WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mules and mares at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, (stabling capacity 600 head and continuing to receive consignments from the breeders all over America), it is only one branch of the immense business we carry in stock 100 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST COMBINED HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LIVERYMEN, CARRIAGE WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

(Copyright 1904 by J. S. Oyster Pub. Co. New York.)

President Roosevelt says to the author of it

paper in surer and more reposeful manner. Here we are facing one of the results of that modern life which is so complex and which consumes our energy to such a terrible degree. It leaves us impatient, breathless and in perpetual trepidation. Our literature, like our language, feels it and betrays us. From the effect let us return to the source and understand the warning thus given us. What good can come of that habit of exaggeration of one's language? Unfaithful interpreters of our own impressions, we cannot help but bend the truth of our fellow-men and our own by our exaggerations. People who continually exaggerate cease to understand each other. The result of immoderate speech is irritation of dispositions, violent and sterile discussions, precipitate judgments without bounds and the gravest excesses in education and social relations.

Permit me in this appeal for simple speech to formulate a wish whose accomplishment would have the happiest result. I ask for a simple literature, not only as one of the best remedies for our worn-out souls, overburdened with eccentricities, but also as a gauge and a source of social union. I ask also for a simple art. Our arts and our literature are reserved to those privileged by fortune and education. But, let me be well understood. I do not ask poets, novelists, nor artists to descend from their heights to walk half way and content themselves with mediocrity, but on the contrary to mount still higher. It is popular, not that which pleases a certain class of society that is of common accord called popular. That is popular which is common to all and which unites them. The sources of the inspiration of which may be born a simple art are in the depths of the human heart; in the eternal realities of life before which all are equal. And the sources of popular language are to be sought in the small number of simple and strong forms such as express the elementary sentiments and the most powerful lines of human destiny. In that lie truth, grandeur and immortality. Is there not in such an ideal the means of inflaming the young people who, feeling the warmth of the beautiful and sacred fire, know not and prefer to the disdainful edge, "Ode, profanum vulgus," that would otherwise human, "Miserere super turban?" As to myself, I have no artistic authority, but among the crowd where I live I have the right to lift my voice toward those who have talent and to say to them, "Work for those who are forgotten. Make yourself understood of the humble. Thus you will open again the sources where the masters of old drew their inspiration, those masters whose creations have defied ages because they knew how to clothe their genius with simplicity."

CHAPTER V. THE SIMPLE DUTY.

When we speak to children on a subject which seems unimportant to them they will show you above on the roofs a pigeon which is feeding its young, or down in the street some driver who is abusing his horse. Sometimes also they mischievously ask you one of those great questions which put the minds of the parents to torture, and all that is to draw the attention from the painful subject. I fear we are but big children in face of duty, and that when that is in question we, too, seek subterfuges to distract our minds.

The first subterfuge is to demand of oneself if there is one general duty or if that word does not cover one of the numerous illusions of our ancestors. For, in point of fact, duty presupposes liberty, and the question of liberty leads us even into the regions of metaphysics. How can we speak of duty as long as the grave problem of free will is not resolved? Theoretically there is nothing there to which we can object. And, if life were a theory, if we were here to elaborate the complete system of the universe, it would be absurd to occupy ourselves with duty before having demonstrated liberty, fixing its conditions and limits.

But life is not a theory. On this point of practical morals, as on all others, life has distanced the theory, and there is no reason to believe that it will ever cede it the precedence. This liberty, relative I admit, like all that we know, is not absolute. It is the least base of all the judgments we bring on us and our fellow-beings. We treat each other as responsible to a certain degree for our actions and gestures.

The maddest theorist, as soon as he gets outside of his theory, feels no scruples in approving or disapproving the acts of others, to work against his enemies, to appeal to the generosity and the justice of those whom he would disavow from an unworthy action. They can no more rid themselves of the feeling of moral obligation than that of time and space, and that we must resign ourselves to press onward before we know how to define that space which we cross and the time which measures our movements; we must also submit to the moral obligation before having touched its deep roots. The moral law dominates us, whether he repeats it or transgresses it. Look at every-day life. Each one is ready to throw the stone at him who does not accomplish a self-evident duty, even if he must allege that he has not yet reached the philosophic certainty. Each one will tell him, and be a thousand times right in telling him: "Sir, you are a man above all things. For one in your manhood first; then do your duty as citizen, as father, as son, and return to the course of your meditations after."

At the same time let us be understood. We do not wish to hinder any one from his philosophical investigations, of the scrupulous search for the moral foundations. No thought which leads man toward those grave studies can be useless or indifferent. We wait until he has found those foundations to do an act of humanity, honesty or dishonesty, courage or cowardice. And, above all, we desire to formulate an answer, good enough to oppose all the malignant persons who have never been philosophers, to offer to ourselves when we wish to invoke our doubtful state of philosophy, to justify our practical failures. By just that is one a man; before all theories, positive or negative, on duty, one has for a firm rule to conduct himself like a man. There is no issue from there. But they will know the resources of the human heart little if they count on the effect of a similar answer. It may even be without answer, but in spite of that it cannot hinder other questions from arising. The number of our pretenses to lead us from our duty is as great as the sands of the sea, or the stars in heaven.

Therefore we retrace the obscure duty, the difficult duty, and the contradictory duty. These are surely words which evoke painful souvenirs. To be a dutiful man and doubt his road, to feel along in the dark, to see himself to contrary solicitations of different duties, or again to find himself facing a gigantic duty, a crushing one which surpasses our forces, what is harder? And these things happen. We would not deny nor contest that there is a tragic element in certain events and heartrendings in certain lives. Still, it is rare that duty has to throw light across such a conflict of circumstances. It must spring forth from the mind like the lightning from the clouds. Such formidable shocks are exceptional. So much the better if we bear up well when they do come, but if no one thinks it surprising that the oaks are uprooted by the tempest, or a traveler should stumble in the night on an unknown road, or that a soldier should be conquered when he is taken between two fires, no one should condemn without appeal those who have been beaten in these almost superhuman struggles. To succumb under the number and the obstacles has never been a disgrace.

Therefore I shall offer my arms to those who intrench themselves behind the impregnable rampart of obstinacy, complete and contradictory duty. For to-day it is not that which occupies my mind. It is the simple duty, I might almost say the easy duty, that I wish to speak of to them. (To be continued.)

Local Entertainment.

A newcomer from the metropolis, feeling sure that the people of the little mountain settlement in the Cumberland would be interested to know in advance the date of a certain event, asked permission to place the following clipping from his daily paper in the window of the little postoffice: "A total lunar eclipse will take place tomorrow between 8 and 9 p. m."

Not long after there was a knock at the door of his cottage near by. A half-grown girl stood there, industriously twisting the corner of her ragged apron.

"Please, sir," she began, hurriedly, "mother wants to know if it's to be in the chapel of the schoolhouse. And may I be doorkeeper? I kept it for her waxworks last year, and there didn't a soul get sent me 'bout puttin' in!"—Youth's Companion.

Too Opaque.

"Bah Joel!" drawled the dude boarder. "I certainly do admire the Newport set."

"Excuse me," said the buffoon boarder, but before going further would you please state whether you mean people hons, or teeth?"

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Cures Kidney and Bladder Diseases in Every Form—Many People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter and purify the blood which is constantly passing through them.

When the kidneys are out of order the other organs are affected immediately and you may have symptoms of heart trouble, stomach and liver trouble, and other ailments, which are all owing to the kidneys being weak and out of order.

If you are sick Foley's Kidney Cure will strengthen and build up the worn out tissues of the kidneys so they will act properly and the symptoms of weakness, heart, stomach and liver trouble will disappear and you will be restored to perfect health.

How to Tell if You Have Kidney Trouble.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at once.

Foley's Kidney Cure is pleasant to take and acts directly upon the parts affected and you begin to feel better at once.

It corrects slight disorders in a few days and it has cured many obstinate cases after other treatment had failed.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Frey, of Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well."

DEATH OF GENERAL LEE.

There has been sorrow and genuine grief here in Maryland and all over the Southland this last week on account of the untimely death of General Fitzhugh Lee, who was a general favorite with everybody. Although nearly seventy years old, his was one of those unsuavily natures that refuse to grow old, and you did not realize his age. His was a life of activity, many parts courage and manliness all the way through. Many honors had come to him, yet he was always the same cheery, companionable and kindly gentleman. He never acquired the swelled head, and if anything was calculated to give it to a man it was his reception here in 1888, after he left Cuba and just before the breaking out of war with Spain. There never was greater honor paid to any man in this country, and it took a big man intellectually to withstand that kind of applause from the people. One of the most conspicuous figures in two wars, Governor of his State and the best Consul General ever sent to Cuba, he has left a heritage for his children in his good name that any man may envy. What ever he did he did with all his might, and he died working too hard for the success of the Jamestown Exposition, of which he was the directing head.

DEMOCRATIC BALTIMORE CITY.

In the election of Tuesday Baltimore came out lucky. All the big improvements voted on were carried by satisfactory majorities. The Sewer, Annex and Park loans will now be arranged and Greater Baltimore emerge in its proper place, from older Baltimore alongside the progressive modern cities of America. The press of that city fought in constant solid phalanx for improvement, while the results show that in the majority election of Democratic Councilmen, the people of the city held their old time confidence in the governing ability of the Democratic party—the stand-by of good old Dixie Land.
Friends of the Suffrage Amendment see bright prospects in the Baltimore vote for its passage later on in the fall. The City Republicans were reported as out of patience with their colored allies, who they avow lost them several of their nominees by staying at home and indifference.

Helen Wolman says we can overcome our misfortunes by thought force. Our mental atmosphere is our salvation. This is not a new idea—the good Book says, "As a man thinketh so he is." Pure thought is a protection against the disease of sin.

Letter From The Salisbury Water Company Ament Present Situation.

Salisbury, Md., May 3rd, 1905.
The Mayor and Council of Salisbury.
Gentlemen:—The public press have recently announced that your honorable body claims that The Salisbury Water Company "has no franchise."

This statement, by casting a cloud over our title rights, has prevented the investment of additional capital in the project, thereby indefinitely delaying contemplated additions and improvements to the present system which would have been of great benefit to the property owners of Salisbury.

We are unable to understand the motive that prompted the aforesaid claim, it being particularly surprising in view of the following facts, accessible to everyone, to wit:—
1. The Salisbury Water Company was duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland, in December, 1887, by Messrs. E. E. Jackson, E. Stanley Towdvin, Wm. H. Jackson, Samuel Graham, Simon Ulman, Levin D. Collier, L. W. Gunby, Wm. B. Tilghman, R. E. Powell, L. E. Williams, L. S. Bell and Dr. S. P. Dennis.

2. The Board of Commissioners of Salisbury, on December 6th, 1887, considered the proposed project, and on December 18th, 1887, granted said Water Company a franchise. Your minute book, recording the meetings of said Commissioners on said days, will undoubtedly give you the full details of said grant, and a brief recitation of said facts, duly attested over the signatures of the said Commissioners to wit:—Thos. Humphreys, President, John P. Owens, Secretary; S. T. Evans, H. Hitch, W. A. Trader, will be found recorded on December 14th, 1887, with the Certificate of Incorporation of said Water Company, among the Land records of Wicomico County in Liber S. P. T. No. 1, folios 30 and 31.

3. The Salisbury Water Company has been in daily operation for the past sixteen years, without question or protest.
4. On the 21st day of September, 1893, The Mayor and Council of Salisbury entered into a contract with The Salisbury Water Company for the use of fire hydrants. This contract was duly executed under the seals of the respective parties thereto.
Now, notwithstanding the foregoing indisputable facts your honorable body at this late day has apparently deemed it wise and equitable to question our rights and title, and therefore, for the mutual interests of the Stockholders represented by the writer, and the property owners whose interests are entrusted to you, we respectfully request that this question you have raised be submitted to the Courts forthwith. The matter can be speedily adjudicated by your Council and ours agreeing on a statement of facts.

We avail ourselves of this opportunity to endeavor to correct certain other erroneous impressions that apparently exist in the minds of some people, relating to the Water Company, and we respectfully beg leave to present briefly the following facts:
1. A Stockholder in any enterprise is entitled to a fair return on his investment. The Salisbury Water Company has been in operation for the past sixteen years without paying one cent to its Stockholders, and some of its officers work without salary.

2. The Salisbury Water Company, in addition to being a great public convenience, has been the direct means of saving the property owners of Salisbury from $60,000.00 to $100,000.00 annually, by reason of lower fire insurance rates. No doubt this statement will surprise some, and to prove absolutely just what this saving amounts to, one of you gentlemen, as a property owner, request the Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters to inform you what increase would be made in insurance rates if the fire hydrants should be removed, then get the amount of insurance written by our local agents, and I believe you will find my figures most conservative.

3. For the aforesaid saving to the property owners, the said property owners, through the Mayor and Council of Salisbury, pay the said Water Company $495.00 annually for fifteen fire hydrants, but to obtain this amount the Water Company was forced to specially extend its six inch mains beyond the N. Y. P. & N. Depot, a territory to the city without a single other customer. Other extensions made largely, but not specifically, with a view to fire protection, are without sufficient income to pay interest on the amount invested.

4. If your honorable body is under the impression that your predecessors have given away valuable privileges to The Salisbury Water Company without exacting an adequate return, the writer is authorized by at least a majority of our Stockholders to advise you of their willingness to sell to the City of Salisbury, at the exact cost to duplicate our present plant and property. The cost to be fixed by three civil engineers, one of which to be chosen by Water Company, one by your honorable body, and the third by the two so chosen.

Please understand that we will gladly afford you every facility to verify all statements contained herein, our books showing receipts and expenditures being open to your inspection at any time.

We have stated our position briefly, but with the thought of enabling everyone to see and judge for himself just who has been benefited by the operations of The Salisbury Water Company.

We will be very glad to confer with your honorable body at any time, concerning any matter that may tend to render the service of the Company more satisfactory. Respectfully,
THE SALISBURY WATER CO.
Signed by L. S. Bell, Gen'l. Mgr.

Sale Of Laws Building To New York Concern.

R. Frank Williams, Real Estate Broker reports the sale of the Laws building on the north side of Main Street, this city which belonged to Mr. Elmer C. Williams. The purchaser is Mr. J. G. McCrorey, of New York City, who operates a chain of thirty five large five and ten cent stores in different cities and towns in the United States. The one farthest west is in Omaha, Neb. He has two other stores in Maryland, one in Hagerstown and one in Cumberland. Mr. McCrorey is reported to be worth from eight to nine hundred thousand dollars and representing so much capital, importing his own goods with such an output is likely to do a large business. We understand the stock of goods will arrive in about a week or ten days. The consideration is reported to be about $10,800.

This has been a very good investment for Mr. Williams as he purchased the property only a short time before Christmas at Trustees' sale at $7400, and with the taxes paid and improvements to the building brings the total cost to about $7600 or $7700.

Jury Disagree Again In Nan Patterson Trial.

It seems to be impossible to get a jury in New York which will agree to declare "Nan" Patterson guilty or innocent. The defendant was indicted for murder in the first degree. At her first trial, in December last, the jury was reported to be evenly divided on the question of her guilt or innocence. At her second trial the jury announced early Thursday morning, that it could not agree on a verdict, and was accordingly discharged by Recorder Goff, the presiding judge. The probability is that the defendant will never again be arraigned for trial on the charge of murdering Caesar Young.

Various rumors gained currency as to how the jury stood. It is stated the poll was seven to five in favor of acquittal.
It is quite certain that the former show girl will be given her liberty on nominal bail and that the indictment will be quashed. She has faced trial three times—twice the jury disagreed and once there was a mistrial, owing to the collapse of a juror.

Expansion Of Security Loan And Trust Company Probable.

For the purpose of increasing the stock of the Security Loan and Trust Company of Salisbury, there will be a meeting of the stockholders at the office of Mr. Jay Williams, Vice President on Wednesday, May 10. It is proposed to establish a home office of the Company at Nantux and open a banking house there.

Among the business men of the two lower Western County districts of Nan ticks and Tuxedo who are understood to be interested are: Messrs. A. H. Williams, Hon. H. James Messick, John W. Willing, Commander E. S. S. Turner, Hon. F. B. Culver, Wade H. Beddworth, J. R. Travers, John F. Jester, W. R. Jester, B. W. Denson, B. R. Dashiell, James B. Culver, C. G. Messick, W. S. Travers, John W. Messick, Helen H. Rencher and Mae Freney Culver.

Judge Chas. Holland is the President of the Security Loan and Trust Company which was organized in 1900 and has been actively engaged since then, paying annually a dividend of 6 per cent.

