UNVEILING THE S.T.C. PLAQUE

TO OUR MEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

We students wish that you had been here at S.T.C. on Tuesday, December 8, 1942, for a most impressive assembly — one of which we are all very proud.

You know, we of the Publications Staff, thought it would be appropriate if we provided a shield with all of your names on it. Oh, we started out with just a small plan, but with Dr. John B. May on that plan — how he did work — all day and Sunday, too. The assembly program was well worth all his efforts, for we now have not only a plaque with the S.T.C. honor roll, but a United States Flag and a Maryland Flag as well.

Robert Clark was the chairman of the program — by January he hopes to be wearing the blue of our navy. Dr. Thomas A. Williams, of the Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. Following this, Mr. Forrest Ray led the students in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." After which, accompanied by Mrs. Wm. B. Tilghman, Jr., he sang Kipling's "Recessional."

Dr. Hamilton P. Fox, Sr., principal speaker, used as his subject, "Our Boys in the Service" — Hamilton, the son of Dr. Fox is on our honor roll.

Bob Potter, representing the staff, presented the plaque and read, by classes, the names of former students now in the service of the country. The only former student now in service, present for the occasion, was Seaman, Second Class, James Clark, U. S. Navy, who has recently returned from a trip overseas. Then Dr. Lee A. Rademaker, President of the Lions Club, presented the College with a United States and a Maryland flag. These were gifts of the Salisbury Lions Club, and were accepted for the school by Dr. J. D. Blackwell.

The group then assembled in the main corridor for the unveiling by Mildred Murphy. During the removal of the veil, Bob Potter rolled the drums, and at the conclusion Anne Adkins sang "America" — her voice drifting in from the distance. Boys in the Service, we wish you could have witnessed this unveiling ceremony. Adults in the audience actually sobbed. Ask Miss Ruth. Had you been here you would have known, indeed, that all the students and faculty of S.T.C., and the people of the city of Salisbury are with you wherever you may be.

We of the staff wish you all good luck in the coming year. Any time you are back in Salisbury remember that you will receive a royal welcome at S.T.C..

To Those In Service

"Peace on earth, good will to men" has been heard since the first Christmas. This year the thought has a deeper meaning. For the first time our brothers and classmates are fighting for our cherished freedoms of speech and religion, and freedoms from fear and want. The government has asked everyone to have a Christmas without waste — to devote this season to prayer and to the buying of war bonds and stamps. In keeping with this spirit we are dedicating our regular Christmas issue of The Holly Leaf to our men in the various branches of the armed forces.

Will History Repeat Itself?

There we sat — twelve of us. At last Thanksgiving had come and we were at the bus terminal — books, tickets, suitcases, and all. You know that 11:05 to 12:05 class seemed to be an age. Say, what did we have in science? Oh, well, what is the difference, we are going home. Miss Ruth helped us by buying all of our tickets and had the "modern" S.T.C. bus take us downtown. No chance of missing the bus home. The bus was due at 12:19. About 12:15 the students began sorting out luggage and hugging the door for there were other passengers. At 12:30 the announcement came — The 12:19 Greyhound will have standing room only.

Heck, standing room didn't bother us, for that would enable us to get home. We looked outside — rainy and cold. We looked inside — about 35 people waiting other than the twelve from S.T.C. We might as well go outside and stand to make sure that when that bus came we could get on.

At 12:30 the bus had not arrived. We were getting wetter and had to scramble to save the plans of the Evergreen which decided to blow across the sidewalk and street. Thanks to the students every page was saved.

When is that bus coming — 12:34. Gosh, wouldn't it be terrible if the bus had a flat tire? No such good luck as that. The 12:36 announcement — "The Greyhound bus will not stop at this terminal. No standing room." We were sick — next bus 3:00 P.M.

A THANK YOU

The Publications Staff wishes to thank the Salisbury Lions Club for the two beautiful flags — the United States Flag and the Maryland Flag — which were presented to the college on Tuesday, December 8, 1942.

DECEMBER 1942

Health and Physical Fitness

Lately all of us have been exposed many times to the idea of becoming better physically fit and, in general, of raising our health standards. In the school this year students, under supervision of physical education instructors, have undergone an extensive program to "toughen up" themselves for unknown days ahead.

The students have been given an opportunity to increase their all-around efficiency by engaging in this program. Facilities are available in S.T.C. where all of us can participate in all types of exercises and games. It is the duty of students to keep on with the program to better themselves.

Both men and women will, in time, be called upon to perform some task that requires a physically fit body. Men entering the armed forces discover that it is much easier to adapt themselves to rigid military life if they are in top condition. Women in war work and the professions know that they feel better and are more efficient if their health is good.

