DEMOCRATS WARMING UP TO THE FIGHT

Will Wage Winning Contest For Passage Of The Suffrage Amendment From Now To Election Day.

When the present campaign started in Maryland, the chances for Democratic success looked a little dark, but after the meeting of the State Convention things began to brighten up, and they have kept on brightening all the time until now it looks as though the Democrats would elect their ticket, and carry the amendment as well.

Although the last amendment was defeated by a large vote, it will be remembered that this adverse vote was largely due to opposition to the Poe Amendment by prominent Democrats, such as Ex. Governor Warfield, Sen. Raynor, Attorney Gen. Bryan, and a host of others. These gentlemen were all in favor of an amendment which would disfranchise the negro but were opposed to the one then placed before the voters on other grounds. In the present amendment the objections of these gentlemen have been met and they are all solidly behind the measure this year, as well as the Baltimore Sun which is this year urging the adoption of the disfranchising Amendment, while it opposed the one proposed before.

It looks as though the ticket and Amendment both will have the solid support of the party this fall and that the ticket will surely win and the chances are strongly in favor of the carrying of the Amendment.

The action of the candidates for the Legislature from Baltimore City in getting together and pledging themselves to vote and work for a law which will make the holding of Direct Primaries compulsory, is having a good effect among those who want to support the Amendment but are afraid to do so on the ground that its adoption would make the state a one party affair. These ill support the disfranchising bill, if they can be convinced that fair and open primaries will be held, and that they will be given a chance to register their approval or disapproval of the way things are being managed.

With the easily manipulated conventions it is but natural that a great number look with fear on a one party state whose nominations are made by the manipulated convention plan, but if these same nominations are made by the people under a law which will guarantee fair play to all, then the objections to the one party rule falls through. That this will be done in the coming Legislature by the Democrats, in event of the passage of the Amendment is generally regarded as a settled thing—and will be done whether the negroes are disfranchised or not if the Democrats control the coming Legislature. Most of the Counties in the State as well as Baltimore City are already making their nominations under the direct plan, and will doubtless be in favor of making the holding of primaries by this method compulsory all over the State.

That the Democrats are in earnest about this campaign can be seen from the great efforts they are making to carry it on, able and well known speakers have been engaged to come to Maryland and help the cause. Senators Smith and Raynor together with Ex-Gov. Warfield will speak in all sections of the State together with other able speakers from all the counties and Baltimore City.

The big meeting of the campaign in Wicomico County will be held at the Opera House on October 23rd, when a number of noted speakers will address the meeting.

MILLINERY OPENINGS

Start The Fall Trade. Many Out To Inspect New Head Wear.

Lowenthal's.

The Beautiful Fall weather brought out in full force large crowds to visit the display of Fall and Winter Hats, Dress Goods and Suits.

Lowenthal's display was represented by Models from the different Paris shops.

The Millinery Parlor was decorated in Golden Brown and Yellow, two very prominent shades in Millinery. Among the most elaborate hats was a very large Russian Beaver turban, heavily draped and the side ornamented with a very large gold rose, surrounded by gold wheat.

Another hat was a black Ootale silk, with six drooping black plumes, gracefully falling over the side, surrounded by a large jet pin.

A Raisen colored velvet, with three willow plumes on the side, and a silver band around the crown was very much admired.

Children's hats and bonnets of every hue were displayed.

The long coat suits was also shown, with Princess effects, and many other novelties which help to make up Ladies attire.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor's.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor showed a magnificent display of Pattern hats in all the newest shapes and shades. Many large black hats with "willow plumes" and very large crowns, with "old gold" trimmings and Chamois facing created universal admiration.

A large display of Bonnets, Toques, Mourning hats, children's hats and silk baby bonnets. Black moire "Tricorn" hats with the Bird of Paradise, and the Heron bird with rosette and cabochon trimmings are among the latest fad.

Seafar green, mammoth grey and all the yellow tints are the leading shades of the season.

TIMELY NOTES

From The Gas Company. Don't Forget To Meet Your House These Cool Evenings. Keep Warm.

At no time of the year should one be more cautious about their health than at this very time. We go home from our work these cool evenings, and as it is too early as we think to start the fire, we sit down in a cool room and too often we lay the foundation of a cold that takes all winter to over.

The best way to heat your homes this time of the year is with a GAS heater. It doesn't cost much to have one put in your house, and the comfort that you will derive from it will more than pay the cost the first week.

This is the time of the year when we are more apt to catch a cold than any time, as we still have on our summer wear, and the first chill that strikes us we feel the effects and more so when we are sitting in a room.

Don't sit in a cold room by any means, don't do it, because you are laying your self liable to contract some disease that may last you a long time and cause a big doctor's bill.

Get a GAS heater at once and make your room nice and comfortable, it doesn't cost much, and you will have so much comfort from it you will be surprised how you have done without one so long.

The HOME GAS CO., has just received a big lot of these heaters this week, and can supply you at once. Don't try to save a penny and lose a dollar. Go to the HOME GAS CO., and buy a gas heater at once. Don't read this and throw it aside, it means something to you. It refers to you dear reader, if you have no gas heater it is you, you are talking to.

Stop! think and wonder if it is you. Don't sneeze and take a cold when you can avoid it. You may not think it is much, you think you are strong and can stand anything, you say it is time to take a little care of your health, so you sit down in a cold damp room little thinking what chances you are taking. Get a GAS heater at once.

Rally Day.

A Rally Day service will be held by Trinity M. E. Sunday School next Sunday morning at 9.30. The Sunday School room will be decorated with the flowers and fruits and vegetables of the season, and a special program of music will be rendered.

All the teachers and scholars are urged to make the occasion a great success by personal attendance and by bringing some one else with them.

Frosting service and celebration of the Holy Communion at 11 o'clock and preaching at 7.30 P. M. Subject, "Daniel and the Qualities that Made for Success."

Epworth League meets at 6.45 P. M. Please note the change in time of holding the night services.

—Mr. Paul A. Brown spent a few days in Salisbury this week with his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Belle Dickerson, at 280 Main Street.

OCTOBER COURT TERM

Now in Session. Number of Interesting Cases—Those Disposed Of.

The September term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County convened Monday morning at 9 o'clock with Judges Holland and Jones on the bench. The following cases were on the docket:

Appearances, 37; Appeals, 22; Trials, 57; Criminal Appearances, 9; Criminal Continuances, 3.

The following gentlemen were selected to compose the Grand Jury: Levin W. Dorman, foreman, E. T. Shookley, George H. Taylor, John E. Waller, William Purnell, Noah E. Brown, David Hudson, Thomas E. Parker, Charles M. Peters, John L. Powell, Marion K. Dryden, John E. Hastings, Andrew J. Dashiell, Gillie Bennett, Millard M. Messick, Joseph A. Rayne, A. Rowe Elliott, D. J. Pryor, Isaac K. Wright, Emerson J. Taylor, Anthony J. Carey, S. B. Langrall.

The Petit Jury is as follows: Chas. E. Williams, Littleton Smith, S. P. Parsons, Isaac S. Roberts, William C. Huston, Irving Russell, John H. Calhoun, Gabriel Banks, William S. Phillips, William R. Laws, John F. Taylor, Walbin Elliott, James Murray, Joseph W. Bailey, Charles Gordy, Samuel J. R. Holloway, Hubert W. Bounds, William H. Messick, Joseph B. Leates, John E. Travers, J. E. White, John A. S. Hearn, Isaac T. Phillips, James B. Oliver, William T. Banks.

Judge Jones' Charge.

Judge Jones delivered the charge to the Grand Jury as follows: "You are now sworn as Grand Jurors of Wicomico County. It seems to the Court unnecessary to go into any lengthy or detailed charge to you, being as you are, a body of intelligent and representative citizens of this county, and we will dismiss you as speedily as the law will justify."

"It will be your duty first to organize, appoint your secretary and other officers such as you will find necessary for the accomplishment of your work, and proceed without any unnecessary delay in the discharge of your duties."

"In the order of the work before you, you will first take up all cases in jail, so that the prisoners incarcerated therein may have as speedy a trial as possible and be allowed time to get their witnesses and have them here for trial during this term of court."

"We are informed that there will be for your consideration one charge of homicide, which is the slaying of a human being by another human being. Homicide is divided into two manslaughter and murder, according to the degree as you will find it. If you find the party charged is guilty of taking the life of another human being, it will be your duty to inquire whether it is manslaughter or murder. Manslaughter is the killing of another in hot blood. That is the general definition and as brief a one as we can give you. It is manslaughter in the first degree. All other murder is murder in the second degree. What you will have to determine is whether and by how the party or parties so charged shall be indicted and so send them to the court. You will only hear one side of the case; you will only hear the State's witness. The other witnesses will come into court and the party will be tried by a panel of twelve petit jurors."

"There are two statutes the Court is obliged specially to charge you with. Those are the statutes against abortion, or premature production, and defalcation on the part of the collectors of the public revenues. We know of no such charge in your county, but if there should be such a charge, it will be your duty to present the parties promptly to this court."

"It will also be a part of your duties to visit the public buildings of the county and report to this court the result of your findings."

"The court is always ready to counsel you whenever it is necessary, but you have at your command an experienced and well qualified State's Attorney on whom you are at liberty to call at any time for instructions, as you may feel you are in need of them."

"We know of nothing further that need be said specially, so we dismiss you to your room that you may proceed with your duties."

CHANGE IN SCHOOL

Hours Put Into Effect—Idea Is To Obtain Better Results.

It was decided, at a meeting of the School Board held Wednesday to make a change in the school hours. School will open at 9 A. M., and close for noon recess at 12 o'clock, returning at 1.30 P. M., instead of 1.15 as formerly. The closing hour in the afternoon will be 3.30 P. M.

These changes were made out of consideration for the physical development of the children. They need outdoor exercises as badly as they need mental work, and as the work has been laid out so that the same amount will be done in the school room as formerly, the Board believes better results will accrue.

The board decided to open the Colored Industrial School in Salisbury on October 4 and the colored schools throughout the county October 18.

In order to stimulate the school children to better attendance throughout the county, the board has decided to offer each month as a first prize a large Globe and as a second prize a Maryland flag, to the school having the highest percentage of average attendance to enrollment.

No. 20 Trials. Mayor and Council of Salisbury vs. People's National Bank. Demurrer argued; demurrer overruled.

No. 37 Trials. State against Archie Fleming. Failed to appear and forfeited bail. This was a case in which Fleming was convicted before Justice Trader of buying liquor for another party in violation of liquor laws of Wicomico County. Fleming took an appeal to Court praying a jury trial. When the case was called Fleming failed to appear.

No. 28 Trials. State vs. Wm. Morris. Motion to quash writ was argued, but was overruled. Morris was tried at the same time as Fleming before Justice Trader, and was convicted of the charge of selling liquor to Fleming. He also took an appeal to Court, but when the case was called Tuesday the chief witness failed to appear, and the State's Attorney dismissed the case. The remainder of the day was taken up in rendering judgements.

Wednesday.—The Court took up several cases for violation of the liquor laws of Wicomico County. The first called was that of Chas. McGrath, charged with selling liquor in Salisbury. McGrath, when arraigned before Justice Trader, asked for a jury trial and gave bond for his appearance at Court. His case was the first called Wednesday morning and he was found guilty and fined $50.

No. 14. Fred Siemons charged with selling liquor. Jury trial. Found guilty. Sentence not passed.

No. 12. Henry Dashiell, same charge. Jury trial. Found guilty. Sentence not passed.

TO AID FARMERS

Pennsylvania Railroad Buys A Farm For Agricultural Trials.

In furtherance of its policy of encouraging agricultural interests along its lines, the Pennsylvania Railroad has just purchased a farm of 50 acres at Bacon, Delaware, on the Delaware Railroad. It is proposed to operate an experimental station for the benefit of the farmers of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Peninsula, and with a view of exploiting the advantages of that section throughout the country.

In the Fall of 1908, James McCrea, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, made a trip of three days over the railroad lines on the Delaware-Maryland-Virginia Peninsula. He saw thousands of acres of this section—one of the richest agricultural districts in the world—idle, with the adjoining farms flourishing, and the products of the latter in great demand in all of the large markets of the Middle and Eastern States.

Having knowledge of the success attained by the Long Island Railroad with its two experimental farms, which have now been in operation some four years, Mr. McCrea suggested that a committee look into the matter of establishing an experimental farm on the Delaware-Maryland-Virginia Peninsula; a practical demonstration farm, where the railroad could show the agricultural possibilities of the land on the Peninsula. The Committee's report was favorable and the railroad has just closed a deal whereby it comes into ownership of the 50 acres at Bacon.

According to the last census, there are 3,916,800 acres of land on the Peninsula, of which 2,053,300 acres are under cultivation. There are 28,355 farms on the Peninsula, and it has a total population of some 500,000. To secure additional farmers to cultivate the 1,863,501 acres of idle land is one of the reasons for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is to undertake the operation of an experimental farm. The co-operation of the farmers of the Peninsula is already assured, and the State Agricultural Colleges, Agricultural Boards, and Horticultural Societies are enthusiastic supporters of the project.

BIG CENSUS PLUM

Seems To Be Coming This Way. Capt. L. H. White Anticipated.

Everything points to the appointment of Capt. Isaac H. White, of this city, as Supervisor of the Census for the Eastern Shore of Maryland. This is a very fat plum, and almost every county on the Eastern Shore had one or more candidates for the place.

The Supervisor has the appointment of all the enumerators for the nine counties. He also has allowed him office rent, two clerks and several other places at his disposal. The actual work will take about sixty days and the pay is about $1800.

Capt. White has the endorsement of William P. Jackson, Maryland member of the National Republican Committee; William H. Jackson, ex-Congressman; John B. Hanna, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and Postmaster M. A. Humphreys, of this city.

Capt. White will have his headquarters in Salisbury, from which point he will direct the work of taking the census next year. The work is one that requires considerable executive ability.

WHIP WIFE DESERTER

Masked Posse Drag Husband From Another's Home And Tie Him To A Tree. On Legs Then Applied.

William Matthews, who formerly lived at Castle Haven, but who recently has made his home in Cambridge, was taken from the home of a family in East Cambridge last night by a number of masked men, carried to the county road a few hundred yards away, tied to a tree and severely beaten with an ox whip.

Matthews, who is a married man, is said to have taken his children from his home and to have left his wife in almost destitute circumstances, and is further charged with undue friendship with the wife of the man from whose house he was taken.

It is said that relatives of the woman took part in the whipping. Matthews was warned by the neighbors to do better or suffer something more severe. The East Cambridge residents are wrought up to a high pitch of excitement over the case, as no notice of that character ever disturbed the quiet of that part of the town before.

HORSE OBEYS TELEPHONE

Order. Jess Refuses To Start Till He Hears Master's Voice.

Jess, a local fire horse of South Norwalk, Conn., may not be able to talk over the telephone, but he can listen and can recognize his master's voice.

Samuel W. McGowan, the horse's regular driver, was on a vacation last week and in his absence an alarm of fire came which resulted in the destruction of the Luther M. Wright block and a loss of $80,000. But when Jess missed McGowan's commanding voice he refused to get into the harness. In despair the driver was called up on the telephone, which stood near. "Bring that horse to the phone," yelled back McGowan.

The horse's head was placed close to the instrument.

"Jess, what's the matter with you? Get out of there quick," came McGowan's voice in the horse's ear.

No sooner did the animal hear the

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: Here's a mail order paint—there are several such—45 per cent of its solid part is barytes and whiting, and 35 per cent of its oil is benzine and water; the rest is zinc lead and oil.

Barytes whiting benzine and water have nothing to do with paint, except to make more gallons for victims to buy at $5 a gallon put-on.

$5 a gallon put on will buy the best paint there is in the world; here's a paint, about half neither pigment nor oil, imposed on the unsuspecting.

What is the remedy? What is the victim to do? Do you favor a pure paint law in your State?

North Dakota has lately passed such a law; it is worth, we presume, $5 a year to the average man. What is wanted, of course, is paint of such strength that 10 gallons will do a 10-gallon job and wear a long time. Devotee is that paint. Should counterfeits be put down by law?

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVORE & CO.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

THE GRACEFUL GIRL

Has an Air of Superiority That Forces Her Upon Our Notice.

Have you ever noticed the great amount of admiring attention which the graceful girl attracts? Even at a moderately good-looking, and not prettily or smartly dressed, there is an air of natural superiority about her which forces her upon our notice. This superiority lies in the fact that the graceful girl knows how to pose her body correctly, how to walk and sit becomingly. Consequently no matter what she wears or what her features may be like, she always appears to the best advantage.

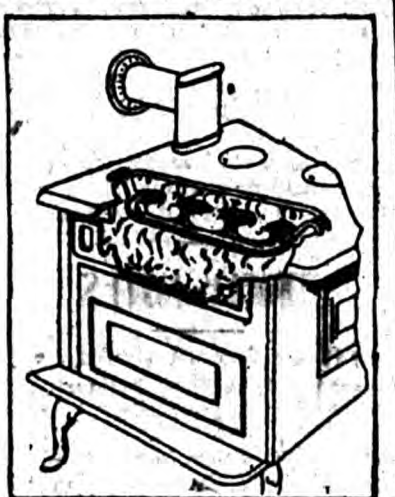

A plain girl who knows how to stand, move, and sit with ease is far more admired than the beauty who is clumsy and awkward. Some girls are naturally graceful. But there is no reason why those who are lacking in this respect should not add to their charms by carefully cultivating the art. An erect carriage, a graceful walk, a graceful manner of sitting and rising are necessary if a girl wishes to be really charming. And it is quite within her own power to acquire these virtues. In the first place she must study her own defects and the faults of other girls in order that she may avoid them.

Do not try to copy the graceful girl of hand, so to speak, by forcing yourself into what, to you would be unnatural poses and attitudes. That is not the way to cultivate gracefulness. In fact by doing so you will probably only make yourself more awkward and clumsy. By always trying to avoid the little faults which prevent a girl from becoming graceful, you will as time goes on find yourself drifting quite naturally into the ways and manners of the graceful girl.

SMOKELESS GRIDDLE.

Odors as Well, Are Carried Directly Up the Chimney.

A smokeless and odorless griddle and broiler, which has been lately patented, has advantages which will be readily recognized at a glance of the accompanying cut. The front plates of the stove being removed, the new griddle sits in and at the same time falls below the stove top. In this manner the heating surface is brought nearer to the fire and all smoke, vapors and odors are carried up the chimney.

SMOKELESS GRIDDLE.

ried up the chimney. The griddle is open at the top but for the purpose of broiling it is desirable that a greater heat should be secured, and this is brought about by making a lid over the top. When the latter is lowered, the meat being cooked gets the full benefit of the heat, but when it is raised every opportunity is offered for its examination.—Washington Star.

Cruel Pussy Mothers.

Across the aisle from me sat one of the "fussy" kind of mothers with her little girl, evidently about five years old. The mother didn't leave the child in peace for one minute. She took off her hat, smoothed her hair; she replanned her collar; she wiped her face with her pocket-handkerchief; she took her from her seat and stood her on the floor to straighten her frock; then she sat her back again. She took off her hair ribbon and retied it; she looked in her eye to see if there was a cinder in it; then she began at the beginning and did all these things over again.

The child grimly endured. Evidently she had been accustomed to it all her short life. The world to her was a queer, tiresome place in which mothers exhausted their energies and got their nerves on edge by paying useless attention to little girls.

A physician who sat behind me watched the scene.

"Has the woman no sense?" he said to me in an undertone. "Every tough pushes that child nearer the sanitarium that will one day open its doors to take her in at sane as fate."

"Poor little one!" I said. "Is there no hope for her?"

"Not with that mother," grimly replied the doctor.

Is Your Shovel Worn Out?

The price of a new shovel is a small matter. But are you going on forever shoveling into a furnace twice as much coal as is really needed to heat your house—and then shoveling out twice as many ashes? Ashes are expensive, because coal is expensive. You can't afford to let one shovelful of coal get away without getting its full content of heat out of it, and into the air of your house. You can do this easily, safely and surely with this

MODEL Heating System

It thoroughly consumes every pound of coal, leaving nothing but fine white ashes. By a scientific plan of circulation, it gets the heat from the fire and distributes it, through steam or hot water radiators, with remarkable efficiency. As a result it will keep the whole house comfortable day and night, in all weather, and save one-third to one-half of the coal ordinarily consumed. It is doing this now in thousands of homes. Look into it at once.

THE LEDOM RANGE

The Ledom is as good a kitchen range as the Model is a heating system—which is saying a great deal. Its grate alone saves half of the usual coal consumption, and makes it the safest, quickest, most convenient range ever built. Don't fail to see it.

HOW SHE MADE HER LIVING

I am not well satisfied with myself for my interest in Mollie Jenkins, the first place, she is but 17; I am 30. In the second place, she hadn't a cent in the world, being dependent upon her aunt, Miss Amelia Southworth. In the third place, I have a notion that she is a trifle too smart for her age. Southworth has a little income which will see with her, I wonder if Mollie isn't trying to get all she can of it into her own possession against the day of her aunt's demise. Lastly it is to my interest as a clerkman that I shall marry, and my congregation are looking for me to take a suitable helpmeet. I shudder at the thought of announcing an engagement to them to a child like Mollie.

Miss Southworth is a maiden of 70. Mollie lives with her, and Mollie's method of earning her living is to amuse her aunt. The aunt is only to be amused evenings by playing bridge, of which she is very fond. She was in her younger days an influential member of my congregation and is still an important member from the fact of her age and long connection with the church. Since it is necessary that I show her attention, I should do it in playing bridge with her. It is in this way that I have become interested in Mollie, who always has hand and sometimes plays dummy.

Miss Southworth is a native of England, where old ladies don't think a sin to play cards for money. She insists that bridge is but a poor game without a small stake, and on sitting down to the game I found myself in position either to offend her or to what is with us in America an unequal act—play for a tenth of a cent a point. Being expected to play with

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eight, an Act was passed, entitled "An Amendment to Section 1 of Article 1, of the Constitution of the State, which said Act is in the following words, to-wit:

CHAPTER X.

AN ACT to amend Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said Amendment to the people of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, three-fourths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring, that the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and it adopted by the people, who shall vote thereon, as herein provided, that the voters shall stand in the place and stand of Section one of said Article one.

Sec. 1. All elections shall be by ballot, and every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who shall be a resident of the State for two years and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of the county in which he may offer to vote, for one year next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in this Article, shall be entitled to vote, in the ward or election district in which he resides, at all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any county or city shall be divided into two or more different electoral districts, the persons entitled to Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then to submit to the people, for their approval, he must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form a part of the electoral district in which he offers to vote, and shall have been present at the election; but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, and who shall have been removed from the electoral district from which he removed, until he shall have acquired a residence registration to said board of officers of registration, and upon said written application, the court shall determine whether or not said person, when he presented himself for registration, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause; and if the court shall determine that said written application, so prepared and submitted by said person, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and that said person was not disqualified under any other provision of this Article of the Constitution to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the Court shall order said person to be registered as a qualified voter, but if the court shall determine that said written application did not comply with the requirements of said fifth clause, or that said person was in any other respect under this Article of the Constitution disqualified from being registered upon the books of registry in question, then the court shall order that said person shall not be registered upon said books of registry.

The court may enforce any order by attachment for contempt in said cases; and the court may punish by fine or imprisonment; exception may be taken to any ruling of the court at the hearing of said cases and an appeal shall be allowed to the next general assembly to be held; and such appeals shall be taken within five days from the date of the decision complained of, and shall be heard and determined by the next general assembly in its original session, or otherwise, as the Court of Appeals may by rule prescribe, as soon as the court shall be organized.

The General Assembly shall have power to provide more fully by legislation not inconsistent with this section of this Article of the Constitution with the hearing and determination of all such cases.

Sec. 3. And it be further enacted by the Legislature of the State of New York, that the section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next General Election for Governor and Judges, and shall be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the provisions of Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said general election the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be taken, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment.

Fig. 4 shows detail of floor joists showing the manner of putting them in lengthwise of the building. The joists are pretty close together and are well bridged, while the joist bearers are 2x12s—two 2x12s placed side by side. The manner of spiking through the joist bearers to the ends of the floor joists, making the upper edges flush, saves a lot of head room. The wall illustrated in Fig. 4. The floor joists are spiked to the joist bearers before it is let down in place, then are firmly spiked together.

The floor of a brace frame structure is best of concrete. A sill under floor is not right enough. If wood floors are used, the sills must be placed in the green posts and spiked through at the manner of spiking the floor joists to joist bearers. The detailed specification and bill of lumber can be worked out by any carpenter worth the name.

Won't Churn to Butter.

We have two or three correspondents who write that they are having trouble churning. One correspondent says he won't granulate into butter and ask what to do. The other correspondent says the cow furnishing the cream has not been fresh for 18 months. It is very well known that cream from the milk of such cows often gives the kind of trouble in churning. A very successful butter maker says this is the way they prepare for churning in the winter season, viz.:

"In cold weather if the cream is very cold I have a pan of warm water, set the pail of cream in and stir my cream thermometer ready, stir till it is about 54 or 55 degrees, have the churn scalded and cooled to proper temperature, put cream in and you will not have to churn over minutes until the butter will or should be in small granula, about the size of wheat grains."

Dandelions a Nuisance.

In some localities dairy farmers believe that the dandelion is an advantage in pastures; but recent investigations show that this weed is a considerable enemy of dairy cattle in making choice butter of best fat and keeping qualities. It makes trouble of this kind whether in the pasture feed or in the hay. The idea the dandelions are a benefit, was probably suggested by the milky juice of the plant which farmers somehow concluded must have a good effect on product of the cows. Instead, the weed is now pronounced a nuisance and farmers are advised to weed out or encourage the children to eat the plants for greens.

persistent milking even when I very little milk can be obtained.

A dairy house makes a fine equipment for the farm where many cows are kept. It need not be over 1000 unless there is a gasoline engine for power. In this case, a small room may be partitioned off in a large building with belt door to allow power to be obtained from the engine in the other room. In this other room may be placed the feed grinder, sheller and other machines run by the gasoline engine. Of course this is picturing how one may utilize the same power handily, if he has all the machines.

One evening Miss Southworth, Mother and I were playing bridge. Mother held a succession of good hands and was scoring points. Indeed, her luck ran so steadily that if the circumstances were otherwise I should have looked for trickery. Miss Southworth was beginning to get irritable. She had lost 67 cents, and there was a change of luck in sight. Mollie said it was uninteresting to play in a corner. "Come, but went on winning." Presently, Miss Southworth, who Mollie was dealing, said to her fiercely:

"Go upstairs!"

Mollie turned red as a beet, rose from the table and without a word left the room. Her aunt sat fanning herself angrily. I waited developments. They came in time.

"Did you see what she was doing," she asked me.

"No."
"Cheating."
"Good gracious!"
"Only 17, and she can find a pecuniary put a good hand wherever she likes."
"But what was her object? She having splendid hands?"
"H'm! She dealt them to herself."
I settled up my score, paying cents, and bade my hostess good evening.
"You won't say anything about this?" she said.
"Certainly not."
Nor was I likely to tell that I been playing cards for money and of the players had cheated. For next week or two I lived in dread lest the matter should leak out, suffered in another way. Somehow down in my heart there was a distinct pointment.
One day I met Mollie on the street.
If the act wouldn't have been not able she should have crossed her meeting her. She spoke to me angly and said:
"Auntie is waiting for you to be in again and play bridge."
"H'm!" I stammered. "Who take the other hands?"
"I am the only one unless some happens in."
"Have you and your aunt made that?"
"Oh, yes. She has forgiven me."
"H'm! You have forgiven yourself?"
She looked up at me with an innocent expression that would have con-

my heart except for the sin. "The nothing to forgive."

"Didn't you deal yourself a hands?"

"Not intentionally. They came me by luck. But you know at can't stand to lose. When she she gets ruffled and can't sleep. she caught me I was dealing her splendid no trump hand and she would have had everything her own way."

"I see. What evening would aunt like to have me call?"

"Any evening; we're always home."

"Very well. I'll be there tonight."

It's a dangerous thing for a man think evil of a woman who attracts nini and then had that he has mistaken. Not only a great re-came, but there was a great delightfully kind in little Mollie's to chest her aunt into a little slumber. Somehow I couldn't forget. I was on my way to my study write my next Sunday's sermon.

 when I sat down to work my would write nothing but "Mollie."
 I have done it. Mollie is to be wife. I don't know how my con-gation will like the match, but if don't I fancy I can get another church

STAMPING OUT SPEAKEASIES.

The good work which has been done and which is being done by the officers and by the Anti-Saloon League, should have the endorsement and hearty support of this community. If this work is continued those who have been breaking the law will come to realize that this business is entirely too dangerous for one to fool with, and will find some other field to work in.
Whether a man is temperance or whether in favor of the saloon or opposed to it—makes no difference in this matter of speakasies, and as long as the present law stands it should be enforced, by officers, citizens, magistrates, grand juries and petit juries.
The community will not stand for or apologize for any man or set of men who fail to measure up to their full duty in the enforcement of this or any other law.

FAST DRIVING OF AUTOMOBILES.

There has been much said about the fast and reckless driving of automobiles through the streets of Salisbury—and but little done. The City Council and Mayor have passed ordinances regulating the speed, and after each public explosion the officers have attempted to enforce these ordinances.
The Automobile Club has adopted resolutions for the guidance of the members of that Association, has pledged itself to help the authorities in their attempt to make the drivers keep a sane and save pace. After a short time—a very short time—all this is forgotten, by authorities, club and all except the public whose safety is endangered, and the automobiles go shooting through the streets at their old time high rate of speed. That no accidents of a serious nature have taken place upon our streets long ago, is due more to good luck than to any thing else. Automobiles have come to stay and are almost daily increasing in number in Salisbury and the way in which they are to be driven upon our thoroughfares should be carefully considered, proper regulations made and then strictly enforced.

WICOMICO STRONG.

As Court week has brought a great many of Wicomico Countians to Salisbury, it has provided a good opportunity to find out how the ticket nominated by the people at the primaries
this summer is regarded in the different sections of the County.

On almost every side can be heard comment in favor of the ticket nominated and of the plan of making nominations by the direct method. The greatest difference to be observed between the way the people talk this year and previous years, was that there was practically no one asking who is this or that man who was put on the ticket for certain offices; on the contrary all of the men nominated seemed to be well known to those who have been congregating around the courthouse this week.

While of course every one did not get every man he wanted on the ticket as yet there seemed to be but little disposition to quarrel about that but to take the matter philosophically, and readily admit the men nominated were all right. The fact that the candidates nominated would be known to the voters in the party was one of the claims made by those who advocated nominations by the Crawford County Plan, and this seems to be well borne out by the fact that all of the men nominated this year are known to the voters all over the county, and many of them personally at that.

Democratic party starts out at the beginning of this year's real campaign with a great advantage over previous years and if the vote this fall does not show that the party is stronger than ever in this county, all signs will fail.

Mr. N. T. Fitch Hurt.

While crossing Main Street, on Saturday morning, Mr. N. T. Fitch, a prominent member of Wicomico County's bar was run into by Harold Dayton, who was riding a bicycle.
Mr. Fitch was thrown to the street and badly bruised. It was at first thought that he was seriously injured,
but outside of being badly bruised and the nervous shock it is not thought he suffered any serious injury. Mr. Fitch is about 77 years of age but is still quite active in his profession and business. He is the President of the Camden Real Estate Company and has been the moving spirit in the development of that part of our city.

Vipers in France.
Strangers are sometimes surprised by the fear of vipers which exists in some parts of France. These little venomous snakes are dangerous both to man and beast. Recently a movement has been made to protect the vipers, on the ground that they render valuable services in destroying rodents, mollusks, and other small noxious animals; but a writer in the Journal of Practical Agriculture strenuously opposes this, declaring that the services performed by the vipers are of small account in comparison with the accidents, frequently mortal, which they cause. He instances a little neighborhood in the Department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, where the vipers became a veritable plague, and where, inspired by the offer of a reward, two hunters destroyed 12,000
of them.

An Electric Air Trap.
The instrument used by Mons. Tes-serenc de Bort for collecting specimens of air at high altitudes with the aid of sounding balloons consists of a very perfect vacuum-tube with a finely drawn-out end. Either the rise of the mercury in a barometer corresponding with a previously determined altitude, or the clockwork of the meteorograph forms an electric contact, causing a little hammer to fall and break the end of the tube. Air then rushes in, whereupon another electric contact, brought about by the same means, allows the current of a small accumulator to heat the platinum wire wound round the capillary-tube to a red heat. This fuses the glass and again closes the end of the vacuum-tube, thus entrapping the air.

Gave No Warning.
On entering the stable suddenly the head of the house found the head-and his own young son deeply engaged with the broken tail of a kite.
"How is it, Williams," he began, severely, "that I never find you at work
when I come out here?"
"I know," volunteered his son; "it's on account of those rubber heels
you're wearing now."

—The most luxurious prison is in Japan, about 15 miles from Tokio. In the midst of gardens where flourish medlar and cherry trees, where there are seen ornamental ponds with water lilies, arise the palatial prison. The cells are spacious and airy. The lighting throughout is by electricity, and delicate kakemonos adorn the walls. The apartments are furnished with luxury hitherto unheard of in prisons with marble baths, hot and cold water being laid on, dressing-rooms and reading-rooms. Nothing seems to be wanting to make the sojourn in this prison pleasant. In fact, it seems an ideal country residence and scarcely calculated to reduce crime.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

CHAPTER VII.

THE BROWNE ARRIVE.

CONTRARY to all expectations, the Brownes arrived the next morning. The Deppingshams and their miserably frightened servants were scarcely out of bed when Saunders came in with the news that a steamer was standing off the harbor. Bowles had telephoned up that the American claimant was on board.

The deepest gloom pervaded the household when Lady Deppingsham discovered that not one of their retinue knew how to make coffee or brew bacon—not that she cared for bacon, but that his lordship always asked for it when they did not have it.

Bromley upset the last peg of endurance by hoping that the Americans were bringing a cook and a housemaid with them.

"The Americans always travel like herds," she concluded, forgetting that she served a lord and not in the least intending to be ironical.

"That will do, Bromley," said her mistress sharply. "If they're like most Americans I've seen they'll have nothing but wet nurses and chauffeurs. I can't eat this vile stuff. Come on, Deppy. Let's go up and watch the approach of the enemy."

Scarcely half an hour passed before the advance guard of the Browne company came into view at the park gates below. Deppingsham recalled the fact that an hour and a half had been consumed in the accomplished yesterday. He was keeping a sharp lookout for the magic red jacket and the Tommy Atkins lid. Quite secure from observation, he and his wife watched the forerunners with the hand bags; then came the sweating trunk bearers and then crated objects in—what? Yes, by the Lord Harry, in the very carts that had been their private chariots the day before!

