PEACE

There must be just and settled peace, and we here in America must contribute the full force of our enthusiasm and of our authority as a nation to the organization of that peace upon world-wide foundations that can not easily be shaken. No nation should be forced to take sides in any quarrel in which its own honor and integrity and the fortunes of its own people are not involved; but no nation can any longer remain neutral as against any willful disturbance of the peace of the world.

MILLER-CAUSEY REUNION

Members Of Both Families Met At Perryhawkin Last Thursday

The ninth annual reunion of the Causey and Miller families was held in the grove adjoining Perryhawkin Church Thursday last. About one hundred persons were present.

At 12:30 o'clock lunch was served, the contents of each lunch box was placed on a long table at which all present were seated. About one hour and a half was spent in a social way, after which the president, Mr. S. A. Evans, called the reunion to order and the exercises were opened by singing, followed by prayer by Mr. Ernest Pusey. The minutes of the last reunion were read and approved. The old board of officers were re-elected as follows: President, S. A. Evans; Vice-Presidents, T. Dykes and Mrs. E. Chatham; Secretary, W. P. Evans; Treasurer, E. F. Evans; Executive Committee, Edward H. Bounds, M. A. Culver, Miss Mattie Slemmons, O. H. Miller, Rev. W. F. Atkinson and B. T. Dykes.

Mr. S. A. Evans, who was appointed at last year's reunion to investigate the price and quality of a monument suitable to be placed at the grave of the late Levin Miller, reported that a very good one could be had for $40, and it was decided to purchase the same.

The soliciting committee and other subscriptions amounted to about $30. It was decided to purchase the monument and a purchasing committee was appointed as follows: Rev. W. F. Atkinson, W. P. Evans and B. T. Dykes.

Short speeches were made by the president and other members of the families present. It was decided that the reunion would be held the last Thursday in September in the future and that the executive committee should meet sixty days before the time for holding the reunion and arrange a program for the same.

The meeting was closed by singing and prayer by Rev. P. D. West.

Capt. Leach Will Improve Rehoboth

Capt. Robert F. Leach, who has been spending the summer at the seashore—Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, where he has been spending the summer for many years—has returned to his home in Fairmount, Somerset county.

Captain Leach owns the "Pleasant Inn Cottage" at Rehoboth and has recently purchased "The Pines," a park in that place, nicely shaded with trees, and will build several cottages on the land before next season. Columbia avenue extends through the center of the park, which is 90 feet wide and of hard clay. The plot of ground is large enough for the erection of 12 cottages—six on each side of the roadway.

Captain Leach was a caller at this office last Tuesday and reports a pleasant outing this year and said he was much pleased to meet his many friends in Princess Anne that day.

Landing-Bassford Wedding

Miss Helen Elizabeth Bassford, daughter of Mr. George W. Bassford, of Upper Fairmount, and Mr. Clarence V. Landing, of Parsonsville, were married last Wednesday in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Upper Fairmount, by the Rev. A. W. Goodhand.

The bride wore a traveling suit of dark blue and carried bride's roses. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Clarence M. Bassford, of Baltimore. Miss Naomi P. Bassford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a dress of green silk and carried pink roses. Mr. Marion Landing, of Wilmington, Del., brother of the groom, was best man. Messrs. Leroy Hall, of Marion, and John Mills, of Pocomoke City, were the ushers.

Season For Shooting Squirrels

In the following counties the season for shooting squirrels opened on August 25 and will close October 1, to reopen on November 10 and close on December 24: Baltimore, Caroline, Kent, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Cecil, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester.

GRANGERS MEET IN CRISFIELD

Large Number Witness The Fifth Degree Work Exemplified

Somerset county Pomona Grange met with Crisfield Grange last Wednesday and quite a number of Grangers were present from the county. The meeting was conducted by County Master T. D. Nichols.

Addresses were made by County Agent H. S. Lippincott and Professor William J. Holloway, superintendent of schools of Wicomico county, who accompanied a delegation of Grangers from Salisbury and Hebron to Crisfield.

After a recess of two hours a sumptuous dinner, prepared by the ladies of the Grange, and especially augmented by the good people of Crisfield, in the shape of oysters, crabs and clams, was partaken of with all appearance of appreciation. At 2 o'clock the Grangers were invited to the Gibson building, where, under the leadership of Worthy Lecturer S. R. Chaffey, the fifth degree of Grange work was exemplified. Brother Chaffey and his corps of workers deserves much credit for the manner in which they acquitted themselves. Pomona now has 32 new fifth degree members. The exemplification and feast following was much enjoyed by all present.

In about two weeks the Grangers of Crisfield will give another exhibition of their marching, and at the same time have a harvest home and festival in the Armory building.

The Boys' Corn Club was highly commended and committees named to arrange for entertaining the western shore boys when they arrive in this county on their tour.

After the meeting in the Gibson building all were invited to Gleaner's Hall, where cake and cream were bountifully served to all present.

Before adjournment it was decided that the next meeting be held with Princess Anne Grange the last Wednesday in December.

Mrs. Mary J. Milligan Dead

Mrs. Mary Jane Milligan died at the home of her son, Mr. A. C. Milligan, at Revell's Neck, last Wednesday morning, aged 77 years.

Mrs. Milligan was a native of Somerset county and had resided here all her life. She was born near Marion Station on February 24th, 1839. She is survived by two sons, Messrs. Isaac H. Milligan, of Cape Charles, Virginia, and Albert C. Milligan, of Revell's Neck. She is also survived by three brothers and two sisters, who reside in Pocomoke City, and 14 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Mount Olive Methodist Episcopal Church, Revell's Neck, last Thursday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. W. F. Atkinson, and interment was in Antioch Methodist Episcopal cemetery, Princess Anne.

Shark Or Whale?

A sea monster made its appearance in Sinepuxent Bay last week. It has been seen as far south as George Island landing and as far north as Broken Marshes. At least 12 people have seen the monster in broad daylight and are convinced that it is foreign to those waters. Some say it is a mammoth shark and that its slow movements were due to the shallow water in which it was swimming. The big denizen of the deep sea has excited the Eastern Shore folks in the neighborhood of Snow Hill and Ocean City.

Bishop Adams Coming

The Rt. Rev. William F. Adams, Bishop of the Diocese of Eastern, will visit these three Parishes on October 22nd, in the following order: Grace Church, Mount Vernon, at 10:30 that morning; All Saints, Montic, at 3 in the afternoon; and St. Andrew's, Princess Anne, at 7:30 that night. Classes for confirmation will be presented. The public is invited to attend these services on October 22nd.

SEPTEMBER TERM OF THE CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNED LAST FRIDAY

Grand Jury Found 19 Indictments And Was Discharged Tuesday Afternoon—Number Of Cases Disposed Of During The Week

The September term of the Circuit Court for Somerset County, which convened Monday morning of last week, adjourned Friday afternoon. Judges Pattison, Jones and Stanford presiding during the week.

The grand jury was discharged Tuesday afternoon. They found 19 indictments as follows:

State vs. Wm. Scarborough, larceny; State vs. John William Pryor, perjury; State vs. John Wessels, assault; State vs. Ernest White, murder; State vs. Harold Hitch, having carnal knowledge of a girl under 14 years of age; State vs. Martin Wilson, Sewell Wilson and Rush Wilson, assault with intent to kill; State vs. D. Saltz & Co., selling goods on Sunday; State vs. John Brittingham, larceny; State vs. C. Hubbard Dougherty, selling goods on Sunday; State vs. John Wessels, selling goods on Sunday; State vs. Lit. Crowwell, embezzlement; State vs. James Crisfield, assault with intent to kill three charges; State vs. Charles Tankersley, assault; State vs. Sewell Wilson, carrying concealed weapons; State vs. Martin Wilson, carrying concealed weapons; State vs. Rush Wilson, carrying concealed weapons; State vs. Edward Sterling, William Nelson and Jackson Sterling, larceny.

The grand jury—S. Frank Dashiell, foreman—made the following recommendation: "That the Justices of the Peace of Somerset county better familiarize themselves with the laws pertaining to their office, to the end that many minor cases may be disposed of and save the expense of bringing the same before the grand jury and the Circuit Court."

The committee—Messrs. Ira B. Stokes, R. E. Larmore and G. I. Lawton—to investigate the condition of the county buildings, the Court House, Jail and Alms-house, made the following report:

Found the Court House in good condition and recommended that the county authorities provide more comfortable places, as those who work in the School Commissioners' room are crowded and have not enough room to handle the school supplies to any advantage.

They found the Jail in good condition, excepting one outbuilding which is dilapidated and dangerous and recommended that it be torn down or put in good repair. The prisoners spoke very highly of the jailor and his wife—Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Bryden—and that their treatment had been of the very best.

They found the Alms-house to be in good condition with the exception of the stable, which needs repair, and recommended the repairs be made as soon as possible. The farm contains 40 acres of land and about dwelling. On the farm they found two mules, 1 cow, 11 hogs, 1 brood W. 9 shoats, 200 chickens, 14 acres corn, 15 stacks of fodder, one farm wagon and horse cart.

In the insane department of the Alms-house they found inmates—4 colored women and 5 colored men. In the Alms-house there are white women, 2 white men, 4 colored women and 2 colored men. The inmates extend to Mr. and Mrs. Bids their hearty appreciation for the dinner and hospitable treatment.

During the week the following cases were disposed of:

No. 1—Civil peals—Henry Sterling, administrator of Zachariah Nelson, vs. William W. Suit for debt. Before court. Judgment in favor of plaintiff.

No. 5—Civil peals—Guy Garrison vs. Richard D. Appeal from judgment of Justice of the Peace. Before court. Appeal dismissed, judgment sustained.

No. 2—Criminal Appeals—William E. Jdy vs. James T. Owens. Appeal from judgment of Justice of the Peace. Before court. Judgment affirmed party to pay own costs.

No. 2—Vance W. Miles Co., vs. N. Y. R. R. Co. Suit for damages. Jury. Jury finds for plaintiff answers damages at $120.

No. 12—Peals—State vs. James Crisfield; with intent to kill. Before court, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

No. 9—Peals—State vs. C. Hubbard Derty, selling goods on Sunday. Before court. Guilty, sentenced to pay $20 and costs.

No. 8—Peals—Criminal Continuances—A. Thomas Young, selling goods before court. Guilty, court finds guilty and suspends sentence until that party pays fine of 5 cents and of good behavior 6 years in each case.

BIG SHARK CAPTURED NEAR CRISFIELD

600-Pound Man-Eater Caught In A Net In Tangier Sound

A man-eating shark about 8 feet long was landed at the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk pier at Crisfield last Wednesday morning by one of the fish boats of L. R. Carson, one of the largest sea food dealers in Crisfield. The big fish was quite the center of attraction for the day, and hundreds viewed the monster, which weighed about 600 pounds, and was fully 6 feet in circumference at the largest part.

When the boat bearing the shark reached the pier life was not extinct, and the man-eater occasionally moved its fins. However, it was near death from the wounds inflicted by its captors, and soon expired.

Mr. Carson's boat left Crisfield early Wednesday morning to cast nets near Old Island. As they hauled the net in they found that something more than the usual catch occupied the net, as the shark soon made itself known. After quite a struggle the crew got the big fellow in the boat, and then the fun began. The shark flopped around, and its big tail at times was dangerous, and the grey mouth, with its saw teeth, was a menace to the entire crew.

After a time they succeeded in chopping the tail about two-thirds off and the shark bled profusely, but before it was finally subdued it was necessary to stab it under the left fin. Then the shark was rendered manageable, and, after the balance of the fish in the net were landed, the boat proceeded to Crisfield.

The fish was a grayish blue and its mouth was some distance from the front and made a slash almost all the way across the throat and was very large. It contained three rows of teeth, one in the upper jaw and two in the lower jaw. The teeth in the upper jaw were very much like a saw. The meat appeared to be tough and stringy and was of a sickly grayish tint.

This is the first shark to be caught in these waters. Several have been reported in Somerset waters, and Tangier Sound has been the scene of several shark attacks. One shark was reported to have visited the harbor and fed on the dead fish.

Mr. Carson shipped the fish to a hotel in Cincinnati, where it will be placed on exhibition.

For Protection Of Game And Fish

State Game Warden Lee LeCompte is making what is apparently a sincere effort to enforce the laws for the protection of Maryland game and fish. At his request Attorney General Albert C. Ritchie has interpreted the several laws. Mr. LeCompte is urging his deputies throughout the state to be on the job. He says:

"I shall expect all deputy wardens to be on the lookout for violators of our game and fish laws. The unlawful catching and sale of undersized fish has worked very injuriously to the industry of our state for years past, and I appeal to all the justices of the peace and judges of all courts to help our commission break up this wholesale slaughter of our food supply by prosecuting all offenders brought within their jurisdiction."

"We have opening for some good men to act as deputy wardens in the following counties: Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Talbot, Wicomico, Somerset, Worcester, Calvert, Caroline, Charles, St. Mary's and Howard. The other counties of Maryland are very well covered."

District Meeting Of Red Men

A district meeting of the order of Red Men from the counties of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset will be held in Princess Anne tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon. The representatives from the different lodges will be the guests of Wa Wa Tribe, No. 121, while in Princess Anne. On Wednesday night the Red Men will leave the war path and devote themselves to the joys of the feast after a successful hunting trip.

The Great Chiefs of Maryland will be present with Wa Wa Tribe and will make addresses for the good of the order. The wives and friends of the members of the local lodge are to be the honored guests of the tribe on this occasion, which will be held in their wigwam in the Auditorium building.

This is expected to be one of the big events of the year with the order. After the addresses a luncheon of oysters, Maryland biscuits and coffee will be served.

Orcharding At The Delaware Station

Are the methods advocated by the professors and the experiment station experts practical and profitable? The Delaware State College has just published a bulletin giving the costs and proceeds from the peach orchard on the College Farm, showing the expenses of planting, tillage, fertilizer, marketing and all other expenses, giving the cost per bushel of the peach crop, the selling price and the net profit. The bulletin was prepared to show the farmers that the excellent fruit was raised profitably under conditions similar to those which could be used on the ordinary farm.

"Jim" Patten Nets Million On Wheat

James A. Patten, the big Chicago grain market operator, has made profits of more than $1,000,000 by the rise in wheat. According to The Northwestern Miller, he only recently sold out the bulk of 4,000,000 bushels, bought at $1.18 to $1.23 a bushel in July. On one day of last week he unloaded 1,500,000 bushels and at another time sold 1,000,000 bushels at more than $1.52 a bushel. His profits from the operations are estimated to have averaged more than 30 cents a bushel.

TARIFF

The tariff has been revised, not on the principle of repelling foreign trade, but upon the principle of encouraging it, upon something like a footing of equality with our own in respect of the terms of competition, and a tariff board has been created whose function it will be to keep the relations of American and foreign business and industry under constant observation, for the guidance alike of our business men and our congress. American energies are now directed toward the markets of the world.

CANNED GOODS WILL BE HIGHER

Maryland Canning Season Shows Shortage In The Pack

The canning season is practically over in Maryland and everything in the way of canned vegetables and fruits will be higher than for several years.

Maryland and Delaware put up the bulk of tomatoes used in the United States, and all reports from these sections indicate not more than a two-third pack.

Last season (1915) the tomato pack in Maryland was 3,084,000; in Delaware 711,000. This year it is claimed, on the most conservative estimates, that in both states the pack will fall far below these figures.

The shortage in the pack can easily be accounted for when one recalls the almost incessant rains of the summer and the several severe storms, accompanied by terrible high winds, which whipped the blossoms off the vines, thereby destroying the bearing qualities of the plant.

Last year tomatoes sold as low as 60 cents per dozen for No. 3 cans; today the same goods are freely taken at 90 to 95 cents.

What is true of the tomato market is also true of all canned fruits. Peaches will be owing largely to the high cost of sugar to the canners. Peas, corn and all like products will cost more this year, as the wholesale dealers say that the indications are that there will not be enough canned goods to go around until the pack of 1917 comes off.

Hicks' Forecasts For October

A reactionary storm period is central on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th. The moon is at greatest south declination on the 2nd, and at first quarter on the 4th. The Mars, Earth and Mercury periods bear with their combined perturbing forces on this period. On and touching these dates storm forces will be augmented—the barometer will break down, temperature will rise, and increasing cloudiness, merging into rain, wind, and probably snow and sleet, will take up their accustomed march over the country from west to east.

A regular storm period is central on the 9th, covering Saturday, the 7th, to Tuesday, the 12th. On and about the 10th and 11th these storms will be central over a vast area, stretching up and down the great central valley.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 14th, 15th and 16th. This period finds the moon at greatest declination north on the 15th.

A regular storm period is central on the 20th, reaching over Wednesday, the 18th, to Tuesday 24th. The moon is in apogee and at last quarter on the 18th, and on the celestial equator, going southward, on the 23rd. We arrive at the center of the Mars' equinoctial disturbance on the 21st. The quadrature of the planet Saturn, together with the opposition of the great planet Jupiter, fall within one hour of each other on the 23rd. For all these, and other reasons not enumerated, we conclude that this will prove the most violent and dangerous storm period during this month.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 25th, 26th and 27th. The moon is in conjunction with Sun and Earth on the 26th. Centering on and next to the 26th, therefore, expect a return of decided storm conditions. Rain, wind thunder, merging into snow, and followed by rising barometer and change to much colder, are among the things to expect. The moon will be at extreme south declination on the 29th, which fact will contribute to prolonged cold, with the atmospheric tides from the north. Change to warmer will be in sight from westerly direction as we pass out of October.

Among the candidates who have recently taken the competitive examination for scholarship in the department of engineering at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, were Messrs. N. Holland and E. S. Daugherty, of Somerset county.

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE

The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says:
No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness.

FEEDING WORK HORSES.

Suggestions For Increasing the Efficiency of Draft Animals.

In order that the best results be obtained, the matter of feeding work horses should be well understood, writes Dr. W. M. Burton in Orange Judd Farmer. Feeding should be in accord with the kind and quantity of work performed by the animal. An understanding of the arrangement of the digestive system and proportions of the digestive organs is essential.

Work horses and mules should be watered frequently during warm weather and always before feeding rather than Admirers of the Shire horse claim that it has more vitality and vim than the other draft breeds and that it is of kinder disposition and more easily broken to harness. The Shire crosses well because Shire blood will impress itself on the offspring. Shires are also easy keepers. The stallion pictured is a Shire.

afterward. The quantity of feed necessary to enable the animal to perform the required amount of work is governed by several factors. The kind of work, the speed at which it is performed, the age, weight and type of the animal, the care exercised by the driver, the adjustment of harness and load, climatic conditions, character of feed, all have a direct bearing in the matter. Animals driven at high speed and those doing heavy hauling and other rough work, such as grading and lumbering, require more feed than those doing ordinary farm or town work.

Young growing animals require more feed, in order to keep up the processes of growth and development, than animals of mature age.

In many instances lightweight animals, fitted by nature only for light work, are put at work in which weight is a considerable factor—i. e., plowing and lumbering. Naturally the extra effort required of the lightweight animal must be compensated with additional nourishment.

Feedstuffs that contain an excessive amount of woody or fibrous material are difficult of digestion and dangerous on account of the likelihood of causing obstruction of the bowels. Bulky and innutritious foods are not fit for work animals. Digestion of such foods may be carried on better by animals standing at rest than those at work. Moldy, dirty or otherwise spoiled feeds should not be given to horses or mules. Such feeds are dangerous and often are the direct cause of serious illness and death of animals.

The best results are obtained by feeding grain three times a day and roughage once a day. Divide the grain as follows: One-fourth for morning, half at noon, one-fourth at night. Roughage is preferably fed at nighttime.

Regular hours for feeding and working are essential. The system of the animal accustoms itself to a routine. If feeding is irregular the best results cannot be expected.

ALFALFA HAY FOR HOGS.

Excellent Feed For Swine When Pastures Are Running Short.

Selling alfalfa hay to the hogs for $25 a ton sounds like a good business proposition, particularly when crops of three to five tons to the acre can be grown annually, says Farm and Fireside. Hog feeding tests made by the New Mexico experiment station show that when no pasture is available alfalfa hay fed to hogs in connection with grain concentrates will give good results.

These experiments show that 585 pounds of good alfalfa hay will make 100 pounds of gain, or save to the feeder 500 pounds of grain concentrates composed of ground barley and wheat shorts. The hogs used in these experiments weighed 170 pounds at the beginning of the test. The average gain per day for a period of thirty-six days was two-thirds pound a day on the alfalfa hay, ground barley and wheat shorts ration.

When the hogs were fed silage in place of the alfalfa hay the gain of the alfalfa hay fed hogs was $28.82 greater for each carload fed. Stated differently, the alfalfa hay that had a commercial value of $10 a ton and fed to the hogs in connection with grain concentrates gave the feeder $15 profit per ton on the hay.

The alfalfa hay consumed by the hogs during these experiments constituted nearly one-third by weight of the food eaten. The average daily consumption of alfalfa hay was three pounds and of silage five pounds by hogs that weighed 170 pounds at the beginning of the experiment.

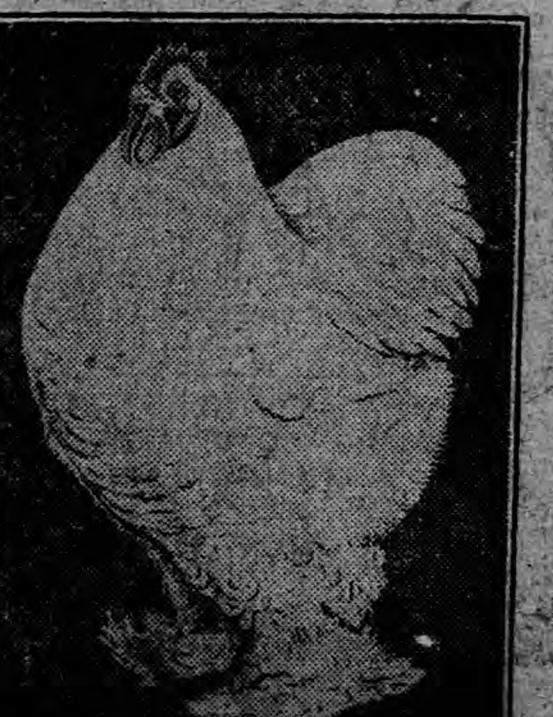

POULTRY PICKINGS.

Do not make the mistake of keeping more birds over until the winter arrives than you can properly take care of. Now is the time to look carefully over the winter quarters of the hens for any leaks in the roofs, sides, etc. Those who breed white birds should be sure that they have plenty of shade while molting. Feed very sparingly of yellow corn; none is better than too much. Look after the shanks of your older birds. See that they are clean. If you note any rough or scaly eruptions get after them without delay. Look and see if the dust bath is clean. Don't feed poor, cheap meat scraps. It has caused the loss of many chicks this season.

DISEASES OF POULTRY AND THEIR TREATMENT

When a disease has become firmly established in a flock or a single bird is badly affected the free use of the hatchet is usually the most practical method, as it does not pay to spend $2 worth of time in curing a one dollar bird. Slight cases, however, can often be cured with little trouble. In nearly every instance it is better to remove the well fowls and put them by themselves, and in the case of infectious disease the premises should be thoroughly disinfected.

Roup or Contagious Catarrh.—The first symptoms of this disease are similar to those of simple catarrh, but as the disease advances there is often swelling of the sides of the head, and the nostrils become closed with thick mucus, causing the birds to breathe through the mouth. If the swellings contain pus they should be opened with a sharp instrument, the contents removed and the wound treated with a mild antiseptic, such as a 2 per cent solution of carbolic acid. The application of kerosene mixed with an equal part of olive oil has given good results in many cases. When a fowl has a bad case of roup it is usually better to kill it unless especially valuable.

The White Cochon is a handsome fowl, large and round, with heavily feathered legs and feet. The hens are good mothers, and the chicks grow rapidly. The pullets reach maturity in from six to eight months, but neither sex attains full size until a year. The cock shown is a White Cochon.

Vertigo.—This is also a disease of the brain and may be regarded as a minor kind of apoplexy. The bird shows giddiness, throwing its head upward, backward or to one side. The gait is uncertain and staggering, the sufferer often running around in a circle. Sometimes the bird falls to the ground, fluttering and making convulsive movements with the legs. The bird can often be revived by holding its head under a stream of cold water. After this keep the bird in a cool and shady place for some time and regulate the diet.

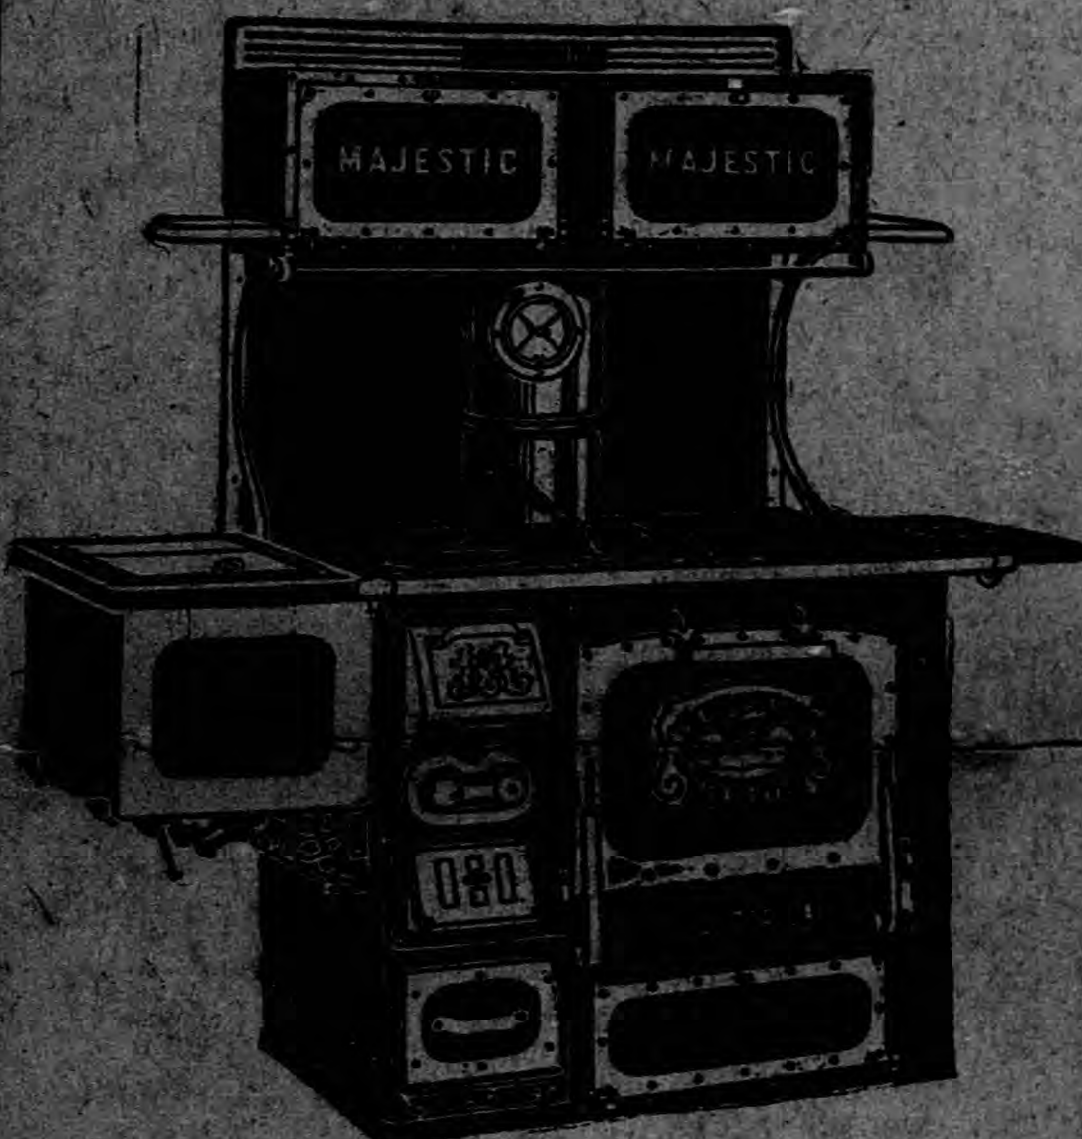

Catarrh.—Catarrh is a form of cold that is quite common among fowls and may be caused by dampness, drafts or air or exposure to cold. It is indicated by a watery discharge at the nostrils, which later becomes more viscid. Remove the cause, keep the birds fairly warm and give them plenty of easily digested feed. The injection of kerosene into the nostrils is also beneficial. If catarrh has become confirmed the nostrils and throat should be cleansed with hydrogen peroxide and equal parts of water several times daily and the nostrils greased with vaseline.

Diphtheria.—The marked symptom is the appearance of a diseased growth in the throat and inside the mouth, resembling raised patches of whitish or pale yellowish skin, which may invade the entire throat and mouth, often also appearing like ulcers or sores on the face, comb and about the eyes. Make a swab of cotton tied on the end of a stick and swab out the mouth with hydrogen peroxide. Remove any of the growths that come away easily. This disease is very contagious, and any birds suffering from it should be removed from the flock and the premises disinfected.

No Best Breed.

There is no one "best" breed or variety of fowls for any purpose. The usefulness of any flock depends almost as much on the way it is fed, bred and cared for as upon the variety.

Election Day, Nov. 7th

Even one fleeting smile is worth a whole year of frown.

The fact that a man buys cheaper cuts of meat for his family does not prove that he will buy any cheaper cigars if tobacco goes up.

The fact that the doctors admit they don't know much about infant paralysis has had no visible effect so far on the size of their bills.

The voter feels like a king as he listens to the respectful adulation of the candidates, but that feeling doesn't last long after election.

Matches having gone up, many hotels are not giving them away, but if you give the dusky porter a quarter he will get you one or two.

Having been sharply warned of the necessity of diligence and industry the college students are putting in long hours at football practice.

About now the prudent householder reflects that if he keeps away from the home as much as possible his wife may take out the window screens herself.

It is a terrible hardship for people to get up at five o'clock now, but very easy and pleasant to do it if the clocks are simply set ahead two hours under the daylight saving plan.

It is hard to tell the difference between the October weddings, or the language of the club reporters sent out to write them up.

The present campaign, above all else, involves choice between the very definite deeds of Woodrow Wilson in the public interest and the very indefinite words of candidate Hughes in his own interest.

After burning up several barrels of waste paper that have collected during the summer, the householder proceeds to complain because the newspapers, on account of shortage of stock, are compelled to use such poor material.

STUDYING LIVING COSTS

The old-fashioned home was a great student of detail. Thereby it lived simply and saved money. It had meats, fruits, and vegetables in a way that would seem lavish now. This was not merely because prices were lower. People knew what things ought to cost and they bought shrewdly.

As the country has increased in wealth many families have gotten away from this thoughtful study of domestic economy. Purchases are made largely by telephone. A great many people have little idea of what daily necessities ought to cost.

As prices have advanced, people are inclined to revert to the careful, old-fashioned practices of intelligent buying. It is here that the newspaper and its advertising columns become the greatest single means for evading high living costs.

The newspaper contains in each issue a directory of merchants ambitious and progressive enough to advertise. Just patronizing those merchants is a matter of domestic economy, even if they do not tell much in detail about their goods. It is becoming better realized, however, that an advertisement should be more than a mere announcement. Merchants are making it a means of educating the public. They give little talks on qualities, values and fabrics. The woman who reads the newspaper advertisements thoughtfully, can render more efficient service to her family. She gets an intelligent idea of prices and many useful facts about brands of goods, processes of manufacture, and the supply of food products.

In addition she is constantly learning of special opportunities by which supplies can be purchased at less than standard prices. Exigencies requiring such sales occur every day in every store. The skillful home buyer runs her establishment largely on these special values, made known by newspaper advertising. It means that much of the high cost of living is evaded.

GOOD SERVICE RENDERED

Woodrow Wilson stands for free government, for honest government, for visible government—for the common rights of men and women, of business groups and organizations, of municipalities and States, of the United States and of the other nations of the world whether they be weak or powerful. He has been free of the influence of special interests whether brought to bear by money power within the United States or by the greatest military power on earth. Proof lies in the long, explicit and wonderful record of his performance in the Presidency. For that reason he was able to say in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for President:

"I do not doubt that the people of the United States will wish the Democratic party to continue in control of the Government. They are not in the habit of rejecting those who have actually served them for those who are making doubtful and conjectural promises of service. Least of all are they likely to substitute those who promise to render them particular services and proved false to that promise for those who have actually rendered those very services."

THE CHOICE OF SCHOOL COURSES

Many parents are puzzling their heads over selection of school and college courses for their boys. Shall they go in for technical work? Or shall they take the older lines supposed to promote mental training and general intelligence?

The tendency of the times seems to favor technical work. Engineering schools of multifarious kinds report a great demand for their graduates. The world almost seems to place a higher value on skill than brains. The oily and soot covered engineer in his dirty cap often earns his $5.00 a day. The struggling young lawyer in the luxurious Pullman behind him may not make half that pay.

Certainly a boy who shows skill with his hands should go into technical work. The openings for the man who knows any such subject down to the bottom are numerous and golden.

But there is still a place for the old education of mental training. The colleges are learning that mere information is not enough. A boy must be taught to express himself in a logical, persuasive way. He must have the power to think out situations and organize and systematize.

So the boy who shows general mental intelligence, but has little manual skill, is hardly the one for the technical school. But as he digs at algebraic equations or Latin roots, let him realize that he is not thinking out any possible means of resourcefulness. He must estimate at its true value the meaning of every word, or the finer distinctions of all human relations will always escape him.

So the choice of school courses comes down to a question of individual fitness. The parent must study the aptitudes of his youngster. Even if a boy does not make a great business success, general intelligence has great value. The boy who is widely informed about human experience and social progress is an asset in civic life.

New War Horrors

The civilized world, since the war began in Europe, often has been forced to believe the unbelievable. And yet it instantly rejects the reports from semi-official sources in France and England, which charge that Germany is maintaining a secret system for the inoculation of prisoners of war with tuberculosis in order to decimate the fighting forces of her enemies and to "drag the rest of civilization down with her."

The long recitals relating to what is called the culminating war horror bear evidences of having been inspired in hysteria. They are eloquent of the stresses of national sentiment under the effects of the awful conflict rather than of any new system of frightfulness developed in Germany. To characterize such a plan as barbaric would be to offer an inexcusable affront to the relatively decent savages usually designated by that term.

Prisoners of the present war in alien countries have usually been accorded the honor and consideration due men who have gone through the Gehenna of a modern battlefield. Any outrage upon them involves a sacrifice of honor and decency by the government that permits it. A war upon such prisoners by a method so cruel would indicate a nation of persecutors gone violently mad.

The crowded condition of the German prison camps and the scarcity of food and the other necessities of normal living, following upon the hardships of bitter campaigns, doubtless tend to wreck the health of many prisoners in Germany. A scourge of tuberculosis widely spread would be the natural result of conditions as now prevail in Germany's war camps. The other explanation of increasing numbers of invalids among German and French prisoners isn't likely to be generally accepted even in France or in England.—Evening Bulletin.

Crabs And Frogs

There is no doubt whatever that crabs of marketable size are far less abundant in all parts of the Chesapeake region than they were twenty or even ten years ago. Crab fishermen from the Potomac down to the lower armlets of the Bay are in common agreement as to the depletion of the crab yield. As to the method of replenishment the last legislature enacted several statutes which have for their aim the saving of the small crabs and the protection of the female during breeding stages. The Conservation Commission seems to be making determined efforts to enforce the crab cull law; so, at least, recent arrests for violation of this law would seem to indicate. Swenson Earle, engineer of the Conservation Commission, manifests a large degree of confidence concerning the probability of replenishing the crab stock under the provisions of the recently enacted conservation laws.

There is another water food industry that Mr. Earle seems to regard as possessing possibilities that have never been properly realized upon in Maryland. This is the culture and marketing of the large broods of water frogs—bull frogs. In several of the inland states frog farming has been undertaken with what the state reports represent to be a considerable degree of success. As to the wild bull frog, that game has everywhere been hunted to the limit and, in many favorable breeding sections, to the verge of extermination. Frogs may be grown with a little care and attention in any fresh water pond. They must be protected, however, at all stages from their natural enemies: It is difficult to raise frogs and the fresh water fish known as the pike or pickerel in the same lake or pond; the frogs just naturally disappear in the digestive machinery of the pike.

There is scarcely any kind of water food that cannot be increased by protective methods and painstaking cultural effort. There can never be a satisfactory increase of any water food under a scheme that regards every water food as a wild or common property.—Baltimore American.

Catarthal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarthal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarthal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running, second or third eye hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarth, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube.

PUBLIC SALE

VALUABLE FARM

Having decided to leave Maryland, I will offer at Public Sale, in front of the Court House, in Princess Anne, on at or about the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., all that farm or tract of land known as "TUSCULUM," containing Two Hundred and Eighty-five (285) Acres, more or less, situated on Big Moccasin Creek, and about six miles from Princess Anne, in West County, Maryland. This farm is improved by a large and commodious two and one-half story frame dwelling in good repair, and a large barn and necessary outbuildings. The house is located on the banks of the creek, surrounded by a large lawn of beautiful shade trees.

About one hundred and forty-five (145) acres of this tract of land is tillable, most of which is well set in timothy, clover and alfalfa, and is especially adapted to the growing of corn, wheat, oats and hay. The balance of the land is set in timber. About one-half of the farm has been recently fenced with first-class woven wire fencing, and the whole is in excellent shape and well equipped for stock raising.

There is a young peach orchard of six (6) acres growing, and a large apple orchard in bearing on said farm.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third in cash on the day of sale, and the balance to be secured by a mortgage on said property, payable in gold and silver, two years from the day of sale, with interest annually.

Regard For National Honor

Mr. Hughes, in his speech at Dayton, Ohio, on Monday, which throughout bore more resemblance to the oration of a high school graduate than an appeal by a candidate for a great office to the suffrages of a great people, made the declaration that the Republican party "has been the party of national honor." But what a difficult task would be his if he undertook to support this declaration with absolute proof.

It is not necessary to go back very far to find a striking instance of the disregard of national honor by Representatives elected by the Republican party to the Congress of the United States. A resolution offered by a renegade Democrat, the adoption of which would have been a virtual surrender of our country's rights on the high seas to Germany, was supported by 101 Republican members of the House of Representatives. Eighty-seven Republican members revolted at the offensive and unpatriotic proposition and joined the great bulk of the Democratic members in defeating it.

Republican support alone—in which the Representative from our own little State of Delaware unfortunately joined, to the dismay of many of his constituents—imparted slight prestige to this dishonorable proposition, which should not have received the vote of a single member. Republican support furnished the bulk of the vote in its favor. And yet Mr. Hughes prates that the Republican party "is the party of national honor."—Wilmington Evening.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, passed in a cause in which the Bank of Somerset is plaintiff and the heirs of Charles A. Miller and others are defendants, the undersigned trustee therein named, will sell at public auction at the Court House door, in Princess Anne, Maryland, on beginning at or about the hour of 1:30 o'clock p. m., the following described tracts of land in Somerset county, Maryland, of which the late Charles A. Miller died seized, namely:

No. 1—All that farm in Westover District, on the east side of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, and on the north side of the state road leading from Princess Anne through the village of Westover to Grinstead, near said village, containing more or less, adjoining the land of Lewis Layfield, and whereon Theodore F. Busy now resides, being all that part of the first parcel of land mentioned in a deed to said Miller from Columbus Adams and wife, dated the 15th day of July, 1903, recorded among the land records of said county in Liber O. T. B. No. 37, folio 83, etc., which lies on the north side of said state road, and including a small strip of land which was conveyed to said Miller by Michael Brown and wife, improved by a dwelling house, barn and other outbuildings, and also by a canning house with machinery and equipment and warehouses.

This farm will be first offered in two parcels, one containing 4-5 of an acre with Canning House and its appurtenances, and the other containing the balance of the farm with dwelling house, barn and outbuildings, and will then be offered as a whole, the trustee reserving the right to accept the most advantageous bid or bids or to reject all bids. A plot of the said canning house property can be seen at the office of the trustee.

No. 2—All that farm on the north side of the county road leading from Westover to Green Hill, and on the northwest side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, known as the "Allen Farm," adjoining the land of James M. Long, and containing more or less, and being all the land which was conveyed to said Miller by William S. McMaster, assigned, by deed dated the 2nd day of March, 1900, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 30, folio 48, etc., except so much hereof as was conveyed by said Miller to Levin A. Coplin.

No. 3—All that tract of land in Dublin District, on the southeast side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, and opposite No. 2, which was conveyed to said Miller by Levin A. Waters and Henry J. Waters, trustees, by deed dated the 8th day of July, 1888, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 36, folio 467, etc., containing more or less, improved by a Large Store House and large barn.

No. 4—All that lot of land in Fairmount district, containing more or less, including "Helderson's Island," which was conveyed to said Miller by H. Fillmore Lankford, trustee, by deed dated the 30th day of April, 1910, recorded in Liber W. J. S. No. 70, folio 615, etc., improved by an Oyster House, where the late Benjamin F. Lankford carried on the oyster business.

4 1-2 ACRES,

Possession of No. 4 will be given on compliance with the terms of sale, and possession of the other properties will be given on the 1st day of January, 1917.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third cash on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months from the day of sale, to be secured by the bonds of the purchaser or purchasers with security satisfactory to the trustee, bearing interest from the day of sale, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers. Title papers at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

H. FILLMORE LANKFORD,
Trustee.

NOTICE.—The creditors of the late Charles A. Miller, deceased, are hereby notified to file their claims with the vouchers thereof, in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Somerset County within two months from the date hereof.

HILLMORE LANKFORD
Trustee.

Chronic Catarrh is Curable

Nothing is more distressing to the sufferer and his friends. Chronic catarrh is systemic—that is, it is present throughout the body, though it may manifest itself in a local ulceration. Only a constitutional treatment will overcome systemic catarrh. Local treatments sometimes help the acute manifestations, but they cannot overcome the systemic disorder.

PERUNA Has Helped Thousands

It is a fact to catarrh. The voluntary testimony of thousands establishes that. Peruna benefits in a number of ways. Peruna builds up the digestion, restores the strength, and helps put the system in condition.

Peruna has special value in catarrh. It gives vitality to the system, restores tone to the mucous membranes and enables these to perform their functions. In many cases its benefits begin at once, and it rarely fails when treatment is continued properly. The Peruna Medical Department will be glad to assist you to overcome this disease. The doctor's advice is free. Don't delay treatment.

Following the leadership of the daily press we have been compelled to do what we could towards reducing our consumption of paper, the astonishing condition of this market being well known to every one. To this end we have followed their leadership with the pruning knife to reduce our exchange and our complimentary lists, so when these good friends fail to receive the Marylander and Herald as of old they will kindly charge the omission up to the stress of the paper market and not to any lessening of our desire to have them among our readers.

If a man were to give another an orange, he would just simply say "I give you this orange," but when the transaction is entrusted to the hands of a lawyer to put in writing, he adopts this form: "I hereby give and convey to you, all and singular, my estate and interest, right, title, claim and advantage of and in said orange, together with all of its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, and all right and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut, suck and otherwise eat the same orange or give the same away with or without the rind, skin, juice or pulp or pips, anything heretofore or hereafter by me or instruments of whatever nature or kindsoever, to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."—Annapolis Capital.

Monument For The Maine Victims
Work was commenced last week on the monument in memory of the victims of the United States battleship Maine blown up in Havana harbor in February, 1898. The monument will be erected in a small park opposite the Santa Clara battery, near the wall of the Malecon.

On either side of the memorial staff will be placed on which will be hoisted the stars and stripes and the flag of the Cuban republic. The monument will be on a base sixteen feet in height, the total height to be 67 feet.

The principal feature of the monument will be the first turret of the battleship and two of its guns. These relics were presented to the Cuban Government by the American Congress. The monument will cost $100,000, which was transferred for the purpose by President Menocal from unused credits after the Cuban Congress failed to make an appropriation.

