Guild Speaks to Forum

In his opening address to the College Forum on September 15, President Guild spoke briefly of the representative government system of the college; a tripartite system through which faculty, administration and student interests are represented.

"We do have something unusual, and my pride in it is not grounded in a feeling that we are just different. . . but that the people who make up our faculty, our staff and our student body have made it possible for this government system to work while others have failed or died aborning."

"In the near future, our governance system will be put to the test many times as we try to work out together the agenda of a growing institution. Beyond the governance machinery itself, we have challenges to meet in every quarter of campus life. For example will the Student Association survive and on what terms?"

"We are equal to the task if we remember what it is all about and if we are allowed to put our talents and purpose to work."

Following the speech, elections were held. The fiscal committee's one year position was filled by Paul Hunt of the chemistry department. Robert Parker of the art department was elected to a three year term on the academic standards committee. Chris Stephens was elected to a two year term, student position on the teacher education committee.

Finally, the proposed charter of the commencement committee was adopted. The committee will recommend to the President appropriate commencement speakers and persons to receive honorary degrees and other awards.

The next meeting of the Forum is scheduled for early February.

Campus Radio Undergoes Changes

Frostburg State College campus radio has recently undergone some minor changes. During the summer, the organization was threatened with legal action by the Federal Communications Commission regarding the call letters "WFSC," which were adopted informally by the staff several years ago. Consequently, the campus radio station now goes by the name "WFNR Campus Radio".

WFNR, currently boasting a staff of 45 students, including electricians, clerical workers, and D.J.'s, is anticipating a transition to FM stereo broadcasting. The application for construction of additional FM facilities is now under consideration by the organization's legal consultants in Washington D.C. Until the transition is complete, WFNR will broadcast to the college community at 640 KHz., AM, via carrier current transmission with a gross power output of 4 watts (a substantial output for carrier current transmission).

Students at Frostburg State may obtain optimum reception once transmitter servicing has been completed by placing their radio as close as possible to the wall socket. However, if the radio cannot be placed next to the AC socket, move it above, below, and to either side of the socket until reception is loudest.

Persons having questions about the radio station are encouraged to contact Norris Shane, James Proctor, or Frank Dischel by coming to the office and studio in Lane Center's room 233, or by calling 7028 or 7029.

In lieu of the upcoming Presidential debates, State-To-Date's first national news column, of the semester, will deal with some of the issues and statements upon which presidential candidates, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter are campaigning.

Carter

"I think the major priority of the next Administration has got to be employment. My own belief is that we can get the adult unemployment rate down to 3% or the overall rate down to 4.5%, without any adverse effect on inflation. I believe that anyone who is able to work ought to work--and ought to have a chance to work. . . any system of economics is bankrupt if it sees either value or virtue in unemployment. We simply cannot check inflation by keeping people out of work. I think the major thrust ought to be the strengthening of the private sector; not guaranteeing everybody they will get a job from the federal government."

"I believe the next President ought to assume the responsibility for complete tax reform. One provision would be to tax capital income and earned income in the same way. I'd also seek a drastic simplification of the tax system by removing many of the incentives that have been added over the past 70 years to cover transient circumstances. I would go to direct grants that could be reconsidered annually. I also favor taxing income only once, (a reference to the double taxing of corporate dividends) and would want to reconstitute a progressive tax rate."

"I support stiff penalties for drug pushers and expanded rehabilitation programs for drug addicts. Carter would impose criminal sentences only on large traffickers in marijuana, not on the occasional user. Carter says any change in marijuana laws should stay out of the matter."

National News: The Debate

Ford

"The best and most effective way to create new jobs is to pursue balanced economic policies that encourage the growth of the private sector without risking a new round of inflation. This is the core of my economic policy, and I believe that the steady improvements in the economy over the last half year on both unemployment and inflation fronts bear witness to its essential approach because it is working."

"My proposed economic policies are expected to produce lasting, productive jobs, not temporary jobs paid for by the American taxpayer."

"This is a policy of balance, realism, and common sense. It is a sound policy which provides long term benefits and does not promise more than it can deliver."

Ford proposes a "tax reduction directed at business in a way that creates more jobs. The tax cuts that I propose, including a permanent increase in the investment tax credit (10%) and a 2% reduction in the corporate tax rate, are specifically designed to increase employment." I propose tax changes to encourage people to invest in America's future and their own, through a plan that gives moderate income families income tax benefits if they make long-term investments in common stock in American companies."