AMERICAN UNITARIANS.

Their Churches, Ministers, Organization and Creed.

There are in the United States 400 churches and 500 ministers that may in general be classed as Unitarian. The greater number of these is to be found in New England and the least number in the south. In polity Unitarian churches are congregational. As a rule they are organized upon the basis of a simple covenant or assertion of purpose, of which the following is the more common form: "In the love of truth and in the spirit of Jesus Christ we unite for the worship of God and the service of man." The American Unitarian association, with headquarters in Boston, is the one general missionary body with which the most of these churches are affiliated. It was formed in May, 1825, and, as stated in its bylaws, its object is "to diffuse the knowledge and promote the interests of pure Christianity." It is presided over by the Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, a son of President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university. The national conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches, of which the Hon. Carroll D. Wright, LL. D., is president, was organized at New York in April, 1865. It is a religious and fraternal body devoted to the strengthening of the churches and societies which unite with it for more and better work for the kingdom of God. It is composed of the representatives of such churches as may be invited by the council, as the committee which manages the business of the conference is advised. It recognizes the fact that in constitution it is congregational in tradition and polity and it applies no authoritative test nor exercises any control, confining itself to recommending to the churches which are the instruments of its activities such undertakings and methods as it judges to be within their purpose and scope. The conference meets biennially at such time and place as the council may determine.—Rev. Dr. Peter H. Goldsmith, Unitarian, Salem, Mass.

To Make War Impossible.

In an article in the new French magazine, Je Sais Tout (I Know Everything), M. Santos Dumont says that the present generation will see a perfect flying machine which will make war impossible. There will also be transcontinental aerial express, with Paris as the great aerial station. And he adds: "What would you say if I told you that next summer I am confident of giving a new impulse to aerial navigation; that I myself hope to be able before ending my experiences to cruise over Europe for a week at a time, without descending to earth, in a yacht that will be in itself a flying house?"

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Very Best.

"I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says Geo. L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated.
For sale by All Dealers.

A Good Suggestion.
Mr. C. B. Wainwright of Le Roy City, Fla., has written the manufacturers
that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Colic,
Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases of pains in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale by All Dealers.

A Good Family Liniment.
Every family should be supplied with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm.
For cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and similar injuries, which are of frequent occurrence, there is nothing so good.
It soothes the wound and not only gives instant relief from pain, but causes the parts to heal in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment. As it is an antiseptic all danger from blood poisoning is avoided.
Sold by All Dealers.

Quick Arrest.
J. A. Gullede of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c at all druggists.

Made Young Again.
"One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my 'teens' again," writes D. H.
Turner of Deepseetown, Pa. They're the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Purely vegetable.
Never gripe. Only 25c. at all drug stores.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should Be Answered
Easily By Salisbury People.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinion of your fellow citizens, of people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

Wm. M. Gordy, carpenter residing corner of Ann and M. E. Church streets, says: "I have had back ache
for several years, was worse in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold
it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step down from one step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time
I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped
the attack from which I was suffering.
My son also took some of the pills and received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

A Startling Test.
To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of
No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c. at all druggists.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?
Why suffer from rheumatism when an application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm will relieve the pain? The quick relief which this liniment affords makes rest and sleep possible, and that alone is worth many times its cost. Many who have used it hoping only for a short relief from suffering have been happily surprised to find that after while the relief became permanent.
Mrs. V. H. Leggett of Yum Yum, Tennessee, U. S. A., writes, "I am a great sufferer from rheumatism, all over head to foot, and Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only thing that will relieve the pain." For sale by All Dealers.

A Sure Thing.
It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not also gather true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles.
Thousands can testify to that. Mrs.
C. B. Van Metre of Shepherdstown, W.
Va., says "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle
of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible
for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip,
Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it.
It's guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free. R-g size 50c. $1.00.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure

the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh

ing the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building

Dear Sir: Why don't we make paint, as many others do, to go three quarters as far, or two thirds, or half, or a third, or a quarter?

Mr. Aaron Higgins, Plainfield, N. J., always used 15 gallons of paint for his house; Devos took 11.

There are two sorts of paint: all paint, true paint, strong paint, full-measure; and part paint, false paint, weak paint, short measure.

The paint-manufacturers are two sorts: Devos and the rest.

Yours Truly,

There is one rational way to treat
nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cents. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it.

MOTHERHOOD
Actual Sterility in Women Is Very Rare—Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes.

Many women long for a child to bless their homes, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs they are barren.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the entire female organism, curing all displacements, ulceration and inflammation.

A woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution. Is not that an incentive to prepare for a healthy maternity?

If expectant mothers would fortify themselves with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for thirty years has sustained thousands of women in this condition, there would be a great decrease in miscarriages, in suffering, and in disappointments at birth.

The following letters to Mrs. Pinkham demonstrate the power of Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases:

Mrs. E. C. Glover, Vice-President of Milwaukee Business Woman's Association, of 614 Grove Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I was married for several years and no children blessed our home. The doctor said
I had a complication of female troubles, and I could not have any children unless I could be cured. For months I took his medicines, trying in vain for a cure, but at last my husband became disgusted and suggested that I

What Stronger Testimonials Of Davis' Worth.

West Lumber Co.,
Gentlemen:—

I have used a considerable quantity of your Davis 100 percent Pure Paint and wherever I use it, no matter whether old or new work, I am always surprised to see the immense surface it will cover. In figuring work by the square, as I am in the habit of doing,
I find in every case I have several buckets to return, which is always a very pleasant surprise to a painter doing a job by contract. I consider it the best paint on the market today to do a first class job of painting, also the cheapest.

You are at liberty to use this letter in the trade if you so wish, for I am satisfied that any one who uses it will be most highly pleased, and feel that I have done them a favor.

Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The Missouri Pacific between Wichita and with a picture, and when he was in this office today, we asked him about it. He says he had terrible pains in his stom-says it cured him. He recommended it to others, who were also cured. Kodol

A childless home is a cheerless home.
The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical

SHARPTOWN.

Mrs. Sophronia E. Bennett died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie English, near Mardela, on April 26th, after only a few hours suffering from paralysis. She died of the same disease and in the same room in which her father and mother died six years ago.

She was born January 31, 1848, and was the only daughter of the late E. T. Bennett and wife. She was married to Levin H. Bennett May 20, 1868. Her husband died August 18, 1882, leaving her with five children who survive her: Ringgold W. of Reed's Grove, Turpin H. of Mardela, Mrs. Sallie Barker, and Mrs. Fannie English, of near town, and Mrs. Lillian Caulk, wife of C. E. Caulk, of this town. She also leaves six brothers, James L. of Chance, Thos. W. of Hebron, Ebenezer T. and Gillis E. of Mardela, Isaac S. of Riverton and Rev. Louis A. of Fawn Grove, Pa. Mrs. Bennett was converted at a revival at Sneathen M. P. Church in 1864 and joined the church at that time and was a member at the time of her death. She was faithful to the church of her choice and lived a quiet christian life. She was a devoted mother and ever labored in the interest of her children. She had many friends as well as relatives who mourn her sudden death.

Her remains were interred in the Mardela Cemetery on April 28, 1905, after funeral services by Rev. George R. McCready, assisted by her pastor, Rev. E. P. Perry. Her six brothers were pall bearers. The funeral was largely attended showing the high regard in which she was held.

At a meeting of the officials of the M. E. Church on Tuesday night the following building committee was appointed: B. P. Gravenor, A. W. Robinson, H. G. Elzey and N. W. Owens. Interest in a new building seems to be growing and it is expected by some to begin the work about June 1. At a recent meeting it was agreed upon to make improvements costing about $4,000, but there is now a sentiment to remove the old building and erect a new one entirely. The matter however will be taken up at once by the committee and a definite conclusion reached.

James E. Selby has opened a grocery store in the Covington Building on Perry Street.

Dr. F. J. Townsend has sold one half interest in his drug business to Dr. W. N. Gassaway, of Montgomery county, and the firm name is now Townsend & Gassaway.

O. W. Owens has rented the Twilley Building, corner Main and Water Streets, and will open up with ice cream and confectionery soon and may take on other lines.

Arrangements are being made to hold two campmeetings here the coming summer. The one at Owen's Grove will begin August 4, and the one in Melsom's Grove on August 18. Every effort will be made to make these camps a success.

Oysters With Or Without.

"Sitting opposite me in a downtown oyster house the other day," said a clubman, "was one of those fastidious men who undertake to transmit instructions to the cook through the waiter. He wanted a twenty five cent stew. As nearly as I can remember, these were his instructions: 'Now, waiter, kindly tell the cook I don't want the oysters and milk merely mixed and heated. I want the milk carefully boiled first. The oysters should then be added without the liquor. The liquor should not be put in until the seasoning is added. Be very particular to get good rich milk and nothing but the best gilt edged butter. As for the oysters, I want Cape Cod salts. No ordinary stock oysters for me. Do you understand?'"

"I think so, sir," replied the waiter. "But do you wish the oysters with or without?"

"With or without what?" asked the customer.

"Pearls, sir."—New York Press.

"Lead Kindly Light."

The hymn books do not contain a more exquisite lyric than Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light," says Allan Sutherland in the June Delineator, nor one that is more acceptable to all denominations of the Christian faith.

When the Parliament of Religions met in Chicago during the Columbian Exposition, the representatives of almost every creed known to man found two things on which they were agreed: They could all join in the Lord's Prayer and all could sing "Lead, Kindly Light." The hymn was written when Newman, returning home from Italy after a serious illness, was recalled for a week in the sunny waters of the Mediterranean. In striking contrast, the music was composed by Dr. John B. Dykes as he walked through the Strand, one of the busiest thoroughfares of London. The hymn was a favorite of Gladstone, and also of President McKinley, and it was sung far and wide in the churches on the first anniversary of his death and burial.

Using Potatoes As Fertilizers.

In the vicinity of Geneva, N. Y., some farmers have been using potatoes as a fertilizer, scattering them broadcast over their fields, there to rot and enrich the soil. This, they figure out, is more profitable than taking them to market to get but 12 and 15 cents a bushel, the current price there. Others are feeding them to their stock.

It is said that thousands of bushels of potatoes in that vicinity have gone to waste. The glut is due to over production and general holding of potatoes for a high spring price, such as was secured in other years.

Spirits In A Tree.

The public press reports that a tree on the farm of W. Albert, near Paducah, Ky., called a "talking tree" has attracted much attention lately—crows going to see and hear it. Strange noises emanate from the tree, including a crash, as though it were being crushed and then a voice can be distinctly heard, saying "There are treasures buried at my roots." One Journal says: "A party consisting of the most reliable citizens of the county visited the tree to make a thorough investigation for themselves as to the noises being heard. They listened patiently for several hours, when there was a sudden crash, which has been given many times before, and the marvelous reproduction of human voices came out.

The mystery remains unsolved and so great has the number of people been who have gone there in the last several months that the tree is now dead, caused by the continuous tramping on the earth surrounding the tree. The only theory that has been suggested is that a man was killed under the tree in 1862, and while many do not believe in "spirits" the facts are so plain and the voice can be so distinctly heard that they cannot dispute the fact."

New Use Of A Telephone.

There is no use the telephone can not be put to, says the Richmond Times Dispatch. It is said that a certain Richmond lady, wishing to visit a neighbor the other day, pulled the baby crib up in front of the phone, opened the receiver and calmly told "Central" that she was going out to a neighbor's and if the baby waked up and began to cry to ring her up at the neighbor's. She ought to get a patent on that baby tender.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City (handling capacity 600 head and mules continuously receiving consignments from the breeders all over America), it is only one branch of this immense business. We carry in stock 1000 head of every kind of horse, and a large selection of mules for country use, at lowest factory prices. Arrival of Cactus—A Beauty Addition To Salisbury Yachts.

Dr. L. S. Bell, with his long looked for wonder, the handsome yacht, Cactus, arrived in Salisbury harbor Saturday after an extended leisure trip down the coast from Morris Heights, N. Y. At Chesapeake City Dr. Bell was joined by Messrs. C. A. Morse, of New York and his son, Mr. W. S. Bell, of Philadelphia.

The Cactus is a full furnished cruising yacht, 50 feet long over all, with 10 ft. beam and draws 3 1/2 feet of water. She is equipped with a 16 horse four cycle Daemler motor, which developed under brake test at the shop trial 21 horse power. The entire cabin is solid mahogany. The windows are double thick French plate and drop into recess pockets. The floors of the pilot house and saloon are covered with velvet carpet of a pretty green shade. The hangings in the saloon are green tapestry, with raised figures on the inside, lined with cream silk on the outside. The cushions are green silk plush. All lockers are fitted with extension boards to raise and make comfortable beds.

She was built by the Daemler Company for exhibition and has been in use only about a year.

July Seventh Fixed For Wicomico's First Hanging—That Of Handy.

All active interest in behalf of clemency toward Henry J. Handy, colored, convicted of the murder of his wife, Cella, having failed, Governor Warfield, after going over the case Friday fixed the date for his execution for Friday, July 7.

Handy was convicted of the murder at the late September Term of Wicomico's Circuit Court. The case was then taken to the Court of Appeals, which sustained the decision. Later a reprieve was sought but Governor Warfield could find nothing to alter the sentence of the Court.

When apprised of the date of hanging Handy showed great despair and said afterwards, "I had hoped that the good Lord and the good people would spare my life, and let me serve out a life sentence in the Penitentiary. I am very sorry for the deed. I was under great strain on account of the action of my wife, and I let my anger get the better of me. I still hope the good people will do something for me and spare my life."

A HORRIBLE WRECK

In Which A Score Of Passengers Lose Their Lives And Many Injured. Blasting Powder Increases Fatality.

Twenty persons are believed to have been killed and approximately 100 injured by the wrecking at 1.10 Thursday morning of the Cleveland and Cincinnati express, westbound on the Pennsylvania railroad, which dashed into a wrecked eastbound freight train, exploding a car filled with 50,000 pounds of blasting powder. It was one of the most horrible disasters ever experienced by the Pennsylvania Railroad on its main line.

When the first explosions occurred bodies were thrown clear out of the berths in the sleeping cars, many landing down the railroad embankment, and some even having been hurled into the Susquehanna river, which parallels the railroad in that locality.

After the wreck all passengers who could do so ran from the scenes of horror to safety from the incessant small explosions. The agonizing cries of the unfortunates were heartrending.

With practically no clothing many women and children from the train were compelled to wander about the fields, as there are few houses in the immediate vicinity of the wreck.

The train was the second section of No. 19 and had 160 passengers. The hospital is crowded to the doors and the hotels are being opened for the care of the injured. It may be necessary for the authorities to seize one of the hotels and turn it into a temporary hospital.

Train 19, which was wrecked, was westbound and is known as the Cleveland and Cincinnati express. It left Philadelphia at 11.05 Wednesday evening and was due at Harrisburg at 1.30 a. m. and Pittsburgh at 8 a. m. The engineer of the passenger train was H. K. Thomas, of Philadelphia, who was killed outright. He leaves a family. The fireman, R. R. Dickey, of Philadelphia, was only slightly injured.

Cause Of The Wreck.

The wreck was caused by a smaller wreck to the freight train which was eastbound. Passing the plant of the Paxtang Electric Company, near Cedar street an air hose burst and several cars in the middle of the train buckled up and fell across the passenger tracks at the side.

Almost at the same moment the express train, with 160 coaches, dashed along and plunged into the wrecked freight cars. The boiler of the passenger locomotive blew up and the concussion caused the immediate explosion of the two cars of dynamite in the freight train. The force of the collision crushed all of the passenger cars, which piled up in a huge mass with those of the freight. Instantly the two trains were masses of flames.

These provisions are perfectly plain. They declare that every adult male citizen of the United States who has resided one year in Maryland shall be entitled to registration if he comes under any one of the three above-mentioned descriptions of persons. Such adult male citizen may, therefore, claim registration.

First—Because qualified under the educational test clause; or

Second—Because qualified by reason of the fact that he was entitled to vote on the first day of January, 1869, or prior thereto, by the laws of this State or of the State wherein he then resided; or

Third—Because qualified by reason of the fact that he is a lineal descendant of the person who was thus entitled to vote on the first day of January, 1869, and twenty-one years of age or over in the year 1906; that is to say, that he was born not later than the year 1885.

The three descriptions of persons are in the alternative.

The applicant for registration is required to bring himself under one only of them, and any one of them is sufficient.

All White Men.

He may become a registered voter because he was entitled to vote so far back as January 1, 1869, or earlier, under the laws of the State in which he then resided; or because, having been born not later than 1885, he is a lineal descendant of such last-named person; or because, not claiming to belong to either of these two classes, he possesses the prescribed educational qualification.

