UNFAVORABLE TO COLLINS.

"Confession" of Negro That He was Mrs. Collins' Murderer Not Believed.

The confession of William Pratt has caused the friends of Elmer Collins, husband of the murdered woman, who was arrested for the crime, to feel confident. On the other hand, those who believe in his guilt are equally sure that only another blunder has been made by private detectives.

Pratt is an ignorant but vicious negro who is known to the authorities on the Peninsula, having been at different times in custody in counties of both Maryland and Delaware. It is claimed that his alleged confession was extorted from him by detectives employed in Collins' interest.

The 5-year-old daughter of Elmer Collins, was questioned a few days ago and her aunts were not permitted to prompt her.

"Who dressed you the morning your mamma died?"

"Papa."

"Who got your breakfast?"

"Papa."

"Did you see your mamma that morning?"

"No, air; papa said she had gone out to look for greens for dinner."

Hazel, the daughter, is a bright little girl. This development is most damaging, as Collins swore the family ate breakfast together.

Mrs. George Henry, who lives immediately across the road from the Collins home, and who plainly showed that she was not telling all she knew at the coroner's inquest, is now reported to have said:

"I can't keep it any longer. I went over to Mrs. Collins' house on Friday night before the murdered body was found. She seemed troubled. Noticing a bruised place on her face, I asked: 'Why, lida, what is the trouble?' The poor soul burst into tears and said: 'Why, Elmer struck me.' That was the last time I saw her alive. I was up the next morning and saw Elmer stirring around, but saw nothing of his wife."

While James Battledge, State detective, was searching for evidence in the Collins murder case, a thief entered his room at the Laurel Hotel and stole $140. The detective has moved his lodging place to the Henry farmhouse, across the road from the scene of the murder, where he will continue his investigations.

Frank Dimaio, superintendent of the Philadelphia branch of Pinkerton detectives, who was secured by the friends of Collins, has now been secured by the State. He arrived in Georgetown and began work on the case last Thursday. Dimaio is said to be the man who secured the alleged confession from the negro, William Pratt.

Collins is still tilling the soil on his farm as if nothing had happened. He does not sleep in his house, however, but at sundown leaves for the home of his wife's father. The two children, Catherine and Hazel, are at the same house.

Temperance Meeting.

On Tuesday evening a temperance mass meeting under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League was held in the M. E. Church of this city. The meeting was presided over by Rev. Dr. Smith, president of the League, and Prof. Dashiell directed the music.

Addresses were made by Hon. James E. Ellegood, Rev. Dr. Martindale, and Mr. Leonard Wallies. A petition was circulated and was well signed praying the county commissioners to grant no liquor license to an applicant against whom it had been proven or concerning whom it was proven there had been any violation of the law for the sale of intoxicants.

Nothing of a personal nature occurred in the meeting and it was entirely in the interest of law and order for Salisbury.

Licenses Granted.

The Board of County Commissioners was in session last Wednesday for the purpose of acting upon liquor license applications.

Messrs. John C. Bailey of Quantico and Wade H. Bedsworth of Wetzpquin had been previously granted licenses to sell at their respective places. Wednesday the four saloons of Salisbury and O. J. Schneck's hotel were re-licensed by the commissioners.

The Anti-Saloon League presented a very lengthy petition urging the commissioners to decline license to any and all applicants who had been proven violators of the law.

Two Tickets in The Field.

The Democrats and Republicans have both held their City primaries and placed before the people two full tickets to be voted for next Tuesday. Both tickets are worthy of the support of their respective parties being composed of the progressive business men of the town.

The Democratic primary was held on Monday evening and resulted in the unanimous selection of Mr. Charles R. Disharoon for a re-nomination as Mayor. For City Council the following were placed in nomination, Dr. Louis W. Morris, W. A. Ennis, W. F. L. Bounds, D. G. Farlow and Fred L. Smith.

The polls were kept open from 7.30 to 9.30, 248 votes being cast with the following result; D. Gibson Farlow, 187; William A. Ennis, 174; Dr. Louis W. Morris, 146; William F. L. Bounds, 104; Fred L. Smith 88. Messrs. Farlow, Ennis and Morris receiving the highest number of votes were declared the nominees.

The Republicans met at their headquarters in the Jackson Building Tuesday night and nominated the following ticket without opposition. For Mayor, A. J. Benjamin. For City Council, Thos. H. Williams, Dr. W. G. Smith and Robert D. Grir.

Bowdoin—Dove.

Miss Eva Jean Dove, and Mr. Edward A. S. Bowdoin, both of this city, were married Wednesday evening at half after eight o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy Dove on Main Street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Newton, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, South.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with plants and cut flowers. Mr. Marion Turner and Mr. Ryland Taylor were ushers, the bride and groom being otherwise unattended. The wedding march was played by Miss Emma Powell.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of castor crepe de chine, trimmed with white velvet silk and lace medallions, and carried a white prayer-book.

A large number of friends were present to witness the ceremony, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Jackson's Munificence.

Bishop and Mrs. Alpheus Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, have recently received a very handsome and useful gift from Mrs. Jackson, wife of Ex-Governor E. E. Jackson.

The gift is the large three story residence at the north west corner of Park Place and McMechen Street, Baltimore, said to be valued at about $30,000. Bishop Wilson is now occupying his residence at 2408 Madison Avenue, but he will probably move into his new home during the year.

The Baltimore newspapers first stated that the gift had come from both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, but later, when asked about the gift, Mr. Jackson said: "The newspapers give me too much credit in the matter entirely. The present was made entirely by Mrs. Jackson. Of course I was cognizant of Mrs. Jackson's intentions and all of that, but the gift was made by her alone."

Shivers' Ice Cream.

"Shivers" would seem to be a very appropriate brand name for ice cream.

Mr. Frank W. Shivers of Princess Anne moved his ice cream business to Salisbury today, and in future will manufacture at and distribute from this point.

The Crystal Ice Company has built a factory for Mr. Shivers at its ice plant near the N. Y. P. & N. depot and will furnish him power, ice and cold storage.

The Shivers Ice Cream has a good record on the Peninsula where it is extensively used at open air festivals, on public occasions and in private homes. Mr. Shivers' idea in coming to Salisbury was that he could manufacture more cheaply and have better distributing facilities.

Mudd Again Renominated.

Chesapeake Beach, Md., May 1.—Hon. Sydney E. Mudd was unanimously renominated here today for House of Representatives by the Fifth District Republican Convention. The term for which he is named is the fourth consecutive. He was first elected in 1888, and was again elected in 1896, 1898 and 1900. He has, therefore served four terms.

The convention today was in reality a ratification meeting, "a convention of the people," as it was designated. At no time has Mr. Mudd had opposition and courageous, indeed, would be the Republican who would enter the nomination lists against him. He is the absolute master of the situation in the district.

ALLEN CORRESPONDENT YET ALIVE

Responding to the Calls of Numerous Friends and Admirers.

Messrs. Editors:—In acknowledgment of the several very flattering requests that I again write "something" for the ADVERTISER's columns, I herewith send report of the Eden debating society:

In the extreme northern part of Somerset county, Maryland, there lies a hamlet named for the first garden of the world—Eden. Why it was thus christened no one has ever been able to explain. The gentleman who is responsible for the name of this little town has gone to his reward with the secret and it will ever remain a mystery to us all. I feel certain that he did not see anything in or about the place to justify him in calling it Eden, as the only attractions about it of any consequence from the time of its birth to the present are a railroad station and post office combined, two stores and a sorghum mill. But Eden he called it and by that name will it always be known. Here flowers grow not, neither do stick weeds and bull briars fade away and die. In winter the folks are compelled to splurge through mud, the color of sin, ankle deep, and in summer they have other little things to contend with, such as 'gallinippers' gad flies, run mad dogs and 'weary williams.'

Yet there is a happy existence, contentment is written upon every face and oftentimes when I meet them I exclaim with the poet, "There's not a wave of trouble rolls across their peaceful breasts." The railroad company even run the more important trains through Eden at a very high speed fearing that the passengers will get a glimpse of the place and they will lose customers thereby, but it's all the same to the Edenite. He knows not what it's done for neither does he care. If the Garden of Eden spoken of in the Bible was anything like the one spoken of here then I say in all sincerity that I do not blame old grandpa for growing restless and "kicking up the devil" on his plantation.

Now as to the quaint characters of Eden there are none worthy of special mention. Other small towns have their old characters and the leading citizens very often point them out to strangers with a certain degree of pride, but the residents of Eden from the oldest down to the very youngest are all odd, quaint and curious and there is not one among them who can do any 'pointing.' An amusing thing about them is their 'progressiveness.' No matter what is being done in other towns and villages they must "try their luck" at it. If it's oyster suppers and bazaars for the churches they must have them or if it's a debating club they must "git wun up" and so on. Just now they have the debating fever on them and how far it is going to carry them no one knows. They organized a "Debatin' Society" two weeks ago and held their first 'debate' in the storage room of Parker's sorghum mill last Saturday night. Men, women and children turned out in full force to hear the question, "Resolved, that man has more sense than woman," debated 'Zed' Snelling presided and preside he did. 'Czar' Reed in his palmy days was not in it at all. 'Zed' swelled himself out until he felt fairly as large as the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt. In opening the meeting he said: (his voice sounding as if it came through a megaphone) "Gentl'mens, children an' ladies. I hev bin 'lected by th' peepul two boss thishur meetin' an' I'm a goin' tew boss it. Ef enny ov yer youngsters suttin' back thar hev yer doubts about it jest ye try cuttin' up an' I'll see ye arter th' dookology's sung. Winmen with infant babies mus' not let 'em cry as it mount upset th' speakurs. Ef by a dispensashun ov providents they dew cry they mus' be tuck tew th' post offis an' mus' send. This is th' law an' gospel ov this meetin' an' 'Hub' Jones will see that it's enforced. We will now here frum brother 'Tobe' Butler he bein' th' fust speaker on th' side ov th' man Silents back thar. 'Cum out brother Butler."

"Brother Butler 'came out' shambled up to the presiding officer and asked, "Air ye ready, Zed?" "Let 'er go" replied 'Zed' at the same time pounding for order with a No. 12 boot on an empty coal oil barrel. The speaker after shifting his guld of "nigger heel" tobacco to his starboard jaw began: "Frens' an' feller citizens an' so forth. I am a man, a rale live un' an' I'm glad of it. Ov corse I'm a man an' I'm a goin' tew take up fer 'im. It 'ud be a fool man that wudn't take up fer his feller citizen. The scripser sees that man was made arter Gawd's own likk, therefore as I am a man I mus' look sum'thin' like him. (Lord help

REPLY TO CENTREVILLE OBSERVER.

Mr. Rider Discusses Eastern Shore Situation—Democratic Defeats in the Past.

EDITORS OF ADVERTISER:

The "writer of a card, published in a Salisbury paper," recommending the nomination of Ex Governor Jackson for Congress, was the reflex not only of my opinion, but of prominent Democrats in this and other counties of the district.

The "Centreville Observer" in an Editorial, antagonizes this opinion by ignoring the 'barrel' altogether although it admits "the tendency is to nominate a man who can spend the most money, and suggests that Hon. F. B. Hopper of Queen Anne is the strongest nomination that can be made "being a brilliant lawyer, a gifted speaker and conversationalist, and a man, in whom the greatest confidence is reposed by those who know him;" it being unnecessary for such a man to spend money to insure his election. His fitness and personal canvass would do the work."

I know Mr. Hopper well, and no one of his acquaintances has a higher opinion of his attainments than I have, but I dissent from the opinion expressed by the "Observer" that "he is the strongest man that can be nominated for Congress in this District."

Mr. Hopper is not the superior of Judge Brown in any particular, and yet Judge Brown with all his ability and popularity, was defeated November 6th 1900 by Mr. Kerr of Dorchester, a most estimable gentleman, but certainly not the equal of Judge Brown in the accomplishments credited to Mr. Hopper. "His fitness and brilliant personal canvass did not do the work."

Wicomico gave Judge Brown the same majority less 9 it gave the electors of the Hon. Wm. J. Bryan for President; a majority larger than usual for several years. Wicomico assisted Queen Anne in nominating Judge Brown as she did in 1892 in assisting in nominating and electing his brother, Hon. John B. Brown to Congress. Wicomico has always aided Queen Anne in her political aspirations—Governor Jackson appointed Judge Brown Treasurer of the State; he also appointed Hon. Charles H. Gibson of Talbot county to the United States Senate and in conferring these honors, the Governor did not permit the "North of the Choptank" argument to influence his decision.

But permit me to go further—The Hon. Joshua W. Miles of Somerset is certainly the equal of Mr. Hopper as a brilliant lawyer, a gifted speaker and conversationalist, and a man in whom the greatest confidence is reposed by those who know him and yet when he ran a second time for Congress he was defeated by Dr. Barber who had more money but less brains than Mr. Miles. Senator Moore of Worcester, the nominee for Congress in 1900, although a man of large wealth became alarmed at the sign of his opponent's barrel and was not willing to risk a fortune on his election and was defeated.

When Governor Smith ran for Congress and was elected, he had the wealth and was willing to contribute largely to the success of himself and party. That Republican "barrel" (filled to overflowing), menaced him also when a candidate for Governor but he believed as many other Democrats do, that it was better to be liberal, if able, with money in politics than to be crushed. (Self and party.)

I remember years ago when the question was asked, before nominating a candidate for office, "Is he fit, is he honest? but the inquiry now is—has he a barrel? and I am convinced that "fitness and a personal canvass will not do the work" without money.

It is true under the new ballot law, the Democratic law makers congratulated themselves on the belief that the door was closed against the bribe giver and the bribe taker, but Democrats have found that large sums of money must be expended before the election in legitimate campaign work. The cleansing and revision of Registration by the most rigid scrutiny must be looked after; the "house to house law" must be made; and many other details require money, time and workers. The Republicans have reduced their business to a science in Wicomico and they know to a man how many Democratic voters can be persuaded to take to the woods on the day of election" and Democrats in self defense have been compelled to adopt some of their business methods in order to get ready for the election, and thousands of dollars are required to be expended by Democrats in every campaign in this and other counties in the State in these preparations for war.

My contention is, that in nominating ex Governor Jackson we will have a candidate for Congress noted for his conservatism, sound business judgment and intelligent grasp of all public questions, and like Governor Smith will not be defeated by money. But nominate a poor man, although a brilliant lawyer and speaker," for Congress, and the Republican party will take advantage of his necessities, and defeat him with the barrel.

Ex Governor Jackson, although neither "a lawyer or speaker" his election to Congress will be a guarantee of an honest, efficient and faithful service, as much so as Mr. Hopper's.

Wicomico has never had a Democratic nominee for Congress; all the other counties, whether "north of the Choptank" or not, have been honored with Congressional nominations, Queen Anne twice in ten years. The time has come for Wicomico's recognition. May 1st, 1902. T. F. J. RIDER

The fire which has been burning with such fierceness on the Catoclin Mountain, between Thurmont and Emmittsburg, since Sunday was gotten under control Friday morning. Many hundred farmers and farm hands worked all day and all night to check it. The brisk winds on Friday fanned the smoldering embers into a blaze again and much valuable timber was destroyed.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says Josh Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Letter to R. E. Powell & Co.

Dear Sirs: There are two sorts of furniture. You know both for you sell 'em both. One sort looks better than it is, and the other is better than it looks. There isn't any other sort.

The same, two sorts of paint, no more; and we make 'em both—we make tons of stuff that isn't worth its freight. Belongs to the business—have to. Belongs to your business—you have to.

But this is aside. We put into cans, with our name on, the very best paint there is in the world: Devco lead and zinc. It is twice as good as lead and oil; lasts twice as long. And we take the risk of it—there isn't any risk.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

Attorney Elmer J. Cook filed a petition in the Baltimore County Circuit Court to secure a writ of mandamus to require Clerk Merryman to issue a license to Edward B. McDonald for $200 to conduct a saloon in that portion of Ellicott City located in Baltimore county. Under the special liquor license law passed for Ellicott City McDonald would be required to pay $500 for a license. The petitioner claims that this law is unconstitutional. Judge Burke signed a degree requiring the respondent to show cause why the writ shall not be issued.

Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops—JESSIE PINKNEY HALL, Springville, Ala. This remedy is for sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Deputies Alexander and Barker, of Washington county, were in the mountains Thursday morning after a man wanted at Hagerstown to answer a charge. When he saw the officers he crossed the line into Frederick county and was last seen in the undergrowth. The officers shot at him several times, but it is not thought he was hit by any of the shots.

FOR AN EXPERIMENTAL SECTION.

The Baltimore News of Thursday has the following:

"Representative Pearre has succeeded in having Congress increase the appropriation for good-roads work in Maryland by $10,000, and has arranged for the construction of an experimental section of highway at some suitable point in Allegany county where it may be studied to best advantage by the people of the country and stand as a model to be followed by the County Commissioners. The importance of the announcement lies in the fact that there is a growing demand for good roads in the counties, not only in Maryland, but throughout the country, and there is a general disposition among the authorities to improve the quality of roads so far as permitted by appropriations.

For having provided for an experimental station in the mountainous region, where the necessity of better roads is more pronounced than on the level of the valleys, and where the actual benefits can be more readily appreciated by contrast, Mr. Pearre deserves the applause of all those who have urged the advancement of the good roads movement. It is a movement which does not spring into maturity on impulse. To bring about any great reform, to introduce any radical change in methods which have for so long time prevailed, requires continued effort on the line of public education, and such experiments as the one proposed by Mr. Pearre will do more to bring about the desired result and develop a full understanding of the reform's importance than anything else that could be brought to the attention of Maryland people."

The question of good roads is agitating the public mind today as it never has before. It cannot be downed in this age of progress, and those sections of the United States, of Maryland, of Wicomico which shall embrace every opportunity given them to improve their public highways will be the prosperous sections of our country in the not far distant future. It is the sentiment of the narrow minded and of those who would not "spend a cent to make a dollar" who oppose this great movement for the public welfare. Let the good work go on.

LABOR NEEDED.

Employers of all classes in this country are complaining of an insufficiency of labor. More men and women could be worked in nearly every branch of industry. The factories of Salisbury need more help, the contractors and builders are hampered in their work by the prevailing scarcity. Farmers are offering higher wages than ever before and are unable to procure the needed assistance to prosecute the work laid out. Indeed it has become a problem with the owners and managers of farms what to do about it. There seems no solution to the problem other than to reduce acreage and rely to the fullest extent upon labor-saving machinery, much of which is now so cleverly devised that one man equipped, can do the work of several by the old methods.

There has been another suggestion suggested which is beginning to recommend itself to many advanced thinkers on the subject. It is the importation of colonies of thrifty foreign labor to be settled in communities where such labor is needed.

Our magnificent agricultural and horticultural possibilities can never be fully developed and made the most of until some way is found to do all the work which the enterprise demands.

Despite the fact that the Eastern Shore has a soil and climate unmatched for the production of the best fruits, vegetables and grains, in easy reach, by superior transportation, of all the great eastern cities, we are not producing a quarter of the food supply that our peninsula is capable of. More earnest, intelligent workers is the need, above all others, of the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

A Nice Income.

A special dispatch from Washington on Thursday of this week says:

"Today Senator Clark of Montana will draw a check for $900,000 and send it to the contractors who are building his railroad from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles. He draws one of these $900,000 checks on the first of every month, and will continue to do so until the railroad is completed.

The interesting thing about these checks isn't that he has $900,000 on the first of every month, or any month, but that the checks do not decrease his capital. He draws them on his income account. When the railroad is done it will have been completed without costing Clark a cent of his capital. The income from his mines and other enterprises will have paid for it.

In speaking of the nomination of Ex-Gov. Jackson for Congress in the first Congressional district, the editor of the Eastern Ledger says. "We know that Governor Jackson would make a strong candidate and an able and excellent representative. There's not a stronger man in the district on either side of the Choptank."

Good Roads Movement Active.

The Maryland Geological Survey, commenting on the good roads movement says: "Caroline county's rising sentiment for better highways finds general approval in every other county from the Sassafras river to the ocean. The recent report of its Grand Jury, urging the immediate construction of a modern road from end to end of the county, is already stimulating its neighbors to suggestions of the same sort. Recent correspondence and contributed articles in The Chronicle and The Democrat and News, of Cambridge, have urged a movement for road improvement in Dorchester. On the other side, The Observer, in Centerville, published the news under a 'Double head.' On the lowest part of the shore a sense of the general lack in asserting itself.

"As yet Worcester county has not taken any steps in this direction," says the Ledger Enterprise of Pocomoke City, "and the time has come when we must do something or our neighbors will have much better roads than we."

What better plan could be adopted by our county authorities than the building of a road from Pocomoke City to Snow Hill on scientific principles. "Wicomico, already awake to its highway deficiencies, also suggests a solution of Caroline's plan."

"The Caroline grand jury," says the Salisbury Courier, "made a recommendation . . . that would be a good plan to follow in Wicomico."

This project, if carried into execution here would mark the beginning of a practical system of good roads for this county. . . This could not all be secured at once, but in the course of a few years it could be incalculable. . . The main thing to do is to make a beginning."

"Wicomico might work down similar lines to advantage" declared the SALISBURY ADVERTISER. One of the owners of the ADVERTISER is the author of Wicomico's latest road law, which is a better one than that of superseder. The prosecution of the Caroline plan seems to present no unusual difficulties. Mr. A. M. Johnson, the road engineer of the Maryland Geological Survey, when asked about it, preferred not to make definite statements before looking over the ground and investigating all the expedients and possibilities which a survey might suggest. About one important aspect of the matter, however, he speaks generally as follows: What he says about Caroline county may be applied more or less closely also, to the other counties of the Eastern Shore below Cecil.

"The chief difficulty," says Mr. Johnson, "is the lack of any hard material near the road to be improved. The road beds are nearly all composed of sand. Shells are the only material for topping, which is within easy reach. The hard materials for the surface of the road must therefore be brought from a distance. On the other hand the grades of Caroline are lower than any others in the State. Their general absence removes, of itself, one of the gravest obstructions which the road-builder in northern, southern, and western regions of the State must get over. In some counties they consume a great part of his money."

"Shells on a sand foundation make an excellent road. The results are very much better than in cases where clay forms the subsoil."

Dr. Hearn's Ups and Downs.

When the late Dr. Emil Hearn undertook his first trip to South Africa, he had only $200 in his pocket. On the way there he nearly lost his life by being washed overboard by a huge wave. By practicing medicine in the British goldfields he earned enough money to go on his first exploring trip. He was long held captive by a native chief, but finally succeeded in getting back to civilization with collections worth 72,000 forins, which he gave as presents to Austrian institutions. By lecturing he then made $20,000, and, with some further aid from the Austrian government, he undertook his second trip, accompanied by his young wife. The results of this trip were exhibited in Vienna in 1887. The last years of his life were spent in poverty. His books no longer sold, and malarial fever weakened him so that he could not lecture any more. With the beginning of this year the Austrian government granted him an annual pension of 5,000 crowns, but he lived only two months to enjoy it.

"King Dick's" Singing.

Mr. Seddon, the premier of New Zealand, popularly known as "King Dick," thinks he can sing, and once when he was traveling in a steamer on the Taranaki coast he treated the saloon passengers to a few songs one evening. The captain, a political enemy, stuck to the deck and would not go down to share in the entertainment. Seddon saw him afterward and said upbraidingly, "Why didn't you come down to hear the singing?" "Singing?" replied the skipper. "I didn't know that there was any going on. I heard a din of a noise, but I thought it was the howling of the cattle we have aboard."

Tennyson's Hair.

One of Tennyson's last letters was to Mr. William Watson, who had written in The Spectator some lines on Lord Tennyson's "Foresters," which ran: Far be the hour when lesser brows shall wear The laurel glorious from that wintry hair. "If," wrote the laureate to Mr. Watson, "by 'wintry hair' you allude to a tree whose leaves are half gone, you are right; but if you mean 'white' you are wrong, for I never had a gray hair on my head."

A Historic Sword.

There is a sword on exhibition at Belfast, Ireland, of more than local interest. It was formerly carried by William of Orange and was given by him to the first Earl of Portland, who afterward was governor of Jamaica. The weapon passed through many hands and about a hundred years ago came into the possession of the Balfour family, where it now is. The hilt of the sword is of ivory, carved to represent the Flemish lion trampling on the dogs of France.

Ex Judge Gordon of Philadelphia tells this story on himself:

"I was on the bench one day when a case came up in which the defendant was represented by a young attorney, who probably was trying his first case. One of the witnesses refused to answer several of the questions put to him, and those he did reply to he answered in a ridiculous manner."

"At last, after several vain attempts to get answers from the man, the lawyer turned, and, addressing me, said: 'Your Honor, with all due respect for yourself, I think this man is the biggest idiot I ever met.'"

News is the truth concerning men, nations and things. That is, truth concerning them which is helpful, or pleasant, or useful, or necessary for a reader to know.

This is the very best way in which Printer's Ink refers to the necessity of newspaper advertising: "Speak up! Advertising is the voice of business, nothing more. Use it to say something for yourself. If all the stores in your town are silent there is a rare opportunity for you to become articulate. If half of them are talking, the silent half will have little attention—be not one of them. If all are talking, endeavor to speak out above them all. This is a bustling world; bashfulness and silence are not business virtues. The business man who thrives is the one who has an advertising voice and uses it."

You ought to trade at Lacy Thoroughgood's. Why? Not because you like to read Thoroughgood's ads—not because Thoroughgood is making a Salisbury Clothing Store the best in the country—not because Thoroughgood buys goods cheap, but because, not only Thoroughgood is selling clothing cheap, but Thoroughgood is making other clothing men sell you clothes cheaper than they did and you really ought, out of politeness, to "give the devil his due" when it benefits your own pocket. Thoroughgood's Clothing walks away from any other. Good reasons. It is much better made, a great deal more stylish, and the prices are so low—about 15 or 20 per cent lower than other people ask for clothing that may have all the outward appearances, but lack the details of finishing and workmanship that makes Thoroughgood's Clothing wear so. No wonder Thoroughgood sells more clothing than any other store in town. Boys' Clothing—best in Salisbury. What makes it best? Cloth, workmanship, trimmings, linings, correct fitting—everything is as it should be. That's why it is best. And Thoroughgood sells that best for less money than similar good clothes will cost you anywhere else, but such good clothes are not sold elsewhere. Men's Suits $6.00, $6.50, $7.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.00, $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00. Cut three buttoned sack—cut four button sack—cut double breasted two button sack. The vests are cut six button. The pants are cut with extension waist bands.

when Main St. fishermen to the banks of the Wicomico river go with a little roll of luncheon in his hand and a large bottle of bait in his inside pocket. He sits on a stump all day long in the hot sun just for the sport of seeing the cork wiggle feebly every two or three hours. Every time he fails to land a two inch Sun perch he makes a thorough inspection of the bait, and when he gets back to town tells his friends about a big German carp that "Got Away" that was such a whopper it had whiskers. You can depend on Thoroughgood's ads.—they are no fish stories.

Two things in the treatment of nasal catarrh are now fully understood. First: the drying process is a delusion that produces more mischief than benefit. Second: science, common sense and experience proclaim Ely's Cream Balm to be instant relief, and final, certain cure. It cleanses the diseased membranes and never makes the patient sneeze. Price 50 cents. Sold by druggists and by Ely Brothers, 66 Warren Street, New York.

Spring fishing has been a disappointment at Havre de Grace. Herring were plentiful while they lasted, but the run continued for a few days only. Packers are much shorter in stock than usual. They used to put up as many as 40,000 barrels of salt herring, but last year only about 15,000 barrels were packed, and the pack this year is expected to be not more than half of that amount. High prices are expected, however, as the catch on the North Carolina coast is also reported to have failed, and packers are holding their stock for the rise. Shad are also scarce and command high prices.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yanketown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.

Easton Gazette: "The new Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Shaw, it is reported went through Wall Street the other day. Wall Street will not be slow to reciprocate when the time comes." Now that is what we call a bright remark.

The Finest Fabric

made by human skill is coarse compared with the lining of the bowels. When this tender membrane is irritated we have griping pains, diarrhoea, and cholera morbus. Large bottles 25 and 50 cents.

The Queenstown News has found a Western preacher who declares that the serpent that tempted Eve was a man in disguise. The apple was probably an ichthysaurus traveling incognito.

Wants Others To Know

Old Age.

Old age as it comes in the orderly process of Nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. The very shadow of eclipse which threatens it, makes it the more prized. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom and counsel. That is old age as it should be. But old age as it so often is means nothing but a second childhood of mind and body. What means the difference? Very largely the care of the stomach. In youth and the full strength of manhood it doesn't seem to matter how we treat the stomach. We abuse it, overwork it, injure it. We don't suffer from it much. But when age comes the stomach is worn out. It can't prepare and distribute the needed nourishment to the body, and the body, un-nourished, falls into senile decay. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful medicine for old people whose stomachs are "weak" and whose digestions are "poor". Its invigorating effects are felt by mind as well as body. It takes the sting from old age, and makes old people strong.

Contract for the construction of a new draw on the bridge between Kent and Queen Anne's counties, on the Chester river, has been awarded to the York Bridge Company, of York, Pa., for $7,465. The same company is constructing a substantial iron bridge over Sassafras river, between Cecil and Kent counties.

Like A Drowning Man

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nacoma, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am cured and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble.

King Edward has, by reviving the snuff habit made it necessary for followers of His Majesty to cultivate a recherche sneeze, according to the Havre de Grace Republican. If they have no more success cultivating the recherche sneeze than amateur agriculturists do cultivating cabbage there'll be nothing conspicuous about the recherche except the solemnity of its absence.

Holds Up A Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter. 'Overworked' run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists."

Hagerstown and Smithsburg capitalists have purchased three acres of land adjoining the site of the new reservoir of the Washington County Water Company, at Edgemont, and will erect a $8,000 ton icehouse. Ice will be gathered from the reservoir, on the construction of which 100 hands are now employed.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is. It's the hardest kind to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season. Take it in hand right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. Children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H. Bowles, Groveton, N. H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly."

The two Editors McCombs of the Havre de Grace Republican are much worried because ammunition is sent over to the Philippines in the same boats with the teachers. How now, Editors McCombs? Are not the instructors sent to teach the young idea how to shoot?

Reveals A Great Secret.

It is often asked how such startling cures that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. It cuts out the phlegm and germ-infected mucus, and lets the life-giving oxygen enrich and vitalize the blood. It heals the inflamed, cough-worn throat and lungs. Hard colds and stubborn coughs soon yield to Dr. King's New Discovery, the most infallible remedy for all Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at All Druggists.

A fire broke out in the woods of James Ganley near Boyds, Montgomery county, Saturday afternoon, and burned over a 50 acre wood lot, destroying much of the growing timber and about a mile of fencing.

Stand Like A Stone Wall.

Between your children and the tortures of itching and burning eczema, scaldhead or other skin diseases, how? why, by using Bucklen's Arnica Salve, earth's greatest healer. Quickest cure for Ulcers, Fever Sores, Salt Rheum, Cuts, Burns or Bruises. Infallible for Piles. 25c. at all Drug Stores.

The remains of Kelly McA. Garlock and William Kernher, two youths killed in Trenton, N. J., by an express train as they were about to board a freight for Atlantic City, have been sent to their homes in Hagerstown.

QUANTICO.

The regular examinations of schools of this place began this week and the results are very gratifying to both teachers and patrons. The year has been one of progress and advance in school work, so our people are justly proud of the school and of its standing among other schools in the county. The three necessities for good school work—a sympathetic, wide-awake, and energetic Examiner, educated and skilled teachers, and cooperating parents have all been well exemplified in our midst during the scholastic year as Mr. Bouds is considered by all to have no superior, the teachers have been progressive, and parents sympathetic and the good results of it all is a successful year in the history of the school.

Regular preaching service in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock by pastor, Rev. O. L. Martin.

Strawberries will probably be ripe in Quantico District by the 18 inst.

Mrs. A. L. Jones, who has been visiting Mrs. L. L. Dirickson of Berlin, returned to her home Tuesday.

Mr. Guy Crawford left this week for Baltimore where he will accept a position with his brother, Mr. Paul Crawford.

Messrs. Herman and Claude Taylor of Rockawalking spent Sunday at the home of their Uncle Mr. O. W. Taylor, near town.

Mr. T. R. Jones made a business trip to Baltimore and Washington this week.

Miss Agnes Taylor spent Sunday in town with Miss Lala Jones.

Mr. Clifford Cooper of Allen was in and near Quantico Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. "Mac" Taylor spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Irving Twilley.

Miss Mae Humphreys of Salisbury and Mr. Wm. Humphreys of Rockawalking visited Mrs. Margaret Humphreys, this town, Sunday.

SHARPTOWN

Deputy Fish Commissioner, Wesley T. English turned out at this place on Thursday at Knowles & Robinson's wharf 3,500,000 young shad. He has been turning out quite a number at different places within the last week and will turn out many more in a few days.

Rev. H. W. D. Johnson preached his first sermon here on Sunday night last. There was no service held in M. E. Church, the pastor out of compliment to the new pastor dispensed with service to give his congregation an opportunity to hear the new preacher.

Mrs. M. A. Gravenor has advertised the Summer Opening of millinery to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, May 7th and 8th. She is in the city this week making purchases and preparing to give her customers some fine selections. During the opening days she has arranged to present every customer whose purchase amounts to $1 or more a souvenir.

Charles Mooney has "started" his merry-go-round. He begins every evening, if the weather is favorable and runs until about ten o'clock. Ice cream, milk shakes etc are sold nearby and large numbers of people, young and old gather in the yard of evenings and enjoy the evening's entertainment.

This has been an unprofitable fish season. The quantity of fish caught has been smaller than for many years at this point, on the Nanticoke.

More labor needed here. There is a scarcity of laborers here. The various industries are busy and laborers are all employed and there is room for others. Board is very reasonable here and steady work presents really an inducement and while a great many have come in and are doing well there is room for many more. In fact good laborers are in great demand.

COLUMBIA.

A number of Mt. Pleasant young folks were the guests of Miss Helen Phillips on Sunday last.

Columbia council O. U. A. M. was represented at the annual meeting of the state council of Delaware which was held at Seaford last week, by the following members, Mr. S. J. Lowe, Mr. L. T. Cooper, Mr. J. D. Beach, Mr. J. S. Cooper and Mr. W. J. Waller. Mr. L. T. Cooper was elected representative to the national council which will meet at Atlantic City next September.

Strawberry patches are looking well and prospects are good for a large crop which will be on hand in a few weeks.

Ploughing is being rushed along with rapidity at present, all available teams and ploughs are busy.

A large congregation listened to our new pastor Rev. H. W. D. Johnson at Mt. Hermon last Sunday. May he have a prosperous year in his new field of labor.

Last Wednesday was a galy day for the school children in this district, being the closing day of the present term. The parents and patrons of the school were out in full force. The school under the able management of J. Frank Fleetwood has made fine progress. Parents, children and teacher all seemed pleased and bent on having a good time. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed cream, cake and confectioneries until they were compelled to say "no more for me". The teacher received several valuable presents from pupils.

FRUITLAND.

For the last few weeks we have had a number of cases of scarlet fever in our town. It first entered the home of Mr. A. M. Bozman, who, not knowing the nature of the disease, allowed his children to visit stores and church, which is responsible for the outbreak.

Lulu, the little eight year old daughter of Mrs. Annie Watson, died Tuesday of last week at the home of her mother here. She was a great sufferer from fever from the beginning, of her illness, and neither the doctor's skill, nor the tender nursing of a loving mother could restore her. The remains were interred in the cemetery here Wednesday, April 23rd., at four o'clock.

ALLEN CORRESPONDENT YET ALIVE.

"im ef ye dew" came from a dozen women in chorus.) The scriptur funder sez that Gawd made man from the durst ov the yeath an' breathed inter his nostrils the breth ov life. I say thet a woman ain't sharp by a "hole lot." "Laze" Allen was the next speaker to be called, he too being on the affirmative. Somebody who knew a little more about conducting a "literary" meeting than the presiding officer himself remonstrated with that official about calling the next speaker from the affirmative, but it was of no use. He had said in the beginning that he "was tew be boss an' he was a goin' tew be it er bust." "Laze Allen" yelled the chairman, but "Laze" did not respond. "Git a move on ye Laze." I can't wait on ye all nite. Ye've got th' rite name by gum, fer ye air th' laziest man I no ovennywhar' on Gawd a-mitey's yeath. Hurry up now, time flies, er tew use th' latin, temples flewet, understan' thet Laze?" Laze was now standing in front of the chairman. "Shill I purceed?" he asked. "Purceed at wunst" said the chairman "an' keep quiet back thar," he added. "Laze" gave a history of man from the landing of the Puritans down to the Boer war, and said that as Washington was the father of his country we owed to it him, he being a man, that any of us were born and living in a free land today. He also reviewed the case of Admiral Schley and said that while Roosevelt was a man he was in a "purty durned big hole an' the wust ov it is he ain't sharp enuff tew crawfish out of it. I must sknollidge thet thisshur is wun pint in favor ov wimmen. "Hov sumever" said he "wimmen ain't got no more bizness bet ov the rains ov gov'nment then they hev holt ov the rains ov a run'way hoss as both will git the upper hand ov 'em." There was only one speaker on the negative and that was a woman—Mrs. Comfort Hall. She stood alone in her fight for woman, lovely woman, but she made things hum. "We will now hev sister Comfort Hall's speech on th' side of woman. Let us hear frum ye sister" said chairman Snelling. "Sister" Comfort arose and with tears streaming down her cheeks said: "I hev heard all thet the tu runskullyuns just afore me has sed about we pore wimmen an' I'm glad my time has cum tew say my say an' while I'm up I'm a goin' tew say it. When I heard thet air 'Tobe' Butler sayin' what he did about feemal wimmen I thot my hart 'ud bust choock op'n. Whar' 'ud he bin tew tудay of his mammy hed a dide afore he was born an' left him a nenfant baby? The Lord only nose, fer he mout a bin in tew the pentenshury er the legielachur er sum ov them bad places whar' they send convicts this very minit. He needn't say nuthin about wimmen, fer they've lookt out more fer him an' kep' him outer scrapes more'n ever the men did. I dew say rite hear that wimmen has got more sents then men. I no ov plenty a' men that hev tew depend on their wives fer a livin'. Ah! he got hoss sents enuff tew make wun fer ther famblys. I hev listened to-ewer names being bedragged down he the durst until I kin stand it no longer." After an hour or two of this sort of thing the "dockology" was sung and chairman Snelling dismissed the society. He rendered a decision next day favorab'e to the women.

TANGIER ISLAND.