Ford has sent to Congress a mandatory sentencing bill for narcotics dealers. Under this bill, sentences are three years for a first offense, six for the second, with no parole permitted.

CCB to Make Funds Available

The College Center Board announced recently that it will make funds available to various registered student organizations for the purpose of co-sponsoring entertainment events open to the entire student body. Funds may be made available on the basis of the following.

Highest priority will be given to those activities which are most creative and will be of broad interest to the student body. C.C.B. funds should be considered seed money to be a part of the total activity. However, any income realized would be retained by the sponsoring organizations.

C.C.B. will assist those events which will offer the best public image for the Board itself, as well as the sponsoring organization.

Application for funds in the fall semester must be submitted in writing to C.C.B. by October 4, 1976.

A representative of the applying organization must be presented at the C.C.B. meeting of October 6, 1976 to discuss and defend the organizations request.

Inquiries regarding this procedure may be directed to the office of the College Center Board at 689-4192.

EDITORIAL

As President Guild began his opening address to the College Forum last week, he promised not to bore his audience with "presidential rhetoric." He kept his promise, and in so doing he proposed one of the most thought-provoking questions this college community has faced in some time: "Will the Student Association survive, and on what terms?"

Our tripartite system of academic government is somewhat unique, and, according to Dr. Guild, we have amazed our contemporaries across the nation with our ability to make such a system work. But now we find ourselves faced with a crucial decision: either we can try to make the system work as it has in the past or we can scrap the whole project and try to come up with a better way.

The biggest part of this decision will be made by the officials we have elected to lead us in holding up our end of the tripartite system. If the present SA administration fails us by remaining lethargic, as it did in the first half of its term, then the chances of the survival of tripartite government in any form will be lessened substantially, or maybe even lost.

Time is running out. And the stakes are too high for us to sit back and let nature take its course.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Students,

Parents' Weekend is approaching rather quickly. Tickets for both the brunch and the dinner dance have already been sold. Sales went very well. Tickets for the football game will be on sale until October 1st in the Business Office in Loundes Hall for $1.50 a ticket. This is for Parents' Weekend only and the tickets must be purchased in advance to get the $1.00 discount. All students with an FSC ID card do not need tickets.

As everyone should be aware of by now, Lane Center has a new policy for dances. There is to be absolutely no hard liquor at dances, only beer and wine. This rule will be in effect for Parents' Weekend as well. Please make sure your parents are made aware of this. No hard liquor will enter the dinner or the dance.

The brunch will be from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. You can come whenever you like, but please don't come at 12:20 expecting to get seconds. All food will be cleared at 12:30.

The dinner will begin promptly at 6:00 p.m. Please come a bit early to be seated.

There are no refunds on the tickets. We are sorry about this, but we have had too much of a mix up with refunds in past years.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the special activities planned.

Ma's Apple Pie and "Peanuts"

My mom is quite an adorable old lady. Through the years she adopted a certain way of running her "zoo". She invites the public for seven months of the year (winters are out) at a reasonable peanut fee. She provides jobs for many poor workers. But the Federal government gives my mom peanuts to hire them, thereby trimming the given ("snicker, snicker") unemployment rate. My mom distributes these peanuts to workers who show need, giving them an adequate sum. I guess she has a system. But last summer, she executed a superb blunder. I talked to her about it.

I said reverently and obediently, "Mom, you made several of your choice workers sore when you trimmed them to 500 peanuts. I can't understand how you ran out of peanuts (w/Carter and all). After all, you promised the workers a certain number. Now you cut them down."

"Boy, my little boy! You go kowlege and no understand. It simple. Govunment provides peanuts for worker. He getta job w/me or anybody in zoo and earn money govunmnet give him," she explained roughly.

Trying to understand, I said, "I think I get it. The people whose parents earn few peanuts qualify for Federal peanuts. But the workers don't get the extra peanuts gratuitously; they must earn them. Hmm! I think that's fair. But," asked I, critically, "what happens at the end of the work period, (the zoo being closed) when some workers didn't earn all their peanuts?"

Sitting in her knee deep, red and white checked dress, smoking a pipe, she answered, "Boy, that easy kwestion. Two things can happen. Peanuts disappear if not earned; or peanuts used to pay some winter help."

"Can you do that?" asked I, somewhat ignorant of the staggering number of laws.

