Sanford announces final summer school plans

Mr. David Sanford, Dean of Admissions and director of the summer school, has announced final plans for a three-part summer school program. The sessions, which will commence on June 16, mark the initiation of the most comprehensive summer school program which has been offered on the campus of FSC.

Earl registration for the program is now underway and will continue until May 15. Anyone interested in attending summer school may pre-register simply by completing the form on the back of the 1970 summer school catalogue. Catalogues are available in the dormitories or through the admissions office. Mr. Sanford noted that registration will be closed from May 16 through June 14. Final registration will be held on June 15 in Compton Hall. There is no late fee required for registration at this time. Students who have completed early registration need not attend the June 15 session.

Dean Sanford emphasized that the expanded sessions can be of tremendous benefit to the students in the Intermediate Division. By attending both day-sessions a student can obtain the equal of one semester of work. This is doubly important to those interested in raising their cumulative point score, since this can only be achieved by taking courses at FSC. Mr. Sanford explained that courses taken at other institutions cannot be used to raise a cumulative point score.

In an effort to clarify some of the confusion which has arisen over what constitutes an "overload", the Dean of Admissions pointed out that a student may take two courses during each session. For example, a student may wish to take Biology 14.100-01 "Bioscience" for 4 credits, and chemistry 22.1010-01 "General

Former actor to discuss Ghana; Author to speak about literature

"The Role of the World Bank in Africa" will be discussed by Mr. Paul Danquah on Tuesday, April 28, from 12:00 to 2:00 in Tawes Hall 333. The following evening, Wednesday, Mr. Russell Kirk will speak on "The Moral Imagination in Modern Literature."

Mr. Danquah has a varied and interesting background. In the prize-winning film "A Taste of Honey," he played opposite Rita Tushingham. He appeared in such popular British television series as "Special Agent," "The Avengers," and "The Saint." He was also a regular feature on a BBC educational program for children.

He was trained in England as a lawyer, and is a member of the Ghana Bar. For the last three years Mr. Danquah has been working as Public Relations Director for a wine and spirit company in Ghana.

In 1967, he wrote and directed Ghana's first television spectacular, and also was honorary public relations officer to the Governor of Ghana for the first Ghana International Trade Fair.

Chemistry" worth 4 credits during the first session. This would constitute 8 credit hours while remaining under the two course limits. Anyone wishing to take more than two courses per session must contact Mr. Sanford prior to registration.

The three sessions are divided into two day and one evening sessions. The first session of five weeks, will begin June 16, and end on July 17. Classes will meet Monday through Friday. The second session will meet six days per week for four weeks. Classes will begin June 20 and end August 15. The eight week evening session will begin June 16 and end August 7.

During the day sessions three credit classes will meet daily for 90 minutes; two credit classes will meet daily for 60 minutes; laboratory sciences are scheduled for daily lectures of 90 minutes; labs are scheduled for afternoons.

The class periods will meet according to the following schedule:

Period 1— 7:30- 9:00 a.m.

Period 2— 9:10-10:40 a.m.

Forum, art exhibit, band tour scheduled this week

The Political Science Department at Frostburg State College is hosting a forum involving the Mayors of Allegany County and the County Commissioners. The purpose of this forum will be to inform the community of the various issues and problems confronting the cities and the County and to suggest the possible solutions to these problems.

The date of this event has been set for Thursday, April 23, 1970. The program will begin at 8 p.m. in Gunter Hall and will be open to the public.

Those already announcing their intention to participate in the forum are the following:

Former actor to discuss Ghana; Author to speak about literature

In 1969, he joined the Information and Public Affairs of the World Bank and International Development Association as a Public Affairs Specialist.

After Mr. Danquah's speech, Tuesday, there will be a question and answer session.

On Wednesday, Mr. Russell Kirk will speak on "The Moral Imagination in Modern Literature" at 8:15 in Dunkle Auditorium.

After relinquishing a distinguished teaching career, Mr. Kirk became a professional writer and columnist on educational matters, visiting professor, and author. In recent years, Mr. Kirk has had four books published (The Conservative Mind, Academic Freedom, Old House of Fear, and Creative of the Twilight). To be published in the near future is Mr. Kirk's new book entitled The Age of Eliot.

