SA, CCB Officers Installed

SA Notes

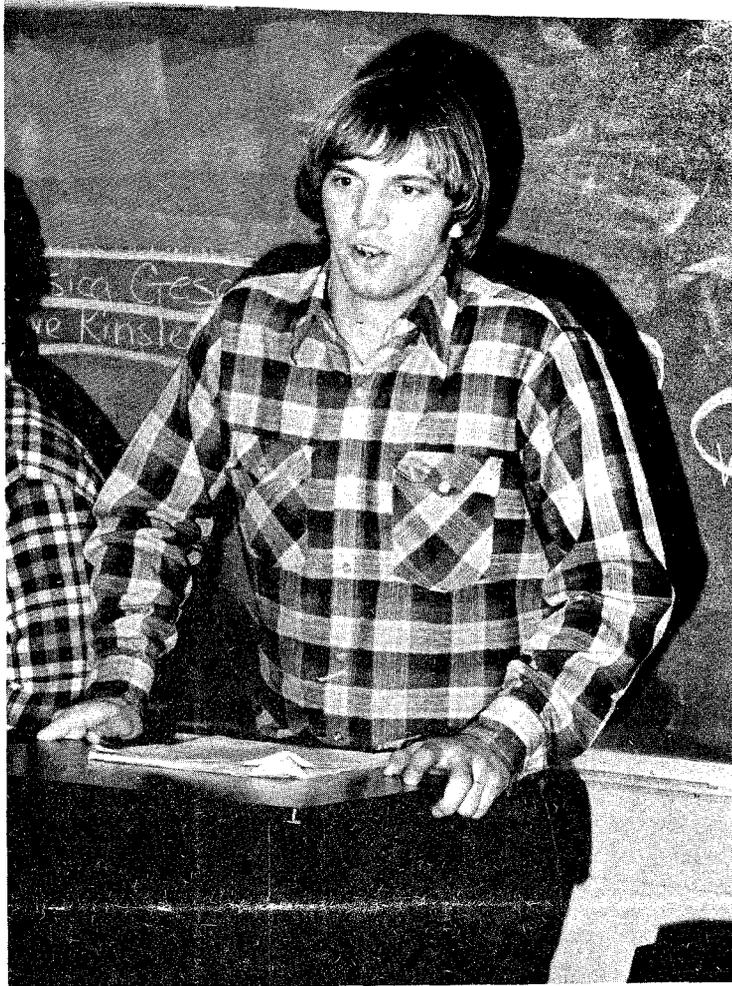

The new administration of the Student Association officially held its first meeting on January 15.

The meeting was of a totally introductory nature.

President Don Fry opened the meeting with his inaugural address in which he stressed strict attendance for SA representatives, effective student-SA communication, and the importance of getting students to respect their government.

Also accomplished at the first meeting was the swearing in of the new student representatives. After the swearing-in, students were elected to the College Forum. The Forum, which is composed of the administration, the faculty, and 25 students, deals with setting academic standards for the school.

As the meeting progressed, President Fry talked of a few matters immediately facing SA this year. First on the list of things to be done is pushing for a Lane Center liquor license. Next SA will look into the possibility for WFSC switching to FM broadcasts. The final idea discussed was the possibility of President Guild being available to talk individually with students at an hour-long coffee session in the Lane Center.

Looking ahead, Thursday, January 29 will be the next SA meeting. On the agenda for this meeting is a discussion over whether or not SA officers should be paid.

The stated purpose of the student government is to give the students a chance to decide the issues for themselves. The Thursday night meetings are open for all students to attend.

Guild Addresses Officers

"The atypical pattern of participatory governance at Frostburg State College depends on an active Student Association." These words were extracted from a brief speech presented by President Guild at the installation ceremony for SA and CCB officers recently elected held in the Lane Center Multi-use room, Monday night, January 12.

Those officers being installed were Cindy Wallace (CCB Treasurer), Marilyn Lavine (CCB Secretary), Steve Snyder (CCB Vice-President), George Richardson (CCB President), Derek Baliles (SA Treasurer), John Cornmesser (SA Secretary), Howard Paper (SA Vice-President), and Don Fry (SA President). The actual installation required the mere recitation of a few lines by each officer, but the ceremony was enhanced by brief statements of intention given by both Don Fry and George Richardson.

