Residence Life Announces Housing Changes

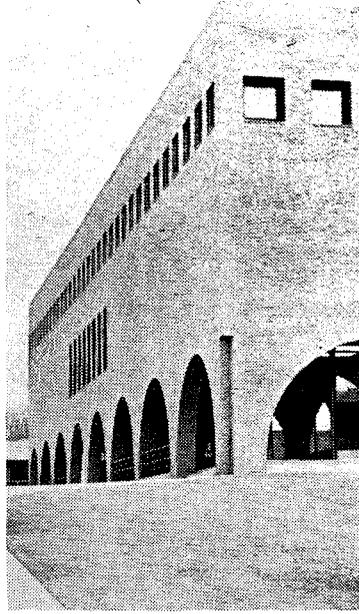

The Residence Life Office of Frostburg State College has announced that a number of changes in the dormitory housing pattern will be implemented in the fall of 1976. These changes include the closing of Frost Hall for remodeling and the opening of Cambridge Hall to special interest housing.

The present residents of Frost Hall will be able to select from rooms anywhere on campus after the present occupants of rooms have had a chance to sign up for their same rooms for next year. Mr. James Lund, director of residence life, will be meeting with the residents of Frost Hall in the near future to explain this procedure.

Cambridge Hall, which will be experimental in nature and will accommodate some special interest housing, offers sixth floor housing for political science majors, fifth floor housing for biology and chemistry majors, and second floor housing for a "drug awareness group" and a "life after college" group. The remainder of the new dormitory will be operated under the same terms as presently occupied co-ed dorms, except that there is an added option of choosing limited or unlimited visitation hours.

The housing lottery for room selection for the 1976-77 academic year will be held during the first week in April.

Library

Move

Scheduled

The move into the new library is now scheduled for April 5 - 15. A commercial mover will handle all the major work assisted by the library staff and paid student help. As the schedule is now set up, the library would be closed for approximately three days at the beginning of the move. It is hoped to offer limited service after that time. Obviously, there will be some inconveniences for some time until the remaining furniture is delivered and everything can be in its proper place.

Library services will be curtailed April 5, 6, and 7 only, according to Mr. Roger Miller, associate director of the facility, for the move to the new building.

Beginning on Thursday, April 8, the library will be in full operation. "There will be full service at the desks," Mr. Miller continued, "with no limitation on help. Information desks will be set up on every floor and floor plans will be available. No services will be curtailed."

Only minor inconveniences will be noticed when the new building opens, such as the continuing process of moving furniture. Mr. Miller noted, however, that many of Frampton's organizational problems will be alleviated with the opening of the new library. All the Library of Congress listing, for example, will be on the fourth floor. Additionally, the material now in storage will all be on open shelves on the second floor.

"Salary Survey" Available

The job market in business and industry is down; students in Arts and Science, especially business related fields should note some information recently received from the College Placement Council. The CPC compiled its second "Salary Survey" dated March, 1976, based on information from business and industry employers.

"Compared with last March, the number of offers reported for bachelor's degree candidates was down 16%. Master's volume was down 25%. Although still on the negative side, these figures were a marked improvement over the picture in January when bachelor's volume was down 37% and master's was down 33%."

The College Placement Council consists of a committee with representatives from General Electric C., United States Steel Corp., University of Iowa, Touche, Ross and Co., University of Pennsylvania, Arizona State University, Proctor and Gamble Co., Mellon Bank, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and two coordinators of the council, with a statistical consultant. This Committee compiled data including monthly beginning salary offers to all candidates by curriculum to Bachelor's degree candidates, national average monthly salary offers by all types of employers for technical and non-technical curricula, national average monthly salary offers by functional area to Bachelor's degree candidates, and national average monthly salary offers by business and industry for technical and non-technical curricula. Also included are the national average monthly salary offers to inexperienced Master's degree candidates, and doctoral candidates.

The survey report goes on to indicate that the picture is brighter for women candidates, but very bleak for students in the humanities, and social science disciplines.

If students want to see the "Salary Survey" or a chance to improve their chances through career planning they should call ext. 4403 for an appointment in the Placement and Career Development Office.

New Degrees Approved

The Board of Trustees of the Maryland State Colleges has given approval to Frostburg State College to grant three new Master of Science degrees as well as offer undergraduate majors in three subject areas. The new degrees will be in the fields of biology, fisheries management, and in wildlife management. The new undergraduate majors will be in the studies of wildlife-fisheries management, philosophy and in recreation. According to President Guild, all of the new programs will be available to students beginning in the 1976 Fall semester.

Career Seminar for English Majors

There will be a career seminar for all English majors on Tuesday, March 30, 4-6 p.m. in Lane Center 202. Former English and liberal arts majors, some of whom are recent FSC graduates, will discuss their working experiences, tell how they got into their particular careers, and will share their knowledge of the value of an undergraduate major in English in preparing for and competing for positions in the job market at large. Gail Carter Perran, recent FSC graduate, will tell about her work as Assistant to the State Comptroller of Maryland; William Spaniel, an executive for a major local industry, will discuss working in business as a liberal arts graduate; Rosalie Spaniel, just graduated from FSC, will talk about her present editorial work and about her job hunting; Louisa Gunter, FSC graduate with a major in English, will share observations on her career, including her current work in real estate; and James Mingle, Assistant to President Guild, will provide information about the major in English as a preparation for legal careers. Refreshments will be served.