In this college regular physical examinations are given whereby students can find out their physical standing. We can tell if we should better ourselves and take careful measures to increase our health, if we are below normal, or whether to keep on with the good work if we are healthy.

So that we may better serve ourselves and our country — "live the most and serve the best" — let us keep in excellent physical condition.

The A. A.'s Sponsor Dance

The Athletic Association Dance on November 20, was one of S.T.C. highlights of the year. The girls arrayed in their prettiest dresses and the boys in black tuxedos danced the night away to the sweet, but mostly "hot" music of Wade Caruthers and his Moonlight Knights.

Wade, son of Dr. T. J. Caruthers and former student of S.T.C., and his Knights, a swing band made up of students of Cambridge High School where Wade teaches, were really "in the groove." Laughter and gaiety reigned as the night wore on. Over a hundred people came to dance under the forest of myrtle and oak leaves which hung overhead.

We will not soon forget the A.A. Dance, the first formal of the year, which turned out to be a great success. Everyone enjoyed himself — in fact Wade and his Knights were so well liked that they received an invitation to play a return engagement at the sophomore dance on December 11.

Congratulations on a swell job, and best wishes for further success to Wade Caruthers and the Moonlight Knights.

A Vote of Thanks

To Miss Ruth Powell, the Publications Staff wishes to express sincere thanks for the gift of $75, the profit on two of the dinners which have been served at the college this year.

Blood Donations Must Be Increased

(Editor's Note: This article was prepared for the collegiate press by the Office of War Information.)

Nine hundred and eighty thousand pints of blood have been collected to date out of the 2,800,000 pints that the Army and Navy have requested, the Blood Donor Service of the American Red Cross reported this week. Donations coming in at the rate of 40,000 a week, must be stepped up to 50,000 weekly to meet the requirements of the armed forces.

New blood donations centers will be opened in Kansas City, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., Columbus, Ohio, and Schenectady, N. Y., in addition to the twenty that already exist, and six or seven more mobile units will be equipped to operate from the new depots.

The blood, processed into dried plasma suitable for shipping, is going overseas as fast as it's collected, and already a number of lives have been saved by donated blood, the Red Cross reports. For example, Second Class Seaman Bill Sullivan, picked up from the water after the Coral Sea Battle with serious shrapnel wounds and a crushed arm and leg was saved by 7 quickly administered transfusions.

Busy December Days

The cold crisp days of November and December find our college organizations more than usually active. Plays have been produced, speakers enjoyed, movies seen, and a general hustle and bustle of activity.

Topnotch Speakers

Our recent assembly speakers have been top-notch. Dr. Harry Denman, Executive Secretary of the National Commission of Evangelism of the Methodist Church in America, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, and Dr. Douglas Steere of Haverford College have been our speakers. Dr. Steere's description of warring Europe as he had found it made a vivid impression on the students.

Our Armistice Day program found Ensign Denmead Kolb addressing us on the meaning of the Armistice. On this occasion we were also favored by appropriate patriotic music played by the Wicomico High School Band under the direction of Mr. H. B. Marston.

Speaking of bands, we are pleased to know that our college orchestra is ready to play again. It has already furnished us with music for several assembly programs.

"The Valiant"

The Dramatic Club, also, has helped to make our assemblies enjoyable. On December 15, the Club produced the play "The Valiant" starring Catherine Bloodsworth, Orland Langrall, Robert Clark, Joe Colgain, and Charles Pitts. It was directed by Mrs. Howard Bennett, the Faculty Advisor for the Club.

The Dramatic Club has had very fine programs for its regular meetings this year. Its members have been privileged to see the play "Keeping Nora Happy" which was directed by Pearl Pierce and Charles Pitts; to hear Lynn Fontaine's reading of Allice Duer Miller's poem "White Cliffs of Dover"; and to enjoy the Christmas

Because of the location of processing laboratories, the 1,900,000 pints of blood still needed by the Army and Navy can only be accepted from people on the West Coast and in the eastern half of the continent. Blood must be treated within 24 hours after it has been extracted from the donor, Red Cross officials explain, and donations collected in the South and middle West would be unfit for processing by the time they reached one of the eight laboratories equipped to do the job.

Six hundred thousand individuals to date have received the Red Cross Silver button, denoting three or more blood donations, and a number of people have contributed to blood banks regularly every eight weeks since the collection went into operation two years ago.

