STORM LEAVES DAMAGE IN WAKE

Barns Demolished On C. W. Long's Farm—Two Persons Stunned

Late last Tuesday afternoon the most violent and destructive electrical and wind storm of the summer visited the upper section of this county. The storm came up about 5.30 o'clock after an excessively hot day and continued with little abatement for about two hours. There was one vivid flash of lightning followed by a startling peal of thunder in Princess Anne. This flash struck the flag pole on the court house and badly splintered the wood. The electric light fuses were burned out in the building, which suffered no other damage.

A tornado vein just south of Princess Anne did great damage to buildings, trees and crops. On the farm of Mr. Charles W. Long, located on the State road, about a mile and a half from town, the wind completely demolished two large barns and a granary. By almost a miracle the stock sheltered in the barn was uninjured. It is believed that the trees around the dwelling saved the house from destruction. Every tree on the place was greatly damaged, large trees were uprooted and the fruit trees in the orchard broken and twisted off. It is estimated that the damage done to Mr. Long's property is over $5,000.00.

In this same locality the roof was blown off a barn on the farm of Mr. Harry Mulder and also the roof was blown off one of the brick kilns belonging to Mr. Frank Collins.

At Venton, about six miles west of Princess Anne, the home of Mr. James Green was struck by lightning and his wife, Mrs. Stella V. Green, and their little child were stunned. The hair on the child's head was burned, but the mother and child soon recovered from the shock.

Death Of Miss Mary G. Jones

Miss Mary G. Jones died at her home in Berlin, Worcester county, Sunday night, July 31st. Miss Jones had been in poor health for several years from a paralytic stroke. Last December she was taken seriously ill, rallying after a time, however; but since February she has lingered between life and death. She was unconscious for several days before her demise.

Her brother, Mr. Omar A. Jones, of Princess Anne, was summoned Monday morning of last week and went to Berlin and remained with his surviving sister, Miss Minnie Jones, until Wednesday, when they, accompanied by the Misses Ella and Margaretta Purnell, of Berlin, brought the remains to Princess Anne, where funeral services were held that afternoon in St. Andrew's Church, conducted by the Rev. Walter Archbold, D. D. Interment was in the family lot in the church cemetery.

Miss Jones was born seventy-two years ago in Princess Anne, where she began teaching school at the age of eighteen. With her mother and sisters she moved to Berlin while still a young woman, and taught for several years at West Ocean City, retiring from a professional life when her help was needed at home. She united with the church early in life, and took an active part in all its work, teaching in the Sunday School until overtaken by the infirmities of life. She was a member of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, of Berlin. When the W. C. T. U. was organized in that town she was chosen its first president, serving in that capacity for several years.

Mr. Miles Files Two Damage Suits

The first evidence of the activities of Mr. Joshua W. Miles, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue, in the practice of law in Baltimore, was manifest last Wednesday when two suits for damages were filed in the Superior Court against the United Railways and Electric Company.

One suit, claiming $50,000 damages, was brought by Mr. Miles for Elsie M. Cox, who seeks to recover for the death of her father, Mr. George A. Cox. The bill alleges that Mr. Cox was struck by a car at Clifton avenue and Dennison street on April 24th last.

Mr. Miles also brought suit against the railway company in behalf of Richard A. Cox, administrator of the estate of George A. Cox, claiming $10,000 as a result of his death.

Pens were first made in Egypt, and were made of a kind of reed. The ancients did not seem to know that good pens could be made from goose quills. In the Idioms, who died in 636, mentions both reeds and feathers as suitable for pens. Swan quills as being better than goose quills were referred to in 1890. Steel pens were invented in the first part of the 19th century. People were slow to use them, because the metal was not sufficiently elastic. Perry cut a slit in steel pens in 1836, and that settled the goose quill.

PRIMARY ELECTION SEPT. 9TH

Chairmen Wade And Tait Fix Time For Selection of Party Candidates

The primary election this fall, at which the two parties will nominate candidates for State Comptroller and members of the Legislature, will be held Friday, September 9th. This date has been agreed upon by Dr. J. Hubert Wade, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Galen L. Tait, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

In the city, nominations by both parties will be made for Sheriff and Clerks of the Court, as well as for members of the Legislature. In the Fourth district candidates for the State Senate also will be nominated.

The following counties also will nominate for the State Senate: Allegany, Cecil, Caroline, Charles, Garrett, Harford, Montgomery, Prince George's, St. Mary's, Talbot, Worcester, Dorchester.

The other 11 counties and the first three districts of Baltimore city are represented by holdover Senators. Of this number eight are Democrats and four Republicans.

The Democrats are: A. Theodore Brady, Anne Arundel; W. I. Norris, First district, Baltimore city; Robert Briggs, Second district, Baltimore city; George A. Frick, Third district, Baltimore city; David G. McIntosh, Baltimore county; H. D. Wolfe, Howard county; W. L. Russell, Kent county; J. H. C. Legg, Queen Anne's county; C. R. Disharoon, Wicomico county.

The Republican holdover Senators are: J. Frank Parran, St. Mary's county; John B. Robins, Somerset county; C. F. Goodell, Frederick county; Richard S. Snowden, Carroll county.

The seats from Allegany and Cecil are vacant. Senator Eppler, of Allegany, resigned to accept appointment on the State Accident Commission and Senator Crothers resigned to accept appointment on the State Tax Commission.

Pearl White In Fascinating Picture

Miss Pearl White, who as a "serial queen" was long known in more theatres the world over than any other motion picture actress, will be at the Auditorium tonight, Tuesday, in her new William Fox feature, "Beyond Price." In "Beyond Price" she has a story that at times is as thrilling as any serial, though essentially a high-class comedy. The story is of a neglected wife who in her despair wishes she were the wife of a millionaire, that she were a famous woman, and that she might feel the clasp of baby arms. Before the picture is finished all these wishes are granted to her.

Moonshiner Arrested At Marion

Rol H. Wilson, a Pennsylvanian, who located near Tull's Corner about three months ago, was arrested last Wednesday charged with selling whiskey to Hance Griffith, of Crisfield. At the same time 60 quarts of whiskey and five barrels of mash were confiscated. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff H. Frank Conner, of Marion, at Wilson's new place on "Lover's Lane," between Marion and Kingston. Wilson moved from his place near Tull's Corner about three weeks ago, and fitted up a modern distillery and liquor dispensing shop at his new location, where the illicit product was dispensed by the drink, bottle or jug. Wilson was landed in the county jail at Princess Anne to await trial and the liquor was placed in the vault of the Farmers' Bank at Marion for safe keeping.

August 19th is the last day on which candidates for office and members of the State Central committees and executive committees can file their certificates for the primary election, which is to be held September 9th.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF SOMERSET COUNTY

All Democratic men and women in Somerset county are invited to attend a Mass-Meeting in the Auditorium, Princess Anne, tomorrow (Wednesday), August 10th, at 2 o'clock p. m., to take such action as may be found necessary looking to the organization of the Democratic Party in the county for the campaign of 1921, and to devise ways and means of bringing about the selection of Democratic candidates for local offices to be voted for in November next, without contest in the primaries to be held in this county on September 9th next.

Combined Elections Advocated

That a saving of $850,000 a year can be effected by combining State and national elections was argued before the Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon in Baltimore last Tuesday by former Congressman Carville D. Benson.

The high national, State and municipal taxes which have been the direct or indirect result of the war were pointed to by the speaker as sufficient reason for searching out ways and means of reducing expenses. The nineteenth amendment, he said, had practically doubled the cost of elections. The alternating of State and national elections causes an election every year, it was said, at a cost of $2,800,000 in every gubernatorial term.

Mr. Benson recommended the election of Governor at the same time members of Congress are elected, and the election of members of the Legislature and other State or county officers whose terms run for two to six years in the year in which the President of the United States is elected. This scheme, it was explained, would cut the number of elections in half and the cost of holding them in like proportion.

Caruso Dies In Naples

Enrico Caruso, world-famous tenor, died in Naples, Italy, last Tuesday. The condition of the singer, which had been considered satisfactory until recently, became serious Monday, peritonitis developing and another operation being made necessary.

From the beginning of his relapse, however, there was serious concern over the outcome, and Monday night his life was despaired of. During the night the condition of the patient grew worse steadily, and the career of the great artist came to an end with his death at an early hour Tuesday morning.

Enrico Caruso has been a world celebrity for more than 25 years. He was born in Naples, Italy, February 25th, 1873, the son of Marcellus Caruso, a mechanic, who detested music but who was persuaded to permit his son when 11 years old to sing in the churches of his native city.

Names For Memorial Bridge

Since the publication of the original list of names of Somerset county men who were in the World War and at the same time asking for the names of men in service not included in the list, more than 100 names have been sent in to the secretary of the committee.

The work on the bridge has commenced and is progressing rapidly, and the committee is anxious to complete the list of names to go on the bridge as soon as practicable.

The list as it stands now shows that there were about 950 Somerset county men in service during the war, but there may still be some names of men in service not sent in. If so please send in the names as soon as possible to the secretary of the committee, Mr. Harry C. Daehliel, of Princess Anne, Md.

William Logan Injured By Auto

When a mule on which he was riding stepped out in front of a car driven by Vance W. Miles, of Marion, near the postoffice in that town last Wednesday afternoon, William Logan was struck and badly injured. He was removed to the General and Marine Hospital, Crisfield, for treatment, where it was found that his left leg had been so badly crushed that it was feared it would be necessary to amputate the member. His condition is still regarded as critical. The accident seems to have been one of those unavoidable affairs and it is understood to have been due entirely to the movements of the mule on which Logan was riding, in jumping in front of Mr. Miles' car just as the automobile was about to turn around the corner at Marion.

Driverless Car The Latest

Dayton, Ohio, traffic policemen rubbed their eyes last Friday when a miniature automobile sailed past all semaphores. There wasn't a soul in it.

I was a driverless radio automobile from McCook Field, controlled by a radio in a car 100 feet behind it. The auto itself contained no wireless and is said to be the first of its kind publicly exhibited by the Radio Air Service.

Donations For Near East Relief

Farmers of this county can ascertain from their county agent the collection points to which to take the grain for donation to the Near East Relief during the present appeal for corn and wheat which ends August 15th, inclusive. The county agents for Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester are: C. Z. Keller, Princess Anne; G. R. Cobb, Salisbury; E. I. Oswald, Snow Hill.

"Granges and county federations are given wonderful opportunity in this appeal to the farmers to perform a real humanitarian work," says Harold F. Pellegrin, Maryland Director Near East Relief, "and we are counting heavily upon their co-operation. We are depending upon them mainly for the work of organization and the carrying out of the details for the appeal in the various counties and we feel sure this help is being cheerfully and heartily given."

The farmers are asked to give 14,000 bushels of both their surplus corn and wheat that an urgent and critical food crisis in the Caucasus and the Levant, threatening many thousands of adults and little ones, may be alleviated. The first donation reported to Maryland Headquarters, is 25 bushels of wheat from J. R. Selby, President of the Howard County Farmers' Association.

Farin Credits Bill Passed By Senate

Another farmer's relief measure, the administration plan for government aid in supplying credit for exportation of agricultural products, was passed by the Senate last Thursday and sent to the House.

The bill was a substitute for the original Norris bill and provides for the War Finance Corporation to furnish the export credits. The Norris bill, which proposed a new government credit organization, was laid aside formally and the substitute drafted by Secretary Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, and Director Meyer, of the War Finance Corporation, was adopted virtually intact Thursday. The bill authorizes the War Finance Corporation to make loans to agricultural associations, banks and trust companies. The bill makes no change in the corporation's cash capital of $500,000,000, but reduces from $3,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 the authorized maximum of bonds it may issue.

This, according to Director Meyer, will be more than sufficient. Through loans to banks on agricultural collateral, it is expected the bill's influence will be felt mostly by the expansion of credit available to farmers.

Gloomy Outlook For Tomato Pack

Senator Asa Bennett, of Delaware, is pessimistic about the tomato pack this year, which, he says, will be only 30 per cent. normal. He says the inability of the canners to finance a large crop caused the reduction of the tomato acreage. To quote him:

"Most of the tomatoes in the market come from Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. The farmers reduced their acreage to a certain extent because of the low 1920 prices, but the thing which did the real damage was a severe drought. It began after the young plants were set out and continued until about two weeks ago. The tomato pack is going to run about 30 per cent. normal. The canning companies were hit hard in 1920. Prices were high because of a combination of high labor costs and high materials. The government released its high stock of canned goods at cost. Money conditions tightened and it was a case of throwing canned goods on the market for almost any price they would bring in order to meet mortgages and notes. The result was that in 1921 only the largest companies can buy big crops from the farmers. Add to that the unfavorable weather conditions and you have the reason for the shortage."

Give Grain To Near East Relief

Farmers in Somerset county are giving corn and wheat to the Near East Relief for the starving in the Near East. Maryland farmers are asked to give a barrel of corn or a sack of wheat to this worthy cause during the campaign which ends August 15th.

Farmers desiring to give donations can leave the grain at either the Westover Mills or Cohn & Bock Company, Princess Anne. The grain will be shipped from these points to headquarters in Baltimore from where it will be sent to the foreign countries.

The game played last Saturday afternoon between Princess Anne and Parkley was forfeited to Princess Anne.

The argument started in the seventh inning, after Pruitt, the first man at the bat, made a safe hit. W. Bounds, the next man at the bat, made a clean hit to center field. The ball was played to second to catch Pruitt. Umpire Brehm for Parkley called Pruitt safe. Catez, playing third for Parkley, called "out," and the umpire then changed his decision and also called him out. An argument followed. Princess Anne contended that an umpire could make but one decision. Parkley then left the field, and Umpire Simpkins, in charge back of the bat, gave three minutes to resume play, at the end of which time he forfeited the game to Princess Anne.

DIVORCED LONG-DEAD WIFE

Chinese Merchant's Action Due to Belief That Her Spirit Caused New Helpmate's Illness.

How a Chinese merchant divorced his wife after she had been dead for several years is the gist of a story which appeared in the Chinese press recently.

A Soochow tea merchant, the narrative says, by the name of Lyuh, had taken a second wife some time after the death of his first. As a result of the second union a daughter was born. Several days after giving birth, the young mother was taken ill and grew worse and worse as time went by.

All sorts of healing methods were tried without avail and it was feared that the young wife would die. At last a woman was called in and gave the opinion that the spirit of the man's former wife was causing the illness. Prayers were then offered to the dead wife, but still there were no signs of the living wife's recovery. The woman then suggested that the husband draw up a deed divorcing the dead wife just as if she were alive. This the husband, for a time, refused to do, but was later prevailed upon to do so in order to save his second wife's life. The deed was then taken to a temple and burned on the altar.

Immediately afterward the living wife showed signs of recovery and was soon her normal self again.

DEMAND IS FOR SPECIALISTS

Versatile Man Has Little Chance of Rising to Really Commanding Position in the World.

The versatile man has always been a source both of envy and of pity, says a writer in the London Daily Express. We wish at times we had his talents, but then we recollect the ancient proverb, "Jack-of-all-trades," and we wisely are content to be ourselves.

Versatility is an enviable luxury—but it remains a luxury. It is of little market value in this world. Each generation becomes more and more a generation of "specialists"—one man picks the hops, the other brews the beer.

So it is in every path of life, and so must be. Progress does not come of discussing delicately "cabbages and kings" in my lady's drawing room. Progress comes from gritting our teeth and mastering one thing at a time.

Once we have struck our roots, then, certainly, the wider our interests are, the more we appreciate life. But the merely versatile man has never struck his roots. His talents may be varied, but he fails to savor life in its finest sense because he has never learned the meaning of the finest sense.

Do one thing with all your might and happiness is yours. Do two things with half your might and your labors are vain. Make up your mind what you want to do or be. Then refuse to be led away by side issues.

Dice Used by the Ancients.

Dice, in some form or other, have existed in every period of history and in every nation. They are depicted on the early Egyptian monuments, and those excavated at Thebes are very similar to the dice made today. Their use is attested by laws regulating the games played with them in ancient Greece and Rome, as well as in most European countries.

The invention of dice is attributed to Palamedes, about 1244 B. C. But the use of cubes with numbered sides for gambling purposes is probably much earlier.

The Latin word for dice, tesserae, is derived from the Greek tesseres, tennic for tesseres, four, because it is on every side square. Frequent passages in the works of ancient writers and numerous representations in marble and paintings show how popular dice playing was among them.

"Shape" of the Sky.

What is the apparent form of the vault of the sky? There is probably no one to whose eyes it seems a true hemisphere, with its zenith appearing as distant as the horizon. At sea, or in a flat country, the seeming greater distance of the horizon is best shown. One authority, in discussing this question, reaches the conclusion that the form of the vault, in vertical section, is that of the segment of a circle, the arc of which subtends at the center an angle of the order of 40 degrees. If the reader will draw such a segment, he may be surprised by the amount of flattening, which is thus ascribed to the sky. From this optical illusion many curious effects arise, such as the seeming increased magnitude of the sun and moon when near the horizon, and the apparently oval form of halos and coronas seen at low altitudes.

Criminal's Fatal Slip.

A curious error, due to the criminal's ignorance of science, actually kept the evidence of one murder intact for 12 months. The murderer after killing his victim, a woman, placed the body in a dry cellar and covered it with chloride of lime. He thought the lime would destroy the identity of the body, whereas it did exactly the opposite. The body was in such a good state of preservation a year after that the medical experts had no difficulty in establishing through it the vital clue to the crime and the criminal. If the man only had mixed some water with the lime he might have escaped detection.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Artificial Limbs.

Artificial arms and legs were, it is believed, used in Egypt as early as 700 B. C. It is said they were made by the priests, who were the physicians and surgeons of those days in the land of the Nile, and the limbs were well constructed.

Another Ancient Civilization.

Ruins recently discovered in the vicinity of El Perote, State of Vera Cruz, reveal the existence of an ancient civilization hitherto unknown. Idols discovered are neither of stone or clay, but of a curious bright substance, heavy and looking like tin.

STOVE FIRST MADE IN 1855

But Dr. Nell Arnott, an Englishman, Had the Germ of the Idea in the Year 1821.

Stoves are a comparatively recent invention. True, stoves of some sort were used by the ancients and even by the savage tribes which preceded their civilization, but the first real modern "improvement in the production and agency of heat," as he called it, was made by Dr. Nell Arnott and announced to a marveling England Nov. 4, 1821, the Detroit News states.

How much stoves were in need of modernization in those days is proven by the fact that when the German, Dr. C. William Siemes, in 1850, described his first "smokeless" stoves, not only the scientific world but all properly conducted households greeted him as a great inventor.

The next steps forward were made by T. Pridgin Teale in 1855 and from that day dates the stove as we know it now.

But prior to Teale's inventions the world was made acquainted by the American, Hamilton, in 1874, with a system of compressed grass, straw and other materials in such a manner that they could be burnt without producing masses of suffocating smoke. Hamilton's invention was dedicated to localities where wood was scarce. It never had much vogue, but presumably was deeply appreciated by the people whom he had a mind in devising his patent.

INSANITY TEST APPLIED TO USE OF POCKET-BOOK

Pastor Gives Sure Method Of Finding Out Whether Anyone Is Becoming Financially Crazy.

A sure test for financial insanity is outlined by Dr. J. A. Geissinger, pastor of the Methodist Church of Anaheim, Cal. The day the thrift movement was instituted in the public schools of Anaheim, Dr. Geissinger issued the following statement to the citizens of that municipality.

"A common test for insanity is to set the person suspected of being mentally unbalanced to filling a tank. The faucet is turned on but the vent is left open. If the suspect continues to try to fill the tank without closing the vent he is no longer considered a suspect. He is known to be downright crazy. Financially there are a lot of Americans who are surely 'cocoed.' The boys and girls who line up in this movement will have the satisfaction of knowing they are not as insane as their fellows who let the leak run.

"This is a specially good move for boys and girls, for the time to form habits of thrift, as well as any other good habit is as early as possible. But it would be a good thing for the older people, too. America needs a new emphasis upon thrift as much as any other one thing.

"This thrift movement isn't an attempt to raise a crop of tightwads. Thrift is defined as 'a prudent use of resources.' Not only material resources, but all of them. The American people have been shamelessly reckless. They have had no regard for their health. They have had no regard for their natural resources, their forests for example. They are eating up their spiritual capital now. And on the ground that you can't teach an old hen new tricks, it is best to begin with the boys and girls."

Put off foolish expenditures today in order that you may make wiser, well-considered purchases tomorrow.

The prosperity of your town depends upon the prosperity of the individuals. Do your part.

ODD BELIEFS ONCE COMMON

Until Comparatively Recent Times, Silly Superstitions Had a Great Hold on the People.

Superstitions in regard to the most familiar things, as well as the most unfamiliar, still linger, even in a scientific age like ours.

What man of middle age cannot remember as a boy firmly believing that if he should touch a toad warts would grow on his fingers; that if he should drop a hair from a horse's tail into water it would become a water snake; that cobweb would stop the bleeding of a wound; that a stiff breast bone in a goose betokened a cold winter? Every countryman believes some of these and scores besides.

These superstitions are merely survivals of countless beliefs which seem to us mostly ridiculous, but which were once gravely accepted by everybody, even the most learned. How far back they go nobody knows. But Pliny, in his "Natural History," written in the first century of the Christian era, is full of them.

And all down the centuries, especially through the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, there were scores of books which gathered and advanced such "wisdom," and they found a public way down into the Eighteenth century. They find their way—these beliefs—into literature, and Shakespeare's plays are dotted through with examples of them.

"Pandects."

"Pandects" is derived from the Greek and means "all-containing." The Pandects of Justinian is a collection of Roman civil law, made by the Emperor Justinian in the Sixth century, containing legal decisions of judgments, to which the emperor gave the force and authority of the law. This compilation of 50 books is the most important of the body of the Roman civil law.

"Miss Nancy."

This term is generally supposed to have originated in connection with Anna Oldfield, an actress of the Eighteenth century. Her vanity was so colossal that on her deathbed she requested that her remains be laid in state dressed in "very fine Brussels lace headress, a Holland skirt, with tucker and double ruffles, new kid gloves, etc."

Pimentoes Not Canned in Oil.

The Department of Agriculture says that it is a mistaken idea that oil is added in canning pimentoes. They say that pimentoes contain in themselves a natural oil which is sufficient for the purpose. The real Spanish pimentoes are invariably canned in their own juices.

"The Well of Montezuma."

Among the many natural curiosities of Arizona, one that is not often visited by tourists, is the singular bowl-shaped depression in Yavapai county, called "The Well of Montezuma." It is nearly circular, and between 500 and 600 feet in diameter at the brim. It lies in the midst of a nearly-level area. The sides are vertical to a depth of 30 or 40 feet. Below that they merge into a sloping shape, which extends down to a circular pool of water, alleged by popular tradition, as are so many other not very deep areas of water, to be bottomless.

This remarkable formation has usually been described as a "pit crater" of volcanic origin, the result of the falling of the roof of a cavern, formed in the limestone strata by running water. The water of the pool, it is said, flows out through a subterranean channel into the valley of Beaver creek.

Town's Natural Advantages.

The little river Arrow—no bigger than a good-sized brook—runs past the outskirts of the town of Redditch, England, on its way to join Shakespeare's Avon near Bidford, a few miles above Stratford-on-Avon. Along the bed of the Arrow you can find smooth pebbles of a peculiarly hard crystalline nature; they are known locally as "emery stones," and were invaluable for polishing needles not only when simple handprocesses were in vogue, but also for a considerable time later. The makers gave a few pence to children for picking a dozen or two out of the shallows of the brook. Thus Redditch could polish its needles more cheaply than those towns which had to pay carriage for emery stones, and upon this tiny detail hinges the development of an important British industry.—Christian Science Monitor.

Hopeful Outlook.

"Well," said the judge, "what's your argument this time? Aren't you ever going to get over the habit of beating your wife?"

"Yes, judge, I'm beginning to have hopes. She don't look as though she could pull through many more of 'em."

Renovating a Lantern.

If the iron surface of your lantern has become rusty rub off all the rust with the fine glasspaper or other polishing material. When the smooth iron is exposed give it a coat of black lead, or some similar preparation.

Champion Bird Swallower.

The cassowary has a reputation as a champion swallower. Owing to its habit of swallowing stones and other hard substances to assist its digestion, some wonderful stories have been told of its powers of gluttony.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 9, 1921

Some of these two weeks courtships are often followed by two years divorce suits.

The public health would be benefited by a little less rum running and a little more base running.

No one has denied that Chief Justice Taft has breadth after observing the size chair that he takes.

The boys home from college are working hard keeping their father's automobiles from rusting out in the garage.

It is about as hard for the politicians to practise economy as for a hungry kid to discourage the production of doughnuts.

Under new tariff bill, skeletons will come in free of duty. Here's a fine fine chance for people to get one for their closet.

The popular impression prevails that Congress is asleep but probably they are merely lying down to get their ears to the ground.

While John Barleycorn was ignominiously kicked out the front door, sounds are heard that he is trying to climb in by the cellar window.

The keen desire of many people for communion with nature disappeared when you could no longer set up a beer keg at a public picnic.

The old man does not always get away on the vacation with his family, but they feel they can tell him all about it when they get home.

