DEATH BY LIGHTNING.

Sad Fate of Mrs. W. Ross Phillips of Tyaskin. Other Damage by the Storm.

In the list of disasters in this county which resulted from the violent storm of last Tuesday afternoon, none are so sad as the death by electric shock of Mrs. Emily C. Phillips of Tyaskin, daughter of Mr. Uriah Phillips, of Salisbury.

The storm, which was particularly severe on the western side of the county, was at the top of its severity in Tyaskin district about 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. At this time Mrs. Phillips and her eighteen year old daughter Bertha were seated by a window in the house watching the work of the storm. Presently a blinding flash of lightning filled the room with its lurid gleam and instantly Mrs. Phillips and her daughter fell from their seats by the window. Just as the lightning entered the window a fourteen-year-old son, who had been with other members of the family in a communicating room, approached his mother and sister. The electric current burned his arm, but he remained conscious and summoned those whom he had just left. Mrs. Phillips was found dead. Miss Bertha was badly injured and unconscious. For hours her life was despaired of, but finally she regained consciousness, and, while injured internally, may recover. A twelve-year old daughter was also shocked. Mr. W. Ross Phillips, the husband and father, who is mate of the oyster sloop "Nellie Jackson" and prominent in local democratic politics, was in Salisbury attending the county convention. He was taken to his bereft home by his brother-in-law, Mr. U. C. Phillips of this city.

Mrs. Phillips' body was interred in Messick M. E. Church yard on Wednesday. A large number of sorrowing neighbors followed the remains to the grave. The deceased was 46 years old and had lived an exemplary Christian life, having been a devout member of the Methodist Episcopal Church since early girlhood. When a young lady she taught in the public schools of the county. She had been a sufferer for years from rheumatism, and had spent two years in a hospital for treatment. Besides her husband nine children survive, several of whom are now grown and married. The youngest child is three years of age.

OTHER DAMAGE BY THE STORM.
Lightning from the same storm which brought such sorrowful disaster to the home of Mr. Phillips, set fire to the stacked wheat of Mr. Geo. W. Catlin, a brother in law, and burned it causing him a considerable loss.

Along the Nanticoke river, in the neighborhood of Riverton, hail fell doing much injury to growing vines and corn.

The livery stable of Mr. W. C. Mann, in Sharptown, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Mann saved his stock of horses and carriages. The stable of Mr. Joseph Cooper, in Salisbury, was struck by lightning, but only slightly damaged.

The telegraph and telephone service of the county was seriously crippled. A large tree in Mrs. Anna T. Waller's yard was uprooted. A fine shade tree at Mrs. Holloway's on Walnut street, was badly damaged. Other trees in the city were broken and injured.

The wind did more or less damage to the growing corn in all sections of the county. Accompanying the storm was a heavy rain fall which was beginning to be needed.

New Partnership Formed.

Messrs. John B. Fleming of Princess Anne and James E. Lowe of near Salisbury have formed a partnership for the purpose of conducting a livery and feed stable in Princess Anne. They will make use of the stable now occupied by Mr. Joseph Ellegood and will open for business on the first of next January. Mr. Lowe will move his family to Princess Anne, in January, where he will reside in the future. His farm near town, where he has made his home for the past six months, has been rented to Mr. George Williams of S who will tenant it in the future.

A Card.

We take this method of thanking the people for their bravery, great labor and risk Tuesday afternoon in saving our property. Had it not been for their heroism, our losses would have been very much larger. In the fury of the elements they faced the dangers and rescued horses and vehicles and extinguished the flames on adjoining buildings.

AN ELOPEMENT.

A Young Man of Wicomico Ran Away With His Friend's Wife, Wednesday Morning. The Deserted Husband Grief Stricken

Mr. Roland Cantwell a young man of about twenty three years old has disappeared from his home and neighborhood and with him the young wife of Mr. Edward Bradley. It is thought the couple took a bateau early Wednesday morning from their home along the old steamboat road south of Camden and rowed to Quantico wharf where they caught the Tivoli bound for Baltimore. It is not known what point the eloping couple will endeavor to reach as no word has been received from the runaways since their departure.

Mr. Bradley had intended spending the Fourth at Ocean City with his family, having bought the necessary new dress and finery for the excursion. Instead of spending a day of pleasure at the seaside, Mr. Bradley was found at home grief stricken from the disappearance of his wife and incidentally fourteen dollars in money.

In the neighborhood where the couple lived the episode of Wednesday morning has been looked for, as Mr. Bradley had been informed that Cantwell and his wife were frequently seen together and it is said about ten days ago Bradley took occasion to inform the couple when found together that he would kill them both the next time he heard they were in each other's company. It is believed that ever since this affair an elopement has been planned.

Cantwell and Mrs. Bradley have been working in the berry patches of Mr. W. F. Allen. For the past week Cantwell has been playing off sick and would work only half the time. Mr. Allen states that he had noticed the couple in close conversation with each other but paid no attention to the matter and never thought of it until after the announcement of the elopement.

Mr. Bradley works at Jackson Bros. mill and is a highly respected young man. He said he had always been devoted to his wife and had given her everything that he could afford. The affair has created a great deal of excitement in the vicinity where the parties lived.

Friday's Baltimore Herald has the following:

"Locked up at the Southern Police Station is a young couple, giving the names of Mrs. Cora F. Bradley and Roland Cantwell, each 21 years of age, who are held for an alleged theft at Ocean City.

Both admitted when arrested that they had eloped from Salisbury, where the young woman says her husband now is.

Wednesday night a telephone message was received at the station from the marshal, instructing the officers to keep a watch for the couple, as they were expected on the steamer Tivoli. The police boat Lannan was also notified, and when the steamer arrived at pier 3, Light street, early yesterday morning, the young couple were among the first to land. They were promptly taken in charge by the officers.

Both of the prisoners were nicely dressed. On the way to the station Mrs. Bradley told Sergeant McClean that they had eloped. She said that she and Mr. Cantwell had lived only a few doors from each other in Salisbury. They came to be fast friends, and Mrs. Bradley, said that they decided to elope, and left the Eastern Shore town a few days ago. Of their whereabouts, after they left Salisbury, the police at the station are in total ignorance.

The sheriff of Worcester county was notified of their arrest yesterday and is expected in the city at any time to take charge of the prisoners. The police here do not know what it is they are charged with stealing."

A Narrow Escape.

Homer Nagay, the ten year old son of Mr. Joseph E. Nagay, had a narrow escape from drowning last Saturday afternoon. Young Nagay in company with several other young fellows went up to the "swimming stand" just above the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad bridge to take a dip in the cool waters of Johnson's Pond. While he was in the Water Nagay became venturesome and started to wade out when he suddenly found himself in deep water. Not being able to swim, Nagay sank and had it not been for the timely arrival of Hillary Dykes would have been drowned. Dykes is a grown man about twenty two years and has recently moved here from Laurel.

Mr. Calloway's motion received the unanimous support of the convention and the chair declared the gentlemen named the delegates to the convention. Mr. A. W. Robinson, head of the Sharptown delegation, addressed the assembly at this point. His district sent a delegation for Mr. Ellegood, and Mr. Robinson gracefully placed it in line with the majority.

The committee on resolutions: Messrs. John W. Dashiell, Victor H. Laws, D. J. Hastings, John W. Farlow and James O. Adams offered the following preamble and resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Delegates present at the Judicial Convention, be and they are hereby authorized to cast the full vote of the delegation.

The business of the Convention being then harmoniously ended, the delegates adjourned in a body to Schneck's hotel where Judge Holland played the role of host.

Going West to Visit Friends.

Mr. B. S. Pusey and his two sisters, Mrs. Scott of Philadelphia and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, of this city and Master Hugh Johnson, left July 4th. for a two weeks' visit to their uncle Mr. Andrew Pusey, Lawrenceburg, Indiana. Mr. Pusey is a brother of the late Elihu Pusey, of this county, and is now 88 years old. He went west at the age of 17 years, and has never but once returned to the scenes of his childhood. The exception was about 25 years ago. Mr. Pusey has acquired considerable property in the west. Mr. Wm. Bounds of this city, while in the west two years ago, visited Mr. Pusey at his home and found him surprisingly active and interesting for one of such ripe years.

THE LEVY DECLARED.

The Public Schools Receive an Additional Appropriation and a Special Fund Provided For the Roads.

The Board of County Commissioners spent last Tuesday and Wednesday at their office in the Court House, and after some hard figuring were enabled to increase the public school fund $2000.00, making the total $18,000.00; and to make a conditional provision for $5000. to be expended in special work on the public roads, without raising the tax rate, which remains 78 1/2 cents, the same as last year. The State tax is 17 1/2 cents on the $100, thus making the total for Wicomico county 96 cents.

These appropriations were as liberal as could be made without an increase in the tax rate, and the commissioners were averse to taking that responsibility. Two members of the Board—Messrs. Farlow and Coulbourn opposed the road appropriation and declined to sign the resolution authorizing it. It is understood they favored the increased appropriation for the schools. The resolution was as follows:

Resolved, This 8th day of July, 1901, that the sum of Two Thousand Dollars ($2000.00) be paid to the School Commissioners of Wicomico County when the funds in the hands of the Treasurer to the County Commissioners will permit, for the purpose of building and repairing school houses; and be it further

Resolved, That the Five Thousand Dollars ($5000.00) expected to be received from the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad for taxes of 1899, or so much thereof as shall be found practicable and deemed expedient when the same is received, be expended in special improvements on the County Roads in said County under the direction of the County Commissioners.

SAMUEL J. WILSON,
ELIJAH J. ADKINS,
LEVIN B. WEATHERLY.

The assessable basis is $6,046,058.00; this will realize for county taxes about $48,000.00.

Changes His Name.

Mr. Lafayette Gordon Humphreys by his attorneys Messrs. Bennett and Douglass, of this city, has filed a petition in Chancery and had a decree passed, changing his name from Humphreys to Hooper, his name now being Lafayette Gordon Hooper. In his petition Mr. Hooper states the reason for the desired change to be his affection for his maternal ancestors and as there was a probability of issue of that name being extinct he believed it to be a duty to his maternal ancestors to perpetuate and keep alive the family name of Hooper.

Accident at Saw Mill.

A serious accident happened to Mr. S. T. Ellis last week at Mr. W. S. Lowe's steam saw mill in Spring Hill. Mr. Ellis, who is a most estimable young farmer residing near Hebron, was at work at a cut off saw in the mill when a piece of timber became fouled in some way, and flying backward, struck Mr. Ellis in the abdomen, cutting a long gash which exposed the intestines. Fortunately no rupture of the viscera ensued and the wound is in a very promising way to completely heal.

Senator Kyle Dead.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 2.—United States Senator James H. Kyle died last evening. He was stricken at his home here about 10 days ago. His trouble was of malarial origin and resulted in a functional affection of the heart. The Senator had a similar attack in the East some time ago and was liable to a recurrence of the trouble. His health had not been robust for a year or so.

CENTURY MARK PASSED.

Intense Heat in Salisbury and the Balance of the County for the Past Week.

For the past week the population of Salisbury has been sweltering from the intense heat that has extended all over the country, from the effects of which thousands died and still greater numbers have been prostrated. The thermometer has stood as high as 106 in the shade and on every day for a week it has gradually crawled upwards and upwards until it has passed the 100 mark. Everybody shows the effects of the heat and looks anxiously at the weather man for relief. The intense heat is as trying on housewives as it is upon those who have to be out of doors. While no deaths have been reported in our city yet a glance at the following table will show how fatal has been the result in some of the larger cities. The total number of deaths at this writing are about as follows:

New York	617
Philadelphia	91
Pittsburg	86
Boston	21
150 prostrated
Other New England places	75
Chicago	47
18 prostrated
St. Louis	34
170 prostrated
Cincinnati	19
142 prostrated
Cleveland	16
Washington	16
Detroit	8
Louisville	2
Total	1022

If we could add to this number the deaths of those in the thousands of smaller places the total would be something appalling. In Greater New York it has been difficult to care for all of those overcome with the heat. On one day during the week 70 died and hundreds were prostrated before noon in New York City alone. On Friday there was a gentle breeze noticeable but decided relief is not expected for several days yet.

July Term of Court.

The July term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county convened last Monday morning with Associate Judge Holland on the bench. There were on the docket 12 appearances, 83 trials, 7 criminal continuances, and 13 days when it finally adjourned. All cases were carried over to the September term.

MISS ELLIS' TRAVELS.

After Many Weeks of Sight-Seeing in Europe the Christain Endeavor Party Returns.

Sudlersville, Md., June 26, 1901.

While at supper on this eventful day a rumor that we had heard several days before was confirmed and that was that Crawford and Floyd had failed and we were henceforth to be thrown entirely upon our own resources. There was consternation and grief in that little company, for many of us, especially the ladies had spent nearly all our extra change except what we knew to be absolutely necessary to defray our expenses from New York home. Our thoughts turned to the others who were on different Tours; some of them being then in the southern part of Italy and if we were in desperate straits what must be their condition, so much farther away than we? The gentle men consulted together and through the manager of the New York party who was with us made the owner of the hotel an offer for our board which was refused. Wednesday was a most unsatisfactory day for us all but we hoped that Crawford and Floyd would yet pay us out as we had already paid them. A part of the day we spent at the Exposition seeing much that we had seen before and the Art Gallery is one immense building and is one of the few buildings that is to remain even after the Exposition is a thing of the past. It has many rooms and each country has its pictures hung in a separate room. These pictures were more to my taste than those we had seen in the Luxembourg; in the French room there were a few pictures of the "Impressionist School" but the majority were of a more moderate disposition. Our own exhibit of course attracted our attention first and while our Nation is yet young in Art and Literature and has no Classics of which to boast yet her genius was well exhibited and her collection compared most favorably with any in modern Art. One of the best known pictures in the American exhibit is called "My Punky." It is small and is a man riding a very spirited pony. What significance is attached to the name I do not know. Many others were more beautiful to me; some were scenes of home life and in our state of feelings at that time we could appreciate anything descriptive of that land towards which our hearts yearned more ardently that day than ever before.

The Gallery in which the sculpture was exhibited was a large glass building; plaster casts of the famous statuary of the world were here exhibited, Apollo Belvidere, Venus de Milo, Diana and all of the old Roman and Grecian mythological characters found a place in this collection.

Machinery Hall was of little interest for the best exhibits were those of our own land and with her machinery we were already familiar.

We found ourselves in a short time in the building devoted to the display of chinaware of all descriptions. Beautifully delft ware for both use and ornament was here, other exhibits of Dresden, Haviland and all other known brands were here in such attractive patterns that I am sure many housekeepers broke the tenth commandment in consequence. We next wandered through the jewelry department, which was simply gorgeous—France, Italy and Switzerland vying with each other and rivaling all other displays. Wandering around for awhile we found ourselves in the vicinity of the celebrated Eiffel Tower. Thousands of people surge around this wonderful structure; it is 1000 feet high and was erected for the World's Exposition held there in 1889. It is made of strongly braced open iron work and is ascended by elevators. We did not ascend to the top for it is rather expensive as they charge five francs for going the first two stories and the price increased all the way up. This wonderful structure is the tallest building in the world and its four corners enclose a large area of land, how much I do not know. The space under the Tower is not occupied by buildings but streets cross and recross. In this vicinity the Asiatic element was much in evidence. Chinese pagodas were gay in their bright colors of red and yellow; far off Siam, Anam and Burmah were near the Celestial Empire in this many nationed city. Just across from the Eiffel Tower is the Palais de Trocadero; it is the grandest hotel in all Paris and is surrounded by beautiful grounds. We spent the entire day at the Exposition and returning to our hotel found that we were prisoners in one sense of the word. The evening before we had noticed the extreme politeness of the bell-boy and the urbanity of the manager but this evening we noticed several strangers in the Lobby while one or two patrolled the street outside the door.

One lady of the party wished to leave to go to Scotland that night and when she reached the Lobby she was stopped and told that her baggage would not be taken out until her board was paid. We then knew why these strangers were around and learned also that officers slept in the house the night before. Another meeting was held but no terms could be agreed upon so we waited anxiously until the next morning when we knew that something must be done. All matters were finally arranged satisfactorily and after the meeting the next morning we proceeded to visit the Louvre and anything else for which we had time. Some difficulty was experienced in getting there as we hardly knew the way and we had no money now to spend for cab hire. This made us rather late and we only had time to take a hurried glance.

The Louvre is what remains of the Palace of the Tuileries which was burned by the Communists in 1871. Much of it has been restored and is now used as a picture and sculpture gallery. Miles of miles of pictures adorn its walls from every land and every artist of note in the world—Raphael, Rembrandt, Murillo, Titian—all are honored by a place upon its walls. The pictures of the latter were especially fascinating to me, his coloring is exquisite and he is famed also as a landscape painter as well as a portrait painter in which he stands unrivalled. One picture of his attracted my attention very much; it was of a young girl, her hair unbound and falling over her hands. I suppose the reason of its attraction for me was that her hair was the exact shade of mine. All of his portraits have hair of this shade and to it has been given the name of Titian golden. Numbers of artists were in every room copying the works of the old masters and I was pleased to watch them, comparing as best I could their copies with the originals. Four o'clock was closing hour so we could do little more than simply walk through the different rooms giving a hasty glance as we passed seeing nothing well. The garden of the Tuileries is beautiful and park like; it is set with trees and beds of bright-colored flowers. One of Napoleon's triumphal arches is there, also a statue of Gambetta a hero of the War of 1870. Adjoining the garden of the Tuileries is what is known now as the Place de la Concorde which is the former site of the guillotine. Here where once blood flowed like water now stands an Egyptian obelisk while on either side are fountains with their many colored drops sparkling in the sun.

Paris seems to have done all that could be done to destroy evidences of the Reign of Terror which will ever stand out as a blot upon her fair name and for generations yet to come other nations will sometimes speak of France with trembling. Weeks and weeks could have been spent in this gay city had we been more pleasantly situated, but we were to leave the next morning for Cherbourg, from which port we were to sail on the homeward voyage. France's motto is Liberté, Fraternité, Egalité, liberty, brotherly love and equality, and for fear the people may forget it, every public building, statue, fountain or memorial of any kind bore these words.

As we were returning from the Louvre we noticed a rather odd sign. Most of the stores in which they had a clerk who spoke English or German said so on the window but this one to which I have reference bore the following: "United States spoken here," that there is a difference between the language of the English and the Americans all who have been there will admit, but it is a difference without distinction.

We arose quite early and our breakfast being quite scant we tried to prepare a lunch as we knew none would be provided for us. But in this we were unsuccessful as all that could be bought so early in the morning was bread. Another long miserable day was to be spent without stop on the train and leaving the station, St. Lazare we were soon speeding across the country towards Cherbourg. About half past two o'clock our speed slackened and we began to enter Cherbourg. As we were running very slowly into the yard a switch broke just as the engine passed over and the baggage car jumped the track. Had we been running at full speed many lives would have been lost, but as it was no serious damage was done only we were delayed for sometime. The train ran right to the pier and we stepped from the car to the ground and then down into a small boat which was ready to take us to the Trave waiting for us a short distance from the shore. We boarded her and by 6 p. m. were moving very briskly. She had been lying here all day and was thoroughly heated through; the sea was rough and there had been a storm the night before in the English Channel and the throbbing motion of the boat, the heat, weakness from having no dinner all combined to our undoing. Supper was not served until 8 p. m., and before that time there were scarcely twenty who were able to go to the table; the remainder were busy paying their enforced respects to old Neptune. The return voyage was quite rough and nearly every one suffered from sea-sickness to a greater or less extent. But the ship made good time and by the following Friday we were nearly home. The fog horn caused us no alarm now and many things which on the outward trip would have filled us with apprehension now were passed unnoticed. We sailed August 10th and Saturday morning August 18 we descried the sandy shores of Long Island. At noon the harbor pilot met us and soon the quarantine officers and last but not least the Custom House officials. The latter took much time and by the time each passenger had been questioned as to his or her belongings, some of us were beginning to feel anxious in regard to trains. No one was allowed to leave the dock until the baggage had been inspected and had received the necessary check mark. We landed in Brooklyn as the North German Lloyd at Hoboken Piers had been destroyed by fire; from here we took a cab to Jersey City. Some one asked me if I intended taking my baggage in my hand on the train—I replied "No, I am back in God's country now and will do like God's people and check it through to Delmar." Half past three Sunday morning found me at the latter place; tired, sleepy and thankful.

A Yacht Burned.

Easton, Md., July 1.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. Charles E. Henderson's naphtha engine yacht Iris was burned by a place upon its walls. The wreck. The yacht went down the river with a party of 18 ladies and gentlemen aboard, among them being Miss Pauline Adams, Miss Louise Adams, daughters of Bishop Adams; the Misses Lowndes, daughters of Dr. Charles Lowndes; Miss Hilary W. W. Lynn, of Philadelphia, and Allan Martin, of Easton. The Iris was in charge of Mr. Lynn, and when about five miles down the river the naphtha exploded, setting fire to the inflammable materials of deck and saloon. The flames spread quickly and the yacht's people were for a time in imminent peril, as the boat had no tender to take them off. They huddled together forward, the part farthest from the flames, which were fast reaching them, when a sail skiff suddenly appeared from around the point and took off the distressed yachting party and left them unhurt at their point of departure. The Iris burned to the water's edge and then sunk. Mr. Charles E. Henderson, owner of the Iris, is one of the vice presidents of the Reading Railroad. He kept the boat at The Rest, his summer home in Talbot. It cost $2,500 and was large and finely appointed.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—Mrs. Curtis Baker, Bookwaller, Ohio. Bringing up More Shoes

To Take the Place of those Sold Last Week.

Last Saturday was a red letter day at our store. Never before in the history of our business did we have such a day. At closing time it looked as if a cyclone had struck our store and blown one-half of our stock away. At times it looked like our entire stock would be sold before the day was done, and that everybody for miles around was trying to buy a new pair of shoes, and that our store was the only place they could get them. Of course they COULD get shoes elsewhere, but not such GOOD, DEPENDABLE SHOES as we sell, at such moderate prices. People hereabouts have learned where to buy the best in footwear—where to find style, quality, variety and economy. We have been busy all the week filling in our broken sizes, getting in the newest novelties, making ready for those who have not yet been served, as we expect to continue to lead all others in the shoe business. This is our exclusive business. We have nothing else to sell you. All our time and energies are devoted to this one line—buying and selling shoes, and it is our determination to rank first. You expect better goods from an exclusive dealer. We are compelled to show better styles, more variety and give better prices. We can easily do this by having but one line to look after, and giving this one constant and undivided attention. All our goods this season are specialties made to our order and sold exclusively by us. In our Women's Department we quote you a few of our many styles and prices and court comparison with other goods offered at same price:

Woman's Dongola Tip, Oxford, all sizes, $ 50

" " C. S. " " 60

Woman's Dongola Tip, Good Dress Oxford, $ 75

" " Button and Lace Shoes, 1.00

This woman's $1 shoe is worth looking after. We are willing to put it up against any $1.25 in Salisbury. Our woman's $1.25 shoe is another leader in its class, all solid and warranted to wear. For $1.50 we can give you a woman's shoe or oxford that will be a revelation to those who have not seen them—built for service, full of style and grace. In our woman's fine shoe department we are showing all the latest lasts and leathers. Patent leathers take the lead this season and in these we are beyond competition. It's another Walkover which, by the way, is the name of our leading shoe for men and one which should be seen by all lovers of high grade footwear made in all leathers and all up to date patterns. A shoe we are proud of and acknowledged to be the best of modern shoe creations. Sold exclusively by us and guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. We have many other makes ranging from $1.00 to $5.00 all of which we guarantee to be better than can be purchased elsewhere at same price.

Our Men's and Children's department receives the same careful attention. All that is new, all that is best, will be found here. Be sure to call on us for shoes.

NAVAL FOOD STORES.

WHAT "JACKY" GETS TO EAT IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE.

The American Navy is better fed than any other navy in the world. What it costs the officers to run the wardroom mess.

The United States government gives its sailors only 90 cents a day each to live on, but the American navy is better fed than any other navy in the world. In fact, "Jacky" lives better than the average mechanic on shore.

As the appetite of a seafaring man cannot be appeased by angel food the provisions are of the most substantial kind.