STUDENTS! Here is your chance to help Uncle Sam and the men of the armed forces. A mobile unit for blood donation will be in Salisbury in either January or February. Let us swell the plasma bank! Donors must be sixteen, and unless twenty-one or over must have a parent's consent. Students, why not discuss this with your parents over the holidays and be ready to give your pint of blood? Remember this pint of blood may save a life. The goal for S.T.C. — every student fulfilling the requirements, give a pint of blood!

program at which Ann Adkins sang, Charles Pitts told a story, and everyone sang Christmas Carols.

Ancient History

All of us found something amusing about the assembly program on December 1. The newly-organized Camera Club sponsored a movie showing the development of S.T.C. from the first excavation until 1934, with Mrs. IdaBelle Thomas as narrator. We saw the old daisy chain ceremony, outdoor commencement exercises, bathing beauties of a decade ago, and even a picnic down on the Wicomico River.

Symbolism

By the way, have you assembly goers noticed the school seal which appears on the ends of the auditorium seats and at the top of the stage curtains? Do you know for what the various symbols of which it is composed stand? The fishing boat, the plow, and the farm products represent the industry of the state; the loblobby pine and strawberry bed represent the Eastern Shore; and the sun at its zenith signifies the educational service to be rendered by the school, which is a state institution as indicated by the presence of the Maryland shield.

THEY BUY STAMPS

Here's hoping that all of us do our part to support our country as well as the children of the Campus Elementary School have done and are doing. In their December 7 campaign, $55.40 worth of Defense Stamps and Bonds were bought by these children in remembrance of Pearl Harbor. In addition to this, the children have inaugurated a defense savings system in which they allow themselves only one cent per day for candy. Miss Weant's room reports that they are planning to give Defense Stamps in the place of the usual gifts given as a result of classroom name-drawing.

S.T.C. AS THE ENTRANCE USUALLY LOOKS AT CHRISTMAS TIME

Hard days lie ahead until the lights will again glow, but by next year we sincerely hope that this school and the whole world will again be lighted in "the beauty of peace."

The Ascent Toward Peace

Christmas is drawing near. As it approaches, many of us are perchance, wondering how anyone can really feel the spirit of Christmas with the world in such a riot of battle. Our own country has been more than a year at war; our soldiers are stationed in every continent. Everywhere people are fighting and dying — each nation challenging its neighbor's right to live in peace and happiness.

How can we dare to sing "Silent Night, Holy Night" when the roaring of guns and the crashing of war-ruined edifices destroy the usual quiet beauty of the Blessed evening? Whence shall come the courage to lift our voices in "Joy to the World" when we find it necessary to darken our streets lest the brilliant lights usually associated with Christmas show our enemies the way to guide their bombs?

Of one thing we can be certain, it would be folly for us either to take the Scrooge attitude and say "humbug" to Christmas, or to attempt to change the world overnight. Yet the spirit of Christmas need not die. Each of us can carry it in his own heart; each can do something to help someone be happier at this season; and each can forget his own personal dislikes and grudges in striving to make himself an island of peace in the midst of the sea of chaos. It may seem that a lone person at peace with the world can do little good, but the effect can be enormous. For only through individual feeling of brotherhood and love can begin the ascent to the Christmas goal, "Peace on earth, good will toward all men."

Dear Rhodayo,

Do you still "Luff" me darlink?

I hear a certain flower girl has attended a Cape and since returning goes around singing "Johnny" who knows all about a windy city.

I regret to hear that "Conetti-cut" off Mary Jane's romance.

Say how about that mercenary Reinhold finally striking money even though it is a "ton" of "Pennys" from heaven.

Listen, Deedie is "dicker-ing" around again.

I am glad to hear that "Short-stuff" Riley still has a touch of Texas in her walk. Jane Timmons is dreaming of a "White" Christmas. So Frankie Insley's found her Million Dollar Baby in the five and ten cent store. "You're 'Muir' to me," she says. Don't tell me Edith wants to know "Ken-he" write to me now.

It'll be a "Noble" job when the navy wil "Le-land." It was such a shock to hear that Bill Porter has turned really "grey." So Billy Murphy has changed his brand of sports from "Row-ing" to "Whal-ing." Doesn't "Murph" ever pay her bills? I hear her "Owens" are greater than ever. So "South Sea Island Magic" is the "Lo-is" form of life. Since this gas rationing has come around Down-ing has had a time to get around, but now she'll have no trouble — she's "Hitchin" her wagon to a star. What is Norma going to do After the Ball is Over. Is Betty still "Nock-ing" "Da-shield" in?

Why these rate on Norma Mezick's Hit Parade. "I Dream of 'Jimmy' with the Light Brown Hair," "Green Eyes," and "Anchors Aweigh." Can you guess?