Don Fry pointed out that there were several vacant positions in the House at the present time, positions which he intends to fill as soon as possible with responsible students appointed by him because of a lack of interest by anyone else. He stated, that unlike the situation of the past, a strict attendance policy would be implemented. Most important, however, was his intention to investigate four areas of discontent which he feels are of present importance to the student: student displeasure of the present Health Center facilities, bookstore prices, the increase of fees, and the establishment of an official alumni association.

CCB President George Richardson was also given an opportunity to make known his plans for the upcoming semester. Present activities planned include 7 movies, 5 coffeehouses; a concert by Shawn Phillips, Winter Carnival, a production of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and much more. While CCB operations seem to be running smoothly, Mr. Richardson was concerned with the lack of support by the Senior class. Every class seems to be represented except the seniors. Recognizing that CCB activities are for everyone, he hopes to have some seniors available to aide in decision making in order to make the Board a more viable organization.

Graduate Record Exam Dates Announced

If you are a junior and have started to consider the probability of continuing your studies at the graduate level, you undoubtedly have learned that admission to graduate school depends on more than just having a college degree. Among the requirements of many schools is the Graduate Record Examinations, commonly referred to as the GRE. These examinations consist of an aptitude test and a wide range of achievement tests. The aptitude test is just a high level form of the SAT which you took as a high school student, and hence, you have some idea of what to expect. The content of the achievement tests covering college majors may, however, be of some concern. What kinds of questions are asked and what areas of the majors are included?

You can get answers to these and other questions relative to the GRE Advanced Tests by applying for the Undergraduate Program of similar tests to be offered at Frostburg State on March 20, 1976. Tests are available in almost all of the majors; the only exceptions are General Science and Social Science. All are offered without cost as an advisement service to our students, but advanced registration is required so we can order the appropriate supplies. Registration forms and further information about these tests may be obtained from the Counseling Center, Gunter Hall. No applications can be accepted after February 13, 1976.

Homeward Bound Reopens

Homeward Bound will continue operating this semester but with new hours. It will be open from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday at extension 7782. In addition to new hours, Homeward Bound will furnish information concerning skiing and conditions for the surrounding ski areas.

For Homeward Bound to continue working, we still need your support. The final figures for last semester were a total of 420 people calling in requesting and rides. Of that number, approximately 175 people actually received rides from the 65 people who called to offer car space.

We wish to thank the drivers for their cooperation with Homeward Bound, and we hope you will continue to support this project as it is a service working for you.

Summer Jobs Available

Applications are now being accepted from college students for summer jobs with the Maryland Department of Transportation. Students applying must be Maryland citizens and show proof of their intention to continue their education.

The positions, which range from stenographers to technical assistants, offer students an opportunity to earn both wages and valuable experience in their field of experience.

Jobs are available throughout Maryland with those on the Eastern Shore and in the state's western counties being the hardest to fill. While positions are available in such fields as accounting, chemistry, engineering, electronics, economics, journalism, urban and transportation planning, these are also the fields in which there is the most competition for the jobs. Students are encouraged to apply for jobs in their major area of study but are also urged to consider other fields as well.

Wages range from $2.60 to $3.80 per hour, depending on the position and the number of summers the individual employee has worked for the department.

The deadline for applications is March 15, 1976, and all interested students are urged to see their school's placement officer or visit the nearest Maryland Department of Employment security office for details and applications. Baltimore area students can also file applications at the Baltimore Urban League in the Mondawmin Concourse. The Maryland Department of Transportation is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer.

The department's Student Summer Employment Program is now in its fifth year and has offered 2,400 students summer work opportunities during that time.

Letters to the Editor

Guest Editorial Another Modest Proposal: SA Officers Pay Themselves

Dear Editor:

I have noticed a great deficiency in the courses offered in one of the departments here on campus; namely the Business and Economics Department. As a student majoring in Business Administration with a concentration in Accounting, this deficiency is causing me great anxiety. I am presently a second semester transfer junior here at Frostburg State College and the small selection of accounting and business courses is limiting my opportunities for acquiring a more diversified knowledge of accounting and business. This poor selection is also placing limits on my employment opportunities when I graduate.