Obviously, Clause Second embraces only men who on January 1, 1869, were not less than twenty-one years of age; that is to say, men born not later than 1848. The youngest voter who under this clause could be lawfully registered in 1906 under the proposed amendment, would accordingly be then fifty-eight years old, and this clause would clearly allow of the registration of all male citizens of the United States, white or black, native born or naturalized, literate or illiterate, who on January 1, 1869, or earlier, were entitled to vote in the State in which they then resided.

All white men who were citizens of any of the United States on January 1, 1869, whether native born or naturalized, who shall be living in Maryland at the period of registration and who shall have resided in Maryland for one year prior to that period will be entitled to registration as qualified voters under this second clause.

The practical operation of this second clause will, therefore, be to admit to registration all white Marylanders (not disqualified by reason of conviction for some "infamous crime") who were voters in Maryland on the first day of January, 1869, or earlier, and also all white men who on that date or earlier were qualified voters in any of the States of the Union.

No educational or other test can be exacted from applicants for registration belonging to this class of men.

The fact that they were qualified voters anywhere in the United States on January 1, 1869, or earlier, entitles them, without more, to registration.

By this Second Clause the suffrage is preserved to all white men throughout the Union who possessed it on January 1, 1869, or earlier.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Chairman Vandver Explains The Constitutional Amendment, What It Proposes And Why It Should Be Adopted.

This amendment was passed in a wowed redemption of the letter and the spirit of the platform upon which our Democratic Senate and House of Delegates, as well as Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General, were elected.

An examination of its terms will abundantly show that it obeys the popular mandate as expressed in their election.

It is designed to give to the people an opportunity to rescue our State from a great evil.

It is believed to be a full, complete and effective remedy, while at the same time wholly free from valid constitutional objection; and its framers, advocates and supporters, voting the sentiments of the white people of the State, feel that the crisis is one calling for a vigorous measure that will meet and cure this evil.

It preserves without change the existing provision of our Constitution which requires registration as an absolute condition precedent to the exercise of the right to vote, and confers the right to registration only upon adult males who have been residents of Maryland for at least one year.

The changes which it proposes in our existing Constitution are shown in the following new provisions:

"Every such male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be—

"First—A person able to read any Section of the Constitution of this State submitted to him by the Officers of Registration and to give a reasonable explanation of the same; or, if unable to read such section, able to understand and give explanation thereof when read to him by the Registration Officers; or

"Second—A person who on the first day of January, 1869, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State or of any other State of the United States wherein he then resided; or

"Third—Any male lineal descendant of such last-mentioned person who may be twenty-one (21) years of age or over in the year 1906.

"No person not thus qualified by coming under some one of the above descriptions shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter, nor be entitled to vote."

These provisions are perfectly plain. They declare that every adult male citizen of the United States who has resided one year in Maryland shall be entitled to registration if he comes under any one of the three above-mentioned descriptions of persons. Such adult male citizen may, therefore, claim registration.

First—Because qualified under the educational test clause; or

Second—Because qualified by reason of the fact that he was entitled to vote on the first day of January, 1869, or prior thereto, by the laws of this State or of the State wherein he then resided; or

Third—Because qualified by reason of the fact that he is a lineal descendant of the person who was thus entitled to vote on the first day of January, 1869, and twenty-one years of age or over in the year 1906; that is to say, that he was born not later than the year 1885.

The three descriptions of persons are in the alternative.

The applicant for registration is required to bring himself under one only of them, and any one of them is sufficient.

All White Men.

He may become a registered voter because he was entitled to vote so far back as January 1, 1869, or earlier, under the laws of the State in which he then resided; or because, having been born not later than 1885, he is a lineal descendant of such last-named person; or because, not claiming to belong to either of these two classes, he possesses the prescribed educational qualification.

Obviously, Clause Second embraces only men who on January 1, 1869, were not less than twenty-one years of age; that is to say, men born not later than 1848. The youngest voter who under this clause could be lawfully registered in 1906 under the proposed amendment, would accordingly be then fifty-eight years old, and this clause would clearly allow of the registration of all male citizens of the United States, white or black, native born or naturalized, literate or illiterate, who on January 1, 1869, or earlier, were entitled to vote in the State in which they then resided.

All white men who were citizens of any of the United States on January 1, 1869, whether native born or naturalized, who shall be living in Maryland at the period of registration and who shall have resided in Maryland for one year prior to that period will be entitled to registration as qualified voters under this second clause.

The practical operation of this second clause will, therefore, be to admit to registration all white Marylanders (not disqualified by reason of conviction for some "infamous crime") who were voters in Maryland on the first day of January, 1869, or earlier, and also all white men who on that date or earlier were qualified voters in any of the States of the Union.

No educational or other test can be exacted from applicants for registration belonging to this class of men.

The fact that they were qualified voters anywhere in the United States on January 1, 1869, or earlier, entitles them, without more, to registration.

By this Second Clause the suffrage is preserved to all white men throughout the Union who possessed it on January 1, 1869, or earlier.

The comfortable farm home belonging to Mr. Archer Holloway, Queponco, was burned to the ground Monday night, about ten o'clock. A dog which was looked in the cellar for safety is supposed to have overturned an incubator lamp that first started the blaze. Not only the house but most of the furniture and bedding were consumed as well as some of the outbuildings. Roughly his loss is estimated to be about $2500 with only $500 insurance. 'Tis not only a loss but a sad inconvenience to the family. Hasty preparations are already underway to make them at least comfortable.

Movement For A Salisbury Y. M. C. A. Going Forward.

At the Friday night meeting of the Y. M. C. A., movement in the Court House it was decided to engage a secretary, with capable experience to direct an organization on a stable basis in this city. Mr. E. S. Adkins acted as chairman. Many prominent young men attended and the business fraternity was well represented. Acting Secretary, Mr. W. H. Morris, of the Baltimore Y. M. C. A., was present and explained the plan of organization. He spoke of the failure to organize a Y. M. C. A. in this town some years ago, and gave his reason why it was not a success that it was not placed on the proper foundation, and that proper business methods were not used in cherishing the existence of the association. He advised that some place be secured as soon as possible, in order that the Y. M. C. A. may have a home to begin with; but in order to do so, he stated that the young men of Salisbury must show the business men of our town (from which they must expect their aid in order to have the association a success) that they really desire such an organization. He spoke of the excellent field here for a Y. M. C. A.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"About a year ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so sore that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water, I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook over the stove, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but his prescriptions were utterly useless. I gave him up and tried another, but without the least satisfaction. About six weeks ago I got my first relief when I purchased Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a week, I found to my great delight that my hands were beginning to feel much better, the deep cracks began to heal up and stop running, and to-day my hands are entirely well. The one can of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment being all that I used. (Signed) Mrs. Minnie Drew, 18 Dana St., Roxbury Mass."

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

But no negro can come in under this clause unless he was a qualified voter on January 1, 1869, or prior thereto, in the State where he then resided.

The purpose and effect of this Second Clause (and we shall presently see of the Third Clause also) are to relieve the proposed amendment from conflict with the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Limitation of Grandfather Clause.

Coming now to the Third Clause of the Amendment, we find that it preserves suffrage to the lineal descendants born not later than 1885 of all male citizens of the United States who were qualified voters on January 1, 1869, without distinction of race, color or nationality, and without any test except the uniform and impartial test of lineal descent and birth prior to the year 1885.

Any adult male descendant of any man who on January 1, 1869, was a qualified voter in any State of the Union may be registered on that ground alone, whether white or black, literate or illiterate, native born or naturalized, provided, first, that he have the necessary qualification of residence in Maryland, and, second, that he be 21 years of age or over in the year 1906.

This clause operates with equal force in law upon all such adult male lineal descendants.

No man, whether white or black, can come in under this "grandfather clause" unless he was in esse in 1885, and consequently at least 21 years old in 1906. But all may come in under this clause who were born prior to 1885.

The lineal descendants born after the year 1885 of those who voted on January 1, 1869, cannot become registered voters in 1907, or afterward, except under the educational test prescribed by the First Clause of the Amendment, for the obvious reason that in 1906 (the specific date designated) they will not be 21 years old.

By this simple provision the "grandfather clause" will gradually cease to be operative, and no male, whether white or black, who shall arrive at age after 1906 can become a registered voter unless he possess the qualification prescribed by the Educational Clause. But no man, white or black, who was a voter on January 1, 1869, or who is a lineal descendant of such voter and twenty-one years of age or over in 1906, can be denied registration because of his inability to meet such educational test.

From the Virginia Constitution. This clause is taken from the present Constitution of Virginia and represents the result of the deliberations of the recent Virginia State Convention upon the subject, aided as these deliberations were by careful study of the provisions of the several Southern States upon the question of negro suffrage and by the successful and satisfactory practical operation of such provisions in those States.

It thus reflects and adopts the latest and best views of the strongest men of the South.

Recurring to its precise language, we find that it confers the right to registration (as the indispensable preliminary to the right to vote) upon every adult male possessing the prescribed qualification of one year's legal residence in Maryland, who is able to read and give a reasonable explanation of any section of the Constitution of Maryland submitted to him by the Registration Officers; or, if such adult male is unable to read, then the right to registration is given if he "is able to understand and give explanation" of any section of the Constitution when read to him by him.

If the applicant is able to read and give a reasonable explanation of any section of the Constitution, when thus submitted to him, he is entitled to registration.

This standing alone would fairly mean that the applicant must be able both to read and give a reasonable explanation of the section submitted to him. But the succeeding words of the clause show that such cannot be its meaning, for these succeeding words declare that if the applicant cannot read, but can understand and give explanation of the section when read to him, he is in that event entitled to registration.

From this examination of the whole clause it is clear that no more is required of any applicant than an ability to give a reasonable explanation of any section of this Constitution, whether read by him when submitted by the Registration Officers, or when read to him by him.

The literal language of the second part of the clause does not require that the explanation shall be "reasonable," but inasmuch as the applicant who is unable to read is required both "to understand and give explanation," the explanation exacted from him should fairly be construed to mean reasonable explanation. Indeed, the word "reasonable" found in the first part of the clause should doubtless be treated as implied or understood, although not actually repeated in the second part of the clause.

is submitted to him to be read by him is put upon the same plane precisely as the man who cannot read, but can understand and give a reasonable explanation of the section read to him.

And so, too, the man who cannot read the section submitted to him to be read by him, but is called on to give a reasonable explanation of a section read to him by the Registration Officers is put upon the same plane precisely as the man who can read the section submitted to him by the Registration Officers to be read by him.

Starting, therefore, with this plain interpretation of the meaning of the whole clause, viz., that any literate man, whether white or black, who can understand and give a reasonable explanation of any section of the Constitution which may be read to him by the Registration Officers or read to him by them, is entitled to registration, the question is whether, in connection with the other clauses of the Amendment, it is a good and desirable amendment to the Constitution of Maryland, and, as such, should be adopted by the people, or whether it is the bad proposition which some of its opponents proclaim it to be, and, as such, should be rejected.

No Race Discrimination. In passing upon this question we must consider at the very outset whether it violates either the Fourteenth or Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The Fifteenth Amendment declares that "the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

Looking to the language of the clause under consideration, it is manifest that it applies equally and impartially alike to both white and black citizens of the United States. No discrimination is made for or against any citizen on account of race or color, and hence there is no possible room for the suggestion that the Fifteenth Amendment stands as an obstacle in its way.

Taking up the Fourteenth Amendment, we find that its first section has been repeatedly held by the Supreme Court of the United States to have no application whatever to the question of suffrage, and this must now be treated as absolutely settled.

As to the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment, the utmost that has ever been suggested is that an educational qualification may subject the State imposing it to a reduction of its representation in Congress and in the Electoral College, but Judge Cooley clearly shows in his "Principles of Constitutional Law," page 232, that to require ability to read is no denial of suffrage, and hence that such denial cannot be a violation of the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment.

All objection to this educational test clause as contrary to either the Fourteenth or Fifteenth Amendments being thus eliminated, we have only to consider its expediency under our existing political conditions in Maryland.

To judge this properly we must ascertain whom it will reach and control and how it will connect with the other sections of the proposed amendment. It is clear that it does not affect or touch in the registration of the year 1906 any native born white man whomsoever who voted anywhere in the Union on January 1, 1869, or earlier, nor the lineal descendant of any such native born white man. It will not and cannot apply to or exclude any such men.

Nor will it apply to any naturalized citizen of the United States who on January 1, 1869, or earlier, voted anywhere in the Union, nor to the lineal descendant of any such naturalized citizen.

Nor will it apply to any black man who voted anywhere in the Union on January 1, 1869, or earlier, or the lineal descendant of any such black man.

The problem presented to the Democratic Senate and House of Delegates at the session of 1904 was this: How can we frame an amendment to the Constitution of Maryland which, while not violating either the letter or the spirit of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, will rescue our State from the evil and peril of ignorant negro suffrage?

The proposed amendment solves this problem.

Suffrage Not a Natural Right. Suffrage is a valuable privilege, but it is not a natural right. (Anderson vs. Baker, 23 Md. 531.) Hence no injustice is done by withholding it from persons who are not able to appreciate and exercise it with discrimination and moderate intelligence, and the condition upon which it is offered, viz., an ability to understand and explain a section of the Constitution is certainly not a rigorous, exacting or harsh condition.

There is no hardship in examining the Constitution of 1864. Our Constitution of 1864, upon grounds of public policy then deemed to be sufficient and held by our Court of Appeals in Anderson vs. Baker, 23 Md. 531, to be valid and constitutional, disfranchised the most stringent retroactive provisions all who sympathized with the Southern Confederacy or had ever given any aid or comfort to the cause of secession.

This destruction of the pre-existing right to vote under the Constitution of 1864 was accomplished by a partisan Board of Registration Officers, whose decision was declared to be absolutely final and conclusive without appeal.

Surely, if the disfranchisement of two-thirds of the cultured and influential white voters of the State was then adjudged to be wise and expedient in order to save the government of the State from the possibility of falling into the hands of the Southern sympathizers of that day, the present effort to save our elective franchise from the deplorable evils of the lowest grade of ignorant negro suffrage ought not to be denounced as pernicious, or resisted as unjust or injurious.

On the contrary, it ought to appeal with persuasive and controlling force to all of our people who, without distinction of party, believe in the supremacy of the white race, and who feel that some degree of intelligence should be exacted as the test of the right to vote.

Objection to the Amendment. There only now remains for consideration the objection which has been urged to the amendment, viz., that it gives too much power to our Registration officers.

But this is an entire mistake, as an examination of our Election Law will plainly show.

We find in every election precinct a bi-partisan board of registration officers, composed equally of Democrats and Republicans, carefully selected by the Supervisors of Elections, sworn to do their duty fairly and impartially, and subject to heavy penalties for its violation, with a right of appeal from their decision in every case to the Circuit Court for their respective counties, or to some Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, with a further right of appeal in every case to the Court of Appeals.

In full view of these most abundant safeguards against error, injustice and injury, we are called on to meet an argument that these registration officers will wickedly corruptly or ignorantly register illiterate foreigners or negroes who ought not to be registered, or refuse to register literate foreigners or negroes who ought to be registered, and because of the possibility of such misconduct we must continue to bear political evils which an overwhelming majority of our people have declared to be intolerable!

There would not be any force in the argument now being considered, even if there were no right of appeal from the registration officers, for the obvious reason that the equal political division of the registration officers is the amplest protection against error and injustice, and that consequently partisan injustice is practically next to impossible. But when we bear in mind that there is the fullest, speediest right of appeal, even to our highest Court, the argument needs only to be stated to be rejected.

In truth, when analyzed, it means that our election officials cannot be trusted with duties, powers and responsibilities, even when they act subject to the absolute supervision and control of our Court of Appeals, and applies with equal force to the performance by the registration officers of their other functions in the work of registration.

When, therefore, we realize that this is the only objection that is seriously urged to influence the views and votes of our people who wish preservation and protection against the evils of a debased and ignorant negro suffrage, is it too much to hope and believe that the Amendment presented to them for the purpose of securing to them this preservation and protection will grow in favor the more carefully it is considered, and in November next will be made a vital force in the Constitution of Maryland by a decisive popular ratification? THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

[Copyright 1904 by J. S. O'Brien Pub. Co. (New York).]

President Roosevelt says to the author of it

"I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

WE have each year three or four high holidays, and many ordinary days. Like these there are a few very great and very obscure combats to fight. But by the side of these there are the multitude of simple and evident duties. Now, while that in the great encounters our attitude is generally sufficient, it is precisely in the small occasions that we are seen to weaken. Without fearing that I shall be drawn by a paradoxical form from my thought I shall then declare: the essential is to find the simple duty, to consecrate oneself to elementary justice. In general those who lose their souls, lose them not because they fail to do difficult duties and do not accomplish impossibilities, but because they neglect their simple duty.

