Carol's costume for the parade is a pale aqua dress selected by the costume committee for the Princess.

The queen for this year's Apple Blossom Festival is Miss Sara Elaine Atwood, 19, of Anchorage, Alaska. The queen-elect's father, Robert Bruce Atwood, is editor and publisher of the Anchorage Daily Times, the forty-ninth state's largest newspaper.

Joan Sweene and Don K. Wittig are enacting a scene from Samuel Taylor's play, "Sabrina Fair," which will be presented tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. in Compton Hall Auditorium. The title of the drama is derived from the quote from Milton's COMUS, "Sabrina Fair, listen where thou are sitting." Looking on are Marilyn Hitchcock, Charles Thompson, Louise Downton and William Brown.

Group Plans Trip To Maryland Bay

Five students of the conservation class will journey to the Biological Laboratory, Department of Research and Education, Solomons Island, Maryland, April 30, May 1, and 2. They will be accompanied by Mr. Donald Emerson, instructor of the class.

Members of the class are Helen Cummings, Jean Cummings, sophomores; Janice Jefferies, Stanly Wilson, and Pan Minke, seniors.

The group will stop at Upper Marlboro to attend a tobacco auction and then proceed to the Biological Laboratory at Solomons. At the laboratory there will be a study made of the Bay resources for two days, concentrating primarily on the oyster and the blue crab.

Half of the time at Solomons Island will be spent hearing lectures by research scientists of the State Department of Research and Education. The speakers include Dr. Eugene Cronin, Dr. Bevin, Dr. Von Flyger and Mr. Byron Ashbough, Conservation Education Specialist.

A boat trip tour of a portion of the bay is planned, so that a study of the methods of taking oysters and crabs can be made. A hunt for Miocene Fossils along the Calvert Cliffs is also planned.

Other field trips taken by the Conservation class include trips to the Clay mines at Barrelesville and to a brick factory at Zihlman. A future trip is now being planned to Garrett County to study the forest resources.

Cole, Sager To Direct Festival For Area High School Students

Sponsored by the Maryland Music Educators Association, a Choral and Instrumental Regional Festival will be held Apr. 25 from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. in Compton Hall Auditorium. Dr. Ward K. Cole is the instrumental chairman for the event; Mr. Charles I. Sager is the choral director. The public is invited to attend.

From 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon, the various groups will perform. Mr. Sager and Dr. Cole, assisted by two guests, will serve as evaluators. According to Dr. Cole the purpose of the evaluation is not to give the groups a rating but to offer them constructive criticisms.

Following lunch in the college dining hall, President R. Bowen Hardesty will welcome the participants at the afternoon program. The Madrigal Singers, the college band, and the dance band will perform.

Immediately following this program, the students will be divided into groups for clinics. Mr. Sager will direct the vocal clinic; Dr. Cole, assisted by visiting teachers, will direct four instrumental clinics; these will be on woodwinds, brass, percussion, and strings.

Following the clinics, Mr. Sager and Dr. Cole will direct sight reading clinics. The purpose of the sight reading clinics is to give students and directors some experience in sight reading and to examine new materials published for chorus and band.

Glenn Miller Orchestra To Present Concert

The world famous Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of and featuring Ray McKinley playing in the Glenn Miller tradition, with the authentic Miller arrangements, will present a concert at 4:00 p. m., May 15, in Compton Auditorium. All college students will be admitted free; a limited number of tickets will be for sale at the box office.

Ray McKinley and Glenn Miller began working together in the early 1930's in Chicago when Glenn, who was organizing a band for Smith Ballew, chose Ray to be his drummer. Miller, a little later, helped organize the Dorsey Brothers' Orchestra; Ray was still with him.

Ray and Glenn broke up temporarily when Glenn organized the Ray Noble Band. In 1937, Glenn organized his own group; for three and a half years the Glenn Miller Orchestra was America's Number One Band. In 1942, Glenn entered the army as a captain; he lost his life in a flight over the English Channel in December 1944.

In the interim Ray had left the Dorseys and with Will Bradley had formed a band; they soon split; Ray formed his own band

Taylor's play is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Stone White. The play was presented by the Playwrights' Corporation at the National Theatre, New York City, beginning November 11, 1953 with Margaret Sullivan in the title role, supported by Joseph Cotten. The movie version starred Audrey Hepburn and William Holden. The title of the play is derived from the quote from Milton's COMUS, "Sabrina Fair, listen where thou are sitting."