Some Interesting Facts About An Unique Community.

Tanger was named by Capt. John Smith on his first trip up the Chesapeake, in 1607, after and island of the same name on the coast of Africa. On the east side lie the waters of Tangier Sound, on the west, north and south the Chesapeake Bay. In these waters are the gifts of a benevolent Providence to those whose hands are skilled to take them from the deep. The oyster season closed last Friday. The business now is fishing, and the writer has seen here some of the finest shad and rock he ever looked upon. One of the fishermen caught a few days ago a sturgeon for which he received $12. They get as high as $40, if the roe is good.

There is only one horse on the island, and there are but two colored citizens, one of whom was raised a slave in Kentucky, fought for the Union during the Civil War, and at the end of the strife came here and took up his residence. He is a member of the M. E. Church, and a consistent and liberal one, too. The other colored man came here on an oysterboat a few years ago, and now owns a fine canoe, in which he ferries goods from the steamboat wharf to the shore.

The island people appear to be quiet and law-abiding. I doubt whether another place can be found where 1,000 people live so closely together with no civil officer save a magistrate in their midst. There is not a constable on the island.

A liquor saloon has never been able to exist here. In 1896 a vote was taken in Accomac county on the question of license or no license for the sale of intoxicating liquors, and the vote of Tangier saved the county from the saloon for two years. In 1898 a vote was taken again, and Tangier past only five votes for license.

This island appears to have remained in the possession of red men until 1668, when a Mr. West from the mainland, purchased it for two overcoats. Mr. West sold part of it to John Crockett, said to have been related to Davy Crockett. The name "Crockett" has been so perpetuated that now one-fourth of the people bear the name. A Mr. Watts, after whom a small island near here is named, has the credit of being the first to seek to educate this people, his books being the prayerbook and Psalms. The first Bible is said to have been received on the island as follows: In 1735 Thomas Crockett was fishing, when a vessel from England came near and bought some of his fish, and then secured his services as a pilot to enter Tangier harbor, for which services Capt. Beverly gave Mr. Crockett a Bible. This book has done more to mould the character of this people than anything else.

Schley Succeeds Graham.

The State Board of Public Works held a meeting Tuesday and appointed Col. Buchanan Schley, of Hagerstown, as the State Tax Commissioner. Colonel Schley is one of the best known Democrats of Western Maryland, and it is said that when he took the position of State Superintendent of the State Census he was promised the position of Tax Commissioner. He went to Annapolis Tuesday morning and after a consultation with the Governor the appointment was made.

Colonel Schley succeeds Mr. Robert P. Graham, of Salisbury, who was appointed four years ago by Governor Lowndes.

Mr. Graham's administration of the State Tax Commissioner's office has been a most creditable one and he will relinquish the reins of office to his successor with a clean record having performed his duties in a straight-forward and business like manner. Colonel Schley will qualify on May fifteenth.

SCHOOL DAYS OVER.

Closing Exercises This Year Simple but Very Enjoyable. Wireless Telegraphy Successfully Demonstrated by Prof. Holloway.

According to the announcement in the ADVERTISER two weeks ago the doors of the Manual Training room of the Salisbury High School were opened to the public on Monday morning and during the entire week persons by the score not alone from town but from out of the county have been visiting that department of the school. Thursday and Friday many teachers availed themselves of the opportunity made by the close of school on Wednesday and inspected this new feature in school work for Wisconsin.

The products of the year's work certainly speak for the excellent work done during the period covered, as it hardly seems possible that under only one man's direction so much work could be produced.

The ADVERTISER's reporter found one table filled with card board work made during the first part of the year, another filled with light wood work requiring only the knife for execution and three others piled with objects attractive and very useful requiring for their completion the use of saw, plane and hatchet. The walls of the room were adorned with pictures drawn by the pupils in that department and in such a manner as to reflect credit upon themselves and instructor. Prof. Seipp the head of the department took great pleasure in showing the visitors about his room and seemed never to weary from questions but was polite and courteous throughout the week to all who came to the building.

On Tuesday the County Commissioners visited the school and were shown about the building by Prof. Holloway. He also gave to them, as to many other visitors, a demonstration of wireless telegraphy. They expressed themselves as being pleased with the visit. The closing exercises were simple. As spoken of before in this paper there was no graduating class. In the lower grades short exercises were held followed by refreshments to pupils. The sixth grade boys were taken by their teacher for a day's outing in the woods.

To the highest grades Principal Holloway gave an experimental lecture on wireless telegraphy as a close on Wednesday afternoon.

The year just closed is one of success in the work as a progressive spirit pervaded the whole institution.

On Thursday evening the ninth grade gave a banquet in the High School building at which were present the class, their immediate friends and the four teachers in the High School department. While the building was not crowded as in former years, yet the evening was thoroughly enjoyed, the informality of it seemed to add to every one's pleasure. The reception room was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting and flowers, the color scheme being red. The banquet hall proper was arrayed with two long tables sufficient for the accommodation of the banqueters. It was also decorated in an appropriate manner. Music was furnished by the Misses Bessie Trader and Amy Allen. The class did themselves perfect credit in every particular of the arrangement.

Those at the board were the four teachers, Messrs. Seipp, Holloway, White and Hurlington, the class consisting of the Misses Bessie Trader, Cora Mitchell, May Sirmann, Louise Perry, Mary McBrierty, Lillian Coughlin, Ora Disharoon, Nellie Graham, Nellie Humphreys, Ada Ellingworth, Leola Melson, Alma Lankford, Alice Carey and Grace Holloway and Messrs. Willis Taylor, Cecil Gealee, Albert Hearn, Frank Adkins, Marvin Holloway, William Sheppard, and Claude Dorman. The invited guests were Miss Seipp of Towson; Miss Farlow of Pitts ville; Miss Hastings of Delmar, and Miss Reddish of Spring Hill, and the Misses Edna Adkins, Nettie Holloway, Amy Allen, Ruth Gordy, Annie Toad-vine, Edith Welbach, Emma Williams and Mrs. Seipp of Salisbury and Messrs. John Graham of Quantico; J. Seth of Oxford; Joseph White of Whayland, and Arthur Phillips, Joseph Carey, Walter Williams, Henry Rowe, Ray Truitt, Bernard Uman, John Bacon, Carl Schuler, Gordon Smith and Raymond Humphreys of Salisbury.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Young Son of Mr. Wilson Wright Dies From Injuries By a Runaway Horse.

A very sad death occurred in the family of Mr. W. Wilson Wright, in Baron Creek district, at an early hour last Wednesday morning. John, the third son, a lad of ten years, was injured the evening before by a runaway horse and survived his injuries only a few hours.

The accident occurred as follows: The lad had been dropping corn from a tin bucket. At the close of the day he was permitted to mount a horse which his father had been working in the same field. The horse took fright from the shining bucket and rattling corn, and was soon beyond control. John was thrown from his seat and became entangled in the harness. In this position he was dragged across the field and sustained internal injuries before he could be rescued. As already stated his death followed a few hours thereafter. The interment was in the Mardela Springs cemetery Thursday morning.

Much regret and sorrow are expressed over the untimely death of the lad, and the family have the sympathy of the whole community.

Pave the Streets.

Salisbury, Md., May 8th., 1902.

Mr. Editor:—At the last session of the Legislature a law was passed, providing for the paving of the streets of Salisbury, with brick, on petition of the majority of property owners on the Street. As the matter of such improvement is of general interest I have been investigating, and find from the statements of the Boards of Public Works of twenty cities, having one hundred and seventy-four miles of streets paved with brick that the average cost of so paving, is $1.50 per square yard—Annapolis in our own State, has started in the line of brick paved streets, and I am informed that the cost there ranged from $1.45 to $1.95 per square yard. These streets of Annapolis are well laid and attract attention and favorable comment from all visitors.

Why should not Salisbury make a start in this direction, commencing on some one street, preferably on Main Street, it being the business street? Would not its being so paved add to the beauty, and reflect credit, on our City. As I understand the recent law the cost of such paving in our City is to be paid, one half by the City, and half by the owners of property on street, according to frontage.

Now Main Street is forty feet wide, and taking $1.50 as the cost per square yard of such paving, it would cost for every forty lineal feet of said street $268.60 of which the City would pay $134.30 and each owner of forty feet front $67.15 and same proportion according to number of feet frontage, the cost to property owners being $1.66 for each front foot.

While oyster shells make good roads and street beds, they will not sustain the wear and tear of heavy and continuous hauling. Besides where the streets are being continuously sprinkled on the business streets the water rots the shells and makes erosion more rapid. It will be economy to put down a substantial and durable street bed. On Main and parts of Division Street the traffic is equal to the generality of the business streets of Philadelphia and Baltimore. Why should not a start be made? Progress.

Critical Illness of Mr. S. A. Murrell.

Mr. Stephen A. Murrell is suffering from a fatal malady at his home on Park Street.

A malignant cancer in the muscle of the leg, near the groin, is rapidly sapling away his life, and the skill of his physician, Dr. Dick, and tender nursing of his family are now employed to reduce as much as possible the physical agony of the closing days of his life. Dr. Hearne, the skillful Philadelphia surgeon and specialist was in Salisbury this week in consultation with Dr. Dick, and advised that an operation would only hasten the end. The patient had already undergone two operations previously, without good results and it was decided that another one would not be made.

Mr. Murrell's trouble has been growing about two years. Confinement to his room by this last attack dates back to March 2nd last.

Boggs Gives Advice.

Upon being released from Trenton penitentiary, W. N. Boggs, former teller of the First National Bank of Dover, said to a New York World reporter: "It is not a hard thing to steal from a bank. What I did can be done by any bookkeeper left in charge of the books every day in the week. The banking regulations need to be changed so as to change bookkeepers at irregular intervals, and to keep every employee out of the bank for at least forty-eight hours at unannounced periods. I am starting life anew without money. We will begin over again and live right here in Philadelphia."

A REPLY TO MR. FITCH.

The Anti-Saloon League Reviews at Length the Evidence Before the County Commissioners in Case of Uman Bros.

Messrs. Editors:—It was not the purpose of the Anti-Saloon League to engage in a newspaper controversy, but some notice on its part seems not inappropriate, since Mr. N. T. Fitch has constituted himself the apologist of the Uman Bros. and the County Commissioners, and in doing so refers to the League in patronizing terms of its acts as "laudable" etc. "if" it meant to aid the Commissioners, etc. But he immediately drops into the sarcastic vein, and says "it is manifest that it or its representatives, proposed to usurp entirely the place and functions of the Commissioners, and by its superior wisdom, intelligence and virtue, supply any defect on the part of the Commissioners in either of these qualities," and more than intimates that the "League or its representatives" feels aggrieved because the Commissioners did not adopt the views of its counsel in reaching a conclusion. Then follows a labored, if not successful apology for Mr. Isaac Uman: we may say by way of preface, that the defenders of the liquor traffic, as a wholesome traffic, morally or financially are so few that the temperance contest would be easy, if it were not for the apologetics of those engaged in it. Their insidious special pleas, with "if," "but" and impossible conditions all in its favor, with ad captandium arguments against the promoters of temperance as fanatics impracticables and such like, with a fling at their "superior wisdom and virtue," is what helps to make it "impracticable" if not well nigh impossible to enforce the law against the liquor dealer. Gentlemen of sensibilities in the conscientious discharge of their obligations as private citizens, in trying to conserve the morals and sobriety of the youth, do not care to be held up as objects of satire by excuses of the business, yet no one should shrink on this account.

Now we ask any one to read Mr. Fitch's letter and find a word of commendation or disapproval of the conduct of Mr. Uman; to find anything but a tissue of excuses for him; he intimates again that some of the 273 signers of the protest might have "bestirred themselves when the Grand Jury was in session;" doubtless they would have been spoken of as persecutors. However it is not too late for the States' Attorney and the next Grand Jury to ratify both Mr. Uman and the gentleman.

Now we will give a correct statement of the facts as proven, in the Uman case. It is manifest that the gentleman should have written that "all the legal evidence on these points" (the alleged violations of the law) "was furnished by Isaac Uman himself." It is hardly possible that the gentleman heard the whole case. Mr. Uman first took the required oath that he would observe the law and would not permit it to be violated, and then answered a few preliminary questions about the signers. Then the League offered a certified copy of an indictment for selling liquors unlawfully in Dorchester Co. with a letter from the Clerk that there were two others, all of which had been well processed.

Next it was proven that there were and had been obstructions for some time in the store of the Messrs. Uman which were not removed, even after notice by an officer.

Next it was shown by the same witness that Mr. Isaac Uman told the officer that he wouldn't or couldn't stop selling to an habitual drunkard till he had been shown to be one in Court.

Next it was proven by four witnesses that Mr. Uman in a local option district delivered from his beer wagon whiskey flasks indiscriminately to colored men who were going to and from his wagon, and that they paid him money for it by which act he was proven to have violated both the local option law of the district, and the license law under which he does business, which forbids any one to sell it on the streets or highways of the town or county. Not until after all these facts had been proven beyond controversy by "legal evidence" from the records and by witnesses, who testified, did Mr. Uman admit anything, yet the public are told that "he unreservedly admitted these facts and admitted that the contents was liquor." Did he suppose that some one would think he (engaged solely in the liquor business) had bottled the water from the flowing wells of the town and was engaged in the philanthropic work of dispensing it to unknown colored persons; possibly this is not "legal evidence" sufficiently strong to convict a liquor dealer, but murderers have been convicted on "legal evidence" of like nature.

After proof of these facts he was called as a witness in his own behalf and began to make excuses for, and "explanation" of his conduct, which, it seems had more weight than "these facts" proven by disinterested witnesses; his excuse was that he did not know that he was violating the law, and his "explanation" was, that he got an order from a customer to take a quantity of liquor to the depot, and that he carried it, just as he would have done to any person in town, but on cross examination he was compelled to admit, that he did not know or remember the name of the customer, that the order was a telegram from some colored man at Hurllock. After proof, he admitted, on cross examination, that he sold and delivered indiscriminately to these strangers; yet the public are told that he "furnished" the evidence and that "he frankly admitted these facts" and that the League proposed to usurp the functions of the Commissioners with its "superior wisdom and virtue" and that it wanted to enforce upon them "the views of its Counsel."

Whatever grievances the League or its counsel may feel as to the Commissioners treatment of them in their effort to aid and cooperate with the Commissioners on enforcing the law, it matters little to the public; but it is a matter of vital importance to the public, that proof of open violation of the law should not be cast aside; it is a matter of importance that a remonstrance of 273 citizens of the town against granting a license to "any known or proven violator of the law" should not be ignored.

We will now notice the apology made for Mr. Uman that is his "assumed and supposed" ignorance of the law.

Ignorantia legis neminem excusat (ignorance of the law excuses no one) is a good legal maxim and admitted by all lawyers to be good law and a bad defense when one is on trial for the crime of violating the law, but Mr. Fitch would make it bad law and good defense when one wants a license to continue his traffic in ignorant violation of the laws plain provisions.

A further apology is that "the question whether Mr. Uman had technically violated the law or not was not before the Commissioners any further than bearing upon the question of character; the only question before them was whether assuming such technical violations were true, they were, in view of his explanation and assurance as to the future satisfied that he was a proper person to have a license." Now the only "assurance" he gave was that he had tried to keep the law and could not and did not know when he had violated it.

Now from this kind of argument it is plain the apologist would have the Commissioners feel around for that intangible quality called character, yet in doing so they may ignore tangible facts that would prove a "technical violation of the law" the penalty being fine, imprisonment and forfeiture of the very license to be granted.

The contention being that this proof does not justify the withholding of a license to which he would not be technically entitled—if "technically" convicted. In other words a known violator must be allowed to go on with his business and ignorant violations, and the people wait six months for a Grand Jury to find an indictment, and wait another six months for a Petit Jury to find a verdict together with other of the "laws delays" that technical lawyers know how to bring to bear.

Such a technical construction and application of the law of this County is technical absurdity and an injustice to the people's rights.

The Statute does not require strict "legal evidence" for the rejection of a license, but does require strict compliance with all the conditions of the Statute, and the application may even then be rejected under "all the circumstances of the case."

The League has no desire to make an attack upon the Commissioners, but as public officials, in the discharge of their public functions in granting licenses, from which there is no appeal, except to public sentiment, they will certainly concede the right of every citizen to criticize and disapprove their action, equally with the right of Mr. Fitch to approve it. As he disclaims any "personal or professional interest in the matter," other than a "feeling of indignation," so the League was not conscious of any interest, other than the desire to promote the cause of morality and sobriety and a sincere desire to aid the County Commissioners in enforcing the law; how much his efforts were availed of by the Commissioners and what the merits of the controversy may be, the public can decide; if the decision causes a revision of feeling against the power of the liquor traffic, it will not feel that its efforts have been entirely in vain.

F. LEONARD WAILES, Sec'y
S. J. SMITH,
President Anti-Saloon League.

A Very Quiet Election.

One of the quietest elections of recent years in Salisbury was that held on Tuesday for the election of a Mayor and three members of the City Council.

The Republicans seeing from the start that they were hopelessly beaten gave up the fight and merely went through the form of putting up a ticket to keep the party organization intact. The Democrats were not aroused to much activity and a very light vote was the result. At last year's election over seven hundred votes were cast while Tuesday's contest drew forth but a few over five hundred. The Democrats carried the day with an overwhelming majority, electing their full ticket by the following vote. For Mayor, Charles R. Disharoon, dem., received 402 votes; A. J. Benjamin, rep., 103; for Councilmen, Louis W. Morris, dem., 387; William A. Ennis, dem., 394; D. Gibson Farlow, dem., 352; Thos. H. Williams, rep., 146; Wm. G. Smith, rep., 115; Robert D. Grier, rep., 104.

SPLIT OVER PATRONAGE.

The Maryland Delegation Disagree—
Jackson Ignored and Mudd Disappointed.

A dispatch from Washington on Wednesday has the following:
"The Maryland delegation in Congress held a meeting at the house of Senator McComas tonight and agreed upon the following slate of office holders to be recommended to the President for the State's share of Federal patronage:
Collector of Customs, William F. Stone; Collector of Internal Revenue, Phillips Lee Goldsborough; District Attorney, John C. Rose; Appraiser, C. Ross Mace; Surveyor of the port, State Senator R. F. Ravencroft; of Garrett county; Sub-Treasurer, Aloysius E. Bowling of Saint Mary's; United States Marshall, John F. Langhammer.
This slate was agreed upon by the delegation after a conference lasting two hours. The meeting was not entirely harmonious, but it is understood that the selections were in accordance with the wishes of the President, as well as Senator McComas and his followers in the delegation, and they were accordingly adopted.
DISCORD IN THE MEETING.
The chief feature of the discord in the meeting was the pressure brought to bear upon the delegation by Representative William H. Jackson, of the Eastern Shore, to appoint his brother, Wilbur F. Jackson, Collector of Internal Revenue. This selection was refused to name any other candidate for that office or for any other office. In a word, Mr. Jackson practically withdrew from the conference.
Another selection which carries with it an element of dissatisfaction is that of Mr. Bowling for the sub-treasurer. This is a selection credited to Representative Sidney E. Mudd's district.
Mr. Mudd desired Mr. Bowling's appointment as Surveyor of the Port, but the majority of the delegation did not see their way clear to approve such a selection. Finding that he could not secure the office he particularly desired, Mr. Mudd decided to accept the sub-treasurership for his candidate. He will appeal to the President, however, stating that he does not think he has been given all that his district is entitled to.
Two factions developed in the meeting. One was led by Mr. Mudd and consisted of that gentleman and Mr. Jackson. The other was led by Senator McComas, who had as his followers; Representatives Frank C. Wachter, Charles R. Schirm, George A. Pearre and A. A. Blakeley. At the beginning of the meeting Senator McComas presented the slate named. This was not satisfactory to either Mr. Mudd or Mr. Jackson and Mr. Mudd offered another slate as a compromise, but it was rejected."

Maryland Crop Conditions.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday, May 5th, says:

"In the way of work farmers have devoted their time very largely to preparing land for corn and in planting the crop. As the rains occurred mostly in the evening and at night, scarcely any interruptions occurred, and very decided progress was made. In the uplands, where earlier drought conditions had delayed plowing, the week was given over to breaking the soil, but in the mellow lands where the soil had already been turned a considerable acreage of corn was planted. Plowing, harrowing, and planting are now going on together in all parts of the section, except in Garrett County where, in some localities, none of the crop will be put in until about the 12th to 15th of May. The soil is now in splendid condition for working, although on some uplands more rain would be welcome. Some of the early corn is up to good stands in Dorchester County. Wheat and rye have materially improved during the week, although both crops, and especially the late sown wheat, are still below an average condition. As stated in previous bulletins, some of late sown wheat fields have been plowed up and planted with other crops. Early sown wheat on rich soil is now taking on a heavy growth, but the late corn land wheat continues to show thin stands. The warm weather and showers of the week have been very beneficial to grasses, and stock is being turned into pasture in all districts, except in parts of Garrett County where it will be probably a week before the grazing lands can be depended upon for sustenance. The spring sowing of clover has revived wonderfully, and shows a great improvement over its condition a week or two ago. Much of the timothy on old sod continues backward, but a general though slight improvement is observed. Some oats are still sown in the extreme west, but elsewhere this work is over. The crop is coming up nicely from Frederick County eastward; some of the early sown suffered during the dry weather, but the recent rains have been very helpful in bringing the crop to good stands."

A Disappearing Island.

A Nanticoke writer to the Baltimore News, says:—Holland's Island will cease to play a part in the geography of the state if these tides are not soon checked. The island particularly the ridge, which is the only available building land, has perceptibly diminished during the past few years in spite of precautions of great labor and expense. With the exception of this ridge of not 100 yards in width, the entire island is submerged at every high tide, by which the opening and closing of church and school are regulated. Many of the islanders have already abandoned their homes.

The island has a population of nearly 600. Many costly and handsome dwellings have been built on the island, nearly all on the ridge which is being so wasted away by the bay. Owing to the increasing danger of the island no buildings have gone up in the last few years.

Holland's Island once played a prominent part in the oyster industry, which then had attracted its present population. Capital was invested in homes by prospecting oystermen and other investments in property were made, but all now seems doomed to destruction. The island is yet quite an oyster center, for its surrounding waters teem with this product.

Schooner Capsized.

The schooner Conway, Captain Harvey Conway, was capsized off Clora's Point in the Choptank River about half-past eight o'clock Tuesday evening. The captain and crew of four men made their escape and the schooner was not much damaged. The Conway had been on a trip from James River to a point on the Jersey coast with a load of oysters and had returned by way of the Chesapeake and Delaware canal. Somewhere on the trip the boat scraped against something which took the oakum off the bottom and this caused her to spring a leak. Nothing was known of the leak, however, until the cook went below about dusk Tuesday evening to bring up the lights when he discovered two or three feet of water in the part of the hold. The sails were immediately reefed and the pump started but the water continued to pour in. Coming through Castle Haven Narrows the schooner became unmanageable and finally upset. The crew had ample warning of the catastrophe and all reached places of safety.

Those on board the schooner were Captain Harvey Conway, Herman Willey, Frank Lyons and two colored men.

Dresses the Summer Girl Should Have.

A gown of light summer silk, such as foulard, India or soral, will be needed for church and cool evenings.

A gown of flannel or light weight serge made up without a lining is among the most sensible and useful to include in one's list of summer dresses. The linen and cotton ducks cannot be excelled for all-round usefulness. If a girl has one or two of these white skirts with a couple of white blouses she can feel perfectly at ease no matter where she may be, nor what the occasion at which she must put in an appearance.

A thin white gown for special occasions is absolutely necessary. Linen, Fernian lawn, dimity, organdy, and the many figured Swiss are all lovely materials from which to make a gown which will be suitable for the many little impromptu affairs which spring up in the summer time.—May Ladies, Home Journal.

The Register of Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa., just issued, shows the attendance of 564 students, from 26 States and 9 foreign countries. There are 49 in the teaching staff.

11 courses of instruction are offered at the University: the Classical Course, the Latin Scientific Course, the courses in Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Metallurgical Engineering, Mining Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Physics and Analytical Chemistry, Geology, and Electrometallurgy.

A list of the graduates of the University, 1902 in number during the 36 years of its existence, indicates that this institution is exerting a very marked influence on the industrial development of the United States, and also of foreign countries.

The following Scholarships will be open to competition at the annual examination in June: Two in the Classical course of $150 and $100 each. One in the Latin-Scientific Course of $125. Five in the following courses: Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mining Engineering, Metallurgical Engineering, and Chemistry of $150 each.

Provision is made for worthy and needy students whereby they may postpone payment of tuition until after graduation.

The Commissioners of Baltimore County have decided, on recommendation of Roads Engineer W. W. Crosby, to replace the present trestle at Woodspans and awarded the contract to the York Bridge Company for $1,000. The bridge is mostly used by Baltimore county people going to the railroad, consequently Howard county could not be compelled to defray any part of the cost. The new part is the Baltimore county approach to the bridge proper.

DEATH OF ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

Died in Washington Last Tuesday Afternoon.

Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, retired, died at his home in Washington, D. C. at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The immediate cause of his death was a severe cerebral hemorrhage. He had been in a semi-conscious state for several days, and Tuesday forenoon suffered a severe cerebral hemorrhage.

For nearly a year it has been known to Admiral Sampson's physicians and family that his death was a question of a comparatively brief time. Before then, however, he had been in poor health, and while he was able to perform in some measure the duties of his position at the Boston yard, those close to him began to suspect that his mind was giving away.

At the bedside, when the admiral breathed his last, were Mrs. Sampson, Mrs. Lieutenant Cluverius, the admiral's married daughter; Admiral Sampson's two young sons, Ralph and Harold Sampson, Dr. Dixon, the attending physician, and nurses and attendants. Mrs. Sampson has broken down under the severe strain, and was quite ill during the day. But for the critical condition of the admiral she would have been confined to her bed.

Admiral William Thomas Sampson was born February 9, 1840, at Palmyra, N. Y. His father was about the poorest man in Palmyra. William spent much of his boyhood tramping from farmhouse to farmhouse with his father, asking for a day's work. Between chores he studied with all the earnestness and concentration that was the secret of all the successes which came to him as a man. He studied late at night until his mother dragged him to bed.

The boy's efforts to make the most of his slender opportunity for study attracted attention, and Congressman Morgan was persuaded to appoint the young man a naval cadet in 1857.

Four years later, after a record in the Naval Academy that put him at the head of his class, he became a midshipman and went off to war.

In August, 1875, he was commissioned commander, and his first ship was the Albatross. He spent several years at sea and at the naval observatory.

In Memoriam.

Morley B. Harcum, the nineteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harcum, died last Sunday morning after a lingering illness of rheumatism. His remains were interred in the family burying ground Monday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Williams of Fruitland.

Morley was a friend and kinsman of the writer. He was a lover of the "blest home." His piety was of a quiet, unassuming kind, yet firm, true, and faithful. My heart has often been cheered when I met his encouraging, cheering look. His smile made a man feel like laboring on. "I shall never be any better," he said to his mother a few days ago, "but I am ready to go. He preached in plain and pure gospel—that we who are left behind might be clear and without excuse. His sorrowing ones will doubtless meet him by and by where it will no more be said 'I am sick.' 'How blest the righteous when he dies!' but how much more blest when he shall rise again. A pillar has been removed from Mr. and Mrs. Harcum's number. May the Lord fill his place and keep the lamp of his truth brightly burning till he comes. It may be said of the one just gone that 'he lived as the good man lives, died as the good man dies—in peace and sweet repose.' His body rests in quiet slumber and his spirit has joined the unnumbered throng that in faithful hope await the time when a voice from heaven shall pierce the graves and saints shall rise to bloom forever in immortal youth. Then Morley shall rise all glorious."

Letter to Frank Moore.

Dear Sir: There is going to be, from now on, in Salisbury a good deal of painting done, that will last in good condition from 3 years up—10 years is common; we know of it good in 15; and we know no limit—it seems to be likely to last as long as the house lasts, in favorable conditions.

The painter that uses this paint will get all the business he can do.

Devote lead and zinc is the paint. It looks as good as any; costs no more; and is ready—no tinting or mixing to do.

The zinc is ground in with the lead by machinery—you can't do that.

Test it yourself, if you like; but there's plenty of evidence for it. We take the risk of how it turns out—there is no risk.

Do you want this work?

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

P. S.—L. W. Gunby sells our paint.

Summer Excursion Tickets.

On May 1, 1902, the regular Summer excursion tickets via all rail routes to all the principal Summer resorts east of Pittsburgh and Buffalo will be placed on sale at ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

These tickets will bear the usual Summer excursion limit of October 31, 1902.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Summer Excursion Route Book for 1902 will be issued, as heretofore, on June 1.

Bliss of Fashion.

Pongee is being used for pajamas. Empire effects assert their modishness in lingerie.

The black, white and ecru combination is particularly smart.

Hat brims faced with pleated or shirred chiffon are becoming.

Even hosiery is influenced by the vogue of linen color.

Silk thread lace is a fashionable trimming for crepe de Chine.

White silk shirts stitched with red and trimmed with clusters of small red buttons are another evidence of the decided favor for the vivacious color.

Peau de cygne is being used for petticoats.

The "foreador" is a toque shape popular in millinery.

The little puff which has been content to remain near the wrist for a long time now shows a disposition to locate at the elbow or a little below it.

Black velvet ribbon is as much in evidence as ever.

All the summer gowns are very frilly around the feet.

The new motor veil is of finest crepe spotted with chenille and hemstitched on the edge.

Gainsborough and Watteau pictures furnish the inspiration for many of the new thin gowns.

Parasols to match your gown will be in good style—Phila. Times.

The Cleaning of the Vatican.

The Vatican has recently been overhauled for the first time in 400 years; and out of the 11,000 rooms, including the Pope's private apartments, the picture galleries, the library, the museums of sculpture and archaeology, the casino, the Sistine and other chapels, and the barracks of the Swiss Guards, over 10 tons of dirt were taken every day for the first 12 or 13 weeks, and in large proportions also during the remaining five months. This will seem incredible no doubt to many persons who have visited a portion of these premises. Indeed, it was not until the Pope began to study bacteriology, that he appreciated that there was any dirt whatever there. In this great undertaking over 5,000 people were employed, and 1,000 loaves of bread a day was consumed in the cleaning of wall paper alone. Eight thousand brooms, 2,000 scrubbing brushes, 5,000 pounds of soap went in a week. The bread was used in such quantities that to economize a private bakery was established.

The death warrant of Frank Jones and John Johnson (colored), who were convicted at the March term of the County Circuit Court of the murder on March 4 of the Baltimore jeweler, Israel Radetzky, were read to the two men on Saturday by Sheriff James B. Hobbs. The double hanging will take place on June 20. Neither of the men made reply to the reading of the solemn document.

In another column appears a communication from a citizen of Salisbury in which the paving of Main and a portion of Division street is advocated. The figures given by our correspondent appear reasonable, and it would seem that paving would be in the long run economical.

As stated by the writer she has proved unsatisfactory and expensive when subjected to the heavy traffic of Main and Division streets.

The brick paving done some years ago at Main and Dock streets by way of experiment, seems to have stood the test well, and it may be advisable for the City Council to look carefully into the merits of the material used. Indeed the time appears ripe for the Council to take up seriously this subject. Make an investigation of paving materials generally and be prepared to state cost of paving per square yard. This information gained would greatly assist the Council and the property owners in solving the problem whether to pave or not to pave.

APPRECIATES THE CHANGE.

The transfer of Cecil from the Second to the First Congressional District may not improve her chances to secure a Representative, but it will at least identify her as one of the Eastern Shore counties, which is distinctly a gain.—Cecil Democrat.

GENERAL SETH A CANDIDATE.

General Joseph Bruff Seth authorizes The Ledger to say that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First Congressional District, the place now filled by Hon. William H. Jackson, Republican, of Wicomico.—Easton Ledger.

An Unpardonable Sin.

The newspapers are properly complimentary to the outgoing Republican Tax Commissioner, Mr. Robert P. Graham. THE LEDGER has nothing against Mr. Graham except that he brought duplicate whist into Easton.—Easton Ledger.

McCOMAS' LOGIC.

The Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, comments as follows:

Senator McComas, of Maryland, in a speech in the Senate, has taken to task the Democrats who have denounced American soldiers in the Philippines with charges of barbarity and inhumanity. He declared that the soldiers who have been guilty of cruelty or crimes will be punished, and then wanted to know whether his Democratic hearers could say the same of their constituents who practice or share in the enormities of lynching.

The burden of Senator McComas' speech was largely that soldiers in war are excusable for atrocities when their countrymen at home and in peace may be charged with offences similar in kind, not only against inferior races but against their own. Thus he said: "Let us not forget that in our prosperous land, blessed with peace, during sixteen years, more than 2,500 lynchings have occurred, and that sixty-one of the victims were women; that only one-fourth of these executions by mob were incited by the most heinous crime, which so strongly tempts men to inflict summary punishment without authority of law. Let us not forget that nearly a thousand of the victims were white men, Indians, Chinese or Mexicans."

But what kind of reading must this be when it is translated and falls into the hands of Filipinos? What must be their opinion of a country in which one of its states men, in order to defend its soldiers, must arraign its civilians? There is enough in Senator McComas' speech, although he may not altogether have had that intention, to cause Americans to put on their thinking caps before they become too proud of their superiority over the Filipinos in Christianity and civilization.

Death of A. E. Acworth.

Mr. Albert E. Acworth died at his home near Mardela Springs Thursday evening aged about 74 years. His remains will be interred Saturday afternoon in St. Phillips church yard, Quantico.

Mr. Acworth was a son of the late Train Acworth, in his day a successful slave owner and farmer, and a prominent citizen. Mrs. Elizabeth Acworth, who died in Salisbury several years ago, was the step-mother, and Mrs. Priscilla Robertson, her daughter, now of Baltimore, was a half sister of the deceased. Mr. Acworth married in his youth Miss Charlotte Daugherty, daughter of John Daugherty, of Somerset county. She survives him. They never had children. The deceased was noted for his scholarly attainments. He graduated back in the fifties from Princeton, and afterward read law and was admitted to practice, but never followed the profession. John H. Handy was a law student with him. Many years ago he edited a paper for awhile in Princess Anne, and at various times taught private and public school.

Mr. Acworth was a man of plausible theories, but lacked practical application. In consequence the comfortable estate left by his father to him for life, then to his half sister Mrs. Robertson absolutely, has greatly depreciated in value under his management. As a conversationalist and speaker Mr. Acworth was entertaining and instructive.

Death of Mr. W. Polk.

Mr. Whittington Polk, father of Mr. W. U. Polk of this city, died at his home in Pocomoke City last Monday, aged seventy seven years. Funeral services were conducted in the Presbyterian church of that place Wednesday afternoon after which the remains were interred in the cemetery. Deceased is survived by a widow and three children, all of whom are married.

Mr. Polk was, during his active years, a prominent and well to do farmer of Somerset County. Having acted as commissioner for Somerset before the formation of Wicomico County, he was well known by many of the older citizens of Salisbury.

He moved to Pocomoke City about six years ago. Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Polk returned to their home in Salisbury today after an absence of a week occasioned by the illness and death of Mr. Polk, Sr.

If all reports be true Berlin had a very exciting and costly City election on Monday of this week. One ticket was headed by Dr. E. J. Dirickson for Mayor and the other by the present incumbent, Mr. Orlando Harrison. The latter ticket won by eighteen majority. It is stated that the contest was so bitter that fifty dollars was paid for one vote. The question of bonding the town for water works and electric lights was defeated.

Mr. C. V. Holder, wife and two daughters of Chicago, Ill., reached Salisbury Wednesday evening. They will make Salisbury their future home. As soon as their furniture arrives they expect to begin house-keeping in the dwelling corner High and Bush streets, which his brother Mr. Jas. W. Holder recently bought from Mayor Charles R. Disharoon. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Holder will reside with them.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Laird Todd have sent out a large number of invitations for the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage which they will celebrate Monday evening, May 19th at their home on Park Street. Mrs. Todd was Miss Julia A. Fowler, daughter of the late Dr. Edward Fowler of Spring Hill. They have spent their entire married life in this county, mostly in Salisbury, where they have a large circle of friends.

Mr. Samuel McMullen who will be remembered by many Salisbury and Wicomico people as the genial and obliging conductor of the old Pocomoke railroad, died of small-pox at Farnhurst last week. He was superintendent of the New Castle, Del., work house and contracted the disease from patients sent there for confinement.

Eugene Todd, little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Todd, who had his leg broken several weeks ago, from which he was just recovering and beginning to walk again, fell Thursday and re-broke the limb in the same place.

Green Hill Camp Meeting will begin Saturday evening, Aug. 16th and will continue ten days, breaking up Wednesday morning Aug. 27th 1902. The date on which the privileges will be sold will be announced later. E. J. Phillips, Pastor.

Rev. S. J. Smith expects to preach on Sunday upon the following themes: 11 a. m., "Patience," 8 p. m., "Why many will not reach Heaven."

There will be a mass and sermon in the Catholic Church at Salisbury next Sunday, May 11th, at 10.30 p. m. and a sermon at 7.30 p. m.

Mrs. James W. Holder, who has been visiting relatives in the West and South since December, will return today.

Mrs. J. N. Jones, of Temperanceville, Va., and little daughter are guests of Mrs. V. Perry.

Mr. Harry Phillips of Chincoteague, Va., was a guest Friday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schneck, of the Peninsula Hotel.

Mr. Charles E. Johnson of Salisbury was in Milford this week visiting friends.

Miss Edna Sheppard has been elected President of the Christian Endeavor Society, M. P. Church.

A very delightful social event of last week was the tea given by Miss Jackson on Saturday afternoon at her beautiful home, "The Oaks," to about twenty of her lady friends. Miss Jackson and Mrs. Jackson welcomed their guests in the drawing room and were assisted in entertaining them by Mrs. A. J. Vanderbogat and Mrs. Margaret Rider. Large bowls of Spirea adorned the table in the dining room where the guests were invited about six o'clock. Mrs. Frank Reigart, Miss Fitz and Miss Green were the out of town guests present.

A progressive euchre party was given by Miss Mary Lee White at her home on Camden Ave. on Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Green and Miss Fitz, the guests of the Misses Houston. Mrs. Wm. M. Cooper having made the highest score, carried off the ladies' prize, and Mr. S. R. Douglass was the winner of the men's prize. About twenty guests were present. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock.

Miss Nellie Fish entertained about twenty of her friends on Monday afternoon at progressive euchre in honor of Miss Green and Miss Fitz. Mrs. J. M. Dick and Miss Green were the fortunate ones in winning the two very pretty prizes given.

