ALLA NAZIMOVA IN "EYE FOR EYE"

Grand Screen Play At The Auditorium Wednesday Night, Jan. 14th

The Famous Actress Alla Nazimova to be seen January 14th in one of her greatest plays on the screen, "Eye for Eye," at the Auditorium, Princess Anne.

The picture was taken from the famous play "L'Occident," written by the noted Belgian dramatist, Henry Kistemann, and adapted for the use of the screen by June Mathis and Albert Capellani. Mr. Capellani, who is a distinguished French director, made the production under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger.

Some of the many unusual features which this picture contains is the real circus. All the phases of circus life will be seen by the audience and in the life of the Arabians. The scenes in which she does the dance of the Veils, she holds the audience in the palm of her hand, not a sound to break the rapt attention with which her work is received. It is a picture which arrests the attention and expands the imagination, transporting the beholder to the heart of things Oriental and mysterious and telling a story of passion which is not to be surpassed. Nazimova's career in this country has been a series of continuous and tremendous successes which have placed her at the top of the ladder of dramatic and screen fame.

This picture is to be shown for the benefit of a charity fund for Wa Wa Tribe No. 121 Improved Order Red Men, of Princess Anne.

Bank Officers Elected

The stockholders of The Peoples Bank of Somerset County held their annual meeting in their banking room last Thursday for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the ensuing year. The following directors were elected: Col. H. J. Waters, Dr. C. W. Wainwright, Wm. G. T. Polk, Judge R. F. Dyer, H. P. Dashiell, L. C. Beauchamp, J. R. Fleming, Dr. F. Barnes, E. D. Long, O. E. Lloyd, Gordon Tall, and Morris H. Adams.

The directors elected the following officers: Col. H. J. Waters, president; Omar J. Crowell, cashier; Mark L. Coates, assistant cashier; Vernon E. White, assistant cashier; and L. Creston Beauchamp, attorney.

It has been a very successful year for this institution. It is very gratifying to the officers and stockholders of the institution and we feel sure that the many customers and friends will be interested to know that the bank's deposits have increased from $193,750.74 to $264,922.18, representing a gain of $71,171.44 or 36.76 per cent. By the rapid growth that the bank has made, shows that their service was extended to a largely increased number of people in this community, and their transactions as an institution really reflect the combined progress of those whom they serve.

Bradd-Hickman Wedding

One of the prettiest weddings of the winter season was that which united Miss Helen Hickman and Mr. Floyd Bradd, both of Princess Anne, on Sunday, December 28th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton P. Hickman. The house was prettily decorated with the season's foliage and the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Freund, pastor of Manokin Presbyterian Church.

The bride was attired in a Navy blue tulle gown and wore a gorgeous bouquet of lily of the valley. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served, after which the newly-weds departed on an extended honeymoon, which will include visits to New Jersey and New York.

The guests, included among others, were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Bradd, Mr. and Mrs. James Rue, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. John Green, Miss Beulah M. Andrews, of Baltimore, and Mr. Harry C. Fassig, of New York city.

December Weather

The weather report for the month of December as compiled by Mr. James R. Stewart, co-operative observer of Princess Anne:

Maximum temperature, 67 degrees; minimum temperature, 10 degrees on the 16th; total precipitation, 1.2 inches; total snowfall, 4.25 inches; days of snow, 10; partly cloudy, 6; cloudy, 10; ice on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 11th, 14th, 15th and 16th. The prevailing wind was northwest.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS AT WORK

Entered Upon Their Duties Last Friday In Somerset

Under the immediate direction of Francis G. Wrightson, supervisor of the First Census District of Maryland, census enumerators will call at every dwelling house in Somerset county to secure the information necessary to fill out the questions for the Fourteenth Decennial Census of the United States. The enumerators are:

Omar J. Jones, West Princess Anne; John W. Crowell, Oriole; William J. Miles, Marion; Harry H. Green, Marion; Arthur W. Lankford, Pocomoke City, R. F. D.; Edwin D. Harrington, Mount Vernon; Grover E. Holland, Upper Fairmount; Frank P. Landon, Crisfield; Mrs. George P. Tyler, Crisfield; William S. Sterling, Crisfield; Luther T. Miles, Marion; Samuel L. Fallen, Deal's Island; Arthur W. Todd, Westover; W. Selden Webster, Deal's Island, and Raymond M. Carey, East Princess Anne.

Questions covering the following points will be asked: Sex; color or race; age at last birthday; whether single, married, widowed or divorced; birthplace of person enumerated and birthplaces of father and mother, giving names of both country and province if foreign born; occupation, specifying trade or profession, also industry in which employed; whether attending school; whether able to read; whether able to write; whether able to speak English; whether home is owned or rented, and if owned whether home is free of encumbrance or is mortgaged.

Census enumerators will also call at every farm in the county to secure the information necessary to fill out the questions contained on the agriculture schedule. Each farmer will be asked questions concerning the acreage and value of his farm; whether he owns, rents or partly owns and partly rents the land he farms; the value of the buildings, machinery and implements belonging to his farm; the quantity of all crops raised on his farm during the year 1919, and many other questions which cover all possible farm operations.

Hog Raising Profitable in Somerset

About three years ago Mr. George R. Hayes moved from Indiana and bought a farm on the State road, about one mile north of Princess Anne, where he laid the foundation for a profitable stock raising business. Since Mr. Hayes' death, about a year ago, his widow and son Roy have conducted the farm, keeping the stock up to the same high standard set by Mr. Hayes. Last year they shipped to the northern markets, in addition to a number sold to local buyers for breeding and other purposes, 75 fine porkers. Four shipments were made during the year. The first shipment was made in June, which sold for $23.50 per hundred; the second shipment was made in July, which sold for $21.00 per hundred; the third shipment was made in August, which sold for $18.00 per hundred, and in October a carload of hogs and cattle was shipped, the hogs selling for $16.00 per hundred. All of these shipments netted the owners a handsome profit.

Mrs. Hayes and her son now have on the farm 40 young pigs and sheats and seven brood sows. A look at these hogs will convince any one of their superior breeding, they being of the finest strain of the Duroc Jersey stock.

Edward S. Davis Dead

Mr. Edward S. Davis, a well known and highly respected citizen of Somerset county, died at his home in Dublin district on Wednesday night last, after a lingering illness, aged about 55 years. More than a year ago he was stricken with some serious stomach trouble and since had been gradually on the decline. He sought relief from his trouble at a hospital in Baltimore, but the trip was of no avail and he continually grew worse until death released him from his suffering.

Besides a widow, who was a daughter of the late Wm. T. Boston, he leaves several children to mourn their loss. He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mr. L. T. Davis and Mrs. Edward Bates, of Pocomoke City, and Mr. William Davis and Mrs. M. H. Dickinson, of Somerset county. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian Church, Pocomoke City, last Thursday morning, conducted by Rev. J. W. Lacy, and interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

School Fund Distribution

State Comptroller Hugh M. McMillen has announced the first quarterly distribution for 1920 of the school funds for the public schools of the counties and Baltimore city. The total appropriation amounts to $3,000,000 and includes $250,000 of the usual school tax, $27,000 for books and $1,500 for supplies. The appropriation for Somerset is: School tax, $10,000; books, $1,000; supplies, $500.

Sextet of Maryland Girls Who Have Won Prizes in State Home Economics Contest

Miss Alberta Miller, Miss Lenore Kirk, Miss Laura Ames, Miss Alice Rinehart, Miss Dorothy McAllister, Miss Mary Willitt.

These are the Maryland "Blue Ribbon Girls," champions of the home economics club contest which closed recently. Uncle Sam is so proud of them that he asked to have an account of their work sent to the War Loan Organization headquarters for this district, in Richmond, Virginia.

Death Claims Capt. J. A. Thomas

Capt. Joseph A. Thomas, of Mount Vernon, died at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, on December 28th, aged 42 years.

Captain Thomas, up to about 5 years ago, was a practical bay captain and well-known throughout the tidewater counties of Maryland. In 1912 he purchased the J. S. Webster & Son store property and engaged in the mercantile business. In March, 1918, he married Miss Cora Mason, who died on Thanksgiving day of pneumonia.

Capt. Thomas was a member of the Improved Order of Red Men. Funeral services were held in Asbury M. E. Church, Mt. Vernon, on Monday afternoon, December 29th, conducted by the Rev. W. Vaughn Moore, of Flanders, N. J., assisted by the pastor, Rev. O. B. Rice. He is survived by two brothers and three sisters: Mr. Frank Thomas, Mrs. Clara Mason and Mrs. Grace Holland, of Mt. Vernon, and Mr. Bruce Thomas and Mrs. Maud Wilson, of Baltimore.

Five Men Killed in Powder Blast

Five men were killed and several others hurt in an explosion last Friday at the Bagley yards of the duPont Powder Company, on Brandywine creek, three miles southwest of Wilmington.

There were two shocks. The first, a light one, occurred at 8 55 a. m. It was followed a few seconds later by a terrific blast, which broke windows in West Philadelphia, thirty miles away, and was heard as far as Woodbury, New Jersey.

The buildings contained black powder totaling about 6,000 pounds. Bits of debris struck outside workmen, but none was injured badly enough to require hospital treatment.

Four years ago, on November 31, 1915, the worst explosion in the history of the duPont plants occurred at the Bagley yards. Thirty men and boys were killed and six others injured, when five tons of black powder ignited in a packing house.

Fred. J. Johnson Dies in Hospital

Mr. Fred. J. Johnson, aged 42 years, a native of Somerset county and for many years a well-known resident of Crisfield, died in Baltimore on Christmas day after being under treatment in a hospital for the previous two weeks. He was suffering with stomach trouble and Bright's disease, which resulted in his death.

Mr. Johnson served several terms as county surveyor of Somerset county. His remains were brought to Crisfield on Saturday, December 27th, and funeral services were held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Carrol Dryden, Saturday afternoon. He is survived by his wife and one son, Frederick, Jr.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Reese Dead

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Reese, widow of the late W. H. Reese, died on Wednesday, December 17th, at her home near Monie postoffice. She was 82 years old and had been in poor health for more than a year. Mrs. Reese is survived by four sons, Messrs. Edward Reese, of Baltimore; J. H. Reese, of Queen Anne Co.; J. B. Reese, of Venton, and W. P. Reese, of Monie, and two daughters, (Mrs. M. B. Nutter, of Salisbury, and Miss Jennie Reese, of Monie).

Mr. R. J. Tracy, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who has purchased the "Clifton Farm" on the Manokin river, spent last week at the Washington Hotel.

