Poems by
Robert H. Deluty
To

Barbara,
in celebration of our thirty years of marriage Other books by Robert H. Deluty

Within and Between: Poems (2000) Treasuring the Details: Poems (2005) Present Sense: New and Selected Poems (2005) Specks and Flashes: Poems (2006) Giving Subtlety to the Simple: Poems (2006)
   In the Moment: Poems (2007) Hearing the Grass Grow: Poems (2007)
In Praise of the Commonplace: Poems (2008) Hour/Minute/Second Helpings: Poems (2008) Ripples to the Horizon: Poems (2008)
   As With Sunbeams: Poems (2008) Fractions of Eternity: Poems (2009) Giving the Mundane Its Due: Poems (2009) Unfolding: Poems (2009)
   Right Simple: Poems (2009)
   A Zoo In A Jungle: Poems (2010)
Waiting for the Echo: Poems (2010)
   Dancing With Their Shadows: Poems (2010) Making Riddles Out of Answers: Poems (2011) Toward Darkness, Toward Light: Poems (2011) Too Old To Know Everything: Poems (2011) Between Nothing and All: Poems (2011) Unacknowledged Miracles: Poems (2012) Particles of Life: Poems (2012) Through Others' Eyes: Poems (2012)
The Inventor as Observer: Poems (2013)
Contents

1 Quotation (Simone Schwarz-Bart)

3 biology class
Yom Kippur, lunchtime
high school track coach introducing
Aunt Bev swearing

4 belittling his son
the workaholic
Grandma noting why
Gramps explaining why
bureaucrat’s wake

5 her two uncles
Pan Am games
her child inquiring
the old woman
the old man

6 her blind date December 7th
too focused christening wishing he could dine 7 Summer Olympics (I)
Summer Olympics (II)
Day of Atonement their daughter buying their son changing

8 When do you sleep?!
observering her boss OCD mother
baseball slugger Intro Psych student

9 the priest describing Woodstock, Georgia
shocked to learn
the batter hearing
their six-month-old child

10 a scholar hoping Halloween night
in the SUV
their Granddad
a kindergartner

11 Easter Sunday
the new patient
her son replying
her spouse replying
her Dad replying 12 at the aquarium
a Chinese tourist
the third grader
in the hospice (I) in the hospice (II)

13 reference letter
informing the judge
Social Work program
Voc Tech program
told he has cancer

14 white Brandeis prof
white Berkeley prof
telling his grandsons
late October
teaching the same class

15 a Yankee hater
on the survey
on Halloween
doctors christening Grandma insisting

16 in shul
high school left fielder
second birthday
masquerade party
Papa describing 17 teenaged defendant
mid-hurricane
a chemist noting I'll retire next term (I) I'll retire next term (II)

18 Duke law student
at Lifetime Fitness
at the barber shop
bellowing
the bigot stating

19 the salesman noting Gramps admitting
at Disneyland
Math Lab sign
at the gravesite

20 the optimist
the pessimist
first-time parents
as penance
post-Election Day

21 her twin boys
for his birthday
fog rolling in winning candidate
first-term governor
22   English Department 23   Mexican mailman
     the teenaged rebel
     a physics student
     realizing
     obese passengers 24   recalling how a Californian
     pre-med student
     their professor Sikh busboy wishing 25   urging her grandsons discovering learning emanating expressing dismay 26   a piggy bank post-Sandy
     not-so-grand rounds touring Kenya
     shot in the head 27   answering
     giving their prof
     compulsive gambler
     Dallas Hill, Jr.
     Mimi Weiss
29  Quotation (Jonathan Miller)

31  the mohel
    Thanksgiving morning
    old haberdasher
    a Bronx socialist marijuana joint

32  Seoul-born nurse wishing
    the elderly vet
    a new temp watching school bus stop
    one day post-birth

33  turning down the prize
    a child asking
    at LaGuardia
    viewing the impact
    her son calming down

34  cyclists wishing
    Dr. Seuss party
    alone on Christmas
    Michael Williams
    old black Southerner

35  refusing to spend
    the new convict
    the coach with cancer
    a New York rabbi
    finals week
in the eighth minute on her deathbed their neighbor Jen the CEO explosives expert gravely ill comic young Jewish Texan a man approaching out of the closet a child cringing