If you can get "Smith's" cough drops down at "Gordy's."

If that Parks gal could help satisfy our "hunger" for knowledge. She sure sends Tony enough "Food."

How long it will be before Betty Brown will be "Cullen" long distance to Colorado.

THE HOLLY LEAF

One Year After Pearl Harbor

On a clear, cold morning in December, the American people got out of bed, ate breakfast leisurely, went to church, read the paper and settled down for a quiet Sunday of rest. In another part of the world the people got up, and were eating their breakfasts, when suddenly planes were heard overhead — not American planes, but Jap planes! Following this there was a scene of hysteria, chaos, destruction, and death.

Yes, this was Pearl Harbor on December the seventh, 1941. This was the day that made Americans realize that a war was going on and that we had a part in it. This was the day that made us realize that we had a job to do — a job requiring hard labor, skill, and patience.

Now, after a year of careful but fast preparation and desperate fighting, we are almost ready to face the world with our might; therefore, it is time for us to pause a moment, and take stock of ourselves. Why are so many people nearly breaking their necks to get a certain number of planes, tanks, and pre-fabricated parts for ships off the assembly lines in a shorter length of time than previously? Why is it that everyone is putting 10% of his income into war stamps and bonds? Why do we all take First Aid and Civilian Defense courses two or three nights a week? Why do we do without so much oil, gasoline, sugar, coffee and rubber? Ask anyone these questions and they will probably answer, "To win the war, certainly!" Yes, that is the answer, but winning the war is only part of our reason for these efforts.

Have you ever thought how lucky you are to be able to gaze at a full moon and not have the dread of enemy planes taking advantage of it to bomb you? Is it not wonderful that we can lie peacefully in bed, just before we go to sleep, and listen to the frogs and crickets in the grass, the whistle of a train as it passes a crossing and rumbles off in the distance, and the howl of a dog some mile or so away, without the fear of suddenly being taken away by the Gestapo to face a firing squad for some minor or trumped up misdeed. I am sure we all like to listen to the sound of rain falling outside when we are drifting off to sleep, thankful for a good roof over our heads. Are we not fortunate to have libraries full of books, where we can find almost any information we want? Have you ever wateched a tree bud into foliage in the spring, stand in full glory in the summer, take on its beautiful fall colors, and finally lose its leaves in the winter winds, and at the same time feel privileged to say, "This is my own, my native land!"

These are the things for which we are working more quickly and carefully; these are the things for which we are learning First Aid and Civilian Defense, for which we are putting 10% of our incomes into war bonds and stamps, for which we are limiting our usage of sugar, coffee, gasoline, oil and rubber, and, these are the things for which we must take into the armed services our 18 and 19 year old boys!

IN Who's Who

The first edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES was published in 1934-35. The purpose is two-fold: First, to serve as an outstanding honor in which a deserving student would be given recognition without having to pay some fee; second, to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of America's leading college students.

This year seven students from S.T.C. will be listed in WHO'S WHO.

Miss Lorraine Hall, now a cadet teacher at Elliott City, will be entered for the second time. Miss Hall has been a member of the Athletic Association and Home Association. Miss Hall received an achievement key in 1941-42, and had the highest scholastic standing in her class during 1940-41 and 41-42.

Miss Francis Insley has been selected — the only sophomore to receive the honor. Miss Insley is a member of the Sophanes Players, the Athletic Association, Day Students Association, and the Christian Association. She has been on the honor roll each semester since matriculation.

Miss Mildred Murphy is a member of the Christian Association, Day Students Association, and Sophanes Players; is secretary of the Baglean-Carnean Society; is co-editor of the Holly Leaf and Evergreen; was representative on the Student Council in 1941-42; and had the highest scrolastic standing of her class during 1941-42. Miss Murphy has been on the honor roll each time except the one for the summer session.

Mr. Robert Potter is a member of the Sophanes Players, the Baglean-Carnean Society, Men's Association and Athletic Association; was Vice-president of the Baglean-Carnean Society 41-42; was president of the sophomore class '41-42; was an achievement key winner last year, and was the manager of the cheering squad his freshman and sophomore years. Mr. Potter has been on the Junior Varsity basketball team two years, and soccer, one year. His name has been on the honor roll except that of the first semester 1940-41. Mr. Potter has been on the staff for two years.

Miss Marion Pranis is a member of the Sophanes Players, Athletic Association, Publication Staff, and Day Students Association; is secretary of the Christian Association, and vice-president of the junior class. Miss Pranis has been listed on the honor roll each time except for the second semester 1940-41, during the past five semesters.

