

Any senator can recommend a faculty member from his/her school for recognition of a significant teaching accomplishment. If the Senate approves this recommendation by acclamation, the Senate president will send a congratulatory letter of recognition to the individual.