EASTON, MD.
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1835.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.
FOR PRESIDENT,
MARTIN VAN BUREN.
OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
RICHARD M. JOHNSON.
OF KENTUCKY.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS,
WILLIAM GRAYSON,
OF QUEEN ANNE'S.

FOR DELEGATES TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.
NICHOLAS MARTIN,
MORRIS O. COLSTON,
RICHARD SPENCER,
DANIEL LLOYD,
FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.
THOMAS HENRIX,

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.—The Delegates appointed by the several counties of this Congressional District to nominate a candidate to be supported by the Democratic voters at the next election for Representatives in Congress, assembled at Centerville yesterday, 31st August, and nominated WILLIAM GRAYSON, Esq. of Queen Anne's county. Mr. Grayson's character and standing are too well known throughout the District to require comment from us; let it suffice to say, his nomination was unanimous, every county in the District, being represented.

The Democratic Republicans of Queen Anne's have nominated as candidates for the General Assembly from that county,
GEO. N. NEWNAM,
SAML. R. OLDSON,
ROBT. LARRIMORE,
R. B. A. TATE, Esqs.

WHEELING, Aug. 11, 1835.
THE RIVER.—There is now about six feet water in the channel, and the river still rising smartly. Steam boat navigation, which we have reason to believe, had nearly or totally ceased, has been revived, and in this paper we have the pleasure of registering the arrival of five, and the departure of 3 from this port.

AN ARRIVAL.—The New York Gazette of Tuesday says:—"The Dutch frigate De Mars, Capt. Arriem, of 44 guns and 180 men, and Dutch Brig of war Schoenick, Capt. Ferguson, of 14 guns and 74 men, arrived at Quarantine Ground yesterday afternoon. In passing up the Narrows they fired a salute which was returned from Fort Hamilton.—Passengers in the frigate His R. H. Prince Henry, son of His R. H. the Prince of Orange."
Balt. Republican.

LEXINGTON, August 18, 1835.
Gentlemen: Our election returns are now nearly complete—sufficiently so at least to satisfy us that we have, in effect, gained a decided victory—certainly an immense advantage over the elections of last year. The House of Representatives stands 55 opposition, and 45 Administration. Last year (thanks to the defeat of a public dinner at Vincennes—that district has turned Ewing out by a majority of six or seven hundred—he feasted sumptuously at Indianapolis—Kinnard is re-elected by a majority of nearly three thousand. Where ever he showed himself, the people saw at a glance he was unfit for the Presidency. After this manifestation of the ill effects of parading him through the country, his friends will be cautious not to let him stray beyond the bounds of the "North Bend" again.—Louisville Advertiser.

Not a single Whig has been elected to Congress from Indiana at the late election; not a partisan of Gen. Harrison, Judge White, or Webster, have the people of that patriotic State chosen to represent them in the National Legislature. And what is a little singular, those portions of the State (which the "Hero of the North Bend" (as the Journal calls him) visited during the summer, have given the heaviest majorities for the Administration. He partook of a public dinner at Vincennes—that district has turned Ewing out by a majority of six or seven hundred—he feasted sumptuously at Indianapolis—Kinnard is re-elected by a majority of nearly three thousand. Where ever he showed himself, the people saw at a glance he was unfit for the Presidency. After this manifestation of the ill effects of parading him through the country, his friends will be cautious not to let him stray beyond the bounds of the "North Bend" again.—Louisville Advertiser.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The Petersburg Constellation of the 25th inst states that according to accounts received at that place, Mr. Bellune had been elected to Congress from North Carolina in the place of Mr. Deberry, and that Mr. Graham had lost his election and a friend to the administration chosen in his place. If such should turn out to be the fact there will be in the next Congress, a considerable majority in favor of the administration; but we fear the account is too good to be true. We suspect that Deberry and Graham are both re-elected, and that the representation as it respects the relative strength of parties, will remain as it was in the last Congress.

The Globe states, on the authority of a correspondent, that there will be in the next Legislature of that State a majority of at least twenty in favour of the administration, fifteen in favour of Mr. Van Buren, and thirty opposed to the repeal of the resolutions of the instructions to Mr. Mangum from a respect to the known will of the people. We have, however, no idea that Mr. Mangum will either obey the instructions or resign his seat. He has placed himself in opposition to the popular will, and having lost their confidence, and having no hopes of being again able to regain it, he will no doubt cling to the office he now holds as long as the law will allow. Nothing can be hoped for from desperate men, in a desperate situation, and such we consider Mr. Mangum, and such his situation.—Balt. Rep.

The following interesting statement relative to the non-contagiousness of the Plague, is from the New York Journal of Commerce.—Should this important fact be fully established by further experiments, how much suffering will hereafter be saved to the people of the East who may be visited by it:
"The Plague in this dreadful scourge of the Eastern nations, which in Egypt alone has carried off more than 200,000 inhabitants within the last 12 months, has been generally considered not only contagious, but for the most part beyond the control of medicine.—Quite recently, however, we have seen it stated in European papers, that the disease has been successfully grappled with, in numerous cases, by Dr. Abbott, an Englishman, who officiates as Surgeon Major to His Highness Ibrahim Pacha. Letters received in this city from Marsailles, repeat the same fact, and add that it is the first instance of any medical man treating the Plague in close contact with the subject. They do not state the particular mode of treatment, except in general terms, that it was adopted to the symptoms. If there is no danger from contact with the patient, then it is obvious that the most serious obstacle to a vigorous and successful course of treatment is removed. This point Dr. Abbott seems to have established; and his success was almost a natural consequence.
Dr. Abbott's discovery, like most others of any importance, arose from accident. While on board the Egyptian ship A boukir, containing the crew of 950 men he was called upon to see a patient, whose pulse he felt, and commenced a course of treatment such as was deemed appropriate. Very soon after, the disease exhibited itself evidently to be the Plague! Mr. Abbott having been, so far, in close contact with the sick man, fully expected that he should, according to the general opinion, be taken with the disease himself. He therefore resolved to continue his attention to the patient at all hazards, and the result was, that in this and other confirmed cases of Plague, he was eminently successful; thus proving this awful malady to be endemic, and not contagious.—For, has it been contagious as it is generally pronounced, not only Dr. Abbott, but his assistant, and the Hospital Servants, being constantly in close contact with the disease, must have caught it; and so indeed must many of the numerous crew, who were pretty closely stowed in a small 80 Gun Egyptian Ship. It would seem that Ibrahim Pacha had given orders that any instance of any person showing symptoms of the Plague, they should be sent ashore. Now it will be observed, that these cases did not at the first exhibit any sign of Plague—but as Mr. Abbott and his assistants had incurred all the risk of the disease, they were obliged to keep their patients on board, and to persevere in his course of treatment, which, as we have already observed, was attended with perfect success.
Dr. Abbott gives another powerful evidence of the Plague not being contagious, but purely endemic. One of his cases was a Turk named Seyd, who had been captured by Ibrahim Pacha, and was with him at the time of the capture of the ship Jaffa, and remained on board nearly 8 months without any complaint, and during that period had never been once on shore, or even allowed any communication with it.—In the other case which occurred, the subject had never been ashore since the ship left the quarantine, nor did he ever come in contact with Seyd the Turk, who was kept a close prisoner on board apart from the crew. Here then are two cases of Plague arising spontaneously, cured by medical means. The surgeon, his assistants, and many of the numerous crew, were in close and constant contact with the disease, and yet there is not one solitary instance of its communication!
The letters state that the plague was greatly increasing in Egypt and other places in the East, and that the mortality was frightful. This is no matter of surprise, when it is considered that (as we are informed) a goodly number of the poor unfortunate who are attacked, actually ever receive the slightest medical aid, although there are, as they style themselves, Medical Boards, &c. in abundance. The truth is, the very dirty habits of the Eastern nations and their religious prejudices, have always proved an insurmountable barrier to a successful result. Moreover, the doctors there are contagionists to a man, and when a patient is brought to them, the poor creature is poked about with a stick, and then ordered to lie on his back, in all his filth and dirt, as Providence may direct!
It seems incredible, almost, that it should be left to this late day, and to an Englishman, to discover that the plague is not communicable by contact; yet such appears to be the fact. It is a discovery of vast importance to Eastern Nations, and it is to be hoped Mr. Abbott's success will tend to open their eyes and their understandings, and teach them to abandon such a gross and cruel, but at once unfeeling and unchristian, mode of treating the afflicted. With a careful and humane treatment adapted to the nature of the symptoms, and especially by attending more to cleanliness, there cannot be much doubt that the plague, like the small pox, will, ere long, be stripped of more than half its terrors.
In a commercial point of view, this discovery may prove of great importance, by leading to favorable modifications of the quarantine laws of different nations.
Dr. Abbott is a young man, and is personally known to several of our naval officers who have been at Alexandria, and was always on a very friendly footing with them.

"WARRENTON, Aug. 25, 1835.
DEAR SIR: I hasten to give you the result of our election, which took place on yesterday. The Administration candidate, Mr. Abalom Hickerson, got a majority over the Whig candidate Mr. John Welden, of 93 votes. We claim a large majority in the country, I think they have sufficient evidence now that the majority is in favor of the Administration. If the vote had been a usual one, Hickerson

THE BEGINNING OF PANIC OPERATIONS IN NEW YORK.—The New York Evening Post says:—"The evils which we have long predicted begin to be wreaked upon this devoted metropolis by the United States Bank.—The New York Branch yesterday drew half a million of dollars from the state banks. Those who have been regardless of the solemn warnings faithfully and earnestly given by the democratic sentinels on the watch towers of the press, are now seized with consternation at the sudden eruption of the gigantic enemy, which comes like a thief in the night. More like an audacious robber than thief, however, it will return again and again, nor cease the continual exercise of all its fatal powers till this community and the whole country writes under a heavier financial pressure than it ever experienced before. The transaction of yesterday may seem to some but like a little cloud on the verge of the horizon. Yet let them remember that it is in that the tornado makes its first threat, but soon after wraps the heavens in a pall and spreads the ocean with wreck."

The New York American is out against Gen. Harrison, the editor says, "for he has carried off more than 200,000 inhabitants within the last 12 months, has been generally considered not only contagious, but for the most part beyond the control of medicine.—Quite recently, however, we have seen it stated in European papers, that the disease has been successfully grappled with, in numerous cases, by Dr. Abbott, an Englishman, who officiates as Surgeon Major to His Highness Ibrahim Pacha. Letters received in this city from Marsailles, repeat the same fact, and add that it is the first instance of any medical man treating the Plague in close contact with the subject. They do not state the particular mode of treatment, except in general terms, that it was adopted to the symptoms. If there is no danger from contact with the patient, then it is obvious that the most serious obstacle to a vigorous and successful course of treatment is removed. This point Dr. Abbott seems to have established; and his success was almost a natural consequence.
Dr. Abbott's discovery, like most others of any importance, arose from accident. While on board the Egyptian ship A boukir, containing the crew of 950 men he was called upon to see a patient, whose pulse he felt, and commenced a course of treatment such as was deemed appropriate. Very soon after, the disease exhibited itself evidently to be the Plague! Mr. Abbott having been, so far, in close contact with the sick man, fully expected that he should, according to the general opinion, be taken with the disease himself. He therefore resolved to continue his attention to the patient at all hazards, and the result was, that in this and other confirmed cases of Plague, he was eminently successful; thus proving this awful malady to be endemic, and not contagious.—For, has it been contagious as it is generally pronounced, not only Dr. Abbott, but his assistant, and the Hospital Servants, being constantly in close contact with the disease, must have caught it; and so indeed must many of the numerous crew, who were pretty closely stowed in a small 80 Gun Egyptian Ship. One of the tigers belonging to the menagerie at Brooklyn, Long Island, contrived to elude the vigilance of his keeper, and escape from his cage. True to his instinct, he made for the bushes near the water, and has set up his rest in the mud for the present. It will be necessary, we suppose, to bring out the elephant, and have a regular hunt.

[OBITUARY.]
Departed this life, on Wednesday the 26th ult., Miss RACIET, nee WARD, in the 29th year of her age.
In recording the death of departed friends and relatives, it is too often the case, that due importance is not attached to their moral worth. Unless the individual has been the subject of applause and approbation in life, their death is, most commonly, passed over in silence and forgetfulness. The subject of this memoir, in the course of her life, was not favoured with that wide circle of acquaintance, which distinguishes the great and renowned; but as far as she was known, her character was fair and meritorious. About a year previous to her death, she embraced the religion of Jesus Christ, and associated herself with the people called Methodists, with whom she remained an acceptable member, until the summons was sent to call her home, from a state of probation to a state of reward. Of her happiness, we have no doubt she lived to adorn the doctrine of her profession, and died rejoicing in the God of her salvation.

PRICE CURRENT.
Wheat.—The supplies have been rather scant for a week past, and prices have consequently been maintained. The sales of good to best parcels of red have been pretty uniform throughout the week, at $1.20 a $1.22 per bushel, and the same rates prevail to-day.—
From the Balt. American of Saturday.
Corn.—We quote white Corn to day at 75 cts, and yellow at 74 & 75 cts.
Rye.—Sales at 70 & 75 cts, but we do not quote above 70 cents now.
Oats.—Sales of Md. at 32 & 33 cents, and of Virginia at 30 cents.

SPLENDID LAMPS, CUTLERY, GLASS-WARE, &c.—The subscriber has received a splendid assortment of LAMPS, CUTLERY, and GLASS-WARE, which he has just received direct from England. The Lamps are of new patterns, and of elegant appearance. The Cutlery is very superior, and the Britania and Glass-ware such as cannot fail to please, both with regard to shape, quality and beauty of finish. Among the latter are a number of Finger Bowls, of various colors—a new article and very beautiful. The addition of the above to his present stock makes his assortment very complete, and he is now prepared to fill orders with punctuality and dispatch, and respectfully solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally, at his store in the Bazaar, Harrison street.
He would also respectfully inform the public that his extensive CHAIR FACTORY, recently destroyed by fire, has been rebuilt, and is now again in full operation. He will thankfully receive orders in his line, either for home use or exportation.

BARRINGTON'S CELEBRATED
Somerset Co. E. S. Maryland.

THE buildings and grounds of this ancient establishment have been recently repaired and improved for the reception of travellers or visitors in search of health or pleasure, for whom the best means of entertainment and accommodation within the ability of the proprietor will be provided.
The situation, which is easily accessible, being within half a day's ride of White Haven, Cambridge, or Easton, to which towns steamboats regularly resort, is one of the most airy and comfortable in this section of country.
The waters of these Springs have recently been analyzed by Professor DuRoi, the State Geologist, and classed by him among the ALKALINE FERROUGINOUS WATERS. Many who have enjoyed the inestimable blessing of their healing and invigorating virtues, have pronounced them to be the best of their class in the United States.
They are particularly beneficial in bilious disorders, as well as during convalescence from most diseases; and debility, proceeding from protracted sickness, may be effectually relieved and vigorous health in a short time restored by their purifying and tonic powers.
The undersigned, in offering the benefits of these waters to his fellow citizens, can only add that he will do all in his power to render the sojourn of ladies and gentlemen at his establishment as agreeable as possible.

ARCADIA FOR SALE.
THE subscriber wishes to sell his farm adjoining the town of Easton, well known as "ARCADIA."
This Farm contains about two hundred and fifty acres of land, and, in natural advantages, is not excelled by any in this section of country. The soil is well adapted to the growth of both wheat and corn—with a body of valuable meadow land. The soil of the meadow is a rich loam, free from gravel, varying from one to two feet in depth, with a substratum of the richest SHELL MARL, from 3 to 6 feet in depth, and runs entirely through the farm. There is a sufficiency of TIMBER for the use of the place, with proper care.—THE BUILDINGS are indifferent.
The location of this land, (adjoining the town of Easton), the constitution of the soil, and its extraordinary natural sources of manure render it one of the most desirable estates in the Eastern Shore of Maryland.
If not sold before the first of September at private sale, it will then be offered at public sale at the Court House door in the town of Easton, on the following terms, viz. one-fourth of the purchase money to be paid on or before the 1st of November next; one other fourth, with interest on the balance of the purchase money unpaid, on the first of November 1837; one other fourth with interest on the balance of the purchase money unpaid, on the 1st of November 1838, and the remaining fourth with interest thereon, on the 1st of November 1839.—On the payment of the whole purchase money, or on the passing of a bond with satisfactory security for its payment, according to the above terms, a good and sufficient deed in fee simple will be made to the purchaser, and possession delivered at or before the end of the year, with the privilege of seeding wheat in proper season.

LEONARD, & CO.

It is now six months since this publication was commenced in Philadelphia—and although the publishers have used no extraordinary means to circulate a knowledge of its merits, yet such is the satisfaction manifested by that portion of the public who have been made acquainted with its character and contents, that its list of patrons continues constantly and rapidly to increase. This paper is now distributed every week over a wide portion of the Union, and the most satisfactory assurances are received that it will eventually become one of the most popular among the numerous excellent periodicals which issue from the American press. No exertions will be spared to establish its permanent reputation more extensively; and if the liberal sanction of those for whom it is especially designed shall warrant, its future improvement—both as regards typographical neatness and embellishment—will be materially advanced.

THE DIFFERENT PLAYS AND FARCES that will appear in the course of a year of themselves, will be worth more than FOUR times the amount of subscription.—The following is a list of those which have already appeared:

- Charles the First
- She a Brigand
- The Hunchback
- The Deep, Deep Sea
- Cheep Living
- Shakespeare's Early Days
- Heart's Content
- Quits Correct
- My Friend the Governor
- Victories

Republic of Letters.

