A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE

LARGEST AND CHEAPEST CLASS IN THE

COUNTRY—DEVOTED TO LITERATURE,

SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called

The Saturday Chronicle,

Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.

Publication Office, No. 74 South Second street,

Philadelphia.

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the full name of the term, a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and zealously devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Tales and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral subjects—

Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of improvements in the Mechanic Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents,

&c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.

The publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the newspaper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel satisfied that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving of liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and have engaged attentive correspondents to furnish the latest intelligence from Washington and Harrisburg, during the sessions of the state Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of a few weeks, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure for their readers productions from some of the best writers in the country. The works of the popular authors will occasionally be published in length in the Chronicle, and no pains will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following:

D. B. Brown, Esq. Robert Morris, Esq.

Col. T. L. McKenney, W. G. Clark, Esq.

John J. Smith, Esq. Dr. James M. Henry,

J. R. Chambliss, Esq. Chas. Taylor, Esq.

To be Rented

For one or more years, that large and commodious BRICK TAVERN

and its appurtenances, well known by the name of the

EASTON HOTEL,

situate in the town of Easton, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, at present, and for some years past, occupied by Mr. Solomon Lowe.

This establishment is universally admitted to be the largest and most convenient for a Public

House, of any on the Peninsula, and to a man well calculated to conduct it, an opportunity will be offered for doing a very extensive and profitable business, more especially if he has a sufficient capital to carry it on advantageously.

Easton is known as a town of considerable trade, and the Steam Boat Maryland, which plies twice a week between Baltimore, Annapolis and this place, considerably increases the business, and of course adds very much to the value of this establishment, by the constant intercourse of travellers from the different counties on the Western and Eastern shores, and elsewhere with these places.

Possession will be given on the first day of January next. Persons wishing to rent are invited to come and view the premises. Terms, which will be moderate, will be made known by application to the subscriber.

W. M. H. GROOME

P. S.—Applications for the above will be received by the subscriber until 15th August next.

Easton June 21 5w W. H. G.

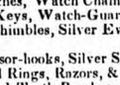

The Delaware Journal, Baltimore American, and Village Herald, Princess Anne, will publish the above for 4 successive weeks and forward account to the subscriber for payment.

CLOCK & WATCH

MAKING.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers and the public generally, that he has just returned from Baltimore, with a well selected assortment of

MATERIALS

for his line of business, which added to his stock, renders his assortment general and in complete, all of which will be manufactured at the shortest notice and on the most pleasing terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same,

that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand

New Watches, Watch Chains,

Seals and Keys, Watch-Guards,

Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Pointed

Silvers,

Silver Scissor-hooks, Silver Shields,

Plain Gold Rings, Razors, & Razor Straps,

Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives,

Scissors, Percussion Caps, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and he thinks there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes by strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public's patronage.

POETRY.

[Written for the Boston Atlas]

TO THE LADY OPPOSITE.

You are very pretty, lady,

And I wish that you would stay

At the chamber window opposite,

throughout of the live long day;

I should like no better pleasur e,

Than on your face to look.

While your eyes are bent on sewing,

Or on an open book.

But alas! you seem to shun me.

And you greet me with a frown:

When you catch me looking at you,

You pull the curtain down.

Am I so very hideous,

That you are so unkind?

No, lady, for I saw you once

Peeping slyly through the blind.

Then, lovely lady—banish

Your prudish little arts,

And smile, as if you'd like to win

A hundred young men's hearts.

My own is at your service.

If you only would but stay

At the chamber window opposite,

And let me gaze all day!

TO A YOUNG GIRL.

Love, pretty maiden, is a dream,

Unknown, perchance, to one so young;

Calm as a level-shaded stream,

Your days have sweetly flowed among

The beautiful flowers of life—no gloom

Has fallen on that stainless brow,

Or stolen from those cheeks the bloom

More rich than roses blushing now:

And this dark world seems passing fair,

Since time has cast no shadow there,

Fair may it ever seem—and bright;

On thy young spirit, may Love's light

Rest like the morn's, nor dreams like mine

Disturb that guileless heart of thine.

An Monthly.

A WIFE.

"Don't talk to me about women being weak, and pretty and foolish—I will have a wife

—but she shall be next to perfection!"

"Where will you get such an one Harry?"

"Why any where—plenty in America Tom—

—if she is not what I want her before marriage, she shall be afterwards, I warrant you.

I don't like your milk and water sort of girls—

—those every day gaw-gaw flouncers—they do for me."

"You'd have her handsome, I suppose."

"I don't care whether she is handsome or not."

"Tall slender, and genteel, perhaps?"

"Plsaw—I don't care whether she is tall or short—tall or thin—it is of no consequence to me."

"You are not particular, I find, Hal, and can easily be suited."

"But I am particular, and cannot be easily suitied."

"Well, do tell me what kind of a wife you intend to have."

"I will; and in the language of the ancient poet, who had more taste than all your modern senseless beaux:

"I'd have her reason, all her passions away—

Easy in company—in private gay—

Coy to a fop—to the deserving free—

Still constant to herself, and true to me;

I'd have the expression of her thought be

She should not seem reserv'd nor talk too much,

Her conduct regular—her mirth refined—

Civil to strangers—to neighbors kind."

"Hard matter to find such an one, Harry," said I, and left him, persuaded that he had pictured to himself a companion which it

"If he does, I shall not take the trouble to tell him."

"Lucy will you tell me are you engaged?"

"No."

"And—and—may I hope you never will be engaged—that is to him. Lucy I love you?"

The abruptness and impetuosity with which he spoke, seemed the effect of feeling which he could not repress. Lucy was so surprised an confused that she was obliged to lean on his arm for support, so eager at his presumption for her to show much anger at his presumption that Roger had forgot that he had ever been poor and a shoemaker. The first consciousness of being beloved, seems to a young man, as the crowning point of his ambition. He feels elevated for he has secured the empire of one heart, which he would not forego for the sceptre of Napoleon.

Roger walked into the parlor of "Squire

Hartwell that evening with the air of a man who has no further care for what may be said of him in this life; Anna Minor said he asked consent that very evening.

"Roger is well enough," said Mrs. Hartwell,

"and I shall say nothing against the match now.

A merchant's wife has a very respectable station, though nothing very grand. However, if Lucy has no ambition it does no good for me to talk I have already been too anxious about her marrying well."

"I think my dear she is going to marry well," said "Squire Hartwell, "Roger will be a great man."

Yes, yes, husband, I have heard you say a thousand times that he would be a great man,

But I never saw any prospect of it for my part.

Now Anna Minor, in my opinion, does marry well—Mr. Trumbull is a lawyer, and may be a Judge."

"Oh, that is impossible. He has never been educated Mr. Hartwell."

"He can educate himself."

"Well, neither you nor I shall ever live to see Roger Sherman a Judge."

But they did live to see ROGER SHERMAN

A JUDGE and a signor of the Declaration of

IT IS NOT THE FASHION.

Many excellent females; whose hearts preferred them to adopt and practice the most of some of our most prominent statesmen. Webster and Mr. Clay among the purest patriots of this, or any other age or country. In my opinion their exalted worth and eminent public services have not been appreciated by the American people. But not those who call themselves Whigs lay this sin of ingratitude to the charge of the democratic party—rather let them "lay the hand upon the mouth."

When I supported Mr. Adams for the presidency, I apprehended danger from the elevation of mere military man and successful general to the first civil office in the government. Nothing has since occurred to remove those apprehensions, and they are still entertained. Hence my preference of Mr. Van Buren to Gen. Harrison.

Gen. Harrison is not to be considered a prominent partisan—shall have little or no time to engage in political correspondence. Under these circumstances you think fit to use my name you are at liberty to do so.

Respectfully, Sir, your friend,
GEO. B. HOLT.

Mr. D. CATHCART.

RICHARD M. JOHNSON.
There is no man living more entitled to the gratitude of his countrymen and mankind than Col. Johnson. He is emphatically the man of the people. His labors in the councils, and his struggles in the field, have been marked by a singleness of purpose, and a devotedness of patriotism, in behalf of his country, which richly entitle him to the lasting obligations of the American people. His whole public life has displayed a firmness, an honesty and a consistency, rarely equalled. His legislative career has been one of great brilliancy; his labors are immense, and his valuable services almost beyond human reward. He has done more to prosper the poor & laboring classes, than almost any individual in the nation—far more than the warmest gratitude can ever repay. He has toiled for them in the hour of need; he has been with them in every adversity; he has stood by them and aided them in every struggle. And he has served his country not only in her legislative halls, but in her "tented fields." He is not only a statesman, but a soldier, and a brave one too; one who deserves to be called a HERO. Look at his "battered and battered frame," and ask yourself "whence these decrepit limbs?" Look at your country's history, and let the plain unvarnished truth suffice for an answer! You will there find his name and his deeds covered with untold honors!

Notwithstanding his unparalleled exertions in civil stations, to benefit his country and his constituents; notwithstanding the imperishable renown which his heroic valour has shed upon American arms; notwithstanding all these achievements, and the incomparable blessings which his wisdom and his patriotism have conferred upon his country and kind; yet, there are those of his political enemies so bereft of honesty, and so morally debased, as to raise the hand of persecution against him, and in the vindictive bitterness of their disappointment, to assail him with a spirit and a feeling which is shameful to mankind! Those who lend themselves to such unjust and dishonorable purposes will ere long repent their wickedness, if not their ignorance and folly. It is not a characteristic of the American people, to forsake a friend when their services are needed; it is not the character of this country to be the seat of a sanguinary conflict, waged by a cabal of heartless politicians, against a truly great and virtuous citizen. No; there is a sympathy, and a gratitude inherent in the breast of every American, that will not permit the unwarrantable persecution of the true patriot and incorruptible statesman. And when the last great blow is to be struck, this feeling will burst forth in a torrent of just indignation and sweep from before it every vestige of shameless ingratitude.

From the Frederick Citizen.

Dear Sir:—I recollect that there was a bill introduced in the Ohio Legislature, in the year 1820, one clause of which provided for the sale to the highest bidder, of any WHITE SLAVE who had been so unfortunate as to be confined in jail for debt. Will you please look into this matter, and see whether General Harrison was or was not a member of the Senate of Ohio, at that time, and in what way he voted? I feel some interest in this matter, and as General Harrison is now a candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people, I think it all important that the people should know whether he was, or was not, in favor of reducing a free white man, to the condition of a slave, whose only crime was the misfortune of being poor.

Respectfully yours, &c.

We have complied with the request of our friend, and are enabled to say, that upon examination of a sketch of the life of General Harrison, now circulating freely here, we find on pages 31 and 32, the following paragraph:—"In 1816, he (Gen. Harrison) was elected by a large majority, a member of the House of Representatives in Congress, from Ohio. In this station, he served greatly to his own honor, and the satisfaction of his constituents, until 1819; when on the expiration of the term of service, he was chosen to the Senate of the State Legislature." He was therefore in the Senate of the State Legislature of Ohio, in the year 1820, and the following extract from the Journal of the Senate of Ohio, will show that he voted in favor of making a slave of the white man, of degrading him to the condition of a slave; because he had unfortunately contracted debt, that unforeseen circumstances had rendered him unable to pay. In order that the voters of the State and County, may be convinced of the fact, we publish the extract, and vouch for the correctness of it.

READ THIS.

GENERAL HARRISON IN FAVOR OF White Slavery!

Extract from the Journals of the Senate of Ohio, in 1820:

ALLEN TRIMBLE, Speaker.
"Mr. Fithian then moved to strike out the 19 section of said bill, as follows:
"Be it further enacted, that when any person shall be taken into custody, upon execution or otherwise, for the non payment of a fine, or costs, both, it shall be lawful for the sheriff of the county to sell out such person as a servant to any person within this state, who will pay the amount due, for the shortest period of service, of which sale public notice shall be given at least ten days and upon such sale being effected the sheriff shall give to the purchaser a certificate thereof, and deliver over the prisoner to him; from which time the relation between such purchaser and prisoner, shall be that of master and servant, until the time of service expires, and for injuries done by either remedy shall be had in the same manner as in, or may be provided by law in the case of masters and apprentices. But nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent persons being discharged from imprisonment according to the provisions of the thirty seventh section of the act to which this is supplementary, if it shall be considered expedient to grant such discharge. Provided that the court in pronouncing sentence upon any person or persons convicted under this act or the act to which this is supplementary, may direct such person or persons to be detained in prison until the fine be paid, or the person or persons otherwise disposed of agreeably to the provisions of this act.

Which motion was decided in the affirmative, Yeas 20 nays 12.

The yeas and nays being called, on the question to strike out, we find the name of GEN WILLIAM H. HARRISON, IN THE NEGATIVE; and in favor of retaining that clause in the bill, which provided for the SALE OF A WHITE MAN AS A SLAVE, not that he was a felon, not that he had wilfully violated any law, human or divine; but that he was POOR! Voters of Frederick County, can you support any party who unobscurely nominate to the highest office in the gift of the people, a man, who voted in favor of reducing a free White Citizen of the United States, to the condition of a SLAVE? If you are so lost to all sense of your own dignity, to all sense of the high and inestimable privileges which were secured to you by the toil and blood of your forefathers—as to sanction this vote of Harrison's, you are so degraded already, that even that vote of Harrison's could reduce you lower in the scale, and you invite by your acts, an overbearing despot, or a high handed aristocracy, to fasten on you, the yoke you humbly bend your necks to receive.

VOTERS LOOK TO YOUR RIGHTS.

We ask every freeman who loves his country better than his party to read the following plain statement of facts, and then ask himself if he can longer support men who are directly opposed to his dearest interests—opposed to his prosperity and his children's happiness!

To enable persons who has not turned their attention to this subject, to judge of the man, in which the public money has been squandered, with the concurrence of the last Senate, we select some extracts from the Report of the Committee of Claims of the House of Delegates, in 1830, and '31, showing the condition of the State Treasury at that period—and give a brief statement of the present situation of the finances: the objects for which enormous amounts of money have been appropriated, and the inevitable result growing out of a system of legislation based upon the principles which have governed the Whig party—illustrated by five years practice.

From the 49th page of the Journal of proceedings of the House of Delegates, for the years '30 and '31, we make the following extract, being a part of the Report of the Committee of Claims. "It appears to your Committee, there remains in the Treasury, as of 1st of December 1830, the said sum of three hundred and thirty five thousand, one hundred and four dollars, and seventy four cents; funded 2 per cent stock of the United States, 'Three thousand one hundred and forty three dollars, and ninety five cents, in bill of credit as aforesaid, and fifty four thousand one hundred and six dollars, and eighty eight cents, cash; which last sums, they find stands to his credit as Treasurer, in the Farmers' Bank of Maryland."

From this extract which contains the kernel of the whole report, as far as it has any bearing upon the subject, that the public are now interested in examining. We gather, that after all the appropriations and current expenses for the year 1830, had been met there was remaining in the Treasury, three hundred and thirty five thousand, one hundred and forty three dollars, and ninety five cents—and three thousand one hundred and forty three dollars, and ninety five cents, in bill of credit as aforesaid, and fifty four thousand one hundred and six dollars, and eighty eight cents, cash; which last sums, they find stands to his credit as Treasurer, in the Farmers' Bank of Maryland."

The late Senate came into power in the year 1831, and their term expired with the last session of the late Legislature. We have shown from the preceding extract, in what situation they found the finances of the State, and will now endeavor to exhibit the condition in which they leave them. With this view, we give the following statement of the liabilities of the State, incurred by their acts, during the time for which they were elected:

1st On account of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal,	$5,625,000
2d On account of Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road,	3,500,000
3d Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road,	1,200,000
4 On account of Potomack and Anemesis river,	200,000
5 On account of Chesapeake & Delaware Canal,	50,000
6 On account of Baltimore and Washington Rail Road,	500,000
7 On account of the Eastern Shore Rail Road,	1,000,000
8 On account of Maryland Canal,	500,000
9 On account of Annapolis Canal,	500,000
10 Act to authorize the Treasurer to borrow for the current expenses of the year 1830,	50,000

Making an aggregate amount of $13,125,000. Nearly all these enormous sums of money have been or are to be expended on works that will yield little or no revenue to the State. Where then is the money to come from to pay the interest on this THIRTEEN MILLIONS of debt? Out of the working men, the Farmers and mechanics. The interest will amount to about Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars annually—EXCEEDING TWO DOLLARS FOR EACH WHITE PERSON, MAN, WOMAN, AND CHILD IN THE STATE, OVER AND ABOVE THE AMOUNT OF TAXATION ALREADY PAID.

Are the people prepared to pay these heavy taxes? But this is not all To complete those great and extravagant works of internal improvements, which have been commenced FIFTEEN MILLION of dollars more will be required. Are the people of Maryland disposed to look quietly, until the deserts are adventurers who now lake them; have involved the state in a debt exceeding THIRTY MILLION OF DOLLARS? Or will they not wake up, and change their rulers? Under such a state of things, it becomes the duty of the people, to examine well their situation, to compare the past with the present, and to judge from that examination, whether they have been benefited or injured by the administration of their government, under the control of the party in power. What then is the result of five years experience?—An over flowing Treasury exhausted.—A state bankrupt.—A people who, at the commencement of that term, under a system of light indirect taxation, were able to meet all the expenses of their Government, and have a surplus left—now compelled to borrow money to pay the interest on former loans, with the certainty staring them in the face, that they will soon be compelled to submit to an ENORMOUS TAX OF SEVEN HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS YEARLY; or if the present system of squandering money is persisted in for a short time upwards of ONE MILLION annually. We ask the voters of the county to weigh well this matter, to put to themselves the question. What have we received for this enormous expenditure of money, borrowed from brokers and stock jobbers, who hold our lands and tenements pledged for its repayment? Let the Mechanic and labourer who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow say whether they have been benefited by these vast appropriations, and let them show the voters accordingly.—The Farmer, the Merchant, the Mechanic, and the Labourer, must all be affected by heavy taxes no class is exempt from its operations. Who can doubt that the state will be loaded with an enormous tax? Where are $700,000 to be obtained from? True, it may be averted for a short time, but every year procrastination will make it fall with aggravated force, upon those who have unfortunately trusted their affairs in the hands of a party, who, by all their professions show they have been governed by the principle, that Government was constituted for the benefit of a few, at the expense of the many. And yet this is the party who, in the year 1831, pending the Senatorial election, promised you Reform and Economy. Another five years reign of this party, and it matters not whether we retain the present corrupt Constitution or have none. The State will belong to foreign stock jobbers, and in the place of the sturdy yeomanry of Maryland, we shall have the serfs of foreign masters. Another five years of such wanton extravagance, and the State will be mortgaged beyond all means of redemption. We shall have a few lordlings made rich, by their influence over a weak Legislature, and a population crushed to the earth by the weight of taxation, poor and miserable then, because they want energy now, to dash from them the yoke which is prepared for their necks.—Fred. SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1836.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

FOR PRESIDENT, MARTIN VAN BUREN, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, RICHARD M. JOHNSON, OF KENTUCKY.

ELECTORS. For the Eastern Shore—WM. A. STURGEON For the Western Shore—HUGH ELY. First District—JAMES A. STEWART. Second District—EDWARD LLOYD. Third District—J. T. H. WORTHINGTON Fourth District—W. FRICK & A. THOMAS. Fifth District—JOSEPH HOLMAN. Sixth District—WASHINGTON DUVALLE. Seventh District—JOHN B. BROOKS.

TALBOT EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY ON MONDAY NEXT! It remains to be seen whether the people of Talbot county will on Monday next support a man who is opposed to their electing their own Senators-- and who voted for the odious Indemnity Act--and who from those votes has shown himself hostile to the rights of the people--or for the Democratic Candidates who are favorable to retrenchment in the expenditures of the State--and who are in favor of extending the people's rights to a wholesome and proper degree.

The Baltimore American of the 30th ult. says:—"A captain of the Texan army, direct from that country informs the editor of the Cincinnati Whig that charges had been formally preferred against Mr. Burnett, the President of Texas, for TREASON. The charges were signed by Gen. Lamar, Gen. Ruske, and nearly all of the principal officers of the Texan Army. His release of Santa Anna, and other suspicious acts, furnished the foundation for the accusation.

The following paragraph is published in the New York Mercantile Advertiser of Monday: "Escape of Gen. Santa Anna.—A letter was received in this city yesterday, from a highly respectable source, dated New Orleans, August 14th, which states that a merchant from Natchitoches, had just arrived at New Orleans who had received intelligence that Santa Anna had escaped from the Texans; and that a Mexican army, under Gen. Urea was marching upon Natchitoches, and at the last advices, had reached within sixty miles of that place.

More recent information from New Orleans show that there is no foundation for either of the statements contained in the foregoing letter. The papers from New Orleans up to the 17th, do not allude in any way to the reported escape of Santa Anna; and in the second place, instead of the Mexican army being within sixty miles from Natchitoches, the Texan army, at the last dates, was marching towards the Mexican territory.

THE GREAT WHIG PARTY say they go for Gen. Harrison, because he will carry out their principles. An honest confession, truly Gen. Harrison was one of those who sustained the administration of the elder John Adams—in the passage of

THE ALIEN LAW, The Sedition or Gag Law, The Stamp Tax, The Land Tax, The Still Tax, and was rapidly bringing the country into a situation to bear the Window Tax, and all the Taxes with which England is so supremely blessed. But the people put a stop to his aristocratic administration. Look to the situation of your State, under a Whig administration, and from that you will see, that the Whig principles are calculated to oppress the Farmer and the Mechanic, with TAXES, to pamper odious and ARISTOCRATIC MONOPOLIES.

The above is from the Frederick Citizen and a true picture of Harrison Whiggery. It requires but little discernment to see how well the principles and measures of the Harrisonites chime. Gen. Harrison is particularly fond of "gag laws" and "taxes," but our Harrison Legislature more fond of imposing upon the people an enormous debt from which, in all probability, will spring a DIRECT TAX.

Look to these things VOTERS or TALBOT. Go to the polls on Monday next and vote for JAMES MURRAY LLOYD AND Col. SAMUEL STEVENS and by so doing convince your federal leaders that you will not submit to the dominion of men who oppress you with Taxes. Follow the example of the old Democrat Republicans who removed from power the odious Administration of the elder Adams, for the oppressions it dared to heap upon them, and you will have acted as become slaves from tame and passive submission.

ARKANSAS ELECTIONS

Extract of a letter dated "LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Aug 7, 1836. "DEAR SIR: Our first elections under the new constitution of Arkansas have just closed and have resulted in a signal victory to the Van Buren party. Col Conway, the Democratic candidate for Governor has succeeded by about 1800 majority; and Judge Yell, our candidate for Congress, by about 3000. Three-fourths of the Legislature will be of the Republican party. We shall send two Senators of the right politics: Col. Serier will be one of them.

A NEW CLAIMANT TO THE FRENCH THRONE.

The Kentish (Dover) Observer of July 13, says:—"A person landed here yesterday from Calais, who if reported speaks in the most glowing manner of the late King of France, by the title of Louis the XVIII This person, it is said, was born in 1785, and after the decapitation and murder of his father, mother, and other Royal relatives, being considered idiotic, was not particularly under the surveillance of the revolutionists, but was secretly conveyed from Paris, during the horrors of the Revolution, and has been travelling since, in almost every part of the world, under the protection of a French Marquis. Why he has returned to Paris is a matter of conjecture; but it seems he had not exactly consist of roses; for his presence becoming known to the French authorities, he was, under the edict of 1830, placed in the hands of the gens d'armes, who conveyed him to Calais, and put him on board the packet, which landed him here, and from whence he departed for London this morning. He gave in his name at the Alien Office as "Charles Louis, 61 years of age."

THE TEXIAN ARMY.

The late vote for a commanding General of those forces shows, in the midst of contradictory rumors, the exact numerical force of the Texian army. It is as follows:

For General Houston,	1700
For Lamar,	170
Total,	1870

The actual number, however, as we since learn from the Nichol's Courier, bringing accounts from their headquarters, victorious up to the last of July, was 2300 men.

George Dudley Opposed to the rights of the People.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—Mr. George Dudley, who is now a candidate for Elector of Senate voted in 1831 against a Bill, on its final passage, to alter and amend the Constitution of the State, allowing each county to have one Senator elected immediately by the People. You will find this fact recorded in the Journal of Proceedings of the Session of 1830, January 19, page 102.

Now fellow citizens will you vote for a man on Monday next who is opposed to the extension of your rights? Who pronounces you incapable of choosing your own State Senators? Who believes you so ignorant that it would be dangerous to trust so important a choice in your hands? His vote against giving you the just privilege of electing your own Senators plainly expresses his opinions of your virtue and patriotism.

He also VOTED AGAINST the appointment of Register's of Wills, and clerks of the several County Courts of this State for a term of seven years, after such offices become vacant by the death or resignation of present incumbents. See Journal page 10—session of 1830. In fact he has proven himself worthy of his Federal Doctrines and gone against the interests of the poor man in those two instances. Fellow citizens reflect before you vote for a man so hostile to trusting you with the management of your own concerns. He is opposed to reform, and consequently opposed to the rights of the people.

Fellow citizens—pause and reflect before you entrust to such a man any power to act for you. You have long patiently borne the errors of the State Government—will you entail them upon your children—will you be content to enjoy the mere semblance of liberty, when it is in your power to enjoy it to the fullest extent? Again I say George Dudley was opposed to your electing your own Senators, and he dare not deny it, because he and his party think they can do it much better themselves than the poor Farmer and Mechanic can. If you submit to those Federal Doctrines you insult the beloved memory of a WASHINGTON and JEFFERSON.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

For the Whig. Mr. SHERWOOD:—With what pleasure from my "boggy abode," do I behold the flattering of the pie-bald federal junta, united to deceive and impose on the honest unsuspecting citizen. It is quite a farce to see the little sub-animal's riling to and fro, and the scribblers and jugglers all in motion. An Eastonian has lately figured in the thumb paper, but like "one of the people," for he may be the same, (like the camelion they are of many hues) has dodged the question. He and his friends are not in the habit of facing the truth, if they can find a loop hole. He says I have scribbled on Banking, Bills of Exchange and Primary Schools—what a list one. The federalists say they have all the talents, learning and respectability, but I find their writers have another accomplishment, but it may proceed from a short memory. I have written on the duties of the Eastern Shore Treasurer and his increased salary, and slightly on the finances of the State; neither subject has been answered by "One of the People" or "Eastonian." They too well know it will not bear an investigation? They too well know the federal rulers have spent the whole funds of the State, and are now in debt nearly fourteen million of dollars? They well know the Treasurer of the State had to beg the liberty of borrowing fifty thousand dollars at the May Session? They well know the last Session cost the State eighty thousand one hundred and sixty nine dollars 67 cents?—Not satisfied with the above expenditures, they authorized the Governor to send three persons to England to borrow eight million of dollars, and to pay them twenty thousand dollars—thus we are to be subjects again to England. Again at the last Session the Treasurer had to borrow fifty thousand dollars more to pay the current expenses of the State. The Treasurer tells you that the expenses of the State exceed the income annually seventy five thousand dollars—in addition to an annual interest of four hundred thousand dollars—making a sum of four hundred and seventy five thousand dollars to be paid every year over and above the income—the above is from the record and cannot be controverted.—Thus you are in debt fourteen millions of dollars—and have to borrow every year an addition of FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to pay the interest and pay the expenses of the government. Was there ever such management? Can the State pay the claim?—should it go on many years in this way will the whole State be worth the money? Farmers and Mechanics those are stubborn facts—will you sell your State to keep such spendthrifts in power? with all those facts staring you in the face. The Whig Legislature passed a bill to raise the salary of the Eastern Shore Treasurer—for which Mr. Dudley voted—and they have taxed you through Baltimore to pay the damages done by the mob in Baltimore to those Bank Directors & Bank Stockholders who have pocketed the hard earnings of the widow and orphan.—The amount to be paid to Johnson, Glenn & Co., is one hundred and two thousand five hundred and fifty two dollars eighty two cents? Go to the election on Monday next, and let the world see you are resolved to dismiss such unworthy servants. You have offered to you two electors, Mr. Dudley an old federalist of the Boston stamp—who has voted to waste your money—the other, General Dickinson a tergiversating politician formerly a drone in the republican ranks—now an active drill sergeant in the Federal Band, both of whom if elected, will vote for men to support R. H. Goldsborough in the U. States Senate. And you have Lloyd and Stevens two old republicans who have never deviated from political rectitude—who have always been on the side of the people, who will always support due economy in your funds—and vote to dismiss Robert H. Goldsborough.

For the Whig. TO THE VOTERS OF TALBOT COUNTY.