Let us illustrate this truth by examples. He who tries to enter among the lower and humble ones of society will not be long in discovering great physical and moral miseries. The nearer he reaches that life the more wounds he discovers, and at last the world of miserable ones seems to him like a vast, black creation before which the individual with his poor means of solace appears reduced to impotence. It is true that he feels anxious to hasten, but at the same time he thinks "What is the use?" Evidently the case is most agonizing. Some decide the question by doing nothing from despair. They remain therefore sterile, yet not from the lack of pity nor of good intentions. They are wrong. Often a man has not the means to do good by wholesale, but that is no reason why he should not at retail. So many people fail to do anything because, according to them, there is too much to do. They need to be recalled to the simple duty. This duty is this, in the case now occupying our attention: that every one, according to his resources, his leisure and his capacities, should form friendships among these disinherited ones. There are people who by the exercise of a little will-power manage to introduce themselves into the circles of the ministers, or to wriggle into the society of the chiefs of the State. Why, then, could not all form acquaintance with the poor people and become friendly with those toilers who are in need of necessities? Once know a few families, with their histories, their antecedents and their difficulties, you could be of great utility in doing simply what you could, and in practicing fraternity under the form of moral and material assistance. You would have, it is true, attacked but one little corner, but you would have done your best and perhaps drawn some one other to do his best also. In acting this way, instead of only stating that there exists much misery in the world, sudden hatred, disunion, vice, you would have introduced a little good into it. And how ever small the number of good wills like yours becomes, the good will grow and evil will diminish. But, even if you are left alone to do what you have done, you have witness that you have done the only reasonable thing: the simple and childlike duty which was given you. Now, in doing that, you have discovered one of the secrets of right living.

Human ambition dreams of vast projects, but it is rarely given us to do great things, and even the most rapid and certain successes are always the outcome of patient preparation. Faithfulness in small things is the base of everything grand that is accomplished. We forget that too often. Still, if there is a truth necessary to know, it is that, above all in the dangerous and painful moments of existence, one can save himself in case of shipwreck on a broken beam, an oar, or a piece of plank. On the tumultuous ocean of life, when everything seems to be broken to atoms, remember that one only of these poor atoms may become our plank of safety. The demoralization consists in despising these pieces.

You have been ruined, or have a great grief, or perhaps you have just been destroyed before your eyes the fruit of long labor. It is impossible to reconstruct your fortune, to re-ascend your dead, or save your lost labor. And before the irreparable your arms fall. Then you neglect to care for your person, to keep your house, or to watch over your children. That is pardonable, and how well we understand it! But that is very dangerous! To let yourself go transforms the evil into a worse one. You who believe that you have nothing more to lose, you will for that lose that which yet remains to you. Gather the fragments of your goods; have for what remains a scrupulous care. And soon that little will console you. Accomplished effort comes to our aid, neglected effort turns against us. If there remains but one branch to which you can cling, cling to that branch, and if you are left alone to defend a cause which seems lost do not throw down your arms to join the fugitives. On the morrow after the deluge a few isolated persons reappear the earth. The future sometimes seems to rest on one head alone, as it happens that a life hangs but on a thread. Inspire yourself with history and nature; each will teach you in their laborious evolutions that calamities like prosperity can come from the least causes, that it is not wise to neglect details, and above all one must know how to wait and to recommence.

In speaking of the simple duty I cannot refrain from thinking of military life, and of the examples that it offers to the combatants of that great struggle which is life. He who, once his army is beaten, abstains from brushing his garments, polishing his gun, and observing his discipline understands but imperfectly his duty as a soldier.

"To what use?" you may say. To what use? Are there not many ways of being beaten? Would it be a matter of indifference to add discouragement, disorder, a general breaking up to the misery of defeat? No. We must never forget that the least act of energy in these terrible moments is like a light in the darkness. It is a sign of life and hope. Each one understands at once that all is not lost. During the disastrous retreat of 1813-1814, in the middle of winter, while it must have been almost impossible to maintain any sort of appearance, I do not know what general it was presented himself one morning to Napoleon I, in fine condition and freshly shaved. Seeing him thus, in the midst of the general breaking up, as carefully dressed as if on review, the emperor said: "General, you are a brave man!"

The simple duty is the nearest one. A very common weakness hinders many people from finding that which is nearest to them interesting. They see but by their meanness side. The distant, on the contrary, attracts and enchants them. Thus is uselessly spent a fabulous sum of good will. They are impassioned for humanity, for the public good, for distant miseries, walking across life with eyes fixed on the marvellous objects which captivate us far below at the confines of the horizon, while they walk on the passers' feet or elbow them without noticing them.

It is a singular infirmity which hinders you from seeing those who are near you. Many have run, made long voyages, but they do not know their co-citizens, great or small. They live, thanks to the competition of a quantity of beings whose destiny is indifferent to them. Neither those who teach them, instruct them, govern them, nor those who serve them, furnish them, feed them, have ever won their attention. That there is an ingratitude or improvidence in not knowing one's work people, one's domestics, the few beings in fact who have indispensable social relations with us, never enters their minds. Others go still farther. For some women their husbands are unknown, and this is reciprocal. There are parents who do not know their own children. Their development, their thoughts, the dangers they may run, the hopes they may nourish are for them a closed book. Many children do not know their parents and have never suspected their pains, their struggles, nor penetrated their intentions. And, I do not speak of the disinherited families, those sad homes where all relations are falsified, but of honest families composed of good people. These persons only are great. Each one has his interest elsewhere which takes all his time. The distant duty, strongly attractive, I do not deny, claims them entirely and they are unconscious of the nearer duty. I fear that they lose their pains. The base of operation of each is the field of his immediate duty. Neglect that base and all the distant things you undertake will be jeopardized. Before, therefore, first to your own county, your own city, your own house, your church, your workshop, and if it can be, leave there to go elsewhere. That is the simple and natural step to take. A man must furnish himself at great cost with very bad reasons to have come to follow the inverse walk. In any case, the result of so strange a confusion of duties is that many are mingled with a quantity of things save those that one has the right to expect of them. Each occupies himself with other things than those which belong to him, and, absent from his post, he does not know his trade, it would be, though, so very simple if every one attended to his own business only.

Another form of simple duty. When an injury has been caused who should repair it? The one who caused it. That is just, but it is only a theory. And the consequence of that theory is that we must allow the evil to exist until the malefactors have been found and made to repair the injury. But if we do not find them? Or, if they cannot or will not repair the injury? It rains on your head through a broken tile, or the wind penetrates your dwelling through a broken pane. Will you wait to seek after the roofers and the glazier until you have had a breaker of the tile or window arrested? You would find that absurd, would you not? It is, however, a very ordinary practice. Children indignantly cry, "I did not throw that object down, and I shall not pick it up." And the greater part of men reason in the same way. That is logical. But that is not the sort of logic that turns the world.

That which we should know, to the contrary, and which life repeats daily, is that the damage caused by some is repaired by others. Some destroy, others build; some soil, others clean; some stir up strife, others console; some live in iniquity, while others die for justice. And it is in the accomplishment of this dolorous law that safety lies. It is logic also, but of that logic of fact which causes the theories to grow pale. The conclusion is not a doubtful one. A man of simple heart draws his conclusion thus: Given the evil, the great thing is to repair it and to begin at once. So much the better if the malefactors will contribute to this reparation, but experience counsels us not to count too much upon their co-operation.

But, however simple duty is, one must still have the strength to accomplish it. This strength, in what does it consist, and where is it to be found? One could never weary of talking about it. Duty for a man is an enemy and an unfortunate one so long as it appears only as an outward solicitation. When it enters the door man flies out the window, and when it closes the windows man will escape by the roof. The better it is seen coming the easier it is to avoid it. It is like the gendarme, who represents public force, and official justice, who an adroit scamp always manages to avoid. Alas! if the gendarme does seize the fugitive, all he can do is to take him to the station and not always by the easiest road. That a man may accomplish his duty he must fall into the hands of another force than the one which urges: "Do this or that; avoid this or that; otherwise look out for your neck!" This "other force" is love.

a man hates his trade or occupation, or does it carelessly, all the powers of earth are unable to make him work with good will. But he who loves his business goes right on alone. Not only is it impossible to restrain him, but it would be impossible to turn him from it. It is that way with all. The great thing is to have felt that which is the holiest and most immortally beautiful in our obscure destiny. It is to have learned by a series of experiences to love this life for its pains and its hope, to love mankind for their miseries and their nobility, and to belong to humanity by heart, intelligence and compassion. Then an unknown force takes possession of us, as the wind takes possession of the sail of a ship, and waits us toward pity and justice. And, ceasing to be the feeble force of the breeze, we say: "I can do no differently, it is stronger than I."

In explaining himself thus man of all ages and of all centers designates a power that is higher than man, but which can live in the hearts of men. And all that is really noble and uplifted appears like a manifestation of this mystery which is beyond our power to understand. Great sentiments, like great thoughts, like great acts, are things of inspiration. When the tree grows green and gives its fruit it is because it draws from the soil its vital forces and receives from the sun light and warmth. If a man, in his humble sphere, amid inevitable faults and ignorance, consecrates himself sincerely to his task, it is that he is in contact with the eternal source of kindness. This central force manifests itself under a thousand diverse forms. Sometimes it is untamable energy, sometimes caressing tenderness, sometimes the spirit militant which attacks and destroys evil, sometimes maternal solitude which gathers by the side of a road where is often just some life crushed and forgotten, sometimes the humble patience of long searches. But all that it touches bears its signature, and the men who are animated by it feel that it is by it that we are and that we live. To serve it is their happiness and their recompense. It suffices them to be His instruments and they care nothing more for the dazzling exterior of their function in life, knowing well that nothing is great, nothing is small, but that their actions and our life are worth nothing only for the spirit that penetrates them.

HEALTH RULES.

Gentle, thorough hair-brushing should be indulged in twice a day.

If hair brushes be cleaned daily and the scalp massaged the hair and head will keep clean much longer.

If in addition to scalp massage we give our hair a soft rubbing with the palms of our hands it will be much more silky.

The eating of fruit which is neither green nor over ripe, combined with the drinking of plenty of pure water, is a good thing for anybody.

After disagreeable tasks the hands will not suffer if thoroughly cleaned (with acids if necessary), and then treated to cold cream and soft gloves.

Regularly in the taking of wholesome meals would do much toward improving one's health and complexion.

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, having "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burdette Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burdette of Canfield Center, N. Y., writes:

"About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured of my kidney trouble. I am a sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble."

THE SALISBURY WATER QUESTION.

The statement of the Salisbury Water Company on their part and that of Mayor Harper in behalf of the City have been given the public through the ADVERTISER. Both sides have been set forth. That Salisbury is not receiving adequate water service, cannot be denied, and we believe the Salisbury Water Company agree in this. The provision for necessary supplies have not been in proportion to the growth and extension of the city's needs. The Water Company, we understand, concedes this.

There is no need for debating this question any further in the press. The thing is to get together and unite on a mutual agreement by which—the Company now operating, receives just treatment—and the city has improved service in keeping with its increased requirements. There is nothing to be gained by controversy—only each to meet the other in a fair spirit and in the common interest. Salisbury wants good water, wants it pure and plenty of it, wherever needed.

RAILROADS AND WARS.

The awful disaster on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Harrisburg early Thursday morning, seemingly impossible, under the arrangement of present railroad systems to avert, furnishes one of the most appalling spectacles possible. It is difficult to realize that in the midst of peace and international quiet, so far as the United States is concerned, that the fatalities resulting from American railroad wrecks and mishaps equal very nearly year for year the annual deaths in the Civil War, with a record of wounded and maimed probably in excess.

Evidently there is something radically wrong in the conduct of American railroads. In Europe it is a rare thing to hear of loss of life on a train. The people travel there in almost as much safety as in immunity coaches. But on our roads what a vast difference! And the best managed ones not except, as Thursday's wreck on the Pennsylvania clearly evidences. To travel much now requires considerable nerve and assurance, while an accident policy often makes a very comfortable asset, in place of an often irreparable loss of some important member of the human body.

While the investigation of railroad rates is being agitated, there should be a thorough overhauling of the American railroad system. The public want to know why it is so dangerous to travel at home and so comparatively safe abroad. If it is the fast commercial age, and the due regard for human life sacrificed, regardless, then it is time for the elected representatives of the people to take a hand.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of Merrill E. Hastings, who departed this life May 14th, 1904.

In the grave yard, safely sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In the lonely, silent grave.

One year ago today dear Merrill,
One year ago today we had to drink the bitter cup,
And say farewell and leave you
In the grave yard so far away.

While our hearts were torn and bleeding we have the comforting assurance that afflictions though they seem severe, in mercy oft are sent. Sleep on, dearst Merrill, there is a mystery beyond the grave. Just why you should leave us so soon will be revealed to us some sweet day. Thou art gone to that City so holy and bright where no sorrow can reach and no gloom of affliction, and not a shadow of grief is there, where I shall know my loved ones, which have gone before and joyfully await the meeting here when over the river, the peaceful river, the angel of death shall carry me near the ones I watch and wait, hoping, awaiting even till I reach the Golden Gate, just beyond the river.

—Written by his mother.

The first annual meeting of the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis will be held at the New Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., Thursday and Friday, May 14th and 15th. MAYOR HARPER ANSWERS

The Statement of Salisbury Water Company Relative to Present Conditions And Other Questions Brought Up.

The Salisbury Water Company. Gentlemen:—The letter of May 8th, which you have seen fit to publish, purporting, among other things, to set forth the attitude of the Mayor and Council towards your Company, not only warrants, but in the public interest demands, that some of the statements therein made should not pass unnoted.

In the first place, if the public press have recently announced that the Mayor and Council "claim that the Salisbury Water Company has no Franchise," then, such announcement was entirely without warrant of authority. Equally mistaken is your assumption, or supposition, that there has been any disposition on the part of the Mayor and Council to question any rights of title which you may have acquired and possess either under Charter, or any Franchise, Ordinance or Contract, from by or with the Town of Salisbury through its Municipal authorities. On the contrary, soon after the fire at the E. S. Adams Company's mill in the fall of 1904, the Council directed its Clerk to request your officers to meet the Council at a meeting called for January 27th, 1905, for the special purpose of seeing what could be done either on the part of the Council or on that of your Company, to render the service of the Company more satisfactory; but this meeting neither of your officers nor any person representing the Company saw fit to attend. Whatever the reason therefore may have been, it is gratifying to learn that you now "will be very glad to confer with the Mayor and Council, concerning any matter that may render the service of the Company more satisfactory"; and I am sure the Council will be willing to meet you more than half way.

The citizens of Salisbury (of which the Mayor and Council are but the official representatives) have, and desire, no controversy (at any rate through the public press), respecting any Franchise, nor has the Council at any time done anything tending to prevent the investment of additional capital in your business, nor authorized the publication of anything to that effect. The complaint of our people is that you have not during these sixteen years of your operation kept pace with the requirements involved in the growth of the town, and their disposition would be rather to grant you such further rights as it is in their power to extend, which would facilitate the performance of your obligations to the community, than to try to restrain you therein.

The complaint of the citizens is, that you leave the Franchise you claim to have, unexercised. In brief, that notwithstanding the declared object named by you in your Charter was "for the purpose of providing apparatus, etc., for supplying the Town of Salisbury, or such part thereof as will receive and employ the same, with pure water," and although one of the conditions named in the Charter is "that said Company shall provide and furnish pure water for washing, cooking, cleaning and all other purposes for which supplies are usually furnished, and the said Company shall continue in operation for fifty years, unless dissolved by order or direction of the Court"; and although under the contract entered in September, 1892, (and under the assumed extension of which you have and to this day claim from the town $496 a year), you in effect agreed to adequately supply water to the fifteen fire hydrants for use of engine and hose in extinguishing fires; and, notwithstanding the experience acquired by the sixteen years of your operation it is charged among other things, as follows, viz:

First. That the mains and other pipes of your Company are so rusted and fouled on their inner surface that the water supplied through them to its patrons for domestic purposes is not pure water, or fit for such purposes.

Second. That said mains and pipes leading from them, or some of them, are so fouled and clogged as to prevent the proper and natural flow of water through them to the fire hydrants, thus rendering such hydrants partially, or wholly, unavailable for use in case of fire. That your attention has been repeatedly called to these facts, and the necessity of flushing said mains and pipes urged upon you, on behalf of the town by its authorized agents, and that you have hitherto refused and neglected, and still refuse and neglect to pay any attention to such notification and requests or to take any steps to remedy the same, so that, the said mains and pipes now are, and for many months have been, in the condition above described.