It is said that the recent freshets have done unusual damage to the oyster beds in the Potomac and in Tangier sound. Even in some parts of the bay the bivalves are almost too fresh to eat, owing to the fresh water brought down from the melting snow and ice in the mountains.

Most of the nominations sent to the Hagerstown Council by Mayor Holzapfel were turned down on Thursday night. Edward Heard, republican, was however, unanimously confirmed for City Tax Collector.

In the poultry yard of Mr. W. H. Paul, near Earleton, a large chicken hawk was fooled by making a descent upon a pet angora cat, which he thought was a chicken. Colonel, the cat, received several severe wounds, but the hawk was driven off minus a large mouthful of feathers.

The continuous rain Tuesday doubtless saved valuable property in the Pen Mar region from destruction by fire. The fire started Sunday afternoon from sparks from a Western Maryland engine and was driven up the mountain side by the strong wind. Section men fought the flames, but for some hours the buildings around High Rock were in danger.

Edith M. Ellwood, a 18-year old child, living along the nine-mile grade on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, near Cumberland, saved train No. 1825, a freight, from a wreck on Sunday. She discovered a broken rail, and flagged the train just in time. There's a medal for the brave child.

The report of the Grand Jury of Anne Arundel county yesterday finds fault with the county officers, alleging mismanagement, on the part of the Commissioners and neglect on the part of the county police in the matter of gambling at Brooklyn. Attention is also called to the reckless running of trains in the county and the use of "flying switches."

A Helpless Child.

A weak and puny child is badly handicapped in the battle of life. It is isolated from the healthy enjoyments of its little fellow beings. It cannot partake either of their play or their sturdy work and progress in the world; its whole life is embittered by incapacity and weakness.

Any woman who expects to become a mother ought to know what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do both for her own health and safety during her time of trial and also to insure her in acquiring a fair measure of health and strength to the prospective little one.

Keep The Balance Up.

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite or to get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparil. What this medicine has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength, and endurance.

The Port Deposit Presbyterian congregation has appointed a building committee to superintend the construction of a new church for the body. The old church will be sold. J. H. Rowland has contributed $10,000 to ward the new edifice, and is chairman of the committee.

Like A Drowning Man

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well. Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble."

The Commissioners of Somerset county invite sealed proposals for $6,500 41 per cent. semiannual 21 to 56 year serial school bonds; bonds to date April 1, 1902, and to be awarded to the highest bona-fide bidder. Bids to be opened at noon, May 6, 1902.

Holds Up A Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter. 'Overworked run down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists.'

The track hands of the Northern Central Railway between Baltimore and York have had their pay increased one cent an hour, receiving $1.30 per day of 10 hours. The pay of the foremen has been raised $5 per month, and they now receive $53.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is. It's the hardest kind to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season. Take it in hand right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. Children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H. Bowles, Groveton, N. H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly."

The old rolling mill at Rowlandville which has been refitted by Logan Bros., will shortly be put in operation manufacturing roofing paper. The plant will be lighted by electricity and run night and day, giving employment to about 20 hands.

Reveals A Great Secret.

It is often asked how such startling cures that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. It cuts out the phlegm and germ-infected mucus and lets the life-giving oxygen enrich and vitalize the blood. It heals the inflamed, cough-worn throat and lungs. Hard colds and stubborn coughs soon yield to Dr. King's New Discovery, the most infallible remedy for all Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at All Druggists.

The Myersville Monitor reports that a wild man is running loose in the mountains near Smoketown. Several persons report having seen the man. His face and body are covered with hair, and he runs away when any one approaches.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yanketown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.

Traffic was resumed April 28 on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, and it is expected about 200 boats will be in operation this season on the canal. The damage caused by the recent floods has been repaired.

Wants Others To Know

"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers for constipation and torpid liver and they are all right. I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing, we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Heinze, Quincy, Ill. They never gripe or distress. Sure, safe pills.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS

How Mrs. Bruce, a Noted Opera Singer, Escaped an Operation. Proof That Many Operations for Ovarian Troubles are Unnecessary.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Travelling for years on the road, with irregular meals and sleep and damp beds, broke down my health so completely two years ago that the physician advised a complete rest, and when I had gained sufficient vitality, an operation for ovarian troubles. Not a very cheerful prospect, to be sure. I, however, was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash; I did so, fortunately for me. Before a month had passed I felt that my general health had improved; in three months more I was cured, and I have been in perfect health since. I did not lose an engagement or miss a meal.

"Your Vegetable Compound is certainly wonderful, and well worthy the praise your admiring friends who have been cured are ready to give you. I always speak highly of it, and you will admit I have good reason to do so."—Mrs. G. BRUCE, Lansing, Mich. $6.000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

The fullest counsel on this subject can be secured without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be entirely confidential.

SHARPTOWN

Capt. Frank C. Robinson and family of Baltimore moved to this town this week. Capt. Robinson was here a few years ago and has business enterprises here. He is active and progressive and his coming adds materially to the business interests of the town.

School closed on Wednesday and after cake and cream were served the pupils began to enjoy that freedom and liberty so much enjoyed by school children.

Mr. Charles Connolly, corner of Ferry and Water Streets has had some improvements made upon the building which add much to the appearance as well as convenience.

By special invitation your reporter attended Mrs. W. A. Gravenor's millinery opening this week and was shown the beauties of the season. The ceiling of one room was tastefully trimmed with Japanese figures, and the display of hats, flowers and such other beauties as adorn the head were in profusion. The souvenirs were real beauties. The rush has been unusually large and selections have been received with much appreciation by the patrons.

Herman Spear, left last week for Baltimore where he has secured a position in a grocery store. Herman is an industrious young man and carries a good character to the city with him.

W. C. Mann has added a handsome black horse to his livery outfit this week.

Rev. B. F. Holt, a colored divine near town has secured the services of a Mrs. Griffen a revivalist of New York. She will conduct revival services at Shiloh Church for several days, or as long as she can do good.

Geo. H. Walker, received a consignment of an improved variety of corn this week from a northern seed house. He is making an effort to improve upon the old varieties.

The Schooner J. Dallas Marvil, has been sold to J. D. Marvil and others of Laurel. There were several owners here. Capt. John W. Robinson is captain.

The colored Q. O. O. F. of 'San Domingo' will attend Zion church in a body on Sunday afternoon next, and will have service set apart to them especially.

PITTSVILLE

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Joseph Brittingham, the contracting parties being Miss Theresa Brittingham, daughter of Mr. Joseph Brittingham and Mr. Clarence Laws, son of Mr. James Laws. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Morris. The house was very beautifully decorated with flowers to suit the occasion.

Miss Amelia Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemons Parsons died last Wednesday at her home near here. Miss Parsons was a teacher of the public schools of this county for some time but had not taught the last two years on account of ill health. She was a faithful christian, a member of the M. E. Church here, and was much loved by all who knew her. She had a kind word for every one, ever ready to do them a favor. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. D. F. McFaul, Friday afternoon at M. E. Church, after which interment was made in the M. P. Cemetery. Miss Parsons will be sadly missed, not only in her own home, but by the entire community and by the church. The sorrowing family and friends, while conscious that it is better for their loved one to be with the Lord, may well voice their sense of love in the following beautiful words:

"We miss thee from home, dear Amelia,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast;
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and loving care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere."

QUANTICO

Quantico is no exception to other small towns in attending circus shows, so it turned out fairly well to "Pawnee Bill's Wild West" show in Salisbury, Thursday.

The teachers of the Grammar School here held a banquet in the school building on Wednesday evening for the pupils and their friends, which was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Minnie Anderson held short exercises followed by refreshments in her school two miles from town on Wednesday afternoon.

Quantico can probably boast of as many teachers as any other place in the county. The number, consisting of the Misses Florence and Jennie Bounds, Blanche and Marie Tainter, Nellie Brady, Mabel Bailey and Geo. E. Bennett are all home for the vacations. While we do not make professions of great activity along any line yet we do profess to have some little intellect as is shown by so many of our people being successful teachers in the county.

The programme rendered on last Saturday evening was well-attended and thoroughly appreciated by the audience. The proceeds were very gratifying to those who had the matter in hand.

WAITE WILL BE HELD.

The Negro Who is one of the Accused in the Collins Murder Case, is in Jail.

Accompanied by Attorneys Robert Davis and Charles Moore, Clayton Franklin, colored, of Smyrna, was taken to Georgetown last Wednesday to identify his step son William Waite, charged with the murder of Mrs. Collins at Laurel. According to reports Waite gave a smile of recognition as his step father entered his cell and for quite a while they talked over old times. Franklin contends that Waite was the same man that Policeman Turner drove out of Smyrna on the Saturday that Mrs. Collins was killed. It has developed that sympathizing friends are about to have Waite released from Georgetown jail on bail. The state, fearing that this might mean his escape from the jurisdiction of the court, and not sufficient evidence as yet to hold Waite for the murder, evidently thought precaution the better part of valor, and had two warrants issued at Dover Tuesday that the prisoner may be rearrested and brought to Dover the moment he steps out of jail.

One warrant sworn out, charges Waite with the larceny of the bicycle upon which he rode through Sussex county, from the Rev. George R. Ellis of Kenton; and of the larceny of a watch and other jewelry from Alexander and Emma J. Butcher. Mr. Ellis, from whom he stole the wheel, is a minister at Kenton, and the bicycle has been positively identified as his. It is said that a higher bail can be required of a prisoner for two charges of larceny than for assault and battery.

THE LEGISLATURE'S FUTURE HOME.

Plans for New Building Accepted by Building Commission.

Every indication points to the fact that the next legislature of Maryland will occupy new and commodious quarters. The Executive Committee of the Statehouse Annex Building Commission at a meeting held in Baltimore Monday accepted the plans prepared by Messrs. Baldwin & Pennington, architects, for the proposed addition to the Statehouse. The plans were in the rough, but gave a good idea of what the finished plans would be. A meeting of the entire commission was held at Annapolis on Thursday for consideration of the plans.

The proposed addition, which will join the original Statehouse, will face the Court of Appeals Building now in the course of construction. The present annex to the Statehouse will be razed. The entrance to the annex will be by means of a marble portico, the steps leading thereto branching both to the right and left. This portico, which will extend the entire height of the building and have six full pillars, gothic caps and surrounded by an entablature.

The building will have a basement and two stories. Except the base, which will be of stone, the building will be of brick specially made, so as to harmonize with the old structure. On the first floor will be the Senate chamber, 45 feet square, and the hall of the House of Delegates, 56 feet by 58 feet, with large surrounding galleries in each House on the second floor.

The legislative halls will extend to the roof, and will be lighted through skylights during the day and electric lights on the ceilings when artificial light is required. Committee rooms will be placed on each of the three floors, and other rooms for the presiding officers, toilet rooms, etc., will also be arranged for.

Small Boy Drowned.

The drowning of Mr. Peter Bounds' eight year-old son Roscoe in the Wicomico river, near Camden bridge, Thursday of last week, has caused much regret and sorrow.

Knowledge of the accident came to the parents and the public Saturday. Mr. George Bounds of Whayland, in Trappe district, an uncle of the unfortunate child, came to Salisbury Thursday of last week in a sail boat expecting to take him to Whayland to pick berries. The uncle instructed the child to meet him at the wharf, where the boat was moored, at a certain hour in the afternoon. When the time arrived Mr. Bounds boarded the boat to return to Whayland. Roscoe was not there. Thinking that he might be about the wharf Mr. Bounds called his name several times, but getting no response, and believing the child had gone home Mr. Bounds left the wharf for his home down the river. Meanwhile the parents rested under the belief that their boy was with his uncle. Parents and uncle were thrown into consternation Saturday when they learned that the boy had not been seen since the previous Thursday.

Immediate search was made and the body found under a raft of logs near Williams' mill. The remains were interred at Siloam Sunday. It is supposed that in attempting to board the boat while nobody was present the child fell between the boat and the wharf. Some clothing which he had taken from home with him was found this week near the spot where he is supposed to have fallen overboard.

ST. PIERRE DESTROYED.

The Entire City Has Been Buried Under Burning Lava.

FORTY THOUSAND PEOPLE WERE ROASTED TO DEATH IN THE FIERY DELUGE.

Fort De France, island of Martinique, May 12.—Advices received here yesterday from the vicinity of St. Pierre, ten miles from here, contain further details of the terrible volcanic upheaval, which resulted in the utter destruction of that town and the death of nearly all its inhabitants.

The crater of Mont Pelee had been wearing its "smoke cap" since May 3, but there was nothing until last Monday to indicate that there was the slightest danger. On that day a stream of boiling lava burst through the top of the crater and plunged into the valley of the river Blanche, overwhelming the Guerin sugar works and killing 23 work people and the son of the proprietor.

A commission was appointed by the governor to investigate the outbreak, and it returned a reassuring report on Wednesday evening. But about 8 o'clock on Thursday morning a shower of fire rushed down on St. Pierre, and the coast from La Carbet, which had a population of 6,500, to Le Pecheur, which had a population of 4,000, burning up everything in its path.

Throughout Thursday the heat in the vicinity of St. Pierre was so intense and the stream of flowing lava was so unremitting that it was impossible to approach the town during the early part of the day. As evening approached the French cruiser Suchet, after a heroic battle with the heat, suffocation and sulphur fumes, succeeded in making a dash toward the shore, nearing the land close enough to enable her to take off 30 survivors of the disaster, all of whom were horribly burned and mutilated. St. Pierre at that time was an absolute smoking waste, concealing 30,000 corpses, whose decomposition necessitated in some cases instantly completing their cremation, which was only partially accomplished by the lava. Not a house in St. Pierre is standing, the entire city being consumed and buried.

The inhabitants of Fort De France were panic-stricken the morning of the disaster, when the sky suddenly blackened and it was at dark as at midnight. The sea shrank back 30 yards, and hot rain began to fall, while gravel, the size of walnuts, poured down on the town. This lasted about 15 minutes.

Briefly put, last Thursday morning the city of St. Pierre disappeared within ten minutes in a whirlwind of fire vomited from Mont Pelee; 30,000 persons were instantly and horribly killed, and the volcano whose ancient crater for more than 50 years had been occupied by a quiet lake, in which picnic parties bathed, suddenly discharged a torrent of fiery mud, which rolled towards the sea, engulfing everything before it. Then the last of cable communication was broken, and the doomed city was isolated from the world.

The Associated Press steamer near Martinique at 6.30 Sunday morning. The island, with its lofty hills, was hidden behind a huge veil of violet or leaden colored haze. Enormous quantities of the wreckage of large and small ships and houses strewn the surface of the sea. Huge trees, and too often bodies, with flocks of sea gulls soaring above, and hideous sharks fighting about them, were floating here and there.

The city of St. Pierre stretched nearly two miles along the water front and half a mile back to a cliff at the base of the volcano. The still smoking volcano towered above the ash-covered hills. The ruins were burning in many places, and frightful odors of burned flesh filled the air.

With great difficulty a landing was effected. Not one house was left intact. Viscid heaps of mud, of bright

SALISBURY A MODERN CITY.

Magnificent Homes, Substantial Business Blocks, Broad Avenues, Numerous Churches and Excellent Schools.

A writer of this county, who cordially admires Salisbury, writes as follows: "Salisbury boasts of beauty, comfort and commerce and justly may the city claim preeminence in this trinity of blessings by nature bestowed. In beauty it stands unquestionably unsurpassed; in comfort unequalled; in commercial and industrial development unrivalled by any other city in the state save one. Whatever else it has in its favor, and it has much, in these three characteristics, covering as they do so important a range of advantages, it excels all other cities of its size anywhere in the Union.

Salisbury began existence years ago with a little saw mill and for many years the name of the milling plant was practically synonymous with the growth of the town. The real growth started with the 80's at which time about 800 people comprised the population. It is represented today by over 5,000. This marvelous change from an unmoisted village to a modern, enterprising city was the achievement of a few years. It was accomplished quickly and boldly, but fortunately haste produced no blunders to mar the symmetrical significance. Like the national capital, it was designed with a prophetic and far seeing judgment, and the plans, outlined on an artistic and generous scale, permitted the city in its development to have no reason to regret the original constructional features. The business and residence thoroughfares are generous in proportion, well paved and lighted. There are 20 miles of graded streets. Facilities for transportation are adequate, and electric lines now place a number of nearby towns within easy access. The business blocks would reflect credit upon a city many times the size. They are constructed of stone and brick and provided with every modern convenience. When they were erected the best materials and methods were employed and as it was only a few years ago they are consequently as far advanced in architectural features as the newest buildings in the metropolis of our State. The most beneficial advantage of a newly built rapidly developed town is its uniformity. It has nothing old to outgrow or obliterate. In this respect it triumphs over older cities with their remote architecture and old style buildings illy equipped with the improvements that have marked the last half century. The principal streets of many longer established and larger cities of pride have not the appearance of substantialness and modernity that distinguishes the nice, well kept streets of Salisbury.

But it is the beauty of Salisbury that carves itself into the memory of all who have admired its superb location—elegant homes and attractive grounds.

The city begins almost with the tide level and is built upon a gradual elevation, affording a commanding view of the harbor from many streets. It has a substantial foundation with solid structures, and a regular network of railroad tracks. Above these marks of industry and commerce rise the homes of which the citizens are so proud. Well they may be. Built of native woods with a view to comfort and appearance and invariably surrounded by spacious grounds embracing the most attractive features of landscape gardening, they cannot fail to awaken admiration. The grass throughout the most of the year is as green as the cloak of Robin Hood, and perfect flowers bless the sod. From April until October the town is redolent with the perfume of roses that grow in its finite variety and with little cultivation. It seems to be their natural home, and in the gardens of Salisbury under the influence of a mild, moist, equable temperature they attain perfection. Strangers have good cause to remember the Salisbury roses, for the citizens are prodigal in their distribution.

By those who study the soil it is stated that a greater variety of vegetation can be grown on the Wicomico River, near town, than in any other place in the world.

The appearance of the residence quarter of Salisbury is creditable and a distinctive feature. It shows fine taste and exhibits a public spirit and indicates that there exist excellent social elements.

To the unusual percentage of intelligent, cultured families may be ascribed the high character of the educational facilities."

Do not fail to ask to see the Julia Marlowe oxford.—R. E. Powell & Co.

Coulbourn has been able, by his painstaking and great interest in the Clothing business, to read "the signs of the times," and has his mammoth store, the largest of the kind south of Wilmington, filled with just such goods as are calculated to satisfy the hardest-to-please, the easiest-to-please person that comes to Salisbury. None ever come to our store and go away dissatisfied with a purchase. Lend us your ear while we give you a few truths that will be helpful during the weeks that are to follow. ### IN THE HOME GARDEN.

Trellising, Pruning and Mulching Raspberries and Blackberries.

One finds scores of country gardens where an attempt has been made in previous years to cultivate the raspberry, the blackberry, or perhaps both, and where discouragement and failure have resulted. A County Gentleman correspondent thinks it is possible to order a few rows of berry bushes in the family garden that they will produce fruit year after year with little attention, given at the right time, and he offers the following hints to that effect:

The old canes or the poorest of them must be cut out each spring. The new wood must be thinned to a proper degree and the tops of all canes cut back. This is but a few moments' work each spring. Now, to save all labor possible let the row of bushes be arranged in small clumps four feet apart in the row and protected by such a trellis as is shown in the sketch. Inch and a half stuff is used for lengthwise and upright supports, while the clumps of bushes are held in compact shape by two pieces of lath at each clump. At a distance of four feet the tops will nearly meet each other, while the stalks at the ground can be worked about with ease.

I would cover the entire ground between the clumps and between the rows if there are two or more of these with coarse meadow hay put on thickly. This keeps down the weeds and many berry sprouts and keeps the ground always porous, moist and cool, conditions that are especially attractive to raspberry and blackberry plants. Once a year this mulch will have to be renewed, as it gradually decays and becomes worked into the soil, adding humus and making the earth lighter, more retentive of moisture and richer in the material that the berry plant requires as food.

Practically, then, the only care the bushes need is an annual pruning and mulching. A little attention now and then to the few straggling weeds and shoots that force a way up through the thick mulch will, of course, be required, but first and last there will be less work in this way of caring for the bushes than by any other that is ordinarily practiced. The gradual dying out of once thrifty bushes that one sees in so many farm gardens is due almost wholly to lack of proper thinning out and pruning and to the choking of the bushes by grass and weeds.

House Grown Muskmelon Plants.

The prime advantage of the house grown plant lies in the increased earliness of the product. Sometimes there is little difference in the time of maturity of the first fruits, but the main crop from set plants is always considerably in advance of that from seed sown in the open. But it costs an appreciable item in labor and equipment to grow the plants, and there is also the risk of losing them by "damping off." This is to some extent a controllable factor. On the other hand, the danger period in the field from insects is sensibly shortened. The field grown plants are later, but are usually more productive than the house grown. This advantage is again offset by the lower price of the product. They are susceptible to insect attack relatively longer than the house grown plants, and they may also "damp off" in the open in cool muggy weather. It costs less to grow them. Probably the conservative course to pursue is to grow an area by both methods if the soil is favorable.—John Craig, New York.

The Trimming of Plum Trees.

The trimming of plum trees is similar to that of the peach. Do not trim a plum tree for two or three years, as the little shoots bear the first fruit, and let them remain until you have had a good crop. Afterward trim the trees systematically, says Mr. Skillman, a successful New Jersey plum grower.

Horticultural Brevities.
 In plum trees I select the yearling, says one grower.

After the head has once been formed our cherries will require little pruning, but for a number of years it may be well to head back the upright, sweet growing cherries.

All varieties of grapes may be propagated by layering, and many, like Norton Cynthiana, Scuppernon and other hard wooded varieties, cannot easily be propagated otherwise.

Golden arbor vitae six to eight feet high is an attractive novelty.

Even seeds that are strong and large should be watered with care after sowing them. Drenching is usually bad for them.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Correspondence.)

For the first time since President Arthur's administration the White House is to have a thorough renovation on artistic lines. So heavy has grown the list of favored guests in the Roosevelt household that it has been found necessary to turn the great east room into a state dining room. The present White House dining service, a strange conglomeration of antique and modern glass, silver and porcelain, with many pieces missing, will be superseded by a new service of Sevres porcelain.

The present state dining room will be used for small dinner parties. Like the east room, it will be redecorated, the present yellow color scheme being obnoxious to the family. The entrance hall is also to be renovated in order that in general tone and character of decoration it may accord with the embellished east room.

In addition to these changes there is need for additions for lighting facilities and also for a staircase to the attic, a very urgent need in case of fire, the servants now being dependent entirely upon the elevator.

Much new furniture of modern style is required in place of the nondescript types now scattered through the portions of the house devoted to social uses.

Building Boom Predicted.

Mr. William H. Given of New York, whose connection with several architectural publications has given him a wide experience in building operations throughout the country, in discussing the outlook at one of the uptown hotels the other night predicted a stupendous expenditure for building construction this season.

"The building work of 1902 set in with the strongest financial showing that has ever been recorded on this continent," said Mr. Given. "Washington is likely to pile up a record breaking total this year, and no surprise need be occasioned if the local aggregate is close to $10,000,000. The impression prevails among the leading architects in New York and in various parts of the Union that the national capital has a magnificent architectural future and that the next decade will record the erection of splendid federal structures here which will make Washington the most strikingly beautiful city in this part of the world, considered purely from an architectural viewpoint.

The Washburns in Congress.
 The visit to Washington recently of former United States Senator William D. Washburn brings to mind the fact that his family is the only one that ever had three brothers in congress at the same time. They were Elihu B. Washburn of Illinois, Cadwallader Colden Washburn of Wisconsin and Israel Washburn of Maine. They were all brothers of the former senator from Minnesota. Another brother, Charles Ames Washburn, was, at the breaking out of the civil war, editor of The Alta Californian of San Francisco. He was sent as a commissioner of the United States to Paraguay and later as minister to that country. He was a distinguished inventor.

The Two P's.

The phrase "as like as two peas" might in the case of the Pulsifer brothers be made to read "as like as two P's."

Both brothers have been employees on the senate side for many years. Pitman has been a committee clerk for twenty years, and Woodbury has twelve years to his credit. They look alike, they walk alike, and they talk and dress alike, so that they are very frequently mixed up. Pitman Pulsifer, who is the clerk of the naval committee, is often compelled to listen to dreary figures about rivers and harbors, while his brother has to hear all about the naval controversies. Both of the men are from Maine, and if one should resign and go home the other could play Box and Cox and fill both clerkships and nobody in the capitol would be any the wiser.

On the Old Testing Ground.

Between the two cities which Elijah Morse selected for the first test of telegraphy there is now in full operation a system of wireless telegraphy, the most recent and possibly the most complete development of the great inventor's method of transmitting messages. This new system is so far in the experimental stage only, and no attempt has been made to convert the two stations, one at Brookland and the other at one of Baltimore's suburbs, into a commercial enterprise. But for several weeks past the two cities have been in instantaneous communication without the aid of wires or any other tangible mode of transmitting words.

Building For Executive Offices.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Cortelyou are both friendly, it is believed, to a recent suggestion for the erection of an office building for the White House in the White House grounds. The proposition is to put up a structure somewhat temporary in character that would cost $25,000 to $50,000 and contain sufficient quarters for President Roosevelt and his entire executive force, thereby doing away with the White House as the official home of the president.

A Parliamentary Contradiction.

When Senator Blackburn wants to tell a man that what he says is not true, he conveys the information in parliamentary fashion.

"It goes without saying that the truth is innocent of any appearance in that statement," remarked Mr. Blackburn, taking issue with an assertion made by Mr. Depew.

The Jarra wood of Australia is hard and as durable as oak. It is well adapted for paneling and carving.

HIEROGLYPHIC STAIRWAY.

One of America's Oldest Monuments Unearthed by Peabody Museum.

The Hieroglyphic stairway at Copan, in Honduras, gets its name from the strange picture writing—"glyphs," the archaeologist calls them—with which the faces of its steps and the several pieces of sculpture which were part of its original ornamentation are inscribed. It is one of the most curious, as well as one of the most interesting and important, monuments of aboriginal America, and research parties from the Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology at Harvard have been ten years in uncovering and studying it under the direction of Mr. George B. Gordon, whose entertaining report summarizing the decade's work has just been published by the museum.

What the inscriptions on the Hieroglyphic stairway mean is not fully known, for many of the word signs of the language of the ancient Mayan people, in which they were traced, are still undeciphered. The structure was the approach by which the summit of the acropolis of Copan—which is the most ancient American city yet discovered—was reached from one side. The mound is pyramidal in shape and appears to have been crowned at one time with a great temple or palace, but the symmetry of two of its faces was swept away at some time by a great landslide that carried down the building at the top in its ruin, and on one of these faces was the stairway.

In the landslide forty or fifty of the upper steps were dislodged and buried under such a mass of debris that it required four entire seasons of hard work by the Peabody museum's expeditions to attain any semblance of order. Altogether twenty-seven steps have been restored to approximate completeness, though large pieces are still missing from some of them. Except for a broad step at the bottom all were inscribed with glyphs, which are believed to have composed a chronological record of some sort, inasmuch as the date signs, which are the best understood picture words of the Mayan language, recur again and again. Mr. Gordon found evidence that the inscription began at the top of the stairway, which seems to have had some eighty-five or ninety steps, and was read from left to right and from step to step downward.

In the middle of the stairs, which are twenty-five feet wide, stood five gigantic statues placed at intervals, and on either side was a heavy balustrade carved with alternate symbols of fishes and birds. On the broad bottom step there was an altar that had the shape of a serpent's head, and the general scheme seems to have been that the stairway should represent the snake's trailing body. Another altar, which stood directly in front of the structure, took the form of a four legged, grotesque animal without a head and with two holes at its sides that seem originally to have been filled by carvings of a double headed dragon, in one of which the monster's open jaws were sort of portrait, presumably of a king, sage or chieftain.

While clearing the Copan acropolis the Peabody museum's investigators brought to light the foundations of buildings still older than the staircase or the temple to which it led, and in some places several distinct layers of ruins, evidently the remains of different building periods, were found.

President McKinley's Simplicity.

Like many great men, President McKinley had on occasion a certain boyishness of manner. Miss Clara Morris relates in The Era an instance of Mr. McKinley's simplicity.

Once I asked, "Major McKinley, has any one ever mentioned your resemblance to Daniel Webster?"

Soldier, statesman, orator that he was, he found no better answer than an averted head, a little push of the hand and a petulant "Oh, go 'long!"

Everybody in the room laughed, so unexpected was that rustic, almost bashful expression.

Mr. Hanna, glancing at his watch, interrupted with:

"Trains, major, trains!"

He did not hear the warning, but a strong arm was flung about his shoulder and a big voice cried, "Boy, that Columbus train won't wait, you know!"

Instantly responding to the affectionate reminder, Mr. McKinley was buttoning his overcoat and diving into his gloves. He dropped his chaffing and returned in an instant to the business that demanded his attention—a small thing, if you like, but characteristic.

Hitchcock and the Senate.

Secretary Hitchcock is not popular in the senate, one cause of the existing feeling between the grave and reverend senators and the presiding genius of the interior department being found in a remark which Mr. Hitchcock is alleged to have made some time ago. "The United States senate!" he said sneeringly. "Why, there are not a dozen honest men in it." Senators have heard of this, and they do not like it. They claim there are more than a dozen honest men in their ranks and that Mr. Hitchcock has not a personal acquaintance with more than six or seven senators.—Argonaut.

Coeducation.

The girl students in a class in sociology at Chicago university have voted that they believe in coeducation because it makes the young men neater in dress and more gentlemanly in behavior. The young men have voted their dislike for coeducation for the same reason. Thus we have exhibited the first state of mind of the reformed toward the reformer. It is not until the reformed has grown used to the new life that he appreciates its advantages. Let the girls continue their altruistic work. In time they will get their reward.

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES

Explosion of Naphtha Cars Brought Death to Onlookers.

24 ARE DEAD AND 200 INJURED

While Crowds of People Were Watching a Fire, Car Exploded, and Those Nearest Were Killed—Sewers Filled With Burning Oil.

Pittsburg, May 13.—The Sheridan yards of the Pan Handle railroad was the scene last evening of one of the most disastrous explosions and fires known in this section for many years. Twenty-four lives were lost and about two hundred persons were so badly burned that, according to the judgment of physicians in attendance, 75 per cent. of them will die from the effects of their injuries.

The cause of the catastrophe was the explosion of a train of naphtha cars which were being switched at the yard, and in the switching the rear car telescoped a car forward. The leaking naphtha ignited from a switch light, causing an explosion which threw the flames fifty feet high. Much of the escaping naphtha ran through Cords Run to Esplanon, a distance of one and one-half miles, and caused another explosion, blowing to atoms the Seymour hotel and the Collins house, on River road, and badly wrecking a frame building nearby, in which were congregated two hundred or more sports from Pittsburg and vicinity, betting on the races, base ball, etc. Few of the occupants of this building escaped injury, many being badly hurt. Mrs. Seymour and her daughter, of the Sheridan hotel, were seriously, and it is feared, fatally injured.

The first car of naphtha exploded about 4.40 o'clock and the spectacle soon attracted a large crowd on streets lining the hills on both sides of and parallel to the railroad. The second car exploded about 5 o'clock, but it was 6.15 o'clock when three more cars of the deadly stuff went up with a roar that could be heard for miles, that the work of destruction really began.

A torrent of flame belched forth on each side of the track, sweeping back the terrified spectators like a charge of artillery, and sending a shower of flame over their heads, resembling Mont Pelée on a small scale. The scene that followed beggars description. The successive explosions had heated the air to such an extent that before the third explosion many were rendered unconscious by the extreme heat and the gaseous fumes and were being carried away when the torrent of flame swept over the excited crowd.

There was an awful hush for a moment, then followed a scene of frenzy. Men and women, their clothing ablaze, their faces scorched and blistered, and their hair burned off their heads, ran wildly shrieking, hither and thither, only intent on escape from that awful furnace of fire. Some gave vent to screams to kill them and put them out of their misery, and little children, with their curly locks and light summer clothing small pillars of fire, cried piteously as they were swept along by the tide of burning humanity.

CHAMPION CYCLIST KILLED

Archie McEachern Met With Fatal Accident at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 14.—Archie McEachern, the well-known champion bicycle rider, of Toronto, Canada, while being paced by a motor tandem yesterday afternoon at the Coliseum track, met with an accident which resulted in his death 20 minutes later. The accident was the result of the breaking of the chain on the motor cycle. Riding the tandem were Alf Boake and Robert J. Thompson, who have raced with McEachern for ten years past.

The effort yesterday afternoon was to establish a new mile record. Several miles had been covered when the chain broke, and in the sudden slowing up of the damaged tandem McEachern collided with it and shot high in the air like a rocket. His head struck against a projecting board, which cut a gash in his neck, from which blood spouted in a stream. The jugular vein had been torn open. He expired shortly after his removal to a hospital. Boake and Thompson were uninjured.

P. &amp; R. Receivers Discharged.

Philadelphia, May 15.—One of the most noted litigations in the history of local courts was ended yesterday, when Judge Dallas, in the United States circuit court, handed down an opinion confirming the report of Geo. L. Crawford, master in the suit between Thomas C. Platt and the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, discharging the receivers, Joseph S. Harris and John Lowber Welsh.

Prize For Process of Drying Potatoes. Berlin, May 15.—Several agricultural societies co-operating with the Prussian ministry of agriculture, have offered a prize of 30,000 marks for a process of drying potatoes so that they can be successfully stored for years at a saving in cost of storage, and transported in greatly reduced bulk. The cost of the drying process, it is stipulated, must not exceed five cents per hundred weight of potatoes.

New Pension Commissioner in Charge. Washington, May 14.—Eugene F. Ware, of Kansas, yesterday took the oath of office as commissioner of pensions, and this morning assumed active charge of his new duties. Mr. Ware has determined, for the present at least, to make no announcement of the policy of his administration of the office. Mr. Evans will not leave for his post as consul general to London for several weeks.

ST. PIERRE DESTROYED

er ashes or piles of volcanic stones, were seen on every hand. The streets could hardly be traced. Here and there amid the ruins were heaps of corpses, almost all the faces being downward. In one corner 22 bodies of men, women and children were mingled in one awful mass, arms and legs protruding as the hapless beings fell to the last struggles of death's agony.

Through the middle of the old place Bertin ran a tiny stream, the remains of the River Gayave. Great trees, with roots upward, and scorched by fire, were strewn in every direction. Huge blocks and still hot stones were scattered about. From under one large stone the arm of a white woman protruded. Most notable was the utter silence and the awful, overpowering stench from the thousands of dead.

Careful inspection showed that the fiery stream which so completely destroyed St. Pierre must have been composed of poisonous gases, which instantly suffocated every one who inhaled them, and of other gases burning furiously, for nearly all the victims had their hands covering their mouths or were in some other attitude, showing that they had sought relief from suffocation. All the bodies were carbonized or roasted.

The whole north end of the island was covered with a silver gray coating of ashes resembling dirty snow. Furious blasts of fire, ashes and mud swept over the steamer, but finally St. Pierre was reached.

The authorities are doing everything possible to relieve the suffering. The means at their hands are terribly inadequate. Unless prompt measures are taken for the disposal of the thousands of dead bodies at St. Pierre a fearful plague is almost certain to develop there.

FAMINE FACES REFUGEES

Provisions Are Needed Immediately For 100,000 People.

Fort De France, Island of Martinique, May 14.—Words fail to describe the present situation at St. Pierre. A small detachment of French troops is making efforts to enter the dead, although the government seems to be strikingly unconcerned as to what is done in this direction. The looting of the dead has begun already. While coming to Fort De France the United States tug Potomac picked up a boat containing five colored and one white man, whose pockets were filled with coin and jewelry, the latter evidently stripped from the fingers of the dead. Lieutenant B. B. McCormick, the commander of the Potomac, arrested these men and turned them over to the commander of the French cruiser Suchet for punishment. The Potomac brought a ton of supplies to Martinique, consisting in part of codfish and flour.

This city is already filled with thousands of refugees from the north end of the island, and more are constantly coming in. The terror has now taken a new form. There is imminent danger of starvation before help can get here. Provisions are needed immediately for 100,000 people. A shipload of lime is also needed at St. Pierre for sanitary purposes. The stench there from the dead bodies is overpowering.

LA SOUFRIERE VIOLENT

Northern Part of St. Vincent a Mass of Sweeping Flame.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, May 15.—The St. Lucia signal station here reports having seen a conflagration on Tuesday night in the direction of Port De France, Martinique.

La Soufriere volcano, Island of St. Vincent, is still in destructive eruption. A terrific canonade can be heard a hundred miles away. The reports are followed by columns of smoke rising miles in the air. Immense balls of colored fire also issue from the crater.

Lighting is playing fiercely in the upper sky. The whole northern part of the island is one mass of sweeping flame. It is impossible to reach the burning district by land or sea. There are no means of estimating the destruction of life and property. Showers of ashes and pebbles are continually falling on Kingston, capital of St. Vincent.

It has just been officially reported that there were 1,600 dead up to Tuesday at St. Vincent.

At midday the craters ejected enormous columns of steam and vapor, rising majestically eight miles high, and expanding into wonderful shapes, resembling enormous cauliflower, gigantic wheels and beautiful flower forms, all streaked up and down and crosswise with vivid flashes of lightning, aweing the beholder and impressing the mind with fear. The mountain labored to rid itself of a mass of molten lava, which flowed over, in six streams, down the side of the volcano, and the greater noises following united in one continuous roar all evening.

GOVERNOR PREVENTED EXODUS

Used Armed Soldiers to Prevent People Leaving St. Pierre.

Fort De France, Martinique, May 15.—Indignation against Governor Moutet grows as the panic of the survivors subsides. It has been learned from Dr. Artier, who miraculously escaped the disaster at St. Pierre, that when the governor of Martinique, M. L. Moutet, and the insular officials had declared that all danger from an eruption of Mont Pelée was past, a cordon of armed soldiers and policemen was placed around the town to prevent the people from leaving. Dr. Artier, however, went to the suburb of Morne Rouge. He was riding back to St. Pierre when the explosion occurred. He turned and fled precipitately across the mountains to Fort De France.

With the exception of the prisoner who was confined in a dungeon at the time of the explosion, Dr. Artier is really the sole survivor of St. Pierre.

NATIONAL APPEAL FOR AID

The President Asks For Contributions to Aid Volcano Sufferers.