ARBA Recognizes FSC

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration has recognized Frostburg State College as a Bicentennial College for its participation in the Bicentennial Colleges and Universities Campus program.

An official American Revolution Bicentennial flag and certificate will be presented to the college next month, according to D.B. Strasburger, regional director of ARBA in Philadelphia.

SA Spotlight

This is the second of a series of articles aimed at enlightening the student body on the various activities and issues that are presently of student concern.

Some SA members believe that students are not aware of the procedure for challenging grades. The following information was obtained from the current "Faculty Handbook":

"Occasionally students will challenge particular grades or grading practices of instructors. In such cases, the student will be expected to consult, in order, with his instructor, the instructor's department head, and the Associate Dean of the College. If he is not satisfied, the student may then request a hearing before the Vice President and Dean of the College. In no case will the grades be changed by department heads or the Dean of the College unless, after consultation, the instructor agrees to the change. This policy is not to be construed as one permitting or encouraging persuasion or pressure on faculty members in connection with their grading practices. Rather, it is intended to afford reasonable recourse to students who seriously challenge grades, and to assure that the faculty member in question is protected fully in the exercise of his professional judgement."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The letter appearing in the March 22 issue by Nicola Fera requires a response for the sake of accuracy. A thoughtful, well-written letter on the whole, it reflects some concerns I have heard from a number of sources on campus, but it is also based on some important misconceptions which need to be corrected.

First, one cannot generalize on the student academic profiles of all six state colleges. Institutional conditions and variables are important to an understanding of enrollment patterns in each case.

Second, Frostburg's student profile has changed somewhat in the past few years, but not for the reasons Mr. Fera suggests. It is true that we have admitted some students who might not have been admitted, say, ten years ago, and whose chances for success here are questionable unless the college assumes responsibility for improving those chances. It is also true that we have student here who would not have considered applying to Frostburg a few years ago; they are at the top of the heap in SAT scores and high school records, not near the bottom. In other words, the range of ability, measured by SAT scores, has widened at both ends.

Third, our admission standards are exactly what they have been all along; they are prescribed and written by the Board of Trustees, not by us. The application of those standards varies considerably at the six colleges, and has changed at any given college over time, depending upon the college's educational philosophy and policies, the availability of funds (mostly Federal) for compensatory or developmental programs, the clientele served by the college, the competitive influence of other nearby institutions (especially in the metropolitan areas), and a number of other factors.

Fourth, Mr. Fera is incorrect in assuming that this college has attempted to prevent declining enrollments by admitting weaker students. We have never had difficulty in meeting our enrollment projections, although some other state colleges have.

The presence on this campus of students who might have been considered inadmissible or marginal a few years ago is explained by our commitment to equal opportunity and access to public higher education. I refer not only to opportunity for racial and ethnic minorities (to which we were committed before the State of Maryland and HEW began to tangle), but for economically and educationally disadvantaged young people from any background. Despite that commitment, we still have the lowest percentage of students with SAT's in the 350 or lower range of any college in our system by a considerable margin.

In other words, we have done nothing to "fatten enrollments" in order to justify greater funding. In fact, the State does not respond (with greater funding) to overattainment of enrollment even when it does occur. In spite of the fact that enrollment growth at the state colleges has occurred unevenly, state support of all the college has declined proportionately, so we're damned if we do and damned if we don't.

Finally, there has been no exodus of good students and good faculty from Frostburg State. As I have already pointed out, we have a wider mix in student ability than ever, and our faculty (measured by any known standards of faculty quality) is the strongest in the college's history.

To the extent that this college community faces the problem of dealing with weaker students, the solution lies with our own intelligence in developing programs to support successful academic performance. We have made a good start with Special Instructional Programs, but we have a long way to go. And no program of this kind can succeed without adequate funding.

The alternative, almost implicit in Mr. Fera's letter, is one which we need to ponder carefully: to assume that a public college is only for those mainstream students whose success is guaranteed by an exclusive admissions program, leaving those we define as "not college material" to a kind of societal trash heap. Which alternative do we choose: an effort to make education something more than a middle class union card, or an unending drain on our resources to pay the price of wasted human potential?

Dear Faculty, Staff and Students,

I would like to thank all the students, faculty members and staff members who were good enough to take the time to help us evaluate our student employment program. I realize how inundated we all are with paperwork and requests for information and sincerely appreciate those of you who completed and returned our questionnaire. Your feedback was very valuable to us, providing us with some real constructive suggestions which we will make every attempt to analyze and implement.

Again, sincere thanks to those students, faculty and staff who responded and were concerned enough to help us improve our service to the campus community.

