No Extension of Library Hours Says SGA

At Dec. 4, 1961, the SGA board met and refused to recommend lengthened library hours. Though there were a few arguments in favor of the extension, an overwhelming majority of comment was presented against the planned increase. Taking a count of the library attendance was a job handled by the SGA itself and at no time was the library being used to 50 percent of its capacity as either a study or a reference center. It seems as if the only time the library really gets any use is either directly before a major test or the date when a research paper is due. Lack of student interest in the library, plus the fact that no student has ever failed to get work in on time because of the library schedule, led the SGA to the decision that a recommendation for the extension of library hours is totally unnecessary until student demand is greatly increased.

Spanish Club

At this same meeting the SGA welcomed the Spanish Club as a member of the SGA. This club will operate under the SGA constitution as do all other organizations on campus for the purpose of increasing the students' knowledge of the Spanish language. Membership is open to all STC students.

Other clubs on campus are also becoming a reality. The Young Democrats and Young Republicans are planning a program consisting of a film followed by talks in the near future. This program will pave the way for the creation of two political clubs on the STC college scene (more about this next issue).

Suggestion Box

Much to the satisfaction of the SGA board, the suggestion box recently placed in the Snack Bar has proven very fruitful. Some of the requests are receiving action. Cleaning and care of the fish pond in front of the science building which has been slowly deteriorating in recent years, the possibility of installing a music system to play music in the dining halls during meals, and the location of a telephone in the lobby of the new gym are all being acted upon. As stated, the SGA is greatly pleased with the suggestions received.

"Los Reyes Magos"

"Los Reyes Magos," a medieval miracle play, will be presented by the Spanish Club at 6:30 on December 13, in the Faculty Lounge. Harvard initiated the "rescue" of these ancient plays from obscurity. They were first performed by simple folk, in cathedral or church, not by professional companies.

Three important qualities of a medieval miracle play are simplicity, austerity, and sublimity. It is, essentially, a simple representation of the true Christmas spirit, and especially as expressed by the Spanish.

"Los Reyes Magos" was translated and adapted to the STC stage by Senor Costello. It should certainly provide a very entertaining half hour.

Below are listed the principals and their roles:

The Three Kings: L. T. Short, Robert W. Price, Ralph Cordrey.

Herod: John Hanson.

Christmas for All

Some 25 years ago, a practice was begun at State Teachers College—the practice of making a happy Christmas for Johnny. You see Johnny has never had a happy Christmas. His mother and father don't live together any more, and his mother couldn't support Johnny and brothers. So Johnny went to a foster home. He is happy in his new home, but he misses his mother and his brothers.

Johnny can still remember Christmas day last year. On the most joyous of all days, when you and I were sitting on the floor under a Christmas tree, opening presents, with the delicious aroma of a baking turkey swirling about our noses, Johnny was sitting on the floor, too, but his Christmas tree was a sprig of holly he had found on the sidewalk, the aroma that swirled about his nose was that of hot dogs cooking in the kitchen, his toys were the ones his mother had been able to buy, and they were few indeed.

But this Christmas will be different. His foster parents will have a big turkey in the oven, the Christmas tree will be all decorated in happy Christmas lights, and on the floor around the tree will be Johnny's presents, presents that you helped put there.

Each year State Teachers College gets a list of children who are in foster homes from the Welfare Board in Salisbury. These children range in ages from two to 14, and this year there are 32 such children. The first name and the age of each child is given. Race or color doesn't matter; Christmas is for all. These children are divided among three groups—the day students, the dorm students and the faculty. Each of these three groups contribute a certain amount of money toward the buying of Christmas presents for them. The names of the children are put on the packages, and at the Candlelighting Service, the gifts are presented to the Welfare Board. Then next day, the Welfare Board picks up the gifts and takes them to the children. No names of the donors are put on the packages.

In addition to this practice is another practice which goes on annually at STC. This is the practice of making gifts for the children of needy families done by the handiwork class of Miss Purnell. (See Christmas, page 4)

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Friends at home and friends afar,
These my Christmas wishes are;
Loved ones near and those away,
Peaceful be your Christmas Day.