Miss Florence Standiford, at present a cadet teacher in Harford County, has been a member of the Glee Club, the Home Association, the Sophanes Players and the Athletic Association. Her name is usually found on the honor roll.

Mr. James Wright is the president of the Student Council; was vice-president of the Council last year; and was a member of the Men's Chorus, the Sophanes Players, and the Baglean-Carnean Society. Mr. Wright's name is usually found on the honor roll.

WHO'S WHO will be released from the printer the latter part of February. The book is kept at the disposal of all business firms in the United States and Canada whereby they may receive desired information on prospective employees.

The Athletic "Muddle"

And speaking of muddles, that's just what I'm in right now, if, indeed, one may be in a muddle. Perhaps it would clarify things if I just said I was mixed up. But, perhaps I had better write the sports review that is expected of me, that is, if I am to meet the dead-line.

"Off-hand," I would say that students of S.T.C., especially the men, have never been more athletically inclined. Despite the fact that Coach Maggs was lost to the Navy earlier in the school year, the men students have shown their desire to keep fit by carrying on an excellent physical training program.

Among other more or less individual training plans, S.T.C. played a four game schedule of touch-football, a five game soccer schedule and has now entered the threshold of a new basketball season. Due to existing war conditions, the soccer team made but one trip, and that was a rather short one.

At present, Miss Helen Jamart and Mr. William Straughn are supervising physical education classes with Mr. Straughn rating the title of "Coach" for the swell job he's doing with the basketball team. Until the time this article was written the team had played but one game, but this was enough to prove that S.T.C. has a basketball team of which it may well be proud. That's about all for now, but in closing I would like to remind the men of something.

Regardless of what value you might place on your various subjects in connection with the war effort, keeping fit is the one practical thing that should not be neglected. A healthy body is an asset in any type of work.

So, until next time,

So long!

TEACHER EDUCATION NOTES

"Wanted: Young man, single, experienced cook — permanent position. Lovely location on the island overlooking the ocean. Apply by phone before Friday night." Did that puzzle you? Did it make you doubt the sanity of the editors? It really shouldn't have. It is merely an excerpt from the Want-Ad Column of the Book Weekly, a newspaper which a group of juniors published during National Book Week for the fifth and sixth grades of the Campus Elementary School. Incidentally, the sedate juniors enjoyed the program which the group put on for the children almost as much as the little folks did.

At present, we find the sixth graders in the midst of an uproar of discussion concerning our enemies, the Japanese and Germans. Their student teachers are engaged in the hustle and bustle of many drawings, chart making, picture mounting, and research. All this activity is in preparation for a P.T.A. program entitled "Know Your Enemies."

The rest of the juniors are working with Christmas programs. The third and fourth graders must be helped with their dramatization of the old story "Why The

Vibrations

Opportunity knocked! If you were one of the fortunate audience at the first concert presented here at the college, by the Salisbury Cooperative Concert Association, you realize the truth of this statement. The Trapp Family presented a most extraordinary program.

This family group is composed of the lovely wife, the five daughters and the two sons of Baron Georg Von Trapp, and is led by Dr. Franz Wasner. This is a unique group because they still have the same youthful exuberance and spontaneity in singing which is characteristic of the family music-making in their own Tyrolean home. They are known for their flawless a-capella singing and perfect pitch.

The rollicking folk songs, yodels, and mountain calls were played on picturesque blockflutes, the woodwinds of the fifteenth century. There were four-part chorales, madrigals, and the well-beloved classics sung in four languages. We found these nine delightful young musicians not only full of talent, but also beaming with personality.

The Cooperative Concert does not represent the only music we have enjoyed this month, for our own Glee Club has been especially active. On December 9 the junior trio, Dorothy Wanex, Lois Pittman, and Edith Gross; the sophomore trio, Jane Grey, Mary Marshall, and Kathleen Smithson; the men's quartet, Charles Laws, Fowler Cottingham, William Chatham, and William Porter; and the soloists William Stuart, Wendell Potter, and Ann Adkins sang at Princess Anne.

On Sunday, December 13, the entire group sang at Princess Anne, and the climax came on December 20 when the annual Christmas Carol Service was held in the college auditorium with Robert Linkins as narrator.

Years from now, when we are scattered about the country, each one following his own profession, one of the things that will stand out in our thoughts of college days will be Christmas. With Christmas we will remember the Glee Club music, not only in the Sunday evening Carol Service, but also at the Christmas party held annually in the social room. We will see the white-robed singers of the Carol Service in their candle-lit procession, and, perhaps we may even feel that we can hear their music still. Nor will those who participated in the music wish to erase the memory of the happy faces of the people at the Parsons' Home as they, too, were given a chance to hear the carols we all love.

