PRIVILEGES AT FAIR BROUGHT GOOD PRICES.

Ice Cream Concession Sold For Nearly $500 And The Sale Of All The Privileges Amounts To Over Two Thousand Dollars.

The privileges for the Wicomico Fair Association were sold at public auction, as advertised Wednesday afternoon in front of the Court House. Without any exceptions the privileges all sold at a high figure and altogether the Association realized over $2000 from the sale. A number of Baltimoreans who came here to bid on some of the privileges remarked that although they have been attending sales of this kind for years they never saw fair privileges bring such high prices.

The concessions which sold at the highest figures were the ice cream, soft drinks and score card. The right to sell ice cream for the four days of the fair and July 21st, the day of the race between Dry Dock and General Mack, sold for nearly $500. The soft drink privilege brought $185.00 and the score cards over $100.00.

A large number of interested people attended the sale and the bidding was keen. It is believed that the sale of the privileges brought sufficient money to conduct the fair. This will leave the gate receipts as a profit to the Association.

CULLISON, A DESERTER, ESCAPES LOCAL OFFICERS.

Gave Officials Lively Chase While in This City But Finally Left For Parts Unknown—Is Wanted On Two Charges.

Considerable excitement existed in Salisbury last Monday when it became known that a man wanted by the United States Government for desertion from the army was in this city. The deserter was M. R. Cullison, who became well known here during the time the skating rink was first opened two years ago and who later married Miss Mary Ball of this city. It has been known for some time that Cullison was a deserter from the army but his whereabouts have been unknown since his escape from Fort Howard last December. His reason for coming to Salisbury was apparently to visit his wife who had been making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Ball since she discovered that he was a deserter.

Cullison arrived in Salisbury Saturday afternoon, secured a horse and carriage, and it is said, took a drive about the town in the evening. In the meantime Captain H. Winter Owens, of Company I, M. N. G., received a communication from an official of the regular army giving a photograph and description of the fugitive with instructions to capture him if possible. Where Cullison spent Sunday is not known but on Monday he sent a note to his wife by a little boy asking her to meet him in a store in South Salisbury. Mrs. Ball immediately turned the note over to Capt. Owens, who

WELL KNOWN COUPLE MARRIED AT MARDELA.

Pretty Wedding Solemnized At Old Presbyterian Church Last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Mich Will Live At Norfolk.

The old Presbyterian Church at Mardela Springs was the scene of an unusually interesting wedding Tuesday evening when Miss Emma Porter Brattan was married to Mr. Samuel G. L. Hitch, of Norfolk, Va., by the Rev. W. T. M. Beale. The bride, handsomely gowned in white satin, entered the church with her brother, Mr. J. Y. Brattan, of Baltimore, and was met at the altar by the groom, attended by Mr. N. A. Goggsdale, of Norfolk, as best man. Miss Susan Robertson Brattan, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of pink French batiste and carried pink carnations. The ushers were Messrs. Cyrus Rider, Jr., of New York, Mr. M. W. Bounds, of Salisbury, Messrs. Herman Robertson and Ralph T. Bounds, of Mardela. A small reception followed the ceremony and later the bride and groom left for a Northern trip.

The bride is a daughter of the late Joseph Brattan, one of the best known men in the county. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Rider, Jr., of New York, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Brattan and Misses Elizabeth and Catherine Brattan of Baltimore, Mrs. Florence Lowe, Misses Mary and Wilsie Lowe, Mrs. L. D. Collier, Misses Elizabeth, Pauline and Mary Collier, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Mr. Sudler Dropped Dead.

Mr. John S. Sudler, a prominent resident of Somerset county, dropped dead here Saturday while on a visit to this city.

Mr. Sudler, in company with William H. Ross, who resides at Westover, came to Salisbury on business, and upon invitation of Dr. Harry O. Tull, was his guest at luncheon. While eating dinner, Mr. Sudler complained of feeling badly and the doctor suggested that he go to the front porch where it was cooler. Dr. Tull assisted Mr. Sudler towards the porch but before reaching the front door Mr. Sudler fell to the floor and expired before medical attention could be administered. Dr. Tull pronounced the ailments as organic heart trouble, from which Mr. Sudler had suffered for a long time.

Mr. Sudler was prominent in public affairs in this State and county for many years and at the time of his death was member of the School Board for Somerset county, having served in this capacity since 1901. He was born in 1827 at his ancestral home, near Westover, in Somerset county, being the third generation of his family to occupy this estate. He was a member of the Maryland House of Delegates in the session of 1868 and again in 1874. Mr. Sudler was appointed State Fish Commissioner, and served two terms under Governor Brown and had also served as chairman of the Democratic Central Committee for Somerset County. He was married in 1861 to Miss Susan E. Thomson, daughter of Jas. and Elizabeth Thomson, of Dorchester county, by whom he is survived. Deceased was an uncle of Mrs. J. McFadden Dick and Mrs. Walter J. Brewington, of Salisbury.

Hill, and was shipped to Wilkes-Barre, the home of his parents, for interment.

AN EXCELLENT ADDRESS.

Mr. Joshua Levering Makes Address To Large Audience In Division Street Baptist Church.

Mr. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, addressed a good sized congregation at the Baptist Church Monday night, June 21st, on the "Layman's Missionary Movement." In spite of the extreme heat Mr. Levering held the closest attention of his audience. He said some things regarding the matter of missionary endeavor that were startling. "It can be mathematically demonstrated that the world can be evangelized in a generation." If the "Churches of Christendom contributed four times as much as they do at the present time, Christ would return in twenty years" were some of the statements of the speaker.

Mr. Levering said in part: "The aim and purpose of the Layman's Missionary Movement is the evangelization of the world in a generation. The will of God is revealed in John 6:40. The church is the executor of God's will. A distinction must be made between conversion and evangelization. The second coming of Christ is not based upon the conversion of every person. It is the business of the church to give the message to the world and God will take care of the result. This generation has the magnificent privilege of evangelizing the world."

Need Nine Epsteins.

In his annual address to the bankers of Maryland, President Copper, of the Maryland Bankers Association, discussed the "Causes of Decadence and Loss of Prestige by Baltimore in the Eastern Shore."

He said: "The transportation of the entire Shore is under control of the Pennsylvania railroad, while the trade along the water courses is largely with Baltimore, that really composes but a small portion of Eastern Maryland's freight and passenger business. This business is diverted by the Pennsylvania Railroad to Philadelphia, to an extent which is hardly regarded as possible by the mercantile interests of Baltimore."

"How to change this condition is a proposition for Baltimore's live business men to solve. With nine Jacob Epsteins, one for each Eastern Shore county, Baltimore would have another tale to relate."

STORM PLAYS HAVOC.

Serious Damage At Home Of Judge Smith During Electrical Storm Sunday Night.

This section was visited Sunday night by a series of thunder storms lasting more than two hours, which did considerable damage. A heavy downpour of rain accompanied these storms. Lightning struck the residence of Judge of the Orphans Court Edward M. Smith, in Spring Hill, doing considerable damage. The bolt struck the south-east end of the building, ripping off the weatherboarding and tearing out two windows. It entered a bed chamber in which two children were sleeping, knocking off the plastering and doing other damage. The children escaped injury, but Mrs. Smith came very near losing her life. She went to the room in which the boys were sleeping to lower the window. She did so, and had stepped back a few feet when the bolt entered the window. Mrs. Smith was completely unnerved by her narrow escape.

The bolt descended to the parlor below, knocking off plastering, the moulding around the mantel, several vases on mantel, two or three pictures, and ripped the matting off the floor. How the home escaped destruction by fire is a mystery to Mr. Smith. The damage will amount to quite a sum, but is covered by insurance.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Salisbury People To Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Salisbury.

Mrs. Walter B. Nichols, 317 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have brought me great relief from kidney complaint and I believe they will do as much for other sufferers. I was afflicted with symptoms of kidney disease from childhood but was never troubled seriously until about two years ago. Then my back began to ache severely and last summer I was laid up for two weeks. I used any amount of medicine but I found only slight relief. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at White & Leonard's drug store went at once to the seat of my trouble and helped me in every way. I consider this remedy worthy of the highest recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Fosters-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Delay in commencing treatment for a slight irregularity that could have been cured quickly by Foley's Kidney Remedy may result in a serious kidney disease. Foley's Kidney Remedy builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens these organs. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

Big Strawberry Crop.

Statistics published last Friday by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company show that despite the rainy weather which has tended to reduce the strawberry crop, 16,676,406 qts. were shipped this season from Delaware-Maryland Peninsula by the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad. For the same period last year, when favorable weather prevailed, shipments amounted to 13,094,690 qts. On one day of this season 124 cars, four solid trains, loads of strawberries were delivered to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad for New England deliveries.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul's Second Missionary Journey" Discussed By A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Come over to Macedonia and help us.

Our lesson takes us back to the close of the eighth lesson of the last quarter, where, after the council at Jerusalem, Paul and Barnabas with Silas, Judas, and others, returned to Antioch, in Syria, with the findings of the council, and remained there teaching. The latter lessons of the quarter were used in acquainting us with many truths taught concerning the Christian life, in order that we might, as we study of the journey of Paul and Barnabas, also become partakers of these blessings.

In the first part of our lesson we note Paul's conclusion to go again to the churches instituted in his former journey as far as he was permitted, and also to reach new fields when possible. It was thought best by Paul and Barnabas to take some one with them to assist, and Barnabas desired to take John Mark, who, we know, turned back upon the first journey. Paul demurred, and there was disputing.

Critics have laid great stress upon this dispute between Paul and Barnabas. There is lack of ground for criticism. In parting into two companies to continue the work there was evidently no breach of friendship, as both parties subsequently bear witness of their love and Christian esteem for each other, and another lesson in Christian dispute comes to us. In submitting to the council the doctrinal question (Les. 8) and the submission to its findings, we had our first lesson in Christian submission to the opinion of the church. In this we learn that our differences cannot stay the work of spreading the gospel, and a difference in opinion is not to engender ill will, or destroy within us our love and regard for honest workers in the church.

This incident is no doubt recorded here to show just this lesson, that the apostles, differing in opinion, did not part in anger but in amicable agreement. That they were human, and could yet submit and respect the opinions of others, and that, instead of both being wrong, they were right, and God can use even though we are human and our minds finite, to fulfill his great purpose. If we knew Paul and Barnabas without a fault or a weakness due to human nature, how could we expect to follow in their lead? It is only by knowing their faults that we can understand their success. Paul, as a companion, chose Silas, who had come from the church at Jerusalem, a Jew and Roman citizen like Paul. They traveled by land through Asia Minor, around the Mediterranean Sea, and reached Derbe, Systra, Iconium, and Antioch in Pisidia, but were led by the Spirit into new fields. At Systra, where Paul had suffered so much upon his first visit, he finds Timothy, whom he enlists in the service, and they continue on to Tross on the coast. Here Paul, in a vision, received the call, "come over to Macedonia and help us." By divine guidance and a light upon the way of duty, they had been directed all the way through Asia Minor without any fixed adjective point, but in time the call came clear, and they acted promptly, going on until they reached Philippi.

This Macedonia was conscious of her need. They sent no delegation, asking that the gospel be preached to them. They were, no doubt, unaware of their need of the gospel, and like many since that day, perhaps did not want it. But God has said, "Preach the Gospel to every creature," and the Holy Spirit guides the preacher into the field white for the harvest. Heathen nations never call for the Gospel; it is God's love that sends it, and His people are to send it over the entire world to every creature. It is the law of love which draws our hearts to God, that works the will of the Father, whose love was above our conception, until it works within us, causing us to know the will of Him who loved us with a love beyond compare, and through this love will bring the world into subjection.

When the missionaries reached Philippi, they began to teach, and instituted a church there, which was successful in spreading the gospel. To students of history this territory is of interest. Macedonia has an important place in history. A half century before Christ, Augustus Caesar won one of the most memorable battles of history here, over Brutus and Cassius, but Paul and his companion, a century later (A. D. 50) gained a victory greater than Caesar's, and the kingdom established has vastly exceeded Rome.

Delay in taking Foley's Kidney Remedy if you have backache, kidney or bladder trouble, fastens the disease upon you and makes a cure more difficult. Commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy today and you will soon be well. Why risk a serious malady? C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

The Maryland Tomato Growers' Association reports the smallest acreage of late tomatoes planted this year, for several years. Not only is the acreage less, but unfavorable weather conditions have retarded their growth. This condition exists not only in Maryland but also in Delaware and New Jersey. The Association has urged its members in all sections not to plant tomatoes at the prices offered by the packers; this accounts for the great decrease in acreage of this crop this year.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

There was a meeting of the Tri-State Packers' Association, composed of canners of New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, at the Clayton House, Wilmington, Del., last Thursday. "According to the reports submitted, the tomato crop in several sections including Delaware, will be poor this season. It is not expected that there will be an increase in the demand, however, the hold-over stock from last season's pack amounting to many hundreds of cases.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

This Association has two separate and distinct departments: "The Building & Loan Department" and "The Banking Department."

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $124,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 20c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes. It receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. PREPARING FOR CAMP.

Hospital Tent For Camp Crothers, With Doctors And Nurses.

For the first time within the history of encampments within the state of the Maryland National Guard the sick of the camp at Camp Crothers, to be held in Westminster from July 18 to 25, will be cared for in a systematic manner, as is done at camps in the regular army.

At all previous State encampments it has been the custom, now obsolete, for each regiment to take care of its own sick men, and, although there is usually a small percentage of disabilities, inconvenience has resulted. Some regiments have been ill equipped with the drugs and field appliances necessary in a camp, while other organizations had practically nothing with which to administer to the sick.

This season instead of having each regiment care for its own sick, there will be a field hospital in the camp, and the hospital corps detachments attached to each regiment will be consolidated into a provisional company for duty there. The field hospital will be situated on a hill overlooking the camp and any sick man will be taken care of in it.

Each regiment will have a dispensary, instead of a hospital. The dispensary will be in charge of the senior surgeon attached to regiment, and all minor cases, such as frequently occur in camp, will be treated. This will leave the field hospital, to be equipped with 12 beds, free to take care of more complicated cases.

Dickens' Characters.

Dickens bestowed many of his fictitious names on real flesh and blood personages, says an admirer of the famous novelist. Indeed he and David Copperfield were not far apart, so far as salient features were concerned. Tracy Tupman was the happy counterpart of a man named Winters, who at the present day would be pounded or arrested for what is known in slang as "mashing." Paul Dombey was an invalid nephew of the author, his right name being Harry Burnett. Dora Copperfield was a Miss Beadwell, with whom Dickens was in love at the early age of eighteen. Mrs. Bardell, who gave Pickwick the worst time in his life, was a scheming boarding house widow named Ann Ellis. Tommy Traddles was Colonel Froom Talford, formerly superintendent of Indian affairs in Canada. Miss Mowcher was a Miss Wilkes, Mrs. Skewton a Mrs. Campbell; the abominable Squeers was William Shaw; the lovely Cheeryble brothers were cotton spinners and merchants of Manchester; the fat boy was a true to life character, and so was Captain Cuttle, one of the most attractive of all.

Didn't Impress Him.

Shortly after his rise to the bench Judge Coleman had occasion to pronounce a life sentence upon a notorious offender. In the course of his remarks the judge spoke with so much feeling and eloquence that many of the listeners were deeply affected. The prisoner, on the other hand, seemed to be quite indifferent, looking at the ceiling and apparently giving no attention whatever to what was being said. After he had been remanded to jail one of the young lawyers had gone into the cell, curious to know how the criminal had felt when his honor was passing sentence upon him.

"What do you mean?" asked the convicted one.

"I mean when the judge was telling you you must go to prison for life."

"You mean when he was talking to me?"

"Yes."

"Oh, I never paid no attention to Dick Coleman. He ain't no public speaker nohow!"—Argonaut.

The Fate of the Fancy Set.

James, aged seven, had been promoted. In recognition of this great event his father purchased for him the following things that James insisted were necessary:

A box of one dozen pencils, assorted leads; one ink and one pencil eraser, one pencil box with a marvelous roll top, three copybooks for home work, two penholders and a patent strap that was a marvel of ingenuity, but somehow or other didn't seem to hold the books very firmly.

The father examined the outfit a few days after and found that it contained—

One much chewed lead pencil furnished by the city, a scribbling pad with a few sheets on it, a tin fountain pen that did not work and never could have worked and a skate strap to hold the things together.

The father asked no questions. He instinctively knew what had become of the fancy implements of education.—New York Press.

Her Answer.

An Atchison girl had a proposal of marriage and asked a week to think it over. She went to all of her married sisters. One, who used to be a belle, had three children, did all her own work and hadn't been to the theater or out riding since she was married. Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she could be ready in a month.—Atchison Globe.

Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly offered 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity. The winner is as follows: Faith, blind trust in a first page; hope, what investors are fed upon; charity, what some of them are likely to be brought to.

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith, the gift that saves mankind; hope, the gift that cheers mankind; charity, the gift that makes man kind.

The Dear Friends.

"Fred didn't blow his brains out because you jilted him the other night," said girl friend No. 1. "He came over and proposed to me."

"Did he?" replied girl friend No. 2. "Then he must have got rid of them in some other way."

Hindaight.

"I made enough money in Wall street last week to buy a house and lot."

"Did you buy it?"

"Well, no; but I wish I had."—New York Herald.

Why She Did It.

"Why is it," they asked, "that you let your husband have his own way in everything?"

"Because," she replied, "I like to have some one to blame when things go wrong."

Burns and Tam Samson.

Tam Samson was a gray haired veteran sportsman who on one occasion when out moor fowl shooting and, feeling the weight of years begin to press upon him, expressed the belief that the expedition was to be his last and desired, in somewhat tragic style, that he might die and be buried in the moors.

Burns, hearing of this, immediately composed his famous elegy, in which he related at length the exploits and skill of his hero, ending each verse with the plaintive line, "Tam Samson's dead."

Some one having told Samson that Burns had written a poem, "a very queer one," about him, he sent for the poet and in something like wrath asked him to read what he had written. On hearing the recital of his exploits he smiled grimly and seemed by no means displeased. "But," he exclaimed, "I'm no' dead yet, Robin. Wherefore should ye say that I'm dead?" Burns retired for a few minutes; then he returned and recited to Tam the following verse, which he had composed in the interval:

PER CONTRA.

Go, Fame, an' gaster like a fify
Through 'a' the streets an' necks of kims.
Tell ev'ry social, honest billy
To cease his grievein'.

For yet, unskalth'd by Death's gies gull-lie,

Tam Samson's livin'!

Samson laughed gleefully and exclaimed, "That's no' bad, Robin; that'll do." And the poet was received once more into his good graces.—Chambers' Journal.

With Interest.

"Yes, I know that certain passengers object to tipping on principle; but speaking for myself, I believe in it," remarked a ruddy faced old man in the corner of a third class smoker. "It is only right to reward courtesy, and I always make it a point of giving the guard of this train sixpence when he comes to see if I'm all right, although I'm only a poor man."

The other passengers, not to be outdone, thereupon dived into their pockets, and when the guard popped his head inside the door a few minutes later he found himself overwhelmed with silver coins.

An hour passed, and the passengers got out one by one until the old man was left facing a spruce commercial traveler, who leaned toward him confidentially and asked him how he could afford to give the guard sixpence every time he took a journey.

"Oh, don't worry yourself about that," responded the old man. "I dare say I shall get it back with interest."

"How will you?"

"The guard is a son of mine!"—London Globe.

Couldn't Feel Him.

A Morris River oysterman attended a band contest one winter night in Morris River. The contestants blew into their great horns as if to burst their lungs. The drummers banged their drums with might and main. Cheeks were red and round like apples. Eyes almost started from their sockets. The oysterman enjoyed it all. But his attention was distracted by a deaf old gentleman who in the pianissimo passages put a large silver ear trumpet to his ear. Whenever he did this the oysterman sneezed. And at last his honest hatred of anything approaching sham overcame the man's reserve. He elbowed his way to the deaf old gentleman and said:

"Look here; that don't go here. Everybody knows you can't play that with your ear. Put it away, mister. You can't fool us."—Los Angeles Times.

Toys of Revolution Times.

The toys of the French revolution period were characteristic of that terrible time. There are toys whose shadows cast the profile portraits of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette. These are turned in boxwood and are indeed interesting reminiscences of toys with the impress of history. The children of the revolution had their tiny Phrygian caps and danced the horrible carmagnoles in their play. Little models of the guillotine were made to "work," and the bodies of pigs with heads of Louis XVI. were decapitated. Models of the Bastille were popular. Playing cards with figures of revolutionary heroes were made when kings, queens and aristocratic knaves were taboo.—From "Toys of Other Days," by Mrs. F. Nevill Jackson.

Dickens' Full Name.

Charles Dickens was christened Charles John Huffam, or Huffam, as it is erroneously entered in the parish register. But when he became famous he dropped the last two Christian names, as he desired to be known as plain Charles Dickens, a wish respected on his tombstone in Westminster abbey, by his biographer and friend John Forster and by the scrupulously accurate Dictionary of National Biography.

Didn't Pass It.

A missionary in Trinidad once asked a negro sitting in idleness by the roadside how he managed to pass the time. "I sit in de sun, massa, and let de time pass me," was the quaint and philosophical reply.

Tommy's Choice.

Fond Mother—Tommy, darling, this is your birthday. What would you like to do? Tommy, Darling (after a moment's reflection)—I think I should enjoy seeing the baby spanked!—Paris Figaro.

Wicomico And The Judgeship.

It is a little difficult to understand why the Democratic State Central Committee did not carry the Crawford County system to its full extent in this County and give the voters of Wicomico an opportunity to express themselves upon the question of the Judgeship. There is no more important matter to be brought to the attention of the people this Fall than this and if the present plan of the Republican party is carried out and no nominations are made by them then the men selected by the Democratic Judicial Convention will be the next Judges in this Circuit. That being true, if the Democratic voters of Wicomico shall have no opportunity of registering their desires on the 10th of July then this county will be compelled to accept the Judges selected by the primaries of other counties without having had any opportunity whatever of voting upon the question.

It would also be interesting to know who selected the four Delegates to the Judicial Convention and in whose interest they are being sent to Ocean City. Are they for or against the nomination of Chief Judge Henry? Do they want Judge Jones renominated? Are they favorable to the candidacy of Mr. Stanford? Do they wish Mr. Pattison placed upon the ticket? Or have they a candidate of their own?

If the system of direct nominations is to control, how is it possible for a Democratic voter to make known his wants upon the question, when he has but four names presented to him as delegates to the Judicial Convention and is told to "vote for four." As no further nominations can now be made, these men will be sent without instructions and, as far as the public is concerned, without the first intimation as to whose candidacy they favor. And yet this is a wonderfully perfect system, by which every voter within the party may express his sentiments freely and fully as to all the places upon the ticket.

From a position entirely outside the breastworks it looks very much as though the organization had very carefully arranged this one feature of the primary ticket and perhaps it is not too early to see its guiding finger in other phases of the primary contest.

The Upper Pocomoke Should Be Dredged.

It is understood that Major William A. Craighill, who has been making a preliminary survey of the Pocomoke River above Snow Hill, has made an unfavorable report to the Board of Engineers in Washington. It is unfortunate that such is the case, in view of the fact that this recommendation that nothing further be done with the project will necessarily carry with it great weight with the department officials. The scheme has been in contemplation for many years, and at various times during the incumbency of Ex-Congressman Wm. H. Jackson the matter was brought to the attention of Congress and the Washington authorities. With the passage of the resolution, however, at the last session, introduced by Mr. Jackson, authorizing the preliminary surveys, it was generally believed that there would be no further difficulty in securing the necessary funds for the prosecution of the work.

Just why Major Craighill has made the recommendation he has is a mystery to all who have been interested in the matter. Even if the Government decided not to carry the dredging as far as Gumboro, certainly there is every reason why the river should be dredged at least as far as Whaleyville. This would give direct communication between the entire Pocomoke River trade and the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company and give the people of this section vastly better facilities for transportation of produce and general shipments to Baltimore and other points on the railroad.

There is a large territory between Snow Hill and Whaleyville which would be developed by the consummation of this work and it is to be hoped that either Major Craighill will change the recommendation he has made or that the Board of Engineers after having investigated the matter themselves will eventually make a favorable recommendation to the higher officials.

The Talbot Tragedy.

Few crimes in this country have produced a greater sensation and created a wider and more intense interest than the one whose final chapters are now being enacted upon the picturesque shores of Talbot County.

With her birth shrouded in mystery, the skeins of her life tangled by a thousand ramifications and her death enveloped in tragedy and peculiar pathos, the passing of the beautiful and accomplished Edith May Thompson Woodill reads like a bit of fiction, the plot of which was developed by a master mind. Perhaps some day in the white light of the revelations of another world, its thrilling details will be accessible to those who have followed the fascinating story with eager and intense interest.

However that may be it is not entirely to the credit of the enterprising journalism of the Twentieth Century that it stands ready and willing to accept in cases of this kind the theory which offers the most sensational and highly colored story, even though it compromises the victim and throws its sombre shadow beyond the grave. There are plausible theories which are not entirely incompatible with the ordinarily recognized standards of morality and it would seem that a finer chivalry and higher conception of the profession would have thrown around her broad mantle of a charity which would have lightened or dispelled the shadows whose deepening shades may settle irrevocably around her memory.

The Democratic Organization.

The organization democratic, is decidedly emphatic. That it will not be a party to a primary that's not right. But its now almighty certain that it's doing some tall flitting. With the men it wants selected for its ticket in this fight.

Its position enigmatic. Will shortly be dogmatic. And for its friends a lively hand 'twill take. For it's sure afraid its voters will be paralyzed by floaters. And a ticket nominated that will look just like a fake.

Editorial Jottings.

Progress and patriotism go hand in hand.

A saner method of celebrating the Fourth does not mean "No celebration at all."

It would be interesting to know what the Democratic voters would do if all three of the members of the last House of Delegates were candidates for re-election. In view of the different records made by them. Only one of the three reflected the sentiments of his constituents on one of the most important questions before the Legislature—the liquor issue—and he is the only one who is now a candidate. As to the other two, perhaps a word to the wise was sufficient.

"The Glorious Fourth."

Who hasn't seen the silver-tongued orator of his town mount the platform on a hot Fourth of July day and begin: "When, in the course of human events," etc? Everyone has been among those present on these time-honored occasions.

A splendid picture, illustrating a good, old-fashioned Independence Day meeting, is shown in Higgins & Schuler's window. It includes a lot of old acquaintances. There is the orator—you can call him by name; the small boy at the corner of the platform who has recently lost a battle with a giant firecracker and is waiting anxiously for the end of the reading and the beginning of the pie eating contest; the members of the Independent Cornet Band, who are very important people on a day like this; the staunch patriot radiating heat in the foreground; the good farmer and his good wife who holds a basket that makes you hungry; the parson, the village boss. Anyone can go through the picture and pick them out.

This illustration of a celebration of the Nation's birthday is the work of Samuel Nelson Abbott, and was made for Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

Why The Clothes Lacy Thoroughgood Sells Require Fewer Pressings Than All Others

A suit that has to be sent to the presser twice a week or even twice a month to be kept in shape is not a good suit. Something is wrong when the style dodges out of a garment every little while and has to be ironed into it again. Yet eight suits out of every ten suits have just that fault. The shape does not stay. The style does not last. That is why the cleaners and pressers of this town do such a rushing business. The reason is that the cloth in the garment shrinks, it knuckles to the weather elements and lets every little attack of moisture knock it shapeless. When the cloth puckers and bags, when the coat front wrinkles, when the trousers bag, even without rough usage; the cloth is shrinking; that's the trouble. Now, the clothes sold by Lacy Thoroughgood are treated by a secret process that takes all of the shrink out of them. That process renders the cloth absolutely proof against the shrink element; that is why the good shape in Thoroughgood's Clothes last so long. Do you know that Lacy Thoroughgood has sold more suits this Spring than he ever sold in one Spring before? And he will replace every suit that does bad. Thoroughgood has not sold a bad suit this Spring. Thoroughgood has SIX HUNDRED Suits now, the very cream of suits for Men and Young Men, that can be bought CHEAP. These suits were made by B. Kappenstein & Co., Chicago, and every suit has a silk label sewed on the inside coat pocket which reads: A NEW SUIT WITHOUT CHARGE IF THIS ONE PROVES UNSATISFACTORY. Just buy one suit from Lacy Thoroughgood.

LOVE AND THE PAY PATIENT.

By L. E. EBERLE.

(Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

He signed his name Robert W. Edwards, M. D., and had paid several greatly valued dollars to have it put on a neat brass plate. But really he was Dr. Bob, though he never heard himself called thus till after the very end of the story.

It was Miss Eleanor Blake who called him Dr. Bob. She was careful to let none but her own ears hear the words. When she spoke to him or of him she was most punctilious and respectful.

Miss Eleanor Blake was Dr. Bob's office nurse. Their attitudes toward one another were impeccably professional, but by a strange coincidence Dr. Bob also dropped the formal "Miss Blake" when conversing to his own inner consciousness concerning her. She became "Nellie" on these occasions, which were numerous.

Miss Eleanor Blake was well born. She had perceptions. It went to her wholesome heart to see with what smiling poise Dr. Bob waited and waited. He did not adopt bravado. He never grew embarrassed or apologetic, nor did he flinch in meeting her eyes day after day in the empty room.

So she loved him, quite hopelessly, she assured herself, for his quiet, professional manner never broke through once.

Then came the first call. Eleanor answered the telephone and kept all the elation that was bumping up and down in her heart out of her quiet, businesslike voice as she reported to Dr. Bob. She was only sorry that the patient had not come to the office so that she might have the glory of ushering him in.

Dr. Edwards hurried to the address she gave him. He said, "I don't think I shall be long, Miss Blake," and she said, "Very well, Dr. Edwards."

The address did not indicate a very good part of the city. He could not expect a rich call from that quarter. But it was a beginning—a beginning.

It took Dr. Bob some time to reach the address given him, for it led him by devious ways to an old office building, up many flights of rickety stairs and to a dark room at the end of a hall. There was no response when he knocked, but a frowzy boy from the next office appeared.

"You Dr. Edwards?" he asked. Dr. Bob admitted that he was.

"He told me 'I give you this here,'" said the boy and handed him a folded paper, then disappeared. Dr. Edwards opened the paper. The words "Foolish again" and a slangy sentence or two greeted his eyes. He went downstairs, wondering which of the fellows at the clinic had devised the subtle joke.

Dr. Bob returned quietly to his office. Eleanor as she saw him return so soon, with his face more quietly composed than ever, conjectured that he had found his patient beyond human help. She was sorry on his account.

She tried to work off her vague feeling of sympathy, for she did not know what by going into the operating room and cleaning again the often cleaned but never used instruments. She stayed at her work till after hours, till suddenly the consciousness that she was alone and lonely came over her.

She finished her task quickly, then quietly opened the door into Dr. Bob's office.

Dr. Bob was sitting at his desk, his arms across it and his head on his arms. There was a stillness about him, a look of having been motionless forever, that brought Eleanor to his side with one terrified dart. She seized his hands, and he looked up at her. His stillness was pain, not what she had feared.