All naval vessels are liable to be sent on long voyages or to be stationed where markets are inaccessible, and the stores purchased for the crew must be such as will keep for a long time and not become damaged by changes of climate. Naturally salt pork, corned beef, hard tack, beans, flour, sugar, canned fruits and vegetables are carried in large quantities and must of necessity constitute the main part of the daily rations. With these staples as a basis many appetizing combinations can be made. At sea fresh meat and vegetables are not to be had, but while in port or within reach of a market the navy regulations require the issuance on certain days of these desirable additions to the food supply. In the olden days no fresh meat was included in the navy ration, and "Jacky" was compelled to subsist largely on corned beef, known in the sailor vernacular as "salt horse," owing to the fact that some unscrupulous contractor at one time long ago passed off horseflesh for beef in a navy supply. The barrel in which the salt meat is kept is to this day known as the "harness cask."

The enlisted men are divided into messes consisting of from 18 to 24 men each. Every month the mess elects one of its number to the position of caterer, and he looks after all matters culinary during his term. To him the daily allowances of staple foods are issued each morning by one of the paymaster's men, known as the "Jack of the dust," presumably from his handling flour. The ship's cooks then prepare the supplies for the table. Each mess is usually allowed from four to six commuted rations—that is, the caterer is given the value of such rations in cash and is thus provided with a fund of from $30 to $54 per month with which to buy fruits, vegetables, fish, butter and other items which are not included in the list of articles furnished by the government. To furnish the table still further it is customary for each man to "chip in" a dollar or two each month out of his own pocket.

The old time shellbacks looked with glee upon a plum duff dinner, but such dainties as that seem commonplace to the new style navy men, who on holidays and frequently on Sundays have delicacies like roast turkey with cranberry sauce, celery, oranges, bananas and even ice cream.

If "Jacky" has one failing in the commissariat line, it is his craving for pies of any constituency or nationality. He will eat them on any occasion and in any place. The ship's cook, if he be ambitious, takes advantage of this and makes up a tempting array of pies from materials which he purchases from the paymaster and retails them to the sailors.

The government does not discriminate in the allowance for food supplies in the navy as between officer and enlisted man—that is, it did not up to a year or two ago, when every man in the ship, from the admiral down to a coal heaver, received 20 cents each day. Now the discrimination is that the coal heaver continues to draw his 20 cents, while the admiral and all other officers except the gunner, carpenter, pharmacist, chief machinist and the naval cadets receive absolutely nothing for their subsistence on board ship. Many who visit naval vessels are so entertained at dinner or luncheon are heard to remark that the government provides very good living for its officers, not thinking that the entire cost of the repast has come out of the officers' own pockets.

The cost of an officer's living on one of our vessels varies considerably. In a port where much entertaining has to be done and where there are high priced markets the mess bill, as it is called, sometimes runs as high as $35 or $40 a month for each officer and is rarely less than $25 a month. This represents merely the actual cost of the food and the incidental expenses of the mess, as the government furnishes all servants, crockery, fuel and table linen.

In connection with this subject it may be interesting to note that the captain of a war vessel does not eat with the other officers, but has a separate establishment for himself and is provided with a cook and a steward whose only duties are to wait on him. On flagships the admiral also eats alone. The wardroom mess usually includes all officers above the grade of ensign and on most vessels consists of from 10 to 20 members. Junior officers and naval cadets constitute another mess, known as the steerage mess.—C. A. McAllister in Saturday Evening Post.

HEALTH RULES FOR SUMMER.

A Few of Things the People Should Not Do.

Dr. J. Livingston, "Success"
In any valuable advice about the treatment of oneself in summer, the "don'ts" must largely prevail. During the hot months, the gospel of abstinence should be most strenuously and continuously taught, and accepted, or illness is the result.

First, don't entirely shut out the sunlight because it makes the room somewhat warmer or fades the carpet. Life is more than a little extra discomfort or the brightness of carpets; and, when you shut out the sun, you shut out the great vitalizer and germ destroyer. You need not, of course, have the sun streaming in all day, or even a considerable part of the day, but let it come in freely for an hour or two in the morning.

Use as little gas as possible for lighting purposes. It is estimated that one gas jet consumes as much oxygen as six people, and adds to the heat. A lamp makes far less heat but much more than an electric light, which uses none of the room's oxygen. Luckily, the hours of summer daylight are so long that one usually has all the time he needs, to work or read, before the darkness comes, and requires little artificial light.

Don't neglect your sleeping room. This is a most important don't. Be sure that, during the hour when the sunlight is being admitted, the bedclothes have been removed and are spread out so that they, as well as the bed, will become thoroughly aired. Do not sleep in a draught.

But although you should not sleep in a draught, the air should circulate freely through the room. Many people close their windows at night because they "are afraid of the night air."

Night air cannot, in the absence of the sun, be as vitalizing as day air, but it is a thousand times less dangerous than the air which, in a closed room, becomes heavy and poisonous from the exhalations from both body and lungs.

Don't drink too much ice water. This is a dangerous practice. Ice water allays thirst for a few minutes without quenching it. For this reason, one who is addicted to ice water usually drinks enough to cause a full and bloated feeling, and to stop digestion by unduly cooling the stomach. Lemonade, made from clear, cool—not ice cold—water, is the most refreshing and satisfying drink for summer.

Let your heartiest meal be at night or whenever your work for the day is over. Fruit, toast, soft-boiled eggs and oatmeal make a good breakfast. Where the intermission between hours of labor is short, no heavy food should be taken into the stomach. Hundreds of people who eat heartily and return to work almost immediately afterwards have dyspepsia.

Don't let the mind get into a ferment. Simply drop from it anything that depresses or worries. You will find that, with determination and practice, this can be done. Put any worrying thing you cannot help away from you. This course is absolutely necessary for those who would have good health, which is simply means harmony.

The Bible as Literature.

It is its appeal, its constructive side that, as I say, constitutes the essential part of "Literature and Dogma." Its cardinal proposition is that the Bible is literature and not dogma, and that so to consider it is the preliminary to a right and adequate estimate of it. Having contended for an absolute divorce between religion and theology in the interests of the Bible, he proceeds by treating the Bible as literature to draw out, in a positive way, its natural, real, and verifiable value as a religious document. No commentator on the scriptures has ever accomplished a more cogent and seductive work than this showing of the use to which the truly religious soul may put the book of which it is a commonplace that it is the Book of Books, but which readers who have come to discredit the dogma based upon its misapprehension have come completely to neglect. But aside from this splendid service in emphasizing the value as literature, as poetry, as criticism of life, of the Bible his religious writings are also a rational and eloquent exposition of the attractiveness of religion itself. He made religion a theme, a topic of literature. He brought out its general interest and rescued it from the hands of the specialist. He treated it as properly a branch of culture. He awakened in his serious readers inclined to regard it negligible a certain dissatisfaction and a sense of incompleteness.—From "Matthew Arnold," by W. C. Brownell in July Scribner's.

STATE FARMERS' LEAGUE.

A few weeks ago, representatives of various farmers clubs from all parts of the state met in the Geological lecture room of the Johns Hopkins University for the purpose of forming a State Farmers' League.

This league is the direct outcome of a gathering of farmers last fall at the Maryland Agricultural College, when it was decided to perfect a better organization among the farmers of Maryland, the need of which has been very apparent.

The new league elected the following officers:

President—Jas. Harris, Kent county.

Vice President—Milton E. Smith, Harford county.

Secretary-Treasurer—Morton O. Stabler, Montgomery county.

Executive Committee—Asa B. Gardner, Jr., Baltimore county, John D. Worthington, Harford county; Jesse Weybright, Carroll county; Joseph B. Ager, Prince George's county, and the president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer ex officio.

The constitution adopted, states, as a reason for organizing the league that its promoters believe the interests of agriculture will be advanced "first, through friendly discussion and practical advice, and by learning and making public the successful methods of agriculture that are found in the different sections of the State and elsewhere as well as by advocating the formation of sectional clubs and granges where such objects are sought, and second, by taking part in the framing of laws that affect our welfare, and an interest in the appointment of efficient officers for their execution." The membership of the League is to consist of one delegate and one alternate from each farmers' club, grange, live stock association or any other body interested in agriculture in this State.

One of the principal committees of the League will be that on legislation, which is to aid in promoting legislation beneficial to agriculture and impeding all that is harmful.

An exchange makes the following comment on one objectionable feature of the league, which we think is well taken:

"There is one feature of the League we do not like. It is that providing that any officer accepting a political office or nomination must vacate his office in the League. We regard this as unnecessary. An officer having full and thorough knowledge on the subject of needed legislation is just the person to present it to the General Assembly. He may have force in advocacy of the measure that no other member has, and he may be most competent and capable. In the one case the League and farmers in general must lose the services of the man best able to present and advocate a needed piece of legislation, and in the other the League must lose the services of a very competent official. State legislatures usually have too few farmers and too many who make politics a leading pursuit.

We take it for granted that the officers of the League will generally be above the average in intelligence and capacity, and the prohibition of officers filling a political office while holding office in the League simply denies the farmers the services of their most intelligent men.

The rule is illogical and should be repealed."

The ADVERTISER has always favored a State Farmers' League and it sincerely hopes the organization just launched will prove of great benefit to the farmers of Maryland.

THE COATLESS MAN.

Between the torrid weather and the good sense of the people the coatless man is multiplying with marvelous rapidity.

In the west the preachers have determined to keep cool while expounding the scriptures. Last Sunday night Rev. James N. Crutcher, pastor of a "Christian Church" of St. Louis, appeared in his pulpit in a white shirt waist and preached on "Fads in Religion." His congregation was composed of coatless men and ladies women.

The preacher stated that he wished to be as comfortable as possible under the circumstances and desired his congregation to be so.

An eye witness in giving a description of the occasion, said:

"Sunday morning a number of young men were in the congregation in shirt-waists. They appeared so cool and comfortable that in the evening all the men in the congregation followed the example. A number of women with their hair dressed in attractive modes sat with their hats in their laps, and several came bareheaded.

Before the pastor appeared in the pulpit there was an increasing hum of discussion on the innovation. Everybody watched the entrance to see who would be the next to take advantage of the invitation. At first a few old men came with their coats on. But one of them, failing to find comfort in a fan, removed his coat. He was followed by the others. Then the young men came, more than had attended any evening service at the church for several weeks, in pretty shirt-waists. As the congregation grew it became evident that everybody in it had yielded to the heat.

At the morning service several of the older male members said they disapproved of the idea, but when they saw the increased attendance in the evening they expressed themselves as satisfied that the shirtwaist plan was a good one.

Rev. J. C. Coggins of Decatur, Ill., has taken a similar course in his church.

"THE GLORIOUS FOURTH"

How the County Spent Independence Day—Crowds at Ocean City.

The celebration of the Fourth of July in Salisbury was not as elaborate as was expected. At the last moment several of the plans mis-carried and crowds of Salisburyans jumped the train for Ocean City, the streets of the town presenting a deserted appearance until the evening trains brought back the sunburnt throngs.

At 8.00 o'clock in the evening two thousand persons lined the shores of John's pond and crowded the old tumbling dam to watch the display of fireworks sent off under the directions of Mr. F. A. Grier. The display was excellent and while it did not last as long as was anticipated it afforded a good hour's enjoyment to the thousands of on-lookers.

A number of the homes and business houses of the city were decorated with flags and bunting. Nearly all of the stores were closed and the town had a typical holiday appearance.

DELMAR.

July the Fourth was celebrated in good style. The celebration was begun at 1.45 p. m. with a street parade led by the Delmar Cornet Band, followed by a wagon containing twelve of Delmar's pretty young ladies. After marching over a goodly portion of the town, the parade was headed for the park on East State St., where music was furnished by the band. At about 4.30 two balloons were ascended into dizzy heights. The Declaration of Independence was read by Miss Daisy Culver, after which speeches were delivered by Rev. W. W. Sharp, Elder A. B. Francis and Rev. L. A. Bennett, Hon. Joshua W. Miles, of Princess Anne was invited but was unable to be present owing to previous engagements.

In the evening an excellent concert was given by the band. There were refreshments in abundance and all enjoyed themselves.

A fine display of fire works was made at 10 p. m. There were more visitors in the town than has been known for several years.

The celebration was under the auspices of the Methodist Protestant Church, the Delmar Cornet Band and the Junior Order of American Mechanics.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

The Fourth was very pleasantly spent at Mardele Springs by the citizens and a large number of people from the surrounding towns and country.

Mr. Wilson of the hotel served delectable meals to those who came hungry, and the flowing spring supplied the wherewithal to satisfy the thirsty. Under the oaks and elms the men discussed politics and crops, and on the porticoes and pavilion the youth and beauty of the community promenaded and made merry. Ices and fruits were on sale at numerous booths.

It was the intention of the managers of the hotel property to have a band and public speakers, but this scheme fell through because of the lateness of the day when the plan was first suggested. However, with the natural attractions of the place, artificial means are not needed to make a holiday occasion a success.

WILLARDS.

The Fourth was appropriately celebrated near New Hope Church, in Pittsburg District by a large number of persons, the eastern portion of the county being well represented. All day refreshments were served in abundance, and in the afternoon speeches suitable to the occasion were delivered by Messrs. Samuel R. Douglas and Elmer H. Walton, of Salisbury. Sheriff Brattain was also present, and found himself surrounded by many of his old friends.

OCEAN CITY.

The beach at Ocean City was packed all day with excursionists. The crowds were so heavy that the Railroad Company was required to run its usual way train, which is due Salisbury at 6.12 p. m., in two sections. A total of 4500 excursionists was handled by the B. & C. & A. Railroad Company, 600 coming from Salisbury, and 600 from Berlin.

The day at the seashore was much enjoyed. In the morning many took a dip in old Neptune and after dinner the time was most agreeably spent in wandering up and down the board walk, drinking in the cool salt air, and basking on the bay. In the evening, those who remained for the moonlight excursion, distributed themselves over the beach in little knots to watch the moon raise her head out of the ocean and to see the few fireworks displayed here and there along the shore.

SHADPOINT.

A church picnic was held at Shad Point. There was a large crowd present and the Fourth was appropriately celebrated.

Tons of Stamps.

Washington, July 1.—More than four tons of war revenue stamps were turned into the Treasury Department this morning for redemption. They had come from all parts of the country, consisting chiefly of unsold surplus in the hands of various internal revenue collectors.

These collectors, in all large cities containing internal revenue offices, this morning began the work of redeeming stamps held by the general public. Treasury warrants are given in the full value of the stamps turned in.

The cloud burst at Little Orleans last week caused a landslide that filled the canal completely with earth and rock for a distance of 180 feet. In some places the earth ran over the towpath. The steam dredge is rapidly removing the earth, but it is thought that the work will take about ten days.

Ocean City Season Opens.

The reception tendered the representatives of the Press throughout the state by Manager Webb of the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City, Md., last Saturday and Sunday was very poorly attended. The promoters of this outing to Maryland's famous seaside resort had expected and prepared for quite a large delegation and had hoped that this occasion would mark the opening of a boom for Ocean City. The annual excursion to Cape May given by the Pennsylvania Railroad to the Newspaper men of the state was the cause of the slim attendance.

Ocean City presents a very attractive appearance this summer and is making preparations to accommodate a large crowd. The board walk has been put in good condition and many of the hotels and cottages have been repainted and generally over hauled. Two new buildings have been erected in the burnt district, both of which are much finer and better constructed than the old ones. It is still expected that the Iron Pier will be built and thus add to the many enjoyments already at Ocean City.

The Atlantic Hotel is this year managed by an old hotel man who will strive to do everything for the comfort and pleasure of his patrons. New screen doors have been placed at every bed room in the hotel and have added much to the convenience of guests. The menu this year is especially good, there being nine pieces in all. Part of these will be at the Atlantic and part at the Casino. On special occasions they will all be formed into one orchestra.

Smoking Takes A Stamp.

A noticeable effect the hot weather is having upon men in the city in one way is that where six men smoking cigars, cigarettes or pipes were to be seen ere the thermometer engaged in the aeronautic calling, but one man can be seen today puffing the smoke of the weed which rothes.

And the reason thereof is not far to seek: All smoking more or less dries out the throat and makes drinking a strong necessity, so that in the course of the hot day the smoker learns almost involuntarily not to smoke as much as he is accustomed to. There will be some smokers who will deny this, but it is nevertheless a fact, and attested to today by a score or more of well-known smokers of Baltimore, who were seen without their accustomed meerschaums or havanas.

"Say" Said The Little Brother

of the sweet sister, to a young man who had come to call, "next time you're a goin to throw any money to the dogs sen' fer me an' lemme see you do it. Sis says that's all you do is to throw your money to the dogs an' she says if she gits you she'll mighty soon cure you of it." Sis, who came to the parlor door just in time to hear it, softly went back up stairs and waited a while before making her appearance on the scene, and then untold had sent for the terrible boy. Many a woman can criticize a man for throwing his money away, but sometimes when she "gits" him she continues to throw money to the dogs. Lacy Thoroughgood's customers don't throw their money to the dogs. Every time a man buys a Suit of clothes or a new Hat outside of Thoroughgood's store he throws money away. That's as emphatic a fact as ever existed. There's no store in Salisbury where a man can buy Clothes Hats and things to wear to as good an advantage as he can at Thoroughgoods. He can't buy old style things to wear at Thoroughgood's at all—Thoroughgood's Clothing and Hats, Thoroughgood's Shirts and Neckwear are always new and bright. No store is giving better values than Thoroughgood's and no stores good's are better. When a store in Salisbury advertises things to wear below everybody else, Thoroughgoods customers always think, "excepting Thoroughgood's. When you see a sign in a window on a suit or any other article to wear, at any price—it is a sign that you can buy it for less at Thoroughgood's—that's the sign that its the lowest to be found. To-day Thoroughgood is opening more new straw Hats for men and boys—they are new shapes, just out—they are 50c, 75c and $1.00. Three great grades are $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00—the best Straw Hats in the country for the money. There can't be any newer styles.

Colorado once was sent to a southern state to advocate Republicanism. At certain places he was politely informed that the "rally" would begin and end at about the same time and that not since 1853 had any Republican been permitted to finish a speech there.

"Wolfcut" was determined to make his speech as billed and began at once with one of his best stories. In about five minutes Wolfcut's discretion was overcome by his intense Republicanism, and he made a pointed thrust at the opposition party, whereupon a body of young men in the center of the theater shouted concert, "Rats!"

Wolfcut paused for a moment, at then, waving his hand at the galleries said, "Walter, come down here and take the Chinamen's orders!" The effect was electrical and effectual.

Called Them Guests.

A striking example of Chinese euphemism may be seen in the fact that the court did not refer to the foreign troops at Peking as "invaders" or as "the enemy." Oriental politeness forbade a discourse like that. So the French, Russians, English, Germans and all the rest of the world were described as "guests of the court."

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md. writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad, I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism since or symptoms since and I sell my man, he is foolish to suffer with rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tisch of Easton, Md. writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. B. R. Farnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S REMEDY as follows: I have used the NELATON REMEDY in cases of cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

STANDARD TIME.

To Ascertain and Promulgate It is a Costly Task.

"What time is it?" Few questions are more common than this, and yet each day the United States government goes to a great expense in giving it an official answer. To ascertain the instant when it is noon on the seventy-fifth meridian and to send that information all over the country is a great and a costly task. The astronomical observatory in Washington computes the true time, which is thence transmitted by electricity to every important city and town.

About five minutes before the Washington noon the telegraph companies cut off all their regular business except on lines where they have more than one wire. They then connect all important points, from which there may be numerous ramifications, with an electric wire going into the great clock in the observatory so that all over the country its tickings may be heard. For the ten seconds just before 12 o'clock there is silence, which is broken by the "noon beat." Regular business is then resumed.

In some cities the wires connect with a time ball which drops with the noon beat. The time ball in Washington over the state, war and navy department building is three feet in diameter and can be seen from all parts of the city. Crowds frequently gather about to see it fall, a distance of 21 feet, high in the air. The man whom some of the spectators suppose to be dropping the ball is merely there to hoist it again to its place.

In the building beneath are 23 clocks which are each day automatically corrected by it. An electrical device "sets" them, placing hour, minute and second hands exactly vertical at the instant the ball drops. The hands that are too fast are pushed back, and those that are slow are thrust forward.

Although Washington is on the seventy-seventh meridian, the noon hour is for convenience computed for the seventy-fifth, the time standard for the eastern part of the United States. In the central belt, which is governed by the nineteenth meridian, the signal from Washington means 11 o'clock. In the Rocky mountain belt it is 10 o'clock, and on the Pacific coast line it is 9 o'clock.

FEASTED ON SPARROWS.

A Diet That Did Not Agree With the Crane.

"Some time ago I had occasion to observe an interesting change in the habits and temperament of a crane which had been picked up in the swamps of Arkansas," said a gentleman from one of the towns on the Mississippi river, "and the change was startling too. The crane was placed in a small park which was literally filled with English sparrows. These pests did not like the visitor from the lowlands, and they made daily assaults on the poor bird. The crane was a pretty fowl, long, slender, pure white and with the stately stride of a tragedian. The sparrows would systematically swoop down on the crane in droves, and the attacks were fierce and vicious.

The crane stood the assaults with indifference for awhile, but finally the fowl from the swamps figured out a method of retaliation, and it was effectual. In some way the crane learned that sparrow was a pretty sweet morsel. From the time she learned it she feasted on sparrows. She would slip up cautiously on these pesky twitters and throw her yellow beak out like a glg. She never missed the mark. She always landed a sparrow, and a singular part of the thing is that she would swallow them whole, feathers and all. But the crane would always dampen the bird by dipping it in one of the water basins of the park.

"The diet evidently did not agree with the crane, and she became a trifle droopy and showed signs of indisposition. She finally died, and the keeper of the park believes that the crane's death was caused by a severe case of indigestion brought on by eating sparrows."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Saved the Dog.

Some time ago there was a shipwreck at St. Margaret's bay, England, and the life line brought sailor after sailor to shore amid the cheers of the rescuers. At last only the captain remained on board. The line was ready, the signal was given, but the answering jerk did not come. Again and again for a quarter of an hour the question passed along the rope without reply. At last, when hope was nearly dead, the signal came, and the captain was hauled dripping ashore. He picked himself up, drew a small, wet, quivering dog from his breast pocket and set it tenderly down. Then he looked round and said in simple apology, "I couldn't find the little brute anywhere!"

Parson Brownlow, the famous preacher, editor and patriot, is described by Dr. William E. Barton, author of "A Hero in Homespun," as the very incarnation of east Tennessee's rudeness, strength and exalted love of country and of right. "He lit wasn't that he's a preacher," says one of the characters, "you wouldn't know sometimes whether he's a prairie or a quatin Scripser chapter an varse or Jos' plain everyday sorter cussin." Brownlow wrote to Secretary Benjamin at Richmond: "Just give me my passports and I will do for your Confederacy more than the devil has ever done. I will quit the country."

doesn't come by accident. A fertile soil and careful cultivation are necessary to produce the towering stems and heavy ears. Yet the farmer who understands that he can't have a healthy corn crop without feeding and weeding, seems to think that he can have a healthy body without either care or culture. But the body is built up just as the corn is, by the assimilation of the several chemical elements on which vitality depends. And what weeds are to the corn, diseases of the stomach and nutritive systems are to the body; they divert the necessary food supply from the proper channels, and the body becomes lean, sickly and ill-nourished.

The proper digestion and assimilation of food is a primary essential of health. By healing diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery increases the digestive and assimilative powers, stimulates the action of the blood making glands, and sends to every organ of the body the rich red-cupped blood on which physical vigor and vitality depend.