President Harding chopped wood on the picnic the other day and his admirers are confident that he can split it as fast as ex-Kaiser Bill can saw it.

The people who pack sardines could get some good ideas by watching the crowds jammed into trains and automobiles for the summer resorts.

In some of these places that are tarring and feathering people don't look out they won't have enough material left for concrete walks or sofa pillows.

The Russian bolsheviks claim they are uplifting the people of that country but the only thing they have uplifted so far is the price of all the necessities of life.

Perhaps the scarcity of housework girls is not due so much to the severity of their labors as that they are kept busy during the young men's courting hours.

The government is interfering with most everything new and pretty soon you won't be able to chop up the kindling wood without having an inspector come in to supervise it.

It was supposed when the war stopped that we were going to beat our swords into ploughshares, but according to all indications most of our ploughshares have been beaten into automobile engines.

THE RETURN OF THE SOLDIER DEAD
The return of the bodies of a large part of the soldiers who died on foreign soil is creating in many places scenes of patriotic and pathetic interest. The friends who have desired the return of these remains will perhaps find some comfort in the proximity of those last relics. The people will be glad that no effort or expense was spared to give this bit of satisfaction to those who made so great a sacrifice.

The bodies of those that remain in the foreign soil which they so nobly freed of the brutal invader will not be forgotten. They rest in "fame's eternal camping ground," with a multitude of noble dead.

It is a day of many sad memories when the last rites are said at the little home burial grounds where the soldier bodies finally find their last resting place. Yet perhaps the bitterness of grief has passed away so that the friends of these dear boys can feel the honor that comes with the tragedy.

These young men achieved the highest triumph of life. Nothing that they could have accomplished in seventy years of ordinary living could compare with what they did in these few short months. They will be remembered forever as the saviors of their country, as the men who showed their ability to rise above pain, sorrow, peril and fear, and to attain the highest level of nobility.

Any family that is represented in these quiet cemeteries by one of these boys has a right to feel proud of the contribution it has made to the rest of the world. It has given the highest gift in human power and it should be cherished forever in a special place of honor in the community. Our people should not forget the boys who have made this sacrifice, nor the sorrowing ones left behind, but show the survivors by constant sympathy and friendship how much this service is valued and treasured.

EFFICIENCY OF THE RAILROADS

Henry Ford's experiences in running the Toledo, Detroit and Ironton Railroad are interesting and may throw light on the railroad problem as a whole. Mr. Ford claims that when his company got hold of this road they were able to do away with the whole systems of useless red tape, thus reducing the costs of operation. If Mr. Ford could do it on his road, the same thing might perhaps be done on others.

The railroad managers have probably done their best to systematize operations on their roads, as any man who could get a reputation for reducing operating expenses has stood to profit greatly from his achievement. But some of the men who operate railroads have not probably had sufficient experience in developing business efficiency.

It takes not merely experience in handling industrial operations but a peculiar gift for seeing the easiest and simplest way to do things, to make a man an expert on efficiency. Many men who have worked all their lives in factories, continue to do their work by roundabout and awkward methods, until some man with the gift of seeing short cuts watches them and shows how they can simplify their motions.

Similarly a man may have done railroading all his life without being able to see the shortest and simplest way to keep the traffic moving. The railroads ought to be employing the most expert efficiency talent in the country to see if their processes can be simplified.

Henry Ford says he obviated the necessity of tying up $28,000,000 in goods in transit by securing prompter delivery of material by the railroads. The country's business would run better if railroad deliveries could be expedited so that the manufacturers and merchants would not need to keep such large stocks on hand. Improved equipment would help the railroads reduce costs and speed traffic, but the poor financial condition of the roads has prevented getting it.

DOCTORS' FEES

Johns Hopkins Hospital's decree that the physicians of Baltimore and others practicing in that institution shall not charge more than $1,000 for a surgical operation or more than $35 a week for attendance, has started an ethical discussion in professional circles, and already brought out the friend of the people who from time to time cries out for legislative regulation of medicinal and surgical service.

But for the average mortal who has cause to call upon the doctor it will mean little or nothing. It would be more interesting to know that the hospital had set a low limit on the cost of its own services and charges.

The medical fee agitation is an old-timer, but it never gets very far. The medical profession never has acquired a reputation for gouging. There is an automatic regulation of the doctor's fee that works out better than any State enforced schedule that could be devised.

Doctors adjust their charges to the patient's purse and the adjustment is as often downward where there is lack of funds as it is upward where there is plenty. Moreover, this surcharge makes the other possible. Most doctors have a sense of being servants of humanity that has been to the immense advantage of many low in purse. Hard and fast rules such as have been laid down in Baltimore seem superfluous and rather as another freak of the modern rage for regulation from which the medical profession, above all others, might well be spared.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

L. Anderson, Charles Davis and James Marriner, and on the south by the lands of James Marriner, and containing more or less, which was devised to Jeanette B. Dryden by William T. Marriner, in the 7th item of his last will and testament, dated the 16th day of August, 1899, and recorded among the testamentary records of said Somerset county in Liber H. H. D., No. 6, folio 259. THE RUSH FOR DIVORCE

The annual report of the county clerk at San Francisco shows that 7585 marriage licenses were issued during the year ended June 30th, while suits for divorce totaled 3678. Half of the marriages in that city are proving failures and a wreck of broken homes is the destructive result.

It is a pathetic aftermath of disillusion for these ill-mated couples, that entered the married state with such rose dreams of happiness. It is worse for the children, none of whom can know the full benefits of parental love and guidance. They must miss either the father's guidance or the mother's love. The community suffers in development of its citizenship when so many matrimonial ventures go to shipwreck. Matrimony in many places is getting to be too much of a trial marriage affair.

Same Old Story But a Good One.

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

Seven months of 1921 have gone, and yet quite a number of subscribers to the Marylander and Herald have not paid for this year's paper. It takes a great deal of money to publish this paper every week and we ask those who have not paid their subscriptions to do so at once. Look at the label today and see if you are in arrears.

The General Clergy Relief Fund of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States receives $12,000 from the estate of Frances C. Wilson, whose will was probated in Philadelphia last Wednesday. Election Laws Published

"Registration and Election Laws of Maryland," a formidable blue-jacketed volume of 311 pages, published by Secretary of State Philip B. Pearlman, came from the printer last Friday. Delivery of copies to the Board of Election Supervisors of Baltimore city began at once. This week Secretary Pearlman hopes to have copies delivered to the supervisors of all counties.

The new edition, issued by direction of the General Assembly, contains all amendments to the election laws, including those passed by the special session of the Legislature last year after the ratification of the suffrage amendment. A new and comprehensive index has been arranged, covering the general and primary election laws and the Corrupt Practices Act.

Gem Was Natural Thermometer.

It was a wonderful supple, so it is said, that led the celebrated Doctor Sorby to the discovery of the nature of the liquid sometimes found inclosed in the cavities of crystals. The gem in question contained a tube-shaped cavity a quarter of an inch long and an eighteenth of an inch in diameter, which was so regular in its bore that it served, by means of the liquid partially filling it, for a thermometer. The contained liquid half-filled the bore at 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and completely filled it at 80 degrees. A study of the rate of expansion of the liquid led to the conclusion that it must be carbonic acid.

Look At The Date On Pink Label

The little pink label on your paper does more than bring this paper to you faithfully week after week, giving you the news of your friends, your county, of your State. It tells you at a glance just how many more weeks will elapse before your subscription expires. Look at the label today and see if you are in arrears and renew your subscription. By doing this you will render a great service to the Marylander and Herald and at the same time will assure yourself of the satisfaction of receiving the paper promptly and without interruption. If the label shows that your subscription is out or in arrears, mail a money order or check for $1.50, as all subscriptions must be paid in advance.

It is expected that pure-bred pigs from every county in the State will be exhibited at the Timonium Fair by the club boys of the State.

1400 More Soldier Dead Home

Conveying the bodies of 1,400 American soldiers who died on French battle fields, the army transport Cantigny docked at Hoboken, N. Y., last Wednesday. Memorial services for the dead were held at the pier last Sunday.

The total number of soldier dead brought back to America since the work of disinterment was undertaken is 31,657. Thirteen thousand bodies remain to be transported. The bodies of 34,000 will be allowed to remain where they are buried in French cemeteries, in accordance with the wishes of their relatives.

Decrease In Child Labor

Less than half as many children between 14 and 16 years have gone to work in Maryland since the first of the year, as in the corresponding period of 1920, according to figures on file at the State Board of Labor and Statistics. The falling off continues, and indications are that a heavy decline will be recorded for the year, in sharp contrast to an increase of several thousand from 1919 to 1920.

The decrease, which has been especially marked during the summer vacation period, is attributed by Charles J. Fox, chairman of the board, to general scarcity of jobs, both in Baltimore and in the counties. Under the law every child is required to show that he has obtained employment and its nature before receiving a permit.

Y. M. C. A. To Assist Law Students

Deserving young men in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, who desire to take up the study of law are to be given every possible assistance by the Washington Y. M. C. A., according to a plan which is being worked out by the director of the Department of Education.

Owing to the fact that many young men living in smaller towns and cities of the country are unable to fulfill their ambitions to study law because of financial limitations, the "Y" is extending its service into this particular field, and through its Employment Bureau will endeavor to find employment in Washington for a limited number of deserving young men, thereby making it possible for them to attend the night law school which is a part of the Educational Department of the Washington "Y." Names of candidates should be sent to Arthur L. Ward, Director, Department of Education, Y. M. C. A., 1736 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Big Gain In Maryland Manufactures

A gratifying increase in the capital and value of output of the manufacturing industry in Maryland for the year 1919, as compared with figures for 1914, was reported last Tuesday in a preliminary survey by the Bureau of the Census. The bureau announced that the figures do not include the hand trades, building trades and neighborhood industries, but took account only of establishments conducted under the factory system.

In 1919 there were 4,937 manufacturing establishments in Maryland, compared with 4,797 in 1914. The capital invested had increased in the five years from $293,211,000 to $619,607,000. The value of products in 1914 was only $377,749,000, while in 1919 this value had grown to $873,945,000. Salaries had jumped from $18,000,000 to $42,000,000 and wages from $53,792,000 to $147,859,000.

The number of salaried employees in 1914 was 14,801 and the number of wage-earners 11,585. In 1919 the salaried employees numbered 20,394 and the wage-earners 140,360. Materials used in manufacture were estimated as worth $238,792,000 in 1914, while in 1919 this value was given as $549,347,000.

Well Done, Governor

Governor Ritchie could have done no less than he did with respect to the police magistrates of Baltimore. A situation confronted him which demanded drastic action, and had he failed to meet it properly his failure would have reflected upon himself. The men in question were his own appointees, and refusal to discipline or rebuke them would have been taken as an indorsement of them. Nevertheless, the Governor deserves strong commendation for the courage he has shown in doing the right thing in the right way. He followed long-standing political custom in the selection of the men he assigned to these positions and they are no worse than the general type of officials who have been chosen for this work for several generations. But he differs from preceding Governors and has broken with tradition in this, that he has met the issue squarely and manfully, without regard to political consequences.

Governor Ritchie has established a new precedent that will hereafter exercise a most wholesome influence and will strengthen confidence in his political integrity. Public sense of decency has been shocked by certain recent developments and the Governor has served notice on all concerned that he will not wink at such things or become a party to them.—Baltimore Sun.

Cause Of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

LEGION OFFICER KNOWS NAVY

Edward Spafford, Chairman of Committee on Naval Affairs, Has Climbed the Ladder.

Edward Elwell Spafford, newly appointed chairman of the American Legion's committee on naval affairs, knows the United States navy on land and on sea as few other men do.

Born in Springfield, Vt., Mr. Spafford was educated in the public schools. He received an appointment to the United States Naval academy in 1901. Assigned to the ship Washington, he became gunnery officer; at that time he was the youngest officer in the navy to hold this position.

While the Washington was lying off Cape Hatteras a sailor was washed overboard in a heavy sea. Risking his life in the waves, Mr. Spafford plunged overboard and succeeded in rescuing the seaman. His bravery was recognized in a letter of commendation from the secretary of the navy. He rose to the rank of lieutenant commander.

In 1914 Mr. Spafford resigned from the navy to study law at Columbia university.

With the start of the war Mr. Spafford offered his services to his country and he was made a lieutenant commander in the navy reserve corps. He served for a time as a member of the board of inspection and survey, which was in charge of the selection of ships to be purchased by the government. He directed the fitting out of the first 25 110-foot submarine chasers built for distance service and established a submarine chaser base at New London, Conn.

When the American navy became active in the Straits of Otranto, Mr. Spafford was sent to establish a submarine chaser base at Corfu, Greece, and later became chief of staff of that station. He was in charge of all operations and was on the first American submarine chaser which destroyed an enemy ship after locating it by the process of sound contact.

When the Austrians surrendered two battleships and two destroyers to the United States, Lieutenant Commander Spafford took them over. Later, he investigated the situation along the Dalmatian coast and made a special report on Fiume to the American peace delegation at Paris. He received the Distinguished Service Medal. Mr. Spafford is a member of Manhattan naval post of the American Legion in New York city.

SAYS NO MAN HER SUPERIOR

Bright-Eyed Sergeant and Vice Commander of Post Bluffed Mr. Silver-Eagles.

Who else but a bright-eyed, smiling American girl could have gotten away with it?

Sergeant Minnie Arthur of the United States marine corps was on duty in a recruiting office in Indianapolis, Ind., during the war. The major in charge was nervous; a colonel from Washington was coming to inspect; everyone brushed up on rules of military conduct. In walked the austere colonel, Sergeant Arthur remained working at her desk. Silver-eagles walked over to her desk and frowned.

"Um—ever get up when an officer comes in the room, sergeant?" he growled.

"Yes, sir, sometimes," Miss Three Stripes replied.

"Um—and I suppose you salute your superiors, too, eh?"

Sergeant Arthur smiled sweetly—and then her eyes snapped.

"Sir, I've never seen a man yet who was my superior!"

And the colonel passed it off without a reprimand.

Miss Arthur, now vice-commander of Robert E. Kennington post of the American Legion in Indianapolis, enlisted for four years and served 18 months. She is still in the reserve, drawing $1 a month with which she buys hair nets. She is authority on Librarian golf and plays a good hand at "blackjack."

On the Square.

"We had quite a game up to the boarding house last night."

"Poker?"

"No. The landlady was going to lick one of the boys for not paying his board. I tried to check her, she jumped me, crowned him and told us both to move."

"Did you do it?"

"Check"—American Legion Weekly.

IS BUSY LEGION ORGANIZER

Vice Commander of Body in New York Perfects One of the Most Powerful Units.

Believing that the county organization is a vital part of the American Legion, William F. Deegan, first vice commander of the Legion in New York, has perfected in Bronx county one of the most powerful Legion units in the country.

Among the accomplishments of the Bronx county organization is the placing of bronze plaques on 950 trees as a memorial to the World war dead; employment provided for hundreds of ex-service men by the employment committee, and relief to sick and wounded veterans in New York city hospitals from the Legion's welfare committee.

Mr. Deegan, when asked to give some of his working principles, said: "I insist upon every post being represented at a county meeting held once a month. I visit every post at least once or twice a month and for the benefit of Legionnaires have arranged for a legal committee to take up the principal troubles of the boys, without cost. I find that Legion men have absolute confidence in their officers, provided they know that they do not seek political office at their expense. To that end I make every effort to keep the organization free from men holding appointive offices."

"Personal contact with your post is absolutely necessary—telling them what is going on, listening to complaints and abolishing wherever possible parliamentary procedure, because delegates oftentimes will come to meetings and fear to speak on a subject which is vital to the interests of the organization, because they do not know whether they are in order."

During the war Mr. Deegan was attached to the staff of Gen. George W. Goethals and was assigned to inspect the army bases along the Atlantic coast and inland army depots. He was discharged a major in 1919.

LEGION MAN ON LONG HIKE

Sergeant Sylvester of Indiana Is Scheduled to Walk 737 Miles to Boost Training Camps.

Former doughboys will reflect long upon the sad case of Sgt. Harley C. Sylvester, who likes the walking branch of the service so well that he voluntarily agreed to hike an average of 18½ miles a day for 40 days to tell the peaceful citizenry why they should learn to fight.

When officials of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., looked about for the representative type of American soldier to advertise the citizens' military training camps to be held during the summer, they found Sergeant Sylvester, overseas veteran and member of the American Legion at the military post, still in the service.

Sergeant Sylvester is scheduled to cover 737 miles during the 40 days. He is visiting towns and cities in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. He carries light marching equipment and is the guest of his buddies in the Legion posts along the dusty route.

The American Legion will assist in obtaining recruits for the citizens' military training camps, according to a resolution adopted by the military policy committee of the ex-service men's organization.

TRANSFERS PAY TO LEGION

Permanently Disabled Yank, Propped Up in Bed, Signs Over Bonus Check to Post.

A striking example of the gratitude of the nation's disabled veterans for those who have aided them in their hours of suffering has come to the attention of Lee C. Prentice post of the American Legion in Fairmount, Minn.

Cletus Lappin, a young soldier severely wounded on the battlefields of France and now in hospital, rated totally and permanently disabled, received a check in payment for the state bonus while taking treatment in a sanitarium at Fairmount.

Asking to be propped up in bed, Lappin endorsed the slip, good for several hundred dollars, to the Prentice post of the Legion. "When I needed help," said the boy who had given the best of his life to his country, "the Legion boys stood by me. Now I'm going to do my little bit to help them get those clubrooms they are after."

Torpid Liver

Black-Draught "has no equal for headache, sour stomach, torpid liver and feverish colds..." declares Mrs. Annie Whitmore, of Gate City, Va. "It is easy to take and does not gripe, as a lot of medicines do," she adds. "It is good to take in a hot tea for colds, or can be taken in a dry powder. I can't say enough for Black-Draught and the sickness it has saved us."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

has been found a valuable liver medicine, in thousands of homes. "I do not use any other liver medicine," says Mrs. Mary O. Brown, of Europa, Miss. Truth in Statement That Red Flag Is Never Flown Above Abodes of Happiness.

"It has been truthfully stated by many authorities that the red flag of anarchy or Bolshevism has never been found flying from a man's own home," says the Journal, Material Facts, Cleveland, Ohio.

"Agitators and disturbers are the rolling population bent only on fomenting hatred. They believe in many 'isms' because they mean equal division, and these wanderers, having nothing are willing to divide. Cleveland, now the fourth city, has reached her present position because her citizens are home owners and are using every effort to further Cleveland interests."

"Owning one's home is beneficial from an economic standpoint. The future of our country depends upon its citizens. Crowding of families into tenements tends to destroy the physical fabric, while the lack of privacy in home life leads to the breaking down of established moral precedents. The archbishop of Canterbury in a recent message states: 'The overcrowding in some regions, both urban and rural, ought to fill us with shame. It is, of course, a fruitful source of immorality, as well as disease. We are absolutely bound to make a genuine and sustained effort to secure that every man, woman and child shall have such accommodations as will enable him or her to live in health and honor.'"

"To this end, then, of a better citizenry, a better city, a more glorious state, a most magnificent country and for a sane and healthy people, let every one cultivate the saving and thrift essential to the ownership of a home."

WOULD BOYCOTT SIGN USERS

New York Newspaper Advocates Dramatic Action Against the Disfigurers of Beautiful Scenery.

Everywhere the motorist travels the natural beautiful scenery is marred by glaring signs, not only small boards, but immense structures often a hundred feet or more in length and twenty or more feet in height.

Just at a bend in the road where the tourist expects to have a fine view sweeping over a broad valley the scene is completely cut off by a monstrous and offensive structure covered with a glaring advertisement.

At some points both sides of the road will be lined with these unsightly and ugly advertising walls.

In England the disfiguring of fences, buildings and other places with signs is prevented by law on the ground that the good taste of the people is offended and the landscape disfigured.

Some of the worst offenders are manufacturers who are interested in the development of motoring. They have boarded up the roadways along the whole eastern part of the United States, much to the annoyance of motorists and disfigurement of the landscape.

If the nuisance cannot be stopped any other way, motorists can at least agree not to patronize any concern, aiding in detracting from the natural beauty of our country and the pleasure of the public.—New York Sun.

Build House on Hill.

The cottage in the dell is all very poetical and furnishes a good design for the illustrated cover of the popular ballad, but the house that is built on the hillside is superior in every way and particularly has it a distinct garden advantage over other sites. Here in picturesque levels the small plots of ground hang one above another in stiltlike fashion. Delphiniums in blue, violet and heliotrope may crown the tier of terraces, at the base of which a plain bit of lawn borders on the street or roadway, edged with boxwood to give an atmosphere of venerableness reminiscent of old-time gardens, fragrant with lavender, southernwood and spicy herbs.

Make the Home Attractive.

The only way to make a city attractive is for the individual family to insist on buying only attractive homes, and particularly to take the responsibility for making its home grounds attractive.

Grass seed may be sown, shrubbery planted and cultivated, flowers provided for, and painting done. If every person in a block makes his place neat and trim, the whole block will help the appearance of the city. A single negligent home owner may spoil the work of a dozen neighbors.

Good in City Planning.

It is easy to see how one phase of city planning relates itself to other phases, and how desirable it is for one part of a city or one business in a city to be developed with due consideration to other parts and to other business. City planning is nothing less than a community affair and nothing more than a sensible and businesslike provision for the best possible development of all the community's interests.—Kansas City Star.

POSSIBLE TO BE TOO FRANK

Honest Criticism by Friends Would Wreck Relations—Almost Every One Has "Paste Jewels."

It is impossible to tell the whole truth to an average human being and still remain on terms of friendship with him. There is little friendship without make-believe. If two men are close friends, you may take it that they have been pretending to a considerably higher estimate of each other than they would set down in a perfect, honest diary.

It is not necessary that they should deliberately lie to another, but they must discreetly conceal a certain amount of criticism that is going on all the time behind the bones of their skulls.

What is said in a spirit of truth is set down to malice. Can a man be your friend if he steals the crown from your head? Can he be your friend even if he steals a single jewel from your crown—especially the paste jewel? We have all—the greatest and the meanest of us—paste jewels in our crowns. Will a true friend point them out to a world that is already over-much inclined to scoff? Or will he not rather organize a clique that will pretend to be dazzled by diamonds?

Man is not only a realist. He is also a lover of romance. He dreams of what he would be quite as often as he deplores what he is. He cannot help being attracted by people who make his dream appear true. There are some men who are such intense egotists that they can believe in the truth of their dreams without any assistance from other people. Southey agreed that his "Madoc" was "the best English poem since 'Paradise Lost.'" There was no need to tell him so; he knew it already.—New Statesman, London.

WAS EXPECTED TO PROTEST

Customary at One Time for Speaker of House of Commons to Resist Appointment.

In one respect a newly appointed speaker of the British house of commons may congratulate himself that there has been an abandonment of some of the old customs, for he is no longer expected to make an elaborate pretense of unwillingness to accept his great office.

This pretense was carried to great lengths at one time, and the ceremony took on some points of likeness to the ritual customs of savage countries, for the speaker was expected to make a show even of physical resistance when led to the chair.

It was not an original custom of the house. Far back in history it appears that speakers protested to the house and to the crown against their election only when they really did not want to be appointed. It seems to have been under the Tudors that a ridiculous subservience was imported, and it was expected of the speaker, that he should "make repeated excuses and declare himself unworthy of election."

It Is Hard to Be Accurate.

Can you exactly describe what you see? If you can, you are cleverer than most persons. A book recently published in Paris relates that at a meeting of scientific men two of them suddenly began to quarrel. Under pretense of obtaining legal evidence the president of the meeting asked everyone present to write an exact report of what had happened. The quarrel was a pure piece of acting arranged to test the powers of observation of the men present.

Though the assembly was composed entirely of jurists, psychologists and doctors, only one report contained less than 20 per cent of error; 13 reports had more than 50 per cent wrong; and in 34 reports from 10 to 15 per cent of the details were wholly imaginary. When men of science can so err we can understand how easily the ordinary man can go astray. The story shows why lawyers value circumstantial evidence so highly.—Youth's Companion.

No Divorce in Great Russia.

To the peasants of Great Russia marriage is a tie that death alone can sever, and divorce by the help of law courts is practically unknown to them. If the husband and wife cannot get along together they simply agree between themselves to live apart, the husband taking the boys and the wife the girls, in cases where there are any children. In spite of the fact that there is no recourse to the courts, however, husband and wife in Great Russia do not know each other before marriages except in rare instances. The selection is made by the parents or guardians, and it is unseemingly for the bridegroom to see the bride more than once before the nuptials.

Cultivate Distinct Speech.

Let us consider clear and distinct enunciation as contrasted with other kinds. Talking distinctly is one of the finest of human accomplishments. The Association of the Hard of Hearing, at a recent meeting, urged the cultivation of lip-reading by those inclined to deafness. Talking with the lips is as good for those who talk as it is for those who listen. The finest and clearest enunciation is by those who enunciate with the lower lip and the tongue, instead of by wagging their jaws and talking through their noses. Avoid masticating your spoken words, and that besetting Yankee sin—the nasal twang!—Boston Globe.