As the time is fast approaching when an important election will take place, wherein the rights of all are concerned, I propose to give a short history of the proceedings of the Federal or present ruling party in Maryland. On referring to the report of the committee of Delegates at December Session 1819, I find in 1811 the State possessed a capital of one million six hundred and eleven thousand seven hundred and sixty five dollars 67 cents, and owed not a dollar. In the year 1819 the capital of the State was reduced down to one million two hundred and thirty three dollars 74 cents, and the State owed 72 millions—the above seven years the State was in the hands of the federalists—and they spent four hundred and fifty thousand five hundred and eleven dollars 93 cents of the capital, since they have again assumed the power they have spent the balance of the capital and plunged the State in debt nearly fourteen millions of dollars—and added to all those profligate proceedings they spent at the last session eighty thousand one hundred and sixty nine dollars 67 cents.—Not satisfied with the above expenditures, they authorized the Governor to send three persons to England to borrow eight million of dollars, and to pay them twenty thousand dollars—thus we are to be subjects again to England. Again at the last Session the Treasurer had to borrow fifty thousand dollars more to pay the current expenses of the State. The Treasurer tells you that the expenses of the State exceed the income annually seventy five thousand dollars—in addition to an annual interest of four hundred thousand dollars—making a sum of four hundred and seventy five thousand dollars to be paid every year over and above the income—the above is from the record and cannot be controverted.—Thus you are in debt fourteen millions of dollars—and have to borrow every year an addition of FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to pay the interest and pay the expenses of the government. Was there ever such management? Can the State pay the claim?—should it go on many years in this way will the whole State be worth the money? Farmers and Mechanics those are stubborn facts—will you sell your State to keep such spendthrifts in power? with all those facts staring you in the face. The Whig Legislature passed a bill to raise the salary of the Eastern Shore Treasurer—for which Mr. Dudley voted—and they have taxed you through Baltimore to pay the damages done by the mob in Baltimore to those Bank Directors & Bank Stockholders who have pocketed the hard earnings of the widow and orphan.—The amount to be paid to Johnson, Glenn & Co., is one hundred and two thousand five hundred and fifty two dollars eighty two cents? ELECTION NEWS.

From the Jacksonville (Illinois) Gazette and News.

It is supposed from the returns already received, that Casey's majority, the Van Buren candidate in the second district, over Field, the White candidate, will be from 4,000 to 6,000 votes. In the first district, Reynolds and Snyder are both ahead of Gatewood. It is supposed that Snyder is elected. Snyder and Reynolds are both Van Buren men, and Gatewood is for any body but Mr. Van Buren. The result of the election for members of the State Legislature, as far as known, is not less gratifying than that of Congressmen. The democratic majority in the Legislature, on joint ballot, will be in the proportion of two to one.

CONFESSION OF THE ENEMY.

From the St. Louis Republican.

THE ELECTION.—The whole of the returns from the different counties have not yet reached us; but sufficient is known to make it certain, that Mr. Boggs is chosen Governor, by five or six hundred majority; that Mr. Cannon is elected Lt. Governor by a much larger vote than Messrs. Harrison and Miller are to and that the Representatives of the State in the next Congress, As our opponents have thus contrived to retain the possession of the Government which they have most unrighteously administered for eight years past, we give them notice, that we intend to hold them strictly responsible for all its acts; that they shall not be allowed to do mischief, and then to palm it off on the minority; that the majority shall answer to the people for the manner in which they dispose of the various projects for internal improvement, the establishment of a State Bank, the revenue derived from the General Govern-ment under the law for the distribution of the surplus revenue, &c.

The contract for the removal of the Creek Indians from Alabama to the far West has been given to a company of ten or twelve individuals, two of whom are from Columbus, and the rest from Maryland. They have contracted to remove the whole nation, about 17,000 in number, for $23,500 per head.

FOR THE WHIG.

WISDOM AND HER HOUSE.

PROV. 9TH CHAP.

Wisdom hath her mansion reared, her "seven pillars" hewn,

A table she hath spread, on which are dainties strewn;

At morning, noon, and night, she constant cries,

"Turn in ye sons of men—ye simple and ye wise."

Fairest virgin of the high and heavenly world, Her voice I will obey, for she hath wide un- furled

The badge of endless life—it bears the saviour's name!

'Tis stained with His own blood—that of the atoning lamb."

Her spacious house I'll visit oft—'tis there I love to be

For there a plentiful feast FOR ALL THE WORLD IS FREE;

'Tis there the mourning soul a sweet repose doth find

And there the doubting one obtains a peaceful mind.

While days and months and years are sweetly passing o'er

Her soothing voice I'll ne'er forget, that calls me to her door:

Should famine all the land pervade, and all be sad,

I'll fearless trust in her, for there I shall be fed.

When in her house, I'm from the ills of life se- cured;

Her battlements are firm, and always must endure;

No bulwarks could be overthrown, that are so strong and high,

They're established on the 'THRONE OF GOD,' and reach above the sky.

May she a hearing ear bestow, and heart that will obey,

So I may always hear her voice, and with her willing stay;

May she right early make me wise, so I may understand

"The path that leads directly to the heavenly land."

A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to AN AMUSING AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION—that is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling that all who have the inclination to become acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the proposition at once, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as is sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

THE SALMAGUNDI already circulates through every post office in this country, and continues to multiply. It furnishes its patrons with the leading features of the News and humorous compilation of lively and pungent sallies which are floating along the tide of Literature. The SALMAGUNDI is printed on large imperial paper, equal in size and quality to that which is used by the largest and best name of the day. It is calculated that

Easton and Baltimore Packet.

THE SPECTACULAR NEW SLOOP

THOMAS HAYWARD.

WILL commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 2nd of March, (weather permitting) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock on the following Saturday, and continue sailing on these days until the season.

The THOMAS HAYWARD has run as a packet, giving general satisfaction as a fine sailing vessel. She is fitted up in a highly commodious manner for the accommodation of passengers, with State Rooms for Ladies, and comfortable berths; and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Passage $1.00; and 25 cents for each meal.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point by Mr. P. Barwick, who will faithfully attend to their collection in the absence of the subscriber; and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thomas H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscriber's residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessel.

The subscriber has employed Mr. N. Jones as Skipper, who is well known as a careful & skillful sailor, unsurpassed in experience and knowledge of the bay.

Thankful for the liberal share of patronage he has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same.

The public's obedient servant,

26,000 SUBSCRIBERS!

Philadelphia Mirror.

The splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editor to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, long known as the largest family newspaper in the United States, with a list of year TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS.—The new feature recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day, having proved so eminently successful, the plan will be continued. Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryat and sixty-five of Mr. Brook's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without interfering with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Arts; Internal Improvements; Agriculture; in short every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full accounts of sales, markets, and news of the latest date.

It is published at the low price of 2¢. For this small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 62 volumes a year, and which is estimated to be read weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the seaboard to the lakes. The paper has been so long established as to render it too well known to require an extended prospectus, the publishers, therefore, do not more than refer to the two leading daily political papers of opposite politics. The Pennsylvania says:—The Saturday Courier is the largest, and one of the best family newspapers in the Union; we other, the Inquirer and Daily Courier, say, "it is the largest journal published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States." The New York Star says:—"we know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more efficacious to draw out the dormant talents of our country than their unexampled liberality in offering literary prizes."

The Albany Mercury of March 19th, 1836, says:—"The Saturday Courier, is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is duly appreciated by the public, if we may judge from its vast circulation, which exceeds 25,000 per week! Its contents are agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable reading matter than is published in a week in any daily paper in the Union.—Its mammoth dimensions enable its enterprising proprietors, Messrs Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia, to republish in its columns, in the course of year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press; which cannot fail to give it a permanent interest and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes therefore, of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it much more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value."

THE QUARTO EDITION.

Under the title of the PHILADELPHIA MIRROR, will commence with the publication of the prize Tale, to which was awarded the prize of $100, written by Miss Leslie, editor of the splendid Annual the Token, and author of Pencil Sketches and other valuable contributions to American Literature. A large number of songs, poems, tales and &c. offered in a competition for the $500 premiums, will add value and interest to the succeeding numbers which will also be enriched by a story from Miss Sedgewick, author of Hope Leslie, The Linwoods, &c., whose talents have been so justly and extensively appreciated both at home and abroad.

The approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral the religious and political matters, and in uncompromisingly opponent of buackery of every kind.

MAPS.

In addition to all of which the publishers intend furnishing their patrons with a series of engraved Maps, embracing the twenty-five States of the Union, &c. exhibiting the situation, &c. of rivers, towns, mountains, lakes, the sea board, Internal Improvements, as displayed in canals, rail roads, &c., with other interesting and useful features, roads, distances, &c. forming a complete Atlas for general use and information, handsomely executed, and each distinct map on a large quarto sheet at an expense which nothing but the splendid patronage which for six years past has been so generously extended to them could warrant.

TERMS.

The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, being a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper of the same size as the New York Atlas, will be put at precisely one half the price of that valuable paper, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance (including the Maps),

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

TO ALL PERSONS AFFLICTED.

A Certain Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver, Biliious, and Nervous Complaints; Jaundice, General Debility, Lowness of Spirits; and Diseases incident to Females.

DR. LOCKWARD'S Celebrated Vegetable Sepsitic Elixir.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia.

The first symptoms of this disease is a disagreement of food, producing pain and uneasiness at the region of the stomach; fullness of that organ; belching of wind, with sour, oily or putrid eructations; pain and tenderness at the pit of the stomach; pain in the right side, extending after to the right shoulder, and under the shoulder-blade; the same kind of pain is very often experienced in the left side (especially often in lying on the right or left side); pain also often in the small of the back and giddiness of the head; dimness of the sight; coated tongue; disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning after arising; coldness

This Medicine acts as a gentle purge, by which all foul humors are removed from the system; at the same time it restores the lost tone of the stomach and bowels; opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Pancreas; and will be found singularly efficacious in diseases of the Kidneys. As a family medicine none will be found cheaper or to answer a better purpose, and being composed entirely of vegetable matter it is perfectly innocent, which renders it more valuable.

As a certain remedy or cure for the above diseases this medicine stands incomparably beyond any other now in use. And as nothing more could be requisite to convince the most sceptical of its utility, than the numberless testimonials which have been given in its favor, therefore, those testimonials will speak for it more than all encomiums which could be pronounced. Wherever it has been used, it has invariably been attended with complete success and relief, in all such cases, where apparently all hopes of cure have been exhausted. It was by this important discovery that the proprietor of the above Medicine, was in a few months, restored to perfect health, after years of the most distressing suffering, and after being abandoned by the profession to die without any hope of relief. Since which, hundreds, nay thousands, have in a like manner been restored from beds of sickness to perfect health.

DR. LOCKWARD—Sir I have made use of your valuable Medicine for the Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, both of which diseases I have labored under for about three years—I have tried a great many medicines, but all to no effect.—I was induced to give yours a trial, and much to my astonishment &c. that of my friends, I was in a short space of time completely relieved of my disease. My symptoms, when I first commenced using your medicine, were, a fullness at the pit of the stomach, with great tenderness and vomiting of food, great tenderness at the pit of the stomach, accompanied with acute pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, connected with this pain, was a prominent enlargement in my right side pronounced by my physician "an enlargement of the liver. My appetite was variable, sometimes very good, at others a complete loss.—bowels obstinately constive. My head very much affected with giddiness and pain; my eye-sight was also affected with dimness; I was also much emaciated in flesh, and suffered extremely from nervous feelings; sometime I imagined that a few hours would close my existence; I was disposed to feel constantly cold (especially my feet and hands), in the warmest days in summer. Thus I suffered until life was to me almost a burden, when, hearing of your medicine I was prevailed upon to make use of it; and contrary to my expectation and the expectation of my friends, I was in a few months restored to perfect health, which I will continue to enjoy. Any person desirous of knowing the particulars of my case, by calling upon me, in the Bazaar, Harrison street, I will give the details both as to disease and cure.

JACOB D. HARR.

The following is a true and correct copy of a note from the above gentleman, in from his Honor Jesse Hunt, late Mayor of Baltimore:

"I hereby certify that Jacob D. Harr, is personally known to me as a gentleman of first respectability and standing in the city of Baltimore."

THIRD VOLUME OF THE Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME of the OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly explained in its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause Western Agriculture; and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work. There never was a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put or better usage—when knowledge was of great advantage. It is the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times, and who refuses to keep pace with the times, will lose more than half of the pleasures and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be a double stimulant to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work ever published in the West, has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil, improvement of animals—of garden vegetables, of Agricultural implements, and Geology, Botany, Chemistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention.

SILK.—As the culture of this new article of wealth and industry is exciting universal interest through the whole country, we contemplate devoting a sufficient portion of the next Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry seed to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, coloring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding and will make about 200 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day January, 1836.

CONDITIONS.

The farmer is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on solvent Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for trouble.

All Editors, Postmasters and officers of Agricultural Societies are authorized Agents and requested to act as such.

EVERY BODY'S ALBUM.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c. EMBELLISHED WITH NUMEROUS GROTESQUE & AMUSING ENGRAVINGS.

Each number containing seventy-two octavo pages, neatly covered and stitched—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six hundred engravings with Tales and Index complete—at three dollars per annum.

The cheerful and pleasing feature with which it is proposed to diversify and enliven this work has never yet been adopted by any one of the numerous literary caterers that have hitherto abounded in this country—and its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humor and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render it a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humourists, Essayists and Engravers. The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view, has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought into active use so large a proportion of the really deserving offspring of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of fanciful Illustrations, Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiae, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert into another and more exhilarating channel much of the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering and extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humor which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

EVERY BODY'S ALBUM will be published monthly, in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of embellishments—neatly stitched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, to prevent the least rubbing by the mails. Note—In payment of every description taken in payment of subscriptions. Address the publisher (postage paid.)

THE SATURDAY NEWS, AND LITERARY GAZETTE

A WEEKLY FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

Devoted to literature, Criticism, the Fine Arts, General Intelligence, News, &c. Price Two Dollars per annum—payable in advance.

On Saturday, July 2, 1836, the subscribers will commence, in Philadelphia, the publication of a new weekly newspaper under the above title.

No News will embrace every variety of light literature, including, Tales, Poetry, Essays, Criticism, Notices of the Fine Arts, the Drama, &c. The original matter will be supplied by writers of the first eminence. A regular correspondence will be maintained with Washington, and the principal Cities of the Union, and arrangements are in progress by which letters from Europe will be constantly furnished.

Attention will be paid to securing at the earliest possible date the choicest productions of the English periodical press. Popular novels will occasionally be given, though they will not be suffered to interfere with a general variety. The latest news, and all items of interesting intelligence will invariably form part of the contents.

The News will be printed on a folio sheet of the largest class, and will furnish as large an amount of reading matter as any weekly paper now published in this country. It will be conducted in a spirit of the most fearless independence. All allusion to party politics or sectarian religion will be carefully avoided.

A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST CLASS IN THE COUNTRY—DEVOTED TO LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called

The Saturday Chronicle,

Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.

Publishing Office, No. 74 South Second street,

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the full sense of the term, a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Fables and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral Subjects—Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of improvements in the Mechanic Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents, &c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.

The publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the newspaper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel satisfied that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving the liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and have engaged attentive correspondents to furnish the latest intelligence from Washington and Harsburg, during the sessions of the state Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of a few weeks, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure the best writers in the country. The works of popular authors will occasionally be published at length in the Chronicle, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following:

D. B. Brown, Esq. Robert Morris, Esq.

Col. T. L. McKim, W. G. Clark, Esq.

John J. Smith, Jr. Esq. Dr. James M. Henry,

J. R. Chandler, Esq. Chas. Naylor, Esq.

R. T. Conrad, Esq. Dr. Joseph Pancos,

Miss Leslie, J. Watson, Esq.

Miss E. C. Stras, Chas. S. Cope, Esq.

Mrs. J. L. Dumont, John Clark, Esq.

Rev. Jos. Bush, John H. Hays, Jr. Esq.

Dr. A. C. Draper, C. B. Trenchard, Esq.

Thos. Earle, Esq. Dr. J. A. Elkinton,

Wm. T. Smith, Esq. Thos. A. Parker, Esq.

Hon. Matthias Morris, Victor Value, Esq.

Wm. Darby, Esq. Jos. R. Hart, Esq.

Prof. John M. Keagy, Morris Mattson, Esq.

And it is the intention of the publishers to secure, if possible, original articles from every prominent writer in the country.

One important feature of the Chronicle is the publication of Letters from Europe, written expressly for its pages, by a distinguished literary gentleman. These letters are deeply interesting and instructive; and equal, in every respect, to any European letters that have ever been written for the American press.

The Chronicle is issued in good type, and on the largest manumoth size. It is published every Saturday, and forwarded by mail, enclosed in strong wrappers, to all parts of the United States, on the day of publication.

To be Rented
For one or more years, that large and commodious
BRICK TAVERN

situate in the town of Easton, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, at present, and for some years past, occupied by Mr. Solomon Lowe.

This establishment is universally admitted to be the largest and most convenient for a Public House, of any on the Peninsula, and to a man well calculated to conduct it, an opportunity will be offered for doing a very extensive and profitable business, more especially if he has a sufficient capital to carry it on advantageously.

Easton is known as a town of considerable trade, and the Steam Boat Maryland, which plies twice a week between Baltimore, Annapolis and this place, considerably increases the business, and of course adds very much to the value of this establishment, by the constant intercourse of travellers from the different counties on the Western and Eastern shores, and elsewhere with these places.

Possession will be given on the first day of January next. Persons wishing to rent are invited to come and view the premises. The terms, which will be moderate, will be made known by application to the subscriber.

WM. H. GROOME

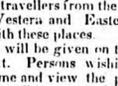

P. S.—Applications for the above will be received by the subscriber until 15th August next.

CLOCK & WATCH

MAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to inform his customers and the public generally, that he has just returned from Baltimore, with a well selected assortment of

MATERIALS

for his line of business, which added to his former stock, renders his assortment general and complete, all of which will be manufactured at the shortest notice and on the most pleasing terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand

New Watches, Watch Chains, Seals and Keys, Watch-Guards, Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Pointed

Scissors, Silver Scissors, Silver Shields, Plain Gold Rings, Razors, & Razor Straps, Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives, Scissors, Percussion Caps, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and to think there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes by strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant,

JAMES BENNY.

HOME AT LAST.

A shivering child, one winter's night,

(The snow was deep, and cold the blast)

Hugging her ragged mother tight,

'Mother' she exclaimed, 'we're home at last!

And as she spoke, poor little one,

A ravenous but still a little one,

Whence, ever since the morning sun

They strayed,—to beg from door to door.

We're home at last! Sad home is this—

All torn without, all cold within;

Her mother here might lurk and hiss,

Her poisonous web the spider spin—

But there's no fire to warm nor light,

And crevices are yawning wide,

Through which storm, this freezing night,

May lay you stiffened side by side.

And yet this wayward child had been

By many a gorgeous house—and past

Where mirth and music cheer the scene,

Nor envies—for she's home at last!

Thus may the heart be trained below

To love the cot wherein was cast

Its tale of poverty or woe.

Like her's who cried—"We're home at last!"

Miss Catherine Bowles has lately published in England a volume of poems, from which the following is an extract:

TILE PAUPER'S DEATH BED.

Tread softly—how the head—

In reverent silence bow—

No passing bell doth toll,

Yet an immortal soul

Is passing now.

Stranger! however great,

With lowly reverence bow;

There's one in that poor shed—

One in that paltry bed,

Greater than thou.

Beneath that beggar's roof,

Lol! Death doth keep his state,

Enter—no crowds attend—

Engage—no guards defend—

Thus pale gate.

That pavement damp and cold

No smiling courtiers tread;

One silent woman stands

Lifting with meagre hands

A dying head.

No mingling voices sound—

An infant wails alone;

A sob suppress'd—again

That short deep gasp, and then

The parting groan.

Old change—Old, wondrous change—

Burst are the prison bars—

This moment rattle, so low,

So agonized, and now

Beyond the stars!

Old change—stupendous change!

There lies the soulless clod!

The Sun eternal breaks!

The Immortal wakes—

Wakes with his God.

THE WHITE MUFF.

As the most vindictive and ferocious feelings of the human heart are, among the Irish people, often counterbalanced by those of a more generous nature, it is not unusual to see the man whose iron nerves would consign a wretched family to a torturing and lingering death, to satisfy a diabolical feeling of revenge, melt into feminine tenderness at an act of kindness offered to himself or his banes. Of the truth of this the following anecdote is illustrative.

In the year 18—, a detachment from the 10th, then stationed at Galway, was quartered at Oughterda. The duty imposed was one particularly obnoxious to the officers and men. It was to suppress illicit distillation; and, however that may be hurtful to the revenue of his country, or destructive to the morals of its members—yet, as none but the very poorest class are engaged in this unholy traffic, few of the military can reconcile it to their feelings to steal thro' the assassin like at midnight, and drag from his bed the poor miserable peasant, whoseaching heart trembles lest the revenue officer should with eagle eye discover, and seize upon that for which he has risked his health, his peace, his reputation—and, which lost, deprives him of the means of administering to the wants of his starving family. To accomplish this, the excise-man, who is always commander-in-chief, in these various expeditions, usually chooses a night of triple darkness, when, under ambush of the sombre sky, he can steal without caution on his prey.

It was on such a one as this, but rendered more dismal by torrents of rain that commonly fall in November, that I was sitting with Lieutenant—in our barrack-room; we listened to the fearful storm that raged with savage violence around us. The rain beat with terrific force against our windows. The loud whistle of wind, that shook the very barracks to its centre, put a stop to our gossip, for it required an effort beyond our ordinary powers to make our voices audible to ourselves. Lake Corrib dashed with fury against the walls; and as the candles burned with unsteady light, we shuddered at the idea of any human creature being exposed to so frightful a night, never dreaming of the possibility of such a one being chosen for a midnight march.—It was, however, perfectly possible; for, just as we were preparing to retire to bed, shutting out the deafening sound, a heavy footstep ascended the stair, and a loud knock at the door told its import. The Lieutenant started to his feet, and an impatient ejaculation of "Impossible! I am not the next for duty," spoke a trembling fear of the probability of such being the case. Another knock, and "Come in!" followed rapidly, and Sergeant—, with the orderly look in his hand, and dripping with wet solemnly approached. "Can you see for duty, Sir, to-night?"—is on the sick list, and a party is wanted to go to a village in the mountains, six miles off, where information of a still has been received. The men are mustered in the barrack square.—"Is the excise man mad to have us out in such a night as this?" exclaimed the Lieutenant, as he took down his sword and sash from where they generally hung; "but no matter, I'll be with you in a moment." In a few seconds more the party had left the barracks, and followed the guide, steadily marching over bogs and morasses, a circuitous path, muttering as they cursed on the cupidity of the spy.

At length, after three hours painful march, they arrived at the village, where every man appeared to be in a state of sleep. All was quiet, and the barrack stood.—The storm had partly abated, and the moon, appearing at intervals, gave him an opportunity of watching the intense and fearful glance they threw on the soldiers, as they came nearer and nearer to a mound rather more elevated than the rest. With an appearance of zeal the Lieutenant directed his men not to slacken their efforts, while he, with slow movement, measured the ground to the questionable spot. Drawing his sword, he pierced the earth—it was soft, and evidently but just heaped together—a hard substance resisted his weapon—there could be no longer a doubt—the covered still lay there in deep concealment.

Turning to the cabin whose inmates he was assured owned this illicit spoil, he caught the departing look the little family, who too well knew the discovery he had made. In a moment they expected to hear the soldiers summoned to drag it forth. They were then re-trying from a needless search. The Lieutenant kept his ground leaning on his sword, he demanded of the excise-man if he were satisfied that no forbidden distillation was there carried on. "You have been misinformed, your excellency, no information is incorrect—the man has made a vigorous search, and neither they nor you have made a seizure. Do you wish me to keep them out longer?" Baffled, but not satisfied, he could offer no plea for a longer stay, and was compelled to acknowledge it was unnecessary. The populace, which had followed the men from place to place, now encompassed the party.—"With breathless anxiety the most interested had crunched up to the Lieutenant—he stood in the foremost rank, and a keen observer might have discovered, in the paleness of his death like countenance and his agitated manner, that he there awaited his sentence. Scarcely did he dare to lift his head—at length however, he did so, and read in the significant and expressive glance of the officer that his secret was safe.

Perfected with astonishment, he saw the party march away; he gazed on their receding steps with undelivered feeling; it was but for a moment—in the next his rapturous and incoherent expressions of gratitude told the extent of his obligations. With enthusiasm the peasants rushed after the soldiers, and their loud shouts, as they saw them descend the mountain, conveyed to the heart of the British officer that his forbearance was appreciated.

"I was not on an I had forgotten the circumstance, when my servant came into my room one morning, and said that a family desired to see me. They had enquired for Lieutenant—, and, on hearing he was out, wished to be admitted to me.—I readily granted the interview, and a most interesting conversation immediately ensued. An elderly man and woman, with a young girl about sixteen, presented themselves; they sank at my feet, and with all that poetry of language so characteristic of the lower Irish, gave vent to the emotions of their hearts.—"In us," said the man, "behold the family your noble husband saved from destruction. He gave us life, for he barred us not of the means of existence is properly to look to his benefactor." He belonged by right to his benefactor." He said, "we should have been here long since, had the brilliant eyed girl, with an excited air and blooming cheek, she unfolded a muf and rippet of uncommon beauty, "but my father and myself could not collect the down sooner—they are of my own making, and I trust, lady," she continued, "she threw the latter grace fully over my shoulders; "you will deign to accept of them as a very poor remembrance of all we owe you."—I was greatly affected at this scene, and could willingly have purchased these pretty tokens of their gratitude; but I well knew that the delicacy of feeling which prompted the gift would have been deeply mortified had I thought of remuneration.

CHEAP LITERATURE. A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to an American Journal of News, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, otherwise we shall from the present time until the first of next month receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION.—That is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten copies of the paper for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling, that all who have the inclination to become acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this, will take advantage of the proposition, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous subscribers. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as many of the popular volumes which are sold in our book-stores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

500 ENGRAVINGS Will be furnished in this journal in one year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Satire, Criticism, and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order. Clubs of Four will be supplied with the paper for one year from the commencement, by forwarding a five dollar note, postage paid.

PREMIUMS.—The publisher, prompted by the unexampled and unexpected patronage which this paper has received, after the following premiums:—For the best ORIGINAL COMIC TALE, FIFTY DOLLARS; for the best ORIGINAL COMIC SONG, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; for the best collection of ORIGINAL ANECDOTES, JESTS, &c. not less than fifty in number, FIVE DOLLARS; for the best ORIGINAL COMIC DESIGN, SKETCH, or DRAWING, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; for the second best, FIFTEEN DOLLARS; and for the third best TEN DOLLARS.

Persons entering any of the above prizes must send their names, together with their own address, to the publisher, who will be awarded the premium. All communications to the subject must be addressed to the publisher, prior to the first of September, 1836, postage paid.

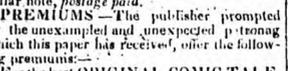

A post master's certificate will be a satisfactory guarantee of a remittance. Negotiable notes of every kind taken in payment of subscriptions.

Address CHARLES ALEXANDER, No. 3 Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place Philadelphia.

All persons indebted to the subscriber for officers fees last year, are requested to come forward immediately and settle the same, as long indulgence will not be given. I have given positive orders to my Deputies to execute for the same without delay, and all persons in arrears for officers fees due this year and executions now in hand are notified that I shall be under the necessity of advertising their property between this and the first day of September next if not settled. The subscriber is urged to this course from an expectation of leaving the County; and he therefore expects all persons interested to pay attention to this notice, or otherwise abide the consequences.

Carey's Library

OF CHOICE LITERATURE

To say that this is a reading age, implies desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire. On the first point, all are agreed, and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of all sizes, on nearly all subjects, which have severally their classes of readers and supporters.

THE OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work ever published in the West has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers.

CONDITIONS. The former is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on Silver Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for trouble.

EVREY BODY'S ALBUM. A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c. ENRICHED WITH NUMEROUS GROTESQUE & AMUSING ENGRAVINGS.

TAILORING. THE subscriber presents his grateful acknowledgments to the subscribers of Easton and the adjoining counties, for the flattering patronage he has met with, since he commenced the above business, and begs leave to inform them that he has just returned from Baltimore with

FIRST RATE WORKMEN. That has never been practised in Easton; but one, that is almost universally used in Baltimore and in the best establishments he has also engaged.

Dissolution. THE partnership heretofore existing between the subscribers under the firm of Council & Vinson, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. Those indebted to the above firm will please settle their accounts with Joseph Council, who is authorized to receive the same.

Blacksmithing. JAMES VINSON has this day taken the Shop of Council & Vinson on Dover St. in the town of Easton, lately occupied by Mr. Vanderford, next door to Mr. Dodd's, and directly opposite to Mr. John Bennett's, and intends to carrying on the above business in all its various branches.

THIRD VOLUME OF THE Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME OF THE OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause Western Agriculture; and that there has been, at least, partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

Do ALL PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH A Certain Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver, Biliary, and Nervous Complaints; Jaundice, General Debility, Lowness of Spirits, and Diseases incident to Females.