Washington, May 14.—The following notice was issued from the White House yesterday afternoon:

"The president has appointed a committee to receive funds for the relief of the sufferers from the recent catastrophe in Martinique and St. Vincent. The gentlemen appointed from each city are asked to collect and receive funds from their localities and neighborhoods as expeditiously as possible and forward them to Hon. Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the New York committee, which committee will act as a central distributing point for the country. The president directs all the postmasters throughout the country and requests the presidents of the national banks to act as agents for the collection of contributions and to forward the same at once to Mr. Bliss at New York. The postmasters are also directed to report to the postmaster general, within ten days, any funds collected on this account.

"The president appeals to the public to contribute generously for the relief of those upon whom this appalling calamity has fallen, and asks that the contributions be sent in as speedily as possible. The gentlemen designated on the several committees are requested to act at once."

The following is the Philadelphia committee: Charles Emory Smith, Provost C. C. Harrison, Joseph G. Darlington, Clement A. Griscom and John H. Converse.

RELIEF FOR VOLCANO SUFFERERS

Dixie Sailed With 900,000 Rations and Medical Supplies.

New York, May 15.—With food enough on board to feed the entire island for a week, the cruiser Dixie sailed for Martinique. She will arrive there on Monday. Never even during war time did the army subsistence department make such a record in collecting a shipload of food supplies. It was done in 24 hours' time. Colonel D. L. Brainerd bringing from Philadelphia three carloads of supplies needed to make up the shipment and purchasing the rest here.

The Dixie's cargo comprised 900,000 rations. It contains: Two hundred thousand pounds of bread, 85,000 pounds of flour, 900,000 pounds of rice, 200,000 pounds of codfish, 200 cases of chicken and beef soups, 100 cases of evaporated cream, 100 cases of condensed milk, 5,000 pairs of trousers, 6,000 pairs of shoes, 20,000 pairs of socks, 5,000 pairs of khaki trousers, 4,000 pairs of barrack shoes, 2,000 blouses, 1,000 tents, 2,000 pairs of balbriggan drawers, 4,000 balbriggan shirts and 500 summer coats.

In addition there are large quantities of coffee, tea, sugar, vinegar, pepper and in the way of clothing a large amount of calico undergarments and the like. There is $5,000 worth of medicine in the cargo, and three army surgeons.

"Save the Child!"

That is the heartfelt cry of many a mother who sees her beloved child wasting and fading day by day. Sometimes it's too late for medical aid to help the child. It is so weak, so lacking in strength that there is no chance of recovery.

One of the results of the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription preceding maternity is a strong, healthy child. Thousands of mothers testify to this. Frequently mothers write, "I was never able to raise a child before using 'Favorite Prescription' or 'All my other children are sickly except this one, and I took your 'Favorite Prescription' this time."

All the child's strength comes from the mother. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription." It contains neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicine in any condition of the female system.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for women's ills.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Correspondence confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I am so thankful for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me," writes Mrs. John T. Smith, of Blooms, British Columbia (Box 50). "It helped me through the long months of pregnancy and I have a big, strong baby girl, the most healthy of all my three, and it cured me of a disease which was taking away all my strength."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 21 one-cent stamps for paper covered. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MINERS FAVOR A STRIKE

But Will Abide by Any Suggestion
President Mitchell Makes.

ALL HOPE OF CONCESSIONS GONE

Leader of Mine Workers Admits He Has Some Advice to Give the Delegates at Proper Time—Quiet Reigns Everywhere in the Region.

Hazleton, Pa., May 15.—The convention of the anthracite mine workers, called at the instance of the executive boards of the three districts comprising the Pennsylvania hard coal fields, held two sessions yesterday, and without taking any action on the question of inaugurating a permanent strike, adjourned until this morning. The convention is meeting behind closed doors, and although nothing officially was given out, it is known that the all-important question was not reached, the two sessions being devoted entirely to the organization of the meeting and the report of the committee on credentials. The day brought forth no definite information bearing on the probable action of the convention.

President Mitchell said that all hope of any concessions from the operators was gone. He has had no communication, he said, with the mine owners, Senator Hanna or any other members of the National Civic Federation. Mr. Mitchell admitted that he had some advice to give to the delegates at the proper time, but what it is he will not say. In an interview he said that there was no doubt that the sentiment of the men is in favor of a strike, but he refused to make any reply when asked if he would give advice that would come in conflict with their sentiments. It is admitted that what President Mitchell suggests will be done, notwithstanding the fact that a majority of the delegates are in favor of a strike if the mine owners do not make any concessions. Therefore, it looks very much as though the whole matter rests on the words of the national president. The advice that he will give to the miners is known to be probably only four other persons—the three district presidents and National Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson. There is probably a score of persons here representing railroads, stock-brokers and others who are making an effort to get first information.

The convention was held in the opera house, and approximately 700 delegates were present when President Thomas Duffy, of this district, called the meeting to order. President Mitchell was elected chairman. In taking the chair, Mr. Mitchell said that a great weight of responsibility rests on the delegates, and that they should act wisely in whatever they did. He said that the question before them is probably the most important in the history of labor conventions.

Quiet reigns everywhere in the region and not a pound of coal was mined anywhere. A great crowd of mine workers came into town from the surrounding villages and coal patches. They crowded around the convention hall waiting for information from the inside.

FALLING ELEVATOR KILLS TWO

Steel Cable Parted and Heavy Load Fell On Workmen.

Philadelphia, May 15.—Two men were killed and three others were seriously injured last night at the Baldwin Locomotive Works by the fall of an elevator containing an engine tender weighing 5,400 pounds. The dead are Charles Coleman, of Boston, and an unknown workman. The injured are John Doerr, arm severed at the shoulder and otherwise injured; Michael Steilman, skull fractured; James O'Neill, badly bruised about the body.

All of the men excepting Steilman were employees of the Boston Elevator Company, of Boston, and were engaged in putting in a new hydraulic lift. They were working at the bottom of the shaft, when employees of the Baldwin Locomotive Works were loading a heavy tender upon the elevator at the fourth floor. The steel cable supporting the car parted and the lift with its heavy load plunged down upon the workmen. Coleman was killed instantly and the unknown man died at the hospital.

Fugitive Bank Teller Arrested.

Philadelphia, May 14.—Harry G. Bell, who until March 29 last was receiving teller of the Riverside National Bank of New York, was arrested here yesterday on a fugitive warrant, charging him with the larceny of bank funds to the extent of $40,000. The original warrant charged Bell with embezzling $23,000, but a further examination of the books of the institution showed a deficit of $40,000. Bell was captured at one of the entrances to Fairmount Park by Detectives McClay and Kelly, of New York, and Tate, of this city. He was arraigned before a magistrate and committed to await requisition papers from New York.

Record Price For Cattle.

Chicago, May 15.—Cattle prices were higher at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago yesterday than for almost 20 years. The top price for the day, $7.60, was 10 cents in advance of the high mark last week. All the offerings were snapped up. The price of hogs and sheep also made record marks for the year.

Lawyer Fell Dead In Court.

Lock Haven, Pa., May 15.—During the examination of a witness in a trial in the Clinton county court yesterday, Henry T. Harvey, a leading member of the county bar, suddenly fell to the floor and expired in a few minutes. Death resulted from heart disease. Court adjourned immediately.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Boas a Rage: Contrasts in Dress: Answers.

The season has advanced sufficiently, for the feminine mind to have fixed itself on some special fancy: this year, boas have been the selection and in vast variety as to color, shape and material, they are subjects of study. Extreme fluffiness about the neck, is the leading characteristic and while some reach a marvellous degree in this direction, others spread themselves down quite a distance at the back, so as almost to take the place of now discarded capes. Apart from fluffiness, the great desideratum is length. Fashionists proper look disdainfully on front ends which do not end with the skirt, but there comes a large and not to be despised class, who content themselves with lesser elongations.

NUMEROUS ENDS

of ribbon, floating in the air, often herald the approach of a fair one, but as this was a "last season's" peculiarity, it is not so highly esteemed by extremists, as plaited ends of chiffon or tulle caught at intervals by curious fancies in the same or kindred fabrics, or again a wide finish in silk edged by a plaiting, double or otherwise, ranks high, but must complete a boa in the same material. Great prestige attaches to boas made exclusively in crinkled silk leaves that flutter with every breath. The majority, however, are made in better known fabrics, such as thin silk, chiffon, tulle, net or lace and frequently all or most of these favorites are made up in combination.

THE MANAGEMENT

even on a still day, of these accessories, when worn with a skirt much better fitted to an always still dummy in a shop window, than actual use in wearing, renders many a fashionable woman quite as useless as to locomotion, as an Oriental lady, who does not aspire to free use of her limbs. Feats of agility and assistance in getting about, must be performed by an escort, the more so, when manipulation of a fairy like parasol and wide hat made to catch the breeze, are added difficulties. A fashionable woman on a windy day, who endeavors to walk, is a curious object; The sex would be lost, but for or the independent walking skirt, either one transforming her so completely and rendering her so independent of weather or escort that grumbling men may feel quite as uncomfortable regarding the new women's career, as in former days when their lamentations for dependence on them had the greatest reason. Hats to match short-skirted outfits, are likewise markedly on the helpful order. In stitched cloth, with but slight pretense of finish, they lure on to out door feats of many kinds and might presumably tempt even Mary Walker to change her faith and enter the list of shirt waist girls. But who shall say aught against the lovely of the day. Creations they are and sweet enough to melt the most cynical heart. A poppy adorned example recently shown in Lord & Taylor's window set a seal on the prestige of this floral adornment and beside it, a brilliant red albatross cloth dress, the skirt laid in plaits to a lace yoke and with lace waist overlaid by a jacket in material was pretty enough to suit the most critical masculine and wring confession that without prettily dressed women, the world would be too dreary even for him.

"Lucile." Black lace mitte are to be very fashionable, doubtless because harmonizing with the present run on lace. Hosiery shows the favorite idea to an unusual extent and even gentlemen's hose are now sometimes lace woven.

Letter to R. P. Graham.

Dear Sir: What would be the result of selling poor paint with this guarantee?

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

That means pay damages, don't it?

Here's another guarantee:

"If your state chemist find this paint adulterated, we will pay his bill, and send you $100."

We stand by both of these guarantees; as we are the makers, we know all about it.

Yours truly,

The paper mill across the Susquehanna River, opposite Conowingo, has been dismantled, and the greater part of the machinery shipped to a mill at Highlandtown, Baltimore county. The cost of getting supplies and removing their products is said to be the reason for the discontinuance of the business.

PHILIPPINE CRUELITIES.

It is very hard for a true American not to stand by the American army and its commanders but the reports from the Philippines are such that in this twentieth century the blush of shame must come to every true patriot when he reads of the inhuman and barbarous way in which the Philippine war is being conducted. Republican and Democratic statesmen alike have denounced in the halls of Congress the cruelties being practiced, by the officers in charge, as a disgrace and blot upon the American army.

It has been put forward as an excuse that the Generals in the Philippines are acting under an order similar to the one issued in 1863 when Abraham Lincoln was President and Edwin M. Stanton was Secretary of War, but it must be remembered that there can be no comparison between the war now being waged and the terrible Civil war forty years ago. Our country was then in the midst of a mighty struggle to save the nation itself. Brother fought against brother, father against son and man had almost lost reason, moreover Mr. Stanton was a man who stopped at nothing to accomplish his purpose. Then it was a divided nation fighting among themselves, now it is the mightiest nation of the world fighting the armies of a few millions of ignorant subjects. There is no parallel in the two cases and the American people in this enlightened age will not tolerate such wantonness and barbarism.

The Washington Post in an editorial recently referring to the situation in the Philippines says. "In dealing with the Philippines, we deal with twelve millions of human beings of a valiant and stubborn race. We have begun by calling them 'niggers,' and enjoying ourselves by 'sniping' them, burning their homes, and killing their children. Why not stop killing, burning, shell ing and making a howling wilderness long enough to realize that they are human beings, and if our destinies are to be confluent, worthy of study."

CRISFIELD TIMES FOR MILES.

The time is fast approaching when a congressional convention will be held to nominate a candidate for Congress from the First Congressional district. All the papers of the Eastern Shore in particular are devoting much editorial space to this absorbing subject, and each county is putting forward a favorite son for the nomination. The principal argument thus far advanced by the friends of the various aspirants is that he has a "barrel." Somerset county comes into the field with a candidate who can boast of no such qualification. While Hon. Joshua W. Miles has not yet consented to be a candidate for the nomination his friends from all over the shore are pushing him to the front, and if nominated there is no doubt of his receiving the support of every Democratic voter in the district.—Crisfield Times.

Mr. Miles made a splendid record while in Congress and there is no abler man in this district. If he should be the Democratic nominee he would make a most vigorous fight from the start and we believe would be elected by a good majority. Editors.

ROUGH ON MUDD.

Congressman Mudd of course favors expansion. He would favor contraction, or any other old thing his party advocates for the time being. Mudd's independence of thought is limited by the desires of the dispensers of petty patronage. A $600 office is of more importance in his eyes than the cruelty and wrong involved in torturing human beings.—Ellicott City Democrat.

A hotly contested election in Easton between elements for and against town ownership of the water-works resulted in victory for town ownership.

"Men, Maids and Matchmakers".

On Thursday evening a most attractive and original comedy, in three acts, "Men, Maids and Matchmakers" was presented at Ulman's Opera House by a company of amateurs from Seaford for the benefit of the Episcopal Church of that town. The play, a very bright and amusing little comedy, which held the interest of the audience throughout, was remarkably well rendered, and the pretty stage setting, brilliant dialogue and charming girls in their fetching costumes made a most attractive combination. The lovers' quarrels of Lillian (Miss Ethel Rose) and Guy (Richard (Mr. Howard Riggin) and their clever acting won the sympathy and applause of the audience who were well pleased with the satisfactory ending of their numerous misunderstandings. Dr. Imhoff's persistent courtship provoked much laughter, and the acting of all the members of the cast in fact won well merited applause. Not the least of the attractions was the music which was rendered by the Seaford Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Chas. Van Lear. Owing to the fact of its not being generally known, the performance did not receive the patronage it deserved and the audience was regrettably small.

Robbery And Theft.

There has been a small epidemic of robbery and theft in Salisbury during the last week. Last Saturday night a bold entrance was made into the home of Mr. Wm. B. Tilghman, on Camden Avenue and Mr. Tilghman's gold watch and chain and a coat were taken away. Entrance was made through a window, the shutter being first forced open. After ransacking the house the robber left by way of a first floor door.

Mr. Tilghman and all the family were totally oblivious of the robbery, until Sunday morning when discovering the open door their suspicions were aroused. An examination revealed the facts already stated. Policeman Elliott was notified and at once began working up the case. As yet he has made no arrests.

Sunday a number of petty thefts were perpetrated in Salisbury. A quarter of spring lamb and other provisions were taken from the refrigerator at Dr. S. A. Graham's home. The homes of Mr. T. E. Holloway and Mrs. McBrierty were entered and food stolen. It is believed that tramps, who are at present numerous hereabouts, are guilty of these offenses.

In Contempt of Court.

Judges Page, Holland and Lloyd made a striking example of a witness who was disposed to be both humorous and profane while on the stand last week. The witness was asked: "Could you see those boats at a distance of 100 yards?"

He answered: "Certainly I could; my God, what do you suppose my eyes are for?"

The man had no sooner spoken than Judge Page said: "Mr. Clerk, fine that man one dollar."

In a cringing tone the man replied: "Judge, I didn't say anything but my God."

Judges Holland and Lloyd then said: "Mr. Clerk, fine that man another dollar."

Previous to this the witness had been rather funny in answering questions from attorneys, but this put an end to the fun.

One of his friends stood for him, and he was released from custody.—Cambridge Democrat and News.

Fire-Engine Trial.

The Sissy Fire engine recently returned from the repair shops in New York city, was given a trial last Monday night. The engine was stationed at the Pivot bridge and hose stretched up Main Street to the Court House—a distance of 1500 feet. When the word was given the engineer, Mr. W. S. Liss, representing the shops where the repairs were made, touched the match to the kindling and in a very short space of time its gauge registered one hundred pounds of steam.

A stream of water was thrown through a 1 1/2 inch nozzle higher than the weather vane on the Court House, a height of one hundred feet.

The city fathers and chief of the fire department Sirman and his aids were satisfied with the trial.

The engine is believed to be the best one ever owned here.

Reproduction of the Passion Play.

Oxeham's famous reproduction of the Oberammergau Passion Play, in motion pictures, together with beautiful stereopticon views was witnessed by an immense crowd at Holy Family Church School Hall last night. The impressive scenes representing Christ's sufferings and death deeply affected those who were fortunate enough to be present on this occasion. The views were supplemented with illustrated songs, including "The Palms" and "The Holy City," were well rendered and greatly appreciated. At Ulman's Opera House Friday, May 23rd. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Lawn Party for Piano.

The classes of the Salisbury High School will hold a lawn party on the school grounds, Wednesday evening May 21st, to raise funds for the purchase of a piano for the school. This is a very worthy cause, and it is hoped that the affair will be liberally patronized. Ice cream and water ices in all flavors, cake, fancy candies, etc. will be on sale in abundance. The grounds will be electrically illuminated.

The Philadelphia Record was sold last Thursday for the handsome sum of $2,300,000.00. Mr. Wm. M. Stenger, of Philadelphia, was the purchaser. The bidding was brisk, newspaper men and capitalists from other cities being after the paper. Mr. Wesley M. Oler of Baltimore bid as high as $2,295,000. These figures go to show the market value of a great city daily.

Federalsburg is to have a new railroad depot. Trappe, on the Delaware and Chesapeake, is also to have one.

The Alumni Association of Washington College has decided to have a banquet and reunion in Chestertown this year during commencement week. A committee has been appointed and are making all necessary arrangements to hold the banquet and reunion on the evening of Tuesday, June 17th. A large per cent. of the members of the association will be present and the committee expect to make this one of the most enjoyable occasions in the history of the Alumni Association.

Western Maryland College, Westminster, Md., has just issued the announcements of its 32nd Commencement, beginning June 6th and closing with Commencement Day on Wednesday, June 11th. The class roll shows a list of 16 young men and 14 young women to be graduated. It is the most distinctively Maryland class the College has ever graduated, every county in the State being represented except four. In honor of this unusual fact, Governor Smith will preside and deliver the diplomas on Commencement Day. Among the graduates we note from this county Mr. Wade H. Insley of Bivalve and Mr. E. E. Parsons of Pittsville.

Mr. W. J. Staton on behalf of a number of Salisbury gentlemen purchased last week at Wiscasset, Me. the large three masted schooner, "R. T. Rundlett". The schooner at the price paid, ten thousand dollars, is considered very cheap as she was built but ten years ago at a cost double the price paid. It is most likely the boat will be kept busy now plying between Salisbury and Florida for Messrs. Wm. B. Tilghman & Co. in their shingle trade. The following compose the new company, Messrs. N. J. Tilghman and Sons J. W. Fountain, captain, John H. White, Wm. B. Tilghman, Jas. A. Turner, Wm. J. Downing, W. J. Staton, V. Perry and W. S. Gordy, Jr.

The real estate of the late Peter Duncan was sold at the Court House door in Salisbury last Saturday. The sales aggregated $9,815.00 which is considered a good price for the property.

A 400 acre farm in Dennis' district, on which stood a large quantity of first growth pine and a quantity of oak, gum, and cypress, sold for $9000.00. The purchasers were F. H. Purnell and Thos. H. Tilghman of Worcester county. They will begin working the timber very soon. Robt. F. Coulbourn bought a farm of 142 acres in Nutter's district for $815. D. J. Davis bought a house and lot at Ironshire for $200. Messrs. Jas. E. Ellegood and W. H. H. Coulbourn are the executors of the estate.

Good Advice.

We have received a fine line of thin glass tumblers, plain and elevated.—R. E. Powell & Co.

Cecil's Duty.

Cecil's duty appears to be clear. There should be "no north nor south" on the Eastern Shore. The grand old Choptank has a better purpose than to be a dividing line between a people whose interests are in common. Cecil is free of the Congressional fever and will use its influence to neutralize existing conditions and to restore the healthful political condition that existed in the good old days when it was enough to know that a man was an Eastern Shoreman, and no one cared a whistle whether he breathed the balmy air which sweetened the berries that grew below the Choptank, or if he basked in the sunshine that tints with beauty unsurpassed the peach blooms to the north of that noble river.—North East Star.

There's Always Something Doing At Thoroughgood's.

Every Day Thoroughgood Has ....Calls For...

Black children's hats, ten cent boy's suspenders, white man's pants, stiff men's shirts, cheap men's hats, separable men's collar buttons, turndown men's collars, cutaway men's suits, good men's suspenders, kid men's gloves, red men's handkerchiefs, cheap men's suits, striped men's spring suits, white men's neckwear, green boy's suits, blue men's serge suits, black men's neckties. Every dollar's worth of goods that goes out of Thoroughgood's is fully covered by insurance. There is no extra premium to pay. You are fully insured against getting anything you don't want, even if you did say you wanted it. You are fully insured against a possible chance of getting something that is not good. You are fully insured against all these things, for you are urged in case of any dissatisfaction from any cause, to let Thoroughgood know it and he'll buy it back at full price and pay the money for it. With this understanding Thoroughgood offers you one thousand suits of clothes for men, boys and children. Three or four thousand hats—fur soft hats, black stiff hats, men's and boys' straw hats. Several thousand pairs of suspenders, four horse cart loads of underwear, three wagon loads of shirts called the Emery and Manhattan. The man who thinks he cannot get what he wants to wear at Lacy Thoroughgood's is mistaken. The long man, the slim, the stout, the short man can all be fitted at Thoroughgood's. We're honest in our dealings. Maybe the honesty is for policy sake. Even so you profit by it. Thoroughgood's new spring stock and low prices should pack the store. Thoroughgood hopes it will be packed. If it don't it's your fault, and you'll be as sorry as Thoroughgood will. Remember Thoroughgood advertises what he's got, and he's got what he advertises. I hope you'll get what you want from what I've got. Oh my, what a picknick!

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE REPLIES.

Not Anxious To Continue Controversy
But Believes Sentiment of the Town Is With Them.

The Anti Saloon League is not extremely anxious to protract the controversy over the position recently taken by the County Commissioners on the granting of liquor licenses. The League feels, and in its contention it believes that it has the hearty sympathy of seven-eighths of the men and women of Salisbury, that there has been a dangerous travesty upon law and order. For good or insufficient reasons as they may seem to different persons, there is little hope for the administration of the liquor laws of Salisbury. Certainly Mr. Fitch is at liberty to think, act and write as he pleases and we do not call him a Pharisee for so doing. Furthermore it would not be an astounding or incredible proposition if we should affirm that some wisdom might remain on this planet after his demise. But we hope to look upon his cheerful countenance awhile longer.

If Mr. Fitch wishes to be a defender of the Commissioners we have no objection. If he acts as apologist for Mr. Ulman he is at liberty to do so. But how he can show that he is not an apologist we are at a loss to see. We are relieved somewhat to read that there was no conference between Mr. Fitch and the Commissioners or Mr. Ulman. But the position of apologist is very well defined, and herein if no where else. Can any one be found who will affirm that the Ulmans did not in several instances and in several ways violate the liquor laws? Will they affirm that they did not break the law? Do not all the liquor sellers and all others who heard the testimony know as well as testimony can't make out a fact that the law was violated?

Does not one who attempts to exonerate the Commissioners who are the sole arbiters of the whole question of the law in this case show himself not only a defender and apologist for the Commissioners but as well for the conduct of Messrs. Ulman whose offense against the law was the very basis of their decision? Does Mr. Fitch seriously hold that the Ulmans were unwitting violators of the liquor law for Parsons District? Are the Commissioners and the citizens of Salisbury prepared to swallow the statement of Mr. Ulman that he did not know that he was violating the local option law of Parsons District? Mr. Ulman has been engaged in the liquor business in Salisbury for twenty-five years. If there's any matter upon which he is specially informed it is the laws which regulate his business. A little more than two years ago the law for Parsons District was passed. He knew that such a law was passed. He was not taken unawares on the day before the election. He received his order. The wagon was loaded with liquor and driven to the depot and by his own hands the bottles were distributed upon the street and the money received.

Mr. Fitch, do you say that this was done unwittingly? If you do say so, do you not become his apologist? But conceding his ignorance it was a gross and wilful ignorance that rendered him unfit in the eye of the law to sell liquor—for the act itself, whether the result of wilful violation or wilful ignorance of the law caused the forfeiture of his license under the plain provisions of the law.

He affects to believe that Mr. Wailes or the League meant "an imputation on the official and individual integrity" of the Commissioners. We do not know of any one that has attacked their "individual integrity", but their decision being the exercise of an official function, is amenable to criticism, both for the correctness of the application of the law to the facts, and its effect as to the moral soundness or wholeness thereof. It can not be successfully denied that the effect of it is an encouragement to the liquor traffic and a corresponding discouragement to the temperance cause.

Mr. Fitch comes toward the close of his article in the News by administering a little warning and advice. Both are in order sometimes. But his words call for some comment. He speaks of the "aggressive, offensive, pharisaical attitude sometimes assumed by over-zealous advocates" and as he is addressing his "friends" on the other side he characterizes their attitude as "aggressive, offensive, and pharisaical." It might be well for him to remember that when he makes this sweeping implied, if not direct, charge, he is thrusting at many of the best men and women this fair city can produce. Among these are included some of the ablest lawyers, most skillful journalists, most intelligent physicians, most substantial and cultured merchants, most venturesome capitalists. Among these are some of the most refined and level headed matrons. Among these are mothers with bleeding hearts—yes, even men who look for emancipation by extermination of the saloon.

The people do not like the aggressive ness of the Anti-Saloon League? You do not read correctly, you do not hear distinctly, the mothers and even some of the toppers think we are moving at a snail's pace. What is the aggressiveness of the temperance people compared with that of the saloon men? Offensive? We are prepared to affirm that if any work in opposition to the Saloon is ever allowable, the recent work of the Anti-Saloon League, has had no features that ought to offend anyone. There was nothing done in secret and everything was done according to law and under the law. There is no mistaking the name or purpose of our organization. We did not ask the Commissioners to refuse license to anyone who had observed the law. The liquor men themselves will subscribe to this.

"Pharisaical—over zealous." You mean by pharisaical that the work was done and is being done for show. That is a marvelous assumption and we say most "respectfully and emphatically" that you have no ground for making or implying such a charge. If you want to say that we are not pursuing the best means for the accomplishment of our purpose we should accept that as a matter of opinion. But to call us Pharisees—this is the most unkindest out of all.

Shall we tell you that we see our brothers and fathers dying from drink? Shall we remind you that the saloons of this city are working irreparable ruin? Shall we say that the one hundred and twenty three thousand dollars going through the saloons of this city are worse than wasted? Shall we remind you that from the Supreme Court down the stigma of condemnation has been put upon the liquor business?—Yet we are Pharisees and over-zealous because we seek to destroy or abate this evil. It is not new advice you give. It is not a new song you have sung. We have heard it many times before—But we hardly thought you would sing it on one of these May mornings. Please never pull out that stop again. ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

Resolutions of the Quarterly Conference of Mardela Circuit Methodist Protestant Church.

Whereas, God in His providence, has been pleased during this conference year, to take from our Quarterly Conference, Brothers Thomas B. Taylor and William J. Jackson, two of our oldest and most honored members. In order to express our personal bereavement, and great appreciation of their estimable character and work, therefore be it resolved 1st, That we bow reverently and submissively to the will of God who has called them from their labors upon earth to their reward beyond this world.

2nd, That we thank our heavenly Father for their many years of service and usefulness in the various offices of the church, where they served with efficiency, and pray that their influence may still live in the hearts of those who knew them.

3rd, That we extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved families and friends in their affliction, and commend them to our God who alone can give comfort in such times of sore affliction.

4th, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved families and to the county papers and Methodist Protestant for publication.

Fruit.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday, May 13th.

In parts of Allegany County the fruit is reported to be falling as fast as it is done blooming, but the outlook is favorable elsewhere, and good sets are the rule. Caterpillars have attacked trees in parts of Harford, Talbot and Worcester Counties, but have not done much damage yet. The outlook for apples is not as favorable as for other fruits in many localities, on account of a light or irregular blossoming, this being the case in Dorchester, Carroll and Washington Counties. and in parts of Garrett County. Peaches, pears, plum, and cherries are well set, and promise good yields. It is impossible to estimate the results of the frosts in the extreme west until later reports are received.

Came To Grief Is "Cowboy" Franks.

At Easton, Md., Russell Taylor, son of Wilson M. Taylor, of the Easton Gazette, and Charles Myers were imitating the cowboys in Pawnee Bill's show of lassoing. Young Taylor was riding his bicycle at full speed, when Myers lassoed him, pulling him clear of his wheel, flat on his face and knocking all of his front teeth out and otherwise badly bruising him.

Another boy, named Burkett, while attempting the feat of leaping from a high distance into a net, missed his calculations and jumped clear of the net, falling on the ground and badly bruising himself, but it is not thought that any bones are broken.

BALTIMORE AS SEABOARD OUTLET

To be the Eastern Terminal of a Great Trans Continental System.

Baltimore is to be the Eastern terminal of the great Wabash transcontinental system. The Gould interests now control the Western Maryland Railroad, the Fuller bid for it having been accepted by the City Council of Baltimore. Mr. Gould now has a road from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Pittsburg Gazette recently contained the following, which conveys good news to Baltimoreans, as it shows that the Goulds propose to build a more direct connecting link between Cumberland and Pittsburg, so that its transcontinental business will not be delayed between that city and the Pacific Coast.

"The Western Maryland railroad is now practically in the possession of the Fuller syndicate. With the Western Maryland controlled by the Wabash the connecting link between Pittsburg and Cumberland will be built and Pittsburg will be located on the through trunk line of the Wabash railroad, which is allied with the Fuller syndicate. With the completion of the Wabash the new line across the continent will be opened and the Wabash will enter the fight for Pittsburg's trade both East and West. For some time it had been rumored that the West Virginia Central railroad was to be the Wabash main line through from the West, but it was seen that it was impossible to obtain the Pittsburg business to the seaboard by any roundabout connection. With the connecting link in operation the through trains will be operated via this city.

"The Wabash railroad already has ordinances prepared, in which it will ask the right of way through Pittsburg to Allegheny, and if secured a new bridge may be constructed across the Allegheny river. The Fuller syndicate owns the controlling interest in the West Virginia Central and by the acquisition of the Western Maryland railroad and an alliance with the Wabash system of the Goulds a transcontinental line from West to East, with Baltimore as the seaboard outlet, is assured."

Memorable Day for Cuba.

May 20, 1902, will long remain memorable in history as the day when the United States of America fulfilled a solemn pledge and gave to the world Cuba, free and independent. By order of Secretary of War Root and Governor General Leonard Wood, the Cuban Congress elected by the people of Cuba has been convened to count and rectify the electoral vote for president and vice president under the fifty eighth article of the Cuban constitution. President Palma will be installed on May 20, everything relating to the government of the island will be turned over to the Cubans. All American troops save a few left at the request of President Palma will be withdrawn, and the long hoped for, eagerly awaited republic of Cuba will make its initial bow to the nations.

Mrs. J. H. Haskins, of Chicago, Ill., President Chicago Arcade Club, Addresses Comforting Words to Women Regarding Childbirth.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Mothers need not dread childbearing after they know the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. While I loved children I dreaded the ordeal, for it left me weak and sick for months after, and at the time I thought death was a welcome relief; but before my last child was born a good neighbor advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I used that, together with your Pills and Sensitive Wash for four months before the child's birth;—it brought me wonderful relief. I hardly had an ache or pain, and when the child was ten days old I left my bed strong in health. Every spring and fall I now take a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it keeps me in continual excellent health."

MRS. J. H. HASKINS.

Mrs. J. H. Haskins, 3248 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill. — $5000 Forfeit if above testimony is not genuine.

Care and careful counsel is what the expectant and would-be mother needs, and this counsel she can secure without cost by writing to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.

HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged menses, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI

I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting fresher than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day. MRS. MARGARET JONES.

TALMAGE

SERMON

By Rev.

FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.,

Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Chicago, May 11.—In this sermon the Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage paints a picture which will be recognized as familiar in many homes throughout the land. His text was Luke xv, 13, "The younger son gathered all together and took his journey into a far country."

The old homestead is turned upside down. One of the two boys, the younger, is about to leave the parental roof. The eagle is tired of being warmed by the protecting breasts of the old birds. With ruffled feathers he stands upon the edge of the eyrie ready to fly off. Sad is the disruption of a home. When the children say "Goodbye," the families talk and laugh and joke. But they are only laughing to sustain their courage. The wedding bells weep as well as sing. At the marriage the guests may congratulate the parents of the bride upon having gained a son. But the daughter is never the same after the wedding. On that day the bride goes forth to make her own home, build her own nest, rear her own young and live her own life. Instead of belonging to the parent she becomes another's. Instead of the mother being first now she is second.

Some years ago I attended the wedding of a very dear friend. The slipper had been thrown, the rice tossed, the farewells shouted. I followed the old gray haired father down to the garden gate. While we stood there in the moonlight he turned to me and said: "Frank, I know she has married a good man. I do hope she will be happy. But it is hard, a fully hard, to give her up. She was my baby girl. She is my youngest. It breaks the heart. It breaks the heart." Children are born. They pass boyhood and girlhood days under the parental roof. They grow up into manhood and womanhood. They begin to scatter. Death knocks at the front door and summons some. Love hovers among the spring flowers and breathes through the orange blossoms and woos others. Business and professional duties beckon to others. At last the old nursery is vacant. Father and mother sit again alone at the dining table as they once did when they themselves were bride and groom. The old homestead is deserted save by the old folks. The text is a tragedy.

The mother did not sleep much last night. Though she tries to look cheerful, her eyes are red from weeping. Every little while she disappears into the pantry or goes up stairs. She makes an excuse as though she was looking for something. We know she leaves the room for one purpose. She wants to have a good cry.

Into a Far Country.

The father is giving his last instructions. He is handing the young traveler some letters of introduction to a prominent merchant with whom the son will lodge in the next town. A noise is at the gate. Servants are bringing out the horses and strapping the baggage upon the pack mules. They talk in subdued whispers. Even they feel sorry. The young "master" was a happy, jolly good fellow. He always had a kind word for the hostlers. The only happy creature this morning is the dog. He frisks and barks about, expecting to follow the sportsman for a week's hunt. His hilarity is stopped. Some one shies a stone at the brute and shouts, "Go back to the barn." Slowly the dog turns. His lowered head and tail are the canine signs of abject woe. He stops now and then, expecting to hear the familiar bantam's balloo. Perhaps he realizes for the first time he is taking a last look of farewell. I always did think that a bright dog was smarter than a stupid man.

The farewell words are now being said. The father gives his benediction. We must turn our heads away. The mother is having her last convulsive clasp. These are the snapping of the heartstrings. A mother rarely realizes that the baby she once rocked in a cradle can grow into a man. He is always her boy. Suddenly the young man breaks away. He leaps into the saddle. The spurs cut deep. Parents and friends about their farewell to the cavalier. Then they wave and throw kisses. "The old father wipes his face vigorously with a handkerchief. He scolds the servants. He bids them to be off. He does not want them to see him cry. The mother has no such pride. As the horses disappear over the last hill the aged wife buries her head upon her husband's breast. She sobs as though her heart would break. The husband tenderly puts his arm about the sad heart. He draws her toward the house.

Slowly they walk up the tree arched path. They stop a moment on the porch to glance down the road. Slowly the sighing father opens the front door. The men go back to the fields, the female servants to the kitchen. The domestic machinery is started. The neighbors, returning to their homes, say, "Is it not too bad that the younger son should gather all together and take his journey into a far country?"

The Land of Sin.

The far country of my text is the land of sin. Where it is we do not geographically know. The far country may be in the rural regions, among the farmhouses. People make a great mistake in supposing that the only place in which sin thrives is a large city. Sin loves to smell the wild flowers and lie down in the haymow as well as to tramp the streets of a busy metropolis. I have preached in the country and know of what I speak. There is no less a drunkenness in a crossroad tavern as well as in a corner saloon. Murky a young country girl has disgraced the family. Farmers' boys and girls do not all attend the country revivals in order to hear the preaching. The far country of sin can be located in the city. Sin is not proportionally more prevalent in the city than in the village, but it is better able to conceal its tracks in a wilderness of rock than in a country town. Many a letter have I received which went thus: "I am a farmer's wife. I have a boy in the great, wicked city of Chicago. I fear he is not doing right. You may be able to save him. He has written me that he has attended your church. Will you pray for him?" The far country of sin is sometimes found among the evils of political life, in the legislative halls of the state and the national capital. Sometimes sin is entrenched in a pulpit of the land where a minister has become an apostate and, Judaslike, has sold his Christ for thirty pieces of silver. Wherever the far country of sin may be there it is the place where the nobler and purer and better parts of a man's life are being strangled.

Once a sailing vessel was sighted floating among the icebergs of the arctic. The captain of the approaching vessel put the trumpet to his lips and shouted: "Ship ahoy! Whither bound? Whither bound?" No answer. Again the trumpet called, but the only sound heard by the captain was the echo of his own voice. A small boat was lowered. When the derelict was boarded, it was found to be the ship of death. That floating ship carried a dead crew. The wheelman had been frozen dead in the pilothouse, the captain frozen to death in his cabin, the sailors frozen to death in their bunks. The derelict had been drifting around for thirteen long years, with its crew unable to raise a hand, utter a sound or furl a sail.

The far country is the land of sin, where the inhabitants are dead to God. They are dead in their desire to make out of themselves what Christ would have made them. They are dead to spiritual love. They are so dead that they will not bear the Divine Father's voice calling them back to the heavenly homestead.

A Word to Young Men.

Though the far country of sin may be anywhere, yet it is always a great distance away from the freestone of a Christian home. As soon as the younger son determined to revel in sin he wanted to get away from the presence of his aged Christian father. He practically said: "Father, give me the share of money which will come to me when you are dead, and I will leave home and live independently. I do not want to see your loving eye and feel the kiss of holy affection upon my lips. I want to go with evil companions and not associate with you, even though you are my father." The Christian home ought to be the happiest place on earth to a child. It is a happy place if the child wishes and tries to do right. But the Christian home is a repulsive place to live when the boy wants to do those things which should be left undone. When a boy or a girl does not wish to stay at home at night with the rest of the family or finds other companionship more desirable than that of mother or father, look out—beware!

"Where are you going, Charlie?" said a mother to her son, who was putting on his coat and hat, preparing to leave the house. "Oh," answered the young man, "the firm wants me to collect a few bills. I will be home early, mother. Do not be anxious or sit up for me if I am detained." The young man passed down the street. He sounded a low whistle. A couple of other young men met him at the corner. "Boys," he said, "mother is becoming suspicious. She did not want me to leave home. I must be more careful. Come, let's have some fun." That night in a place of evil resort this group of young men gambled and smoked and sang their lewd songs. It was great sport! They did not cease their carousal until the morning sun announced to the night watchman that his work was done and it was time for him to go to bed.