Returns Department pre final exam (I) pre final exam (II) Thu Phan of Pittsburgh the old man sensing a Jewish boy Aunt Mae replying Organic Chem prof Valentine's Day four-year-old brother Mom punctuating the refugee a teen dreaming two sixth graders two fourth graders her mother

a girl trying a boy trying dichotomizing
You’re driving me nuts!

a Muslim girl
his child assuming the new prisoner (I) the new prisoner (II)
teammates christening

mother of two teens
reminding recalling his youth
centenarian
a cop mistaking

regretting (I) regretting (II)
regretting (III)
the prez refusing the bride replying

homophobes fuming
an elderly man
Describe your mother
Describe your father
Describe your spouse
46   Isaac Kahn
Patrick Conn
a child hoping in China
post-fight

47   staring in awe
his niece requesting
his nephew trying
eying the young prof
eying the old prof

48   their mother placing their father placing his son confusing
a pacifist asking Grandpa

49   her husband loving
Yuletide ER
gibberish texts (I) gibberish texts (II)
their child insisting

50   once obese
informing his son
informing his wife
three rabbis
the neurotic teen
friendless man hoping
five-year-old judge
six-year-old builder
a Met fan slugging overhearing

a boy smiles first day of law school (I) first day of law school (II) the teacher hoping AIDS researcher

celebrating
nine-year-old Martha raging at her spouse suicidal man
at the wedding

Quotation (Studs Terkel)

the elderly man
Timothy Slaughter
his child asking why
job interview
mocking the Mayans

third grader guessing Macy's men's room
Orthodox rabbi
TV weatherman
mother of triplets
the anti-Semite Cornell athlete Southern Cal athlete a gay couple an overweight teen Define elf . . .

the actor ruing Intro Psych Social Psych the one year-old placing a doo-rag educating meat-averse teen veggie-averse child 100th birthday family elder therapy session in court four-year-old chef irking his son her teen putting first his wife putting first young Packer fan Polish man in Vail lifelong New Yorker college applicant ER firing her shrink a teen startling

Jewish French chef in church the NRA veep Ravens fan Ruth Cohn dedi cating

Great-Gramps trying informing both sons drunk professor devout Muslim a vegan telling on Kol Nidrei patient of six years reading writ large clinical psych prof her twelve year-old

Aunt Faye asserting the cantor their Dad revealing Boston Celtics impoverished man the roofer
the physicist ex SDS head

her child pondering
two Warsaw natives Manhattanite
down an icy street
with a labored breath

the Mafia don
evincing concern
Pop wanting a job
Aunt Fatima
six year-olds using

not realizing
family picnic Detroit hoops coach
Memphis hoops coach
Caroline Seaver

on their heads
nursery school girl
his wife chiding him
whispering
maternity ward Gramps expressing thanks
young Mel Schwartz
first day at Princeton
an Italian
watching Uncle Ed

in the dugout
after fumbling
the high school athlete
old world scholar
the new graduate

in her eulogy
mother, wife, sons
the hooker's daughter
doubles tennis match
thoughts of Auschwitz

the alum showing (I) the alum showing (II)
their teen promising
women's high hurdles
first evening in Rome

the fourth grader
the eighth grader
retired one day
overly modest
asking the psychic
the metallurgist
less popular twin
How was Everest?
Vassar Marxists
Oberlin Marxists

Author’s Note
Only the knife knows what goes on in the heart of a pumpkin.

Simone Schwarz-Bart
biology class . . .
a fifth grader inquiring can germs jump

Yom Kippur, lunchtime . . .
the one-eighth Jewish woman abstaining from ham

high school track coach
dreaming of teaching P.E. at Princeton

introducing
his daughter Alex and son Ashley

Aunt Bev swearing
she saw Pope Benedict
at Burger King
belittling his son
for returning home with bronze from the Olympics

the workaholic
boasting that he does not own a pair of sneakers

Grandma noting why
she does not wear a seat belt: Clothing creases

Gramps explaining why
he does not wear a seat belt: Steering wheels protect

bureaucrat’s wake . . .
a colleague noting he wrote excellent memos
her two uncles
coming to blows over how schlemiel is spelled

Pan Am games . . .
a rebellious Vermont teen hopes Cuba wins all

her child inquiring
whether Entenmann’s hires taste-testers

the old woman
claiming she has seen it all: I’ve thirty grandkids

the old man
claiming he has seen it all: I raise Chihuahuas
her blind date
mentioning that his Mom thinks he has character

