Fifty-Five Freshmen Enter Four Year Course

New Four Year Curriculum Brings Increase In Enrollment

On Monday, September 10, 1934, our Eastern Shore school welcomed a large freshman class and the enrollment has increased daily until, at present, fifty-five new members share in our college activities.

Although a great number are from the home county, Wicomico, quite a few have come from various other places, namely:

Montgomery County — Lillian Hough.

Washington County — Ardie Winters, Miriam Beachley.

Charles County — Francis Fletcher, Jerome Fletcher.

Dorchester County — Gwynette Thompson, Margaret Hastings.

Worcester County—Irma Brittingham, Nan Polk Cullen, James Gillis, Marjorie Schoolfield, Willard Stevens, Josephine Warren, Lydia Hasan.

Those from Wicomico are:

STATE BOARD CHANGES LENGTH OF COURSE

B. S. Degree Result Of Extra Year

After serious thought the State Board of Education and the State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Albert S. Cook, finally decided that the time was ripe for a more extensive course for elementary school teachers. This is the final step in a gradually rising standard of elementary school education. Maryland has again taken the lead over her sister states by better developing her teachers' and pupils' mental powers.

Five years ago a two-year course was thought sufficient for an elementary school teacher. Then following a set of examinations and investigations, the State School Board thought it in the interest of the people of Maryland to increase the teacher's training to three years of post high school training.

This plan was followed successfully for four years. The teachers were better trained; they were of more use to state, and were graduating classes with higher intelligence quotas. But the maximum had not yet been reached, and after serious thought the final step was taken. Early last spring the order was given to the three normal school principals (Continued on page 3, col. 4)

ALL SAINTS DAY FETE HELD NEXT WEEK

The annual Hallowe'en party will be held in the school gymnasium on the evening of October 31 at 7 P.M. All students have been invited to attend in costume. Prizes will be given for the best, the funniest, and the most original costumes.

The gymnasium is to be decorated with sheaves of dried grass, corn shocks, autumn leaves, pictures of witches and cats, large pasteboard cats with yawning mouths and raised tails, jack-o'-lanterns, and festoons of corn with the husks turned back to show the ears.

At 9:00 P.M. sharp there will be a march to the dining room where refreshments will be served.

The committees in charge of the party are:

Game: E. Horner (chairman), M. White, L. Parker, C. Horsey.

Decoration: Frances Robinson (chairman), Eileen Hales, Anne Greene, Ellen Greig, Dorothy Wise.

Refreshment: Anna Baden (chairman), Helen Tyler, M. White, Madalyn Carey, Charlotte Powell.

Prize: Elizabeth Tawes (chairman), Ruth Todd, Helen Smith, Mildred Dixon, Betsy Owens.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS COMPLETE ELECTIONS

Miss Virginia Haddaway Leads Senior Group

November 6 is election day. Yet practically everyday for the last two weeks has been election day at S.T.C.

Due to the fact that Eunice Lee Harcum, who was elected president of the senior class last spring, transferred to Ithaca, N. Y., where she is studying music, Virginia Haddaway has been selected to act as the chief executive of the class of '35. Assisting here are: Ethel Potts, vice-president; Frances Robinson, secretary; Dorothy Cherbonnier, treasurer.

FORMER EDITOR ENTERS JOURNALISM

Miss Imogene Caruthers, class of '34, and former editor of the Holly Leaf and Evergreen, is now on the staff of The American Republic at Poplar Bluff, Missouri. Since she started her career on a public newspaper, she has been a reporter, Society, and Food Editor. During her term of being reporter, she covered the Butler County Fair, and narrated the events for her paper. She now has charge of the department of education, apart from her editorship.

When Miss Caruthers first accepted the position in July, she intended to remain on the paper during the summer months only, but she found herself so engrossed in her duties at the end of that time that she has decided to stay indefinitely.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS POST LEAVES AFTER ALTERCATION WITH STATE SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. T. J. Caruthers Made Acting Principal Of Normal School

Dr. William J. Holloway resigned as principal of the Salisbury State Normal School yesterday following a meeting of the State Board of Education "to consider alleged irregularities in the management of the school."