A few years later in an eastern city in a noted murder case the jury brought in the verdict of murder in the first degree. When the judge asked the defendant why sentence should not be passed upon him, a young man arose. He turned a pale face toward the judge. As he began to speak we see he was the same young man of whom I have just spoken. "Your honor," said he, "I am not afraid to die. If I committed murder in that drunken row a few months ago, I should be put to death. But, sir, before sentence is passed upon me I should like to speak a word to the young men crowding this courtroom. I would like to tell them that I started on the road which will lead me to the gallows when I used to leave my home at night to go out with evil companions. When I went out thus, I always directly or indirectly had to deceive my mother." The far country of sin may seem to be only a step to the corner saloon. It is as far away as if it was ten thousand million miles away from the freestone of a Christian home.

Mistaken Parental Kindness.

NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS OF WICOMICO SENT IN BY THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVES.

ALLEN.

Miss Dewdrop Allen of Cambridge will spend the greater part of next week with her parents at this place.

Strawberries are bringing fair prices and our growers are wearing broad grins.

It looks as if a certain Maryland Congressman went away back and "sat" down real hard. All this happened about ten days ago.

Mrs. L. A. Malone is quite ill at her home on Main Street.

It's about time for the "Easy Boss" of New York to be William Allen White-Eli again.

Mr. Chas. C. Vickers of Jestersville spent a few days of this week with his family here.

Strawberry pickers from afar are coming in town in small armies. They will have a rollicking time during their sojourn here.

Mr. W. F. Messick was in Salisbury this week on business.

Otis Hayman, of near Princess Anne went in bathing during the "blow out" in our mill dam a short time ago. He was on his way to see his best girl on the Wicomico side of Allen, and as it was impassable across the dam he was compelled to drive across the creek. The tide happened to be a little higher than usual on that particular evening but Otis thought it would be all O. K. It was. It was an O. K. tide. Upon reaching the middle of the stream the young man found there was some trouble ahead and that it would be necessary for him to assume some rather ridiculous positions. He crawled on his "creeper's" back and remained in a lying position for a time. It got too damp for comfort in this position and he stood up like a circus rider. The water came still higher and the "captain" walked abaft of his four legged ship and crawled on the hurricane deck and sat there until he breached his ship. He looked very much like a coachman, sitting up there in all his glory. He reached his best girl's home a wiser and a damper man. He is also known to his many friends as "Admiral" Hayman.

QUANTICO.

Strawberries are being shipped from this vicinity in small quantities. The season always causes a busy time among our people and although at times, the prices are low the crop usually produces much money for the community at large and its effects are felt for several weeks. Formerly, but few berries were raised here and those spoken of as strawberry pickers were compelled to go elsewhere to find employment but now there are almost enough produced in the district to employ all the people in their picking.

The tennis outfit for the lawn tennis club of Quantico has arrived and those composing the membership are busy getting the court ready to play upon. The leading spirits of the sport seem to be Miss Lala Jones and Miss Daniel Collier.

Mr. O. W. Taylor has about completed the improvement to the large dwelling on his farm near town. When fully completed he will have one of the most commodious houses in this section.

Preaching in town next Sunday evening at the M. E. Church by pastor, Rev. O. L. Martin.

Our young folks are spending many evenings at Sharptown enjoying merry-go-round riding.

Strawberry shipments have begun this week, patches in this community are looking good and a large crop is expected. They are much earlier than they have been for many years.

Mr. S. J. Lowe is rebuilding his residence near here which will add greatly to the appearance.

Scarlet clover is being cut in this section this week.

From the present outlook the round potato crop will be short this season heavy rains caused many to rot after planted. The wheat crop is also looking poor and a small crop is expected.

Silk Factory for Maryland.

Mr. Thomas A. Smith, chief of the State Bureau of Industrial Statistics, has received a letter from the State Department at Washington inquiring as to any possible encouragement that might be given an enterprise in Europe. It is stated that the owners of large silk mills in Germany desire to remove their plant to this country. They want a donation of ten or twelve acres of land and concessions in the way of exemption from taxation for a term of years.

The purpose is to begin work in this country with a factory employing 500 or 800 hands, and to enlarge the plant until it will furnish work for 700 or 800 persons. A great many of the employees will be women.

Mr. Smith will lay the matter before the authorities of the various counties and endeavor to secure the enterprise for Maryland.—Greenboro Free Press.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

Fruits are Safe.

There has been more or less concern among the farmers and fruit growers the past week for fear of frost. The mercury dropped to frost point Saturday morning but it seems to have hardly been noticed. Some of our fruit growers claim there was frost and others could not see any evidence of it. There is not so much danger now, since the blossoming period is over and the fruit has advanced.

Apples and peaches never looked better. Pears and plums are certainly full. Strawberries are already ripening and the season will be in full swing next week. Plants not growing at night enable the insects to make greater headway.

If The Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well tried remedy, Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

SALE OF WICOMICO PROPERTY.

Mr. Jay Williams, Trustee, Offered the Last of the Thos. B. Taylor Estate Last Wednesday.

The last of the late Thos. B. Taylor's real estate was put up at public auction by the trustee, Mr. Jay Williams, at Mardela Springs, last Wednesday. The sales of the day aggregated nearly $12,000. This with the sum of the sales made in February brings the total for the lands and houses to about $18,000. There are private securities amounting to $10,000 fully eight thousand dollars of which is collectable.

The entire estate, real and personal, will foot up at least $28,000. Against this stands preferred and open claims amounting to several thousand dollars. The indebtedness is largely in the nature of surety obligations, and the full extent of these has not yet been ascertained by Mr. Williams, but he feels confident that after justice is fully done the creditors there will remain a net balance of some thousands for division among the heirs at law.

The sale Wednesday was largely attended, and the bidding spirited. The house in Mardela Springs, occupied by Mr. A. S. Venables, was bought by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Copes of Baltimore, two of the heirs, for $1000. A vacant lot adjoining was sold to Mr. T. R. Bounds for $100.

T. A. Vessey of Delmar purchased 110 acres of swamp land for $240.00. George W. Lowe bought a farm of 114 acres for $900.

The W. W. Bennett farm of 225 acres was sold to Chas. W. Bacon for $925, which was considered one of the bargains of the day.

Levi Goslee purchased 100 acres of swamp land at $225.

Mr. Geo. R. Lowe secured the farm where he resides of 134 acres for $1775. A small lot was bought by I. S. Bennett at $20.00.

The Isaac Wright land of 18 acres sold to W. W. Wright, Jr. at $800.

A tract of 84 acres of wood land sold to the Delmar Lumber Manufacturing Co. for $325.00.

Sol. Kenney of Laurel, Del., purchased 107 acres of timber land at $2050.00.

Thos. W. Bennett bid off a 93 acre farm in Spring Hill at $750.00.

Wildy Owens purchased the "Isaac Taylor" farm, 114 acres, at $1000.

George R. Lowe one half interest in a farm of 146 acres on the south side of Baron Creek, at $500.

The Obidiah Darby farm of 102 acres was bought by Isaac T. English at $825.

A one third interest in the "A. M. Bounds" farm of 158 acres was bought by Calvin E. Shockley at $880.

Thaddeus D. Phillips bought the half interest in a small house and lot in Mardela Springs at $150.

John W. Horsey purchased the Lloyd farm of 137 acres at $400.

Church Improvement.

The congregation of the Methodist Protestant Church met last Wednesday evening and decided to improve the church building. The general character of the improvements contemplated is as follows: An extension at one side ten feet. A recess pulpit on the opposite side large enough to accommodate a pipe organ and choir, the gallery removed, the tower taken down and rebuilt at the corner where the new entrance will be. In the place of the present door a large window will be put. The partition between the rooms will be removed and sliding doors will be placed instead, both rooms thrown together will seat comfortably 500 persons. New circular pews, new carpet, steam heat and pipe organ. The cost of these improvements will be about $4000.

Rev. S. J. Smith expects to preach in the M. P. Church Sunday evening on "Two Pictures" one gloomy, the other luminous.

Miss Minnie Wimbrow will lead the C. E. Meeting in the M. P. Church Sunday 7.15 p. m. Come.

Children's Day Services are arranged to be held in the M. P. Church Sunday June 1.

Rev. Talmage left an estate, valued at $300,000. He seems to have saved something besides sinners. But why should not a good preacher get rich, the same as a good business man? It is a notorious fact that the ministry is the poorest paid profession in the world. A preacher spends several years and a lot of money fitting himself to take a $600 job of pointing out the true way to people who are more interested in following the almighty dollar than they are in following the Master. Most people pay the preacher about as willingly as they do their taxes—or the editor—Exchange.

WATCH FOR THE LOCUSTS.

Seventeen Year Visitors May Arrive Any Moment. Not the Plague Nor Pest Generally Supposed.

Unless Wicomico is to be a favored spot this year our farmers may be on the lookout very soon for the seventeen-year locusts. Myriads of them have appeared in Western Maryland and Baltimore City and also in the upper part of Delaware. According to Prof. Howard, the locusts will appear where there were woods seventeen years ago.

A writer on locusts describes them as follows: "The first stage of a locust is that of a white grub. Then it assumes the shape of a light brown grub with legs and eyes. In front are two legs equipped with claws not unlike miniature lobster claws."

With these the grub digs a hole to the surface, and later on uses the claws to clasp the trunk of a tree, a bush, or a fence post, in order to shed its brown shell. At first the grubs, while coming to the surface by thousands, are not advanced far enough to leave the ground for good. It takes a few days to mature them enough to leave the earth where they have been for seventeen years. A close examination of the grub shows a line down the back, indicating the spot where the shell is to split later on. A short time after their appearance the trunks of trees will be covered with the grubs and the deserted shells, and the air will resound with the noise of the clouds of locusts."

Chief Entomologist Howard, of the Department of Agriculture at Washington says: "The life of the locust is endangered by our civilization. His burrow is only about two feet deep and is consequently destroyed by deep plowing. Macadam roads and asphalt streets prevent the exit of the insects; but most effective of all, the blackbirds, catbirds and sparrows have learned to eat them and gobble up the brood as fast as they appear. Civilization does not restrict the territory of the insects, but where there were woods seventeen years ago there ought to be locusts today, if the ground has not been tilled too deep or dug out."

Where there are woods today there will be locusts seventeen years hence under the same conditions."

The locusts will do little injury. They are not a plague or a pest, despite traditions to the contrary, and never damage anything except young nursery trees and young shoots of mature trees, rarely inflicting any permanent injury upon them."

So far no locusts have been reported in Wicomico but many of the farmers are exceedingly anxious over their anticipated appearance, fearing much damage to growing crops. The life of a locust is about six weeks.

"YE MAYE PARTIE"

Mrs. Jay Williams Entertains in Honor of Her Sister, Mrs. Bennett.

Mrs. Jay Williams last Saturday afternoon entertained about one hundred of her friends in honor of her sister, Mrs. L. Atwood Bennett.

The guests began to arrive at 4 o'clock and were received by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Bennett and Miss Edna Gillis. The decorations of the rooms were very elaborate and artistically arranged presenting a veritable flower garden consisting of palms and various kinds of flowers which were typical of the month of May.

In the dining room the May pole was erected from the centre of the table to the chandelier and formed a pillar of roses of every shade and kind, from the top of which colored ribbons were suspended, falling gracefully over the edges of the table. Colored candles were distributed about the rooms producing a very pleasing effect. A "Ye Maye Partie" card was given each guest, and in order to correctly answer the several questions thereon, the answer must begin with May. The answers given by the several contestants were very clever and interesting. The prize given was a fancy collar of white satin, hand painted by Mrs. Bennett in wild roses with white crepe de chine tie trimmed with tinted applique which was awarded to Mrs. William M. Cooper, the successful contestant.

Miss Stella Hitchens added much to the afternoon's entertainment by the rendition of appropriate musical selections.

Refreshments consisting of ices, cakes and bon-bons in forms of May flowers were served the guests by Misses Grace Ellegood, Nancy Gordy, Pauline Collier, Edna Owens and Eva Catlin. At the conclusion of the "Partie," the girls had a merry dance around the May pole.

PANIC ON ST. VINCENT

Streams of Molten Lava Poured From Soufriere.—Villages Look Like A Desert.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, May 22.—Another great eruption of the Soufriere volcano occurred on Sunday night. Throughout Sunday the adjoining districts trembled, and some of the shocks were felt here. Smoke issued from the craters and fissures of the mountain, and the atmosphere throughout the Island of St. Vincent was exceedingly hot. While the worshippers were returning from church at 8.30 p. m., an alarming luminous cloud suddenly ascended many miles high, in the north of the island, and drifted sluggishly to the northeast. Incessant lightning fell on the mountain, and one severe flash seemed to strike about three miles from Kingstown. The thunderous rumblings in the craters lasted for two hours, and then diminished, until they became mere murmurings. The remainder of the night was clear. Ashes fell from 10 o'clock until midnight.

The inhabitants were frenzied with fear at the time of the outbreak, dreading a repetition of the catastrophe which caused such terrible loss of life on this island. They ran from the streets into the open country, crying and praying for preservation from another calamity. No one on the Island of St. Vincent slept that night.

Reports received here from the districts in the vicinity of the volcano say that the rumblings of the craters were appalling, and that streams of lava flowed down the mountainside.

The villagers who had fled to Chateau Belair and Georgetown for safety are now pouring into Kingstown, this being the furthest town from the Soufriere.

The Royal Mail steamer Wear is bringing refugees here from Chateau Belair. Kingstown is now congested, and the demands on the government are increasing rapidly, as more and more people are obliged to leave their homes.

The continuous agitation of the volcano and the absence of rain has caused the vicinity of the afflicted villages to look like portions of the Desert of Sahara.

A thick, smoky cloud overspreads the island, all business is suspended here, the streets are empty, and everyone is terror-stricken. The feeling of suspense is painful. People pass their time gazing at the northern sky, where the thunder clouds gather and the mournful roaring of the volcano is heard.

Ashes and pumice are falling slowly in the out districts. On Sunday there was an alarming report that Enham mountain, near the Marriagua Valley, an old and apparently extinct crater, is showing signs of activity. This volcano is only six miles from Kingstown.

Stripping Collins' Farm.

Elmer Collins, husband of the murdered Mrs. Ilda Collins, has complained to his counsel, former Attorney-General R. C. White, that his farm is being stripped by relic hunters. Ever since the murder people have visited the place and carried off pieces of fences and many other things as souvenirs. Now this robbery has extended further and his poultry houses and stables have been entered and some valuable articles removed.

The State detectives have undertaken a rather unusual procedure in the search for the murderer of Mrs. Collins. A cousin of Collins said he had a dream in which he discovered the whereabouts of the knife with which Mrs. Collins was killed, and for which the detectives have been searching. The dreamer states that the knife was thrown into a mill hole, which is in a stream back of the house. Detective Francis will be assisted by Special Detectives Green and Phillips in making a thorough search of the stream, draining the dam. —Delaware Democrat.

Wicomico Fat Cattle.

Hon. Wm. H. Jackson shipped last Thursday from his Rockawalking and Trader farms 60 head of very fine three year-old steers. They were very fat and weighed in the aggregate about 75000 lbs.

Mr. O. J. Schneck superintended the weighing and loading of them. They were put into three cattle cars at the N. Y. P. & N. railroad station and consigned to Philadelphia dealers. Mr. Jackson bought the cattle in Ohio last fall as "feeders" and fattened them on provender grown on his Wicomico farms.

Mr. S. E. Gordy has been following this plan several years. He shipped from his Orchard Hill farm in April a bunch of very fine beef cattle. He is now pasturing a lot of yearlings which will be fed this winter for next Spring's market.

Do not fail to ask to see the Julia Marlows oxfords.—R. E. Powell & Co

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Laird Todd Celebrate Theirs at Their Home, Park Street.

On May 18th, 1853 Dr. H. Laird Todd and Miss Julia Fowler of Spring Hill were married by the Rev. Wm. Augustus White. Peace, happiness and fast flying years have marked their sojourn together, and they sail to day down life's stream hand in hand calm, smiling and serene. Last Monday evening with two hundred of their friends they celebrated their Golden Wedding. The house, porch and grounds made brilliant with electric lights, were the scene of mirth and gladness, a place where for three happy hours old friends and new friends of the happy pair met and congratulated them. Many useful and ornamental presents were received, and much appreciated. Comparatively few of this world's mates are blessed with such a long and happy union, such kind and attentive children, and we congratulate Dr. and Mrs. Todd, that God and Heaven have smiled upon them, and elected them to travel hand in hand together, for so long a time. Adown life's slope they journey, and "when the shadows are a little longer grown" God grant that still together a yet brighter life may be theirs; A reflex of the dazzling effulgence of the "bright and morning star." J.

The children of Dr. and Mrs. Todd are Mr. H. S. Todd, who is a prosperous merchant of Salisbury; Mrs. S. S. Smyth of Salisbury; Dr. George W. Todd, a leading member of his profession in Salisbury; Mr. E. N. Todd, of Alabama; Mrs. C. L. Selover of Cambridge. All these were present on this notable occasion except Mr. E. N. Todd who was detained at his home on account of illness in his family.

The table in the supper room was decorated in yellow and white. White ribbons extended from the ceiling to the four corners of the table. This gave a striking effect, and was much admired and discussed.

Dr. and Mrs. Todd received alone. The guests were served to refreshments by the Misses Wailes, Todd, Smyth and Fowler.

Among the many beautiful and appropriate presents received, was a gold watch from the Board of County Commissioners. A gold chain was the gift of Mayor Diaharon and Mr. R. Lee Walker. Sheriff Fooks added a gold charm for the chain. The family presented a case containing $160 in gold. Mrs. F. M. Dick of New York, who was a guest of the house, gave both the bride and groom exquisite presents appropriate to the occasion.

Coulbourn has been able, by his painstaking and great interest in the Clothing business, to read "the signs of the times," and has his mammoth store, the largest of the kind south of Wilmington, filled with just such goods as are calculated to satisfy the hardest-to-please, the easiest-to-please person that comes to Salisbury. ### PICKING STRAWBERRIES.

In an Old but Profitable Patch Where Rows Were Indistinct.

An old strawberry patch which has not been thoroughly cleaned up or kept in rows is a sort of aggravation, but sometimes yields better the second year than the first and will almost always produce more money value in strawberries than anything except a few of the most profitable garden crops and, coming before the vegetables, may be turned ed into money and the ground used for a catch crop of something else. The rows will be very indistinct, and on a large plot of ground it is very difficult to keep a gang of pickers in line and do the best work with the least tramping and discord.

An Ohio Farmer writer has described his practice some years ago of lining out the rows with wool or binder twine. With a line for every row, it takes nearly two miles per acre with rows four feet apart, besides half a wagon bed of short stakes. It takes a good deal of work, and much of the twine gets wasted, as every one is too busy with berries to attend to taking it up. When twine was high in price, he put the lines every eight feet, putting three pickers between each two lines. This worked well as far as covering the ground was concerned, but after an hour or so the pickers were so scattered that it was impossible to watch each, as was necessary for the best results. Some would be over the hill out of sight and would "soger" and cut berries at their leisure unless the foreman kept running back and forth.

Last season on a patch of an acre and a half he put in practice a different way, using only forty rods of twine and a dozen stakes. A diagram of the way it was done is given. The short rows at A were picked without division, and the balance of the patch was divided as shown and picked with the rows, each separately. The line between C and D passed over the top of a knoll, thus making it easy to see all the work. The rows were parallel with the long diagonal (E F) and were so divided that the longest were less than eight rods long. The weeds were not so numerous but that most of the row centers could be traced and followed, and the distance being short the fastest pickers would reach a boundary and turn back before getting very far away. With a trial of two pickings it has proved more satisfactory than the old way.

Good Plants For the North.

Among the newer plums I do not find any one that for beauty and productiveness surpasses the Victoria, says an American Agriculturist correspondent. The tree is a fairly good grower, and the limbs are capable of sustaining a heavy weight. The quality of the plum is not equal to the Greengage nor to a Magnum Bonum, which is the best of the very large plums. A first rate list of plums for succession would take in Bradshaw, Field, Magnum Bonum, which is not a sure bearer; Greengage, Bleeker or Lombard, Victoria, Peter's Yellow Gage, Shropshire Damson, Reine Claude or Bavay and Coe's Golden Drop.

My experience with the prunes inclines me to believe that they should be very much more freely planted. The Fellenberg is doing admirably well with me, and I am freely planting the Pacific and the Giant. The Empire plum is also among my recent plantings, and I have much confidence in it. I have equal or greater confidence in the Monarch. The prunes cannot be ripened in our northern climate sufficiently early to be dried by the sun and packed, as they are in California. There they never pick them from the trees, but pick them up from the ground after they have fallen.

Dried Blood Chrysanthemums.

Dried blood pushes along the chrysanthemum, giving better bloom and the stiffer stems with short joints and the vigorous, heavy, dark green foliage so much desired by commercial growers.

Rose Notes.

The American Beauty still remains a prime favorite. Queen of Edgely is a handsome shade of light pink.

Liberty is a beauty on long, stiff stems, with bright, clear foliage and a rich, deep red color.

A florist says that beds of roses that were carried over produced much stiffer stems than new plantations.

Bessie Brown has many points that go to make up a valuable rose. While it is probably the grandest variety of Carnot color, it sometimes comes with crimped outer petals, which somewhat detracts from its beauty.

Lady Battersea is a lovely cherry crimson colored tea. There is some complaint, however, that it does not force well for winter.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

Burned Gumbo Makes the Best Kind of Highways.

Nowhere in the United States are the present roads poorer or better ones more needed than in some parts of the Mississippi valley. The problem of improvement in this region, moreover, has seemed peculiarly difficult because there are no ledges of rock of a kind suitable for making good road material.

But now, behold, out of the very excess of badness, out of the sticky, clinging, almost bottomless mud into which the roads are converted every spring and autumn, comes the material which is to work their salvation. This material is burned gumbo, the very mud which makes the roads so bad, baked over wood fires until it becomes one of the best roadbuilding materials known.

The credit of making the first practical application of this discovery belongs to the railroads. For several years they have been using burned gumbo as ballast for their roadbeds in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and other states of the middle west. It was first intended as a substitute for crushed rock in regions where rock could not easily be obtained, but it demonstrated its superiority so plainly that it is now used extensively even where ledges are abundant.

The mud is really an impure, exceedingly sticky clay. The process of preparing it for use upon the road is very simple. Cordwood is piled in a low pyramid eight or ten feet wide. Over this is thrown three or four inches of coal slack, and on this again is placed from twelve to twenty inches of mud. When the wood is fired, a slow combustion goes on, which converts the mud into small, sharp cornered and exceedingly hard pieces, so that the product has the appearance of red gravel.

The railroads find that they can make and deliver the gumbo on board the cars at a cost of 25 to 35 cents per cubic yard, but when burned in more primitive fashion and on a smaller scale, as is usually the case on country highways, the cost is slightly greater.

Roads covered with this material are never muddy or dusty. They keep free from snow and ice, are slow to get out of repair, and weeds or grass will not grow on them. The supply of mud is unlimited, its preparation simple and cheap. A writer in The Review of Reviews declares that five years of systematic and intelligent work with burned gumbo would make the principal country roads as passable all the year round as a paved city street and at little more cost than the amount now wasted in "working the road."

FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS.

Society Organized For the Promotion of Good Roads.

A movement has been started in Media, Pa., that should receive the earnest support of every citizen. It is the organization of a society in the county for the promotion of good roads. The project has been launched well, and the interest taken in the matter thus far indicates that the promoters will be able to secure the co-operation of a large number of people.

For some reason it has taken many years to secure general interest in such an important reform as the making of fine highways, and in this particular country is far behind some of the countries in Europe, which have ideal highways, says the Chester (Pa.) Times. All of the argument is on the side of the modern road, so it is not necessary to stop and convince the people of the utility of the well kept thoroughfare, but the question that must now be considered is how to secure the means with which to build the roads. Some of the states in the Union are very liberal in the laws for the encouragement of better highways, and in this particular Pennsylvania has much to learn from Connecticut, New Jersey, Massachusetts and other commonwealths, which have miles of highways over which a carriage or a bicycle can travel with ease and comfort.

If we are to have good facilities for moving about the country, and everybody concedes that we must, then it is clear that the state should assist, for the benefit is to the state as well as to the immediate territory affected. And if this is done it will be found that the farmers and suburban residents will quickly join in the movement to secure first class highways.

Rhode Island's Road Methods.

Rhode Island has shown a tendency to repudiate the methods adopted by most of the eastern and middle states in respect to the co-operation of state, counties and towns. That state, according to the idea of the legislators, should not aid financially the counties and towns further than merely disseminating information and showing the good results obtained from fine roads. This latter work is accomplished by building sample highways of half a mile in extent in each town and county. It was reasoned that these practical object lessons would arouse local pride sufficiently to make their extension an actuality. So far this system has justified the state authorities in their predictions. Nearly 500 miles of good gravel and stone roads have been built, representing about one-fifth of the total road mileage of the whole state.

To Build Good Roads.

A bill has been introduced in the house by Representative Okey of Virginia providing an appropriation of $300,000,000 to be expended for good roads in the forty-five states and four territories of the United States in proportion to their population. The construction of the roads is placed in the bill under the supervision of the department of agriculture.

If you are desirous that your brood mare produce good healthy foals, see to it that she is in good flesh and in prime condition at foaling time. Oats, with plenty of good, bright cut clover in the morning and a feed of corn at night, will do the work. I always stable my brood mares at night, turning them out during the day unless it be stormy, and I find it pays to bed them well at night. It is positively injurious to let them lie on a hard, cold floor. I prefer good dirt for my mares at all times. Especially is this desirable when they are heavy in foal. Do not put too much dependence in your breeding table, but watch your mare closely, for she is liable to foal any time from ten to thirteen months after being bred. When the mare begins to make bag freely, put her into a box stall about fourteen feet square, with plenty of bedding, being careful that the center is lower than the outer edges of the floor, for if the center is high and slopes to the wall the mare is liable to roll against it and become cast, and many a valuable mare has been lost in this way. There are many little signs that if watched closely will tell when the mare is about to foal. When my mares foal, I am in the barn and know just what is going on. I do not interfere with mare or foal unless my assistance is absolutely needed.—Charles L. Hardman in Prairie Farmer.

A Handsome Shire Yearling.

At the Shire horse show, held in London, seventy-four yearling colts came before the judges for the award

KNOTTINGLEY ROYAL.

In the first class passed on. Of these a list of twenty-five was drawn for honors, there being eight money offerings and as many breeder's gifts. The winner was W. Jackson's Knottingley Royal, the exhibitor being also the breeder. The illustration is reproduced from The Breeder's Gazette.

Clipping Horses.

The use of the clippers on horses in the spring of the year is growing in popularity every season. At that time the horses are shedding their long winter coats, and naturally their systems are not in as good condition as when that operation has not been begun or when it is over. The natural shedding of the long hair is inclined to debilitate the animal to a certain extent, and this inclination is increased by the extra call for fuel by the animal's system if it so happens that he must work hard or to the sweating point while the shedding process is going on. It is an extreme strain on a horse to stand wet with sweat for hours, using up the fuel in his food consumed to dry off his hide when it ought to be going to repair the waste of tissue occasioned by the work of the previous day and the other work the system must do. The removal of this long and partially dead hair with the clippers enables the skin to dry off in a very short time and permits the food to be used for the proper purposes. Besides this, when a horse is clipped in the spring he is not half so apt to catch cold, for the reason that he may, no matter how warm he is, be dried off in a few moments and then be put comfortably to bed for the night.

Handling a Kicker.

A writer in National Stockman gives this method of treating a kicking horse:

Put on him a strong surcingle and crupper. Have one ring where the check book comes and one eight inches lower on the right side. Now run a strap from the lower ring to the crupper about where the hip strap passes through. Now take a five-eighths inch rope fifteen feet long, fasten it to the ring at the check and then hook through the lower ring in the surcingle. Strap up his left front foot. This should be done in a straw yard. Now you have him ready. Take your rope and go ahead of him a few feet, a little to the right, and begin to pull. Hold him steady and let him fight this hard, but keep drawing his head to his side, and he will go down to the ground. Now you have him where you want him. Show him you can do as you please with him. Keep him here until he gives up, if it takes all day. Show him you can handle him.

The Overcheck.

The overcheck bears about the same relation to the horse as the county jail does to human society. In case of the trotting horse it seems that some device must be used in order to compel a horse to carry its head out almost in a line with its neck, so that the curvature of the latter at the throat will not cramp the windpipe or shut off the horse's wind. In case of the running horse it naturally extends the head and neck without artificial aid. This is because the gallop is the horse's natural gait, while the trot is artificial when it comes to extreme speed; hence the overcheck is needed. In the utility horses the checkrein is never needed.—Field and Farm.

MINERS' ULTIMATUM

Will Call Out Engineers and Pumpmen if Not Granted Concessions.

EVERYTHING EXTREMELY QUIET

As Some Operators Declare They Will Fill Places of Engineers, Firemen and Pumpmen if Called Out, the Prospects For Peace Are Not Bright.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 22.—The three anthracite executive committees of the United Mine Workers of America, at their joint meeting yesterday, decided to permit the engineers, firemen and pumpmen to remain at work, providing the coal companies grant them an eight-hour day at present wages. If these demands are not granted by June 2 the men shall then suspend work. Although the instructions issued to the local unions do not specifically say that, they are so construed by the committees. This action was taken after two sessions had been held, which consumed the entire day.

At present the engineers, firemen and pumpmen work 10 hours a day. Some of the firemen work 12 hours.

The action of the committee is not as drastic as was looked for. Under the instructions issued, the protectors of the mines, if granted the concessions, can remain at work, no matter how long the strike of the mine workers shall last. Some of the radical committeemen wanted them called out and kept out if all the mine workers were satisfied, but the conservative element was in the majority. While no official information can be secured, it is believed that the action of the committee to let the men remain at work if given the shorter work day at present wages, was done so as not to harass the individual operators too much, some of whom are willing to grant the miners' demands, but cannot until the big coal companies do the same. One of the committeemen believes that several of the individual operators will surely give the men what they want before the 10 days are up so as to save their property from becoming flooded.

As some of the coal companies have declared that they will fill the places of this class of employees at any cost, if they are called out on strike, the prospect of a continuance of the present peaceful condition throughout the coal regions are not bright.

The meeting of the three committees aroused considerable interest among the idle mine workers, many of them coming in from the region to hear what would be done regarding the engineers, firemen and pump runners. They expressed themselves as much pleased with the stand taken, although some of those in the crowd thought that the men should have been ordered out at once. Everything was extremely quiet.

Hazleton, Pa., May 22.—The demand of the executive boards of the United Mine Workers that the engineers, firemen and pumpmen at the collieries be granted an eight-hour day, without a decrease in pay, by June 2, will not be granted by any of the operators in the Hazleton district. The operators here, fearing that this class of employees would be called out, made preparations early in the week to man their boiler houses, engines and pumps with trusted foremen, and they will strongly resist any attempts on the part of the miners to flood the mines while the strike is on.

PRESIDENT UNVEILS MONUMENT

Erected in Arlington Cemetery in Memory of Spanish War Veterans.

Washington, May 22.—President Roosevelt yesterday unveiled the memorial shaft erected at Arlington by the National Society of Colonial Dames in memory of the veterans who fell in the recent struggle between Spain and the United States. Around the platform an immense crowd gathered, among whom were many men who saw service in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

The ceremonies were in charge of Major General John R. Brooks, commander of the department of the east. Prayer was said by Bishop Satterlee and a Catholic priest, and the entire audience joined in singing the national hymn. Lieutenant General John M. Schofield, U. S. A., retired, then read the address of the president of the national society, Mrs. Justine V. R. Townsend, at the conclusion of which the shaft was unveiled amid the cheers of the thousands who had surrounded the stand.

Grandmother Charged With Murder.

Pittsburg, May 22.—Mrs. Letitia Eagle, of Avalon, Pa., a suburb of this city, was arrested yesterday on a charge of killing Edna Varner, her 13-year-old grandchild. The young girl died from a bullet wound in her heart, and it was thought she had committed suicide, but the coroner's jury found that she had been murdered by a person or persons unknown. District Attorney Haymaker says the evidence against Mrs. Eagle is entirely circumstantial, and she will be required to show that she was not responsible for the girl's death. Pending an indictment by the grand jury, she was held on $5,000 bail.

Revolution Threatens Haiti.

The provisional government has summoned all citizens to defend the capital, and as a result the entire population of Port au Prince is now under arms.

Letter To Dr. F. M. Siemens.

Dear Sir: For your house, no matter what the matter with it—it isn't a human you know—a prescription:

Devote lead and zinc. Apply with a brush, from one to three coats—get a painter to do it.

Your state chemist knows all about Devoe; has analyzed it; reports it pure; will analyze it occasionally. He buys it wherever he likes—it is generally in the best paint store in town.

You know what the color and dryer are for; do know what the lead and zinc and oil are for? Not being a painter you may not choose to know; but we'll tell you.

Lead and zinc and oil combine to form a rubbery waterproof coat to keep out dampness. That's the whole business.

The oil would do it alone; lead and oil would do it without the zinc; zinc and oil without the lead; but the three are best, because they wear best.

We say to you, "get a painter," as we'd say to him "get a doctor"—every man to his trade. Can't all be painters and doctors; don't want to.

You will be more successful in a prosperous looking house; and be in good health. Take good care of one another.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such cures as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach."

Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so cures diseases of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 157 Louisiana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctor with the best of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and took also several vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

THE CUBAN REPUBLIC

GEN. WOOD RAISED CUBA'S FLAG

President and Cabinet Were Cheered to the Echo By Joyous Cubans, Whose Castle-in-the-Air Has Become a Reality.

Havana, May 21.—The dawn of independence broke at noon yesterday over the island of Cuba. It shed its radiance over a people joyous, expectant. Goaded long by Spanish tyranny, restive under three years of American restraint, they have realized the dream that has cost thousands of lives; that has sent many into exile—the dream of home rule. Their castle-in-the-air has become the foundation of a palace of liberty, the corner-stone of which was laid by those who have inherited knowledge and love of free masonry.

TOMAS ESTRADA PALMA.

At noon yesterday the bells gladly proclaimed independence over the sequestered republic. Everywhere the spirit of gladness was shown with national colors, mingled with palms, from the finest mansions along the Prado, the great promenade, to the humblest byway home. Everywhere was heard "Cuba Libre!"—words that ring truly now.

Senor Palma attached his signature to a document as president of the Cuban Republic, after an exchange of congratulations. The veteran General Gomez ascended the roof of the palace, where he was accorded a great reception. General Wood personally lowered the American colors, which were saluted, and with his own hand hoisted the Cuban flag, as an act of the United States, Gomez assisting.

At the time the transfer took place in Havana General Whiteside, at Santiago, turned over his authority to his Cuban successor, and sailed away with the American cavalry which had been in garrison there.

General Wood and his staff and the American troops embarked immediately after the hoisting of the Cuban flag, and the American ships steamed out of the harbor into the bay.

President Palma and his cabinet, with General Maximo Gomez, were driven to the palace at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. They were escorted by the recently organized Cuban artillery, war veterans and political and civic organizations. The crowds along the route were so dense that the procession was frequently stopped. Enthusiasm was intense, despite the great heat of the day. At every step cheer after cheer went up for the president-elect. Time and again his carriage was stopped by the populace, who surrounded it to shake the hand of the new head of the government. The height was reached when the party arrived at the Plaza de Armas, in front of Governor General Wood's palace. Here the crowds became frantic. Hats and flags were flung in the air. The ground fairly shook with the volume of cheers. After delay in getting through the crowds, the president-elect was escorted to the main hall of the palace. Everywhere were the intertwined flags of the two republics. The bright colors of dresses and uniforms completed a harmony of color.

CUBA'S FREEDOM PROCLAIMED

U. S. Representatives Instructed to Announce the Event.

Washington, May 21.—The following is the official notification sent by the state department yesterday to ambassadors and ministers of the United States all over the world, of the independence of the Republic of Cuba:

"Department of State,
"Washington, May 20, 1902.
"Sir—I am directed by the president to inform you that the military occupation of the island of Cuba by the United States has this day ceased, and that an independent government, republican in form, has been inaugurated there under the presidency of his excellency, Senor Don Tomas Estrada Palma.

"You are instructed to convey this information through appropriate channels to the government to which you are accredited.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant,
(Signed) "JOHN HAY."

Wilmington Boy Beheaded.
Wilmington, Del., May 22.—Wesley Alexander, aged 13 years, son of William J. Alexander, of 412 East Seventh street, decided to see the unloading of the wagons of the Buffalo Bill Wild West in this city yesterday, and slipped from his home unobserved at an early hour. He attempted to board a moving train of cars, lost his hold, falling between the cars, and was beheaded.

BEEF TRUST ENJOINED

Federal Court Grants Government a Temporary Injunction.

Chicago, May 21.—The temporary injunction asked for by the government against the members of the so-called packers' combine is now in force. It was issued last evening by Judge Peter S. Grosscup, after the close of arguments in the United States circuit court room. The order gives the relief prayed for in the bill filed by District Attorney Bethea on May 10. It is so wide in its scope that if the packers or their agents continue with their present alleged uniform arrangements they will be taken into court on contempt proceedings, and the burden of proof will be on them to show that they have not violated the order in any particular.

Attorney John S. Miller, who was the sole representative of the packers present, pointed out some objectionable clauses in the draft of an order presented by Mr. Bethea. These concerned the alleged agreements for credit, blacklisting and cartage. Judge Grosscup thought some of these minor clauses had been made too prominent, and he himself drew a form of order that pleased both sides. At the same time the order was entered numerous affidavits and other exhibits were filed for the government.

Unless the defendants decide to make a fight at an early date in an effort to have the order set aside, they will have until August 4 to make reply to the complaint. Attorney Miller said last night that he cannot tell whether a demurrer, a plea or an answer will be filed, though the first named is the most likely to be the form of the packers' defense. The subpoenas served recently on the defendants commanded them to file their appearances separately before July 7.

SPANISH KING MENACED

Madrid Police Discovered Anarchist Plot Against Alfonso.

Madrid, May 19.—An anarchist plot against King Alfonso has been discovered and six arrests, including that of Gabriel Lopez, an employee of an insurance company, have been made. Dynamite cartridges were found on the premises where Lopez was arrested.