Supporting Joan, who will portray Sabrina Fairchild, and Don, who will be Linus Larrabee, Jr., will be a cast of twelve. Marilyn Hitchcock will be Maude Larrabee; Charles Thompson will be Linus Larrabee, Sr.; Louise Downton will enact the role of Julia Ward McKinlock; Elaine Smith will be Margaret; William Brown will be David Larrabee.

before he was drafted into the service. Ray and Glenn were reunited and worked together while in the armed forces.

When Ray got out of the service he worked as a disc jockey for a short time; he also appeared on a daily NBC-TV, ABC-TV series. With the insurance of the Glenn Miller Air Force Band album, the world was reacquainted with Glenn Miller music.

Approximately twenty-five years ago the Miller estate and top agent, Willard Alexander, decided that the Glenn Miller tradition must live on; they employed Ray McKinley to organize a band, and gave him the original Miller music library, with the result of the new Glenn Miller Orchestra.

Lenny Hambro began studying the saxophone at the age of fourteen; at seventeen he was employed by Gene Krupa, only to be drafted into the service. Later he worked with the Billy Butterfield and the Bobby Byrne bands. In 1951 he joined Ray McKinley on first saxophone, jazz clarinet, jazz alto, and flute.

Lorry Peters was born in Connecticut in 1932 and is a 1954 graduate of Syracuse University. She studied voice at the age of three and has studied both tap dancing and piano. Going to New York after graduation she was employed as a secretary at NBC. Ray McKinley heard her singing jingles on the radio and later employed her for his featured singer. Miss Lorry likes casual clothes, flat heeled shoes and does interior decorating for a hobby.

We Did Get Out And Vote!

Congratulations, student body! The high percentage of voters at the recent election shows that you are interested in obtaining competent leaders. In the All-College Election in which the members for the 1959-60 Student Congress were chosen, 329 of the 531 registered students voted. This is fine! The juniors netted 73 votes from their 110 eligible voters, a percentage of 66.36. The sophomores voted 88 individuals. That is 61.53% of the 143 registered students who did vote. Freshman voters totaled 168. That is 60.42% of the 278 registered students. This certainly shows that we are interested in our government.

To the Student Congress, we express our appreciation for a job well done. This is one of the organizations on campus which goes almost unpraised for its hard work in making ours a better college. As a service organization, the Student Congress heads a number of activities such as Freshman Orientation Week, Awards, Campus Day, Elections, Homecoming, Thanksgiving Dance, Christmas activities, and the compilation of the student handbook, the "Pathfinder." The Student Congress sets standards, makes and enforces rules, issues and renews organization charters, allocates the student activities fee and establishes sound centralized financial policies and procedures. For this last election, Student Congress made posters, worked diligently at the polls and encouraged the students to vote.

The Student Congress, as well as the student body, should be commended for success of the All-College Election.

Stop! Think About Fallout

Albert Einstein has said, "Our world faces a crisis as yet unperceived by those possessing the power to make great decisions for good or evil. The unleashed power of the atom has changed everything save our modes of thinking, and thus we drift toward unparalleled catastrophe."

The Atomic Energy Commission assures us that there is really no danger from nuclear tests. Many people doubt or even completely disbelieve these statements. One reason for doubt is that these statements seem to be characterized by "double-talk." For instance, the scientists say, "It takes 1000 times as much radiation as there is in fallout, to shorten the life of a mouse."

Another reason for doubt is that the scientists also say there are possibly many errors in their calculations.

Here are some facts and opinions concerning the fallout: Cancer specialists predict thousands of persons will suffer death from leukemia and other cancer forms as a result of tests already made.

More obviously deformed and feeble-minded individuals will be born and other apparently normal children will have a greater tendency to colds, headaches, allergies, arthritis, cancer, and lower mental capacity.

Although it may be true that we receive less radiation from fallout than from X-rays, wrist watches, and natural radiation, fallout is an added dose.

The amount of Strontium-90 in the human bone is increasing in the bones of young children: they have ten times as much as adults at present, and it will keep on increasing until it is four times what it is at present, even if no more tests are made.

We do not want to become fossils. Let us not permit the human race to be sacrificed to the arms race!