Director of Financial Aid

Dear Editor,

I recently received a terrible shock when I was reading my housing contract for next year. I believe the student body should be aware of this appalling fact.

The housing contract states under "Facilities" the occupancy of all the residence halls on campus including the new experimental hall, Cambridge. I would like to point out to the students the capacity of the co-ed halls:

- Frederick--309 students
- Westminster--309
- Cambridge--232

At a glance you should notice the great difference between Frederick's and Westminster's capacities of 309 students each compared to Cambridge's capacity of 232. This is 77 less spaces for students in the new dorm than in the old ones.

I was under the impression that the new hall was being built because of the need for more housing on campus, but it is very apparent that this was not the reasoning for the construction of Cambridge. Cambridge's internal design reminds me of a luxury motel. The building can be divided into two identical halves on all the floors except first floor. On these floors there is a large lounge on each half with a fully-equipped kitchen. Surrounding the lounge are two clusters housing 11 persons each. Each cluster has one large bath with a double shower, private bath tub and two toilets plus two smaller lounges in each cluster.

Does this sound like a residence hall for college students or like a luxury motel? Cambridge's construction costs are nearly $2,963,000; for this amount of money I believe a hall with more residential spaces could have been built with the idea of providing more needed space

Dear Editor,

This letter is a protest against the lack of respect of property portrayed by a few of FSC's students. All around the dorms damaged chairs, scorched carpets and broken windows can be observed. It is appalling to see such vandalism occurring in an environment made up of so-called adults.

The students of the college pay for all of these damages and insuring repairs. It seems like some people could wise up and see that their lack of wisdom is costing other people money.

Cost isn't the only problem attached to this issue, it is also the sheer inconvenience of not being able to use facilities such as elevators, chairs, ping-pong tables or whatever. It is irritating to walk into a lounge and find the chairs broken and unusable (or else find no chairs at all!).

The sheer unattractiveness of vandalism is another bother. Burn holes in the carpet and on the lounge furniture is ugly. Holes in walls and scratches on doors are equally so.

People have to live in this environment and call it their home for approximately 8 months of the year. Please try to keep it clean, undamaged, and as attractive as possible.

Thank you,
A Concerned Student

Dear Editor,

I wish to protest the lack of student support of the Artist and Lecture Series. Various interesting and informative speakers have visited this campus and have been received by a proportionately small audience. Students apparently do not realize the education they could be receiving through these speakers.

Several instrumental groups have come to perform classical music and have had very small audiences to play to. Those people who have come to these activities have enjoyed themselves tremendously.

I feel more people should attend these concerts and lectures and experience how marvelous they are. Students--skip a night of partying and get educated!

Eat Drink and Be Wary

March is Nutrition Month; April 8 is Food Day. These are two national events to raise American awareness about food-related concerns. To observe Nutrition Month and Food Day, Robin Edelman, Health Department nutritionist, will present "Eat, Drink and Be Wary," a film and lecture on current American food problems, on Thursday, April 1, 7 p.m., in Dunkle Hall, Room 218.

Eating may be good for you, or it can be dangerous to your health. Americans are plagued by diet-related diseases: dental diseases from too much sugar; iron deficiency anemia from an imbalanced diet low in iron; constipation from a low fiber diet; heart disease from a diet high in fat, salt and cholesterol; obesity from a diet too high in calories. . . to name a few.

The overall nutritional quality of the American diet has declined. In the past 30 years the consumption of fruits and vegetables has decreased by 25%, while consumption of sweets and high calorie snacks has increased over 80%. In one year's time, we each eat about 100 pounds of sugar. We eat too much fat and protein, especially from meat (and our body turns the excess protein into fat which aggravates other health problems). For these reasons we should not consider ourselves the best fed nation in the world. In fact, we should think about changing our diets to improve our nutrition.

How do we improve our nutrition? By educating ourselves to make wise food choices. We should learn more about wise consumer shopping hints, alternative protein sources to meat, healthy weight-reducing diets, facts and fallacies about food additives, nutrient needs of pregnant women, children, adolescents, adults and senior citizens. On these topics, free information is available from the nutritionist at the Allegany County Health Department.

Drug Awareness

Survey

The Drug Awareness class, Education 490.03, conducted a survey to determine the awareness of FSC students on drugs. It was hypothesized that the lack of awareness in this area can lead to physical and psychological misuse of drugs.

Some sample questions used on the survey, and the percentages of right and wrong answers are below:

1. The strongest form of marijuana is:

a. PCP
b. Columbian
c. Bhang
C is the answer. 10% were right. 90% answered it wrong.

2. Which has been found to be the most frequently adulterated by poisonous substances:

a. LSD
b. Hashish
c. Beer
C is the answer. 16% were right. 84% answered it

3. Cocaine
a. develops rapid dependence
b. is quicker addictive than heroin
c. basically harmless
C is the answer. 11% were right. 89% answered it wrong.

The results of this survey revealed that 78% of the student body could be considered unaware in various areas concerning drugs. We feel this is an appalling statistic.