That foolish joke had brought down crushing on his head all the burden of all that waiting and hoping, and the slight of it took away every conscious thought in Eleanor's mind that the man she loved was suffering.

She took his hands in hers, whispering in a mechanical way: "Let me help. Let me help. Let me help." But she was scarcely aware of it.

Dr. Bob looked at her with light in his eyes. He laid his hands on her shoulders and gazed down at her with a face wise and loving.

"When the first patient comes," he said.

Eleanor decided against the new summer suit. She was saving very strenuously, for she had a purpose in view.

One day she counted her money. Then she put on her hat and went to call on a cousin. The cousin had married poor, had a swarm of children and was chronically ill. When Eleanor came away the cousin said she'd go to the doctor tomorrow and swore between kisses, hugs and fearful maudlinings that she'd never, never tell who had sent her.

The patient—the first patient—was to arrive the next day! The weather was the hot, soggy kind that enervates a spring feverish world in May. The saying that Eleanor had done had meant much overwork and late hours. She was physically at her limit and nervously at her most uneven. She was haggard with anxiety and was made a coward by each footstep sounding near the door.

The hour came for Rhoda—but no Rhoda came with the hour. Eleanor watched eagerly from the window and then she saw Rhoda at last.

Rhoda was stealing swiftly along the opposite side of the street, in her hand a box containing the chief treasure from the window of a big milliner's store, the purse that had contained Eleanor's savings clutched as tightly in her hand as if it still had in it the money that had been tempted from her.

Eleanor obeyed a blind impulse. With one reckless rush she left the office door and plunged into the stream of passing vehicles and across the street.

A moment later she was lying white on the pavement, blood trickling from her shoulder, and a crowd gathering about her and the panic stricken chauffeur whose machine had run her down. Then Dr. Bob was bending over her and raising her tenderly, lovingly, in loving, strong arms.

When she came to again she was lying on a couch in an operating room that was very familiar to her, with implements about her that she had cleaned herself day after day for the patients that never came.

She lay still and white till Dr. Edwards began to wonder at her slow recovery. He did not know what wondrous dreams had suddenly turned to ice that weighted and froze and broke her. But he did know that the pulse was gaining no strength, the cheeks were bloodless and the eyes listless and dull, and he did know that he would like to fling aside his remedies and try how kisses would reddens the pale lips.

Then miraculously there was a wave of crimson over her face, her lips parted with the very breath of inspiration, her eyes burned victoriously, and Eleanor turned to him. She stretched up her arms to him irresistibly.

"Your first patient! Your first patient! You have one now! Your promise, your promise!"

"But," said Dr. Bob when he was capable of recollecting anything, "it was to be my first pay patient."

Before he could prevent, Eleanor lifted herself, bandaged shoulder and all, from the operating couch and stood before him more like Diana triumphant than the pale creature who had lain there. She was counting the money in the purse at her girdle, but as she counted her face fell and despair again overcame her. Then—inspiration!

"With my professional percentage deducted!" she exclaimed and fell to counting again. But even now—must she lose? Then—inspiration again! "Will you take stamps?" she asked, laughing, embarrassed, holding out in a wondrously mixed handful the amount of the fee to Dr. Bob, helpless between love and laughter.

"Nellie, Nellie!" said Dr. Bob. Maggie in her excitement popped her head in without knocking.

"It's from Mrs. Martin's—the rich Mrs. Martin's," she said breathlessly, "and she wants you immediate, sir."

An Abrupt Proposal.

The reported fashion of the famous Dr. Abernethy's courtship and marriage is very characteristic. It is told that while attending a lady for several weeks he observed those admirable qualifications in her daughter which he truly esteemed to render the married state happy. Accordingly on a Saturday, taking leave of his patient, he addressed her to the following purpose:

"You are now so well that I need not see you after Monday next, when I shall come and pay you a farewell visit. But in the meantime I wish you and your daughter to seriously consider the proposal I am about to make. It is abrupt and unceremonious, I am aware, but the excessive occupation of my time by my professional duties affords me no leisure to accomplish what I desire by the more ordinary course of attention and solicitation. My annual receipts amount to £—, and I can settle £— on my wife. My character is generally known to the public, so that you may readily ascertain what it is. I have seen in your daughter a tender and affectionate child, an assiduous and careful nurse and a gentle and ladylike member of a family. Such a person must be all that a husband could covet, and I offer my hand and fortune for her acceptance. On Monday when I call I shall expect your determination, for I really have not time for the routine of courtship."

In this manner the lady was wooed and won, and it may be added the union was felicitous in every respect.

When Boston Shuddered.

"The superior intelligence of Boston continues to excite the envy of her sister cities," recently observed a prominent Bostonian, "and I propose to add fuel to the flame by citing the newest instance thereof. A little boy in the Back Bay district, at whose house occur many meetings of a certain literary club, was asked not long ago by a returned Bostonian what had become of a family named Deering."

"The Deerings?" said the boy. "Oh, they're not asked here any more. They're no longer on mother's list."

"No longer on the list? What's the matter?"

"Why, haven't you heard? Drusilla Deering sent a sonnet to the Atlantic that contained twenty lines!"—Lippincott's.

Charles Hawtrey's Twang.

"Once on a time"—It is Charles Hawtrey who tells this tale—"I tried to sink my identity in the part of a man who was my dearest friend. I had known him since he was a baby. I wanted to sink my own identity and copy him. I was not allowed to. This is how it happened:

"De Wolf Hopper had put on in London a burlesque of a play in which Mrs. Langtry and myself were acting. Some one burlesqued me, of course. He had merely a few lines to say, but he did it very well. It so happened that on the night it was produced I was not acting. So I strolled round to Hopper's theater and suggested to him that I should take the part myself that night. The idea of parodying oneself seemed to me rather original. He consented, and on I went just in dress clothes, as the character called for. It was a great success, all except the identification. I lost that, but not enough. The London Times came out the next morning with the following:

"The resemblance to Mr. Hawtrey was certainly remarkable and would have been more so had it not been for the pronounced American accent."

"That was the first and last time I have ever been accused of a twang."—New York Tribune.

Sixteenth Century Meals.

Judging from a passage in Harrison's "Description of Britain," breakfast eating in the sixteenth century was held to denote effeminacy. "Heretofore," he writes, "there hath been more time spent in eating and drinking than commonly is in these days; for whereas of old we had breakfasts in the forenoon, beverages or nuntions, after dinner, and thero rears supper when it was time to go to rest, now these old repasts, thanked be God, are verily well left, and each one (except here and there some young hungry stomach that cannot fast till dinner time) contenteth himself with dinner and supper onlie. The nobilitie, gentrie and students ordinarilie go to dinner at 11 before noon and to supper at 5 or between 5 and 6 at afternoon. The merchants dine and sup seldom before 12 at noon and 6 at night, especially in London. The husbandmen dine also at high noon and sup at 7 or 8, but out of the teame, in our universities, the scholars dine at 10."

Saved by His Wit.

The French author Martainville was a royalist and did not hesitate to attack the French revolution and its authorities. Presently, of course, he was summoned to appear before the revolutionary tribunal, with the terrible Fouquier at its head. The revolutionary tribunals at that time did not hesitate to send everybody to the guillotine who had ventured to attack them. Martainville expected to go with the rest of the victims. "What is your name?" asked the revolutionary judge. "Martainville," said the young author. "Martainville!" exclaimed the judge. "You are deceiving us and trying to hide your rank. You are an aristocrat, and your name is De Martainville." "Citizen president," exclaimed the young man, "I am here to be shortened, not to be lengthened! Leave me my name!" A true Frenchman loves a witicism above all things, and the tribunal was so much pleased by Martainville's grim response that it spared his life.

The Krakatoa Eruption.

Perhaps the most remarkable volcanic eruption known was that which took place in August, 1883, at the island of Krakatoa, in the strait of Sunda. Streams of volcanic dust were thrown seventeen miles high, and more than a cubic mile of material was expelled from the volcanic crater. The air waves started by the eruption traveled around the earth seven times. The noise was heard at Macassar, 969 miles away; at Borneo, 1,116 miles distant; in Western Australia, 1,700 miles away, and even at Rodrigues, distant more than 2,900 miles. The dust and powdered pumice thrown out of the crater made the entire circuit of the earth before settling down and were the cause of the strange sunsets that were observed for many months.—New York American.

A Crusher.

A consequential little man entered the commercial room of a big hotel not long back and gave a vigorous pull at the bell. As no one answered he rang again more loudly than before. A maid-servant then came in, and the following colloquy took place:

Servant—Who rang that bell? Little Man (making most of his height)—I did.

Servant (earnestly)—And who lifted you up to it?—London Telegraph.

New Style in Creases.

Frenchmen, who regard King Edward VII. of England as the best dressed man in Europe, have been interested in noticing since his majesty has been in Paris incognito that he wears his trousers creased down the side instead of down the front.

"Baby Party" in Society.

Miss Mabel Page, a society girl of Bayonne, N. J., gave a baby party the other night. Guests appeared in infants' costumes, some acting as nurses. Coffee was served from nursing bottles.

Difficult Breathing

Short breath, fluttering, palpitation, sinking spells are symptoms of a weak heart, struggling to do its work. It must keep the blood in circulation to carry nourishment to make flesh, bone and muscle, and remove the worn-out particles. When it cannot do this, it must have help. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure gives strength to the heart nerves and muscles, and increases the heart action.

"I am glad to say that I am so much improved in health. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me when several doctors failed. I think no other medicine could do for me what Heart Cure has done. My case was bad; had me it could be at times. I had difficulty in getting my breath, my heart beat so fast at times that I thought it impossible to live without relief. The pain was very severe in my left side, and my nerves were all unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of being cured, and I am sure I would not, if I had not taken the Heart Cure. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Miles' remedies to all who suffer with heart disease."

Bigger Than the Sun.

A minute parallax of about one-sixtieth of a second of arc found for Arcturus by Dr. Elkin gave a most astounding result. This small parallax implies a distance from the earth equal to about 12,000,000 times the sun's distance. This vast distance would produce a diminution of light of about thirty-five and one-fourth magnitudes, so that the sun placed at the distance of Arcturus would be reduced to a star of only nine and three-fourth magnitudes. It would not be visible with an opera glass. Arcturus is therefore in round numbers nine and one-half magnitudes, or over 6,000 times brighter than the sun would be at the same distance. Assuming the same density and brightness of surface as the sun, the diameter of Arcturus would therefore be about seventy-nine times the sun's diameter, or over 98,000,000 miles, and its mass about 500,000 times the mass of the sun—figures well calculated to "stagger the imagination."

Why Sailors Like "Slops."

It has long been observed that the sailor, whether in commercial or government service, takes a peculiar delight in "mixing up" with the blue coat, but this inclination has been attributed more to a natural exuberance which comes with a land leave, accelerated somewhat by artificial means, than to an animus inherent with deep sea life. But why this feeling? Perhaps it is that the strict rules of marine service, the long periods of close confinement to which the seaman is subjected, make him a hater of any one who wears the emblem of authority when he is temporarily enjoying freedom on shore leave away from the restraints aboard ship. The sailor wants liberty in its full sense, and realizing that the bluecoat is the chief obstacle to his obtaining it, he develops a firm conviction that the policeman ought to be trounced on general principles. In time it becomes his chief peaceful ambition.—Brooklyn Standard Union.

Poetic Justice.

A certain couple in a New England village, each the parent of six children, had meted out to them a kind of poetic justice in which they failed to see, the poetry.

The woman, a widow, pleading that she had no home and was therefore unable to care for her children, induced the local authorities to admit them to an orphan asylum. The man, a widower, pleading he had no housekeeper and therefore no one to care for his children, induced the authorities to admit his six also. Thereupon, being freed from all incumbrances, these two married.

All went well for a few months, when the authorities, learning of the situation, promptly dispatched the twelve children back to their parents, and the woman no longer able to represent herself as homeless or the man as without a housekeeper, they were forced to receive them.

Death in Various Forms.

A crank came running into the office and said that a man swallowed a two foot rule and died by inches. The editor started out at once to learn further particulars of the death and, meeting Dr. Martin, told him about the case. He said that was nothing; that he had a patient once who swallowed a thermometer and died by degrees. A couple of bystanders just then chipped in. One of them said it reminded him of a fellow in Kansas who swallowed a pistol and went off easy. The other one said he had a friend who took a quart of applejack and died in good spirits.—Exchange.

Bird Sanctuary in Town Common.

The growth of the garden city, Letchworth, in England, threatens to drive birds to more secluded spots. To prevent this the directors propose to convert Norton common, in the center of the town, into a bird sanctuary. Here weeds, grasses, berries and fruits of various kinds which are pleasing to birds will be cultivated, and part of the common will be fenced in for nesting.

with Deputy Sheriff Waller started in pursuit. Upon their arrival at the store they were informed that a man answering the description of Cullison had left 30 minutes before. The search was continued but the deserter managed to keep about 30 minutes ahead of the officials all afternoon. Toward evening he telephoned his wife that he was at Fruitland and that he wanted her to meet him on the arrival of the 7 o'clock train at Salisbury.

Mrs. Ball made the engagement with him and then immediately notified the officials of his intentions to come to Salisbury. Accordingly the train was met but Cullison failed to arrive. It was learned later that he was standing on the platform at Fruitland when the train left that station. He has not been seen since and nothing has been heard from him but it is believed that he is still in hiding in this neighborhood and that his arrest will follow shortly.

Cullison first enlisted in 1905 but deserted after remaining in the service only a short time. During the time he was in Salisbury he was being sought by the Government. He was captured last August and was serving sentence at Fort Howard when, in December, he and the guard who was in charge of him made their escape together. An offer of $50.00 reward is made for his delivery to the nearest fort of the United States Army.

A Discovery by Chance.

Figuerra, the master of early engraving, delighted in doing deeds of kindness. One day a washerwoman in washing a piece of clothing in which a needle had been carelessly left had the misfortune to run it into her hand. The needle broke, and more than half of it was left imbedded in the flesh. It gave her much pain, and as soon as she could she went to Finguerra's studio, put down the bundle of damp clothes that she was carrying to their owner and asked the artist to help her. After much patient, careful manipulation with his fine tools he succeeded in extracting the broken needle.

The woman thanked him, and as she lifted her damp bundle to leave the studio Finguerra noticed that it had rested upon one of his engravings and had received an excellent impression from it. The engraving, like all others of that time, was a metal plate complete in itself and was regarded as a single picture. The impression made upon the damp cloth suggested to the alert mind of Finguerra the possibility of producing an indefinite number of pictures from a single original. By experimenting he perfected his discovery and eventually made it possible for all homes to have beautiful engravings, for previous to his discovery only the wealthy could afford them.

NOISELESS AIRSHIP.

Features of Craft Being Built by Captain T. S. Baldwin.

OVERCOMES A BIG HANDICAP.

One of the most serious drawbacks has been clutter of dirigible craft's machinery—California. Claims to Have Solved Intricate Problem.

Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, the California aeronaut, whose dirigible airship was accepted by the United States government last year, recently made the interesting statement that the new dirigible now being built for him at Hammondport, N. Y., will be a noiseless machine.

"I will make my new machine so devoid of noise when in operation," said Captain Baldwin, "that two men in the machine will be able to carry on a conversation in a whisper. This will be done by muffling the engine and using ball and roller bearings for the propellers. There ought to be no great difficulty in preventing excessive noise in a dirigible while in the air. The solution is one of improved construction."

"Up to the present time the main effort has been directed toward getting in the air. Now that this has been accomplished, refinements in mechanical work will follow, and the next few years, I predict, will see scores of improvements which will make airships highly practicable for a number of purposes."

Added interest in the future practicability of airships has recently been aroused from the criticisms made by Prince Henry of Prussia in a lecture which he recently gave at the Marine academy at Kiel, describing his trip in the immense Zeppelin airship. Among other things he regarded the noise of the propellers as a serious disadvantage, being calculated to betray the approach of the ship in wartime. To send orders from the bridge to men in other parts of the ship it is necessary to write them and send them in a carrier attached to an endless wire, as it is impossible to hear a voice above the din of the motors. This difficulty has been experienced in all similar machines.

To permit the man at the motor to give quick orders to the man steering at the rear of the machine Lieutenant Lahm advised the equipment of the government airship with speaking tubes, and this will probably be in use when the military dirigible resumes its aerial flight this year.

Prince Henry in summing up the results of the Zeppelin invention said that the problem of reaching a fixed and not too distant point in not too unfavorable weather conditions was solved, but he thought that the question whether steerable airships were at present suitable as regular means of communication or could be employed for purposes of war must be regarded skeptically.

A steerable airship, he added, could not make headway against wind above a certain velocity, and, further, the internal combustion engine is not yet capable of undertaking a long distance journey. Moreover, the altitude that can be attained is limited by the fact that above a certain height, owing to the decreasing density of the atmosphere, the propellers meet with less resistance, while the motors give unsatisfactory results owing to the decrease of oxygen.

"An airship will always, more or less, be at the mercy of the wind," said Captain Baldwin. "A steamship cannot make its best headway in a storm or against adverse head winds, and the same is true when one tries to sail in changing air currents. My new machine will be built for a speed of twenty-two miles an hour. Going against a ten mile wind, therefore, the machine will go only about twelve miles an hour, and if the wind is greater than twenty-two miles it will be at its mercy to just that extent. But this is the least of the evils, and I believe all the difficulties enumerated by Prince Henry will be overcome in time through improved methods of construction."

"Take the noise difficulty, for instance. No effort has thus far been made to lessen it. Muffling an engine naturally curtails some of its power. The airship people have pursued the policy that they needed the maximum power of their engines. That isn't always necessary, for the Zeppelin airship while buffeted by the winds kept aloft although one engine had ceased to work. In the trials with the government machine we frequently found it advisable to throttle the engine, as we were getting more power than we needed. The improvement in gasoline engine building no longer requires that the maximum power be used to attain satisfactory results under ordinary conditions. It is there, however, if needed."—New York Cor. Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What They Make Judges Out Of.

Justice David Brewer of the United States supreme court, during an address before the students of law at the University of Pennsylvania, told them one of the experiences of his judicial career at his own expense.

"It happened I was sitting at one time on a number of cases in which a good friend of mine was interested as counsel, and it also happened that in many of them my decisions were rendered against my friend's clients. One day after the completion of such a case we sat together talking, when a very bashful young man from the rural districts came in to see me bearing a card of introduction to obtain my advice upon the choice of a profession. 'What do you think you want to do?' I asked him. 'I kind of thought I'd better study law,' he replied, 'not that I want to very much, but because I guess I'd like to be a judge. They make judges out of lawyers, don't they?' he asked, somewhat hesitatingly. 'Once in awhile,' my legal friend replied before I could answer. 'Once in awhile they do, but not often.'"—Philadelphia Press.

He Wasn't Fooled.

A once famous publisher was a man well acquainted with general literature, and it was often said of him that he never failed to name the author of any given passage. A would be writer, thinking to have a little fun at this gentleman's expense, told his friends at a dinner party before the said publisher's arrival that he had himself written some verses in imitation of Southey and that he intended to puzzle old F. with the question of their authorship.

Accordingly later in the evening the was quoted his lines, and, turning to Mr. F., he said: "I am sure they are Southey's from their style, but I cannot remember where they occur. Of course you can tell us."

"I cannot say I remember them," replied Mr. F., "but there are only two periods in Southey's life when he could have written them."

"When were those?" asked the joker, with a wink at his friends.

"Either in his infancy or his dotage," was the quiet reply.

Spanish Railroad Trains.

The Spanish train averages possibly twenty miles an hour—to allow one to make time exposures of the scenery perhaps. I makes frequent and long waits. At every station the guards run up and down, shouting the name of the town and the number of minutes for each stop. At every station also the two military guards who accompany each train descend and walk around the cars, looking to see that no robbers are concealed. As there is at least one stop an hour these guards get some exercise before the day is over. They say this custom was adopted to drive away any brigands who might be concealed in or under the train and that it has been successful. These military guards are very fine looking men and wear an impressive uniform. We saw more than one black eyed senorita look approvingly after them as they passed by.—Outing Magazine.

Getting at the Truth.

At twenty-three he thought fate was making a special effort to keep him down.

At thirty-five he thought he might have done great things if his wife had not been such a handicap.

At forty he believed he would have been a great man if his children had not made it necessary for him to cling to the sure things.

At fifty he was positive that there was a conspiracy against him on the part of his fellow men.

At sixty he felt that if he could have been thirty-five again nothing could have stopped him.

At seventy he began to believe that he had failed because of a lack of courage and inability to make the most of his opportunities.

At eighty he was almost sure of it.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Savages.

In the New Hebrides are many islands whose interiors have never been visited by Europeans, for the simple reason that to attempt to do so would be to court certain death at the hands of the treacherous and vindictive natives. A little to the north of Assam, too, almost within sight of the tea gardens and the pretty bungalows of the planters, is the country of the Padamites, wherein no white man has dared to set his foot for at least 500 years past.

Punishment and Crime.

"She seems to be having a pretty good time now that she and her husband are separated," whispered the three girls in the corner as she entered the room.

"I don't blame her," said one. "He beat her, didn't he?"

"They looked her over again."

"Well, I don't blame him for beating her," the third declared, "if she dressed like that. That red is awful."—Exchange.

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I board."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NEW KIND OF SURGERY.

High Pressure Air Apparatus Used in Thorax Operation.

KEPT BOY'S LUNGS INFLATED.

Device, First Time Used in the United States, Is Expected to Open New Field in Operations For Tuberculosis and Other Pulmonary Troubles.

The first operation in the United States upon a human being in which the cavity of the thorax was opened while the lungs were inflated from a chamber containing air at a greater pressure than that of the atmosphere was performed recently at the German hospital, Seventy-seventh street and Park avenue, New York, by Dr. Willy Meyer. That institution has been the first hospital to be equipped with the new positive air pressure apparatus. The operation upon a little boy for empyema thus far is deemed to have been successful. The patient's condition has been satisfactory since the operation.

It is believed that the use of this apparatus will open up a wide field in surgery of the thorax. Up to this time many operations in the thorax have been difficult to perform and others impossible, owing to the fact that as soon as the cavity of the thorax was opened the atmospheric pressure collapsed the lungs and breathing stopped.

The apparatus used, which is after the models of Professor Sauerbruch to a degree, consists of two chambers with a door between the chambers and a door from the smaller chamber to the outer air. The chambers are lined with rubber. To them run air pipes and valves from a compressor run by a motor.

The operating table is arranged so that the patient lies outside the main chamber with his head within it. Rubber about the neck of the patient keeps the air within the chamber from escaping. The front of the larger chamber is of glass, which allows the surgeons to see within it. Within the larger chamber when an operation is performed are two anaesthetists, who administer the ether. The smaller chamber is for their convenience. The air pressure within it is the same as that within the larger chamber and permits them to leave the patient and return without changing the pressure.

In the operation at the German hospital the pressure was increased very gradually until it was deemed at the proper degree for the operation. Then the cavity of the thorax was opened. While the lungs were inflated and respiration was going on from the compressed air chamber Dr. Meyer and his assistants were working in the open air. After the cavity of the thorax had been opened it was found that one lung was compressed. With the removal of the matter which was the object of the operation the lung expanded at once and its use in respiration returned.

This, it was said, was unusual, for without the use of the positive pressure apparatus it would have been weeks or months before the lung would have dilated sufficiently. In this way a gain was made in the convalescence of the patient. It was said that the little boy recently operated on would be out in less than a month.

The positive air pressure apparatus and its methods will be applied in the near future to other operations in which the thoracic cavity is opened. For instance, there is carcinoma of the oesophagus.

Prior to the existence of the positive air pressure apparatus it was impossible to operate for this disease. The operation, however, to relieve this has been performed successfully in Europe with the use of the apparatus. It was thought, too, that the new apparatus might lead to important results in tuberculosis. It was said that certain parts of the lungs could be cut away, since the apparatus would keep the lungs inflated with every respiration while the surgeons worked in ordinary atmospheric pressure.

POLICE WOMEN FOR BAYONNE

Laws of Politeness and Gentleness the Ones They Will Enforce.

Police women are to be a reality in Bayonne, N. J. Having been authorized by the city council, at the suggestion of Mrs. Julia Goldzier, nine volunteers will do duty policing the park during the summer. The feminine officers will not bear the common name of police women, but will be known as guardian mothers and will not wear uniforms, as was at first reported. Their duty will not be so much to make arrests as to instill a spirit of politeness in the Bayonne youngsters. They will urge the children not to make noise, to be gentle and to rise always and give their seats to elders. The guardian mothers will do duty on alternate afternoons and will serve without pay. Some one has proposed that they carry the proverbial slipper or paddle instead of a club, but this question had not been officially settled.

Man With the Conundrum.

The man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears comes to the desk of the man with the dispirited mustache and asks:

"Why is a man who goes on an expedition to discover the south pole and after many months of toil and privation during which he eats all his canned goods and half of his dogs and then returns to civilization with a fixed appetite for boot heels and hat brims—why is he like a woman who has been waiting impatiently since midnight for the sound of the latch-key as her husband endeavors to unlock the front door without awakening the entire neighborhood?"

The man with the discouraged mustache shakes his head impatiently, and the other repeats the question, whereupon the man with the discouraged mustache asks:

"What is the difference between a lady reading a hair restorer ad. and a man who asks fool questions when you are busy? Answer—Because they are both about ready to die."

"Oh, very well!" sniffs the man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears. The answer to mine is that both are getting ready to deliver a lecture, but I wouldn't tell you if you pleaded with tears in your eyes."

And with a haughty tread he departs.—Chicago Post.

Stevenson and Dreams.

Robert Louis Stevenson owed much of his inspiration to dreams. In one passage he attributed some of his finest work to the "brownies" who haunted his brain during moments of unconsciousness. "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" owes its origin to a dream. "I had long been trying to write a story on this subject," writes Stevenson, "to find a body, a vehicle, for that strong sense of man's double being which must at times come in upon and overwhelm the mind of every thinking creature. For two days I went about racking my brains for a plot of any sort, and on the second night I dreamed the scene at the window and a scene afterward split in two, in which Hyde, pursued for some crime, took the powder and underwent the change in the presence of his pursuers. All the rest was made awake and consciously, although I think I can trace in much of it the manner of my brownies."

Double Quick Composing.

Sir Arthur Sullivan wrote the overture to "The Yeomen of the Guard" in twelve hours and that to "Iolanthe" in less space of time—from 9 p. m. to 7 a. m. But even this capacity for speed in composition is eclipsed by M. Bompard, who for a wager composed the music to a song in ten minutes. Mr. N. Trotere, however, is the composer of whom most quick time anecdotes are told. His beautiful song "Asthore" was both written and composed in forty minutes in Blanchard's restaurant. The melody of "In Old Madrid" was the result of a sudden inspiration. It came to the composer while on his way home from the aquarium. Lest it should escape him he rushed into a small public house in Rochester row, seized a biscuit bag and on it jotted down the air. But Mr. Trotere holds the championship. It is said that he actually composed "The Brow of the Hill," wrote a letter and ran 400 yards to post it in eight minutes.—Dundee Advertiser.

Odd Names in China.

Chinese children are endowed with strange Christian names. Their girls, for instance, are not called Mabel, Jenny or Matilda, but Cloudy Moon, Celestial Happiness, Spring Peach or Casket of Perfumes. Their boys get less attractive names, being made for work and wisdom rather than pleasure and dancing. Thus we find a little two-year-old Practical Industry; three-year-old, Ancestral Knowledge; four-year-old, Complete Virtue; five-year-old, Discreet Valor. To their slaves they give still another set of names. Not For Me, Joy to Serve, Your Happiness and Humble Devotion may be taken as typical examples.

Harold Chose the Easier Way.

Maynard had been naughty, and his father, after showing him his fault, had sent him up to his room to ask God to forgive him for being a bad boy. Three-year-old Harold was present, but seemed to take no notice of the conversation. It was his turn, however, before many days to receive punishment, and his father took him across his knee. "Oh, don't, papa," he said. "I would rather go upstairs and pray."—Delineator.

John's Great Loss.

"For goodness' sake, Harriet, why so sad?" "The cook's left, but that isn't the worst of it. She took with her the recipe book for all the things John's mother used to make."—Brooklyn Life.

Not His Hat.

Principal—Johnnie, I'm surprised that your French is so weak. Now, think, Chapeau—what is that? What does your father throw up when he's merry? Johnnie—His job, sir.—London Tit-Bits.

A Legal Difference.

BIG TREAT FOR LEPERS

Moving Pictures Give Many at Molokai First View of World.

INTENSE INTEREST SHOWN.

Several of the Unfortunate but Eager Spectators Had Never Seen a City. Result of the Contribution of a Special Fund to Buy a Machine.

One of the most marvelous experiences in the history of the Molokai leper settlement came to the people of that shut-in isolation a short time ago when a moving picture machine was installed in Baretania hall, their public place of assemblage, for their entertainment.

It was not merely that they saw moving pictures for the first time, but for the first time, to a very great number of them, it was their first glimpse into the world beyond the narrow confines of the settlement. Very many of them had never seen a city until they saw those projected on the moving-picture screen. Elephants, camels, bears, lions and the other animals of the circus or the zoo were presented to them for the first time. Fire engines, police patrols, moving troops, the thousand and one commonplaces of the picture machine, came to them not only with the force of novelty, but with the effect of something unheard of and undreamed of before.

Some months ago at the suggestion of Superintendent McVeigh of the settlement a movement was started to procure a moving picture machine to be sent to the settlement for the entertainment of the people there. A fund was contributed, the machine and a supply of films were bought, and R. E. Bonine, who has traveled the world over securing strange scenes for moving picture exhibitions, volunteered to go over and install the machine. This he did, and the greatest interest in the matter was felt at the settlement. Every operation of the process of installing the apparatus was watched by nearly the whole population, and when finally the first exhibition was given wonder and excitement knew no bounds.

In addition to the films that have been provided by the donors for the settlement, Mr. Bonine took a large number of his own films to exhibit there for the entertainment of the people. So intensely interested were they that no amount of repetition of the pictures seemed to tire them. At their earnest invitation Mr. Bonine decided to remain another week at the settlement to exhibit his own pictures often enough so that every one in the settlement shall have opportunity to see them and more thoroughly to instruct some of the lepers how to manipulate the machine, so that there need be no interruption in the regularity or frequency of the exhibitions after he leaves.

It is expected that funds for new films will be donated from time to time by the public in Honolulu, so that the people at the settlement will have new moving pictures to look at at intervals. Mr. Bonine says that in all his experience he has never seen such absorbing interest in moving pictures anywhere.—Honolulu Special Correspondence New York Post.

ODD FASHION IN BOUQUETS.

New Yorkers Marvel at an Easter Parade's Floral Pillow.

There were many novel features to the Easter parade in Riverside drive, New York, the other day, but the couple who attracted most attention comprised a middle aged man and woman obviously out to exhibit their spring finery.

What drew the eyes, however, was not so much the man's ultra shiny cheap, gray spats and accurately pressed frock coat as his companion's enormous peach basket hat and costume of brilliant colors, which no man could describe.

It was a new fashion in bouquets she initiated that left the passersby agape. It suggested nothing so much as the floral pillows once popular at some funerals.