Deppingsham's wrath did not really explode until the two were gazing open mouthed upon Robert Browne and his wife, and his maid servants and his son, for that was the name which his lordship subsequently applied, with no moderation, to the unfortunate gentleman who served as Mr. Browne's attorney. The Americans were being swiftly, coolly carried to their new home in litters of oriental comfort and elegance, fanned vigorously from both sides by eager boys. First came the Brownes, eager faced, bright eyed, alert young people, far better looking than their new enemies could conscientiously admit under the circumstances; then the lawyer from the States; then a pert young lady in a pink shirt waist and a sailor hat; then two giggling, utterly un-English maids, and all of them lolled in luxurious ease. The red jacket was conspicuously absent.

It is not to be wondered at that his lordship looked at his wife, gulped in sympathy and then said something memorable.

Almost before they could realize what had happened the newcomers were chattering in the spacious halls below, tramping about the rooms and giving orders in high, though apparently efficacious voices. Close at their heels trooped the servants, all of whom took part in the discussion incident to fresh discoveries. At last they came upon the great balcony, pausing just outside the French saloon, down to which they were in their delight. "Great!" said the lawyer man after a full minute. "Finest I've ever seen! Isn't it a picture, Browne?"

"Glorious!" said young Mr. Browne, taking a long breath. The Deppingshams, sitting unobserved, saw that he was a tall, good looking fellow. They were unconsciously amused when he suddenly reached out and took his wife's hand in his big fingers. She was very trim and cool looking in her white duck.

"What does Baedeker say about it, Bobby?" asked Mrs. Browne. Her voice was very soft and full—the quiet, well modulated Boston voice and manner.

The pert girl in the pink waist opened a small portfolio, while the others gathered around her. She read therefrom. The lawyer drew a compass from his pocket and pointed vaguely into what proved to be the southwest.

"We must tell Lady Deppingsham not to take the rooms at this end," was the next thing that the listeners heard from Mrs. Browne's lips. Her ladyship turned upon her husband with a triumphant smile.

"What did I tell you," she whispered. "I knew they'd want the best of everything. Isn't it lucky I roused upon these rooms? They shan't turn us out. You won't let 'em, will you, Deppy?"

"The impudence of 'em' was all that Deppy could utter.

At that moment the American party caught sight of the pair in the corner. For a brief space of time the two parties stared at each other, very much as the hunter and the hunted look when they come face to face without previous warning. Then a friendly, half abashed smile lighted Browne's face.

"I beg your pardon," said Browne. "This is Lord Deppingsham."

"Yes," drawled Deppy, with a look which was meant to convey the impression that he did not know who the deuce he was addressing.

"Permit me to introduce myself. I am Robert Browne."

Browne waited, a dull red growing in his temples. "Don't you intend to present me to Lady Deppingsham?" he demanded bluntly without taking his eyes from Deppy's face.

"Oh—er—is that necessary?" interrupted Browne. "I am Robert Browne, the man you are expected to marry. We are here for the same purpose, I suspect. We can't be married to each other. That's out of the question. But we can live together as if we were."

"Good Lord!" roared Deppy, coming to his feet in a towering rage. Browne smiled apologetically and lifted his hand.

"As if we were serving out the prescribed period of courtship, set down in the will. Believe me, I am very happily married, as I hope you are. The courtship, you will perceive, is neither here nor there. Our every issue is identical. Lady Deppingsham. Doesn't it strike you that we will be very foolish if we stand alone and against each other?"

"My solicitor"—began Lady Deppingsham and then stopped. He was smiling in spite of herself.

"Your solicitor and mine can get together and talk it over," said Browne blandly. "We'll leave it to them. I am quite ready to be a friendly ally, not a foe."

"Let me understand you," began Deppingsham, cooling off suddenly. "Do you mean to say that you are not going to fight us in this matter?"

"Not at all, your lordship," said Browne coolly. "I am here to fight Taavell Skaggs and John Wyckholme, deceased. I think both of us will run for the same number of actual votes."

"I trust you have not taken the rooms at this end."

"We have. We are occupying them."

"I'm sorry," said Browne. "We were warned not to take them. They are said to be unbearable when the hot winds come in October."

"What's that?" demanded Deppingsham.

"The book of instructions and description which we have secured sets all that out," said the other. "It's strange that the servants didn't warn you."

"The—the confounded servants left us yesterday before we came, every mother's son of 'em. There isn't a servant on the place."

"What? You don't mean it? I say, Britt, come here a moment, will you? Lord Deppingsham says the servants have struck."

The American lawyer, a chubby, red faced man of forty, with clear gray eyes and a stubby mustache, whistled loudly.

"I'll see what I can do, Lord Browne. Get to your rooms, eh, Lord Deppingsham?" Without waiting for an answer he dashed off. The native carriers were leaving the grounds when Britt's shrill whistle brought them to a standstill. The lawyer yawned a triumphant yawn to his friends and then climbed into one of the litters to be borne off in the direction of the town.

"He'll have the servants back at work before 2 o'clock," said Browne calmly. Deppingsham was transfixed with astonishment.

"Now—how the devil do you—does he bring 'em to time like that?" he murmured. He afterward said that if he had had Saunders there at that humiliating moment he would have kicked him.

"They're afraid of the American battle-ship," said Browne.

"But where is the American battle-ship?" demanded Deppingsham, looking wildly to sea.

"They understand that there will be one here in a day or two if we need it," said Browne, with a sly grin.

"That's the bluff we've worked." He looked around for his wife and, finding that she had gone inside, politely waved his hand to the Englishman and followed.

At 8 o'clock Britt returned with the recalcitrant servants—or at least the "pick" of them, as he termed the score which he had chosen from the hundred more. He seemed to have an Aladdin-like effect over the house.

Calmy taking Lord Deppingsham and his following into his confidence, he set to work to have his Indian friends summoned, later on in the day.

"I know that an American name doesn't carry any right to be upon Britt's possessions, but you just keep quiet and let well enough alone. They just simply know that I can send wireless messages and that a cruiser would be out there tomorrow if necessary, pegging away at these green hills with cannon balls so big that there wouldn't be anything left but the horizon in an hour or two. You let me do the talking. I've got 'em bluffed, and I'll keep 'em that way."

Over in the gorgeous west wing Lord Deppingsham later on tried to convince his wily little wife that the Americans were an amusing lot, after all. Bromley tapped at the door.

"Tea is served in the hanging garden, my lady," she announced. Her mistress looked up in surprise, red-eyed and a bit disheveled.

"Ask some one to bring the tea things in here, Bromley," she said sternly. "Besides, I want to give some orders. We must have system here, not Americanisms."

The tea things did not come in. In their stead came pretty Mrs. Browne. "Won't you please join Mr. Browne and me in that dear little garden? It's so cool up there, and it must be dreadfully warm here. Really, you should move at once into Mr. Wyckholme's old apartments, across the court from ours. They are splendid. But now do come and have tea with us."

Judge Henry Resigns To Accommodate Pattison.

Chief Judge W. Laird Henry has resigned his position on the bench in order that Gov. Crothers can appoint Hon. John R. Pattison in his place, if he should see fit. Judge Henry's reason for his resignation at this time is to allow his successor to hear the cases and participate in the work for the October term of the Court of Appeals, as it is not at all likely that Judge Henry would be on the bench when the time came for rendering decisions on the cases to be argued before the court.

The resignation took place October 1st. Judge Henry was appointed by Gov. Crothers to fill the vacancy resulting from the retirement of Judge Lloyd by the last Legislature. During his tenure of office he has filled the high position of Judge with ability and integrity, and in a way that has given general satisfaction to the people of the State.

Mr. Pattison who will succeed Judge Henry on the bench, is one of the ablest lawyers in the Fifth District, and is the nominee of the Democratic party for the Chief Judgeship.

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO WEAR IT

Special Correspondent of This Paper Writes Entertainingly to Women.

LATEST FROM THE METROPOLIS

Three Modes of the Latest Designs—Blue Cloth With Striped Silk Gown Delightful for Semi-formal Wear—A Striped Zephyr and the Latest Tailored Coat.

Evening bodice have a charm all their own and if the draperies on these models are skillfully managed, they can be given an air of distinction without employing any but the simplest trimmings.

The spotted silk mull dancing frock shown here owes its beauty entirely to the bodice, for the skirt is as simple and plain as a school-girl's frock, being mounted over a silk lining without any other embellishment.

The waistline is raised to Empire height and finished with a plain fold of satin, while the bodice is cut with a very deep square neck, with large tucks of chiffon folded within its confines to form the vest effect.

To bind the neck narrow hand embroidered silver braid is used, strips of this trimming extending below the girdle and over the hips, after which they are quickly terminated.

The sleeves are rather unusual, being very wide and flowing, suggesting the wings of a butterfly.

When an English princess became the bride of King Alfonso it was predicted that the tide of popular favor would turn against bull fighting in Spain. But Queen Victoria has abandoned her moral campaign against the brutal sport because of the active opposition of the Spanish women. It has now become apparent that women are the chief support of bull fighting in Spain, as they are of the theatre in this country.

At all the recent fights in Madrid and Barcelona women have been in the great majority in the audience, and not satisfied with their seats in the boxes these bloodthirsty Castilian women have organized and forced the building of special seats for their exclusive use on a level with the bull ring.

From these seats they are enabled almost to reach out and touch the tortured bulls, while more man has to be content to sit by his loneliness in the boxes. Queen Victoria has introduced English fashions in dress into Spain but she has been powerless to check the national sport. After her first taste of bull fighting, when a bride of two weeks, she vowed that she would not return again to the arena, but political expediency has forced her to appear at frequent intervals in the royal box.

Blueing.

This is especially done to improve the appearance of white clothes and bring back some of the clear color which they lose through wear and age.

Blue, which dissolves most readily and leaves least sediment after the water has stood some time, is the best.

It is impossible to lay down rules as to quantity, as it depends both upon the kind of blue used and the texture of the articles undergoing operation.

As a rule, body linen requires more blue than other articles, and table linen less. To prepare the blue water, half fill a tub with clean, cold water.

Dip the blue bag into the water and squeeze it tightly, repeating the process until the water becomes a pale blue color.

The blue water must not be too deep in color, as it spoils the appearance of the clothes. Stir the water well before immersing the clothes.

Alfalfa Good for Bees.

Since the coming of Alfalfa, any section of the country where it is grown to good advantage is well adapted to bee keeping. Bee keepers say that each colony ought to average from $3.00 to $5.00 worth of honey every year besides the swarms which come off.

Those Who Succeed Best.

Those who are in the bee business because there is money in it are not as apt to succeed as those who are in it also because they are fond of bees and their care. It takes a fondness for a business to obtain its best success.

Best Honey Districts.

Some localities are very much better for honey than others. Southern California and Southwestern Texas are among the best countries in the world. Intelligence, industry and a good location are necessary to the best results.

There are still some who argue that the most money for them is in old ideas, old methods, and common bees. They regard the new as too expensive. The best bee keepers, and those who make the most money use up-to-date methods.

Persons of irregular habits, afraid of too much work, careless, or of kind, would better not take up bee business, or handling live things of any kind.

Let no man undertake bee keeping thinking that it is an easy task. Bee keeping is like growing a crop. It takes care and labor to make it succeed.

Serviceable Tray Cloths.

Take some oilcloth (white preferred), and cut the size you wish; bind the edges, with suitable braid or button-hole-stitch all of them. Either looks very well, and if you spill it does not go through onto the table-cloth, and can easily be cleaned.

The circular skirt fits perfectly about the hips, flaring at the bottom in a number of graceful folds. It is finished only with a deep hem, situated invisibly.

Worn over the skirt is a long, rather close fitting coat, bound with soft silk fibre braid and lined with light silk. They are going to use light mountings, a great deal because they are less injurious to delicate white blouses. The coat has revers and a turn-over collar bound with braid also.

The sleeves are long, for long, close-fitting sleeves are about all we shall undoubtedly be wearing as soon as the next season's modes settle down.

For ordinary wear the simple turn-back cuff trimmed with silk braid is the usual finish, and there are also a number of other charming effects obtained without the use of the cuff, braid and braid medallions being employed instead.

The Bloodthirsty Woman.

When an English princess became the bride of King Alfonso it was predicted that the tide of popular favor would turn against bull fighting in Spain. But Queen Victoria has abandoned her moral campaign against the brutal sport because of the active opposition of the Spanish women. ## BEES AND BEE KEEPING

APIARY IN COLD WEATHER.

If Hive Entrance is Too Small Combs Get Mouldy.

With too small an entrance, in a damp climate, you will be sure of mouldy combs and more than the proper amount of dead bees. The trouble becomes aggravated in the course of the winter by the clogging of the entrance with dead bees. Let the full entrance be given as in summer, and see that the dead bees are cleaned from it every few weeks. During heavy storms in winter it frequently happens that hives are entirely buried in snow. While the snow is light and porous air will penetrate it and reach the entrance of the hives, but should the snow become crusty, or ice form at the entrance, the bees would be in danger of suffocating. It is well to have all hives facing southward, so the sun can shine on the entrance of the hive and keep them free from ice. After a heavy fall of snow we always sweep in front of the hives, leaving the snow banked around the other three sides, as it will do no harm there but will help to keep off the prevailing winds. Bees will take an occasional flight during warm days in winter, and sometimes many are seen flying about dead on the snow, but such are generally the old ones that are easily chilled and fall to get back to their hives. Such losses are not serious. Even when the snow is on the ground, and it looks as if it would be a pity for so many bees to fly and ro on this white sheet, we find that it is the colonies which take the most lively flight that winter best, and we have paid particular attention to this fact.

Some people are of the opinion that if we have a cold steady winter, in which the bees remain confined in their hives for several months, there is less danger of the overloading of their bowels with fecal matter which they cannot discharge in the hive, without greatly endangering the life or health of the colony. Diarrhoea is often brought about during the winter season. It is no doubt caused by fermented or extremely thin honey. It has been found that bees located near elder mills will contract the trouble from feeding too much on the apple pomace or can juice. Cold weather dampness, or a sudden change of temperature have been known to bring on the disease. No remedy has been discovered. However, the bees should be kept as warm as possible and the hive should be well wrapped as soon as the outlook is noticed. During the elder making season, the pomace should be removed and fed to the hogs or disposed of so that the bees cannot partake of it.

During the winter months the bees are huddled close together in a compact cluster, the interior of which is at a normal temperature, while the space outside of it may be even below freezing. As the season advances, and the weather gets warmer, the cluster is brought in, but all the work done is only inside of the cluster, as the temperature is too low outside of it to admit of anything to be done.

F. G. Herman.

A Winter Precaution.

The beehive should face the south to prevent the entrance of north winds and cold. Yet in very warm winter days the sun may so heat up the front of the hive as to call the bees out into the open air when the temperature is really too low. In this way many bees are sometimes lost. A wide board placed in front of the hive will help to ward off undue heat and make the situation less tempting to flight.

Force of Example

In the first place the Royal Bazaar conducted a prize contest and gave away a lot of things—watch fobs, sets of Dickens, trips to Niagara, house-balls, bats and red-eyed ostrich feathers. It was the opera tickets for "The Sultan of Kaboo" that fell to Big Tim and to Maggie.

Big Tim drew left F 63 and Maggie drew right D 19, which are entirely too far apart for lovers. Therefore, Big Tim exchanged tickets with his friend, Sullivan, the ice man. This is how Tim and Maggie came to sit together for the first time in their joyous lives in the parquet of a really splendid theatre.

After Big Tim had found the place for his hat and Maggie had begun on her peppermint chewing gum, two very fine people wedged in past them and sat in F 64-65, adjoining. They were people of so fine a texture that Big Tim couldn't keep his shrewd, gray eyes again from the man's sparkling solitaire, and Maggie knew she would give her eyes for a fluffy, creamy dress like the lady's. And for a minute old, ugly Envy crept in and spoiled the lover's paradise.

But Big Tim soon saw that the man's thin, patrician face was very set and stern, and that the lady, though beautiful, was unhappy. He nudged little Maggie and explained in a horrible audible whisper:

"Mag—Mag—the big bloke's mad as horns and the lady ain't any ways tickled to death."

"Our temperaments are absolutely incompatible," the lady was saying, wearily. "As far removed as Plato from Cinderella." And she sighed.

The man answered with a look of pain. "It is your perspective, your superactive habit of analytical introspection." "Isle. That is all."

"Liste. Mag!" commanded Big Tim, in another thunderous whisper. "De high society guys is slingin' French. Gee, such woids! Dey'd break your purty jawbone."

"This is the end, Elsie," the man murmured, desperately. "I suppose you will never understand." And Big Tim, hearing, took it upon himself to explain.

"I'll tell you how it is, lady. You see, the Sultan's girl wants to hook up with the W. U. messenger from Room-giang, and de Sultan's dead sore on de deal."

The man endeavored to frown Big Tim into silence, but, failing, laughed outright; and the lady gave a little sigh of relief and regarded Tim with twinkling eyes.

"John," she whispered, "the big fellow simply won't let us quarrel. 'We'll have to wait until we can carry it off in private.'"

But Big Tim, who possessed a wonderful sense of hearing, had even caught the whisper. He turned to Maggie, who was watching the red headman of Mogadore sing seesaw songs with Little Miss New York off right centre. "Mag," he whispered, so that the man in the box office heard. "It's a lovers' quarrel. Now, if it was me an' you, we'd make up."

And Big Tim kissed the rosy Mag right there in the costly parquet.

The fine lady saw and, somehow, a tiny tear trickled from her brown eyes, down, down, over pretty, pink cheeks, upon the fluffy, creamy gown of Worth. And when Big Tim saw the tear he thought that the man had forced the tiny drop, and he scowled.

But Maggie was tugging at his arm. "Tim," she whispered, "Look. They're together—the lovers—Roxane, the Sultan's daughter, and Fantan, the messenger."

Tim looked and saw that it was true. The brave, royal messenger had the dainty little princess girl in a shell of a boat on a papier-mache sea of blue, and they were singing and cooling. And Big Tim could understand this.

"Oh, Mag!" he cried; and with a hundred insignificant people looking on, he kissed his true love again and again. As he looked up from the last fond salute the fine people were leaving. The lady looked radiantly from her brown eyes.

"Bless you!" she said, as she passed Big Tim; and "Bless you!" she murmured again to Maggie. The man's face was wreathed in smiles.

"You understand now, Elsie," he was saying. "It's just like that."

And he jerked his thumb at Big Tim, who was holding firmly to Maggie's plump, warm hand.—S. D. STONE.

They Meant Business.

A Chicago stage manager was telling of amusing incidents of blunders and errors caused by stage fright. In a romantic play, recently revived, one of the minor characters, a dairy maid, comes forward at the end of the recital of a love romance, and comments as follows:

"Hope filled their youth and whetted their love; they plighted their troth."

But at one of the performances the girl who played the dairy maid was absent without notice. At the last moment the manager gave the lines to a shepherdess, who had never had lines to speak before, and who was excessively nervous when her cue came. This is what the astonished audience heard:

"Hope filled their trough and blighted their love; they whetted their tooth!"

Happy

"That young couple seem to be enjoying themselves immensely. Are they married?"

"Yes, but not to each other."

Ethergram.

Language grows apace with the victories of applied science. Consider for a moment how many words in the ordinary work-a-day vocabulary were unknown a quarter of a century ago and are the natural product of discovery and invention. With the perfection of wireless transmission of intelligence there obviously came need of a word designating a message conveyed by the new method.

"Ethergram" has been suggested and, in fact, is being used in Great Britain. If not, why not?

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable blood restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

SOME PLANTS THAT HIDE

How a Favorite Mexican Grass is Saved from Extinction.

C. G. Pringle, for many years a famous plant collector, especially in Mexico and the arid regions of the United States, speaks of a native grass of Northern Mexico, Muhlenbergia Texana, as such a favorite with all grazing animals that it is usually exterminated, or nearly so, except when growing under the protection of thorny shrubs, usually mesquite bushes. In Arizona during the winter and spring the Indians bring it long distances into the towns to sell. He adds: "How many times I have contended with the horrid mesquite bushes to gather an armful of this grass to carry joyfully to my hungry, and jaded horses. In such cases the thorns, spines, not only protect the young growth and leaves of certain plants, but furnish shelter for other tender and nutritious herbage. In arid regions, especially, similar instances of protection by thorn bushes are numerous."

Again, some plants retire beneath the surface of the ground at the close of the growing season, remaining secure beneath the surface for months in the form of bulbs, tubers and root-stocks. At such times they are nearly sure to escape destruction by animals. Examples are Solomon's seal, Dutchmen's breeches, May apple, goldenrod and arctostaphylos. Other plants are protected by water, and of these Professor Beal says: "Not only the flowers of many species of plants as they project above the surface of the water are protected from most unwelcome insects, but the whole plants as well. Mud snails, certain fishes, water snails, larvae of insects eat aquatic plants, but most other animals are unable to reach them in such places. Water plantain, wild rice, pond lilies, arrowhead, pickerel weed, pondweed, lizard's tail, bulrush, burdock, cattail flag, water dock and many more of their associates root at the bottom, with leaves floating on the surface or projecting above. Innumerable low forms, known as algae, are at home in lakes, ponds and streams, or on the surface of the water, while other kinds thrive in salt or in protection below the surface or by extending above it, not only from numerous animals, but they have no competition with others which can grow only on dry or moist soil."

LEECHES OF PALESTINE. Menace to Health and Even Life—Found at Pools and Springs.

Leeches are common in the springs and wells of Palestine, and especially so in Galilee and Lebanon. In 1897 they were so numerous during the summer and autumn months that nearly all the horses and mules suffered from bleeding at the mouth. In some places they were got rid of by placing fish in the springs.

The drinking water used in the house is generally harmless, owing to the practice of filtering the water through a piece of muslin, which is done by the water carriers in filling the pitchers. On the other hand the thirsty agricultural laborer is more exposed to the danger, especially when he drinks in the evening or during the night.

The leeches generally attach themselves inside the mouth, in the larynx and oesophagus, but Mr. Masterman is convinced they are killed as soon as they reach the stomach. At any rate no special symptoms have been remarked in the case of persons who have swallowed them entirely. When the leeches are very numerous, and Mr. Masterman observes as many as three dozen on the same person, they may be found in the nostrils and are especially frequent in the larynx.

The presence of the leeches is indicated by slight but persistent hemorrhages in the mouth and nose, their intensely varying naturally with the number of the parasites, and in certain cases they may bring about serious anemia and even death.

PRIMITIVE ANIMALS RETURN. Creatures of Which Kansas Thought They Were Rid Again Found.

Some time ago Kansas newspapers printed a line or two about the discovery of a white weasel at Oak Mills, adding that white weasels are extremely rare. Lewis and Clark, in 1804, in the journal of their famous expedition, speak of having procured from an Indian on the Missouri "a weasel which was perfectly white except the extremity of the tail, which was black." Perhaps this weasel was the progenitor of the Oak Mills animal. By the way, it seems that Kansas is coming back to its primitive condition again, especially as regards wild animals.

Many wild creatures that were thought to have long since disappeared from our soil are making their appearance again, says the Kansas City Journal. A little more than a year ago a parakeet was killed on the Remsburg farm, east of Potter. Parakeets are common in this locality in the early days.

Willing to Take a Chance. The willing prisoner stood unshaken before the judge. It was his first time in a court and before a jury, says a writer in the Argonaut. "Prisoner at the bar," asked the clerk, "do you wish to challenge any of the jury?" The prisoner looked them over carefully and with a skilled eye. "Well," he replied, "I'm not exactly wot you calls in training, but I guess I could stand a round or two with that fat old geezer in the corner."

GIRL BLEUTHS FOR BERLIN. Police Will Rely on Famine Intuition in the Detection of Crime.

Berlin Germany—The police administration, convinced that many crimes can be best traced by women, is establishing a corps of women detectives. Ten have already been employed. Some of them are mere girls.

Tracy, will be happy, he is employed where he is likely that feminine intuition will be useful.

SCISSORS SHARPENER.

Simple Device Does the Work Without Skilled Labor.

Sharpening a pair of scissors has always been considered a properly belong to an expert. An Indiana inventor decided that a device could be readily made by which the sharpening could be readily accomplished by any one. He, accordingly, designed the device shown here, by which scissors can be sharpened without entailing the employment of skilled labor. It comprises a base, which is clamped to a table or other support. On the base is a sharpening stone or other suitable abrasive material, while at the opposite end is an upright arm from which depends a movable clamp. The scissors are held in correct position over the stone by means of the clamp. The latter is then moved back and forth along the arm, thus moving the blade of the scissors across the sharpening stone. Where scissors are employed to a great extent this simple means of sharpening the dull blades should prove both valuable and economical.

Sliding Float for Salt-Casting. Sliding floats for use with a salt-casting rod are not in the tackle stores, but any angler can make one. Take two bottle corks, one and a quarter inch size; make a hole through each and slip them on a quill, using shoemakers' wax hot for cement. Cut quill off even with cork and push a bead down into small end of it until the bead is on a level with outside. Work the cork down to pear shape, the bead in the small end; smooth with sandpaper and paint. Make a figure 8 loop in a cotton string by forming loop and putting ends through twice, and slip this loop on the reel line. Draw it tight enough to stay in position firmly, but loose enough to slide on line by pressure of the fingers. To rig the tackle, set the knot on reel line at the depth you want to fish, slip the float on line, load end first, then adjust sinker and leader as usual. When the line is reeled up for the cast the float runs up on the line and stops at the sinker. When the cast is made the float returns to the knot on the line. Use

A Good Sliding Float With Casting Rod. As much lead as the float will carry. Have the rod equipped with large, smooth guides.—Charles Carroll, National Military Home, Ohio.

The Difficulty. Mrs. Watson, a woman whose pretensions to beauty nature flatly refused to assist in any way, saw in a shop-window a bonnet, the sort of thing that a modiste in town calls a "creation," but a knotting of velvet, a fold of lace and pink roses, but a snare for feminine vanity because it looked so simple and easy to wear. She hurried in, examined it closely, inquired the price, and at last tried it on. Then, after a few moments of disappointed staring, she took it off again.

"I don't think I'll have it, after all, Miss Demmon," she said. "What do you suppose is the matter with the thing? I'm sure it looked ever so much prettier in the window."

"But, my dear madam," answered the milliner, with quick conviction, "You must remember that you have your face to contend with now!"

Growth of Boys and Girls. At five years of age boys are mainly taller than girls, but the girls appear to equal them at the seventh year, and continue thus up to and including the ninth year, after which the boys rise again above the girls for two years. At about twelve years the girls suddenly become taller than the boys, continuing until the fifteenth year, when the boys finally regain their superiority in stature. After the age of seventeen there seems to be very little, if any, increase in the stature of girls, while boys are still growing vigorously at eighteen. Boys have a larger lung capacity than girls at all ages. The difference is not so large from six to thirteen, but subsequently the difference between the sexes increases very rapidly.

The Best in Him. A man is especially and divinely fortunate, not when his conditions are easy, but when

COURT NOW IN PROGRESS

Cases Disposed Of—Benton Kelly On Trial For Murder.

The following cases have been disposed of at the September term of Court since Saturday's issue: Saturday No. 6 Trials, case of John H. Bradford vs. Thomas H. Timmons. Suit for slander and malicious prosecution. Tried before jury. Verdict of jury for plaintiff; damages assessed at $200.

No. 25—Trials. Southern Employment Agency vs. John W. Jones. Tried before court. On trial when Court adjourned on Saturday afternoon. Grand Jury got through with its work and were dismissed Saturday afternoon.

Monday.

No. 25. Trials resumed. Verdict for plaintiffs; damages were assessed at $125.

No. 53. Trials—International Harvester Company vs. Porter & Layfield was taken up and was continued through Tuesday and most of Wednesday. Tried before jury. Verdict for plaintiffs. Judgement rendered for $11.

The case of Benton Kelly charged with the murder of Hiram Truitt was then taken up. This case is the result of a fight which took place at Powellville last May in the barber shop of Mr. Donaway.

Truitt's death was the result of a quarrel between several persons while in the barber shop. The quarrel seems to have been started between Joe Bodley, Hiram Truitt and Edward Dennis. This had quieted down when young Kelly with several companions entered the shop and made some inquiry as to the trouble and being informed that Bodley had accused Truitt as being one of the party which had thrown bricks at him, Kelly, according to the witnesses remarked in a jocular manner that they could not do this when "we boys are around". This started trouble and Dennis and Truitt started for him. From that time on things happened thick and fast. Kelly and Dennis engaged in a pass of blows with Truitt rushing in: Donaway who was sitting in his chair at the beginning of the trouble, heard the commotion and wheeling out of his chair struck Truitt side of the face knocking him against the wall. It was found that Truitt had been out. The State claims that Kelly struck at Dennis who dodged the blow falling back, and Kelly almost simultaneously made a lunge at Truitt cutting him in the abdomen. The defence claims that Kelly did not cut Truitt and was never close enough to him to do it, and could not have done the cutting owing to the position of the men.

The testimony seemed to be conflicting, several of the witnesses swearing that Kelly not only could, but did do the cutting. The dead man accused Kelly of cutting and two witnesses were put on the stand by the state who swore that Kelly acknowledged to them that he did it. On the other hand the majority of those in the room testify to the fact that in their opinion he could not have done so as he was out of reach at the time Donaway struck him and knocked him against the wall. Kelly himself stoutly denied the cutting. Jury brought in verdict of not guilty.

Death of Miss Ruark A Shock to Her Friends.

The many friends of Miss Bertha Ruark were shocked to learn of her sudden death on Wednesday of this week. Miss Ruark, as far as known, was feeling as well as usual on Wednesday morning. Early in the afternoon she was taken with violent pains in the back of her head, and on summoning her physician, it was found that she was suffering from a stroke of apoplexy. Miss Ruark never rallied from the attack and in a few hours suffered a second stroke which proved fatal. The deceased was a daughter of the late George H. Ruark and George H. Ruark, and would have been 36 years of age had she lived through the week.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Miss Mary Belle Ruark and three brothers, Messrs. Houston, Travers and Harry Ruark. Two half sisters also survive, Mrs. Wm. White and Miss Sarah Ruark.

Funeral services were held at her late home in Camden at 3.30 Friday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. W. B. Phillips, of Newark, N. J. The pall bearers were Messrs. Augustus Toadvine, Stephen Toadvine, W. S. Gorry, Jr., C. Edgar Laws, H. O. Fulton and Dr. H. O. Tall. The remains were interred in Parsons Cemetery.

At Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church the pastor will preach on Sunday at 11 A. M., and 7.30 P. M. Sunday School, 9.30 A. M. Christian Endeavor, 4.45 P. M. Junior Christian Endeavor Meeting at three o'clock in the afternoon. Midweek service Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

Changing Owners—Mr. C. E. Williams Comes To Town. Mr. Collier To Build.

Real estate continues to be active, and changes in ownership come so thick and fast that one can't keep up. The farm G. W. Phillips bought a few days ago from Mr. James E. Lowe, has been sold by Mr. Phillips to Mr. S. P. Woodcock. Mr. Phillips has just bought one of the most desirable farms near town, of Mr. Wm. P. Ward, for $6000. This farm which is located on the old shell road about one mile from the N. Y. P. and N. Depot contains fifty acres.

Mr. Charles E. Williams, one of the best known residents of Wicomico county and for several years the Democratic leader of Delmar District, has purchased the handsome brick residence of Mr. Frank M. Mitchell on Isabella Street, East, this city. The consideration was, we understand, $12,000. This is one of the handsomest residences in Salisbury. It is comparatively a new house and is built of white pressed brick. The interior of the house is finished in hard wood and equipped with steam heat, two lavatories, electric lights.

Mr. Williams is at present living on his farm on the road from Salisbury to Delmar. Is engaged in farming and lumber business and has probably more standing timber than any man in Wicomico county. He is one of the largest land owners in the county. For many years Mr. Williams was president of the School Board and has always taken an active part in Democratic politics. His removal from Delmar District, which is the banner district of Wicomico, will be regretted by his host of friends there. He has, however, moved into the "bloody fifth" which has the reputation of giving the biggest majorities of any district in the county and he will feel at home there.

Mr. George B. Collier has acquired from his aunt, Mrs. Thomas W. Seabrook, one of the prettiest building lots on N. Division Street, having a frontage of 46 feet and a depth of 210 feet. This is a portion of the property owned by the late George Washington Humphreys. Mr. Collier expects to erect a modern home next year on the lot.

Report of Grand Jury On County Matters.

The Grand Jury completed its deliberation Saturday afternoon and adjourned. Seventeen true bills were found, covering various offenses.

The committee which visited and inspected the Court House and Jail made the following report: "Nearly all the members of the Grand Jury visited the jail Friday afternoon. We found everything in good shape. The keeper, Mr. Waller, seems to be performing his duties in a satisfactory manner. We have no recommendations to make. We also inspected the Court House. We found everything in good shape and have nothing to suggest or recommend."

Messrs. A. Rowe Elliott, John E. Hastings and Charles M. Peters, committee which visited the Alma House, reported as follows: "We found the farm in good condition with fairly good crops. Buildings and grounds all clean and well kept. There are five inmates all presenting the appearance of being well kept. The live stock on the farm was found in a healthy and good condition. There is need of a suitable building in which to store the farm implements. We consider the dwelling house to be too old and out of repair to meet the needs of the place and recommend that it be replaced by a new one. We commend the keeper, Mr. Darby, for his faithful management of the place."

Kelley Not Guilty.

At a late hour on Friday afternoon the jury in the Kelly murder case brought in a verdict of not guilty. Immediately after the verdict was rendered, Kelly was surrounded by a number of friends and by those who had watched the progress of the case and congratulations were literally showered upon him. His mother was notified at once by telephone of the outcome of the case. The verdict is a popular one, and was expected by most of those who heard the evidence of the case.

UNION SERVICES HELD

In Pocomoke Give Impetus To A Progressive Religious Move.

Sunday was an eventful day in the religious circles of Pocomoke. Union services, under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, were held in the various churches, all of which were crowded to their utmost capacity. Union choirs, assisted by the Pocomoke orchestra, led the music. The ministers of the various churches, as well as their congregations, entered heartily into the work, and deep interest and much enthusiasm prevailed.

The morning service was held in the Pitts Creek Presbyterian church. In the pulpit were Rev. Dr. J. W. Hundley, of the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. W. L. S. Murray, of the Salem M. E. Church, Rev. G. I. Humphreys, of the Bethany Methodist Protestant church, and Dr. P. S. Evans, a missionary from China, who made the address. Dr. Evans spoke on China: "The work and its needs," and commanded the closest attention, with a quiet, cultured voice and masterly manner, he told of the difficulties encountered by the missionaries in China; described the characteristics of the Chinese, explaining how they were influenced by the three religions of their country—Brahminism, Confucianism and Buddhism; cited statistics as to the population of the Chinese Empire, and the growth of the missionary work there, and pointed out how the hand of the Lord, through the invention of the steamship, the history and treaties of the nations of the world, had opened the way into this exclusive country for the missionary and the Bible.