Accounting firms expect prospective junior accountants to have a good basic background in the theory and the practice of accounting before they will interview you for a position on their staff. With a selection of 12 courses, excluding Managerial Accounting, which accounting concentration students are recommended not to take because it is just a simpler form of accounting which we must take. There is no possible way to be totally prepared for a position with a large accounting firm when I graduate. For a four year college, Frostburg has one of the smallest selections in accounting courses in the state. There are 300 business administration majors on campus this semester and their chances for employment are being hindered by this inadequate selection of 12 accounting courses and 13 business courses.

My question to the administration is "Is it not also the goal of this college to prepare a student for gainful employment in his or her chosen field upon graduation as well as to provide him with a fine liberal arts education?" I appreciate being required to take many courses within the four groupings of core courses and feel they do provide me with a solid liberal arts viewpoint. However, I tend to be somewhat pragmatic and feel that I need more expertise in my area of interest so that my future may be somewhat more secure.

Estelle Martin
P.S. This is my opinion.
wonder how other business students feel.

Dear Sir:
It has come to our attention that the residents of Gray and Diehl Halls take their lives in their hands each time they venture out of doors. Since January 6 (the first day of the semester), the walkways connecting Gray and Diehl to the rest of campus have been a solid sheet of ice. The countless phone calls attempting to have this hazardous ice removed have proved futile. Housing, Maintenance and Security each feel this problem does not come under their jurisdiction. Even threats to sue the college have not affected any changes in the condition of the walkways.

As if the ice wasn't bad enough, the as-yet unfinished construction creates a more than adequate obstacle course. Little did the residents of Gray and Diehl realize that they would receive a course in United States Marine Corps Basic Training.

Since ice skates have not yet been provided by the college for our use, perhaps the distribution of canoes for the spring monsoons will be feasible. Incidentally, the 170 residents of Gray and Diehl Halls are part of the campus and would like to be recognized as such.

Respectfully yours,
Anne Bainbridge

In a move which can only be described as the height of arrogance, S. A. officers will try this Thursday to have ratified an amendment to S.A. bylaws which would pay salaries totaling $2,628 out of student fees to S.A. Officers and appointed Executives. Unbelievably, S.A. Officers persist in trying to pay themselves despite a 1974 student referendum clearly showing that students did not want officers paid.

Although many past and present S.A. Officers claim to have the support of the student body, few students seem to be aware of the fact that officers are now currently being paid. The S.A. President, Vice-president, and Treasurer now are paid a sum of $1,200 a year directly from student fees. However, the money runs out this semester, necessitating the ratification of the amendment Thursday.

Worse, the new amendment proposes that appointees of the President be paid as well. $1,428 of student fees will be paid to persons picked for jobs by the S.A. President. Students should realize that this means the President can hand out $1,428 of student fee money to whom-ever he chooses. The new amendment brings to mind the machine politics of the 1870's and the flood of political patronage jobs the machine era spawned.

The issue of pay for officers is not a new one. In 1974, Vice President Rena Mignosa voted to break an 8 to 8 tie, thus passing a measure paying S.A. and C.C.B. officers. I will not comment here on how unethical the vote was, but what it amounted to was the S.A. Vice President voting to pay herself and her fellow officers. The vote was to stand approved unless a student referendum showed that the students did not want officers paid.

The results of the 1974 student referendum were 120 votes NO; 69 votes YES; 21 votes didn't know enough about it to vote. However, despite a clear majority against them, S.A. officers declared the referendum null and void because it did not attract the 20% voter turnout that the S.A. had required for the referendum to be valid.

It must be pointed out that the ridiculously high 20% turnout requirement was a not-so-subtle way for SA to insure that student opinion would play no part in deciding the issues.

The utter disdain of student opinion was prevalent in S.A. meetings on pay for officers in the past. Former S.A. President Ed Newman declared in 1974 that students were not going to be polled because "students are not well informed." Gary Thrift also called F.S.C. students "apathetic." Steve Fox doubted that the students could make a valid judgment.

