The Test That Tells.

DOTHAN, ALA., Jan. 21, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—About one year ago two of my children suffered badly from weak kidneys and diabetes; their urine was very bad and they would have severe spells of dizziness, and were all run down in health. I was just about discouraged. I tried several remedies and finally a doctor but they did not seem to improve. I knew of a friend who was taking Swamp-Root for kidney trouble with good results, and I decided to get some for the children. I noticed there was some improvement after they had taken two large bottles, and continued to give it to them until they had taken a half dozen bottles and were well on the road to recovery. I think Swamp-Root has done more for my children than any other medicine I have tried, and I recommend it to one having children who suffer as mine did.
W. R. LINSENBY,
City Clerk, Dothan, Ala.

I noticed some Swamp-Root advertising and resolved to give it a trial. After taking four bottles I was completely cured. Have not suffered any pains at all since, and can now mind Swamp-Root to anyone suffering from kidney trouble. Sincerely,

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—Some time ago I was suffering severely with pain in my back and hips. My back pained me continually and I felt miserable. A friend recommended Swamp-Root. I obtained and took the contents of two bottles when I felt relief. ### Results After Using.

BOSTON, GA., Jan. 12, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—Some time ago I was troubled with kidney trouble, and I thought for some time I was suffering with diabetes. I had severe pains in my back and hips. A friend recommended Swamp-Root and I decided to give it a trial. I obtained a bottle from a druggist and after taking a few doses felt relieved. After taking several bottles the pain was entirely gone, and I have not suffered the slightest twinge. I cannot be too enthusiastic in my praise of this wonderful medicine, and I give my most grateful thanks to the doctor who recommended it to me.

We have sold Mr. Boundree Swamp-Root, and have also sold it in a number of cases for kidney trouble and always with perfect success.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, or obliged to go during the day and get up many times during the night, have smarting or irritation in passing, or heart disturbance due to kidney trouble, Swamp-Root will be found just the remedy you need.
Don't be misled.—For example, when you ask for Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, don't allow any druggist, drug clerk or storekeeper to persuade you into buying something else in its place. The time he succeeds in selling you a worthless substitute he makes more profit, but you are humbugged at the expense of your health.
Be sure.—Every reader of The Salisbury Advertiser who has not tried Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, may address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y., and receive a sample bottle free by mail.

The Value Of A Remedy Is Proven By Its Cures.

ELKWOOD, ALA., Dec. 14, 1908.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sir:—I have derived such great benefit from the use of your remedy, Swamp-Root, that I believe it to be most important for the public to know its worth. For the past 10 years I have been the most miserable of men. Did not know what the trouble was, but had to urinate very frequently both day and night; was all puffed up generally; could not sleep more than a couple of hours at a time; was greatly distressed after eating a meal and was about worn out. I had tried nearly everything I could see advertised and hear of, without helping me to any great extent, until finally in October last at Elkins, Wis., I purchased a one dollar bottle of Swamp-Root and commenced taking it according to directions; and I followed that with another bottle and experienced such great relief and benefit from same that I purchased five dollars' worth at Huntville, Ala., and continued its use, and am now taking it, but in smaller doses, and twice a day in place of four times a day, and believe by the time present supply is used up I will be entirely well. I am feeling better now than for ten years past. Can eat and sleep first-class; in fact I am feeling so good that I cannot resist telling you about it. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial should you desire. Very respectfully,
T. H. STALLARD, U.S.A., Retired.
Box 7, R. R. No. 2, Elkwood, Ala.

A Clergyman.

NEW ROADS, LA., Jan. 23, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sir:—I write today to the public that your Swamp-Root cured me of kidney trouble. I was almost past going; having spasmodic spells with my kidneys that were breaking down my constitution. The best medical aid was employed, and they pronounced my trouble as alkali in the kidneys, but were unable to do me any permanent good. I took four bottles Swamp-Root and became a well man. This was six years ago, and I have had no trace of the trouble.
Yours for suffering men,
REV. J. R. TAYLOR,
Pastor Baptist Church, New Roads, La.

Mail Carrier's Experience.

BLOUNTVILLE, TENN.
I have been a rural letter carrier for over five years. Some two years ago I was taken with severe pains in my back. I used medicine from my family physician for several months without any benefit. A friend, Mr. J. D. Nelson, advised me to try your Swamp-Root, but I had no faith in it. I continued to grow worse, and at last decided to try this remedy, and bought of Long Bros. a fifty-cent bottle, which gave me great relief. I then bought two one-dollar bottles, which I can truthfully say have completely cured me. Had it not been for Swamp-Root, I would have been compelled to quit the rural free delivery service. I advise all rural carriers who get pains in their back that Swamp-Root will cure them.
I was so bad that very often my wife would have to help me to arise.
B. H. HENDRICKSON,
Rural Letter Carrier, Route No. 2.

A Contractor.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—About four years ago I suffered from kidney trouble and rheumatism in my hips. The pain across my back became so severe that I could hardly straighten up and could not walk without dragging my feet. I would urinate frequently and would have to rise two or three times during the night, causing me to suffer from loss of sleep. And with the pain I was all run down and began to lose flesh. I saw Swamp-Root advertised and bought one bottle to try it. After taking it I felt better and could sleep all night at night. I continued to use it until I had taken four large bottles. I was entirely free from any pain in the back and began to gain in weight. I always recommend Swamp-Root to my friends, as I think the cure is my own remarkable. Yours very truly,
M. E. HICKSON, Donalsonville, Ga.

Every mail brings many unsolicited testimonials from people from all over the United States and foreign lands, expressing heartfelt gratitude for what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for them. Do not let anyone sell you some other medicine to take the place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed—insist on getting what you ask for—there is no other medicine as good as Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

Beneficial In Severe Cases.

EDGEFIELD, TENN.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—I hardly know how to express my appreciation for the good your Swamp-Root has done me. I had been greatly troubled with my kidneys and with pain in the back; also with what the doctors termed inflammation of the neck of the bladder. Sometimes my back would get in such shape that I was almost helpless. I had tried several doctors and medicines to no good effect, and finally I noticed in some paper where Dr. Kilmer proposed to send a sample bottle of his kidney medicine, Swamp-Root free by mail. I sent at once and received promptly a sample bottle. After taking it I found it did me good. I then purchased two bottles from our merchant, Mr. W. J. Elizer. After taking the medicine I felt like a new man, and each day rode five miles to teach school. You are at liberty to use this letter, or refer any one to me, as I will always be glad to tell them what a wonderful remedy this Swamp-Root is. Mr. James Irena, of Saundersville, Tenn., is taking it with good results.
Very truly yours,
D. A. MONTGOMERY,
Member Tennessee Legislature,
Rural Route No. 24, Edgefield, Tenn.

Results It Has Proved.

DOTHAN, ALA., Jan. 21, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sir:—Have been suffering more or less from kidney trouble for the last five years, and was induced to try your Swamp-Root. Am happy to say, or give you a testimonial, that it has cured me. I am a traveling salesman for Messrs. Colgate & Co., New York, and am always traveling on the road. Drinking the different waters affected my kidneys. Your respectfully,
SAMUEL WOLF.

A Prominent Mason.

JACKSON, TENN.
According to my experience, I do not consider there is anything to equal Swamp-Root for kidney affection. Twice it relieved me when I was completely helpless.
The last time I was traveling in Texas, when my kidneys became affected, and for ten days I suffered excruciating pains, accompanied with severe chills. Several years previous having been relieved of a similar attack, I naturally sought relief as before from Swamp-Root.
After using four of the large six cent bottles, I was completely restored, and went on my way rejoicing and praising Swamp-Root. I have had no return, and I have had no indication of a return of the affliction.
J. C. SMITH, Jr., 880 Mason.

Fully Satisfied.

WAYNESBORO, GA., Jan. 5th, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sir:—During last October I suffered from my kidneys. I consulted a physician, who prescribed for me, but his treatment did not benefit me. After reading some Swamp-Root literature I decided to give it a trial. After taking a few doses I felt somewhat relieved, and after two one dollar bottles had been taken, I had no pain and was completely cured. I have not had the slightest pain in my back or hips since. From my own experience, I can cheerfully recommend Swamp-Root to anyone suffering from kidney trouble.
Yours very truly,
SIMON MARTIN.

An Editor is a male being whose business it is to navigate a newspaper. ### Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

HEMORRHOIDS SORES AND ECZEMA

Accompanied by Terrible Itching—A Complicated and Most Distressing Case—Well-known Remedies Failed to Cure—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary—Then

CUTICURA PROVED ITS WONDERFUL EFFICACY

"I am now eighty years old and one morning, three years ago, I was taken with a hard pain in my right side. In two days I had a large pile (hemorrhoid), bleeding and protruding. The doctor gave me some medicine and an ointment for them which helped me some but I had to keep using them all the time. Then I changed to the Cuticura remedy; but if I did not use it every day, I would get worse. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. At this time, about a year ago, I went to using the Cuticura remedies. I tried them for four or five months but did not get much help for my piles. During this time some would come on a fleshy part of my body. They bothered me all the time. I would get one healed and another would come. These sores changed to eczema, accompanied by a terrible itching. It seemed as if I could not keep my hands from tearing my flesh. The Cuticura Remedies brought on an inflamed condition. Then I got the Cuticura Remedies, washed the affected parts with Cuticura Soap and warm water in the morning, at noon, and at night, then used Cuticura Ointment on the irritated surfaces and injected a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository. I used Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Suppository three times a day. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and, after that, once or twice a week. It is fortunate that I used Cuticura. The treatment I had tried took a lot of money that I would have saved by using Cuticura Remedies sooner, but I am a wiser man now. I am supplied with a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and would not feel safe without them. W. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., Apr. 24, 1907."

IMPROVEMENT IN CHURCH

At Allen, Del. Feb. 27th At Ocean City, Sunday.

Last Sunday was a red letter day in the history of Asbury M. E. Church, South at Allen, one of the oldest houses of worship in Wicomico County. People from far and near attended the reopening of the old edifice, which had been closed the greater part of the winter that extensive and much needed improvements might be made and it is said that never before has there been seen such a gathering of people at old Asbury as that of last Sunday.

The oldest inhabitant cannot recall the time or the occasion when there was such a large concourse of people at a church service.

The cost of repairs and improvements as given by the Rev. S. E. Lucas, the pastor, to the ADVERTISER reporter today is $250, and with the amount previously subscribed together with the collections at the morning and evening services last Sunday, the debt has been nearly wiped out. Mr. Lucas says that only $50 more is needed to cover any expense. That the amount was so quickly raised shows that the church is in a healthy condition, financially, and that she also has substantial friends elsewhere and to the latter the people of Allen are thankful for their assistance in making Asbury Church one of the handsomest houses of worship in Wicomico County.

The Rev. J. T. Rontgen, one of the best known preachers in the Virginia Conference and a man of marked ability, occupied the pulpit at both the morning and evening services. His sermons at both services were masterpieces. Mr. Rontgen has served some of the largest churches in the Conference. He is no stranger to many of the people of Allen, having been pastor of Asbury Church a quarter of a century ago, during which time the church was remodeled and rededicated by him.

Many who started to attend the inauguration were stranded in Baltimore owing to the storm which had cut off connection between that point and Washington. The Company which left Salisbury under command of Capt. Owens is presumed to be among those who were stalled at Baltimore. The Baltimore News of Friday says:

"The suspension of traffic on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad caused havoc among the members of the Governor's staff. From nine o'clock in the morning, when Governor Crothers' party was to leave at Camden Station for Washington until this afternoon a chief executive of this State and a part of his staff were separated. The Governor himself, with several members of his staff, is at Annapolis, while many of his aides in uniform have been waiting at Camden Station."

The train that was to carry the gubernatorial party was due to leave at 9:15 o'clock this morning. Many of the colonels were on time, while others had arrived ahead of the scheduled hour. The clanking of long awnings and the glitter of golden strapings resounded and gleamed as the aides walked impatiently around."

Baltimore was practically cut off from the world by this blizzard. News from the outside was scant, telephone wires and telegraph poles were down, and Washington was entirely cut off except by the Wireless.

Organization of Grange

There was a meeting called at No. 125 Main Street Salisbury, Md., Thursday March 4, 1909, for the purpose of organizing a Grange. Upon voting Mrs. W. P. Ward was chosen temporary chairman and Mr. J. E. Parker, temporary secretary. Thirty five persons gave their names and were enrolled charter members.

The following officers were appointed: Master, W. O. Mitchell; Overseer, W. P. Ward; Lessee, Grant Benson; Assistant Lessee, Mrs. Mary H. Seward; Chaplain, O. D. Morris; Steward, L. S. Parker; Assistant Steward, J. A. Parker; Treasurer, W. H. Parker; Secretary, J. O. Kelly; Door Keeper, H. S. Oliver; Cereals, Mrs. E. G. Mitchell; Pomona, Miss M. E. Parker; Flora, Mrs. J. E. Betts.

The name of this Grange will be called the "Salisbury Grange." The following persons were appointed committee on Hall, W. H. Parker, Thomas W. Waller, M. L. Phillips.

County Commissioners.

Mr. Harry Messick made application for the use of the public roads to erect a local telephone line in Allen. Permission was granted.

Commissioner Johnson reported he had ordered repairs done on the county road near Rileys school.

Mrs. E. J. Jones Messick and E. F. Walter were before the Board with an application to have a section of the road to Nantuxee graded and shelled, the citizens agreeing to do the work. If the Board would furnish the shells; then it is, Board to furnish shells and put the road in condition, and the citizens to haul shell and put them on the road.

Supervisor Freany was empowered to widen and clear up the road from Brewster to Hinton, preparatory to working it with the road machine.

Commissioner Wright and Engineer Clark were authorized to put a new wooden bridge at the Mooking Bird Branch, in Hinton Creek District.

Commissioner Wright reported he had accepted the new county road in Sharptown District extending from the main hall road to the Delaware line, and that he had ordered the abandoned road closed.

Commissioner Truitt reported that he had accepted the new road recently built in Willard District between Willard and Powellville.

Board adjourned to meet Tuesday March 16th.

Why is it That Lacy Thoroughgood Makes More Suits To Order Than Every Tailor In Salisbury Put Together?

First—You are guaranteed that the cloth used is all pure wool.

Second—You are guaranteed that your clothes will hold their good style and fit until you have worn them out—a guarantee no other tailor in the world will give you.

Do you see how much extra good wear and hard service you will get from Lacy Thoroughgood?

Most men don't know it, but when they have trouble with clothes that get out of shape, the fault lies in the cloth itself. Tailors don't shrink their cloth. They shrink it, of course, but not quite enough. They leave a fraction of an inch of the shrinking to be done on your back.

Now, you won't have any such trouble with Lacy Thoroughgood's clothes. His clothes can't shrink and lose their style. Lacy Thoroughgood guarantees them to hold style until worn out. Where can you get a written and signed guarantee like Thoroughgood's? Let us make you a suit for Easter. Lacy Thoroughgood clothes very near one-half the men and boys in Salisbury, and there's a reason for it.

Every Suitsman knows the Lacy Name. For style and beauty get a Lacy Thoroughgood. We have it in all the soft and Derby styles.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with indigestion.

A great many people who have trouble with indigestion, have been sorry for it when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Peppin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

Novellized From the Play by Frederick R. Toombs

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY THOMAS A. WISE

Here is a story of an epoch making battle of right against wrong, of honesty against corruption, of simplicity against deceit, of integrity against bribery and intrigue. It is the story of today in this country. It vitally concerns every man, woman and child in the United States, so far-reaching is its influence.

The warfare is now going on—the warfare of honest men against corrupt political machines.

The story tells the "inside" of the political maneuvers in Washington and of the workings of bosses there and elsewhere—how they shape men and women to their ends, how their cunning intrigues extend into the very social life of the nation's capital. You will find inspiration in the career of the honest old southern planter elected to the United States senate and the young newspaper reporter who becomes his private secretary and political pilot.

Your heart will beat in sympathy with the love of the secretary and the senator's youngest daughter.

You will read of the lobby and find that not all of them are men. You will see how avarice causes a daughter to conspire against her father. You will hear the note of a gripping national tragedy in the words of Peabody, the "boss of the senate." But cause for laughter as well will not be found lacking in this truly many-sided narrative.

CHAPTER VII.

LANGDON LEARNS OF THINGS UNPLEASANT.

HAINES quickly walked over and touched the southerner on the arm.

"Well, my boy, what can it be for you?" asked the new senator turning, with a pleasant smile.

"My name is Haines. Senator Stevens was to speak to you about me. I'm the first of the newspaper correspondents come to interview you."

Langdon's familiar smile broadened.

"Well, you don't look as though you'd bite. Reckon I can stand for it. Is it very painful?"

"I hope it won't be, senator," Haines said, feeling instinctively that he was going to like this big, hearty citizen.

"All right, Mr. Haines, just as soon as I've said good-bye to my old friend Colonel Stohman, I'll be with you."

And to his continued amazement Haines saw the senator walk away with the old Union colonel, slap him on the back, cheer him up and finally bid him good-bye after extending a cordial invitation to come around to dinner, meet his daughters and talk over old times.

The antiquated Federal soldier marched away more erect, more brisk, than in years, completely restored to favor in the eyes of the hotel people. Langdon turned to the reporter.

"All right, Mr. Haines; my hands are up. Do your worst. Senator Stevens spoke to me about you; said you were the smartest young newspaper man in Washington. You must come from the south."

Bud shook his head.

"No, just New York," he said.

"Well, that's a promising town," drawled the southerner. "They tell me that's the Vicksburg of the north."

"I suppose you haven't been to New York of late, senator?" suggested the newspaper man.

"Well, I started up there with General Lee once," responded Langdon reminiscences, "but we changed our minds and came back. You may have heard about that trip."

Haines admitted that he had.

"Since that time," went on Langdon, "I've confined my travels to New Orleans and Vicksburg. Ever been in New Orleans about Mardi Gras time, Mr. Haines?"

"Borry, but I don't believe I have," confessed the reporter reluctantly.

The senator seemed surprised.

"Well, sir, you have something to live for. I'll make it my special business to personally conduct you through one Mardi Gras, with a special understanding, of course, that you don't print anything in the paper. I'm a restraintman in my church, but since misfortune has come upon our state I have to be careful."

Haines searched his brain. He knew of no grave calamity that had happened recently in Mississippi.

"Misfortune?" he questioned.

Sensor Langdon nodded.

"Yes, sir, the great old state of Mississippi went prohibition at the last election. I don't know how it happened. We haven't found anybody in the state that says he voted for it, but the fact is a fact. I assure you, Mr. Haines, that prohibition stops at my front door, in Mississippi. So I've been living a quiet life down on my plantation."

"This new life will be a great change for you, then?" suggested the reporter.

"Change! It's revolutionary, sir! When you're expected to spend your old days peacefully in the country, Mr. Haines, suddenly to find that your state has called on you!"

A favor of sarcasm came into Haines' reply.

"The office seeking the man?" It could not help the slight sneer. Was a man never to admit that he had sought the office? Haines knew only too well of the arduous work necessary to secure a nomination for high office in conventions and to win an election in the state's primary.

A favor of sarcasm came into Haines' reply.

The candidate must make a dozen "dear" letters to secure votes, might promise the same office to two or three different leaders, force others into line by threats, send a trusted agent to another with a roll of bank bills—the recipient of which would immediately conclude that this candidate was the only man in the state who could save the nation from destruction. Had not Haines seen men who had sold their unsuspecting delegates for cash to the highest bidder rise in the convention hall and in impassioned, dramatic voice exclaim in praise of the bidder: "Gentlemen, it would be a crying shame, a crime against civilization, if the chosen representatives of our grand old state—did not go on record in favor of such a man, such a true citizen, such an inspired patriot, as he whose name I am about to mention!" So the reporter may be forgiven for the ironical tinge in his hearty interruption of the new senator's remarks.

Langdon could not suppress a chuckle at the doubting note in Haines' attitude.

"I think the man would be pretty small potatoes who wouldn't seek the office of United States senator, Mr. Haines," he said, "if he could get it. When I was a young man, sir, politics in the south was a career for a gentleman, and I still can't see how he could be better engaged than in the service of his state or his country."

"That's right," agreed the reporter, further impressed by the frank sincerity of the Mississippi.

"The only condition in my mind, Mr. Haines, is that the man should ask himself, searchingly, whether or not he's competent to give the service. But I seem to be talking a good deal. Suppose we get to the interview. Excuse your time is short. We'd better begin."

"I thought we were in the interview!" smiled the correspondent.

"In it!" exclaimed Langdon. "Well, if this is it, it isn't so bad. I see you use a painless method. When I was down in Vicksburg a reporter backed me up in a corner, slipped his hand in his hip pocket and pulled out a list of questions just three feet four inches long."

"He wanted to know what I thought concerning the tariff on aluminum hydrates and how I stood about the opening of the Tonto Pu reservation of the Comanche Indians, and what were my views about the differential rate of hauls from the Missouri river."

"He was a wonder, that fellow! Kinder out of place on a Mississippi paper. I started to offer him a job, but he was so proud I was afraid he wouldn't accept it. However, it gives you my idea of a reporter."

"If you've been against that, I ought to thank you for talking to me," laughed Haines.

"Then you don't want to know anything about that sort of stuff?" said Langdon, with a high sigh of relief.

"No, senator," was the amused reply. "I think generally if I know what sort of a man a man is I can tell a great deal about what he will think on various questions."

Langdon stared interestedly.

"You mean, Mr. Haines, if you know whether I'm honest or not you can fit me?"

"My hands are up. Do your worst. I mean up with a set of views. Is that the idea? Seems to me you're the sort of man I'm looking for."

The other smilingly shook his head.

"I wouldn't dare fix up a United States senator with a set of views," he said. "I only mean that I think what a man is important. I've been doing Washington for a number of years. I've had an exceptional opportunity to see how politics work. I don't believe in party politics. I don't believe in parties, but I do believe in men."