December 7th . . .
a Pearl Harbor veteran winning Powerball

too focused
on a second pizza slice to enjoy the first

cchristening
their fraternal twins Leslie and Lesley

wishing he could dine
with Confucius, Buddha, Freud, and Lady Gaga
Summer Olympics . . .
his child rooting for countries with pretty flags

Summer Olympics . . .
his wife rooting for countries with touching anthems

Day of Atonement . . .
the six-year-old Jew eating
a Mr. Goodbar
	heir daughter buying halter tops that complement her new tattoo
	heir son changing hair colors to highlight his new piercings
When do you sleep? . . .
prolific prof responding Faculty meetings

observing her boss taking a dime-sized mirror out of his wallet

OCD mother
fretting that her ten month-old is too messy

baseball slugger
wanting to change his name from Harold to Homer

Intro Psych student
inquiring why Dr. Phil isn’t in the text
the priest describing
the reverend’s behavior as not kosher

Woodstock, Georgia . . .
a girl asking where in town the concert took place

shocked to learn
his grown sons yearn for Facebook more than sex

the batter hearing
his coach scream Let it hit you . . . we got lots of ice

their six-month-old child
and Great Dane puppy sharing the same chew toy
a scholar hoping
to learn new languages in the afterlife

Halloween night . . .
nine Yeshiva boys dressed as a menorah

in the SUV
making a right turn signal with his beagle’s head

their Granddad
removing ear wax before stepping on the scale

a kindergartner
bringing in for show-and-tell her Mom’s diaphragm Easter Sunday . . .
a senior wearing to Mass her best nightgown

the new patient
asking his shrink if he talks or just gives drugs

her son replying
to Did you just fart?
with Why?

her spouse replying
to Did you just fart?
with Perhaps

her Dad replying
to Did you just fart?
with Who’s to say?
at the aquarium,
refusing to believe seahorses are real

a Chinese tourist
wishing the Denny's waitress A wellbeing life

the third grader
explaining why his lunchbox contains ammo

in the hospice
a child cheering up Grandma with a knock-knock joke

in the hospice
a child cheering up Grandpa with a dirty joke
reference letter
noting the applicant is _surly impressive_

informing the judge
her eyes closing mid-sneeze caus[ed] the accident

Social Work program . . .
male applicants claiming they're minorities

Voc Tech program . . .
Jewish applicants claiming they’re minorities

told he has cancer,
leaving the doctor’s office to buy a _Harley_
white Brandeis prof
asserting Sammy Davis wasn’t black enough

white Berkeley prof
asserting Bill Cosby
isn’t black enough

telling his grandsons
that ’60s bell bottom pants weren’t worn for laughs

late October . . .
Yale students relieving stress with pumpkin baseball

teaching the same class
for thirty years, terrified of losing his notes
a Yankee hater
refusing to purchase a pinstriped shirt

on the survey
next to Person of Color? writing Yes, I’m tan

on Halloween . . .
two ex-hippies dressed as ghouls wearing peace symbols

doctors christening
the hospital’s coffee shop Grand Grounds

Grandma insisting
her prized cookies be called chocolate chunk in shul, Uncle Max sporting mauve shorts, white Keds, a black fedora

high school left fielder
opting to switch to football: I love flattening

second birthday . . .
learning she’s twice as old as yesterday

masquerade party . . .
dressing their two schnauzers as wooly mammoths

Papa describing
teachers in the old country: They had beards, sticks
teenaged defendant
yawning as the foreman reads the verdict

mid-hurricane . . .
mistaking windblown sea foam for snow drifts

a chemist noting
his favorite ballplayer was Al Kaline

*I’ll retire next term . . .
seven faculty colleagues thinking Thank God

*I’ll retire next term . . .
thirteen faculty colleagues thinking Why wait?
Duke law student
wishing his last name were not Clowney

at Lifetime Fitness
four twentyish women playing mahjong

at the barber shop . . .
the balding man requesting Spiker styling glue

bellowing
at her son At least fake that you’re listening

the bigot stating
why Moses and Jesus weren’t Semites
the salesman noting
his wife and daughter provide balance, ballast