How members of S.A. can claim to be representative of the students while berating them at the same time is beyond belief. Notice that they are not complaining that they were elected by the same "uninformed and 'apathetic' students. It is the task of the S.A. to see that the students are informed so they can be active in student government.

It is time for S.A. to stop operating behind closed doors and ignoring student opinion. It is horrifying to think that the clandestine activities plaguing the Federal and State governments has spread to our own campus government as well.

It is somewhat unfortunate that S.A. President Don Fry is faced with the burden of defending past S.A. actions. However, Don is in favor of pay for officers although not urging pay for appointees. Nonetheless, it is his task to assure, as he stated in his inaugural address this year, that students are informed about SA and respect S.A. Hopefully, our new S.A. will respect the students as well, something that has been missing in the past.

EDITORIAL SAGA Thefts May Jump Board Rates Quit Ripping Off Glasses

This is the time of year when theft in the cafeteria reaches its peak. Each year between $14,000 and $20,000 of Saga equipment mysteriously vanishes from the annual inventory.

The amount of clothing worn by students is increased during the winter months, thus providing numerous hiding places for dishes, trays and silverware, of which glasses and silverware make up the biggest loss.

During the first two and a half weeks of each semester, about 1800 glasses are taken from the cafeteria. Almost all of the losses, according to Saga, are attributed to students stocking up on their kitchen needs.

At the beginning of next semester, Saga has stated that glasses will be sold at below cost to boarding students. Additionally, there is a program now instituted where students may sign out china on their meal tickets for private dinners in the dorms.

While students complain about the high board rate, it should be noted that much of the cost is due to the cafeteria's losses. Saga puts in bids each year to handle the food services on this campus, and included in this bid is an allowance for losses due to theft. Mr. Macedonia of Food Services states, "The students pay for all the lost china. All of the cost eventually goes back into the boarding students' fees."

Last year when Saga made an appeal for students to return these items, only $1,000 of stolen items were returned. This spring, another campaign will be launched to recover the items. Instead of throwing stolen items away, students may return them to the cafeteria without fear of prosecution.

Perhaps if the incidence of pilferage went down, student fees would stop rising at such a rapid rate, and the cafeteria could put already existing funds toward higher quality food.

There are plenty of opportunities to obtain utensils from the cafeteria without stealing them. Therefore, there is no logical reason for pilferage to occur, and every reason for it to decline over the next few weeks.

Notes for Conversation

BY Kevin Fitzgerald and Dale Phelps

People that go to small colleges often find themselves with a need to prove that the college they attend really does exist. Such was the case this past Christmas break when we attempted to prove there was a Frostburg State College. In our infinite wisdom we used the New York Times Guide for Continuing Education in America (1975 edition) as our source. Much to our chagrin, while Salisbury, Towson, and Morgan were listed, Frostburg was not. This source's unreliability caused a great deal of panic to set in. If a college guide did not list our college, how else could we prove to someone that yes, there really is a Frostburg? We thought our cause lost, when, to our utter amazement, Frostburg's basketball team made the big time and appeared on channel 2's eleven o'clock news. Watching the basketball team play brought back memories of past basketball heroics and of frustrated attempts to use the gym.

How often have we donned our sweat suits in anticipation of getting into a good game of basketball, only to be told that the gym is closed or is being used by either the varsity basketball teams (men and women) or WRA or intramurals? It is impossible for someone to just shoot some baskets because of the complex and inefficient scheduling process. Granted, the student of superior talent can try out for the varsity team, but what of the average student? The Health and P.E. Department would be quick to point to the established intramural program which has to be one of the best kept secrets on this campus, second only to the mystery behind the ingredients with which Saga prepares our delectable meals. Everyone would like to know what they are eating, but when they inquire, they are quickly rebuffed or told they should have been at the Food Program Committee meeting. The same is true when we are told that if we don't know someone or are not fortunate enough to be in the right place and overhear someone talking about forming intramural teams, we are out of luck. Just as Saga says we should be happy we receive the quality of food we do, so the P.E. Department's response to the use of the gym by those not privileged enough to belong to a team is "tough."

