

Factors Influencing Game Transportation

Since school spirit has hit a new peak at STC, the students are more and more anxious to attend our activities and to take part in them when home games are scheduled, students are permitted to leave class in time to cheer the Gulls. However, the question of school transportation to games away from home has arisen. Why can't the students borrow the school bus or carry-all to go view these games? An interview with Dr. Blackwell revealed several factors which must be considered. First of all, the state does not provide money for this. Even upon request from the college president, no money would be set aside for this purpose.

Second, our facilities for transporting students are not great enough to take all who might wish to go. Who would hand-pick the 25 or 30 students who might go? Some one would have to be left. Third and last, but perhaps most important, is safety. Probably the average student would say that surely nothing could happen to us, but many times it has in other areas.

The faculty realizes that students like to back their team and they are all for our growing school spirits, but let's make the best of what we are given. We can yell at home and when our team is away, we can keep our team spirit, even though we can't go.

Freshmen Hold Elections

On Thursday, October 8, the Freshman class held its elections in the auditorium. The group, led by SGA president, Bill Horner, nominated many worthy people for each of the five offices and then voted by secret ballot.

David Meredith won the support of the class to become president, and Nancy Laws was elected vice-president. The positions of secretary and treasurer were filled by Helen Reese and Sally North, respectively. Carroll Gladdin was elected as the representative to the Social Committee and Mr. A. L. Fleming was chosen as the class sponsor.

This was the class's first meeting as a group this year, but the elections ran swiftly and smoothly. Capable leaders have been chosen, high spirits abide, and now the Frosh are ready to work for STC.

Ghosts and Spooks To Appear October 31

If you like to wear old clothes or a masquerade costume, relax completely, and just enjoy yourself; why not come to the Halloween party sponsored by the FTA. Everyone complains about not having any week-end activities, so why not show your enthusiasm by attending.

The party is to be held in the snack bar from 9 to 12 on Satur-

Glee Club Announces Program

The Glee Club again this year has many new voices, most of which are freshmen. This choral group is under the able direction of Dr. Jessie Fleming and is accompanied by Mr. David Kidder, pianist at Asbury Methodist Church here in Salisbury.

Dr. Fleming is making plans for a freshman ensemble and, of course, the double octet will continue to make performances.

A small mixed ensemble will sing for the Cambridge Women's Club on December 4. On December 7 the Glee Club has been asked to sing at the Court House. They have a tentative engagement at Maryland State for December 9. On the evening of the same day they will entertain the Junior Women's Club of Wicomico County. They will go caroling at the Parsons' Home and at Deer's Head sometime during the Christmas season. And last, but certainly not least, there will be the regular Christmas activities here at college for which they will perform—the assembly and the candle lighting service.

Making its appearance for the first time this year at the Homecoming Dinner was a new musical unit. The girls who made up the group were Shirley Young, Pat Morgan, Mozelle Pardew, Anne Thorne, Carolyn Bundick, Carolyn Leister, Janet Hoffman, Betty Lou Townsend, Frances Johnson, June Bennett, Janice Watson, Joan Green, Joyce Matthews, and Joie Bounds.

The Glee Club has a big year ahead of them and we know it will be a successful one. Good luck to all of you!

Newman Club Starts Second Year

The Newman Club is a Catholic Organization open to any member of the student body. This organization, under the direction of Father Power, holds panels, round table discussion groups, and lectures on topics such as The Mass, the Reformation, the Sacraments, Marriage, and others as understood from a Catholic viewpoint.

The meetings are held in room 3 at 8 P.M. the first and third Wednesdays of every month.

The club is also interested in the social angle, too, and plans to hold two social events throughout the year.

We welcome and plan to see many members on the roll of this organization.

day, October 31. There will be dancing, entertainment, and of course, refreshments.

If you have a date, bring him or her along, if not, come stag; there will be fun for all. Remember, "the more, the merrier!"

Parents of Frosh to be Honored November 6

Miss Shirley Young, Soccer Queen, receives award from Al Younger.