Not only has Mr. Kirk appeared on television (Louis Lomax Show in Los Angeles), but also he has spoken on nearly 300 American campuses.

Period 3—10:50-12:20 p.m.

Period 4— 1:00- 2:30 p.m.

Evening session three credit classes meet twice per week for two hours and 15 minutes, two credit classes will meet twice a week for 90 minutes. Evening classes will begin at 7:00 p.m. Mr. Sanford noted that the evening school would be of benefit to local students who must work during the day.

Tuition for undergraduate students has been set at $20 per semester hour. Graduate students will pay $25 per hour. Other fees (i.e. Student Union, Activities, Registration) total $25.00 per session. However, if one registers for both sessions on or prior to June 15, he will only pay these fees once. Anyone who decides to attend the second session after the final registration date will have to pay these fees again.

Room and board for single students will be $145 for the first session, $117 for the second, or $260 for both. For married students room and board will amount to: $275 for the first session, $221 for the second or $490 for both.

County Commission President Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Commissioner Robert Little Ebert and Commissioner Burton Smith, Mayor Ray L. Wilt of Westernport, Mayor Floyd L. Davis of Luke, Mayor Wilbur J. Lancaster of Lonaconing, Mayor Ernest Poland of Barton, Mayor Thomas F. Conlon of Cumberland, and Police and Fire Commissioner William Davis of Frostburg.

Student Art Exhibit

Frostburg's Beta Mu Chapter of Kappa Pi, an International Honorary Art Fraternity, will sponsor its Third Annual Competitive Art Show April 26 through May 3. The opening of the show will take place in the lecture room of the Jerome Frampton Library on Sunday evening April 26, 1970. Awards and honors will be announced at this time to the artists, patrons, and invited guests.

The show may be viewed by the public starting Monday, April 27, throughout the Jerome Frampton Library. The show will culminate May 2, 1970, with an outdoor exhibit and sale to be held in front of the Fine Arts Building, weather permitting.

The judges for the show will be Mr. George Kramer of the Frostburg Art Department and Mr. Giarita, Art Director of Sacred Heart Hospital.

Concert Band Tour

The sixty member Frostburg State College Symphonic Band is presently conducting its annual tour of Maryland high schools.

The Symphonic Band began its tour with a concert at Fort Hill High School on Tuesday. The band left Wednesday morning for eastern Maryland where concert programs will be performed as follows: Wednesday, April 22 — Hagerstown South High School, Smithsburg High School; Thursday, April 23—Westminster High

Mr. Wiltout of the Speech and Theater Department presents the Pentathlon trophy to John Stevens of the University of Maryland during the awards ceremony of the Fourth Annual Allegheny Individual Events Speech Tournament.

Maryland wins speech tournament

The University of Maryland walked away with the Sweepstakes and Pentathlon events at the Fourth Annual Allegheny Individual Events Tournament held at Frostburg, April 17 and 18. Frostburg did not place in any of the events.

The Sweepstakes trophy, which is awarded to the school which accumulates the highest number of points during the tournament, was won by the University of Maryland which had a score of 178 points. Southern Connecticut State College scored 131 points, while Penn State University (women's) came in third with 115 points.

John Stevens of the University of Maryland won the Pentathlon event by accumulating 82 points which was nearly half of the total points that enabled Maryland to win the Sweepstakes trophy. He defeated his nearest opponent, Dan Shaw of California State College (Long Beach), by over 20 points. However, Mr. Shaw edged third place winner Susan O'Connor (Southern Connecticut State College) by one point. The Pentathlon winner is the individual who scores the most points in the five individual events — extemporaneous, oratory, public address, interpretation, and after dinner speaking.

Although Frostburg did not place in any of the events in the tournament, Mr. H. G. Wilson stated that this was not due to Frostburg's lack of ability but rather that Frostburg had entered only three students in the events. (Most of the speech students were helping to conduct the tournament rather than participating in it.)

The Symphonic Band, under the direction of Robert S. Bianco, will perform a varied program of concert band literature. Featured on the tour program will be Dramatic Essay for Trumpet and Band, with Charles Grab, FSC sophomore music major, as trumpet soloist. The band will be accompanied on tour by Mr. Huot Fisher, Chairman of the Music Department at Frostburg State College.