"Sure, sure, course, my school boy. What's da matter? Hmm, They teach you nothing, I can tell."

"Frankly, mom, I learn . . ."

"What I send you school for!" she exclaimed.

"But mom, you no don't--send me to school. The time, energy, and effort are mine," I replied forcefully.

"Noway, you my boy. Eh . . . Ehh . . . Now, I tell you more," she said somewhat sheepishly.

Hesitantly, I dared another question: "What will you do when the peanuts run out?"

"That easy, silly boy," she chuckled. "When peanuts out, we use peanuts from coming year. You know, we good employers. We give people jobs. We let 'em earn peanuts in summer: 100 peanuts week most," she said.

"100 peanuts a week!?" cried I. "Won't that influence the number of peanuts all the workers will be allowed to earn this coming year?"

"Shouldn't. We got all angles covered," she noted.

"If you carefully planned the peanut distribution, why did you put a ceiling of 500 peanuts on a number of the workers this year?" I know that some workers qualify for 600 and others for 857 peanuts. A loss of 100 to 300 peanuts per needy worker is significant. What made you put a ceiling on the peanuts?" demanded I.

Cringing in her walnut rocker, gazing erratically everywhere, and stuttering unbearably, she said blankly, "We no had ALL angles covered. Besides, good reason for . . ."

"Yes, mother, I know, we all have good reasons, even you know who (Dicky), chortled I, convinced that many workers lost many peanuts because . . . because . . . with the traditional "Due to a shortage of funds . . ." (Snicker)

I really don't know whether mom will change her system. But when I left

Artist Series to Present Edgar Allan Poe

New York actor Jerry Rockwood who does for Edgar Allan Poe what Hal Holbrook does for Mark Twain will bring his one man show "Edgar Allan Poe; A Condition of Shadow" to the multi-use room of the Lane College Center on Tuesday, Sept. 28th at 8:00 p.m. for one performance only. Winner of the Barter Theatre Award at the age of 23, Rockwood's performance as the tragic poet-short story writer represents his most mature work in a 25 year career in the theatre. Drawing from Poe's mystery tales, his wonderfully lyrical poetry, personal letters, essays and even marginal notes, Jerry Rockwood uses this material to create an in-depth characterization of the famous American writer, revealing the agonizing conflicts of his personality, his tortured poverty stricken life, his insanity and his ultimate destruction.

The talented five foot eight inch actor is exactly the same height as Poe and bears a strong resemblance to him. He has directed extensively in community theatres, off-Bway, summer theatres and colleges and recently won acclaim from the American National Theatre Festival for his productions of "Marat/Sade"

and "The Mandrake."

This program will be the second of a series of cultural programs sponsored by the Student Artist & Lecture Series. Members of the college community (students, faculty and staff) are cordially invited to attend this free event.

Danny Cox Visits Campus

Does Frostburg recognize what it has missed? Saturday night a week ago, I found that the size of the audience in Compton auditorium was not reflective of the importance of the performer. "Danny Cox", someone mentioned to me, and I decided that live, original entertainment was definitely worth my time. Though I'd never heard tell of Danny Cox, I wanted to hear who it was that was coming from Mexico to play in Compton. The turnout for the concert started me wondering if perhaps I was better off with a juke box and people. People leaning against walls in idle conversation, with only games of pool and sex to amuse them, yes, but people nonetheless. I sat down to listen to this Danny Cox anyway, because I felt it would do me no harm to take one Saturday night and spend it on an original musician. I thought to myself; he's come all this way; I've come this short way; he's free for the listening; I'm already here. And something in that concert washed my apathy away.

Born in the States, Danny Cox went to Mexico for a two week vacation and stayed six years. A black cowboy living outside of Guadalajara on his horse ranch, he speaks with respect of the slow paced living in the small village of Ajijici (he pronounced it, with a grin, "Ah-hee-hee"). He's back in America to perform, but his goal is to be able to live, write, and do what he chooses in Ajijici. He says that the pace of the music business is stimulating as a change, as a way to direct his musical energies, but he realizes that one's of life is of greatest and lasting importance. When he walked out on the stage, then I could see the two-his talent and his life philosophy - merge.

A folk singer tasting of the blues as well as the Mexican flavor, Cox showed the localism and freshness that only an original artist can show. He played what he had written, years in the making, and he showed me that the struggle toward a goal is one's life. He stood up there with a small crowd before him, and he didn't mind that the distance he had traveled was far--far from his "Ah-hee-hee," far for no great crowd. He came to see the East, to make his living, to sing his songs, while the people in the bar down the street leaned, listened to juke music, and began their lives of just looking on.