The body of the bouquet was of violets. This was outlined at the top with a double row of lilies of the valley and at the bottom with a large cluster of bright red roses. The entire creation extended from beneath her chin to her waist.

"It's easy to tell where that came from," one startled spectator said to another. "The husband's an undertaker."

BIG TENPIN CONTEST

Women Bowlers to Compete For World's Championship.

NEED NOT BE CLUB MEMBERS.

Tourney to Be Held in New York With Be Conducted Under Rules of Eastern Ladies' Bowling Center—Figures For National Bowling Tournament Reach Huge Proportions.

Every woman bowler in America is invited to enter the individual competition for the world's championship to be held in Madison Square Garden, in New York, on May 24 to June 12, during the three weeks given to the national championships for men by the National Bowling association. Final arrangements for the tournament have been perfected with the United Tournament company, which has been organized to handle the National Bowling association events.

This is the only tournament for women that will be held in the big garden. There will be no entry or other fees of any kind, and every competitor will have free admission to the garden during the tournament. Club membership is unnecessary, as the entries are all made by individual registration. In recognition of the eastern ladies' bowling congress, an organization of 300 or more members, that has done so much for bowling among women in the east, the garden event will be conducted under its rules, which are the same as those of the New York Bowling association.

The first prize will be a valuable diamond emblem, probably in the form of a brooch or locket suitably engraved. This trophy will be recognized as emblematic of the world's championship. Other medals of gold, silver and bronze are for second, third and fourth prizes. Each woman will roll three games, total pins to count, as in the individual competition for the men and boys. Games will be rolled only in the afternoon.

Quite as much interest has been awakened among the women in the west over this tournament as among those in the east and in Greater New York. Miss Gertrude Hull of Chicago, who won the Olympic championship at St. Louis; Miss Birdie Kern, daughter of Martin Kern of St. Louis, the former national champion; Miss Hermann, daughter of Gary Hermann of Cincinnati, chairman of the national baseball commission; Miss Bergman of Philadelphia and many women bowlers of note will all be competitors for the diamond medal.

In the garden they will meet for the first time the best of the east, among them Mrs. P. J. Riddell, who defeated Mrs. Hull at Rochester last year, and all the stars of the eastern ladies' bowling congress.

In this competition, as in that for the men and boys, where tournament conditions make the result extremely open, every woman bowler will have an equal chance to win the diamond trophy and the world's championship.

Rather remarkable are the results when a person with an inclination for mathematics delves into figures pertaining to the national bowling championship tournament.

On the basis that 500 five man teams will compete, there will be 25,000 games rolled—300,000 frames. Figuring on eighteen balls to a game, 450,000 deliveries will be made.

With each ball traveling eighty-five feet and back, or 170 feet to each delivery, means that $1,800,000 feet, or about 17,388 miles, will be the distance covered by bowling balls in the garden. This is six times the distance between New York and San Francisco.

Each ball weighing sixteen pounds, a total weight of 8,640,000 pounds will be lifted, or about 4,320 tons, the weight of an ocean steamship. Each bowler will lift and handle nearly half a ton.

Approximately 5,400,000 pins will be knocked down, a weight of 17,550,000 pounds, or 8,775 tons. The combined weight of the balls delivered and the pins knocked down will be greater than the weight of the steamship St. Louis.

The time for bowling will extend over eighteen days. There will be $50,000 in prizes, $1,000 of which will be given to the winning five man team.

There will be three distinct titular competitions—five man, two man and individual.

Eighty-five per cent of all the entrance fees are returned to the bowlers in prizes.

Thirty thousand score sheets will be necessary to record the games, each sheet having room for three games and being issued in triplicate. The aerial scoring system, by which every person in the garden may follow the progress of each ball rolled, will cost $1,500 to install.

One team will enter from Germany and one or more teams from the Pacific coast. The tournament will be the largest bowling event ever held, both in point of entries and spectators. Of course a mathematical person, fond of research to an exhaustive degree, might attempt to ascertain the amount of skin worn off the fingers of the bowlers or the amount of nervous energy wasted in expressing the feeling of a man who has just missed a spare in the tournament or encountered an impossible split.

JOE CANNON AT 73.

Speaker of the House Frisky as a Colt.

BELIEVES IN WORKING HARD.

"Put Best Foot Forward and Keep A-hustling," is his rule of life. Danced a Jig a Few Weeks Ago and Outshuffled an Orchestra—Strong in His Likes and Dislikes.

Uncle Joe Cannon, the speaker of the house, having survived the ordeal of his seventy-third birthday, looked as chipper the other day as he did ten years ago. He appeared just as pugnacious, too, as ever, and he said he expected to be around and "doing things" on a good many more birthdays. He put in his seventy-third anniversary much the same as he does every other working day in the year. After a call on President Taft and a visit to the committee on appropriations he put a red carnation on the lapel of his coat and waded through a mass of letters and telegrams of congratulation.

The speaker stands pat on his declaration that "this country is a hell of a success." This was a quotation ascribed to the speaker which properly summed up his estimate of the United States.

"I don't believe I said it," said the speaker. "It shocked a lot of good people, but it is true. In this country, where 90 per cent of the people are trying to push ahead, where they are racing to get in advance of the other 10 per cent, it is up to those in the rear to try to equal them by using their mental and physical ability. The country has no patience with those who are discontented and abnormal. The applause is for the one in front. The man who attains power and keeps it deserves his success. Carping and complaining will not advance the man in the rear. He must put his best foot forward and try his hardest."

These sentiments were born with Uncle Joe in Guilford, N. C., on May 7, 1836. It was the practice of these sentiments that got him into public life and kept him there. He has spent thirty-four years in the house of representatives. Prior to that eight years were given to the state of Illinois as a district attorney. In all of that time Joseph G. Cannon has been trying and trying hard. He has had to try, because leadership in the house of representatives is not a birthright or a legacy. The man who wins must be the best politician of 300 other best politicians of the United States.

Aside from the constitutional authority to preside over the house, the speaker has a wealth of political wisdom as a scepter of power. With these two attributes he has popularity and an iron hand. Seven years ago he was elected speaker of the Fifty-eighth congress. He took the gavel from General Henderson of Iowa. Speaker Henderson had taken the place of Czar Reed and his rules along with it. Speaker Cannon has taken the Reed rules and outcarried the czar. No man who has ever presided over the house has dominated it as completely as the present occupant of the chair. True, many fights have been made on him, but not once has the opposition been able to put much of a dent in the "iron duke's" armor.

Although seventy-three and weighed down with more problems and cares of state than many a younger man could shoulder, the speaker is as frisky as a colt and likes to show it. At a dinner of the Jamestown survivors a few weeks ago he danced a jig in competition with a boy of twenty-five. He put such life in "Turkey in the Straw" that the Hungarian orchestra called it a day and knocked off with Uncle Joe still shuffling.

Uncle Joe is strong in his likes and dislikes. Strongest of his dislikes is his contempt for the man who tries to upset the standing order of things by demagoguery or appeals to popular fancy. His heartiest like is for green corn on the cob. It is told that while he was a new member of congress he boarded at a Washington hotel which put up an excellent lot of green corn. Mr. Cannon had invited a friend to dine with him. When the corn on the cob was brought in the congressman fell to with vigor, inviting the man from home to "pitch in." The guest side-stepped the corn, but Uncle Joe kept after it until he had finished about six ears. Then he insisted on his friend taking some, and when he refused Uncle Joe started again, "not to let it spoil." He was just polishing up the last ear when the guest broke in with: "Say, Joe, don't you think it would be a little bit cheaper for you to board in a livery stable?"

The speaker has a wholesome regard for the United States senate, but he has an old fashioned idea that the house is the superior branch. So it happens that when a messenger from the senate arrives and addresses "Mr. Speaker" with a lowly bow Mr. Cannon sits bolt upright and says, "Mr. Secretary" without the bow. A friend chided him for this and told him that it was customary to bow to the senate's messenger.

"The whole d— senate can't make me bow to it, and I'll be G— if I'll bow to one of its messengers," said the speaker, settling that little matter. In commemoration of his birthday the Republican members of congress from North Carolina, where the speaker was born, presented to him an unusually large dipper made of a gourd from the Tar Heel State.

ROCKHILL AS A TIBETAN.

Incident in the Career of the New Ambassador to Russia.

Take it from William Woodville Rockhill—doesn't that sound like a name in a play?—that exploring Tibet is like sauntering down a shady lane. The new ambassador to Russia is distinctly skeptical of those gentlemen who go to Tibet and get themselves hung up by the lobes of the ear and have repousse designs in powder burns worked all over them in the button-hole stitch. They make him think, he says, of a certain famous attempt to find the north pole, in which the relief party got so much farther north than the explorer did that the unfortunate scientist had to hurry like thunder to catch up with it. That farthest south arctic expedition has been equaled, he says, by some of the Tibetan explorers.

And Mr. Rockhill ought to know, for he wandered all over Tibet, protected by a cold American nerve and his looks—not that he is proud of his looks. When he planned that Tibetan trip he was second secretary of the American legation at Peking, and his servant was a native Tibetan. "Am I too handsome to pass for a Tibetan?" asked Mr. Rockhill of the menial. Mr. Rockhill was slyly facetious. The Tibetan was as solemn and matter of fact as the death record in the family Bible. He said he feared the displeasure of the noble lord if he were to answer truthfully. Mr. Rockhill began to lose the savor of that jest, but he insisted. "But the noble lord will hereafter hate his faithful servant," protested the Tibetan.

"Damn it," said Mr. Rockhill in excellent Tibetan, "you tell me what's the matter with my looks?"

"All is wrong," said the Tibetan—"everything is wrong with the excellency's looks save and except his magnificent big nose. Because of that most spectacular and ornate organ he may pass as a Tibetan of the second class, and by further disguise he may be accepted as one of the nobility. But the nobility are very handsome men."

Just the same, Mr. Rockhill traveled unaccompanied all over Tibet and didn't have to raise his voice during his stay in the Forbidden Land. Even if he isn't a good looking Tibetan he is ordinarily considered a very classy American. Tall, portly, of distinguished presence, he is an ardent scholar.—New York Globe.

GREAT AFRICAN REGATTA.

Zambezi River to Be Scene of Gathering of World's Crews.

The Zambezi river above the Victoria falls, in Africa, is to be the scene of a great international regatta, managed by the British South Africa company, in June, 1910. It is expected that crews from all the rowing centers of the world will participate, and there will be races for fours, pairs and scullers as well as for eight oared crews. The company has arranged that the famous oarsman Guy Nickalls take charge of the affair. In a recent conversation at London Mr. Nickalls said: "Owing to the date falling just before the end of the term I am afraid there will be difficulty in getting a crew to go out from Oxford or Cambridge, but I hope to get a Canadian crew over from the Argonaut club and one crew, if not two or three crews, from the United States as well as entries from Belgian and possibly French and Italian clubs. I think I can count on Leander being represented. I am going out to Africa to have a look at the course and watch South African rowing. I shall get there in time for their annual Whitsuntide regatta and shall be able to judge if their form will enable them to compete with the rest of the world's oarsmen or whether it will be necessary to have an inter-African challenge cup. I shall get back just in time for Henley, where I hope to meet French, Italian and Belgian crews and get them interested in the matter."

The Penalty of Kindness. The man who had about three times as much as he could carry felt in his pocket for a nickel. The conductor waited patiently while he extracted a package of cigarette papers, four matches, a little wad of string and a corkscrew.

"Nothing doing," said the sozzled one and immediately lost interest in the matter.

"Come, get off," said the conductor.

"Here, it's Jefferson avenue. I can't let you go any farther without paying."

Just then a fat man leaned over and gave the conductor a nickel. "Let him ride," he said, and the "con" rang up the fare and passed on.

When the car reached the end of the line the inebriated gentleman was still dozing.

"Why don't you get off?" roared the "con," shaking him. "Where do you want to go?"

The passenger opened one watery eye sleepily.

"Where do I go?" he exclaimed. "W'y Jefferson avenue?"—St. Louis Republic.

HAT THAT CAUGHT A ROBIN.

Bird Alighted to Pick Cherries—Feet Tangled in Trimming.

A deluded robin came to grief the other day in Flushing, N. Y., because a pretty girl wore a peach basket hat trimmed with artificial cherries. The girl was walking along Broadway near the old courthouse when the robin, on a lower limb of a tree, spied the hat and its trimmings. It hopped from its perch on to the hat and started to pick at the cherries.

The girl screamed and clutched at her hat. The robin's feet caught in the trimmings, and it was held a prisoner. A man went to the assistance of the girl and the robin. Then the robin escaped.

Novel Street Lighting.

The quantity of light which it is now possible to obtain at a reasonable cost from tungsten lamps in series has led to an innovation in street lighting in some Michigan towns which, it is thought, may find wide adoption. In Grand Rapids, where the system seems first to have been applied, the tungsten lamps are strung across the street between the eaves of the buildings in such a way that they form the outline of an arch. The effect of a series of these illuminated arches at night resembles that of a canopy of lamps covering the street and shedding down upon it a pleasing illumination. The same system has been adopted in Big Rapids and is under consideration in Greenville and other towns.

Violet Wisconsin's Flower.

Returns from the vote of Wisconsin school children, on the choice of a state flower are all in, and the violet wins by a big majority.

Bigger Than the Sun.

A minute parallax of about one-sixtieth of a second of arc found for Arcturus by Dr. Elkin gave a most astounding result. This small parallax implies a distance from the earth equal to about 12,000,000 times the sun's distance. This vast distance would produce a diminution of light of about thirty-five and one-fourth magnitudes, so that the sun placed at the distance of Arcturus would be reduced to a star of only nine and three-fourths magnitude. It would not be visible with an opera glass. Arcturus is therefore in round numbers nine and one-half magnitudes, or over 6,000 times brighter than the sun would be at the same distance. Assuming the same density and brightness of surface as the sun, the diameter of Arcturus would therefore be about seventy-nine times the sun's diameter, or over 68,000,000 miles, and its mass about 500,000 times the mass of the sun—figures well calculated to "stagger the imagination."

Why Sailors Like "Soraps."

It has long been observed that the sailor, whether in commercial or government service, takes a peculiar delight in "mixing up" with the blue-coat, but this inclination has been attributed more to a natural exuberance which comes with a land leave, accelerated somewhat by artificial means, than to an insubordination with deep seat life. But why this feeling? Perhaps it is that the strict rules of marine service, the long periods of close confinement to which the seaman is subjected, make him a hater of any one who wears the emblem of authority when he is temporarily enjoying freedom on shore leave away from the restraints aboard ship. The sailor wants liberty in its full sense, and realizing that the bluecoat is the chief obstacle to his obtaining it, he develops a firm conviction that the policeman ought to be trounced on general principles. In time it becomes his chief peaceful ambition.—Brooklyn Standard Union.

Poetic Justice.

A certain couple in a New England village, each the parent of six children, had meted out to them a kind of poetic justice in which they failed to see the poetry.

The woman, a widow, pleading that she had no home and was therefore unable to care for her children, induced the local authorities to admit them to an orphan asylum. The man, a widower, pleading he had no house-keeper and therefore no one to care for his children, induced the authorities to admit his six also. Thereupon, being freed from all incumbrances, these two married.

All went well for a few months, when the authorities, learning of the situation, promptly dispatched the twelve children back to their parents, and the woman no longer able to represent herself as homeless or the man as without a housekeeper, they were forced to receive them.

Death in Various Forms.

A crank came running into the office and said that a man swallowed a two foot rule and died by inches. "The old fellow started out at once to learn further particulars of the death and, meeting Dr. Martin, told him about the case. He said that was nothing; that he had a patient once who swallowed a thermometer and died by degrees. A couple of bystanders just then chipped in. One of them said it reminded him of a fellow in Kansas who swallowed a pistol and went off easy. The other one said he had a friend who took a quart of applejack and died in good spirits.—Exchange.

THE SAGE AND THE LOBSTER

Why the Wise Old Man Refused to Make a Shellfish Something Else. The Ass Who Thought He Knew Something About Singing.

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

ONE day, after two hours spent in serious thought, the Lobster crawled out on the sands and waited for the Sage to come that way. After awhile the good man, who was puzzling why the kithoines in the kitchen floor always appeared on the surface instead of the underside, approached and was greeted with:

"O Sage, but I am waiting for thee. To thee has been given the wisdom to know all."

"Well, not quite all," was the reply. "For instance, if you were to ask me why any woman with an ounce of brains in her head buys two pounds of false hair to heap up on her poll and make her look twice as homely as before I could not tell you. I simply suspect it's inborn in the critters to search for something fantastic and frivolous. What's on your Lobsterian mind today?"

"O SAGE, I AM NOT A WHALE."

"O Sage, I am not a whale."

"Granted without dispute."

"I am not an eel."

"You've hit it again."

"Neither am I an oyster or a clam."

"Better and better. Keep right on."

"If I were a whale I could raise thunder. If I were a clam I could be frittered. If I were an oyster I could be stewed. But I am none of these. I am but a poor and useless Lobster and a butt of ridicule. Make me something else."

"Not by a blamed sight!" exclaimed the Sage. "I have a brother who is a doctor, another who runs a drug store and a third who conducts a restaurant. As long as the restaurant brother can work off lobster salad on the public the doctor and druggist can own steam yachts and manor houses curing colic and indigestion, and I am not one to interfere in family affairs. Go hence until it is time to boll you!"

Moral.—A man may be a Sage in simply knowing when he has a good thing.

The Hen and the Fox.

One day as the Hen was strolling about the farmyard she detected the Fox stealing upon her, and she at once flew to the top of a shed and made herself safe. The Fox approached with an injured expression of countenance, and when he had come near her he said:

"Well, I haven't had my feelings so badly hurt in five years. You saw me coming, and you deliberately snubbed me."

"I simply got out of the way of your appetite for chicken," replied the Hen as she chuckled a bit.

"My dear Mrs. Hen, in the first place I have just dined off Rabbit, and in the next I wanted you to decide a little dispute."

"But I shan't come down to you."

"No? I have a sore throat today and could talk better if you would, but let it go."

"And I want you to understand that I am no spring chicken, to be taken in by any of your tricks."

"Lord, Mrs. Hen, I am as clear of trick as a little Lamb. I believe I did eat your mother, but she was discouraged with life and was going to commit suicide. I mentioned a little dispute. It was with a Goose over at Brown's. We were talking about various things when your name happened to be mentioned."

"Just as if I cared what a Goose said!" exclaimed the Hen in contempt. "Of course you don't really care, but I thought you might have a bit of curiosity, you know."

"Not the slightest, and you had better trot along."

"Oh, if you say so, of course, but if the Goose had asked what I used on my face to keep the wrinkles away and make me look young?"

"What! Did she ask that?" cried Mrs. Hen.

"She did. That's what we disputed about. She said that you were at least ten years old, but that you used some kind of face bleach to make you appear not over two."

"What an old liar she is!"

"I told her that your complexion was perfectly natural and that your age could not possibly be over two years. That's all I came to say, and I will now go."

"But don't be in such a rush. Was the old Goose trying to look girly?"

"Trying her hardest. It was really funny. I am sure she's close to twenty. This throat of mine bothers me so that I'll have to quit talking."

"And she tried to make me out to be ten?" asked Mrs. Hen as she flew down on the ground.

"Yes. She said you'd never see ten again. Alack, isn't it funny when an old Goose begins to hide her age?"

"I'll just go over there tomorrow and give her a piece of my mind. When an old thing like her begins to scandalize there's no taling!"

But that was all before the feathers flew and the Fox twisted her neck. Moral.—Curiosity provides the dinner, jealousy cooks it, and the plotter eats it.

The Peasant and the Bug.

A Peasant who lay down on the grass after his noonday meal to get half an hour's sleep before resuming his labors had scarcely fallen into a dose when a sharp bite aroused him, and he sat up to find that a Bug had bitten his hand.

"Wretch, you have broken my sleep!" he exclaimed as he flitted the Bug away.

"Seems to me you are making a great fuss over a trifle," replied the Bug.

"But I was about to take a little rest."

"Oh, as to that, I was sound asleep when a grasshopper ran over me and awoke me to bite you. I complained to him, and he said he had been bitten by an ant while meditating. Follow the ant back and you will find that she was nipped by a flea while she was wondering why she wasn't made a bird."

"But why all this?" demanded the Peasant. "Does it ease the pain of your bite or assist me to dose again?"

Moral.—"Not at all, my friend," replied the Bug. "It simply shows you that the process of getting even requires you to go and bite your mule."

The Ass and the Whippoorwill.

One evening as the Peasant and his wife had finished the labors of the day and sat at their fireside a Whippoorwill in the willows began his song, and after it had continued for a bit the husband said:

"He sings for us as sweetly as he would for the rich."

"And there's beauty in every note," added the wife.

"I would give anything if we had him in a cage."

"I know that I should love him dearly."

"Some day I shall try to catch him, and he shall be a pet as long as he lives."

The Peasant's Ass was grazing near by and overheard the conversation, and it wasn't more than a minute before a cute idea had lodged in his brain. Walking out into the open, he raised his head and gave utterance to a haw, haw, haw, that might have been heard a mile away.

"Beast!" shouted the wife.

"Ass of an Ass, but what do you mean?" roared the husband.

"Why, I was singing for your pleasure, good friends," was the reply of the astonished beast.

"Singing, you idiot!"

"Aye. You seemed so charmed by the notes of the Whippoorwill that I thought to delight you by—"

Moral.—When the Ass had been driven far away with a club the Peasant returned to his wife to say, "The Ass may have just as good a right to sing as the Whippoorwill, but the listeners certainly ought to have the right as to the choice of which concert they will attend."

A Methodical Being.

A man of method, who attended to everything on schedule time, whether it was work or recreation, had the fortune to fall in love when he had passed the age of forty. The mistress of his heart put up with his oddities. He had regular nights for coming upon her, regular hours for calling and going, regular theater and club nights, etc. In fact, she looked upon his regularity as something admirable.

Things had been going on in this way for two years, and finally the great crisis came. They were to be married. The day was fixed, the wedding clothes were made, the guests invited, and the minister was engaged.

At the appointed time they were all assembled. The bride was dressed, the wedding presents were displayed, but the bridegroom came not. The bride wept and fainted, but it did no good. Finally some friends of the delinquent groom hurried away to see if he could be found. He could. He was at home in his room, reading as unconcerned as if he had never contemplated getting married.

"What is the matter? Why don't you come to your wedding?" shouted his friends.

The man of regular habits laid down his book.

"I am very sorry," he said, "but this is my regular day for staying at home and reading. I forgot it when I made the engagement. The wedding will have to be postponed."—London Tit-Bits.

His Best.

The late Sir John Stainer, one of England's most celebrated musicians and composers, was once staying in a small Swiss village, and the English clergyman was on the outlook for a musician to assist at the service. Stainer was in the office of the hotel when the clergyman found him and started the conversation with "Do you play the harmonium?"

"A little," was the reply of the former organist of St. Paul's cathedral.

"Will you, then, be good enough to help us out of our difficulty on Sunday? We will read the Psalms, and the hymns shall be the simplest I can select," added the delighted parson.

"I will do my best," said Stainer, with a smile.

The service proceeded satisfactorily, but the congregation at the close listened to a brilliant recital. When the parson heard the name of his assistant he asked him to dinner. "Do you smoke?" he asked at the close.

"I will do my best," responded Stainer, and the ensuing laughter was the prologue of an entertaining exchange of Oxford reminiscences.

SIX MEN ARRESTED FOR SELLING WHISKEY.

Two Sentenced And Four Held Under Bond For Appearance At Court. Men Said To Have Been Run Down By Detective.

As the result of the efficient work of a special detective who has been at work in this city ferreting out violations of the liquor laws, six arrests were made Monday and Tuesday of this week by Officers Disharoon and Waller. It is understood that Mr. Everett, the man who has been securing evidence against the parties who have been selling whiskey, has been at work here for several weeks.

The six men arrested were Will Morris, Archie Flemming, Charley McGrath, John Williams, Jas. Scott and George Graham. The last two are colored men and at a hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Trader were found guilty and were sentenced each to a term of six months in the Maryland House of Correction. Morris, Flemming, McGrath and Williams, acting upon the advice of their counsel, decided to stand trial by jury and were released upon furnishing bond in the sum of $500 for their appearance at the September term of court.

It is stated that none of these men kept a speakeasy but carried the whiskey in their pockets, selling it on the streets. Most of it was disposed of on the grounds during the recent carnival which exhibited in this city. It is now believed that the sale of intoxicants has been broken up in Salisbury.

CLAIM RELINQUISHED BY LIGHTBOURNE FACTION.

Wesley Church At Dover Turned Over Once More To Wilmington Conference—First Services By Reverend Hofferker.

Dover, Del., July 8.—Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, near Dover, which was recently closed to the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference by a vote of 7 of its 9 trustees, again came under the control of the conference today. With the reclamation of the church by the conference, the seven trustees, with a large following among the congregation, resigned and will affiliate with the new People's Church here. Dr. Lightbourne, the former pastor of the Wesley Church, is the pastor of the People's Church, whose members will now make an effort to build a permanent home.

According to one of the seven resigning trustees, the action of the trustees was taken for a twofold purpose—to retain the support of the 300 or 400 members of the Wesley Church in the People's Church movement and to bring about a house-cleaning in the Wilmington Conference. The resigning trustees are Messrs. Wm. M. Hazel, J. Frank Wilds, Thos. J. Stevenson, Jas. H. Hughes, William J. Benson, Henry E. Moore and Wesley Webb.

District Superintendent S. M. Morgan and Rev. E. L. Hofferker, the pastor appointed to Wesley Church by the presiding officer of the Wilmington Conference, and Bishop David Moore will begin to reorganize the officary and will open the church and parsonage at once to all services.

EACH OWNER THINKS HIS HORSE WILL WIN.

Dry Dock And General Mack In The Pink Of Condition—Will Be Fast Race—Business Men Will Arrange For Races.

With the view of securing excursion rates on the different railroad and steamboat lines from all points on the Eastern Shore and Baltimore to Salisbury on July 21st, a special meeting of the Business Men's Association, of Salisbury, Maryland, was called last evening. The members who attended were all in accordance with the scheme and committees were appointed to take the matter up at once with the railroad and boat line officials. It is estimated that a large number of people from Baltimore and intermediate points on the B. & A. Railway Company will come this city on that day to see the much heralded race between Dry Dock and General Mack and an effort is being made to swell the crowd by offering special inducements in the way of a low rate of transportation. This road frequently runs an excursion from Baltimore to Ocean City for $1.50 for the round trip and it is expected that the committee will be successful in securing the same rate for an excursion to Salisbury.

The matter will be taken up with the Delaware Division officials of the steamers and the owners of the numerous small crafts which ply the Wicomico. The directors of the Wicomico Fair Association estimate that there will be at least 10,000 people at the race track on that day.

The track is said to be one of the fastest, if not the fastest in the circuit and as both horses (Dry Dock and General Mack) are apparently in the pink of condition it is expected that the record will be considerably lowered. Both horses have a record of 2.14 and both of them have done better than that in trials. There is great rivalry between Mr. D. C. Armstrong, owner of Dry Dock and Mr. Hall, owner of General Mack, and both of the owners are so certain that his horse will win that the proposition of the Fair Association that they divide their share of the gate receipts was not even considered. Both of the owners declare that the winner shall take all—that is the $2,000 posted on the race and 60 per cent of the gate receipts.

General Mack, in company with several other horses owned by Mr. Hall, arrived at the track Wednesday afternoon and will be worked out every day until the day of the event.

Mr. W. F. Lankford Dead.

Postmaster Wm. F. Lankford died Thursday morning at his home about three miles from Princess Anne. He was in that place on Tuesday, being only confined to his home since Wednesday morning.

Mr. Lankford was a staunch Republican, having served his party as a member of the State Central Committee for a number of years. He was first appointed postmaster of Princess Anne in 1900, and served four years.

In 1887 he was elected Register of Wills for Somerset county and entered upon his duties December 17, serving six years. He was a candidate for re-election in 1903, but was defeated by his Democratic opponent, Thomas Dixon. In 1905 he was reappointed postmaster, taking office December 17 of that year.

He is survived by a widow, who was a Miss Hargis, of Pocomoke City, and one daughter, Miss Amanda Lankford.

Postmaster Reappointed.

Mr. Charles C. Tomlinson, of Delmar, Del., has been re-appointed Postmaster of that place for four more years beginning June 26, 1909. This makes his second term as Postmaster. Since his incumbence he has built the office to be one of the best in Delaware, South of Wilmington. He had the indorsement of all the leading business people in Delmar. Mr. Tomlinson is to be congratulated on his appointment.

The School Board was in session last Friday and considered for some length of time the appointments of teachers. The list was almost completed.

A delegation composing some of the patrons of the Green Branch School, in Willard Election District, appeared before the Board, protesting against the removal of the school building as contemplated by Board. The matter was held over for future consideration.

Fulton Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Allen, of Salisbury, was appointed to the vacant scholarship in the Maryland Agricultural College.

Prof. J. Henry White, of Evansville, Ind., recently appointed principal of the Sharptown High School, has notified the Board of his acceptance, and that he will move his family to Sharptown not later than August 1.

Bids were opened for painting the Colored Industrial School building in Salisbury, and Charity School building, and contracts were awarded to Clifford Adkins and brother, their bid being the lowest, $66.00 and $28.00 respectively.

Bids were also opened for building an eight-room school house in Salisbury, a four-room building in Pittsville and a single room building to take the place of the old Phillips school house in Nutters District. There were a large number of bids for these buildings and the bids varied several hundred dollars on each job. The Board decided not to award contracts last Friday, but to meet again next Friday to further consider the bids.

County Supt. Holloway asked for six weeks leave of absence this Summer for the purpose of taking a special course at Columbia University in New York City.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Worcester's Tax Rate.

The Worcester County Commissioners last Thursday struck the levy for 1909 fixing the tax rate at 80 cents on the $100, which with the State tax of 16 cents on the $100 will make the tax rate 96 cents on the $100. The assessable base of Worcester county in 1908 was $6,600,000, which will bring a revenue to the county of $72,000 in round numbers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "The Philippian Jailor" Discussed By A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house.

When Paul left Troas to go to Philippi he was accompanied by Silas, Luke (the author of the Acts), and Timothy. There was no synagogue in Philippi, but the missionaries soon found those who honored the true God, and began to teach and preach Christ to those who sought light, and then to the populace. This was new country to the missionaries. It was a Roman colony, and but very few Jews lived there. Like Systra, it was almost purely a Gentile community. It was "Out into the World to spread the Gospel", and, no doubt, here and also in Systra, the words of the Master as to what the world would do to his missionaries was borne home to the hearts of the Apostles.

While teaching about Philippi, they attracted many, and especially one, a "damsel possessed with a spirit of divination", a partly demented, hysterical girl, who in the paroxysms of her mental and physical trouble would utter vague, unintelligible mutterings and cries, which were interpreted by her owners, for she was a slave, as they thought most effective for monetary result. It has been said that she was a mixture of fraud, clairvoyance, insanity, and devil. She was no doubt hysterical, a disease, the result of sin, possibly hereditary; demented, and a perversion of mind, a common result of sin; devil, as far as his Satanic Majesty enters into all sin; fraud, no. The fraud was in her owners, and the greater sin theirs.