Langdon nodded approvingly, then a twinkling shone in his eyes.

"We don't believe in parties in Mississippi," he drawled. "We're only one—the Democratic party—and a few kickers."

Haines grinned broadly at this description of southern politics.

"What was this you were saying about national politics?" continued the Mississippi.

"I'm a beginner, you know, and I'm always ready to learn."

"This is a new thing—a reporter teaching a senator politics," laughed Haines.

Sensor Langdon joined in the merriment.

"I reckon reporters could teach United States senators lots of things, Mr. Haines, if the senators had sense enough to go to school. Now, I come up here on a platform the chief principle of which is the naval base for the Gulf. Now, how are we going to put that through? My state wants it."

"You're probably sure it will be a wonderful thing for the country and the south," suggested Haines.

"Of course."

"But why do you think most of the southerners and senators will vote for it?"

"I don't know," said Haines, "but I think they will."

The Doctor's First Question

"How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows what a long list of distressing complaints result from constipation. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, and general debility are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. We wish you would talk with your own doctor about this subject. Ask him at the same time if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Do as he says. J.C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

LIME! LIME!

Farmers, beware of the low grade of lime that is now being sold and that runs as low as 30 per cent. carbonate of lime. The official State analysis gives our (the Le Gore) lime 98.39 per cent. carbonate of lime.

I wish to inform you that I have made several trips to Western Maryland to study the Agricultural Lime situation.

I know that I am in a position to furnish you with the best-acting lime in use. My ten years' experience in the lime business has taught me that there is a vast difference in limes, and in their action on soils and crops. I can furnish you with a complete combination of the salts of lime, and it will mean a great saving to all who use it—it brings results.

P. S.—Remember! I can furnish you the quickest and the best-acting crop-grower and land-improver on the market. I have the prepared lime also to offer you. By all means hold your order until I call on you, as it will be a mutual benefit and a special favor to me; or write me, or call me over the telephone.

GOOD HOME RECIPE

Mix This Simple Helpful Recipe At Home And Try It Anyway.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered as the most certain prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home, when asked, stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as a household.

The Explanation.

They passed a magnificent building during their travels. "That's a fine house," said Brown to Jones, "and yet I cannot bear to look at it." "Why not?" asked Jones. "Why?" repeated Brown. "Because the owner built it out of blood, the ashes, the groans of his fellowmen, and the grief of children, and the walls of women."

"Great Scott!" exclaimed Jones; "the brutal! What is he a money lender?" "Oh, no, dear friend; he is a dentist!"

The Pampered Seal.

Los Angeles owns one poor little seal, which is kept in a small inclosure at Eastlake park. The food that is fed this seal consists of fish, which costs the city $600 a year. The lake in Eastlake and Westlake parks and one of the city reservoirs are filled with carp in such number that they are a nuisance. It is proposed to turn the seal loose in the different lakes and reservoirs and allow him to feed on the carp until the fish are exterminated. It is claimed it will take years for the seal to eat up all the fish. In the meantime the city saves $600 a year.

EYEGLASS ATTACHMENT.

Small Extension Prevents Thugs Pulling Into Pocket.

Invariably novelties in the invention line come in small packages—the more simple the construction the greater the interest. Inventors work for years evolving a ponderous piece of machinery which in the end receives but passing notice; while the little lamp in the De Long hook and eye, for instance, acquires world-wide fame. In the latter class is the attachment for eyeglasses, which is shown here. It is very convenient for a man to slip a pair of eyeglasses from the nose and drop them into his outer coat pocket without the necessity of placing them in a case. The chances are that they will slip down into the pocket, becoming tightly wedged in the lower corners, where they are hard to extricate. There is no chance of this happening with eyeglasses having the attachment shown here. It was designed especially to prevent such a thing happening. At one end of the rim of the glasses is a small extension at right angles to the rim. When the eyeglasses are dropped into the pocket the extension catches on the edge and cannot drop further. In addition to this pocket catch is a finger piece, by which the eyeglasses can be grasped in removing from the pocket.

How Needles are Made.

It may surprise a good many to learn that no fewer than twenty-two separate processes are required to make the tiny steel instrument familiar to everyone, but the fact gives one an idea of the perfection to which its manufacture has been brought. A needle is shown of the time of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne, and a comparison of the one made to-day shows what strides the industry has made even in one reign, and what patience and inventiveness have been brought to bear upon it. A thick, badly shaped shaft, white in color, with an irregular point, a head much larger than the body of the object, and a roughly-drilled circular eye; such was the needle with which the seamstress of 1837 had to sew. The modern needle is fine, with an evenly tapered point, a head no wider than the shaft, an eye perfectly smooth inside and well shaped, and a polished like glass, so that it slips easily through the material sewn. To understand to what a pitch of perfection needle-making has been brought, one has only to examine the "needle-eye"—the needle, one of the latest developments of the article. As it is threaded through a slit in the top of the head instead of in the ordinary way, there must be sufficient elasticity to allow the thread to pass into the eye without being frayed or cut, and at the same time the sides of the head must be capable of springing together again so as to prevent the cotton from slipping out after the needle is threaded. It is evident that to insure this elasticity the needle must be tempered with the greatest regularity; and extreme care has to be taken to make the sides of the slit perfectly smooth, so that the thread will not be cut whilst passing through it.

Queer Things Made from Milk.

Milk stone, or galathea, or petrified milk is milk subjected to a chemical process, by means of which the casein is converted into a yellowish brown powder.

This powder is mixed with formalin and a borax-like product is formed, called milk stone.

Piano keys are now seldom made of real ivory, except in the case of the more expensive instruments. This is rather remarkable when one remembers that from a single elephant's tusk no fewer than ninety-six sets of keys have been cut. However, galathea is now the best substitute for ivory that we have, for it is smooth to the touch, retains an excellent color, and, unlike celluloid, is proof against fire.

By mixing with various other substances there are made substitutes for many other useful materials, ivory, celluloid, hard rubber and even amber. There is no limit to the number of useful articles which can be made from galathea, and they include almost everything, from cigarette holders to mantelpieces.

Became a Forger.

William John Roberts was sent to prison for forgery in London the other day. Once he was rich, but his doctors told him he had only a short time to live and he squandered his money. He recovered and poverty led him to crime.

Add This Fact To Your Store Of Knowledge

Kidney disease advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptoms of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizziness or tired, worn-out feeling, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Salisbury citizen.

Mrs. Samuel E. Brittingham, 308 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement, as they have proved worthy of it. I was annoyed often and on for over a year by a persistent pain across the small of my back which always became worse when I caught cold or did much stooping. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, I procured a box at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them I have had no sign of my former trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co. Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

—More than thirteen million pieces of mail matter were sent to the Dead Letter office last year principally because of carelessness in writing the addresses. If these thirteen million pieces had been sent in packages having the address of the writer on them, they would have been returned to the writer instead of going to the Dead Letter office.

Near Death in Big Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes. "And several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Throats, Hemorrhages, LaGrippe, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm if you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head. It is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membrane that lines the air passages. It is made to overcome the disease, not to fool the patient by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine or mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All druggists sell it. Price 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 55 Warren Street, New York.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup will set very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

The Test That Tells.

DOTHAN, ALA., Jan. 31, 1909
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—About one year ago two of my children suffered badly from weak kidneys and diabetes; their urine was very bad and they would have severe spells of dizziness, and were all run down in health. I was just about discouraged. I tried several remedies and finally a doctor told me to try Swamp-Root. I knew of a friend who was taking Swamp-Root for kidney trouble with good results, and I decided to get some for the children.
I noticed there was some improvement
after they had taken two large bottles, and continued to give it to them until they had taken a half dozen bottles, and were well on the road to recovery.
I think Swamp-Root has done more for my children than any other medicine
I have tried, and I recommend it to anyone having children who suffer as mine did.
R. W. LINSLEY,
City Clerk, Dothan, Ala.

A Georgia Woman.

SPARKS, GA., Jan. 11, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—Some time ago I was troubled with kidney trouble; had severe pains in back and hips. Was treated by a physician, but without any benefit. I noticed some Swamp-Root advertising and resolved to give it a trial. After taking four bottles I was completely cured. Have not suffered any pain at all since, and can recommend Swamp-Root to anyone suffering from kidney trouble. Sincerely, MRS. E. V. STEVENS.

Baptist Minister.

BRISSON, GA., Jan. 20, 1909
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—Some time ago I was suffering severely with pain in my back and hips. My back pained me continually and I felt miserable. A friend recommended Swamp-Root, I bought and took the contents of two bottles, when I felt relief. My back has not troubled me since, and I can thoroughly recommend Swamp-Root to anyone suffering from kidney troubles, as I find it afforded me great relief.
Yours very truly,
REV. E. T. DAWSON.

Results After Using.

BOSTON, GA., Jan. 13, 1909.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—Some time ago I was troubled with kidney trouble, and I thought for some time I was suffering with diabetes. I had severe pains in my back and hips. A friend recommended Swamp-Root and I decided to give it a trial. I obtained a bottle from a druggist and after taking a few doses felt relieved. After taking several bottles the pain was entirely gone, and I have not suffered the slightest since.
I cannot be too enthusiastic in my praise of this wonderful medicine, and it gives me great pleasure to give my testimonial in regard to its merits.
J. B. BOUNDREE,
Former Mayor and Member Legislature.
I sold Mr. Boundree Swamp-Root and sold it in a number of towns and always sold it.

The Value Of A Remedy Is Proven By Its Cures.

ELKWOOD, ALA., Dec. 14, 1908.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sirs:—I have derived such great benefit from the use of your remedy, Swamp-Root, that I believe it to be most important for the public to know its worth. For the past 10 years I have been the most miserable of men. Did not know what the trouble was, but had to urinate very frequently both day and night; was all puffed up generally;
could not sleep more than a couple of hours at a time; was greatly distressed after eating a meal and was about worn out. I had tried nearly everything I could see advertised and hear of, without helping me to any great extent, until finally in October last at Ripan, W. Va., I purchased a one dollar bottle of Swamp-Root and commenced taking it according to directions; and I followed that with another bottle and experienced such great relief and benefit from same that I purchased five dollars' worth at Huntsville, Ala., and continued its use, and am now taking it, but in smaller doses, and twice a day, and in place of four times a day, and believe I will be entirely well. I am feeling better now than for ten years past. Can eat and sleep first-class; in fact I am feeling so good that I cannot resist telling you about it. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial should you wish.
Very respectfully,
THOS. STALLARD, U.S.A., Retired,
Box 7, R. R. No. 2, Elkwood, Ala.

A Clergyman.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sirs:—I write to you to the public that your Swamp-Root cured me of kidney trouble. I was almost past going, having spasmodic spells with my kneys that were breaking down my constitution. The best medical aid was employed, and they pronounced my trouble as alkali in the kidneys, but was unable to do me any permanent good. I took four bottles Swamp-Root and became a well man. This was six years ago, and I have had no trace of the trouble.
Yours for suffering men,
REV. J. B. TAYLOR,
Pastor Baptist Church, New Roads, La.

Mail Carrier's Experience.

BLOUNTVILLE, TENN.
I have been a rural letter carrier for over five years. Some two years ago I was taken with severe pains in my back. I used medicine from my family physician for several months without any benefit. A friend, Mr. D. N. Nelson, advised me to try your Swamp-Root, but I had no faith in it. I continued to grow worse, and at last decided to try this remedy, and bought of Long Bros. a fifty-cent bottle, which gave me great relief. I then bought two one-dollar bottles, which I can truthfully say have completely cured me. Had it not been for Swamp-Root,
I would have been compelled to quit
the rural free delivery service.
I advise all mail carriers who get pains in their back that Swamp-Root will cure them.
I was so bad that very often my wife would have to help me to arise.
M. B. HENDERICKSON,
Rural Letter Carrier, Route No. 2.

A Contractor.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—About four years ago I suffered from kidney trouble and rheumatism in my hips. The pain across my back became so severe that I could hardly straighten up and could not walk without dragging my feet. I would urinate frequently and would have to rise two or three times during the night, causing me to suffer from loss of sleep. I continued to take it until I had taken four large bottles.
I was entirely free from any pain in the back and began to gain in weight.
I always recommend Swamp-Root to my friends, as I think the cure in my case remarkable. Yours very truly,
M. H. HICKSON, Donalsonville, Ga.

Every mail brings many unsolicited testimonials from people from all over the United States and foreign lands, expressing heartfelt gratitude for what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for them.
Do not let anyone sell you some other medicine to take the place of Swamp-
Root—if you do you will be disappointed—Insist on getting what you ask

Beneficial In Severe Cases.

EDGEFIELD, TENN.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Gentlemen:—I hardly know how to express my appreciation for the good your Swamp-Root has done me. I had been greatly troubled with my kidneys and with pain in the back; and with what the doctors termed inflammation of the neck of the bladder.
Sometimes my back would get in such shape that I was almost helpless. I had tried several doctors and medicines to no good effect, and finally I noticed in some paper where Dr. Kilmer proposed to send a sample bottle of his kidney medicine, Swamp-Root, free by mail.
I sent at once and received promptly a sample bottle. After taking it I found it did me good. I then purchased two bottles from our merchant, Mr. W. J.
Elizer. After taking the medicine I felt like a new man, and each day rode five miles to school. You are at liberty to use this letter, or refer anyone to me, as I will always be glad to tell them what a wonderful remedy
this Swamp-Root is. Mr. James Ivens, of Sandersville, Tenn., is taking it with good results.
Very truly yours,
D. A. MONTGOMERY,
Member Tennessee Legislature,
Rural Route No. 24, Edgefield, Tenn.

Results It Has Proved.

DOTHAN, ALA., Jan. 31, 1909
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sirs:—Have been suffering more or less from kidney trouble for the last five years, and was induced to try your Swamp-Root. Am heavy today or give you testimonial, that it has cured me.
I am a traveling salesman for Messrs.
Colgate & Co., New York, and am always traveling on the road. Drinking the different waters affected my kidneys. Your remedy cured me.
SAMUEL WOLF.

A Prominent Mason.

JACKSON, TENN.
According to my experience, I do not consider there is anything to equal Swamp-Root for kidney affliction.
Twice it relieved me when I was completely helpless.
The last time I was traveling in Texas, when my kidneys became afflicted, and for ten days I suffered excruciating pains, accompanied with severe chills.
Several years previous having been afflicted of a similar attack, I naturally sought relief as before from Swamp Root.
After using four of the large size bottles, I was completely restored, and went on my way rejoicing and praising Swamp-Root. This was three years ago, and I have had no indication of a return of the affliction.
J. C. SMITH, Jr., 387 Mason.

Fully Satisfied.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N.Y.
Dear Sirs:—During last October I suffered from my kidneys. I consulted my physician, who prescribed for me,
but his treatment did not benefit me.
After reading some Swamp-Root literature I decided to give it a trial. After taking a few doses I felt somewhat relieved, and after two one dollar bottles had been taken, I had no pain and was completely cured. I have not had the slightest pain in my back or hips since.
From my own experience, I can cheerfully recommend Swamp-Root to any one suffering from kidney trouble.
Yours very truly,
SIMON MARTIN.

MINISTERS UP AND DOWN

Novel Enterprises Marking the Work of Churches.

MOHAMMEDANS ARE FEW

Free Lunch at Cripple Creek, Cheeka for Babes in Chicago—Advertising Found to Pay—Varied Home Mission Work—Early Church Societies in America.

Church organizations of the United States have sometimes been accused of lack of enterprise, but innumerable instances of extraordinary endeavor may be cited in refutation of this charge.

The pastor of a church at Cripple Creek, Col., has introduced the free lunch feature in connection with his church work. He announced in the papers that all who attended his service would afterward be provided with free food in the Sunday school room.

For the sake of novelty a New York preacher employed a whistler and later a vaudeville artist to enliven the services at his church. Not long ago the writer and occasion to make an extensive trip over the United States, and in eleven different cities, pastors of various denominations went to the trouble to copy his name from the hotel register and send invitations to attend their meetings.

In many cities church advertisements now appear in the street cars and other public places. The conviction seems to be growing that it pays to advertise religion as well as anything else.

A Chicago minister hit upon a plan to encourage housewives and young mothers to come to the Sunday morning service at his church. He established a creche or day nursery in an adjoining building where he installed a corps of nurses under the charge of a competent matron.

Mothers of babies and young children are now invited to bring the little people along and check them free of charge in the creche, while they attend church next door. Their minds can thus be free from worry in the thought that their children are near and are being well cared for.

The man who objects to foreign missions and thinks that nothing is being done to spread the Gospel at home will be surprised to know that a great organization is at work establishing churches and Sunday schools in the out-of-way places of this country. There are missionaries of the various denominations still travelling much after the fashion of old time circuit riders, or with mule teams hitched to Gospel wagons.

There are also a number of chapel cars which the Western railroads haul on their trains free of charge.
The car Emmanuel runs on the Pacific Coast, the Goodwill makes one night stands in Texas, the Evangel is in the Indian Territory, the Messenger of Peace in Missouri, while the Glad Tidings and the Herald of Hope come as far East as Wisconsin and Michigan.

One feature of the work of the Salvation Army is the effort it makes to encourage self respect and self help among the unfortunate whom it assists. The old clothes gathered from various sources are sold to the deserving at ridiculously low prices, but the purchaser his manhood by paying for them.

In most of the large cities wagons are sent around to collect old papers and rags for the industrial home.
The man in charge of this work in one city declares that if everybody would save his papers and rags and give them to the Army collector, the simple task of preparing this rubbish to ship to the mills would furnish occupation for practically all the homeless vagrants in the city.

Some of the oldest churches established under the patronage of the English Crown are still standing in this country. In many instances the royal arms are displayed of the walls, and the altar holds communion silver marked with inscriptions expressing the King's good will to his faithful subjects. Notable among these is King's Chapel in Boston now a Unitarian church.

The Epworth League derived its name from the Epworth rectory in England, where John Wesley born and raised. In politics the Epworth League took upon the famous Ordinance of 1878 as their own. Its passage was said to be due chiefly to the efforts of one Manasseh Cutler, a Congregational minister. It prohibited slavery in the Northwest Territories, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, and abolished the law of primogeniture, which made the eldest son the only heir to his father's estate.

A notable fact about religious conditions in the United States is the scarcity of Mohammedans. Although the followers of this religion number hundreds of millions, there is a mere sprinkling of them in this country. There are only three Oldman subjects in Chicago. The large Mosammedan colony is at Worcester, Mass., where several hundred Turks and Kurds are employed as factory workers.

There are several reasons why Mo-ammedans do not come here in numbers. The principal one is that he leaves his own country, and any subject of the Sultan must give bond that he will not change his religion while away.

Final Digest

An Englishman, fond of becoming a millionaire, took a walk from pocket and pointing to the head on graved on it, said: "My great-grandfather was made a lord by King Charles whose picture you see on the shilling."

"What a comfortable life!"
Yanked companion who at once responded another point. "My great-grandfather was made an earl by King Charles whose picture you see on the half cent."

PEPPERMINT FARM

A Money Maker. Women in Southwestern Michigan Has Forty Acres Under Cultivation.

In the southwestern part of the State of Michigan lives a woman, who earns a livelihood by conducting a farm of a unique type—the raising of peppermint. Forty acres are under cultivation, and each yields annually a profit of $40, and often half again as much when the price of peppermint oil rises, says Harper's Weekly. It fluctuates between $1 and $5 a pound, but the product may generally be held for a favorable price.

The best land for a peppermint farm is reclaimed swamp land, although any low ground that is sufficiently fertile will answer the purpose.
Every five years the crop should be changed, or else the peppermint will exhaust the soil to such an extent that a profitable yield cannot be obtained. Fifty pounds of oil to the acre may generally be produced for each of four consecutive years from the first cutting of the peppermint hay, and usually there is a second cutting, which adds 10 pounds more.
If an attempt be made to raise mint for a fifth year, the yield of oil would fall below 40 pounds and a second cutting would be impossible.

Peppermint is grown from roots, which are planted in furrows three feet apart, after the soil has been deeply plowed and carefully harrowed.
These roots, usually from one eight to three quarters of an inch thick and about two feet in length, are placed in the furrow so as to form a continuous line. The planting is done by hand, the roots being carried in a bag and immediately covered over as soon as they are laid in the furrow, lest their moisture evaporate.

When the mint begins to shoot above the ground it must be weeded, or else the hay and the resulting oil
will be filled with impurities.

About the middle of August the first crop is in full bloom and ready for cutting, and a month later the second cutting may be made. The dry hay is then thrown into windrows and left until it is thoroughly dry, when it is ready to be run through a still and the oil extracted. To produce one pound of dry hay requires at least 325 pounds of dry hay but unless the soil is well fertilized the crops will rapidly deteriorate.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever;
nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars

Spiritualists Will Get $500,000

Estate.

Bloomington, Ill., March 8.—The will of J. T. Orumbach, of Leroy, bequeathing $500,000 for the propagation of spiritualism, has been upheld by the State Supreme Court. His only child, a son, died an infant. He became a convert to spiritualism and imagined that the dead were, having grown to manhood in the spirit world, was always near him to advise and protect him.

Orumbach named this son "Bright-eyes" and engaged an artist to paint his life size portrait in oil as he would have appeared had he lived and grown to adult age. This rarefied picture was hung in the room of the banker and he was very fond of it. The relatives contended this action indicated a disordered mind.

Orumbach always maintained the spirit world by his side, sleeping and waking, had saved his life on several occasions by a timely warning of danger and that the son's good advice about investments had enabled him to amass his fortune. Orumbach became so infatuated with spiritualism that he believed implicitly in what he heard as seances.

The will left nearly the entire fortune to found a church for spiritualists and to disseminate the tenets of the cult. An annual income is provided by which the cause of spiritualism will be promoted and its beliefs explained.