Gramps admitting
he was a bookmaker,
not a bookkeeper

at Disneyland . . .
crowds watching Darth Vader ride in a teacup

Math Lab sign . . . a freshman changing Math's a to an e

at the gravesite
of her Dad who killed himself, screaming Coward!
the optimist,
looking at $p$ and $u$, thinking $up$

the pessimist,
looking at $p$ and $u$,
thinking $pee-yew$

first-time parents
worrying their three month-old has uttered no words

as penance
a Goth teen going out for cheerleading

post-Election Day . . .
writing on losers’ placards

$Ha Ha!$
her twin boys
practicing Bolero
on their tubas

for his birthday
a Leavenworth con wishing for a pony

fog rolling in . . .
watching the Eiffel Tower disappear

winning candidate
bolting upright from a dream,
screaming Recount?!

first-term governor
bolting upright from a dream,
screaming Recall?!
English Department

During the orientation of First-year graduate students, After all of his colleagues have Introduced themselves and Described their current research, The department’s eldest professor,
A world-renowned Shakespearean scholar, Takes the floor and declares, I’m a joker, I’m a smoker, I’m a midnight toker.
Mexican mailman
learning the expression going postal

the teenaged rebel
boasting that he was born in June ‘66

a physics student
asking Professor Slope whether he curves

realizing
his wife and Rottweiler whine identically

obese passengers
referring to themselves as seatmates of size
recalling how
his Dad told him, at fifteen, to move out

a Californian
calling her son’s kids in Maine my grand-Skypes

pre-med student
thinking of changing her name from Payne to Gaines

their professor
coming to the reception with Tupperware

Sikh busboy wishing
the aged Jewish waiter
a Gut Yontif
urging her grandsons
to use only sweet words:

They’re easy to eat

discovering
five students plagiarized their Ethics papers

learning
the Ethics teacher padded his resume

emanating
from a vegan’s backpack ~ scents of a Big Mac

expressing dismay
her six year-old prefers Jaws to Finding Nemo
a piggy bank
in hand, asking the teller for penny wrappers

post-Sandy, in Queens . . . slugging her spouse for saying It could’ve been worse

not-so-grand rounds . . .
a nurse thinking Asperger’s, saying Alzheimer’s

touring Kenya,
asking how one says homesick in Swahili

shot in the head,
a teen walking himself to the ER
answering
her child’s Who’s Uncle Walter with He gives you cash

giving their prof
lower ratings for dining at Chick-fil-A

compulsive gambler
betting nine grand on a cur to win best in show

Dallas Hill, Jr.
addressing his father
as Big D

Mimi Weiss
calling her baby daughter Mini Mi
I spend a lot of my time trying to draw the attention of actors to the minute and subtle details of human behavior, which was the sort of thing I was looking at when I was a neurologist.

Jonathan Miller
the mohel
asking the infant’s father to stop wailing

Thanksgiving morning . . .
reading the church sign, *Come in - God loves all turkeys

old haberdasher
claiming he sells all jackets but straight and yellow

a Bronx socialist
hating himself for liking the Yankees

marijuana joint
falling out of his pocket during sentencing
Seoul-born nurse wishing
chorea were not pronounced Korea

the elderly vet
confessing he loves cats, but hates their owners

a new temp watching
the thirty-year employee going canned

school bus stop . . .
the kindergartner kissing his three dogs goodbye

one day post-birth . . .
her four-year-old brother asks Is she staying?
turning down the prize
fearing he would need to give an acceptance speech

a child asking
the rabbi if her kitten must keep kosher

at LaGuardia,
post-Sandy . . . staring slack-jawed at the runways’ waves

viewing the impact
of Sandy . . . New York haters in Lubbock in tears

her son calming down
by repeating his mantra waffle fries
cyclists wishing
they had not named their child after Lance Armstrong

Dr. Seuss party . . .
the obese man going as Thing 1 and Thing 2

alone on Christmas
the boxer feeling pummeled by depression

Michael Williams
dining with his son Mikel and grandson Mei-Kyl

old black Southerner
noting why he loathes the term people of color
refusing to spend Thanksgiving with relatives who don’t have cable

the new convict
asking if she can have a cell phone

the coach with cancer
getting a standing O from five bald cheerleaders

a New York rabbi
wishing the Hindu pandit a Happy Kwanzaa

finals week . . .
an overwhelmed prof fearing death by e-mail in the eighth minute with his in-laws, punching both fists through a wall on her deathbed diabetic Aunt Georgette demanding cream puffs

their neighbor Jen spelling her full name with 2 n’s, f’s, r’s

the CEO
regarding soup kitchens as Communist

explosives expert showing off to co-workers his tulip garden gravely ill comic uttering his last words: Take my wife . . .

young Jewish Texan blanching upon learning what Corpus Christi means a man approaching the red light camera with a custard pie

out of the closet, thinking of changing his name from Earl to Elton

a child cringing as her immigrant Dad says The men what went Returns Department . . . the new employee praying for grace, honesty

pre final exam . . .
hearing a freshman mention Forgot to study

pre final exam . . .
hearing a senior inquire It's today??