DR. LOKWARD'S Celebrated Vegetable Sepsic Mixtur. Symptoms of Dyspepsia. The first symptoms of this disease is a disengagement of food, producing pain and uneasiness at the region of the stomach; fullness of that organ; belching of wind, with sour, oily or putrescent eructations; pain and tenderness at the pit of the stomach; pain in the right side, extending after to the right shoulder, and under the shoulder-blade; the same kind of pain is very often experienced in the left side, particularly when lying on the right or left side; pain also often in the small of the back, and a heaviness of the head; thinness of the sight; coated tongue; disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning after arising; coldness of the feet; and a general debility of the system; at the same time it restores the lost tone of the stomach and bowels, opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Pancreas, and cleanses the system of all morbid humors.

As a certain remedy or cure for the above diseases this medicine stands incomparably beyond any other now in use. And as nothing more could be requisite to convince the most skeptical of its singularly efficacious in diseases of the Kidneys. As a family medicine it will be found cheaper or to answer a better purpose, and being composed entirely of vegetable matter it is perfectly innocent, which renders it more valuable.

Dr. LOKWARD.—Sir I have made use of your valuable Medicine for the Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, both of which I have had for many years, and for about three years—I have not had any other medicine, but all to no effect.—I was induced to give yours a trial, and much to my astonishment & that of my friends, I was in a short space of time completely relieved of my disease. My symptoms, when I first commenced using your medicine, were, a fullness at the pit of my stomach, with heartburn, sourness and vomiting of food, great tenderness at the pit of the stomach, accompanied with a cutting pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, connected with this pain was a prominent enlargement in my right side pronounced by my physician "an enlargement of the liver." My appetite was variable, sometimes very good, at others a complete loss, however obstinately costive. My head very much affected with giddiness and pain; my eyesight was also affected with dimness; I was also much afflicted in the chest, and suffered extremely from nervous feelings, sometimes I imagined that a few hours would close my existence; I was disposed to feel constantly cold (especially my feet and hands,) in the warmest days in summer. Thus I suffered until life was to me almost a burthen, when, hearing of your medicine I was prevailed upon to make use of it; and contrary to my expectation and the expectation of my friends, I was in a few months restored to perfect health, which I still continue to enjoy. Any person desirous of knowing the particulars of my case by calling upon me, in the Bazaar, Harrison street, I will give the details both as to disease and cure.

Yours, with respect, JACOB D. HAIR. The following as to the standing of the above named gentleman, is from his Honor Jesse Hunt, late Mayor of Baltimore: "I hereby certify that Jacob D. Hair, is personally known to me as a gentleman of first responsibility and standing in the city of Baltimore."

A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST CLASS IN THE COUNTRY.—DEVOTED TO LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called

The Saturday Chronicle,
Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.

Publication Office, No. 74 S. Second Street,

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the title of the new series of a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and zealously devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Tales and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral subjects—Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of improvements in the Mechanic Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents, &c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.

The publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the new paper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel satisfied that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving of liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and have engaged attentive correspondents to furnish the latest intelligence from Washington and Harrisburg, during the sessions of the state Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of a few weeks, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure for their readers productions from some of the best writers in the country. The works of popular authors will occasionally be published at length in the Chronicle, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following:—
D. B. Brown, Esq. Robert Morris, Esq.
Col. T. L. McKim, W. G. Clark, Esq.
John J. Smith, Jr. Esq. Dr. James M. Henry,
J. R. Chandler, Esq. Chas. Naylor, Esq.
C. P. Holcomb, Esq. R. T. Conrad, Esq.
Miss Leslie, Dr. Joseph Pannock,
Miss E. C. Stras, J. Watson, Esq.
Mrs. J. L. Dumont, Chas. S. Cope, Esq.
John Clarke, Esq. Robt. Hale, Jr. Esq.
Rev. Jos. Rusting, B. W. Edwards, Esq.
Dr. A. C. Drayton, C. B. Trege, Esq.
Thos. Earle, Esq. Dr. J. A. Elkinton,
Wm. T. Smith, Esq. Thos. A. Parker, Esq.
Hon. Matthias Morris, Victor Value, Esq.,
Wm. Darby, Esq., J. R. Hart, Esq.,
Prof. John M. Key, Morris Mattison, Esq.

And it is the intention of the publishers to secure, if possible, original articles from every prominent writer in the country. One important feature of the Chronicle is the publication of Letters from Europe, written expressly for this paper, by a distinguished literary gentleman. These letters are deeply interesting and instructive, and equal in every respect to any European letters that have ever been written for the American press. The Chronicle is issued in good type, and on the largest and most elegant paper. It is published every Saturday, and forwarded by mail, enclosed in strong wrappers, to all parts of the United States, on the day of publication.

To be Rented
For one or more years, that large and commodious
BRICK TAVERN

EASTON HOTEL,

situate in the town of Easton, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, at present, and for some years past, occupied by Mr. Solomon Lowe. This establishment is universally admitted to be the largest and most convenient for a Public House, of any on the Peninsula, and to a man well calculated to conduct it, an opportunity will be offered for doing a very extensive and profitable business, more especially if he has a sufficient capital to carry it on advantageously.

Easton is known as a town of considerable trade, and the Steam Boat Maryland, which plies twice a week between Baltimore, Annapolis and this place, considerably increases the business, and of course adds very much to the value of this establishment, by the constant intercourse of travellers from the different counties on the Western and Eastern shores, and elsewhere with these places.

Possession will be given on the first day of January next. Persons wishing to rent are invited to come and view the premises. The terms, which will be moderate, will be made known by application to the subscriber.

WM. H. GROOME

P. S.—Applications for the above will be received by the subscriber until 15th August next.

his line of business, which added to his former stock, renders his assortment general and complete, all of which will be manufactured at the shortest notice and on the most pleasing terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also hand

New Watches, Watch Chains,
Seals and Keys, Watch Gears, Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Point
Cils.

Silver Scissor-hooks, Silver Shields,
Plain Gold Rings, Razors, & Razor Straps,
Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives,
Scissors, Pencil Cases, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and he thinks there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes by strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant,
JAMES BENNY.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES PASSED AT THE TWENTY-FOURTH CONGRESS FIRST SESSION.

[Public—No. 69.]

AN ACT supplementary to an act entitled "An act to regulate the deposits of the public money," passed twenty third June, eighteen hundred and thirty six.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That nothing in the act to which this act is supplemental shall be construed as to prevent the Secretary of the Treasury from making transfers from Banks in one State or Territory, to Banks in another State or Territory, whenever such transfers may be required, in order to prevent large and inconvenient accumulations in particular places, or in order to produce a due equality, and just proportion, according to the provisions of said act.

JAMES K. POLK,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

W. R. KING,
President of the Senate, Pro. Tem.

Approved, 11 July 1836.

ANDREW JACKSON.

[Public—No. 70.]

AN ACT to carry into effect, in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, the existing compact with those States in 1834, to transfer to the United States, a certain tract of land, and to be enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a sum equivalent to five per cent. of the net proceeds of the land within the State of Mississippi, ceded by the Chickasaws by the treaty of the twentieth of October, eighteen hundred and thirty-two, which have been or may hereafter be sold by Congress, shall be, as is hereby reserved, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be applied in the same manner, and for the same uses and purposes, as is designated by the fifth section of the act of Congress of the first of March, eighteen hundred and seventeen.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That there shall be reserved, out of the net proceeds of the lands ceded by said Chickasaws as aforesaid, within said State of Mississippi, which lands shall be selected tokens of a particular association, the existence of which was suspected; it was that of which the Frenchman, to whom these words were addressed, had lately become a member. He was questioned by the confessor, with promises of additional reward—his only reply was a demand of immediate death—his initiation was complete. All that passed was a terrible trial of his fidelity; those who surrounded him were members of the society, and every incident that has been described, from the moment of the first summons to the last fearful moment of expected death, was only a step in the progress of the fearful experiment, by which they sought to determine the trustworthiness of the neophyte.

FEDERALISM IN MASQUERADE.

Of all the devices ever attempted by the party opposed to our republican institutions, that through which they seek to steal into power at the approaching Presidential election, shows the most shameful destination of principle. In the era of the elder Adams, aristocracy boldly endeavored to bear itself through, by openly arguing the necessity of a strong government to keep down the will of the people who "were their own worst enemies." The present was then fearlessly followed up by example, and the alien law, the sedition law, and one strong blow after another, left the people no doubt that they were to become the subjects of the men installed in the power of the Government, or immediately assert their right of sovereignty over it. In the next epoch, when federalism sought its restoration, the strength of British bayonets, and its undignified ally itself with a foreign power, in the effort to enforce its lost influence and authority upon the American people. In the third approach of federalism to power, fraud and corruption were substituted for force, and the daring policy of the elder Adams. Bargain, intrigue, and management in the house of Representatives had its day, and the coalition of interests in a bank monopoly, joint-stock manufacturing monopoly, the roll-upping internal improvement system, succeeded. Hamilton's idea of engraving the British money government upon the young and flourishing stock of American democracy, was fully embraced by Mr. Clay. The tariff and the Bank of the United States were to furnish the supplies. The active classes were to be welded in plans. The bank had the mercantile interest at its back. The tariff gave the administration the command of the manufacturers, and of every section which could be reached and influenced by a road or canal; and how it was contemplated to subsidize the press and to poison the Congress, the glimpse which we have had at the proceedings of Mr. Bidwell's fair business transaction committee sufficiently explains.

The striking characteristic of the attempt of the enemies of republican government, at the present moment, is the adoption of every species of expedient to carry their point, without regard to any general principle; or, if there is a general principle, it is that of using all means, no matter how incongruous, to break down the present system of government, without any plan with regard to building up another. The whole doctrine is a disguise of ultimate objects. In these, none of the real leaders of the opposition would concur. Neither Clay, Calhoun or Webster, would agree on any mode of administration, in which each could not have his selfish ambition gratified. A national patriotism has no place in the bosoms of these political gamblers, more than private morality has in the designs of the managers of a public gaming table. Their sole object is to have all that is dear and valuable to society, as settled by the just and equal institutions under which we live, staked up and put to a hazard—and they trust to their skill and adroitness to appropriate the greatest share. In the present settled order of things, the schemes of dishonest men are circumscribed by the regular operation of the public mind, and the safe and steady motion which imparts to the Government. Nothing but some convulsion which shall break up the ways, and arrest the natural progress of public affairs, will enable the malcontents to give a new direction to them.—They agree, therefore in every thing that tends to anarchy.

In this view, they have set up a Presidential ticket with the name of the hydra. In some sections their electoral ticket is for Harrison, Webster, and Granger; in others, it is for White, Harrison, and Tyler. In Tennessee, it is for White alone, without a Vice President in Kentucky, it is for Harrison alone, with Granger for a lieutenant. In Maryland, the heads of Harrison and Tyler appear together. The whole of this new device of using secondary men, is to blind all the factions in one common purpose of subverting what is established. The leaders could not come out themselves, because each of them is identified with some obnoxious policy or principle, which would rally a majority in every section, north, south, and west, against them. By taking an apostate republican for use in the south, the odium of the former conspiracy of federalism in the shape of a public gaming table, is thrown upon the malcontents to rally a southern party. In the north and west, abolition federalism has laid hold on one, who, although identified with all the principles of the administrations of the elder and younger Adams by his admission to both, is yet supposed, a native of Virginia, to be able to associate something of State pride with the White ticket. In the old Dominion, and so while a geographical party is to be formed on him and Granger in the non-slaveholding States, on the principle of abolition, his mongrel connexion with White and Tyler in Maryland and Virginia is to bring back cockade federalism, as far as it exists in those States, in array with nationalism, in the effort to merge the democratic union party, in a sectional southern party.

The end to which this masquerade of federalism and its nursing factions, north and south are to conduct the approaching Presidential election, is thus set forth in Thursday's Telegraph. In the north and west, Harrison, according to the Telegraph, is to get ONE HUNDRED electoral votes. In the south, in virtue of the geographical division, ninety-three electoral votes are to be carried in the name of White. In this state of the case, the qualifying organ comes to the conclusion that the election of the democratic candidate will be defeated.

"There is however," says the Telegraph, "but little doubt that Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, and Massachusetts, will eventually cast their votes for General Harrison, when it is found that his election can be thus secured in the electoral college. But should they prefer voting for Judge White, the election will be thrown into the House of Representatives, and we do not think it possible for Mr. Van Buren with all his cunning and intrigue, to secure his election in that body, after the People have passed sentence against him."

to Mr. Adams, against the will of the people of these States, is to be renewed in the electoral college, and Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, and Massachusetts, are to be transferred to a Bank, Tariff, and Internal Improvement federalist, or else "the election is to be thrown into the House of Representatives," and the same scene renewed in that body!

All this, however, is mere delusion. There is no hope of immediate success indulged by those who are laboring to build upon geographical parties, upon the principle which showed itself with such fearful potency in the Missouri question. The false hope held out of the sectional candidates—pulling at the opposite ends of the Union—is out to animate their partisans, to urge the opposing principles and prejudices which are now broached and looked to for future use, in the different quarters, as the means of making that final schism, which can alone be the object of the southern agitators. To make the Presidency subject to the disposal of a sectional party would not suit Calhoun or his associates. The North is the strongest section, and if disposed of on that principle, the South would be the loser. The only purpose, therefore, which these men can have in broaching anew the principle which produced the difficulty in the Missouri question, is to make it pervade the Presidential contest, is to bring about the result to which we referred yesterday, and which was so deeply deplored by Mr. Jefferson in the letter to Mr. Short, from which we quoted. Of the same tenor is the following letter to John Holmes:

Monticello, April 22, 1820.
I thank you, dear Sir, for the copy you have been so kind as to send me of the letter to your constituents on the Missouri question. It is a perfect justification to them. I had for a long time ceased to read newspapers, or pay any attention to public affairs, confident they were in good hands, and content to be a passenger in our bark to the shore from which I am not distant. But this momentous question, like a fire bell in the night, awakened and filled me with terror. I considered it at once as the knell of the Union. It is hushed, indeed, for the moment. But this is a reprieve only, not a final sentence. A geographical line, dividing the Union, with a marked moral and political character, once conceived, and held up to the angry passions of men, will never be obliterated; and every new irritation will mark it deeper and deeper.

I regret that I am now to die in the belief, that the useless sacrifice of themselves by the generation of 1776, to acquire self-government and happiness to their country, is to be thrown away by the unwise and unworthy passions of their sons, and that my only consolation is to be, that I live not to weep over it. If they would but dispassionately weigh the blessings they will throw away, against an abstract principle more likely to be effected by union than by secession, they would pause before they would perpetrate this act of suicide on themselves, and of treason against the hopes of the world. To yourself, as the faithful advocate of the Union, I tender the offering of my high esteem and respect.

TH. JEFFERSON

THE SPECIE ORDER—MR. CLAY AND MR. WEBSTER.

As we expected at the time the specie order requiring that only to be received in payment for public lands, has been denounced on the first occasion that offered, by Mr. Clay, (at the Woodford county dinner) as "A MOST ILL-ADVISED, ILLEGAL, AND PERNICIOUS MEASURE." This is quite moderate for Mr. Clay, in reference to any measure emanating from President Jackson. Those who are disappointed in reaching the height to which their ambition soars, are ever inimical and unforgiving to those who have been the cause of their defeat. So with Mr. Clay. In his speech on the above occasion, April 1816, which says "That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he hereby is, required to direct to adopt such measures as he may deem necessary, to cause, as soon as may be, all duties, taxes, debts, or sums of money, accruing or becoming payable to the United States, to be collected and paid in the legal currency of the Bank of the United States, as by law provided and declared, or in notes of banks which are payable and paid on demand, in the said legal currency of the United States." Mr. Clay said:

"This resolution was restrictive and prohibitory upon the Secretary only as to the notes of banks not redeemable in specie on demand. As to such notes, he was forbidden to receive them from and after the 20th day of February, 1817. As to the notes of banks which were payable and paid on demand in specie, the resolution was not merely permissive. It was compulsory and mandatory. He was bound, and is yet bound to receive them, until Congress interposes."

Really this declaration of Mr. Clay's out-heralds Herod. Is the Secre any bound to receive all the notes of every bank paying in specie through, aware that they may stop to-morrow? And how did it happen, that the Bank of the United States, during the administration of Adams and Clay, in collecting the revenue, would receive only the notes of such specie paying banks as suited it? Has Mr. Clay forgotten the constitution, or has he never read it? What does that instrument recognize as the only legal currency of the nation?

In relation to the ally of Mr. Clay in his crusade against the President, Mr. Webster, the great expounder of the Constitution, has been called, (and for which he has been complimented with a piece of plate with that inscription,) in the following, extracted from his speech in 1816 against chartering the United States Bank. Said he:

"The framers of the constitution were hard upon men 'THE LEGAL CURRENCY OF THE UNITED STATES WAS GOLD AND SILVER COIN.' The Government have, in fact, no power to make any thing else but gold and silver. 'GOLD AND SILVER CURRENCY WAS THE LAW OF THE LAND AT HOME, AND THE LAW OF THE WORLD ABROAD.'"

Yet, in defiance of the constitution and of the declaration of his great "expounder" of it, Mr. Clay has the hardihood to assert that the constitution were set aside, and that the Treasury Department has been ever since "bound" to receive in payment of the public revenue, the notes of any bank whatever that pays specie, and still is bound to do so, "until Congress interposes!" This is not the first time that Mr. Clay has attempted to place the power of even one branch of Congress above the constitution.

On the same occasion, Mr. Clay said: "Presently had risen while money was depreciated, and more money wanted. The money lying in these deposite banks, and the want of confidence, and apprehension that this paper system must burst, and the hoarding up of hard money going on, even by obscure individuals, to a great amount, might be a lead to the cause assigned by the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Webster) of the present state of the currency. If he (Mr. C.) had ten or fifteen thousand dollars, which, by the way, he had not, he should want to look out for some of this yellow or white money too."

But, four or five days succeeding these declarations, Mr. Webster asked, "Did gentlemen ever see a more peculiar state of things than existed in the country at this time? A country more beautifully blest in all things, than any country on earth—prosperous beyond comparison in all the pursuits of industry and commerce, and yet its finances were deranged—a growing want of confidence was left in circulation, and property of every description was extravagantly high."

And on the same occasion, he declared that "THERE WAS MORE MONEY THAN WAS NEEDED, AND THE CURRENCY WAS NOW UNSOUND!!!" The declarations of Mr. Webster and Mr. Clay, in the above quotations, intimate that "a want of confidence" in our paper system must burst; and the latter says, that if he had ten or fifteen thousand dollars, such would be his apprehension of its insecurity in the paper of banks, that he would look out for some of the yellow and white money.

This was the state of the currency in April last, as declared by Messrs. Webster and Clay; but notwithstanding, both these gentlemen refused to do any thing to improve or correct it.

What was the language of Mr. Webster in Congress, in 1816? It was this:

"It is our business to foresee danger and to avoid it. There are some political evils which are seen as soon as they are dangerous, and which alarm at once as well the P. as the Government.

Not so with the plausible and mischievous paper money system. These insinuate themselves in the shape of facilities, accommodations, and relief. They hold out the most fallacious hope of an easier payment of debts and a lighter burden of taxation.

It is easy for a portion of the people to imagine that Government may properly continue to receive depreciated paper because they have received it, and because it is more convenient to obtain it than specie.

And what did he then declare was the DUTY of the Government? In reference to the above, he said:

"On these subjects it is that Government ought to exercise its own peculiar wisdom, somewhat more of foresight than has fallen to the lot of individuals. It is bound to foresee the evil before any man feels it, and to take all necessary measures to guard against it, although they may be temporary attended with some difficulty, and not without temporary inconvenience."

Notwithstanding these solemn assertions of Mr. Webster, in 1816, as to what was the duty of the Government, and what was not a constitutional currency, in April last, on the introduction of a resolution by Col. Benton, to receive only gold and silver in payment of the public lands, Mr. Webster proclaimed; "Gentlemen now talked of returning to a specie basis. Did any man suppose that was practicable?"

Then, this great expounder of the constitution virtually declared, that in relation to the currency its provisions could not be carried out, and that banks and bank paper were to supersede it.

Now, Mr. Clay represents a measure adopted by the President for the purpose of substituting the constitutional currency, declared in 1816 by Mr. Webster to be only such, to be "illegal and pernicious;" and this, too, when no longer ago than April last, he spoke of an approval that "this paper system must burst!"

In directing that the public domain should no longer be disposed of excepting for gold and silver, the President felt that the occasion called for it, to check the morbid mania going on, as well as to save the people from the consequences which would follow if the paper system was permitted to preponderate over the constitutional currency, until, in the language of Mr. Clay it "burst."

With the exception of such as Mr. Clay, who are predetermined to oppose every measure of Gen. Jackson's, it is one of his most popular acts; and, strange to relate, is supported by Mr. Calhoun, who, when the measure was proposed by Col. Benton in the Senate, said:

"He saw a great many advantages that would result from the measure, and particularly in the check it would give to that spirit of speculation by which banks rage were given in exchange for the valuable public domain."

None of our friends can reasonably expect us to answer an article which appeared in the Gazette last Saturday, in allusion to ourselves. We have already condescended further than we think becoming in noticing as far as we have many of its backguardisms; and when we cornered it so close as to drive it to another position—that of falsehood—we can only say we pity and dispise the cause that sinks from slander to falsehood to find a prop to support it.—We have other matters of more importance to attend to.

THE WHIG NOMINATIONS.

The Whigs (dashed with victory—and such a victory) on Tuesday last nominated the following ticket:

J. B. Kerr, John Boyles, Wm. Townsend, and T. O. Martin, Delegates for the General Assembly; John Edmondson and Robert Leonard, for Commissioners; and Jno. Harrington for Sheriff.

We need only say to the people that these Candidates come recommended to them by the INDEMNITY PARTY who were afraid to run their old candidates, so certain were they of defeat. The first named gentleman, however, has signalized himself by a speech in favor of that monstrous bill, and as it is so great a favorite with the leaders of the party so must it be with the smaller fry. If they are elected they will support the predominant party whose acts the people cannot support either with interest to themselves, or with justice to their children. More anon.

MARYLAND ELECTION.

By the following statement it will be seen the Whigs have succeeded in electing twenty-one of the Senatorial Electors, and that we have succeeded in electing nineteen. The result of this election secures them, of course the Senate for the next five years. It is a fact worthy of notice, that the disparity between the Democratic and Whig majorities is immense in favor of the former. The nineteen Democratic electors will represent a white population of 205,922, and the twenty two Whig electors only a population of 73,873; and yet from the manner of electing the Senate this latter number will rule the former, and retain the power of the State.

The State Election in Rhode Island took place on Wednesday the 4th inst. The opposition have been routed, horse, foot and dragoon. Providence and several other towns, the strongest holds of the whigs, have elected several Van Buren men.

Gen. Harrison confessed, in the Senate of the United States, that he was a rigid supporter of the gag-law administration of John Adams; and yet there are to be found wings, and old democrats, too, willing to support him and his friends. In the short space of four years, that administration brought us to the verge of despotism, and inflicted upon the people the most intolerable political grievances, with the sanction and approval of Wm. H. Harrison.—After this, what friend of liberty and equal rights will give his vote to General Harrison? Surely no one.—Fred. Times

Gen. Harrison, when a member of the Senate of Ohio, voted in favor of a law to sell poor white men into slavery and bondage, to raise money to pay their jail fees! This fact has been proven by the publication of the section of the law which defines this act of barbarity, and cannot be controverted by his friends.—Such an act as this ought to excite the indignation of every freeman in the Union, and impel him to take a determined stand against his election, or the election of any man that calls himself his friend. He that will refuse to do it is prepared to wear the chains of slavery, and disgrace the name of a freeman!—Z.

Letters from Washington mention that Capt. BALDARD is ordered to the North Carolina, lying at Norfolk, and waiting for a crew. She is destined to the Pacific to relieve Commodore Walsworth, whose health is represented as delicate.

MR. MADISON'S OPINIONS.

We gave, a few days since, an account of a visit to Mr. Madison, by a distinguished citizen of Philadelphia. In the conversations Mr. Madison held with this gentleman it was gratifying to perceive, at the end of his life, the first of which was given with devotedness to the establishment of our institutions, the meridian to their administration, and the close to a philosophical contemplation of their tendencies—that he bore evidence of his confirmed conviction in the propriety of cherishing the democratic doctrines, to the opening triumph of which he had contributed so much. Our Philadelphia correspondent says, that Mr. Madison cast back his looks to Mr. Jefferson as his idol—most man; and we are happy to find from the following note of Mr. Bancroft to his late 4th of July oration, that he resorted to Mr. Jefferson with the same affectionate confidence, in a conversation with him in March last. To both these gentlemen also he expressed his repugnance to monopolies.

But what will the coalition of Webster, White, Clay, Calhoun, Harrison, Tyler and Granger say to the fact stated by Mr. Bancroft, that he expressed HIS PREFERENCE FOR MR. VAN BUREN, WHOM HE PERSONALLY ESTEEMED MOST HIGHLY; that he WAS A LIKE OPPOSER TO THE WHIGS OF THE SOUTH AND THE WHIGS OF THE NORTH—NOT TO THEM PERSONALLY, BUT TO DOCTRINES?

And what especially, will that dupe of the nullifiers Judge White say, when he learns that THE PARTY THAT RALLIES ROUND MR. VAN BUREN WAS TO MR. MADISON THE PARTY OF THE UNION?

The outcry of one and all of these worthies will be, the Magician in his visit to Montpelier last year, cast a spell upon the great civilian as previously upon the military chieftain; and they will exclaim against the opinion of the one as of the other, that it is an attempt to appoint a successor.—But when the people of almost every State in the Union have recognized him as the choice of the democratic majority, and as the rallying point of the friends of union, arrayed against every species of faction, shall we hear more of the Presidential election of a successor? or will a convention of democratic delegates, directly from the people, be called a caucus?

From the New Castle Gazette.

RICHARD M. JOHNSON,

vs.
FRANCIS GRANGER.

The appeal made by the Harrisonites to the "old Jackson men" of Kent county, opposed to the nomination of Richard M. Johnson as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, is truly amusing, and the low, vulgar and abusive reasons for such a call, are disgusting. The abuse heaped upon this patriot, who is, and always was the friend of the poor mechanic and workingman, who is the advocate of abolition of imprisonment for debt, who has been elected to the Congress of the United States, for twenty eight years in succession from the State of Kentucky, that has always been opposed to him in politics—we say the abuse heaped upon such a man by the Harrison press will avail nothing, but tend rather to advance him to the honorable station for which he is now a candidate. Contrast for one instant Francis Granger, the Harrison candidate for the same office. What is he—what has he done—what are his principles?

First, he is an avowed political Aristocrat—the leader of that party in the State of New York, and has acted with them for the last seven years.

Second, he is an avowed practical ABOLITIONIST, and has always voted against the South, and in the time of the greatest excitement, was ready to throw a fire brand into those States, by declaring the slaves free!—Let his vote be examined by the people of this State, and satisfy themselves.

We have but one more remark to make in relation to this call, which is, that the sanderous course resorted to, as is evident from the language there used, will compel us, if repeated, to reply, not in the same vulgar style, but by facts, times, places, and individuals, in relation to a candidate on the Harrison ticket of this State, who is the avowed father of whites, not raised at his own door—who is known as the "practical" sender of honest and virtuous innocent—who is celebrated for living in secret connexion—not with a negro woman, but with those who would disgrace a negro boy, but with their habits and character! We shall stay our arm if not provoked by the assaults of this Harrison renegade; but if it must come, it shall fall like a thunderbolt upon the ears of those who make such professions of purity, and abhorrence of that which they are known to be guilty of.—We shall not be content with giving circumstances alone, but names, dates, and facts that cannot be mistaken.

THE ELECTION.

We cannot but congratulate the Democracy of Missouri upon the result of the recent elections. They have carried the election of Miller and Harrison by the triumphant majority of near FOUR THOUSAND.—Canon is no doubt elected Lieutenant Governor by a large majority, and from the best information received, we believe Col. Boggs is elected Governor. There will be a considerable majority of Democrats returned to the Legislature.—We publish, as soon as received, a completed list of the members elect, of the General Assembly and class them according to their politics.—White Whiggery is literally used up.

THE LOUISVILLE ADVERTISER SAYS.

The Louisville Advertiser says "the administration majority in Illinois exceeds ten thousand. The vote on joint ballot in the Legislature will be about two to one in favor of Van Buren and Johnson. As far as heard from the following may be relied on as correct:

LATEST FROM FLORIDA.

BATTLE AT FORT DRANE—POWELL DEFEATED.

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the Alexandria (D C) Gazette, dated Fort DeFiance, Micamopy, Aug 21, 1836.

Dear Sir:—For the information of your readers, I have to inform you, that a severe and warm affair took place this morning with a large party of Indians at the recently evacuated post, Fort Drane. Major Pierce, who has very recently arrived in Florida, left this post at three o'clock, A.M. with a detachment of 120 mounted men, in hopes that he would surprise this large party, which had taken up their quarters at Fort Drane by his spies sent out to reconnoitre. He was not disappointed; he discovered them at day light in the morning, but the position of their main body being near the edge of a large hammock, the surprise was not so effectual as it otherwise might have been.—We killed three stragglers before they could reach their quarters, passed over their bodies and killed four more of the main body, whose bodies were also passed over. These seven we are certain of, and have good reason to believe we killed several others which we did not count up with. Some of the bodies were examined by one or two of the soldiers of this company, whom we had carried with us as guides, and they were pronounced to be Micassukes, the most famous warriors of this country. They certainly fought better, after they gained the hammock and recovered a little fire from their first surprise, than any Indians I have seen in Florida, and I have seen engagements with three different parties, in different sections of the country.