Musical Horrors

ELLEN LIBIS

Music class starts out in fun,
For song is always cheerful,
But when the glad gay singing's done
Our hearts are always fearful.
Plans to write or songs to sing—
Just what we're never sure—
And singing songs in harmony
Is nothing short of torture.

(This "horror" was one of the results of an assignment to write a song.)

FROM OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

"FROM THE HALLS OF MONTEZUMA TO THE SHORES OF TRIPOLI . . ."

The Marines are serving all over the globe, but the opening line of the Marine Hymn may well apply to the many alumni of S.T.C. in the service of Uncle Sam. Every branch is represented by former students who are "giving their all." S.T.C. is very proud of her boys in khaki and blue, and to honor her sons, the old Alma Mater now wears a plaque carrying the names of all of her sons in service. The plaque will be something that later students can point to with pride.

Many of the names for the plaque are well known to some of our present students; many of them are from classes that long ago left Salisbury for the "wide, wide world." Some of the members of the student body may know the whereabouts of those of whom we have lost track. If you know where some boy in service is, and you think that we do not, please check with Mrs. Anna Jones Cooper and give her the latest address. The boys in service often have correspondents among the student body and faculty. Since this column is to be made up of parts of letters received from boys in service, we would like permission to publish excerpts from these letters. Everyone is interested in our fighting men — help spread the news!

From Aviation Cadet James Thompson, 9B-42C, Aviation Cadet Regiment, N. A. S., Corpus Christi, Texas.

"Day before yesterday, I was flying in a twenty-one plane formation, and it is really thrilling, but a lot of work to it. So far, I have had no trouble with flying."

From Ensign Dave Perry, Admiral Hotel, Cape May, New Jersey:

"Have to catch up on a little navigation, so until I hear from you, keep S.T.C. going and I'll do my best to help bottle up submarines."

From Pvt. Wm. Carroll Walsh, Co. C, 15th Ba., Plat. 1, Camp Wheeler, Georgia:

"Have just completed my third week of training and am beginning to like this place. The work is mighty hard and much of it is disagreeable, but it is certainly building me up. Am getting tougher by the day and also more sun-burned. . . . We go on the rifle range tomorrow and will have two weeks of shooting. I have a splendid chance to get in Officer's Training School as an infantry officer . . . I am doing a job that I started preparing for four years ago — yes, it's teaching. I teach two nights a week, and it is very fascinating. All of my pupils are non-English. It makes me feel good to know that I'm doing something worth while. Those two nights a week relieve me of all K.P. and guard duty . . . Please see to it that I get some mail from the school!"

From Lt. Charles H. Wieland, III, 1st Fighter Command, Mitchell Field, Long Island.

"I've often thought of you all, and I can't seem to drop the old S.T.C. influence; rather proud of that fact, too, and it has stood well with all I've attempted so far. My first post was at Maxwell Field, Alabama, where I was washed out on the eye test. When I reverted to the rank of private in the Air Corps, I applied for Administration School — and I was accepted! I was sent to Miami Beach for thirteen weeks training. I graduated on September 16, and was commissioned a 2nd Lt. in the Army. This is a swell post and I have an interesting job. Working in A-3, operations with the First Fighter Command."

From Lt. Albert Atkinson, A. S. M. C. R., 12th R. O. C., M. C. S., Quantico, Va:

"I graduated from one school, and I have been commissioned a 2nd Lt. They put me back in school Monday. I have to go about ten hours a day and have supervised study at night. Everything is so different now that I am an officer. I'm treated as a gentleman and not as a "dumb" private. Write soon and give me the news."

From Aviation Cadet Hugh Smith, U. S. N. R., N. A. S. Cadet Regiment, Class 10-C, Corpus Christi, Texas:

"I'm at Rodd Field — about ten miles from the main base. We fly here seven days a week. This week-end I'll fly Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning; then get off Sunday afternoon. If the sun is out, I'll swim and read out in the sun all afternoon. It's warm enough here that we don't have to use any kind of a jacket for flying — just a shirt. I went to Corpus Christi last Saturday and met and talked with Swive, Tom Hardy, and Jim Thompson. I have a long way to go before I ever get out of here."

From Tech. Sgt. Mark Atkinson, Office of the Signal Officer, Hq. VIII Corps, Brownwood, Texas:

"I will try to give you an account of the "Stage Door Canteen" in the nation's capitol.

