Hog Cholera Meetings Well Attended

The hog cholera meetings held last week at Dames Quarter, Chance and Deal's Island were attended by about two hundred and fifty residents of the communities, who showed much interest in the discussion of cholera by Dr. E. J. McLaughlin, a Government veterinarian. Lantern slides were shown to illustrate how cholera may be controlled. During the discussion it was brought out that if quarantine, sanitary and inoculation measures were carefully followed that it would be of much importance in reducing the loss from cholera.

Hog growers' associations were formed last week by County Agent C. Z. Keller for the promotion of the hog industry and combating hog cholera.

The following officers were elected for Dames Quarter Association: President, Daniel D. Bozman; vice-president, Ernest P. Kelley; secretary, Clifton A. White.

The officers for Chance Association are: President, Dr. E. P. Simpson; vice-president, Oscar Donalds; secretary, Woodland B. Disharoon.

A vaccination demonstration was held in each community for the purpose of instructing residents of the community in the proper method of inoculating. The following vaccinators will inoculate the hogs in their communities: Dames Quarter, Clifton A. White; Chance, Clarence Willing and Dr. E. P. Simpson; Deal's Island, Thomas Rider.

The following hog cholera meetings are scheduled for this week: Tuesday, at Venton Hall; Wednesday, at Mount Vernon, Grace Guild Hall, and Thursday, at Oriole schoolhouse. All these meetings will be held at 8 p. m. All hog growers in these communities should attend the meetings.

Shot At From Ambush

Monday night of last week, as Mr. Harry Fitzgerald, accompanied by his mother and Miss Dashiell, of Frederick county, entered the private road leading to the residence of Mr. George Dashiell, near Venton, this county, they were met by a fusillade of bullets fired from ambush on both sides of the road.

Mr. Fitzgerald raced his car until the house was reached and by a miracle none of the occupants were injured although a number of bullets struck and passed through the car, one entering the back curtain and smashing the windshield and one passing through the lapel of Mr. Fitzgerald's coat. It is not yet known who the persons were who made the attack or their object in doing it, but no effort should be spared to locate the guilty parties of such an act of lawlessness.

September Weather

The weather report for the month of September, as compiled by Mr. James R. Stewart, co-operative observer of Princess Anne, is as follows:

Maximum temperature, 88 degrees on the 7th and 9th; minimum temperature, 44 degrees on the 28th; total precipitation, 1.70 inches. Clear days, 14; partly cloudy, 12; cloudy, 4; light frost on the 28th; thunder storms on the 1st, 11th and 12th; fog on the 12th. The prevailing wind was south-west.

In spite of the prohibition laws, many a temperance woman still continues to wear her cork-screw curls.

KING ALBERT LANDS IN NEW YORK

Queen Elizabeth And King Albert Are Guests Of The Nation

The King and Queen of the Belgians, with Prince Leopold, heir apparent to the throne, were the guests of the United States in New York last Thursday. They have come, as his Majesty expressed it, to voice their gratitude and that of their people for the generous aid given them by this country in years of direct need, when their nation was threatened with extermination.

Upon his arrival King Albert of Belgium issued the following message to the American people:

"At the moment of setting foot on American soil, the King of the Belgians desires to express to the people of the United States the great pleasure with which the Queen and himself are coming to its shores at the invitation of President Wilson.

"The King brings to this nation of friends the testimony of profound sentiment and gratitude of his countrymen for the powerful aid—moral and material—which America gave them in the course of the war. The name of the commission for the relief of Belgium will live eternally in the memory of the Belgians.

"The King rejoices at the prospect of visiting the cities whose hearts fought with the cities of Belgium, and whose continual sacrifices knew no measure. He happily will be able to meet the eminent citizens who, animated by the highest thoughts, placed themselves at the head of organizations for relieving the sufferings of the war.

"The American people, their splendid army and their courageous navy, powerfully served a great ideal."

The Belgian royalty were given the official freedom of the United States by Vice-President Marshall when they stepped ashore from the transport Geo. Washington, on the Government pier at Hoboken, at noon last Thursday.

"I welcome you to this republic as king, of the bravest people since time began," Mr. Marshall said, "but more as a man whose conduct will be a mighty force in steadying the world to law and order, to friendship, faith and freedom."

Christian Endeavor Convention

One of the largest conventions ever held in Salisbury will be that of The Maryland Christian Endeavor Union which will meet there October 14th, 15th and 16th. About three hundred delegates are expected. A special steamer has been chartered to bring the delegates from Baltimore and Western Maryland. All the sessions of the convention will be held in the Armory. A large choir under the direction of Dr. Gardner Spring will furnish special music at the evening meetings and several soloists from Baltimore are expected to assist. Many of the ablest platform speakers of today will address the convention. One afternoon all the visitors will be given an automobile trip to Ocean City.

Of Interest In The Autumn Time

The harvest days and the harvest moon and Indian summer are some of the distinctive features of the fall season and its feasts and festivities include the merry mysteries of Halloween and the homecoming festival of Thanksgiving Day. Just a "nice normal fall" is the prediction of those in authority for the coming months. There was no indication of storms or any particularly violent doings on the part of nature. The leaves are already beginning to turn slightly and nuts and acorns are dropping. Those who read the "signs" declare that this fall will be rich in booty for the hunter.

State School Fund

An apportionment of $400,000 of state funds for the public schools of Baltimore city and the counties of the state, was announced last Friday by State Comptroller Hugh A. McMullen, it being the fourth and last quarterly distribution for the fiscal year 1919. The distribution includes the usual school tax, amounting to $350,000; $37,500 for books and $12,500 for general supplies. The apportionment for Somerset county is: For schools, $7,110.10; books, $801.93; supplies, $287.31.

Makemie Monument Celebration

The Presbyterians of Del-marvia Peninsula will hold their annual meeting at Makemie Monument in the upper part of Accomac county, Va., on Thursday, October 23rd, 1919. The principal address will be delivered at 3 p. m. by Hon. Levin Irving Handy, of Delaware, the well-known orator.

Basket luncheons can be enjoyed in the pavilion. A large attendance is expected. The public generally is cordially invited to attend.

It must cause a pang to lots of suffragettes to admit that they are old enough to vote.

WILSON INDORSES JR. RED CROSS

President Urges Children To Renew Memberships—His Message

President Wilson has addressed an appeal to the school children of the United States to renew their memberships in the Junior Red Cross that the larger and more systematic work planned for peace times may be shared by them and their minds and habits trained for the assumption of future responsibilities.

The President's message is as follows: Two years ago, as President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I addressed to you a letter in which I advised you to enroll in the newly organized Junior Red Cross, and I explained to you some of the ways in which the Junior Red Cross would help you to be useful to your country and to the children of those countries which were associated with us in a great war against a powerful enemy. Millions of you did join the Junior Red Cross and worked hard and what you did is warmly appreciated by the whole country.

Now, by the blessings of God and through the faithful performance of duty by our soldiers and sailors and the soldiers and sailors of the countries by whose side we fought, a great victory has been won and the war is over, but I am sure that you wish to continue to be useful to your country and to children less fortunate than yourselves. Therefore, I am writing to you at the opening of the new school year to advise you again to join the Junior Red Cross, which has planned a work for peace times even larger and more systematic than the work done during the war.

The Junior Red Cross will instruct you in ideals and habits of service, will show you how to be useful to your school, how to aid the older people in your community in their efforts to promote the health and comfort of the people among whom you live, and how to help children who are still suffering from the effects of the great war in foreign lands invaded by the enemy.

The recent war was the greatest of all wars, not only because more men and nations were engaged in it than in any other war of history, but also because as a result of it, people have seen a vision of a different kind of world from the world of the past, a world in which nations shall unite only for war against an armed foe. In working for the children of other nations you will come to understand them better and they will understand and appreciate you more.

Y. M. C. A. Organizing

The Eastern Shore District Y. M. C. A. Committee is proceeding with organization in Dorchester and Talbot counties. A group of Talbot men meeting at Easton recently endorsed immediate plans for organization in their county, which they expect will be completed by November 15th. Twenty-four leading men of Dorchester county met in the Red Cross room of the Armory in Cambridge Thursday night, September 25th, and unanimously endorsed the plan for organization also, setting the same date practically for completion of the organization. The district secretary, E. T. Judd, under the direction of the interstate and district committees, will meet groups of interested men in all the local communities in the two counties named to explain the organization and program of work, and plan for definite organization locally and county-wide.

To Bring Back Bodies

Bodies of all American soldiers interred in Germany, Belgium, Italy, Great Britain, Luxembourg and Northern Russia will be returned to the United States as soon as necessary transportation can be arranged. Secretary Baker announced he had issued instructions for the purchase, storage and traffic divisions of the General Staff to take charge of the matter and to hasten it as much as possible.

County Gets Another Truck

Last week Roads Superintendent W. Page Jackson received another two-ton truck. The new truck is a Nash-quad, and its heavy steel body has a carrying capacity of 100 bushels. This truck was given to the State Roads Commission by the United States Government. Somerset county now has two of these trucks which will be used by the Roads Superintendent in hauling shells and repairing the roads.

Rev. Coons Resigns

Rev. A. J. Coons, pastor of Rehoboth church, tendered his resignation on Sunday, the 28th ult., to take effect immediately. Mr. Coons has accepted a call to a church in Virginia, and will assume his new pastorate at once. His pastorate at Rehoboth has been highly successful and the congregation and friends of that church regret to see him leave.

MARYLAND ILLITERACY LOW

Figures Show That 8,500,000 In U. S. Cannot Read English

Educators in Maryland are watching the progress of the Smith-Bankhead bill, or the Americanization bill, as it is popularly known, which provides a large Governmental appropriation for the education of illiterates and non-English-speaking persons. In order to secure the benefits of the bill each state must make an appropriation equal to the amount it receives from the Federal Government, and no state may participate in the benefits of the act until it shall have required the instruction for at least 200 hours a year of illiterate and non-English-speaking minors of 16 years and over.

For the present fiscal year, ending June 30th next, $5,000,000 is provided, and annually thereafter, until 1926, here is provided $12,500,000. For the purpose of co-operating with the states and preparing teachers, supervisors and directors, there is immediately appropriated for the use of the states $250,000 for the present fiscal year and $750,000 annually thereafter. Each state will receive money under the provisions of the bill in proportion to the number of its illiterates and of persons unable to read, write and speak English.

According to the figures submitted at a hearing before the Senate Committee on Commerce and Labor a few days ago, there are at least 8,500,000 persons in the United States who cannot read or write English. And of these 5,000,000 are native born. And of those who do not speak English, at least half of them do not read or write any language. This is considered by the advocates of the bill as a menace to the country and its institutions. And, moreover, it is believed that these estimates are entirely too low, and that they might be doubled and still be reasonable. This was indicated by the tremendous percentage of illiteracy in the army. Of the draftees examined by the War Department, 25 per cent., or one fourth, could not understand newspapers or write letters home.

In a chart submitted at the hearing showing the distribution of the 8,500,000 illiterates and non-English speaking aliens, the peaks are New York and Pennsylvania, the former with more than 1,000,000 and the latter with more than 800,000. Maryland makes a good showing in comparison with other states of about the same size. Massachusetts, for instance, Maryland is credited with 97,097, while Massachusetts, where education might be said to be the primary passion, has 314,315 illiterates and non-English speaking aliens. Connecticut has 117,902. The Southern States, as a whole, lead in illiteracy in proportion to their populations, while the North leads in non-English speaking. The percentage of illiteracy in the Western States is comparatively low, the State of Utah having only 17,782, Kansas only 57,569, Oregon only 27,445, Washington only 51,580 and Nebraska only 48,487.

Wilson On Way To Recovery

The favorable trend of President Wilson's condition continued Sunday and there were indications that those attending him thought he might be definitely on the road to recovery.

After the best night's sleep he has had since he was taken ill 10 days ago, the President was in such good spirits that Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, his personal physician, had difficulty in persuading him to remain in bed. The physician insisted on this point, however, and indicated he had no intention of permitting the patient to get on his feet until the change in his condition was more decisive. It is said he needs rest and relaxation above all things.

Although the day's bulletin did not record any marked improvement, it contained details of the President's general condition which Dr. Grayson seemed to regard as hopeful signs. It was issued at 11 o'clock this morning and said:

"The President had a very good night and if there is any change in his condition it is favorable. His appetite is improving and he is sleeping better."

Poleyette-Muir Wedding

Miss Sarah Muir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Muir and Mr. Harold F. Poleyette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Poleyette, of Crisfield, were quietly married by Rev. W. F. Knight of the Catholic Church, in Salisbury, on Tuesday last. They were attended by the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Sterling, of Crisfield. Mr. Poleyette is a well-known young business man. He is a member of the clothing firm of Ralph & Poleyette, and is also U. S. Deputy Collector of Customs in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Poleyette left, after the wedding ceremony, for an automobile trip through the North and upon their return to Crisfield will reside on First street.

The fellow who has an axe to grind is always looking for some one to do him a good turn.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

G. O. P. Candidates Formally Notified And Platform Adopted

With harmony as the prevailing keynote of their deliberations, Republicans from all over Maryland assembled Thursday for the State convention of the party at Ford's Theatre, Baltimore, ratified the nominations of the candidates on the State ticket, headed by State's Attorney Harry W. Nice, of Baltimore city, and then proceeded with the adoption of the platform upon which they will wage their campaign incident to the coming November election. Here are the Republican candidates:

For Governor—Harry W. Nice, of Baltimore city.

For Comptroller—Lieut. Col. Amos W. Woodcock, of Salisbury.

For Attorney-General—Alexander Armstrong, of Hagerstown.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Wm. L. Marcy, of Annapolis.

State Chairman Galen L. Tait, presided over the convention, and Gen. W. Bladen Lowndes was made permanent chairman. The proceedings went along smoothly and the nominations were made with unanimous approval.

The notification committee consisted of a representative from each county in the State and from each Legislative district in Baltimore city. Mr. Alonzo Murrell represented Somerset county.

In substance, the platform, agrees with the Democratic platform in calling for the merit system in State government, for increases in the salaries of public school teachers and policemen; for the continued development of the roads system, with especial attention to lateral roads; for promotion of agriculture and for protection of the oystermen in the use of the natural oyster beds and bars.

It differs from the Democratic platform in promising to shift control of the Police Department from the Governor to the Mayor without the referendum which the Democrats provided, and in calling for the consolidation of the Automobile Commission with the Roads Commission and the State Auditor's work with that of the State Comptroller, which the Democrats had in their tentative platform, but abandoned before the document reached the floor of the convention.

The Republican platform also differs from that of the Democrats, of course, in that it criticizes the administration of President Wilson and Governor Harrington. As to the President's administration, which the Democrats emphatically indorsed, the Republicans level criticism especially against the management of the railroads, telephones and telegraphs and mail service. With respect to the peace treaty, the Republicans call for protection of the power of Congress to declare war and govern the movement of soldiers to foreign soil, and for freedom of action as to the tariff, immigration and the Monroe doctrine. The Harrington administration is attacked particularly, because of its relation with Frank Kelly.

WAR CUT DOWN OYSTER LEASES

State Conservation Commission Submits Statement To Governor

According to a statement submitted to Governor Harrington by W. Thomas Kemp, chairman of the State Conservation Commission, the war and scarcity of labor are responsible for reduction in the number of oyster bed leases and consequent reduction in revenue from this source. The report was submitted on Monday of last week and says:

At the close of the State's fiscal year on this date, we beg to advise you that the unexpended balances to the credit of the Conservation Fund under items 1 to 25, inclusive, of the Budget allowances, amount in the aggregate to $24,318.85. Due to war conditions and shortage of men engaged in water industries the actual receipts from licenses and taxes as estimated in the Budget have fallen short $8,830.06, which, of course, reduces the apparent savings effected by this Commission to the net figure of $15,488.79. This amount we take pleasure in turning back to the State Treasury with the understanding that $10,000 thereof will, under the special act creating the Conservation Fund, be available for expenditures as per Budget during the coming year.

The Conservation Commission took office June 1, 1916, taking over the departments heretofore known as the Maryland Shellfish Commission, Fish Commissioners for Eastern and Western Shores, State Conservation Bureau, State Fishery Force, General and Special Inspectors of Oysters and State Game Warden and Deputy Game Wardens. For some years prior to that time the total State appropriations to these various departments (in addition to current revenues) averaged about $40,000 annually. As against that amount we were allowed by the Legislature a deficiency appropriation last year of $25,000, which was passed to our credit October 1st, 1918. We have overcome the above shortage of $8,830 in our expected revenues and are now returning to the State $15,308.49.

During the fiscal year just closed the Commission has continued its policy of reconstruction of the State Fishery Force. We are carrying a special interest-bearing fund subject to your official counter-check, known as the Purchasing and Refitting Fund, in which are placed the proceeds of sales of the older vessels of the Force, and against which are charged the costs of building or refitting the vessels now constituting the Force. We now have to the credit of this special fund a balance of $25,022.65.

There is another fund under the supervision of this Commission known as the State Game Protection Fund, into which are now placed the hunting licenses and fines under the new State-wide game law, and out of which are paid only the expenses of operating the game department, including the protection and propagation of game. The fiscal year of the game department ends on May 31st, and we were advised by the State Game Warden that on that date there was an unexpended balance to the credit of said fund amounting to $45,264.01.

We may add that during the year just closed the Commission has insisted upon a uniform and impartial enforcement of the various cull laws relating to minimum sizes of oysters, fish and crabs, with the result that the State now has, according to investigations recently completed, a larger and better prospective supply of these water products than has been known in recent years. It is also a well-known fact that those citizens whose livelihood depend upon these industries have made better returns during the past year and have better prospects for the future than ever before. The new State fish hatcheries have been in operation to full capacity during the past year and over 500,000,000 fish fry have been planted in the fresh and salt water streams of the State. The State Game Warden, with the aid of his paid deputies, has enforced the revised laws for the protection of game with the result that our native game supply has been considerably increased. Failing in his efforts to import foreign quail and other game for brood purposes the State Game Warden department has recently purchased, and is now developing a large game farm at Gwynnbrook, Md., for the scientific rearing of pheasants, partridges, rabbits and other game.

Auto Races At Pocomoke City

Automobile races will be held at the Pocomoke Fair Grounds on Saturday next, Oct. 11th, at 3 o'clock, when a Stutz Roadster, driven by Frank Smith, of Temperanceville, Va., will meet a Hudson Super-six Speedster, driven by Milton Bodley of Oak Hall. For full particulars see advertisement on our 5th page.

TURNING TABLES

By PEARL S. MEYER.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Aunt Jane leaned over an open chest in the garret.

"What's this?" she queried, hauling out some white material.

Beckie, her niece, drew her brows together.

"That's the bureau scarf I started last winter. You didn't like the pattern, so I dropped it."

"H'm," said Aunt Jane. "What's this?" She pulled out something gay with colors.

"Oh, that's the table runner. I got so sick of it I never finished the thing."

"H'm. And this?" Another article was brought to light.

"Goodness me. I started that shirt-waist over a year ago. I'd forgotten all about it."

"Since you were old enough to remember," commenced Aunt Jane, "I have tried to impress on you the value of finishing what you commence."

"Do what you set out to do. This applies to greater things than bureau scarfs and shirtwaists. If you know a thing is right, go ahead with it."

"But, auntie," interrupted Beckie, this time successfully. "How am I to know that I can trust my own judgment?"

"Your conscience will tell you," Beckie, sitting humped over the toy of a trunk, pondered deeply.

"Then," she said finally, "if I start to do something that I am sure is right, I should not allow even you—even you, auntie—to swerve me from my purpose?"

"Exactly," returned her aunt, with a pleased nod. "Let's go down now. I want to take a nap."

The nap lengthened into a regular snooze. Aunt Jane was a sound sleeper. She was aroused finally by knocking on the door.

"It's half-past four," called Beckie. Aunt Jane arose hurriedly. Her simple toilet did not take many minutes. Giving a final hurried dab at her tightly twisted pug of gray hair, she moved toward the door. To her astonishment, it was locked. She rattled the knob vigorously.

"Beckie," she called.

"I'm so sorry," spoke a small voice close to the keyhole, "but I'm doing what you told me to do."

"Unlock this door," demanded Aunt Jane sternly.

"I can't."

"What do you mean?"

"Not until you promise me something," said Beckie meekly. "My heart tells me I am right. This is the only way. I've begged and begged and prayed; but you have always said no."

Aunt Jane's hands sank limply to her sides. Beckie had wittingly made her a prisoner.

"Beckie Stowell, let me out this instant."

"I will," came the pleading voice, "if you'll say that I may marry Dwight."

"Never," she raged. "Does that—that whippersnapper know you have done this?"

"No." In breathless haste. "I just asked him to come to supper tonight. I told him I had a real nice surprise for him."

"A real nice surprise," mimicked Aunt Jane; then, after a slight pause; "He will get it."

"Oh, auntie," Beckie's voice was full of tears—"then you can't come out. It's after five now. I've got to go downstairs."

Aunt Jane leaned weakly against the door, her thoughts in such turmoil that she was momentarily stricken dumb. The minister due at six. The table not set. The biscuits—. In an outburst of despairing rage, she beat on the door with her clenched fists.

"Beckie!" she shrieked. "Beckie!"

No reply. From the distant downstairs came little clattering sounds as of dishes being moved.

"It's twenty minutes of six, Aunt Jane."

"My biscuits!" wailed Aunt Jane.

"You wicked girl. I shall never forgive you as long as I live."

These bitter words evoked a little sob from the free side of the door.

A terrifying idea flashed into Aunt Jane's mind. Did the girl mean she might run away? All her wrath was swept away suddenly in a flood tide of love. She could never think of Beckie other than a child. That was why she would never listen to her talk of marrying.

"It's ten minutes of six," pleaded Beckie. "Oh—I heard the gate click."

There was a momentary quaver in her voice. "Aunt Jane—Dwight is so dear."

Her voice sank to a breath.

The jangle of the door-bell rang through the house. But to Aunt Jane's heart, Beckie's whispered words sounded louder than did the bell to her ears.

"Beckie," she questioned, "are you sure you're right?"

"Yes," came the answer with a quick intake of breath.

"Then you shall have him, dear."

The key rattled in the lock. The door swung open. Aunt Jane and Beckie stood face to face. At that moment the door-bell jangled most imperiously.

"My biscuits," gasped Aunt Jane.

Beckie's face was glowing with sweet joy. "Don't you worry about those biscuits," she laughed. "Do you imagine I didn't want my engagement supper to be a success. Just go out to the kitchen and smell 'em."

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

She Had a Heart.

"I never expected to see it."

"What?"

"Two suburbanites fighting over a cook."

"Which won?"

"The smaller of the two combatants. The cook couldn't stand to see a little man getting the worst of it, so she signed up on the spot for three weeks."

Spared.

"Did you get an interview with that foreign celebrity?"

"Yes," said the star reporter. "And he shook hands with me cordially when I left."

"What did he do that for?"

"I suspect he was grateful because I didn't ask him what he thought of America."

Not His Business.

"Have you covered that story of Pennman, the novelist?" asked the editor.

"I have not, sir," was the reporter's reply.

"Were you not told to cover it?"

"Yes, sir, but it was not my business to cover his stories. I'm not a bookblunder, sir."

A HANDICAP.

"I wouldn't have my boy taught grammar at all, if I had my way."

"That's a strange idea. Why not?"

"I intend that he shall be a writer of popular songs."

Overwhelming Erudition.

Unto a massive book I cling With stout and patient hand. The more I try to read the thing The less I understand.

Forging Ahead.

"I see there's a new three-story building going up on Main street."

"Yes," said the proud citizen. "And there's a four-story skyscraper planned for the opposite corner. Guess we'll soon begin to talk about Hicksville's 'canyon.'"

A Plunger.

"Was that young Brown I saw striking you for a loan? Why, I heard that only recently he fell into a fortune."

"That's so, but he fell into it so hard that he went right through it."

Bottled Manpower

Coughs and colds are weakening. Get rid of them as quickly as you can. Catarrh in any form saps the vitality. Fight it and fight it hard. There is a remedy to help you do it—a medicine of forty-seven years' established merit. Try it.

PE-RU-NA

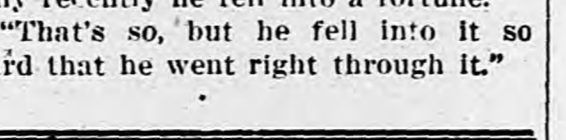

For Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions

It purifies the blood, regulates the digestion, aids elimination, tones up the nerve centers and carries health to all the mucous linings. For the relief of those pains in stomach and bowels, belching, sour stomach, rheumatism, pains in the back, sides and loins, PE-RU-NA is recommended.

Look! Here is the globe spread out flat before your eyes. See those stars? Every star shows where a U. S. Navy ship was on September 2nd, 1919. The Navy travels the Seven Seas.

Don't you want to see the World?

ROMANCE is calling to you! Strange and smiling foreign lands are beckoning to you. Shove off and see the world!

Learn to "parley-voo" in gay Paree. See the bull-fights in Panama. See surf-riding on the beach of Waikiki.

Learn the lure that comes with the swish and swirl of the good salt sea. Eat well—free; dress well—free; sleep clean—free; and look 'em all straight in the eye—British, French, Chinese, Japanese, Spaniards, Egyptians, Algerians and all manner of people.

Come! Be a real man of the world. See the world. See it with the red-blooded, hard-working, hard-playing men of the U. S. Navy.

Pay begins the day you join. On board ship a man is always learning. Trade schools develop skill, industry and business ability. Thirty days care-free holiday each year with full pay. The food is good. First uniform outfit is furnished free. Promotion is unlimited for men of brains. You can enlist for two years and come out broader, stronger and abler.