Our loss is one killed and thirteen wounded, none thought to be mortally wounded.

From the extent of the line of the Indians and the number seen, I estimate their force to have been over two hundred. The affair lasted about fifty minutes, when, the ammunition having been nearly expended, we were obliged to retire, which was done coolly and in good order. The distance is ten miles, and we arrived with wounded, about half past nine, A.M. The buildings at Fort Drane are all burnt, and the Indians appear to have been staying there, collecting the corn from the plantations I ought to state that all of the detachments were not in the engagement, for a guard was left with the horses, and another for the wounded. The force consisted of about ninety-five. I have just learned that three or four Indians were seen lying dead in the hammock, by several of our men, but we did not pass over them.

A list of the detachment and officers engaged—Maj. Pierce, 1st Art. Comd'g; Lt. Betts, 1st Art. Adjt. Dr. Trippler, Surgeon, U.S.A., Dr. Berry do do.

Force: The Comd'g, 3d Art. Comd'g by Capt. Thome Childs, 3d Art.; detachment from D. C. and G. Companies, 1st Art. Comd'g by Lieut. Irwin and Lieut. Herbert, 3d Art.; one howitzer; detachment of mounted Artillerists, commanded by Lt. Pickell, 4th Regt. Art.; a detachment of 24 dragoon men, commanded by Lt. Spaulding, 2d Dragoons.

I might state that this is one of the first attempts to surprise the Indians at their encampments during this war; and the number killed on their side has been surpassed on no occasion since the battle of the Wicacoocchie.

The effecting of the regulars in Florida now north of Tampa Bay, is two hundred and thirty—the rest are either sick or wounded. I am sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

A. H. Lt. 2d Regt. U. S. Art., one of the Comd'g.

OPPOSITION MISREPRESENTATIONS.

From the recklessness of the opposition, and their entire disregard of the truth in many of their assertions, we would send them to the driven to depravity as well as desperation.

The following furnishes a sample of their misstatements of the most recent date.

First, comes Mr. Clay, who declared in his late dinner harangue, that the Secretary of the Treasury "was bound" to receive in payment of all public dues bank paper, "until Congress interposes."

This we proved in Saturday's paper was not the case. The resolution gave the Secretary the option to receive specie or notes or specie paying banks, but did not deny him the right to reject the latter, which it gave him the option to receive. Besides, his assertion is opposed flatly by the report of a Congress committee in 1821, and the whole practice of the Government since 1816.

Second, comes the Albany Daily Advertiser, which contained the following:

"We learn that either a new order or an explanation of the old order has been issued from the Treasury Department, which is playing the mischief with the western banks, and the rates of exchange between the Atlantic towns and the interior. It is a direction issued to the deposite banks to hold all the specie paid into them on account of public lands, as a special deposite of the Government."

We are authorized to say this statement is without the least shadow of foundation whatever. No such direction as above stated has been given, or even thought of, by the Treasury Department.

Third, comes honest Zach. Poulson, of Philadelphia, with the following:

"By the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, it appears that the surplus in the Treasury amounted, on the first instant, to upwards of FORTY-TWO MILLIONS OF DOLLARS. It is probable that the amount to be distributed in the month of January will exceed all the calculations made at the time of the enactment of the distribution bill."

This could have been none other than a wilful misrepresentation, for the report of the Secretary of the Treasury stated expressly the sum in the Treasury to be somewhat less than thirty-eight millions; and the balance of the public money was at the credit of public officers, for the purpose of disbursement, and therefore could not be in the Treasury. Again: There will be a considerable majority of Democrats returned to the Legislature.—We have heard of no such amount. We know of no other bill than the "deposite bill," which has relation to the surplus in the Treasury, and that does not remove a single dollar from the Treasury, but merely directs where part of it shall be deposited if it wanted.

Last, and probably the most infamous, comes the man of Dartmouth Prison notoriety; he who edits the New York American; who, in reference to Mr. Clay's dinner speech, remarks:

"The examination he gives to the Treasury circular requiring specie in payment for the public lands, proves, what facts moreover furnish abundant evidence of, that it is any thing but a benefit to the poor settler."

A REVOLUTIONARY PELLIC.—The Editor of the Charleston Courier, has been presented with an epistle, which was found by a box buried in the ground under a floor, which was taken up in order to make repairs. It was the inside of the trap the No. 1779, and the name of "MARRIAGE." The house had been built about 40 years. It is more than probable that this Epidemic is a revolutionary relic—and may have graced the shoulder of one of the heroes of '76.

MATERNAL CRUELTY.
Take an infant about ten days old, put a stout cap on his head, and then about two dozen thicknesses round its little body. If it happens to have a pin sticking into its flesh, bonnet it up and down merely, talk baby talk, and the work of "tending" is accomplished. Should it happen to be dog-days, wrap it securely in a blanket, and as many folds as usually encase an Egyptian mummy, and it cries, he craves that the head be so closely enveloped that no cold air can possibly reach the little snoring. In this way, you can save it from being chilled and effectually stop its crying!

The Philadelphia Gazette states, that the Hon. HENRY CLAY, lately had a marvellous escape from death. He was riding on horseback in one of his fields, surveying his cattle, when a furious bull, maddened from some cause or other, rushed towards him, and plunging his horns with tremendous force into the horse on which Mr. Clay was seated, killed the poor animal on the spot. The distinguished rider was thrown to the distance of several feet from the horse, and though somewhat hurt by the fall escaped without material injury. His deliverance was truly marvellous.

THE GREAT CARVER CLAIM.
In the year 1776 and 1777, Jonathan Carver, a native of Connecticut, undertook to explore the vast unknown territory then recently acquired by the English from the French. He spent a year or two among the Indians, and purchased from their chiefs a tract of country which is thus described: thence to Lake Pepin, thence five days journey (100 miles) West to another specified limit; thence six days journey (120 miles) north to another specified limit; and thence back to the starting point. It is said Carver soon afterwards obtained a confirmation of this grant from the English Government. Part of the territory so purchased lies within the limits of the United States. Carver died in England in 1780, in a state of extreme destitution, leaving a wife and six children. His heirs, and persons purchasing under him, now lay claim to this extensive tract of country, which is large enough for an independent State, and contains thousands of square miles of fertile territory. It is also said to contain inexhaustible mineral treasures. Some of the claimants reside near Greenfield, Massachusetts. They speak with confidence of the validity of their title.

THE TENDENCY OF EVENTS IN ENGLAND.
At a late public dinner in London, at which Mr. O'Connell presided, the correspondent of the New York Express stated, that a speech was made by a man named House, in the course of which he advocated assassination as a tyrant filled the throne, and a joyed "the next attempt on the life of Louis Philippe would prove more successful." This remark, says the writer, was received with tremendous applause, and Mr. O'Connell had great difficulty in stopping the speaker, and hushing him from proceeding in so wild a strain.

CHAP LITRATURE.
A LIBERAL OFFER.
That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to AN AMERICAN AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR AN ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION.—That is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, relieving, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling that all who have the inclination to become acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the proposition at once, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as many of the popular volumes which are sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.
500 ENGRAVINGS
Will be furnished in this journal a new year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Satire Criticism and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order. Clubs of Four will be supplied with the paper for one year from the commencement, by forwarding a dollar note, postage paid.
PRIMUMS.—The publisher prompted by the success of the paper, and unexpected patronage which this paper has received, offer the following premiums:
For the best ORIGINAL COMIC TALE, FIFTY DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC SONG, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best collection of ORIGINAL ANECDOTES, JESTS, &c. not less than fifty in number, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC DESIGN, SKETCH, or DRAWING, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; for the second best, FIFTEEN DOLLARS; and for the third best TEN DOLLARS.
Persons entering a competition, do not forward their names, agreeably to their own wishes. The premiums will be awarded by competent judges. All communications to the subject must be addressed to the publisher, prior to the first of September, 1836 postage paid.
A post master's certificate will be a satisfactory guarantee of a remittance. Negotiable notes of every kind taken in payment of subscriptions.

Easton and Baltimore Packet. THE SPLENDID NEW STOOP THOMAS HAYWARD.

Will commence its regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 21st of March, (weather permitting) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock of the following Saturday, and continue sailing on those days throughout the season.

The THOMAS HAYWARD has run as a packet, giving general satisfaction as a fine rider and safe boat. She is fitted up in a highly commodious manner for the accommodation of passengers, with State Rooms for Ladies, and a comfortable berth, and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Passage $1.00; and 25 cents for each meal.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point by Mr. P. Barwick, who will faithfully attend to their reception in the absence of the subscriber; and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thomas H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscriber's residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessels.

The subscriber has employed Mr. N. Jones as Skipper, who is well known as a careful and skillful sailor, unsurpassed in experience and knowledge of the bay.

Thanked for the liberal share of patronage he has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same.

The public's obedient servant,

Easton and Baltimore Packet, SCHOONER

JOHN EDMONDSON, Captain.

The Subscriber grateful for past favours of generous public, begs leave to inform his friends and public generally, that the above named Schooner, will commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Sunday the sixth of March, at 9 o'clock, in the morning, and returning will leave Baltimore on the following Wednesday at 9 o'clock, in the morning, and continue to sail on the above named days during the season. The John Edmondson is now in complete order for her reception of Freight or Passengers; having sailed as a Packet for about six months and proved to be a vessel for safety, in the bay. All Freights intended for the John Edmondson will be thankfully received at the Granary at Easton Point, or elsewhere at all times, and all orders left at the Drug Store of Dr. Thomas H. Dawson & Son, or with Robert Leonard who will attend to all business pertaining to the packet concerned, accompanied with the Cash, will meet with prompt attention.

The Public's Obedient Servant,

26,000 SUBSCRIBERS!

Philadelphia Mirror.

The splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editor to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, so long known as the largest family newspaper in the United States, with a list of year TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS.

The new feature recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day, having proved so eminently successful, the plan will be continued. Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryatt and sixty-five of Mr. Brook's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without intermingling with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Arts; Internal Improvement; Agriculture; in short every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full extracts of sales, markets, and news of the latest dates.

It is published at the low price of $2. For this small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 52 volumes a year, and which is estimated to read, weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people, scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the St. Lawrence to the Lakes. The paper has been now so long established as to render it too well known to require an extended prospectus, the publishers, therefore, do not more than report the two leading daily political papers of opposite politics. The Pennsylvania says: "The Saturday Courier is the largest, and one of the best family newspapers in the Union;" the other, the Inquirer and Daily Courier, says, "It is the largest journal published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States." The New York Star says: "we know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more efficacious to draw out the dormant talents of our country than their unexampled liberality in offering literary prizes."

The Albany Mercury of March 18th, 1836, says, "the Saturday Courier, is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is daily appreciated by the public; it may be judged from its vast circulation, which exceeds 25,000 per week! Its contents are agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable reading matter than is published in a weekly or any daily paper in the Union.—Its mammoth dimensions enable its enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia to publish in its columns, in the course of a year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press, and to furnish to give it a permanent interest and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes therefore, of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it much more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value."

The approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral the religious and political matters, and in uncompromising opponent of backery of every kind.

In addition to all of which the publishers intend furnishing their patrons with a series of engraved Maps, embracing the twenty-five States of the Union, &c. exhibiting the situation, &c. of rivers, towns, mountains, lakes, the sea board, Internal Improvements, as displayed in canals, rail roads, &c. with other interesting and useful features, roads, distances, &c. forming a complete Atlas for general use and information, handsomely executed, and each distinct map on a large quarto sheet at an expense which nothing but the splendid patronage which for six years past has been so generously extended to them could warrant.

TERMS: The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, bearing a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper of the same size as the New York Albany, will be put at precisely one half the price of that valuable journal, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance (including the Maps).

THIRD VOLUME OF THE

Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME OF THE OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause Western Agriculture; and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work.—There never was a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put to better uses—when knowledge was of greater advantage, than the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times by informing himself of what is transpiring around him, will lose more than half of the pleasures and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be double stimulus to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work ever published in the West, has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil, improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology, Botany, Chemistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention.

SHK.—As the culture of this new article of wealth and industry is exciting universal interest through the whole country, we contemplate devoting a sufficient portion of the next volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry seed to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, coloring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding and will make about 200 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day of January, 1836.

CONDITIONS. The Farmer is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on silver Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for trouble.

All Editors, Postmasters and officers of Agricultural Societies are authorized Agents and requested to act as such.

EVERY BODY'S ALBUM.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c. ENDEAVOURING TO AMUSE AND AMUSE ENGRAVINGS.

Each number containing seventy-two making pages, neatly covered and stitched—two at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six hundred engravings with Tales and Anecdotes complete—at three dollars per annum.

The cheerful and pleasing feature with which it is proposed to diversify and distinguish this work has never yet been adopted by any one of the numerous literary caterers that have hitherto abounded in this country—and its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humour and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render it a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humourists, Etchers and Engravers. The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view, has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought into a live use so large a proportion of the really deserving offerings of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and complete collection of anecdotal Illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, witty Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes and Eclogues, must have a partial tendency to the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering and extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued by one resident banker or subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humour which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave no stone unturned that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

The "EVERY BODY'S ALBUM" will be published monthly, in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of embellishments—neatly stitched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, or present the least rubbing by the mails.—No resident banker or subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humour which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave no stone unturned that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

That has never been practised in Easton; but one, that is almost universally used in Baltimore and in the best establishments; he has also engaged

FIRST RATE WORKMEN, that none can surpass; which will enable him to meet the demands of gentlemen for any kind of garments cut and made in the first style. His work shall be warranted to fit in all cases; otherwise he pays them for their goods or makes them others. He respectfully solicits a continuance of the favors of a generous public.

The public's obedient servant,
JOHN SATTERFIELD.

Carey's Library

OF CHOICE LITERATURE

To say that this is a reading age, implies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire. On the first point, all are agreed; on the second, there is diversity both of opinion and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of all sizes, on nearly all subjects, which have severally their classes of readers and supporters. And yet, copious as are these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, beyond mere passing allusion, and the progress of discovery in art and science. But though it be easy to ascertain and express their wants, it is not so easy to gratify them. Expense, distance from the emporium of literature, engrossing occupations which prevent personal application or even messages to libraries and book-sellers, are so many causes to keep people away from the least of reason, and the enjoyments of the coveted literary aliment. It is obvious these difficulties, and enable every individual, at a small cost and without any personal effort, to obtain for his own use and that of his favored friends or family, valuable works complete, on all the branches of useful and popular literature, and that in a form well adapted to the comfort of the reader.

The charm of variety, as far as it is compatible with morality and good taste, will be held instantly in view in conducting the Library, to fill the pages of which the current literature of Great Britain, in all its various departments of Geography, History, Travels, Novels and Poetry, shall be freely put under contribution. With, perchance, occasional exceptions, it is intended to give entire the work which shall be selected for publication. When circumstances authorize the measure, recourse will be had to the literary store of Continental, European, and translations made from French, Italian, or German, as the case may be.

TERMS. The work will be published in weekly numbers, but containing twenty imperial octavo pages with double columns, making two volumes an annual; or, than 220 octavo pages, each number; abridging the expiration of every six months; its terms will be furnished with to handsome a ledger and table of contents. The whole amount of matter furnished in a single year will be equal to more than forty volumes of the common sized English duodecimo book; the cost of which will be at least six times the price of a year's subscription.

Whilst the body of the work will be a reprint, or at times a translation of entire volumes, the cover, will exhibit the miscellaneous character of a Magazine, and consist of sketches of men and things, and notices of novelties in literature and the arts, throughout the civilized world. A full and regular supply of the literary monthly and half-monthly journals of Great Britain and Ireland, in addition to home periodicals of a similar character cannot fail to provide ample materials of a siphon of our work.

The resources and extensive correspondence of the publishers, are the best guarantee for the continuance of the enterprise in which they are now about to embark, as well as for the abundance of the materials to give it value in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selections and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped, have reason to be fully satisfied, as the editor of the Library, a stranger to them, but has more than one obtained their favourable suffrages for his literary efforts.

The "Library." The paper upon which the Library will be printed, will be of the finest quality used for book-work, and of a size admirably adapted for binding. As the type will be entirely new, and of neat appearance, each volume, when bound, will furnish a handsome, as well as valuable, and not common addition to the libraries of those who patronize the work.

The price of the Library will be five dollars per annum payable advance.

A commission of 20 per cent, will be allowed to agent, and any agent or postmaster furnishing five subscribers and remitting the amount of subscription shall be entitled to the commission of 20 per cent or a copy of the work for one year.

A specimen of the work, or any information respecting it may be obtained by addressing the publishers post paid. Address,
E. L. CAREY & A. HART, Philad'a.

DELAWARE.

The following are some of the spirited Resolutions passed at the Red Lion meeting recently held in Delaware. Little Delaware will go for Van Buren and Johnson by a very clever majority for the people of that State can no more go Harrison whiggery than those of many others.

1. Resolved, That we believe it is the interest as well as the duty of the people to elect to the office of Chief Magistrate of the United States, that individual, who to them shall seem possessed of virtue, wisdom, integrity, and capability to perform the duties of that high and important station with credit to himself and honor to the nation at large.

2. Resolved, That we consider MARTIN VAN BUREN, of the State of New York, to be a virtuous, wise and consistent statesman, a true patriot and a sound republican, and therefore fully qualified to carry out the great principles of the republican party, which have placed the United States in the most enviable station among the nations of the earth.

3. Resolved, That the nomination of Martin Van Buren and Richard M. Johnson is the people's nomination and they the nation's choice. It is an eye of principle alone, the responsibility of the nation, through the constituted representatives, have pointed to them as the representatives of their wishes and named them. It is the most best calculated to carry out the true republican principles that the people cherish.

4. Resolved, That the opinions of Richard M. Johnson, the Republican candidate for Vice President, in regard to monopolies and equal rights, in regard to imprisonment for debt, and his firm opposition to an aristocratic property qualification in the electors, which would have deprived the poor man of his rights—are sufficient alone to recommend him to the attention of an enlightened public—that in him the farmer and the mechanic can recognize a supporter, the workingman an advocate, the poor man a friend and protector, and the nation a statesman and philanthropist, whose whole life has been spent in defence of Republican principles, and in advocating the interests and prosperity of our beloved country.

5. Resolved, That we believe an election of President by the House of Representatives where the least state in the confederacy has the same political power as the greatest, is, in the opinion of this meeting contrary to the principle of Republican Government where the voice of the majority is the true test of political strength—we therefore consider this manner of selecting a President, as among the worst of evils that can befall the country, and ought to be deprecated by all who regard the safety or durability of our free institutions.

6. Resolved, That in the efforts of the combined opposition of Anti-whigs, Whigs, Harrisonites, Whiteites, and Nullifiers, to defeat an election of President and Vice President by the People, by running Webster in the East, Harrison in the West, and White in the South, we perceive a union of factions, diametrically opposed to all the leading questions of present National policy, endeavoring to accomplish, by wily intrigues the very result we so sincerely deprecate—which can only be averted by the firmness of the Republicans of the Nation, and the continuance of their attachment to the Union.

7. Resolved, That if all the States in which there are electoral votes are formed to support Wm. H. Harrison should give him their votes, he would not, even then, be elected—and that all the States in which there are electoral votes formed to support Hugh L. White should give him their votes, still he could succeed; and if all the States in which Daniel Webster is a candidate should give him their electoral votes, yet he would not be chosen—therefore the full success of the combined opposition is not, (of which there is no prospect, however,) would only result in depriving the majority of the people from electing their own President, and sending the same to the House of Representatives.

8. Resolved, That in Wm. H. Harrison we cannot recognize the attributes necessary for the Chief Magistracy of a great nation—that we look upon him as a tool, to be used by a portion of the action arrayed against the people for party purposes, and we believe it would be a disgrace to the nation to have him elected to the Presidency—we view him as a weak and ordinary old man, who, as a soldier, has been disastrously inefficient, and as a statesman, worse than useless—whose anti-masonic doctrines are despicable, and whose other principles are alike opposed to the great Republican principles of the Union.

9. Resolved, That in the nomination of Gen. Wm. H. Harrison, by our opponents, we see them changing the vital principles on which their party was organized—by presenting to the people of Delaware a man whom they call a "Military Hero" when a few years since they deprecated the election of a Military Chieftain to the Presidency, as the greatest evil that could befall our happy country.

10. Resolved, That the military "Heroic" career of Gen. Wm. H. Harrison was characterized with innumerable disasters, and were it not for the gallant conduct of a Johnson and a Croghan would have been followed by a disgrace—that honors the close of the war the army because dissatisfied with his inability and want of courage, and the administration found it necessary to recall him as Commander-in-chief of the North Western army when he resigned and an efficient officer was placed in his stead.

11. Resolved, That in the few civil stations which Wm. H. Harrison has been placed, he has evinced no talents or abilities to recommend him to the office he is now aspiring to—that as a Representative in Congress he was hardly known—that as governor of one of the north western states, by appointment, he performed an public act that would tend to advance his reputation—and that as minister to Columbia, he became involved in such serious difficulties with Bolivar, that Gen. Jackson was compelled to recall him, to preserve the credit and character of the United States abroad.

12. Resolved, That under these circumstances it is placing a poor estimate upon the intelligence and wisdom of the people of Delaware to ask them to support such a man for the office of chief magistrate of the United States.

13. Resolved, That in the nomination, by our opponents, of Francis Granger, as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, we recognize a man who is the undeviating supporter of the detestable principle of the anti-masonic party, founded on persecution and bigotry—a man who is better known in public life than he attached himself to the Juggernaut car of political anti-masonry; and whose violent abolition principles, we believe, at the present time, are dangerous to the rights of the South, and detrimental to those of the Union—his only recommendation to the people of Delaware consists in his being the leader of the anti-masonic and abolition parties into the Congress of the United States.

Another Act.—At the late session of the Legislature of our State, an act was passed, of which but little has been said, and about which but little is generally known; but merits the consideration and denunciation of the people of the whole State. It will be recalled that prior to the riots in this city, there had been a considerable contest between the Trustees of the Bank of Maryland, and the creditors of that institution, on the subject of the property of the books of the Bank, being delivered by the former to the latter. The Trustees of the Bank possessed a willingness to deliver up the books as desired by the creditors, provided they could be released from responsibility, but this matter to have been a very easy matter to have procured a release from any responsibility on their part, had it been desired, it was pretended that it was surrounded by insurmountable difficulties, and the books were accordingly withheld from the creditors. In this state of the matter, application was made to the Chancellor, who was according to the then existing laws of the State, the proper authority to decide upon the matter, to direct a delivery of the books to persons appointed by the creditors to receive them.

The Boston Daily Advertiser, a whig paper, acknowledges the plan of its party to be, the election of any one in opposition to Mr. Van Buren, but the PRESENTION of an election of President by the People! It says—"The utmost they [the whigs] can promise themselves is to present [Mr. Van Buren] receiving a majority of the electoral votes."

But we admit that it is IMPOSSIBLE, from present appearances, to elect any other candidate than "THE SON OF MARYLAND," Gen. Harrison's election by the People. The vote of Massachusetts cannot make General Harrison President; it cannot, therefore, be given on the ground of closing the least of existing evils. Should the result of the canvass present that alternative, the Constitution leaves its decision, as far as Massachusetts is concerned, over our delegation in Congress.

How do we have the scheme of the whig party. How do the freemen of Vermont like it? Are they not satisfied with violating the constitution and bill of rights, by the passage of the indemnity bill, the Legislature committed another outrage by the passage of a bill providing for taking from the chancellor, who had heard the whole argument in the case, and had thereby been enabled to understand the whole matter, the power to decide upon the application, and transfer it to another tribunal, where the case had not been discussed, and where the case was decided against the application, without allowing the applicants to be heard in support of their claim. Thus has the Legislature not only usurped the power of the courts to decide upon judicial matters, and violated the organic law of the land, for the benefit of particular favorites, at the sacrifice of the public interests, but they have undertaken to mould the courts, and transfer from one tribunal to another, the authority to decide upon an important matter, to answer particular purposes, and gratify those same partisan favorites.

Can such things be, and overcome us like a summer cloud, without our special wonder. Thus do proud men, dressed in a little blue and grey, play such intensive tracks before high heaven, as make even angels weep.

Fellow citizens of the state of Maryland, can you, or will you sustain such men, and give your sanction to such proceedings? The trust you will not, and we here by will show it by your votes Monday next. Let it not be said that, Galio like, you care for none of these things; and that you will sustain men who have forfeited all claim to your confidence, respect or esteem; but come forward in the majesty of your might, hurl your present rulers from the places they now occupy, and have disgraced, and fill them with other and better men.

WIG HONESTY! WIG REGENERATION! The Somerset Herald under the taking title of "Somerset Regenerated!" says in evidence of the assertion, that "Last year the Vanites succeeded in electing three of their candidates for the Legislature, by a majority of 100 votes. Now the tables are turned. Our candidates are elected by a majority but little short of 300! This argues well, (says this very ingenious editor,) for the glorious cause of Harrison and Tyler." Does it? Now just see how well we know this matter.

The Herald knows very well that the Delegate election last year was canvassed upon party grounds. The personal popularity of Jones, Teackle and Long carried them to the Legislature without any party influence. The Herald also knows, that Somerset has never been claimed by the Democratic party, it always having been in the minority. The Herald ought also to know, that so far from 300 majority arguing well for the pettifogging—the argument is just the reverse. Look at these figures, and tell us, gentlemen of the Herald what you now think of the matter.

1832, Presidential election, for Clay, 719 maj. 1833, Congressional do. for Dennis, (wig) 432 maj. 1834, Delegate do. wig, 221 maj. 1835, Senatorial do. wig, 300 maj. Does this argue well for Harrison? Not half the vote that Clay received—and Clay only barely getting the State by the skin of his teeth! As many of these arguments as you please, master wigwags—the more the better—and MARTIN VAN BUREN WILL CARRY MARYLAND BY ACCLAMATION. Refresh your memory, gentlemen, with the fact that Clay had seven hundred and nineteen majority in Somerset in 1832, and that the wig that it argues well that in the same county in 1836, the Harrison majority is "but little short of three hundred!" Thank ye, good sirs, for this regeneration of Somerset. Go ahead with this team, and we will add our blessing to your thanks.—Balt. Rep.

The opposition claim public favor and attempt to excite public sympathy for General Harrison by representing him as poor and caring his livelihood by performing the ill-paid duties of a COUNTY CLERK.

Gen. Harrison, let it be remembered, is represented by the Opposition as a great Statesman, a man of great capacity for business, and one who has rendered great services to his country. If all these things be true, how happens it that now, when they tell us he is reduced to such circumstances, "if not actually poor," the people, among whom he lives and has so long lived, have done nothing for him bestow on him a poor COUNTY CLERKSHIP? They know him best, and they have said that all his talents and all his services are sufficiently paid for by a PITY CLERKSHIP.—Balt. Rep.

The Value of the Nettle.—In Scotland, I have eaten nettles, I have slept in nettle sheets, and I have dined off a nettle table cloth. The young and tender nettle is an excellent pot herb, and the stalks of the old nettle are as good as flax for making cloth. I have heard my mother say that she thought nettle cloth more durable than any other species of linen.—T. Campbell, in the New Monthly.

Major Noah, of the New York Evening Star, admits that the vote of Pennsylvania, in October, "decides the fate of Van Buren." "This visit to Frankfort and Virginia await the decision and follow the course of Pennsylvania." If so, the election of Mr. Van Buren is certain.—American Sentinel.

Mr. B. in his Carriage speech, notices the nomination of the Hon. John McLean, for the Presidency, by the same person who shortly after figured (calculatedly enough) in the nominal on Gen. Harrison; but he did not tell us why he suddenly deserted the just for the unjust. It was not because they believed Harrison was the best qualified candidate; why did they not nominate him in the first instance? Nor was it because they believed him the most popular. What, then, was the reason of this desertion among the punks of consistency? We will tell you. They found John McLean a patriot—an incorruptible patriot—the friend of the people and of popular suffrage—one whose regard for the election of President by the House of Representatives as dangerous as it is aristocratic. With such a man they could not drive the corrupt bargain of three pluck one. They therefore instantly abandoned him; and the venal prints, which before lauded him to the skies, have ever since endeavored to tarnish his well-earned fame. In Gen. Harrison they found a more plausible instrument; they flattered the old man's vanity until he consented to make a trial; and he is now wading and swimming to believe that if they can detect an election by the people, he will be elected by the House. He is even so credulous as to believe that Old Kentucky who has scarcely thrown off her weeds for the loss of her brave sons, who fell victims to his blunders and his "Fubina policy," will vote for him. Never! never! never!!!—North Kentuckian.