"I took two bottles of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carney, Reg. of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I can't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

SHARPTOWN

A terrific thunder storm passed over this town Tuesday afternoon. Lightning struck the livery stable of W. C. Mann and set it on fire, and notwithstanding the rain was falling in torrents the building was burned to the ground. Men rushed out in the awful storm and rescued the horses, all of which were saved, but one was burned badly about the head and shoulders. All the vehicles and some of the harness were saved. Considerable damage was done to a fine sleigh, and an immense amount of clover and some hay, and a great many robes, blankets and other things belonging to the outfit. Mr. Mann's loss is about one hundred and seventy-five dollars, no insurance. The building belonged to B. P. Gravenor and was a total loss of about $600, no insurance. The storm lasted about an hour and the lightning struck four telephone poles in town, an out building near town belonging to W. C. Mann, which was slightly damaged. It killed a hog for George Goates, it struck two or more trees in town and several nearby. Miss Bessie Bradley was badly affected by it and did not speak for some time. A great many people were prostrated. It was very dark and all work in factories was abandoned. Such a storm was never seen here, even by the oldest inhabitants. Just across the river from here in Dorchester it struck the dwelling of Samuel Craft, and killed two chickens and two dogs. No one was hurt. It also killed a cow for Edward Wheatley living in the same neighborhood.

On Sunday morning the Sallie C. Marvil, the new four mast schooner, built and being rigged here, was discovered to be on fire. It was soon extinguished. It caught from the heat of the donkey engine which had been in use all day on Saturday in putting in the masts. It burned through the deck and nearly through a beam before it was discovered, but the place burned was not large.

A large swarm of bees passed through town on Wednesday. An effort was made by A. C. Waller to "pitch" them but in vain, they went to regions beyond.

Oliver Jackson now carries the mail from Riverton to Delmar, stopping here. Mr. Andrew J. Kennerly's time expired June 30th. He made a most excellent carrier and every patron along the line appreciated his kindness.

Mr. Alrano, the showman has just returned from Virginia where he filled a ten days engagement.

George E. Owens has purchased Ned R. Bounds' interest in the Sharptown Shirt Company. Mr. Owens will manage the business.

Mr. Ernest Elliott of Alabama was here this week visiting his brother, W. T. Elliott.

Men's shirt-waists have made their appearance here this week and several of our young men have donned them.

A great many men whose duties call them elsewhere are home for the Fourth, though there was no demonstration or entertainment here. The outing for the day was divided, some to Ocean City, some to Mardela and some to Delmar.

DELMAR

Miss Pearl Lowe, who has been spending several months in Philadelphia, has returned home.

Rev. L. A. Bennett will preach in Harding's Grove Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

The Ladies Aid Society of Delmar M. E. Church will run an excursion to Ocean City, Tuesday, July 16th. Train will leave Delmar at 8:30 a. m., and returning leave Ocean City at 5 p. m. Fare for the round trip $1.00, children half fare.

Rural Free Delivery Route from Delmar postoffice will start August 1st.

The new lock-up has been completed.

Isaac M. Williams has returned from the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Melson's camp-meeting begins August 2nd.

Miss Nellie Biggin, of Crisfield, is visiting friends and relatives in town.

About twenty-five Delmar excursionists spent Sunday at Old Point Comfort, Norfolk and Ocean View. The intense heat marred what would have been a pleasant trip. Owing to the large number of excursionists, about 800 in all, it was necessary to run two sections of the train. Mr. W. G. Wheeler, Traveling Passenger Agent was in charge. Another low-rate excursion to the same point will be run on the 14th.

The members of the Delmar Cornet Band have been newly uniformed and present a very attractive appearance. They are open for engagements at reasonable prices. Address F. Leslie Barker, Secretary, Delmar, Del.

As to Marriage and Divorce.

The report of the joint commission on the revision of the canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church, appointed by the General Convention of 1898, with instructions to report to this year's convention, has been made public. Of the most important of the recommendations are those relating to marriage and divorce. The canon relating to marriage makes a radical departure from the custom that has heretofore been observed in the church, and will be sure to provoke discussion in the convention. If it is adopted no person divorced for a cause arising after marriage can be remarried so long as the wife or husband of the person is living. A majority and minority report will be presented to the delegates, and champions of the present system of marrying divorced persons will not be found wanting.

THE STATE'S CENSUS.

State Enumeration Shows 11,305 Less Than Federal.

Within 10 days the official report of the State Census bureau will be in the hands of the Governor. The population in Baltimore is changed from 508,937 to 514,378; that of the counties from 681,018 to 684,823, and that of the whole State, including Baltimore from 1,190,005 to 1,178,900.

The loss of more than 10,000 in the counties is greater than was anticipated, and means a rearrangement of the representation in the Legislature of several counties. Dorchester county, it is said, will be the only one entitled to an additional representative, the increase over the Federal figures being about 800.

The heaviest losses occur in St. Mary's, Anne Arundel, Charles and Baltimore counties. The discrepancy in Anne Arundel is more than 5,000, in St. Mary's about 1,200, in Baltimore about 1,500 and in Charles about $1,700.

The results in Kent county are very interesting, and when the figures are finally announced, it is said, there may be facts brought to light that will compel a change in the system and method of taking Federal censuses. Both Kent and Prince George's counties are 1,000 short of the Federal figures. Caroline, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's, Wicomico, Dorchester and Harford each made slight gains.

The increase in the Baltimore city figures is accounted for by the fact that at the time of the Federal census hundreds of people were away on vacations, and other hundreds were in Anne Arundel county picking berries. The falling off in Charles, St. Mary's and Anne Arundel was anticipated by the developments in the census fraud trials but the lapse in the Kent county figures was a surprise and may lead to further investigations by the Federal authorities.

The Federal Census gave Wicomico a population of 22,858; the State Census gives the population as 22,900, a gain of 42.

THE PEACH CROP OF 1901.

I. N. Mills Estimates It at Two Million Baskets Which is not Half a Crop.

Clayton, July 2.—Special Agent I. N. Mills of the Delaware railroad has completed his estimate of the peach crop for the season of 1901. It is 2,000,000 baskets. It comprises all the stations on the Delaware division, from Wilmington to Delmar; Queen Anne's & Kent railroad, Townsend to Centerville; Baltimore & Delaware Bay railroad, Clayton to Chestertown; Delaware & Chesapeake railroad, Clayton to Oxford; Delaware, Maryland & Virginia railroad, Harrington to Lewis and Georgetown to Franklin City, and Cambridge & Seaford railroad, Seaford to Cambridge. The estimate is not as complete as Mr. Mills would like to have it, as the "June drop" is not over yet; and when it is finished, the estimate may be materially lowered. Heretofore, the "drop" has been over by the middle of June, but this year it is much later, on account of the backward spring and the late start of the peach trees in blooming. Mr. Mills hopes to have an accurate estimate not later than July 15th.

The peaches this year, from the present indication, will be of nice size and quality. In some instances, where the trees are unusually full, the farmers are thinning the trees. This is some thing that has never been done before, and will no doubt add much to the size and flavor of the fruit.

The estimate of last season's crop was over 4,000,000 baskets, so it will be seen that the crop this year, under the most favorable conditions, will not be half a crop, although better prices will have a better chance to make more out of his crop this season than last year. The number of peach trees on the Peninsula has increased a few thousand by the setting out of new orchards, and the increase would have been heavy were it not for the fact that hundreds of orchards have been pulled up. This is more particularly the case along the line of the Queen Anne's & Kent railroad, once the centre of the peach belt, and a section which grew the finest fruit. The "yellows" have been particularly severe in its depredation there, and the farmers were losing money by allowing their farms to be taken up with the unhealthy trees, which brought them no profit and ruined the market for good fruit.

The principal shipping points will be Wyoming, Bridgeville, Seaford, Ross and Laurel, on the Delaware railroad; Millington, on the Q. A. & K. railroad; Kennedysville, Lambert and Nicholson, on the B. & D. B. railroad; Queen Anne's and Ridgely, on the D. & C. railroad; Milford on the D. M. & V. railroad, and Federalsburg, on the C. & S. railroad.

Talbot County Commissioners have made the tax levy 88 cents on the $100, a decrease of two cents from last year. Caroline County Commissioners fixed the rate at 95 cents, 18 cents less than any year since 1898, when the rate was 94 cents.

For New State Building.

The State Building Commission, after a long discussion, Tuesday afternoon awarded the contract for the new Court of Appeals Building at Annapolis to Messrs. Henry Smith & Sons at $206,775.

The action at the former meeting, when it was determined to build of marble, was rescinded and the building will be of brick, with Indiana limestone trimmings and parapet. The roof will be of copper and the doors of bronze.

The Attorney-General and the architect were requested to formulate a proper contract and the executive committee was authorized to engage a proper superintendent to look after the conduct of the work. A bond will be required of the contractor, and it is expected that the building will be completed in one year.

The next lowest bidders were E. M. Noel at $208,746 and John Waters at $219,636.

JUDGE HOLLAND NOMINATED.

The Judicial Convention at Ocean City Declared Him the Choice of the People.

Judge Charles F. Holland's record as an associate Judge of the First Judicial Circuit received a most flattering and deserved endorsement at Ocean City last Thursday when the convention by acclamation made him the nominee of the democratic party to succeed himself.

The convention was called to order at noon in the Atlantic Casino by Mr. Edward McMaster, of Worcester county. Mr. John W. Fletcher, Register of Wills for Dorchester county, was chosen chairman and Mr. Wm. S. McMaster of Somerset county was made secretary.

A committee on organization and credentials, consisting of one delegate from each county was chosen. This committee consisted of Mr. F. P. Corkin, of Dorchester county; Luther Hies of Somerset; John W. Farlow of Wicomico and E. King Wilson of Worcester. The committee reported that the delegates present were all entitled to seats in the Convention and recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent. The chairman then thanked the Convention for the honor to himself and announced that business was in order. A committee on resolutions was chosen consisting of Robt. T. Henry, of Dorchester, Isaac N. Coulbourne of Somerset, Wm. M. Cooper, of Wicomico and Alfred Childs, of Worcester.

When the chair announced that nominations for Judge were in order the Secretary called the roll of counties Dorchester and Somerset passed. At the call for Wicomico Mr. E. Stanley Toadvin, a member of the Wicomico bar, rose to place in nomination Associate Judge Charles F. Holland, of this city, the present incumbent. Mr. Toadvin spoke fifteen minutes and received the closest attention. Mr. Clarence Vincent of Worcester nominated States Attorney Robley D. Jones of that county. Mr. John R. Atkinson, a well-known attorney and able man of Dorchester who headed at county's delegation, took the floor and delivered a forcible address before the convention seconding Judge Holland's nomination and paying him a high tribute as a judge and a man.

States Attorney Waters, of Somerset, followed Mr. Patterson in a strong and successful endorsement of Judge Holland. Dr. James C. Dirlikson then withdrew the name of Worcester's favorite son from the contest, and moved the nomination of Judge Holland by acclamation.

Mr. Toadvin's speech, nominating Judge Holland was as follows:

President and Delegates to this Democratic Convention of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland:

Again after the lapse of many years a time has come when the voters of this Circuit are to choose at the polls one "learned in the law" as the constitution of the State of Maryland requires to serve as an Associate Judge for a term of 15 years or until arrival at the age of seventy. No office ennobles the incumbent of whom has more responsibility, or one more important, to all the people, whatever may be their sex or condition of life. Judge is arbiter of the life, liberty and welfare of the individual—he administers the law where the individual's material interest of the individual is before the Judicial Tribunal for decision.

This section of Maryland, ever since Maryland became a free and sovereign state and a component part of the noble galaxy of States, composing the Federal Union of the United States of America, has been fortunate in having Judges lawyers of the highest ability, and men of high character and unblemished reputation, who preserved the judicial system pure and unspotted. In the year 1867 when the present constitution of Maryland created the first Judicial Circuit a Steward, a Rankin, a Wilson, a Goldsborough, an Irving have administered justice this Circuit with honor to themselves and justice, mercy and equity to the sued, the sinner and the litigant. All these just and upright Judges have gone to that bourne whence no traveler returns and their memory is still cherished and honored. They all, bravely speaking, died on the high plain of duty and honor, except Judge Wilson who having been called on constructing and administering law as a law maker, died a United States Senator.

The Judges of the U. S. Courts, from District Courts to the Supreme Court, are appointed for life or good behavior. Some of the Judges of State Courts are appointed or elected for life, or good behavior, while in others the Judges are elected for longer or shorter terms. In Maryland there is a happy medium between a long or short term, wherein the term is to cease at the expiration of 15 years or on arrival at the age of 70 years, and such a law has almost made it a law, to reelect a Judge as his successor or extend the term, where physical, mental and moral qualities merit the same.

At the election in November the voters of Worcester, Somerset, Dorchester and Wicomico counties comprising our First Judicial Circuit are to elect a successor to Judge Charles F. Holland and you gentlemen of the convention are here today to select the name of his successor to be placed upon the ballot as the nominee and candidate of one of the great political parties of the country, to be voted for at the November election. A grave and important duty rests upon you and a still more grave and important duty upon the voters at the election in choosing his successor.

Sixteen years ago at a Judicial Convention held at this same place, it became my fortunate privilege to place in nomination for Associate Judge, a lawyer from my county, then in the prime of middle life, a peer of any learned in the law, a man of probity and high moral character. He was nominated and he was elected without opposition. This man was Charles F. Holland, and as his successor I nominate Judge Charles F. Holland to succeed himself.

Sixteen years ago when Charles F. Holland was nominated and a candidate for election, the delegates to the Convention and the voters at the polls were asked to accept him on faith. He was so received and elected, having the compliment of no opposing candidate. Then he had no record to be judged by. Sitting on the bench to be judged by justice four terms each year in the four counties of the Circuit, laymen as well as lawyers know if he has held the scales of justice evenly balanced, if punishment tempered with mercy has been meted out to the guilty, if his decisions have been fair, impartial and in accordance with law. Nominate Judge Holland and the verdict at the election will be "well done good and faithful servant" and now enter upon a new term of service as an honorable and upright Judge."

The committee on resolutions made the following report:

Resolved, that as the lofty character of the Judges of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland has always been held in the highest esteem, irrespective of party, the Democratic party is to be congratulated upon having presented for the suffrages of the voters, men of such high legal attainments and character as to receive the almost unanimous support of all political parties.

Resolved, that partisan or undue political interference or influences in the election of the Judiciary is to be deplored and should be discouraged by the nomination of candidates whose character and position should save them from all such influences."

The convention selected Messrs. Patterson, Waters, Laws and Dr. Dirlikson to formally notify Judge Holland of his nomination.

The proceedings of the convention were most harmonious and a very general satisfaction with the action of the convention was expressed.

Besides the delegates a considerable gathering of citizens from the four counties of the Judicial Circuit was in the Convention Hall.

The Sequel.

Arrest, trial and divorce proceedings followed in quick succession the elopement of Mr. Roland Cantwell and Mrs. Edward Bradley, as told in last week's issue of the ADVERTISER. Sheriff Stratton brought the couple back to Salisbury from Baltimore, where they had been intercepted in their flight and arrested, on Friday night and lodged them in jail until the trial on Saturday morning. At the hearing before Justice Turpin, Cantwell pleaded guilty to the charge of abduction and was fined. The fine imposed by the Justice, together with the costs amounted to something over fifty dollars. The money was raised by Cantwell who paid the charges and is once more a free man.

Divorce proceedings were at once instituted by Mr. Bradley through his attorneys, Messrs. Toadvin and Bell of this city. Mrs. Bradley was very willing to sign the necessary documents, telling her husband that she had ceased to care for him and was anxious that they be separated.

Great interest in the affair was manifested by the neighbors of the run a ways and they turned out in full force on Friday night to meet the B. C. & A. train bringing the sheriff and his prisoners and were also largely represented at the trial. The sheriff had taken proper precautions to prevent any trouble from the crowd as the train pulled into the station and a closed carriage was soon conveying him and his charge towards the city jail. Mrs. Bradley seemed little worried over the weather and apparently looked upon her escape more in the light of a joke than anything at all serious.

Section Boss Saves Train.

The north bound Norfolk express train and a freight were saved from being wrecked one afternoon last week by Section Boss Foster and his men. Both trains had been given orders to proceed to Dover but when they were stopped by Foster who had discovered a rail which had been expanded to such an extent as to cause it to buckle up and spring fully eight inches. The trains were held until two rails could be removed and replaced with new ones. —Smyrna Call.

CAMPMEETING SEASON.

Wicomico's Popular Camps Will Soon Open—Many Improvements Made for the Coming Season.

Arrangements are being made by the religious denominations of the county for their campmeetings, which are features of religious work during the summer. The intense heat of the past week will make these meetings especially popular this year, and the indications are that the number of tenters at the principal camps in this vicinity will be larger than usual.

The season at Hebron, the leading Methodist Episcopal camp of the county promises to be one of the most successful in recent years. The arrangements for the camp, which will open July 27th., and will continue for ten days are in the hands of a camp-meeting committee which looks after the business side of the camp.

Many improvements have been made to the camp since last season. The grounds have been completely fenced in, the tabernacle has been renovated and the seats under covers have been made much more comfortable by the placing of backs on each bench. On the grounds are forty two tents, all of which have been taken. An innovation this year will be the charging of a nominal admission fee. The reason of this is the inability of the camp committee to get sufficient funds to meet the running expenses of the camp. Many prominent ministers of the Salisbury District have been secured by Rev. C. W. Strickland of Quantico Circuit who has charge of the religious side of the camp.

The location of Hebron is ideal for camping purposes, with plenty of pure water and with the air redolent of pine.

The popular camp at Parsonsburg will begin on August 16th., and will continue till the 26th. A general renovation of the grounds has taken place. Many new tents have been added and already there is a great demand for them. The camp is under the supervision of Rev. D. F. McFall, pastor of the M. E. Church at Parsonsburg, who has been instrumental in securing the service of many eminent speakers and ministers of that denomination. The prospects for a successful season are very bright and everything points to such a camp as Parsonsburg has never yet seen. Oak and pine trees give an abundance of shade, while the water from springs on the grounds is said to be of an excellent quality.

Arrangements have been made to hold a campmeeting about two miles from Sharptown, August 16th to 26th. This location was a compromise site for the four churches on Union Methodist Protestant Circuit. Financially the camp has always been a success, realizing each year more than one hundred dollars.

The grove is an excellent one, easy of access and the tents are so made as to be very comfortable. The location of the tents is such as to make a good view from any position. The camp is managed by the Rev. Mr. Mather and is most successful.

Siloam Camp in the lower part of the county will begin Saturday, August 10th., and continue till Monday August 19th. It will be in charge of Rev. F. X. Moore the pastor. The following preachers are among those engaged to preach: Rev. Wm. R. Hiron of Newark, Md.; Rev. F. F. Carpenter of Deals Island, Rev. W. W. Sharp of Delmar, Rev. W. E. Matthews of Marion, Prof. Elmer Cross, principal of Wilmington Conference Academy. There will be between 20 and 30 tents.

The camp is quite popular among the residents of Trappe district and is a favorite of those who live along the river and in the neighborhood of Upper Ferry.

The congregation and friends of Bethel M. E. Church, near Walston's Switch, will hold a camp-meeting at the church for three days, beginning Tuesday, July 16th. Rev. Mr. McFall, the pastor, will be assisted by several ministers of the Wilmington Conference.

Among the Red Men.

Great Sachem, B. Frank Kennerly, met the other chiefs of the Improved Order of Red Men in Baltimore to arrange for the visitation of tribes in Baltimore and Western Maryland. Mr. Kennerly will make his first trip about the first of August and will spend two weeks visiting the larger towns such as Frostburg, Hagerstown, Cambridge and Williamsport.

Next Tuesday night Mr. Kennerly will go to Chesapeake City in company with the Great Keeper of the Records, to institute a new tribe in that city.

"MARYLAND, MY MARYLAND"

Maryland Day at the Pan-American Exposition a Great Success.

Last Wednesday was Maryland Day at the Buffalo Exposition, and resulted in a most brilliant success.

From innumerable flag-poles floated the orange and black banner of our beloved State, while hundreds of bands played "Maryland, My Maryland" and thousands of Maryland's sons thronged the grounds. The program arranged was carried out at the Temple of Music with enthusiasm. The exercises beginning at noon were concluded in two hours, and the attendance was the largest for any function so far during the progress of the Exposition.

The Temple of Music will seat several thousand people and its auditorium was filled when Gov. John Walter Smith arrived with his staff in full uniform and attended by the civil functionaries he had appointed to represent the State in this great industrial exposition. There were three events, comprising music, oratory and poetry, with not a flaw in any of them.

Director General William I. Buchanan and Hon. John G. Milburn, president of the Pan-American Exposition, officiated as hosts of the occasion. Both made most little speeches, the one introducing Hon. Ferdinand C. Latrobe, and the other presenting Governor Smith.

A military band was in attendance, and as Governor Smith and his party reached the stage it struck up "Maryland, My Maryland." The first strains of the old song brought the crowd to its feet, and the cheering nearly lifted the roof. The air was sung by hundreds. Director General Buchanan then called the assemblage to order with a few words, introducing Gen. Latrobe as presiding officer. The seven times Mayor of Baltimore received an ovation. He told the audience of some of the things in Maryland's record—of Charles Carroll and John Eager Howard, of Francis Scott Key and Winfield Scott Schley.

Of these men and their work Maryland is proud, he said, but in no boastful spirit. Their work belongs to the whole country. But Maryland is a country of peace, and it is interested greatly in the Exposition. He hoped that the visit of the representatives of the State would make closer the ties between Maryland and Buffalo.

Governor Smith, of Maryland, held the stage for about 40 minutes—perhaps longer—but his speech so caught the audience that there was no lack of interest, and he was heard with undivided attention to the end.

In speaking of Maryland exhibits the Governor said:

"It is a source of regret that Maryland's material wealth and resources have not been more extensively represented here on this occasion, so rich is she in almost all things that contribute to the prosperity and happiness of a people. It was my desire that we should, as we could, have made not only a creditable showing, but a display of our varied possessions that would have been surpassed by no State in all the Union and by no country in Pan-America; but unfortunately, I fear the value and usefulness of expositions, even of so extensive a character as that which has been opened on these grounds, are not so fully appreciated by the taxpayers or by those who represent them in the legislative bodies as the importance of the subject merits. Hence it often happens, as in the case of my own State, that the appropriation of public moneys for exposition purposes is made with too narrow a view of the object sought and apparently with a forgetfulness of the old saying that bread cast upon the waters will return after many days."

When the governor had concluded General Latrobe said that no ceremony of a patriotic character in which Marylanders were concerned could be complete without "The Star Spangled Banner," which was the inspiration of a Maryland poet, and would be recited by a Maryland woman, Mrs. Martha Ford Gresham. This lady was invited to participate in the events of Maryland Day at Buffalo in 1901, as she had done at the Chicago World's Fair, in 1893, then Miss Martha Ford of Baltimore, and her performance was a brilliant incident of a memorable occasion.

An informal reception by the Governor followed. He shook hands with hundreds of people. During the reception the band played Southern airs.

—Mr. Hugh Jackson put his new yacht in the water last Saturday morning. Mr. Jackson has named his boat "L'Aiglow," after Rostand's play, made famous by Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt and Miss Maude Adams.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

To Make a Street Experiment with Crushed Stone.

At a called meeting of the City Council last Friday night, at which all the members and the Mayor were present, the council decided to purchase a small cargo of stone to use in experimental work on the city streets. President Tilghman of the council had samples of crushed stone with him which he showed the council and explained the prices, cost of delivery and probable relative merits of the several varieties. It was decided to take a small cargo from the Port Deposit granite quarries which is to cost the city, delivered at the wharf here, $1.65 per ton.

It will be put on the streets where traffic is heaviest and an experiment made as to its value as compared with shells. Shells wear badly where the streets are in constant use, and the promoters of this experiment are earnestly looking for a substitute which will prove more durable and less expensive. If the crushed stone meets these requirements the council will most likely adopt it exclusively to surface the streets of the municipality.

For the present, however, the council's work is purely experimental.

Death of Mr. Guthrie.

Mr. Benjamin J. Guthrie, son of Mr. Chas. Guthrie, of Salisbury, died at his home on Newton Street Wednesday morning. Mr. Guthrie had been in poor health for some months, and for thirty-nine days previous to his death had not partaken of food. Late in the spring the deceased went to Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment, but was told that he was suffering from cancer of the stomach and that his case was hopeless. He returned home and for some time bore up bravely, but had at last succumbed to the dreaded disease. Mr. Guthrie was of the firm of Guthrie & Perry, barbers. He leaves a wife and one child. His life was insured for $2000—$1000 in the Royal Arcanum and $1000 in an old line company.

Funeral services were held by Rev. Chas. A. Hill at the home of the deceased Friday morning. The following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Messrs. Jas. Chatham, Elmer E. Bradley, L. P. Coulbourn, Edgar Johnson, J. R. T. Laws and F. A. Grier.

