes: "I have recommended
don't's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Tonic. It is the best preparation used for Debility, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Fever, Ague,
and Loss of Appetite." Dr. L. D.
Collier, Agent.

TEXAS THREATENS.—There is no doubt that a gentleman in the city
has received a telegram from Gov.
Hubbard to proceed at once to raise 1,000 men for active service on the Rio Grande. There will be a mass meeting held to indorse Hayes'
Southern policy.

MCCLELLAN CONSIDERS.—Last Saturday evening a sub-committee waited on Gen. McClellan at his residence and tendered him the nomination for Governor of New Jersey. He asked time to consider the matter,
but there is scarcely any doubt but that he will accept. His answer will be given next week.

The stock of clothing at Graham Bros. is unsurpassed by any other on the Peninsula, and the low prices at which they are selling is sufficient to guarantee a sale to every one who calls and examines their stock.

THREE PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL.—On Friday night last three colored men picked a hole in the south side of the Princess Anne Jail and made their escape. Their names are Jesse Waters, George Stevenson and Hamilton Nutter, all charged with petty larceny. Nothing has been heard from them since their escape.

TO OUR DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS.—In order that there may be no misunderstanding when the time comes, we shall discontinue the ADVERTISER to every person who is not square on the books on the first day of January, 1878, and in the future the paper will not be sent to anyone without the cash in advance. Delinquents will please take notice.

The beauty of the ladies of Baltimore has become the standard of comparison the world over. They maintain that peculiar clearness and richness of complexion by the occasional use (as required) of Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture.

There has been a separation between an up-town lover and his sweetheart. She presented him with her photograph, which he on bended knees swore he would always wear next to his heart. Last Sunday evening he pulled out his handkerchief from his back pants pocket when lo! the photograph fell at his lady's feet. She says he is either a liar, or his heart is not in the right place.

THAT HUSBAND OF MINE.—This interesting volume has been received and read by us, and no one can peruse its pages without being amply repaid for the time. Its portraiture of life-like pictures are amusing and instructive. For sale by Messrs. Lee & Shepard, Boston, or Chas. T. Dillingham, New York. Send for the book and read it. It will be followed by "That Wife of Mine."

How utterly foolish to prance around one's room all night with a most terrible tooth-ache, when a few drops of Keller's Roman Liment would cure it in two or three minutes. All pain and discomfort vanish immediately upon its application, and everywhere this preparation is regarded as a household necessity.

The Clayton House, in Wilmington, Del., is one of the best appointed Hotels in the country. Its location in the busy little city is first class, overlooking the classic Brandywine and the meandering Delaware, with a background of as beautiful rolling country as is to be found anywhere. The large, airy rooms are ventilated completely, and the water arrangement can be no where else. The Proprietor, Mr. Pyle, is a first class landlord. No one knows better how to render a guest comfortable, or make him feel at home, than our friend, Mr. Pyle, and a better breakfast, or any other meal, can not be found than is to be had at the Clayton. It will pay to leave any one of the large cities and make the run to Wilmington and stop at the Clayton for a good night's sleep, and a good breakfast in the morning.

The September Term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county convened on Monday last, His Honor Judge Franklin presiding, Judge Irving being detained at home by serious illness. Court met at 10 P. M., when the Grand Jury was sworn in and charged by Judge Franklin. The charge was a somewhat lengthy one and very impressive. The Judge, in concluding his remarks, after advising the Jury to see to the condition of the jail and almshouse, said he had no knowledge of any defect in their management, but that a gentleman appointed by the Governor of the State to visit such institutions had reported our almshouse not to be in as good condition as some others. After calling over the several dockets, No. 6, Appeals, Samuel G. Hearn vs. Joseph Leonard, was taken up. This was an appeal from judgment of Justice Truitt. There being no evidence sufficient to sustain the cause of the plaintiff below, the Court instructed the jury to find for the defendant, S. A. Graham for appellee.

Dobbins Electric Soap.

Having obtained the agency for this Celebrated Soap for Salisbury and vicinity, we append the opinion of some of our people as to its merits: Martha Brewington Says: With Dobbins Electric Soap made by J. L. Cragin & Co., Philadelphia Pa., I avoid boiling the clothes, and it requires but little labor in rubbing and have my wash done by 10½ o'clock. Charlotte Leatherbury and Caroline Williams both say: We generally have to get 2 oaks of Dobbins Soap for our Monday's wash and now we do it with one cake of Dobbins and do it with a great deal less labor, and we get our wash out at least 8 hours sooner, and also avoid the use of the washboard and the Soda and need not boil the clothes. Both Molly Purcell and Hester Somers speak highly in favor of Dobbins Electric Soap. For further information we respectfully refer to the following ladies: Mrs. John Tracy, Mrs. K. T. Williams, Mrs. B. H. Adkins and Mrs. A. E. Williams.

We desire all our friends and customers to give this Soap one trial so that they may know just how good the best Soap in the U. S. is.