In presenting his resignation, Dr. Holloway said:

"After discussing with your honorable body the report of the State Auditor on his examination of the books and records of the . . . school from 1925 to 1934, I feel that the board of trustees has lost confidence in my ability to conduct its business affairs according to acceptable standards."

"Since I have always felt that the welfare of the school is paramount to that of any one individual, I beg leave, for the good of the school, to tender my resignation to take effect immediately."

The members of the board, who also constitute the school's trustees, accepted the resignation and announced that T. J. Caruthers, head of the institution's teacher-training department, "will continue as acting principal until the board elects another principal."

DR. EDNA M. MARSHALL LOAN FUND PLANNED

Deserving Students Will Be Benefited

The class of 1935 has already begun to design the memorial that it will leave among the gifts of our Alma Mater. This memorial is quite different from the numerous gifts bequeathed by out-going classes of years past. It is neither seen nor heard, but it is felt. It is a memorial loan fund in honor of Dr. Edna M. Marshall, the first advisor of the present senior class.

In memory of her services and capacity as an advisor, the Seniors propose to dedicate to her honor and memory a loan fund that will enable deserving students to obtain part tuition, at least, in their educational career at this Teachers College. Were Dr. Marshall here, she herself would no doubt sanction the enterprise for she was aided by such a loan fund in her college life.

To those who may be interested and those who wish to endow a worthy cause the seniors of '35 look anxiously and hopefully for support. Certainly in the memory and appreciation of a life that was once so rich and beneficial to the community about us, and whose guiding star still lights warmly our path, those who knew Dr. Marshall should eagerly support the proposed Edna M. Marshall Memorial Loan Fund sponsored by the senior class.

OUR WISE CHILDREN

SOCCER TEAM SCORES VICTORY

Teachers College again makes good in a hard fought battle against the Berlin soccer team. After a hard fought scrimmage which lasted the better part of the first half, the Berlin boys succeeded in making a penalty point. At the end of the first half the score still remained one to nothing in their favor, but at the beginning of the second half, our boys started an aggressive drive toward their goal. Time after time the ball went sailing between the posts, but too high to count. Both teams were playing fast, and at the end of the third quarter neither side had scored. As soon as the whistle blew for the beginning of the last quarter, the action began, up and down the field the ball went, pursued by hard breathing, fast running players. Spills and falls were numerous, but the boys always got up and went back for more. The time limit was getting shorter, and it looked as if Berlin might win on its point, but with one minute left to play, Ardie Winters pulled the ball out of a general scrimmage in front of the enemy's goal, and sent it through for the winning score.

PEP AND MICKEY AGAIN FIGHT FOR MEMBERS

Suspense Reigns As Freshmen Draw For Societies

The very air was filled with excitement and mystery when fifty-three verdant freshmen at the Salisbury State Teachers College strolled in the school's immense auditorium on Friday, October 5, to have the matter of their society membership settled once and for always.

Exhilarating, vigorous cheers from the two well known enthusiastic societies, the "Baglean" and the "Carnean," proved that each organization was "out" to bag a goodly number of new members. However, as has always been the custom of the school it was just mere chance that decided the victories when each new student drew for "Baglean" or "Carnean" (Continued on page 4, col. 2)

WICOMICO ALUMNI ORGANIZE

A meeting of the Wicomico County members of the Alumni Association was held at their Alma Mater on Friday, September 28, 1934, at 7:30 P.M. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Charles Hayman, president of the Alumni Association.

During the course of the meeting, it was moved that the county in which the school is located, namely Wicomico County, should organize a chapter. The motion was carried.

This new organization then elected the following officers:

President, Miss Margaret Tilghman. Vice-President, Mrs. Emma Marks. Secretary, Mrs. Floyd Cooper. Treasurer, Mrs. Woodland Bounds.

Alumni Dinner Served; Interesting Program Held; Entire School Participates

Saturday, October 20 brought alumni from all parts of Maryland back to Alma Mater. For the first time many realized the full significance of the fact that they were no longer returning to the Salisbury Normal School, but rather to the Salisbury State Teachers College. Throughout the entire day former students were met by present-day students and directed to "places of interest." Those who had not returned home for two years or more saw for the first time the new wing which was opened in 1932. It surpassed in beauty, they agreed, their highest expectations.