Third. That you refuse to extend your mains and pipes so as to supply the increased population residing on streets not now fully traversed by its mains, with pure water for domestic purposes, except on terms so exacting and unreasonable as to be practically prohibitory, whereby these residents are prevented from having the use of such water for domestic purposes.

Fourth. That you refuse to extend your hydrants which are rendered necessary by the extended area covered by the growth of the town during the last thirteen years.

While not presuming to speak for the Council I have stated briefly the position "with the thought of enabling everyone to see and judge for himself, just who has been benefited by the operations of the Salisbury Water Company." Respectfully,
Chas. E. Harper, Mayor,
Salisbury, Md., May 8, 1906.

THE FUTURE DAY.

It will be over fifty times as long as the Present Day.
A London magazine has taken pains to collect many of the facts concerning recent inventions and discoveries, and through them gives us an idea of what this world will be in future days. In the first place, the length of the day is to be materially greater. The authority for this is no less a person than Professor Darwin, son of the great naturalist and president of the British association. In course of time the present day will be prolonged to fifty-five days. It has been discovered that the days are gradually lengthening at relative rates which are calculable, though the absolute rates in time are unknown. The time is coming when the day will be equal in length to two present days, though the month will be probably as long as thirty-seven present days.

With the lengthening of the days there is to be a prolongation of the length of man's life. It has been shown that the proper application of acetic acid will considerably prolong life, and according to one authority this can also be accomplished by drinking sour milk. It appears that sour milk contains a friendly bacillus which, when introduced into the main intestine, benefits health.

There is said to be no doubt that the stature of man is increasing, and it is possible that the future race may be giants. In fact, Dr. Hatal, professor of neurology at the University of Chicago, claims to have discovered a wonderful food substance called lecithin, which will produce giants. It makes animals grow abnormally large. The professor tried the food upon white rats with the result that under unfavorable conditions they grew 60 per cent faster than ordinarily. It has a similar effect upon human beings, and the growth is normal and healthy.

Then there is the invention of Nikola Tesla, which will put newspapers out of business. This invention will transmit messages to the uttermost parts of the world. In order to attain this end Tesla is erecting a gigantic transmitting tower on Long Island. If the invention proves a success a man may stand in the midst of the Sahara and by means of an inexpensive little instrument which he carries in his pocket he may receive the news of New York.

At that future day artificial diamonds and rubies will be quite common. The diamond, which is made of pure carbon, is the cheapest substance in the world. And when the electric furnace is developed it is expected that diamonds and rubies will no longer be precious stones.

The future man will have no need of glasses to help his vision. Eye massage, which is gentle and gradual and causes no pain, will cure any defect of vision. The stomach and intestines will also be unnecessary, and it has been suggested that these organs will be removed by a surgical operation. Their place will be taken by a tube, into which prepared food will be dropped. Tablets of prepared, compressed and digested food will be used, and there will be no need to waste the amount of time necessary to obtain food nowadays.

There will be no need for watches, for there will be a clock at every street corner, illuminated at night. The city of Berlin has this system of timepieces in use already, and there are about 300 clocks scattered about the city—New York Herald.

They were in the company of four members of Pocomoke from this town, Oscar Morris, John Brittingham, B. W. Turner and Geo. Collins, when captured. The fated ones were Elmer H. Walton, B. Frank Kennerly, S. S. S. Hitch and Isaac L. Price. After passing through the ordeal of initiation, it took the two champion oarsmen from Salisbury, although one of them is of small stature, so long to do what they considered justice to the bountiful supply of corn and venison, provided by the reception committee, that the wee small hours of the morning had well advanced when the Modoc braves reached their private wigwams.

Travelers Club Give Royal Fete At Williams Court.

The event of Salisbury after Lenten Society was a unique and royal entertainment held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Williams last night. The invitations were models of artistic taste, with Holland flags and colors sealed by Wilhelmina. They read, "Wilhelmina, by the voice of the people, Queen of the Netherlands, to the distinguished representatives of the Travelers Club—greeting. We extend to our honored guests the freedom of our royal palace and gardens for a flower fete on the evening of Friday, May twelfth at eight o'clock. Witness yourself at our palace of Williams' Court this eighth day of May in the seventh year of our reign. Wilhelmina Regina."

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her.

213 South Prior Street, ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1905.

I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite. I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedy relief to reach my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should Be Answered

Easily By Salisbury People.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinion of your fellow citizens, or

people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing

in far-away places? Read the following:

Wm. M. Gordy, carpenter residing

corner of Ann and M. E. Church

streets, says: "I have had back ache

for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold

it settled in my kidneys and caused

my back to ache severely. I have been

so bad that I could scarcely step down

from one step to another, and when I

arose from a chair I could not straight-

en for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time

I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills adver-

tised and I got a box at White &

Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped

the attack from which I was suffering.

My son also took some of the pills and

received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50

cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo,

New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, Doan's and

take no other.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of

No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling

test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found

Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters

are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c. at all druggists.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?

Why suffer from rheumatism when

one application of Chamberlain's Pain

Balm will relieve the pain? The quick

relief which this liniment affords makes

rest and sleep possible, and that alone

is worth many times its cost. Many

who have used it hoping only for a short relief from suffering have been

happily surprised to find that after awhile the relief became permanent.

Mrs. V. H. Leggett of Yum Yum, Ten-

nessee, U. S. A., writes, "I am a great sufferer from rheumatism, all over

head to foot, and Chamberlain's Pain

Balm is the only thing that will relieve

the pain." For sale by All Dealers.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except

death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery

for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles.

Thousands can testify to that. Mrs.

C. B. Van Metre of Shepherdstown, W.

Va., says "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle

of Dr. King's New Discovery then

cured me absolutely." It is infallible

for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip,

Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it.

It is guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free. R-g size 50c, $1.00.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Very Best.

"I have been using Chamberlain's

Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever

taken," says Geo. L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no

question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time

than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in

Ocean City Pier May Become Reality Instead of Picture.

After previous futile attempts at last there is a prospect of building one of the biggest attractions that could be already added to the many improvements at Ocean City and that is a pier, extending several hundred feet out in the broad Atlantic Ocean. At Atlantic City they have nothing that pays a better dividend and furnishes the crowds more solid comfort during their stay. Mr. Lee Purnell is one of the prime movers and as much interested seemingly as anyone. A meeting was held at that point last Thursday which was well attended and much interest manifested fully recognizing the importance of contemplated structure. Just at what point the Pier should be built was left undecided at the meeting. Before adjourning the following officers were elected:

President—Christopher Ludlam, Ocean City.
Vice President—L. L. Dirickson, Jr., Berlin.
Treasurer—D. J. Adkins, Berlin.
Secretary—R. L. Purnell, Snow Hill.
Assistant Secretary—J. E. Ijams, Baltimore.

The board of directors elected to serve for the following year were: Capt. Willard Thomson, Baltimore; A. J. Benjamin, Salisbury; Christopher Ludlam, Ocean City; J. L. Johnson, Frederick; William T. Taber, Ocean City; Orlando Harrison, Berlin; L. L. Dirickson, Berlin; D. J. Adkins, Berlin; Calvin B. Taylor, Berlin; H. F. Harmonson, Berlin; J. E. Ijams, Baltimore; H. Elliott Waggonman, Washington, D. C.; Thomas M. Purnell, Snow Hill; R. L. Purnell, Snow Hill; Walter B. Miller, Salisbury; William Taylor, Ocean City; Thomas Cropper, Ocean City; Joseph Schaeffer, Ocean City.—Berlin Herald.

Mr. W. S. Gordy, Jr., who was engaged by the School Board to examine the records and accounts of the office has completed the audit and makes the following complimentary report:

"I beg to advise you that on the 15th Inst., I finished the examination of the accounts of your treasurer, Mr. H. Crawford Bounds, for the year from August 1, 1903, to July 31, 1904, and beg to say that I examined and proved each item of the receipts for the office, viz: State School tax, (four distributions.) Free School Fund, Academic Fund, Manual Training and Industrial Funds, Oyster and Liquor Licenses, County Levy and Free Book Fund, and found them properly accounted for. As to the disbursements, I find on file in perfect order an approved voucher for every cent paid out. The difference for which he is responsible, I find to his credit in bank. I find the books the offices in a very neat and legible condition and kept in a plain, business like manner, and I congratulate you upon having a man of Mr. Bounds' ability and character to carry on the affairs of the office."

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, we are the only one who have a large stock of vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is available for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST COMBINED HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LIVERYMEN, CARRIAGE, WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

After a long illness, about a year ago I felt able to regain my health, but four times of Peruna made a wonderful change and restored me to perfect health. As long as you keep your blood in a good condition you are all right, and Peruna seems to fill the veins with pure, healthy blood. I thoroughly endorse it."—Miss Helen Whitman.

How to Get Strong Nerves.

First, repair the injury already done to your nerves. The way to do this is to get exactly as did Mr. Hal. P. Denton, Chief Department Publicity and Promotion of National Export Exposition.

He writes: "Toward the latter part of August I found myself in a very much run-down condition. My family physician said I had nervous prostration and recommended a sea voyage. I had known in Ohio recommended Peruna. Though skeptical, I finally yielded to his advice. After using one bottle I was much improved and with the fifth bottle came complete recovery. I am in perfect health today and owe everything to Peruna."—Hal. P. Denton.

ANNUAL STATEMENT MADE ROYALTY ENTERTAINS.

By Mayor Harper To City Council. Reviews Many Improvements And Makes Further Recommendations In The Interest Of Salisbury.

Salisbury, Md., May 15, 1905. To the Honorable Council of Salisbury, Maryland.

Gentlemen:—In compliance with the charter of Salisbury and as its Mayor, I beg leave to submit an itemized report of the existing conditions, improvements and requirements of our progressive city, for your careful consideration. I most respectfully request your indulgence in executing the duties of my office to make a few suggestions and recommendations as they appear necessary to me, looking toward the advancement and improvement of our city, commercially and otherwise.

Our city has reached such proportions in size and commercialism that responsible duties devolve upon its Council and I take pleasure in congratulating you upon the efficient manner in which you all have met the duties of the past year, and the careful and painstaking way in which you have performed them.

The number of miles of streets in our city are constantly increasing and the expense and burden of maintaining them has increased correspondingly, but by your efficient work and economy you have kept the streets in fair condition amid the scarcity of shells and increased cost of material for repairing the same, without a great degree of financial embarrassment to our treasury. It will be necessary to increase our revenue correspondingly with the increase of the mileage of our streets and cost of material for same, some way or other. The manner of increase in revenue I leave to your careful consideration. These things are necessary because several important streets in town which need material of some kind upon them have not been shelled because of expensive material and lack of necessary funds for this purpose. I consider the step taken by your Honorable Body in paying with vitrified brick our principal thoroughfares, one in the proper direction and the initial cost being a little high will, in the end, prove a great saving to the town. Public improvements of this kind should meet with the approval of the public generally as it not only enhances the value of the adjoining property but speaks well for the

Her Majesty The Queen Of Holland Holds Brilliant Affair At William's Court. Novelty, Art And Genius Are Handmaidens.

"Wilhelmina by the voice of the people, Queen of the Netherlands to the distinguished representatives of the Travelers' Club greeting.

We extend to our honored guests the freedom of our royal palace and gardens for a flower fete on the evening of May twelfth at eight o'clock. Witness yourself at our place of William's Court this eighth day of May in the eleventh year of our reign. Wilhelmina Regina."

In response to this royal command the guests who crossed the threshold of the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Williams on Friday evening, May 12th, were waited swiftly on the good ship, "Magic," owned by the Travelers' Club to the shores of Holland and to the very gates of the palace of William's Court. Here in honor of her illustrious guests the Queen, Miss Mary Houston, clad in her coronation robes sat in royal state surrounded by the princely scions of the reigning houses of Europe. On the right of the throne stood the royal consort, Prince Henry, Mr. L. E. Williams, so gallant in bearing and charming in manner "a prince in the realm, but a king in the home," while on the left clustered a dazzling array of fair women and brave men glittering with the badge and insignia of their rank. Among them were the lord high chancellor of the realm, Mr. Leonard Wailes, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Mr. G. Vickers White and Miss Nell Lisle, The Crown Princess of Germany, Miss Mary Lee White; The Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, Mr. Walter B. Miller; The Prince and Princess of Wales, Mr. Walter Humphreys and Miss Victoria Wailes; the infanta, Isabella of Spain, Miss Graham and the train bearer of her majesty; the little Princess of Saxe-Weimar, Miss Frances Williams; Deep in the heart of the most loyal Republican lurks are of "the divinity that doth hedge a king," and many of the bravest quailed before the first gorgeous display of the trappings of royalty vested in the person of the herald, Mr. J. Cleveland White.

The first in honor and precedence to be presented were Ex-President, Grover Cleveland, Judge Holland and the distinguished President of the Travelers' Club, Mrs. L. E. Williams, followed by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Graham, and Mrs. Chadwick, Miss Ellogood, who with her characteristic lavishness had borne all the expense of the trip. The next name announced was one familiar on both sides of the Atlantic, the Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan, so heartily represented by his namesake and proxy, Dr. William Smith, and supported during his approach to royalty by the gentle firmness of Miss Susan B. Anthony, Miss Wailes. The "first young lady of the land," Miss Alice Roosevelt, Miss Gunby, who had refused to be present at King Edward's coronation could not resist the allurements of Queen Wilhelmina's court, and it was a test of her influence that she was followed to the very steps of the throne by her train of timid editors. The last to be represented were some old friends of the club, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hobbs and their daughter Araminta, Mr. Gordy, Miss Powell, and Miss Reigart, who in their quaint linen traveling coats, and hats of a by gone day made a striking picture in this gorgeous splendor. The Queen now rising proclaimed these words of welcome to her distinguished guests—

Honored guests and travelers—Our royal hand Welcomes you to the Netherlands. Our court, its pleasure doth express At greeting such illustriousness. Your nations chief, though of Dutch descent We honor no more than the president Of the Travelers Club of Maryland, Tourers of Europe and Africa and Who in Asia climbed the Chinese wall.

Cross many a league of treacherous sea To anchor in the Zander Zee. Our Kingdom small, with pride doth glow, That you should seek its meadows low, Its dikes built up so strong and stout, Galant Neptune's forces warring without Its wind-mills waving ghostly arms, Beckoning sailors home from storms.

Its wandering streams and fields of flowers, Ocean's graves made into bowers Of daisy, violet, lily, rose And ferns, where the gay bright tulip grows, These in our garden bloom to-day, So in this merry month of May Come stroll with us mid blossoms fair, And pluck whatever you find there.

Descending from the throne amid the blare of trumpets the royal pair followed by the members of the court led the way to the flower gardens in the midst of which rose the May pole decorated with the colors of Holland and hung with cards on which were painted the national emblems in compliment to the Queen, the guests sang in chorus

Now we go a-marching round the May-pole And here's to Wilhelmina.

And all, we rally to her Royal Highness

So choose your partners all, adapted to one of America's familiar airs. The party now broke up in groups of six to indulge in the national game of Tullips played with beautifully painted flower cards, and such is the charm of this wonderful flower of the Netherlands that no one was ever willing to leave the Tulip bed. The largest bouquets were gathered by Mrs. Henry Freeny and Mr. Edgar Laws, who received from the hands of her Majesty a plaque and stein as mementoes of their evening in Holland. A charming bit of the life of the province was furnished by four fair maids, Mrs. Toadvine, Misses Todd, Johnson and Wailes, who in their picturesque garb looked like brightly colored pictures as they moved among the guests serving flower cards, cakes, nuts and bonbons. The hour had come to embark on the homeward voyage and with many assurances of fond recollections the friends and members of the Travelers Club bade farewell to Williams Court singing as they sailed

Then here's farewell to Williams Court, Long may it proudly stand, And now we'll all go back again To dear old Maryland.

To dear old Maryland.

Considerable Loss Wrought In And Near Salisbury By Storm.

The small tornado which struck Salisbury Monday afternoon was one of the severest of recent years. At the electric Light Company's Plant a large section of the iron roof was torn off and carried about 100 feet up Isabella Street.

The lines of the company in the northern section of the town were badly damaged, causing a loss of $300 to $500.

The roof of J. H. Tomlinson's canning factory near the B. C. & A. Railway Station, was lifted bodily and blown 150 yards away.

A huge poplar tree in the rear yard at J. E. Ball's was uprooted and fell upon the roof of Mr. Stansbury Dykes' summer kitchen, crushing it in while limbs of the tree pierced the kitchen floor. The family had but a few minutes before left the kitchen.

