LARGE PROPERTY SALE

Horatio Nelson Real Estate Brings Over $31,000.

One of the largest public sales of real estate in many years occurred here Saturday when Joseph L. Bailey trustee for the heirs of the late Horatio Nelson, sold their holdings in Quantico district. Much of the real estate is located in the town of Hebron.

This land was divided into 30 separate tracts, several of them building lots in the town of Hebron. It is estimated that the timber land contained about 2,000,000 feet of pine timber.

The sales in the aggregate amounted to $31,000. James A. Waller was the purchaser of all the land offered on the north side of the Baltimore, Chesapeake, and Atlantic Railway for $18,100.

A. M. Jackson, attorney for the G. A. Bouson Company of Hebron, purchased all the land on the south of the railroad for the sum of $11,900. This comprises 55 acres of timber land and nine building lots in Hebron.

Death of Mrs. Hearn.

The community was shocked Monday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Mary L. Hearn, wife of Mr. Arthur A. Hearn, at her home, North Division Street. Deceased was a daughter of Benjamin S. and Sarah E. White, of Whiteville, Del., and was born April 17th, 1880. She was a consistent and devoted member of the M. E. Church of Whiteville, transferring her membership to the Asbury M. E. Church in Salisbury, when her husband moved here about two years ago. Deceased is survived by a husband and four small children. Remains were carried to Whiteville Wednesday for interment. The warm sympathy of this community goes out to the young husband in his great bereavement.

MARRIAGE BELLS RING

Out in Salisbury and County—Weddings Beautifully Attended.

A very attractive wedding took place Tuesday evening in Trinity M. E. Church, South, when Miss Agnes Lillian Edwards, daughter of Rev. W. H. Edwards, D. D., Presiding Elder of the Eastern Shore District, Virginia Conference, became the bride of Mr. Benjamin S. Woolston. The church was handsomely decorated in evergreens, potted plants and chrysanthemums. The wedding was preceded by organ recital by Professor Bland.

Promptly at nine o'clock the bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus, "Faithful and True" sung by choir of sixteen voices. The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She wore an exquisite gown of white satin with pearl trimmings with long veil and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses. Mrs. William Edwards, of Reedville, Va., was matron of honor. She was groomed in blue satin and carried pink chrysanthemums. Miss Mary Edwards, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Her gown was of pin satin and she carried pink chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Doris Hunt, of Capeville, Va., Miss Elizabeth Reed, of Reedville, Va., Miss Sara Phillips, and Miss Edna Woolston, of Salisbury. They all wore white messaline gowns and carried chrysanthemums. Little Miss Cockrell, the flower girl, carried chrysanthemums and mistletoe. Mr. Woolston was attended by his brother, Mr. W. W. Woolston as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Horace Miller Clark, A. Wilson Mattox, William Phillips, Littleton C. Edwards and W. T. Edwards. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Carey, pastor of the church.

The wedding was quite a society event. Long before the hour for the ceremony the church was crowded to the doors. The bride received many valuable and beautiful gifts.

After the ceremony the bridal party and relatives were elaborately entertained at the home of the bride. The house was beautifully decorated throughout the color scheme being green and white; chrysanthemums and mistletoe being used in profusion. One of the features of the decoration was a large bell suspended over the centre of the table in the dining room and candles of many beautiful shades added to the beauty of the scene.

After the reception the happy couple left on the midnight express for a tour of the northern cities. On their return they will reside at "High Point," a beautiful spot on the banks of the Wicomico river near Salisbury where the groom has erected a new home. In addition to those who took part in the ceremony the following out of town visitors were present at the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Reed, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Cockrell, Mrs. Thos. Cockrell, Mr. Wm. T. Edwards and Mr. John Hinton, of Reedville, Va. Miss Florence Gale, of Richmond and Miss Louise Dindon, of Northumberland County, Virginia.

Proceedings of County Commissioners.

Edward E. Brittingham was appointed constable for Pittsburg District. His bond was filed and approved.

Bills for election expenses were audited, passed and ordered paid on and after January 1, 1911.

Report of G. E. Jackson, M. E. Morris and Henry Jones, examiners appointed to widen and straighten the road from Powellville to Nassawango, was taken up, but objections having been filed the report was laid over.

Report of E. J. Adkins, W. O. Brady and E. M. Clark, commissioners appointed to widen and straighten the road from Hebron to the Horsey land on the Quantico road was ratified.

A request was made to repair the road across marsh to Athol wharf. Referred to Messrs. Clark and Taylor.

A request was also made to complete the working of the road from Quantico out to the Alms House.

A delegation of Taxpayers from Kentland was before the board and asked to have the work on the Meadow Bridge road resumed. The board stated that so far they had been unable to secure the shells, but they were willing to have the balance of cement work done on the bridge and the lower end of the road graded so that it would be put in a serviceable condition.

Board adjourned to meet December 18th.

At the eighth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peninsula Produce Exchange of Maryland held at Pocomoke the secretary's report on the year's business again showed an increase over the business of the previous year. Orlando Harrison of Berlin was elected president and W. O. Outlen, of Pocomoke secretary treasurer and general manager.

49 CITIES OVER 100,000.

But Agricultural Sections Show Only A Small Increase—Lows Shows Decrease.

With only Portland, Ore., Seattle and Spokane, Wash., Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., missing the cities of the United States of 25,000 and over have an aggregate population of 27,909,886. This announcement is made in a recapitulation bulletin just issued by the Census Bureau.

Forty-seven of the cities contain more than 100,000 and of this number 11 have risen into the 100,000 class since the census of 1900. There has been a much larger growth in the cities below 100,000 than in those above, the percentage for the former being 39.4, as against 31.8 for the latter.

Portland and Seattle will be added to the class of larger cities. In 1900 Portland had 90,436 and Seattle 80,671, so that there will be at least 49 cities in the country containing more than 100,000 each.

The recapitulation covers the detailed figures for 18 states, including Arizona and New Mexico. Iowa, on the other hand, shows a decrease, but in so far as the States are an indication of the final total there seems to have been a considerable growth in the manufacturing regions, but comparatively little increase in the agricultural sections.

Aside from the sparsely settled regions of Arizona, New Mexico and Florida the principal growth has been in New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts. The Census Office makes special request that no effort be made to estimate the percentage of increase for the entire country on the figures given on these 18 States. "It is probable," says the bulletin, "that the percentage for the country as a whole will be greater than included in this list."

Oklahoma is not included in the list, notwithstanding a practically complete announcement has been made for that State.

Death of Mr. B. F. Waller.

Mr. Benjamin F. Waller died at his home in Green Hill Sunday morning last, at 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. Waller had suffered from Bright's disease for a number of years but no one had considered his condition serious until Saturday.

He was born in Delmar on December 26th, 1836. He is survived by five children, namely: Mr. W. L. Wilson, Rome, Ga.; B. Frank Waller, of White Haven; Mrs. F. Kent Cooper, of Salisbury; Mr. Howard Waller, of White Haven, and K. Fulton Waller, Dover, Del.

Funeral services were conducted at his late home Tuesday morning at ten o'clock by Rev. W. H. Darbie. Interment was in Green Hill Cemetery.

Deceased was one of the best known residents of the western section of Wicomico County, being a prosperous farmer and land owner.

HUNT FOR HARES

Greenwood, Delaware To Turn Out—Bunnies Become Town's Pest.

With their gardens, barn houses and even their lawns, burrowed and tunneled by an active band of Belgian hares that were introduced some time ago by thifty boys who raised them for profit, citizens of Greenwood, Del., have complained so bitterly of the nuisance that a general rabbit hunt in which the whole town shall take part in an effort to exterminate the pests will be carried out.

A couple of years ago some of the boys imported the hares and started to raise them to sell, but soon found that three hares would eat as much as a horse and still be unsatisfied. Unable to feed the hungry rabbits the animals were allowed to roam and have multiplied so fast that nearly the whole town is infested with them. Burrowing under the ground and clipping off the clover patches, they have become a great nuisance. Several persons found their houses sinking down at one end and found that the hares were digging away the foundations.

Even in the streets several horses have fallen through where the rabbits have dug tunnels from one side to the other. Not only have the hares grown in number but in fighting powers, and there is hardly a dog or cat in the village that will tackle the husky rabbits.

Sale of Price Property.

Isaac L. Price, agent for the heirs of the late Levin B. Price, offered as public sale Saturday, three pieces of property in Trappe District. The residence of the late Mr. Price in Allen was sold to F. F. Price for $1,000, but two tracts of farmland were withdrawn because the bids were considered too low. The two tracts contained considerable timber.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been troubled with indigestion, have been cured by it—when Kodol is used. It is a powerful stomachic, and it has not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent further indigestion.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally as a cold follows a cold. It is a common ailment, and it is a common cure. Use Kodol and prevent further indigestion.

When you experience a sense of fullness, belching of gas and a burning pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (acid), diarrhoea, headache, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary people "dyspepsia" is a common ailment, and it is a common cure. Use Kodol and prevent further indigestion. Kodol is a powerful stomachic, and it has not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent further indigestion.

Moline

"The Car That Dreads Nothing"

In the 1911 Moline has demonstrated its invincible, unbeatable efficiency. Time with even a more remarkable showing than that of the 1910 Glidden in which we won the Chicago Trophy and made a better road and technical score than any car entered regardless of size, power, price or classification.

10 Mile Chicago Reliability Run

Two $1600 Moline Finished with

Perfect Road and Technical Scores

Winning the Team Trophy and Tying for the Van Sicklen Cup

In addition they stood 3rd and 4th in gasoline economy test. This unequalled showing, following close on the heels of the Glidden Record, proves the 1911 Moline "can't be beat"—that regardless of size, power or price you cannot buy a car with better road efficiency.

Think of it! In this 1000 mile run 29 cars started. Only three made perfect road and technical scores and two of the three were 1911 Moline which sell for $350 less than the only other perfect score car.

Not a tool was touched—not a bolt loosened—not a skid made and this was a "non-stop" contest. That is, motor could not be stopped between controls, not even for tire trouble. And, further, these two perfect score Moline also came the entire 1000 miles with perfect tire scores. The run covered five days, the last day being 237 miles. Such is a brief account of the Moline's wonderful 426 Long Stroke Motor. Let Mr. Sandruck explain to you about the motor that is making the motor world "sit up and take notice."

NIAGARA FALLS BARE

For One Whole Day the Rocky Precipice Was Dry.

THE WATER CEASED TO FLOW

This Curious Phenomenon Occurred on March 21, 1848—Terrified the People in the Vicinity—Return of the Terror and the Cause of the Stoppage.

In the early spring of 1848 occurred a natural phenomenon so strange, so sudden and so stupendous that the old-time inhabitants of western New York
could not speak of it with awe and wonder.
This phenomenon was nothing else
than the running dry of Niagara falls.
The story is seldom recounted now,
but it was a "nice day" wonder for the whole country when it appeared in the newspapers. For the first time in history the roar of the greatest cataract in America was hushed.

In the early morning of March 21, 1848, people living in the vicinity of the falls were awakened by a peculiar hush, as starting in its suddenness
and intensity as the most thunderous explosion could have been. Many dressed and hastened outdoors, urged
by a conviction that something appalling had happened or was about to happen.

Some thought the end of the world was at hand. Others imagined that the great cataract had been cut off. Still others thought that the hush preceding a terrific hurricane had fallen upon the air. All were oppressed with a feeling of profound awe and dread.

It was soon discovered, however,
that the cessation of the roar of the falls was the sole cause of this common panic. As the dim light of early morning grew stronger the people were able to see the almost bare precipice of the falls, over which but a short time before thousands of tons of water had been pouring. Only here and there small streams, constantly growing smaller, now trickled
down the face of the towering wall.

Above the falls, instead of the rushing, foaming river, only a naked channel, strewn with black and jagged rocks, was visible. The bed of the river was practically exposed from shore to shore, except for small streams, like mountain brooks, running slowly to the verge of the precipice. The speculators could hardly believe their eyes.