—Mrs. Nelson Stevens and son Master Robert, of Baltimore have been at Dr. L. S. Bell's this week. They left Tuesday for Crisfield accompanied by Master James who has been in Salisbury for several months.

Our Query Column.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

No. 121. Who invented Greek fire?

During the reign of Constantine III, the Sarcophagus of the city of Constantinople for 100 months, but were then obliged to retire. They returned seven times during as many successive years, but were each time repulsed by Callinichus, who, in 688, invented an unextinguishable fire by which he destroyed their ships.

This Greek or liquid fire was made principally of naphtha or liquid bitumen, mixed with sulphur and pitch extracted from green fir. Water, instead of extinguishing, quickened this powerful agent of destruction, which nothing but sand, wine or vinegar could check. For four hundred years the Greeks kept the secret of its composition, but the Mohammedans at length discovered it and used it.

This fire remained in use until sometime in the fourteenth century, when a more destructive agent having been discovered and brought into use in the shape of gunpowder, it seems to have been abandoned.

No. 122—What was the last battle fought upon the soil of Great Britain?

While George II, of England was engaged in the war of the "Austrian Succession," Charles Edward, the "young Pretender," a grandson of James II, of England, landed in Scotland, and made two attempts to obtain the throne of his ancestors. He was victorious in the battle of Falkirk; but the Duke of Cumberland, son of George II, having been recalled from the Continent to take command of the king's forces, the Pretender was entirely defeated at Culloden Moor, a plain in Scotland, four miles from Inverness. This was the last battle fought on the island of Great Britain (16 April, 1746), and it was also the last attempt of the Stuart family to recover the throne of Great Britain.

Charles Edward Stuart finally escaped to France after he had wandered for five months in the Highlands, pursued by his enemies. He died in Rome, 30th January, 1788.

The Duke of Cumberland gave no quarter. The wounded were all slain; and the jails of England were filled with prisoners, many of whom were executed.

Among the latter number were Lords Balmerino, Kilmarnoch, and Lovat—Lovat being the last person who was beheaded in England.

No. 123. What emperor sat upon his throne for three hundred and fifty years?

Charles the Great, or, as the French call him, Charlemagne (a corruption of Carolus Magnus), built a splendid palace for himself at Aix la Chapelle, in Prussia; also a Chapel on the site of the present cathedral, and under the chapel a tomb for himself.

His body was placed in a sitting position in the tomb, at his death, in the year 84.

Nearly two hundred years afterward, in 1001, the Emperor, Otto III, had the vault opened; and it is said that the body of the great emperor was found in a wonderful state of preservation, seated on a marble throne, dressed in imperial robes, with his crown on his head, his sword by his side, the Gospel lying open on his lap, and his scepter in his hand.

A large picture, representing Otto and his nobles gazing on the dead emperor, is painted on the walls of the great room of the town hall at Aix la Chapelle.

In 1815 Frederick II, took the remains from this vault, and put them in a casket of gold and silver, in which they are still kept in the treasury of the cathedral.

The marble throne on which the dead emperor sat for three hundred and fifty years is still to be seen in the cathedral. It was used as a throne at the coronation of the German emperors until 1558, after which the emperors were crowned at Frankfurt.

The crown and other relics found with the body are preserved in Vienna.

Frogs Fall From the Clouds.

Ithaca, July 8—Myriads of small green frogs have appeared here and it is said they were rained down in the showers of the past few days. They are particularly numerous in the vicinity of Renwick Park. A Lehigh Valley train was stalled just outside Ithaca by swarms of frogs on the tracks. The rails became so slippery from those that were killed that the wheels would not take hold. The brakemen were obliged to shovel off the track before the train could proceed. Street railway cars have been similarly delayed. Pedestrians find it difficult to travel on the sidewalks in many places. The frogs are increasing in number and steps will soon have to be taken to rid the city of them.

THE FRESH AIR CHILDREN.

An Appeal to Those Interested in the Work of the Children's Fresh Air Society.

Each year in Baltimore, the first day of July, sees a party of eager children at some railroad station, waiting for the train that is to take them to the green fields and delights of the country, which some of them perhaps have never seen. To one to whom the sight of the green of the grass and the blue of the sky is part of the day's joy, the thought that the health giving air of the country is a luxury eagerly sought for by the little children in the dusty and crowded rooms of the city, perhaps has never come.

To some of you who know the work of the Children's Fresh Air Society of Baltimore, the request that you share these common blessings with the children of the city comes as no new idea.

To others, perhaps it will be new, because your attention has never been called to the fact that perhaps these were given you to share. To all of you whose hearts are touched quickest by the suffering of a little child we appeal, asking that you allow us to give you the opportunity of sharing with the children of the city the freedom of God's country, to open not only your homes, but your hearts to these little friends, giving them not only the material things for the body, but the loving care for which their hungry little hearts are aching.

To do this, we only ask that you send to us, at least a week before the date your name the number of children you will take (we prefer, if possible, that country homes be opened to our little girls), the train you will meet, stating railroad over which child will travel.

We make this appeal for this divinely beautiful charity, because we feel that our friends in the country should have the right, during the next two months, to bring into the lives and hearts of our children higher ideals and purer thoughts than ever before their dwarfed and stunted natures have had the opportunity of knowing. We ask you, not for our sakes, though the fact that there are children waiting to be sent makes us feel our responsibility keenly; nor for the sake of your selves, although the contact with child life is always interesting, but for the sake of the little children whom we both love.

Can we not depend on you? Write today to the Children's Fresh Air Society. Don't put it off, write to-day!

Rising Industries.

"We have noticed in our exchanges about the pea canneries of their towns. We have no hesitancy in saying that there are more peas put up here than in all the other canneries on peninsula combined. At Seaford we have the largest pea factory in the world with a capacity of putting up over 200,000 cans a day, as much as other factories can do in a season. The firm is Greenbaum Bros., whose goods are known from ocean to ocean and gulf to gulf and also in foreign countries.

The season's work amounted to nearly 2,000,000 cans and averaged over 187,000 cans per day of their celebrated goods. They are now getting ready to handle peaches and tomatoes which will begin about August 1st when 800 hands are employed and thousands of dollars are paid out for help and material."

The Editor of the Seaford News has the above to say in regard to a great Sussex County industry, but the lower part of the Peninsula has equally as large industries.

Crisfield is the seat of perhaps the largest crabbing industry in Maryland.

Every day a fleet of swift sailboats operates in Tangier and Pocomoke sounds from Crisfield to supply the packing houses where there are innumerable shedding boxes for soft crabs during the shedding season. The Tangier Packing Company, of Crisfield, has been canning crabs for the past three years, not only crab meat, but also soft shelled crabs. The firm in Crisfield has attained the art of canning soft shelled crabs successfully. Maryland cannot yield the palm to any place in canning sea food. The Tangier Packing Company cans all kinds of sea food including diamond back terrapin, shrimp, green turtle soup, oyster crabs, little neck clams, clam chowder, clam juice or bullion and cove oysters.

The Chesapeake bay and its tributaries furnish an abundance of all kinds of sea food, and it has been demonstrated that all of it can be preserved in cans and furnished to the trade at any time.

Messrs. Geo. D. Insley & Son, of Bivalve are also engaged in the crab canning industries. This firm has been operating to its full capacity during the past season and is a pioneer in the business of canning hard crab meat.

Last Saturday was a red letter day at our store. Never before in the history of our business did we have such a day. At closing time it looked as if a cyclone had struck our store and blown one-half of our stock away. At times it looked like our entire stock would be sold before the day was done, and that everybody for miles around was trying to buy a new pair of shoes, and that our store was the only place they could get them. Of course they COULD get shoes elsewhere, but not such GOOD, DEPENDABLE SHOES as we sell, at such moderate prices. People hereabouts have learned where to buy the best in footwear—where to find style, quality, variety and economy. We have been busy all the week filling in our broken sizes, getting in the newest novelties, making ready for those who have not yet been served, as we expect to continue to lead all others in the shoe business. This is our exclusive business. We have nothing else to sell you. All our time and energies are devoted to this one line—buying and selling shoes, and it is our determination to rank first. You expect better goods from an exclusive dealer. We are compelled to show better styles, more variety and give better prices. We can easily do this by having but one line to look after, and giving this one constant and undivided attention. All our goods this season are specialties made to our order and sold exclusively by us. In our Woman's Department we quote you a few of our many styles and prices and court comparison with other goods offered at same price:

Woman's Dongola Tip, Oxford, all sizes,	$ 50
" " " " C. S. " "	60
Woman's Dongola Tip, Good Dress Oxford,	75
" " " " Button and Lace Shoes,	1.00

This woman's $1 shoe is worth looking after. We are willing to put it up against any $1.25 in Salisbury. Our woman's $1.25 shoe is another leader in its class, all solid and warranted to wear. For $1.50 we can give you a woman's shoe or oxford that will be a revelation to those who have not worn them—built for service, full of style and grace. In our woman's shoe department we are showing all the latest lasts and leathers. Patent leathers take the lead this season and in these we are beyond competition. It's another Walker which, by the way, is the name of our leading shoe for men and one which should be seen by all lovers of high grade footwear made in all leathers and all up to date patterns. A shoe we are proud of and acknowledged to be the best of modern shoe creations. Sold exclusively by us and guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. We have many other makes ranging from $1.00 to $5.00 all of which we guarantee to be better than can be purchased elsewhere at same price.

Our Misses' and Children's department receives the same careful attention. All that is new, all that is best, will be found here. Be sure to call on us for shoes.

HOW ABOUT DELMARVIA?

Proposed Name For A New State To Include Delaware And Peninsula.

The New York sun, says:

Delmarvia is the odd name that some persons would bestow upon a hypothetical State of the American Union. A proposal to create such a State by the union of Delaware with the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Virginia has been often discussed, usually with considerable interest and decided approval by the people of Delaware, occasionally with qualified approval by part of the people of Maryland most directly interested, never with interest or approval by the Eastern Shore of Virginia, and usually with unqualified disapproval by Virginia and Maryland.

The Calverts claimed under their original grant of nearly two and three quarter centuries ago not only the Eastern Shore of Maryland, but also the whole of what is now Delaware. They failed, however, after long litigation with the Penns, to make good their title to Delaware, and the order of the English court for a partition of the Peninsula between the litigants brought about the running of the most famous boundary in American history. Mason and Dixon's line.

Whenever the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland have felt themselves aggrieved, politically or otherwise, in their relations with their neighbors of the Western Shore some Eastern Shoremen have talked of the advantages of union with Delaware. Such was the condition of feeling on the Eastern Shore about 70 years ago that the Delaware Legislature sent to the Maryland Legislature a proposal looking to a union of the Eastern Shore counties with Delaware, and a resolution for a reference of the question to the people of the Eastern Shore was carried through the lower house of Maryland and narrowly defeated in the Senate.

The subject was again much discussed, especially in Delaware, rather more than 20 years ago, and there has never been a time since when the question was not one of lively, if only academic interest, to Delaware. The Eastern Shore became somewhat interested in the matter again when at the election of Wellington to the Senate the historic right of that region to one of the Senators was ignored, but the discussion at that time took on no great importance.

Where the suggested union of Delaware with the rest of the Peninsula brought about the resultant State would have an area of above 1000 square miles, considerably more than double that of Delaware, and a population of nearly 480,000. The State of Maryland would lose in population nearly 300,000 and the State of Virginia about 47,000 while Delaware would considerably more than double her population.

Rural Delaware and the Peninsula counties of Maryland and Virginia have a common English origin and a population almost exclusively native and of native ancestry. But Wilmington, which will soon include half the population of Delaware, has large foreign element. Eastern Shore traditions also are more distinctly Southern and aristocratic than those of Delaware, and the strong Quaker element in Northern Delaware has no counterpart on the Eastern Shore.

Delaware has always been favorable to the change because she has everything to gain by it, and the attempted purchase of a seat in the United States Senate by a wholesale bribery at the polls and bribery on a smaller scale in the Legislature has recently called the attention of the people of Delaware to the dangers that may beset a very small state.

Such a piecing together of fragments to form a state has not been known in recent American history, though such things happened in colonial days and a familiar provision of the Constitution seems to contemplate the possibility of future cases. Transfers of small areas from one state to another have been frequent in the settlement of boundary disputes and within a few years Pennsylvania formally recognized as Delaware territory a few square miles which had been in dispute for more than a century.

Why the Horse is Popular.

The present demand for horses, and the ample indications that trolleys, bicycles and automobiles, combined, cannot relegate the horse to the past, is due, the Philadelphia Times believes, to the fact that "people have found that neither the trolley, the bicycle nor the automobile yield those pleasures which come from driving. There is a joy in handling the reins which is never known to the man who simply moves the lever. There is an intelligence in the animal which can never exist in machinery, however perfect, and there is a reliability about the horse which is unknown to the motor vehicle."

Mrs. James T. Crew, wife of the proprietor of the Betterton Hotel at Betterton, Kent county, is very ill as the result of a lightning stroke. The bolt was from a small cloud in an otherwise clear sky. The victim can swallow nothing, and is not expected to recover.

Crop Report.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday July 8, says in regard to fruit and minor crops:

"The general fruit outlook continues to undergo a slight decrease with the advance of the season, some rotting and dropping being reported from nearly every section. Apples will be a short crop generally, and much of the fruit now on the trees is reported defective. Peaches are still falling in the western counties, and have become scarce in parts of St. Mary's and Somerset. On the Eastern Shore and in Delaware the peaches have felt the drought and excessive heat to some extent, but the prospects are still good. Cherries are rotting in Washington County. Plums are a good crop in Carroll. Pear are scarce on some varieties, and the prospect of moderate yields are reported irregularly in the sections where the crop is best."

"Over most of the section the early potatoes are still promising, but the yields have been shortened as compared with the promise of ten days ago by the drought and heat that have since prevailed. Gardens suffered for want of rain in many localities until the close of the week. Peas are practically over. Early tomatoes are ripe in the southeastern counties, where they have had insufficient moisture, although the crop is good in Somerset. Generally, tomatoes will be light in yields unless very favorable weather follows, the present outlook not being at all encouraging. Raspberries are coming to market; the quality is fine, but many canes were killed last winter, and this will shorten the yields in many places. Blackberry vines were also winter-killed in many counties, and the crop will be scarce in places in consequence; blackberries are now ripening in the south and southeast. Cauliflower is being cut in Garrett County."

Why Not Raise Them at Home?

United States Consul Turgeon of Bordeaux France notes as a curious fact that one of the chief exports from Bordeaux to the United States consists of alimentary products, which are grown in the greatest abundance in the United States, and are often of much superior quality. Prominent among these are canned or bottled peas and string beans.

French beans and peas are of the smallest varieties and are put up while they are but half matured and very soft; also they are packed with great attention to artistic effect. The cans are not filled by machinery and the vegetables are not handled with a scotch shovel; every thing is done by hand, and the wages of the girls who do this work depend as much on the appearance of the bottles as on the number filled.

COUNTY CONVENTION NEXT.

The Judicial Convention held at Ocean City Thursday was one of the most harmonious ever witnessed in that much frequented haven of Maryland political gatherings. Every one seemed imbued with the spirit of making the occasion a party love feast and not the slightest discord marred the proceedings of the day. From the tenor of the speeches made by delegates from all four counties it was evident that the Convention was registering the wishes of the democratic voters of the circuit when they unanimously re-nominated Judge Holland. Speeches seconding his nomination were made by members of the Somerset and Dorchester delegations and in each address the Convention was told that the nominating of Holland as the standard bearer would be the forerunner of victory in November.

Now that the head of the ticket has been selected under such auspicious conditions it behooves the counties comprising the circuit to add additional strength to it by the nomination of the very best men for the county offices. Somerset has set the other three counties of the circuit a good example by bringing to the front her strongest men to lead the party in the coming campaign.

In Wicomico the primaries have been called for Saturday, July 27th. That there will be more candidates than there are offices to be filled and that some will, as usual, go home disappointed at not having their ambitions gratified are two of the results of the convention that are as apparent today as they will be two weeks hence. Let everyone desirous of being placed upon the ticket this year go to the convention not with the spirit of "I want this place or nothing" but let him unite in an honest effort to secure a strong ticket and if his claims for party recognition must be temporarily set aside let him gracefully yield to the wisdom of the convention in order that the party may present an unbroken front to the common enemy.

No part of the ticket to be nominated this year needs good, reliable men more than that of the County Commissioners. The office of County Commissioner is an important one and the people of the county demand that our foremost citizens shall occupy these responsible positions. The Legislative nominees should be men of strict integrity and men who in themselves will command the respect and confidence of the community. And so it should be with every place to be filled.

Under the new ballot law every man is a ticket himself and must be voted for individually. As the voting is entirely secret much more independence in casting his ballot will be exhibited by the voter than ever before. It will be a mistake to think that the strong men on the ticket can "pull through" the weak ones. In every county where the majority of either party is small there will be sufficient independent voting to defeat the weak candidates or those not fitted to fill the positions to which they aspire. The old system of making one cross to vote the whole ticket and the results that flowed from it are things of the past.

MARYLAND DAY.

Wednesday of this week having been designated by the managers of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo as "Maryland Day," it was appropriately celebrated as such.

A large delegation of Marylanders was in attendance to sing her praises, tell of the illustrious position she has occupied in making the history of the country and make known to the world the many advantages she offers to both the farmer and capitalists seeking a home for himself or a profitable field for investment.

We quote from the Baltimore Sun the following very interesting narration of some of the events in which Maryland has figured prominently.

"In her geology, in her soil and in her productions no state can show so rich a variety in so small a territory. The broad and beautiful Chesapeake is productive of vast wealth. In the history of the United States Maryland has taken a part which is little understood by this generation. It gave to the Revolutionary Army some of its most distinguished commanders and its bravest soldiers. Its great war governor brought Washington forward as commander in chief and was throughout the long and dreary contest his most intimate friend and most loyal supporter. It was the action of the statesmen of Maryland, after the close of the war, that made the existence of the United States Government a possibility. By standing out alone against accepting the articles of confederation until the uninhabited domain which after became the great states of the Mississippi Valley was ceded by the states which claimed it as the common property of all the States Maryland paved the way for the adoption of the Federal Constitution. It was in Maryland that the first steps were taken for the formulation of that august instrument. In the industrial world this state has taken a part even more conspicuous than in political affairs and has been pioneer in inventing or adopting the great appliances of modern civilization. It was upon Maryland waters that the first boat ever propelled by steam was floated, and it was the invention of a Marylander. It was Maryland which chartered and built the first steam railroad in America and used the first steam locomotive, and the charter of this railroad has been the model of all subsequent ones. It was in Maryland that the first magnetic telegraph was constructed and it was a Maryland newspaper, THE SUN, that of all newspapers in the world first made use of that appliance for gathering news. It was also THE SUN which of all American newspapers used a type revolving printing press. It was to a Marylander that the first patent for a steel pen was issued in this country. Baltimore had the pioneer water company and gas company and was the first city in the world to build an electric railroad and an iron steamship. But the time would fail to tell of all the glorious history of Maryland, of its fisheries, its orchards, its mines and quarries, its fields and forests. It is a land yielding royal treasures to those who have the art and enterprise to bring them forth."

—The fifth International Convention of the Epworth League, to be held in San Francisco July 18th to 21st, is eliciting great interest throughout the country, and the prospect for a very large attendance is most flattering. The Convention offers an excursion opportunity to visit California and the Pacific Slope under conditions and at rates not likely to be equaled soon. The only similar opportunity was with the Christian Endeavorers in '97 and this was agreed on all sides to a model trip. San Francisco and the coast of the Pacific deserve first rank among the summer resorts of the country. Heat is unknown and breezes from the ocean blow constantly; recovery from the depression of the interior regions of the country is magical.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales! Some people call it "tetter," milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes in pain; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure. It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

Hood's PILLS are the best cathartic. Price 25 cents.

Another cool part is the wear. How "hot" you become if you have to repair them. You indeed say blessed words about the clothier you bought from and I vouch a blessing upon your own head if you ever buy from him again.

—About three hundred persons congregated at the old race track Thursday afternoon to witness a game of ball between Salisbury and Siloam. Salisbury had an easy victory winning by a score of 12 to 6. Messrs. Truitt and Schuler did the twirling for the home team and Mr. Larry Townsend occupied the box for the visitors. The game was too one sided to be of great interest but several fine plays were made, the feature of the game being a line catch by Nichols at second base. All the home players got in a hit with Prince and Bennett carrying off the honors. The Salisbury club received a challenge this week from the club at Milford, Del.

—An editor has been inspired, after looking over his list of delinquent subscribers to compose the following: "How dear to our heart is the old silver dollar, when some fond subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things which to us seem so new, the wide spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell; the coin of our fathers, we're glad that we know it, for some time or other 'twill come in right well; the spread-eagle dollar, the star spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well."

Placed Lightning-Rod On Head.

Cr's'ed, July 11.—While a thunderstorm was raging here Philip Wallis, a farmer, procured a lightning-rod and, attaching it to his head, went forth lightning. He wandered about a field calling aloud for the lightning to strike him if it dared.

He was not disappointed. Just as he was passing a great oak tree for the third or fourth time a lightning bolt struck the tree shattering it to pieces. One of the splinters hit Wallis on the head rendering him unconscious. He was at once conveyed indoors, where it was ascertained he had been wounded seriously.

Your surprise and satisfaction will be our reward for serving only the best. Thoroughgood is Doing A Great Business This Season.

Lacy Thoroughgood did a great business last week; larger indeed than was expected, considering the warm wave that came to town. It was no larger than Thoroughgood deserves; for never before in the Clothing history of Salisbury has there been such a strong array of values in men's and boys' clothing as Thoroughgood is offering right now. The crowds that have accepted Thoroughgood's invitation to call have found every promise fulfilled—every statement a fact. They were utterly surprised to see Thoroughgood sell such fine clothing at such a ridiculously low price. Thoroughgood's store lately has been jammed—people crowding—clerks rushed—everybody good natured, and goods are melting away like a snowball in Summer. No store is giving better values than Lacy Thoroughgood is, and no store's goods are better—they can't be any better. Lacy Thoroughgood sells the very best goods made—Thoroughgood is a heavy advertiser and has found out long ago that it really pays to live up to his advertisements, and Thoroughgood has always done that—always said that whatever he sold was worth the price, and often more—and that he was always ready and willing to buy back again anything that he sold it at, providing that it came back in good condition. Lacy Thoroughgood believes in his clothing and hats and don't know of another concern that keeps away from fakes and imitations as Thoroughgood does, and that lives up to what it advertises as Lacy Thoroughgood does. Take the clothing that Thoroughgood sells as an example. Thoroughgood says he will sell a Suit of Men's Clothes for $10.00 as good as any $12.50 Suit sold by anybody, and as good as most $15.00 suits. The above statements are solid facts. The following conundrums are called foot conundrums—Why can't the vinegar makers form a union? Because vinegar works overtime, just like Thoroughgood. Why can't a successful cigar dealer get any fire insurance? Because his stock gets burned up about every month. Who formed the biggest trust? The milk men, and they water their stock twice a day. These are all easy. Why don't you—now, now, now, wait a minute. Why don't you men folks get your new Summer Suits, new Summer Hats, new Summer Shirts while Thoroughgood has plenty of 'em? Don't wait until August and then buy pained over stuff. Buy now and buy from

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md., writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md., writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down and my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism since and I tell any man who suffers with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Mr. Moses Tisch of Easton, Md., writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. B. R. Parrell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S REMEDY in the following: I have used the NELATON'S REMEDY in various cases of Rheumatism and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of joint and rheumatic pain, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

Agricultural Exports Large.

Washington, July 8.—Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the foreign market section of the Agricultural Department, has compiled statistics showing the distribution of the agricultural exports of the United States for the years 1896-1900.

There were a dozen countries in 1900 to each of which the United States exported upward of $10,000,000 worth of domestic farm products.

The United Kingdom purchased $408,000,000 and Germany $185,000,000 worth. The others were:

The Netherlands, $58,000,000; France, $45,000,000; Belgium, $38,000,000; Italy, $34,000,000; Canada, $31,000,000; Japan, over $15,000,000; Denmark, nearly $15,000,000; Cuba, $14,000,000; Spain, $10,000,000; and British Africa, $10,300,000.