Dr. Evans is a medical doctor as well as a missionary, and is a graduate of Yale and Johns Hopkins Universities. He married a daughter of the Hon. Joshua Levering of Baltimore. Mrs. Evans is also a missionary in China. They expect soon to return to their work in that country. The fact that they have both given up the ease and luxuries of wealth, social position, and the companionship of loved ones at home, is a proof of their devotion to the Master, in whose cause they are laboring so earnestly.

In the afternoon the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist Protestant Sunday Schools marched in a body to the Salem Methodist Episcopal Church where they joined that Sunday School at three o'clock in a general Sunday School Mass Meeting. Rev. Dr. W. L. S. Murray, pastor of the church, presided, and introduced Mr. C. W. Dorsey, of Baltimore, president of the Maryland Sunday School Union. Mr. Dorsey's subject was "How can the Sunday School help in World Wide Evangelization?"

Mr. Dorsey is a millionaire, but thirty five years of Sunday School work has inspired him with such enthusiasm as well as impressed upon his mind and heart the importance of the work, that he has given up business activities in order to devote his entire time to it. Mr. Dorsey looks upon the Sunday School as the hope of the future. He tried to impress the children with the thought that the World must be "Taken for Jesus" and that they must help to do it.

At the close of his address, Dr. Stiek gave a short talk, after which Dr. Evans, by special request, sang "Jesus Loves Me" in Chinese. At the close of the meeting Dr. Evans presented each person present with a Chinese copper coin. These were objects of much interest.

At 7.30 o'clock in the evening a General Missionary Rally was held in the Bethany Methodist Protestant Church, of which the Rev. G. I. Humphreys is pastor. Dr. J. M. Stiek, Executive Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

AUTOMOBILIST WARNING

Dangers On County Roads, Horses Seeking Revenge. Spirited Charges By Colt.

Careful observers have noticed for some time the way the horses of Wicomico County were taking the growing use of the deep-seated automobile, and have viewed with considerable alarm the disaffection and growing unrest of the noble quadruped. It was very evident to these that a dangerous flame lay smoldering in the breast of the indignant horses of this locality and that it would take but little to arouse them and change their wrath into open and determined rebellion.

Down at Loretta Station there lived a horse of some two summers with noble blood and determined spirit, which although but a youngster had listened with ever growing indignation to the tales he heard from his mother and friends of the tricks and impudence of this iron monster which was attempting to supplant his noble race in the affection and esteem of mankind.

Ever as he sat at his mother's knee and listened to her adventures with this noisy and impudent intruder his heart would beat with indignation and his proud spirit would cry out for vengeance.

Patiently, he waited and long, but on Wednesday of this week his opportunity came and nobly did he strive to revenge the insults to his specie.

Mr. Frank Adams was coming home from Princess Anne with a number of his friends in his powerful Cadillac, and the colt seeing him approach left his peaceful fields of tender grass where he was grazing and doubtless brooding over his wrongs, made for him with vengeance.

At a distance of three hundred yards Mr. Adams and his friends saw the colt advancing at a terrific gallop. Scouting some danger unknown and understandable, Mr. Adams, who was only travelling at about 15 miles per hour, shut off his power and brought his machine down to a walk. The colt was not to be placated however by these peaceful tactics but continued on in his wild charge directly for the center of his foe. Adams still thinking that the horse would pass him, as there was ample room for him to do so either side, brought his machine down to a practical "standstill." On charged the beast however and scarcely varying an inch he came straight for the foe and without flickering an eye struck it plumb in the center.

Alas the machine was too heavy and too strong for his noble effort to make much of an impression on and down went the horse, down to his death, for in the maelstrom his shoulder was broken; dislocated and sick he awaited his master. Mr. Pollitt who was compelled to kill him to get him out of his suffering.

The machine however did not entirely escape; the furious charge of the animal drove it back several feet, broke the fender, displaced the lamps and damaged the steering gear, victorious in its encounter but not entirely triumphant, the machine speeded its way back to town.

Cynics may smile, and look knowing about the above, but the main facts are vouched for by onlookers of this fearful encounter, of which no other similar or so notable has ever been told in local annals.

UNION SERVICES HELD

spoke delightfully for more than an hour on the history and work of the movement. Dr. Stick for a number of years was a missionary in Japan. He is not only a fine speaker, but is an expert barometer, and at the close of his address, gave the audience the pleasure of a cornet solo. At the other services he played with the orchestra.

Hon. Joshua Levering is president of the Movement in Maryland. Mr. Frank W. Byrd, of Pocomoke City, is chairman of the Laymen's Movement of the Eastern Shore. As the result of their labors, and committees composed of some of the most prominent business men of Pocomoke, much interest is being manifested in the work in Pocomoke City, to which the ministers are lending their hearty support.

Committees of three laymen of the various churches have been appointed with the following as chairman: James T. Young, Methodist Protestant Church; C. J. Dorr, Baptist Church; S. P. Carey, Presbyterian Church; E. James Tall, Methodist Episcopal Church. Cottage prayer meetings are also held frequently at the home of the laymen. Other work is being planned for the winter.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement had its origin in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York in November 1908. Some sealions christians were celebrating the centennial of the Maytag Prayer Meeting, when it was suggested that the chief barrier to the speedy evangelization of the nations is the widespread indifference of laymen. There the movement had its beginning. Since then the laymen of all denominations have come to its support, in an effort to co-operate with the ministers and missionaries in the work of evangelizing the world. The movement is not administrative, but educational and inspirational. It is an effort on the part of the laymen to bring the great mass of laymen face to face with their obligations to the kingdom of God. It insists that the Great Commission makes it as binding upon the laymen to send, as upon the missionary to go. It would not put business into religion, and impress our business men that the affairs of the King are entitled to as wise financial methods as banking and commerce.

It stands for unity of missions, and would therefore give the gospel to the destitute, both at home and abroad. This movement is one of the greatest undertakings of the age, and has for its purpose to evangelize the world in twenty-five years.

Seventy-five conventions are to be held in the large cities of the United States, one of which will take place in Baltimore on November 16, 17 and 18th.

Preparations are being made for Union Missionary Services in Salisbury is the near future.

Marie C. Jones, Pocomoke City, Md.

Obituary.

Mrs. Rebecca Ellsgood, wife of Rev. J. H. Ellsgood, deceased, of the M. P. Conference, after a brief illness was called to her eternal reward Tuesday morning Sept. 28th.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Harriman, the M. P. minister, of Mardela Springs, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Revelle, M. E. minister of Quantico, Sept. 29th. After which her remains were carried to Laurel, Del., for interment.

Mrs. Ellsgood was born April 2nd 1837 and the years were numbered out to her till her numbered seventy two yet the heart of this grand old woman kept young and happy. She became a member of the church early in life and for fifty years was a faithful follower of the Christ. She became the wife of Rev. J. H. Ellsgood in 1888. She is survived by three brothers, David Meredith, of Philadelphia, William, of Wilmington, Del., and James, of New Jersey, and by two sisters, Mrs. J. D. Vincent, of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Mary O. Dashiell, wife of the late Dr. W. H. H. Dashiell, of Quantico, Md., at whose home the deceased resided at the time of her death.

She died as she lived, triumphant in the faith.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which has nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Her Choice

"Mother, dear, where are you?" Constance Hayden exclaimed breathlessly, as she rushed into the house one cold January afternoon. Then, as her mother appeared, she went on to say, "O, I could hardly wait to tell you. Mr. Wilbur heard me singing this afternoon and is going to send me abroad so that I may—"

"My dear, my dear," her mother interrupted, "talk slowly, for I don't quite—"

"Just a minute, mother, and I will tell you," Constance continued, eagerly. "This afternoon Mr. Wilbur was obliged to go out for some important documents and told me to do as I wished until his return. The family were away, so there was no one in the house but the servants and myself. You know Mr. Wilbur is very fond of music and the music room adjoins his office. I went in, sat down at the piano and sang a few of my songs, forgetting for the time where I was. He returned before I expected and all at once I was startled by hearing his voice say, 'Very good, Miss Hayden.' He had been listening in the doorway and asked me to sing something else. After I finished my song, he talked with me a long time about the result of our conversation was that while he thinks I make a good private secretary yet he deems my voice should not be neglected and says he will send me abroad to study. O, mother, isn't it like a dream? It seems almost too good to be true."

Mrs. Hayden, placing her hand on the golden head, said with a sob in her voice, "Your father and I shall miss you greatly, Constance, but we would be selfish to prevent you from going. May God protect and guide my little girl."

Constance Hayden had been a devoted lover of music from childhood and possessed a voice of unusual sweetness and strength. Her father, Dr. Richard Hayden, the village physician, could not afford to give his daughter the advantages of a musical education without a decided sacrifice. This, Constance would not permit, for she realized that her father's health was failing and that there were two younger brothers to be supported. As private secretary to Horace Wilbur, a wealthy citizen of the village, she went each day to his magnificent residence on the hill, cheerfully performed the duties assigned to her and was perfectly happy. Her bright face clearly portrayed the sunny disposition of the girl, while the large gray eyes were but a mirror of the true soul beneath.

The following day the news of Horace Wilbur's magnanimous offer went broadcast through the village, and universal gladness was expressed, for Constance Hayden, was, indeed, a general favorite.

After the younger members of the family had retired that evening and her father and mother had gone out, Constance sat at the piano, allowing her fingers to roam aimlessly over the keys. Her mind was filled with thoughts of the future—the new life to be opened to her. All at once a feeling akin to sadness came over her at the thought of leaving her dear ones—then a dull flush crept into her face as her thoughts turned to Jack Thornton, who was now a rising young lawyer. Jack and Constance had been friends from childhood—all his hopes and ambitions had been confided to Constance, and every new song was first sung for Jack. No words of love had ever been spoken between them, but now Constance began to think how queer it would be without Jack's words of praise.

At this juncture in her thoughts the door bell rang twice in quick succession—the manner in which Jack always rang. When she opened the door, Constance noticed his face looked grave, and troubled, but made no mention of the fact, and after the usual greetings were exchanged he said, "Sing my favorite song, Constance, please." In compliance with his wishes, she started to sing in a low, sweet strain: "Sometimes I dream that days of old are fleeting Far from the haven where we bade them rest."

"Never mind, Constance. I don't think I want you to sing to-night," Jack exclaimed, rising from his chair, and going towards the piano. Then he added in a sharp tone, "Is this true—that you are going away, Constance?"

"Yes, Jack, and I am so happy," she answered, but as she spoke there was a queer tugging pain at her heart. Then, gathering the two small hands in his, he said, "Constance, little girl, don't go. I love you and want you to be my wife. If you go away you may gain renown and perhaps riches, but will you be happy? I can only offer you a pure, undivided love and true happiness, but does it not mean more to you? Answer me, dear, according to the promptings of your heart. Will you stay?"

A low sob escaped the girl, as she said in broken tones, "All the essence in the world are as nothing compared with you, Jack, so I—will—stay with—you." Then, as she felt her self clasped in a strong embrace, a thrill of contentment and happiness surged over her, void of all regret.

Outside the winter snow was beginning to fall, but in the two young hearts within that room, the world seemed full of warmth and sunshine. For them a new life was opening, of which, perhaps, fame and wealth would form no part, but in which love and happiness would rule predominant—MAY AGNES ROCH.

ROADS AND ROADMAKING

USE THE ROAD DRAG.

There is No Excuse for Allowing Highway to Become Ratty.

The process of dragging, smoothing and planing the road with one of the numerous styles of road drags now happily coming into use in many localities, is so simple and inexpensive that there is no excuse for allowing any road to become rough and rutty through neglect. The split log drag was first brought to the general notice of the public by D. Ward King of Missouri, who had previously used one for several years on the road adjacent to his home. Although drags of many different styles have been used for years, none seem to have impressed the road users with their utility and economy as the King split log drag. It is easily and cheaply constructed and consists of the two halves of a ten or twelve-inch log eight feet long, framed together after the manner of a wood rack and drawn with the split faces to the front along each side of the road at an angle of 45 degrees to the line of the road, thus drawing the earth toward the centre. Drags should be used just after rains or continued wet weather to smooth the earth surface and prevent ruts from forming to hold the water. During a visit to the East a few months ago the speaker saw a good illustration of the benefit to ordinary dirt roads from the use of road drags. It was after a long rainy spell and on one section of road the conditions were the same as are usually found on country roads after heavy rains. Teams without loads had difficulty in traveling even at a walk. Another section of road in the same vicinity had been worked with a road drag which preserved the rounded section, filled the ruts and allowed the water to run off. There was no mud on this section and teams were driven at a trot. The roads were ordinary farm roads of black loam, with some clay in places.

Great Western Road Drag.

A Better Way.

In the construction of a new road through an open country the usual custom has been to excavate ditches with the road grader, and throw all the material into the centre of the roadway, thus making what is often called a turkpile. The objection to this method is that the most important part of the roadbed, the foundation, is composed largely of soft material which does not easily become consolidated. A better way would be to remove all sod from the portions excavated and use it for filling in the low places where it can be covered with at least three feet of earth. After the sod is removed the road grader can be properly used for carrying up the earth into the roadway, and the entire roadbed is formed of solid material which in its future settlement is compacted uniformly, and will be less likely to develop soft spots, as would be the case if sod is thrown into it indiscriminately. On a level or nearly level prairie the roadbed should be built up a foot or two above the original surface to provide suitable drainage from the center of the roadway to the ditches and the crown of the road should be sufficient to allow the water from rainfalls to be quickly carried off.

Sand Clay Roads.

Natural sand clay roads may frequently be found in localities where the soil contains the right proportion of sand and clay. In sections of the country where the prevailing subsoil is composed entirely of clay or, on the other hand, is of extremely sandy character, these materials may be properly mixed so as to overcome the objectionable features of each, provided the material to be added is conveniently available. Sand clay roads are well adapted for light traffic and, when the cheapness of this kind of construction is considered, it will be seen that for certain localities it is preferable to macadam. The best sand road is one in which the wearing surface is composed of grains of sand in contact in such a way that the voids or angular spaces between the grains are entirely filled with clay, which acts as a binder.

Tap the Springs.

If water is allowed to stand in the structure, the whole roadway is liable to be broken up and destroyed by frost and the wheels of vehicles. If there be springs in the soil which might destroy the stability of the road, they should be tapped and the water carried under or along the side until it can be turned away in some side channel.

More and More Appreciated.
Good roads are daily becoming more and more appreciated by every one. It is gratifying to realize that the people are waking up to the fact that good roads are, next to morals, the most potent factor for good citizenship.

THE APPLE- GIRL'S FRIEND

Mary was not an unattractive Washington girl, and the perpetually sad expression of her face caused all who saw her to give her more than a passing notice, and to this fact are due the details of this little romantic story.

One bleak wintry day a gentleman happened to look out on the street from his office window and saw a man examining a basket of apples held by a little girl, but instead of purchasing the child for her disappointment he called to her, bought some apples and told her to come every day and he would buy from her.

In this way he became acquainted with her history. She was an orphan and was selling apples to support her mother. Among her customers was Gen. Grant, who lived on 17th street, as she told her new-found friend, who was the late Mr. D. R. Swingle, in charge of the internal revenue blank room, Treasury Department. Swingle bought apples from Mary every day, became interested in her, supplied her with pens, ink and paper, set copies for her and taught her to write.

In their early acquaintance she had told Mr. Swingle, in connection with the fact that Gen. Grant bought apples from her, that he once said to her: "Mary, if I ever become President I shall give you an appointment." Some years later when Mary was about fifteen and Gen. Grant had become President, in her daily visits to Mr. Swingle's office, he said to her: "Mary, you are getting too large now to be selling apples on the street."

"Yes," she replied, "but what shall I do?"

"Go and see the President, and remind him of his promise. Here, I will write you a card and you take it right up to him."

The card was written, and little sad-faced Mary wended her way trembling to the White House, where she delivered the card to a messenger, who delivered it to the President. The card read:

"MARY MCCARTHY,

The little girl who used to sell you apples."

Without waiting to tell the messenger to admit the visitor, the President came out, shook her hand cordially, said he remembered her, and asked what he could do for her.

"General," she began, "I am getting too big to sell apples on the streets, an—"

"Yes, you are," the President interrupted.

"I thought I would come and remind you of the promise."

"I distinctly remember the promise, too, and it shall be done. I shall write right away. In which department do you wish to go?"

"The bureau of engraving and printing, please."

"Very well, come back Thursday, and bring a card just like this," holding her card in his hand.

Mary thanked him, returned to Mr. Swingle, told him what the President had said, and then went out to dispose of her remaining stock of apples. But she had scarcely time to make a sale before some one approached her, asked if she were Mary McCarthy, gave her a letter, and returned toward the White House.

Frightened at the proceedings, for no explanation of the letter was given, Mary hurried to Mr. Swingle's office, related the circumstance, and handed him the unopened letter. On reading its contents Mr. Swingle told her that it was her appointment. And so it was. The President had not waited for Mary to return Thursday, but had the appointment made out at once, and sent his messenger out to find her and deliver it.

There are many Washingtonians who remember "Little Sad-faced Mary," and who may have wondered at her sudden disappearance from the streets with her basket of apples. They will know now that it was one of President Grant's happy "removals."

Krakatoa Eruption.

Perhaps the most remarkable volcanic eruption known was that which took place in August, 1883, at the island of Krakatoa, in the East Indies. Streams of volcanic dust were thrown seventeen miles high, and more than a cubic mile of material was expelled from the volcanic crater. The air waves started by the eruption travelled around the earth seven times. The noise was heard at Macassar, 969 miles away; at Borneo, 1,110 miles distant; in West Australia, 1,700 miles away, and even at Rodrigues, distant more than 2,900 miles. The dust and powdered pumice thrown out of the crater made the entire circuit of the earth before settling down, and was the cause of the strange sunsets that were observed for many months.

His Day of Reasoning.

As the stout man whose appetite had excited the envy of the other boarders turned to leave the parlor, he looked down at his waistcoat. "I declare, I've lost two buttons off my vest," he said, ruefully. He was a new boarder, but his landlady saw no reason for further delay in showing her boarder. "Wastefulness and Economy for all." She gave him the benefit of the chill gaze so familiar to her older boarders. "I think without doubt you will find them both in the dining-room," she announced, cheerily.

Entering Into Joy.

What a blessed and glorious thing human existence would be if we fully realized that the infinitely wise and infinitely powerful God loves each one of us with an intensity infinitely beyond what the most fervid human spirit ever felt toward another, and with a concentration as if he had none else to think of! And his love has brought us into being just that we might be taught to enter into full sympathy with him, receiving his gifts and joys—thus entering into the joy of our Lord.—Thomas Kraskine.

WANT BETTER RAILROAD

Service North and South of Salisbury To Accommodate Shoppers.

At a meeting of the Business Men's Association on Saturday night, the poor service Salisbury is receiving from the N. Y. P. and N. R. R. was taken up, and a committee appointed to discuss the question of better service with the railroad authorities at once. As the matter now stands the people of Virginia can not come up to Salisbury and return the same day, which is a great inconvenience to those who have business here as well as an injury to Salisbury's trade with all points below Pocomoke City.

The people of Virginia are taking a great deal of interest in the matter and will co-operate with the committee appointed here in trying to get better service. The committee appointed by the Salisbury Business Men's Association is as follows: Messrs. John D. Williams, Walter S. Sheppard and Graham Gunby. The committee of Pocomoke is composed of William F. King, chairman; J. Harry Young and Harrison P. Merrill.

The trade both in Salisbury and Pocomoke City has been badly affected by the discontinuance of the afternoon train from Virginia and the fact that there is no evening train below that point on which shoppers from Virginia can return home. A committee from Virginia will also be appointed. The three committees will take the matter up with Superintendent Elisha Lee, at Cape Charles, in the hope of obtaining the desired change.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have suffered with indigestion, have been cured by it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dizziness or chronic tired feeling, you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Peppin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggists today and get a bottle of Kodol. Then, if you have not the entire contents of the bottle if you can find it, we will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 24 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

The Man From Brodney's

CHAPTER VIII.

THE MAN FROM BRODNEY'S.

It was quite forty-eight hours before the Deppingshams surrendered to the Browns. They were obliged to humbly admit in the seclusion of their own councils that it was to the obnoxious but energetic Britt that they owed their present and ever growing comfort.

Late in the afternoon of the day following the advent of the Browns, Lord and Lady Deppingsham were laboriously fanning themselves in the midst of their stifling Marie Antoinette elegance.

"By Jove, Aggy, it's too beastly hot here for words," growled he for the hundredth time. "I think we'd better move into your grandfather's rooms."

"Now, Deppy, don't let the Browns talk you into everything they suggest," she complained, determined to be stubborn to the end. "They know entirely too much."

"That's all very good, my dear, but you know quite as well as I that we made a frightful mistake in choosing these rooms. It is cooler on that side of the house. I'm not too proud to be comfortable, don't you know?"

The next day they moved into the west wing, and that evening they had the Browns to dine with them in the banquet hall. Deppingsham awoke in the middle of the night with violent cramps in his stomach.

"Don't say a word to Lady Deppingsham," he grunted, sitting up in bed and gazing wildly at his valet, but he was too late. The valet, who was anti-squid—don't you know?—might have known. Billy said: See what I mean? Get something for me—quick!"

For two hours Antoine applied hot water bags and soothing swabs, and his master, far from dying as he continually prophesied, dropped off into a peaceful sleep.

The next morning Deppingsham, fully convinced that the native servants had tried to poison him, unconditionally discharged the entire force.

Of course there was a great upheaval. Lady Agnes came tearing down to the servants' hall, followed directly by the Browns and Mr. Britt.

"Stop!" she cried. "Deppy, what are you doing? Discharging them after we've had such a time getting them? Are you crazy?"

"They're a pack of snakes—I mean snakes. They're assassins. They tried to poison every one of us last!"

Britt smoothed the troubled waters with astonishing ease. The servants returned to their duties, but not without grumbling and no end of savage glances, all of which were leveled at the luckless Deppingsham.

"Why poison?" demanded Britt. "They've got knives and guns, haven't they?"

"My dear man, that would put too no end of trouble cleaning up after us," said Deppingsham loftily.

Meanwhile it may be well to depict the situation from the enemy's point of view—the enemy being the islanders as a unit. They were prepared to abide by the terms of the will so long as it remained clear to them that fair treatment came from the opposing interests. Rasmus, the Ararat lawyer, in a mass meeting had discussed the document. The islanders' attitude, its requirements and its restrictions; they knew by this time that there was small chance of the original beneficiaries coming into the property under the provisions. Later came the news that marriage between the heirs was out of the question. Then the islanders laughed as they toiled. But they were not to be caught napping. Jacob von Blitt, the superintendent, told German that he was, saw far into the future. It was he who set the native lawyers down as a bunch of swindlers. It was he who advised even the most important representation in London. The great law firm headed by Sir John Brodney was chosen. A wide awake representative of the distinguished solicitors was now on his way to the island with the swartzy committee which had created so much interest in the metropolis during its brief stay.

Jacob von Blitt came to the island when he was twenty years old. He was twenty years before the death of Taswell Skaggs. He had worked in the South African diamond fields and had no difficulty in securing employment with Skaggs and Wyckholme.

Von Blitt was shrewd enough to see that the grandchildren were not coming to the island for the mere pleasure of sojourning there; their motive was plain. It was he who advised even the most important representation in London. The great law firm headed by Sir John Brodney was chosen. A wide awake representative of the distinguished solicitors was now on his way to the island with the swartzy committee which had created so much interest in the metropolis during its brief stay.

He lived, with his three wives, in the hills just above and south of the town itself. The Englishmen who worked in the bank and the three Boer foremen also had houses up there, where it was cooler, but Von Blitt was the only one who practiced polygamy. His wives were Persian women and handsome after the Persian fashion.

One hot, dry afternoon about a week after the reopening of the chateau, the sista of a swartzy population was disturbed by the shouts of those who kept impatient watch of the sea. Five minutes later the whole town of Ararat knew that the smoke of a steamer lay low on the horizon. No one doubted that it came from the stack of the boat that was bringing Rasmus and the English solicitor. Joy turned to exultation when the word came down from Von Blitt that it was the long looked-for steamship, the St. Joshua.

Von Blitt stood at the landing place to welcome Rasmus and his entourage and to be the first to clasp the hand of the man from Brodney's.

At last, his figure could be made out on the forward deck. His straw hat was at least a head higher than the turban of Rasmus, who was indicating to him the interesting spots in the hills.

"Here!" blurted out Von Blitt, comfortably, more to himself than to his neighbor. "And young," he added a few minutes later. Bowles, standing at his side, offered the single comment:

"Good looking."

As the tall stranger stepped from the boat to the pier Von Blitt turned a look of triumph upon Britt, who had elbowed through the crowd a moment before and was standing close by.

The newcomer was an American!

"I've sighted the enemy," exclaimed Bobby Browne, coming up from Neptune's pool—the largest of the fountains. His wife and Lady Deppingsham were sitting in the cool retreat under the hanging garden. "Would you care to have a peek at him?"

"I should think so," said his wife, jumping to her feet. "He's been on the island three days, and we haven't had a glimpse of him. Come along, Lady Deppingsham."

Lady Deppingsham arose reluctantly, stifling a yawn.

They had come to call the new American lawyer "the enemy." No one knew his name or cared to know it, for that matter. Bowles in answer to the telephone inquiries of Saunders said that the new solicitor had taken temporary quarters above the bank and was in hourly consultation with Von Blitt, Rasmus and others.

Much of his time was spent at the mine. Later on, it was commonly reported, he was to take up his residence in Wyckholme's deserted bungalow far up on the mountain side in plain view from the chateau.

Life at the chateau had not been allowed to drag. The white servants had become good friends despite the natural disinclination that the trained English expert feels for the unpolished American domestic.

Miss Pelham, the stenographer from West Twenty-third street, had set her cap for the unassuming Mr. Saunders. She had learned in the wisdom of her sex that he was fancy free. Mr. Saunders, fully warned against the American typewriter girl as a class, having read the most shocking jokes at her expense in the comic papers, was rather shy at the outset, but Britt gallantly came to Miss Pelham's defense and ultimate rescue by emphatically assuring Saunders that she was a perfect lady, guaranteed to cause uneasiness to no man's wife.

"But I have no wife," quickly protested Saunders, turning a dull red.

"The devil!" exclaimed Britt, apparently much upset by the revelation. But of this more anon.

Browne conducted the two young women across the drawbridge and to the sunlit edge of the terrace, where two servants awaited them with parasols.

"There he is! See him?" almost whispered Browne, as if the solitary, motionless figure at the foot of the avenue was likely to hear his voice and be frightened away.

The enemy was sitting serenely on one of the broad iron benches just inside the gates to the park. His arms stretched out along the back, his legs extended and crossed. It was quite apparent that he was lazily surveying the chateau, puffing with contentment at the cigarette which drooped from his lips.

"Mr. Britt was right," said Mrs. Browne irreverently. She was peering at the stranger through the binoculars. "He is very good looking."

"Are you from Boston, too?" scoffed Lady Deppingsham. Mrs. Browne flushed and smiled deprecatingly.

"Wonder what he's doing here in the grounds?" puzzled Browne.

"It's plain to me that he is resting his aching bones," said her ladyship, glancing brightly at her colleague.

Three men were approaching by the path which led down from the farm-stables. Browne recognized the dark-skinned servants in the chateau—the major domo, the chef and the master of the stables.

"Lord Deppingsham must have sent them down to pitch him over the wall," he said, with an excited grin.

"Impossible! My husband is hunting for sapphires in the ravine back of—" She did not complete the sentence.

The enemy was greeting the stately couple with a friendliness that upset all calculations. It was evident that the meeting was prearranged. There was no attempt at secrecy. The conference, whatever its portent, had the merit of being quite aboveboard.

In the end the tall solicitor, lifting his helmet with a gesture so significant that it left no room for speculation, turned and sauntered through the broad gateway and out into the forest road. The three servants retraced as they had come by way of the bridge path along the wall.

"The nerve of him!" exclaimed Browne. "That graceful attention was meant for us. I'll have Britt interview those fellows at once. Our kitchen, our stable and our domestic discipline are threatened."

They hastened to the chateau and regarded the resourceful Britt with the disquieting news.

That evening he dragged the reluctant Saunders into the privacy of the hanging garden and deliberately interrupted the game of bridge which was going on.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Britt, calmly dropping into a chair near by, "this place is full of spies. 'Spies!' cried four voices in unison. Mr. Saunders nodded a plaintive apology.

"Yes, sir, every native servant here is a spy. That's what the enemy was here for today. I've analyzed the situation and I'm right. Ain't I, Mr. Saunders? Of course I am. He came here to tell 'em what to do and how to report our affairs to him. See? More over, he's getting the evidence of everybody to prove that Skaggs and Wyckholme were men of sound mind up to the hour of their death. He has got depositions of agents and dealers in Bombay, Aden, Suva and three or four European cities, all along that line. He goes over the day's business at the bank as often as we do so as to get the exactness. He knows just how many rubles and sushies were drained out yesterday and how much they weigh. He's our business."

As your agents, to scrape up everything as far back as we can go to prove that the old chaps were mentally at their heels when they drew up that agreement and will. Of course it will prove that insanity has always run through the two families!"

"Good Lord!" gasped Browne nervously.

"It would be a great help. If we can show that you and Mrs. Lady Deppingsham have queer spells occasionally, it—"

"Not for all the islands in the world," cried Lady Deppingsham. "The idea! Queer spells! Please be good enough to leave me out of the insanity dodge, as you Americans call it."

"It is necessary to make my husband insane in order to establish the fact that his grandfather was not of sound mind," queried pretty Mrs. Browne, with her calmest Boston infection.

"It depends on your husband," said Britt coolly. "If he sticks at anything which may help us to break that will be certainly insane. That's all I've got to say about it."

"Well, I'm hanged if I'll pose as an insane man," roared Browne.

"Mr. Saunders hasn't asked me to be insane, have you, Mr. Saunders?" asked Lady Agnes in her sweetest tone.

"I don't apprehend," began Saunders nervously.

"Saunders," said Britt calculatingly and evenly, "next thing we'll have to begin hunting for insanity in your family. We haven't heard anything from you on this little point, Lord Deppingsham."

"I don't know anything about Mr. Saunders' family," said Deppingsham stiffly. Britt looked at him for a moment, puzzled and uncertain. Then he gave a short, hopeless laugh and said under his breath:

"Holy smoke!"

When he finally called the conference adjourned and prepared to depart he calmly turned to the stenographer.

"Did you get all this down, Miss Pelham?"

"Yes, Mr. Britt."

"Good!" Then he went away, leaving the quartet unconsciously depressed by the emphasis he placed upon that single word.

The next day but one it was announced that the enemy had moved into the bungalow. From time to time his gray, blue or white clad figure could be seen directing the operations of the natives who were engaged in rehabilitating Wyckholme's "nest."

The chateau was now under the very eye of the enemy.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance, often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, Ala. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. Y., on every bottle.

They cure kidney ills.

Nonah F. Jenkins, 508 S. Division Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "You are at liberty to use my name as one who praises Doan's Kidney Pills highly, for I know that they are a good remedy for kidney trouble. I was a victim of this complaint for fifteen years and I suffered severely. I was unable to do much work that required stooping on account of my back being so painful and was annoyed to quite an extent by irregular passages of the kidney secretions, particularly during the night. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them, I have had no severe attacks of my old trouble."

HELP THE CHILDREN

By Giving Them Proper Attention And Culture While Young.

Health authorities all over the country are calling special attention to the growth of adenoids in children and the effect of this growth on the health and mental development of the child. Parents are being urged to give strict attention to the health of their children and especially to the care of their teeth and the growth of adenoids, which prevent nose breathing which is injurious. The bulletin on adenoids recently issued by the Department of Public Health and Charities of Philadelphia has the following to say about this growth:

An adenoid is an enlargement of certain tissues, generally at the back of the nose, or in the throat below the nasal, which increases in size until the air supply, which passes through the nose to the lungs, is interfered with to such an extent that the child is compelled to breathe through the mouth. If this condition is allowed to remain, it not only gives to the child a peculiar expression—which is well known to both teachers and doctors—but causes a general dullness and retardation of the mental faculties. Adenoid deafness, headaches, chronic catarrhal conditions and render a child much more susceptible to diphtheria, scarlet fever, and measles disease, which causes very many deaths in the city every year.

Adenoids play a great part in the "backwardness" of children, and are responsible for their inability to keep up with their grade in school. The deprivation of normal health and poor education make them unfitted, when they reach mature years, for their duties in life as citizens.

Many parents not realizing the serious conditions involved by these growths and their results in after life, object to what is called an "operation." This is, in fact, a very simple matter, performed in a few moments and unattended by any danger. At times among the poor both parents are working in order to maintain their families, and for this reason have not the necessary time to take their child to a doctor or dispensary. This duty will be discharged by the Bureau of Health upon notification, and if not thus attended to the parents must assume full responsibility of having sickly and ignorant children.

BIG TIME IN COUNTRY.

A Reunion of Arkansas Old Neighbors At The Old Hiram Taylor Farm.

On the 1st day of October 1909, we were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Elliott, who now owns the Hiram Taylor farm, three miles from Hebron, and two and three fourths miles from Mardela Springs and nine miles from Salisbury in Wicomico County, to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Elliott and also the 32nd anniversary of their wedding.

There were present at this reunion the following old Arkansas neighbors: J. E. Elliott, Mrs. Sarah M. Elliott, his wife, oldest daughter, Mrs. Ida M. Woods and her daughter Ida, next oldest daughter, Mrs. Sadie Thompson, her daughter Grace and son Frank, third daughter, Mrs. Angie Underwood and daughter Florence and son Robert and baby, fourth daughter, Mrs. Pearl Hill, husband, Fred Hill, daughter, Jessie, son Lee and baby also, D. J. Heivern and wife and two grand children, Beale and Bonnie, John G. Deason and wife and daughter, Robt. D. Heivern and wife and baby.

All the above are old neighbors, formerly residents of Arkansas, also Mrs. M. Jones, wife of J. A. Jones & Co., the Real Estate Broker, and Mrs. Smith, mother of Mrs. Jones, also little son and daughter of Mrs. Jones. The Jones' and Mrs. Smith live in Salisbury.

Mr. Elliott came to Wicomico County, Md., in August 1907 and purchased of J. A. Jones & Co., this farm, which had laid out for several years and had grown up to grass, briars, and wild clover.

An old orchard of apple, peach and cherry trees was on the place and badly decayed, broken down. The cultivated land was in fearful shape.