Better Methods, Better Schools
Farm life is improving and will continue to improve as long as an intelligent and united effort continues to be made by those engaged in agricultural pursuits to bring about better farming and better living on the farm. Better schools, churches, granges and community organizations are coming and are bringing better farming as well as making greater prosperity possible. The movement will be lasting because the children are being trained to produce more and better crops and to increase the productivity of their farms by rotation of crops use of good seed, fertilizers and better cultural methods, and to appreciate the possibilities in farming and in the enjoyment of the greater happiness and prosperity on the farm.

Bad Colds From Little Sneezes Grow
Many colds that hang on all winter start with a sneeze, a sniffle, a sore throat, a tight chest. You know the symptoms of colds and you know prompt treatment will break them up. Dr. King's New Discovery, with its soothing antiseptic balsam, has been breaking up colds and healing coughs of young and old for 47 years. Dr. King's New Discovery loosens the phlegm, clears the head, soothes the irritated membrane and makes breathing easier. At your Druggist.

U. S. Exports Set World's Record

American exports smashed all monthly records during August, when the total value of products shipped abroad by American producers exceeded the half-billion dollar mark. This is the substance of an announcement made last week by the Department of Commerce.

In all, Americans shipped for export during August goods valued at $510,000,000, a record, it is stated, not only for this country, but for the world. The total is $35,000,000 above the previous high mark, established in May, and $45,000,000 above the figures for June.

Imports decreased in August, the total being $199,247,000. This is $47,000,000 under the figures for June, the record import month. It was somewhat greater, however, than the total imports for August, 1915.

The exports for the twelve-month period ended with August aggregated $4,765,000,000, and the imports $2,300,000,000, both totals being much greater than those for any similar period in the country's history.

The favorable trade balance for August was $311,000,000, compared with $119,000,000 in August, 1915, and a balance of $19,000,000 in August, 1914, against the United States. For the 12 months ended August 31 the trade balance was $2,465,000,000, as against $1,363,000,000 in the preceding year, and $374,000,000 two years ago.

A Plain Truth

A man may patronize the mail order houses for years—may send them in that time hundreds of dollars—and at the same time they wouldn't accommodate him for a two-cent stamp. This is the plain unvarnished truth. If you think otherwise, try it yourself and see. These out-of-town houses do not know you—do not care to know you—are not interested in you in any way—only in the money you send them.

Send your money with your own townsmen, who know you for what you really are, who appreciate your worth, your business, your assistance in building up home interests.

Now Catarrh Is Contracted

Mother's are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

Violate Oyster Agreement.

The first reported violation of the oyster agreement, which was recently signed by Governor Harrington, of Maryland, and Governor Stuart, of Virginia, reached the State Conservation Commission Monday of last week.

The complaint came from Crisfield, where several cargoes of oysters were offered for sale which contained a large percentage of small or uncultured oysters. These cargoes were said to have been caught in the Pocomoke Sound, on the Virginia side of the line.

This is the question which has perplexed the Maryland oyster officials for many years, and it was to remedy this condition that the recent meeting of the governors of the two states was held, and it was agreed that all oysters coming into this state for sale from Virginia waters should be culled to conform with the laws of Maryland.

As soon as the information reached the Conservation Commission they telegraphed Mr. John S. Pearson, commissioner of fisheries of the state of Virginia, telling him of the violation of the agreement between the two states. Mr. Pearson wired the commission that he had ordered one of the Virginia state steamers to go at once to where the violations are said to be being made, and to apprehend all concerned in the case.

He Lost a Rib and Got a Wife

By OSCAR COX

It was shortly after the great united drive began on the part of the French and the English against the Germans. They were bringing the English wounded to the rear, where the surgeons were attending to them in the recently constructed hospitals. A young officer was carried into one of these hospitals, where equipment for operating had been prepared in advance of the drive, and laid on the operating table. The only assistant who could be spared for that particular operation was a Red Cross nurse. The patient was in too critical a condition to notice his surroundings.

A fragment of a shell had struck the man in the breast and broken several ribs, so crushing one of them that the surgeon felt it necessary to remove it. When the operation was concluded and the patient returned to consciousness he feebly asked the doctor what he had done. He was told of the removal of his rib. He lay quiet while the doctor attended to another patient, and when he returned to observe the condition of the first the man, who meanwhile had been removed to a camp cot, said to him:

"You say, doctor, that you have taken a rib from my side."

"Yes."

"And this woman," pointing to the nurse, "is the result."

Supposing that the patient was delirious, the surgeon, not willing to irritate him, assented.

"Well, then, I suppose I'm Adam and the woman is Eve. Were Adam and Eve married?"

"I don't know about that."

"Well, in these days couples are married. Bring a chaplain."

The surgeon looked from the patient to the nurse. She was regarding the wounded man with great anxiety.

"Come, hurry up," pursued the patient. "I may not pull through this, and I want Eve to inherit my property. If I don't have a legal heir there'll be no end of a fight among a lot of vultures."

Again the surgeon looked at the nurse. She was very much affected. She gave the doctor no clew as to her willingness to be thus suddenly married and made her presumptive to a fortune.

"You're not going to die," said the surgeon to the patient, "at least not of this wound. You may get another that will carry you off."

"Never mind that. You do what I tell you to do. Get a chaplain."

"What you suggest?" asked the latter of the nurse.

"Still he received no reply. But, assuming that with a woman silence gives consent, he called a hospital steward and sent him for a chaplain, who came from one dying man to another whom he thought to be dying.

Kneeling beside the cot, he was about to offer a prayer when the patient interrupted him.

"Get up. I don't want to be prayed into heaven; I want to be married."

"Oh!" The chaplain looked at the surgeon for an explanation. The surgeon looked at the nurse, thereby referring the matter to her. The patient put out a hand, took hers and drew her toward his cot.

"Proceed," said the invalid.

Since the nurse offered no objection the chaplain proceeded with the marriage service. He had barely finished when he was called upon to attend a man in the agony of death and was about to hurry away when the groom called him.

"Hold on," he said. "The bride wants a certificate."

The chaplain, whose duties involved taking down farewell messages, was provided with writing materials, which he took out and, using the operating table for a desk, wrote out a certificate of marriage, leaving a blank space for the names. Then he turned to the newly married couple to supply the information.

"Captain Ralph D. Chamberlain," said the groom, "and Lady Gladys Penn Gaskell."

Both the surgeon and the chaplain looked from the groom to the bride, surprised.

"Witness this union," said the groom, "and don't you forget it. We two are not strangers by any means. We wanted to be married long ago, but Lady Gladys' parents had other plans for her. Fate has been a good friend to us in putting me into the war and making her a nurse. But fate might have done the trick without playing this Adam and Eve game. It doesn't hurt Eve, but it's mighty hard on Adam. Do you really think, doctor, that I can get on without her in my breast?"

"No," replied the surgeon, "you can't get on without her, but you won't die without your rib."

Despite the seriousness of the situation and the distressing scenes near them, a smile appeared on the faces of the little group, except the bride, who sank on her knees beside her newly married husband and folded him in her arms.

By this marriage the bride came into possession of a fine estate which otherwise would have been picked to pieces by a hundred heirs. She nursed her husband to health, but he returned to the front, was struck again and was killed. The case is referred to by those who know about it not as a wedding, but a deathbed will. Captain Chamberlain's death hardly gave a will at the time, but the marriage certificate was much better to have than the other document.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.

SPAN OF TWO LONG LINES.

They Connect the Era of the Zeppelin With That of the Sedan Chair.

The late Henry Gassaway Davis, once a vice presidential candidate, saw and heard as a boy in Baltimore in 1823 the ceremonies at the official beginning of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The personage of the occasion, the driver of "the first spike," as we should say nowadays, was the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, the richest American of the eighteenth century, the great gentleman and illustrious patriot, Charles Carroll of Carrollton.

Born in 1737, Charles Carroll had yet four years to live. Thus these two lives are an arch of nearly 180 years between the American colonies of George II's time and the third year of Mr. Wilson's administration, when Mr. Davis' long life came to an end. The year of his birth was 1823.

A mere two dozen of such lives as Carroll's and Davis', a dozen of their united span of years, would take us back to the first Punic war. Charles Carroll and Henry Gassaway Davis, who saw him, together take us from the sedan chair period to that of the Zeppelin—New York Times.

Pigeons and a Doctor.

The carrier pigeon has been put to a new use by a doctor in Scotland who has a large and scattered practice. When he goes on long rounds he carries a number of pigeons with him. If he finds that some of his patients require medicine at once he writes out prescriptions and by means of his pigeons forwards them to his surgery. Here an assistant gets the messages, prepares the prescriptions and dispatches the medicine.

If after visiting a patient the doctor thinks he will be required later in the day, he simply leaves a pigeon, which is employed to summon him if necessary. To this enterprising physician the keeping of carrier pigeons means a saving of time and expense and labor.

A Gallie.

"Any one call while I was out, Katie?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Who was it?"

"I don't know, ma'am."

"Didn't you answer the bell?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"What did she look like?"

"I didn't see her, ma'am."

"You answered the bell, but didn't see her?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Why, Katie, I don't understand—"

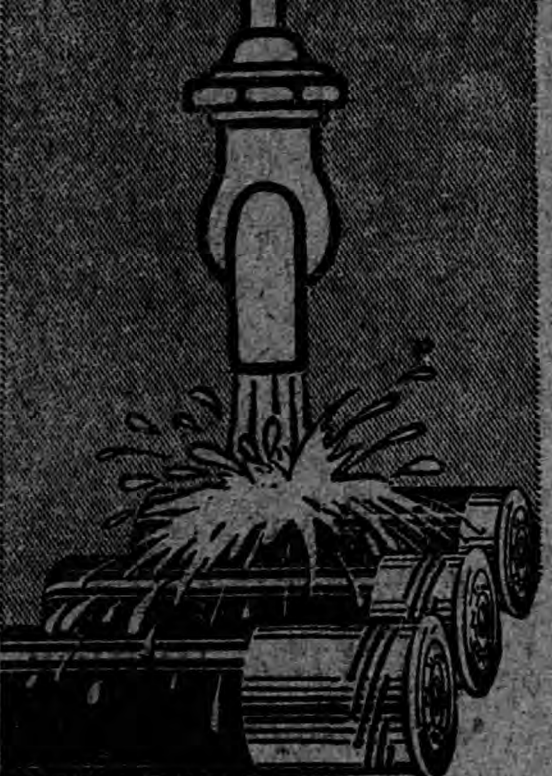

"Well, ma'am, don't blame me; blame the telephone!"—Yonkers Statesman.

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony Of Princess Anne People Stand The Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Princess Anne people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from kidney trouble is looking for.

John B. Fleming, 386 Main street, Princess Anne, says: "I was troubled back, brought on by disordered kidneys. At times, the misery was rather severe and gave me much uneasiness. The kidney secretions were disordered and contained sediment. I often read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at O. A. Jones' drug store. The good results led me to recommend them to others afflicted with kidney disorder."

(Statement given October 14, 1907.) On July 24, 1916, Mr. Fleming said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as ever. I always say a good word for them when I have an opportunity."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Young had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

For Young People What must you know to find work quickly in business offices?

What is paid for such service? What must you know to hold positions and to be promoted rapidly? Where shall you get the necessary training? How long will it take, and what will it cost? Who else have taken such courses and how have they made out? And after all, should you enter business and in what capacity?

PROCLAMATION

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND CREATING A BUDGET SYSTEM

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1918, an Act was passed, to-wit: Chapter 12 of said Act, being an Act to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State; and which said Act is in words and figures following:

"CHAPTER 12."

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, regulating the making of appropriations by the General Assembly of Maryland in regular session, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring), That the following be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, the same, if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided, to become Section 32 of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly shall not appropriate any money out of the Treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section A: Every appropriation bill shall be either a Budget Bill, or a Supplementary Appropriation Bill, as hereinafter mentioned.

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a newly elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of each year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two fiscal years next preceding; (2) the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus of the State; (3) the debts and deficit of the State; (4) an estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the fiscal years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Governor may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second. Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations" and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the Judiciary Department; as provided by law, certified to the Governor by the Comptroller; (4) to pay and discharge the interest and principal of the debt of the State of Maryland in conformity with Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution; (5) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (6) for the establishment and maintenance throughout the State of a thorough and efficient system of public schools in conformity with Article VIII of the Constitution and with the laws of the State; (7) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution of the State.

Third. The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations" and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Governor shall deliver to the presiding officer of each House the budgets and a bill for all the proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified, and the presiding officer of each House shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill."

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both Houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill such amendment or supplement may affect.

The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the executive departments, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, or the payment of any salary or compensation of any public officer, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the Judiciary, but except as hereinafter specified, may not alter the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however, that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased during his term of office; and such bill when and as passed by both Houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.

Fourth. The Governor and such representatives of the executive departments, boards, officers and commissions of the State as he may designate, shall have the right, and shall be requested by either House of the Legislature, it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer in substance thereto.

Sub-Section C: Supplementary Appropriation Bill:

Neither House shall consider other appropriations until the Budget Bill has been finally acted upon by both Houses, and no such other appropriation shall be valid except in accordance with the provisions following: (1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called henceforth a Supplementary Appropriation Bill; (2) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation, to be made by a tax, direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said bill; (3) No Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each House by a vote of a majority of the whole number of the members elected; and the year and day recorded on its final passage; (4) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said Section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing at any time in accordance with the provisions of Section 22 of Article III of the Constitution and subject to the Governor's power of approval as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of Maryland within the protection of Section 10 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D: General Provisions:

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor shall extend the session for a period of not more than thirty days, and he shall, by proclamation, extend the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such Bill; but no other matter than such Bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Second. The Governor for the purpose of making up his budgets shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to require from the proper State Officials, including herein all executive departments, executive and administrative offices, bureaus, boards, commissions and agencies, and all institutions applying for State moneys and appropriations, such itemized estimates and other information, in such form and at such times as he shall direct. The estimates for the Legislative Department, certified by the presiding officer of each House, as provided by law, shall be transmitted to the Governor, in such form and at such times as he shall direct, and shall be included in the budget without revision.

The Governor may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies, and of all institutions applying for State moneys. After such public hearings he may, in his discretion, revise all estimates except those for the Legislative and Judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth. In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any manner affect the provisions of Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this Section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the validity of the Bill as of any other item of such Bill or Bills.

Section 2. And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the Presidential and Congressional election, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection in conformity with the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be placed the following synopsis of said amendment under the caption of:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

PROVIDING FOR A BUDGET.

This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature upon after it is convened a Budget giving a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds; in these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by tax for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the Judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words "for the Constitutional Amendment" and "against the Constitutional Amendment" as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and further proceedings had in accordance with Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved March 23, 1916.

Now, therefore, I, Emerson C. Harrington, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 14 of Article II of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct a copy of this Proclamation, containing a full, true and correct copy of the text of said Chapter 12 of the Acts of Maryland of 1916, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which said newspapers in the City of Baltimore to be printed in the German language, once a week for three months next preceding the General Election to be held in this State on November 7th, 1916, and at which election the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

The Great Seal of the City of Annapolis, this twentieth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

EMERSON C. HARRINGTON,

CROSSING THE LINE

When Neptune Owns the Ship and Holds High Carnival.

PLAYS SOME ROUGH PRANKS.

As a Vessel Nears the Equator the Sea King's Reign Begins, and For the Time Being No Passenger Is Too High or Mighty to Escape.

It is to be expected that the people shut up in the little republic that is bounded by the iron walls of an ocean liner should seek many ways of diverting themselves. Perhaps "republic" is not altogether a happy word to use in that connection, because no czar of the Russias ever had such autocratic power over his subjects as the captain of a great liner has over the travelers on his ship. But he uses his power very sparingly, and if his temporary subjects behave decently and obey the unwritten laws of the sea he lets them do about as they please.

They exercise their ingenuity in providing all sorts of entertainments to relieve the monotony of the passing days. Shuffleboard and deck golf, ring toss and bull board and a concert usually suffice for the brief journey across the Atlantic ocean, but on the more distant voyages to India or Australia or down the long coast of South America those mild amusements pall upon the voyagers, and they plan something more elaborate. Tournaments of various kinds, races of every sort, lectures and plays are the order of the day.

But the most time honored and extravagant revelries are sure to take place when the ship crosses the imaginary line between the northern and southern hemispheres. From time immemorial that has been the day dedicated to jokes and quips and pranks of all kinds. The captain's serious face relaxes; the mates and even the quartermasters and sailors are evidently concocting some huge scheme of fun; no horseplay is outlawed; no practical jokes are too rough; no exalted personage is too dignified to be exempt from Neptune's "rough house."

The most elaborate fun of that sort that I remember witnessing was on a trip from New York to San Francisco. The night before the ship was to cross the line we saw a spot of light off the starboard bow. It seemed to draw nearer and nearer, and pretty soon old Neptune himself, clad in oilskins and dripping water from his garments and his long white beard, climbed the black side of our ship, standing upon the hurricane deck, surrounded by an admiring throng of passengers, announced that the next day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon we should cross the line and that he would welcome us to his domain with suitable "equatorial ceremonies." He spoke in thunderous and somewhat sepulchral tones. Then he disappeared over the side of the ship.

The next day at 2 o'clock Neptune was promptly on hand again. To prepare for his coming the sailors had arranged on the lower deck a great canvas tub, perhaps twenty feet square, filled with water to a depth of about three feet. The tub was surrounded by a rail, and Neptune, seated on a gorgeous throne, at first commanded that the passengers should be initiated into the mysteries of his domain. He had come aboard this second time with a great flourish of trumpets, and he was followed by a long train of fantastically arrayed subjects.

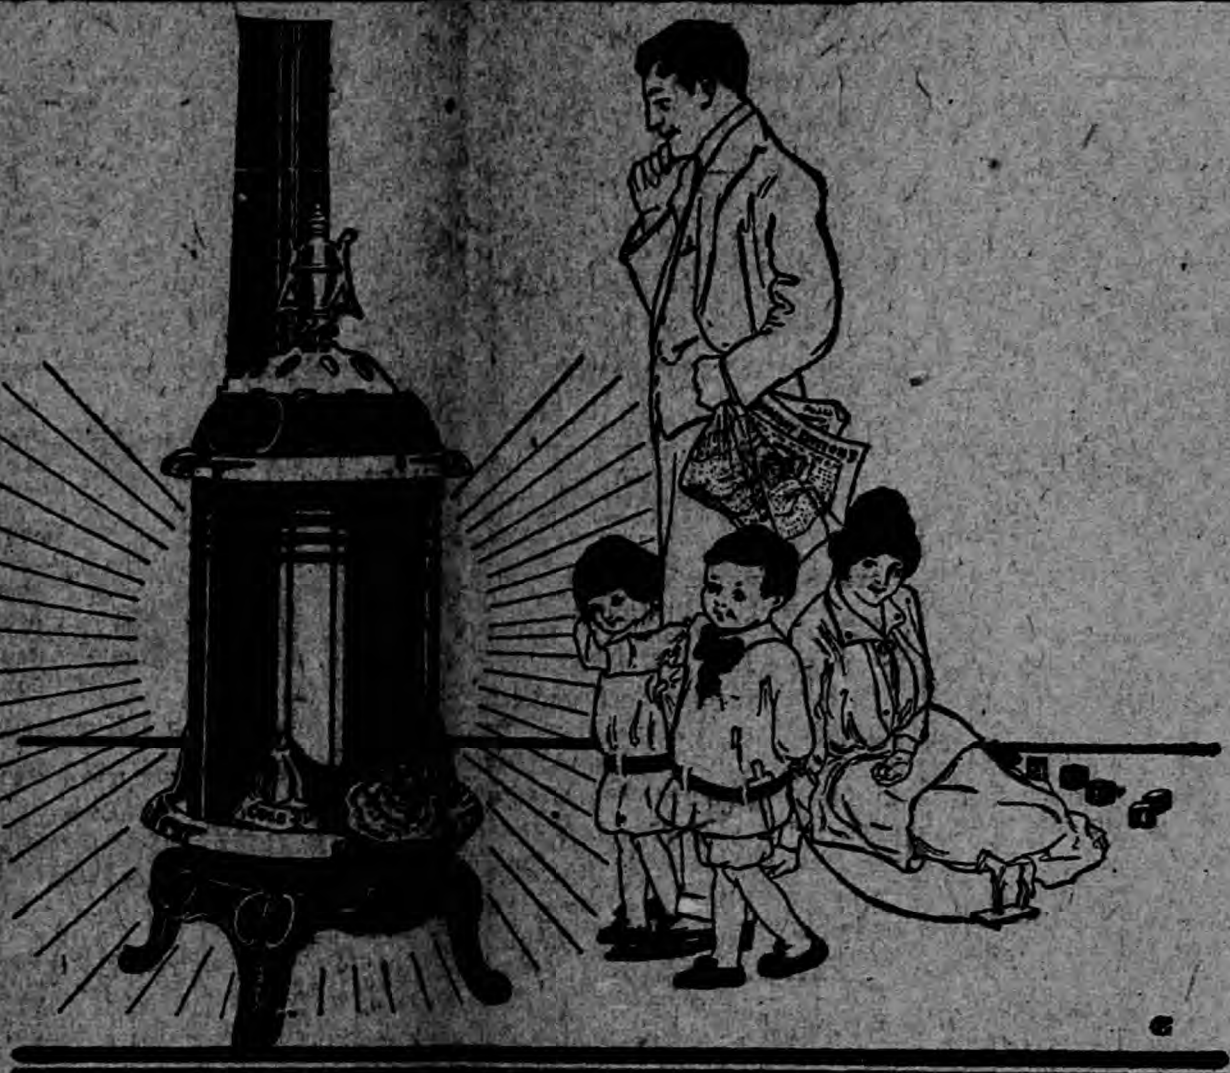

Those subjects ruthlessly seized the passengers, right and left, and Neptune commanded that the men should be shaved. They were seated on the edge of the improvised bathtub, and the barber appeared, wielding a lather brush nearly as big as a broom and a pasteboard razor also of huge dimensions.

Covering a victim's face with a liberal supply of lather, the barber raised on high his tremendous razor. But just as he was about to apply it to the face of the unresisting passenger, two of Neptune's myrmidons, standing in the great tub of water, suddenly pulled the victim over backward and immersed him completely. A moment later he emerged, spluttering and coughing, but making a desperate effort to appear good natured.

If any passenger was particularly dignified or dandified, if he had shown any overweening conceit in his own abilities, Neptune's slaves sought him out especially. The more spotless the linen, the more stylish the necktie, the more fleckless the white flannel suit, the surer was the owner to have the starch literally taken out of him.

Of course not all of the 650 passengers could be initiated with these elaborate ceremonies. Most of those who were enjoying the fun to the utmost, and who were congratulating themselves that they had gone scot free, did not notice some sailors in oilskins climbing the masts directly over their heads. The sailors had a big hose in their hands. While the last victim was being submerged and the boisterous fun was at its height the heavens seemed suddenly to open, and out of a clear tropical sky a tremendous shower poured down upon the heads of all the passengers.

Few escaped a thorough sprinkling. The tables were turned on the hilarious onlookers, and the chief initiates took their turn in laughing at the others. When it was all over, Father Neptune served a bountiful collation, and to each passenger was given an elaborate and beautifully engraved certificate as evidence that he had received his sea christening and that he had the right henceforth to pass freely over the equator.—Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark in Youth's Companion.

It Radiates All the Heat!

Come in now while our stock of Cole's Original Hot Blast Heaters is complete. It will enable you to make a better selection to best suit your own needs. This is but one example of the many money-saving and up-to-date articles that we carry in stock ready for your careful inspection.

Burn a Sunday Newspaper in the old-fashioned oak stove and you will scarcely heat the stove. Try this experiment in a Cole's Hot Blast Heater and you will at once notice the heat in the room. This remarkable heating power has been accomplished in

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

A Wooden Stove

If you had a stove with a surface of wood, lined with asbestos, you could not heat with it, because wood and asbestos are poor radiating surfaces.

The same is relatively true with cast iron and mica in base burners and oak stoves as compared with the large sensitive radiating body and bottom of Cole's Heaters, which radiate all the heat from the stove into the room.

Sizzling Base Heat

equal to any base burner. You can roast potatoes quicker in the ash pit of a Cole's Hot Blast than in the oven of your cook stove.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold fire 36 hours without attention.

Burns any fuel—soft coal, hard coal or wood.

Come in and see it today.

It Brings Relief To Boy Standing His Watch Deep In Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatic pains, he recalled the faith his mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the pain, once more he was able to stand the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle-soother with his comrades, and they all agreed it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their rescue. A Legend of Anti-science Days

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

The difference between an old fashioned music box and one worked phonographically is that the former is mechanical, while the latter is a reproduction of the feeling of the musician. The Swiss people have for many years ranked first in the building of musical mechanical contrivances and have brought them as near perfection as they can be made.

Several hundred years ago David Kloeke, a Genevese maker of music boxes, became ambitious to produce a music box that would give one song so perfectly that the feeling thrown into it by the singer would be reproduced. He certainly had a great advantage in executing his work. He was deeply in love with a girl who sang exquisitely. Indeed, it was her rendition of a ballad that suggested it.

"Why can I not make a box that will give that expression?" he asked himself. "I can produce harmony with my metal tongues, but not feeling." Then he resolved that he would make the attempt.

When he told Hilda, the girl he loved, that he wished her to sing for him that he might reproduce her song in a music box she saw the impossibility of accomplishing such a feat; but, preferring to humor him and supposing that she would be only required to sing to him a few times to convince him that he could not accomplish what he had undertaken, she assented. A simple love song was selected, and when Kloeke had his material and tools ready to reproduce the notes she began to sing, first giving the entire song that he might become imbued with the melody.

As soon as she had finished he asked her to sing the first few notes again. This she did, and he asked her to sing them again and again, while he endeavored to imitate them on his metal prongs. Hilda very soon not only grew tired of this, but, being tired, her singing lost all its charm. This irritated her and her lover, the result being a violent quarrel. Hilda ran away and left him to relieve her feelings in tears.

While Kloeke was sitting at his work table brooding over his failure and his break with the girl he loved the door opened and a woman entered. "I have heard," she said, "what has taken place in your effort to reproduce human feeling in song. It requires a great deal of patience on the part of one who sings for you. Let me try, and possibly you may be able to reproduce my song."

The man assented, and the woman began to sing. She, too, sang her entire song before he began to work. From the first note he seemed thrilled with something he had never felt before. The song was weird. Kloeke seemed to hear spirit voices calling, now soft and low, now rising in a wail. When the woman had finished the song she repeated the first few notes. Kloeke succeeded easily in repeating every one, giving it exactly as it was sung. She sang a few more notes, and those he reproduced with equal success.

Kloeke was delighted. Running into a room where Hilda was, he called to her that he had succeeded in his effort. He expected that she would rejoice with him at his success. Instead, she looked at him angrily and told him that since he had found another who could do what she could not do he might take the other for a sweetheart. He was very much astonished at this, for he had always found Hilda's disposition of the sweetest. However, after much coaxing he persuaded her to go with him into the room where he had worked.

The woman who had sung for him had gone. After looking about for her and not finding her Kloeke wound up the music box and set it moving. The first note had a peculiar effect on Hilda and, through her, on her lover. She gave him a look of hate that remained on her face as long as the song lasted. This naturally produced a madness in him which spurred him on to strike her. He had raised his clenched fist to do so when the song ceased.

Kloeke lowered his arm and heaved a deep drawn sigh. Hilda wept. He attempted to encircle her with his arms, but she thrust him away. A hammer lay on his work table, and, taking it up, he struck the music box a blow that sent its parts flying over the room. Then, turning to Hilda again, she put out her arms to him, and they met in an embrace.

"Who was she?" asked the girl in trembling voice. "I don't know," was the reply. "A malignant spirit. Where is the crucifix you keep on the shelf?" Kloeke looked at the empty shelf, then about the room. The crucifix was under the work table. Her feet had been upon it.

Such is a legend of a time when science had not yet driven away the hobgoblins. Who would have then thought that expression as well as harmony would eventually be produced on the phonograph? Till its invention music boxes were made, becoming more and more perfect every year. But no one could play into them or sing into them and have the feeling, the expression, the humorous sympathy of the musician, reproduced. It remained for the phonograph to do this. And who can doubt that if a phonograph giving an "Ave Maria" sung by a present day prima donna could have been sprung upon a people of the middle ages they would have considered it a miracle.

For more than twelve years Frank Dixon has filled an average of 150 lecture engagements a year, in every section of the United States, returning to many towns and cities again and again.

He has wit, eloquence, logic, intellect, and, more, he has that divine spark called genius—the power that springs from a masterly mind, the courage of a conscious greatness. His lecture sparkles with a spontaneous and original wit that captivates the audience. He is unquestionably one of the most scholarly and intellectual lecturers one can hear. His lectures contain humor, satire, ridicule and pathos, all delivered with the mastery touch of the finished orator.

To be good anywhere a lecture must be good everywhere. This aptly fits Mr. Dixon's lecture.

The preacher speaks of heaven, not because the pews are filled with angels; he talks on hell, not because they are filled with devils. He knows that in all men are the angel and devil possibilities. Mr. Dixon realizes this in his lectures and that the value of a lecture to any community lies largely in its challenge to fixed custom and established modes of thought. The moment a people becomes content with its achievement it begins to lose the power of action. The moment it ceases to create it begins to decay. To move only along the grooves of familiar thought is to invite brain paralysis. The lecturer must be the aggressor and call men to give a reason for the convictions that they hold or abandon them for better. Mr. Dixon is of that type. He is radically conservative and conservatively radical.

Some lectures come within an hour or two of Fourth of July—hurray! Next day it is all over except the headache. Others take you out picking flowers. Pretty and pleasant, but that's all. Another class—Dixon belongs here—goes glowing and harrowing right through your own little garden of sentiment rooting up just the plants you pet and prize most. You are vastly disquieted, but you know down deep that there will soon be greener and sturdier shoots to thrive where the old ones grew.

Mr. Dixon is a sower of thought seeds that have a right to germinate immediately. He is a friend of things as they are, who yet believes in challenging them to give account of themselves. He is an ardent patriot and an eloquent lecturer, a great combination. One may not agree with him, but must respect his judgment.

His lecture on the Lyceum Festival is a social survey of the average town, with suggestions as to treatment of town ailments and their cure. Not every town is sorely in need of immediate reform, but there are few which could not stand a little improvement. It is good for any community to have a town doctor come in and look it over with the eye of an expert. He can see the why of things that are a puzzle to those who have lived there all their lives. Every good live, wide awake citizen cannot afford to miss hearing this lecture. It will make him still more wide awake.

DAVID LUBIN ADVOCATES RE-ELECTION OF WILSON.

Father of American Rural Credits, Another Leading Republican, to Join President's Standard.

David Lubin, founder of the International Institute of Agriculture and father of the rural credits movement in America, has joined the list of prominent Republicans openly advocating the re-election of President Wilson. Within a fortnight Thomas A. Edison, Luther Burbank and Henry Ford, all Republicans and men of international fame, have done the same.

David Lubin is a wealthy California farmer. His interest in securing a square deal for the farmer led him to make research abroad, and out of his efforts grew the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. This institution does for the staples of agriculture of the world what the American chamber of commerce does for the products of the American manufacturer.

Through his connection with the institute he became interested in the rural credit systems of Europe and led the movement which resulted in the passage of the Rural Credits Act by the Wilson administration.

Just before departing for Italy recently, Mr. Lubin authorized an interview of 4,000 words in which he gave his opinion of those acts of the Wilson administration which directly affect the farmer. This has been furnished without cost to every leading farm paper in the United States. If the farmer does not read it in his farm paper it will probably be because the editor does not care to use his columns for discussion of economic questions and government policies that vitally affect the farmer.

Mr. Lubin said: "In the application of business methods of distribution, America, until the present administration, was about 150 years behind Germany and several decades behind the rest of Europe. And yet in the very thing in which America is backward, she should lead the world. She does not, because a clique of special interests dictated public opinion and controlled legislation through the bosses of the Republican party. So cleverly have they worked that the average man is hypnotized, his critical faculties dulled.

"President Wilson is neither fooled nor led by this crowd. He is tireless, patient, far-seeing. He has a historic sense of the past, a sympathetic sense of the present and a prophetically spiritual sense of the future. While his head is above the clouds, his feet are always upon the earth. He is idealistic on the one side, on the other practical. He is a good business man.

"He knows that good politics and good economics are the same thing. He is fearless in all my relations with him, direct or indirect. I talk to him anything or anybody he is afraid of."

Strenuous. "He used to be a straight enough young chap. What made him get crooked?" "Trying to make both ends meet, I believe."—Exchange.

What Does Catarrh Mean?

It means inflammation of a mucous membrane somewhere in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, biliary ducts or bowels. It always means stagnant blood—the blood that is full of impurities. Left alone, it extends until it is followed by indigestion, colds, congestion or fever. It weakens the system generally and spreads its operations until systemic catarrh or an acute illness is the result.

Peruna

Is the nation's reliable remedy for this condition. It restores appetite, aids digestion, checks and removes inflammation, and thus enables the membranes, through which we breathe and through which our food is absorbed, to do their work properly. Forty-four years of success, with thousands of testimonials, have established it as the home remedy—Ever-Ready-to-Take. Its record of success holds a promise for you.

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE
The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says:
"No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

LEGEND OF ST. BRENDAN.

is Claimed the Irish Monk as the Real Discoverer of America.
The first discoverer of America, according to an old Irish tradition, was St. Brendan. Brendan lived in the sixth century and, according to legend, fitted out a vessel and sailed westward in the hope of discovering a paradise once supposed to contain the paradise once tenanted by Adam and Eve. He was accompanied by fourteen monks, and the ship was "victualled for seven years."

After sailing forty days and forty nights they came to an island, where they found "a hall with tables spread with good meat and drink." They then sailed on for a long time and came to another island, "wherein were the whitest and greatest sheep they ever saw." After stopping for a time they proceeded with the voyage and came to a third island, called "the paradise of birds." After wandering about for seven years from island to island St. Brendan and his monks returned to Ireland, where they astonished the natives by tales of the wonders they had seen.

In spite of the wild and improbable features of this legend it was for centuries accepted as truth, and the Spanish government sent out several expeditions in search of the islands of St. Brendan. The St. Brendan legend formed one of the causes which led to the discoveries made by Columbus.

The Onion.

There is nothing particularly poetical about the onion, but Shakespeare has several references to this "edible biennial bulbous root," defined by Johnson simply as "a plant." The bard's comments are, however, mostly concerned with the ischrymal properties, and Swift refers to it in a cookery book manner, advising that it be well boiled if we do not wish our kissing to be spoiled. Beaumont and Fletcher, however, in "The Mad Lover," make a direct reference to its medicinal virtues.

"The plague,"
"I'll cure it with an onion."

How Catarrh Is Contracted

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

DEMOCRATIC LAWS THAT HELP FARMERS

Federal Employment Bureau One of Many Wilson Achievements.

MONEY FOR CROP MOVING.

Rural Credits, Federal Reserve Act, Good Roads, Warehouse Law, New Grain Standards and Improved Marketing System.

By FRANK G. ODELL,

Editor of the Nebraska Farm Magazine.

Do you know that your postoffice is now an employment bureau? That is one of the new things Uncle Sam has started during the present administration. Secretary Wilson of the department of labor has tackled the task of bringing the jobless man and the manless job together, and now every postoffice is an agency of the United States employment service. The postmaster is equipped with blanks for listing applications for labor or for employment and is instructed to help get the worker and the job in contact.

While this may appear to be principally in the interest of the worker, it is really one of the numerous far reaching things started for the benefit of the farmer by the administration of President Wilson. The increasing scarcity of farm labor has become a problem to the farmer, especially in the wheat growing and fruit growing sections. This labor, which is of a seasonal character, necessarily must be performed largely by itinerant workers. Some agency which will meet this demand and relieve the laborer of the graft of employment agencies is necessary. Uncle Sam has started it.

A single illustration will show how the system works:

In the Willamette valley of Oregon thousands of temporary workers are needed in hop picking time. On Aug. 20 the Oregon Journal of Portland printed a news article about the new government employment agency, stating that 600 families could obtain immediate employment in the hop yards by applying at the Portland division of the federal employment service.

This is another item added to the mass of accumulating evidence which shows that the Wilson administration has tried to give both labor and the farmer a square deal. For the first time in history this administration has placed the needs of rural districts squarely before congress as of equal importance with the interests of the financial centers.

And why not? Financial centers would not amount to much without the nine billion dollar crop of the American farmer. But the interests of the farmer have not always been so prominently and favorably considered by congress as they have during the last three years. The record of Democratic claims for farmer support is a record of accomplishment. It reads like this in the passage of laws and administrative acts:

What Has Been Done For the Farmer.
CURRENCY REFORM.—The federal reserve act, under which the farmer's paper is given special consideration including permission to national banks to loan on the security of farm lands.

RURAL CREDITS.—An epoch making legislative measure which will relieve the farmer of the incubus of the short time loan at extortionate interest. This measure alone, when in full force, will save the farmers of the United States one hundred and fifty million dollars annually in interest charges.

GOOD ROADS.—Seventy-five million dollars made available for the development of roads from the farm to the market, under conditions which will prevent wasteful use of the money.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.—The passage of the Smith-Lever act brings to every American farm through the joint co-operation of the federal government and the states, the help of these agencies in solving the business problems of the farmer.

COTTON FUTURES ACT.—Deals a death blow to gambling in this great staple.

UNITED STATES WAREHOUSE ACT.—Enables owners of stored products to obtain loans on warehouse receipts more nearly approximating the full value of the product.

GRAIN STANDARDS.—A law enacted last August authorizes the secretary of agriculture to establish official grain standards. This law is working. The farmer who has been robbed through juggled grain grades for years will appreciate its value.

CROP MOVING.—The surplus funds of the treasury department have been placed directly in the hands of the south and west to aid in moving crops during the customary season of money shortage.

INTEREST ON GOVERNMENT DEPOSITS.—Banks holding government deposits are now required to pay 2 per cent interest. This cuts off a big graft which formerly came from the free use of huge sums of the people's money. More than a million dollars revenue annually is now derived from this source alone.

IMPROVED MARKETING SYSTEM.—The farmer has for years felt the power of the market combine, with its waste, inefficiency and dishonesty. The office of markets and the rural organization service, established in the department of agriculture during this administration, are working on scientific lines to promote better marketing and co-operative business organization among farmers.

These beneficent measures, with many others, show why the farmer is satisfied with the Wilson administration.

EIGHT HOUR ATTACK IGNOBLE, SAYS OLNEY

Hughes "Hadt't" the Nerve" to Demand Filibuster on the Law.

WILSON'S ACT COURAGEOUS.

Member of Cleveland's Cabinet Praises President's Domestic Achievements and His Policy to Keep Country Out of War.

No American can speak with higher authority on the issues of this campaign than Richard Olney, who was President Cleveland's attorney general during the railroad strike of 1894 and President Cleveland's secretary of state when the Venezuelan message was sent to the British government. He should know whether President Wilson's action in averting the railroad strike was a "surrender to force," whether the Wilson foreign policy has been "timid and vacillating."

Mr. Olney seeks no political preferment; his interest is that of a retired statesman, of a wise, experienced, dispassionate patriot, who is concerned only with the welfare of his country.

Mr. Olney has written for the New York World a signed article in which he warns the American people against the danger sure to result from turning over their affairs to Mr. Hughes and the interests which would dictate his policies, foreign and domestic.

Where Was His Nerve?

Discussing the passage of the Adamson eight hour law, Mr. Olney points out that the Republicans of the senate, if they had really wished more time for the consideration of the bill, could have obtained it by means of a filibuster, a recognized senatorial weapon, and adds:

"Why did not the Republican senators resort to it and get all the time for deliberation they wanted? What was Candidate Hughes doing that he did not make the wires hot with messages to Washington—warning against the law the seventy-four Republican representatives who voted for it and urging the twenty-eight Republican senators to filibuster to the last ditch?"

"But neither he nor the Republican leaders generally had the nerve to face the situation. With ample means in their hands to prevent legislation until after its due consideration, they deliberately elected that it should appear to be enacted under coercion in order that after the great national deliverance had been effected they might object to the mode of its accomplishment."

"A pettier and more ignoble game of politics never was conceived. In comparison and in view of the sudden and extraordinary exigency sprung upon the country President Wilson's course was characterized by both courage and common sense."

Of Candidate Hughes' conduct in the campaign Mr. Olney remarks:

"No sooner was the nomination assured than the robes and ermine of the judge fell from the candidate as if by magic, and there appeared in their place the motley wear of the ordinary office seeker—a transformation as sudden as that made by the wand of Harlequin in the pantomime, and a transformation showing how thin is the judicial veneer, and forever discrediting the United States supreme court as a training camp for high political office."

Has Kept the Rudder True.

In its conduct of foreign relations the Wilson administration, Mr. Olney says, "has kept its rudder true and has won and deserved the respect and gratitude of the country."

The principles and objects of the Wilson foreign policy as stated by Mr. Olney have been:

First—To keep the country out of the great European war.

Second—To insist upon the existence and vitality of international law as determining its own status as a neutral, and defining its rights and obligations as such.

Third—To deal with the Mexican situation in a spirit of perfect fairness and friendliness to the Mexican people, now suffering from civil dissensions and revolution to an extent which leaves a large part of the country in a state of anarchy.

Mr. Olney shows that all these objects have been attained through the wise, patient and courageous diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson; that the president has kept the country at peace without dishonor; that under his leadership "the United States has rendered an inestimable service to belligerents and neutrals and to all mankind" in "steadily bearing aloft the banner of international law as the standard under which all civilized peoples must eventually gather."

Mr. Olney finds particular cause to commend President Wilson's Mexican policy. He stands with the president in declaring that the Mexicans have the right to work out their own destiny even through revolution.

Closing by asking what is likely to happen if the "presidential diller passes into new hands," Mr. Olney says that Hughes' inducement to change the existing foreign policies of the country would be very great.

"The American people can hardly fail to realize the danger and to refuse to put at risk the continuance of a foreign policy which, as a whole, must have their hearty approval."

All a Question of Interest.
Republican.—My party always has taken a big interest in the farmer.
Democrat.—Out of him, you mean, and at the rate of 8 to 12 per cent a year.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President:
WOODROW WILSON
For Vice-President:
THOMAS R. MARSHALL
For United States Senator:
HON. DAVID J. LEWIS
Of Allegany County.
For Congressman from First District:
HON. JESSE D. PRICE
Of Wicomico County.

A diagnosis of the Republican situation shows that it is a sufferer from acute political melancholia.

The Democratic Tariff law which has stood the test of foreign war will as truly stand the test of foreign peace.

According to the politician, the government nitrate plant ought to go to a State whose electoral vote is in doubt.

Formerly the farmer worried about his crops, now he worries over the many things the agricultural papers tell him he must do.

What a mistake it would be if the farmer should give to the new land bank the same estimate of his property that he furnishes the assessor!

It being predicted that cigars will double in price, candidates for office must expect to pay at least five cents a piece for the campaign variety.

An exchange announces that a musician will play The Stars and Stripes forever. She wouldn't play it forever in our hearing if we could still run.

Everything connected with an automobile is now being capitalized by speculators and sold at fancy prices, including the hot air thrown off by the engine.

The American Bankers' Association deplore the shortage of cattle, but do not suggest any plan to stop the tendency to turn the cattle barn into a garage.

Being worried about the frequency of automobile accidents, the motorist decides to buy a heavier car so that the other fellow will be the one to get smashed.

John D., by the advance of oil stock, is now a billionaire. How worried he must feel if caught out over night anywhere with only a million or two loose change in his pocket!

The boys of the Corn Clubs may be increasing the food supply of the nation, but they can't expect to get as much applause as if they had run a pig-skin ball across the line for a touch down.

THE SHORTAGE OF CATTLE

The American Bankers' Association, at its Kansas City convention, has been considering the alarming decrease in cattle production. Much sentiment was developed in favor of an investigation of the subject by Congress.

Congressional investigations commonly provide simply a lot of black covered government reports which few people read. However this is an urgent subject, that some responsible authority should take up. Meat prices will keep climbing until more cattle are raised.