How to Live in Hot Weather.

An exchange says: Existence should be reduced to its simplest terms in weather such as we had to endure last week. If we were in the tropics, a siesta at noon and a waving palm-leaf, together with open jars of water here and there to take up heat by evaporation, would make the hot days tolerable. As for business, that would be attended to before the sun was well up or after it had dropped low in the West. But the daily routine goes on here, heat or no heat, and the many deaths and prostrations point the moral on unwholesome conditions and lack of the simplest hygiene.

A Sustaining Diet. These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic, say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

Reduced Rates to Chicago.

On account of the International Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, to be held in Chicago, July 25 to 28, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursions to Chicago at rate of a single fare for the round trip. Tickets remaining on deposit after July 30 will be good returning, leaving Chicago until and including August 24, on payment of fee of 50 cents to Joint Agent.

The healthy old man wears his gray hairs like a silver crown. What if he be three-score and ten if there is still fire in his eye, firmness in his step, command in his voice and wisdom in his counsel? He commands love and reverence. Yet how few wear the mantle of age with dignity. Dim eyes, querulous of speech, halting in step, childish in mind, they "lag superfluous on the stage," dragging out the rag end of a simple existence. The secret of a healthy old age is a healthy middle age. The man who takes care of his stomach, who keeps his bowels properly nourished, will find that the body does not fail him in old age. The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery lies in the preservation of the working power of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. From this center is distributed the nourishment of the whole body, the salt for the blood, the lime for the bones, phosphates for the brain and nerves. A sound stomach means a sound man. A man who keeps his stomach sound by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" will wear the crown of gray hairs as befits a monarch, with dignity and ease.

A controversy between the town and Water Company is delaying important improvements and extensions in Hagerstown. The Water Company it is understood are in favor of making the extensions, but they claim the town owes them the sum of $7,100 while the town says the Water company is indebted to it in the sum of $8,000.

You can never cure dyspepsia by dieting. What your body needs is plenty of good food properly digested. Then if your stomach will not digest it, Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will. It contains all of the natural digestive juices must digest every class of food and so prepare it that nature can use it in nourishing the body and replacing the wasted tissues, thus giving life, health, strength, ambition, pure blood and good healthy appetite. Dr. L. D. Collier.

The Maryland Automobile Company, Luke, Allegany county, has just completed a small automobile United States mail wagon for the government, which will shortly be given a test with the end in view of ordering others, should this one prove successful.

On Her Feet

All day long and racking with pain from her head to her heels. That is what many a self-supporting girl must experience. On those days each month, when in other circumstances she would go to bed, she must still be at the desk or counter and struggle through the day as best she may.

Backache, headache, and other pains caused by womanly diseases are perfectly cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the cause of these pains. It establishes regularity, dries encumbering drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

PAIN ALL GONE. "I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Kiehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penna. "Your Favorite Prescription" has cured me of uterine trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can honestly say I am a new person and suffer with headache all the time, but have no headache now since taking your medicine. I have been cured of troubles that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the state could not cure me."

Modification of Stamp Tax.

The emergency revenue reduction act passed at the last session of Congress and approved by the President on March 2 became completely operative last Monday.

It is estimated that this reduction will occasion a total annual decrease in internal revenue receipts to the Government of $40,000,000, the decrease in the District of Maryland being about $2,000,000. A discontinuance of such imports as stamps upon checks, drafts, promissory notes, telegrams, money orders and express receipts will be hailed by the public as a remission of burdens involving more personal inconvenience than pecuniary sacrifice.

After last Monday transfers of real property worth less than $2500 were exempt from tax. If the value exceeds $2500 and does not exceed $8000, the stamp tax will be 25 cents, with the same amount additional for each $500 in excess of $8000.

The Treasury Department has made arrangements and is now prepared to redeem unused stamps. Two important conditions are imposed in connection with this redemption. The stamps must have been purchased within two years prior to July 1, 1901, and not less than $9 worth presented for redemption. Owing to these conditions and the fact that many corporations, firms and individuals used checks on which the stamps have been imprinted by the engraver on the face of the check, it may be anticipated that stamped bank checks will continue in circulation for some months.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Special Excursions to Pan-American Exposition.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run special excursions to Buffalo on account of the Pan American Exposition, from Philadelphia and adjoining territory, on July 3, 9, 18, 23, 28, August 6, 13, 21, 27, September 5, 11, 17, and 23. Round trip tickets, good going only on train leaving Philadelphia at 8.30 a. m., Harrisburg 11.35 a. m., Sunbury 12.43 p. m., Williamsport 1.50 p. m., Lock Haven, 2.36 p. m., and on local trains connecting therewith, and good to return on regular trains within seven days, including day of excursion, will be sold at rate of $9.00 from Philadelphia, $8.40 from Harrisburg, $9.80 from Trenton, $8.40 from Altoona, $9.00 from Lancaster, $9.00 from Reading, $10.00 from Winchester, and proportionate rates from other points. These tickets will not be good in Pullman parlor or sleeping cars in either direction. For specific time and rates, consult local ticket agents.

In its advanced and chronic form a cold in the head is known as Nasal Catarrh and is the recognized source of other diseases. Having stood on the test of continued successful use, Ely's Cream Balm is recognized as a specific for membranous diseases in the nasal passages, and you should resort to this treatment in your own case. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. Give up prejudice and try it.

John H. Deremer, 7 years old, shot and killed George Clinton Billmyer, aged 16 years, while reloading a revolver at Narrows Park, near Cumberland. The dead boy was the only support of his mother, his father having been killed by a train not far from the scene of the day's tragedy. Deremer was discharged, "as it was shown that the shooting was purely accidental."

Dr. Oliver L. Fassig, Director of the Maryland and Delaware Section of the Weather Bureau service will visit Salisbury at an early date, having in view the establishment of a voluntary meteorological station here.

One of the results will be to have reliable and official records of the daily maximum and minimum temperatures. Also a record of the rain fall in this section, together with a full barometrical record.

Crop reports will be issued and the station should become most valuable to Wicomico countians.

The Demand and Supply.

The Wilmington Evening commenting upon the scarcity of harvest hands in the west, says:

It is estimated that fully 50,000 men are needed to harvest the prolific grain crops of the West, while more than 50,000 able-bodied tramps are roaming over the country, begging and stealing for a living and refusing all offers to make honest money by honest work. If the demand for 50,000 wheat harvesters meant a lack of so many men, it would be a national misfortune. That the demand should be permitted to exist while the men able to fill it are walking around in idleness is a national shame and reproach. The remedy is a system of forced labor, on the public roads, mainly, for every tramp in the country. Such a system would doubtless drive them to working for pay.

GOVERNOR'S DAY.

A Tremendous Crowd at Queenstown on Wednesday—The First Regiment Creates a Most Favorable Impression—Governors of Maryland and Delaware Meet.

The Maryland National Guard, which has been in encampment at Queenstown for the past week began its sojourn at this charming spot under anything but auspicious conditions. Rain was falling in torrents when the seven hundred soldiers arrived, and the youthful soldiers first impressions of "Camp Life" were extremely dismal.

On Monday, however, the rain ceased and things began to have a different aspect. Sunshine brought back the vanished cheer and since the first day "Camp Smith" has presented a most inspiring picture.

Pally ten thousand people visited the encampment Wednesday. It being "Governor's Day," the people were expected, and the Queen Anne's Railroad Company had made ample preparations for handling the crowds and the soldiers gave the warmest kind of hospitality to their friends.

The Queen Anne's Railroad ran special excursions from all points along its line, and the Chester River Steamboat Company also ran excursions from Baltimore both morning and afternoon.

Governor Smith and staff did not arrive at the camp until the afternoon. They went to Queenstown on the State oyster boat. A great deal of interest was manifested in the Governor's visit, as he saw the troops in camp for the first time. He also paid his initial visit to the Naval Reserves aboard the Dale and Sylvia. While on the Dale the Governor distributed the five year service medals to the officers and men in command. This inaugurated the practice, and hereafter service medals will be distributed annually.

Governor Smith was given a salute of 17 guns by the crew of the Sylvia.

The Governor did not review the troops until 6.30 o'clock. General Riggs decided to have it take place at that time in order to give Baltimoreans, who came to Queenstown on the afternoon boat, an opportunity of witnessing it.

After the review, which passed off with clockwork regularity, Maryland's Governor said: "I am proud of the National Guard of Maryland. It is an honor to the State."

"They all did so well," said one of the reviewing party, "it would be almost impossible to decide who did the better."

The members of the First Regiment surprised many, as they marched like veterans, though many of the men have been in the service but a few weeks.

When the Governors of Maryland and Delaware met, they exchanged courtesies as follows: "I am glad to welcome such a distinguished guest to our State," said Governor Smith.

"We are always glad to come to Maryland," replied Governor Hunn.

By this time the gathering of about 15,000 people present closed in on the two Governors, who retired to the dining room, where the question was asked: "What was it that the Governor of South Carolina said to the Governor of North Carolina?" The proper answer was forthcoming.

A large number of Maryland's and Delaware's most prominent citizens were in attendance on this "big day" of the camp.

The encampment will break this (Saturday) afternoon, in time for all of the companies to reach their respective homes this evening or Sunday morning.

OCEAN CITY NEWS.

The Season is a Very Backward One—Pharmaceutical Meeting this Week—Golf and Country Club Organized.

The season at Ocean City is one of the most backward in recent years. As yet few are at the various hotels for the summer, but gradually more and more are arriving, and by the first of August all anticipate a goodly crowd. This week the Plimhimmon has been crowded by members of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association who are attending the nineteenth annual convention of that body.

The past week has been made quite gay around that popular hostelry and all the visiting druggists seemed much pleased with their stay at Ocean City. The following officers have been elected for the coming year: President, Louis Schulze of Baltimore; first vice-president, J. Webb Foster, Baltimore; second vice-president, Eli H. Reynolds, Rising Sun; third vice-president, Otto G. Schurmann, Baltimore; secretary, Owen C. Smith, Baltimore; treasurer, John G. Beck, Baltimore; executive committee, William C. Powell, Snow Hill; H. Lionel Meridith, Hagerstown; Wm. E. Brown, Baltimore.

Among the Salisburians in attendance were Dr. L. D. Collier, Dr. Chas. R. Truitt and Dr. E. Riall White.

The Ocean City Golf and Country Club was incorporated this week. The following officers have been chosen: President, Geo. M. Upshur; vice president, Chas. Webb of J.; secretary and treasurer, H. E. Waggaman, board of governors, H. A. Godfrey, I. H. Purnell, J. F. Waggaman, Showell Meyers, and J. Edgar Ijams.

A general invitation has been extended to visitors to visit the links which are across the Sinepuxent next Saturday and participate in the 5 o'clock tea on the green.

Little is doing in the social world of Ocean City. Dances are held nightly at the Plimhimmon and Atlantic Hotels and every Saturday night a german is given in the Plimhimmon Casino.

A New Council Fire.

B. Frank Kennerly, Great Sachem of Md., and Henry A. Anthony, Great Chief of Records, instituted Shawmut Tribe No. 133, with 88 members at Chesapeake City last Tuesday night, July 16th. The degree team of Watchman Tribe of Red Men at Elkton conferred the degrees.

After the Tribe was instituted about 75 members and visitors repaired to the Banquet Hall, where a magnificent supper and refreshments were served by the local organizations. Among the prominent visitors who assisted the Great Chiefs in instituting the Tribe were:

P. G. S. M. F. Magraw. Hon. S. J. Keys (ex member of the Maryland Legislature) both of Elkton.

The officers of the new Tribe are: Wm. T. Harriott—Prophet. Jones Johnson—Sachem. John Mitz—Sr. Sagamore. Wm. Giles—Jr. Sagamore. Albert Buswanger—Chief of Records.

The Fruit Crop.

"U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday, July 16th, says:

The initial shipments of the early peach crop have begun from Washington, Calvert and Kent counties, representing no measurable part of the coming crop, however; the fruit that has been picked is reported rather inferior in quality. The peach crop will be light in Allegany and parts of Caroline, but fair to good yields are expected from Washington, Prince George's, Kent, Queen Anne's and Dorchester counties, and in many parts of Delaware. Apples are a short crop in nearly all districts; early apples are ripening in Washington, Frederick and Anne Arundel. Pears are in fair promise in parts of Prince George's and Harford, but elsewhere they are generally short and inferior in quality.

Largest Grapevine.

North Carolina can boast of the largest grapevine in the world. It is on the farm of B. F. Meekins, Roanoke Island, not far from the site of Fort Raleigh and near the birthplace of Virginia Dare. It is claimed that the vine was planted by Sir Walter Raleigh's ill-fated colony in 1587. It is of the Souppernut variety, covers an acre of ground and yields about a ton of grapes annually.—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

Insurance Policy Paid.

Mr. G. Sellman Williams, special representative of the Wilmington Gen. Agency, Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, was in town on Monday and paid to Mr. James E. Ball the proceeds in full settlement of policy No. 284,878 on the 15 year Endowment Return Premium plan which matured on the 13th inst. Mr. Ball is pleased with the settlement, especially the prompt attention shown him by the Company's representative.

Mr. Ball has written the following letter to Mr. Herbert N. Fell, the General Agent of the Mutual Life:

DEAR SIR:—Will you please accept thanks for check in settlement of my policy No. 284,878 on a fifteen year End. return premium plan, which matured on the 13th inst. and handed me to-day by your special representative, Mr. G. Sellman Williams. The very day of maturity I received advice that check was on its way here; which prompt method of business compels me to recommend the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York in every point. My policy was settled satisfactorily in every way, and I wish the Company and its representatives abundant success. Very truly, JAS. E. BALL.

A Card to Brother Democrats.

As it was in the fall of 1899 my friends in Nutters "The Gibraltar of Democracy" in Wicomico County endorsed me as a Candidate for County Commissioner, but there being other Candidates my superior in age I declined to have my name used at the primaries, knowing as I did the responsibility that would follow my election. I ignorantly withdrew and supported the ticket straight. And as such is the case this year I follow the same policy that I adopted in 1899, as I had much rather be a Democrat than to be a County Commissioner. Thanking my friends for the interest that has been manifested for me I again withdraw my name from the contest and pledge the ticket my hearty support.

Scarlet Clover Kills Horses.

A horse belonging to Mr. D. S. Wrote of this town and one which was the property of Mr. Barton Williams, who resides out the Spring Hill road, died recently as a result of eating scarlet clover.

Dr. Weiderhall, the veterinarian, made a post mortem examination and found large balls of the fuzz from the scarlet clover in the large intestines of the dead horse.

Scarlet clover cut when in early bloom has none of this substance on it and if well cured in that condition makes a safe and nourishing provender, but if allowed to grow until the heads are forming seeds the fuzz is present in large quantities and in a horse's stomach is as indigestible as a piece of felt. The stomach of the horse, in its vain effort to digest the substance, by its peristaltic action collects the fuzz into balls ranging in size from a hen egg to a baseball which finally pass into the large intestines where, being too large to pass on through the small intestines, they obstruct and choke up the bowels and death ensues.

A peculiar accident happened to the horse of Mr. Thos. Disharoon last Saturday afternoon. The animal was being driven to a buggy up Main Street. On the rise of the hill opposite Twilley & Hearn's barber shop the breast strap caught the horse across the windpipe and in his struggles to get his breath he ruptured the left lobe of his lung. The noise the poor creature made in his struggle for breath attracted people some distance away. The animal was taken from the vehicle and an attempt made to get him to the stable, but at Ulman's Store he fell and it was late in the evening before he would attempt to walk. Dr. Weiderhall took the case in hand and has succeeded in restoring the animal to his normal condition.

OYSTER PLANTING.

Bold Declaration by the Democrats of Somerset County.

Crisfield, Md., July 17.—The Democratic party of Somerset county has inserted an oyster-planting plank in its platform and will make this one of the principal issues during the campaign. In previous campaigns the Democrats have been accused of being oyster planters, and this year they intend to force this question to the front and test the sentiment of the county in regard to this vital measure. The oyster beds and bars in this section have been depleted and can only be replenished by enforcing the Cull law and by a judicious system of planting. In Pocomoke sound there is a piece of bottom extending from Watkins Point to Marumsco bar from which not $1,000 worth of oysters has been taken during the past 10 years. This oyster ground is six miles in length and one mile in width, and upon it a sufficient number of oysters could be grown to give employment to all the people of Crisfield. Tangier sound has a vast acreage, and the taxes which would accrue to the State from a lease of the bottoms would amount to at least $100,000.

The Democrats are in favor of a moderate planting, one which could not conflict with any other interest. It is the general opinion that the failure of the present planting system of Maryland is due to the fact that the natural beds and bars have never been well defined by a general survey. Planting was also a failure in Virginia, Rhode Island, Connecticut and other States until general surveys had been made. As soon as a man stakes out an oyster lot many oystermen are ready to swear at once that he has appropriated a natural bar and that they could make a living by tonging upon it at the present time. As a result the planter is compelled to vacate. No man will today invest any money in planting, when a law allows a few men to dispossess him of his property. A commission composed of oystermen must be appointed to locate the natural beds and bars and then the remainder, excluding, of course, the crabbing grounds, can be used by planters. Virginia is far ahead of Maryland in its solution of the oyster question, and all the arguments of anti-planters can best be answered by a general survey of the prosperous condition of the oyster business there.

POLITICS IN WICOMICO FROM "WAY BACK THERE."

G. R. C. Starts a Series of Letters on Politics in Wicomico "Long Ago."

Baltimore, July 18th., 1901.

MESSES. EDITORS: Through the columns of your paper let me congratulate Judge Holland on his renomination. Now it is not fulsome praise I would bestow on the learned disciple of the law, but it comes from the heart. It is just as spontaneous from your humble correspondent as was the unanimous nomination. Let me see! there were three candidates at first. One was Mr. Robley Jones, of Snow Hill; the other, Mr. James E. Ellegood, and the last the present incumbent and nominee.

Now, I do not know Mr. Jones personally, but have heard him speak from the rostrum, and I was then convinced that he was the man the suffragists of this district could tie to with confidence. He has not the oratory of a Kilgour, nor the dissertative qualities of a Poe, but he is masterfully convincing, and his arguments are indisputable. Some day he will be honored with some important office, as there is that magnetic something about the man that attaches his kind to him.

But I do know Mr. Ellegood. Whole-souled and honorable Jimmie! An astute lawyer, a warm friend, uncompromising in his ideas of right and justice, he would have graced the ermine had its mantle fallen upon his shoulders. But a better fate awaits him. I do not take any stock in the stories told about him running as an independent candidate. His Democracy is too Gibraltar-like for that. I am assured that rich honors are in store for him from the party he has served so faithfully and so well for all these many years.

Now to our Judge Holland—the Eastern Shore's adopted son—a Blue Hen's chicken. It is true, as E. Stanley Toadvin put it, that this judicial circuit has had a Goldsborough, Wilson, Stewart, et al., on the bench, but I might go a step further and say that Judge Holland is the peer of his predecessors and of those who occupy the bench with him. There is that something about the jurist that I admire—what it is I do not know. Despite his naturally grave face and his dignity, I have noticed in years gone by a merry twinkle in his eyes, as if there was hidden back of it what Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the poetess, would call "tuneful laughter." Anyhow his Democracy has never been questioned, and to me that is worth a century of "tuneful twinkles" when I cast my vote. He deserved a renomination, and if I was living in his district I would shout my self into lung fever for Holland and the rest of the ticket.

I remember very distinctly when Judge Holland came to Salisbury, and my memory is equally vivid as to the partnership formed between him and the late lamented George W. M. Cooper. The Judge then was a rather large man, not portly, but muscular and heavy set. The firm occupied a little building as an office which was on a rise of ground just east of where Simon and Isaac Utman have their business place. It was not a pretentious looking structure by any means, but it was here Mr. Cooper entered upon his labors as a lawyer after having retired from teaching in a public school. The "Oaks," the home of Gov. Jackson, was then a beautiful grove of trees, and a popular place for a stroll with the belles and beaux. In those days croquet was a fad, and the fever struck even the dusky denizens living on the street near the depot, for they were often seen playing it. To make a long story short, the Judge with a number of others laid out grounds for the game in the "Oaks," I assisted in placing the wickets, etc., and became as a boy an ardent admirer of the mallets and balls. The Judge developed into an expert player and would often reach the goal before the others were half round. He was a plain, unassuming man then, one of few words, and always had that twinkle in his eyes. At this day (for I am writing of about a quarter of a century ago) I would compare his style and bearing then to that of Lincoln. Though he was not as ungainly in stature, yet his clothes never seemed to fit him or else he was careless of his appearance; probably, and very sensibly, believing that clothes counted for naught when merit was to be considered. Judge Holland was never an egotist, nor did he ever thrust himself before the people to the detriment of any one else.

Years ago there was a series of articles published in the old "Eastern Shoreman," called "Chronicles," which were supposed to be from his pen. They were witty, brilliant, caustic and played upon the shortcomings, weaknesses and foibles of the smart set of that day. I know they did not emanate from him, nor were they the children of his brain.

For many years I have watched his career with pride, and now that he has been nominated to succeed himself I would like to see the entire white vote of the district cast for him. His election is assured, but let his county's majority be like one of the old-time affairs when Wicomico was the banner county—at least 1,500 majority.

This is the first of a series of letters to your paper on "Politics in Wicomico County from Way Back There."

GEO. R. COOPER.

The Bird On The Hat.

Volumes have been written on the subject of the bird on the hat, and it is sometimes asserted that in spite of it all, this decoration is more worn than ever. But this may be doubted. At any rate, any woman who has chosen, and great many do choose—to wear a hat adorned with the defunct body of a bird, can do so nowadays without appearing either singular or ill-dressed.

The hope of the Audubon Society and of various other organizations for the protection of birds, is that the time may come when a hat trimmed with plumage will be as curious an object as the feather crown of an Ashanti chief. One thing is certain, if fashion ever does take a decided turn in this direction it is unlikely that the old barbarous custom will ever come back. It is so essentially ugly and unpleasant in its suggestiveness that it need only go out of style for a few years to be abhorred in its true light. But there are people who, if gloves and belts made of tanned human skin from the dissecting room happened to be the fashion, would wear them without more compunction than an Iroquois warrior felt in putting on his necklaces of cut off human fingers.

The custom of decorating women's hats with the plumage of birds is probably as old as headgear itself, and may have arisen in part from the notion common to many savage tribes that the qualities of an animal slain become the property of the slayer. Moreover, before the invention of velvets, gauze and lace, the feathers of birds were among the most beautiful things available for the adornment of the human head. Tradition is partly responsible for the persistence of the custom in these later days.

But there is no thing perky in its later developments, however appropriate the wings or body of a bird might have seemed to the head of the hunter's wife. The modern hat is constructed to fit the modern face, and there is no beauty in the juxtaposition of a fair, intelligent, essentially civilized countenance and the body of a blackbird with its neck in a suggestive twist. It hints at ugly possibilities existing underneath the charm and grace of the wearer. As for the face which is not charming, or intelligent, or kind, the bodies of two or three hummingbirds or the head of an owl, speared with a hatpin and surrounded with bows of ribbon, lend to such a visage an aspect positively sinister.

It would be unjust, of course, to assume that there is real cruelty under all this passive obedience to the dictates of fashion. But since hats and bonnets quite as becoming and pretty can be evolved without the bird decoration as can be devised with it, it does seem that women of sense and feeling might be content without shocking the sensibilities of the Audubon Society and outraging the fitness of head. There was much a use in the retort of the little boy who, when reproved by his pretty Sunday School teacher for robbing bird's nests, and asked, in pathetic tones, where the poor mother was, replied, "She ain't sufferin' none, miss—she's on yer hat." There is no excuse of ignorance to be pleaded. The public has been told over and over again that wearing ospreys means the death of multitudes of helpless little birds, since the feathers are best at the breeding season and the parent bird must be shot then. The fact that birds of particularly fine plumage are often skinned alive has also been made known; and the silence of woodlands and meadows, where the milliner's agent has been, speaks for itself. It is about time this senseless and cruel fashion should go the way of nose rings and war paint.

MARRIAGE OF COL. HODSON.