Mrs. Charles Hayman, president of the Alumni Association, presided at the business meeting in the afternoon. Among the important matters of business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. Plans for the year's work were made and discussed.

A highlight of the program of the afternoon was a speech by Mr. Denmead Kolb who is manager of the Salisbury office of Swift and Company.

At five thirty a student-faculty dinner was served in the dining hall. Faculty members and prominent guests were greeted throughout the dinner. Familiar songs to all S.N.S.'ers were sung and enjoyed by all.

Following the dinner the evening was spent in songs, dancing and conversation. "Mickey" and "Pep", mascots of the literary societies of which all students are forever members, were in prominence.

"Good-nights" and "good-byes" brought to a close another home-coming and members of the Alumni Association went to their homes with high hopes of coming back in the spring.

GRADUATES, CLASS OF '34, RECEIVE POSITIONS

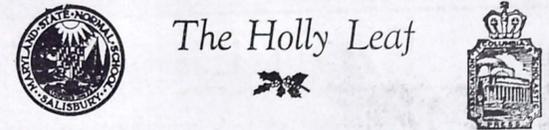

Large Percentage of Class Given Schools In State

Although the class of '34 was the first to graduate from the third year course, a large percentage of these graduates have received schools. Twenty-six of the fifty-seven students in the graduating class have received teaching positions.

Below is a list of the graduates who received positions and the county in which their school is located.

OCTOBER, 1934

HAIL FRESHMEN

Freshmen, we welcome you. You are now entering a school which has been growing steadily since its inception nine years ago.

You are entering under our banner; soon you will have to carry it. Now is the time to prepare. Come Freshmen, we welcome you, the recruits, who soon will be the victorious leaders of our beloved Alma Mater.

ADJUSTMENT

"Can you take it?" At first appearance one would call that idiom "slang," sometimes a challenge, but to those who would make the best in life the statement is a challenge.

Today we live in a world whose paces whirl us about until we forget we are human beings and assume the aspects of machines, grinding speeding, every step in high gear.

MEMORIAL LOAN FUND PROPOSED

The life of a former teacher, Dr. Edna M. Marshall, has proved an inspiration for a gift from the class of '35 to Alma Mater.

It is seldom that one lives a life so devoted to her profession as did Dr. Marshall. Busy as she was, she was ever willing to give assistance to those who were in need of it.

Those who have known Miss Marshall need no monument to keep her memory alive. Yet those who loved her most feel that a memorial in her honor is most fitting.

POINTS OF VIEW

Dear Editor, I find this the best possible way to express the popular opinion of our student body. We have talked the matter over in our bedrooms, in the dining room, on the campus, and on our way to town.

We have known him since our first day here. In all things we have found him capable and efficient. He is not only an able leader, but he is one who understands youth and its troubles.

EMILY HORNER, Pres. of the Student Council.

Dear Editor,

Perhaps you have noticed some of the new signs, that are distributed along our school highways and byways.

Leslie Purnell's dog is a welcome addition to the Bagleams, for they now have a real, live mascot. He seems to know it, for he graces the campus with his masculine virility.

Tennis tournaments come and go, but victors remain forever. We saw some of the matches, and they certainly were well played.

Bobby Adkins is quite the soccer player. Though not the only good one, he certainly adds color to this exciting game. How does the knee feel, Bobby?

Paul Revere would get on his horse and gallop if he were here, for haven't we seen red lanterns... One on the flagpole, and two by the gates?

THIS GAME CALLED TEACHING

It is difficult for students who are beginning to train for a teaching vocation to adjust themselves to new situations. It is not easy to keep a straight face when the child recites the story of Father Rabbit.

I dare you to be brave. Show the world that you are no coward, but you are willing to fight for your country through thick and thin.

I DARE YOU

I dare you to be brave. Show the world that you are no coward, but you are willing to fight for your country through thick and thin. The school needs you, now. It is up to each and every one of you to get work and down old man depression.

WHAT? THEY TEACH THAT HERE?