GAME OF THE OPPOSITION. The Boston Daily Advertiser, a whig paper, acknowledges the plan of its party to be, the election of any one in opposition to Mr. Van Buren, but the PRESENTION of an election of President by the People! It says—"The utmost they [the whigs] can promise themselves is to present [Mr. Van Buren] receiving a majority of the electoral votes."

But we admit that it is IMPOSSIBLE, from present appearances, to elect any other candidate than "THE SON OF MARYLAND," Gen. Harrison's election by the People. The vote of Massachusetts cannot make General Harrison President; it cannot, therefore, be given on the ground of closing the least of existing evils. Should the result of the canvass present that alternative, the Constitution leaves its decision, as far as Massachusetts is concerned, over our delegation in Congress.

How do we have the scheme of the whig party. How do the freemen of Vermont like it? Are they not satisfied with violating the constitution and bill of rights, by the passage of the indemnity bill, the Legislature committed another outrage by the passage of a bill providing for taking from the chancellor, who had heard the whole argument in the case, and had thereby been enabled to understand the whole matter, the power to decide upon the application, and transfer it to another tribunal, where the case had not been discussed, and where the case was decided against the application, without allowing the applicants to be heard in support of their claim. EASTON, MD. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1836. DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES. FOR PRESIDENT. MARTIN VAN BUREN, OF NEW YORK. FOR VICE PRESIDENT. RICHARD M. JOHNSON, OF KENTUCKY. ELECTORS.

For the Eastern Shore—Wm. A. SPENCER. For the Western Shore—HON. ELY. First District—James A. STEWART. Second District—EDWARD LLOYD. Third District—J. T. H. WORTHINGTON. Fourth District—W. FRICK & A. THOMAS. Fifth District—JOSEPH HOLMAN. Sixth District—WASHINGTON DUVALL. Seventh District—JOHN B. BROOKE.

TWELFTH OF SEPTEMBER. The Easton Guards, under the command of Capt. Thomas, paid a military visit to Cambridge yesterday, in honor of the day. And the Easton Greys, under the command of Capt. Nicols, repaired to St. Michaels. This is a new corps, very neatly equipped, and promises to do credit to the military spirit of Talbot. We wish it success.

THE LADY'S BOOK for September has been received, and in commendation of this work we have only to say, that any Lady who wishes an agreeable and entertaining periodical, should certainly possess it.

The Whigs say we caught them napping at the late election. We hope we have effectually aroused them for if we have not, we will try to do so in October.

Don't give up the Ship! We are glad to see our friends desirous for the coming contest, that they may have another opportunity of showing their opponents how to use them up. The loud boastings of the whigs that they would beat us by 150 to 200 majority, were silenced, when they found they had just got off whole and solid, with only the meagre majority of 25 to brag of.

Under this head, the Patriot says—"Mr. Van Buren is said to be worth a million of dollars," and that "General Harrison is a man who, after thirty years of public service, in cabinet and field, finds himself in very moderate circumstances, if not actually poor, and like a true man, game an honest livelihood for himself and family, partly by tilling the earth, and partly by discharging the ill-paid duties of a county clerk."

How was it with General Harrison? The whigs are constantly parading him before the public as "the son of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence!" and his family connexions in Virginia are known to have been rich and influential. Is it then a matter of which his friends have any right to boast that "he finds himself in very moderate circumstances, if not actually poor?" It may be no disgrace to General Harrison to be poor, but it surely is not any honor to him. It is but a poor way to prove to us that he will manage the public business better than Mr. Van Buren, by showing us, that he has managed his business much worse.

GOOD NEWS FROM VERMONT. We have some accounts of the elections in Vermont. The towns of Stockbridge, Bethel, Pomfret, Bridgewater, Reading and Shovel, have all given majorities for the Van Buren ticket—last year they all, except Sharon, gave majorities for the opposition ticket. Woodstock, Royalton, Windsor and Hartland, gave for Van Buren. Four towns in the first Congressional district, viz. Bennington, Pawlet, St. Albans and Scarborough, give for Robinson, (V B) for Congress 696, and for Hall, (opp) 564. For Governor, the same towns give for Bradley, (V B) 725, and for Jenison, (opp) 461. Rutledge county is said to have given a large majority for the opposition. The work goes bravely on.

Madness and Civilization.—I is a curious but impossible to be controverted, that madness is one of the attendants upon civilization and intellectual cultivation. According to many well authenticated accounts, it is comparatively unknown among savages although we should consider the statement very questionable, we can easily imagine that a state of barbarism its virtuous activity is rarely excited. It is easily conceivable that the more animal in the shape of man, who eats, drinks and sleeps, giving no thought for the morrow, is less liable to become deranged than he of a more polished and meditative character. Von Humboldt states that he had found few cases of insanity among the American Indians; and a similar remark may be applied to Russia, China, and Turkey in which we may find the hospital at Grand Carro, a city containing 300,000 people, wherein M. Desgettes found only 14 affected with nervous malady.—Neville on insanity.

The Value of the Nettle.—In Scotland, I have eaten nettles, I have slept in nettle sheets, and I have dined off a nettle table cloth. The young and tender nettle is an excellent pot herb, and the stalks of the old nettle are as good as flax for making cloth. I have heard my mother say that she thought nettle cloth more durable than any other species of linen.—T. Campbell, in the New Monthly.

From the New Orleans Bee of the 29th Aug. TEXAS. ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP SANTA ANNA!

By the schooner Julius Caesar, just arrived from Velasco, Texas, reports that the American schooner Passaic, Hughes, Jones and Groomer, with provisions, wine, &c. and cleared for Texas, under pretence of trading; that their real purpose was to smuggle Santa Anna on board, but before all their plans had matured they were discovered in the act of going for him.—The Texian Government have seized the schooner and imprisoned all concerned.

The American Minister, M. Poinsot had left Velasco for Galveston Island. He sent despatches to his government by the Julius Caesar. The Julius Caesar reports the Texian schooner Invincible, Capt. Bruce, having not about 30 miles from the S. W. Bar, in chase of the schooner Venus, she was within half a mile of her, and she is no doubt a prize by this time.

THE POLES. We have already announced that a decree has been promulgated by the Russian Government at Warsaw, subjecting all maps, prints, drawings, and objects of art, to censorship. The Scythian Mercury contains a letter from the frontiers of Poland, in which the cause of this decree is explained. It appears that since the regulations of the Government have become so severe that no secret correspondence can be carried on between any of the Polish refugees and their friends in the country, a method has been devised of forming a kind of symbolical correspondence. Many houses in the engraving line, and dealers in hardware, had received, almost simultaneously, from Paris, considerable quantities of works in bronze and at a moderate price. The police however, found out the mystery, and the decree above alluded to was issued in consequence, Galignani's Messenger.

The New York Courier and Enquirer, in an article headed "The Whig Triumph at the Polls," among a mass of trash, similar to that which the editor of the Providence Journal served up to his readers on Monday and Tuesday last, breaks out with the following: "It is matter of astonishment that our friends do not become more confident than they appear to have done, in the signs of the times." We can tell the New York editor the reason—the people have been so often deceived by the false accounts of "whig victories," that they place no confidence in their statements.—Republican Herald.

In proof of the improved condition of the English poor of late years, may be adduced the growth and increase of Friendly Societies, which now reckon not less than one million four hundred thousand enrolled members; and the fact that there are nearly 18 millions lodged in Saving Banks.

Tom Campbell speaks thus highly laudatory of nettles—"In Scotland I have eaten nettles, I have slept in nettle sheets, and I have dined off a nettle table cloth." This accounts for Tom's irritability—no wonder, then, he has been so much accustomed to be nettled.

The Mississippi papers announce the death of the Hon. David Dickson, one of the Representatives of that State in Congress. Judge Trotter, of Columbus, is spoken of as a candidate to fill the vacancy.

The following lines are from the "Ondyng One," by the Hon. Mrs. Norton: I DO NOT LOVE THEE. I do not love thee! I do not love thee! And yet when thou art absent I am sad, And when e'en in the clear blue sky above thee, Whose quiet stars may see thee and be glad.

I do not love thee! yet I know not why, What e'er thou dost, seems well done to me; And often in my solitude I sigh, That those I do love are not more like thee.

I do not love thee! yet when thou art gone, I hate the sound (tho' those who speak be dear) Which breaks the lingering echo of the tone Thy voice of music leaves upon my ear.

I do not love thee! yet thy speaking eyes, With their deep, bright, and most expressive blue, Betwixt me and the midnight heaven arise, Oflener than any eyes I ever knew.

I know I do not love thee! yet alas! Others will scarcely trust my candid heart; And oft I catch them smiling as they pass, Because they see me gazing where thou art.

For the Whig. The Talbot Greys through their Committee beg leave to express to the Citizens of St Michaels their most hearty thanks for the kind feeling manifested toward them during their short sojourn. To Major M. Spencer, Capt Harrison, his officers and men, it is enough to say that all was done for the Corps that could have been done, and that comprises all the luxuries of their favored situation as well as their most indefatigable attention. The Greys would also present their thanks to Capt Mansfield and his crew for their very polite attention during their passage to and from St Michaels, and in conclusion are happy to say that the unanimous voice of the company as expressed by them is another meeting with the "St. Michaels volunteers," and the inhabitants of that important Town. On behalf of the company, H. E. BATEMAN W. AUSTIN T. HENRIX Jr.

Dawson & Son (one weight) was 7 ounces too heavy) and that Mr. Groomer also stated to me that his weight varied considerably and asked my advice. I also refer the public to Mr. W. Loveley and Mr. F. Mr. Sherwood.—As an unfavorable impression may be drawn from the communication of Mr. James H. McNeal touching my capability in discharging the duties of the office of Standard Keeper, from which I was removed a short time since, and an insinuation in the opinion of some is conveyed by him that the duties of the office were wantonly neglected by me. If such be Mr. McNeal's meaning, I challenge further proof than that which he has adduced, and will merely call his attention to a culpable neglect on his own part in regulating the weights of Thomas H.

CHEAP LITERATURE. A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to AN AMUSING AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIBER—that is, any person subscribing as TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling that all who have the inclination to be acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the opportunity at once, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as any of the popular volumes which are sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

WOOD ENGRAVINGS Will be furnished in this journal in our year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Nature Criticism and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order. Clubs of Four will be supplied with the paper for one from the commencement, by forwarding a one dollar note, postage paid.

PREMIUMS—The publisher prompted by the unexampled and unexpected patronage which this paper has received, offer the following premiums: For the best ORIGINAL COMIC TALE, FIFTY DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC SONG, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best collection of ORIGINAL ANECDOTES, JESTS, &c not less than fifty in number, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC DESIGN, SKETCH, or DRAWING, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; and for the second best, FIFTEEN DOLLARS; and for the third best TEN DOLLARS.

Persons entering any of the above prizes not forward their names, agreeably to their own wishes. The premiums will be awarded by competent judges. All communications to the subject must be addressed to the publisher, prior to the first of September, 1836 postage paid.

A post master's certificate will be a satisfactory guarantee of a remittance. Negotiable notes of every kind taken in payment of subscriptions. Address CHARLES ALEXANDER, No. 3 Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place Philadelphia.

To the voters of Talbot County. JOHN HARRINGTON, respectfully offers himself as a candidate for the next Sheriffship, and pledges himself to discharge the duties of it faithfully and impartially. Sept 10

Sheriffalty. To my fellow citizens of Talbot County. BEING solicited by many of my friends to offer myself as a candidate for the next Sheriffship for Talbot County—I therefore, in conformity with their wishes, offer myself as a candidate for that office, and pledge myself to discharge the duties of the same, to the best of my abilities. The public's obedient servant, ELLIAS HOPKINS. Sept 10

Strayed. FROM the subscriber in Easton on or about the 1st of August, a black cow of tolerable size, crumpled horned. She has been hurt in the left hip which causes her to limp; any person that will deliver her to me in Easton, or give such information as will lead to the recovery of her, will be liberally rewarded. EDWARD HAMILTON. Sept 10

Sheriffalty. THE subscriber begs leave to offer himself to the consideration of the voters of Talbot County to fill the office of Sheriff. Should he be elected, his constant exertions shall be used to perform the duties with punctuality, humanity, and despatch. SAMUEL H. BENNY. Aug 16

Notice. THE Commissioners for Talbot County will meet on Tuesday the 16th August for the purpose of collecting the Tax. Applicants will please bring their applications to the Clerk previous to that day. THOS. C. NICOLS, CLK. July 22

A Fair.

THE Ladies of St. Michaels Parish, anxious for the welfare of the Church, have concluded to hold a Fair in St. Michaels on Thursday the 8th of September next. All articles designed for the above purpose will be thankfully received, and met with a ready conveyance by directing them to Mrs. N. Hensley, or Mrs. Capt. Banning, and left at the store of Doct. T. H. Dawson & Son, Easton. There will be a dinner prepared for those who feel willing to make a moderate compensation. It is hoped that all persons who feel interested in the welfare of the Church, will not be remiss in lending their assistance on the occasion. aug 20

JOHN B. FIRBANKS MOST respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he has lately bought out Mr. M. Hazel's STOCK OF GOODS, and as just returned from Baltimore with, and is opening AN ADDITIONAL SUPPLY OF DRY GOODS Groceries and Hardware, in all their several varieties.

All of which he will sell low for cash or give in exchange for leathers, wool, rags, tow-linen, kersey and fur, &c. &c. at the stand lately occupied by Mr. Hazel, between the store of Mr. Wm. Lovelady and the Bank. He humbly solicits the public to call and examine his goods, that done, he feels confident of a share of their patronage, as he pledges himself to sell as low as the same articles can be had in the town. N. B. He still carries on the WHEEL-DRIGHTING at his old stand on Dover street, where by his own attention and the assistance of a good foreman he is prepared to attend to all orders in that line as usual. A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE LARGEST, AND CHEAPEST CLASS IN THE COUNTRY.—DEIGNED TO GRATIFY THE SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.
Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called
The Saturday Chronicle,
Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.
Publication Office, No. 74 South Second Street,

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the full sense of the term, a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and zealously devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Tales and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral subjects—Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of improvements in the Mechanic Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents, &c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.
The publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the newspaper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel satisfied that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving of liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and have engaged attentive correspondents to furnish the latest intelligence from Washington and Harburg, during the sessions of the state Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of a few weeks, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure for their readers productions from some of the best writers in the country. The Drama and other popular authors will occasionally be published in length in the Chronicle, and no pains nor expense will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following:
D. B. Brown, Esq. Robert Morris, Esq.
Col. T. L. McKenney, W. G. Clark, Esq.
John J. Smith, Jr., Esq. Dr. James M. Henry,
J. R. Chandler, Esq. Chas. Naylor, Esq.
C. P. Holcom, Esq. R. T. Conrad, Esq.
Miss Leslie, Dr. Joseph Pancoast
Miss E. C. Stras, J. Watson, Esq.
Mrs. J. L. Dumont, Chas. S. Cope, Esq.
John Clarke, Esq. Robt. Hare, Jr., Esq.
Rev. Jos. Kussling, B. W. Richards, Esq.
Dr. A. C. Draper, C. B. Trago, Esq.
Wm. Earle, Esq. J. A. Elkinton,
Wm. F. Smith, Esq. Thos. A. Parker, Esq.
Hon. Matthias Morris, Victor Value, Esq.
Prof. Darby, Esq. Jos. R. Harris, Esq.
Prof. John M. Keagy, Morris Mattson, Esq.
And it is the intention of the publishers to secure, if possible, original articles from every prominent writer in the country.

One important feature of the Chronicle is the publication of Letters from Europe, written expressly for this paper, by a distinguished literary gentleman. These letters are deeply interesting and instructive, and contain every respect, to any European letters that have ever been written for the American press. The Chronicle is issued in good type, and on that of the largest mammoth size. It is published every Saturday, and forwarded by mail, enclosed in strong wrappers, to all parts of the United States, on the day of publication.
MATTHIAS & TAYLOR,
Recently connected with the Saturday Evening Post.

POETRY.

From the Morning Post.

THE POOR MAN.

What man is poor? not he whose brow
Is bathed in Heaven's own light,
Whose knee alone to God must bow;
At morning and at night—
Whose arm is nerve'd by healthful toil,
Who sits beneath the tree,
Or treads upon the fruitful soil,
With spirits calm and free.

Go—let the proud his gems behold,
And view their sparkling ray—
No silver east or yellow gold
Can banish care away—
He cannot know the thrilling dream
Which smiles within the cot,
Where sunny brooks and fountains gleam,
To cheer the poor man's lot.

What man is poor? not he whose brow
Is wet with Heaven's own dew,
Who breathes to God the heart felt vow,
Whose pledge is deep and true,
The morning calls his active feet
To no ennobling toils;
But evening and the twilight sweet
Shall light his pathway home.

And there is music in his ear
In the glad voice of his child,
His wife with hurried steps draws near,
And spirit is defied—
Then turn not from the humble heart,
Nor scorn its cheerful tone;
For deeper feelings there may start,
Than those the proud have ever known.

THE FARMER.

Let monied blockheads roll in wealth,
Let proud fools strut in state—
My hands, my homestead, and my health,
Place me above the great.
I never fawn, nor fit, nor fair
To please old Mammon's cry;
But independence still maintain
Or fall beneath the sky.

Thus Cincinnati at his plough,
With more true glory shone,
Than Caesar with his laurel'd brow,
His palace and his throne.
Tumult, perplexity, and care,
Are bold ambition's lot;
But these intruders never dare
Disturb the farmer's cot.

Blest with fair competence, I find
What monarchs never can—
Health, and tranquillity of mind,
Heaven's choicest gift to man.

IS HE RICH?
BY A LADY.
He is rich in sense, he is rich in worth,
And rich in the blood of an honest birth:
He is rich in his country's heart and fame,
And rich in the thought that high souls claim.
He is rich in the books of olden time,
And rich in the air of a freeman's clime;
He needs no star to shine on his breast,
For the crimson drops of his father's crest
Fell, noble gems, on the battle field,
Where the haughty foeman were taught to yield;
Then ask no more, "Is he rich in gold?"
His riches are bought—but can never be sold.

The following is a copy of a sign, hung out at a village in Wiltshire, England:—
MATTY MILLER, barber, perru-mak-er, surgeon, parish clergy, school master, blacksmith. Shaves for a penny, cuts hair for two pence, and oyled and powdered into the bargain. Young Ladys, gentlemen also taut their grammar langvage in the neatest manner, and grate care taken of their morils and spellin. Also same singen and horse shewing by relok maker. Likovise makes and mends all sorts of bates and shuas, teaches the hobby and juse harp, corns, blades and blisters on the lowest terms.

MARTIN VAN BUREN.
The opposition papers say that he was a federalist and opposed to the late war, &c. Let us look at facts.
In 1800 he was appointed a delegate from Kinderhook to the democratic county convention in favour of Jefferson; at this time he was 18 years of age. In 1803 he opposed the election of Aaron Burr upon the grounds that he was not the democratic candidate for governor. Many of his friends were the warm supporters of Burr, but his independence was superior to personal interest, and he cast his first vote against him. In 1807, Mr. Tomkins, the democratic candidate for governor, received his warm support. The zeal, talents, and activity he displayed in defence of the measures of Mr. Jefferson's administration, gained him a high standing in the democratic ranks, and his name became known in other parts of the state. He defended the vote of Vice-President, George Clinton, in declining against the recharter of the U. S. Bank in 1811; and opposed the scheme of certain aristocrats to establish a bank with a capital of 6 millions, in the city of New York, in lieu of the United States Bank. To prevent the charter of this bank, Gov. Tomkins found it necessary to prorogue the legislature from March 27 to May 21. The bill passed the Legislature, but was defeated by the firmness of the Governor.—Mr. Van Buren stood forward in defence of the Governor, and became conspicuous as a man of talents throughout the state. At this period, 1812, he was elected a senator in opposition to the wishes of the friends of Burr, Lewis, Livingston, and the Bank, an federalists.

He took his seat in the Senate in the winter of 1812, at which time the Senate was democratic and the House of Representatives federal. The Senate passed patriotic resolutions, and the House rejected them, which led to many conferences, in which Mr. Van Buren took the lead on the part of democracy and patriotism. His speeches were powerful and convincing, and led to the overthrow of the federal party. By means of these, and an eloquent address written by him to the people of the state, a democratic legislature was elected, and the energies of his native state brought into the field against the enemies of our country. When this happy event took place, the dismay of the peace party was great and the joy of the democracy boundless. The following extracts will show his feelings in relation to the war.
Extracts from an address to the Republican members of the N. Y. Legislature, by their constituents, March 9, 1813, written by Mr. Van Buren.

Follow Citizens: Your country is at war, and Great Britain is her enemy. Indulge us in a brief examination of the causes which led to it, and, as far as we yet hope it will be found sufficient to convince every honest man of the high justice and indispensable necessity of the attitude which our government has taken; of the sacred duty of every real American to support it in that attitude, and of its particular views of those who refuse to do so.
The American people, a people rich in resources, possessed of a high sense of national honor, and a just and noble sense of duty, that those orders [the British orders in Council] were a DIRECT ATTACK UPON THEIR SOVEREIGNTY; THAT A SUBMISSION TO THEM INVOLVED A SURRENDER OF THEIR RIGHTS; THAT A SURRENDER OF THEIR RIGHTS WAS A SURRENDER OF THEIR LIBERTY; AND THAT A SURRENDER OF THEIR LIBERTY WAS A SURRENDER OF THEIR NATIONALITY. A solemn declaration to adhere to them, was officially declared by the ruler of the British nation. Thus situated, what was your Government to do? Was there room for doubt or hesitation as to the hostile views of England? No. Less such doubts might prevent a rupture to acts of violent injustice, were continually added acts of the most opprobrious insult. While the formal relations of amity remained unbroken, while each case was supposed to exist upon one of your national ships, and several American citizens basely and cowardly murdered. At the moment your feelings were at the highest pitch of irritation, in consequence of the perfidious disavowal of Erskine's agreement, a minister is sent, not to minister to your rights, not to extenuate the conduct of his predecessor, BUT TO BEAR YOUR EXACTING COMPLAINTS AND TO BRING TO THE RESCUE OF THE EXECUTIVE OF THE AMERICAN NATION, IN THE PRESENCE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

To cap the climax of her iniquity; to fill up the measure of her wrongs; she resolved to persist in another measure, surpassed by none in flagrant enormity; a measure, which of itself, was adequate cause of war; yet she resolved to persist in it, until she had secured the unanimous attention of every administration of our government, from the time of Washington to the present day; the wicked, the odious and detestable practice of impressing American seamen into her service; of entombing our sons within the walls of her ships of war; compelling them to waste their lives, and spill their blood in the service of a foreign government, a practice which subjected every American citizen to the violence and petty tyranny of a British midshipman, and many of them to a life of the most galling servitude; a practice which never can be submitted to by a nation professing claims to freedom; which never can be acquiesced in by Government without rescinding the great article of our safety, THE RECIPROCALITY OF OBLIGEANCE AND PROTECTION BETWEEN THE RULES AND THE RULED.

Under such accumulated circumstances of insult and injury, we ask again, what was your Government to do? We put the question to that faction which misrepresents the Government to the people, and the people to the Government; trades one half of the nation to cap the other; and by keeping up distrust and division, wishes to become the proud arbiters of the fortune and fate of America. But, what if your Government do? What if your Government do? Was she basely and ingloriously to abandon the rights for which you and your fathers fought and bled? Was she so easily to cover to the nation which had sought to strangle us in our infancy, and which has never ceased to retard our approach to manhood? No: we will not do it. What if your Government do? Was she basely and ingloriously to abandon the rights for which you and your fathers fought and bled? Was she so easily to cover to the nation which had sought to strangle us in our infancy, and which has never ceased to retard our approach to manhood? No: we will not do it. What if your Government do? Was she basely and ingloriously to abandon the rights for which you and your fathers fought and bled? Was she so easily to cover to the nation which had sought to strangle us in our infancy, and which has never ceased to retard our approach to manhood? No: we will not do it.

Follow citizens, these things will not do! They are intrinsically wrong; your country has engaged in a war in the last degree unavoidable; it is not waged to the destruction of the rights of others; but in defence of our own; it is therefore your bounden duty to support her. You should lay down the character of patriots and patriots, for in every country "war becomes an occasional duty, though it ought never to be made an occupation. Every man should become a soldier in defence of his rights; no man ought to continue a soldier for offending the rights of others." In despite of truths so self-evident, of incentives to a vigorous support of Government so pressing, we yet have to deplore the existence of a faction in the bosom of our land, whose perseverance and industry are exceeded only by their inactivity; who seek through every avenue to mislead your judgment and to inflame your passions.

When your Government pursues a pacific policy, it becomes the object of their scorn and derision; the want of energy in your rulers is decry'd as a matter of alarming consideration; the injuries of your country are admitted, and the fact is triumphantly alleged that "administration cannot be kicked into war." When they are impelled to a forcible vindication of our rights, the cry of sanity to peace, and a wish that war with England to serve France is immediately resounded through the land. When war is declared, public opinion is sought to be prejudiced against the measure, as evincing a disposition unnecessarily to shed your blood, and waste your treasure. When it is discovered, that that declaration is accompanied with a proposition, a just and equitable proposition, to the enemy, on which hostilities may cease and peace be restored, that proposition is carried as evidence of the most disgraceful pusillanimity. No falsehood is considered to be plausible, no misrepresentation so flagitious, to impose on your credulity and seduce your affections from your native land.

But to crown this picture of folly and mischief, they approach you under a garb which at once evinces their contempt for your understanding, and their total want of confidence in your patriotism; under a garb which should receive the most distinct marks of your detestation; they are "the friends of peace." While our enemies are waging against us a cruel and bloody war, they cry "peace." While our Western wilds are whitening with the bones of our murdered women and children; while their blood is yet trickling down the walls of their former habitation; while the Indian war whoop and the British dragoon are in unison saluting the ears, and the British dagger and the Indian tomahawk suspended over the heads of our citizens; at such a time, when the soul of every man who has sensibility to feel his country's wrongs, and spirit to defend her rights should be in arms; it is then that they cry "peace! While the brave American, the intrepid defender of our rights, and redeemer of our national character, the present boast and future honor of our land, is impressed by force into a service he detests, which compels a brother to embrace his brother's blood, while he is yet tossing upon the surface of the ocean, and mingling his groans with those tempests less savage than his persecutors, that wait him to a returnless distract a period, when he is to be put to death. There can be no peace, without sacrificing every thing valuable, that our feelings are insulted, the public arm paralyzed, and the public ear stung by the dastardly and incessant cry of "peace." What, fellow citizens, must be the opinion which they entertain of you, who thus counsel a brother to embrace his brother's blood, while he is yet tossing upon the surface of the ocean, and mingling his groans with those tempests less savage than his persecutors, that wait him to a returnless dis-

he signed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Assembly, that his excellency the Governor be, and he is hereby Major General Jackson, who is requested to communicate to his brave associates in arms, the grateful sense which this Legislature entertain of their signal services, in such manner as he may deem consistent with the occasion.
Extract from the answer of the senate to the speech of Governor Tompkins in 1816, prepared by Mr. Van Buren.

"While the Senate sympathize with those of their fellow citizens on whom the sufferings and deprivations incident to a state of hostilities have fallen with peculiar force, they cannot too strongly express the proud satisfaction they derive from the reflection that the war in which the nation has been involved, arduous and sanguinary as it has been, was not only righteous in its origin and successful in its prosecution, but that our country has arisen from the contest with renovated strength and increased glory.

SEMI-WEEKLY.—The 'su' limity of conception the flights of fancy—sometimes indulged in by political editors, astonishes us much. A newspaper in the Granite State, speaking of the impossibility of its favorite State election, says, "The impossibility of its favorite party being defeated, exclaims, 'As well might they attempt to sweep the earth back in its orbit, or pluck stars from the galaxy as children do out of the galaxy into a currant bush.' This jumping a dangerous step. It boasts ever seen since the sublimity line that we have ever seen since the fellow gave an account of being caught by a mad bull. 'The bull,' said he, 'roared like thunder, and I run like lightning, and in jumping over a fence tore my breeches as though the heavens and the earth were coming together.'"—Boston Times.

GOOD ADVICE.
Never cut a piece out of a newspaper until you have looked on the other side, where perhaps you may find something more valuable than that which you intended to appropriate.
Never put salt in your soup before you have tasted it. I have known gentlemen very much enraged by doing so.
Never burn your fingers if you can help it. People burn their fingers every day, when they might have escaped it if they had been careful.
Let no gentleman ever quarrel with a woman. If you are troubled with her, retreat. If she abuse you, be silent. If she tear your cloak off, give her your coat. If she box your ears, bow. If she tear your eyes out, feel your way to the door—but fly.
Don't put your feet on the table. True, the members of Congress do so, but you are not a member of Congress.
If you form one of a large mixed company, and a diffident stranger enter the room and for Heaven's sake, even though it be only "Fright evening, sir." Do not let him sit bold upright, suffering all the agonies of bashfulness, and without any relief. Ask him how he has been; tell him you know his friends and so-and-so—any thing will do to break the icy stiffness in which very decent fellows are sometimes frozen in their debut before a new circle.