In order to present our grievance to the administration, we interviewed President Guild. Those statements which follow in quotes were transcribed in full from the interview. "Compton gym was intended to be the last building at Frostburg with a terminal enrollment of 501 students so it obviously does not suit the needs of close to 3000 students. There can be scheduling problems forever if things are not scheduled properly but the new building ought to solve these problems. It is three times the size of Compton gym, and has an auxiliary gym as well as other facilities. This should loosen the schedule so that more things can take place at the same time. I have no projections in front of me concerning the scheduling of space that may have been developed by Dr. Cordts or by the Health and P.E. Department, but from my point of view it is a campus facility, not simply a departmental facility. It is a facility to be made available to all of the student body on a reasonable workable basis. I realize that there must be priorities as to the use of space... but that does not mean that a preponderance of students interested in using the facility are going to be shut out. I don't think that would be proper because every full-time student on campus is paying a $36 athletic fee. He should be able to benefit from it in some fashion."

The opening of the new facility as President Guild has said would seem to alleviate the problem, but we feel that there is a strong possibility that the program would resurface if the P.E. Department does not schedule the use of the gym equitably. We could envision a situation in which one gym would be used for varsity practice, another for WRA, etc. Still the majority would be denied access. To make the point clearer, consider this comparison. For many years the old Health Center program was attacked as being incapable of handling the needs of the campus. After much debate, the Health Center was reorganized with all the so-called problems alleviated. At the present time, however, there is as much displeasure with the center as there ever was before it was revamped. We ask now--could the same thing happen with our new athletic facility?

Cancer Dance Marathon

The Student Association of Allegany Community College in coordination with WUOK is sponsoring a dance marathon to benefit the American Cancer Society. This marathon will take place on January 30 and 31 from 9 p.m. to 9 p.m. at ACC. The cost is five dollars. All interested students should contact the Student Association of Allegany Community College.

Field Trip to D.C.

Student Special Services is planning the field trip of the year to Washington D.C.. We will be leaving at 8:00 a.m. from behind Compton Gym on February the seventh and returning that evening. Included in the field trip are a visit to the Civil Service Commission to learn about Federal Government job opportunities and their relationship to college majors, and a visit to the National Theatre to see the Broadway hit musical, Bubbling Brown Sugar. Bag lunches will be prepared by Saga, and money will be provided for dinner. You must sign up as soon as possible because it is first come, first serve, and only 35 students will be able to go. As usual, SSS members will have the first priority, but a waiting list will be established for all others. Hurry and sign up in Dunkle 207 from 8:30 to 4:30!!!

Bloom and Davis Exhibit Work

Currently on exhibit in the Fine Arts Gallery are works of art by Dustin Davis and Miriam Bloom, both instructors here at Frostburg State.

When the majority of Americans picture in their minds what they think is art, the image is usually of a picture hanging over their fireplace, sofa, bed or dining buffet. (This doesn't take into consideration sculpture or kinetic art.) Functional art of this kind is fine, but when something becomes so placid, so familiar to the eye, is it art anymore?

This is not the case with the art now in the gallery. Fortunately, these works could never fit into someone's home decor! If these pieces did it would be too bad, because they would be "mulshed over" with everything else that so modestly bleeds into the background in "wallflower" style.

Ms. Bloom's pieces are made from "found objects" with rhoplex, sand, plaster, pigments, bronze powder, and sometimes cardboard and chicken wire. From anyone's first encounter with her pieces, there might be some comments like, "That's art?" From other intellectuals might come, "It doesn't say anything to me." While everyone else is caught up with "What's she trying to say?", this writer suggests you examine her work and ask this: "Does art always have to 'say' something, or does it have to mean anything?" Then ask why was there even a question of why Miriam Bloom did what she did. The very fact that the works were handled in such a fine manner or the particular concept or idea behind the piece gives us an idea of one of the things that gives something of the artist.

Looking at Mr. Davis' works, one may ask, "How can an easel on 'hobbyhorse' style rockers be called art?" This is not the question to ask, but most of his works may be questioned in a similar manner. As a viewer of his work, one becomes aware of how just taking something out of its normal context is art. An example is four or five old-fashioned movie chairs. Mr. Davis may not have constructed them, but don't consider that a standard for judgement. By taking objects out of the normal situation there are found in makes one take less for granted. Man tends to have perfect vision, but he lacks that "inner vision." He is too preoccupied with himself to see or experience different things around him. An artist can take something out of its context to make a viewer more aware or he can make something that is functional non-functional, just to point out what is taken for granted or do that which was previously stated for no reason at all.