Once again the time has come for STC to honor the parents of the members of our Freshman class. This year the Freshman-Parent-Faculty Banquet is scheduled for Friday, November 6th. It is felt that by this time, which is the end of the first quarter, a more definite evaluation of general adjustment to college life may be made.

At the beginning of this term, each freshman was assigned a faculty advisor. These advisors will be on hand before dinner to welcome the parents and to talk to them.

The banquet is the 17th annual dinner of its type to be held at STC. The idea was inaugurated in 1936 by Dr. J. D. Blackwell. Parents of the freshman are to help make up the program.

The Invocation will be offered by the Rev. Louis C. Randall of Pocomoke City, Md. Toastmaster will be Mr. A. L. Fleming, advisor to the freshman class. Following the dinner, a welcome will be extended by Dr. Blackwell, who will in turn introduce the freshman president, David Meredith. A number of musical selections will be offered by members of the class, led by Dr. Jessie L. Fleming.

The speaker for the evening will be Mr. Joseph A. Hunter, President of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers. His topic is "What Parents Expect of Freshman and STC." Following the address, the STC quartet will sing the Alma Mater.

The president has urged all parents to take this opportunity to visit the school and to participate in its program.

Shirley Young Honored as Soccer Queen at First Snack Bar Show

Honoring the STC soccer team, the first Snack Bar Show of the year got under way on October 13, 1953, with Al Moran as M. C. Divided into two parts, the program made a delightful evening's entertainment for the students who crowded into the snack bar at 8 P.M. The first half of the program started off "with a bang" as the cheerleaders came on the floor for team yells, and then members of the team were applauded. The high point of the first part of the program came when Coach Ben Maggs announced Shirley Young as the Queen of the Soccer Team. Shirley was presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers by Al Younger, the captain of the team.

After a short period of dancing, Joan Hunter, a freshman with a beautiful contralto voice, sang "Too Young." Forrest Lees rendered two songs, "With These Hands" and "You belong to Me." Following this, four young ladies with quite a bit of talent along the novelty line, June Thorne, Barbara Blades, Becky Flurer, and Cecelia Cochran, presented a catchy little tune, "When We Were Younger." Eleanor Pirk, also a freshman, performed several selections on her accordion. The program was closed by Jimmy Shockley, who sang two popular songs, "Because You're Mine" and "I Believe."

After the program ended, there was dancing until 11:00 P.M. when the show, sponsored by the Sophanes Players was ended.

Orchids To:

Shirley Young for being chosen Soccer Queen. . . The Soccer Team for their terrific games. . . The Sophanes Players for the Snack Bar Show. . . The Student Body for participating so willingly in Homecoming.

Alumni and Student Succeed! Homecoming Huge Success

To those students who have seen "Homecoming" at STC in past years, this season's was an outstanding example of what can happen in years to come. Never before has there been such enthusiasm shown over this time of mingling between students and alumni.

What was the reason for the change? It was the cooperation and hard work of such people as Mrs. Cooper, the Recording Secretary of the Alumni Association, and students such as Peggy Richards, James Hastings, and all of the members of our SGA. Dr. Blackwell should never worry again that enough students will not sponsor the "Homecoming" activities.

Friday night the school was the backdrop for a host of old faces and voices of its former students, returning once again to their beloved Alma Mater. Saturday morning found more returning alumni ready to participate in the soccer game that afternoon. Although they tried their best, "old age" seemed to have crept into their mellowing bones and they lost by the score of 1-0. Miss Ruth Powell served at a tea later in the afternoon which was followed by the respective classes holding their reunions in separate rooms of the building.

At six o'clock everyone went into the dining hall for a buffet dinner where approximately three hundred people were served. The dinner was followed by a student program of entertainment and a speech by Mrs. Mary L. Nock on "STC's Future." Then Dr. Blackwell showed films which he took on his summer trip to Europe.

The next event was the dance held in the dining hall, where everyone seemed to have a good time, dancing to the orchestra of Arthur Kretz and wondering about the mysterious figure on the balcony.

After the dance had ended, many weary, but happy alumni returned home looking forward to their next meeting, which is scheduled for this spring.

Harvard's famous College Yard was so named to distinguish it from the cowyards that were on each side of it in 1637.