After completion of the Drug Awareness course, the survey was given to members of the class. The results greatly improved over the people not taking the course.

We wish to thank the people who participated in our survey and to urge those of you who are uncertain of your drug knowledge to sign up for the course. It could help you

Health Center Hotline

Question: Where can I get a pregnancy test?

Answer: Pregnancy tests can be obtained through the Counseling Center in Gunter Hall free of charge. The test involves a urine specimen, preferably early morning. The student must then take the urine specimen and other pertinent information to the Health Department in Cumberland. All information is kept confidential and the results from the test are available in approximately two days.

Question: Are family planning services available on campus?

Answer: Family planning services are available at the Brady Health Center. The student must make an appointment with the secretary at the Health Center between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The student is also required to go through the initial visit called "intake day" at the Brady Health Center. This visit takes two hours and includes the student's medical history, a blood test and pertinent contraceptive information.

After this, the student will be notified by the Allegany County Health Department as to the dates and times of future appointments.

The student's second visit to Family Planning includes a complete physical examination by the Family Planning physician, determination of the best type of contraceptive measure, and if the birth control pill is suggested, a three month supply will be given.

If, on the other hand, an IUD or other device has been inserted by the physician, the student must then return to the clinic in six weeks to have the device checked by the attending Family Planning nurse. After the six-week checkup, the student need not return to the clinic until it is time for the annual physical examination by the doctor.

If the pill is given, the next visit to the clinic will be in approximately three months. This time, the nurse will check the student's blood pressure, weight, urine, and question the student about possible side effects of the pill. Another six month supply of pills is also dispensed.

In approximately six months following the student's second visit, the student will again be notified by the Allegany County Health Department to return to the clinic for a third visit. This visit is exactly the same as the second visit except this time the student will receive a three month supply of pills.

The fifth visit to the clinic starts the regular six month checkup and pill supply. A physical examination is done by the physician. Blood pressure, weight, and urine are checked and a six month supply of pills is given to the student. Six months later, the student must return to have the pill supply replenished. From this point on, the student need only visit the clinic every six months.

Question: Can I still get into the Family Planning Clinic this semester?

Answer: Yes! The last intake day will be April 20, and beginning March 1 the intake days will be on Mondays and Tuesdays.

If you have questions for the column, please submit them to State-to-Date in room 232 or box 40 of the Lane Center, attn: Janet Llewellyn.

Food Discount Plans

College Foods Service is presenting two new meal/food discount plans to the college community. In addition to the $5 Discount ticket which gives a 10% discount on purchases at the Snack Bar or in Chesapeake Hall, the CFS now offers Lucky 7 and Lucky 13 tickets.

The Lucky 7 offers seven meals over the weekend at a price of $7. The meals included are Friday, Saturday and Sunday dinners, and breakfast and lunch on Saturday and Sunday. The plan is designed especially for weekend visitors to our campus. Tickets may be purchased from the cashiers at Chesapeake Hall.

The new Lucky 13 Ticket offers the consumer $13.13 worth of purchases for just $12. This is a punch card plan like the $5 discount card. The card may be presented as payment for any meal at Chesapeake Hall or for any purchase at the Snack Bar, including special take-home items such as fruits and B.A.C.'s. Both the $5 and Lucky 13 Discount Tickets may be purchased at either the Snack Bar or from the cashiers of Chesapeake Hall.

Update with

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta's annual spring election of officers was held last Wednesday. The newly elected officers are: President, M.J. Conlisk; Vice - President, Cheri Gaver; Membership, Patty Newman; Pledge Trainer, Rustie Farrell; Treasurer, Cyndy Wallace; Corresponding Secretary, Debbie Daniels; Social Chairman, Ollie Sartori; Recording Secretary, Nancy Respass; and Quill Chairman, Chris Lagos. They will take their respective offices on March 31.

Planetarium Program

"Music of the Spheres" is the title of the program being shown during the month of March at the Frostburg State College planetarium.

Programs will be presented each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and on Sundays at 2:30 p.m. in the planetarium in Tawes Hall.

The program traces the development of astronomy and classical music during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries through the lives of six individuals--Galileo, Newton, J. S. Bach, Mozart, Herschel, and Beethoven. Interspersed through the program will be brief selections of some of the best known music of these times including organ and harpsichord music by Bach, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" by Mozart, and the "Moonlight Sonata" and "Pastoral Symphony" by Beethoven.

Any Federal Work-Study student interested in working two full days around Easter break (April 15 and April 19) delivering typewriters on campus, please contact the Financial Aids Office.

Special showings of the program are also available for groups and clubs. The number to call for planetarium information is 689-4270.

Practical Aspects of Management

The Principles of Management class of Alta M. Porter has had and will continue to have guest speakers with messages pertaining to the practical aspects of management as opposed to textbook theory.

Mr. Phillip Slattery, Deputy Director of Personnel, U.S. Department of Labor, spoke on March 19 concerning the management of personnel in a large government agency. He outlined the structure within a bureaucracy and touched upon some of the problems and costs inherent in such a structure.