Shove off—Join the U. S. Navy. If you're between 17 and 35 go to the nearest recruiting station for all the details. If you don't know where it is ask your postmaster.

Camel

CIGARETTES

18c. a package

CAMELS supply cigarette contentment beyond anything you ever experienced! You never tasted such full-bodied mellow-mildness; such refreshing, appetizing flavor and coolness. The more Camels you smoke the greater becomes your delight—Camels are such a cigarette revelation!

Everything about Camels you find so fascinating is due to their quality—to the expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

You'll say Camels are in a class by themselves—they seem made to meet your own personal taste in so many ways! Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels particularly desirable to the most fastidious smokers. And, you smoke Camels as liberally as meets your own wishes, for they never tire your taste! You are always keen for the cigarette satisfaction that makes Camels so attractive. Smokers realize that the value is in the cigarettes and do not expect premiums or coupons!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

DIES IF AFFECTION WANES

Pet Wife of Congo Chief Put to Death When Fickle Lord Tires of Her Charms.

An African chief may possess 1,000 wives, but the chief who has two pet wives at the same time or keeps any two wives in the same house is yet to be found.

To be the pet wife of the chief, to know that one is pointed out by the entire village as a beauty and the honored one, sounds rather alluring, but to know that one may lose one's head when a more attractive successor appears is sufficient cause for hesitation on the part of the bride when the chief comes a-wooing.

Jewelry that is worn by the pet of a Congo chief is interesting. A necklace of beaten and carved brass, perhaps two and one-half inches thick, eight inches in diameter and weighing 28 pounds, is shaped like the letter C. After this ornament is placed about the neck of the chief's pet she lies down with her head on a rock and the ends are closed with heavy hammer. Heavy anklets and bracelets accompany the necklace, so that she daily carries about with her from 35 to 50 pounds of jewelry.

As she walks about the village she is the center of attraction. She may hold this enviable position for five or six years, or at least until the chief may choose another beauty. Whenever this occurs her doom is sealed. Off comes her head for the purpose of removing the necklace, and next the arms and legs that the bracelets and anklets may grace the fair successor.

SMILE HAS DISTINCT VALUE

No Person Ever Attained Place or Popularity by the Exercise of a "Grouch."

In a debate in the national house of representatives one member charged the members on the other side with being a "continual grouch." Is it natural for men, especially politicians, to be grouches? Have they not yet learned the value of a smile?

This busy world, with its wonderful revelations, its tremendous possibilities, has no use for the "grouch." The minister who never smiles misses the sweetness of religion. The lawyer who never smiles loses more cases than he wins. The merchant who never smiles loses trade. The general who never smiles loses his grip on his men. The politician who never smiles usually stays at home. The salesman who never smiles loses his position.

Somehow people don't like a "grouch," a man who doesn't know how or when to smile.

A smile is the biggest asset to any man or woman. It means admirers, good nature, health and wealth. It disarms a foe and makes a friend. It builds hope, banishes fear. It opens the door to the joys of life and the riches of existence. It is a jewel beyond price.

Dancing in Haiti.

Dancing to the music of a drum, saxophone and flute is the chief source of amusement for Haitians in their little villages on Saturday night, according to an article by William Almon Wolf in Collier's. Beginning at sundown every Saturday night, he writes, one will come to a wine shop, if one follows the sound of the drum. The drummer sits outside. His unceasing drumming marks the rhythm of the music; what melody there is, is borne by a flute, and almost always there is a saxophone. The music is the same at every dance. It is in common tone; a single cadence is repeated, over and over again.

Dancing in Haiti resembles the saturnalia among the Australian aborigines, Mr. Wolf writes. The dancers are frank and unashamed and one gets little or no feeling of a personal note between the two one sees dancing; rather they are staging a spectacle.

Known as Laziest of Birds.

The laziest of birds is the frogmouth. He sleeps all day, and at night, instead of flying about in search of food, he sits on a limb and literally waits for the insects to come and feed him. He is such a sound sleeper that you can push him off his perch with a stick and not wake him. He inhabits Australia and the islands of the Indian ocean. In size the frogmouth resembles the whippoorwill, and gets his name from his wide mouth, which serves as his insect trap. Too lazy to fly for his food, like other birds, he crawls along the limb of a tree, opening his wide mouth and snapping it shut, catching what flies and gnats come within his range. At night he perches with his mate on the roofs of houses, on fences, or stumps. Only after the sun goes down does he show any inclination to move about.

Petroleum in Mexican Lake.

For hundreds of years Mexican Indians had a horror of what they called the pest spot of Lake Chapala, near the shore at Tizapan. They would not bathe in it or sail around it, declaring that the water was oily. Then, after a time, they cautiously began to paint wooden boats with this oil, which proved so effective in keeping out the water that it became the general custom to use it. They did not know that this was petroleum gushing up through the water—a magnificent flow, about two miles out in the lake, which to this day gushes apparently without varying. When the water is low petroleum floats in solid masses, each large globule weighing about 25 pounds.

WHEN SAINTS ENTERED UTAH

July 24 Has Been Known as "Pioneer Day" Since the Founding of Salt Lake City.

Brigham Young, leading a company of Mormons numbering 147, of whom all, excepting two women and the same number of children, were men, entered Great Salt Lake valley and founded Utah, at Salt Lake City, July 24, 1847. On the previous day the founder, reclining in Apostle Woodruff's carriage, sick with mountain fever, caught the first glimpse of the valley from the summit of the mountain.

"Enough," he said, "this is the right place; drive on."

Since this entry into the promised land the day has been called Pioneer day. Under the control and guidance of Brigham Young the work was begun that converted a wilderness, where it was predicted that not an ear of corn could grow, into one of the most fruitful garden places of the world. About three years after this the territory of Utah was organized, with Young as governor. Some feeling of ill-will grew up between the non-Mormon members of the government and the Mormons. Outside of Utah, opposition to Mormonism was greatly increased by Young's publication in 1852 of Smith's "revelation" on the eternity of the marriage covenant, including plurality of wives.

According to official estimates there are about 400,000 Latter Day Saints, mostly in Utah.

SHOULD REFER TO THE PAST

Word "Experience" Is One That Is Frequently Misused Even by Writers of Note.

The meaning and uses of the word experience is discussed in this manner by Archbishop Whately in his well-known work, "Elements of Logic": "This word (experience), in its strict sense applies to what has occurred within a person's own knowledge. Experience in this sense, of course, relates to the past alone. Thus it is that a man knows by experience what sufferings he has undergone in some disease; or, what height the tide reached at a certain time and place.

"More frequently the word is used to denote judgment which is derived from experience in the primary sense, by reasoning from that, in combination. Thus a man may assert, on the ground of experience, that the tide may always be expected, under such circumstances, to rise to such a height. Strictly speaking, this cannot be known by experience, but is a conclusion derived from experience and other data. It is in this sense only that experience can be applied to the future, or, which comes to the same thing, to any general fact."

Queer Burial Custom.

Among the Indians of Alaska living along the rock-bound coast of the Bering sea many old customs prevail, and it is still believed that when a man dies he must pass forward through four successive stages before he reaches heaven. Thus his mourners and family must spend four days and nights in chanting songs or telling of his virtues and must eat only the foods of which he was fond. At the end of that time the body of the dead man is wrapped into a bundle and is hauled up through the roof by strong ropes that the corpse may not pass through any door used by the living. Cremation follows and the ashes are put into a bag and stored in the great wooden chests which fill the family "grave house."

In the old days these ceremonies of those four days were very elaborate, and the songs and chants used striking in their solemnity. Now, however, much has been modernized, but they still dislike the thought of entering a door through which a body has been carried.

Great American Tragedienne.

One of the greatest tragediennes of the last century, Charlotte Saunders Cushman, died in Boston nearly half a century ago, leaving behind her one of the most inspiring and splendid memories in all the history of the stage. Miss Cushman was born in Boston July 23, 1816. Her early ambition was musical, and she was just at the beginning of a successful operatic career when her voice failed. Her loss to music was a gain to the drama. She first appeared as Lady Macbeth in New Orleans, and soon gained rank in England and America as the foremost actress of the English-speaking world. Forty-five years ago the great actress began her farewell tour of America, and on a day in May, 1875, an audience that filled the Globe theater in Boston saw Charlotte Cushman's last appearance on the stage. She died in less than a year afterward.

Palmerston.

In the first place, it was always asserted, with emphasis and even with acrimony, that he (Palmerston) was not a whig. Gladstone, who did not much like whiggery, though he often used whigs, laid it down that "to be a whig a man must be a born whig," and I believe that the doctrine is absolutely sound. But Palmerston was born and bred a tory, and from 1807 to 1830 held office in tory administrations. The remaining 35 years of his life he spent, for the most part, in whig administrations, but a whig he was not. The one thing in the world which he loved supremely was power, and, as long as this was secured, he did not trouble himself much about the political complexion of his associates.—G. W. E. Russell.

SOLVING WAR PROBLEMS TAUGHT PEOPLE THRIFT

Country Urged to Keep Benefits Gained Through Lesson of Saving Learned Last Year.

Fellowship in the fastest growing society in the United States is open to everybody. In every state in the union it is gaining members daily, since it is a society in which the good of the country is served as well as that of the individual.

From all walks of life its millions of ever increasing members come. No one can be a member and keep the pledge he takes without receiving lasting benefits and aiding the United States of America to maintain the proud place it has already attained—the peer of any nation that has ever existed.

When the treasury department of the United States began the attempt to solve the financial problems that beset the country as it was entering the war, the United States was a debtor nation. Only on understanding that it is the greatest creditor nation in the world today can one realize what an achievement has been won. Without a direct tax on the people money has been raised to pay for the successful termination of the war, and this cost more than $20,000,000,000. Beside this enormous amount of money there is now more money in the banks than before.

This, of course, was done through the Liberty Loans, principally. But these loans have ceased, and those at the head of the nation's finances are seeking to clinch the lesson already learned, and are urging the permanent establishment of War Savings Societies.

The Treasury Department is doing a service for the small investor in accepting so small an amount as twenty-five cents and giving the same security that the holder of a $10,000 Liberty Bond enjoys—the entire resources of the United States of America. Could anything be more safe?

CAN CHOP OVERHEAD

We joined with glee to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Washington, who, when a boy, chopped down his father's cherry tree, and later, though but still a youth, surveyed the trackless forest waste, and always practiced simple truth in every project he embraced. Then when the Revolution broke out George stepped bravely to the fore and threw aside our foreign yoke, and saw us safely through the war. No adjectival flourish here could tell in full his epic life, but this we know and hold it dear, he won our nation's primal strife; he fought, he built, he sagely taught, he loved this land of liberty, and what his sacrifice then bought is handed on to you and me. To him we owe an unpaying debt, to keep our nation's honor bright, and emulate him so that yet we travel holding Freedom's light; we cannot all chop cherry bark, but we can chop the "overhead," and, cutting out some costly lark, buy W. S. S. instead.

A thrifty man is safe from worry. Buy wisely, save intelligently, and invest in Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

Spend wisely, avoid waste, save intelligently, invest in Thrift and War Savings Stamps—and success is already yours.

War Savings Stamps—a loan to Uncle Sam, who returns your money at the end of five years plus four per cent interest, compounded quarterly.

SAID EVERY SOLDIER KEPT TRENCH SHOVEL

Engineer After Viewing Battlefield Makes Interesting Commentary—Could Find Everything But One Trophy He Wanted.

An eminent engineer recently returned to Washington after traversing on government business much of the western front. He went over the battle area before the army salvage corps had removed the signs of conflict.

"I saw pretty nearly everything there," he said. "Lots of rifles, bayonets, machine guns, helmets, soldiers' packs, water bottles, and even handkerchiefs and socks all over the ground."

"I didn't want any of them. Because I'm an engineer, I'd set my heart on a trench shovel. I'd seen thousands of them back of the lines, but I wanted one from the battlefield. I looked and looked, without finding one lying around loose. Wherever there was a shovel, the man who'd used it was lying beside it."

"Then I understood. The soldier, dislodged from a position, might lose his pack, his extra clothing, even his rifle, in his escape, but he never let go his shovel."

"He knew he had to have it, to dig himself in again."

War Savings Stamps are trench shovels for digging in against adversity.

CARRY ON!

Uncle Sam is releasing from his service the men who went "over there" to free the world from autocracy. Thousands of soldiers are daily receiving their honorable discharges; they pocket their pay, bid farewell to their comrades and salve forth—civilians.

There is one army, however, which must not be demobilized. That is the army of War Savings Stamps buyers. More recruits are needed to carry on the campaign of readjustment which follows the signing of the armistice.

The army of fighters has achieved its purpose.

The army of savers must remain in "action."

"Carry on" to a lasting peace under the banner of W. S. S.

Yes, Sir, the Young Fellows are Taking Right Up with this Friendly Tobacco

OF course other forms of smoking are all right in their way, but there is something intimate and friendly-like about a pipe—just the kind of a thing that forward-looking chaps take to like ducks take to water.

Most of them weren't born with a silver spoon in their mouths, and the low cost of Velvet Tobacco doesn't hurt its popularity—not so as you could notice it.

Fifteen cents!

Just a dime and a nickel—the price of a few smokes in other forms, but which put into Velvet Tobacco, give a fellow almost a week's good smoking.

Then again it is mild, well-mellowed, smooth, friendly.

It got that way by its eight long seasons of ripening in wooden hogsheads—a slow, expensive method, but the best that's been found yet.

Velvet's the kind of a companion for fellows to tie up to!

It gets 'em in the home habit.

For a pipe of good tobacco is a homey kind of thing.

Young man, meet your good chum, Velvet, in its jolly red tin!

Cookdishes can now be hired for $12 a week to sit in the parlor and direct the work of the mistress.

Latest strike news is that the farmers have all walked out because they are required to work in the sun.

The farmers are urged to raise more sheep, as the dogs most everywhere are getting tired of a diet of bones and table scraps.

"They that sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind" remarked the untidy man as he mournfully watched the progress of house-cleaning.

President Wilson has indignation. The wicked and altogether unregenerate Republicans will no doubt claim he has been eating his own words.

Among the people who are strong believers in publicity are those who are always asking the newspaper man for free notices about their business.

Latest from Washington was that Gen. Pershing was seen peering out of his dug-out with a periscope to see if any kissing women were laying out in No Man's Land for him.

The high school and college boys are students of geography, at least to the extent that they can draw maps locating the homes of all the pretty girls within working distance.

There is altogether too much pounding on the desk by the orators and altogether too little pounding on the work benches with hammers, mallets and other instruments of honest industry.

Before you can hire a farm hand out in the country nowadays you have to guarantee him the condition of the ham-mock and assure him free automobile transportation down to the movies after supper.

AN IMPORTANT CAMPAIGN

It might not appeal to the average Democrat in Somerset county just how important the present campaign is to the future life of Democracy in this state. The election of a Democratic Governor and other state officers and the control of the next General Assembly by the Democrats is most important looking forward to the Presidential election next year. Business conditions are fine throughout the country. The laboring man is in a prosperous condition with plenty of work at good wages. The farmer is also prosperous and receiving fine prices for all his products.

Maryland as a border state, will be watched with great interest by the Democrats in all the other states in the November election. It is important that the Maryland Democracy shall carry the state for the Democratic ticket so as to impress upon the Democrats of other states the fact that the people are alive. If the Republicans should carry Maryland in November it will mean a most disastrous outlook for Democratic success next year. All this makes the present campaign in this state a very momentous one, and one which should appeal strongly to every Democrat.

There is no reason for any Democrat balking at his duty. The local ticket as well as the State ticket is made up of good men on the whole and should command the respect and the support of all Democrats. Get out and hustle for every man on the ticket.

A WORD TO WOMEN

No citizen, man or woman, worker or employer, can fairly answer the question, "What has the special session of Congress done for me?" without a sense of regret at having voted last autumn to supplant the Democratic majority. More than two months have elapsed since President Wilson recommended to the special session the passage of certain statutes which were intended and required to curb profiteering, to reduce or at least to stabilize the cost of living, and to restore business to the normal status of peace. Not one of the President's recommendations has become law; no substantial progress has been made toward their serious consideration.

In the House of Representatives the Republican majority is a composite of factions which are a unit upon only one policy—that of opposing the President. In every question of constructive legislation they are an incoherent aggregation of cabals and coteries, unable and unwilling to co-operate either with President Wilson or their own putative leaders. The Senate's record of inaction and recalcitrance is known to all the world. It has become notorious, under its reactionary Republican control, not for what it has done, right or wrong, but for all that it has refused to do. Opposing peace under whatever guise of patriotism its partisan directors have chosen to assume, it has perpetuated every condition of war save that of certainty.

What do the Republican masses think of their representatives in Congress? What do they purpose doing to correct the evils which they voted unwittingly to the country—though perhaps unwittingly? They cannot escape responsibility for their party save by reforming or repudiating its leadership.

FUTURE OF THE COUNTRY CENTER

Great economic changes often take place without people realizing it. Then when the current of prosperity drifts by them they wonder why they did not see what was so apparent.

The past ten years have seen a great economic uplift in country life. The farmers are getting a price for their product nearer to what they are entitled to. The country districts which once were undergoing a severe economic struggle to achieve mere subsistence, are on the whole prosperous and especially favored ones are wealthy.

All this reacts in favor of centers like Princess Anne that draw trade from the surrounding farm country. With a policy of liberal advertising it is possible for merchants to draw trade from a wider circle than formerly and to get more of it from a given territory.

Also it will pay a country center to look a good ways ahead and plan for a growing future. There should be more money put into substantial construction. The man who contemplates erecting a business building can afford to do it in a permanent way. The man who has an antiquated or outworn building instead of trying to fix it up by temporary repairs, should ask himself whether it would not pay better to tear down the whole thing and put up a modern business block of fireproof material. Any business located in an attractive modern building can't help growing.

The country around here is permanently prosperous and will grow more so. The business men can bank on it. Public buildings erected here should be in keeping with the prosperity of the section. The streets should have a better surface than formerly, the sidewalks should be of good material and kept in good repair. All these things mark the prosperous town and help it become more prosperous.

A man should always say just what he thinks—if he can afford to be unpopular.

THE WORLD'S SERIES BALL GAMES

It is not surprising that world's series baseball draws such enormous crowds and such prices are paid for seats when you reflect what a spectacle it is. It is worth the money.

The display of human skill, the amazing speed and accuracy with which these fellows handle a ball, the marvelous alertness with which they gather in hot and irregular bouncing grounders, indicate a control of nerves and muscles that would be impossible for more than one man in a million.

Of course world's series ball develops some bonehead plays. Some fellows simply buckle mentally under the strain and do things that you would not see in a lot of the high school games. But as a rule the players are a cool and self restrained type, who have learned that you never play better by worrying. You can't help admiring men that by persistent training and head work have acquired such mastery of the thing they set out to do.

Seven years ago a farmer living near this city hung his vest on a fence post by the barnyard. A calf chewed up part of the garment, including a pocket in which was a standard gold watch. Last week the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for beef and the timepiece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing in and filling out of the lungs—kept the stemwinder wound up so that the watch had lost only four minutes in the seven years.—Mason City Globe-Gazette.

Constipation

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometime a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

Big Sea Wall At Sandy Hook

The United States Government has awarded a contract for a great sea wall at Sandy Hook, N. Y. The wall will be twenty feet high, fifty feet thick at the base and fifteen feet at the top, and a mile and a half long. This is understood to be a part of a plan for fortifications to protect the entrance to New York harbor. The Government also has gun testing grounds there and a signal station.

An Agreeable Surprise

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.

Encouraging Bolshevism

Everything that falsely encourages unrest also encourages bolshevism.

Misunderstanding of American industrial organization, and of its benefits to mankind, leads to unrest, dissatisfaction, and radicalism.

For example, the Federal Trade Commission tells the public that the large packers had an agreed price for lard substitute (made of cotton-seed oil.)

It reproduces letters taken from the files of one of the packers, showing that such agreed price existed.

But it failed to mention that the agreed price was determined at the request of and in co-operation with the Food Administration!

Even the Department of Justice, in its unjust attempt to create prejudice against the packers, has made public these same letters, with no explanation.

How long must this kind of misrepresentation continue? In so far as it is believed, it not only breeds discontent, but results in injustice to our industry.

Mr. Marcus Joseph and family have moved from their farm near Eden to Princess Anne, where they expect to make their future home.

Miss Elizabeth F. Jones, after spending six weeks with friends in Norfolk, Va., returned home last Saturday.

Mrs. J. D. Wallop is spending a week in New York city at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Franklin P. Waller.

Mrs. Henry Flurer and Mrs. Philip Smith spent last Thursday as the guests of Mrs. Wm. Kalmeyer, near Princess Anne.

After spending sometime with relatives in New York and Baltimore, Mrs. Philip Wyatt has returned to her home in Oriole.

Beginning Saturday, October 11th, the Princess Anne Public Library will be open from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Last Friday the thermometer registered 92 degrees, and it was the hottest day of October in this section that we have been able to find a record of.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Bock, who have been spending the summer at "The Alpine" in the White Mountains, New Hampshire, have returned to their home in Princess Anne.

Mrs. A. R. Bradshaw and daughter, Mrs. F. C. Chatman, of Minerva, Ohio, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Bradshaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Humphreys, on Beechwood street.

Reading matter, particularly magazines, are in demand at Camp Holabird by the boys stationed there. They have read practically everything on the post and are greatly in need of literature. Donations of books or magazines should be made to the American Red Cross, Camp Holabird, Maryland.

Mr. Donald W. Costen, of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Rebecca Wear, of Richmond, Va., were married in New York city on September 26th. Mr. Costen is a former resident of Somerset county and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Costen, of Mt. Vernon district. Mr. and Mrs. Costen, after a wedding trip through the South will reside in Detroit.

The ladies of Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a supper in the Social Hall tomorrow (Wednesday) night from 6 to 9 o'clock. The supper will only cost 60 cents and the menu will be fried chicken, ham, potato salad, pickles, bread and butter, jelly and coffee. If you want ice cream and cake with your supper it will cost you extra. The proceeds will be used for church purposes and it is hoped that the public will give the patronage that the affair deserves.

The Rev. George T. Alderson, D.D., was pastor of Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church for five years—1895-'99. He is now pastor of the M. E. Church, Chestertown, Md. Mr. Alderson will deliver his humorous lecture, "What I Saw on the Street," in Antioch M. E. Church on Tuesday evening, October 7. The lecture is a portrayal of street folks and a study of the lessons they teach. The lecture is free and, as Mr. Alderson is well-known to many of our citizens, there should be a large audience to hear him.

Mrs. Joseph L. Wickes and two daughters, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. Wickes' mother, Mrs. Henry Page, returned to their home in Baltimore last week.

Revival services will begin at Antioch M. E. Church on Sunday morning, Oct. 12th. Rev. R. K. Stevenson, D. D., of Milford, Del., and other ministers of the Wilmington Conference will assist the pastor, the Rev. Leolan Jackson.

The Rev. Henry E. Spears leaves today (Tuesday) or tomorrow for his new home at Lake Providence, La. Mr. Spears will visit relatives in Kentucky en route to Louisiana, as his work in Grace Church, Lake Providence, does not begin before Oct. 20th.

Today (Tuesday) is the last and only other day on which one may register in Somerset county. Any one who is entitled to be registered, and who, for any cause whatever, failed to attend to this very important duty last Tuesday, should make it a point to do so today.

There will be no more turning clocks ahead or back after October 26th. Due to Congress passing a bill over President Wilson's veto, the daylight saving plan will end on that date. So remember that on Sunday, October 26th, at 1 o'clock turn your timepiece back to 12 o'clock midnight.

Mr. Warren S. Seipp, deputy grand master of the Masonic Order and also grand lecturer for that body, has been elected vice-president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company in Baltimore. He has assumed his duties, resigning the grand lectureship of the Masons, which has engaged his time and attention for several years.

Last Wednesday Sheriff Charles S. Dryden and Deputy Paul Sterling took the prisoners sentenced at the September term of the Circuit Court to Baltimore. They were: Oliver King, 3 years in the penitentiary for assault; Leroy Johnson, breaking into store, 5 years in the penitentiary; John Whittington, 2 years in the penitentiary for breaking into a garage, and Charles Hood six months in the House of Correction for breaking out of jail.

Mr. M. Bates Stephens, State Superintendent of Schools, says: "I am more convinced than ever of the value of the Junior Red Cross as a part of the school-room program and of its need as a permanent school activity. With such an agency to stimulate the nobler activities of the child, there will not come another time, at least in the present century, when patriotism will be found on as low a plane as when we entered the war. The movement has been an unqualified success in Maryland, and it is the duty of school officials to preserve and extend its organization."

Score Cards for Exhibitors

The third annual county agricultural exhibition will be held in the Court House, Princess Anne, on November 20th, 21st and 22nd.

Ladies who are contemplating having exhibits of canned fruit, preserves, jellies etc., should get a score card from the County Home Demonstrator, Miss Mills. These cards are used in judging the exhibits and show how the decisions are based. On preserves the decision is based as follows:

1. Appearance of fruit,	55 points
Shape,	10
Clearness and color,	10
Flavor,	20
Texture,	15
2. Syrup,	45 points
Clearness,	10
Flavor,	15
Consistency,	10
Proportion of juice	10
Total	100

The use of these score cards may avoid dissatisfaction which sometimes occurs when premiums are awarded.

WILSON INVADERS HOUSE OF FOES

CARRIES HIS BATTLE FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS INTO HOME OF HIS ENEMIES.

GIVES COST OF GREAT WAR

Inform Them of Lives and Treasure Poured Out to Save Civilization.

(By Mt. Clemens News Bureau)

Aboard President Wilson's Special Train—Carrying his war against those who oppose the adoption by the United States of the peace treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations into their households, President Wilson last week invaded California.