Pure, Fresh Candy

When you walk up to the door and SHE answers the bell—it's lucky you have the candy. You'd be speechless otherwise. You hand it to her with, "Sweets to the sweet," (if you have the nerve) and she opens it. Gee! You're glad you bought it here 'cause you know it's fresh and pure! It's pretty small, after you have won her with sweet food and sweeter words, to forget that she likes either after you're married.

Stop in today and get a box of chocolates or bon bons.

If there's sickness at your home—nerves or constipation, or that run down feeling, or heart trouble, take a package of Dr. Miles' Medicines along with the candy.

HAD TO DO MORE THAN PRAY

Lone Beaver Found He Had Taken the Words of the Preacher Altogether Too Literally.

As Lone Beaver sat in the mission house and listened to the words of the preacher, he had an inspiration. Only by hard work had he been able to live. He worked about the Hudson's Bay company's post in summer and spent the winter in the snow-drifted forest on his trap lines.

"Verily I say unto you," said the preacher in his sermon, "go to the Lord in prayer for what you want, and if you have faith it will be given you."

Lone Beaver went to his teepee and fell on his knees. "O Lord," he prayed, "bring me a sack of flour, a side of bacon, one box of tea and one box of sugar."

He waited until late afternoon in vain. It occurred to him that as he had never seen the Lord, he perhaps had asked too much of a stranger.

"O Lord," he prayed again apologetically, "bring me only half of what I asked before."

Still nothing happened. Supper time came and Lone Beaver was hungry.

"O Lord," he cried desperately, "bring me a plate of beans."

That seemed little enough to ask, but not a bean came in answer. This was too much for Lone Beaver, and he voiced his lost faith in angry words.

"O Lord," he said, "you are just the same as the Hudson's Bay company. Hunt, trap, fish or no eat."—Chicago Evening Post.

Striking an Average.

Line the Linoleum.

When purchasing linoleum for the floor it is a good idea to order a lining of felt. This precaution will probably prolong the use of the linoleum. It also deadens sound and makes the floor warmer in winter. It prevents the linoleum from expanding or contracting and it gives a softer tread, all advantages worth considering.

Chinese Silk Rewoven.

In ancient times silk was for many centuries imported in the woven material from China, where the raising and weaving of silk seems to have been known for 2,000 years and more before the Christian era. So costly were they in the early days that the closely woven silks of China were often unraveled by Phoenician weavers and re-woven in a looser texture and with a mixture of linen.

"Father of the Pen."

Few among the masses in the East know how to read or write, so the professional letter writer occasionally acquires much wealth. To an Arab a one-eyed man is a "king" among the blind, and the letter writer is the "tongue" of the king and his people. He is called the father of the pen, and he is reputed to possess a great many secrets.

Squeaking Shoes.

The annoying "squeak" that some shoes have is caused by layers or pieces of leather rubbing together. Some shoemakers open the side and insert a bit of felt; or a peg or two, or a number of pegs driven into the sole from the outside stops the sound. —Mostess.

Do you know that Uncle Sam conducts the largest printing-plant in the world? It requires five thousand people and a plant worth five million dollars to produce the printing utilized in operating the government.

Then there is the seven million dollar building—one of the most beautiful in the world—housing the Library of Congress.

The story of the small beginnings of these two great institutions, their steady growth, and their present importance in the work of the nation, is told in an attractively illustrated folder of the series on Our Government now being issued by this Institution.

There has been a great demand for these stories and it is evident that they have been doing a valuable work in informing the people of this community about our government.

Sacramento has the distinction of being the world's greatest distributing center for deciduous fruit, and has the largest almond plant and the greatest fruit and vegetable cannery on the Pacific slope. The pear orchards of the Sacramento delta produce the greatest crops in the world, the fruit being first to reach the markets each year. The delta district, which often is compared with the famed valley of the Nile, also yields thousands of tons of asparagus each year, as well as great quantities of other vegetables, while it is known throughout the nation for the variety and quality of its vegetable seeds. Lands bordering the streams of the valley produce most of the nation's hops. The eastern edge is prolific in the production of grapes and strawberries, while the recently developed rice acreage has placed California second only to Louisiana as a producer of this cereal.

Safety in Mid-Air.

A foreign investigator has made a special study of the possibilities of lightning stroke in mid-air and as a result of observation of nearly one hundred flights, in which the airships experienced some adventures with storms, he has come to the following conclusions: There is no danger to be looked for if the machine is not in the direct line of discharge, and if it does so happen there is little danger of fire resulting from the nature of and distribution of the conducting metal portion. In 80 cases where the machines were struck directly, the writer maintains that there were no evil effects and in all cases where machines fell during a storm there was no evidence of scorching of parts or melting of metal.

Elizabeth Woods vs. Edward Woods.

No. 3480 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, Maryland, in Equity.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff a vinculo matrimonii from the defendant.

The bill states that the plaintiff and defendant were married on the 30th day of June, 1916, and resided together in Philadelphia, Pa., and near Princess Anne, in Somerset county, Maryland, until the 18th day of June, 1918; that although the conduct of the plaintiff towards the defendant has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said defendant without any just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the said plaintiff and defendant have two children born to them from said marriage, both daughters, viz: Mary Elizabeth Woods, aged four years, and Francis Woods, aged three years, both residing with their mother in said Somerset county, Maryland, and that the said defendant, Edward Woods, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore, this 6th day of July, 1921, ordered by the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Somerset county, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of August next, give notice to said non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 25th day of August next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

MORE and more every day the demand for Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping or threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns, so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the enormous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery." SOMERSET COUNTY DEMOCRATS NAME CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

Held Informal Conference Last Wednesday In Princess Anne—Invoked Women's Aid—Committee Named County Ticket Saturday

At the instance of a call sent out by the Democratic State Central Committee for Somerset county, the Democrats of the county held a meeting in the Auditorium in Princess Anne last Wednesday afternoon looking to the nomination of a Democratic ticket and for the purpose of organizing the party for the approaching campaign.

The meeting was attended by about 100 men and women, all the districts in the county except two being represented. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Edward B. Lankford, chairman of the State Central Committee, and Dr. R. R. Norris, of Crisfield, was named chairman. Mr. Harry C. Dashiell acted as secretary.

Dr. Norris made a spirited opening address, and in soldier-like fashion gave the order of "Attention" to the representative Democrats of the county assembled in this mass-meeting. In consequence, immediate attention was given to some very important preliminary party work.

The meeting unanimously selected three female candidates for membership on the Democratic State Central Committee for Somerset county, viz: Mrs. E. B. Polk, of Princess Anne; Mrs. J. F. Somers, of Crisfield, and Mrs. Madara Turpin-Dashiell, of Kingston.

At the request of the chairman of the meeting Mr. Miles made an address carrying chiefly the important suggestion that in order to inspire greater enthusiasm in the Democratic party and dissipate the present state of apathy, it was important that the women voters of the county should at once take part in party government and be given equal representation on the party's governing committees. It was in pursuance of this suggestion that the meeting promptly selected female candidates for membership on the Democratic State Central Committee.

A committee of two members, a man and a woman, from each district was then appointed to agree upon candidates of the Democratic party for the county as follows:

West Princess Anne District—George H. Myers and Mrs. C. C. Gelder.
St. Peter's—George W. Bozman and Mrs. J. W. Crosswell.
Dublin—Frank Matthews and Mrs. Durant West.
Brinkley's—Asbury Henderson and Mrs. Aden Davis.

Mt. Vernon—James McIntyre and Mrs. Warren Gladden.
Fairmount—C. A. Lankford and Mrs. Frank Robinson.

Crisfield—Fred N. Holland and Mrs. O. S. Horsey.
Lawson's—William M. Coulbourne and Miss Rae Cox.

Tangier—Roland Parks and Mrs. Roland Parks.
Smith's Island—Warren Evans and Mrs. Lyd Smith.

Dames Quarter—Ernest P. Kelley and Mrs. J. Rigby Giles.
Asbury—Wallace Quinn and Mrs. S. P. Fuller.

Westover—L. W. Cox and Mrs. William Fontaine.
Deal's Island—William J. Tankersley and Mrs. Thomas P. Bradshaw.

East Princess Anne—S. Frank Dashiell and Mrs. George W. Brown.

This committee was given full authority to select candidates and convention agreed to abide by the committee's action whatever their action may be. The committee was authorized to meet for the purpose of selecting county candidates on Saturday, August 13th, at 10 o'clock.

Death Of Mrs. C. F. Sheppard

Mrs. Mary Emma Sheppard, widow of Rev. Charles F. Sheppard, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Levin Murray, at Frankford, Delaware, Monday of last week, aged 84 years. Mrs. Sheppard suffered a stroke of paralysis last February, but her condition had partially improved until the day of her death, which came very suddenly. Funeral services were held at the M. E. Church at Frankford last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and her remains were interred beside those of her husband in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Sheppard is survived by the following children: Mrs. Levin Murray, of Frankford, Del.; Mrs. Emma Davis, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Edwin Gardner and Mrs. Miriam Davidson, of Chesapeake City, Md.

Mrs. Sheppard, it will be remembered, lived in Princess Anne during the years 1891 and 1892, when her husband was pastor of Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church. She was a sister of the late Rev. John H. Dashiell, D. D., of the Baltimore M. E. Conference, and the late Rev. R. L. Dashiell, D. D., formerly president of Dickinson College. Mr. Wm. H. Dashiell, of this town, is her nephew, who, accompanied by his wife and daughter, attended the funeral.

ENTERS RACE FOR COMPTROLLER

W. S. Gordy Files As Candidate For Democratic Nomination

Mr. William S. Gordy, Jr., cashier of a Salisbury bank, known for several months as an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for State Comptroller, Monday of last week sent formal notice of his candidacy to the Secretary of State. Mr. Gordy is reported to have had for a number of years the personal friendship of former Senator John Walter Smith and State Treasurer John M. Dennis. He had not been active politically, however, until announcement of his intention to seek the Comptrollership nomination.

Since the announcement months ago by State Comptroller E. Brooke Lee that he would not be a candidate for re-election Democratic leaders have been casting around for a candidate who would be well known personally and politically throughout the State and who could be counted on to lend political and possibly financial assistance in the State Senatorial and Legislative fights in the counties.

The Democratic aspirant has a clean personal record and at his appearance in Baltimore at the recent Democratic State Central Committee meeting and other political gatherings made friends quickly.

State Senator Oliver Metzgerott, of Prince George's county, already has filed for the Republican nomination. As neither Mr. Gordy nor Senator Metzgerott is opposed within their parties there will be no primary on a State-wide office next month, as the Comptrollership is the only State-wide office to be voted on in November.

Girls' Club Short Course

The Somerset county girls who excelled in their club work and were given a free trip to the University of Maryland, which was financed by the Wm. B. Tighman Company, of Salisbury, have returned home reporting an exceedingly pleasant time.

The young ladies were, Miss Catherine Beauchamp, of Fairmount, who excelled in poultry work; Miss Bessie Gavit, in garden work, and Miss Bessie East, in bread-making. They were given instructions and lectures along their lines of work by experts, sight seeing tours to Washington, Mt. Vernon and other places of interest, which were educational as well as pleasant.

The girls as well as the Extension Service appreciate the gift of the Tighman firm and also the fact that the firm appreciates what the Extension Service is trying to do for our future homemakers.

Dove Season Opens September 1

The Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, has announced that the open season for mourning doves in Maryland under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act Regulations extends from September 1 to December 15, both dates inclusive, and that heavy penalties are prescribed for the hunting or possession of doves during the closed season.

September 1 is the earliest date on which the season can be opened, as a treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds provides that there must be a closed season on doves and certain other migratory game birds between March 10 and September 1, and that the hunting season must be limited to a period not exceeding three and one-half months. The Federal law renders inoperative the Maryland law, which opens the dove season August 15.

Former Princess Anne Boy Drowns

Reginald Jones, 19, son of Charles E. Jones, of Salisbury, was drowned shortly after noon last Thursday in the electric light pond back of the property of Mrs. E. H. Jackson.

Jones, with several other boys, was out in a boat which, in some manner, became filled with water and the boy jumped. Not being able to swim, Jones drowned, though his companions tried to rescue him. Although his body was in the water but a few minutes, Drs. D. B. Potter and A. B. Burris were unable to resuscitate him. The boy's family moved there recently from Princess Anne.

Surprise Party and Auto Ride

A surprise party and auto ride were given the Rev. and Mrs. Albert Bichell, of Westover. The party was given at the parsonage in honor of Mrs. Bichell's sister, Mrs. Mary Leader, of Baltimore. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wood Payne and daughter, Mrs. and Mrs. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Brittingham, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Holley, Mr. and Mrs. John Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Wood Long, Mrs. Harris and Miss Hilda Bichell. The autos for the trip were furnished by Mr. Wallace Taylor, after which refreshments were served.

ILLITERACY SHOWS DECREASE

Census of 1920 Shows Total Of 64,439 Unable To Write

There are 64,439 illiterate persons 10 years old and over in Maryland, "illiterate" meaning unable to write, according to the 1920 census. Of this number 18,884 are native whites of native parentage, 1484 are of foreign or mixed parentage, and 18,575 are of foreign birth. The number of illiterate negroes is 35,404.

In the total population 10 years of age and over the percentage of illiteracy is 5.6, which shows a diminution since 1910, when it was 7.08. In the case of the negroes the percentage declined from 23.4 to 18.2 and in the case of the native white of native parentage from 3 to 2. There is more illiteracy in the rural districts of the State than in the cities, the percentages being 7.4 for the rural population and 4 for urban.

By counties the percentage of illiteracy ranges from 18.2 in St. Mary's county to 3.3 in Allegany county. In Somerset county the percentage of illiteracy is 10.8.

Infants or children under 15 years old make up one-third of the population of Maryland, while 182,147 children between 7 and 13 years old are recorded by the census as attending school. The population of Maryland is 83.1 per cent. white and 16.9 per cent. negro. In 1910 the negro percentage was 17.9, about one-fourth of the white population of the State of foreign birth or foreign parentage, there being 102,177 foreign-born whites and 143,203 native whites who had foreign-born parents. There are 898,088 persons born of American parents.

This Week's Attractions At Auditorium

Usually it's the woman who isn't satisfied with the kitchen and demands a "career". In "Flying Pat", Dorothy Gish's latest picture, which is coming to-night (Tuesday), the pretty heroine would be perfectly contented to be just a wife, but her husband insists that she make a name for herself in the world besides. And since hubby owns an airplane factory, it's only natural that his obedient spouse should decide to become the champion aviatrix of the world.

Billie Burke as a fascinating widow and in Paris—what more charming combination could be desired for the foundation of a motion picture? Added to that is the plot of "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," a play by Clyde Fitch. This pleasing result in the form of a Paramount picture will be displayed at the Auditorium next Thursday night. Miss Burke has the role of Belle Johnson, a young American widow stopping over for the carnival season in Paris, who is known as "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson."

She is extremely popular and gets into deep water, when she tries to help her sister out of a complication, risking her own reputation and the love of the man of her choice. Ward Crane is the leading man. Others in the cast include Lumsden Hare, Huntly Gordon, Jean de Briac, Leonora Ottiger, Emily Fitzroy and Jane Warrington.

A true American gentleman, a daredevil who knew the meaning of danger but did not fear it, a fine man—using "fine" in its best sense. That is how Louise Lovely, the William Fox star, describes Lt. Ormer Locklear, whose fellow-player she was in "The Skywayman," the great drama of the air, which is coming to the Auditorium next Saturday night. Of course, Locklear himself is responsible for most of the thrills in the "The Skywayman," but Miss Lovely has quite a large share of them, too. "When I became a motion picture actress," she said, "I did not dream that going up in an airplane would be part of my job. I had taken short flights as a passenger before we began work on 'The Skywayman,' but in this picture I found new flying thrills. However, I am not a flying woman, and I shall always prefer to do my acting as near the ground as possible."

Giving Grain To Near East Relief

A number of farmers in Somerset county have given a donation of a bag of wheat or a barrel of corn to the Near East Relief. The contributions are being received at the Cohn & Bock Company mill and the Westover Mills.

The campaign in Maryland was to extend to August 15th, but in order to give every farmer in the State an opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause the campaign has been extended to August 31st.

It is hoped that the farmers in this county who have not made a donation of a bag of wheat or a barrel of corn will do so before the final day of the campaign, in order that the donations from this county will compare favorably with the donations from the other counties of the State.

Last Wednesday the Princess Anne team went to Cambridge and were defeated by the Cambridge nine by a score of 6 to 4. Bad base running contributed largely to the defeat of the Princess Anne team. Two of their runs came in the ninth inning, when W. Bounds put the ball over the center-field fence with a man on base. Baer, who pitched for Cambridge for the first time, made three hits, two of them doubles.

Princess Anne defeated Pocomoke City on the home grounds last Thursday afternoon in the fifth game of the series between the two teams by a score of 5 to 4. Today's victory scored three games of the series for Princess Anne. Sharpley batted 1000 and made his seventeenth home run of the season. He is the "home run king" of the Eastern Shore. The snappy fielding of Pruitt for Princess Anne and Pruitt's work at second for Pocomoke featured the game. Princess Anne took the lead at the beginning of the game and had it won easily until the eighth inning, when, with two outs and two men on bases, Conaway, playing right for Princess Anne, misjudged a fly ball, permitting all three runs to score. Hummer pitched a wonderful game for Princess Anne, allowing only five hits. The score:

In a pitchers' battle at Pocomoke City last Friday Stanley beat Ringgold in the pinches and shut out Princess Anne, 2 to 0. Stanley had something on the ball at all times and easily disposed of Princess Anne's best hitters when in danger. Pocomoke scored in the third on Stanley's single to left, Knobe's sacrifice and Pruitt's double to right, and again in the seventh on Shriver's single, a pass to Underwood and Knobe's two-base hit over the left-field fence. Knobe's bare-hand stop for the last out was the fielding feature. Cambridge defeated Princess Anne on the High School grounds last Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 1.

Checkers Played by the Ancients.
The game of checkers is very ancient, being known to the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans. It was played in Europe in the sixteenth century. An old form of checkers is known in China as "the game of circumvention."

Canada's Big Game.
Throughout Canada from 1,000 to 1,500 moose are killed annually, but the game are protected and are hunted under certain restrictions that are rigidly enforced, so that there is no fear of their extinction.

Where the Fox Is Sacred.
In Japanese mythology the fox is represented as having been born first into this world, and even now when a fox is seen he is regarded by most of the more humble classes as a messenger from heaven.

City Was Impregnable.
The ancient city of Nineveh was eight miles wide and fourteen miles long, was surrounded by a wall 100 feet in height and so wide three chariots could be driven abreast on its top.

MILLION IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

Population of City Is Estimated to Be Twice That of Ten Years Ago.

Mexico City, Mex.—The population of Mexico City has increased more than 100 per cent during the last ten years, according to recent estimates based on statistics, which fix the figure at approximately 1,000,000. This is far above the normal increase and the influx of persons is attributed as due to revolts. Housing conditions, as a result, are bad, and suitable dwellings are at a premium.

How Artesian Wells Got Name.
Artesian wells take their name from Artois, the Latin for Artol, a province in northern France where this system of boring for water was first practiced.

SETS ARMY HIKING RECORD

Private John McGregor Makes 500 Miles in Fourteen Days With Full Pack.

Washington.—An endurance test has been completed by Private John McGregor of the Second division, believed by veteran infantrymen here to establish a new record for long-distance hiking with full pack for the army.

Major General Harbold, executive assistant to General Pershing, chief of staff, issued the official reports of McGregor's feat showing that he covered the last 500 miles of the march in 14 days, an average of more than 35 miles a day. The entire distance covered was 1,100 miles, from San Antonio, Tex., to Denver, Colo., and was made in 40 marching days.

To Remove Tar or Grease.
A very sure and safe way to remove tar or any such grease stains from colored gingham is to rub well into the spots fresh lard. Let it lie several hours; then wash in warm soapsuds. All spots will come out easily.

STEAL DOOR OFF CALABOOSE

Model Town's Bastille Called Disgrace by New York State Prison Commission.

New York.—Dover Plains, N. Y., is such a model community for law and order that its privately owned jail has become the eyesore of the village. In the report, made public, of the state prison commission, the jail in Dover Plains has been characterized as a disgrace to the community.

The door of the private bastille has been stolen by an outsider; it is reported; most of the glass in both windows is gone, and the running water no longer is confined to the pipes and faucets. The only light in the jail is furnished by a lantern and the report says that there hasn't been any oil in this lamp in months.

Jews in Civil War.
The records show that more than 8,000 Jews served in the American Civil war. The list included nine Jewish generals and 18 who attained the rank of colonel. Over 4,000 saw active service in the Spanish-American war.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 16, 1921

Being urged to help in the housework a lot of fellows will wipe the dishes for some other boy's sister.

Some girls won't wear low heels as their friends might make a mistake and think they knew something.

A lot of folks who bitterly complain of popular ignorance kick like thunder if the school appropriation is increased.

Some women who are limping along with sprained ankles are now enjoying one of the advantages of wearing high heels.

Many people who blame the newspapers for printing silly personal gossip will find fault because they are never mentioned.

The automobile crowd kick if the streets are closed for repairs and they kick if they are kept open and allowed to degenerate.

The present style of backless evening gowns has surprised many people by revealing how many bones there are in the human body.

The boys who have to have the lights turned down low when they sit up with the girls should read about all these breach of promise suits.

The people who spit on the sidewalks are probably merely obeying the injunction to treat the streets just as they do their own homes.

In spite of the shortage of teachers the pretty girls have found lots of instructors willing to give them swimming lessons at the summer resorts.

When the girls say they are all ready for a return to nature out in the country it means that they have their clothes all prepared for exhibition on the hotel piazzas.

Last year many families would not preserve fruits on account of the high price of sugar and this year a lot of 'em won't on account of the value of their time.

Some people can't clean up their places now because it is most time for fall cleaning and when fall comes they will think they might just as well let it go over until spring.

HELP THE FAMINE SUFFERERS
With thousands of little children starving in the Near East, it is hoped that the appeal sent to the farmers of Somerset county for wheat and corn will not be made in vain. As a Russian puts it, "What if America had a famine?" Yes, what if the children of our own land were faced with starvation, and some big, rich country refused to give us food, when they had more than they knew what to do with? Nothing we could say against them would be too bad; there is nothing that could befall them but what would be too good. Any one having a bushel of wheat or barrel of corn he believes he can spare, or is willing to purchase for the purpose, will please donate the same before August 31st.

THE VACATION HABIT
Long experimentation with the human body has shown that it is a machine that does not bear incessant operation. There is an old saying that the man who never takes a vacation takes one all the time. He loses his pep and enterprise under the strain of constant activity. The Marylander and Herald hopes that all its readers are to get whatever rest period they need to give them a fresh and courageous start on another year's work.

The practice of giving vacations is quite well established in stores and offices and among professional and business people. Farmers can manage to take such outings in the winter. But the vacation custom is not so well established among the working forces of factories, who may need change as much as anyone else.

Most manufacturing industries have shutdowns so the workers may get all the vacation they want. It would seemingly be a fine idea if the many firms that shut down to take inventories January 1st could have their stock-taking period come in midsummer, at a time when the workers would enjoy the rest and outdoor life.

Manufacturing industries should work out plans for stabilizing operations so their workers could be reasonably sure of continuous occupation. When that time comes every one ought to have his rest period. Two weeks is none too much for any one to get his breath and allow his tired nerves and muscles to relax.

Meanwhile, many busy mothers of families never see a day when they can let up and find the relief that every human being needs. Perhaps while father is agitating for his rights he will try to help enough around the home so that mother, too, shall have her share of the all essential vacation habit.

THE PESTS OF MIDSUMMER
Human nature grows more sensitive to annoyances as it gains in refinement and education. The modern housewife would consider life insupportable if she were subject to the plague of flies and mosquitoes that her mother or grandmother cheerfully endured.

The great number of horses kept in towns and cities in former years made flies an ever-present pest. Some families would organize driving operations several times a day. By agitating a stick to which was attached long, wishy-washy strips of paper they got rid of most of the flies until opening screen doors let them all in again. Careful housewives had fly covers for all food served at meals. Those more careless did not seem to mind it much if the dishes were black with the droves of feeding insects.

The people of this town seem to realize that the housefly is no mere physical annoyance, but a leading carrier of disease germs. They should swat him with a system and persistence that will make these pests a minor factor in summer life.

STYLES OF DOGS
Styles of dogs change rapidly. Many returning soldiers brought back German police dogs, which are becoming popular. Their alert ears may remind one of the upturned moustache and slightly aggressive air characteristic of the German personality before the war. But these dogs have a vigor and watchfulness that is attractive.

One remembers when every other house had to have a little black and tan to yap at your heels. Then came the waddling spaniel, whose silky hair seemed appropriate to ladies' boudoirs, but who was not quick enough to fit the American temperament.

The collie, with his shaggy coat, seemed like some good-natured countryman whom everybody loved, but he was too friendly with strangers. The airedale had a lovely affection, but people got tired of having neighbors telephoning to have Towser chained up. The short-haired Boston terrier was the lazy man's dog, as it was easy to wash him, but his bull head suggested limitation of intelligence. Every type of dog has points of winsomeness and all work their way into the human heart.