THE fifty second number of the Republic of Letters closed the first year of the work. It was commenced as an experiment—the liberal patronage it has received, so well as the favor bestowed upon other works of the like kind which has followed in its track, shows that the plan of the work is approved, and has given it a permanency which induces the publisher to make such improvement and alterations as he believes will be acceptable to subscribers, and give it a further claim, upon the reading community.

The publisher has the pleasure of stating that the work will hereafter be edited by

MRS. A. H. NICHOLS

In making the necessary selections for the Republic of Letters, Mrs. Nichols will receive the aid and advice of Edward Everett, Guilin C. Verplanck, Charles F. Hoffman, &c. The change in the form of the work, from quarto to octavo, has met with the approbation of all the subscribers with whom the publisher has been enabled to confer.

The work will be published weekly, as usual, at 64 cents each number, or three dollars per year to those who receive the work by mail and pay in advance.—Each number will contain 32 pages.

Postmasters throughout the United States are requested to act as Agents—the work will be charged to them $3.50 per year.

The first two volumes, comprising the first year, contain the following works, (each work being complete and entire) and may be had bound or in numbers:

The Man of Feeling, by Mackenzie.—The Vicar of Wakefield, by Goldsmith.—The Tales of the Hall, by Crabbe.—The Letters of Lady Wortley Montague.—Rasselas, by Dr. Johnson.—Castle of Otranto, by Horace Walpole.—The Old English Baron, by Clara Reeve.—Dr. Franklin's Life and Essays, by himself.—Lights & Shadows of Scottish Life, by Macdonald.—The Adventures of Gil Blas, from the French, by Les Sage, by Smollett.—Julia de Roubigne, by Mackenzie.—Mazppa, by Lord Byron.—The Tapestried Chamber, by Walter Scott.—The Dream of Eugene Aram, by Hood.—Zeuco, by Dr. Moore.—Essays, moral, economical, and political by the Lord Chancellor Bacon.—Chevy Chase.—L'Allegro, by Milton.—Il Penseroso, by Milton.—Italian and Spanish Proverbs.—The History of Cæsar, by Voltaire.—Mansfield, by Lord Byron.—A Tale by T. Moore, Esq.—Elizabeth, by Mad. Cottin.—Rosalinda, by Goldsmith.—The man of the World, by Mackenzie.—Gulliver's Travels, by Swift.—Essays on the Human Understanding, by Locke.—Don Quixote, by Cervantes.—Memoirs of Prince Eugene, by himself, &c.—The Diary of an Invalid.—The Deserted Village, by Goldsmith.—Life of Henry Lord Bolingbroke.—Belisarius, by Marmontel.—Pope's Essay on Man.—Collection of Apophthegms, by Lord Bacon.

THE SILK CULTURIST.

THE Executive Committee of the Hartford county Silk Society, have commenced a monthly publication, called the Silk Culturist and Farmers Manual.

The object of the publication is to disseminate a thorough knowledge of the cultivation of the Mulberry Tree, in all its varieties.—The rearing of Silk Worms.—The production of Cocoons and the Reeling of Silk, in the most approved method. The importance of this knowledge will appear from the fact that the net profit of land devoted to the culture of Silk is double, if not triple, to that derived from any other crop which can be put upon it. It is also a fact, that every moderate farmer can raise several hundred dollars worth of Silk, without interfering with his ordinary agricultural operations. But in order to avail himself of this facility to obtain competency and wealth, which our soil and climate have given him, he must possess himself of information on the subject—for without it his attempts will be fruitless. It is, therefore, the object of the Committee to diffuse this information as extensively as possible; and at the cheapest rate. The publication will contain a complete manual or directory from sowing the seed to reeling the Silk, together with such facts and experiments, as will enable farmers to raise Silk and prepare it for market, without further knowledge or assistance. It will also contain interesting matter on agricultural subjects in general.

TERMS.—The Culturist will be published in monthly numbers of Eight Quarto Pages at FIFTY CENTS a year. No subscription will be received unless paid in advance, and for no less than a year.

Subscriptions received by F. G. Coxtrook Secretary, Hartford, Conn., to whom also Communications may be addressed, which, post paid, will be attended to.

Editors who will copy the above, shall receive the publication for one year.

RETIRED.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has taken and fitted up the above named house, formerly occupied by Henry Cliff, in the most pleasant, fashionable, and central part of the town of Easton, where he will at all times be ready to wait on all those who may think proper to give him a call.

His table will be supplied with the best fare which the market will afford, and his bar furnished with the choicest liquors. His knowledge of the business together with his extensive acquaintance induces him to believe he will be sustained by a generous public.

The public's obedient servant,

CALEB BROWN.

person to be received on or before the 15th day of October next. Be careful to make the proper address and endorsement on the letter containing the proposal, as it is not intended to break the seal until after the 15th of October. Y. If the bidder is not a contractor, satisfactory recommendations of his ability to perform the service, and his general standing, must be submitted, to entitle his proposal to consideration. VI. Bids for contracts for post coach and stage routes, must be accompanied by the written consent of at least two responsible persons, to be security for the person or persons offering, which written paper may specify the route or routes, accompanied by the certificate of one or more postmasters or other satisfactory evidence of the pecuniary responsibility of the person or persons offered as security. No bidder, the description of routes, not that sustained, will be considered. VII. The distances, as stated in this advertisement, are believed to be substantially correct; but the contractor will inform himself on that point, as no increased pay can be allowed for any difference when the places are named correctly. VIII. The privilege of carrying the mails, on stage and coach routes, on horse during the winter months, or at any other time, will not be allowed, unless it is stipulated for in the proposals and embraced in the contracts. IX. On routes where the mail is transported in stages, and the present contractor may be superseded by an underbidder who may not have the stage property requisite for the performance of the contract, he shall purchase from the present contractor such of the stage horses, and property may be suitable for the service at a fair valuation, and make payment therefor by reasonable instalments. Should they not agree as to the suitability of the property, the terms, or the security, each may choose a person, who may appoint a third; and their decision shall be final; or the Postmaster General will name the umpire. This will be made the condition of any bid under that of a present contractor; and should the underbidder fail to comply, his bid will be offered to the contractor; but should he decline it, the proposal of the underbidder will be accepted unconditionally. X. If a person shall refuse to execute a contract on bond, with sureties at his acceptance, all his other contracts with the Department shall be subject to forfeiture, and he shall be prosecuted under the 44th section of the act for the regulation of the Post Office Department, passed March 3, 1825. XI. The special routes herein advertised are established by the Postmaster General under the 4th section of the act aforesaid, upon the condition that the expense of transporting the mail upon them does not exceed the net proceeds of the offices for the supply of which they are established. Bidders will understand that his description of routes may be subject to that condition. Their compensation cannot under any circumstances, exceed the amount of the offices thus to be supplied. XII. Other days in the week than those named in the advertisement, may better suit the publication days of newspapers on weekly and semi-weekly routes; or, in reference to other circumstances of which the Department is un- apprised, better accommodate the public; Post- masters are requested to examine this advertisement, and point out to the Department all such cases for alteration. AMOS KENDALL, Postmaster General Post Office Department, July 2, 1895. A REFLECTION.—Round the idea of one's mother the mind of "an old man" with a fond affection. It is the first deep the stamped upon our infant hearts, when yet soft and capable of receiving the most profound impressions, and all the after feelings of the world are more or less light in comparison. I do not know that even in our old age we do not look back to that feeling as the sweetest we have through life.—Our passions and all our willfulness may lead us far from the object of our filial love; we learn even to pity her heart, to oppose her wishes, to violate her commands; we may be- come wild, headstrong, and angry at her counsels or her opposition; but when death has sil- lered her memory voice; and nothing but calm memory remains to recapitulate her virtues and good deeds, affection like a flower beaten to the ground by a past storm, raises up her head and smiles amongst the tears. Round that idea, as we have said, the mind clings with fond affec- tion; and even when the early period of our life- force memory to be silent, fancy takes the place of remembrance, and twines the image of our dear parent with a garland of graces and beauties and virtues, which we doubt not that she possessed. Thus had it been with Vaux, he could just call to mind a face that had appeared to him very beautiful, and a few kind and tender words, from the lips of her, he had called a mother; he had fancied her all that was good and gentle and virtuous; and now (that he was forced to look upon her as a fallen being)—as one who had not only forgotten virtue herself, but in sin had brought him into the world to degradation and shame, what could be his feelings towards her?—The Gipsy. A Hint to Wives.—"I'm not home from the party to-night at ten o'clock," said a hus- band to his better and bigger half, "don't wait for me." "That I won't," said the lady, signifi- cantly, "I won't wait—but I'll come for you." He returned at ten precisely. "Will you accept of my arm?" said a gentle- man to a very young damsel; to which she made the following very appropriate reply:—"No, I thank you, I have two of my own." Wind.—I was at dinner some time ago, in company with a man, who listened to me and said nothing for a long time; but he nodded his head and thought him intelligent, some appli- cations towards the end of the dinner, some ap- ples (turning were placed on the table, and my friend had no sooner seen them than he burst forth with—"There are the jockies for me!" I wish Spurzheim could have examined his head.—Oberidge's Table Talk. Durbin's Whitefish.—By saturating the water in which the line is to be stuck, with common salt, a whitefish may be made which will neither crack nor rub off on one's landscape clothes.

And it is entirely certain, that any existing law of the United States would protect mail carriers and Postmasters against the penalties of the State laws, if they shall knowingly carry, distribute or hand out any of these forbidden papers? If a State, by a constitutional law, declare any specific act to be a crime, we are officers of the United States, who may be found guilty of that act, to escape the penalties of the State law? It might be in vain for them to plead that the Post Office law made it their duty to deliver all papers which came by mail. In reply to this argument, it might be alleged that the Post Office law imposes penalties on Postmasters for "improperly retaining papers which come by the mail," and that the detention of the papers in question is not improper, because their circulation is prohibited by valid State laws. According to a higher principle, it might be plausibly alleged, that no law of the United States can protect from punishment any man, whether a public officer or citizen, in the commission of an act, which the State, acting within the undoubted sphere of her reserved rights, has declared to be a crime. Can the United States furnish agents for conspirators against the States and clothe them with impunity? May individuals or combinations deliberately project the subversion of State laws and institutions, and lighting the embers beyond the jurisdiction of those States, make the officers of the United States their irresponsible agents to apply the flames? Was it to give impunity to crime, that the several States came into the Union and conferred upon the General Government the power "to establish Post Offices and Post Roads?"

In these considerations, there is reason to doubt whether the abolitionists have a right to make use of the mails of the United States to convey their publications into States where their circulation is forbidden by law; and it is no means certain that the mail carriers and postmasters are secure from the penalties of that law, if they knowingly carry, distribute, or hand them out. Every citizen may use the mail for any lawful purpose. The abolitionists may have a legal right to use for distributing their papers in New York, where it is lawful to do so; but it does not follow that they have a legal right to that privilege for such a purpose in Louisiana or Georgia, where it is unlawful. As well may the counterfeiter and the robber demand the use of the mails for circulating their crimes, and complain of a violation of their rights when it is denied.

Upon these grounds, a postmaster may well hesitate to be the agent of the abolitionists in sending their incendiary publications into States where their circulation is prohibited by law, and much more may postmasters residing in those States refuse to distribute them. Whether the arguments here suggested be sound or not, of one thing there can be no doubt. If it shall ever be settled by the authority of Congress that the post office establishment may be legally, and must be actually employed as an irresistible agent, to enable misguided fanatics or reckless incendiaries to stir up with impunity insurrection, and servile war in the Southern States, those States will, of necessity, consider the General Government as an accomplice in the crime—they will look upon it as identified in a cruel and unconstitutional attack on their unquestionable rights and direct interest that they must necessarily treat it as a common enemy in their means of defence. Ought the postmasters of the department, by thrusting these papers upon the Southern States, in defiance of their laws, to hasten a state of things so deplorable?

I do not desire to be understood as affirming that the suggestions here thrown out, ought, without the action of higher authority, to be considered as the settled construction of the law, or regarded by postmasters as the rule of their future action. It is only intended to say, that in a sudden emergency, involving principles so grave and consequences so serious, the safe course for postmasters, which is the duty of the country, is that which you have adopted.

It prevents the certain seizure of all the mails in the aggrieved States, with a view to the interception and destruction of the obnoxious papers—the interruption of commercial and friendly correspondence—the loss of confidence in the safety of the mail conveyances—and the probable overthrow of the authority of the United States, as far as regards the Post Office establishment, throughout half the territory of the Union.

It prevents a speedy interruption of commerce and trade between the cities of the North and the South, for the undoubted evidence, that the vessels or steamboats which should be known to come freighted with these papers, whether in the mail or out, would not long be suffered to float in safety in the Southern ports. It lays in some degree the excited feeling of the white man against the black, which changes the dominion over the slave from one of mildness to one of severity, and puts the free negro in imminent peril of his life.

You avoid being yourself the agent and accomplice of blind fanaticism or wicked design, in a course of proceedings, which, if successful, could not fail to repeat the horrors of St. Domingo, and desolate with exterminating war, half the territory of our happy country.

You prevent your government from being made the unwilling agent and abettor of crimes against the States which strike at their very existence; and give time for the proper authorities to discuss the principles involved and digest a safe rule for the future guidance of the Department.

While persisting in a course which philanthropy recommends and patriotism approves, I do not that you and the other Postmasters who have assumed the responsibility of stopping these incendiary papers in their passage to the South, will perceive the necessity of performing your duty in transmitting and delivering ordinary newspapers, magazines, and pamphlets, with perfect punctuality. Occasions must not be given to charge the Postmasters with carrying their precautions beyond the necessities of the case, or capriciously applying them to other cases in which there is no necessity; and it would be the duty as well as the inclination of the Department, to justify its assumptions with unwearied severity. My suggestion I do not make because I have any apprehension that it is needful for your restraint; but because I wish this paper to bear upon its face a complete explanation of the views which I take of my own duty in the existing emergency.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
AMOS KENDALL.

THE EXPLOSION AT WALLSBURG.—We regret to announce that the number of persons who have lost their lives by the dreadful explosion in the coal mines of Mr. Russell, is much more considerable than we announced in our paper of yesterday. From the latest accounts which have been received relative to this most woe-filled catastrophe, it appears that at the time of the explosion there were not fewer than 104 colliers in the mine. During Friday the bodies of two men and nineteen boys were brought up, and on Saturday morning three more. The total loss of life has not yet been ascertained, but there are unfortunately too many reasons for fearing the number of victims at 98.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.
In consequence of Mr. Evans declining to serve as a candidate to represent the 2nd Congressional District, the Delegates appointed by the Democratic Republicans of the several Counties of the District, re-convened at Centerville on Monday the 31st of August. Joseph Reule, Esq., the President, having called the meeting to order, the Convention proceeded to appoint a Vice President in place of Wm. D. Mercer, Esq., and a Secretary in place of P. Webb, Esq., who were absent—when Dr. Robt. Goldsborough, Jr. of Queen Anne's, was elected Vice President, and Robt. T. Keene, Esq., of Caroline, Secretary.

On motion of Mr. Spencer, of Talbot, a Committee of five was appointed to ascertain and report the names of the members in attendance. The Convention then, on motion of Dr. Thomas Willson, of Kent, took a recess till half past 2 o'clock, P. M.

At half past 2 o'clock the Convention met pursuant to adjournment.

The Committee appointed to ascertain and report the names of the attending members, reported the following gentlemen present, viz: Cecil County, Gen. Thomas M. Forman; Kent County, Dr. Hendman, Dr. Edward Reason, Samuel Kerr, Joseph Reule, Dr. Thomas Willson, James Stewart, and Eli Plummer, Esquires; Queen Anne's County, Richard Costin, Samuel Roberts, Samuel R. Oldson, Thomas Bewley, Joseph D. Anthony, Dr. R. Goldsborough, Jr., Madison Brown, Dr. Thomas Willson, Jr., James H. Willson, Robert B. A. Tate, James Embert, and John E. Gibson, Esquires; Caroline County, Levin Charles, James Sangster, John Stevens, sen., Marcy Fontana, Cornelius Sherwood, and Robert T. Keene, Esquires; Talbot County, Wm. C. Ridgway, Richard Spencer, Speldon Orem, and John S. Blake, sen., Esquires.

On motion of Dr. Willson, of Queen Anne's, the Convention then proceeded to ballot for a candidate to represent the 2nd Congressional District in the next Congress. Upon counting the ballots it was ascertained that WILLIAM GRASON, Esq., of Queen Anne's, had received the unanimous vote of the Convention, and was thereupon declared duly nominated.

On motion of Mr. Brown of Queen Anne's, it was resolved, that the President of the Convention communicate to Mr. Grason the fact of his nomination, and request his acceptance of the same. And on motion of the same gentleman, it was further resolved, that the proceedings of the Convention be published in the Eastern-Shore Whig, Cecil Gazette, and Baltimore Republican, signed by the President and Vice Presidents, and attested by the Secretaries.

THE LADY'S BOOK.
We have received the September No. of this periodical, and it affords us great pleasure in recommending it to those for whose education and amusement it is appropriately intended. It is a monthly magazine of original and selected literary compositions, fashions, engravings, music, and embroidery; the terms, &c. can be seen by reference to the advertisement in another column. The present No. is embellished with a portrait of N. C. Brooks, a famous similes of the signatures of distinguished American citizens, and the portraits of Moore and Campbell; and it contains much good reading matter, in prose and verse, and also an original piece of music.

We cannot let this opportunity pass, without a word of commendation to the publisher for displaying a judgment commendable in himself, and beneficial, we trust, to the work, in the well-merited tribute bestowed upon one of its most talented contributors, Mr. Brooks. This gentleman is a native of Maryland, and promises, at no very distant period, by his literary efforts, to reflect honor upon his name, as well as to enhance the reputation of his native State.