Mr. Elliott moved his family on the farm in November 1907 and began to clean up and out grub and break ground, and at the present he has 50 acres in a good state of cultivation, 14 acres sown to scarlet clover, 14 acres of good corn, 8 acres of cow peas; has raised plenty of Irish and sweet potatoes, turnips, cabbage, buckwheat, tomatoes, raised a fine crop of cantaloupes this year; has 100 head of chickens, 3 as fine hogs as anyone would wish to look at, 3 good Holstein cows, 2 horses and plenty of feed for the next year, and from the appearance of the table that was groaning under its load of luxuries, which were set before the thirty persons who celebrated the 75th birthday of Mr. Elliott, they still have plenty of everything that goes to make up a bill of fare for an epicurean for the next year at least.

Mr. Elliott has also had some experience in fruit, and has pruned up the old orchard and cultivated it until now he has plenty of apples, and the old peach orchard was out back two years ago and new wood has grown so that when we have a good peach year he will have plenty of peaches.

SHEPPARD COLLIER

Nuptials At The Presbyterian Church Thursday Evening A Pretty One.

One of the most beautiful and elaborate church weddings of recent years took place at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening when Miss Pauline Collier, daughter of Mrs. L. D. Collier, was married to Mr. Walter S. Sheppard, a prominent business man of this town.

The church was very prettily decorated with autumn leaves, potted plants and chrysanthemums.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white satin, an train with trimmings of duchess lace, and tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and roses of pearl. She carried a shower bouquet of 'Brides' roses. The only jewelry worn was a beautiful ring, gift of the groom.

Miss Elizabeth Collier, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a handsome gown of yellow silk chiffon, trimmed in gold spangled net and carried yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Cecelia Brattan of Princess Anne, Misses Victoria Wallis, Bertha Sheppard, Mary Collier, Alice Gandy and Ruth Gandy. The maids wore white muslin batiste trimmed in baby Irish lace and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore brilliant tiaras, gifts of the bride.

The ushers were Messrs John Laws, F. P. Adkins, C. E. Dorman, Dale Adkins, Carl Schuler, and Virgil Ward. Mr. W. A. Sheppard was best man.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Dr. George R. Collier, who gave her away.

Miss Nellie Lauckford played the wedding marches.

The groom gave his ushers a handsome set of gold cuff buttons with pearl inset.

A reception at the home of the bride followed. The house was decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The supper was served by Caterer Phillips. The bride's presents were numerous and handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard left on the midnight express for Niagara Falls and an extended trip over the Great Lakes.

The out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brattan, and Miss Annie Brattan, of Baltimore; Mr. Anderson, Milford, Del.; Mrs. John Scott, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Glover, of Wilmington; Miss Ethel Stauffer, Walkersville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Westmore Wilcox, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. Harry Dashiell, Princess Anne, Md.; Mrs. J. R. T. Laws, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hitch, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Crockett, Pocomoke, Md., and Miss Cecelia Brattan, Princess Anne, Md.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER

Out For Congress. Mrs. Leavitt Seeking Colorado Nomination With Father's Help.

William Jennings Bryan has decreed that a woman shall represent Colorado in Congress; that his daughter must have the place, and Ruth Bryan Leavitt has announced her candidacy for the nomination by the Democratic Convention of the First District.

Former Senator Patterson has promised his support and that of his papers, and Mrs. Leavitt expects the endorsement of the Jane Jefferson Club, of which she is president.

Mrs. Dewey O. Bailey, wife of the United States Marshal has been endorsed by a respectable following as good Congressional timber on the Republican side.

"Harvest Home Day" At Asbury M. E. Church.

Next Sunday will be "Harvest Home Day" at the Asbury M. E. Church. This occasion promises to be of unusual interest. The church will be elaborately decorated with grains, fruits and flowers, and the choir will dispense special music. The Rev. Hugh Johnson, D. D., author, former pastor of the Metropolitan Church in Washington and at present Secretary of the Woman's College of Baltimore, will preach in the morning and make an address in the evening. This is the return day for some of the most important benevolences of the church—the fund for worn-out ministers, Church Extension and other equally prominent interests.

No. 33 Trials. Elmer C. Williams vs. Jos. L. Bailey. Suit for loan. Tried before Court. Verdict for plaintiff. Court assessed damages at $519.50. Court adjourned until November 8th.

In sentencing Robbins in the cases where he was charged with intent to kill, Judge Holland spoke about the carrying of pistols and laid special stress on the fact that the trouble would never have occurred if they had not been carried, and that in fixing the penalty he had been influenced by a desire to punish the carrying of concealed weapons as well as the offence charged.

AT THE CITY COUNCIL'S

Room Tuesday Night—Matters Disposed Of By The Board.

The City Council held a special meeting Tuesday evening for the purpose of receiving the report of the Commission appointed to widen and straighten South Division Street from East Camden Street to Focks Street. This report is on file in the Council Chamber and will be open for inspection until Monday night, October 25th, when it will be taken up for consideration. Parties interested can see the report and plot at the Council Chamber.

Mayor Harper was instructed to employ W. A. Crew to repair all broken places in the street curbing put down by the Standard Bitulithic Company, and to send the bill to the Bitulithic Company for payment.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for curbing Broad Street and East Camden Street with concrete curbing.

The Clerk was instructed to notify parties having claims on the job-shape piece of land at the intersection of Main Street, Extended, and West Isabella Street to remove same at once, as this piece of land belongs to the city.

It is the intention of the Council to drive a well on this point and put a watering trough for horses for the convenience of country people coming to Salisbury.

Carried To Insane Asylum

Henry C. Ewell, aged 20 years, was arrested Saturday night, while acting in a strange manner on Main Street, and was placed in jail. Ewell, it is stated, was working in the grocery store of L. B. Gillis, and had some disagreement with his employer and left. Late in the evening he was wandering along Main Street inquiring for matches to set fire to Gillis' store. Sunday morning the young man became violently insane and almost wrecked the cell he occupied. He was finally subdued by deputy sheriff Waller. Monday he was examined by two physicians and pronounced insane, and was committed to the Asylum at Calverville. Sheriff Larnier took him to the Asylum Tuesday.

Godfrey—Lynch.

Mr. Wm. Godfrey and Miss Cornelia Lynch both of Salisbury, Md., were married Sunday in Snow Hill by the Rev. L. A. Bennett. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shockley. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey will make their home in Salisbury.

TURN OUT DEMOCRATS NEXT SATURDAY

And Attend The Large Mass Meeting Afternoon And Evening. Hear Notable Speakers On The Issues—Brass Band And A "Big Time In The Old Town."

The Democrats are preparing to hold one of the biggest political meetings ever held in Wicomico on next Saturday, October 23rd. United States Senators John Walter Smith and Isador Rayner, together with Congressman J. Harry Covington and Dr. Hering, the Democratic nominee for Comptroller, will be present and will deliver addresses. The present arrangement is for Senator Rayner and Dr. Hering to make the afternoon addresses and the other two to speak in the evening. These speakers are among the best in the State and have fame throughout the union as able and eloquent speakers.

It is expected that not only will the Democrats of the County turn out in full force to attend these meetings but that many others of different political faith will listen to the eloquent orators who will be present at this time.

The Campaign Committee of the County met on Friday evening and made final arrangements for this meeting. The Reception Committee, consisting of Mayor Harper, Hons. Chas. R. Disharoon, J. D. Price, E. A. Toadvine and S. King White, will arrange for the entertainment of the speakers. Messrs. E. E. Twilley, A. M. Jackson and M. E. Tindall will have charge of the arrangements at the Opera House. Hon. J. D. Price will preside at the afternoon meeting and Hon. James E. Ellegood at the night meeting.

A band of twenty pieces has been secured to furnish music. The Committee has arranged to have a special train leave Salisbury at 4.15 to take the people home from Mardela, Hebron and Rockaway. The visitors from the East will take the regular trains home. It is the intention to make this the biggest Democratic rally ever held in the county, and Democrats from all the Districts are invited to come to Salisbury on the 23rd and help to swell the crowd.

As the Democrats in this County are believed to be thoroughly in earnest this year about the success of the ticket as well as the Amendment, it is especially expected that they will all turn out on this day and show by their presence their intention of carrying this County this year by a majority much larger than usual.

HIGH SCHOOL POISON

Cases Aroused Consternation For A While This Week—Patients Improving.

Several of the pupils of the Wicomico High School were poisoned a few days ago by handling some poisonous leaves brought in the school by some of the boys in the Drawing Department. It was at one time stated that these pupils were out with the professor in charge of botany, but on investigation it appears that the leaves which were supposed to do the damage were brought in by some of the boys and taken to the drawing class to be used as a copy for color drawing for which on account of their brilliant colors they were well adapted.

Not suspecting the character of the leaves several of the pupils were allowed by the teacher in drawing to use them for this purpose. As the specimens were not furnished by the teacher, no blame for the misfortune is attached, as it was a matter that would probably occur with almost anyone who was not entirely familiar with the character of the specimens of poisonous herbs in this locality.

Of those most seriously affected were Miss Sarah Moore, daughter of Mr. Ernest Moore, and Chas. E. Williams, Jr., son of the Ex-President of the School Board, Mr. Chas. E. Williams. All of those with poison symptoms are improving very rapidly.

Real Estate Still Active.

These days it is almost impossible to tell what is what, or who owns a certain property at any given time.

Every day and even at times, every hour some deal is recorded and property is sold and over and over again. This week Mr. Geo. W. Phillips bought the handsome property of Mr. Betts on the old shell road. It is stated that the price paid was $14,000. Mr. Phillips afterwards sold the house and three acres of this property back to Mr. Betts for $4800. Mr. Phillips recently bought the farm of Mr. Wm. P. Ward on the same road.

Mr. S. P. Woodcock has sold the "Doc" Brown farm to Mr. Affric Focks. The consideration it is understood was around $8000.

—Mr. N. T. Fitch who has been confined to his room for several weeks as a result of injuries sustained by being run into by a bicyclist, was out for the first time since Oct. 1st, on Friday.

SUFFRAGETTES PLAN

Legislative Raid. Three Bills And Numerous Petitions On Women's Suffrage Question.

Maybe if some of the members of the new Legislature knew what was before them they wouldn't care to legislate at all. Maybe if it was brought to their attention that at least three separate bills on the woman suffrage question, not to mention petitions, are to be presented to them, each supported by numerous anxious and determined suffragettes, they would be willing to lay aside political ambitions and be content to resume the simple annals of the private citizen.

As yet all is still as summer sea, but it is merely the calm before the storm. Beneath the surface recommendations are quietly springing up, bills are being formed and petitions are growing which will soon descend in a deluge upon the head of the unwary legislator and show him what a helpless masculine creature he is.

That the Equal Suffrage League is planning a bill to be presented to the Legislature has long been an open secret. But it has not been so generally known that the Maryland Woman Suffrage Association, of which Mrs. Emma Maddox Fock is the president, is also planning a bill of its own. This bill asks for the enfranchisement of women all over the State on the same terms as men and without any reference to property and educational requirements.

But the State organization has other irons in the fire. In case it cannot convince the Legislature that woman suffrage should be allowed, all over the State, it is going to ask the Charter Commission to insert a clause in the new charter recommending that the women of Baltimore be allowed to vote on the same terms as the men. Of course, if the Charter Commission agrees to this, the matter would also have to be ratified by the Legislature.

Miss Etta H. Maddox, attorney, is chairman of the Legislative committee of the State organization. Among other important features of the work of the State organization for the winter is the State Convention, which will be held on November 22nd and 23rd. Mrs. Philip Snowden, the well known English suffragist, will be the speaker on the night of Tuesday, November 23rd, and will also address the Equal Suffrage League on Sunday afternoon, November 28th.

A WINTER EGG SUPPLY.

Good Care of the Fowls is the First Necessity.The poultry man is anxious to get winter eggs. The price paid for eggs in winter is enough to warrant considerable time and thought upon methods of wintering and feeding the poultry for winter egg production. The old way of letting the chickens roost in the trees or on fences usually keeps healthy fowls and results in most excellent laying in the spring
as the weather gets warmer and more pleasant. But every farmer's hens lay at that time of year, and eggs get very cheap. Winter eggs are profitable because of the great demand for them during the winter season.In spring the hens get a variety of foods. They exercise running over the fields, gathering a variety of foods. They are warm both day and night. By surrounding them with similar conditions during the winter months winter eggs may be obtained. A warm,
well-ventilated roosting place, kept clean,
is one essential.A warm place, free from winds,
snow and rain, in which to exercise is another. Then feed a variety of grain in cut straw or other litter in this warm place so the hens may work scratching the litter apart. Oats, with wheat thrown into the cut straw, will give them exercise. Near noon feed the bran mash, including table scraps and milk and at night a full ration of corn. If cabbage or turnips given raw can be fed to them, they will do even better. Green bone, meat scraps, grit, clean water are also helpful.
If these conditions can be met with in the dead of winter the hens will do some laying, at least when eggs are scarce and prices are high. Good ventilation without a draft is very important as a draft often causes colds and roup.Silver Pheasant.
Pheasants are reared for pleasure
only, and they afford much recreation for those who have leisure time to devote to them. There are twenty ormore distinct varieties, but the golden and silver are the favorites. There is nothing more beautiful than a flock of pheasants on a well-kept lawn.

BAD EGGS BARRED.

How They Spot the Careless Farmers in Denmark.Although the average person has little chance to guard against bad eggs in the United States, in Denmark they apparently have solved the bad egg problem. In that country there are syndicates which control the egg industry and it is their duty to keep tabs on the farmers who are in the habit of shipping bad eggs to the market. The headquarters of this egg syndicate, of course, is Copenhagen,
and the members of it are the farmers themselves. The members of this egg syndicate throughout the country are provided with rubber stamps which bear the serial number of the member's certificate as well as a number for the egg. Each egg is thus stamped with the farmer's name on it, with indelible ink. No eggs are accepted that do not bear a stamp.
So this stamp is a guarantee of quality.
When the eggs are examined in Copenhagen, if they are found to be bad the shipper receives notice and is compelled to pay a fine averaging about one dollar of our money. If he makes many shipments of bad eggs
he is very quickly expelled from the syndicate; thus all bad and not perfectly fresh eggs are either sold to the village grocer or used at home. It has been found that this system works admirably in keeping the open market stocked with eggs that are guaranteed to be in good condition.
So this stamp is a guarantee of quality.
It is likewise stated by officers of the syndicate that very few of the members have ever been delinquent with their fines.

Poultry Pointers.

"When roosters crow it is time that they go." is a common motto among many poultry raisers.It is a good plan to separate the cockerels and pullets as soon as the sexes can be distinguished.You will find it a better investment
if you will train your fowls to come to you instead of running from you with fright.Sloppy mashers are not good for feeding chickens and, if kept up consequently they will eventually breed disease.Lack of vigor is one thing to be looked after. None but strong, vigorous stock should be allowed in the breeding pens.The lazy hen is not apt to be the layer.Cleanliness is essential to successful poultry raising.Only a little cold in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of Nasal Catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed up air passages. Price 50 cents. If you prefer to use an ointment, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the solid form of this remedy and will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dangerous habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 50c, with

He attends the Methodist Protestant Church, and is a member of the Farmers' Alliance. Mr. Kelly is one of the best Democrats in the county. He was elected Sheriff for several years, but, when nominated for Sheriff, he was so completely convinced that he would not be elected, that he never appeared at the party. He was always faithful and did his share of the work for the ticket.

CHAPTER 24.

AN ACT to amend Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said Amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

1836. He is the son of Albert and Clara Ann Baker. His father is one of the old time war horses of Democracy in Wisconsin and has probably voted many Democratic tickets as any man in the county. The son takes after the father as to his sterling worth and honest character. Mr. Baker has had some experience at Amnash, Wisconsin, as a grossing committee in 1900. He is an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and a member of the local Church and a member of the order of Junior Mechanics. He is engaged in farming and trucking and is a man of some importance in his community.

Sec. 1. All elections shall be by ballot and every male citizen of the United States who has attained the age of twenty-one years, and who has resided one year upwards, who has been a resident of the State for two years and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of the County of Baltimore for one year, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in this Article shall be entitled to vote in the election in the election district in which he resides, and all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any county or city or town or district is divided into two or more different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then the person who is entitled to vote in such election must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form the district of the election in which he offers to vote, for one year next preceding the election; but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, and who is entitled to vote in any such election shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he removed until he has acquired a residence in another county or city to which he has removed.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the aforesaid amendment hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly, and shall be submitted to the legal voters, and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and that said general election the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election the due returns shall be made to the Governor, and the Governor shall certify the proposed Amendment, as directed by the said Article XIV of the Constitution.

of high moral standing, and has been one of the progressive men of Salinas County for a number of years. Four years ago he consented to accept the nomination for County Commissioner, and has since been a member of the Board. His magnificent work has accomplished for the upbuilding of the county during the four years he has been in the office has been so marked that there was a general demand for his re-nomination this year. County Commissioner is a position of great financial and public importance, and he is one of the most valuable officers the county has ever had. While it is a sacrifice to his private business to accept the duties of the office, he is so interested in the upbuilding and upholding of the county that he has made his private interests for his public duties.

The Report of S. P. Parsons, John Lank, and H. M. Clark, Commissioners, appointed by the County Commissioners of Wicomico County to lay out, widen and straighten the public road from the end of the shell road at or near Bayard Perdue's place to the eastern line of Samuel Hobbs' property, being Section 1 of the Salisbury Parsonabur Road, has been filled in this office and will be taken up for final ratification on the twenty-sixth day of Oct. 1909.

THE COMING LEGISLATURE.

The next Legislature will have before it many matters of great importance to the people of the State, and it is important that the members of both bodies should be men able to meet these with broad minds.

The need of establishing a Public Utility Commission for the regulation of the semi-public corporations will be one of the questions which will have to be settled.

This question is one that all parts of the State are interested in, for the railroads, steamboats, telephone and other corporations, such as electric companies, Gas Companies will come under the supervision of such a commission, if established, and all are interested in the rates to be charged and the services to be rendered by the corporations.

Another question will be the increased representation which the city of Baltimore is asking for. Whether or not the Counties are willing that Baltimore City shall have a representation in our law-making bodies to exert a dominating influence over them.

The State Local-Option Bill will also be before the Legislature.

The State has just entered into the business of improving our Public Highways and it is probable that the coming Legislature will be asked to appropriate more money for this purpose.

As to which party is best qualified to handle these questions, it must be apparent to all that the Democratic party is the only one which can be looked to solve them. As the Legislature now stands it is as much a certainty as anything can be that the Democrats will control the Senate. Now suppose we imagine what the result would be in Annapolis if by any misfortune the Republicans should get control of the House. Here we would have one of our law-making bodies controlled by the Democrats and the other by the Republicans, with the result that absolutely nothing would be done in the way of legislation. No agreement could be reached on any question, and the Public Service Commission, the Representation of Baltimore, The Local Option Bill, the Good Roads Measures, all would have to wait until another election. If the voters of this county are interested in any one of these measures or any other measure to come before the next Legislature then they must see that the only practical plan is for them to send Democrats to the House from this County.

Believing that the passage and settling of several of the matters is of far more importance to the State than any party advantage could be, we have confidence in the voters of all parties in this County recognizing the facts as they are and that they will vote to elect nominees on the Democratic ticket. Then with a Democratic Senate, a Democratic House and a Democratic Governor let the responsibility have a correct solution of these matters fairly upon the shoulders of that body and if they are unequal to their responsibilities and blunder in carrying out their duties then will be the time to call them to account.

The nominees of the Democratic party in this County are well known to most of the voters, and it is unnecessary for us to say what is recognized by all, that in ability they are certainly the equal of any of the tickets of the past and the superior of most of them, while their honesty and integrity is unquestioned.

Give them, with the rest of the ticket, your support and let the majority this year be larger than ever before.

Why Suffrage Amendments Should Be Ratified.

Because it absolutely protects white voters, native and foreign born, and guarantees their right to vote.

Because the exclusion of the ignorant and thriftless negro vote will make far better political conditions.

Because it will remove race prejudice from politics and enable the white voter to decide public questions solely on their merits.

Because it will relieve a number of counties of the chief obstacles to progress.

Because it will stimulate the negro to thrift and education.

Because it will create a better feeling between the races, as restrictions on negro voting have done in the South.

Because it will cause the repeal of all complicated ballots.

Because it will in some of the counties which are now afflicted with a predominating negro vote, exclude the ignorant and uneducated negro from participation in politics and put the management of local affairs and the levying of taxes in the hands of the white voters.

Because 15 of the 23 counties of Maryland the great majority of the Republican party is negro, ignorant and mostly illiterate, and the possible ascendancy of a party so composed in local affairs is a constant menace to good government and the public peace.

Chivdny.

A highwayman held up a gasoline runabout on the outskirts of Rome with a shot in the air. Then he ran forth from the tomb that had concealed him—the holdup happened on the Appian way—and found, to his surprise, only a woman in the little car. "Where, madam, is your husband?" he demanded, sternly and suspiciously. "He's under the seat," she answered, flushing. "Then," said the highwayman, "I won't take nothing. It's bad enough to have a husband like that, without being robbed into the bargain."

Rabbing it in.

Let's see, didn't the court allow Miss Love $5,000 for her broken heart?

Yes.

And didn't she testify that she could never love another?

Yes.

Now I understand she is going to marry Jones.

She is. You see, Jones and her former sweetheart are enemies and she thinks it will make him write to see Jones spending his money.

Not So Much Needed.

Like most minister's families, they were not particularly blessed with this world's goods. She, however, was the youngest of ten children until her father explained to her of the baby sister who had come in the night.

"Well," she said, after due thought, "I guess it's all right, papa, but there's many a thing we needed worse."

Unkind to Children.

An advertisement of a nursing bottle printed in a Canadian newspaper concluded with the following: "When the baby is done drinking it must be unscrewed and laid in a cool place under a tap. If the baby does not thrive on fresh milk, it should be boiled."

THE man who carries a HOWARD Watch finds himself in good company.

Leaders in American affairs since Lincoln's young manhood have relied on the HOWARD. "HOWARD Time" has been a determining factor in every phase of the nation's advance.

The first HOWARD was also the first American watch. It was made in 1842 and the finest models cost $500.

To-day the price is lower—and the watch is better.

Every HOWARD is made and adjusted as a fine watch. Cased and timed in its own case at the factory and a printed price ticket attached. Price $25 to $150.

Let us show you this distinctive watch.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear, when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. They cure kidney ills. Noah F. Jenkins, 508 S. Division Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "You are at liberty to use my name as one who praises Doan's Kidney Pills highly, for I know that they are a good remedy for kidney trouble. I was a victim of this complaint for fifteen years and I suffered severely. I was unable to do much work that required stooping on account of my back being so painful and was annoyed to quite an extent by irregular passages of the kidney secretions, particularly during the night. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them, I have had no severe attacks of my old trouble."

Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 17, 1909

Specialty Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Acts 24. Memory verses 25, 26.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward men."—Acts 24:16.

TIME.—Spring of A. D. 67 or 68, and the two succeeding years.

PLACE.—Cesarea on the Mediterranean, the Roman capital of Judea.

Suggestion and Practical Thought. Closing Scenes in Saint Paul's Life.

1. The Journey Toward Rome by Sea from Malta.—Vs. 11-14. In our last lesson we saw Paul and his companions ministering to the sick in Malta, and receiving many honors from the grateful inhabitants. They had lost everything in the wreck, and were in need of many things.

Early in the spring they embarked in another ship from Egypt, named the Discuri, or The Twin Brothers, and Easter and Pollux who were the twin brothers.

The First Landing was made at Syracuse, the capital of Sicily, 80 to 100 miles sail from Malta. Here they remained three days. From Syracuse they made a wide circuit, which required frequent tacking or alteration of the ship's course on account of head winds, and "by good seamanship" were able to work up to Rhegium.

The Third Landing was at Puteoli, the seaport of Rome, though 150 miles away.

Here they remained seven days. 11. The Journey by Land, and the Reception by the Roman Christians.—Vs. 15-22. First. From Puteoli they marched 23 miles before they reached the famous Appian Way, the great military road from Rome to southern Italy.

Fifty-seven miles farther along this road they came to Appii Forum, i.e., the Market of Appius.

Here the first delegation of Roman Christians met Paul and welcomed him to the city.

Second. Three Taverns. (V. 15) "And the three taverns," thirteen miles beyond Appii Forum, on the Appian Way, and 30 miles from Rome. Here a second delegation met Paul and his companions.

"Whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage." The words imply that Paul had been depressed in spirit.

Paul Encouraged. When Paul was met and greeted by the Christians of Rome, his heart was lifted out of its depression.

Reception at Rome. Paul was delivered to the authorities at Rome, but (v. 16) he "was suffered (permitted) to dwell by himself" "in his own hired house" "with a soldier that kept him."

III. Paul's Life and Work at Rome.—Vs. 23-31. First. Paul's Work Through the Soldiers. The soldiers which guarded Paul were "from the imperial guard," the flower of the Roman army.

Second. His Work Among the Jews. By mutual arrangement on an appointed day the Jews came to his lodging, and Paul expounded the gospel of the kingdom, (v. 22) "persuading them concerning Jesus" out of the Scriptures acknowledged by all as true.

26. "Hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand." They should hear the words with the outward organs of hearing, but they would not understand the real meaning and power of the words. "And seeing ye shall see, and not perceive."

27. "Their eyes have they closed." They themselves refused to hear and see, because they were unwilling to make the change in their lives which would be required. "And should be converted," "should turn round, and go back again," as God was anxious they should. "And I should heal them," of their sin and dullness and disobedience. They did not wish to be healed.

Third. His Work Among the Gentiles. 30. For "two whole years," Paul received all who came to "his own hired house."

31. "Preaching the kingdom of God." His truths revealed, its motives, its righteousness, its usefulness, its hopes, its immortal life, all of which come through the Lord Jesus Christ the everlasting Saviour, the Son of God and the Son of Man.

Fourth. Work: Epistles to the Churches. Four epistles, those to Philemon, Ephesians, Colossians, and the Philippians were probably written during this captivity: Titus and 1 Timothy after his release, and 2 Timothy during his second imprisonment, not long before his martyrdom.

After several years of effective labor, Paul was again apprehended, and brought a second time as a prisoner to Rome. Tradition places his imprisonment in the dungeon of the Mamertine prison. "This was the Battle of the old world." Here Jugurtha, the African king who warred against Rome, starved to death (B. C. 104).

The Acts were probably completed at this time.

IV. The Closing Years of Paul's Life. The Acts closes with the two years of Paul's imprisonment. But it is generally believed that his death was several years later. Eusebius the historian (A. D. 264-349) states the common belief of the early churches in these words: "After defending himself successfully it is currently reported that the apostle again went forth to proclaim the gospel, and afterward came to Rome a second time and was martyred under Nero."

Frightful Fate Averted. "I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kelliher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 50c at all druggists.

A specific for pain—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, strongest, cheapest liniment ever devised. A household remedy in America for 25 years.

Tickling in the Throat

"Just a little tickling in the throat!" Is that what troubles you? But it hangs on! Can't get rid of it! Home remedies don't take hold. You need something stronger—a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral contains healing, quieting, and soothing properties of the highest order. Ask your doctor about this. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation positively prevents good health. Then why allow it to continue? An active liver is a great preventive of disease. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. What does your doctor say?

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AN AMENDMENT CLUB

For Parsons District Organized With Large Membership Wednesday Night.

A club was organized in Parsons District by a number of the voters, to promote and help the passage of the Amendment. A large number were enrolled on Wednesday evening at the time of the organization and several hundred voters are now members of this Club.

The following officers were elected:—S. S. Feldman, President; D. G. Farlow, L. Thomas Parker, A. R. Lohner, Z. K. Evans, and Willard Campbell, Vice Presidents; E. M. Elliott, Treasurer; Ernest Lucas and Wallace Powell, Secretaries. A committee on membership was appointed.

The President, S. S. Feldman, made a strong address in favor of the passage of the Amendment, and was followed by Mr. Jerome T. Hayman, who made an eloquent appeal for its passage. Strong resolutions in favor of the Amendment were drawn up and passed.

The Club has rented the building of Mr. F. P. Adkins, formerly used by Mr. Lambert Powell as a storeroom. This room has been comfortably fitted up for the purpose, and the rooms well heated. The rooms will be open every day from nine A. M. to ten P. M. Magazines and other current literature have been provided, and a cordial invitation given to all to make themselves at home in the rooms. The next regular meeting of the Club will be on Tuesday night when addresses will be made by able speakers.

The following resolutions were adopted:—

"We, as citizens and voters of Wisconsin county, assembled in the interest of white man's government, white supremacy, the free exercise of white man's suffrage, the enhancement of domestic tranquility and the intelligent purity of the ballot, pass these resolutions:

"We deem it obligatory upon ourselves for the best interests of our State and the present and future permanency and perpetuation of our political and social institutions, to free ourselves, in the exercise of our suffrage, of a class of negroes who now participate in the management and direction of our body politic, which class we deem wholly irresponsible and unreliable, not only to take upon itself the duties of legislating for the white man, but to direct its own future.

"We are fully aware of the political conditions that exist in the cities and rural districts of our State, especially that part of our State which is commonly called the black belt, which comprises the counties of St. Mary's, Calvert, Prince George's and Charles.

"We are only too cognizant of the fact that we have 1400 negro voters in Wisconsin county, who vote as a unit, regardless of political questions, and realizing that this class of so-called citizens, with few exceptions, is unfit to exercise the right of casting an intelligent ballot, we pledge ourselves and earnestly appeal to the white voters of this county and of the State of Maryland to give a hearty support toward the cleansing and enlightening of our electorate, which we firmly believe will result from the passage of the proposed Amendment."

ELBERT HUBBARD WILL

Lecture Here. Interesting Program Arranged. John Kendrick Bangs Later.

The Board of Lady Managers of The Peninsula General Hospital has arranged to give a very interesting course of lectures here, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the Hospital.

This will be followed later—probably sometime in February—by a lecture from John Kendrick Bangs on one of his many interesting subjects. There will be no soliciting for the sale of tickets. Seats will be reserved for one or both of these lectures by application to the patrons.

Salisbury has rarely if ever had such a chance to hear speakers of the prominence and ability as these famous personalities and should take advantage of this opportunity to listen to men who are acknowledged leaders in the world of lecturers and thinkers.

Democrats Getting Busy Meeting To Be Held Voters Are Interested

The Democrats in this County commenced this week their meetings and are preparing to make things lively in the political world from now on to election day. Large and enthusiastic meetings were held at Sharptown and Upper Ferry on Thursday and Friday. Today the big Democratic meeting of the campaign will be held in the Opera House. At this meeting Sen. Rayner, one of the most brilliant orators in the United States, will address the meeting and it will be well worth any one's time, regardless of political faith, to hear him discuss the issues of this campaign. Witty, bright and eloquent the Senator will hold the attention of any audience and those who today come out to hear him and other speakers will feel well repaid for their trouble.

Sen. Smith, one of the best reasoners and most logical speakers perhaps in the State today, will also address the meeting. His remarks will be carefully listened to by those who are interested in the campaign and want to know just what the issues are and what they mean. Sen. Smith's remarks will bear re-reading and careful study for he is a man who does not stop on the surface, but gets right down to the bottom of a question in a brief, concise and convincing way. Congressman Covington, who is known as the ablest speaker on the Shore will also address this meeting as will Dr. Herring, who is the nominee of the Democratic party for Comptroller. Dr. Herring is one of the most popular men in the Democratic party today and is known as an able and effective campaigner. These gentlemen should be given a royal reception by the citizens of our County.

The meetings arranged for the coming week are as follows:—
White Haven, Monday, October 25th at 7.30 P. M.
Blivette, Tuesday, October 26th at 7.30 P. M.

THE COMING ANNUAL

Meeting of Synod To Be Held In Washington—Met Here Last.

The annual meeting of the Synod, of Baltimore, which was held last year in the Wisconsin Presbyterian Church, of this city, will be held in the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church of Washington, D. C., October 25th, 26th and 27th.

The opening service will be held at eight o'clock Monday evening at which time the Rev. Dr. John McIlmoyle, of Elton, Md., the retiring Moderator, will preach. A new Moderator will then be chosen; this year from the Presbytery of Washington City.

At 9.30 Tuesday morning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed. All of the morning and afternoon sessions will be given up to the reports of the various Benevolent Boards of the church at large; each of the Boards of the Church being represented by its Secretary. The subject for discussion Tuesday evening will be "The Presbyterian Elder." The Hon. Henry B. F. Macfarland, Commissioner of the Districts of Columbia, will preside and Rev. Julius A. Herold, and Elders Geo. A. Blake and John D. Worthington will speak. This will be one of the most interesting meetings of the Synod.

A partial program for Wednesday is as follows:—10 A. M., Ministerial Relief; 10.30, John Calvin Memorial Fund; 11.35, Religious Work in the Army and Navy. The afternoon session will consider the Work of Foreign Missions and the special efforts now being made by the Board of Church Extension. Wednesday evening will be "John Calvin Evening," addresses being delivered by Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, D. D., on "John Calvin," and Rev. Donald Guthrie, D. D., on "Calvinism."

Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs, for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas medicines made with mercury merely dry up the secretions and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real remedy, not a sedative. All druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 66 Warren Street, New York.

JABBED HATPIN INTO

Face of Assault—Young Woman Seized Welded Weapon With Effect.

With only a hatpin to protect her, Miss Margaret Le Blanc, 32 years old, a stenographer, in East New York fought off a man who attacked her as she was nearing her home.

Miss Le Blanc had been calling on a friend on Liberty avenue, and it was nearly midnight when she started for her home, which is situated in a thinly settled district. She was within a short distance of the house when a man sprang from a clump of bushes by the road and grabbed her. The young woman struggled to escape. She got one arm free and pulled a hat pin from her hat.

She jabbed the point of the pin into the man's face, and with a cry of pain, he released her. She started to run but he grabbed her again and tried to get the pin from her hand. Several times the young woman stabbed him as she shouted for help. The man took to flight.

Weak and hysterical, Miss Le Blanc reached her home and a physician was summoned. The young woman is still confined to her bed, and it will be several days before she recovers. The police are searching the Brooklyn hospitals to learn if a man suffering from hat pin stabs had been treated at any of them.

TRAIN FOR MARDELA

Will Leave Salisbury To-Night At 10.15.

The Democratic State Central Committee has arranged to have a special train run to Mardela Springs on Saturday night at 10.15 o'clock to carry the people home who attend the big meeting in Salisbury. Passengers from Rockwalking, Hebron and Mardela Springs can take this train home after the night meeting. Passengers from East of Salisbury can take the regular train home leaving Salisbury at 8.30 P. M. The train to Mardela was arranged on account of the fact that the regular West bound train leaves here about three P. M., which would be too early for the afternoon meeting. Regular tickets are good on the special train.