Some remarkable facts were performed on that day when Niagara ran dry. People walked from the Canadian side of the river, along the edge of the frightful precipice, nearly as far as Goat Island on the American side, and never even wet their feet. Some went exploring in the river bed above
the falls and discovered a number of ancient gun barrels, lost probably by sportsmen up the river in long gone
days and still after the rotting away
of their stocks slowly forced down stream by the current. Caves and curious formations in the rocks were discovered, the existence of which had never before been known.

All that day, March 21, 1848, Niagara falls remained dry, and people who remained up until late at night, expecting to see a change, went to bed without witnessing it. But in the early morning of April 1 the familiar thunder of the great cataract was once more heard, and every one knew that the mysteriously drained river bed
was again pouring its flood over the falls.

Now for the explanation of this strange phenomenon. It proved to be, after all, very simple. The winter of 1847 and 1848 had been one of extreme severity. Ice of such thickness had never been known as formed on Lake Erie that season. When the break-up came, toward the end of March, a strong northeast wind was blowing,
which piled the great fields of ice in drifts and then in banks as high as miniature icebergs. Toward night on March 20 the wind suddenly changed to the opposite direction and increased to a terrific gale, which hurried back
the piled up ice and drove it into the entrance of Niagara river with such force that a huge and almost impenetrable dam was formed. For a whole day the source of the river was stopped up, and the stream was drained of its supply. By the morning of the 21st the river was practically dry, and thus for twenty-four hours the roar of Niagara falls was stifled. Then in the early morning of April 1 the ice gate gave way under the tremendous pressure from above, and the long restrained volume of water rushed down and reclaimed its own—Exchange.

Few Beds in Bagdad.
About 60 per cent of Bagdad's population possess no beds. These poor people rest on blankets spread on the floors of their houses in the winter and on the roofs in the summer. Owing to the excessive heat of these regions
sleep is made impossible, even when
on the roof or in the open garden. It is an interesting sight to see how the women at sunset emerge from their houses to prepare the evening meal on the roof and spread the bedding for the night. Inasmuch as the climate is very dry, there is little to fear from exposure to the night air.
While a considerable number of the poor are surrounded by a fence-work
to insure a certain amount of privacy,
by far the larger number are quite exposed to the gaze of curious and inquisitive neighbors.

Learning without politeness makes a disagreeable pedant, and politeness
without learning makes a superficial,
trivial puppy—Chastelard.

Fluffing the Hair.
To make the hair which goes over the pompadour fluffy, some girls resort to the device of rough combing it underneath, which means running the comb backward over the hair, and then sprinkling powder over it underneath where it does not show when the hair is done up. Combing and powdering in this manner undeniably
has a drying effect which makes for fluffiness, but both are too disastrous to the hair to be included in, for the rough combing breaks it, while the powder badly clogs the pores.

A CORNER IN ANCESTORS

By FRANCIS COWLES

Munson Family

(Copyright by McClure Syndicate)

Munson is supposed to mean the son of Edmund; "Mun" is an abbreviation
of Edmund; the use of "son" is usual,
as in Richardson and Thomson. The Munsons as they were called in England, lived in East Lancashire for generations before they came to this country. That part of England was originally settled by the Danes, as it is probable that the Munsons were originally of Danish extraction. In 1878, in the age of Richard II. and Chaucer, there is trace of one John Munson. The family was knighted in 1611, and in 1723 it was raised to the peerage when one of its members was made Baron Munson of Burton, County Lincoln. The family is still represented in England, although not by any members. In the United States
it now extends over the whole country.

About the time the family was knighted there was born in Lancashire
Thomas Munson, or Munson. About 1630 he came to this country, and became the founder of the American Munsons. It is thought that he came over with some of the early Puritan clergymen; perhaps with Francis Higginson, who came in 1629,
or else with John Cotton, who introduced the practice of keeping the Sabbath from sundown Saturday until sundown Sunday, and who came to this country in 1633 with his friend
Thomas Hooker. At any rate, he came with the great body of non-conformists who arrived in New England before 1640, to the number of about 4,000.

He is first mentioned here in the annals of the war with the Pequot Indians. He was a resident of the Hartford colony, which was called on to assist the soldiers for the war. On May 1, 1637, the "General Court at Hartford" ordered, "that there shall be an offensive war against the Pequot
and that there shall be 90 men levied
out of the 3 plantations, Hartford, Westfield, and Windsor."

Munson was one of the Hartford soldiers, and on May 10th started out with the Connecticut army—composed of 90 colonists and 70 friendly Mohegan Indians, under their chief Uncas. The little band of men took their way down the Connecticut river for five days. When they had gone about 50 miles they met the Pequot Indians and gave battle. Only two of the colonists and their Indian friends were killed, whereas it was rumored that about 700 of the hostile Indians fell in the fray.

This battle was of a good deal of importance to Munson and some of his brother soldiers. They had noticed, on their journey, a very inviting spot situated in a snug harbor opening on Long Island sound, and they determined to build a home there. So the next year, 1638, some of them

started out under the leadership of one of the Hartford colonists and again went down the Connecticut river to found their new home. They laid out the town of Quinnipiac, which is now New Haven. In the list of 63 names of "free planters,"—Munson's name comes sixth. In 1642, Munson became a sergeant of the "Trained Band," and held that position for 19 years.

In 1685, Thomas Munson died. He had married one Joanna, and they had three children, two of whom were daughters, and the third a son, named Samuel. Samuel became a selectman, a townsman, ensign, drummer and in 1679, schoolmaster. In 1684, it was directed that a "trial be made of said Ensign Munson, if he be found fit to instruct hopeful youth for the college," Harvard. He was apparently
"found fit," for he was made rector of the Hopkins grammar school. Samuel had nine sons, and seven of them
married, so that Thomas, the original ancestor in this country, although he himself had only one son, had grandchildren named Munson to the number of 62.

Hettman's list of officers in the revolutionary war gives Aeneas, surgeon's mate; Levi, second lieutenant, who served under Ethan Allan, was made prisoner at Montreal, sent to England, and finally exchanged; Capt. Theophilus, and Capt. William Munson.

Some of the names used often by Munsons are: Martha, Elizabeth, Adams, Joanna, Hannah, Stephen, Samuel, Waittall and Stephen. Several of the unusual ones mentioned appear in many of the earlier generations.

The arms are blazoned: Or, two chevrons, gules.

Crest: A lion rampant, or, sustained
by a pillar argent.

Motto: Post te mori non timeo.

Supporters: Dexter, a lion, or, surmounted with a collar and lined, azure, the collar charged with three crescents of the first; sinister, a griffin, argent, collared and lined as the dexter.

The Way It Looked to Him.
"Are you guilty, or not guilty?"
asked the judge of the defendant in a case of assault and battery.

"I think I must be guilty, your honor," answered the defendant.

"You think so?" said the judge.

"Don't you know?"

"Well, your honor," answered the prisoner, "it's like this: The plaintiff and I were the only ones in the room, and the first thing I knew was that I was standing up, and he was knocking me under the table. By I guess you'd better call it guilty."

SALISBURY'S YOUNG MEN.

It is a pretty well established fact, that the boys and young men of this city are spending entirely too much time around places, where, to say the least, the moral atmosphere is not conducive to the growth of the principles and morals which are necessary if they are to develop into useful citizens. It has been broadly stated that almost every boy between the age of seventeen and twenty five years follows some form of gambling.

Poker and crap shooting seem to be the favorite forms of gambling here, although other games of chance have their followers. Those who are familiar with the habits of our young men know that the above statement is not a very extravagant one, but is very close to the true facts of the case, and that Salisbury today has in training several boys and young men who bid fair to mar their whole life, by letting the habit of gambling get a strong hold.

The ADVERTISER has on several occasions called the attention of the parents of this city to these conditions and has urged that some decent place be provided where the boys and young men can meet and enjoy the right kind of social intercourse, and play games where innocent enjoyment can be obtained without the dangerous stimulant found in all games of chance, where there is a money stake to be played for.

It is but natural for our young men to look for the society of their fellow men, and no young man with good warm red blood in him is going to be content with the society found around the home circle and the only way that they can be kept out of places where the morals are lax, and away from associates whose influence tends to lower and leads to depravity, and a loose life, is to give them a place to go where they will find the companionship which they crave.

Salisbury is now a small city of close to 7000 inhabitants, and yet it might almost be classed as a place where the young men can not find a single place where they can find the right kind of associates and enjoy the right kind of amusements, when they tire of the home routine.

Even the pleasure of loafing around the corner store which is the public meeting place of the typical American village life, is denied our young men. Moving pictures seems to be the only place where they meet and see anything, and it is very doubtful if the influence of these with their cheap, vapid and suggestive acting, is not much worse than even some of the boys clubs, where so many of them now meet to enjoy a social game with most of the time something up on the side.

It is up to the parents here in town to see that present conditions are not allowed to stand, and that their boys, and girls, too, for what affects one, cannot but help affect the other in the long run, be protected as far as possible, from the dangers of gambling, drinking and other attendant evils of these two great vices.

A live, up-to-date Y. M. C. A. would be a great blessing for this place, but the cost of putting up the necessary building and properly equipping same would probably require more money than could be raised here at the present time, but it does seem that there ought to be enough interest taken in this matter by the parents of the young men, and others who are interested in the welfare of our community, to rent and equip a place which will answer our present needs.

A movement of this kind should have a guarantee of an income sufficiently large to guarantee that it will be kept alive and run in the way it should be run. Several times this has been attempted here but has always proved a failure because it did not have the money to employ the right kind of a man to manage it, and as a matter of fact, no one was placed in charge whose sole business was the success of the undertaking, but the affairs of the association was placed in the hands of men whose time was so occupied with their own affairs that it was impossible for them to properly attend to the running of the place. It will be the same in any future undertaking of this kind, unless enough money is available to employ a man who will give his whole time to the management. Why can not some of our men who are public-spirited get together and discuss this matter and see if some plan can not be made to have the Y. M. C. A. at Salisbury a permanent success?

GRAHAME-WHITE BUYS

Seven Planes—Gives Order To Curtiss.

Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, has placed an order for seven biplanes with Burgess and Curtiss. It is believed to be the largest single order for airplanes placed in this country, also the first placed in an American factory by a foreigner. The airplanes are to be known as the Grahame-White type, and the first order includes machines to carry two passengers and others for only one person. They will all be equipped with the seven-cylinder Gnome motor, imported from France. These motors will be imported and brought to Marblehead, Maine, and the planes probably will be tried out on Burgess Co. and Curtiss' new aviation field at Ipswich.

The contract for the Grahame-White biplanes calls for the delivery of the first three in February. It is thought to be the intention of Grahame-White to sell these planes to pupils in the United States, though some of the planes may be exported to England.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDS.

Wages Work Disposed Of By The Council Last Monday Evening.

The Council has decided to discontinue the garbage system, after this week, until some time next Spring. The cost of collecting the garbage was, in the opinion of the Council, too high for the amount of garbage collected during the winter months. Next spring and summer the system will again be operated.

Two of the Councilmen being absent Monday night the bid for the lighting of the city was not opened. It was deemed best to consider the bid when a full Council was present. The matter will be taken up at the meeting next Monday evening.

The contract for furnishing 20 feet of 4-inch suction hose for one of the fire engines was not awarded, owing to the absence of two members of the Council. R. D. Grier was the only bidder.

MARYLAND CENSUS

1,294,450—Growth Of Over 9 Per Cent. Wicomico Shows 4000 Gain.

Washington has given out the figures for this State which shows a slight increase over the census of 1900. Under the present apportioning bill for Congress Maryland's representation will remain the same. Wicomico County makes a gain of close to 4000, Somerset and Worcester Counties make a slight gain—Queen Anne and Kent are the only counties on the shore to show a loss.

The population of the city of Salisbury has not been given out yet, but is generally believed to be around 6700.

The total population of Maryland in 1910 is 1,294,450; in 1900 it was 1,188,044 and in 1890 it was 1,049,390.

MUSICAL RECITAL

Success—A Great Treat Given—Attendance Not Large But Appreciative.

From the standpoint of all those who love good music the recital given in the Opera House here Wednesday was a great success, and it is a reflection on the town that the audience was not twice as large as it was. Mr. Charnabury's performance was fully up to his reputation for first class work and his rendition from the classical and modern masters was a great treat. While not a large audience, those present were very appreciative, and were representatives of Salisbury's most prominent families.