The girl was an object of pity and love, both divine and human. Christian principal recognized this, and brought the love that freed her, and still gives care and succor to this class of afflicted ones. This girl, in a low mental condition, recognized the power of God as present in these holy men. Paul, here as in the case of the cripple at Systra, had compassion, and through faith in Christ's willingness to save such a one, and her faith in her knowledge of God's power granted to man, overcame sin, and she was made whole.

This act of mercy brought trials to the instrument conveying the blessing. The owners of the girl stirred up strife, and Paul and Silas were imprisoned. Many communities are pleased with Christianity until it strikes at the root of evils conducted in the name of society, but when business and social methods are cleansed, then Christianity is all wrong. The evil spirit combats, and cries out for revenge upon Christ's followers. But faith in Christ overcomes all this, the song and prayer prevails. Paul and Silas in prison sang and prayed until the earth trembled, and release from oppression was assured.

God's oppressed have sung and prayed all down the centuries, and the earth has trembled. Have you ever heard it, as Christianity is taught to and accepted by mankind, and its principles strike terror to the power of darkness, as they strive for the destruction of God's elect? Listen! You of little faith, and catch the rumble of the mighty upheaval and rejoice, and listen! You who endeavor to restrain the onward march of this spirit of righteousness, and tremble.

Faith in God and Christ brings about this great change. By faith in Him is the great power for the healing of the nations made effective. Faith makes this power effective to every need of mankind. Here we have two kinds of need. First in the girl, it was effective to the relief of a mind almost dethroned, held bondage by the effects of sin, and a soul held bondage to the powers of sin freed by faith. And again, faith is effective in the release of God's elect, touching their personal safety, (Paul and Silas), and again, as for the case of the jailor, who was convinced of the uselessness and enormity of the sin of standing against this great power, and whose soul cried out for relief from the guilt of transgression. There was faith, the exercise of which brought the power of God unto salvation.

The faith of the believer is effective personally, and then by teaching and influence of example a spiritual atmosphere is evolved which becomes a power for the effective spreading of the regenerating power of the Holy Spirit, unto the Christianization of the world. In this bit of history it is recorded that the weak, helpless, worse than slave cried for rest and peace, and this Christianizing power has built Asylums of rest and peace ever since. This great power to whom all nature owes obedience heard the song and prayer of the unjustly imprisoned, and made the earth quake to relieve them from their bonds. And the jailor, who must suffer at the hands of an empirical demagogue, finds peace in the fruits of Christian living, as it makes its impress upon the body politic, working out the freedom of the subject in the changes brought about by evangelization. These are God's people and the recipients of a peace which the world cannot know.

ANNE'S GREAT DISCOVERY.

A Call That Made Her Sure About Her Own Heart.

By EMILY HODGES.
[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

"You're very foolish and very headstrong, Maisie, and you're going to be sorry some day," Anne said severely.

She was sitting before the glass, putting cold cream on her face, and Maisie was watching her from the bed.

It was to pretty Maisie a very funny performance—Anne's nightly comforting of her complexion with cold cream. She wondered if she would do the same when she was thirty-six and unmarried. But she would not be unmarried at thirty-six. Of course not. There was Dick, and she was determined to marry Dick, no matter what Anne or Aunt Hannah said. It was about Dick that Anne was talking now.

"You know as well as I do," Anne went on, "that you are too young even to think of marrying, and, anyway, Dick Launt isn't a person you should consider for one moment." Anne closed the cold cream box, with a sigh. "When you do marry I want you to have some one who is worthy of you."

"Is that the reason you've never married?" Maisie asked innocently.

Anne flushed under the cold cream. "That was the reason," she returned steadily.

"Haven't you ever been sorry?" Maisie persisted. She wished Anne had not hidden her face by turning out the gas—the voice, Anne's voice, told so little.

"I—I don't know that I have been. Good night, dear." And Maisie had nothing to do but answer obediently. "Good night, Anne."

But long after Maisie was asleep Anne lay awake thinking.

Sixteen years—what a long time that was! She was twenty that summer, just out of school, and she had pink dress afloat with ruffles. One day when she had been wearing that dress she had met Dwight Marshall.

He was a good deal like Dick Launt—big, clear eyed, ready to laugh. Like Dick, too, he was a plain working man and had come from a long way or to find work in Hassell. It did not take Dwight long to fall in love with the pink dress and her, and it did not take her long to see it. He was her first beau, and straightway the world was made over for her.

But her mother was watch and ward. She had had to make many sacrifices in order to educate Anne, and she was worthy of the best. Mrs. Hall did not by any means consider Dwight Marshall the best, and she was determined that he should not have Anne. She appealed to Anne's pride and reason and after a time had the satisfaction of seeing her arguments prevail. Anne gave up her lover. He was hurt, disappointed, bitterly angry.

"This is your mother's doings," he said.

"No," Anne lied proudly; "it's mine. You aren't good enough for me."

"You'll be sorry for this some day," he returned. And that was his last word to her. She had never seen or heard from him since. She probably never would again. And now here was Maisie in the same boat in which she herself had been. But Maisie's heart would not be broken. Hers had not been. There had been times, indeed, when she was glad that she had not married Dwight. Maisie would come to feel the same way about Dick.

Anne scarcely slept all night.

"That cold cream makes you pale," Maisie said next morning. "What makes you use it, Anne? Are you afraid of wrinkles?" Anne winced, and Maisie went on wickedly. "Mrs. Warner says it doesn't make any difference how a woman looks if she isn't married or doesn't intend to be."

Mrs. Warner was the young matron who lived across the street. Because she and Maisie were very friendly and she was known openly to sympathize with Maisie's love affair Anne and her mother had not called upon her, though she had lived in the town almost a year. Now of a sudden Anne felt almost hatred for the gay little woman who seemed so happy in her married life and obviously had no need of cold cream or any other preparation for her charming face.

Anne was out of sorts all day. Her painting class did badly, her head ached, and she tore her walking skirt by stepping upon it in her hurry to take a car. Tired and utterly forlorn, she was sitting in her room trying to repair the skirt when Maisie came running upstairs and entered panting with her boots.

"Oh, Anne!" she gasped, "there's a man in the parlor waiting to see you! I told him you'd be right down."

A man in the parlor to see Anne was almost an unheard of thing. Yet she took three stitches deliberately.

"Aren't you going to fix your hair or—anything?" Maisie demanded.

"Why should I?" Anne said. "It is only some one to see about lessons probably."

The parlor door was open, and she went in softly. The man was waiting with his expectant face turned toward her. She gave him one glance and turned as white as her linen collar.

"Dwight—Dwight Marshall!" she said. Then she seemed to remember nothing more until she found herself on the sofa, with him close beside her.

"You never expected to see me again, did you?" he demanded. "And I didn't expect you would, but ever since my little cousin, Maud Warner, has lived here she and Dave have been teasing me to come and make them a visit. So I made up my mind I'd come. And here I am. You don't know Maud, do you?"

"No," Anne said feebly, wishing she did.

"Maud told me you hadn't acted very neighborly. You should know Maud. She's one of the best little women that ever lived."

He had been talking rapidly. Now he stopped and drew a long breath.

"Do you remember the last time we saw each other? I was right mad that day. It had never occurred to me that I wasn't the equal of the best girl living—and you were that, too—until you said what you did. So I swore I'd make myself good enough—and make you sorry. But now that I've seen you I only want to make you glad, Anne. You see, I like you just as well as I ever did, though I didn't expect to. And if you like me—"

"Oh, Dwight," Anne sobbed, "it's I who am not good enough! I'm homesick and old and soiled and—disagreeable and narrow minded—and you're worthy of some one better."

Maisie had been in bed three hours when Anne came up and woke her with a kiss.

"Why, Anne, you look real pretty," Maisie said, yawning. "But your hair is mussed up awfully."

"Maisie," Anne said solemnly, sitting down upon the edge of the bed and taking hold of Maisie's hand in a most unusual way—"Maisie, I want to tell you something. I've been a fool for years and never found it out until tonight. And I don't mean you shall be the same kind of fool. That man who came tonight was the one I might have married sixteen years ago—and didn't. But I'm going to marry him now."

"And—and, Maisie, I've been talking to mother, and you can have Dick any time you are ready. Dick's all right. He—Dwight knows him; they come from the same place."

"I thought I could forget," Anne went on gently after Maisie's ecstasy of surprise and joy had somewhat subsided, "and I've tried hard for sixteen years, but when you really love there's no forgetting in this world. I've been loving Dwight right straight along, and the minute I saw him to night I knew it. I've missed a good many years of happiness, and I meant to make you miss a good many years of happiness in the same way. It wasn't because I was wicked, dear, but because I didn't know. I do know now."

Maisie smiled wisely.

"I knew all the while," she said.

Crawford's Care as a Writer.

Mr. F. Marion Crawford, we are told, once agreed to write for the London Sphere a novel with Dante for its hero. "The Harvest of the Sword" was to have been its title. The letter which he wrote to Mr. C. K. Shorter explaining his failure to fulfill his promise is a tribute to his conscientiousness in authorship.

"I can only say that it is in no sense my fault if I cannot give you the book after all at the time appointed and that if I succeed in writing it you of course have the first claim to it for serial publication if you still wish to use it next year. I have worked at the manuscript unremittingly for months. I began it four times. I have done everything in my power to write it and have done no other work since Aug. 1, and the result is so utterly unsatisfactory that after allowing the first three chapters to be sent to you I decided to cable and throw up the contract. It is the first time I have ever done such a thing, and I am driven to it by the great difficulties of the subject and not by any neglect. I decline to allow a book so imperfect to go before the public, while feeling that by renewed labor I may succeed in the end. That is my whole and only excuse. Make it public in any way you please, together with the great regret I feel at disappointing you."

"So you make your wife do all the carving at dinner?"

"Sure! Isn't it a wife's duty to be a helpmeet?"—Baltimore American.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Salisbury People To Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Salisbury.

Mrs. Walter E. Nichols, 317 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have brought me great relief from kidney complaint and I believe they will do as much for other sufferers. I was afflicted with symptoms of kidney disease from childhood but was never troubled seriously until about two years ago. Then my back began to ache severely and last summer I was laid up for two weeks. I used any amount of medicine but I found only slight relief. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at White & Leonard's drug store went at once to the seat of my trouble and helped me in every way. I consider this remedy worthy of the highest recommendation."

Death of Mrs. Lavinia Marshall.

Mrs. Lavinia Marshall, widow of the late Dr. Edward Marshall, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. S. Dashiell, in Berlin, Wednesday night of heart disease. Mrs. Marshall had been in poor health for a number of years. She was 77 years of age and leaves to mourn her death four children: Mrs. Erastus S. Dashiell, Mrs. Oliver D. Collins, Mrs. Margaret M. Wilson, all of Snow Hill, and Dr. Sylvester K. Marshall, of Kent county.

Mrs. Marshall was a Miss Sheppard of near Pittsville, Wicomico county. She was a member of All Hallows' Protestant Episcopal Church, Snow Hill, was a lady of sterling character, thoughtful and considerate of others, whose quiet acts of kindness during a long and constant Christian life caused her to be beloved by many outside her own family circle.

The Gross Ignorance Of The Wicomico News.

The Wicomico News is very much exercised as to the ignorance of THE COURIER upon the Crawford County System, and its subtle and absurd attempt to break the force of the editorial which appeared in this paper last week is decidedly refreshing. Of course no one should attempt to convert a legal proposition laid down by such a high authority as The Wicomico News, but we might suggest with due and proper deference to the profound ability of the Editors of The News, that while the names of the Judicial candidates themselves might not be placed upon the ballots, any number of Judicial tickets representing those candidates could have been placed thereon, and should have been, if the Democratic party had intended to give their voters an opportunity of expressing themselves upon the Judgeship question.

As a matter of fact it is stated that Judge Henry did want the opportunity of naming a delegation in this County and having the same placed upon the primary ballot, and who is responsible for the failure to have that desire carried out is probably best known to the Junior Editor of The Wicomico News himself.

It is also stated upon reliable authority that several other candidates desired to file their applications for places upon the Judicial ticket, and where the responsibility rests for the failure to have their names appear upon the ballot might be answered by certain numbers of the Democratic State Central Committee who have personal knowledge of the subject.

Delegations could have been named in the interest of Judge Henry, Mr. Pattison, Mr. Stanford, Judge Jones, Senator Toadwin or any other lawyer who has been mentioned in connection with the nomination and had groups of this kind been placed upon the ticket, the voters would have had ample opportunity to express their preference in this County. The wonderful amount of ignorance, therefore, displayed in the matter was exhibited by The News and not by THE COURIER and its performance is all the more glaring and inexcusable when it voluntarily takes to task another paper upon a subject upon which it has displayed a shocking unfamiliarity.

So far as the delegation is concerned, we made no reflection whatever upon the character of its members, but we do say, as stated last week, that it is utterly impossible to tell in whose interest they are named, by whom they have been selected, and for whom they will vote when the crucial moment arrives, and that the Democratic voters of Wicomico in this primary have absolutely nothing more to do with the selection of the Judicial candidates in the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland than they have to do with the selection of the members of the King's ministry in England.

With reference to the Crawford County System in connection with the Republican party, we cannot state what the official position of the party is upon the subject. So far as this County is concerned, however, it is an open secret that it would be very difficult if not impossible to nominate a ticket under the operation of the present primary law. In the Democratic party, there are always a quantity of candidates clamoring for positions upon the ticket. In the Republican party, it has always been necessary for the party itself to bring a sufficient amount of pressure to bear upon its most available men to get them to accept the nominations. In other words in the Democratic party, the men have sought the places, and in the Republican party, the places have sought the men.

As usual, The News could not discuss the Crawford County System or any other public question without touching upon its eternal nightmare—the negro bugaboo. As is well known the Republican party is not dominated in this County or in any other County in this State by the colored race and it has long since ceased to be a factor even in its conventions. Wicomico has taken the lead in the advanced doctrine that while they should be protected in their liberty, their lives, their property and their sacred right of franchise, they should not hold office—high or low—nor be candidates for any public position in the gift of the people.

The Republican party is violently opposed to the adoption of the proposed Constitutional Amendment as it violates every principle of justice and equity, strikes at the foundation of the American form of Government, and even seeks to nullify the provisions of the Constitution of the United States. But it believes absolutely and unqualifiedly in a white man's government and when its ticket is nominated in Wicomico County this Fall, whether under the Crawford County plan or otherwise, it will have upon it representative white men for every office, and the personnel of the ticket will compare favorably with that which will be nominated by our Democratic friends throughout the County today.

Cows And Music.

A weird and fanciful tale comes from New Jersey—the land of commuters and mosquitoes. A milkmaid fresh from the mountains of Switzerland was engaged by a progressive farmer and each day as she milked her bovine charges, the plaintive songs of her native land were wafted toward the great metropolis across the River. The cows promptly got busy and the land flowed with milk and music. The yield was so enormous that visions of wealth and luxury floated through the dairyman's brain while all nature clothed itself in roseate tints and cerulean hues.

But suddenly the fair damsel left for parts unknown and joy was turned to mourning, for lo, and behold, her recent charges, disgusted at her inopportune departure, returned to the old prosaic life and yielded only the ordinary amount of the lacteal fluid.

But as necessity is the mother of invention, so is vanishing wealth the inspiration of mankind and the next morning the meadow was filled with the sounds of the phonograph replete with the latest records of the famous vocalists of the world. Gathered at a respectful distance the cows drank in the musical feast. Once more life was worth the living and at eventide the pails were filled to overflowing and visions of returning wealth were filling the brain of this latest addition to American discoverers.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company Upheld.

The United States Court, and the Interstate Commerce Commission have recently upheld the order promulgated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in regard to demurrage on cars which are not unloaded within forty-eight hours from the time they are received. For the first two days of detention after forty-eight hours, the charge is One Dollar ($1.00) per day per car. For the next succeeding two days, Three Dollars ($3.00) per day and for each day thereafter, Four Dollars ($4.00).

These rates have technically been in operation since May 1902, but in view of the fact that cases involving the validity of the rule have been pending, both before the United States Courts and the Commerce Commission for some time, there has been no attempt on the part of the Company to enforce it by drastic action. Now, however, that the matter has been definitely fixed, it is understood that the Company will require a strict compliance with the regulation, although as yet there have been no changes so far as our roads here are concerned.

Those familiar with railroad matters, however, claim that the order is not a hardship upon the shippers or upon the produce people, but is in the interest of the general public and will result in advantage to all having business with the Railroad Company. It is frequently stated that even the produce men who fought the order will be entirely satisfied with the final results and will be more than glad that they were defeated in their attempts to have the rule set aside. The forty-eight hours which are allowed by the Company, it would seem, is amply sufficient for all ordinary purposes and the rule is evidently intended to prevent the congestion of cars and the tying up of traffic.

Today's Primaries.

The result of the primaries in this County today will be watched with keen interest not only by members of the dominant party, but by people in general.

One of the interesting features of the contest is the candidacy of Mr. Roscoe Jones, and the result will prove a fair test as to what the voters of that party in general think of one who has made a good record in public office.

There are other places on the ticket which will also test the ability of the Democratic voters to pick good men, for there is ample opportunity afforded for selections, both good and bad.

Another interesting feature will be the attitude of the organization during the progress of the primaries as it is well known that the leaders are apprehensive as to the result in certain quarters. Rather than permit, therefore, a ticket to be nominated which would express the untrammelled views of the party, the strong probabilities are that it will very distinctly shape the course of events before it is eventually too late.

"The Rivals."

A short time ago we received a manuscript, The Rivals—signed E. M. It is utterly impossible to publish it, both on account of lack of space and also because of our invariable custom to publish no anonymous communications of any character. The rule has been repeatedly mentioned in these columns and it is absolutely essential, not necessarily for publication, but for our own protection, that we be furnished with the names of all persons sending matter to the office for publication. There is considerable talent displayed in the story and we regret our inability to use it in view of the facts above stated.

Railroads to Participate In National Conservation Movement.

ADVICE SOUGHT FOR BY THEM

Joint Committee to Give Them Suggestions as to Practical Method of Putting Policies Into Effect—Enormous Consumption of Steel and Timber by Railways.

A plan by which the railroads are to take part in the conservation movement is announced as the outgrowth of conferences and correspondence between representatives of the carriers and the joint committee on conservation. Preliminary negotiations on the part of the railroads have been conducted by representatives of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association.

was also given to the subject of conservation at the recent meeting of the American Railway Master Mechanics' association at Atlantic City, N. J. The great quantities of timber, iron and coal used by the transportation lines are the bond of interest between them and the conservationists.

The plan as outlined provides for a systematic arrangement by which the committee on conservation is to give the railroads suggestions as to the most practical method of putting conservation policies into effect. The railway men agree to carry out these suggestions. The conservation authorities have submitted a plan which is now in the hands of A. S. Baldwin, chief engineer of the Illinois Central railroad, who in a letter to the conservation committee says:

On account of the wide areas traversed by the railroads and the great consumption by them of timber and fuel, with their enormous use of iron and steel products, it is believed that the most effective assistance of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association can be in directing the attention of railroad officials to the excessive wastefulness in the present methods of production of timber and fuel and the great importance of introducing economies in their use and consumption; also to the importance of economizing in the use of iron and steel products and the possibilities of preservation by protective coatings and otherwise.

With this end in view the railroad conservation committee has asked for specific suggestions as to the best methods that should be used by railroads in the prevention and control of forest fires. The conservation committee has presented an outline for this work and with it a statement showing the enormous loss of lumber through forest fires every year.

The conservation committee of the railroad association has also asked for advice as to how a reduction in railroad expenses may be brought about by the use of treated ties and for suggestions as to the importance of encouraging in the coal territory served by them the use of byproduct ovens. Railroad representatives also want to know what useful varieties of trees can be grown to advantage in each state or group of states, and they ask for information as to how they should be started. They say there is scarcely a railroad in the United States that has not some spare pieces of land that might be profitably planted in trees if the railroad officials knew what trees were best suited to the particular locality.

This information has been furnished. The railroad association, through its conservation committee, has likewise inquired as to the extent of saving in timber through the use of sawed instead of hewed ties. Inquiries as to the prolongation of life of the steel and iron used in bridges and other constructions have also been made. All these inquiries the committee on conservation has undertaken to answer, and it will be a matter of only a short time until the suggestions are in the hands of the chief engineers of all the great railroads in the United States.

The conservation committee of the railroad association says it will "place itself at the service of the joint committee on conservation in endeavoring to get from the railroads such definite data as to the consumption of ties and timber and fuel as may be desired" and that it "is prepared to investigate and report as may be desired by the joint committee on conservation as to the possibility of substitution of other materials for ties and timber." This offer is regarded by the joint committee as one of great importance.

On account of the magnitude of the plan it is probable that all of the forty state conservation commissions appointed by the governors will be asked to join in helping carry it out. "The committee will be glad," Mr. Baldwin of the railroad association says, "to co-operate with any of the national or state organizations in its efforts to obtain this information or further the work of the commission in any way in its power that may be outlined by the joint committee on conservation and holds itself at the committee's service until further instructed."—Special Washington Cor. New York Post.

WILL VISIT OLD ERIN

Irish Home Going Pilgrimage, to Mother Land Planned.

LEAGUE HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Officers Elected at a Meeting Held in Washington—Information About Ireland and Its Industries to Be Gathered—Much Interest Shown in the Movement.

The intended Irish home going pilgrimage, which was first proposed by Francis J. Kilkenny and which has been discussed by Irishmen all over the United States for several months past, was made a certainty at Carroll Institute hall in Washington the other night. A permanent organization was formed, and plans were outlined for the pilgrimage, which will be made in 1910.

The organization is to be known as the Irish Home Going Pilgrimage league. Its purpose is to gather all information regarding events in Ireland next summer and to arrange rates on the transatlantic steamship lines. Mr. Kilkenny and Dr. P. J. Lennox were appointed to visit Ireland this summer and prepare the way to next year's pilgrimage.

Since Mr. Kilkenny began stirring up interest in the home going movement he has been swamped by correspondence, and it was found necessary to have a regular organization to bear the expenses of the movement. The membership fee is $1, the fund obtained from the dues to be expended for running expenses. Headquarters will be opened in Washington, and literature will be prepared and sent out all over America and Canada. The officers chosen are the following:

President general, Francis J. Kilkenny; first vice president general, P. J. Moran; third vice president general John J. Coughlin; fourth vice president general, P. J. Haldigan; fifth vice president general, Representative T. T. Ansberry of Ohio; general treasurer, William F. Downey; general secretary, Joseph D. Sullivan.

In outlining the general plan for the pilgrimage Mr. Kilkenny said:

"Few people realize today the changes wrought in Ireland for the betterment and uplifting of its people. This is due in large measure to the reform legislation generally, and especially to the relief given the tenants in Ireland through the land bill of 1903 enabling them to own their own farms. The people of Ireland are now improving their holdings without fear of being taxed by the landlords for improvements."

"The main idea underlying the home going to Ireland movements is to give the visitors an opportunity for observing conditions as they really exist in Ireland. Much has been written and much will be written of Ireland's poverty and Ireland's riches, but these descriptions are not half as vivid or impressive as the actual sight of the conditions themselves."

"This movement therefore offers an opportunity to the sons and daughters of Erin to return to the scenes of their childhood, to give a word of cheer where needed and to demonstrate to those who still remain to preserve the old traditions that we are all interested in the land of our forefathers. In its people and in the preservation of its natural beauty. One striking fact comes out in the official statistics, and that is that the total emigration of the Irish people from May 1, 1851, when the enumeration was commenced, to Dec. 31, 1908, practically equals the present population of the country, being more than 4,000,000."

After further review of conditions Mr. Kilkenny said:

"The mercantile mind of Ireland must be awakened. The Irish merchant and business man must be won over to the point of view of their own real interests. Representative Irish Americans can do much to encourage commercial relations with this country. American capital can be profitably invested in Irish factories and Irish stores. Irish linens, lace, woollens, tweeds, frieze and kindred industries can be easily developed to a high state of efficiency."

"Ireland offers to the manufacturer many attractive inducements for profitable returns on capital invested. Not only is the capital of Irish Americans needed, but their skill and experience in the use of modern methods and devices will prove to be of invaluable service in the industrial awakening which is now just beginning to dawn in the 'old land.'"—Washington Star.

Real Joy.

The auto collided and turned over flat. While the motors kept buzzing and humming. His ankle was wrenched, but he didn't mind that. Nor the several front teeth that were missing. He smiled when they wrapped him in plaster and splints. And said in a manner confident: "It's what we expect in those fifty miles' sprint."

Oh, it's nothing so gay as this thing.

If You
Are Sick

It is because some of the organs of the body are not doing their work well. There is a lack of that nervous energy that gives them motion. Consequently you are weak, worn-out, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, indigestion, etc. because there is not sufficient nerve force to keep the organs active and allow them to perform their natural functions. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores health because it restores this nervous energy.

"I have been sick for a year, and did not know what was the matter with me. I tried many remedies and none of them proved of any value. I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I procured a bottle, and before I had taken half of it I was better. I would have had nervous prostration if I had not got this medicine when I did. I continued to take it until I was entirely well. I have since recommended it to five of my lady friends, and they have all thanked me for doing so, for it benefited them all."

BOWSER WRITES ODE

He Delivers a Corker at the Gay Old Boys' Club.

WAS AGAINST WIFE'S WISHES

But Samuel Would Have His Way About the Matter, and After His Visit to the Meeting He Arrives Home in Joyful Mood.

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

At dinner the other evening Mrs. Bowser noticed that Mr. Bowser was very much preoccupied and that he also appeared to be in a hurry to get through with the meal. She gossiped away for a quarter of an hour and then suddenly asked: "Has anything unusual happened at the office today?"

"Nothing," he replied. "Aren't you feeling as well as usual?" "Just the same." "But you seem to be preoccupied." "Yes, I am. I got a letter at noon from the Gay Old Boys' club that I would be expected to deliver an ode on Columbus at the anniversary dinner this evening. It has bothered me some to write an ode on such short notice, but I guess I've got it all O. K."

"And so you are going to the dinner?" "Of course." "I wish you wouldn't. The last time you went two men had to come home with you, and I found you seated on the doorsteps at 2 o'clock in the morning."

"Woman, do you know what your words imply?" demanded Mr. Bowser as he suddenly woke up.

"You were—were tired, I suppose."

"It is well that you put it that way. No living man or woman can say that they ever saw me intoxicated. It had been a strenuous night, and as I have rheumatism a couple of gentlemen walked home with me to see that my legs did not give out. I was simply resting for a moment before coming in when you came down to the door and made a great fuss. Mrs. Bowser, when Samuel Bowser is not able to take care of himself he will send for you."

"A VOICE WAS SINGING AT THE GATE."

"And you have written an ode?"

"Didn't I say that I had?"

"And it is on Columbus?"

"Didn't I say it was?"

"And you are going to deliver it at the dinner?"

"Certainly I am. Do I write odes on Columbus or any other man to throw in the wastebasket? Please don't take me for an idiot."

"And you will read me the ode before you go?" persisted Mrs. Bowser.

"No, ma'am. I won't—not a line of it. You would simply find fault with it and try to show your superiority over me. The ode suits me and will suit the club, and that's enough. I don't want to be all upset by your criticisms. When I get mad my voice gets husky, and I want it in good trim tonight."

Mrs. Bowser said no more on the subject until he was about ready to leave the house. Then, as she saw the roll of manuscript in his hand, she asked:

"Couldn't you read me the first verse? You know an ode is not a poem."

"Not a line will I read. When Samuel Bowser does not know an ode from a poem he wants some one to soak his head."

"Is it about Columbus discovering America, or what?"

Advised to Go to Bed.

"Never you mind. You go to bed at the usual hour and don't worry about me or Columbus."

With that he was off. Mrs. Bowser sat up until 10 o'clock and then went to bed. She was awakened two hours after midnight by a voice singing at the gate. It was a voice trying to sing the "Sweet By and By" and "You Can't Shake Me, Charlie," to one and the same air. She leaped out of bed and started downstairs, but before she reached the door it was being checked and shaken, and the same voice was shouting:

"Lemme in, ole gal—lemme in!"

It was Mr. Bowser. He stood there hatless and had his coat on his arm.

"Warm night—mighty warm night," he said as she reached out and pulled him into the hall just as a policeman was coming along.

Mr. Bowser was escorted to the sitting room and deposited in a chair, and then Mrs. Bowser stood before him and looked at him for a moment before asking:

"Mr. Bowser, what's the matter with you?"

"Nothin', dear—nothin' 'tall. I just got home from the Gay Old Boys' club, you see."

"Yes, I see! I thought it would be his way. Nice thing in a man of your age! All the neighbors must have heard you bawling at the gate and kicking at the door."

"Nobody heard me 'tall. Came home as quiet as a mouse. Don't look at me that way, Mrs. Bowser. It hadn't right—it hadn't right. If you had gone to the Gay Old Gals' club and read an ode I wouldn't look at you that way."

"So you read your ode, did you?"

"I did and made the hit of the evening. Big hit. Awful hit. Most awful hit you ever heard of. The applause was simply tremendous. Oh, if you had only been there to hear!"

"And what has become of the manuscript?"

"Got it right here," he replied as he began feeling in his vest pockets.

"No, I haven't. The secretary wanted it to send to Historical society. Best ode on Columbus ever delivered by mortal man. Want to lay it up 'mong archives. Mrs. Bowser, why can't you stand still a minute instead of whirling round?"

"I am standing still; it's your head that's whirling. Oh, the shame of it!"

"What 'bout shame, Mrs. Bowser? Can't feller deliver an ode on Columbus without being ashamed? Course he can. Oh, but you order been there! You order heard the applause! You order heard what they said 'bout me! You'd been proudest woman in America."

It Brought House Down.

"What was the ode?" she asked as his eyes began to close.

"What was 'er ode? Why, it was ode to Columbus. It praised him for discovering the pyramids, you know. Yes, sir, set right out and sailed and sailed and sailed till he discovered the pyramids. Then he went ashore and said to 'em, 'Pyramids, you are the real stuff—come here.' And 'er pyramids come. That's what brought down 'er house."

"And I don't wonder at it. I feared some such blunder on your part, and that's why I wanted you to read the ode to me before you started. It's no wonder the members gaped you."

"Gape me? Not a guy, Mrs. Bowser! Just laughed and applauded. Just said my ode was best ever written. Just said Bowser took 'er cake. You are proud of me, ain't you? Course you are proud of me. If you had written that ode I would be proud of you."

"Don't ask me to feel proud of a husband in your condition. It will probably be in the papers, and I won't dare show my head outside the house for a week. Mr. Bowser, how could you—how could you?"

"How could I write ode on Columbus? Why, just as easy as grease. Glume pencil and I'll write 'nother. I'll write one 'bout Columbus crossin' 'er Alps."

"And how can I get you upstairs? I'll have to have the help of the cook."

"No, you won't. I can walk right up. Sheel! I'll go ahead and—"

And he sank down on the floor, groined and grunted two or three times and then began to snore. The best Mrs. Bowser could do was to fetch a quilt and pillow and leave him there. He had written and delivered an ode, and it was a corker.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of my dear wife and our mother, Alexine F. Catlin, who died one year ago today, July 10, 1908.