MARYLAND TEACHERS MEET

Increased Pay in Counties Urged At Convention in Baltimore

Two of the most important matters last Tuesday afternoon at the opening session of the fifty-second annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers' Association in Western High School were the prospects and necessity of the Legislature granting an increase in salaries to the county teachers, discussed by Dr. M. Bates Stevens, State Superintendent of Education, and the teacher's part in solving big nationalization problems; reviewed by Prof. Paul Monroe, director of school of education, Teachers' College, Columbia University.

A salary schedule involving an increase of $750,000 in the State appropriation was approved and referred to the legislative committee of the Maryland State Teachers' Association Wednesday afternoon. It would give first grade teachers a minimum of $350 a year after their seventh year of service.

Besides the proposed salary increase the committee's report involved an extensive educational and training program for teachers, a feature of which was the proposal that the State support students in the Normal School as the Government supports cadets at Annapolis and West Point. This proposal also met with approval, and along with others will be submitted to the next Legislature.

Second grade, month	$50	($35)
Third grade, month	$40	($30)

In addition to this schedule special provision is made for rural principals of one and two-teacher schools. They are to receive an additional $50 above the minimum of whatever grade certificate they hold. Second-class teachers in high schools are to receive at least the initial minimum of first-class teachers. Provisionally certified high school teachers will get $100 less than regular certified teachers. Elementary teachers and principals on provisional certificates are to be paid $100 less than prescribed minimum salaries and such teachers are to be paid at least $100 less than regular certified teachers.

It is reported that the cost of these increases to both white and colored teachers be borne by the counties and the State on a half-and-half basis. It is estimated that the salary increase will amount to $600,000. The remaining $150,000 which is to be requested is left for teachers' training expansions. Baltimore city is to get about $245,000 from the $600,000, but very little of the $150,000. The distribution as per schedule is as follows:

Allegheny	$33,000
Anne Arundel	16,000
Baltimore	48,000

Worcester	12,000
Total for the counties	$351,600
Baltimore city	$248,400
Total for State	$600,000

The association elected G. Lloyd Palmer, superintendent of schools of Frederick county, president. The retiring president, David E. Weglein, principal of the Western High School, was elected first vice-president; Miss Lena C. Van Bibber, of State Normal School, second vice-president; Hugh W. Caldwell, superintendent of Cecil county schools, secretary; Dr. L. Berryman, principal of Junior High School No. 75, treasurer, and Superintendent E. F. Webb, of Allegheny county, new member of the executive committee.

REPAIR IMPLEMENTS FOR RUSH IN SPRING

Best Time for Taking Inventory of Farm Machines.

Four Spare Hours Can Be Devoted Advantageously to Collection of Old Parts and Scrap Iron Accumulated on Farm.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The present is an opportune time for taking inventory of farm machinery resources, as well as account for essential repairs and record of implement condition. Repairs should be ordered and put in place as soon as received. Machines should be gone over thoroughly and prepared for the coming season. All adjustments should be made, a plentiful supply of various-sized bolts, nuts and screws should be secured and everything got in ship-shape order for the rush season of spring work.

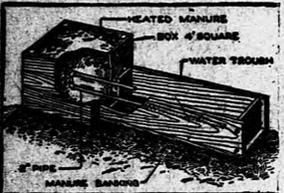

A few spare hours can be devoted advantageously to the collection of old implement parts, repairs and scrap iron which have accumulated in the fence corners and lanes, as the present values of scrap and junk justify the farmer in selling such material, which is valuable for industrial purposes.

Now is the time, also, to sharpen plow points and disks and to touch up the dull harrow teeth. The cultivator shovels should be sharpened, as blunt points and worn harrow teeth are highly inefficient and will not perform satisfactory work. All worn parts should be replaced and the machines placed in A-1 condition for field service. In spike-tooth harrows, teeth should be reversed in the clamps if worn only on one side, while if both points are dull, they should be removed and resharpened by forging and retempering. Spring-tooth harrow teeth should be handled similarly while the disks of disk harrows should be edged. Mowers, reapers and binders should be overhauled and put in order for a strenuous campaign. The United States department of agriculture offers valuable information in Farmers' Bulletins 946, 947, 948 and 961, "Care and Repair of Farm Implements," which every American farmer should read.

WATER KEPT FROM FREEZING

Heat is Supplied by Manure Arranged in Box Through Which Coil of Pipe Runs.

The arrangement illustrated will be found to have considerable effect in keeping from freezing the water in a trough on the farm. The part of the pipe which is covered with manure is heated, and then water flows upward cold water being then drawn in through the lower pipe. The effect will, of course, be much greater if a coil of pipe is imbedded in the manure.

The Water in the Trough is Heated by a Pipe or Coil Imbedded in a Box of Manure, and is Thus Kept From Freezing.

It should be placed rather above the center of the manure box, in order to have the greatest heating effect.—R. M. Magnus, International Falls, Minn. in Popular Science Magazine.

GOOD DEMAND FOR FEATHERS

Poultry Raisers Should Not Overlook Profits That May Be Made From This By-Product.

There is usually a ready market for prime feathers that have had proper care and poultry raisers should not overlook the profits that may be made from this by-product. Feathers of ducks and geese are especially valuable but sometimes even chicken feathers can be sold at a price well worth the trouble to save and care for them. Feathers should be plucked when ripe, that is, all the animal matter should be out of the quill. At this stage they are easily plucked without damage or inconvenience and will not spoil or become moth eaten if it is advisable to separate the body feathers from them according to color. White feathers are particularly valuable.

REMOVE ALL WEAKER SHOOTS

On Red or White Currants There Should Be Six to Eight, According to Vigor of Bush.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Red or white currant bushes which are one year old should have the weaker shoots removed, leaving six to eight strong shoots, according to the vigor of the bush. At the end of the next year four or five two-year-old shoots and three or four one-year-old shoots should be left, and at the end of the third year about three shoots each of three-year-old, two-year-old, and one-year-old wood.

Will Not be One Day Without PE-RU-NA

This Lady TELLS Her FRIENDS

Mrs. Mary Fricke, 507 Bornman St., Belleville, Ill., is just one of the many thousands of ladies throughout the country who, after an agony of years, have at last found health, strength and vigor in PE-RU-NA.

Her own words tell of her suffering and recovery better than we can do it: "I suffered with my stomach, had awful cramps and headaches so I often could not lay on a pillow. Saw your book, tried PE-RU-NA and got good results from the first bottle. To be sure of a cure I took twelve bottles. I have recommended PE-RU-NA to my friends and all are well pleased with results. I will not be one day without PE-RU-NA. Have not had a doctor since I started with PE-RU-NA, which was about fifteen years ago. I am now sixty-three years old, hale, hearty and well. Can do as much work as my daughters. I feel strong and healthy and weigh near two hundred pounds. Before, I weighed as little as one hundred. I hope lots of people use PE-RU-NA and get the results I did." An experience like that of Mrs. Fricke is an inspiration to every sick and suffering woman.

If you have catarrh, whether it be of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, or other organs, PE-RU-NA is the remedy. It is not new; it is not an experiment. PE-RU-NA has been tried by thousands who once were sick and are now well. To prevent coughs, colds, grip and influenza and to hasten recovery there is nothing better.

PE-RU-NA will improve the appetite and digestion, purify the blood, soothe the irritated mucous linings, eradicate the waste material and corruption from the system. It will tone up the nerves, give you health, strength, vigor and the joy of living. Do what Mrs. Mary Fricke and thousands more have done—try PE-RU-NA. You will be glad, happy, thankful.

Tablet or Liquid. Sold Everywhere.

MRS. MARY FRICKE

A Teacher's Observation.

Really when I come to think on the various fortunes of my pupils after they went from under my charge, I am as much diverted and moved to laughter at the way and proceedings that were followed out by some as I am sobered into sorrow at the sad and pathetic fate that befell several others. If I could say conscientiously, that the wisest man always turned to be the happiest or the most fortunate, greatly should I be gratified. But truly, it hath never consisted with the little philosophy that I have gathered in going about the world, to deal much in general rules or specified conclusions; and I have often from my observations been rather tempted to say, with the proverbial saying, that 'Fate was in some cases better than wisdom, and Helpless of heart since to be envied than sobriety and sense.—Andrew Pickens.

Be Sure You Are Right.

It's a good thing to assure yourself before taking important steps. Sometimes you are too busy to give much time to things. At other times you may be too sure of yourself. Both cases are full of calamity. To be sure you may be able to do the right thing by intuition and do it with haste. As a rule the great things of life upon which important matters hang take time. You must know the facts if you are to advise others. You must know the facts to be able to make success of things. Remember it's not the amount of energy you put into a thing that gets results. A locomotive out of control is a mad thing of unlimited energy. The very power is the danger. It must be regulated to make it useful.

DR. ALBERT SHIELS.

Fighting Radicalism Throughout the Domain of the United States.

Dr. Albert Shiels left his post as city superintendent of schools at Los Angeles, Cal., to begin an extensive campaign of "Americanization of Americans" on behalf of the Community Council of New York City, where he is at present situated. The doctor's method will be to teach aliens Americanism before they learn radicalism.

OF COURSE NOT.

"I noticed your father and mother crying during the wedding ceremony," said the groom.

"Yes, dear, they were," said the bride sweetly.

"What were they crying about?"

"Oh, some one reminded them that we were to live home with them."

"Well, I like that! You didn't see me doing any weeping, did you?"

Gillis' Complaint.

Willis—We folks at home should do our work without complaining. You know peace hath her victories the same as war.

Gillis—I know, but nobody plins medals on you for washing the dishes, and there's never a brass band out to meet you in the morning after you've walked the floor all night with the baby.—Judge.

APPROACHING SHADOW.

Bacon—How's the world treating you?
Egbert—Can't complain.
"No kick coming, then?"
"I can't say that. I'm expecting my wife home from her mother's tomorrow."

MANY KINDS, AND ALL GOOD

That Would Seem to Be the Verdict of Humanity on the Great Question of Pies.

They were talking about pies and discussing which was the best, and what we gathered from the cheerful controversy, all were the best.

The person who stood up for the good old apple pie was just as eloquent in his references to the peach or pumpkin pie. In fact, each person would hurry through the praise of one kind of pie in order to champion another, which convinced us that of all the varieties of food in this world the pie is the blessedest.

Sometimes you will find a man who doesn't eat pie, but watch him. Pie is a remedy for many distempers. We one time cured a ferocious sick headache with a quarter of mince pie, and that, too, on the advice of a physician.