To Miss Louise Gandy, is principally due the great pleasure which was afforded the music lovers of our city.

"Bridge Mothers Worst In World."

"I unreservedly denounce bridge mothers' as the worst mothers in the world," said Mrs. Orville T. Bright, former president of the Illinois Congress of Mothers, in an address before the Kindergarten Association of Oak Park, Chicago.

"There are four kinds of mothers," she continued, "the intelligent mother, the unintelligent mother, the indifferent mother, and, lastly, the mother who devotes her time to society instead of her children—the bridge mother. I call her—and for her I can find no words of condemnation too strong."

A gasp of astonishment broke from the two score mothers present, for among them were several who prided themselves on their cleverness at bridge.

"The mother of today, needs waking up; she must learn to co-operate with the kindergarten teacher," concluded Mrs. Bright.

Turkey Saved Life.

Aaron J. Cordrey, manager of Swain's Bay poultry farm near Bridgeville, Del., has a turkey gobble that will never be killed. He believes it has mental facilities. He selected this turkey to be killed and gave it to his son to hold while he sharpened an ax. The fowl must have seen what was in store for it and escaped with mighty effort.

This was a week ago and the bird was not heard of until Tuesday when a message was received from Cambridge, Md., 50 miles away stating that a turkey bearing Cordrey's name on its leg band had been found. It was delivered to Mrs. Cordrey and identified by him. He is unravelled how the turkey traveled the 50 miles. He says it will always escape the ax.

DID WE GIVE THANKS? TO WHOM DID WE DO SO?

The Celebrated Brooklyn Pastor
Back From Britain.

Rev. Dr. Russell

Oklahoma City, Nov. 27.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn, Tenn., addressed large audiences here twice today in our principal Auditorium. We report one of his addresses from the following text: "O, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy endureth forever." Psalm cxi, 1.

Thanksgiving Day appeals to all of us, and we are glad that the Pilgrim Fathers long years ago started the custom. They placed it at the end of the harvest and in recognition of the same. The keeping of such a day appeals to all civilized mankind in a considerable degree, because our Great Creator so organized us that the quality of reverence, of worship, lies prominently on the top of our heads. The man or woman, rich or poor, educated or ignorant, bond or free, who has not this organ of veneration developed in considerable measure cannot be appreciative and deferential toward his Creator, and hence cannot enjoy Thanksgiving day. We are glad that these are comparatively few. We are glad to suppose that the majority of this great nation of civilization looked up to God with grateful hearts and rendered him thanks for blessings manifested.

Hindrances to True Reverence.

Névertheless, the numbers increase yearly of those who are losing their reverence for the God of the Bible and vaguely turning towards a God of Nature, of whom they profess to know comparatively little. These irreverent and unthankful fellow-creatures are not generally the most ignorant of our race, nor the least favored in temporal mercies and blessings. Among them are many learned, wealthy, influential. Their condition is well represented by that of a young woman who called at my study recently. In substance she said, "I have lost my God. I am unhappy. I am hoping that you will be able to assist me in finding him again." Thank God, we were able to assist her, and now she is able to give thanks to God in all sincerity.

I am not speaking to the irreverent in this audience, but to the majority class in my larger audience of millions all over the world, to whom I speak through the public press. I am speaking to others who, while not yet fully in the faith, are still disposed to give thanks. I speak to these because I realize that each day is bringing to the world greater intelligence, more independent thoughtfulness, in a wider use of reason. I speak because my experience teaches that unless these are fully armed with the Truth and awakened to independent thought, they are almost certain to fall into unbelief—Evolution, Higher Criticism, and a mere form of godliness, which denies the real power thereof.

The Truth Shall Make You Free.

The Great Teacher prayed for his followers, "Sanctify them through the Truth; thy Word is Truth (John xvii, 17). To be forewarned with the Truth is to be safeguarded against the error. To be ignorant of the Truth is to fall a prey to the error—especially in this "evil day," when "a thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand" (Psalm cxi, 7). The difficulty with us has been that many have supposed that the conversion of the world and its sanctification can be better accomplished by misrepresentation of Divine Character and Justice. Unconsciously we have learned to twist and interpret our Bibles to fit the erroneous creeds which were handed to us by our well-meaning forefathers. The Day of Judgment upon these false creeds is upon us. Unless we learn that they do not properly interpret the Bible, we will reject the Bible when we reject the creeds—and that must be very soon for all thinking people. "To the Law and to the testimony; if they speak not according to this Word, it is because there is no light in them" (Isaiah viii, 20).

Causes For Ingratitude.

"Come, let us reason together, saith the Lord." If our creeds tell us truly that we were all born damned, either to Purgatory or to eternal torment, should we give thanks on this account? If our creeds tell us truly that an elect handful of saints will escape the torture, how do we know whether or not we belong to that elect handful? Have we sufficient information on this subject to give thanks therefore? If our creeds tell us truly that nearly all the members of our families, nearly all of our neighbors and friends, being unfaithful, not sanctified in Christ, Jesus, "not followers in the footsteps of Jesus, not of those who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit"—these all, except a mere handful, are doomed to more horrible torture than the worst earthly sufferings we could possibly imagine for them, and are doomed to these for centuries in Purgatory, according to the Catholic; or for all eternity, according to our Protestant theories, can we honestly thank God for any of these conditions, if we believe them to be true? Can we "worship in spirit and in truth" a Creator who would make such an atrocious plan? And could we respect his honesty if he labelled it "good tidings of great joy to all people"? Assuredly we could not.

If the foregoing things which have come down to us from the "Dark Ages" be true, at what consequence, in comparison, would be the material harvest of earth, which would merely encourage and stimulate the bringing into being of larger numbers of our race to experience those tortures? If these things be true, rather should we give thanks for famine and pestilence, which would obliterate our race entirely and thus save future thousands of millions from the horrors of eternal torment. These thoughts will come to all intelligent beings sooner or later. We bring them forward now, in order that we may offset them with the Truth—that we may show the fallacy of these "doctrines of devils," as St. Paul designates them (I Timothy ii, 14). We bring them to your attention so that we may not only demolish them, but give you instead the true, satisfactory portion, the Truth, the Bread that came down from heaven to give life eternal, not merely to the saintly few of the Church, but to mankind in general. Those who get the proper view of our Creator and of his glorious Plan for human salvation will be forever protected from such fears and doubts respecting Divine goodness. Getting the proper view of the Heavenly Father's character, through the discernment of his Plan of the Ages for spiritual Israel, natural Israel and the world in general, they will hereafter be able to celebrate every Thanksgiving Day much more abundantly, much more intelligently, much more happily than any in the past. For, then, this, to them every day will be a happy day, if rightly exercised by the goodness of God, they shall give him their hearts. Then truly they may say,

"O happy day that fixed my choice
On thee, my Savior and my God!
Well may this glowing heart rejoice,
And tell its raptures all abroad."

God's Mercy Endureth Forever.

In the Psalm from which our text is taken the Prophet David repeats this sentiment of Thanksgiving to God because of the ever-continuance of his mercy, twenty-six times. Our English translation does not give us the exact thought, however. Properly translated it would read, "O give thanks, for his mercy endureth ever." The word ever more nearly represents the thought of the Hebrew, which signifies not for ever, but to a complete and as long as there is any use for mercy. God's mercy will continue. When the great Divine Program shall have been accomplished, when "every creature in heaven, and in earth, and under the earth, shall be heard saying, Praise and glory and honor, dominion and might be unto him that sitteth upon the Throne and unto the Lamb forever" (Revelation v, 13), then there will no longer be need for mercy; mercy will have accomplished its purpose.

Mercy signifies the setting aside of justice in some manner, for some reason. Justice is the foundation of God's throne—the foundation of the Divine Government. Justice had control of Father Adam and offered him eternal life in an Eden home, as a reward for obedience; or death, extinction, as the penalty for disobedience. As Divine Wisdom had foreknowledge, man disobeyed and the penalty of justice, "Dying thou shalt die," was executed. Through hereditary all of Adam's race became involved—all inherited sinful tendencies and dying constitutions.

For more than two thousand years death reigned under the edict of Justice, and our race as a whole were subject to it. A little later the Law Covenant was made with Israel—one nation out of many. It seemed mercy, but did not help. They were placed under the Law and were merely offered eternal life if they could keep the Law—which they could not keep, because of inherited blemishes, moral and physical.

It was over four thousand years from the time Justice struck the fatal blow, until Divine mercy stepped forward with the healing balm. God's mercy is his love in active operation for the relief of the condemned. Although God is Love, and hence must always have been loving and kind and merciful of disposition, yet this quality of his character was held in restraint as respects condemned men for more than forty centuries. So the Apostle explains, saying, "Herein was manifested the love of God, in that he sent his only-begotten Son into the world" (I John iv, 9; John iii, 16). But meantime the darkness of sin and the misrepresentation of Divine character by the Adversary had so operated upon the fallen race that—eyes had they, but they saw not; ears had they, but they understood not; hearts had they, but they comprehended not the message of Divine mercy. They fulfilled the Scriptures in slaying the One sent for their relief. And they have misunderstood, slandered, maligned, "killed" his followers—the few blessed with the hearing ears and the understanding hearts and the eyes of faith. These few continue what the Scriptures designate the true Church of God, including the Apostles and all the faithful throughout this Age—the household of faith, "the Church of the First-Born, whose names are written in heaven" (Hebrews xii, 23). These constitute the Little Flock, to whom it is the Father's good pleasure to give the Kingdom, which shortly (Messiah's Kingdom) is to bless and uplift the world, operating through natural Israel.

Mercy Rejoiceth Over Justice.

Man's necessity became God's opportunity for the display of his glorious character—perfect in Justice, Wisdom, Love and Power. While love could not clear the guilty, it could provide a Redeemer to suffer "the just for the unjust." But Divine Justice could not allow this, unless with the consent of the sufferer. Hence we read that God set before his only-begotten Son a glorious Plan and invited his co-operation therein. The Son assented, left the heavenly glory, was made flesh and "offered himself" an acceptable sacrifice, "the just for the unjust"—for the redemption of Adam and his race. The Father honored him by raising him from the dead to a still higher glory and honor than he had before, to immortality—the divine nature. Now, from his glorious station, he is empowered to be the Mediator between God and man—between Divine Justice and fallen humanity. He is empowered to give the earthly rights which he sacrificed laid down for Adam and his race—to so many of them as will accept the perfection of human nature and its rights and privileges upon terms in harmony with the Divine Law—the remainder he will destroy, annihilate "as brute beasts" (I Peter ii, 12; Acts ii, 23).

As though all this were not sufficiently wonderful, as though with all this the Heavenly Father's Wisdom, Justice, Love and Power would not be sufficiently illustrated, exemplified. God added another feature. Before beginning to deal with the world as a whole, to give back to the willing and obedient of the race human perfection and an earthly Eden Paradise and eternal life, before commencing this work of restitution (Acts iii, 21), the Father made known to the Son another feature of his Plan. He would give to the Son a Bride, a class selected from amongst the fallen race—called, chosen, faithful overcomers. These, as the Joint-Heirs of the Second Adam, will share with him in the uplifting of those of Adam's race who will become the children of Christ through obedience and adoption.

The trials and testings of all those who will become the Bride of Christ must be similar to those of the Redeemer. They must suffer with him if they would reign with him. As he sacrificed his earthly life and rights and interests, so must they. He exhorted them, "Present your bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God, a reasonable service" (Romans xii, 1). True, there is a difference between these followers of Jesus and the Captain of their salvation. He was brought into the world holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners; hence his sacrifice is a perfect one. Those accepted as his members, as his Bride, belong to the race of sinners. They were "children of wrath even as others" (Ephesians ii, 3). Their acceptance as sacrifices, therefore, was not possible except as the great Captain of their Salvation imputed to those sacrifices a sufficiency of the merit of his sacrifice to compensate for their defects and to make their sacrifices acceptable to the Father with him and as a part of his—being counted in with him as "members of his Body."

My dear friends, those of us who have the eye of faith and the hearing of faith to appreciate this, the Message of God's Word, may surely be thankful to the last degree. What more could our Heavenly Father do for us than he has done—redeeming us, inviting us to a new nature, giving us the aids by the way, and making us sharers in the Kingdom glory of his Son? More than this, he has been blessing our friends, our children, our parents, our neighbors, the heathen—all of mankind, of one family.