Consul John H. Snodgrass, of Kobe, states that the Japanese Department of Agriculture and Commerce has determined to grant a substantial sum in aid of its experimental station to investigate the exportation of oranges.
It is stated that there is a large demand for Japanese oranges in Hawaii and the United States every winter, but the export has been greatly hampered hitherto by difficulty in packing the oranges so that they shall be free from the ravages of parasites in transit.

A MINIATURE GREENHOUSE

Home-Made Box in Which Cuttings May Be Propagated.

For propagating cuttings, take a box 12 inches square and 5 inches deep, inside measure. A couple of drainage holes should be made in the bottom. Around the sides of the box place four 10 by 12-inch panes of glass, and fill in, first with a layer of drainage material, preferably charcoal, 1 inch deep, then a bit of gravel, and on top of this at least 3 inches of clean, gritty sand, not too fine. Another pane of glass, 12 by 14 inches, rests on the top, as shown in the cut.

Tender plants such as geraniums, coleus, begonias and others, root off quickly. Woody cuttings require more care. For instance, weigela, forsythia, honeysuckle, etc., should have cuttings taken from well ripened wood in July or August. Cut to a length containing two pairs of leaves. Remove the lower pair and with a sharp blade make a clean cut right at the joint. Many woody plants will not form a callus except if cut at this point. Leave the stem projecting a little above the upper pair of leaves, so it may not dry back too far and injure the buds. Then the two leaves left should have the outer half of the blades removed.

With roses, or other shrubs where the leaves are not in pairs, the same principle holds. Choose the wood which has bloomed and cut to include four or five joints, always making the lower cut at a joint. Remove the lowest two leaves and cut back the others. They should be pressed firmly in the sand, kept moist and given plenty of sunlight.

Great Is Catalpa.

Arboriculture, an Indiana publication devoted to forestry, gives forty reasons why catalpa should be planted. A few of these reasons are as follows:

1. By 1925 American forests will be exterminated.
2. The only valuable tree which will mature in time.
3. Is antiseptic; requiring no chemical treatment.
4. It grows in almost any soil.
5. Is easily propagated and managed.
6. Demands no professional manipulation.
7. Most durable wood known.
8. Valuable for cross ties; have endured half a century.
9. Nothing better for telegraph poles.
10. Miles of living trees used for telegraph lines.
11. Makes magnificent veneers.
12. Superior to oak for furniture.
13. Lighter than pine.
14. Stronger than oak.
15. Tougher than tickory.
16. Freedom from warping.
17. Neither shrinks nor swells.
18. Makes best wood pulp and bookpaper.

Thrashing Out of Shock.

If thrashing can be done before the grain is damaged by rains all well and good. Even with some nice thrashing weather, under the common practice now of thrashing in circuits not many can get their work done during the most favorable time. Some must wait until the last of the thrashing season, and during this time the grain in shocks is sure to deteriorate. In some localities farmers are going back to the practice of putting all grain in stack and giving it time to go through the sweat before it is thrashed. This insures nice, bright grain, which may then be stored without any danger of heating, and the straw is much nicer for feeding. But if grain must be left in shock until a machine gets around to you, then by all means cut up good shocks and expel them with two big sheaves. Walk around the grain field every day and replace any caps which the wind may have blown off. If any shocks are damaged better throw these out as you haul in to the thrashing machine. A few musty or smutted shocks will lower the grade of your whole crop, when you come to market it.—L. C. Brown.

Value of Alfalfa.

Alfalfa is the dairyman's friend, surely, if the figures of D. H. Otis are correct. He figures that a ton of alfalfa contains 220 pounds of digestible protein, which at six cents a pound would be worth $13.20, and, if we got four tons to the acre, we could have a value of $52.80. Of course, for a dairyman to realize this much from an acre of alfalfa, he must feed judiciously and in proper combination with other feeds; but if he realizes only one-half of this amount, he is getting excellent returns from his land. Wheat bran, long the standard feed for dairy cows, contains only 12.2 pounds of digestible protein in every 100 pounds.

DOWIE'S EMPTY BUBBLE

Rise and Fall of a Religion and Real Estate Deal.

ALLURING PROMISES.

Dowieism Said to Have Brought Its Founder $15,000,000 in Three Years. His Money and His Church, Too, Lost Even More Quickly—When His Sect Lost Faith.

The rise and fall of Dowieism as a religion is noteworthy for the short space of time in which it occurred. The Christian Catholic church in Zion was organized on February 22, 1896. It took about seven years to reach its apogee, then declined swiftly.

One of the curious features of the movement is that its leader seems to have made and lost a fortune of no mean size. He was reported some years ago, when the lace factories in Zion City were running and all seemed well from a material standpoint, to be worth $15,000,000.

A city of 5,600 acres, one of the boom towns of the West, stood entirely in his name and so did all its industries. The collections from the congregations were said to amount to between $500,000 and $1,000,000 a year. One-tenth of the income of the members of the Church went to Dowie. It has come out since that he was able to drop $1,200,000 in stocks in 1903 and 1904, but his followers didn't know of this.

Much of this success was brought about because Dowieism at first seemed to promise material well-being for those who took it up. The lace making industry which Dowie picked up in England and transplanted to Zion City lured there many of those who became his followers. But none of them ever secured a foot of lace there that he could call his own. They leased lots from Dowie for 1,100 years.

Dowie started buying the land in 1898. The first building was erected in 1901. Dowie himself took up his residence there in March, 1902, and it was then that his religion entered upon its golden age.

When Dowie announced that he was about to start a new industry there the poor in Chicago hastened to join his community. Before this Dowie had appeared as a preacher and faith healer, but with Zion City opening up alluring prospects of a financial success Dowie announced that he was Elijah the Restorer sent by God. The interesting part of his religion was the manner in which he sought to insure for himself supreme control of the Church and also his own income.

In addition to taking the oath which Judge Landis described as being beneath contempt, the discipline of the Church described it as being an army "which does not vote as to who shall be its officers, but believing that God has given apostles, prophets and teachers, obeys those whom God has set over his kingdom in so far as these obey the plainly revealed word of God." Another paragraph in the discipline provided that a title of all the earnings should be given "into God's storehouse," which was Dowie.

When Zion City was at the height of its prosperity it contained more than 5,000 persons who subscribed to this creed and accepted all announcements from the General Overseer, as Dowie called himself, as coming from God. Every store, every factory and every peasant stand was in the name of Dowie. Every business enterprise was run in his name.

When Dowie moved on New York with his Restoration Host the city he had built up in less than three years bade fair to become one of the important communities of the state. There were 4,000 hands in the lace factories, stores were doing a large business and a great university had been started. Dowie lived in a house which cost $154,000 and contained among other things a set of dining room furniture worth $4,500. In the office of this Elijah there was a table that cost $1,200.

With the trip to New York the tide turned. Since then trouble has come swiftly upon Dowie. He promised his followers that he would reclaim New York from the devil and lead it captive back to Zion, and members of his Restoration Host came with him on that strange crusade.

When they went back his prestige was gone and Dowieism was on the wane. Its passing since then has been swift. Dowie started on a trip around the world to try his luck in the role of a modern Elijah, but he was hooted at and his religion received with derision. On his return came the appointment of a receiver at the instance of some of his creditors.

He staved this off for a time, but in April, 1906, the financial scheme which had been the concomitant of his religion collapsed. There was no money in Zion to speak of. He had spent $50,000 on his tour of the world, $15,000 for a private yacht, $20,000 on a trip to Mexico, more than $1,900,000 in speculation and hadn't even paid for the lumber that the city was made with.

The Diary

By F. E. C. ROSSIDE.

The look of satisfaction on Caleb Jenkins' face when he came home one afternoon, attracted attention almost as soon as the bulky parcel that he carried in his hand.

"What on earth have you got now that you're so tickled over?" demanded his wife. She took the parcel from Caleb's unresisting hands.

He watched her with a kind of fascination while she impatiently tore off the brown wrapping-paper, and as she brought to view something that looked like an overgrown account book he found voice to say, "It's only a diary."

"A diary!" echoed Mrs. Jenkins. "Just as though you had patience enough to keep a diary! I should judge by the size of the book that you expected to write in it every day, and live to be a hundred, at that!" Then, as she opened the book, she exclaimed, "Why, it's been used! Somebody has palmed off a second-hand diary on to you, Caleb Jenkins!"

"Oh, that's why I bought it. I wanted to see if I couldn't floor Zenas Perkins with it once in a while. You see, Zenas has got to be considerable of a nuisance with that diary of his, that he's kept for a dozen years or more."

"He doesn't allow anybody else to know anything. If anybody remarks that this is the warmest October that he ever saw, why, Zenas is ready to prove that the mercury averaged to run higher in October only two years ago."

"Then he's always wanting to know if we remember that it is just so many years ago to-day that Joel Pike's barn burned, or that something or other else happened. Only the other day I was saying that Cap'n Baker's third wife hadn't been dead more'n six months when he married his fourth, and Zenas took me right up, and got his diary, and showed by it that the cap'n had remained a widower just eight months and eleven days."

"You can't bring up a namable thing but Zenas is waiting to pounce on you with his diary. And I don't believe he's right more'n half the time. I calculate he doesn't keep the diary along regular, but writes it up at odd jobs rainy days."

"I s'posed Zenas spent his rainy days hanging about the store, like some other folks I know."

"Time and again," continued Caleb, disregarding his wife's thinly veiled allusion, "I've thought of keeping one myself; but a diary has to have some age before it's good for much, and Zenas had most too much of a start."

"One day, when I had an errand at old Uncle Artemus Baxter's, I found him writing in a big book, and he remarked that he had kept a diary for thirty odd years, and I thought then that I'd kinder like to get hold of it. Well, when the old gentleman passed away, and I heard that his son-in-law, Seth Strout, was disposing of the household goods, I reflected the diary, and thought I'd see if I couldn't decipher for it. I've just come from Seth's, and there's the book. I'm going to read it all through, and then I'm going to keep it along myself, and we'll see if Zenas Perkins will be the only authority on happenings in Pontdown!"

"How much did you pay for that book?" asked Mrs. Jenkins. "If you paid for it by weight it must have come to considerable."

"Well, I paid three and a half for it. I offered two, and Seth wanted five, and finally we split the difference."

"Three dollars and a half! Well, I never did!" and Mrs. Jenkins retired to the kitchen, leaving her husband to the undisturbed perusal of his dearly bought treasure.

When she looked in on him, an hour later, Caleb was still poring over the book, but the exultation had faded from his eyes.

"Alvira," he said, mournfully, "I've spent three dollars and a half dreadfully foolishly."

"I guess that's no news, Caleb Jenkins," was the curt reply. "Now just listen to this," said Caleb, too much absorbed in his trouble to notice his wife's displeasure. "This is one day's record: 'October the eighteenth. O, the wickedness that stalks abroad! We have indeed fallen upon evil times. I myself, as prone to evil as the snake to fly upward. Rheumatism about as yesterday. Applied skunk's oil, but derived no benefit.'

"There, it's just like that, Alvira, all through the diary. There is plenty of the old gentleman's reflections and accounts of his ailments and what he took for 'em, but there's nothing about the weather, and I have not run across a single event yet."

"This book isn't worth a red cent to me, Alvira," he continued, bitterly. "Of course Seth wouldn't take it back. I believe I'll leave it into the stove."

"Oh, no, Caleb, don't do that!" said the good woman, her heart softened by her husband's dejection. "I need just such a book. I'm always wanting to press leaves and flowers, you know, and pretty much all of the books in the house are full. That diary will be just the thing. I'm proper glad you got it, Caleb."

THE SALISBURY ADVERTISER

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT SALISBURY, WICOMICO CO., MD.
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY BOARD

R. E. White, J. R. White,
WHITE & WHITE,
EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

THE WAY THEY HAVE IN OLD WICOMICO— BUT NOW ABOUT THE PEOPLE

The Democratic State Central Committee has given it out that it is willing to hold the coming primary under either the old convention plan, or if they can be convinced that the sentiment in County is in favor of having them held under a direct primary plan then they will be in favor of the Crawford County System.

Unless the members of the Committee are wilfully blind, and have made a mental reservation that they will refuse to see or acknowledge sentiment when it exists, this puts the matter squarely up to the voters in the party to say what they want.

It should be remembered that while the wishes of those who are commonly classified as leaders either of the County at large or in the various districts, should be given due consideration—at least as long as it is evident that they are actuated by party welfare and not by the desire to advance their own interests—yet the decision as to the mode of making nominations should be left in the hands of the voters, and let them decide whether or not they want to name the ticket, or have it to others who have in the past and will in the future name the nominees as long as the convention plan of nominating is allowed to stand.

If the leaders in the various districts would feel the pulse of the voters of their party and then be guided by the results they would be in a position to say whether or not direct primaries should be adopted. Whether or not all will do this is a question.

People love power and if they cannot get that, they sometimes fall in love with its shadow. Though the average leaders of a district are not consulted until the makeup of the ticket has been fully decided upon by the inner circle, yet the fact that they are taken into confidence a few minutes before the convention is called to order make them feel of some importance and they are even sometimes fooled into the belief that their wishes are being fully considered and their recommendations are being given full weight. Most of those who have been in the business long enough, are fully aware that they really amount to but little, and knowing this try to fool themselves and the people of their home district into the belief that they are real powers in the politics of the County.

If these people should look at the matter in its true light and weigh their present position with the one they would occupy under the direct system of making nominations, they would at once see that they would have more weight and influence under the latter plan than at present.

They have any influence at all it is through the voters at home and not through the men who make up the ticket, and this influence would be much more potent with the voters in deciding the nominations than it is now.

According to an interview given by Captain Brown before he sailed, the reason for his previous failure was the fact that the party he accompanied in 1850 removed the treasure from Cooca to another island of the South Pacific.

In the expedition of 1850 Brown sailed with Capt. Henry Smith, son of the famous explorer who explored the Spanish ships of their treasure.

According to the Captain, the treasure was found and $1,000,000 was removed to Australia after the schooner had broken up and all of the crew except the captain, the steward and himself had perished.

The remaining $500,000,000 was buried on another island. Before this country was reached the captain and steward died, so he claims that he is the only living man that knows the whereabouts of the treasure.

Captain Brown left San Francisco on board the Meriposa and he plans to outfit a small steamer when he reaches the group of islands where the wealth is buried. He has a family in Providence, Rhode Island.

The Delaware House Tuesday afternoon, by a vote of 27 to 6, passed a bill authorizing the State to aid a trolley line to run through the State in the extent of $100,000. The Commonwealth can subscribe for securities to this amount.

The measure was presented by Representative Hopkins (Dem.) of Kent County, at the instance of the grange element.

The purpose is to parallel the Delaware division of the Pennsylvania railroad.

MR. J. BAYARD PERDUE

Passes Away After A Well Spent Life Of About Four Score.

Mr. J. Bayard Perdue, who died of pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. S. Gubby, was one of the best known citizens of Wicomico County. An enthusiastic fox hunter, Mr. Perdue, despite his age, followed the hounds to the last, the cold which developed into pneumonia which resulted in his death, is believed to have been contracted while chasing the cunning fox. His home for a number of years has been on the farm near Salisbury, and he was recognized as one of the leading stock raisers, and progressive farmers in the County.

His endurance in the chase was the subject of comment by all those who accompanied him in the saddle while after the fox, and although at an age when the average man retires from such strenuous exercise, he would tire out his younger men who hunted with him.

In politics, Mr. Perdue was always a staunch democrat and always active in the work of his party, and would never accept an office at the hands of his party.

The deceased leaves four children, his wife having died some few years ago. The children are Dean W. Perdue, the well known carriage dealer of this city; Glen Perdue, head of the Farmers and Planters Co., of Salisbury; Mrs. S. S. Gubby, wife of Mr. Somers S. Gubby, and Mrs. Polk Morris, of Delmar.

Mr. Perdue leaves a very comfortable estate. Several years ago he divided his fine farm on the shell road, selling a part to Mr. Gubby and the old home place to Mr. Calvin Morris. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Gubby. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

MUMFORD TAKES HIS LIFE

At Parnassburg, Despondent After Loss
Of His Wife Last Summer.

The neighborhood of Parnassburg and vicinity were shocked on Monday when it was learned that a suicide had been committed nearby. Mr. J. E. Mumford, a farmer who lives about two miles from Parnassburg took his life with a shot gun about one o'clock Monday. Judging from the general appearance Mumford must have placed the shot gun muzzle close to the head and fired, as the charge blew off the entire top of his head, resulting in instantaneous death. Mumford evidently had contemplated suicide for some time and on the day he took his life he had sent the children away after the dinner hour. On a previous occasion he told one of his daughters to sell the place if anything should happen to him as he had seen a great deal of trouble there. His daughter never suspected that anything was the matter and only recalled the conversation after his death. Mr. Mumford lost his wife last summer and is supposed to have brooded over his loss until his mind was unbalanced.

He was about 46 years old and leaves six children, two sons about grown, and four daughters. S. P. Parsons, Justice of the Peace, held an inquest and jurors with Mr. E. H. Riley as foreman, decided after investigation that it was a willful and premeditated suicide.

TO HUNT TREASURE

Party Sails for South Seas To Seek Treasures Hidden Riches.

Capt. James Brown, who was a member of a party that searched for the famous Cooca Island treasure in 1850, has sailed for the South Seas to recover the spoils of the Spanish freebooters taken from them by Captain Smith of the schooner Black Witch, which left Salem, Mass., in 1820.

Ever since that time venturesome treasure seekers have sought the rich loot, but all that has ever come of their search has been countless romances of the sea.

According to an interview given by Captain Brown before he sailed, the reason for his previous failure was the fact that the party he accompanied in 1850 removed the treasure from Cooca to another island of the South Pacific.

In the expedition of 1850 Brown sailed with Capt. Henry Smith, son of the famous explorer who explored the Spanish ships of their treasure.

SKETCH OF OUR TOWN

Salisbury As Seen By Others. The Sun's Reporter Visits Us.

The following extracts are taken from an article in the Sunday Edition of the Baltimore Sun relative to Salisbury and its history.

A Nestling Little City.

Salisbury, the county seat of Wicomico has her share of ambition, and she has outlived to a remarkable degree the soaring habit of smaller towns.

But it would be dishonest to dwell upon her enormous ambitions and overlook her very real achievements. In the English of the commercial world, Salisbury has made good. She possesses indeed, few, if any, features which do not fully justify the rather old stand that she as a municipality, has assumed.

It would appear that when a public improvement was to be undertaken here, the residents did not send delegates to other towns in the 5,000 class and see how they had gone about the same task; but rather, they investigated what the great cities—those of half a million or more people—had done. And from the data so obtained from the big cities, the little town of Salisbury planned her own improvements.

Through the effort to make Salisbury a city fully up-to-date, something in the way of the smaller town's charm has, perhaps been sacrificed. For instance, in the reconstruction of Division street a magnificent arched way of fine old shade trees was razed.

This old, tree fringed highway was not peculiar to Salisbury, for many another tiny city can boast a similar attraction, but what was obtained by the sacrifice—modern bituminous street bed—is a feature that can be shown by very few other American cities of the same size as Wicomico's county seat.

Rapidly Forging Ahead.

Again, admitting that Salisbury, in her endeavor to keep abreast of the big cities, has put on the toga of a grown urban center and the airs of a full-fledged metropolis, nevertheless in this truckling to modernness, in this constant striving to be an adult town, Salisbury has lost little of that maidenly sweetness which is the peculiar charm of the little town—the community of homes of simple people.

Although Salisbury does a large business for a city of her size, yet the commercial side of life is not the one which is most stressed. The visitor here may take away with him a proper appreciation for the trade and manufactures of Salisbury; he may allow due credit for the business transacted here as the governmental seat of the county; but the most lasting impression is one of a city of homes. And it is everywhere evident that the remarkable improvements that have been made here had their incentive in a wish to enhance the homelike tendencies of the Salisbury residents as much as, if not more than the commercial interests of the town.

Salisbury has made its greatest strides within recent years. It has been within the memory of many of the still young people of the county seat that the greatest improvements have been wrought and that the most substantial gains have been scored by the commercial houses of the town.

Moreover the town has had an official standing only since the Civil War, for Wicomico is next to the youngest county in Maryland.

The history of Salisbury may therefore be divided into two periods—that when the town stood on the boundary line which divided Somerset from Worcester county, and that since the people of what is now Wicomico determined by their ballots that they would erect for themselves a new county.

Two Disastrous Fires.

It is true that Division street has not been able to stop altogether the march of progress, for its beautiful shade trees were cut down to make room for widening the roadway of the street, but the chances of the people of Salisbury ever being able to use kinkarine, on this delightful residential thoroughfare are very slim.

In the fall of 1898 Salisbury had a disastrous conflagration which came very near wiping the town off the map. It is just possible that, had the city been without the incentive to rapid building which was found in its office of county seat, Salisbury would not have been able to recover from this misfortune.

The city had been visited on a previous occasion—1860—by a fire which glutinously devoured almost every building in the business section of the town. All the structures were then of wood, and when they were replaced this same material was used.

The second fire convinced the people of the folly of again rebuilding their city of wood, and as a consequence the disaster—much as in the case of Baltimore—afforded the citizens the opportunity of improving their city by replacing the destroyed houses with more substantial ones, and Salisbury, as far as her business section is concerned became a town of brick buildings.

Two years later or in 1898, Salisbury gained authority from the Legislature to take her town affairs out of the hands of the County Commissioners, which was too primitive a method of governing the growing city, and entered upon her career as a full-fledged city by electing a Mayor and a City Council.

This change had been the means of bringing improvement to Salisbury which would not have been possible.

Salisbury is in addition to having the county's governmental machinery to aid her growth, and in addition to being in the heart of a very rich agricultural country, has raised certain advantages in the way of transportation lines which have been very helpful to the city's growth both in commerce and manufactures.