And there, where the question on which league opponents have hampered the hardest, that of Shan Tung—is of most interest, the president found the same enthusiasm among the people for peace and for insurance against future wars. The people want the long controversy ended. They want this country to be able to again turn its undivided attention to social, economic and industrial development. Their leaders may not feel this way, but judging from the expressions which met the president on every side, the leaders have overstepped the limits of the peoples patience in their stubborn determination to force a change in the great document.

Must Take This League.

"We must take this League of Nations," said the president, "for there is no way in which another can be obtained without compelling reconsideration by the powers. And it would sit very ill upon my stomach to take it back to Germany for consideration."

"All over the world people are looking to us with confidence our rivals along with the weaker nations. I pray God that the gentlemen who are delaying this thing may presently see it in a different light."

Germany, the president declared, is taking new courage from our delay in ratifying the treaty and her newspapers and public men were again becoming arrogantly out-spoken.

Deeply impressive were the figures of the cost of the late war, in lives and dollars. It was the first time that the official statistics have been made public and the tremendous totals shocked the president's audiences.

Shows Cost of World War.

"The war," said President Wilson cost Great Britain and her Do mains $38,000,000,000; France $26,000,000,000; the United States $22,000,000,000; Russia $18,000,000,000; Italy $13,000,000,000 and a total, including the expenditures of Japan, Belgium and other small countries, of $123,000,000,000.

"It cost the Central Powers as follows: Germany $39,000,000,000; Austria-Hungary, $21,000,000,000; Turkey and Bulgaria $3,000,000,000.

"The United States," the president said, "spent one million dollars an hour night and day for two years in its struggle to save civilization. All this, however, fades into insignificance when the deaths by battle are considered," declared the president. Russia gave 1,700,000 men; Germany 1,600,000; France 1,250,000; Great Britain 900,000; Italy 364,000; the United States 50,800. In all, almost 7,500,000 men perished in the great struggle, or 1,500,000 more men than died in all of the wars of the previous 100 years.

Should Remember Recent Horrors.

"These are terrible facts, and we ought never to forget them. We went into this war to do a thing that was fundamental for the world and what have come out on this journey for it to determine whether the country has forgotten or not. I have found out. The country has not forgotten and I will never permit any who stand in the way of the fulfillment of our great pledges, ever to forget the sorrowful day he made the attempt."

Arbitration and discussion, the president pointed out, must replace force of arms in the settlement of world controversies. Constantly he dwells upon the fact that all the nations in the League agree to do one of two things, first to submit their differences to arbitration, in which case they agree to abide by the decision rendered, or, if unwilling to arbitrate, to have their case discussed by the Council of the League, in which case six months is granted for discussion. Three months must elapse following the result of this last step in arbitration before the nation concerned can declare war.

Holds Out Hope for Ireland.

The president took advantage of questions propounded by the San Francisco Labor Council to give the inference that he believes Ireland can bring her case before the League of Nations for settlement when the League is actually in existence.

Shan Tung, he declared, will be returned to China. Japan, he said, had given her solemn pledge to that effect. And with the League of Nations in force, said the president, we can, at occasion arises, stand forth and say "This shall be done."

Antiquity of Gloves.

Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England as long ago as in Saxon times. Practically the only change which there has been in styles of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels, £5 having been paid for a pair in the fourteenth century.—St. Petersburg Times.

Coal Preserved by Water.

The advantage of storing coal under water, where deterioration is much less than in the air, has been amply proved. It is recognized that the gases concealed in the pores of the coal—oxygen in particular—are responsible for both heating and deterioration, and their escape should be prevented as far as possible.

To Polish Glass.

A good polishing powder is made of rock alum, burned and finely powdered, five parts; levigated chalk, one part; mix and apply with a dry brush. There is nothing better to polish glass than chamois leather, or velvet. They should be kept entirely free from dust, or grit.

WILSON'S WORDS CLEAR UP DOUBT

CALIFORNIA THROWS OVER ITS LEADER, JOHNSON, AND RALLIES TO LEAGUE.

WEST GIVES HIM OVATION

All Doubtful Features of Past Are Explained Away By President, and Former Doubters Hasten to Give Him Their Support.

(By Independent News Bureau, formerly Mt. Clemens News Bureau.)

Aboard President Wilson's Special Train—A continuous ovation along the Pacific coast and then on his eastward way back toward the capital was given to President Wilson as he came toward the end of his month daylong speaking tour in behalf of the League of Nations. California, particularly the delightful city of Los Angeles, went wild in its enthusiasm for him and his advocacy of the League, and it was in that state, perhaps, that he did his most successful missionary work. Hiram Johnson, California's former governor, now her United States senator, and considered by her as the most likely Republican candidate for the presidency in 1920, had before the arrival of President Wilson, convinced a great number of citizens that the League as at present formulated was not a good thing. He had told them that the United States, because of it, would be drawn into every petty European quarrel; he argued that we would lose our sovereignty by joining with the European nations. He had blamed the president for assenting to the possession by Japan of the Peninsula of Shan Tung in China.

BUREAU CHANGES NAME

The Mount Clemens News Bureau, which has been furnishing reports on President Wilson's tour in behalf of the League of Nations to 5,500 papers, has adopted a new name and will hereafter be known as The Independent News Bureau.

But Mr. Wilson, with clear logic and with compelling eloquence, answered to the entire satisfaction of California's people every objection which Senator Johnson had made to the League. And thousands of the state's citizens deserted the Johnson standard immediately and rallied to the support of the president. More than that they came forward and said, "We were against you, Mr. President, but you have cleared everything up and now we are with you heart and soul." Still more than that, they let Senator Johnson know that they were no longer with him and that they disapproved of the speaking tour which he himself was making in opposition to the League and so powerful was the volume of public opinion which reached him, that the senator almost immediately abandoned his tour. The Shan Tung question, because of the anti-Japanese feeling which undoubtedly exists along the Pacific coast was the most serious which the president had to answer. He explained to the people that he had been powerless to prevent the rich peninsula from being given to Japan. England and France, through a secret treaty, had promised it to Japan for entering the war and remaining in it. That treaty had to be carried out. Anyway it was not China that was losing Shan Tung, but Germany, which had seized the territory from China in 1898 and held it ever since. Japan had promised, the president explained, to return Shan Tung as soon as the peace treaty was ratified and it was only through the ratification of the treaty with the League of Nations inclusion, that China could ever expect to get her former property back. And she surely would get it back, he declared, through the ratification of the League. Therefore, through the same instrumentality no other nation could again prey upon the "Great, patient, diligent, but helpless kingdom." As to our being drawn into any European conflict. The president pointed out that no direct action such as the sending of troops to any part of the world to maintain or restore order could be taken by the Council of the League without a unanimous vote of the council members therefore our vote could at once negative any such proposition as sending our soldiers where we did not want them. Besides, Mr. Wilson argued, "If you have to quench a fire in California you don't send for the fire department of Utah." But, he argued, there probably never will be another war, if the League is established, for the members promise either to arbitrate their difference and accept the decision of the arbitrator, lay the differences for discussion and publication before the Council of the League for a period of six months, and then, if possible, accept the council's advice. That failing, they agree to refrain from war for a further period of three months and nine months of "cooling off" the president contended, would prevent any armed conflict. These clear explanations satisfied every reasonable hearer and destroyed the "Bugaboos" which Senator Johnson and others had raised against the League. Through rugged Nevada into Utah, the land of Mormons, the president swept to find that those fine people were heartily with him for the League and a perpetuity of peace.

NO PLACE FOR SCRUB BULLS

Poor Animals Have Done Much Damage to Dairy Interests and Are Worse Than Worthless.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Bull associations, though few in number, wage eternal warfare on the scrub. The scrub bull has done much damage in this country. He is worse than worthless. He lowers the production of all future generations of the herd he heads. He cannot increase milk production even in a herd of scrubs because, like them, he is a scrub. In a herd of better breeding the damage he may do is almost limitless.

The grade bull is little better because, most of his ancestors being scrubs, he is certain to transmit scrub qualities to his offspring. The grade bull may have the form and color markings of a purebred, but he lacks the power to transmit with any degree of certainty the qualities of any high-producing ancestors he may have. That herd is very poor indeed in which a grade bull can make any marked improvement.

A Purebred Bull That Pays.

The registered scrub comes of low-producing registered ancestors, therefore he transmits only inferior qualities to his calves. Registration is not enough to guarantee production. Permanent dairy herd improvement can never come from the scrub, the grade or the registered scrub.

A constant fight against the cattle fever tick has put large portions of the southern states into the tick-free area. Why not inaugurate a similar fight all over the United States against scrub sires, against the scrub, the grade, the registered scrub, against scrub sires of every kind? Taking each state, county by county, why not eliminate the scrub and establish scrub-free areas in every state?

STINGY FEEDER CHEATS SELF

Dairy Cow Must Have Materials for Maintenance as Well as Milk-producing Foods.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cow requires not only materials for maintenance but must also have protein, fat and carbohydrates to make milk from. The milk contains water, fat, protein (casein or curd), sugar and ash, and these are all made from the constituents of the food. If insufficient protein, fat and carbohydrates are contained in the food given her the cow supplies this deficiency for a time by drawing on her own body, and gradually begins to shrink in quantity or quality of milk, or both. The stingy feeder cheats himself as well as the cow.

FEED AND SALT REGULARLY

Cow Becomes Accustomed to Getting Meals at Certain Time—Deviation Causes Worry.

A cow is pretty much a creature of habit. She becomes accustomed to getting her feed at a certain time each day and if that time arrives without the feed she worries about it and this affects her milk production. For this reason regularity in feeding is very important. Also watering and salting should be attended to punctually. And the water should be good. It is a mistake to require cows to drink tainted water, for it certainly impairs the health if it does not affect the quality of the milk. The man who provides properly for the wants of his cows is right to expect that they will respond in a more abundant milk flow.

DAIRY NOTES

A good silo requires also a good ensilage cutter.

In the dairy business harvest continues the year around.

You never saw a cow that would not do better work on good silage than without it.

For a cow that refuses to let down her milk, a feed of something while milking often helps.

The biggest leak in the dairy business comes from keeping two cows to do the work of one.

To estimate the amount of feed left in the silage, figure 1 cubic foot of silage as equal to 40 pounds.

Finding Disabled Officers.

A small settlement of disabled British officers has been started at Gonthland, on the Yorkshire moors, a clergyman and his wife having given a group of nine cottages, with a garden and orchard, for the experiment. Here a naval officer and his niece have started weaving, while a blind officer, trained at St. Dunstan's, has a poultry farm. Others are considering the possibilities of beekeeping, fruit growing and basket making. It is believed that the same qualities of leadership displayed on the battlefield can be utilized by disabled officers in connection with rural reconstruction in England.

What to Do With Money.

If any man in this town really has more money than he knows what to do with we suggest that he take a trip through the hospitals of the city and discover for himself the crowded conditions that exist. Personally we know of one hospital that needs a new wing that a few rich men could build very quickly if they'd get together. Anyhow what we started to say is that there's so much needed to be done that no man ought to have more money than he knows what to do with for the want of a worthy cause to spend it in.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Serbia.

As far back as the first winter of the war, the Red Cross sent to Serbia a sanitary commission that effectively checked the scourge of typhus, but after the United States entered the conflict, the Red Cross was able, in August, 1917, to send a full commission that carried on extensive relief operations among the suffering refugees of the tortured nation. Hospitals were established, the refugees fed, clothed and given medical attention, the army supplied with much needed dental treatment, farm machinery, and seeds provided to help the Serbs redeem their land to productivity, and, not least, measures undertaken for the succor of the children. The terrible condition into which these helpless victims of the war had fallen is well portrayed by this photograph of a little Serbian girl wearing the rags and expression of hopeless dismay that were all she possessed when the Red Cross came.

LOCALITY NOT WELL NAMED

Desert Island, Off Maine Coast, Has Many Attractions for Naturalist and Pleasure Seeker.

Mount Desert Island started its career with the handicap of a name that suggests a place of glaring, sun-baked sands and rocks. Yet it has overcome this disadvantage to the extent of now being put down as a national park. Moreover, it occupies a coveted position in Bar Harbor, one of the most popular and fashionable summer resorts of the Atlantic coast.

It was Champlain who named the island. He was sailing along the Maine coast when he sighted a patch of land with a backbone ridge of apparently treeless mountains. "Isle of Desert Mountains," Champlain called it, and sailed away. Later it was visited by more curious explorers, and, while the original name stuck, Mount Desert Island came to be known as a delightfully wooded island, with picturesque mountain trails, shadowy lakes and a remarkable variety of birds and plants.

As these reports spread, Mt. Desert acquired a population of nature enthusiasts, artists, poets and a steadily increasing representation from the world of fashionable society.

Bar Harbor, the best-known summer colony of Mt. Desert, lies on the east coast of the island overlooking Frenchman's bay and the blue Atlantic. There are gorgeous villas and expensively simple cottages in Bar Harbor, a country club, golf courses, beaches, and all the rest of the usual summer resort equipment.

But most people find the mountains and lakes of the island more interesting than the artificial atmosphere of the built-up resort. Birds from arctic regions as well as countless varieties from warmer latitudes find their way to the island, and brighten wood and shore with gay flashes of color. Mt. Desert's long standing as a bird refuge, its scenic beauty and its interesting geologic history—which shows that its mountains and valleys were cut out in an early glacial period—all combined to make it desirable as a national reservation. The idea was long considered, and at last, in 1917, part of Mt. Desert was set aside as a national playground and an official bird refuge.

FINDING HAPPINESS IN WORK

Matter Which Is Largely Dependent on Attitude One Assumes Toward Necessary Labor.

Work is God's greatest blessing to man. Until you have learned to look upon your work, not as a curse, not as drudgery, not as a treadmill which you are compelled to turn laboriously every day, you cannot be really happy, you are missing the best that is in life, remarks Forbes Magazine.

No honest work need be drudgery, whether it be sweeping streets, making collars or painting famous pictures.

Art is nothing but doing a thing in the best way it can be done.

Each one of us can be an artist at his or her work. All we need do is put our whole heart, our whole enthusiasm, our whole souls, our whole talent into doing it with the greatest care, the greatest skill and the greatest efficiency we can command.

Until we do this we can be neither successful nor contented, for Providence has ordained that, in order to be happy, we must do the best and the most we are capable of.

Loafers, whether rich or poor, do not know true happiness, do not know the sense of satisfaction which comes from work well done and done with a will.

Whether we find pleasure in our work or whether we find it a bore depends entirely upon our mental attitude toward it, not upon the task itself.

Seven Wise Men of Greece.
By the expression, "The Seven Wise Men of Greece," is meant a number of men among the Greeks of the sixth century before Christ, distinguished for their practical sagacity and their wise maxims or principles of life. Their names are variously given, but those most generally admitted to the honor are Solon, Chilo, Pittacus, Bias, Periander (in place of whom some give Epimenides), Cleobulus and Thales. They were the authors of the celebrated mottoes inscribed in later days in the Delphian temple. These mottoes, with the name of the author of each, were: "Know Thyself," by Solon; "Consider the end," by Chilo; "Know thy opportunity," by Pittacus; "Most men are bad," by Bias; "Nothing is impossible to industry," by Periander; "Avoid excess," by Cleobulus; and "Suretyship is the precursor of ruin," by Thales.

Lamb and Mutton.

The dividing line between lamb and mutton is not based wholly upon age; a well-bred and well-fed animal, 12 or 18 months old, may still belong to the lamb class, while a yearling of rangy stock, which has been poorly fed, yields meat of an inferior grade of mutton.

The best grade of mutton consists of fat, heavy meat. Light and flabby meat is not very palatable. Lamb rarely is an economical meat to serve. The relative difference in food value between lamb and mutton is the same as between veal and beef.

The meat should be of a deep red color and firm to the touch; the fat, creamy, white and solid. Mutton absorbs odors easily, so it must be kept in a cool place under proper conditions.

News Items Gathered By Our Correspondents During The Week

Mt. Vernon

Oct. 4—Mr. Archie Jackson visited Baltimore this week.

Miss Lillian Waller has been spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Archie Renshaw, near Princess Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bloodsworth, of Salisbury, spent the week-end with Mr. Bloodsworth's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baylis and daughter are enjoying a delightful motor trip through the Western States.

Mrs. Eva Marsh and sister, Miss Mollie Causey, have returned to Baltimore after spending several weeks with relatives.

Miss Mildred Holland gave a very enjoyable straw ride on Sept. 24th, the occasion being her birthday. The large truck was filled with young folks and they all reported a jolly time.

Several friends gave Miss Sophie Groscup a very pleasant surprise on Wednesday evening in honor of her birthday. She was the recipient of several gifts, and the young ladies of the party presented her with an immense birthday cake decorated with candles. Harlequin cream, cake and candy were served at a late hour. Those present were Mrs. Geo. H. Price, Mrs. Margaret Hopkins, Mrs. S. A. Groscup, Misses Ruby Bounds, Florence Renshaw, Anita Price, Elsie Price, Messrs. Joe Bounds, W. E. J. Bounds, J. C. Price, Hugh Webster, Frank Barbon and W. B. Renshaw.

Cultivate Worthy Thoughts.

Such are the habitual thoughts, such also will be the character of the mind; for the soul is dyed by the thoughts. Dye it, then, with a continuous series of such thoughts as these: for instance, that where a man can live, there he can also live well. But he must live in a palace; well then, he can also live well in a palace.—Exchange.

A SCHOLAR'S PROTEST.

"Ah! A Romeo and his Juliet," remarked Mr. Dubwalte, as a loving pair strolled past.

"My dear sir," said Professor Diggs, "I have a great admiration for Romeo and Juliet as portrayed by the immortal Shakespeare. Apply the names of those graceful and romantic figures to a bow-legged young man in a 'waist-line' coat and a catclimbed young woman wearing a hobble skirt does great violence to my feelings."

Going the Rounds.

"That new nursemaid of Mrs. Styles seems a very obliging girl," said the lady in the satin jumper.

"What make you say so?" asked her friend in the purple gingham.

"Well, yesterday morning I saw her out with Mrs. Styles' baby, in the afternoon with Mrs. Styles' dog, and in the evening with Mrs. Styles' husband."—London Answers.

A BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL PANEL

To Commemorate The Life And Devotion Of Mrs. C. M. Dashiell

A very beautiful memorial has recently been placed in St. Andrew's Church, Princess Anne, to commemorate the life and devotion of a former parishioner, Mrs. C. M. Dashiell.

It is in the form of a large mosaic panel representing the adoration of the Magi. The picture, which is five feet wide and ten feet high, is placed on the Chancel wall directly above the Altar. The colors are rich and harmonious and blend well with the general tone of the old church, which is quiet and dignified.

The work is executed in Venetian mosaic and, like the creations of the old masters who sometimes used this medium, it is made of innumerable small tessera without the use of any applied color or brush work. Being embedded in cement and cemented to the wall, it is the most permanent and indestructible form of decoration.

As all travelers who have studied the old churches of Italy know, religious subjects rendered in mosaic have been used for generations to enrich and beautify those old sanctuaries, but the making of real mosaics has only recently been successfully taken up in this country and St. Andrew's at Princess Anne is fortunate in having an example of this art, of which any church in the land might well be proud.

It is from the New York Studios of The Gorham Company, and Mr. Julius C. Talomini, one of their mosaic experts not only himself made part of the mosaic but put it in its present position.

Democratic Meetings On Friday

The Democratic State candidates will be in Somerset county next Friday, October 17th. On that day two big meetings will be held—in the Auditorium, Princess Anne, in the afternoon and at Crisfield at night.

At the meetings next Friday the issues of the campaign will be discussed in an able manner by some of the most prominent speakers in the State. Hon. Albert C. Ritchie, candidate for Governor; Major Brooke Lee, candidate for Comptroller; Hon. Thomas J. Keating, candidate for Attorney General, and Hon. Caleb C. Magruder, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, will be present and deliver addresses. The candidates on the Democratic local ticket will also be present at both meetings.

It is hoped that all of the Democratic voters and others interested in good government will be present. Mr. Ritchie is an eloquent speaker and our people, many of them at least, have expressed a desire to hear him. The other gentlemen are also good speakers and you will want to hear them on the issues. Let every Democrat turn out at this meeting and show the State candidates that Somerset county is interested in the success of the ticket—State as well as local.

Sunday School Convention

The Somerset County Sunday School convention was held at Trinity Methodist Protestant Church, Marion, last Tuesday. Addresses were made by W. P. Cook and Miss Maggie Wilson, of Baltimore; Rev. Chas. F. Schofield, of College Park; W. O. Lankford, county president, and Rev. I. S. Hankins, of Princess Anne; C. Gray Lawson and Rev. J. L. Johnson, of Crisfield, and Revs. J. E. Parker and E. L. Bunce, of Marion.

Officers were elected as follows: President, W. O. Lankford, Princess Anne; first vice-president, Rev. J. L. Johnson, Crisfield; second vice-president, Wm. J. Peyton, Crisfield; third vice-president and member of State board of managers, George W. Maslin, of Princess Anne; secretary and treasurer, A. N. Gibbons, Princess Anne; elementary superintendent, Miss Blanche Tull, of Marion; intermediate superintendent, Mrs. Mary Shockley, Crisfield. Other officers included W. S. Bennett, Oriole; Edward Tyler, Smith's Island; O. S. Ford, Fairmount; Mrs. Belle Miles, Paul L. Gunby and S. F. Whittington, Marion.

An invitation to meet at Mt. Pleasant Methodist Protestant Church, Crisfield, next year was accepted.

Colored Farmers' Agricultural Show

The Third Annual Agricultural Show for colored farmers and housewives will be held in the Court House, Princess Anne, on November 27th, 28th, and 29th.

These farmers are alive as never before toward making this display a success and a credit to the county. Articles to be exhibited will include fruits, nuts, vegetables, canned fruits, preserves, jellies, butter, pickles, grains, grasses, dairy products, breads, pies, cakes and needle-work.

As in former years, the banks, merchants and citizens will be asked to contribute toward the premium fund.

"The Shepherd Of The Hills"

Harold Bell Wright's novel has made a great photoplay. To all lovers of the book this is not surprising. The story is filled with dramatic situations and scenically the magnitude of God's own handiwork is ever before us. The woods and the hills always appeal to a real man or woman and in this play the really great things of life are brought to our understanding as clear as the water from the mountain springs which are ever before our eyes. It is the visualization of the story of the Ozark mountains and their humble dwellers. The story of the man who took the trail that leads to the lower ground and the woman who found her way to the sunlit plains. A story of rough times before the coming of the railroads; the period of "huskin' bees" and "house raisin'." Rough and ready settlement of disputes with the fist. It is a virile play and yet one that carries with it a deep message. It is full of wholesome philosophy and has many unique characters. Mr. Wright has directed the work of this photoplay which has been a year in the making. It is shown in ten reels and will be presented at the Auditorium on Wednesday afternoon and evening, October 22nd.

Registration Favorable For Democrats

The last registration day in the counties of Maryland for the coming election was last Tuesday, and all persons whose names were not already on the registration lists and who failed to get registered on Tuesday, will be prohibited from voting in the coming general election.

Because of their pending primary contest, the Republicans of Somerset county registered a large majority of their new vote on the supplementary registration day previous to the primary election, and for this reason a majority of those registered during the two registration days which have just closed, were Democrats.

Large "suspect lists" were presented by both parties at the close of registration on Tuesday, and those lists will be acted upon by the registration officers to-day (Tuesday), which is revision day. It is generally believed that the work of revising the lists will cut the Republican majority down to a minimum in this county. Democrats of Somerset are very much encouraged over the general result of the registration.

Lashes For Auto Thieves

As a warning to joy riders who take friends' cars without permission, Judge Boyce read in open Court at Georgetown, Delaware, last Wednesday, the new law against stealing automobiles passed by the last Legislature which provides a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and from one to five years in the Workhouse and 40 lashes on the bare back. He warned thieves from other States to stay out of Delaware unless they want a lashing at the post.

The Judge then sentenced Norman Green, of Georgetown, who was sent to wash a car but instead took a crowd of girls on a joy ride, to nine months in the Workhouse and fined him $100.

BIG GAIN IN CORN CROP

Is 43,000,000 Bushels Greater Than September 1st Estimate

The country's enormous corn crop has "run unharmed the gauntlet of dangers" that faced it during the doubtful days and nights of September, and lays into the lap of mellow October 43,000,000 bushels more of ripened ears than it could promise at the beginning of that month," the Department of Agriculture commented last week in issuing the October crop report forecasting a yield of 2,900,511,000 bushels. Practically all of the crop has, or will, mature without frost damage assuring high feeding value. Husking and cribbing has begun.

Blight, scab and black rust, together with minor ills, brought the good early prospects for spring wheat in the north-central producing section down until the reckoning now shows almost 5,000,000 bushels less than forecast a month ago, the total crop being placed at 203,170,000 bushels.

Barley showed an increase of more than 3,000,000 bushels, white potatoes an increase of 876,000 bushels, buckwheat 802,900 bushels, apples 8,479,000 bushels, and beans 1,327,000 bushels.

Reduced forecasts were given for oats with a yield lessened by 5,294,000 bushels; sweet potatoes with a decrease of 907,000 bushels, and tobacco with 50,000 pounds. The report follows: Spring wheat, 203,170,000 bushels; all wheat, 918,471,000; corn, 2,900,511,000; barley, 198,298,000; buckwheat, 17,990,000; white potatoes, 350,070,000; sweet potatoes, 99,413,000; flax, 10,652,000; rice, 44,261,000; tobacco, 1,278,062,000 pounds.