One of the party never heard of a mulberry pie, and what a barren life she must have led. We are through with the cherry pie era and with what joy it has filled the world! We come to the berry era, and first of all there is the huckleberry pie, which berry has rescued from sunshine and soil all the grace of the earth. If a man does not like a huckleberry pie, it is because the pie or himself has not been well made. The black raspberry pie stands away up on the snowy peaks of perfection and for picnic purposes it is unparalleled. When we eat raspberry pie in the woods we feel that the Dryads are feeding us from their lily white hands.

There are other glorious pies, of course, but we must have room to say that the glory of a pie is in the grace and charm of the cook. The pastry depends upon her temper, and the pastry is three-fourths of a pie. If we were going to get married again, we would arrange a pastry-making contest, and the dapsel that made the best pastry we would marry—if we could.—Ohio State Journal.

UNABLE TO ANALYZE DRUG

Intoxicating Principles of Powerful Narcotic, "Cohoba," Remain a Mystery to Chemists.

When Columbus arrived at the island of Haiti he and his followers were interested to observe a curious practice of the natives, who were accustomed on ceremonial occasions to make use of a narcotic snuff productive of a sort of hypnotic state, with vision supposed to be supernatural.

The tribal wizards, or priests, while under the influence of the drug were accustomed to hold communication with unseen powers, and their mutterings were construed as prophecies and revelations of hidden things.

The snuff was called "cohoba," and, in the form of a fine powder, was inhaled through a forked wooden tube, the forks being inserted in the nostrils and the lower end of the tube buried in a little heap of the snuff, which was held on a tray of carved wood. Sometimes large snail shells were used for snuff boxes.

The mimosa-like tree from which the snuff is obtained is plentiful along the banks of the Orinoco and the Amazon. It grows in Haiti, Porto Rico and other islands of the Antilles. The seeds yielded by its pods are dried, roasted and ground to powder, which is sometimes mixed with lime from calcined snail shell.

Only recently has this tree been identified by Dr. W. E. Safford of the government plant bureau as the source of the snuff, the origin of which has hitherto been a puzzle. The chemical properties of the drug are still unknown and so its intoxicating principle remains a mystery.

Frightful Experience.

"What was my most thrilling experience?" mused the ex-pilot. "Ah! I could never forget it. It was a bright starlight night, but the lurid flashes around us obscured all else as we sped through the air. The advancing enemy was hard upon us, while all around we heard the weird, savage music so terribly familiar, and the thud as of a thousand falling meteors. We dived, looped, corkscrewed till our senses were numbed. I felt a sharp pain in my right foot, a dull weight in my side—I was falling, falling—and knew no more till I found myself lying on the ground badly smashed some hours later."

"And that was really your record aerial engagement?"
"No," he replied; "it was my first experiment with the jazz."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Paying the War Cost.

Referring to the cost of the war, Secretary of War Baker told the finance committee of the senate and house that the total outgo in round numbers would be $30,000,000,000; but $9,000,000,000 of this was loans to our allies. Nearly a third of the net cost has already been paid out of money raised by taxation. The other two-thirds was obtained from the five Liberty loans. If we pay a billion a year, besides interest, we can clear off the war cost in about twenty-one years.

Big Contribution to War.

One of the most striking contributions of the United States to the war was the enormous quantity of smokeless powder high explosives produced, says the Scientific American. From April 1, 1917, to November 1, 1918, we produced 632 million pounds of smokeless powder, which was almost exactly equal to the combined output of France and Great Britain.

Sports Doom Foot Binding in China

Freedom of Action Imperative and Bound Feet Disappearing.

Basket ball tennis and jumping the rope are curing China of the age-old cruel custom of binding the feet of her daughters. These American sports are proving just as efficacious in doing away with that evil as the law of the Chinese republic against the practice of foot binding. In many instances it is even more efficacious for there can be no basket ball, tennis or rope jumping for the girl with bound feet, and since the "new woman" of China, even in her girlhood, insists upon participating in American sports the bound foot must go.

All kinds of American sports are popular in young China and in other Oriental countries, according to John W. Wood, Foreign Secretary to the Board of Missions of the Episcopal

American Playground One of Our Most Valued Exports to the Orient, Says this Observer

Church, who recently returned from a nine-months' tour of the Far East in connection with the Episcopal National-Wide Campaign. In fact, Mr. Wood ranks the American playground as one of our most important "exports" to the Orient. He hopes it will be "exported" in still larger quantities through the National-Wide Campaign as that campaign seeks to raise more than $42,000,000 to strengthen all phases of Episcopal activities at home and abroad.

"Quietly but systematically for the past twenty years," he said "we have been exporting to the Orient that distinctly American institution, the playground; and now the Chinese Empire is dotted with these open air places. One can't easily estimate the extent of the benefits future generations in the Orient will derive from this infusion of the spirit of free, open air America into the youth of China.

Miss Jennie Wright, of New York, in the guest of Mrs. T. J. Smith.

Little Miss Peggy Hartzel, after spending the week in Philadelphia, returned home last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Annie Pusey, who has been visiting at the home of her father, Mr. John W. Morris, has returned to Baltimore.

Miss Leona Lankford, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. Alvah N. Gibbons, has returned to Perryville, Maryland.

Miss Beatie C. Butler, of Cambridge, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Butler, of Westover.

Miss Ruth Bounds, of Marcy Hook, Pa., spent the week end at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Stevenson, at Fruitland.

Santa Claus visited both John Wesley and Asbury Sunday schools, Mt. Vernon, last week, at which time he made the little folks happy.

Mr. Frank Bradford, after spending the holidays with his wife and son at the "Willows," returned to Newport News, Va., last week.

Miss Harriet Murphy, who has been visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Murphy, left last week to visit friends in West Chester, Pa.

Mrs. Fred A. Culver and sons, Austin and Charles, returned home after visiting relatives in Wilmington, Chester and Philadelphia for the past week.

Mrs. Addie Bond Dashiell spent several days last week in Baltimore. While there she attended the meeting of the State Teachers' Association on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Many persons gathered in Antioch M. E. Church Wednesday night to witness the outgoing and incoming years. Devotion service was held, music being an impressive feature.

Go to the Auditorium next Saturday night and see Fatty Arbuckle in "Back Stage." The other movie attractions for that night are the 9th episode of "The Great Gamble," and Pathe News.

Rev. Dr. Collins will preach in the Asbury M. E. Church, Mt. Vernon, on January 26th, at 7.30 p. m. The 4th quarterly conference will be held in the same church on January 26th, at 7 p. m., by Dr. Collins.

Mr. James T. Marriner and wife, of Perryhawkin neighborhood, after spending the Christmas holidays with their sons, Milton, of Chester, Pa., and Arthur J., of Baltimore, Md., returned home last Thursday.

Miss Sarah T. Joyner, of Virginia, has been named to succeed Miss Mildred Powell, who recently resigned her position in the Princess Anne High School. Miss Joyner is a graduate of Goucher College, Baltimore. Last year she was teacher of English and History in the high school at Eastville, Va.

Miss Grace Muir, daughter of Mr. Harry Muir, and Mr. Vernon L. Long were married last Tuesday evening by the Rev. Leolan Jackson, pastor of Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Walter L. Walker, in the presence of a few invited guests.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Methodist Protestant Church at Quantico on Thursday, December 25th, when Miss May Carr Cowger became the bride of Herbert Charles Beauchamp, of Cokesbury. The ceremony, which took place at 1 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. Baxley in the presence of quite a large number of friends and relatives.

The Princess Anne Fire Company gave their minstrel show in Grace Guild Hall, Mount Vernon, last Wednesday night. The company realized $322 from their recent entertainments in the Auditorium and at Mt. Vernon. The show was greeted by a large audience at both places, and those who took part have been highly complimented for the evening's entertainment.

No Great Act of Heroism Required
If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual.

The Dairy

VALUES OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Leaders in Fight Against H. C. L. Judged From Economy and Nourishment Furnished.

Since the high cost of living is still a problem and since New York is one of the two foremost dairy states of the union, the workers in dairying and home economics at the state college at Ithaca, N. Y., are calling renewed attention to the relative cheapness and high food values of dairy products.

To eat these products is to increase the prosperity of the state and to decrease the drain on the pocket-book, because the folks at Ithaca say, there is a double advantage to the New York housewife, from the viewpoint of economy and of nourishment, if she makes a larger use of them in the family diet.

Not only do these foods contain the growth-promoting substances needed by children, but they are among the cheapest foods of animal origin in respect to protein and lime content. Whole milk, skim-milk, cottage cheese and American cheddar, or common "store" cheese, are good, cheap foods and the workers at Cornell advocate their use.

BETTER TO KEEP GOOD BULLS

Farmer Sold Registered Holstein for $50 That Afterwards Proved to Be Worth $5,000.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When a certain farmer a few years ago sold his registered Holstein bull to his local butcher no records had been made by any of the bull's daughters. Within a year 11 of the daughters freshened at the ages of two and three. Records were then made of milk and butterfat production, and to the astonishment of everybody the average milk production was 14,502 pounds and the average butterfat production was 873 pounds.

But before these records were available the bull was dead and his hide had become leather. Because there were no records, a $5,000 bull had been sold for $50. The cow-testing association tests the dams and daughters, and the bull association makes it practicable to keep a bull until his daughters have been tested. These two associations would have saved that bull.

Registration alone cannot guarantee production. Registered dairy bulls should be backed by good production records. Without record backing they may be very well bred, but there is nothing to prove it.

COVERING FOR CREAM CANS

Great Part of Value Is Lost if Product Is Exposed to Sun While Being Hauled.

A great part of the value of keeping cream cool on the farm and at the station or creamery is lost if the cream is exposed to the direct rays of the sun while being hauled from the farm to the point of sale. Far too few people stop to realize the importance of covering their cream cans when bringing them to town. Expensive jacketed cans are not a necessity to keep the cream cool. In summer weather just an ordinary piece of wet burlap thrown over cans will keep the temperature of the cream as much as 20 degrees below what it would rise to if left uncovered while being transported over the average hauling distance.

DRYING UP COWS NEGLECTED

Some Animals Inclined to Keep Up Heavy Milk Flow Until Calving Time—Care Is Needed.

Some cows are inclined to keep up the heavy milk flow until calving time, and the dairyman is apt to neglect drying them up. Some cows dry themselves while others must be dried up by the milker. Care must be taken or the udder will be injured. The best practice is to cut off the grain feed, giving no grain at all, and in some cases giving less of other feeds. The cow should be milked only once a day for a few days, and then the period lengthened until only once in four or five days. This should be kept up until the cow has entirely ceased.