"Youth for Shriver" will hold a state-wide convention on the campus of the University of Maryland, Tuesday, April 28. The meeting, at which Mr. Shriver will speak, is scheduled to be held in the main ballroom of the student union building from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Frostburg has been invited to send a delegation to the convention. Anyone interested in attending should contact Tom Mullan, campus chairman of Youth for Shriver, in the State-To-Date office.

Editorial comment

Sanford deserves thanks!

Mr. David Sanford, Dean of Admissions and Director of the Summer School has developed a summer school program which will be the most comprehensive ever to be offered at Frostburg State College. State-To-Date regards the plan as the culmination of much work and dedication, and we feel that Mr. Sanford should be congratulated for his efforts.

Summer School, 1970 will offer two day and one night sessions as opposed to the single session which has been offered in the past. The night session will allow local students to attend summer school while at the same time permitting them to hold down summer jobs. Also, two day sessions will enable those who wish to complete almost one full semester of work. By establishing this type of sophisticated summer session, Mr. Sanford has demonstrated a sensitivity to the needs of the area and a concern for the student body. He deserves the appreciation of the student body.

Viewpoint

Politicians use students, -- don't give them votes

By Rocky Krein

S. A. State Affairs Director

"Students are niggers. When you get that straight, our schools begin to make sense. It's more important, though, to understand why they're niggers. . . . And from there we go on to consider whether it might be possible for students to come up from slavery."

This quote is taken from Jerry Farber's article, "The Student as Nigger," which deals with the problem of slavery on a purely educational level. It is unfortunate that we, the students, are second class citizens of much more than the academic community. On March 23, in the Maryland House of Delegates, Senate Bill 128 was defeated by four votes. Amid the efficient sounding numbers and the impressive legislative jargon lay the corpse of the 19 year old vote.

It was suggested, or alibied, later by legislators that the expected close vote was swayed in the eleventh hour by disturbances at the College Park campus of the University of Maryland. The demonstrations at the U. of Md. were a ready made excuse for uncomfortable legislators. I do not believe that Senate Bill 128 would have passed in the House, had there been peace and quiet (law and order) at College Park. Strings were pulled and influence exerted to protect the staid and respectable "powers that be" in Maryland from those uppity nig. . . . I mean irresponsible adolescents.