FASHIONS LATEST EDIT

As Seen in New York. Charming Blouses: Sleeves Short For Indoor Wear: Length Of Walking Skirts: Fashionable Millinery.
 Soant frocks and ample draperies, tight sleeves and full sleeves, pleated skirts and gored skirts, shortened waists, normal waists, elongated waists, long coats, short coats in fact whatever best suits your taste and figure—this appears to be the latest edit of Fashion. In costumes the coat dresses are pre-eminent and these usually follow the Mogen Age character. An exquisite gown which seemed to combine the features of several modes made quite a sensation in a New York shop window. It was of a light but not vivid old rose, French serge trimmed with self-toned sash. It had a front panel which extended from low yoke depth to below the knee, a gored under skirt formed the foundation, over this at the sides. Between the front and back panels is a circular tunic, attached to the bodice at high waistline.

and falling below the knee but not quite as long as the panel. The sleeves and yoke were of old rose chiffon covered with straight lines of soutache in the same color. The shape of the sleeve was of the narrow bishop style with a cuff five inches wide of gold net over chiffon. Under the chiffon of the yoke was white lace which also formed the collar. Coats and skirts are shown but the waists or blouses invariably match them in color.

Dainty Blouses Of Net And Chiffon.
 One of the latest and prettiest of fads is to make one's fancy blouse of colored chiffon over white. Exquisite effects are obtained in this way, a rather expensive mode is to trim the white underwaist with bands of varicolored embroidery or even to cover portions of it with gold net and over the whole to mount a sheer waist of chiffon transparent marquisette of mouseline de sole.

Fashionable Suitings.
 For all round wear chevrons and serges in wide or narrow diagonal weaves, with rough or smooth finishes continue popular for suits.

Black costumes are more in demand than ever, but usually the sombre tone is relieved with color, or touches of gold or silver in the trimmings, while almost all colored costumes have the bit of black in the trimming in buckle or button or other accessory as has been the mode for two seasons.

Walking Skirts Are Short.
 The comfortable and sensible length in walking skirts is still in vogue in spite of the small fraction of dress-makers who strove to have women adopt the street sweeping style. Even Paris has adopted the short walking skirt, after having held out long and stubbornly against what French women have heretofore considered gauche and ungraceful mode.

New Hats Have Rolling Brims.

The much cherished mushroom shape has at last relinquished its supremacy in favor of those with curled up brims. Some of these turn up slightly but all around while others flare up precipitously at the side or even at the back. The cavalier hat rolling high on one side is repeating its success of last summer. All feathered hats are in evidence again and appear in beautiful shadings. A simple and effective hat of medium size with rather wide brim rolling but slightly at the side had a rather high crown which was bound round with pleated satin. Standing upright against the crown was a five or six inch jet buckle, through which the pleated satin was drawn and beyond which the end of the satin protruded in a sort of tail.

Ross & Son, 306 310 Market Street, Wilmington, Del., are the exclusive agents for the McCall Patterns and Publications, and carry in stock over 10,000 dress patterns of the latest Paris, London and New York styles from which the ladies of Salisbury and vicinity can supply their pattern wants immediately and at popular prices, 10 and 15c. A BIT OF ORIENTAL HUMOR

A Waiter in a Broken Voice Told of an Unusually Distant.

The only drawback to a tropical winter is the flies. In the hot sun of a January day in Egypt, Morocco or Algeria the flies are an incredible pest. You see them in the corners of the eyes of native children, and men lie asleep in sunny places with flies crawling over their lips. The natives don't mind the flies. In fact, they like them. At a boor, or native inn, in the Sahara, a traveler said to the waiter, pointing indignantly at his stew of barley and goat's flesh:

"How comes this dead fly in my couscous?"
 "Monsieur," replied the waiter, "I can not tell you. Perhaps the fly had not eaten for many days, and, throwing itself ravenously on the couscous, fed with too great heartiness, thereby contracting an inflammation of the stomach severe enough to cause death. The poor little thing could never have been strong. When I brought the couscous it was dancing and humming merrily on the surface. Perhaps this idea has just presented itself to me—it endeavored to swallow too large a piece of meat. The morsel stuck in its wind-pipe. A terrific coughing fit, inaudible to our gross ears, ensued. Alas, soon all was over."

The waiter wiped his eyes and said in a broken voice:
 "I can account in no other way for the poor creature's death."

And the Prayer Was Answered.
 Little Dorothy at the age of 6, was very thoughtful regarding the care of her clothes, and the many admonitions she had received about neatly arranging her clothes on a chair each night before retiring were daily forgotten.

One night, just as she was ready for bed, her mother came in and, finding the little garments in a heap on the floor as usual, said, "Dorothy, you may say your prayers, and then mother will have to punish you for not minding her about your clothes." Having said this she stepped into the adjoining room and partially closed the door.

In a few moments she heard Dorothy, who was a firm believer in the power of prayer, repeat, "Now I lay me, and after the 'amen' she heard this appeal, "And, dear Lord, if ever you wanted to help a little kid, now's your chance."

Telephonic Hospitality.
 Mr. Brown had just had a telephonic connection between his office and house and was very much pleased with it.

"I tell you, Smith," he was saying, "this telephonic business is a wonderful thing. I want you to dine with me this evening, and I will notify Mrs. Brown to expect you." Brown (speaking through the telephone)—"My friend Smith will dine with us this evening."

"Now listen and hear how plain her reply comes back."
 Mrs. Brown's reply came back with startling distinctness:
 "Ask your friend Smith if he thinks we keep a hotel!"

"EASY TO DO."

Thrift.
 Two Scotch travelers, a merchant and a farmer, were discussing political economy in a railroad carriage. After a while the merchant filled his pipe, lit it, and settled back for a comfortable smoke. The farmer took his pipe from his pocket and, after gazing longingly at its empty bowl, asked his companion for a match. The merchant selected one from a large boxful and handed it over. Said the farmer: "I am afraid I've come away without my baccy pouch."
 "Well," said the merchant, holding out his hand, "then ye'll no be in need of that match."

"An Army Contract."
 In a street of Edinburgh one day a dusty soldier went up to a little bootblack and told the boy to brush his boots and polish them well. The lad looked at the big Scots Gray and shouted blithely to another boot-black:

"Haw, Sandy, come over an' gie us a hand!" with his hands curved round his mouth to form a speaking-trumpet. "Ye wha's here wi' me! I've got an army contract."

To Get Rid of Mosquitoes.
 A Memphis (Mo.) man has discovered a new way to get rid of mosquitoes. He says to rub alum on your face and hands. When the mosquito takes a bite, it picks his bumper so it can't sting. It sits down in a damp place, tries to die the pucker holes, catches its death, of cold, and dies of pneumonia.—Miss-missin Journal.

Only a little cold in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of nasal catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed up air passages. Price 50 cents. If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the solid form of this remedy and will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 50c., with spraying tube. All druggists or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Keeps Every Room Warm YET BURNS LESS COAL

Prepare for Winter. Don't struggle on with the old-time heater which wastes more coal than it utilizes and even then warms the house only in spots and only some of the time. Don't have a "cold side," or a third floor where the heat "won't reach." Make it reach! You can do it easily, and yet save money on your coal bill—by installing the

It embodies many unique improvements for burning every pound of coal completely, getting all the heat out of it, and delivering that heat from the radiators with the least possible loss. Thousands of Model Heating Systems are in use, actually saving one-third to one-half of the former coal consumption.

THE ROAST OF ARCHIMEDES.

Something About His Scheme for Moving the Earth.

Men are apt to think we are pretty smart in this twentieth century—and so we are, for we have all the achievements of the men of the past to work on as a foundation. Yet seldom do we stop to think how much we owe to the ancients. Archimedes, who lived in Sicily about three centuries before Christ, was the greatest of the old mathematicians. He discovered a number of important principles and some of his demonstrations are so subtle that they puzzle the most accomplished mathematicians of this day to understand.

It was Archimedes who in his enthusiasm at discovering certain formulas relating to the power of levers declared that he would, single-handed and alone, lift the earth, provided some one would give him a fulcrum to rest his lever on. Theoretically this would be perfectly possible. That is to say, no amount of work is too great for a given power to perform provided sufficient time is allowed for it. Time, power and will are thus all linked together. By increasing the power you can do a certain amount of work in less time, and so on. Probably Archimedes did not know how much the earth weighed and so he did not figure out how long it would take him to lift it with his lever. But now the earth's mass has been ascertained and a mathematician named Moutclia has calculated that if Archimedes had worked incessantly, without stopping to eat, drink or sleep, lifting 116 pounds a foot every second (more than any man could do) it would still have taken him over three billion centuries to have moved the earth a single inch! That would indeed have been "going some," as the current expression is.

It was Archimedes who discovered that any body of matter when placed in water, for instance, displaces a quantity of water exactly equal to its own weight. This great fact struck him while he was in the bath one day, as he noticed how the water rose in the tub when he went into it. He was so overjoyed at the discovery of the principle he had so long been searching for that he ran naked into the street shouting his celebrated "Eureka!" meaning in Greek "I have found it." This principle enabled him to detect just how much alloy a goldsmith had fraudulently added to the gold in a crown he had made for King Hiero.

Many other interesting anecdotes are told of Archimedes. One is that he set fire to an enemy's fleet by means of a powerful burning-glass. Modern scientists doubt that such a thing could be done, but the ancient did many things which the moderns have not been able to repeat. When at last a besieging army did capture the city of Syracuse, where Archimedes lived, the invaders found an old man working out a theorem in geometry by means of figures drawn in the sand. As a Roman soldier rushed on him he cried out, "Don't spoil my circle!" and with these words he died.

Give the Old Man a Chance.

Much has been heard in Kansas towns lately about "Mother's Day." Several Kansas editors are now "holering" that the "old man" should have an inning. They want a "Dad's Day." Should they have it? By all means. Give the old man his chance at the bat. Let him cavort in his tender hand-me-down suit, his last summer's straw hat and his bargain-counter brogans. Of course he looks pretty bum in that raiment alongside of daughter with her $25 inverted flour barrel top piece, her $50 gown with the waist at the knees, her French heeled patent pumps and the rest of the stuff that goes with glad feminine decorations. But he is "Dad," nevertheless. "Ma" with her 500 clubs, her bridge parties, her pink tans and her cut glass society will certainly step back for one day and let the old man realize for a short twenty-four hours that "every dad has his day."

The Intelligent Trout.

A correspondent says that when fishing in a small river lately he hooked a small trout. "After a little I managed to pull him free and he came along the surface side up toward the landing net without further resistance. Finding the line a little too long I began to reel in, carelessly allowing the rod to drop almost to the straight, when the fish, then only a foot or two from the shivering shore, suddenly recovered his wind. "The water was but two or three inches deep at the spot, quite still and clear, with one or two small patches of surface grass on it. Instantly the trout rushed at one of these patches and seized the grass in his mouth, holding on for all he was worth and defying me to drag him free. I then put the net under him and lifted him out with the bit of weed stuck in his teeth."

Education.

The class in very elementary chemistry was having one of its early sessions. The matter of sea-water came up. "Peter," said the teacher, "can you tell me what it is that makes the water of the sea so salty?"

"Salt," said Peter.

"Next," said the teacher. "What is it that makes the water of the sea so salty?"

"The salty quality of the sea-water," answered "Next," "is due to the admixture of a sufficient quantity of chloride of sodium to impart to the aqueous fluid with which it commingles a saline flavor, which is readily recognized by the organs of taste!"

"Right, Next," said the teacher. "Go on!"—Youth's Companion.

Apple Outrage.

Take four apples, pare, quarter, and cook as for sauce, leaving little pieces. A few minutes before removing from the fire stir into the apples the following mixture: One quarter teaspoon, grated; one large tablespoonful butter; the yolk of one egg, and sugar to taste. After the sauce has been removed from the fire spread over it the white of the egg, which has been beaten stiff, with a tablespoonful of sugar.

DOWN ON THE FARM

The Rural Life Didn't Appeal to Billy.

When Deakne walked in late one afternoon and, with a sigh that might have meant any one of a number of disconsolate things, softly set his suitcase down, the other fellows in the office were not surprised.

They thought that something must have happened to Billy or his girl or his family.

"Anything the matter?" one of them asked, tenderly and sympathetically.

"Oh, no," answered Billy; "not a thing the matter. I've just decided to alter my vacation plans, that's all."

The fellows looked at each other quickly, significantly, and felt relieved. Billy had elected that summer to take his vacation on a farm. The day he left he had been sneering about the "barbaric violence" that characterized the business streets and the "hideous noises" that "stifled his very soul."

He told them that he was going to an old-fashioned farm, where he could spend a few days as the "Creator intended man to live!"

Naturally his early return was a matter of interest.

"Things didn't pan out?" ventured another, in tones that invited confidence. "Tell us about it, Billy."

Every fellow was looking as solemn as he could. Consequently Billy talked.

"No more," he said decisively, with a shudder, as at a bad memory. "Down on the farm."

On the farm, but a hall bedroom and a civilized mattress and gas and a bathtub and running water within walking distance for mine, every time. Maybe I picked the wrong farm. There may be farms all to the good, just as the poets say, but I don't want to look for 'em. Two weeks at that place and I would have been hopelessly blue.

"That farm's about seven miles from the railroad station, as I told you, I think, before I left. By the way, that seems about a month ago, instead of three days. My troubles began at the station and never let up till I got back here."

A yelp of a boy with one cheek bulged with a quid of tobacco and a sty on one eye was awaiting me at the station. He had an old spring wagon, as they called it, to which was hitched a plug of a horse that seemed to be forever trying to make up for lost sleep. In the back end of the wagon was a rocking chair for me to sit in. I climbed up and perched, everybody at the station looking on, and the journey was begun.

"Going up the first hill the plug fell down and broke the harness. The yelp was nearly an hour patching it up, and in the meantime yours faithfully was calmly baking and blistering in the sun."

"I arrived without further damage, but just as I jumped out of the wagon one of the numerous dogs about the place discovered that a stranger was in their midst and it took the yelp, his ma and pa and the hired girl to get me safely to the house."

"That supper! I'll forget it never! Cold hog jowl, pumpkin butter, half sour at that, corn bread and butter-milk!"

"I had to go to bed at 8:30 to keep from being left alone."

"Did you ever hear that talk about the luxury and comfort of a real country bed? Jumping into that feather bed was just like diving. The middle of my body sank until my feet were right in front of my face. I tried the stomach method of repose, but my spine was not sufficiently flexible. Finally I squatted on one side and managed to drop into a dose. But not for long.

"Mosquitoes! They extended me an ovation. I hid under a quilt and sweated and had nightmare the rest of the night."

"At dawn the mosquitoes left and I was getting a wink of precious slumber when the farmer pounded on the foot of the stairs and yelled for the yelp to get up and feed the horses. A little later I was again getting to sleep when the hired girl banged on my door and told me it was time to get up and wash for breakfast."

"I had to dress before I washed. The washing was done in a tin basin in front of the kitchen door."

"Breakfast menu—strong ham, strong coffee, strong eggs and strong butter."

"And during the meal the baby, which occupied a high chair beside me, spilled its milk in my lap. I didn't mind that, though, for I had just been told that in my honor the dogs had been chained."

"After the delightful repast I thought I'd go for a stroll in the verdant meadow just about the barnyard. Result: A bull got after me. I barely escaped by dodging around a shed, but the bull had speed up and ran through a plank fence, tearing down a whole section of it."

"The farmer wanted to tax me a dollar for the damage done to the fence."

"That was the limit. Believe me, I was provoked and I demanded to be conveyed at once to the station."

"The old kiltie dictated terms. I was to forfeit the price of a week's board—I forgot to mention that I was asked that night to settle a week in advance—put up a dollar for the fence and $2 to be hauled to the station."

"If he'd known I would have paid $25 to get away I suppose he would have charged me that."

"Nix the farm! The wiles of modern plumbing, summer girls, moving pictures and all the other paraphernalia of civilization for mine!"

Ringworms disappear when painted a few times with iodine. Repeat application if required.

Bind the white of an egg over burns or scalds. It will form a coating like varnish and give instant relief.

If inflammatory rheumatism is not of long standing bathe the affected parts with sweet oil and salt-peter—an ounce of the latter to a pint of oil. It is very effective.

When giving castor oil take a small tumbler and squeeze into it a tablespoonful of orange juice; next pour in the oil, then add more juice. The oil will form a globule in the center of the juice and can be swallowed without being detected.

Vinegar has been largely used to reduce stoutness. Its power in this regard is due to acetic acid. It succeeds at the cost of the user's health. By it the blood is impoverished and anemia is caused. The occasional use of vinegar with food does not work harm, but where there is any tendency to anemia it should be almost excluded from the diet.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eight, an Act was passed proposing an amendment to Section 1 of Article 1, of the Constitution of the State, which said Act is in the following words, to-wit:

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT to amend Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of the State and to provide for the submission of said Amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring, that the following section be, and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and if adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof, as just herein provided, it shall supersede and stand in the place and stead of Section one of said Article one.

Sec. 1. All elections shall be by ballot, and every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has been a resident of the State for two years and of the County or District of Baltimore City or of the County in which he may offer to vote, for one year next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in this Article, shall be entitled to vote, in the ward or election district in which he resides, at all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any county or city shall be so divided as to form portions of different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then to entitle a person to vote for such officer, he must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form a part of the electoral district in which he offers to vote, for one year next preceding the election; but a person who has acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he was removed, until he shall have acquired a residence in the part of the county or city to which he has removed.

Every male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be, first: a person who, on the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote, under the laws of this State, or of any other State of the United States, wherein he then resided; or second: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or third: a person who, at such last mentioned date, was a citizen of the United States naturalized between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article; or fourth: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or fifth: a person who, in the presence of the officers of registration, shall, in his own handwriting, with pen and ink, without any aid, suggestion or memorandum whatsoever, and without any question or direction addressed to him by any of the officers of registration, make application to register, stating in such application his name, age, date and place of birth, residence and occupation at the time and for the two years next preceding the date of his application, the name of his employer or employers, if any, at the time and for the two years next preceding, and whether he has previously voted, and the date of his vote, and the ward or precinct in which he voted last, and also the name in full of the President of the United States, of one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, of the Governor of Maryland, of one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the Mayor of Baltimore City, if the applicant resides in Baltimore City, or of one of the County Commissioners of the county in which the applicant resides; and any person who is unable to comply with the foregoing requirements as to making application for registration in his own handwriting, solely because he is physically disabled from so doing; or sixth: a person, or the husband of a person, who at the time of his application for registration, is a bona fide owner of real or personal property in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars, is assessed therefor on the tax-books of the City of Baltimore or of one of the counties of this State, has been such owner and so assessed for two years next preceding his application for registration, shall have paid and shall produce receipts for the taxes on said property for said two years and shall at the time of his application make affidavit before the officers of registration that he is, or that he is the husband of the person who is the bona fide owner of the property so assessed to him, or to her, as the case may be, and that he or she has been such owner for two years next preceding his application.

No person not qualified under some one of the above clauses shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter or be entitled to vote. Every written application to be registered, presented to the officers of registration by any person applying to be registered under the above fifth clause, shall be carefully preserved by said officers of registration and shall be produced in any Court, if required, as hereinafter provided.

The affidavit of any applicant for registration, duly made to the officers of registration or in Court, that he, the applicant, is a person who was entitled to vote on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, as aforesaid, or that he has become a naturalized citizen of the United States between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article, as aforesaid, or his affidavit upon information and belief that he is a descendant of a person who was entitled to vote on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or that he is a descendant of a person who has become a naturalized citizen of the United States between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article, shall be prima facie evidence of any of said facts so sworn to.

A wilfully false statement upon the part of any applicant for registration in relation to any of the matters aforesaid shall be perjury, and punishable as perjury is punished by the laws of this State.

Any person who feels aggrieved by the action of any board of officers of registration in refusing to register him as a qualified voter, or in registering any disqualified person, may at any time, either before or after the last session of the board of registration, but not later than the Tuesday next preceding the election, file a petition, verified by affidavit, in the Circuit Court for the county in which the cause of complaint arises, or, if the cause of complaint arises in Baltimore City, in any court of common law jurisdiction in said city, setting forth the grounds of his application and asking the court to set aside the action of the board of officers of registration, and to order the board of officers of registration to register him as a qualified voter, and to order the board of officers of registration to produce the written application prepared and submitted by such person at the time he presented himself for

registration to said board of officers of registration, and upon said written application the court shall determine whether or not said person, when he presented himself for registration, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and if the court shall determine that said written application, so prepared and submitted by said person, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and that said person was not disqualified under any other provision of this Article of the Constitution to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the court shall order that said person shall not be registered upon said books of registry.

The court may enforce any order by attachment for contempt in said cases; neither party shall have any right of removal; exception may be taken to any ruling of the court at the hearing of said cases and such exception shall be allowed to the Court of Appeals as in other cases; all such appeals shall be taken within five days from the date of the decision of the court, and shall be heard and decided by the Court of Appeals upon the original papers, or otherwise, as the Court shall direct by rule, and as soon as may be practicable.

The General Assembly shall have power to provide more fully by legislation not inconsistent with the provisions of this Article, for the hearing and determination of all such cases.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State shall be at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly to be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters of this State, for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, to be printed on the ballot, and the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election the returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said proposed amendment, as directed by said Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved February 25, 1909.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, AUSTIN L. CROTHERS, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 1, of Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, do hereby order and direct that a copy of said Act proposing an amendment to Section 1 of Article 1 of the Constitution of said State, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers in the City of Baltimore, one of which shall be published in the German language, once a week for at least three months preceding the next General Election, which election will be held on November 8, 1

comico County which need improving.
To make good roads out of all of these would mean the expenditure by the County of an immense sum of money—
a much larger sum than the taxpayers would approve of as it would make it necessary to bond the County for a very large amount, and if the money was available at the present time, even then it would take years to successfully carry out this work.

The policy of building our roads so as to make them more of a permanent order has been but recently inaugurated here, and our Commissioners are doing all they can with the funds at their disposal.

Since it is manifestly impossible to improve all of our roads at one time, the question then comes up of which roads shall first be served?

If we have correctly understood the position of the present Board of Commissioners, they have adopted a plan which must appeal to all fair minded people—to improve first those roads which are recognized as the Main Thoroughfares. The improving of these roads will certainly benefit the greatest number of people and as we can not improve all at once these should receive the first attention, and until they are all served the other should wait, to be taken up in order of their importance. This certainly seems like a good business policy and will best serve the interests of the taxpayers whose money is being used for this purpose. A great deal has already been done and if the citizens in all sections of the County will but have patience their turn for being served will soon be here.

We have heard a great deal about the River road and some criticism of the Board for its failure to improve it—mostly, it is true, from the property owners along the road and their attorneys. In order to ascertain whether or not this road is entitled to be among the first to be built in this County, it is necessary to know just what portion of the people it serves.

It leads from Salisbury to Shad Point, and at the best can only accommodate the people along its route and those perhaps beyond Shad Point.
As to the people who live in Shad Point we have been informed that they use the road leading to Fruitland more than they do this one, and would prefer to have the 1 of a mile between Shad Point and the Tony Tank road improved first. If either of these roads is entitled to be served at the present time, the road to Fruitland is the one.

Those who wish to reach Salisbury from Shad Point could do so by this route very easily and it would make a difference of only one half a mile—or something like this—as compared with the distance over the River Road.
One is forced to come to the conclusion that the building of a shell road on the River route would be the expedient of money which would benefit, for the most part, only the property owners along it. There are certainly roads in the County which need improving that are used by a much larger percent of the public than is this much talked of road. The board in carrying out an ill considered promise of a previous Board has already built a bridge along this road at a cost of $2000, and if it is to be criticized at all this would form a much sounder basis for criticism than the refusal to spend more on the River road at the present time.

It is not meant that this road should not be improved—it should be and so should every road in the County,
but we can see no reason for giving it precedence over other roads which certainly serve a much larger community.

When this matter was brought up by the attorneys of some of the property owners along this road Mr. Cooper, of the Board, clearly stated his position in the matter, and it is certainly one which ought to appeal to the common sense and good judgement of all. We publish this statement below:—

"In the case of a petition of interested parties on the Tony Tank Bridge River Road, the Board instructed the Road's Engineer to lay out and open a road from the corporate limits of Salisbury, beginning near 'Oak Hill' and continuing to a point where the new River Road begins, near Dr. A. H.
Holloway's residence.

"But after mature thought and deliberation the Board resolved that it would be unwise for the County to spend large sums of money on this road under the Shoemaker Act or on any other basis, under existing conditions. Because, First: the road traverses a sparsely populated community which yields in its present state of development a very small revenue to the County; It is travelled almost exclusively by the few residents living immediately thereon or adjacent thereto.

"Hence the improvements asked for by the petitioners would be of no benefit to the great body of tax-payers of the county but would chiefly exploit real estate owned by a few individuals.

"The present Board of Commissioners respectfully submit that the great arteries of travel in the County should be the first upon which the road making resources of the County should be expended—thus giving everybody some of the benefits of the expenditures. And as the supremely important work of improved highway construction is in its earliest stages in Wicomico County, in fact, in its beginning, in our judgement, several years will elapse before conditions will warrant large expenditures on local roads."

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Proceedings Of The Board At Last Tuesday's Meeting.

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday and had a busy day.
Messrs. L. B. Brittingham, E. M.
Walston and others petitioned the Board to straighten and widen and grade the main road leading from Salisbury to Powellville, near Horse Bridge, beginning at or near Walston
Store and continuing to Nassawango Creek. W. H. Brittingham, George W. Adkins and Jas. E. Jackson were appointed examiners on same.

J. Ernest Moore, Wm. S. Moore, W.
J. Ryall and others asked Board to furnish shells to improve the road from Shad Point to the corner of the Moore farm on the Allen road. They pledged for the work $737.00 Board agreed to furnish the shells at point of delivery and the citizens are to prepare the road bed and spread the shells.

Messrs. Oliver, Sturgis, Hastings and others, residents of Delmar and Parsons Districts, came before the Board and asked that Wicomico Co., join with the Levy Court of Delaware to improve the Line Road east from Delmar.

H. J. Seabreeze, John Phillips and others were before the Board with a petition to grade and shell the piece of road from Venables Corner, on the Quantico road, to H. J. Seabreeze property.

TO GO UP TEN MILES

To Observe Mars—Hopes To Get View
From Balloon High In Air.

Prof. David T. Todd, of Amherst College, Springfield, Mass., the well known astronomical authority, states that his long planned ascent to an altitude of ten miles, to make observations of the planet Mars, would be attempted some time this month, and that the ascension would probably be from Springfield or Fitchburg. A.
Leo Stevens will be the pilot.

Prof. Todd and Mr. Stevens plan to live in the rarefied atmosphere by means of oxygen which they will carry in a hermetically sealed tank. Mr.
Stevens is confident that he will pilot his balloon to the highest altitude in which man has ever breathed.

Professor Todd is sanguine that in the intensely rarefied atmosphere of the upper regions he will be able to make observations of great scientific value.

TOWN IN DARKNESS

Because of Eels—Turbine Wheel At Electric Light Plant Clogged.

Berwyn, Pa., recently was in darkness on account of eels. The electric plant furnishing the town light is operated by a 60-horse power turbine wheel along the Tulpehocken, and it was stopped by the elongated fish.
The wheel was practically filled with out up and wedged in eels, which were removed with difficulty.

Fully three bushels of eels were taken out of the wheel and were carried away in buckets by persons who made good use of them. The same trouble occurred last year when the turbine had to be lifted in order to get out the mangled fish.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been afflicted with indigestion, have been cured by it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, dizziness or chronic tired feeling, you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. But what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia" tablets, physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Peptin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do. Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

CHAPTER X.

THE EPOCH OF TRANQUILITY.

THREE months stole by with tantalizing slowness. The autumn passed on into winter without a change of expression in the benign face of nature. Christmas day was as hot as if it had come in mid-summer; the natives were as naked, the trees as fully clad. The six months were passing away in spite of themselves. Ten weeks were left before the worn but determined helms could cast off their bonds and rush away to other climes. It mattered little whether they went away rich or poor. They were to go! Go! That was the richest thing the future held out to them. True, they rode and played and swam and romped without restraint, but beneath all their abandon there lurked the ever present pathos of the jail, the asylum, the detention ward.

Not until the end of January was there a sign of revolt against the ever growing, insidious condition of melancholy. As they turned into the last third of their exile they found heart to rejoice in the thought that release was coming nearer and nearer. The end of March—eight weeks off! Soon there would be but seven weeks, then six!

And all this time the islanders toiled as they had toiled for years. They reckoned in years, while the strangers cast up time's account in weeks and called them years. Each day the brown men worked in the mines piling gains into the vaults with a resolute-ness that never faltered.

From London came disquieting news for all sides to the controversy. The struggle promised to be drawn out for years, perhaps. The lonely legatees, marooned in the far south sea, began to realize that even after they had spent their six months of probation they would still have months, even years, of waiting before they could touch the fortune they laid claim to. The islanders also were vaguely aware of the fact that everything might be tied up for years despite the provisions of the will. A restless, stubborn feeling of alarm spread among them. This feeling gradually developed itself into bitter resentment. Hatred for the people who were causing this delay was growing deeper and deeper.

Their counselor, the complacent enemy, held himself aloof from the men and women that his charges were fighting. He met the two lawyers often, but nothing passed between them that could have been regarded as the slightest breach of trust. He lived like a rajah in his shady bungalow, surrounded by the luxuries of one to whom all things are brought, and visible. If he had any longing for the society of women of his own race and kind, he carefully concealed it. His indifference to the subtle though unmistakable appeals of the two gentlewomen in the chateau was irritating in the extreme. When he deliberately, though politely, declined their invitation to tea one afternoon their humiliation knew no bounds.

Lady Deppingham and Mrs. Browne should not be misunderstood by the reader. They loved their husbands—

I am quite sure of that—but they were tired of seeing no one else, tired of talking to no one else. Moreover, in support of this one-sided assertion, they experienced from time to time the most melancholy attacks of jealousy. If Mrs. Browne in plain despair went off for a day's ride with Lord Deppingham, that gentleman's wife was sick with jealousy. If Lady Agnes strolled in the moonlit gardens with Mr. Browne, the former Miss Bates of Boston could scarcely control her emotions. They shed many tears of anguish over the faithlessness of husbands, tears of hatred over the viciousness of temptresses. Their quarrels were fierce, their upbraidings characteristic, but in the end they cried and kissed and "made up."

They did not know, of course, that the wily Britt, despite his own depression, was all the while accumulating the most astounding lot of evidence to show that a decided streak of insanity existed in the two heirs.

"If they could only be married in some way," was Britt's private lament to Saunders from time to time when despair overcame confidence.

"I've got a ripping idea," Saunders said one day.

"Let's have it. You've always got 'em. Why not divide with me?"

"Can't do it just yet. I've been looking up a little matter. I'll spring it soon."

"How long have you been working on the idea?"

"Nearly four months," said Saunders, yawning.

"God, this climate is enervating!" was Britt's caustic comment.

Saunders was beaming over head in love with Miss Pelham at this time, so it is not surprising that he had some sort of an idea about marriage, no matter whom it concerned.

Night after night the Deppinghams and Brownes gave dinners, balls, musicales, "bridge," matches and theater parties at the chateau. First one would invite the other to a great ball, then the other would respond by giving a sumptuous dinner.

One morning during the first week in February the steamer from Aden brought stacks of mail—the customary newspapers, magazines, novels, telegrams and letters. It was noticed that her ladyship had several hundred letters, many bearing crests or coats of arms.

At last she came to a letter of many pages covered with a scrawl that looked preposterously fashionable. Lady Agnes gave a sudden shriek and, leaping to her feet, performed a dance that set her husband and Bobby Browne to gasping.

"She's coming!" she cried ecstatically, repeating herself a dozen times. "Who's coming, Aggy?" roared her husband for the sixth time.

"The princess! Deppy, I'm going to squeeze you! I must squeeze somebody! Isn't it glorious? Now—now—now life will be worth living in this beastly place."

Her dearest friend, the princess, had written to say that she was coming to spend a month with her.

"In her uncle's yacht? Deppy—the princess that came to Coves last year, don't you know? Or course you do. Don't look so dazed. He's coming for a couple of months and it is to set her down here on the yacht returns from a tour of the Philippines. She says she hopes it will be quiet here. Quiet! She hopes it will be quiet!"

"I say, Deppingham, you can take her out walking and pick up a crownful of fresh rubles every day or so," said Browne.

"Hang it all, Browne, I'm afraid to pluck a violet these days. Every time I stoop over I feel that somebody's going to take a shot at me. I wonder why the beggars select me to shoot at. They're not always popping away at you, Browne. Why is it?"

"It's all right so long as they don't kill you," was Browne's consoling remark.

"Jove!" said Deppingham, starting up with a look of horror in his eyes, sudden comprehension rushing down upon him. "I wonder if they think I am you, Browne! Horrible!"

The enemy's office hours were from 8 to 5 in the afternoon. Twice a week Miss Pelham came down from the chateau in a gayly bedecked jinkish to sit opposite to him in his study corner of the banking house, his desk between them, her notebook trembling with propriety. Mr. Britt generously lent the pert lady to the enemy in exchange for what he catalogued as "happy days."

Miss Pelham made it a point to look as fascinating as possible on the occasion of these interesting trips into the enemy's territory.

The enemy, doing his duty by his client with a determination that seemed incontestable, was the last to realize that an intrigue was shaping itself to combat his endeavors. Von Blitz, openly his friend and ally, despite their sad encounter, was the thorn which pricked the natives into a state of uneasiness and doubt as to their agent's sincerity.

They began to believe that no good could come out of the daily meetings of the three lawyers.

It was Von Blitz who told the leading men of the island that their wives—the Persians, the Circassians, the Egyptians and the Turkish houris—were in love with the tall stranger. It was he who advised them to observe the actions, to study the moods of their women.

The German knew the condition of affairs in his own household. His overthrown at the hands of the American had cost him more than physical agony; his wives openly expressed an admiration for their champion. Every eye in Japan was upon him; every hand was turning against him.

It was Miss Pelham who finally took it upon herself to warn the lonely American. The look of surprise and disgust that came into his face brought her up sharply.

"Miss Pelham," he said coldly, "will you be kind enough to carry my condolences to the ladies at court and say that I recommended reading as an antidote for the poison which idleness produces. Neither my home nor my barroom is open to ladies. If you don't mind we'll go on with this report."

Miss Pelham flushed and looked very uncomfortable.

"You're wrong about Lady Deppingham and Mrs. Browne," she began hurriedly. "They've never said anything mean about you. It was just my miserable way of putting it. The talk comes from the islanders. Mr. Browne has told Mr. Britt and Mr. Saunders. He thinks Von Blitz is working against you, and he is sure that all of the men are furiously jealous."

"Perhaps there is something in what you say. I'm grateful to you for preparing me." It had suddenly come to mind that the night before he had seen a man skulking in the vicinity of the bungalow.

"I just thought I'd tell you," murmured Miss Pelham nervously. "I don't want to see you get into trouble—none of us."