Peaches, 51,327,000 bushels; apples (total crop), 156,721,000 bushels; apples (commercial), 23,177,000 barrels; sugar beets, 7,303,000 tons; kafirs, 127,053,000 bushels; beans, 12,690,000 bushels. Condition of the crops October 1 was: Corn, 81.3 per cent. of normal; buckwheat, 88.1; white potatoes, 67.9; sweet potatoes, 83.9; flax, 52.6; rice, 91.3; tobacco, 73.6; sugar beets, 79.1, and kafirs, 86.3.

Treat Wheat For Diseases

During the past season a large amount of wheat was destroyed by disease. The loose and stinking smut was present in large amounts in some wheat fields of the county. Good seed, free from disease should be sown this fall. If the seed is badly infected with smut and scab, new seed wheat should be obtained.

In many cases the seed wheat can be treated for the control of loose and stinking smut with very good results. Loose smut can be controlled by the hot water treatment, but on account of its difficulties it is not practicable on the average farm. Stinking smut is readily controlled by the use of formaldehyde. A simple procedure is to place one pint or one pound of formaldehyde in 40 gallons of water. The wheat should be fanned and be freed as much as possible from smut balls and other foreign matter.

The grain to be treated should then be spread on a clean floor and by means of a sprinkling can sprinkle the solution over the grain. The grain should be made moist and shoveled over in order to get the solution well in contact with the grain. The solution should be applied at the rate of about half a gallon to a bushel of seed grain.

The grain should be heaped and covered with sacks for two hours. It should then be spread out to dry and sown as soon as possible. After treating seed wheat great care must be taken not to place it on a floor or in sacks which are contaminated with the loose smut spores, or to sow it in a drill which is contaminated. The sacks and drill should be sprayed with the solution.

Farmers desiring further information on treating wheat for the control of smut should write County Agent C. Z. Keller.

New Cases Of Cholera

During the past week new cases of cholera have been reported along the state road between Princess Anne and Westover.

Hog cholera meetings for this week have been arranged for the following places: Wednesday, at Fairmount, in the academy; Thursday, at Jamestown, in Guild Hall; Friday, at Westover, in school house. These meetings will be held at 8 p. m.

The meetings held last week were well attended and the lantern slides shown to illustrate how cholera could be controlled created much interest and enabled Dr. E. J. McLaughlin to lay emphasis on certain measures which are necessary in the control of this disease.

The average man is apt to go to extremes. He is either his own worst enemy or his own best friend.

SUGAR AT 25 CENTS PER POUND

This Is Predicted For Next Year—Whole Cuban Crop Needed

Fifteen cent sugar in a week or two and 25 cent sugar next year is the prediction of wholesale and retail dealers who are familiar with the situation. They united in declaring that the United States government must buy the whole Cuban crop to ward off prohibitive prices, if not actual famine.

To forestall such a situation and to make possible an equitable distribution, the Beet Sugar Manufacturers' Association adopted the following resolution, addressed to the equalization board and President Wilson:

"Resolved, that in view of the prospective continued scarcity of the sugar supply this conference recommends that the United States sugar equalization board be continued in power with authority to purchase the 1920 Cuban crop, making provision for the protection of domestic sugar and for fixing a fair price to the consumer, and that a committee be appointed to consider and report."

The association bases its fears on the ground that foreign buyers will outbid American buyers. Already, the members say, large quantities of the crop have been contracted for and unless this country takes early action the warning may prove too late.

Henry H. Rolapp, president of the association and chairman of the sugar distribution committee of the Equalization Board, said:

"Unless the board is given authority to buy the crop the United States must bid against the world for nearly 2,500,000 tons of sugar. This is nearly half of its annual consumption. The supply from Hawaii, Louisiana, Porto Rico, Philippines and the Western states is far below normal. The government now has control of only 400,000 tons. More than 1,500,000 tons of the present crop will be consumed before the first of the year. Prices will leap unless the President takes immediate action."

Figures have been quoted to show that prices almost doubled under government control. The American Sugar Refining Company paid $8,000,000 in dividends last year as compared with their average annual dividends for a three-year pre-war period of $5,750,000. It is declared that the government purchase of the 1920 Cuban crop would keep the retail price at about 11 cents.

Cincinnati Reds Win Championship

For the first time since 1914 the world's baseball championship has returned to the National League. It came back to the parent major organization last Thursday afternoon at Comiskey Park, Chicago, when the Cincinnati Reds defeated the White Sox, 10 to 5, in the most electrifying game of the series. The battle was the eighth of the series, and the diamond's highest laurel perched on the brow of Pat Moran's men by the score of five games to three.

This result, deferred though it was by the unexpected lease of life displayed by the American Leaguers Tuesday and Wednesday, marks the climax of the career of Pat Moran, manager of the Reds. In the four years of his managerial life he has won two pennants and finished second in 1916. Though he won the National League pennant with the Phillies in his first managerial season, he succeeded in taking only one game of the 1915 world's series with the Boston Red Sox. This year was his first with Cincinnati and no higher pinnacle in baseball annals remains for his sealing.

The players on the Cincinnati team will receive $117,157.68, which divided into 224 shares will net each player $5,207.01. The White Sox will draw down $78,104.70 and each of the 24 players will receive $3,254.36. The National Commission obtained $72,241.40, or one-tenth of the total receipts of $722,414 taken in, exclusive of war tax on all eight games.

To Revise Book Of Prayer

The Triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at Detroit, Mich., having completed arrangements, settled down to its business routine last Thursday.

Action is to be taken on some of the most important problems ever before the legislative bodies. Various committees took under consideration the plan for revision of the Book of Prayer, an extensive Americanization program, on which it is proposed to expend $1,500,000, and the program for extension of the church work to be financed by a nation-wide campaign.

Women of the church, at a thanksgiving service Thursday, presented a united offering of more than $400,000 for mission work.

It's just as well to keep your eye on the fellow who gets in on the ground floor. The burglar isn't always a second-story man.

REPUBLICAN TRIBUTE TO WILSON

President Called "Outstanding Figure" In All The World

Among the remarkable tributes which were paid to President Wilson by Republicans in the course of his recent tour of the Middle West and Far West, that offered by State Senator James B. Weaver on the occasion of Mr. Wilson's visit to Des Moines is regarded as one of the most forceful. The report of Senator Weaver's introductory address, as given in the Evening Tribune (afternoon edition of the Register, a Republican newspaper), is as follows:

"Since November, 1918, we have had time to measure in part the immensity of the losses and burdens entailed by the conflict. The sorrow and heartaches are immeasurable, but we know now that the debt of the seven chief nations has grown from twenty to two hundred billions. The securities outstanding against these nations alone are six times the amount of the total deposits of all the banks in the United States, and twelve times the value of all the gold and silver mined since the beginning of the world.

"You and I know that this path leads to chaos. The terrible burden of debt thus placed upon the backs of the peoples of the world is sufficient, had it been used in the avenues of peace, to have transformed utterly the face of the globe, raising its millions now living in ignorance and degradation into the sunlight of an enlightened civilization.

"Instead, the war has brought untold suffering and has left the hearts of the peoples inflamed and embittered; made restless millions even in lands most favored; and raised on the horizon of the world's life that sinister and bloody figure of irresponsible savagery, the bolshevist.

"The question the President will discuss is whether out of this night of the world's life shall come the dawn of a new era—an era in which by concerted action through the League the resources of the nations shall be devoted not to war, but to the crying social needs of the world. For this humanity calls in agony—calls most of all to the great nation whose isolation has vanished forever before the logic of a changed world.

"This is the great cause your Chief Executive comes to present. He comes to the heart of the Middle West as your President and mine. He has carried uncompromisingly the greatest load of responsibility, save one, ever thrust upon the shoulders of an American. He comes to counsel with you upon issues vital to the preservation of civilization. You listen to him in the most fateful hour in all the ages.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I have the great honor to present the outstanding figure in all the world today—your President, Woodrow Wilson."

Phone Co. Would Retain War Rates

To-morrow (Wednesday), October 15th, the Public Service Commission will begin a hearing on the petition of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company to retain, after December 1, rates established by the Postoffice Department, while the company was under its control. The case will practically be a resumption of that taken up by the Public Service Commission prior to the war, and which was adjourned because of the taking over of the company's operations by the federal government. There are several phases involved in the hearing. Each will, however, be dealt with separately. The hearing promises to be long, tedious and complicated. The Telephone Subscribers' Association will be represented at the hearing.

In its petition for retention of the government's rates the telephone company dwells at length upon the high cost of labor and material as increasing the cost of furnishing telephone service, and states that by reason of the exigencies created by the war and the requirements of the government it was unable to make such additions to its system as normally would have been made to provide for the growth of the business; that considerable sums will immediately be required for the making of additions, extensions and improvements, and that an increase in revenues is necessary to meet these demands, and to "provide a fair return on the property used and useful in the public service." Therefore it asks for permission to establish a rate that will do this.

President Ordered To Remain In Bed

President Wilson's condition showed no noticeable change the past two days. Although he has been improving steadily, Dr. Grayson's bulletins show fear to have the President attempt his executive labors lest he exert himself and cause a relapse, and insist that he remain in bed.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Statement By The United States Council Of Defense

The United States Council of National Defense, composed of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor, has made a careful investigation of the high cost of living problem and finds:

That the Nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since the armistice. That too few goods, notably the necessities of life, have been produced, and that even some of these goods have been withheld from the market and therefore from the people.

That the high cost of living is due in part to unavoidable war waste and increase of money and credit. That there has been and is considerable profiteering, intentional and unintentional.

The Council believes that the remedies for the situation are: To produce more goods, and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people. To stamp out profiteering and stop unnecessary hoarding. To enforce vigorously present laws and promptly to enact such further new laws as are necessary to prevent and punish profiteering and needless hoarding. To bring about better co-operation and method in distributing and marketing goods. To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what goods are needed and as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands.

Goods and not money are the means of life. Better standards of living are impossible without producing more goods. Man cannot consume what has not been produced.

At the war's end our Allies had desperate need of the essentials of life. We have had to share our resources with them, but this drain will gradually lessen. In so far as our shortage of goods is due to this cause we can well afford to be patient.

It is just as essential that we have patience with the economic situation here at home. The process of production requires time. If production is rapidly increased, vastly improved conditions will prevail in America when the results of present and future labor begin to appear.

Team work is imperative. It is just as essential between retailer, wholesaler and producer as it is between employer and employee. One group of producers cannot wait on another group. The manufacturer, the farmer, the distributor must each immediately assume his part of the burden and enter upon his task. The Nation cannot afford curtailment of goods vital to the people.

On American business rests a grave responsibility for efficient co-operation in bringing about full and proportionate production. On American labor rests an equally grave responsibility to attain maximum unit production and maintain uninterrupted distribution of goods if labor itself is not to suffer from further rises in the cost of living. The entire Nation—producer, distributor and consumer alike—should return to the unity that won the war. Group interest and undue personal gain must give way to the good of the whole country if the situation is to be squarely met.

Our common duty now, fully as much as in war, is to work and to save. In the words of the President in his address to the country on August 25th, 1919, only "by increasing production, and by rigid economy and saving on the part of the people, can we hope for large decreases in the burdensome cost of living which now weighs us down." Work, save, co-operate, produce.

To Go After Tax Dodgers

A special drive to locate merchants and manufacturers who have followed erroneous methods in making their inventories for the taxable years 1917 and 1918, such methods tending to reduce the liability, is about to be made by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, it was announced last Thursday.

In cases of voluntary disclosures before investigation of failure to make proper return and payment, the policy of the bureau, it was stated, will be to forego penalties, except where there is intentional evasion of the tax. Where the discovery is made by government officers heavy penalties will apply.

A warning issued by the Bureau advises taxpayers who have followed such methods to file correct returns without notice and without investigation. Some taxpayers voluntarily have notified the Bureau of the employment of incorrect methods and are filing amended returns. It is only fair to these taxpayers, the Bureau states, that their competitors who have made similar errors should be located.

Gold comes in quartz, and some people kick because it doesn't come in gallons.

Americanization

By DORA H. MOLLAN

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A March wind is no respecter of persons. Ruth Devereaux was twenty-eight and still pretty when she hurried down the main street of her home town on a blustering March day. Her cape flew back and disclosed its brilliant lining. Her small arched feet were neatly shod in brown oxfords. Brown woolen hose covered slender ankles and shapely—but the liberties taken by the miniature cyclone were no fault of Ruth's.

One hand grabbed tightly the straight-brimmed sailor and the other carried a bulky parcel.

A tall man stood in the doorway of the street car waiting room, but Ruth didn't see him as, head down, draperies flying, she made for that haven. Prodded by a harder gust than usual, like a ship with all sails set riding before the gale, she arrived full against his stalwart bulk.

The tall man braced for the encounter. He grasped the scurrying figure with one hand and with the other opened the door. Ruth, looking up from under the brim of her dignified sailor, now rakishly askew, and through straggling brown curls, gasped:

"Why, good afternoon, Mr. Ogden. Thanks for the rescue. That miniature Flatiron building across the street may be the pride of the town, but it certainly convives with the wind to bring low the pride of mortals."

"Well, it's an ill wind that brings no one good, and I'll have the pleasure of the ride up with you," the tall man replied. "There comes our car now."

"But I'm not on my way home," Ruth explained. "I'm bound in the opposite direction—for Bank street." "Bank street! At this time of day!" ejaculated Ogden.

"Yes, Bank street, this time of day—alone," repeated Ruth. "You had better hurry or you'll lose your car."

"Bother my car," returned the man. "I'm going to put you on yours first. Here it is now." Ruth hurried out and Ogden after her. "But, please, Miss Devereaux," he pleaded, "let me go with you; that's a bad neighborhood."

"Nonsense! I'm as safe down there as in my own home. Why, some one out of nearly every family has been in my class at one time or another. I go every week and have supper with Katy and Virgilus."

Plainly this explanation was Greek to Ogden. Ruth's foot was on the step of the car as she laughed at his puzzled expression. "Come and see me some time and I'll tell you all about it," she said.

"Tomorrow evening?" questioned the tall man eagerly.

"Yes," Ruth flung back over her shoulder.

When Ogden crossed the street next evening—for he boarded directly opposite to Ruth's home—March Wind was still on his job. But the bright fire on the hearth in the big quiet living room, and Ruth in a rose crepe dress, with rebellious curls neatly coiffed, made a decided contrast to their meeting of the afternoon before.

"You see, nothing happened to me down in the 'bad' neighborhood," his hostess remarked, brightly. "Have this comfy chair; it's dad's favorite, and here's his smoking stand. It's bridge club tonight, so I'm alone."

Though this was the tall man's first call at the Devereaux home, he felt immediately at ease and sank into the big chair after a few words of appreciation of the cheer and comfort of a fire on such a night.

"First of all I'll amplify my rather enigmatical explanation of my expeditions into the Italian quarter," Ruth began. "Then we can have a cosy talk about things in general. You see, I taught in the evening school here the first three winters after leaving college. There wasn't as much interest taken in Americanization then; the compensation was small and there was trouble in finding competent teachers. I was restless doing nothing, and that work appeals to me."

Virgilus is a strapping young Italian who came to me the first year. He was a deep-sea diver then, and highly paid; but he gave that up and took something at the submarine base which paid less because he hated to miss a single night at school. Well, naturally, such perseverance pleased me, so I was glad to find him on hand promptly the opening night of the next year. That year Katy came to school—a little Irish-American who had been taken out of school too young. She worked in a mill, and was passionately fond of reading."

Ruth had been watching the fire as she talked, but now she glanced up laughingly at the tall man sitting opposite. "Mother says I'm a born matchmaker, and I fear she's right, for from the first time I saw Virgilus watching Katy with that faithful, adoring look you see in the eyes of an old setter dog, I made up my mind to help things along. When there were rumors of a 'Jack the Huggin' in Katy's neighborhood I asked the big Italian to see that Katy got home safely. So he established the habit of going home with her. About this time the shipbuilding boom struck on, and at my suggestion Virgilus tried for a job at the shipyard and, because he was a diver, they offered him $50 a week. But soon after that a falling beam struck him on the shoulder, and he was in the hospital two weeks. I took Katy to see him, and on one of our visits what I had been hoping for happened. I left them alone for a moment, and when I returned Virgilus told me the old, old story; but puzzled me by adding, with longing eyes fixed on little Katy, 'We must wait till war gets over.'"

"The nurse sent us away then, but I determined to go alone soon and have a talk with him. What do you think that big, fine fellow told me? That he was sending thirty of that weekly fifty to Italy. He was supplying funds to three families of relatives and to a cousin, a prisoner in Austria. 'But surely,' I expostulated, 'you and Katy can manage on the twenty a week for the present, anyway.' Then Virgilus came out with the astonishing statement that he wanted to wait until he could give Katy a 'nice-a home like-a American girls—and clothes like mine! I asked him if he would leave it to me to find out how Katy felt on the subject. Of course I knew," Ruth added pensively, "how any woman would feel if she really loved a man." Then, rousing herself, she concluded brightly: "So they were married and lived happily ever afterward. I helped them fix up their two little rooms. There is a baby now and so much money doesn't have to go across the water, so they get along very well. That's all of my tale. Now you talk."

The big man's eyes had much that setter dog look when he spoke. "Miss Devereaux," he said, "would you feel that way if you really loved a man?"

"Yes," she answered, meeting his eyes bravely, "I would."

"I earn seventy-five dollars a week," Ogden continued, "and twenty-five of that I send to my mother. Could you be happy sharing the remainder, with prospects of more after a while, if I can make you love me? Would you give up this?" looking around the spacious room.

"Mother and dad began on twelve a week," answered Ruth.

ODD TASTE IN ADORNMENT

Natives of Portuguese East Africa Regard Empty Condensed-Milk Tins as Desirable Ornaments.

The odd predilections of the African native in the way of personal ornament and adornment have always been a subject to excite wonderment in the average white man, without in the least creating in him any particular desire for imitation. The native of Uganda, in top-hat and cuffs, especially has proved to be an excellent subject for the caricaturist of the African "on his heath." But the natives of Portuguese East Africa have surely a claim to making something like a record for odd adornment, if the story of a British noncommissioned officer just returned from that country is to be believed. He says: "During the trek into the interior, a distance of over 950 miles was covered, and it was necessary to replace our stocks of food at each native encampment we reached. The native folk always protested volubly that the feeble enemy had taken all they had, but we soon learned that the best medium for getting what we wanted was an empty tin or Boveril bottle, carefully polished beforehand. The production of these articles was always instantaneous in effect, and in one group of hutments, one of the unsophisticated 'darkies' was a striking advertisement for a condensed-milk firm, for we left her with a string of empty tins hanging round her neck."

Commons Keeps Old Habits.

The election of the speaker of the British house of commons was carried out with the ancient formalities. The members named as mover and seconder of his nomination were indicated by the clerk in the old custom, the clerk pointing his finger at the person appointed to move, indicating his privilege, and after his speech doing a like office for the seconder.

The house cheered each action, and after voting the speaker to his office the mover and seconder seized the speaker and gently lifted him into his seat. The ceremony was over.

The American hens laid 40,000,000,000 eggs last year, and the outlook for the present year is said to be even better.

KEEP A HOUSEHOLD BUDGET

Practically Impossible to Run Home Without Employment of Good Business Methods.

It must be admitted that business system is desirable in the home, for the very good and simple reason that, manifestly you cannot carry on successfully any kind of business without more or less bookkeeping, writes Carl Marshall in Thrift. But often you will hear some easy-going housekeeper say: "That's too much trouble; I have enough other things to do without bothering with accounts. Besides, what's the use? It costs you just so much to live anyway, and keeping accounts won't make the amount any less."

Lazy or inefficient folk are seldom at a loss for self-justification of this sort. Some of us can remember the old-fashioned country storekeeper who used to spend most of his time sitting on a box whittling or gossiping with the loafers when he should have been studying his business. This cheerful soul held the same views as the slack housekeeper.

But we do not see much more of this old-fashioned, happy-go-lucky country merchant. He has long ago been put out of business by his enterprising competitor who learned the value of good bookkeeping.

The answer to those who would shirk home-account-keeping is simply this: You cannot plan your affairs with any certainty unless you know about them, and you cannot know about them unless you keep records of them.

HIGHEST HONORS PAID POET

Men of Every Walk in Life in Procession That Followed Robert Burns to Grave.

Robert Burns died at Dumfries, Thursday, July 21, 1796, at the age of 37. Sunday evening, July 24, the body was carried to the Trades hall, in the High street, and from there, on Monday, July 25, it was borne to the churchyard of St. Michael's. The poet was buried with military honors. Soldiers lined the streets and a firing party, with arms reversed, marched first. The coffin was carried on the shoulders of the poet's brother volunteers. To the music of the "Dead March in Saul," the long procession walked down the High street of Dumfries and along St. Michael street to the churchyard. The soldiers who took part in the funeral were the Gentlemen Volunteers of Dumfries, to which the poet belonged; the Fencible Infantry of Angusshire and the regiment of cavalry of the Cinque Ports. The two latter bodies were at that time quartered in Dumfries, and offered their assistance. Among the junior officers of the Cinque Ports regiment was the Hon. Robert Bank Jenkinson, afterwards the second earl of Liverpool and prime minister of Great Britain from 1812 to 1827. The principal inhabitants of Dumfries and the surrounding countryside walked in the procession and a vast concourse of people witnessed the funeral.

"The Faery Queen."

As a work of art "The Faery Queen" at once astonishes us by the wonderful fertility and richness of the writer's imagination, by the facility with which he finds or makes language for his needs, and above all, by the singular music and sweetness of his verse. The main theme seldom varies; it is a noble knight, fighting, overcoming, tempted, delivered; or a beautiful lady plotted against, distressed, rescued. The poet's influence of fancy and speech gives a new turn and color to each adventure. But besides that, under these conditions there must be monotony; the poet's art, admirable as it is, gives room for objections. There was looseness and carelessness, partly belonging to his age, partly his own. In the use of materials, nothing comes amiss to him. He had no scruples as a copyist. He took without ceremony any piece of old metal—word, story or image—which came to his hand, and threw it into the melting pot of his imagination, to come out fused with his own materials, often transformed, but often unchanged. The effect was sometimes happy, but not always so. —Churchill.

To Preserve China.

Many a lover of fine china has been heartbroken to discover her choice dinner or tea set lined with hairlike cracks. Hot tea or chocolate poured into dainty cups cracks them instantly. A Chinese merchant gave this bit of information when a rare tea set was purchased from him. "Before using delicate china place it in a pan of cold water. Let it come gradually to the boil and allow the china to remain in the water till cold." This tempers the china, and it is capable of withstanding the sudden expansion caused by the heat. There is no need of repeating the treatment for a long time."

Flower Show Old Institution.

The flower shows of English villages have an ancient origin, though few people may ever stop to give the matter a thought. The ancestry of the floral fete reaches back to the days of Old, the poet. As for when flower shows were first held in England, it cannot be certainly known, but it is a fact that if they did not actually introduce them, the worsted manufacturers from Flanders, fleeing the wrath of Philip and Alva, in 1567, gave a flip to the practice. To these people English gardens of Elizabeth's time owed such favorites as the gillyflower and the carnation.

HER MISTAKE

By MILDRED WHITE

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union) Janey sat a long while with the letter in her hand. In fancy she was going over that long blissful time since she had met Robert and the tenor of her life had been forever changed. Before that, it was an uneventful routine.

But after Robert's advent, unrest had stirred within her, and dissatisfaction with life's simple homeliness. Robert Tabor, city business man, had bought as an investment, the great farm near Janey's home, and when the caretaker had been duly installed, Robert Tabor came out to look the place over. So pleased and interested was he, that he lingered for weeks, seeking and finding hospitality in Janey's home.

It had never been her opportunity to hear at first hand of remote wonderful parts of the world, for this engaging man from the city had traveled and learned much. It was a never ceasing delight to ride over the farm lands, in his swift running car, or to drive at his side in a light carriage through the narrower paths.

Janey's guardian aunt was quite willing that this should be so, she had no wish to keep Janey forever at her side. All at once Janey had been ashamed of the simple cut of her home-made frocks, her lack of knowledge of the ways of the great outside world.

"I want to go to the city," she confided to her new friend. "I want to learn to be like them."

"Clothes you mean?" Robert Tabor had asked, amused.

"Clothes, manners, everything," Janey declared.

The aunt, much persuaded, arranged with an old friend in the city to have Janey visit her there, and Robert—as both now called him—continued kind with his attentions. In his care Janey visited restaurants, opera, theaters; with him she had driven through the beautiful parks.

"Oh! how I love it all!" she said. Home seemed very dull afterward. Robert's visits to his farm were the only bright spots, and as fall drew near and these visits threatened to cease, Janey grew wan in apprehension.

With the harvest moon looking down upon them, glorifying their radiant faces—Robert had asked Janey to marry him and she had consented.

Robert wanted her, he longed for her and despotic business held him tied in the city. Would she come for a visit to his married sister's home? Would she come?

In a fever of joyful anticipation Janey rushed to her aunt's room to begin preparation. Robert was pale and worried looking when he met her at the station. Absently he glanced over the modish suit and hat which had cost her aunt a forbiddingly extravagant price.

In the brilliant gathering which his sister generously arranged for Janey her fear grew, at his gloomy abstraction. This taciturn man was a different person certainly from the joyously enthusiastic master of the farm. And Robert's sister had assured Janey that she need have no anxiety on the score of adjustability.

"You seem to have grown up among us dear," she said.

At the hotel dinner, smiling into her lover's eyes across the roses heaped between them, Janey saw a shadow there.

"You like all this, don't you?" Robert asked.

"So much," she agreed, ever eager to please.