ICE PROBLEM FOR DAIRYMEN

Sometimes Care in Production and Handling of Milk is Necessary to Keep it Sweet.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Keeping milk fresh and sweet this summer is likely to be more of a problem than usual. Cold is the most important single factor in keeping milk sweet, and ice is usually necessary to accomplish this. In most natural ice sections of the country, however, there is a marked scarcity of natural ice. Therefore, in regions where 85 per cent of American milk has been produced, natural ice has been plentiful and cheap, and has been the principal means by which a perishable food product has been sent long distances to market without spoiling. As a result of the mild winter in many sections little natural ice was harvested, and since in the North the manufacture of artificial ice is confined principally to the larger cities, it is doubtful if this product would be available to milk producers even if the price could be made satisfactory.

On account of the lack of ice, dairymen will be compelled to use scrupulous care in the production and handling of milk and cream. It will be necessary to adhere more closely than ever to the three C's in caring for milk—keeping it clean, cold, and covered.

One of the most important factors in reducing the bacterial count in milk, and thus lengthen its keeping qualities, is the sterilization of utensils. Pails, strainers, separators, surface coolers, and shipping cans must be cleaned and sterilized, preferably by steam. Every farmer who can afford it should possess a steam boiler and sterilizer. If he feels that this is too great an expense, there are other sterilizers on the market, cheap but efficient, which will render milk utensils sterile. A satisfactory home-made sterilizer has been developed by the United States department of agriculture, and can be made at a cost of about $10. Complete directions for making it may be obtained by addressing the department, at Washington.

Such important factors as clean udder, milking with clean hands, keeping the stables clean, and the use of small-top pails will lower the bacterial count, and should be carefully observed by all milk producers.

In cooling milk dairymen should use facilities already existing, such as cold water in wells and springs. When milk is drawn from a cow it has a temperature of about 95 degrees F. In the North, well and spring water generally varies in temperature from 50 to 60 degrees F. By the use of surface coolers and a tank of cold running water, milk can quickly be cooled and held within two to four degrees of the water.

During warm weather it may be necessary to ship or deliver milk twice a day. This would have a tendency to check spoilage, especially of evening milk, which is usually more than twelve hours old when shipped. Milk dealers can do much to prevent spoilage by pasteurizing the milk. Pasteurization not only kills disease bacteria, but reduces count, and therefore delays spoilage.

TO CONTROL SPIRITS OF EVIL

Chinese Have Distinct Object in Erecting Pagodas, and Country is Garlanded With Them.

Chinese pagodas are the work of the Buddhist church almost exclusively. The most beautiful specimens are in the Yangtse valley, where pagodas are the most numerous. Every important Chinese and Manchurian city is garlanded with them. From the walls of Peking a dozen pagodas and towers may be counted within the city, and with a good glass a half-dozen may be seen rising from the surrounding plain.

Chinese have appropriated the pagoda as a counterpoise to evil, and use it subject to their rules of geomancy. At a city in Tung, in the Peking plain, a region in past years visited by earthquakes, there is a prominent pagoda, which at one time had 1,000 bronze bells suspended from its cornices, most of which are still in place. The people have this story of its construction:

A water owl lives underground at this place, and when he shakes his tail it causes earthquakes. Geomancers located the end of his tail, and the pagoda was built on it to hold it down. However, they could not locate his head, and thus he is still able to wink his eyes, which causes tremblings of the earth. When his eyelids have been accurately located a second pagoda will be built.

Pagodas range in height from 20 to over 200 feet, and are of various shapes, such as round, square, hexagonal, etc. They always have an odd number of stories, ranging usually from seven to nine, and sometimes with eleven, or even thirteen.

SUGGESTIONS FOR OBTAINING BETTER HIDES

Skinning a Carcass in the Right Way—It Requires Somewhat of a Knack and Much Patience and Care Must Be Exercised.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The farmer who wishes to kill and skin an animal should select a clean hard spot, under a tree if possible, or if indoors, a room with a concrete floor. In the latter case a block and tackle must be provided for swinging heavy animals, while outside a limb of a tree may be used for suspending the carcass. Before killing the animal should be cleaned off, curried, and brushed thoroughly in order to remove all dirt, and care must be exercised not to bruise or soil the hide or carcass in the subsequent operations of killing and skinning. The skinning knife should be sharp and should be used no more than is necessary, as special care must be used to avoid cutting the hide or skin. Skinning is done best and easiest before the animal heat has escaped, it being essential to leave all the flesh on the animal, as its presence on the hide or skin is very objectionable.

The operations of skinning are difficult to describe so that they may be followed easily, according to specialists. In fact, experience in flaying, especially of hides, can be obtained only by practice. It requires somewhat of a knack, and much patience and care must be exercised until the knack is obtained. No written directions can be as clear and effective as actual observation and trials. It is recommended that the farmer or small killer take advantage of any and all opportunities he may have to visit the larger killing establishments where proper methods are followed.

Skin the Head First.

After stunning and sticking the animal in order that it may bleed properly, the operator should begin skinning the head, cheeks, and face, as this operation is easier to perform while the animal is still suspended. When skinning over the cheeks always leave the meat on the head, as one of the faults of country hides is the presence of more or less cheek meat. Remove the head by severing from the neck at the top of the spinal column, or atlas joint, leaving the horns on the skull and not on the hide.

The animal should then be completely lowered, placed on its back, and held in that position by using a spike stick as a prop, placing one end of it in the brisket and the other in the ground or floor. The legs should then be skinned out and the feet removed. The dewclaws should be cut off, and after the legs are skinned the hide should be ripped down the belly from the sticking cut to the tail, making this a neat, straight rip, free from jagged edges.

The sides should then be skinned by using the knife as a skinning medium, working forward to the brisket and then back to the inside of the hind leg, close to the tail, lifting away the hide with the free hand and stretching it tightly by pulling outward and upward against the knife. No wrinkle should be allowed to form under the hide as it is being removed, while a long, steady downward stroke should be used in removing it. The hide should then be skinned off nearly to the backbone, leaving it attached at the thighs and shoulders. The prop should then be changed, so that the other side of the animal may be skinned. Although proper skinning without scores or cuts requires considerable practice, a proper pattern requires only a sharp knife and straight, ripping, open cuts along the correct lines, as explained fully and well illustrated in the department's Farmers' Bulletin 1055, which now is available free on request.

Skinning at Front Legs.

For the cut at the front legs, start at the center, ripping line well forward at the brisket and somewhat in advance of the front legs; draw the knife slanting back to the union of the fore leg and body, and continue the cut down the leg to meet that made when skinning the feet and shins. The same is done for the hind legs, starting at the center, about six inches from the tail, and cutting upward to the back of the legs, so as to connect with the cut previously made. While the animal is still down also skin over the hump, and back side of the body. Next insert the spreader, or gambrel, in the hind legs and raise the animal a few hoists, so that its shoulders are resting on the floor. The next operation consists in removing the tail bone, which is done by ripping the hide down the underside of the tail to the brush or tip of the tail bone. Then the tail bone should be cut from the body and pulled from the hide, being sure to remove the entire bone, away which the hide is skinned away carefully from the base of the tail.

The hide should be removed from the hind legs and round by starting it with the knife and then by hitting or pounding with the fists, butt of the knife handle, or back of a cleaver, at the same time pulling on the hide by hand. This is the most valuable section of the hide, and it adheres so tightly to the animal that it is almost impossible to remove it with a knife without making detrimental cuts and scores. Hammering off is very satisfactory and is a sure way to prevent cuts. When clear of the back and round, the hide is generally snapped off to the flank. In skinning the back, very slight use of the knife is necessary, as the weight of the hide will almost pull it off. Care should be taken to see that the muscle tissue is not pulled off with the hide. When skinned down to the shoulders, the animal is raised clear of the floor, and the hide is then stripped off the neck, whereupon it is spread out and each ear is split with two cuts lengthwise, so that they will lie flat when curing.

Horse hides are removed in practically the same manner as hides of cattle. They are graded almost entirely on the condition of the butt or rear portion. Particular pains should be taken to keep the hide free from scores, cuts, and dragged spots. Tails and manes should be removed from the hides and sold separately.

SIZE OF FARM TO CULTIVATE

When Unable to Procure Labor Farmer Should Work Only So Much as He Can Attend to.

The farmer, unable to obtain help, should thoroughly prepare and plant only so much land as he can with labor saving implements and machines cultivate and harvest the crops. It would be better than to plant a larger acreage poorly prepared and half cultivated. Larger yields and better quality come with greater profit from land well prepared and cultivated.

TO KILL GRASSHOPPER EGGS

Farmer Must Not Forget Most Important Fact That Plowing is Most Effective Weapon.

We must not forget this important fact—plowing kills grasshopper eggs. If we are to win our battle against the hopper, the plow must figure as one of our most effective weapons. We are advised not to disk in crops of any kind where hoppers have been troublesome, but to plow and thus destroy the eggs which have surely been deposited there.

PLAN TO KILL CHINCH BUGS

Burning Grass Around Border of Infested Fields is Recommended as Means to Kill Bugs.

Burning fence rows or grass around the border infested grain fields is recommended as a fall practice to destroy chinch bugs. A slow, steady flame, fanned by a slight breeze, results in the killing of from 80 to 90 per cent of the hibernating insects; it also greatly reduces the number that would survive the winter and move to the wheat fields in the spring.

USE WASTE TIMBER FOR FUEL

Dead and Dying Trees Can Be Utilized to Save Coal Bills—Ashes Good as Fertilizer.

On account of the scarcity of coal there will probably be a large amount of wood used as fuel this winter. Use all the waste timber, dead and dying trees for this purpose and be sure to conserve the ashes for garden fertilizer. They are rich in plant food, particularly potash.

Camel

NEW BILLS GET TO WORK

General Assembly—Bill To Increase City Representation
The General Assembly of 1920 was formally organized last Wednesday afternoon at 10 o'clock in the Senate Chamber and after a session of several hours, with never an untoward incident to mar the smooth-running program. The presiding officers and the lesser ones were formally elected, assumed their dignified and made their inaugural speeches or bows; the Governor's message was received and read after the preliminary formalities were observed, and in joint session the Assembly canvassed the State vote of the fall and declared Mr. Ritchie elected. Then both houses adjourned until 8 o'clock this (Tuesday) evening, awaiting to continue.