West's pictures.—Benjamin West was probably the most indefatigable painter that ever lived. So great was the number and magnitude of his pictures, that (as we learn from his biography) it is ascertained, by a curious calculation, that to contain all his pictures, a gallery would be necessary four hundred feet long, fifty broad, and forty high; so that his paintings must cover a surface of more than three fourths of an acre.

The editors of the Kent Bugle and the Eastern Gazette would ridicule the idea that Wm. Grason, Esq. who has been nominated by the Democratic Convention as our candidate for Congress, is a supporter of the principles of Democracy. As the voters of the district will soon have, from our candidate himself, an exposé of his principles, it is unnecessary for us to anticipate them. We are willing to hide the issue, and fear not the result. Let those who would take all power from the people; who would elect their President by Congress, and give the reins of government into the hands of a factious and Aristocratic Senate, find consolation in the principles of Wm. Grason, if they can. We know Democrats only by their support of principles and measures, not by the names by which they or their fathers have been known in years past.

We publish this morning a communication from one of our correspondents on the subject of the primary school law. It is from one whose avocation calls for the use of the broad axe and the drawing knife, more frequently than the pen, but evinces a vigor of intellect and quickness of perception which can triumph, in a great degree, over the defects of education. Although a plain, uneducated mechanic, who daily labors at his bench, he has found no difficulty in arriving at the true reading of the law which has been involved in so much obscurity to our County Commissioners.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE WHIG.
MR. SPENCER, Sir,—I am truly glad to see by looking over your paper of the 5th inst. that some few of the friends of the present primary school law have had courage enough to solicit the publication of so much of the said law as appears necessary to inform the people where the fault lies, that we have not the school in operation, or ready to go into operation. The County Commissioners would faintly say, but they had been doing all they could, but they had been doing nothing else; so it is a fact that they have done nothing else; so they have done but little for the pay they get; for they have done nothing towards carrying it into execution, in my opinion.

What then have they been about? why, I think they have been laboring to keep it from going into effect. My reason for thinking so is, if they had intended or wanted the people to have the benefit of that law they would have appointed 9 school Commissioners and 18 teachers, and they would have actually laid out the law, and they would have at some special meeting called for that purpose since then. If they had done that last April, our poor children might now have been ready to start to school according to the provisions of the law. Probably, Sir, they are waiting to be instructed by their constituents. If so, they may find their remedy made out on the last Election returns. But say they, we don't like the law. Is that a good reason why they should not act up to the known will of their Constituents? surely not. But probably some of them are afraid of the charge of inconsistency, for voting against the law and afterwards becoming instrumental in enforcing and carrying out its principles. If so, I would advise them to withdraw at once from so disagreeable a situation and allow their constituents to choose persons that will not betray the trust reposed in them. I am neither a lawyer nor a politician, and accordingly I have no notion of that, they have all violated it, and laid themselves liable to public disapprobation.

Now, Sir, if they should persist in their present course, what is left for the people to do? Ah, that's the rub. They think the people have no way of coming at them, and they will do just as they please for the time being. Well, as I said before, I am no lawyer, and of course cannot be expected to point out the exact course; but I will suggest the propriety of the people's calling a meeting and expressing their disapprobation of the course of some of the County Commissioners as known to be opposed to the law, and have acted up to their prejudices. But, sir, suppose they should meet and act at once? Then there is something necessary for the people to know before they are prepared to vote for clerks, and trustees. The people should have a list in their houses pasted to some safe place where it might be left for their children to look at and know the name of each individual that voted against the law, and for this simple reason: Can it be expected that those persons who were so violently opposed to the law would act in any other way than appeared to them to be the fittest way to destroy it. Certainly not. Then let every voter, before he votes, be sure that the individual for whom he votes was, and is still, in favor of the law; and if he is a new convert since the election, don't trust him yet for there may be some quirk in it. I have read the fable of the wolf in sheep's clothes, and they may be wolves bound in calf or sheep; but pick out such as fought for the bill; first, for the men that brought it about, and secondly to get it ratified by the people, contrary to the desire of its enemies; and we still fighting to get it in operation, and then the law will be administered according to the true intent and meaning of it, and in a way that will force the people to complain that the law is oppressive.

But sir, let the people select those innocent wolves as trustees, &c. and they will devour the lamb as a great delicacy, and make the people believe that they had done like the snake of olden times that got hold of its tail and swallowed itself. But it may be asked, how they could destroy the lamb, or rather the good effect of it; the ways are many, but one is enough for the present, so far as the County Commissioners select, as school commissioners and inspectors of primary schools, men opposed to the same, and the people should likewise select men of like principle as trustees and clerks. What I ask would be the result not as some suppose, that they would not act at all, but they would act too much in my opinion. You would see the commissioners recommending, and the trustees employing teachers, and the commissioners ratifying the contracts at such prices as would be oppressive to the people, when others of as good, and probably better qualifications might be obtained for one-third, and probably one-half less, say for instance one applicant says, he or she will teach a certain school for $600 per year, and leaves it with the trustees alone to find out, as to this competency when another applicant says, he will teach said school for $400, and bring the best testimonials of competency, and offers to enter into bond and security for the faithful performance of the trust assumed by him or her. Who is to be employed in such case? The interest of the people would require the employment of the latter, but that would not so well suit the trustees, and it would bring the law inside of the orbit in which it was intended to move, and render it easy to be borne by the people; they, therefore, will add one-third more to the necessary salary, and employ some favorite teacher or teachers, and then by carrying the law into effect on such extravagant principles as to make it altogether too oppressive to be borne by the people, and by that means overthrow it.

Therefore the people should be up and doing; let them but see the monster that oppresses them and I warrant they will crush him. I therefore, sir, conceive it your duty to obtain a list of the individuals names that voted against the law at the polls and publish it to the world, that the people may know who are and who are not to be trusted as public officers under the primary school law.

CHARITY SCHOLAR.
A YANKEE BLACKSMITH.
Professor Henry, of Princeton, it is known has made some important discoveries on electro-magnetism, and has produced a magnet to lift 2,500 lbs. it being however, still a desideratum how to control this enormous power, so as to apply it to practical use. By the subsequent note from Professor Eaton, of Troy, this desideratum, it appears, has been attained by a New England Blacksmith.

An obscure blacksmith of Brandon, Vermont, 11 miles south of Middlebury College, happened accidentally to become acquainted with Professor Henry's discoveries in Electro Magnetism. Possessing one of those minds, which cannot be confined to the limits of a blacksmith's shop—nor any shop less than the category of heaven—he applied this power to the construction of scientific mechanics. He turns three horizontal wheels around 50 times per second with this power. The wheels and shaft weigh 11 lbs. He has convinced Professors Henry and Bache, that the power is sufficient for strong machinery. A detailed account of it will appear in the next number of Silliman's Journal. The Hon. Stephen Van Rensselaer has purchased his first constructed machine (or model) for the Rensselaer Institute in Troy, as a piece of school apparatus. No chemical nor philosophical apparatus, can heretofore be considered perfect without it—Whatever may be its fate in Mechanics, it will cause the name of Thomas Davenport, (the inventor) to accompany that of Professor Henry to the ends of the earth.

Professor Bache, of Philadelphia, and professor Turner, of Middlebury, Vermont, have given opinions in writing, that Mr. D's application of Professor Henry's discoveries may be made to move heavy machinery for useful purposes. According to their views, another Livingstone might make another Fulton, of the Brandon Blacksmith.

THE CANVASS.—The news from the two adjoining counties, in this congressional district—Washington and Frederick are of a cheering character. Mr. Thomas will leave them with sweeping majorities, and come to Allegany triumphant over Whigism, Bankism, every other kind of ism except REPUBLICANISM; that is his motto and that will be his crown.

Allegany too, will act well her part. She has now a fair opportunity to fight for herself—not being intruded upon by false pretenders—and we think we speak within bounds when we say that Mr. Thomas, will receive a handsome majority of the votes given by her free and independent sons. He is known by the Republicans scattered through our hills, and his many deportment as a gentleman and as a representative of the People will secure him their own support. And if you and your friends will act as he does, by his friends they will act as he does.

When mailed let us hear.
Rallying round our nominee.
Allegany Advocate.

MR. and MRS. HAMILTON'S
BOARDING SCHOOL
FOR YOUNG LADIES,
CORNER OF SARATOGA AND COURTLAND STREETS, BALTIMORE, WILL BE RE-OPENED ON THE FIRST DAY OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

MR. & MRS. H. have provided their School with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction; Their Philosophical Apparatus is equal to any that can be found in private Seminars in this country, and their Chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of Minerals though small yet contains upwards of 700 specimens; their Seminary is also furnished with an ARMILLARY SPHERE, CARRIES, WILSON'S and GARDNER'S GLOBES, several PIANOS, and a HARP; the instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country, or in England.

The Library contains upwards of 3000 volumes, connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have access.

In all the departments, the most competent teachers are engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals.

The course of instruction is carried on in a regular system of Academic studies, embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches.

Parents and Guardians, who wish more particular information can obtain a prospectus of the Seminary by sending post paid, to the principals.

THE LADY'S BOOK.
A MONTHLY MAGAZINE
OF LITERATURE AND FASHIONS.

The LADY'S BOOK was the first publication in this country to introduce and perfect a taste for COLORED PLATES OF THE FASHIONS; and the universal popularity which the book obtained, with the aid of these beautiful and costly embellishments, although they appeared every quarter only, was unprecedented and unexpected.—The publisher, emboldened by his long experience, and the success which has crowned his former efforts, signals his work, intends, with the coming volume, to introduce alternately every month, in the course of the year, SIX SPLENDID PLATES OF THE FASHIONS, SUPERBLY COLOURED. The engravings will be copied from ORIGINAL designs, prepared expressly for that purpose; thereby furnishing the patrons of the work with correct and constant information of the latest and most approved styles for ladies' dresses, as they come out. This arrangement will be considerably to the publisher's present heavy outlays; and while it will materially advance the value and beauty of his work, he trusts with confidence to the liberality of a discerning public for future remuneration, corresponding with his exertions and unremitting efforts to keep pace with the rapid progress of the improvement of the age. The following is the order which will be substituted for his former efforts in the Lady's Book for 1835, viz: January, March, May, July, September, November, and December.

SUPERB ENGRAVINGS.
OF THE
PREVAILING FASHIONS,
ELEGANTLY COLOURED.

With the June and December numbers will be furnished appropriately ENGRAVED TITLE PAGES, and a general Table of Contents for each Volume. February, April, June, August, October, December.

FINE STEEL ENGRAVINGS.
Illustrating a variety of Interesting Subjects.

Besides every number will be enriched with a Plate from the PORTRAIT GALLERY, containing the Likenesses of two distinguished individuals. In addition to which, other and various Engravings will be regularly added—with two Pages of POPULAR MUSIC.

The publisher has at present in the hands of an excellent artist a steel Engraving, which will contain a likeness of all the present reigning Queens of Europe, which will be given as an extra in the January No.

To meet these expensive engagements, it is absolutely necessary that remittances should be promptly made. At the end of the last six months, nearly six hundred names were erased from our list, in consequence of its appearing from the books that each owed two years' subscription. Many have since paid, and some had previously settled with us. These are I other grievous inconveniences a publisher has to encounter, which should, as far as the Agent is concerned, be remedied by his rendering an account of all the sums that he has received, at least one every six months. Subscribers be it a moment when their names are erased for delinquency, & when they settle, they will not again renew their subscription. This, consequently, is a serious loss to the proprietor. The following suggestions are respectfully tendered in arrears: Let those who owe two years, or that will cure two in December, send a Five Dollar note, on account. Many a train from forwarding their dues because they cannot remit the exact sum; this is not necessary, if they continue their subscription. It is only when a person stops the work, that a liquidation of the whole amount due becomes necessary.

GALLERY OF PORTRAITS.—Every third number will be published every month, likeness of distinguished Authors in his country and in Europe. Striking resemblances of Bulwer, Brougham, Hoger, Cunningham, &c. &c. have been given. The following are now ready for press, and will be published two in each number until the whole is completed: Shelley, Lewis, Moore, Coleridge, Rodgers, D'Israeli, Neale, Mad. de Staël, Jane Porter, Campbell, Roscoe, Southey, &c.

Facsimiles of the writing of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Moore, Adams, Byron, Scott, and other distinguished persons, have already appeared. Those of Napoleon, Franklin, La Fayette, &c. &c. are in preparation.

The publication of views of beautiful scenery and remarkable public edifices, will be continued as heretofore.

Every number of the work contains forty-eight large octavo pages, printed on fine white paper, the whole neatly stitched in covers.

The postage for each number is 3 cents for any distance under 100 miles—5 cents over.

To continue possession of the work, subscribers to the Lady's Book, that it is equal in point of embellishments, the interest of its contents, and general beauty of appearance, to the descriptions repeatedly given at large, and the flattering notices that have been made of it by editors in different sections of the Union, the publisher will forward any monthly number as a specimen; by sending him a letter, post paid.

The work will in future be published and delivered on the first of each month, in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Charleston.—In New Orleans cut the fifth.

Subscribers missing a number, will please inform the publisher, free of postage, and a duplicate will be sent them.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION, 3 dollars per annum, payable in advance. Postmasters and Agents can have two copies forwarded to any direction, by advancing five dollars.

Address: E. A. GODEY, Philadelphia.

BLACKSMITHING.
The Subscriber most respectfully begs leave to inform his old customers and the public generally that he has commenced the above business in his old Shop on Dover street, and immediately adjoining the Cart-Wright Shop of Mr. John B. TAILORING.

THE subscriber presents his grateful acknowledgments to the inhabitants of Easton and the adjoining counties, for the flattering patronage he has met with, since he commenced the above business, and begs leave to inform them that he has just returned from Baltimore with

A NEW MODE OF CUTTING,

That has never been practiced in Easton; but one, that is almost universally used in Baltimore, and in the best establishments: he has also engaged a

FIRST RATE WORKMAN,

that none can surpass, which will enable him to meet the demands of gentlemen for any kind of garments cut and made in the first style. His work shall be warranted to fit in all cases; otherwise he pays them for their goods or makes them over. He respectfully solicits a continuance of the favors of a generous public.

The public's obedient servant,
JOHN SATTERFIELD.

Easton and Baltimore Packet.
THE SPLENDID NEW SLOOP
THOMAS HAYWARD,

WILL commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 18th of February, (weather permitting,) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock, on those days throughout the season.
The THOMAS HAYWARD was launched last Spring, and has run as a packet for one season, giving general satisfaction as a fine sailer and safe boat. She is fitted up in a highly commodious manner for the accommodation of passengers, with State Rooms for Ladies, and comfortable berths; and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point; and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thos. H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscribers residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessel.
Thankful for the liberal share of patronage he has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same.
The public's obedient servant,
SAMUEL H. BENNY.

THE SILK CULTURIST.

THE Executive Committee of the Hartford county Silk Society, have commenced a monthly publication, called the Silk Culturist and Farmers Manual.

The object of the publication is to disseminate a thorough knowledge of the cultivation of the Mulberry Tree, in all its varieties—The rearing of Silk Worms—The production of Cocoons and the Reeling of Silk, in the most approved method. The importance of this knowledge will appear from the fact that the net profit of land devoted to the culture of Silk is double, if not triple, to that derived from any other crop which can be put upon it. It is also a fact, that every moderate farmer can raise several hundred dollars worth of Silk, without interfering with his ordinary agricultural operations. But in order to avail himself of this facility to obtain competency and wealth, he must possess himself of information on the subject—for without it his attempts will be fruitless. It is, therefore, the object of the Committee to diffuse this information as extensively as possible; and at the cheapest rate. The publication will contain a complete manual or directory for sowing the seed, rearing the Silk, together with such facts and experiments, as will enable farmers to raise Silk and prepare it for market, without further knowledge or assistance. It will also contain interesting matter on agricultural subjects in general.

TERMS.—The Culturist will be published in monthly numbers of Eight Quarto Pages at FIVE CENTS a year. No subscription will be received unless paid in advance, and for no less than a year.
Subscriptions received by F. G. CONNOR, Secretary, Hartford, Conn., to whom also Communications may be addressed, which, post paid, will be attended to.
Editors who will copy the above, shall receive the publication for one year.

Republic of Letters.
THE fifty second number of the Republic of Letters closed the first year of the work. It was commenced as an experiment—the liberal patronage it has received, as well as the favor bestowed upon other works of the like kind which has followed in its track, shows that the plan of the work is approved, and has given it a permanency which induces the publisher to make such improvements and alterations as he believes will be acceptable to subscribers, and give it a further claim, upon the reading community.

The publisher has the pleasure of stating that the work will hereafter be edited by
MRS. A. H. NICHOLAS
In making the necessary selections for the Republic of Letters, Mrs. Nicholas will receive the aid and advice of Washington Irving, Edward Everett, Gulian C. Verplanck, Charles F. Hoffman, &c.
The change in the form of the work, from quarto to octavo, has met with the approbation of all the subscribers with whom the publisher has been enabled to confer.