Lopez was examined before a magistrate yesterday morning, and declared that the man who gave him the cartridges and told him to throw them as the royal coach passed, was Francisco Suarez. Suarez is notorious for the part he played in an attempted outrage upon the late Canovas Del Castillo, seven years ago, when he accompanied an anarchist named Ruiz, who intended to explode a bomb in Canovas Del Castillo's garden. The bomb exploded prematurely, Ruiz was killed and Suarez was badly injured. He was committed to prison for seven years, and has only recently been liberated. Lopez was confronted with Suarez, and accused the latter with giving him the dynamite cartridges. This Suarez denied, and both men are detained.

PLOT AGAINST AUSTRIAN RULER

Bomb Was Found in Car in Which His Majesty Was Traveling.

London, May 20.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Buda Pest reports the frustration of a plot against the life of Emperor Francis Joseph. The emperor was recently going on a night train from Vienna to Buda Pest. In the final inspection of the imperial train, in the terminus of the state railway at Vienna, made 10 minutes before his majesty's arrival there, a bomb covered with paper was found in the emperor's compartment. It was evidently calculated that this bomb would explode the moment his majesty entered the car. An investigation of the matter led to the dismissal of several railway employees. The great secrecy concerning this plot has been observed, concludes the correspondent, and the emperor forbade the newspapers of Vienna to mention it.

PENSION FOR RAILROADERS

Employees of Reading Road to Be Retired at Age of 70.

Philadelphia, May 22.—The board of directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company yesterday authorized the president and executive committee to prepare and put into effect a pension system for the benefit of employees. It is intended that a similar system shall be adopted by all of the transportation companies controlled by the Reading company.

All employees of the company who have attained the age of 70 years and have been in the service of the company for 30 years, under the operation of the pension system, shall be retired and pensioned on the basis of one per cent. of the average regular monthly salary paid during the ten years prior to the date of retirement.

Portrait of Women on Postage Stamps.
Washington, May 22.—Postmaster General Payne announced yesterday that the portrait of Martha Washington had been decided upon as the first of American women to adorn a United States postage stamp. This announcement was made yesterday, because it was the centennial anniversary of the death of the wife of the first president. The portrait will be placed on the eight-cent stamp of the new issue, which will appear some time next fall.

Will Fight in Frisco.

San Francisco, May 22.—The San Francisco Athletic Club, of San Francisco, gets the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight. The terms are 70 per cent. of the gross receipts. The date of the fight is to be mutually agreed upon later by the fighters and the club. The pugilists decided upon Eddie Graney, a local man, to act as referee. The articles of agreement will probably be signed tomorrow.

FEARFUL MINE DISASTER

Explosion in Tennessee Colliery Killed All Men at Work.

Coal Creek, Tenn., May 20.—The worst disaster in the history of Tennessee mining occurred at 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning, when between 175 and 225 men and boys met death at the Fraterville coal mine, two miles from this town, as a result of a gas explosion.

Out of the large number of men and boys who went to work developments last night showed that only one is alive, and he is so badly injured that he cannot live. This man was William Morgan, an aged Englishman, who was a rood man in the mine, and was blown out of the entrance by the force of the explosion. One hundred and seventy-five miners were checked in for work yesterday morning by the mine boss. In addition to these were boys who acted as helpers, and drivers, road men and others to the number of perhaps 50.

The scenes at the mouth of the mine while the workers were within were beyond description. Business had been suspended in Coal Creek and all its mines as soon as the news of the disaster became known, and men, women and children gathered around the Fraterville entrance. Women whose husbands and sons were within were wild with grief.

All day long the rescuers toiled at a slate obstruction and not until 5 o'clock last evening did they force an entrance through it. Up to that hour only five dead bodies had been recovered and hope was still high that many within were safe. The hopes of the living were doomed, however, for when once the rescuers could enter and proceeded they walked through a continuous tomb of death. There was not a sign of life. Every man had perished.

Eight dead bodies were first recovered, and these were sent to Coal Creek. Twenty-six more were soon found. They were not disfigured beyond identification and each corpse, as it was borne from the mouth of the gigantic tomb, was surrounded by eager crowds of relatives of the men who were entombed. The mine was not on fire, except in remote portions, and all the bodies were recovered.

TEXAS TOWN SWEEP BY STORM

Ninety-eight Killed and 103 Injured By Tornado at Goliad.

Houston, Tex., May 20.—The latest reports from Goliad state that 98 persons were killed and 103 injured by the tornado which passed over that city on Sunday afternoon. The property loss in the city and surrounding country will probably reach $200,000. The storm swept the city from end to end, and demolished 150 stores and residences, many of which cannot be repaired.

The tornado, which was preceded by a terrific downpour of hail, lasted only a few minutes. The hail storm drove the people into their houses, where they were caught like rats in a trap, and the death-dealing wind came down upon them with terrific force, leveling everything in its path.

The tornado swept an area two blocks wide for a distance of a mile and a half. Houses collapsed as if built of cardboard, covering the dead and injured with debris, which necessarily made the work of rescue slow. People flocked to the town from all of the surrounding country. Many of them had relatives in the city. The work of rescue has been carried on all day, and the funeral of several of the victims took place yesterday afternoon. The supply of coffins has been replenished from other towns, and a large force of laborers is still at work digging graves for many of the unfortunate victims.

ROYALTY AT BULL FIGHT

Was a Feature of Festivities in Honor of Spanish King.

Madrid, May 22.—The royal bull fight, which is the most typically Spanish feature of the festivities in connection with the coming of age of King Alfonso, occurred yesterday afternoon in the presence of the king, the queen mother, the royal family, the Spanish nobles and the special envoys. Many ladies were also present.

The vast amphitheatre where the fight was held was crowded with 15,000 spectators. More than 200,000 people had made applications for seats. An interesting feature of the bull fight was the revival of the old medieval custom under which the sons of noble families fought the bulls with lances from horseback. Three bulls were killed in this manner, while six others were despatched in the regular way with swords. The most renowned bull fighters in Spain took part in the fight.

Boy Convicted of Manlaughter.

Trenton, N. J., May 22.—A jury in the Mercer county court, after being out several hours, returned a verdict last night of manslaughter in the case of Edward Taylor, the 14-year-old boy, who was tried a second time for causing the death of Charles Hyde, another boy, who worked with him in a rubber mill. The first trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury. Hyde's death was caused by being stabbed with a knife which Taylor had in his hand. The boys had a dispute about their work. The Taylor lad claims that the stabbing was accidental.

UNITED STATES AND CUBA.

Another Republic has been born to the world. Another people have been given their liberty after nearly four centuries of tyranny and oppression and once again, in redeeming our pledge to Cuba, we have shown this great country of ours to be the greatest and grandest nation of the world. When, with the arm of might, we broke the shackles from the suffering Cubans we placed two nations on the road to peace and prosperity, the oppressor as well as the oppressed. In the darkest hour of defeat, when Spain surrendered to the United States, the first ray of coming prosperity burst through the clouds for her own oppressed subjects. Today America is looked upon by the Spanish people as a benefactor of their race and Americans are treated with the utmost deference and respect.

Gloriously a free flag waves over free Cuba, with a President elected by the people! This is the triumph, the apotheosis, of centuries of crime and war under the rule of a monarchical despotism. It was new and glorious history for Cuba when Thomas Estrada Palma, on May 20, assumed control of the new republic. Even the late uncompromising warriors of that island are reported to be satisfied. It is said that their dark faces glow with satisfaction as they mention his name. They call him "the modern Lincoln, the 'Grand Old Man,' the one representative having the confidence and love of all Cubans.

With such a man to guide them in their trials during their first existence as a nation, it is believed that the new republic will flourish and prosper. That she shall do so is the sincere wish of all Americans. If the Cubans will maintain order, compelling a strict respect for the law and, instead of entering into internal quarrels, devote their time and energies to the development of the island's resources their prosperity and happiness are assured from the beginning.

WORKING THE ROADS.

It is not too much to predict that in a very few years the old supervisor system of working the county roads will be abandoned. It is a failure, both as a system of economy or as a means of achieving good results. It is a system which grew up with the idea of compulsory labor on the county roads by abutting property owners and with the abandonment of that principle the supervisor system should be abandoned also. Although in vogue from time immemorial, it is one of those old things which has survived its usefulness and which can easily be supplanted by modern methods.

Road building is now a science, and instead of being left to the casual and irregular attention of persons who know little about it, should be entrusted to men who understand it and who are fully paid for their services. The road machines now being used in Dorchester county by our progressive board of County Commissioners is a step forward. The work done by them is very satisfactory and a decided improvement over the old ways. In the course of time, more of them ought to be set to work in competent hands until gradually all our roads are put in first-class condition.—Cambridge Chronicle.

MARYLAND'S HISTORIC STATE HOUSE.

The influence of Massachusetts action in preserving the Bulfinch front of the State House has been felt in Maryland, where the problem of enlarged State House accommodations has arisen in much the same way that it did in this State. Maryland is the only one of the original 13 States, besides Massachusetts, that has preserved its colonial capitol, and, happily, it is the purpose of the Maryland Legislature to have it preserved. The enlargement will be in the form of an annex suitably designed in the style of the old structure. Maryland's capitol building was completed in 1774, and its historical importance may be seen in the fact that in 1783 it was the meeting place for the famous Continental Congress. Historically and architecturally it is one of the most interesting public buildings in the country.—Springfield Republican.

Golf Tournament.

Golf has become very popular of late with Salisburyans and most every afternoon a number of ladies and gentlemen are to be found on the Country Club links enjoying this popular outdoor sport. The past week the first of a series of golf tournaments has been going on. The preliminary play was on Tuesday when eleven persons entered the contest with handicaps as follows:

E. E. Jackson, Jr., scratch; M. A. Humphreys, 18; W. B. Miller, 18; R. P. Graham, 24; Alan F. Benjamin, 24; F. Leonard Wailes, 40; Miss Nellie Jackson, 28; Miss Mary Leonard, 32; Miss Fay Leonard, 40; Miss Nellie Fish, 40; Miss Lizzie Collier, 40.

The contest has narrowed down to Messrs. Jackson and Humphreys and the finals which will be played this (Saturday) afternoon and expected to be close and exciting. A large "gallery" is expected.

—A very serious fire started in one of the ware houses of the Standard Oil Company last Friday evening. The fire was viewed with much alarm on account of the proximity of the large oil tanks only a few feet away. Many people left the scene of the conflagration fearing an explosion. Although a number of barrels of oil stored in the ware house exploded, our firemen never wavered and fought the flames bravely amid great danger. Their efforts were rewarded by the saving of all the adjacent property, the flames being confined to the building in which the fire originated. The loss to the Standard Oil Company is about $1200, with no insurance. An investigation as to the origin of the fire has so far proved fruitless.

—The eighth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wicomico Building and Loan Association was held on Monday evening in the rooms of the Association in the ADVERTISER Building. Over three fourths of the stock was represented in person or by proxy. The Auditor's report was read and showed the affairs of the Association to be in a prosperous condition. A 6 per cent. dividend was declared and a small amount added to the surplus fund. The old board of directors was unanimously re-elected. At a meeting of the directors, held after the stockholders had adjourned, the old officers were elected as follows: Thomas Perry, President; A. A. Gillis, Vice President; Wm. M. Cooper, Secretary; J. Cleveland White, Treasurer; J. D. Price and C. R. Disharoon, Auditors; A. J. Benjamin and A. A. Gillis, Examiners.

—Mr. Wm. Peters, who is an employee in the machine shops of Messrs. Grier Bros, was badly hurt in a runa way accident Sunday, but is at present recovering very nicely from his injuries. The horse Mr. Peters was driving became frightened at an engine which was shifting cars near the N. Y. P. & N. station, and dashed down Broad street. Finding that he could not check the horse, Mr. Peters jumped from the carriage when opposite the residence of Dr. E. W. Humphreys receiving several injuries. He was picked up and carried in the office of Dr. Humphreys who dressed the wounds.

—Col. Charles Little, of Hagerstown; Major W. C. Claude, of Annapolis, and Capt. L. P. Coulbourn, of Salisbury, were in Easton last Tuesday night and mustered into the State's service Company F. First Maryland Infantry, Maryland National Guard, which was disbanded at the beginning of the Spanish-American War. Charles W. Adams was elected captain and Jessie A. Lodnum first lieutenant. The election of second lieutenant was postponed. The muster roll shows 50 men. This company will be placed in the First Battalion, which comprises the companies of the Eastern Shore.

—The tenth annual meeting of the Farmers Organizations of Maryland will be held at the Maryland Agricultural College and Experiment Station, College Park, Prince George's County, May 28th and 29th. Special round trip tickets will be issued to parties of ten or more. President Silvester cordially invites all those who are interested to be present. Jerry Rusk said, "Let it be the glory of the great American people to make 'Science the handmaid of Agriculture.'" Another adage—"Agriculture is the Nursing Mother of the Arts." Still another—"Tillage and Pasturage are the two twin breasts of the State."

—The State Board of Immigration which received an increase of $5,000 in its annual appropriation, has decided to send its secretary, Mr. Herman Badenhop, to Europe. He will leave some time next month, and will visit Germany, Holland, Sweden, Norfolk, Denmark, Finland and, possibly, England and Ireland. Mr. Badenhop will be gone not longer than three months. The purpose of sending the secretary abroad is to have him make known the desirability of Maryland for immigrants. He will do this by conferring with steamship agents and others who come in contact with immigrants, and will also arrange for the circulation of the bureau's literature, which will be published in English, German, Swedish and Danish. Finland is to be included in Mr. Badenhop's itinerary because of the dissatisfaction of the Finns at Russian rule. The Board reelected Mr. Badenhop secretary and Mr. Bernard Zwiters clerk.—Exchange.

ORDER PUBLICATION.

Uriah F. Shockley, use of Jay Williams vs. Emily C. Anderson and Isaac Anderson, Administrators of Henry W. Anderson et al.

No. 1406 Chancery, in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Md.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of the real estate of Henry W. Anderson, late of Wicomico county, Md., deceased, for the payment of his debts due and owing at the time of his death.

The bill states that Henry W. Anderson was indebted in his lifetime to Uriah F. Shockley on his bill obligatory dated August 17th, 1898 in the sum of one thousand dollars bearing interest from date, and now over due, which bill has been assigned to said Jay Williams. That being so indebted to the Plaintiff and to divers other persons, in large sums of money the said Henry W. Anderson, being seized of personal and real estate died intestate on or about the 19th. day of November, 1901, leaving as heirs at law his widow, Emily C. Anderson and the following named children, viz:—Aurelia L. Cooper who is married to Frank P. Cooper; Henry B. Anderson who is married to Florence Anderson; Mary D. Taylor who is married to James L. Taylor; Emma H. Anderson; Clayton C. Anderson, Margaret E. Anderson and Catherine D. Anderson, all of whom are adults except Margaret E. and Catherine D. Anderson who are infants under the age of twenty one years, and all of whom are residents of Wicomico County, Maryland, except Aurelia L. Cooper and Frank P. Cooper, who are non residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia.

That letters of administration were granted on said Henry W. Anderson's estate to Emily C. Anderson and Isaac Anderson, but that the personal estate of said decedent was not sufficient to pay the debts due and owing by him; and praying for a decree to sell his real estate to supply any deficiency in payments of debts due by him, left unpaid after application of the personal estate in hands of said administrators to the payment thereof, and for such other relief as his case may require.

It is thereupon ordered, this 21st day of May A. D. 1902, by the Circuit Court of Wicomico County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 1st day of July 1902, give notice to the said non resident defendants of the object and substance of this bill, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of July next, to show cause, if any, they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

FACTS ABOUT MARTINIQUE.

A Description of the Island, its People and its Government. Population 190,000.

The French colonial experiments in the island of Martinique, the scene of the recent awful disaster, have not, according to the publication of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, "Colonial Administration," been altogether satisfactory. While many of the French colonies have been successful and prosperous, those of the West Indies, by reason of their small area and distance from the mother country, have proved not only a burden financially but somewhat unsatisfactory in the demands which their representatives have made and continue to make upon the mother country. France has tried the experiment, as did Spain, of giving to certain of her colonies representation in the legislative body of the home Government and, according to a quotation made in the Bureau of Statistics publication from M. Leroy Beaulieu, that experiment has been unsatisfactory. The French colonies in America, as is well known, consist of Martinique and Guadeloupe with their adjacent islands forming a part of the chain of small islands which stretches in a semi circle southward from Porto Rico almost to the coast of South America. On the mainland of South America near the southern terminus of this semicircle of islands just mentioned is another colony of France, French Guiana, while further north just off the southern coast of Newfoundland is the remainder of French colonial America, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

Martinique has an area of 881 square miles and a population of about 190,000 of which number about 5,000 are laborers brought from India and over 5,000 Chinese immigrants. The remainder of the population is largely native negroes, the white population numbering in all about 10,000. A large share of the interior of the island has never been brought under cultivation, although it has been occupied by the French almost constantly since 1636, a period of 267 years, the only interruption in French control being the period from 1794 to 1802, when the island was held by the British. Slavery existed until 1841 when it was abolished in this as well as other French colonies. Notwithstanding the fact that a large part of its interior has never been brought under cultivation, the island is described by Reclus as "one of the most densely populated spots on the globe; on the arable lands people are packed as closely as in such industrial centers as Lancashire, Flanders or Saxony."

The government of Martinique consists of a local legislative body composed of natives which has the power to pass laws applicable to the exercise of political rights, the regulation of contracts, matters relating to wills, legacies and successions, the institution of juries, criminal procedure, recruiting for naval and military forces, and the methods of electing local officers in the cities and towns. The governor and other officers are appointed by the French Government, which also makes the tariff laws of the island, as is the case with reference to the other colonies. This and the other American colonies of France have, as already indicated, a much larger share of self government than any other of her colonies, and are each represented by a senator and two deputies in the French legislative body corresponding to the Congress of the United States. These large powers of self-government and of participation in national legislation are the subject of open criticism by French economic writers. Leroy Beaulieu, perhaps the most distinguished of French writers of the present day upon economic subjects in his "Colonization chez les Peuples Modernes," says: "As regards politics, we have introduced French liberty into our colonies; we give them civil governments, admit their representatives into our Parliament, and while all these reforms are excellent in themselves, it is unfortunately to be feared that they will in practice result in abuses, and that unless the mother country is very watchful those very powers which she has granted to the colonies will become powers of oppression. The deputies whom Martinique send to our Parliament serve only to represent the malice, prejudice and ignorance of the blacks. The weak executive power in France allows itself to be intimidated by those deputies and sends out to the colonies cowardly and incapable governors whose indecision of character feeds the more or less barbarous hopes of the native population of the island."

Sir Charles Dike, the well known British legislator and writer upon colonial governments, does not join in the pessimistic views which the French writers express regarding the experiments which the French have made in the encouragement of local self-government in their West Indian colonies. In his "Problems of Greater Britain," he says: "Some who think the Negro unfitted for self government point to Haiti; but they might reflect that in the French islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe power is in the hands of the colored people while the islands prosper. The experience indeed of three islands in which the Negroes and "colored" people have been entrusted with a large share in government and the use which they make of representative institutions seems to show that their detractors are in the wrong. The friends of the Negro are now able to point to the progress effected by the West Indian peasant proprietors, to the spread of education, to the undoubted rise in the standard of comfort, and to the prominent place already taken by individuals of the American race. The example of Martinique and Guadeloupe goes to show that it is time that we (the English) should make trial of a more liberal system. It is contended that where representatives of the people are elected by manhood suffrage, as is the case in the French islands of Martinique, Guadeloupe and Reunion, the result has been a recrudescence of race hatreds and the political subjection of the whites to men of color. While we have a certain contempt for the French, considered as a colonizing people, every English writer on the subject admits that the French have been more successful in Martinique and Guadeloupe than we have been in similar and closely adjoining islands. Excellent results have been attained by the French through their frankly accepting the principle that the colored race is better suited to the West Indies than the white, and France has encouraged and helped the colored people to become dominant in the French islands. Meantime, the trade of two French islands, Martinique and Guadeloupe, is, roughly speaking, one-third that of all the British West Indies, and the British island of Dominica, which stands between the two French colonies, shows a lamentable contrast to their prosperity."

The commerce of the two French colonies, Martinique and Guadeloupe, with the United States has amounted to nearly $2,000,000 per annum during a long term of years, a large proportion being exports from the United States to those islands. In the year 1900 our exports to the islands were $1,867,168, and our imports from the islands, $30,176. From them we import chiefly vanilla beans, while our exports to them are flour, cotton seed and mineral oils, coal, lard, meats and lumber.

What Our Navy is Costing Us.

A navy is a costly institution. Large appropriations are essential for its maintenance. From the fact that the warship contains machines crowded together, and designed to an extreme degree of lightness, depreciation of a battleship is very rapid. The design, also, soon becomes obsolete; so, altogether, it requires a heavy outlay to secure or maintain naval supremacy. The actual cost of our completed fighting vessels, and the total estimated cost of those building, will probably reach $275,000,000. This represents but a half of the actual expenditure incurred in creating a navy. In addition to the fighting ship, they are required for naval purposes numerous auxiliaries, such as dock yards, educational institutions for the training of men and officers, docks, and coaling stations. In the shape of auxiliary vessels we must have many gunboats and tugs. The collier, repair, hospital, supply, and training ship each has a sphere of usefulness. It is the indirect outlay that swells the expenditures in the navy, as well as in the army. As an example of how excessive are the indirect expenses in time of war, it has been estimated that each soldier in the Philippines costs the army $1,500 per annum, although the pay, ration, and clothing of the enlisted man will not average one third of that amount.

It costs us at least 30 per cent more than it does any European power to build a warship. It costs us 30 per cent more to keep our service in operation, since the expense of living is greater here than elsewhere. The minimum expense in keeping one battleship in commission cannot be less than $1,000 per day. From "Our New Navy," by Rear-Admiral George W. Melville, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for May.

The Care of the Hair.

At night before retiring brush the hair carefully and braid it loosely in a number of strands. Avoid wetting the hair too often to make it glossy, as the wetting has a tendency to make the hair coarse. Avoid putting the hair up in kids at night to wave it. They are more harmful than even the much abused curling-iron, as the hair is twisted about the kid so tightly that it actually wears it out, and a bald spot is apt in time to be the result.

There is a new sort of shampoo just now much in favor with women of fashion. It is known as the perfume shampoo. It consists of sprinkling the hair with orris powder, leaving the fragrant powder on long enough to collect the dust and oil, and then giving the hair a vigorous brushing. The orris shampoo when thus taken is quite harmless and leaves the hair with just a subtle perfume about it.—April Woman's Home Companion.

Mayor Holzapfel sent another batch of appointments to the City Council of Hagerstown on Monday night. They were turned down, as usual, by the 4-to-1 combination—four Democrats and one Republican, the Mayor being of the latter persuasion. Quite a number of Democrats were included in the assignments.

"Sunday Newspapers" was the principal subject discussed at meeting of the Congregational and Reformed Presbyterian Ministers' Association in Elkton City. Papers on other subjects were also read. After the session the members were entertained at luncheon by the Manse Society of the Presbyterian Church of Elkton City. The wives of the members of the clergyman attended the meeting, this being an innovation in the Society.

No Loss of Time.

I have sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for years, and would rather be out of coffee and sugar than it. I sold five bottles of it yesterday to threshers that could go no farther, and they are at work again this morning.—H. R. FHELPS, Plymouth, Oklahoma. As will be seen by the above the threshers were able to keep on with their work without losing a single day's time. You should keep a bottle of this Remedy in your home. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

No Money In The Business.

Ex-President Cleveland and Joe Jefferson on one of their fishing trips among the Maine lakes employed a boatman who was ignorant of the identity of his passengers. On returning from the first day's fruitless campaign Mr. Cleveland addressed the boatman:

"How much do we owe you?"

The question seemed to embarrass the backwoodsman. "What did you catch," he hesitated.

It was Mr. Cleveland's turn to be embarrassed. "We caught a pickerel," he said, stiffly. "What has that to do with it?"

The boatman flushed. So long as you're so port," he retorted, the hire for this boat is $8."

"We will take the boat again tomorrow if it is not engaged," said Mr. Cleveland.

The man gazed at him blankly.

"Why," he gasped, "for $8 you can get more pickerel than you can catch with them hooks in a month!"

"What has that got to do with it?" demanded Mr. Cleveland again.

The puzzled countenance of the boatman relaxed into a grin. "I guess you won't last long in the fish business," he said.—New York Times.

Like A Drowning Man

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nacoma, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble.

There has been a false impression that the new sanitary law will entail additional expense on Baltimore county. It is stated on good authority that it will cost at least $1,000 less per year to operate it than the old one.

Holds Up A Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter. 'Overworked run down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists.'"

A large number of hands formerly employed at the Susquehanna Paper Works have gone North to seek employment in other mills. Half a dozen of the young men contemplate going to Wisconsin, where attractive wages are offered.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is. It's the hardest kind to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season. Take it in hand right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. Children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H. Bowles, Groveton, N. H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly."

James Smothers, a well-known colored man, dropped dead in Annapolis Sunday morning at his home on Franklin street. He was about 70 years of age and for many years conducted a barber shop.

Reveals A Great Secret.

It is often asked how such startling cures that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. It cuts out the phlegm and germ-infected mucus, and lets the life-giving oxygen enrich and vitalize the blood. It heals the inflamed, cough-worn throat and lungs. Hacks out and stubborn coughs soon yield to Dr. King's New Discovery, the most infallible remedy for all Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at All Druggists.

George M. Johnson of Middle Spout Island was killed on Saturday while driving home from Aberdeen, by falling from his wagon. He was in the employ of Mr. Murray Vandiver, and leaves a widow and two small children.

Wants Others To Know

"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers for constipation and torpid liver and they are all right. I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Helms, Quincy, Ill. They never gripe or distress. Sure, safe pills.

How He Caught The Boy.

Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, of San Francisco, was once calling on a new parishioner, who had a "limb" of a boy. She had invited the doctor to dine.

"Willie," she said to her hopeful, "pass Dr. Mackenzie a potato."

Willie seized the potato between thumb and finger, and before his mother could utter a horrified remonstrance he had tossed it across the table and squarely into the good man's lap.

"Judgment!" cried Willie.

"One strike!" quoted the quick-witted clergyman.

"Willie leave the table," stormed his mother.

"Madam," said the minister, "do not judge him harshly. See how beautifully he put the sphere over the plate." And from that time there wasn't a more earnest worker in all the big Sunday school than that same Willie.

Won't Follow Advice After Paying for It.

In a recent article a prominent physician says, "It is next to impossible for the physician to get his patients to carry out any prescribed course of hygiene or diet to the smallest extent; he has but one resort left, namely, the drug treatment." When medicines are used for chronic constipation, the most mild and gentle obtainable, such as Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets, should be employed. Their use is not followed by constipation as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

Fairview, Senator Gorman's Howard county home, is being renovated, as the family to be up its abode there this week. Now paint is everywhere, and additions have been built to the house in order to accommodate extra bath rooms. The Senator's wheat crop is said to be very promising.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Harby, Yankee town, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.

The Most Common Ailment.

More people suffer from rheumatism than from any other ailment. This is wholly unnecessary too, for a cure may be effected at a very small cost. G. W. Westcott, of Meadowdale, N. Y., says: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for some time and it has caused me much suffering. I concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that it has cured me." For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

Last week the tunnels at Point of Rocks were closed to traffic, and all eastbound trains for Baltimore were run around the sidetrack laid alongside the canal outside of the tunnel. The tunnels will be closed only during the day, while work is going on inside.

Summer Complaint

is not always brought about by change of air and water. The "stay-at-homes" are just as susceptible to diarrhoea; due, generally, to over eating, as unripe fruits, etc.; and, drinking ice water; all accompanied by painful bowel discharges; and, if not checked, results seriously. Perry Davis' Pain-killer is the only purely reliable remedy. 25 and 50c.

Mrs. Samuel Haines of the New Windsor district of Carroll county was stunned by lightning during a storm on Monday afternoon. She has recovered consciousness, but is still prostrated as a result of the shock.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev.

FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.,

Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Chicago, May 18.—In this sermon the

Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage warns young people against the tempters who would lead them to ruin; text, Proverbs

1, 10, "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not."

No cathedral, it matters not how lofty the spires or how wonderful the statuary or how mazy and bewildering the architecture, awes the tourist into reverence unless time has hallowed it.

Then the centuries have covered up the crumbling walls with moss and creeping ivy; then Westminster abbey, with its dark, damp, dripping vaults, has become the sepulcher of dead kings and queens. In the same way no man has a right to give advice or tell us what to do unless gray hairs begin to fringe the forehead or he can speak out of his own bitter experience. It is absurd for the ruddy faced lad to write an essay upon sorrow, when the only sorrow he ever felt was the fright from the dentist pulling his first baby teeth, and what audience does not smile when listening to the schoolboy's bombastic graduation oration upon "How to Win Success?" No reformer can have great influence in attacking a clubroom when he himself is so unsocialable that the hearers dislike the reformer worse than they dislike his teachings.

Every speech, every sermon, every argument, every essay, must be backed up by the personality of the individual.

It is said that when John J. Crittenden arose to address a jury and ran his fingers through his long gray hair his case was already half won. All Kentuckians knew John J. Crittenden would not defend a client unless he himself believed in that man's innocence. You must respect the speaker before you can respect his speech.

King Solomon wrote with authority.

He had drunk from the chalice of pleasure. He had quaffed to the bitter end every cup of woe. He had seen the ups and as well as the downs of life.

He was no fanatic or adventurer. He was the king who sat upon the richest throne of the then known world. His pillared halls were lined with statuary.

The fountains which played in his gardens moistened the throats of birds whose ancestors once cleansed their plumage or sang their young to sleep in foreign lands. His cellars were filled with wine of choicest vintage.

The throneroom and judgment hall were circled by rooms above rooms.

Near by were his harems, in which the king gathered a thousand wives and concubines. As the wit once wrote of

Brigham Young

QUANTICO.

Preaching service in town next Sunday morning at the P. E. Church by the rector, Rev. F. B. Adkins, and in the M. E. Church by the pastor, Rev. O. L. Martin, in the evening in the M. P. Church by Rev. H. L. Elderdice, D. D., President of Western Maryland Theological Seminary.

On account of the cool weather strawberries are ripening very slowly, hence the shipments from this vicinity are small.

A spirit for indulging in base ball seems to be pervading our town as a team was organized a short time ago which has been doing quite a deal of hustling. Victory so far has not perched upon its banner as the games the team has played have resulted disastrously for it. The next meet upon the diamond will be this Saturday afternoon when the boys will play the Rockwalking nine, in town. Quantico, in years past, was prominent among the amateur clubs of this National game but those interested in this sport have become enervated and quit the business so for a few years we have had no team at all.

Messrs. Herbert and Marion Messick who purchased six months ago the well known "Kennerly Farm" situated five miles from Quantico at a price of $8350 sold it last week through the real estate agency of S. P. Woodcock & Co. for $8000. The purchaser was Rev. A. H. Holloway, one of the many men who have been emigrating from other states to Wicomico and Somerset counties. The farm contains 1400 acres, is located upon Quantico creek and possesses some of the best wheat and corn land in the county. With its superior advantages the buyer is considered to have gotten a bargain in the farm.

The Misses Susie Gale and Lillie Brady are visiting relatives in Washington, D. C.

Messrs. Ira Waller of Allen and Elmer Huffington of Princess Anne spent Sunday afternoon in town.

Miss Fannie Gillis and Mrs. Estelle Collier, milliners in town, each returned from Baltimore on Wednesday with a full line of summer millinery and dress goods.

Miss Kate Taylor spent Saturday and Sunday in town with Miss Nellie Brady.

SHARPTOWN

On Sunday last quite a number of Red Men went to Seaford and joined the tribe of that town in a street parade and attended service in the M. E. Church. The company was taken to Seaford on the Worcester. The visitors are loud in their praises of the very courteous entertainment given them by the Red Men of Seaford.

In removing the bank of the river into the new wharf at F. C. Robinson & Co., a few days ago, quite a number of bones were found. Some of these were the bones of a human body, and some were evidently the bones of a lower animal and would indicate that it was the burial place of an Indian and that in his burial his pet animal had been buried with him as was the custom in the burial of a great chief. The bones were several feet below the surface, much lower than ordinary graves. A large place of black earth was clearly outlined. Many of the bones were gone but enough in tact to indicate their location in the body.

The continued dry weather is cutting the strawberry crop short.

Mrs. A. J. Connolly has been in the city this week purchasing ladies dress goods and trimmings for the season.

Considerable lumber has been hauled on the campground this week and tents are being put up.

Peas and "young" potatoes are on the table here this week.

C. J. Gravener has opened his ice cream parlor and started his soda fountain in Phillips block this week.

W. T. Elliott made a short trip to Baltimore this week and returned with a line of specials.

Dr. Mason of Franklin City spent several days this week among his many friends here.

BIVOLVE.

The Methodist Protestant Church will hold a camp meeting in the Odd fellows grove at Bivolve beginning on the eighteenth of July and will continue ten days. This is one of the prettiest groves for a campmeeting there is in Wicomico county we expect this to be one of the largest campmeetings held in this part of the country. All are cordially invited.

Mr. Jno. W. P. Inley who spent last week in Baltimore on business returned home Saturday morning.

Quite a number of our young people are going up the Delaware picking strawberries. We wish them much success.

WHAT LIVING COSTS.

Prices of Necessaries of Life Have Increased Greatly Over Last Year—Small Supply and Trusts the Cause.

To almost an alarming extent have the prices of articles which go to satisfy the "inner man" and to provide material for the growth and repair of the body increased over a corresponding period of last year.

This is the case in natural as well as manufactured products. Among all commodities prices have materially advanced and so marked is the advance that some fears have been expressed for the common weal.

"Supply regulates prices" is an axiom, the truth of which needs no proof yet its truth is demonstrated particularly among those who grow, make, deliver and sell any products. This is one of the primary causes for advance since in some of the products there is a great scarcity, in others only a sufficient quantity to warrant a high market.

In many commodities, however, there has been cornering done by some trust and as is always the case when a combine by that name gets control of any article the price is advanced, and the consumer pays the sum that goes to enrich these kings of America—the trusts.

Following are prices for the past week and corresponding week of last year. The retail prices would, of course, be correspondingly the same:

THE RATE OF THINGS.

Eggs—1902, 15¢ @ 15¢; 1901, 13¢; in crease, 2¢ @ 2¢.

Fowl—1902, 13¢ @ 14¢; 1901, 12¢ @ 13¢; increase 1¢.

Springers—1902, 80¢; 1901, 26¢ @ 28¢; increase 2¢ @ 4¢.

Flour—1902, $8.00 @ $4.55; 1901, $2.50 @ $4.20.

Butter—1902, 20¢ @ 25¢; 1901, 10¢ @ 22¢.

Potatoes—Bushel, 1902, 80¢ @ 90¢; 1901, 45¢ @ 52¢; increase 35¢ @ 45¢.

Rock Fish—1902, 8¢ @ 10¢; 1901, 7¢ @ 10¢; increase 1¢.

Perch—1902, 3¢ @ 10¢; 1901, 3¢ @ 7¢; in crease 3¢.

Flounders—1902, 4¢ @ 5¢; 1901, 3¢ @ 4¢; increase 1¢.

Shad—1902, 10¢ @ 22¢; 1901, 8¢ @ 18¢; increase 2¢ @ 4¢.

Clams—1902, 35¢ @ 40¢; 1901, 30¢ @ 35¢; increase 5¢.

Apples—1902, $4.00 @ $5; 1901, $2.00 @ $4.

Onions—1902, $1.85 @ $2.00; 1901, $1.35 @ $1.50; increase 50¢.

Oranges—Box, 1902, $4.00 @ $5.00; 1901, $2.00 @ $3.00.

It will be seen from the above that prices have advanced all around and almost invariably the cause is that the supply does not equal the demand. The demand is not much greater than in former years but the supply is materially less.

The high prices of butter and cheese are indirectly caused by the Beef Trust. There is and has been a big demand for cows of all kinds and conditions. Let the trust stop their work of grinding the money from the poor people and let the people produce as great quantities as possible of these eatables and conditions will be better. "W."

Minor Crops.

"U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday, May 20th."

Gardens are suffering in all districts from the prevailing dryness. Tomato plants are growing nicely, but they cannot be set out to advantage while the dry weather continues. Early sugar corn has been hurt by the low morning temperatures, and needs rain badly. Cabbage, cantaloupes and melons look quite well in most localities. Sweet potatoes are still being set out; they suffered somewhat from frosts in parts of Anne Arundel County. Peas need rain in all districts; they are in full blossom over the southern counties, and the pods are approaching maturity in places; picking will begin in the early crop during the coming week. Strawberries are ripening over the interior and south, but the cool weather has kept the shipments of the past week from becoming heavy, and the berries are not as large as they would have been under the influence of warm sunshine; a heavy yield is generally expected, however. Potatoes are now about all planted, and are coming up slowly where this work has recently been completed; the early potatoes are generally a good stand, and the vines show blossom in parts of St. Mary's County; bugs are reported from many localities, but they have done very little harm as yet.

Note.—The seventeen-year locusts are reported coming out on the ground in large numbers in the interior and western counties.

—An exchange says that the people who need religion are; The man who lets his horse stand out in the cold all day without a blanket on; the man who growls like a wild beast when his wife asks him for money; the woman who is not what she ought to be; the minister who is looking for an easier place and a higher salary; the man who walks the streets with his hands in his pockets, while his wife carries the baby; the man who keeps a dog and says he can't afford to take his home paper.

AWAITED DEATH CALMLY.

Strange Fatality Shown in Letters From St. Pierre.

Paris, France, May 19.—Martinique mails forwarded just prior to the disaster have arrived here. The newspapers print a number of private letters from St. Pierre giving many details of events immediately preceding the catastrophe. The most interesting is a letter from a young woman who was among the victims, dated May 3d. After describing the aspect of St. Pierre before dawn, the town being lit up with flames from the volcano, everything covered with ashes, and the people greatly excited, yet not panic-stricken, she said:

"My calmness astonishes me. I am awaiting the event tranquilly. My only suffering is from the dust, which penetrates everywhere, even through closed windows and doors. We are calm. Mamma is not a bit anxious. Edith alone is frightened. If death awaits us there will be a numerous company to leave the world. Will it be by fire or asphyxiation? It will be what God wills. You will have our last thoughts. Tell brother Robert that we are still alive. This will, perhaps, be no longer true when my letter reaches you."

The Edith mentioned was a woman visitor, who was among the rescued. This and other letters inclosed samples of the ashes which fell over the doomed town.