The present show in the gallery is not strikingly overwhelming. There are not any brightly colored objects, nor are things dull. Some things require close examination, while others can be viewed upon entering the gallery. The pieces do not necessarily make any grand statement about world situations or some other political satire, nor do they have to. However, this is not to say that this show is so boring that no one will gain any impact. To be sure, this art show will cause a little uproar, because of its uniqueness. The show will continue until January 30th.

"Orion in the Sky with Diamonds"

During the month of January the Frostburg State College Planetarium is presenting a new program entitled "Orion in the Sky with Diamonds." Programs will be presented each Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m.

The program will feature a basic introduction to the brighter stars and constellations of the winter sky, a humorous version of the Orion myth and a basic explanation as to how astronomers measure star position, brightness and distance. The last part of the program will feature a simulated trip to the Orion Nebula, a huge glowing cloud of gas 1300 light years out. As the trip progresses, the appearance of the stars and our sun will be simulated through specially prepared slides.

Employment Outlook Bleak

The Frostburg State Placement and Career Development Office has announced that the employment outlook for college graduates continues to be bleak. According to a recent survey by the College Placement Council, employers are expecting to hire about 5% fewer graduates than they did in 1975. An example of the difficulty in getting a teaching job is in Frederick County, which is predicting 25% fewer openings this fall.

Yet the office says that despite the reality of the problem, most Frostburg graduates do find meaningful employment. For seniors concerned about their futures, the Graduate Record Exam will be offered at Frostburg once more this year, on February 28th. The deadline for application is January 28th. Students interested should contact Dr. Van Newkirk in Garrett Hall for test applications. Also of importance to seniors is that the State of Maryland Professional Career Test for college graduates will be offered at Williamsport High School on April 10. The deadline for this testing is February 27. All seniors interested should contact the Placement office.

AXD Offers Graduate Fellowship

Alpha Xi Delta, a national social fraternity for women, announces that it is again offering a $2,500.00 graduate fellowship for advanced study in Social Service. Alpha Xi Delta believes that there is a continuing need for qualified, professional personnel to work with children and youth in preventing juvenile delinquency. Combating juvenile delinquency has been Alpha Xi Delta's national philanthropic goal since 1958, and its graduate fellowship has been awarded annually since 1959.

The Gamma Psi Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta at Frostburg State Colleged has, in recent years, collected for United Way, UNICEF, and other charity organizations, donated clothing and other articles to Pitman Hall, a home for wayward girls, and some of the Brownie or Girl Scout troops. Gamma Psi has also made favors for hospitals. In the spring, a production is put on, and the proceeds are given to Friends Aware.

An applicant for the Alpha Xi Delta graduate fellowship must be a graduate of an accredited college or university; have a grade average of B or above; have applied or been accepted for admission to a graduate School of Social Work, and be interested in pursuing a career with children or youth to combat delinquency in the United States. Membership in a Greek Organization is not a consideration. Interested persons may obtain an application form for the graduate fellowship from:

IRC to Attend Model U.N. Conference

IRC is planning a trip to Philadelphia. From February 5th to 9th, IRC, the International Relations Club, will be participating in UPMUNC IX, the ninth annual model United Nations conference held at the University of Pennsylvania. Acting as a designated country, we will fully assume the character and morals of that country, as we participate in the many committees and functions of the United Nations. Seven members will be attending with our faculty advisor, Dr. Hazel Ramsey. In the past, Frostburg's IRC members have won awards and made excellent showings at the many model conferences we have attended. After the conference in February, there will be many more coming up, a few of which we hope to attend. Join us to learn more about the United Nations and the many varied and interesting lifestyles of people all around the world. Meetings are held the 2nd and 4th Mondays of the month at 8:30, in 212 Lane College Center.