The work will be published weekly, as usual, at 63 cents each number, or three dollars per year to those who receive the work by mail and pay in advance.—Each number will contain 32 pages.
Postmasters throughout the United States are requested to act as Agents—the work will be charged to them $2.50 per year.
The first two volumes, comprising the first year, contain the following works, (each work being complete and entire) and may be had bound or in numbers:
The Man of Feeling, by Mackenzie.—The Vicar of Wakefield, by Goldsmith.—The Tales of the Hall, by Crabbe.—The Letters of Lady Wretley Montague.—Rasselas, by Dr. Johnson.—Castle of Uranto, by Horace Walpole.—The Old English Baron, by Clara Reeve.—Dr. Franklin's Life and Essays, by himself.—Lights & Shadows of Scottish Life.—The adventures of Gil Blas, from the French of Le Sage, by Smollet.—Julia de Roubrigne, by Mackenzie.—Mazppa, by Lord Byron.—The Tapestry Chamber, by Walter Scott.—The Dream of Eugene Aram, by Hood.—Zezuco by Dr. Moore.—Essays, moral, economical, and political by the Lord Chancellor Bacon.—Chevy Chase.—L'Allegro, by Milton.—Il Penseroso, by Milton.—Italian and Spanish Proverbs.—The history of Charles XII., by Voltaire.—Manfred, by Lord Byron.—A Bride, A Tale by T. It is now six months since this publication was commenced in Philadelphia—and although the publishers have used no extraordinary means to circulate a knowledge of its merits, yet such is the satisfaction manifested by that portion of the public who have been made acquainted with its character and contents, that its list of patrons continues constantly and rapidly to increase. This paper is now distributed regularly every week over a wide portion of the Union, and the most satisfactory assurances are received that it will eventually become one of the most popular among the numerous excellent periodicals which issue from the American press. No exertions will be spared to establish its permanent reputation more extensively; and if the liberal sanction of those for whom it is especially designed shall warrant, its future improvement—both as regards typographical neatness and embellishment—will materially advance.

SATURDAY

FOREIGN NEWS.

From the New York Daily Advertiser.

LATER FROM ENGLAND.

By the Hamilton, Capt. Bailey, we are put in possession of London papers to the 1st August, and Liverpool papers to the 3d inclusive, being two days later than before received. They do not, however, contain any later from London.

The Municipal Corporations Bill was still under discussion in the House of Lords. The House adjourned on the 31st, after thirteen hours debate on the Bill. In the House of Commons, on the 31st Mr. Sergeant Parnell introduced the Municipal Corporations (Ireland) Bill. This important measure places the Irish corporations upon a just and popular basis, and is, therefore, a necessary supplement to English municipal reform. The honorable and learned member developed the details of this great measure of justice and concession to his fellow countrymen of Ireland, who were too much and too long governed on the narrow and exclusive principles of Orange ascendancy. Mr. Shaw, as a duty bound said something in favour of a mitigation or postponement of sentence on his good friends, the corporators, and enlarged upon their scope and usefulness as branches of the British Empire. He then, in a most speech, denounced the narrow policy which looked not in reality to English, but to selfish and party interests, and hailed the present liberal measure as the harbinger of better days for Ireland; he exposed the miserable attitude of dragging religion into every discussion of Irish policy, and showed how much more strongly the connexion with England would be cemented by being founded upon the broad basis of equal right and equal participation in all the advantages of British industry. The honorable and learned gentleman did not forget Sir Charles Wetherell, who, if we are not taken, will not soon forget the triniting he received.

From the Liverpool Albion, of August 3d. Sir Charles Wetherell was in his element as the advocate before the House of Lords, of the existing corporate system. For two mortal nights this reformer, champion of corporate abuses, declaimed, and retired, exhausted, with so much effect that he exhausted his own strength and the patience of his lordly auditory. Mr. O'Connell, on Friday night, in the House of Commons, when supporting the Irish Municipal Reform Bill, very happily characterized Sir Charles's harangue and the sense of the Tory lords who had invited him to enlighten their understandings on the subject of the English Bill.

"This bill cannot fail to pass this house," (Cheers.) It is just. It is agreeable to the dictates of sound policy, and it is kindly to the people of Ireland. And is there any where else where the rights of the people of Ireland are to be stayed for the purpose of listening to some contemptible buffoonery, misrepresentation, and calumniating nicknames? (Cheers.) It is measure to be impeached by this hollow trash, (laughter)—his idle rhapsody! Talk, you, of the rank or station. Why! I ask you, is there any trades union in the country that for five hours tolerate such absurdities? (Hear, hear.) Or do they imagine that society is so low in that state that men will suffer an important measure to be so interrupted—that they will endure this torrent of vituperation and buffoonery that has been poured out on this measure? (Cheers.)

We copy the following articles from the London Morning Chronicle of the 1st of August.

"History does not exhibit a more extraordinary proceeding than that which is now taking place at the bar of the House of Lords. The nation has condemned the self elect Corporation of the City of London, and the House of Commons, and an enlightened Ministry have declared the downfall of the close manufactory. Their voice is at the door of the Legislature—the undertakers in attendance—the majority of the Commons has condemned the criminals—yet Sir Robert Peel consigns them to execution—and the Peers of the empire are exerting themselves to save them. If the Peers were desirous of demonstrating that the difference between the Commons and themselves is irreconcilable they could not have chosen a happier opportunity.

Sir Charles Wetherell boldly makes his stand on divine right and passive obedience. The lower House of Parliament is grossly insulted by a feed and ranting advocate of the self-elect, who describes the Municipal Bill as revolutionary and republican, and predicts a democracy as the result of Corporation Reform surrounded by a body guard of town clerks. This most injudicious and ill advised advocate demands to tender witnesses in defence of 350 corporations—a process of judicial inquiry which would occupy a British Parliament at least a quarter of a century. How long their Lordships will cultivate this political suicide—how long they will endure the greatest insult perpetrated—how long they will tolerate a procedure which must daily degrade the hereditary Legislators in the eyes of the people, time will show.

Doubtless the Duke of Cumberland greets on the precious nonsense of the advocate; but the reflecting Tories view the manœuvre of the Wetherell exhibition with dismay and apprehension. Sir Robert Peel distinctly approves the principle of the measure. The Right Honourable Baring specially eulogized the Franchise. Every act of the Lords is at variance with his policy and tactics in the House of Commons. The proceedings of the Corporation must be gall and wormwood to the shrewd Tories. In the mean while the Tories are stirring. London will next week knock at the door of their Lordships. Their towns will make known their feelings. The principal Lords, after another week's spleen and amusement, will discover their error, and pass the bill.

However, we counsel the Municipal Committee to lose no time, but to be "up and stirring." In despite of the Lords must be saved. Sir C. Wetherell concluded his outrageous address last night, and his mantle descended on Mr. Knight. This day, at one o'clock, the Lords reassemble to regulate themselves with the end of his oration. Ministers deserve credit for losing no time. If it be the pleasure of the Lords we do not doubt that Lord Melbourne will sit with their Lordships till doomsday. We ever such a spectacle presented to the people of an enlightened country.

THE KNOXVILLE ARGUMENT AGAINST MR. VAN BUREN.

Judge White is trying to profit by the abolition excitement, as will be seen from the following scrap, taken from the Knoxville organ, which has been often adorned with speculations from his own pen, and which never speaks of him without his own consent.

"If the fact of Judge White's receiving the support of a portion of the Nullifiers and Bank men is to be taken as conclusive proof that he is himself a Nullifier and a friend to the Bank, approved as it is by his whole public life, then, by the same system of reasoning, do we prove that Mr. Van Buren is an abolitionist, because he is supported, as against Judge White, with great cordiality and unanimity by the friends of abolition. The enemies of Judge White tauntingly say, why do the Nullifiers support him, unless they expect, in his election, at triumph of their principles? The enemies of Mr. Van Buren may respond by a similar interrogatory, why do the abolitionists support Mr. Van Buren, unless, in his election, they expect a consummation of their mad and disorganizing schemes?"

Now we ask you are Judge White's supporters in the North? Have not his friends again and again insisted that there would be no northern Whig candidate for the Presidency, and

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

FOR PRESIDENT, MARTIN VAN BUREN, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, RICHARD M. JOHNSON, OF KENTUCKY.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS, WILLIAM GRASON, OF QUEEN ANNE'S.

FOR DELEGATES TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, NICHOLAS MARTIN, MORRIS O. COLSTON, RICHARD SPENCER, DANIEL LLOYD, FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, THOMAS HENRIX, CAROLINE COUNTY.

Samuel Crawford, Thomas H. Whiteley, Mary Fountain, John Rumbold.

KENT COUNTY. Everett Miller, Raymond Bidelle, George Gale, Wm. T. Skirven.

QUEEN ANNE'S COUNTY. George N. Newman, Samuel R. Oldson, Edbert Larimore, R. B. A. Tate.

CECIL COUNTY. L. D. Nowland, John Henderson, George McCullough, G. S. Townsend.

We comply with the request of our correspondents, and give the list of voters who opposed the Primary School Law, in District No. 2, as also those of 3 and 4, for the information of the voters in those Districts.

THE U. S. BANK.

In another column we present to our readers an article from the Journal of Commerce, on the subject of the U. S. Bank, which we have been compelled to defer for several days.

THE ELECTION.

The coming election is one of deep importance, not only to a triumph of pure principles in the State, but to the general happiness of the whole country.

The opposition have clearly evinced a determination (as a last resort) to carry the election to the House, where they flatter themselves there hopes of success will be brighter.

For this district we are sure of success if the people are but true to themselves. Mr. Grason, the democratic candidate, is well known; and in him will be found an able and faithful representative of the best interests of his constituents and the country at large.

MR. PEARCE.

This gentleman (the Federal candidate) was addressed the voters of Talbot, at a recent meeting in this place, advertised to the U.

THE TELEGRAPH.

We dislike fanaticism in any form, and are surprised to find the U. S. Telegraph—a paper proposing so much welfare for the south—pursuing a course nearly as censurable as that of the abolitionists themselves.

We copy the following from the Richmond Enquirer. The Telegraph is a firebrand of Faction. So far as it goes against the Fanatics, we go with it. But there is a deep under current in its course.

"If, however, says the Jour. of Com. speaking of Mr. Biddle, he had shown no traces of wickedness or folly except those which were displayed during the panic, his name would go down to posterity with execration."

"The war commenced.—The United States Bank last week demanded the balances due her by the local city banks in New York, amounting to between $400,000 and $500,000, which were promptly paid."

"This Banal of their party will not permit his power to pass from him peacefully, for he appears, in his reluctance to surrender it, determined to strike indiscriminately, and spare neither friend or foe! Again:

"The course of the U. S. Telegraph with regard to the recent meetings at the North, is very generally disapproved. The North is now doing its duty. It is not our part by censuring or sneering, to drive the Northern People from their propriety."

"The Charleston Courier thus condemns the Telegraph in another respect. 'The U. S. Telegraph.—This mischievous paper, which has but too often been suffered, with impunity, to assume a dictatorial tone towards the South, contains in its last number an article which ought to expose it to the reprobation of every Southern reader.'

"The U. S. Telegraph.—This mischievous paper, which has but too often been suffered, with impunity, to assume a dictatorial tone towards the South, contains in its last number an article which ought to expose it to the reprobation of every Southern reader."

OTTA OF ROSES.

The royal society of Edinburgh received from Dr. Monro the following account of the manner in which this costly perfume is prepared in the east. Steep a large quantity of the petals of the rose, in an earthen or wooden vessel, in pure water, in an earthen or wooden vessel, which is exposed daily to the sun, and housed at night, till a scum rises to the surface. This is the otto, which carefully absorb by a very small piece of cotton tied to the end of a stick. The oil collected, squeezes out of the cotton into a very diminutive vessel, stop it for use. The collection of it should be continued whilst any scum is produced

MR. and MRS. HAMILTON'S

BOARDING SCHOOL

FOR YOUNG LADIES, CORNER OF SARATOGA and COURTLAND STREETS, BALTIMORE, WILL BE RE-OPENED ON THE FIRST DAY OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

MR. & MRS. H. have provided their School with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction; their Philosophical Apparatus is equal to any that can be found in private Seminaries in this country, and their Chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of Minerals though small yet contains upwards of 700 specimens; their Seminary is also furnished with an ARMILLARY SPHERE, GARDENER'S GLOBES, several PLANOS, and a HARP. The instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country, or in England.

The Library contains upwards of 2000 volumes, connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have access.

In all the departments, the most competent teachers are engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals.

The course of instruction is carried on in a regular system of Academic studies, embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches.

Parents and Guardians who wish more particular information can obtain a prospectus of the Seminary by sending post paid, to the principals.

NOTES

1. The persons who shall be determined by the Postmaster General to be entitled to the contract, on the foregoing routes respectively must on or before the 1st day of December next enter into written contracts and obligations with good and sufficient securities, to perform such contracts respectively; which contracts & obligations the Postmaster General will cause to be prepared and forwarded for execution.

2. Said contracts will provide:

1. For the due conveyance of the mail of the United States on the routes specified, and the due delivery at, and despatch from, each post office on the route of the mail, and its protection and security.

2. The payment to the contractor of the compensation quarterly, and within two months after the expiration of each quarter, through collections from postmasters or otherwise as the Postmaster General may direct; the contractor and their sureties being held responsible for all overpayments.

3. That fines be imposed for failures to arrive in time, and failures to take and leave mails, and suffering the mails to be destroyed, lost, wet, or otherwise damaged. It is to be distinctly understood that failures to arrive in time to connect with a depending mail, shall be considered as equal to a trip lost, and for every trip lost there shall be a forfeiture, whatever may be the cause, equal to the pay of one trip, which shall without fail in every instance be deducted from the contractor's pay; which forfeiture shall be increased into penalty of a higher amount unless the contractor shows that every possible exertion was made to prevent the failure.

4. That the Postmaster General may increase the speed and alter the times of arrival and departure fixed by the schedules, and alter the route, he making adequate compensation for any expense occasioned thereby, not however, to exceed the exact proportion of the original amount to the additional duties required.

5. That the Postmaster General may curtail the service or discontinue it entirely, he allowing one month's extra pay upon the amount deducted, in case he wishes to place on the route a higher degree of service than is contracted for, first offering the privilege to the contractor on the route, or performing such higher service, on the terms that can be obtained; or he may, if he shall deem it expedient to lessen the service, or to leave such route, or any part of it out of operation, provided that reduction or compensation in consequence of reduction of service, shall not exceed the exact proportion which the service dispensed with bears to the whole service.

6. That the Postmaster General may annul the contract for the failure of the contractor to perform any of the stipulations of the contract; for violating the Post Office law; or disobeying the instructions of the Postmaster General; or for transmitting commercial intelligence by express more rapidly than the mail, or for being concerned himself or by his agent in such acts.

7. That if the contractor shall run a stage or other vehicle more rapidly or more frequently than he is required by the contract to carry the mail, he shall give the same increased celerity and frequency to the mail, and without increase of compensation.

8. That contractors on stage and coach routes shall in the conveyance of passengers give a preference to those who are brought in the connecting mail lines, over those travelling in any other; so that connecting mail stage routes shall form continuous travelling lines.

9. That the Postmaster General may terminate all the contracts in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, and Michigan, on the 30th September, 1839, or the 30th June, 1839, at his election, on forwarding 6 months previous notice of his intention to do so, so as to terminate the contract year expire on either of the days, above named, instead of the 31st December.

10. That an assignment of the contract without the previous consent of the Postmaster General first obtained, shall subject it to forfeiture.

11. That schedules are arranged so as to allow 7 minutes to each post office for opening and closing the mails generally, and one hour to the distributing post offices; but the Postmaster General is to have the power of extending the time, on allowing the like extension to the contractor, if he shall claim it. But it is designed to have the exchange of mails made at most of the offices on the most important coach routes, by means of pouches, so as to prevent any detention at them, and to allow at the more important offices more than 7 minutes for the overhauling of the mail portmanteaux.

12. Bidders will observe the following directions.

1. Make a separate proposal for each route; two or more routes must not be blended in one bid, as it is designed to draw up the contracts so as to have but one route embraced in each contract.

2. State in the proposal the number of the route.

3. The names of the offices at which it begins and ends.

4. The amount of yearly compensation asked for the service.

5. The number of trips monthly, weekly or daily, as the case may be.

6. And the manner in which the mail is to be carried.

7. N. B. Where the manner of conveyance is not specified in the advertisement, it is intended the mail shall be carried in the cheapest mode contemplated by the Department; namely, on horse.

8. Sign the proposal, and underneath the signature write the place of our residence; to the name of the post office, county, and State; seal it, and direct it to "The General Post Office, Washington City;" and endorse upon the letter, "Proposals in the State of _____ Here insert the name of the State in which the route is advertised, and cause the same to be transmitted by mail or otherwise, in season to be received on or before the 15th day of October next. Be careful to make the proper address and endorsement on the letter containing the proposal, as it is not intended to break the seal until after said 15th of October.

V. If the bidder is not a contractor, satisfactory recommendations of his ability to perform the service, and his general standing must be submitted, to entitle his proposal to consideration.

VI. Bids for contracts on post coach and stage routes, must be attended by the written consent of at least two responsible persons, to be security for the person or persons offering; which written paper may specify the route or routes, or indicate a general consent, and it must be accompanied by the certificate of one or more postmasters, or other satisfactory evidence of the pecuniary responsibility of the persons so offered as security. No bid for this description of routes, not thus sustained, will be considered.

VII. The distances, as stated in this advertisement, are believed to be substantially correct; but the contractor will inform himself on that point, as no increased pay can be allowed for any difference when the places are named correctly.

VIII. The privilege of carrying the mails, on stage & coach routes, on horse during the winter months, or at any other time, will not be allowed, unless it is stipulated for in the proposals and embraced in the contracts.

IX. On routes where the mail is transported in stages, and the present contractor shall be superseded by an underbidder who may not have the stage property requisite for the performance of the contract, he shall purchase from the present contractor such of the stage horses, and property may be suitable for the service at a fair valuation, and make payment therefor by reasonable instalments. Should they not, agree as to the suitability of the property, the terms, or the security, each may choose a person, who may appoint a third, and their decision shall be final; or the Postmaster General will name the umpire. This will be made the condition of any bid under that of a present contractor; and should the underbidder fail to comply, his bid will be offered to the contractor; but under no circumstances will the proposal of the underbidder be accepted unconditionally.