★ State-To-Date Salutes Campus Leaders ★

Reporter Defines 'Collegiate'

"Collegiate" is one of the highest compliments one could pay a high school student. During his college preparatory years, he attempts to imitate the dress of the ideal campus man as he sees him in the national magazines.

Spring Has Sprung! Will You Succumb?

"Spring is sprung, the grass is riz, I wonder where the birdies is?"

It is at this time of the year that a man's fancy turns to what a woman has been thinking about all year. The honking of geese as they pass the moon is supposed to be a sure sign that spring has come.

Change, change is going on all around. The geese are coming back from the South. The first shoots are pushing up the cold, hard ground to say hello to all who may pass. In short, it is a change from the drab to the beautiful.

There is also a change within us—commonly known as "spring fever." Even though at times it may be wonderful, it is detrimental to studies. Cramming for exams, loss of sleep, hectic worry, and tattered nerves are the result of weeks of loafing and basking in the new noonday sun.

Spend that time in the sun with a book in hand—do some studying and buckling down. Then we can afford to get spring fever during exam week and bask in the summer sun well contented with the job we have done!

(Ed. Note: Good advice to those who will take it!)

He ignores, however, the "attitude" of a college man, because this cannot be easily found in magazines. If to describe a proper ivy-league attitude, one were limited to two words, would not mature and intelligent be appropriate?

So, here is the irony:

A boy in high school has a desire to be collegiate—he comes to college only to discover that merely by attending classes he does mature into that ideal. Such irony! In fact, no environment, it would appear, is more conducive to being "ignorant" (not in knowledge, but behavior) than campus life.

Are there any satisfactory explanations? Perhaps the crude behavior could be attributed to the closeness of relationship between the students. It is all too easy to become careless in conversation with a co-ed when the fellows regard the said co-ed as "one of the fellows"; remember gals, "It takes a lady to make a gentleman."

Along with being "collegiate," then, goes good manners, maturity, sensible outlook, and finally dressing neatly. Now that we are in college, we should learn to conduct ourselves so that an outsider seeing us would say, "How collegiate!"

This week State-to-Date salutes the 1959-60 Student Congress officers who will be making their debut in the foremost positions of the college. Qualities of good leadership are a necessity in student government.

Harold Schriver has been active in numerous college activities. He is a member of the Men's Athletic Council and co-editor of the sports page of State-to-Date. This past year he has been sophomore representative to Student Congress where he served as chairman of the Men's Resident Association and has recently been elected treasurer of Delta Kappa Fraternity.

Since his freshman year, Sterling Edwards has exhibited his musical ability in a number of college productions, including "Carousel," "Lonesome Train" and "The Boyfriend." Sterling has also been a three year member of the Maryland and Madrigal Singers and of the college band. The Outdoor Club has claimed him their president for two years.

A veteran to Student Congress will be Marvin who was elected freshman representative by his class. He has been active in both intramural football and basketball. Aside from this, Marvin has found time to serve on the Student Congress football study committee and the Regional Student Government Central committee. Alpha Tau Alpha has pledged him to the fraternity this past semester.

Women In Government

Judy Ritchie, new to the campus in September, immediately became active in college affairs. As a member of Maryland and Madrigal Singers and of Little Theatre, Judy was narrator for the production, "Lone some Train."

During the past year, Linda Green has had the responsible position of freshman editor of the yearbook, Nemaocolin.

Music Proves Magic For Dreaming Girl

She was lying there on a nice, soft comfortable sofa. It was so comfortable just lying there with nothing to do. . .

Suddenly, she was rudely awakened by the sound of beating bongo drums and sizzling South American music. With a bunch of bananas and red peppers on his head, George Hays stepped into the spotlight and did his version of a cha-cha. As this sight faded from view, another took its place. Dan Williams, wearing a powdered wig and a lace and ruffles shirt, did the third movement from one of Franz Joseph Haydn's symphonies, the minuet. Mercy, mercy, mercy! Real classical!