There is a difference of opinion among experts whether it pays to keep cattle on the average small farm. Little progress has been made at restoring them to the many thousand farms through the Eastern and Central and Southern States where they used to be kept. Yet a recent investigation by Country Life in America seemed to show that cattle raising does pay. In one typical case in the state of Delaware, a profit of $1370 was made in 18 weeks on 46 head of cattle, with manure enough to fertilize 36 acres of cantaloupes.

The trouble is that the modern farmer is bewildered by the many suggestions of the new things he ought to take up. After reading them all his head swims. He decides to keep along in the old way, at which he is doing quite well.

It would seem as if the great corporations concerned in meat production should be interested to work for a bigger supply. They must see that meat consumption per capita will surely fall off at present prices. If they would start a lot of demonstration farms, they could show the farmer just how cattle could be raised most profitably. Probably they could prove that it is possible for the small farmer to make a success of it.

When asked why they do not raise more cattle, farmers usually say that labor and feed and shelter cost too much. In the most fertile sections land can probably be used to better advantage in raising crops. But elsewhere there are enormous quantities of half used land where the expense for feed and shelter is greatly reduced.

PHYSICAL TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

It was formerly thought that children get all the physical culture they need in tumbling over each other in street play. But of recent years it is discovered that without care they grow round shouldered, narrow chested, and acquire spinal curvature and other troubles.

A notable step in the movement for physical culture was taken in New York a few days ago, when the state regents planned for physical training in all schools of the state.

It is little use to stuff children's heads, and send them out with weak bodies and shaky nerves. Even athletics do not meet the need. While the nine and the eleven are being trained for baseball and football, all the rest are merely sitting on the bleachers watching and yelling. This does not provide physical development.

Every town can do something along this line. If it can't have a physical culture teacher regularly, it can at least have occasional inspections of children. Teachers should be shown how to give healthful exercises.

"THOROUGHNESS"

One of the favorite words of the older generation used to be "thorough." When the boys failed to tread down the hay properly in the barn loft or left the vegetable garden half weeded, they were told to go back and do it "thoroughly." It was the spirit of the age. This is the spirit today in the Old World. German manufacturers have won trade by a disposition to perfect every last detail. They gained a strange hold on Europe early in the war by having everything ready to the last button. The allies are finally pushing the Germans back, because they too are showing a mastery of perfection of detail.

Are we "thorough" enough here in America to meet European competition after the war is over? A manufacturer was talking about this a few days ago. He told this incident. There is one girl in his shop whose work it is to give a careful inspection to every finished article. She got in the habit of passing the product along with but the most rapid glance. The foreman remonstrated. The girl knowing that help is very scarce, told him pertly that if he did not like her work he could get some one else. There is no future success in store for anyone who takes that point of view.

The workpeople are not the only ones who lack the spirit of thorough work. The complaint of failure of American shells to explode, of American shoes made with paper soles, looks in the same direction. It is a constant experience in buying goods, particularly when you buy them of some distant mail order house, to find serious defects.

There is needed in our country a revival of the old thorough spirit. The mechanic should be ashamed to pass on his work until every detail is perfected. The manufacturer should be unwilling to distribute anything less than the best. Better turn out a smaller product if it is faithfully made in every respect.

Two-Dollar Wheat Before Year's End

Two-dollar wheat before the first of January was predicted by Chicago grain men last Thursday. Prices, both cash and future, ranged about ten cents lower than the record price established in January, 1915, immediately following the outbreak of the European war.

Dealers in cash wheat said that the Northwestern farmers are practically all adhering to the decision not to sell wheat less than two dollars a bushel, while the receipts of grain from other primary shipping points are extremely light. December wheat has reached $1.50½ as against $1.06 one year ago. May is selling at $1.55½ as against $1.07½ a year ago. Cash wheat is selling around $1.65, depending on the grade, while the millers are eagerly snapping up all available milling wheat.

Produce prices are trailing close behind grain. Potatoes are $1.45 a bushel wholesale, compared to 48 cents a year ago. Eggs, butter, poultry and other supplies are correspondingly high in some cases.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

Return Drum After 52 Years

Some veterans of the Civil War have made a trip from Worcester, Mass., to Richmond, Va., to return an old, battle-scarred drum captured from the Confederates in the battle of Winchester, fifty-two years before. The drum will be placed in the Confederate Museum at Richmond.

The Campaign in Maryland

For some mysterious reason, the leaders of the Republican party in Maryland express confidence in victory for their party at the November election. They claim not only the Electoral vote, but the election of the Republican candidate for United States Senator, Dr. Joseph Irwin France of Cecil county.

It is difficult to understand this Republican confidence in Maryland, which seems to be sincere. There does not appear to be any such disorganization and demoralization in the Democratic party as prevailed at the State election of last year, at least not on the surface. And even then the dissatisfaction was directed mainly against the Democratic candidate for governor, who was opposed by the followers of Senator Blair Lee, whom Governor Harrington defeated at the primaries. But Governor Harrington was elected by a plurality of more than three thousand, while the majority for Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic candidate for attorney-general, was nearly 30,000.

Attorney-General Ritchie has not yet taken part in the campaign, being very busy with his official duties, which he holds to be of the first importance. But having placed his official affairs in good shape, he will be able to take a hand and to make speeches from now until election day. He expresses the utmost confidence that the State will go Democratic, as usual, and he should be a competent judge.

What the Republican confidence in the election of Dr. France as United States Senator is based upon—outside of one consideration—it is difficult to understand. The one consideration, however, is significant. Dr. France has much wealth, which is an element of great importance in Maryland elections, occasionally. It is apparent that this was the reason for his nomination, as he has little else to recommend him for such high station.

But money does not always carry the day in politics, and these confident Maryland Republicans may awake to bitter disappointment the morning after election.—Wilmington Evening.

A Clogged System Must Be Cleared

Auditor's Notice

Joseph L. Bailey, assignee, ex parte, under a mortgage from John W. Jones, assignee, as assigned to Joseph L. Bailey.

No. 3107, Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County. All persons interested in the proceeds of the sale of the property of John W. Jones, made and reported by Joseph L. Bailey, assignee, are hereby notified to file their claims, with the vouchers thereof, duly authenticated according to law, with me on or before the first day of November, 1916, as I shall on that day at my office in Princess Anne, proceed to distribute the assets of said estate among the persons thereto entitled according to law.

E. D. McMASTER, Auditor.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc.

Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of the MARYLANDER AND HERALD, published weekly at Princess Anne, Maryland, for October 2nd, 1916.

State of Maryland, County of Somerset. Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State of Maryland, personally appeared Theo. A. Walker, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor, and Publisher of the Marylander and Herald, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management and circulation of said publication, for the month of September, 1916, as required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 463, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

Publisher—Theo. A. Walker.
Editor—Theo. A. Walker.
Managing Editor—Theo. A. Walker.
Business Manager—Theo. A. Walker.
Postoffice—Princess Anne, Md.

2.—That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock.)—Wm. H. Dashiell, Princess Anne, Md.

3.—That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.)—None.

4.—That the names and addresses of the person or persons who own or control the publication, or who own or control the corporation for whom such publication is acting, is given: also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing said person's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this statement has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by this publication.

THEO. A. WALKER,
SAMUEL H. SUDLER,
Notary Public.
(My commission expires May 1st, 1917.)

Better To Save Than To Speculate

The period of intense speculation in the securities market still continues. People have money to burn and many of them are burning it. Many have made fortunes and more have made comfortable sums by the upward movement of the market and thousands itch to take a hand in the game. Never before have so many Americans had money to invest. Business is good, wages are higher than ever before and employment is open to any man who can work.

About the best advice that can be given to those who have turned a lucky penny in the market is that they cash in and invest their profits in stable securities; and to the man who wants to risk a hundred or two in speculation that he put his money in a savings bank. Some of the plungers, big and little, will win out in the end, but the vast majority of them will not. Thrift and caution are a better guarantee of permanent individual prosperity than an eagerness to obtain and follow "tips."

It is a rather sad commentary on American thrift that a smaller percentage of the people in this country have savings accounts than in any other large country in the world. In Switzerland 554 people out of every thousand have a savings account, in France 346, in Germany 317, in England 302. In the United States only 99 out of a thousand have. Now is a time when a larger percentage of the American people than ever before can save something. The time will come when most of them will wish that they had done so.—Baltimore Sun.

School Funds Distributed
State Comptroller Hugh A. McMullen announced last Friday a distribution of the State school funds, amounting to nearly $400,000. The distribution includes the quarterly amounts of the state school tax, the free book fund, appropriations for approved high schools, funds for manual training and industrial schools and salaries for co-educational officials in the counties.

The appropriation for Somerset county is as follows: Public school tax, $6,744.98; school book fund, $1,725.70; appropriation for high schools, $925; manual training and industrial schools, $375, and for co-educational officials, $350.

Lankford Again Superintendent
The State Penal Board organized last Friday and made the following appointments: Treasurer, Dr. J. Hubert Wade. Warden of the penitentiary, John F. Leonard, re-elected. Superintendent of the House of Correction, William E. Lankford, of Worcester county.

Mr. Lankford will return to the House of Correction as superintendent after an absence of three years. After serving as superintendent for six years Mr. Lankford was deposed by the board of directors appointed by Governor Goldsborough. His successor was Mr. Newton, of the Elmira Reformatory, who served one year and was not re-elected. His successor was G. B. Timanus, of Laurel, who in turn is succeeded by Mr. Lankford. When he retired from the head of the prison Lankford declared that he would return as superintendent. He has made good his declaration.

Lewis Cole, Jr., of Baltimore county, was elected assistant superintendent of the prison.

L. C. Polk Buried Yesterday
The funeral of Lucius C. Polk, related to the late James K. Polk, President of the United States and well known in legal circles throughout Baltimore city and the State, took place at 3.30 o'clock yesterday (Monday) afternoon at his home, 1226 North Charles street, Baltimore. Services were conducted by Rev. John McDowell, pastor of Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Greenmount Cemetery.

Mr. Polk died on Friday at the age of 78 years. He was born in Princess Anne, Somerset county, in 1838, his father being the late James Polk, a cousin of President Polk. After the Civil War, in which he served as lieutenant in the Confederate Navy, Mr. Polk went to New York to study law in the office of his brother-in-law, E. Louis Lowe, former Governor of Maryland. In 1866 he returned to Baltimore and established a law office of his own.

Mr. Polk married Miss Mary A. Clark, daughter of Gabriel D. Clark, who died last spring. He is survived by one son, Gabriel Clark Polk; a sister, Mrs. E. Louis Lowe, and four grandchildren.

Millions Spent For Roads

An enormous increase in the total expenditures for road building and bridge construction marked the development of highway work in the United States during the past 12 years. Statistics compiled by the office of Public Roads and made public recently show that the expenditures for this work increased from approximately $80,000,000 a year in 1904 to about $282,000,000 in 1915 or more than 250 per cent. State expenditures increased from $2,500,000 to more than $58,000,000. In addition, more than $27,000,000 of local funds was spent under State supervision in 1915, bringing the total road and bridge expenditures managed by the States to $85,514,099.

The rapid growth in importance of State highway departments is shown by the report. Since 1891, when New Jersey established the first of these agencies, every State except Indiana, South Carolina and Texas now have some form of highway department. These departments had expended up to January 1 last a total of $265,350,825 in state funds for road and bridge construction, maintenance and administration. They had constructed over 50,000 miles of road.

The falling off in value of road work performed by statute and convict labor was from $20,000,000 in 1904, when the total road expenditures were $80,000,000, to about $15,000,000 in 1915, when it had grown to $282,000,000. This was a reduction from 25 per cent. of the total in 1904 to less than 5 1/2 per cent. of the total in 1915.

School Report

St. John's Students Making a Record

Dr. Thomas Fell, president of St. John's College, Annapolis, recently received the following letter from Captain Samuel Riggs, First Maryland Infantry, commanding Machine Gun Company, at that time stationed at Eggle Pass, Texas, which sets forth the effects of St. John's training on its students:

"The Machine Gun Company, First Maryland Infantry, composed largely of graduates and undergraduates of St. John's, is making a record on border patrol in Texas, of which I feel it my duty to inform you.

"In the performance of this arduous duty in the blistering heat and blinding glare of the desert sands these young men, inspired by the 'never-say-die' spirit of old St. John's, have, without complaint, measured up to every requirement, and now enjoy the proud distinction of never committing a single breach of unmilitary discipline. With three months of service to their credit the first man has yet to drop out of ranks on a march.

"I feel sure that the faculty, as well as the whole student body, will be gratified to know that St. John's is represented on the Texas border by an organization of the efficiency and morale of the First Maryland Machine Gun Company."

"MOTHER LAKE" ON THE LYCEUM FESTIVAL PROGRAM

Truth, Honor and Loyalty Her
Synonyms For Right Living.

Mrs. Leonora M. Lake has rightfully been termed "Mother Lake." Her greatest plea, among many others, has been for the rights of the child. She is all that the term "mother" implies. In summing up the attributes that make an ideal human life Leonora M. Lake uses these words: "love and service," and they express as no other words could the keynote of her character, for her heart is filled with love for God and humanity.

Asked once how she came to adopt these lofty sentiments as her life's guide, she replied, "I didn't; they adopted me." From earliest girlhood an impelling desire to help those in need, to defend the weak against their oppressors, to encourage the depressed, to remove temptation from the faltering and to relieve the burdens of the sorrowing has been the motive power behind her manifold activities.

Truth, honor and loyalty are to her synonyms for right living.

Widowed and without means early in life, with three small children to care for, she became one of the great army of bread winners, soon to find her soul in revolt and protest against the cruelty of child labor and the discrimination made against women in the matter of wages. The organization of working people known as the Knights of Labor was then just beginning to be known. Their platform appealed to her in its entirety, but especially that plank which read, "We demand equal pay for equal work." She lost no time in becoming a member of that organization and for six years investigated the conditions under which women and children worked, assuring herself of each fact and making it beyond the possibility of dispute. Then from the platform and with her pen she made her findings public and so brought about an amelioration of the then existing conditions.

She drafted the Pennsylvania factory inspection law, which passed the senate of that state without the alteration of a single word. In the lower house, however, it would have met its Waterloo had not the women's clubs of Philadelphia come to its rescue, thus securing its passage, although somewhat mutilated.

During her nation wide investigation of and crusade against labor conditions she found so much of poverty and hardship, so much wreck and ruin of the home and family life, due to the use of alcohol in various forms that it made her a pronounced advocate of temperance. For eleven years she and the late Miss Frances E. Willard were devoted friends and co-workers.

From her force, vigor and good voice and convincing arguments on the temperance platform it was only natural that the Chautauqua and Lyceum should appeal to her as a means by which to convey her heart's message to the greatest number of people, and here for many years she has pleaded eloquently, sincerely and vigorously for the development of Christian character, the sacredness of the home, the sanctity of marriage, the ideal life of the family, the divine rights of the child, the kingship of man, the glory of womanhood, the preservation of youth from danger and temptation. A wide range? Yes, but not too wide for her big mother heart to cover.

ROBINS DECLINES TO MEET MRS. FUNK IN DEBATE.

Villiant Woman Progressive Supporting Wilson Had Challenged Hughes' Convert to Match Reasons.

Raymond Robins, who was chairman of the recent Progressive national convention in Chicago, has declined the challenge of Mrs. Antoinette Funk to meet her in public debate on the reasons why Progressive voters should be asked to vote for Charles E. Hughes when President Wilson is in the field.

In his refusal Mr. Robins indicated that he would decline all offers to match logic with opponents on the question of Progressive activity in the presidential campaign.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Monmouth, N. J.

and was one of the prominent leaders of the Progressive movement so long as Colonel Roosevelt remained at the head of it. She and Mr. Robins fought side by side for Progressive principles, and she was one of the most active campaigners for Mr. Robins in the senatorial campaign in Illinois two years ago.

Mrs. Funk now is a member of the Associate Committee of Progressives co-operating with the Democratic National Campaign Committee. She put her challenge to Mr. Robins on the high ground of public service, asking that her former associate submit the case of Wilson versus Hughes to popular juries.

In her letter to Mr. Robins Mrs. Funk said: "In 1912, endorsing the Progressive party with my whole heart, I left behind me a tradition of middle western and New England Republicanism, and when the end came in the Auditorium last June I followed Theodore Roosevelt to the door of the Republican camp with faith that the Republican party of 1912 was in some way different from the Republican party of 1912 that he and you and I condemned, and I waited for a sign that would point the new way."

"It did not come, but events momentous in their import did transpire and against my inclinations and traditions and against my associations and prejudices I was forced in honesty to myself to admit that Woodrow Wilson, greater than his party, a leader of his party, had in large measure kept for the Progressives their contract affirmed by them and entered into with the people."

"I am inviting you now, Mr. Robins, to join me in a series of debates, the question to be resolved and the arrangements to be made through our respective committees, such debates to be held during the campaign, it being understood that the resolution of the question shall comprehend all matters properly at issue in the minds of Progressives seeking their political affiliation for 1916."

Becomes Annoying.
"Imitation is the sincerest flattery."
"Maybe so, but I don't like to have too many women copying my gown."

Spies in Revolutionary Days

A curious and unfamiliar page in American history shows that the treatment of the spy in Revolutionary days was painfully prompt and rigorous. Every American schoolboy knows the fate of Major Andre, but few know of any others, with perhaps the exception of Nathan Hale, executed by the British as a spy. In the second year of our Revolutionary war General Israel Putnam caught a man lurking about his post at Peekskill, on the Hudson. A flag of truce came from Sir Henry Clinton, claiming the prisoner as Lieutenant Palmer of the British service. The answer of the stout old general was brief and to the point: Headquarters, Aug. 7, 1777.

Edmund Palmer, an officer in the enemy's service, was taken as a spy lurking within our lines. He has been tried as a spy, condemned as a spy and shall be executed as a spy, and the flag is ordered to depart immediately.

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony Of Princess Anne
People Stand The Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time. Princess Anne, people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

John B. Fleming, 338 Main street, Princess Anne, says: "I was troubled with a dull ache and weakness in my back, brought on by disordered kidneys. At times, the misery was rather severe and gave me much uneasiness. The kidney secretions were disordered and contained sediment. I often read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at O. A. Jones' drug store. The good results led me to recommend them to others afflicted with kidney disorder. (Statement given October 14, 1907.) On July 24, 1916, Mr. Fleming said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as ever. I always say a good word for them when I have an opportunity." Price 50c, at all dealers. PROCLAMATION

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND CREATING A BUDGET SYSTEM.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1916, an Act was passed, to-wit: Chapter 139 of said Act, being an Act to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State; and which said Act is in words and figures following:

"CHAPTER 159.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, Legislative Department, of the Constitution of this State, regulating the making of appropriations by the General Assembly of Maryland in regular session, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that the following be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, Legislative Department, of the Constitution of this State, as herein provided, to become Section 32 of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly shall not appropriate any money out of the Treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section A: Every appropriation bill shall be either a Budget Bill, or a Supplementary Appropriation Bill, as hereinafter mentioned.

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a newly elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget Bill is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two fiscal years next preceding; (2) the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the State; (3) the debts and funds of the State; (4) the estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the fiscal years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Governor may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second. Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations" and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the Judiciary Department, as provided by law; (4) for the Department of the Controller; (5) to pay and discharge the principal and interest of the debt of the State of Maryland in conformity with Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution; and (6) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (7) for the establishment and maintenance throughout the State of a thorough and efficient system of public schools in conformity with Article VIII of the Constitution and with the laws of the State; (8) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution of the State.

Third. The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations" and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Governor shall deliver to the presiding officer of each house the budgets and a bill for all the proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified; and the presiding officer of each house shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill."

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or to care of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill such amendment or supplement may affect.

The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the State or the provisions of Article III of the Constitution, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, or the payment of any salaries provided for by the State of Maryland by the Constitution thereof; and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the Judiciary, but except, as hereinafter specified, may not alter the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however, that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased during his term of office; and such bill when and as passed by both houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.

Fourth. The Governor and such representatives of the executive departments, boards, officers and commissions of the State as he may designate by the Governor for this purpose, shall have the right, and when requested by either house of the Legislature, it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.

Sub-Section C: Supplementary Appropriation Bills:

Neither house shall consider other appropriations until the Budget Bill has been finally acted upon by both houses, and no such other appropriation shall be valid except in accordance with the provisions following: (1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a Supplementary Appropriation Bill; (2) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax, direct or indirect, to be levied and collected as shall be directed in said Bill; (3) No Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each house by a majority of a majority of the whole number of the members elected; and the year and day recorded on its final passage; (4) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said Section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing at any time in accordance with the provisions of Section 28 of Article III of the Constitution and subject to the Governor's power of approval as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution as appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of Maryland within the protection of Section 10 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D: General Provisions:

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such Bill; but no other matter than such Bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the adjournment thereof.

Second. The Governor for the purpose of making up his budgets shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to require from the proper State Officials, including herein all executive departments, all executive and administrative officers, all heads, boards, commissions and agencies, all institutions applying for State moneys and appropriations, such itemized estimates and other information, in such form and at such times as he shall direct. The estimates for the Legislative Department, certified by the presiding officer of each house, of the Judiciary, as provided by law, certified by the Controller, and for the public schools, as provided by law, shall be transmitted to the Governor, in such form and at such times as he shall direct, and shall be included in the budget without revision.

The Governor may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies and of all institutions applying for State moneys. After such public hearings he may, in his discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth. In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any manner affect the provisions of Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 16 of Article II, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this Section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the validity of the Bill or of any other item of such Bill or Bills.

Section 2. And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall at the next general election, to be held in the Presidential and Congressional election, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection in conformity with the directions contained in article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be placed the following synopsis of said amendment under the caption of

"CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR A BUDGET."

This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature after it is convened a Budget giving a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by law for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the Judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words "for the Constitutional Amendment" and "against the Constitutional Amendment" as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and further proceedings had in accordance with Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved March 23, 1916.

Now, therefore, I, Emerson C. Harrington, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 1 of Article 14 of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct a copy of this Proclamation, containing a full, true and correct copy of the text of said Chapter 139 of the Acts of Maryland of 1916, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which said newspapers in the City of Baltimore to be printed in the German language, once a week for three months next preceding the General Election to be held in this State on November 7th, 1916, and at which election the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted, in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

DONE at the City of Annapolis, this twentieth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

EMERSON C. HARRINGTON,

By the Governor:

THOMAS W. SIMMONS,

Secretary of State.

Slip a few Prince Albert smokes into your system!

You've heard many an earful about the Prince Albert patented process that cuts out bite and parch and lets you smoke your fill without a comeback! Stake your bank roll that it proves out every hour of the day. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

Noise and Hearing. There are two distinct meanings to the word "sound"—one the sensation produced in the brain, the other the external vibration which produces the sensation. The physical cause may exist where there is no ear; the sensation cannot exist unless there is an ear to hear it. Suppose two men—one totally deaf, the other with a normal sense of hearing—are in the same closed room in which a third man beats upon a piece of iron with a hammer. Is there no physical vibration because the deaf man cannot hear it? The sensation may be ear splitting to the one and totally nonexistent to the other. The same vibrations beat through the air. The same sound exists in the room, but the sensation exists for only one of the men.—Philadelphia Press.

The "Bad News" Bell at Lloyd's. The bell of the British frigate Lutina, which sank off the Dutch coast in 1799 with a cargo of coin and specie valued at $3,000,000, is the "bad news" bell at Lloyd's. Whenever news is received that a ship is overdue or when definite news comes of the loss of a ship the bell is rung by the "caller." At its tolling all transactions are suspended until the news it heralds is read.—London Mirror.

Confused. A flustered woman was seen running wildly about in the corridors of a large railway station. "What are you looking for, madam?" questioned an officer. "I—I am looking for the entrance to the outside!" responded the woman nervously.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Joke in a Needle's Point. Some years ago an American firm sent to a Chinese house in Canton the smallest and finest kind of needle as a sample of our skill in delicate handicraft. It was returned to the firm with a hole through the point, which could be seen only with a microscope.

Man's Littleness. As an illustration of the insignificance of man in the scheme of nature Professor Zuccarini of Italy estimated that, taking the world's population at 1,600,000,000, the whole human race could stand comfortably shoulder to shoulder in an area 500 miles square.

POULTRY and EGGS

CULLING THE FLOCK.

Surplus Cockerels and Poorly Developed Pullets Should Be Marketed. To insure commercial success poultrymen should renew the laying stock each year, never keeping a hen over for her second year unless she is intended for the breeding pen. Failing to raise chicks so as to do this, at least half the flock should be annually renewed and no hen kept beyond her second laying season unless she has proved to be a remarkable breeder. It is the exceptional hen that lays enough eggs her second laying season to make the profit first class and more unusual to find those who pay their board the third year, when they lay comparatively few eggs, and lay these at the time when prices are lowest. Unless there is plenty of space to waste it should be used by the most profitable bird, which means the well developed pullet.

The Columbian Wyandotte is a recent addition to the standard breeds of poultry, although it was originated many years ago. The Columbian, like all varieties of Wyandottes, are good egg layers, and as market fowls are unsurpassed either as soft roasters or broilers. The cock pictured is a Columbian Wyandotte.

It will, of course, be necessary to raise more pullets than will be required to replace the discarded birds, as only the healthy, vigorous birds should be put in the laying pen. Careful selection and culling are the only prevention against carrying over unproductive hens and poorly developed pullets.

With the unneeded cockerels, old hens and unsatisfactory pullets to send to market, this matter of finishing to get best prices is an item. From the time chicks are hatched culling should be going on, and any bird lacking in vigor or stunted from any cause should be marked. If the defect is serious the bird should be marketed as soon as possible, and even if the defect can be outgrown it should be so marked that there will be no danger of eggs from the bird being incubated.

Marketing thin, unfinished birds is wasteful, and the sale of such birds has an unfavorable effect on the market. The consumption of table poultry would be greatly increased if fowls never went to market in poor condition. There is always a demand for good birds, whatever their age, if they have been properly fed and finished.

All over the country there are packers who buy common range fed birds, sell them properly for a fortnight and sell them as milk fed, making more profit on their two weeks' care than the poultryer does in months. Marketing thin birds is wasteful and unbusinesslike, for the flesh put on by special fattening costs less than any other gains in weight, and a better price per pound is obtained. Market quotations usually show a premium of from 4 to 8 cents a pound on fattened fowls over ordinary farm fattened birds.

Blood Rings in Eggs. If you are having trouble to maintain the quality of your eggs investigate the conditions of production and determine the cause. Are you allowing the males to run with the hens? If so the eggs produced are fertile. Fertile eggs develop to blood rings within forty-eight hours under hot weather conditions. Such eggs are unfit for food and are thrown out by the candler. Infertile eggs are produced when the male is removed from the flock. Such eggs will keep seven days and longer under similar conditions and still be usable. Produce infertile eggs and you should receive a better price for better quality.

Lady Eglantine Dead. The White Leghorn hen, Lady Eglantine, the greatest egg producer the world has ever known as a certified layer, died in the early part of August. Her pullet yield of 314 eggs, laid at Delaware college agricultural experiment station in the fourth Philadelphia North American International egg laying competition, will probably stand for many years.

Secret of Egg Production. Health, vigor, plenty of fresh air and ventilation without drafts and proper feeding is the secret of egg production. Never imagine that hens that are kept in houses that are closed tight will lay near so well as will the same hens if kept in houses where there is plenty of open front and good ventilation.

SOMERSET COUNTY HAPPENINGS

Newspaper Items Gathered By Our Correspondents During The Week

Marion Station

October 7—Mrs. W. T. Dennis, of Delmar, was the guest of Mrs. Grover Somers several days this week.

Dr. Ira A. R. Allen spent last Friday with his father, who is ill, near Seaford, Delaware.

Mr. Eddie Stevenson and family, of Newark, N. J., who have been visiting Mrs. Stevenson's mother, Mrs. Anna L. Haynes, returned home by motor last Tuesday.

Mr. Louis Adams, who for some time has been a patient under treatment at the Maryland University, Baltimore, returned to the home of his parents on Wednesday last.

Mr. John B. Hayman, N. Y. P. & N. agent at Marion, who has been spending his vacation with his wife's people at Nantux, Virginia, will return home by motor Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Tilghman Smith and their son, Henry, spent a few days with several of their friends here this week. Rev. Smith is now pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Bethel, Delaware.

Miss Elizabeth Messick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Messick, of this place, was taken to the General and Marine Hospital, Crisfield, Thursday, where she was operated upon for appendicitis. The patient is doing nicely.

Mr. John B. Ward, who was stricken with paralysis on Sunday, died at the home of his son, Mr. Herbert Ward, near Tull's Corner, on Wednesday, aged 76 years. Funeral services were held in Quinceoqua Methodist Episcopal Church Friday morning, conducted by the pastor, Rev. George E. Sterling, assisted by the Rev. Tilghman Smith, of Bethel, Delaware, a former pastor of the church. The interment was in St. Paul's cemetery. Mr. Ward was an influential citizen and a pillar of Quinceoqua Church, of which he had been a member for a number of years. He is survived by six children, namely: Mrs. Sidney Powell, Mrs. Hattie Lowe, and Messrs. Gordon, Rupert, William and Herbert Ward.

Perryhawkin

Oct. 7—Mr. and Mrs. J. Hain, of Bluefield, W. Va., are visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. S. Noel.

Mrs. E. J. Harris and daughter, of Pocomoke City, visited relatives in this community the first of the week.

Mr. Nathaniel Parker and family, of Pocomoke City, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. Josephus Miller.

The Ladies Aid of Perryhawkin Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. D. F. West Tuesday evening. A large number were present and spent a delightful evening. Refreshments were served at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Edgar Pusey died at his home Friday night, September 29th, after a lingering illness of about two years. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Emanuel Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by Rev. S. G. Good, pastor of Perryhawkin Christian Church, and interment was in the cemetery adjoining the church. Mr. Pusey was 44 years old and had been a member of Perryhawkin Christian Church for about four years. He is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. Alexander Powell, of Worcester county; Vador, Alta, Henry and Wade Pusey, of this place.

Presbytery Ends Session

The ninety-third stated meeting of Newcastle Presbytery, embracing the Presbyterian churches of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia, convened last Tuesday for a two-day session in West Nottingham Presbyterian Church, Cecil county. The Rev. Dr. Eckard was the moderator; the Rev. J. R. Milligan, St. George's, Del., stated clerk; Alfred B. McVey, Zion, Cecil county, and the Rev. J. W. Lacy, Pocomoke City, temporary clerks.

Forty ministers and elders responded to roll call at the opening session, which was devoted principally to routine business, followed at 4 o'clock by a conference of the committee of sustentation and home missions with Mr. Morse of the Home Mission Board who has been studying conditions in the Presbytery, with special reference to the fields receiving help from the board.

The sermon last Tuesday was delivered by Vice-Moderator Elder George M. Jones, Dover, Del.

Pastoral dismissions and dismissions were considered Wednesday morning, followed by reports of committees.

In the afternoon systematic benevolence and evangelistic work were discussed, and at night the Rev. Henry H. Falconer, pastor of Northminster Church, Baltimore, preached on "The All-Round Christian Life."

West Nottingham Church, where the meetings were held, is 190 years old. Its membership of 413 is the largest in its history and gives evidence of the splendid work being done by the pastorate of Mr. Hoffman.

Cutting Corn With A Machine

A demonstration of the method of harvesting corn by machinery was given last week by Messrs. Rubb and Dukes on the Parsons' farm, in Wicomico county.

These farmers have purchased a corn binder, which cuts one row of corn at a time and ties it in bundles, dropping the bundles, three or four together, in rows across the fields. It takes two men to set the corn up in shock as fast as it is cut and tied up by the binder. About 40 farmers were present.

TUBERCULOSIS WEEK, DEC. 3 TO 10

Special Days For Medical Examination, Children's Organization, Etc.

December 3 to December 10, inclusive, has been set aside as Tuberculosis Week in the United States, according to an announcement by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

During this week an effort will be made to enlist the co-operation of every church, school, anti-tuberculosis and public health organization, lodge and working men's organization in the United States in an active effort to bring tuberculosis to the attention of the people.

Three special feature days will be held during the week. December 6 will be National Medical Examination Day. On that day an effort will be made to get everybody, men, women and children, whether sick or well, to be examined in order to find out if they have any defects or impairments of their bodies that need attention. If examination is not possible on December 6, appointments will be made then for later examination.

December 8 will be Children's Health Crusade Day. It is hoped at that time to launch a national organization of Modern Health Crusaders, an association of the children of the United States in the public schools, for fighting against tuberculosis and for better health.

December 9 or 10 will be observed, according to the convenience of the churches, as Tuberculosis Day. A special sermon and a series of talking points for ministers and others have been prepared and will be ready for distribution in the near future.

Last year over 130,000 organizations took part in the Tuberculosis Week celebration. It is expected that this year this number will be greatly increased.

Something the Public Misses.

"They were picked up in the open sea," says the Times, "just after their vessel, the schooner Marjorie Brown, which had sprung a leak, was about to sink." That's the trouble with an up-to-date paper. The public is deprived of seeing a picture of a vessel just after it is about to sink.—New York Mail.

When You Take Cold

With the average man a cold is a serious matter, and should not be trifled with, as some of the most dangerous diseases start with a common cold. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of your cold as quickly as possible. You are not experimenting when you use this remedy, as it has been in use for many years and has an established reputation. It contains no opium or other narcotic. Obtainable everywhere.

PLANT FOREST TREES NOW

Marylanders Advised To Take Advantage of State Forest Nursery To Secure Standard Trees

With the coming of the fall season the State Board of Forestry, 532 North Howard street, Baltimore, is renewing its offer to residents of Maryland to supply them with standard forest and roadside planting stock at cost. The Nursery has been established and growing trees for State improvement work since the spring of 1914. The response with which it has met has shown that the service which it offers is appreciated generally by local land owners, and it has enabled the extension of nursery facilities to meet a growing need.

While in the past not as much of forest and roadside planting has been done in the fall as in the spring, there seems no reason, practically throughout the State, why this should not show steady increase in the future. In fact, there are several distinct advantages attached to fall planting which do not obtain in the spring. Labor is usually more plentiful and cheaper, and the ground is very frequently easier to "work." There are many reasons for utilizing the months of October and early November for improvement work through planting trees along the roads and on the farms of Maryland.

Two distinct classes of trees are offered for sale this year: Forest trees and roadside trees. Twelve hundred forest trees are sufficient for planting an acre of ground; one hundred and fifty shade trees for a mile of highway. Prices on the former are therefore by the thousand, on the latter by the hundred, and in both cases are rated at the cost of production.

Among varieties on hand, in forest trees, are seedlings and transplants of white pine, loblolly pine, Norway spruce, red oak and black locust; in the roadside trees there are offered larger red oak transplants, and larger transplant stock in white ash, honey locust, American elm, black walnut and tulip poplar. Prices range from $4 per thousand, charged for the small white pines, to $5 per hundred for transplants of black walnut four to five feet in height. The rates on all of them are very reasonable, as low as it is possible to make them. Packing is free and instructions for planting accompany each order.

Pine-Tar Relieves A Cold

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey contains all the soothing elements of the pine forest. It heats the irritated membrane, and by its antiseptic properties loosens the phlegm, you breathe easier, and what promised to be a severe cold has been broken up. For that stuffed-up feeling, tight chest or sore throat take a dose of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and prevent a wearing, hacking cough dragging through the winter. At your Druggist, 25c.

She travels in ease and comfort

Actual experience of a woman

"Last August I was about to start on a trip. One thing only was lacking and that the most important. I said to my husband 'What shall I do, my shoes are uncomfortable?' 'Get a new pair,' said he. 'Start off on a three thousand mile trip with new shoes, you must be crazy!' I said. In despair I went to my dealer. 'Have you a shoe for tender feet, that I can put right on and walk away in?' 'Yes, I have one I can sincerely recommend, try Queen Quality!' I came, I saw, I bought. I have a very high instep and if a shoe laces properly it is too large in other parts and rubs my feet. If it fits correctly in the foot, it will not come together over the instep and is altogether uncomfortable and I am nothing if not comfortable. The Queen Quality was just right; fitted to perfection; a model of beauty and comfort. I put them right on, wore them all my trip and ever since with perfect ease and comfort.

FARM AND HOME FAIR

To Be Held This Week In the Crisfield Armory By The Grange

The Crisfield Grange will hold a Farm and Home Fair at the Armory in Crisfield, October 25th, 26th and 27th. Doors open at 7 p. m.

As this is to be the beginning of what is hoped to be a great industrial and annual exhibition of Somerset county's resources, a large attendance of farmers and all others is earnestly desired.

It is expected that this county will have an interesting exhibit at Maryland Week Exposition in Baltimore, and we believe it would be wise to have all of the Somerset exhibits sent to the Fair in Crisfield. Have them carded and the Fair Committee will see that they are taken care of and re-shipped to Baltimore without any freight charges.

The Crisfield Fair will have several booths where oysters, fruits, vegetables, cakes, pies, home-made candies and other things too numerous to mention are to be sold for the benefit of the local Grange.

Everybody is requested to contribute something for these booths—corn, wheat, potatoes, pumpkin, cabbage, apples, pears, quinces, preserves, canned goods; anything you can spare.

All articles to be sold or simply for exhibition, should be sent this week to B. F. Somers, I. S. Lawson, or Dr. J. F. Somers, Crisfield, Md.

Assessors To Be Appointed Soon

Judge Oscar Lesser, member of the County Board of Commissioners, held a conference with the County Commissioners over the appointment of assessors for Somerset county.

So far the County Commissioners have failed to name any men for the places. They explained to Judge Lesser that at first they deferred action until the Court of Appeals should render a decision in the Frederick county case, and that since that time they had not been able to find suitable men in all the districts.

The Commissioners told Judge Lesser that they would be in a position to make the appointments within the next few weeks.

Miss Waters Returns To "Beechwood"

Miss Emily W. Waters, after an absence of over a month, returned to her home, "Beechwood," Monday of last week. Miss Waters, accompanied by her brother, Mr. A. Elzey Waters, of Baltimore, had been on a tour through the West. Among places they visited were the Grand Canyon, Arizona; Pike's Peak, Denver, and Estes Park, Canada. Miss Waters reports a delightful trip, but says she had a fright in Kansas City while stopping at the Kulper Hotel, when the building caught fire in the basement and she was aroused at 4 o'clock in the morning by the firemen, the smoke being so dense she was nearly suffocated.

On Ten Days' Motor Trip

Mr. Mark L. Costen, assistant cashier of the Peoples Bank of Somerset County; Mr. Glenn W. Price and his sister, Mrs. S. P. Marquis, left last Friday on a ten days' motor trip to New York, stopping at Lambertville, N. J., Easton and Stroudsburg, Pa. They were accompanied as far as Stroudsburg by Mrs. J. Burnett Worthington, who has been visiting Mrs. F. D. Price and Mrs. Marquis at "Pine Knob," near Princess Anne.

Democratic Meetings

Friday afternoon, October 20th, is the date of the Democratic Meeting to be held in Princess Anne, and at Crisfield at night on the same date. Congressmen Jesse D. Price and David J. Lewis, who are worthy of the support of every Democrat on the Shore, and other speakers will address the meetings.

EPISCOPALIANS GO TO ST. LOUIS

General Convention Of The Church Assembled In Western City

Approximately 2,000 Protestant Episcopal bishops, clergymen and laymen, representing about 4,000,000 adherents in the United States and its possessions, were gathered in St. Louis, Mo., Tuesday night for the opening Wednesday of the forty-fourth triennial convention of the church. With them are about as many women; there to attend sessions of the women's auxiliary, which also began Wednesday.

The convention meets triennially and usually is in session from two to three weeks. It consists of two houses, which meet separately but act concurrently. The House of Bishops numbers over 120 members; the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies about 600. Each diocese is represented by its bishop or bishops, and by four clerical and four lay deputies; missionary districts by one of each order.

Among the important matters to come before the convention for discussion and action are the joint commissions' report on the marriage canon, the question of extending the episcopate to negroes and erecting negro dioceses, prayer book revision and enrichment and the remodeling of the missionary executive.

Senator and Mrs. Marion V. Brewington and Mr. and Mrs. William M. Cooper, of Salisbury, left Sunday afternoon for Philadelphia, and on Monday morning took a special train to St. Louis to attend the convention. Mr. and Mrs. William McMaster, of Worcester county, also attended the convention as delegates.

Miss McClemmy Wins Suit

Miss Myra H. McClemmy, of near Princess Anne, in her replevin suit against Veasey & Brown, automobile dealers of Delmar, Del., was awarded $396 last Wednesday night by a jury at Georgetown, Delaware.

The suit was an echo of the friendly intention which Miss McClemmy took in Harold C. Abbott, an engineer employed by the State Roads Commission in 1914, in the construction of the road between Princess Anne and Salisbury.

McClemmy's home, and representing himself to be a single man, he gained her confidence, and in addition to loaning him a sum of money, she purchased an automobile, which he used while making his headquarters in Salisbury.

When it was discovered that he was married writs were sworn out for his arrest, but he made his escape in the automobile. Upon reaching Delmar he sold the car to Veasey & Brown, trading as the Stone Garage. Miss McClemmy obtained possession of the machine by replevin. Veasey & Brown resisted her claim of ownership, contending that she had given the car to Abbott. The jury found that Miss McClemmy had not parted with title to the car.

Charles H. Cullin, of Georgetown and Henry J. Waters, of Princess Anne, represented Miss McClemmy and ex-Archbishop General Robert P. White and Edward H. Trunell, of Georgetown, Del., represented Messrs. Veasey & Brown.

Business Association Meets

At a meeting of the Business Men's Association of Princess Anne, held last Tuesday night, the committee on Constitution and By-Laws—Messrs. W. O. Lankford, C. H. Hayman, Oscar F. Jones, Wm. P. Todd and Dr. T. J. Smith—drafted the Constitution and By-Laws for the association which were submitted for adoption at a meeting held last (Monday) night.

The object of this Association is to promote the best interests of the business men and property owners of Princess Anne by bringing together for mutual aid the substantial business interests of the town; to foster improvements in the physical character of Princess Anne; to assist in the enforcement of laws and the suppression of all favoritism thereunder, and establish a system of interchange of business information between the members thereof.

Regular meetings will be held the first Tuesday evening of each month and special meetings will be called by the President if found necessary.

The Association is much pleased with the success of their first effort for the betterment of the business conditions of the town held on October 2d to the 7th, when many of the merchants in this place devoted one day, October 4th, as bargain day, and extend thanks to their customers who responded to their call during pay-up-week.

Mrs. E. B. Holsten and daughter, and Mrs. E. P. Plummer and Miss Hattie Plummer motored here from St. Michaels last Thursday and returned home Friday. While in Princess Anne they stopped at the Washington Hotel.

U-53 BRINGS WAR NEAR OUR COAST

German Submarine Torpedoes Four Vessels Within Sight Of Shore

The European War has been brought near to the shores of the United States. This was done by the German submarine, U-53, assisted possibly by other submarines.

For the first time acts of war have been committed within sight of our shores, and almost within limits of our territorial waters. The war no longer seems so far away. The German submarine arrived last Saturday in the harbor of Newport, R. I. It came without advance notice and was a great surprise. It made no repairs, took on no supplies, and its officers said that it could remain three months at sea. After a letter had been sent ashore and mailed, addressed to the German Ambassador at Washington, the U-53 went out of the harbor of Newport as quietly as it came. It had remained only three hours, though the rules of neutrality allowed it twenty-four.

Instead of a mission of peace U-53 came on a mission of war and proved it before the sun was a couple of hours high on Sunday morning. The undersea boat made in Germany torpedoed at least four British steamers, held up an American vessel for investigation and then disappeared for the time being. One of the vessels sent to the bottom carried a large number of Americans as passengers. As far as reported no lives were lost. The German U-boat in these attacks heeded the promise given to the United States nearly half a year ago, that merchant ships would not again be destroyed unless according to the rules of war. Warning was given, and the passengers and crew were allowed to escape to a place of safety.

Budget System For Maryland

In another column of this paper appears a proclamation by the Governor giving a text of the bill and proposed Constitutional Amendment which will be submitted to the voters of Maryland at the election, November 7th.

This bill provides for a budget system.