Three or four large trees were prostrated at "The Oaks," the home of ex-Governor E. E. Jackson.

The lines of the Diamond State Telephone Company and Postal and Western Union Telegraph Companies, were blocked by falling trees. The service was crippled for several hours.

The wind played havoc on the farm of Congressman W. H. Jackson in Rockaway. One wing of his large cattle barn was twisted on its foundations several inches, and the roof and second story of the opposite wing were completely demolished. The damage will amount to hundreds of dollars.

Six or seven large poplars, inside and fronting Parsons Cemetery, and measuring about two feet at bottom of trunk, were uprooted and those fronting the Cemetery were blown across the road, blocking travel until Street Commissioner Kennerly's force apparently cleaned away the debris.

Fifteen poplar trees, averaging a foot or more at the base of trunk, were blown down on this side of the section known as "Jersey." They were standing along Delaware Avenue, just across the B. C. & A. track, and were all inside of a stretch of about 200 yards. Several of the trees comparatively close to these also met the same fate.

Trees at the homes of Messrs. H. B. Freeny, S. King White and J. L. Powell were blown down.

What Does It Mean to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement, on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give.

Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policyholders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co.

contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should Be Answered
Easily By Salisbury People.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinion of your fellow citizens, or people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

Wm. M. Gordy, carpenter residing corner of Ann and M. E. Church
streets, says: "I have had back ache
for several years, was sore in the morning when I got up and if I caught cold
it settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. I have been so bad that I could scarcely step down
from one step to another, and when I arose from a chair I could not straighten for some time. I was having considerable pain in my back at the time
I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store. They acted directly on my kidneys and soon stopped
the attack from which I was suffering.
My son also took some of the pills and
received good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Millburn Co., Buffalo,

States.

Remember the name, Doan's and
take no other.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of
No. Mehoopans, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c. at all druggists.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?

Why suffer from rheumatism when
one application of Chamberlain's Pain
Balm will relieve the pain? The quick relief which this liniment affords makes
rest and sleep possible, and that alone
is worth many times its cost. Many who have used it hoping only for a short relief from suffering have been happily surprised to find that after several applications the relief became permanent.
Mrs. V. H. Leggett of Yum Yum, Tennessee, U. S. A., writes, "I am a great sufferer from rheumatism, all over head to foot, and Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only thing that will relieve the pain." For sale by All Dealers.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except
death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery
for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles.
Thousands can testify to that. Mrs.
C. B. Van Metre of Shepherdstown, W.
Va., says "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle
of Dr. King's New Discovery then
cured me absolutely." It is infallible
for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip,
Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it.
It is guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free. R-g size 50c, $1.00.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Very Best.

"I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says Geo. L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated.
For sale by All Dealers.

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. C. B. Wainwright of Lezon City, Fla., has written the manufacturers
that much better results are obtained
from the use of Chamberlain's Colic,
Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases
of pains in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale by All Dealers.

A Good Family Liniment.

Every family should be supplied with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm.
For cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and
similar injuries, which are of frequent occurrence, there is nothing so good.
It soothes the wound and not only gives instant relief from pain, but causes the parts to heal in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment. As it is an antiseptic all danger from blood poisoning is avoided.
Sold by All Dealers.

Quick Arrest.

inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c. at all

Letter to James Price.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: Two years ago the estate of the late Congressman Scott, of Erie, Pa., painted 24 Rolling Mill houses one coat Devco at a saving of 11 per cent for paint (lead-and-oil was after the job.)

That's how the tale reads. We infer what really happened.
The buyer, as usual, went by the cost of paint; not bids. Lead-and-oil bid low and guessed the quantity low;
the saving was only 11 per cent.

Nobody seems to have thought of this: the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint. How much did we save on the painting?
Don't know.

The tale ends with this: We often refer to inquirers to those houses, for wear of Devco.

That's a good enough story; but nobody knows what it is. Our only difficulty is want of paint intelligence.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devco & Co.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women--Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

Mrs. J. G. Holmes Emma Cotrely

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.
Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once relieves such troubles.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I connued taking the Compound I suffered everything with backache, headaches, menstrual and ovarian troubles. I am completely cured and enjoy the best of health, and I owe it all to you."

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegemuch suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong.

My backache and headachess are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full testimonials.

MELSON

A tenant house of Mr. B. S. Figg, occupied by Hubert Hastings, was struck last Sunday afternoon by the lightning and the fue was completely demolished. The table which had been set for supper, was turned upside down, breaking all the dishes. In the adjoining room, where the most damage was done, an infant was lying on the bed, but was strangely unharmed. A can containing a half gallon of coal oil, which was in the kitchen closet, was fired by the lightning and would have destroyed the building but for the fact that Mr. Hastings seized a bucket of water close at hand and threw upon it.

One side of Mr. Figg's barn was torn out by the high wind on Monday afternoon.

The Junior Order of American Mechanics, of Pittsville, Parsonsburg and Delmar, will meet in the Melson M. E. Church next Sunday afternoon and the pastor of that church, Rev. George Hardesty, will deliver a sermon to the Order.

Wilmington Conference Epworth League Convention To Denver.

Rev. Vanglin S. Collins, Secretary of the Fourth General Conference District League, has made arrangements to take a personally conducted party to the great International Epworth League Convention, to be held in Denver, Col., July 3-9.

Mr. Collins is well known to the Epworthians of the Peninsula, having served as president of the Conference League, and held the same office for several terms in the Second and Sixth General Conference Districts.

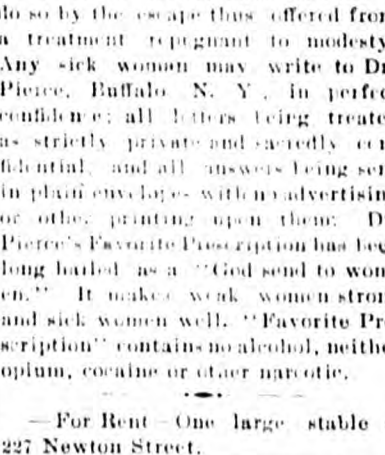

The party will go via Pennsylvania Railroad on a special Pullman train, leaving Broad Street Station July 3, 10:25 A. M., and arrive Denver 12:30 P. M. July 5.

This will be the only Wilmington Conference party, as that planned by Rev. R. K. Stephenson has been merged with this, and Rev. and Mrs. Stephenson will be members of Mr. Collins' party.

The Watchword of Women.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and carefully confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes without advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a "God send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, (handling capacity 600 head and continuously receiving consignments from the breeders all over America.) It is only one branch of this immense business. We carry in stock 100 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST COMBINED HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LAVERIES, CARRIAGE WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is nothing in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scaling pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Some accuse politicians or mill-owners for the social ills of the day. One has but an embarrassment of choice when one begins to tell the rosary of our great evils. Go then afterward and amuse yourself. There is too much pepper in our soup, for us to eat it with pleasure. We have our arms full of stuff of all sorts, any one of which would suffice to spoil our humor. From morning to night you will meet people in a hurry, worried and preoccupied. These have left all their good blood in the vicious conflicts of a morose political movement. Those men have lost heart from the vile proceedings, the jealousies they have met with in the world of literature and art. Commercial oppositions also trouble many shunters, progressists and other men, who are the carriers too much encumbered upon the life of the young men; the working class suffers the consequences of an industrial struggle without intermission. It becomes disagreeable to command because the prestige is gone; to teach, because respect has diminished; to converse, one looks there are history represents certain troubled epochs which lacked in idyllic tranquility as much as ours and the gravest events did not hinder from knowing gaiety. It seems even that the gravity of the times, the insecurity of the morrow and the violence of the social commotion become the occasion of a new source of vitality. It is not rare to see soldiers sing between two battles, and I do not think I deceive myself in saying that human joy has celebrated some of its grandest triumphs, in the hardest times, and in the midst of obstacles. But, to sleep peacefully before the battle or to sing in the whirlwind which we today perhaps have not got joy in not in objects, it is in us. And I persist in believing that the causes of our present discomfort, of that contagious bad humor which invades us, are in us at least as much as in external circumstances.

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

[Copyright 1904 by J. S. Ogilvie Pub. Co.
(New York.)]

President Roosevelt says to the author of it
"I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

CHAPTER VII.
THE SIMPLE PLEASURE.

Do you find these times amusing? I find them rather more so, myself. I fear that my impression may be altogether personal. To see my contemporaries live, to hear them talk, to feel myself unapparently confirmed in the sentiment that they do not amuse themselves very much. It is not, however, the fault of not having tried, but it must be admitted that they have had but a mediocre success. Now, how does that happen?

Some accuse politicians or mill-owners for the social ills of the day. One has but an embarrassment of choice when one begins to tell the rosary of our great evils. Go then afterward and amuse yourself. There is too much pepper in our soup, for us to eat it with pleasure. We have our arms full of stuff of all sorts, any one of which would suffice to spoil our humor. From morning to night you will meet people in a hurry, worried and preoccupied. These have left all their good blood in the vicious conflicts of a morose political movement. Those men have lost heart from the vile proceedings, the jealousies they have met with in the world of literature and art. Commercial oppositions also trouble many shunters, progressists and other men, who are the carriers too much encumbered upon the life of the young men; the working class suffers the consequences of an industrial struggle without intermission. It becomes disagreeable to command because the prestige is gone; to teach, because respect has diminished; to converse, one looks there are history represents certain troubled epochs which lacked in idyllic tranquility as much as ours and the gravest events did not hinder from knowing gaiety. It seems even that the gravity of the times, the insecurity of the morrow and the violence of the social commotion become the occasion of a new source of vitality. It is not rare to see soldiers sing between two battles, and I do not think I deceive myself in saying that human joy has celebrated some of its grandest triumphs, in the hardest times, and in the midst of obstacles. But, to sleep peacefully before the battle or to sing in the whirlwind which we today perhaps have not got joy in not in objects, it is in us. And I persist in believing that the causes of our present discomfort, of that contagious bad humor which invades us, are in us at least as much as in external circumstances.

To amuse oneself with a free heart one must feel himself on a solid base; he must believe in life and possess it in himself. Many men, alas! even among the young ones, are to-day disgruntled with life and I do not speak of the philosophers only. How can you expect them to amuse themselves when they have that hidden thought that it had perhaps been better after all, that nothing had ever existed? We observe, aside from that, in the vital forces of these times, a disquieting depression which we must attribute to the abuse that man has made of his sensations. Too many excesses of all kinds have warped our senses and altered our faculty for being happy. Nature succumbs beneath the eccentricities with which they have afflicted her. Profoundly stricken in its very roots, the will to live, in spite of all persisting, seeks to satisfy itself by fictitious means. In the medical proof of what I advance, one very easy to gather, is found in the fact that everywhere that one meets a simple and healthy life, authentic pleasure is its accompaniment, like the perfume of natural flowers. This life may have been difficult, shackled, deprived of what we generally consider as the very conditions of pleasure, but one sees flourish there that rare and delicate plant—joy. It pierces between two paving stones, a crevice in a wall, or in a fissure in a rock. One asks oneself how or from whence it came. But it lives, while in the warm conservatories, with enriched soil, you cultivate it with its weight in gold only to see it wither and die in your hands.

Ask the actors of the theatre what public amuses itself the most with comedy, and they will tell you the great mass of people. The reason is not difficult to understand. For that class, comedy is an exception. It is not saturated with it by having had too much of it. And it is, besides, rest from its rude fatigues. The pleasure it finds in it has been honestly earned, and it knows the price of the little pennies earned by the sweat of the brow, and, moreover, it has not frequented the green-rooms, and has not been mingled with the intrigues of the artist; it does not know any of the illusions, and believes in it all. By all these means it enjoys an unmixed pleasure. I see the base skeptic from here, with his eyelids shining, in that box, throwing a disdainful look at the laughing crowd: "Poor people, idiots, ignorant and clownish."

And yet it is they who are the really living beings, while he is an artificial being, a manikin, incapable of feeling that fine and healthful intoxication of an hour of frank pleasure.

Unfortunately, the unaffected artlessness is disappearing even from the popular places. We see the people of the cities, and those of the country people later, break away from the good old traditions. The mind, perverted by alcohol, the passion for play, and unhealthy literature, contracts, little by little, unhealthy tastes. The fictitious life forces its way into these centers formerly simple, and at once it is like the phylloxera which destroys the vines. The robust tree, the joy of the rustic, feels its sap cease to flow and its leaves dye themselves with yellow. Compare one of those out-door fetes of the good old style with one of the village festivals so-called, modernized. On the one hand, in the respected frame of secular customs solid countrymen sang their songs of the country, danced the country dances, drank their native drinks, and seemed to completely enjoy themselves. They amused themselves like the blacksmith at his forge, as the cascade falls, as the colts bound in the meadow. It is contagious, and wins your heart. In spite of oneself one says: "Bravo! children; that is just right." We would ask you to be of the party.

On the other hand, I see villagers disguised in "citizens," peasants rendered ugly by the dressmakers, and as a principal ornament of the festival a gathering of degenerates, who hawl concert-hall songs; and, sometimes, holding the place of honor, a few strolling actors of the tenth class come for the occasion, to smooth off the rough points of these rural, and to permit them to taste of refined pleasures. For drinks, liquors based on alcohol made from potatoes, or absinthe. There is no originality or picturesqueness in all of it. Of gay abandon, perhaps, and vulgarity, but not that abandonment which brings innocent pleasure.

This question of pleasure is a capital one. The most sedate persons neglect it in general as a futile, the utilitarians as a costly superfluity. Those whom we designate men of pleasure lay waste so delicate a domain, like wild hogs in a garden. They do not seem to understand in the least degree the immense human interest which is attached to joy. It is a sacred flame which must be nourished, and which throws a dazzling light over life. He who determines to entertain it accomplishes a work as profitable to humanity as he who builds bridges, pierces tunnels, or cultivates the ground. To conduct oneself in such a way, that one maintains in himself, in the midst of his labors and the troubles of life, the faculty of being happy and that he may, like a sort of salutary contagion, propagate happiness among his fellow-beings, is to do a work of solidarity in the noblest signification of the term. To give a little pleasure, to smooth the careworn brow, throw a little light on dark paths, what a divine rapture in the plan of this poor humanity. But it is only by a great simplicity of heart that one can succeed in filling it.

We are not simple enough to be happy and to make others so. We lack kindness and self-forgetfulness. We spread joy as we spread consolation, by such processes as give but negative results. To console someone what do we do? We insist upon denying his sufferings, to dispute them, and in persuading him that he is mistaken in believing himself unfortunate. At bottom, our language translated in truthful words, would be reduced to this:

"You suffer, friend? That is strange you must be mistaken, for I do not feel anything."

The only human means of solace to a suffering being is to partake of it in one's heart. What would an unhappy man feel consoling after this fashion? To divert our neighbor, and cause him to pass an agreeable moment, we take it to ourselves in the same way. We invite him to admire our wit, to laugh at our jokes, to frequent our house, to sit at our table, and everywhere glorify our desire to show off. Sometimes also we, with a protecting liberality, over him the aims of an amusement of our own choosing. At least let us not invite him to amuse himself with us, as we invite one to a game of cards, with the inward intention of exploiting it to our own profit.

Do you think that the greatest pleasure for others is to admit us to recognize our superiority, or to serve us as an instrument? Is there in this world an annoyance comparable to that of feeling that we have been exploited, protected or enrolled in a clique? To give pleasure to others, and to have it oneself, we must begin by setting aside the I which is so hateful, and to hold it enchained during all these diversions. There is no greater joy than that. Be good fellows, amiable, benevolent, hide our medals, our decorations, our titles, and put ourselves at the disposal of others with all our hearts.

Let us live sometimes to make others smile, even if for but an hour, forgetting all things else. The sacrifice is but apparent; for no one amuses himself better than those who know how to give themselves simply to procure a little happiness and forgetfulness for those around them.

Best Meat Producing Fowls.
The Andalusians, Brahmas, Cochins and Langshans are the great meat-producing fowls and it is astonishing how well many of these can do at egg-producing.

It is heartless and expensive; nay, positively wasteful, to kill off a colony of bees for the colonies they have made.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Cures Kidney and Bladder Diseases in Every Form—Many People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter and purify the blood which is constantly passing through them.

When the kidneys are out of order the other organs are affected immediately and you may have symptoms of heart trouble, stomach and liver trouble, and other ailments, which are all owing to the kidneys being weak and out of order.

If you are sick Foley's Kidney Cure will strengthen and build up the worn out tissues of the kidneys so they will act properly and the symptoms of weakness, heart, stomach and liver trouble will disappear and you will be restored to perfect health.