A message was passed in the House by the introduction of three joint resolutions by Mr. Iverson—one to withdraw the application by Maryland of the prohibition amendment, a second to provide for a referendum on the subject of prohibition in the year of the State next fall and the third requesting the President and Congress to stay the operation of the Federal dry amendment. That the way was made the first message, although it is not believed by some observers of legislative events that Mr. Iverson's resolutions will get very far.

In the Senate Senator Metzger took a precedent by introducing two bills on the first day of the session. The first would provide for the increase of Baltimore city's representation in the General Assembly by the creation of two new legislative districts, giving the city six members of the Senate and 20 members of the House. The second bill was one concerning the building of new State roads and county roads to connect with them.

New Year's Dance

The young men of Princess Anne gave their annual New Year's dance in the Auditorium Friday night, January 10, 1920. Among those in attendance were: Judge and Mrs. R. E. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. N. Bowland, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jones, and Mrs. P. E. Walker, the Misses Ellen D. McManis, Lurline Gibbons, Charlotte Todd, Frances Alvord, Frances Wainwright, Dorothy Baum, Elizabeth Jones, Margaret Dashiell, Blanche Funks, Esther Reule, Madeline Hayman, Nell Dashiell, Dorothy Gray, Lenora Brown, Elsie Henry, and Frances Moore, Messrs. Myers, Sidney Long, Elmo Powell, Chas. Smith, Carroll and Kennedy Waller and C. V. Funks.

The guests from out-of-town were: Salisbury—The Misses Margaret Dick, Dorothy Porter, MaBella Tomlinson, Elizabeth Tall, Blanche Tomlinson, Anne Humphreys, Gardner, Shockey, and Overman, Messrs. Paul, Eugene and Houston Todd, D. Mitchell, Jsa. Humphreys, David Ward, Dick Porter and Hugh Vanderborgt. Crisfield—The Misses Stella Lankford, Elsie Lawson and Elsie Lewis, Kingston—Messrs. J. Arthur Dowland, Robt. Chamberlain and Mr. Davis, Rehoboth—Claude Bennett, Westover—Sherwood Cox.

Dance was furnished by the Wedelin Orchestra, of Crisfield. The chaperones were Mesdames Henry L. Brittingham, Wm. H. Dashiell, Wm. P. Todd, J. D. Waller, H. P. Dashiell and Miss Annie Sydnor.

Past Masters' Annual Meeting
The sixth annual session of the Past Masters' Association of Somerset and Worcester counties was held at the Atlantic Temple at Crisfield last Thursday afternoon. W. Frank Dougherty, of Chesapeake Lodge, No. 147, Crisfield, and Walter Bat of Crescent Lodge, No. 115, Pocomoke City, were admitted to the association. A banquet at the Commercial Hotel followed with 45 past masters present. William V. Sterling is the retiring president, as his successor, Marion Hargis, of Snow Hill, is installed.

Chas. H. Beck, John B. Roberts and Geo. E. Stewart, of Manokin Lodge, No. 10, of Princess Anne, attended.

Marriage Licenses
Following is a list of the marriage licenses issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Somerset County:
William P. Taylor, 21, and Eleanor H. both of Guilford, 19, January 12, 1920.
John H. Stevens, 25, and Mary E. Stevens, 23, both of Snow Hill, 19, January 12, 1920.

MARYLAND EARLY ARBOR DAY

Tree-Planting—One Mighty Force Working For Americanization
Memorial trees are being planted by thousands, according to reports to the American Forestry Association at Washington, which wants to register all memorial trees on its national honor roll. It will send free certificates of registration if you will report the trees. This call is for individuals, schools, churches, patriotic organizations or clubs planting trees. Roads of remembrance are being planted in various parts of the country. No finer memorial can be erected to the men who offered their lives to their country. "The country is awake to the possibilities of tree planting," says Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the association, "and to the value of tree planting along our roads as memorials. Give any memorial adopted the proper setting of memorial trees and let the people have an intimate part in the community's memorial—a part that signing a subscription list cannot give. In tree planting you have started one of the mightiest forces working for Americanization. The women's clubs are doing a wonderful work and in tree planting the schools of the country have found a new force in educational endeavor." The Arbor Days this spring follow:

Colorado—Third Friday in April.
Connecticut—May, on proclamation by the Governor.
Idaho—April, on dates set by the county school superintendents.
Illinois—On proclamation by the Governor.
Indiana—Third Friday in April.
Iowa—Proclamation by the Governor.
Kansas—On proclamation by the Governor.
Maine—On proclamation by the Governor.
Maryland—Second Friday in April.
Massachusetts—Last Saturday in April.
Michigan—Last Friday in April.
Minnesota—April, on proclamation by the Governor.
Missouri—First Friday after the first Tuesday in April.
Montana—Second Tuesday in May.
Nebraska—April 22, birthday of J. S. Morton.
Nevada—On proclamation by the Governor.
New Hampshire—At option of the Governor.
New Jersey—Second Friday in April.
New York—First Friday following May 1st.

North Dakota—At option of the Governor.
Ohio—Middle of April, on proclamation of the Governor.
Oregon—Second Friday in April.
Pennsylvania—On proclamation of the Governor.
Rhode Island—Second Friday in May.
South Dakota—Letter part of April, on proclamation by the Governor.
Utah—April 15th.
Vermont—First Friday in May.
Virginia—On proclamation of the Governor.
West Virginia—Second Friday in April.
Wisconsin—First Friday in May.
Washington State—First Friday in May.
Wyoming—First Friday in May.

Arbor Day, Mr. Pack points out, started in Nebraska when the State Board of Agriculture, on January 4th, 1872, heard the resolution of J. Sterling Morton that April 10th, 1872, be consecrated to tree planting. This was adopted, but later, in honor of the father of Arbor Day, the date in Nebraska was changed to April 22nd, the anniversary of Mr. Morton's birth. Since the custom has spread to every State in the Union, until now the American Forestry Association is organizing tree-planting associations in every school in the land.

Mrs. Ann Rebecca Todd Dead

Mrs. Ann Rebecca Todd, widow of W. A. Todd, formerly of this county, died last Sunday at the home of her son, Mr. Wm. P. Todd, on Beckford avenue, aged 79 years. She had been ill about ten days prior to her death. Mrs. Todd was a daughter of the late Samuel Archbold, of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Todd is survived by two sons, Mr. Archbold Todd, of Westover, and Mr. William P. Todd, of Princess Anne. Funeral services will be held at St. Andrew's Church in Princess Anne this (Tuesday) afternoon at one o'clock. The remains will then be taken to Chester, Pa., for interment.

Canvass Of Vote For Governor

At an official canvass of the vote cast at the November election for governor by the Senate and House of Delegates in joint session last Wednesday, Albert C. Ritchie was declared to have been elected governor of Maryland. The contest of his election by the Republicans, in behalf of Mr. Nice, the Republican candidate, which was contemplated shortly after the election, was abandoned. The following was the official vote announced.

Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, 112,240.
Harry W. Nice, Republican, 112,075.
Arthur L. Blessing, Socialist, 2,799.
Robert A. Stevens, Labor, 1,053.

MD. LEGISLATURE HAS CONVENED

Organization Of Senate And House Effected Last Wednesday

The 1920 session of the General Assembly of Maryland was formally opened at noon Wednesday, and the farewell message of Governor Harrington was received and read in both Senate and House. Organization of the Senate was effected by the election of the following officers:

William I. Norris, Baltimore city, president.

Emerson Crothers, Cecil, secretary.

Joseph M. George, Queen Anne's, journal clerk.

C. Andrew Schaab, Howard, reading clerk.

Walter C. Mann, Wicomico, assistant journal clerk.

J. H. Hopkins, Baltimore county, assistant journal clerk.

D. Edgar Hurlock, Queen Anne's, assistant chief page.

Col. Millard E. Tydings, of Harford, Speaker.

Albert J. Almony, chief clerk.

Joseph S. Bopp, Baltimore, assistant chief clerk.

Henry J. Batch, Talbot, journal clerk.

Leo S. Echle, Baltimore city, reading clerk.

John A. Slawick, Baltimore, sergeant at arms.

Charles Bishop, Worcester, assistant chief page.

A. M. Vannaman, of Cecil, Chief Engineering Clerk.

E. W. Adams, of Garrett, Postmaster.

All were elected in conformity with caucus decisions reached Tuesday night. The Republican minority met in joint caucus Tuesday night to listen to the address of Galen Tait, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and effected a permanent organization by electing Senator Sprosser of Baltimore permanent chairman, and Senator Epper of Allegany secretary. It was decided that three Senators and four members of the House or the chairman could convene the caucus at any time.

Senate and House members then held separate meetings. Senator Speicher was elected floor leader in the Senate and Senator Wm. P. Jackson was named as the choice of the members for State Treasurer. A resolution to put the Senators on record in favor of woman suffrage was tabled by a vote of 7 to 5.

The joint committee appointed to make arrangements for the inauguration of Governor-elect Ritchie was named as follows: Senators Frick, McIntosh, Wolf, Crothers and Speicher, and Delegates Jones, Coblenz, Simmons, Roberts and Coburn.

GOVERNOR'S FAREWELL MESSAGE

Delivered By Mr. Harrington To The Legislature Last Wednesday

Last Wednesday Governor Harrington delivered his farewell message to the Legislature. In the main the Governor told what had been accomplished by him and his administration during the past four years. After reviewing the State's finances, the following, among other recommendations, were made:

"And now that the war is over, the question may arise what is Maryland going to do for our boys and what kind of a memorial shall be built in memory of our dead, and in honor of those who have returned from service? I would recommend that the memorial should be expressive of our great gratitude and pride rather than to be of a utilitarian or commercial character. I am confident this legislature will not adjourn without some suitable action.

"That the school teachers of the State should receive larger salaries seems to be conceded by every one. Never more than now do we have need for the very best and most intelligent and progressive teachers, for upon them largely depend the proper education and development of the future citizens of our country.

"They must be prepared to teach true Americanism and true citizenship, and their reward should be in some proportion, at least, to the great service rendered. I believe, also, that arrangements ought to be made for proper athletics in our public schools, and especially would I recommend that in the elementary public schools a physical examination ought to be made of every student upon entrance by a competent doctor in order to remedy, when possible, whatever defects can be remedied; or to advise properly as to the health and mental condition of each child.

"During the war the state has been put to it to maintain its public highways and to adjust itself after the war. The great wear upon our roads by the heavy war trucks has caused very heavy expense for maintenance. Many of our roads were not built to stand the wear of the very heavy trucks, and either the very heavy trucks must be stopped, or our roads will have to be rebuilt or go to destruction.