"Thank you." After a long pause he went on, lowering his voice: "Miss Pelham, I have had a hard time here in more ways than I care to speak of. It may interest you to know that I had decided to resign next month and go home. I'm a living man, and a living man objects to a living death. But I've changed my mind. I'll stick my time out. I've got three months longer to stay, and I'll stay. If Von Blitz thinks he can drive me out, he's mistaken. I'll be here after you and your friends have sailed away."

Miss Pelham—God bless you, you're white—and I'll be here when Von Blitz and his wives are dancing to the tunes I play. Now let's get back to work. If Von Blitz is working in the dark, I'll compel him to show his hand. And, Miss Pelham," he concluded very slowly, "I'll promise to use a club, if necessary, to drive the Persian ladies away. So please rest easy on my account."

The next morning the town bustled with a new excitement. A trim, beautiful yacht, flying strange colors, steamed into the little harbor of Ararat. Every eye knew that the yacht brought the princess who was to visit her ladyship.

The enemy came down from his bungalow, attracted by the unusual and inspiring spectacle of a ship at anchor. A line of anxiety marked his brow. Two figures had watched his windows all night long, sinister shadows that always met his eye when it penetrated the gloom of the moonlit forest.

Lord and Lady Deppingham were on the pier before him. Excitement and joy illumined her face. Her eyes were sparkling with anticipation. He could almost see that she trembled in her eagerness. He came quite close to them before they saw him. Exclamations of delight were responsive for the very agreeable smile of recognition that she bestowed upon him. The enemy could do no less than to bow to them.

with his pleasant acknowledgment. His rugged face relaxed into a most charming, winsome smile, half dimpled, half assured.

He passed among the wives of his clients without so much as a sign of recognition, coolly indifferent to the admiring glances that sought his face. The dark, languorous eyes that flashed eager admiration a moment before now turned sullen with disappointment. He had ignored their owners.

"I have heard that you expect a visitor," said the enemy in his most agreeable manner.

"Won't you go aboard with us?" asked Deppingham, at a loss for anything better to say. The enemy shook his head and smiled.

"You are very good, but I believe my place is here."

"The princess is to be with me for a month. We expect more sunshine than ever at the chateau," ventured her ladyship.

"I sincerely hope you may be disappointed," said he commiseratingly, fanning himself with his hat. She laughed and understood, but Deppingham was halfway out to the yacht before it became clear to him that the enemy looked literally, not figuratively.

The enemy sauntered back to the American bar, lonelier than ever before in his life. He now knew what it was that he had missed more than all else—woman.

Britt and Saunders were waiting for him under the awning outside.

"Hello!" called Britt. "We saw you down there, but couldn't get near. By ginger, old man, I had no idea your Persians were so beautiful. They are oriental gems of—"

"My Persians? What the devil do you mean, Britt? Come in and sit down; I want to talk to you fellows. See here, this talk about these women has got to be stopped. It's dangerous for you, and it's dangerous for me. It is so full of peril that I don't care to look at them, handsome as you say they are. Do you know what I was thinking of as I came over here after leaving one of the most charming of women—your Lady Deppingham? I was thinking of a wretched famine there is in women. I'm speaking of women like Lady Deppingham and Mrs. Browne, neither of whom I know, and yet I've known them all my life—the kind of women we love, not the kind we despise or pity. Don't you see? I'm hungry for the very sight of a woman."

"You see Miss Pelham often enough," said Saunders surlily. The enemy was making a pitcher of lemonade.

"My dear Saunders, you are quite right. I do see Miss Pelham often enough. In my present frame of mind I'd fall desperately in love with her if I saw her often." Saunders blinked and glared at him through his pale eyes.

"My word!" he said. Then he got up abruptly and stalked out of the room. Britt laughed immediately.

"He's a lucky dog," reflected the enemy. "You see, he loves her, Britt—he loves little Miss Pelham. Do you know what that means? It means everything is worth while. Hello! Here he is back! Come in, Saunders. Here's your lemon!"

Saunders was excited. He stopped in the doorway, but looked over his shoulder into the street.

"Come along!" he exclaimed. "They are going up to the chateau—the princess and her party. My word, she's ripping!"

At the corner they stopped to await the procession of palanquins and jinkishas which had started from the pier. The smart English victoria from the chateau, drawn by Wyckholme's thoroughbreds, was coming on in advance of the foot brigade. In the rear seat of the victoria sat Lady Deppingham.

His helmet came off with a rush; a dashed smile of recognition lighted his face.

ham and one who evidently was the princess. Opposite to them sat two old but no less smart looking women.

"A gala day in Ararat," observed the staid Mr. Britt. "We are to have the whole party overnight up at the chateau. Hello! By thunder, old man, she's speaking to you!" He turned in astonishment to look at his companion's face.

The enemy was staring, transfixed, at the young woman in white who sat beside Lady Deppingham. He seemed paralyzed for the moment. Then his helmet came off with a rush; a dashed smile of recognition lighted his face.

The very pretty young woman in the wide hat was leaning forward and smiling at him, a startled, uncertain look in her eyes. Lady Deppingham was glancing open mouthed from one to the other.

"I must be dreaming," murmured the enemy.

Britt took him by the arm. "Do you know her?" he asked. The enemy turned upon him with a radiant gleam in his once sullen, disconsolate eyes.

"Do you think I'd be grinning at her like a fool if I didn't? Why the dickens didn't you tell me that it was the Princess Generosa of Happy-Thorberg who was coming?"

Salisbury People Are Pleased To Learn How It Is Done.

It's pretty hard to attend to duties with a constantly aching back; Doan's Kidney Pills make work easier. They cure backache. They cure kidney ills. Noah F. Jenkins, 506 S. Division Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "You are at liberty to use my name as one who praises Doan's Kidney Pills highly, for I know that they are a good remedy for kidney trouble. I was a victim of this complaint for fifteen years and I suffered severely. I was unable to do much work that required stooping on account of my back being so painful and was annoyed to quite an extent by irregular passages of the kidney secretions, particularly during the night. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them, I have had no severe attacks of my old trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SHE WAS CALLED "POOR THING"

Had a Way of Sitting Silently at Her Work, Listening.

Pity is certainly a kindly sentiment; nevertheless it can be so bestowed as to cast a doubt upon its right to a place among the virtues. There was an old-time seamstress of West Hentley, who, if words were all, was beyond doubt the most tender-hearted person in the village; indeed, her favorite expression of compassion had finally passed into a nickname for herself. She was known behind her back as "Poor Thing."

Poor Thing was not much of a talker. She had a way of sitting silently bent over her work, always with a mouth full of pins, listening to what other people had to say. Only at the end of the conversation would she extract her pins long enough to contribute her share. Perhaps the speakers had been eulogizing the abilities of a noted house-keeper.

"Yes, poor thing!" she would sigh. "Fortunate, now, isn't it, she can turn her mind to preserves and pickles and pie-baking, the way she does. She couldn't take much comfort in her children, that's sure—four-putting, rampaging creturs. I s'pose it's a compensation."

Or the beauty of some blooming young girl would have received a tribute of praise. "She's real pretty-appearing," the seamstress would agree, mournfully. "She certainly is—but then those delicate-featured, light-complected folks never keep their looks more'n a few years. She'll fade right out before she's twenty-five, poor thing!"

Again, the prosperity of a neighboring farmer was discussed and his ability admired.

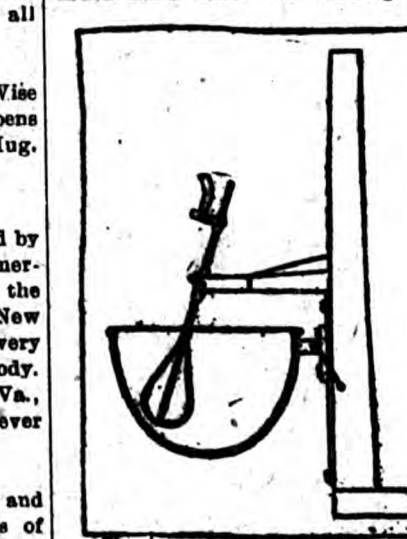

"Drivers, both of 'em—Mirandy and he," she would agree, promptly. "I don't doubt they've earned every mite of it. I never knew such folks for driving. There ain't any loafing 'round their place, nor any resting, either. My land, but they keep things moving! I can tell you they make the children step lively about chores. I dare say it's good for 'em, or it would be if they weren't so little—but there, I can't help pity-'em, poor things!"

Poor Thing was a good worker, but she never became popular with her fellow villagers, which, considering her concern over all their woes and failings, was rather hard on her—poor thing!

ELECTRIC EGG BEATER.

Much Time and Labor Saved by This Invention.

Electricity having been used for almost every purpose under the sun, now it has recently been harnessed up by a Jersey City man to beat eggs. In any hotel or bakery where eggs are used in large quantities and where they require beating as for a cake, this electric beater will be a welcome addition. It not only saves much hard work—for beating eggs is no child's play—but it does the job better and much more expeditiously than it can be done by hand. Like most electrical devices it is a case of you press the button and the machine does the rest. The beater consists of a vertical shaft, with an arm holding the egg-beater shaft. Below this is an adjustable bracket, provided with a bowl in which the eggs are placed. By pressing the button the beater revolves swiftly in the bowl and as the power and speed of the stroke does not vary the eggs are beaten with unusual consistency.—Washington Star.

Testing Baby's Bath.

Theoretically every mother ought to have a thermometer to test the baby's bath water; obviously every-one does not. However, it is manifestly unsafe to rely on the time-honored method of testing with the hand, as much infant discomfort, even real injury, may result from the thermometer. A good substitute for the thermometer is the mother's bare elbow applied to the water. Not being accustomed to extremes of heat and cold, as is the hand, the flesh of the elbow responds quickly to the slightest change of temperatures from blood heat, thus indicating the degree of warmth required.

Society of Whales.

The Society of Whales is a new organization. Every young wife who belongs and the title of the society is taken from the title of a bride who has her husband. She would believe him if he said he saw a whale swimming up Commercial street after she has been married for a few months she drops from the club.

Paul Before Festus and Agrippa

Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 24, 1909
Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Acts 24:1-23. Memory verses 1-23.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against all day."—2 Tim. 1:12.

TIME.—Autumn of A. D. 58 or 59. PLACE.—Caesarea, the Roman capital of Palestine. AGRIPPA was king of the regions north of the Sea of Galilee, with his capital at Caesarea Philippi.

Suggestion and Practical Thought. Three ways of treating the gospel: Exemplified by three representative men—the Apostle Paul; the Roman Governor Festus; King Herod Agrippa II.

Preliminary Events. An Interesting Story.—Acts 25:1-12. First. The new governor. At the close of two years in prison under Felix, there was a change of governors, and Porcius Festus entered upon his duties.

We know nothing concerning him except from the Acts and Josephus. "Josephus tells us that he governed his stormy province with a wise, firm rule, putting down the Sicarii (assassins), and other predatory companies, who were then harassing the Jews. He finds no fault with Festus."

Second. The Plot to Take Paul's Life.—The first thing the new governor did after landing at Caesarea was to go up to Jerusalem, the Jewish capital, where were centered the most difficult persons and questions with which his administration would have to do.

The Jewish rulers devised an ingenious plot to obtain possession of Paul. They poured into the ears of the new governor all the charges Tertullus had brought against Paul, and these charges were clearly for breaking the Jewish law. On the way from Caesarea to Jerusalem they proposed to assassinate Paul, just as they had hoped to do two years before, but now with much better chances than before of accomplishing their purpose.

Third. The Appeal to Caesar.—On returning to Caesarea, accompanied by the Jewish rulers, Governor Festus summoned Paul into court where they emphasized these (v. 7) "many and grievous complaints," and asked Paul if he were willing to go up to Jerusalem for his trial.

Paul stood up "four square to all the winds that blow" for his rights as a Roman citizen. His independent manhood speaks out: "I defy their charges; I will not go to Jerusalem to be tried by my enemies; I appeal unto Caesar."

1. Paul's Discourse Before King Agrippa; Revealing How He Treated Jesus Christ and His Gospel.—Acts 26:13-26:23. The Royal Assemblage.—King Herod Agrippa made a visit of congratulation to Governor Festus. With him came the beautiful and fascinating Bernice, who was both his sister and his illegitimate wife. She was also the sister of Drusilla the wife of Felix, and a disolute.

Festus was puzzled to know what charges to send with Paul to Rome. For Paul was no such criminal as the Jews tried to make him out. He had broken no Roman law. Hence he asked Agrippa, who was a Jew, to help him out of this dilemma.

Paul's strongest argument was the fact that he (v. 19) "was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision," but he practiced what he believed, and gave his whole life, amid labors and perils and weariness, in hunger and thirst, and cold and nakedness, persecution, stonings, stripes above measure, shipwrecks and painfulness (2 Cor. 11), to urging Jews and Gentiles to (v. 20) "repent and turn to God, and do works meet for repentance" as he himself had done.

The charges against Paul were false. For the Jews (v. 21) "were about to kill" him because he proclaimed the very Messiah they were expecting, the fulfillment of their hopes.

22. "Having therefore obtained help of God," "Help" in the Greek meant originally an alliance against enemies, such aid as a warrior receives from auxiliary or allied forces. God was Paul's powerful ally. "Witness both to small and great," referring to age, rank, and position. Paul treated all alike, rich and poor, learned and unlearned; obscure and famous, despised and honored. "Saying none other things," etc.

The Decision of the Court.—Vs. 30-32. The court decided that Paul was innocent, and might have been set at liberty had he not appealed to Caesar; but that the appeal must stand. "The whole process of two years and more at Jerusalem and Caesarea, ended in a public and decisive acquittal. Claudius Lysias, Festus and Agrippa, had each declared him innocent; three times was it publicly announced of the apostle, as of his Lord, that he had done (v. 31) "nothing worthy of death." But this decision was the means of bringing him safely to Rome.

It made a favorable impression on the Roman officer who took him there, and upon the Roman authorities after his arrival. Paul's Discourse.—Paul stretched forth his hand, the common gesture of an orator in opening his address, and commenced his address with "his characteristic union of frankness and courtesy." He appealed to the one good point of Agrippa's had character and life, not only because it was a courteous and fitting thing to do, but because it was the only way to open Agrippa's heart to the gospel.

Then for the third time in the Acts is related the story of his conversion, the wondrous change wrought in himself by Jesus Christ.

PASSES 91ST YEAR

Mrs. Mary A. Trader Still Comparatively
Noble And Healthy.

Mrs. Mary A. Trader, mother of Police Justice William A. Trader, of this city will reach her 91 birthday next Monday and her children will be present to help her celebrate the event. Mrs. Trader is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, inhabitant of Salisbury. She can well remember when the city was a straggling village built along one street with one general store and the typical blacksmith's shop. The combined ages of Mrs. Trader and her six living children aggregate 486 years and a few months. Her children and their ages are as follows:

Thomas A. Trader, 70 years, one month and 18 days.
A. P. Trader, 68 years, seven months and 18 days.
J. H. Trader, 67 years, nine months and 23 days.
W. A. Trader, 64 years, one month and nine days.
R. A. Trader, 63 years, three months and 26 days.

There are 18 grand-children and 11 great-grand-children living. Mrs. Trader is in remarkably good health for a woman of her age. All her faculties except her eyesight are unimpaired.

Letter to F. C. Wallis.
Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir:—Here's a mail order paint—there are several such—45 per cent of its solid part is barytes and whiting, and 55 per cent of its oil is benzine and water; the rest is zinc, lead and oil.

Barytes whiting benzine and water have nothing to do with paint, except to make more gallons for victims to buy at $5 a gallon put on.

$5 a gallon put on will buy the best paint there is in the world: here's a hint, about half neither pigment nor oil, imposed on the unsuspecting.

What is the remedy? What is the victim to do? Do you favor a pure paint law in your State?

North Dakota has lately passed such a law; it is worth, we presume $5 a year to the average man. What is wanted, of course, is paint of such strength that 10 gallons will do a 10 gallon job and wear a long time. Devote is that paint. Should counterfeits be put down by law?

Yours truly,

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A GREAT MISSIONARY

Meeting Now in Progress at Trinity M. E. Church, South.

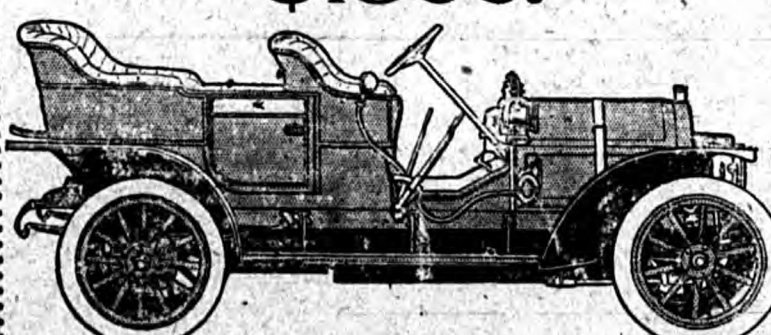

The great missionary meeting which began last Sunday in Trinity M. E. Church, South has continued all the week with unabated interest. Good crowds of earnest, consecrated Christian men and women have greeted the speakers and it is expected that the large union meeting on Sunday night to hear Rev. Walter R. Lambuth, D. D., one of the greatest Missionary Secretaries of the world, will be a fitting close to a successful meeting.

The first speaker in the series was Rev. A. F. Parker, D. D. of Shanghai, China, who delivered four admirable addresses on the needs and outlook of missionary enterprises in that great empire of the East. He set forth in felicitous phrase the work both direct and indirect which has been accomplished during the hundred years but said: "we cannot measure the success of the work by the number of converts to Christianity; that while there were today 500,000 adherents to the Christian religion, the work was simply preparatory." Now the whole of China was opened, the scriptures were translated into the dialects of the country, schools, hospitals, colleges, etc., were opened and crowded with students, great changes were taking place in the thought life, civilization and government of the people so that the next 25 years would see the whole of the country evangelized.

On Wednesday night Rev. E. H. Rawlings, D. D., gave a very earnest address on the "Laymen's Movement." Thursday night, Rev. J. E. McCall addressed the large crowd on the needs of our mountain white and Southern black population; also the needs of the mill town, mining camp, and the slums of our Southern cities.

Friday night Dr. W. H. Parker, one of the most successful medical missionaries of Soo Chow, China spoke on the value of medicine as an aid to missionary activity.

The young people of the evangelical churches in this county are interested just now in the Annual Convention of the Maryland Christian Endeavor Union which is to be held at Northminster Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, November 9, 10, 11. This is the twentieth Annual Convention of the State organization. Every society in Maryland and there are some two hundred and fifty of them, is expected to be represented by, at least, one delegate, and the Baltimore Committee has invited as many more as can come. The County delegates will be given free entertainment by the City Committee provided they send in their names before November first. Great preparations are being made for this gathering.

Chalmers-Detroit "30" $1500.

FIVE STYLES:

Touring Car, Roadster, Pony Tonneau, Inside-Drive Coupe, and Limousine.

The 1910 Chalmers-Detroit "30" has a 115-inch-wheel base. That's three inches longer than our "40" of last season.

Its wheels are 34 inches, while last season's were 32.

The hood is longer and higher, the tonneau more roomy, and the lines are like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet the price remains $1500. By increasing our output and retaining our chassis, we save enough to make these improvements.

AN OPEN ADDRESS

—TO THE—
Democrats of Wicomico Co.
—FROM THE—
STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

To the Democrats of Wicomico County:

We are now on the home stretch of the present campaign in Wicomico County, and we take this opportunity to call upon all Democrats to line up for the triumphant election of our State and Local tickets. The present fight in this county means much to every citizen, no matter what his political affiliation might be; but we especially urge the Democratic voters and those of Independent thought to vote the Democratic ticket.

The Democratic party has successfully managed our financial affairs for the past 42 years; organized and formed the county; built up all her internal improvements, and has so successfully, honestly, and faithfully performed its duties that today we have one of the most prosperous and growing counties in the State. It is distinctively a county without graft. Our moneys are honestly spent and our affairs honestly managed. We stand today on the eve of an era of greater improvements in all departments of our local government. Our County Commissioners have done some splendid work in the way of building roads, and are now in the midst of carrying this work to far greater lengths. We therefore call upon all our Democrats, as well as those of other political faith, who are interested in seeing this work carried on to completion, to stand out boldly for the Democratic ticket. The conditions in Wicomico County, under Democratic control, have improved year by year, and at the same time our tax rate has been kept down to a minimum, and our assessments on a low basis.

Taking all these things into consideration, we believe that we can appeal to the sounder judgment of our voters, without regard to politics, to "LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE." There certainly can be nothing gained by a change in our local government, and the class of men nominated this year on the Democratic ticket is a guarantee of faithful performance of public duty, along conservative, but progressive lines adopted by the Democratic party in Wicomico County—the bed rock upon which we have built up one of the most prosperous, peaceful, and happy communities in the State of Maryland.

We appeal to you particularly for the passage of the Amendment. The Republicans are trying to befuddle the minds of our voters on its provisions. NO WHITE MAN WILL BE EFFECTED BY THE AMENDMENT. ITS PASSAGE INSURES EVERY WHITE MAN HIS VOTE WITHOUT EXAMINATION OR PROPERTY TEST. EVERY WHITE MAN IN WICOMICO COUNTY CAN REGISTER UNDER THE GRANDFATHER'S CLAUSE, AND NO QUESTIONS ASKED.

We therefore ask you to stand true to the Democratic party in this contest, and to get out and do what you can to help along Democratic victory, both for the Ticket and the Amendment. With best wishes for Democratic success, we are,

Yours Very Truly,

Democratic State Central Committee,

M. V. BREWINGTON, Secretary JAS. T. TRUITT, Chairman

NOVEL SAVINGS BANK.

Combined with Clock Which Cannot Be Wound Until Coin is Deposited.
One of the recent novelties patented is a combined clock and savings bank designed by a Chicago man. Why a savings bank and a clock should be combined will not at once be apparent. The idea would seem ridiculous, as these two articles have no apparent relationship. The purpose of the inventor has merely been to increase the usefulness of the savings bank and assure that it will be constantly employed. He accomplishes this by requiring the deposit of a coin in the bank before the clock can be wound. Unless the coin is deposited the clock becomes useless. The amount of the coin deposited is controlled by the size of the slot in the savings bank. The number of deposits can also be increased by requiring a daily winding of the clock. In this way a certain sum must be added to the bank each day previous to each winding of the clock. After the clock has been wound and the key removed the mechanism assumes its normal position so that the clock cannot be wound again without the deposit of a coin.

UNIQUE VIOLIN.

Addition of Horn Which Greatly Increases Quality and Volume.
Improvements in musical instruments are very rare—in fact, so much so as to be at once noticeable. The latest is shown in the illustration below, invented by a Wisconsin man. This instrument is in many respects like the ordinary violin, having strings, tuning pegs, etc., and is played with a bow. The addition is made of a portion of a horn, the latter serving to increase the volume of sound and also to preserve its purity. The sounds are collected by the horn before they emerge from the violin, and are emitted in an even, smooth tone—not ragged nor disconnected, as is often the case with the ordinary violin. As with a graphophone, the horn increases the volume of the notes many times. The inventor, a musician, claims that this instrument cannot be equalled for solo work and also orchestra music.

Novel Kitchen Utensil.

An inventor in Chicago has devised a frying pan with a cover which may be raised, whenever it is desired to examine the contents of the pan, without danger of burning one's fingers. The cover is formed with an extension, which passes through the handle of the pan. A thumb piece is attached to this extension, and passes vertically through to the upper side of the handle. The cover may then be opened by depressing the thumb piece. Hinged to the handle is a catch, which may be swung over the thumb piece to hold the latter in its depressed position when it is desired to keep the cover of the pan open.

Misleading Opportunities.

"I have no patience with a man who makes the same mistake twice," said Armes, rather severely, in speaking of an unfortunate friend.
"Neither have I," agreed his wife, "when there are so many other men who do."

gives brisk, he turned the lights low,
carried a chair out to the sidewalk,
and, seating himself, lighted a pipe
and was puffing away contentedly
when he had a call. It was Jake Bourron, who came in from the farm with a bunch of hair on his face, the crop of a full week. In his buttonhole was a flower and he wore a pale blue neck-tie, for it was the night he always set apart for his girl.

"Guess I'll try one of your shaves, pop," he remarked, hesitating at the doorstep.

"Not this evening, you won't," observed Dave.

"What's the reason I won't? Ain't this a regular barber shop, and ain't you a regular barber, and ain't you gotta shave anybody that's got the price? And if that's all that's wrong of you, I kin show I've got that all right."

"My boy," said Dave, "I want to work when I want to and not when other people want me. I'll tell you something. I started in this business when I was thirty years old. I'm seventy-three now. That makes sixty years at the shop. I'm the oldest barber in the United States. And all this time I've been working, thinking
I had to. Well, I've just decided that I don't have to and I ain't going to.
Good night."

Has Dave retired?
Not a bit of it. That's merely his declaration of independence. Actually he's working harder than ever.

"But," he says, "I've saved a bit of money, and I'm beholden to no man.
And now on now I'm going to work
till I get tired, and when I get tired
I'm going to lay off if the whole shop's full of people."

"Yes, you bet I've shaved some men in my day. I figure that I've worked on about 6,000 faces and heads
a year on an average for sixty years.
That makes it run upward 360,000 for my sixty years, don't it?"

"Has the human face undergone any change? Well, I should say it has.
And not for the better, either; it seems to me. You don't see any rugged, strong faces any more, like you used to."

"Men's faces used to be hard and big, and the hair on the top of the head was as thick as it was on the chin and jaws. Men are getting to be more like women. Their faces are big enough sometimes, but they're soft and kind of flabby—that old hardness ain't there any more. The hair's all on the face and not on the head."

"There has been a change in the cheek bones. Most young fellows nowadays seem to have kind of high cheek bones. They don't look no more like their granddads than a cat does like a tiger."

"I've figured that we can blame the hats for the bald heads. Men didn't used to be so careful about covering their heads up with all-right straw and the like of that in the hot summer. They used to wear hats that let plenty of air in, and that's what their hair needs more'n anything else. Hair'll never come out if you keep it clean and give it plenty of air."

There's no unsteadiness about Dave for all his sixty years at the shop. One of his favorite jokes is to get a man that he can not hold a pin in his hand, arm stretched horizontally, for ten minutes. It sounds easy, but did you ever try it? Few men can do it.
Dave can.

Dave smokes a good deal. Also he drinks—two beers a day.

"My own idea about this drink business," he says, "is that the more you say to a man that he mustn't take it,
the harder he'll go after it. Now—I was going to say that I'd drink all my life, but never had been drunk—but I was once."

"Let's see—it was after Lincoln's second election—the time he was taken to the White House. I went over there with a lot of other fellows to see Lincoln go through. And I recollect we took a bottle along. Yes, I was pretty well corned up that time. I had the bottle when Lincoln came in.

"How're ye, Abe," I yelled, waving
both hands, one holding the bottle, too.

"He waved back, laughed and said something, I don't know what, though I've studied over it lots of times. I wish I'd had it for I bet you a cookie it was something good. He used to get off some pretty rich things."

"Barbering ain't a trade—it's a profession. I learned my trade in Germany, and I can do surgery. Why, I can bleed a man with the best of doctors. And I know all the diseases of the face and what's good for them.
How many barbers do nowadays? But they ought to."

The Mexican National Exposition is to be held in Puebla in the spring of 1910.

The Sweetest Songster.
Over the breakfast Miss Dorothy,
the enthusiastic ornithologist of the
boarding house, discussed the merits
of the nightingale, lark, thrush and so forth.

"And which, Mr. Hunker," exclaimed Miss Dorothy, "which of all
the songbirds are you fondest of?"

"I prefer the hen, Miss Dorothy."

"But the hen isn't a song-bird at all!" objected Miss Dorothy.

"Well," replied Hunker, tapping
another hard-boiled egg. "It's the only bird whose lay I care for."

Who To Vote For Election Day

On The Democratic Ticket—Integrity, Ability And Progress Is Represented By Platform And Candidates.

Below will be found a brief sketch
of the men whom the democratic party is asking the voters to support at the coming election. Although these men are well known to most of the voters in the County, yet there may be some who are unfamiliar with them
and for this reason we are publishing
the short sketches given below. As will readily be seen by those who are
at all acquainted with these men,
they measure up to the high standard
of the very best ticket of the past,
and if elected the citizens of this County can rest secure in the knowledge that the affairs of the County
will be well managed and the interests of the tax payers safely and carefully guarded.

ERNEST A. TOADVINE.

Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court is probably one of the best known public men in Wicomico
County. He was born in Salisbury,
October 18th, 1880. After graduating in the white school of the county, he entered the Salisbury Academy and the Clerk's office as Deputy to his father, the late Stephen P. Toadvine, and served as Deputy Clerk until he was elected Clerk in 1903. As a public official Mr. Toadvine has been identified with the public interest in this county. Always obliging to the patrons of the office, he has been known by his friends by the hundreds,
not only in his own party, but among Republicans and Progressives as well.
He has made many improvements and
innovations in the manner of keeping the records, until now has what is acknowledged by experts to be the best record office in Maryland. Mr. Toadvine has been a faithful worker in the rank of his party since boyhood and was never known to falter in a fight
in his life. He is a political leader
who is worthy of any man's steel, and is always found on the firing line and always victorious. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias of his district. He is married, has one daughter and lives at the corner of William Street and Park Avenue, this city.
Mr. Toadvine is a director in the Salisbury Building, Loan and Banking Association and has been identified with the development of this well known institution for several years.
In his last campaign he was given a
most flattering vote by the people of Wicomico County and we predict for him a still larger majority at the election in November. Mr. Toadvine had no opposition in his own party at the
primaries, showing his popularity.
He is a member of the Improved Order
of Red Men and a conspicuous member of the Knights of Pythias of this city. Mr. Toadvine is identified with the Presbyterian Church.

JOHN W. DASHIELL.

Mr. Dashiell is the Democratic nominee for Register of Wills. He was born at Tony Tank, a few miles from Salisbury, March 1st, 1885. He is the son of the late Levin M. and Amelia Dashiell. He has for years been engaged in the trucking business and is one of the largest strawberry and blackberry growers in the county. Six years ago he was elected Register of Wills and prior to that time he served one term as Sheriff of the county. Mr. Dashiell is one of the most popular men in the county, numbering his friends by the hundreds in every section. He has given the office of Register of Wills his closest attention and has made many improvements and renovations
among the records. Always obliging
and courteous, the patrons of the office are always sure of the best treatment.

ELISHA E. TWILLEY.

Candidate for the House of Delegates received his nomination at the hands of the people with a very flattering vote. Mr. Twilley was born in this county, January 20, 1860, and is a son of the late Robert and Hester Twilley. He spent his early days on a farm coming to Salisbury shortly before the last great fire and started in the barber business with Mr. Greenleaf Hearn. Mr. Twilley has served in the City Council of Salisbury, and was assistant Engrasser.

ing Clerk of the Maryland Senate at the session of 1900. He was taken a great interest in Democratic politics. He is a member of the official board of the Methodist Episcopal Church of this city. Mr. Twilley is one of the most prominent men in this State and is a great keeper of Wicomico at this time. He is also a member of Wicomico lodge No. 91, A.
F. & A. M., and was at one time master of the lodge. He is a Heptasoph as well.

JOHN W. WINGATE.

Democratic nominee for the House of Delegates was born at White Haven, this county, February 19th, 1863. His father, Lemuel Wingate, was one of the well known citizens of that section of the county. Mr. Wingate has been in the mercantile business for many years and has a wide reputation of a high class citizen wherever he is known. He has always been a Democrat and is a man of sterling character and a gentleman under all circumstances. He was at one time Deputy Sheriff of the County and has performed his duties to the strict letter of the law, there was probably no more popular officer ever
in the County. He is a member of the Police Schooner "Franklin", and
while he performed his duties to the
strict letter of the law, there was
probably no more popular officer ever
in the County. He is a member of
the Police Schooner "Franklin", and
while he performed his duties to the
strict letter of the law, there was
probably no more popular officer ever
in the County.

Democratic candidate for Sheriff,
was born in Wicomico County, this county, February 19th, 1864. His parents were David M. and Martha Kelley. Mr. Kelly taught school in this county for six years and was assigned for many years in farming

and more keeping
at Kelly's Post Office where he was postmaster in 1897-98. He attends the Methodist Protestant
Church and is a member of the Farmers range.
Mr. Kelly is one
of the best Democrats in the county. He was
for several years
a candidate for Sheriff, but when
some one else was nominated he never failed in his allegiance to the party.
He was always faithful and did his share of the work for the ticket.

P. TAYLOR BAKER.

Candidate for the House of Delegates from Pittsburg District, is a well known citizen of Wicomico. Mr.
Baker has been identified with the life of the county on the East side for many years. He is a man who numbers his friends by the hundreds and has always been in the front ranks fighting for Democracy. He was born at Pittsville,
January 12th, 1856. He is the son of Albert and Clara Baker.
His father is one of the old time
war horses of the county.

Democracy in Wicomico County and has probably voted as many Democratic tickets as any man in the county. The son takes after the father as to his sterling worth and honesty of character. Mr. Baker has had some experience at Annapolis on the engineering committee in 1900. He is an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and a member of the order of Junior Mechanics. He is engaged in farming and trucking and is a man of some importance in his community.

WILLIAM M. COOPER.

Nominee for County Commissioner was born April 7th, 1863, near Martinsburg. He is the son of the late Lambert H. and Martha Bradley Cooper. Mr. Cooper was educated in the public schools of the county and graduated at the Maryland Military Academy at Oxford. He has been a resident of Salisbury and connected with many of her leading concerns for a number of years. His first work in this city
was the local editor of the Advertiser, then owned by Thomas Perry, and when the Wicomico Building &
Loan Association was organized Mr.
Cooper was elected its secretary. In position he has occupied ever since.
He has been one of the foremost members in building up this large business. He is also a director of the People's National Bank and the Home of the Knights of Pythias of this city. He is a man of high moral standing, and has been one of the progressive men of Salisbury for a number of years. Four years ago he consented to accept the nomination for County Commissioner and was elected. President of the Board. His magnificent work accomplished for the upbuilding of the county during the four years he has been in the office has been so marked that there was a general demand for his re-nomination this year. Mr.
Cooper is a man well versed in handling finances and is one of the most valuable officers the county has ever had. While it is a sacrifice to his private business to accept the duties of the office, he is so interested in the welfare and upbuilding of the county that he sets aside his private interests for his public duties.

WILLIAM P. WARD.

Candidate for County Commissioner is now a resident of Parsons District.
Mr. Ward was born in this district July 18th, 1867. For many years he lived in Nutter's District, where he was always a prominent worker in the Democratic party. His father, William P. Ward, was an old line Democrat, and all the Ward family have always been true
to the principles of Democracy.
Mr. Ward has never held public office, but served
one term as engineering clerk at Annapolis. He attends the Methodist Protestant Church, and is now engaged in farming and trucking on his farm on the shell road near this city.
He is a member of the Farmers Grange and an Old Fellow. Mr. Ward made a strong run in the primaries and is very popular with the people who know him. He is a hustling young man who will make his mark in the office, as he is well qualified for the work, and a large portion of it relating to road improvement.