The city is at the intersection of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad and the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway's Choptank-Ocean City line. By these two lines it has an excellent service to Baltimore's nearest shipping point on the Eastern Shore and to the Atlantic coast, and an equally good service between the Northern cities and Norfolk and the South.

Letter to J. E. Ellogg.
Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir:—The real test of a paint is how many square feet will a gallon of it cover? And all the paintmen wear they cover 800 square feet two coats. Mildly they prevail.

L. H. Ferohad; builder, 1108 Dupre St., New Orleans, covered 1900 square feet with three gallons Devos last year; and paints all his jobs Devos. That's how the tale goes to us.

He doesn't say whether one or two coats; if one, there's nothing wonderful in it; if two, they must have very small feet in New Orleans.

Devos doesn't stop at 800 feet; but over 800. Most paints, we suppose, can be stretched to 300 feet, but they're mighty thin; they cover well 160 to 200.

When N. B. Watkins, Lot, Texas, painted his house before, it took 18 gallons; Devos 7 gallons. That shows the strength of the paint.

W. B. McCluney painted a house in Crystal Springs, Miss., to test two pure paints; one coat 6 gallons Devos, the other coat 10 gallons of a New Orleans paint. That shows the strength of the paint.

Surfaces differ: one takes more, another takes less. Devos covers more than any other paint; two to one in the case of half the paints. But how many it covers, we don't know till we see the surface. Yours truly, F. W. DEVOS CO.

P. S.—L. W. Gubby & Co., sell our paint.

Letter to J. E. Ellogg.

Dear Sir:—The real test of a paint is how many square feet will a gallon of it cover? And all the paintmen wear they cover 800 square feet two coats. Mildly they prevail.

L. H. Ferohad; builder, 1108 Dupre St., New Orleans, covered 1900 square feet with three gallons Devos last year; and paints all his jobs Devos. That's how the tale goes to us.

He doesn't say whether one or two coats; if one, there's nothing wonderful in it; if two, they must have very small feet in New Orleans.

Devos doesn't stop at 800 feet; but over 800. Most paints, we suppose, can be stretched to 300 feet, but they're mighty thin; they cover well 160 to 200.

When N. B. Watkins, Lot, Texas, painted his house before, it took 18 gallons; Devos 7 gallons. That shows the strength of the paint.

W. B. McCluney painted a house in Crystal Springs, Miss., to test two pure paints; one coat 6 gallons Devos, the other coat 10 gallons of a New Orleans paint. That shows the strength of the paint.

Surfaces differ: one takes more, another takes less. Devos covers more than any other paint; two to one in the case of half the paints. But how many it covers, we don't know till we see the surface. Yours truly, F. W. DEVOS CO.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

Serialized From the Play by Frederick T. Tombs

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY THOMAS A. WISE

CHAPTER VIII.
HOW SENATOR LANGDON GETS A SECRETARY.

LANGDON leaned over and seized the arm of his interviewer.

"See here, young man, why aren't you in politics?" he said.

"Too busy, senator," replied Haines.

"Besides, I like the newspaper game," "Game?" queried Langdon.

"Oh, I use the word in a general sense, senator," replied Haines. "Pretty much everything is a 'game'—politics, newspaper work, business of every sort. Men and women 'move' to meet the moves of other men and women. Why, even in religion, the way some people play it."

The speaker was interrupted by the appearance of Hope Georgia, who was searching for her father.

"Stay here and listen to what a hard task your old father has got," said the Mississippi, to his daughter, whom he presented to Haines with a picturesque flourish reminiscent of the pride and chivalry of the old south. "He has the idea that those New Yorkers who read his paper would actually like to know something about me."

Hope Georgia stole many glances at the reporter as he talked with her father. He made a deep impression on her young mind. She had spent almost all her life on the plantation, her father providing her with a private tutor instead of sending her to boarding school, where her elder sister had been educated. Owing to the death of her mother the planter had desired to keep Hope Georgia at home for companionship. This good looking, clean cut, well built young man who was taking so big and so active a part of the world's work brought to her the atmosphere that her spirit craved. He gave one an impression of ability, earnestness, of sincerity, and she was glad that her father approved of him.

Hope Georgia, by the same token did not escape the attention of the interviewer. Her appealing charm of face and figure was accentuated by her daintiness and a fleeting suggestion of naivete in pose and expression when she was amused. His first glance revealed to Haines that her eyes were gray, the gray that people say indicates the possessor to have those priceless qualities—the qualities that make the sweetest women true. That the maiden's eyes in truth the windows of her soul, the qualities that make women womanly.

She sat close to her father, her hand in his, listening intently to the unfolding of a story of what to her was a mysterious world—the man's world, the strong man's world—while many a woman would give her all to enter and play a part therein.

"What else have you again?" a political career, Mr. Haines? went on the senator, taking up their conversation.

"Well, my age for one thing. I haven't any gray hairs."

Langdon waved this objection aside. "I might arrange to pool ages with you. Sometimes I think we want young men in politics, like you."

The reporter shook his head.

"Old in age and young in politics, like you, Senator Langdon," he replied.

"Politics I sometimes think is pure hypocrisy and sometimes something worse. A man gets disgusted with the trickery and dishonesty and corruption."

"Then," drawled Langdon, "the thing to do is to jump in and stop it! I read in the newspapers a great deal about corruption. The gentlemen in national politics whom I have had the honor of knowing—Senator Mosely, an intimate friend of thirty years, my present colleague, Senator Stevens, and others—have been as honest as the day is long."

"But the days do get short in November, when congress meets, don't they?" laughed Haines, rising. "I'm afraid I've taken too much of your time, and I seem to have talked a lot."

Langdon was amused.

"Does look like I'd been interviewing you. I reckon each one of us has got a pretty good notion of what the other man's like. I wanted it that way, and I like you, Mr. Haines. I've got a proposition to make to you. They tell me I'll need a secretary. Now, I think I need just such a young man as you. I don't know just exactly what the work would be or what the financial arrangements should be, but I think you and I would make a pretty good team. I wish you'd come." He turned to his daughter, with a smile. "What do you think of that, Hope Georgia? Isn't your dad right?"

Smiling her approval, the young girl squeezed her father's hand in her enthusiasm.

"I think it's a splendid idea, dad; just great! Won't you come, Mr. Haines?"

"With you'd think about it for your self," observed the senator, while Hope Georgia again nodded approval. "It would be a hard job. There are many matters of political detail about which I am sadly inexperienced that really most of the work would fall on the secretary."

Bud Haines paused. Again he thought over Langdon's offer. Its genuineness appealed to him. Suddenly there dawned on him an idea of just what it might mean to be associated with this honest old citizen who had asked for his help—who needed it, as Haines knew only too well. He would be the senator's guide and confidant—his adviser in big matters. Why, he would practically be the United States senator himself. He knew the "inside" as few others in Washington. Here was a chance to match his wit against that of Peabody, the boss of the senate; a chance to spoil some of the dishonest schemes of those who were adroitly "playing the game." He could better, too, the intriguing members of the "third house," as the lobbyists are called. He could direct a lightning bolt into the camp of Andy Corrigan, who claimed the honor of being "speaker of the third house." These thoughts crowded into his mind. Then, too, he wondered how Langdon practically a

STOMACH DISTRESS.

And All Misery from Indigestion Vanishes Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapensin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50 cent case of Diapensin and take one or two triangles after supper tonight. There will be no souring, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, Debilitating Headache, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with noxious odors.

Pain's Diapensin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it takes hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist, waiting for you. These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

Lead, when reduced to a very low temperature in liquid air, is said to act much as steel at ordinary temperatures. It will serve as a helical spring, for example. Just as iron is soft and inelastic at a high red color, so lead is dull and soft at ordinary temperatures. It will serve as a helical spring, for example. Just as iron is soft and inelastic at a high red color, so lead is dull and soft at ordinary temperatures, for it is then already well on its way to be melted.

—More than thirteen million pieces of mail matter were sent to the Dead Letter office last year principally because of carelessness in writing the addresses. If these thirteen million pieces had been sent in packages having the address of the writer on them, they would have been returned to the writer instead of going to the Dead Letter office.

SCREAM OF A GASSER.

As Fleeting as the Death Cry of a Thousand Panthers. Whatever facts may be covered up in the oil business there is one thing which defies secrecy. It is a gasser. When a gasser is struck everybody for miles around knows it. In fact nobody knows or at least thinks of anything else till the gasser is muffled.

A writer in the Broadway Magazine gives an account of the advent of one of these wells. It seems to have been a howling success. It woke the hero out of a dead sleep, though he was at a considerable distance from the well.

The air did not seem to be air, but one unceasing, ear piercing, brain maddening scream. He got up, stuffed his ears with cotton and bled himself to the scene of the gasser. "It screamed like the death cry of a thousand panthers," he says. "The long steel cable had been sent flying like a twin string, a great length of pipe had been hurled against a tree and wrapped around it. The derrick was almost hidden in a white haze, a geyser of fine sand was streaming upward and eating away the lofty crown block."

"Seth knew what it was. He found Tom and they gesticulated at each other, they made faces, but no audible sound. Their voices were vain as candles in the full sunlight. Each was trying to yell the same thing. "She's a gasser blowing her head off!"

"Men gathered from everywhere and acted like crazy folk, working their jaws and delivering no message. They were soaked, drowned, obliterated in a sea of intolerable noise."

"A mile away at the railroad station the passengers were equally made dumb by the uproar. If a man wanted a ticket he had to write out the name of the station. An engine rolled in with a bell that rocked without sound and a whistle emitting puffs of white steam that no one heard. "The animals of the region were greatly disturbed. There was much breaking of harness by horses, and one or two galloped about under empty saddles."

Executions in India. The decisions as to whether the murderer should be executed or imprisoned for life was, says the Civil and Military Gazette in describing an execution at Hyderabad of a Pathan who had shot his brother-in-law, as is usual, left to the murdered man's relatives, and his wife, the sister of the murderer, voted for death.

On the day for the execution there appeared in the streets a band of sweepers armed with leafy twigs, followed by a squad of the city Arab police with fixed bayonets. Then came the criminal, dressed in new white garments, with a new halter around his neck and new ropes attached to his arms. The ends of these ropes were held by the policemen. The chief thing in for the condemned man to walk, but in this case he was so overcome that he had to be conveyed in a jukka.

On arriving at the fatal spot the murderer was made to alight and kneel down, while the policeman handed over charge of the cords to the executioner's attendants, one of whom, seizing the end of the halter, stood in front of the felon, while others held the cords phantoms his arms behind. The executioner, brandishing a broad, heavy sword, keen as a razor, in a suggestive fashion, and prancing up towards his victim asked three times in a loud voice: "Who authorizes the execution?" The chief of the city police on duty thrice replied: "The Amin."

Then the attendant armed with a long needle pricked the condemned man in the back, causing him to start forward. At the same instant those holding the cords laid themselves back in the opposite direction, as in a tug-of-war contest, with the result that the victim's neck was stretched, and, following the reply of the chief of police, the executioner's blade descended fair and true on the neck, severing the head completely.

Ancient Coffins. The coffins of the ancient Egyptians were made of marble and stone. The Romans used similar receptacles for their dead, and Alexander the Great is said to have been buried in a coffin of solid gold. In parts of England glass coffins have been found. The Athenian heroes were buried in coffins made of cedar, owing to its aromatic and incorruptible qualities, while the first record of wooden coffins in England dates back to the days of King Arthur. This monarch was supposed to have been buried in the hollowed trunk of a gigantic oak tree. Patent coffins were invented in 1796, and metallic air tight coffins were advertised at Birmingham in 1861.

Uneven Visual Range. Many persons who think their sight perfect have a greater visual power in one eye than in the other. With regard to the respective power of the right and left eye a well-known optician finds that a person occupied in writing all day has, as a rule, stronger vision in the left. Writing with the right hand and his left arm resting on the table, his left eye is nearer his work and his vision is more concentrated. This explains why that our race will never become so short-sighted as the German while football, tennis, hockey, etc., are encouraged in our public schools.

Add This Fact To Your Store Of Knowledge

Kidney disease advances so rapidly that many a person is finally in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizziness or tired, worn-out feeling, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Salisbury citizen.

Mrs. Samuel E. Brittingham, 308 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement, as they have proven worthy of it. I was annoyed off and on for over a year by a persistent pain across the small of my back which always became worse when I caught cold or did much stooping. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, I procured a box at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them I have had no sign of my former trouble."

Largest Oak Falls.

(From the Philadelphia Inquirer.)

Yeadon Oak, the oldest and largest white oak tree in the United States, beneath whose spreading branches many treaties were made between the whites and Indians before the arrival of Penn, after withstanding the elements for 700 years, fell, a victim to the windstorm of last Wednesday.

The old oak was known to botanists all over the country and had been visited by thousands of sightseers.

When measured by J. Markley, assisted by Prof. Waldo, of the University of Pennsylvania, it was found to be 90 feet high. The branches have a sweep from east to west of 115 feet and the trunk was 33 feet in circumference at the ground.

John Bartram, the royal botanist of the Colonies and the founder of the famous Bartram Gardens, was considerably interested in the giant oak of Yeadon, which was an "old" tree 140 years ago.

RHEUMATISM RECIPE.

Directions To Prepare Simple, Yet Remarkable Home Mixture.

A well known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable though simple and harmless, prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost and being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will no doubt be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry as to the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the ingredients here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

A curious insect has arrived from Brazil at the South Kensington Museum in London. It is a beetle. At its head gleams a red ruby lamp, and 11 green lights glow forth from each side of the little creature. These peculiarities have earned it the name of the "railway beetle."

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

In the British Museum is preserved the oldest specimen of pure glass which bears any date. It is in the shape of a lion's head, having on it the name of an Egyptian King of the eleventh dynasty.

Willis J. Prouty, principal of the local High School at Meriden, Conn., has requested the parents of girls who will be graduated this year not to spend more than 50 cents a yard in the material for graduation gowns.

ALL TURN BIG SWAMP

Good Farm Lands. Delaware Plan to Reclaim 5,000 Acres Involves Use of Pocomoke River As Outlet.

Salisbury, Del., Feb. 18.—With a view of 5,000 acres, which is now utterly useless, Dr. Frank M. Gum believes he has a fortune in his grasp, and will begin at once to convert it into fertile farm lands.

The tract is located on what is known as the Cypress Swamp, now a wet, low and spongy area, which many men are afraid to enter. Many lives have been lost in the swamp and many persons have been lost for days to be rescued half starved and exhausted.

The erstwhile swamp will be drained and turned into farms. A government expert has looked over the tract and pronounced the plan feasible. The land has been surveyed and Dr. Gum has bought out the rights of Congressman Henry Houston, of Millersboro; Dr. C. R. Layton, of Georgetown; Landreth L. Layton, of Georgetown and Dr. McCabe and Henry Williams, of Salisbury.

The plan is to dig a canal to drain the swamp into the new canal the Maryland people are cutting near Berlin into the Pocomoke River. In conjunction with Dr. Gum, Congressman Burton, of Lawes; the Levy Court of Sussex County and the town commissioners have all become interested and an effort will be made to place the matter before Congress and the state legislature.

The work of reclamation will begin in the spring. In connection with the investigations an examination has also been made of the Pocomoke River, in Maryland, from Snow Hill to the Delaware line, as a possible outlet for the drainage. This would include drainage of all the farm land on each side of the river and it is hoped that Maryland can be interested in this part of the work.

Don't Be Misled.

The retail druggists of this country, as a class, are noted for their high standard of intelligence and honorable dealing, but it is a well known fact that occasionally you will find one who will try to sell you something else when you call for a remedy of established reputation. He forgets that your health is more important than his pocketbook.

For example, when you ask for Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, don't let any druggist, drug clerk or storekeeper persuade you into buying some thing else in its place. Every time he succeeds in selling you a worthless substitute he makes more profit but you are humbugged at the expense of your health.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to send for a free sample bottle so that people could judge of its great curative value in even the most distressing cases of kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

On another page of this paper you will find a few letters, prompted by feelings of heartfelt gratitude, that are constantly coming to Dr. Kilmer and Company. No one can doubt such sincere and honest testimony. Swamp Root is prepared only by Dr. Kilmer and Co., Laboratories, Birmingham, N. Y.—Don't expect more! If you need a medicine you should have the best.

IN MEMORY.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear Father, who died March 18, 1908.

Dearest Father, thou hast left us:—
 "Thou art more at ease to day,
 'Tis Heaven, we hope to meet thee,
 When this life shall pass away."

How hard we tried to save him,
 But efforts were in vain,
 And now it's best to take him
 As he would suffer no more pain.

Our dearest Father,
 We hope to meet again,
 For there is no parting,
 In Heavenly Land above.

By his children.

NEW $3.50 A WEEK

Hotel For Girls. Any Whose Salary Goes Above $7 Each Seven Days Will Have To Move.

The two story and basement building at 403 West Twenty-second street, New York, which is to become a $3.50 a week hotel for working girls, will be open for use according to Mrs. Belle de Rivera, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, the organization which is financing the enterprise.

The building, which has been thoroughly repaired by its owner, Miss Woodward, will be turned over to the stockholding members of the Federation, and the work of furnishing will be rapidly pushed. Different rooms will be furnished by the Federation. One club will furnish the parlor, a piano being included. Another club will furnish a "stranger's room," which is meant for young women who reach this city late on out-of-town trains.

Every girl who applies for permanent admission to the house will be investigated as to salary. If she is earning more than $7 a week admission will be refused. Many applications have already been received.

John Wanamaker's Church Wrecked By Water.

The interior of Bethany Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, of which John Wanamaker is a member, was wrecked Monday morning of last week when a huge water main at Twenty-second and Bainbridge street broke. The damage is estimated at $75,000.

The water ran for hours into the church before it was discovered. The street surrounding the broken pipe had caved in for many feet, and the deep rents in the earth gave the thoroughfare the appearance of having suffered from an earthquake.

Summoning assistance from the members of Engine Company No. 1, Eighteenth and South Streets, several men broke in the doors of the church. The devastation which the firemen beheld was appalling. A tidal wave descending upon the district could not have more thoroughly filled the structure.

The men were unable to enter the main body of the building at all, and a great outrush of water felled them; the cellar and the engine room extinguishing the fire, worked its way into the main interior of the building and then rose until the gallery had been reached.

It is estimated that there was at least 25 feet of water in the structure. Valuable paintings, the gift of John Wanamaker, and valuable statuary, pictures, books, chairs, pianos and the 800,000 pipe organ were either swept away or ruined by the flood.

THE RESPONSIBILITY

For The Eastern Shore Trade. Baltimore Should Look For It, Seriously.

"Baltimore will never get its share of the Eastern Shore trade until such a time as there enters upon the scene another system of hay boats controlled by interests big enough to fight the Pennsylvania Railroad or until such a time as the bridge across the Chesapeake bay carrying a trolley car system that will cover the Eastern Shore with a network of lines shall have become a fact."

This is the statement of Thomas Boggs, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, who declares that such a thing as getting fair play from the Pennsylvania Railroad is well nigh impossible.

Mr. Boggs, however, differs with Beverly N. Sparks, who is in the city representing a publicity campaign started on the Eastern Shore, in that he states that Baltimore's trade with the Eastern Shore is not falling off as fast as Mr. Sparks would have us believe. He admits, however, that things are in a bad way, and that the time for drastic measures is at hand.

Two Plans of Action.
Mr. Boggs states that the bridge plan is slowly progressing, and he believes that such a plan can be made to pay. Regarding the establishing of independent hay line boats to various unserved Eastern Shore points, he states that the reason these lines have not materialized is simply because such capital would get no protection whatever from the disastrous freight war that would follow on the part of the Pennsylvania. Said he:

"We had people who agreed to give a decent service to Orisfield. They asked for protection, and our Association had prepared a bill fixing a maximum and minimum freight rate for that point. The bill would have prevented a freight war and the forcing to the wall of an independent line by the big Pennsylvania corporation, but after it had passed both branches of the State Legislature, Governor Crothers vetoed it."

Baltimore Suffering.
"Baltimore is not getting its share of trade from the Eastern Shore, and it never can get it until the Shore gets a decent freight and passenger service. We are working every day for new lines of steamers, or rather the resumption of lines discontinued when the Western Line and the Chesapeake River Line were bought by the Pennsylvania. We have been met by obstacles at every turn, and have gotten a small part of what we have asked for."

Say Baltimore is Slow.
"Then there is another thing. Baltimore is slow. Its merchants are not canvassing the Eastern Shore like the firms from Philadelphia. This is especially true of the truck business. Philadelphia commission men go down there and buy up the truck and pay for it. This tends naturally to cause the people who sell the truck to go to Philadelphia to spend the money. "We are working along the best line we know to better conditions, and we have been working for years. The Pennsylvania Railroad holds the key to the situation, and despite statements to the contrary, they are forcing their business to their main line on the railroads at the expense of Baltimore's trade."

STRONG ARGUMENT FOR CRAWFORD COUNTY SYSTEM

From Governor Hughes, Of New York. Time Come When Nominations By All Parties For Elective Offices Should Be Made Directly By The Enrolled Voters Of The Parties, Respectively. Every Voter In Wicomico County Should Read This.

Extract from Message to 1909 Legislature.
One of the most striking developments of recent years is the rapid growth of the demand for improved methods of nominating candidates for public office. It is a late phase of the long struggle against the control of the powers of government by selfish interests. Methods which make easy this control are doomed, for the people will not be content with the mere forms of self government.

There has been a notable progress in perfecting our electoral machinery and in the reduction of opportunities for corruption in connection with elections. But the part played by political parties in nominating candidates makes it necessary to regulate the nominating machinery as well, if the public interest is to be properly protected. As our citizens in general make their choice between the candidates offered by the opposing parties, we must ultimately depend for truly representative government upon the selection of these candidates in accordance with the wishes of the members of the respective parties.