TO THOSE who attended the Sunday Lane Center movie "The Chase:"

The sisters of Lambda Phi Delta would like to apologize for the confusion that took place. Our order forms had Clint Eastwood as the star rather than Marlon Brando and Robert Redford. Due to a miscalculation on our part, the first movie took longer than expected and in order to have the second showing and be done by closing time, we were unable to show the cartoons as we had advertised. We hope that no one was too upset. In the future, the movies will be better organized.

Bobcats Split in Homestand

In a recent four game home stand, the Bobcat basketball team won two games and dropped two, bringing the season record to 5 wins and 8 losses.

The first game, against St. Vincent, resulted in a 71-57 victory for FSC. At one time, the 'Cats' were up by as much as 15 points and led throughout the game. The half-time score was 35-29. In the second half, the 'Cats made 53% of their shots. Leroy Scott led in the point category with 16, while Bob Ridder had 15 and Wayne Simonsen netted 11. Billy Sayles had nine rebounds and Wayne Simonsen had seven.

The second game against Waynesburg State ended with the Jackets downing the Bobcats by a score of 83-69. About mid-way through the first half, the score was 25-10 in favor of Waynesburg. However, the Bobcats manufactured a mini-rally and were able to go to the locker room at half time down only by 11 (39-28). The first part of the second half set the stage for the rest of the game, as the Jackets hooped 11 straight points. For FSC, Leroy Scott netted 18 points, Billy Sayles chipped in 15 and Bob Ridder added 14. In only his second start, freshman Greg Wright had a strong game with 8 points.

The 'Cats dropped the third game against Edinboro by a score of 81-71. However, it did not lack excitement. After recovering from a few sloppy moments at the beginning of the game, the Bobcats surged within 5 points of the visitors. The half time score was Frostburg 36, Edinboro 41. The surge continued into the second half and with 13:35 left in the game, the score was tied at 52 on a basket by Greg Wright. A lay up by Leroy Scott put FSC ahead 54-52. The score was tied at 52 on a basket by Greg Wright. The score was tied up 54, 56, and 58 before Edinboro took command and went on to win 81-71. Ray Nelson, starting his first game since being sidelined by bronchitis, led in the point department for the 'Cats with 13. Greg Wright and Bob Ridder netted 10 points.

In the final game of the home stand, FSC beat York College 82-74. The first half ended with the widest point margin of the game, FSC 46, York 35. York came out gunning in the second half. With ten minutes left in the game, they pulled within four, 60-55. Frostburg, however, halted the rally and went on to win the game. The game was unusual in that the 'Cats had no foul line attempts. Wayne Simonsen sparked the winners with 26 points and 10 rebounds. Leroy Scott added 10 points, while Ray Nelson had 12 and Bob Ridder had 10.

Continuing with their busy schedule, the Bobcats traveled to Gannon College where they were edged by a score of 72-70. Gannon, ranked 11th among the small colleges in the nation, was almost upset by the surging 'Cats. Trailing by nine at half time (41-32), FSC battled back to tie the score at 70 on Bob Ridder's field goal with 15 seconds left in the game. Neal Stocvnski of Gannon shot with 10 seconds on the clock. The ball was tipped in by teammate Neal Fate. Frostburg had the ball with 3 seconds left, but missed a 20 ft. shot and lost the game. Leroy Scott bucketed 20 points for FSC. Wayne Simonsen netted 19, Ray Nelson 15, and Bill Sayles 14.

Gymnasts Show Improvement

The 1976 Bobkitten Gymnastic team, under the direction of first-year coach, Jean Ransone, has shown great improvement over the 1975 squad. Although the Kittens have lost their first two meets to West Virginia University and Loch Haven State College, both opposing coaches have been impressed with the degree of improvement shown by this year's team. According to Coach Ransone, a former Bobkitten standout, "This is the first year that we've had experienced newcomers." Freshman Lynn Tucker did an excellent routine on the balance beam and earned a 6.45 to establish a new school record. Included in the fourteen member roster are three other talented freshmen: Patty Foye, Joyce Lapp and co-captain Michelle Morrison. Patty Foye, uneven parallel bars specialist, recorded a strong 5.25 against Loch Haven. Joyce Lapp set personal records in each of her three events, balance beam, floor exercise and vaulting. Michelle Morrison will see limited action for the rest of the season due to a hyper-extended elbow.