Futilely she asked herself each night in what she had failed for her fiancé seemed to grow more distantly absorbed. Suddenly Janey longed with homesick yearning for the restful atmosphere of the country she knew, for the long walks through the silent places where she could think seriously or find herself again. For Janey realized that her life of late had been but profitless effort to learn the part she would be expected to play in the future, and in sickness of heart she wondered if she would be able to carry that weary part through with Robert always unappreciative at her side. Frankly but with a tremulous catch in her voice, Janey told him one day her problem.

"I don't seem to fit in Robert," she said, "no matter how hard I try. I'm a disappointment to you, I feel it. Take me back to the quiet place that I best know, and leave me there."

Unbelieving, her lover stared into her face.

"But you used to tell me," she said "that you longed for the life of a city! That is why, after I had bought the farm, intending to make it my headquarters, that I returned again to the business world, for your sake, Janey, because you said you loved gayety. My youthful years have been crowded full of work and care. It was my dream that in early success I might find leisure, again to enjoy those things that I loved as a boy. But without your presence I cannot now enjoy anything."

"Could you be happy with me out there Janey? When tired of fields and meadows, we would travel. Could you go back with me dear, to the farm?" Through tears Janey smiled at him. "Why Robert," she said, "it will be just like going straight back to Paradise."

Wedding Ring Is Changed.
The wedding ring was not always plain, as we see it today. It was frequently highly ornamented and wrought with various designs. But as other rings began to be worn the wedding ring was made conspicuously plain. The practice, however, was long in vogue of inscribing appropriate mottoes on rings. The ring may be said to be symbolic. It is of gold and typifies purity and refinement, whereas its rotundity signifies "the round flowing of mutual love and hearty affection."

As Nature Arranges Them.
If you want to color beautifully, color as best pleases you at quiet times, not so as to catch the eye, nor to look as if it was clever or difficult to color in that way, but so that the color may be pleasant to you when you are happy and thoughtful. Look much at the morning and the evening sky, and much at simple flowers—dog-rose, wood hyacinth, violets, poppies, thistles, heather and such-like—as nature arranges them in the woods and fields.—Ruskin.

Porcupine's Quills Not "Thrown."
The spine of a porcupine, in the usual position, lie nearly flat, with their points directed backward, but when the animal is excited they are capable of being raised. The quills are loosely inserted in the skin and may, on being violently shaken, become detached, a circumstance which probably gave rise to the purely fabulous statement that the animal possesses the power of actually ejecting its quills like arrows or darts at an enemy.

Gem Has Tragic History.
The "Regent" diamond, which is treasured in Paris, and is the queen of all the French national gems, was picked up in 1701 at the Partee mines on the Kistna, by a slave, who, concealing it in a hole cut for its reception in his thigh, escaped with it to the coast. Here he sold it to an English skipper, who, instead of paying the small sum demanded, treacherously killed the slave.

Flamingo Nearing Extinction.
The flamingo's happy hunting ground used to be throughout Florida and many lovely members of its family could be met with in the other hot countries. Very few of them are left now, however, anywhere in this country and many bird lovers predict that in a few years more they will have been killed off until they will be extinct.

Try This Way.
If some one has been unkind to us be kind to others. The great law will bring him a harvest of what he has sown. If we undertake to pay him back, evil for evil, we overstep our authority, and we also make ourselves liable to judgment for the part we take in the affair. We could just as well do something that would bring us a reward.

Antiquity of the Emerald.
The emerald has been known since early times both in Europe and in certain parts of the Orient, where its attractive color and rarity have endowed it with the highest rank. Its name may be traced back to an old word which appeared in Greek as smaragdus, mentioned in Greek by Theophrastus 300 B. C.

Australian Aborigines.
As a hunter the native Australian is marvelously adjusted to his environment. His success lies in an intimate knowledge of the habits of animals. Any animal which leaves a track, however dim, in sand, on rock, or in grass falls an easy prey to the black fellow. Children are taught to track lizards and snakes over bare rocks.

Ancient Elevator.
The earliest mention of a device in any way resembling the modern elevator may be read in Vitruvius, who describes a hoisting machine invented by Archimedes. The elevator of the second century B. C. was worked by ropes coiled upon a winding drum by a capstan and levers.

Wedding Custom.
The custom of throwing an old shoe after a bride is quite misapprehended when it is done by her companions for luck. According to the spirit of the ceremony, which is of very ancient origin, it should be done by the parent or guardian of the bride as indicating a renunciation of all authority over her.

— and from there we went to Japan"

Talk about adventures!

Men in the Navy come home with the kind of experiences that most chaps read of only in the books.

Here's your chance!

Uncle Sam has, as you know, a big Navy and gives red-blooded young fellows like you an opportunity to step aboard and "shove off."

What will you get out of it?

Just this:

A chance to rub elbows with foreign folks in strange parts of the world.

The chance for good honest work on shipboard—the kind of work that teaches you something real; the kind of work that puts beef on your shoulders and hair on your chest.

You will get 30 care-free vacation days a year, not counting shore leave in home or foreign ports.

You will have the kind of comradeship in travel that sailors know.

You will have regular pay over and above your meals, lodging and your first uniform outfit—good stuff all of it.

You can join for two years. When you get through you'll be physically and mentally "tuned up" for the rest of your life. You'll be ready through and through for SUCCESS.

There's a Recruiting Station right near you. If you don't know where it is, your Postmaster will be glad to tell you.

To any Father and Mother:—

In the Navy your boy's food, health, work and play, and moral welfare are looked after by responsible experts.

DELAYED

The importance of answering telephone calls promptly is emphasized when you consider the time lost by slow answering. For instance, nearly 10 per cent. of the calls in one large city in our territory show a delay of one minute before the called person answers. On the 350,000 calls handled daily in that city, this means a loss of more than 583 hours a day.

By answering your telephone promptly and seeing that others in your family or office do likewise, you can do a lot toward cutting out this annoying feature of the service. You will also be helping to make your service everything it should be.

SCRAPS of HUMOR

Liked the Model.
"Oh, Mr. Kipling, is that your child?" said a gushing dame, stopping the poet on one occasion.
"Yes, madam," he answered, none too graciously.
"What a delightfully beautiful and healthy child she is."
"I am reasonably satisfied with her make," returned Kipling, and on he went.

Bad Influences.
"I wish," said Mr. Chuggins, morosely, "that they would succeed in rounding up all the auto handits and rum runners in the world."
"They do a great deal of harm."
"Yes. And what frets me is to find every time I surrender for violating a traffic regulation that my greater fellow criminals have utterly spoiled the dispositions of the police."

Operating.
Church—Is your friend the doctor operating much now?
Gotham—Oh, yes; every day.
"Must be making a lot of money, then?"
"On the contrary, he's losing money. He's doing his operating in Wall street."

HER HOPES.

Alice—It's quite a secret, but I was married last week to Dick Gay!
Jane—Indeed! I should have thought you'd be the last person in the world to marry him.
Alice—Well, I hope I am.

Belated Recognition.
For genius so despised in life.
A wondrous epitaph they plan.
'Tis strange how in this vale of strife
A funeral will improve a man.

In at the Finish.
Askitt—What a long neck Miss Lanky has. Did you ever see her in a low-cut costume?
Tellit—Yes. Once.
Askitt—What did she look like?
Tellit—She looked as though her dressmaker had her skinned a mile.

A Cheaper Way.
"My dear sir, nothing but an operation will save your life."
"What will it cost?"
"About 500."
"But I have only $150."
"In that case let's try what these pills will do."

Tied to Type.
"Nobody wants me except as a villain. I represent a type, but I'm tired of villain parts."
"You're benevolent alongside of me," said the movie actress. "Nobody wants me except as the cruel superintendent of orphan asylums."

Delayed Decision.
"Senator Tybalt says he is retiring to private life for the sake of his family."
"Umph!"
"Maybe he's sincere."
"I doubt it. He managed to put his family by for twenty years."

In Complete Accord.
"Did you ever try to lay down the law to your wife?"
"Yes," declared Mr. Meekton.
"Did you get by with it?"
"I did. After I had agreed to all the amendments she demanded she was perfectly satisfied to do as I said."

Chopping Him Off.
"You have had your say, Mr. Gloom. Now, I contend—"
"I am no more interested in the other side of an argument than I am in hearing both sides of a bass drum," returned J. Fuller Gloom. "Good day!"

Misunderstood.
Fat Old Lady—Could I get a seat near the stage, please.
Box Office—Why, certainly, what row do you want?
Fat Old Lady—Don't get fresh, young man.

UNCLE MEN ARE STILL NOT AFTER THE COIN

But New Securities Offered by Government Are Calculated to Go Far Towards Ending Their Business

Farmers are a great deal more prosperous than they were a few years ago. Nobody knows this any better than that suave and oily gentleman, the "bunco man." The farmer's prosperity has made him a shining mark in these gentry. The fake security man, the stock company promoter and the wily sharper are mighty busy persons just now and a great many of them are "working the country," and working it hard.

Do you recall the "miracle wheat" proposition of a few years ago? May be not by that name, for it had a good many names. One of its aliases was "Jerusalem wheat." Another was "Egyptian wheat." However, the name doesn't matter much for it was all the same thing. Most farmers will recall it, anyway.

When the farmers would not fall for the story any other way they were told that if they would give $10 or maybe $20 a bushel for the seed they could sell the whole harvest back in the fall for the same price per bushel that they paid for the seed.

Of course, some people bought and paid for the seed. And they went ahead and sowed it and waited a year full of trustfulness but the sharper who was to take the crop off their hands failed to show up. They found that they had a very poor grade of wheat, anyway, and it dawned upon them that they had been stung and stung hard and deep.

Right now a good many farmers are being offered all sorts of investments, oil stocks and plantation stocks and a whole lot of other stocks. Some of these are offered in exchange for War Savings Stamps and Liberty Bonds. Some of them, too, are just about on a par with the "miracle wheat" that came from Egypt or Palestine. It will pay about such dividends. It is likely not to pay a cent one way or another. In a few years it will be valuable only as waste paper.

The same United States government that more than a year ago promised the American farmer $2.26 for his wheat, and is making good every day, is now offering the farmer an investment that is just as safe as the wheat that he grew on his farm this year after it is stored in his granary.

New Treasury Saving Certificates, simply a development of the familiar War Savings Stamps, can be had. These certificates are offered in denominations of $100 and $1,000 on the identical terms of the War Savings Stamps.

Eighty-four dollars and twenty cents invested in a $100 Certificate will grow into a $100 bill by January 1, 1924. Multiply these figures by ten and the words will apply to a $1,000 certificate. Or the youngsters, or the person with limited means to invest, may pay $4.21 for a War Savings Stamp and on January 1, 1924, it will be a $5 bill. These securities draw four per cent interest, compounded quarterly.

War Savings Stamps do more than add dollar to dollar. They begin to multiply.

Vitalize the saving habit. Buy War Savings Stamps.

Lend money to your government. Buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

Own a part of the United States government. Buy Thrift and War Savings Stamps.

A stamp in time saves dimes. Buy W. S. S.

Opportunity knocks. It's knocking now. Buy W. S. S.

BANKS GAVE SPLENDID AID IN LOAN DRIVES

Public Should Now Help Them In Their Efforts To Make Country Even More Prosperous.

By Carter Glass,
Secretary of the Treasury.

No group of men in the United States measured up to the test of the great war more admirably than did the bankers. The success of the United States Treasury Department in floating over $21,000,000,000 in Liberty Bonds and Victory Notes during the last two years was due in no small measure to the patriotic co-operation of the banks. They took a most active part in each of the loan campaigns.

They subscribed generously for themselves, made loans to their customers in order that they might buy bonds, and sold bonds on installments to accommodate those having small savings. In other words, the banks did everything possible to promote the sale and distribution of government securities.

The banker can render an equally great service in reconstruction by co-operating with the government in its movement to teach the people of the United States the lessons of sound finance and wise investment. In promoting this cause the banker will aid his institution and the financial situation in general at the same time.

Now that the war is over the people should be impressed with the wisdom of holding their government securities, and also of purchasing more, from time to time. The more generally the people of the United States absorb government securities the greater will be the ability of the commercial banks to devote practically all of their resources to furnishing adequate credit to the commerce and industry of the country.

Providing short-time credit to commerce and industry is their normal peace-time function. The sale and movement of farm crops, manufactured products and other commodities, as well as the continuous and efficient employment of labor, in fact, the whole industrial process will be promoted by permitting the commercial banks to devote all their resources to this function.

The people of the United States should, therefore, be encouraged to pay off their installments and borrowings on bond collateral as rapidly as possible, and also to purchase additional government securities as issued from time to time or in the market. If this is done the people of this country will be benefited in a two-fold way. They will free material and labor for the production of commodities which are now so desperately needed the world over. At the same time they will be strengthening themselves financially.

HOW THEY GROW

Plant a crop. Nothing happens. Nothing that one can see.

Be patient. The seed sprouts. The stalk pushes its way through the earth. Still no sign of fruit.

Be patient. Leaves come out. Buds open. Berries begin to form. Still no harvest.

Be patient. The fruit fills out. It ripens. It matures.

Harvest at last—miraculously increased from a little handful of seed.

But the War Savings Stamp beats this. There is no element of risk.

There is no way to lose. You must win.

Your money works for you. It makes more money all the time.

War Savings Stamps work bank account wonders.

No report of sugar shortage so far from the co-educational colleges.

The boys observe Thrift Day anyway when the Sunday school envelope is passed.

Many women wearing trousers in England. All right. They are now all fixed to do the fall beating of the rugs.

It is claimed that some dealers give short measure of gasoline but automobile owners have got so used to being soaked that they don't mind it.

Suggested that nut and fruit trees be planted along the highways of Maryland. You wouldn't have to set the clock ahead to make the boys get up in the morning then.

Bicycles are becoming popular again to ride to work on, but the time has gone by when the girls felt fine after making a century run on them with some other girl's brother.

At last accounts, the plumbers, carpenters, masons and locomotive engineers were putting in burglar alarms while the capitalists were carelessly leaving their doors unlocked.

The big entering classes at the colleges show the tremendous zeal for culture that was developed when it was demonstrated that college graduates make more money than others.

THE STRAIN OF THE PRESIDENCY

Most people will feel surprise, not that President Wilson has at last fallen sick, but that he stood so long the strain. Few men could have borne the burden.

No one can realize the weight of the load a President carries through a war. The lives of millions of soldiers are in his hands. The conduct of the munition and supply business far exceeds the difficulty of operating any corporation in the United States. And the work of organizing and running all this cannot be built up gradually, it has to be improvised all at once. Every one is anxious and critical and the President must take the responsibility.

Then in addition the problems of readjustment have been far greater than the ordinary peace questions. President Wilson has had to help create a new world order. It has been one long story of conflict and struggle. However one may feel about the President's wisdom, he has taken his load with good nature and self control.

The work of the presidency alone in peace times is enough to break down any ordinary man. Even Mr. Roosevelt, with all his vigor, showed signs of strain when he closed his term. He needed a long period of rest, lacking which his life came to an untimely end.

President Wilson, even on the most hopeful view, is in for a long period of quiet. He cannot keep up the pace. No one could. He has done his best to accomplish the things he has set his heart upon. Now he must leave it at that and let the country work out these problems. There comes a time in the life of every man when he must lay aside his work for a time and let the healing forces of nature promote recovery, or lay it aside forever. Of course President Wilson, in spite of his rather frail appearance, has shown that he has an exceptionally strong constitution which should give him a quicker recovery than the majority of people could expect.

HOME TOWN FEELING

It requires no argument to prove that a feeling of loyalty to one's home town, a spirit of local patriotism, helps it to advance. The difficult question is, how to develop that feeling among people who do not have it. It is like asking how a man who doesn't love his mother shall be persuaded to do so. Love can't be manufactured to order.

A normal minded man loves the very soil of the town where he is earning an honest livelihood and maintaining a home. Those who went before him have laid streets over the rough ground upon which his feet can pass without effort. They have built noble schools in which his children will be made into good citizens. They have established public services that will protect him from thieves and fire and pestilence and the other curses of the world.

A man who isn't willing to give love and labor freely to make some return for that, is not a thoroughly good citizen. However, some well meaning people of narrow outlooks can be shown that it is a business proposition for them to engage in team work with their townspeople.

After a lot of these strikers have had a pleasant and restful vacation sitting around the kitchen at home they will probably go back at the old rates and work a lot better.

COLUMBUS DAY

Columbus Day is now a legal holiday in 33 states and is observed by many organizations in the others. It is appropriate to use these human resting spots to commemorate great events and great men. The exploit of Columbus stands for heroism and adventure and the search for new things in life and is well worthy of special observance.

All life should be a discovery. The majority of people are too content to settle down into the ordinary routine and do the same things today they did last year. But once in a while some heroic character comes along with an intense desire to find new things. In pioneer times there were great unknown territories to be explored. During recent years, man with the temperament of discoverers have attacked difficult and dangerous problems of scientific achievement. Had Columbus lived in the 20th century, he would have been one of the first to use a flying machine.

In a small way every true man or woman should be a discoverer in his daily life. He should be dissatisfied if a year drifts away without revealing to his inquiring mind and persistent energy, some better way of living and working. To accomplish that he will have to take some risks and chances. He may have to give up some certain reward to spend time and effort on experiments. But faith and courage bring their gains in daily life the same as in the field of historic achievement. So Columbus Day stands for hope and courage and facing the unknown. The bright October weather should bring the spirit of determination into every heart with the resolve to discover something useful to ourselves and the community.

The owner of an apple orchard is tremendously impressed this year with the insatiable public demand for his fruit for making vinegar.

POOR MATERIALS IN GOODS

A merchant from another town remarked the other day that the stores in his place are having complaints from the public that clothing and other textile materials are not as good as formerly. Prices, he said, run 75 per cent. higher than they used to, but even at that the stuff the mills are turning out is not up to the old standard. He claimed that this is the complaint all over the country.

This merchant's theory was that the cheapening of material is the reason why all the mills and factories are so busy and labor is scarce. Goods wear out so soon that the production facilities of the country are insufficient to make replacements. The public is complaining everywhere about the high prices and producers attempt to meet the complaint by working in more second grade stuff.

If this is the case, it is certainly poor policy for everyone. Times when labor costs high are times when the best material is needed no matter what the cost. It does not pay to put all this high cost labor into poor material. Better pay double price for an article and get the real stuff in it.

The public is largely to blame for insisting on low priced goods when these are of poor quality. It is the best policy to buy just the same standard material that careful buyers used to select. It won't cost very much more and it will wear twice as long. Second grade stuff of any kind will soon go to pieces.

This will be the unanimous feeling of the merchants of Princess Anne who always counsel their patrons to buy good stuff. They sometimes have to carry cheap goods because the customers demand it. They do not prefer to sell good stuff because it gives a higher percentage of profit, for probably it doesn't. But they hate to send anything out of their stores that won't give satisfaction. Their advice is good and may well be followed.

THE FIRE ON THE HEARTH

Someone asks what shall be done with the man who builds a house without a fireplace in it?

Well, if he is deterred by the present high cost of mason work, most people will have sympathy for him and let him off easy. But if he is one of those new rich folks who for many years put up houses with all the costly modern gewgaws and yet no hearthstone as a family center, let him be taken out and shot at sunrise.

The fire on the hearth is a blessed institution on cool October nights. The dancing flames suggest quiet contemplation and dreamy revelry. Under their calming and cheering influence, old regrets and sorrows fade and life recovers its philosophic poise. The worries and irritations of the day cease to fret. One recovers tranquility under the pleasant influence of fireside conversation. People who build houses miss the heart of the home when they don't provide for the fire on the hearth.

Cost Of Slacking And Loafing

It is just as well that the United States Council of National Defense and the Federal Reserve Board should force home their important viewpoints that one of the most determining factors in the present high cost of living is that industrial slacking and loafing that have been going on in this country as well as all over the world. During the war the military slacker was viewed with contempt and brought to book; but the industrial and civilian slacker mostly escaped attention. Since the armistice, however, the slowing-down process, resulting in underproduction, is coming more to the fore and it requires no special knowledge of economics or of the primary laws of supply and demand to know that such a process, however it may be brought about by labor or by capital, can only add to the increase in the price of those things that are on the market.

The Council of National Defense, it is true, points out that profiteering intentional and unintentional, and the withholding of goods from the market have aided in this great increase in the cost of things. But they also see very clearly and say that the failure to utilize the nation's productive powers since the armistice is the fundamental issue. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Constipation

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc.,

Nine Months' Failure

That the nine months' insolvency statement would make an exceptionally gratifying exhibit the monthly returns this year had plainly indicated, and the record is the best for a long period. Exclusive of banking and other fiduciary suspensions, failures in the United States during the nine months just ended, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., numbered 4,866 and involved $89,941,608 of liabilities, as against 8,069 defaults for $122,975,024 in 1918.

Of the 4,866 defaults in the 9 months this year, 1,425 for $41,487,724 were in manufacturing lines, 2,985 for $27,137,119 among traders, and 446 reverses, with liabilities of $20,316,765, in the class embracing agents, brokers and other concerns not properly included in either of the two leading classifications. These figures compare with 2,184 manufacturing failures for $51,355,909 last year, 5,330 trading insolvencies for $45,448,092, and 555 in other commercial branches, involving $26,171,023. It thus appears that the commercial mortality in the nine months of this year was decidedly smaller than that of 1918 in manufacturing, trading and other commercial branches, with the trading class making relatively the best showing.

An Agreeable Surprise

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. "My another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy."

Those present were: Miss Shirley Dashiell, of Cambridge; Misses Mildred Beauchamp, Ellen D. McMaster, Amanda Lankford, Irene Taylor, Katherine Speights, Mary Adams, Edna White and Mrs. Robert F. Duer, Mrs. E. Herrman Cohn, Mrs. Harry C. Dashiell, Mrs. W. A. N. Bowland, Mrs. Wilmer O. Lankford, Jr., and Mrs. Edgar A. Jones.

The insignificant penny has come into its own because of the luxury taxes now being collected throughout the United States. There was a time especially in the West when pennies were not considered as worth having and nothing less than a nickel passed in business from Denver to California. At present, however, the mints are devoting much time to the coining of pennies and this year the largest number of pennies ever coined in one year will be turned out in the mints of this country, the estimate being about 4,000,000.

New Castle Presbytery Meets

The 101st stated meeting of the New Castle Presbytery was held in Buckingham Presbyterian Church, Berlin, Monday and Tuesday of last week. The guests arrived on the midday trains and were met by the pastor, Rev. J. Russell Verbruyck. A business session was held in the afternoon, which included the transfer of several of the ministers, the Rev. William Gibson from Felton to Georgetown, the Lewes minister to Bethel, Rev. Edward W. Coberth from Wilmington to a New Jersey Presbytery and the Rev. E. A. McLaury, of Odessa, resigning because of ill health.

Monday evening devotional exercises were held, a sermon by Vice Moderator J. H. Burns, of Wilmington, on "Prayer and Faith," and a fine lecture on "The Place of Education on the Program of Life," by Rev. William P. Finney, D. D., of Lincoln University.

Oystermen "Handscraping" Again

According to the State Conservation Commission the illegal practice of "handscraping" is again prevalent among oystermen. This practice consists of using a small oyster handscrape from a powerboat which is licensed to catch oysters with tongs only, or from an unlicensed sailing vessel, and is forbidden by law under heavy penalty.

This year handscraping has been reported to the commission from several points in the upper Choptank river, Manokin river and in the Potomac river off St. George's Island. Prompt measures have been taken to deal with these oystermen and extra police boats have been assigned to each of the places named.

Recent reports from Somerset county and St. Mary's county indicate that the practice has been broken up there, but in the upper Choptank river, near Cambridge, handscrapers have continued to defy the law.

Arrests of handscrapers were made last week in the Choptank river, and in one case a fine of $150 and costs was imposed and in the other case the offender was held for action of the grand jury. His boat, in the meantime, has been seized and condemned as provided by law. The commission is determined to follow up all reports of this illegal practice and to use its best efforts to break up handscraping wherever it occurs.

From the Pocomoke City Worcester Democrat: "Mr. Frank C. Jones, of the Marylander and Herald force, of Princess Anne, was in our town on Tuesday last. We were glad to see him and to talk of by-gone days in the printing business."

Service Men Take Notice

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance wishes to emphasize the importance to service men of one of the provisions of the War Risk Insurance Act upon the fulfillment of which may depend the validity of their claim to compensation under the Act.

The War Risk Insurance Act provides that "No Compensation shall be payable for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service, except that where, after a medical examination made pursuant to regulations, at the time of discharge or resignation from the service, or within such reasonable time thereafter, not exceeding one year, as may be allowed by regulations, a certificate has been obtained from the director to the effect that the injured person at the time of his discharge or resignation was suffering from injury likely to result in death or disability."

Many discharged men are not familiar with or are inclined to disregard this provision of law and are allowing their rights thereunder to lapse. Request for the certificate mentioned above should be made to the Chief Medical Advisor, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C.

BAPTISTS PLAN RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

BODY CHARGED WITH DUTY OF OUTLINING HOW 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN CAN PROMOTE THAT TASK REACHES FIELD—DR. LOVE OUTLINES THE NEED AND ISSUES CALL

DR. J.F. LOVE
FOREIGN
BOARD

DR. Z.T. CODY
EDITOR BAPTIST COURIER

REV. EVERETT GILL
MISSIONARY AT ROME

To make a general survey of the economic, social and religious conditions in Europe with a view to recommending to the Baptists of the South where and how they can aid most effectively in the reconstruction of that continent through the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, a commission, composed of Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board at Richmond, Va.; Dr. Z. T. Cody, editor Baptist Courier, Greenville, S. C., and Rev. Everett Gill, missionary at Rome, Italy, who is returning after a leave of absence in this country, and who will serve as guide and interpreter to the other members, is now in England for a conference with the Baptists of Great Britain and will go from there for an inspection of France and Belgium.