This plan and amendment would authorize have found it a much more convenient, more economical and in every way a preferable method. The Constitutional Amendment, authorizing the Act, will be submitted to the voters on the ballot in the following form:

For the Constitutional Amendment. Against the Constitutional Amendment.

With a square at the end of each line for the voter's cross mark. It will be well for the voters to acquaint themselves with the form of ballot so as to be able to give their vote for this commendable act.

State Sunday School Convention

Several hundred active workers in the Sunday school are expected at the State Sunday School Convention, to meet in the Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Protestant Churches of Denton, Wednesday to Friday, October 18th to 20th. Mr. W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, will be the principal speaker, with the usual strong array of other speakers representing all phases of modern Sunday school work. A notable feature will be the two convention suppers of Tuesday and Thursday nights, with short speeches from adult class and elementary leaders. The new general secretary, Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, D. D., will make several addresses. The Maryland Sunday School Association office, Fidelity Building, Baltimore, is sending out information to the delegates. A similar convention is to meet on the Western Shore at Westminster the same week on October 16th to 18th.

Postoffice Will Not Close Until 9 p.m.

The Princess Anne postoffice has recently effected a change in the schedule of clerks which will provide for the prompt dispatch of all letters mailed at the postoffice before 9 o'clock in the evening.

The last collection from street letter boxes will be at about 7 p. m., as formerly, but mails deposited in the drop at the postoffice before 9 p. m. will be dispatched on the midnight train.

The new schedule provides, moreover, for the distribution of mails received from the evening train. This train is due at Princess Anne at 7:53 p. m., and heretofore the mail has not been distributed unless the train arrived on time. In the future this mail will be distributed if the train arrives before 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Robert F. Duer, Republican candidate for Congress, attended the mass-meeting held in Baltimore last Wednesday, which was addressed by Hon. Charles E. Hughes, Republican Presidential candidate. Mr. Duer returned to Princess Anne on Friday.

PHONE OVER RATES

C. And P. Objects To Crisfield Attempt To Regulate

The controversy which has been raging in Crisfield for several months between the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Mayor and City Council of Crisfield, reached a climax last Saturday when the company filed suit for an injunction to prevent the enforcement of an ordinance regulating telephone rates, passed by the municipality. The preliminary order for the hearing of the writ was signed by Judge J. L. D. Stanford, sitting in chambers at Princess Anne last Saturday, and was served yesterday, Monday.

The main question raised in the case is the constitutionality of a provision in the charter of Crisfield giving the Mayor and City Council the power to fix the rates to be charged by telephone companies operating in the town. The Mayor and Council of Crisfield, on April 19th last, passed an ordinance making it unlawful for any telephone company to charge more than $25 for a business telephone and $15 for a residence telephone. The telephone plant in Crisfield was formerly owned by the Pocomoke Telephone Company and was purchased by the Chesapeake and Potomac Company.

The main contention of the telephone company is that the provision in the charter of Crisfield is void because it is in conflict with the power vested in the Public Service Commission to "fix and regulate all rates and charges for all telephone companies." It is pointed out that the act creating the Public Service Commission was approved April 6, 1910, whereas the charter for Crisfield was not approved until April 11, 1910, and the contention that the power vested in the Public Service Commission nullifies the provision in the town charter is grounded upon Section 33 of Article 3 of the Constitution of Maryland, to the effect that "the General Assembly shall pass no special law for any case or person, but a general law shall be made by an act of the General Assembly."

It is pointed out that the main question raised in the case is complex and the case will attract attention all over the State.

Disease Killing Oysters

There is an epidemic killing off the oysters. Every bit as mysterious in its origin as infantile paralysis or other plagues that attack the human race, the disease is playing havoc among the oyster beds of the Chesapeake bay and lower Potomac.

Most mysterious to the oyster scientists of the Department of Agriculture at Washington is the fact that while the disease will kill off all the oysters, young and old, in one bed, another bed immediately adjoining the contaminated one will be untouched. In freakish fashion the germs of the plague have hopped from one bed to another but completely avoiding intervening ones.

Members of the Maryland Shellfish Commission are working in close cooperation with the Department of Agriculture in an effort to combat the disease, but thus far the experts have been baffled. In view of the increasing cost of living and the necessity of broadening the field of food products, the oyster has been looked to by the food statisticians to make itself more and more useful as a table article. Consequently every effort is being made to find a means of stamping out the oyster pestilence.

Newest Grafting Freak

Eleven fully matured tomatoes and as many life-sized potatoes growing on a single plant in the vegetable gardens of the Pennsylvania State College marks the advent of the newest freak plants in the vegetable world. The experiment was conceived and carried to completion by C. E. Myers, professor of experimental vegetable growing at the college. A potato was planted, and on the stalk produced there was grafted a young tomato shoot. The union was protected with wax and bound with raffia, as is done in the ordinary grafting of fruit trees. A luxuriant growth of vine was produced. On the vine there were many tomato blossoms and these developed into normal tomatoes. Under ground, at the same time, the potatoes thrived as if they were growing under the stimulus of their own vine.

Bishop Adams' Visitations

The Right Rev. William F. Adams will visit Grace church, Mount Vernon, next Sunday morning at 10.30. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock he will be at All Saints, Monie, and at 7.30 that evening he will preach and confirm the members of the Confirmation Class at St. Andrew's, Princess Anne. Evening Prayer Leaflets will be placed in everybody's hands so all can follow the service. The public is cordially invited to all of these services.

WILSON DAY NATION-WIDE JUBILEE

Achievements Of Administration To Be Celebrated On October 28th

In at least ten thousand communities, in all parts of the United States, from ten to twelve million voters will celebrate October 28th as Woodrow Wilson Day. The streets will be decorated and, in many cases, special stands built for the occasion. There will be music, parades and speaking, and, literally, the slogan "Peace With Honor, Prosperity, Preparedness," will echo through the land from Maine to California. From every rostrum the principal speaker will read a special message from President Wilson. This message is to be a proclamation of the New Freedom, and is to be read with all the solemnity of the occasion by some prominent person appointed by the local committee.

The Democratic State Central Committee of Somerset county is arranging for a county-wide celebration of the day. The main feature will be an automobile parade through the county, starting at Crisfield and passing through Marion, Westover and Kingston to Princess Anne. At Princess Anne the parade probably will be divided into two sections, one going to Mt. Vernon and the other through Orle, Dames Quarter, Tangier and Deal's Island, stopping at each place for the reading of a message which will be sent out to the people of the county on that occasion by President Wilson. Speeches will be made by members of the party.

Plans for this outpouring of the people and demonstration of patriotic pride in the President's good work have just been completed by the Democratic National Committee. Wilson Day is to be the culmination of the rousing and nation-wide canvass of the country—of every State, county and township—which will be conducted throughout the month.

As the President stated in his speech to the Young Men's Democratic League on September 30, the managers of his campaign believe that the vindication of the Democratic party at the polls will be complete if the voting public is fully informed of the record of progressive achievement during the last three and a half years. This is the end now being sought by all national speakers, and Wilson Day will furnish the climax not only for giving credit due to the President for his good works but for placing Woodrow Wilson's deeds in vivid contrast with Candidate Hughes' words.

Farm Loan Board To Meet

A meeting of the Federal Farm Loan Board, with Secretary McAdoo presiding, will conduct a public hearing in the federal building at Baltimore tomorrow (Wednesday), October 18th, for the purpose of obtaining information as to the farm loan needs of the farmers of Maryland.

It is important that a large number of farmers and others interested be in attendance at this meeting so that some adequate idea of the financial needs of the farmers of Maryland may be secured.

The question of boundaries of the Land Bank Districts and the location of the banks will also be discussed and special attention will be given to explaining the details of the Farm Loan Act.

It is hoped that this community may have several representatives present at this important meeting.

Bassett-Loockerman Wedding

Miss Vesta Loockerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Loockerman, of Crisfield, was married to Mr. Harold P. Bassett, of Bridgeport, Conn., Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles A. Elderdice, pastor of Mount Pleasant Methodist Protestant Church, of Crisfield. The bride is a graduate of Boston Conservatory of Music. The bridesmaid was Miss Lois Loockerman, sister of the bride. The best man was Milton Bassett, of Bridgeport, Conn., a brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Bassett left for the Berkshires. They will be "at home" in Bridgeport, Conn., after December 5th.

Judge Dennis' Estate $22,840

The personal estate of the late Judge John Upshur Dennis is appraised at $9,797 in the inventory filed in the Orphans' Court, Baltimore, last Tuesday by the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, executor.

There was also filed a list of $8,343 insurance policies on the judge's life and $4,700 due him on a demand note, a total of $13,043. These make the value of his estate $22,840.

The personal property includes household and personal effects valued at $178, stocks and bonds appraised at $9,145 and $474 cash.

Other Presidents than Wilson have talked about a square deal. Wilson has lived it.

CHAUTAUQUA THE BEST EVER

Arrangements Made For The Lyceum Festival In 1917

The Lyceum Festival began in the Auditorium last Thursday afternoon and continued Friday and Saturday, both afternoons and evenings, and the audience was large at all of the entertainments.

Mrs. Emily Farrow Gregory, the Superintendent, lectured each afternoon. Thursday her subject was "Women as Heroines of Modern Progress;" Friday, "Story Telling; Its Uses and Abuses," and Saturday, "The Message of Some Recent Books and Plays." Mrs. Gregory is a fine lecturer and her talks were among the best ever heard in this town, being both entertaining and instructive throughout, and there is no doubt that our citizens would be pleased to have her return again next year.

Thursday afternoon and evening "The Berkeleys," Sextette, gave a brilliant musicale entertainment, with a change of program at each performance, followed by the lecturer, Mrs. Leonora M. Lake, known as "Mother Lake," the champion of the rights of the child.

Friday afternoon and evening The A-B-G Company pleased the audiences, and Mr. Frank Dixon in his lecture that evening took for his subject "A Square Deal," which was highly enjoyed by his hearers.

Saturday afternoon and evening the Famous Yodlers were at their best. Concerts were well rendered and highly enjoyed by the music-loving denizens of the town. Rosani, Prince of Jugglers, concluded the Saturday night's entertainment.

It is gratifying to know that arrangements have been made for a return of the Chautauqua next fall. There is no doubt that it will be welcomed as a relief from many entertainments that carry with them little of real benefit. Two hundred and forty-three tickets were sold for next year's lyceum.

Among the guarantors for the season of 1917 are: A. M. Humphreys, G. W. Kirk, W. H. Dashiell, E. C. Cannon, B. H. Dougherty, Roy A. Buhrman, B. H. Dryden, Columbus Lankford, C. M. Dashiell, H. L. D. Stanford, L. L. Pusey, J. W. Miles, F. D. Layfield, Gordon Tull, Wm. T. Holland, H. J. Waters, J. D. Wallop, H. Fillmore Lankford, Frank Collins, D. J. Givan, and Geo. W. Colborn, Jr.

Public Hearing On Fishing Structures

A public hearing will be held before a board of engineer officers at 2 o'clock p. m., on Friday, November 10th, 1916, in room 429, fourth floor of the United States Custom House, corner Gay and Water streets, Baltimore, Md., for the purpose of considering modifications in existing regulations for fishing structures in Chesapeake Bay and tributaries.

All those interested in fishing or in navigation in the waters of Chesapeake Bay or its tributaries are invited to attend the public hearing above announced and thereat to express their views. To secure accuracy of record those desiring to address the hearing are invited to present their views in writing as well as orally. Written communications will be received from those not able to attend the hearing.

Somehow Hughes on the issues sound much like John D. Rockefeller or J. Pierpont Morgan, on the witness stand.

Democratic Meetings

Friday afternoon, October 20th, is the date of the Democratic Meeting to be held in Princess Anne, and at Crisfield at night on the same date. Congressmen Jesse D. Price and David J. Lewis, who are worthy of the support of every Democrat on the Shore, and other speakers will address the meetings.

Playing the Police

A Story of an American Who Protected a Russian Girl.

By ELINOR MARSH

While the last Russian revolution was coming on, Alan Thorpe, a young American, in what was then St. Petersburg was walking on the street one day when suddenly he felt a hand on his arm, a soft, small hand, evidently belonging to a woman. Glancing sidewise, he saw a girl seemingly about twenty years of age. Looking up appealingly, she hurriedly spoke a few words in the Russian language in a low tone. Thorpe was connected with an agency of an American business house in St. Petersburg and had lived in Russia long enough to speak the language pretty well.

"Give me your protection," said the girl. "I am followed and may be arrested."

"What do you wish me to do?"

"Say that I am your wife."

"Why do you fear arrest?"

"I am supposed to be a revolutionist."

"I am an American. You being a Russian, I doubt it."

"All the better," said the girl in broken English. "You being a foreigner, the police will be all the more careful in arresting your wife."

"Where did you learn English?"

"I speak several languages. I have been in England. I once spent some months there."

The girl withdrew her hand for a few moments, and Thorpe felt something drop in the side pocket of his overcoat.

"What's that?" he asked.

"Never mind what it is. If it is discovered there and you do not know what it is you will be really surprised. The police will thus be the more ready convinced that you did not put it there yourself."

"Suppose I refuse to acknowledge you?"

"In that case, if they arrest me, I am lost."

"What do you mean?"

"I shall spend the rest of my life in Siberia."

This surely was an unfortunate position in which to be placed—an attractive girl pleading for a chance to avoid a lifelong imprisonment, endangering the liberty of the man she asked to help her. Thorpe was an American, full of chivalry. He knew that the sensible thing for him to do was to disengage himself from the girl and leave her to take care of herself. But he could not bring himself to do this.

He flashed through his mind that if he became involved he would find a way out of the trouble. He had the rights of any foreigner, and he was not interested in the revolution. He might suffer imprisonment for a time, but he would eventually be able to prove that he was not a revolutionist. It needed only this reasoning, in addition to the pleading face turned up to his and the feeling of the little hand on his arm, to win him to the girl's purpose.

When his mind was made up he began to talk volubly in English to his companion, pointing out various objects as he passed them with his cane, as though he were conducting her through the city as a stranger. Occasionally he used the words "my dear," but it is doubtful if the two were understood, for a Russian police officer is not supposed to know English. The girl, too, played the part of a visitor to the city, regarding with interest the objects pointed out and remarking upon them.

"Are we going toward your home?" asked Thorpe in a whisper.

"No; take me to yours."

This staggered the American, but he remembered the great stake of a life imprisonment in the Kara mines for the girl he was aiding, and he led the way to his lodgings. He was about to pass into the house where he lived when an officer stepped up to him and said very civilly in the Russian tongue:

"Have you your passport with you, sir?"

Thorpe, who was never without his passport, took it from his pocket and handed it to the officer, who looked at it and from it to him. Seeing that the description tallied with the original, the officer handed the document back to its owner, then asked:

"May I see madame's passport?"

"What does he say?" asked the girl of Thorpe, pretending not to understand.

"He wishes to see your passport."

"Oh, it is in my trunk. Ask him to come in and I will show it to him."

By this time the officer was convinced that the pair were American travelers. He went into the house and remained with Thorpe in a reception room while the girl ascended the staircase ostensibly to go to her room to get her passport. Thorpe, who knew that she would not come back, engaged the officer's attention by asking him questions. The man wished to stop the girl, but refrained from doing so until it was too late. Thorpe, who knew that when the officer was convinced that his supposed wife would not return he would take him into custody, was in agony. He remembered the girl's slipping something into his pocket and knew it would be found there. All this seemed too much to do for a woman he had never seen before, and he was tempted to free himself at once by declaring the deception; but, whether it was wise or unwise, it was now too late, and he refrained.

For awhile after the girl had gone upstairs Thorpe talked volubly to the officer, intending to give her as much time as possible to make her escape. During this period Thorpe was thinking how she could get away. There was a rear staircase by which she might descend into a back yard and thence gain another street. But it was likely that there were others on the lookout, and it was possible that her flight by this route would be intercepted. Other houses about the same height as the one they were in flanked it, and she might escape by the roof. In any event if she succeeded Thorpe would be left to the mercy of the Russian government.

What was his amazement to see her re-enter the room.

"My dear," she said, "I wish you would go upstairs and see if you can find my passport. I thought I left it in my trunk when I went out, and, though I have turned everything upside down, I haven't found it. I think that I must have placed it in your trunk, but it is locked and I could not open it. Go and see if it is not there."

What could her return mean but that she had found that she could not sacrifice her benefactor and had come back to permit him to escape instead of herself? He was not to be placed in the position of accepting such a sacrifice from a woman. Taking a bunch of keys from his pocket, he handed them to her, telling her to go herself and look for her passport in his trunk. She demurred at first, but when he handed her his overcoat, asking her to take it up with her, she consented and again left the room, with the coat on her arm.

If the officer had any suspicions they were lulled by the woman's return. And when she left the room a second time with Thorpe's coat there was a great relief in her heart. The moment she was out of the officer's sight she put her hand in the pocket of the coat to assure herself that what she had placed in it was still there. She felt it and hurried on, transferring it as she did so to her own person. During her previous absence from below she had investigated the route of escape by the roof and now kept on till she reached it. Emerging from the scuttle, she ran to the next building, which was but a few feet lower, jumped down on to it, ran over several buildings of the same height and disappeared down the scuttle of the fifth house from the one from which she had started.

When some time had passed and the girl did not return Thorpe began to show signs of impatience. He proposed to go after her, but the officer interposed. Thorpe waited a little longer, then said:

"I fear that if I do not go up at once I shall lose my valuables."

"Why so?" asked the officer. "Surely your wife would not steal from you."

"She is not my wife. I never saw her before today. She joined me on the street. I presume she is."

The officer waited not to hear the rest, but, springing up, ran to the door, gave a shrill whistle, then ran upstairs, followed by several other men.

Every room in the house was searched, including Thorpe's apartments. Besides his overcoat, several articles of value were missing. He was astonished, thinking that, after all, he had been robbed by a woman who had worked on his sympathies for the purpose. But the police disabused his mind of this theory. They knew better. They had been on the track of a woman they knew well. This one they did not know, but while chasing the other had come to suspect her. She had fooled them by placing herself under Thorpe's wing and pretending to be his wife. But Thorpe was believed to be entirely innocent in the matter and was not troubled even to make an explanation.

One day Thorpe was accosted on the street by an old woman who asked for alms. He was turning away from her when she said in a low tone:

"I am the girl you saved from Siberia."

Thorpe scrutinized her and saw that her white hair was a wig; the wrinkles in her face were skillfully painted. He asked her to give him an account of herself since he saw her last. After telling him how she escaped she continued:

"The article I slipped in your overcoat pocket was a bomb. I had received it a few minutes before I joined you from a worker in the cause of Russia's liberation. When I was permitted to go upstairs for my passport I could have escaped, but I was unwilling to leave you, my benefactor, with the bomb in your overcoat pocket. Your asking me to carry your coat upstairs solved the problem. I robbed you of certain articles that it might appear to the police that I was a common thief who had deceived you. This would avoid implicating you in protecting a revolutionist. When it is safe to do so the articles will be returned to you."

"Who are you?" asked Thorpe.

"I am the daughter of a noble. My home is in the province of Volodga. I came into the revolutionary party through teaching the children on my father's estate. I am now a steady worker for the cause. But I expect to be taken in time and sent to Siberia. I have made many narrow escapes and should have been taken when I attached myself to you had it not been for the stupidity of the officer who demanded my passport. I have stopped you to thank you for what you did for me and to say that your property will be returned to you. You are henceforth while in Russia under the care of the revolutionists and have nothing to fear."

She turned away from Thorpe, and he never saw or heard of her again.

PERSIAN DIPLOMACY.

Not Much Was Said, but the Prince Understood the Shah.

There were great variety and charm in the society of Kissingen, writes Princess Lazarovich in her account of a holiday on the continent. There were people from the four corners of Europe, America and the Orient, each having a distinct personality that brought vivid suggestions of his origin.

Prince Malkolm was the diplomatic representative of Persia for all Europe, being accredited at the same time to London, Petrograd and Rome. His wife, a beautiful Armenian princess, a Christian, was one of my dearly prized friends in London. Prince Malkolm told us one day of how he came to be a Persian diplomatic representative. He was a relative of the shah, had been educated in several countries in Europe and had become interested in the Christian religion as the root force of western civilization.

Prince Malkolm told us how he studied and pondered long to lift upon some means of bringing Christian principles to Persians in forms that they would understand, making Christianity the fulfillment of old Mithraic and Zoroastrian conceptions. Having formed a plan, he returned to Persia and began to talk to his countrymen and put before them the ideas that he believed would raise up the fallen nation. The people everywhere listened to him eagerly and followed him about in throngs. Some of them began to proclaim him a prophet and almost worshiped his person. He tried in every way to combat that tendency, in which he saw the speedy and complete wreck of his dearest hopes.

One day the shah sent for him and said:

"My cousin, you are much followed about here. You are exerting yourself too much. You need rest. Would you like to go as my ambassador to Europe—and stay there many years?"

Then Prince Malkolm added:

"I knew what he meant. So with my heart falling like a stone I answered, 'Yes, your majesty, I accept.' On that day I started on my journey westward. And all these years I have been virtually a European."

"But what did the shah really mean?" I asked.

Prince Malkolm grinned, showing his white teeth, and with a queer gurgle made the sign of a knife drawn across his throat.

MEANINGS OF DREAMS.

What Scientific Analysis of Slumber Visions May Disclose.

Scientific dream interpretation helps us to see ourselves as we really are, gives us intimate glimpses of the subconscious as well as conscious desires, fears and modes of thinking that enter into the making of our character and the shaping of our conduct, according to H. Addington Bruce in the Mothers' Magazine.

The compilers of the gaudy little paper covered dream books once so much in vogue went rightly enough on the theory that dreams are symbolic. But they erred by assuming that they are always symbolic of future events and that any particular dream element can always be interpreted as symbolic of the same kind of future event.

Those who expect modern science to provide them with a dream manual akin to the old dream books, so that every one may become his own interpreter at a glance, are consequently doomed to disappointment. Accurate dream interpretation almost always means time and effort. But it is well worth the trouble it costs. All who would discover unsuspected weaknesses and defects in themselves, who would gain a maximum of health, happiness and efficiency through right living, will do well to seek to have their dreams analyzed.

And it is not only for the light it throws on one's nature and character that scientific dream interpretation is worth while. There are dreams which rightly interpreted throw light on the state of the dreamer's physical health, sometimes enabling action to be taken that will avert serious disease.

Spoken With Feeling.

"There are all sorts of synonyms for money in this country," said the talkative man. "We call it 'tin,' 'mazzuma,' 'kale,' 'dough,' and a dozen other names I don't recall just now."

A solemn looking man seated in one corner opened his mouth as if to say something and then closed it without uttering a word.

"What is your favorite synonym for money?" asked the talkative person.

"The unattainable," the solemn man replied, and then fell once more into deep thought.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No Use For It.

"Have you a five dollar bill that you don't know what to do with?"

"Yes; here is one."

Braided Rivers.

A river not confined to a single channel, but broken up into a number of channels, which in turn branch and unite in a complex and confusing manner, is called a braided stream. It is caused by the slight fall of the stream, which prevents it from carrying away all the sediment swept into it by its numerous tributaries.

This material chokes the stream and forces it to spread into many shallow and shifting channels, resembling the strands of a braid. A good example of this is Jefferson river, in Montana.—New York Mail.

What Did He Say?

Oliver Wendell Holmes once told Professor Poulton he would never repeat to any one what Tennyson said to him when he entered his house. William James pressed him to do so with the assurance, "There are no reporters here." But Dr. Holmes replied, with emphasis, "I have said that I will never tell any one. It was not a thing that I should have supposed any man would say to a guest he had invited to his house."

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE

The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says: "No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

LEAPS IN THE DARK.

Why the Broncho Jumped in His Wild Race at Midnight.

A former herdsman relates a thrilling personal experience connected with a stampede of cattle. He was taking a herd of 400 steers to Leadville and had camped for the night on Bear river, near its junction with the Little Snake. At midnight, when he went on guard, all was quiet, but in an hour or so, for some unexplained reason, the cattle were up and off like a flash. Something had stampeded them.

He was riding an old blue colored, line backed California broncho, just the beast for the work. He had often ridden him a hundred miles a day. The night was dark and cloudy, and he had to rely on the animal's sure footedness as he strove to stay on the flanks of the steers and turn them until their scare should cease.

It was a wild race. Four or five times the broncho gave tremendous jumps, but landed right and went on in good shape. In the course of an hour or so the man had the beaves quieted.

When daylight came, being curious to learn what obstacles had occasioned those tremendous jumps of the broncho, the man set forth to look over the ground. Leaving the bottom land, the steers had ascended a gentle acclivity, and on the plateau at the top he had kept circling them.

The plateau was intersected by a canyon about four miles long and from 1,500 to 2,000 feet deep. Its walls inclined toward each other at the top, and the distance across was fifteen or twenty feet.

During the chase the broncho had jumped that frightful chasm four times. His hoof marks were plainly visible, and down in the debris, hundreds of feet below, were a dozen mangled steers that had been crowded off.—Los Angeles Times.

WHALING DAYS ARE OVER.

A Once Thriving Industry That Has Nearly Vanished.

At the outbreak of the American Revolution and for a period of seventy-five years following the conclusion of that struggle whaling was the most important branch of the American fisheries. From 500 to 700 vessels sought whales in all the oceans and seas of the world, and in one year New Bedford alone sent out 300 vessels, whose cargoes of bone and oil were the basis of the industrial life of the city.

The pursuit of sperm whales reached its climax in 1837, when oil valued at nearly $4,500,000 was brought in, mostly from the south Pacific. The height of the industry was in 1840, when 70,000 persons derived their support from whales and 720 vessels, valued at $21,000,000, were engaged.

For more than fifty years the fishery has been declining, and in numerous ports that once derived most of their wealth from the industry there have for a long time existed only memories of former greatness. For a number of years the sperm, right and bow head whales that supported the fishery in early years have been very scarce and their pursuit has been unprofitable, and the present importance of the whale fishery, amounting in value to less than 2 per cent of the American fisheries, depends on the taking from shore stations of species of whales that formerly were for the most part neglected.

The glory of the whale fishery has departed forever, and the commercial if not the biological extinction of all kinds of whales is proceeding rapidly, undeterred and unhampered by the principal maritime powers.—Hugh M. Smith in National Geographic Magazine.

How Catarrh Is Contracted

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

RELIEVE HEADACHES WITHOUT DOSING

By Applying Sloan's Liniment to Forehead You Can Stop the Severe Pains

Many headaches are of a neuralgic origin. The symptoms of such headaches are intense and lingering pains in the brow, temples or back of the head. There is one certain relief that has been known and recommended for years back, Sloan's Liniment. One application and the dull pain is practically gone. It is easily applied without rubbing. Rubbing is unnecessary, as Sloan's Liniment quickly penetrates to the seat of trouble. Aching muscles, rheumatism, bruises, lumbago, chilblains, sprains and stiff neck can also be most effectively treated with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than musky plasters or ointments; it does not stain the skin or clog the pores. At all drug stores, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

SELECTING CORN FOR EXHIBITION

Ears Should Be Uniform in Shape, Size And Quality.

STUDY EACH EAR CAREFULLY

100 Or More Of Your Best Ears Should Be Selected In The Field To Choose From—Have Your County Agent Advise You.

College Park, Md., October 5.—In connection with the numerous local exhibits which County Demonstration Agents are arranging for their Corn Club members, they are issuing instructions regarding the selection of ten ear exhibits. In regard to the selection of corn for exhibition, Nickolas Schmitz, of the Extension Service, says: "In selecting ten ears for exhibition the first thing to remember is that the sample will be judged as a whole and not in part on the merits of a few exceptionally good ears. Two or three unusually fine ears cannot make up for the deficiency of the rest of the sample. They will bring out more prominently the poor qualities of the other ears and therefore detract from, rather than add to, the appearance of the sample."

"The following score card and explanation will aid in making the selection:

Uniformity of Exhibit.....	10
Shape of Ears.....	10
Length of Ears.....	10
Circumference of Ears.....	5
Maturity and Market Condition..	15
Purity of Kernel.....	5
Purity of Cob.....	5
Kernel: (a) shape; (b) uniformity	10
Furrow Between Rows.....	5
Germ and Space Between Kernels	10
Butts and Tips.....	5
Size of Cob.....	10

Uniformity Of Exhibit: "Uniformity should be one of the principal considerations in selecting corn for exhibition. Have every ear like every other ear in shape, size, character of kernel, color of cob and in shade of color of the grain. When selecting sample, first pick out in the field while husking or from the wagon or crib, one hundred or more of the best ears to be found. Lay them out on a table or floor side by side, and having in mind all the characters of a good ear, study each carefully and eliminate the poorest ones. Two or three hours can be spent very profitably at this. Next, select two or three of the most ideal ears in the pile, using each as a standard, match them with as many good ears as can be found. Finally, out of these lots, choose the best ten ears that will match."

Shape of Ear: "The ear should be cylindrical, or at least only slightly tapering, with rows running straight from butt to tip. A tapering ear has either less rows on one end than on the other, or the kernels are shorter or narrower on the tip end."

Length and Circumference of Ear: "An ear should not be long and slim nor short and thick. The length and circumference vary with the variety, but all ears of an exhibit should be of the same length and circumference. The common standard for all varieties requires that the length should be to the circumference as 4 is to 3. An ear ten inches long should have a circumference of about seven and one-half inches when measured one-third of the distance from butt to tip. For all sections of Maryland east of the mountain district the standard length should be between 9½ and 10½ inches for all single-eared varieties. Ears smaller than this will not give the maximum yield. For prolific varieties, and the mountain district, the length should be between 7 and 8 inches."

"Consult your County Demonstration Agent in selecting exhibits for display."

Selecting A Dairy Cow

College Park, Md., October 5.—Care in the selection of cows bought to improve the herd is being emphasized by County Demonstration Agents located in dairy sections. In regard to such selection, G. E. Wolcott, of the Maryland Agricultural Extension Service, says: "The safest way to select the individual cow is to choose only the ones that show from yearly records that they are capable of making a large, economical production. As there are no records of a great majority of the dairy cows in this country available, and as the success or failure of the dairy business will depend, to some extent, on the production of the individuals in the herd, it would seem necessary, then, to use the next best method of selection, i. e., to choose animals of the dairy type. The dairy cow has for her work the reproduction of her kind and the production of milk. In order to do this work efficiently, she must eat and digest a large amount of food; she must breathe and her blood must circulate. If her efforts to do her work are successful, they will be indicated in certain portions of her body, and in certain characteristics, which may be termed the essentials of a productive cow. The essentials are five in number; viz., constitution, capacity, nervous temperament, blood circulation and ability."

KEEP YOUR POULTRY FREE FROM DISEASE

Avoid Troubles Resulting From Improper Housing and Feeding.

HAVE SICK BIRDS ISOLATED

Experiment Station Poultryman Gives Timely Suggestions For Preventing Loss From Disease.

College Park, Md., Oct. 10.—With the coming of fall, most laying hens will be kept in closer quarters as a result of which the danger of the spread of disease is much increased. In this connection, Poultryman Roy H. Waite, of the Maryland Experiment Station, says, "There are hundreds of diseases and ailments that affect poultry, but they can be divided into two general classes."

First. Those caused by faulty management, improper feeding, poor housing, neglect, etc.

Second. Those caused by an infection which is passed from bird to bird or from flock to flock.

While it is interesting to know the name of the disease, this is not so essential before treatment is begun. It is hardly necessary even to know into which two of the above classes the disease falls, before treatment is begun. General treatment is very much the same for all diseases. There is some doubt about many of the specific remedies recommended for disease doing much more than ease the mind of the poultry raisers. There are, however, three things that should be done in all cases.

A. Take the sick birds out of the flock and put them by themselves.

B. Remove the source of infection (even if the disease is not infectious, no harm will be done by following these directions).

1. Destroy, by burying deeply or by burning, all fowls that die of the disease.

2. Prevent the birds from working among or picking at the droppings from the flock.

3. See that the feed is eaten from a clean place. If fed outdoors, change the feeding place often. If fed inside, it may be necessary to feed in troughs or on boards which can be cleaned readily.

4. If droppings from sick birds are abnormal, go through the house and yards often, collect such droppings and destroy them.

5. If practicable, spray the floor and feed troughs occasionally, with some good disinfectant.

C. Give careful attention to care and feeding:

1. See that there are no red mites under the roosts or in the cracks about the house. If any are found, they may be exterminated by applying kerosene oil at frequent intervals.

2. Provide good wholesome feed.

3. See that the birds have plenty of fresh air to breathe.

Bulbs For Indoors

College Park, Md., Oct. 13.—Varieties of bulbs for growing indoors are recommended by B. W. Anson, of the State College of Agriculture. Prof. Anson says, "Every garden lover should have a few of these bulbs in bloom during the winter. These bulbs are so easy to culture that with little attention, everyone can have success. Secure the bulbs now and plant them in pots sufficiently large to accommodate them. They can be planted singly or a number in a pot, depending upon the size of the bulbs. Do not push the bulb into the pot or soil, in so doing, the soil is compacted under the bulb and as the young roots form, they have a tendency, in such cases, to force the bulb out of the pot. It is best to partially fill the pot with soil and then place the bulb on this and fill in with more soil. Slightly firm the soil over the bulb."

In hyacinths, the bulb should be placed at least two inches from the top of the pot. Tulips can be shallower. After the bulbs have been potted, place them outdoors in a well drained place; cover with a few inches of sand, after first watering the bulb and seeing that all pots are well moistened. Leave outdoors until the root system is well formed. This insures good flowers. It generally takes from eight to ten weeks for the bulb to produce a good root system outdoors. Bulbs can then be brought indoors, gradually given more light and a higher temperature. Where one does not care to place the bulbs outdoors, they can be kept in a cool cellar until thoroughly rooted, when they can be gradually brought into the light.

An easy method of growing Hyacinths is to secure hyacinth glasses, fill the jar with water up to the shoulder and place the bulb in the jar. It is well to add fresh water every 10 days; placing a piece of charcoal in the glass will tend to keep the water sweet. Water should just touch the edge of the bulb, as shown in illustration. Place in a cool, dark place until roots are well formed, when they can be brought into the living room. In a short time, flower buds will open up, giving a grand display.

Danes Will Vote On Sale of Islands. The islands of the "Danish West Indies," lying off the east end of Porto Rico, will not be sold to the United States unless the people of Denmark vote in favor of the sale and unless the Rigsdag or Danish Parliament then approves.

This has just been decided by the Parliamentary Committee in whose hands the matter was left. The Committee decides that a "plebiscite" or popular vote shall be taken before the matter goes any farther. The purpose of the vote is to show just how the Danes feel about the sale.

The Danish government, it is reported, would like to get rid of the islands, fearing that Denmark may have to defend them against a powerful European neighbor after the present war is over. It is well known that one European Power has been very eager to get a foothold near the shores of the United States.

The United States Senate has already ratified the treaty of purchase.

New Coins Ready For Issue. According to reports from the Treasury Department and its mint service, the new dimes, quarters and half dollar pieces will be ready for issue within a few weeks.

The new dime will show on one side a bundle of rods with an axe, a design representing the Roman fasces. The reverse side exhibits a head of Liberty with a Phrygian cap. The twenty-five cent piece bears a front view of a full length figure of Liberty. The left arm is upraised, bearing a shield, upon which is inscribed "In God We Trust." The right hand bears the olive branch of peace. On the other side the American eagle is shown in full flight, with wings extended, and the inscriptions "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum" and "quarter dollar" below.

The half dollar piece shows a full length figure of Liberty striding toward the dawn of a new day, with the Stars and Stripes flying in the back. The reverse of the half dollar shows an eagle perched on a mountain with wings unfolded.

The coins, according to law, must have the figure of Liberty and the American eagle.

MARYLAND FARMERS PROSPEROUS

Raised Wheat Crop Worth $15,000,000 With Other Big Yields

Maryland farmers will receive nearly $15,000,000 for their wheat crop this year, according to estimates of the experts of the Bureau of Crop Estimates.

Details of the crop report for October 1 made public last week show that the yield in Maryland is about the same as that of last year, despite the fact that the crop throughout the country is 40 per cent less. Maryland's harvest is placed at 10,240,000 bushels this year, against 10,272,000 bushels in 1915, while the price is estimated at $1.43 per bushel, against $1 at the same time last year.

The forecast for other Maryland crops for 1916, compared with last year's yield, is as follows:

Oats—This year, 1,300,000 bushels; production last year, 1,530,000 bushels.

Rye—This year, 372,000 bushels; last year, 396,000 bushels.

Tobacco—This year, 19,300,000 pounds; last year, 16,290,000 pounds.

Potatoes—This year, 4,180,000 bushels; last year, 4,286,000 bushels.

Sweet Potatoes—This year, 1,010,000 bushels; last year, 1,040,000 bushels.

Hays—This year, 611,000 tons; last year, 468,000 tons.

Apples—This year, 848,000 barrels; last year, 800,000 barrels.

Peaches—This year, 610,000 bushels; last year, 1,248,000 bushels.

PROCLAMATION

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND CREATING A BUDGET SYSTEM.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1916, an Act was passed, to-wit: Chapter 159 of said Act, being an Act to propose an amendment to Section 53 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State; and which said Act is in words and figures following:

"CHAPTER 159.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 53 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, regulating the making of appropriations by the General Assembly of Maryland in regular session, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following amendment to Section 53 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, be adopted, as hereinafter provided, to become Section 53 of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 53. The General Assembly shall not appropriate any money out of the Treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section A:

Every appropriation bill shall be either a Budget Bill, or a Supplementary Appropriation Bill, as hereinafter mentioned.

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a new elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) The revenues and expenditures for each of the two preceding years next preceding; (2) The current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the State; (3) The debts and funds of the State; (4) An estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the two years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) Any explanation the Governor may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second. Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations," and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the Judiciary Department, as provided by law, certified to the Governor by the Comptroller; (4) to pay and discharge the principal and interest on the public debt of Maryland in conformity with Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution; and (5) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (6) for the establishment and maintenance throughout the State of a thorough and efficient system of public schools in conformity with Article VIII of the Constitution and with the laws of the State; (7) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution of the State.

Third. The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations," and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Governor shall deliver to the presiding officer of each house the budgets and a bill for all the proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified; and the presiding officer of each house shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill."

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill such amendment or supplement may affect.

The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the State under Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the maintenance of a system of public schools, or the payment of any salaries required to be paid by the State of Maryland by the Constitution thereof; and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the judiciary, but except, as hereinafter specified, may not alter the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however, that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased during his term of office; and such bill when and as passed by both houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.

Fourth. The Governor and such representatives of the executive departments, boards, officers and commissions of the State as may be designated by the Governor for this purpose, shall have the right, and when requested by either house of the Legislature, it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.

Sub-Section C: Supplementary Appropriation Bills;

Neither house shall consider other appropriations until the Budget Bill has been finally acted upon by both houses, and no such other appropriation shall be valid except in accordance with the provisions following: (1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a Supplementary Appropriation Bill; (2) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax, direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said Bill; (3) No Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each house by a vote of a majority of the whole number of the members elected; and the vote and yeas recorded on its final passage; (4) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution and thereafter, all the provisions of said Section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing at any time in accordance with the provisions of Section 28 of Article III of the Constitution and subject to the Governor's power of approval as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of Maryland within the project of Section 19 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D: General Provisions:

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such Bill; but no other matter than such Bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Second. The Governor for the purpose of making his budgets shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to require from the proper State Officials, including herein all executive departments, all executive and administrative offices, bureaus, boards, commissions and agencies, or from any of them, such information, in such form and at such times as he shall direct. The estimates for the Legislative Department, certified by the presiding officer of each house, of the Judiciary, as provided by law, certified by the Comptroller, and for the public schools, as provided by law, shall be included in such estimates as he shall direct, and shall be included in the budget without revision.

The Governor may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies, and of all institutions applying for State money. After such public hearings he may, in his discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth. In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any manner affect the provisions of Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 18 of Article II, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this Section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the legality of the Bill or of any other item of such Bill or Bills.

Section 2. And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall at the next ensuing general election, being the Presidential and Congressional election, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection in conformity with the provisions contained in article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be placed the following synopsis of said amendment under the caption of

"CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR A BUDGET."

This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature soon after it is convened a Budget giving a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by tax for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words "for the Constitutional Amendment" and "against the Constitutional Amendment" as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and further proceedings had in accordance with Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved March 28, 1916.

Now, therefore, I, Emerson C. Harrington, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct a copy of this Proclamation, containing a full, true and correct copy of the text of said Chapter 159 of the Acts of Maryland of 1916, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which said newspapers in the City of Baltimore to be printed in the German language, once a week for three months next preceding the General Election to be held in this State on November 7th, 1916, and at which election the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted, in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

GROWING PEANUTS.

How They Are Planted, Harvested and Prepared For Market.

The culture of the peanut is not attended with much difficulty. Land suited to the raising of corn or melons is generally selected, and care is taken that there is nothing in the soil that would stain the shells. Planting begins when the danger from frost has passed. The ground is plowed five or six inches deep and then harrowed. The nuts are taken from the pod without breaking their skins and are planted two or three together in rows about three feet apart and twenty inches from hill to hill, being covered with two inches of earth.

In October, when the nuts are ripe, the farmer loosens the earth and pulls up the vines, to which the nuts adhere, and turns them over to dry. He performs this task only in pleasant weather and when the ground is dry. When the vines have lain in the sun for a day, which is sufficient time for them to dry, the grower stacks them around a stake about five feet high.

The vines remain in stack from three to five weeks, after which the nuts are picked off, placed in sacks and shipped to market. A vine under favorable conditions often bears more than 100 nuts, and the yield per acre exceeds forty bushels.

To polish the peanuts and to remove the earth and stems the nuts are scoured in large metal cylinders, from which they pass through blast fans, in which a strong current of air separates the fully developed nuts having sound kernels from those imperfectly filled and from empty pods. The sound nuts fall through the fan upon sorting tables, where those that are discolored are taken out and the bright ones are passed on into sacks that will each hold about 100 pounds of nuts. Each sack is marked with the brand that indicates the grade of its contents.—Washington Star.

Crookedest Railroad in the World.

Up California's Tamalpais runs the crookedest railroad in the world. Of the eight miles of track the longest tangent is but 413 feet. In one notable instance the road makes five complete loops and ties two complete bowknots to attain an elevation of ninety feet. The end of the line is about half a mile higher than the starting point, and there is not one particularly steep grade in the entire system.—Wall Street Journal.

Painfully Frank.

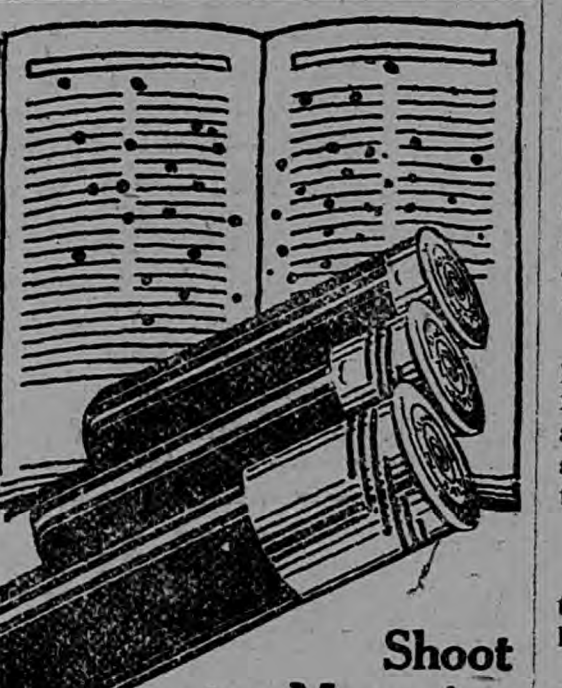

Hostess (to departing guest)—Must you go so early. Mr. Blank? Blank—I'm very sorry that I must leave, Mrs. Park. The fact is, not expecting to have such a pleasant time this evening, I made another engagement."—Boston Transcript.

Worse Still.