How sadly we counted the hours That measured that sorrowful year, Since they laid 'neath a mantle of flowers.

Our mamma whom we loved so dear, She left her loved ones behind.

Her children and her husband, Whom she so willingly toiled for, And loved better than her own life.

Our hearts have been crushed and wounded, Our lives have been made lonely and sad,

Which only the presence of her dear face Could ever again make glad.

She was a tender and loving mother, A wife kind and true, A sister and friend who never would shrink,

Whenever a kind act she could do. When we sit at home sad and lonely, We think, oh can it be true,

That she was torn from the hearts that loved her so well, To sleep in the silent tomb.

By her husband and children.

The Real Test.

It is easy enough to be pleasant When life goes on like a song, But the man worth while is the man who can smile

When the telephone rings while he is filling his fountain pen and he answers it and says "Hello!" and the operator says "what number?" and he says, "The bell rang," she says "I beg your pardon."

Mabel Graham Griffith versus Leonas Griffith.

No. 1791. Chancery in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from the respondent Leonas Griffith, and the guardianship and control of minor child of said parties, Nettie E. Griffith.

The bill states that the said parties were married on the 30th day of August, 1905 and that the complainant lived with the respondent in Dorchester and Wicomico Counties, Maryland, until May 10th, 1906, since which time the complainant has lived in Wicomico County, Maryland; that though the conduct of the complainant towards the respondent has been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said respondent without any just cause abandoned and deserted her and has declared his intention to live with her no longer and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that one child has been born from said marriage, Nettie E. Griffith, an infant under the age of twenty-one years; and that the said Leonas Griffith is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 7th day of July 1909, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland in Equity, that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of August, 1909, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st day of Sept. next to show cause, is any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

EVERYTHING NOW READY FOR GREAT HORSE RACE.

Thousands Of People From Eastern Shore Will Witness The Much Heralded Contest Between Dry Dock And General Mack.

Ever since difference of opinion made horse racing possible there have been races on the Eastern Shore of Maryland but never in the history of the turf, as far as this section is concerned, has a race been scheduled which has created so much interest as the coming event between Dry Dock and General Mack. The horses will meet on the new track of the Salisbury Fair Association in this city next Wednesday, July 21st.

D. C. Armstrong, owner of Dry
Dock and W. J. Hall, owner of General
Mack have each posted $1000 and side bets which are known to have been made will run the purse, in the aggregate, up to $5,000. Both horses are in the pink of condition and are being driven under 2:15 every day. Dry Dock is under the care of James Try-son, one of the best known trainers on the Shore and General Mack is being handled by Theodore Allen, another well known turfman. In the coming event Dry Dock will be driven by J.
Hooker Wilson and General Mack will be driven by Theodore Allen. Both of these men are experienced drivers
and are familiar with both horses, having driven them in several events in the last few years. Both horses have the same record of 2:14 and it is expected that this record will be considerably lowered in this race. While the Salisbury track is new, it is pro-

SALISBURY SUBSCRIBERS VICTORIOUS IN TELEPHONE RATE CONTROVERSY.

Citizens' Committee Wins Its Fight Against Bell Telephone Company And Uniform Rates Of $15.00 And $25.00 Will Be Charged For Service Beginning With The Date Of Agreement.

Victory, the result of the untiring efforts of the members of the citizens' committee which was appointed to adjust the telephone rates in this city, has at last been attained. The company has entirely acquiesced in the matter and beginning with last Thursday the uniform charges of $15 for a residence telephone and $25 for a business telephone went into effect. The following letter is self-explanatory:

July 14th, 1909.

Mr. E. H. Walton,
Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: On behalf of the Diamond State Telephone Company, I beg to advise you and the gentlemen of your Committee that, after due consideration of the question, the Diamond State Telephone Company has decided to maintain the following rates for telephone service furnished its subscribers within the City of Salisbury:

Direct Line—Business, $25. per year.
Direct Line—Residence, $15. " "
It being understood that the Company reserves the right to increase these rates when it installs in Salisbury a modern telephone plant. It is the intention of the Company at some future time to erect in Salisbury a building suitable for telephone purposes and to install therein the modern telephone equipment referred to.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) F. H. Bethell,

Vice-President.

The foregoing letter fixing the desired rates for telephone service in this city is the direct result of a lengthy conference between the officials of the Bell Telephone Company and Mr. Elmer H. Walton, Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Thomas H. Mitchell and Rev. W. A. Cooper at the Philadelphia offices of the company on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning of this week. These gentlemen had only one object in view when they left Salisbury and that was to protect the interests of the local subscribers and to secure an agreement to the effect that the old charge of $15.00 and $25.00 would be established and maintained. The letter shows conclusively that their trip was successful. This was the last of a series of trips made by these three gentlemen to Philadelphia and Denton in their efforts to bring about the present result.

The concession secured on Wednesday was the result of negotiations which have been pending since the Citizens' meeting in May. Immediately after the appointment of the committee, its members proceeded to organize by the election of its Chairman and divided the City into districts and the five members personally visited the subscribers and obtained the signatures of nearly 93 per cent to the agreement, which has heretofore been published, by which the 'phones would be removed unless the demands of the subscribers were acceded to. The Company was immediately notified of the agreement and given a definite time in which to make its answer, but at first they absolutely refused to make any concession of any character whatever.

At the suggestion of Mayor Harper and certain members of the City Council, the committee regularly formed an incorporation under the laws of Maryland, known as The Citizens'
Telephone Company and immediately applied for a franchise, and this organization was used as one of the factors in making the fight.

The officials of the Bell Telephone Company then desired an interview which was granted and later another followed in Philadelphia between Mr.
Walton and Mr. Mitchell with the Bell officials and from that time until Wednesday, the Committee, or a majority of its members, have been in constant touch with each other and have continued their efforts to adjust the matter until the final conclusion on Wednesday. Various propositions and counterpropositions were made,
but all were based upon the understanding that the rates of $15.00 and $25.00 must be adhered to or that the 'phones would be removed according to agreement.

On the 30th of June, following the conference between Mr. Walton and Mr. Cooper with the counsel of the Diamond State at Denton and officials of the Company in Philadelphia there was given the written assurance that if the time was extended until July 15 some satisfactory adjustment would be made. Negotiations relating to a lease on the part of The Citizens' Telephone Company were entered into but only as the final alternative for the purpose of forcing the reduction of rates and was but one of the factors in finally compelling the company to comply with the demands of the subscribers. The result of the conference shows plainly just what the attitude of the committee has been since this important matter was placed in their hands, and shows that their only object was to secure the reduction of rates.

The victory has been a great one and once more establishes the fact that Salisbury will not tolerate unjust methods on the part of any public service corporation.

MR. ANDERSON EXPLAINS.

Superintendent Of The Anti-Saloon League Surprised At The Defeat Of Local Option Man.

Superintendent Wm. H. Anderson, of the Anti-Saloon League said that he was much disappointed over the defeat of Roscoe Jones, who sought a re-nomination for the legislature from the Democrats of Wicomico county. Mr. Jones introduced the state-wide local option bill in the last legislature and led the fight in its behalf. He was aggressive all the way through and because of this the Anti-Saloon League was desirous to have him returned.

Some weeks ago when a report reached Mr. Anderson that Mr. Jones might be opposed by the Democratic organization he called upon the leaders and requested their support for the League's favorite candidate. He was informed that it was an unwritten law in Wicomico not to return a member of the House. Mr. Anderson protested that this was one case where the precedent should not be adhered to; that Mr. Jones represented a great moral issue, and having performed his duty satisfactorily should receive an endorsement and be sent back; so that he might complete the work he had so ably inaugurated.

Not receiving a satisfactory answer to this appeal, Mr. Anderson proceeded to work through another channel. He called upon all, or nearly all, the ministers in the county and arranged to have delivered on a certain Sunday from all the pulpits sermons commending Jones' record in the legislature and calling upon the voters to send him back. Some of them touched up the Democratic organization and intimated that something might happen if the temperance people were ignored in this case.

DEMOCRATS PROMISED AID.

This combined attack from the pulpit had its effect. It caused the Democratic leaders to sit up and take notice. They sent for Mr. Anderson and agreed to suspend the return rule in Mr. Jones' case, promising at the same time to give him support in the primaries.

As a Democratic nomination in Wicomico is generally equivalent to an election the superintendent was mightily pleased with the success of his plans and he, as well as Jones, felt confident that the latter would be nominated.

Last Saturday the primaries were held, the direct system of voting being employed. There were about 7 candidates for the legislature, the three receiving the highest number of votes to be the nominees. When the votes were counted it was found that Jones ran a very good fourth, being just about 200 votes behind the third man.

As might be supposed, Mr. Anderson was not only very much surprised, but disappointed as well, and he at once instituted an investigation to learn how it all happened. He found that the organization had been true, Jones himself confirming this statement, but that taking advantage of the presence of another candidate who had entered the race and who was also a temperance man, the liquor element in the county broke away just enough votes from Jones to insure the election of the outsider. As Mr. Anderson put it, "Our own people are the cause of Jones' defeat. They divided their votes so as to give support to Mr. Baker, who was not an organization candidate, and the opponents of Jones taking advantage of this also backed Baker. In other words, our wires were crossed, and I give the liquor people credit for taking advantage of the opening. The inference, however, that the result is a liquor victory is not borne out by the facts."

A DISTINCT GAIN.

"We are just advised directly by Mr. Jones himself that all three of the candidates nominated for the House of Delegates are good temperance men. Some of the temperance people preferred a fourth man to one of the other candidates endorsed by the organization. The liquor interests, learning this, cut Mr. Jones, and by throwing their support to this other specially strong temperance candidate ran him ahead of Mr. Jones by a small margin, though they have gained nothing practical whatever by it."

"The league, while it endorsed Mr. Jones and hoped to see him returned, had no excuse for doing so and did not specifically oppose any of the men nominated. Furthermore, while the league regrets the defeat of Mr. Jones it considers the situation in Wicomico county a distinct gain, as only one member of the House from that county voted in favor of the bill last time, and this time all three candidates of the majority party are understood to favor it."

Mr. Anderson also derives comfort from the result of the primaries in Harford county. "Here," he said, "three of those who served two years sought a re-nomination. The two men who voted against local option was defeated and the one voting for it was successful."

The Superintendent is now busy preparing for the local option campaign this Fall.

Chester River Survey Done.

The houseboat Oyster, of the Maryland Shellfish Commission, used as living quarters by the surveying crews at work on the oyster grounds of Maryland, arrived in Baltimore Friday from the Chester River in tow of the State steamer Governor McLane, the work of surveying the bed in the Chester River having been completed. The Oyster will remain until after taking on stores when she will leave for Kent Island narrows, where the survey will be carried on in the waters of Eastern bay and its tributaries.

While the Oyster is at Baltimore Mr. Swenson Earle, in charge of the survey work, will survey the lumps in the Chesapeake bay between the shores of Baltimore and Kent counties south of People's Island. At the same time the Coast and Geodetic Survey party will carry on its triangulation work in Eastern bay.

After the lumps in the bay are surveyed and charted the party will work down the shore of Kent Island to Bloody Point and will there combine with the Coast and Geodetic Survey party for work in the waters of Talbot county.

Since June 1 the surveying parties have completed a survey of 10,000 acres of oyster beds and bars.

Building Fine Yacht

Mr. J. T. Bailey, of the firm of Bailey, Banks & Biddle, jewelers, Philadelphia, is having a fine yacht built at the shipyard of E. James Tull, in Pocomoke City. The boat is a schooner yacht 65 feet long 17 feet beam, and drawing 3 feet of water, with a 30 horse power engine. It will be used East in summer and down in Southern waters in the winter, chiefly for fishing. The Manetto as the yacht has been named, is commanded by Captain Kohler, and the crew consists of two sailors, two men for the masts, and Japanese steward.

A franchise has been granted the owners of the electric light company of Denton, to light the town of Ridgely. Ridgely is rapidly going to the front and in a very short time will be recognized as one of the leading towns on the peninsula. It has made more rapid strides than any other place on the Shore in recent years, and today its pavements are the best in any of the Eastern Shore towns.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition; was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman." Mrs. Chas. Freitroy, Moosup, Conn.

Will Have Some Peaches.

Fifteen per centum is now the prediction as the peach crop of the Peninsula while thirty per centum of the crop of the Western Maryland Counties will be saved and delivered. The June "drop" which is Nature's cutting off of the weak and emaciated peaches and leaving the good ones to adorn the vitality and growing elements from the tree is over. It was a very thorough "drop" with its burning hot and its "hurry-up" growing weather. Professor T. B. Symons, State etomologist of Maryland, has a tour of Delaware and peninsula and makes the statement that farmers will not realize more than fifteen per centum, according to and based on the present acreage of peach trees, old enough to bear. Western Maryland will harvest thirty per centum. In the face of a belief that live enemies to the peaches, like the San Jose scale have killed the 1909 crop Professor Symons does not think so. Nor do any of the experts of Delaware. The falling off is due largely to the heavy frosts during the spring and also to "little peach," and "peach curl," far more prevailing this year than last. Under the direction of the State Horticultural Department, however, systematic spraying has greatly reduced the inquiry from curl leaf.

State Board Warns Of Typhoid.

In the monthly bulletins sent to the health officers by the Maryland State Board of Health they are reminded that typhoid fever may now be expected to begin its summer rise. "The bulk of summer typhoid fever," it is stated, "is still due in Maryland in the majority of instances to polluted water." Prompt action on the part of the health officers will prevent a large amount of unnecessary sickness and deaths.

The investigation of all public water supplies and as many private supplies as possible during the early summer months is recommended. The investigation of water supplies includes, first the analysis of samples of drinking water, second, careful investigation of the water system, and especially sanitary surveys of the watersheds and catchment basins. It is recommended that samples from public water supplies be taken at least twice yearly, irrespective of season, while water supplies are good, or "unsuspicious," should be subjected to analysis once monthly, or at more frequent intervals.

Mr. R. S. Cohn Dead.

Mr. Rudolph S. Cohn, senior member of the milling firm of Cohn & Bock, of Princess Anne, died at his home in Norfolk, Va., after a short illness, on Monday last. Mr. Cohn was born in Germany in 1849. He resided at Princess Anne until 1890 at which time he moved to Norfolk and engaged extensively in the lumber business, being Secretary and Treasurer of the Roanoke Railroad and Lumber Co., of Norfolk. He still retained his interest in the Princess Anne firm, which was recently incorporated under the name of the Cohn & Bock Company. This company operated Lumber and Roller Mills and are the largest manufacturers in Princess Anne. Mr. Cohn is survived by a widow and six children. His remains were brought to Princess Anne and interred in the Presbyterian Cemetery.

RICH GOLD FIND IN CANADA.

Field Discovered in Saskatchewan Province Rivals the Klondike.

The most remarkable gold discovery since the Klondike finds was recently made at Lac La Bonge, 200 miles north of Prince Albert, in the great hinterland of the province of Saskatchewan. H. C. Hamelin and B. L. Clemons of Prince Albert, having evidence of a rich gold area in northern Saskatchewan, outfitted last year three parties of prospectors. The finds were encouraging, but not sensational. This year two more parties were sent out, and the finds which have been made of an eight inch vein of free milling gold quartz has created a profound sensation.

Deputy H. C. Hamelin has a specimen from the vein quartz declared to be the richest and best defined specimen he has seen. The assays so far made from former finds have shown $61 to $78 and $81 to $84 to the ton respectively, but the latest sample is declared to carry from $20,000 to $30,000 to the ton. The finds have been made within forty miles of each other.

"Society of the Moon Kissed Lotus."

Selected for their proficiency in culinary lines over the heads of 2,000 classmates, three young ladies from Japan are now at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition in Seattle, Wash., demonstrating the many features of Japanese kitchen art in the Japanese tea garden. The young ladies are known in Nipponese as Yachigo, Matsura and Yetsu Sato. They are unable to speak English and appear dressed in the national kimono of the flower isles. In the seminary in Tokyo in which they are scholars they belong to a sorority, built on the same lines as American sororities, called the "Society of the Moon Kissed Lotus."

RACES FOR WOMEN ONLY.

International Equestrienne Contests to Be Held in Rome This Year.

Prince Scalen, the famous horseman, is putting the finishing touches to the program for the international women's races to be held in Rome, Italy, some time in the fall. Equestriennes from all over the world will be invited to compete, and the prince has promises from society ladies in the United States, Italy, Russia, France, Austria and England to enter the races, riding their own horses as lady jockeys. If not enough society women can be secured professional riders will be invited; otherwise the latter will be excluded.

The races are to be managed by Emile Durer, Mascagn's manager, but the Rome Societe Hippique, of which Prince Scalen is president, will decide on the admittance to applicants. Amazons will be invited to compete both in flat races and the steeplechase.

According to Prince Scalen, a rich American residing in Paris has offered a prize of 100,000 francs for the lady winning in the 12,500 foot race. It is reported that James Hazen Hyde made the generous offer. There are to be other prizes to attract the ladies.

MUSIC FOR HIS COWS.

Jersey Farmer Uses a Phonograph to Encourage the Milk Industry.

Asserting that the psychic qualities of phonograph music have the effect of persuading his cows to give more milk than they are inclined to give without the aid of soul stirring harmonies, Steever Smith, a farmer near Great Notch, N. J., went to Montclair, N. J., recently and purchased a dozen new records at a music store for use in his dairy.

Smith said he formerly had in his employ as dairymaid a Swiss girl, whose yodling to the cows had such a soothing effect that the bovines would have made him rich through their efforts if the pleasant conditions could have continued for a few years. The girl, Lena by name, got married, and after her departure the cows moped and refused to give much milk.

The accidental introduction of the phonograph at the farmhouse gave Smith a hint as to its advantages as a substitute for the songs of the tuneful dairymaid, and now the cows are in a fair way to become heavy milk producers, as of yore.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul's Second Missionary Journey—Thessalonica And Berea." Discussed By A Local Writer.

After the delivery of Paul and Silas from prison at Philippi, they were cared for at the home of Lydia for a short time, and then departed, taking Timothy with them, but Luke remained at Philippi. The three missionaries traveled along the coast, about one hundred miles from Philippi, to Thessalonica. This place is known as Salonica today, and has about one hundred thousand inhabitants. It has been a place of importance to the nations. Philippi of Macedonia was here, Xerxes, also, and Cicero visited the place 50 or 60 years B. C. It was captured by the Saracens A. D. 904, by the Crusaders during 1184, and is now an important commercial city of European Turkey. Mrs. Stone was kidnapped here several years ago, and ransomed by her friends at a cost of $65,000.

It is still a mission station; three men and three women, sixteen native assistants, twenty-two out stations, four hundred and ninety converts, twenty-three Sunday schools, and ten day schools.

To this place, the first missionaries went late in A. D. 50, and remained until May or June A. D. 51. They found a synagogue here, and for three sabbaths taught in it, opening the Scriptures unto them, and we get a glimpse here of how Paul taught the Scriptures. He read the Old Testament Scriptures, from which they always read their Sabbath's lesson, and taught concerning the Promised Messiah; of how he should come, and how he should live, and what manner of death he should die. Paul must have been ready for this work, for we know how well he was prepared for it.

Then he reasoned the facts concerning Christ, alleging that He was the Messiah. He must have read the Old Testament Scripture concerning the Promised Messiah, and then set the facts of Christ's life, suffering, death and resurrection side by side with the prophecies and concluded with the argument that therefore; this Jesus whom I preach unto you is the Christ. We cannot study this entire matter in any better way. We have the Old Testament prophecies and history, and the New Testament record, and we may compare the prophecies and facts of history, and know of a truth, if these things be so.

How our minds open to these things when we study! How Paul's teaching's help us! At first, it may seem to us just as it did to the Jewish people; that it is impossible that the Messiah, the Wonderful, the Prince of Peace, whose kingdom was to be of all the earth, should be a meek and lowly teacher and die upon a cross, but Paul argues the point, and many believe. What a great power this was to convert so many. Where ever it was preached a church was established, and here, where the facts of Christ's death had been known, and assented to by the Jewish Church, Paul convinced many of Christ's Messiahship and made many converts.

But it's success brought persecution again. If Christ, as taught by Paul and his companions was the Messiah and his plan of salvation true, then must Christianity increase and Judaism decline. Truly they turned the world upside-down, as charged by their accusers. It is ever thus throughout the world. Christianity is to the world a disturbing element. It makes a change but it is not a turning "upside-down," but a right-side-up.

What makes Christianity such a disturbing force? Is it love and righteousness, which casts out unrighteousness, which has been ruling so long. The world has ever been unsettled under the enthronement of unrighteousness and the great, settling, regenerating power is working out the change, and all will be upon a solid basis when righteousness prevails. This charge of a disturbing element, a new king and treason to Caesar could not prevail to day. The world feels and recognizes the uplifting power of Christianity and welcomes it, but the heaven have not leavened the entire lump, and will not until Christ becomes the Redeemer of every one and personal opposition will still be met until all are brought under its influence personally.

Paul, after establishing a church at Thessalonica, on account of persecutions went to Berea, and then taught until the success of his ministry attracted the attention of those opposed to Christianity. Then he went to Athens, of which place we will study next week.

Why was the Bible written? Why are all the prophecies and the history written by holy men of God during the existence of mankind gathered to-gether and given us? John, who is certainly an authority on this subject, says: "These are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that, believing, ye might have life through his name." What a great chance for study. Does literature have anything of greater interest to study than the Bible? It is pre-eminently the Book of the world. It's study is instructive, unfolding new truth, new beauty, each time it is studied. It is so full of everything pleasing and enter-taining to a student. Compared with other history it is a great light and has been the guide of mankind in its up-lifting. It's divine origin and purpose demands our earnest attention, and the study of it should be thorough and systematic.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Salisbury People To Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Salisbury.

Mrs. Walter B. Nichols, 317 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have brought me great relief from kidney complaint and I believe they will do as much for other sufferers. I was afflicted with symptoms of kidney disease from childhood but was never troubled seriously until about two years ago. Then my back began to ache severely and last summer I was laid up for two weeks. I used any amount of medicine but I found only slight relief. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at White & Leonard's drug store went at once to the seat of my trouble and helped me in every way. I consider this remedy worthy of the highest recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Telephone Victory.

The final victory of the people of Salisbury in the telephone matter is sweeping and complete.
The demands of the subscribers have been acceded to by the Diamond State Telephone Company
just as presented by the Citizens' Committee, and the ultimate triumph is a notable instance of the power of the people when properly applied and vehemently insisted upon. From the time of the citizens meeting, nearly two months ago, and the appointment of the committee, there has never been a time when a majority of its members have given up the fight nor thrown aside the all-prevailing idea that eventual success would crown their efforts.

In all the negotiations pending between the Company and the Committee, whatever the form assumed, there was but one thought,
the adoption of uniform rates upon the basis demanded.

The passage of the ordinance by the Mayor and Council recently, after the mass meeting at the Court House and during the time
the actual negotiations were pending, rather complicated than cleared the situation. The Company did not and have not recognized the validity of the ordinance and expressed absolute confidence in their ability to win any suit instituted for the purpose of testing the power of the Mayor and Council to pass such a regulation.

Whether this be true or not, we have contended for some time that the ultimate remedy was in the hands of the people and that the matter should be fixed, if possible, without involving the city in a legal fight.

The negotiations were begun by the Committee and forced to their final conclusion upon the distinct basis that it was the demand of the subscribers in general that the rates of $25.00 and $15.00 should be uniformly recognized, and there was at all times the consciousness that back of the members, there was the support and confidence of the great body of subscribers. In their hands was a solemn and binding agreement signed by about ninety-eight per cent. of the subscribers that the phones would be removed in case the Company failed to accede to the proposed rates and only the assurance of the Company to the Committee, in writing, on the thirtieth of June saved the enforcement of that agreement. It was the positive declaration, that in some way the rates would be adjusted in an acceptable manner, but not until the meeting of the majority of the Committee in Philadelphia on Wednesday did there seem to be any tangible solution of the difficulty. However, when the victory came it was all the more gratifying.

Few public questions have ever more completely stirred the town from centre to circumference and the happy ending of the vexed and perplexing problem has more than justified the opinion of the leaders in the movement that the people themselves were the proper ones to solve the difficulty.

The Democratic Ticket.

The ticket nominated by the Democrats last Saturday under the Crawford County System is significant more in its omissions than in the actual selections which were made. The two candidates on the primary ticket, who were conspicuous as having back of their most excellent records in public office, Messrs. Roscoe Jones and George W. Fooks, were both defeated, and it is no secret that the Democratic organization as such favored the candidacy of neither gentleman. It is very evident that the leaders desire subserviency in public office rather than ability and independence.

It is not surprising that men of the calibre of Senator Jesse D.
Price who had defied public sentiment and attempted to thwart the will of his constituency, should have made strenuous efforts to defeat Mr. Jones, but it is a sad commentary upon the leaders in general that they should have been a party to the systematic campaign, which it is believed, was waged against him and which led to his inevitable downfall.

While there may seem to be little incentive in standing vigorously for the right against strong and determined opposition, still Mr. Jones has the satisfaction of knowing that his defeat was brought about not because he failed to do his duty but because he had the courage of his convictions, and in doing so he very greatly displeased the leaders and forfeited their support because of that fact.

The same is true to a certain extent of Mr. George W. Fooks.
His record as Sheriff was an unusually good one. Careful and conservative, conscientious and prompt, he would have proved to be a most excellent balance-wheel on the Board, but the policy of the party at the present time did not permit the nomination of one who would interfere with the lavish expenditure of the public money or obstruct those schemes which are now under way.

Mr. J. C. Kelly, the nominee for Sheriff, is to be congratulated upon winning against the undoubted desires of the organization and most of the leaders of the party. From the ordinary standpoint of party fealty and unsuccessful attempts heretofore, he was no doubt entitled to the nomination, and the rank and file of the party evidently did not believe in turning a deaf ear to his request simply because of the demands of the leaders.

The ticket in general is composed of personally good men and is well up to the usual standard of nominations in Wicomico.

The Proposed Dredging Of The Upper Pocomoke River.

Considerable pressure is being brought to bear upon the War Department officials to have the recommendation recently made by Major William E. Craighill in the matter of the upper portion of the Pocomoke River set aside.

The matter is being taken up by prominent persons in Worcester and the more thoroughly the matter is investigated, the more completely are the people in general
at a loss to understand the reasons which actuated the Engineer in making the unfavorable report which he submitted.

Not only would the proposed dredging reclaim thousands of acres of lands in the upper portion of Worcester County and the lower portion of Delaware, but it would give direct waterway connection between the Pocomoke River and the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company and also afford a waterway outlet from the lower portion of Delaware to the same railroad. It is also stated that thousands of acres of valuable cypress timber as well as thousands of acres of gum and oak would be marketable which are now practically useless, and in view of these facts, which have been ascertained by competent engineers including Prof. S. S.
Woodward, it is inconceivable that the Government should fail to lend its approval to this scheme. Not only is this true,
but as The Snow Hill Messenger
said a week or so ago, "It is the general opinion among the farmers along the river that one-half of their crops are lost because of the overflowing river and its inability to remove the surplus water of the adjacent farm lands. This condition exists on each side of the river swamp for an average width of one-half a mile and in many cases much further, and from the sources of the river as far down
as eight or ten miles from the Delaware line."

It is impossible to compute the vast amount of good which would be accomplished by the consummation of this project and every possible effort should be put forth at once to see that a favorable recommendation is made by the Board of Engineers to the Department officials, which will eventually find its way to the next Congress.

It's the economy of operation the freedom from repair bills, the sure, safe service yielded by

TOOK TIME BY FORELOCK

Mr. Blank's Theater Invitation to His Wife.

He was a very busy man, and, like all of his kind, he hated to waste time by unnecessary waiting. That was why in the midst of his correspondence, along about 11 o'clock the other morning, he paused and, turning to his secretary, requested him to ring up his residence on the phone.

"Jemmlison," he said, "get my house on the wire and ask Mrs. Blank to come to the phone. Just tell them that I wish to speak to her."

The secretary made off, and in a few minutes the required connection was made.

"Is that you, Mary?" he said.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Well, this is John," he said. "I have just rung you up to tell you that Barker was in here this morning with two tickets for the theater tonight. He and Mrs. Barker have been called suddenly out of town and he thought we might like to use the tickets. How about it?"

"Fine!" replied Mrs. Blank. "I have nothing else to do."

"All right, my dear," continued Blank. "The curtain rises at half past 8."

"Yes, I know," said Mrs. Blank.

"I thought I'd let you know in time, so that directly you have had your lunch you can begin to put your hat on," he went on. "Then we can get there before the middle of the first act. By-by, dear."

The only answer was an angry click at the other end of the wire, which seemed to indicate that another receiver was in trouble, but Mr. Blank only laughed as he returned to his work—Lippincott's Magazine.

Slight Misunderstanding.

He was in the hotel business, and when the English tourist came up to the desk he made the biggest blunder of his life.

"It has been some hours since I breakfasted," said the Londoner.

"Yes, sir?" responded the clerk, interrogatively.

"And now I would like to go to town."

The clerk looked over at the big time table behind the desk.

"Yes, sir; train leaves at 5:55."

The English tourist rubbed his eyes in amazement.

"Train leaves at 5:55. Er—who said anything about trains, my dear fellow?"

"Why, didn't you say you wanted to go to town?"

"Yes, but—"

"Well, town is in the state of Ohio, and next train leaves at 5:55. Are you on?"

And what the Londoner said about the blasted Yankees was sufficient—Chicago News.

Slight Variation.

"I believe in an eye for an eye!" shouted the wild eyed chap with the long hair.

"And I believe in the tooth for a tooth doctrine," laughed the tall man in the gold rimmed eyeglasses.

"That's a queer doctrine, friend."

"Not at all. I pull one tooth out and put another in its place. I'm a dentist."—Puck.

What It Looks Like.

Little Elsie, aged three, who was walking in the garden with her nurse one evening, caught sight of the thin crescent of the new moon, hanging low in the west, and exclaimed in great excitement:

"Oh, look, look, nurse! The moon's all gone away, and there isn't anything left but just its skin!"—De-lin-eator.

Just Possible.

"I hope the stage will get the airship craze," said the theatrical manager.

"Because why?" asked the soubrette.

"Because it may then use its wings in an attempt to elevate itself," answered the theatrical manager.—Chicago News.

REFORM IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Fillest City to Be Rebuilt Along Lines of Beauty.

There is to be a new Constantinople which will rival the architectural glories of the old Byzantium. The Young Turk committee in order to demonstrate to the populace the reality of the reforms of the new regime has called J. Bourard, the eminent director of public works architecture in Paris, to lay out a modern city, with boulevards, parks, sewers, markets, slaughter houses and notably with three triumphal roads running to Stamboul, Pera and Scutari, says a Paris cable dispatch. M. Bourard returned from Constantinople recently, where he made careful studies as to the possibilities of transforming "the filthiest city in the world" into a modern capital. His plans have been accepted by the Young Turks, and work will be begun immediately on the public markets.