"The site of one of the nation's largest recreational centers for men in the armed forces is located in a very quaint old brick theatre in the north-west section of Washington. A place not getting much publicity; a person runs into it by invitation of a friend or by chance. Probably more theatrical performers and politicians have visited the Stage Door than any other similar organization in America.

"My first visit to the Stage Door was not to enjoy a free meal but to enjoy the entertainment offered by such performers as Lynne Fontaine, Paul Robeson, and Ethel Waters. While enjoying a short skit of Othello being portrayed by Paul Robeson, I was confronted by a rather short fat man with a tray in his hands, which was decorated with doughnuts and coffee. Not knowing what day my small acquaintance with the nation's price administrator might help terminate the war, I assured Mr. Leon Henderson that I would take a cup of his rationed coffee and sugar-coated doughnuts, and I thoroughly enjoyed meeting him. Had I accepted similar offers from Wendell Wilkie, Senator Tydings, Carter Glass, and all the others, I would have never wanted another doughnut. It was an unusual sight to see such men as

I SEE BY THE BULLETIN BOARD

Down the hall by the faculty room is a special bulletin board arranged by Mrs. Anna Jones Cooper. The board is devoted to the men in service - - of whom we are very proud.

The feature items are pictures of boys whom the camera caught in uniform. Among those "on stage" at present are 2nd Lt. Atkinson, U. S. Marine Corps; Warrant Officer Robert Elderdice, Army; 2nd Lt. Walt McAllister, Army Air Corps; Sgt. Sam Colgain, U. S. Army in Australia; Ensign Fred Marvil, Naval Air Corps; Aviation Cadet Hugh Smith, Naval Air Corps; Aviation Cadet Lee Smith, Army Air Corps; Lt. Carl Pusey, Army; Seaman 2/c Jim Clark, Navy; Pvt. Carroll Walsh, Army; Apprentice Jim Kerr, Navy; Aviation Cadet William Kent, Naval Air Corps; Aviation Cadet William Newcomb, Naval Air Corps; and Pfc. Wilson Duncan, Army.

There is a letter from Pfc. Austin Loreman — bearing a Hawaiian dateline — in the center of the board. Sgt. Jimmy Hyde, who is stationed in England has sent a "V" mail letter that is displayed on the board.

Especially bright spots are announcements of commissions and promotions. Al Atkinson has graduated from the Marine officers' Candidate School with a 2nd Lt.'s commission. George Davis has entered the Army Air Corps as a 2nd Lt. Lt. Robert Doenges has just received his silver bar.

Orchids to Mrs. Cooper for a splendid contribution that has not as yet received proper recognition.

Chimes Rang." We judge that they are also learning to sing the Christmas carols, for often we hear the strains of "Silent Night" coming from their room.

Christmas is also the main interest of the first and second grade student teachers. The program in this room is to be broadcast over a tin can microphone. There will be a play about "The Christmas Trees" and numerous songs and poems. A quartet is going to sing and the rhythm band will perform. The juniors are certain the program will be interesting, so don't forget to "tune in." The "station" is WABC.

DECEMBER 1942

Clark Tells Experiences

(Approved for publication by Office of War Information)

"Join the Navy and see the world — from a life-raft!"

Seaman 2/c Jim Clark, U. S. Navy, has just returned home from a very thrilling adventure. Jim — a member of the class of '43 — was aerographer striker aboard the Edward Rutledge, a transport sunk off Fedala, Morocco. The ship had been a part of the great convoy engaged in taking the American soldiers to start the African second front.

After a fairly calm trip over the Atlantic, the Edward Rutledge unloaded its troops. All the troops had left the ship, with the exception of a small clean-up detail. The ships were lying about a mile off-shore, waiting for a convoy to start back home. About dusk one evening, while most of the men were at chow, the ship just off the starboard-bow was struck by two torpedoes. Immediately, the skipper of the Edward Rutledge — Captain Hutchinson — called general quarters. The men rushed from the mess hall, and thus, by the quick action of the Captain, the men were at their posts when the blow struck.

They were waiting expectantly for what happened. A torpedo struck the starboard side. About twenty-five seconds later a second struck. Jim was on the bridge, and he ran through the chartroom to the port wing of the bridge. He and another sailor pulled the pins out of a life raft to set it adrift. Then, Jim scrambled down a debarkation net as far as he could go. He had to drop the last ten feet to the water. Almost as soon as he hit the water, Jim swam to a nearby life raft and hung to it until he was picked up by a landing boat. After a bit of trouble with the landing boat, he reached the shore dripping wet and with no clothes but what he had on.