LET MANNERS.—I will never forget a circumstance that occurred at our house, which effectually cured a young person of the impolite habit, so common, of tilting the chair back against the wall, and putting his feet on the corner sticks. It is an awkward, vulgar, and indecent posture. One day our visitor was not so near the wall as he thought, and tilting back, down he went smashing a pan of milk I had sat near the stove to thicken, nearly annihilating a cat that was lying there and so frightening another as to cause her to rush out of the room through a broken pane of glass that I had mended with paper. The assault on the broken jar, with its contents bespattered all over the clothes of the "fallen hero," his convulsive struggles to rise and the noise of his scrambling, besides his indescribable appearance, presented a most ludicrous scene, and yet he bore all with much patience. He at length rose, and very gravely began to scrape off the white material from his coat that had been black, and being somewhat of a wit, dryly remarked that he was studying the nature of the milky whey, but that he would rather have his half-elaborated Schmeer Keks on his breast, than on his back. He at length grew impatient of our unceasing jokes, and half angry, half jesting, he retorted, that he never saw such a house, it had not a room that would hold a cat, or a chair that would hold a man! He was cured, however, of his evil habit of tilting his chair, for this adventure always occurred to his mind.—Christian Register.

A MAN WITHOUT MONEY.—A man without money is a body without soul—a walking death—a spectre that frightens every one. His countenance is sorrowful, and his conversation languishing and tedious. If he call upon an acquaintance, he never finds him at home; and if he open his mouth to speak he is interrupted every moment, so that he may not have a chance to finish his discourse, which, if it is feared, will end with his asking for money. He is avoided like a person infected with disease, and is regarded as an incumbrance to the earth. Want wakes him up in the morning, and misery accompanies him to his bed at night. Laudon believes that he lives upon air; and if he wants anything from a tradesman, he is asked for cash before delivery.

JOHN SATTERFIELD. aug 29

Carey's Library

OF CHOICE LITERATURE. To say that this is a reading age, implies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire.

On the first point, all are agreed; on the second, there is diversity both of opinion and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of every kind, all subjects, which have severally their classes of readers and supporters.

And yet, copious as these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, beyond mere passing allusion, of the progress of discovery in art and science.

It is the aim of the publishers of the Library to obviate these difficulties, and enable every individual, at a small cost and without any personal effort, to obtain for his own use, and that of his favored friends or family, valuable works complete, on all the branches of useful and popular literature, and that in a form well adapted to the comfort of the reader.

The charm of variety, as far as it is compatible with morality and good taste, will be held in view in conducting the Library, to fill the pages of which the current literature of Great Britain, in all its various departments of Biography, History, Travels, Novels and Poetry, shall be freely put under contribution.

With perseverance, occasional exceptions, it is intended to give entire the work which shall be selected for publication. When circumstances authorize the measure, recourse will be had to the literary stores of Continental, Europe, and translations made from French, Italian, or German, as the case may be.

TERMS. The work will be published in weekly numbers, each containing twenty imperial octavo pages, with doudrelleums, making two volumes an octavo, out than 220 octavo pages, each number, at the expiration of every six months, as it will be furnished with handsome leather and table of contents.

The whole amount of matter furnished in single year will be equal to more than forty volumes of a common sized English duodecimo book, the cost of which will be at least six times the price of a years subscriptions.

Whilst the body of the work will be a reprint, or at times a translation of entire volumes, the covers, will exhibit a miscellaneous character of a Magazine, and consist of sketches of men and things, and notices of novelties in literature and the arts, throughout the civilized world. A full and regular supply of the literary monthly and belated journals of Great Britain and Ireland, in addition to home periodicals of a similar character cannot fail to provide ample materials of a library of work.

The resources and extensive correspondence of the publishers, are the best guarantee for the continuance of the enterprise in which they are now about to embark, as well as for the abundance of the materials to give it value in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selections and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped, have reason to be fully satisfied, as the editor of the Library is a stranger to them, but has more than an obtained their favourable suffrages for his literary efforts.

The price of the Library will be five dollars per annum payable in advance. A commission of 20 per cents, will be allowed to agent, and any agent or postmaster furnishing five subscribers and remitting the amount of subscription shall be entitled to the commission of 20 per cent or a copy of the work for one year.

A specimen of the work, or any information respecting it may be obtained by addressing the publishers post paid. Address, E. L. CAREY & A. HART, Philad'a.

THIRD VOLUME OF THE Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME OF THE OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object.

These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high estimation received from Agriculturists of the first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause Western Agriculture; and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work.

There never was a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put to better uses—when knowledge was of greater value.

It is the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times by informing himself of what is transpiring around him, will lose more than half of the pleasures and advantages of his own age.

The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be double stimulus to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays, and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work is published in the West so liberally, and published with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers.

The culture of grain, improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology, Botany, Chemistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention.

SILK.—As the culture of this new article of wealth through is exciting universal interest throughout the whole country, we continue to devote a sufficient portion of the next Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry seed to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, colouring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding and will make a neat volume. The numbers of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day of January, 1836.

CONDITIONS. The Farmer is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on silver Banks received. Payment may be made at our risk, free of postage. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for trouble.

Advertisements. Postmasters and officers of the Agricultural Societies are authorized Agents and requested to act as such.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c. ENGLISHED WITH NUMEROUS GROTESQUE & AMUSING ENGRAVINGS.

Each number containing seventy-two active pages, neatly covered and sub-titled—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six hundred engravings, with Tales and Index complete—at three dollars per annum.

The cheerful and pleasing features which have distinguished this work has never been surpassed by any other of the numerous literary concerns that have lately appeared in this country.

Its extensive popularity, and the vast number of its subscribers, who are daily increasing, are a desirable and popular position for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humourists, Etchers and Engravers.

The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view, has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought forth a volume so large a proportion of the really deserving offspring of genius and talents as the present.

Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of lancelic Illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, with Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiae, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert into another and more exhilarating channel much of the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the study of the sciences, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering and extensive subscription list.

The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humor which ever appeared in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

The "Every Body's Album" will be published monthly, in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of embellishments—neatly stitched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappings, to prevent the loss of rubbings by the mails.

TO ALL PERSONS AFFLICTED.

A Certain Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver, Biliouus, and Nervous Complaints; Jaundice, General Debility, Lowness of Spirits, and Diseases incident to Females.

PR. LOCKWARD'S Celebrated Vegetable Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir. Symptoms of Dyspepsia.

The first symptoms of this disease is a disagreement of food, producing pain and uneasiness at the region of the stomach; fullness of that organ; belching of wind, with sour, oily or putrescent eructations; pain and tenderness at the pit of the stomach; pain in the right side, extending up to the right shoulder, and under the shoulder-blade; the same kind of pain is very often experienced in the left side, especially often in lying on the right or left side; pain also often in the small of the back; pain and giddiness of the head; dimness of the sight; coated tongue; disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning after arising coldness.

This Medicine acts as a gentle purge, by which all foul humors are removed from the system; at the same time it restores the lost tone of the stomach and bowels, removes obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Pancreas, and will be found singularly efficacious in diseases of the Kidneys. As a family medicine it will be found cheaper and to answer a better purpose, and being composed entirely of vegetable matter it is perfectly innocent, which renders it more valuable.

As a certain remedy or cure for the above diseases this medicine stands incomparably beyond any other now in use. As it is nothing more than a vegetable matter, the numberless testimonials which have been given in its favor, therefore, those testimonials will speak for it more than all encomiums which could be pronounced. Wherever it has been used, it has invariably been attended with complete success, and that too, in hundreds of cases, where apparently all hopes of cure have been despaired of.

It was by this important discovery that the proprietor of the Live Medicine, was made aware of the great many medicines, but all to no effect, years of the most distressing suffering, and after being abandoned by the profession to die without any hope of relief. Since which, hundreds, my thousands, have in a like manner been restored from beds of sickness to perfect health.

DR. LOCKWARD.—Sir I have made use of your valuable Medicine for the Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, both of which diseases I have labored under for about three years—I have tried a great many medicines, but all to no effect—I was induced to give yours a trial, and much to my astonishment & that of my friends, I was in a short space of time completely relieved of my disease. My symptoms, when I first commenced using your medicine, were, as follows:—After eating my food I felt great distress at the pit of my stomach, with heartburn, sourness and vomiting of food, great tenderness at the pit of the stomach, accompanied with a cutting pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, connected with a pain in the stomach, and a swelling in my right side pronounced by my physician "an enlargement of the liver." My appetite was variable, sometimes very good, at others a complete loss—was obstinately constive. My head very much affected with giddiness and pain; my eye sight was also affected with dimness; I was also much troubled in sleep, and suffered from a nervous headache, sometimes extending to the top of the head, and sometimes to the forehead. I imagined that a few hours would have been my existence; I was disposed to feel constantly cold (especially my feet and hands,) in the warmest days in summer. Thus I suffered until life was to me almost a burthen, when, hearing of your medicine I was prevailed upon to make use of it, and contrary to my expectation and the expectation of my friends, I was in a few months restored to perfect health, and I still continue to enjoy. Any person desirous of knowing the particulars of my case by calling upon me, in the Bazaar, Harris street, I will give the details both as to disease and cure.

Yours, with respect, JACOB D. HAIR.

The following is to the standing of the above named gentleman, from his Honor Jesse Hunt, late Mayor of Baltimore:—I hereby certify that Jacob D. Hair, is personally known to me as a gentleman of firm respectability and standing in the city of Baltimore. Mayor of the City of Baltimore Easton Nov. 3 26,000 SUBSCRIBERS! Philadelphia Mirror.

THE splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editor to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, so long known as the largest family newspaper in the United States, with a list of year TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS.—The new feature recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day, having proved so eminently successful, this plan will be continued.

Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryatt and sixty-five of Mr. Brock's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without interfering with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Arts; Internal Improvement; Agriculture; in short every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full accounts of sales, markets, and news of the latest dates.

It is published at the low price of $2. For this small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 52 volumes a year, and which is estimated to be read, weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people, scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the seaboard to the lakes. The paper has been now so long established as to render it well known to require an extended prospectus.

The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is published twice a week, by the same kind of paper as the two leading daily papers of the city, and is the largest and best family newspaper in the Union. It is published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States. The New York Star says—"We know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more educational to draw out the dormant talents of our country than their unexampled liberality in offering prizes."

The Albany Mercury of March 18th, 1836 says, "The Saturday Courier, is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is duly appreciated by the public, if we may judge from its vast circulation, which exceeds 25,000 per week." Its contents are agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable reading matter than is published in a week in any daily paper in the Union. Its numerous illustrations make its enterprising proprietors, Messrs Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia, to republish in its columns, in the course of year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press; which cannot do to give it a permanent interest and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes the more of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value."

THE QUARTO EDITION. Under the title of the PHILADELPHIA MIRROR, will commence with the publication of the prize Tale, to which was awarded the prize of $100, written by Miss Leslie, editor of the splendid Annual the Token, and author of Pencil Sketches and other valuable contributions to American Literature. A large number of songs, poems, tales and &c. offered in competition for the $500 premiums, will add value and interest to the succeeding numbers which will also be enriched by a story from Miss Sedgewick, author of Hope Leslie, The Linwoods, &c., whose talents have been so justly and extensively appreciated both at home and abroad.

The approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral the religious and political matters, and in uncompromising opponent of backery of every kind.

MAPS. In addition to all of which the publishers intend furnishing their patrons with a series of engraved Maps, embracing the twenty-five States of the Union, &c. exhibiting the situation, &c. of rivers, towns, mountains, lakes, the seaboard, Internal Improvements, as displayed in canals, rail roads, &c., with other interesting and useful features, roads, distances, &c. forming a complete Atlas for general use and information, handsomely executed, and each distinct map on a large quarto sheet at an expense which nothing but the splendid patronage which for six years past has been so generously extended to them could warrant.

TERMS: The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, being a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper of the same size, as the New York Atlas, will be put off precisely one half the price of that valuable journal, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance (including the Maps).

From the Lynchburg (Va.) Democrat.
GEN. HARRISON AND HIS PRINCIPLES.

In our last we made use of a small portion of the documentary history in our possession to prove that Gen. Harrison was not entitled to any share of the military glory which his political friends so vociferously claim for him. We now propose to take a brief review of his "principles," and in doing so, shall sustain such portions as we may take by reference to his votes and public declarations. Although we are fully aware that this course is not considered necessary by any fear that Gen. Harrison can succeed to the Presidency, even though his political character were not placed in its proper light before the people; we still enter upon it for the purpose of showing the desperate fortunes of the Whig party in the South, when they concentrate their strength, feeble though it be, upon such a candidate as the "Hero of the North Bend."

The Nullifiers of South Carolina and the State Rights White Whigs of Virginia (the latter having abandoned Judge White,) now openly avow their determination to support Gen. Harrison, and this, too, in palpable contradiction to their loud and oft repeated declarations, that they were governed purely by principle in opposing the Administration. It is true that they endeavor to conceal their inconsistency by calling Gen. Harrison a "friend to the southern principles," and an opponent of the latitudinous doctrines which he has heretofore warmly supported. They would fain make them appear that which he is not, and never was; and thus, by a gross deception upon the country, shield themselves from the opprobrium which ever attaches to a shameful and indefensible desertion of principle. They know that Gen. Harrison recognizes the constitutional power of Congress to legislate upon the subject of slavery, within the jurisdiction of the States—that he would, if elected, sign a charter for a National Bank, whenever Congress may think proper to pass a bill—that he has been and is now, a friend to Internal Improvements by the General Government—that he was a supporter of the Tariff in its most odious shape—and, in short, that he is a latitudinarian at heart, and in action. Yet they have the hardihood to style him a friend to the South, and to present him as a proper candidate for the suffrages of a people whose principles he has opposed, whose interests he has disregarded, and whose rights he would trample upon.

Our readers may know that we are not imitating our opponents, by dealing in invective and unkindly asserions, we shall give you such a fair and candid review of his principles. We shall arrange the charges and the evidence to sustain them, under separate and distinct heads, so that "he who runs may read."

CHARGE 1st.—Gen. Harrison is an Abolitionist in principle.

The proof.—In a speech delivered some time ago, in the State of Ohio, Gen. Harrison said: "Should I be asked to sign a bill, or to sign a bill which the General Government can aid the cause of emancipation, I answer that it has been no subject near to my heart, to see the whole of my surplus revenue appropriated to that object. With the sanction of the States holding the Slaves, there appears to me to be no constitutional objection to its being thus appropriated, embracing not only the colonization of those that may be otherwise freed, but the purchase of the freedom of others. By a zealous prosecution of a plan formed upon this basis, we might look forward to a day not far distant, when North American sun would not look down upon a slave."

Here is an unequivocal recognition of the constitutional power of Congress to abolish slavery within the States. No sophistry can disguise it. The recognition is in plain and palpable as the noon-day sun. The power to legislate is fully admitted. The right of the National Legislature to coerce the people of the slave-holding States through the medium of revenue bills, to aid the cause of Abolition, and to contribute towards the payment for their own property guaranteed to them by the Constitution, but wrested from them by the strong arm of the General Government, is there openly proclaimed! We ask every man in the South to read this extract attentively, and then say if he does not believe that the leaders of the Whig party are false to their professions? Would they have supposed, after all the clamor which those leaders have made about Abolition, that they would so soon have selected as their candidate for the highest office in the Union, a man who proclaims his objection to the principle, and his belief that Congress possesses the power to carry that principle into full and complete effect? Such at least is the undeniable fact, and well may Arthur Tappan and his reckless followers congratulate themselves upon having an efficient co-laborer in the Whig candidate for the Presidency.

CHARGE 2d.—Gen. Harrison favors the incorporation of a National Bank.
The proof.—In his letter to Sherrod Williams, after stating that he is "not committed to any course in relation to the chartering of a Bank of the United States," Gen. Harrison says: "The question, then, for me to answer, is, whether, under the circumstances you state, if elected to the office of President, I would sign an act to charter another bank, to answer I WOULD, if it were clearly ascertained that the public interest, in relation to the collection and disbursement of the revenue would materially suffer without one, and there were unequivocal manifestations of public opinion in its favor."

Can any one have the blindness to affirm, after this declaration, that Gen. H. would not charter a National Bank in a certain contingency? Does he not believe in the constitutionality of such an institution? And does he not recognize the power and the duty of Congress to grant it a charter whenever they may also consider "that the public interest in relation to the collection and disbursement of the revenue would materially suffer without one?" Yet he is the candidate of the Whigs, professing Southern doctrine.

CHARGE 3d.—Gen. Harrison is a friend to Internal Improvements by the General Government.
The proof.—Gen. Harrison while in the Senate of the United States invariably acted with the friends of Internal Improvements, as his votes in that body distinctly prove. We had in the Globe a list of his votes upon various subjects, by which it appears that he voted in favor of the Daniel Swanney Canal, and afterwards to other wild projects of Internal Improvement; May 15, 1825—among 21 yeas.—[Senate Journal, page 345].—Voted against any restriction on surveys for road, canal, &c.; April 9, 1828—among 23 yeas.—[Senate Journal, page 288.]

CHARGE 4th.—Gen. Harrison is in favor of a high Tariff, and of protecting the manufactures of the country.
The proof.—In the Senate of the United States he voted against reducing the Tariff; s. g. on coffee, almost a necessity of life to the people February 14, '18—among 14 yeas to reduction from 5 to 3 cents per pound. Voted against reduction of duty on tea, February 13, 1827—among 8 yeas to the reduction. [See Journal.] Voted for high Tariff of 1828; [May 14, 1827—among 26 yeas.]

We have thus given, at as much length as our space will admit, fair and candid statements of facts in relation to Gen. Harrison's principles. We have shown from his own words and votes, that he is an Abolitionist—that he would, if elected, charter a National Bank—that he is a friend to Internal Improvement by the General Government—and that he is in favor of a protective Tariff. The duplicity of the White branch of the Whig leaders in advocating the pretensions of such a candidate, who has so long professed, and who has virtually abandoned every principle, for which they have professed to contend, contented their attachment to the State Rights doctrine of the South, and their hostility to those who advocated the power of Congress to interfere with the subject of slavery, has been merged in a warm and active support of a candidate, who is an open enemy of the one, and an ardent friend of the other. Their efforts to conceal the true political character of Gen. Harrison and to plaster up his known political heresies, as their only hopes of success. But the intelligence of the people is a shield against such arts. The honest members of their own party, those who conscientiously supported Judge White, are daily awakening to the deception which has been practised upon them; and the first Monday in November, will prove that they will not barter their principles for power, nor suffer themselves to be sold like "sheep at the shambles."

From the Frederick Citizen.
REFORMERS, TO THE RESCUE! NOW OR NEVER!

The People of Maryland, at the recent Senatorial Elections have, by a decided majority, signified solemnly, their will, that no man ought to be placed in the next Senate of the State, hostile to a radical change in its Legislative and fundamental laws; and it is the duty of every good citizen, to see that the will of the people is carried into full effect; and there being good cause to fear, that a majority of the Senatorial Electors who have been chosen, will contemptuously disregard the well known wish of those for whom they are to select Legislators, every friend of order, and of that Reform which can alone long preserve it, is earnestly urged to attend a meeting, to be held at the Court House in Frederick, at early candle light, this Evening to devise means to carry into effect the will of the people of Maryland, in the formation of the State Senate.

Frederick, Saturday, Sept. 10, 1835.

Pursuant to the above call, one of the largest and most respectable meetings ever held in Frederick, assembled at the Court House, and on motion of Francis Thomas, Esq. organized by calling on GEO. W. ENT, Esq. and HENRY NIXDORFF, Esq. to the Chair, and appointing Messrs John J. Steiner and Wm. Tyler, Jr. Secretaries. When on motion of P. H. Brown, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to report resolutions for the consideration of the meeting, viz: P. H. Brown, H. R. Warfield, Jno. H. McElfresh, M. E. Bariggs, Wm. Tyler, John McPherson, Francis Thomas.

Who reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were supported most ably and eloquently, in spirit stirring addresses, by Francis Thomas, Henry E. Warfield and John H. McElfresh Esq. which were responded to most enthusiastically by the assembled multitude.

This meeting is deeply impressed with the conviction, that a crisis exists in the affairs of the people of Maryland, demanding the adoption of decisive and energetic measures. When the late Senate of the State was chosen in 1831, our condition was prosperous and our treasury was full, now at the expiration of their term of service, we are on the verge of bankruptcy. The late Senate of the State was characterized by a system of legislation, high impudent and injurious to the interests of the State, and in many instances utterly regardless of those rights of the people, which are inalienable and inestimably dear to every freeman.

In the late Senatorial election, a vast majority of the people, have after a calm and deliberate review of the past conduct of their rulers, expressed a fixed and determined purpose, that the places which they then once shall know them no more. They have emphatically declared by their votes, that the whole of the late Senate, and a majority of the House of Delegates, have forfeited public confidence; that they by oppressive and ruinous legislation, have brought the institutions of the State into disrepute and made the quiet enjoyment of that property which has been accumulated by honest industry, problematical. The same people have declared it to be their will, that the friends of Martin Van Buren and Republican principles shall have the power to form the next Senate of the State; and they have said also in the result of the Senatorial election, that there shall be chosen a Senate, ready, and willing, to reform all abuses in the legislative and executive departments of the Government, and to correct and amend all defects in the existing Constitution of the State Government. Nevertheless, by reason of the abhorrent inequalities which exist in the appointment of Delegates to the Electoral College of State Senators, there have been elected by a small minority of the people, 55,179, amounting to but little over one fourth of the white population of the state, twenty-one electors forming a majority of the whole Electoral College who, or a majority of whom, we have good reason to believe and fear, are deaf to the voice of the people, and who are ready to make choice of a Senate, prepared to perpetuate the abuses of which the people loudly complain; and who will resist all amendments and reforms in the Constitution, required by the people, and demanded by every principle of justice.

And whereas, the 15th section of the Constitution declares that NO SENATE CAN BE FORMED, UNLESS TWENTY FOUR ELECTORS agree to meet for the appointment of the members of which it is to consist.

Therefore Resolved, that the Senatorial Electors of this County, be instructed to require of the twenty-one Whig Electors, a pledge that no member of the former Senate, and no member of the House of Delegates who opposed the bill calling a Convention of the people, shall be elected to the next Senate of the State. That at least eight, of the members of the Senate to be chosen by the Electoral College shall be selected from among persons known to entertain opinions and sentiments coinciding with the principles and opinions held by and governing a majority of the people (205,922,) who have elected H. B. Electors; and that, in the formation of the Senate, there shall be a majority of members known to be favorable to such a thorough and radical reform of the Constitution of the State as will ensure to all citizens living under it, equal political rights and privileges.

Resolved, That, unless the pledges required by the preceding resolution, are solemnly given in true faith, the two Electors from this county, be requested to refuse to enter into an election of Senators; Provided that the Electors from other counties and cities, having a majority of the white population of the State therein, will co-operate with them to defeat the election of a Senate, hostile to a reform in the Constitution, to the extent required in the first resolution.

Resolved, That our friends in the counties and cities, that have elected Van Buren Reform Electors, are earnestly invited and recommended, to join us in these measures, as the only means by which we can avoid the fate of being again compelled to submit for five years at least, to the tyranny of a government, wielded and controlled by a small and aristocratic minority of the people of the State.

On motion of Mr. M. E. Bartgis, the Preamble and resolutions were submitted to the meeting, and unanimously adopted, and were on motion ordered to be printed in the newspapers of the State.

When on motion, the meeting adjourned to meet again, at the same place, on Wednesday evening next.

NEW CHRONICLES.

CHAPTER I.
1. John preacheeth; 5. his voice; 7. he rebuketh the Democrats; 13. Judge White initiated by John Bell in Nashville.
2. In these days came John Bell the Federalist, preaching in the state of Tennessee.
3. And saying, repent ye, Democrats, for the election of White is at hand.
4. For this is he that is spoken of by the Caucus, whereof I was chief, saying: The voice of one crying in Tennessee, prepare ye the way of the Bank, make its paths straight to the old School.
5. Then went out to him to Nashville, and all Franklin, and all the region round about Cumberland.
6. And were initiated of him in Nashville, confessing their errors.
7. But when they saw many of the Democrats and Republicans come to his initiation, he said unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?
8. Bring forth therefore fruit meet for repentance.
9. And thank not to say within yourselves: We have Jackson for our President; for I say unto you, that Nicholas Biddle is able of any man to raise up a dictator unto Jackson.
10. And now is the axe laid unto the root of Republicanism in Tennessee; therefore every Republican who bringeth not good fruit of repentance, is hewn down and cast into the fire.
11. I indeed initiate with you, omnia unio officio; but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear; he shall initiate you with office and with honor.
12. Whose fan is in his hand and he will thoroughly purge his State, and gather his people unto Congress, and into the Legislature, but will first turn up the stiff necked with unquenchable fire.
13. Then came Judge White from Washington to Nashville, unto John to be initiated of him.
14. And Judge White answering, said unto him, Suffer it to be so; for thus it becometh us to fulfil all arrangements. Then he suffered him.
15. And Judge White went up straightway out of Nashville, and, lo, the wine bottles were opened unto him, and he saw the spirit of Federalism descending like a dove, and lighting upon him.
16. And lo, a voice from the Bank saying, This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased.

CHAPTER II.
Judge White foisted and is gorged; he beginneth to teach as calves; Baily and Luke; he teacheth in the Groceries, and healeth the diseased politicians.
1. Then was Judge White led up of Old Nick to the country, to be taught him concerning the Bank.
2. And after he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterwards gorged.
3. And when the tempter came to him he said, If thou be a Bank man command that these people be made Bank men.
4. But he answered and said, It is agreed I shall not be elected on my merits alone, but by the dollars that proceed out of the vaults of the Bank.
5. Then Old Nick taketh him up into the City of Nashville, and putteth him in the City Hotel.
6. And said unto him, if thou be a son of the Bank, cause a great dinner to be given unto thee at Vaux Hall, for it is agreed that I shall give thy agents care concerning thee, lest at any time thou should be in need of money.
7. Judge White said unto him, It is agreed again and thou shalt not vex thy President.
8. Again Old Nick taketh him up into an exceeding large City, and sheweth him all the money of the Bank, and the glory of it.
9. And said unto him all these things will I give thee if thou wilt consent to advocate the cause of my Bank.
10. Then Judge White saith, all these things will I do, for it is agreed that I shall do it.
11. Then Nick leaveth him, and behold, agents came and administered unto him.
12. Now when Judge White heard that John was about to have opposition in his election, he departed to Tennessee.
13. And leaving Philadelphia, he dwelt in Knoxville, which is upon the Bank of the Holston, in the Borders of North Carolina and Virginia.

The City Council of Charleston have erected a Monument over the remains of the gallant volunteers who died in that city after their return from the Florida campaign.

A Mr. Wilson, of New York, has invented a mowing machine propelled by two horses, which cuts a swath of six feet wide, and will, it is believed, mow an acre in an hour. It possesses a self sharpening power, and may be used in cutting grain. Thus are labour saving inventions constantly occurring, which relieve man of his drudgery and leave him at liberty to apply his energies to objects more elevated than the exercise of mere brute force. The return from agricultural pursuits in this country is so meagre as to render every discovery extremely desirable, as placing agriculture on an equal footing with manufacturing processes.

THE STATE SENATE.

The election of Senators for the ensuing five years takes place on Monday next. The parties stand 21 Harrisonites, and 19 Democratic Republicans; the former representing a population of 85,179—the latter a population of 205,922. Thus it will be seen that the 19 Republican electors represent ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY THOUSAND souls more than do the 21 Harrison electors, and yet by the arrangement under the present Constitution of the State the electors representing the minority have the power of entailing upon the majority of the people a Senate for five years to come. This is one of the evils in our State government that loudly calls for reformation. Will the people longer suffer themselves almost entirely to be disfranchised and tamely give up the inalienable and inestimable blessings of equal rights? We mistake their virtue; we insult their wisdom, by entertaining such a thought! And we sincerely hope that the power now held by the Van Buren electors will be judiciously used in such manner as to compel our opponents to yield in some respect to the wishes of the majority of the people, and that it may result in the election of a Senate that will treat with decent respect at least the prayers of the people praying for reform in our State government. If they even effect this they will have achieved a proud advantage and a grateful people will long hold their patriotic motives in honorable remembrance.

The Harrison men—those men who once had such an aversion to Military heroes!—drums—trumpets—and cannons!—wasted we fear, their blank cartridges last week very foolishly. They proclaimed their victory by firing of cannon in the shades of night. Well let us look what kind of a victory they have won. In faith a real Harrison victory—that is to say almost, but not quite a victory. The following clause in the Constitution of Maryland will explain what we mean:
Sec. 15. "That the said Electors of the Senate meet at the City of Annapolis, &c. on the third Monday in September, &c. and they or any 24 of them, so met, shall proceed to elect by ballot, the 15 Senators, &c."