Thanks Because God is Good.

"O, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy endureth forever." During this Gospel Age his mercy has been manifest to all those who take up their cross and follow Jesus. By and by they will be glorified by the "First Resurrection." Then his mercy will return to natural Israel, under the New Covenant (Jeremiah xxxi, 31), of which Christ and the Church are "Able Ministers," Servants, Priests and Kings. Could all the world discern, through the trials and tears and sorrows and imperfections and dying of their present experience, the glorious outcome which God is providing the whole world, they would be filled with praise to him who loved us and bought us back from the penalty of death and who ultimately will complete his glorious work through Messiah's Kingdom.

Have we not, as followers of the Lord, as Christians, misrepresented the facts of the case and endeavored to have people give thanks to God for unkindness, injustice, lovelessness—to a God who never loved man, and who would never reach any but a small proportion of our race through the knowledge of Christ; to a God whose mercy, even to the one-tenth of those who had ever heard of him, he said, would endure only for the present life and even among these bring a blessing only to a mere handful of the elect?

Let us go back to the Word of God and free our minds of the prejudices of superstition and misinterpretation handed down from the Dark Ages. Let us see the glory of our God, as revealed in the Bible. Let Christians give thanks that, by the grace of God, their eyes and ears of understanding are opening to a better knowledge of him. Let them give thanks, not only for redemption from the death sentence, but also for their call to saintship and its consequent suffering in this present time and its promise of reward of glory on the spirit plane by and by.

Let the world give thanks in proportion as it is able to discern God's goodness and mercy for Adam's race—that eventually through the channel of the glorified Church the Divine blessing will be extended to every member of Adam's race, giving opportunity to all to attain life everlasting with full human perfection and an everlasting Eden upon this now sin-cursed earth.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys must, because they do not and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its power. It could provide a Redeemer to suffer "the just for the unjust." But Divine Justice could not allow this, unless with the consent of the sufferer. Hence we read that God set before his only-begotten Son a glorious Plan and invited his co-operation therein. The Son assented, left the heavenly glory, was made flesh and "offered himself" an acceptable sacrifice, "the just for the unjust"—for the redemption of Adam and his race. The Father honored him by raising him from the dead to a still higher glory and honor than he had before, to immortality—the divine nature. As though all this were not sufficiently wonderful, as though with all this the Heavenly Father's Wisdom, Justice, Love and Power would not be sufficiently illustrated, exemplified. God added another feature. Before beginning to deal with the world as a whole, to give back to the willing and obedient of the race human perfection and an earthly Eden Paradise and eternal life, before commencing this work of restitution (Acts iii, 21), the Father made known to the Son another feature of his Plan. He would give to the Son a Bride, a class selected from amongst the fallen race—called, chosen, faithful overcomers. These, as the Joint-Heirs of the Second Adam, will share with him in the uplifting of those of Adam's race who will become the children of Christ through obedience and adoption.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women and felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me and I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAY, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from those distressing and peculiar to the sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

TURKEY LOST BARK

To Get The Ape—Peculiar Vocality of Barnyard Guardian.

Jerry, a turkey rooster owned by Jerome Smith of Livingston, N. J., lost his head because he was so unfortunate as to lose his voice a few days before Thanksgiving. Jerry was noted in the countryside thereabouts as the turkey that mimicked the bark of a dog. Instead of gobbling like any well regulated king of the turkey yard, Jerry made a noise like a seasons watchdog when he essayed to raise his voice.

This peculiar characteristic of the bird has been its salvation for three successive years. Other turkeys in the Smith barnyard succumbed to the inevitable axe at the approach of Thanksgiving and Christmas but Jerry escaped because his owner found the turkey's voice a more valuable asset than his weight in holiday meat.

By reason of his peculiar vocal powers Jerry served as a guardian of the poultry yard, and on one occasion proved the defender of the farmhouse itself. Marauding tramps, in search of material for their commissary, fled in terror when, they were greeted by a noise that resembled the growl of a pugnacious bulldog.

The turkey's fame spread and Smith even received offers for Jerry from ambitious farmers, who thought that by crossing the breed with the guinea fowl they might produce a bird with a clear bark that would be musical as well as effective. One day however, Jerry suddenly became mute. His remarkable voice disappeared, the farmer believed because of some affection of the vocal chords, and like the peasant turkey Jerry went into oblivion with it for his head was chopped off to make a Jersey holiday.

School Board Proceedings At Last Friday's Session

Secretary Holloway laid before the board a letter from Paul English, of Maryland, resigning the scholarship recently given him in Charlotte Hall Academy. The Board did not fill the vacancy, there being no applications on file. The Board will be glad to fill this vacancy by appointing some Wisconsin boy, but if there are no applicants the scholarship will be given to some other county.

The Secretary reported the sale of the old Mardela School building to the congregation of the M. E. Church for the sum of $150. He also reported the sale of the old Mt. Herman school building for $61. The purchaser was G. W. Walston.

Reports from various schools which have recently held entertainments were laid before the Board, the following amounts being realized: Sharptown High School, $21; Quantico school $30; East Salisbury school, $33; Camden school, $30; Stump Point School, $13. The Sharptown fund will be used for the fitting up of a science department. The funds of the East Salisbury and Camden Schools will be used towards the purchase of places for these schools. In most cases the schools use the money derived from entertainments for the purchase of libraries and the beautifying of the interior of the buildings.

The teacher of Parker's School, near Salisbury, reported the organization of a "Patrons' Club" with the following officers: President, W. J. Rawson; Vice President, C. B. Morris; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Bailey. It is the intention of this club to meet monthly in the school building for the purpose of discussing school topics and in various ways to interest the parents in school work.

Supt. W. J. Holloway laid before the Board a letter from John Hopkins University, Baltimore, stating that a Summer School would be conducted the coming summer for the benefit of the county teachers who desire to take a special course of six weeks. This course will begin on July 5th and will close on August 16th, 1911. This new work at Johns Hopkins is designed primarily to meet the personal and professional needs of teachers. The instructors who are being selected for the staff of the summer sessions are selected because of their marked ability as teachers and their interest in the special problems which confront the teachers in our schools. The staff will comprise members of the faculty of the John Hopkins University and representatives of other institutions in this country. The list of instructors will be announced at an early date. The management of the summer school will be under the management of Prof. Edward F. Buchner, to whom inquiries for information may be addressed. It is anticipated that teachers of Maryland will respond enthusiastically to these new opportunities which are to be offered in Baltimore, and thus aid the university authorities in their effort to be increasingly serviceable in the systematic advancement of our system of schools.

Layfield—Jones.

A very prominent wedding of the season took place at St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, Tyaskin, on the evening of Saturday, November 26th, when Miss Etha May Jones was united in marriage to Mr. Grover Cleveland Layfield.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. Darbie. The church was beautifully decorated with holly and mistletoe, interwoven with chrysanthemums. With the church crowded to the sides and amid the strains of Lohengrin's March very impressively rendered by Mrs. Rebecca McLain Kenney, the bride entered on the arm of her uncle, Mr. A. T. Dashiell, who gave her away. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Harry Dashiell, of Baltimore.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white silk material, trimmed with broad bands of real lace. The veil was caught up with miniature rosebuds and fastened with pearls, while she carried a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor was Miss Mattie Jones, sister of the bride, who wore pink crepe and carried pink chrysanthemums. The ushers were Mr. Oliver Hopkins, of Princess Anne, and Mr. William Catlin.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple were driven to their home at Green Hill, where a large reception was held. They were the recipients of many handsome presents.

The bride is well known in Salisbury circles, having been a frequent visitor here.

Over and above the thousands of 1911 Cadillacs already delivered, two thousand people are at this moment patiently waiting for the car of their choice. It seems to us that we may well be pardoned for pointing to the positive, unswerving character of this Cadillac demand. You will find none of these two thousand Cadillac buyers looking with envious eyes at costlier cars. You will find none of them tempted by the vacillating market of lower-priced motor cars. But you will find, in every large city in the country, scores of men who have owned higher-priced automobiles, in the past, driving 1911 Cadillacs. Between the two extremes stands the Cadillac, solid as a rock in public esteem.

Take Notice!

HAVE THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE REAL ESTATE WHICH I WILL SELL AT PRIVATE SALE:

No. 1—Consists of 101 acres and buildings situated about half way between Salisbury and Delmar, at the intersection of the Delmar and the road, and about one mile from Williams siding on the N. Y., P. & N. railroad. Price $8,000.

No. 2—Consists of 60 acres fronting on the Delmar road, which has been built under the Shoemaker law, and is directly south of the Delmar property. This tract has no buildings and can be bought for $10,000.

No. 3—Consists of 75 acres fronting on same road, directly south of No. 2. This is the old Leonard homestead. The dwelling is in good condition, and the outbuildings, with a little attention at slight cost, will answer for several years. This is good land, as the crops raised on the farm will show. The location is ideal and the price is $12,000.

No. 4—Is directly south of No. 3, fronting on the same road, and contains 60 acres. This is an especially desirable tract of land, but contains no buildings. The price is $3,500.

No. 5—Consists of a little over 75 acres, fronting on same road and directly south of No. 4. About 25 acres cleared, the balance in woodland, mostly cut over, but still containing a considerable amount of fire wood; also contains a small dwelling in fairly good repair. Although a little rough in its present condition, this can be made a very valuable farm, the quality of the land being exceptionally good. The price is $3,250.

No. 6—Contains 3 acres adjoining the Salisbury Fair Grounds on the side and is opposite Sewell Richardson's. A very valuable lot. Price $1,000.

No. 7—Immediately adjoins No. 6 and contains 44 acres. Price $1,300.

No. 8—Lies west of No. 7 and contains 6 acres. Price $1,500.

No. 9—Consists of 15 acres, dwelling and outbuildings, and lies directly in front of Mr. James E. Lowe's new residence, on Quantico road, and is very valuable property. Price $4,250.

No. 10—Is west of No. 9, contains 5 acres and has already been sold to Mr. Woodford Johnson.

No. 11—Is west of No. 10, contains 10 acres and is a very desirable tract. Price $2,500.

No. 12—Is west of No. 11 and situated at the beginning of the Stone road leading to Quantico. This tract contains 10 acres and the price is $2,500.

No. 13—Is directly in front of Mr. Stanford Culver's, on the Quantico road, and contains 8 and 48-100ths acres. Price $1,800.

No. 14—Consists of 3 acres just outside the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying between South Division Street extended and the N. Y., P. & N. railroad. Price $750.

No. 15—Consists of something over 3 acres immediately adjoining No. 14. Price $750.

No. 16—Consists of 3 acres lying on the east side of South Division Street extended, about three-eighths of a mile from the corporate limits. Price $300.

No. 17—Contains 10 acres and is immediately adjoining the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying along the N. Y., P. & N. railroad, and extending on a street, directly south of Salisbury and in section commonly known as "Hastingsville." This tract will be sold in acre lots at $300 each, or will sell the entire piece to one party. Price on application.

All of the above properties were originally bought for their exceptionally good location. Each and every one of the above-named parcels of land, except No. 17, are fronting on prominent highways that have already been improved under the specifications of the Shoemaker law, and are especially desirable to progressive parties wishing to build homes in good neighborhoods.

NATIVE AFRICAN HOMES

NATIVE BRIDE CHASED "TICK-A-DICK."

AT THE equator in Africa there are only two seasons—the wet and the dry. The former is the summer season and lasts eight months. The thermometer averages from 110 to 125 degrees Fahrenheit. The other four months are the cold or dry season, and the thermometer rarely goes below 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

During the rains the natives live in houses made principally of bamboo and roofed with leaves, but as soon as the rains stop, which is some time around June 1, they desert towns and set out for the forests and jungles. The few household furnishings are transported on the heads of the women and children. While a native man will work for the white man, he will never do anything for himself—there are any number about it—beneath his dignity to work. He will fish and hunt, make seines and crude implements and canoes, or pass away his time smoking strong tobacco and dozing, but he would not think of lending his wife a helping hand. He compels her to cut down the trees for firewood and for his dug-out canoes, and when they arrive at the spot in the forest or jungle where he decides to build his town the women must go to work with awkward machetes and clear away the tangled forest.