Thu Phan of Pittsburgh choosing to name her baby Roethlisberger

the old man sensing the spirit of a Greyhound in his dachshund a Jewish boy asking whether fast days could be jollied up

Aunt Mae replying to What is love? with an obscenity

Organic Chem prof
proctoring a brutal test as he clips his nails

Valentine’s Day . . .
buying for his wife perfume with a pizza scent

four-year-old brother requesting that the baby be named Spiderman Mom punctuating
a vicious insult with Bless her heart

the refugee addressing the judge as Your Honest

a teen dreaming about an Amish woman named Lola Lamour

two sixth graders debating which feels worse:
sadness or guilt

two fourth graders
debating which feels worse:
shame or a sore throat
her mother
preferring the sound of Mrs. to Dr.

a girl trying
to persuade her parents she’s saintly

a boy trying
to persuade his teachers he’s humble

dichotomizing
her friends and relatives as cats or dogs

You’re driving me nuts! . . .
the teen’s Dad responding

That’s one short trip
a Muslim girl
suggesting a harpsichord for her mosque

his child assuming
a comedy straight man only dates women

the new prisoner,
in the mess hall, requesting chamomile tea

the new prisoner
asking the burned-out guard if they can be buds

teammates christening
their high-priced all-star pitcher

The Clubhouse Cancer
mother of two teens
seeking to purchase a dog that can sniff for drugs

reminding
her vain, preening husband that peacocks are males

recalling his youth,
the fullback notes *I was big when I was little

centenarian
handing her garbage man a Christmas c-note

a cop mistaking
two teenaged Trekkies’ phasers for handguns regretting using his new pogo stick on the staircase regretting carrying the good dishes after eating ribs regretting attempting the pommel horse while plastered the prez refusing to sit until he receives a standing O the bride replying to the groom’s I love you with Likewise homophobes fuming

that their daughter’s fiancé is named Marcel Gaye

an elderly man
trying to sell a cheese puff resembling Nixon

Describe your mother . . .
the new patient responding Prideful, spiteful

Describe your father . . .
the new patient answering Mercifully absent

Describe your spouse. . .
the new patient replying Best when drunk
Isaac Kahn
wanting to name his son Genghis

Patrick Conn
wanting to name his son Kublai

a child hoping
Santa Claus brings Congress stinky cheese

in China . . . staring at white dogs dyed partly black to look like pandas

post-fight . . . the boxer telling his screaming daughter his face will be fine
staring in awe
as the sumo wrestler prepares lunch

his niece requesting
a bowling ball with holes for both hands

his nephew trying
to design a bowling ball with holes for toes

eying the young prof
writing a letter to Mom during commencement

eying the old prof
reading Crime and Punishment
during commencement
their mother placing unwarranted Halloween treats in Christmas stockings their father placing unwarranted Halloween treats in Easter baskets his son confusing Hardy with Costello, Laurel with Abbott a pacifist dreaming he’s arm-wrestling General Patton asking Grandpa whether village idiots are elected

her husband loving
the concept of Brussels sprouts but loathing their taste

Yuletide ER . . .
doctors study a rash shaped like a Christmas tree

gibberish texts
leading his granddaughters to suspect a stroke

gibberish texts
leading her grandparents to suspect cocaine

their child insisting John and Jon should not be pronounced the same once obese, giving credit for his huge weight loss to three terriers

informing his son
of the distinctions between free spirit and schmuck

informing his wife
of the ways look after and suffocate differ

three rabbis
on St. Patrick’s Day sharing slivovitz

the neurotic teen
winning the state spelling bee with Oedipal
friendless man hoping
to survive the holidays via opiates

five-year-old judge
using a Tootsie Roll Pop
as her gavel

six-year-old builder
using Barbie heads on sticks as his hammers

a Met fan slugging
the Brave reaching in the stands for a foul pop-up

overhearing
Great-Gramps mutter Fiscal cliff, schmiscal cliff
a boy smiles, thinking of the sharks’ aquarium shattering

first day of law school . . .
the new prof telling students Work hard or fail

first day of law school . . .
the old prof telling students Tickled to be here!