"We must continue our good road system. It is the pride of our State. We have to-day in Maryland about 1,200 miles of state roads, about 463 miles of state-aided roads, and about 500 miles of improved or semi-improved county roads.

"There is now under construction about 115 miles of state roads and about 56 miles of state-aided roads, so that approximately there will be about 1,700 miles of roads, which, under the law, will have to be upkept and maintained by the state.

"The appropriation available from the Federal government for state road purposes under certain conditions for next year is about $850,000, and in my opinion, if the state and counties when state-aided with proper ratios match the $850,000, thus making some $1,700,000 per year, and this sum probably increasing from Federal government appropriation, the sum would constitute a permanent workable basis for the continuance of road building in Maryland, and it would be about as much as can be well constructed in one year, and this could be done without the necessity for a road bond issue at every legislature.

"There are, however, certain gaps in parts of our state road system, and especially certain bridges which will shortly have to be constructed. Otherwise the state road system will be localized and become no longer a workable state system."

"The world needs to get away from the notion of governmental help, both internally and externally, and get back to work and to business.

WORLD NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

WASHINGTON—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, declared in a statement that he feared President Wilson's Jackson day message had made impossible the hope "that in the senate we might have come together and ratified the treaty protected by the principles set forth in the fourteen reservations."

WASHINGTON—A warrant for the arrest and deportation of Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self styled ambassador of the Russian Soviet government, has been ordered executed by the department of justice.

LONDON—Bolshevik agitators in this country are working energetically along lines similar to those projected by the radicals in America—namely, the overthrow of the government and the establishment of a soviet form of government.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Governor Smith in his annual message advocates a referendum on prohibition to the voters.

NO LOANS FOR EUROPE NEEDED

Situation Abroad No Cause for Hysteria Here or There, Herbert Hoover Holds.

ORDINARY FINANCES AMPLE

Dozen Cities Require Breadstuffs and Commercial Credit Can Do Real, Decries Effort at Propaganda, Advises "Get to Work."

New York.—The New York headquarters of Herbert Hoover received by telegraph from him a statement in which he took emphatic exception to opinions of "European propagandists" concerning the volume of Europe's financial needs and the contention that the great bulk of these needs cannot be met by ordinary commercial credits. He declared that "with our taxes 600 per cent over previous rates" there is no need for drawing on the United States treasury for further loans to European nations.

"Aside from some secondary measures by our government," said Mr. Hoover's statement, "the problem is one of ratification of peace and ordinary business processes. By secondary measures I mean that some dozen cities in central and southern Europe need breadstuffs on credit from the Grain Corporation to prevent actual starvation and that the allies are asking for temporary delay in paying interest on our government loans to them."

Mr. Hoover said he believed that outside of temporarily deferring interest on the United States is reduced to helping out the bread supply of less than 5 per cent of the population of Europe.

No such situation exists as that which confronted America last year at this time, he said, and no grounds exist for hysteria on either side of the Atlantic.

The prosperous European nations which have not suffered in the war should also aid European relief, Mr. Hoover declared, adding: "If we contribute to those starving cities, plus business credits, we will be doing our share of world responsibility."

If we do undertake the solution of the bread question by our government our action would benefit and protect the other nations of Europe from infection of anarchy and chaos. Poland is the sole shield of Europe from Bolshevik invasion. If we extend this help it should be upon consideration that the stronger nations of Europe will do their full part in many directions. The neutral countries have made money from the war and have asked no favors and have given none.

The east Baltic states have enough food excepting milk for their children, said Mr. Hoover. Bulgaria, Greater Serbia, Rumania, South Prussia and Turkey, except Armenia, have a surplus of food this year, while Hungary could feed herself if Rumania would return grain and cattle lent last summer. We are, therefore, left with Finland, Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria to consider. Austria is the sorest point in Europe.

The world needs to get away from the notion of governmental help, both internally and externally, and get back to work and to business.

KENTUCKY AND RHODE ISLAND FOR SUFFRAGE.

Providence, R. I.—The federal woman suffrage amendment was ratified by the legislature. The ratification resolution passed the house by a vote of 80 to 3, and a few minutes later was adopted unanimously by the senate.

Frankfort, Ky.—Ratification of the woman suffrage amendment was completed by the legislature. The house of representatives voted 72 to 25 and the senate 30 to 8 to ratify the amendment.

With Rhode Island and Kentucky added, the number of states which have ratified the suffrage amendment is now 24.

TO CLOSE A. E. F. AFFAIRS.

Records Will Be Closed February 5, When Staff Leaves Paris.

Washington.—The affairs of the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe will be wound up February 5, when the records will be closed and shipped to Antwerp on their way to the United States. Notice to that effect was received by the war department from Brigadier General William D. Connor, acting commander A. E. F. He and his staff leave Paris February 5 en route to the United States.

The Best Way.
If the show of anything be good for anything, I am sure sincerity is better; for why does any man dissemble, or seem to be that which he is not, but because he thinks it good to have such a quality as he pretends to? For to counterfeit and dissemble is to put on the appearance of some real excellence. Now the best way in the world for a man to seem to be anything, is really to be what he would seem to be.—Tillotson.

Qualities of Precious Stones.
Opals are in certain respects altogether peculiar among gem stones. Whereas other gems, such as the ruby, the emerald, and the sapphire, owe their colors to mineral elements by which the crystals are stained, the brilliant tints of the opal are due to its structure, ever so many minute cracks reflecting lights at different angles from their edges. An amethyst is quartz crystal of another variety, containing from 5 to 12 per cent of water.

Ungrateful Oldtimers.
An old papyrus text, recently un-scribed in Egypt, shows a strong bias against women. After citing a long series of unfortunate happenings in history, it bluntly charges all of them directly to the conduct and influence of woman. Then it goes on to say that if she have wealth for her ally in wickedness, the evil is double. The last line of the fragment is not entirely legible, but appears to be of the same general tenor.

Sincerity.
Sincerity is the most commendable wisdom, and an excellent instrument for the speedy dispatch of business; it inspires confidence in those we have to deal with, saves the labor of many inquiries, and brings things to an issue in few words; it is like traveling in a plain beaten road, which commonly brings a man sooner to his journey's end than byways, in which men lose themselves.—Tillotson.

New "Science."
Character reading by waists is a new "science" which has come into being recently. According to a "waist expert" the girl who is possessed of a short waist has a lively, frank and vivacious disposition, is ambitious and very thoughtful of others. The long-waisted miss is economical, but, unfortunately, she is not always the owner of the sweetest of tempers.

Had the Right Idea.
Under Cyrus the Persians had excellent sanitary ideas, derived from the Egyptians. In talking with his father Cyrus received good advice, to the effect that while physicians could cure sickness in the army, the better course would be not to permit the army to get sick at all. Here was the voicing of prevention more than five centuries before Christ.

New Fishing Opportunities.
The fact that good fish range down to 1,000 feet opens up hundreds of thousands of square miles of new fishing grounds, especially off the British western coasts, off Iceland, and off Newfoundland. With improved nets and tackle fishing will in the future be carried on in far deeper water than it has been in the past.

Saturday Half Holiday.
The custom of having Saturday afternoon as a holiday is supposed to have originated in Scotland. It appears that by a council of William, king of Scotland, A. D. 1203, it was determined that Saturday, after the twelfth hour, should be kept holy, that every one might attend Vespers in preparation for Sunday.

Sound to Do Some Good.
We may scatter the seeds of courtesy and kindness around us at so little expense. Some of them will inevitably fall on good ground, and grow up into benevolence in the minds of others; and all of them will bear fruit of happiness in the bosom whence they spring.—Exchange.

What She Was Making Up.
Virginia had been out the night before, and looked tired, so mother suggested she stay in. When John came down from her room mother said: "Well, is sister making up her mind to stay in?" He replied: "Nope. She's making up her face to go out."

Two Countries' Wheat Production.
The average of wheat production in the United States is something like 334 bushels to the acre, and Great Britain is about the same.

KANE DECLARES HE IS POWERLESS TO CHECK GOUGERS

Handicapped by Cooke's Refusal to Reorganize Wartime Fair-Price Board, He Says

ATTORNEY'S DUTY TO STOP PROFITEERING, SAYS HEINZ

Prosecutor Has No Time to Answer Questions Concerning Action in Other Cities

With the housewive of this city clamoring for direct, vigorous action against the food gougers, whom she holds responsible for the undue increase of their children, Francis J. Kane, United States district attorney, declared yesterday he was powerless to check profiteering.

Mr. Kane complained he was handicapped by the refusal of Jay Cooke, formerly food administrator in Philadelphia, to reorganize the fair-price board. That of publicity, ought to be professed, he said.

But Howard Heinz, food administrator for Pennsylvania, said Mr. Kane on that point was in view with the Praxair Lumber Co. last night Mr. Heinz said that although he was making every effort to have fair-price boards re-established, that would not relieve the federal authorities from their duty to prevent profiteering.

The district attorney said that the Lever food-control act would prove to be effective in checking profiteering as distinct from profiteering in general, but that it would be difficult to prove violations.

Mr. Kane acknowledges that prices are inordinately high. Ignoring the price of meats, regarding which Robert M. Zimmer, agent of the State Food and Dairy Department, and government food and drug inspector, has given him a mass of evidence, he said that "the prices of fresh vegetables are terrible."

Mr. Kane said that the food control act is about as difficult as any other work that I know of.

Great Quantities of Food Seized by Federal Agents in Big Cities

INDICATIONS of the real pinch by the high cost of living were given yesterday by federal agents who seized quantities of foodstuffs by force in Chicago, St. Paul, and in Birmingham 100 hours ago.

While Attorney General Cummings said he intended to get higher prices than those listed in word came from Chicago, St. Paul, and in Birmingham 100 hours ago.

Who said H.C.L. FOR? INFLATED CURRENCY

LAST season's suit still holds together and we can half-sole our shoes. And you can still buy a big generous tin of the jolliest old pipe tobacco that ever came down the pike, without mortgaging the old homestead. Hooray!

Good old Kentucky is still growing Velvet's honest fragrant leaf. We're still ageing Velvet in the wood. Velvet's just as smooth and mellow and mild as it ever was. The quality's there and the quantity's there just the same.

Take the "cost" out of the "high cost of living" and what do you get? Why, "high living" of course. Well, sir, that's what Velvet does.

It's like Velvet Joe says:

"Anybody can tell you how much Velvet costs. But only yo' old pipe can tell you how much Velvet is worth."