"I think abortion is wrong. I don't think government should do anything to encourage abortion. I think abortion is the result of a failure of measures designed to prevent unwanted pregnancies and to induce the mother to carry the unwanted child through to delivery. I think we ought to do everything to have better education, family planning, contraceptives, if desired. I don't favor a constitutional amendment to give to the states local option on the abortion issue. If, within the confines of the Supreme Court ruling, we could work out legislation with better family planning and adoption procedures, then I would favor it. I don't have any particular law to put forward."

"Democratic processes may in some countries bring to power parties or leaders whose ideologies are not shared by most Americans. We may not welcome these changes; we will certainly not encourage them. But we must respect the results of democratic elections and the right of countries to make their own free choice if we are to remain faithful to our own ideals. We must learn to live with diversity, and we can continue to cooperate, so long as such political parties respect the democratic process, uphold existing international commitments and are not subservient to external political direction. We have learned that never again should our country become militarily involved in the internal affairs of another nation unless there is a direct and obvious threat to the security of the United States or its people . . . The CIA must operate within the law. Intelligence is a service to allow foreign policy to be based on more complete information. The function of the intelligence agency should be to provide this service, not to overthrow governments or make foreign policy unilaterally or in secret."

demand" but believes that it is justified in cases of rape or where the life of the woman was at stake. Ford said that he would "of course, uphold the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court." But he also said that he favored a Constitutional amendment leaving to the states the task of redefining limits on abortion.

Ford asked Congress for legislation authorizing electronic surveillance in the U.S. for foreign intelligence purposes, upon a judicial warrant, and the opening of U.S. mail sent to or from suspected foreign agents engaged in spying, sabotage or terrorism, if a federal judge consents.

Football Team Comes Up Short

The Bobcats continue to display that their football team has definitely improved over last year's team. In the first half the Bobcats came out demonstrating tremendous offensive power by means of fine running from fullback Paul "Skip" Dudash, who carried the ball for 23 yards to set up the Bobcats first score. Skip sailed to the 6 yard line shaking loose several would be tacklers as he went. Then, after attempting to score 3 times from the 6, Tim Woodring kicked a field goal.

Throughout the first half the defense was phenomenal. Led by defensive tackle Glen Scott, the Bobcats defense forced Bowie to punt the ball 5 times.