Comfort, Lord, the sick and sore;
To the weary, strength restore,
'Til the shades of night shall fall
Happy be the day for all.

May the star that guided them
To the child at Bethlehem,
Symbol of good will to men,
Just as brightly shine again.

—Edgar A. Guest

Christmas, the observance of the birth of Christ, means many things to many people. It is traditionally a time of joy, happiness, and good will. It means good fellowship of friends and in the home a rededication of one's love and affection for those who surround him. It is truly a time dedicated to "the forgetfulness of self" and to "the thoughtfulness of others."

It is good for all of us to have a time when we can turn our attention from ourselves and our problems to others and theirs; to forget what we have done for others and to remember what others have done for us; and to stop asking what we are going to get out of life and ask instead what are we going to give to life.

It is my hope that the meaning and spirit of this Christmas season guide, inspire and lead us in everything we do, not only during the holiday season, but throughout every day of our lives.

leaders perform in their spirited manner, the more I'm convinced that we at STC are truly blessed, to have them on campus.

THE M.A.A.: ... did a fine job in handling the pre-game introductions and all-around tasks involved in making the night a success. The music before the game and during half-time certain adds a touch of dignity to the entire setting and though I questioned it at first, I am now convinced that it should be a regular part of our home games.

SPEAKING OF SCHOOL SPIRIT: ... has anyone noticed that whenever STC has something scheduled little Ruthie Denowitz always seems to find the time to attend and add her support? To those not familiar with MRS. Denowitz, it should be noted that she lives 30 miles away.

AH! THE TASTE OF REVENGE: ... was so sweet in the mouths of the Dorm Men, who ran roughshod over the Day Hops. It seems to me that the girls' game drew more favorable attention than did the "big" game. This was the fault of the unprepared Day Hops!

The Doings of the Social Committee

By GAIL STREET

On October 10 the Holly Leaf included in their issue the present plans of the Social Committee. This writing, a continuation of the previous one, not only includes present plans but past and future ones so as to inform the campus of the hard work of this organization as well as forthcoming events, plus a special introduction of the members.

The Social Committee is composed of a student body elected chairman, four class representatives, and one faculty advisor. The committee is very fortunate to have as their advisor S.T.C.'s very own Jack-of-All-Trades, Miss Addis. A very capable leader, she willingly cooperates with the other five members. Serving as social committee Chairman is Noel Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Farmer of Salisbury. Versatility and many capabilities makes Noel just the right man for this role. As well as serving on the Social Committee during his freshman year, he has exhibited leadership in many other campus activities. These include S.G.A. representative his sophomore year, Holly Leaf Make-up Editor his freshman, sophomore and senior years, Holly Leaf editor his junior year, and Circle K member his senior year. Noel also has a vivid interest in athletics; he plays all three boys' intramural sports and

New members are usually initiated in the fall. Members who joint after the beginning of the second semester are initiated the next fall. Those members initiated at this time were the following: Jim Davis, Lute Fennell, and Ken Roberts. Other members who are still enrolled at S.T.C. include: Blayton Ball, Bill Cotton, Barbara Crum, Naomi Era, Ruth Denowitz, and Charlotte Simmons. All students are eligible for invitation to join if they are qualified according to scholastic requirements. However, they must have previously completed 12 hours in history. Membership is restricted to Juniors and Seniors.

The Eta-Iota chapter of the Phi Alpha Theta, a national historical honor society, was started at S.T.C. in May of 1959 with Dr. William H. Wroten largely responsible for its organization. Its charter members numbered 22. It has held as its purpose the further study of history and culture for those students who have maintained a high scholastic average and is the only active honor society in the school.

The general nature of the program is to initiate and promote interest in history. Monthly meetings are held, some of which, according to their nature, are open to the student body and, perhaps, to the public. The members themselves take the initiative to keep their program alive and interesting. One or two field trips are usually planned each year as well as a regional meeting every spring. Its purpose is more than to promote the students' knowledge in history — it helps to stimulate the study of history. The organization, therefore, has the obligation to the college and student body to bring in interesting speakers and vivid material for study.