Of Interest to Motorists
Motorists on Maryland roads are not likely to get lost after big signs which the State Roads Commission now is erecting along the principal State highways. The signs, with big, white letters on a black background will tell the motorist what highway he is on and the name of the town or village he is passing, and the distance to Baltimore and to the next city of importance in the opposite direction. In addition at the limits of each town a larger sign will be placed, giving a map of the town's streets, showing the streets which lead to various roads out of different parts of the town. On all the main highways at the State line other signs will be placed, giving the salient features of the State motor vehicle law for the benefit of visitors to Maryland.

Hot Weather Diseases
Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during the hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against a sudden attack, get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence.

THOUSANDS WILL VISIT GROUNDS DAILY

The season for Agricultural Fairs is again here and these Fairs will prove a source of pleasure to our people who love to see fine spirited racing; who love to hear the noise and chatter of the fakers and showmen who line the Midway, calling out the attractiveness and unusual features of their specialties; as well as to those who like to see fine exhibits of fancywork, flowers, household goods, agricultural products, pure-bred poultry, and other stocks. Again on the Fair grounds one meets year after year familiar faces of friends and acquaintances who often have not been seen during the past twelve months.

Of all the Fairs on the Eastern Shore, the Great Salisbury Fair
AT SALISBURY, MARYLAND,

easily takes the lead in racing, in exhibits, in midway and free attractions. This Fair is scheduled to open Tuesday morning, August 23rd, and until the close on Friday, August 26th, the gates will be thronged with tens of thousands of men, women and children coming from every section of the Shore, including Virginia and Delaware. The management this year announces an unusually attractive and interesting program consisting of five free attractions, namely:

THE FIVE PATROWARS
a novelty act, posing dancing, equilibristic and acrobatic.

THE FOUR BALTON SISTERS
an aerial act, performing on trapeze high in the air.

THE FOUR HOLONES HAWAIIANS
a musical act, one of the best musical troops in the country to-day.

A sensational high dive, a very thrilling act. Another trapeze performance consisting of an aerial casting act above the stage. The management will invest more in high class free acts than ever before. Besides these a larger line of exhibits in the various departments is promised than ever before. The outlook for fast races and good horses is said to be better than for several years. One feature of this Great Fair which has proved especially interesting to its patrons, has been the fast motorcycle races on the track. This year some of the fastest cyclists of the country are said to have entered the races and this makes it certain that these races will be even more interesting than usual. If one enjoys a Fair he cannot fail to be pleased if he attends

Goodman's Big Sale

Thousands of circulars mailed and distributed are announcing a ten-days' Unloading Sale at Goodman's Busy Corner. Mr. Samuel Saks, of Baltimore, the well known business adjuster, is in Princess Anne at present. A large force of salesladies are working under Mr. Saks' personal instructions, marking the prices down of the entire $55,000.00 of high grade merchandise, without a single reservation—Fall arrival inclusive. Following is a personal statement from Mr. Saks:

"My name is not new on the Eastern Shore. Parties who visited my sales before know that my advertisements are correct. One of my principal agreements with merchants before taking a sale is: To have full and undisputed authority in bringing down the prices of goods. Only under the above mentioned conditions am I undertaking sales. Mrs. T. Goodman, your well-known Princess Anne merchant, who for many years has been giving a square deal to one and all, told me the following few words: 'Mr. Saks, go ahead. I have too many goods on hand. I bought my stock right and I am to give the people of the Eastern Shore the Biggest Bargain Carnival they ever visited.' That was enough for me. The words 'Go Ahead' are the signal for me, and here I am.

"Every item in the store, from an ordinary pin to the finest Silk Dress; from a plain window blind to the finest Parlor Set, is going to bear a green sale tag indicating sale price which will shake the annals in the history of modern merchandising.

"Sale will begin Thursday morning, August 18th, and will last 10 Days Only. Come early. Come to the Grandest, Biggest, Mightiest Sale ever held. A welcome to all."

Cause Of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

PIRATES AGAIN SWEEPING SEAS

Theory Put Forward as Explanation of Disappearance of American Vessels.

PIRACY FOLLOWS GREAT WARS

Island-Dotted Areas of the Oceans Offer Lurking Places for Sea Robbers—Piracy Has Flourished Since Early Days of History.

Washington, D. C.—The theory that pirates are again infesting Atlantic waters has been put forward in connection with the grounding of the Carroll Deering and the mysterious disappearance of three other American steamships.

"An epidemic of piracy has followed in the wake of nearly all of the great wars. Even as recently as 1815 restless souls who had smelled the blood of battle and felt the intoxication of danger became loath to settle down into the peaceful ways of men and commerce, and chose the wide seas as an asylum because they refused to live under the law," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its Washington, D. C., headquarters.

Some Famous Pirate Bases.

"Beside the broad oceans which offered infinite chance for escape there have always been the island-dotted areas which furnish excellent lurking places from which these exponents of absolute freedom might take their quarry for examination and long division among them. The Greek Archipelago, the Barbary coast, the East Indies, the China shores and the Spanish Main, within the shadow of our own doors, have been pirate bases for centuries and given to the world a wealth of stories of breathless interest.

"In ancient times these sea robbers off the coast of Greece, Italy, and Asia Minor with their thousands of light, swift vessels, or 'sea mice' as they were called, 'taxed' merchant shipping so heavily that they lightly and rightly termed their base of operations the 'Golden Gulf.' They flaunted their black flag in the face of mighty Rome, which remained impotent against them until Pompey with almost unlimited resources at his command, curbed their operations.

Pandora's Box of Piracy.

"Ferdinand and Isabella, unwittingly, in their decision to drive the Moors from Spanish soil, let loose upon the world and particularly upon Spanish shipping, then at the height of its pride, a fearful horde of daring and unscrupulous avengers.

"In the early days of Moslem power one of the caliphs wrote to his general and asked him what the sea was like. The general answered, 'The sea is a huge beast, which silly folk ride like worms on logs.' Consequently the caliph gave orders that no Moslem should voyage upon it, but they soon learned that they must conquer it if they were to hold their own among other peoples, and they subsequently furnished some of the most audacious and picturesque of the pirate figures.

The James Brothers of the Sea.

"Two of the most daring and ingenious of these were the Barbarossa brothers. 'Red Beard' terrorized the Mediterranean world from Constantinople to the Pillars of Hercules. The excellent harbors and the island hiding places made it possible for him to defy the fleets of England, Italy, Spain and Holland, to levy tribute on all the vessels that passed over the highway, to capture the richly laden Papal galleys bound for Rome in Moslem defiance of Christendom and chain the Christians to their oars. In 1510, at that time notorious and immensely wealthy, he changed the base of his operations to the island of Jerba, off the coast of Tunis, where the pirates ceased to smile so kindly upon him. After many hard-fought battles and vicissitudes of fortune he fell before the forces of Charles V of Spain near Tremizan on African soil. He had actually escaped, but upon learning that his faithful followers were close pressed he returned to die with them. The career of his brother, Kheyr-ed-din is scarcely less romantic.

"Piracy on the American coast among the French and Spanish navigators began before the days of the English colonists. Queen Elizabeth is said to have covertly countenanced as well as helped expeditions by buccaneers, and in the West Indies the trade restrictions placed by the various mother countries led to acceptance by many island governors of wares brought by navigators whom they knew to be freebooters and whose methods they could not afford to question.

Piracy Road to High Office.

"Perhaps the most unscrupulous and wilful of the perverted sea kings was Henry Morgan of the Caribbees. He was a magnate, an indomitable ruler, a crafty strategist, and a commander of genius as well as a pirate par excellence. In fact he flirted with one danger after the other always to come out on top. He marched into Puerto Principe in the heart of Cuba and took it despite every resistance. He ousted with uncanny cunning the officers at Porto Bello in Panama, one of the strongest cities near the Caribbean shores and the storehouse for the riches which had been brought to Spanish galleons and mule packs from the interior. He escaped with an inestimable amount of gold and jewels, ingeniously employing a fire-ship against the Spanish to accomplish his escape when he was bottled up in Maracaibo lake. Finally he took and sacked the city of Panama. Then leaving his companions in the lurch, he slipped away at night with all the booty to Jamaica, ingratiated himself with the governor, and was clever enough to get himself into the graces of the English king who knighted him and made him lieutenant governor of Jamaica for his 'long experience of that colony.'

"In our boyhood, stories of Captain Kid were frequent. The subject of the narratives was really a respectable sailor in the merchant service with a wife and family in New York when he was commissioned by the English king in 1690 with power to seize and destroy off the American coast all pirate ships. Having been given ships and crews to accomplish the purpose, he gayly set sail across the Atlantic, around the Cape of Good Hope to Madagascar and the Red sea to ravage East India waters and convert to his own uses his captures. Then he hid himself, so the story goes, to West Indian waters and buried his superfluous treasures before he finally went to Boston where he was captured, sent to England for trial, was executed and his body left to dangle in the wind for years as a warning to sailors."

COCKATOO KILLS BIG ROOSTER

Bird, at Outs With Barnyard Fowl, Wins Battle at Martinez, Cal.

Martinez, Cal.—A bitter battle was fought at the home of B. F. Rhine, local merchant, by a two-pound cockatoo and an eight-pound rooster.

The diminutive cockatoo proved that weight does not always prevail, for after taking a severe grueling for almost five minutes he grabbed the rooster in the windpipe with his sharp beak, administering the death blow.

According to Rhine, the pair had been at outs for several weeks. One morning the cockatoo was perched on a bush in the back yard when the rooster spied him. The heavyweight barnyard champion made a rush at his smaller enemy, spurs and beak.

The cockatoo, however, dug his claws into the rooster's breast, and pulling himself upright administered the death blow.

TRAPS SHREWDEST CRIMINALS

William Moulton Marston, a Boston lawyer and scientist, is shown here with his "lie detector." Three complicated pieces of machinery are used to detect deception in a witness or other subject.

First, the chronoscope, it measures in twelve hundredths of a second, the time the witness takes to answer questions. "Innocent" questions and questions connected with the case under consideration are verbally "shot" at him. He can't lie without hesitating a fraction of a second—and the chronoscope measures and records the delay.

Second—The kymograph. This measures the respiration of the suspect as he answers questions and records it in traced "graphs" on a smoked cylinder. And a man breathes differently when lying (does a woman?)

Third—The spysmomanometer. This charts the blood pressure during the questioning. When a man is lying his systolic blood pressure rises rapidly in a "flying curve."

Scientists say that if a subject reacts "guilty" to all three tests his deception, or attempts at deception, is practically proved in the full scientific meaning of the word proof.

Wild Bears Endanger Lives of Tacoma Children

Tacoma.—While Tacoma is a city of 100,000 persons and old hunters say that it has been twenty years since a bear has been killed within the city limits, a meeting of the mothers and fathers held recently at Cedar Heights, a mile and a half from the heart of the city, revealed the fact that bears and other wild animals are lurking in the woods, and they have petitioned for the erection of a school nearer their homes, so that the children will not have to pass through the woods every day.

Advice From James J. Hill.

If a young fellow doggedly bucks the world and circumstances without sense or reason all the time, he is liable to get nothing more than a sore head. He must know how to take advantage of opportunities, to use his brains; in short a young man who has no brains ought at least to have enough animal sense to find it out and learn to depend upon and get what benefit he can from people that have got brains.—James J. Hill.

The Right of Free Speech.

It appears now that we were premature in awarding the celluloid toning fork for the season's worst pun. The prize really belongs to the perpetrator of this one. On our remarking to a friend the other day that Delaware was complaining, as usual, about the frost ruining her peach crop, he retorted, shamelessly: "Well, what of it! A state has a right to freeze peach, hasn't it?"—Boston Transcript.

Rome.

The traditional date for the founding of Rome is 753 B. C. Rome has been described as a city-state. It was at one time recognized as the capital of the ancient world. Since 1871 it has been the capital of modern Italy. The city is distinguished for its vast ruins, its many historical gates and its monuments, both ancient and modern. Rome is inclosed within a circle of forts 30 miles in extent.

IN FIGHT FOR CIVIC BEAUTY

Commercial Interests of Kansas City Unite for War on Billboards on Boulevards.

The commercial interests of Kansas City have gone on record as enemies of the "uglies."

The city planning and public buildings committee of the chamber of commerce adopted a resolution, taking a definite stand against "the encroachment of either filling stations or billboards on the city's boulevards and homes."

The resolution stated that the chamber members are heartily in accord with and desire to lend their moral support to the joint resolution of the two houses of the council to the effect that filling stations and billboards should not be permitted to destroy the effect of Kansas City's boulevard system.

After a protracted discussion the committee declared in favor of a "local option" on the uglies. By that was meant that each neighborhood be permitted to decide whether billboards or filling stations should be allowed to locate in that vicinity. The residents whose homes are within view, or within close proximity of the ugly, should have a voice in denying or permitting its location, the committee members believed.

Billboards in certain localities are not objectionable if properly constructed and lighted, in the opinion of the committeemen. But their place is not in residence neighborhoods or on boulevards, they agreed.

WAR ON INDUSTRIAL UNREST

"Community Service" Idea Is Spreading, for Many Good and Substantial Reasons.

"Community Service, Incorporated" shortly will take its place as a definite factor in the industrial life of Illinois. This announcement comes through Maj. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the executive-financial committee for Illinois. Organization has been completed for Illinois and the plans for the establishment of the work are under way.

The aim of Community Service is to improve living and leisure conditions that through their development a peaceful, settled and contented community atmosphere will prevail and industrial unrest to a great degree be removed.

The work of the organization has passed the experimental stage. It has been found to be a very solid and substantial success in the big industrial communities of Bethlehem and Chester, Pa. The main work of Community Service is the solution of the leisure hour problem. A trained organizer will be sent to various communities to study conditions and make a survey of the social and recreational life, determining what is most needed and most desirable for the occupation of the leisure hours of the community, and then assisting them to provide and build up a service system for themselves.

House Painting.

When the home owner's thoughts turn to house painting problems Californians, particularly, begin to wonder what color will be best for the movies. A location director for motion pictures in Hollywood, Cal., says that white houses are almost impossible for use in motion pictures and he hopes the people within the area of the picture industry will use neutral or dark shades when they do their house painting.

"Darker shades are more agreeable to the eye than those of dazzling whiteness," so this movie director says, "and they photograph better, in addition to blending with the natural colors of the landscape."

All-white houses are also hard on the eyes.

Beauty Not Matter of Expense.

Beautiful grounds need not be expensive. The loveliest flowers and plants that ever grew are found in the woods and along the banks of streams, in fence corners, and in fields and shady nooks. They are yours for the digging. What is rarer or prettier than a bed of wild violets and ferns in a shady spot near the house? Plant generously of perennials, so that they will bloom and grow year after year with little time and attention and give stability to your landscape effects.

Willie Had a Reason.

Willie Hopkins is only ten years old, but, strange to tell, he brushes his own hair and washes his ears without parental coercion. It must be admitted that Willie just started this most uncommon practice within the last few days. The young man's mother was dumfounded when she walked into his room and found him plastering down his hair with a brush.

"You're a very good boy," she said "How did you come to think of brushing your hair and washing your face?"

Willie looked sheepish and then replied: "Mary Brown told me I wuz good lookin'."—New York Sun.

His "Right Hand Man"

By DOROTHY WHITCOMB

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

After five years of hard work Wilfred Ashton walked down the steps of the neat little factory he had dominated, a ruined man. The plant was in the hands of a receiver, and he was a bankrupt.

Wardells had done this—Wardells, the upstarts, the business pirates. The elder of that firm had been taken in off the street penniless by Ashton, had been given work, had learned the secrets of the business, and had gone out to exploit them on his own account. The rival house manufactured a counting machine. In some way Wardell had secured the sole right to manufacture a machine the sale of which was Ashton's chief source of revenue. Trade fell off. Wardells spread and flourished like a green banana tree. Ashton & Co. went down hill, fast.

And now—ruin! Reckoning up anxiously, Wilfred had found that the plant and his other resources would pay off about seventy-five per cent of the debts. He reached the office of his lawyer, dejected and hopeless.

"We have an offer for the assets in bulk," explained the attorney. "It will square the secured indebtedness entirely. It will also take care of all the other liabilities, except about two thousand dollars."

"If I could only reach that!" exclaimed Wilfred. "It is those creditors, small, struggling firms, that need their money. Is there no way I can reach this deficit?"

"A way has been opened," announced the lawyer, "a remarkable one. There is the list of the unsecured creditors," and he pushed over a written page. "And here is two thousand, handed to me by a brother attorney, representing a mysterious client who does not wish to be known."

"You amaze me," cried Wilfred, his face shining, his eyes filling with grateful tears. "Who could have done me this kind act?"

Wilfred signed the I. O. U. extended to him by the lawyer. His heart seemed singing within him.

He was treading air as he left the lawyer's office.

His face brightened when he was home again, with thoughts of the true, loyal persons who had been not only his employees, but his friends. Miss Bonney! His heart gladdened as he recalled the occasion, three years before, when he had given this poor, friendless girl, a position in his office. Her gratitude, urging the most devoted service, had made him respect and value her. She had been "his right-hand man."

Wilfred found her in a neat, modest cottage, her aged mother its housekeeper. She blushed and paled, and looked wistful and then trembled, as he handed her the money. Her eyes glowed sympathetically with his own when he told of his unknown benefactor.

"I shall not forget the most helpful assistant I ever had, when I get on my feet again," said Wilfred brightly. "I am very sorry to see you out of employment."

"Oh, I shall soon find a new position," declared Amy.

"It seems to me that I am receiving nothing but blessing in my own darkest hour," replied Wilfred, moving. "There is another thing," said Amy. "You remember Mr. Judson, the old inventor who was hurt at your plant? You pensioned him off, you know. Ever since then he has been trying to invent a new counting machine. I—that is, I have encouraged him. He was here yesterday, and he is sure, oh, so very sure, that he is near to perfecting his invention."

Two evenings later a messenger brought Wilfred a note, asking him to call at the home of Miss Bonney. When he arrived he found old Abel Judson there.

"I've made it!" cried the inventor enthusiastically. "My invention is perfected—a counting machine that will drive Wardells out of the field."

Only one thing would the inventor agree to—that Wilfred was to become his partner. In three months capital was found, in six the old plant was running again. At the end of the year Wilfred and Amy were man and wife.

"I am making money so fast," he said to his happy helpmate one evening, "that I will be able to pay up the two thousand dollars so generously given me when I failed."

Amy reached within her pocket. She drew out a scrap of paper. In amazement Wilfred regarded the I. O. U.

"Don't you understand?" she cried in delight, and tore the document to scraps—"paid!"

"You—you furnished that money!" exclaimed the dumfounded Wilfred. "Yes, my all for you, the bravest, truest friend I ever knew," replied Amy rapidly, "and now the dearest, best husband in all the world!"

A New Angle.

"So you always turn over your pay to your wife?"

"Yes, always."

"And does she appreciate it?"

"No, she usually depreciates it."—Pennsylvania State Froth.

Pure, Fresh Candy

When you walk up to the door and SHE answers the bell—it's lucky you have the candy. You'd be speechless otherwise. You hand it to her with, "Sweets to the sweet," (if you have the nerve) and she opens it. Gee! You're glad you bought it here 'cause you know it's fresh and pure!

It's pretty small, after you have won her with sweet food and sweeter words, to forget that she likes either after you're married.

SIMPLE DIET ALWAYS BEST

As True Now as When Addison Advised It, More Than Two Centuries Ago.

Two hundred years ago Addison wrote: "Nature delights in the most plain and simple diet. Every animal, but man, keeps to one dish. Herbs are the food of this species, fish of that and flesh of a third. Man falls upon the smallest fruit or excrescence of the earth, scarce a berry or mushroom can escape him."

"It is impossible to lay down any determinate rule for temperance. Were I to consider my readers as my patients, and to prescribe such a kind of temperance as is accommodated to all persons, I would copy the following rules of a very eminent physician: 'Make your whole repast out of one dish; if you indulge in a second, avoid drinking anything strong till you have finished your meal; at the same time abstain from all sauces, or at least such as are not the most plain and simple.'"

Persia's Sales Methods.

In Teheran are aristocratic shoe shops where the styles of Europe and America are copied from illustrations in catalogues that have somehow or other found their way out there. These shops have glass windows and real doors, and they display their goods in a way thought to be truly Persian. The glass windows, though the panes are small, must have cost a deal of money, for glass is almost unknown in Persia.

The master shoemaker stands proudly at his door and welcomes a customer with the greeting, "All that I have is yours—my shop and all the goods." But once the prospective customer is inside the shopkeeper forgets to be the Frenchman of the Orient and the bargaining methods of the East begin.

The customer is assured that the price asked is half the actual cost, while all the time a quarter of the sum named would buy the goods. If no business results, politeness is still the order of the day, for a Persian does not consign a man to Hades, but just insinuates, by referring to him as the "son of a burnt father," that his honored parent is already there.—Roland Garbold in Asia.

Lots of Elderberry Wine; Pies and Jams Scarce

Harrisburg, Pa. — Elderberry pie and elderberry jam will be scarce in Pennsylvania next winter, according to reports received by state agriculture officials from farmers, but there will be no dearth of elderberry wine.

City wine makers in automobiles are robbing the elder bushes of their blossoms to make wine, the farmers complain.

With short strawberry and raspberry crops as a result of the drought, farmers were laying great store by their elderberry crop, but the other drought caused by national prohibition bids fair to make the elderberry crop short.

Russ Officers' Garb Leads to Distribution of Garments to Refugees.

Constantinople, Turkey. — American Red Cross and army pajamas are being converted into jaunty street clothes here by ingenious Russian refugee soldiers and civilians.

Hugh S. Bird, treasurer of the Red Cross, when here on a visit of inspection, saw a spick-and-span monocol Russian officer flourishing a cane and running himself with a straw hat at the local Red Cross office. He noticed that the man had taken a suit of pajamas, sewed shoulder strap braid on them, strapped his officer's belt about them and rolled up the bottoms to give a trouser effect.

Mr. Bird thought so well of the ingenuity of the man, who had defeated the hot weather, that he gave orders for several thousand more pajamas to be distributed, so no Russian need wear his heavy, shabby winter clothes.

TESTING DEPTH BOMB.

Our crack yankee tars of the Pacific fleet have found a new method of experimenting with depth bombs. In a forest near Tacoma, a contrivance, pictured here, has been constructed. It is built after the fashion of a pile driver. A test bomb is placed directly beneath the weight at the top of the grooved slide, and the weight is permitted to drop naturally. It has been found that the velocity attained by dropping from different heights gives to the weight a pressure equal to that of the water at corresponding depths. The result is that data is secured so that at sea explosions can be timed accurately, thus preventing premature explosions which might injure the ship carrying the bombs and fail to destroy enemy craft.

HARDING MOVES TO LOWER TAXES

Brings Agreement To Make Cut Approximately $600,000,000

The American people will have their first cut in taxes since the European war when they make out their income tax returns in March. President Harding and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, as well as Republican leaders in Congress, mindful of the overwhelming demand Government expenses be cut and taxes reduced, have outlined a program which represents a net reduction of $600,000,000 in the amounts that must be raised by direct taxation.

Mr. Harding and the Secretary of the Treasury stood in the President's room of the Executive offices last Wednesday and outlined to the correspondents the nature of the changes in the tax program. Joseph Fordney, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the Republican leader, Frank Mondell, also stood by ready to answer questions and explain the figures. The picture was one of absolute informality, the President having asked his colleagues to stay in the room with him and submit to interrogation so the public might have no misapprehensions about the tax program.

Cuts of $520,000,000 in Government expenditure, agreed upon by Republican leaders to keep down taxation, include reductions of $350,000,000 for Federal Departments and $170,000,000 in account of the public debt. Department cuts follow:

War Department—	$ 50,000,000
Navy Department—	100,000,000
Shipping Board—	25,000,000
Agriculture Dept.—	25,000,000
Miscellaneous—	50,000,000
Railway payments—	50,000,000

Amount estimated two weeks ago by Secretary Mellon as necessary to run the Government, $4,554,000,000.

Amount now officially estimated as budget, $4,034,000,000.

Reduction in estimates, $520,000,000.

Stamps Separated.

To separate stamps that have become stuck together, lay a sheet of thin paper over them and iron with a hot iron. This will take them apart and the glue will still remain.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

The State Central Committee Adopts Resolution

The Republican State Central Committee, convened at the Rennett, Baltimore, Monday of last week by the call of Chairman Galen L. Tait, adopted a resolution intended to guarantee to women Republicans representation on the committee.

The resolution provides a plan similar in general to that adopted by the Republican City Committee—in such counties as shall not elect women to their committees, feminine representation shall be provided by selection, though the total of the vote would not be changed by this supplement. The resolution provides:

"Whereas, it is the unanimous desire of the committee that Republican women may enjoy fully the rights conferred upon them by the Nineteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution and that the party may have the benefit of their counsel and co-operation:

"Be it resolved by the Republican State Central Committee in meeting assembled at Baltimore this 16th day of August, 1921:

"1. That Republican women are eligible for membership in this committee and to all party offices:

"2. That in those counties where women shall not be elected to membership under the primary law, the plan of representation adopted by the Republican City Committee of Baltimore is approved and recommended for adoption with such modifications as may seem best adapted to secure the end desired by these resolutions: that is, complete, harmonious co-operation between Republican men and women for the general good."