"Did Mr. Jobless pay his bill?" "Yes, sir," answered the collector, "but he made a lot of fuss about it." "Um! Don't let that trouble you, son. It's the fellow who bellows and doesn't pay that we should worry about."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WALL ST. WOMEN TOUR FOR HUGHES

"Silk Stocking, Poodle Dog Brigade" Off to Invade West.

MAKES SUFFRAGE PRETENSE.

Many Members of Party Traveling on Train de Luxe Repudiated by Leaders of Women's Movement—Paid Speakers to Do the Talking For Them.

Wall Street is too busy harvesting Democratic prosperity to go campaigning—but it is sending its womenfolk. The greatest aggregation of wealth and social distinction ever represented by fuss, feathers and femininity left New York Monday, Oct. 2, by special train de luxe, to tell their sisters of the West how they should vote. Many of these women, claiming to be equal suffrage workers, are repudiated by leaders of that movement.

Stopping at Albany, Utica and Syracuse on their first day, the itinerary takes the women's campaign train through the principal cities of the north route across the continent and brings them back through Colorado, Nebraska, Missouri and Kentucky, a tour lasting until Nov. 4. The expenses are paid by and the tour is conducted under the auspices of the Women's Committee of the National Hughes Alliance.

"Women's Hughes Alliance" sounds innocent and harmless enough until one examines the personnel of the organization and discovers that it represents the feminine side of the organized and Morganized wealth of Wall Street.

The treasurer of the Women's Committee is Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, daughter of the late Edward H. Harriman, railroad magnate and "practical man" of the day, when Theodore Roosevelt received campaign funds from the "crooked business" which political exigencies later led him to denounce.

These Provide the Funds.

With Mrs. Rumsey on the Finance Committee are Mrs. Robert Bacon, whose husband was translated from the "House of Morgan" to be Roosevelt's assistant Secretary of State, and later Ambassador to France; Mrs. Bernard H. Ridder, wife of one of the proprietors of the New York Staats Zeitung, leader of the German propaganda against President Wilson; Mrs. W. H. Crocker, widow of the California mining and railroad multi-millionaire.

On the Train Fund Committee are Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, of the Smelter Trust; Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, representing inherited millions of railroad capital; Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt; Miss Maude Wetmore, of the wealthy Rhode Island family of that name; Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, whose husband is Nicholas Longworth, Representative in Congress from Ohio.

Many of the junketers who are going along to do the speaking are professional women who have won their own way in the world—women who could not afford the luxury of special trains nor the diversion of campaigning without pay. But back of them, with their money and the glamour that attaches to their gilded names, are the women standing as financial sponsors for this greatest society show that was ever put on wheels. Some of these wives and daughters of the super-rich will go along on this mission, and with their presence, if not with their oratory, will warn the women of the West—who are already voters—that their country cannot be "saved" unless the women cast their vote for the candidate of plutocracy.

The letterhead from Republican campaign headquarters gives only the names of the Train Fund Committee as above, but besides them there is an additional committee in charge of this feature of the Hughes campaign.

Others In on the Junket.

On this committee appear, in addition to the foregoing members, the following:

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, whose husband is a Philadelphia partner of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, wife of the Sugar Trust and Standard Oil magnate; Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, mother of William Randolph Hearst, owner of millions in American mines and Mexican plantations; Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who has undertaken to raise half a million dollars to defeat President Wilson; Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the multi-millionaire mining man; Mrs. Mary Dreier, New York society leader, of a wealthy German family with strong antipathy to President Wilson.

A leading attorney of Pocatello, Ida., writing to the Democratic National Committee, says:

"I read with deep interest of the preparations of the Silk Stocking, Poodle Dog Feminine Brigade that is soon to start on its million dollar special across the continent, to awaken the enthusiasm of the mothers and women who carry the burden of our national greatness on their shoulders, to vote for their idol, Hughes.

"It will not be difficult for the rank and file of the common people to see the hypocrisy of this movement, fostered by an element whose scurrilous fingers are dripping with the fat and sweat that has been wrung from the lives of thousands of toilers during the half-century of Republican control of this government."

Oct. 14—Mr. Clayton Marriner motored to Cape Charles, Va., on Thursday on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Dryden.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Dryden and little son, after visiting at the home of Mr. Dryden's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dryden, have returned to Cape Charles, Va.

Rev. Mr. Derickson, of Berlin, and Mr. Sidney Riggins, of Worcester county, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. West the first of the week.

Rev. S. J. Good, pastor of Perryhawkin Christian Church, for the past two weeks has been assisting Rev. J. W. West in holding meetings at Hopewell, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Dennis gave a pie social Friday evening for the benefit of Mr. Clarence Pusey, who is blind and otherwise afflicted. A large number were present and spent a delightful evening and a handsome little sum was realized.

Buchanan Schley Dead

Col. Buchanan Schley, of Hagerstown, died suddenly of heart disease last Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Buchanan Schley, Jr., at Douglas Manor, Long Island, where he went on a visit about 10 days ago. Colonel Schley, who was 68 years old, had been in failing health for several years. Some months ago he sustained two slight strokes of paralysis.

His body was taken to Hagerstown Friday evening. The funeral was on Saturday evening.

For a generation Colonel Schley was prominent among the leaders of the Democratic party in Maryland and one of the most picturesque figures in the group of men who, with the late United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman as their chief, ruled the party's conventions and directed its affairs generally.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

Boston Champions In World Series

The Boston Americans firmly clamped the championship laurels of the baseball universe upon their brows last Thursday at Boston, when they defeated the Brooklyn Nationals by a score of 4 to 1, in the fifth and final game of the world's series of 1916.

The greatest gathering in the history of the American national sport witnessed the victory, 42,620 fans departing after the contest, convinced that the Red Sox were the baseball machine par excellence of recent years. As a result of the four game-to-one conquest over the standard-bearers of the National League, Boston last Thursday celebrating its fifth victory in world's series since 1903.

GREAT
RANGES

"The Range With a Reputation"

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY
Commencing Oct. 23 to 28 ^{Open} Nights

During this week we will have a special demonstrator from the Majestic Factory to explain how the Majestic is made and why it is absolutely the best range; why it lasts longer and cuts down repair expenses; why it bakes bread evenly, top, sides and bottom without turning; why it uses so little fuel and saves food waste. He will explain its labor saving construction and why it heats an abundance of water good and hot—a mighty convenient and useful thing to have a big supply of hot water always on hand isn't it?

To buy a range by mail is almost certain to end in disappointment and loss of money. It may be "exactly as represented" yet not be what you thought it was nor what you wanted.

Here you can see every part of the Majestic—you can know what you are getting before you buy. Decide now that you will discontinue using that old, worn-out range. You will save money in fuel, repairs and cooking. Buy a Majestic—the range with 25 years' reputation. The demonstrator will answer any questions relating to stoves.

Children's Souvenir Day
Tuesday of Demonstration Week 3 to 5 p. m.
125 Majestic Aeroplanes FREE
FUN FUN FUN

Boys and girls, old and young, you can have a world of fun with the Majestic Aeroplane. It is easily made to fly from 10 to 50 feet in the air. You will all want one. Don't fail to get yours. The first 125 boys and girls who present to the Majestic Range Salesman, at our store, between 3 and 5 p. m. on Tuesday, written answers to the following questions will receive one of these aeroplanes free.

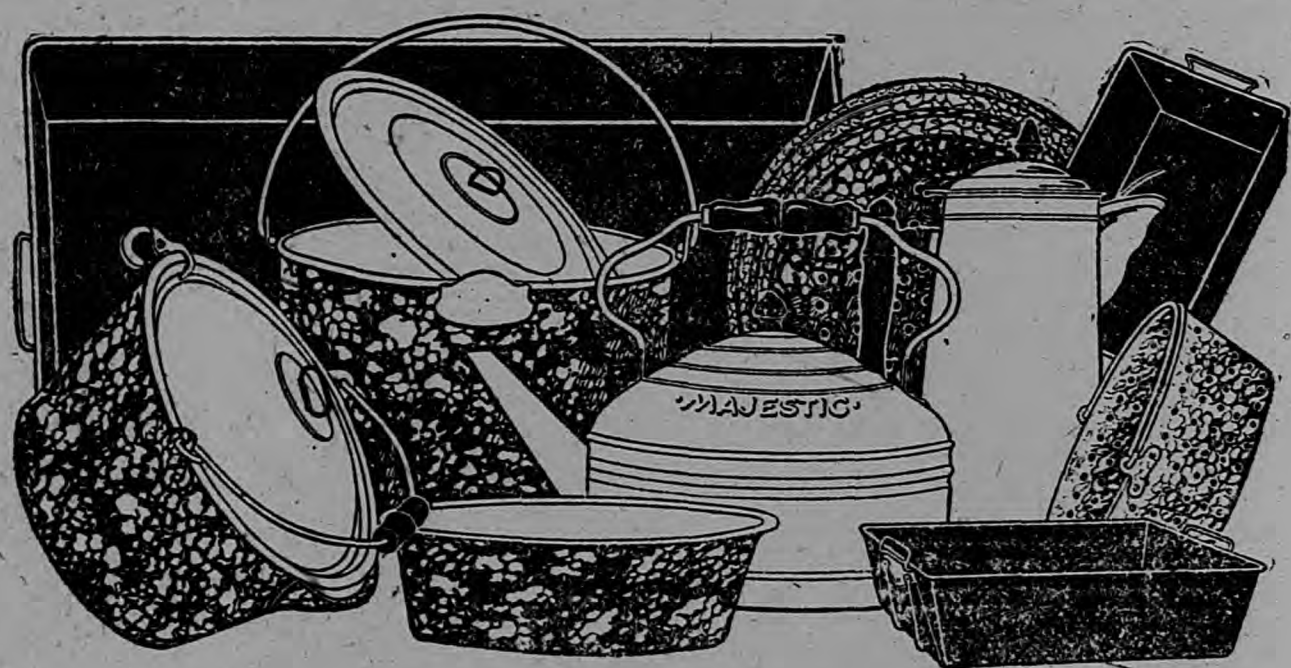

1. What is the name of your mother's range and how long has it been in use?
2. Give names of any persons you know needing a new range.
3. Why is the Majestic known as the Range with a reputation?
4. What is your age?
5. When is your birthday?

$1.00 Article FREE

The boy or girl giving the neatest and best answer to the third question may select any $1.00 article from our stock in addition to the souvenir.

A prize for everybody

Don't be discouraged if you are not one of the 125 to get an aeroplane. You will receive a Majestic Puzzle Card that will afford you many hours of amusement. Be sure to have your answers ready to hand in at our store Tuesday afternoon, between 3 and 5. They must be written if you wish to receive a souvenir or prize.

This $8.00 Set of Granite and Copper Ware FREE

As a special inducement during our demonstration week only, we will give with every Majestic sold, one handsome set of kitchen ware as illustrated. Every piece is the finest of its kind and the entire set cannot be purchased for less than $8.00. The price of the Majestic remains the same as always and the quality of the stove is the same. This kitchen ware is an out and out present. See it at our store.

Everybody welcome

Even though you do not want to buy a new range right now, it will be worth your while to attend this demonstration and know all about the Majestic Range. You are placed under no obligation to buy.

Keep this Date in your mind's eye. Bring your neighbor with you.

WHERE COURT WAS HELD IN SOMERSET COUNTY 250 YEARS AGO

Records Of The County Began December 11th, 1665—At That Time Somerset Constituted Wicomico, Worcester And Part Of Dorchester

Mr. Levin H. Hall, of Marion Station, who has been engaged in searching the early records of Somerset county for some weeks, has furnished us with the following article, which will prove of interest to our readers of the present day:

Somerset county records begin from the 11th of December, 1665. The Court was then held in the dwelling house of one Thomas Poole, in Revell's Neck, and the judges of this court were Stephen Horsey, Capt. William Thorne, William Stephens, George Johnson, John Winder, James Jones and Henry Boston, who resided at various places in Somerset county, which constituted what is now Worcester, Wicomico and a part of Dorchester counties. Near Sharptown there is a fork in the Nanticoke river, and for a long time Somerset county claimed her boundary to be the northern fork of this river, which fork or tributary of the Nanticoke river is now called Hope Creek. It was finally ceded to the southern tributary of the Nanticoke river to Dorchester county, which left for Somerset county that territory which now comprises Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico counties. The judges of the court named below resided in the following respective sections of Somerset county: Stephen Horsey, in Annessex, near what is now Crisfield; Capt. William Thorne, near what is now Princess Anne, then "Manokin;" William Stephens, near Rehoboth, on the Pocomoke river, the place where Mr. Harry Cluff now resides; John Winder, one of the ancestors of Governor Levin Winder, near what is now called Monie, on the road from what is now Princess Anne to Deal's Island. The duty of these judges was to hear and dispose of all cases of witchcraft, forgery etc. Judge Stephen Horsey must have resigned his seat on the Bench after a short service there, for his name was soon dropped from the list of judges and he is mentioned as being the Sheriff of Somerset county. The county was divided into hundreds, as Pocomoke Hundred, Annessex Hundred, etc. Each Hundred had its constable, yet the Court made Stephen Horsey sheriff about 1666. These early Somerset county courts were held in the house of Thomas Poole, on a tract of land called "Double Purchase," in Revell's Neck, and just below a tract of land called "Clifton," which at one time was the property of the late Eli W. Milligan.

On the 22nd day of August, 1666, Capt. William Thorne was given a commission by the Proprietary Governor of the Province of Maryland to muster in a body of troops for the protection of the inhabitants of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. He was to put down all riots and Indian outbreaks and have authority and power to muster in the militia when he needed them. He is called, on one of the old court records, General William Thorne. His home was about two miles west of what is now Princess Anne, and we know it as the "Twining Farm." General, or Capt., William Thorne was buried on this farm.

It must have been the intention of the early settlers of Somerset county to have their county seat in Revell's Neck, for in 1668, about three years after Somerset county had an organized county government, Randall Revelle, one of the leading lawyers in Somerset county, and his wife, Katherine Revelle, gave to Cecilius, Lord Proprietary, for the use of the county, a lot or parcel of land, a part of a tract called "Double Purchase" (this is where the court was being held) at a place along the Manokin river called Deep Point, to be laid out and a town built called Somerton, bounded and described as follows:

"Beginning for length near a point of land called Deep Point on the south side of the Manokin river, thence running to a marked bickory that standeth near the river side aforesaid, thence along a hillside southeast easterly 60 perches, bounded on the south with a line drawn from end of the former line southwest southerly for breadth 54 perches, bounded on the west with a line drawn from the end of the former line northwest westerly 60 perches to a marked white oak, from thence to the riverside aforesaid, which said white oak standeth near a glade of marsh, bounded on the north by the aforesaid river and laid out for 20 acres."

This town was laid out and deeded to the Lord Proprietary Governor of the Province of Maryland, but the town was never built. They moved the court from that point to Dividing Creek so it would be as near the central part of the county as possible soon after this land was deeded, and the prospect of the town springing up in Revell's Neck was remote. About 62 years after toward the towns of Princess Anne, Snow Hill and Salisbury were laid out in what was then Somerset county. In 1742 Princess Anne became the county town of Somerset county and Snow Hill became the county town of Worcester county. The county towns of Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico counties are the oldest towns in each of these respective counties.

Old Court House Hill, on the road from Pocomoke City to Dividing Creek, marks the spot where the old Dividing Creek court house stood for about 70 years. There are no marks to indicate that a court house ever stood there. On the hill near where the house stood there stands a lone pine tree. The creek flows up to within about two hundred yards of the spot where the court house stood. The land is low and swampy near the creek, but high a short distance away. There is a plain, worn-down road through this hill, showing that in time-long gone by this road was worn through this hill by people traveling back and forth from Dividing Creek court house to Dividing Creek ancient landing. This landing is done away with and the old road worn through the hill has grown up in pine trees 18 inches or more across the stump.

When court set in Somerset county many people came in their boats up and down the Pocomoke river to Dividing creek, thence up this small stream to within a quarter of a mile of the court house. The creek is very narrow, and those who could not sail up to the creek landing left their boats in the Pocomoke river and walked to the court house, about 2 1/2 miles.

Next Saturday Wilson Day

The Democratic State Central Committee has issued the following call to the Democrats and supporters of Woodrow Wilson in Somerset:

Join the great automobile parade through old Somerset on Saturday, October 28; celebrate Woodrow Wilson Day and make it a day of gladness. Get in line when the great celebration begins at Crisfield at 1.30 p. m.—or join the parade at some of the following towns or villages on the State road: Hopewell, Marion, Kingston, Kings Creek, Princess Anne.

Short stops will be made at each of the above named points and a message from the President himself will be read to all the people who may assemble to hear the greetings of Woodrow Wilson.

All Democrats and all supporters of Woodrow Wilson are invited and urged to aid in making this celebration a great success.

Supporters of Wilson owning automobiles everywhere in Somerset county are respectfully urged to get their cars in order, join the parade, and bring along their wives, sweethearts and daughters.

Those who cannot get in line at Crisfield are urged to do so at some one of the places above named.

Citizens of Fairmount and Dublin districts are specially requested to assemble at Westover at 2.30 p. m., join the parade and go with it at least as far as the county seat.

Preparations will be made for celebrating the day by special meetings in Mt. Vernon, Tangier and Deal's Island districts in the afternoon or evening of October 28th.

Mr. Milligan Accidentally Shot

Mr. Ira Milligan accidentally shot himself at his home, in Upper Fairmount, last Friday afternoon and was rushed, in an automobile, to the Peninsula General Hospital, at Salisbury, for treatment.

Mr. Milligan's gun was leaning against the house just outside the door, and he was standing in the doorway, when he reached out and grasped the muzzle and in drawing it to him the trigger struck the door sill and the gun was discharged, the load tearing through his left breast to the shoulder. The wound is a dangerous one. Mr. Milligan losing about a gallon of blood before reaching the hospital. There is hope of his recovery if no complications set in.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Porter were Dover visitors last Sunday.

BOOSTERS IN PRINCESS ANNE

Merchants And Manufacturers' Association Welcomed By Citizens

More than half a hundred Baltimore business men left that city last Tuesday for a four-day tour of the Eastern Shore, for the purpose of meeting at first hands the merchants and citizens of the towns in this section of the State. The tour had been arranged by the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore, and the merchants of that city took hold of the idea with a will.

After a visit to many towns on the Peninsula the party received a warm reception in Salisbury Wednesday evening, and through a drenching rain and over muddy and sandy roads the trade extensionists pushed their way through Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties last Thursday. Berlin, Snow Hill, Pocomoke City and Princess Anne were visited. Crisfield had to be eliminated from the itinerary on account of the bad condition of the roads.

The party in seven automobiles reached Princess Anne Thursday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock and were received by Col. Henry J. Waters, I. T. James Brown, John W. Morris, E. O. Smith, W. O. Lankford, F. S. Dashiell, Oscar F. Jones, J. T. Taylor, Jr., Joseph Goodman, C. H. Hayman, George W. Brown and George W. Colburn.

Most of our business men seemed to strongly favor the proposed Claiborne-Annapolis ferry, believing it would serve the proper purpose and bring Baltimore closer to the Eastern Shore. Somerset county people, to spend a day of business in Baltimore, must put in two nights on the bay. They leave Crisfield on the 7 p. m. steamer, arrive in Baltimore by daylight the next day and return on the 5 p. m. boat, reaching Crisfield early the next morning. They can visit Baltimore for 90 minutes by traveling three hours by train to Claiborne, three hours by boat to Baltimore, make their visit and spend six hours on the return home.

The start for home was from Salisbury last Friday morning. Leaving there at 9 o'clock, Federalsburg and Denton were visited on the run up to Elkton and the party reached Baltimore about 10 o'clock Friday night.

Mrs. Ellegood Gives a Musicales

The music class of Mrs. Joseph E. Ellegood, consisting of about 20 pupils, gave a demonstration of their work at a musicale last Friday night at the home of Mrs. George Brown, on north Main street. The music was of a high-class order and well rendered by those who participated, most of it being classical.

The audience, which consisted of parents and friends of the pupils, was especially delighted with the rendition of little Alice Thomas, of Mount Vernon, who is only 8 years old, and who showed great talent. She played remarkably well for one of her years. The program is as follows:

"The Golden Wedding" by Gabriel. Alice Thomas
"Fluttering Butterfly," Markstein
Vocal solo—"Dream Faces," Hutchinson
Margaret Brereton
"My First Waltz," Bach,..... Margaret Dixon
"Flow Gently Sweet Afton," Edward Hoffman
Mrs. Cleveland Heath
Vocal solo—"Teach Me To Smile,"
Ella Pearl Devillias
"On the Swing," Mack,..... Julia Hanley
"My First Waltz," Bach,..... Leonora Brown
"Dengosa,"..... Elizabeth Hanley
"Wayide Flowers,"..... Olive Johnson
"Good-bye My Highland Lass,"
Ella Pearl Devillias
"The Dreamer,"..... Margaret Dixon
Vocal—"Afterwards,"..... Elizabeth Hanley
"Longing for Home,"..... Kenneth Givan
Vocal—"Teach Me To Smile," Briquet
Ella Pearl Devillias
"Marry a Pet Waltz,"..... Edna Maddox
Vocal—"Sing Me The Rosary,"..... Olive Johnson
By special request Mrs. Ellegood gave "The Yale" Mrs. Ellegood is to be commended for the way in which she handles her pupils. Their progress shows the keen interest of teacher in pupil, which is a source of inspiration.

Rev. T. A. H. O'Brien Dead

The Rev. T. A. H. O'Brien, 63 years old, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died suddenly at his home on North Division street, Salisbury, at 4.30 o'clock last Saturday morning of heart failure.

Dr. O'Brien appeared to be in the best of health until Thursday when he was taken with a slight cold. His condition was not considered serious and he was thought to be much better Friday. He was one of the most prominent ministers in the Wilmington Conference and had been district superintendent of this district for the last two years. He is survived by a widow and a son, Dr. Theodore D. O'Brien, of Los Angeles, and one daughter, Annie R. O'Brien, of Dover (Del.) Academy.

Funeral services were held in Ashbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Salisbury, yesterday (Monday) morning, the Rev. Dr. Herson officiating, assisted by Rev. Henry G. Budd, of Dover; Dr. Martin Dale, former district superintendent, and Dr. Dulaney, of Salisbury. Interment was at Wilmington, Del.

Dr. O'Brien accepted various charges in Somerset county and was junior preacher at Antioch M. E. Church, Princess Anne, in the early seventies.

RECEPTION FOR CLUB WINNERS

Corn Club Winners To Have Royal Welcome In Princess Anne

The Civic Club and the Business Men's Association of Princess Anne, working in conjunction with County Farm Agent H. S. Lippincott, are planning to give the boys of the Corn and Potato Club on their Home State Tour a royal welcome when they reach Princess Anne on their trip through Somerset county on November 7th. Mr. Lippincott held a joint meeting with the Business Men's Association and the Civic Club Monday night of last week, at which the matter was thoroughly discussed and extensive plans made for the entertainment of the visitors, and the following committee appointed:

Reception—George W. Colburn, Jr., and W. O. Lankford.
Entertainment—S. Frank Dashiell, William H. Dashiell and John R. Gentry.
Decorating and Mothers—Civic Club of Princess Anne, Mrs. J. Douglass Wallop, president.

Transportation—J. Omar Crosswell and Charles W. Wainwright, Jr.

The prize winners of the Corn and Potato Club, who will make the tour of the Eastern Shore, of the agricultural extension work of the Maryland Agricultural College, will leave Baltimore by steamer Monday evening, November 6, arriving in Crisfield Tuesday morning. They will spend the morning at Crisfield and leave there at 1 o'clock p. m., for Princess Anne, making stops at Marion and Westover.

The tourists are due to arrive in Princess Anne at 2 o'clock p. m., and will be met at the southern outskirts of the town by the school children from Washington High School, the members of the Fire Department, the Boy Scouts and the members of the Princess Anne Grange. All these units will be in formation and will parade with the visitors through the main streets of the town to the Court House.

The business section of the town will be decorated not only with the national colors, but with corn sheaves and pumpkins, the purpose being to produce, as near as possible, the appearance of a corn field. A large booth, covered with corn sheaves, will be erected on the court house lawn, where refreshments will be served.

When the parade reaches the Court House an address of welcome will be delivered by Wm. H. Dashiell, County Superintendent of Education. Afterward a scarf dance will be given by the girls of Washington High School on the court house lawn, led by Miss Frances N. Wainwright.

The visitors will be taken to the Princess Anne Academy, a branch of Morgan College, Baltimore, devoted to the education of colored youths. There the entertainment will consist of military drills and the singing of old-folk songs by the school. Agriculture is one of the principal subjects taught at the institution.

A delegation will come to Princess Anne from Pocomoke in automobiles to meet the party and all will leave about 5 o'clock in the afternoon for Pocomoke.

"Along The Kennebec"

Quaint New England folks, whose fund of humor appears to be endless, picturesque scenery and honest love forms the basis for the plot of "Along the Kennebec," the latest successful play of New England life which will be seen at the Auditorium tonight (Tuesday), October 24th.

The play, deals with the story of a waif, afterwards an heiress, who is being deprived of her rights by a woman who attended her mother on her death bed, and who, with the assistance of a male accomplice, tried to secure the fortune of the girl and brand her sweetheart a thief. Like all New England plays laughter must intermingle with tears and several new and original types have been introduced. The humor is so carefully blended with sentiment that just as you are on the verge of tears something humorous happens which turns the tide to exuberant laughter.

No play of recent years has had a more sumptuous production in a point of scenic detail and the production in this city will be given with careful attention.

Diocesan Funds Large

A compilation of the reports of all the parishes in the Diocese of Easton show some very interesting figures. There are in the Diocese affiliated with the churches 2,047 families, 6,337 baptized members, 7,299 parishioners, 3,689 communicants, 1,829 Sunday School scholars, and 189 teachers.

Contributions during the year amounted to $63,294.58, divided as follows: For church at large, $3,229.75; diocesan purposes, $3,400.33; parish purposes, $56,664.50. The total property value is $498,043.05.

There are 32 priests, 39 parishes, 25 missions, and 53 rectories. This year there were 173 persons baptized.

SOMERSET DEMOCRATS OPEN CAMPAIGN IN PRINCESS ANNE

Large Attendance At The Auditorium Last Friday Afternoon To Hear Messrs. Arnold, Lewis, Price and Byrnes

An enthusiastic mass-meeting—the first of the campaign—was held by the Democrats of Somerset county in the Auditorium, Princess Anne, last Friday afternoon. The meeting was attended not only by Democrats in this immediate section of the county, but by delegations from Crisfield, and from all the outlying districts as well. The attendance was large and the speakers were frequently applauded in the course of their remarks. The meeting was called to order by Dr. Alfred P. Dennis, on behalf of the Democratic State Central Committee for Somerset county, and ex-Congressman Thomas D. Nichols was made chairman. The first speaker introduced was Mr. Reuben A. Arnold, District Attorney of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Arnold entered into a review of the great achievements of the administration, and lauded the President as follows:

This is an age when the people are doing their own thinking. Mere party platforms and professions count for little. It is the record of achievement which a party or a candidate presents which counts. Judged by his achievements Woodrow Wilson's administration has accomplished more than any administration since the Civil War.

Mr. Wilson found an inadequate financial and currency system, one which subjected the country to panics. He gave us the Federal Reserve system, which makes us panic proof, and furnished an elastic currency to meet any emergency. But for this reserve act, and for the act of the Democratic party in amending the Aldrich-Vreeland Act, and making it workable, and but for the act of Secretary McAdoo in issuing $385,000,000 to the various banks of the country, the breaking out of the European war would have produced the worst panic this country has ever seen.

The old Republican argument was that the Democrats produced panics. Now that, in this time of the world's great stress, the Democrats have given the country prosperity, the Republicans say that it is the war which does it. Under the old Republican system of finance the war would have thrown this country into a panic that would have lasted until now. It was months after the war began before we were in a position to begin the manufacture of war material. Over forty millions of gold was withdrawn from our country once war was declared. The exchanges were closed, credit was destroyed. In the month of August, 1914, our commerce fell off over seventy million dollars. Three billion dollars worth of American securities were dumped on us at once, and we had to take care of them.

Wilson's administration, by furnishing an elastic currency, took care of this situation, and has given us a tide of prosperity greater than we ever had. Our foreign trade now amounts to six billion, five hundred million dollars, as against three billion, eight hundred millions in the highest Republican year. Our National bank deposits now amount to over eleven billion dollars, as against eight billions in the highest Republican year.

Our total wealth now is two hundred and twenty-eight billion dollars as against one hundred and eighty-seven billions in the highest Republican year. Not only would the war not have made us prosperous without the Democratic policies, but if many of the elements now strong in the Republican party had been in power, during the European war, our prosperity would have been ruined. The hyperinflated element clamored for an embargo on the shipment of all munitions and war supplies. The extreme pacifists did likewise. Had Mr. Wilson yielded to this pressure, there is no doubt that Congress would have passed a law stopping our furnishing munitions and war supplies to the belligerents. If this had occurred our foreign trade would have been practically destroyed.

The Democratic administration, by giving us an elastic currency, and by opening wide the doors of trade, and by standing up for the rights of American citizens on the high seas, and by securing recognition from Germany of those rights, has kept us at peace, and has made us the richest nation in the world.

It would seem that these foreign complications, growing out of the European war, and the troubles in Mexico, and by giving us a financial system which has borne the stress of the times, would have absorbed all the time of the administration; but while all these foreign complications were upon the administration, a great program of domestic legislation, which, as President Eliot, of Harvard, puts it, is memorable in American history, has been put through. The Federal Trade Board is a great aid to the business of this country, and the activities of the Government on behalf of the farmer in giving him the Rural Credit system and the Farmer's Loan Bank, in creating a system of bonded warehouses, in supplying two farm demonstrators in each county in the United States, in spreading information as to production and marketing of crops, in repealing the provision against National Bank's lending money on land, and in making farmer's paper at six months collateral in the Federal Reserve Bank, in beginning a system of good roads for the whole country by appropriating eighty millions dollars to be expended in the next few years thereon. In the field of labor, the accomplishment has been fully as great, as will be seen by the Workman's Compensation Law, the passage of the Income Tax, which makes the large incomes of the country pay their proportion of the taxes, the stoppage of Child Labor in the mills and factories of the country, the eight hour law for Alaska and the district of Columbia, the Adamson eight hour law, the Seaman's Law which prohibits virtual slavery at sea, and many other matters which time forbids mention of. Never have the activities of the federal government been exercised so much for the mass of the people as in this administration. The Republicans have no issues to present, and this is why no one can pin Mr. Hughes down to the advocacy of anything definite.

Would it be wise for this country, while the Democratic party is doing these great things, to make a change which might undo them all? If we are progressing in the direction of justice and a square deal for everybody, the people of the United States will see to it that these great measures are carried to their full completion.

And while all this domestic program was being carried out, and our country kept at peace while practically all the world is at war, the Democratic administration has put our army and navy on a footing which will make us safe from the invasion of any foreign power.

What more could have been done by any administration? The Republicans have nothing constructive to suggest, and can only offer unfair and unfounded criticisms. Their appeal is to prejudice and sectionalism, and to the discontented elements in our midst, who are enraged because our country has remained neutral. With such elements as constitute the Republican party today, it could accomplish nothing if it go into power.

All of the talk about the Democratic party not being able to handle conditions after the European War is hot air. The conditions which have resulted during the war are much more difficult than those to be handled after the war. The strain in the first few months of the war was certainly greater than any strain which can possibly come after.

Europe will be prostrated after the war; labor will be scarce and high, and material and capital will be lacking; the nations of Europe will be burdened with debt, and for ten years after the war she will be in no condition to compete with us; but for fear that she might spring to her feet Phoenix-like from her ashes, and perform the miracle of competing with us in the field of manufacturing articles, the Democratic administration has equipped us with means to fight the flooding of our country with foreign goods, first, by the Federal Reserve Act, which gives us a currency system which can meet any situation, and second, by the Shipping bill, which will again put the commerce of this country into the hands of American ships; and third, by the Tariff Commission, which is an expert body for the purpose of studying, in a scientific manner, the working of the tariff law, and giving us such protection as we may need in any emergency.

In conclusion, think how easy it would have been for Woodrow Wilson to have plunged this country into war with Europe or with Mexico. Indeed, it took a man with strong character to keep us out of it. Mr. Roosevelt says that he would have gone to war on account of the invasion of Belgium, and again says that when the Lusitania was sunk, he would have seized the interned German ships. This clearly would have led to war, because Germany declared war on Portugal for seizing German ships.

So we have the main spokesman of the Republican party, outside of its candidate, advocating war, and if he had his way, we would now be plunged into war, and this country bathed in blood, panic would have ensued, and it would have taken us a generation to get on our feet again.

Woodrow Wilson will be re-elected, but it will take time and the historian's pen to put him on a pedestal as high as his great deeds deserve. He will rank in history with Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln.

Congressman David J. Lewis, candidate for the United States Senate, was then introduced and he was greeted by a great applause when he walked to the front of the platform. He went into a further review of the record of the administration, declaring that it was Woodrow Wilson, aided by a Democratic Congress, who had placed upon the statue books of the nation the tremendous number of progressive laws that the Republican party had ignored and repudiated. He spoke at length of the President's Mexican policy, saying that Wilson had treated the Mexicans in the only way that a nation so distracted as the Mexicans could be treated.

Congressman Jesse D. Price was then introduced. He paid a high tribute to the work of the present administration and spoke of his own participation. This is the home of his opponent, Mr. Robert F. Duer, and Congressman Price appealed to local Democrats to take the broad view of whether it was he or his Republican opponent who represented their ideals of the proper policies to be pursued by the government.

Congressman Byrnes, of South Carolina, then made a brief address lauding President Wilson and the administration for the great program that he (the President) had put through in the field of local legislation and for the fact that in the midst of the world's greatest conflict, he had kept the country at peace.

The speakers left here in the evening for Crisfield where they addressed a large Democratic meeting that night.

HIS FATE A MYSTERY.

No One Knows Just How the Youngest of the "Signers" Died.

By a strange trick of fate Thomas Lynch, the youngest "signer" of the Declaration of Independence, was also the first one of these men to die.

Lynch was born in Prince George parish, S. C., Aug. 15, 1749. He was only twenty-six when the congress declared the independence of the colonies. Ill health compelled him to leave congress soon afterward, and near the close of 1779 he embarked on a vessel, intending to go to Europe for the benefit of his health.

The ship on which he sailed was never heard of afterward, and the fate of the youngest of the "signers" remains a mystery. It is supposed, of course, that the ship sank and that Lynch and all on board were drowned, but there were rumors that it was blown out of its course in a storm and wrecked on a lonely island of the West Indies and that some of the passengers and crew were saved.

Thomas Lynch was educated in England and was the son of a wealthy South Carolina planter.—New York World.

Bluffs Sometimes Win.

The Chinese tell a story about a tiger that was led by a monkey to a field where a fat mule was grazing. The tiger, who had never seen a mule before, licked his chops. But the mule looked up languidly at the monkey and said:

"Friend monkey, heretofore you have always brought me two tigers. How is it you bring me only one today?"

The bluff was so excellent that the tiger made off as fast as he could go.

The Elephant.

East Indians believe that the elephant lives 300 years. Instances are on record of these huge animals having been in captivity for 180 years, their ages being unknown when they were taken from the jungle in a wild state.

Nothing Exempt.

"I think so. I've run over about everything else."—Baltimore American.

How Catarrh Is Contracted

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

It may hit your hogs next. Many are dying right now for want of medicine of the right kind. Hog Cholera is very catching, and even if your hogs are not affected by the epidemic, you should take steps at once to prevent sickness.

Cal-Sino

is a medicine that prevents sickness and cures all curable cases of Cholera. It is no experiment; it has been tried and proven good for the six years it has been on the market. It is based on 35 years' practical experience of the Cal-Sino veterinarian. It has effected many remarkable cures. Give it now; do not put it off until they feel over and expect results.

Cal-Sino Hog Restorative is a heavily phenolated medicinal powder, an effective germicidal intestinal antiseptic and disinfectant, which exerts and keeps up a cleansing and purifying, germ-killing action from the stomach all the way through the bowels. It is made for that purpose.

Cal-Sino Hog Restorative is a combination of health promoter and therefore a food maker. You who have tried it, remember it, and use it over and over again. Tell your friends. You who have not used it, try it at once on one of your hogs. Remember it's no experiment. You'll come back for more. Don't let it get away from you. See all your hogs.

LITERARY HOBBIES.

Even Railway Time Tables May Make Interesting Reading.

Rudyard Kipling finds both pleasure and profit in reading the dictionary, and this habit largely accounts for his wonderful knowledge of words, his rich vocabulary and his newness in the use of words. He does not confine himself to the ordinary dictionary. He likes to look at a slang edition or a dictionary of a dialect.

There is a certain noble lord who loves nothing better than turning over the pages of Bradshaw, saying out all the ways to anywhere, all the branch lines and noting the railway stations with queer names. He is an adept in all railway lore and is often referred to by his brother peers when a moot point is raised about the iron roads of the world, for his knowledge extends from Charing Cross to New York via Yokohama.

But probably the queerest literary hobby is a certain doctor's predilection for reading an old file of the London Times. He said it made him better contented with things at present to see how things were muddled up twenty years ago. He found politicians just as quarrelsome and the comments just as caustic, and yet he concluded:

"Here we are, much as usual!"—London Answers.

CURIOUS BRIDGES.

One in Switzerland That Is Famed For Its Roof Paintings.

Probably no town in the world has such strange bridges as Srinagar, the capital of Kashmir, in India. The city is built on the banks of the river Jhelum, which is crossed by many wooden bridges lined with old and dilapidated shops and houses with balconies and lattice windows. Some of these are very insecure and look as if they might at any time fall into the river beneath. Timber has always been largely used for building bridges, and the earliest one of this kind on record is that which Julius Caesar made across the Rhine and which he describes in his "Commentaries."

The roofed Kapellbrücke at Lucerne is one of the most interesting. It crosses the river Reuss diagonally and has 112 triangular paintings beneath the roof, recording the heroic deeds of old Swissers and the sufferings of their patron saints. In the midst of the Kapellbrücke stands an octagonal tower, which formed part of the fortifications of the town in the thirteenth century. The bridge was built in 1333.

One of the curious and ancient bridges in Europe is that at Croyland, in Lincolnshire, England, which is supposed to date from the ninth century. No road now passes over and no water under it. It consists of three pointed arches, which meet in the center, and the ascent is so steep that only foot passengers can go over it. Upon the bridge is a seated figure in stone of a rebel Saxon king.—Pearson's.

A Prophecy That Failed.

The old Emperor William used to tell a story against himself which well serves to illustrate "that most gratuitous form of error, prophecy." When the emperor was only king of Prussia he saw one day among his troops an untidy looking lieutenant. "Who is that man?" he asked. "An officer," he was told, "who has just left the Danish service and joined the Prussian." "That man will never get on in the army," said the monarch, and he used to add in telling the story, "The man was Moltke, and my judgment of him gives you the measure of my insight."

GREAT MAJESTIC RANGES

"The Range With a Reputation"

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

Commencing Oct. 23 to 28 Open Nights

Many styles and sizes—
with or without legs.

During this week we will have a special demonstrator from the Majestic Factory to explain how the Majestic is made and why it is absolutely the best range; why it lasts longer and cuts down repair expenses; why it bakes bread evenly, top, sides and bottom without turning; why it uses so little fuel and saves food waste. He will explain its labor saving construction and why it heats an abundance of water good and hot—a mighty convenient and useful thing to have a big supply of hot water always on hand isn't it?

To buy a range by mail is almost certain to end in disappointment and loss of money. It may be "exactly as represented" yet not be what you thought it was nor what you wanted.

Here you can see every part of the Majestic—you can know what you are getting before you buy. Decide now that you will discontinue using that old, worn-out range. You will save money in fuel, repairs and cooking. Buy a Majestic—the range with 25 years' reputation. The demonstrator will answer any questions relating to stoves.

Children's Souvenir Day

Tuesday of Demonstration Week 3 to 5 p. m.

125 Majestic Aeroplanes FREE
FUN FUN FUN

Boys and girls, old and young, you can have a world of fun with the Majestic Aeroplane. It is easily made to fly from 10 to 50 feet in the air. You will all want one. Don't fail to get yours. The first 125 boys and girls who present to the Majestic Range Salesman, at our store, between 3 and 5 p. m. on Tuesday, written answers to the following questions will receive one of these aeroplanes free.

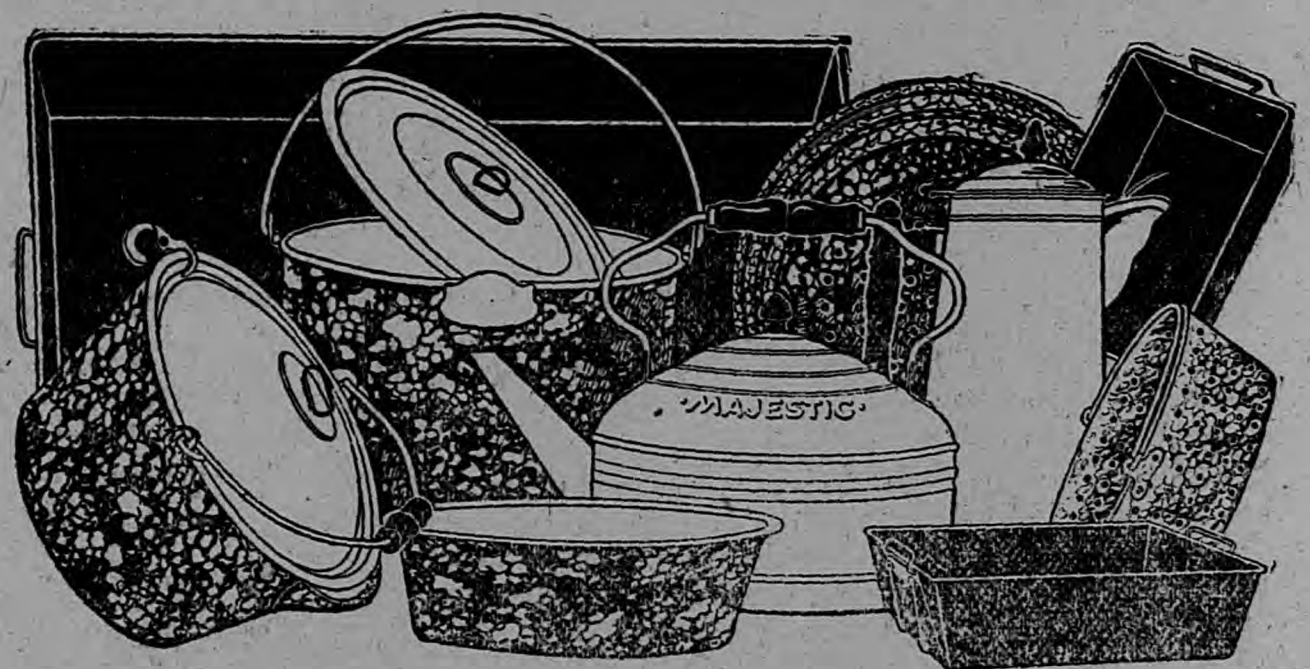

1. What is the name of your mother's range and how long has it been in use?
2. Give names of any persons you know needing a new range.
3. Why is the Majestic known as the Range with a reputation?
4. What is your age?
5. When is your birthday?

$1.00 Article FREE

The boy or girl giving the neatest and best answer to the third question may select any $1.00 article from our stock in addition to the souvenir.

A prize for everybody

Don't be discouraged if you are not one of the 125 to get an aeroplane. You will receive a Majestic Puzzle Card that will afford you many hours of amusement. Be sure to have your answers ready to hand in at our store Tuesday afternoon, between 3 and 5. They must be written if you wish to receive a souvenir or prize.

This $8.00 Set of Granite and Copper Ware FREE

As a special inducement during our demonstration week only, we will give with every Majestic sold, one handsome set of kitchen ware as illustrated. Every piece is the finest of its kind and the entire set cannot be purchased for less than $8.00. The price of the Majestic remains the same as always and the quality of the stove is the same. This kitchen ware is an out and out present. See it at our store.

Everybody welcome

Even though you do not want to buy a new range right now, it will be worth your while to attend this demonstration and know all about the Majestic Range. You are placed under no obligation to buy.