The organization has a total membership of about 50 members, as, even though many have graduated, they are still members and are welcome to attend all meetings. Many graduated members still live in this area and sometimes are able to attend these meetings. There are now 22 active members who are in school now or are local members. Since Phi Alpha Theta is nationally organized with more than 200 other colleges participating, members may transfer from one chapter to another when they relocate in other sections of the country.

The club's faculty advisors include Dr. W. H. Wroten, sponsor; Dr. G. H. Davis, Mr. M. G. LesCallette, and Mr. O. E. Robinson. These advisors provide the needed guidance, but are hesitant about planning too much of the activity as they do not wish to take the initiative out of the hands of the students themselves for the running of the organization.

Meetings are informal, but the members take pride in being dressed properly for their attendance. Refreshments are served during the discussions which take place

Thinking Out Loud

Man, what a weekend! As far as spirit on this campus goes, it's mighty fine. All who attended basketball game Friday night are surely can be proud of their team, their coach, and their new gymnasium. Friday night was the thing that has happened on campus in many a year. The story was a school victory with the standing ovation given team after it was all over. Sure feels good to be on the winning side and when that win over Towson State it is twice as good. With a new air of confidence that the team can win when it puts out a team effort this basketball season should be a mighty enjoyable one, or draw. Good luck, team!

It is hard to figure out what a traffic sign by the main parking lot means. The letters S-T-O-P inscribed on a yellow background. According to the English language it means for a car to come to a complete halt and look for pedestrians. Apparently there are no illiterates than we suspect, for some the letters S-T-O-P mean: "Squeel Tires On Pedestrian!" Oh well, I wouldn't want to command anyone for running over a student. It just wouldn't be a good idea. Would it? That's what I think. It wouldn't. Oh, Pity!

I won't even mention the Dorm-Day Hop football game. DING, DING, DING. Here are at STC, Friday morning, December 1, 1961. The fire alarm goes off. There is panic on the floor of the women's dorm. They are jumping from their pads. There is a fire (they think). They are screaming. "My hair is curling, what will those firemen think of me if they see me like this?" "What do you mean you will the firemen think of you?" "I don't even have my girdle!" "Oh heavens, my nylons have run in them." "I don't care about my nylons!" "I will not be caught dead in front of those firemen without my mink stole on." "Without my mink stole, there is no fire!" "Alarms are just being tested!" "Cause 99 and 44-100 percent of alarms don't work. And this America. If it ever comes to atomic attack you may hear something like this: "Hey Joe if you shelter come on over here. We have room for you and Ralph."

"Thanks Sam, but Ralph invited me over. He has a TV set."

In case of fire I suggest you follow the following rules:

1. Upon hearing the alarm, be sure it is for real, because you may just be testing.
2. If it is for real, make the weather is fine so that you can go outside.
3. Remember the fire is probably in the third.

Chotts Chatters the Sports

Well, our girls sure came through, the Skyrockets' season came to a close with not one loss recorded for them. I think that's something to really be proud of, and speaking for the student body, I say, "Congratulations, girls." Let's hope that this year's record sets a precedent for future years.

Since the end of hockey season volleyball and basketball have gotten underway. This year the Skyrockets, the varsity volleyball squad, consists of B. Foxwell and J. Diepold (co-captains); C. Arndt, L. Cox, W. Craft, D. Hubbard, B. Krahn, D. Meredith, P. Osinski, C. Steward and S. Weaver. The squad looks good this year, and I think that we have another promising season in store. Ski's spiking is better than it has ever been before, and the bullet serves of Wanda Craft, Sandy Weaver, and Carol Arndt pack power that the opposing teams find hard to return. An injury has kept Brenda Foxwell out of commission for a few weeks, but she hopes to play in the next game.