While Republicans, in common with Democrats, desire the active participation of women in the party machinery, the problem has been to guarantee to women representation on the committees. The law provides that members thereof shall be elected by the voters of the party in question, and thus women have to take their chance with men in the balloting. The committee's resolution was adopted with a view to affording such a guarantee.

The meeting ratified the choice of September 9 as the date for the primaries and authorized the chairman to set a date for the party's State convention.

Alarmed By Outbreak of Typhoid

A big increase in the number of typhoid fever cases is causing the State Department of Health officials much concern. Through a method of distribution recently inaugurated by the Department, anti-typhoid vaccine is being distributed throughout the State to local practitioners. The demand for the vaccine is heavy.

Since the first of August 218 cases of typhoid have been reported to the State Health authorities. Sixteen cases were reported last Thursday. Last month 164 cases were reported. July a year ago the number reported was 70.

The worst outbreaks of the disease are in Alleghany, Washington and Queen Anne's counties. Other counties where typhoid is prevalent are Calvert, Charles, Kent, Talbot, Wicomico and Baltimore.

REPUBLICANS NAME CANDIDATES

Held a Meeting Last Wednesday And Selected Men For Local Ticket

Last Wednesday the Republicans of Somerset county met in the Auditorium, Princess Anne, and selected candidates for the local Republican ticket. The meeting was well represented from the various districts of the county, a number of colored men being in attendance. Not a white woman from the county attended the meeting and it is evident that the white women of the county are not to participate in the management of the Republican party affairs in this county. Bernard C. Dryden was chairman of the meeting and Alonzo L. Murrell was secretary. The ticket agreed upon follows:

For County Treasurer—R. Mark White, of Princess Anne.

For Register of Wills—Lafayette Ruark, of Westover.

For County Commissioner—J. Arthur White, of Princess Anne district.

For Sheriff—Charles S. Dryden, of Princess Anne.

For House of Delegates—John W. Dize, of Crisfield; David F. Webster, of Mt. Vernon; Harry R. Nelson, of Asbury district.

Members of the State Central Committee—William L. Whittington, of Marion; Bernard C. Dryden, of Princess Anne district; Isaac H. Tawes, of Crisfield; James I. Dennis (colored), of Princess Anne.

Delegates to the State Convention—R. Brice Whittington, of Marion; Geo. W. Lawson, of Asbury; Peter O. Hudson, of Kingston; John B. Vetter, of Deal's Island; Harry T. Phoebus, of Orle; Horatio W. Jones (colored), of Princess Anne.

The Republican party will engage in a primary contest, as a number of prominent Republicans were not satisfied with the candidates named last Wednesday. On Friday an opposition ticket was filed with the Board of Election Supervisors, headed by John B. Robins, of Crisfield, who is a candidate for the State Central Committee, as well as Isaac H. Tawes. The others on the opposition ticket are: Joseph D. Dashiell, of Mt. Vernon, for the House of Delegates; Harry T. Phoebus, of Orle, for County Commissioner, and Charles C. Byrd, of Crisfield, and H. Frank Conner, of Marion, for sheriff.

Two Men Injured In Auto Accident

Two men were injured and two automobiles and a wagon were demolished in an accident which occurred in front of Sterling's garage on the State road just outside of Crisfield last Thursday morning.

Mr. Clarence Christy, with his family, was going to Pocomoke in his Dort touring car, when he had passed the wagon of David Maddox, colored, who had stopped along the road. Coming down the road was the large lumber truck of Matthews & Ruark, driven by Joe Maddox, colored. The truck cut in on the road striking the Christy car and driving it back on the wagon of David Maddox, throwing all three of the vehicles in the ditch. David Maddox was badly injured, and the negro driver of the truck was caught under the lumber on the truck, and also severely injured. Fortunately none of Christy's party were injured.

A two weeks' tent meeting will be held in the Salem Methodist Protestant Church yard, at Manokin, beginning Monday evening, August 29th.

The visiting ministers will be Rev. C. M. Eldredge, of Crisfield, and Rev. M. Dryden, of Milford, Del. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CANNED GOODS PRICES RISING

Mr. Strassbaugh Asserts Demand Is Heavy As Market Opens Up

Canned goods are going up in price. The demand is unusually heavy for this time of year and prices probably will continue to rise. These are the predictions of Harry P. Strassbaugh, of Aberdeen Md., president of the National Cannery Association.

Shortage of crops, lowering of the interest rate on loans and the availability of funds to finance buying are the chief cause of the rising market, according to Mr. Strassbaugh.

Maryland, which normally produces 20 per cent. of the tomato pack of the country, says Mr. Strassbaugh, this year will produce not more than five per cent. of the pack. He is informed that one large can manufacturing concern which usually ships cans to about 40 canners on the Pennsylvania railroad has shipped to only one canner this year. The tomato pack will not be more than half of normal this year, he declares.

"Six months ago," said Mr. Strassbaugh, "canners were selling their goods at 30 to 40 per cent. less than cost. They were doing this to raise money to pay the growers, pay their can bills and pay wages. The money market was so tight and the wholesale grocers had taken such large losses in the sugar market that few were able to buy canned goods."

"Now that money is available and the discount rate has been lowered, buying has been stimulated. Even now, however, the canner is not making money, but merely selling at cost. Tomatoes which a few months ago were selling around 70 to 75 cents now are bringing $1, or just enough to pay cost of production. Corn is in much the same position as tomatoes; the crops are short and the prices which corn is bringing just about clears us without a loss."

The Canning Trade, a weekly journal covering the canning industry, rejoices in the changed conditions. It says:

"Isn't it a grand and glorious feeling to see the market back in the sellers' hands once more. But what did it? Just that determination to hold down the acreage this season so that the packs would not, could not, be large. As we have intimated, the market is strong and advancing; the brokers have been active trying to supply the wants of eager buyers and there seems to be no letup in the volume of business coming to hand."

1,600,000 Insufferably Lonely

"Insufferable lonesomeness" of the unmarried state now enfolds more than 1,600,000 women and men over 45 years of age, it is shown in reports of the United States Census Bureau last week. "Insufferable lonesomeness" was the term used by Dr. George P. Harding, father of President Harding, in explaining his marriage at 76 to Miss Severns, 52.

More than 100,000 men of about Dr. Harding's age now are listed as bachelors, the official records show. A nearly equal number of women of 64 years of age or over also are unmarried. And a still larger number of women and men over 50 are without mates.

These figures are preliminary estimates of the 1920 census returns based on partial returns of the recent census and proportions obtained in the preceding census. The official returns compiled by the Census Bureau will not be available for several months.

There are now in the United States approximately 960,000 men of 45 years of age or more who never entered matrimony. For the corresponding age group the number of unmarried women is approximately 712,000.

The official reports indicate, however, that marriages of men and women of the age of Dr. Harding and the former Miss Severns, are becoming more and more frequent. The population as a whole is entering the marriage state at a much later average than in the last decade. The average man marries at the age of 30, the reports show, and the average woman not later than 25.

At the same time, the people of the United States are shown to be living to a more ripe age. More than 3,000 persons now claim to be 100 years of age or older, according to the census records.

The body of Thomas Howard Gray, who was killed in action in France in September, 1918, was brought to his home at Elliott's Island, Dorchester county, Md., on Sunday, August 14th, and funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. W. F. Atkinson and interment was in the church cemetery. The J. O. U. A. M. attended in a body and concluded the services.

Our Appreciation And Thanks

We appreciate the number of subscribers who have renewed their subscriptions during the past few weeks. We need the money to pay our bills as the cost of publishing a paper is high and there seems to be no tendency toward a reduction. We have not sent out any statements of subscription accounts for the past year and have not stopped the paper of any one when their subscription expired. If you will look on the label it will inform you if in arrears and if so please send $1.50. We know that $1.50 a year seems high to some and would be pleased if we could make a reduction in price at this time but it is impossible under the present high cost of paper and labor. We have some financial obligations that are coming due and if you can help us to stem the tide we will greatly appreciate your assistance. Come in and get your name on the roll of honor; you will feel better and we will be delighted.

COMPELLED TO REDUCE EXPENSES

Board Of Education Cannot Supply Fuel, Etc., On Amount Levied

By order of the Board of Education Superintendent W. H. Dashiell has sent out the following letter to the trustees and teachers of the public schools of Somerset county:

"I have been directed by the County Board of Education to say to you that as the Board of County Commissioners has levied but $4,000 for fuel for the year 1921-22, the amount per room for coal will be reduced to $27 and for wood $17 for the year. When such supplies give out the schools will be closed.

I am also directed to say that a stricter observance of school hours must be maintained—that is to say, schools must be kept open from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. Trustees are requested to see that such hours are duly observed. Teachers will not be permitted to leave their schools before the regular hour for dismissal and they must have the school room in readiness for the reception of pupils at least 20 minutes before the hour of opening.

The County Commissioners have also cut down the amounts requested for janitors' wages. There will be no janitors, therefore, except in the Crisfield and Princess Anne High Schools, and they will be paid for nine months only. The following statement from the County Commissioners shows exactly what sums have been denied and the Board of Education sees no way to disregard that denial:

61,859,900,000 Cigarettes Last Year

Cigarettes numbering 61,859,900,000 were manufactured in the United States last year, the Census Bureau's annual tobacco report issued last Friday shows. Of that number 15,834,000,000 were exported, leaving about 46,000,000,000 factory made cigarettes for consumption in the United States. Cigars manufactured numbered 820,754,000, and tobacco manufactured, including chewing and smoking and snuff, totaled 413,891,000 pounds.

The year's crop of tobacco amounts to 1,508,064,000 pounds, grown on 1,894,400 acres. Leaf tobacco and tobacco products imported were valued at $98,562,000.

Revenue collected on tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff amounted to $294,000,000, of which North Carolina contributed $108,447,000; New York, $46,668,000; Virginia, $20,721,000; Pennsylvania, $20,196,000; New Jersey, $18,742,000; Ohio, $15,154,000, and Missouri, $12,319,000.

ABUNDANCE OF GAME PREDICTED

Warden LeCompte Gives Dates For Open Season For Hunting

The Shore bird season opened August 16th and lasts until November 30th. Persons from all over the State usually take the Ocean City shooting in during August and September. The bag limit on these birds is 15 for any one person a day.

The second open season is for doves, opening September 1st and closing December 15th, with a bag limit of 25 per day. The third open season is for sora, including reed and rail birds, the season opening September 1st and closing November 30th, and the bag limit being 25. Wood duck, elder duck and swan of the waterfowl species come next as targets for the sportsmen, the season opening November 1st and closing January 31st. The bag limits are as follows: Ducks, 25 per day; geese, 8 per day; brant, 8 per day. Upland game, which includes bob-white partridge, ruffed grouse, native pheasant, woodcock, wild turkey, squirrel, rabbit and the Chinese ring-necked pheasant (male only) can be shot from November 10th to January 1st, inclusive. There is no open season for deer shooting in the State.

Game Warden LeCompte is making preparations for a heavy gunning season. He has sent out a total of 62,500 hunting licenses to the various clerks of the courts, including 58,800 county resident licenses, 3,975 State-wide and 1,725 non-resident licenses to the counties, and 4,500 State-wide and 200 non-resident licenses to the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas in Baltimore city. The county resident fees are $1.10, State-wide fees $5.10 and non-resident fees $10.25.

Mr. LeCompte has liberated 10,559 bob-white partridges. He also distributed 9000 Chinese ring-necked pheasant eggs to persons who agreed to hatch them and release the fledglings. He is also contemplating the distribution of 3,000 10-week-old pheasants now in the covers at the game farm at Gwynbrook. Therefore, it is expected that there will be more game this season than there has been in years. Early reports are to the effect that the birds that have been released are doing well.

The bag limit for upland game is as follows: Partridge, 12; ruffed grouse or pheasant, 2; woodcock, 6; rabbits, 10; squirrels, 10; Wilson or jack snipe, 25; wild turkey, 4 one season.

There is only one exception to the above bag limit, and same is for Harford county: Partridges, 10; rabbit, 6; squirrel, 8.

It is unlawful to export any game except (wild-fowl) from the State of Maryland, however, a non-resident licensed hunter may carry out game killed by himself to the extent of one day's bag limit. The Federal law permits a licensed hunter to carry out of State wild-fowl not to exceed 50 in any one calendar week.

Shooting from power boat or sail boat prohibited under State and Federal laws. The Federal law provides, as a means for taking migratory game, during open season, with a gun only not larger than 10 gauge, fired from the shoulder from the land or water with the aid of a dog or the use of decoys, from a blind or floating device (other than an airplane, power boat, sail boat, boat under sail or any floating device towed by a power boat or sail boat.)

It is unlawful to sell, offer for sale, purchase or offer to purchase migratory game of any description, bob-white quail, partridge, Chinese ring-necked pheasant or ruffed grouse, or wild turkey in the State of Maryland at any time, except however, native game birds or animals may be sold alive for propagation purposes.

All persons (excepting land-owners, their tenants or children hunting on their own land or leased land) must have a license to hunt.

Guests of land owners must have a license. Licenses can be obtained from the clerks of the Circuit Courts of the counties or the clerk of court of Common Pleas, Court House, Baltimore city. Unlawful to trespass on any property owned or controlled or acquired by the State Game Department for the propagation of game or fish under a penalty of $100. Unlawful to trespass on any property which is posted against trespassing without permission. Penalty $15. It is also unlawful to trespass on property which is not posted without the consent of the owner or tenant.

September 6th Registration Day

Somerset voters who are not on the registration books should remember that Tuesday, September 6th, will be the only date they will have an opportunity to enroll before the September primaries. No transfers may be obtained on this date. Individuals who are on the poll books will vote at the same place they cast their ballot last year.

Princess Anne was somewhat crippled because of the loss of Sharpley at third, who is one of the best players on the peninsula, and who signed up to play with the Baltimore Orioles. This is the fifth game of the series between the two teams. Princess Anne had won two and tied two. Score:

CUBA IS FREE OF 'EL POTE'

Island Republic Rejoices at the Death of its Richest Millionaire.

CRUEL POWER OF WEALTH

Peasant Told Down Millions as He Piled up Riches on Misfortunes of Others—Lived and Died a Brute.

Havana.—"El Pote" is dead and all Cubans rejoice. The peasant who became a millionaire many times over and used his wealth to wield a cruel power died as he had lived, haunted and hated, a victim of his own power.
In 40 years he established a career lived with tragedy, dark with sordid scheming, tremendous with both success and failure. A year ago reputed the richest man in Cuba, he came to a miserable end at his own hands, and almost his last words were that the wealth which cost him 40 years of unfettering toil to accumulate did not yield him one hour of happiness.

Jose Lopez Rodriguez was known to virtually every one in Cuba. He was a strange, sinister figure, and even in death he furnishes a remarkable example of what can be accomplished by the constant, ruthless application of power to a single task. Fervor el Pote (the pot boils) was his watchword, his motto, the rule of his sordid life, and it was from this that he came to be called "El Pote," the name with which millions became familiar. For years he thrived, at the expense of others. Then the fortunes of war turned against him, and, fearing the loss of all his ill-gotten gains, he committed suicide by hanging himself with a twisted sheet.

Filthy of Body.

Not more than five feet in height,
"El Pote" had the powerful, thickest frame typical of the Gallego peasant.
He wore the oldest clothes he could find and was foul of mind and speech and filthy of body.

Jose Lopez Rodriguez was born in Spain and emigrated to Cuba in his fifteenth year, fleeing from the hard conditions of the Gallego peasant life.
In Havana for a while he worked with pick and shovel, but as soon as he could he abandoned such hard manual labor to work for an old second-hand book dealer, peddling the books from house to house. One morning his aged employer was found dead in his bed and young Lopez Rodriguez, who slept on the premises, was arrested on suspicion of murder, but after spending some time in prison he was released for lack of sufficient evidence to indict.

The widow of the murdered bookseller continued the business and Lopez Rodriguez, after his release from prison returned to his old employment. One morning the widow was found hanging in her room, but no evidence being found to confirm a suspicion that there had been foul play, a verdict of suicide was returned.
By the time the young employee had saved up some money and he bought the business.

Piles Dollar on Dollar.

Living upon almost nothing and working tirelessly, he steadily increased his trade and piled one dollar on another until with the passage of the years his fortune grew to respectable dimensions.

When, after the wealth of Cubans had been drained by three years of revolution and embargo, the American fleet blockaded Havana in 1898, "El Pote"—for by that time he had come universally to be known by his sobriquet—was able to acquire for cash large properties for a tithe of their value, and when the Cuban republic was set up he was a rich man among men who had been ruined. The latter were compelled to go to him for cash which he alone was able to lend. And so it came to pass that many of those to whom the government of the young republic was entrusted were his debtors—which he never allowed them to forget.

He secured a monopoly on all Cuban printing, for which scandal scores went to jail. Then he got control of one of the biggest banks and wrecked that, "borrowing" no less than $11,- 000,000 without security of any kind.
He loaned millions, but always demanded from 50 to 100 per cent interest.

It is believed that after the payment of all debts the estate of Jose Lopez Rodriguez will be worth somewhere around $10,000,000, proving that it was not the fear of penury that drove him to end his life in the fashion by which his employer 40 years ago had died and which had marked the beginning of his own prosperity.

Doctors Operated.

St. Louis.—Carl Williams, a negro, held by the police on a minor charge,
the other day complained of stomach pains. An examination revealed he had swallowed a key and a nail.
"Mighty funny; things like that don't usually bother me," he remarked.
He was operated on for their removal.

$66,000 THIEF GIVEN 3 YEARS

Memphis Teller for 12 Years Missed Vacations to Shield
His Shortage.

COURT GETS HIS CONFESSION

Began With $100 Holdout and Lived in Hope of Making All Good—Never Missed a Day or Was Late —Strain Was Terrible.

Memphis, Tenn.—Alex V. Smith, formerly note teller for the First National bank, stood convicted, but elated with a three-year term, given to him after he had confessed to a $66,001.37 peculation and pleaded guilty.

During the 12 years Smith was connected with the bank he never took a vacation, never was absent or late in reporting for duty. He told reporters in order to cover up the shortage he had to be continually on the job.

John D. Martin, Smith's counsel, read a copy of Smith's confession to the court in his plea for leniency. The confession says:

"I, Alex V. Smith of Raleigh, Tenn., do hereby make confession.

"I was born in Liverpool, England, on June 8, 1883. I left England and came to the United States when I was about twenty-two years old. After a short stay in New York city I came to Memphis, Tenn., and became a bank clerk in the employ of the Bank of Commerce of Memphis, where I worked for about nine months. I then entered the employ of the First National bank of Memphis, Tenn., and was continuously employed there until January 13, 1921. I was note teller at the First National bank for about 12 consecutive years. During this time I gave diligent attention to the duties of the position.

Began With $100.

"About 11 years ago, one day after the vaults were closed, to accommodate a customer I took a deposit of about $100. That night I used this money to pay a debt, hoping to replace it immediately. It was never replaced, and the shortage grew, until January 12, 1921, it amounted to $66,- 501.37.

"My method of concealment was throughout the entire period of shortage to hold for a day or two, then remit, being in the manner always short in my remittances.

"I married about eight years ago, and at the time of my marriage my shortage was comparatively small. My family consists of my wife, aged thirty-one years, and three children, Alex V. Jr., aged seven; Jim Mangrum, aged six, and Jay Shaw, aged two years, nine months.

"The moneys which I embezzled from the bank were absorbed in my personal expense and extravagances.
I have not dissipated money in gambling or speculation. I have, of course, entertained the vague hope that I could make restitution of these peculations, but have been crushed with the realization that this was impossible.

Strain Has Been Terrible.

"The strain of my situation has, of course, been terrible, and I have suffered immense mental torture for years.

"I have been unable to obtain sufficient sleep or rest except through the use of intoxicants, and have been compelled to resort to the same means as a stimulant to enable me to discharge the regular duties of my office.

"It is my intention and desire that in the event there should be an indictment returned against me on account of my wrongdoing to immediately enter a plea of guilty to the same and throw myself without reservation upon the mercy of the court.

"It is my desire to receive such penalty as may be inflicted on me as speedily as possible, it being my deep desire, after I have met my punishment, to rise again and be a man. It will be my earnest effort to make good, in the fullest measure possible, the loss which has been occasioned as the result of my wrongdoing."

After the shortage was discovered Smith says regarding his conversation with bank officials:

"I gave them the exact figures, to wit, $66,001.37, together with all data and documents pertaining thereto, thereby enabling the officials of the bank to make a speedy adjustment of their records. I gave the exact amount of my shortage as stated above, so that the bank would not be put to the necessity of a long, laborious and expensive audit of my accounts.

Chained Hound Fed by Alredale.
Point Pleasant, W. Va.—"Pat," an Alredale puppy, owned by E. E. Thomas of this town, for some time has been bringing choice bones to "Jack," a hound, which Bert Shiflet, its master, keeps chained to its kennel, it was learned. Extra bones and choice bits of meat have been noticed near the kennel. Mrs. Shiflet watched and saw "Pat" approach with a large soup bone. He placed it in front of his friend, wagged his tail while it was devoured, and then romped away.

REAL HEAT IN PHILIPPINES

Traveler's Description of Weather During Some Months Is Not by Any Means Alluring.

The rainy season is behind time, and the dear garden burns yellow brown. It is so hot that even the crickets are still. The long, black-raftered rooms are unendurably warm, Caroline S. Shunk writes in Asia Magazine. Smoke from the servants' fire in the yard drifts in over us. The yellow earth at our back door stretches, a glaring plain, to meet the jungle, which rolls up a rich green carpet to the "Secret Place Mountain," where, so runs the legend, a Negrito chieftain hid his favorite wife. There she died, and, at her request, the delicately carved comb that held her long hair was buried with her. From this grave, the natives say, grew a tree with leaves like the fine, soft hair of a woman—the useful and beautiful bamboo tree.

Out in the yard the women have ceased their chanting to the beat of their washing paddles, to sit around a chow pot of rice and smoke long, black cigars. Their sphinx-like faces have no illuminating expression, save when a baby toddles too near the open fire. Then the look of fear and love with which the child is hastily snatched away into the arms of the little brown mother includes us for an instant and is gone. We are shut out in an alien world again. I hear the plaint of the Chinese cook: "China not same. Allee samee China boys go. Too muchee Melican man." Then, a harsh, clattering word like a tin pan falling from a table—perhaps a Chinese swearword!

CAVE HAS STRANGE PROPERTY

Peculiar Conditions in Cavern on Tahiti Have Never Been Satisfactorily Explained.

About 27 kilometers from Papeete, Tahiti, is a large opening in the side of a mountain called the Cave of Ma-raa. It is the reputed burial place of a powerful wizard of old, the spell of whose enchantments still broods over the cavern. The particular manifestation which interests passersby is the impossibility of striking the opposite wall of the cave with a stone, although to the eye the feat seems the easiest of undertakings. Most newcomers laugh at the legend and start out with an easy throw, only to see the missile drop in the water apparently but a few feet away.

Then they warn to the work and exert all the force that is in them, and, at last making slings, strive with all their might to overcome the power of the old warlock; but to no avail.
The stones drop ignominiously in the water as if some unseen hand had caught them in midair and cast them down in the center of the cavern. The reason has never been explained satisfactorily.—Chicago Journal.

Simple and Convincing.

Film actresses work hard. They may not have late nights, but they have early mornings and they are often up, while other folks are turning over in bed for another nap. "What do you do in your leisure?" a cinema actress was asked. "Nothing," she replied.
"How sensible," was the rejoinder. "It isn't sense, it's necessity. I never do anything in my leisure, because I never have any leisure to do it in."

How Esther Foiled a Holdup

By WILLIAM FALL

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

"You are not afraid, Esther?"
"Not a particle, Nettie. Why should I be? This is not my first time on duty here, you know."

"Yes, but at night and all by yourself! I should think you would die with lonesomeness."

"What! With your dear brother Paul to think of? Why, Nettie, just imagine it—he may be a passenger on the very train I send speeding to the city at midnight."

Esther Manning mounted the iron ladder leading to the track tower, half a mile from the nearest house of a small scattered settlement.

Her father had been dispatcher at Tower 10 for fifteen years, and before that in other employment with the Central Northern. The night shift, with its chill mists and tiresome treadmill system, had been a hardship to old Mr. Manning. He was particularly indisposed this particular evening, and Esther had insisted on acting as his substitute.

She was engaged to Paul Reynolds, who had been for a year in the West and was expected home daily. His sister had accompanied Esther to the tower. The latter waited till Bruce Vallette, the day operator, was relieved by Esther. Then the two walked away, leaving Esther alone at her post of duty in the gathering dusk.

Esther had only the Night Flyer to take care of, due at 12:08.

She looked to see that the west semaphore was set for clear tracks. Half a mile distant where the big curve began was the east semaphore. She noted that the go-ahead white light showed.

Esther roused from her day dream reveler with something of a shock.
Very suddenly the trap door in the floor was given a great push, as if from a man's strong shoulder. Esther had taken the precaution to bolt it.
She heard a muffled ejaculation of disappointment. Warned—more, alarmed—Esther sprang up quickly and threw the tin shade over the lamp on the operator's table.