Keep this Date in your mind's eye. Bring your neighbor with you.

BURNED LIME VS. LIME CARBONATE

The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says:

"No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

WINTER RATIONS FOR DAIRY COWS

Suggestions Offered For Making Up Economical Feed Mixtures.

LEGUME HAYS ARE IMPORTANT

Dairymen Are Urged To Consult Their County Demonstration Agents In Selecting Available Feeds.

College Park, Md., October 26.—In response to many inquiries received from dairymen regarding rations for their cows, G. E. Wolcott, of the Extension Service, has prepared a series of rations to suit different conditions. Dairymen are urged to consult their County Demonstration Agents in planning rations for their cows. Mr. Wolcott says, "The season for winter feeding is at hand. In order to produce milk at the lowest possible feed cost, the dairyman should exercise a great deal of care in the selection of his feeds. The crops grown on the farm should be supplemented with feeds that will make a balanced ration, which will be bulky, palatable and have a good physiological effect on the system. The farmer who has a supply of good legume hay is fortunate, since it will not be necessary for him to purchase large amounts of high protein feeds."

The grain mixtures are given in three groups according to the percentage of protein they contain:

GROUP 1—Grain mixtures to be fed with low protein roughages, such as corn silage, corn stover, timothy hay and millet hay.

Mixture 1—Percent of digestible protein, 13.4.

500 pounds corn meal.

400 pounds dried distillers' grains (corn).

200 pounds gluten feed.

300 pounds linseed meal (old process).

Mixture 2—Percent of digestible protein, 19.8.

100 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

200 pounds wheat bran.

GROUP 2—Grain mixtures to be fed with high protein roughages, such as alfalfa, clover, soy beans, vetch or other legume hay.

Mixture 10—Percent of digestible protein, 14.1.

400 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds gluten feed.

100 pounds wheat bran.

Mixture 11—Percent of digestible protein, 15.6.

400 pounds corn meal.

300 pounds gluten feed.

200 pounds linseed meal (old process).

100 pounds oats (ground).

GROUP 3—Grain mixtures to be fed with a combination of high and low protein roughages, such as clover or other legume hay and silage, corn stover and clover or other legume hay, mixed hay, etc.

Mixture 14—Percent of digestible protein, 16.3.

400 pounds corn meal.

300 pounds dried distillers' grains (corn).

100 pounds gluten feed.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

Mixture 15—Percent of digestible protein, 16.1.

200 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

200 pounds wheat bran.

Why Feed Expensively?

College Park, Md., October 26.—Poultry keepers are facing a serious problem in feeding their laying hens economically, owing to the high price of whole grain. Poultryman Roy H. Waite, of The Maryland Experiment Station, gives the following timely advice regarding the feeding problem: "There is no excuse at the present time for feeding poultry on corn alone. Wheat prices have gone out of sight for poultrymen. At least it does not pay to feed the good grades, especially if it has to be bought. Corn is nearly as high, but is about the only grain that one can afford to feed. I was very much surprised a few days ago to find that I could purchase ingredients with which to mix a good poultry mash cheaper per hundred pounds than corn. Corn was $1.05 per bushel, retail. Bran was $1.50 per hundred pounds. Middlings were $1.50 per hundred pounds. Beef scrap was $3.00 per hundred pounds. At these prices, I paid $1.87 per hundred for corn and but $1.80 per hundred for a mash containing 20 per cent beef scrap and 80 per cent of wheat by products. There is no good reason for not feeding mash when it is cheaper than corn. Hens cannot lay on corn alone. They must have more protein than corn will furnish. Hens that eat, but do not lay, are a complete loss, no matter how high prices of eggs are. Why not turn them into a profit? Commercial meat scrap, table or butcher scraps, skim milk, etc., will furnish protein in a good available form."

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President:
WOODROW WILSON

For Vice-President:
THOMAS R. MARSHALL

For United States Senator:

HON. DAVID J. LEWIS

Of Allegany County.

For Congressman from First District:

HON. JESSE D. PRICE

Of Wicomico County.

The poor man must expect to pay more for milk in view of the high cost of gasoline for the farmer's automobile.

The easiest way to get your neighbor to clean up his disorderly back yard is to set him an example by cleaning up your own.

No man envies a woman one of those handsome and warm hundred dollar seal-skin muffs, when he has his trouser's pockets handy.

It is not until a man becomes an office seeker that he begins to realize the patriotic obligation of contributing to the party fund.

It's pretty hard to beat candidates who promise to increase the appropriations for everything and at the same time lower the taxes.

Boston, with its successive baseball championships, must be ashamed of those primitive days when it merely had a reputation for literary culture.

After complaining bitterly of their hard luck, a good many men spend a considerable part of their business hours in reading how the stock gamblers are making money in Wall street.

After the experience in Mexico the past summer, the young men of the country will probably conclude that there are ways of getting social life and vacations other than joining the militia.

The feminine idea of a church worker is a woman who spends a large part of her time cooking in the church kitchen. The masculine idea is a man who attends the suppers regularly and consumes great quantities of potato salad.

Many of our people will conclude that it's no use to clean up the back yard, as spring cleaning time will be here so soon. They were perhaps the ones who didn't clean up last spring, because everything had been attended to the previous fall.

BEAUTIFYING PUBLIC STREETS

There is a general impression that the time to plant trees is in the spring. With the approach of summer people seem much more interested in plans of improvement. They are making gardens and cleaning up grounds, and it is easy to interest them in the idea of permanent beautification with foliage.

But according to the experts there is no time better suited for tree planting than the fall. There is less demand then on the sapling for vitality, and it can spend its energy in acquiring roots. The beauty of a town is more dependent on tree growth than any other thing. No matter how attractive houses you may put up in a new town or new section, they will always look bare and staring unless partly screened by trees. And a street of small homes looks sordid and homely unless it has foliage.

It is surprising how many defects are covered by tree growth. Houses may need painting, but if there are beautiful trees in the street or on the grounds to attract attention, minor faults pass unnoticed.

Householders should realize that to make their places look attractive the street needs to be beautified. If they sit back and wait for the public authorities to do it they may have to wait many years. A few trees along the walk cost little. They pay returns manyfold in the added attractiveness of the neighborhood. Now is the time to do it.

THE DECREASE IN DEATH RATE

Recently announced figures from the 1915 census show a big fall in death rate. For the whole country these figures show 13.5 per thousand. Fifteen years ago the rate was 16.2. The American people are growing healthier.

Better knowledge of sanitation, better physical development, advance of medical science, account for this change. There are a great many people who instead of dosing themselves with drugs as formerly, get out and exercise. More people work and sleep with their windows open. There is less horror of fresh air.

No doubt the present rate can be still further lowered. It is up to every one to co-operate with physicians and boards of health in removing all known causes of disease. Premature death is one of the great causes of poverty. Every time a wage earner is taken away before his time, some one is thrown on charity.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE

In the old days a political belief was handed down from father to son. Families acted about solidly with one political party. Voting for the opposition was looked at as dishonest and disloyal. People swallowed the straight ticket from top to bottom.

The modern youth is a very independent sort of a critter. He usually thinks that he knows more than his father anyway. Voting the opposite ticket is a way of showing his superior discrimination, and he often does it. He is a good deal influenced, however, by the views of his "set." If this or that party has a good bunch of fellows in it locally, he concludes that its principles are good enough for him.

Independent action has its uses and abuses. It does provide a sharp check on the political managers. They cannot bank with security on a double and submissive following. But on the other hand, there is too much tendency to vote for men simply because they are good fellows and cordial handshakers.

As men go on in years, they usually gain more definite convictions. In early life both parties looked about alike to them. It is easy enough to see that both include plenty of honest men; both have plenty of knaves. But it is not until one's maturity that one perceives the distinct lines of cleavage that lie between them.

The American citizen owes it to himself and to his neighbors to make himself familiar with these conflicting tendencies. He cannot acquire this intelligence simply by reading headlines. He needs to take one or more good newspapers and read every word that throws light on tendencies of men and parties.

It is more interesting than a novel once you acquire the taste for it. If there was this general intelligence, a great many rampant abuses would disappear. The average voter would be able to see through the transparent shams that now deceive so easily.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. (Advertisement.)

OTHER KINDS OF ADVERTISING

The newspaper man finds a merchant here and there who says he believes in advertising, yet does not take newspaper space. He is inclined to favor handbills or roadside signs.

The latter are contrary to every principle of scientific advertising. The fundamental principle of modern publicity is to appeal to intelligence and logical sense. "Reason Why" advertising is the key note of every convention of advertising experts. "Reason Why" advertising is impossible in roadside publicity. The swiftly going motorist can't read letters less than two feet high. Was even a pedestrian ever seen to stop and consider a bill board? On the contrary he hates its intrusion on the scenery and curses the man who erected it.

Advertising by handbills left at the doors may have some value. It may be useful to supplement the work of the newspapers. But the printer with his labor, ink, and paper to sell, likes to see the money go where it will do the most good. He would rather it went into the newspaper, even if the job printing paid him just as much money. For he wants his customer to be satisfied and to see results.

The circular may or may not be read. Very frequently it is dumped into the waste basket or thrown away into the street gutter.

The newspaper on the other hand is read and read thoroughly, people allow time for it, take it at their leisure, sit down with the idea of going through it thoroughly. Hence everything that is worth reading is read, and the merchant talks to a great audience. It is by far the cheapest and most convincing form of publicity.

Head-Off That All-Winter Cough

At the first sign of sore throat, tight chest or stuffed-up head take a dose of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. The healing pine-tar, soothing honey and glycerine quickly relieve the congestion, loosen the phlegm and break up your cold. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has all the benefits of the healing aroma from a pine forest, it is pleasant to take and anti-septic. The formula on the bottle tells why it relieves colds and cough. Oil Found On Holloway Farm

Dr. Arthur B. Bibbins, an eminent geologist of Baltimore, has just completed a comprehensive survey of the Parsonsburg field between Salisbury and the coast. After a careful study of surface conditions and oil and gas "shows" found in several places, together with samples taken from the wells now drilling, Dr. Bibbins is positive of the existence of oil in this section.

This conviction is greatly strengthened by the discovery last Wednesday of slightly oil-bearing clays from the 700 foot level of the Holloway well in the Calvert formation—the first direct and positive evidence of oil from the Middle Atlantic Strata. So much pleased and encouraged is Dr. Bibbins over the outlook that he sent the following dispatch to the Associated Press Bureau, Baltimore, Wednesday morning, so as to give as wide publicity as possible:

"Direct evidence of the occurrence of oil in the Middle Atlantic Coast Strata has at last been found near Parsonsburg, in the form of slightly petroliferous clays in the Calvert formation near the 700 foot level of the well on the Holloway farm. It is believed that this oil, which is of light color represents seepage upward from an extensive pool at a lower level. Natural gas comes to the surface at many points in this territory, and an inflammable resinous wax having a paraffine base is obtained from the brownish water of several wells near."

PROSPERITY NOT DUE TO DEMANDS OF WAR

But Is Ordinary Business, Declares Charles M. Schwab.

$2,500,000,000 TRADE BALANCE

Department of Commerce Figures Show West Gains In Wealth—Under Wilson United States Is a Creditor Nation For First Time—Munitions Business Only 1 Per Cent of Total.

In answer to the cry of Republican politicians that the unprecedented prosperity that has come to America under the administration of President Wilson is due to European war orders comes a statement from Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Company, himself a Republican, that refutes the charge.

"It is a mistake to imagine that the major portion of our business is war order business," says Mr. Schwab in a signed article in the October number of System. "Even a casual inspection of the great volume of exports will demonstrate that the bulk is drawn from the ordinary course of business. It is also found that at present prices domestic business is as profitable as foreign munition business."

No one can doubt the capability of Mr. Schwab to judge the business situation, nor can one gainsay the recent figures issued by the Department of Commerce. In this report it is stated that during the first eight months of the present fiscal year the exports of the United States showed a trade balance in favor of this country of $1,330,000,000.

Trade Balance $2,500,000,000. Predictions are made that the trade balance for the entire year will exceed the unprecedented figure of $2,500,000,000. The value of the exports for the eight months was $3,435,999,212, an increase of $1,205,882,100 over the same period last year.

Another financial authority, too, has spoken—Charles Hayden, of Boston. He estimates that American securities held abroad have been reduced from $6,000,000,000, before the war, to $1,000,000,000 at the present time. Coincidentally, the United States has become a creditor of foreign nations, for the first time in history, to the extent of $1,500,000,000. Under Wilson, therefore, we have wiped out $6,000,000,000 of foreign indebtedness, and are a creditor to the amount of $500,000,000. Mr. Hayden calls attention to the fact that this always was a debtor nation under Republican rule.

All Classes Prosperous. And so, from all sections of the country, from all kinds and classes of business, from the merchant, the manufacturer, the farmer, the workman, come reports of unparalleled prosperity. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in an official report, declares that basic stocks are rising, that railroad earnings are abnormally high (indicating the great movement of commodities), and that the national prosperity will continue.

Not temporary prosperity, due to the war, is this that is filling the coffers of the nation. It has a sound basis for permanency, made certain by the laws enacted under the Wilson administration. The President himself, in his recent speech at Baltimore, emphasized the value to the country of the Tariff Commission, the Trade Commission, the Federal Reserve Board and the shipping bill. These enactments not only will stimulate the productivity of the country, but will safeguard its output and provide a means of conveying it to all the ports of the world.

How Business Has Gained. Here is just a glimpse at percentages, prepared by expert statisticians, that prove what the Wilson administration has done for the people:

Increase in bank deposits, 68 per cent; money in circulation, 22 per cent; stock of gold in United States, 24.1 per cent; foreign commerce, 52.7 per cent; balance of trade in favor of United States, 287.6 per cent; agricultural exports, 44.1 per cent; manufactured exports, 155 per cent; railway revenues, 47.6 per cent; value of general crops and live stock, 12.4 per cent; value of wheat crop, 67.5 per cent; output of pig iron, 85 per cent; production of steel, 35.5 per cent; farm lands, 12.7 per cent; men employed in manufacturing, 23.2 per cent; wages paid in manufacturing, 41.5 per cent; capital employed in manufacturing, 30.9 per cent; value of manufactured products, 41.2 per cent.

So, it may be seen that all lines of industry have profited under the great wave of prosperity that the Democratic administration has wrought.

AND THE MUNITIONS BUSINESS COMPRISES ONLY ONE PER CENT OF THE TOTAL OF MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS.

Is it the part of wisdom, therefore, to gamble with prosperity such as this? Will the American voter dare to throw away a sure thing?

TOO MUCH PROSPERITY FOR FOREIGN WANT ADS.

Indicating the prosperity that exists in Jamestown, N. Y., the Journal of that place wrote recently to a Buffalo advertiser as follows:

"We ask that you kindly do not insist upon our publication of your advertisement for help wanted. There is a great scarcity of labor in our local market, and, out of deference to the interests of Jamestown manufacturers, we prefer not to publish such ads. that may further deplete the local labor

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.

LABOR TIDE FLOWING STEADILY TO WILSON

Organized Workers of Michigan and Illinois Indorse Democratic Candidate.

New York.—Enthusiastic offers of support continue to pour into Democratic headquarters from workingmen and union leaders from every section of the United States and from every trade and industry. Not only will President Wilson get hundreds of thousands of votes from workingmen hitherto members of the Republican party, but thousands of wage-earners who have voted the Socialist ticket will this time mark their ballots for him.

The latest indorsement of President Wilson by a labor leader comes from John H. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

"A working man who would vote for Hughes, in the face of his acts and declarations against labor, and in the face of the great accomplishments of Mr. Wilson for labor," said Mr. Walker, "must be uninformed, misinformed, blinded by prejudice or carried away by party sentiment."

No word said for President Wilson will have greater effect than a statement by Andrew Furuseth, president of the Seamen's Union, declaring:

"I am for the election of Woodrow Wilson and a Democratic Congress because of the enactment of the Seamen's law and of the Clayton act, recognizing and enforcing the equality before the law of workingmen with other citizens."

"Asking, 'Are Ye For God or Mammon?' President A. B. Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors urges President Wilson's re-election, in the October number of 'The Railway Conductor.' Mr. Garretson is a life-long Republican.

Unanimous indorsement of the Wilson administration by the organized workers of Michigan, until this year a rock-ribbed Republican state, is given in resolutions adopted at Saginaw by the State Federation of Labor. Delegates who were Republicans born and bred disregarded partisan considerations when it came to supporting the man, who more than any other President since Lincoln, has stood consistently and always for the rights of the many as against the privileges of the few.

WHAT MR. TAFT THINKS OF PRESIDENT WILSON.

This is no time to point out mistakes of the past. This is no time, by attacks upon the general in command, to give the idea that our commander has not a united people behind him.

We are fortunate in having kept out of the present European war, and we ought to support the administration in keeping us out. If we had a jingo in the White House this country would now be at war with Germany.

He (Wilson) is not a Democratic President. He is our President. He is first an American, the same as we are. We must all be Americans first.

—Ex-President Taft.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Convincing proof of merit in Princess Anne endorsement:

Mrs. H. B. Wherrett, Antioch avenue extended, Princess Anne, says: "I had been troubled nearly all my life with kidney trouble and had severe backaches at times. If I did anything that caused me to stoop over, I suffered very much with severe pains through the small of my back, especially when I straightened up. At times I could see little, black specks and fiery flashes in front of me. During the last attack, I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and I have had no further trouble. I cannot recommend this medicine too highly."

WILSON THE ABLE GUIDE.

Shortsighted Not to Re-elect Him, Says Mrs. Joseph Fels.

"I have a deep conviction that the hope of democracy lies with Woodrow Wilson. If we fail to re-elect him we have much to fear."

Thus speaks Mrs. Mary Fels of Philadelphia, an independent in politics and one of the two American delegates to the Stockholm Peace Conference held in January, 1916. Since the death of her husband, Joseph Fels, she has continued his work in the Fels Commission, founded by him to promote the Single Tax movement.

"I see no use," she says, "in picking out specific measures, either things done or things left undone. I see them all as part of a great man striving in a situation incomparably difficult to do what is best for the country that he is trying to save. In this situation and through this endeavor he is becoming more and more the people's friend and the man who can most ably guide the destinies of the country in the difficult days that lie ahead."

"To me it is so clear that I cannot understand how people may venture to vote for any one except Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson is the man who will inevitably serve the interests of all except those who are moving heaven and earth to serve their own selfish ends. It is not only Mr. Wilson, it is the people of the United States, that I am thinking of."

Was there ever a worse-bungled campaign than Mr. Hughes's to date?

The New York Evening Post asked that question in an editorial (Sept. 8) on Hughes and Roosevelt, and frankly answered its own question. "We cannot readily recall one."

Sloan's Liniment For Neuralgia Aches

The dull throb of neuralgia is quickly relieved by Sloan's Liniment, the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply; it quickly penetrates without rubbing and soothes the sore muscles. SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15 mile hike foot-sore and weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching. Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I arose the next morning feeling fine; in fact I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

NEEDS OF SOIL AS TO LINE

Soil Acidity Problem Confronting The Farmer

One of the interesting booths that the farmers of this (Somerset) county may very profitably visit while at the Maryland Week Exhibition at Baltimore, November 14th to 18th, is that of the Department of Soils of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station from College Park. There the farmers of the State may have an acidity test made of their soils free of charge. Dr. A. G. McCall, head of the Soils Department of the Experiment Station, has extended a very cordial invitation to the farmers to bring with them soil samples from fields which they suspect are acid. He will be prepared to make a test of their samples and advise them as to the needs of their soil with respect to lime. The following is a quotation from a letter we have just received from Dr. McCall:

"Will you not invite the farmers of your county to bring their soil samples with them and have a test made at our booth? A half pint sample each of soil and sub-soil will be sufficient. We hope to be able to make the tests so promptly that the owner of the sample will be able to take the result home with him the same day."

Soil acidity is one of the most important problems now confronting the farmers of Maryland. It has been estimated that over one-half of the soils of Maryland are acid. Leaching of lime from the soil and the absence of limestone over such a large part of the State are responsible for this prevalence of soil acidity.

Acidity in the soil is undesirable for several reasons, the most important of which is the injurious effect upon alfalfa, clovers and other legumes. The presence of acid in the soil also prevents the formation of available plant food material from the minerals and organic matter stored in the soil, and produces conditions favorable to the growth of certain weeds. The degree of acidity in our soils varies widely from those which produce crops of clover and alfalfa that barely pay the cost of seeding to those where these crops are total failures.

Acidity can be detected quite easily by the use of blue litmus paper, but this test gives no indication of the degree of acidity. Very frequently in using this test perspiration on the hands cause a change in color of the litmus paper and soils are wrongly labeled as acid. The Soils Department of the Experiment Station is using a new test, which not only detects positively the presence of soil acidity, but gives definite information as to the degree of acidity. It is a very simple test and by means of a very little special apparatus can be made by any one at home on the farm. The test depends upon the fact that when zinc sulfide, a white flour-like substance, comes into contact with an acid soil and is mixed with it a gas is formed which may be detected by boiling the mixture and holding a strip of specially prepared lead acetate paper in the steam at the mouth of the boiling flask.

The best and cheapest method of correcting acidity in soils is by the application of lime in some form. Here in Maryland we have the choice of burnt lime, air and water, slaked lime, ground limestone and ground oyster shells. Burnt lime should be used very carefully, as too liberal applications of it are sometimes injurious by causing extremely rapid decomposition of organic matter in the soil. Under most conditions the safest and cheapest form of lime to use is ground limestone or crushed oyster shells where the latter is available.

Shoes Going Up Again

Wholesale prices on men's and women's footwear have been advanced 50 to 75 cents a pair within the last week and certain lines have been withdrawn entirely from the market owing to a big shortage in leather, according to an announcement made in Pittsburgh last week by officers of the Pennsylvania Shoe Travelers' Association.

America's supplying of shoes for soldiers is the real answer behind the rising price of footwear in this country, the Department of Commerce said last Tuesday. Because the United States has such a vast demand for the men in the trenches, and as leather imports have dropped, the prices here rise consequently, it was said.

Leather exported in 1914 was valued at $57,000,000, but this amount had jumped to $146,000,000 in the year ended last June. Italy is a new leather customer, taking $14,000,000 worth in 1916. Aside from leather the United States shipped more than 20,000,000 pairs of shoes to soldiers this year—better than double the 1914 figures.

Aside from the soldiers there is another element—the Chinese are using shoes instead of sandals. Their business has tripled in the past year, now amounting to $382,000.

When You Take Cold

MARYLAND WOODLOTS PAYING

Plan For Improving Woodlands And Selling Forest Products

For some time the State Forester of Maryland has co-operated with local owners in divesting and executing a plan for not only conserving the forest resources of their lands and farms, but doing so with a profit. Nothing, forestry included, can long be practiced at a loss, and recognizing this, a plan was made and offered to the people of the State which met not only the needs of the woodland, but the financial needs of the owner also. An instance will explain.

The holder of a hundred-acre tract of timber less than ten miles from Baltimore City requested the Forester, late last winter, to make a preliminary examination of the land in question with an eye to laying out some practical plans of improvement. The examination was made, and a plan prepared for the handling of the woodlands. This plan was adopted by the owner and in March an Assistant Forester from the Board of Forestry went over the tract, marking the trees to be cut, estimating values and carrying out in detail the work recommended. The timber was, as a whole, mature, and intermingled with it was a considerable growth of other species with little present, and no future, value. This latter included some little scrubby pine, gum, maple and the like; in brief, "weed trees" which needed to be thoroughly removed to give the room to the other better trees, then needed for their best development and growth.

The work was done a little faster than 35 acres per day, and the total cost to the owner, for his 100 acres of timber, was $20. This included all of the field work, and that only, as the data is worked out in the Forester's office at an additional cost. The estimated value of the standing timber was $1,772.04, and bids were solicited from lumbermen of the vicinity. To aid in this, mimeographed statements of the timber for sale were furnished to the owner, together with a list of lumber dealers to whom they should be sent. The timber was sold almost immediately, and cutting started with the beginning of summer. The price secured was $1,800, which was slightly above the estimated value, enough to more than cover the entire cost of the work—$20. It would seem that there was considerable clear profit.

When the work is done, a young, growing forest will be left, and another tract of timber of valuable character will in a comparatively short time succeed that removed. Such work pays—pays in timber, pays in the future of the forest, pays in present revenue. It is work available to all in Maryland, and the State Forester is prepared, with a corps of trained Foresters, to give prompt assistance.

Might Have Realized More

The tomato packing season is now over and the canners have disposed of the greater part of their stock at prices ranging around 80 to 90 cents per dozen. Thursday they were offered $1.00 per dozen for what is left of this year's pack. While tomatoes were higher this year than usual, the canners around here did not reach their pack of last year. As a large part of the fruit had been contracted for a year ago at prices much lower than that received in the open market the packers have made considerable money.—Wicomico News.

In the matter of the tax sale of real estate in Brinkley's Election District of Somerset County, assessed to Ernest H. A. Horsey, made and reported by John E. Holland, County Treasurer for Somerset County. Rosa J. Richardson, purchaser, ex parte.

No. 3122, Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County.

Whereas a certain John E. Holland, County Treasurer for Somerset County, in the State of Maryland, has reported to the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, a sale made by him to Rosa J. Richardson, of all that lot and parcel of land in Brinkley's Election District, Somerset County, Maryland, viz: No. 6—Being all that lot and parcel of land located in Brinkley's Election District, Somerset County, Md., on both sides of the County Road leading from Boggs old School House to Rehoboth, containing four acres of land, more or less, with the improvements thereon, which was conveyed unto Ernest H. A. Horsey by deed from Susan L. Hall and husband, made the 25th day of April, 1912, and recorded among the Land Records of Somerset County, in Liber S. F. D., No. 69, folio 321, etc., and assessed to the said Ernest H. A. Horsey on the assessment books for the said County in the said Election District for the said year 1914, and sold for the payment of taxes due and in arrears, together with all the proceedings in relation thereto, and whereas upon examination it appears to the said Court that the said proceedings are regular and that the provisions of the law in relation thereto have been complied with.

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered, this 14th day of October, in the year 1916, by the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, that notice be given by the publication of this order once a week for four successive weeks in the Marylander and Herald, a weekly newspaper published in Somerset County, before the 22nd day of November, in the year 1916, warning all persons interested in the said real estate, to be and appear in this Court on or before the 28th day of November, 1916, to show cause, if any they have, why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed.

The report states the amount of sales to be $100.00. HENRY L. D. STANFORD, Judge. True Copy, Test: W. JEROME STERLING, Clerk.

Maryland Corn At $1 Per Bushel

Prime yellow corn sold at the Chamber of Commerce, Baltimore, last Wednesday at $1 a bushel, and one carload brought $1.01 a bushel. It was grown in Maryland, or in the nearby sections, and was not specially selected. It is said that much of the same quality has been grown in that vicinity this year and the price is one fixed for all corn of this grade.

It has been a long time since corn brought this price in Baltimore, though some of the older traders say they remember special occasions in the past, when the crop was short or the demand urgent, when it brought $1 a bushel. At a dollar a bushel for corn, the farmers of the State will be getting as much or perhaps more profit from the crops than the tobacco raisers of Southern Maryland who are getting 20 cents a pound for their commodity.

DR. NORTH PAYS VISIT

State High School Supervisor Visits Princess Anne and Crisfield

Dr. Samuel M. North, State High School Supervisor, paid an official visit to Washington High School in Princess Anne last Wednesday. Dr. North was very favorably impressed with the teaching force of the high school, with each of whom he had a consultation as to their respective departments and the class of work each was doing. The Supervisor, however, was much surprised at the congested condition of the school. There are now 105 pupils in the high school department and they have but one study room and two small recitation rooms. It is thus found to be impossible to conduct the high school work properly and Dr. North emphasizes the need of immediate activity in arranging for more room and better facilities.

In this connection it is well for the public to know that the School Board has already secured plans for building two wings to the Academy building and the County Commissioners have agreed to add to their levy for the years 1917 and 1918 sufficient money to aid in securing this necessary improvement. The plans have been sent to the State Superintendent, at Annapolis, for approval and upon their return it is expected to proceed at once to the matter of building. In the meantime steps will have to be taken to secure quarters somewhere for some of the school departments in order to relieve the congested condition of the high school.

Dr. North, accompanied by Supt. W. H. Dashiell and Prof. J. R. Gentry, on Thursday went to Crisfield to inspect the high school at that place. The Crisfield school has 175 pupils in the high school and 626 pupils in the entire school. Conditions were found to be in much better shape there as their building is much larger and more suitably adapted to its purpose. Dr. North left Thursday evening to visit the high schools in Worcester county.

Hurt In Automobile Accident

Miss Olive Craig, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Craig, of Shelton, Md., was injured in an automobile accident.

Miss Olive Craig had left her home, which was near Shelton, for the school house when she was picked up by Mail Carrier Young, who was bound for Shelton with the mail, and offered to take her to school. The car being filled with mail bags the little girl was forced to stand on the running board and while turning the corner at Shelton the girl fell off and under the car, the wheel passing over her body fracturing her skull and breaking several ribs.

She was taken to the Crisfield hospital where she died Friday night. Funeral services were held at Rehoboth Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. J. Coons, and the interment was in the cemetery adjoining.

Charles B. Morris Admitted To Bar

In the San Francisco Call, of October 19th, we find the following item: "The State Court of Appeals today admitted to the bar 33 candidates, including Dr. Phillip Mills Jones, secretary of the State Medical Society; Frank Dunn, deputy county clerk, and Charles B. Morris, a prominent insurance man. One of the group was a woman—Ethel B. Phillips."

Mr. Morris is a son of Mr. John W. Morris, of Princess Anne, now with the Maryland Casualty Company, as manager of the San Francisco Claim Division. Mr. Morris is well-known in Somerset county and his many friends will be pleased to know of his advancement in the far West.

Democratic Meeting

A Democratic mass-meeting will be held at P. D. West's store, in Dublin district, on Tuesday evening, October 31st, 1916, beginning at 7.30 o'clock. This meeting will be addressed by Mr. P. J. Hain.

Mr. Hain has been a life-long Republican, but like thousands of other good Republicans all over the country, he is supporting Woodrow Wilson in the present campaign. He desires to tell his neighbors and friends why he is advocating the re-election of the President at this time.

All Saints' Day At St. Andrew's Church

Wednesday of this week being All Saints' Day, there will be a High Celebration of the Holy Communion at St. Andrew's Church. The service will begin at 10.30 o'clock. Every communicant of the Parish is urged to be present.

Mr. Walter M. Butler, of Chester, Pa., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Butler, near Westover.

Protestant Episcopal Convention Favors The Movement

For the first time in the history of the denomination, according to well informed leaders, a stand on the liquor traffic was taken in St. Louis, Missouri, last Friday in the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. A resolution adopted by the House of Deputies placed the church on record as favoring "such action in our legislative assemblies as will preserve the interests of temperance and the repression of the liquor traffic."

A report showing that the church has more than 1,080,000 communicants and 5,700 clergymen was presented to the House of Deputies by the committee on the state of the church. The report also showed that about 1,000 of the clergy are not engaged in parochial work, and that there are some 53,000 school officers and teachers under the church, with approximately 460,000 pupils.

Baptisms, the report showed, have increased by about 12,000 and confirmations by about 14,000 over the preceding triennium. Parishes and missions number 8,341, and the total number of church buildings is 7,310.

The report added that the church controls endowments aggregating $55,000,000, many educational and charitable institutions, and has an average income of more than $20,000,000 a year. Endowments for the support of churches for the triennium totaled $19,078,112.09 as against $14,320,147 in 1913. Endowments for the support of bishops totaled $4,491,037 as against $4,626,884, given in the previous three years.

Contributions for the aid of the infirm clergy came to $3,295,062 and for other purposes endowments totaling $23,063,411 were given. Sittings in the churches in the triennium just ended totaled $1,504,890, an increase of $194,672 over the triennium ending in 1913. Church hospitals accounted for in the report number 135 as against 79 accounted for in 1913. Homes for the aged or indigent number at present 7, an increase of 1.

Several other reports, all of which were read in detail at the convention, were also presented. A commission was appointed to make an investigation of the conditions of living in rural communities and a study of the spiritual and economic problems of the farming people. The commission will report in Detroit in 1919.

Mrs. Mary Dryden Dead

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Mary Dryden died at the home of her son, Mr. S. E. Dryden, near Perry-hawkin, last Wednesday morning, aged about 80 years.

Mrs. Dryden is survived by two sons (Messrs. S. E. Dryden, of Perryhawkin and M. H. Dryden, of Pocomoke City) and two daughters (Mrs. Robert D. Long, of Perryhawkin and Mrs. Stephen Goswelling, of Stockton, Worcester county).

Funeral services were held in Perryhawkin Christian Church—of which she had been a member for 15 years—last Thursday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. S. J. Good, and the interment was in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Conference To Meet At Seaford

After a canvass of the official board of the St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, Seaford, Del., a unanimous invitation was extended last Tuesday to the Bureau of Sessions assembled at Dover to select Seaford as the next meeting place of the conference. The invitation was accepted.

This is a high testimonial to the ability of Rev. John J. Bunting, who is the youngest minister in the Wilmington conference, to act as host to its annual conference. It will mean much hard work for his young though capable shoulders. The friends of this young minister in Somerset county should feel much gratified at the rapid progress he is making in his life work.

M. and M. Association Extend Thanks

Last Wednesday Mr. Charles Falconer, President of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore, in letters to Col. Henry J. Waters and Mr. J. Douglass Wallop, said:

"On behalf of the members of the Association who participated in the trade extension tour, I wish to thank you and through you the citizens of Princess Anne, for the many courtesies extended to our party while in your town. 'I sincerely trust that the day is not far distant when this Association shall have the pleasure of entertaining you and your fellow citizens in Baltimore.'"

WILSON DAY CELEBRATED IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Democrats On Saturday Observed The Event By Speaking, Parades, Music And Reading The President's Message To The Countrymen

Last Saturday, Wilson Day, was observed throughout Somerset county, as well as in other counties, cities, towns and hamlets in the United States, where meetings were held and a message from the President read.

Early Saturday morning Princess Anne was the scene of activity preparing for the day's festivities. Not only were the places of business elaborately decorated with flags and bunting, but many of the private residences also. The Mt. Vernon band arrived in town about 9.30 o'clock and enlivened the occasion with music until the time of the starting of the first division, about 10.30 o'clock, in automobiles, decorated with American flags, for Deal's Island, when it accompanied the party.

Upon the arrival at Deal's Island Col. Henry J. Waters read the message from President Wilson, after which a start was made on the return trip, and all the way up the road the number was increased by more autos joining the procession. At Dames Quarter the message was read by Mr. Harry C. Dashiell and at Oriole by Mr. H. L. Brittingham.

Crisfield was also in holiday attire for the occasion, the second division starting from the postoffice about 1.30 o'clock, led by the Central Park Band. In that place the message was read by Hon. Alonzo L. Miles, of Salisbury. The parade then proceeded to Marion Station, where the message was read by Mr. George H. Myers. The next stop was at Westover, where the first division, returning from Deal's Island, met those from Crisfield. At Westover the message was read by Hon. Robert H. Jones, of Fairmount.

From Westover the procession—which then had become a lengthy one—proceeded to Princess Anne, arriving here about 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon, headed by Crisfield band and marshalled by Messrs. C. E. Gelder, J. A. Roberts, Frank Collins and Albert Fitzgerald, of Princess Anne.

After the 4.30 autos, all specially decorated, had passed through the principal streets of the town, the vast assembly gathered in front of the Court House. After music by both bands and two selections sung by the Sterling quartette, of Crisfield, Hon. Joshua W. Miles called the meeting to order and spoke briefly, eulogizing the President in the highest terms and stated that Wilson's record had already made him a place as one of the greatest statesmen of American history, he introduced Dr. Alfred P. Dennis who read the President's message. This was followed by an address by Hon. Alonzo L. Miles, of Salisbury, who dwelt chiefly upon the President's peace policies, declaring that his great achievement was that, in the midst of a world-wide war, he had kept America at peace. The speakers were frequently interrupted by applause from over 1500 enthusiastic Wilson admirers.

In adopting the suggestion of Wilson Day by the National Committee, the local Democratic State Central Committee made it a red letter day in the history of Somerset county. Great enthusiasm was displayed everywhere and even along the county roads as the long line of autos wended their way from one town to another, men, women and children were standing along the roadside waving the national flags and cheering for Wilson.

The President's message to his countrymen follows:

My Fellow-citizens: This is called "Wilson Day" only because for six years, first as Governor of New Jersey and then as President of the United States, I have been permitted to lead first a great state and then a great national party along the ways of progress and of enlarged and regenerated life which our people had so long sought and so long been held back from by the organized power of selfish interest, and because the great honor has fallen to me of being chosen once more spokesman and representative of the men and women of this country to these ways of peace, humanity and progress. It is of these forces that I shall speak and not of myself, who am merely their servant.

What are these forces? Whence do they spring? What have they accomplished, and what is their programme and purpose for the future? It is plain what they are. They are the forces of humane, righteous, and patriotic purpose which have sprung up in our day in the minds of those who perceive the shortcomings of the law as it has hardened in America—and who look forward with purpose and conviction to a new age in which government shall be indeed the servant of liberty and not of privilege. These are men who perceive that American law has not kept pace with American sentiment; that our law has been holding us rigid and immovable, until class has begun, in free America, to be arrayed against class; until what was legal has begun to play a more important part in our thoughts and determinations than what is human and right; and until America has begun to lag instead of lead in reconciling what is with what ought to be.

A new age has dawned upon us while those who are attempting to lead us were still groping along with their heads over their shoulders, intent upon preserving the conditions of a day that is gone. America has changed and the whole world has changed. Our commerce and industry had grown to such a bulk that the domestic markets of which our former leaders were always so solicitous were glutted and we were bound, unless we were to burst our jacket, to find a free outlet into the markets of the world. The time had come when our commerce needed freedom and was being throttled by further restraints. We had acquired foreign possessions, had been drawn into the politics of the world, had begun to play a part which could not be played by provincialism, but must be played by citizens of the great world of nations. And yet we had not altered our policy or our point of view. The great European war had served at least to show us this one thing, that the world itself had changed; that it had become at once too big a world, and too little a world, to submit its destinies to the hostile rivalries and ambitions now of this and again of that member of the great family of men; too compact, too intimate in its contacts, too universal in its ways of intercourse, to make it any longer possible to limit the effects of any nation's action to a single, separate sphere where the rest would be untouched. An inevitable partnership of interests has been thrust upon the nations. They are neighbors and must accommodate their interests to one another, or else disturb the lives and embarrass the fortunes of men everywhere. No wonder that in such an age men in America should be cried awake and feel once more, as they felt them in the days when their great republic was set up, the obligations of humanity and of justice.

These are the freshening winds blowing out of the life of mankind everywhere, that have brought on a new day in American politics. We have looked once more very critically at our own laws and our own practices and have set about to square them with the actual conditions of our life and the life of the world.

Four years ago there were two parties in this country. One was the Republican Party, the other the Progressive Party. This year there is but one, the Democratic party. In the presidential election of four years ago some fifteen million votes were cast. Of these, nearly ten and a-half millions were cast for the candidates of the two progressive parties, only three and a-half millions for the candidate of the Republican party, the party which lingered in the old ways and felt none of the new impulse of a new day. More than two-thirds of the voters of the United States favored then, and favor now, a programme whose object is to serve the changing needs of humanity and progress.

The Democratic party was entrusted with the task. These powerful forces of the new age were put under its direction. And under that direction what have they accomplished? They have put both the business and the life of the country upon a new footing. They have released the financial credit, upon which commerce and production alike depend, from the control of small groups of financiers and bankers at the speculative centers. They have released the commerce and industry of the country from the domination of those who were building up their power by selfish and unfair methods of competition. They have supplied those who wished to conduct their business in conformity with the spirit of the laws with friendly guidance and delivered them from a nervous fear of the courts. They have released our foreign trade from the shackles of a tariff contrived in the interest of special groups of favored producers, and have created a Tariff Commission intended to substitute public for private influences, facts for theories and pretensions, in all future legislation with regard to duties and restrictions on imports. They have made provision for the immediate and systematic development of our carrying trade on the seas. They have at last supplied the means by which the nation may be bound together, materially and spiritually, by a network of good roads upon which both commodities and sympathies may move freely from community to community. They have put the farmer upon a footing of perfect equality with business men and men of all other callings in respect of his access to commercial credit; have placed a great bureau of the Government at his service in seeking and finding his best markets; have protected him by the establishment of definite standards in the sale of his products, and have put the scientific knowledge of the world at his disposal by practical demonstration at the expense of the Government upon the farms themselves. They have emancipated the laborers of the country from the unjustified restraints which the courts had put upon them by mistaken applications of old law to new circumstances and conditions. They have released the children of the country in large part from hurtful labor; have sought to safeguard the lives and the health of our laborers in dangerous occupations; and have put agencies of the Government itself at the service of those who seek employment. And most of these things have been done within the brief limits of a single administration.

And still the great work is not finished. It can never be rounded off and (Continued on 8th page, 1st column)

ABOLISHING GRADE CROSSINGS

Thirteen Lives Lost And 104 Persons Injured In Eight Months

In the first eight months of the present year, thirteen people lost their lives and 104 were injured at grade crossings on the Pennsylvania Railroad System, under circumstances, the very nature of which proved total disregard of caution and in many cases willful running of risks.

This is shown as the result of special inquiry, which has just been completed, for the purpose of ascertaining the extent of recklessness on the part of the public at highway crossings over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

A large proportion of these accidents occurred to automobilists. The drivers of twenty-three motor cars smashed their machines into the sides of trains that were actually part way over the crossings. Four lives were lost in this way and fifty-one persons were injured. Six motorcycles, two bicycles, and four horse-drawn vehicles were similarly driven into the sides of trains, causing the death of two persons and injury of fourteen. One trolley car was run against a train at a crossing, but fortunately only a single person was hurt.

Six automobiles crashed into, or through, safety gates while they were down and nine persons were hurt. Five motorcycles and two horse-drawn vehicles did likewise, causing injury to ten people.

Eight accidents occurred as a result of persons attempting to crawl over trains at crossings. Two people, risking their lives in this way, fell between cars and were killed. Six others were injured.

One man jumped off an automobile while in the middle of a crossing, stumbled in front of a train and was killed. Seventeen people dodged under or around safety gates and were struck by approaching trains. Four of them were killed and thirteen injured.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is wiping out grade crossings as fast as available resources will permit. Since 1902 the expenditure for this purpose on the lines east of Pittsburgh alone—comprising half the mileage of the Pennsylvania System—have exceeded $40,000,000. Many grade crossings still remain. To remove them at once, or in the very near future, is impossible, as the necessary capital could not be obtained. Before such improvements can be made by a railroad the money to pay for them must first be earned.

It is the belief of the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad System that accidents at the grade crossings which have not yet been removed are wholly avoidable, and that none would occur at all if everyone, before going over the tracks, would first "Stop, Look and Listen."

Dredgers Slow In Getting Busy

According to reports from the office of the State Comptroller at Annapolis, oyster dredgers are slow in getting busy this year. There has been a perceptible decline in the number of dredgers' licenses issued. The decrease is traced to the mortality among oysters. It is reported, however, that tongers' licenses are more numerous than for several years. The increase in prices of meat food has brought an increase in the demand for oysters, with the result that prices are higher. Hence the expectation of a profitable season.

Chairman W. Thomas Kemp and W. H. Killian, of the Conservation Commission, last Thursday returned to Baltimore from a trip down the Chesapeake Bay. They brought encouraging reports of the condition of the oyster industry. Their objective point was the Potomac river, where they conferred with various officials on the more strict enforcement of the cull law and on the regulations to be observed by oystermen of the two states as agreed upon by a conference last summer between Governor Harrington of Maryland and Governor Stuart of Virginia and the oyster officials of the two states.

The conference was held at Colonial Beach. Those present were John S. Parsons, commissioner of Virginia; Messrs. Kemp and Killian, of Maryland; Captains Doggett, Hudson and Murphy and Inspectors Leach, Sanford, Smith and Price, of Virginia, and Commander Howard, Captains Bailey and Cullison and Inspectors Miles and Stine, of Maryland.