This is recognized in theory and denied in practice. In theory party candidates are selected by those who have been chosen by the party voters to represent them in conventions. In practice the delegates to nominating conventions are generally mere pieces on the political chess board, and most of them might as well be inanimate so far as their effective participation in the choice of candidates is concerned. Party candidates are in effect generally appointed, and by those who have not been invested with any such appointing power.

This practice is attended with serious consequences. It has a disastrous effect upon party leadership. The power of selecting candidates is so important that there is a constant temptation to protect it by such manipulations of the party machinery as will make it serve individual interests. Party principles and the essentials of successful administration of office are too largely subordinated to the necessities of political leaders and their retention of control. The fine service of party loyalty is prostituted to the base uses of those who make the maintenance of their individual power paramount to true party interests; and the just strength and dignity of party leadership often falls by reason of public contempt for methods frequently used to secure support for its counterfeit. Real leadership of ability and force of character suffers from such methods and would largely gain by increasing the difficulty of their pursuit.

The present system tends to discourage participation by the party voters in the affairs of the party. Entrenched power is so strong, and the influence upon the choice of party candidates is so remote, that it requires an unusual situation to call forth the activities of the party members to the extent desirable.

The candidates selected by the present method too often and not unnaturally regard themselves as primarily accountable, not to their constituents, nor even, broadly speaking, to their party, but to those individuals to whom they feel they owe their offices and upon the continuance of whose good will they deem their political future to depend.

But the most serious consequence is to the people at large. To the extent that party machinery can be dominated by the few, the opportunity for special interests which desire to control the administration of government, to shape the laws, or to break the laws with impunity, is increased. These interests are ever at work, stealthily and persistently endeavoring to pervert the government to the service of their own ends. All that is worst in our public life finds its readiest means of access to power through the control of the nominating machinery of parties. Party organization needs constantly to defend itself from these encroachments, and the people, for their proper security, must see that the defenses are built as strongly as possible.

There have been and are conspicuous illustrations of party leadership won and held in opposition to those who have represented special interests, and endeavoring faithfully and honorably to perform its proper function. But this does not alter the fact that our present method facilitates the control of government by those whose purposes are antagonistic to the public welfare. Nor should we be unmindful of the extent through which the force of enlightened public sentiment in indirect ways mitigates the evils inherent in our present system. But this sentiment works under conspicuous disadvantages, and it is a defect in our system, requiring remedy, that the actual power of

DANGER IN DELAY

Action Should Follow Agitation. Salisbury's Sanitation Should Be Guarded.

It will be remembered that during the Fall of last year there was considerable discussion relative to the sanitary conditions of Salisbury. A mass meeting was held at the Court House late in October to discuss health conditions and facts were brought out that showed the sanitary conditions were not all they should be and that we virtually had an epidemic of typhoid in our midst and that the disease had been more or less prevalent all summer. This meeting and the exposure of some of our sanitary conditions—rather unsanitary conditions—brought Dr. Truitt the State Health Officer into the matter and in reply to criticisms made against the way his office was conducted, brought to light the insufficient appropriations made to the Board of Health, in fact the amount allowed was so small in proportion to the requirements of the office that it exonerated the office in the minds of those who were familiar with the conditions and caused them to wonder no longer at the small amount of work done.

As far as results are concerned all this agitation about our unsanitary condition has brought no practicable result, and summer will soon be with us apparently bringing but little improvement in that line. At the time of the discussion last fall our business men were much concerned about the matter, and some went so far as to try and get the Press to tone down the report for fear that the impression would go out that Salisbury was a dangerous place to go, owing to the prevalence of typhoid and other contagious diseases. There was talk of setting the Business Men's Association to hold a special meeting with regard to the situation and take steps to keep Salisbury from being hurt by conditions. Has all this been forgotten? And are all the men to wait until we are again confronted with the same conditions before any interest is taken in the matter?

The City Council could help to prevent past conditions by placing a system of garbage wagons on. All those who have experience in this line know how difficult it is to get the refuse matter moved off the premises, even if the owner realized the necessity of so doing, and to those who regard this matter carefully the conditions are frightful. In almost every back yard in town can be found decaying refuse matter with its full quota of disease breeding germs, and it is one's own premises are kept as clean as possible they still have to put up with unsanitary conditions in the back yard of the neighboring premises.

If the City is unable to pay for a garbage system, let then a charge be placed upon the carting away of the refuse and have it moved. A garbage system can be made self supporting, if it be found inexpedient at the present time to put the City to this expense. Something ought to be done and done now to better conditions. Salisbury is not an unhealthy city and on the other hand it is a very healthy place, but there is no the disgusting or hiding things as they are, and steps should be taken to better them.

Edward J. Pura, who died at Louisville, Ky., the other day aged 21 years, was 6 feet 9 inches tall and weighed 300 pounds, the tallest man in the city. A casket seven feet long was necessary.

S. L. Jenkins of Richmond, Ohio, visited his brother the other day in Champaign county, and in counting noses it was found that both brothers have 36 children, and that S. L. now 63 years old, is the grandfather of 44.

Birthday Anniversary.

Mr. E. J. Truitt, of near Powellville, celebrated his 80th birthday March 16, 1909, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mitchell M. Brittingham, surrounded by his children. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Truitt, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brittingham, Mr. and Mrs. Johnie K. Truitt, and grand children, Stella Brittingham, George Brittingham, Maude Brittingham and Willie Truitt. Among relatives Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Truitt and Mrs. Sallie Godfrey, of Salisbury, Mr. Priscilla West, from Newport News, Va., Mrs. Herman Perdue and Miss Maude Truitt from Snow Hill. The friends were Mr. and Mrs. Levi Laws and little grand daughter, Catherine Williams. Mr. Victor Laws, Mrs. Sarah A. Fennedy and Mrs. Harry Perdue, of Snow Hill. A large dinner was served from twelve to two. Some very useful presents were received.

METHODISTS IN SESSION.

Wilmington Conference At Milford. Temperance Question, State-Wide Campaign For Delaware Is Considered.

With a large attendance of ministers and laymen the forty first annual session of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference began Wednesday morning in the Avenue Church at Milford, Del.

Bishop David H. Moore, of Cincinnati, is presiding over the session. The conference was organized by the election of Rev. W. A. Wing as secretary and Revs. W. R. Mobray, L. E. Poole and W. E. Greenfield as assistant secretaries.

Rev. H. G. Bodd, of Crisfield, Md., was elected treasurer.

Rev. Thomas E. Martindale made an address endorsing Rev. Dr. Adam Stengle, retiring superintendent of the Salisbury district. On behalf of the ministers and laymen of that district, Mr. Martindale presented Dr. Stengle with a purse containing $100 in gold.

A resolution submitted by Revs. John M. Arters, superintendent of the Anti-License League of the Peninsula; Robert Watt, R. K. Stephenson and W. C. Poole was adopted, as follows: "That our committee on temperance be instructed to consider and report upon the advisability of inaugurating a State-wide prohibition campaign looking to the election of a Legislature in 1910 which shall favor the enactment of laws as will completely drive the licensed saloon from every part of Delaware."

Superintendent Stengle of the Salisbury district, read his annual report, a feature of which was the following: "We have many defective deeds and charters, which may sooner or later occasion embarrassment and even litigation. In some instances the authority of the church has been defied and its work obstructed to some extent by so called self-perpetuating boards of trustees, acting under deeds and charters too peculiar to be described in this report. In one case a member of such a board openly and threateningly declared in quarterly conference that the trustees had the right to close and even to sell the church. It is also a significant fact that many members of such boards are hostile to the faithful pastor and habitually neglect the means of grace and refuse to support the church and her benevolent enterprises. Any church is in a deplorable condition whose property is held and controlled by worldly and disloyal men, who are beyond the reach of the authority of the church because of defective title deeds and charters under which they hold the property and operate. Obviously such boards of trustees may very readily become boards of obstruction and destruction."

"Undercurrent" Abandoned
Owing to the illness of Mrs. W. F. Pregrave, the play which Mr. F. N. Anstey had planned to present here on the 18th and 14th of April, entitled, "The Undercurrent," has been given up. This play is a very difficult one to produce and considerable time had been given by Mr. Anstey in selecting the characters. Mr. Stanford, of Princess Anne, who was to take one of the leading characters, was unable to do so, and Mrs. Pregrave's illness finally cancelled Mr. Anstey to abandon it. Mr. Anstey states however that he has sent to New York for another play and intends to make every effort to fill the dates as arranged. The play that is probably be selected will be, "On Summer Day," by John Andrews.

Mr. Durand W. Wilson, of Salisbury and Miss Margaret Z. Jones, of Wilmington, were married last day, Rev. Dr. Greenfield performing the ceremony. The young couple reside in Salisbury.

CONSUMPTION CAUSES

Half of Deaths During 1908. State Health Officer's Bulletin Tells of Work That Has Been Accomplished.

One half of the number of deaths in Maryland during 1908 was caused by tuberculosis, says the Health Officer's Bulletin for January, in summing up the mortality due to contagious diseases.

Conspicuous in the list is smallpox, with 88 victims.

In regard to the havoc of tuberculosis the bulletin says:

"During 1908 the tuberculosis problem was agitated as it never had been before. The epoch making work done by the International Congress on Tuberculosis held at Washington, D. C., September 21st to October 12th, 1908, stands unparalleled in the annals of preventative medicine."

"Foremost in the rank and file of states and municipalities represented at the International Congress on Tuberculosis were the State of Maryland and the city of Baltimore, these having been awarded three of the prizes. Maryland was the pioneer state in the framing of definite laws for the statutory control of tuberculosis. Other states have since followed in its wake, some of them copying the Maryland code almost verbatim."

"In 1906 there was a total of 2,359 deaths from tuberculosis in Maryland, distributed as follows: Baltimore city, 1,900; the counties of Maryland (the entire state, exclusive of Baltimore city), 1,009 deaths. The month of greatest mortality was: Baltimore, January, 181 deaths; in the counties, February, 119 deaths. The month of least mortality was: Baltimore, September 81 deaths; in the counties, November, 64 deaths."

In the state the crusade against tuberculosis has been conducted conjointly by the State Board of Health, the Baltimore City Health Department and the Maryland Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. Inspired by the hearty co-operation and under the brilliant leadership of such men as Governor Ogburn and Mayor Mahan these organizations are accomplishing much and the future promises still greater things."

Ely's Cream Balm has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine chest among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand just in case of need. It is the best just in use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or sniffing. It gives immediate relief and a day or two's treatment will put a stop to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

THAT LIST OF THINGS.

Just an Act from This Exasperating Drama of Life.

Scene: A breakfast table.

Disclosed: A husband and wife.

He (suddenly ruffling down his paper): Have you got that list?

She: What list?

He (an expression of satirical cynicism coming over his face): Weren't you going shopping to-day?

She: Oh yes.

He: And wasn't it agreed between us that you were to make out a list of everything you wanted, and that we were to go over it together—in a businesslike way?

She (vaguely): Were we?

He: That was the distinct understanding.

She: What for?

He: You are almost enough to drive any one to drink. Didn't we go over the whole matter—didn't we agree that we couldn't go on in this way, ordering things that we could get along without, and omitting things that we really needed, and all the time living beyond our income? Didn't we thrash it out—

She: I believe something was said about it.

He: Gro: Scotti (throwing down his paper). That's a nice thing to say. Well, we'll do it. We'll make it out right now.

She (a light dawning on her): Oh, you mean the list you talked of day before yesterday.

He: Certainly I do. You said this you were going shopping to-day, and I suggested that you make out a list, and that we talk it all over and decide.

She: Of course—I remember distinctly. But I am afraid, dear, that it is too late now.

He: What do you mean?

She: Well, I decided not to wait and I went shopping yesterday.

He: Hat. You did, did you? An what did you get, and why are you going to-day?

She (smiling): Well, you see, dear I got all the unnecessary things yesterday, and to-day I've got to get the things that we simply can't get along without.

The Decline of Oratory.

"Bliggins says there are no great orators nowadays."

"No," answered Senator Sorghum, "when a man has anything to say he puts it into the newspapers so quick that it's a back number by the time it comes out on the stump."

Causes and Effects.

Old Hank: When I came to this town, sixteen years ago, real estate in the block where I live was higher than it is now.

Old Hewlins: It would be so in any block where you'd settle down.

Much Married.

"I hear your friend Tamson's married again."

"Yes, so he is. He's been a dear friend for me. He's got me three widdies' presents and two widdies."

CAREER OF A GREAT FENCER

Egerton Castle's Reminiscences of the Late Baron de San Malato's Romantic Life.

London, England.—Appropos of the death of the celebrated Sicilian fencer, Baron Turillo de San Malato, which occurred recently near a native district of Trapani where he was born about sixty years ago, Egerton Castle, the well-known novelist and amateur sportsman, furnishes some interesting details of his career.

The Baron was remarkable for his wonderful skill and success as a fencer from his boyhood on. His peculiar temperament, which was more characteristic of a seventeenth century ruler than an Italian gentleman of the present time, made him a very striking and interesting personality. He was chivalrous and headstrong, quick to take offense, and highly courageous, and, Mr. Castle believes, one of the finest fencers in the world, although he gives the first place to Louis Merignac. San Malato, it is asserted, fought forty duels. Although he affected to a slight degree the Neapolitan style of fence, he was most emphatically a style of his own, and belonged to no special school.

One of the most interesting incidents in the crowded life of San Malato was his visit to Paris in 1851. He had a very vivid imagination and liked to conceive incidents in which he figured himself as always the hero, performing impossible feats, and which he recounted as true. Considerable rivalry existed at the time of fencing, and the French, in order to play a joke on the Baron's imagination, and strong in the knowledge of Merignac's great skill with the sword, brought about a meeting of the Sicilian and the Frenchman. The French press, in reporting the result, credited Merignac with eleven hits and San Malato with one. But, Mr. Castle believes, they were unfair to the Sicilian swordsman in crowing over defeat of the Italian school, because San Malato in reality belonged to none.

Soon after this duel, the Baron, incensed at the remarks of a number of Frenchmen who witnessed his contest with Merignac, challenged them and wounded all. A striking feature about the Sicilian, Mr. Castle recalls, considering his passionate Southern temperament, was the equable and courteous manner in which he accepted either defeat or victory.

Mr. Castle considers the Baron de San Malato to have been one of the finest fencers that ever lived, and attributes his overwhelming defeat at the hands of Merignac to one of those extraordinary strokes of fate which overtake even the greatest of men, and which was later exemplified by the unaccountable defeat of Merignac himself at the hands of Viganet.

San Malato leaves a son who, Mr. Castle asserts, is a worthy representative of the fencing traditions of his father and whose picturesque parentage is not generally named him Alphonse de

POULTRY

Home-Made Brooder.

Not Hard to Make and It Will Do Good Service.

I have made and used a brooder that gives good results. The material costs about two dollars and a handy person can build one in a day. The gas from the lamp does not go into the chick apartment at all, but filters around under the floor, making it dry and warm, explains a writer in Farm and Home.

up gently through the drum, F, which is perforated with holes in the side, thus letting part of the heat out into the hover and the balance in the brooder above. The heat reservoir, G, between the sheet iron, K, and the floor, C, is about one inch deep. The tube, F, should not touch the sheet iron, merely extending through the floor, C. It takes the least oil of any brooder I ever operated.

In the cut, A, is the paper roofing over each matched board, B; C is board floor of same material; D are small windows. E is the hover, H, shows door to reach the lamp, N

air space below the floor.

Poultry Notes.

While oats are a good egg producing food, better results can be secured by alternating with bran.

Roller oats soaked in sweet milk is a good ration to commence feeding young chickens.

Scald out the drinking vessels once a week. Flies are easily carried to the system through drinking water.

Clean dry earth is one of the best absorbents for the poultry house.

Scatter it liberally over the floor.

Sprinkle the nests with a solution of diluted carbolic acid. It will aid materially in keeping down lice.

Bolting milk that is fed to the fowls will increase its value and lessen the risks of its producing disease.

Stick to One Breed.

The man who sticks to one breed
from year to year through all its ups and downs, is sure in the long run to enjoy the just rewards for his constancy. The breeder who keeps changing from one breed to another, or who makes endless "crosses" hoping to find one "easy to breed" is the one who is always complaining about his poor luck in the poultry business.
A good poultryman can make a success with almost any breed in the field.

The Flock Degenerates.

Some think that by crossing purebred fowls better results can be obtained, and they proceed to cross this, that and the other varieties to suit their fancies, and thus the flock is degenerated. Careful breeding has been carried on for many years to bring out varieties useful for every known requirement. No cross is so good as the pure breed in all its purity.

A Requisite For Shells.

As hens require phosphorus and phosphate of lime for their shells, it must be supplied in unadorned quantities and in the most convenient manner for them to pick up and swallow. One of the best ways of supplying is to keep old plastering, broken oyster shells or fresh bones pounded fine where they can help themselves.

Cheapest Remedy.

Kerosene is the cheapest remedy for the red mites, or lice, that infest the roosts and nest boxes. The patient lice killing preparations may be more effective in penetrating cracks and crevices, but coal oil is cheaper and more convenient. One of the simplest ways to exterminate the body louse is by means of a dust bath made of three-fourths soil and one-fourth wood ashes.

Causes of Disease.

Nearly all poultry diseases are caused by cold, draft, dampness, improper feeding or lack of cleanliness.
Neglect or carelessness is at the bottom of it all. Remember, that it is easier to guard against disease than to cure it, and it is almost always unsatisfactory to treat sick fowls.

Overfat Hens.

Beware of overfat, inactive hens;
they are almost certain to be a source of trouble and at the best are unprofitable stock to keep either for layers or breeding stock. Now is the time to weed out the drones.

Keep Only Old Geese.

Keep the old geese for breeding purposes. Market the young ones.
Geese may as well be kept in service many years and thus differ from chickens.

Kills Would Be Slayer.

A merciless murderer is Appendix, with many victims. But Dr.
King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Biliousness, Chills, Malaria, Headache and Indigestion. 50c at John M. Ton-son's.

Acidosis will happen, but the best remedy is Dr. King's New Life Pills.
It is the only safe and sure remedy.

IN A CHINESE HOSPITAL

How the Sick and Old are Cared For by Their Clan.

BASIS OF TREATMENT.

Their Drugs Possess the Power of Driving Out the Evil Spirit of Sickness—Averse to Calling Their Place a Hospital—All Receive Good Care.

Just beyond the western border of New York's Chinatown, half way between Mott and Mulberry streets, on Park street, facing the side entrance to the Transfiguration church, stands a little old-fashioned two-story red brick building. Across the front stretches the sign, in large gold letters, or, rather, Chinese characters:

"Chung Wah Kong Sor E Sang Fong."

The Chung Wah Kong Sor E Sang Fong, translated into English, is "The Combined Chinese-Speaking Society's Hospital." Even this means little to those unfamiliar with Chinese customs and beliefs. But to those who know it suggests the mysteries of the powdered toad and crocodile, of snake skins and frog skins, oil of snails, and herbs, and other "yock toy," or medicines. It also suggests one laudable characteristic of the Chinaman which he possesses more than any other race—he cares for his own. No Chinaman is ever the recipient of outside charity, and the poor and sick of the race are never a load on the white people. The little hospital at 105 Park street receives them, rich and poor alike, and it is supported entirely by contributions from the Chinese-speaking people, says
the New York Times.

The little institution is comparatively new. It owes its origin to Hoi Yau, the Chinese Consul in San Francisco, who visited New York five years ago. He suggested to the Six Companies that they immediately establish such a hospital. The merchants acted upon his suggestion, and in a short time an organization was effected under the guidance of Lee Yick, the merchant at 34 Pell street, and the little building was leased at a monthly rental of $70.

The hospital is supported by contributions from nearly all Chinamen within a distance of 500 miles from New York, and draws its patients from all this great territory. White people have a pretty general idea that the Chinaman is devoid of that quality known as "grit." But in cases of illness he is the personification of "grit," and when he succumbs and abandons his work, in nine cases out of ten he is soon a fit subject for an undertaker. The most prevalent disease among them is consumption.

Joseph Chung Hoe, the chee noy, a native of the south of China, born in Canton, was put in charge of the hospital at its origin and still does all of the nursing and conducts all of the business of the institution. He came to the United States thirty-four years ago, and for many years was a nurse for prominent physicians of Philadelphia and New York. Combined with his practical experience, he is very intelligent, speaking and writing almost pure English.

The Chinaman has a peculiar prejudice against calling the Chung Wah Kong Sor E Sang Fong a hospital. Call it by that name, and, although extremely reluctant about speaking of it,
he will quickly correct you.

Most of the Chinamen when they go to the hospital, prefer the "Chinese-like" doctors, who treat them according to the customs laid down by the old oriental physicians thousands of years ago. The walls of the wards in the hospital are covered with inscriptions of these old physicians.
Their manner of treatment is based not on the idea of the curative properties of their prescriptions, but on their power of driving out the evil spirits of sickness. The Chinaman looks upon the "Chinese-like" doctor with more awe and reverence than he does upon the "Melican-like."

In the hospital the feeble or sick Chinaman lacks for nothing to make his heart glad in his declining days.
Money or no money, "cousins or no cousins," he is treated just the same.
Banquets are of nightly occurrence in some of the numerous Chinese social clubs, and the choicest viands left over from these are always taken to the hospital. Whoever gives the banquets considers it a bounden duty to prepare a sufficient amount that the Chung Wah Kong Sor E Sang Fong may be presented with a goodly quantity. This is taken to old Joseph Chung Hoe, the chee noy, or nurse, who conducts all of the business of the institution, even to receiving the contributions.

When the sick Chinaman has reached that stage where he can eat no other food, he is kept alive on oat juice, or cream of rice, the most expensive food known to the oriental.
It is all imported from China, and is so delicate that hardly one case in four reaches New York without being ruined by mold. It consists of rice beaten into a pulp, pressed and dried in the sun, then cut into slices and cooked with cream.