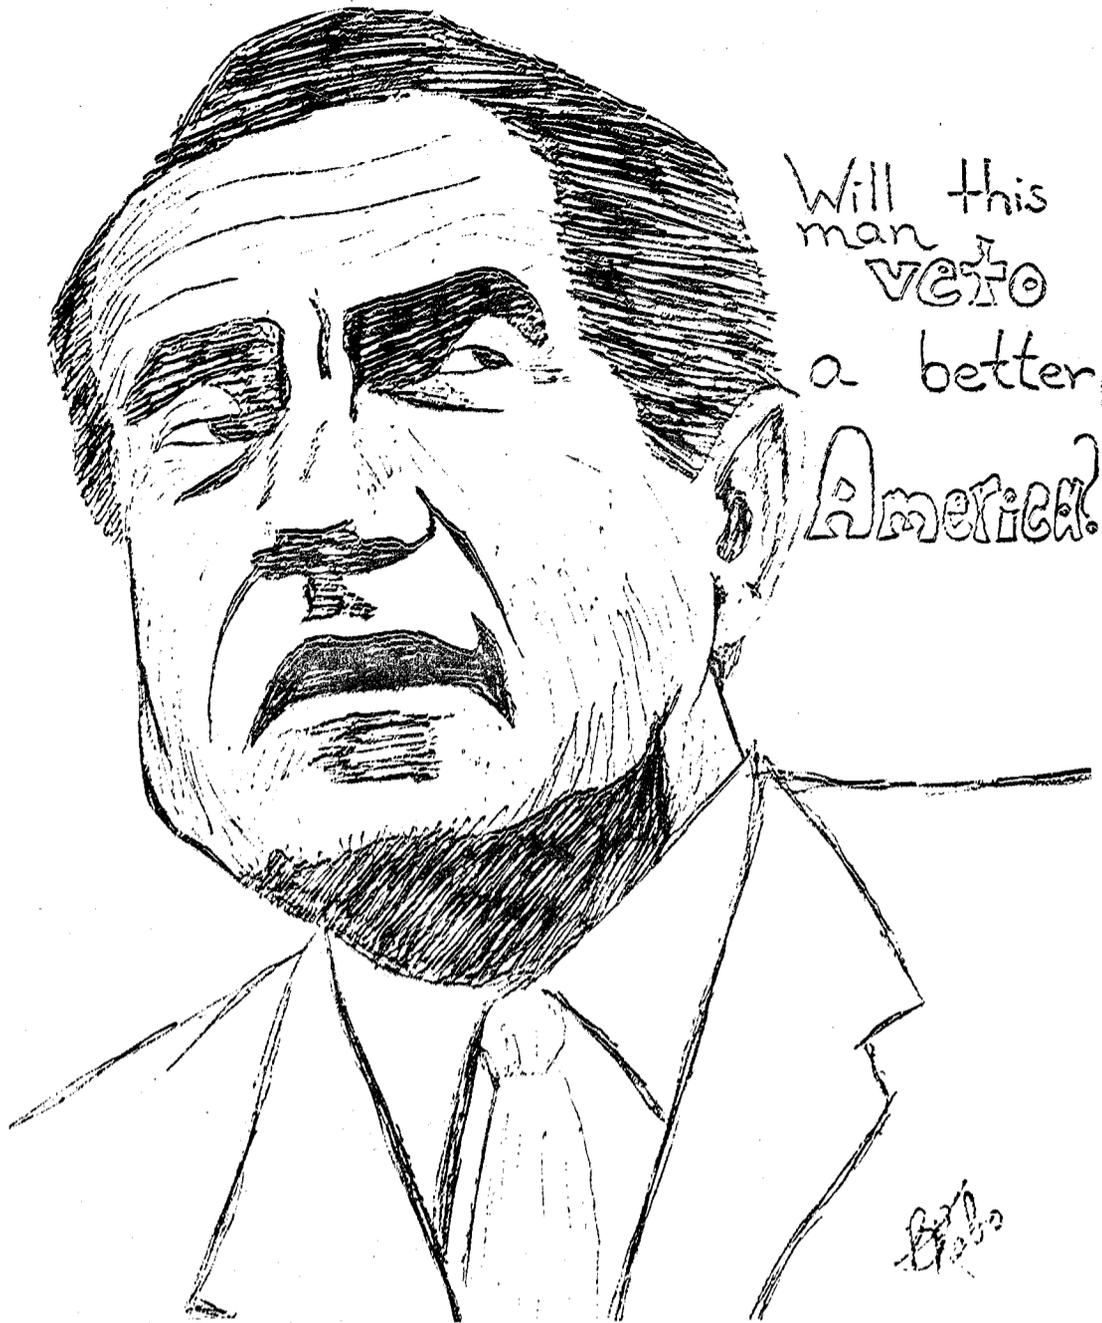

It is odd that when election year (1970 is one-remember that) rolls around, these same people have the habit of relying on "irresponsible adolescents" to do the footwork for their campaigns. They hire us with smiles and tasty bits of promises and when the election is won or lost, they lead us to the back yard and chain us to our old familiar tree.

The point is that we got screwed. When it came down to forcing legislators to make a commitment—t h e y did. Of course, it was the most politically expedient one. There are thousands of college students in Maryland, a good proportion of them are voters, all of them have parents who vote or could vote. In a state the size of Maryland this could represent a sizable interest group. There is more involved here than the death of Senate Bill 128, much more. The administration and elected representatives of this state have gradually turned off to the needs and interests of the students. In the actual roll call vote on Senate Bill 128 will appear. See how your local representative voted, and most important remember it when November rolls around.

The final statement from Farber's article reads, "How do you raise Hell? . . . For a start, why not stay with the analogy? What have black people done? They have first of all, faced the fact of their slavery. They've stopped kidding themselves about an eventual reward in that Great Watermelon Patch in the sky. They're organized; they've decided to get freedom now, and they've started taking it."

You can always get out, dropping out of college for a rebel, is a little like going north for a Negro. You can't really get away from it so you might as well stay and raise some HELL.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir:

At the present time, the Undergraduate Record Exam given to all seniors in Arts and Sciences serves no real purpose. The test is a traditional exercise that forces FSC seniors to endure a battery of tests which tries both nerves and patience. Few seniors see the relevance of these tests, therefore they minimize their importance and the accuracy of the results is questionable. Why do seniors think this particular test is irrelevant?