By this clause it will be seen that the 21 Harrison electors have not the Constitutional power to elect a Senate. What's to be done? It requires 24 to constitute a quorum! Do the Whigs think the Van Buren electors representing nearly 3000 more voters than they do, will suffer themselves to be made the mere instruments of an opposite party representing a minority of the people? Do they expect the Van Buren electors to give up the power they hold, representing as they do so large a majority of the people, without some equivalent—some concession on the part of their opponents? No! they cannot as reasonable men expect any such thing. There must be a compromise! The Harrisonites must accede to some reasonable compromise or abide the result. They must either consent to give up a portion of the Senate, making it a mixed body, or by pertinaciously refusing, jeopardize the interests of the people.

THE RACES commenced on Wednesday the 21st inst. over the Easton Course. The friends of the Turf anticipate good racing and fine sport.

FIRE.—A dwelling house occupied by Mrs. Gannon, situated on the Point, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday last. The prompt and energetic exertions of many of the citizens present prevented the further extension of the fire. Its origin is unknown.

Democrats to your posts!
If there ever was a time for the Democratic party to be vigilant, firm and zealous, now is that time. We have every thing to cheer and animate us in the approaching contest. We may probably have 7 out of the 15 Senators to be elected on Monday, and by a proper exertion, we may return a majority of Delegates to the lower House, and thus secure the State, and reform the existing abuses, so prodigally rife to the great detriment of the people. Let every man do his duty, and he will find his reward in the pleasing reflection that he has aided in extinguishing the embers of Federalism and its consequent corruption, by restoring Democracy to its pristine purity in old Maryland.

The Executive Council meet on Tuesday the 20th inst.

We publish in another column the proceedings of a meeting held in Frederick, instructing their Senatorial Electors relative to the crisis which has now arrived in the political affairs of Maryland, and which instruction will exclude them probably from meeting the electoral College. They plainly show the temper and spirit of our brethren of the Western Shore who feel themselves aggrieved by the inequality existing under the present Constitution.

INDIAN HOSTILITIES.

The Baltimore American of the 13 inst says: We learn that a gentleman of the first respectability, a resident of Florida, at present in this city, has received a letter from his friend in Tallahassee, under date of the 26th August, which states that the whole of Madison county is in possession of the Indians, a party of whom had penetrated within twenty miles of Tallahassee and stolen six horses from the plantation of John Gamble, Esq. The writer further states that Powell is ready to take the field at the head of five thousand savages—that the Tennessee troops had declined going into Florida, and that in consequence of their having done so, it would be necessary to apply to the government for additional force. The letter writer says moreover that at no time have there been as great fears as at present for the safety of the territory. The gentleman who has received the letter says that the author of it is known to him as a man of decided courage, not likely to be operated on by idle fears.

RATLIN THE REEFER.

The U. S. Gazette thus speaks of Capt. Maryatt's new novel of the above title. Capt. Maryatt has done a better thing than to fight a duel with Willis—he has written, or helped to write, Ratlin the Reeper, & a better thing than that he has not done—at least nothing better of him is on record. Broad humor is the leading characteristic of the volumes, and yet there are passages in the Reeper that would make a hard eye pipe. Those who like a taste of Snollett, sprinkled with a spice of the blue jacket of the present day, will find food for reflection in Ratlin the Reeper.

A CARD.

The undersigned Committee, on behalf of the members of the "EASTON GUARDS," respectfully return their thanks to the Citizens of Cambridge for their very polite attention and hospitality to the Company during their short sojourn with them. The Committee deem it unnecessary to say more than that the hospitality of the Citizens of Cambridge will long live fresh in their remembrance, and they sincerely hope they will accept this brief announcement of their gratitude as a full testimonial of their high respect for the kindness and hospitality which were so bountifully bestowed upon them. To Mr. BRADSHAW they feel particularly indebted for the hospitable reception which they met with from him; and also to Mrs. FLIXT, Mr. DAVIDSON, and other citizens for their particular attention in furnishing them with refreshments, &c. To Mr. Harris they would also tender their thanks for his attention at the Ferry.

MECHANICS OF EASTON.

Fellow-Mechanics: An important crisis will probably take place this winter in matters which vitally concern you. Do you love the profession in which you have spent your youthful days in acquiring—Do you respect yourselves—your families—or do you wish to see yourselves sinking to the common level of beggars and becoming the panting tools of those very men whom you elevate to office! If you wish to avoid these evils, listen to a mechanic who prides himself on his occupation, and glories in the name of a Franklin and a Sherman.

The present penitentiary system of this State needs reformation. It is a burden and an oppression on the Mechanic. It is a monopoly created by the State that it may yield a revenue to its treasury. Well let us see who suffers. Does the Lawyer, the Physician, or professional man? Certainly not. The Mechanic alone suffers. The Hatter, the Tailor, the Shoemaker, the Combmaker, the Stone Mason and many others! At the Penitentiary work is executed at a depreciated price, and honest men can hold no competition. Convicts are taught mechanical trades, and those vicious inmates of a common penitentiary are let loose to mingle with respectable mechanics and honest men's children. I have been assured the moral reformation of the convict amounts to nothing. Their passions remain depraved and in such a condition they are turned loose to prey upon the laboring community. The Granite cutters of Baltimore were some time since driven nearly to the extremity of abandoning their trade because they could not compete with the State. The convicts worked for about 30 cents a day, and a decent man would throw away his labor for that paltry sum when it was worth $1.50, and for labor done probably beneath the scorching rays of a summer sun. There are no professional men made in the Penitentiary. Of no. The convicts must be taught trades, or put to work at some Mechanical business of which they have some knowledge upon entering, and all to gratify the cupidity and avarice of the State, but much to the serious injury of every mechanic within her borders. This subject will probably be brought before the next Legislature, and I hope sincerely that Talbot will have a Mechanic there whose voice, speaking from practical knowledge, will be heard in defence of the rights of the working men.

A MECHANIC.

Easton, S. pt. 14, 1836.

[Communicated for the Whig.]
To the publisher of the Easton Gazette:

Sir:—You have ever evinced a peculiar desire to attack the private character of individuals, and then exult in any apparent advantage your inflamed passions have led you to believe you have gained. The object of this communication is to draw your attention to a subject which even you sir, are extremely well qualified to handle. You distinctly remember when the Democratic Candidates (or if you please the Van Buren candidates) were nominated, that you or some one of your associates, undertook the task of writing the biography of those gentlemen. How well you succeeded need not here be stated. You have displayed a great volubility—you have communicated all you knew, and a man under such circumstances will readily detail what he does not know! Now, sir, will you oblige the writer of this article, and gratify the people, by giving us the biography of John Bozman Kerr, Wm. Townsend, Thomas O. Martin, and John Boyles! add to which John Edmondson and all the Federal Indemnity-bill candidates! I am sure you or your cats-paw can perform the work to admiration if you will give the plain unvarnished truth. You can tell a thousand little incidents that will be quite amusing to the people. But should you find yourself at loss I can supply you with data—rich and abundant. You may begin thus, if it be permitted to dictate to your imperial honor: one has a particular aversion to MECHANICS—the low class to him are fishy! * * * * * lounging about the purlieus of a college, and mingling with the haughty cause every thing in this latitude to assume a new garb. Again: another was opposed to the right of suffrage but suddenly became reformed from his belief and course and by fear of losing popularity with the people; becomes passionately careful of the people's interests, &c. &c. Thus, sir, you may go on glorifying and even defiling those gentlemen until you furnish us with something perfectly new and novel! A Friend to

R. M. JOHNSON.

N. B. Should you decline, I will undertake the task myself.

A LIBERAL REWARD.

"A few years past having taken the bonny and enlisted as drill Sergeant in the Royal Army under Emperor Robert the First, and finding the duties too arduous, and being very much harassed day and night with my two pestiferous corporals, (as I find they are only calculated to stand and bark) and being about to be promoted as preserver, protector and expounder of the Constitution and State across the big water, I will therefore give a liberal reward (as I hold the purse) for some active, faithful understrapper who will not be so peevish, and can be well recommended to aid and assist me in the duties of the coming day. I can always be found between sun rise and sun down at my drill quarters, or at that their white house at the latter end of my long green, or pacing to and fro from one to the other.

HEAD QUARTERS.
GRAND ORDER.—No 2.

Maumeites Attention!—Corporal Spout, will order out a sufficient number of men from the "faithful legion" to fire a grand salute on Tuesday evening next on the receipt of the glorious intelligence anticipated from Annapolis. Maumeites remember the gallant Harrison, who fought many battles and escaped without a scratch—while the clumsy Dick Johnson was shot in several parts of his body and had his horse killed under him! Your venerable Harrison was too brave ever to be caught—he was always in advance of his army, and patriotically said the "people must do their own fighting," and now lives to be elevated to the presidency without a wound or a scratch to encumber him. Huzza! huzza for the hero! Be at your posts my worthies, and let us give the Democrats a real bustler of a reeked!

By order of the generalissimo,
TIM, 2nd Sergeant, of the grand Harrison phalanx
Easton District, Talbot County.

N. B. Refreshments will be furnished after the salute.

P. S. Another order may be issued on Tuesday should any thing in the interim occur to require it.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

The Democratic Republican candidates propose meeting their fellow citizens at the following places.

Easton, Sept 13, 1836.

Gen. Harrison is, at this time, on an electioneering tour through the Old Dominion.

The Baltimore American of Saturday says: The Secretary of War, who has been recently appointed Minister to France, left Washington on Sunday last for New York to make arrangements for his approaching departure. He is expected to return in time to receive the volunteer companies from Baltimore on their visit to Washington next Monday.

The Hon. Mr. Butler, Attorney General of the United States, will be (it is stated in the Georgetown Metropolitan) placed at the head of the War Department during the remainder of the present administration.

We learn from the same paper that the Hon. Mr. Forsyth, Secretary of State, is too much indisposed to attend to the duties of his station.

CHEAP LITERATURE. A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to AN AMUSING AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION—but is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling that all who have the inclination to become acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the proposition at once, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as many of the popular volumes which are sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

500 ENGRAVINGS

Will be furnished to our journal in one year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Satire Criticism and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order. Clubs of Four will be supplied with the paper for one dollar from the commencement, by forwarding a dollar note, postage paid.

PREMIUMS.—The publisher prompted by the unexampled and unexpected triumph which his paper has received, offer the following premiums:

For the best ORIGINAL COMIC TALE, FIFTY DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC SONG, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for best collection of ORIGINAL ANECDOTES, JESTS, &c. not less than fifty in number, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for best ORIGINAL COMIC DESIGN, SKETCH, or DRAWING, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; and for the third best TEN DOLLARS.

Persons entering as competitors, will not forward their names, agreeably to their own wishes. The premiums will be awarded by competent judges. All communications to the subject must be addressed to the publisher, prior to the first of September, 1836 postage paid.

A post master's certificate will be a satisfactory guarantee of a remittance. Negotiable notes of every kind taken in payment of subscriptions.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

TO ALL PERSONS AFFLICTED.

A Certain Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver, Biliary, and Nervous Complaints; Jaundice, General Debility, Lowness of Spirits; and Diseases incident to Females.

DR. LOCKWARD'S Celebrated Vegetable Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir.

The first symptoms of this disease is a disagreement of food, producing pain and uneasiness at the region of the stomach; fullness of that organ; belching of wind, with sour, oily or putrescent eructations; pain and tenderness at the pit of the stomach; pain in the right side, extending after to the right shoulder, under the shoulder-blade; the same kind of pain is very often experienced in the left side, especially often lying on the right or left side; pain also often in the small of the back and giddiness of the head; dimness of the sight; coated tongue; disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning after arising; coldness. This medicine acts as a gentle purge, by which all four humors are removed from the system; at the same time it restores the loss of the stomach and bowels; opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Pancreas, and will be found singularly efficacious in diseases of the Kidneys. As a family medicine it will be found cheaper or to answer a better purpose, and being composed entirely of vegetable matter it is perfectly innocent, which renders it more valuable.

As a certain remedy or cure for the above diseases this medicine stands incomparably beyond any other now in use. And as nothing more could be requisite to convince the most sceptical of its utility, than the numberless testimonials which have been given in its favor, therefore, those testimonials will speak for it more than all encomiums which could be pronounced. Wherever it has been used, it has invariably been attended with complete success, and that too, in hundreds of cases, where apparently all hopes of recovery had been despaired of. It was by this important discovery that the proprietor of the above medicine, was in a few months, restored to perfect health, after years of the most distressing suffering, and after being abandoned by the profession to die without any hope of relief. Since which, hundreds, nay thousands, have in a like manner been restored from beds of sickness to perfect health.

Dr. Lockward—Sir I have made use of your valuable medicine for the Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, both of which diseases I have labored under for about three years—I have tried a great many medicines, but all to no effect—I was induced to give yours a trial, and much to my astonishment & that of my friends, I was in a short space of time completely relieved of my disease. My symptoms, when I first commenced using your medicine, were, a fullness at the pit of my stomach, with heartburn, sourness and vomiting of food, great tenderness at the pit of the stomach, accompanied with an acute pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, connected with this pain was a prominent enlargement in my right side pronounced by my physician "an enlargement of the liver." My appetite was variable, sometimes very good, at others a complete loss—bowels obstinately constive. My head very much affected with giddiness and pain, my eyesight was also affected with dimness, I was also much emaciated in flesh, and suffered extremely from nervous feelings; sometime I imagined that a few hours would close me existence; I was disposed to feel constantly cold (especially my feet and hands,) in the warmest days in summer. Thus I suffered until life was to me almost a burthen, when, hearing of your medicine I was prevailed upon to make use of it, and contrary to my expectation and the expectation of my friends, I was in a few months restored to perfect health, which I still continue to enjoy. Any person desirous of knowing the particulars of my case by calling upon me, in the Bazaar, Harris street, I will give the details both to disease and cure.

The following as to the standing of a noble named gentleman, is from his Honor Jesse Hunt, late Mayor of Baltimore: "I hereby certify that Jacob D. Har, is personally known to me as a gentleman of first respectability and standing in the city of Baltimore."

LYREY BODY'S ALBUM.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c. ILLUSTRATED WITH NUMEROUS GROTESQUE & AMUSING ENGRAVINGS.

Each number containing seventy-two active pages, neatly covered and stitched—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six hundred engravings with Tales and Index complete—at three dollars per annum. The cheerful and pleasing nature with which it is proposed to diversify and distinguish this work has never yet been adopted by any one of the numerous literary careers that have hitherto abounded in this country—and its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humor and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render it a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humorists, Etchers and Engravers. The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view, has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought into active use so large a proportion of the "really deserving" offerings of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of fanciful Illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, witty Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiae, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert its attention from more exciting channels, and to the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it most flattering and extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit & humor which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

The "EVERY BODY'S ALBUM" will be published monthly, in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of engravings—neatly stitched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, to prevent the least rubbing by the mails. Notes in payment of subscriptions Address the publisher (postage paid) CHARLES ALEXANDER, Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place, Phila.

THIRD VOLUME OF THE Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME of the OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists of his first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have been of some service to the cause Western Agriculture; and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize the work.—There never was a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put or better used—when knowledge was of great advantage. It is the era of advancement in the art and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times by informing himself of what is transpiring around him, will lose more than half of the pleasures and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be a double stimulant to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays and articles selected from the best works, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work ever published in the West, has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil, improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology, Botany, Chemistry, &c. &c. will receive due attention. Each volume of this paper is furnished with a Title Page and Index, expressly for binding and will make about 200 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day January, 1836.

CONDITIONS.
The Farmer is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on solvent Banks received. Payment may be made at our office, or by post. Persons obtaining 5 subscribers, and forwarding the money, shall receive a copy for trouble.

All Editors, Postmasters and officers of Agricultural Societies are authorized Agents and requested to act as such.

Carey's Library

OF CHOICE LITERATURE
To say that this is a reading age, implies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire. On the first point, all are agreed; on the second, there is diversity both of opinion and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of all sizes, and the laborer has to select from a variety of his classes of readers and supporters. And yet, copious as are these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of a day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, beyond mere passing allusion, of the progress of discovery in art and science. But though it is easy to ascertain and express their wants, it is not so easy to gratify them. Expense, distance from the emporium of literature, engrossing occupations which prevent personal application or even messages to libraries and booksellers, are so many causes to keep people away from the least of reason, and the enjoyment of the coveted literary aliment. It is the aim of the publishers of the Library to obviate these difficulties, and enable every individual, at a small cost and without any personal application, to obtain for his own use and that of his favored friends or family, valuable works complete, on all the branches of useful and popular literature, and that in a form well adapted to the comfort of the reader.

The charm of variety, as far as it is compatible with morality and good taste, will be held instantly in view in conducting the Library, to fill the pages of which the current literature of Great Britain, in all its various departments of Biography, History, Travels, Novels and Poetry, shall be freely put under contribution. With, perchance, occasional exceptions, it is intended to give entire the work which shall be selected for publication. When circumstances authorize the measure, recourse will be had to the literary store of Continental Europe, and translations made from French, Italian, or German, as the case may be.

TERMS.

The work will be published in weekly numbers containing twenty imperial octavo pages, with double columns, making two volumes an octavo; or, at the expiration of every six months, it will be furnished with a handsome binding and table of contents. The whole amount of matter furnished in single year will be equal to more than four volumes of common sized English duodecimo bookshelves the cost of which will be at least six times the price of a years subscriptions.

Whilst the body of the work will be a reprint, or at times a translation of entire volumes, the cover, will exhibit the miscellaneous character of a Magazine, and consist of sketches of men and things, and notices of novelties in literature and the arts, throughout the civilized world. A full and regular supply of the literary monthly and belated journals of Great Britain and Ireland, in addition to home periodicals of a similar character cannot fail to provide ample materials of a hipart of our work.

The resources and extensive correspondence of the publishers, are the best guarantee for the continuance of the enterprise in which they are now about to embark, as well as for the abundance of the material which it will be in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selections and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped, have reason to be fully satisfied, as the editor of the Library of a stranger to them, but has more than on obtained their favourable suffrages for his literary efforts.

The Library will be printed, with the finest quality of paper and of a size admirably adapted for binding. As the type will be entirely new, and of a neat appearance, each volume, when bound, will furnish a handsome, as well as valuable, and not cumbersome addition to the libraries of those who patronize the work.

The price of the Library will be five dollars per annum payable advance.

A commission of 20 per cents, will be allowed to agents, and any agent, or postmaster, forming five subscribers, and emitting the amount of subscription shall be entitled to the commission of 20 per cent or a copy of the work for one year.

A specimen of the work, or any information respecting it may be obtained by addressing the publishers post paid. Address,

THE splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editor to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, so long known as the largest family Newspaper in the United States, with a list of year TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS.—The new feature recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day, having proved so eminently successful, the plan will be continued. Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryat and sixty-five of Mr. Brook's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without interfering with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Arts; Internal Improvement; Agriculture; in short every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full accounts of sales, markets, and news of the latest dates.

It is published at the low price of $2. For this small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 52 volumes a year, and which is estimated to be read, weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people, scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the coast to the lake. The paper has been now so long established as to render it too well known to require an extended prospectus, the publishers, therefore will do no more than refer to the two leading daily political papers of opposite politics. The Pennsylvania says—"The Saturday Courier is the largest, and one of the best family newspapers in the Union;" a pe other, the Inquirer and Daily Courier, says, "it is the largest journal published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States." The New York says—"We know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more efficacious to draw out the dormant talents of our country than their unexampled liberality in offering literary prizes."

The Albany Mercury of March 18th, 1836 says, "The Saturday Courier, is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is duly appreciated by the public, if we may judge from its vast circulation, which exceeds 25,000 per week! Its contents are as agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable reading matter than is published in a week in any daily paper in the Union.—Its mammoth dimensions enable its enterprising proprietors, Messrs Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia to republish in its columns, in the course of year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press; which cannot fail to give it a permanent interest and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes therefore of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it much more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value."

THE QUARTO EDITION.
Under the title of the PHILADELPHIA Mirror, will commence with the publication of the present issue, to which was awarded the prize of $100, written by Miss Leslie, editor of the splendid Annual the "Token, and author of Pencil Sketches and other valuable contributions to American Literature. A large number of songs, poems, tales and &c offered in a competition for the $500 premiums, will add value and interest to the succeeding numbers which will also be enriched by a story from Miss Sedgewick, author of Hope Leslie, The Linwoods, &c., whose talents have been so ably and extensively appreciated both at home and abroad.

The approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral the religious and political matters, and in uncompromising opponent of buckery of every kind.

MAPS.
In addition to all of which the publishers intend furnishing their patrons with a series of engraved Maps, embracing the twenty-five States of the Union, &c. exhibiting the situation, &c. of rivers, towns, mountains, lakes, the sea board, Internal Improvements, as displayed in canals, rail roads, &c., with other interesting and useful features, roads, distances, &c. forming a complete Atlas for general use and information, handsomely executed, and each distinct map on a large quarto sheet at an expense which nothing but the splendid patronage which for six years past has been so generously extended to them could warrant.

The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, being a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper of the same size as the New York Edition, will be put at precisely one half the price of that valuable journal, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance (including the Maps, &c.)

Easton and Baltimore Packet.

THE splendid new sloop THOMAS HAYWARD.

WILL commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 2nd of March, (weather permitting,) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock of the following Saturday, and continue sailing on those days throughout the season.

The THOMAS HAYWARD has run as a packet, giving general satisfaction as a Steamer and safe boat. She is fitted up in a highly comfortable manner for the accommodation of passengers with State Rooms for Ladies, and comfortable berths; and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point by Mr. P. Barwick, who will faithfully attend to their receipt in the absence of the subscriber; and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thomas H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscriber's residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessels.

The subscriber has employed Mr. N. Jones as Skipper, who is well known as a careful & skilful sailor, unsurpassed in experience and knowledge of the bay.

Thankful for the liberal share of patronage which has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same. The public's obedient servant,
SAMUEL H. BENNY.

THE SATURDAY NEWS AND LITERARY GAZETTE

A WEEKLY FAMILY NEWSPAPER.
Devoted to literature, Criticism, the Fine Arts, General Intelligence, News, &c. Price Two Dollars per annum—payable in advance.

On Saturday, July 2, 1836, the subscribers will commence in Philadelphia, the publication of a new weekly newspaper under the above title.

The News will embrace every variety of light literature, including, Tales, Poetry, Essays Criticism, Notices of the Fine Arts, the Drama, &c. The original matter will be supplied by writers of the first eminence. A regular correspondence will be maintained with Washington, and the principal Cities of the Union, and arrangements are in progress by which letters from Europe will be constantly furnished.

Attention will be paid to securing at the earliest possible date the choicest productions of the English periodical press. Popular novels, will occasionally be given, though they will not be suffered to interfere with a general variety. The latest news, and all items of interesting intelligence will invariably form part of the contents.

The News will be printed on a folio sheet of the largest size, and will furnish a large amount of reading matter as any weekly paper now published in this country. It will be conducted in a spirit of the most fearless independence. All allusion to party politics or sectarian religion will be carefully avoided.

LOUIS A. GODEY, JOSEPH C. NEAL, MORTON McMICHAEL. Agents of this paper will be allowed the usual commission. Six copies furnished for ten dollars. All payments to be made in advance. Orders, free of postage, must be addressed to

A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE LARGEST, AND CHEAPEST CLASS IN THE COUNTRY.—DEVOTED TO LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called

The Saturday Chronicle, Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.

Publication Office, No. 74 South Second street,

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the full name of the term, a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and zealously devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Tales and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral subjects—Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of improvements in the Mechanical Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents, &c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.

The publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the newspaper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel assured that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving of liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and the latest intelligence from Washington and Harpersburg, during the sessions of the state Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of a few weeks, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure for their readers productions from some of the best writers in the country. The works of popular authors will occasionally be published at length in the Chronicle, and no pains nor expense will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following:

- D. B. Brown, Esq.
- Col. T. L. McKim
- John C. Smith, Esq.
- J. R. Chandler, Esq.
- C. P. Holcom, Esq.
- Miss Leslie
- Miss E. C. Stras
- Mrs. J. L. Dumont
- John Clarke, Esq.
- Rev. Jos. Rusling
- Dr. A. C. Draper
- Thos. Earle, Esq.
- Wm. T. Smith, Esq.
- Hon. Matthias Morris
- Wm. Darby, Esq.
- Prof. John M. Keagy
- Robert Morris, Esq.
- W. C. Clark, Esq.
- Dr. James M. Henry
- Chas. Taylor, Esq.
- R. T. Conrad, Esq.
- Dr. Joseph Pancoas
- J. Watson, Esq.
- Chas. S. Cope, Esq.
- Robt. Hare, Jr. Esq.
- B. W. Richards, Esq.
- C. B. Trogo, Esq.
- Dr. J. A. Elkinton
- Thos. A. Parker, Esq.
- Hon. Matthias Morris
- Wm. Darby, Esq.
- Prof. John M. Keagy

And it is the intention of the publishers to secure, if possible, original articles from every prominent writer in the country.

One important feature of the Chronicle is the publication of Letters from Europe, written expressly for this paper, by a distinguished literary gentleman. These letters are deeply interesting and instructive; and equal, in every respect, to any European letters that have ever been written for the American press.

When the Chronicle is issued in good type, and in that of the largest mammoth size. It is published, every Saturday, and forwarded by mail, enclosed in strong wrappers, at all parts of the United States, on the day of publication.

MATTHIAS & TAYLOR, Recently connected with the Saturday Evening Post.

A CARD.

Woolfolk wishes to inform the owners of negroes, in Maryland, Virginia, and N. Carolina, that he is not dead, as has been artfully represented by his opponents, but that he still lives, to give them CASH and the highest prices for their Negroes. Persons having Negroes to dispose of, will please give him a chance, by addressing him at Baltimore, and where immediate attention will be paid to their wishes.

N. B. All papers that have copied my former Advertisement, will copy the above, and discontinue the others.

CLOCK & WATCH MAKING.

MAATERIALS

his line of business, which added to his former stock, renders his assortment general and in complete, all of which will be manufactured at the shortest notice and on the most pleasing terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand

New Watches, Watch Chains, Seals and Keys, Watch Guards, Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Pointed

Scissors, Silver Shields, Plain Gold Rings, Razors, and Razor Straps, Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives, Scissors, Percussion Caps, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and he thinks there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very kind encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes for strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant,

JAMES BENNY.

To be Rented

For one or more years, that large and commodious dwelling

situated in the town of Easton, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, at present, and for some years past, occupied by Mr. Solomon Lowe. This establishment is universally admitted to be the largest and most convenient for a Public House, of any on the Peninsula, and to a man well calculated to conduct it, an opportunity will be offered for doing a very extensive and profitable business, more especially if he has sufficient capital to carry it on advantageously.

Easton is known as a town of considerable trade, and the Steam Boat Maryland, which plies twice a week between Baltimore, Annapolis and this place, considerably increases the business, and of course adds very much to the value of this establishment, by the constant intercourse of travellers from the different counties on the Western and Eastern shores, and elsewhere with those places.

Persons wishing to rent are invited to come and view the premises. The terms, which will be moderate, will be made known by application to the subscriber.

W. M. H. GROOME

P. S.—Applications for the above will be received by the subscriber until 15th August next.

CHEMICAL LITERATURE.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to AN AMUSING AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, receive orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDE AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION.—that is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded in any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing, as the pecuniary expense will be trifling, that all who have the inclination to be acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the proposition at once, and enroll their names on the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, an much reading matter as many of the popular volumes which are sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

500 ENGRAVINGS

Will be furnished in this journal in one year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Satire Criticism and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a literary banquet of a superior and attractive order. 49 Clubs of Four will be supplied with the paper for one from the commencement, by forwarding a one dollar note, postage paid.

A NEW FAMILY NEWSPAPER, OF THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST IN THE COUNTRY—DEVOTED TO LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now regularly published in Philadelphia, a weekly Newspaper called The Saturday Chronicle, Philanthropist and Mirror of the Times.

Publication Office, No. 74 South Second Street,

THE SATURDAY CHRONICLE, is the true sense of the term, a Family Newspaper, entirely unconnected with party politics and sectarianism, and zealously devoted to the cause of literature, science and general intelligence, as calculated to entertain and instruct every branch of the domestic circle. Its general contents are—Papers and Essays on Literary, Scientific and Moral Subjects—Sketches of History and Biography—Contributions from some of the best writers of Philadelphia—European and Domestic Correspondence—Notices of Improvements in the Mechanic Arts, Agriculture and Rural Economy—Articles on Music, the Drama and other amusements—Varieties, amusing incidents, &c. and a carefully prepared synopsis of the current News of the day, both foreign and domestic.

The Publishers of the Chronicle having acquired considerable experience in the newspaper business, from a connection of several years standing with one of the most popular newspapers in the country, feel satisfied that they will be enabled to issue a sheet in all respects deserving of liberal patronage. They have already secured for its columns, the aid of several literary gentlemen of this city, and have engaged attentive correspondents to furnish the latest intelligence from Washington and Harpersburg, during the sessions of the State Legislature and of Congress. They design also, in the course of the year, to offer liberal premiums for literary articles, in order to secure for their readers productions from some of the best writers in the country. The works of popular authors will occasionally be published at length in the Chronicle, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the paper interesting and attractive to every class of readers.