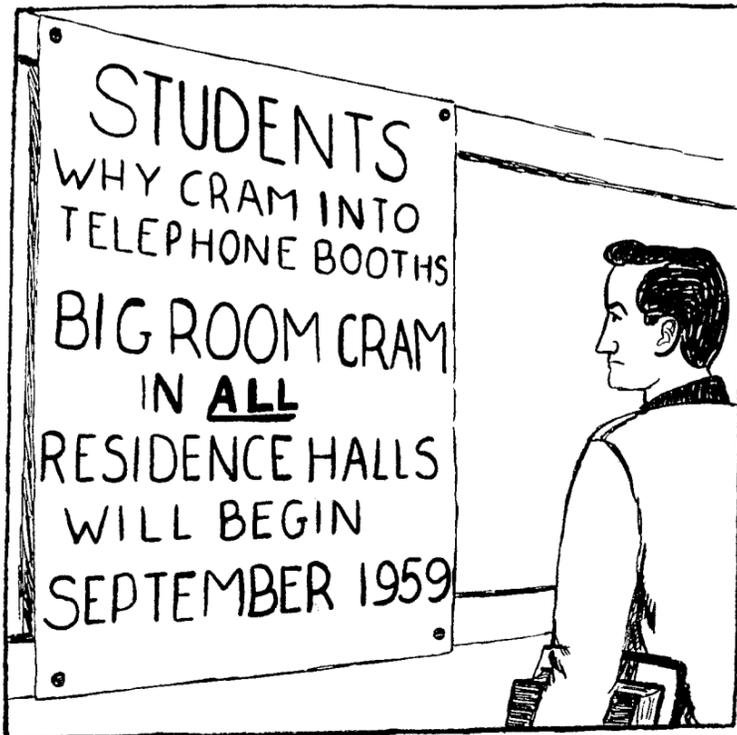

The orchestra began to swing into a rhythm and blues number and Tommy Richards, wearing a Greek God toga, came out to sing. Attired in a black slinky gown covered with ropes, baubles, and beads, Johnny Horine came out to accompany him on the contrabassoon. Hanging from the chandelier, "Suky" Scarpelli was playing a small tarnished harp. Gee! What a concerto!

Not to be outdone, the women took their place on the stage. The first to make her debut with a violin solo was Sue Silcox who wore blue suede shoes and side burns.

The mood of the music changed to one of great remorse and the Married Women's Choir appeared. Virginia Davis conducted while Wanda Sanders plunked the banjo. Joyce Hazard shocked everyone with her electric organ recital.

"How long would this last?" she wondered as she rolled over. As if in answer to her question, Miss Doerr, in rolled up blue jeans, picked up a broom and started clearing off the stage while the members of the Technical Theatre class "sized flats."

"Curtain! Curtain! Curtain!" It was Miss White's voice ringing in her ears! Our little gal on the sofa had done it again. Studying for Music Lit. and falling asleep during Technical Theatre leads to only one thing—see you at summer school!

Bobcats To Play Shepherd Baseball Team Saturday

Beall Diamond Provides Site As Home Field

Coach Cordts' diamond team will strive to play their second home game, after many cancellations, on this coming Saturday against the Shepherd Rams at the Beall High School field.

Hampered considerably by rain, snow, and wet, muddy grounds, the team has had to practice indoors in preparation for the game. To date the team has played one home game against Ashland, while games with Ashland, Mt. Union, Penn State Frosh and Shepherd have been cancelled, postponed, or rescheduled due to inclement weather.

Rams Have Vet Team

Shepherd will bring to the hills of Western Maryland a team comprised of seven veterans and a few outstanding freshman prospects. Shepherd won both ends of the home-and-home series last year by scores of 13-5 and 8-1.

As the paper went to press the Bobcats have lost their only encounter of the young season. Ashland spoiled the opener for the locals by taking a lopsided 13-1 game. The home charges were caught napping many times as Ashland seemed to score at will.

One of the few bright spots in the otherwise dismal performance was the hitting of veteran outfielder, Dorcil Kline, who collected two of the six hits credited to Frostburg hitters. Paul Nolan, returning catcher, scored the only run for the Bobcats by virtue of his double, the only extra base hit for the losers, and a two base error by the Ohioan left fielder.

Hitters Ineffective

The 'Cats had loaded the bases in the previous inning because of the ineffectiveness of the Ashland pitcher, who walked two men in the inning. Being unable to hit in the clutch plus some careless base running, the threat was throttled with no damage done.

Nine walks were issued to Bobcat batters, but inability to hit kept the Ashland pitcher out of danger and in command in his route-going appearance.

The probable starting line-up for Saturday's game with the Rams should be: pitching Bob Dawson; Paul Nolan, catching; first base Geoff Whitmore; second base, Carl Donald; shortstop, Ronnie Mann or Doug Sullivan; third base, Arch Webster.