On April 2 the speaker will be Mr. Douglas Stewart, Hardlines Merchandise Manager at Sears and Roebuck. Mr. Jack Carter, President of First Federal Savings and Loan has offered to speak on April 7.

Percussion Ensemble To Perform

The Percussion Ensemble, an eleven member performing organization, will perform their semester concert on Tuesday, March 30, in Fine Arts room 132. The ensemble will play a wide range of music from contemporary percussion literature, to the modern popular music of Blood, Sweat, and Tears. The jazz/rock compositions were arranged by members of the ensemble.

Also featured on the program will be the FSC Brass Ensemble. They will perform the "Concerto for Timpani and Brass" which will feature Randy Rush on timpani. Also included in the first half of the program will be a composition entitled "Circus,"

Symphony Orchestra to Present Concert

The Frostburg State College Symphonic Band and Jazz Ensemble will appear in concert in Washington and Frederick Counties on Wednesday and Thursday, April 7-8. The 80-member Symphonic Band, under the direction of Dr. Robert S. Bianco, and the 20-member Jazz Ensemble, directed by Dr. Jon Bauman, will present programs at Hancock High School and South Hagerstown High School on Wednesday. At 8 p.m. on Wednesday the groups will which will depict the many possibilities of sound during a circus.

The second half of the concert will include the BS&T arrangements plus many other popular pieces. The ensemble is co-directed by David Eyler and Randy Rush. Many of the members of the ensemble will be featured in solos during the program.

The ensemble is now in its third year of existence, and is totally student-sponsored. Members of the ensemble include David Eyler, Randy Rush, Jay Branham, Sean Breen, Barbara Johnson, Tom Kimmell, Jim Michael, DuWane Sandlin, Janet Trautvetter, Gary Hammer, and Jim Roderick.

be presented in concert at the Hagerstown Junior College by the HJC 1976 Focus Series, an artist series concert program sponsored by the Student Activities Office of HJC. On Thursday, April 8, the band and jazz ensemble will appear at Linganore High School and Governor Thomas Johnson High School in Frederick. The final appearance by the FSC Symphonic Band during the current academic year is scheduled for Sunday, April 25, at 3:15 p.m. in Compton Auditorium.

Admissions Officer to Meet with Students

All students who are interested in graduate social work education: Mr. William Beechill, Admissions Counselor, School of Social Work and Community Planning, University of Maryland at Baltimore, will be on campus on April 1 to discuss admissions requirements, available resources, and other topics of interest.

He will talk to groups of students in Old Main, room 203, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. He will be available for individual student consultation between 1-2 p.m. and 3-4 p.m. An office will be provided in the Sociology Department for individual student consultation.

Please see Harry J. Bunch for further details and give him your name if you want individual consultation.

Travel Package Available to Brass Congress

College music students and just plain fans of sound under 22 are eligible for a youth fare travel package this June that features a musical happening, both classical and jazz, in a charming Swiss Alpine valley town of Montreux.

Montreux, already known as an arts center and location of an annual international jazz festival, will be the site of the first International Brass Congress from June 13-19. The gathering will bring together brass-section musicians from symphony orchestras around the world as well as brass-instrument playing jazzmen, for concerts and other activities.

Included is the round trip by Swissair or TWA jetliner between the United States and Geneva and eight days in Montreux, located in western Switzerland on the shores of Lake Geneva and surrounded by the Alps. The package, running $599 from New York, $640 from Chicago and $654 from Los Angeles, also includes hotel accommodations and two meals daily during the congress, all concerts and related activities, and the congress banquet.

The congress will be held under the auspices of the Institute for Advance Musical Studies, which occupies the former Grand Hotel in Montreux. The Institute was founded in 1973 as a bridge to professional performance by promising young musicians of all nations. This year, it has expanded into other music related activities such as sponsorship of the Brass Congress.

Additional information can be obtained from the music department of FSC or at Convention Coordinators, Inc., 300 East 40th St., New York, New York, 10016. Telephone (212) 682-0200.

Alpha Xi

(continued from page three) Rose Formal this year will be Alpha Xi's 15th reunion. It will be held at Lane College Center on April 2 through April 4.

The National Convention will be coming up soon. It will be held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on June 24-28. This convention brings together about 90 Alpha Xi Delta Chapters. There they will talk about the National rules and the By-laws. It sounds like a good time, and a better chance to meet some girls who share the same bonds and love as we do in Alpha Xi Delta.

World Population Marches On

As the world's clocks strike midnight on Sunday, March 28, 1976, the baby will have been born that brings the current population of planet earth to 4 billion, according to the latest demographic estimates of the Population Reference Bureau.