In doing some research on the above question, two reasons for taking the test were advanced: 1) FSC student results are compared to other college seniors in Maryland and the nation; and 2) the results in the major field tests are relayed to each department to show the areas where improvement is needed.

Regarding the first reason, when we compare FSC results against other Maryland State institutions of higher learning, we will see FSC students rank higher. I think this is due to the fine education received here. But why is not Frostburg drawing quality students from the Baltimore-Washington area? People would want to come to a good educational institution if they knew about it. It seems as though there is a lack of publicity concerning the results of the tests. This lack is realized if you have ever been caught in the position of explaining to the other part of the state where Frostburg is!

Concerning the second reason, let me cite two specific examples as to why I believe the results are questionable, maybe invalid. After taking the History advanced test, I noticed a preponderance of questions on American and European history. This is traditional emphasis! Many history students at Frostburg are concentrating their work on the vital areas of Asia and Latin America. How can this test measure the effectiveness of our history department when Asia and Latin America are overlooked by the test? Secondly, a political science student stated the questions on his major test were very subjective and open to a wide range of interpretation. The political science test also had a great number of questions presenting a behavioral approach and expecting a behavioral answer. Unfortunately if this is the case the developers of the test have interjected their own political biases into the making of this test. I submit the political science test is also invalid for the presented reasons.

There is another reason this test should not be given. Although I do not have figures, this test probably costs much money. This expenditure seems like a tremendous waste after considering my arguments. The money could be used elsewhere!

Finally I would like to commend Dr. VanNewkirk for his excellent administration of the test. However, in view of the arguments presented above, I can see no reason for continuing this traditional exercise. Therefore I urge the Student Government to pass a resolution exempting seniors in Arts and Sciences from taking the Undergraduate Record Exam. I also urge a re-examination of "Sophomore testing" and the NTE tests. Let us stop wasting the time of all those people involved and concentrate our efforts on receiving the best education possible!

Sincerely,
Gerald S. Taylor

Dear Sir:

As a representative of students, a senator should act in the interest of the students who elected him. We know this is his duty, but is it also a part of his job to openly discriminate against an organization applying for a charter because he is not educated.

I have personally found this kind of action taking place among some of our senators here at State. It involved an organization applying for a charter and a few backward, disillusioned senators who are still living in the dark ages. What gives a senator the right to destroy someone else's property.

When a portfolio containing the constitution and aims of the organization is submitted for a charter, where does a senator get the authority to write on this material. His only right is to read it not rewrite it to his liking.

I feel that a senator who allows his personal prejudices to interfere with his work should be removed from office. Another thought is we shouldn't stand back and let fraternities and sororities run our senators.

Fellow students, I say the time for change is now. What are you going to do to put an end to the election of senators who are backed by fraternity and sorority bosses?

Maybe we aren't fraternity or sorority bosses but to put it to

The Brooklyn Bridge will perform two concerts at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. at Frostburg State College on Tuesday, May 5. This event will highlight Spring Week activities.

Brooklyn Bridge spotlighted

By Dominic Silicia

The Brooklyn Bridge is a masterpiece of precision, eleven individuals working together to form a single unit of perfection.

Standing proudly in front is Johnny Maestro, who has one of the most dynamic voices in today's music.

Providing both flarwless harmonic backing and outstanding solo voices are Fred Ferrara, Les Cauchi, and Mike Gregorio. Mike is 22, the others are all 24.

Tom Sullivan, the 23-year-old band leader — arranger — saxophonist, was organizer, guitarist, and lead singer of the first rock-and-roll group in the history of West Point Academy.

The dancable rhythms of the Brooklyn Bridge are created by pretty blond Carolyn Wood on organ; Jimmy Rosica, 21-year-old, on bass; Richie Macioci, 21, guitar; Artie Catamzarata, 19, drums; Shelly Davis, 18, trumpet and piano; and Joe Ruvio, 21 saxophone.

The Brooklyn Bridge provides entertainment for any audience. They play Blue-eyed Soul, Hard Rock, the most progressive of contemporary sound and everything in between.