X. If a person shall refuse to execute a contract and bond, with securities at his acceptance, all his other contracts with the Department shall be subject to forfeiture; and he shall be prosecuted under the 4th section of the act for the regulation of the Post Office Department, passed March 3, 1825.

XI. The special routes herein advertised are established by the Postmaster General under the 4th section of the act aforesaid, upon the condition that the expense of transporting the mail upon them does not exceed the net proceeds of the offices for the supply of which they are established. Bidders will understand that the amount of the net proceeds must be taken subject to that condition. Their contracts cannot under any circumstances, exceed the net amount of the offices thus to be supplied.

XII. Other days in the week than those named in the advertisement, may better suit the publication days of newspapers on weekly and semi-weekly routes; or, in reference to other circumstances of which the Department is unapprised, better accommodate the public; Postmasters are requested to examine this advertisement, and point out to the Department all such cases for alteration.

AMOS DENTALL,

Postmaster General.

Post Office Department, July 2, 1835.

RANDOLPH.

Mr. Randolph in London.—Mr. Randolph was singularly well dressed whilst in London as he walked to be in Washington, and whenever we walked the streets together, the people would turn about and stare at him with astonishment; but this never seemed to offend him; on the contrary, if he got upon an interesting topic of conversation, he would sometimes stop in any place, no matter how public, until he delivered one of his "extemporaneous discourses;" as I used to term them, and then walk quietly on, without paying the least regard to the shrugs of the passing strangers. Although it was his first visit to the metropolis, yet he possessed a thorough knowledge of all the streets, lanes, alleys, &c., and when he had any great distance to walk, he used to take all the short cuts through by-lanes, &c., which I had supposed were only known to a Londoner.

Mr. Randolph and Jefferson.—One of our company was an excellent chess player, and frequently challenged Randolph to a game, but for a long time he refused. "I have not played at chess, sir," said he, "for seventeen years, and I cannot refer to the last game I played, but with unpleasant feelings, for it lost me a friend forever. You have heard, I dare say, of my intimacy with Mr. Jefferson, but perhaps you don't know that he took more pride in his skill at chess than anything else—very few indeed, sir, could beat him, and he could not endure defeat. I was aware of this, and had always declined playing with him because I was his match, until one unfortunate evening, when he touched my Virginia pipe in a pointed way, I could no longer refuse, and said down to the game. I soon cried 'check mate!' and he never forgave me afterwards."

His prejudices against the northern States.—Mr. Randolph had a large box full of books with him, which he was taking to get bound. I asked him why he had not sent them to Philadelphia or New York for that purpose. "What, sir," said he, "paralyze your Yankee task-masters who have imposed such a duty on foreign books? never, sir, never! I will neither wear what they make, or eat what they raise, so long as my purse can get supplies from old England, and until I can get my books properly bound south of Mason and Dixon's line, I will employ John Bull!" One day at dinner the captain said, "Mr. Randolph, will you allow me to help you to some collard?" "No, sir, it comes from New England, and was his laconic reply. Whenever he praised any northern man, it was always with this limitation—he is the clearest man I know north of the Potomac."

His attachment to Virginia.—Virginia was one of his favorites topics, and the enthusiasm with which he spoke of her was delightful. "But alas," he sometimes used to say, "the days of her glory are past. Old Virginia is no more. The title of Virginia gentleman, which

FOREIGN NEWS.

By reference to the news from France, in another column, it will be seen that a decisive measure has been taken by the ministry since the late attempt to assassinate the King; having a particular reference to the regulation of the press. Also will be found an interesting account of the funeral procession of the ill-fated victims of the 'three days' celebration.

A MODEST REQUEST.

A writer in the Centreville Times wishes Mr. Grason to 'cast from him the mantle of Democracy.' 'Were better to 'cudgel his brains no more about it.'

The County Commissioners, in obedience to the Primary school law, made the following appointments on Friday last of school commissioners and Inspectors.

COMMISSIONERS.

Dr. Sol. M. Jenkins, Goldsborough, Jos. M. G. Emory, Samuel Stevens, Richd. A. Ringgold, John Redman, and Robt. Banning, Jos. Turner, Wm. Caulk.

SUPPORTING THE LAWS.

We subjoin the following extract, from the Baltimore Republican, showing how admirably the 'supremacy of the Laws' is maintained by those who cry loudest in their support. 'Does not, it appears that the Oneida Whig does not generally approve of deliberate violations of law,' only in such cases where it conflicts with putting money in its purse. Truly a most judicious support!

'From the following paragraph from an opposition paper, called the Oneida Whig, and others of a similar kind, which have appeared in other papers, we have a good reason why they should not. There is a penalty of fifty dollars for any note taken, issued by a bank out of the State. We do not generally approve of deliberate violations of law; but in this case, the law conflicts with the convenience of the public.'

'Here is a fair specimen of the regard which is felt by an opposition editor of the laws of the land. It is precisely what the people of Vicksburg said, when they hung the politicians without judge or jury, and in violation of all law. He tells his readers that he will continue to take one dollar notes, notwithstanding it is a violation of the law, and plainly intimates that but for the penalty which is attached to the taking of such notes, he would continue to receive those issued by banks out of the State. It is not because the law forbids it, but because he might be punished for the infraction of the provision. It is not from a feeling of respect for the law that he is influenced, but from a fear of incurring a penalty attached to the violation of it. He tells us that he does 'not generally approve of deliberate violations of law,' but that 'in this case, the law conflicts with the convenience of the public.' The natural deduction from this is, that when it is convenient to comply with the provisions of the law, he would not approve of the violation of it; but when it is inconvenient to conform to the law he would violate it, provided it could be done without incurring a penalty in consequence of its violation. Such is the regard which is felt by the opposition for the law, and such is the manner, no doubt, in which they would desire to see their supremacy maintained. They will support the laws, so far as it may be convenient to them, and serve to advance their own views and interests, however detrimental it may be to the interest of others, but when it is inconvenient to them, however important it may be to others, they would not be willing to see them violated, but would rejoice, as they have done, at the infraction of them.'

Communications.

FOR THE WHIG.

They speak like honest men, pray God they prove so. 'One of the people' in the Gazette of the 19th says: 'The plan now is to try and persuade the people that the commissioners of the county are crushing the Law by dilatory proceedings—that they are hostile to it and intend to defeat it.'

I would ask this 'one' if a majority of the commissioners did not oppose the law when first submitted for the people's sanction? And if they have not by illegal steps caused a delay in the rightful execution of the law that looks not only 'dilatory' but that they are hostile to it. If there is any plan it is with themselves judging from the course pursued by them; for the only plan we desire is that of bringing truth to light. If they are charged directly with such intention, (which I question) have they denied it by deed or word until urged to it by a 'trick' of the Van Buren men. Such tricks we like, good sir—a 'trick' to 'procure' ready and correct action on the part of the commissioners—a trick to prevent further dallying with the people's rights—to procure for the commissioners (heaven save the mark!) the advice of a lawyer—which a 'Charity Scholar' understood and explained—and last they have thought proper they might have prevented the squandering of the people's money that is liable now to take place. A trick to tell them there is a right and a wrong way to proceed, and as the least difficult to choose the right—this trick has had the desired effect.

'I have heard but one sentiment among the Whig candidates and that was a desire the law might go into effect,' continues the Gazette.

Assertion and proof are two things. Will the candidate from first election district confirm this voluntary assertion, or speak again through Sir Oracle?

I leave this 'one' to move in the confines of a circle where verily he is one, as I believe there is none so obstinate as to agree with him in what he says; but there are men who will say more in ten minutes than they can stand in as many months. If there is a 'cloven foot' when he writes again, perchance it will reveal itself.

As for the second, I would cheerfully leave him after the discrepancies of his 'past companion' the first; but as I have gone so far I will follow them to the end. The second says:

'I am informed that the commissioners were under the impression that the county having been laid off into school districts, &c. it was unnecessary to give further trouble in that way' &c.

Under the impression! How lamentably weak—how 'unlawyer like' to act so with an 'unlawyer like law,' and finally to get Mr. Hayward to give advice and make it plain—this gentleman found no difficulty—perhaps he was not 'under the impression that further trouble was unnecessary.' Is it to be supposed that the people are to permit their agents to exercise discretionary power, not implied or reposed in them, and that they may act 'under impressions' thereby rendering their acts illegal and nugatory—or suffer a TAX to be levied by an irregular step in the first action of their duty? And after a levy may not the payment be resisted on the ground of illegality? and the result be a continual series of difficulties. A law is to be general in its bearing, therefore its enforcement should be regular to meet every contingency that might intervene between it and its exercise.

The admission of asking advice of Mr. Hayward, and which advice proved them in error, as every body knows, is sufficient to save further efforts to vindicate the course of the commissioners, and which cannot be done by all the sophistry those writers are masters of.—We admit with the correspondent of the Gaz. that the law should be carried into execution immediately, that their 'people's' children may receive the benefits thereof; but why in the name of consistency, attempt to justify the commissioners in their late illegal proceedings? But sir, I leave you to enjoy your marvellous consistency, and remind you that what you have published will live over a day, and that truth must ultimately triumph.

PUBLIUS.

MACOMBER, WELCH, & CO'S, New England Zoological Exhibition from Boston.

Will be Exhibited in EASTON, near E. McDowell's, on FRIDAY and SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9th and 10th—For Two Days only Hours of Exhibition from 1 o'clock till 4 P. M. ADMITTANCE 25 cents—Children under 10 years of age, half price.

Consisting of a greater variety of living natural curiosities than has ever been offered to the public, and a number of beasts and birds not contained in any other collection in the United States. To secure many of these, a large capital has been invested, and countries have for the first time been explored by civilized men; and in addition to the wild tenants of the forest, much more valuable information has been obtained respecting many parts of the continent of Africa, where the proprietors have from two to three hundred hunters constantly employed. This magnificent collection of the living wonders of Nature in its progress through the country, requires the aid of one hundred and fifty men and horses, including the celebrated Tromont Military Band, from Boston. The whole arranged in three extensive pavilions, containing 120,000 square feet of canvass, and a spacious gallery with seats appropriated exclusively for the accommodation of the ladies. The band will be drawn in a splendid music carriage; and the arrival of the grand procession or cavalcade at each town or village, will be announced by the playing a number of popular airs. In the course of the exhibition, several interesting performances will take place. The celebrated Major Downing, on his Shetland Pony, will enter the ring, and go through his various and laughable feats. The keepers of the Tigris will enter the cages of the Lions, Hyenas, &c., and sport with these fierce animals as familiarly as with the most domesticated dog. There will also be Exhibited on the same Day, a splendid collection of PAINTINGS, and other amusements: See Bills. Admittance 12 1/2 cents. The above will be exhibited in Centreville, on the 8th, and at Denton, on the 12th October. Sept. 22 3t

MARYLAND. Talbot County, Orphans' Court. 18th SEPTEMBER, Anno Domini, 1835. An application of JOSEPH TURNER, Ex'r. of Richard Mills, late of Talbot county, deceased—It is ordered, that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased's estate, and that he cause the same to be published once in each week for the space of three successive weeks, in one of the newspapers printed in the town of Easton. In testimony that the foregoing is truly copied from the minutes of proceedings of Talbot county Orphans' Court, I have hereunto set my hand, and the seal of my office affixed, this 18th day of September, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty-five. Test, JAS. PRICE, Reg'r. of Wills for Talbot county. IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE ABOVE ORDER Notice is hereby given, That the subscriber, of Talbot county, hath obtained from the Orphans' Court of Talbot county, in Maryland, letters of Administration on the personal estate of Richard Mills, late of Talbot county, deceased.—All persons having claims against the said deceased's estate are hereby warned to exhibit the same with the proper vouchers thereof to the subscriber on or before the 31st day of March next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under my hand this 18th day of September, eighteen hundred and thirty-five. JOSEPH TURNER, Ex'r. of Richard Mills, deceased. sept. 19 3w

MR. & MRS. H. have provided their School with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction; Their Philosophical Apparatus is equal to any that can be found in private Seminaries in this country, and their Chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of Minerals though small yet contains upwards of 700 specimens; their Seminary is also furnished with an ARMBLARY SPHERE, CARY'S, WILSON'S and GARDNER'S GLOBES, several PIANOS, and a II RP: the instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country, or in England. The Library contains upwards of 2000 volumes connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have access. In all the departments, the most competent teachers are engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals. The course of instruction is carried on in a regular system of Academic studies, embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches. Parents and Guardians who wish more particular information can obtain a prospectus of the Seminary by sending post paid, to the principals. August 22, 1835. St.

Easton and Baltimore Packet.
THE SPLENDID NEW SLOOP
THOMAS HAYWARD.

WILL commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 18th of February, (weather permitting,) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock of the following Saturday, and continue sailing on those days throughout the season.

The THOMAS HAYWARD was launched last Spring, and has run as a packet for one season, giving general satisfaction as a fine sailer and safe boat. She is fitted up in a highly commodious manner for the accommodation of passengers, with State Rooms for Ladies, and comfortable berths; and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point, and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thos. H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscribers residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessel.

Thankful for the liberal share of patronage he has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same.

The public's obedient servant,
SAMUEL H. BENNY.

Feb 10
N. B. Orders for goods, &c. it is expected, will be accompanied with the cash; those handed to the subscriber by Tuesday evening, will be received at the Drug Store of Messrs. Thos. H. Dawson & Son, where the subscriber will be in waiting until 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning. This request is made in order that the subscriber may be punctual to his hour of sailing.

Persons indebted to the subscriber, are requested to settle by the last day of April, otherwise their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer, as it is not convenient for me to give that personal attention I have hitherto done, being much absent from the county.

FOR ANNAPOLIS, EASTON AND CAMBRIDGE.

THE MARYLAND

WILL go to Annapolis, Cambridge (by Castle Haven) & Easton on every Tuesday & Friday morning, leaving Baltimore at 7 o'clock, from the lower end Dugan's wharf, her usual place of starting.

N. B.—All baggage at the owner's risk.
L. G. TAYLOR.

CLOCK & WATCH

MAKING.
THE subscriber begs leave to inform his customers and the public generally, that he has just received an additional supply of

MATERIALS

in his line of business, which added to his former stock, renders his assortment general and complete, all of which he is prepared to manufacture at the shortest notice and on the most reasonable terms. The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his assiduous attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand

New Watches,
Watch Chains and Keys,
Silver Ever Pated Pencils,
Razors, and Razor Straps,
Shaving and Tooth Brushes,
Penknives, Scissors,
and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for CASH, or in exchange for old gold and silver. The subscriber returns his many thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received, and still desires by strict attention to his business to recapture a share of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant,
JAMES BENNY.

THE FARMER'S & CITIZEN'S

RETREAT.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has taken and fitted up the above named house, formerly occupied by Henry Cliff, in the most pleasant, fashionable, and central part of the town of Easton, where he will at all times be found ready to wait on all those who may think proper to give him a call.

This table will be supplied with the best fare which the market will afford, and his bar furnished with the choicest liquors. His knowledge of the business together with his extensive acquaintance induce him to believe he will be sustained by a generous public.

NEW HOUSE OF

ENTERTAINMENT.
THE subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has opened a House of Entertainment, in Centreville nearly opposite the frame Tavern formerly called White Hall, where he has made ample arrangements for the accommodation of his friends in the above line. His table, bar and stables will be well supplied with whatever the market may afford and the most assiduous attention will be paid to the wants of travellers and all others who may be kind enough to patronize him.

Boarders will be taken by the day, week, month or year, upon moderate terms.

HENRY C. MIDDLETON.

NOTICE.

THE subscriber has opened a house of public entertainment at that long established tavern house, the property of John Leeds Kerr, Esq. in the town of Easton, known by the name of the UNION TAVERN.

He pledges himself to keep the best table the market will afford, good beers, and careful ostlers, and to bestow all the attention he is capable of, for the comfort and happiness of those who may favor him with a call. From his experience in that line of business for many years, and his untiring disposition to please, he flatters himself that those who may be good enough to give him a trial will become his patrons.

TAILORING.

THE subscriber presents his grateful acknowledgements to the inhabitants of Easton and the adjoining counties, for the flattering patronage he has met with, since he commenced the above business, and begs leave to inform them that he has just returned from Baltimore with

A NEW MODE OF CUTTING,
That has never been practised in Easton; but one, that is almost universally used in Baltimore and in the best establishments; he has also engaged a

FIRST RATE WORKMAN,
that none can surpass; which will enable him to meet the demands of gentlemen for any kind of garments cut and made in the first style. His work shall be warranted to fit in all cases; otherwise he pays them for their goods or makes them over to others. He respectfully solicits a continuance of the favors of a generous public.

Multitude of Engravings, INCLUDING

Portraits of Celebrated Winning HORSES, Philosophical and Natural Phenomena.

LEGERDEMAIN, & C.

IT is now six months since this publication was commenced in Philadelphia—and although the publishers have used no extraneous means to circulate a knowledge of its merits, yet such is the satisfaction manifested by that portion of the public who have been made acquainted with its character and contents, that its list of patrons continues constantly and rapidly to increase. This paper is now distributed regularly every week over a wide portion of the Union, and the most satisfactory assurances are received that it will eventually become one of the most popular among the numerous excellent periodicals which issue from the American press. No exertions will be spared to establish its permanent reputation more extensively; and if the liberal sanction of those for whom it is especially designed shall warrant, its future improvement—both as regards typographical neatness and embellishment—will be materially advanced.