James and Agatha

By E. PAIN

James, as you may already have guessed, was a very conscientious young man. As a boy he had been known at cricket to dispute the decision of an umpire in his favor.
Even the ordinary social lies were repellent to him. He never traveled in a class superior to that for which he had taken his ticket. He never did anything which was not extremely careful and conscientiously honest.
With such a character, there was only one thing that the young man could ultimately become.

Shortly after he became a reviewer of fiction for the Daily Record it happened that he met Agatha.
Agatha had at a comparatively early age been left an orphan. As her education was defective and as she did not like children, there was only one thing that Agatha could become.

It was shortly after Agatha had become governess that she and James met. Her face was wholesome and practical rather than beautiful. For some weeks he never took his love.
Then one afternoon he took her to hear an oratorio. It may have been the effect of the music or of the tea and buns at the A. B. C. shop afterward, or of the long drive through London's romantic dusk. The fact remains that when they climbed up on the omnibus he called her Miss Brown, and when they parted at the end of the journey he called her Agatha. He treasured the oratorio programme and met her frequently.
One night there was an air of mystery about her. "Shortly," she said,
"you will see me in a new light, James."

"I would not have you different," said James. This was quite the right thing to say, as he had seen it in a book.

"East side of Waterloo Bridge, about six tomorrow," said Agatha.

"Right," said James promptly.

The next morning there was brought to his rooms a large parcel of novels from the Daily Record.
He groaned, because that meant work, and even the reading of novels is not pleasant if you happen to be paid for it. He would have groaned still more if the books had not come,
because that would have meant no work, and want of work would have made sundry romantic possibilities more remote. As it was, they had arranged to be married next year in the sweet spring time. Quite quietly, while in brown cloth, Honeymoon of seven days at Littlehampton.

He tore his mind away from romance in real life and settled down to romance as it is written, and the very first volume that he picked up was entitled "A Love of Other Days," by Agatha Brown. This was the new light in which Agatha was to appear. She had written a novel and he was to review it. He wondered if the editor of the Daily Record would stand an entire column about an unknown genius.

He noticed the name of the publishers with regret. Agatha would have done better to have consulted him. Then he read the book, and buried his face in his hands for that novel by Agatha Brown was about the most purring fiction that had polluted his chambers for the last eighteen months. It was wrong everywhere; it was wrong all through. There is no worse thing on earth than a bad historical novel, and this was a very bad sample.

Here, then, was the conflict between love and duty. Duty was scratched and love walked over. By the greatest genius that the country had yet seen. But his heart was broken. For once he had not been conscientious. He could not live with that stain upon his soul. So he determined to meet Agatha on Waterloo bridge, take one long, last farewell, and then send off the review and commit suicide.

Agatha was a little late for her appointment, and looked very pleased with herself.

"Well?" she said.

"Why did you not confide in me?"
he asked, gently. "Why did you not tell me you had written a book?
Possibly my practised judgment might have—"

"What on earth are you talking about. I've not written any book.
I shouldn't be so silly."

"Then somebody else with your name has."

"Has she? What cheek." She stared looked at James somewhat inquiringly. He had an uneasy sense that she was expecting him to say something and that he was not saying it.

"Well," he said, "what did you mean then by saying that you were going to appear in a new light?"

"If you happen to be blind," she answered rather snappishly, "I can't give you eyes."

"Don't be cross, dear. Let's see;
it's the same jacket you always wear
and the same skirt."

"Oh, don't bother. I've got my hair done differently, and I've got

OFFICE HOLDERS SHOULD BE DIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE TO THE PEOPLE.

We publish in another section of the ADVERTISER an extract from the message of Gov. Hughes to the New York Legislature, dealing with Primary elections. This address is well worth reading and re-reading and will give anyone sufficient reason to, at least, ponder on the question of whether or not it is time that a change be made in our system of making nominations. The evils of the Convention system are the same that are apparent everywhere, where the old way of making candidates is in vogue.

The power that is put in the hands of those who are in a position to manipulate conventions is bound sooner or later in all localities and with almost all men—to result in its abuse with the resultant evil of having a nation, a state, a county and a party run for selfish interests instead of for Public good.

Is the nature of a man to abuse power, and any system which gives to any man or any set of men almost unlimited power should be stamped out as the earliest possible moment.

Of all the temptations that beset mankind perhaps the hardest to overcome and handle properly is power—many who can stand riches and multitudes of other worldly blessings stumble and fall when the love of power gets into their being.

Even the Church filled with those whose sole motive should be the helping and uplifting of humanity—a hose doctrine teach what little the earth's possession amount to—could not stand too much power as shown by the history of the Catholic Church—Temporarily they fell and from having control over the spiritual welfare of mankind they wanted to run all temporal affairs as well.

So it is now, perhaps the men who are exercising their political power today in order to advance their own political or other selfish interests, are not more to blame than is the system that is a breeding ground for such power.

Office holders are spoken of as the servants of the people, but it is a mistaken idea to suppose that men elected to office under a system which gives certain men the power to say who shall and who shall not serve the people will not give to those who elect them, a willing ear in all matters that come under their jurisdiction while in office. It is against human nature, and they would be accused of base ingratitude if they did not commit the wishes of those who were their political makers, before acting.

Of course it is not meant that office holders are nothing more than tools of the power that be, for this is not always the case. Many a man still keeps his independence after he is elected to office, but the large number follow as far as they can the wishes of those whose smile means office and whose frown means death. The check on those who are in power is the people's vote, and they are in most matters to follow sentiment unless this runs counter to their own private interests, and a way is usually found to do the will of the people. The men are not directly responsible to the people and know that the "Boss" or "Bosses" are feared than the indignation and when it comes to offending one or more of the people are the ones that consider owe his office and not to a co-ordinator of the wishes of the people more consideration.

Let the people to have THE OAK-LEAVES, and do it in a way to vote similar to a party.

THE OLD CONVENTION SYSTEM

And How A Few Assume The Right To Select A Ticket For The Many To Vote For.

First comes the official notice of the date fixed for holding the primaries: on primary day the same old crowd (?) of voters will gather around the election booths in the different districts and select with some unimportant variations the same delegates to the convention—sometimes the number represented at these primary elections is too small to find the required number of delegates to send and then the one or two present will vote for some absent colleague who has not the time to attend to such an unimportant thing as primary election—then comes the convention itself—the delegates arrive early—or late—and the prevailing question is who are we going to nominate. No one knows and many rumors are started, but soon the word from some authentic source is passed down the line—a little grumbling here and there but all is over—no not quite for although the nominations are virtually made yet it is necessary in order to fulfill some foolish and unnecessary requirements of the law to hold a convention. The convention therefore in solemn convocation is assembled and the routine is religiously gone through with; usually a member of the State Central Committee calls it to order, and in his opening remarks delivers some party fireworks and patriotic sentiments in the hope of instilling some life in what would otherwise be a dull affair. The officers are elected—these by the way have all been selected by the same considerate gentlemen who have arranged the ticket, and who out of the kindness of their hearts are trying to take off all unnecessary burdens from the shoulders of the convention—Various Committees are appointed—the same consideration is evident—in a few minutes after retirement recommendations are brought in—typewritten and prepared by these same considerate gentlemen—and on formal motion are adopted without debate; the real business of endorsing the candidates is taken up; The candidates—as decided upon—are placed in nomination by men carefully selected and whose past experience in this line of work are well qualified to paint in the most glowing colors the many virtues of the candidates and how well they are qualified to fill the offices for which they are nominated; These nominations are ably seconded, and then the formal vote is taken—unanimously chosen—the convention adjourns. Wonderful piece of work, the modern political convention.

There is no intention to reflect upon the character and ability of the men selected, for the men selected—especially in this County—are as a rule well qualified to hold office. The way in which the affairs of the County have been administered is evidence of this.

It is true there have been rumors of pressure brought to bear upon our office holders—especially in the legislature—in order to get them to support some bill or measure—and it has even been said that some of these have been indirectly given to understand that unless they did accede to certain demands that the powers who dictate nominations would see that never again would they have the honor of serving their party by holding office. Whether this is true or not we cannot say.

The chief objection is not to the men nominated but to the method of making nominations. Is the present method right? Or should the men who vote the ticket be allowed some say as to who should be nominated?

SEEKS KIDD'S GOLD.

New Yorker Expects To Find It At Bottom Of A Well. Hopes To Get $10,000,000 On Oak Island.

Nova Scotia.

Harry L. Bowdoin, broker, deep sea diver and inventor, a New York man with an office at 44 Broadway, New York, is fitting out an expedition to go to Oak Island, Nova Scotia, where about $10,000,000 in gold is believed to lie buried under 60 feet of water in a pit.

Bowdoin has signed a contract with Henry Sellers, Frederick L. Blair and "Old Man" McGinnis, who own and camp out on Oak Island, to land machinery on the treasure shore, borrow for the wealth and then divide it.

The island has been associated with the name of Captain Kidd and buried treasure since 1705, when three fishermen, one an ancestor of McGinnis, dragged their canoes ashore and strolled around. One of them found a ringbolt—evidently a ship's mooring—set in a rock near the water, and they also picked up a stone boat swain's whistle. Then their eyes fell on a great tree, and they noticed that one of its largest branches was worn as if a rope had been drawn over it a multitude of times. Directly beneath this branch was a peculiar depression. Stories were rife about cries and groans heard from the island at dead of night.

The fishermen dug down 90 feet, when water rushed in on them. In the meantime they had found, at each 10 foot level, regular construction work of timber and West Indian grass. That was more than 100 years ago. Since then several companies have been formed and much digging has been done, but every effort was a failure. Now there is 60 feet of salt water in a hole 900 feet deep.

In Orlington's book store in Halifax is a large stone slab, said to have been taken from the 90 foot level of the pit half a century ago. It then bore an inscription which some learned men worked out to read: "Ten feet below 2,000,000 pounds lie buried."

Twenty-one companies and individuals have tried for the treasure since 1705 when its location was first disclosed. If Captain Kidd buried the treasure, he placed a guardian above it, vigilant so long as the tides rise and fall, who has baffled every interloper.

—Stricken dumb when she learned on Friday that her fiancé had married another, Miss Belle Ramm of Syracuse, N. Y., 17 years old, has not been able to speak a word since. Dr. J. S. Helman attributes her loss of speech to hysteria, and until yesterday she was in a state of coma. Then the physician questioned her, and, although she was unable to speak, she could write her answers to his inquiries. The physician says that a sudden shock may restore the girl's speech, but as yet no attempt has been made to shock or frighten her. In the Supreme Court, Justice Irvine R. Devendorf appointed her brother, George Ramm, her guardian ad litem to bring an action against her former suitor for breach of promise. Upon learning of the wedding Miss Ramm went to Buffalo, where the marriage occurred and it was while on her way home on a train that she collapsed. On her arrival in Syracuse she was taken home in an ambulance.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been troubled with indigestion, have been cured by it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, fullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you in digestive ailments. Peppin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

A WORD

To Those About To Buy Furniture, Or Carpets, Or Rugs.

Before you actually place your orders for anything for your home, you surely want to see just as many different styles at just as wide a price-range as possible, don't you?

Well, we can show you more styles than any other store in Baltimore.

Now, please don't think this is "just newspaper claim." We really can show you more different styles of furniture, carpets, rugs, etc., and at a wider price-range than any other local establishment. Most newspaper advertising is, unfortunately, like campaign claims before an election—mere verbosity, to which no one pays much heed—but the FACTS in the present case are certainly of great importance and special interest to all who intend making any purchases for their home, and merit investigation.

And not only do we excel in the diversity of our stocks, but we give our customers the fullest protection in the matter of price, guaranteeing all our prices to be the lowest for which the same goods can be bought anywhere.

And further, we extend all who so desire the courtesy of a credit arrangement that is simple, dignified and convenient.

CHAPTER IX.

A NEW KIND OF POLITICAL PARTNERSHIP.

The combination of the forces of Langdon and Haines—old and new—much favor among the powers that be—at the capitol. Senator Peabody peremptorily denied an explanation from Stevens as to how he had allowed "his senator" to engage as his secretary "this insignificant man Haines, a reporter who didn't know his place."

"Here we've put Langdon on naval affairs, because we knew he didn't understand what was going on, and you Stevens, supposed to be the finished product of the political mill, you fall asleep and let him take up a man whom nobody can control, one who knows the inside workings of Washington and who will take part in all the pleasure in teaching your fellow Mississippians for too much of his time."

Stevens' reply, to effect that probably Haines would consent to be "taken care of" if judiciously approached, was derided by the observant Peabody. "A young reformer grows fat on notoriety," he laughed, "and think what a scandal he would have for his newspaper if we took a chance on disclosing our hand to him. No, no, Stevens, we must have him watched and try to discredit him in some way. Perhaps we can make Langdon believe that his secretary is dishonest."

Congressman Norton was another man who was dismayed at the formation of the firm of Langdon and Haines. Young Randolph, too, could not forget the defeat and humiliation he had previously suffered at Haines' hands and grew more bitter as the reporter's influence over his father grew stronger. But Haines' most effective enemy had arisen in the person he would be the last to suspect, one whom he unceasingly admired, one whose very words he had come to treasure.

It was not all her own fault that Carolina Langdon had enlisted her services, subtle and quite overwhelming owing to Haines' fervent worship of her against the secretary. Perhaps the social system of which she had become a part in Washington had something to do with the craving to become a leader in that fascinating world whose dazzling variety and infinite diversion seemed to fill her soul with all that she had lost.

As for the fact that she had now been promised to wed Congressman Norton, she loved him fondly; she had confessed to him, and gradually she came to love him desperately against Haines, who, she had been convinced by Norton and Randolph, would prove a stumbling block to them.

To her father, to herself in her career at the capital, if his influence over the senator should be permitted to exist or to increase. And so on the surface Carolina Langdon was most amiable to the secretary, encouraged him in his attentions to her, led him surely into her power, Norton having prevailed on her to keep the knowledge of their engagement secret from every one, even her father.

The days and nights became filled with important work for Senator Langdon and his secretary. Together they went over the important measures, outlined what appeared to be the best course of procedure and carried it into effect as far as possible. Langdon became a prominent figure in the senate, owing to his consistent support of measures that fitted in with the public policy, or what should be the public policy, of the nation. He had learned that the only practicable way to outwit or to cope with the members of the dominating machine, made up, he was surprised to see, of members of both the parties—the only two in Washington—was to oppose what the machine wanted with enough power to force it to grant him what he believed the public ought to have. He was described by some of the highbrow "insiders" on Capitol Hill as "the only brainy man who had fought the machine in thirty years."

At the home he had later established in Washington as preferable to the International Hotel were frequently seen a small coterie of senators and congressmen who had become known to the sarcastic party bosses in both houses of congress as the "Langdon crowd," which crowd was admitted to be somewhat of a factor in its final prevalence on the president to take over 11,000 postmasters from the appointment class and put them under the control of the civil service commission, resulting in the necessity of a competitive examination for these postmasters instead of their securing positions through political favoritism.

Those who did not know Langdon intimately suggested that "this fellow ought to be taken care of." What in God's name does he want? A committee chairmanship? An ambassadorship for some Mississippi charcoal burner? A couple of federal judgeships for his friends? Well, whatever it is, give it to him and get him in with the rest of us!"

Again it was Peabody who had the deciding say. "There's only one thing worse than a young reformer, and that's an old one," he laughed bitterly at a secret convalesce at his apartment in the luxurious Louis Napoleon hotel. "The young one thinks he is going to live and wants his future profits for himself. The old one thinks he's going to die, and he's sore at leaving so much graft behind him."

Heads and hearts thinking and throbbing together, Langdon and his secretary, Haines, plodded along. They had learned to lean on each other, the young gaining inspiration from the old, the old gaining strength from the young. They loved each other, and more than any love, they trusted one another. And Haines' Georgia watched it all and rejoiced, for she believed with all the sacred tradition of eight years of innocent girlhood that Mr. Haines was quite the most specimen of young men she had world had ever produced. How could she have happened? She was sure that she had never met his equal, not even in that memorable week she had spent in Jackson.

The passing weeks taught Haines that he was deeply in love with Carolina, and though he had endeavored to keep the knowledge of this from her, her woman's intuition had told her his secret, and she stifled the momentary regrets that fitted into her mind, because she was now in "the game" herself. The Washington game, that enmeshes the woman as well as the man and makes her a slave to his fancy. No one but herself and Norton knew how deeply she had "plunged" on a certain possible turn of the political cards. She must not, she could not, lose if life itself were to remain of value to her, and on her way over this secretary she was told it all depended.

A subject that for some unexpected reason frequently lodged in Haines' mind was that of the apparent assiduity with which Mrs. Spaulding cultivated Senator Langdon's friendship. For several years she had occupied a high social position at the capital, he well knew, but various indelible, intangible rumors he had heard, he could not state exactly where, had made him regret her growing intimacy with the girls and with the senator. They had met her through letters of introduction of the most trustworthy and assuring character from people of the highest social rank in Virginia, where the Langdon had many friends.

But Haines realized, people who write introductory letters are sometimes thoughtless in considering all the circumstances of the parties they introduce, and residents of Virginia had not been in the capital for years might be forgiven for not knowing of all the more recent developments in the lives of those they knew in Washington. While not wishing to have the senator know of his intention, the secretary determined to investigate Mrs. Spaulding and her present mode of life.

His first opportunity, hoping, while that his quest would reveal her to be what the Langdons considered her—a widow of wealth, fashion and reserve who resided at the capital because the memories of her late husband, a former congressman of high standing, were associated with it.

Calling at the Langdons' house one evening in February to receive directions regarding important work for the next day, Haines was somewhat puzzled at the peculiar smile on the senator's face. Answering the secretary's look of inquiry, the Mississippi said:

"I've been told that I can name the new holder of a five thousand dollar position in the department of commerce and labor and that if I have no one in particular in mind, that you would be a good man for the job. First I was glad for your sake, my boy, for if you wanted it you could have the position. But on thinking it over it seemed there might be something behind it not showing on the surface."

"It's a trick," said Haines. "Who made the offer?"

"Senator Stevens."

"I might have known," he replied, "there's a crowd that wants you and me separated. Thought this bait too much for me to resist, did they?" Then he paused, rubbing his fingers through his hair in a perplexed manner. "Strange, isn't it, senator, that a man of your party is offered this desirable piece of patronage, entirely unsolicited on your part, from the administration of another, a different political party? Especially when that other party has so many hungry would-be 'tax eaters' clamoring to enter the 'land of milk and honey.' I think Stevens deliberately—"

"There, there, Bud," broke in Langdon, "you mustn't say anything against Senator Stevens to me. True, he associates with some folks I don't approve of, but that doesn't necessarily mean anything wrong, and I myself have at times found him thoroughly honest."

"Yes," muttered the secretary, following the senator into the library. "You're always found him honest because you think everybody's honest; but Stevens is just the doctor who will cure you of this ailment, this chronic trustfulness."

Haines laughed softly. "When Peabody's little Steve gets through hacking at the prostrate body of political purity his two handed sword of political corruption will need new edges."

The fact neither the secretary nor his secretary had suspicion of any questionable deal in regard to the gulf naval base. The rush of other events particularly the fight over the reduction of the tariff, had pushed this project temporarily into the background so far as they were concerned, though the "boss of the senate" and his satellites had been losing no time in perfecting their plans regarding the choice of Altacoola as the site.

Peabody and Stevens had indignantly exploited Langdon at every possible opportunity in relation to the naval base. Asked about new developments in the committee on naval affairs, the ready answer was: "Better see Senator Langdon. He knows all about the naval base; has the matter in full charge. I really know little about it."

So by hiding behind the unsuspecting old hero of Crawfordville, the two diverted from themselves any possible reaction and placed Langdon where he would have to bear the brunt of the most unkind that would be well they could out at some future time—after their last conspiracy against the nation had been consummated, after the fruits of their betrayal had been secured.

What, after all, the schemers concluded, in the little matter of an investigation among senators to guilty senators who, deeply versed in the law, have destroyed every compromising document that could be admissible as evidence?

Why, the senate would appoint an investigating committee and investigate itself, would it not, when the ridiculous scandal came?

And what senator would fear himself, or for himself, as he investigated himself, when the blame had already been put publicly on some one else, some simple-minded old soul who could go back to his cotton fields in Mississippi and forget all about it, strong in his innocence, even though a storm of reputation and desire to live?

This Unromantic Age. "It's so hard to look," said Miss Miami Brown sadly, "like dar war no no romance dese days."

"What's de trouble?" asked Erastus Pinkly. "I takes notice dat when you asks a gentleman to a Christmas dinner he doesn't 'play no interest in whether dey's gwine to be mistletoe in de parlor, but keeps himself aroun' to 'n' out how 'bout de turkey an' fixin' de dinner table."

COMMON SENSE Leads most intelligent people to use only medicines of known composition. Therefore it is that Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrapper, are daily giving in favor of the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce's being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his medicines, he is confident that the better the composition of these medicines is known the more will their great curative merits be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examining the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, when recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and haemorrhoids, which, if neglected or badly treated lead up to and finally terminate in consumption.

Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is not likely to disappoint you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. You won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or nonprofessional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

LIME! LIME!

Farmers, beware of the low grade of lime that is now being sold and that runs as low as 30 per cent. carbonate of lime. The official State analysis gives our (the Le Gore) lime 98.39 per cent. carbonate of lime.

I wish to inform you that I have made several trips to Western Maryland to study the Agricultural Lime situation.

I know that I am in a position to furnish you with the best-acting lime in use. My 22 years' experience in the lime business has taught me that there is a vast difference in limes, and in their action on soils and crops. I can furnish you with a complete combination of the salts of lime, and it will mean a great saving to all who use it—it brings results.

P.S.—Remember! I can furnish you the quickest and the best-acting crop-grower and land-improver on the market. I have the prepared sack lime also to offer you. By all means hold your order until I call on you, as it will be a mutual benefit and a special favor to me; or write me, or call me over the telephone.