Gold Heaped In Treasury

The United States Treasury, it was announced last Thursday, contains the largest gold reserve ever held by the Government in its history. The amount is $2,004,449,583.69, which is the largest ever assembled in the vaults of any nation. Of this amount $965,983,734.22 is in gold coin and $1,038,465,849.47 in gold bullion.

HICK'S FORECASTS FOR NOVEMBER

Mild Weather For The Month With Little Cold Or Snow Predicted

A regular storm period is central on the 1st, covering the last two days of October, up to November 5th. Added to the "Vulcan influence at this time, we have the strain of the Mars period yet in full force, with the Moon at first quarter on the 2nd, and on the celestial equator on the 5th. The first stages of this period will fall in the last two days of October, during which days the temperature will rise, winds will shift to southerly, and the barometer will fall in most parts of the west. By the first of November these conditions will bring cloudiness and rain over western sections, and during Thursday, the 2nd, to Sunday the 5th, these storms, or rain areas, will progress eastwardly across the country.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th. This period leads into the opening of the combined Mercury and Venus periods, with the opposition of the Moon to Sun and Earth on the 9th. The quadrature of Uranus with Earth and Sun on the 8th, and the conjunction of Jupiter and the Moon on the same date, will have their part in bringing on and intensifying the disturbance of this period. For two to three days, beginning in western extremes about the 6th, the barometer will indicate approaching changes in weather conditions. By the 7th and 8th these conditions will develop into active storm centers, and pass into central parts of the country on their eastward drift. On and touching the 8th and 9th, rain and wind areas will pass from central to eastern extremes of the country, while at the same time rain will have turned to sleet and snow behind the rain areas, and rising barometer, change to westerly winds and much colder will be bringing up the rear from the west and north.

A regular storm period is central on the 12th, extending from the 10th to the 15th. The Moon comes to its highest north point on the 12th, and passes its apogee on the 15th. The planet Venus will pass her perihelion, or nearest approach to the Sun on the 11th, while the Moon is in very close conjunction with both Saturn and Neptune on the 15th.

A reactionary storm period will be central on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 17th, 18th and 19th. The Moon is on the celestial equator on the 19th, passing to south declination, having passed last quarter on the 17th. If a tendency to early cold, and storms of a wintry, boreal nature have preceded, expect a renewal and increased dash of snow, sleet and early winter, on and near the 17th, 18th and 19th.

A regular storm period is central on the 24th, involving the 22d to the 27th. Added to the regular Vulcan disturbance at this time, remember, we are near the center of the Venus period, still in the Mars period, with the conjunction of Sun, Moon and Earth on the 25th, Moon at extreme south point on the 26th, and in perigee on the 27th. The superior conjunction of Mercury with the Earth and Sun on the 23d may also be considered as a disturbing factor at this time. The first symptoms of returning storms will be noted in western states as early as the 22d and 23d—that is, the barometer will begin to fall, the temperature rise, winds to shift to southerly, and clouds to form in those sections. By the 24th to 25th these conditions will move eastward into central regions, with rain turning to snow westward.

A reactionary storm period is central on November the 29th and 30th, and on December the 1st and 2d. On and next to these dates anti-storm conditions will break down—that is, the barometer will fall, weather will grow warmer, winds will shift and blow from the south, cloudiness will gather and more precipitation in the form of rain and snow will pass eastward across the country. If the weather has been stormy and cold up to this time, look for a modification of the same; if they have been mild and moderate, expect a wicked change to severe, wintry storms and weather.

Coons-Henderson Wedding

Miss Margaret Virginia Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asbury Henderson, of Rehoboth, Maryland, was married last Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock to the Rev. A. J. Coons, pastor of Rehoboth Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by the Rev. Littleton, of Pocomoke City.

The bride was tastefully attired in a traveling suit with hat and gloves to match. Immediately after the ceremony dinner was served, then the couple motored to Princess Anne, where they took the train for Philadelphia, Niagara Falls and other points of interest. After their return they will reside at Rehoboth.

"VOTE AS AMERICANS"— FOR WILSON, SAYS EDISON.

No Time Now to Try an Inexperienced Man, Declares Inventor, Lauding President.

By GEORGE CREEL.

"Times are too serious to talk in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. Parties are all right—reckon we've got to have them with our system of government. But when it's America that's at stake men have got to vote as Americans, and not as Democrats or Republicans."

This is the message to the American people that Thomas A. Edison gave to me in a recent interview.

"This man Wilson has had a mighty hard time of it," he continued. "I don't believe there was ever a president who had as many big questions to decide. They have come in bunches. He hasn't always pleased me, just as I suppose he hasn't always pleased other people, but when you look the record over it's so good that criticism comes close to being nothing more than cheap fault finding.

"A fool or a coward would have had the United States in all sorts of trouble. As it is, we are at peace, the country was never more prosperous, and we have the strength that comes with honor and integrity of purpose."

"Wilson has won victories by diplomacy that are far more important to mankind than any victories that we could have won by war."

"Had we recognized Huerta it would have served notice upon the world that the United States, while believing in democracy for home use, was willing to stand for despotism where other peoples were concerned. President Wilson's Mexican policy has been wise and just and courageous."

"Belgium? Hindsight! In the light of two years it's easy to say what should have been done. But at the time not a single paper or a public man even thought of anything but keeping the United States out of the European horror."

"Tariff? There's another proof of Wilson's openness of mind. No matter what he thought about the Underwood law, he had the courage to admit that the European war had returned the tariff to the province of discussion. So he came to the front with his proposition for a tariff commission. That's sense. The tariff is a scientific affair, not political at all. A tariff commission will lift the whole business out of politics."

"As I said at the start, it has just been one big thing after another with Wilson."

"Look at the threatened general railroad strike. Why, if carried through, such a strike would have thrown the whole country into confusion."

"In my opinion, Mr. Hughes, if President, would have found it difficult to decide on the best course for the Government to take in such matters. His capacity for hindsight, as we learn from his speeches, is highly developed, but as to his foresight, we are not equally well informed."

"They say Wilson has blundered. Perhaps he has. But I notice that he usually blunders forward."

"Mr. Wilson now has had about four years of experience, and I think that he has earned faith and trust. I do not think it a sensible thing to change to an inexperienced and untried man. Therefore, I am for Woodrow Wilson."

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS.

It would be impossible to convince any Republican politician that either Dun or Bradstreet reflects business prosperity or indicates what the future has in store for business.

Henry Ford, a Republican, believes in Peace, Prosperity and Progress and will vote for the man who has given all three to the country—Woodrow Wilson.

Wilson's good enough for Dr. Charles W. Elliot, Richard H. Olney, Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford, Ben Lindsey, Ida Tarbell and a host of other distinguished men and women, but Gifford Pinchot and Huerta's friend, Henry Lane Wilson, don't like him a little bit.

If only he would shave off those whiskers and let the public see his face!

Editorial Comments

WHAT IS BACK OF HUGHES?

Who nominated Hughes?

The Republican national convention under the control of the Republican bosses, captained by Penrose, Barnes, Smoot, Crane, Cannon, et al., watchdogs of privilege, repudiated as political crooks by Roosevelt and the Progressives four years ago.

Who managed Hughes's campaign in the convention?

Taft's former campaign manager, ex-Postmaster General Hitchcock, whose function in previous conventions has been the delivery of the corrupt Republican delegations from Southern States.

Who is supporting Hughes's candidacy?

Wall Street, the predatory trusts, the tariff beneficiaries, the seekers and holders of special privilege, the exploiters of Mexico, the munition manufacturers, the railroads, the bankers, united plutocracy, even its women folks, all enemies of fundamental democracy, who hope to prostitute government for selfish gain.

What prominent statesmen are supporting Hughes?

William Howard Taft, foremost apostle of reaction; Theodore Roosevelt, disciple of Bernhardi and advocate of war for war's sake; Elihu Root, attorney for malefactors of great wealth, and all the tory mouthpieces of privilege.

Why are the "interests" supporting Hughes?

Because they expect to receive in return for financial aid, special legislation that will add enormously to the wealth of the few at the expense of the many; because they see in Woodrow Wilson the greatest exponent of democracy since Jackson, and seek to destroy him lest this nation become a real democracy.

What will Hughes do, if elected?

The nearest he has come to saying what he would do was at Milwaukee, when he declared that La Follette's Seaman's bill must be repealed, the Underwood tariff replaced by a higher tariff, and the "whole administrative legislative accomplishments wiped off the books for the good of the country."

What is included in these legislative accomplishments?

The Income Tax, the Inheritance Tax, the Child Labor Law, the Federal Reserve banking system, the Farm Loan system, the Good Roads program, the Federal development of Alaska, the Tariff Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Shipping bill, autonomy for the Philippines, the Clayton Act curbing government by injunction, the preservation of neutrality, the maintenance of peace, and the enlarged army and navy.

What would Hughes's election signify?

The triumph of reaction and all that it signifies in thwarting human progress.

How Catarrh Is Contracted

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

HUGHES FOE TO FARMERS.

Public records show the kind of a "friend" that Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for the Presidency, is to the farmer. While Governor of New York, he vetoed the following measures:

- For Farmers' Institute work, $8,000.
 - For a specialist to fight insect pests, $2,500.
 - For dissemination of information concerning cheap farms to be had in New York state, $8,000.
 - For improving New York State College of Agriculture, $5,000.
 - For enlargement of State Veterinary College, $10,000.
 - For maintaining a department of veterinary science in the State University, $5,000.
 - For investigation and extermination of contagious diseases of plants, $11,000.
- CONTRAST THIS RECORD WITH PRESIDENT WILSON'S RURAL CREDIT ACT, THE GOOD ROADS BILL AND THE VOCATIONAL TRAINING MEASURE FOR WOMEN OF THE FARM.

Mill Girls and Shawls.

The working women and girls of Lancashire and Yorkshire regard the shawl as a necessity, and especially is this the case in the colliery districts. A writer in an English monthly says:

"Domestic duties, performed in varying temperatures, on washing days and cleaning days, in the house or about the yard, are rendered safe under the protection of a shawl. The mill girl could scarcely get on without it. It shields her between the mill and home, winter and summer, in snow or rain. It is easily donned and doffed. It is the handiest of all articles of wearing apparel and, as made in England today, is moderate in cost. A warm soft shawl would save many a racking cough and stave off incipient pulmonary troubles. It is a tried and proved sanitarium."

Sun Drunkenness.

To become sun drunk is a condition into which any one may fall in the tropics. Exposure to the sun's rays will reduce a man to a condition almost exactly resembling drunkenness. He staggers about and is usually compelled to lie down and "sleep it off." Sun drunkenness is sometimes accompanied by nausea. Another curious fact in connection with life in the tropics, where the sun rises at the same time all the year round, is that if you do not get up before sunrise you do not feel well all day. You feel heavy, out of sorts and sickish.

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE
The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says:
"No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

RECIPES GIVEN FOR CURING PORK

Bulletins On Hog Raising Offers Valuable Suggestions.

USED BY MARYLAND FARMERS

Timely Directions For Proper Curing Prepared By The Maryland Experiment Station.

College Park, Md., November 2.—Valuable suggestions regarding the curing of pork, as published in the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin No. 185, are of particular interest to hog raisers at this time. In regard to the curing of pork, the following recipes for the home curing were given by farmers in different sections of the State and include only those that have been used successfully for a number of years:

1. DRY SALT—This is one of the simplest methods of curing in vogue today. The meat is thoroughly rubbed with plain, dry, coarse salt and packed in large barrels. It is allowed to remain in the barrels from four to six weeks, depending on the weather. If the meat is taken from the barrels, the salt is thoroughly brushed off and the hams and shoulders sprinkled with dry borax to keep away skippers. The last process is to hang the meat in the smoke house and smoke well with hickory or other hardwood for several days.

2. COMBINATION MIXTURE—This process is similar to the dry salt, except that several other ingredients are added to the salt. For every thousand pounds of meat, the mixture is proportioned as follows:
10 quarts fine salt.
12 ounces saltpeter (dissolved in a pint of water).
8 ounces black pepper.
3 pounds brown sugar.

The ingredients are thoroughly mixed together and result in a damp, moist product. This is well rubbed into the flesh side of the meat, which, after treatment, is placed on a board that has previously been salted. The meat is so placed on the board that no two pieces touch. After curing for three or four weeks, the meat is treated with prepared or liquid smoke. It should be painted twice with this preparation, allowing about two days between treatments, and then sprinkled with borax and put in the meat house.

3. SPICED HAM CURE—The following recipe was furnished by a Maryland farmer who has the reputation of producing especially fine hams. The proportions for 100 pounds of meat are as follows:

- 2 pounds brown sugar.
- ¼ pound saltpeter.
- ¼ pound black pepper.
- ¼ pound red pepper.
- 2 quarts fine salt.
- 1 tablespoonful cloves.

Mix the ingredients together and then thoroughly rub all parts of the ham with the mixture. Place hams, skin side down, on boards, exercising care to see that they do not touch each other, and after all are in position, the remainder of the mixture is sprinkled on them. In about six weeks they are removed and smoked with hickory wood.

Methods Of Cooking Vegetables

College Park, Md., November 2.—In instructions to her students in home arrangement, Miss K. A. Pritchett, of the Maryland Extension Service, gives valuable advice regarding the cooking of vegetables. She says, "Boiling and steaming are both very good methods of cooking vegetables, for no nutritive value is lost. In cooking in a large amount of water and then draining the water off, the mineral matter and flavors are lost, because they are dissolved in the water. For an economical dietary, this method should not be followed, because it is wasteful. Where the housewife can plan to get the necessary mineral matter from meats or other sources, it may be allowable. It may also be used for old potatoes, beets of rank flavor and strong onions. A better method for fresh vegetables is stewing or cooking in a small amount of water, so that it is almost boiled away by the time the vegetables are cooked."

Points To Remember.

1. When cooking vegetables, the general rule is to allow one teaspoonful of salt to each quart of water.
2. Violent boiling water is no hotter than boiling water, and violent mashes and breaks the vegetables.
3. With some vegetables, like corn, it is more satisfactory to add the salt toward the end of the process, otherwise it hardens the fiber.
4. Drain the vegetables as soon as tender.
5. Cook strongly flavored vegetables, i. e., onions and cabbage, in an uncovered dish.
6. Vegetables that should be cooked with a small amount of water are greens, tomatoes, and tender young peas.
7. The less tender vegetables, such as peas, carrots, and the outer pieces of celery and celery tips, may be cooked and put through a sieve for soups.
8. Left-over vegetables may be reheated or used for soups.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Voters of Somerset county take your choice:

Hughes and four years of agitation, conflict with Congress and doubt in business and industry; or Wilson and four years of development along lines now defined, of co-operation with Congress, of certainty in business and industry as to governmental policies.

The one means probable loss of our prosperity. The other contains good assurance of continuing and increasing prosperity.

President Wilson is entitled to reelection; he has earned reward by good service rendered. Hughes is not entitled to election; he has not shown either why Wilson should be put out or why he should be put in. Hughes has not even made a good candidate; Wilson has made a good President. STRAW VOTING

It ought to be possible to estimate fairly well the results of elections by straw balloting. But the fact that such balloting is so often misleading suggests that there are always present some funny men who try to twist the poll in the interest of their candidates. If a Republican says falsely that last election he voted Democratic, or if a Democrat similarly states wrongly his previous vote, a misleading report of drift of sentiment is given.

Comparison of the vote of a certain group of people, as a certain factory, store, or college, with the vote of the same group at a previous contest, may not be trustworthy. The personnel may have largely changed since the previous election.

It is just as well that such attempts to forecast the future are inconclusive. Were it possible thus to forecast an election, a great block of floaters would rush to the side that ran ahead on the straw votes.

The uncertainty of elections leaves the wobbly voter dependent on what little sense he may be endowed with. He must decide according to his lights, and take his chances of being a loser.

PUT DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS

Every man who votes for Woodrow Wilson for President next Tuesday should vote for the Democratic candidates for Congress and for the Senate in his congressional district and state.

Woodrow Wilson's candidacy today rests upon his record of progressive achievement and its guarantee to complete this record by applying the new progressive laws fairly and efficiently.

When you vote for Wilson you vote for his progressive policies and deeds. When you vote for members of Congress, you should vote for men who (1) have voted for Wilson's progressive policies and deeds and who (2) will vote in the House and Senate to support, carry out and carry on these progressive policies and deeds.

It was a Democratic Congress that put through the Record of Achievement. Another Democratic Congress is absolutely necessary to continue, apply and complete the work.

THE BRIDE'S PROMISE TO OBEY

It has been expected by many that the Episcopal House of Deputies, in session at St. Louis, Mo., would remove from the marriage service the bride's promise to obey her husband. It is now announced, owing to pressure of other business, that this matter will go over to the General Convention of 1919. For three years more then, Episcopal brides, and many others using this ancient form of marriage service, must agree to obey their husbands. But will they do it?

The feminine mind is not made up like the masculine. It has its own sanctions and formulas. If it makes a promise, it cherishes the right to make reservations. If such reservations are questioned, it would neatly reply that they are "understood." You can not pin it down. In spite of this seeming elusiveness of the feminine mind, however, it is probable that women keep the letter and spirit of the marriage contract better than men.

There do not seem to be many women nowadays who obey their husbands. If they do, it is because their husbands have proved to be such disagreeable bores that it is the cheapest way out of the dilemma. The husband who is a gentleman is not likely to issue orders to his wife. Anyway, this is for him the cheapest way out of it. Not issuing such orders is his only way of preserving his dignity, as they wouldn't be obeyed anyway.

The modern marriage is of course an equal contract, with husband and wife equal partners. There are of course some losses in any change of popular point of view. The old-fashioned submissive wife was a superb home maker, and very efficient at her business. But the man of the twentieth century has all he can do to regulate his own conduct without attempting to boss his wife.

THE WASTE OF WOOD

A government forest service bulletin just issued says there are wasted annually 36,000,000 cords of wood in the form of slabs, shavings, sawdust, etc. To the man who is paying high prices for lumber or fuel, this seems enormous. Also much of this might seemingly be available for paper making in this time of shortage.

Is this another case of the wasteful American spirit? Or is it a result of high cost of labor? The men who are running lumber industries should be able to market any available product. If they are burning up this material to get rid of it they must consider it of too little value to pay truckage and freight to markets.

It does cost everlastingly to get any kind of work done. Marketing a waste product might perhaps seem to pay, but it might not be possible to get it done, simply because no help could be had. American born men are getting above such primitive operations as lumbering. They want jobs in factories and stores. That leaves the lumberman dependent on foreign help, which is now scarce.

The printer who is paying an enormous price for his paper looks longingly at this figure of wood products wasted. He wonders if more of it could be made available for newspaper use. If, after the war, paper materials are going to continue somewhat scarce it will be up to science to find ways of saving and utilizing material formerly thought worthless.

America is wasting resources, and great reservoirs of material for all arts are being depleted. Careful and economical methods will be needed and will pay. Fortunes have been built up in many lines by elimination of waste. There are such rewards for men who can figure out better utilization of by-products of lumbering.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. [Advertisement.]

A GREAT CONSTRUCTIVE PRESIDENT

When the Democratic party attained power in 1913, it faced a position of peculiar difficulty. Not merely was there a heritage of unsettled problems passed on by the Republican party, but the party had had no training in handling the government since the times of Grover Cleveland 20 years ago.

It had been torn for many years by warring factions. It looked as if it would be almost impossible to hold the different elements together. Its opponents were gleeful in their predictions of discord and consequent inaction.

It was soon evident, however, that there had entered the White House a man of most extraordinary power. With superb initiative he broke down the conventional barriers that had separated the White House and the Capitol. Previous administrations had frittered away precious years in tedious wrangles with Congress. Every session was hailed as a "Do-nothing Congress." Wilson, unlike Roosevelt, never blustered nor threatened. Unlike Taft, he had a firm and resolute will.

He united discordant elements on common grounds of action; he organized a spirit of team work and he got things done. It was a great achievement in political leadership and in constructive statescraft.

Reference can be made here to but a few of the greater landmarks in this new progress. Typical of it are the child labor law, assuring to the children of the entire country immunity from degrading toil; the anti-trust act, discriminating between dangerous and beneficial processes in trade; and the rural credits law, taking a long step toward relieving the farmer from usurious rates of interest.

By these and many other but little less important statutes, Woodrow Wilson has made his mark as a great constructive president, and a leader in economic advance.

WORKING FOR AN EDUCATION

People don't value the things that come too easily. Nowadays they expect everything to be handed them on a silver platter. It would be too much work for them to get it themselves. Formerly young people would walk long distances for the chance to attend school. Their parents would take time to drive them over the road every day if the distance was prohibitive for walking.

This spirit is not wholly absent today. The National Geographic Magazine has received a letter telling about a Kentucky mountaineer who walked thirty miles to enter his motherless brood in a school. He made all the children's clothes so that they could make a decent appearance. Children from such homes as this would not complain because the transportation wagon left them at a point a mile away from their homes.

One does not find a great deal of this feeling today. The cost of education in the rural districts is being greatly increased by the spread of the transportation custom. It is a fixed principle in many localities now that children can not be expected to walk more than a mile to school. The time of a man and a horse to cart these youngsters all over a town is expensive. It grows more so every day as the price of labor and of feed for horses increases. A man who is responsible and careful is needed for the work of driving a school team, and he charges well for his service.

The result is to impoverish many rural communities or to restrict the amount they can pay for teachers. The children have an easier time, but the schools are poorer.

Children will run and walk miles at their play. But the parents think they can't walk two miles each way to school any longer. No community can afford to begrudge expenditures really necessary for education. But a greater spirit of co-operation on the part of children and parents is needed. The time should not have gone by when education can be had wholly without effort.

Candidates To Be Voted For

The Board of Election Supervisors—Messrs. Edward B. Lankford, Lambert W. Cox and George H. Ford—met last Tuesday and passed on the form of ballot for the election next Tuesday. Notice of nominations will be found in our supplement of to-day's issue.

The candidates for President and Vice-President are as follows: Wilson and Marshall, Democrats; Hughes and Fairbanks, Republicans; Hanly and Landrith, Prohibitionists; Benson and Kirkpatrick, Socialists, Reimer and Harrison, Labor.

For United States Senator the candidates are David J. Lewis, Democrat; Joseph Irwin France, Republican; James W. Frizzell, Prohibitionist; Frank N. H. Lang, Labor, and Sylvester L. V. Young, Socialist.

The candidates for Congress are Jesse D. Price, Democrat; Robert F. Duer, Republican, and James T. Anthony, Prohibitionist.

State Forester Offers Mile Of Trees

The State Forester of Maryland, F. W. Besley, has just announced a very novel plan whereby any lover of shade trees with a roadway in need of them has only to apply to the Board of Forestry, at its Howard street office, Baltimore, to have their needs supplied.

About three years ago the Board established a State Nursery at College Park, and much of the stock then planted there now being of shade tree size, it will be possible for one person or Civic organization in every county of the State to secure enough red oak or white ash trees to properly plant one mile of public roadway beside his own and his neighbor's home. Further, the 150 trees needed for the work will not only be supplied free of any cost save transportation from the Nursery, but the expert direction of a Forester from the office of the Board will be available in setting out the trees in a proper manner.

Once before, according to Mr. Besley, this offer was made, and immediately accepted by the citizens of public-spirited civic bodies of many of the counties. The trees lived, and the rural highways are losing their appearance of bareness and unattractiveness, and taking on a better, much more finished look, so that the planters feel the small expense involved was more than justified. The offer now made will hold during the season of planting. That should be about one more month this fall, and dwellers in the country or in communities where lack of trees detracts from other things should do their part at once.

Pine-Tar Relieves a Cold

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey contains all the soothing elements of the pine forest. It heals the irritated membrane, and by its antiseptic properties loosens the phlegm, you breathe easier, and what promised to be a severe cold has been broken up. For that stuffed-up feeling, tight chest or sore throat take a dose of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and prevent a wearing, hacking cough dragging through the winter. At your Druggist, 25c. New Dimes in Circulation

The new ten-cent pieces, which have been coined in large quantities at the Philadelphia Mint, were put into circulation last Saturday for the first time, about $180,000 worth being distributed to banks and trust companies. They will be introduced simultaneously in the Western States from the Denver Mint. The obverse side of the new dime shows a head of Liberty in profile, while the reverse side shows a bundle of rods in the center and the protruding battle axe, symbolic of unity. Surrounding the central design is an olive wreath, denoting peace.

In Whirlwind Campaign

Mr. John H. Dulany, of Fruitland, chairman of the campaign committee of the Prohibition party of the Eastern Shore, has arranged for a "whirlwind" campaign, embracing every county on the Eastern Shore, this week. It will be an auto tour, following the State roads, making stops at all important towns enroute.

The campaigners are scheduled to speak at Mount Vernon on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock; on Friday, at Westover, at 10 a. m.; Marion, at 11 a. m.; Crisfield, at noon; Princess Anne, 3 p. m.; Fairmount, at 7:30 p. m., and perhaps at Oriole and Deal's Island on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Cogley and little daughter, Mary, are visiting Mrs. Cogley's mother at Wayside, Charles county, Maryland. Later they will join Mr. Cogley in their new parish at Wellsville, West Virginia.

Plan To Wipe out English Sparrow

The League of American Sportsmen, whose object is the preservation of wild life, is considering the question of inaugurating a nation-wide campaign for the destruction of the English sparrow. Its officers say this bird has made such headway here that it is driving out the smaller song and insectivorous birds, and that it has become a question of whether we shall have only the English sparrow to represent our bird life or destroy it and regain some 50 species of useful and beautiful birds that used to inhabit cities, farm and countryside all over the land.

The league intends to ask the Governor of each state to issue a proclamation declaring war on the English sparrow and setting aside a week, possibly in April or May of next year, to be devoted especially to destroying nests of this pernicious pest. Printed instructions as to the plan of the campaign will be sent to the Mayors of all incorporated cities and villages, to the heads of the school systems in every county, to college Presidents, to Principals of preparatory schools, to the heads of the Boy Scouts in each State, and to other organizations which might be expected to extend sympathy and aid.

Four principal methods of action will be employed: Tearing down the nests, trapping the birds, shooting them under police supervision and under licenses issued by the police authorities, and in cities where water pressure is available, turning the hose on the birds at night after they have gone to roost.

The President of the league, Col. G. O. Shields, of 1110 Simpson street, New York, says he would like to hear from persons interested in the matter, both those who favor the plan and those who oppose it.

PRINTING CHRISTMAS SEALS

300,000,000 Red Star Stamps Will Be Circulated This Year

Three hundred million Red Cross Christmas seals are being printed in Cincinnati for the annual holiday campaign to be conducted under the joint auspices of the American Red Cross and the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals this year will be larger than ever before. Although in 1915 the sale reached the record total of 80,000,000 seals, bringing in $800,000, it is expected that this year at least 100,000,000 seals or $1,000,000 worth will be sold. The sale will be organized from Alaska to the Canal Zone and from Hawaii to Porto Rico. Every state and territory in the United States will have seals on sale. New organizations will be working in a number of the western states, including Montana, Utah and Wyoming. Distribution of the seals is now under way.

Reports from the office of the Maryland Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, the State Agent for Maryland for the seals, show that 4,000,000 have been ordered and will be distributed and put on sale throughout the state, November 15th.

The Red Cross Christmas Seal for 1916 was designed by Mr. T. M. Cleland, of New York City. It shows a Santa Claus in red on a green background in the center panel with a pack on his back bearing a red cross. The lettering "A Merry Christmas" and "A Happy New Year" is carried vertically up and down the sides of the seal, while the date and the words "American Red Cross" are across the bottom of the seal.

Marriage Licenses

The following is a list of the marriage licenses issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Somerset County:

White—John H. Landon, 57, and Mary E. Johnson, 37, both of Crisfield. Roy James Tull, 22, Worcester county, Md., and Edith Blanche Johnson, 23, of Somerset county, Md. Norman L. Krauss, 28, of Washington, D. C., and Julia A. Sterling, 21, of Crisfield. Colored—Benjamin Bisco, 35, and Clara Cropper, 30, both of Crisfield.

IN MEMMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear little son, Marion Mills, who departed this life one year ago, October 26, 1915.

GONE, BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
In the graveyard sweetly resting
Is the one we love so dear.
It is Marion, oh, so tender,
In his fair and youthful year.
God needed one more angel child
Amidst his shining band,
And so he best with loving smiles
And clasped our darling's hand.

BIG FIRES IN CAMBRIDGE

Two Blazes Destroy Auditorium, Shirt Factory, Stores and Stables

On Monday afternoon of last week fire destroyed the Cambridge Auditorium, Strauss, Eiseman & Co's shirt factory, W. L. Dean's livery stable and Mrs. Daniel Harvel's boarding house. The blaze began in the auditorium, which was formerly a skating rink, supposedly starting from the furnace.

The fire came up between the double floors so quickly that a member of the Columbia Stock Company, which was preparing to fill a week's engagement, had a narrow escape with his life. The flames spread on the right to Dean's stable, from which all vehicles and horses were removed. On the left it leaped to the large shirt factory, owned by Baltimoreans, and thence to the boarding house. Sparks started a blaze at the Philadelphia Under-sellings Company's store and burned the awning of Craig's drug store. Both are on an adjoining street.

The loss of the Cambridge Amusement Company, owners of the auditorium, is $6,000, with insurance of $3,750. The stable and the boarding house were owned by Mrs. W. A. Clash. The losses will probably total nearly $20,000.

Mayor Orem telegraphed Salisbury, Easton and Federalsburg for assistance. The Federalsburg Fire Company arrived. The others turned back, as the fire had been gotten under control.

The Sunday night previous fire destroyed the stables and hitching sheds in the rear of the stores formerly occupied by W. R. Hearn & Son, now in the hands of trustees, causing a loss of $5,000 on the goods in the firm's warehouse and a loss on the buildings of $1,000. The flames spread to the storehouse of E. M. Skinner & Bro., wholesale grocers, entailing a loss of $800, and thence to two buildings of the United Stores, doing $1,600 damage. All losses are said to have been partly covered by insurance.

A half-burned cigar is thought to have started the blaze.

WILSON ENDORSED BY RAILROAD HEADS

Underwood of Erie and Lovett of U. P. Strong For President.

PROSPERITY IS DUE TO HIM.

Served All the People in Demanding Eight-Hour Law—Firm in Stand For American Trade Rights, and the Friend of Both Business and Labor.

"President Wilson has achieved the seemingly impossible," declared F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie Railroad, in a recent interview in Chicago. "My conviction is that Wilson has more great achievements to his credit than most presidents who have preceded him."

Robert Scott Lovett, Chairman of the Union Pacific Board of Directors.

Such views from men who stand at the top of two of the nation's greatest transportation systems should be sufficient to controvert the false charges of Republican demagogues that President Wilson is unfriendly to the interests of business, even though he works for the betterment of the conditions of labor. Mr. Underwood continues:

"No one could fairly accuse President Wilson of playing politics in the railroad negotiations for an eight-hour day. I believe he used his best judgment in doing as he did. He did not carry the burden of the railroads or the claims of the brotherhood as his load; he carried those of the people of the United States."

Has Stabilized Business. "There can be no honest denial that many of the Wilson laws have stabilized business. The Federal Reserve Act is one. The Rural Credit Act is another. The passage of the Child Labor Law was humane and intelligent. The Tariff Commission was a common-sense, much-needed accomplishment."

And then Mr. Underwood praises Mr. Wilson's course in keeping the nation from embroilment in the European turmoil, and from the waste of American lives for "so small a game" as Mexico. "Change his mind?" Mr. Underwood laughed. "The man who says he never changes his mind either is inaccurate in his statement or he has no mind to change. President Wilson has a mind to change, as changing conditions make it necessary to change. After all, prosperity is here, and we should stand for peace and work for peace—but we must prepare ourselves to defend what we have."

No less convince. "President Wilson," he says, "has substituted the law as a rule of conduct for Presidential favor. The 'undesirable citizen' has the same show as the most influential group or the biggest campaign contributor."

Justice For All. "In the administration of his immediate predecessors, business men were treated as 'big game,' and the Presidential choice between the 'good trusts' and the 'bad trusts' was the guide, rather than the law. Even the railroads—the favorite field for political exploitation—have received justice and fairness at his hands."

"And let us not forget that we owe Mr. Wilson for the present unexampled industrial prosperity of the country. Nothing but his firm stand for American rights secured to us the enormous trade, extending through every line of industry, that has brought employment and high wages to millions of workmen, and huge profits to our manufacturers."

"Now, are the American people going to permit an American President to be driven from office by an alien element in our population, for daring to insist upon American rights against a foreign government?"

BANK DEPOSITS REVEAL PROSPERITY OF FARMERS.

That the farmer is getting a generous share of the national prosperity, is evidenced by preliminary reports from seven states, recently filed with the Comptroller of the Currency, in Washington. These show increases in bank deposits as follows:

Ohio, $28,000,000; Kansas, $12,000,000; Indiana, $11,000,000; Connecticut, $10,000,000; Nebraska, $5,500,000; Washington, $4,000,000; New Hampshire, $3,500,000.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

AMERICAN FARMERS ENDORSE PRESIDENT

National Congress Grateful For Peace and Prosperity.

LOYAL SUPPORT IS PLEDGED.

Appreciative of Laws Enacted For Benefit of Farmers—Illinois Grain Growers Adopt Resolutions Also Thanking Wilson For His Aid to Agriculture.

Endorsing President Wilson's foreign policy, and applauding his courage and patriotism, the Farmers' National Congress of the United States, in its thirty-sixth annual session at Indianapolis, on Oct. 17, telegraphed hearty congratulations to the President. It also expresses appreciation of the Administration's "constructive and effective legislation enacted for the benefit of the farmers of America."

The President, unable to attend, sent Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl Vrooman to "convey to you my personal greeting and assurances of sympathy and good will. The loyal and effective support which has been given by your organization to further the passage of legislation in the interest of the farmer during the present Administration is most sincerely appreciated."

The Congress sent this reply: "Your message of good will has been received with great enthusiasm. This Congress, at Omaha, September 30, 1915, adopted these Resolutions:

"Resolved—That this Congress commends the foreign policy of President Wilson, while standing at the head of the American nation during one of the most critical and trying periods of its history."

"Resolved—That we express absolute confidence in his courage, patriotism and diplomatic ability."

"Resolved—That we offer him our loyal support in his effort to protect the rights of American citizens and to maintain impartial neutrality."

"The Farmers' National Congress extends to you, as the Executive head of the Nation, its profound gratitude and appreciation of your successful efforts to keep the Nation honorably at peace during one of the most trying periods of its history."

"This body notes with grateful appreciation the constructive and effective legislation enacted for the benefit of the farmers of America during your administration, with the loyal assistance of those representatives of all parties who have supported the President in his efforts to promote the general welfare. Accept our sincere thanks and assurances of continued loyalty."

"The Farmers' Grain Dealers' Association of Illinois, in convention at Decatur, adopted resolutions which, in part, stated:

"During the last three years, there has been a record of unparalleled achievement in Federal legislation and administration in the interest of the farmer. This association acknowledges with gratitude the endeavors made and results accomplished in behalf of the development of agriculture and the advancement of the interests of the farmer, and tenders its grateful appreciation."

"The best part of our knowledge is that which teaches us where knowledge leaves off and ignorance begins."

GOOD BACKS FOR BAD

Princess Anne Residents Are Learning How To Exchange The Old Back For A Stronger One

Does your back ache, feel weak and painful? Do you suffer headaches, languor and depression? Is the urine discolored, passages irregular?

The kidneys may be calling for help. Weak kidneys cannot do their work. Give them the help they need. To cure a kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Use a tested and proven kidney remedy. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Convincing proof of merit in Princess Anne endorsement: Mrs. H. B. Wherrett, Antioch avenue extended, Princess Anne, says: "I had been troubled nearly all my life with kidney trouble and had severe backaches at times. If I did anything that caused me to stoop over, I suffered very much with severe pains through the small of my back, especially when I straightened up. At times I could see little, black specks and fiery flashes in front of me. During the last attack, I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and I have had no further trouble. I cannot recommend this medicine too highly."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wherrett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHY PRESIDENT WILSON SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED.

1. Because he has kept the peace.
2. Because he has restored the Government to the hands of the governed.
3. Because he has secured the adoption of a dumping clause to protect American labor, capital and business against the possibility of cut-throat competition.
4. Because he has secured the imposition of an income tax, obliging wealth to share the burdens as well as the blessings of Government.
5. Because he secured the establishment of a non-partisan tariff commission, so that the tariff may be revised upon scientific principles.
6. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Reserve system, de-throning the money trust, democratizing credit and reassuring the future against panics.
7. Because he has secured the establishment of a Federal Trade Commission, to suppress unfair competition and to protect and promote honest business.
8. Because he has secured the establishment of a system of rural credits designed to emancipate and to enfranchise the farmer in the business world.
9. Because he has approved a measure declaring that human labor shall not be dealt with as a mere commodity.
10. Because he has approved the Seamen's Act, liberating the toilers of the sea from involuntary servitude, protecting them against imprisonment for debt.
11. Because he urged and signed the eight hour Act and prevented the disaster of a general railway strike.
12. Because he has said "suffer little children to come out of the mines and the mills and the sweatshops."

RHEUMATISM AFTER HIS DAY'S OUTING

Hunting Trip On a Wet Day Brings Painful Results.

Once upon a time Charles Mullen, of Philadelphia, went gunning. It was a dismal rainy day, and long exposure to cold and wet brought on a severe attack of rheumatism. He was confined to his home. A friend recommended Sloan's Liniment, citing his own case as evidence of its effectiveness. Mullen bought a bottle and applied it to his aching limbs. Soon improvement was noticed and he was able to return to business. Mr. Mullen writes: "Since that experience I have never been without Sloan's Liniment in the medicine chest." You will find it soothes bruises, sprains, toothache and relieves lame back, neuralgia, in fact all external pains. At all druggists, 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle.

Save Your Hogs

Cholera is Killing Hogs in This Section

It may hit your hogs next. Many are dying right now for want of medicine of the right kind. Hog Cholera is very catching, and even if your hogs are not affected by the epidemic, you should take steps at once to prevent sickness.

Cal-Sino Hog Restorative

is a medicine that prevents sickness and cures all curable cases of Cholera. It is no experiment; it has been tried and proven good for the six years it has been on the market. It is based on 25 years' practical experience of the Cal-Sino veterinarian. It has effected many remarkable cures. Give it now; do not put it off until they keel over and expect results.

Cal-Sino Hog Restorative is a heavily phenolized medicinal powder, an effective germicidal intestinal antiseptic and disinfectant, which exerts and keeps up a cleansing and purifying, germ-killing action from the stomach all the way through the bowels. It is made for that purpose. Cal-Sino Hog Restorative is a conditioner and health promoter, and therefore a flesh maker. You who have tried it, remember it, and use it now to prevent sickness. Tell your friends. You who have not used it, try it at once on our say so. Remember it's no experiment. You'll come back for more. Don't put it off; delay may cost you all your hogs. 50c Cans; 10 lb. The Baltimore Star

The Leading Evening Paper of the South

The Baltimore Star, established August 17, 1908, by the publishers of The Baltimore American, has won its place as the representative evening paper of the South. It gives more news and more reading matter than any other afternoon paper in Maryland. It is especially rich in departmental, financial, sporting, society, children, women, and to these departments the best writers of America are regular contributors. The Star is the great home paper, with something for every member of the family. It is a cheerful newspaper, with plenty of entertainment. Those who try it keep on taking it.

The Star is elaborately illustrated. It has the first photographs of important events. Its portraits of leading men and women are unequalled.

The Star has two great news services, with wires direct to its offices from all parts of the world. The Star has a wireless equipment. It uses every modern invention and the best enterprise to get all the news.

The Star is different from other Southern papers. It has a quality of its own.

PROCLAMATION

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND CREATING A BUDGET SYSTEM.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1916, an Act was passed, to-wit: Chapter 159 of said Act, being an Act to propose an amendment to Section 52 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State; and which said Act is in words and figures following:

"CHAPTER 159.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 52 of Article III, title, Legislative Department, of the Constitution of this State, regulating the making of appropriations by the General Assembly of Maryland in regular session, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 52 of Article III, title, Legislative Department, of the Constitution of this State, the same, if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided, to become Section 52 of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 52. The General Assembly shall not appropriate any money out of the Treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a newly elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two fiscal years next preceding; (2) the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus of the State; (3) the debts and funds of the State; (4) an estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the fiscal years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Governor may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second. Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations" and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the Judiciary Department, as provided by law, certified to the Governor by the Comptroller; (4) to pay and discharge the principal and interest of the debt of the State; (5) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (6) for the establishment and maintenance throughout the State of a thorough and efficient system of public schools in conformity with Article VIII of the Constitution and with the laws of the State; (7) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution of the State.

Third. The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations," and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Governor shall deliver to the presiding officer of each house the budgets and a bill for all the proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified; and the presiding officer of each house shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill."

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill such amendment or supplement may affect.

The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the State under Section 54 of Article III of the Constitution, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, or the payment of any salaries required to be paid by the State of Maryland by the Constitution, and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the judiciary, but except as hereinbefore specified, may not alter the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however, that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased during his term of office; and such bill when and as passed by both houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.

Fourth. The Governor and such representatives of the executive departments, boards, officers and commissions of the State as he may deem proper, shall have the right, and when requested by either house of the Legislature, it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.

Sub-Section C: Supplementary Appropriation Bills:

Neither house shall consider other appropriations until the Budget Bill has been finally acted upon by both houses, and no such other appropriation shall be valid except in accordance with the provisions following: (1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a Supplementary Appropriation Bill; (2) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax, direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said Bill; (3) No Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each house by a vote of a majority of the whole number of the members elected; and the year and days recorded on its final passage; (4) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in Section 17 of Article III of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said Section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing at any time in accordance with the provisions of Section 23 of Article III of the Constitution and subject to the Governor's power of approval as provided in Section 17 of Article II of the Constitution as appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of Maryland within the protection of Section 10 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D: General Provisions:

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such Bill; but no other matter than such Bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Second. The Governor for the purpose of making up his budgets shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to require from the proper State Officials, including herein all executive departments, all executive and administrative offices, bureaus, boards, commissions and agencies, and all institutions applying for State moneys and appropriations, such itemized estimates and other information, in such form and at such times as he shall direct. The estimates for the Legislative Department, certified by the presiding officer of each house, of the Judiciary, as provided by law, certified by the Comptroller, and for the public schools, as provided by law, shall be transmitted to the Governor, in such form and at such times as he shall direct, and shall be included in the budget without revision.

The Governor may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies, and of all institutions applying for State moneys. After such public hearings he may, in his discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth. In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any manner affect the provisions of Section 24 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 16 of Article II, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this Section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the legality of the Bill or of any other item of such Bill or Bills.

Section 2. And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall at the next ensuing general election, being the Presidential and Congressional election, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection in conformity with the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be placed the following synopsis of said amendment under the caption of

"This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature soon after it is convened a Budget containing a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by tax for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words 'for the Constitutional Amendment' and 'against the Constitutional Amendment' as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and further proceedings had in accordance with Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved March 23, 1916.

Now, therefore, I, Emerson C. Harrington, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 1 of Article II of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct a copy of this Proclamation, containing a full, true and correct copy of the text of said Chapter 159 of the Acts of Maryland of 1916, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which said newspapers in the City of Baltimore to be printed in the German language, once a week for three months next preceding the General Election to be held in this State on November 7th, 1916, and at which election the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted, in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

MARSHALL JUSTIFIES WORD.

Applied "Snivel" Service Only to Republican Hypocrisy.

Republican newspapers and campaign speakers have been attempting to make capital out of the charge that Vice-President Marshall referred contemptuously to the Civil Service as the "Snivel" Service. Here are the facts given by Mr. Marshall in a signed statement from Cincinnati:

The phrase was not used with reference to the merit system, which I heartily favor, but was in condemnation of Republican hypocrisy, in that party's use of the law and its unjust criticism of Wilson's appointments.—THOMAS R. MARSHALL.