The human race spent between two and three million years reaching 1 billion, in 1850, when 1,370 inhabitants were added each day. The second billion took only 80 years, the third billion another 30, and that time cut in half to roughly 15 years for our present milestone of 4 billion. In 1976, each new dawn brings a formidable increase of approximately 195,000 newborn infants to share the resources of our finite world, the PRB points out, noting that the figure is based on daily estimates of 328,000 live births minus 133,000 deaths. And of today's 4 billion, more than one-third are under the age of 15--soon to reach their childbearing years.

Although growing at a slightly slower rate than believed one year ago, world population could find itself at the 5 billion mark in 1989, just 13 years away, if the current estimated growth rate of 1.8% (down from the mid-1975 expected rate of 1.9) is maintained. Detailed data covering 161 countries will soon be published in the PRB's 1976 World Population Data Sheet.

The consequences of this speedup in growth have become a major concern in the worldwide scientific community, with population pressures now linked to every aspect of future life on earth. A growing number of governments, feeling the impact of explosive growth, have moved into the areas of family planning and population control. India, for example, each year adds the equivalent of the population of Australia, and a number of states, in addition to financial "disincentives," are considering legislation providing for compulsory sterilization following the birth of two children.

Population professionals have been encouraged, however, by measurable declines in birth rates in locations where intensive programs of family planning services have been made available to large percentages of the population, such as Singapore, which it appears will meet its goal of the two-child family well before the target date of 1980.

As the 4 billion milestone approached, PRB asked a number of world figures concerned with population phenomena for their reactions. Dr. Louis M. Hellman, HEW's Deputy Assistant Secretary for Population Affairs and newly appointed Administrator of Public Health Services, comments in the PRB newsletter Intercom: "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children" seems to cut close to the jugular as we pass the 4 billion mark in an inexorable march toward more and more people. At this point, hunger does not seem the greatest issue presented by the ever growing numbers of people. Rather the threat appears to lie in the increasing numbers who can find no work. As these masses of unemployed migrate toward the cities, they create a growing impetus toward political unrest and instability.

"We now live in a world quite capable of its own destruction. Our nuclear armaments are equivalent to 15<sup>1/2</sup> tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on the globe. This nuclear destructive power coupled with political instability, generated by growing millions of underemployed individuals cre-

Bobcats Stay Undefeated

by George Millholland

'Cats Cop Dual Meet

Last Tuesday, the Bobcat track team traveled to Lexington, Virginia, to take on Washington and Lee in a dual meet. When it was all over, Frostburg came out on top 114-31 in what at times turned into a one-team competition. While the Bobcats swept several events, Washington and Lee managed only three first places and surrendered second place in each of those.

Scott Matheny was a three event winner for Frostburg, with one of his victories coming in the form of a school record: 197 ft. 11 in. in the javelin throw. He also won the triple jump by leaping 40 ft. 3 1/4 in. By pole vaulting 13 feet, he copped another first place. Steve Smith came in to dominate the weight events by winning both the shot put, 47 feet, four inches and the discus at 137 ft. 5 in. In the speed events, it was Derrick Pinkney first in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220 with a time of 22.9 seconds. Teammate Keith Brady completed the tandem operation by taking first place in the 200, also at 22.9 and second place in the 100.

Coasting in with a 4:24.0, Matt Cline continued in his domination of the mile, but this time he had company. Tim Gavin came on with 4:25.6 for second place and Pete Clardy's 61 second last lap was almost enough to catch Gavin at the line. Clardy finished with a 4:25.8.

In the high jump, Mike Savoy cleared six feet, six inches to tie a school record. Savoy also finished second behind senior Jeff Williams in the 440-yard dash. Both runners hit the wire at 50.4 seconds. In the 880, Tom Rogers ran 2:01.1 for second place. A 9:47.6 by Ralph Perry in the two mile was also good enough for second place but only barely. Steve Schaffer finished almost at eye level with Perry.

The 'Cats looked good in both the 440 and mile relays. In the 440 relay it was record time again as 4 Frostburg sprinters cruised around the track in 43 seconds flat. To round out the afternoon, Doug Wilson won the intermediate hurdles in 58.6 and took a second in the 120 high hurdles.

The Bobcats' next meet will be on the home track against some tough competition from Madison and Shippensburg State tomorrow afternoon.

The baseball Bobcats kept their winning streak alive as they took a double-header from the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets in their 6th and 7th games of the season. Coming from behind in both games, the undefeated 'Cats boosted their season record to 6-0-1.

In the opener, the team fell behind early, but in the fourth inning they rallied for six runs. In the RBI column, John Calgelgia and Tommy Merrit contributed three each, Craig Wengerd had two, Jim Anderson and Alan Monacchio each had one. Mark Richmond was the winning pitcher as he struck out twelve Waynesburg batters, walked one and allowed nine hits enroute to his second victory in as many games.

In the second game, two Frostburg errors allowed the Yellow Jackets to take a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the fourth. However, in the top of the fifth, the Bobcats exploded for six runs. The inning began when Shawn Baker and Rick Raughley belted back-to-back base hits. John Stubbs came to the plate and knocked in Baker, as Raughley scored on a wild pitch to make it 3-2. Freshman John Elder tripled home Stubbs, after which Dave Summey, John Calgelgia and Gary Romanik produced successive singles. Senior Mark Malek gave up only three hits to secure his second victory of the season.