Not an easy task, by any means. The civilized mind can scarcely picture how dense the primeval forests are. Not only is every foot of the ground covered with rank growth, but from every tree hang myriads of vines, which, crossing each other, form networks of tangles so intricate that elephants and other denizens of the bush have a hard time forcing their way through them. Yet no labor is too heavy for the African woman to perform. She has neither ax nor saw, and the edge of her knife is none too sharp. Bending low over the ground she commences her herculean task of clearing a space for a town. She generally smokes while she works unless her husband has broken his clay pipe and taken her.

The more wives a native has the quicker the clearing is made for his town. The women generally commence work at daybreak. About eleven o'clock they stop to prepare the first meal. It is very simple, but the native woman never hurries, and the smallest detail of housekeeping sometimes takes her hours. The dinner generally consists of boiled manioc, roasted bananas, or dried, or boiled fish. They rarely have more than one food at a meal. At two o'clock the woman is again bending over the ground hacking at undergrowth until sundown, which is precisely at six o'clock each night. Then she gets the last meal of the day, generally a replica of the first meal.

The clearing made, the furniture is soon in place. It consists principally of great logs, three of them brought to a common center and forming the fire over which the natives pass most of their time, gossiping, smoking and sleeping. At night they roll themselves in a grass mat and sleep with their heads toward the fire. But many natives do not even have a grass mat. They sleep right on the ground, and appear none the worse for it.

A well-furnished home boasts a bed of bamboo splits, and a blanket, two stools, a Morris chair of ebony and a civilized bench stolen from the mission. The bed is occupied by the chief of the town. His wives sleep on the ground.

That there is nothing new under the sun is again proved by the Morris chair in use. Its construction is very simple and the back can be raised or lowered. This chair is very often the only piece of furniture in the town and it was known to the natives before the white man ever penetrated into their country. It contains no nails and the parts are ingeniously fastened together.

The natives will steal anything and everything. They are born thieves—it is in their blood and tells in their actions. They are naturally lazy—their environment makes them so, and they would rather steal and beg than anything else.

AN UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL.

The lady with the ghinny eyes and the pink elbows bounced into the grocer's shop and accosted the proprietor. "Morning," she said, affably. "I'd like another dozen of them eggs you sent me yesterday."

"Certainly," smiled the shopkeeper. "Are you making puddings again?"

"No, thank you," sniffed the lady. "I want those eggs for somethin' more profitable this time. They're goin' to get me out of this quarter's rent."

"Indeed! Are you going to offer your landlord some appetizing puddings?"

"Not exactly," said the customer. "You see, it's this way. He's comin' round this morning for the money, so if I crack them eggs and hide 'em in our back yard it's ten to one he'll cry quits about the rent, thinkin' it's the drains."

Then the shopkeeper's professional smile quickly faded.

No, Thank You!

"A short distance ahead," said the guide, "there is a narrow place in the tunnel which we call the 'Fat Man's Misery.'"

"If I go through it," asked the portly gentleman, "do I get any rebate on the expense of this exploration?"

"No, sir."

"Then you go ahead with the rest of the party. I'll just stay here till you come back."

Rural Opposition.

"I see that some Texas congressman has just introduced a bill to have the mails carried by airships."

"He's a dum fool, by jimminy. I want stand for it. If Hank Wintergreen thinks we're goin' to fly our mail boxes on kite-tails so he can c'lect th' letters as he scoots along in his rural d'livery airplane, he's all-fired mistaken, by heck!"

Just So.

"There had been a family row."

"Well," remarked the alleged head of the house, "a man learns a few things when he gets married. Yes, sir, a man lives and learns."

"That may be," retorted the feminine half of the sketch, "but the school of experience doesn't bar c'eds."

INCORPORATING A MARRIAGE MONOPOLY.

George Street.

Jim—I see that a New Jersey man has married over a dozen women in that state.

Jack—Well, New Jersey is the state where nearly all the trusts and monopolies are chartered, isn't it?

The Poor Poet.

A living, simply writing rhyme, somehow he couldn't make it. Although he thought his stuff sublime, No editor would take it.

Slighted Opportunity.

"So you think music is a waste of time?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Wallop. "I understand some of these professional pianists practice five hours a day. Think what golf players they might have become in that time."

Self-Sacrifice.

"I thought I told you to stop smoking," said the doctor, severely.

"I tried to," replied the patient, "but I haven't the heart to disappoint the members of my family who look to me for prize coupons and baseball pictures."

They Are All Alike.

In Norway women of 25 and over will be permitted to vote.

And it isn't likely that anything would please a Norway woman more than to be challenged on the ground that she is too young.

Heard From.

Bacon—You'll hear from that man Wabash, some day.

Esprit—I heard from him today, in the restaurant, when he was eating his soup.—Yonkers Statesman.

High Finance.

"Look here, you've owed me $5 for five years."

"What are you complaining about? You've only been out a dollar a year."

A Wise Wife.

"I'm so sorry to be so late, my dear. A friend asked me to stop by and take pot-luck with him."

"Well, did you win the pot?"

In the Future.

"When are they after in this style or trust?"

"Naturally, after the man high up."

Making Friends for Father

By CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT

(Copyright, 1910 by Associated Literary Press.)

When the faintness passed away Margery found herself walking in to dinner on the arm of an ugly young man whom she was sure she had never before seen. She was conscious that she was talking, too, though she could not remember a word that she had been saying.

This might have alarmed her if it had not been that she could not remember anything that had happened in the last half-hour—not since Miss Whiting had telephoned that she could not come to the dinner, which was then ready to be served.

Her mother had rushed up to her room. "Margery! Margery!" she clattered. "Throw aside those lessons, quick! You'll have to come to dinner to-night. Miss Whiting can't come and Mr. Drexel is horribly superstitious and he'll be worried to death if we make him sit down thirteen at table and your father is very anxious to make a good impression on him. And the Princess Lavoie and Lord Merton are coming and I wouldn't have anything go wrong for the world. You've got lots of sense, even if you are only 17 and you'll pull through somehow—and anyhow you'll have to come. I haven't time to help you dress; I must be down to receive people. But I'll read Lennie to you. She is getting out my blue gown now. Thank goodness you take a color your father and are big enough to wear my clothes. Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!"

Then Mrs. Haight rushed out of the room and Louise had rushed in to add "My dear! The next thing she said was when she was climbing desperately to the top of the ugly young man and wondering what an earth she had been saying.

The young man did not seem to notice her confusion. When he looked down—she was a tall young man—when he looked down into her downcast face, she smiled instinctively, and he seemed entirely satisfied and rattled on. By the time they were seated she began to understand his words.

"I caught your name," he was saying. "but I didn't understand much else. You are a sister of Mrs. Haight, aren't you?"

Margery's heart bounded. If this young man took her for her mother's sister she could not look so painfully young as she had feared.

"No; not a sister!" she stammered. "No? But the name is the same," insisted the other. "Surely you are some connection."

"A gleam of fun came into Margery's eyes. 'Yes,' she prevaricated. 'We are connections—by marriage.'"

"I knew it. You look like her—very much. What a lovely woman she is. I envy Haight whenever I see her."

Margery glanced at her mother with new eyes.

"But you must be a good deal younger than she."

"Am I?" Her companion turned and looked down on her and Margery saw that he was not the boy that she had supposed he was. "Well, I suppose I am. But what's a mere matter of time, after all?"

"Why haven't I seen you here before?"

"Margery's eyes danced. 'I've never been asked here before,' she quivered. 'What! Why—I can hardly believe it! Never before? Why not? I don't mean to be personal, but—'

"Oh, mother—Mrs. Haight had her reasons. Good reasons, too. Maybe I'll tell you about them some time."

Margery was beginning to feel very much at ease. Her words came with a rush, half choked by a gurgling laugh that she could not repress.

The tall young man looked pained.

"Don't do that, please!" he exclaimed.

"Do what?"

"Laugh like that!" he smiled. "I can't stand it!"

Margery gurgled again. Then she glanced at the head of the table and caught her mother's eye beaming approval and laughed once more.

"There you go again," murmured the young man, reproachfully. "But about those reasons. If Mrs. Haight didn't have you before, why did she have you to-night?"

"To-night? Because—oh! because of Mr. Drexel."

"Mr. Drexel?" The ugly young man looked amazed.

"Yes. Do you know him? Point him out to me, please. I want to see him."

The other glanced around the table.

"I don't see him," he observed.

"Don't you? Well, he must be here somewhere. I know, for I wouldn't have been here to-night except for him. You see, he—Mr. Haight is very anxious to make a very good impression on him—it's some business affair, I think—and so—"

"And so they chose you to go the work."

Margery looked up, startled. She had not thought her companion's voice could take so stern a note. His eyes, too, were steady. Ashamed, she faltered.

"What—what is wrong?" she asked, pitifully. "What have I done?"

"You, child! Nothing! Only they did not teach you your part well."

"My part? What do you mean?"

"Didn't Mrs. Haight tell you to try to beguile Mr. Drexel?"

Margery's eyes opened wide. "No, indeed!" she exclaimed. "I don't even know him! But he is dreadfully superstitious, you know, and when Miss Whiting telephoned at the last minute that she couldn't come, it would have made thirteen at table if I hadn't taken her place. Mother said—there, I've told you now—mother said I would pull through somehow, and even if I did blunder it would be better than making Mr. Drexel uncomfortable, as he would be if there were thirteen at table. And I have blundered—I see that, though I don't know how. Why? What?"

For the young man's laugh had rung out quite naturally again. "Blundered!" he exclaimed. "Not a bit of it. You've been the life of the dinner. I must—"

He broke off as, at a sign from Mrs. Haight, the chairs were pushed back and the guests arose. Then, as he stood aside to let Margery pass, he went on, rapidly:

"You will be in the parlor, won't you? I haven't half finished this delightful talk."

But Margery shook her head. "I've got to study my lessons," she answered, ruefully. "Mr. Drexel won't mind thirteen in the parlor."

"Yes, he will. He'll mind it very much. I know he will. Promise me that you'll stay."

"I'll try!"

As the girl passed out, the young man moved up close to his host.

"By George, Fred!" he exclaimed, "your daughter is perfectly charming. When does she come out?"

Mr. Haight smiled. "Man proposes, but woman disposes," he replied, sententiously. "Apply to Mrs. Haight for all information about Margery. I believe, though, she expects to break her shell next winter."

"She'll make a success, all right. By the way, Haight, I don't want to intrude business at dinner, but if you'll drop around to my office to-morrow, I guess we can fix up that deal of yours. I think it will be a good thing for both of us."

Police Near Delmar Pay Rent And Then At Pistol Point Demand It Back.

At Delmar, one night this week,
Express Messenger W. G. Baker, of the Adams Express Company, went to a camp of Italians working for the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad Company, where there were about thirty five men living in one house to collect $24.00, due the company for transportation. After the Italians had paid the bill and secured receipts they looked the door, and with pistols and stiletto forced the messenger to deliver back the money.
The lights were then put out and the man was allowed to pass through the door. He telephoned for Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith and Constable Frank Walker to go to Delmar. They went up at once, and in company with the messenger went to the house to secure the money. They expected resistance, and were prepared with their revolvers to defend themselves. They were admitted, and found in four small rooms more than thirty five men. The officers demanded to know the leader of the gang, and found that Michael Deliso was the boss. The officers placed Deliso under arrest and demanded that he return the money to the messenger. At this, the crowd started to get ugly, and several knives
and pistols were brought out, but the officers had their guns ready for use and owed the band. Deliso was taken from the house and brought to Salisbury and locked up. At first he refused to come without a writ, but

trict, butchered four prize hogs this week, weighing respectively 794, 693, 605 and 492 pounds. On the heaviest one there was a guess box which was won by Mr. Alonzo Dykes, his guess being 796½; next was Mr. Ernest Townsend who guessed 798.

PEOPLES BANK WINS

Court Decides In Its Favor In City Bonds
Case.

The case of the city against the Peoples National Bank, in which the city sued the Bank for the difference between what some bonds were sold at and the bid of the Bank on the first issue was tried here this week before Judge Jones, who found in favor of the Bank.