She ran to the window and glanced down. It was just in time to see a lurking form steal from the tower base and sink over behind the cattle pens.
Here he was joined by two men. A startled cry escaped Esther's lips. The white clear signal was not visible. It had been changed to the red stop signal.
Esther sprang to the semaphore levers.

"The wires are cut!" she gasped, white and trembling and almost overcome.

Within fifteen minutes the Night
Flyer was due.

"Train robbers!" breathed Esther, aghast. "What shall I do?"

She imagined the Night Flyer, at the mercy of lawless, armed bandits.

Esther summoned all her innate bravery and good sense. In one corner of the tower room stood a repeating rifle. She threw up a west window, took aim at the semaphore, and fired.

No result. Again—and there was a crash. She had shot out the white light signal! Surely the Night Flyer would take some heed of this circumstance!

A second rapid suggestion came to her mind, and she ran for a corner where a big bundle of red fire signal fuses lay.

Carrying these to the table, she selected one. Drawing the screen from the lamp, she flared the end of the fuse and gave it a fling. It landed, hissing and sputtering, amid the loose hay near the cattle pens. In an instant the mass burst into flames.

Bang—bang—bang! A hail of bullets from the revolver of the man left on guard rattled across the crashing windows of the tower. Then he darted down the rails in search of his companions.

Up dashed the Night Flyer. Esther was down from the tower, rifle in hand, a figure heroic as the train came to a stop and its crew surrounded her. In an instant an armed party was made up, proceeding to the east semaphore to investigate the situation at that point.

The baffled bandits had fled, but preparations were discovered to hold up the train in true wild western fashion—the train which carried in its express car over half a million in currency.

The leader of the investigating group was a young man from the West—Esther's lover. When the Night Flyer resumed its run, Paul Reynolds came back to the tower to greet the brave girl soon to become his wife.

The railroad company did something more than pension old Mr. Manning. They sent Esther a substantial wedding present as a reward for her heroic efforts in saving the Night Flyer.

Greek Coins Perfect.

Between the rude issues of Asia Minor and the most perfect coins of the Greek states an interval of three centuries, during which all that is known, or probably ever will be known, in beautifying a steel die was achieved. So far as design is concerned, the Greek coins were simply perfect. No modern coins can compare with them in beauty. Roman coins of the imperial period are of the greatest historical interest. From the sad and furrowed face of Julius to the self-satisfied effigy of Domitian extends an interval of 100 years, filled with the most noteworthy events of the history of Rome.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 23, 1921

Big crops of raisins being cultivated and not all of them are for raisin bread.

Some of these young girls sixty to seventy years of age look mighty happy in their short skirts.

It ought not to cost much to fit out a jazz band with all the tin cans and gas-pipe lying around on dumps.

After fixing shoe soles so as to save the upper, you find you have to repair the uppers to save the soles.

A minister remarked that the people who made their own beds must lie in them. They are too much inclined to on Sunday mornings.

The men who wear the legless bathing suits are frequently indignant about the immodest costumes worn by the women.

The potato bug seems a terrible pest, but a good French cook would know how to use them in browning up the fried potatoes.

There are some people in this town who have firmly resolved not to do anything today that can be put off until next week.

Some of the people who bought eggs freely when they were 80 cents have no money left to buy them now when they are 38 cents.

This bonus for war service may be all right, but it is not necessary to include any compensation to the girls who lost their hearts to the soldiers.

All the whiskey in the warehouses is making lots of trouble, but some people in this section would be willing to take the responsibility of getting rid of it.

Those people in Princess Anne who always introduce every remark by saying "listen" are reminded that not all of the people are suffering from deafness.

Mr. William S. Gordy, cashier of the Salisbury National Bank, is the candidate of the Democratic party for Comptroller. He will make a strong candidate and we believe he will be elected. This has been made reasonably sure by the Democratic factions in Baltimore having agreed to quit fighting and to work for the success of all Democratic nominees. It is an admitted fact that in order to elect a Comptroller this year the Democrats of the State must put up an aggressive fight. Mr. Gordy has undertaken the job when numerous others declined and he is certainly entitled to every possible aid from the rank and file of the party. It is to be hoped that Democrats of Wicomico county will set an example for the rest of the State by injecting some "pep" in his fight which will result in giving him a splendid victory at the coming election.

SELECTING TEACHERS

The demand for good educational facilities has never been so strong as in recent years, yet good teachers have been unusually hard to find, owing to the greater number of young women who enter business careers. The people who have to find and select teachers for the schools of Somerset county are entitled to sympathy.

Even if there are plenty of fairly qualified candidates, it is never certain who will fit a vacant position. A teacher may be splendidly equipped in all technical training, yet she may lack those magnetic gifts that arouse and inspire the pupils.

Parents are frequently notional in the demands they make on teachers. They have been known to complain because a teacher was not tastefully dressed, when it would have taken a big slice out of the girl's limited salary to meet their requirements of style.

The modern teacher needs to have had a good professional training. The college girl who has never studied the methods of instruction would not as a rule be as well qualified for work in the grammar grades as those who have had normal school training and who have studied the ways in which other teachers have won success.

The best qualification for school work is the ability to communicate ambition. Some women who know little of modern educational methods, yet have a mysterious power that arouses sleepy children from their lethargy and makes them want to get out in the world and do things. Personality is what counts, and it is difficult to tell who has this elusive quality. The quiet and reserved girl who seems to lack it, may yet have the gift of awakening children's minds, while others who are bubbling over with vivacity are all talk and no depth. Selecting teachers involves a good deal of investigation to ascertain what results the applicant had in former places. Those who are picked simply on their personal appearance and record of school courses taken often prove disappointing.

DEVELOPING FOREIGN TRADE

American business men have got to hustle from now on to keep up with Germany and other competitors in the South American and other markets. Selling goods in those countries will not be the snap it was when Europe was torn up by war.

Goods are being produced very cheap in Germany and other European countries and our producers will have to get out goods at very moderate prices. It is of the greatest importance that our country be represented in foreign lands by consuls and commercial attaches who are trained business men, not "deserving Republicans" or "deserving Democrats," or any other stripe of politicians.

An idea of the way American business is dependent upon the service of federal departments is shown by some facts out of the last report of the department of commerce. Here are some items of business that the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce helped to secure for American business concerns: Contract for $3,500,000 worth of pipe in Argentina, $300,000 worth of telephone equipment to Italy and Buenos Aires, 35 locomotives to Buenos Aires, construction materials worth $500,000 to Uruguay, machinery for 15 cotton mills in China, and prospects for equipping 100 more mills, orders for 10,000 pairs of shoes from Italy, etc.

Every form of production in this country can be stimulated if the government is served by a well organized and aggressive bureau of foreign commerce. The secretary of commerce, Mr. Hoover, is a very original and progressive man and will be disposed to do everything possible to market American products. He should be supported in an effort to make the bureau of commerce an institution that shall push American products all over the world, with all the enterprise and publicity of which American business men are capable.

Be Considerate Of Telephone Girls

"Telephoning in hot weather is not pleasant exercise and when one has held the 'phone to his ear for five minutes, he hangs up the instrument with a sigh of relief. But the girls in the telephone exchange keep the instrument to their ears for hours at a time and the tax on their nerves and patience is something dreadful, we fancy. Let us all keep the fact in mind when using the telephone in this trying season and be as considerate as possible of the girls in the exchange. Speak to them in a pleasant tone of voice; give your orders as clearly as possible; be patient, if there is a little delay in making the connection, or if mistakes are made, which sometimes are unavoidable, and please do not scold.

"We speak for the girls, they can not speak for themselves. Be merciful and kind to them. Deal with them gently and considerately, for in so doing you will not only make their irksome tasks easier but you will get a better service."

A telephone operator, trained, efficient and loyal is doing a day's work that takes all her nerve and intelligence. In the telephone business we know the small percentage of errors that creep into the handling of calls. When the telephone operator who has "delivered the goods" reads some of this alleged humor she naturally gets the idea that her work is not appreciated by the public. This is the kind of thought that would break down the moral of any organization.

Hot Weather Diseases

Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during the hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against a sudden attack, get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence.

Again on the Fair grounds one meets year after year familiar faces of friends and acquaintances who often have not been seen during the past twelve months.

Of all the Fairs on the Eastern Shore, the

Great Salisbury Fair AT SALISBURY, MARYLAND,

easily takes the lead in racing, in exhibits, in midway and free attractions. This Fair is scheduled to open Tuesday morning, August 23rd, and until the close on Friday, August 26th, the gates will be thronged with tens of thousands of men, women and children coming from every section of the Shore, including Virginia and Delaware. The management this year announces an unusually attractive and interesting program consisting of five free attractions, namely:

A sensational high dive, a very thrilling act. Another trapeze performance consisting of an aerial casting act above the stage. The management will invest more in high class free acts than ever before. Besides these a larger line of exhibits in the various departments is promised than ever before. The outlook for fast races and good horses is said to be better than for several years. Cause Of Appendicitis
 When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

SOUGHT TREASURY'S HELP IN FINDING HIDDEN WEALTH

Man Sent To Washington For Locating Instruments When Gold Was Lying Within His Grasp.

Extraordinary demands for information and assistance are continually being made upon the Treasury Department, but seldom have the members of the department been more thoroughly helpless to comply than with a request from Copeland, Kansas. The letter asks for unfailing processes of locating hidden treasure and reads:

Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:
I would like to get some information in regard to your Treasury Locating Instruments that will locate buried treasure and etc.
Can a person obtain these instruments of your people and if so, please send me a catalog and the circulars of them and please send me also your Treasury Book of Hidden Treasures. Please send it at once.

This communication finally was turned over to the director of the Savings Division of the Treasury. "It is perfectly true that hundreds of millions of dollars in hidden treasure exist in the United States," he said. "But it is the money which is hidden in tea-pots, and under mattresses and in old socks. The only way to locate this treasure, uncover it and make it of use to its owners and to the nation, is to inculcate in the people of this country knowledge of safe and profitable investment."

The savings securities of this government, issued first during the war and continued since that time, have done more to uncover hidden treasure and make it profitable and useful than all the divining rods and treasure maps, collected since the days of Captain Kidd. The best instrument to secure treasure that the writer of the letter could find are $1 Treasury Savings Stamps bought regularly every week. So he really went to the right shop for his information after all and the United States Treasury was able to supply both the information and the instruments needed.

FLIES 300 MILES AN HOUR

Monoplane Invented by Italian Engineer Said to Need Little Landing Space.

Rome, Italy.—An airplane capable of landing without the need of a large aviation field, able to travel more than 300 miles an hour and, if necessary, to maneuver along at only a few miles an hour is announced as the invention of an Italian engineer, Epaminonda Bertoldo of Rome.

The inventor reports that he has already tried out the machine on a small scale and regards his first experiments as indicative of the success of the invention. The new machine is primarily intended for aerial war chasing and is to be armed with a machine gun. It is a monoplane.

Sauvage Eruption.

On April 30, 1913, the Vincentian Sauvage burst forth in all its fury, opening a circular chasm over half a mile in diameter and nearly 500 feet deep. So awful was the discharge that Barbadoes, 100 miles away, was thickly covered with the volcanic dust.

Society Has Cheap Rent.

The London Zoological society occupies ground in Regent's park measuring 34 acres, for which it pays a little more than $1,500 a year. The estimated value of the land commercially is more than $500,000 a year.

Orange Juice.

Orange juice, freshly pressed out, supplies the best possible food for the sick room. There is not only the health-giving property of the orange, but a quantity of pure distilled water free of all foreign matter.

Providence Will Not Do All.

As a general rule Providence seldom vouchsafes to mortals any more than just that degree of encouragement which suffices to keep them at a reasonably full exertion of their powers. —Hawthorne.

An English clergyman has declared that it is woman's duty to dress just as well as she can afford. We have yet to meet a woman who is lax in her duty in this regard.

Court Plaster.

Court plaster is so called because it was originally applied by ladies of the court as patches on the face. It is made of silk, varnished with a solution of isinglass.

BOY BURNS UP MOTORBOAT

Heard Mother Objecting to Father Taking Ride in Craft, So He Destroyed It.

Philadelphia.—The mystery of the burning of the motorboat Susan G. at Camden has been cleared up by the confession of Ernest Gries, Jr., seventeen years old.

The youth told the police he burned the boat to please his mother. He told of lying on the lounge in the sitting room of his home while his mother and father were arguing over a trip the father wanted to take on the craft with a boat club over the holiday. Mrs. Gries did not want her husband to go.

The boy said he told his mother he would burn the boat, and so, early in the morning he went aboard in his canoe, soaked everything with gasoline from the tank, set it on fire and was blown overboard. He swam ashore, he said, and went to bed.

Sugar an Ancient Food.

Sugar is an old food in the Orient. Herodotus tells that the Hindus "obtained honey from reeds or bamboo." There is a wealth of classic lore on bees and honey. In ancient days honey was extensively used in the practice of medicine and our European ancestors so used it. Even as late as two centuries ago they claimed medical virtue for honey, and many interesting recipes are stored away in faded books on medicine.

Various Storm Warnings.

Flowers, trees and low-growing plants send out storm warnings. Certain plants and flowers close up tightly on the approach of rain. They give ample warning. The common dandelion does this, and also the leaves of the white clover. The silver leaf poplar gives fair warning of rain by tossing the silver under side of its leaves upward continuously.

Woman Started First Daily Paper.

The first daily paper in the world is said to have been established by a woman, Miss Elizabeth Mallet, in London, March, 1702. She polished and edited the Daily Courant, which she founded "for the purpose of doing greater justice to women in general through the elimination of imperfections which the ordinary papers contain."

Put It Up to the Teacher.

It was Jimmy's first day in school and he appeared to be very much interested and was very attentive to everything the teacher said. In one class the teacher asked Jimmy how many fingers he had. The little fellow stuck out his fingers and said to the teacher: "There they are! count 'em."

No Great American Sea Poet.
England leads in really great verse of sea and shipping. From Tennyson's "Ballad of the Revenge" to Kipling's "Coastwise Lights," English bards have sung of spindrift and ocean spray. In America, Longfellow, Whittier, and a few others have dabbled in rock pools. The great American sea poet is yet to come.

What Auntie Missed.

Julia was enthusiastic over a comedy she had seen at a moving picture theater, and proceeded in jumbled baby fashion to explain what she had seen. The thing that impressed her the most was a toe dancer with short fluffy skirts. She said, "Oh, auntie, you should have seen the girl in full bloom."

Damp Stone House.

The dampness in a stone house can be lessened by painting the outside of the house first with a heavy priming coat, then in the usual way. The only other way to do away with the dampness is to lath and plaster the rooms, leaving an air space behind the plastering.

Cheap Power.

A scientist has asserted that there is enough latent energy in one's little finger to run all the trains in the United Kingdom for a few minutes. Now, if somebody would invent a vest-pocket dynamo to enable a man to make use of this energy we'd all be in clover.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

MONUMENT AT NEW ORLEANS

Memorial to World War Fallen Heroes Regarded as One of the Most Interpretative.

One of the most truly interpretative memorial monuments erected since the World war was recently completed at New Orleans. It is the work of Charles L. Lawhorn, designer, and G. H. Dodd, sculptor. Local American Legion posts presented the monument to the city.

Standing in a bed of red poppies in the beautiful city park, the monument is silhouetted against the palms. At the base is the simple inscription: "In memory of our comrades who made the supreme sacrifice." Slight ornamentation relieves the severity of the shaft. On each side of the monument is an insignia, denoting the departments of service in which Americans gave their lives—the army, navy, marine and aviation. The four figures created by the sculptor represent four phases of military experience.

T. Semmes Wainwright, chairman of the Legion's national committee of memorials, was deeply interested in the erection of this tribute to the fallen comrades in New Orleans, where he makes his home. Mr. Wainwright pronounced it the most remarkable conception he had seen.

LEGION MEN DO NOT FORGET

Tuberculosis Victim Is Sent Back to His Home in California by Faithful Buddies.

Paul P. Pinnel was only a gob baker in the United States navy during the World war, but he served his country faithfully and is now one of the thousands suffering from tuberculosis. For many months he had been in Seton hospital, New York city, which is caring for patients in the last stages of the dreadful disease.

His application for compensation has been on file for more than a year, but no action has been taken by the bureau of war risk insurance, although time and time again, Pinnel's critical condition has been brought to the bureau's attention. So he has been existing without compensation and dependent upon members of the American Legion who visit the hospital regularly, for the many little necessities dear to the heart of every sick man.

Walter T. Hamilton, chairman of the Bronx county Welfare committee of the American Legion visited the ex-gob and the latter confided to him that he longed to be back home in California among his people. Hamilton got busy. The next day he took the matter up with his committee and $450 was raised by the Legionnaires to provide for Pinnel's transportation and an attendant nurse.

Pinnel is home now with his aged father. His country for whom he fought may have forgotten, but his buddies—never.

Pies for Sailor Boys.

One thousand home-made pies were dispensed by members of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion at Seattle, Wash., to the 1,400 sailors of the Pacific fleet who took part in a parade there. Other rations were distributed in as generous a measure. Pity the poor ship's cook on a night like that!

HOME TOWN HELPS

TO A MAN'S TOWN

What should a man boast more for than his town—
The place that shelters all his life holds dear, Perchance, his grandfathers' ashes and the tales
That old tradition couples with his name?
What should a man be prouder of than just
The harbor of his neighbors and his friends,
The place where smiles of greeting start his day
And mark its close. His town is this and more.

It has been wisely said of man that he has two homes. One is where he sits and reads
When evening's come and where his children are;
The other one is that which makes him safe,
Assures him protection with his friends,
A home that keeps his home—and that's his town.
One is his heart's desire. He plans for it and works and saves, then works and saves some more.
That he may have it; and the other one gives him the first one and makes it secure.

What should a man boast more for than his town?
—J. R. Adams in Interurban Labor Journal, South Bend, Indiana.

UNITE TO BEAUTIFY HOMES

Example Set by Women of New Mexico Might Well Be Copied in Almost All the States.

In one of the dry-farming counties in New Mexico the women have shown their interest in improving the surroundings of their ranch homes by making home beautification a project in the county program of work. Through the assistance of the home demonstration agent, co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture, these women, during 1920, bought, planted and cared for 1,800 rose bushes which were planted in 21 home gardens. The roses include varieties which had never been tried before in that section of the country.

Some of the varieties which made the best growth are, Red Radiance, Crimson Queen, Lady Battersea, Madam Cochet, Sunburst, Old Gold. Dorothy Perkins, and Gold of Ophir. The roses were planted in well-fertilized soil and were protected from the winds until growth was well established. In the fall the bushes are protected by turning a small nail keg without a bottom over them and filling in with earth and manure. The beauty and fragrance of these roses tend to weld the people more closely to their ranch homes and thus make for more permanent agriculture.

Hybrid Tea Rose.

In this connection it is well to remember that there is no section of the country where roses cannot be made to thrive, with care.

Small Town's Many Advantages.

The small town rules America, because, instead of being a place of hotels, restaurants and amusements, it is a place for normal living—where men walk home to lunch from their place of business and mow their own front lawns and weed their backyard gardens and bid their neighbors across either fence the time of day; where they not only live in today, but remember yesterday and plan for tomorrow; where families and communities retain, cherish and transmit traditions, there beats the heart of America.—Dodge County (Minn.) Star.

Sanitation Always Pays.

Some people say that sanitation doesn't pay. Well, it doesn't pay doctors and grave diggers, says the United States public health service. Be sanitary; seek health before you need it.

Take Care of the Trees.

A city without trees is a desolate place. Yet any city which does not guard its trees will some day be without them.

Keep Everything in Repair.

Holes in the street are warnings against more holes. So are holes in the graveyard. Repairs in time will delay both.

Pure, Fresh Candy

When you walk up to the door and SHE answers the bell—it's lucky you have the candy. You'd be speechless otherwise. You hand it to her with, "Sweets to the sweet," (if you have the nerve) and she opens it. Gee! You're glad you bought it here 'cause you know it's fresh and pure!

It's pretty small, after you have won her with sweet food and sweeter words, to forget that she likes either after you're married.

HELPED BY SENSE OF HUMOR

Possibly Man Who Would Incorporate It in the Marriage Ceremony Is Right.

A man got up the other day and said it was his opinion that a sense of humor was so important in life that it ought to be put right into the marriage ceremony.

It is needless to add that the man who got up and said it was a bachelor. If he had been a married man he wouldn't have been allowed to get up in the first place, and even if he had managed that he couldn't have dared say anything so radical.

This gentleman's suggestion was that, since the "obey" had been amputated from the service, the loving couple should be required to "love, honor, and have a sense of humor" until death do them part.

Undoubtedly a sense of humor has its place in the home, but we don't see the advantage of thrusting it into the wedding service.

If you really had a sense of humor in working order you wouldn't be doing anything so ridiculous as promising anything. A man getting married is in no condition to enjoy a joke—even if he is one.

When a man can hardly keep a wife, the way prices are, how can he be expected to keep a sense of humor? Even if he did manage to scrape up the remnants of one after the wedding it would be knocked out by the first of the month, when the bills begin to come in.

Generally speaking, a sense of humor in matrimony is about as much use as a map of Europe, published in 1918.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Columbus' Landing Place.

For four centuries there have been dispute and disagreement as to the first landing place of Columbus in the new world. It is known that he landed on one of the Bahama islands, but in that widely-scattered group there are 300 pieces of land, large enough to be classified as islands, and about 700 "cays" or "keys," like those which lie along the Florida coast, and in some cases pretty well out to sea. The early narratives have it that Columbus landed at or on a place which the native Indians called Guanahani, and which the Spaniards named San Salvador, or Holy Saviour. Cat Island has been given as the landing place of Columbus and so has Watling Island. Attwoods Key or Samana has been chosen by some as the place which Columbus called San Salvador, and other investigators who may be termed authorities have picked Turks Island, and others have chosen the island of Mariguana.—Washington Star.

Adams' "Midnight Judges."

The "Midnight Appointments" was a term applied to executive appointments of nominations made by President John Adams the last night of his administration. Congress had passed a bill authorizing the appointment of eighteen new United States judges, and Adams, with the consent of the senate, appointed judges to fill these newly created vacancies. They were sometimes known as "Adams' Midnight Judges." The new law was repealed early in Jefferson's administration and the judges lost their offices.

Lightning Photographs Tree on Boy's Back

Eastman, Ga.—Struck by a bolt of lightning, Travis, youngest son of J. J. Grimsley, lives and is carrying on his back a photograph of a cedar tree.
The boy was sitting in a swing on the front porch of his home when a flash shattered a cedar tree a few feet from the house. The current passed through the boy's body, rendering the youth unconscious. He recovered in a few minutes and members of the family found a photographic plate of a tree on his back.
Jackie Burch, fifteen, son of O. C. Burch, was also struck by lightning. A round hole was burned in his cap. He was unconscious for only a few minutes.

NO TROUBLE SINCE

Mrs. Waller's Statement Is Most Convincing Evidence

When Mrs. Waller endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills she told of having received complete relief. Now Mrs. Waller tells how years have passed without any return of kidney trouble. Results that last are results that count. Princess Anne people should gain by the experience of Mrs. Earl Waller, Beechwood street. She says: "Some time ago I was troubled with a severe backache. At times I had dizzy spells and was bothered with black spots and fiery flashes before my eyes. I ached all over and I was certainly in a miserable condition until I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes I was cured of the trouble. I can say nothing too good for Doan's. I bought them at Smith & Co's drug store."

The above statement was given July 24, 1916, and on January 8, 1921, Mrs. Waller added: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint and I have had no symptom of it. I have the greatest confidence in Doan's."

Public School Notes

Miss Miriam Dryden, teacher of English in the Crisfield High School, has resigned to take a new position in Western Maryland. Miss Addie Handy, of Marion Station, who formerly occupied the same position in Crisfield, has been elected to take Miss Dryden's place.

Mr. Milton M. Somers, of the same school, has resigned as vice-principal. His place has not yet been filled.

Miss Mary Lucille Tull, vice-principal of the Marion High School, has also resigned and her place has not yet been filled.

All of these resignations were not filed until last week and the superintendent is making a diligent effort to find suitable successors.

Miss Belva Dudley, of Roanoke, Va., has been elected teacher of manual training for the Princess Anne and Crisfield High Schools. She will be in Princess Anne this week and will begin her work, which need be divided between the two schools, the first half of the year being spent in Princess Anne and the second half in Crisfield.

Death of Captain Mason

Captain Lawson I. Mason died at his home in Mt. Vernon on August 21st, after an illness of a few days, aged 76 years. He is survived by his wife and two daughters—Mrs. A. C. Moore and Mrs. Charles Lloyd. Capt. Mason was a member of the Improved Order Red Men.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon of last week in Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Mt. Vernon, conducted by the Rev. W. F. Dawson, of Princess Anne. Interment was in the church cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. W. Simpkins, James E. Dashiell, Samuel Scott, William Austin, James Wilson and John H. Whitlock.

Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bennett, Mrs. Daniel Lewis and Mrs. Robert Matthews, of Cambridge, Maryland.

Last Opportunity To Give Grain

A number of farmers in this county have contributed a bushel of wheat or corn to the Near East Relief. Maryland's quota is 25,000 bushels of corn and wheat.