Judson Harmon says: "By supporting the course of the Wilson administration with our votes we will lessen the likelihood of having to support the course of some other administration with our lives."

Upon Penrose and Roosevelt—a strange combination when you recall 1912 and later, but after all not an unnatural one, when you get to the last analysis of their characters—Republicans are basing their hopes of saving Pennsylvania to Hughes.

One by one the old reliable Republican states are slipping their moorings. Massachusetts and Ohio are about as certain to go Democratic this year as Arkansas and Texas.

What a grand time Wall Street and the Republican Old Guard would have "correcting President Wilson's mistakes" and re-establishing the "Invisible Government!"

PEACE OR WAR THE ISSUE.

Speaking at Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 30 last, Theodore Roosevelt said: "I have been asked what I would have done had I been President when the Lusitania was torpedoed."

"I would have instantly taken possession of every German ship interned in this country and then I would have said: 'Now we will discuss, not what we will give, but what we will give back!'"

THAT WOULD HAVE MEANT WAR!

It would have been a challenge to the German nation to a trial at arms. It would have been a violation of every principle of neutrality, and at a time, with all Europe under arms, when this country was the trustee of and the only nation capable of upholding neutral rights.

The seizure itself would have been an act of war, just as the seizure of German interned ships by Portugal was regarded as an act of war and was followed by an immediate declaration of war by Germany against Portugal.

Following the same line of war talk, speaking at Lewiston, Maine, Aug. 31 last, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The policies of Americanism and preparedness, taken together, mean applied patriotism. There should be correlation of policy and armament. . . . America, which sprang to the succor of Cuba in 1898, has stood as a spectator of the invasion of Belgium, the sinking of the Lusitania, the continued slaughter of our own citizens, and of the reign of anarchy, rapine and murder in Mexico."

These are the deliberate declarations of the man with whom Candidate Hughes has said, "I AM IN COMPLETE ACCORD," and Hughes has publicly congratulated Roosevelt for what he said.

From their public statements the conclusion is inevitable that if either Roosevelt or Hughes had been President when the Army of the Kaiser invaded Belgium we would have had war with Germany; that when the Lusitania was sunk that we would have had war with Germany, and that now we would have instant war with Germany over the submarine raids in the Atlantic Ocean off the Massachusetts Coast.

Must we not agree with President Wilson when speaking at Shadow Lawn on Sept. 30, last, he said:

"Am I not right that we must draw the conclusion that if the Republican party is put into power at the next election, our foreign policy will be radically changed?"

"I cannot draw any other inference. All our present foreign policy is wrong, they say, and if it is wrong and they are men of conscience they must change it."

"And if they are going to change it, in what direction are they going to change? THERE IS ONLY ONE CHOICE AS AGAINST PEACE, AND THAT IS WAR."

No other conclusion can be drawn. What is YOUR conclusion, thoughtful citizen?

In the last analysis, the election will be decided by the farmer vote. And so on the farmer is the responsibility of whether this country shall have peace or war.

The only assurance that the country will not be needlessly plunged into war is for YOU to vote for Woodrow Wilson.

FOR PEACE OR WAR YOUR CONSCIENCE AND YOUR VOTE MUST DECIDE.

T. R. RECEIVES FROST, DESPITE POLICE AID.

Wilkes-Barre Miners Strong For Wilson—Others Bolt the Republican Party.

"If you love me, vote for Hughes" is an injunction that proved too hard a strain on the liking that the 75,000 miners of the Wilkes-Barre district once had for Col. Roosevelt. He tried it on them, in what was intended to be the biggest labor meeting of the Hughes campaign, and the result was a frost.

Not only did the crowd listen to the Colonel's speech in stony silence, but Wilson enthusiasm threatened to become so boisterous that Mayor Kosek called out the State Constabulary to guarantee Mr. Roosevelt a courteous reception. The Mayor had denied the miners a permit to give a Wilson parade on the night of the Colonel's visit, and when they attempted to violate his order, directed the armed and mounted Constabulary to drive them from the streets.

Col. Roosevelt's closest friend in Wilkes-Barre, Father J. J. Curran, went out with a reception committee to meet the visitor, but announced that, friendship aside, he had left the Republican party, and was supporting President Wilson.

Another indication of the popular trend in the anthracite coal region is given in a statement by Stephen J. Hughes, city clerk of Hazleton, and a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1912.

"Concerning the unauthorized use of my name as a member of the reception committee for Col. Roosevelt," says Mr. Hughes, "I wish to state emphatically: I was a volunteer in the trenches in 1912; the war is not over; I have not been taken prisoner, and I refuse to surrender; I still am fighting for social and industrial justice, and I purpose to fight as long as I live."

Mr. Hughes' voice threatens to give out but there is one voice, the voice from Oyster Bay, that will continue to go on and on forever.

WILSON DAY CELEBRATION IN SOMERSET

concluded so long as circumstances change and the fortunes and relations of men shift and alter. The question you have to decide one week from next Tuesday is whether it shall be prematurely interrupted, perhaps for a generation to come, and all the generous forces of the age and of the world thrown back upon themselves in discouragement and confusion.

The programme remaining is as great as the programme accomplished. The procedure of our courts is antiquated and a hindrance, not an aid, in the just administration of the law. We must simplify and reform it as other enlightened nations have done, and make courts of justice out of our courts of law. We must seek and find the means of bringing capital and labor to a clear understanding of their common interests, which are no other than the interests of the nation itself as a community. We must release our great undeveloped natural resources upon some sensible plan of use and conservation. We must recruit the votes of forward-looking men by the votes of women so that we may have a fresh insight in all matters of social reform and move more certainly and more promptly in the solution of the many new problems of society with which the law must henceforth deal. We must unite the Americas, North and South, in a new sympathy and co-operation. We must seek justice and the right through every channel that offers; and we must put America in all its force, in all its wealth, in all its physical power and spiritual enthusiasm, at the service of the other nations of the world when peace comes on the other side of the seas, to make that peace permanent by establishing it on the everlasting foundations of right, co-operation, equality and justice. These things we must do and all else that may serve mankind.

And our motto must be "Co-operation," the union, not the hostile rivalry, of the forces of society within the nation and within the family of nations. The interests of mankind can never again be served by aggression; the interest of no nation or group of nations can ever again be served by aggression. The contests of jealousy are as bitter and as dangerous as the contests of arms. The world must henceforth seek the means of accommodation, not the means of arresting quarrels merely. The nation we love and serve must be among the first and foremost of those that rise to the new ideals with spirit and well-directed force. Our own reforms, our own actions in the interest of justice and humanity must be the earnest of our spirit and purpose in the affairs of the world outside our own borders.

Such is the prospect, such is the programme, my fellow-citizens, to which we look forward, to which it is our purpose to move forward with enthusiasm and irrepressible ardor. We will not pause in the midst of our task. We know that we stand at one of the most critical junctures in the history of the world, when all hopes hang in the balance. We will suffer no man, no body of men, through timidity or fear or jealousy, to delay or hinder or embarrass us. Reaction can have no place of tolerance amongst us when all the world waits upon those who plan justice and progress. I summon you, not only to sustain, but to swell the hosts that have their faces now set towards the light, their eyes lifted to the horizon where the dawn of a new age begins to brighten; and I summon you with confidence, with a certain expectation of the part America and her great people are to play when the dawn broadens into day.

Queer Story of a Battleship.
Graft in Russia is on such a naively vast scale that it becomes grotesque. The Russian representative of a foreign shipbuilding concern told of a battleship which he personally designed for the Russian government in 1905. The plans were accepted, the steel contracted for, an army of workmen assembled at Odessa and in the course of time it was reported that the battleship was ready for launching. The governor of the province personally broke a champagne bottle over her bow, and a month later she put to sea on her trial trip. Then news came that the battleship, had sunk somewhere in the Black sea. Some one was suspicious. An investigation was ordered, and it developed that the battleship had never been built at all.—Metropolitan Magazine.

A Wonderful Bore.
The most wonderful boring apparatus in the world is possessed by the great ichneumon fly. It is composed of three black filaments, all extremely fragile, no larger or stiffer than a horsehair and about five inches long. These fit together with grooves and glide easily along their entire length. The three when fitted together are no larger in diameter than a small needle and so flexible that a slight breath of air will bend them. Yet with this remarkable instrument its owner can bore three or four inches into the hardest wood. This tool is possessed only by the female and is her ovipositor, or egg laying apparatus. Boring which takes hours to accomplish is for the purpose of laying one egg.

Despondency
When you feel discouraged and despondent do not give up but take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and you are almost certain to feel all right within a day or two. Despondency is very often due to indigestion and biliousness, for which these tablets are especially valuable. Obtainable everywhere. (Advertisement)

Retired Ministers' Endowment Fund

This matter of a fund for retired ministers suffers from one or two popular misconceptions. It is supposed, in the first place, to relate only to the ministry that has grown old or has broken down. And in the second place, it is supposed to be a kind of charity to the ministry unlike anything offered to any other class of workers. It is also thought by some to be a needless provision for men who ought to provide for themselves by economy and wise investments.

With reference to the first item it is enough to recall Bishop McConnell's brief but wise words at the Washington meeting, in which he pleaded for the assurance to the veterans as a means of securing a better ministry, freer from fret and anxiety, during the years of youth and manhood. The better care of men who have retired is one of the surest ways of securing men of promise to enter the ministry and of assuring efficiency in the years of their active service. The movements for better endowments, then, is not nearly so much in the interest of the men who are retired as it is in the interest of the church seeking most efficient men for its service.

As to the second item, it is enough to say that even the best pension system of the church is meager and even pitiful when compared with the provisions of the government and of certain great secular corporations and educational institutions. The pension system does not need defence any more. It is a perfectly established thing.

As to the third point, the answer is still easier. The ministry as a whole cannot, even by economy, on present salaries lay up enough to provide for old age. An investing, possibly a speculating ministry, is intolerable. Let any minister get entangled with the affairs of this world and his value as a minister is largely gone. He cannot watch the souls of men, listen to the voices of the Spirit, and at the same time watch market reports and listen to the voices of the stock exchange. We are seeking not prosperity and comfort, but the conditions that make for a true ministry of the Spirit and life. And this is part of our total task as a church.

Of course it follows that with these larger funds we must have a better ministry. Those for whom provision is made should make quick and full response by being better ministers and doing better work. For this fund is not a measure to secure an old age of comfort so much as a life of loving and efficient service.—Bishop W. F. McDowell, LL. D.

When You Take Cold

With the average man a cold is a serious matter and should not be trifled with, as some of the most dangerous diseases start with a common cold. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of your cold as quickly as possible. You are not experimenting when you use this remedy, as it has been in use for many years and has an established reputation. It contains no opium or other narcotic. Obtainable everywhere. INDIAN TRIBES OF SOMERSET

Lands Recorded As Given To Them In The Year 1713

In searching the early records of Somerset county Mr. Levin H. Hall found but few deeds or patents either given or taken by the Indians. He says:

It does not appear that the Indians who resided in Somerset county in the early days of the county's history placed much value upon recorded land titles. We have very few recorded deeds and patents, either given or taken, by the Indians. On July 2nd, 1713, there was granted to Weocomonus (an Indian Queen) Robin The Interpreter, Young Robin, Washposson, Tanguanton, Synifoston and Ringtanton, by the State of Maryland 1,000 acres of land known as "Askquoxonie." This land was located on the seaboard side, as it was called in those days, in what is now Worcester county. These Indians had what we might call a white man's title to this land for several years. We have no record of any sale of this land, nor any part of it, until November 15th, 1738, when William Burton had conveyed to him 200 acres, a part of a tract of land called "Askquoxonie." This deed was acknowledged and signed by some of the same Indians to whom it had been granted about 23 years before. All the Indians to whom "Askquoxonie" was granted did not join in the sale of this land. The deed was acknowledged and signed by Weocomonus (Queen), Tanguanton, Kunconum (Queen's son), Robin The Interpreter, (Queen's son). Though the deed does not state it, yet it is very likely that Tanguanton was the Indian Queen's husband. It does state that Kunconum and Robin The Interpreter were the Queen's sons.

There is another tract in ancient Somerset county to which the Indians held a white man's title. That tract is on Broad Creek, Wicomico county, near the present town of Nanticoke. The Nanticoke Indians, a once powerful tribe, were conquered about 1655 by the Susquehanna Indians, or Confederation of Indians, known as the Five Nations, and their numbers had been greatly lessened. They gave our ancestors but little trouble. They hunted, fished and worked with our ancestors and obeyed our laws. As a reward for their amiableness our Legislature, or House of Burgesses, in 1705, gave them 3,000 acres of land on Broad Creek to be a dwelling place and home for the Nanticoke Indians. They accepted this gift and kept it in their possession until 1755, when, their number having gradually diminished, they sold it to the white people and ceased forever to be a tribe, the remaining few being adopted by other tribes.

There was another tribe of Indians in Somerset county, known as the Mancoakin Indians, who lived along the Manokin river in the vicinities of what is now Princess Anne and Revell's Neck (the Indian name for Revell's Neck was "Arrow"). These Indians were generally quiet and did not give the early settlers of our county much trouble.

Amongst the first cases tried by the Court of Somerset county were two Indian cases. One was against a Mancoakin Indian charged with stealing a hog from a white man; the other one against two white men and a negro, tried for stealing a cow from the King of the Mancoakin Indians. The defendants pleaded guilty to the charge and were reprimanded by the Court and were made to pay to the Mancoakin Indian King double the amount of the value of the cow. This sentence and reprimand seemed to put a stop to stealing from the Indians and the Indians stealing from the settlers.

Along the bank of the Wicomico river lived a tribe called Wirrocomoco Indians. There were also many Indians along the Annemessex river in lower Somerset county, and in what is now Worcester county; but the fiercest Indians the early settlers in Somerset county had to contend with was a little tribe, or subordinate tribe, who lived at various places along the Pocomoke river. They were a statue warlike, and spoke the Powhatan language, which goes to prove that they came from the Western Shore of Virginia and were at one time connected with the Powhatan tribe of that state.

There are to-day many shell hills and other works of the Indians in Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico counties which remind us of a race of savages who once roamed our forests in search of game, fished our rivers and creeks, and had their wigwags where we have our farms.

There used to be, and are now, many Indian arrow-heads to be found. I once had a collection of them, and as I was one day talking with a geologist he told me he would like to see them, so I took his address and sent them to him. A short time afterward I got a letter from him stating that he had classified the stone from which these arrow-heads were made, and that most of them were made from a flint rock found in the western part of Pennsylvania. Most of these arrow-heads I collected while surveying in Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico counties. If this man of science was not mistaken these Indians must have brought these arrow-heads at least two hundred miles on foot to use here while warring and hunting in Somerset county.

When the Indians left Somerset county, about 1755, and were adopted by other tribes, many of the old ones remained and married into either white or colored families which can to this day trace back their ancestry, either on the paternal or maternal side, to the Aborigines of America.

WOODROW WILSON

President of the United States

"HE HAS KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

This is the face of a man strong, courageous, patient and kindly, a man

Always alert to the aspiration his fellow-man and sympathetic toward their fulfillment;

Never complacent toward the encroachments of privilege nor tolerant of social wrong;

Always seeking to enhance the dignity of labor and better the state of the toiler;

Never lending an ear to the sophistry of exploitation or the blandishments of expediency;

Always patient to hear and weigh, to appraise and analyze, and passionate to find the way of right;

Such is WOODROW WILSON.

THE NEW TRUST

It is all over but the voting—and then, Wilson for Four Years More! Four years more of peace and prosperity while the wheels of the nation drive on toward our destined goal—World Leadership!

That is to be our destiny. Nothing can stop it but a return to the reactionary party which for forty years saved its bosses' bacon while the people, the great American people, struggled onward toward individual and collective freedom.

Yes, the nation came into its own not because but in spite of the Republican Party. It was the American people who cleared the forests, drained the swamps, blazed the trails, opened the mines, dug the coal and the gold, made the prairies into wheat and corn fields, and fenced in the great plains for cattle.

The American people, sprung from the loins of men who dared and women who toiled, have laid the foundation of the greatest Republic known to history, and raised thereon the fairest flower of civilization in all the world.

All this has been done despite the handicap of Political Bosses and the voracious toll of predatory interests.

While the Pioneer grew into the Settler and the Settler became the Farmer and yellowed the vast plains with the bearded grain and browned them with the sun's corn.

While barfooted children trudged down the shady lane or over the long hill to the little red school house to read of the wisdom of their Benjamin Franklin, the patriotism of their Patrick Henry, the ingenuity of their Robert Fulton, Eli Whitney, and Robert Hoe, the democracy of their Jefferson, of the only Washington who fathered his country, of the immortal Lincoln who saved, and whose spirit will forever unite the nation.

While these little children around the old stove sang "My Country, 'tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty!"

While these same little children at night at their mother's knee learned to bow their heads to their God who had given them birth in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.

While simple men sweated and toiled on and loved their work and their home and their country—

While sweet faced mothers delved in toil and span strong men to do the nation's work:

Greed crept forth clad in frock coats and a well distended skin and an oily tongue, and slowly, surely, insidiously gathered up the fruits of the sweat and the harvest of the fields, orchards and mines, and by special privilege, by fraud, by bribe, by graft, by trickery, by knavery, by treachery, yes, and by treason caused themselves to become the richest clique known in the world's history.

The core of this clique is the permanent inner ring, the invisible Government of the Republican Party.

This clique, disagreeing on a candidate four years ago, fell out, and the American People came back into their own under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, who has held inviolably sacred that trust thus put into his hands by Fate. And by the grace of God the American People propose to go on with that tried, true, great man who trusts them because he knows they trust him.

Woodrow Wilson is a new Trust in American life—greater than all others—greater because he stands for no Trust, is backed by no Trust, and is the candidate of no Trust but is the trust of the whole American people, who love him because he has kept them out of war, honor him for his courageous Christian humanity, and thank him for his broad statesmanship and his fearless, intelligent leadership.

By his deeds and by his acts as well as by the enemies he has made, his place in the roll of American honor is secure—Washington, Lincoln, Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson deserves the vote of every man and every woman in every state in the Union.

PRESIDENT PLEDGES GREATER PROGRESS

Laws Must Fit New Life, He Tells the American People.

HIS RECORD OF DEEDS DONE.

American Rights Upheld With Honor, Farmers' Greedy Benefited, Business Unhindered, Labor Protected, Children Set Free—Votes of Women Needed—World Peace Desired.

Shadow Lawn, N. J., Oct. 28.—To the American people Woodrow Wilson today gave an accounting of his administration as their President. He "balanced his books" so that the record stands clear. Promises fulfilled, great deeds done—That, in short, tells the story. And yet the story is not finished. Other chapters in the great Book of Human Progress remain to be written. It rests with you, American Voters, to say whether the man who began the book shall finish it.

Here, in the President's own words is a plain statement of what he, as leader not only of the Democratic party but of the nation, has accomplished in your behalf and of what he plans for your future—a statement made not alone to the thousands who journeyed here but to you and the hundreds of thousands throughout the country who also celebrated "Wilson Day."

The President's Speech.

"My fellow-citizens: This is called 'Wilson Day' only because for six years, first as Governor of New Jersey and then as President of the United States, I have been permitted to lead first a great state and then a great national party along the ways of progress and of enlarged and regenerated life which our people had so long sought and so long been held back from by the organized power of selfish interest, and because the great honor has fallen to me of being chosen once more spokesman and representative of the men who mean to hold the country to these ways of peace, humanity and progress. It is of these forces that I shall speak and not of myself, who am merely their servant.

"What are these forces? Whence do they spring? What have they accomplished, and what is their programme and purpose for the future? It is plain of humane, righteous, and patriotic purpose which has sprung up in our day in the minds of those who perceive the shortcomings of the law as it has hardened in America and who look forward with purpose and conviction to a new age in which government shall be indeed the servant of liberty and not of privilege.

"These are men who perceive that American law has not kept pace with American sentiment; that our law has been holding us rigid and immovable until class has begun to free America to be arrayed against class; until what was legal has begun to play a more important part in our thoughts and determinations than what is human and right; and until America has begun to lag instead of lead in reconciling what is with what ought to be.

"A new age has dawned upon us while those who were attempting to lead us were stumbling along with their heads over their shoulders, intent upon preserving the conditions of a day that is gone. America has changed and the whole world has changed. Our commerce and industry have grown to such a bulk that the domestic markets of which our former leaders were so proud are now glutted and we are bound, unless we were to burst our jacket, to find a free outlet into the markets of the world. The time has come when our commerce needed freedom and would be throttled by further restrictions.

"We had acquired foreign possessions, had been drawn into the politics of the world and had begun to play a part which could not be played by policies but must be played by citizens of the great world of nations. And yet we had not altered our policy or our point of view. The great European war has served at least to show us this one thing, that the world itself had changed; that it had become at once too big a world and too little a world to submit its destinies to the hostile rivalries and ambitions now, this and apart of that member of the great family of men; too complex, too intimate in its contacts, too universal in its ways of intercourse, to make it any longer possible to limit the effects of any nation's action to a single separate sphere where the rest would be untouched.

"An inevitable partnership of interests has been thrust upon the nations. They are neighbors and must deal with one another or else disturb the lives and empires of the world everywhere. No wonder that in such an age men in America should be cried awake and feel once more, as they felt them in the days when their great republic was set up, the compulsions of humanity and of justice.

Squaring Laws With Life.

"These are the freshening winds blowing out of the life of mankind everywhere, that have brought on a new day in American politics.

"We have looked once more very critically at our own laws and our own practices and have set about to square them with the actual conditions of our life and the life of the world.

"Four years ago there were two parties in the field whose programme was conceived under the influence of these great forces of progress and adjustment, the Democratic party and the Progressive party. This year there is but one, the Democratic party. In the presidential election of four years ago some fifteen million votes were cast.

"Of these, nearly ten and a half millions were cast for the candidates of the two progress parties, only three and a half millions for the candidate of the Republican party, the party which lingered in the old ways and felt none of the new impulse of a new day. More than two-thirds of the voters of the United States favored then, and favor now, a programme whose object is to serve the changing needs of humanity and progress.

"The Democratic party was entrusted with the task. These powerful forces of the new age were put under its direction. And under that direction what have they accomplished?

"They have put both the business and the life of the country upon a new footing.

Financial Credit Released.

"They have released the financial credit, upon which commerce and production alike depend, from the control of small groups of financiers and bankers at the speculative centers.

"They have released the commerce and industry of the country from the domination of those who were building up their power by selfish and unfair methods of competition.

"They have supplied those who wished to conduct their business in conformity with the spirit of the laws with friendly guidance and delivered them from a nervous fear of the courts.

"They have released our foreign trade from the shackles of a tariff contrived in the interest of special groups of favored producers, and have created a Tariff Commission intended to substitute public for private influences in the future legislation with regard to duties and restrictions on imports.

"They have made provision for the immediate and systematic development of our carrying trade on the seas.

"They have at last supplied the means by which the nation may be bound together, materially and spiritually, by a network of good roads upon which both commodities and sympathies may move freely from community to community.

"They have put the farmer upon a footing of perfect equality with business men and men of all other callings in respect to his access to commercial credit; have placed a great bureau of the Government at his service in seeking and finding his best markets; have protected him by the establishment of definite standards in the sale of his products, and have put the scientific knowledge of the world at his disposal.

"The Government upon the farms themselves.

"Have Emancipated Labor. They have emancipated the laborers of the country from the unjust restraints which the courts had put upon them by mistaken applications of old law to new circumstances and conditions.

"They have released the children of the country in large part from hurtful labor, have sought to safeguard the lives and the health of our laborers in dangerous occupations; and have put agencies of the Government itself at the service of those who seek employment. And most of these things have been done within the brief limits of a single administration.

"And still the great work is not finished. It can never be rounded off and concluded so long as circumstances change and the fortunes and relations of men shift and alter. The question you have to decide one week from next Tuesday is whether it shall be prematurely interrupted, perhaps for a generation to come, and all the generous forces of the age and of the world thrown back upon themselves in discouragement and confusion.

"The programme remaining is as great as the programme accomplished. The procedure of our courts is antiquated and a hindrance, not an aid, in the just administration of the law. We must simplify and reform it as other enlightened nations have done, and make courts of justice out of our courts of law.

law. We must seek and find the means of bringing capital and labor to a clear understanding of their common interests, which are no other than the interests of the nation itself as a community. We must release our great undeveloped natural resources upon some sensible plan of use and conservation.

Need Votes of Women.

"We must recruit the votes of forward-looking men by the votes of women so that we may have a fresh insight in all matters of social reform and move more certainly and more promptly in the solution of the many new problems of society with which the law must henceforth deal. We must unite the American North and South in a new sympathy and cooperation.

"We must seek justice for the rich through every channel that offers; and we must put America in all its life, in all its wealth, alike of physical power and spiritual enthusiasm, at the service of the other nations of the world when peace comes on the other side of the seas, to make that peace permanent by establishing it on the everlasting foundations of right, cooperation, equality and justice. These things we must do and all else that may serve mankind.

"And our motto must be CO-OPERATION, the union, not the hostile rivalry, of the forces of society within the nation and within the family of nations. The interests of mankind can never again be served by aggression; the interest of no nation or group of nations can ever again be served by aggression. The contests of jealousy are as bitter and as dangerous as the contests of arms.

"The world must henceforth seek the means of accommodation, not the means of attacking quarrels merely. The nation we love and serve must be among the first and foremost of those that rise to the new ideals with spirit and well-directed force. Our own reforms, our own actions in the interest of justice and humanity must be the earnest of our spirit and purpose in the affairs of the world outside our own borders.

"Such is the prospect, such is the programme my fellow-citizens, to which we look forward, to which it is our purpose to move forward with enthusiasm and irresistible ardor. We will not pause in the midst of our task. We know that we stand at one of the most critical junctures in the history of the world, when all hopes hang in the balance.

"We will suffer no man, no body of men, through timidity or fear or jealousy, to delay or hinder or embarrass us. Reaction can have no place of tolerance amongst us when all the world progresses.

"I summon you, not only to sustain but to swell the hosts that have their faces now set towards the light, their eyes lifted to the horizons where the dawn of a new age begins to brighten and I summon you with confidence with a certain expectation of the part America and her great people are to play when the dawn broadens into day.

"The Republicans don't like the prevailing prosperity. It's Democratic and therefore taboo. Give them a chance and they'll put it out of business.

"The 'issues' have petered out—excepting the main one, the issue of 'anything to beat Wilson.'

VOTERS, THINK IT OVER

Theodore Roosevelt is the guiding spirit of the Republican campaign. He is the substance—Hughes is the shadow.

You know what Roosevelt stands for—agitation, jingoism. He has declared openly his regret that this country did not get into the European War.

Do you want Roosevelt and Hughes and War?

Or do you want more Peace and Prosperity under Wilson?

FARMER REAPS GAIN BY EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Prevented Tying Up of His Products Valued at $6,000,000,000.

PRESIDENT IS BEST FRIEND.

By FRANK G. ODELL, Editor Nebraska Farm Magazine.

The New York Sun quotes James Wilson, of Iowa, former Secretary of Agriculture, as saying that the farmers were hit hardest by the Adamson eight-hour law, which stopped the threatened general railroad strike. According to The Sun, Mr. Wilson said: "The farmer has no eight-hour day. Should that number of hours become general in all occupations, including the farm, the prices of food would rise still higher than those current."

The logic of the venerable ex-Secretary is bad. The farmer is not worrying about the high price of food. He raises his own food. He grows food for sale. That's his business. If, as the ex-Secretary says, the eight-hour day will increase the cost of food, the farmer has everything to gain.

And "Uncle Jim" has overlooked the fact that the farmers of the United States had not less than $6,000,000,000 worth of products practically ready to send to market when the strike crisis was imminent at the first of September. The threatened strike would have paralyzed the farmer's market and stopped the wage of the worker in every industry.

Inc calculable losses, running into hundreds of millions, were averted when the strike was prevented. Woodrow Wilson did it.

"Tama Jim" was Secretary of Agriculture through four Republican administrations—sixteen years. These were sixteen years of monopolistic control of the farmers' market. During this period, these great combinations which have stood between the producer and the consumer, reached the zenith of their power. Greed and extortion ran riot. The high cost of living became a cry of universal complaint for which the farmer was made the goat.

During this period the farmers of the country complained continually of capitalist extortion. They held on and live stock held to vote their protest. They sent deputations of able men to Washington. They sent their appeals for justice to the Secretary of Agriculture and waited at the door of the White House during the admissions of McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. They asked for bread and received stones of indifference. They demanded justice and received platitudes about "prosperity," "contentment" and "making two blades of grass grow where one grew before."

Then came another Wilson—Woodrow Wilson. Things began to change. David P. Houston was made Secretary of Agriculture. For the first time in the history of the Government the business problems of the farmer received the attention of his Government. The Office of Markets and the Bureau of Rural Organization were created to help him break the stranglehold of entrenched monopoly. The epoch-making Rural Credits Law was passed by Woodrow Wilson, a farmer's organic compromise. The power of the nation and extortioner was broken when that act was signed.

The farmer has a good memory. He does not forget his life-long battle with entrenched privilege—organized and grown purposed during forty years of Republican indifference and misrule. He will not forget that it was WOODROW WILSON, the People's President, who saved his market from ruin on Sept. 2, 1915. The special plaudits of Republican defenders of special privilege and monopoly will find the farmers ready on Nov. 7.

SACRED TOOTH OF BUDDHA.

The Palace in Ceylon in Which This Relic is Preserved.

At all times of the year in Kandy, Ceylon, may be seen followers of Buddha making their way to the great Hahigama temple, the "Palace of the Sacred Tooth." In order to lay offerings and flowers at the shrine of the founder of their religion.

Entering the temple, they pass into a small room, some twelve feet square, in which is kept the famous tooth of Buddha. The chamber is lighted by two lamps which have not been allowed to go out for years. The walls are splendidly decorated, and the vessel—called the Karundia—containing the tooth stands on a massive silver table amidst a gorgeous array of jewels and other valuable gifts.

The Karundia is draped with muslin, beneath which is a silver dome studded with gems, and under this is a dome of gold, beautifully carved and literally incrustated with precious stones. Two similar coverings lie below them, and beneath these is a small case of gold, in which on leaves of a gold lotus reposes the tooth itself. This relic, carefully guarded, is seldom seen by others than priests.

So much in reverence is the tooth held that to lay an offering to Buddha on the table bearing it is an ambition which every Buddhist would not fail to gratify if circumstances permitted.—Pearson's Weekly.

WORK IS HEALTH.

Idleness is Often the Cause of Human Disease and Decay.

Work is not the curse nor the affliction that some people think it is. When taken in proper doses it is the best of medicines. It is now being prescribed for many forms of invalidism, such as heart disease, Bright's disease, nervousness and particularly for insanity.

The lack of work is often the cause of many chronic maladies, and it is a wise physician who can determine when one needs work instead of rest, and in prescribing the remedy produce no unpleasant situations.

About the most unhealthful person, as well as the most unhappy and useless, is the person with nothing to do.

Work is a dispeller of fears. It is the exercise that is as essential to the body, and mind as are food and air. It is only when work is carried to excess that it becomes injurious, as in the case with food, rest and all good things.

The ideal of a healthy, happy life is no longer a world where work is not.

song or music. Life is activity, in the broad sense it is work—work that produces and entails sacrifice. It is not less work that we need, but work in the right proportions, and under the right conditions. Such work is health.—North Carolina Health Bulletin.

The Oasis of Jupiter.

The oasis of Siva is better known as the oasis of Jupiter Ammon, one of the most famous oracles of antiquity. The visit of Alexander the Great to this temple was among the most romantic incidents of his career. He came to ask whether he was only the son of the mortal Philip or the son of the great god himself. Apparently Alexander received full assurance from the oracle of his divine origin, with the promise of unbroken victory until he should be taken away to join the gods. And many signs showed his supernatural status. Rain fell in the desert just when his soldiers' thirst required it, and when his guides lost their way two speaking serpents or ravens appeared to direct them.—London Chronicle.

Took It as a Joke.

There is a story of Mr. Disraeli at the time of his extremely bumptious youth when he had just returned from his travels in the east. As a young man, much under thirty, he met Lord Melbourne, who was then prime minister, at dinner. Lord Melbourne proceeded to discourse on the eastern question, but instead of listening to the prime minister with the respect which he ought young Disraeli said, "It seems to me that your lordship has taken your knowledge of the east from 'The Arabian Nights'."

Some prime ministers would have snubbed the young man severely. Lord Melbourne was not of that kind. He rubbed his hands with great cheerfulness and said to the young man, "And a devilish good place to take it from!"

Perverted Proverbs.

Strike while the iron is hot.
The more waist the less speed.
A thrown kiss spreads no germs.
One swallow doesn't make a supper.
It's a long loan that has no returning.

It is more blessed to give than to be given away.
A little change in the pocket is worth two changes in the weather.—Boston Transcript.

Her Retort.

Husband (at breakfast)—Oh, for some of the biscuit my mother used to make! Wife (sweetly)—I'm sorry you can't have them, dear. They would be just about stale enough by this time to go quite well with that remark.—Indianapolis Star.

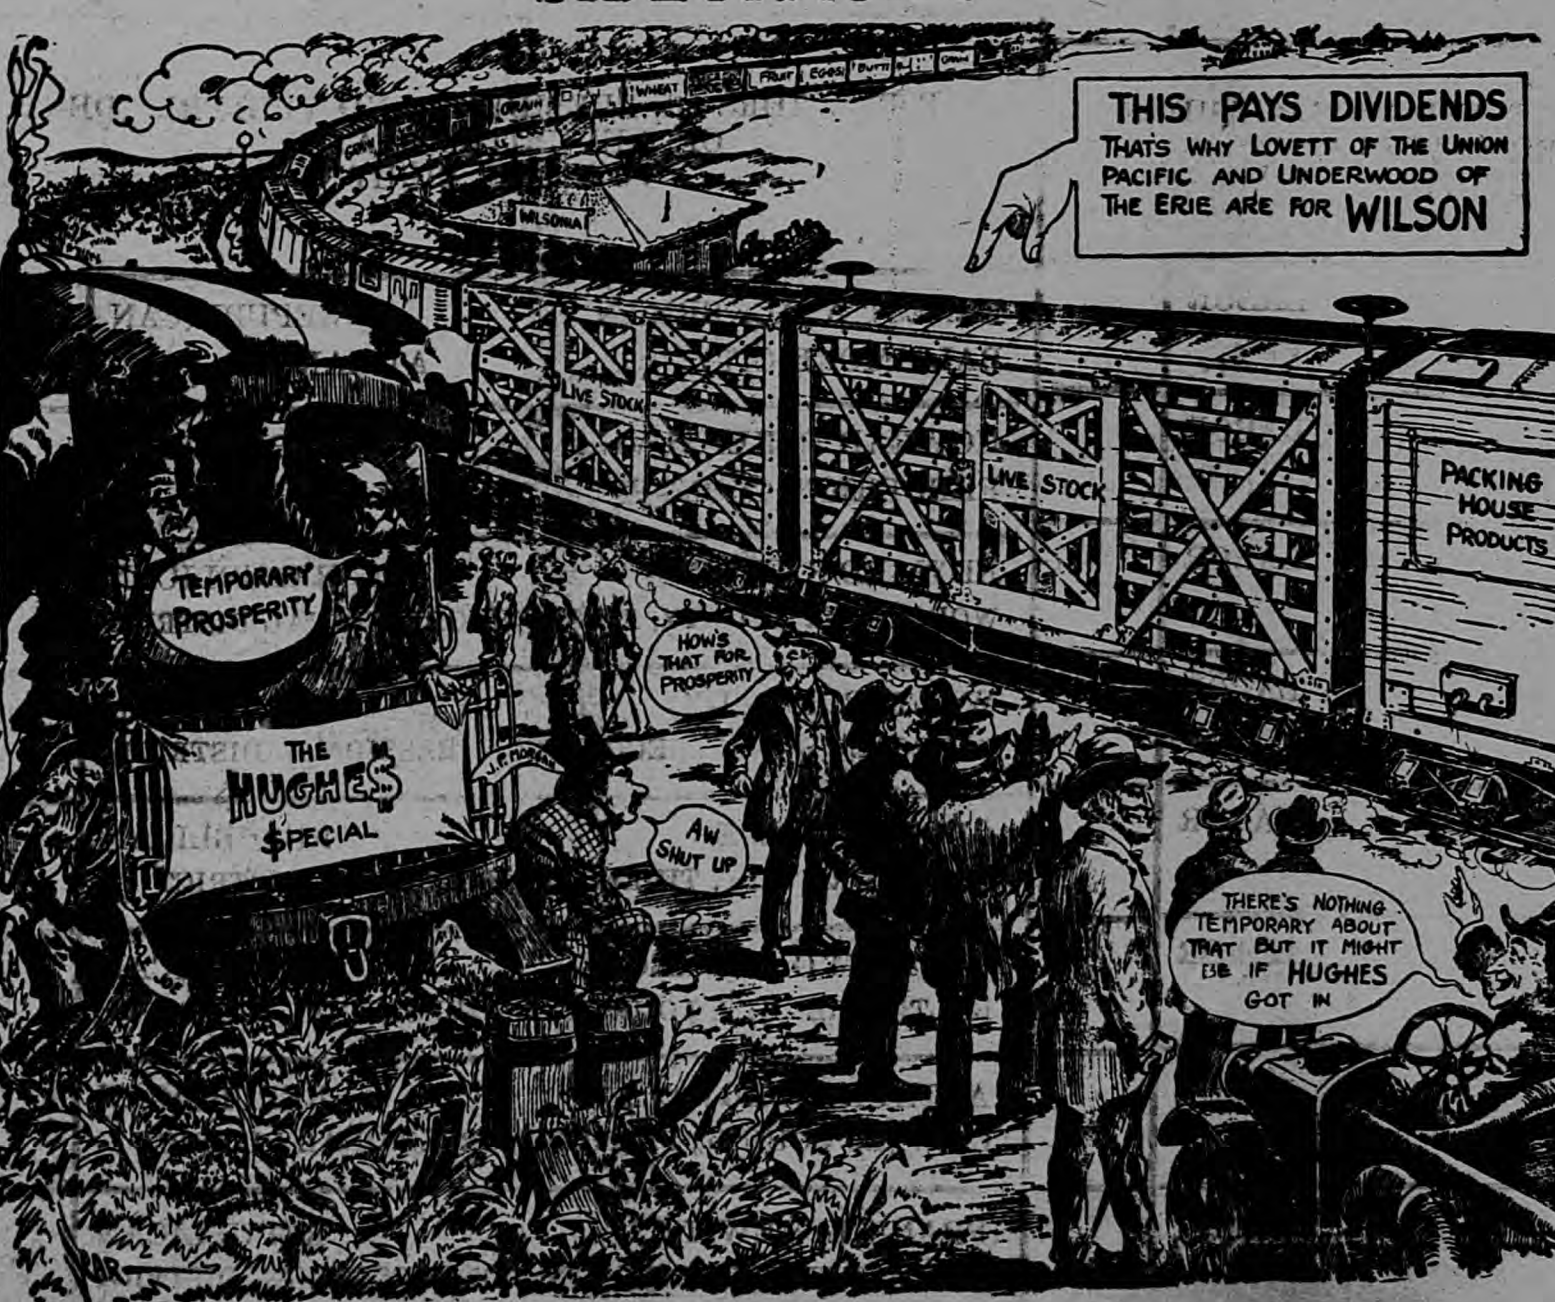

Rubber Trees.

India rubber trees which are tapped every other day continue to yield sap for more than twenty years, and the oldest and most frequently tapped trees produce the richest sap.

Agreed.

He kissed her suddenly.
"Well, I like that," she cried.
"So do I," he answered, and she laid it on.

"This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature soon after it is convened a Budget giving a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law, and for the public schools as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by tax for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates."

FORGETFUL LESCHETIZKY.

The Great Pianist Was One of the Most Absentminded of Men.

That famous pianist and still more famous teacher of music, Theodore Leschetizky, was one of the most absentminded of men.

One day, having experienced a slight symptom he thought he would visit his doctor and provide against a repetition. The day was cloudy, and he started forth umbrella in hand. Before reaching the nearest avenue it began to sprinkle, and he hailed a passing street car. Settled comfortably in a corner, he sank into meditation and was lost to material circumstances until the conductor announced: "End of route. Passengers will please descend." Obediently the musician descended. He had passed the doctor's house long ago; besides, he had forgotten where he was going. A friend who happened to pass a few moments later, found him standing on the curbstone—his umbrella up, although it was no longer raining—glowering intently at the brimming gutter as he tried to remember his errand. Explanations followed, and the friend laughingly advised him to return home.

"Also, you will have my company all the way," he added genially. "That is to say, if you do not mind stopping a moment at Dr. So-and-so's, where I have promised to call for a prescription for my wife."

"Not at all; not at all!" cried Leschetizky, beaming. "My dear fellow, you have told me my destination. I, too, was going to Dr. So-and-so for a prescription."

The friends proceeded to the doctor's and obtained the two prescriptions. They left together, and on the top step—the sun was now shining brilliantly—the musician paused absentmindedly once more to put up his umbrella.

"But, my good friend, you do not need your umbrella," remonstrated his friend. "The rain ceased an hour ago."

At that moment the spring with which Leschetizky had been fumbling yielded, and the umbrella sprang open. His friend broke into a shout of laughter.

"True, the umbrella you have is more suitable to the weather than your own, but I am afraid the doctor's little daughter might not be satisfied with the exchange. I fear we must go back," Leschetizky, for there will be trouble. Leschetizky lowered the supposed umbrella and looked at it. It was a blue parasol of diminutive size, much buffed and gayly strewn with brocade pink roses.

"Yes," he agreed, "We must go back and exchange umbrellas. Besides, I must get my prescription. I put it into my purse, but I do not feel any purse in my pocket. I think I must have left it on the doctor's table."

"Leschetizky," inquired his friend, "are you quite sure you did not leave yourself behind in the car and that I am not walking with your twin?"—Youth's Companion.

More Soap and Less Water.

Because they use too much water and too little soap women do not get the same dazzling whiteness in their washed clothes as do the United States corps told a party of society women visiting a battleship.

"The eye-painful brilliancy of our white clothes is due to the fact that we wash with our heads as well as our hands, and we let soap do its proper share of the work."

"Just enough water to thoroughly wet the wash is sufficient," the sergeant continued, "and the less water and more soap one uses the whiter the washing will turn out."

The visitors seemed greatly impressed with the lesson given them in an art that is dear to every woman's heart.—Philadelphia Record.

Making Hominy a Lost Art.

That the making of hominy is a lost art is the conclusion come to by the editor of the Guide to Nature and quoted by the Literary Digest. He has spent several years and many postage stamps in a vain effort to discover somewhere in the United States a mill that can grind corn into the hominy that was known by our grandparents. Some think they have it, but it always turns out to be nothing but hulled corn or the so-called hominy grits, neither of which would have made the classic "bowl of samp and milk" sung by Whitier.

She Was Right.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blondey is to you, Jonesey," said Wetherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?"

"No, indeed. Why, that woman hates me," said Jonesey.

"She doesn't show it," said Wetherell.

"No, but she knows it. I know how old she is. We were both born on the same day," said Jonesey, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."

Feminine Perceptions.

"What shall I do at the meeting when I want to make a speech and some others try to head me off?"

"Why, get the chairman to recognize you."

"Oh, that is easy enough. I was introduced to her last week at Mrs. Pinkie's tea."—Baltimore American.

Silent Barbers.

Barbers in the early days of the Christian era were not permitted to talk while shaving a patron. Indeed, silence was so much appreciated by persons while under the barber's hands that mutes were preferred for this service.

"Like quills upon the fretful porcupine" does not always apply. Cuba has a quill-less porcupine.

Learning From Tumbles.

It does not matter how many tumbles you have in this life, so long as you do not get dirty when you tumble. There is the greatest practical benefit in making a few failures in life. You learn that which is of inestimable importance—that there are a great many people in the world who are just as clever as you are . . . and you very soon find out if you have not found it out before, that patience and tenacity of purpose are worth more than twice their weight in cleverness.—Huxley.