L. Dentz and J. Marth (co-captains); S. Bigwood, S. Bowman, B. Chambers, L. Hall, E. Jennison, N. Laramore, L. Muth and B. Spedden make up the Torpedoes, the jayvee volleyball team. On to basketball—practice started last week, and 24 freshmen came

Volleyball Season Opens

The Skyrockets started the season off on a good foot with a three-game win over Bounds-Phillips on Nov. 21. Enthusiasm over this win was especially keen for the opposing team has held the championship in the Wicomico Women's Volleyball League for the last nine years. Defeating the first place team was quite an accomplishment. The scores for the three games were: 21-6, 21-17, and 21-15. The second game was an away game played against Coldwater. The girls dropped the first game 21-17 but came back in the second to defeat Coldwater with the same score of 21-17. The Skyrockets also took the third game, 21-14.

On Nov. 28, the Torpedoes faced the Sharptown Lions on STC's court. It proved to be a hard game as both teams were evenly matched, skill-wise. STC walked away with the first two games but Sharptown came back to defeat us in the third.

Keep in mind that volleyball is a varsity sport just like basketball, and the girls appreciate the support of the students.

Gulls Hustle to First Win of Season

WHAT A GYM, WHAT A CROWD, WHAT A TEAM EFFORT, AND WHAT A NIGHT! Briefly, that's a thumbnail sketch of the long-awaited victory our Gulls gained for themselves and their faithful STC backers, over the Towson Staters on Dec. 1. The final score, STC 63—Towson 55.

From the opening whistle, local rooters were given the idea that for the first time in a couple of years, the Gulls had taken the floor with a positive attitude toward this game of basketball and they played accordingly. The final score speaks for itself.

We were starving for a victory and the TEAM EFFORT of the club was what brought it to us. To select one player as the man who decided the victory would be an impossibility. Three (Cotten, M. Davis and Farmer) scored in double figures, while McCrea, C. Davis and Towers came up with plays that put us back in the game at a time when it appeared that we might falter.

Equally pleasing was the fact that COACH BEN MAGGS was able to play a total of nine men without noticeably hurting the ball club. Despite the way the first three paragraphs read, the game was far from being classified as a perfectly played contest. There were numerous bad passes and missed passes, but this is expected in the first game of the season and these are only minor things and can be corrected.

Now to quickly run down the game for those who had the misfortune to be elsewhere when our Gulls reigned triumphant. The first half was played rather slowly with emphasis placed basically on defense. Noel, and Martin carried the scoring load during the first 20 minutes and the Maggsmen went into the dressing room with a three-point advantage.

Five minutes of the second half elapsed and found the locals with an eight-point advantage which was quickly lost when the Towson club temporarily baffled us with a full-

Murrell's Mayhem

(A full-fledged thank you goes out to Coach Ben Maggs for the technical knowledge given and the endless personal footwork done by him in making the last edition of the HOLLY LEAF such a success. Coach, my own thanks joins that of the HOLLY LEAF staff for your assistance.)

CONGRATULATIONS: ... to the men that comprise our 1961-62 Gulls Basketball squad. Congratulations first for having made the club and secondly, for having brought us a needed victory in the tussle with Towson State.

WANTED: ... a picture of the smile on Coach Maggs' face after the gun had sounded in our home opener. I would have given anything to have had a camera in my possession to record that!

MOST ENCOURAGING: ... about our victory was the fact that many observers honestly felt that we had the better ball club. We outthrusted, outshot and out rebounded our guests. Also, when they applied the pressure with a full-court press we came right back and won the ball game.

SORRY: ... to see Jim Hartman leaving our school and the Holly Leaf. He has truly been a big help in working on this paper and it appears as if it is going to be hard to find a replacement with his writing ability and sports "know how."

WHAT ABOUT: ... the turnout at the first game. That surprised me far more than the victory! Also, noticed about 12 faculty members plus many local notables on hand.

THE MORE: ... I see the cheer-

Dorm Men Crush Day Hops 21-0

The second annual renewal of the Day Hops vs. Dorm Men football game was a complete reversal of the initial game played a year ago. This year the Dorm Men, led by Jim Whaley, Jay McCrea and Richard Wilson on offense and Big Jim Davis, Wayne Towers and Bill Cotten on defense, simply humiliated their feeble opponents.