HELP coming soon; offers aid for youths

Help, Inc! an organization designed to give aid to young people who are in need of legal, medical, or psychiatric assistance, will soon be opened in Cumberland. The group, which originated under the direction of Sherri Winter, a former UCLA and Temple University psychology major, has offices located in several major cities throughout the nation. As of yet, the exact location of the Cumberland HELP office has not been determined, however, a committee of students are working to find accommodations.

John Sullivan, a local attorney, has offered his services to provide the needed legal information, while the organizing group is still searching for volunteers to aid in the medical and psychological problems which will be brought to the volunteer organization. In its final stages, the group hopes to offer information on an around-the-clock basis through student volunteers from Frostburg State, Allegeny Community College, and the local high schools.

Joe Corbin, a member of the founding committee, has stated that a worker from the already functioning Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania HELP center will come to the area to offer assistance in establishing the infant program.

The Pittsburgh branch offers services for hepatitis prevention, abortion cases, drug information, legal aid, and psychological help.

Mr. Corbin said that the operation will be strictly student run with technical advice of professionals in the various fields of aid to be offered. The group hopes to send volunteers to Pittsburgh to observe the activities there and to gain training in the handling of the situations with which they will be confronted.

Those interested in offering assistance should contact: Joe Corbin, room 213 Sowers Hall; Bob Mugge, room 210 Gray Hall; or Bill Thomas, room 119 Sowers Hall.

Education Department initiates new program

By Paulette Henson

In its drive for new directions, the Education Department has initiated a new program aimed at introducing the students to a teaching situation and to the community prior to student teaching. The background for this program started at a P.T.A. meeting at St. Joseph's School, in Midland. Mr. Vigilante, head of the Education Department, addressed this group with a talk on the non-graded school. As a result, the nuns that headed the school expressed a desire to have help in teaching some of their classes. Mr. Vigilante saw the opportunity here to begin the program.

Volunteers from the Social Studies in the Secondary School methods classes were obtained and then assigned to teaching various classes at the St. Joseph's School. The classes that are taught vary from reading, geography, and english, to mathematics. Because it is a non-graded school, most of the classes range in size from two to eight students.

Although the volunteers were taken from a secondary school methods class and are teaching in an elementary school, Miss Murray who teaches the methods class, has expressed the feeling that it is a fine opportunity to get into the classroom and to have real exposure to the children and to a classroom situation.

Mr. Vigilante does not feel that this is necessarily an experimental program, but one geared to introducing the students to a teaching situation and to the community. He expresses many aims for this program. One of the most important is that it enables the student to go out and have some "gut" experiences, then to come back to the classroom and intellectualize their experiences.

So far, the program has proven quite successful. Some of the students involved in this program have expressed the feeling that it has been worthwhile because it has given them a real feeling of the classroom, instead of merely reading and hearing about it in various education courses. One student found that he does not want to teach. Besides the aims expressed by Mr. Vigilante, students found that the program has not only exposed them to the classroom, but it has also confronted them with the many problems that confront the beginning teacher. Also, students are exposed to the non-graded program which is one of the new innovations in many of the schools today.

Wrap-up of gymnastics

By Al Horlbogen

Although the men's gymnastic team at Frostburg did not have a winning season (3-7), many of the gymnasts feel that this season was a very worthwhile and productive one. One of the main reasons for this feeling was the fact that all team members worked toward achieving individual perfection while they were also aware of team unity. Frostburg had previously never won a meet until this season. Coach Surgent attributes the success of this year's gymnastic team to the hard work and team spirit which was present during every practice and meet situation.

Team members who contributed to the success of this year's team were: Vern Griffin who exhibited winning performances on both the parallel bars and side horse, Tom Sanson and Pat Hollern, who demonstrated their all-around ability throughout the season and won various honors in the Floor Exercise, Still Rings and Parallel Bar events, and Van Jacobs, Bob Lowe, Greg Becher, Tom Vogtman, Nelson Ng, Al

Horlbogan, who also won various honors in their specialty.

The women's gymnastic team exhibited their prowess in a lone meet against Glassboro State College. Although they had very little coaching, they worked very hard to produce a representative team and give a fine showing at Glassboro. Members of this year's women's gymnastic team were; Sherry Waltz, Debbie Ryder, Barbara White, Mary Lynn Riddle, Linda Coakley, Jean Habecker, and Karen Bose.