Due to the quick action of Captain Hutchinson the loss of life on the Edward Rutledge was less than on any other of those sunk. The ship remained afloat long enough for every one to get off. All of the sick and wounded were removed. One man even had time to run below to get his money. He got it from his locker and put it in his pants and went on the deck. Once on the deck, he took off his pants and jumped over the side, leaving his pants — and his money — to go down with the ship. Jim was lucky; his money was in his pants and it was saved, all seventy-five cents!

The men of the torpedoed ships had to remain "on the beach" until means to return them to the United States could be obtained. While Jim was on the beach, he was quartered in a church. Since his clothes were all wet, he was given an Army shirt and a blanket, and told to take off his clothes and wear the shirt and blanket.

All that Jim now has left to remind him of his escapade are the shoes that he had on when he went over the side. His only souvenirs of his stay in Africa are a few French coins that he bought from some little Arab children.

Jim will be ready to get back when his furlough is up. All he asks is that he get the same skipper — Captain Hutchinson.

Best luck to one of the courageous fighting men of our Navy, Seaman 2/c James Clark.

Leon Henderson and Spencer Tracy dressed in white aprons and supporting serving trays. All senators, representatives, and important leaders of the President's cabinet alternate their nights of duty at the Stage Door Canteen."

From Robert Reid, U. S. Army Air Force:

"I was called into the Army on October 6, and I reported to Fort Meade. While I was there, I was given aptitude tests, and I passed them and was assigned to the Army Air Force Training School. I selected Engine Mechanics. At present, I am at the Air Force Reception Center in Miami Beach, Florida."

From Lee Smith, U. S. Army Air Corps, Shaw Field, South Carolina:

"I'm here learning mechanical work, working seven hours a day, seven days a week, and taking a course in physical education on the side to become an instructor of calisthenics. I want to get in Officer's Candidate School."

From Lt. William O. Blades, U. S. Army in England:

"At first this left hand traffic seemed a bit confusing, even more so when the vehicle approaching suddenly appears with one person visible on the right hand side and you momentarily wonder where . . . the driver is."

"Would give a month's salary to date an American girl and spend an evening dancing to an American dance band. We have met some really fine girls — thank God for 'em — they at least provide a break from the drab grimness of our daily routine. Most of them are pale and colorless — they can't dance . . . — none of them!"

From William Newcomb, U. S. Naval Air Corps, Corpus Christi, Texas:

"I've been getting plenty of flying. My checks have all been ups so far — gosh, it feels good to know that you're progressing well enough for up checks."

As this goes to press, we have just received a letter from Lt. Walter McAllister, Army Air Forces, Navigation School, Hondo, Texas.

Walt, we are glad you liked the "Holly Leaf." Of course, we'll send you a copy of each issue.

We are pleased to publish the following extract from Lt. McAllister's letter:

"I see some of the S.T.C. boys occasionally in various parts of the country. Recently I ran into Ralph "Hezzy" Ross in San Antonio; he is now in officer's training school. I saw Homer Disharoon two weeks ago at the San Antonio Cadet Center, a preflight school. Bob Elderdice is at El Paso, and Henry Frey at Camp Gordon, Ga. I saw Bill Blades in Oklahoma City the night before he started his trip over seas. Willis Conover is now at Fort Meade. So far I haven't seen any of the boys who came down to Corpus Christi, which is about 45 minutes by plane from here."

THE HOLLY LEAF

Limited Space

The editorial staff regrets that it can not use all copy submitted. Some of the feature stories will be used in the next issue. Space permits the publication of excerpts from a few of the speeches given at the dedicatory service.

In part Dr. Rademaker said:

"Some of these names on the plaque which we will soon unveil will bear gold stars before this conflict is over. Let us all determine that we will keep America a country all will be proud of; that their supreme sacrifices will not have been made in vain. Let us keep their parents proud of the America for which these sacrifices were made."

"Thus, with the flags of our state and country always before you, with your roll of honor, you and all who stand before this plaque may feel more deeply that loyalty; more proudly the knowledge that you are an American first, last and always."

President Blackwell said:

It gives me genuine pleasure, on behalf of the members of the faculty and student body, to accept the S.T.C. Honor Roll Plaque presented by Mr. Robert Potter, representing the publications staff of the college. It is and will remain, a symbol of appreciation for the service being rendered by former S.T.C. students now in active Service. This Plaque will be given a place of prominence where it will serve as an inspiration to all. As a college, we are glad to have had a part in the training of these young people for efficient service to our Country. May each of us likewise ever place "service above self."

THANKS DR. MAY

Speaking for the student body, the staff wishes to sincerely thank Dr. May for making the Honor Roll Plaque a reality.