Freshman: "What's cursive writing?" Another freshman: "It must be swearing."

A DREAD FEELING EXPOSED

In the days when the Maryland State Normal School was yet in an embryonic stage, my personal allusions to the school were quite infrequent. When a genuine pessimist, who is continually putting the damper on things, builds up for one an impression of disgust and hatred, is it any wonder that one's ideas concerning that Maryland Institution should develop into something drab and morbid?

STICKERS

By now most of us have settled down to the old grind, and can find time off to think about our friends, the "stately seniors" of last year.

The addition of twenty odd boys (I mean twenty odd, and not odd boys) certainly has added an air of masculinity around the old campus as we witness the falling of buckets of water, hard playing soccer teams, and deep voices in the glee club.

We hear that Myron Messick is setting a record for graduations—also for attending all of Maryland's Teachers Colleges.

We are certainly proud of our freshman class, for in addition to their large numbers, we have found them to be good scholars, good athletes, and good sports.

Leslie Purnell's dog is a welcome addition to the Bagleams, for they now have a real, live mascot. He seems to know it, for he graces the campus with his masculine virility.

Tennis tournaments come and go, but victors remain forever. We saw some of the matches, and they certainly were well played. Hail conquerors!

Bobby Adkins is quite the soccer player. Though not the only good one, he certainly adds color to this exciting game. How does the knee feel, Bobby?

Paul Revere would get on his horse and gallop if he were here, for haven't we seen red lanterns... One on the flagpole, and two by the gates?

THE BARRETT'S OF WIMPOLE STREET

Last week at the Arcade Theatre in Salisbury, the "Barretts of Wimpole Street" was presented on the screen. The play by Rudolph Besmer from which the picture was taken played on Broadway for many months.

The characters on the screen were represented by very able talent. Norma Shearer portrayed the life of the invalid, Elizabeth Barrett. Robert Browning, the poet and lover of Elizabeth, was present in the person of Frederic March. Much credit should be given to Miss Shearer for following in the footsteps of Katherine Cornell, who played the part of Elizabeth Barrett on the stage with so much success.

Elizabeth Barrett was respected highly by everyone, and especially by her dog, Flush, who played a prominent part in her life. Flush may be used as an example of good discipline because he did everything he was told to do, and especially did he carry out the commands of Elizabeth's father. The movie showed very well the routine of life which Flush followed. The character, Flush, was played by Flush, himself.

Though little has been said in this article about Mr. Browning, he was outstanding. Of course we know him through his poetry but his life was quite as interesting.

The Messrs. Bill Williams, Ardie Winters, Wade Caruthers, Sam Sherrill, and Norris Bachtell spent the past week end on the western shore.

We suggest that some of the students in the dormitory apply for positions as Interior Decorators. For reference they might have their employer see Salome Somers.

CHANGES IN FACULTY MADE FOR SCHOOL YEAR OF '34-'35

One of the most outstanding changes which awaited the student body this year was a faculty change in the Arts department. Miss Henrietta Purnell has been appointed instructor in Industrial Arts due to the resignation of Miss Dorothy E. Mitchell.

It is interesting to know that Miss Purnell was a student under the late Dr. Edna M. Marshall when she attended the Frostburg Normal School. Dr. Marshall was closely connected with this school from its founding until her death and the fact that Miss Purnell studied under her brings her closer to us.

Mr. Benn Maggs, men's athletic instructor and conductor of the orchestra, has had the seventh grade entrusted to his care this year.

ON AND OFF THE CAMPUS

We would like to say for those resident students who wish to elope unseen, that they avoid all traceable evidence so as to relieve a number of the students who anxiously await their return.

Mrs. Margaret E. Ross was a visitor to Baltimore on the week end of October 5. While there she attended The Lawrence Tibbett Concert and received an autographed program from him.

Miss Virginia Harwood motored to Baltimore for the week end recently. While there she purchased a new pair of "specs"—"the better to see you with my dear!"

Three graduates of 1934 returned to their Alma Mater for the week end of October 12. They were Misses Sarah Collins, Gladys Perdue and Viola Jones.

The Messrs. Bill Williams, Ardie Winters, Wade Caruthers, Sam Sherrill, and Norris Bachtell spent the past week end on the western shore.