McCrea broke the scoring lid open just two minutes before the half ended when he intercepted a Day Hop pass and fell into the end zone. Jerry Wilson converted the extra point and the Dorm Men went into the dressing room holding a comfortable 7-0 lead. This would have been sufficient for the Day Hops just didn't have the organization, plays or personnel to seriously challenge their more talented opponents.

is a leading figure in the Gulls. These qualifications make Noel a credit to the Social Committee.

The other four student representatives are chosen from their respective classes. Senior representative is Winnie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reed of Greensboro. Representative of the junior class is Dotty Seward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Leroy Seward of Baltimore. Jack Morris, sophomore representative, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morris from Trappe. Recently elected Judy Riall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Riall from here in Salisbury, is the freshman representative.

All have shown excellent planning ability as is illustrated in the well-rounded program for 1961-62. The main objective this year is to provide entertainment for the entire campus each weekend. This enormous task which requires deftness in planning has shown excellent results so far this year. The students have the Social Committee to thank for the snack bar dances, picnic, swim, and tea during Freshman Orientation Week; the All-College swim and dance party at Canal Park; the many snack bar dances in conjunction with the various organizations on campus; the talent show; the sponsoring of the campus band, as well as the annual Harvest Ball, Alumni Homecoming and the nearing Christmas Dances. On the agenda for the rest of this semester which the Social Committee is sponsoring or aiding in the production is a card and games party, and at least one more snack bar dance before exams.

Second semester holds in store many more dances—a dance in conjunction with the Men's Dormitory, four dances in conjunction with the athletic program and possibly one to help the newly-formed Spanish Club, two regular snack bar dances and the remainder of the school's annual big dances. Activities of the Social Committee other than dances include: card parties, games parties, Hi Fi programs, films and possibly a night of skating at the Civic Center.

A standing ovation is presented to each of you—Miss Addis, Winnie, Dottie, Jack, Judy, and Noel—for such an excellent activities program for the entire campus.

PHI ALPHA THETA

after the business meeting.

The executive board for this year, as elected at the April 20 meeting are the following members: Charlotte Simmons, president; Kenneth Roberts, vice president; Barbara Crum, Secretary-Treasurer; and Luther Fennel, program chairman.

On October 14 students of the Civil War History class and guests of the Phi Alpha Theta members went on a field trip to Fort Delaware, to John Dickinson's home, and to the Delaware Museum. At Fort Delaware the students and instructors were able to get a better idea of the gruesomeness of the dungeons where the Confederate prisoners were held and the conditions through which those prisoners must have suffered. The dreariness and darkness of the dungeons were most impressive upon the minds of those who actually saw them. At the Delaware Museum, a demonstration was given on how to spin thread and to weave as it was done only a century ago.

Plans for the future include, as well as each monthly meeting, the Regional Meeting and a spring trip which should be just as interesting as the above-mentioned fall trip.

Each year a pin may be awarded by the Eta-Iota Chapter to the member who, in the opinion of the faculty members of the organization, has made the most valuable contribution in the fields of scholarship and service. This award, which is presented on Honors Day, does not necessarily have to be given, however. If the advisors feel that no member of the group has made an outstanding contribution, it is not imperative to present this award. Thus, it is truly an honor to receive the pin.

This worthwhile organization, with its positive approach to history and culture, is certainly an asset to our school as well as to our community.

CHOTTS

out along with the returnees of last year. Although the turnout among the freshmen was not as large as was characteristic of the other two sports, the girls display a good deal of talent in both forward and guard positions. Here's hoping that the basketball teams follow in the footsteps of the hockey squads. We're conditioned to winning, now, girls, don't disappoint us!

Speaking of victories, wasn't that a stupendous game against Towson? Our boys sure played a thrilling opening game. The crowd was not only large but quite spirited, and the team didn't let them down. If the boys have many more games like that one this season, I must have a nervous breakdown. Keep up the good work, guys.

Let's all sway in the spirit of things and sound off for our teams. An enthusiastic crowd is a great advantage to a team's morale; even the spectators can help win a game. See you at all the games and remember to "cheer along with the cheerleaders."