Among the writers of distinction who have already, or are about to furnish original articles for the Saturday Chronicle, are the following: D. B. Brown, Esq. Robert Morris, Esq. Col. L. B. Kenny, W. G. Clark, Esq. John J. Smith, Jr. Esq. Dr. James M. Henry, Esq. C. R. Chandler, Esq. Chas. Naylor, Esq. J. P. Holdcom, Esq. R. T. Conrad, Esq. Miss Leslie, Dr. Joseph Pannock, Miss E. C. Stras, J. Watson, Esq. Mrs. J. L. Dumont, Chas. S. Cope, Esq. John Clarke, Esq. Robt. Hare, Jr. Esq. Rev. Jos. Rusing, E. W. Richards, Esq. Dr. A. C. Draper, C. B. Trago, Esq. Thos. Earle, Esq. Dr. J. A. Elkington, Wm. T. Smith, Esq. Thos. A. Parker, Esq. Hon. Matthias Morris, Victor Value, Esq. Wm. Darby, Esq. Jos. R. Hart, Esq. Prof. John M. K. Gray, Morris Mattison, Esq. And it is the intention of the publishers to secure, if possible, original articles from every prominent writer in the country.

One important feature of the Chronicle is the publication of Letters from Europe, written expressly for this paper, by a distinguished literary gentleman. These letters are deeply interesting and instructive; and equal, in every respect, to any European letters that have ever been written for the American press.

The Chronicle is issued in good type, and on the best of paper, and is published every Saturday, and forwarded by mail, enclosed in strong wrappers, to all parts of the United States, on the day of publication. MATTHIAS & TAYLOR, Recently connected with the Saturday Evening Post.

TERMS—Two dollars a year, payable in advance; $2.50 if not paid before the expiration of six months; and $3.00 if payment is delayed until the end of the year, or six months; $1.00 in advance. Advertisements neatly and copiously inserted on reasonable terms. Postmasters and others remitting $10.00 will be furnished with six copies of the Chronicle for one year. Orders for postage, addressed to the Publisher, at No. 74 South Second Street, Philadelphia, will meet prompt attention. Small notes on solvent Banks, received at par in payment of subscriptions. Our editorial friends in the country are respectfully requested to give the above a few insertions, and accept a free exchange for one year. August 6. if his line of business, which added to his former stock renders his assortment general and in complete, all of which will be manufactured at the shortest notice and on the most pleasing terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand New Watches, Watch Chains, Seals and Keys, Watch Guards, Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Pointed Pins, Silver Scissor-hooks, Silver Shields, Plain Gold Rings, Razors, & Razor Straps, Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives, Scissors, Percussion Caps, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and he thinks there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes by strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant, JAMES BENNY.

To be Rented For one or more years, that large and commodious BRICK TAVERN and its appurtenances, well known by the name of the EASTON HOTEL, situate in the town of Easton, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, at present, and for some years past, occupied by Mr. Solomon Lowe. This establishment is universally admitted to be the largest and most convenient for a Public House, of any on the Peninsula, and to a man well calculated to conduct it, an opportunity will be offered for doing a very extensive and profitable business, more especially if he has a sufficient capital to carry it on advantageously.

Easton is known as a town of considerable trade, and the Steam Boat Maryland, which plies twice a week between Baltimore, Annapolis and this place, considerably increases the business, and of course adds very much to the value of this establishment, by the constant intercourse of travellers from the different counties on the Western and Eastern shores, and elsewhere within these places.

Possession will be given on the first day of January next. Persons wishing to rent are invited to come and view the premises. The terms, which will be moderate, will be made known by application to the subscriber.

WM. H. GROOME P. S.—Applications for the above will be received by the subscriber until 15th August next.

Easton June 21 5w W. H. G. The Delaware Journal, Baltimore American, and Village Herald, Princess Anne, will publish the above for 4 successive weeks and forward account to the subscriber for payment.

WAS COMMITTED to the Jail of Baltimore city and county, on the 5th day of June, 1836, by Robert Dutton, Esq., a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of Baltimore, as a runaway, a negro man named Edward Weeks, alias Henry Johnson, says he was born free, and was raised by his mother Nancy Williams, in Barbadoes, aged about 23 years, 5 feet 3 inches high, has a small scar on his right eye, a scar on his left arm, and several small scars on his left hand. Had on when committed a drab cloth roundabout, blue country cloth vest, lead coloured country cloth pantaloons, red flannel shirt, old lace boots and tarquin hat.

The owner (if any) of the above described negro man is requested to come forward, prove property pay charges and take him away, otherwise he will be discharged according to law.

CHEAP LITERATURE.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

That it may be within the means of every person who wishes to subscribe to an AMUSING AND USEFUL JOURNAL OF NEWS, and have it carefully and regularly forwarded to them by mail, or otherwise, we shall from the present time until the first of next January, present orders FOR TEN COPIES OF THE SALMAGUNDI, AND NEWS OF THE DAY, AT THE RATE OF ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM FOR EACH SUBSCRIPTION—that is, any person forwarding us a TEN DOLLAR NOTE, free of postage will be furnished with ten of our papers for a whole year, to be forwarded to any direction signified. The subscription price for a single name is two dollars. We make this offer, believing that the pecuniary expense will be trifling to all who have the inclination to become acquainted with the character of a journal which has made such rapid progress in public estimation as this has, will take advantage of the proposition at once, and enroll their names of the list of its numerous patrons. It cannot be doubted that those who subscribe will receive the worth of their dollar, when we assure the public that each number contains, independent of its various amusing engravings, as much reading matter as many of the popular volumes which are sold in our bookstores at double the rates that we ask for a whole year's subscription.

500 ENGRAVINGS

Will be furnished in this journal in one year—these, in addition to a choice selection of Satire Criticism and Wit, contained in its columns, will form a liberal banquet of a superior and attractive order. 500 Clats of Four will be supplied with the paper for one from the commencement, by forwarding a ten dollar note, postage paid.

PREMIUMS—The publisher prompted by the unexampled and unexpected success which this paper has received, offer the following premiums: For the best ORIGINAL COMIC TALE, FIFTY DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COMIC SONG, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best collection of ORIGINAL ANECDOTES, JESTS, &c. not exceeding fifty in number, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS—for the best ORIGINAL COLOURED DESIGN, SKETCH, or DRAWING, TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS; for the second best, FIFTEEN DOLLARS; and for the third best TEN DOLLARS.

Persons entering as petitioners may or may not forward their names, agreeably to their own wishes. The premiums will be awarded by competent judges. All communications on the subject must be addressed to the publisher, prior to the first of September, 1836 postage paid.

A post master's certificate will be a satisfactory guarantee of a remittance. Negotiable notes of every kind taken in payment of subscriptions. Address CHARLES ALEXANDER, No. 3 Attaman Building, Franklin Place Philadelphia.

POETRY.

We put the following beautiful lines from the Army and Navy Chronicle. The simplicity and tenderness of sentiment in which they are conceived will recommend them to all.

STANZA—To S. T. P.

[BY LIEUTENANT G. W. PATTEN, U. S. A.]

Have I not lov'd thee fondly,
Pride of my cherish'd days?
Have I not press'd thee to my heart,
With words of cheer and praise?
And yet thou art forsaken—
Alas! that it should come—
For the music charm of the trumpet's breath,
And the pomp of the rolling drum.

Thy gentle eye may brighter be,
Some tale of hope to learn;
And when to meet its earnest gaze,
Will the wanderer return?
And the sin of battle,
Thy voice is all unheard;
What to me is the changing hour,
Thy lowly whisper'd word?

They say that Fame's high altars,
With many a brilliant shone;
I think the pathway to her shrine
Is a weary road and lone.
Fond hopes too much are scatter'd,
Fond feelings far'd aside;
And yet I come not to thy heart,
My absent one, and bride.

I come not to thy presence,
Not with the voice of hope and cheer;
To fight again thy gentle smile,
To wipe away thy tear.
I sit through the gloomy hammock,
I wander on alone;
Thy be with thee, my precious bride,
My beautiful—my own.

Shelving
The Mothers of our Forest Land!
Shout heard dames were they;
With nerve to wield the battle-brand,
And join the border fray,
Our rough land had no traver
In its days of blood and strife—
Aye nee to severest toil,
Aye nee to peril life.

The Mothers of our Forest Land!
On Old Can-tuckee's land,
How shared they, with each dauntless band,
By a's tempest, and Lile's toil—
They shrink not from the foam—
They quailed not in flight—
But cheer'd their husband through the day,
And soothed them through the night.

The Mothers of our Forest Land!
Their bosoms pillow'd men,
And proud were they by such to stand,
In hammock, fort, or clear,
To load the sure old rifle—
To run the leaden ball—
To stand beside the husband's place,
And fill it should be fail.

The Mothers of our Forest Land!
Such were their daily deeds,
Their monument—where does it stand?
Their epitaph—who reads it?
No braver dames had Sparta—
Yet whose'er lauds or honors them,
Let 'em in their green house?

The Mothers of our Forest Land!
They sleep in unknown graves;
And had they borne sad nursed a band
Of ingrates, or of slaves?
They had not been more neglected!
But their graves shall yet be found,
And their monuments dot here and there
The dark and bloody ground.

A GOOD HORSE.
The marks of a good horse are, a high neck, full breast, a lively eye, a strong back, and full buttocks, ribs returning to the hip, good hoof and good gait.

A PROFESSOR COOK.
She soon convinced her mistress of her capabilities, by asking one day, about an hour before the usual dinner time, "What is to be done, shall I put in the beef?"

NEW SORT OF PASTRY.
A sailor on arriving at Portsmouth after a long cruise, entered a confectioner's shop, and asked the lady "if she sold all sorts of pies." "Yes," replied the lady. "Then," says Jack, "let me have a Margie."

THE YOUNG INFIDEL.

From "The Old Word and the New" BY THE REV. DAVID G. GREEN.

As I took my place on the top of the coach at Glasgow for Edinburgh, I found a handsome young man seated opposite to me—a boy of twelve years, and a modest looking Scotch girl, with eyes sparkling like diamonds and a rickled cheek, which coloured and changed at every turn; and to whom the young gallant was evidently attempting to make himself agreeable. On the front of the coach sat a young fellow, who I soon saw was much given to ranting sentiments. We took up on the way a sturdy looking middle aged man, dressed in coat, but substantial broadcloth, who said, in my surprise, as he took his seat, "this is the first time I ever was on a coach." What American that ever was dressed at all; could say that. However, this rickled up our dramatic person; he had a dialogue on the way, in which I took so much interest, that I shall record it.

I forgot how the conversation began, but I soon observed some sharp sparring between the gallant and the sentimentalist, in which the former was expressing some of the strongest skeptical taint, and especially insisting that there was no life beyond the present.

Ay, said the sentimentalist, I know you are; have seen such as you before; you believe nothing but destroy every thing. Do you believe there is a God?

Oh! certainly don't deny that, was the reply. Well said the other, you'll find there is a God yet, and you'll find what it is to die yet, and you'll see that after death cometh the judgment; and she then without much delicacy, warned the Scotch girl to beware of such a fellow.

You may talk said the gallant, but you know nothing about it, and nobody knows any thing about it. I know as much as you do, and that is nothing. There is a man dying! Now look at him. Every thing that you know about him dies with him. His speech dies; his thoughts die; the man dies, and there is an end of him.

It was easy to see that our rustic fellow traveller was very much shocked. He seemed never to have heard any thing like this before. He was evidently a representative of the true homelord Scotch faith, who had duly learned the catechism in childhood, and duly attended upon the kirk ever since, and never thought there was any thing to be made of in religion but the kirk and catechism. He looked this way and that way, and shifted from side to side on his seat, and at length said, without addressing any one in particular, I am sure this man does not know what he says; he is demented! I'm thinking. He then adverted to the little boy sitting by, and said that he ought not to hear such things.

What more than I wish I had of the English version to taking part in conversation with strangers in a coach, but as I saw that both our rustic and ranter were rather killing and ainking before the first utterance of the young skeptic, I thought I ought to speak. So I said to him, you seem from your confident assertions, to know much about death—what is death?

"Why, death," said he—"what is death? Why every body knows that, it is when a man dies—he ceases to live; and there is an end of him." "But this," said I, "is no definition. You should at least define what you talk about so confidently—Else you attempt to argue from—you know not what; to draw a certainty from an uncertainty. Is not death, said I, "the dissolution of the body? Is not that what you mean by death?"

"Yes," said he; "that is it; the dissolution of the body." "Well then," said I, "are the body and the soul the same thing? Is the principle of thought the same thing with the hand, or foot, or head?"

"To be sure it is not; and what then?" he rejoined. "Why then," I said, it follows that the dissolution of the body has nothing to do with the soul.—The soul does not consist of materials that can be dissolved. Therefore death; while it passes over the body, does not, you see, as we define it—does not touch the soul."

He seemed something at a stand with this, but like many others in the same circumstances he only began to repeat what he had already said, with more earnest assertions, and a louder tone. Meanwhile there was a lay-ply in which he endeavored to re-assure the Scotch girl with whom he had evidently ingratiated himself by very marked attention, telling her as she rather drew off from him, that it was all nothing, and that whatever he said, it was no matter; and that he was just like the rest of us. I was determined that the warning which had been given in that quarter, should not be a what I could give it; and as I saw that the metaphysical argument was throwing me back and me back to a more partial one. Resuming the conversation, therefore, I said "You believe that there is a God; I think you have admitted this?"

"Yes—I do." "And you believe that God made the world, do you not?" "I'm sure—I do." "And you believe that he made man?" "Certainly—of course." "And you believe that he made man a social being, do you not—that he constituted Man, and made and meant him to dwell in families and in societies?"

"It would seem so, he was willing to admit it." "Now then," said I, "answer me one question—Do you believe that men could live either safely or happily in society, without an expectation of a future life? If this were all, do you not think that you, and most men around you, would give yourselves up to the pleasures that you could find here—to pleasures that it would cost you the least of effort and inavoidable, taking men as they are, that all virtuous, all self-disciplined and restrained, all domestic, all correct and all correct and temperate living, would fall with the doctrine of a future life?"

Somewhat to my surprise, he frankly confessed that he thought it would. "Well then," I said, "there is a very plain case; and I am willing to trust this case with the argument. He can decide, and he can here can decide, between a belief that would consciously destroy the happiness and improvement of the world, and the only belief that can sustain it. If God made society, he as-tablished the principles that are necessary to its welfare. And to assail these principles, is hostility at once to heaven and earth. If a man would read a flight and mawkish over these harvest fields, and starve the world to death."

A MODERN STORY.

About eight-and-twenty years ago, a young gentleman, a merchant in an eastern city, belonging to a very respectable family, became unfortunately in business, and his creditors leaving him very importunate, he was obliged, for personal safety, to leave the place. He finally settled down in South America, sometimes residing in Buenos Ayres; and at others in Montevideo and other Spanish and Portuguese cities. He left at home a young and beautiful wife to whom he was very much attached, and from long absence he had become, in some measures at least, weaned from the affections of his wife, for the support of herself and infant daughter to whom she had given birth subsequent to the departure of her husband. His business was not very flourishing abroad, and from long absence he had become, in some measures at least, weaned from the affections of his wife, who was pining in comparative solitude at home. His remittances, if ever he made any, became less and less frequent, and his letters few and far between, breathed little or no consolation to her afflicted bosom. He occasionally visited this city and Philadelphia; but, if she was aware of the fact at the time, she had not the strength or the financial means to bear her hither, though her love for him remained unalloyed and unabated. It was not till about 20 years after his residence in Buenos Ayres, that it was known or suspected that he was a man of family, and it was only from the circumstance that one of his towns men met him in his boarding-house, and told him that he had recently left his wife in good health, at home, that the fact became known. His daughter, who of course had never seen him, frequently wrote to him in the most affectionate manner, imploring him once more to visit his family. To these supplications he said but little heed, either making some frivolous excuse, or paying no regard at all to them. During the past spring, the daughter was assured her father was in Philadelphia, and taking the advantage of a visit which a young gentleman to whom she was attached, was about making to Washington, she repaired to the former city, and was quartered in the same hotel with her parent. A message was sent to his room, stating that a young lady wished an interview with him. This was granted, and in a few moments the father and daughter were clasped in each other's arms. It is sufficient to say that her eloquence and her tears subdued his heart; that he immediately repaired to his long-forsaken wife, who received him with all the affectionate feelings of her nature, and they are now living in the same harmony as though he had never abandoned her.—L. Y. Gazette.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE.

We learn from Annapolis, that the new College Building, recently erected at St. Johns, is finished, and now occupied Prof. ELWELL of the English Department; who is thus furnished with suitable apartments for sixty pupils as boarders. The number of students has already been much increased, in consequence of this additional accommodation. It is understood also that the Trustees will fill the vacancy in the Board of Instruction, occasioned by the resignation of CHAS. F. PLESSEN, Esq., Prof. of Modern Languages, at their next Quarterly meeting in October.

All the courses of Lectures for the Autumnal Session have commenced; and, in addition to former instruction in Engineering, the President has adopted as a text book, Simms' excellent Treatise on Mathematical Instruments which has been very opportunely presented to the American public, in a Baltimore Edition, with notes and additions, by JOHN HENRY ALEXANDER, Esq., Civil Engineer—printed and sold by Fielding Lucas, Jr.

The College is now supplied with the necessary Instruments for all the branches of Practical Engineering, which together with the other improvements and advantages, to which grants have had occasion at different times to attend, renders it one of the most eligible institutions in the State for a thorough collegiate education, and one every way worthy of the confidence and support of the citizens of Maryland.—Patriot.

The packet ship Europe, has brought £20,000 in gold to a firm in New York.

The editor of the New York Mirror says that the success of his paper is mainly to be attributed to the ladies, and that the gentler sex have never deserted it under any emergency.

Of course not. There is no danger of the ladies deserting the mirror.

SUPERIOR BREED OF CATTLE. In the ship Augustus, arrived on Tuesday, at the port New York, from Liverpool, were brought eight superb bulls, six heifers, a cow and calf, all in fine order, and no doubt will prove a great acquisition to our farmers.—Advocate.

The Dry Goods store of Mrs. Weaver, on Fleet St. Peep's Point, was broken open early on Sunday morning, and robbed of a large amount of articles. Mrs. Weaver had kept her shop open until twelve o'clock on Saturday night, and the robbery must have taken place several hours after the shop was closed. A piece of lace found on the wharf nearly opposite, leads to the belief that the goods were conveyed away in boats—the loss is supposed to be from twelve to sixteen hundred dollars.

The Indians Farmer says that Tomatoes may be kept fresh through the winter, by packing them in jars—laying alternately a layer of sand a layer of tomatoes until the vessel is full; after which cover them up tight to keep the air out, and place them in a dry cellar.

Carey's Library
OF CHOICE LITERATURE

To say that this is a reading age, implies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify this desire. On the first point, all are agreed; on the second, there is diversity both of opinion and of practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of all sizes, on nearly all subjects, which have severally their classes of readers and supporters. And yet, copious as are these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, to gratify their pastime, and the progress of discovery in art and science. But though it be easy to ascertain and express their wants, it is not so easy to gratify them. Expense, distance from the emporium of literature, engrossing occupations which prevent personal application or even messages to libraries and book-sellers, are so many causes to keep people away from the least of reason, and the enjoyment of the coveted literary aliment. It is the aim of the publishers of the Library to obviate these difficulties, and enable every individual, at a small cost, and without any personal effort, to obtain for his own use and that of his favored friends or family, valuable works complete, or all the branches of useful and popular literature, and that in a form well adapted to the comfort of the reader.

The charm of variety, as far as it is compatible with morality and good taste, will be held instantly in view in conducting the Library, to fill the pages of which the current literature of Great Britain, in all its various departments of Biography, History, Travels, Novels and Poetry, shall be freely put under contribution. With certain occasional exceptions, it is intended to give entire the work which shall be selected for publication. When circumstances authorize the measure, recourse will be had to the literary stores of Continental Europe, and translations made from French, Italian, or German, as the case may be.

TERMS.
The work will be published in weekly numbers, containing twenty imperial octavo pages, with downrunnings, making two volumes an octavo, or, at less than 220 octavo pages, each number, abridging the expiration of every six months, he it will be furnished with a handsome leather and table of contents. The whole amount of matter furnished in single year will be equal to more than forty volumes of a common sized English duodecimo book, the cost of which will be but a few times the price of a year's subscriptions.

Whilst the body of the work will be a reprint, or at times a translation of entire volumes, the cover will exhibit the miscellaneous character of a Magazine, and consist of notices of men and things, and notices of novelties in literature and the arts, throughout the civilized world. A full and regular supply of the literary monthly and household journals of Great Britain and Ireland, in addition to home periodicals of a similar character cannot fail to provide ample materials of a hinar of our work.

The resources and extensive correspondence of the publishers are the best guarantee for the continuance of the enterprise in which they are now about to engage, as well as for the abundance of the materials to give it value in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selections and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped, have reason to be fully satisfied, as the Editor of the Library is a stranger to them, but has more than obtained their favourable suffrages for his literary efforts.

Philadelphia Mirror.

THE splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editor to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, so long known as the largest family newspaper in the United States, with a list of year TWENTY-SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS.—The new features recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day, having proved so eminently successful; the plan will be continued. Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryat and sixty-five of Mr. Brook's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without interfering with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Art; Internal Improvement; Agriculture; and every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full accounts of sales, markets, and news, of the latest dates.

It is published at the low price of $2. For its small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 52 volumes a year, and which is estimated to be read, weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people, scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the seaboard to the lakes. The paper has been so long established as to render it too well known to require an extended prospectus; the publishers, therefore, will do no more than refer to the two leading daily political papers of the State. The Pennsylvania says—'The Saturday Courier is the largest, and one of the best family newspapers in the Union.' The Inquirer and Daily Courier says, 'it is the largest journal published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States.' The New York Star says—'We know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more efficacious to draw out the dormant talents of our country than their unexampled liberality in offering literary prizes.'

The Albany Mercury of March 18th, 1836, says, 'The Saturday Courier, is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is daily appreciated by the public; it may be judged in its vast circulation, which exceeds 50,000 per week! Its contents are agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable reading matter than is published in a week in any daily paper in the Union.—Its mammoth dimensions enable its enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia, to republish in its columns, in the course of a year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press; which cannot fail to give it a permanent interest and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes of those, of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it much more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value.'

THE QUARTO EDITION.
Under the title of the PHILADELPHIA MIRROR, will commence with the publication of the prize Tale, to which was awarded the prize of $100, written by Miss Leslie, editor of the splendid Annual the Token, and author of Pencil Sketches and other valuable contributions to American Literature. A large number of songs, poems, tales and &c. offered in a competition for the 2500 premiums, will add value and interest to the succeeding numbers which will also be enriched by a story from Miss Sedgewick, author of Hope Leslie, The Lowsays, &c., whose works have been so justly and extensively appreciated both at home and abroad.

The approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral the religious and political matters, and in uncompromising opponent of bauckery of every kind.

TERMS.
The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, being a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper, of the size of the New York Tribune, will be put at precisely one half the price of that valuable journal, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance (including the Maps).

THIRD VOLUME OF THE Ohio Farmer,

WESTERN HORTICULTURIST.

In presenting a prospectus for the THIRD VOLUME of the OHIO FARMER to the public, the Editor conceives it unnecessary to enter into a minute detail of its character and object. These have been clearly evinced since its commencement, and from the high testimonials received from Agriculturists of his first standing and intelligence, he is not without a hope that his labors have done some service to the cause. Western Horticulture, and that there has been, at least partial satisfaction to those who patronize it. Work.—There never was a period of deeper interest to the cultivators of the soil in the great valley of the Mississippi than the present. There never was a time when intelligence could be put to better use—when knowledge was of greater value.—It is the era of advancement in the arts and science of the cultivation of the earth, and the improvement of useful animals. And he who refuses to keep pace with the times by informing himself of what is passing around him, will lose more than half of the advantages and advantages of his own age.—The certainty of a ready market and a rich reward for all the productions of the earth should be a double stimulant to increase the quantity.

The OHIO FARMER will be devoted to Original Essays and articles selected from the best writers, and occasionally illustrated by ENGRAVINGS. No Agricultural work ever published in the West has been so liberally supplied with original articles, the most of which have been copied and received a wide circulation in other papers. The culture of soil, improvement of animals—of garden vegetables—of Agricultural implements, and Geology, Botany, Chemistry &c. &c. will receive due attention.

As the culture of this new article of wealth and industry is exciting universal interest through the whole country, we contemplate devoting a sufficient portion of the next Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry tree to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, coloring &c.

Each Volume of this paper is furnished with a Table Page and Index, expressly for binding and will make about 230 pages. The first number of the Third Volume will be published on the 1st day of January, 1836.

CONDITIONS.

The Farmer is published twice a month, at $1.00 in advance. All notes on Silver Banks receivable. Payment may be made at our risk, by depositing a sufficient portion of the next Volume of the Farmer to this subject, to give all new beginners a fair start, who may wish to enter into the business, either on a large or small scale, from the sowing of the mulberry tree to the reeling and manufacturing of the cocoons, coloring &c.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT!

A Certain Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver, Biliary, and Nervous Complaints; Jaundice, General Debility, Lowness of Spirits; and Diseases incident to Females.

DR. LOCKWARD'S Celebrated Vegetable Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir.
Symptoms of Dyspepsia.

The first symptoms of this disease is a disagreement of food, producing pain and uneasiness at the region of the stomach; fullness of that organ; belching of wind, with sour, oily or putrescent eructations; pain and tenderness at the pit of the stomach; pain in the right side, extending after to the right shoulder, and under the shoulder-blade; the same kind of pain is very often experienced in the left side, especially when lying on the right or left side; pain also often in the small of the back and giddiness of the head; dimness of the sight; coated tongue; disagreeable taste in the mouth in the morning after arising; coldness. This Medical acts as a gentle purge, by which all foul humors are removed from the system; at the same time it restores the loss of the stomach and bowels, opens obstructions of the Liver, Spleen and Pancreas, and will be found singularly efficacious in diseases of the Kidneys. As a family medicine none will be found cheaper or to answer a better purpose, and being composed entirely of vegetable matter it is perfectly innocent, which renders it more valuable.

As a certain remedy or cure for the above diseases this medicine stands incomparably beyond any other now in use. And as nothing more could be requisite to convince the most sceptical of its utility, than the numberless testimonials which have been given in its favor, therefore, those testimonials will speak for it more than all encomiums which could be pronounced. Whenever it has been used, it has invariably been attended with complete success, and that too, in hundreds of cases, where nearly all hopes of cure have been despaired of. It was by this important discovery that the proprietor of the above Medicine, was in a few months, restored to perfect health, after years of the most distressing suffering, and after being abandoned by the profession to die without any hope of relief. Since which, hundreds, nay thousands, have in a like manner been restored from beds of sickness to perfect health.

DR. LOCKWARD—Sir I have made use of your valuable Medicine for the Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, both of which diseases I have labored under for about three years—I have used a great many medicines, but all to no effect—I was induced to give yours a trial, and much to my astonishment & that of my friends, I was in a short space of time completely relieved of my disease. My symptoms, when I first commenced using your medicine, were, as follows:—After eating my food I felt great distress at the pit of my stomach, with heartburn, sourness and vomiting of food, great tenderness at the pit of the stomach, accompanied with a rude pain in the right side, extending to the top of the shoulder, connected with this pain was a prominent enlargement in my right side pronounced by my physician 'an enlargement of the liver.' My appetite was variable, sometimes very good, at others complete loss—bowels obstinately constipated. My head very much affected with giddiness and pain; my eyesight was also affected with dimness; I was also much emaciated in flesh, and suffered extremely from nervous feelings; sometime I imagined that a few hours would close my existence; I was disposed to feel constantly cold (especially my feet and hands,) in the warmest days in summer. Thus I suffered until life was to me almost a burthen, when, hearing of your medicine I was prevailed upon to make use of it and contrary to my expectation and the expectation of my friends, I was in a few months restored to perfect health, which I will continue to enjoy. Any person desirous of knowing the particulars of my case, by calling upon me, in the Bazaar, Harrison street, I will give the details both as to disease and cure.

Yours, with respect,
JACOB D. HAIR.

PRINTING NEATLY AND SPEEDILY EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE.

Each number containing seventy-two pages, neatly covered and stitched—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at the end of six months a volume of three hundred and thirty-two pages, and at the end of the year a volume of six hundred and sixty-four pages. The cheerful and pleasing nature of the work is proposed to diversity and give quality to the numerous literary calendars that have hitherto abounded in this country. Its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humor and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humorists, Etchers and Engravers. An encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other large age has ever brought into active use so large a proportion of the really deserving offerings of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of fanciful illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, witty Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiae, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert its mind and more exhilarating channel much of the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering and extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humor which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

The 'EVERY BODY'S ALBUM' will be published monthly, in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of engravings—neatly printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, to prevent the best rubbing by the mails. Not a cent of subscription is taken in payment of subscriptions. Address the publisher (postage paid) CHARLES ALEXANDER, Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place, Philad. A specimen number has been received at this office and we request our friends to call on us.