College life is something special, and to that we will all agree. Did we ever really stop to think that the college is really made up of people—people almost exactly like ourselves? Almost exactly but just different enough to be interesting and make up the mechanism which we call our school. The people are endowed with a certain spirit which when they are together make up collectively what we call "School Spirit." This school spirit can be a very powerful thing and it can win even the greatest of battles. Any student or group of students (for instance, the soccer team) needs this spirit and we, the members of the student body, are the only ones who can give them the feeling of belonging, of being loved and appreciated, and because of us the team can and will win! Our school spirit has been terrific this year—and that can only be attributed to you, the very students reading the paper. We can congratulate ourselves on our effort to maintain the powerful strides made so far this fall! Congratulations team, cheerleaders, and you—the people now reading this article!

Spotlighting Students

Four Class Leaders

Everyone should be acquainted with our class presidents. Do you know who they are? The senior class presents Creston Long who is a day student from Salisbury. He was born 24 years ago in Salisbury and attended elementary school at Upton Street School and also in Rehoboth, Md. He graduated from Wi-Hi receiving the Faculty Award for growth in studies.

Here at STC he was on the cross-country team in his freshman year, an understudy in production of the Sophanes Players during his sophomore year and also secretary of Men's Day Association.

Creston is 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has eyes of gray, and blonde hair. His hobbies include collecting classical records, archery, running, weight lifting, and taking care of his cocker spaniel.

Last April he was married to Nadine Simms of Salisbury. At the present time he is employed at the Salisbury Times.

In the future he plans to teach eighth grade English in Wicomico County.

The popular gray-eyed Bobby Denston is president of the junior class. He was born 20 years ago in Pocomoke and has lived there all his life.

In high school he was president of the student government for two years, on the yearbook staff and a member of his class play.

Bob entered STC in the fall of '51 and in his sophomore year was vice-president of his class and also secretary of the Men's Dorm Association. He is very interested in Sophanes Players and was in last year's production. This year he is on the Holly Leaf and Evergreen staffs, manager of the soccer team, a "spunky" cheerleader, and a member of the FTA.

When asked what his likes are he grinned and replied, "Doris, jazz music, and potatoes."

Bob plans to teach junior high in Harford county. Since he is very interested in politics he would like to enter this field eventually.

The Sophomore class is governed by the handsome Roland Foskey, who is a native of Salisbury. He is 19 years old, athletic, and 5 foot, 10 inches tall. His eyes and hair are brown and he weighs 158 pounds.

In high school, which was Wi-Hi, he played basketball, baseball and was in the band. He was in the student government and co-starred in his senior play.

Last year at STC Roland made a hit with his fellow students by displaying his athletic ability on the basketball floor, and in the gymnastic team.

This year "Fosk" is secretary of Men's Day Association and plans to play basketball and baseball.

He likes "Maryland Terps," crocodiles, cocker spaniels, to sit by the fireplace in the evening, and has a particular interest in a cheerleader (JR) at his old Alma Mater. He has a red motor scooter, and a '31 Chevy, painted blue.

His only dislike is loud girls.

In the future he wants to teach junior high, work for his masters degree and become an instructor in a college.

David Wilfred Meredith of Cambridge was unanimously elected president of the freshman class. He was born July, 1935, and had his schooling in Cambridge. His blue eyes and brown hair have set many a freshman girl's heart a-flutter already.

David was an outstanding student in high school. Among his activities he was on the publications staffs, in student council, and vice-president of his senior class. He was valedictorian of his graduating class.

Salisbury's Junior College Association held its initial meeting on October 7, in Room 275. Leading the JCA this year will be Richard Scott, President, and Joyce Matthews as Secretary-Treasurer.

The general goal of the Maryland Junior College Association is to promote unity in that part of the student body taking transfer curriculum. Through its efforts, more and better courses are being offered in the small colleges. One of the aims of the Junior College Association is to acquaint college-preparatory high school students with the fact that the organization's member colleges offer a two-year curriculum which is transferable to other colleges as an Associate in Arts degree. In this way a student may solve many of his financial problems by greatly reducing the cost of his first two years at college.