Weds a Daughter Of The Old North State.

The Daily Journal of Winston Salem (N. C.) Wednesday of last week, gave the following account of the marriage of Col. Clarence Hodson:

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at 9.30 o'clock this morning (July 10) when Miss Lilly M. Brown of Winston became the bride of Col. Clarence Hodson of Baltimore.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. R. E. Caldwell, Pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Robt. Norfleet, at 505 West Fifth street. There were present at the marriage only relatives of the bride.

Col. and Mrs. Hodson left on the 10.30 a. m. train for Washington. They will go from there for a bridal trip north, after which they will return to Baltimore and spend the summer at the Springs near that city. Their future home will be in Baltimore.

The bride is the daughter of the late Rufus D. Brown founder of the Brown Bros. tobacco works. She is a beautiful and accomplished young lady and a favorite in society. It will be a regret to her large circle of friends here that her home will be with them no longer. Colonel Hodson is a cultured and polished gentleman. He is a private banker and professional man, and has a large circle of friends and acquaintances. It will be noted that Mr. Rufus D. Brown, Jr., married Col. Hodson's sister some years ago.

Bringing up More Shoes

To Take the Place of those Sold Last Week.

Last Saturday was a red letter day at our store. Never before in the history of our business did we have such a day. At closing time it looked as if a cyclone had struck our store and blown one-half of our stock away. At times it looked like our entire stock would be sold before the day was done, and that everybody for miles around was trying to buy a new pair of shoes, and that our store was the only place they could get them. Of course they COULD get shoes elsewhere, but not such GOOD, DEPENDABLE SHOES as we sell, at such moderate prices. People hereabouts have learned where to buy the best in footwear—where to find style, quality, variety and economy. We have been buying all the week filling in our broken sizes, getting in the newest novelties, making ready for those who have not yet been served, as we expect to continue to lead all others in the shoe business. This is our exclusive business. We have nothing else to sell you. All our time and energies are devoted to this one line—buying and selling shoes, and it is our determination to rank first. You expect better goods from an exclusive dealer. We are compelled to show better styles, more variety and give better prices. We can easily do this by having but one line to look after, and giving this one constant and undivided attention. All our goods this season are specialties made to our order and sold exclusively by us. In our Women's Department we quote you a few of our many styles and prices and court comparison with other goods offered at same price:

Woman's Dongola Tip, Oxford, all sizes,	$ 50
" " C. S. " "	60
Woman's Dongola Tip, Good Dress Oxford,	$ 75
" " Button and Lace Shoes,	1.00

This woman's $1 shoe is worth looking after. We are willing to put it up against any $1.25 in Salisbury. Our woman's $1.25 shoe is another leader in its class, all solid and warranted to wear. For $1.50 we can give you a woman's shoe or oxford that will be a revelation to those who have not seen them—built for service, full of style and those who have not seen them—built for service, full of style and grace. In our woman's fine shoe department we are showing all the latest lasts and leathers. Patent leathers take the lead this season and in these we are beyond competition. It's another Walkover which, by the way, is the name of our leading shoe for men and one which should be seen by all lovers of high grade footwear made in all leathers and all up to date patterns. A shoe we are proud of and acknowledged to be the best of modern shoe creations. Sold exclusively by us and guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. We have many other makes ranging from $1.00 to $8.00 all of which we guarantee to be better than can be purchased elsewhere at same price.

Our Men's and Children's department receives the same careful attention. All that is new, all that is best, will be found here. Be sure to call on us for shoes.

On the recommendation of Congressman Jackson Mr. Wm. Wirt Leonard, formerly of the Courier, left Salisbury Sunday evening for Baltimore to accept the position of Deputy Internal Revenue Collector under Mr. Parlett. The position carries with it a salary of $1,500. Mr. Leonard is a cultured young gentleman, and was one of the cleverest writers of the small coterie of young men who constitute the local newspaper fraternity of Salisbury. The profession, however, will not altogether lose his services; indeed he is just entering a broader field, as we understand it to be his intention to devote leisure hours to special newspaper and magazine work.

FROM WORCESTER.

The nomination of Judge Holland, at Ocean City, to succeed himself has met with general approval and endorsement all over the District, and in November a large majority over opponents will register the wisdom of the Democratic Convention in its choice.

Although Worcester had a popular candidate and favorite son in the person of Mr. Robley D. Jones for Judgeship honors he gracefully withdrew in acknowledgment of Holland's claims to the nomination. —Berlin Herald.

THE COST OF WAR.

We see by speech of John Morley to his constituents in Scotland on June 5th that the South African war has added to the English national debt the payment of interest on about two thousand and three hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

The cost to the United States in subduing the Philippines was about six hundred millions of dollars. About forty one thousand applications for life pensions have already resulted from our Cuban and Philippine wars.

Some day the expansionists will awaken to the fact that the owning of foreign territory is not all profit.

HANDY FOR DANFORTH.

Former Congressman L. Irving Handy, of Delaware, well known to Salisburyans, in discussing the future of the Democratic party and the nomination of 1904 says:

"The Democratic party proposes to get together in a patriotic attempt to overthrow McKinleyism. The issue before the people, is not what Mr. Bryan has thought and said, but what McKinley's administration has done and proposes to do. All who are opposed to the general trend of the present administration of our national affairs may properly unite under the banner of the Democratic party. As standard-bearer I would suggest some such man as Elliott Danforth of New York, a man of high and conservative character, one who could probably carry New York State, and at the same time be heartily supported by Mr. Bryan's most ardent following in every section of the country."

stration of our national affairs may properly unite under the banner of the Democratic party. As standard-bearer I would suggest some such man as Elliott Danforth of New York, a man of high and conservative character, one who could probably carry New York State, and at the same time be heartily supported by Mr. Bryan's most ardent following in every section of the country."

THE GREAT WESTERN DROUGHT.

With a saturated atmosphere and about all the rainfall necessary for growing crops and indeed enough in some sections to prevent harvesting wheat and similar grain, it is not easy for people on the peninsula to realize how severe is the suffering and the injury to crops from drouth in the great west and northwest.

In Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska the Dakotas and the northwest states a burning sun and parching wind have for weeks prevailed. The wheat crop is seriously injured, much of it along the railroads, after being shriveled by the weather has caught fire from sparks from passing locomotives and burned. The reports state that corn in many instances is ruined.

In the churches and public meeting places heaven has been invoked for relief. The latest accounts are to the effect that local showers have brought temporary relief and encouragement to many of the drouth blighted sections. A small rain at Wichita, Kansas, was greeted with great joy. Brass bands were played, the people marched singing hymns of praise through the streets. In addition to the drouth the temperature has been such as to make Maryland appear as a summer resort by comparison.

MR. TOWNE'S OPINION.

Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota, the leader of the Silver Republicans who gave the West to Mr. Bryan in 1896 and a candidate for the nomination of vice president with Mr. Bryan in 1900, a few days ago said "Free silver as an issue is absolutely dead in the West. I do not believe it will be mentioned in the Democratic platform or campaign of 1904. The feeling among the Democrats in the West is that they want to win, and do not care a rap what kind of a platform they have as long as it brings victory."

Mr. Towne further says: "I believe that the platform adopted by the next Democratic National Convention will be reactionary."

"I expect to see David B. Hill nominated for President, and I would not be at all surprised if Mr. Bryan should lead a faction composed of the elements which still uphold the principles of the Chicago and Kansas City platforms. There is a strong feeling in the West in favor of the nomination of Mr. Hill, or some other man from the East. The Democrats there are tired of defeat, and the drift is toward the adoption of a platform which will ignore the issues of the last two Presidential campaigns."

"We were misunderstood in our attitude toward free silver in 1896 and 1900. What we wanted was more money in circulation, so that prices might be kept up. We were not fighting for a market for the product of the silver mines at higher prices for silver. There has been an enormous increase in the supply of gold and there is more money in the country today than there would have been had the stock of gold remained stationary and had the mints been opened to free silver coinage."

"While the supply of gold continues to increase as it has been increasing lately there can be no serious or successful demand for free silver."

Mr. Towne left the republican party because, he said he believed nothing could save the country from destruction in its hands. The reason which he gave for this belief would fill a small library. He urged his arguments with an eloquence which won for him the title of "the silver-tongued."

Mr. Towne has mixed business with politics during the last few years and is now rated a millionaire.

"SOMERSET APPROVES."

It is a matter of congratulation to the First Judicial Circuit that Judge Charles F. Holland has been renominated for the Associate Judgeship by the Democratic Judicial Convention. It is complimentary too to Judge Holland that his nomination was unanimous.

This is as it should be. Experience is one of the most valuable adjuncts to judicial qualification. Judge Holland has been upon the bench for many years and his legal ability, fortified by more than an ordinary measure of every day business aptitude, justifies the opinion that he will be re-elected by a handsome majority.

It is not yet determined who will be Judge Holland's opponent on the Republican ticket. The names of Robert P. Graham, Esq., of Wicomico; Adial P. Barnes, Esq., of Worcester, and Gordon Tull, Esq., of Somerset, are mentioned. It is reported that Mr. Graham does not care to enter the contest. In spite of this unwillingness many are of the opinion that his nomination will be insisted upon, though Mr. Tull's friends adhere to the belief that he will be the nominee, and Mr. Barnes is reported to be in the fight from start to finish. Be this as it may, we do not believe that the people of this circuit are ready to retire Judge Holland; on the contrary, public sentiment seems to favor a continued recognition of his faithfulness and merit.

In the matter of the judgeship there are many elements that do not enter into the ordinary arena of politics. A judge retires from his active practice to go upon the bench and devotes the best years of his life to his judicial functions. It is not easy in case of retirement to recover his vantage ground in his profession. In addition to this, his increasing experience and familiarity with legal precedents add to his value as one of the principal court officials. Young men still have their future before them and premature elevation might prove a real injustice to them in stead of a service.

In the re-nomination of Judge Holland the Democrats have done wisely and we tender him our hearty congratulations and best wishes for his election. —Marylander & Herald.

Governor Smith wired Senator Brewington this (Friday) afternoon that he had appointed Mr. Levin T. At a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners last Tuesday the Board gave instructions that the landmen of the late Levi D. Gordy, tax collector would be required to settle arrearages within the next two weeks, and that their property would be advertised should they fail to comply. John W. Traut was appointed collector of taxes in 5th collection district vice B. D. Farlow, who declined the office. A pension of $1.50 was granted Benjamin Mills, order to G. Marion Messick. The Board will meet again next Tuesday.

Rheumatism

What is the use of telling the rheumatic that he feels as if his joints were being dislocated?

He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack. What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

That, according to thousands of grateful testimonials, is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Another cool part is the wear. How "hot" you become if you have to repair them. You indeed say blessed words about the clothes you bought from and invoke a blessing upon your own head if you ever buy from him again.

Talmage Sermon

WASHINGTON, July 14.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows the causes of the great financial disturbances which take place every few years and arraigns the people who live beyond their means; text, Jeremiah xvii, 11, "As the partridge sitteth on eggs and hatcheth them not, so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days and at his end shall be a fool."

Allusion is here made to a well known fact in natural history. If a partridge or a quail or a robin broods the eggs of another species, the young will not stay with the one that happened to brood them, but at the first opportunity will assert with their own species. Those of us who have been brought up in the country have seen the dismay of the farmyard hen, having brooded aquatic fowls, when after awhile they tumble into their natural element, the water. So my text suggests that a man may gather under his wings the property of others, but it will not stay with him. It will leave the man in a sorry predicament and make him feel very silly.

What has caused all the black days of financial disasters for the last 60 years? Some say it is the credit system. Something back of that. Some say it is the spirit of gambling ever and anon becoming epidemic. Something back of that. Some say it is the sudden shrinkage in the value of securities, which even the most honest and intelligent men could not see. Something back of that. I will give you the prime cause of all these disturbances. It is the extravagance of modern society which impels a man to spend more money than he can honestly make, and he goes into wild speculation in order to get the means for inordinate display, and sometimes the man is to blame and sometimes his wife and oftener both. Five thousand dollars income, $10,000, $20,000 income, is not enough for a man to keep up the style of living he proposes, and therefore he steals his bank to keep up the style. Other men have suddenly snatched up $50,000 or $100,000. Why not? The present income of the man not being large enough, he must more earth and hell to catch up with his neighbors. Others have a country seat; so must he. Others have an extravagant caterer; so must he. Others have a palatial residence; so must he.

Extravagance is the cause of all the financial disasters of the last 60 years, and if you will go back the history of all the great panics and the great financial disturbances, no sooner have you found the story than right back of it you will find the story of how many houses the man had, how many residences in the country the man had, how many banquets the man gave—always, and not one exception for the last 60 years, either directly or indirectly extravagance the cause.

The Refinement of Life.
Now for the elegance and the refinement and the decorations of life. I cast my vote. While I am considering this subject a basket of flowers is handed in. Flowers, paradisaical in their beauty. White calla with a green background of begonia. A cluster of bellflowers nestling in some geranium. Spal and perianth bearing on them the marks of God's finger. When I see that basket of flowers, they persuade me that God loves beauty and adornment and decoration. God might have made the earth so as to supply the gross demands of sense, but left it without adornment or attraction. Instead of the variegated colors of the seasons the earth might have worn an unchanging dull brown. The trees might have put forth its fruit without the prophecy of leaf or blossom. Niagara might have come down in gradual descent without thunder and winged spray.

Look out of your window any morning after there has been a dew and see whether God loves jewels. Put a crystal of snow under a microscope and see what God thinks of architecture. God commanded the priest of olden time to have his robe adorned with a wreath of gold and the hem of his garment to be embroidered in pomegranates. The earth sleeps, and God blankets it with the brilliant of the night sky. The world wakes, and God washes it from the burnished laver of the sunrise. So I have not much patience with a man who talks as though decoration and adornment and the elegance of life are a sin when they are divinely recommended. But there is a line to be drawn between adornment and decorations that we can afford and those we cannot afford, and when a man crosses that line he becomes culpable. I cannot tell you what is extravagant for you. You cannot tell me what is extravagant for me. What is right for a queen may be squandering for a duchess. What may be economical for you, a man with larger income, will be wicked waste for me, with smaller income. There is no iron rule on this subject. Every man before God and on his knees must judge what is extravagance, and when a man goes into expenditures beyond his means he is extravagant. When a man buys anything he cannot pay for, he is extravagant.

There are families in all our cities who care hardly pay their rent and who owe the merchants in the neighborhood and yet have an apparent unit for their circumstances and are all the time selling so near shore that business misfortune or an attack of sickness prepares them for pauperism. You know very well there are thousands of families in our great cities who stay in neighborhoods until they have exhausted all their capacity to get on. They stay in the neighborhood until the grocers come and give them the best rounds of beef and the best sugars and the best merchandise of all sorts and all they find out that they only compensation they are going to get is the acquaintance of the poor man. There are thousands of such families in all our cities. You see I tell them by the right name, for if a man buys anything he does not mean to pay for he is a thief.

Meeting One's Obligations.
Of course sometimes men are living of misfortunes and they cannot pay. I know men who are just as honest in having failed as other men are honest in succeeding. I suppose there is hardly a man who has gone through life but there have been some times when he has been so hurt of misfortune he could not meet his obligations, but all that I put aside. There are a multitude of people who buy that which they never intend to pay for, for which there is no reasonable expectation they will ever be able to pay. Now, if you have become obnoxious of honesty and mean to defraud, why not save the merchant as much as you can? Why not go some day to his store and when nobody is looking just shoulder the ham or the sparerib and in modest silence steal away? That would be less criminal, because in the other way you take not only the man's goods, but you take the time of the merchant and the time of his accountant, and you take the time of the messenger who brought you the goods. Now, if you must steal, steal in a way to do as little damage to the trader as possible.

John Randolph arose in the American senate when a question of national finance was being discussed, and stretching himself to his full height, in a shrill voice he cried out, "Mr. Chairman, I have discovered the philosopher's stone, which turns everything into gold—pay as you go!" Society has got to be reconstructed on this subject or the seasons of default will continue to repeat themselves. You have no right to ride in a carriage for which you are hopelessly in debt to the wheelwright who furnished the landau, and to the horse dealer who provided the blooded span, and to the harness maker who caparisoned the gay steeds, and to the liverman who has provided the stabling, and to the driver who, with rosetted hat, sits on the coach box.

Oh, I am so glad it is not the absolute necessities of life which send people out here and there and find them in such fortunes. It is almost always the superfluities. God has promised us a house, but not a palace; raiment, but not chinchilla; food, but not canvasback duck. I am yet to see one of these great defalcations which is not connected in some way with extravagance.

Extravagance accounts for the disturbance of national finances. Aggregations are made up of units, and when one of the people of this country owes the other half hour we can expect financial prosperity? Again and again at the national election we have had a spasm of virtue, and we said, "Out with one administration and in with another and let us have a new deal of things and then we will get all over our perturbation." I do not care who is president or who is secretary of the treasury or how much breadstuffs go out of the country or how much gold is imported, until we learn to pay our debts and it becomes a general theory in this country that men must buy more than they can pay for. Until that time comes there will be no permanent prosperity. Look at the pernicious extravagance. Take the one fact that New York every year pays $3,000,000 for theatrical amusements. While once in awhile a Henry Irving or an Edwin Booth or a Joseph Jefferson thrills a great audience with tragedy, you know as well as I do that the vast majority of the theaters are as debased as debased they can be, as unclean as unclean they can be, and as damnable as damnable they can be. Three million dollars, the vast majority of those dollars going in the wrong direction.

Harmful and Unnecessary Expense.
Over a hundred millions paid in this country for cigars and tobacco a year. About $2,000,000,000 paid for strong drink in one year in this country. With such extravagance, pernicious extravagance, can there be any permanent prosperity? Business men, cool headed business men, is such a thing a possibility? These extravagances also account, as I have already hinted, for the positive crimes, the forgeries, the abscondings of the officers of the banks. The stone on the business street swamped by the residence on the fashionable avenue. The father's, the husband's craft capslid by carrying too much domestic sail. That is what springs the leak in the merchant's money till. That is what cracks the pistons of the suicides. That is what tears down the banks. That is what stops insurance companies. That is what halts this nation again and again in its triumphant march of prosperity. In the presence of the American people so far as I can get their attention I want to arraign this monster curse of extravagance, and I want you to put it with your scorn and hurl it at your anathemas.

How many fortunes every year wrecked on the wardrobe. Things have got to such a pass that when we cry over our sins in church we wipe the tears away with a $150 pocket handkerchief. I saw you a domestic tragedy, in five acts: a man, a woman, a home, a plain and beautiful. Enter newly married pair. Enter contentment. Enter as much happiness as ever gets in one home.

Act the second—Enter discontent. Enter desire for larger expenditure. Enter envy. Enter jealousy.

Act the third—Enter the queenly dressmakers. Enter the French milliners. Enter all costly plate and all great extravagances.

Act the fourth—Tiptop of society. Princes and princesses of upper peadom seating in and out. Everything on a large and magnificent scale. Enter contempt for other people.

Act the fifth and last—Enter the assignees. Enter the sheriff. Enter the creditors. Enter humiliation. Enter the wrath of God. Enter the contempt of society. Enter ruin and death. Now drop the curtain. The play is ended, and the lights are out.

I called it a tragedy. That is a misnomer. It is a farce.

Extravagance counts for much of the pauperism. Who are these people whom you have to help? Many of them are the children of parents who had plenty, lived in luxury, had more than they needed, spent all they had, spent more, too; then died and left their families in poverty. Some of those who call on you now for aid had an ancestry that sipped on burgundy and woodcock. I could name a score of men who have every luxury. They smoke the best cigars, and they drink the finest wines, and they have the grandest surroundings, and when they die their families will go on the old charity of the world. Now, the death of such a man is a grand farce. He spends the world as he goes into his coffin, and he deserves to have his bones sold to the medical museum for anatomical specimens, the proceeds to furnish bread for his children.

Providing For One's Own.
I know it cuts close. I did not know but some of you in high dudgeon would get up and go out. You stand it well. Some of you make a great swath in life, and after awhile you will die, and ministers will be sent for to come and stand by your coffin and lie about your excellences. But they will not come. If you send for me, I will tell you what my text will be: "He that provideth not for his own, and especially for those of his own household, is worse than an infidel." And yet we find Christian men, men of large means, who sometimes talk eloquently about the Christian church and about civilization, expending everything on themselves and nothing on the cause of God, and they crack the back of their Palms Royal glove in trying to hide the one cent they put in the Lord's treasury. What an appointment! Twenty thousand dollars for ourselves and one cent for God. Ah, my friends, this extravagance accounts for a great deal of what the cause of God suffers.

And the desecration goes on, even to the funeral day. You know very well that there are men who die solvent, but the expenses are so great before they get underground they are insolvent. There are families that go into penury in wicked response to the demands of this day. They put in casket and tombstone that which they ought to put in bread. They wanted bread; you gave them a tombstone.

One would think that the last two obligations people would be particular about would be to the physician and the undertaker. Because they are the last obligations those two professions are at most always cheated. They send for the doctor in great haste, and he must come day and night. They send for the undertaker amid the great solemnities, and often these two men are the very last to be met with compensation. Merchants sell goods, and the goods are not paid for. They take back the goods, I am told. But there is no relief in this case. The man spent all he had in luxuries and extravagance while he lived, and then he goes out of the world and has left nothing for his family, nothing for the obsequies, and as he goes out of the world he steals the doctor's pills and the undertaker's slippers. I was reading in a New York paper an account of the obsequies in a family of very moderate estate, and the aggregate was $3,000. A man in New York of moderate estate dies. He has lived in extreme luxury. He departs this life. The family, desirous of keeping up the magnificence, orders the following things: they were produced and never paid for to this day:

Casket, covered with Lyons velvet, silver moldings..... $500
Heavy plated handles..... 800
Solid silver plate, engraved in Roman letters..... 150
Ten linen scarfs..... 75
Floral decorations..... 250
Music and quartet choir at the house..... 40
Twenty carriages..... 120
Then 15 other important expenditures amounting to..... $300

Making an aggregate of..... $1,875

And all that to get one poor mortal to his last home and never paid for! Swindled his family! Swindled the world! He is swindling it now. It is one of the great curses of this day, the extravagance, the wicked extravagance, of the country.

God's Cause Imperiled.
And then look how the cause of God is imperiled. Men give so much money for their indulgences they have nothing for the cause of God and religion. Twenty-two million dollars expended in this country a year for religious purposes! But what are the twenty-two millions expended for religion compared with the hundred millions expended on cigars and tobacco and strong drink? Twenty millions of dollars spent for religion? So a man who had a fortune of $750,000, or what amounted to that, in London spent it all in indulgences, chiefly in gluttonies, and sent often and you for all the delicacies and often had a meal that would cost $100 or $200 for himself. Then he was reduced to a pauper, with which he bought a rare bird, had it cooked in best style, ate it, took two hours for digestion, walked out on Westminster bridge and jumped into the Thames on a large scale what men are doing on a small scale.

Oh, my friends, let us take our stand against the extravagances of society. Do not pay for things which are frivolous when you may lack the necessities. Do not put one month's wages or salary into a trinket, just one trinket. Keep your credit good by seldom asking for any. Pay! Do not starve a whole year to afford one Belshazzar's carnival. Do not buy a coat of many colors and then in six months be out at the elbows. Flourish not, as some people I have known, who took apartments at a fashionable hotel and had elegant drawing rooms attached and then vanished in the night, not even leaving their compliments for the landlady. I tell you, my friends, in the day of God's judgment we will not only have to give an account for the way we make our money, but for the way we spend it. We have got to leave all the things that surround us now.

Alas, if any of you in the dying hour felt like the dying actress who asked that the casket of jewels be brought to her and then turned over with her pale hand and said, "Alas, that I have to leave you so soon!" Better in that hour have one treasure of heaven than the bridal rousseau of a Marie Antoinette or to have been seated with Caligula in a banquet which cost thousands of dollars or to have been carried to our last resting place with senators and princes as pallbearers. They that consecrate their wealth, their time, their all, to God shall be held in everlasting remembrance, while I have the authority of this book for announcing that the name of the wicked shall rot.

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes: "For two years or more I have had rheumatism in my body and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM."

Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md. writes: "Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism or any symptoms since and I tell any man, or woman, who is suffering with rheumatism that NELATON'S REMEDY can be had."