With Parent's Day fast approaching, it is our hope that many members of the student body will come to watch and applaud some of the fine performances which will be exhibited by members of Frostburg State's Gymnastic Team on this day.

Following the exhibition on Parent's Day, the gymnastic team will again begin the long hard season of working and rebuilding to perfect an even better team than this year's team members returning for another year of action. Coach Surgent paign, for the 1970-71 season.

Bobcats win two more, to take six straight

FSC's baseball team upped its record to 11 wins against 6 losses last Saturday with a double-header victory over Madison College, 5-3 and 7-2. Since then the record has changed with a game played Wednesday against California State.

In the first game, lefty John Helmick went the distance striking out seven while giving up five hits and three runs, all unearned. Helmick also helped his cause by going 3-3 at the plate, hitting a single, double and triple. First baseman Steve Cramblitt blasted a home run in adding to the Bobcat's eleven hit total and five runs.

In the second game, FSC out-hit Madison 7-3 in their 7-2 victory. Lefty Keith Voelker picked up the win, hurling 6 innings before senior Jim Daniels took over. Voelker limited the Dukes to only three hits while striking seven and walking one. Supplying the hitting power, shortstop Gary Martin smashed a three run home run in the Cats five run 4th inning. Up until the 4th, Madison was leading 2-0. Also helping the Bobcats to victory were the five errors committed by Madison.

The Bobcats will not have a home game until May 2, against University of Maryland (Baltimore campus).

Lacrosse team wins first game

Three years of hard work, patience and a lot of hard swallowing after eight straight defeats finally paid off last Saturday as Frostburg's Lacrosse Club registered its first win by the score of 8-6 over Mount St. Mary's here.

The victory, coming on the heels of a 21-4 opening defeat by Anne Arundel CC, was particularly satisfying as the Cats off-porous defense shut off a fourth period Mounties rally to preserve the triumph.

The Bobcats took the lead at 1-0 and never trailed, holding a 6-3 halftime advantage. After a scoreless third period, John Bayne creased the net at the 15:36 mark to give Frostburg its biggest edge at 7-3. With penalties making the Cats short handed, Mount St. Mary's was able to charge back within one at 7-6 with 5:31 remaining.

Outstanding defensive efforts by goalie Bob Bennett, Chili Orme, Rocky Krein and Bruce Villwock put a freeze on the visi-

Athletics at FSC, a growing institution?

By Barry Hecker

Life is a continually changing process, and in order for man to survive he must adapt to the changing conditions that comprise his environment. If man fails to evaluate the conditions that surround him, and does not try to make or wish to make progress, he then becomes stagnant, I think this word best describes the athletic program of FSC.

In the three years that I have attended Frostburg I have seen growth and change. Enrollment has increased, the curriculum has been broadened to accommodate the wide range of student interest, new facilities have been built to provide for a better learning environment, and probably best of all we have a new President who is genuinely interested in the student and the growth of the institution. Athletics have also changed at Frostburg, particularly in the areas of competition and attitude. Three years ago if a student wished to participate on a Varsity athletic team he merely had to show up for practice and he was on the team. The teams were not expected to win, the attitude of Dr. Cordts and the whole school seemed to be a negative one of "if we win fine, but if we don't, well at least we tried." It seemed we, and I think the word "we" is appropriate for whether you accept it or not, as a student of FSC anything that happens to the school whether it be a forensics tournament, a symposium, art lecture, or athletic contest is a reflection on you. Well "we" lost more times than we won. Presently, a student can no longer go out for a Varsity team and be assured of a uniform. Through the recruiting efforts of Mr. Crawley, Mr. Gregor, and Mr. Wells, Frostburg's Athletic program has reached a highly competitive level, in which a boy dedicates himself to a particular sport, not only to make himself a winner, but also the school he represents.

I feel most educators would agree that for the maximum development of an individual he should be placed in the best possible learning environment. Here at Frostburg instructors try to give us the best possible reading materials, audio-visual aids, and other learning stimuli. So, why doesn't the athlete deserve the same treatment? Why, must the football team play year after year with no scouting reports or game films; two highly important ingredients of a sound program. I'm positive a math teacher would not attempt to teach math without a blackboard or chalk. Why is there lack of tape and training equipment every year? Why do we have to use a whirlpool that is nothing more than a bubble bath? Why are the shower and gym facilities always filthy and unsanitary? Why do we play with second rate equipment? Why do we have a lack of coaches to instruct?