Spring Golf Season Opens

by Chris Stephens

Under the coaching leadership of first-year head golf coach Wayne Carlisle, the 1976 spring golf team will take to the green again in a very challenging seven match schedule against many traditional rivals.

With a strong view of the competition from last fall's team schedule, Coach Carlisle is optimistic in feeling that his team has a "very realistic chance for a winning season." There is very strong competition in the Frostburg camp as junior transfer Jerry Shaw contends for the number one spot against senior veterans Bill Hurst and Jim Landskroener.

According to Coach Carlisle, "Jerry Shaw is the hardest worker on the squad, and although he may not have the natural talent, he makes the most of what he does have." On the other hand, Coach Carlisle contends that "if Bill Hurst and Jim Landskroener develop into top form, Jerry Shaw will have his hands full." With last season's awkward 3-11-1 record in mind, the coach does feel that the squad will be a great deal stronger with consistency in performance from his top six golfers.

Performing in other spots, freshman Bruce Hanna has demonstrated both improvement and consistency in practice, while sophomore Robert Worrall and junior Wayne Eyerl will join Bruce in the top man Jeff Foster should provide the performance necessary for a top position on the squad.

Plagued by traditional handicaps, such as lacking a practice area and seasonably poor weather conditions, the team has experienced a little better luck in the form of unusually fine, mild weather for practice. Even so, practice areas in this part of the state are scarce. In spite of their tough season's schedule, the team is extremely dedicated to their optimum goal of reaching the NAIA district playoffs.

Starting off the season, the Frostburg squad will meet Shippensburg State on Shippensburg's home green on March 30. Since Shippensburg, an extremely strong rival, was 32 strokes ahead in last fall's meet, each of Frostburg's golfers will have to stay at least 5 strokes ahead in this match. Shippensburg does indeed have the advantage of playing on their own green, which means Frostburg will be extremely pressed in their performances for this season opener.

Frostburg's golf squad will play only two matches on their home course, the Oakland Country Club, and will be on the road for their other five contests. These are highlighted by a match against California State, a traditional NAIA district 18 power, Shepherd State, Shippensburg and Davis

Bobkitten Lacrosse Begins

This season, with a team of inexperienced newcomers, the Bobkitten lacrosse squad will face a challenging schedule. The team will have only two returning players: Martha Zanger, who will return for her third season on the varsity squad, having started her playing as a freshman on the junior varsity team, and Mary Gobel, who will return with four years experience, but will shift from left defensive wing to cover point.

New varsity players are: Franny Flott, Diane DiFerdinando, Kathy Kelly, Lisa Feese and Karen Harrow. Each girl has had at least one year's experience on the junior varsity squad. The remainder of the 1975-76 team will be staffed with rookies. Carol Abendschein will play left defensive wing, Cindy Wolfe will cover right defensive wing, Renee Chaney will be at center, and Lisa Pierce will cover third home. At the wing positions, Robin DiPasque will play right attack and Mary Ann York will cover left attack.

Coach Sharon Irwin feels that the team will have a slow start, due to their inexperience. Additionally, the early opponents are strong, but by mid-season the ladies should reach the quality of play established in previous years. The team appears to be fast, but whether that will be beneficial will depend on the stick work and accuracy of passing.

The junior varsity squad is made up of Charlotte Smith, Lisa Toohey, Robin McNeish, Kathy Watson, Sandy Teal, Pam DeLoach, Jamey Snyder, Susan Boyd, Mary Alice Flynn, Kathy Sixx and Dana Hall.

The varsity team will begin play against the British Universities touring team on March 31. Defending state champion Towson will be on campus April 3.

Bobcats Scrimmage Spartans

Today at 3 p.m., the Frostburg State men's lacrosse team will scrimmage the Michigan State Spartans at Bobcat stadium in the first of three contests scheduled for this week. MSU is playing several Maryland teams during an eastern trip. After their match will Michigan, the 'Cats will face the West Virginia University lacrosse club, which will travel to Frostburg for a match on Wednesday at 3 p.m.

The week's action climaxes on Saturday as the Bobcats clash with their first USILA opponent of the season. This game pits FSC against St. Mary's College and will be held at 2 p.m. in St. Mary's City. Last year, the 'Cats dropped a hard fought 8-5 decision to the Saints.

Ruggers Roll Over Indiana

by Michael Russell

The Frostburg State rugby club, coached by Terry Gaston, started the spring season by soundly defeating the ruggers of Indiana University. In the "A" game, Frostburg jumped to an early lead and maintained good ball control and defense throughout, prevailing 20-9. George Caras provided the 'Cats with its initial score. Late in the half, George suffered a knee injury, putting the team at a disadvantage in the second half. Kevin Kraft played an important role in the match as he scored half of Frostburg's points. Paul "Crash" Mahoney scored the final tally for FSC to provide the winning margin. Mitch Stoller, Bill Karpowicz, and Brian Matthews all provided defensive spark to halt a late comeback effort by Indiana. In the "B" game, Ron Lamasse and Nick Niki-forow shared scoring honors with eight points each. Howard Cohen scored the first goal. Don Michellitti provided good defensive support and added a score to help boost the team to a 24-10 win.