Concessions are to be granted for the establishment of huge slaughter houses, the only conditions being that the buildings must conform to M. Bourard's architectural plans. The Turkish engineers will carry out the work of providing sewers, electric lights, gas and water. These will be the first public undertakings, and everything will be entrusted to natives, as in the Hamidian regime.

When asked what would become of the famous street dogs of Constantinople when he had cleaned up the city, M. Bourard replied:

"That is really a more difficult problem than one would think. The dogs of Constantinople are legendary. The Turks are used to their coming and going, and being grateful for the services they render, would not permit a brutal clearing out of the historic four footed scavengers."

"On the other hand, when the garbage is collected according to my plan and not permitted to be cast into the streets the now starving dogs will become dangerous, and it will be impossible to let them rove free, as in the past. The Young Turk committee finds the dog question more serious than that of Crete and has held many meetings to discuss it. The probable outcome will be that all the dogs will be transported to an island near Constantinople, where they will form a canine colony or republic. The government will have to provide food since popular opinion at present will not permit the extermination of the animals."

DESTINY OF COLLEGES.

To Bear Brunt of Struggle For World Peace, Says Dr. Butler.

"In another year, I believe, the great educational interests of the earth will have to bear the brunt of the struggle, if I may so term it, of international peace," said President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university the other night in an address to the teachers of Omaha, Neb.

President Butler said that international commerce had in the past been depended upon to promote and preserve good feeling between the nations, but that the tendency under modern conditions of the struggle for commercial supremacy was toward a feeling of distrust and ill feeling. He said that the great educational institutions will head the peace movement and help cement the friendship of nations.

Indian Girl to Write American Play.

Emma Rainel, a full blooded Indian, has become possessed of the ambition to write "the great American play."

She is a graduate of Carlisle and lives in Seattle. She intends to give all her time in the next two years to work on a play which she believes will be "American in the biggest sense."

Miss Rainel thinks the "great American play" should have Indians and white settlers as principals, and she will swing the action around a mixed group of this kind. She has selected Seattle as her home because she thinks that in the far west only is to be found the spirit which animated the pioneers who pushed the country's frontier to the Pacific. She has arranged to visit Indian villages in the west of the United States and also in Canada in search of material or "atmosphere." Miss Rainel was graduated from Carlisle with high honors.

Style's Freakishness.

"I want to be dressed in the height of fashion," said Mr. Suddenroll.

"I'll see to it that your clothes fit you perfectly," replied the tailor.

"But that's what I'm in doubt about. Is it fashionable just now to have your clothes fit?"—Town Topics.

Not Consistent.

"What was I saying when I dodged that automobile?"

"You were saying that life is not worth living. But if you think so why did you dodge?"—Pittsburg Post.

An Explanation.

"How in blazes did the composer happen to head my foreign travel letter with the words 'Foreign Drive'?"

"I don't know. Perhaps he read it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

If It's Neuralgia

and those sharp, shooting, agonizing pains drive you almost crazy, take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and get relief. They drive out the pain by their soothing effect upon the nerves. When taken as directed they are harmless, and leave no bad after-effects. That's the reason they are so popular with all who use them. Your druggist can tell you what others in your locality think of them.

"I do positively think that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best medicine ever put upon the market. I find them so restful and soothing, and without any bad after-effects. I have suffered with neuralgia, so that my system would just ache and quiver, and I cannot take opiates; but I can take these tablets, and they always relieve me. No one that suffers with neuralgia need fear to take them as I know they will not form a habit, for if there was any opiate in them I could not take them. Just one in the morning when I feel bad, and I can do my work all day."

MRS. W. H. BURKETT, Macon, Ga.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

EXCITING SHIP RACE.

Giant Liners Sped Across the Atlantic Ocean.

WERE NEVER LOST TO SIGHT.

Lapland and Amerika Only Few Miles
Apart From Fire Island to English Channel—Passengers Up Early and Late to Watch Rivalry—Short Distance Between as Contest Ended.

It falls to the lot of comparatively few voyagers across the Atlantic to enjoy the excitement of a race from Fire Island to the English channel in such measure as did those on the Hamburg-American and Red Star liners Amerika and Lapland, respectively.
The former arrived at Plymouth Saturday night, June 26, while the latter reached Dover Sunday morning.

For seven days and nights the two great vessels plowed the seafame unruffled seas almost side by side. So evenly matched were they in speed that their logs were almost identical,
and, although for five and a half days
the Amerika held her rival half to a quarter of a mile astern, she could not shake her off and finally turned into Plymouth with the Lapland only a few hundred yards behind.

The Amerika left her wharf at Hoboken at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, June 19. The Lapland followed an hour later and was closely followed down the bay by the White Star liner Baltic. The Cunarder Carmania and the American liner New York preceded the three. When the Lapland cleared Ambrose channel the Amerika was some ten miles ahead, her hull just below the horizon, and the New York was still visible.

The weather conditions were perfect.
with a smooth sea and light air from the southward. These conditions prevailed for four full days and nights or until Thursday midnight, when the wind freshened from the southeast-ward and long, rolling head seas set in
in which the steamers pitched easily, with small if any diminution of their speed.

The Baltic was left astern the first night out of New York, and the New York was not caught up with, although at all times only a few miles ahead and constantly in wireless communication with the Amerika, Lapland and Carmania. The Carmania drew to the southward the first night and crawled up a little on the Amerika and Lapland, but all Sunday and Monday was plainly visible, as were her lights at night on the southern horizon. She passed out of sight Tuesday morning early.

Meantime the Amerika and the Lapland steamed on. Great was the excitement of the passengers on both boats as hour after hour one would seem to gain and the other to lose, or vice versa. By Thursday afternoon the ships were almost abreast, about half a mile apart. The afternoon was unusual, for the midocean swell of the morning had subsided, the sky was cloudless, the air cool and fresh.
Smoke poured in volumes from the funnels of both liners as they sped along.

It was quite evident both were being pushed to their best speed. The interchange of numerous messages between friends from one to the other steamer kept the Marconi operators busy all day and far into the night.
The contest, in fact, greatly relieved the tedium of the voyage. Many were those who sat up late on each boat and rose at unwontedly early hours to watch the race.

Friday was cold and clear, with a strong north wind on the beam of both boats. The Amerika now drew to the southward, and the steamers ran still parallel courses, but farther apart—some four miles, in fact—than at any time since they left New York. At midnight Friday the lights of each vessel were just distinguishable from the other, and it was with a sense of loss and disappointment that good nights were said. But Saturday morning, which again brought a smooth sea, sunlight and light northerly wind, revealed the fact that in the hours of darkness the ships had again drawn near to each other and were then only a scant mile apart, the Amerika to the southward.

The Lapland's passengers saw at once that the race was probably theirs, as the Amerika would have to bear to the north to make Plymouth during the afternoon after the Scilly islands were passed, while the Lapland pursued her course to Dover. This, they hoped, would force the Amerika to pass astern of the Lapland, and this hope also explained why the Lapland had kept bearing to the north on Thursday when she had about overhauled her rival. That move had forced what seemed now likely to occur.

As the hours of Saturday passed the excitement on both vessels increased as they drew nearer and nearer. At 9 o'clock they were almost abreast, the Amerika slightly in the lead. The passengers crowded the rails and watched for the result with eager, expectant eyes. Closer and closer drew the ships, and at 8:20, just as Bishop's rock was sighted, the Amerika put on a burst of speed, drawing ahead of the Lapland, crossed the latter's bows only a few hundred yards away, and kept ahead for three hours until she went into Plymouth.

Thus the race of seven days and three hours, all across the north Atlantic, closed with a scant victory for the German boat—London Special Cable to New York Times.

"ENGLAND UNARMED."

Cannon Henson Tells Canadians That Empire is in Peril.

Addressing the Canadian club of Victoria at a luncheon there, the Rev.
Canon Henson of Westminster abbey, London, strongly urged the clergy of all denominations to preach the gospel of practical patriotism throughout the British empire, inciting sacrifices everywhere in order that Britain may procure as quickly as possible an efficient army and navy capable of contending with the powers massing against her. He regarded the present agitation in England, he said, not as a scare, but rather the prelude to a great national crisis.

"England today is practically unarmed and defenseless," said Canon Henson. "Why should we alone among the nations believe we can go on forever enjoying undisturbed the heritage
our fathers won for us? The empire must for its continued existence be sustained by a new patriotism."
"We have seen Russia with all her mighty power collapse before what hitherto had been thought to be a small and unimportant nation. England has watched with growing anxiety the sharp and brutal methods of diplomacy applied to Russia and France by a powerful state in Europe.
It is upon these grounds that the people of Britain are thinking of the pressing urgency of this great question of imperial defense."

NATIONAL HYMN FOR TURKEY.

Why Saint-Saens Has Been Asked to Compose It.

The new Turkey has suddenly discovered that something is missing in her reformed governmental outfit to insure recognition as an up to date nation.

An influential Young Turk graduate of the Paris Conservatory of Music, who has been authorized to organize a national conservatory in Constantinople, has called his government's attention to the fact that Turkey has no national hymn, says a Paris cable dispatch. The cabinet declared that she must have one. Turkish composers, however, are still in the tomtom period
of musical development, and accordingly the suggestion of the young man from Paris was adopted—that Saint-Saens be invited to compose the Turkish national hymn.

He may have to take an extended oriental trip for fresh local color or utilize an extract from his "Samson et Dallia" ballet.

Collectors of Spoons.

Miss Marjorie Gould has one of the largest collections of spoons in the United States, and she is adding to it almost daily. She has a spoon from every state in the Union, each with the coat of arms of the state on the handle. She also has spoons from almost every city in Europe. A few of the collection are of gold, but the majority are of silver. Miss Helen Taft also is a spoon collector, but she goes in exclusively for odd designs. It is Miss Taft's aim to complete a collection marking all the oddities in spoon-making since the time when spoons
first were used down to the present day. She is an authority on spoon-making since the earliest times, as is Miss Gould.

Peculiarities of Crime.

One of the strangest peculiarities of human nature is its inclination to imitate the misdeeds of others. Crime is epidemic. A particularly dreadful murder, the details of which are set forth in all the newspapers, often has the effect of inducing similar crimes.
One of the reasons and probably the chief reason why public executioners were abolished in England was that instead of acting as a deterrent the execution had the contrary effect of inciting to murder.

Some years ago a woman of Geneva, named Lombardi, killed her four children. She admitted that she had been reading of a woman who killed her husband, and the very circumstance account had made her wish to imitate
the crime, but as her husband was dead she killed the children. This is only one instance out of hundreds which have come to our notice.

The infectious nature of self murder receives a striking testimony in the following incident: Dr. Oppenheim of Hamburg had to examine the body of a man who had cut his throat and had died after some days of suffering. The medico told his assistant that death would have been immediate if the man had made the cut in a way which he illustrated, and he was startled two days later to learn that his assistant had attempted to commit suicide by lacerating himself in that very manner. The man admitted that he had never thought of suicide until the day of the examination and the doctor's remark.—London Globe.

PLEA FOR A SANE FOURTH.

Pastor Would Not Abolish Firecrackers,
but Bar Harmful Explosives.

The Rev. William Dayton Roberts, pastor of Temple Presbyterian church,
in Philadelphia, recently pleaded with his congregation to observe the Fourth of July in a rational manner and to impress upon others the wisdom in this action. He condemned excessive and unnecessary noisemaking and the firing of harmful explosives, but declared he favored allowing the small boy effervescing with patriotism to observe the day in milder ways.

"The United States is again preparing for the great national sacrifice on the Fourth," said the pastor. "In the large cities announcements are being made that antitoxin is ready, cots and ambulances at hand for any emergencies, surgeons prepared and the fire department awaiting the call to extinguish blazes caused by fireworks.
What this nation ought to do is not to save, but to prevent loss of life, injuries and property loss.

"I would not abolish firecrackers in toto, but would prohibit the firing of harmful explosives. Let the boy have his handful of small firecrackers and then let him attend some large pyrotechnical display by the city and there will be fewer accidents, fewer deaths and less sorrow in the homes of the nation on the morning after. According to the American Medical Journal,
the total accidents on each Fourth averages 4,882, due to the exuberance of children and culpable carelessness of their parents. The total deaths on Independence day in six years number 1,800, all due to this carelessness."

During the sermon the pastor praised the newspapers of Philadelphia and other cities in their appeals to have the Fourth observed sanely and judiciously.

CHINESE STUDENT'S APPEAL.

Urges Americans Not to Judge Chinese Race by Miss Sigel's Murderer.

An appeal to the American people not to judge the whole Chinese race,
and particularly Chinamen in America,
because of the murder of Miss Sigel
has been made by Kollang Yih, one of the leading Chinese students at Cornell university, says an Ithaca (N. Y.) dispatch. Yih is the son of a prominent Chinese official at Fuchau, and he has recently taken his master's degree in agriculture at Cornell university.
He said in part:

While this murder is deplorable in every way and it is but natural that the Chinese in this country should now be in the limelight, still it seems but fair to say in defense of my own race that the Chinese in this country is not the great yellow peril represented where girls are trying to convert him. From all accounts in the newspapers Miss Sigel's death may be attributed to an excessive missionary zeal and the cultivation of sentiment instead of thought.

Who is to blame in these matters? Picture to yourself an attractive American girl showering sympathy and attentions on a man, no matter what his race. Is it not the most natural thing in the world for that man to return affection for this sentimental halo placed on his brow?
The murder of Miss Sigel may have been the result of her inability to decide which man she liked best, and it may have been the result of a plot of which she and her friend Leung Lim were victims.

It is deplorable that every Chinaman in the country, however well meaning and studious he may be, must feel the finger of suspicion pointing his way, but this is a racial antagonism, and in justice to Americans I must admit that in China
the same thing is felt when an American or a foreigner gets into trouble. A difference of customs and disposition, of traditions and education, of even looks and dress and manner of speech, all cause prejudice.

And so it is in the case of poor Miss Sigel. The girl was evidently over-sentimental and overzealous as a missionary.
She has paid an awful price for her indiscreet conduct, to say the least, but I think that Leung Lim, whom she first met as a pupil to be converted, may also have died a violent death.

Yellow a Favorite This Summer.

Yellow is the popular summer shade.
It is being worn in Newport and in Washington. Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden has been seen in Newport almost exclusively in yellow, and her example has been followed by many young women who cannot hope to match her in originality. In the capital, Mrs.
Knox, daughter-in-law of the secretary of state, and Miss Helen Taft have taken the lead in the fad for yellow.
Mrs. Knox has one unusually pretty empire frock of yellow embroidered net over yellow satin. Bows of old yellow lace are on each shoulder, a yellow lace sash is worn and also yellow satin slippers. A wreath of gold leaves gives the finishing touch.
Miss Taft's favorite combination is yellow lace over yellow silk. Almost all the hats worn in the afternoon in both Washington and Newport for the last few weeks have had a touch of yellow, and many have had a full yellow crown.

Three Deaths In 24 Hours.

Three deaths in one family within 24 hours saddened the home of Mr. Lambert J. Powell, a prosperous merchant of Salisbury, last Monday.

The first death was that of his sister, Miss Clara Powell, aged 23 years, who had been ill for several weeks with typhoid fever. This young lady was a graduate of the Salisbury High School and came to Salisbury with her brother's family when they moved from Powellville to Salisbury about three years ago. She was a daughter of Josiah Powell, a well known resident of Dennis District.

The most severe blow to Mr. Powell came shortly after the death of his sister, when his wife, Annie Johnson Powell, and infant child passed away. Mrs. Powell was a young woman, just cleverly past 31, and her sudden demise was a great shock to her relatives and friends.

The remains of all three were laid away in Parsons Cemetery—the sister on Tuesday afternoon, and the mother and child on Wednesday afternoon. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Geo. C. Hill.

Where Is The News Stand?

The Salisbury news stand has been changed about so much in the last week or two that it has been difficult, at times, to locate the stand for the purpose of buying a paper. When the business was sold to Ralph Murphy and moved to the Peoples' Lunch Room on Main street all went well for a few months. About the first of July, however, Mr. Murphy left town with no one in charge of the business. Upon his return it was disposed of to Mr. John M. Laws, who moved it to his place of business on Division street. After keeping it one day, the business was again sold to Mr. J. E. Bonds who moved it back to the eating house on lower Main street. This change lasted about two days when it went into the hands of Mr. John W. Turner and was moved into the fish market at the pivot bridge.

In the meantime Salisbury subscribers of the city papers have experienced all kinds of trouble. The papers have not been delivered regularly and it would take a dozen adding machines to count the complaints that have been made.

nounced by experts to be the fastest oval in this circuit and bets are being made that the mile will be paced in less than 2.10.

General Mack was bred by William Agler at the Orchard Park stock farm, Lexington, Ky., by Ashland Wilkes and Miss McGregor. He made some excellent showings as a colt and when four years old was purchased by Mr. Hall from L. R. Acker, of New York, for the Glendale stock farm, Marion, Md. As a five and six year old he was started in 13 races, winning eight firsts, two seconds and one third at an average time of 2.14. He is the sire of a number of the fastest colts in the State.

Dry Dock is a handsome bay stallion and was bred by Brook Curry, of Lexington, Ky., by Directman, 2.24, and Susie Wilkes, 2.23. His conformation and individuality make him a favorite among horse fanciers. His pedigree is rich in the blood that has made the history of the turf. His grandsire won $42,000 in his three and four year old form. In 1907 Dry Dock easily won the 2.20 pace at Jamestown and also took first money at Point Breeze in the 2.17 pace.

The managers of the Fair Association estimate that 15,000 people will come to this city next Wednesday to see this race. There is great rivalry between the owners and drivers and the opinion as to the result is about evenly divided among the people generally.

Mr. John P. Dawson, of Pennsylvania, will start the horses.

Mabel Graham Griffith versus Leonas Griffith.

No. 1791. Chancery in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from the respondent Leonas Griffith, and the guardianship and control of minor child of said parties, Nettie E. Griffith.

The bill states that the said parties were married on the 30th day of August, 1905, and that the complainant lived with the respondent in Dorchester and Wicomico Counties, Maryland, until May 10th, 1906, since which time the complainant has lived in Wicomico County, Maryland; that though the conduct of the complainant towards the respondent has been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said respondent without any just cause abandoned and deserted her and has declared his intention to live with her no longer and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that one child has been born from said marriage, Nettie E. Griffith, an infant under the age of twenty-one years; and that the said Leonas Griffith is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 7th day of July 1909, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland in Equity, that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of August, 1909, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st day of Sept. next to show cause, is any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Death Of Mr. J. W. Willing.

Mr. John W. Willing, twice a member of the House of Delegates of Maryland and a prominent oyster culturist of this county, died suddenly of heart failure at his home in Nanticoke, at about 6.45 Monday evening. He was one of Wicomico's best-known citizens. Mr. Willing was 69 years old. He was elected a member of the legislature in 1886 and again in 1908. While a member of that body he took an active part in the making of laws that would benefit the oyster growers. Mr. Willing was taken ill while at work in his barn. He was assisted to his residence, where medical attention was rendered. He rallied sufficiently to converse jokingly with his physician, but a few moments later he swooned and dropped dead. He is survived by his widow and five children, Misses Georgia, Cecile, Ethel and Ora Willing, and Mr. Harry Willing. The funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning from his late residence, with interment in the family burying ground.

To Wed St. Louis Girl.

Miss Myrtle McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. McClure, of Webster Groves, Mo., will become the bride of Mr. Harry O. Williams, son of Capt. and Mrs. Albert H. Williams, of Nanticoke, Md. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride on Thursday evening July 29 at 8.30 o'clock. The bride and bride-groom will spend their honeymoon in the East visiting the bride-groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Williams, and a part of their time will be spent in Baltimore, Wilmington, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and New York. They will reside in St. Louis, where Mr. Williams is employed.

CRAZED WITH DRINK, NEGRO SHOTS DAUGHTER.

Colley Dickson Now In Hospital And
Her Father In Jail Pending Her Condition As The Result Of Too Much Whiskey.

A most serious crime was narrowly averted Wednesday night when Ernest Dickson, a colored resident of "Jersey," crazed with drink, shot his own daughter in the foot, inflicting a serious wound with a shot gun. When given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace W. A. Trader, Thursday afternoon, Dickson vouchsafed no reason for his rash act except that he was in a drunken rage.

It was about 7.30 o'clock in the evening when the story of the shooting affray reached the ears of Sheriff Larimore and Deputy Sheriff Waller. Mr. R. D. Grier's automobile was immediately secured and the officers were rushed to the scene of the trouble by Mr. Ralph H. Grier, who was driving the car. The officers experienced no difficulty in arresting Dickson, as he was so drunk that he was practically helpless. He was at once lodged in the county jail. Colley Dickson, the wounded daughter was then hurried to the Peninsula General Hospital where she was given medical attention.

Dickson is about 40 years old and his daughter is 16 years of age. At the hearing Thursday Dickson was held in jail by Justice Trader to await the condition of the injured girl.

—Misses Louise and Ruth Gunby, who have been visiting Miss Nettie Warren, in Oancock, Va., returned home Saturday.

DRY DOCK EASILY WINS $2000 PACING EVENT.

General Mack Drawn From Race After Losing Two Heats—Result A Big Surprise To Followers
From Pocomoke City.

With perfect weather and all conditions favorable that go to make a perfect day for a race meet, Dry Dock, owned by Mr. D. C. Armstrong, of Somerset county, won the $2,000 purse in the match pacing event which was pulled off here Wednesday afternoon on the track of the Wicomico Fair Association. General Mack, the other entrant was drawn by his driver, at the suggestion of owner Mr. W. C. Hall, of Marlton, Md., after the third heat. Driver and Trainer Theodore Allen, who made this startling and unexpected announcement to the judges made the excuse that General Mack was not in good condition, notwithstanding the fact that he easily won the first heat.

It was a great race, however, and the 10,000 people who had flocked to Salisbury from all over the peninsula, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburgh were apparently satisfied with the decision of the judges. Most of the betting was placed on an even basis, only an occasional five to four being placed, with Dry Dock as favorite. This was in the nature of a big surprise to the following from Pocomoke, all strong General Mack people, who were offering four to one Tuesday in their home town, and the bets went begging at that. These odds were soon brought down to an even shot Wednesday when the Pocomokians arrived in Salisbury and found willing takers at even money.

A conservative estimate of the money that changed hands places the amount at $25,000. Special trains from all sections of the peninsula began to arrive shortly before noon and at 1 o'clock it was next to impossible to secure a seat in the grand stand, and by 2 o'clock the time scheduled for the race, the fair grounds was one solid mass of sweltering humanity. The crowds completely surrounded the half-mile oval, and in the quarter stretch the fence was lined three deep from the quarter pole to the judges' stand.

GENERAL MACK SECURES POLE.
Joseph Davidson, of Wilmington, who started the horses, rang up for the first score promptly at 2 o'clock and, after scoring three times, he gave the word, "Go." In the draw for position General Mack secured the pole, but Dry Dock, with J. Hooker Wilson in the driver's seat, shot ahead and dropped back into the pole on the first turn. They came down the stretch for the first half neck and neck, but General Mack worked hard in the second half and won the heat by a nose in 2:14, failing to lower his record.

In the second heat General Mack kept the pole until the quarter pole was reached at the half. Dry Dock then swept past General Mack as if the latter was tied to the fence and made a gap that General Mack was unable to close, winning the heat easily in 2:14. It is generally believed that Wilson could have distanced the Mack horse had he not held Dry Dock back. The third heat was a cinch. Dry Dock was driven to the pole, kept it for the entire mile and virtually paced away from the horse from Marlton. He did the mile in 2:14.

It was after this heat that Allen appeared on the stand, representing W. C. Hall, the owner, and drew General Mack out of the race. The $2,000 purse and 60 per cent. of the total receipts of the gates, grandstand and quarter stretch go the winner, D. C. Armstrong.

In the judges' stand were Starter Joseph Davidson, of Wilmington; Judges R. E. Biggs, of Arlington; Purcell Horsey, of Crisfield, and Dr. Gen. B. Collier, of Salisbury; Timers, E. Lee LeCompte, of Cambridge; A. W. Taylor, of Parkley; and Dr. G. F. Floyd, of Bridgetown, Va. Mr. Frank Barnes, of Princess Anne, the final stakeholder, was on hand and presented the handsome purse to the winner. Mr. N. J. Wimbrow, of Whaleyville, was clerk.

RESULTS IN OTHER RACES.
The other races were won as follows:
2:30 Trot—Purse $150.
Baby Lou, Willis G. Wimbrow.
Snow Hill, 2 2 3
Richard Prince, S. H. Richard.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul At Athens—Discussed By A Local Writer."

Paul came to Athens from Berea in the second year of his second Missionary journey. He was joined there by Silas and Timothy, who after remaining for sometime, each returned to work in other cities already visited, and Paul took upon himself almost the entire work of Athens.

There are three cities that stand out prominently in Paul's life and the world's alike. First Jerusalem, that has given so much of religion, from which has gone out so much in an evangelic reclaiming of the world. Paul has seen and feels keenly what has transpired there. Rome, the capital of the world, had gone out law and government alone any other city of its day. He was longing to see Rome, and now he was entering Athens, bring above any other in light of Literature and art; the home of great men of letters, and the city, whose Gods are not second in number even to the pantheistic Gods of India.

Here no doubt Paul saw idolatry to a degree never beheld by him before. Every home had its altar to a God; statues, the product of sculptural art, such as could be produced nowhere except in Athens. There were sanctuaries of the finest architectural plans erected to varied deities, and the people still sought new Gods. Their philosophy had not created sufficient Gods to kill their desires, and fearful that there might still be some God whose wrath they should need escape, they erected an altar to the "Unknown God."

Paul found Jews here, and no doubt among them felt his first duty. He found Epicurians here, but a degraded Epicurism, the pleasure seeking, most good in life Epicurians. They had become most sensual, and the stoic's school was in full sway. There was to them but one soul. There was no individual immortality, and hence no future reward or punishment. Life had its own rewards and punishment according to chance of circumstances. What a place to undertake to preach the Gospel, and while Paul rested, waiting for Silas and Timothy, his spirit was stirred within him, and he began to debate with these philosophers, teachers, students and worshippers of idols, and they were ready to listen. Perhaps there was another theology, another God to placate, and they sought to know what Paul had to say. These people had much time to spend in the discussing of such matters, and had a council of learned men to examine into all new questions touching these matters, and to pass upon the qualifications of those who would teach, and to this council Paul was invited.

There are still Stoics and Epicurians in the world, and they are like the Athenians, proud of it. Their cults have a standard by which they will judge whether the new doctrine of salvation is worth consideration. Their philosophy is complete, unless, perhaps, some of your doctrine may add just a little to what they already know, feel, and believe. Yes, there is perhaps something they haven't gotten yet. They have served everything life has offered in seeking to satisfy that consciousness of an infinite power to whom they must bow, and failing to locate this something they worship in their hearts by fear at an "unknown altar."

Paul says, "Men of Athens, proud of your distinction in worldly progress, I perceive you are too superstitious, your minds run riot in your seeking for this God. He is without symbol. He cannot be expressed in idolatrous form. This unknown God, I declare unto you, The God that made the world, and all things therein, Lord of heaven and earth, cannot be comprehended as an idol. He is a spirit, infinite, eternal, and unchangeable in his being, wisdom, power, justice, goodness, truth and love. He has created all men brethren to dwell upon the earth and has appointed the bounds of their habitation, that they should seek Him and find Him, for He is near everyone, for in Him we have our being. Our life is from Him, and we, His offspring, should not consider Him a device of Man's hand or mind. God's plan of salvation, His plan, whereby man may return to Him, is now at the point where He no longer permits men to walk in the darkness of ignorance and unbelief. The fullness of time is come, and light has entered into the dark places, even the minds of men. Through Christ is redemption from sin come, and having raised Him from the dead, we are also assured of eternal life through Him. And by Him will the world be judged in righteousness. His standard has been lifted up, a standard of righteousness, truth and love. No longer may sin go unchallenged in the lack of knowledge of God's free grace, offered freely, but men are called to repent, and to day, as never before do we hear that command thundering from Sinai, 'Thou shalt Shot by Negro Desperado.

The operation of negro "speakeasies" in Dry Seaford is supposed to be responsible for a crime there last Thursday, in which one negro desperado, Henry Carter, a roadster, known as "Texas" shot and seriously injured two other negroes. The victims are "Boss" Walker and Elihu Roach. Roach was shot in the right side and Walker received two bullets in the left shoulder, which came out just over the heart. He may die. A posse, composed of officers and others, is in pursuit of the murderer, and there is talk of lynching him.

Census Supervisor.

Director Durand, of the Census Bureau, has informed Representative Pearre that there will be five supervisors appointed for Maryland, one for Baltimore, the Eastern Shore, Southern Maryland, Western Maryland and for the second district. The average salary of the supervisor will be about $1800. Representative Kronmiller will name the supervisor for Baltimore. It is assumed that National Committee-man William Jackson will name the supervisor for the Eastern Shore. Representative Mudd will name the supervisor for Southern Maryland, if his health is sufficiently restored to enable him to return to active politics. Representative Pearre will name the supervisor for Western. The supervisor for other territory will probably be chosen by the Republican organization and the Republican Representation in the House.

Maryland will get about sixty positions in the Census Bureau at salaries ranging from $600 to $1600 per year. Each of the five supervisor will have several hundred enumerators to appoint.

Department Meeting.

At the public meeting of the Chestertown Water Department held Thursday evening the affairs of the department were found to be in excellent condition. The superintendent has been ordered to shut off all water where the owners are in arrears. This means that unless a number of the prominent citizens pay water rent they will be minus this necessity. Most of the patrons have complied but there are some who insist on imposing on the department.

Cucumbers For Cantaloupes.

Cantaloupes fields filled with growing cucumbers is the surprising state of affairs that farmers near Greenwood are contending with this year. Farmers bought large quantities of cantaloupe seed from a company that quoted unusually low prices, and began to figure on the profits in cantaloupes until the vines came out of the ground, when they found they had been victimized and instead of cantaloupes the vines were bearing cucumbers. In some cases many acres are growing cucumbers.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to act as a depository for the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Predict Short Crop.

Now that the June "drop" which is nature's cutting off of the weak and emaciated peaches and leaving the good ones to absorb the vitality and growing elements from the trees, growers of this particular fruit are more convinced than ever that the crop will be the shortest one for a number of years. Fifteen per centum is now the prediction as to the crop of the Peninsula, while thirty per centum of the crop of the Western Maryland counties will be saved and delivered.

Mabel Graham Griffith versus Leonas Griffith.

No. 1791. Chancery in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from the respondent Leonas Griffith, and the guardianship and control of minor child of said parties, Nettie E. Griffith.

The bill states that the said parties were married on the 30th day of August, 1905 and that the complainant lived with the respondent in Dorchester and Wicomico Counties, Maryland, until May 10th, 1906, since which time the complainant has lived in Wicomico County, Maryland; that though the conduct of the complainant towards the respondent has been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said respondent without any just cause abandoned and deserted her and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterrupted for at least three years and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that one child has been born from said marriage, Nettie E. Griffith, an infant under the age of twenty-one years; and that the said Leonas Griffith is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore, this 7th day of July 1909, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland in Equity, that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of August, 1909, give notice to the said absent respondent of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st day of Sept. next to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Saved Son From Death.