MAYOR'S ANNUAL MESSAGE.

Recommendations For the Ensuing Year—More Shade Trees Needed—City Council Organized.

The new City Council met and organized Tuesday evening. Mr. Wm. B. Tilghman was re-elected President and Mr. W. A. Ennis, Clerk. Dr. Louis W. Morris drew the short term, one year, and Messrs. Ennis and Farlow the long terms, two years. The following appointments were submitted by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council:

City Treasurer—Elijah J. Parsons. Clerk to Council—Wm. A. Ennis. City Attorney—L. Atwood Bennett. Chief of Police, Elijah M. Elliott. Street Commissioner—J. W. Kennerly. Night Watchman—James Crouch. Police Justice—Wm. A. Trader. Tax Collector—Benj. H. Parker.

We print below the Mayor's message in full.

City Hall, May 20, 1902.

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen—The citizens of Salisbury have again honored me by an election to the office of Mayor. It becomes my duty in accordance with the Charter to submit for your consideration a brief report of the condition of our city, and most respectfully ask permission to make a few suggestions and recommendations to your Honorable body as follows:

I find upon thorough investigation that our streets are in a creditable condition but believe by unremitting energy on the part of our street Commissioner that some improvements can be made without incurring much extra expense to the city. In this connection, in order to properly drain the streets I would recommend that the gutters in the main thoroughfares should be made of brick or cement and that the underground drains at crossings should be made of terra cotta instead of wood. Our side walks are in a fair condition with a few exceptions, but I notice on account of the quality of the brick used they become very uneven and broken, which necessitates more frequent repair. I would, therefore, suggest that in the passage of future paving ordinances that you require the use of the best paving brick obtainable in paving and repairing our sidewalks.

I notice with pleasure that during the past year quite a number of new pavements have been laid, notably among them are the paving of Division street to the Cemetery and the paving of Broad street from Division to East Church street.

In my former message I suggested the importance of laying out streets that are wide and at right angles, and the planting of rows of trees. This I notice in some cases has been neglected and as there are quite a number of new streets being laid out and opened I hope you will pardon me for again calling your attention to this very important matter as nothing beautifies our town more than wide avenues and shade trees thereon. Notwithstanding the heavy expense of providing properly equipped fire engines and necessary hose for the protection of the lives and the property of our citizens and keeping up the current expenses, I find the condition of our Treasury to be in fair shape and great credit is due the financial management of our city officials. By an act of the last Legislature our charter was amended so as to confer greater power and responsibilities on the Council and I would recommend that whenever a majority of the taxpayers in the principal thoroughfares of our town petition your honorable body to pave said street with brick that you co-operate with them in the work, as far as consistent with the financial condition of the Treasury, using the best vitrified brick recommended by the highway engineer of the state.

Our fire department is in excellent condition and well equipped for all ordinary emergencies. During the last year our large engine has been rebuilt and the small one has been repaired at an aggregate cost of thirty-five hundred dollars ($3500) which makes them practically as good as new, and also there has been recently provided one thousand feet of new hose which makes our fire department more efficient than ever before. Our department although voluntary compares favorably with the paid departments of the state and should at all times receive the generous consideration of your Honorable body. I have noticed with some little concern a tendency to disregard some of the ordinances of our city, especially in the matter of fast driving and the running at large of tramp dogs. The former being a dangerous practice and the latter an intolerable nuisance, I earnestly ask the co-operation of your Honorable body in the enforcement of these ordinances as well as all others.

It has been and still is my purpose to enforce the ordinances of the city, but in order that I shall be successful it will be necessary to have your hearty co-operation and the co-operation of the subordinate officers as well, and with your help it is my purpose to require the police department a more rigid enforcement of laws and ordinances than has been done in the past. If you in your wisdom can devise some means to rid the city of worthless tramps you will no doubt go down in history as benefactors of your race. In conclusion let me assure you of my hearty support in the proper administration of the affairs of the city during the year before us and asking and believing you will accord me the same hearty co-operation in order that we may be able to contribute to the peace, prosperity and happiness of all our citizens, I am

Your humble servant,
C. R. DISHARON,
Mayor.

Pocomoke Fair Grounds.

H. B. Pilchard is to begin work on the stables at the Fair Ground next week. There are to be seventy five of them, ten by twelve feet. Capt. Jas. T. Young will begin the erection of the fence in a few days.

It now begins to look like we are going to have everything ready by the day set for the opening of the Fair.

A large force of men will be put to work and every effort will be made to have the grounds in the best shape possible when the date for the opening of the Fair arrives. The work on the track is being pushed as rapidly as possible in order that our home people may have a chance to train their horses on it.

Trotters are being discovered everywhere and from the present indications every race will be full.—Ledger Enterprise.

FEDERAL APPOINTMENTS.

Five Offices Filled by the President—Jackson Likely to be Ignored—Salisbury Post Office Fight.

On Thursday President Roosevelt sent to the Senate the nominations of the following for the Federal offices named in Maryland:

Robert A. Ravenscroft, for Surveyor of Customs, Baltimore, Maryland.

William F. Stone, for Collector of Customs, district of Baltimore, Md.

Wm. T. Malster, for Naval Officer, Baltimore, Md.

John C. Rose, for United States Attorney, district of Maryland.

John F. Langhammer, Marshal for the District of Maryland.

The offices of Sub-Treasurer, Internal Revenue Collector and Appraiser have not as yet been filled. It is universally conceded, however, that Phillips Lee Goldborough will receive the Collectorship and that C. Ross Mace will be named for the Appraiser.

As both Congressman Jackson and Congressman Mudd have endorsed Mr. Bowling of Mr. Mudd's district for the position of Sub-Treasurer, it would seem almost certain that Mr. Jackson is to be ignored by the President.

What effect this turning down of Mr. Jackson will have on the future politics of the State and more particularly in the First District is being discussed by the politicians throughout the State with much interest.

Many believe that this will result in the refusal of Mr. Jackson to again accept the nomination for Congress and the First District will swing back into the Democratic column with one of her old time majorities.

This opinion has many supporters and is founded on the belief that Mr. Jackson will bide his time and in the campaign next year make the supreme effort of his life to elect and control enough members to the Legislature to be elected United States Senator himself, or at the least to prevent the re-election of Senator McComas who has been opposed to the recognition of Jackson from the start.

Locally much interest is manifested as to the effect, if any, of the triumph of the McComas-Goldborough faction will have on the Post Office fight here in Salisbury.

The contest is between Mr. E. S. Adkins, the present incumbent, and Mr. M. A. Humphreys of this city.

Both are circulating petitions for the support of the public and during the past week the fight has gotten "pretty warm."

Some of the influential Republicans in town think that the contest stands just as it did before the developments of the past week and that Mr. Adkins will win easily while others take just the opposite view.

A prominent Republican said to a reporter of the ADVERTISER, in an interview on the Post Office fight, "I am for Mr. Adkins and am on his petition, but since I see that Mr. Jackson will be turned down in Washington I am sure Humphreys will be the man. I am one of a number who are opposed to Mr. Humphreys because I believe Captain White is backing him and will get the credit of his appointment if made."

And so the political pot boils on, some will come to the front and others will sink but the fascination of it all never dies.

MARY BALDWIN SEMINARY.

Commencement Exercises During the Past Week.—Salisbury Honored.

Misses Mamie Gillis and Mary Tilghman arrived home Wednesday night from Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton, Va., where they have been attending school.

Miss Elizabeth Houston remained to visit friends at Front Royal, Va. The fifty-seventh commencement of the Seminary was held May 24-27.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached in the First Presbyterian Church of Staunton by Rev. F. T. McFadden of Lynchburg, Va., who is the son of a former pastor of the M. P. Church of Salisbury.

At the commencement exercises Tuesday morning Miss Elizabeth Houston played in a quartette, the selection rendered being March der Priester from Athalia, by Mendelssohn.

As the school seldom places first year students on the commencement programme, this was quiet an honor for a talented young Salisbury woman who entered the school in January.

Miss Houston was also awarded a certificate of excellence in Physiology.

Mary Baldwin Seminary is one of the best schools for girls in the South. It has grown from a small private school to have enrollment of about two hundred students from twenty seven states and territories.

It enjoys the entire confidence of its patrons, as it throws around its students all the safeguards of a refined and cultured home.

MARRIED IN VIRGINIA.

Young Salisbury Man Meets Baltimore Young Lady in Lynchburg, Va., and Couple Are Married Against Parents' Wishes.

Friday's Baltimore Herald has the following account of the marriage of Mr. Ferdinand Ulman, son of Mr. Simon Ulman of this city, and Miss Minnie Mae Mowbray of Baltimore:

"Despite parental objection and the fact that they had to travel all the way to Lynchburg, Va., to find a minister to marry them, Miss Minnie Mae Mowbray, of 683 North Fremont avenue, and Ferdinand Ulman, of 937 Druid Hill avenue, were married Wednesday night, and surprised their friends by returning to this city last night and announcing the fact.

Once before the couple attempted to embark on the sea of matrimony, but were unsuccessful, owing to the fact that they could not find a minister who would marry them because of their difference of religion.

Mr. Ulman is a Hebrew and Miss Mowbray of another faith. Once they journeyed as far as Ellicott City in search of a person who would tie the knot, but even at that distance failed to secure a divine who would consent to officiate.

The groom, being a man of expeditious, however, did not despair. While traveling for his firm, he decided upon Lynchburg, Va., as the most convenient place for the wedding to take place.

All arrangements were made with the minister, Rev. F. T. McFadden, and then the groom wired his affinity to come down there. Wednesday afternoon she left the home of her sister, Mrs. Noble, of 633 North Fremont avenue with whom she had been living, and took the train for Lynchburg via Washington.

There the groom met her at the station, and the two repaired to the parsonage, where Rev. Mr. McFadden tied the knot which made them man and wife.

Late last night Mr. and Mrs. Ulman returned to the city and started their friends with the announcement of their marriage.

The parents of the bride are said to have greatly objected to the union owing to the difference in religion.

Mr. Mowbray, the bride's father, now resides at Cabin Creek, Md., while Mr. Ulman's parents are residents of Salisbury, Md.

Mrs. Ulman is well known to many Baltimoreans as Miss Mae Leslie, the name under which she has appeared on the stage for the past four years.

For several seasons she appeared in vaudeville, and last year was on the legitimate stage in James Young's company.

She is 23 years old. Mr. Ulman is a traveling salesman for Parke, Davis & Co., wholesale druggists, and is well known throughout Maryland and Virginia.

DON'T WANT TO PAY TAXES.

Stock-holders of the B. C. & A. R. R. Resist Attempt of Wicomico County Commissioners to Levy Them.

The B. C. & A. Railway Company, through its attorney, Mr. N. P. Bond, is still resisting the efforts of the Wicomico County Commissioners to collect taxes on its property.

The property of the railroad company to a value of $700,000, was first put on the assessment books of Wicomico county in 1899, on the advice of Mr. James E. Ellegood, who had been retained as counsel for the Board.

The railroad company declined to pay the taxes assessed, on the plea that it was exempt from taxation, by virtue of exemption from taxation of the old Baltimore & Eastern Shore railroad of which it was the successor.

Mr. Ellegood argued that the exemption from taxation expired when the Baltimore & Eastern Shore Railroad ceased to exist and was merged into the B. C. & A. system.

This contention was upheld by the Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals.

The case was finally taken to the Supreme Court of the U. S., which dismissed it, claiming that it had no jurisdiction in the case.

This week Judge Morris, of the U. S. Circuit Court, in Baltimore, heard argument upon the murrer in the case of the railroad vs. the Wicomico County Commissioners, to restrain the latter from collecting taxes on the railroad property for 1900 and 1901.

Mr. Ellegood appeared before the Court in behalf of the County Commissioners and made substantially the same argument on which he had previously won the case against the railroad in the lower courts.

Judge Morris, decision has not yet been delivered.

LEVY FOR 1902.

Slight Reduction in Rate. What Money Is Spent For.

The Board of County Commissioners met at their office in the Court House last Tuesday and declared the levy for the year 1902. The rate was fixed at 78 cents on the $100, and this, with the state tax of 17 cents makes the total for State and county 95 cents.

This is one quarter of a cent less than last year's rate.

The Commissioners have steadily lessened the rate annually for seven or eight years and yet more money is being spent in the way of permanent road improvement, etc., than in former years.

The ability to do this and still lessen the rate may be accounted for in the increased basis and the economical and business-like methods employed.

The assessable basis upon which the levy for 1902 is declared is $6,341,464, which at the rate of 78 cents will yield about $4,946,000.

In making up the taxable basis, real and personal property is shown to be $4,840,902.00; stocks $1,417,863.00; bonds $89,700.

The two first named items are subject to a tax of 78 cents, the last named to a rate of only 80 cents.

The Commissioners increased the appropriation for the public schools $1,000.00, raising it from $11,000.00 to $12,000.00.

This appropriation alone amounts to about one-fourth of the total revenues of the county.

In addition to increasing the school appropriation $1,000.00, the board was compelled to provide for deficiencies in the 1901 levy as follows: Elections, $248.74; road supervisors and supplies, $1,800.00; surplus, $2,690.00; court house, $100.00.

Among the principal items provided for in the levy of 1902 are the following: Elections, $2,112.57; roads, bridges, ferries, road supplies, $4,811.82; Jail, $800.00; Alms house, $1,602.89; sheriff, $592.76; County Commissioners, $1,340.40; Clerk Court, stationery, books, etc., $3,000.00; Health Officer and small-pox cases, $666.27; vaccinating school children, $751.50; Public Schools, $12,000.00; Court expenses, $2,500.00; Insane patients, $2,500.00; Pensions, $3,200.00; City of Salisbury, $600.00; Peninsula General Hospital, $800.00; Insolvencies, $1,500.00; Treasurer and assistant, $2,500.00.

After meeting all the expenses, the board levied a surplus of $1,700.00 for the year 1902.

DIXON TO HANG.

Convicted of Murder in First Degree—Judge Holland Pronounces the Sentence of Death.

Snow Hill, Md., May 24.—Asbury Dixon, colored, was today convicted in the Circuit Court for Worcester County of murder in the first degree.

Dixon shot Lizzie Borden in December last because, as he stated, she had taken $22 belonging to him.

The case was tried before Judges Lloyd and Holland, and the sentence of death was pronounced by Judge Holland.

Dixon's nerve did not fail him even for an instant. During the delivery of the solemn words condemning him to the gallows he stood in the dock looking steadily at the court and without any signs of more than ordinary concern.

The defense did not deny the shooting but confined its efforts to an attempt to secure a judgement of murder in the second degree.

The plea was that at the time of the killing Dixon was so drunk as to be in such a state of mental confusion that he could not have premeditated and carried into effect his criminal act.

The evidence, now over, showed that prior to the night of the shooting Dixon's conduct had so alarmed the woman that she took her little son and fled to the home of a neighbor so as to escape from physical harm.

About 8 o'clock that night Dixon took his own young son and went to the house of Burton Phillips, a neighbor, and asked him to take care of the boy while he (Dixon) went to look for the woman and her boy.

"They have got my money, and I am going to shoot them if I can find them, and my gun will fire," said Dixon. He left Phillips' house with his gun in his hand.

In about half an hour he returned and threw his gun down in the middle of the floor.

"I have shot them," he said. "My neck will stretch for this if I am caught. I am going to leave and you will never see me again. I want to kiss my boy good by, and I want you to give him a home," then he rushed out of the door.

He was captured a week or two later after a struggle, in which Dixon was wounded in the shoulder by a pistol shot from the deputy sheriff.

Dixon also shot at the woman's son, but missed him as he ran out of the door. The boy testified to having seen Dixon shoot his mother.

A COSTLY DUCK SHOOT.

Innocent Salisburyans go to the City of Allen for a Day's Sport.

The Sequel.

On the Southern boundary of Wicomico, in the quiet and pleasant village of Allen lies a stream that from time immemorial has supplied power to a mill that has turned out many bushels of grist and sawed many pine logs for the county folk.

The odor arising from this body of water is not always the most perfume like, due to its stagnation, and, indeed, it is supposed to breed chills and fevers, at times, yet, the good people of Allen seem to be as little troubled with agues as are those of other communities.

This pond is the acknowledged home of the bullfrog whose bellowing oftentimes makes night hideous and it is as well the resort of tame ducks in the neighborhood.

Of course, there are wild ducks, too, sometimes skipping about its muddy waters but none does one find at this season of the year.

It was these tame ducks that caused some wonderful shooting a few days ago and a deserved cost followed.

It so happened that a young man of Allen whose time is not all occupied at home came to Salisbury and persuaded two young men from this place to go down to his home to have a frog and wild duck shoot, assuring them that both were plentiful upon the millpond there.

So down they went to shoot bull frogs and wild ducks, as they supposed them to be.

Well-loaded with ammunition, the three procured a batteau and about the pond they began to paddle.

Soon they spied a tame duck quietly paddling over the pond when the young man from Allen said, "Let her go, pick that one up," but the gentlemen from Salisbury hesitated to shoot fearing that the duck was the property of some of the village folk.

To satisfy them and put their fears to flight the host of the party carried them about until a few spoiled eggs were seen and assuring his visitors that they were the product of these ducks, that while the ducks were formerly tame now they were in a wild condition and claimed by no one and they need have no fear whatever about putting powder and shot into them.

This seemed to assure the visitors, so soon they saw another duck of the same class as the first seen and without further orders, the trigger was pulled and duck No. 1 was no more swimming but simply floating a dead one upon the water.

This sort of business was continued until four ducks, all described as wild by the host, had been killed together with a goodly number of frogs.

The young men from town returned very exultant over their shoot considering it a fine one.

But the same feeling was not in Allen when the good people to whom the ducks belonged found that they came not to the pen upon that evening and succeeding evenings and after investigation found that they had been foolishly and intentionally shot by the three sportsmen.

So a short time after the gentlemen from Allen came to Salisbury and made the visitors of the ducking party fork over $1 for each and every duck killed.

At this stage of the game, unlooked for as it was, the joy was turned into sadness and bitterly did they regret their foolishness in listening to another when their good judgment told them the ducks were tame.

The penalty was a just one since no man would have his ducks shot needlessly and it will doubtless cause the duckers to be a little careful in the future.

WOMAN AND FASHION

The Reign of Red.
Red as a color is reigning at present and evidently is going to exert a marked influence through the season. An illustration quite apropos is given by the sketch of a well designed spring suit in two tones and tones of red relieved with black. A plain veiling ing forms the upper half of the skirt, lower half of the waist and the main portion of the sleeves of this suit. The color of this material is technically termed tenebrous red. That of the black striped and figured veiling allied with it is pure field poppy red. Toreador red taffeta bands hand worked in French knots supplies a third decorative element in this suit, and the parasol used with it is of very soft black peau de sole pierced with round holes to show dots of the poppy red silk lining.—Washington Star.

Pretty Blouse Trimmings.

The brown waist or the tan waist, which is the prettier name for this color, may be made to run the whole gamut of style. It can be made up with yoke and cuffs and stock of oriental goods, or it can be made up with the white lace yoke and the white lace stock and cuffs. These fancy materials give it a light look, for tan seems to mirror its surroundings and can be made paler or darker.

There are the most attractive little bands of white linen, with a hemstitching along each edge or with a catstitching. This trimming can be bought by the yard, and it is just right for the adornment of the plain shirt waist. It saves work, too, for it need only be applied just as one would sew on braid, whereas tucks mean work, and embroidery is a matter of applied art.

For the Promenade.

lar and basque forming revers covered with light cloth, beneath which are red cloth incrustations, with tiny gold and silver passementerie buttons. The belt is of a darker brown velvet, and the rosette, with girdle, is of black cord.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hats Trimmed "Naturally."

The best hats—not necessarily the most expensive, but those that spell "good form" and "good style" in every bow and blossom—are trimmed "naturally." Bows apparently tie scarfs, garlands of flowers are placed as if growing, delicate tendrils of climbing vines are allowed to twine themselves around crowns or clamber down the pendant ribbons at the back of the hat. All this requires more study and care and thought than the mere slapping on of miscellaneous and ill assorted trimming.

JURNIER ON OUR ROADS.

What the Famous Chauffeur Thinks of American Highways.

Henri Fournier, when asked recently what he thought of our roads, says the New York Journal, replied, "Bad." He smiled and continued:

"They are to be good in time. The chauffeurs will write and clamor in a deafening accord. The municipalities will have to yield. Would you aid us? Here is one plan.

"Instead of one mile races, which might be run on foot or on bicycles, call for automobile hundred mile races. Only these prove anything. They are run on varied roads, stone, sand, earth. They brave all sorts of weather. Exact races similar to those of Paris-Amsterdam, Paris-Vienna, Paris-Berlin. Blessed are the roadmakers that made them easy!

"Roads are civilization itself. How did Rome conquer Gaul? By roads. The tribes in their forests imagined they were inaccessible. One morning when they awoke and rubbed their eyes instead of a wall of foliage they saw a road. Rome was there."

"We have railways," M. Fournier was told.

"Alas!" he sighed. "They make of one a slave. To use them is to be in prison and a schedule's convict. Neglect the railways, and the roads will be better."

His eyes, blue and limpid, are amazingly alert. "I have been a racer for fifteen years," he replied to questions. "I love horses and hunt every year with them. Perhaps I have the sense of the road. It is not all instinctive. It may be developed.

"I like speed because it is intelligent. Would you prefer to drive a slow horse on a crowded avenue? It is not trustworthy; it is not responsive. And, then, it calls for nothing bright in you.

"Speed stimulates all your faculties. Oh, the beauty of the long country roads bordered by elms! At the bridges the automobile cuts their curves at a tangent, and you have the impression of flying, and it takes your breath. The wagon regains the ground in an instant, but you have lived long in that instant."

NEW USE FOR WEALTH.

George Gould's Generous Offer For Highway Improvement.

When the gentlemen who are exceptionally favored in the matter of wealth come to look about them for the best medium by which their philanthropies can be made useful to their fellow men, we commend to them the example of Mr. George Gould, who has offered to bear one-third of the entire cost of the improvement of the public highways in the vicinity of Lakewood. Libraries and universities and hospitals and churches are vastly beneficial to our communities, and we trust the great philanthropy involved in such gifts as these will show no abatement in the future, says Harper's Weekly. Nevertheless, good roads are essential elements of the success of all of these, and the gentlemen of great wealth who regard themselves somewhat in the light of trustees for the proper administration of the fortunes their wisdom and energies have built up cannot find a better field for their expenditures than in making these possible.

A library of magnificent architecture and superbly equipped with the stores of learning set off in a forest would be of little avail were the paths leading thereto but trails and the highways hub deep with mud. The congregation at a sublime cathedral would be small indeed were the approaches built of mire or of sand, and the beautiful philanthropy of the hospitals would go for naught if the avenues leading to their doors, through their unsanitary construction, but added to the pain of those brought thither to be cured. Hence we think that Mr. Gould's offer is not only a generous one, but prompted by much wisdom.

A good public road is not only pleasant to look upon and to ride over and in the manner of its keeping an indication of good or bad government and therefore a useful lesson in civics, but, beyond all else, it is also an auxiliary of such import to all other public benefactions as to leave them practically worthless without it.

Good Roads in France.

In France carriers' wagons make weekly and semi-weekly trips to the cities from towns thirty and even sixty miles distant. The tires of these vehicles are usually wider than in America. Three or four inches is the average width, and there is a law forbidding tires to be too narrow. One horse generally pulls what would be considered a good load for two in America, and the only limit to the load is reached when there is no space or corner left to stow any more burden. Not only do they load down the roofs of their wagons, but also hang huge bundles upon the sides, and beneath the cart, between the wheels, swing as many big baskets and boxes as they can stow in. The cart being loaded, the good man and his wife and one or two others climb in; then crack! crack! goes the everlasting whip in a succession of risette reports, and "Cocotte" trots away with her gigantic load as merrily as you please.

The Farmers' Best Investment.

The extension of the rural delivery of mail is bringing the good roads question home to every farmer. The government is perfectly willing to assume the expense of free mail delivery over good highways, but is not ready to build roads over which to carry the mails. Good roads throughout the country are the best investments the farmers can make.

Feeding cattle for market is a pleasant occupation if one is so situated as to have the right kind of stock and the right kind of feed, says T. F. Finch in Prairie Farmer. I hardly know which is the most essential, the kind of stock or the feeding lot. One thing I do know, and that is it is very important that the stock should be kept quiet; that the feed lot be off from the road, be well drained and well sheltered so that the cattle may have a good, warm place to go into in stormy weather, and these shelters should always be provided with beds of nice clean straw. Hogs should have their bedrooms in a separate corner, for the steers are apt to step on and injure them. The cattle should be fed regularly, rain or shine. It is better not to feed cattle too early in the morning, as this breaks them of their rest, nor too late in the evening. Never feed more than the cattle will eat up clean at a time and keep the feed trough free from all cobs, etc., which might be left in them. If ear corn is fed, I would break it as often as possible, for the smaller the better for roughness. In my opinion nothing is better than corn fodder with the corn in it. Water is a most important consideration. The tank should be in a nice warm corner and furnish an abundance of clean fresh water. A filthy tank with muddy water is not a fit place for a nice clean steer to drink from.

Princess of Wayne VII.

This fine Holstein-Friesian cow is owned by Henry Stevens & Sons, Lancaster, N. Y. In a communication to the Holstein-Friesian register Messrs. Stevens say: "We are sending you cut of Princess of Wayne VII and her calf."

THE PRINCESS AND HER CALF.

The youngster was sired by Beryl Wayne's Paul De Col. On the 2d day of July last, before the Yeomans herd was offered for sale or we had any idea of buying it, we offered Messrs. Yeomans $1,000 for Princess of Wayne

VII. This offer they declined and refused to sell her at any price. At the time we bought the herd this cow was figured to us at $1,800."

Price of Texas Feeders.

Reports from Wyoming are to the effect that the range owners in that state are having great difficulty in getting feeding cattle from southern sources to eat up the coming supply of grass. It is stated that the prices demanded by Texas growers are from $24 to $26 per head as against $21 and $22 last season. The Wyoming men say that they cannot afford to pay the added cost as the margin, with so much to pay for freight and commissions, is too slight. They say that the additional $2 to $3 they must pay if they take the Texas feeders will just knock all the possible profit off the transaction, and it will not pay them to court probable losses without the corresponding chance to make money. Therefore the situation in Wyoming is rather mixed, but it is likely that it will level off after a while, as it usually does.

Shorthorns and Durhams.

Again there are calls for information as to the difference between Shorthorns and Durhams and the difference between Polled Durhams and Shorthorns. The latest inquiry is from Wisconsin. Durham is the old fashioned name for the Shorthorn cattle. It is not now used by people who keep posted. It has not been in anything like general use for many years. Polled Durhams are hornless Shorthorns. Two varieties exist. One is called double standard because it originated from a hornless Shorthorn cow and has been bred pure in Shorthorn blood. The other variety has been produced by the use of Shorthorn bulls on native hornless or mulley cattle.—Breeder's Gazette.

Calorimeter Test.

Dr. H. P. Armsby, director of the experiment station at Pennsylvania State college, says that he has found that a steer in the respiration calorimeter loses weight at the rate of 4½ ounces a day when standing up and gains at the rate of 6½ ounces when lying down. This is a scientific confirmation of the fact that feeding animals need a place to lie down and that quiet and contented animals make best gains.

Dr. Armsby says further that the heat generated in fattening animals is more than sufficient for their needs and that these animals do not need warm stables, another fact that breeders have known for a long time, but which some scientists have been inclined to dispute.

Watering Cows.

Watering cows once a day may be all right for Professor Sanborn, J. Cross and others whose cows have to walk some distance after drinking and get warmed up, says A. F. Williams of Massachusetts. In watering them close to a barn out of a well I let two at a time and as soon as they drink drive them back and then let two more, doing this twice a day. If they shiver and shake after drinking, I take a stiff brush and go over them with this.

MORE VOLCANO VICTIMS

Mont Pelee Broke Loose Without a Moment's Warning.

NORTH END OF ISLAND DESERTED

People of Morne Rouge Made a Wild Race For Life, and It Is Thought Few Escaped the Awful Rain of Fire, Mud and Stones.

Fort De France, May 29.—The north end of Martinique is now deserted. The last eruption of Mont Pelee created a panic, and the inhabitants of Grand Riviere and Basse Pointe and the coast east of Mont Pelee were brought here yesterday.

As a result of the eruption of Monday, few who remained at Morne Rouge escaped.

Again has Mont Pelee spoken, and again has death visited the fated island. On Monday a party started for the vicinity of the volcano, taking with them several native guides. They went on horseback. Mont Pelee had been silent for several hours, and there was little reason to believe that danger was near.

They arrived at Morne Rouge, two miles from Mont Pelee, Monday afternoon and intended to start for the crater on Tuesday morning. They were invited to dine with the priests of the church, and were seated at table, when, without warning, Mont Pelee broke loose. It was the worst eruption since the one that destroyed St. Pierre. The noise was tremendous. There was a rain of fire, stones, mud and lava, and an electric display which was fearful. Again the people were panic-stricken. They ran here and there, shrieking and screaming. Fifty went into the church with the priests. Their fate is uncertain. It is possible that not one escaped. Others ran for miles. One walked part of the way here, covering nearly 40 miles, and has just arrived. Immense quantities of molten lava were thrown to the southwest. A new crater, about half way up the side of the mountain, is active, and there is great fear here for the fate of the island.

So many people have left Fort De France that the town is almost empty. A tremendous explosion of very black smoke from Mont Pelee at a quarter before nine o'clock yesterday morning accentuated the fear entertained for the safety of George Kennan, the American author, who, with a land party, has been examining the northern part of the island. Fernand Clerc, a wealthy landed proprietor of Martinique, arrived here and announced that Mr. Kennan and his party were safe on a plantation at the north end of the island.

Professor Robert T. Hill, United States government geologist and head of the expedition sent to Martinique by the National Geographical Society, who left Fort De France Monday on horseback for the volcano, returned here Tuesday. Speaking personally of his expedition to Mont Pelee, Professor Hill said: "My attempt to examine the crater of Mont Pelee has been futile. At 7 o'clock Monday night I witnessed, from a point near the ruins of St. Pierre, a frightful explosion from Mont Pelee and noted the accompanying phenomena. While these eruptions continue no sane man should attempt to ascend to the crater of the volcano. Following the salvos of detonations from the mountain, gigantic mushroom-shaped columns of smoke and cinders ascended into the clear starlit sky and then spread, in a vast black sheet to the south and directly over my head. Through this sheet, which extended a distance of ten miles from the crater, vivid and awful lightning-like bolts flashed with alarming frequency. They followed distinct paths of ignition, but were different from lightning, in that the bolts were horizontal and not perpendicular. This is indisputable evidence of the explosive oxidation of the gases after they left the crater. This is a most important observation, and explains in part the awful catastrophe. This phenomenon is entirely new in volcanic history.

"Nearly all the phenomena of these volcanic outbreaks are new to science, and many of them have not yet been explained. The volcano is still intensely active, and I cannot make any predictions as to what it will do."

Philadelphians Died at Sea. Queenstown, May 29.—The American line steamer Rhynland, from Philadelphia, May 17, which arrived here yesterday, reports that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bellew, of Philadelphia, died on board the steamer on the way over. Mr. Bellew died from syncope May 20, and Mrs. Bellew died from the same cause May 24. A young son of Mr. and Mrs. Bellew was taken in charge by the captain of the Rhynland. Mr. and Mrs. Bellew were coming to Ireland to receive an inheritance of considerable property.

Archbishop Corrigan's Successor. London, May 29.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says that at the consistory to be held June 9 the Pope will nominate Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Ia., to succeed the late Archbishop Corrigan, of New York. Archbishop Keane was formerly rector of the Catholic University at Washington.

Snow in New Jersey. New York, May 29.—The cold weather set in Monday night in this vicinity, and at Bayonne City, N. J., snow began to fall about 8 o'clock last night. The snow flurry lasted eight minutes and then turned into rain. During the fall of the flakes the thermometer registered 42.

Blasts From The Rain's Horn.

Narrow thoughts are never high. To despair of man is to doubt God. Death is the only escape from death. The only rule who scorn all ridicule. No wrong path can lead to a right end.

A man's horizon depends on his heart. Success needs not to apologize for itself.

It takes a very small fool to commit great folly. No man can become greater than his own heart.

Spiritual forces cannot be set down in figures. The guides to darkness find their way to their own element.

That cannot be right which is not rational. Forbearance is sometimes nobler than forgiveness.

It is hard to forgive an ostentatious forgiveness. The self-satisfied man is pleased with a very little.

He multiplies his troubles who runs to meet them. A father's love is the best part of a child's inheritance.

Christ would be considered a very poor critic today. The powers we use as toys are unfitted for use as tools.

We do not defer today's punishment by tomorrow's promises. A man has never failed utterly so long as he has friends left him.

When a man denies God in his heart he will deny humanity in his life. Wickedness is a plant that is most likely to die if we cease to water it.

You cannot expect God to honor your drafts when you refuse Him your deposits. A sermon on our duty to God will not be accepted as a substitute for doing our duty to man.

Spear Points.

Conscience is God's deputy in the soul. Immortality is the glorious discovery of Christianity.

Christ reckons not by what is parted with, but what is kept. It is a weak religion that a man can hide from his household.

A conscience void of offense before God and man is an inheritance for eternity. There is no human life so poor and small as not to hold many a divine possibility.

Humility is the altar upon which God wishes that we should offer Him our sacrifices. The same spirit of faith that teaches a man to cry earnestly, teaches him to wait patiently.

More dear in the sight of God and His angels than any other conquest is the conquest of self. No true work since the world began was ever wasted; no true life since the world began has ever failed.

To love God is our happiness to trust in Him is our repose, to surrender ourselves entirely to His will is our strength.

When God designates our work, He will give what is needed for its accomplishment, if we keep in touch with Him.

George B. Eck, of Cavetown, Washington county, accidentally shot himself in the right leg with a .38 caliber revolver. The bullet passed clear through his knee.

It is generally thought that the locusts are far more numerous in Montgomery county this year than they were 17 years ago. The woods are alive with them and the air is filled with their noise.

Callisthenics

Are a benefit to healthy women. But to women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex they are an injury. When there is weak back or bearing-down pains, headache or other indications of womanly weakness, exercise can only aggravate the condition. The woman's health must be first restored before strength can be developed by exercise.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It does this by healing the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It stops the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicine, writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y., "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, and I began taking your medicine. After taking two bottles I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one of 'Pleasant Pellets,' and used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"I have a sister who is taking your medicine and it is helping her." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promote regularity of the bowels, and assist the action of "Favorite Prescription." No other laxative should be used with Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

—It is said that the whole summer of 1902 will be characterized by alternations of great warmth and phenomenally cool weather.

—Elder A. B. Francis is appointed to preach at Rewastico, Sunday, June 1st, at 10.30 a. m. and Marjels Springs 3 p. m. of the same day.

—Miss Edna Gillis spent a few days this week in Baltimore, returning home Wednesday evening in company with her sister, Miss Mamie Gillis.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith, of Philadelphia, are the guests of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Mills, Isabella Street.

—Messrs. S. H. Carey and Arley W. Carey were guests of Mr. Harry Phillips, at Chincoteague, two days this week.

—The Maryland State Teachers' Association will have its annual meeting June 30, July 1, 2 and 3 at the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City.

—There will be preaching in the O. S. Baptist Meeting House, this city, Sunday, both morning and evening, by Elder Silas H. Durand.

—Mrs. L. Ernest Williams entertained a party of her friends Friday evening from seven to nine o'clock at her home on Park street.

—Mr. Wm. J. Holloway, principal of the Salisbury High School, has accepted an invitation to make an address on electricity, with apparatus, before the Talbot County Teachers' Institute.

—The commencement exercises at the Maryland Agricultural College will be held June eighth to June eleventh. We are indebted to President R. W. Sylvester for an invitation to be present at these exercises.

—Postmaster General Payne has announced that the portrait of Martha Washington will be the first American woman to adorn a United States postage stamp. The portrait will be placed on the 8 cent stamp to appear next fall.

—Postmaster Adkins has three large package and newspaper boxes for town use, which will be another convenience for our citizens. It is not intended to have letters dropped into these boxes, but newspapers, packages, books, etc.

—There will be a picnic held at Charity M. P. Church, between Salisbury and Delmar, on Saturday, June 7th., in the grove adjoining the church. The proceeds will be used for the expenses of the church.

—The finest strawberries seen by the ADVERTISER reporter this season were exhibited by Mr. A. J. Allen. They were of the New York variety, grown on Mr. Allen's farm near town. The New York is a very large, highly colored and flavored berry of great merit.

—Now that the gasoline stove is setting in, remember this: If you have a gasoline fire throw flour on it, or meal or sand. Never water. Flour, meal or sand will put the fire out. Water only spreads it. Now fix this up in your mind so it will come handy when you need it.

—The silo is to be a great factor in future farming operations. It has come to stay. No crop can be produced that will yield so much fodder in so short a time as corn and there is no satisfactory way to keep corn except in a silo.

—Bishop Adams, of the Diocese of Easton, will confirm at Berlin and Ocean City, Md., on Sunday, at Ocean City Rev. J. Gibson Gantt will present for confirmation the first class of persons ever confirmed in his new church St. Paul's by the Sea.

—Messrs. W. S. Perdue & Sons of Parsonsburg, who are extensive propagators and growers of small fruits, have introduced a variety of strawberries which they call the "Pride of Maryland." Specimens sent to this office last Saturday show it to be a large, uniform and handsome berry. Its flavor is good, and it looks as though it might stand shipping well. The gentlemen have another new variety under test which has been named the "Boston Prize."

Accident Saturday Night.

Jas. Gillis son of Mr. W. Rush Gillis of near Hebron had a narrow escape with his life last Saturday night. As it was, his horse, which was a valuable one, was killed and the carriage demolished.

Young Gillis, who was under the influence of liquor, started out of town a little after eight o'clock going out the Middle Neck road. Not long after this the north bound fast berry train left the station and news soon reached here that the train had run into a horse and carriage at the Middle Neck crossing. Just how the accident occurred is a mystery and the young man's escape from death seems miraculous. The scene was visited at once, and parts of the horse and carriage and other articles were found strewn along the railroad for almost a mile. It was recognized as that of Gillis' and it was first supposed he had been killed also. He was found however at his father's home Sunday by Deputy Sheriff J. Frank Waller, but was unable to give any reliable account of accident as he was to much intoxicated to know just what happened.