ORLANDO W. TAYLOR.

Mr. Taylor is a member of a large and representative family in this county. He lives on the "Farrington" farm in Quantico District where he has a splendid old colonial mansion with hospitality
always open to
all. Mr. Taylor is a farmer and lumber dealer as well as a large canner. He is a man of affairs generally. He was born in Rockwell, in September 3rd,
1855, and is a son of the late John
and Emily Taylor.
His father was a large land owner,
and the family is one of the best known in the county.
They have always been Democrats and no member of the family has before been nominated for county office. Mr.
Taylor is popular with the people of the county and is especially well known on the West side and in Salisbury. He will make an splendid County Commissioner, as he is a man of excellent knowledge
and well balanced mind. His popularity was demonstrated in the primaries where he was given a most flattering vote in almost every district in the county.

JOSIAS CLAYTON KELLEY.

Democratic candidate for Sheriff,
was born in Wicomico County, this
county, February 19th, 1864. His parents were David M. and Martha Kel-
ley. Mr. Kelly taught school in this county for six years and was as-

signed for many
years in farming
and more keeping
at Kelly's Post Office where he
was postmaster in 1897-98. He attends the Methodist Protestant
Church and is a member of the Farmers range.
Mr. Kelly is one
of the best Democrats in the county. He was
for several years
a candidate for Sheriff, but when
some one else was nominated he never
failed in his allegiance to the party.
He was always faithful and did his
share of the work for the ticket.

PETER S. SHOCKLEY.

Democratic nominee for County
Surveyor was born in Worcester County July 1, 1855, and was educated in the public schools of that county and afterwards took a course at Eastman's College. He was elected surveyor of Worcester Co., in 1880 and was re-elected twice afterwards. In 1889 he moved to Salisbury, where he has since resided.
Mr. Shockley
has been elected County Surveyor
of this county several times. He is a competent civil engineer and has so engaged in the insurance business.
He now does a large business as an engineer.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

Saturday's Democratic Mass Meeting Shows A United Party, Enthusiastic For The Ticket And Amendment.

Saturday saw one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings seen in Salisbury for some time, and the size of the crowd together with the evident interest taken in the meeting and the issue of the campaign is but another evidence that Wicomico County is in first class shape this year and will give the nominees on the Democratic ticket a larger majority than usual. The afternoon meeting was addressed by United States Senator John Walter Smith and Congressman J. Harry Covington. Senator Smith's speech was as usual full of solid facts and arguments which will be hard for the Republicans to meet. We give some extracts from his afternoon address:

"I want to bring you good news from Baltimore City. Unless all signs fail, 15,000 white men in the city of Baltimore who fought the Poe Amendment four years ago are heart and soul with us for the present amendment."

"Ten days ago I had the honor to address a meeting, with Senator Rayner, at the Princess Theatre. The tremendous audience was made up largely of foreign-born voters, and a more attentive, appreciative and enthusiastic audience I have never faced, with every man there for the amendment."

"And, while they needed no conversion themselves, they were anxious to hear, learn and secure facts and arguments to combat the persistent and systematic misstatements made by Republican speakers and Republican papers about the amendment."

"And things were said at that meeting the Republicans cannot explain away—cannot contradict."

"I told those people in Baltimore that they have the second largest negro population of any city on earth and that the colored people of this State furnish one-fifth of the total population and three-fifths of the total criminals in the penitentiary."

"I told them that here in Maryland for years and years we Democrats have been trying to encourage the negro to strengthen him where he is weak, to raise him up to be a better, a more industrious citizen, for we cannot get rid of the colored brother, and now that he and his relations are here we must make the best out of bad conditions."

For Negro Education, $336,000.

"We have been spending somewhere in the neighborhood of $336,000 a year on negro education, in Maryland. Last year you people of Wicomico County spent over $3,300 on colored schools, and we in Worcester got hit a little harder and spent over $6,000 on them."

"But in spite of all we have done and all we can do, the negro has remained with us several hundred years an unassimilated, shiftless mass, with more than one-third of the race as benighted and ignorant as their forefathers were in Africa."

"We cannot turn the 237,000 negroes in Maryland loose to prey upon the taxpayers, to squander the money wrong by taxation from our farmers and property owners to support the schools for the negroes as well as the whites, to build roads, to keep up public property, to maintain proper police protection so that our lives and the safety of our women will not be in jeopardy every hour."

"We must retain the control of local affairs, particularly in the counties in white hands, else your county and mine will be uninhabitable."

Appeals To Women Of The State.

"And I want to see the women of Maryland rise up in their might and fight for the ratification of this amendment for the elimination of the criminal, superstitious, idle and ignorant class from pernicious activity in politics, which means more to the white women of Maryland than to any other class."

"You know in this county that before you white taxpayers can say who shall levy and collect your taxes, or who shall distribute your public funds or who shall represent the county's interests at Annapolis and safeguard her welfare that on the morning of election day you are met by more than 1,200 negro voters."

"You know that you must poll 1,300 white votes to cancel those unthinking black votes and that 1,300 white men in this county are virtually disfranchised because their voting strength is necessary to counter-balance the makeweight of the colored vote."

"Each of your 600 white Republicans in Wicomico County virtually casts in an average three votes at every election—his own and two negro votes."

"No one can say that is fair; and of all partisan results it seems to me the most heinous for each white Republican to boast and use three times the voting influence of each Democrat in Wicomico county elections."

Congressman Covington also made a fine speech and delivered some telling blows in favor of the Amendment and the election of the Democratic ticket. As he was scheduled to speak at Easton that night he was compelled to make his speech shorter than he intended in order to catch a special train for that point.

At Night.

The night meeting was perhaps larger than the one in the afternoon and the hall was filled to overflowing long before the hour announced for the speaking to commence. This meeting was addressed by Dr. Herring, the candidate for comptroller, and Gov. Crothers. Dr. Herring in his remarks called attention to the disfranchisement of the voters of the District of Columbia as the first time the attempt was ever made to disfranchise the negro and claimed that this was done by a republican congress to prevent negro domination in the District of Columbia and said:

"The coming election is to determine that same question for Maryland; a question that has already been settled in Southern States, and settled to the joy of all by the adoption of just such an amendment to the Constitution as we are proposing for ours."

We appeal to the voters of our State in the name of good government to rally to the support of this amendment."

Governor Crothers, as he stepped upon the front of the stage, was received with great applause. It was noticed by several young ladies that Gov. Crothers, who is one of the most popular Governors Maryland has ever had, especially among the farmers in Wicomico County, who appreciate what he has done to help them get good roads, was given an enthusiastic greeting when he stepped upon the stage. Gov. Crothers, after advocating the election of the local nominees on the Democratic ticket, gave most of his attention to the suffrage question and in the course of his remarks said:

"That although the Republicans were trying to make the voters think that the passage of the Amendment would disfranchise foreign voters they were well aware that not a single white voter in the State would lose his vote by its passage. Gov. Crothers stated that he was through with office holding and at the expiration of his term he would retire to private life. That then he would probably join meeting and get married and thus amount to something. His remarks about retiring at the expiration of his present term, while received by a respectful silence on the part of his audience, yet it was plain to see did not meet with their approbation, but his announced intention of joining meeting and getting married struck the right chord and was received with great applause."

The afternoon meeting was called to order by A. M. Jackson, Esq., who introduced Sen. J. D. Price, as chairman of the meeting. Sen. Price, on taking the chair, made a very strong plea for the election of the ticket and the adoption of the Suffrage Amendment.

Mr. J. T. Hayman called the evening meeting to order and introduced Hon. Jas. E. Ellegood as the presiding officer. Mr. Ellegood, in his remarks stated that while he was opposed to the Poe Amendment on account of some of its provisions, that he was very much in favor of the present Amendment and would vote for it and do what he could to have it adopted at the coming election. As Mr. Ellegood is known all over the County as a man who does his own thinking and never gives any measure his support until after carefully weighing the question, his advocacy of the Amendment will probably mean a great many votes for it on next Tuesday.

THE VOTE OF WHITE CITIZENS WILL BE SAFE.

The suffrage amendment will not deprive white citizens, either native or foreign born, of their votes.

WHITE CITIZENS NOW ENTITLED TO VOTE AND THEIR DESCENDANTS, HEREAFTER, WILL NOT BE REQUIRED TO PASS ANY EDUCATIONAL OR OTHER TEST.

WHITE CITIZENS NOW ENTITLED TO VOTE, AND THEIR DESCENDANTS, HEREAFTER, WILL NOT BE REQUIRED TO OWN PROPERTY OR BE SUBJECT TO ANY PROPERTY QUALIFICATION WHATSOEVER.

Those who try to persuade white citizens, native or foreign born, that they will have to undergo some kind of examination are trying to deceive them.

Those who try to persuade white citizens that a property qualification will be required of them are trying to deceive them.

Don't be fooled by them. You will be able to vote as freely under the suffrage amendment as you do at present. Your vote will be as secure as it is today.

Remember what President Taft says:—"The Amendment is deliberately drawn to impose educational and other qualifications upon negroes and to exempt everybody else from such qualifications."

DEPUTY SHERIFF HURT

Mr. Waller and Mr. Crouch And The Result Of Difficulties Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff Waller was struck over the head with a club by Jas. Crouch, one of the City Policemen and night-watchman, Saturday evening. According to the account given by Mr. Waller, he was at his home in front of the Jail talking with some friends when Mr. Crouch came up and asked him where the bar of the door of the Court House was. One of Mr. Crouch's duties is to see that the Court House is locked up every night. Mr. Waller told him he did not know where the bar was. Afterwards Mr. Waller went into the Court House with some friends, and according to his account, had been there but a few minutes when he again met Mr. Crouch and some words were passed in regard to the lost bar. Mr. Waller then says he was looking around the radiator close to the door of the Clerk of Court's office feeling with his foot for the missing bar, when he felt something hit him over the head. He still thought that something had fallen on him from the transom and turned his head around to ascertain what it was when Crouch struck him a terrific blow over his head knocking him practically senseless.

Mr. Waller was assisted to his home and for some time it was feared his condition was serious.

According to Mr. Crouch, we understand, the blow was given in self defence. Mr. Waller, according to his account after some words struck him and made an attempt to reach in his pocket as though looking for a weapon and then struck him. Mr. Crouch was arrested and put under bail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. A. Trader.

A hearing will be held before the latter officer on Nov. 4th. It is said that had feeling has existed between the men for some time.

The Summit

The chill of autumn seemed now to have touched the blood of all things. Since early summer the artist and his hostess' daughter had roamed the fields and sailed the river together in congenial companionship. Finding a marked talent in the country girl he had taught her to draw and to use the brush, kindly predicting a creditable future for her as an artist. The art lessons had brought them much together. It was the old story of the man of the world, seeking his amusement and selfishly regarding the simple moth fluttering about the candle; and of the inexperienced country girl, her fancy and her heart captivated by the first cultured man she had ever met.

In order to attain to the place that his gifts entitled him to he must have money and social position, and to obtain these he must marry wisely. Gradually he had brought home to her benumbed comprehension that he must marry a wife whose wealth and social position would furnish stepping stones to the recognition which his talents deserved. His heart awoke him as he saw the girlish face pale and the soft eyes fill, and his conscience whispered uncomfortable things. He knew his power to charm and he had used it. But then, he assured the reproachful voice within, he had been sincere, he was really deeply fond of her, and it was hard for him too. So he fell to pitying himself for the fate that divided them. His first duty was to his art; his own selfish happiness must be sacrificed to that.

"You, too, will become a great artist," he said kindly, as he took the little icy hand in parting. And the trembling lips murmured "Yes."

The exhibition was crowded. Everybody was there—the fashionable and the unfashionable, the artistic and the ugly, the connoisseur and the ignoramus, the art lover and the sightseer. Everybody seemed to be moving in an opposite direction from everybody else, and everybody seemed to be halting before the very picture which everybody else wished at that particular moment to see. Everybody craned his or her neck as a tall, fine-featured man entered the room. "Hugh Campbell, the artist," whispered everybody who knew, and everybody who didn't know soon did. The groups separated and made way for the distinguished painter and his companions as they made a tour of the room. Suddenly the artist stepped before one of the canvases. A bleak mountain loomed darkly to the heavens, its summit lost in clouds, skillfully suggesting soft heaps of iridescent bubbles. A horrible scene was made by his steed up the jagged side. He was disheveled, haggard, wild, leaning over the neck of his horse, his eyes upon the bubbles overhead, and one arm outstretched eagerly toward the invisible peak. In the path-way behind him lay a woman's prostrate form, struck down by the horse of the rider, who was blind to all save what his glaring eye could see in the clouds. It was a striking, fascinating picture, strongly handled. Everybody consulted his or her catalogue to see what the celebrated Mr. Campbell found worthy of so long a study. The picture was called "Ambition," and the artist was Kathryn Field.

Mr. Hugh Campbell was waiting in the drawing room of Miss Kathryn Field. His artistic eye noted with approval the taste of the furnishings and the fine reserve and discrimination in the collection of art treasures. She entered the room, calm and beautiful, greeting him cordially and without affectation.

"I am glad to congratulate you upon the attainment of your ambition," she said simply. "Your pictures are indeed wonderful."

"And you," he said, "have fulfilled my prophecy. You have exceeded my expectations. Your picture, 'Ambition,' shows fine perception as well as rare artistic skill. Owing to my long absence in Europe I have not watched your growth and you have burst upon me as a splendid surprise."

She smilingly acknowledged his praise. She was moved with a vague sense of pity as she saw the change that had taken place in his face. The lines were hard, cut deep by dissatisfaction, cynicism and mental unrest. His eyes were sad. She had heard when he lost his wife. Perhaps he had cared for her after all.

He was speaking again. "Your traveler will reach the summit in the clouds. What will he find? Fame—bubbles. Not worth the sacrifice. He has slain love, the only thing worth striving for. But the fool doesn't know it. I hope your picture will wake up some poor wretch before it is too late."

His tone and his look filled her with alarm. They spoke of love for her. She hastened to turn the tide.

"That was painted some years ago," she said lightly. "The feelings that inspired it have passed away. I am glad if you think it will do good. Mr. Dempsey never liked the picture. I have told him of you and of how you gave me my first start in my work. Of course you have not heard I am to be married next month."

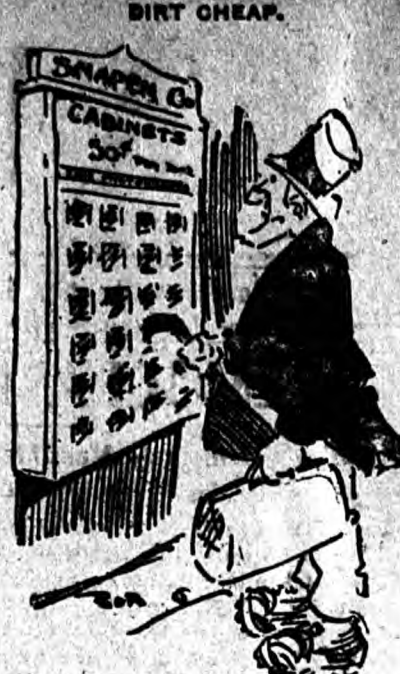

She talked on, without looking at him.

"I'm sorry you must go so soon," she said as he rose. His face looked drawn, but he smiled as he congratulated her. "I'm going to preach sermons on your picture," he said. "I'll tell the poor devils not to throw away the precious things of life for the bubbles they'll find at the summit."

[The Cook expedition was equipped at Gloucester, Mass., and was ready to start on July 3, 1907. Dr. Cook and Rudolph Brancie were put ashore at Annotok, Greenland, with ample stores and during the winter made preparations for the polar dash. On Feb. 15, 1908, the main expedition started for the pole with eleven men, 105 dogs and eleven heavily loaded sleds. Going a little north of west, the party on March 15 reached the northern end of Heiberg island. Here the expedition divided, six men returning, the rest to the pole now began. On March 18 twenty-six miles were made and the next day twenty-one. Then two more of the men returned, leaving only two young Eskimos to accompany Dr. Cook, with two loaded sledges and twenty-six dogs. On March 20 sixteen miles were covered, twenty-nine miles on the 21st, twenty-two the following day and afterward for several days an average of seven or eight miles. Near the northern edge of Grant Land a great open lead was encountered, which was crossed with some peril on the young ice. Some days later after a severe storm the ice opened under the light, and Dr. Cook in his sleeping bag sank into the crevice, being dragged to safety by the young Eskimos. The advance was halted by storms, in one of which the dogs were buried and in another the men themselves. To the west a new land, named Bradley Land by Cook, was sighted, extending from 33 degrees 20 minutes to 33 degrees 51 minutes and close to the one hundred and second meridian. Dr. Cook's own account of his dash from Bradley Land to the pole is given below.]

OVER the newly discovered coast lines was written Bradley Land. In honor of John H. Bradley, the benefactor of the expedition. As we passed north of this land there was nothing substantial upon which to fix the eye.

There was at no time a perfectly clear horizon, but the weather was good enough to permit frequent nautical observations.

Thus day after day the marches were forced, the incidents and the positions were recorded, but the adventures were promptly forgotten in the mental bleas of the next day's effort. The night of April 7 was made notable by the swing of the sun at midnight. For a number of nights it made grim faces at us in its setting. A teasing mist, drawn as a curtain over the northern sea at midnight, had given curious advantages for celestial stargazing; setting into this haze, we were unable to determine sharply the advent of the midnight sun.

Now the great bulk was drawn out egg shaped, with horizontal lines drawn through it. Again it was pressed into a basin with flaming fires, burning behind a curtain of frosts; blue at other times. It appeared like a huge vase, and it required very little imagination to see purple and violet flowers.

The chance was often like magic, but the last display was invariably a face-distorted faces of men or animals were made to suit our fancy.

We had therefore followed the sun's northward advance—from its first peep at midday above the south ice of the polar gateway to its sweep of the northern ice at midnight. From the end of the polar night late in February to the first of the double days and midnight suns we had forced a trail through darkness, blood hanging temperature and ever leg breaking irregularities of an unknown world of ice to an area 200 miles from the pole.

Now we had the sun unmistakably at midnight, and its new glory was quite an incentive to our life of survivors. Observations on April 8 placed camp at latitude 86 degrees 36 minutes, longitude 94 degrees 2 minutes. In spite of what seemed like long marches we had advanced only 108 miles in nine days. Much of our hard work was lost in circuitous twists around troublesome pressure lines and high, irregular fields of very old ice. The drift ice was throwing us to the east with sufficient force to give us some anxiety, but with eyes closed to danger and hardships the double days of fatigue and glitter quickly followed one another.

The temperature, ranging between 30 and 40 degrees below zero F., kept persistently near the freezing point of mercury, and, though the perpetual sun gave light and color to the cheerless wastes, we were not impressed with any appreciable warmth. Indeed, the sunbeams seemed to make the frost of the air pierce with a more painful sting.

There was a weird play of optics, seemingly most impressive at this time—clouds of steam rose from the frozen seas. In marching over the golden glitter snow scalds the face, while the nose is blanched with frost.

In camp a grip of the knife left painful burns from cold metal. To the frozen dunes the water was hot. When the spirits the fire was lighted, while the delighted the stomach. In dreams heaven was hot, the other place was cold.

All nature was false. We seemed to be hearing the chilled flame of a new hades. In our hard life there was nothing genuinely warm. The congenial appearances were but deception, but don't offered only cold comfort. There was no advantage in suicide.

We should have enjoyed this curious experience, but with endless bodily discomforts, combined in aching muscles and an overbearing languor, there could be no real joys from the glories of nature. The pleasure was reserved for a later retrospect.

We now changed our working hours from day to night, beginning usually at 10 and ending at 7. The big marches and prolonged hours of travel with which fortune favored us earlier were no longer possible. Weather conditions were more important in determining the day's run than the hands of the chronometers.

When the storms threatened the start was delayed, and in strong blows the march was shortened, but in one way or another we usually found a few hours in each turn of the dial during which a march could be forced between winds. It mattered little whether we traveled night or day—all hours and all days were alike to us—for we had no accustomed time of rest, no Sundays, no holidays, no landmarks or mileposts to pass. To advance and expend the energy accumulated during one sleep at the cost of our own penicillin was the one sole aim in life.

The observations of April 11 gave latitude 87 degrees 20 minutes, longitude 95 minutes 19 seconds. The pack disturbance of Bradley Land was less and less noted in the northward movement. The fields became heavier, larger and less crevassed.

We had now passed the highest reaches of all our predecessors and had gained the inspiration of the farthest north for ourselves. The time was at hand, however, to consider seriously the necessity of an early return.

Nearly half of the food allowance had been used. In the long marches supplies had been more liberally used than anticipated, and now our dog teams were much reduced in numbers.

A hard necessity had forced the cruel law of the survival of the fittest, for the steady working survivors. Owing to the food limits and the advancing season we could not prudently continue the outward march a fortnight longer. We had dragged ourselves 300 miles over the polar sea in twenty-four days. Including delays and detours, this gave an average of nearly thirteen miles daily on an air line in our course.

There remained an unknown line of 100 miles before our ambitions could be satisfied. The same average advance which we had made on the pack would take us to the pole in thirteen days. There were food and fuel enough to risk this adventure.

In the diary of the succeeding days' doling there appear numerous tabulations of work and observations. In the new cracks the thickness of the ice was measured. The water was examined for life. Atmospheric, surface water and ice temperatures were taken, the barometer was noted, the cloud formations, weather conditions and ice drifts were tabulated.

A disabled man could neither continue nor return, but every examination gave another reason to push human endurance to the limit of the strain of every fiber and cell. The hard work which followed, under an occasional burst of burning sunbeams, brought intense thirst.

Forcing the habit of the camel, we managed to take enough water before starting to keep sufficient liquid in the veins for the day's march, but it was difficult to await the melting of the ice at camping time.

In two sittings—evening and morning—each took an average of three quarts of water daily. This included the tea and also the luxury of an occasional soup. There was water about everywhere in heaps, but it was in crystals, and before the thirst could be quenched several ounces of precious fuel, which had been carried thousands of miles, must be used. And still this water, so expensive and so necessary to us, ultimately became the greatest bane to comfort. It escaped through the pores of the skin, saturated the boots, forced a band of ice under the knee, while the face was nearly always incased in a mask of icicles from the breath—a necessary part of our hard lot in life, and we learned to take the torture philosophically.

From the eighty-seventh to the eighty-eighth parallel we passed for two days over old ice without pressure lines or hummocks. There was no discernible line of demarcation for the fields, and it was quite impossible to determine if we were on land or sea ice. The barometer indicated no elevation, but the ice had the hard, wetting surface of glacial ice, with only superficial crevasses. The water obtained from this was not salty, but all of the upper surface of the ice of the polar sea makes similar water. The nautical observations did not seem to indicate a drift, but nevertheless the combined tabulations do not warrant the positive assertion of either land or sea for this area.

The ice gave a cheering prospect. A plain of purple and blue ran in easy undulations to the limits of vision without the usual barriers of spilt blocks. Over it a direct air line course was possible. Progress, however, was quite as difficult as over the irregular pack. The snow was crusted with large crystals. An increased friction reduced the speed, while the surface too hard for snowshoes, was also too hard to give a secure footing. The loneliness, the monotony, the hardship of steady, unrelieved travel were now keenly felt.

It is not often that man's horsepower is put to the test as ours was. We were compelled to develop a working energy to the limit of animal capacity. Day after day we had pushed along at the same steady pace over plains of frost and through a mental desert.

As the eye opened at the end of an icy slumber the fire was lighted little by little, the stomach was filled with liquids and solids, mostly cold—enough to last for the day, for there could be no halt or waste of fuel for midday feeding. We next got into harness and faced off the day's pull under the lash of duty. We worked until standard became impossible—longer in light winds, shorter in strong winds, but always until the feet became numb and heavy.

Then came the arduous task of building a snow house. In this the eyes, no longer able to wink, closed, but soon the empty stomach complained, and it was filled up again—not with things that pleased the palate, only hard fuel to feed the inner fires, while the ear sought the soft side of ice to dispel fatigue; no pleasure in mental recreation, nothing to arouse the soul from its icy inclosure.

To sleep, to press one foot ahead of the other, was one steady motion, like the horse to the cart, but we had not his advantage of an agreeable climate and a comfortable stable at night.

Words and pictures cannot adequately describe the maddening influence of this sameness of polar glitter, combined with bitter winds, extreme cold and an overworked body. To me there was always the inspiration of anticipation of the outcome of ultimate success, but for my young savage companions it was a torment almost beyond endurance. Their weariness was made evident by a lax use of the whip and an indifferent urging of the dogs. They were, however, brave and faithful to the bitter end, seldom allowing selfish ambitions or uncontrollable passions seriously to interfere with the main effort of the expedition.

On the morning of April 13 a strain of agitating torment reached a breaking point. For days there had been a steady cutting wind from the west which drove despair to its lowest reaches.

No torment could be worse than that never ceasing rush of icy air. Ahwelah bent over his sled and refused to move.

His dogs turned and looked inquiringly. I walked over and stood by his side. Erlikshuk came near and stood motionless, staring blankly at the southern skies. Large tears fell from Ahwelah's eyes and plied a little frost of sadness in the blue of his own shadow for several minutes. Not a word was uttered, but I knew that each felt that the time had come to free the fetters of human passions. Slowly Ahwelah said, "Unne sting pa—oo-ab-tonio-to-dor" ("It is well to die—beyond is impossible").

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. It is called "Swamp-Root" disease, and it is the cause of many sudden deaths. It is a disease of the kidneys, and it is caused by a heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or other disease. It is a disease of the kidneys, and it is caused by a heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or other disease. It is a disease of the kidneys, and it is caused by a heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or other disease.

Back the river, curing the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and excreting pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring, that the following be, and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and it is adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof, as herein provided, it shall supersede and stand in the place and stead of Section one of said Article one.

Sec. 1. All elections shall be by ballot, and every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has been a resident of the State for two years and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of the county in which he may offer to vote, for one year next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in such county shall be entitled to vote, in the ward or election district in which he resides, at all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any such citizen shall be so divided as to form portions of different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, he shall be entitled to vote in each of such districts, but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he removed, until he shall have acquired a residence in the part of the county or city to which he has removed.

Every male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be first a person who, on the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State, or of any other State or the United States, wherein he then resided; or second: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or third: a foreign born citizen of the United States naturalized between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article; or fourth: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or fifth: a person who, in the presence of the officers of registration, shall in his own handwriting, with pen and ink, without any aid, suggestion or memorandum, or without any question or question of direction, declare to him by any of the officers of registration, make application to register correctly, stating in such application his name, date and place of birth, residence and occupation at the time and for the two years next preceding, the name or names of his employer or employers, if any, at the time and for the two years next preceding, and whether he has previously voted, and if so, the State, county or city and district or precinct in which he voted last, and also the name in full of the President of the United States, of one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, of the Governor of Maryland, of one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and of the Mayor of Baltimore City, or of one of the County Commissioners of the county in which the applicant resides; and any person who is unable to comply with the foregoing requirements as to making application for registration in his own handwriting, solely because he is physically disabled from so doing, or is a person, or the husband of a person, who at the time of his application for registration, is bona fide owner of real or personal property in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars, is assessed thereon on the tax-books of the City of Baltimore or of one of the counties of this State, has been such owner and so assessed for two years next preceding his application for registration, shall have produced and shall produce receipts for the taxes on said property for said two years and shall at the time of his application make affidavit before the officers of registration that he is, or that he is the husband of the person who is the bona fide owner of the property so assessed to him or her, as the case may be, that he or she has been such owner for two years next preceding his application.

No person not qualified under some one of the above clauses shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter or be entitled to vote. Every written application to be registered, presented to the officers of registration, shall be carefully preserved by said officers of registration and shall be produced in any Court, if required, as hereinafter provided.

A willfully false statement upon the part of any applicant for registration in relation to any of the matters aforesaid shall be perjury, and punishable as perjury is punished by the laws of this State.

Any person who feels aggrieved by the action of any board of officers of registration in refusing to register him as a qualified voter, or in registering any qualified person, may at any time, either before or after the last session of the board of registration, but not later than Tuesday next preceding the election, file a petition, verified by affidavit, in the Circuit Court for the county in which the cause of complaint arises, or, if the cause of complaint arises in Baltimore City, in any court of common law jurisdiction in said city, setting forth the grounds of his application and asking the court to set aside the action of the board of officers of registration, and to direct the board of officers of registration to register him as a qualified voter, and to grant or withhold, as it may deem lawful and proper, the relief prayed for in the premises.

In determining whether any person who applied to be registered under the above fifth clause of this section was or was not entitled to be registered under said fifth clause, the court shall require the board of officers of registration complained of to produce the written application prepared and submitted by such person at the time he presented himself for registration to said board of officers of registration, and upon said written application the court shall determine whether or not said person, who he presented himself for registration, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause; and if the court shall determine that said written application, so prepared and submitted by said person, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and that said person was not disqualified under any other provision of this Article of the Constitution to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the Court shall order said person to be registered as a qualified voter, but if the court shall determine that said written application of said person failed to comply with the requirements of said fifth clause, or that said person was in any other respect under this Article of the Constitution disqualified to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the court shall order that said person shall not be registered upon said books of registry.

The Court may enforce any order by attachment for contempt in said cases; neither party shall have any right of removal; exception may be taken to any ruling of the court at the hearing of said cases and an appeal shall be allowed to the Court of Appeals as in other cases; all such appeals shall be taken within five days from the date of the decision complained of, and shall be heard and decided by the Court of Appeals upon the original papers, or otherwise as the Court of Appeals may by rule prescribe, as soon as may be practicable.

The General Assembly shall have power to provide more fully by legislation not inconsistent with this section of this Article, for the hearing and determination of all such cases.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly to be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said general election the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election the returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said proposed amendment, as directed by the said Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved February 25, 1908.

CROTHERS, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 1, of Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, do hereby order and direct that a copy of said Act proposing an amendment to Section 1 of Article 1 of the Constitution of said State, as published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers in the City of Baltimore, one of which shall be in the German language, once a week for at least three months preceding the next General Election, which election will be held on November 2, 1909, at which election said proposed amendment shall be submitted, in the form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State, for their adoption or rejection.

GIVEN under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, Done at the City of Annapolis, this 1st day of October, 1909, at one thousand nine hundred and nine.

ELECT THE TICKET.

Everything points to the election of the entire Democratic ticket with a much larger majority than is usually given this County. There is no reason why this should not be the case for the party has nominated men who taken as a whole are as well qualified for the various positions to which they aspire as were ever nominated in this County. Not only are the nominees worthy of the support which they are asking at the hands of the voters of this county, but what is more they were not nominated by a coterie of self appointed bosses but by the rank and file of the party itself.

When even good men were nominated for office under the old system of boss dictated nominations, many hesitated to support them for fear that they would feel more bound to support the measures of those who nominated them, than the measures of those who elected them by their votes. Every man who goes into office this year owes his nomination to the voters themselves and to no one else and he will and should feel bound to support those measures which the majority of the people wish to see supported. To do otherwise would mean the political death of any one of them, for they will be directly responsible to the people, and the people will not be slow in showing their resentment when they again come before them seeking office, if they fail in their duty.

More than 3,000 others participated in the primaries this year and the ticket which they at that time nominated is before us for election and should receive the entire vote of these democrats, as well as those who for one reason or another were unable to attend the polls on primary day.

Ernest A. Towdine, the present Clerk and candidate on the ticket for the same position, is recognized as one of the ablest Clerks in the State, and the office as being one of the best conducted. In his election the people will get a capable and efficient officer, who will fill his duties to the satisfaction of all having any business with that office and in the same courteous manner which he has shown in the past.

For County Commissioner the party has nominated three efficient progressive men, who are all deeply interested in the improvement of our roads, and who will manage our finances in a satisfactory and economical way.

In Wm. M. Cooper, Wm. P. Ward and Orlando W. Taylor the voters have men in whom they need have no fear but what the money of the County will be properly expended for the benefit of all, and none thrown away by mismanagement or ill considered plans of improvement.

John W. Dashiell the present Register of Wills, and the nominee to succeed himself is too well known to need any comment whatever—every body knows "John" and everybody likes him and most everybody is going to vote for him.

The nominees for House of Delegates, Messrs E. E. Twilley, P. Taylor Baker, and John W. Wingate are above the average nominees for this office, and the people can be assured that if elected they will be found in

WHITE MEN AWAKE.

To The Vital Need Of Removing The Negro From Politics. For Your Good And His Benefit. Vote And Work Hard For The Amendment. Arouse Your Friends And Neighbors.

The political bugle call has sounded and it is now high time for every Democrat in Maryland to take his place at the guns and carry the Suffrage Amendment to take the negro out of politics.

Every white citizen of our State is vitally interested and there remains only the time between now and election day—Tuesday, for every one to do his manful duty.

Awake, fellow citizens and arouse yourselves to the full importance of the negro issue that confronts you! Think of all it means—more peaceful homes—more tranquil lives—greater industrial usefulness of the black man and less criminality of the negro—once removed from the political battles of this great Commonwealth destined to be yet greater in its future even than its past with this Suffrage Amendment passed.

What a glorious State we would have possessed had the Republicans never forced the Negro vote on the white people of this Commonwealth! What progress along all lines of advancing civilization and enlightenment would we have reached had it not been for the fettering vote of the ignorant and vicious negroes turned loose in a horde of many thousands to prey upon the State's bright prospects and darken its future progress! The one party howl of the Republicans simply resolves itself into this:— Are the white people of Maryland more capable of governing the State by themselves or handicapped with 50,000 negro votes which are cast in a bunch, practically, at the polls at the behest of the minority of the white men of Maryland.

Doesn't it stand to reason that Maryland will be better managed altogether by white people than in conjunction with a 50,000 ignorant negro vote see-sawed back and forth to each bow and beck of Republican political tricksters, carpet-baggers, over-seers and office caterers.

What is so dangerous to the peace and good will of our community as to have unscrupulous Republicans honeying up the negro just before election, and by some all the year round, talking all sorts of social equality nonsense to him solely for his vote.

Take the Negro out of politics and it will do him the best service that he has had since slave days. It will be the greatest possible good to him, make him more useful and labor loving and far more good to the community in which he lives. Good citizens will thus be made and the negro stand far better than now in the esteem of both Republicans and Democrats.

With the Suffrage Amendment passed a new State era will be established and then, instead of the eternal negro campaign—manhood qualifications and governmental measures will be considered, throughout the counties and City of Baltimore.

Candidates will be chosen more for their fitness to properly represent their constituency and their righteous stand on the state issues.

The public press, the stump orators and private discussions will be of man and measures instead of the white man's burden—negro—negro—negro—everlastingly.