Another brief conference will be held with the Baptists of Switzerland, after which a trip will be made through Italy and a survey of the new republic of Czechoslovakia conducted. From Prague, capital of Bohemia, the commission will go into such parts of Russia as are open, and the foreign trip will be concluded with an inspection of Palestine, where the missionary work formerly done in Syria, Persia and Galilee by the Illinois Baptist Association has been turned over to the Foreign Mission Board.

There are approximately 4,250 Baptist churches in Europe today, with 3,000 pastors and missionaries and 566,800 church members. It is announced by the headquarters of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, and a considerable sum from this campaign will go toward succoring needy families of Baptists and others in the war-torn regions as well as in the propagation of the gospel and the establishment of Christian institutions there. It is announced. Before sailing on the Adriatic on his European mission, Dr. Love made the following statement outlining the purpose of the commission:

"When the call came to help save promote and secure democracy in Europe there came a louder call to help save, promote and secure evangelistic Christianity in Europe. That which alone will now preserve and perfect the democracy for which brave men have died on the battlefield of Europe is the Christianity of the New Testament. Southern Baptists can not long profess New Testament Christianity and decline a challenge like that which is now presented to them to bear witness to their faith among the peoples of Europe. Our people never before faced such a challenge and such a responsibility.

"Of course we can not go to the men and women of Europe who have been stripped of earthly fortune and reduced to direst necessity with a message of Christian love and brotherhood if we decline in our abundance to carry some substantial pledge of our love and compassion. Mothers will not be able to stay the crying of their little ones to hear us preach if we decline to practice the gospel of compassion and feed these little ones and build fires at which they can during the coming winter warm their frost-bitten toes. Southern Baptists are under the most solemn obligation to help relieve the want and suffering of Europe. But if there were no reconstruction work in Europe, Southern Baptists have motives numerous enough and strong enough to compel them to make a complete success of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign. I would therefore, as my parting word to my brothers and sisters of the South, implore them to give themselves to this campaign and carry it to a triumphant conclusion during Victory Week, November 30-December 7."

$4,800,000 TO BE RAISED FOR HOSPITALS

A modern hospital illustrative of the type of buildings Southern Baptists are employing in the relief of human suffering.

In their work of relieving human physical suffering Southern Baptists at present own and control fourteen hospitals and there are under course of construction and about ready to be opened at least two more, with considerable progress made toward the erection of others. All of these institutions are liberally patronized and are self-supporting but all of them need to be enlarged in order to meet the rapidly-growing demands upon them. The demand for charity work is especially urgent and in order to enable them to thus render a needed service to those who are least able to help themselves as well as to provide larger facilities for the regular work the hospitals are doing the sum of $4,800,000 has been apportioned to them from the proceeds to be raised in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

This work of relieving the physical infirmities of men, women and children and thus putting them on the road to better health and larger efficiency and usefulness was begun within the bounds of the Southern Baptist convention in 1890 when the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium was opened in St. Louis. From a very small beginning in a residence with less than a dozen beds, this institution has grown into a modern institution with more than 200 beds.

Other Baptist hospitals in the South include Baptist Hospital, Muskogee, Okla.; Baptist Hospital, Miami, Okla.; Baptist Hospital, Cushing, Okla.; Baptist Memorial Hospital, Memphis, Tenn.; Georgia Baptist Hospital, Atlanta; Oklahoma Baptist State Hospital, Oklahoma City; Baptist Hospital, Columbia, S. C.; Texas Baptist Memorial Sanitarium, Dallas; Baptist Hospital, Houston, Tex.; Baptist Hospital, Alexandria, La.; Baptist Hospital, Jackson, Miss.; St. Louis Baptist Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., and the Kansas City Baptist Hospital at Kansas City, Mo.

DAIRY FACTS

TESTING FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Every Precaution Should Be Taken to Prevent Contamination From Older Animals.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Calves may become infected with tuberculosis at an early age, and any effort to eradicate this dreaded disease from the herd should not overlook the younger animals. Diseased stock may undoubtedly transmit the ailment to calves by association with them in the same stable or feedlot, and even by contact through a fence which divides the younger from the older animals.

The youngest age at which department of agriculture veterinarians recommend testing calves for tuberculosis is six months. In special instances, Young Stock Running With Older Animals—They Are Subject to Tuberculosis If Any of Older Animals Have Disease.

however, numbers of animals under this age have been satisfactorily tested with tuberculin. The present regulations of the bureau prescribe a dose of two cubic centimeters of tuberculin for calves ranging from six months to one year of age.

MILK STRAINERS COMPARED

Absorbent Cotton and Filter Cloth More Effective Than Wire Gauze or Cheesecloth.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Clean milk depends primarily on sanitary methods of production, but milk strainers as commonly used also have a direct bearing on the quality of commercial milk. Certain kinds of strainers cause milk to appear clean, but fail to remove all impurities. Of all the milk filters in common use only two—absorbent cotton and filter cloth—are reasonably efficient in actually improving the commercial quality of milk. Even these filters must be kept clean and changed frequently to insure satisfactory results.

According to reports from about forty thousand farmers wire gauze strainers are in more general use than any other kind, but studies with the microscope show plainly that the meshes are much too large to hold back any but the very coarse impurities. One thickness of cheesecloth or other cotton cloth is only slightly more effective than a wire gauze strainer, but when the cloth is folded to about eight thicknesses its ability to remove dirt in milk increases somewhat, but is still inefficient as compared to absorbent cotton or filter cloth.

Filter cloth, a specially made cotton cloth, smooth on one side and "fuzzy" on the other, was found reasonably effective. This cloth can be obtained from leading dairy supply houses. The milk should be poured on the fuzzy side, the fibers of which stand up like the nap of a carpet, and remove all but a small percentage of the solid impurities. The most effective strainer of all, however, according to the experiments, was a layer of absorbent cotton placed between two thicknesses of cheesecloth.

At best straining milk is a practice that makes milk appear clean and therefore more easily salable, but no strainer removes either the bacteria and objectionable flavors or the very fine dirt. As a consequence straining milk fails to improve its wholesomeness to any noticeable degree. Clean milk is best obtained by sanitary methods which prevent, so far as possible, the entrance of dirt into the milk. This can be done best by having clean cows in a clean stable and milking with clean hands into sterilized small-top pails.

DAIRY NOTES

Build your silo; the cows will pay for it.

A change of pasture is good for both cows and pasture.

Cream should be cooled immediately after it is separated.

Best returns from the average dairy cows come between the age of 5 and 8 years.

Do not forget that the separator parts should be washed and sterilized after each use.

A dose of Epsom salts sometimes will cure a case of blood in the cow's milk. It depends on the cause.

BIBLES THAT ARE PRICELESS

Four Copies of Sacred Book Regarded as Treasures by Their Fortunate Owners.

The largest Bible in existence is in the royal library at Stockholm. The covers are made of solid planks, four inches thick, and the pages measure a yard in length. It is estimated that 100 asses' skins must have been used to furnish the 300 parchment leaves of this colossal book. It is considered priceless.

A well-to-do New Yorker is the proud possessor of a manuscript Bible written by his only son, a cripple. He could only work about two hours a day, so he took over two years to complete his task. It does not contain a single error or slip, for if error or slip occurred the youth discarded the whole page. The verses and headings are all in red ink, and the whole is beautifully written.

In a house in Grafton street, London, there is a shorthand Bible which was written at least two centuries before Pitman was born. It was written by an apprentice in the day of James II, when to possess a "common" or "garden" Bible was rather dangerous.

An American lady cherishes a Bible probably as old as the one written in shorthand, which an ancestress baked in a loaf of bread when a house-to-house search was being made for stray copies of the scriptures. The soldiers came to search the house, but it is not a matter of wonder that they failed to find the book, which now, looking pretty old, is the lady's chief treasure.

WHERE BEDS ARE UNKNOWN

Residents of Merida, Yucatan, Enjoy Repose in Hammocks Which May Be Slung Anywhere.

In Merida, Yucatan, the majority of the people do not use beds, in fact very few of them have even seen one. They sleep in hammocks, which are swung across the rooms at night and with no fuss of bedmaking; the person just goes to bed and is gently rocked to sleep by any passing breeze. The climate is so hot that it is only during the months of January and February that a light sheet may be required as covering.

These hammocks are usually made by the mother of the family, writes Lilly deG. Osborn, in St. Nicholas, and consist of thread, more or less fine, woven together on great frames with a kind of shuttle or needle. Some of the designs are wonderfully intricate and the colors beautifully blended. I saw one very large one, made in the colors of the United States flag, which was to be sent up to the United States for a gift. It was certainly a work of art, made of the very finest mercerized thread; and yet the hammock could easily support a weight of 300 pounds. A servant always brings his or her own hammock, which is very convenient.

Quoits Really Ancient Game.

The quoit is a flatish ring of iron, used in playing. It is generally from eight and a half to nine and a half inches in external diameter, and between one and two inches in breadth, convex on the upper side and slightly concave on the under side, so that the outer edge curves downward, and is sharp enough to cut into soft ground. The game played with such rings requires two pins, called hobs, driven part of their length into the ground some distance apart; and the players, who are divided into two sides, stand beside one hob, and in regular succession throw their quoits, of which each player has two, as near the other hob as they can. The side which has the quoit nearest the hob counts a point toward the game, or, if the quoit is thrown so as to surround the hob, it counts two. The game slightly resembles the ancient exercise of throwing the discus, which has, however, been often translated by this English word.

First Wheat Grown in Canada.

The first wheat that ripened in Canadian sunshine was grown in 1607 at Port Royal, now Annapolis Basin, Nova Scotia. Here Champlain and de Monts founded a post and built a fort. They were joined by Marc Lescarbot, a lawyer of Paris, a poet, and the earliest writer of Canadian history. Love of adventure drew him to Port Royal. Outside the palisades of the fort he cultivated a plot of land in part of which he sowed wheat, brought, of course, from France. His sowing was fall or winter wheat. It grew well, ripened perfectly, and with sickles Lescarbot and his associates cut the crop. That was the first wheat crop harvested on land now within the Dominion of Canada.

The Income Tax.

The English income tax, first imposed by Pitt in 1798 as a war tax, was abolished at the Peace of Amiens in 1801, and again imposed on the resumption of hostilities in 1803. At the downfall of Napoleon it ceased to be levied for twenty-six years—1816-1842—when it was reimposed by Sir Robert Peel, in June, 1842, at seven pence in the pound, and produced about five million pounds. As showing the rapid advance of the country in prosperity, the tax which produced about seven hundred and ten thousand pounds for each penny of tax in 1842 yielded two million six hundred and ninety-one thousand four hundred and twenty-two pounds per penny in 1909-1910, and at the present time considerably over three million pounds for each penny.

RATIONS TO PRODUCE MILK

Cow Should Be Fed So That Greatest Possible Amount of Feed Goes to Supply Milk.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many owners of cows are confronted with the problem of supplying economical milk-producing rations for their cows. Under these conditions there is a strong temptation to cut down on the amount given to each animal. The total quantity of feed must be sufficient, and if the concentrates are cut down, more and better roughage must be supplied.

The reduction of feed below a certain amount always means a reduction in the amount of milk the cow produces. There may be exceptional cases where the owner is feeding more than is necessary for the maximum milk production, but the greatest danger is the other extreme. The cow requires a certain amount of feed to maintain her body. The amount she receives above this maintenance ration goes either to meat or milk production. The cow should be fed so that the greatest possible amount of feed goes to actual milk production. A few simple rules are offered to this end.

1. Highly specialized cows, which never carry excessive fat and are persistent milkers, being dry only a month or so, should receive all they will consume. With such cows economy in feeding is equivalent to liberal feeding.

2. With general-purpose cows, or those which tend to beefiness, the dairyman must adjust his feed strictly to the milk produced, or he will find his feed going to form fat instead of milk. Cows of this nature, the milk from which contains about 5 per cent of butterfat, should receive what roughage they will clean up and one pound of grain for every three to three and a half pounds of milk produced. When the milk tests about 3½ per cent, the cow should receive one pound of grain for four to four and a half pounds of milk.

3. Dry cows should receive feed enough to insure their being in good, thrifty milk-producing condition when they freshen. Poor cows drop weak, puny calves and will not produce properly, as they have to use a part of the feed to build up the body.

4. Cows of a beefy nature should not be fed enough to make them excessively fat when dry, as the dairyman does not receive returns from such feed, and excessive fleshiness tends to sterility. On the other hand there is little danger of overfeeding highly-specialized dairy cows which are not dry for more than one month to six weeks, as during this period any flesh put on and not essential to bodily vigor will be turned into milk when they freshen.

ATTENTION TO YOUNG BULLS

When Six Months of Age They Should Be Separated From Females—Don't Retard Growth.

After the bull is six months of age he should be kept apart from the females. If well grown and vigorous, he may be used for occasional service when ten months of age. It is a safer plan, however, not to use the young bull until he is twelve months of age so that his growth will not be retarded. One rule to follow regarding the number of cows with which a young bull may be mated is that the bull may serve during a season as many cows as he is months of age. In herds where the services are distributed throughout the year, instead of during a particular season, the number may be greater, in some cases but one bull being necessary for a herd of 40 to 50 cows.

Mt. Vernon

Oct. 10—Mr. James Bailey spent the week-end in Baltimore.

Mr. Lloyd Barbon left last week for Dover, Del., where he attends school.

Mrs. Samuel Scott and Mr. Thomas Simpkins, who have been quite ill, are improving.

Mrs. E. A. Jones, of "Millwood," has gone to Salisbury, where she expects to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Maude Baum.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hitch and four children, Mrs. Annie Jones, of Fruitland, and Miss Eunice Powell, of Princess Anne, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Arch Keshaw.

The remains of Mrs. Hetty Lloyd, wife of Mr. Otis Lloyd, who died at her home in Salisbury Wednesday, October 1st, after an illness of several days from Bright's disease, were brought here for burial in the cemetery adjoining Grace P. E. Church, Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by Dr. C. E. Koon, rector of St. Peter's Church.

Perryhawn

Oct. 10—Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Marriner, were recent guests of Mr. W. T. Howard, at Pitts Creek.

Many people of this community are having molasses made at Mr. J. H. Alder's cane mill.

Miss Twila Orvis spent several days last week at the home of Mr. James Noel, near Princess Anne.

Mr. C. M. Orvis, who has been employed at Chester, is spending some time with his family at this place.

The Ladies Aid of Perryhawn Church met at the home of Mrs. Harry Brown Tuesday evening and an enjoyable time was spent.

The following were supper guests at the home of Mr. C. L. West Tuesday: Rev. and Mrs. Vichell, Miss Grace Alder, Miss Hazel Brittingham, Mrs. Noah Gibbons, Mrs. B. T. Dykes and Miss Maude Miller.

A meeting of the official board of Perryhawn Christian Church was held Wednesday evening, at which time Mr. F. W. Marriner tendered his resignation as church treasurer. Mr. J. A. Holland was elected his successor.

Foolish Question.

"Would you advise me to keep out of politics?"

"Young man," replied Senator Sorghum, "you were born a citizen; the voting privilege is yours whether you desire it or not; you are going to be taxed and generally supervised by the people you assist in electing to office. There's no such thing as keeping out of politics."

History.

"You say your son is a great student of history?"

"Yes."

"But I never see him paying much attention to books."

"No. He is willing to let bygones be bygones. He gets the really important history fresh every day in the newspaper."

It Certainly Would.

"Pop."

"Yes, my son."

"Who was Pocahontas?"

"She was an Indian princess of Virginia, who saved John Smith's life."

"Well, pop, it would be some contract if she was called upon to do that same act for all the John Smiths to-day, now, wouldn't it?"

Kindly Effort.

We shut ourselves away from so much beauty, from so much charm, from so much that is lovely and of value when we use life roughly instead of looking upon each day as a jewel to be treasured and each hour an opportunity for joy and service. How many days are spoiled by just one rude word, one unkindly speech, one rough act. And spoiled not only for us but for others. And how many days are made more gracious, how many hearts are made more tender by just the kind word, the gentle act, the sincere and loving effort to be kind.

CONSERVE THE SMALL OYSTER

Enforce Cull Law On Rocks Where Oysters Are Caught

The Conservation Commission of Maryland has sent a letter to the deputy commanders and inspectors which is good advice to the oystermen of the tidewater counties. The letter was sent to us for publication and is as follows:

"The unusually warm weather of this fall has largely retarded the demand for oysters through the country and consequently the packing houses have been short of orders, but we are now at the verge of a change in weather which we might expect will suddenly boom up the trade and with increased demand for shell stock become a temptation for the catcher to be careless about culling.

"We therefore remind you again of the need for rigid enforcement of the Cull Law on the rocks where the oysters are caught.

"The most efficient inspection ashore at the oyster houses, although it may cause the culling of the cargo and collection of fines, does not always enable the return of the culled-out small oysters to the oyster beds from whence they were taken. Small oysters taken in some remote river and carried to any of the big markets where they are recaptured cannot be returned to their far-off river. You will see, therefore, that the only way you can conserve the small oysters for your people is to make them cull where they catch them.

"We want you to not only enforce this law but to preach and talk among the oystermen so they can appreciate the value of it and by this reason determine to co-operate with you."

Robert W. Adams Dies Suddenly

Mr. Robert W. Adams died suddenly at his home last Saturday night at 9 o'clock of heart trouble, aged 72 years.

Mr. Adams was a well-known and prosperous farmer and was a son of the late Morris H. Adams and Eleanor Adams. Mr. Adams was born in 1847 on the "Maple Grove" farm, in Dublin district, Somerset county, and has resided in the county all his life. For the past 20 years he has been a resident of Princess Anne. Mr. Adams was always interested in public affairs and well informed regarding them. In 1896 he was the general assessor for Somerset county, representing the Democratic party. He was a member of Manokin Presbyterian Church, of which he was senior elder. He was also one of the directors of the People's Bank of Somerset County.

In 1881 he married Miss Rose Dryden, who died a few years ago. He is survived by two daughters (Mrs. J. S. Clark and Miss Mary L. Adams) and one son (Mr. Morris H. Adams), all of Princess Anne. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Robinson and Mrs. I. T. Costen, of Pocomoke City.

Funeral services were held yesterday (Monday) afternoon at 4 o'clock in Manokin Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Rev. W. L. Freund. The pallbearers were Dr. C. W. Wainwright, Col. Henry J. Waters, Messrs. J. W. Miles, C. M. Dashiell, C. W. Long, W. H. Dashiell and S. Frank Dashiell.

A County Exhibit

A county exhibit of products is an essential feature in advancing the county's interests, along agricultural and stock production lines, and the county that fails to maintain and perpetuate such an exhibit cannot be said to be keeping pace with the progress of time. The slight expense in the planning and making of such an exhibit is many times repaid in stimulating competition and lending encouragement to exhibitors. In addition to that, as a means of advertising your county what better plan have you to suggest?

So important does the State Horticultural Society regard such exhibits that it gives to each county $100 to be divided between the community exhibits. The banks in the county have and doubtless will lend support to an exhibit this fall if solicited. The people should get busy at once, and if everybody will take even a slight interest and make plans to enter something at the exhibit we can have in November an exhibit that will far surpass all previous efforts.

Don't forget that everybody includes you, and you should not fail to have your exhibit on the exhibit list for the Third Annual Agricultural Exhibition which will be held in the Court House, Princess Anne, on November 20th, 21st and 22nd.

Persons having discarded outer clothing and underwear, shoes, blankets, comforts and other useful articles are requested to bundle the same and place them upon the porches of their residence so that they may be collected on Thursday, October 23rd, to be packed and sent to Armenian households.

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS

Maryland Agricultural Society At Hagerstown Oct. 28th to 31st

Every farmer and his family who can possibly leave home for two or three days should plan to attend the national and state conference of farmers and home makers at Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 28th to 31st. This is the first time that the Farmers' National Congress has ever met in Maryland. Leaders in agriculture from all parts of the United States will attend this meeting.

All of the state associations affiliated with the Maryland Society including the Horticultural Society, Crop Improvement Association, Dairymen, Vegetable Growers and Bee-keepers will meet in conjunction with the Congress. A splendid program has been arranged for three days. Prominent speakers will discuss timely subjects affecting all phases of the agricultural industry Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Friday and Saturday will be devoted to field excursions to Hancock and Gettysburg.

The dates of the meetings were arranged at this time in order that visiting delegates may be able to view Western Maryland at one of the picturesque periods of the year—beautiful autumn. It is a particularly pleasant and enjoyable period for motoring on the state roads leading to Hagerstown from all parts of Maryland.

The citizens of Hagerstown and Washington county are making elaborate plans for the accommodation and entertainment of all delegates and visitors to these meetings. The Maryland Society trusts that every farmer will endeavor to attend this memorable meeting.

Head Of The Bell System Resigns

Frank H. Bethell, president of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and Associated Companies, and active head of the Eastern Group of telephone companies of the Bell System covering the Middle Atlantic states, has announced that he will resign from the telephone companies to become vice-president in charge of finances of the White Oil Corporation, a new combination of oil interests being formed by a group of prominent New York bankers.

Mr. Bethell, as the active head of the Bell System's entire Eastern Group of operating companies, has had under his management the providing of telephone service for more than 2,500,000 subscribers in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, the District of Columbia, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, and the direct supervision of expenditures in excess of $100,000,000 annually.

H. B. Thayer, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, said that he was extremely sorry that the business was to lose Mr. Bethell as an officer of a number of the constituent companies in the Bell System. Mr. Thayer further stated that while no definite plans had been made, the present organization would not be disturbed and that all officers and employees now reporting to Mr. Bethell will report to H. F. Thurber, vice-president.

Large Sums Returned to State

Governor Harrington said Wednesday that over $100,000 would be turned over to the state treasury from the various branches of the state government. These institutions and boards are making their returns of unexpended balances.

So far the Adjutant General's office has returned $6,500; the Board of Public Works, $16,383; State Health Department, $8,000; Conservation Commission, $15,000; Bureau of Labor and Statistics, $1,232; Live Stock Sanitary Board, $1,200; Public Service Commission, $3,100; Rosewood Training School, $2,700; Land Commissioner, $600; the Commission for Uniformity of Laws, $150.

These amounts represent round figures and, with several others to hear from, Governor Harrington says that over $100,000 will be reverted.

The Governor is preparing a list of institutions which the law requires shall have their accounts audited by the state auditor, and each one of these institutions will be given the "once over," to see that every penny shall be accounted for.

Mr. George LePage, of Gloucester county, Va., spent last Wednesday in Princess Anne. Mr. LePage, 25 years ago, owned the "Dingley Dell" farm, situated about 7 miles from here and this was his first visit to our town since he moved to Virginia. He was surprised at the many changes and improvements made here since he left Somerset.

Mr. James Taylor spent a few days with friends in Philadelphia last week.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CANDIDATES VISIT SOMERSET

Large And Enthusiastic Mass-Meeting Held In The Auditorium Friday Night—Ritchie Talks On Finances And Refutes Nice's Statements

A largely attended meeting of representative Democrats from every part of Somerset county gathered at the Auditorium last Friday night to welcome the State candidates and hear from them direct the issues of the present campaign discussed. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Charles H. Speights, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, who named Mr. C. M. Dashiell, chairman, and Messrs. Egbert Quinn, Omar J. Crosswell and Arthur Powell, secretaries. The vice-presidents—two from each of the 15 districts in the county—were:

West Princess Anne District—E. D. Young, Hampden, P. Dashiell.

St. Peter's—George W. Bozman, William T. Bennett.

Brinkley's—Lee Carver, A. Davis, Jr. Dublin—Edward S. Davis, Cyrus L. West.

Mt. Vernon—Edw. J. Bounds, James B. Thomas.

Fairmount—H. Clay Tull, Albert Sudler.

Crisfield—William E. Dougherty, J. B. Nelson.

Lawson's—William J. Coulbourn, John C. Horsey.

Tangier—Thomas H. James, Harley D. Bennett.

Smith's Island—Asbury S. Middleton, Warren M. Evans.

Dame's Quarter—Ernest P. Kelly, David Crockett.

Asbury—James H. Cullen, William J. Hurley, Sr.

Westover—E. Dennett Long, William W. Fontaine.

Deal's Island—William J. Benton, Robert L. Webster.

East Princess Anne—William T. G. Polk, Albert B. Fitzgerald.

Chairman Dashiell, in a pleasing manner, introduced Mr. Thos. J. Keating, of Queen Anne's county, candidate for Attorney-General, who stated, among other things, that the State candidates based their claims for election upon the public records which they stood, win or fall. Mr. E. Brooke Lee, of Montgomery county, candidate for Comptroller, was the next speaker. He referred to the excellent record of Attorney-General Albert C. Ritchie, candidate for Governor, and stated that no man in the state had a better public record than Mr. Ritchie; that he was aggressive and fearless when confronted by a public duty. He referred to his excellent services given the citizens of Baltimore city in his fight for cheaper and better gas and electricity for that city and had saved its people thousands of dollars from overcharges.

Attorney-General Albert C. Ritchie, of Baltimore city, candidate for Governor, was then introduced. In describing the charges of extravagance brought about against the present State administration by his republican opponent, Mr. Harry W. Nice, he said it was all "Political buncombe." He promised that if elected he would be on the job and give the state the best that was in him. He approved of the platform and stated that the provisions therein would be carried out to the letter. He favored

Preachers Meet In Snow Hill

The Second Annual District Conference, Salisbury District, Wilmington Annual Conference, was held in Whatcoat M. E. Church, Snow Hill last Wednesday and Thursday under the direction and supervision of Rev. Vaughn S. Collins, District Superintendent. The program included short addresses by Revs. John L. Johnson, W. F. Godwin, C. W. Strickland, J. W. Jones, W. F. Dawson, J. W. Prettyman, Joseph T. Dawson, L. B. Morgan, M. W. Marine, J. P. Outen, J. A. Buckson, V. E. Hills, L. E. Poole, G. E. Sterling, C. A. Vandermuelen, Dr. W. O. Hurst, W. O. Bennett, Leolan Jackson, E. P. Thomas and Senator L. Atwood Bennett.