CHRISTMAS

Each student in the class is assigned to find a toy that has to be repaired. These toys are of all types—even to tricycles. After being repaired, they are placed under the Christmas tree at the college with all the other presents. They are then distributed wherever the Welfare Board feels they are the most needed.

Of course, Johnny is not just one child, but many, often coming from broken homes, or from homes unable to support children. But Johnny is still a child. He loves Christmas. And this year, he will have a real Christmas because 25 years ago a practice was begun at State Teachers College—the practice of making a happy Christmas for Johnny.

DORM

Apparently, the Dormers hadn't forgotten last year's whitewashing and they came out with a vengeance. After the second half kickoff a Dick Bailey to Richard Wilson aerial put the ball on the Day Hop's 1-yard line and after three plays into the line, Jim Whaley was able to rack up another six-pointer for the victors. Jerry Wilson on a fouled-up attempt at kicking the point, picked up the ball and threw into the end-zone to Wayne Towers for a two-point conversion and a 15-0 lead.

A few minutes later the alert Ed Burton intercepted another pass and after a series of six plays Whaley again scored to put the icing on the cake. This time Wilson's extra-point attempt was blocked.

Again, a good crowd was on hand to see this clash but the spirit, work and enthusiasm which went into the 1960 game seemed to be missing. Coaches Denver Knapp and Chester Squires of Wi-Hi did a fine job in officiating the game. All who participated are grateful to these men for assisting us. To Dr. Davis goes our thanks for his help.

Quite entertaining was the game played between various members of the Women's Dorm. Their "contest" was a take-off on the rules of football and the mechanics of the game, and proved to be delightfully amusing.

All in all, it proved to be a very exciting weekend on campus but it is a pity that the Day Hops had to make such a pitiful showing against the Dorm. As it stands now, the series is tied up at one all, so next year's game should prove to be quite an affair.

GULLS BOW TO TO SOUTHEASTERN

Before an enthusiastic following of some 60 followers, who braved sleet, snow and hazardous driving conditions, to say the least, STC Gulls bowed to the Southeastern Hawks on the winter court. The score was 71-64.

The game started out with Coach Ben Maggs' men wanting to be completely outclassed in this contest and the 40-25 time score wasn't happy sight for the STC'ers. The start of a half found the Gulls with a determination and slowly they were away at the deficit until they were within four points of the score, but alas this just was to be and they found themselves seven point down as the final sounded.

Believe it or not, the loss to Southeastern, by such a small margin has left a new spirit in hearts of Maggs' men. They lost a good ball club and they know. Any observer who had the fortune to witness both Gull games could not help but see a vast improvement in the caliber of play of the club.

Again, no player was outstanding but the scoring leader Bill Co with 15 did a tremendous job of night in playing an aggressive backboard game. Little Eddie Barton was another bright spot in Gull attack, scoring 12 points on his outside shooting. Three other players, Martin Davis, Noel Farmer and Jay McCrea had 10 each.

The talk among the spectators was centered chiefly around the hustle and all around floor play of Wayne Towers who made Coach Ben Maggs' decision, to insert him in the lineup, look pretty good. He was definitely Wayne's best of his three year varsity experience.

Coach Ben Maggs seemed pleased with the over-all performance of his charges. For those who traveled the 130 miles to see their favorites in action, the opportunity of witnessing the Gulls more hold their own in college competition, made the dismal trip (due to the weather angle only) well worth their efforts.

The group traveling to support the club numbered a little more than 60 and this showing of school and team interest is to be commended.

MAGGSMEN

court press. A time out called by Coach-team huddle eliminated the problem and the two clubs went to a final whistle 51-51 tie. During the five-minute overtime, Coach Noel and Cotten tossed the ball through the hoop while the Gulls managed only one successful shot, and that was it!

More surprising than the victory was the size of the crowd and the enthusiasm it exhibited through the leadership of cheerleaders and loud-voiced cheerleaders. Like we said at first, WHAT A NIGHT! . . . AN STC THAT IS!