We suggest that some of the students in the dormitory apply for positions as Interior Decorators. For reference they might have their employer see Salome Somers.

Miss Adeline Pratt, the Maryland State Librarian, spent a part of the past week at Salisbury State Teachers College.

A picture of this type is not an everyday occurrence. We as students, should make every effort to see pictures as fine as "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

THE DAY BEFORE

It was an ordinary night—neither too cold nor too hot, but there was a great deal of excitement in one of those little rooms near the library.

Why! Because it was the great night, for the "Holly Leaf" staff. The only night each month, when feverish preparations and headache medicines were in evidence in the paper littered cubby hole.

Mr. Benn Maggs, men's athletic instructor and conductor of the orchestra, has had the seventh grade entrusted to his care this year.

Soccer

Soccer, soccer for your school, No more swimming in a pool, Try your best to make a goal, Use your head and use your soul.

OFFICES FILLED

Clotilde Drechsler has been elected vice-president of the Student Council and Charlotte Powell has been given the office of secretary. Mr. T. J. Caruthers was elected treasurer.

Ann Elizabeth Greene has been elected president of the Dramatic Club due to the absence of Ernestine Gardner who was elected to that position last year.

Of particular interest to all students are the officers of the societies. Ellen Greig has been elected vice-president of the Carneys while Helen Smith is serving in that capacity for the Bagleams. Carolyn Evans and Inez

SEVENTH GRADE NOTES

Contest

About this time every year the Salisbury Service Society makes a schedule of contests. Soon we are going to begin. The first of November the fifth, sixth and seventh grades of the Elementary School are going to put on three plays.

What I Call Good Fishing

It was 4 o'clock when we left to go fishing. It was four-thirty when we were in the boat and on our way to the fishing grounds. I was the first one to throw my line over.

Autumn

When the flowers of the summer begin to disappear, And the frosty autumn morning begins a bright new year, When the tall and shady willow swings in the autumn breeze,

Soccer Victories

The boys of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades must be getting good. It happens that they won in every soccer game this year. They seem to like playing with the Upton and Chestnut Street schoolboys, maybe because they have won every game.

Our Library

We are making something. It is a library. We are rearranging the back of the room. There are chairs, a table, books, flowers and an easel.

The Spruce Pine

The spruce pine is an evergreen tree that grows in our woods and yards. It is an ornamental tree. The needles are short, flat, and dark green in color.

Welcome In The Doormat

This year we welcome to our school seven new fifth and sixth grade pupils. They are Jean Weir, Juanita

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADE NOTES

Cottage Cheese

Miss Dixon and some girls made some cottage cheese. It was very thin and sour. Anne Holt likes cheese so she decided to taste it.

Playing Election

The fifth and sixth grades are taking an interest in the coming November election. The regular election will be held November 6, but since we have a holiday then, we shall hold our election November 5.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Who is the new king of Jugoslavia? 2. What does extradition mean? 3. Why did the Hungarian miners strike? 4. Why is it important for milk distributing companies to work under license?

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADE NOTES

A Riddle

I am purplish red. My sisters are pink and my brothers are white. I have eight petals. My leaves look like a fern. My stem is slender. I am tall.

A Riddle

I am orange. My brothers are yellow. My sisters are red. I have five petals. My spur is full of honey. My leaf looks like a little parasol. My stem is brittle. I am short. My cousins can climb. What am I?

Mary Anne Blokom

Mary Anne Blokom of the seventh grade has been chosen to aid the publication's staff by taking charge of the Normal Elementary School contributions to the Holly Leaf.

Bright October

October is the prettiest month of all the year. It dresses its trees in golden, red, and brown costumes. Bright red apples, pumpkins help make this month colorful, too.

The Cause of The Trojan War

Paris, the son of the king of Troy, had been asked to decide which of three goddesses was the most beautiful. The three goddesses were Juno, Athena and Venus.

Mr. Richardson

Mr. Richardson took us in the bus to Mr. Dulaney's canning factory. They were canning sweet potatoes. They used machines and people to do the work.