With all strength possible let every white man in this County do all he can to bring about conditions so strongly to be desired. Let all be state patriots and fight the good fight right on from now to election day's close for the purification of the ballot, the betterment of Maryland's civil conditions, the elevating of the electorate the more peaceful enjoyment of home life and the protection of the fireside from the dangerous results of negro voting.

To the forefront Democratic warriors and patriotic white men everywhere in every district of Wicomico County! Your utmost is not too much for you to do between today and Tuesday night to get the negro out of your politics.

Throw aside, if necessary, your daily labors, if by so doing you can help pass the Amendment and rid yourselves of the black incubus imposed on you by benighted Republican Congress just following the bloody civil war.

See your friends and neighbors and arouse them to bestir voters to work hard, courageously and hopefully—every vote counts and this may be the white man's last chance in Maryland of rescue from the threatened negro domination. The Democratic nominees are all good men and should be heartily supported and voted for to a man.

White Democrats and white men of all political faiths can proudly vote for the Amendment. White man be sure of this and before folding your ballot be sure you have marked your ballot FOR THE AMENDMENT and live to be proud of it for your sake, those that are near and dear to you and the coming generations.

the front ranks at Annapolis fighting for those measures which will best serve the interests of their County and State, no mistake will be made in voting for these men.

For Sheriff the party has nominated J. Clayton Kelley, who if elected will devote his entire time to the office and fill the various duties in a manner satisfactory to all.

For Surveyor, our friend Peter S. Shockley has been nominated and without disparagement to any it is but his due, to say that he is probably the best qualified man in the County for his office and one of the best surveyors in the State besides.

The head of the ticket, Dr. Joshua W. Herring should not be overlooked. Dr. Herring is the present Comptroller of Maryland and during his incumbency has conducted the affairs to the satisfaction of all republicans as well as democrats. Dr. Herring is one of the best as well as one of the most popular democrats in the State of Maryland and Wicomico should help to roll up a big majority for him this year.

All of the candidates are worthy of the support of the democrats of this County, and although the Judges have no opposition a large complimentary vote should be given them.

Dear Sirs: Here's the one great big fact in paint:

Every job painted Devco takes less gallons than any other paint.

If any one doubts this statement, here's the proof:

He may paint half his job Devco, the other half whatever paint he likes. If the Devco half does not take less gallons and cost less money for both paint and labor, no pay.

OUR GAY HALLOWE'EN

Will Be Celebrated To-Night. Some of its Popular Observances.

"We merry songs and friendly cracks, I was they did not weary; And unco tales and funnie jokes, Their sports were cheap and cherry." Robert Burns.

Faeries, witches and imps are supposed to hold high carnival on Halloween, and to be especially communicative with persons seeking their assistance.

To Burns we are indebted for the perpetuation of many observations as they existed in Scotland in his day.

Halloween is a night of special joy to the very young, men and women, or then the inhabitants of Dreamland are supposed to aid in revealing to the curious the names of future husbands or wives. These revelations are made through various mystical ceremonies.

As the first comes on Sunday this year tonight is the night, Halloween will be celebrated, so "Low music please. Consider that the lights are out and the wind goes 'Woo-o-o-o.' Put on the tremolo, revel in shivers and wait 'Till the night of nights the eve of All Saints day, when wizard spirits of the earth and air do rove about and are accessible to mortals. Secrets of Fate may be wrested from powers which heed one not on nights less mystically favored.

A Halloween party is above all, gay, even boisterous, providing mamma allows bobbing for apples and like pranks. For this childish romp two things must be planned, games and refreshments. Here are some amusing old time games.

Roast Him Until He Pops.

Should a young lady desire to know the man she will marry she should follow these directions carefully. Name several chestnuts and lay them in a row near an open fire and the one which bursts first will be the first man to pop the question, and should be doubled on the spot.

Mobbing For Apples.

A tub of water is placed in the centre of the floor. As many apples as there are guests, and all having initials on them, are placed in the water, and great sport is had bobbing for them. They must be secured with the teeth. The initial on the apple reveals the initial of the future mate.

Apple Paring Test.

Each person is given an apple and a knife, the apple to be pared in a continuous strip. The paring is then swung three times above the head while these lines are repeated:

Apple, I pare and swing to know whom I soon shall marry; From my hand I now thee throw, myrtle letter carry.

The paring is then dropped to the floor, and the initial it forms will be that of the husband or wife.

The Weal Or Woe Test.

A horseshoe is suspended in a door way, and each fortune seeker tries to toss an apple through the shoe. If successful happiness is his.

The Candle Test.

Three candles may be placed in an open window and each of the guests may name, mentally, each candle for sweetheart and then watch to see which candle will blow out first, which will show fakeness by flickering in the breeze, and which will burn brightly, showing the one that will ever remain true.

The Supper.

All this will give the youngsters huge appetites, and mamma will plan for an ample supper, suited to the ages of the guests. While sandwiches, ice cream, in timely forms with devil cake, nuts and fruit will delight the little ones, Miss Nearly Grown-up friends will require something more formal. For instance.

SUPPER.

Hot chicken bolton. Whipped Cream Chicken and Olive sandwiches. Fruit salad. Cheese sandwiches. Sunflower ice cream.

Salted Nuts. Harlequin cakes. Bonbons. Coffee.

In laying the table for children it is better to place over the silence cloth, one of printed crepe paper. The design may consist of witches, black cats and the like, or the autumn riches of the harvest may be figured. For children a Jack Horner pumpkin pie makes a pleasing centerpiece. There's a wealth of favors to choose from, some of the wonderfully done paper vegetables containing sweets. Of these the ears of corn, heads of cabbage, turnips, onions and many others are all admirable.

—Mr. Wm. H. McConkey, who has been touring the northern cities has returned home.

—It is perfectly plain to any person who will read the amendment that the vote of the foreign born voter is safe. If a person was naturalized before January 1, 1899, he had a right to vote then and he and his descendants can vote now. If he was naturalized since January 1, 1899, the amendment says he and his descendants can vote without any test, educational or property. He does not even have to produce his naturalization papers.

—That white voter will not be deprived of their votes by the ratification of the amendment is proved by the amendment itself. Let any white man read it and he will see that if he was not old enough to vote before 1899 he is descended from someone who was either through his father or mother. Or else he was naturalized since 1899, or is descended from a naturalized person. This includes nearly every white man in the State, and not one of them will have to undergo any educational or other test.

THE man who carries a HOWARD Watch finds himself in good company.

Leaders in American affairs since Lincoln's young manhood have relied on the HOWARD. "HOWARD Time" has been a determining factor in every phase of the nation's advance.

The first HOWARD was also the first American watch. It was made in 1842 and the finest models cost $500. To-day the price is lower—and the watch is better.

Every HOWARD is made and adjusted as a fine watch. Cased and timed in its own case at the factory and a printed price ticket attached. Price $25—$35 to $150.

Let us show you this distinctive watch.

DANCE OF BUTTERFLY

Up the mountain toiled a figure, age-bent and weary. Nyssa knew it for Pericles, courier of the king, who had the yesternorm brought such gladsome tidings. And now—fearsome she rushed to meet him. "Why comest thou? Is—" the question traveled away. But his first words seemingly irrelevant. "My daughter, have any seen these dance save Cadmus and me?"

Wondering, the girl made answer,
"No, Pericles, since Cadmus wished it not."

"It is well," responded the old man looking back at the empty road. "Little one," his voice bore firmly, "Cadmus comes not down that road to-day.
Within the distant city he lies a prisoner, calumnyed by the foul untruths
of one he trusted and thrown into the dungeon on the eve of his honorable discharge as a soldier of the king. Tomorrow at sunset," the courier shuddered, he had loved these children as his own, "he is condemned to be shot, unless—" he paused, "thou canst save him."

"I, Pericles?" thrilled Nyssa. "I?"

the unspoken resolution blazed in her face.

"There will be a great feast to-morrow at which all of the king's maid-ens will dance. Come thou also. I will procure thee entrance into the palace, and if it be that thou pleasest
the king, then mayst thou perchance intercede for thy lover."

"—to dance—is that all?" faltered Nyssa.

"All!" the old courier turned away.
Well he knew that the like of her beauty was equalled not at the court of Athens, though the king made it ever his aim to secure the fairest. But it was the only chance; the gods
would guard her, their own.

In the brightness of the next day's noon, a black-robed, hooded figure passed by the palace wall. "All is well," he assured her, gently, and in silence unmolested they trod the marble terraces past countless sentries till they came at length to a small lodge.

It was with a curious exhilaration
that Nyssa mounted the grand stairway of the inner court, a quickening of the pulses that robbed her errand of ghastly portent. Above she saw gay groups in many-colored raiment, flower-decked and jewel hung, the king's dancing girls, and she hastened her steps to join them. Amidst the boisterous banter, she glided unnoticed to the far end of the hall where hung a canopied dais. But a moment had passed when a fanfare of trumpets announced the sovereign's approach, and accompanied by a magnificent suite, he was escorted to the throne.

Nyssa could bear concealment no longer. Doffing her black mantle, she slipped forth and bent low before the king in a courtesy of such exquisite grace that a murmur of admiration arose. Twice again she repeated the reverence, then slowly, neither bidden nor refused, commenced to dance, her little arched feet, shorn of their travelling sandals, making no sound on the marble floor. In the chaste simplicity of her white robe, unadorned, save for the entwining gold of long unbound tresses, her radiant perfection of youth and beauty thrilled all. But as she danced a new emotion gripped
the spectators. Was it fear?

As if in answer to these thoughts, through an embrasure high in the stuccoed wall, a golden butterfly fluttered. Far beyond their reach it flitted its vagrant course, idle, unseeking.
But Nyssa had seen, and knew! In Athens an ancient legend held that on whenever should rest a golden butterfly in its flight, that person was sacred to the gods.

An instant the dancer flung slim
arms upward in mute supplication, then as the butterfly, she became its likened shadow. Back and forth, here, there, she darted, now genuflecting as the beautiful winged creature drooped downward, now leaping lightly as it sought the dome. In ecstatic abandon she skipped the far length of hall,
and veering, capricious as among visionary flowers. By what intuitive sense knew she its course, none might say; surely the gods directed her steps. But suddenly the butterfly fluttered, came lower, lower and quiveringly poised. Nyssa, who had dropped to her knees, away her slender body to each slightest motion, in that instant collapsed in a crumpled heap.
With a piteous little cry, her tiny, trembling hands shot out, and the butterfly, straightly descending, touched thereon, then passed to the whiteness of her robe, where, a golden glowing gem, it remained immobile.

A great breath went up, a great sigh, as if in the surcease of that suspense the watchers too knew peace.
The king's voice was gentle, for it spoke through unaccustomed tears.
"What wouldst thou?" he asked.
"Sire, the life of Cadmus, whom I love," answered Nyssa simply.
Staggeringly she approached, and would have knelt in lowly supplication, but his own hand stayed her. In a few words she gave the story, her di-lating eyes fixed upon the slow-titling patch of sky that filled a niche in the western wall.
"There is need for haste," said the king. At his summons, Pericles entered. Briefly commanding him with the release of Cadmus, the king enclosed from among his decorations a priceless pearl, and fastened it at Nyssa's heart.
"Greatest," he said, "was thy gift,
and in new-found faith, he reverently bowed his head.—ADELAIDE MO-REAU.

unable to do much work that required stooping on account of my back being so painful and was annoyed to quite an extent by irregular passages of the kidney secretions, particularly during the night. I procured Doan's Kidney

WHY DO MEN DRINK? A FEW ANSWERS.

A Cincinnati daily recently propounded the question to representative men of the city—an educator, a saloon-keeper, a Y. M. C. A. man, a doctor, a minister, and a business man. At least two of the answers to the question are of special interest,
one of them coming from a member of the Board of Education, and the other from a saloon-keeper. The first says:

Why does a man drink? Why,
he drinks and does everything else
that is wrong because he is still unregenerate. Man has a certain amount of original sin in his make-up, and the tendency to drink is one of the expressions of it. I understand that Dr. Parkhurst, in New York, has said that the chief cause of drinking among working men is the monotony and deadly dullness of their lives. All I can say in reply is that in this twentieth century that is not a good excuse. If the evils of working men are dull, it must be their own fault, because in this day and generation, there are hundreds of diversions, open to all, and if the working man wishes to take advantage of them he is free to do so. The care for drunkenness and all other forms of sin is an educated conception of the objects of life, along broad religious lines.

The saloon-keeper, who neither drinks himself nor allows his employees to drink, says:

I do not know why men drink. It looks sometimes as if they did it just to be doing something. I doubt if the monotony of life is the main cause, or whether sorrow and homesickness have much to do with it.
I find that men drink when they are sad and glad, and also when they are other. The practice of drinking has a number of interesting phases, but I doubt if any general rule can be laid down
for it.

It seems to the present writer that both these men speak the truth. First of all, it is to be said that comparatively few men acquire the habit of drinking after having reached maturity. The majority of drinkers form the habit before they know what "deadly dullness" is. If they ever know it, in our country and in our cities the young men have sufficient example and warning, and they go with open eyes, as though blind and deaf, into the very jaws of death and hell. The young man drinks, "as he does everything else
that is wrong, because he is still unregenerate." He is a lover of pleasure, rather than a lover of God.
He is right who says: "The cure for drunkenness and all other forms of sin is an educated conception of the objects of life, along broad religious lines." And yet the saloon-keeper is right when he says: "The practice of drinking has a number of interesting phases, but I doubt if any rule can be laid down for it."

"The Journal and Messenger."

Its Cost Beyond Estimate.
Expenses absolutely certain to follow the use of intoxicating drinks,
but which it would be impossible to calculate, are the Loss of time of men incapacitated for work by drink.

By premature death of 100,000
every year caused by drink.

By loss arising from destruction of life and property, by land and sea, caused by drink.

Loss of deterioration of workmen
in capacity and skill.

Loss in non-productiveness of capital employed in the drink trade.

The increased load of taxation arising from the fruits of the drink.

Loss of the non-productive labor of paupers, criminals and lunatics caused by drink.

The First Glass.
Do you remember your first glass?
Your friends made you believe it would put some brightness into you
—some vim, manhood, strength and alertness. Where is that manhood and vim and brightness now? Destroyed by the field from hell, alcohol. I wish I could destroy the last vestige of it on earth. (Applause.)
What is the good of that, if you don't take the truth to yourself? I am not here for applause. I don't come to pleasure to me that if you become Christians, you have to give up this and that. You've not to give up nothing but ruin.—The noted Gypsy Smith, in a pulp address in Tremont Temple, Boston.

A Traitor.
The liquor traffic destroys one's "love and devotion to country"; it encourages men to disobey law; it incapacitates men to "defend their country's existence; prompts men to betray the "rights and institutions";
in other words, "patriotism," as applied to the liquor traffic, is as great a misnomer as it would be to speak of the glorious patriotism of Aaron Burr or Benedict Arnold.

Physicians Exclude Rumors.
The well-known secret society, the Knights of Pythias, has passed an order excluding wholesale and retail liquor dealers, as well as bar keepers, and proprietors of hotels, where bars are kept, from membership in their order.

Paul a Prisoner —The Voyage

Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 31, 1909

Specialy Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Acts 21:1-24. Memory verses 2-24.

GOLDEN TEXT.—Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.—Psa. 37:5.
Title.—Summer and autumn of A. D.
54 or 55.

PLACE.—On the Mediterranean sea, on the way to Rome.

Suggestion and Practical Thought.
The voyage of life illustrated by Paul's voyage toward Rome.

1. The Voyage on a Peaceful Sea.
From Caesarea to Crete.—Vs. 1-13. The ships. After it was determined to send Paul to Rome under military escort, the first thing was to find a ship. There was probably very little direct commerce between Caesarea and Rome, and hence they embarked in a trading vessel which coasted northward along the shores of Palestine to Sidon and around the eastern point of Cyprus, past Cilicia and Tarsus, and part of Pamphylia to Myra in Lydia, near the southwest angle of Asia Minor.

The second ship was a large Egyptian merchantman loaded with grain from Alexandria.

The ship's company included Paul and other prisoners, Luke, who writes the account (note the "we" in the story); Aristarchus, an old friend of Paul who was one of the committee that accompanied Paul to Jerusalem with the collection for the poor (Acts 20:4); Capt. Julius, with a guard of soldiers from the Augustan band, besides we know not how many other passengers, and the crew.

The Peaceful Voyage.—They sailed westward. It took them several days to reach the port Cnidus on a peninsula at the extreme southwest point of Asia Minor, although the distance is only 130 miles.

The sailing was still difficult, and they put into a harbor called Fair Havens on the southern coast of Crete. Here they waited for pleas-anter weather. But it was late in the season, and rough, stormy weather must be expected to prevail. Paul advised them to remain at Fair Havens till spring opened.

Paul's advice was good, but it is not strange that experienced seamen should not regard very highly the opinion of a scholarly landman.

2. Storm Tossed on a Wintry Sea.
—Vs. 14-26. "There arose against it" (v. 14), the ship, "a tempestuous wind," typhonic, tempestuous, like a whirlwind; a hurricane, a typhoon, a cyclone.

15. "When the ship was caught,"
A very strong expression, implying that the wind seized hold of the ship,
as it were, and whirled her out of her course. "We let her drive," R. V., "we gave way to it, and were driven" before the wind.

18. "The next day they," the sailors, "lightened the ship." The imperfect denotes that they began to lighten the ship, set about it by throwing out some of the cargo, not the precious wheat which was thrown overboard later (v. 38).

19. "Cast out with our own hands," that is, of the passengers as well as of the crew, "the tackling," "the furniture of the ship, its fittings and equipment, anything movable lying on the deck, upon which the passengers could lay their hands, such as tables, beds, chests, and the like."

20. "When neither sun nor stars appeared." We have to remember that before the invention of the compass the sun and stars were the only guides of sailors who were out of sight of land. "All hope was then," at last, henceforth, "in-ken away."

The Vision of Cheer.—Now Paul comes to the front, the only one in the whole ship who could bring a message of hope. The reason for his assurance follows. An angel came to him with a message from God, as Jesus had appeared to his disciples in the tempest-tossed boat on the Sea of Galilee.

The message was that he would be saved because he (v. 24) "must be brought before Caesar," as God had promised him before (Acts 23:11).
Paul's safety was as sure as God's promise. The promise had been obscured before this, but it had shone out again through rifts in the clouds.
"God hath given thee all them that sail with thee." Doubtless Paul prayed earnestly for the safety of those who were in the ship with him;
and their lives were granted in answer to his prayers. The good man is never selfish even in his prayers.

The Port to Which We Should Sail.
—A statesman declares that "The first requisite of one who would have a successful life, as of the pilot

12 STRONG REASONS

Given By A Salisbury Independent For The Amendment.

1. The State has a right to prescribe what qualifications it may see fit regarding the Election Franchise.
2. Every political sovereignty has done this from the dawn of civilization.
3. If the Amendment still leaves those to vote who are unworthy to exercise the franchise we should take what we can get at the present.
4. There can be no doubt that it is unfair in this age to place the white man and negro upon absolute political equality.
5. A way measure is unsuited after calmer reflections to times of peace.
6. Negro power is undoubtedly against the prosperity of a community.

If certain partisan politicians see nothing in this measure but party advantage, it should not deter independent thinkers from support of the public good.

8. Partisan Republicans should see this is already a one party State and that it would eventually benefit their party.
10. Many a man would vote for men and measure if it were not for the negro question.
10. Decent men would take more interest in politics if the qualifications of the electorate are raised.

11. The Eternal cry of negro would and should cease in political discussions.
12. It is a fact that should be profoundly realized that the best friends of the negro are the descendants of their old masters who largely compose the Democratic party and the negro will see this in time if he will go to work and eschew politics.

Clark--Hunt.

A wedding of interest in Howard county and Baltimore city took place Wednesday, October 20, at noon at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, Elliott City, when Miss Alice Warfield Hunt, youngest daughter of Mr. Thomas M. Hunt vice president of the Patuxent National Bank of Elliott City, was married to Mr. John Lawrence Clark, youngest son of the late James Clark, president of the Drovers and Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Andrews Poole, and was quiet owing to the recent death of the groom's father. Only the immediate friends and relatives were present. The bride was attired in a traveling costume of amblyst broadcloth, with hat to match, and white gloves. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bride and groom entered the church together the bridal march being played by Mrs. Poole.

Miss Hunt is well known in the social circles here where she has often been the guest of the Misses Collier.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which fits nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. O'BENNEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring, that the following section be and the same hereby proposed as an amendment to Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and if adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof, as herein provided, it shall supersede and stand in the place and stead of Section one of said Article one.  Sec. 2. All elections shall be by ballot, and every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has been a resident of the State for two years and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of the county in which he may offer to vote, for one year next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in this Article, shall be entitled to vote, in the ward or election district in which he resides, at all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any county or city shall be so divided as to form portions of different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then to entitle a person to vote for such officer, he must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form a part of the electoral district in which he offers to vote, for one year next preceding the election; but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he removed, until he shall have acquired a residence in the part of the county or city to which he has removed.  Every male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be, first: a person who, on the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State, or of any other State of the United States, wherein he then resided; or second: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or third: a foreign born citizen of the United States naturalized between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article; or fourth: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or fifth: a person who, in the presence of the officers of registration, shall, in his own handwriting, with pen and ink, without any aid, suggestion or memorandum whatsoever, state and sign, under oath, the facts of his age, date and place of birth, residence and occupation at the time and for the two years next preceding, the name or names of his employer or employers, if any, at the time and for the two years next preceding, and whether he has previously voted, and if so, the State, county or city and district or precinct in which he voted last, and also the name in full of the President of the United States, of one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, of the Governor of Maryland, of one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and of the Mayor of Baltimore City, if the applicant resides in Baltimore City, or of one of the County Commissioners of the county in which the applicant resides; and any person who is unable to comply with the foregoing requirements as to making application for registration in his own handwriting, solely because he is physically disabled from so doing; or sixth: a person, or the husband of a person, who at the time of his application for registration, is a bona fide owner of real or personal property in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars, is assessed therefor on the tax-books of the City of Baltimore or of one of the counties of this State, has been such owner and so assessed for two years next preceding his application for registration, shall have paid and shall produce receipts for the taxes on said property for said two years and shall at the time of his application make affidavit before the officers of registration that he is, or that he is the husband of the person who is the bona fide owner of the property so assessed to him or to her, as the case may be, and that he or she has been such owner for two years next preceding his application.  No person not qualified under some one of the above clauses shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter or be entitled to vote. Every written application to be registered, presented to the officers of registration by any person applying to be registered under the above fifth clause, shall be carefully preserved by said officers of registration and shall be produced in any Court, if required, as hereinafter provided.  The affidavit of any applicant for registration, duly made to the officers of registration or in Court, that he, the applicant, is a person who was entitled to vote on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, as aforesaid, or that he has become a naturalized citizen of the United States between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article, shall be prima facie evidence of any of said facts so sworn to.  A writ of habeas corpus upon the part of any applicant for registration in relation to any of the matters aforesaid shall be perjury, and punishable as perjury is punished by the laws of this State.  Any person who feels aggrieved by the action of any board of officers of registration in refusing to register him as a qualified voter, or in registering any disqualified person, may at any time, either before or after the last session of the board of registration, but not later than the Tuesday next preceding the election, file a petition, verified by affidavit, in the Circuit Court for the county in which the cause of complaint arises, or, if the cause of complaint arises in Baltimore City, in any court of common law jurisdiction in said city, setting forth the grounds of his application and asking to have the action of the board of officers of registration corrected. The court shall forthwith set the petition for hearing and direct summons to be issued requiring the board of officers of registration complained against to appear and show cause why the action of the board of officers of registration should be sustained. The court shall also issue writs of habeas corpus to the person or persons, and where the object of the petition is to strike off the name of any person, summons shall also be issued for such person, which shall be served by the sheriff within the time therein designated, and the said court shall have full jurisdiction and power to review the action of any board of officers of registration and to grant or withhold, as it may deem lawful and proper, the relief prayed for in the premises.  In determining whether any person who applied to be registered under the above fifth clause of this section was or was not entitled to be registered under said fifth clause, the court shall require the board of officers of registration complained of to produce the written application prepared and submitted by such person at the time he presented himself for registration to said board of officers of registration, and upon said written application the court shall determine whether or not said person, when he presented himself for registration, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause; and if the court shall determine that said person complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and that said person was not disqualified under any other provision of this Article of the Constitution to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the Court shall order said person to be registered as a qualified voter; but if the court shall determine that said written application of said person failed to comply with the requirements of said fifth clause, or that said person was in any other respect under this Article of the Constitution disqualified to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the court shall order that said person shall not be registered upon said books of registry.  The court may enforce any order by attachment for contempt in said cases; neither party shall have any right of removal; exceptions may be taken to any ruling of the court at the hearing of said cases and an appeal shall be allowed to the Court of Appeals as in other cases; all such appeals shall be taken within five days from the date of the decision complained of, and shall be heard and decided by the Court of Appeals upon the original papers, or otherwise, as the Court of Appeals may by rule prescribe, as soon as may be practicable.  The General Assembly shall have power to provide more fully by legislation not inconsistent with this section of this Article, for the hearing and determination of all such cases.  Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly to be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said general election the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said proposed amendment as directed by the said Article XIV of the Constitution.

SPECS AS A CURE FOR ANY CRIME

Dr. William M. Richards of New York Reforms You By Making You See Straight

THE NEWEST FAD IN REFORMS

He Has Put Glasses on Hundreds of Offenders with Good Results—Examines Eyes of Women in Night Court and Finds an Odd Case.

New York City.—Cain did not wear glasses. If he had he might not have killed Abel. A number of other catastrophes might have been averted by the timely application of a pair of spectacles. If you want to reform a criminal clap a pair of glasses on him, for the chances are that defective physical vision has impaired his moral views. Such is the theory of Dr. William M. Richards, and he hopes inside of a year to be able to back his theory with statistics.

In compiling his statistics and in the search for subjects Dr. Richards has visited the District Attorney's office, several police courts, the Elmira Reformatory, the Magdalen Home and various other institutions. At the Elmira Reformatory he found that most of the boys were suffering from abnormal vision, that in the majority of cases poor eyesight had led to truancy, truancy to bad companionship and that to crime.

At the Magdalen Home he fitted glasses to twenty inmates, and every one of these, he said, found work on getting out and kept it. One girl in particular had never been able to keep a job more than a few days. She was considered stupid and lazy. Since leaving the home two months ago wearing a pair of glasses she has been steadily employed by a firm of wholesalers and is still working there. At the time he examined her she was unable to make out the largest type on the test card at a distance of four feet.

Dr. Richards is now trying his scheme on some 200 second offenders, burglars, holdup men and grafters of various degrees, and he hopes that if they do not lose their glasses they will be desirable citizens by the time they emerge from seclusion. Most of the glasses are provided by the Shaarath Israel, which is much interested in the work.

Dr. Richards visited Magistrate Barlow in the night court and examined the eyes of some of the women prisoners. The result showed, he said, that many of the women brought in had something the matter with their eyesight, and it was entirely possible that if their vision were restored to the normal they themselves would be able to lead a normal life. As the prisoners were arraigned he scanned each closely. When Gooch Nellie, a woman from the East Side, with rather prominent eyes, came up the doctor could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"Look at her! Look at her!" he exclaimed delightedly. "She's as blind as a bat! She can't see a thing!"

Dr. Richards led the bewildered and somewhat fearful Nellie into the examination room.

"Do you like to read?" he asked her abruptly.

Gooch was nonplussed. Never before in all her long police experience had anything like this happened to her. Not knowing what fatal consequences might follow a reckless answer she muttered something inaudible while her foot traced nervous circles on the floor.

"What kind of books do you read?" persisted the doctor; "history, biography, fiction—what?"

Nellie was in a quandary. Should she give the preference to biography or history? Fiction was out of the question. There was a disparaging curl to the doctor's lips as he said "fiction" that warned her to steer clear of it. But if she said historical or bio—whatever it was, why, he might ask her what books she had read. She resolved to take a safe middle course and avoid the snare.

"I don't care much about reading," she admitted finally, "an' I don't get time to read much outside of the newspapers," and then in a brilliant attempt to escape from the cross-examination she added: "Jennie out there reads more'n I do. She's a great reader, Jennie is. Why, you don't hardly ever see Jennie but what she's got a book under her arm."

The doctor refused the bait so craftily offered, however, and proceeded to a few simple tests, which convinced him that Gooch's eyes were a prime factor in her waywardness.

"Now come around and see me," he said as he finished, "and you'll soon be able to read as well as Jennie and be able to get steady employment and keep off the street as well."

"Sure," said Nellie, slowly and without eagerness.

Several more were examined and promised to come and be saved from their eyes.

As for Gooch Nellie, the policeman failed to make out a case against her and she was discharged.

WEANING THE LAMBS.

Feed the Ewes Well While Nursing and the Lambs When Weaned.

Lambs should not run with the ewes after November if the ewes are desired to lamb early in the year. And this is very desirable, as it gives the ewe a rest to make up their growth, and puts them through the winter in good condition and brings the next season again a little earlier. When the lambs are separated from the ewes it will be necessary to give them a little grain, which is best in the form of finely ground meal. This is wholly used by the lambs, and none of it is lost for want of full digestion.
There is no more satisfactory way to push the lambs forward for the next year than to put the eyes on good feed and so supply the lambs with plenty of milk of the best quality. To feed the ewes well, when nursing the lambs, adds fully a month to their growth, and thus puts them forward for a repetition of the same advance the year following. What is thus gained is worth twice as much as any gain afterward. No one who has not tried this constant pushing on of the lambs will be disappointed with the results. It easily adds $1 to the value of each lamb, and this is of itself a very considerable bonus on the year's income from a flock. Some farmers especially dislike early lambs for the reason that they begin to eat too soon, making it necessary to feed before the early spring grass is ready. But one ounce of meal or bran is worth more than a full pound of grass, and the constant practice of all sheep keepers should be to push ahead all the lambs and keep this larger growth increasing naturally as the animal grows older. The last pound of increase in any animal will cost more than twice as much as the first, and this rule will apply to all kinds and conditions of animals, but most of all to lambs, and sheep after them. Feeding is an art that must be learned by practice; it may be studied very probably by reading the experience of others, and so one will know what to do and what to avoid in his practice.

FOR DIVIDING HOGS.

Double Pen Which Will Prove of Great Help in Task.

Have two pens, A and B, with an opening, just wide enough to allow one hog to pass through at a time, in the corner of A, as shown in the accompanying illustration. Hang a gate on hinges at post C to swing from Pens for Dividing Hogs.

posts D and E. Attach pulleys at D and E with ropes fastened to the swinging pulley and back to F.
Throw some corn in the pen, A, call in the hogs, and standing at F, where the hogs can be seen, operate the gate as the hogs pass out. Some shelled corn, says Prairie Farmer, should be thrown in pen B to keep the hogs from coming back into pen A.

A Handy Hog Chute.

The illustration explains itself and is a light handy chute to use in loading hogs. It should be made of strong material, say 2x4, for stiles for bottom and for upright pieces to fit in the stables on sides of bottom. Also two small hooks are placed at the bottom to hook on wagon box. Clients should be nailed on the bottom so hogs can walk up easily without slipping. About six feet long makes a right slant and three feet wide.—H.

W. Studebaker.

Thrush in Horses' Feet.

Little is known about the origin of the term "thrush," as applied to a diseased condition of the "frog" or bald triangular center visible on the ground surface of the horse's foot, but the cause or causes giving rise to the diseases are well known, and,
therefore, should be understood.
Fillet is the chief factor in the development of thrush. Some owners believe thrush to be contagious, but there is no contagion about it at all,
for remove the filth, clean the feet,
and often the disease will cure itself.
Canker of the foot is a contagious disease, however, and is due to a parasite of vegetable origin. Mares suffer from thrush often in the hind feet than do stallions or geldings,
who suffer in the fore feet principally.
The reason for this is obvious.

The Sweetest Songster.

Over the breakfast Miss Dorothy,
the enthusiastic ornithologist of the
boarding house, discussed the merits
of the nightingale, lark, thrush and
so forth.
"And which, Mr. Hunker," exclaimed Miss Dorothy, "which of all
the song-birds are you fondest of?"
"I prefer the hen, Miss Dorothy."
"But the hen isn't a song-bird at
all!" objected Miss Dorothy.
"Well," replied Hunker, tapping
another hard-boiled egg, "it's the
only bird whose lay I care for."

Who To Vote For Election Day

On The Democratic Ticket—Integrity, Ability And Progress Is Represented By Platform And Candidates.

Below will be found a brief sketch
of the men whom the democratic party is asking the voters to support at
the coming election. Although these men are well known to most of the
voters in the County, yet there may be some who are unfamiliar with them
and for this reason we are publishing
the short sketches given below. As
will readily be seen by those who are
at all acquainted with these men,
they measure up to the high standard
of the very best ticket of the past,
and if elected the citizens of this County can rest secure in the knowledge that the affairs of the County
will be well managed and the interests of the tax payers safely and carefully guarded.

ERNEST A. TOADVINE.

Democratic candidate for Clerk of
the Circuit Court is probably one of
the best known public men in Wicomico
County. He was born in Salisbury,
October 18th, 1860. After graduating in the public schools of the county and the Salisbury Academy he entered the Clerk's office as Deputy to his father, the late Stephen P. Toadvine,
and served as Deputy Clerk until he was elected Clerk in 1903. As a public official Mr. Toadvine has been identified in this county. Always obliging to the patrons of the office, he numbers his friends by the hundreds, not only in his own party, but among Republicans and Frontingtonists as well.
He has made many improvements and
innovations in the manner of keeping the records, until now what is ac-knowledgeed by experts to be the best
record office in Maryland. Mr. Toadvine
has been a full worker in the ranks of his party since boyhood and was never known to falter in a fight
in his life. He is a political leader
who is worthy of any man's steel, and is always found on the firing line in every political contest in his district.
He is married, has one daughter and lives at the corner of William Street and Park Avenue, this city.
Mr. Toadvine is a director in the Salisbury Building, Loan and Banking Association, has been identified with the development of this well
known institution for several years.
In his last campaign he was given a
most flattering vote by the people of Wicomico County and we predict for him a still larger majority in the election in November. Mr. Toadvine had
no opposition in his own party at the
primaries, showing his popularity.
He is a member of the Improved Order
of Red Men and a conspicuous member of the Knights of Pythias of this city. Mr. Toadvine is identified with
the Presbyterian Church.

county. Six years ago he was elected Register of Wills, and in 1906 he was elected to that time he served one term as Sheriff of county.
Mr. Dashiell is one of the most popular men in the county, numbering his friends by the hundreds in every section. He has given the office of Register of Wills the most careful attention and has made many improvements and renovations
among the records. Always obliging
and courteous, the patrons of the office are always sure of the best treatment.