Moses Titch of Easton, Md. writes: "NELATON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me of my rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure."

J. B. R. Parnell of Snow Hill, Md. endorses NELATON'S as follows: "I have used the NELATON REMEDY in all cases of rheumatism and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients of this combination are useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic disorder."

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets

There is an odd feature in the theology of the small Indian tribe of the Bella Coola, which inhabit British Columbia at about latitude 52. They believe that there are five worlds, one above the other, and the middle one is our own world, the earth. Above it are two heavens, and under it are two underworlds. In the upper heaven is the supreme deity, who is a woman, and she doesn't meddle much with the affairs in the second world below her. The zenith is the center of the lower heaven, and here is the house of the gods, in which live the sun and the rest of the deities.

Our own earth is believed to be an island swimming in the ocean. The first underworld from the earth is inhabited by ghosts who can return when they wish to heaven, from which place they may be sent down to our earth. If then they misbehave again, they are cast into the lower of the underworlds, and from this bottom no ghostly traveler returns.

The Bella Coola are sun worshippers, for Senex, the sun, the master of the house of gods, who also is called "the father" and "the sacred one," is the only deity to whom the tribe pray. Each family of the Bella Coola has its own traditions and its own form of the current traditions, so that in the mythology of the tribe there are countless contradictions. When any one not a member of a clan tries to tell a tradition which does not belong to his clan, it is like a white man trying to tell another's joke—he is considered as appropriating the property right which does not belong to him.

Hard Ducks to Kill.

The screaming walloon is a hard duck to kill. Its hide is very tough and is thickly covered with feathers and down. Besides the bird is a great diver, one of the kind that used to "dive at the flash" when hunted with the old arm that flashed when fired. It is of very little value for table use, being so tough. The only way to manage it at all is to skin it and parboil it in a big pot with plenty of water. The negroes make caps of walloon skins.

"They are great ducks for diving," says a well known Fred Avon river proger.

"They can dive quicker, go down deeper, remain under water longer and come up farther away than any other duck that frequents our waters. I remember once I succeeded in killing a walloon, and, being short of game for the table, I determined to cook my bird. I got a negro to skin it, giving him the hide for his trouble. After being cleaned we put it in a great pot full of water and under it kindled a hot fire. After awhile I wanted to see how the cooking of my duck progressed and lifted the top off the boiling pot, but there was so much steam escaping I could not see into the pot and struck a match over it. The blamed walloon, sir, dived at the flash of the match. It disappeared and has never been seen since."—Baltimore Sun.

A Lesson to Humorists.

One cannot safely assume to these days that there is any region in which such and such a Journal is not read. Recently a certain humorist needed a rest and went and stopped in a cottage in a remote village by the sea. His sitting room opened on the kitchen, where his landlady, a woman widely esteemed as a person of great acumen and a maker of phrases, was wont to receive the neighbors. He listened and got both laudatory and neighborly into some amusing sketches which were promptly published in a London magazine. A month or two went by. Then one afternoon he came back to the cottage to meet and cover before an indignant matron, who told him, among other things, that he had one hour in which to pack his traps and quit the village. She was not going to have an eavesdropper in her house, and she added a significant hint to the effect that the people of the village were of the same opinion and might be betrayed into an attempt to give a forcible demonstration of their views.—London Post.

Now They Are Married.

My Dog Josh.

We had had a houseful of company all last summer. One night our guests had all left us for a few days. My sister and myself were alone in our old house, with the servants quite remote from us in the L. of the house. Our room was on the ground floor, and very easy of access from the piazza and road, but we felt quite protected, having with us two small dogs, an electric bell connected with the man's room in the stable, and a good six-shooter. We were thankful to our sharp voiced terrier before that night was over, as my tale will tell.

It was a foggy, grim night out; you who know what sea-shore fogs are can picture to yourselves this night? And just after I had retired, my Josh, the hero of this story, started up from his snug quarters and barked furiously and continuously. I remonstrated, but he had no idea of being pacified, and barked with such evident purpose that he completely aroused both my sister and myself. So we consulted as to what had best be done, feeling sure some mischief was brewing. We listened but could hear no sound, still Josh kept on with his voice of warning, and at last I touched my electric bell to call over the man.

In the stillness of the night the clearing of the bell could be distinctly heard, and as it was sounding I heard some one run, and concluded it was our man; but soon after he came walking over. I let him in, and sent him over the house; everything seemed as quiet as a well-regulated family should be, and so I sent him back, and we again settled for a tranquil night.

No sooner, however, had the man gone into the stable than we were startled by hearing three men jump from off the roof of the piazza over our heads! They saw that the alarm had been given, that we were aroused, and that their little game for that night was frustrated, so the fog shielding them, they laid quite still on the roof of the piazza till their danger was past, and then descended in haste. Their plans were well laid, and would have been successful but for our vigilant little watchman, from whose collar now hangs a gold medal in token of our gratitude.—Our Dumb Animals.

The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement is avoided by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected in this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

Miss Mamie Dorsey received a letter from Mrs. Jefferson Davis stating that she was sending to Miss Dorsey a gift of some family silver formerly the property of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Worthington Dorsey, her uncle and aunt, of Beauvoir, Miss.

You can never cure dyspepsia by dieting. What your body needs is plenty of good food properly digested. Then if your stomach will not digest it, Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will. It contains all of the natural digestants hence must digest every class of food and so prepare it that nature can use it in nourishing the body and replacing the wasted tissues, thus giving life, health, strength, ambition, pure blood and good healthy appetite. Dr. L. D. Collier.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The stomach is the vital center of the body. It is the organ from which all other organs are fed. A weak stomach means a weak man. There never was a strong man with a weak stomach. What is called "weak stomach" is in general a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, which prevents the proper digestion of the food which is taken into the stomach, and so reduces the nutrition of the body. When all food is taken away the body starves. When the food eaten is only digested and assimilated in part, so the body is partly starved. And this starvation is felt in every organ of the body dependent on the blood which is made from food.

The great variety of the cures performed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its remarkable power to heal diseases of the stomach and allied organs. It cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote, but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. "Weak" heart, lungs, kidneys and weakness of other organs is cured with the cure of the weak stomach.

Mr. Thomas A. Swartz, Box 55, Sub-Station C, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I was taken very sick with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach, and food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble, and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. The more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I had been so poorly I could only walk in the house and sit in a chair, and I got so thin I had to go to bed, thinking that I could not be cured. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle helped me so I thought I would get another, and after I had taken eight bottles I was well and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) lbs. in about six weeks. I have done more hard work in the past few months than I did in ten years before, and I am as strong and healthy today, I think, as I ever was."

THE JAW OF AN OTTER.

You can find an example of nature's adaptation of the jaw to use in the case of certain mammals, like the otter—a big wolverine that has acquired aquatic habits. The jaws of such beasts are so fixed in the sockets that dislocation is impossible. In some instances you cannot even after the animal is dead, separate the jaw from the head. This arrangement is evidently designed to enable the beast to bite to the greatest advantage without danger that the chewing apparatus will come loose.

Cause of Thought.

"You look thoughtful tonight, Smith," remarked Brown as he stretched himself on two chairs.

"Yes," said Smith. "I have just got a note from the landlady."

"What does she say?"

"She says that I must pay my board at once, or her daughter will sue me for breach of promise. I'm thinking what I'd better do."—The Bits.

WICOMICO VERSUS SOMERSET.

A Comparison Between Democratic Wicomico and Republican Somerset.

The Wicomico County Commissioners declared their levy for 1901 last week and in at least two instances their appropriations are such antitheses of the appropriations of the Somerset Commissioners that we cannot but comment on them. The first is their public school appropriation. Their last year's appropriation was $11,000. This was not deemed sufficient to meet all expenses and keep the school houses in repair so this year the appropriation was promptly increased to $13,000. Now for Somerset. Last year when the School Board was heavily in debt, owing to insufficient appropriations for several years previous, the Somerset Commissioners cut down their appropriation to $4,000, and of this amount only $1800 has as yet been paid to the school board. The School Board has had, in order to raise money, to discount the $2800 due them, at a bank. Is not this a nice state of affairs. Somerset county with a population 25,600, has an appropriation of $4,000 and Wicomico county, with a population of 22,900; 2,700 less than Somerset has $11,000. That was for last year. This year Somerset appropriation has been increased to $6,000, while Wicomico's has been increased to $13,000. But what is the use of appropriating $6,000, when, here in July, 1901, $2,800.00 of the 1900 appropriation remains to be paid. According to this the prospects for receiving the $6,000 anytime during the next two years when it is needed, and needed badly now, are exceedingly slim. The money which should have been paid for schools, what has become of it? Gone to reward Republican henchmen. Instead of seeing that the Schools received their portion first and letting something not so important wait, they leave the schools until the last and they have to suffer for this lack of funds in consequence.

The Wicomico Commissioners, have been appropriating about $3,000 for the Public Roads; this year they have decided to expend an additional $5,000 under their own supervision. Somerset has an appropriation of $11,000 for roads, but it is not expended under the direction of the Commissioners, but is paid to their henchmen for road supervising, etc. It is sufficient to say that Wicomico is under Democratic Commissioners and Somerset under Republican, to make every one understand the reason for this state of affairs.—Crisfield Times

Tanner in Action.

So "Corporal" Tanner is out with a howl that the National Republican Committee promised faithfully that Pension Commissioner Evans should be retired if President McKinley were re-elected.

Promised whom?
The old soldiers?

For what consideration was the promise made?
The votes of the old soldiers?

Do the old soldiers sell their votes?
Sh! They are the old soldiers, and are exempt from the ordinary rules of ethics applied to other mortals.

Why were old soldiers willing to bargain their votes for Evans' removal?
Because Evans insisted on administering the Pension Department honestly, in accordance with the law, instead of for the sole benefit of the pension raiders (no questions asked)?

Who is Corporal Tanner?
A professional old soldier, who was once Pension Commissioner himself, and ran the department wide open with a whoop, for the raiders.

Will the President carry out the shameless bargain of the pension raiders with the committee, if such a bargain was made, and turn out a good man, whose only offense is that he has done his duty?

We shall see.—Courier Journal.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

The Misses Brattan have held a "reunion" for ten days at the home of their mother Mrs. Susan Brattan. This week the party of sisters separated, Miss Linda returning to her position in Washington; Miss Annie going back to Baltimore and Mrs. Rialer to her home in New York. Misses Susie, Emma and Mary still linger with their mother. While at home several old friends entertained in their honor. Miss Annie Bounds had the party one evening, Mrs. Irving N. Cooper another, Mrs. L. A. Wilson on another occasion and Miss Ella Humphreys on still another.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wilson's daughters, of Baltimore, are spending a part of the summer with relatives here.

Messrs. H. Crawford Bounds and Jno. W. Humphreys, of Salisbury, were at their home "The Poplars," Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Brattan and family, of Baltimore, were guests of relatives here Friday.

Mrs. George Waller Phillips of Salisbury, has been spending the past two weeks in our town.

One of the most marked improvements made here recently is the work of the B. C. & A. Company. The station building has been transferred to the other side of the track on a lot bounded by the railroad track and two streets, and the siding placed on the side of the track where the station formerly stood. An additional switch has been run into the factory yard of Perry & Cooper for the convenience of loading from their warehouse.

The new arrangement gives the public a convenient and safe approach to the station; the station grounds are easy to reach and admirably adapted to beautification and our people hope that the triangle will be laid out with that in view. By the change the shipmen have access to the company's large yard, where there is ample room to load cars standing on the sidings from the wagon, and the extra spur in Perry & Cooper's yard gives them a car all to themselves where they are out of other people's way and other people are out of theirs. This station, by the way, is rapidly becoming one of the most important on the line. It is not unusual for two cars loaded with fruit, vegetables and lumber products to go out from here in one day.

Mr. W. H. Beach has the finest watermelon prospect in the district, it is believed.

Mr. George Perry of Salisbury is spending the summer at the hotel.

SHARPTOWN

On Friday of last week Florence, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Waller, drank a small portion of potato mixture. The potato had been mixed with water and left in the room preparatory to use, and the child drank only a swallow of it, but it so affected her throat that she died on Saturday. Her remains were interred in Taylor's cemetery on Sunday afternoon, after funeral services by Rev. E. H. Miller. It was a sad funeral. The family were almost overwhelmed with grief.

F. C. Robinson & Co. have an ever-flowing well. They drove a pipe forty-nine feet, near the river, at their factory and the flow is constant and the water very fine.

The privileges of the camping were sold on Saturday last. Jerome Ellis got the confectionery at $89.00; Willey Owens, horse pound, $25.00; Joseph Kenney, boarding tent, $10.00; W. L. Graves, barber shop, $8.00, and a photograph privilege was also sold.

Mrs. Lizzie Ellis, relict of the late Fred S. Ellis, has moved here and occupies rooms in the W. L. Taylor property.

Capt. F. C. Robinson, of Baltimore, was in town this week.

S. J. Cooper was in Baltimore on Wednesday.

The lightning rod man is now in town doing some work.

The yield of wheat in Carroll county is undoubtedly disappointing, as well as the quality. The grains are small, and in some cases shriveled and of a dull color. Small lots have been threshing 20 to 23 bushels to the acre, but the average will hardly reach this point. Both the yield and quality varies considerably, some fields being much better than others. The crop of hay is fine in quality and heavier than was expected.

MR. GRAHAM CHOSEN.

Republicans Name Him as their Candidate for the Judgeship.

COUNTY CONVENTION HELD IN SALISBURY LAST TUESDAY.

The Republican convention of the First Judicial Circuit was held at Ocean City on Thursday and nominated Hon. Robert P. Graham as their candidate for the Judgeship. The contest was close, there being three candidates for the nomination in the field and it was only on the second ballot that Mr. Graham was able to secure the nomination and then by the narrow majority of one vote.

The convention was called to order in the Atlantic Casino by Mr. James Wallace of Cambridge acting under instructions from the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. On the motion of Capt. E. S. S. Turner Mr. Wallace was made temporary chairman. Dr. Louis N. Wilson of Wicomico and Mr. John Holland of Somerset were chosen temporary secretaries. Following the selection of the officers the following committees were appointed.

Credentials and permanent organization—Levi B. Phillips of Dorchester, Samuel J. Fritchett of Somerset, G. E. Scott of Worcester, and E. B. Adams of Wicomico. Resolutions—E. S. Phillips of Dorchester, I. H. Hall, Somerset, E. S. Furbush, Worcester, W. B. Miller, Wicomico.

On motion of Mr. Duer the convention adjourned till 2 o'clock in order to give the delegates time for a conference.

When the convention reassembled the report of the committee on credentials and permanent organization was called for. They recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent, but on the matter of Dorchester's representation two reports were submitted. One signed by the members of the committee from Wicomico and Dorchester recommended the full quota of Dorchester under the new census and in accordance with the proclamation of the governor made this week—a total of five representatives—be allowed. The other signed by the remaining two counties objected to what was called the majority report. Discussion which lasted half an hour ended by the call of the roll by counties asked for by Capt. Turner and which resulted in Dorchester being allowed her full quota. During the debate Mr. Wallace explained the action of Dorchester in claiming five by stating that the chairman of the State Central Committee for that county had been reliably informed that Dorchester was entitled to an increased representation in the House and hence to an increased representation in the Convention. Mr. Wallace was prepared to back up the claims of his county with a legal opinion rendered by District Attorney John C. Rose of Baltimore that Dorchester was entitled to her new representation. The committee on resolutions then submitted a set of resolutions which were adopted unanimously.

The body of the resolutions follows: Resolved, that the Republican party of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland in convention assembled declare for a bench free from any partisan influence and favor minority representation thereupon and believe that this can be best had by the election in November next of a Republican to a bench now wholly Democratic.

The second part of the resolution thanked Mr. Charles Webb of J., of the Atlantic management for his courtesies to the delegates.

After the question of the eligibility of the five members from Dorchester and the subject of resolutions were disposed of, the chairman called for nominations. Mr. G. Grier Radcliff put the name of Mr. Graham before the convention which was seconded by E. S. Phillips of Dorchester. Mr. Robert F. Duer of Somerset nominated Mr. Gordon H. Tull and Dr. Quinn of Worcester urged the selection of Mr. Adial P. Barnes. Following the second of the nominations, Mr. Walter B. Miller made a short speech on the right of Dorchester to claim five delegates and the position of Wicomico in supporting the claim of her sister county, asking that no matter who received the nomination that there be harmony—such harmony as would mean sure defeat to their opponents.

The vote was then called for and the two ballots were as follows:

First ballot	Graham	Tull	Barnes
Dorchester	1	2	3
Somerset	1	1	1
Wicomico	4	4	4
Worcester	1	1	1
Totals	5	6	6
Second ballot	Graham	Tull	Barnes
Dorchester	Passed	Passed	Passed
Somerset	Passed	Passed	Passed
Wicomico	4	4	4
Worcester	Passed	Passed	Passed

It was then "up to" Dorchester who after a few minutes deliberation cast her full vote for Graham thus making the final result Graham 9, Tull 4, Barnes 4.

On motion the convention adjourned sine die after Graham had been declared the nominee of the party by one majority.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican County Convention was called to order Tuesday at noon by Hon. Robt. P. Graham, chairman of the State Central Committee for Wicomico County. After a few preliminary remarks which were greeted with hearty applause, he called for nominations for temporary chairman. Mr. Walter B. Miller of Parsons district was chosen and Capt. Frank Langrall of Tyaskin and Jas. O. Wilson of Hebron were made temporary secretaries.

On motion a committee on permanent organization and credentials and a committee on resolutions was appointed, each committee consisting of one delegate from each district. The convention then adjourned for dinner.

The proceedings at the adjourned meeting, which was reassembled at 8 o'clock, were delayed by the late arrival of the delegates. During the wait Congressman Wm. H. Jackson entered the convention hall and was greeted with enthusiasm.

When the assembly was called to order by the temporary chairman, Mr. Peter Bounds, reported that the committee on resolutions indorsed Hon. R. P. Graham for the nomination of judge of the First Judicial circuit, and asked him to name such delegates as he desired to go to the Ocean City Convention. The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The committee on organization and credentials recommended that Col. Alexander Warner of Parsons district be made permanent chairman and that the temporary secretaries be made permanent. The recommendations were accepted and Col. Warner was called to the chair, and was welcomed by Mr. Miller with a few complimentary words. Col. Warner responded with a speech which was closely followed and received continued applause.

Col. John P. Owens moved that Congressman Wm. H. Jackson, Messrs. E. S. S. Turner, E. S. Adkins, and Wm. H. Knowles compose the State Central Committee for the next two years, motion unanimously carried.

The following delegates were then chosen to the Ocean City and to the State Conventions.

Delegates to Ocean City—E. S. Adkins, E. S. S. Turner, G. G. Radcliff, W. B. Miller, F. A. Grier, Louis N. Wilson, Joseph L. Truitt, and J. H. Hayman.

Delegates to State Convention—Wm. H. Jackson, Rollie Moore, Isaac H. Price, J. Edward Bradley, Solomon T. Houston, (colored), E. S. S. Turner, J. F. Langrall, William Goodell.

The convention then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, without naming their county ticket.

"POLITICS WAY BACK THERE."

Some of the Old Time Leaders—The Campaign of 1872—Darky Emancipation Celebration a Great Affair.

Messrs. Editors:—The recent appointment of young Leonard to a deputyship in the internal revenue office of this city recalls to my mind that his father, Col. Wm. J., was, in his day, one of the most prominent figures in the different county, district and state conventions. The Colonel was then almost a giant in physique, and when he was State Comptroller no more popular man could be found on the Shore. After his retirement from the comptrollership he became a reformer to some extent in his political views, and once led a victory against the Democratic party. Now, I do not wish to be understood that the party was defeated in the county. Not a bit of it! But two or three independent Democrats were elected whom Col. Leonard had endorsed. I know that the Colonel's house was opened the day after the election and hospitality was there with a lavish hand. Then he lived on Division street just a few doors removed south from Main street. His residence was an old fashioned stately brick Southern one, with basement which was flush with the street. He made a gallant fight for his friends and won. At the reception, foe and friend alike called at the brick house and partook of the Colonel's good cheer. Since then I learn he has drifted into the Republican ranks.

"Politics makes strange bedfellows." I believe the author of the above sentence was Horace Greeley, the monumental mistake of the Democratic party in 1872 for the Presidency. No truer axiom was ever written, however, than "politics makes strange bedfellows."

The Jacksons in the late sixties were not in politics. It is true they were Democrats, and they were Simon Pure in their political fealty. The stamp of Jacksonian orthodoxy was imprinted upon each of them. They bore no titles (elective or appointive) then, but were simply Elihu, William, Fisk and Watt. While they took no active part in the deliberations of the party, yet they could always be depended upon to contribute their share towards a campaign's expenses. They were, however, making history for Salisbury and upbuilding and strengthening the town's resources. Their business acumen told them the future of the town depended upon extraordinary efforts being put forth by its citizens; they saw their opportunity and like wise and astute business men they grasped it. The people of your town know the result of their efforts—the place has forged ahead until it is second to none on the Shore. The business (not the political) sagacity of the Jacksons did it. Their example set others to thinking, and their thoughts evolved into actions and lo! the result! But I am drifting from my theme. What puzzled me at first was the WEANING of Col. Jackson from the party of his fathers, and while I was still pondering over it, the news was received that William H. had also become a convert to the Republican party. But the stalwart Elihu had remained true to the principles in tilted into him in his infancy. The family of the older heads now embraces an ex Governor, a member of Congress and a Colonel.

The acknowledged leader of the Republican party in his time was the late Col. Samuel A. Graham. He was truly a man of whom your townspeople could be proud, and his memory to me is very fragrant. His character was such that he would not countenance dirty politics within his own political fold. The idea of vote buying would have been abhorred by him, and anything of a tricky or underhand nature was detested. He was a keen, shrewd lawyer and popular with all parties. He mapped out all county campaigns for his party and his instructions were generally followed to the letter.

I remember very distinctly the fall of 1873 (When Wicomico's Democratic majority was so large that it created some suspicions) that a torchlight procession was gotten up by the boys (not a voter among them.) During the day a cavalcade in honor of the majority had been held by the men from every district, and I can see it now—an imposing affair—as it rounded out of Division street into Main street, with J. Augustus Parsons at its head as chief marshal. Well, our torchlight procession was to eclipse the cavalcade. The boys assembled on the street near the tumbling dam and started down town, with banners, flags and transparancies. At their head was the cornet band, young John Tracey leading the snare drum and Billy Brewington's cornet leading. It was an inspiring sight, and if I remember aright the successful candidate for Congress, Col. Sam. Hambleton, of Easton, was a looker on. With the devilment inherent in a boy, we cheered more lustily than ever when we passed the home of a Republican. Owen Wharton ran a radical paper in the interest of the black and tan party and his office was on our route. Of course our cheers were more than generous when we arrived in front of the office. Now Mr.

Wharton, he it said to his credit, was not in his office, but his two "devils" were, and it is needless to say they came from Republican families. Naturally they were embittered against us, and as soon as they heard our yells they prepared for a master stroke to extinguish us. "Hurrah for Col. Sam." yelled one of our boys but the rest of the sentence was drowned out by a bucket of ink and lye water from the "Era" office. A scattering took place, pandemonium reigned for a moment, and in the excitement Rome Evans stepped out of the ranks with a fence piling in his hand and flattened out a ocon named Henry Kent and who was notorious in his day as a "knocker." Henry was a spectator merely, but somebody had to suffer for the outrage. When it was discovered who threw the ink water, the windows of the Era office were riddled by clods and stones. This rioting office stood at the corner of the street on the north side of the court house and Division street. That was long ago—many, many years ago.