the teacher hoping
his lecture on Kierkegaard goes viral

AIDS researcher
lighting one yahrzeit candle for millions worldwide
celebrating
the end of his doctor’s screed by drinking bourbon

nine-year-old Martha
asking which sounds sexier: Martie or Marthie

raging at her spouse
for referring to their dog as it, not she

suicidal man
watching a YouTube clip of giggling babies

at the wedding Grandma looking away from the cake with two grooms Think of what is stored in an 80- or a 90-year-old mind. Just marvel at it. You’ve got to get out this information, this knowledge, because you’ve got something to pass on. There’ll be nobody like you ever again.

Studs Terkel
the elderly man
wishing to be called once before dying Hunk

Timothy Slaughter,
a pre-vet, contemplating a surname change

his child asking why
football players are using pacifiers

job interview . . .
the applicant resting his feet on the boss’s desk

mocking the Mayans,
three mall retailers having World Not Ending Sales
third grader guessing
Isaac Newton invented cookies with fruit

Macy’s men’s room . . .
the baby changing station annoying Granddad

Orthodox rabbi
feeling unease while eating porcini mushrooms

TV weatherman
predicting no snow or ice . . . a teacher screaming

mother of triplets
bragging to a Marine she’s seen combat
the anti-Semite blaming Jewish immigrants for Puerto Ricans

Cornell athlete wishing Big Red didn’t spark thoughts of chewing gum

Southern Cal athlete wishing Trojans didn’t spark thoughts of condoms

a gay couple hoping to be the first on The Newlywed Game

an overweight teen vowing to switch from light to dark chocolate Define elf . . .
the grammarian replies,

Subordinate Clause

1/1, 2:00 a.m. . . .
the designated driver
hitting a skunk

the actor ruing
he makes his living saying other people’s words

Intro Psych, first class . . . a freshman hoping to learn ESP

Social Psych, first class . . . a sophomore hoping to learn how to attract guys the one year-old elating her Russian aunts by enjoying borscht

placing a doo-rag on the Richmond statue of General Lee educating her husband that dryer lint isn’t dirt

meat-averse teen regarding buckwheat groats as close enough

veggie-averse child wanting credit for eating relish on hot dogs 100th birthday . . .
the Pol Pot survivor feeling unworthy

family elder not recognizing her grandson out of sweats

therapy session . . .
the new patient presenting his neighbor’s nightmare in court, Sol Goldman defending the skinhead who wishes him dead

four-year-old chef placing slices of cheddar in the toaster irk his son
by pronouncing croissant as the French do her teen putting first on his Resolutions List Make triceps huge

his wife putting first on her Resolutions List Lose one chin

young Packer fan choosing not to bother God with touchdown requests

Polish man in Vail claiming, for him, it’s always ski season lifelong New Yorker
boasting he’s never been south of Brooklyn

college applicant popping Skittles in her mouth mid-interview

ER, Christmas day . . . a three month-old presenting with a bullet wound

firing her shrink
for eating in their session a banana

a teen startling
the old judge by pleading Guilty as hell
Jewish French chef preparing a crepe du jour filled with kasha

in church their Dad promising the priest not to snore again

the NRA veep admitting his grandparents were Eugene hippies

Ravens fan Ruth Cohn introducing her newborn Anquan

dedicating
the new book to his ex-wives, misspelling their names Great-Gramps trying to recall whether he ever killed someone

informing both sons
that his current mistress is too old for him

drunk professor bellowing at a freshman

It’s ask, not ax!

devout Muslim smelling bacon frying
in his sleep

a vegan telling her baby the third piggy had steamed rice
on Kol Nidrei

a Jewish girl vows to stop being like Mom

patient of six years

asking his psychiatrist

if she’s married

reading writ large,

the sophomore assuming

it’s a typo

clinical psych prof

fuming that his grad students don’t read Joyce, Chekhov her twelve year-old

asserting he’s seeking

infamy Aunt Faye asserting her Three Musketeers bar is medicinal

the cantor
trying to convince his son shrimp tastes like tuna their Dad revealing that his youth was filled with Good, wholesome trouble