This case resulted from the sale of bonds made for the purpose of improving Salisbury's streets. At the time the city advertised certain bonds
for sale, and among the bids was one from the Peoples National Bank. The bid of this institution being the highest, the bonds were allotted to it.
Some time after this the bonds were presented for payment. The cashier
on examination, found the bonds bore
the endorsement of Henry J. Bryd, late City Treasurer, instead of the present incumbent, not knowing what effect this might have on the legality of the issue, he refused payment until the matter could be looked into.
The entire matter was turned over to the legal counsel of the Bank, who decided for several reasons, the bonds were not valid. The Bank being anxious for the bonds, and aware of the fact that it would be accused of bad faith if they were refused, decided to employ outside counsel. Messrs.
Miles and Stanford, of Somerset County, were then called in and agreed with the local counsel, Mr. Freedy, that the bonds were not in the proper
shape and in their opinion, worthless.

The Bank then refused to accept
these bonds and so notified the city authorities. After several offers had been made tending to adjust this matter, without any result, the Bank offered to enter into a friendly suit to test the validity of the bonds, which the Council refused. The matter was then dropped. Bonds were afterwards sold to a Baltimore firm, which had their counsel, Mr. Bruce, of Baltimore, to draw up a set of ordinances authorizing their sale. As this price was lower than the one offered by the Peoples National Bank for the first set of bonds, the city sued the Bank
for the difference.

Judge Jones, in his decision, sustains the position of the Bank in the matter.

FOUND UNBALANCED

Stranger Wandering Around Near Fruitland
Is Taken In Charge.

The inhabitants of Fruitland were startled one afternoon of this week by shrill shrieks and unearthly yelps. Investigation of the locality from whence came the strange sounds disclosed a man who was evidently unbalanced. The man who is unknown to anyone in this community was carried to Fruitland, and Deputy Sheriff
Roy Smith was summoned from Salisbury. Mr. Smith took charge of the man and "lodged" him in jail for the present.

The stranger is impressed with the idea that he is immensely wealthy and offered Mr. Smith millions to move his quarters to the third floor
throwing in an additional induc-
ment of the present of a genuine diamond as big as his head. The man is well dressed and from his general appearance, accustomed to good surroundings. He is of average height and build. The only clue as to his identity (that could be found) was a phial of medicine bearing the name of a New York physician and receipt for money paid for services to the same party.

Express Company Preparing For Delivery of Packages

In order to afford their patrons the best possible service and meet their wishes in effecting prompt delivery of Christmas presents, it would be well
for the senders not to wait until a day or two before Christmas to ship their packages by express, as it cannot be expected that the great volume of business to be handled can be accomplished in one or two days. It would fill the expectation of the donor in each case better to have the shipment delivered a day before Christmas than the day following; therefore, if these articles were forwarded earlier, would afford the Company better opportunity to fulfill the desire of its patrons.

The Adams Express Company calls attention to their "Do Not Open Until Christmas" labels, the use of which on packages forwarded early, would after delivery of same in advance of Christmas day, permit them to be opened in the hands of the consignee
at the desired time.

Extra preparations are being made at the local office here under the supervision of Mr. Thaddeus to handle with facility and dispatch the large volume of Christmas business going through this office.

—Go to Mrs. G. W. Taylor for Military. Everything in "Bats" sold. Mrs. G. W. Taylor.

DO YOUR SHOPPING EARLY

Early Shoppers Have The Advantage Over
Those Who Put It Off Too Late.

Christmas is only two weeks off and many people have a large amount of shopping to do in those two weeks.
Better service would be secured and the work of shopping would be made much easier for both buyers and sellers if, instead of waiting until a few days before the holiday to do their purchasing, purchasers would take advantage of the next week in which to make their selections. This does not mean, of course, that it would be necessary to take the goods bought home
at this time; on the contrary, nearly every merchant will be only too glad to lay aside such articles as may be purchased and send them out when ordered.

By following this method better service would be secured, as the clerk now have more time in which to display goods; they are not tired
and then out by the pulling and hauling over goods, as they will be the last few days before Christmas; the stock of goods will be larger at this time, as they have not yet been picked over, so that not only will there be a better selection, but the clerks will be in a much better position to render service in making the sales.

Another thing, too, that should be borne in mind is that if you have packages to be sent by express or by mail they should be started early in order to insure their reaching their destination in time. The express companies will hold goods until the day
delivery is desired if they are so marked.

For instance, if a package is to be sent to New York, instead of waiting until the 23rd of December, get your package ready and mark it to be delivered December 24th. The company will then carry the package to New York and hold it until the 24th of December, making the delivery as per their instructions. But if, on the other hand, the package is shipped to New York, leaving here the 23rd, on account of the rush, it may not get there until the 26th or 27th, or even if it gets there earlier, the 24th, on account of the rush at that time, the chances of delivery on time will be much less than if it were on hand waiting delivery. Express companies and the mail undoubtedly do their best
at this season of the year, but they cannot do several days work in one,
no more than a steamboat company
cannot make 50 staterooms do the work
of 350.

To the person who has many purchases to make and many packages to send, there cannot help being a feeling of relief, if, when Christmas Eve
arrives, they realize that their purchases are all made and their packages
delivered, instead of being worried almost to death for fear they will forget
this one or that one, or that the packages which they did not get off until the last moment will not be delivered on time.

SAVES MONEY IN CHURCH

Burglars Ransack House In Vain For Woman's Cash.

The residence of Peter Smith at 304 Baker Street, was entered by robbers one night this week while the family was at church and the beds
out open and every possible hiding
place looked into by them in an effort
to find hidden money.

About 8:30 Mr. Smith was called from church by a neighbor, who reported that someone was in his house.
He immediately rushed there and found the furniture thrown about,
beds out open, cupboards and closets
ransacked and the household effects generally wrecked. Nothing of value was taken away however.

It was known, no doubt, that Mrs.
Smith, who has several houses in this city, upon which she collects rent
once each month had this money in her possession and the robbers evidently thought that she had it hidden somewhere in the house. She had fortunately carried it with her to church.

Death of Mr. Zedekiah Evans.

Mr. Zedekiah Evans, 41 years old died, suddenly Wednesday from an attack of apoplexy as he was being carried to his home. Mr. Evans was a carpenter and was stricken while at work on a house near the cemetery.
He was hurried to his home and died on the way. He was a son of Samuel
G. Evans and is survived by his father, one son, aged 18 years, and the following brothers and sisters: R. H.
Evans, of Salisbury; R. J. Evans,
Mrs. J. W. Willis and Mrs. John W.
Ordrey, all of Sussex County, Del.

Mr. Evans was to be married next week to Miss Little White.

Funeral services were held at the Abney M. E. Church Thursday afternoon.

Death of Miss Julia Dashell.

Miss Julia Dashell died suddenly Tuesday morning at 7:35 o'clock. She had contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia and while her death was a severe shock to her many friends, she came as she had always wished.

Miss Dashell was the daughter of
G. Washington and Virginia Dashell and was born at Princess Anne on June 9th, 1846. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Ellen McFarland and Miss
A. Belle Dashell, living at Charleston, and two nieces, Miss Aileen Burke and Mrs. Emily Ewart, children of her deceased sister, Mrs. Emily O.
Burke.

Her near relatives in Salisbury are
Dr. L. Sidney Bell and George W.
Bell, Esq., and Sydney E. Dashell, who are cousins. Miss Julia in early childhood was dropped by a nurse and so became afflicted for life, but the cross put on her was borne with cheerfulness and submission and did not seem to dim her enjoyment as she was delighted in company and was never happier than when ministering to the comfort and enjoyment of others.

She was a devoted member of the Protestant Episcopal Church and always attended and enjoyed its services. She seemed always happy when speaking a word or working for the advancement of her church.
For a number of years she had her rooms over Judge Holland's office and had charge of the Judge's living rooms and was much liked by the Judge and his friends. Many will miss her, but none as those who for the past many years have been intimately associated with her. Her cross so heavy will only make her crown the brighter, which she wore in the land beyond.
Services were held in St. Paul's Church, Thursday afternoon
9 o'clock.

UNCY BAGS THE RAGE

Extravagant In Price as Well as Appearance.

Utility, No Longer Sole Consideration, Gives Way to Bizarre Colors and Designs.

During the last year the cult of the bag has developed amazingly and the practical shopping bag which once held the stage center is now relegated to the ranks of the purely utilitarian, while a woman buys dainty and fanciful bags to match her costumes and to answer for any and every occasion.

Among the fine leather bags there are innumerable new and beautiful things; but the subject of bags is now too extensive to be covered in one discussion and attention will be paid to the fancy velvet, silk and metallic lace bags, which bid fair to be one of the extravagant fads of the season.

The craze for dull toned metallic laces and nets finds expression in a large proportion of these fancy bags and exquisite gold and silver brocades or brocades shot with silver or gold are much used. Luckily the supply of such laces, nets and brocades is almost inexhaustible, and so there is opportunity for great variety within what might seem to be narrow limits. A beautiful bag easily copied in the large one pictured here. It is drawn up on ribbon, which, of course, is a much simpler matter than metal mounting. Gold or silver cord is very often substituted for ribbon.

The bag has its upper part of a heavy dull gold net, but a band around the bottom of the bag and reaching almost two-thirds of the way to the drawstring is of dull gold lace in a beautiful design. On this gold lace is posed a wreath of tiny silk flowers in many soft old tones. The bag is lined with old rose satin and finished on the bottom with gold fringe.

Odd but handsome bags which recall things seen in collections of rich old church vestments are among the novelties. One of these which is illustrated was of velvet in that soft, rich, yet slightly dulled red which one sees in those same old church things, a red velvet which looks as though time rather than the dyer's art had softened its brilliance and given it a soft bloom. On this velvet was heavy raised embroidery of dull gold and the plain curved contour was of dull gold, as were the long cords to pass over the arm.

One might go on indefinitely with descriptions, but after all description gives little idea of the beauty of these new bags. It will pay any woman who loves pretty things to make a tour of the shops just for the pleasure of seeing these lovely bag novelties.

New Cross Stitch on Canvas.
A novelty in cross stitch work, which is once more popular and easy to do, is to have the designs tinted on coarse canvas, and this greatly simplifies shading and does away with much counting.

The design is printed on ecru canvas in conventional designs and colored according to the shades to be used in that special part. A good looking effect had a bunch of daisies with yellow centers and green leaves and stems held by a bowknot of crossed stitching in a tone darker than the flowers.

Such pillows may be made up with a back of blue silk or pongee, or art ticking can be chosen for harder wear. Finish with a heavy blue cord knotted on the corners.

The cross stitching is handsome when done in heavy rope silks or those which come specially for cross stitch work, but if expense is an item cottons can be substituted. The latter now is highly mercerized and washes well.

A Novelty Vanity Box.
So wedded is the modern girl to her powder puff that it is concealed everywhere. Hairpins, tops, lockets, ornaments for the chapeleine, compartments in the opera bag and chain purse, cardcases, all reveal the useful toilet adjunct at the touch of a spring. One of the latest places of concealment for a vanity box is a plaque on top of a bracelet. The bracelet itself is of thinly plated gold wires, and the plaque is the size of a small open face watch. It is enameled in vivid chandelier coloring around an oval central space for the owner's monogram. At a touch the lid lifts, showing a tiny puff and powder.

ENCLICATED.

Every Household in Salisbury Should Know To Roski N.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this. It's the best proof, for it comes from Salisbury.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin St., Salisbury, Md., says: "For almost six months I was in poor health and my housework was a burden. Rheumatic pains between my shoulders caused me much suffering and my head ached nearly all the time. I was also subject to dizzy spells and I felt all out of sorts. Before I had finished the contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at White & Leonard's Drug Store, I was entirely relieved and I have been in good health since." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Millburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Obituary.

Mary L. Hearn, wife of Arthur A. Hearn, who departed this life November 28, 1910.