There's goodness knows how many pipe leads in every tin of Velvet. Or if you want the mildest cigarette ever—there's 45 big ones in every tin.

Cooke Reiterates Refusal to Return for Food Fight

Howard Heinz, food administrator for Pennsylvania, in an interview with the Evening Post, said he is in his power to induce the fair-price boards to reorganize, as requested by the attorney general.

Mr. Heinz expressed the opinion that the fair-price boards will be set up upon the high cost of living, but that it rests with the government to assume regulatory control of the entire system of food prices.

Mr. Cooke, in a talk over the telephone last night said he would return and take up the work that would be a matter of course.

War is Over, Says Cooke. "The war is over," said Mr. Cooke. "I don't see why I should come back to the job of food administrator."

QUANT OLD NORWEGIAN CITY

Bergen Known for Many Things—Always its Proverbial Weather—Was Home of Ole Bull

The old Norwegian port of Bergen is known as the rainy city. "Always carry an umbrella in Bergen," is the rule widely followed both by inhabitants and strangers. That the umbrella is an accepted part of the Bergen costume is shown by the extravagant old saying that a man once walked in the streets of Bergen without an umbrella, at which sight the horses were so frightened that they reared and shied and even ran away. In spite of its reputation, Bergen has many beautiful sunny days, when the only reason for wearing an umbrella would be to conform to custom.

Whatever the atmospheric conditions, the fish market of Bergen is the most crowded and noisy place in town. Fishwives are excitedly trying to sell their flopping, wriggling wares to undecided customers, while other buyers and vendors grow heated over the price of herring or trout.

Away from this fascinating scene of confusion, in a quiet little park, is another significant phase of Bergen's interests. Here is a statue of Ole Bull, Norway's great violinist. Ole Bull was born in Bergen, and he now lies in its graveyard. The city's tribute to this genius is this statue of him, standing, as his fellow citizens had so often seen him stand before them, with his violin ready to play, but listening first to the rain and the birds and the talk of men that he might convert them into the language of the violin. This simple statue embodies more truly the spirit of Bergen than its scrambling, money-hoarding markets, or its flippant attitude toward the weather probabilities.

HAVE THEIR OWN LANGUAGE

No Doubt at All That Birds and Beasts Hold Communication With Each Other.

That phrase, "dumb animals," betrays more ignorance of the life around us than any other ever invented by our race, for, though no species save man has an articulate language, no one who has watched and attended to the ways of birds and beasts, can doubt that they very thoroughly manage to convey to each other their wishes and intentions. Each, in its own way, communicates with its fellows, and if the language is not our language it at any rate serves their purpose exceedingly well. Certainly the amount of individuality that there is among the different specimens of the same species can only be realized by those who have had much to do with wild creatures. No one mammal or bird is ever in character and behavior the exact duplicate of the next; each differs in some way from its neighbor, so you can never depend on any two animals doing exactly the same thing under the same circumstances—in fact, we find that individuality reigns as supreme throughout Nature as it does throughout man, but then, after all, man is a part of Nature.—Frances Pitt in the National Review (England).

Arctic Terns Love the Cold. For a long time it was thought that the golden plover bore off the palm for length of flight between summer and winter homes, but now that distinction is awarded to the arctic tern. This bird breeds as far north as it can find anything stable on which to construct its nest; it has been found within seven and a half degrees of the pole. And that nest was found surrounded by a wall of newly fallen snow which the mother bird had carefully scooped out from round her chick.

The tern arrives in the far north about June 15, and leaves again for the south toward the end of August, when the young are able to fly strongly. Two or three months later the birds are found skirting the edge of the antarctic continent, 11,000 miles away. What their track is over that vast space no one yet knows.

Mouse Fights Snakes. Everyone has heard of the remarkable combats of the Indian mongoose with venomous snakes, in which little rikkittiki-tavvi comes off victor. The fact that the mongoose invariably survives has led to the suggestion that it is immune to snake poison. Other animals said to be immune are the pig and the hedgehog.

The experiments of a British naturalist show that an animal of the dormouse family must be added to the list of immune. This animal is known as the lerot and is said to fight fiercely with vipers. Large doses of viper's poison were injected into one lerot, from which injection no ill effects followed. On one occasion a lerot was badly bitten in the eye by a viper and no signs of poisoning followed.

A Gentleman. A gentleman is full of consideration for others, a foe to violence of opinion or expression; an enemy at the same time of restraint, suspicion, gloom or resentment. He is merciful, gentle and tender; avoids unseasonable allusions or topics; never makes himself prominent in conversation, and suppresses his own egotism. He makes light of the favors which he does and seems to receive while he confers. He is scrupulous in imputing motives, is never mean or little, never takes unfair advantage and never mistakes personalities or abuse for argument.—Cardinal Newman.

Learning a Dangerous Lesson.
"Make hay while the sun shines," quoted the joyous philosopher.
"It sounds like good advice," replied Farmer Cornstossel; "but scarcity, they tell me, is the cause of high prices. Has it ever occurred to you that the more hay you make the lower the price you're liable to get for it?"

Automatic Influence.
"I guess we'll cut out that line of my speech," said Senator Sorghum, "about my being a public servant."
"It is a good old phrase."
"Yes, but it has had its day. As household relationships go just now, claiming to be a servant sounds just a little heavy."

Sure Thing.
"It was a silk umbrella," said the hotel boarder, "and it had a long rose-wood handle that was hooked in the end."
"That's nothing," said the hotel clerk. "I had an umbrella with a gold handle once, and it was hooked in the end, too."

His Knowledge.
While being questioned about her first day of school, Elsie, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncy Colvin, confided to her grandmother: "What bothered me most was that George (her teacher) knows so much more than I do."

The Desired Quantity.
"Have you decided on what you shall say in your next speech?"
"Maybe I won't make any speech," said Senator Sorghum. "So many people want to talk now that the surest way for a man to be popular is to help make up an audience."

NO DISLOYALTY ALLOWED.
"Is Grace jealous of her husband?"
"Jealous? Why, on their wedding day she wouldn't even let him admire the scenery!"

Aversions.
Of all the kids I've known, I'll state, These cause most discontent— The ones that try to imitate The comic supplement.

Her Way.
"Our cook is a contrary kind of woman."
"How so?"
"She is a rare creature, yet all her works are well done."

The Varieties.
"The girl I love is the pink of perfection."
"Oh, these pinks of perfection in families would be all right if it wasn't for the poppies."

Queer Action.
"Is Maude color blind?"
"No; why do you ask?"
"Because when she wanted to find the Green family, she looked in the Blue Book."

Tact.
"I suppose this bread of mine is not to your liking."
"It makes me pity father when he had to eat the kind mother used to make."

Naturally.
"There is no use in splitting hairs in that argument."
"Why not?"
"Because it is over bald facts."

Beyond Him.
"What a wonderful linguist that man is! Is there any tongue he can't master?"
"What his wife's?"

His Dream.
"The boy writes has a certain rude quality."
"How could he expect to sue for libel literature?"

Wish Enough.
"I wish I had some more money."
"I wish I had some more money, too."

How much more.
"I wish I had some more money."

Walk That Tells Character.
A peculiar walk is that of the long stride with the decided swing of the shoulders. This walk is generally to be seen in authors, actors and artists, and is characteristic of the art world, the man who has ideas of his own, and is quite untrammelled by convention. It denotes independence and, if accompanied by an emphatic planting down of the left foot, a stamp in fact, resolution and determination.

Frost at Varying Heights.
The reason frost occurs on low lands when there is none on high ground is because the higher ground cools off more rapidly than the lower, and the upper stratum of air being thus condensed, flows downward and deposits the moisture, which changes into frost. Cold air is heavier than warm and settles to the bottom.

Good Guess.
Apple was among the first words on which the class had been well drilled. One day when Betty's attention was elsewhere the word apple was introduced. In the drill which followed "apple" was Betty's word. She looked at it somewhat puzzled, then smiled at her teacher and said: "Half apple."—Chicago American.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. BOTH CLAIM HONOR

Dispute Over Location of First Press in Northwest.

Minnesota and South Dakota Each Firm in the Belief That They Are in Possession of Historic Old Relic.

The location of the first printing press in the Northwest is being disputed by two states, Minnesota and South Dakota, says a dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal.

The historic printing press, an old Washington hand-press, which, it is claimed, printed the first newspaper in the Northwest, is now in the hands of the Minnesota Historical society. The Minnesota contention as to the history of the press is substantially as follows:

"Its active career began back in 1836, when John King of Dubuque purchased it in Cincinnati. He arrived in Dubuque with the new press on May 1, 1836, after a tedious trip on a river steamer. The first issue of this paper, the Dubuque Visitor, appeared on May 11. It is said that the Visitor was the only paper north of St. Louis and west of the Mississippi river at that time.

"The press, in 1843, for some reason or other, was sold to three representatives of a stock concern, J. Allen Barber, Daniel Benfill and Nelson Derby, who latter was to become Wisconsin's first governor. These men took the press across the river to Lancaster, Wis., to print the Grant County Herald, of which L. O. Schrader was the first editor.

"The Herald passed finally into the hands of James M. Goodhue, a lawyer by profession and a fighting editor of the old school. Goodhue in the spring of 1849 shipped his press up the river to St. Paul, Minn., where he founded the Pioneer, which years afterward became the Pioneer Press.

"In 1855 the press passed into the hands of Jeremiah Rissell, who took it to Sauk Rapids to use in printing another pioneer venture, the Frontiersman. After that it changed hands frequently. It printed among other publications the Sauk Valley Press conducted by Herman Muhlenberg, state adjutant general. The material of this publication was later sold to the Lindstrom Citizen, a Swedish newspaper. Shortly after this old press found its last home in the state museum in St. Paul.

"Gov. Samuel J. Albright, associate editor of the St. Paul paper, purchased the press in 1858, carried it 400 miles across the prairies to Sioux Falls, Dakota Territory, where, July 8, 1859, he established and printed the Dakota Democrat.

"During the Indian hostilities of 1862, Sioux Falls was abandoned and the Indians took possession of the place. They found the old press and broke it to pieces. The settlers found the fragments but could not put it together again. Senator R. F. Pettigrew of Sioux Falls is understood to have secured the plate and made from it a doorstep.

"The South Dakota story has been verified satisfactorily so far as the South Dakota department is concerned, by Governor Albright, who wrote in regard to it that 'it was so stated, so understood and, I believe, so published upon its removal to Dakota.'
"But, on the other hand, in the Minnesota museum stands a press which is claimed to be the one in dispute. This one is simply constructed and from its appearance might have printed every pioneer newspaper in the Northwest. Whatever the true story of the identity of the press may be, it is well worth contention."