New Opportunities in Europe

Interchange, a nonprofit Foundation located in Amsterdam, Holland, has opened its doors to students and teachers from North America who want to see Europe on a low budget. As a result of years of research and planning, and further years of trials and watching young Europeans, exciting new opportunities are now available in Europe.

Back - packing itineraries, 50% off on train tickets, free travel on river barges through Europe, how to bicycle independently through Europe, where the campers are, living with European families in cities and on farms, and a new Traveling Companion Service are only a few of the Foundation's independent activities.

Another interesting innovation is a destination and identity board for hitchhikers. The I.D. board helps keep the traveler moving while other thumbers are left standing because a destination card is shown to traffic, and both parties are covered with insurance.

Foundation subscribers are entitled to low cost flights to Europe and a wide scope of other benefits in Europe that until now have been available only to European students. As a nonprofit structure, the Foundation is able to advise travelers and provide services for its subscribers either free or at a much lower cost than normal.

Students and teachers interested in further information may obtain the Foundation's Subscription Form, their Newsletter and a detailed information sheet by sending their name, address, the name of their school and one dollar or the equivalent in stamps to cover postage and handling to Interchange, Box 5579, Amsterdam, Holland.

Is Homosexual Behavior Acceptable?

A structured but open-ended survey questionnaire was distributed to some dorm residents of Frostburg State College in the 1975 fall semester in an attempt to reveal some basic attitudes of the students regarding the acceptability or unacceptability of homosexual behavior. The fifteen question survey also was an effort to discover any similarities or differences between the attitudes of males and females concerning homosexual behavior.

In response to how they felt about homosexual behavior, the largest percentage of males indicated views of total unacceptability, while the majority of females held a neutral response. When asked how they felt concerning the legalization of homosexual behavior on society, the majority of each sex held neutral response. However, when considering the extreme responses of detrimental or beneficial, the males replied heavily on the detrimental end of the continuum, while the females remained neutral.

Fifty percent of the males and 60% of the females considered the sex of the individual involved totally insignificant with regard to its acceptability. Of those who considered the sex to be important, the majority of females considered homosexuality more acceptable for men, whereas, the majority of males considered it more acceptable for women.

Sixty percent of the females felt that the age of the individual had a tremendous bearing on the acceptance of the behavior and 43% of the males considered age to be totally insignificant.

Considering the acceptability with regard to marital status, 60% of the females and 43% of the males considered it more acceptable for single persons, as apposed to heterosexually married persons. In addition, the majority of both sexes considered the social status and occupation of the persons involved to have no bearing on the acceptability of the behavior. Of those females, however, that considered social status a factor, it was more acceptable for the upper classes.

Population

Dr. Paul Ehrlich of Stanford University's Department of Biological Sciences and author of "The Population Bomb," adds his views: "It is sobering for me to realize that, at the age of 44, I have lived through a doubling of the world population from 2 to 4 billion people. It is saddening, also, for my analysis of the food-environment situation persuades me that this rapid growth will be halted within the next 44 years and that growth will be halted not be a human lowering of birth rates but by a horrifying increase in death rates."

Retired General of the U.S. Army Maxwell D. Taylor declares, "...The only hope for bringing this menace to the world environment eventually under control is through intensified international efforts to bring national birth rates to a replacement level while seeking to modify the social and economic conditions which have contributed to excessive growth rates in the past."

Meanwhile, the PRB statement concludes, the search for the perfect contraceptive continues, the dimensions of the population problem become daily more apparent, and world population marches, inexorably, on.

Throughout the results, the trend of the males revealed a more intolerant attitude concerning homosexual behavior, whereas, the females held seemingly more tolerant attitudes toward the issue.

Pre-Registration Set

Pre - registration for continuing students for Fall 1976 will be conducted April 12-21. There are several important procedure changes in the Fall format to be noted. All pre-registration materials will be mailed to the local address for both resident and off-campus students. In August any student who has pre-registered and paid his bill by August 18, will receive his schedule by mail at his permanent address. The Registrar's Office is urging all students to update their local and permanent addresses at that office as necessitated.

In addition there have been two major changes in the technical structure of the academic course offerings. The departmental number has changed from a two to a four digit code number, and the section now carries three numbers, e.g., Eng. 30.101.04 is now Eng. 1501.101.004. This taxonomy is based upon the nationally established Higher Education General Institutional Services (HEGIS) system, and as such is required to be implemented by all Maryland State Colleges for Fall 1976.

This new taxonomy has effected a redesign in the forms and computer programs associated with the registration procedures. The forms will be self-explanatory with the Drop/Add slip for Fall permitting several drops/adds, as well as a combination of academic departments to be listed on the same form.