The Maryland Junior College Association is composed of eight member institutions: three state teacher's colleges; Frostburg, Towson, and Salisbury; and five junior colleges: Baltimore, University of Baltimore, St. Mary's, Montgomery, and Hagerstown. These colleges send representatives to the organization's annual spring meeting which was held at Frostburg last year and attended by five Salisbury student members. This year's spring meeting will be held at Towson. School transportation will be provided for those Junior College members interested in attending the meeting.

The Christian Association

The beginning of the school year of '53-'54 has been successful for the Christian Association. The club this year is led by Ann Thorne, president; Grayson Wheatly, vice-president; Joanne Jones, secretary; and Pauline Porter, treasurer.

One of the outstanding contributions this organization sponsors is Sunday evening vespers. The speakers this year have been Rev. Harris and Rev. Ballbach from our local churches; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fleming from our faculty, and Bill Knically from our student body. Thus far, the speakers have done a marvelous job and the speakers in the future will also prove themselves interesting.

New songbooks have been donated for vespers by Bill Eley.

Work Underway For Demonstration School

After many hours of planning, work has begun on the construction of the proposed Demonstration School at the State Teachers College, Salisbury, Maryland.

Every effort has been made to give these classrooms an attractive, livable atmosphere in which the elements of democratic procedure can be given full play, and to provide an environment and services essential to the development of the whole child, possessing physical, emotional, social, and intellectual attributes and needs.

The kindergarten and first grade rooms will measure 30' by 40'. They will have a fireplace with book shelves on each side. In each room there will be space for storage. In the room will be a half-recessed, low drinking fountain and a sink with a work counter. The floor will be made of asphalt tile made into patterns of games. The light will be controlled by an electric eye. This room will also have built-in flower boxes, a kitchenette opening off the kindergarten, separate playground, and an acoustical ceiling.

The classrooms will also have the asphalt tile floor and acoustical ceiling. For storage, there will be low built-in storage cabinets with doors, built-in cupboards, low open built-in book shelves, built-in chart holders, a built-in radio phonograph with inside and outside speakers. There will also be a recessed drinking fountain in each room.

Other modern ideas found in these classrooms will be a built-in clock, window seats scaled to age group, roll-out bin for toys and instruments, full-length mirror in upper grades to go on the outside of the supply room door.

The supplementary work rooms will have display cases, book shelves, a connecting greenhouse, built-in germinator, built-in aquarium, all of the necessary storage space for equipment, closet for visual aids, electrical outlets, gas

Gulls Win State Title

The STC Gulls scrimmaged against the Denton Athletic Association for their final practice game. The Maggsmen coasted to a 2 to 1 victory. This was a morale builder since this was the first time the squad had worked together against organized opposition. The regular soccer schedule got under way against the soccer squad from Frostburg. The Gulls met the Western Shore representatives at Towson. Al Younger scored the first tally early in the second quarter with a driving penalty shot. Then Ralph Dryden, a wing, converted halfback, scored late in the same quarter with a field goal. Thus, the first hurdle in the stretch toward an undefeated season was met and passed by a 2 to 0, final score.

Next on the list was the traditional game against the Alumni. The Gulls eked out a 1 to 0 victory over one of the best teams ever fielded by the Alumni. Al Younger again was the big gun for the Gulls, with a field goal. The Gulls came home to tangle with Towson, traditional rivals. This was one of the best soccer games ever witnessed by the STC rooters. The score at the end of the first quarter was 1 to 0 in the favor of Towson, but quick to report was Al Younger, again proving unstoppable with his penalty shot, quickly followed by a driving shot by Bill Eley which bounced off of a Towson man to score. Thus the first half ended with STC leading with a 2 to 1 margin. There was no score in the third quarter, but the Towsonmen bounced back early in the fourth period to tie it up. Ralph Dryden came through to put STC ahead 3 to 2 which was how the score stood at the end of the game. Thus the Maggsmen won the mythical Maryland State Teachers College championship. A round of applause was heartily sent out for the Gulls great showing against opposing teams so far. Our hopes for an undefeated season are still riding high. Best of luck, Fellows.