How to Tell if You Have Kidney Trouble.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at once.

Foley's Kidney Cure is pleasant to take and acts directly upon the parts affected and you begin to feel better at once.

It corrects slight disorders in a few days and it has cured many obstinate cases after other treatment had failed.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Frey, of Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well."

STARTLING DINNERS.

Two Carat Diamonds Among the Costly Souvenirs Given Away.

In no place in the world is the souvenir so firmly established as in the United States, where it is now considered indispensable at dinner parties, balls, weddings, christenings and, in fact, any function of a social nature given in celebration of some interesting personal event.

One of the most startling entertainments ever given in honor of a young girl took place at Atlantic City not long ago when Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zell gave a dinner in celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of the youngest daughter's birthday. While the decorations and the birthday cake were marvels of beauty, the chief attraction consisted of a fine two carat diamond which was dropped into each glass reserved for the champagne. Over each glass a tiny rosebud was placed, and upon this the wine was poured into the glass. Not until the last toast had been drunk to the young lady's health were the diamonds lifted from the champagne glasses, and the guests were asked to retain them in remembrance of the happy occasion.

Four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Crantz of Pittsburgh celebrated their diamond wedding by giving a dinner to twenty of their friends. The occasion was marked by much costly expenditure, the souvenirs taking the form of diamond pins for the gentlemen and bracelets for the ladies. These costly gifts were placed beside the plate of each guest, resting on miniature beds of blue velvet, and the violets and maidenhair fern. Just prior to the arrival of the "star" guest rose and proposed the health of the couple whose diamond wedding they were celebrating and referred to the interesting fact that the combined ages of Mr. and Mrs. Crantz totaled up to 100 years.

After the toast had been drunk Mrs. Crantz rose and proceeded to fasten the pins in the lapsels of the gentlemen's dress coats, while Mr. Crantz clasped the bracelets round the arms of his guests.

Perhaps the most interesting souvenirs ever given away were those distributed at a dinner last March inaugurated by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in honor of Thomas Alva Edison. These souvenirs consisted of small ivory boxes bearing a Grecian figure holding aloft a light and inscribed "The Genius of the Lamp." This was a copy of the famous statue in Mr. Edison's laboratory at Orange, which typifies the triumph of electricity and which Mr. Edison bought some years ago at the Paris exhibition.

Between the ivory boxes there were also beautiful pins made in the miniature of an incandescent lamp, the bulb being formed by a single pearl. These latter, however, were given to the ladies only. The menus also formed interesting souvenirs, for they bore on the outside the picture of a bronze bust of Edison, while below was an autograph signature of the "Wizard."

Another interesting feature of this remarkable dinner was the procession of waiters bearing the leas, each one of which was contained in a model of an Edison invention—motors, phonographs, switchboards, automobiles, incandescent apparatus, etc. The leas themselves were in the form and size of incandescent bulbs. Are the Stars Our Future Dwellings?

Are the planets inhabited? Camille Flammarion, author of "The Unknown," pursues this inquiry in Harper's with a decided bias toward the affirmative. M. Flammarion is inclined to regard the other planets as the "dwellings of immortality." He asks: "If man dies out completely how can the immensity of the universe be a true life? If nothing remains of us, if we are only ephemeral mushrooms of the globe, living for a short time, how does it all concern us? Science is only a mockery like life itself; yes, a stupid and burlesque farce."

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color

Reverend of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1628 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.: Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope.

I could not bear to think of an operation, and my distress increased every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so sick women desired to take it. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only natural to keep it up, but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am thankful for my recovery, but I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, for other women may know of the wonderful curative power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Health is too valuable to risk in experiments with unknown and untried medicines or methods of treatment. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

BEGGARS IN INDIA.

They Are Fast Disappearing—Only About Five Million Left.

The beggar nuisance is a very common one in India, and the endeavors of the police in the large cities to put it down have met with only a limited measure of success. This is no doubt due to the fact that Indian opinion is remarkably tolerant toward sturdy beggars, especially if they wear the guise of religion. But there is reason to believe that a wholesale change is coming over the public sentiment in this as in so many other matters. There were about 5,000,000 beggars in the country at the time of the last census, and nearly one-fifth of the number was classed as religious mendicants. The large size of this class is represented by a decrease of about 50 per cent from that at the previous census, and the decline has been attributed in part to the comparatively heavy mortality among them during the famine years. But, says the report, "it is also partly attributable to the spread of education and the consequent weaker hold which the so-called ascetics have on the imagination of the people." It being much less easy than it was formerly for the members of the various begging communities to impose the purse-strings of the people.

There is, happily, reason to believe that the changed feeling among the educated classes is filtering down to the lower levels. This evil is not confined to one particular community or religion. It is as rampant among the Mohammedans as among the Hindus. The Star Jaddi, an ably conducted vernacular paper, published in upper India, dealing with questions of social reform among Mohammedans, has been formerly calling the attention of its correspondents to the necessity of a reform in their notions of charity. Our contemporary shows by a reference to the Police Gazette that the number of Mohammedan beggars under surveillance has been rising every week. It cites instances from the records of the criminal courts to prove that some of the men who pass for religious teachers have been convicted on charges of fraud and immorality committed on the property and persons of men and women who had been misled by their religious appearance. Times of India.

Final Repentance.

Speaking of crime, a very interesting story recently in the numerous evidences of the intimate connection of most crime with poverty and "not getting a chance." The Rev. A. H. Simpson, vicar of Hogate, near Midhurst, recently received a letter from Australia asking him to make inquiries in his parish for a man who lost a waistcoat and watch some forty-five years ago. The inquiries resulted in the clear discovery of a man named Ayling of Durlingham, who about the time mentioned left his waistcoat on the side of the road while at work and found later on that it had been stolen. The name and address of this person were sent to the inquiry in Australia. By return mail came a draft for £10, with an explanation. The sender had stolen the waistcoat when passing through the village, and the few shillings found in the pockets, together with the proceeds of the sale of the watch, had served to give him a fresh start in life. He is now a wealthy man and wished to make some recompense. London News.

Thought Everybody Saw Double.

A remarkable story can be verified by a well known oculist in Kansas City. In one of the counties of western Kansas is a gentleman who has grown wealthy. His wife, a charming woman, of some forty years, recently began to have severe headaches. A local physician decided that the trouble was with her eyes. The family could not believe it, as she had very keen sight from both far and near. However, the husband took her to an oculist in Kansas City for expert examination. In the course of the examination the professional man held up a candle and asked her what she saw. "I see the two lights," she answered calmly. "Two?" exclaimed the surprised oculist. "Have you always seen two of me when you looked at me?" "Why, certainly, dear," was the answer. "Don't you always see two of me?"

And then came the revelation that this educated, intelligent woman had never known in all her forty years of life that everybody didn't see double. She had accepted her own condition as a matter of course. It instantly accounted to the husband for little definite movements which he had frequently observed in the wife when she was reaching for an object, and it had been a matter of great astonishment to the woman when by an adjustment of glasses and through treatment she began to see as other people do. The Lesson of the Brook.

The girl from Dakota was spending the spring months in a rural city in New England. She had never been east before and was exceedingly enthusiastic over the delights of the New England farm and woodland and especially in expressing her joy in a little brook that ran through the farm. "Do you know," she said, when her hostess protested against so much enthusiasm, "do you know, I never saw a real brook before. I used to read Tenison's 'Brook' and think it rather foolish and meaningless. I never saw a brook rush and gurgle and dash and sparkle and prattle until I came into this part of the country. Where I live the so-called brooks are merely sluggish, thick, muddy streams, with nothing picturesque about them. I'm reading that poem all through again now, and I am appreciating it for the first time." New York Times.

Miss Tennant's Reply.

The death of Henry M. Stanley recalls many anecdotes not only of the great explorer, but of his beautiful widow, who was Miss Dorothy Tennant. She and her sister were brought into some unenviable notoriety by E. F. Benson's "Dodo," which one of them is said to have inspired. While the novel was the rage the author wrote to Miss Tennant: "Dear Miss Tennant—The whole world is talking about you and about my book. When may I call?" For reply he was told: "Dear Mr. Benson—Have you really written a book? How sweet of you! Call any time." But she was never at home.

HYDROPHOBIA.

A Cure For It May Perhaps Be Found in Strychnine.

Some time ago I was told of a remedy for hydrophobia which was used by the natives in this part of China. It was said to be a secret in the sole possession of one family whose ancestral home is in Tungchowfu, in the province of Shantung, and had been passed down from mother to daughter for the last 400 years. The last possessor of the secret had no daughters and revealed it to her youngest son, who now lives in Weihsaiwei. The remedy was said to consist of a powder made from a certain hard nut grown in the province, which was softened by boiling in an earthenware pot, no kind of metal being allowed to touch it, then grated on the outside of the basin and reduced to a pulp, which was dried and put up in packets for future use or at once administered to the sufferer, who, if necessary, was tied down and the remedy forced down his throat. The patient was said to fall into a deep sleep, in which he sweated profusely and awoke cured. No money was taken in payment, the possessor of the secret trusting to gain merit in the next world after death.

I was assured that cures were authentic. My informant, a Scotch lady who had lived many years in China, had a Chinese servant who was bitten by a mad dog and was treated as recovered. A woman bitten at the same time, not treated, died with all the symptoms of hydrophobia. My friend, at my request, very kindly managed to procure me an interview with the owner of the secret, who brought me his basin and three powders and three nuts. I was astonished to find that they were the seeds of a species of strychnos, probably strychnos nuxvomica. The coarsely ground fibrous powder gave the taste as far as I was able to carry them out, for strychnine. Each nut was about five-eighths of an inch across and weighed nineteen grains, fifteen and sixteen grains respectively. It would be interesting to know what the exact dose of the alk loid in each powder is.

I can find no account of the treatment of hydrophobia by strychnine in the books at my disposal unless we except curara, which was at one time used as a remedy in the terrible disease. A species of strychnos is said to be a potent element in its composition. The narcotic and sudorific properties spoken of above seem also to be unknown at the present time; yet, curiously enough, the writer of the article "Nux Vomica" in Chambers' Cyclopaedia of the year 1786, the four volumes of which I possess, lays greater stress on these than he does on its poisonous properties. He states that "they are of a strong narcotic quality, so as to be ranked in the number of poisons." I have consulted several authorities in China, and, though the drug certainly finds a place among native medicines, I can find no reference to its use in this disease or that it is at all used by native practitioners, at least in this part of China. Some of the symptoms of hydrophobia bear a certain resemblance to those of poisoning by strychnine, and it would therefore almost appear as though the principle of similar similia remedia has been applied by the Chinese in this case. There is no doubt that in regard to other remedies they have a firm belief in this doctrine. Fleet Surgeon V. G. Thorpe in London Lancet.

Prosperity of California Jews.

In the great towns of California the Jews lead. Much of the wealth of San Francisco is owned by Jews, and the names of the race may be seen on every important thoroughfare in that city. The choicest residence district of Los Angeles is almost entirely owned by the Hebrews. In the midst of which they have their beautiful synagogues, well supported and attended by the principal Hebrew families. Looking at the names on one principal thoroughfare it would seem as if the entire street were controlled by the chosen people.

The Hebrew controls the new American ostrich feather industry, one of the bonanzas of California. The California wool business is almost entirely in the hands of Jews. The principal meat packing houses are under the control of Hebrews. The petroleum in southern California last year amounted to $12,500,000. Many of the leading oil brokers are Jews who have reaped a rich harvest in the last few years in this fortunate speculation. The largest wholesale saddlery, grocery and tobacco firms of Los Angeles are owned by Jews, as they are also in San Francisco. The clothing trade, the tobacco trade, the clothing trade and very much of the wholesale drug trade. Fifty million dollars capital reposes in the banks of Los Angeles, and the largest and most influential of these banks are controlled by Hebrews.—Menorah.

Organ of the Menomonee.

At Mcford, Okla., there has recently been established a first class printing plant to publish an organ of the Menomonees. The Zion-Babe, as the paper is called, is the recognized organ of the Menomonee church of the world, and much of its circulation is in Europe among those who profess this religion. It is a tie between the members of this church in the old world and those who have come to this country to better their condition. For some three years the paper has been published on the farm of the Rev. J. F. Harris, its editor, north of Mcford, where it was brought from Kansas when he purchased the farm.—Kansas City Journal.

Parents and Teachers.

In the present stage of progress in modern educational methods the statement that hearty and intelligent cooperation and sympathy between parents and teachers are essential to the best results in school work should be the most obvious and commonplace truism. Many parents will not take the trouble or devote the time necessary to the proper training of the young, and unfortunately too few teachers are sufficiently interested in their work as a profession to insist upon that measure of parental cooperation which is so essential.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CAVE OF THE WINDS.

Particulates of South Dakota's Great Natural Wonder.

According to the ideas of Professor Horrib of the Smithsonian Institution, the wonderful Cave of the Winds in South Dakota is of an unknown formation. Other geologists incline to the opinion that it is an extinct geyser, perhaps a former outlet for the warm mineral waters which now come to the surface at Hot Springs and its vicinity. Some of the formations show evidences of having been formed by the action of water, a warm mineral water, and some, notably the frost work, are so delicate that they could not have existed in the action of water, but must have been formed by gas of vapor which condensed as it struck the limestone. The cave is an immense bed

ROMANCE OF A WEDDING.

Story of the Marriage of Sir Walter Scott's Eldest Son.

A newly discovered letter by Sir Walter Scott, written in 1825, recalls the story of the marriage of his eldest son, Walter, a Lieutenant of Hussars, in that year to Miss Jane Jobson, a Scottish heiress. In a letter to Lady Davy that long has been well known Scott said of the engagement: "Though her fortune be considerable, the favors of the public will enable me to make such settlements as her friends think very adequate. The only impediment has been the poor mother, a highland lady of great worth and integrity, who could not brook parting with the sole object of her care and attention, to resign her to the vicissitudes of a military life, while I necessarily refused to let my son sink into a fox hunting, snail fowl shooting squire. She has at last been obliged to acquiesce rather than consent, her friends and counselors being clear sighted enough to see that her daughter's happiness could scarce be promoted by compelling the girl to break off a mutual attachment and a match with a young Lieutenant of Hussars, sure of having a troop very soon, with a good estate in reversion and as handsome a fellow as ever put his foot in a stirrup. So they succeeded in bringing matters to a happy issue."

In the letter lately published for the first time and written to his intimate friend, James Ballantyne, Scott gives his frank opinion of his son's mother-in-law after this fashion: "I cannot command my mind at this moment to correct proofs. Our old lady has given us so much trouble that it is very vexatious. But it avails nothing, the other friends having taken the whole into their own management and the settlements being now drawing. I trust the good dame will come to and make a virtue of necessity, but her obstinacy cannot affect the event, though it gives the poor innocent girl very much pain. Never saw such a hyena in all my life, a perfect allegory on the banks of the Nile, and all for nonsense of the first water."

This objectionable person improved on better acquaintance, however. Soon after the marriage Scott wrote to his son Charles, "Yesterday Mrs. Jobson gave us a very handsome dinner and a party in the evening." A month or two later he wrote to his "darling" daughter-in-law, then in Dublin: "Let me know, my love, what I can fetch for you from Scotland. Mrs. Jobson promises me a parcel. She had the goodness to dine with me in my widowed state the day before yesterday and in high health and spirits. I have the vanity to think myself a great favorite."—Chicago News.

Censor Outcasted.

A most amusing incident took place recently which shows the absolute absurdity of the censorship in Italy.

The great actor Ernesto Novelli, now in South America, has a son who lives in Florence to whom was born a bouncing boy. The young Novelli, in haste to let his father know that he had made him a grandfather, telegraphed: "Ernesto Novelli, Buenos Ayres. Boy. Enrico." Several hours after he was called to the telephone office, where the following conversation took place.

"You know we could not let your dispatch pass."

"Not let it pass? But why, if you please?"

"You know you said it was a boy."

"And if I did, what then? Is it not true?"

"Well, that is what we do not know yet."

"What? Are you crazy? I know it!"

"Well, anyway, public order demands that it should not be made public."

"Made public! Am I making it public by telegraphing to my father? And, in any case, what has the birth of my son got to do with public order? Excuse me, have you all taken leave of your senses?"

"Your son," gasped the other. "We thought you were telegraphing about the queen!"—Home Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

A Nineteenth Century Martyr.

A touching story of the early days of the mutiny is told of the Allahabad massacre. Seven cadets just out from England were murdered before they had time to join their regiments. The eighth, a boy of sixteen, was left for dead, but survived in spite of horrible wounds, for four days hiding himself in a ravine. On the fifth day he was discovered, dragged to the native lines and thrust into a hut as a prisoner.