The campaign will close this week and it is hoped that the farmers in this county who have not made a donation will do so within the next few days. Contributions will be received by the Cohn & Beck Co. and Westover Mills.

A cable from Constantinople states that 20,000 homeless children will perish if we do not provide for them. Children outside the orphanages were dying of starvation on the streets. Winter will add to the suffering. Every pound of flour and corn means life to some child or helpless exile.

Warns Of Counterfeit Bills

The Treasury in an announcement last week, warned of the circulation of four new counterfeit Federal reserve notes.

The counterfeits include a $50 note on the New York Federal Reserve Bank; a $20 note on the Chicago bank; a $10 note on the Kansas City bank; and a $5 note on the Chicago bank. The first two were said to be distinguished by blue instead of green backs and the latter two by the poor quality of the paper.

Oyster Outlook Not Encouraging

Prospects for a good oyster season are not encouraging, according to reports the State Conservation Commission has received from its four deputy commissioners. While these reports indicate a fair number of young oysters, they also indicate an invasion of mussels. Mussels are the bane of oysters, it is explained. The oyster season will begin next Thursday, September 1st.

Auditorium Attractions This Week

Before you embrace another man's girl, make sure that there is no third party concealed about the premises.

"Fatty" Arbuckle doesn't heed this advice in "The Life of the Party," his new picture. The result is that a photographer steps out of an adjacent closet and secures a flashlight of the rotund comedian with his arms about a girl who is supposed to be engaged to the biggest political boss in the city. Rapid-fire complications ensue for "Fatty," but everything turns out merrily in the end. "The Life of the Party" was adapted from Irvin S. Cobb's Saturday Evening Post story. It will be shown at the Auditorium tonight, (Tuesday.) Others in the cast are Viora Daniel, Winifred Greenwood, Roscoe Karns, Julia Faye, Frank Campeau, Allen Connor, Frederick Starr and Ben Lewis.

Titles of motion pictures are sometimes said to be misleading, but the new Wallace Reid Paramount picture, "The Charm School," which will be shown at the Auditorium on Thursday night is all that the title implies. It is a real charm picture, and its charm lies in several noteworthy features. First there is the work of the star, then the delightful story, a brisk, modern, breezy tale of the light comedy type, written by Alice Duer Miller, and the splendid supporting cast, headed by dainty Lila Lee and including such favorites as Adele Farrington, Beulah Bains, Edwin Stevens, Grace Morse, Patricia Magee, Lincoln Stedman and Kate Toncray.

Saturday night William Fox presents William Russell in "Bare Knuckles," a story by A. Channing Edington.

Republican Denounces Tax Bill

Here is an extract from the speech of Representative Oscar E. Keller (Rep. Minn.):

"With the Nation in the midst of the severest financial depression of its history, with thousands of factories closed, with freight cars idle, with farm produce rotting in the fields because prices will not defray the cost of transportation; with bank failures and bankruptcies increasing; and, most serious of all, with 5,735,000 men unemployed as winter approaches, I want to protest against the hasty passage of an unscientific, ill-conceived, privilege-written revenue bill, which is going to still further depress the purchasing power of the people by imposing upon small producers and consumers an additional burden of $900,000,000, which has been lifted from 5,000 millionaires well able to pay it out of their war profits.

"We have adopted a patchwork, makeshift revenue scheme that places the entire burden upon production in such a way that taxes are absorbed in higher prices and then passed along to the consuming public."

Fire Destroys Many Buildings In Dover

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, at Dover, Del., last Wednesday destroyed the home of H. H. Berman and the store and contents of the Midway Sales Company. Johnson's poolroom, Odd Fellows' Temple and Temple Theatre were damaged.

The Bayard house was saved only through the strenuous efforts of firemen when the flames apparently threatened to destroy the entire business section. Firemen from Smyrna, with the members of Robinson Hose Company of Dover, succeeded, after a hard fight, in keeping the flames confined to one block.

Vehicles Must Carry Lights

It is stated that the Maryland State Police are going to carry out the law requiring horse drawn vehicles to carry lights, something which they hitherto have been a little lax in pushing, rather preferring to warn the guilty parties. Many on the road seem, however, to have not heeded their warning, as hundreds nightly traverse the State roads with no light at all on their conveyance. The penalty for a violation of this law is a fine ranging from $5 to $50.

WILL TEST BLAST POWER OF FIRE WHISTLE

The Princess Anne Fire Company hereby informs the public that the new fire whistle is now installed and ready for use night or day. The operating switch is located in the door facing of the smaller front door of the Fire House. All that is necessary to operate whistle is to pull the switch handle down, thus engaging the switch, and it will do the rest. To stop whistle from blowing, simply disengage switch by pulling out handle. A demonstration of the fire whistle's shrieking power will be given between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock Wednesday night, August 31st. For the duration of this blast our citizens need not be alarmed as it will be for the purpose of a test only. You are requested to pay attention.

PEACE TREATY SIGNED AT BERLIN

Provisions Of Versailles Pact Recognized By Germany

The text of the treaty of peace between the United States and Germany made public in Washington and Berlin simultaneously last Thursday night after it had been signed by plenipotentiaries of the two Governments earlier in the evening is a reaffirmation of the Knox-Porter peace resolution on the one hand, and of those sections of the Versailles Treaty involving American interests on the other.

Practically no new issues are introduced and no new settlements made. There are important omissions, however, as far as the Versailles treaty is concerned. America once more takes herself beyond the range of the League of Nations in further repudiating the League Covenant and Germany is not held morally accountable for the war, although held responsible for it to the extent of meeting all reparations claims.

That is not all. By specific stipulation, the United States assumes no obligation whatever under the Versailles treaty for the restoration of Belgium, for the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine, for the independent states created out of the old Austro-Hungarian empire, for the independence of Poland or of Czechoslovakia or of Jugoslavia, for the disposition of Heligoland, the Saar basin or of the free city of Danzig.

Although this Government refuses to assume any liability under the political clauses of the Versailles treaty which deal with the questions just mentioned, this Government reserves its rights under the section which provides that the German territory west of the Rhine shall be occupied for 15 years by Allied troops as a guarantee that Germany will meet her obligations.

Maryland Farms Heavily Mortgaged

Although the number of farms in Maryland reporting mortgages decreased from 10,764 in 1910 to 10,407 in 1920, according to figures just made public by the Census Bureau, the total amount of mortgage debt in the 10-year period increased from $15,673,773 to $27,481,197. The increase was 75.3 per cent. This, however, reflects to a large measure the increase in farm values in Maryland. The increase in the percentage which the total of the mortgages bears to the total value of the farm property under mortgage increased 1.3 per cent. In 1910 it was 35.3 per cent. and in 1920 it was 36.6 per cent.

The value of farms under mortgage in 1920 was $75,082,413; and in 1910, $44,398,721, an increase of 69.1 per cent. The total of all farm mortgages in 1920 was $27,481,197, and in 1910, $15,673,773, an increase of 75.3 per cent. The average value per farm increased from $4,129 in 1910 to $7,215 in 1920, while the average debt per farm increased from $1,457 in 1910 to $2,641 in 1920.

For the entire country there was a heavy increase in all directions. The number of farms reporting mortgages increased from 1,006,511 in 1910 to 1,193,878 in 1920. The value of the land and buildings increased from $6,330,236, 951 to $13,772,729,610, or 117.6 per cent., while the amount of mortgage debt went from $1,726,172,951 to $4,012,711,213, an increase of 132.5 per cent. The ratio of debt to value, however, increased only 1.8 per cent., going from 27.3 per cent. in 1910 to 29.1 per cent. in 1920.

The largest farm mortgage debts by States in 1920 were in Iowa, where the farm boom a couple of years ago ran values to unheard-of figures and where the total debt reaches $489,816,739; Wisconsin, $364,674,391; Minnesota, $254,475,226; California, $224,063,908; Missouri, $216,463,380; and Illinois, $197,504,756. The greatest relative increases were in the Mountain States. Montana's debt increased nearly 700 per cent. in the 10-year period.

The Ladies' Aid of Cokesbury Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a festival on the church lawn tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon and evening. A tempting menu will be offered and the public is invited. Supper served at 5 o'clock. Should Wednesday be stormy, come Thursday.

FORTY-FOUR PEOPLE MEET DEATH

All Americans On ZR-2 Perish When Giant Dirigible Collapses

Seventeen officers and men of the United States Navy and 27 officers and men of the British Navy met death last Wednesday in the collapse of the great dirigible ZR-2 over the city of Hull, England.

Every one of the Americans on board the ill-fated craft perished. Only 5 of 49 who were making the trial trip in the dirigible prior to the vessel being turned over to the United States Navy are known to have been saved. The British losses include the famous air veteran, Brig.-Gen. E. M. Maitland, and all the other officers on board, excepting Lieutenant Wann, the commander of the ZR-2.

Starting from Howden Tuesday morning on a test flight to Pulham, the big aircraft had been aloft for 34 hours, at times in bad weather, and was returning to the Pulham airfield at the time of the disaster, which constitutes the most terrible of its kind in peace times.

The ZR-2 was on her final test prior to being accepted by the United States Navy and taken across the Atlantic by an American crew especially trained for that purpose. She was 695 feet long and was built to carry a crew of 30. Her speed was estimated at 70 miles an hour. The American Navy was to pay $2,000,000 for the craft.

While flying at about 1,000 feet over Hull spectators saw the ZR-2 seemingly buckle amidships and plunge downward over the city and into the Humber river. One theory of the cause of the disaster is that while the ship's rudders were being tested, the giant craft took a sharp turn, which caused her framework to buckle and that the explosion of a gasoline tank completed the tragedy of the air. The actual cause, however, never may be known. A rumor had been afloat for some days that the ZR-2 was structurally weak, but this was stoutly denied by all in authority.

The cause of the disaster to the ZR-2, according to best information obtainable in Howden, England, the base of the destroyed dirigible, where she was repaired recently, was the breaking of a longitudinal girder amidships, made of an aluminum alloy, cutting the airship in halves. An explosion of either hydrogen gas or petrol occurred immediately after the girder gave way, and flames burst through the structure, but the explosion, it is declared, was not the cause of the breaking up of the airship.

Six Persons Injured In Auto Crash

An automobile accident in which six persons narrowly escaped death occurred Monday night of last week on the Centerville-Easton road about three miles from Centerville, when a roadster belonging to Dr. Charles F. Davidson, of Easton, and driven by his son, James Davidson, collided with a touring car of Charles R. Price, of near Centerville.

These occupants of the Price car were all more or less seriously injured: Mrs. Charles R. Price, sprained ankle and knee; Miss Laura S. Price, Mr. Price's sister, injured hip and knee, broken ligaments; Miss Laura A. Price, daughter of Mr. Price, broken nose and painful bruises. Roland and Bryan Price, sons of Mr. Price, were also painfully bruised.

Mr. Davidson was not seriously injured and was taken to his home in Easton. Both cars were badly wrecked. The touring car was coming out of a by-road on the right, and the Davidson car was en route from Centerville to Easton when the accident occurred.

Good For Little Farm

A colored man, who owns a small farm near St. Michaels, Md., has one acre of it down in peach trees, which will yield its owner, it is said, $2000 worth of peaches this year. The orchard was planted by a former owner and the land has changed hands several times. It was neglected for a long time and locust trees were permitted to grow among the peach trees. A short time ago the present owner cut a valuable crop of the best locust fence posts from them. The peach trees have been well sprayed and cared for recently.

UNLUCKY WEEK FOR HOME TEAM

Princess Anne Base Ball Club Played Six Games And Won Two

Princess Anne defeated Laurel on the home grounds Monday afternoon of last week by a score of 5 to 1. Three phenomenal catches by W. Bounds in left field featured. Ward's curves were breaking fine. Princess Anne won the game in the third inning by amassing five hits for a total of four runs. Score:

The Princess Anne team last Tuesday defeated the Marlboro team in this town by a score of 3 to 1. It was a very slow game from the start. Bradford, the Berlin High School boy, pitched eight innings for Princess Anne and showed wonderful form. Salisbury defeated Princess Anne 8 to 4 in a free-hitting contest last Wednesday morning on the Salisbury grounds. Ringgold was relieved by Ward in the fifth. Bradford relieved Ward in the ninth. J. Bounds accepted 12 chances at second base without an error, besides making three hits. Score:

WHERE RAILROADS ARE NOT WANTED

Afghanistan Years Ago Put Up "Keep Out." "This Means You" Warning.

SEND ENVOY TO WASHINGTON

Believed That Policy of Absolute Isolation From Rest of World Long Followed by Moslem Kingdom Is to Be Modified.

Washington.—The arrival in Washington of an envoy from Afghanistan, now perhaps the most mysterious country in the world, seeking the recognition of his home land and the establishment of diplomatic relations with the United States, seems to indicate that the policy of absolute isolation from the rest of the world long followed by this Moslem kingdom is to be modified. Light on conditions in this little-known region is shown by the following communication to the National Geographic society from Frederick Simpich and Haji Mirza Hussein:

"The buffer state of Afghanistan, historic shock-absorber between Great Britain and Russia in Middle Asia, years ago put up a 'Keep Out' sign, a 'This Means You' warning, to all white men and Christians. The land is 'pestered'—to use a poacher's phrase—pestered against trade and concession hunters, against missionaries, and against all military and political hunters in particular.

"Keep Out" Sign Up.
"And the 'Keep Out' sign is still up. Today the foreigner is no more welcome in Afghanistan than he was a hundred years ago. Forbidden Lhasa itself is no more exclusive than brooding, suspicious Kabul, the capital of this isolate, unfriendly realm of fanatic tribes, of rocks, deserts, irrigated valleys, and towering unsurveyed ranges.

"For reasons of foreign policy, the amir has long left the necessity of secluding his little-known land to the greatest possible extent from the outside world. Only a few Europeans, mostly British, but occasionally also an American and now and then a few Russians or Germans, have had permission to come into this country and to sojourn for a while in its curious capital. But even on such rare occasions as when a foreign engineer, or a doctor whose services are badly needed, is admitted by the grace of the amir, the visitor is subject to a surveillance that amounts almost to imprisonment.

"No ambassadors or ministers, not even missionaries, are permitted to reside in this forbidden Moslem land. "Today no other monarch anywhere wields such undisputed authority or is in closer touch with the everyday life of his subjects. He personally runs his country's religion, its foreign affairs, and he even supervises much of its commerce. He also owns and censors the only newspaper printed in all Afghanistan.

"From the World war, though he took no active part in it, the amir emerged with singular profits. His old and once rival neighbors, Great Britain and Russia, drawn together as allies in the world conflict, left him a free hand, and in 1919 Great Britain officially recognized the political independence of this much-buffed buffer state, to whose rulers she had so long paid a fat annuity.

"With an area of 245,000 square miles, Afghanistan is, next to Tibet, the largest country in the world that is practically closed to the citizens of other nations. But political life at waxy, Airt Kabul is in sharp contrast to the meditative seclusion and classic aloofness of the pious lamas at Lhasa. Amir Amanullah Khan, through his agents in India and elsewhere, is in close touch with the world's current events; and, as the last remaining independent ruler of a Moslem country, now that the power of the Caliph at Stamboul is broken, he wields a far-reaching influence throughout the Mohammedan world; also, because his land happens to lie just as it does on the map of the world, it is plain that for a long time to come he will be an active force in the political destinies of middle Asia.

Wives Distributed as Gifts.
"From the Persians the Afghans got the idea of marrying more than one wife; but, like the Persians, too, they have found, to their dismay, that polygamy is nowadays more expensive than exciting.

"Sometimes, when the amir wants to favor his faithful officials with presents, or perhaps to play practical jokes in certain cases, he distributes women among them; but these 'gifts' often prove so troublesome that no great degree of gratitude is apparent among the recipients.

"Amir Habibullah Khan (who was assassinated in 1919) had a harem of over 100 women, and among these, strangely enough, were a few Europeans. The present amir, Amanullah Khan, has but one wife.

"The women of Afghanistan are kept in more rigid seclusion and are more closely veiled than the women of any other Moslem land.

"The trade of Afghanistan is moved entirely by caravans and is largely in the hands of Hindus and Tajiks. There is not a mile of railroad in the kingdom, the amir fearing that steel highways would make isolation impossible.

Lay Barditt's Career to Slant in Skull

Tacoma, Wash.—Roy Gardner, small-time robber, in the federal penitentiary after two very sensational escapes from guards, may be operated on to "reform" him, according to "Mother McColl, woman agent of the Department of Justice.

"I want to be operated on and lead the life God intended me to lead," Gardner told Mrs. McColl.

"Gardner is a wonderful specimen of manhood," Mrs. McColl continued. "His tendency to crime is caused by a deflection of the cranium, and it is possible that surgical care will eliminate it.

"He is to be X-rayed, and the physician at the prison will send to Los Angeles for X-ray plates which are said to show the seat of his trouble."

WENT TO RUSSIA "FOR FUN"

But Detroit Student Didn't Find It So Funny and Is Hurrying Back Home.

Warsaw.—Bolshevik soldiers guard the Russian border and only certain persons are given permission to leave the country, yet by bribery and other means great numbers of persons are crossing into adjacent countries each night.

A recent arrival in Warsaw from Russia was Ralph Rimar, formerly an art student in Detroit and Charleston, W. Va., who left America, via Canada, early in January this year, with 700 other Russians.

Rimar says he went to Russia, to satisfy his curiosity and for fun—but that he didn't have any pleasure at all, and that his curiosity is thoroughly satisfied. He was arrested five times and went without a square meal for twelve weeks. He is hurrying back home.

Divorce Complainant in New Jersey Charges Game Took Husband's Affection.

Newark, N. J.—The ancient and honorable game of golf is "correspondent" in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Rachel B. Hayward of Montclair against Sterling P. Hayward.

In affidavits filed with Vice-Chancellor Fielder Mrs. Hayward declared the game took so much of her husband's leisure she scarcely ever saw him; that her lack of interest in golf caused him to be cruel to her and that he spent money in pursuit of his hobby that he should have spent maintaining her and their two children.

Mr. Hayward's answer denies golf is responsible for their marital difficulties, which he attributes to difficulties with Mrs. Hayward's relatives and to her discovery that he was not so wealthy as she had believed.

DOGS GUARD SICILIAN HOMES

"Italian Bulldogs," as They Have Been Nicknamed, Obviate Need for Locks on Doors.

In Sicily the inhabitants have trained dogs to protect their homes against brigands and other lawless characters. These Sicilians on leaving their homes seldom bother to lock doors or windows. They have trained their dogs so well that the animals can take care of the most cunning of criminals.

When a thief enters one of these homes the dog does not attack him. He receives him in silence, even wagging his tail sometimes in apparent friendliness.

But no matter where the thief may go, the dog follows, never losing sight of him for a moment. He follows the thief from room to room. The thief may load himself up with all the loot he likes, but the dog views his thieving with indifference.

It is not until the thief attempts to leave the place that the dog displays any real interest in him. He then becomes remarkably active. He jumps in front of the culprit, barring his way and defying him to attempt to leave.

If the thief makes a break for the door or window the dog is upon him. As a rule the animal springs for the throat, but wherever he sinks his teeth nothing short of death can make him release his hold.

If the intruder attempts to draw a weapon the dog is upon him like a flash of lightning. These dogs have been nicknamed Italian bulldogs, but they are of a mongrel breed with just a trace of the genuine bulldog in their blood. They more closely resemble wolfhounds.—North Clinton Herald.

HEAD BINDING IN SOUTH SEAS

Natives of Tomman Island Cling to a Curious Custom, Which Seems to Savor of Cruelty.

The old men of Tomman (an island of the New Hebrides, South Pacific) told me that heads nowadays are not what they were in olden times, writes Martin Johnson in Asia Magazine. They said what I found hard to believe—that the craniums of their ancestors were twice as long as those of present-day islanders.

Tommanites are not born with long heads, but the head of each baby is bound in order to make the shape of his cranium conform to local ideas of beauty. When he is a few days old, his mother puts on his head a bonnet woven from human hair, which she soaks with oil, until she thinks the little skull is softened. Over this bonnet goes a loose woven basket of coconut fiber. The fond mother pulls the strands of the basket tight, and each day a bit tighter, until the skull can be compressed no further.

When the little Tommanite is about a year old, he emerges from his wrappings with a beautifully elongated, pointed skull, the pride of his mother.

Names Traced to Chinese.

Many names of cities, mountains and rivers in the West, and along the Pacific coast, which have generally been regarded as Indian names, are really of Chinese origin, according to a writer in the New York Herald. Even the names of the state of Utah and Nevada are of Chinese origin, he says. "Pe" or "Pie" means north in Chinese; therefore the Pleute Indians were merely the North Ute Indians.

NEW X-RAY TUBE AID TO SCIENCE

Dr. Lillienfeld Discovers Principle That Puts Roentgenology on New Plane.

EXPERTS PLEASED WITH IT

Scientists Who Have Experimented With New Tube Believe With Doctor Lillienfeld That It Makes Roentgenology Exact Science.

New York.—By the invention of an X-ray tube based on a comparatively simple principle, roentgenology promises, for the first time since Roentgen discovered the mysterious rays that bear his name, a quarter of a century ago, to be an exact science. The inventor is Dr. Julius Lillienfeld, professor of physics at the University of Leipzig. He is also inventor of the X-ray tube that has been in general use in Europe for the last decade, and which from now on will be superseded by his more recent discovery. Experts who have experimented with it believe as he does.

Doctor Lillienfeld is in New York, having arrived from Europe a few weeks ago. He has already given a public demonstration of his new tube in the presence of Prof. George F. Gamow and Professor Davis at the department of physics of Columbia university and before the New York Roentgen society.

Doctor Lillienfeld explained the principles of his invention to a Times reporter. He said his discovery was not only of interest to the medical profession and physicists, but to makers of wireless and all audio apparatus and amplifying devices.

"In order to explain the principle of this new tube," said Doctor Lillienfeld, "it will be necessary to recapitulate the history of X-ray tubes and to tell the manner in which X-rays are generated.

What Electrons Are.
"Let us begin with the electron! It is the smallest known component of matter and is always associated with an unvarying unit charge of negative electricity. The atom of hydrogen is the smallest atom known. Yet an electron is but 1-2000 part of the hydrogen atom. These electrons are always in motion. It is supposed by some that chemical atoms consist of collections of electrons having orbital motions in a sphere of positive electrification. Others ascribe them to disturbance of the ether.

"An electron striking any matter, target or surface produces X-rays. The electrons must have speed, and, indeed, they move with incredible rapidity. They are negatively charged particles of electricity. There are three factors, therefore, connected with the production of X-rays. They are electron, motion and the target."

Doctor Lillienfeld pointed to a knife blade.

"The electrons associated with that piece of metal," he continued, "are beneath its surface and are retained there by some superficial force. To produce X-rays we must get the electrons out of the metal through the co-operation of some additional force. Roentgen used gas molecules, which were imprisoned in his glass tube in a partial vacuum, to get the electrons out of the metal, which, in this case, was the cathode by which the electric current leaves, in contradistinction to the anode by which the electric current enters, a vessel. The molecule of gas imprisoned on the cathode freeing the electrons, which, in turn, flew to and impinged upon the anode or target, from which they were thrown off as X-rays which penetrated the glass tube and scattered.

"The method of producing X-rays by the gas tube did not prove satisfactory.

"In 1911 I made my first tube on a new principle. There was absolute vacuum in the tube, and I got the electrons out of the cathode by means of applying heat to it. With the combination of the heated cathode and the extremely high vacuum, the electrons would fly to the anode, or target, where they were given off as X-rays.

"In 1913, Coolidge, in this country, applied the same idea to the tube now in general use here.

New Method Discovered.

"Two years ago I discovered a new method of effecting the release of the electrons from the cathode. This method has nothing in common with either of the two older ones. I started the electrons from a cold, unheated cathode in the presence of a high electrostatic field. This actually pulls the electrons out of the cathode. The second distinctive characteristic of the new method is the shape of the cathode. I use a sharp-pointed or sharp-edged one, on the theory that the lines of electric force are concentrated on the sharp point or edge of the cathode. This proved to be the case in actual practice and the electrons were readily pulled out. I might add that in this method the electrodes (cathode and anode) are brought very closely together.

"The application of the principle is not limited to the production of X-rays. It can be applied to all amplifying and audio devices and for generating electro-magnetic waves for wireless. The tube is less expensive than the heated ones because it contains no hot filaments and, therefore, no transformer is needed to supply heat."

LABOR DAY THOUGHTS

The original idea of "Labor Day"—September 5th—was that it would serve to impress the world with the dignity of labor, the power of the laboring forces of the world and attract interest to the effort of the wage earning masses to improve their condition.

As nearly everybody works in these times, no one element of people can claim to be the "laboring class." But a vast mass of wage earners have always had a hard struggle in life. Labor Day was originally established to attract attention to their cause, and give them a chance to demonstrate their unity and express their ambitions. This side of the holiday is mostly ignored, but such sentiments underlie the occasion.

The question of how to advance the interests of this mass of wage earners is the biggest problem that society has to solve. The world is not right so long as so many people have to live in unwholesome surroundings with little prospect of advancement.