Oh dear sister thou hast left us: 'Twas so hard to give you up. You were called for some good purpose. So we'll drain the bitter cup. You were always sweet and patient. Kind to friends and won their love. Oh dear Mammie, how we miss you. Since you've gone to dwell above. You are gone but not forgotten. You on earth we'll see no more. Fare thee well, but not forever. We'll meet you on the other shore. Husband, children; sad and lonely. Their sorrow so hard to bear. Father when their journeys over. Will it; they may meet her o'er there. —Frances T. Hearn.

Ends Winter's Troubles.

Too many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost bites toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skin, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Bolls, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at all druggists.

Banks On Sure Thing.

"I'll never be without Dr. King's New Life Pills again," writes A. Schlegel, 647 Elm St., Buffalo, N. Y. "They cured me of chronic constipation when all others failed." "Unequaled for Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Headache, Chills, Malaria and Debility. 25c at all druggists."

Woman loves a clear, rosy complexion. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood, clears the skin, restores ruddy, sound health.

There's nothing so good for a sore throat as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Cures it in a few hours. Believes any pain in any part.

How I Removed Pimples and Blackheads from My Face

"I have been bothered for a number of years with pimples and blackheads on my face. I have tried a number of remedies from physicians, with little or no improvement. More than a year ago I thought I would try Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and after taking it for a period of two months, I found a decided improvement. My face is now free from pimples and blackheads, and I cannot thank you enough for your wonderful remedy. I would be glad to let everybody know the benefit I derived from its use."—Mrs. Cassius B. Ammons, Box 52, C. 2, N. Y.

The most common indications of impure, impoverished blood are humors and eruptions, and they are usually the forerunners of more serious consequences which come from an unhealthy state of the blood.

All that is necessary is a good, home treatment, frequent bathing, fresh air, wholesome, nutritious, easily digested food, and the regular use of Pinkham's Blood Purifier. In this way the blood is purified and enriched. Pimples, eruptions, and blackheads disappear and the complexion will become clear and healthy.

You may be perfectly sure that Pinkham's Blood Purifier is just as reliable as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Its makers could not risk their unequalled reputation among their vast army of friends by recommending a remedy that was not honest.

PROLOGUE

This story of a young man's honest attempt to "break" the "boss" and the power of the "machine" is an absorbingly intimate portrayal of the working of the "wheels within wheels" in a desperate political struggle of today. The senator, strongly entrenched behind his party "machine," presents an almost invulnerable front, and the conflict between father and son as this young lawyer, single-handed, fights for what he deeply believes to be the right holds one with a suspenseful sympathy.

CHAPTER I

BECAUSE PATRICIA SAID "NO," SOME one was giving a crash course in the country club, and Blount, though he was only a week and a half of the Blounts, was ill-natured enough to be resentful. What right had a gay and frivolous world to come and thrust its light-headed happiness upon him when Patricia had said "No"? It was like bullying a cripple, he told himself morosely, and when he had read the single telegram which had come while he was at dinner he went out and found a chair in a corner of the veranda, where the frivolities had not as yet intruded.

Blount was a level-eyed, square-shouldered young man of an up to date world, and the sleek from which he had descended was prosaic and practical rather than poetic or sentimental. But just now he was unconsciously giving a very lifelike imitation of the disappointed lover the world over.

It was thus, and by the merest chance, that Gentry found him. The railroad man at least was unflinchingly glad.

"Pull up a chair," said Blount, not too uncharitably, considering his just cause to be more uncharitable. "I was thinking of you just a little while ago, Dick. I saw your name in the list of transcontinental representatives to the traffic meeting, and—well, at the present moment I think you are the one man in the world I wanted to meet."

"That sounds good to me," laughed Dick Gentry, settling himself comfortably in a lax chair and feeling in his pockets for a cigar. "The office ear has corroded you, hasn't it, Evan? I thought maybe it would when I heard you were taking the postgraduate frills in the Harvard law school. By the way, how much longer are you in for?"

"I am out of the law school, if that is what you mean," said Blount, "and admitted to the bar. If you get into trouble with the Boston police let me know and I'll ask for a change of venue to the Greenwood hills and Judge Lynch's court."

"Are you ever coming back to them, Blount? I believe you told me once in the old college days that you were western born."

"I told you the truth, and until tonight I never thought much about going back," was Blount's rather cryptic answer.

"But now you are thinking of it?" inquired the railroad man, waking up. "That's good. We're needing a few bright young lawyers mighty bad. Is that why I'm the particular fellow you wanted to meet?"

Blount passed the newly come telegram across the interval between the two chairs. "Read that," he said.

Gentry smoothed the square of yellow paper carefully and held it up to the soft glow of the electric ceiling globe. Its date line carried the name of the chief city in the "greenwood country," the capital of the state, and the time markings sufficiently indicated its late arrival.

To Evan Blount, Standish Apartments, Boston: You have had everything that money could buy, and you owe me nothing but an occasional sight of your face. If you are not tied to some woman's knee, why can't you come west and grow up with your native state?"

DAVID BLOUNT.