—The game of base ball on Monday afternoon between the Chicago Stars, a traveling ladies club, and the home team drew quite a large attendance of the Salisbury baseball enthusiasts. Many ladies were present who thoroughly enjoyed the good showing made by their sex. The game itself was well played and quite exciting as the score of 3 to 2 in favor of the "Stars" shows for itself. The girls won the game in the first inning when with three free passes to first by Truitt, who was exceedingly wild on the start, and a couple of hits two runs crossed the bag. This lead the home team could never overcome, but tied the score in the fourth. In the seventh the girls scored again and thus clinched their victory.

—The annual examination of teachers was conducted by Examiner H. Crawford Bounds at the Salisbury High School Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. There were forty five applicants, ten of whom were colored. An encouraging sign of the educational progress of Wicomico is the increasing number of teachers who are aspiring to hold first grade certificates. The holder of a first grade certificate not only receives more pay for her work, but there are other advantages which more than compensate for the extra study required to win such a certificate.

—The Salisbury Permanent Building & Loan Association, which had the last legislature to enlarge its powers so as to include banking in its line of business, will be ready for deposits subject to check within a few days. Mr. F. Leonard Wailes, the very capable secretary of the Association, will also perform the duties of cashier for the institution, but he will not assume that title, preferring to retain the official title of secretary. By the recent act of the legislature the name of the institution became "The Salisbury Building, Loan and Banking Association."

—Miss Jennie Mabel Elliott of Laurel, Miss Ida Cornelius Hall of Centerville, Miss Iris Tull of Marion, Miss Marie Richards Veasey of Pocomoke City, Lawrence Hull Chaffinch of Easton, Ebenezer Ethol Parsons of Pittsville and Henry Wilson Saulsbury of Dunt on, will graduate from the Western Maryland College, June 11th.

—A Movement is on foot to elect Mr. Cassius M. Dashiell, of the old Board of Town Commissioners, at the Town Election next Monday, and it is stated that Messrs. E. D. Young and Frank Collins have consented to be his running mates. This is a good ticket and doubtless would prove an efficient Board.—Marylander and Herald.

—We have received of Mr. Chas. M. Stieff, piano manufacturer of Baltimore, an invitation to be present at the 60th Anniversary and Picnic of his employers, Monday, June 2nd, in Darley Park, Harford Road, Baltimore. There will be a military concert by Weber's 5th Regiment Band, 40 men, also orchestra for dancing.

Hot Days Will Come

and Truitt's Dainty Soda Fountain is the popular resort for lovers of delicious soda. Why do so many people say Truitt's soda beverages are the best in town? Perhaps it is because we use only the finest fresh fruit syrups of our own make and use them liberally. There is no skimping at Truitt's fountain. We might speak of ice cream sodas, but you've probably heard many of the ladies say—they are just too lovely—most delicious I ever tasted. No finer soda and no daintier service in the world. That's the expressed opinion of those who know. Come in and try our soda and ice cream.

"One Half the World Don't Know How the Other half Gets Along."

If a committee on investigation should be appointed to investigate, they'd return a report that the one half didn't care much. To that portion of the world that dresses well Lacy Thoroughgood extends an invitation to them to come and see how a first-class clothing and hat store looks, if they haven't been here yet, and then suggest that they'd go to the stores where they've been used to trading and see the difference. To the half that don't dress so well Thoroughgood extends an invitation also, to come to his store and learn how to dress better. Thoroughgood's clothing and hat store is not only a clean store, kept clean, but the goods in it are clean—kept so. Not only is Thoroughgood's store and goods clean, but his business methods and prices are clean. The reason that everybody is not buying Clothing and Hats at Lacy Thoroughgood's is that they haven't tried Thoroughgood's store once. Take a little stroll down town to Thoroughgood's store, even though you come in wearing the so-called late style dinky see-more coat, and flap-leg trousers that you bought in some other clothing store. There is no danger of causing a stampede, nothing rattles Thoroughgood and if you make up your mind while you're in the store to buy a new spring suit and a $6 Panama straw hat you pay the same price as everybody else, no matter if you have as much money as a Salisbury policeman. All Thoroughgood will accept is the regular low price for the suit. The chief end of a man "is the end with the head on." So Thoroughgood wants to talk to you about the things for the chief end of man. The material in all of Lacy Thoroughgood's hats you'll find just a little better than those sold elsewhere at the same price—that's Thoroughgood's way, and "why" Thoroughgood sells so many. Lacy Thoroughgood pays just a little more for a little better finish and finds it a big advantage to the hat and to the customer. You may look through all the clothing and hat stocks within your reach and you'll find that Lacy Thoroughgood's are best for the wearer. There's always something doing at

PACKERS ASSN. INCORPORATED.

New Concern Will Have $6,000,000 Capital.

Dover, Del., May 27.—The American Packers' Association, the recently formed combination to control the packing industry of this section, was incorporated here today with a capital of $6,000,000. The incorporators are: Alfred Bilderback, Salem, N. J.; Henry P. Cannon, Bridgeville, Del.; Cassius Dashiell, Princess Anne, Md.; Thomas L. Day, Ridgely, Md.; William Ellison, Camden, Del.; George V. Evans, Aberdeen, Md.; James H. Hoffecker, Wilmington, Del.; Henry D. Hughes, William P. Hutson, Robert K. Neff, Philadelphia; Charles R. Jones, Georgetown, Del.; Harry Lambert, Salem, N. J.; Franklin C. Probasco, Bridgeport, N. J.; W. L. Stevens, Cedarville, N. J.; James Wallace, Cambridge, Md.; J. W. T. Webb, Vienna, Md., and Charles T. Wrightson, Easton, Md.

The new concern has control of a large number of canning factories on this Peninsula and in New Jersey, although some of the most prominent packing companies will not go in the combination, and propose to run as independent concerns. Henry P. Cannon is the head of the new organization, which was effected at a meeting recently held here.

The independent cannery says they will be able to get all the cans needed and will have no trouble in disposing of their product.

Crop Conditions.

Telegrams to Bradstreet's point to the greatly increased area devoted to corn, and oats are receiving adequate moisture at a time when greatly needed. It will probably be found that all of the 5,000,000 acres of winter killed wheat, and that lost to spring wheat by heavy rains in North Dakota, will be turned into coarser grains, high prices for which have been induced by short yields and strained supplies last year. The winter wheat crop in the Southwest is practically made. The reports as to Southern crops, and particularly cotton, are especially favorable.

Eastern dry goods markets are quiet, as usual at this season. Boots and shoes are slow to sell. Jobbers' stocks are said to be large, and higher prices asked discourage business.

Philadelphia reports stocks of hides accumulating, and manufactured leather quiet. Structural mills are crowded with orders, and the bar and plate mills have all they can do. Sheet and tinplate mills alone are able to promise early deliveries.

Wheat is slightly lower on good crop reports, but strained supplies of corn and oats make holders confident. Corn visible supplies are only half those of last year, and 60 per cent of the stock is in Chicago.

Cotton was depressed early on confident short selling, but rallied later. Hog products generally are rather easier, lard is lower, and butter is also off. Copper displays aggressive strength. Raw sugar is slightly weaker.

Outlook for Fruit.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland Delaware Section, week ending Monday, May 26th, says:

The outlook for fruit seems to grow less promising as the season advances. Some growers attribute this condition to the dry weather and to the low temperatures of May 10th and 16th, while others think the heavy sleet storm of last February is largely responsible. They are more united, however, in the belief that the earlier favorable prospects no longer exist generally. In parts of the mountain peach belt a light crop is expected, but in other parts the outlook is still good, and in the southeastern counties many of the peach trees are loaded with small fruit. Plums and pears are dropping to some extent. Early cherries are now going to market from Frederick and Washington Counties, but the crop will be comparatively light; in Montgomery County the cherries have not yet ripened, but they promise good yields. Apples are dropping badly in nearly all districts, and the returns are not expected to be satisfactory. Some complaints of twig blight are reported in both apple and pear trees.

Reduced Rates To Minneapolis Or St. Paul.

On account of the National Meeting, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at Minneapolis, Minn., June 8 to 8, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all stations on its line to Minneapolis or St. Paul, May 31 to June 2, good to return not earlier than June 5, and not later than June 9, at greatly reduced rates. These tickets will be good for return passage only when executed by Joint Agent at St. Paul or Minneapolis and payment of 25 cents made for this service. By depositing ticket with Joint Agent not earlier than June 8 nor later than June 9, and payment of 50 cents at time of deposit, an extension of return limit may be obtained to leave St. Paul or Minneapolis not later than July 7.

CONTEST OF WITS.

Two Famous Jokers Brought Together by Mutual Friends.

New York Tribune.

There is a certain physician in this city whose professional reputation, great as it is, is equalled and even excelled by his fame as a practical joker and ready wit. He is hardly ever to be found napping, and hence it has come about naturally that great is the desire among his circle of friends and acquaintances to have him so caught. In a Western city there lives a man of similar tendencies, and he came to the Atlantic seaboard last summer only to find that his reputation had preceded him to the summer resort on Eastern Long Island where he whiled away a few weeks. The New Yorker also was there, and when the Westerner first showed up certain mutual friends, and interested ones they were, laid the case before him. "We want to land him," they declared, "and want you to help. Anything you want in this town will be yours for the asking if you can only catch him out and do it publicly."

"Leave all to me," said the Western man, confidently, "only steer me up against him, and I'll see that the drinks are on him."

Shortly thereafter the New Yorker entered the clubhouse, and in a little while was introduced to the Westerner in a casual manner.

The latter looked at him intently. Are you Dr. Blank?" he inquired. "I am," returned the other.

"The great Dr. Blank?"

"Guilty," was the response.

"The Dr. Blank who treats throats?"

was the next interrogatory.

Suspiciously, Dr. Blank acknowledged that he was the man, and then the Westerner, with a sweet smile, asked if he wouldn't treat his—adding that he'd take a Scotch and soda. Dr. Blank saw the point and graciously signed his name to a check representing drinks for all present. But the end was not yet. Just before the party broke up Dr. Blank approached the Westerner with a roll of bills of small denomination conspicuously in his hand.

"Do you happen to have a $10 bill about you?" he inquired, at the same time holding out the roll.

"Certainly," replied the other, producing an "X" and handing it to the physician. The latter, instead of returning the expected change, wrapped the ten about the small notes and thrusting the roll into his pocket, went quietly on with the conversation. This was too much for the man from the land of the setting sun.

"I say," he burst out, "I don't want to seem inquisitive, but would you mind explaining what you wanted that $10 of mine for?"

"Not at all," returned the doctor, blandly. "That was my fee for treating your throat just now."

Fought at Ball Game.

Seaford, Del., May 27.—In the presence of 800 persons Herman Jones, a young man of Seaford, was probably fatally injured today by Ellis Collins, who escaped.

Just after a baseball game between a woman's traveling nine and the Seaford team, Collins and Jones, two of the spectators, got into a fight. The 800 or more persons who attended the game made a circle around the fighters and the battle continued for five minutes. Collins eventually landed a knockout blow, Jones reeling backward, fell, striking his head against a stone step. His skull was fractured and his condition is so serious that the doctors say he cannot live until morning.

Collins immediately escaped and has not been caught.

To Cure Woman's Ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds. Mrs. Pauline Judson Writes:

four months, when my husband became impatient because I grew worse instead of better, and in speaking to the druggist he advised him to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. How I wish I had taken that at first; it would have saved me weeks of suffering. It took three long months to restore me, but it is a happy relief, and we are both most grateful to you. Your Compound has brought joy to our home and health to me."—Mrs. PAULINE JUDSON, 47 Hoyt Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. —$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

MILLIONS OF EGGS.

Brought From the West and Intended for Future Delivery.

Nearly 3,000,000 eggs reached Philadelphia Saturday from the West. There were, according to the reports received from the railroad companies by the Philadelphia Produce Exchange, 8,000 crates, each containing 30 dozen eggs, making a total of 2,880,000. The price of eggs wholesale was 17½ cents, but that does not indicate what these 8,000 crates cost. They were bought weeks ago by the large storage houses for future delivery. Some may be held until next winter.

All of these eggs are selected, each being tested by a candle, and they are regarded as the prime stock of the market, commanding a premium of from 1 to 1½ cents over the other stock in the market. On Friday 11,000 cases arrived from the West, containing 3,960,000 eggs, the largest receipts for any one day this year. Most of these also were put into cold storage warehouses.

Good Outlook for Peaches.

College Park, Md., May 26.—State Entomologist A. L. Quaintance, of the Maryland Agricultural College, has returned from a trip through Kent and Queen Anne counties, and reports that the prospects for a good peach crop are excellent. The Alberta variety has been severely attacked by the peach-leaf curl and the foliage is dropping. The fruit, however, is still hanging on, and there will probably be but little injury from the fungus. While the San Jose scale is quite prevalent, or chardists are fully alive to the importance of treating it, and are prepared to keep the pest under control by spraying. Considerable injury has been done to the strawberry crop in and around Ridgely by the strawberry weevil, a small beetle which cuts off the flowers, in which they deposit their eggs. The damage is variously reported at from 15 to 50 per cent.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. In comparing the number of liquor licenses issued in Ellicott City it has been found that more were issued in proportion to the population than in any other town in the state. In all, there were 11, which is equivalent to one saloon for each 110 persons. At this rate a town of 50,000 people would have about 455 saloons.

On May 27 the Brotherhood of the Baltimore District Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a meeting at Hunt's Church on the Joppa road, near Sherwood, and afterward will make a pilgrimage to "Strawbridge tree," about a quarter of a mile from the church, and Rev. A cyclone swept through Ridgely, Caroline county, on Sunday evening, doing considerable damage. The path of the storm was only 20 or 30 yards wide, but orchards within its course were uprooted, carriages and other light articles ruined, and one large granary was picked up and whirled around on its foundations until several feet out of place.

Thomas Booker and Mrs. Ella Summers, both of Winchester, Queen Anne's county, were killed by a train at Queen Anne Station, on the Queen Anne's railroad. Two children jumped off the bridge, across which the party was walking, and, landing in the marshy shallows beneath, were rescued. The two persons killed were employed as berry-pickers.

The will of Elizabeth Jane Baile, who died in New Windsor, Carroll county, on February 18, has been cavated at Westminster by her sister, Mrs. Fannie Webb, and two nephews, Lewis Carter and Henry C. Nicodemus. Unsound mind and undue influence are alleged. The estate is worth $100,000. J. A. Baile, husband of the deceased, is the principal beneficiary under the will.

Mary M. Baugher, daughter of John Zehner of Carroll county, who died recently in the University Hospital, Baltimore, has entered a caveat to her father's will, by which the majority of his estate is left to grandchildren. Mrs. Baugher is out of with $5 because she married without her father's consent. The widow has a life interest in the entire estate.

The Marriageable Age.

In Greece the "man" must have seen at least 14 summers and the "woman" 12.

In France the "man" must be 18 and the "woman" 16.

Like A Drowning Man

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex.

"I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble.

The City Engineer of Hagerstown is negotiating with the Hagerstown Railway Company to furnish power from the Hagerstown municipal electric plant to operate the Boonboro extension of the trolley line, which will be completed shortly.

Holds Up A Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter. 'Overworked run down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all Druggists."

Oliver Weston Hamilton, convicted of forcing Miss Phoebe Wigfield to marry him, following a felonious assault, has been sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary. The wife has entered suit for divorce.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is. It's the hardest kind to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season. Take it in hand right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. Children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H. Bowles, Groveton, N. H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly."

Misses Maud Fouck, Grace Phillips and Susie Sullivan while driving to Brownsville, Washington Co., through Sunday's thunderstorm, were thrown out of the buggy. Miss Fouck struck on her head and is suffering from concussion of the brain.

No Loss of Time.

I have sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for years, and would rather be out of coffee and sugar than it. I sold five bottles of it yesterday to threshers that could go no farther, and they are at work again this morning.—M. R. PHILIPS, Plymouth, Oklahoma. As will be seen by the above the threshers were able to keep on with their work without losing a single day's time. You should keep a bottle of this Remedy in your home. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

Saturday Oscar Peters, locomotive engineer, made a record run on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Washington Junction to Washington city, 43 miles, in 42 minutes.

The Most Common Ailment.

More people suffer from rheumatism than from any other ailment. This is wholly unnecessary too, for a cure may be effected at a very small cost. G. W. Wescott, of Meadowdale, N. Y., says: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for some time and it has caused me much suffering. I concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that it has cured me." For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

Character Of King Edward.

King Edward is bright, amusing, quick to see a joke and quick to make one. And while in no way handsome, there has always been something winning, his sympathetic in his manner, which compels popularity.

But even this personal charm cannot account for the King's popularity with the people. I think he has won them with his lack of pretension; he desires to appear a simple English gentleman, neither avant nor war lord, neither autocrat nor automaton. It is certain to make his court the most brilliant in the world. But he must know that as a man who does not conceal his kinship with his countrymen, who lets people know that he likes what other men like, he touches the popular chord. The King as a racing man wins at once the devotion of the greatest racing people of the world. As a yachtman every British waterman around the world swears by him. He shoots, he fishes, he raises fine stock, he goes to the play, or he has his dinner and his quiet rubber of bridge at home, just like any other man of his day; nothing to excess, but all with a good humor that carries everything before it.—Chalmers Roberts, in "Everybody's Magazine."

Won't Follow Advice After Paying for It.

In a recent article a prominent physician says, "It is next to impossible for the physician to get his patients to carry out any prescribed course of hygiene or diet to the smallest extent; he has but one resort left, namely, the drug treatment." When medicines are used for chronic constipation, the most mild and gentle obtainable, such as Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets, should be employed. Their use is not followed by constipation as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son.

A Philadelphia and Reading Railroad engine side-wiped a freight train of the Western Maryland in the yards at Hagerstown, and six cars were derailed and upset.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yankeetown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.

A large shell, supposed to have been fired upon Port Deposit during the War of 1812, is reposing upon the brick pavement in front of the office of the Port Deposit Press. The shell weighs 45 pounds.

Reveals A Great Secret.

It is often asked how such startling cures that puzzle the best physicians, are effected by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Here's the secret. It cuts out the phlegm and germ-infected mucus, and lets the life-giving oxygen enrich and vitalize the blood. It heals the inflamed, cough worn throat and lungs. Hard colds and stubborn coughs soon yield to Dr. King's New Discovery, the most infallible remedy for all Throat and Lung Diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at All Druggists.

A Baltimore county reform league was organized at Roland Park last Tuesday night, presided over by Dr. L. Gibbons Smart. A committee was appointed to perfect organization.

Even A Stolid Groans

Under the torment of neuralgia, when every nerve in face or limb throbs and jumps. Philosophy cannot endure this agony but Perry Davis' Painkiller relieves it. Bathe the affected parts freely, keep them warm and do not expose yourself to cold and dampness. Medical science marches right along, but it has not found the equal of Painkiller in the treatment of neuralgia.

A curiosity at the Howard House, Ellicott City is a mammoth frog that has taken up his abode in the rocks in the rear of the ice cream factory. The frog is over 12 inches long.

Wants Others To Know

"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers for constipation and torpid liver and they are all right. I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Heinze, Quincy, Ill. They never gripe or distress. Sure, safe pills.

Frostburg's special election to determine the question of issuing $15,000 worth of bonds to improve the city's water supply resulted in the defeat of the project by four votes.

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valleys are sometimes jeered by the goitrous inhabitants, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that it is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as a condition natural and necessary to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly function, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up ten years of her life between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Freaks of Nature.

A river of ink is formed in Algeria by the union of two streams, the water of one being impregnated with iron, and the other, which drains a great swamp, with gallic acid. This combination of iron and acid forms a pure ink as the New York Commercial Advertiser. All the rivers of Africa have several remarkable peculiarities. They seek the ocean that is farthest away from their course. Their course is always broken by falls and their mouths are stopped by numerous sand banks.

In Siberia, rivers flow over ice, old and solid as rock. A tributary of the Lena river has underneath the soil which forms the bed of the river a bed of pure ice over nine feet thick. A freak of nature is the lost river in Kentucky. It is known as the Hidden river, because no one knows its origin, and it vanishes into a cave leading no one knows where. It flows without a ripple, and is of a pale bluish color. Speaking of color, the Chinese believe that the Yellow river has always been its present hue, except one day about 3000 years ago, on which occasion a great man was born, and the water was clear for twenty four hours.

A singing well is one of the natural curiosities of Texas. In fine weather a sound like that of an Aeolian harp is given out by the well. At times the sound is clear; then it recedes, as if far away, and then it reaches the ear very faintly. These changes take place every few minutes, and with great regularity. With an east wind blowing the water in the well gets very low, and the mysterious musical sound is faint. A strong west wind causes the water to rise and the sound to increase in volume and clearness.

A man made volcano exists in Belgium, which has been burning continuously for nearly 100 years, and emits vast columns of black smoke, rendering the neighboring country barren, baked and utterly unprofitable. At Brule, France, is even the most remarkable volcano made by man. Originally it was a mass of coal, millions of tons. One day about a century ago, the coal caught fire, and it has never ceased burning. The summit of the smouldering mass has a genuine crater.

Letter To John Windsor.

Dear Sir: It is your business to know what materials to put into a house as well as to plan it. Of course, you know the effect of zinc on lead in paint—toughens it. Do you also know the greater effect of zinc ground in?

For a painter can't grind; he can only mix. Devote lead and zinc is thoroughly ground in oil. The result is an intimate mixture.

Your painter can only mix; he can't grind; there's no need of grinding by hand. He should buy lead and zinc ground together in oil.

Devote lead and zinc in that the proportions are right besides. It outlasts lead and oil two to one, and costs no more—less; for hand work can't compete with machine-work.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devor & Co.
P. S.—L. W. Gunby sells our paint.

The extensive system of improvements inaugurated last year along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is progressing rapidly. The length of the tunnels near Mount Airy, bored in some places through solid rock, is in the total about 2700 feet. They pass through the lower eastern foothills of the Blue Ridge and directly beneath the village of Ridgeville. Other extensive tunnels are in course of completion at Morgan's Station, Sykesville, Union Dam and Heister. It will require another year to finish the work.

Impure Drinking Water

is always a source of danger; dysentery and bowel troubles follow its use, every person should have handy a bottle of Painkiller (Perry Davis'), which will quickly cure these distressing ailments. Be careful and see that the storekeeper does not pawn off some worthless substitute upon you as is sometimes done for the sake of a few cents extra profit. Large bottles 25 and 50 cents.

"It is only right that I should tell you," she said, "that father has lost all."

"Not all!" he exclaimed. "Yes, all," she asserted. "No," he said firmly; "not all. You are still left him. I could not be so cruel as to add to his misfortunes. Tell him—tell him for me that my generosity impels me to leave him what little lies in my power."

Convincing Proof of the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm, the greatest of catarrh remedies, is certainly cheap. A generous trial size costs but 10c. Full size 50c. Sold by druggists everywhere or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

135 Mill Street, Lexington, Ky. Messrs. Ely Bros.—After giving your Cream Balm a trial I can truly say I feel very much benefited by its use and shall continue to use it by purchasing from our druggist here.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev.

FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.

Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Chicago, May 25.—In this sermon the

Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage presents in a picturesque and forcible way the duty of Christian fellowship. The text is Matthew 7, 41, "Whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

A keen, shrewd lawyer was one day listening to John Wesley preaching. The founder of Methodism had three different headings for his sermon: First, "Get all you can without hurting your soul, your body or your neighbors."

"That is sensible," thought the lawyer; "unless a man is continually reaching out for something he will never have anything. Industry is the foundation of all success." Second heading, "Save all you can, cutting off any needless expense."

"Right again," muttered the listener. "It is not so much what a man earns that makes him wealthy as what he saves."

Third heading, "Give all you can." "There," exclaimed the hard-headed lawyer, "the minister has foolishly gone and spoiled everything he has said. He ought to have had for his third heading, 'Give as little as you can.' You cannot save unless you keep what you have earned."

So some of Christ's auditors felt that he was preaching the most foolish of doctrines when he used the illustration of the twain mile. They were ready to obey the Mosaic law of justice. They would assent to an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a hand for a hand. They would travel the first mile willingly and pay every penny that they legitimately owed, but they were not ready to turn the left cheek to a foe after that enemy had deliberately struck them a stinging blow upon the right cheek. They protested against a communistic gospel, which allowed a thief to run away with their whole wardrobe, with their cloak as well as their coat. They would not enslave themselves to any merciless taskmaster. For every day's labor they must have a full day's pay. Yet Christ's statement is strikingly true. It is right in reference to the temporal life as well as the spiritual. The willingness to travel the twain mile is the forerunner of all true success. The unwillingness to travel the twain mile is the cause of almost certain failure.

The twain mile is the place of testing. It is where the powers that be choose the men who are to be honored in life's service. There the human race is sifted. There the faithful are separated from the irresponsible, the energetic from the slothful, the true man from the false, the self-sacrificing from the selfish, the one purpose man from the indolent, lazy, shiftless individual who lives without a definite aim. The twain mile is the thrashing floor of a man's life, where the wheat is separated from the chaff, the rich grain from the useless tares.

The Crowded First Mile.

Most of the human race are huddled together and jostling each other during the first mile, where they only do what they have to do. But in the second or the twain mile of life's journey, where a man does more than he is asked to do, he always has plenty of elbow room. As the great statesman once said, "There is plenty of room at the top of the ladder of success, although thousands of hands may be reaching for the lowest rung."

Every merchant knows of the separating or testing influence of the twain mile. When a position in the store became vacant, whom, in all probability, did you promote to the vacancy—the clerk who has been in the store for ten or fifteen years, the young man who has never been willing to do any more than he was compelled to do? Did you select the employee who was generally ten minutes late in the morning, the clerk who has his hat in his hand ready to run for home as soon as the hour hand points to the numeral 6? Did you promote one who seemed to be indifferent to his work and had to be watched day by day to be kept busy, as a mother has to watch a little child? No. The young man who received the promotion was the poor country boy, who entered your store with no recommendation except the willingness to travel the twain mile, the willingness to do more than he was told or paid to do. For years the twain mile young man was the first employee at work in the morning. For years he was the last person to leave the store at night. When the work piled up upon his desk, unbidden by the head of his department he always stayed many hours overtime until the work was done. He was the young man who threw himself into his allotted tasks with such intensity that he made his employer's interests his interests.

Who is the leading member today of the New York bar—the lawyer who when he graduated and could not find clients spent most his time in the neighboring billiard hall? The young man who became an expert in card playing or in juggling the races? No. He was the young lawyer who studied night and day and kept on studying. He was the young man who put his whole heart and soul into the smallest cases which came to him. He did not fritter away his energies, waiting for the big cases to command his services. He is the twain mile lawyer. He does more than he is compelled to do.

How Daniel Webster Worked.

A noted case was to be decided in New York City. The chief counsel for the defense was suddenly taken sick. Within twenty-four hours the plea had to be made before the jury. Daniel Webster at that time happened to be stopping at one of the hotels. He was sent for to come into the courtroom. The next day he came into the courtroom and made one of the most abstruse facts of the law ever delivered before a judge. He won his case, and was paid a fee amounting to thousands of dollars. When the friends crowded around to congratulate, declaring that he had performed a legal miracle, Mr. Webster answered: "My effort was no miracle. I did not prepare that address in a few hours. It took me months and months to master these facts of the law. The history of my plea is this: Many years ago, when a young man, I was engaged to defend a poor farmer. His case financially represented only a few dollars. I think a fifty-dollar bill was my fee. It was small case, but the points of the law involved then were exactly the same as the legal points which I presented today. I went to Boston and bought many books. They cost me hundreds of dollars. I spent four exhaustive months in work upon that case. I am receiving today the reward of the mental labor which I expended for my country friend." Mr. Webster was a twain mile lawyer. He was willing to do more than he was asked or paid to do. The same facts which have been stated in reference to the clerk and the lawyer are true when applied to the successful physician, the minister or inventor. They can be applied to the true temporal success of all men in every department of life.

Now, God in the same way is testing the spiritual availability and the future usefulness of his servants. He tests them by their willingness to travel the twain mile, to do more than they are asked to do. He tests them by the way they go and hunt up the poor invalids in the back alleys. He tests them by the way they are willing to assist in some mission work. He tests them by the way they are ready to teach in the Sunday school and by the way they take part in the Christian Endeavor prayer meetings. He tests them by the way the mistresses try to uplift the spiritual welfare of the kitchen and by the conversations the merchant has with the young clerk in reference to the salvation of the boy's soul.

My friend, you think your spiritual position in life is very humble, but you have a twain mile to travel. That twain mile, whether it starts from the nursery, the factory, the mechanic's bench, the laborer's ditch or the farmer's plow, leads straight up to the throne of grace. God is spiritually judging you today by what you are spiritually willing of your own accord to do for him.

The Angel of the Twain Mile.

The twain mile has for a guide the angel of inspiring hope. The man who lives without ambition or without the hope of making something better out of his life is practically dead. He is like the branch of a tree in midwinter. All its latent buds are frozen. Then the sap of life is unable to flow, but when the spring comes then the snowflakes melt away. Then the air is redolent with incense. Then the tree takes on a new life. Later on, if the tree is an apple tree, its branches are laden with the golden fruits.

The pathway of the twain mile is always warmed by the life developing sunshine of hope. The young man says to himself: "I am ready to work years and years if necessary in an inconspicuous position. I am ready to work hard and do more than I am asked to do because I know that at last my employer will reward me with a higher position." The young college student says, "I am ready to bury myself in my books and work hard because I know that at last there will come a time when my industry will be recomp

NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS OF WICOMICO SENT IN BY THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVES.

QUANTICO.

Children's Day services at the M. E. Church will be held on Sunday evening June 15. An excellent programme will be rendered by the Sunday School upon that occasion.

The only preaching service in town next Sunday will be at the M. E. Church at 8 p. m. by pastor, Rev. O. L. Martin.

Proprietor Bailey of the Quantico hotel has improved the appearance of things in general about his tavern by the use of a fresh coat of paint.

Messrs Herbert and Marion Messick have bought from Mr. Thos J. Turpin of Salisbury his farm located 14 miles from town. The farm contains 175 acres, is partially wooded and has some good corn and wheat land. The price paid is said to be $2500. The Messick Bros. recently sold their Kennerly farm for $8000.

It is a deplorable fact to all lovers of Quantico that soon it is to lose a part of its population, that ere long there will be a partial exodus of those who have long styled the "dancing place"—Quantico—home, but so it seems, as some declare they must, they shall leave because the baseball score on Saturday last was 38-4 in favor of Rock-awalking. Let us not depopulate this small but pleasant town simply because a few boys could not whip the same number from another community at base-ball but encourage ourselves with the thought, that possibly they will do better next time.

Mr. J. Wesley Turpin who has been in Baltimore and Washington for several days returned to his home in this town Tuesday.

Messrs Herman and George Insley of Bivalve spent Sunday in town.

Mr. Geo. Graham left Tuesday for Westover where he will engage in the canning business. He expects to be busy for several days, packing strawberries.

Mrs. Andrew J. Crawford is visiting her son, Mr. Paul Crawford in Baltimore.

Miss Dewdrop Allen of Cambridge and Mr. Harry Messick of Allen spent Sunday afternoon in town.

Mrs. Geo. Venables of Salisbury who had been visiting relatives in this town returned to her home Tuesday.

Miss Nannie Taylor who has been in Virginia for Armstrong and Cator for several weeks returned to her home near town Wednesday.

The Misses Jennie and Florence Bounds are in Salisbury during the week for the Teachers' examination.

Mr. Harry Jones and sister, Miss Lola, are visiting relatives in East New Market.

Quite a number of our young men witnessed the game of ball in Salisbury on Monday between the town team and Chicago Stars.

Mrs. Wm Bounds has begun to clear away her old house, preparatory to building anew upon her property on Main Street.

ALLEN.

Representative Francis W. Cushman of the State of Washington will spend Sunday with Mr. Raymond Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. S. C. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Messick, Mrs. Fred E. Meekins, Miss Dewdrop Allen and Mr. Raymond Allen spent Sunday afternoon last with Hon. and Mrs. Jno. W. Jones at "Locust Grove."

Mrs. Fred E. Meekins and sister, Miss Dewdrop Allen returned to their home in Cambridge Thursday of this week.

Strawberry season is at its height now and everybody is busy. The market is "holding up" exceptionally well and the farmers expect to realize something from their crops.

Hon. Jno. W. Jones was in Salisbury last Tuesday on official business.

Mr. Charles C. Vickers of Jestersville spent Saturday and Sunday last with his family at Allen.

Two of Maryland's Congressmen can exclaim with the poet: "Oh! what pleasure do we see." There's nothing like being in the swim, gentlemen.

Mrs. J. S. C. Allen has been quite ill this week.

Mr. Ashland Malone spent Tuesday evening in our town.

Mrs. J. E. White who has been spending some time in Cape Charles, Va., returned to her home in Allen last Saturday. Mrs. White was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Wilson.

Capt. L. T. Collins of Collins' wharf is in perfect health now. It will be remembered that Capt. Collins was paralyzed last winter on his left side.

PITTSVILLE

Mrs. Ida Williams and daughter, Miss Bessie of Salisbury are visiting relatives here.

Miss Ora Dieharoon and brother, Walter, of Salisbury are guests of Mrs. G. W. Freney.

Misses Elva Farlow, Bertha Dennis, Virgie Parsons and Mamie Parsons were guests of Miss Annie Brittingham Sunday last.

Mrs. Minnie Jones of Royal Oak is the guest of Mrs. T. A. Parsons.

The absence of society news this week must be accounted for in a large measure by the extra large crop of strawberries which have absorbed the attention of every man, woman and child for several miles around. While this industry has been an important factor for many years in the economic life of our community, the crop is much larger this year than in any previous year of recent date. The daily shipments vary from seven to twelve car loads. Most of these are consigned to dealers in Boston and are shipped in refrigerator cars.

Our farmers were recently inspired with new life and vigor by a man from a neighboring town who promised to put a cannery for tomatoes here, provided the farmers would engage in this industry large enough to justify him in doing so. As a result of this every farmer who has a few square feet of ground left after planting his other crops is planning to engage in the tomato industry while some are putting out several acres.

Mr. E. E. Parsons of Westminster is home for a vacation of two weeks.

DELMAR.

George Ellis, an employee in the yard of the railroad at Delmar, was run over and killed last Sunday, while assisting in shifting cars. The car passed over his body and cut him almost in two. He lived only about twenty minutes and was unconscious after the first few minutes. Mr. Ellis was about 31 years old. He leaves a widow and one child, a son nine years old. His life was insured for $4000. Mr. Ellis was held in high esteem, and his funeral, which was conducted by Rev. L. A. Bennett in the Methodist Protestant Church was attended by a large number of his friends.

Mr. George E. Bennett and Miss Ida M. Oliphant, were married at the home of Mrs. Oliphant Wednesday evening, May 28th, by Rev. L. A. Bennett. A reception was held after the ceremony.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Delmar M. P. Church will hold a festival in Hastings Grove, this (Saturday) evening. All are cordially invited.

Rev. L. A. Bennett, pastor of the M. P. Church has been elected by the Executive Committee of Delaware, the delegate to the International Sunday School Convention, which meets in Denver, Colorado, next month.

Mr. Herbert Sipple, who has been ill for the past three weeks is able to again resume his duties at the station.

Mr. Ware Hopkins of Tyaskin was in this village Tuesday.

Mr. John Bailey of Quantico was in this village Wednesday last.

Mr. C. G. Messick who left for Baltimore Monday evening returned home Wednesday morning on steamer Tivoli.

Mr. Knox Insley of Salisbury spent a few days at Bivalve this week.

The Waltersville M. P. Church held a picnic Tuesday evening; proceeds for the benefit of the parsonage.

Mr. Harry Covington of Jestersville spent Sunday last with Mr. C. G. Messick.

We sympathize very much with a certain young man who started out driving Sunday and had to return home on account of rain and of course did not get to call on the young lady he intended; but brighter Sundays are coming by and by.

On account of the inclement weather the Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor did not get to hold their annual meeting Sunday evening.

SHARPTOWN

William Drennen was thrown from a buggy on Wednesday by a runaway horse and badly injured.

While some boys were practicing pump-driving this week the hammer fell on the fingers of Charlie Sauerhoff and marked them very badly.

Children's Day service will be held in the M. P. Church on Sunday night June 1st. Much preparation has been made and an interesting program will be rendered.

Mrs. Lizzie E. Robinson and her daughter Miss Alice are in Baltimore this week.

The camp-meeting privileges were sold on Saturday last and M. H. Bennett & Bros., bought the confectionery privilege at $75 and B. P. Gravenor horse pound at $15. There was no bid offered for the boarding tent.

Miss Sadie Caulk accidentally took an overdose of laudanum a few days ago and was in a dangerous condition for several hours from its effects.

TWO TONS OF HONEY FROM APIARY.

This is What Former Sheriff J. Colby Smith of Willow Grove Expects.

One of the largest apiaries on the Peninsula is situated at Willow Grove, and is the property of Former Sheriff J. Colby Smith. There are about seventy five colonies of the bees which are arranged in rows and numbered. Mr. Smith has laid out a good sized park, but instead of the green sward, he has cleared the ground and it is entirely bare of the grass. Rose bushes of fine varieties adorn this park, and in the centre is a small lake from which the bees get water. As many as six swarms may be seen daily on this bee farm of Mr. Smith, flying in the air. The bees are fed principally on scarlet clover, now, Mr. Smith has just finished clipping the queen bee's wings, preventing them from flying away, and thus losing the swarm. Sheriff Smith expects to have at least two tons of honey this summer.—Smyrna Times.

The Seventeen-Year Locusts.

State Entomologist, A. L. Quaintance, College Park, Md., desires information on the occurrence of the present brood of the Periodical Cicada in the various parts of the State. This is one of the largest of all broods of this insect, and its distribution, date of appearance, and the extent of injury inflicted should be determined as accurately as possible. From this data it will be possible to indicate quite accurately their probable occurrence and injury, in the future. If the cicada is heard or seen in your neighborhood, write Prof. Quaintance to that effect, giving as much other data in reference to their occurrence as you may be able to determine.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somewhat the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

Big Prices For Delaware Land.

The recent sales of the ten acre truck farm of Isaac C. Hendrickson situated on the north road leading from Wyoming to Camden, will give some idea of the great demand for fine truck farms in that section. On May 3, T. Coke Chambers purchased the farm of Isaac C. Hendrickson, of Jamaica, Long Island, for $1600 subject to a mortgage of $1500. On Tuesday, May 20, Mr. Chambers sold the farm to Thomas E. and Minnie Bishop, of Brooklyn, for $3750. The purchasers will take possession and move to the farm January next.—Smyrna Call.