The object was to consider ways and means for making the churches of the district more potent forces for the winning of souls, which is a part of the Forward Movement campaign to add 1,000,000 names to the Methodist church roll.

Growth Of State Banks

The banks in Maryland which operate under State charters are rapidly forging ahead in business and piling up their resources and deposits from the prosperity of their customers throughout the State. The report of these institutions has just been summarized by State Bank Commissioner George W. Page, as of the close of business September 12th, the date of the last call. The report shows that the total assets of the 163 banks had increased $6,778,676.61 over the call of June 30th, while deposits show an expansion of $2,245,249.49.

ed the continuation of good roads and better schools. He said:

"Nothing is easier than to make general charges. But it happens that the State finances during the last four years form a complete answer.

"The people of Maryland cannot help but appreciate the splendid financial record made by the present Democratic State Administration. When it took over the affairs of the state in January, 1916, it found a deficit of $1,500,000. The first thing that was done was to arrange the loan necessary to meet that deficit. It then adopted the budget system, which is considered a model of its kind in this country, and was among the first put into effect among the States of the Union. This budget plan makes it impossible for such a deficit ever to occur again.

"The Administration then proceeded, under the guidance of Comptroller McMullen, to manage the State's finances in a sound and business-like manner, with the result that the term approaches its close with a balance of $900,000, and an actual surplus of $750,000. This surplus is now in the treasury, even after the payment of such unforeseen amounts as the expenses of the war session of the Legislature of 1917 and $150,000 increase in teachers' salaries to help them meet the high cost of living, and also in spite of the decreased surplus, due to the loss of liquor license fees. The surplus, as estimated in the last budget, was approximately $500,000. The actual surplus will be $250,000 more. This is, in large part, made up of balances from various State departments which are now returned to the treasury under a provision which I, myself, put in the budget bill. All this means economy.

"The Legislature of 1916 appropriated out of the general treasury for the fiscal years 1916-17 and 1917-18 for State purposes between $900,000 and $1,000,000 less than was appropriated for the two previous fiscal years. The Legislature of 1918, although during war times, appropriated about $450,000 less for the fiscal years, 1918-19 and 1919-20 than the amount appropriated for the fiscal years of 1914-15 and 1915-16 by the Legislature of 1914.

"In the face of a record like that, the unsupported charges of wastefulness and extravagance in the administration of the State's finances will not impress the people of the State, and when Mr. Nice makes these charges, also unsupported in his own statements, it is clear that he either has acquired no knowledge of the State's finances or is talking for political effect."

Mr. Robert E. Lee, of Baltimore, closed the meeting with a forceful speech, which was interspersed with numerous anecdotes illustrating the different topics discussed.

Saturday morning Col. Henry J. Waters, accompanied by the speakers, made a tour through our town in his automobile. The party was most favorably received wherever they went by all elements of the Democratic party, before their departure for Snow Hill about the noon hour.

Liberty Loans Promote Thrift

The most recent compilations issued by the War Loan organization of the Treasury Department show that the total subscription to Liberty Loans in the United States amounted to nearly $22,000,000,000. The figures are based on subscriptions of $5,238,768,000 to the Victory Loan or Fifth Liberty Loan, plus an aggregate of more than $16,000,000,000 of the first four loans. The popularity of the last loan is indicated by the fact that there were 11,803,895 subscribers, or more than 11 per cent. of the entire population.

Of the money borrowed from the United States during the war Great Britain has already repaid $32,000,000 which has been applied on redemption of Liberty bonds and to the payment of interest. Through this payment and from money from other sources, the Treasury Department has already redeemed $717,537,550 of Liberty bonds.

Purchase of Government thrift stamps and savings certificates is being promoted as a popular movement, the Savings Division of the Treasury announces. The letter carriers of the country in their recent convention in Philadelphia pledged themselves to continued support of the sale of these stamps and certificates.

In a letter to the school children Secretary of the Treasury Glass has called upon Young America to meet the burdens of citizenship and grow up with a realization of the responsibilities of Government that will fall on their shoulders in a few years, by continuing their efforts to buy savings and thrift stamps. Large returns on the thrift campaign have been realized in the past year by the Government through savings of the school children.

"The Shepherd Of The Hills"

A rather funny incident that took place lately while taking some of the scenes for "The Shepherd of the Hills," which will appear at the Auditorium Oct. 22nd, afternoon and night. For four days the sun did not shine up in the mountains and the director and the actors waited impatiently for it to come out so they could proceed to take the burial scene of Jim Lane, one of the important incidents in the story.

Finally on the fifth day out came old Sol in all his pristine glory, and away the bunch hurried to take advantage of the sunlight and make the scene while the light was good. Everything was ready, the grave was dug, the actors in place and the director all ready to call "camera," when it was suddenly discovered that in the hurry of getting to the location the property man had forgotten the necessary wild flowers.

Elsbery Reynolds, Mr. Wright's manager, came to the rescue and volunteered to jump into a waiting auto, run into Los Angeles at top speed and secure the essential flowers. Away went Reynolds into Los Angeles, secured a great arm full of flowers at a florist and started back for the hills. At a nearby crossing the traffic was stopped, a parade was about to take place and the minion of the law at that crossing was holding up all vehicles. Jumping out of his auto Reynolds approached the policeman and said, "please let me pass, these flowers are for a funeral."

"Whose funeral?" asked the policeman. "Jim Lane's," replied Mr. Reynolds. "Who is Jim Lane?" "Why," replied Reynolds, "he was killed by Wash Gibbs, and we have been waiting for the sun to shine for four days, so we could bury him." "Oh," said the officer, "some more of them movies," and then with a grin he let him pass.

A Typeless Magazine

Elimination of typesetting, one of the costliest operations of magazine production, by the use of plates made by photographing the original typewritten copy, has been accomplished in the Oct. 18th issue of the Literary Digest, consisting of 80 pages. This radical innovation, which was brought about by the printers' strike in New York city, leads the publishers to suggest that "it is possible in this age of marvels that the whole future of magazine production may be revolutionized by the elimination of typesetting."

The make-up of the magazine is in no way changed, the only difference being that the style is that used on typewriters and is uniform in all the reading matter throughout the number. The right-hand side of each column is irregular as in ordinary typewritten copy. Each page is in effect a photographic copy of the typewriter.

Mr. Offerall Thornton and Miss Fannie Dutton, both of Onancock, Virginia, were married at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in Princess Anne, Saturday afternoon last, the Rev. Leolan Jackson performing the ceremony.

RADCLIFFE STATE SECRETARY

Governor Also Appoints J. Y. Brattan Liquor License Commissioner

At Annapolis last Tuesday night Gov. Harrington announced the following appointments:

George L. Radcliffe to be secretary of state to succeed Thomas W. Simmons, who resigned to re-enter banking business in New York.

J. Y. Brattan to be a member of the Board of Liquor License Commissioners to succeed Mr. Radcliffe, who was originally appointed by Governor Harrington in 1916.

Both appointments became effective at once. Mr. Radcliffe's term will continue during the incumbency of Gov. Harrington. The salary of the position is $2,500 per annum. Mr. Brattan's term will end when the National Prohibition Enforcement Act becomes effective on February 1st next, and even earlier if the President does not lift the ban on the sale of liquors and beers.

Mr. Radcliffe is a close personal friend of Governor Harrington, being one of his pupils and later his assistant as principal of the Academy at Cambridge. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Brattan is also a personal friend of Governor Harrington, who was in doubt for several days whether to appoint him or Mr. Radcliffe as Secretary of State. Mr. Brattan is a well known newspaper man, having been a member of the local staff of The Baltimore American for 20 years. He has also been associated with other Baltimore newspapers. For three years, during the early 90s, he was advertising manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Mr. Brattan is an Eastern Shoreman, being a brother of the late Congressman Robt. F. Brattan, of Princess Anne. He is a graduate of Princeton University.

Railroad Accident Preventive Drive

The two weeks' period beginning at 12.01 a. m. October 18th, to midnight October 31st, inclusive, has been designated by the United States Railroad Administration* as "National Railroad Accident Prevention Drive", at which time a concerted effort will be made by all railroads of the country to prevent a single accident.

The prevention of accidents is not merely a question of interest to the railroads and their employees, but is of vital concern to the families of every employee and the society at large.

During 1918 on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburgh (and this includes the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad) there were 492 persons killed and 3,581 injured, an increase of 15 fatalities and 382 injuries over 1917. During 1918 on the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad there was a total of four persons killed and 25 injured, an increase of three fatalities and a decrease of four injured over 1917. In one accident occurring at Salisbury, Md., five persons were injured by having the automobile, in which they were riding, struck by a train.

The fatalities and injuries quoted refer only to persons who were not concerned in any way with the management or operation of the railroad, and does not include the fatalities and injuries sustained by the employees.

We believe that the best way of getting the public to realize its liability to personal injury is through educational methods, such as bringing vividly to their attention, by every means conceivable, how fraught with opportunities for lifelong misery is likely to result from the improper observance of safety first rules.

Efforts are being made during this campaign to enlist the sympathy and co-operation of the churches, schools, newspapers, etc., to the end that the public, as well as the railroad employees, may be fully aroused to their personal responsibility in this matter.

Mrs. W. T. C. Hargis Dead

Mrs. Lydia Hargis, wife of Mr. W. T. C. Hargis, died at her home in Pocomoke City last Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, aged 74 years.

Mrs. Hargis was a former resident of Somerset county, having lived for many years with her husband on a part of the old William Hargis farm near Pocomoke City, where she will be affectionately remembered by all who knew her.

Funeral services were held at her late home in Pocomoke City on Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the Rev. J. W. Lacey officiating. Interment was in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Besides her husband the deceased is survived by two sisters (Mrs. S. S. Quinn and Miss Sarah Conner, both of Pocomoke City), and several nieces and nephews, among whom are Mrs. A. E. Tull, of Marion Station, and Mr. Frank C. Jones, of Princess Anne.

Ring Three

By WILL T. AMES

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The telephone in the east room of the Hanford homestead rang zing-zing-zing. Miss Hanford, who was writing notes, glanced inquiringly at the instrument. The house was on a party line, to be sure; separate wires in that locality were not to be thought of; but Eleanor did not remember having heard a "ring three" call that year.

Zing-zing-zing! Zing-zing-zing! clattered the phone. Miss Hanford was wondering, as ten thousand other people have wondered under similar circumstances, whether she shouldn't really answer, on the chance of the operator having made a mistake, when a man burst into the room.

The man was a total stranger. Eleanor had never seen him before. He was a large man and young, and obviously stark, raving mad; for not only had he made his entrance to the house uninvited and without permission of anybody, but now, without the first word of apology and without even glancing at Miss Hanford, he rushed wildly to the telephone, grabbed the receiver and yelled in a lavishly redundant voice, "Hello!"

To Eleanor's ordinarily calm eyes his entire demeanor was that of a lunatic, perhaps a dangerous one. Without too much fuss she shifted her position so that the drawer with the pistol in it was just beside her right hand.

The intruder, who had flung himself into the none-too-strong Windsor chair beside the telephone table and made it creak alarmingly in doing so, appeared still to be utterly unaware of Miss Hanford's presence.

"Hello! Hello!" he bawled, the look of wild anxiety on his countenance becoming still wilder as he appeared to wait, in desperate impatience, a reply that did not come.

Miss Hanford, who was never precipitate, had almost made up her mind to flee and seek the protection of old Mark, the gardener, or Hannah in the kitchen, when a great change came upon the man at the phone. The strained, eager look disappeared, a happy light sprang into his gray eyes, and he smiled broadly. Miss Hanford mentally classified the smile as a grin. "Like a Cheshire cat's" she indignantly concluded.

"Hello! Hello!" He bawled.

"Sure, this is Les," the uninvited guest was saying into the phone. "Never so glad to hear a human voice in my life, sweetheart! Don't seem as if I could wait another minute to see you. What's that? Yes; didn't know but you'd be up on the two-eighteen. Yes; gets here at five-twenty. You bet; I'll be there. Good-by honey!"

When about half way through this monologue the man twisted about on his chair till he was facing the mistress of the Hanford establishment. Then, still grinning broadly and with the receiver still at his ear, he winked at Eleanor—winked at Miss Eleanor Hanford; if you please! The nerve of him!

Miss Hanford arose, to the full height of her sixty-three majestic inches. She no longer felt any fear of this madman; she was experiencing instead a mighty indignation. Much—anything—might be forgiven in a mere lunatic; but for a vandal like this to violate your privacy, to seize upon your property, to set at defiance all the conventions and safeguards of society—for the purpose of making love over your phone—to some other woman—ugh!

Miss Hanford was all icy calmness as the trespasser, hanging up the receiver, unclogged his tall length from the trembling Windsor chair and stood erect. She gave him no time for a first word—there is no strategy in that.

"May I be privileged," inquired Eleanor, "to know to whom I have the honor of being hostess—and why? It would be interesting to learn what there is about this house to give strangers the impression that it is a hotel or an office building. I do not think it has ever been regarded as a mere public utility before."

"I'm awfully sorry, Miss Hanford—you are Miss Hanford, are you not? But what's the use of that talk—I know you are. I am—honestly—awfully sorry to come tearing in that way, but I'll tell you how it was.

"You see, I've had that little bungalow that sets back in the woods a quarter of a mile above here for a week. I've been away for a good while on that little business overseas and she's been in California, so we haven't seen each other. She got home to New York yesterday and wired that she'd be out here on this afternoon's train. There are two trains, you know, and I put in a telephone call for her at New York. After it was in, and I'd waited half an hour, I realized that if I waited any longer I couldn't meet the two-eighteen, and she might be on that. So I started. When the phone man hooked up the bungalow he told me that this big white house and that stone one down below were the only other subscribers on the line. My number was three.

"Just as I was passing here I heard the ring. Golly! What was I going to do? If I stopped to be polite they'd calmly say, 'Party's hung up'; excuse it, please!' by the time I got the receiver down. I know it was rotten manners, but you've got to make allowances for a fellow, sometimes, now haven't you? My name's Grey—Lester Grey; I scribble foolish things that foolish people print sometimes. I hope you'll pardon my headlong intrusion."

Miss Eleanor Hanford with all her dignity and all her responsibility as a woman of position and not a little wealth was, as a matter of fact, just a mere girl. And this big, utterly natural, blundering boy with the marks of overseas still on him, was good to look upon. Somehow it wasn't the ingenuous impropriety—quite shocking in itself—of his receiving his sweetheart in a lonely bachelor bungalow that made Eleanor feel a new and different kind of indignation toward him. Away down in her secret heart she knew that it was because there was a sweetheart at all.

"Oh, very well," she laughed—for, of course, under this new circumstance, being a woman, she could no longer show indignation of any sort lest it be construed in a certain way—"if you put your defense on the ground of temporary aberration, there is nothing else to do but pardon you, I suppose."

Grey should have gone away then. Of course he should. A young man in his peculiar position would be doing very well, you'd think to get out of the situation without complicating it further. But the more he looked at this marchionesslike little person the more he didn't want to. The only thing he could think of to say, however, was:

"May I not bring her to see you, Miss Hanford?"

If looks could kill, Lester Grey should have been at least a serious casualty. "Bring whom, pray, Mr. Grey?" Eleanor inquired chillily, with her eyebrows a quarter of an inch higher than normal.

"My mother, of course."

Whisper: Secrets: Just between you and me: There was the gladdest little thrill that ever was, right through the middle of Eleanor's heart, as she said—very nearly gasped—"Why, I should be positively delighted."

MAJOR'S RELIEF CAME FIRST

Willing to Admit Sam Had a Grievance, but He Had Served the Longer Term.

A major in a stevedore's regiment employed one of his men to take care of his horses and do little chores around the yard. One day Sam came into the major's office and he was some agitated man. After he had saluted, he exclaimed:

"Major, I want to be relieved from this hyar job right now!"

The major asked him why he didn't want the job any more.

"Major, that job is good enuff, but I just can't seem to get along with yo' all's wife. Seems every time I goes down to that that house she puts me to doin' all kinds of chambermaid's work, and a-naggin' at me all a ther time, too."

Then it was the major's turn. "Sam, I've been living with that woman for thirty-odd years now, and if there is going to be anyone relieved, it's going to be me."—Judge.

Not a Square Deal.

My little cousin, Bobby, five, came crying to his mother:

"I don't like the little boy next door; he hit me."

"Well," said his mother, "I wouldn't cry. Why didn't you hit him back?"

Bobby thought for a moment, then said:

"I did," and went away still sobbing. In a few minutes he was back.

"But, mother—"

"Yes, Bobby?"

"When he hit me, he hit me, and when I hit him, I missed him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why Teddy Left.

As the Sunday school teacher was entering the classroom she saw a little girl and her small brother leaving in great haste.

"Why, Anna," she exclaimed in surprise, "you aren't going home?"

"Please, Miss Jones, we've got to go," said Anna, in distress; "Freddie's swallowed his collection."

Munchausen Outclassed.

"I suppose you meet a great many eccentric characters in Washington."

"Oh, yes. You can hardly believe the stories you hear about some of those persons."

"No?"

"I was once introduced to a man who was said to read every issue of the Congressional Record from cover to cover."

"For the past decade," declared the grouch, "women have been neglecting the home more or less."

"Well," said the woman, "if we keep that up about 6,000 years, we'll be about square with the men, won't we?"

After considering a while he did not attempt to refute her statement.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

GOLD IN GRIP OF NEPTUNE

Hope Renewed That Millions Lost in Treasure Ships May Be Brought to the Surface.

Somewhere in the sea off the coast of Zululand lies the ship Dorothea, which went down on Tenedos reef, carrying with her, so some people believe, part of the fortune of Oom Paul Kruger, once president of the Transvaal, and rumor has it that plans are afoot to fit out a British expedition in the hope of salvaging her. The war has improved methods of salvaging sunken ships, and, if the Dorothea really carried it, the gold cemented into the hold of the vessel has been estimated at over $3,000,000. Before the war a syndicate was organized to attempt recovery of the vessel, and unsuccessful efforts were made to locate her; now the project is again possible—perhaps all the more so, because time has accumulated so many treasure ships which are again under discussion. A list recently published includes: The Grosvenor, lost on the Pendoland coast, with $8,750,000; the Arcton, in Marcus bay, with $4,000,000; the Birkenhead, on Birkenhead reef, with $3,900,000; the Dorothea, on Tenedos reef, with $3,250,000; the Abercrombie, with $900,000; the Mercator, with $700,000, and the Thunderbolt, with $2,750,000. If a sunken treasure enterprise fails of one treasure ship, perhaps it can find another. So far, however, the sea has proved a miser with the gold it has acquired; may the modern improvements in salvaging equipment change the habit.

BOOKMARKS OF EVERY KIND

Strip of Bacon About the Most Unique That Des Moines Librarian Has Yet Found.

The most startling marker that Forest B. Spaulding, public librarian of Des Moines, Iowa, has come across in the books that have circulated from the library was a strip of underdone bacon. The most ordinary bookmark found in the books is the common variety of wire hairpin. Hairpins might be collected by the hundreds, Mr. Spaulding says, but owing to that very fact they are considered as fairly worthless from the collector's standpoint.

The vacation season is announced annually by the presence of snapshots in the returned books. These are both personal or otherwise in character. Postcards and letters, too, come in often. Frequently letters addressed and stamped are found just as they were left by the book borrower who doubtless was proceeding postoffice-way by way of the library. These are mailed from the library.

Mr. Spaulding has noticed any number of pretty girls sitting on the bench at Riverview Park with books, and he has been looking forward all summer to recovering a bathing suit absent mindedly left by one of the young ladies in her book.

A Boy Just the Same.

Little curly-headed, four-year-old Joe had often been mistaken for a girl by reason of those same beautiful curls, but it was a very sore point with him. He came very near, however, turning it to advantage one afternoon when his six-year-old sister was giving a birthday party "for girls only."

Poor little Joe wandered around the refreshments spread on the grass, gazing wistfully at the cookies and lemonade which his sister was serving to her little girl guests.

"No, Joe, this party is only for little girls, and no boys can come." Then poor little Joe turned past taunts into an argument that would admit him, and wailed out, "Well, sister, I ain't much of a boy, anyway."

Sam Had His Fee.

Sam was on trial, charged with stealing ten dollars. He pleaded not guilty. Being unable to hire a lawyer, the judge appointed young Clarke as counsel. Clarke put up a strong plea in defense, and Sam was acquitted. Afterward the pair met outside the courtroom.

"Now, Sam," said the young lawyer, "you know the court allows the counsel very little indeed for defending a case of this kind. I worked hard for you and got you clear. I'm really entitled to a good big fee and you should dig up some money and pay me. Have you got any money at all?"

"Yes, sah," replied Sam, happily, "I still done got dat ten dollahs."

Indisputable Proof.

A druggist was boasting in the company of his friends of his well-assorted stock in trade. "There isn't a drug missing," he said; "not even of the most uncommon sort."

"Come now," said one of the bystanders, by way of a joke, "I'm sure you don't keep spirits of contradiction, as well stocked as you are."

"Why not?" said the druggist, not in the least embarrassed. "You shall see for yourself." So saying he left the room and returned leading his wife by the hand.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Horses Still Numerous.

Despite the large number of motor cars and trucks made in America, horses and mules seem to be holding their own, according to a recent trade statement.

Although 7,700,000 automobiles have been produced in the United States since 1899, half of which were manufactured since 1915, there are now 21,534,000 horses and 4,925,000 mules in the country with a total value of $2,500,000,000.

10 PER CENT.
 DELAYED

The importance of answering telephone calls promptly is emphasized when you consider the time lost by slow answering. For instance, nearly 10 per cent. of the calls in one large city in our territory show a delay of one minute before the called person answers. On the 350,000 calls handled daily in that city, this means a loss of more than 583 hours a day.

By answering your telephone promptly and seeing that others in your family or office do likewise, you can do a lot toward cutting out this annoying feature of the service. You will also be helping to make your service everything it should be.

WAS ALWAYS POPULAR GAME

Those Who Think There is Anything New in Profitteering Have Another Guess Coming.

The high cost of living was just as much a problem in Elizabethan times as it is today. The Rev. William Harrison, as quaint a gossip as Pepys, and equally gifted as a chronicler, complained that magistrates in his day winked at merchants who charged more for commodities than they were permitted by law to charge. In that day, as in this, "hoggers"—this delightfully descriptive word is of the dominion's own coining—were allowed "to burn up corn and raise the price of it; to carry it home unsold, or to a distant market, if they want more money than the buyer likes to pay; nay, they've leave to export it for the benefit of enemies abroad, so as to make more profit."

During the world war there was much talk of certain Americans who deliberately destroyed carloads of potatoes, cabbages and other vegetables and foodstuffs in order to raise the prices of these commodities. Same old story. There's nothing new, remarks J. N. H., in Rochester Post-Express.

Again, to hark back to good Canon Harrison, "pesteriferous purveyors buy up eggs, chickens, bacon, etc.; butter men travel about and buy up butter at farmers' houses, and have raised its price from 18d to 40d a gallon. These things are ill for the buyer and the poor man, and should not be allowed."

After all about the only thing that is true is that there is no new thing under the sun. Like the poor, the profiteer is always with us.

TAX EXPERTS LOSING SLEEP

Question, "When is a Girl a Miss?" is Puzzling Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The other day Lew Hahn, executive secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods association, took the joy out of life for the experts of the bureau of internal revenue when he asked whether corsets were underwear. Now he has gone and done it again, the query this time being:

"When does a girl become a miss?" Framers of the new revenue tax law included in the list of taxables "women and misses wearing apparel." Experts of the bureau, Mr. Hahn says, have informed retailers that no tax is to be collected on wearing apparel for girls.

Retailers say there are hundreds and hundreds of misses, and quite a few married women, who are so petite that they can still wear, and therefore buy, girls' clothes. Does the fact that such articles of clothing are to be worn by women of mature years change the nature of the apparel in the eyes of the law; or do garments designed for girls remain girls' wear, regardless of the age of those who buy and wear them? This is the puzzle Mr. Hahn has put up to the bureau experts.

A Waiting Game.

"Suppose you wait here in this comfortable seat while I match these two samples of ribbon," said Mrs. Simson sweetly to her husband, who had been entrapped into going shopping with her.

When she came back she said contently: "Have I kept you waiting an unpardonable long time, you poor dear?"

"Oh, I haven't minded it," he said cheerfully. "I just jumped on a car and ran up to the football match, and then I took a little spin in Jack Dance's new car. Did you match the samples?"

"One of them. It's so provoking, I shall have to come in again tomorrow, for they are just closing the shop."—London Ideas.

Tubs May Strike Next.

Add to the strikes for higher wages that of negro washerwomen of Louisville.

Aunt Kate (last name not known even to patrons) was asked the other day if she could do a washing the next day.

"Deed no, chile," was the reply. "An' any more washings I do is goin' to cost yuh ten cents moah," she added.

Pressed for an explanation, Aunt Katie said that she and "several other washer ladies are goin' on a picnic today and won't do no washin' for no-buddy."

"Furdemoah, dis ten cents moah goes all the time now. De street car men is gonna git moah dan dat fer strikin', and so is us," was her explanation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Medical Education in China.

The China medical board of the Rockefeller foundation will soon have in operation in Peking a splendid institution for medical research and teaching—the Peking Union Medical college. A group of 15 buildings is in course of construction. On account of their green-tiled roofs the new buildings have already acquired the name of "the Green City." The college will open in the autumn of 1919. A preparatory school was opened two years ago. It is expected that the whole establishment, including a new hospital, will be running by the end of 1920. The board plans to open another medical institution in Shanghai.—Scientific American.