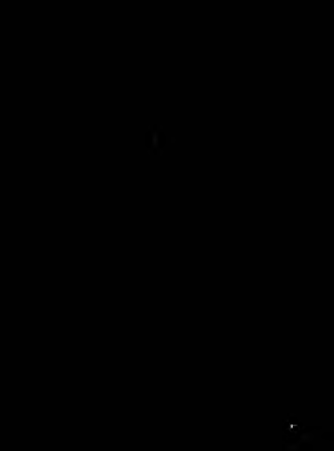

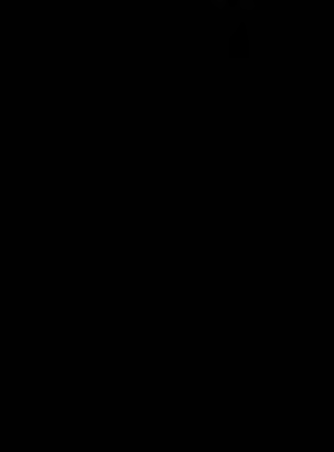

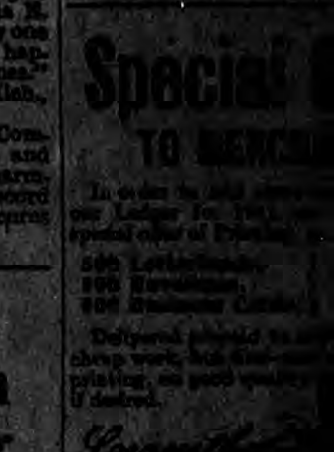

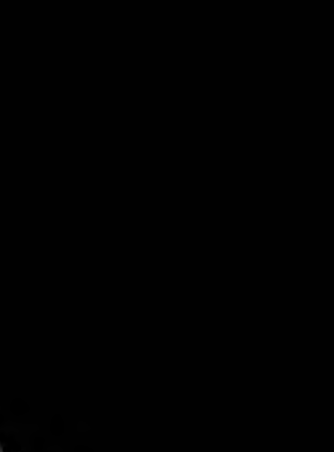

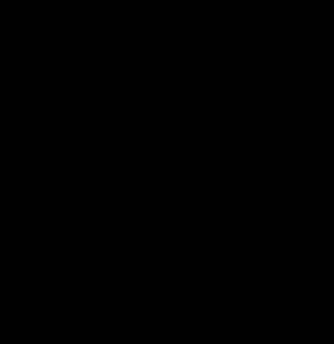

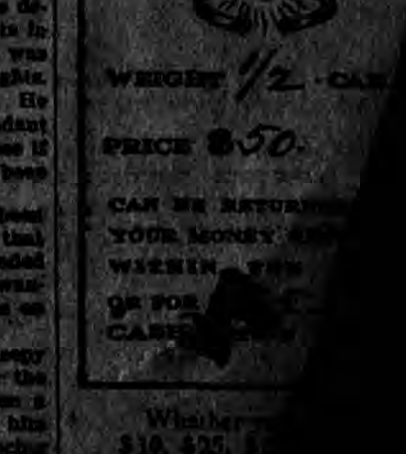

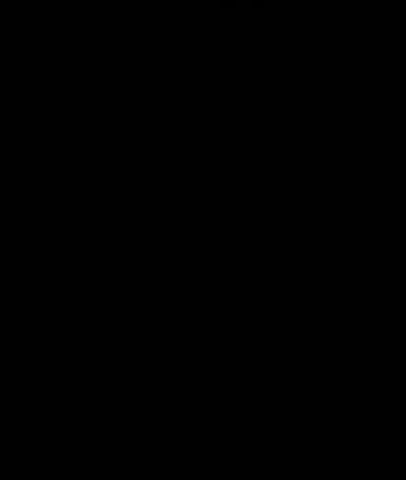

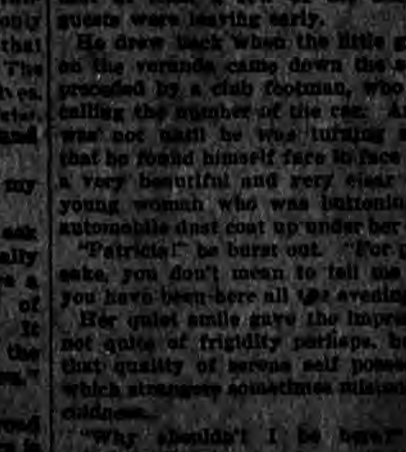

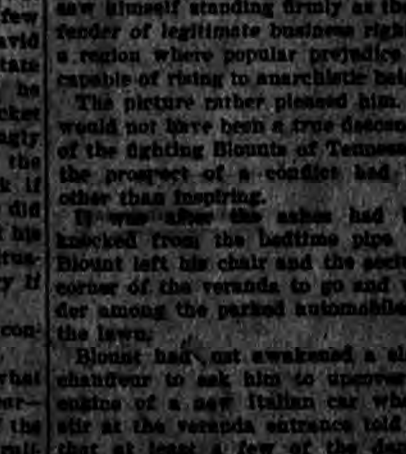

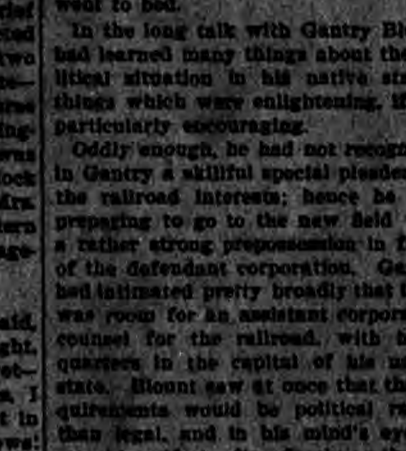

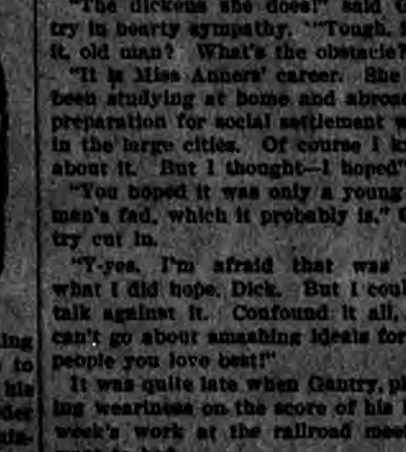

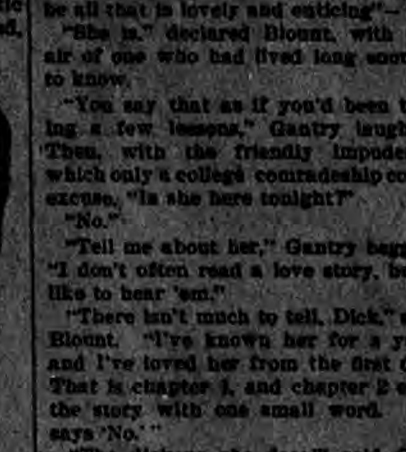

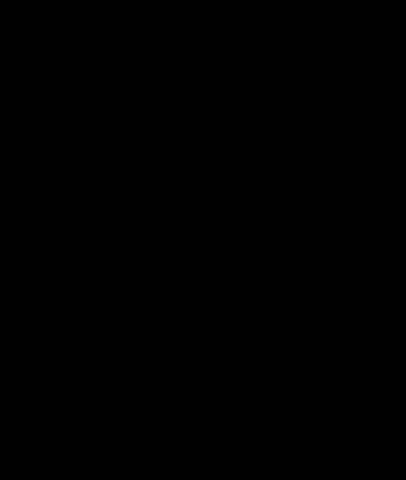

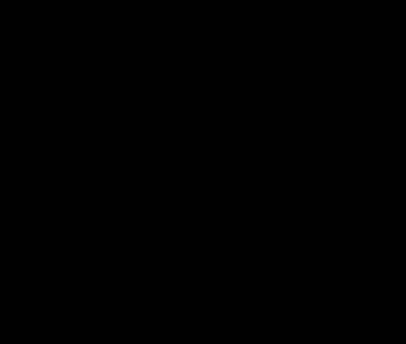

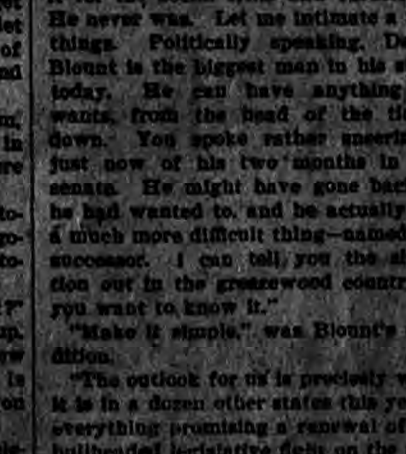

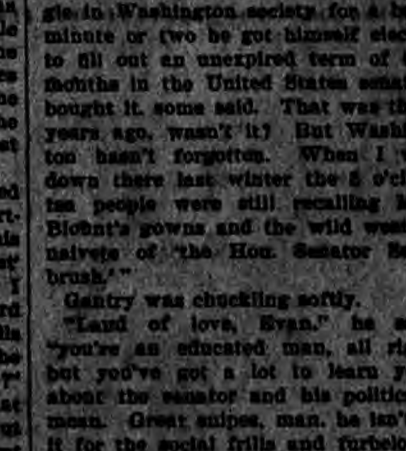

It was characteristic of Gentry that he taking the telegram in the original envelope he handed it back.

"What?" asked Blount when the paper had been handed back.

"I was just thinking," was the reply. "We used to be in the old Ann Arbor law school, and yet I never knew you till a few minutes that morning."

"And I?" was the reply. "I was the only one who knew you."

"I was the only one who knew you," was the reply. "I was the only one who knew you."

PASTOR RUSSELL Shows From the Bible Their Origin and Their Pernicious Influ- ence Upon Mankind.

"Giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of demons." (2 Timothy 2, 14.)
"Tricked spirits in high positions" (Ephesians 6, 12.) "The heathen scriptures do not say that God is not God" (1 Corinthians 2, 2).

Trenton, N. J.,
February 12.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached here today in the Open House for the "ERRATA" and subsequently on "The angels which kept not their first estate."

Jude 6. Excellent attention was given at both services. We report the latter as follows:
The Bible's teaching that the earth's atmosphere is infested with evil spirits is now very generally disbelieved. As a result of the disbelieved thousands of well-meaning people are being more easily entrapped by these evil spirits. The blight is both physical and mental. The only remedy is to be as sure as death that the angels which kept not their first estate.

In every instance these communications purport to come from dead human beings. This of itself gives to the communication a special charm to many. They feel honored in being sought out by the dead and in being able to communicate with them. They are curious for information respecting the hereafter. They forget that they have been taught from infancy that the dead are not conscious of anything and that the unblessed dead are far off in torment.

How fully this is forgotten is shown by a letter which I received on the first day of this month from a Catholic lady. In it she tells how she first obtained clairvoyant powers—the gift of hearing what others could not hear. This, in turn, permitted her to communicate with the evil spirits, the fallen angels. These, representing themselves to her as inmates of purgatory, came to her for help. They solicited her prayers and were progressing to get her more and more under their control. Just in time she was rescued through reading my writings on the subject. Since then she has exercised her will and her prayers against having any fellowship whatever with these fallen angels. Gradually she is becoming more and more enlightened in the Truth of God's Word.

Not infrequently do these spirits personate the Heavenly Father and Christ, urge more prayer, accuse of sin, and demand the reading of the Scriptures, etc. This appears to be with a view to gaining the confidence, the relaxing of the will. Later on dishonorable suggestions are made. The Bible is scorned, prayer is laughed at. If, then, the subject takes right and seeks to break the hypnotic chain, the evil spirit laughs at him, swears at him, and sometimes tell him that they will shortly have him fully in their power to roast him forever. If he attempts to pray, they intrude and interrupt and tell him that God would not hear him now, that he has gone too far.

With some the matter goes so far that the human will is broken down completely and the spirits choose them and use their bodies foolishly—sometimes viciously, sometimes insanely, until finally they are pronounced dangerous and committed to asylums. We do not claim that the inmates are possessed of evil spirits, but so far as we can judge, nearly one-half the inmates of asylums are possessed by demons who live in them while they are mastering their wills.

Prepared For These Delusions. God, through His Word, has forewarned His people against these delusions. In permitting them, nevertheless, to fall into these traps, He is merely teaching a great lesson. The terrible results of disobedience, of neglect of God's Word, are not eternal. The Divine arrangement is that ultimately the entire human family shall be released from the bonds of sin and death, ignorance and superstition, and all have full opportunity for coming into full harmony with God. The present lesson will illustrate the necessity for searching the Scriptures and obeying God's voice therein.

Seducing Spirits—Doctrines of Devils. St. Paul, in describing our day, declares one of its prominent aims to be that many will now give heed to these seducing spirits, whose teachings and practices lead away from God. St. Paul intimates also that by these misleading spirits many will come to hold doctrines of demons, or devilish doctrines. It is a sad commentary upon our wonderful day of enlightenment that the most enlightened people should hold the most awful doctrine respecting the hereafter.

A doctrine of demons is most surely in which tells of the dominion of God's name, that also hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand of humanity are to be eternally tortured, either because of Divine incompleteness to make better arrangements for them, or because God willed and so decreed it so before creation. This doctrine of demons has enslaved many honorable people who, being themselves secure to make such a plan of the ages as they attribute to God.

Think God, the time is not far distant when these seducing spirits will be completely broken, restrained, and secure humanity that so more. But the doctrine has so long prevailed that even humanity is thoroughly wedded to it. The fallen angels are the enemies of God and man.

These doctrines of demons have increased the gulf between God and humanity and have made the Bible, the message of God's love, a book of torment and not a book of comfort. They have caused men to be fearful of the hereafter, the hell and purgatory of the Catholics, and, worst of all, our Protestant misconception of awful and bleeding torture for all except the saintly few.

ODD FELLOWS' GATHERING

Newton Lodge Of Odd Fellows Honored Tuesday Evening.

Newton Lodge of Odd Fellows of Salisbury Tuesday evening enjoyed a visit of Odd Fellows from all sections of the country. The following grand officers were among the number:

Grand Master John B. Brown, Grand Secretary W. A. Jones, Grand Treasurer J. M. Plummer, Grand Representative H. H. Foxwell.

The following lodges were represented: Olive Branch of Elveth, Good Will of Wadala, Acorn of Keller, Parson of Berlin, Federal of Federalburg, Worcester of Bishopville, Triumph of Bel Air, Mountains of Ocala, Somerset of Somerset, Pa., Amazon of Williamsport, Pa.

The meeting was called to order by Worthy Noble Grand James Holliday, assisted by worthy four of the members, after which a large ode was given the initiatory degree. Several speeches were made by the visitors, followed by a banquet.

Newton Lodge has made great gains in the last two years and stands in the front ranks of the Odd Fellows of Maryland with a membership of 115. Tuesday evening will go down in history as the greatest day Salisbury Odd Fellows ever saw.

KELLY

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Fooks spent Monday with their daughter, Mrs. Marion Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mathews spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Sales, of Pines Grove.

Mr. John Smullen is very sick.

Mr. Elmer Roark killed a hawk which measured four feet six inches from tip to tip of wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roark have returned from Virginia after a stay of about four months.

HEBRON

There will be given by the Epworth League of our town "A Pedlar's Tale" in Sound's Hall, Saturday, February 15th, admission free and free will. The tale is a story of a pedlar and his life, and is a very interesting and instructive story. The evening will begin with a singing, followed by a lecture, and a collection for the Epworth League. The evening will be a very successful one, and we hope to see a large number of our friends present.

Melson's Church News.

Melson's Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, Mr. Monroe Medox, superintendent, will hold their annual missionary anniversary next Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18th, at 1 P. M.

Let every teacher be present and do his or her part to "boost" their class to the highest point of giving. Rev. E. B. Collins, pastor, will preach a missionary sermon at 2.30. Be sure and be present and help make these services a most blessed success. If you cannot come be sure and send your missionary offering.

The 4th Quarterly Conference of this charge will be held at Parsonsburg on Friday afternoon, February 24th, at one o'clock, sharp. Rev. G. P. Jones, District Superintendent, is in the chair. This is a very important Quarterly Conference, being the last for the year and a full attendance is desired. Also complete written reports from all the departments of church work. Rev. G. P. Jones, District Superintendent, not having been able to be present with us before this conference year, will spend the entire day with us on Sunday, February 26th, preaching at all of the churches on the charge. This is indeed a rare treat for the people on Parsonsburg Charge. The preaching services will be as follows: Melons, 10.30 This is not the usual preaching hour at Melons, as this is an afternoon appointment, so let no one forget the time or fail to be present. Zion Church at 2.30. Parsonsburg at night at 7.30. Brother Jones will also address the Sunday Schools. Let every body pray that God may pour out His Holy Spirit upon these services and make it a "Red Letter" day for Parsonsburg Charge Methodists.

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.
218 MAIN ST.

A Singer Sewing Machine will quickly pay for itself through the many ways it enables you to economize. It saves dressmakers' bills, valuable time, and the cost of repairs, which figure considerably in the yearly maintenance of inferior machines. Many people only realize the superiority of Singer Sewing Machines after they have wasted money upon inferior machines which soon become completely useless. Profit by their experience and get a Singer the first time—you will save cost another sewing machine.

The Buyer who knows the Difference in Automobiles will own a

Our first object in advertising the Cadillac Thirty is to teach the buyers the real essentials of an automobile and to help them become competent to judge the merits of a car. If buyers know the vast difference in automobiles, we would have three purchasers for every Cadillac we could secure.

Cadillac is Manufactured
There is abundant evidence to prove that no car at $2,500 or under will compare favorably with the Cadillac Thirty. In the first place a dependable, lasting automobile must be a manufactured car. It is foolhardy to claim that a machine assembled from parts secured here and there will give the same quality of service as a car the parts of which are made under one roof, with a thorough knowledge of the relation of each part to every other. The high standard of accuracy required in an automobile cannot be attained in an assembled car. Neither can the parts be made standard, so that the owner can rely on regular parts fitting properly. The buyer who knows automobiles will demand a great deal of the factory behind the car he is considering. And he ought to. It's the best insurance he can secure against high upkeep and trouble.

Cadillac Factory
It is the Cadillac factory, its methods and facilities, which so strongly commend the Cadillac Thirty. No one, be he mechanic or not, can visit this plant and not be soundly convinced that the Cadillac is an excellent car.

And comparison with other factories and their methods will reveal the fact that no car at double the price is made as carefully and as accurately as the Cadillac. What this means to an owner can be easily determined by asking Cadillac owners what kind of service they get and what their upkeep amounts to, and then comparing notes with owners of other makes. You'll find that no car will stand comparison with the Cadillac on these two vital points.

Cadillac Design
Then the design of the Cadillac affords advantages which no other car offers. No motor will compare with the cooling qualities of the Cadillac, yet less water is used than in any other car of equal power. What car of equal size will travel 17 to 22 miles on a gallon of gasoline? What other car will run 100 miles on a pint of oil? The Cadillac is doing this every day.

Cadillac Dependability
If you were an expert mechanic and had plenty of time to devote to your car, you could get good service from most any well-known machine. But only a few are expert mechanics. When you buy a car you want steady, uninterrupted service. You will get this in a Cadillac, whether you are mechanically inclined or not. And you will get it at lower upkeep expense than with any other car. Truly, the buyer who knows the difference in automobiles will own a Cadillac Thirty.