Intramural Track, Field Meet Draws Phys. Ed. Attention

If there is enough response shown on part of the student body, an Intramural Sports Day will be held here at State on Saturday, May 22.

Members of the physical education department, Coaches Harold Cordts, Kenneth Babcock, Miss Wellner and Miss Berkeley have implied that they will give their cooperation.

The affair will last practically all afternoon with the accent to be on track and field events and involving both men and women students. There is a chance that an intramural softball game will be played.

The setup calls for participants from the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes, all of whom would be playing against the other.

The boys' events would consist of the 100, 220 and 440 dashes, the 880 run and the mile run, the hurdles, broad jump, high jump, shot put and discus. The softball game would be a five-inning affair.

For the girls there would be badminton, volleyball, softball, a 60-yard dash and field hockey.

This is the first such attempt at a college intramural track and field sports day. The idea was prompted by Bill Preston and Gene Wiltison, seniors, with the support of Coach Babcock and Coach Cordts.

The Women's Recreation association's latest athletic event is the introduction of girls' hockey to campus. The interested students, under the chairmanship of Barbara Holtzinger, met several times with Miss Lillian C. Wellner to make plans for the new sport activation, but the cool and rainy weather has prevented the actual beginning of practice.

Times for practice have been set for Wednesdays at 4:00 p. m. and Fridays at 2:00 p. m. With this variation of time all those interested should have some opportunity to participate. So far about 25 W. R. A. members have shown interest in learning to play or continuing their skill in hockey.

The hockey equipment has been a part of the women's athletic department for several years. This will be the first constructive use for the hockey sticks. The teams are not limited and anyone interested may attend.

Local Linksmen Lose To Wheeling, Cal State

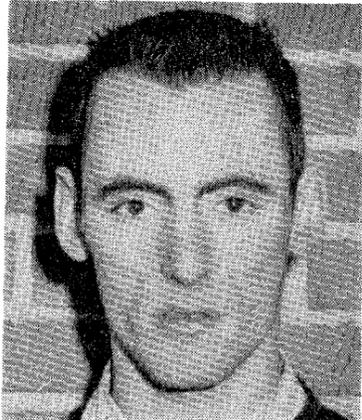

Coach Babcock's golf team made its debut in a losing cause Tuesday at the Nemaocolin Country Club in Beallville, Pennsylvania. The local linksmen were defeated by California State Teachers College and Wheeling College by identical 12-3 scores.

Roy "Muggs" Sigler scored the only points for the Bobcats by besting Tony DiNardo of California and George Riser of Wheeling. Sigler, the only local to crack 100 strokes, came through with an 86, which is fourteen over par.

Sigler scored his 86 by registering a 43 on the first nine, over a par 38. He then, playing under pressure on the back nine, came up with another 43. "Muggs" and Riser were tied at 43 for the front nine, while DiNardo was one stroke to the rear with 44.

Tom Arnold, Doug Sullivan, Ach Webster, and "Tank" Shultze scored 114, 115, 115, and 122, respectively. Opponent Wayne Mirgor had low of 83.

Papermates Down Firehouse Five To Win Crown; Remain Unbeaten For Second Consecutive Year

Coach Charley' Hartman's Papermates of the Intramural Basketball League were crowned champions last week as they rang up a come-from-behind 48-38 victory over Firehouse 5 in the final playoffs.

Papermates, copping their second straight crown and finishing their second consecutive undefeated season, easily grabbed the Thursday title enroute to the finals.

Firehouse 5, undefeated titlists of the Monday League, jumped off to a quick lead against the Papermates, held a 13-12 lead at the close of the first quarter and enjoyed a 22-20 margin at halftime.

However, paced by the shooting of John Horine and Bill Fair and the rebounding of Bill Chappell, Hartman and John McClellan, the newly-crowned champs waylaid the Firehousers in the third period. At the third quarter post, Papermates led by 36-29.

Sparkling performances by John

Hawkins in the rebounding department and some sharp shooting on behalf of "Jumbo" Moffat and Ken Metz kept the game contenders within reach throughout.

Horine, with 13 points, and Bill Fair with 12, sparked the champs' scoring. Metz and Moffat shared 25 of the losers' points.

For the first year, the champions were awarded gold medals by Coach Babcock following the game. Firehouse 5 was presented with silver runnerup medals.