If people are indolent and thriftless, if they are subject to vices, if they are burdened with too large families, they must always find life a struggle. But the majority of wage earners are not thus responsible for their difficulties. Their worst handicap is lack of education and training that shall enable them to do skilled work.

The working masses can not better their condition by class warfare. What is needed is better facilities for technical training, so that every wage earner shall be a skilled producer capable of earning something more than a mere living wage. The best Labor Day thought that the people of this community can have, is a feeling of keen interest in all the wage earners that turn out to enjoy the day, and a wish to do their part to see that everyone shall get the training and equipment giving them a chance in the race of life.

THE TRAVELLER BY RAIL

The summer season leads a multitude of people to travel around from place to place, but not every one seems to enjoy his experiences on the rail. Many persons seem to feel that a journey is a tedious and uncomfortable experience. They grumble at dust, poor ventilation, heat, cramped positions and other familiar irritations.

Many of these bored people fortify themselves for the rigors of a journey by buying illustrated magazines and trashy stories, with which to spend their entire time regardless of the panorama spread before their eyes by the moving train.

Other people are so interested by unfamiliar sights that discomforts are minimized. They are not anxious to reach their journey's end. Like one cheerful lady, they may even dislike to travel on express trains since the latter which you along so fast through towns that you get no chance to see how people live and what places look like. They are glad to linger a little longer along the route and find the time pleasantly spent in viewing the operations of agriculture or the development of industries. The person interested in civic progress will see public improvements in the communities through which he passes. Business men secure glimpses of other people's methods and get suggestions as to where goods can be bought and sold. Farmers will see how other people handle their crops. People get an idea of the resources and opportunities of the sections through which they pass.

Human nature is always a fascinating subject of study. Even the loafers who come down to the remote station to see the four o'clock train go through are interesting to the lover of human nature. People who keep their eyes open may learn enough through the flying train window to pay for the cost of their railroad ticket, while grouchy travellers have been wishing for their journey's end.

THE SHORT CHANGE ARTIST

One of the pests of modern life is the short change artist, the fellow who makes a study of how to enrich himself by passing out a short amount of money in making change. You rarely find him in a place like Princess Anne because his operations would be spotted. But in large cities, trolley car conductors, sellers of entertainment and railroad tickets and other men who take in money from crowds, sometimes work this game successfully.

Such fellows bank on the idea that people dislike to make a fuss in the presence of a crowd. Those who suspect that such a game is being worked owe it to themselves and the public to protest, and if they do not get justice, to complain to the proper authority. Stealings stop when it is proved to be dangerous to attempt them.

Cause Of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.

DELIVERING THE GOODS

During recent years thousands of cities and towns have adopted various plans to advertise their civic advantages. But they do not always deliver the goods.

Mr. C. S. Cole, speaking at the annual convention of the Indiana Real Estate Association, brought out this idea, by remarking that many city "booster clubs" tell of the wonders and glories to be found in their respective burghs. But when one approaches these far-famed places he sees the most uninviting and tumble down collection of buildings imaginable. The railroad lines may approach the town through collections of chicken coops and dilapidated tenements, with the station located in the most unattractive quarter. Routes of approach by automobile may exhibit many eyesores. Such a community impresses the visitors as failing to make good on its claims.

The first thing to be done to boom a town is to remove all unsightly objects and beautify it all you can. Then you can begin to boost it without getting unpleasant reactions. Has this been thoroughly done in Princess Anne?

It is wonderful what loving service you get from summer hotel servants as long as the silver coins keep moving.

Constant Search for Tannin.

The oak is one of the best known natural sources of tannin, although it is found in many other trees. The spread of industry has increased the call for tannin to such a degree that search has been made all over the world for some new tree capable of supplementing the oak, hemlock and other trees in furnishing this indispensable substance.

A certain degree of success has attended the search in Argentina, where there is found a tree called the quebracho, from which excellent tannin can be obtained. The wood of this tree is very hard and durable, and it grows in large forests. It has been known as a tannin producer for about 30 years, but only in late years has the extraction of the tannin been conducted in Argentina. Formerly the wood was exported.

WILL USE LETHAL GAS ON CONVICTS

Nevada Law Provides Peculiar Form of Execution for Men Convicted of Murder.

CHAMBER IN NEW PRISON

State Architect Ordered to Plan Chamber Where Witnesses in Safety May See Man Die—Some Say Method Is Cruel and Barbarous.

Carson City, Nev.—In this capital city of Nevada they are building a new state penitentiary which will contain a lethal gas chamber for the execution of condemned criminals.

Under a law passed at the recent session of the state legislature all persons condemned to death in this state must be killed by the administration of lethal gas.

The laws affecting the death penalty have been out of the ordinary in this state for a number of years past. Under certain restrictions the condemned criminal has been able to choose his own method of execution. The last man to die at the hands of the state was one Mircovich, who, in the language of Gov. Emmet D. Boyle, "accepted shooting." The condemned man was seated in a chair in the prison yard with his back to a wall. A diagram was fixed upon his clothing. A company of men were engaged to shoot at the living target. All the riflemen were expert marksmen. As they entered the prison yard they were handed loaded weapons. Some of the guns contained blanks and others were loaded with steel bullet shells. No member of the firing squad knew what his rifle contained.

Death Was Instantaneous.

After the single crash of the volley that snuffed out the forfeited life it was found the figure "8" traced on his breast had been perfectly perforated by the bullets, which were found to have plugged the back of the chair on which he sat. The chair of the state's "shooting gallery" is one of the gruesome objects of curiosity which you can see in the old prison yard. The figure "8" is very accurately outlined in the wood where the bullets lodged after they sped through the human body.

Those who witnessed the execution say that death was practically instantaneous. The physicians believe that shooting is the quickest, least painful and most humane method of execution.

The new law has precipitated much discussion. There are many lawyers in Nevada who hold that a criminal may not be legally executed by lethal gas. They say it is unconstitutional because it violates the constitutional prohibition against cruel, barbarous and unusual punishment. There is sufficient weight to this contention in the minds of the members of the prison board so that they have carefully preserved the gallows for such use as may be necessary.

Gov. Emmet D. Boyle, head of the state, who signed the bill making the lethal gas execution legal, holds that it is perfectly feasible and constitutional.

"There are a number of lethal gases that may be employed," he told me. "Any will produce practically instant death. I satisfied myself thoroughly concerning this phase of the proposition before I signed the bill. I am convinced that this method of execution can be simply administered and will be effective."

Use Mechanical Methods.

"The gas will be administered by some person designated by the warden. It will be administered by mechanical methods. The execution by this method will not be painful."

"I do not think, however, it is related in any respect to the abolition of the death penalty."

"No actual steps have yet been taken to provide the facilities for the use of the law. We are not a very populous state and we have no one waiting the death penalty. For this reason we are not making great haste in getting ready for executions which may not occur for many years."

The ticklish job of providing the conveniences for sending a human being across the great divide by lethal gas has been assigned to the state architect. He must build a chamber in which the victim may be housed while the watchers and witnesses provided by law are present while he is put to death. As is well known in connection with the lethal gases used during the war, the slightest diffusion of these elements caused widespread havoc.

It is not possible to build a chamber which is relatively hermetically sealed, because it will not permit the provision of the law be carried out. Neither is a glass chamber feasible. The likelihood is that the death chamber will be so built that the gases will be blown away from the necessary witnesses and watchers if any fumes should escape.

Absolutely Painless.

It is anticipated the gas will be administered much as gas is administered to a patient in a dental chair or to a person preparing for a surgical operation. In other words, it will be a form of anesthesia, and the administrator will probably be an expert anaesthetician chosen from among physicians or male nurses. Those who favor this method of dealing death declare it is absolutely painless. Most of the advocates of the measure believe that the condemned criminal should be given a sleeping potion in his food and that the lethal gas should be administered in the subsequent slumber. The claim that no gas can be administered without awakening the sleeper is disputed.

World-wide interest has already focused upon the state with its vast area and its small population on account of this extraordinary death penalty. Students of prison reform are divided concerning the humanity of the measure. Its application will be watched with exceptional interest by scientific organizations and colleges. Many have asked to be kept advised concerning the developments in the premises. It is probable that the first victim of judicial vengeance under this act will die in the presence of a very distinguished gallery. Physicians and students of physiology and toxicology will come from all parts of the con-continent if they are permitted to be present.

There is little likelihood, however, that Nevada will permit the execution to become a public show. Executions are not popular in Nevada. There is a very active sentiment against carrying out the death penalty. Since the state was admitted to the Union only six men have been condemned to death, and of these only two were allowed to be executed.—Arnold Kruckman in New York World.

Hair a Nuisance, Anyway.

Baldness is unnecessary. We have it on the authority of a sharp who can raise hair as easily as a farmer raises wheat. Men become bald because they keep their hair cut short and the follicle system becomes lazy, and with not enough to do it loses interest in its work and the hair falls out. Women do not become baldheaded because they allow their hair to grow long. This gives the hair-producing system plenty of exercise and keeps it strong and healthy. In order to escape baldness man has only to allow his hair to grow long, either braiding it to hang down his back or coiling it around his dome with hairpins and imposing the joint use of mother's dresser every morning.

However, considering the alternative calmly, most men will prefer to be bald, writes Glenn M. Farley in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. How could a man quarrel with his wife with his hair braided down his back?

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her."

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I am sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 35

SELECT TREES WITH CARE

Matter Is of Greatest Importance When They Are Planted Along the Highways.

For many years it has been a custom with most people to plant trees without regard to the ultimate purpose they would serve. Little thought has been given as to the most suitable varieties for planting or that there might be sections along the roadway where it would be of advantage to cut the existing trees, and in this way, make the roadside scenery more interesting and attractive. A closer study of the problem, however, shows that there are two distinct types of roadside scenery. The first may be said to be where the trees, shrubs, buildings and other objects that border the highway form the element of the picture, with the roadway as a central feature. Many places along the roadside have no inducements whatever as to special attractiveness, and in fact, the scenery may be of decidedly monotonous character. It is in such a place that one may feel at liberty to plant according to the so-called closed type.

The second type can be used where the wide meadows, fields and distant landscape compose the picture, with the roadside trees as frames. Examples of this type may be found in many sections of the state, where beautiful vistas could be enhanced by the presence of suitable shade trees. In many cases, trees along the highway form screens so as to break up the long stretches of views along openings here and there which make more attractive the roadside scenery.

ECONOMIC VALUE OF BEAUTY

Good Points Made by Governor Lake of Connecticut in Arbor and Bird Day Proclamation.

Governor Lake of Connecticut in his proclamation appointing Arbor and Bird day made some excellent points. He recommended that all citizens, but particularly the teachers and pupils in schools, observe the day and added:

"Let the pupils of our schools be taught that the planting and care of shade trees, the protection of birds and their eggs, is not only an economic measure, but contributes to the beauty of our state and the enjoyment of our homes. I further recommend the formation of town and village improvement associations to encourage tree planting and bird protection and to exercise interested care over matters relating to the scenic beauty of our towns and cities. Well-kept roads, streets and lawns enhance the value of property and promote the general welfare of towns and villages."

Observe especially the last sentence: "Well-kept roads, streets and lawns enhance the value of property and promote the general welfare of towns and villages."

Here is official recognition of the economic value of beauty. Common experience shows that Governor Lake is right. If every community continues its clean-up until every lawn is well kept and every building tidy and painted, won't the tendency be to increase property values?—Exchange.

City Planning in Schools.

"We have city planning courses in all of the schools," D. D. Pinkerton, president of the Kansas City board of education says. "We call them courses in civics. These courses deal with every phase of civil government and special attention is given to civic beauty."

"Even young children are given instruction in civics. In the lower grades we use a primer which covers all the activities of a city in a comprehensive way. A good example of this type of primer is the one used by Walter Gidinghagen, principal of Humboldt school."

In this primer there are some of the questions asked:

Is your neighborhood supplied with beautiful lawns and flower beds? Are the alleys and yards kept clean? Do the children take pride in keeping the school yard clean?

How does the improvement of your property help the neighborhood? What conditions in your neighborhood might be improved?

Within His Rights.

"Is Mr. Grumpson a confirmed pessimist?"

"I don't think so. I've seen him pet newshoys on the head and give dimes to beggars."

"But how does he conduct himself in a traffic jam?"

"He seethes a little, but not enough to attract the attention of a traffic policeman."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Under City Management Plan.

Five cities of more than 100,000 population are now being administered under the city management plan—Akron, Dayton, Grand Rapids, Norfolk and Nashville. Cleveland and Kansas City are agitating the question of city management government.

Innovation in Pennsylvania.

Two second-class cities of Pennsylvania, Scranton and Pittsburgh, are empowered by law to adopt a system of separate assessment on land and on improvements, making the heavier burden come on the land.

Lottie Turns Down a Millionaire

By HAZEL SMITH

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

When Lottie danced her brain was as busy as her toes. Her famous snake dance had been the rage in London and New York during the season. In three months Lottie had made more money than she had ever earned during the whole eight years of her working life.

Lottie had always known that she could dance. But that money was to be made in dancing had seemed an absurd idea—would have seemed so if anybody had suggested it to her.

The young fellow in the second row of the stalls, with the foolish, dissipated face, was watching her again. She knew him, though he did not know her; in fact, she knew him intimately, and she reflected on this with a little smile of amusement which the audience mistook for a stage piquancy. She had been pestered by him for a week now.

Seven years before she had been a saleswoman in Bryant & Jones' department store. It was a big store and treated its employees fairly well. Lottie had not been happy there, she had been domestic in her tastes—still was, in fact—and she and Joe were both looking forward to the time when they were to be married and live in their little home, when Lottie would not go to work any more.

Then young Mr. Jones—the one with the foolish face, in the second row—had seen her and asked who she was. And he had taken her out to supper. Mr. Jones had asked her to marry him.

Can a girl love two men at the same time? Perhaps Lottie really loved neither. She was very fond of slow, easy-going Joe, but this was different. Joe soon discovered where she spent these evenings. Once he waited for her outside the restaurant and would have made a scene had not Lottie managed to calm him. That night young Mr. Jones asked Lottie to marry immediately.

"Not unless your mother and father are willing," said Lottie.

Lottie did not know Joe had shot himself and injured his spine, when she accompanied young Mr. Jones to his parents' house on the avenue. Old Mr. Jones shook her hand warmly and said:

"My dear, you are far too capable a young woman to throw yourself away on a foolish boy like Alfred."

Old Mrs. Jones said: "The store is in my name, and if Alfred marries you he will get nothing. And Alfred could never earn an honest dollar in his life."

"I'll leave it to Alfred," said Lottie, and walked out.

Lottie had stopped dancing now and was bowing to an applauding house. The foolish young man in the second row was clapping his gloved hands furiously. Lottie looked at him derisively, and then swept off the stage and put on her clothes.

At the stage door she saw young Mr. Jones, with a bouquet in his hand. Young Mr. Jones planted himself squarely across her path, and Lottie gave him a box on the ears that sent him tumbling to the ground. When he had picked himself up she said:

"You had your chance years ago and lost it. I'm Lottie!"

Young Mr. Jones looked as though he was going to cry again. But Lottie had already forgotten him. She was eager to hurry home; there might be news for her.

She got into the taxicab that always waited for her and was driven rapidly to the modest little flat that she rented in Harlem.

She went into the living room and bent over a man who sat reading in an arm chair, and kissed him. She had come in so softly that he had not heard her.

"I've got good news, Lottie," he said. "The doctor thinks I'm getting better. He says I'll be as strong and well as ever in six months more."

"You dear old Joe," said Lottie, brushing away her tears and kissing him again.

Snow on Subway Tracks.

It is possible many of our readers have wondered at the appearance of the tracks at the subway stations in New York city, says the Scientific American. There is usually a realistic Christmas snow on the tracks, but the Interborough company has a method in this artificial snow system. The roadbed around each station is spread with calcium chloride, which has a peculiar property of drawing moisture out of the air and turning gradually from a white powder into drops of liquid, which remain in this condition for months. This serves to hold the dust and bacteria like the sprinkling of a dusty street. The hurrying of trains through the stations has little or no effect on this deposit.

Rather!

The young man had just been accepted. In his rapture he exclaimed: "But do you think, my love, I am good enough for you?"

His wife-to-be looked sternly at him for a moment, and replied: "Good enough for me. You've got to be."

Suggestive Pet Name.

"Guess I'll have to stop calling my wife 'Toots!'"

"Why so?"

"It always reminds her that she wants an automobile."

It's pretty small, after you have won her with sweet food and sweeter words, to forget that she likes either after you're married.

Stop in today and get a box of chocolates or bon bons.

JAPS ARE FAR FROM STOLID

Writer Declares Orientals Have Attained Self-Control, but They Are Fond of Jokes.

Among the misconceptions in regard to the Japanese is the belief held by many foreigners that they are a stolid people. One might search the dictionary and not find an adjective less applicable to them. They have, it is true, attained a self-control that deceives superficial observers, but under this restraint is all the fire and motion and effervescence of the Latin races or the Celts. One expression of this volatile and effervescing spirit is a quick wit and a keen humor. A very slight acquaintance with Japanese art will reveal this quality expressed in many forms—in designs for fabrics, lacquer work, fans, carvings, bronzes, screens and kakemono, and last, but by no means least, in many of their delightful illustrated books.

Comic pictorial work probably goes back in Japan to the first immature sketches of her earliest artists, and if the greater part of this work has been lost in the serious religious art that followed, there are still fragments that indicate the humor which animated even the men of the Yamato-ryu. Among these early examples are some drawings discovered a few years ago on the pedestal of one of the carved wooden figures in the Nara museum. The work belongs to the Tempyo period (Eighth century) and was found when repairs necessitated the removal of the figure from its base. Slight as the drawings are, having been dashed off in a moment of waiting, perhaps, by some old artist priest—their technique in them is by no means crude or primitive.—Scribner's Magazine.

Galleon.

The galleon was originally a warship of three or four gun-decks. The name was subsequently applied to the Spanish treasure-ships which brought from the Spanish possessions in Mexico and South America gold and silver and other wealth to Spain. They were large, unwieldy vessels, and were eagerly sought after as prizes during the times of war on account of the immense wealth they contained.

Food and Health.

"The buoyancy of health is a real enjoyment. Strength, mental vigor, vivacity and good nature spring from good digestion; good digestion is secured only from eating and drinking proper quantities and qualities of food and liquid. It is possible to enjoy buoyancy of spirit and a good appetite every day."—Exchange.

World's Greatest Runners.

For speed and stamina, we do not believe there are any runners in the world capable of beating the Tarahumara Indians, of whom about 15,000 survive in Mexico. They are in great demand as government couriers, for they are said to be able to cover 170 miles a day on foot, and have been known to run 600 miles in five days.

Clung to the Foot-Hills.

Humanity in its settlements has never cared for the high mountains or their valleys.... But the races of men have ever been well disposed to snuggle up close to the foot-hills. The modern cities have been built beside great rivers on the flat lands, but in Biblical times cities were founded upon rocks in the lower hills; and where no hills existed, as in the Mesopotamia valley, the Assyrians built a huge brick platform in imitation of a flat hill, and reared their city upon that. Athens was built upon and about the Acropolis, the Areopagus, and the limestone heights between Cephissus and Ilissus. Rome and Constantinople are both built on their seven hills, and the hills around about Jerusalem are famous.—John C. Van Dyke.

IOWA WAGES WAR ON RATS

Campaign, Which Lasts Six Weeks, Results in Extirpation of 1,500,000 of These Pests.

Des Moines, Ia.—Aroused by the army of rats that overran the state, Iowa recently ended a crusade to rid the country of some of these pests. War on the rodents was declared when it was announced that they cost the farmers of Iowa, at a conservative estimate, $60,000,000 annually. They destroy about $20,000,000 worth of poultry and $40,000,000 in grain yearly.

Great interest was aroused and the campaign was made a big success by the fact that real prizes were offered for the champion rat killers in the state. When once started, the original fund was supplemented by county farm bureaus, civic organizations, and business firms until it was swelled to $10,000.

The county fund, established by the farm bureaus, was for the local county winners, and the state prize for state winners. Thousands of Iowans enlisted in the crusade, and at the end of the contest, which lasted six weeks, Iowa had killed 1,500,000 rodents.

Finland's Climate Healthful.

The climate of Finland is rigorous but healthful, marked by long winters and short, hot summers. It lies within the zone of cyclones and anticyclones, which pass over northern Europe from west to east at intervals of two or three days throughout the year, and give variability to the winds and weather. The mean annual temperature varies between the southern and the northern boundary from 40 to 34 degrees Fahrenheit, ranging from 20 to 8 degrees Fahrenheit in January, and from 64 to 62 degrees Fahrenheit in July. The extreme range of temperature is about 110 to 115 degrees Fahrenheit.

The prevailing winds in winter are from the south and southwest and in summer from the north, northwest and west. The amount of rainfall varies from 10 inches in the northern to 25 inches in the southern part, being greatest during August.

Health Affected by Emotions.

Any emotion that gives pleasure acts healthily on the heart and other organs, the circulation becomes more brisk, and appetite and health improve. Love, hope and happiness all produce these emotions and, contrary to the accepted notion, the ardent lover ought to enjoy his meals thoroughly.

Despair, grief and fear have quite another effect. They make the action of the heart slower, and enfeeble the nervous and muscular system, often upsetting the digestion as well.

Anger causes the heart to act violently, working upon both physical and mental powers. The muscles for the time being are taut and tense, and the secretion of bile is increased. A reaction follows rapidly, when the muscles become flabby and a feeling of weakness pervades the body.

When a Bushel isn't.

"Thirty-two quarts make one bushel," recites Young America glibly and positively. But the housewife who has purchased family supplies for years is not at all sure that this is not one of the many rules that have exceptions. Specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture, say that the heaped bushel varies with the price of the product and the weight bushel varies widely in different states. A bushel of sweet potatoes is 48 pounds in the Dakotas and 60 pounds in Maryland. A bushel of tomatoes is 45 pounds in Oklahoma and 60 pounds in Virginia. A bushel of unshelled green peas is 28 pounds in Massachusetts and 64 pounds in Pennsylvania.

Fraternity The Great Need.

It was Victor Hugo who conceived this thought: "The true resistance of man against catastrophes is an augmentation of humanity. Love one another, aid one another. Solidarity of men is the resort to complicity of mysterious facts. It is thus that is established on earth the third term of the grand human formula, fraternity. Governments put obstacles in the way of liberty and equality, they will come in their time, in spite of the monarchy; equality in spite of the aristocracy. But fraternity is the opening door, the emptying purse, the helping hand."

Chess vs. Checkers.

Chess appeals to mature minds, and wood supplies most of the accoutrements with which it is played. Some of the best are of ebony and boxwood, but very satisfactory games may be played with yellow poplar, basswood, walnut, maple and birch outfits. The same holds true of checkers, but that game usually is rated a little lower than chess in scientific points; though no less an authority than Edgar Allan Poe holds that as a mental exercise of the highest and purest sort checkers surpasses chess.

NO TROUBLE SINCE

Mrs. Waller's Statement Is Most Convincing Evidence

When Mrs. Waller endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills she told of having received complete relief. Now Mrs. Waller tells how years have passed without any return of kidney trouble. Results that last are results that count. Princess Anne people should gain by the experience of Mrs. Earl Waller, Beechwood street. She says: "Some time ago I was troubled with a severe backache. At times I had dizzy spells and was bothered with black spots and fiery flashes before my eyes. I ached all over and I was certainly in a miserable condition until I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes I was cured of the trouble. I can say nothing too good for Doan's. I bought them at Smith & Co's drug store."

Tooth "Born" In Night.

Minnie is fond of her infant brother and delights in tickling his lips to hear him coo, and make him smile, and one day while amusing herself this way her little brother showed a tooth that had protruded in the night. She called to her mother: "Come, see the tooth what was born in brother's mouth last night."

Removing a Broken Caster.

A broken caster may be withdrawn from the leg of a piece of furniture by tapping a hole in the center of the machine stem, and threading in a machine screw, thus securing a suitable hold. A heavy metal washer is placed under the head of the screw. One side of the washer is supported by a block of wood, or leather, while a claw hammer, or "jimmy," is used to pry out the broken part.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

IDEAL—that greatly abused word—aptly describes Palm Beach cloth as a summer-clothes fabric.

It has long been the dream of the manufacturer to secure a material which, while light in weight, would yet be adaptable, for the purposes of fine tailoring. And Palm Beach fills the bill.

You simply cannot understand the comfort and satisfaction of these eminently sane garments unless you have had the personal experience of wearing them.

THE Ford worm-driven, One-Ton Truck with demountable rims and pneumatic tires, are dependable, as well as serviceable. This, probably more than any other factor, accounts for their popularity. There is no evidence so convincing as that which comes from long practical experience. Like the Ford car, the Ford One-Ton Truck—Ford-built throughout—has proven itself. In it are combined the Ford principles of simplicity, with strength, lowest first cost, lowest operating cost, durability.

In the city, on the farm, carrying its loads between cities—everywhere you will find the Ford One-Ton Truck doing duty. Merchants, manufacturers, farmers, have come to know it as the truck of utmost service.

MORE and more every day the demand for Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping or threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns, so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the enormous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery." A card to me will bring one to your door.