Saving his 11-year-old son, Samuel, from certain death, Minos Wilson, a farmer living near Georgetown, Del., was thrown by a runaway horse Monday of last week sustaining a broken right arm and severe contusion of the body and limbs. Wilson was threshing wheat in a field some distance from the house and sent his small son after a pail of water for the workers. The lad walked to the house, but finding the horse in the pasture, mounted him to ride back to the field. On the way the horse took fright at the glass rattling against the tin pail, started to run away and would have dashed the boy to death against a tree had not the father seized it. The animal threw the man in a heap on the ground twisting the bone in the arm, but missed the tree and the boy was unhurt.

A Disgraceful Judgeship Fight.

Never before in the history of Dorchester county have the Democratic factions lined up in a more bitter contest, and a more lawless one, if the reports from there are only half true, than at present, when the kingpin on the political checker-board is a nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals to represent the circuit that includes Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties.

Whiskey and beer are being shipped into the county almost by the boatload. Automobiles have been seen in the county loaded to the top with jugs and demijohns, scurrying here and there among the voters, not forgetting those whose homes are on some of the islands belonging to Dorchester county.—From Tuesday's Baltimore News.

With two men already under arrest and bound over under $300 bail each for a hearing before Magistrate Sullivan next Thursday on the charge of violating the corrupt practices law and rumors of other and more important arrests, which are almost hourly expected, the political pot in Dorchester county is at a white heat, as one of the bitterest Democratic primary fights in the county's history is drawing to a close.

Whiskey and beer have been distributed with a lavish hand in this fight, and already an arrest has been made among the constituents of each of the principal factions in the fight for the judgeship of the Court of Appeals. William C. Teals, it is alleged, had three kegs of beer, which he gave away in the Neck district. He is a supporter of John R. Pattison, who is backed by Emerson C. Harrington.

On the side of W. Laird Henry, now a member of the Court of Appeals, an arrest was made. John R. Tubman, of Cambridge, an oyster packer and a man of prominence, is accused of giving whiskey away for political purposes. Other arrests are likely to follow, but none will compare in importance with that of the man the State's Attorney now has in mind.—From Wednesday's Baltimore News.

The above clippings from the Baltimore News explain themselves. It is a sad commentary upon political conditions that men who are attempting to secure one of the highest and most influential positions in the gift of any people should resort to such contemptible methods to secure the place. A man who will either violate or countenance the wholesale violation of law, as seems to be the case in Dorchester, is hardly in a position afterwards to enforce it, and while this condition is unfortunate enough with relation to any office, it is doubly so in regard to the judgeship. From time immemorial, there has been a profound respect, as there should be, for the judicial office and there is nothing which would tend to undermine free institutions and American governmental policies more fully and completely than a total lack of respect for those wearing the robes of judicial office.

Unless there is a change in the present policy of the Republican party in this Judicial Circuit, the man who wins today in the judicial primaries of Dorchester County will, in all human probability, be the next Chief Judge of this Circuit and consequently a member of the Court of Appeals of Maryland—the highest tribunal of the State. That an unseemly and disgraceful scramble of this character should be engaged in by the candidates themselves and their supporters is almost inconceivable, and tends to lower the dignity of the office and destroy all respect for the successful competitor. One of the controlling reasons for making no nominations in this Circuit was the desire to obviate a bitter contest in relation to the positions, and yet the Democrats have given within their own ranks an unparalleled example of the depths to which judicial candidates will descend in their efforts to secure the coveted prize, and it is now to be regretted that the voters of the Circuit will not have an opportunity of expressing their disapproval of such methods at the ballot box in November.

Build The Dam And Bridge!

The City is to be congratulated upon finally withdrawing the street force from the jury-dam at Lake Humphreys and getting the men at work again upon the streets. Seldom have they been in a worse condition than they are at the present time and the absurdity in continuing them upon work of which they were largely ignorant was long since apparent. The streets were becoming so positively disgraceful that it was no wonder that the change was made.

But while this is true, the work on the jury-dam should never have been stopped absolutely. If the city street force is unable to cope with the situation, there are plenty persons who can and will build it, and the contract for the work should have been let out long ago. The continuation of the present condition is a constant menace to health and detriment to business. This is very forcibly shown in a bulletin issued during the past week to the public by the Health Officer of Wicomico County, Dr. C. R. Truitt, in which this statement occurred, "Lake Humphreys is a fertile field for typhoid and other diseases, as grass and weeds are over two feet tall in some places, with no chance of cutting or destroying them, unless the lake should be covered with water." The following significant statement is then made: "All weeds in vacant lots must be cut or they will be cut by order of the Health Officer and property owners will pay the expenses." As the city is undoubtedly responsible for the present unsanitary condition at the pond, it might be well for the Health Officer to take this up with the city officials before attempting to enforce its order as to private individuals. There is vastly more danger from that source than from any other at the present time.

Not only is this true but apparently nothing as yet has been done toward building a permanent bridge across the dam and hundreds of persons are daily put to a large amount of inconvenience and even expense by reason of the unaccountable delay in prosecuting the work. The situation is an injustice to the people of South Salisbury as well as to all persons having business in that part of town. If necessary, the city should acquire the mill rights and take the entire property in hand but it is very certain that definite action of some kind should be taken at once.

Save The Lake.

While this is unfortunately an age of supreme commercialism, the proposed project to do away with Lake Humphreys and turn the bed of the pond over to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for railroad purposes demonstrates that fact rather too forcibly for the good of the community. While Salisbury undoubtedly needs a more commodious station and larger railway yards, there is certainly no necessity for the sacrifice of the Lake and it would be an irretrievable blunder on the part of the city to permit it to be done. If no other place whatever could be secured for a purpose of this kind, there might be some slight palliation or excuse for the arrangement, but such is evidently not the case and the sooner the water is again in its accustomed place the better for all concerned.

Republicans Attention.

Republican voters throughout the various districts should make an extraordinary effort this year to see that good men are selected as delegates, to the County Convention in Salisbury on Wednesday the 17th of August. There is an unusual opportunity this year for the election of a portion, if not all, of the Republican ticket, and with the Convention filled with good representative men it will be an easy matter to select a most excellent ticket and one which will favorably compare with that which has already been nominated by our friends—the enemy.

—Tonight, on the Coulbourn lot near the N. Y., P. & N. Railroad the people of Salisbury will have their last opportunity to see Prof. Adams and his great show. The lady will float in mid air held only by the great power dispensed from his fingertips. This exhibition has been a sensation in every city and town where this show has appeared. The last performance will be given tonight.

—More than 400 of the excursionists from Salisbury to Hooper's Island Camp-meeting last Sunday were compelled to spend the night on the steamer Virginia, although on the return trip they were within two miles of Salisbury. The steamer was scheduled to reach Salisbury at 10.00 p. m., and was running on time, when off Kuark's old wharf Capt. Johnson noticed the three-masted schooner Kimball lying aground directly across the narrow channel so that it was impossible for the steamer to pass. There was nothing else to do but to tie up and wait for high water.

—Company I, Maryland National Guard left town a few days ago with 36 men, making a good showing. The Salisbury Company has decreased in the last few years. It will be recalled that Capt. L. P. Coulbourn in 1901 left Salisbury with 57 men including three Commissioned Officers; while in 1902 he left for the encampment at Bel Air with 53 enlisted men and officer.

—The regular services will be held at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church tomorrow. During the month of August there will be no service at either 11 o'clock or 8 o'clock on Sabbath. The Sabbath School will meet as usual during August at 9.30 a. m., and the C. E. Society at 7 p. m. Mid-week meeting for prayer will be held as usual at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evenings.

—Under the conditions of the lease under which the first floor of the Masonic Temple was rented by the Postoffice Department for another term the office is being improved by the extension of the partition of Postmaster Humphreys private office to the ceiling. Heretofore this partition has been the height of that separating the mailing department from the public entrance.

—Because he was the winner in Wednesday's race between Dry Dock and General Mack, Mr. D. C. Armstrong was presented yesterday with a handsome driving whip by Mr. R. H. Phillips, proprietor of the Peninsula Hotel. Mr. Phillips told both Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Hall several weeks ago that he would present a whip to the winner and the gift yesterday was the consummation of the promise. The whip is engraved, giving the date of the contest and the name of the winner.

—This is the time of year when the dog-star (Sirius) rises with the sun commonly known as dog-days. It is during the hot, sultry days of July and August that owners of canines should safeguard the public by muzzling all dogs which are allowed to run at large. There is an ordinance in this city providing for this protection and the local authorities should see that it is enforced as it was last year. It will be recalled that little or no attention was paid to the matter last summer until one or more persons had been bitten by dogs suffering from rabies.

MR. THOMPSON'S MODEL.

The Way She Came to Get a Permanent Engagement.

By ALICE R. WETMORE.
(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Where are you, Bill?" came a lazy drawl from the tiny anteroom, which Thompson designated the office.

"Here," replied that gentleman as distinctly as a mouthful of brushes would permit. "It's only Carter," he explained to his model. "Or perhaps you'd rather?"

"Oh, let him come in by all means," replied the girl. "I'd rather like to see him."

A long, clean limbed young fellow lounged in, halted apathetically for a moment behind Thompson's canvas and then sunk lazily into a pile of cushions on the floor.

The girl on the model stand scrutinized him closely and made up her mind that he was the most typically lazy man she had ever seen. His voice, his walk, his carriage, had an absolute lack of effort that was positively fascinating, and to complete the impression his strong, lean face was absolutely devoid of expression.

Suddenly, however, he gazed intently and with a semblance of awakened interest at the model. The pose was rather striking. A heavy black velvet gown accentuated that peculiar transparency of coloring which accompanies a certain deep rich shade of auburn hair. A dull green background recalled the brilliant coloring of the upper part of the picture to the dusky mysteries of the lower canvas. The pose of the figure was saved from insouciance only by the winsomeness of the face.

Carter pulled lazily at his pipe and continued to gaze at the girl with his closed critical eyes. "Nice color," he finally asserted. "By Jove, that's a wonderful pose!" with a sudden burst of enthusiasm that startled the girl. "Are you engaged after you finish with Thompson?"

The other artist opened his mouth; then, with a quiet smile, closed it again. The girl smiled, too, a little smile that curled her upper lip deliciously.

"No, sir; I'm not engaged next week," she replied quietly.

"Can you come to me for a two weeks' pose then, in the mornings?" Thompson looked dubiously at the girl. "Yes, sir, I'll come," she said.

The next Monday the model presented herself at John Carter's studio. He scarcely looked up as he greeted her.

"Oh, is that you, Miss— Do you know, I forgot to ask your name," he drawled.

"Parks," the girl supplied smilingly.

The gown he gave her was also black. He had hung heavy stuffs around and above the model stand until the black gown and the background mingled darkly and the white face and auburn hair fairly jumped from the gloom in a single, startling note of color.

Carter set to work with a feverish energy which quite transformed him. He tried first one pose, then another, in such rapid succession that the girl was positively bewildered.

When he had at last found one that pleased him he drawled apologetically, with a slow, winning smile, "I'm rather a hard fellow to get started, Miss Parks, but I won't give you much trouble once we're off."

The girl watched the man with fascinated eyes. He worked with the precision and energy of a splendid machine. His face shone with positive inspiration.

As for Carter himself, he was blissfully happy. With the true artist's sensitiveness he felt the absence of the usual clash between the half hearted, prosaic models and the ideals he struggled to embody by their aid. The atmosphere lacked a single inharmonious element, for the girl seemed to throw her whole personality into the work.

At last he emerged from his trance sufficiently to observe that a white line had appeared around the girl's compressed lips and that she wavered as she stood.

"It must be time to rest," he observed. "Why," as he glanced at the clock, "you've been posing for nearly an hour. Why didn't you rest?" he demanded reproachfully.

The girl sank into a chair with an amused gleam in her eyes. "I never saw anybody so completely lost," she said. "I couldn't bear to disturb you."

The next morning he found himself awaiting with unmistakable impatience the arrival of his model, and when at last she did stand before him with a smiling "Good morning" on her lips he regarded the girl with an artist's satisfaction.

She was charming in her dark street gown. Her face was flushed and her eyes bright with the exhilaration of an autumn morning, and Carter was strongly tempted to put away serious work and make a dash for it as she stood. He had never, however, been a man to act on impulse.

It was 12 o'clock and Miss Parks was waiting.

The afternoon was unprecedentedly long. He felt strangely disinclined to work and finally put aside the canvas and brought out some unfinished sketches. He worked on these until he discovered that he had converted five different heads into unmistakable likenesses of Miss Parks. Then he muttered something beneath his breath and gave up in despair.

At the end of the last day but one of the two weeks Carter realized that the central figure of his canvas was completed, and the recognition brought a poignant feeling of regret. The reason for it came when it suddenly flashed upon him that tomorrow was Miss Parks' last day. And then it was that Carter made a discovery that a less experienced man would have made long before. It came with such a shock that he was fairly stunned. He, John Carter, the most unimpressed of men, in love with his model! When Miss Parks appeared the next day he greeted her with his usual cheerful "Good morning," but not another word was spoken until she had taken the old familiar pose—for the last time, he said to himself, with a pang.

There was a strange restraint of which both were aware. At last, "This is the last day of the pose," the girl ventured. Carter worked furiously. "Yes," he answered shortly. Another pause. "Then you won't want me any more?" The girl's voice strove hard to be commonplace.

Carter threw down his palette in despair. The girl kept her pose bravely, her pretty head tilted, but the eyes which met Carter's held a look which even he could not mistake. The man brushed his hand across his eyes in a quick, desperate little gesture. He seemed to have brushed the old nonchalance away. He was fairly transfixed.

"Want you?" he gasped. "Want you? Don't you know I want you more than anything in the world?"

"But you don't understand," the girl began finally in a voice that was somewhat smothered by Carter's broad shoulder. "There are reasons," she continued, with dignity. "Why I can't marry you."

"I am all ears," avowed Carter solemnly, "but you won't mind if I say right now that the reasons won't make a particle of difference, will you?"

"Oh, but they will. I've been deceiving you," she confessed haltingly.

"Go on," commanded Carter morosely. All kinds of dreadful possibilities loomed up before him.

"You'll never love me when you know," she continued, with visible effort. "I'm not a model at all. I'm Billy Thompson's cousin," she rushed on, "and when you came in and thought I was a professional wouldn't let Billy tell you, and I thought it would be such a good joke, because Billy had told me how you never cared for girls or anything and—"

"You there, Jim?" interrupted a familiar voice from the hall. The girl fled to the model stand and took her pose. Carter dabbed lazily and with perfect composure at his canvas.

Billy strolled in, an amused look in his eyes. "Nice model," he remarked. "Can I engage you for next week, my pretty maid?"

Carter turned about lazily and regarded his friend.

"I'm afraid not, Billy," he drawled. "You see, your cousin has a permanent engagement with me."

Actors Under King William III.

How summarily actors and managers were dealt with in the days of King William III. is shown by the petition of Alexander Davenant and others, dated Dec. 19, 1691, which has been found among the historical documents of the house of lords. These "sharers and adventurers in the play house"—this seems to have reference to the Dorset Garden theater in Whitefriars—set forth that Lord Longueville, having complained of being assaulted together with his servants, by the guard at this famous playhouse in the course of what seems to have been rather serious fracas, the king had given orders at the desire of the peer that no soldiers should be on duty there for the future and that the players should be "suspended from acting till they had begged pardon for the affront."

The house had also, it appears, vindicated its dignity, thus outraged by the person of one of its members, by ordering a sergeant and a soldier to be sent to the gatehouse at Whitehall, then used as a prison. The petitioners having humbly solicited the "removal of the suspension upon them" and promised to "do their best to prevent the like miscarriage for the future." It is officially noted that "the suspension on the players was removed" and that "on Dec. 29 the sergeant and soldier were on petition released."—London Standard.

Oats Stalks Over Seven Feet High. Oats rising seven and a half feet from the ground and carrying heavy heads are a reality. They were grown by Henry Stenerson at Sawtelle, Cal. These immense stalks are the result of considerable study and experimenting on the part of Stenerson. He has produced about half an acre of the high oats this season and intends to sow more next year. The commercial value of the enlarged variety lies in the great amount of hay which will result from the increased size of the stalks. Stenerson is himself a giant in stature, being six feet five inches tall.

Spasms St. Vitus' Dance

Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr.
Miles' Nerve Tonic upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' Dance which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. I doctored with a physician; but the more I took of his medicine the worse I got. My mother's devotion saved me. After she had become almost heart-broken, as well as physically exhausted from constant care,
by the advice of a neighbor she procured
a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic. From the first dose to the last a continual change for the better was noticeable,
and when I had taken eleven bottles
I was well, and in robust health."

EDWARD D. BEANE,
North Manchester, Indiana.

"Our little boy Harry, had spasms for three years, and although we devoted with many physicians, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time our attention was called to Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic. We began giving it to him.
His improvement seemed slow, but when he had finished the fourth bottle the spasms had disappeared, and have not been seen now for years. We shall always recommend Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic."

SCHOOL'S GOOD ANGEL

J. W. Harriman Aids Old "Prep"
Institution With $150,000.

SOUGHT TO HIDE HIS GIFTS.

New Yorker Revealed as Mysterious Donor to the Cheshire School in Connecticut—J. P. Morgan Was Trained There—His Pranks Recalled.
Mr. Harriman's Peculiar Experience.

Many a millionaire has remembered his college alma mater in substantial endowments, but it remained for Joseph W. Harriman of New York city to remember his "prep" school with several thousands.

For months it has been a mystery where Cheshire school, the Episcopal academy of Connecticut, was receiving the large amounts expended on new buildings and in renovation of structures standing since its foundation in 1794—an amount upward of $150,000.

It was learned the other day that the entire sum was from Mr. Harriman, who entered the school at the age of nine and left in 1880. A reporter told him with it at his office.

"I guess I'll have to admit that I am the 'angel,'" he said, "although I hoped to keep in the background. I know how much I owe to the training
I had in that dear old fashioned 'prep'
when my father took me there years ago, a motherless 'kiddie.'"

A natural next question was why Mr.
Harriman had taken the unusual course of looking after the welfare of his preparatory school instead of his college.

"I found they were drifting because they lacked funds and equipment," said Mr. Harriman, who is a nephew of Edward H. Harriman. "It seemed to me that a school that prepared for college men like J. Pierpont Morgan, General Alexander Perry, the late
General Joe Wheeler, James B. Dill, Bishop Lines, Ernest Flagg, Dr. Holbrook Curtis, Dr. William G. Vibbert, Clinton Peters and C. La Rue Munson should not be permitted to go to decay. I never gave any money, that brought more satisfaction than seeing the old school re-established, and I guess they know I propose to see the thing through."

"Joe" Harriman, as he is known among the Cheshire alumni, just as Mr. Morgan is known as "Ponty," had a peculiar experience at the school. He was taken in after his mother's death at an age several years below the minimum. There was one other "baby" there—Clinton Peters, the artist, who has since been honored by the academy in Paris and who has a studio in New York.

The older boys would not play with them, and Peters and Harriman had to make their own amusement. They became chums, only to drift apart
when Peters was sent abroad to study.
They discovered each other a few years ago, and out of the reunion came a renewed interest in the old school.
They went to Cheshire, and Mr. Harriman's decision to rehabilitate the institution was made on the spot. A few days ago they returned to celebrate the one hundred and fifteenth commencement of the institution.
There were 300 of the old boys in attendance.

The most notable event was the return of the old bell which had served in a Spanish mission and had been seized in Connecticut from a Spanish vessel. The school got a new bell in 1880 when Trinity college, at Hartford, was being improved, and the old bell was given to a church at Branford, Conn. Thence it went to another church at Southington. Herbert D.
Lloyd, treasurer of the school, traced the bell, and William O. Demarest of the class of '75 provided the funds for its recovery.

A number of stories about Mr. Harriman's schooldays were retold at the commencement. He was apt in his studies, but he had a knack of making original trouble for head masters and their assistants. One night Morgan started a big round stove rolling down a stairway a tutor was mounting. No one "squealed," and as a result the whole school was put "on punishment."

The National Summer Capital.
Beverly and Manchester-by-the-Sea
on the north shore of Massachusetts are likely to become the combined summer capital of the nation in 1909.
President Taft has chosen to spend the summer months on that historic rocky coast where for years past many prominent members of the diplomatic corps have had their rendezvous. Environment has a marked influence on options and decisions, and prophetic and imaginative souls predict great results when the executive department is companioned for months by the ceaseless ocean roll that breaks in storm and calm all along the north shore
from Gloucester down to Marblehead and to Swampscott. The vivifying breezes of that New England coast may induce a breadth of view wide as the great ocean and vigorous as the salt breezes.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in

DR. ELIOT'S BOOK LIST.

Bible and Shakespeare Omitted at Publisher's Suggestion. He Says:

President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard recently said of his five for picking out the list. Every Harvard graduate was surprised after the commencement the other day to receive an announcement from the New York publishers of the issuance of the books in "Harvard crimson" binding.

Dr. Eliot when seen said:

"The list of books as mentioned is very incomplete. I expect when the task is finished to issue twenty more titles. I will try to confine the list to sixty books. When the publishers asked me to select the books for a proposition of this kind I was glad to do it, because I felt if my name as compiler of the list induced people to read the books a great educational work would have been done. My position in this matter is thoroughly understood by all who know me."

"I do not consider that my course in acting as editor could be considered as lending my name or what prestige
I might have for advertising purposes, as has been insinuated. It is a strict business proposition, and naturally the publisher will advertise largely."

"The Bible and Shakespeare were omitted from the list at the suggestion of the publisher. The reason, of course, is that most people have read the Bible and Shakespeare. The list was originally intended to be a fifty book list. Now, any good edition of Shakespeare would take five volumes,
the Bible would take three volumes, and there would be eight gone out of the fifty."

PEST EATING DUCKS.

Alton (Ill.) Farmer Making Money
Fast Annihilating Potato Bugs.

Joseph Junette, who farms one of the job ranches on the Alton bluffs at Alton, Ill., thinks he will engage extensively in "duck" farming and educate the fowls to eat potato bugs at $1 a day per duck.

Just now Junette is enjoying an income of $15 a day from fifteen ducks which he trained to clear potato patches of bugs. He put the ducks in a pen and fed them on potato bugs exclusively after starving them until they were glad to get the bug diet.

Junette tried them first on his own patch, which comprised several acres.
The ducks went through the patch like a neighborhood scandal. After the performance Junette shut up his brigade in the bug pen so they would not acquire a taste for other diet.

The ducks are in great demand on the farms in Junette's neighborhood.
Farmers are glad to pay $1.50 per hour for the services of the brigade.

ELECTRIC SUBWAY FOR MAIL.

Trains in Vienna Will Travel About Twenty Miles an Hour.

Plans are now under consideration for an underground electric railway in Vienna, Austria, for the transmission of postal matter. It is proposed to link together the chief postoffice and sixty-four substations and the nine railway stations in the city. Letters, newspapers and parcels will be carried over this line instead of in wagons through the streets. It is estimated that the line will take the place of 450 mail wagons and 700
horses, which now make some 2,500 journeys through the city every day.

The railway will be built in a subway five feet high and a little less in width. Each car will carry eight packages, which is equal to the capacity of a one horse mail wagon.
Trains of eight cars will be run every twenty minutes from half past 5 in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.
They will carry motormen, but will be operated from dispatch stations and will travel about twenty miles an hour.

$415 For a Farthing.

The Rashleigh coin collection was sold at auction at Sotheby's, in London, England, the other day. A gold Patrick farthing brought $415. It is believed to be the only one extant. It was coined at Carrickfergus or Down-patrick about 1185 by the governor of Ireland under King Henry II. It has a representation of David playing a harp on one side and St. Patrick driving the reptiles out of Ireland on the other.

Very Impressive.

Nouveau Riche is at times an amazing person. Said one of these exotics the other day—he was a commuter—just as the train was moving from the station:

"Er—John."
"Yesir!" answered the valet.
"—I think, after all, I would like the asparagus served as an entree tonight."

And the train moved off amid smothered laughter.—New York Times.

TWO BUREAUS ARE PROPOSED.

"All Round Men" Likely to Prove Leaders to Be Chosen to Learn the Life of Other Lands—British Committee to Be Formed—$67,500 Wanted For Trial.

With the object of providing opportunities for educated youths of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, Canada and the United States to obtain real insight into the life, customs and progress of other nations, a movement was recently inaugurated for the establishment of traveling scholarships and the interchange of promising students between the three countries.
The scheme is designed for those who,
it may be reasonably supposed, will become leaders of thought and action in civil and municipal life.

An influential representative committee will be formed with Lord Strathcona as president for the United Kingdom, and among the various vice presidents will be Premier Asquith, Lord Curzon as chancellor of Oxford university, Vice Chancellor Mason of Cambridge university, Mr. Balfour as chancellor of the Edinburgh university, the chancellors or vice chancellors of the Royal Irish, Welsh, Glasgow, Manchester, Liverpool, Sheffield and other universities, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Westminster, the bishop of London and the president of the London chamber of commerce. The general committee will include representatives of all branches of university work.

The plan is extremely comprehensive within the limit that in addition to academic qualifications candidates must be what is popularly known as
"all round men," selection being along the lines of the Rhodes scholarships.
The plan, among other things, aims at a mutual international understanding, promoting interest in civic and social problems and affording facilities for technical and industrial students to examine the methods of other countries.

It is proposed to establish two traveling bureaus in New York and London, respectively, with initially twenty-eight scholarships—namely, fourteen for the universities of the United Kingdom, ten for the United States and four for Canada, the arrangements being controlled by one committee for the United Kingdom and one for the United States and Canada. The cost is estimated at $67,500 for a suggested experimental three years, and the English committee proposes to appeal for a guarantee fund of $38,000 conditionally upon the United States giving or guaranteeing $22,500 and Canada $9,000.

It is hoped that the first interchange can be made effective next year. It is announced that, although committees have not yet been organized in the United States and Canada, there is widespread recognition of the value of the scheme in those countries, and many of the most prominent educa-tionists in both have promised co-operation if the scheme is financed.—New York Sun.

EIGHTEEN TYPHOID CASES IN SALISBURY'S HOSPITAL.

Nothing But Strict Observance Of The Advice Of Health Officer Truitt Can Prevent An Epidemic Of
The Dread Malady Here.

While a great deal has been published recently concerning the danger of a typhoid epidemic in this city and notwithstanding the advice of Health Officer C. R. Truitt, which was given to the public through the local press, the fact remains that there are at present eighteen cases of typhoid fever in the Peninsula General Hospital. As far as can be ascertained this is a greater number of cases of this malady than has ever existed at one time in this city before and it can but reflect unfavorably upon the present sanitary conditions in the community. It looks now as if the city authorities have given up the idea of building a dam at Lake Humphreys in order to fill that "fertile field for typhoid and other diseases" so that it falls upon the residents of the city to do every thing in their power to prevent the spread of the malady. The following excellent advice is found in Dr. Truitt's letter to the public press:

"The bulk of summer typhoid fever is still due. Prompt action will prevent a large amount of sickness and death.
Will you help prevent the spread of this disease, by cleaning your premises and cutting weeds on same and if your neighbor's premises are in an unsanitary condition report at once to the Health Officer. Lake Humphreys is a fertile field for typhoid and other diseases, as grass and weeds are over two feet tall in some places, with no chance of cutting or destroying them unless

PARK AVENUE IS NEXT ON IMPROVEMENT LIST.

Street To Be Of Macadam With Three Foot Grass Plot And Cement Side Walks On Each Side—Council Passes The Ordinance.

An ordinance providing for the permanent improvement of Park Avenue was passed by the Mayor and City Council at its meeting Monday night.
The ordinance seems to meet with the approval of the property owners and it is expected that the work on the thoroughfare will be started at once.
When the improvements are completed the street will be twenty-two feet wide, with either a concrete or stone curb. The ordinance provides for a five foot cement sidewalk with a three foot grass plot between the walk and the curb, giving the avenue the effect of the boulevards in the improved residence sections of the larger cities. It was finally decided at the meeting Monday night that the road bed should be made of Macadam.

the lake should be covered with water.
All weeds in vacant lots must be cut or they will be cut by order of the Health Officer and property owners will pay the expense. Many cases of typhoid fever have been caused by polluted water due to carelessness of some people who have typhoid allowing the fecal matter to be thrown upon the ground before being disinfected and this will be carried by rain into the drinking water supply and may infect many people. If you are suspicious of your drinking water and wish same examined take sample in clean bottle to the Health Officer and he will send it away to be examined."

MR. WILLIAMS CONTRACTS FOR SEVEN NEW HOUSES.

Real Estate Broker Recognizes The Demand For Rentable Dwellings
And Expects To Erect More Six Room Houses This Year.

Contracts have been awarded by Mr. R. Frank Williams for the erection of seven houses in this city. After giving the matter study Mr. Williams reaches the conclusion that the six room dwelling fills the popular demand and for this reason all of the houses will be of that size although there is a big variance in the plans for the seven houses. Three of them will be built on Main street, extended, on the property formerly owned by Mr.
Charles Herman. Two houses will be built on Oak Hill Avenue, on the lots purchased by Mr. Williams known as the L. B. Gillis property. One house will be erected on Howard street and another on River street. The River street property will be occupied by Mr. James C. Davis. There is considerable land adjoining this house and Mr. Davis will conduct a small truck farm for the local and city markets.

Mr. Williams is the first real estate dealer in Salisbury to adopt this plan of erecting houses on town lots. The rapid growth of the city has caused a great demand for houses and the ever increasing demand for desirable medium sized houses will undoubtedly make Mr. Williams' scheme successful.

who have been spending sometime with relatives in town, have returned to their

DELEGATES TO SUPPORT PATTISON AND JONES.

Dorchester Representatives Receive Instructions—Rumor Started To
The Effect That Harrington
Would Be Nominated.

The Democratic party of Dorchester county met in convention at Cambridge Wednesday afternoon and named delegates to the state convention and to the judicial convention, adopted resolutions and adjourned to meet again on Tuesday, August 24, to name the local ticket.

When W. Lake Robinson, chairman of the Democratic central committee for Dorchester county, called the convention to order an immense throng of delegates and spectators occupied every chair in the hall and filled the aisles.

The Applegarth delegates, 24 in number, from the six districts won by the Applegarth people in the primaries last Saturday, occupied seats in the convention, but refused to participate in the proceedings. In appointments on committees the Applegarth districts
asked to be passed.

A committee on resolutions was named, as follows: T. R. Hackett, O.
W. McWilliams, John R. Nield, W. G.
Winterbottom, Alvin Downey, Dr.
Victor Carroll, J. L. Christopher, Jas.
C. Handley, Otis Corkran, John S.
Marshall and J. B. Banning. This committee, Dr. Victor Carroll, chairman, reported as follows:

"Whereas, the Democracy of Dorchester county, in convention assembled, has declared in favor of the nomination of John R. Pattison for chief judge of the First judicial circuit of Maryland; and whereas, it is the sense of this convention that John R. Pattison should be nominated for chief judge and Robley D. Jones for associate judge of the First judicial circuit; therefore, be it resolved:

"1. That Sangston Insley, Daniel
H. LeCompte, John W. T. Webb, Dr.
Benjamin L. Smith and Tighman R.
Hackett be chosen to represent Dorchester county in the judicial convention to be held at Ocean City, Md., on August 18, 1909.