Despite the number of freshmen on the roster, senior co-captain Alice Alpert returns to lend some experience to the young team. Alice represented Frostburg in the EIAW championships. In addition, she has been voted most valuable gymnast twice, and holds three school records.

The team improves with each challenge. Next year could prove an even greater one when the young team returns with more experience.

Frostburg Defeated by Madison

Frostburg State's matmen lost in agonizing defeat to the Madison Dukes, in maybe Frostburg's best wrestled matches this season with a score of 30 to 19. The inexperienced squad demonstrated a surprising degree of exuberant aggressiveness and determination particularly in the lower weight classes with Joe Wallace's victory over Madison's Art Strunk with a score of 12 to 9, and Ron Ginsburg's pin against Madison's Robert Peach with one minute and twenty-seven seconds left to go in the third period. Frostburg started out on the mat with a forfeit in 142 pound weight class, and with veteran juniors Wallace's and Ginsburg's victories in their respective 118 and 125 weight classes. In the 132 pound weight class match, Frostburg's Mark Sukontarak was pinned in the third period by Madison's Steve Kish. Mark's performance, though, should not go unnoticed as the junior veteran displayed surprising skill in escape and reversal attempts in the second and third periods of the match. Following the 132 pound weight class match, Frostburg matman Joe Oddis was pinned in a skillful match by Madison's Dave Bechtelheimer in the second period during a 5-5 tie. Although the match was half over at this point, Frostburg seemed destined to return to the lead as veteran senior Dave Macey with an exceptional display of leg movement, outscored Madison's Terry Brueser by seven points at the end of the third period, leaving a score of 11-4. After the 158 pound class match, Frostburg lost the 167 pound match to Madison as Frostburg matman Mike Endler was outscored 8-3 by Madison's Bill Randolph. An exciting highlight of the match was Frostburg's freshman Bill Karl-son's victory pin against Madison's Mike Moore in an extremely aggressive and quick match during the second period with one minute and twenty seconds to go. In the following 190 pound weight class match, Frostburg's Joe Schweitzer lost 7-1 against Madison's Dave Eaton. In the final heavyweight class of the match, Frostburg's Bill Hyson lost by a pin in the third period with only nineteen seconds to go to Madison's Brian Grainer.

Frostburg's match against Madison was an indication of the expectations Coach Mike Davis has been hoping for, "the strengthening of an inexperienced squad" in light of the extremely challenging schedule. At this point in the season, Frostburg is 0-4 with losses to Shippensburg State (47-3), York College (51-2), and the closest match of the season against Elizabethtown College (21-19). At this point in time, at least a couple of wrestlers on the team feel a strategic team move would be to manipulate a few wrestlers into more suitable weight classes, but Coach Davis has commented, "at this point in time, there is not enough flexibility for a weight class shift." Frostburg's next home match will be on February 17, when the matmen challenge Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Ghent, Hall Make All-State

Defensive tackle Steve Ghent and wide receiver Terry Hall have been named to the Baltimore Sunpapers All Maryland College Division Team, it was announced recently.

Steve Ghent, a native of Glencove, New York, was the "big play man" in the Bobcat defense. A four year starter, Ghent led the team in tackles and played both ways in several games. An injury sustained in this year's clash with Westminster necessitated knee surgery, forcing Steve to sit out the last three games of the 1975 Bobcat slate.

Baltimorean Terry Hall spent his four years at Frostburg rewriting the Bobcat record books for pass catching. Known for his moves, sure hands and speed, Hall closed 1975 with 39 catches for 740 yards, surpassing Ron Sterling's 1973 record of 580 yards. He also caught four touchdown passes his senior year. Hall's career totals include 117 receptions for 2121 yards and 17 touchdowns, equalling Ron Sterling's career TD record. In addition, Terry averaged 30 yards per catch as a freshman.

In being named to the All District 18 Team for the second consecutive year, Ghent and Hall equal a feat accomplished by only five others in Bobcat football history: Don White and Ron Sterling 1973-74; Joe Kenney, 1972-73; Bob Maddox, 1970-72; and John Bardi, 1967-68.