SAVE THIS ANYWAY.

Put it in Some Safe Place For It May Come in Handy Some Day.

Here is a simple home made mixture as given by an eminent authority on Kidney diseases, who makes the statement that it will relieve almost any case of Kidney trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's Disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night; painful and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe. Try it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Karsen one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known druggist here in town is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mislabeled home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and often overcomes the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

At the Fourth National Bank of Cincinnati was presented a check for $3 cents written on a block of pine wood an inch thick, one foot long and six inches wide. It was paid. A real estate dealer became engaged in a dispute with a tenant over a broken window pane, and the tenant, being compelled to pay the expense, wrote the check on the pine block.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. OHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

During a dance on Peter street, Cincinnati, it was discovered there was a shortage of male partners, whereupon a buxom woman turned in an alarm of fire. When a lot of handsome firemen from a nearby engine house appeared the woman said: "They ain't no fire. Stay and dance: that's what we wanted ye fer. Why docher stay and dance?"

Near Death in Big Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Hopper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes. "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Hopper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Throats, Hoarseness, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by John M. Toulson.

Carl Mabey, of Forest, Ohio, having lost one of his front teeth, made a new one from a toothbrush handle, with the aid of a file, leaving a plug on the end which he pushed up in the gum. He says he is satisfied with the job.

In testifying in her suit for divorce at Menominee, Ind., Mrs. Rachel Howard said that in 24 years of married life her husband had provided her with but one dress of calico, costing $1.50. She got her divorce in a few minutes.

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered liver.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of

Tutt's Pills

They control and regulate the liver. They bring hope and buoyancy to the mind. They bring health and elasticity to the body.

BATH IN HOT STEAM.

Plans in a Maine Village Adhere to Old Country Methods.

Finn, several hundred of whom reside in the vicinity of Long Cove, in St. George, Knox County, and who comprise a large proportion of the paying cutters and quarrymen on the granite works there, have a peculiar method of bathing. It has some features of both the Turkish and Russian baths, but the Finnish bath is unique and rather curious. Whenever any considerable number of the nationality take up their residence they build a bath always on the same plan. The Finnish bath house, is built substantially of wood, and is about eight or ten feet square, with peaked roof. There is a small vestibule, with bench seats running on two sides, where the bathers may disrobe. The bath room itself is provided with a furnace of somewhat crude masonry, with a circular receptacle on top that is filled and heaped up with rounded and smooth stones gathered from the seashore.

When the apparatus is to be used, says the Philadelphia Record, a fire is lighted in the furnace and the stones are heated until they are all smoking hot. Then the bathers enter and close the door and single window and a small ventilation aperture near the roof. Water is then poured over the hot stones, and is at once converted into steam, which fills the room with a vapor at a temperature so high that it is said that novice cannot stand the heat. But the Finns who have practiced this sort of bathing all their lives, just enjoy it.

High up on one side of the room, just beneath the roof, is a wide bench seat, extending all the way across, on which the bathers sit, and where they get the full benefit of the steam. Below it, at a convenient distance, is a plank on which they rest their feet. And there they sit and steam until their pores are opened way up, scrubbing themselves with small sponges cut from bushes and trees and having thick foliage. These peculiar towels are thoughtfully left for the convenience of the next set of bathers. Whether any supplementary drying process is ever used, we are not informed.

While, as stated, there is place for disrobing, in which the bathers probably remain to cool off after the ordeal, the Finns generally prepare themselves for it at home and go to the bath with sheets wrapped about the person and over the head, as the white forms sit about the village, one might suppose that a parade of ghosts was in progress, or a sheet and pillow case party was on. Saturday evening is the time generally favored for the ceremony, and on that night the fires in the furnaces are kept burning to a late hour. Every Finn takes the bath at least once a week—men, women, and children. There are five of these bath-houses in Long Cove village, and some private residences are provided with them.

Highly Prized Trophy.

The Roosevelt Cup was won after an interesting contest by the American yacht Vim, which defeated not only the other American competitors in the race, but also the German yacht, which had been sent the most coveted international trophy ever offered. It is not a challenge trophy, but remains the property of that winner. Its value is $1,000.

A Few Irish Proverbs.

The proverbs of a nation are the distilled wit of generations of its people; and the true wit of the race is oftentimes in proportion to the truth and beauty of its proverbs. Few nations and few languages possess more beautiful sayings than the Irish. "The silent mouth is melodious," is an Irish aphorism pregnant with beauty and poetry. And another saying, inculcating a charity which is spiritually needed in this modern world of ours, is that which tells us "Our eyes should be blind in the shade of another." The beautiful faith and the magnificent optimism of the Irish race is well pictured in their proverb, "God never shuts one door but He opens two." "Autumn days come softly, quickly, like the running of a hound upon a moor," is poetic, vivid truth. And here is a sharp, satirical one that cuts several ways at the same time: "A poem ought to be well made at first, for there is many a one to spoil it afterwards."

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY.

Add This Fact To Your Store Of Knowledge

Kidney disease advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizziness or tired, worn-out feeling, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Salisbury citizen. Mrs. Samuel E. Brittingham, 808 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement, as they have proven worthy of it. I was annoyed off and on for over a year by a persistent pain across the small of my back which always became worse when I caught cold or did much stooping. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, I procured a box at White & Leonard's drug store and since taking them I have had no sign of my former trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Potter Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Many Thousands Live As Christ.

Cincinnati, March 15.—Twenty thousand Methodists in Cincinnati, will try, during the last two weeks of March, to live as did Christ. That means that all of them will try to wipe from their hearts anger and jealousy and substitute love; they will try to follow the Golden Rule.

Business men will attempt to find out where their business morals can be improved and the clerk will study himself to discover whether he is giving his employer the best that is in him; the workman will search his heart to find out if he is truly loyal to his job, while the employer will see what he can do to improve the workman's condition.

CURES INDIGESTION.

All Distress From Stomach and Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50 cent case of Kane's Diapasein and let you eat one 25 grain Triangles and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food staying; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms. If your appetite is flake, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself after your next meal that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery. Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapasein.

Leslie D. Long, a poultry and game dealer of Whiteside, Mo., bought 400 rabbits; but, the market dropping, he cut the feet and heads off and hung them up in his poultry house. The market continuing dull, he is feeding the rabbits to his hogs, which seem fond of the food.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup will not very promptly. Its laxative principle enters the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

During a fire in New York a cat led the firemen and showed where her kittens were being smothered.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $500 a Year to Start, and Increases to $1200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Salisbury and throughout the United States on May 15th. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Postoffice Bureau, of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a short time to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15th examinations, and any reader of the Salisbury Advertiser can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Postoffice Bureau, 300 Fourth Street, Rochester, N. Y.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and sealing pain in passing it, or belching following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest test because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have it. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TAKES ISSUE WITH

Brownington Bros. Co., Paper About Their Statement in Relation to Crawford County System.

Salisbury, Md. March 7, 1909.

Editors, The Advertiser:

We have noticed in your columns and those of the News much space has been devoted lately to the question of how the nominations shall be made in Wicomico County next fall, whether by the old system of convention nominations or by placing the nominations in the hands of the people by what is known as the Crawford County System. We notice The News has repeatedly asked for letters from the voters, who are in favor of the Crawford County System of primaries and have so far had no response. This they say shows the people are satisfied with the present out and dried plan. I wonder if it occurred to them that they have received no response from those in favor of the old system either, and while the ADVERTISER has devoted two columns on its front page each week asking for reasons WHY WE SHOULD NOT have the Crawford County System in Wicomico, you, too, have received no response. The situation is simply that the people of Wicomico County have had too many other things recently to attract their attention and have not fully awakened to what's going on. Were this question submitted in a proper manner to the people of this county and were it possible to have the wish of every voter in Wicomico County registered, there would not be three out of ten who would favor the old plan of "convention" nominations. What does the Crawford County plan mean? It means placing directly in the hands of the people, where it properly belongs, the nominations of the County and State officials who shall have charge of our county and state affairs. It gives all an equal chance, and does not make a man have to "stand in" with those "that be" before he can be nominated for any public office, no matter how highly respected or public spirited citizen he may be but gives him the opportunity of placing his case before the people and abiding by their decision—which is generally right. It does away with the "convention" system, in which the can is filled before the delegates assemble and then opened on the floor of the Convention and served whether the delegates like it or not. I could and I am sure there are thousands of other Democrats in Wicomico County who could go forward and vote more conscientiously for a straight Democratic Ticket nominated by the people than for one dictated by a select few high much-a-much politicians, who while they may be trying to give good men the nominations, are more liable to make bad selections than the masses of the people.

While I realize that what I say one way or the other will have very little bearing on the question, further than help awake interest and pave the way for further comments in your valued paper, cannot at still and let The News continue saying there is not a single voter in Wicomico willing to express his opinion over his signature. I shall see, and am willing to be shown, how a man can favor the old Convention plan and still believe in the very backbone of our grand old Constitution—the direct representation of the people. Are the people represented directly in county, State or National affairs by the old Convention plan? I say no, and would like for some one, some voter in Wicomico County to show me how they are. Even in Virginia, our sister state, the Convention plan was abolished years ago, and now nominations are made there by the direct vote of the people. If the people be allowed to nominate their candidates for public office, you will find considerable less "cutting" of ballots at the polls as some people will not go to the polls year in and year out and vote straight Democratic tickets, no matter who are on it, or how they get there, just as they do Democrats. The people of Maryland, or other states too, are awakening to the necessity of electing good men, men who will conscientiously serve the best interests of the people who have honored them with their confidence and support. It is the Crawford County System, the plan whereby the aspirants to office will be nominated by the people and directly voted by the people and not to the liking of politicians.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Rev. B. F. Holmes, of the M. E. Church, finished his year of service on this circuit last Sunday, and is now at conference. While here he has proven himself to be an able minister of the Gospel. He knows the Book and is abundantly able to tell others what he knows. It seems to be the general opinion of the people at large that he is one of the ablest, if not the ablest preacher who has ever been in charge of this church. By his fearless preaching and wholeheartedness, he has made a host of friends outside of his own communion. And it is the opinion of these friends, that his work is not done here, and the hope is expressed that he be returned to this field, notwithstanding the flattering prospects he has in another field. He has been greatly handicapped in his work here because of the long and serious sickness in his family.

"Two forty" not on the "plank road," but on the shell road, this time. Our people are delighted with the prospects of the new Road in course of construction, leading from here down into Athol section. The work is being done and well done. What a help it will be to all our farmers who were compelled to use the road. How we ever drove over the old sandy road for so many years we cannot tell. It will cost a great deal of money, but then it is worth all it will cost. Now if the State will only build a Road direct from Vienna to Salisbury, and then the County take its cue from us, and build lateral roads intersecting the State Road, the thing will be done right.

DOINGS IN COURT

March Term in Session Here. A Number

THE OLD CONVENTION SYSTEM

And How A Few Assume The Right To Select A Ticket For The Many To Vote For—Democratic Voters Should Not Be Expected To Support Or Vote For Candidates With Whose Selection They Have No Vote Or Say.

First comes the official notice of the date fixed for holding the primaries;
on primary day the same old crowd (?) of voters will gather around the election booths in the different districts and select with some unimportant variations the same delegates to the convention—sometimes the number represented at these primary elections is too small to find the required number of delegates to send and then the one or two present will vote for some absent colleague who has not the time to attend to such an unimportant thing as primary election—then comes the convention itself—the del gates arrive early or late—and the prevailing question is who are we going to nominate. No one knows and many rumors are started, but soon the word from some authoritative source is passed down the line—a little grumbling here and there but all is over—not quite for although the nominations are virtually made yet it is necessary in order to fulfill some foolish and unnecessary requirements of the law to hold a convention. The convention therefore in solemn oath is assembled and the routine is religiously gone through with; usually a member of the State Central Committee calls to order, and in his opening remarks delivers some party fireworks and patriotic sentiments in the hope of instilling some life in what would otherwise be a dull affair. The officers are elected—these by the way have all been selected by the same considerate gentlemen who have arranged the ticket, and who out of the kindness of their hearts are trying to take off all unnecessary burdens from the shoulders of the convention—Various Committees are appointed—the same consideration is evident—in a few minutes after retirement recommendations are brought in—typewritten and prepared by these same considerate gentlemen—and on formal motion are adopted without debate; the real business of endoring the candidates is taken up; The candidate—as decided upon—are placed in nomination by men carefully selected and whose past experience in this kind of work are well qualified to paint in the most glowing colors the many virtues of the candidates and how well they are qualified to fill the offices for which they are nominated; These nominations are ably seconded, and then the formal vote is taken—unanimously chosen—the convention adjourns. Wonderful piece of work; the modern political convention.

The chief objection is not to the men nominated but to the method of making nominations. Is the present method right? Or should the ones who vote the ticket be allowed some say as to who should be nominated?

THE CRAWFORD COUNTY PLAN gives each voter an opportunity to say what candidate shall go on his party's ticket to be voted for at the fall election.

DIED FROM POISONING

At Crisfield. The Victims Were Relatives
Of Mrs. H. H. Hitch, Of This City.

The little children of Mr. and Mrs.
Hosea W. Webster, of Deal's Island, were taken suddenly ill last week of what appeared to be acute indigestion, but must have been some form of poison. Dr. Windsor, of Dames Quarter and Dr. Swats, of Deal's Island, were summoned. After rendering all available assistance possible, without relief, Mr. Webster phoned for Dr.
Dick, of Salisbury, who arrived with Mrs. Smith, a trained nurse. Dr.
Dick, finding the case of little Thomas too far advanced to render any assistance, as the little one had collapsed a half hour before Dr. Dick's arrival, could render no assistance.
Little Zella's condition, at this time, was not considered serious. As the case of the little girl advanced, Mr.
Webster sent for a specialist from Baltimore, but death claimed the little victim before relief came.

An autopsy was held by Drs. Win-dors and Swats Sunday morning, who could not determine how the poison was administered.

Mr. Webster had portions of the stomach sent to Fennemore and Brown, Chemists, of Baltimore, for analysis. Report of analysis has been delayed.

Large funerals were held Sunday afternoon. The little girl was five years old and the little boy two. Many relatives and friends of Baltimore, attended. Much sympathy was in evidence for the grief stricken parents.
The parents have only two children left out of a family of seven—Beth-er, aged 16 years and Dorothy, 7 years.

Mr. Webster is a prominent business man of Deal's Island, and a brother of the well known firms of Webster,
Ford & Co., oyster packers, and N. W.
Webster and Bro., Ship Chandlers, of Baltimore, and also a brother of J.
Cook Webster, of Solomon's, Calvert County, who is in the mercantile and various other business pursuits. Mrs.
Herbert H. Hitch, of Salisbury, and Mrs. Lybrand Thomas, of Deal's Island, are Mr. Webster's sisters.

MILLINERY OPENINGS

Decorate Proximity Of Real Spring. Attractions Full Of Charm For The Feminine Wearer.

If it were possible for Salisbury to outdo itself at a spring display of fine millinery and dress goods it has done it this way. The showing baffles description. If you are buying go and see.

"Fete de Printemps" At R. E. Powell & Co's Large Department Store.

The Double Department Store of R. E. Powell & Co., presented a fairyland appearance Thursday morning, it being the Spring Opening, in their millinery, dress goods and suit departments. Wisteria festoonings enriched the ceiling and crepe paper of three wisteria shades and two tones of green were arranged in square columns along the entire length of the store, while from the opposite side, in the millinery department, a lattice suspended from the ceiling, interlaced with natural myrtle, and laurel, presented a pretty background.

The millinery was the prettiest and most artistic that they have ever shown: it would be impossible to describe all, yet it is hard to select ones of mention as each is worthy of the talk.

Description Of Hats.

streamers of wide black ribbon tied with a bunch of French violets.

A Beehive model of Tuscan straw, trimmed with broad band of sequent jet, across front with bunches of black and green grapes tied with streamer of robin's egg blue Mescaline ribbons.

A large black mushroom of black chip, trimmed with graduated cuff of rose pink velvet having two jet ball cabochoon in front with a chain of large jet beads around crown with Lowenthal's.

enthal's Millinery Parlors were beautifully decorated in the new Spring shade of Wisteria, Crushed
Rose, and Beesda.

Hearn for the purpose of paying creditors, the personal estate being insufficient to discharge the debts against his estate. The real estate consists of several valuable tracts of land, which by the terms of Hearn's will, were devised to his widow, children and grandchildren.

PLAYS OF SHAKESPEARE

Two Well Known Artists To Appear in Salisbury.

Two literary functions of more than ordinary interest will soon be given in the Masonic Hall. The well known artists Mr. and Mrs. Hannibal Williams who have recently returned to this country after a five year's professional tour of the world will give two of Shakespeare's plays on the evenings of Tuesday, March 30, and Friday, April 2, under the patronage of a long list of representative citizens. The historical drama "King Henry IV, (Part I) with the humorous conceits of Sir John Falstaff, will be given by Mrs. Williams on the evening of March 30, and "A Winter's Tale," will be interpreted by Mrs. Williams on the evening of April 2nd. The artists have been before the public for many years and have earned special distinction in their chosen field. A recent issue of The Morning News, of Wilmington, Del., in its long and complimentary review of Mr. Williams' "King Henry IV," says in part: "The play of King Henry IV," as presented by Mr. Williams was so full of brilliant dialogue, of dash, energy and pleasing variety that one wondered why so entertaining a drama should not be presented oftener on the stage. There was no mistaking the fact that Mr. Williams was at all times master of the play, no less than of the voice, and action, requisite to intelligently represent it, etc."

The Annapolis Md. Evening Capital of recent date in the half column review of Mrs. Williams' recital at St. John's College says, "Mrs. Williams has a pleasing presence and a magnetism that commands as well as draws. Her voice is musical, flexible and perfectly modulated, and she has it all time under control. Seldom, if ever, has there been anything more superb than Mrs. Williams' interpretation last evening. She rendered scenes after scenes in a most fascinating manner, which held her audience spell bound for quite two hours and a half. The intense absorption of the audience throughout was marked. The audience was delighted with the evening's entertainment, for Mrs. Williams ran the gamut of human emotions in the portrayal of the character of the play which she depicted with definiteness and faithful realism."

If half the complimentary things said of their performances be true, evenings of rare delight and profit may be confidently expected. Tickets are on sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

Clerk of the Court Ernest A. Tardine will be prepared to issue Trader Licenses during the month of April so that everybody can be supplied prior to May 1st. The law is very strict now on the matter of Traders Licenses, and every merchant should have his license before May 1st, as he is liable under law for transacting business without a license every day after that date.

This matter of license is being vigorously pushed all over the State, and in every county the old method of failing to take out licenses until a month or two after May 1st, will be discontinued.

PHONES CUT OUT

By Circuit People When Company Refuses To Reduce The Rate.

A meeting held at Orisfield Wednesday night by the subscribers, backed by the Board of Trade and the Pocomoke Telephone Company, has resulted in practically every phone being disconnected. The Board of Trade, which acted for about 90 per cent of the subscribers, declared the rate too high and asked that it be made lower.

Dr. W. H. Walters, representing the Telephone Company, said this could not be done and declared the rate would be increased at the end of the present contract. The Pocomoke Telephone Company has recently been acquired by the Diamond State Telephone Company, and this will leave the people without telephone service until the private telephone company which is being quietly organized, installs its service.

Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. If you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

CHAPTER X.

WHEN SENATORS DISAGREE.

THE wisecracks of Washington had nightly predicted that the site of the hundred million dollar golf naval base would be decided on in March after the excitement and gaiety attending the presidential inauguration had subsided.

On the morning of the day before this action of the committee on naval affairs was to be taken Secretary Haines sat at his desk in Senator Langdon's committee room in the capitol. Richard Cullen, the favorite associate of Haines in his journalistic days, sat earlier than usual on his daily round of the departments for news for his Chicago paper, had strolled in and attempted a few of his characteristic cynicisms. Haines usually found them entertaining, but these were directed at Senator Langdon.

"Now, let me tell you something, Dick," the secretary answered firmly. "Don't you work off all your dyspeptic ideas in this neighborhood. My senator is a great man. They can't appreciate him up here because he's honest—crystal clear. I used to think I knew what a decent citizen, a real man, ought to be, but he's taught me some new things. He'll teach them all something before he gets through."

Cullen hung one leg over Haines' desk. "You're a nice, quiet, gentlemanly little optimist and I like you, old fellow," retorted Cullen. "But don't deceive yourself too much. Your Senator Langdon is personally one of the best over here. But he was born a mark, and a mark he'll be to the end of time."

"He looks good now. Sure, I like his speeches, and all that, but just wait until you see him when he's in a bad mood. When some of those old foxes in the senate want to put his head in the bag and let it down, they won't have any trouble at all."

Smiling, Haines looked up at his cynical friend. "The bag I have to go over my head, too," he said with a nod.

"Well, I don't know that Peabody 'd have to strain himself very much or get such an awful big bag to drop you, both in, if it comes right down to that, old chap. You're making a mistake. You're as bad as your old man. You're a beautiful pair of optimists, and your good newspaper man too—it's a shame!"

After momentary hesitation Cullen continued, thoroughly serious. "But, my old friend," he said in low tones, glancing quickly about, "there's one thing that you've got to put a stop to. It's hating you."

The secretary's face showed his bewilderment. "What do you mean?" he snapped abruptly. "Out with it!"

"I mean," replied Cullen, "that more are going away from you are keeping Langdon away from the crowd of 'insiders' in the senate for your own purposes—that, in short, you plan to—"

"I understand," was the quick interruption. "I am accused of wanting to 'deliver' Senator Langdon, guarantee his vote, on some graft proposition, so that I can get the money and not let himself. Consequently I'm tipping him off on what measures are honest, so that he'll vote for them, until—until I offer my price, then influence him to vote for some big crooked scheme, telling him it's all right. He votes as I suggest and I get the money!"