THE DIFFERENT PLAYS AND FARCES that will appear in the course of a year, of themselves, will be worth more than FOUR times the amount of subscription.—The following is a list of those which have already appeared:—

- Charles the First
- She a Brigand
- The Hunchback
- The Deep, Deep Sea
- Cheap Living
- Shakespeare's Early Days
- Henri Quatre
- Quite Correct
- Beggar of Bethnal Green
- Husbands and Wives
- Man of Ten Thousand
- The Ladies' Man
- Ill Tell You What
- The Golden Farmer
- Speculation
- Olympic Devils
- Englishman in India
- Shakespeare Festival
- The East India
- My Friend the Governor
- Victims
- The Emperor
- The Child of Nature
- The Recreator
- The Duel
- The Sisters
- Vidocq
- Hernani

THE MSS. copy of the IRISH MESSIAH, the favorite and highly interesting Drama in which TYRONE POWER so successfully amused the public, as SIR PATRICK O'LENIPO, has been obtained by the publishers, and will be published, and be published forthwith.

THE SPORTING INTELLIGENCE (at home and abroad) occupies a considerable portion of our columns, and is connected from the most authentic sources.—Among the Portraits of celebrated Winning Horses which have been given, are—

- The American Trotting Horse, EDWIN FORREST.
- The Imported Racing Horse, Messenger.
- The favorite Racing Mare, ARIEL, and her FOAL, by ECLIPSE.
- Bond's celebrated Trotting Horse, NORFOLK PHENOMENON.
- The well known English Race Horse, TOUCHSTONE.

A CORRECT PICTURE OF A RACE COURSE, occupying the width of seven columns.

AMONG A VARIETY OF OTHER ENSEMBLINGS of subjects of interests which have been published, are the following:—

A complete treatise on RIDING, with FOURTEEN ILLUSTRATIONS, for the improvement of Ladies in that most healthy of all exercises.

Explanation of the AUTOMATON CHESS PLAYER, illustrated by ELEVEN ENGRAVINGS.

THE SUBJECTS WHICH ARE PARTICULARLY embraced in the VADE MECUM will be more distinctly understood from the following summary of them:—

The Turf and all matters connected therewith.
On the Structure and Character of the Horse.
On the Improvement of Horned Cattle.
Rules for Novices in Shooting.
Methods for Feeding and Training Dogs.
Biographies of celebrated Horses, with their Portraits.

Hunting, Fishing, Fowling, &c.
Approved Games, from Hoyle and others.
Criticism on Plays and Actors.
The most popular Songs, set to music.
The Art of Legerdemain Illustrated.
A variety of Receipts adapted to Domestic Economy.
An Epitome of important passing events.
Gentlemen's quarterly Review of the Fashion.

THE VADE MECUM IS PRINTED ON LARGE imperial paper, of a beautiful white texture, and is published every Saturday, at Three Dollars per annum, in advance. Orders from abroad, postage paid, will be promptly attended to, and the paper carefully packed to prevent it from rubbing by mail.

THE MODERN ACTING DRAMA—A volume of about 300 pages—containing the PLAYS, FARCES, &c. which appear in the Vade Mecum, neatly printed and bound in elastic covers, for transportation—is published every six weeks. Eight volumes will constitute a set, or one years subscription, the terms for which is three dollars, payable in advance.

Subscribers to the Vade Mecum are entitled to a deduction of one-third. An order for four sets will be thankfully received, and the work forwarded to and directed, by enclosing a ten dollar note—postage paid.

A PREMIUM CONSISTING OF TWO VOLUMES, 500 pages each, of the Novelist's Magazine, containing eight different Novels, by the most popular authors, will be presented to the Agent who shall procure four names to the Modern Acting Drama, or the Gentlemen's Vade Mecum, and remit the amount of one year's subscription for each.

Gentlemen wishing to subscribe to either of the above works, will be glad to address CHARLES ALEXANDER, No. 3 Atholnem Buildings, Franklin Place, Philadelphia, aug. 22, 1835.

Republic of Letters.

THE fifty second number of the Republic of Letters closed the first year of the work. It was commenced as an experiment—the liberal patronage it has received, as well as the favor bestowed upon other works of the like kind which has followed in its track, shows that the plan of the work is approved, and has given it a permanency which induces the publishers to make such improvements and alterations as he believes will be acceptable to subscribers, and give it a further claim, upon the reading community.

The publisher has the pleasure of stating that the work will hereafter be edited by

MRS. A. H. NICHOLAS
In making the necessary selections for the Republic of Letters, Mrs. Nicholas will receive the aid and advice of Edward Everett, Gulian C. Verplanck, Charles F. Hoffman, &c.

The change in the form of the work, from quarto to octavo, has met with the approbation of all the subscribers with whom the publisher has been enabled to confer.

The work will be published weekly, as usual, at 61 cents each number, or three dollars per year to those who receive their work by mail and pay in advance.—Each number will contain 32 pages.

Postmasters throughout the United States are requested to act as Agents—the work will be charged to them $2.50 per year.

The first two volumes, comprising the first year, contain the following works, (each work being complete and entire) and may be had bound or in numbers:—

- The Man of Feeling, by Mackenzie.—The Vicar of Wakefield, by Goldsmith.—The Tales of the Hall, by Crabbe.—The Letters of Lady Wortley Montague.—Rasselas, by Dr. Johnson.—Castle of Otranto, by Horace Walpole.—The Old English Baron, by Clara Reeve.—Dr. Franklin's Life and Essays, by himself.—Lights & Shadows of Scottish Life.—The adventures of Gil Blas, from the French of Le Sage, by Smollet.—Julia de Roubrin, by Mackenzie.—Mazeppa, by Lord Byron.—The Trapeistrial Chamber, by Walter Scott.—The Dream of Eugene Aram, by Hood.—Zeuco by Dr. Moore.—Essays, moral, economical, and political by the Lord Chancellor Bacon.—Chevy Chase—L'Allegre, by Milton.—Hesperus, by Milton.—Italian and Spanish Almanack.—The history of Charles XII, by Voltaire.—Manfred, by Lord Byron.—A's Bride, A Tale by T. THE LADY'S BOOK.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF LITERATURE AND FASHIONS.

THE LADY'S BOOK was the first publication in this country to introduce and perfect a taste for COLORED PLATES OF THE FASHIONS; and the universal popularity which the book obtained, with the aid of the beautiful and costly embellishments, although they appeared every quarter only, was unprecedented and unexampled.—The publisher, emboldened by his long experience, and the success which has crowned his former efforts to signalise his work, intends, with the coming volumes, to introduce alternately every month, in the course of the year, SIX SPLENDID PLATES OF THE FASHIONS, SUPERBLY COLOURED.

The engaging and popularly furnished expressly for that purpose; thereby furnishing the patrons of the work with correct and constant information of the latest and most approved styles for ladies' dresses, as they come out. This arrangement will add considerably to the publisher's present heavy outlay; and while it will materially advance the value and beauty of his work, he trusts with confidence to the liberality of a discerning public for future remuneration, corresponding with his exertions and unrelaxing efforts to keep pace with the rapid progress of the improvements of the age. The following is the order which will be adopted for the Embellishments of the Lady's Book for 1835, viz: January, March, May, July, September, November, SUPERS ENGRAVINGS.

PREVAILING FASHIONS, ELEGANTLY COLORED.

With the June and December numbers will be furnished appropriately ENGRAVED TITLE PAGES, and a general Table of Contents for each Volume. February, April, June, August, October, December, FINE STEEL ENGRAVINGS.

Illustrating a variety of Interesting Subjects.

Besides every number will be enriched with a Plate from the PORTRAIT GALLERY, containing the Likenesses of two distinguished individuals. In addition to which, other and various Engravings will be regularly added—with two Pages of POPULAR MUSIC.

The publisher has at present in the hands of an excellent artist a steel Engraving, which will contain a likeness of all the present reigning Queens of Europe, which will be given as an extra in the January No.

To meet these expensive engagements, it is absolutely necessary that remittances should be promptly made. At the end of the last six months, nearly six hundred names were erased from our list, in consequence of its appearing from the books that each owed two years' subscription. Many have since paid, and some have previously settled with agents. These and other grievous inconveniences a publisher has to encounter, which should, as far as the Agent is concerned, be remedied by his rendering an account of all the sums that he has received, at least once every six months. Subscribers become annoyed when their names are erased for delinquency; & when they settle, they will not again renew their subscription. This, consequently, is a serious loss to the proprietor. The following suggestions are respectfully tendered for the consideration of persons who are now in arrears: Let those who owe two years, or that will owe two in December or June next, send a Five Dollar note, on account. Many refrain from forwarding their dues because they cannot remit the exact sum; this is not necessary, if they continue their subscription. It is only when a person stops the work, that a liquidation of the whole amount due becomes necessary.

GALLERY OF PORTRAITS.—Under this head will be published every month, likenesses of distinguished Authors in this country and in Europe. Striking resemblances of Bulwer, Brougham, Hogg, Cunningham, &c. &c. have been given. The following are now ready for press, and will be published two in each number until the whole is completed: Shelley, Lewis, Moore, Coleridge, Rogers, Byron, Keble, Southey, Jane Porter, Campbell, Ross, & Southey, &c.

Fac similes of the writing of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Byron Scott, and other distinguished persons, have already appeared. Those of Napoleon, Franklin, La Fayette, &c. &c. are in preparation.

The publication of views of beautiful scenery and remarkable public edifices, will be continued as heretofore.

Every number of the work contains forty-eight large octavo pages, printed on fine white paper, the whole neatly stitched in covers. The postage for each number is 3 cents for any distance under 100 miles—5 cents, over.

To convince persons wishing to subscribe for the Lady's Book, that it is equal in point of embellishments, the interest of its contents, and general beauty of appearance, to the descriptions repeatedly given at large, and the flattering notices that have been issued by editors in different sections of the Union, the publisher will forward any monthly number as a specimen, by sending him a letter, post paid.

The work will in future be published and delivered on the first of each month, in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Charleston—In New Orleans about the 5th.

Subscribers missing a number, will please inform the publisher, free of postage, and a duplicate will be sent them.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION, 3 dollars per annum, payable in advance. Postmasters and Agents can have two copies forwarded to any direction, by advancing five dollars.

THE SILK CULTURIST.

THE Executive Committee of the Hartford county Silk Society, have commenced a monthly publication, called the Silk Culturist and Farmers Manual.

The object of the publication is to disseminate a thorough knowledge of the cultivation of the Mulberry Tree, in all its varieties.—The rearing of Silk Worms.—The production of Coccons and the Reeling of Silk, in the most approved method. The importance of the knowledge will appear from the fact that the net profit of land devoted to the culture of Silk is double, if not triple, to that derived from any other crop which can be put upon it. It is also a fact, that every moderate farmer can raise several hundred dollars worth of Silk, without interfering with his ordinary agricultural operations. But in order to avail himself of this facility to obtain competency and wealth, which our soil and climate have given him, he must possess himself of information on the subject—far without it his attempts will be fruitless. It is, therefore, the object of the Committee to diffuse this information as extensively as possible; and at the cheapest rate. The publication will contain a complete manual or directory from sowing the seed to reeling the Silk, together with such facts and experience, as will enable farmers to raise Silk and prepare it for market without further knowledge or assistance. It will also contain interesting matter on agricultural subjects in general.

TERMS.—The Culturist will be published in monthly numbers of Eight Quarto Pages at FIFTY CENTS a year. No subscription will be received unless paid in advance, and for no less than a year.

Subscriptions received by F. G. Comstock, Secretary, Hartford, Conn., to whom also Communications may be addressed, which, post paid, will be attended to.

Editors who will copy the above, shall receive the publication for one year.

CASH and very liberal prices will at all times be given for SLAVES.

All communications will be promptly attended to, if left at SIMMONS' HOTEL, Water street, at their residence on Gallows Hill, near the Missionary Church—the house is white.

...of our Washington, the Father of his Country, prompts me to make this communication, and to request its publication in your paper.

"Yours, respectfully,
A CITIZEN."

This virtuous and patriotic citizen, who, it seems, is not a friend to the Administration, and has, as belonging to the opposite party, had his claims upon the Whig's columns allowed—is thus commended, in advance, by the following preface to his article by the Editor of the Whig:

"He is the only one we have found who sees things in the light he does. Native Southerners generally differ from him, and will act for themselves."

The Editor then adds another communication of a column, by way of answer to a Citizen, favoring the convention of merchants, which closes with the following as the most urgent reason for it. It is so plain and striking in itself, as to render all comment unnecessary.

The supporter of the Whig's project says:—"In the third place, let us for a moment look at our General Government. Its principles are utterly intangible and undefeatable. It is without parallel—neither one thing nor another. From the time of Mr. Monroe's amalgamation of the old parties, I foresaw with, as I thought, prophetic eyes, the speedy downfall of this country. A community like ours, must ever have its parties. These are necessary to its existence; but they should be organized upon settled principles, not men, who are ever liable to change. No matter what the principles may be called, so they are correctly defined, clearly understood, and consistently pursued. Our parties should never exceed two, if it is possible to keep them within these narrow limits: as thereby they will be made more familiar, and better suited to the capacity of the people. Under the influence of these views, I look upon our beloved country, with its physical advantages and moral and intellectual resources, as promising more real happiness to its inhabitants, than any other part of the earth; but upon the verge of the most terrific war ever experienced by any people; and all the result of the machinations of selfish, designing men."

They found there Mr. Pendergast, one of the proprietors, whom they compelled to escort them to the residence of Dr. Verner, the editor; but finding the doctor had escaped, they brought Pendergast towards the police office—where he was very nearly in danger of being seized by the mob and being lynched, had it not been for the timely interference of the criminal court; and members of the legislature. The conduct of Messrs. Pendergast, Mazureau and Cononge deserved the highest praise, in maintaining the supremacy of the laws.

Pendergast was taken from the grasp of the mob, and confined in jail. But Verner escaped on the rail-road to the lake, whether he was pursued—and yet in vain. As the latter is the only offender, and as a proprietor of a paper should never be held individually responsible for the conduct of his editor, the former might with propriety and justice be liberated—and an amende honorable to the legion be required in his stead.

It is to be deeply regretted that any event should have prevented the restoration of public tranquility—particularly any remarks against the legion, which had not been so complimented by the city council, but whose members were immediately to have been fended a public dinner by their fellow citizens of the upper half-bourgeois, for their energetic and useful conduct as conservatives of the peace, and whose general had actually issued orders with compliments that their services were not to be further required.

The Richmond Enquirer, in copying the letter of Postmaster General Cass, which appears to have shocked the nerves of some of our politicians, has in this quarter, introduces to the attention of its readers the following pertinent extract from the printed correspondence of Thomas Jefferson. It will be seen that Mr. Kendall had high authority for the offensive sentiment he recently advanced—that where the laws operate to the destruction of a community, it is patriotism to disobey them. We wonder how many persons there are in this community that would obey a law, the operation of which was bringing certain destruction on the country—in this section of the United States.

"The question you propose, whether citizens should not sometimes occur which make it a duty in officers of high trust to disobey the laws, is a question of high importance in principle, but sometimes embarrassing in practice. A strict observance of the written laws is doubtless one of the highest duties of a good citizen; but it is not the highest—of our country when in danger, are of higher obligation. To lose our country by a strict adherence to written law, would be to lose the law itself, with life, liberty, property, and all the other rights which are the end of the law. When, in the battle of Germantown, Gen. Mifflin's army was annoyed from Chase's invasion, he did not hesitate to plant his cannon against it, although the property of a citizen. When he besieged York Town, he levelled the suburb, feeling that the laws of property must be postponed to the safety of the nation. While that army was before York, the Governor of Virginia took horses, carriages, provisions, and even men by force, to enable that army to stay to get them until it could master the public enemy; and he was justified." After citing these examples to illustrate the principle, he proceeds—"They do not go to the case of persons charged with petty duties, who sometimes are trifling, and time allowed for a legal course, nor to authorize them to take such cases out of the written law. In these the example of overlooking the law is of greater evil than a strict adherence to its imperfect provisions. It is incumbent on those only who accept of great charges, to risk themselves on great occasions, when the safety of the nation, or some of its high interests are at stake. An officer is bound to obey orders, yet he would be a bad one who should do it in cases for which they were not intended, and which involved the most important consequences. The line of discrimination between cases may be difficult; but the good officer is bound to draw it at his own peril, and throw himself on the justice of his country and the rectitude of his motives."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Last evening, as Mr. Wm. Smith and Mr. Jacob Reil of this city, who had gone to the Narragansett on a hunting excursion, had seated themselves in their wagon to return, the son of the young man who had accidentally discharged, while he was in the act of getting into the wagon to join his companions, the contents passed through the head of Mr. Smith, who instantly expired. A wife and three young children are by this sudden dispensation, deprived of their natural protection and support."

The Brooklyn Advertiser of Wednesday says:—"Last evening, as Mr. Wm. Smith and Mr. Jacob Reil of this city, who had gone to the Narragansett on a hunting excursion, had seated themselves in their wagon to return, the son of the young man who had accidentally discharged, while he was in the act of getting into the wagon to join his companions, the contents passed through the head of Mr. Smith, who instantly expired. A wife and three young children are by this sudden dispensation, deprived of their natural protection and support."

Another affair at New Orleans, produced by the injudicious conduct of one of the Editors of that place, is detailed in the papers. We extract the following account of it from the New-Orleans Bee. It appears from a statement in the True American, that some of the most respectable houses in New Orleans, and several insurance and other Companies have withdrawn their patronage from the Louisiana Advertiser, in consequence of the course of its editor, and it is highly probable that the loss in the subscription list will prove fatal to the establishment, unless a speedy restoration to public favor is effected by a more popular course on the part of the proprietor of the paper.

From the New Orleans Bee.

We have to record a transaction of yesterday, as one of an unusual and unpleasant kind—one which we cannot well conceal nor justify.

For some time past in this city, sectional and national feelings of an improper tendency have been excited by remarks made on naturalized citizens as foreigners; so that the public mind was as strongly wound up on this subject as another almost simultaneously excited—but of intelligence, with adverse prospects. Both were alike injurious to the peace, to the political and social order of our community; and most members of the legion were aggrieved by those remarks & the feelings improperly engendered against them, as strangers in the land. It has also been formerly alleged against them by the same person and parties, that they would have recanted to America, had a war unfortunately occurred with France.