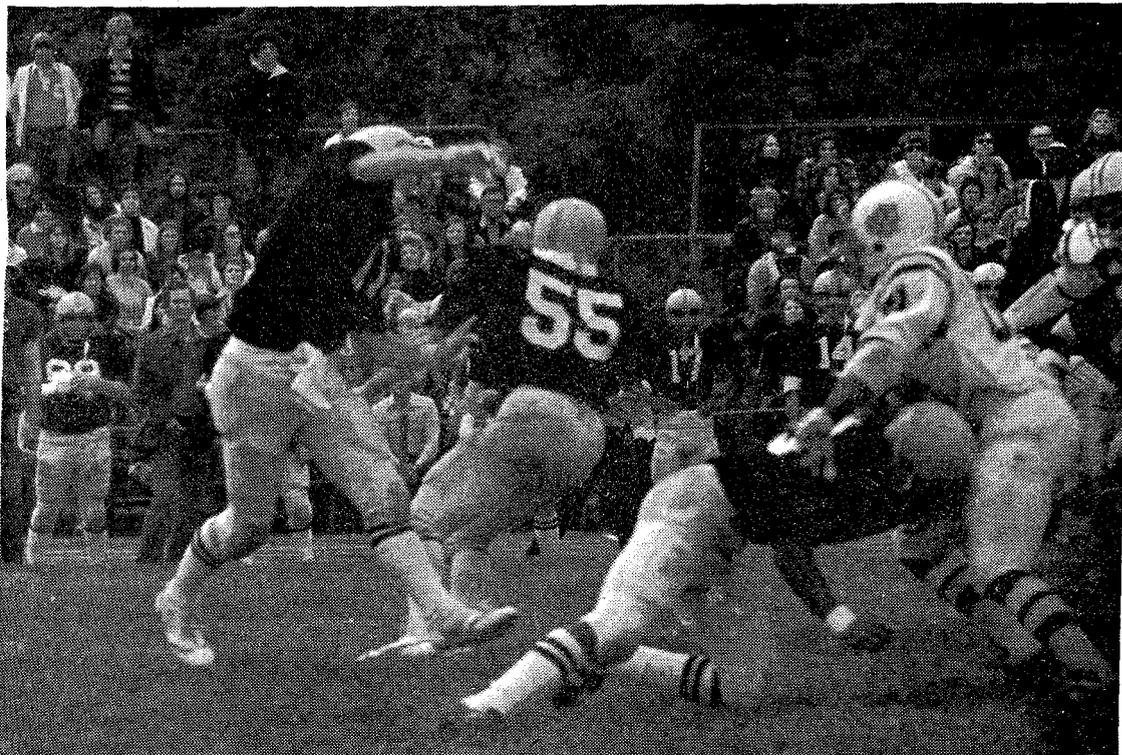

With 2:50 left in the first half the Bobcats were forced to punt the ball. However, while endeavoring to return the Bobcats punt, a Bowie State receiver fumbled the ball and the Bobcats recovered on Bowie's 34 yard line. Excitement prevailed and the fans boasted unanimously as tailback Billy Rose entered the game to accept a hand-off from quarterback Joe Corbin. Then Rose maneuvered to the outside to set up the "Kappa Connection". Wide receiver Tom Abbomonte streaked down the sideline and was wide open. Billy then fired a direct hit to Abbomonte who made the catch and the "Kappa Connection" good for 28 yards and a first and goal to go from the 6 yard line. The band started tooting "charge" simultaneously with the bleachers and spilled out around the sidelines. Quarterback Joe Corbin dropped back for a quick pass to #89 Mike Adams who completed it for the Bobcats only touchdown of the day to make the score Frostburg 9, Bowie 0.

From that moment to the final gun however, Bowie retaliated with 26 points to hand the Bobcats their 3rd loss of the season and 11th in a row.

The second half did nonetheless, provide the opportunity for the fans to witness a fine exhibition of quarterbacking by number 16, Larry Gibson. Larry proved to himself and a host of enthusiastic spectators that he possesses the skill and talent required to execute the position par excellent. Alternating with starting quarterback Joe Corbin, Larry's successful passing gave life to the Bobcats 4th quarter attempt to win the ballgame. Hopefully, we will see more and more of Larry Gibson as the season ages.

Frostburg while playing one of its finest halves in the past two seasons, suffered a complete collapse in the third quarter of last Saturday's game. Coach Davis will have the team ready to play this Saturday, unfortunately it will be against an Edinborough team that is just too tough.

Soccer Team Successful in First Two Games

The Frostburg soccer season officially began Saturday Sept. 11 with a hard-fought double overtime win at West Virginia Wesleyan College. Fresh from this victory, the Bobcats were ready to take the home field against a tough and aggressive Indiana University of Pennsylvania team.

The unfavorable field conditions hampered play, but failed to allow the Indiana's attack to penetrate the Bobcats quick-moving defense.

Playing a defense-oriented 3-3-4 strategy, action centered in the midfield where Savino Saraceni and Dick Visconti especially displayed finesse and speed in feeding the ball up to the forward line. The backfield defense played in spurts, but the players usually balanced out any individual inconsistencies. An excellent performance was given by goalie Dave Green who with 18 spectacular saves just seemed to be in the right places every time.

IUP's only score came in the first half, the result of a direct kick. Frostburg had been penalized for dangerous play, and an Indiana forward put the ball in past goalie Dave Green.

Before the half ended IUP was also issued a warning, and Frostburg was awarded a penalty kick, directly in front of the goal. Mike Long missed the kick but recovered to score the tying goal.

The winning goal came late in the second half, when a cross from Lorne Cambell to Mike Long was deflected off an IUP full-back into the goal making the final score Frostburg 2, Indiana 1.

Table Tennis

The Frostburg Table Tennis League will begin its third season of play on Thursday, Oct. 7, at 6:30 p.m. The Frostburg Community Center will again serve as the site for the league.

An organizational meeting will be held on Thursday Sept. 30 at 6:30 p.m. This meeting will set the league fees and establish league rules. Open table play will follow the meeting for all who wish to "warm up" for the coming season. Also, players will have an opportunity to order new equipment if desired for the approaching competition.

The league hopes to continue its highly successful Round-Robin format from last year. This arrangement allows players of a certain level skills to compete against others of the same level of playing abilities.