"That's what 'delivering' a man means in Washington," dryly answered the Chicago correspondent. "It means winning a man's confidence, his support, his vote, through friendship and then selling it for cash!"

"But you, Dick, you have!"

"Of course, old man, I have delivered the truth of this. I knew you too well to doubt you. Still, the yarn is a vulgar one. Remember that western senator who was 'delivered' twice, both ways, on a graft bill?" he laughingly asked the secretary.

"Should say I did, Dick. That is the record for that game. It was a corporation measure. One railroad wanted it; another opposed it. The senator innocently told an eastern senator that he was going to vote for it. Who, of course, did vote for it."

"Yes," said Cullen, "and later, when Senator X heard that Senator Z had got money for his vote, he was wild. Then when another effort was made to pass the bill (which had been defeated) the 'delivered' senator said to Z as he met him unexpectedly: 'You scoundrel, here's where I get you square with you to some extent. Anyway, I'm going to vote against that bill this time and make a long speech against it too.' Senator Z, then hustled to the lobbyist of the railroad that wanted the bill killed and guaranteed him that for $10,000 he could get Senator X to change his vote, to vote against the bill."

"And he got the money, too, both ways," added Haines as Cullen concluded. "And both railroads to this day think that X received the money from Z."

"Of course," said Cullen. "But X was to blame, though. He didn't know enough to keep to himself how he was going to vote. Any man that talks that way will be 'delivered'."

"I know how to stop those rumors for I'm sure it's Peabody's work, he's thinking Langdon will hear the talk and interfere with 'him' Haines, when he comes here. Langdon's name is on the list."

"You're a nice little optimist," Cullen said. "You're a nice little optimist."

face beaming radiantly. Little did the junior senator from Mississippi realize that he was soon to face the severest trial, the most vital crisis, of his entire life.

Cullen responded to the senator's cheery greeting of "Morning, everybody!"

"Senator," he asked Cullen, "my paper wants your opinion on the question of the election of senators by its members. They insist that our government should be controlled by a limited number of representatives, so that authority can be used and responsibility ascertained."

"You assert my meaning?" cried Langdon. "And, senator, I would like to ask you so many high priced constitutional lawyers who enter congress spend so much time in placing the constitution of the United States between themselves and their duty, sir, between the people and their government, sir, between the nation and its destiny? I want to know if in your opinion the constitution was designed to thwart the expression of the public will?"

"Of course not. That's the reason you and I, Langdon, and the others are elected to the senate," added Peabody, starting to leave. Then he halted. "By the way, senator," he said, "I'll do my best to arrange what you want regarding aluminum hydrates for the sake of the south, and I'll also stand with you for Alcatraz for the naval base. Our committee is to make its report tomorrow."

Langdon observed the penetrating gaze that Peabody had fixed on him. It seemed to betray that the Pennsylvania's apparently careless manner was assumed.

"H'm," coughed Langdon, glancing at Haines. "I'm not absolutely com-

WHO NOMINATES THE TICKET IN WICOMICO?

A good working organization is necessary in everything, in order to produce the best results. It is as necessary for the different political parties to have a well organized force of workers as it is in anything else. Every party numbers in its membership a number of men who by their hard work and devotion to its interests render to it services which materially add to its chances of success, and without whom, or others to take their places, it would stand but little chance at the polls.

It is but natural that these men should wield considerable influence in the councils of the party, nor is there the slightest objection to this, provided they do not lose sight of the fact that they are a part of party and its servants. But the tendency of this condition is that, even if they start out with the best of motives, in a short time instead of being a part of the party they reach the conclusion that the party is a part of themselves, and that it should be made to subservient to all their own private or selfish interests. The party offices are filled by themselves or their trusted friends—these together with all other perquisites and privileges belonging to the party are used as personal property or disposed of as personal rights.

"Bossism," "Ring Rule," etc., are always sooner or later accompanied with all the evils which attend the prostitution of a party to selfish purposes. Wicomico County is said to be clear of a "Boss" at the present time. Admitting this to be true, how long under a convention system of naming candidates will it remain so? Has it always been free of "Bossism," "Ring Rule," "Machine Politics," "Personal Politics," and "Personal Policies?" In connection with the future conduct of the County in this direction it might be interesting as well as instructive to examine the present method of naming the candidates for office and see how and by whom they are now named.

Starting out with the proposition that "Candidates are named by some one," Query: Who names them? Some things are hard to prove by a direct method of reasoning and in a case of this kind the process of elimination is often adopted. Let the process of elimination be adopted in reference to the method of naming candidates as it now stands in Wicomico County. The candidates are named by the voters as a whole, by the delegates sent to a convention or by some other body of men, or by a single man.

First: Do the voters in the party name the candidates? Of the more than 3000 voters in the party it is generally well known that not more than 100 or 150 at the outside even attend preliminary under ordinary circumstances. Therefore the voters as a whole do not name the ticket either directly by vote or indirectly by proxy through their delegates.

Secondly: Do the delegates to the convention nominate the ticket? Any one familiar with the history of the party knows that it is well known that more than one man has been named for office in the past and it is reasonable to believe that complete unanimity would be required for a year or so to make a convention we exactly as to the desirability of naming the ticket? Hardly.

Thirdly: Do the delegates to the convention nominate the ticket? Any one familiar with the history of the party knows that it is well known that more than one man has been named for office in the past and it is reasonable to believe that complete unanimity would be required for a year or so to make a convention we exactly as to the desirability of naming the ticket? Hardly.

Fourthly: Do the delegates to the convention nominate the ticket? Any one familiar with the history of the party knows that it is well known that more than one man has been named for office in the past and it is reasonable to believe that complete unanimity would be required for a year or so to make a convention we exactly as to the desirability of naming the ticket? Hardly.

Fifthly: Do the delegates to the convention nominate the ticket? Any one familiar with the history of the party knows that it is well known that more than one man has been named for office in the past and it is reasonable to believe that complete unanimity would be required for a year or so to make a convention we exactly as to the desirability of naming the ticket? Hardly.

Has any such a meeting ever been held of? Is it not true that a number of these leaders do not know who is to be nominated until they are told? What causes the unanimity spoken of in the convention when it assembles? Who passes the word to the various delegates as to how and for whom they are to vote?

Say we have no one man, who assumes the right to name the ticket; taking this as true and correct, there must be somewhere a body composed of two or more, which does decide upon and arrange all the matters relating to the making of the tickets and party platforms and other little matters pertaining to party affairs. Eliminating the voters, and the convention, at the best the ticket is made out by the district leaders. There are fourteen districts in the County and allowing two leaders to each district—and every one knows that this is too liberal an estimate since political leadership like some other things does not like partnership—we will then have the men nominated by a body composed of twenty eight men.—As it is also known that all these men are not consulted as to the general make up of the ticket, this number will still be reduced and still reduced until it narrows itself into a comparative small number to say who shall be the standard bearers for the 3000 and more voters within the party ranks. The men who do SAY are not criticised in this. It is a fault of the system of making nominations which makes it almost compulsory for some one to take the lead and exercise the right at least of veto.

But does not the system tend to "Bossism?" In any body of men there are always some who by their strong personality or by their push, or brazen nerve, exercise more or less influence over the rest. This may be resisted at first or acquiesced in at once—in either case it finally ends in the domination of the stronger will—and then in time to the strongest will—then we have a Boss. Shall the voters allow a system, which by its very nature cannot help leading to the firm establishment of a Boss, to continue or will they insist upon being free?

TIME FOR BALTIMORE TO ACT.
Aroused by the excellent results of the Eastern Shore Publicity Campaign, Baltimore's commercial, industrial and financial interests are at last taking cognizance of the immense advantages offered by the Eastern Shore's nine counties and are taking active steps to show their appreciation of the necessity for immediate and strenuous action.

Merchants and manufacturers of the Monumental City are eager to wrest from Philadelphia the fast growing trade of this thriving section. They now realize in a much livelier manner the necessity for struggling to retain in Baltimore the trade that has drifted away from it in past years and is now playing an important part in nourishing the Quaker City.

Assistance of great magnitude and vital import has been promised the Eastern Shore Publicity Campaign and capitalists have assured its representatives that financial support will be speedily forthcoming. It is particularly the desire of Baltimore to establish a trans-Peninsula trolley system on the Shore and the money to build this, they say, can be easily raised, Baltimore taking the greater bulk of stock and asking some small help from the Shore.

With all these offers and proofs of interesting assistance from Baltimore the promoters of the Eastern Shore Publicity Campaign feel well pleased with the results so speedily accomplished. But there is still much to be done and Baltimore's interest must not be permitted to wane. The time for action is ripe and it must not be allowed a premature death without leaving benefits.

EASTERN SHORE TRADE.
Our contemporary, the Eastern Ledger, believes that Baltimore merchants are more energetic in going far away to the South in search of business than they are in securing that which is near at hand—namely the Eastern Shore trade. There is an element of truth in this. There is a great amount of wealth on the Eastern Shore, a great amount of money to be spent in domestic supplies, clothing, farm machinery, vehicles and fertilizer—and Baltimore is the nearest and the natural market for the purchase of these things. Baltimore enterprises should see to it that there is no lack of facilities for the people who want to buy these things to get here and to bring the products of the eastern counties to this city. Trade follows the line of least resistance and if the Eastern Shore people find it easier and more convenient to reach some other market, they will be apt to go to that market. It is a splendid field for Baltimore enterprise and it should be developed accordingly.—Baltimore Ledger.

CRAWFORD COUNTY PLAN

Adopted in Kent County. Voters Given Opportunity To Select Candidates.

The Democratic State Central Committee for Kent County having determined to adopt the Crawford County system for primary election, we have concluded that it would not be amiss to give candidates and voters some information concerning the operation of the law governing the matter.

The law was passed at the last session of the legislature and gave the State Central Committee, or other governing bodies, of the several parties, the privilege of adopting the direct method of making nominations, commonly known as the Crawford County system, if they desired. So far as Kent is concerned the Democrats have decided to try it, but as we are advised, the Republicans will adhere to the old delegate and convention plan. The provisions of the law therefore will only apply to Democrats.

Under the law the State Central Committee is required to give at least three weeks notice of the time and places where the primary elections will be held, by publication in one or more newspapers in the county. Those who desire to be candidates must file with the State Central Committee at least 15 days prior to the dates elected for the primary election, a certificate stating his name, age, residence and the office for which he seeks nomination, and five days thereafter he must pay to the Committee the sum estimated by said Committee as his proportion of the expenses of the primary election. Failure to comply with these conditions will disqualify him for nomination.

The State Central Committee is charged with the responsibility of having the ballots prepared and printed. They are to contain the names of the candidates alphabetically arranged and the Committee shall furnish each candidate with as many ballots as he may desire, the candidate to pay for the cost of same.

The judges and clerks of the election will be appointed by the State Central Committee, and no person will be permitted to vote unless he is a registered voter and a member of the party in whose election he desires to participate. The membership test being a declaration that he voted for the Democratic electors for President; or the last Democratic candidate for Governor, or the local Democratic candidate. In case of a newly registered voter he must declare his intention to support the Democratic ticket at the next election.

The voter will prepare his ballot by using a black pencil and marking off the names of those for whom he does wish to vote. He will then fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal the names upon it and hand it to the Judge who will place it in an envelope, seal and deposit it in the presence of the voter.

The election returns will be made to the State Central Committee at the Court House on the Tuesday following at eleven o'clock a. m., where the vote will be publicly canvassed and the result announced. Should there be any vacancies on the ticket, caused by lack of a candidate for some particular office or from any other reason, the State Central Committee is empowered to fill the same.

These in brief are the principal points in the law under which the Democrats of Kent are expected to nominate their ticket.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

Says Many Parents Here Can Be Made Happy Again By Using It.

There is no such Rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice will be highly appreciated by those who suffer.

Get from any good pharmacy one half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and tortuous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poison, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any ordinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

Change in Game Laws.

The Game and Fish Commission appointed by Governor Crothers to revise the game laws of the State at a recent meeting have drafted a bill to be presented to the next Legislature which embodies several important changes affecting hunters, the principal of which is that each hunter, except the owner of the land shall pay to the clerk of the Circuit Court a license of $5 annually before he will be allowed to hunt. The bill also prescribes the number of partridges, rabbits, etc., that shall be killed by any one hunter. The license is to be paid into the State Treasury and will not be used for game stock purposes. The bill is the subject of general discussion among the hunters.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Canadian-South African Line (the Elder Dempster Company) maintains regular steamship service between Canadian and South African ports, with sailings every three weeks. During open navigation on the St. Lawrence River these steamers run up to Montreal, the final clearance being from Halifax, which is the winter port of the line.

Near Death in Big Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Throats, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by John M. Toulson.

The best known pills and the best pills made are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are small, easy to take, gentle and certain, and are sold by all druggists.

Frank Lane, in a railroad station at Saratoga, Pa., about to start away, asked a stranger for a match. Something in the man's face attracted him, and on inquiring his name discovered he was his brother William, whom he had not seen in thirty years.

Tutt's Pills

After acting, persons of a bilious habit will derive great benefit by taking one of these pills. If you have been DRINKING TOO MUCH, they will promptly relieve the effects. SICK HEADACHE, indigestion, constipation, etc., the appetite and remove gloomy fancies. Regularly sugar coated. Take No Substitute.

THE LAMB IN WALL STREET

Plays a Game Whose First Rule He Doesn't Understand.

The lamb who thinks he can flick money out of Wall Street is permitted to succeed in his operations only until he has enough to make it worth the while for a professional to get up and take it from him. What possible chance has the gambler in such a game as this? Would he play poker with no chance of seeing the cards dealt, or of knowing how many cards his opponents draw, and with more than a suspicion that the cards are marked? Yet he does more than that when he deals in stocks on a margin through the New York Stock Exchange. Does he ever realize that the winners in the game played there depend on his own losses, and that the broker who receives his money on margin knows, not thinks, nor suspects, but knows, that in the end he will inevitably join the great majority before him, who have played and lost?

"If it were not against the rules of the New York Stock Exchange," exclaimed the head of a legitimate brokerage house, "I'd bucket every order I took."

"Do you mean to say that your customers are more likely to be wrong than right in their guesses?" was the surprised question of Mr. Lamb.

"Sure," was the reply, with an indulgent smile of superior wisdom on the frank, open face of the broker. "A speculator on margin is not only likely to lose, he is sure to lose. Of course, he sometimes wins, gets on the right side of the market, and in a day or two walks off with twenty thousand dollars in his jeans. Do you think he stays away? Not much! That was too easy; and the next time he loses his twenty thousand, he is back on the right side of the market, and he'll stand for or can raise. Why, this business we're in is pure gambling, and we're not one whit better than Dick Canfield."

Remember, please, that the speaker was not a bucket-shop man, nor yet a crank reformer, but the head of a legitimate New York Stock Exchange house, with thousands of customers; and he knew the game from beginning to end.

In the Fog.

Hudson Maxim, at the British Schools Club's recent banquet, referred to the fog of London.

"In one of the worst London fogs," said the inventor, "an old friend of mine tried to find his way from Trafalgar Square to the Savoy, where he had an engagement to dine.

"The sulphurous air made the eyes smart and the head ache, and it brought on terrific fits of coughing. You could not, literally, see your hand before your face. There was a continual crashing in of windows; bells jangled; vehicles and foot passengers collided, shrieks and oaths arose.

"Threading his way in the midst of this pandemonium, through the Strand, as he supposed, from Land seer's lions to the waiting dinner at the Savoy, my old friend, to his great bewilderment soon found himself descending a broad stairway. He put his hand to the balustrade. Yes, a broad and stately stairway, with a rail of carved stone. Amazing!

"Suddenly in his descent my friend collided with some one ascending the stairway.

"'Hello!' he said.

"'Hello!' a gruff male voice replied.

"Can you tell me," said my friend, "where I am going?"

"Certainly," said the other. "If you keep straight on you will walk into the Thames, for I've just come out of it."

A Sex Difference.

The van that brought the first load of furniture for the family moving in next door had as a passenger a small boy of about his own age. He welcomed the newcomer hospitably with:

"Hello!"

"Hello yourself!"

"Say, you've got red hair too, ain't you?"

"Yes, so have you, ain't you, Joe like mine?"

"Do they ever call you 'Red'?"

"Umhum, and 'Reddie' and 'Redney'."

"And 'Ginger'?"

"You bet, and 'Cedar'."

"And 'Scorpion'."

"Does your Uncle Bob say you're copper mounted?"

"I ain't got no Uncle Bob; but granddaddy says I've got brass fittings."

"Eyer call you 'Beets'?"

"No; but they call me 'Carro' sometimes, cause I've got freckles too. See?"

A pause.

"Say, have you got a sister?"

"No, have you?"

"Yes; but she's grown up. She wears long dresses, and has got a beard that comes to see her every Sunday evening."

"Has she got red hair too?"

"Umhum, Joe like mine."

"What do they call her?"

"Aw, she's a suburn haired beauty!"

Artificial Sapphires.

Mr. Lacroix, a member of the French Academy of Sciences, has just read a paper before that learned society on the manufacture of sapphires. He has discovered practically the composition of the precious stone, and has succeeded in obtaining some specimens which almost resemble the real stone. It cannot be said that M. Lacroix has yet discovered the exact process, for those which he has obtained would not impose upon a skilled lapidary who subjected them to a severe test.

Coopers Guilty: Given 20 Years.

Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—Oswell Duncan Brown Cooper and his son, Robin Cooper, were this morning found guilty of the murder of Ex-Senator E. W. Carmack, of Tennessee, and sentenced to 20 years each in prison.

The verdict of the jury was guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury had been deliberating for nearly 72 hours, having been out since 11:50 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The jury yesterday acquitted John E. Sharp, a co-defendant. Immediately the defense today moved to set aside the verdict because of the verdict of disagreement of yesterday, and asked the Court to declare it a mistrial. Judge Hart said he would listen to arguments on this motion later. He then fixed the defendants' bond at $25,000 each, which amount was acceptable to both sides.

In Switzerland there is still a considerable number of excellent private establishments which prepare their students for a commercial career. The celebrated institute of Dr. Schmidt, situated at St. Gall, may be mentioned as one of the best known.

This is the most dangerous time of the year to catch cold, and it is the hardest time to cure it. If you should take a cold, a few doses of Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup will act very promptly. Its laxative principle cures the cold by driving it from the system by a gentle but natural action of the bowels. Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes so good, nearly like maple sugar. It is sold by all druggists.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $800 a Year to Start, and Increases to $1200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Salisbury and throughout the United States on May 15th. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Postoffice Bureau, of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a short time to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. These are times to prepare for the May 15th examinations, and any reader of the Salisbury Advertiser can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Postoffice Bureau, 225 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

MUCH GOOD WORK

Accomplished Through The District Nurse Fund.

From February 15th to March 15th, 1909, number of calls made, 96; cases have consisted of:

Phthisis 7
Pneumonia 8
Dysentery 1
Cholera 1
Typhoid 1
Scarlet 1
Erysipelas 1
Old Age 1
Babies 1
Maternity 1

Has had several pay cases and have received several donations of old linens, which have helped very much. The necessities used for one case are provided by the members of her church, while the other things are paid for out of the Loan Closet fund.

The reader will observe from the list of cases enumerated above that the Nurse is ministering to many unfortunate and needy ones. The King's Daughters and all other benevolent organizations and persons are requested to report cases in which they are interested to Mrs. Fry, the District Nurse, when prompt attention will be given to each case. Mrs. Fry's street address is No. 102 Walnut Street, and phone number 378. Pay cases are taken, the funds from this source being turned into the treasury.

This is a great work in the community, the good effect of which cannot be overestimated. All patrons are requested to have their installments ready when the collector makes his monthly calls. This would save trouble.

WILLIAM M. COOPER, Treasurer, District Nurse Fund.

"Maryland In Prose And Poetry," Out.

Aside from its value to the general reader interested in the story of the State, "Maryland In Prose And Poetry," a selection of poems and prose extracts pertaining to Maryland men and events, its bays, rivers and mountains, has a distinct educational value. As an addition to district school libraries the book would have permanent usefulness and interest to pupils and is highly deserving of a place on the shelves of these libraries. A copy of it should be at the service of every school in the State, and doubtless this feature of its helpfulness will be speedily recognized. The volume contains 250 pages, and more than half that number of selections specially suitable to reading and recitations of a patriotic and informing nature are to be found between its covers. In many instances, the selections are taken from sources not readily accessible in the counties, or, for that matter, elsewhere, as authors whose works have long been out of print, but whose charm and freshness are instantly seen, are repeatedly quoted in its pages, along with others whose names or writings are widely known.

SPECIAL! One-Week Demonstration In Our New Corset Parlor

From April 5th to 10th, MISS W. WOGAN, of New York, the well-known expert Corsetierre, will demonstrate and give fittings

LA VIDA, REDUSO, NUFORM
And Other W. B. Corsets.

LA VIDAS express advanced thought in modes and corsets. For instance, La Vidas were worn in Paris at the introduction of the Directoire vogue, and preceded the vogue in America by a full season. All the smooth, grace-giving lines of the new hip-subdued fashions are admirably attained by the wearing of the new LA VIDAS. Not only is grace and shapeliness obtained, but rare quality and durable wear as well. Each La Vida is carefully made by hand, boned with whalebone, and covered with the finest of the imported fabrics. Their economy is evident by service as well as the substantial price advantages over custom-made corsets of exclusive shape.

Prices Upwards From $3.00

Miss Wogan will give fittings in other W. B. Corsets, ranging in price from $1.00 to $3.00. This is a rare opportunity for the ladies of Salisbury and vicinity to get special values in Corsets; special fitting advice, etc., free of charge.

In Connection with the Corset Demonstration, we will display New Dress Goods, Silks and White Goods at Special Prices.