He found there a Christian catechist who had been formerly a Mohammedan and who was being tortured by the sepoys to make him renounce his faith. The catechist's courage and given way, but the gallant English lad—himself only sixteen years of age—urged the unhappy catechist: "Don't deny Christ! Never deny Christ!" Nell reached Allahabad in time to rescue both catechist and orphan. But the English, Arthur Cheek, died of his wounds four days after Nell's arrival.—From "The Great Mutiny."

Raising Basket Willow.

New doors to opportunity are opening to the man who tills the soil. For instance, the growing demand for willow furniture, which has won the approval of fashion of late years, has revived interest in the culture and manufacture of basket willow.

The material used for furniture has been supplied from France; but the willow grows so readily in this country that there seems to be no reason why a new industry should not be established here.

Ethically regarded, the bee is one of God's best creatures. He is given homo;—he is an uncomplaining worker; he contributes more than he demands; he is strictly obedient to beelaw, and is thus a good citizen.

Broom Corn as a Crop.

Three acres of broom corn will yield ten tons; and the crop always sells readily. It will bring from $100 to $150 a ton. Why not plant broom corn?

Small Farms are the Best.

Five acres in well-cared for orchards and small fruits are better than the average two hundred acres in wheat and corn and hay.

Strawberries and Gooseberries.

Three acres of strawberries will net $500, and one acre of gooseberries quite as much.

Some species of wasps take a little more of themselves—more particularly when hives are opened—and they annoy the bees; others capture and eat workers, as do also the large ant like "cow killers" (Mutilidae).

Location of Our Roads.

Many of our roads were originally laid out without any attention to general topography, and in most cases followed the settler's path from cabin to cabin, the pig trail, or ran along the boundary lines of the farms regardless of grades or direction. Most of them remain to-day where they were located years ago, and where untold labor, expense, and energy have been wasted in trying to haul over them and in endeavors to improve their deplorable condition.

PUTTING IMPLEMENTS AWAY.

Proper Care Will Save Much Unnecessary Wear and Tear.

Implement on the farm, like all other implements, have a time when there is no use for them. At this time the wear on them is as great as when in use, if they are not properly cared for, and all farmers should be prepared to properly care for them. The expense of preparation is not necessarily great, although it should not be cheap. A shed plenty large for all the implements should be ready for receiving them. To begin with, the tools used first in the year, we have the oats seeder. This should be cleaned out, all dirt and gum scraped off the working parts, so these will not gather dirt during the summer and winter to follow. Then put in the shed where it will be out of the way. Next in use comes the disc harrow. This should have all dirt and stalks cleaned from it, and if necessary the boxings opened and cleaned. This will prevent the bearings from rusting. It can then be put away without being taken apart till time to plant corn when it will be of use. After this is done, it should be cleaned from gum and dirt, and the disc painted or greased to prevent rust. Then take the tongue out so it will not take up so much room. The tongue and doubletree should be put in some dry place to protect them from decay. The spike harrow can be left together until after corn planting, when it should be cleaned and stored up close to the walls of the building. The wooden parts should be put in some dry place. The corn planter must be perfect to do the work put on it, and should therefore be put away in a dry place. The corn is planted the runners should be greased or painted, all dirt and gum carefully cleaned from the working parts, all wooden parts taken off and put in a dry place, and the corn cleaned out of the boxes so it will not take up so much room. Be careful to put it where no water or snow will fall on it. The shovels should be taken off of the cultivators and greased or painted. The tongues may be taken out and put in dry places, and the cultivators will take up very little room in your building. The mower and binder, after their season should have all dust and gum cleaned from the working parts. The knottor on the binder can be greased with axle grease; this will keep it from rusting, and this part of the machine will be in working order the first day it is hitched to the canvas should be taken off and after being well cleaned, put in some place which is moisture and mouse proof. The reel can be taken down, the tongues out, then the machines can be stored in less space.

In some cases, as on rented farms, says J. O. J., in Indiana Farmer, where the landlords do not furnish a machine shed, the implements may be taken apart and stored in the hay loft. Harrows and such can be put close to the side of the granary, and a rough shed put over them. If landlords would put up good machine sheds on their farms it would be a paying investment to them.

If there is no shed on your farm, build one to-day or at least commence one. Put your implements in the shed, and the saving in time worry and repairs will be the interest on your investment, and the interest will not be small.

Electrical Protection of Crops.

The use of electricity for the protection of crops from insects and worms is one of the latest scientific developments. A field covered by a network of wires can be given a series of electric shocks which destroys not only the insects on the surface of the ground, but the eggs and larvae below. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that by killing the larvae in the soil the stacks of insects are practically reduced to nothing. The heaviest electric shocks are given in the early spring, when the soil is plowed for the first sowing. The current instantly destroys all the insect life that has been wintered beneath the surface.

Raising Basket Willow.

New doors to opportunity are opening to the man who tills the soil. For instance, the growing demand for willow furniture, which has won the approval of fashion of late years, has revived interest in the culture and manufacture of basket willow.

The material used for furniture has been supplied from France; but the willow grows so readily in this country that there seems to be no reason why a new industry should not be established here.

An Uncomplaining Worker.

Ethically regarded, the bee is one of God's best creatures. He is given homo;—he is an uncomplaining worker; he contributes more than he demands; he is strictly obedient to beelaw, and is thus a good citizen.

Broom Corn as a Crop.

Three acres of broom corn will yield ten tons; and the crop always sells readily. It will bring from $100 to $150 a ton. Why not plant broom corn?

Small Farms are the Best.

Five acres in well-cared for orchards and small fruits are better than the average two hundred acres in wheat and corn and hay.

Strawberries and Gooseberries.

Three acres of strawberries will net $500, and one acre of gooseberries quite as much.

Some species of wasps take a little more of themselves—more particularly when hives are opened—and they annoy the bees; others capture and eat workers, as do also the large ant like "cow killers" (Mutilidae).

Location of Our Roads.

Many of our roads were originally laid out without any attention to general topography, and in most cases followed the settler's path from cabin to cabin, the pig trail, or ran along the boundary lines of the farms regardless of grades or direction. Most of them remain to-day where they were located years ago, and where untold labor, expense, and energy have been wasted in trying to haul over them and in endeavors to improve their deplorable condition.

A TELEGRAPH TYPEWRITER

New Invention in Telegraphy Improves Old System.

HIGHER SPEED CLAIMED

Adaptation of Typewriter to Telegraph and Substitution of Typewritten Message—System of Two Austrian Calls in the Aid of Photography.

New York.—It has been estimated that for every wireless message sent and received there are sent more than 300,000 messages over the wires. With this in mind, it is easy to see that an improvement or invention that greatly facilitates the sending of messages in the old way is of greater present day value than the discovery of a system or principle which will probably remain in the experimental stage for at least a score of years more.

Two such inventions and discoveries have been made recently, or rather, which, if capable of accomplishing what the inventors assert, must produce a change, amounting almost to a revolution, in the ordinary telegraph of every day life.

The first of these inventions is the work of an American, J. C. Barclay, assistant general manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company. The invention consists of the adaptation of the typewriter to the telegraph and the substitution of a typewritten message, given at full typewriter speed, for the slow and laborious code of the Morse alphabet. By the use of his appliance, according to Mr. Barclay, a person may sit at a typewriter in one city and hammer out his message as fast as he is able, while a similar typewriting machine in another city at the other end of the line takes down the message in identical the same way it is given, capitals, punctuation, and all.

It is obvious what a saving of time and labor this means. According to Mr. Barclay the sender needs to know only how to operate a typewriter. The receiver needs only to keep the machine supplied with paper.

Mr. Barclay said recently that he had been at work on his invention for a long time and had overcome all defects.

Mr. Barclay said that there were reasons why he could not now give out a technical description of the machine in use or allow the machine itself to be seen. When these reasons are done away with he will issue a description of the patent and give a public exhibition of its work.

The second invention which seems destined to work a great change in methods of telegraphing is the work of two Austrian scientists, and is known as the Pollak-Virag telegraph instrument. The results claimed to have been achieved by this instrument are much more wonderful than the way that these accomplishments by Barclay in his adaptation of the typewriter to use in telegraphing.

The inventors of the Pollak-Virag telegraph instrument assert that by their system they can send without undue haste from 40,000 to 50,000 words an hour, and that it is received in good legible handwriting which need not be translated.

How this is done it is not so easy to explain or understand. The technical description given by the inventors is far too complicated for the layman to get anything from. As they say it can be described the system is about as follows, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The message to be transmitted is converted into telegraphic dots and dashes on a "perforator" that looks like a typewriter. The perforator punches in a slip of paper a series of small holes that correspond to the form of letters. The slip is passed over a series of cylinders and electric waves, and their way through the prepared holes and come out at the other end in the same sequence in which they were sent.

In recording the letters the system calls in the aid of photography. Electric waves are conveyed to a little mirror and they cause the mirror to move in two directions, horizontal and vertical. Electric light is focused on the mirror and sent by it to a sensitized paper. The mirror moves only the smallest fraction of a millimeter and the exposure of the sensitized paper is only the thousandth part of a second, but legible writing at the rate of fifteen a second.

The motions of the mirror are only two, vertical and horizontal. If produced slowly the letters would be angular, but the rapidity of the flashes with the movement of the paper film give the finished message the appearance of handwriting. Developing and fixing the message takes ten seconds.

Cables' New Measuring Device.

Paris.—The new device known as the "taximeter," consisting of a clock-work arrangement for measuring distance and indicating the exact amount of the fare was placed in a limited number of cabs.

The fare is 75 centimes for 1,200 meters. The trial appeared to be satisfactory and the apparatus will probably gradually be adopted by the various companies.

Cables that have tried it are pleased with the system and think they can make more money than by the old method.

Actions speak louder than words, but they do not speak as often.

you wish to flatter a man it is sufficient to say: "In business every one recognizes your genius."

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Spring Millinery: Ostrich Plumes: Velvet: Taffeta Silk Costumes: Linen Suits: Parasols.

A millinery shop window is now a curious sight: exaggerations of all kinds and exquisite creations are so arranged that almost startling contrasts are the result. A Napoleon shape in pink gossamer straw, with an outline of tiny rose buds at back and front, intended for a very young person, is next an immense black lace straw, with a high crown, and two gorgeous ostrich plumes. Then a large sailor hat, with crown of the richest colored silk and lace brim, has for its neighbor a jet toque with white ostrich plume. A green straw, trimmed with white lilacs, is near a large shape of Nilan straw, the brim bent in three curves which are filled in with large roses and foliage.

Ostrich Plumes

were never more important, their graceful undulations doing away to some extent with the absurdities of hats, designed to be conspicuous. Velvet is also a factor in millinery, particularly in the "high back" effects, where it is combined with flowers of several kinds. Large roses are well adapted to shapes turning up at one side or forming the centre of a flat crown of flowers. The position of stylish hats is varied. Some tilt over the face, especially the "high back" shapes, others perch on the Pompadour roll, then again the large sailor is worn quite flat on the head.

That Beautiful Accessory

the parasol now comes with renewed beauty and variety. Myriads of plain silk parasols in different styles, are suitable to the shirt waist suit, the novelty however is the "suit case parasol," jointed in the handle, which is certainly a great convenience. Checked parasols with flowered silk borders are in keeping with the present rage for checks, and one style of elegant plain silk parasols have cut jet head or steel beads handles, some being finished with a large knob.

The Lingerie Parasols

while affording no genuine protection are very pretty, and range from those of simple muslin edged with embroidery or eyelet work, to the hand embroidered one, with insertions of real Val lace. Tucked and embroidered linen swell the category, and hand painting or colored embroidery on each gore or in a wreath around the parasol are usually a beautiful blending of delicate tints. Gathered tucks of blue or pink chiffon, a little more than an inch apart, from an entire parasol, remarkable for its softness and beauty.

Illustration.

This handsome street costume, the illustration of which is supplied by The Demorest Fashion Co., is of brown shot mohair of a beautiful lustrous quality, with collar and cuffs of cream-white suede cloth, edged with brown mohair braid. The belt is of braid and the girdle of soft, meraline taffeta in chameleon effect. The skirt is of the popular nine gored type, with the side plaits arranged over each seam, and down the center of each gore.

Linen Gowns And Suits

far from showing the decline of favor prophesied on account of the longevity of its fashionable reign, linen is to be the craze in gowns, waists, suits, coats and embroideries. The gowns are of irresistible charm in their latest development. Embroidery in heavy hand work, open eyelet work, Irish crochet or linen laces are used freely for their embellishment, and they are often as costly as they are beautiful. Linen etamine is one of the latest varieties in shirtwaist suit style. Seen at a recent opening was a linen suit of blue-blue shade, now called "Alice blue," with a half length coat open in front and a circular skirt. The edges of the entire costume including the skirt were hand scalloped with the same color, and the sleeve, front of skirt and front and back of coat were embroidered in heavy hand work of the same shade. THE BERLIN HERALD

Of Berlin, Md. Comes Out As A Folded Seven Column Eight Page Paper. Now Printed In Its New Brick House On Main Street. Published By Mr. H. D. Adams.

Through several stages of progression the Berlin Herald, of Berlin, Md., now published by Mr. H. D. Adams, reached its zenith this week, when this popular eastern Worcester County newspaper came from the newly installed Campbell Two Revolution Press in its new and enlarged form—a handsome seven column, eight page paper—in an attractive modern style of dress type, well edited, well arranged and neatly printed.

Since its establishment was in May of 1897, this marks an appropriate month—being its eighth anniversary—to fittingly celebrate by increasing it to a larger size and circulation than it has ever heretofore enjoyed.

Its present shape seems to appeal to the present approved taste for an up-to-date newspaper—spacious in regards to contents and most convenient in form. The Herald was issued to its large subscription list folded, pasted and trimmed; not even having four pages separate as in many of the modern weekly and daily papers of Maryland, but all compact and easy of access.

From a printing list of 750 the Herald receives and prints 1000 copies this week, showing a popularity that must be very gratifying to the owners as well as remunerative to the advertisers. The present fair and liberal policy of the paper is evidently winning public favor in sections which though not absolutely inimicable have never heartily or in a spirit of unity given active support to one of the most valuable and essential acquisitions any enterprising town can possess.

The Berlin public should now duly appreciate the importance of having a live, creditable newspaper like the Herald with them and give it every encouragement—not mere words but deeds, for the paper works harder for the town's interest than all that will be done can quite or compensate.

In addition to his newspaper outfit Mr. Adams has a modern job plant, including new commercial faces, of types, a Eureka paper cutter, two Gordon job presses and a bright gasoline engine with sufficient power to easily operate all presses at once time. The present proprietor, Mr. Henry D. Adams, has long been associated with newspaper interests and is keenly active in supplying every demand required to produce an excellent paper. The people of Berlin and vicinity are fortunate to have a clever gentleman of his stamp, esteem and business success at the head of the Herald, their official organ.

Competitors may expect fair treatment but will have to look close for the Herald. The Herald and the Herald men mean business and are well equipped for it—better in their new brick Herald house on Main Street—with modern plant and new inside, than ever before.

A Race That Is Not A Race.

The transatlantic yacht race is testimony to the general reaction against the "mill pond" races for the America's Cup between racing machines. Something more is demanded in the race now being sailed, because the racing machine type of yacht is not fitted to go across the Atlantic in all conditions of wind and weather. This will be a test of sailing quality and of seamanship, and inasmuch as each of the racers may pick its own course across the Atlantic, the element of uncertainty is likely to be prolonged for a considerable period. But it will not be a sporting race in the sense of well matched contestants striving towards the determination of which of them is best. It will be true and fine sport for the yacht owners, but not for the crew; though it is not unlikely to result in disaster and loss of life, as in the case of the first of these races, sailed westward between the Vesta, Henrietta and Fleetwing in 1866, when six men were lost off the Fleetwing in one night. But as to construction for ocean yachting or the most skillful seamanship in handling a particular type, the race can settle nothing, because of the disparity of the contestants. Here we have a three masted ship of 68 tons, a yawl of 116 tons and a schooner of 86 tons competing with eight other boats of equally dissimilar types. The winds may vary much on the different courses sailed across the Atlantic, and in heavy weather, with little windward work, the three masted ship ought to win by a day or more. In light breezes from the eastward the fore-and-aft rig would have a good chance. But nobody outside the people on the respective boats knows what course each will sail, and nobody knows what kind of weather will be encountered. The most that is looked for from the race is a first rough sifting of types for sea-going yachting. Some will be found to do, others not at all. From the Boston Transcript.