Sol Huston was the leader of the colored Republicans, although a barber named Williams claimed the honor also. James James, the colored citizen with a Welch name, did not aspire to the position, but he was early one of the most influential colored men in the town. The darkie concluded to get up an emancipation celebration in town, and elaborate preparations were made for the occasion. It was to consist of a parade, speech making at the colored church and feasting. Well, the parade was the only thing of its kind ever seen on earth. It was gorgeous in coloring and effect. Every district was represented and even some of the islands in its sound. Had it not been for the number of miles and spavined horses in line one would have imagined that Nero's Nubians were turning out for a fete. The principal feature of the band (which was an imported affair, from God knows where) was the bass drum, and the big black who banged it when ever he pleased, and devil take the discord, was by far the biggest thing in the whole affair. The drum major had a shako on that looked as if it had seen service in the Revolution. "Wat'tell is it?" said Lonzo Parsons as the procession turned down Dock Street. Well might he have asked the question, for judging by the spanlets, sashes and swords every man in line was either the marshal or assistant marshal except the band. "Bet on us ter vote de Publican ticket ebbery time," sang out one of the paraders, and it was a safe bet to take, for in those days the black brother voted for Lincoln's head and didn't think of scratching. Now his vote is just worth so much per, and his white allies have to go down deep in their pockets if they want to count his vote at the close of the polls.

Vote buying was in vogue in those days in Wicomico, but it was called paying a man for the time he lost from his work to vote, and the sum was generally a dollar. The illiterate whites were the ones then who bartered away their God given rights of suffrage. Now it is the black and white. Where and when will this damnable practice stop? G. R. C.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness." Dirt and depravity go hand in hand. This is just as true of the inside of the body as the outside. Constipation clogs the body and clouds the mind. Constipation means that corruption is breeding in the body, poisoning the blood with its foul emanations, befogging the brain with its tainted exhalations. Cure constipation and you cure its consequences. The quickest cure of this evil is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure permanently. They contain no injurious ingredients. PRaise FOR HOLLAND

A Prominent Republican Lawyer of Cambridge Lands His Honor and Hopes He Will Be Elected.

The nomination of Judge Holland as a candidate for the office of Associate Judge in the First Judicial Circuit has afforded great satisfaction and pleasure, not only to his personal friends, but to all persons who know and appreciate his high ability and distinguished faithfulness as a judge. Seventeen years ago, when he first came among us, he had few acquaintances in Dorchester, but during the passing years whoever has been brought into personal official relations with him have learned to regard him highly and to respect him thoroughly. His urbanity, his courtesy, his invariable kindness and watchful care for the feelings of all persons, whether gentle or simple, old or young, rich or poor, who have come before him as a judge or into association with him as a gentleman have won for him a high place in the esteem of all and a warm regard and friendship in those who have had an opportunity to participate with him in social relations and intercourse. As a nisi prius or trial judge, whether without the intervention of a jury or with a jury, he stands with the highest and the best. He is not a man of many words, and in my varied practice and observation I have repeatedly seen more light thrown on a question at issue by three or four sentences from him than from others who regard themselves profound as well as brilliant. More than once have I gone into court with entire confidence in my cause, eager for the conflict, and looking forward to favorable rulings from the Court, but in a moment, by a remark from him, I have seen the key-stone of my carefully constructed arch give way and my theory fall to pieces, and, worst of all, I felt myself convinced. His ruling flashed into my own mind a light which dispelled misapprehension and error, and showed me that justice was not on my side.

But Judge Holland has been especially distinguished for his faithfulness in the discharge of his judicial duties. He never shows himself anxious to bring the work of the court to a close with a rush. As long as there are cases to be heard or questions to be argued he is content to remain in his place. Often the work of the court, in other days, has been brought to a stop because judges were anxious to get away, and counsel who wished to have an attendance of two or three judges were disappointed, and complaints deep if not loud, were made. Never once during the seventeen years he has been on the bench has Judge Holland shown impatience or haste to get away when counsel were anxious to be heard. By word and by act he has indicated to members of the Bar that so long as a proper regard was shown to the interests of the people, and the expenses of the court were kept down during the attendance of juries and witnesses in State cases, they might take their own time. That he was always ready to give attention without regard to his own convenience or personal wishes Lawyers can appreciate the merits of a judge who places himself at the disposal of the Bar. Counsel never hesitate to ask an extension of the session of court in these days whatever was the case in other times.

But probably there is nothing that so dissatisfies counsel as to be compelled to make an argument to an inattentive judge. Having devoted time and labor to present his views, he expects to be listened to when he exercises his rights to address the Court, and he is filled with exasperation when a judge tells him to proceed while he busies himself with reading authorities or otherwise manifests his indifference. Judge Holland is never inattentive. The counsel may be young and inexperienced, and his views may not be profound, yet he never sees in Judge Holland any want of consideration. He is encouraged by his attitude to proceed, and when he closes he comforts himself with the idea that however his case is decided he has been appreciated. As to Judge Holland's impartiality, that is to be taken as a matter of course. All our judges in this State and land are impartial, and administer justice with an even hand. It has been rumored for months past that if Judge Holland was nominated he would have no opposition. It is to be devoutly hoped that this idea will be realized, and that Judge Holland's merits will secure him an election without opposition.—Sewell T. Milbourne.

"TIME FOR ACTION"

Ever since the great naval battle of Santiago the friends of Admiral Schley and Admiral Sampson have been engaged in a battle of words as fierce and as bitter as the fight between the fleets of Schley on the one hand and Cervera on the other. So great has been this conflict between the friends of Schley, represented by the great mass of the American people, and the supporters of Sampson, represented by the navy clique with John D. Long at its head, that all the prominent newspapers of the country have ranged themselves on one side or the other, the navy department was brought into the controversy, Congress took a hand in the matter and the Senate tried to settle the dispute as to whom belonged the honor of destroying the Spanish squadron. To-day the two sides stand exactly as they did two years ago, both have the same supporters and both are as bitter as ever, but at last there seems a prospect that sufficient light may be thrown upon the subject to convince the most partisan.

Admiral Schley has asked Secretary Long for a Court of inquiry and the Secretary has answered the Admiral's letter granting the request and appointing the first of September as the date for the opening session of the Court.

A dignified silence has been maintained by Admiral Schley since the great battle of Santiago although his enemies have resorted to falsehood, prompted by malice and jealousy, to detract from his fame and glory with his fellow-countrymen. A continued silence and contempt for his enemies and detractors would still have been maintained by the Admiral but for the publishing of a most infamous abuse in a volume of the history of the navy by MacLay, the historian. The writer so far travels from the truth and indulges from personal venom in such gross injustice to Schley that the Admiral says that "the time has come for action and not words." This stand is in marked contrast to the bombastic Sampson who at stated intervals has given the country the benefit of what "I did" and what "I think."

The country welcomes a Court of inquiry that the truth and the whole truth may come to light, but its verdict will always be as it is today that "Schley is the hero of Santiago" unless it shall be proven otherwise before a Court of inquiry in whom the country has the utmost confidence, and not one whose verdict is rendered before the first witness is called. Let an impartial Court be chosen and let the truth be known.

REPUBLICAN DISCORD.

The prospect for Democratic success in the First Judicial District grows brighter and brighter every day. In another column of this paper will be found a letter from a prominent Republican lawyer of Cambridge who endorses Judge Holland for re-election. At the Republican county convention held in Cambridge last Tuesday the Kerr faction bottled the convention and held a counter-convention in the office of one of the leading republican papers of Dorchester county. A dispatch to one of the city dailies says:

"The Republican County Convention was held in Cambridge to-day, for the election of delegates to the judicial and state conventions. The anticipated clash between Messrs. Phillips Lee Goldsborough and Josiah L. Kerr took place, and the followers of Mr. Kerr left the convention and held a counter-convention in the office of the Dorchester Era, a Republican paper friendly to Mr. Kerr, for the purpose of expressing their indignation and nominating an independent ticket. Speeches were made and the expressions of the treatment of the Kerr faction by the Goldsborough faction were loudly applauded. In addressing the convention, Mr. Kerr said that he would make a thorough canvass of the county if he were nominated for the Senate or House of Delegates upon an independent ticket."

PROTECT THE GAME.

Mr. John W. Avirett, State Game Warden, is making an earnest effort to interest the public in the protection of the game and fish of the State. Speaking of future prospects, Mr. Avirett says:

"My reports from nearly every county in the State indicate an abundance of game for the hunting season of this year. From Garrett to Worcester my deputies are being urged to greater vigilance than heretofore with a determination to so protect our game that a fair breeding stock may be carried over for next year."

"The last Legislature (regular session) gave to Caroline, Garrett, Dorchester, Frederick and Montgomery counties excellent revised laws, and while there was little general protective legislation enacted the scope of the few bills on the subject indicated a growing tendency toward unification of the local laws or such territorial classification as the climatic belts of the State and the habits of the game and fish suggest, so that it is not unreasonable to hope for even better things from the next Legislature."

Mr. Avirett should have the support of every good citizen in the state. No state in the union has a greater variety of game and fish which form so large a part in the people's food products than Maryland.

Our legislators should make a study of the facts bearing upon this subject and enact legislation that will tend not only to perpetuate our game and fish but to multiply them.

In spite of the reduction of the war tax, the receipts from internal revenue since June 30th are nearly $2,000,000 in excess of those for the same period of last year.

SHEPPARD A CANDIDATE.

The Baltimore Herald is responsible for the news that recent developments in the political situation have given rise to the rumor that J. Frank Turner, of Talbot county, will not win the nomination for the clerk of the Court of Appeals without opposition.

Since the Democratic convention of Dorchester county was held Mr. Turner has had an opponent in the person of Dr. Sheppard of that county. The Doctor is the unanimous choice of all the factions of Dorchester and start off with five votes, Dorchester now having one more vote than any other county on the Eastern Shore.

"Besides," says the Herald, "he is almost certain to have the support of Wicomico, Queen Anne and possibly of Worcester. In other parts of the state he will have the same fighting show that Turner has."

The Atlanta Constitution in speaking of Mr. Gorman's entrance into the political arena, among other things says:

Mr. Gorman has enemies. He made them in the defense of Democracy. While at times he has had to differ with his brethren as to party politics he has always been a true party man. His defeat was compassed in the defeat of the Democratic party itself and his reappearance upon the field of activity is due to a revival of the Democracy in his State.

Impaired Digestion

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

Birckhead & Shockley
SALISBURY, MD.Fishing is Quite a
Fad In Salisbury.

One of Salisbury's leading merchants took himself to the banks of the Wicomico the other afternoon, with a little roll of luncheon in his hand and a large bottle of bait in his inside pocket. He sat on the steamboat wharf for three hours in the hot sun just for the sport of seeing the cork wiggle feebly every hour or two. Every time he failed to land a four inch catfish he made a thorough inspection of the bait, and when he got back to town told a group of amazed merchants about the bass that "got away" that was such a whopper "it had whiskers. The very next day another Main street merchant who hadn't fished in a good many moons, but somehow or other his mind wandered back to when he was a boy and he longed to fish. He got a tin box of tobacco and a cornob pipe, a book, some daily papers, some fish hooks and lines and went down the Wicomico below the dyking. He found an old tree that had one limb over the river, and climbing out on it, he sat down to fish. He lit his pipe, opened his book, baited his hook, spit on the bait, threw in his line and waited for the destruction of fish to commence. All at once he was surprised to see several fish get right up in the water and stand on their tails, while one fish actually spoke English. "Say, you!" said the fish, "do you think this river is full of suckers? If you do you're left. There are sunfish, catfish, and carp and bitterheads, but no suckers. If you'll pull up your hook and see that it's part bare you'll know why we catch on and don't catch on." Just then he woke up in the water where he had fallen off the tree, but when he got to land again he pulled up and sure enough his hook was only partly covered by the bait. Now if you're no sucker watch the bait held out to you at times and see if you can't find the "hook." When somebody offers you Clothing and Ha's and tries to make you believe that the goods are as good as Lacy Thoroughgood sells, at a cut price, look out for the hook. When (but then you're old enough to know) Thoroughgood offers only reliable made goods—Clothing made to order especially for Thoroughgood. Thoroughgood's name is on every Suit, as a guarantee to you that it's a good Suit, or a good Hat. Who makes better clothes than Alfred Benjamin of New York?—Who makes better Shirts than the Manhattan people or the Emery people?—Who makes better Hats than John B. Stetson Co.?—Who makes better Collars and Cuffs than Earl and Wilson? It is a positive fact—there is not a merchant south of Wilmington, Del., or between Wilmington and Norfolk that handles as high grade goods as Lacy Thoroughgood does. Now don't get hooked—buy your Clothing, Hats and Shirts of Lacy Thoroughgood who runs a fakeless, fireless, shrewd store. No humbug business is practiced at Lacy Thoroughgood's store.

Talmage

Sermon

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In this discourse, Dr. Talmage shows that there is a tendency to excuse brilliant faults because they are brilliant, when the same law of right and wrong ought to be applied to high places and low; text, Daniel iv, 33, "The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar, and he was driven from men and did eat grass as oxen."

Here is the mightiest of the Babylonish kings. Look at him. He did more for the grandeur of the capital than did all his predecessors or successors. Hanging gardens, reservoirs, aqueducts, palaces, all of his own planning. The bricks that are brought up today from the ruins of Babylon have his name on them, "Nebuchadnezzar, son of Nabopolassar, king of Babylon." He was a great conqueror. He stretched forth his spear toward a nation, and it surrendered. But he plundered the temple of the true God. He lifted an idol, Bel Merodach, and compelled the people to bow down before it, and if they refused they must go through the red-hot furnace or be crushed by lion or lioness. So God pulled him down.

He was smitten with what physicians call lycanthropy and fancied that he was a wild beast and he went out and hunted amid the cattle. God did not excuse him because he had committed the sin in high places or because the transgression was wide sounding. He measured Nebuchadnezzar in high places just as he would measure the humblest captive.

But in our time, you know as well as I, that there is a disposition to put a halo around inquiry if it is committed in a conspicuous place and if it is wide sounding and of large proportions. Ever and anon there has been an epidemic of crime in high places, and there is not a state or city and hardly a village which has not been called to look upon astounding forgery or an absconding bank cashier or president or the wasting of trust fund or swindling mortgages. I propose in carrying out the suggestion of my text, as far as I can, to scatter the fascinations around inquiry and show you that sin is sin and wrong is wrong whether in high place or low place and that it will be dealt with by that God who dealt with impaled Nebuchadnezzar.

All who preach feel that two kinds of sermons are necessary, the one on the faith of the gospel, the other on the morality of the gospel, and the one is just as important as the other, for you know that in this land today there are hundreds of men hiding behind the communion tables and in churches of Jesus Christ who have no business to be there as professors of religion. They expect to be all right with God,

JAY WILLIAMS, Attorney.

TRANSPORTATION OF CATTLE.

Their Comfort and Health Necessary for Scientific as Well as Humane Reasons.

The problem of the proper transportation of cattle is, like many other questions connected with the treatment of dumb animals, essentially a modern question. In times when each country must feed its own, and the only way of getting cattle or sheep or horses from one place or another was to drive them in herds, under the care of a drover, the problem was in one way simple. The animals could not travel more than a certain distance each day without definite injury, which would probably be visible to the prospective purchaser when they arrived at their destination. It was to the interest of the drover to be very careful.

With the advent of the cattle trains, however, it became possible to transport all sorts of live stock round the world, if necessary, in less time than it used to take to cross a state. The rail way takes the Texas steer and lands him in Chicago in a space of time which must seem to his bewildered brain an eternity, but is really but a few days. His treatment en route cannot well be so cruel as to depreciate his ultimate value in any way which the purchaser can see; moreover, in such cases the purchaser often buys on faith, and pays without seeing. So long as most of the cattle get through all right, if a few die of neglect, or lack of water, or some other cause, the seller's reputation is good. The property interest cannot be relied upon in this matter of proper treatment of dependents. It was estimated in the old days of slave-trading that if half the cargo got through the dreaded Middle Passage alive there was a profit. The property interest was no safeguard there. It never protected any creature which could be ill treated by a thoughtless or cruel person with no immediate punishment. It is one of the characteristics of the callous and cruel man, as a rule, to be short-sighted. He seldom sees that in the long run, humane treatment is profitable.

In this case the trader and the rail way man do not suffer much even when their treatment of cattle is abominably cruel. It is the public which suffers, and it is the public which will have to take the matter in hand. There is a great difference in the systems of various railroads and dealers in their treatment of cattle and sheep, and some are more humane than others. But it is not so very long since sheep were packed like sardines in close cars, without a drop of water during long journeys, in the hottest of weather; and cattle were subjected to the same treatment.

Such conditions breed filth and disease; and diseased meat is not safe for anybody to eat. It will probably never be possible to ascertain the number of deaths which have resulted from the eating of impure or diseased meat, and for every death from this cause there are many victims of disease. Sometimes the ailment is obscure and insidious, but it is nevertheless there. Sometime ago there was a scare about trichinina which resulted in many people becoming Jews or Mohammedans where pork was concerned, but much of the beef which comes from cattle trains where the animals are packed together in filth and discomfort and thirst is not a bit more fit for human consumption than meaty pork. In these days a man can tell where his butcher gets the meat which is confidently bought and eaten by his customers. It may be good, or it may not. It is time that the treatment of cattle on trains of transportation and in sheds, during the time before they are killed, should be regulated by law, and that every one concerned in their transportation and care should be required to see that they are in conditions as nearly healthful as the difficulties of the case allow.

When The Cosmopolitan, in its April number, published an essay, at once clever and philosophic, on "The Ideal Wife," a demand was created for a paper on "The Ideal Husband" by the same author—Lavinia Hart. The August Cosmopolitan contains an essay on this subject—on which few people agree—which is certain not only to prove widely interesting but to cause lively discussion. In the same number Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger (Julien Gorcia) tells the story of the life of the French wife with all its tragic common place narrowness. "The woman of small capacity puts up with, and perhaps does much toward maintaining present conditions," says the author, "but there are women of brains who die at an early age of no disease known to doctors but simply from utter weariness."

The first carload of ore from the old copper mines near Mount Washington was shipped on Tuesday. It went to Newark, N. J. These mines, which had not been worked for many years were lately reopened, and an excellent quality of ore is being gotten out. Nearly 50 men are employed at present.

TWO-CENT PIECES.

Wilmington Bank Refused to Accept
Them.

A Wilmington man, who attempted to deposit a dozen two-cent pieces in a bank yesterday was told that the bank could not take them. Two-cent pieces were called in by the government some years ago, and have become so scarce that there are many persons who refuse to accept them in change.

A cigar dealer on Girard avenue Philadelphia, who collected them just before they were taken out of issue in hope they would rise in price, has over a hundred and is trying now to get rid of them. He has found the task difficult. Yesterday he said: Many of the persons who come into my store and make a purchase are indignant when I give them one of the big two-cent pieces with their change. They refuse to accept them and my efforts to pass them have cost me some of my customers. I suppose I will have to take them to the Mint and that will cost me 10 cents in car fare."

Fire! Fire!!

When that cry sounds how people rush to help and sympathize! And when some fireman rescues a woman from the flames, the streets echo with applauding shouts.

And yet if that woman had perished in the flames it is possible that she would have suffered less than she suffers almost daily from the inflammation which disease has lighted in the delicate womanly organism. That fire of inflammation can be put out. The gnawing ulcer can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes womanly regularity and dries enfeebling drains, but it heals inflammation and ulcerations and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for four years with what four physicians pronounced ulceration and prolapus of the uterus," writes Mrs. Ada Brooks, of Kirbyville, Taney Co., Missouri. "Also inflammation of bladder and urethra. My case was chronic and complicated. Had several good physicians, but kept getting worse. Had been confined to my bed five months when I wrote to you. I received your reply very soon and then dismissed my physician and began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took eight bottles of his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and began to get better at once. In two months I could sit up in a chair, and kept getting better. In four months could do all my house work, including washing and sewing."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes:
For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md., writes:
Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism or any other ailment since and I tell any man, who is foolish to suffer with Rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Titch of Easton, Md., writes:
NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. B. R. Purnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows:
I have used the NELATON REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

Miss Mattie Hastings, of Oriole, Somerset county, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smith.

Parley Poole Parsons our friend and neighbor is now a brother in one of our secret orders. He took this important step a short time ago after a great deal of parleying with some of the members and much consideration. He says what he is trying to consider now is whether he rode the goat or the goat rode him.

He is inclined to take the latter view of it. Poole on the evening that the hidden secrets of the order were to be revealed unto him arranged his toilet, which by the way was elaborate—thinking all that was necessary for him to do was to take the oath, sign a few papers and receive a "package" of secrets "to learn by heart" as he put it.

He desired to look his very best of course on such an important occasion as this was to be, and certainly did look stunning before he went in and stunned when he came out. He looked before taking as if he was only waiting to lead his bride to the hymeneal altar. He looked after taking like the weary Willie who has lost his wife and eleven children inside of two weeks and sustained internal injuries by the boss of the mill knocking him against three buzz saws with a hand spike. Poole says they slid him around on his left ear, made him hop across the floor on one of his great toes, stood him in a tub of lemonade head down for ten minutes which he liked and made him do the "Eagles." He says he intends to learn the "secrets" sitting on a ditch-bank under the shade of a persimmon tree when no one is at home and he has been sent out to cultivate corn. [Talk about political campaigns, Poole says they are not in it when compared with entering a secret society.

Mr. Hare's Fountain of Youth.

Mr. John Hare, the eminent English actor-manager, said that the most delightful compliment he ever received was from Mr. Gladstone. It was a double ended compliment. Whichever way you took it it was satisfactory.

Mr. Hare earned fame playing old men's parts, his character as Mr. Goldby in "A Pair of Spectacles" being a good example. Added to this was a horror of having his picture taken.

Mr. Gladstone had never seen a picture of the actor, but he knew him well behind the scenes as well as before the footlights. The premier's favorite play was "A Pair of Spectacles," and he always went behind the scenes to chat awhile with the actor. The really old man and the made up old man would sit there and talk in the most delightful way for an hour after the show.

One day the Earl of Rosebery had Mr. Gladstone to dinner, and he also invited his friend, John Hare. The actor came in smooth shaven, looking about 35. He was presented to Mr. Gladstone, and the prime minister shook his hand most cordially and said: "My dear sir, I am very, very glad to meet you. I know your father very, very well. Splendid actor! Fine old man!"

It took the whole evening for the earl and Mr. Hare to convince him that this son was really the father.—Saturday Evening Post.

An Educational Mistake.

Whether or not a college education is advantageous depends entirely upon the ability of the recipient to absorb and utilize such an education. Unfortunately such a view of the case is seldom considered by parents and guardians who are inclined to send their children to college simply because it is considered the proper thing to do. Consequently we find throughout the country thousands of young men who have passed through college acting as cheap clerks, bookkeepers or even as car conductors and restaurant waiters. Having learned no mechanical trade for which they may be adapted and being unfitted by nature for a profession, they go through life discontented with their lot and vaguely believing that the world owes them better treatment because they have gone through college.—Los Angeles Times.

The Appeal to the Record.

Little Tommy returned sore and trembling from the torture room.

"Doesn't your papa ever thrash you?" he asked his chum, who is the son of a cabinet minister.

"I should say not," replied the other loftily. "Every time he threatens to cane me I read him an extract from his great peace at any price speech in which he said: 'These barbarians are like wayward children, but have we on that account the right to take away their heaven sent privilege to do as they please? Let us treat them as we would our own wayward children—plead with them, beseech them, but never coerce them with either gun or rod.'"

"That's a good deal to remember," remarked Tommy.

"Yes, but now he's got so used to it that he drops the cane as soon as I start."—London Answers.

An Ounce of Prevention.

"As you went out," whispered the observing boarder, "I saw you pick up something from the floor, fear it in a dozen pieces and throw it in the range. Was it a love letter?"

"No," responded the practical boarder. "It was a little booklet telling how to prepare prunes in 99 different ways. I was afraid it might fall into the hands of the landlady."—Philadelphia

MARYLAND CROP BULLETIN.

Heat and Rain Favored the Growth of Corn.

The bulletin for the Maryland and Delaware section of the Climate and Crop Service of the Weather Bureau for the week ended July 23 states that the temperatures for last week averaged 4 degrees above normal. The excess in temperatures, combined with the rainy period, seems to favor the growth of corn and minor crops, but the harvested crops remaining in the field were damaged, and farm work was largely interrupted.

The damage to wheat by rains was considerable. Where it is not well shocked it will suffer large loss. Oats are ripening fast in all districts. Corn was the favored crop of the week, all conditions having conspired for its rapid growth.

Early apples are ready for market over the greater part of the section. Prospects for peaches over the mountain peach belt, on the Eastern Shore and in Delaware continue good.