Feeling of an embittered nature being thus wantonly excited during the past few months, the slightest circumstances were sufficient to inflame them. They had negatively appeared on the 5th of July, and yesterday they might have been violently displayed, but for the good sense and proper spirit of the members of the legion.

This was occasioned by some remarks in the Louisiana Advertiser of yesterday morning—the same paper in which many of the former animadversions on our Gallic-American citizens were published; but which has since changed proprietors and editor, who have generally hitherto adopted a very different course, and endeavored to assist the Bee in maintaining the rights and privileges of all classes of citizens distinct from birthplace or language.

Yesterday however Dr. Verner singularly forgot his principles of editorial policy and prudence; and made some wanton comments—as specimens of wit rather than malevolence or designed calumnies—on the conduct of the legion pending the riots of Sunday last. This was the same as casting a brand in a powder magazine. The members of the legion, during four days given their whole time and means to preserve the peace of the city and save those who would have violated it under the semblance of Americanism, in opposition to naturalized citizens enjoying offices of preference in the country, or slaves or colored persons being taught mechanical trades.

The legion had acted wisely and well, strenuously and cordially for the maintenance of peace in the city at large.

Think then what must have been their feelings after having been voted a standard worth two thousand dollars by the corporation; having palpably disproved the illiberal accusations made against them by interested agitators, and after having merited and received the approbation of a large majority of their fellow citizens—to be insulted by one whom they had believed their friend.

The members of the legion were of course aggrieved by the feelings of their friends were more inflamed. Groups congregated to consider the matter; and the angry effluvia of wounded feeling proffered. Many members of the legion repaired to the office of the Louisiana Advertiser for the purpose of apprehending the editor; and preventing worse effects. They went in their capacity as citizens solely; not for the purpose of exciting a disturbance; but to control circumstances which might otherwise be in the power of the mob.

They found there Mr. Pendergast, one of the proprietors, whom they compelled to escort them to the residence of Dr. Verner, the editor; but finding the doctor had escaped, they brought Pendergast towards the police office—where he was very nearly in danger of being seized by the mob and being lynched, had it not been for the timely interference of the criminal court; and members of the legislature. The conduct of Messrs. Pendergast, Mazureau and Cononge deserved the highest praise, in maintaining the supremacy of the laws.

Pendergast was taken from the grasp of the mob, and confined in jail. But Verner escaped on the rail-road to the lake, whether he was pursued—and yet in vain. As the latter is the only offender, and as a proprietor of a paper should never be held individually responsible for the conduct of his editor, the former might with propriety and justice be liberated—and an amende honorable to the legion be required in his stead.

It is to be deeply regretted that any event should have prevented the restoration of public tranquility—particularly any remarks against the legion, which had not been so complimented by the city council, but whose members were immediately to have been fended a public dinner by their fellow citizens of the upper half-bourgeois, for their energetic and useful conduct as conservatives of the peace, and whose general had actually issued orders with compliments that their services were not to be further required.

The Richmond Enquirer, in copying the letter of Postmaster General Cass, which appears to have shocked the nerves of some of our politicians, has in this quarter, introduces to the attention of its readers the following pertinent extract from the printed correspondence of Thomas Jefferson. It will be seen that Mr. Kendall had high authority for the offensive sentiment he recently advanced—that where the laws operate to the destruction of a community, it is patriotism to disobey them. We wonder how many persons there are in this community that would obey a law, the operation of which was bringing certain destruction on the country—in this section of the United States.

"The question you propose, whether citizens should not sometimes occur which make it a duty in officers of high trust to disobey the laws, is a question of high importance in principle, but sometimes embarrassing in practice. A strict observance of the written laws is doubtless one of the highest duties of a good citizen; but it is not the highest—of our country when in danger, are of higher obligation. To lose our country by a strict adherence to written law, would be to lose the law itself, with life, liberty, property, and all the other rights which are the end of the law. When, in the battle of Germantown, Gen. Mifflin's army was annoyed from Chase's invasion, he did not hesitate to plant his cannon against it, although the property of a citizen. When he besieged York Town, he levelled the suburb, feeling that the laws of property must be postponed to the safety of the nation. While that army was before York, the Governor of Virginia took horses, carriages, provisions, and even men by force, to enable that army to stay to get them until it could master the public enemy; and he was justified." After citing these examples to illustrate the principle, he proceeds—"They do not go to the case of persons charged with petty duties, who sometimes are trifling, and time allowed for a legal course, nor to authorize them to take such cases out of the written law. In these the example of overlooking the law is of greater evil than a strict adherence to its imperfect provisions. It is incumbent on those only who accept of great charges, to risk themselves on great occasions, when the safety of the nation, or some of its high interests are at stake. An officer is bound to obey orders, yet he would be a bad one who should do it in cases for which they were not intended, and which involved the most important consequences. The line of discrimination between cases may be difficult; but the good officer is bound to draw it at his own peril, and throw himself on the justice of his country and the rectitude of his motives."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Last evening, as Mr. Wm. Smith and Mr. Jacob Reil of this city, who had gone to the Narragansett on a hunting excursion, had seated themselves in their wagon to return, the son of the young man who had accidentally discharged, while he was in the act of getting into the wagon to join his companions, the contents passed through the head of Mr. Smith, who instantly expired. A wife and three young children are by this sudden dispensation, deprived of their natural protection and support."

The Brooklyn Advertiser of Wednesday says:—"Last evening, as Mr. Wm. Smith and Mr. Jacob Reil of this city, who had gone to the Narragansett on a hunting excursion, had seated themselves in their wagon to return, the son of the young man who had accidentally discharged, while he was in the act of getting into the wagon to join his companions, the contents passed through the head of Mr. Smith, who instantly expired. Another affair at New Orleans, produced by the injudicious conduct of one of the Editors of that place, is detailed in the papers. We extract the following account of it from the New-Orleans Bee. It appears from a statement in the True American, that some of the most respectable houses in New Orleans, and several insurance and other Companies have withdrawn their patronage from the Louisiana Advertiser, in consequence of the course of its editor, and it is highly probable that the loss in the subscription list will prove fatal to the establishment, unless a speedy restoration to public favor is effected by a more popular course on the part of the proprietor of the paper.

From the New Orleans Bee.

We have to record a transaction of yesterday, as one of an unusual and unpleasant kind—one which we cannot well conceal nor justify.

For some time past in this city, sectional and national feelings of an improper tendency have been excited by remarks made on naturalized citizens as foreigners; so that the public mind was as strongly wound up on this subject as another almost simultaneously excited—but of intelligence, with adverse prospects. Both were alike injurious to the peace, to the political and social order of our community; and most members of the legion were aggrieved by those remarks & the feelings improperly engendered against them, as strangers in the land. It has also been formerly alleged against them by the same person and parties, that they would have recanted to America, had a war unfortunately occurred with France.

Feeling of an embittered nature being thus wantonly excited during the past few months, the slightest circumstances were sufficient to inflame them. They had negatively appeared on the 5th of July, and yesterday they might have been violently displayed, but for the good sense and proper spirit of the members of the legion.

From the Missouri (St. Louis) Argus.

Under this head, the Herald of this city takes occasion to say that the statements of the Louisiana Advertiser are falsities of the barefaced character; and to prove it, advert to the Judge's prospects in Missouri. As the Advertiser comes to us so irregularly, we are willing that our friend Penn should receive a slight chastisement for any offence against the Federalists, real or imaginary, of which by them he may be supposed to be guilty. But in this case, when he says, "scarce the semblance of a White party exists in Missouri," and the Herald pronounces the assertion at variance with the truth, should we hold our peace, the very stones would cry out against us. It is not the Herald's "what are the facts?" It is not a fact that Gen. Ashley was publicly known as a White man. On almost all political questions, as much as possible, he avoided comment. He took great pains in his speeches through the several counties, to assure the people of his true friendship for Gen. Jackson; and in his circular, directly pledged himself, in case of the devolving of the election of President upon the House of Representatives, to vote for that person who should receive the electoral vote of Missouri—but who was his first choice for President was carefully kept out of view. Indeed, the Republican itself, some time after the election, remarked that Birch avowed himself in favor of White, and he believed that Gen. Ashley entertained the same preference. As the "Republican," the old organ of the federal party, a paper more patronised and more circulated than all the rest of the federal press in Missouri, was not sure after the election, but believed that Gen. Ashley was in favor of White. But the Republican and its party will not support White. They are, and for a time will remain uncommitted, unless they may be said to be committed, for Webster. They have no intention of losing the benefit of their position by suddenly taking sides. They will await the tide of events. Birch and Gen. Ashley, however, will unite with the great body of their party in the nation, in any movement which may then be thought advisable. As to Birch, instead of being within 1,500 votes of Harrison, he—only received, in the 40 counties heard from—and there is but one more, that is against strong Birch—a fraction over 3,000 votes out of about 24,000 votes polled. And as to the Jackson party, having any intention to vote for Judge White, it is ridiculous. We repeat what we have said before, that we do not know a single original Jackson man in Missouri; that is in favor of Judge White, and we are extensively acquainted. We ask the Herald to name one in all St. Louis county.

Neither do we know ten men of any party that have declared boldly and unconditionally for White. The whole of the federal party in Missouri, like their leaders, know not whom to support. All they know is, that White, Harrison and Webster all want their votes, and that it would be the sin unpardonable to give their vote to Martin Van Buren, the magician of Kinderhook.

It is, then, a fact, an undeniable truth, that scarcely the semblance of a party for White exists in the State of Missouri. Jackson, Van Buren and Johnson, are all of them favorites of our people, and no White man can alienate their affection.

CAPITAL TRIAL—CONVICTION OF ABRAHAM PRESCOTT.

It may perhaps interest people of New Hampshire, particularly from this neighborhood, located in Boston, to learn, through the Atlas that Abraham Prescott, (under an indictment since September, 1833, for the murder of Mrs. Sally Cochran, at Pembroke, on Sunday, the 23rd day of June, 1833,) was this day declared by the Jury Guilty of the charge, and in all probability will suffer the punishment by law affixed to that crime, and it is the only offence which, by the laws of New Hampshire, is punishable with DEATH. The prisoner was indicted in September, 1833, and trial postponed to the ensuing February. At that time, by reason of the inclement season, the difficulty of conveying aged witnesses to this town from the lower part of the State, and the non-attendance of gentlemen of the faculty attached to the Insane Hospital of Charlestown, Pepprell and Worcester, the Court postponed the trial until September, 1834, and at that time, as you may be aware a verdict of GUILTY was returned, after a full and fair trial of four days duration; but the fact that the Jury were located at a public house, and through the remissness of the Deputy Sheriffs are not sufficient removed from the conversation of the multitude, the verdict has not been concluded, commencing on Tuesday last. It was had last September in North Meeting House; this term, in the County Court House, except the arguments of counsel and the charge, which was believed in the Baptist church.

This is one of the very few capital trials ever had in this State; and at both times has drawn crowded assemblages of people. Messrs. Ichabod Barfield and Charles H. Peaslee, Esqs., counsel for prisoner; the solicitor, John Whipple, Esq. and the Hon. George Sullivan, for the State.

As this case, here and elsewhere, has created great interest, as it has drawn out a larger amount of facts touching insanity than most any other on the judicial records of New England, and the books being with untiring industry searched for cases of monomania, madness, morbid delusion, and insanity, I may, perhaps not be thought to exceed the bounds of a letter, in stating that the prisoners, then about 18 years old, living with Mr. Chauncey Cochran, in the adjoining town of Pembroke, arose early on Monday morning, the 6th of January, 1833; and with an axe proceeded to the sleeping room of Mr. Cochran and inflicted in the dark, several blows upon Mr. Cochran and his wife, nearly killed him and severely wounding his wife. He alarmed the mother of Mr. C. and stated that he believed he had done some injury; and that he arose in his sleep and did the deed, affected sorrow therefor, &c. These facts were published at the time, and passed off, as a remarkable case of "Somnambulism." Prescott continued to live in the family, and on Sunday, June 23, with a stake, in a retired part of a field, not a great distance from the house, smote down and killed Mrs. Cochran, young and beautiful, the mother of the two children, the pride of her husband, a loved member of a rural neighborhood in quiet New England. He proceeded to the house, and Mr. Cochran, who was engaged reading Avery's trial, and for that reason had declined going into the field, and never entertained the least suspicion of any foul play.

When he recovered from his stupor, Mrs. C. Deceased had expressed a wish, it seems, about 9 o'clock, to step into an adjacent field and pick strawberries. Prisoner (Mrs. C. being engaged in the kitchen) went to Cochran and informed him to that effect; but he being engaged as above stated, declined, and Prescott, against whom neither C. nor wife suspected aught, accompanied her; and as supposed, offered her violence in a retired part of the field. No house was in sight—it was a retired place, and yet a female might have gone as far as she did without shadowing her own character, or been thought wanting in perception, not to seem to have suspected three or four rods by the head, into some bushes, and there found about ten o'clock, by the astonished and weeping neighbors. Messrs. Wyman, of the Insane Hospital, Charlestown, Mr. Cutler, of Pepprell, and a gentleman, connected with the Worcester Hospital, were present, and examined at much length. The prisoner has been ably defended. The arguments of the counsel and charge occupied the court from nine o'clock, A. M. until seven P. M. Verdict given this morning at nine.

RUMORED DUELS AT RIO.—In reference to the account which lately appeared in a New York paper setting forth that one or more fatal duels had taken place among the misshapen men attached to the Peacock, while that vessel lay at Rio, the "Army and Navy Chronicle" has the following paragraph:

Upon inquiry at the Navy Department; we learn that no report has been made by the commander of the Peacock, of any duel having occurred while that ship was at Rio; and yet it would have been his duty to report the circumstance, the more especially if it had resulted in the death of an officer.

The Peacock having sailed from Rio for the East Indies, and no duel having been reported to the Department, we would hope that the statement is incorrect of a duel that did take place between two misshapen men of the Peacock, which resulted in the death of one of them, John Banister, of Virginia.—Army and Navy Chronicle.

Accident.—A sad accident took place on Monday afternoon in Ipswich, Mass., the circumstances of which are as follows:—Walter Steadman, of Boston, went to Ipswich on a shooting excursion. While reclining on the grass, with his fowling piece by his side, the muzzle towards him, he saw a flock of birds, and while raising it from the ground, the gun was accidentally discharged, the entire contents passing through his head, and causing his death in about three hours. Mr. Steadman, who was about 24 years of age, and had been employed for several years in the mercantile house of Freeman, Fisher & Co.

The New York Star advises the use of the word steamer as preferable to steamboat. The editor of the Star thinks it the more grammatical epithet of the two, and cites the universal usage of England, where the word steamer is never heard. His explanation of this point is not satisfactory. A tea kettle is a steamer. Moreover, as applied to boats, it is of cockney origin, and has to our ears an especially objectionable sound. We much prefer it to Capt. Marryat's designation, who in his last work says he went from London to Oxford in a "Smoker."—Baltimore American.

FROM FRENCH PAPERS.

The following extracts from several of the journals will serve to show the general state of opinion in relation to the new laws proposed for the better regulation of the press.—N. Y. Com.

From Le Temps. It is with the deepest sorrow and a feeling of shame and humiliation that we have read the savage code decreed yesterday by M. Peral to the Chamber of Deputies; then it will be said that France is unworthy to enjoy freedom; that at intervals of four or five years we become weary of liberty which has been granted to us or ourselves have won; and that liberty becomes worthless to us merely by existing a few years like garment that has gone out of fashion.

From Le Temps. Let the people be warned! The counter-revolution is triumphant, yesterday it gained possession of the tribune. We see the system of confiscations re-established, the trial by jury openly attacked. This

We would particularly invite the attention of our readers to the notice of "one of the commissioners" calling a meeting of the school commissioners of the county. If any thing were wanting to show the general hostility of the Federalists to the school law, this notice, we think, would be sufficient.

The people must look to this matter or they will be laughed to scorn after the election is over; and by those very men who profess to be the friends of primary schools.

Throughout the State the prospects of success seem very favorable to the triumph of democracy, and our friends in every quarter, are working with a zeal that must crown their exertions with success.

From the tone of the French Journals, in relation to the new code of laws proposed for their future regulation, and which were published in our last, we fear that this unhappy country is doomed to undergo another revolution.

It will be seen by an article under this caption from the Globe, in another column of our paper, the course the south is urged to assume against the North, and to which we call particular attention.

MARYLAND.

Talbot County, Orphans' Court. 18th SEPTEMBER, Anno Domini, 1835.

On application of JOSEPH TURNER, Ex'r. of Richard Mills, late of Talbot County, deceased—It is ordered, that he give the notice required by law for creditors to exhibit their claims against the said deceased's estate, and that he cause the same to be published once in each week for the space of three successive weeks, in one of the newspapers printed in the town of Easton.

In testimony that the foregoing is truly copied from the minutes of proceedings of Talbot County Orphans' Court, I have hereunto set my hand, and the seal of my office, affixed, this 18th day of September, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty-five.

Test, JAS. PRICE, Reg'r. of Wills for Talbot County.

IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE ABOVE ORDER, Notice is hereby given, That the subscriber, of Talbot County, hath obtained from the Orphans' Court of Talbot County, in Maryland, letters of Administration on the personal estate of Richard Mills, late of Talbot County, deceased.—All persons having claims against the said deceased's estate, are hereby warned to exhibit the same with the proper vouchers thereunto, to the subscriber on or before the 30th day of March next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate.

Given under my hand this 18th day of September, eighteen hundred and thirty-five. JOSEPH TURNER, Ex'r. of Richard Mills, deceased.