Pep Rallies Staged

STC has been fortunate in having pep rallies before the major soccer games this fall. On Thursday evening, Oct. 8, before the game with Frostburg State Teachers College on Friday, a pep rally was held in the city park. The Cheer-leaders lead the small group of rooters with the college yells. Then on Monday evening, Oct. 12, a bon-fire was the calling card for STCans to come to the athletic field to yell the soccer team to victory over Towson TC whom we were to play the following day. This proved to be a huge success and much of the enthusiasm carried over to the game itself. Congratulations Rooters for your fine performance at the Salisbury vs. Towson game. Let's continue this fine school spirit by attending the pep rallies and also the games. You have cheered our Soccer Team to four straight victories—let's keep on cheering them to an undefeated season!

Female Sportsters Play Hockey

Contrary to popular opinion, basketball is not the only sport in which the female "Gulls" of STC participate. At the present time every effort is being made by the girls to further interest in a field hockey team.

Some of the more interested girls are now practicing on Mondays and Wednesdays in hockey. They are preparing to play several intramural games if enough girls "come out." At 4:10 on these days, the girls don shin guards, wrestle for a hockey stick and head for the field.

The girls' coach, Miss Alethea Whitney, feels that even though there are only a few girls practicing, that they are not wasting time. Good sportsmanship can be developed in many ways. So, a word of advice to you "lazy girls"—come on out! It's fun!!

Sport Beat

By Bradley

Around this particular institution I have noticed a decided lack of interest in pro-football. By this I mean professional football, that is, they get paid for it, or rather, they do it for a vocation. This may seem surprising to you but why not, they do it in baseball, but "Oh," you say, "in baseball they play practically every day, whereas in football they play once a week." The simple answer to that is, if you have ever seen a pro game even via TV you cannot imagine them playing every day. But enough of this nonsense, I will try to give you a quick run-down of the game so that when you hear one on the radio or see one on TV you can watch with interest instead of saying, "who cares."

The first question you might ask is, "Where do pro-ball players come from, who selects them, out of the thousands of college boys?" The answer to that is, college players are drafted in to pro-ball. This is not in the true sense of the word because it sounds as though there was force applied and it is exactly the contrary. Every winter, representatives from each pro team get together and select the college boys of their preference, starting with the team that finished last in the league, right on through until the team that finished first was chosen last, this is done until the men have chosen all they want from the college ranks. No one is chosen and taken directly from high school.

Now the teams have been selected. Stop and think of the football talent that has been reaped from the college ranks and the new blood pumped into the veins of the pro ranks. That is enough to make the blood of any football enthusiast tingle. All of these college boys, the cream of the crop, plus the veterans, practically all of the pro ranks have been all-Americans at one time, now they all have been thrown into a league of their own to battle for a title and earn a living.

Let's look at the pro football player of today. In size, he can range from a little fellow like Eddie LeBaron to the 6-foot, 5-inch, 270-pound chassis of Leon Hart. But, according to statistics, the average size of this keenly developed, muscular coordinated, physical specimen is just a little over six feet in height and about 207 pounds.

As far as the game is concerned, nearly all players agree that if given the chance, they would play again and three-fourths would advise their sons to. If you are interested in playing pro ball your best bet would be, to be born in the Midwest for, according to statistics, 30 per cent come from this area, 21 per cent from the South and Southwest, 14 per cent from the far West, and 12 per cent from the Mid-Atlantic states.

Next why would you want to play pro ball? First, same statistics, to prove to your friends and yourself that you are capable of turning pro, second is the love of the game, and third, money. Now you ask how much could I make? Backs, that is quarter-, half- and fullbacks, are the best paid with around $7,569. The centers are the best paid linemen, averaging

To Purchase Uniforms For Cheer Leaders

The Women's Athletic Department has agreed to purchase five cheer-leading uniforms for the girls. These uniforms consist of maroon circular skirts and white jackets and will cost approximately $90 total. The boys have purchased their own uniforms which consist of white pants with maroon sweaters. New uniforms were badly needed and it is hoped that, with proper care, they will last for at least three or four years. The cheer-leaders regret that they were unable to have uniforms during Soccer season but due to much controversy as to around $6500, which is about $150 more than ends, tackles make about $500 less than ends and low man is the guard who gets $200 less than the tackles.