These and many more questions were to be answered by Dr. Cordts at the athletic discussions meetings we had several months ago. Many of us felt that these meetings would lead to a break through of a beginning of a first class athletic program. Instead, we left those meetings with a feeling of despair and hopelessness for our questions were never answered. The attitude that predominated was one of "I'll have to look into the matter." I think as students and especially athletes we are tired of looking into matters and would like results. To cite an example, it was suggested that a group be formed with Mr. Wells, the chairman, to formulate a list of qualifications for an Athletic Director. The group proceeded to draw up a list only to be told at the meeting that Mr. Crawley had been gradually taking over the duties and would step in full time in the near future. I ask what, what was the sense of having a committee or for that matter a meeting at all?

r. Cordts will listen to us, but no matter what we say or do, he just does as he pleases according to his philosophy of sports, in which I'm still not sure of is if it is his or the NAIA philosophy which he read at the discussions. I do know one thing—his philosophy does not seem to be one of making Frostburg athletic teams into winners for if it was he wouldn't fire people like Coach Gregor, have a football team with no spring practice or home field, try to cut the schedule of a highly successful baseball program, try to dampen the enthusiasm of men who wish lacrosse to become a recognized sport, and many other instances; for all these events lead to stagnations—seems to be where we started.

Frostburg's physical education department was host to a Physical Education Symposium last weekend. The symposium centered around the psychological aspects of physical education and sports.

Golf team record 2-2

Under the coaching of Dr. Tom Baucom, the Bobcat golfers have compiled a 2-2 record thus far this season. The Bobcats won their first match against California State, and then lost the next two to Slippery Rock and previously-beaten California State. In their fourth match of the season they downed Waynesburg College. Members of the team are Captain Dan Williams, Doug Wilson, Bob McVay, Wayne Ridenour, Fred Sloan, John Blank, John Bambacus, Kevin Murphy, Bill Welsh, and Tom Vent. Frostburg will host the 1970 M.I.C. Tournament on April 28 at Cover Valley Golf Course.

tors attack and, with 2:15 to go, middle Dave Hooker slammed in the eighth goal and iced the conquest.

Bayne finished as high scorer with three goals, Shady Lane notched one goal and four assists, Bob Booz netted a pair and Gary Sheppard hit one. Goalie Bennett turned in an excellent game by making 17 saves.

The stickmen wind up their season with Western Maryland College. (Two in a row?)

On Friday, President Guild opened the Symposium, which was followed by a special introductory lecture on "Integrated Development" by Dr. A. A. Ismail of Purdue University. Next on the agenda was the topic, "Physical Activity and the Handicapped Child. Dr. Julian Stein, Consultant A.A.H.P.R.R. Programs for the Handicapped, spoke on the "Psychological Value of Physical Activity for the Handicapped." Following his speech, Dr. Stein demonstrated methods and materials in teaching a group of handicapped children.

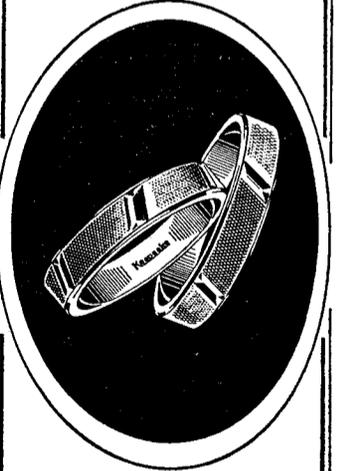

Friday evening, Dr. W. A. Carruth and Dr. Peter A. Wisher, from Galludet College, spoke on the "Expression and Communication" and "Psychological Contribution of Dance to the Adjustment of the Deaf," respectively. Dr. Carruth directed a group of her students from West Virginia University in Dance and Movement Themes. Films were then shown on Movement Education Dance, and Physical Activity for Handicapped Children.

On Saturday, April 18, the Symposium continued with discussions on motor learning and performance. Dr. Michael Sherman from the University of Pittsburgh and Dr. Hane talked about "Motor of Children" and Mr. Leo O'Donnell, from Temple University, spoke about the effects of post-hypnotic suggestion on performance.

In the afternoon the program progressed to the psychology of Coaching. Three speakers took part on this subject.