Mr. Greig

Mr. Greig has been elected vice-president of the Home Association. Helen Tyler and Nan Cullen are serving as secretary and treasurer of that organization.

Athletic Association

Athletic Association officers are: vice-president, Carmedah Fleetwood; secretary, Margaret Austin; treasurer, William G. Day.

SCHOOL CARS FIND NEW HOME

Gradually the Teachers College is growing, not only in membership, but in new improvements which add to the convenience as well as to the beauty of the school. Recently, a garage, which can accommodate the bus, school cars, trucks and other mechanical equipment, has been added to the campus. However, the student cars are too numerous to be housed in this new building.

EXTENSION COURSES OFFERED; MANY ENTER AS STUDENTS

Extension courses, which were inaugurated last year, were started again on October 10. This year, as last, a goodly number of town people who are interested in furthering their education have enrolled for various courses which are being offered.

Mr. T. J. Caruthers is offering a course in Educational Psychology. Mr. Benn Maggs and Mr. Caruthers, working cooperatively are teaching Science. Mrs. Marvin Thomas is leading an interested group in History, The Development of American Democracy in the United States. The course in College Grammar is under the instruction of Miss Anne H. Matthews.

The extension courses not only benefit those who will enroll as students, but also bring the Salisbury Teachers College to the front as a large factor in the promotion of education on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Several other members of the Alumni Association sent their names in as being interested but due to other engagements could not attend the meeting.

It was then decided that this organization should be chiefly for social and professional purposes.

THE SOUL OF MARYLAND

"The Soul of Maryland," Baltimore's contribution to Maryland's celebration of her three hundred years of eminent history, seems to be the grand climax of all that could make a noble reminiscence of times past.

Eastern Shoremen beamed with pride when the State Normal School at Salisbury opened the celebrative season in the spring with "Maryland, Pages From Her History." Marylanders gazed with rapt attention at the elaborate and dramatic scenes portrayed in pageantry at St. Mary's City during the early summer. Then the grand climax came in October when Baltimore did her part in offering "The Soul of Maryland."

Some might have thought that the torrential rain on the first scheduled nights would have blighted the interest and enthusiasm of Marylanders, but not so. Loyalty increased, and the two performances were brilliantly produced with more than three thousand in the crowd.

Matthew Page Andrews, well known to many of us, for his elaborately written books on Maryland history, was the chief historian for the pageant. Under Mr. Andrews was an able committee who enlisted the services of several thousand Marylanders, including not only the cast, but many others. Every county had a duchess, one of Salisbury's most beautiful girls being chosen for that honor. Representing Caroline County in the pageant was a former member of the faculty of the Normal School, Mrs. J. Kemp Stevens, from Denton.

The pageant itself was a very elaborate affair, staged on a huge platform in the stadium. All types of intricate lighting systems were devised for purposes of adequately illuminating the historic panorama. Admission fees covered pageant production.

With beautifully written history, an elaborate and dramatic production and co-operative Maryland loyalty, "The Soul of Maryland" pleasantly closed the Tercentenary season.

It so happened that two advanced students, Mrs. Mae Taylor and Miss Roberta Butler drew Carnean slips.

ART EXHIBITION HELD

The most recent local stimulant of interest which has inspired great praise from the student and faculty bodies of our school has been an exhibition of art held in the library of the institution.

The exhibition, impressive and educational, was made possible by the kindness of its owner and creator, Miss Florence Mason of Salisbury, Maryland. A triumph of beauty, it was a collection of mounted paintings, ranging in rank from "eye catches" and magazine covers to the famous paintings of the world. "A View of the Seine" by Home D. Martin, Michael Angelo's "Holy Family", "Las Meninas", by Valazquez, and the ever memorable "Portrait of My Mother" by Whistler were all represented.

An art exhibition can accomplish many things; this one has not only afforded enjoyment for those who saw it, but it has served the great purpose of forwarding the movement for our collection of works of art.

OVERHEARD AT HOMECOMING (Excuse Us For Eavesdropping.)

"Well, have you heard the latest news? Did you know Esther Collins? Well, she decided that teaching school isn't as much fun as keeping house for Mr. Hollis A. Riffin. You'd better call her Mrs. Riffin now."