BY virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Talbot County, I will sell at the front door of the Court House in Easton, at 3 o'clock, on Tuesday the 6th day of October next, the wearing apparel of Lieutenant George W. Garey, dec'd., consisting in part of a very valuable Gold Watch, chain, and seal, several good cloth coats, pantaloons, vests, &c. And at ten o'clock, on the following day, I will sell at the late residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Garey, dec'd., in the Trappe, all the personal estate of the dec'd., (negroes and wearing apparel excepted) consisting of household and kitchen furniture, &c. also a good Gig & horse, horse-car, and many other articles too tedious to mention.

A credit of six months will be given on all sums over five dollars, the purchasers giving notes with approved security, bearing interest from the days of sale; on all sums of and under five dollars the cash will be required.

JOS. R. PRICE, Adm'r. with the will annexed of Lieut. George W. Garey dec'd., and Adm'r. of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Garey, also dec'd. Sept. 22—18

NOTICE. The subscriber has opened a house of public entertainment, at that long established tavern house, the property of John Leese Kerr, Esq. in the town of Easton, known by the name of the UNION TAVERN. He pledges himself to keep the best table the market will afford, good beds, and careful waiters, and to bestow all the attention he is capable of, for the comfort and happiness of those who may favor him with a call. From his experience in that line of business for many years, and his untiring disposition to please, he flatters himself that those who may be good enough to give him a trial will become his patrons.

Multitude of Engravings,
INCLUDING
Portraits of Celebrated Winning
HORSES.

Philosophical and Natural Phenomena.
LEIGH DEMAN, & CO.

It is now six months since this publication was commenced in Philadelphia—and although the publishers have used no extraneous means to circulate a knowledge of its merits, yet such is the satisfaction manifested by that portion of the public who have been made acquainted with its character and contents, that its list of patrons continues constantly and rapidly to increase. This paper is now distributed regularly every week over a wide portion of the Union, and the most satisfactory assurance is received that it will eventually become one of the most popular among the numerous excellent periodicals which issue from the American press. No exertions will be spared to establish its permanent reputation more extensively; and if the liberal sanction of those for whom it is especially designed shall warrant, its future improvement—both as regards typographical neatness and embellishment—will be materially advanced.

THE DIFFERENT PLAYS AND FARCES that will appear in the course of a year, of themselves, will be worth more than FOUR times the amount of subscription.—The following is a list of those which have already appeared:—

- Charles the First
- Is She a Brigand
- The Hunchback
- The Deep, Deep Sea
- Cheap Living
- Shakespeare's Early Days
- Heuri Quatre
- Quite Correct

THE MSS. COPY OF THE IRISH AMBASSADOR, the favorite and highly interesting Drama in which TYRONE POWER so successfully amused the public, as SIR PATRICK O'PLENIPO, has been obtained by the publishers, and will be published forthwith.

THE SPORTING INTELLIGENCE (at home and abroad) occupies a considerable portion of our columns, and is connected from the most authentic sources.—Among the Portraits of celebrated Winning Horses which have been given, are—

- The American Trotting Horse, EDWIN FORREST.
- The Imported Racing Horse, Messenger.
- The favorite Racing Mare, ARIEL, and her foal, by ECLIPSE.
- Bond's celebrated Trotting Horse, NORFOLK PHENOMENON.
- The well known English Race Horse, TOUCHSTONE.
- A correct PICTURE OF A RACE COURSE, occupying the width of seven columns.

AMONG A VARIETY OF OTHER ENSEMBLISHMENTS of subjects of interest which have been published, are the following:—

- A complete treatise on RIDING, with FOURTEEN ILLUSTRATIONS, for the improvement of Ladies in that most healthy of all exercises.
- Explanation of the AUTOMATON CHESS PLAYER, illustrated by ELEVÉN ENGRAVINGS.
- THE SUBJECTS WHICH ARE PARTICULARLY EMBELLISHED in the VADE MECUM will be more distinctly understood from the following summary of them:—
- The Turf and all matters connected therewith.
- On the Structure and Character of the Horse.
- On the Improvement of Horses Cattle.
- Rules for Novices in Shooting.
- Methods for Feeding and Training Dogs.
- Biographies of celebrated Horses, with their Portraits.

- Criticism on Plays and Actors.
- The most popular Songs, set to music.
- The Art of Lettering and Illustrating.
- A variety of Receipts adapted to Domestic Economy.
- An Epitome of important passing events.
- Gentleman's quarterly Review of the Fashion.

THE VADE MECUM IS PRINTED ON LARGE IMPERIAL PAPER, of a beautiful white texture, and is published every Saturday, at Three Dollars per annum, in advance. Orders from abroad, postage paid, will be promptly attended to, and the paper carefully packed to prevent it from rubbing by mail.

THE MODERN ACTING DRAMA—A volume of about 300 pages—containing the PLAYS, FARCES, &c.—which appear in the Vade Mecum, neatly printed and bound in elastic covers, for transportation—is published every six weeks. Eight volumes will constitute a set, or one year's subscription, the terms for which is three dollars, payable in advance.

Subscribers to the Vade Mecum are entitled to a deduction of one-third. An order for four sets will be thankfully received, and the work forwarded to, and directed, by inclosing a ten dollar note—postage paid.

A PREMIUM CONSISTING OF TWO VOLUMES, 500 pages each, of the Novelist's Magazine, containing eight different Novels, by the most popular authors, will be presented to the Agent who shall procure four names to the Modern Acting Drama or the Gentleman's Vade Mecum, and remit the amount of one year's subscription for each.

Gentlemen wishing to subscribe to either of the above works, will address CHARLES ALEXANDER, No. 3, Atholman Building, Franklin Place, Philadelphia Aug. 23, 1835.

THE SPLENDID NEW SLOOP
THOMAS HAYWARD,

WILL commence her regular trips between Easton and Baltimore, on Wednesday the 18th of February, (weather permitting) leaving Easton Point at 9 o'clock, and returning will leave Baltimore at 9 o'clock of the following Saturday, and continue sailing on those days throughout the season.

The THOMAS HAYWARD was launched last Spring, and has run as a packet for one season, giving general satisfaction as a fine sailer and safe boat. She is fitted up in a highly commodious manner for the accommodation of passengers, with State Rooms for Ladies, and comfortable berths; and it is the intention of the subscriber to continue to furnish his table with the best fare that the market affords.

Freights will be received as usual at the subscriber's granary at Easton Point; and all orders left at the Drug Store of Thos. H. Dawson & Son, or at the subscribers residence, will receive his personal attention, as he intends, himself, to take charge of his vessel.

Thankful for the liberal share of patronage he has hitherto received, he will spare no pains to merit a continuance of the same.
The public's obedient servant,
SAMUEL H. BENNY.

Feb 10
N. B. Orders for goods, &c. it is expected, will be accompanied with the cash; those not handed to the subscriber, by Tuesday evening, will be received at the Drug Store of Messrs. Thos. H. Dawson & Son, where the subscriber will be in waiting until 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning. This request is made in order that the subscriber may be punctual to his hour of sailing.

Persons indebted to the subscriber, are requested to settle by the last day of April, or otherwise their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer, as it is not convenient for me to give that personal attention I have hitherto done, being much absent from the county.

Republic of Letters.

THE fifty second number of the Republic of Letters closed the first year of the work. It was commenced as an experiment—the liberal patronage it has received, as well as the favor bestowed upon other works of the like kind which has followed in its track, shows that the plan of the work is approved, and has given it a permanency which induces the publisher to make such improvement and alterations as he believes will be acceptable to subscribers, and give it a further claim, upon the reading community.

The publisher has the pleasure of stating that the work will hereafter be edited by
MRS. A. H. NICHOLAS

In making the necessary selections for the Republic of Letters, Mrs. Nicholas will receive the aid and advice of Washington Irving, Edward Everett, Gulian C. Verplanck, Charles F. Hoffman, The change in the form of the work, from quarto to octavo, has met with the approbation of all the subscribers with whom the publisher has been enabled to confer.

The work will be published weekly, as usual, at 61 cents each number, or three dollars per year to those who receive the work by mail and pay in advance.—Each number will contain 32 pages.

Postmasters throughout the United States are requested to act as Agents—the work will be charged to them $2.50 per year.

The first two volumes, comprising the first year, contain the following works, (each work being complete and entire) and may be had bound or in numbers:—

- The Man of Feeling, by Mackenzie.—The Vicar of Wakefield, by Goldsmith.—The Tales of the Hall, by Crabbe.—The Letters of Lady Wortley Montague.—Basilinda, by Dr. Johnson.—Castle of Otranto, by Horace Walpole.—The Old English Baron, by Clara Reeve.—Dr. Franklin's Life and Essays, by himself.—Lights & Shadows of Scottish Life.—The adventures of Gill Bliss, from the French of Le Sage, by Smollet.—Julia de Routledge, by Mackenzie.—Mazappa, by Lord Byron.—The Tapestry Chamber, by Walter Scott.—The Dream of Eugene Aram, by Hood.—Zezou, by Dr. Moore.—Elysium, a moral, economical, and political by the Lord Chancellor Bacon.—Chevy Chase—L'Allegro, by Milton.—Il Penseroso, by Milton.—Italian and Spanish Proverbs.—The history of Charles XII, by Voltaire.—Manfred, by Lord Byron.—Ah! Bride, A Tale by T. Moore, Esq.—Elizabeth, by Mad. Gotton.—Retaliation, by Goldsmith.—The man of the World, by Mackenzie.—Guliver's Travels, by Swift.—Essays on the Human Understanding, by Locke.—Don Quixote, by Cervantes.—Memoirs of Prince Eugene, by himself, &c.—The Diary of an Invalid.—The Deserted Village, by Goldsmith.—Life of Henry Lord Bolingbroke, by Belsham, by Marmontel.—Pope's Essay on Man.—Collection of Apophthegms, by Lord Bacon.—

All communications relating to the work to be addressed, post paid, to the publisher,
GEORGE DEARBORN,
38 Gold street, New York.

SOLOMON BARRETT,

TAVERN KEEPER,
EASTON, Md.

RESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public generally that he still continues to carry on the above business at his old stand on Washington street, opposite the office of Samuel Hamilton, Jr. Esq. where he is prepared to accommodate travellers, and others who may be pleased to patronize his establishment.—His bar is well stocked with the choicest Liquors and his larder with the best provisions the market will afford—his stables are in good order and well stocked with provender. He has in his employ careful ostlers and he assures the Public nothing shall be wanting on his part to give general satisfaction.

N. B. S. B. will at all times pay the highest market price for Terrapins, Oysters, and Wild Ducks.

THE LADY'S BOOK.

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE
OF LITERATURE AND FASHIONS.

THE LADY'S BOOK was the first publication in this country to introduce and perfect a taste for COLORED PLATES OF THE FASHIONS; and the universal popularity which the book obtained, with the aid of these beautiful and costly embellishments, although they appeared every quarter only, was unprecedented and unexampled.—The publisher, emboldened by his long experience, and the success which has crowned his former efforts to signalize his work, intends, with the coming volumes, to introduce alternately every month, in the course of the year, SIX SPLENDID PLATES OF THE FASHIONS SUPERBLY COLOURED. The engravings will be copied from original designs, prepared expressly for that purpose; thereby furnishing the patrons of the work, with correct and constant information of the latest and most approved styles for ladies' dresses, as they come out; and while it will materially advance the value and beauty of his work, he trusts with confidence to the liberality of a discerning public for future remuneration, corresponding with his exertions and unremitting efforts to keep pace with the rapid progress of the improvements of the age. The following is the order which will be adopted for the Embellishments of the Lady's Book for 1835, viz: January, March, May, July, September, November, SUPERB ENGRAVINGS.

OF THE
PREVAILING FASHIONS,
ELEGANTLY COLOURED.

With the June and December numbers will be furnished appropriately ENGRAVED TITLE PAGES, and a general Table of Contents for each Volume. February, April, June, August, October, December.

FINE STEEL ENGRAVINGS.

Illustrating a variety of Interesting Subjects.

Besides every number will be published a Plate from the PICTURES OF THE MONTH, containing the likenesses of distinguished individuals. In addition to the above, various Engravings will be published—added—with two Pages of MUSICAL.

The publisher has at present in the press an excellent article a steel Engraving, which will contain a likeness of all the present and former Queens of Europe, which will be given extra in the January No.

To meet these expensive engagements, it is absolutely necessary that remittances should be promptly made. At the end of the last six months, nearly six hundred names were erased from our list, in consequence of their appearing from the books that each owed two years' subscription. Many have since paid, and some had previously settled with agents. These and other grievous inconveniences a publisher has to encounter, which should, as far as the Agent is concerned, be remedied by his rendering an account of all the sums that he has received, at least once every six months. Subscribers become annoyed when their names are erased for delinquency, & when they settle, they will not again renew their subscription. This, consequently, is a serious loss to the proprietor. The following suggestions are respectfully tendered in arrears: Let those who owe two years, or that will owe two in December or June next, send a Five Dollar note, on account. Many refrain from forwarding their dues because they cannot remit the exact sum; this is not necessary, if they continue their subscription. It is only when a person stops the work, that a liquidation of the whole amount due becomes necessary.

GALLERY OF PORTRAITS.

Under this head will be published every month, likenesses of distinguished Authors in this country and in Europe. Striking resemblances of Bulwer, Brownham, Hogg, Cunningham, &c. &c. have been given, and the following are now ready for press, and will be published (two in each number until the whole is completed): Shelley, Lewis, Moore, Coleridge, Keats, D'Israeli, Neale, Med. de Stael, Jane Porter, Campbell, Roscoe, Southey, &c.

Fac similes of the writing of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Byron Scott, and other distinguished persons have already appeared. Those of Napoleon, Franklin La Fayette, &c. &c. are in preparation.

The publication of views of beautiful scenery and remarkable public edifices, will be continued as heretofore.

Every number of the work contains thirty-eight large octavo pages, printed on fine paper, the whole neatly stitched in covers. The postage for each number is 8 cents for any distance under 100 miles—5 cents, over.

To convince persons wishing to subscribe for the Lady's Book, that it is equal in point of embellishments, the interest of its contents, and general beauty of appearance, to the best periodicals repeatedly given at large, and the flattering notices that have been made of it by editors in different sections of the United States, the publisher will forward any monthly number, as a specimen, by sending him a letter, post paid.

The work will in future be published and delivered on the first of each month, in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Charleston.—In New Orleans about the 15th.

Subscribers missing a number, will please inform the publisher, free of postage, and a duplicate will be sent them.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION, 3 dollars per annum, payable in advance. Postmasters and Agents can have two copies forwarded to any direction, by advancing five dollars.

MACOMBER, WELCH, & CO'S,
New England Zoological Exhibition from Boston,

Will be Exhibited in EASTON, near E. McDowell's, on FRIDAY and SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9th and 10th—For Two Days only. Hours of Exhibition from 1 o'clock till 4 P. M. ADMITTANCE 25 cents—Children under 10 years of age, half price.

Consisting of a greater variety of living natural curiosities than has ever been offered to the public, and a number of beasts and birds not contained in any other collection in the United States. To secure many of these, a large capital has been invested, and countries have for the first time been explored by civilized man; and in addition to the wild tenants of the forest, much more valuable information has been obtained respecting many parts of the vast continent of Africa, where the proprietors have from two to three hundred hunters constantly employed. This magnificent collection of the living wonders of Nature in its progress through the country, requires the aid of one hundred and fifty men and horses, including the celebrated Tremont Military Band, from Boston. The whole arranged in three extensive pavilions, containing 120,000 square feet of canvas, and a spacious gallery with seats appropriated exclusively for the accommodation of the ladies. The Band will be drawn in a splendid music carriage; and the arrival of the grand procession of cavalcade at each town or village, will be announced by the playing a number of popular airs. In the course of the exhibition, several interesting performances will take place. The celebrated Major Downing, on his Shetland Pony, will enter the ring, and go through his curious and laughable feats. The keepers of the Tigers will enter the cages of the Lions, Hyenas, &c., and sport with these fierce animals as familiarly as with the most domesticated dog. There will also be Exhibited on the same Day, a splendid collection of PAINTINGS, and other amusements: See Bills. Admittance 12 1/2 cents. The above will be exhibited in Centerville, on the 8th, and at Denton, on the 12th October. Sept. 22 3t

MR. and MRS. HAMILTON'S BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES, CORNER OF SARATOGA AND COURTLAND STREETS, BALTIMORE, WILL BE RE-OPENED ON THE FIRST DAY OF SEPTEMBER NEXT.

MR. & MRS. H. have provided their School with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction; Their Philosophical apparatus is equal to any that can be found in private Seminaries in this country, and their Chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of Minerals though small yet contains upwards of 700 specimens; their Seminary is also furnished with an ARMILLARY SPHERE, CARY'S, WILSON'S and GARDNER'S GLOBES, several PIANOS, and a HARP; the instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country, or in England.

Parents and Guardians who wish more particular information can obtain a prospectus of the Seminary by sending post paid, to the principals, Sept. 5 1835. St.

CARTS, WAGONS, AND PLOUGHS.

THE subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public for the liberal encouragement he has and still receives at their hands, and assures them that no exertions shall be wanted on his part to give satisfaction, he is still in his new shop on Dover Street in Easton, adjoining the Smith shop lately occupied by himself and now by Mr. Alex. Dodd, where he is prepared (by the assistance of a well selected stock of materials and some good workmen) to manufacture all kinds of work in his line to order and when ordered. Gentlemen wanting light mail or other Carts, or Wagons, can have them as low and as good as they can be got in Baltimore or elsewhere when all their costs are added; he generally keeps wheels of different sizes on hand. All work laid aside to do repairs as soon as they come in.