Basically, he is the same as any other normal human being. He eats more and drinks more, but then he has more room for it. He chews gum, smokes cigars, and cigarettes, he might drink a coke, glass of milk or a beer, but seldom anything stronger. He plays a lot of cards, especially poker. The one huge stumbling block in Mr. Pro's path is the turnover. His career is short, sweet and violent. Fifty-one per cent of the pros complete two years; 16 per cent make three and 12 per cent last four. So you can see it's pretty apparent that there are easier ways to make a living.

what organization should purchase such uniforms they were late being ordered. However, they will be in use during what we all hope to be one of STC's most successful basketball seasons.

Diana Returns For Homecoming

Dear Students:

What a wonderful day Homecoming was! Why, I saw people I hadn't seen for at least seven years. All the time I have spent in that little, stuffy, cluttered room I have dreamed of being able to come, and now, at last, my wish was fulfilled.

I was sure everyone had forgotten me, but when I was freed, a whole new world seemed to come to light. The balcony seemed the logical place for me to go, for from there I could look down on all my old friends as well as my many new ones.

I am not familiar with many of the present-day students, and probably some of you do not know me. To help us become better acquainted, let me tell you something about myself.

First of all, my name is Diana and I am the Goddess of Hunting and Chastity. I am the sister of Apollo, the Sun God, and the daughter of Jupiter and Latona. As a celestial divinity, I am known as Luna, Goddess of the Moon. I am usually seen with my deer and my quiver because I am the huntress. Once when I was bathing, the Greek hunter, Actaeon, saw me. I immediately changed him into a stag, and he was devoured by his hounds.

I do not often appear openly in the school and have no chance to learn about you. Unfortunately, I am forced to remain in my room with no one to comfort me. Surely, the girls have heard my sobs from my room when I was crying from loneliness. If only I could stand unmolested to see the educational aims of the college carried out and to guide new students.

Now I am old and broken and colored a bit from the weather, but to my friends I am still as beautiful as the day I was presented by the Class of '31. If you would like to see the person from whom I was taken, you could find her in the Garden of Versailles at Paris.

Of all the places I have stood, I was never happier than the night I came home to STC.

Pleadingly,

Diana

Curriculum Changes

Last spring the faculty members of each of the three white Teachers College and the two colored colleges in Maryland were asked to submit questions pertinent to the pressing question of the need of partially changing the present college curriculum. These questions were then discussed at the Workshop for teachers which was held at the Towson State Teachers college last June. "Proposals for curriculum change which may result from workshop, committee and faculty discussions will eventually be submitted to the State Department of Education and to the Board of Trustees of the Teachers College. Proposals for change must be approved by these agencies before they can be placed into operation." The main objective of the committee on proposed curriculum changes is as follows: "Provide a more flexible plan for the Teachers College curriculum so that it may be adjusted to individual needs." At the present time there are three types of curricula in the college:

1. GENERAL EDUCATION

This consists of the definitely academic courses. These courses are designed to fit the needs necessary to people in all walks of life. Now in our college there are approximately ninety-six hours of these academic subjects offered. The above committee proposes to change the number of hours to sixty-five. This would give the student an opportunity to specialize or elect other courses in which they are interested.

2. PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

Includes both the methods courses and the student teaching. The proposed change in the curriculum is a reduction to thirty-five hours.

3. ELECTIVES

The combination of credit hours in these curricula would total one hundred hours. This would give the student twenty-eight hours of free electives, enabling both Junior and Elementary Education Students to select an "area of concentration." It would not mean that the student would take less academic or professional courses, but would give him an opportunity to have a wider background of knowledge.

It is to be understood that these proposals are being weighed and measured by the curriculum committee. Their main ideal is—"How Can the Student Most Perfectly Spend His Time?"

The State Department of Education is exercising leadership in this state-wide study of the teacher education curriculum, with Mr. W. T. Boston, State Supervisor of Teacher and Higher Education serving as general chairman of the workshop sessions.