"How you do talk! I know ten others of our former classmates, who have walked up the aisle."

"You don't say? Who could they be? Well, you remember Mary Catherine White? She married Mr. George Edwin Burnet, and Frances Insley married Levin R. Wilson; Pauline Downing married Leonard Waskey. Let me see, I think Rose Kelly married a Mr. Robins, I believe it was William Robins. I just can't remember who Thelma Lusby married, but I know she did get married! Oh, yes! You certainly remember Marion Thompson, well, she met a very nice man named Robert Matthews, and you might know the result. Mary Pritchett also lost her head over a man named Powelley, I believe."

"My, you certainly must have kept tabs on every one of those girls!"

"Oh, yes! I just received a letter from Hazel McDowell saying that Isabel had married Jimmie Hampton and she herself had picked on Frederick Wilkins. And Agnes Golt, not to be outdone by the others, married but wasn't kind enough to let me know whom she married."

"Well, well, what a juicy bit of news! What I have to say isn't much but you might like to know that Alice Mae Colbourne is principal of the Princess Anne Elementary School, that John Lord is principal of the Perryville Elementary School, and that Betty Holloway is teaching in a private school at Wildcliff College, Swarthmore, Pa."

"Well, so glad to have met you, I have to hurry home and wash some dishes. (MY, my, how time does fly.)"

ATHLETIC NOTES

The State Teachers College Soccer team went down to defeat when it met Pittsville on the latter's home field Thursday afternoon. It was the first out-of-town game for the college team.

The game was called at 3:30 with the same lineup of previous games. During the early part of the first half the college team played nicely, keeping the ball well into the opponent's territory and it looked as if they might score. The high school team, however, succeeded in driving the ball down and scoring. After this, the college team seemed demoralized and the opponents scored on them once more. The half ended 4 to 0.

In the next half the college team was scored on once more bringing the final score of 6 to 0.

In the days before the next game Coach Maggs is expecting to put the team through strenuous practice in an attempt to develop the teamwork and skill in which Thursday's game proved lacking.

The lineup was as follows:
 Goal Jerome Fletcher
 R. Full Back Henry de Fries
 L. Full Back Bob Elderdice
 R. Half Back Bill Day
 L. Half Back Bill Williams
 C. Half Back James Gillis
 L. Wing Max Hughes
 R. Wing Bob Atkins
 C. Forward Ardie Winters
 R. Inside Billy Day
 L. Inside Bob Smith

A men's and women's tennis tournament was started last week. It was not a society contest and will not affect the points of the societies. William M. Day came out on top in the men's, defeating Raymond Dixon 6-3, 6-0; and Leslie Purnell won the women's by defeating Frances Robinson. The runners-up in the men's were Henry White, Robert Elderdice, and Arthur Williams. In the women's tournament Tessie Wier and Louise Langrell came near the top.

CALENDAR OF ASSEMBLIES

On September 25, 1934, the first assembly of the year was held in the Auditorium. This meeting consisted of announcements, the singing of familiar songs, and the giving of yells, in which everyone participated. They not only proved to be very striking and stirring, but helped in arousing the school spirit of each and every student.

The second assembly was held on October 2, opening with special music under the direction of Mrs. Ross, then the guest speaker, Mr. Fulton Allen of Salisbury, a botanist, was introduced. Mr. Allen spoke to us concerning wild plants, especially flowers which grow in this vicinity. In discussing their classification he gave us an idea as to their relations and usefulness. He illustrated his talk with a diagram and with the flowers. While Mr. Allen's address was most interesting, it was also beneficial.

On October 9, another assembly was held. Under the leadership of Mrs. Ross, our music instructor, the time was spent in the singing of familiar songs.

In the assembly held on October 16, we had the pleasure of having with us the Reverend Mr. Green, pastor of Bethesda M. P. Church, Salisbury. Mr. Green gave us an address on "Splendor of the Best," which was well worth the time spent. It seemed that his talk came at the proper time, since the freshmen were discussing many of these points in one of their classes.

As yet the programs for the future have not been planned, but let us look forward to them, for they will be both entertaining and educational.