Boston Celtics
in church . . . seeing halos, thinking dunk shots

impoverished man dreaming of using a knife at dinnertime
the roofer,
battling severe depression, guzzling malt liquor top cheerleader dreaming of marrying the chess team star

Zhang Xun smiling hearing Mandarin spoken with a Bronx accent

the physicist
believing his Mom’s cheesecake has magnetic pull

ex SDS head
seething that his grandsons joined the ROTC
her child pondering
how much more work he’d get done if he didn’t blink

two Warsaw natives -
one rightist, one leftist - noting they’re Poles apart

Manhattanite
calling the Chicagoan
semi-rural

down an icy street
their eight year-old lugging on a snow shovel

with a labored breath
Gramps utters his last words: Keep it real, homies
the Mafia don
trying hard to determine who gave him the flu

evincing concern
her spouse finds pork products so arousing

Pop wanting a job
for which he need not shower after work

Aunt Fatima
refusing a Hershey's Kiss:
Looks like a nipple!

six year-olds using
the creases in Grandpa's face to play tic-tac-toe
not realizing
the excellent listener is hard of hearing

family picnic . . .
six cousins bringing melons, mallets and goggles

Detroit hoops coach
teaching his pupils the art of talking trash

Memphis hoops coach
teaching his pupils the art
of fouling subtly

Caroline Seaver,
a history buff, naming her first child Julius
on their heads
eight-year-old soldiers wearing unmatched pots

nursery school girl
placing one orange Froot Loop on the bathroom scale

his wife chiding him
for not saying God bless you when their dog sneezed

whispering
to her comatose daughter to trust in the Lord

maternity ward . . .
Dachau survivor welcomes his sixth great-grandson Gramps expressing thanks
his child and teen memories are blank or blurry

young Mel Schwartz
opting for the nickname Rampage

first day at Princeton . . .
a freshman learning her Dad in Beijing has passed

an Italian
touring Kansas, noting how Florence, Lawrence differ

watching Uncle Ed
bring The Sound and the Fury into the men’s room
in the dugout
third-string catcher Walter Rice sitting, steaming

after fumbling
benched halfback Curtis White knowing he’s toast

the high school athlete
distinguishing for Aunt Maude hard, cut, ripped, shredded

old world scholar
perplexed people care about football games’ outcomes

the new graduate
writing to his professor I make more than you
in her eulogy
the nine year-old noting Gramps was a great speller

mother, wife, sons
of the Nobel laureate keeping him humble

the hooker’s daughter
wishing that her surname were not Slutkin

doubles tennis match
in Shanghai . . . Wang and Wang playing Wang and Wang

thoughts of Auschwitz
piercing the ninety year-old in the smoky room
the alum showing
his sons the library nooks where he slept

the alum showing
his sons the campus game room where he studied

their teen promising
to change her car’s oil every fifty thousand miles

women’s high hurdles . . .
Great-Granddad focusing on the low-cut shorts

first evening in Rome . . .
an art student from Duluth fracturing both wrists
the fourth grader
receiving a suspension
for shouting Bang

the eighth grader
receiving a suspension
for a vicious glare

retired one day,
Dad bringing to the attic his leather wingtips

overly modest,
the baseball pitcher balking at a compliment

asking the psychic
which marriage counselor she’d recommend
the metallurgist
distinguishing brazier
from brassiere

less popular twin
referring to herself as the other

How was Everest? . . .
their mountain-climbing son responding Fine

Vassar Marxists
naming their firstborn child Fidel Feinberg

Oberlin Marxists
naming their firstborn child
Ho Chi Minsky
Author’s Note

Dr. Robert H. Deluty is the Associate Dean of the Graduate School at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. He has been a psychology professor at UMBC since 1980, and was named Presidential Teaching Professor in 2002. He and his wife, Barbara (a clinical psychologist), live in Ellicott City, Maryland and have two children, Laura and David, and a granddaughter, Ava. Dr. Deluty’s poems and essays have been published in The Wall Street Journal, The Baltimore Sun, The Pegasus Review, Modern Haiku, Voices: The Art and Science of Psychotherapy, Psychiatric Times, Jewish Currents, the Journal of Poetry Therapy, Welcome Home, Muse of Fire, Maryland Family Magazine, Gastronomica: The Journal of Food and Culture, and many other newspapers, journals, and anthologies. The Knife and the Pumpkin is his fortieth book.