"2. That the aforesaid delegates be and they are hereby instructed to cast
the five votes to which Dorchester county is entitled in said convention for John R. Pattison, of Dorchester county, as the candidate of the Democratic party for chief judge and Hon.
Robley D. Jones, of Worcester county, as the candidate of the Democratic party for associate judge of the First judicial circuit of Maryland.

"3. That in the event of the absence of any one or more of the above-named delegates those present shall cast the entire five votes of the delegation."

Twelve districts voted for the adoption of the resolution, the Applegarth districts remaining silent.

Stanford Has Promise.

According to a story published in yesterday's Baltimore American, it is rumored that Henry L. D. Stanford, Esq., of Princess Anne, has been promised the appointment of Judge upon the retirement of Judge C. F. Holland next year. This, it is said, accounts for the sudden dropping out of the judicial fight in the first circuit by Mr.
Stanford, and practically assures the nomination to Mr. Pattison and Judge Jones unless Wicomico party leaders balk at such a scheme as this would leave this county, the strongest Democratic stronghold in the circuit, without a Judge. The organization leaders in this county do not want to lose this plum, and hence the reported move to freeze out Dorchester now. The proposition is to nominate Ex-Congressman Miles, of Somerset, for Chief Judge and Judge Jones, of Worcester, for associate. With Pattison out of it now the field would be clear next year for a Wicomico man to succeed Judge Holland, and some Wicomico Democratic lawyer would be recommended to the Governor for appointment.

Notice!!

On account of illness in our family,
I will not be able to keep my appointments next Sunday, August 1st, in Wicomico and Somerset counties.

ADVANTAGES OF A SANATORIUM

Many Benefits To Be Derived From The Erection Of The Fine Bluff Building.

On account of the present agitation concerning the possible danger and detriment of locating a tuberculosis sanatorium or camp near an inhabited dwelling or valuable property, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis issued a statement recently, which shows that in the great majority of cases such an institution has a beneficial effect, not only upon the sale of property, but also upon the health of the community.

In a recent investigation conducted by the National Association, 37 institutions located in 22 different states in all parts of the country were considered. According to information received from sanatorium superintendents, real estate dealers, and various disinterested parties, 67.5 per cent. of these tuberculosis sanatoriums have had a favorable influence upon surrounding property, and have been a benefit to the community in which they were located.

In the case of 23, or 62.2 per cent, of the institutions, the presence of the sanatorium helped to increase the assessed valuation of surrounding property. In only one instance has property decreased in value, and there it was due to ignorance of the facts. In 22 out of the 37 cases, the presence of a sanatorium has even been helpful in the recent sale of land, and in only four places has any detrimental effect on sales been shown. In 51.3 per cent of the cases, residents have been attracted to the community by the sanatorium, and in only three localities have residents been repelled.

Some examples show the increase in the value of surrounding property. In the vicinity of a sanatorium in Portland, Oregon, land has more than doubled in value in three years, and is in demand close to the sanatorium. At Aiken, S. C., property in the neighborhood of the local sanatorium has increased 400 per cent. since the institution was built. At Hebron, Maine, surrounding property has increased 20 per cent. as a direct result of the presence of a tuberculosis sanatorium. A similar effect upon land values has taken place in other towns such as Luzerne, Pa.; Liberty, N. Y.; Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Pittsford, Vt.; Mt. Vernon, Mo.; and Silver City, N. M. At Asheville, N. C., vacant lots near one of the sanatoriums in that city, sell at four times their price in 1900, and those farther from the institution but nearer the city are less valuable. Not a single instance was reported where the presence of a tuberculosis sanatorium, camp, or dispensary in a large city has had a detrimental effect on the value of surrounding property.

The courts of Massachusetts, North Carolina and Virginia have decided that a tuberculosis sanatorium is not a menace to the health of a community, and that it does not decrease the value of land in its immediate neighborhood.

The presence of a tuberculosis sanatorium has been a benefit also to the farmers in its vicinity from the fact that it affords a market for their produce, and gives more work to the unemployed. The merchants, too, have testified that the sanatorium is a stimulus and help to trade.

The tuberculosis sanatorium has been of value to the community in the raising of health standards. In almost every city or town where such an institution has been opened, public spitting has decreased, more windows have been opened, and greater cleanliness in life has resulted.

For these reasons, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis declares that instead of being a menace, a tuberculosis sanatorium may be regarded as a benefit to any community in which it is located, whether city or country.

Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops chronic coughs that weaken the constitution and develop into consumption, but heals and strengthens the lungs. It affords comfort and relief in the worst cases of chronic bronchitis, asthma, hay fever and lung trouble. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

The development of the slot machine idea has taken further strides in New York. Many of the big hotels and some of the larger drug stores have now installed slot-machine typewriters. For ten cents and a press of the button you are confronted with a standard typewriter and paper, which can be used for half an hour.

Delay in commencing treatment for a slight irregularity that could have been cured quickly by Foley's Kidney Remedy may result in a serious kidney disease. Foley's Kidney Remedy builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens these organs. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

Near midnight Thursday Mr. Frank Wilkins, manager of Parsons' Pool Room, at Cape Charles, shot and killed Bob St. John, a negro employee of the place. Mr. Wilkins was in the act of closing the place when the negro, who worked for the pool room, attacked him with a club, intending to render him unconscious and then rob the place. Upon rising from the first blow, Mr. Wilkins drew his revolver and killed the negro in self-defense.

Delay in taking Foley's Kidney Remedy if you have backache, kidney or bladder trouble, fastens the disease upon you and makes a cure more difficult. Commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy today and you will soon be well. Why risk a serious malady? C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

"What shall it profit a farmer to get 60 cents more for a hide and pay $10 a year more for his shoes?" pertinently asks the Newark Evening News. Nothing, of course. But the trouble with many farmers is that they see only the extra 62 cents in hand, and do not consider the $10 out of pocket at the end of the year. If they would but reflect, they would realize what a tremendous discount they suffer on that little cash item of 62 cents in hand.

Everyone would be benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative for stomach and liver trouble and habitual constipation. It sweetens the stomach and breath, gently stimulates the liver and regulates the bowels and is much superior to pills and ordinary laxatives. Why not try Foley's Orino Laxative today? C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad Company are equipping their steamers which ply between Baltimore and the Eastern Shore with Wireless Telegraph service, and the wireless station at Tangier has become accustomed to talking with the steamer every evening as the boat passes the Island, transmitting any message of importance that has occurred on the Island and learning whatever is new on the steamer's route.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

About 11 o'clock last Tuesday morning the people of Snow Hill were alarmed by the cries of fire and the blowing of the fire whistle. A coal oil stove in the kitchen of Dr. William D. Straughn had been accidentally over-turned, the oil spilling out, and catching on fire. Immediately the kitchen was in a light blaze and in an incredibly short time the flames were spreading from room to room. The fire department responded promptly but the blazing oil had given the fire such a headway that it required a stubborn fight to keep the adjoining property from catching. The house was insured for $2,500 and the furniture for $500.

Died Of Lockjaw.

Emory Arvey, a young man residing near Girdletree, died of tetanus early Monday morning at the Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury. The young man was brought to the Hospital about noon Sunday, and his condition was such that the physicians had little hope of his recovery. Quantities of antitoxin were used, but had no effect. More than a week ago Arvey, while playing with a cat rifle, shot himself thorough one of his large toes. Little attention was paid to wound until lockjaw developed on Sunday, when he was hurried to the Hospital, too late to save his life.

Workshop For The Blind.

It is intended to establish an institution or workshop in Baltimore City, where those who are so unfortunate as to be deprived of sight may have an opportunity to learn to become self-supporting and occupy their time, so that loneliness which those must suffer who are without occupation and without sight.

The State has appropriated five thousand dollars per year for the advancement of this work for two years, and if enough can be raised from other sources for a plant, further aid may confidently be expected.

Fifty blind persons are now being trained in broom and mattress making, chair-caning, weaving, knitting, crocheting, basketry and hammock work. A salesroom has been opened in connection with the shop where articles made by the blind are sold without commission.

It is estimated that fifty thousand dollars will pay for and thoroughly equip the old "Crescent Club" building, Paes and Fayette Streets, Baltimore, which has been secured for this purpose.

Twelve thousand dollars have already been pledged, and Mr. Geo. W. Connor, Manager of the Maryland Workshop for the blind, himself a blind man is on the Eastern Shore in the interest of the movement. He will be in this community shortly.

Had Too Much Cash.

George Brittingham, a resident of South Salisbury, was arraigned before Police Justice Trader Monday on a charge of stealing $73.00 in money and half-gallon of whiskey from Robert Handy Layfield one day last week.

Layfield, it seems, was asleep one of the hot days, in front of his home, and when he awakened was minus his cash and whiskey. Layfield, it is said had reasons to suspect Brittingham of the theft because Brittingham had much more money than he usually possessed, and was making a great showing of it to his friends.

At the trial Monday circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to Brittingham's guilt, and he was held under bail for his appearance at Court next September. Brittingham claims that he won the money playing crap down in Virginia.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul's Second Missionary Journey.—Discussed By A Local Writer.

Paul, leaving Athens immediately after the works recorded in our last lesson, reached Corinth, where he labored for about eighteen months, establishing a church.

Paul has now become a "Christian Hercules." What a stir he has made in the world, and what a world he has had to work in. When we think of the Roman Empire, and study the different nations and people from which this great empire was made up, of their former governments, literature, arts, religions, manners, and customs, and how they are now all gathered under one power, we see the hand of God in this arrangement of the nations for the reception of the Gospel of Christ. This Great Power was at different times the great cloak, under which Christianity grew, and again the persecuting, scattering power, driving it to all the earth, and we know the significance of our golden text: "In the world ye shall have tribulations; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." The world has been brought together under one great power, that it might be possible that the Herald of the Cross might sound the Gospel from the very citadel of its power to its remotest bound, and, at the beginning of the fourth century, Christianity had so completely supplanted the poly-theistic religions of the world of that day, that they have never again since then, been any more than a declining ism. Truly Christ had overcome the world. All things had been given unto Him by the Father, and His apostles have even since been spreading this Gospel to the salvation of man. "God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform." Nations and peoples rise, and serve their part in the great plan, and pass off the stage of action.

Our missionaries had reached the last point in their second journey in spreading the gospel, and what a place to approach, Corinth, a city of perhaps four hundred thousand inhabitants (Farran), situated on an isthmus, making it by position a commercial metropolis, and by its development, its population was of a most heterogeneous nature. It was a commercial, sea coast city, made up of all manners of men, without well established citizenship, but a great city. One would judge it to be over-run with wickedness and turbulence, and to this place Paul, Silas, and Timothy came upon the Master's business.

A place such as this attracts the missionary, and the very nature of the place permitted the longer labor of Paul. And Corinth grew and improved, and Christianity took hold, and the Church became powerful.

Paul found friends, God's people, of his own nationality, and he made his home with them and labored. He labored and preached, but this does not say that our ministers are to labor and not receive pay for their services, for it is said that "a laborer is worthy of his hire." But there are many men living witnesses for Christ, who set a good example. They labor and teach Christ, they work out God's lessons of truth, and honesty in business, and battle against Satan's deceit and selfishness, and are thus living sermons. So was Paul, a tent-maker by trade, a great scholar by education, and touched by the great love of God to man enabled labor as a means by which he could use a great intellect to give to the world a great doctrine, which has been the greatest era marking power in the history of God's world.

And Paul had friends here. What a position they assume before the world, because of their friendship for Paul. When we read Paul's statement of how they were received at Corinth, it does not seem an inviting matter to become the friend of Paul, but it is profitable to befriend God's people at all times. The success of Corinth was not marked at first; the Jews did not accept Christ, and opposed themselves to Paul and Christianity, and it seemed a dark day to Paul, and he needed encouragement. This came in a measure from Silas and Timothy with a report of the progress in the other churches, and then a vision, a fresh insight into the intent and purposes of the Master, concerning the work.

"It is easy enough to be pleasant. When life flows on like a song; But a man worth while Is the man with a smile, When everything goes dead wrong."

Paul went forward, for Christ said, "I have much people in this city, and a great church was founded." These people Paul did not know. They were slaves, worshippers of idols, thieves, covetous, drunkards, revilers, extortioners, (I Cor. 6: 9-11), but here he was to stay until he had worked out God's plan of salvation for these people. Are many people with chronic throat and we patient under such circumstances, and those who are out of Christ, do they know why God's people do not turn away from them? It is because of the love of God in their hearts for their fellow-men, and their obedience to God's command to labor on, for these are His in time. And the world is His and as time rolls on, must be brought unto Him. And this Spirit of truth must prevail until an age of righteousness, through the judgment of Christ, establishes His reign.

We have, in a few weeks, covered this second journey of Paul, which took him many months to accomplish. It is well to go over it again, and fix it in our minds. Read his letters to these different churches later, and as we read Paul's teaching let us not forget the prophecies, the most direct, divinely inspired message from God to man concerning this Messiah, the Christ whom Paul preached.

There is a tendency to get away from the idea of a Divine Christ, and live a Christian life without the Christ regenerating power. This was the doctrine which so often caused so many to question when they heard Paul and to refuse Christ. It is necessary to accept Him in the entirety of His redemption to become a beneficiary of this set of free grace which brings man back to God.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Salisbury People To Neglect.

Mrs. Walter E. Nichols, 317 Elizabeth Street, Salisbury, Md., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills have brought me great relief from kidney complaint and I believe they will do as much for other sufferers. I was afflicted with symptoms of kidney disease from childhood but was never troubled seriously until about two years ago. Then my back began to ache severely and last summer I was laid up for two weeks. I used any amount of medicine but I found only slight relief. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at White & Leonard's drug store went at once to the seat of my trouble and helped me in every way. I consider this remedy worthy of the highest recommendation."

lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. It stopped the hemorrhages and and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

An Excuse For a Pardon.

When the stern Duke of Wellington was prime minister under George IV, he managed the old monarch easily enough, but when he attempted the same tactics with the young Queen Victoria he met his match. She constantly outwitted him. One of his earliest official acts was to bring before her a court martial death sentence which he expected her to sign as a matter of course. A soldier was to be executed for desertion, and as the death warrant was placed before the queen by the duke she raised her eyes, full of tears, to his face, saying:

"Have you nothing to say in behalf of this poor man?"

"Nothing," said the duke, standing at attention like one of his own privates; "he has deserted three times."

"Oh, your grace, think again," pleaded the queen, as if she were taking for the life of her dearest friend.

"Well, your majesty, he certainly is a bad soldier, but there was somebody who spoke for his good character. He may be a tolerably good fellow in civil life."

"Oh, thank you," said the queen in heartfelt tones, and before the astonished duke could utter a word of protest she had written across the paper the word "Pardoned."

Coming Home.

They have calmly chewed their ends Through the burning summer day. Now they turn into the home. In the twilight soft and gray. We can hear their tinkling bells As the dusky path they roam. And a sense of peace descends When the cows come home.

They have "chewed the rag" for months Through the torrid summer heat, And our business has stood back While they made their job complete. When we hear the engine bells As they journey in the gloam, What a peace will fall on us When the congress comes home!—McLamburgh Wilson in New York Sun.

Their Troubles.

"You've got no grounds to envy me," said the millionaire to the beggar. "I've got just as many troubles as you have." "No doubt yer right, boss," said the beggar humbly, "but the difficulty with me is I ain't got nothin' else."

M. A. HUMPHREYS, Secretary.

The Judgeships.

There is a wide spread demand
throughout the entire First Judicial District that the Republicans make nominations for the two Judgeships which are to be filled this Fall. The disgraceful scenes attending the primaries in Dorchester County last Saturday have been largely instrumental in the ringing demand which has come from every portion of the district that nominations be made. No matter to what depths candidates for other offices may go in their determination to secure the positions,
it is certain that the people in general will not tolerate selections for Judicial positions which are brought about through fraud and corruption. If the accounts are half true concerning the primary election of Dorchester county, it is certain that the victor in that fight should not be rewarded with the Chief Judgeship of this circuit.

The Republicans have several available men who would make splendid nominees for these positions and it now seems to be the undoubted duty of the party to place these men before the people,

so the voters of the circuit may have a chance to rebuke the methods which were employed in the Dorchester fight.

Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Esq., of Dorchester would make an excellent candidate for Chief Judge and H. Fillmore Lankford, Esq., of Somerset County an admirable nominee for the Associate Judgeship, or vice versa. Both are well known throughout the circuit
as well as the State and their ability is unquestioned. With nominations of this character, the voters of the district could turn their strength toward them with perfect assurance that the new Judges would be men who would fearlessly and zealously discharge the duties incumbent upon them and that the selections were not procured by improper and corrupt methods.

An Expense Which Should Be Saved.

It would be well for the County Commissioners to make, if possible, some arrangement with other Counties sending persons to the Peninsula General Hospital, that in case their death ensues and no arrangements have been made concerning the consequent expense, that the County from which they are sent should assume the obligation.

It is stated that there are quite a number of deaths constantly occurring at the Hospital where no provision has been made for the expense in connection therewith.
These parties are sent from various places throughout the Eastern Shore of Maryland and even from Delaware and portions of the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

Only Thursday an instance of the kind occurred, the party being from Accomac County and Wi-comico was compelled to bear the entire burden. While the amount in individual cases is of course not large, in the aggregate, it makes a very considerable item and it is unfair to our County Commissioners and taxpayers that this should be the case.

The people of Wicomico are proud of the Hospital and anxious that the scope of its work be as wide as possible, but at the same time those Counties which are reaping the benefit of its efforts should be willing to pay their proportional part of the expense
when no provision has been made by relatives or friends of those sent here.

If the matter were brought to the attention of the proper authorities in other places it is quite possible that satisfactory agreements could be made relative to these expenditures which have become so frequent in recent years.

The News Right Side Up!

Good for the Wicomico News!
It has finally struck the key-note
of progress and popular desire.
The whirling somersault it has just executed in relation to the Humphreys' Lake proposition was a novel and hair splitting feat in acrobatic performances and shows the agility and skill with which it can ascertain popular sentiment and land right side up with care on the high side. The people of Salisbury want the lake saved and want it done right away.

While everybody would doubtless rejoice in increased railroad facilities, it is a well recognized fact that it is not necessary to sacrifice the beauty of the pond for a purpose of this kind and it evidently did not take the News long to ascertain the temper of the people upon the subject. It would have been very difficult under any circumstances to have utilized the site for a union station. The vast amount of money necessary to produce any creditable results would have been entirely out proportion to the expenditure involved.

Salisbury wants a union station commensurate with its size and commercial interests, but at the same time it wants the water restored to the lake and its beauty preserved.

Editorial Jottings.

Who is responsible for the fact that no efforts are being made to rebuild the bridge at the dam?
Turn on the light!

Once more the River Road project gets the cold shoulder from the County Commissioners. As Senator Stone said: "It's up to somebody to do a tall piece of explaining."

The inventor who will find vent for his genius by planning some device which will put an absolute and eternal quietus on the whole Thaw business will be entitled to the everlasting gratitude of the American people.

Experts may differ as to whether the present condition of Lake Humphreys is unsanitary or not, but everyone is agreed as to the desirability of having the dam immediately repaired and the pond refilled.

So the present scheme is to nominate Mr. Pattison and Judge Jones now and next year when Judge Holland will retire, have the Governor name Mr. Stanford as his successor. Very pretty, but where would Wicomico be for the next fifteen years?

Ex-Governor Warfield is getting on his war paint and preparing his tomahawk. There is going to be a hot old time in the Howard County Camp and Brave Gorman's political scalp is evidently in danger and may soon be hanging at the belt of the old chieftain.

The present condition of Lake Humphreys may have nothing to do with the prevalence of typhoid in this community. But eighteen cases at the Hospital, together with a large number scattered throughout the town, is not very reassuring to the ordinary lay mind.

The news from Paris is really too good to be true! The decree has just been issued by the arbiters of the world's fashions setting aside the waste basket hat, and with it, dooming rats, twists and miniature mountain puffs dear to a woman's heart to utter and complete extinction. It is so sudden!
We tread softly lest we awake and find it only a fleeting dream.

The fight in Dorchester was so warm that the victors found it impossible to name a ticket which could command the support of the party, and did the only possible thing, and that was, adjourn their County Convention until the 24th of August. But unless there is a decided change in the temper of the Dorchester people, the triumphant faction will have to wait considerable more than a month or even a year to heal the breach which was created by Saturday's bitter contest.

That the Democratic organization slipped up badly in the matter of the County Commissioner ticket is now being freely admitted. Mr. Ward's splendid fight and final victory was the greatest surprise in the entire primary contest. The fact that two of the nominees live in the same District is decidedly disconcerting and is emphatically contrary to the pre-arranged schedule of events. Mr.
Ward's name was put on the losing slate by the leaders right by the side of one Roscoe Jones, but it wouldn't stay put and thereby hangs an interesting tale.

HOUSE FOR CHILDREN

Families Without Them Will Not Be Admitted.

SPECIAL OFFER FOR BIRTHS.

Landlord of St. Louis Apartment Building Will Give a Month's Rent Free to Parents For a Girl and Two Months For a Boy—Several Novel Features.

Plans were recently filed with the building department of St. Louis for an apartment house exclusively for families with children. The doors of this house, which is to cost $400,000, will be shut against bachelors, old maids and childless couples. One child will be a badge of admittance, but the family with a dozen children will be welcomed with open arms. It is the first apartment house of its kind in the United States, and it will rise between two large and fashionable houses which forbid children.

S. D. Lederer, a real estate broker, is the originator of the idea, and he found ready backing for the scheme. He has a whole chain of novelties. With every girl born in the house he will present a receipted bill for one month's rent to the parents. Lederer places twice as high a value on boys, as every boy born will mean to the parents a receipted bill for two months' rent.

The building will be of eight stories, and there will be fifty-four apartments. Each apartment will have a specially equipped playroom. In addition there will be a large playground in the basement, and in the summer the children will disport themselves on the roof. A dancing room will be provided, and dancing teachers will instruct the children without charge to the parents. There also will be instructors in physical culture, and it is proposed to establish a kindergarten.

"I am convinced the apartment house for children will fill a real want," said Lederer. "It will be the only one of its kind in the country, but I expect to see many more like it. Why, as soon as I gave out my plans half a dozen millionaires wanted to back the venture single handed. They saw the possibilities in it, and they wondered it hadn't been tried before."

Every applicant will have to trot out the youngsters before I rent him an apartment. Children will be the requirement. One child will do, but the more the merrier. If a man comes along with a score of children he will be my prize tenant, and I'll put a brass plate on his door.

"It's easy to figure it out from the financial standpoint. With children in every family there will be no complaints on the score of noise. Then married couples with children are the most stable tenants and are less likely to move. They are the best rent payers, too, as all statistics show."

One of the features of the house will be a general nursery in charge of a nurse. Mothers going out shopping, afternoon calling or to the theater may leave their babies in the care of the nurse.

ODD TRAIN HOLDUP.

Rooster Drawn Under Locomotive Set Emergency Air Brake.

Rushing along at a rate of sixty miles an hour, going to New York, the New Jersey Central's fast express train Queen of the Valley, which left Wilkesbarre, Pa., at 8 o'clock the other morning, came to a sudden stop between Bethlehem and Freemansburg following the application by some agency, then a mystery, of the emergency air brake under the locomotive.

With such abruptness did the train stop that the passengers were thrown about in their seats. By the time they had an opportunity to leave the cars Engineer Tripper found the cause of the trouble.

An eight pound Plymouth Rock rooster scratching along the track had been drawn under the engine by the suction of the train with such force as to sever the air connections and stop the train.

The crew took the bird with them as a memento of the first train holdup that was ever pulled off by a chicken.

Theater Nurseries.

Mr. Jefferson, manager of the Metropolitan theater in Glasgow, proposes to make the experiment of establishing night nurseries for the use of visitors with babies attending his entertainments. As Mr. Jefferson caters almost entirely for a working class area, he believes that the scheme will meet the difficulties of a domestic situation which affects many of his patrons. Night nurseries will be attached to the theater, with a staff of nurses and equipped with cots, toys and baby food. A nominal charge of twopenny and threepenny a night will be made, and food will be supplied at cost price or the parents' own food given if they prefer to bring it with them.

Persons wishing to see the nursery in operation between the acts of the play will be allowed to do so on payment of threepenny.

A happy heart is better than a full purse.—German Proverb.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME.

He took her to the ball game, and when they had found their places he showed her where the players stood and told about the bases. With patient care he showed her that the umpire did not play. Explaining that on every point he had the final say. He pointed out the benches where the rival players sat. And made it clear that "club" is not the same thing as a bat.

She thanked him prettily and said she thought that it was splendid. To have the chance to see a game and be so well attended. And when he carefully set forth the pitcher's plan and aim she thanked him once again and said that she was glad she came. He told her why the man was out and showed her how a fly. When caught before it struck the ground would make him out and why.

He did not give her any chance to ask a single question. He analyzed the game for her without the least suggestion. With finger pointer at the men he showed how it was done. Showed how the pitcher signaled to the men to stay or run. And while with cheers the very air above the field was jarred. He showed her how to mark the run upon the little card.

She smiled a gentle smile and said she wished she had his knowledge. That she had tried to play the game one year at summer school. He grinned in reply, then he told in measured terms and slow. The inner motives of the game as then and there on show. Then came the ninth; the score was tied; two out, the bases full. And every rooster in the stand exerting psychic pull.

A long, clean hit to center—and a tumult on the bleachers. With men in wildest voices shouting like to crazy creatures. And she—oh, she was on her feet and yelling all the while. In accents that you could have heard, I'm sure, for half a mile. "Oh, run, run, run, run, run, run!" Her tones were shrill and loud. And soared above the roaring and the shrieking of the crowd.

He never said a word as they walked homeward from the game. But for a week or so the world was not to him the same. —Wilbur D. Nesbit in Chicago Post.

Helping Him Along.

"See here," said Blank to the alleged humorist of the village weekly, "what do you mean by using my name so often in connection with your jokes?—Blank says this and Blank says that, etc.?"

"My dear boy," replied the party of the funny part, "I do that because it attracts attention. Nearly all our readers know you, and when they read those jokes they invariably say, 'Well, that's certainly a brilliant remark—for Blank.'"—Pittsburg Post.

Willing to Help.

"Mistab," whined the beggar, "I know I have been a bad man, but I want to blot out the past. Won't you help me?"

"Sure," responded the official of the big insurance company, with a jubilant smile. "You are the very man we are looking for. Here's a blotter. It is a dull day indeed when an insurance company doesn't give out a blotter."—Chicago News.

So Considerate.

Mrs. Stubb—John, I want to go to the seashore in a few weeks.

Mr. Stubb—But, Maria, I cannot afford to go with you.

Mrs. Stubb—Oh, well, you stay home and paint the roof every day until your nose peels, and then people will think you have been anyway.—Puck.

Silhouette Repartee.

"Lady, I am footsore and weary and"—

"Well, so am I. But I don't go around the country telling folks about it!"—New York World.

A Word of Warning.

"You never proposed to her on your knees!" cried the veteran married man in dismay.

"Sure I did, sure," the youth repeated, a glad, proud light shining in his eyes.

"Well," said the veteran, "you'll regret it about twice a week for the rest of your life. After you are married the slightest argument, the first impatient word, will cause your wife to say, 'You weren't like this when you went down on your knees and begged me, with tears in your eyes, to marry you.'"

"It's pretty bad to have an angry wife read out your old love letters reproachfully," said the veteran, "but that is nothing to being reminded of your kneeling proposal every week till you are a great-grandfather."

"You proposed on your knees yourself?" the youth hazarded.

But the veteran frowned and made no reply.—Los Angeles Times.

Ancient Greek Training.

The manner in which the Athenians brought up their children is worth remembering. At seven years of age the Athenian lad entered the palestra, which was essentially a playground. All the first and better half of the day was spent in gymnastics, dancing, games and play. In the afternoon there were singing, some writing, some reading, all in the open air, and then came a long period of play again. Such was the schooling of the Greek lad up to the age of ten or eleven, and it did not differ essentially up to the age of sixteen, except in the severity of the exercises. And yet the world has not ceased to marvel at the results of the Greek education. It produced the highest type of man, physically and intellectually, that the world has ever seen, which Galton says was as far in advance of the modern Englishman as the modern Englishman is in advance of the native African. In physical beauty, courage and patriotism, in philosophy, literature, architecture and art, the Greeks have been the unsurpassed models of the ages and are still the inspiration of our schools today. But they placed the emphasis upon hygiene, exercise, games and play, which are too much neglected in these days.—Kansas City Star.

New Amusement Park.

The announcement that a public amusement park for the delectation of Salisbury's populace, both old and young, is to be established in this city fills many hearts with joy. It is stated on the best of authority that a company is being organized for this purpose. The site chosen by the promoters of this excellent scheme is the point of land now owned by Mr. John H. Tomlinson, a short distance above the railroad bridge in Polk's pond. The land forms a peninsula and is an ideal location for an amusement park.

If the ideas of the promoters are carried out amusements of all kinds will be installed in the park. A pier will be built at the lower end of the site to be used as a landing place for motor boats which will make regular trips between Isabella street and the park for the conveyance of the public. A floating bridge will be built across a narrow stretch of water so that teams may be driven directly to the place of amusement. The promoters propose to erect a dancing pavilion and have an orchestra furnish music every night. Mr. Tomlinson was in Baltimore last week arranging for the purchase of a sight seeing automobile to be used to convey the people from their homes to the park. The grounds will be lighted with electricity by a direct line from the plant of the Salisbury Light, Heat & Power Company. Salisbury is big enough now to have a place of amusement of this kind and if the idea is carried out the success of the undertaking is practically assured.

The Coughing Bean.

To the ordinary household the falling of a house plant into a violent paroxysm of coughing is naturally disconcerting. Yet there are plants which will do this when the broom or the duster begins to make dust fly. This singular plant is the "coughing bean," known to the botanist as the Eutada passiens. It is a native of warm and moist tropical countries and cannot and will not stand dust. When dust settles upon the breathing pores in the leaves of this plant and chokes them a gas accumulates inside the leaves and when it gains sufficient strength forcibly "blows off," clearing the pores of dust and making a sound exactly like coughing. At the same time the leaves tremble and the plant actually "gets red in the face" through the sinking of the green chlorophyll grains and the appearance of red particles on the leaves. This plant is sometimes used as a house plant, and sweeping the room sets it coughing, to the intense astonishment of persons not familiar with its peculiarities.—London Chronicle.

The Battle of the Nations.

The conflict called the "Battle of the Nations" was the battle of Leipzig. It was fought on Oct. 16-18, 1813, between the soldiers of Russia, Prussia, Austria, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, under Schwarzenberg, on the one side, and Napoleon's army of allies, on the other. It was one of the greatest battles of modern times. A half million of men were engaged, and the casualties on both sides were 94,000. It resulted in overwhelming defeat for Napoleon and the liberation of Germany. Troops from every nation of Europe participated in it, hence the "Battle of Nations."