CLINIC HAS PROVED WORTH

Organization Established by Boston Firm Well Worth of Imitation by Other Employers.

A pioneer medical clinic, established 15 years ago to protect the health of 800 employees, and gradually enlarged and expanded until it now cares for a total of 2,700—that is the record proudly held today by a well-known Boston firm. At the time of its organization the medical director was in charge of the clinic in the capacity of director and visiting nurse. Now the clinic is in charge of a practicing physician and surgeon, assisted by three full-time graduate nurses.

During the influenza epidemic of last winter, over 850 employees were treated per day, with only six deaths during the entire course of the dreaded disease. All cases were given careful individual attention and, in instances where no family doctor was in attendance, immediate arrangements were made for medical care.

It is the policy of the nurses in the clinic to advise all employees with whom they come in contact to be insured, an activity which the firm itself handles through an employees' organization. The purpose of such advice is to secure insurance for all employees in order that they may receive its benefits after one week's illness. This arrangement does not place a premium upon the employees' being ill, and at the same time the clinic co-operates in the matter of insurance.

A dental clinic is in a formative state and, no doubt, will be established in a short time. The plan and method of administration and organization is simply in the making, but it is safe to say that the dental clinic will be as efficient as the medical clinic.

The Modern Hospital, in describing the clinic, says that it has fully proved its value in protecting the health of the employees of this particular company and merits the commendation and imitation of other mercantile and industrial establishments.

SEEMINGLY NO AGE LIMIT

Applicants for Divorce Are by No Means Always in the Days of Their Callow Youth.

There is no age limit to divorce. In Oregon a woman at the age of eighty-two years is suing for a decree from her husband, who is a callow stripling of seventy-one summers. This seems to be another case of too much mother-in-law, as the wife asserts that her husband's love has been alienated and undermined through the work of his mother, who is now ninety-four years old and who never did like her, anyhow. They have been married some ten years now, and the wife said that when the husband took her money to buy an auto for his mother and wouldn't let his wife ride in it, she knew that his love was dead. When she remonstrated the husband coldly informed her that she could leave the house. When the wife said that the home was her own and bought with her own money the husband replied that might be so, but he had thoughtfully had the deed recorded in his own name. Now she has to appeal to the courts. It is rather rough when a bride of eighty-two has to compete with a ninety-four-year-old mother-in-law for the affections of her husband.

A Foreign Ship.

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States has stirred up the patriots over the reproduction of a foreign ship being on our twenty-dollar bills. Making a speech recently, and seeking to impress his auditors with the fact that this country has entirely too few ships, he whipped out a twenty-dollar bill and declared:

"Why, even the ship reproduced on this bill is one that was taken over by this country during the war. It flies the American flag, all right, but it is a foreign-built ship."

Examination proved he was absolutely correct. The ship has four funnels, and there never has been a four-funnelled ship built in this country for our foreign trade.

The Mean Man.

Everybody knows the story about poor Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily, "Well, boys, what are we going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered round the bar, he added, "Rain or shine?"

Representative Gordon Lee of Chickamauga told a story of a similar kind about a mean man at Atlantic City. Some friends visited him on a hot evening and after they had sweltered a while in the sitting room he said:

"Well, friends, could you stand some refreshments?"

"We certainly could!" the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation.

"Then," said the mean man, rising, "we'll open this window. There's promise of a breeze."

The Uplift.

A senator, apropos of the huge quantity of army meat which it was proposed should be sold to the packers for less than half the price paid them by the government, said:

"Why sell this meat to the packers? Would it not be better to sell it to consumers direct and thus aid in reducing the cost of living?"

The senator added bitterly:

"The high cost of living! We heard a lot about the uplift movement to be expected as the result of the war, but we didn't expect the uplift to be concentrated on prices."

His Greatest Achievement.

"Before you give your answer to this Gotorox boy," said the careful mother, "you must tell me what he has achieved in the world."

"Well, mamma," said the dutiful daughter, "among other things he has achieved a father who has a million dollars, and—"

"Bless you, my children," murmured mother. "I've always wanted you to marry an industrious man."

Would It Were True!

"Ah," said the facetious caller, as he found Scribson busily pounding his typewriter. "Turning out a little up-to-date fiction?"

"Yes," replied Scribson, wearily. "I'm just dashing off a note to my importunate grocer telling him that I expect to sell a story to the Friday Evening Post in a few days."

Spiteful.

Young Jobbles has bought a rakish roadster. It's spitework, I fear.

"How so?" asked the other. "The money spent for that car was intended for a bungalow. Young Jobbles wants to show the girl in the case that he has no intention of proposing a second time."

Sense of Human Responsibility. "Didn't Hamlet say something about being born to set things right?"

"I believe so," said the man who doesn't care for poetry. "You meet so many people who feel that way about public affairs and simply succeed in making matters worse."

HANDICAPPED.

"You're always complaining of colds and rheumatism. I wouldn't care so much if you only had some fashionable disease."

"I wouldn't care either, but for two things. I haven't got the price and I can't pronounce their names."

Unrest.

I cannot see how it will pay Or keep me in temper serene If I work only eight hours a day. And worry the other sixteen.

Woman's Way.

"Why don't you ask your husband's advice?" "I intend to, my dear, just as soon as I've made up my mind what I'll do."

Cured.

"One of our little pigs was sick, so I gave him some sugar." "Sugar? What for?" "For medicine, of course. Haven't you heard of sugar-cured hams?"

Elevator Man's Jest.

"The elevator man has asked for more money." "So?" "Yes. He says he quits going up unless his salary goes up to."

Sidewalk Humor.

Pedestrian—Hey, mister, you're losing something. Autoist—What is it? Pedestrian—The pleasure of my company in your auto.—Judge.

Eating at High Prices.

"I presume you are putting a little something by for a rainy day?" "No. I'd rather take a chance on getting wet tomorrow and have something to eat today."

His Something Near.

"He hasn't changed his occupation except in degree." "How so?" "He used to be a bank-runner, and now he is a walking delegate."

The Only One.

Hilda—I have an instinctive feeling that I can trust you. De Borro—Ah, darling, how I wish that others felt as you do!

Not Drifting.

"I see Senator Spug has canned his speech of 'Whither Are We Drifting?'" "Yes, he's on a steering committee now."

His Gentle Hint.

"Misery loves company you know." "Yes, but right now I'm not very miserable, although I am very busy."

should fall before

factured commodi-

this clear in replyin

munication in which

"There must be a drop

there is a drop in wages, seem that the farmer is

This theory has been ada number of manufacturers

would not do, to ask fa-

duce, buying everything to buy from manufactur-

prices, with the assur-

that their products will fall and that then manufacturers sider what they will do with refer-to their own prices. Obviously, manufacturers must be willing to make at least a contemporaneous decrease in their prices. It might even be contended that they should make a prior decrease in their prices, since the farmer's operations involve a year and he could not recoup for twelve months, or could not recoup at all, because,

on the theory put forth, his products would fall in price. It seems to me that business men must be brought to realize that if we are to get back to the normal, they must set about immediately to do their part, and unquestionably, profiteering in manufactured products must be eliminated.

"Of course, everything possible will be done to enable the farmer to produce more economically, so that if prices do fall, he will not sustain a loss, or so great a loss. All the efforts of the department of agriculture and of the land-grant colleges have this aim. They are trying to bring about better methods of cultivation, better financing, better marketing, the elimination of plant and animal diseases and insect pests, and the better utilization of labor. Much has been done in this direction, and more will be done

manure to the garden in buckets. Utilizing very little room, it can be wheeled into any size garden, no matter how small.—James Montgomery in Popular Science Monthly.

GOOD PASTURE IS ESSENTIAL

Because Grass Is Able to Take Care of itself It Is Most Neglected Farm Crop.

Of all the feeds that come nearest to meeting the needs of live stock, good grass pasture is generally admitted as being the best, and yet, because it is so able to take care of itself and requires so little attention, it is the most commonly neglected farm crop. Good pastures can always be depended upon to get results when the most carefully prepared feed mixtures fail. In fact every ration that is fed is an imitation of grass.

WELL-DIVIDED YARD SYSTEM

Farmer Should Have Strong Permanent Fences, Together With Convenient Gates.

Good fencing is an asset to any farm. There are many farms that have the very best of fencing in the fields and around the fields, but when it comes to a well arranged system of barnyards, then many farmsteads are lacking. If there is any one thing which is handy in a barnyard it is to have a good system of yards, having strong, permanent fences, together with a good stable and handy gates.

Removing a Broken Caster.
A broken caster may be withdrawn from the leg of a piece of furniture by tapping a hole in the center of the caster stem, and threading in a machine screw, thus securing a suitable hold. A heavy metal washer is placed under the head of the screw. One side of the washer is supported by a block of wood, or leather, while a claw hammer, or "jimmy," is used to pry out the broken part.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ANNOYING KIDNEY ILLS

Make Life Miserable For Many Princess Anne People

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have given peace and comfort to many Princess Anne people.
Profit by this Princess Anne resident's experience.

John B. Fleming, 386 Main St., says:
"I was troubled with a dull ache and weakness in my back, brought on by disordered kidneys. At times, the misery was rather severe and gave me much uneasiness. The kidney secretions were disordered and contained sediment. I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at O. A.
Jones' Drug Store. The good results made me ready to recommend them to others afflicted with kidney disorders."
(Statement given October 14th, 1907).

On July 24th, 1916, Mr. Fleming said:
"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as ever. I always say a good word for them when I have an opportunity."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Fleming

Old European Families.
The oldest family of Great Britain is said to be the Mar family, in Scotland, which can trace its pedigree to the year 1063. Then, too, there are the Campbells of Argyll, whose origin dates back to 1190. The Grosvenor family, that of the duke of Westminster, refers its origin to the same year that the Conqueror "came over"—1066. The Austrian house of Hapsburg goes back farther than that, its date being 952, while the Bourbons of France proudly mention 864, as the date of their origin.

Needed Help.
Rather pretty young woman and small son on Clifton car. Gentleman sits opposite; stranger to lady and boy, but a lover of children. Cultivates acquaintance of youngster by means of smiles and winks. Boy receptive, but has not yet acquired the art of winking with one eye—can only squint with both eyes at once. Thinks nice stranger deserves better recognition; peremptorily and loudly calls on his mother for assistance. Thus: "Mamma, wink at that man, I can't."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

A Plot Marred.
"I hear that the grocer discharged you for swindling him," remarked Mackindie to a friend. "It's a lie!" said the latter. "He asked me to put a lump of lead under one of the scales and I did so, and then in a few days when he examined it he told me to leave. 'Did you not fasten the lead on properly?' asked Mackindie. 'Oh, certainly, I fastened it right enough,' was the reply, 'but it was under the wrong side of the scale that I put it, and it weighed against himself!'"

Petroleum's Discovery.
In 1859, on the 28th of August, petroleum was discovered at Watson's Flats, Pa., near the head of the Allegheny river. Edwin Drake bored the first oil well, and before the end of the year Drake, under the firm name of Drake & Bowditch, bored through the rock at Titusville to a depth of 70 feet and struck an oil well that yielded 1,000 gallons a day. This discovery started the enormous oil industry in northwestern Pennsylvania.

Lucky Months.
According to Dr. Marcello Boldini, one of Italy's greatest scientists, men born between January 1 and March 31 are stronger, taller and superior in intelligence to those whose birthdays fall in other months. This view is borne out by the researches of another Italian scientist, Deela Rovere.

Ingenuous Plea.
Little Dickie was visiting his grandma, and after lunch she spoke to him about taking his afternoon nap. He looked shyly at her and did not speak. After a short pause she again mentioned his nap, and he said: "Why, grandma, you wouldn't put your company to bed, would you?"

Give Little Folks Allowance.
Instead of giving the little folks money in haphazard fashion and when they tease for it, let them have a stated sum each week, and then insist upon their keeping an account of what is done with every penny of it.—Carl Marshall in the Thrift Magazine.

To Brighten Tiles.
To clean glazed tiles when spotted, rub them with lemon moistened with turpentine. Tinware can be kept bright with a soft cloth. Tiles should not be washed, only rubbed with a damp cloth, and polished with a little skim milk and water.

Bally Stupid Ideal.
"To prevent the eyes from watering when peeling onions, let the tap drip on them," says an English paper. But fancy trying to peel onions with one's eyes under the tap.

A Lot of 'Em.
It's a queer world. If you don't think so try to count all the good friends who have been away on vacations that you haven't missed.

Specimens of Skeeters.
Specimens of all species of mosquitoes found in army camps will be displayed in the army medical museum at Washington, D. C.

Rousseau's Patriotism.
Whenever I meditate upon governments I am happy to find in my investigations new reasons for loving that of my own country.—Rousseau.

Patent Pie Pan.
An inventor has patented a pie pan in two sections that can be taken apart without danger of breaking its contents.

LOVE FOR GOOD LIVE STOCK

Boys' and Girls' Clubs Teach Members That Cattle Raising Is Most Profitable.

The two most valuable assets for the amateur stockman to possess in order to become a successful live stock breeder are: First, an interest and incentive for raising good stock, and second, practical experience supplemented with a thorough technical knowledge of selecting, feeding, judging, and breeding, according to J. T. Tingle, of the Colorado Agricultural College, who says: "Most of our greatest like stock breeders of today entered their profession on account of their love for good stock and their practical experience enabled them to make a success of the business."

"Both theoretical training and practical experience are necessary for the best success. Especially is this true at present—a time when feed, labor, and stock are high. There has never been a time when the live stock industry demanded a more thorough knowledge of proper feeding, breeding, handling, and selecting than at present."

"The objects sought through the boys' and girls' clubs include the above essentials for success, and in addition they endeavor to teach the members that the work is enjoyable, profitable, instructive and offers an incentive for securing an agricultural education. Boys as well as men are looking for practical training and there is no better way for them to secure it than through the clubs."

"Every farmer and stockman should be more than anxious for his son to get into some kind of live stock club. He should not only advise his boy to enter a club but should encourage and urge others to join by offering prizes and stock at reasonable prices in order to promote the work and further the 'better livestock' movement. Pure bred breeders can well afford to sell club members stock at reduced prices in order to build up an interest in these young stockmen for raising registered stock. Increased interest means greater demand for purebreds and the better the demand the better will be the future sales."

FEED FOR MILK PRODUCTION

Many Old Cows Will Increase Capacity If Fed on Properly Balanced Ration.

There are a large number of old cows that will increase their capacity for milk-giving if fed on a properly balanced ration and with a large amount of succulent food the year round. This is what develops the capacity of the cow. A great many cows are never fed with the idea of getting out of them the greatest amount of milk possible each year, with due regard to the health of the cows. If, however, the old cows were fed with this idea in mind, they would continue to give a large mess of rich milk.

SUMMER MONTHS ARE TRYING

Cows Giving Milk Should Have Plenty of Feed, Pasture With Water and Good Shade.

Take good care of the cows. The summer months are always trying on cows giving milk. They will need plenty of feed, pasture with water and shade. Unless special care is taken of them they are likely to fail and not be in condition to produce in winter when prices of dairy products are high. Give the cows all the protection possible from flies.

DAIRY NOTES

Keep the dairy cow out of all drafts of stable windows.

The milk cow on the general farm ought to be a money-maker.

A satisfied cow is probably a satisfactory cow.

A summer silo for the dairyman will pay even better than a winter silo.

The average dairy cow makes dairy-ing unprofitable; it's the better-than-the-average cow that pays.

A good cow is worth more than most people believe. A dairy cow that yields an abundance of milk is indeed a valuable animal.

Your telephone book is one of many. In the year 1918 we published and distributed 989,127 individual copies of telephone directories. These directories contain the names of telephone subscribers and their numbers.

"Wrong numbers" are often caused by telephone users who do not consult the telephone directory. They rely on memory, and memory is fickle. Others persist in calling by name, expecting the operator to remember the number of every subscriber. This is decidedly unfair to the operator. Always look up the number in the latest telephone directory.

Division of Samoan Islands.
By the agreement of December 2, 1899, among the United States, Great Britain and Germany, the Samoan Islands were divided between the United States and Germany, Great Britain retiring and accepting compensation for her retirement in the form of colonial concessions elsewhere in the world. This agreement ended a long series of outbreaks and disorder in the islands amounting to a state of civil war, due, it was charged at the time, to the intrigue and aggression of the Germans.

Taking a Plebiscite.
Plebiscite is a political term borrowed from the French, meaning a vote of all the electors in a country taken on some specific question. It is from the Latin plebiscitum, a decree of the plebs, or law made by the common people, and is somewhat similar to the referendum. A notable example of the use of the plebiscite in French history was in 1852, when the memorable coup d'etat of 1851 was confirmed and the title of emperor was given to Napoleon III.

Instructing Grandpa.
"I was talking to my little granddaughter over the telephone the other day," said an old man recently to a few of his friends at a hotel, "and when I ended I said, 'Here, Dorothy, is a kiss for you.' She replied, 'Oh, pshaw, grandpa! Don't you know that a kiss over the telephone is like a straw hat?' I said, 'Why, no, sweetheart, how's that?' 'It's not felt, grandpa,' she said."—Blighty (London).

Good Rules for Life's Conduct.
Those that are perfect men do not easily give credit to everything one tells them; for they know that human frailty is prone to evil, and very subject to fall inwards. It is great wisdom not to be rash in thy proceedings, not to stand stiffly in thine own conceits; as also not to believe everything which thou hearest, nor presently to relate again to others what thou hast heard or dost believe.

Exercised Discretion.
Richard, on his first visit to the country, climbed the fence into the field where a Jersey cow was grazing. The cow, being somewhat of a pet, greeted him with a loud and joyous moo, whereupon Richard beat a hasty and disorderly retreat. "No, I wasn't edackly afraid," he explained; "but when she kept saying, 'Move, move!' I thought I'd better keep a-movin'!"

Free Luncheon.
"A reasonable dish," says Household Hints, "is crab au gratin."—Boston Transcript.

Thirty-Two Varieties.
The Bank of England has 32 different methods of detecting forged banknotes.

And Who the "It"?

Give the world the once over

LISTEN, fellows, to some straight talk. Many a man when he gets to be 40, misses something. He may have lots of money, and a fine family but—

He never "got out and saw things". After he gets settled down, it's too late.

Every man wants to see the world. No man likes to stand still all his life. The best time to TRAVEL is when you're young and lively—right NOW!

Right NOW your Uncle Sam is calling, "Shove off!" He wants men for his Navy. He's inviting you! It's the biggest chance you'll ever get to give the world the once over!

The Navy goes all over the world—sails the Seven Seas—squints at the six continents—that's its business. You stand to see more odd sights, wonderful scenery and strange people than you ever dreamed of.

You'll work hard while you work. You'll play hard while you play. You'll earn and learn. You'll get, in addition to "shore leave", a 30-day straight vacation—which is more than the average bank president can count on.

You can join for two years. When you get through you'll be physically and mentally "tuned up" for the rest of your life. You'll be ready through and through for SUCCESS.

There's a Recruiting Station right near you. If you don't know where it is, your Postmaster will be glad to tell you.

Some of the girls who married uniforms are now getting themselves divorced from overalls.

The farmer believes in the eight hour day, only he works eight hours in the forenoon and eight in the afternoon.

Color designers have planned 78 shades of color for next spring gowns and then some people wonder why living costs are high.

The fact that biscuit colored gowns are stylish does not prove that the girls can turn out a pan full of muffins for breakfast.

With daylight saving over the sun will again be able to look at the clock without having to ask where he spent the night before.

Some towns are doing a lot of arguing as to which has the most beautiful girls but they can never prove it by the volume of paint sales at the drug stores.

The American people are assured that after plenty of sugar has been provided for candy and soft drinks, what is left will be generously handed over to the housewives to preserve the nation's food supply.

A large number of brilliant "intellectuals" are spending their valuable time demonstrating that you can make up the shortage of everything by eliminating your production and going on strike.

As usual the provision trade will serve a large part of the people with cold storage turkey for Thanksgiving, while saving up a good part of the 1919 turkeys for some future date unnamed. But it all helps the iceman.

TOWNS NEED GOOD SIDEWALKS

The attention of the county is now centered on the question of comfortable working conditions for the masses of the people. Much attention is given to good housing. If you can provide wage earners with comfortable homes, they are much more likely to be contented.

Another element in working conditions should not be overlooked, and that is the provision of comfortable walking conditions for the millions who walk to and from their work. If a wage earner after his day's labor has got to tramp to his home over a sandy footpath or one filled with mud whenever it rains, the discomforts of his lot are going to be exaggerated to him every time he goes to and from his job.

If you lay down a good hard walk from his job to his home he will not be so tired when he gets back. He will feel able to live a little farther out where he can have a garden and develop some home pride.

Good sidewalks will transform a depressing, squalid, discontented neighborhood into one that is cheerful and well kept up. It is almost invariably followed by clean up work in the home places. Tree and shrub planting almost always follow sidewalk building.

A town that spends money on good sidewalks puts its resources into the safest possible investment. It makes the whole town look more alive, the working population becomes more contented, it replaces weariness by comfort and it attracts strangers to become residents. Princess Anne ought to take hold of the sidewalk proposition with more "pep," as the boys say, and repair out worn walks and build some new ones. It will pay.

PROFIT-SHARING

The idea of avoiding labor difficulties by some scheme of profit-sharing has not in the past appealed to business men. They have said they would be willing to try it if their employees would agree also to share losses when such occur. But as the result of the present industrial unrest a large number of concerns are trying out the profit-sharing idea and making no condition about losses.

The Saturday Evening Post gives results of the encouraging experience of the Browning Company of Cleveland, O. In six months after such a plan was put into effect there was an increase of 32 per cent. in pounds of product shipped and it only took 5 per cent. more man power to produce it.

It was also found that the employees took a greater interest in the welfare of the business. Machines were kept up in better shape, material was used more carefully and business was conducted more economically.

Any employer would be glad to give his help a large share in the profits if they would produce 32 per cent. more goods and only require 5 per cent. more labor to do it with.

In many concerns the workpeople are now seemingly doing all they can and under close competition profits are so small that the managers get only what amounts to a fair salary. Such concerns can hardly make an offer along this line that at the outset would seem attractive.

Still it is possible, were profit-sharing to be generally introduced, that as the result of giving labor an incentive, a profit could be created that did not exist before. If so, it would make an amazing improvement in the industrial situation. To make such an idea a success, capital must give up its ideas of exclusive control of business and labor must work for maximum production with all its heart.

Constipation

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometime a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

Order Nisi

William A. Noble et al. vs. Alfonso A. Noble et al. No. 3298 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, In Equity.

UNITING TOWN AND COUNTRY

Years ago there used to be considerable antagonism between business centers and farmers and other people living in the outlying country. The farming elements kicked if they had to pay taxes for improvements in the centers. And the business men of the centers were slow to give the farmers their share of public funds and felt too little responsibility to help finance them through their business operations.

This spirit has greatly changed today. But if there is scarcely anything left that could be called hostility, there is often a harmful lack of co-operation.

The relations that should exist between the people of a business center like Princess Anne and those living in the outlying districts, might be stated as follows:

The prosperity of this center depends absolutely on the prosperity of the surrounding country. Any business organization in Princess Anne is incomplete unless it enrolls in its membership the bulk of the farmers in the outlying country. It needs to be in constant consultation with them as to how their interests can be promoted. If any of them need more liberal financing to carry on their enterprises it is up to the business center to get it for them. And conversely, the outlying population must do all it can to promote the well being of the center. It must expect that the center shall have more in the way of public improvements like street paving, sidewalks, lights, etc., than could be distributed through the outlying country. The more prosperous and progressive a business center can appear, the more capital it can attract with which to build up the surrounding country. Both elements must work together, and for each other's interests, 365 days in the year.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping-cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

Negro Boy Cuts White Boy

(Communicated)

Who is responsible for my boy Emil being cut with a hatchet while crossing Wicomico river in a ferryboat at White Haven?

As regard the above question, would say, my 15-year-old son Emil came to said ferry on the morning of October 20th, on his way home from Wicomico county, and he told the 16-year-old negro boy (who was employed by the present ferryman) to put him across as he wanted to reach home by 12 o'clock. The negro seemed to get mad and grabbed a hatchet and used it in a threatening manner, and then my son took the hatchet away from him and threw it down in the bottom of the boat, not thinking the boy was so determined in cutting him. As soon as he got the opportunity he got the hatchet again and cut my boy. My son said he would have jumped over-board but thought he might receive the blow on the head which would have been fatal. Now, it appears that the negro boy got angry at first, because he had to stop shooting crap with another negro boy. Isn't it high time that the commissioners of Somerset and Wicomico counties look after the way this ferry is being kept? They already know that quite a number of complaints have been made.

In conclusion I will ask, has the law against crap shooting been repealed? There seems to be no arrests made in this vicinity. I trust the crap shooting will be entirely broken up and it would be if the officers of the law would do their full duty. W. J. ROBERTSON.

ANNOYING KIDNEY ILLS

Make Life Miserable For Many Princess Anne People

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have given peace and comfort to many Princess Anne people. Profit by this Princess Anne resident's experience.

John B. Fleming, 386 Main St., says: "I was troubled with a dull ache and weakness in my back, brought on by disordered kidneys. At times, the misery was rather severe and gave me much uneasiness. The kidney secretions were disordered and contained sediment. I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at O. A. Jones' Drug Store. The good results make me ready to recommend them to others afflicted with kidney disorders."

(Statement given October 14th, 1907.)

On July 24th, 1916, Mr. Fleming said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as ever. I always say a good word for them when I have an opportunity."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Fleming had. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

An Agreeable Surprise

"about three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.