The Right Man.
One day as Dan Beard was going up the elevator in the high Flatiron building in New York city at the rear of the car was a messenger boy with his arms filled with a score of bundles all of the same size.
Peering over the top of the ambulance, he fixed his eyes steadily upon Mr. Beard. The national scout commissioner of the 400,000 and more Boy Scouts of America knew the signs well enough to realize that something was passing through the boy's mind. He asked the lad what he was thinking about.

The boy replied: "I was just thinkin' that you look like a friend o' mine."
"What's your friend's name?" asked the man who is the friend of all boys.
"Dan Beard," said the messenger.
"I am Dan Beard," replied the commissioner with a smile.
"Gosh!" was the only reply of the astonished boy, who dumped his bundles under the feet of the amused passengers and brought his right hand up to a stiff salute.

Aerial Police for Germany.
Germany has a network of aerial police patrols organized to prevent the migration of capital from Germany, in addition to fighting against criminals generally. A landing place for police airplanes is already being laid out on the Swiss frontier. Similar establishments are planned for Hamburg, Breslau and other towns.

Supply and Demand.
"The great question now before us," began the ponderous constituent.
"We've got more questions on hand just now than we really need," interrupted Senator Sorghum. "Come around with an answer once in a while."

MOST FAMOUS OF PALACES

Building Constructed by Brunelleschi for Count Pitti in the Glory of Florence, Italy.

No country is richer in beautiful palaces than Italy. In most instances these have now become the property of the nation, so that the taxpayer is indirectly responsible for the general good while preserving their dignity and safeguarding their treasures. Throughout Italy, from Turin to Palermo, these monuments to the genius of the Middle ages are to be found, but perhaps none is so famous as the Pitti palace at Florence, built upon a hill above the Arno with the beautiful Boboli gardens stretching behind it. Count Pitti, chief magistrate of Florence in the fifteenth century, desiring to out rival Cosimo de' Medici, set himself to build a palace which should be the wonder of Italy. He employed the architect Brunelleschi, whom Cosimo when building his own palace had passed over because of his magnificent disregard for expenditure, and Brunelleschi was given a free hand. Pitti, however, fell into disgrace for plotting against the son of Cosimo and no workman could be found to continue his half-completed palace. Thus for a century it was to remain, until Eleanor of Toledo once more took it in hand and it became—oh, strange irony!—the home of the Medicean grand dukes. The Pitti was not actually finished until 1689. The sight-seer is aware as he wanders through this vast building today, and gazes at its walls lined with five hundred pictures, most of them masterpieces, that he is rather in a royal palace than a picture gallery, and he doubts not the truth of Machiavelli's verdict, that the Pitti palace "is greater and more splendid than the house of any other private citizen whatsoever."

FIRST OF FEATHERED THINGS

Archaeopteryx Must Have Been a Remarkable Looking Bird From Accounts of Its Appearance.

Today the birds are all quite different than they were years ago. The first bird that was ever seen on earth was called the Archaeopteryx, which is a Greek word, meaning "ancient wing." It was a very odd bird. It had a long, thick tail, with bows of flesh and with feathers growing from it. It was not like a bird's tail is now, but more like a lizard's tail. It had two legs, with which it could walk and perch in the trees. It also had two other limbs like hands, which it probably used to climb about the trees, instead of flying from bough to bough, as birds do now. Its eye was fitted with a sort of armor shield, as the reptile's. Its beak was armed with strong teeth.

Of course there is no such bird as this now, and it is not surprising that such a bird should pass away. Even in these days two or three strange birds have died out.
Men have killed many birds and animals, but in making the world what it now is, nature has killed far more. Whole races of animals have been destroyed by earthquakes and floods.
In time nature changes all things, and so she did the birds.

Longest of All the Arts.
Let it be remembered that though all arts are long, the art of playwriting is the longest. And after years given to the study and practice of it you will find—precisely as in acting, writing, painting, sculpture, music, only more so—that it is never to be fully mastered. Every time you attempt a drama you learn something more about how to do it; and something more—wholesome lesson for vanity!—about your own ignorance and limitation. "I have played Hamlet now for 50 years," exclaimed the famous old actor Betterton when somebody told him his performance of that part was perfect, "and I believe I have not got to the depths of all its philosophy yet." I began playwriting when I was a child. I have been at it now for not less than 55 years, and I know I have nowhere near got to the depths of all the philosophy of it yet—and, what is more, that I never shall do so.—David Belasco in the Saturday Evening Post.

Had Barnums in Those Days.
The love of monstrosities, which are usually mere freaks of nature, is still common; but it would appear to have been more popular in the good old times. In the year 1742 crowds frequented the Mitre, Charing Cross, London, to view "the largest Thames monster, or miraculous man-eater, that was ever in the world. As a boy was washing his mop this surprising monster caught hold of it in his mouth, and had very like pull the boy into the river, but he calling out for help, several men came to his assistance, with great difficulty dragged this monster out, and he lived four hours after on shore."

Whale Oil From Swordfish.
The heads of 100 average swordfish will yield 65 gallons of an oil that has high market value. Refined and sun-bleached, it is indistinguishable from whale oil, and commands the same price. In fact, commercially, it is whale oil.

Whale oil is obtained on a much larger scale from halibut heads, which are treated in the same way as the swordfish heads—cooked to a pulp with steam and pressed. A short ton of them will yield 40 gallons of oil. Boston and Gloucester, Mass., annually produce 12,000 gallons.

CAMELS are in a class by themselves—easily the most refreshing, the most likable cigarette you ever smoked. You can prove that! Simply compare Camels puff-by-puff with any cigarette in the world at any price! Put quality, flavor and cigarette satisfaction to the utmost test!

Made to meet your taste, Camels never tire it, no matter how liberally you smoke them! The expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes Camels delightful—so full-bodied, yet so fascinatingly smooth and mellow-mild. Every time you light one you get new and keener enjoyment!

Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels as unusual as they are enjoyable.

In fact, Camels appeal to the most fastidious smoker in so many new ways you never will miss the absence of coupons, premiums or gifts. You'll prefer Camel Quality!

ALLA NAZIMOVA IN "EYE FOR EYE"
Great Screen Play At The Auditorium Wednesday Night, Jan. 14th

The Famous Actress Alla Nazimova to be seen January 14th in one of her greatest plays on the screen, "Eye for Eye," at the Auditorium, Princess Anne.

The picture was taken from the famous play L'Occident, written by the noted Belgian dramatist, Henry Kistemaecker, and adapted for the use of the screen by June Mathis and Albert Capallani. Mr. Capallani, who is a distinguished French director, made the production under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger.

Some of the many unusual features which this picture contains is the real circus. All the phases of circus life will be seen by the audience and in the life of the Arabians. The scenes in which she does the dance of the Veils, she holds the audience in the palm of her hand, not a sound to break the rapt attention with which her work is received. It is a picture which arrests the attention and expands the imagination, transporting the beholder to the heart of things Oriental and mysterious and telling a story of passion which is not to be surpassed. Nazimova's career in this country has been a series of continuous and tremendous successes which have placed her at the top of the ladder of dramatic and screen fame.

This picture is to be shown for the benefit of a charity fund for Wa Wa Tribe No. 121 Improved Order Red Men, of Princess Anne.

No Great Act of Heroism Required
If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual.

January Term of Court
The January term of the Circuit Court for Somerset county began yesterday (Monday) with Judges Duer and Bailey on the bench. This is a non-jury term at which usually very little business is transacted; but there being a case of much importance to be disposed of at once—that of eleven negroes in the county jail charged with shooting up a Gypsy camp near Pocomoke City—the grand jury had been summoned to appear Monday to hear the case and find indictments. The petit jury was summoned to appear today (Tuesday) to hear the evidence against the accused.

THE RIDDLE

By OLIVE J. BARTON

The smile had disappeared from his own lips, but not the curiosity from his brain. He sought Jimmy's desk and showed him that 7 x 9 are not 64. "Oh, by the way, did they guess your riddle, Jimmy?" he asked casually. "No, sir," answered Jimmy promptly and proudly. "I had to tell 'em." But he remembered no further information.

Suppose you say it again, Jimmy, you know, and we thought we'd have them for a change. We are tired of our old games. Mr. Milford was silent for a moment; then said crisply, "Miss Eaton'll send down some primary history readers. The children will like them, I think, and they are more improving than riddles, I'm sure." Whereupon he went out and closed the door. But not before he had seen the deep red in Miss Eaton's cheeks deepen to a painful crimson as she caught the implied rebuke.

HIS UNSEEN GUEST

Waitress Tells of Experience in Serving Ghost.

Old Gentleman May Have Been a Little "ON," but Her Notion is That He Had Recently Lost a Loved Grandchild. Jane, who has worked in one particular section of the lunch counter of one of the great New York hotels since the day it was opened, is the best waitress that ever set down a dish without a spill or a clatter—so say the discriminating. Her deftness, her quiet manners, her promptness—above all her unflinching politeness—stamp her as one apart from the sisterhood. She was serene and composed while she dealt with one of those peckish, snappy men who had dropped in under the impression that because one sits on a stool in this excellent place it is cheap. It isn't. He was a little ashamed to fuss about the price, so he fussed about everything else. But at last he departed, and serene Jane permitted herself a weary smile.

DOG AS CHILD'S COMPANION

With the Right Kind of Animal, Youngster Will Seldom Stray Beyond Safe Bounds.

An observation of our friend, the farmer, that "I dunno's I ever heard of a dog as a child's playmate and protector. Some dogs have the runaway wild stir within them—they are vagrants by nature. Such a dog would delight to have human company in a runaway journey and are not safe companions for children. But the right kind of dog, and there are many of them, who have been brought up with children, are quick to assume the role of guardian. With such a dog no child would ever get lost; indeed, would not be allowed to stray beyond bounds. We have in mind a Great Dane whose temper was such that, although we were acquaintances, we never ventured to enter his domain, if he were around, until he had had time to satisfy himself that we could pass muster. Once satisfied you were approved by the god he called master and goddess he called mistress, he had an embarrassing way of standing on his hind legs and placing his front ones around your neck—a caress quite likely, if you were not well braced, to knock you off your feet. He was the inseparable companion of the baby of the family—a boy of four or five—who had a predilection for running away. When the youngster started, the Great Dane followed; when the child reached the gate, the dog blocked his way, gently but firmly. For anyone to have touched that child when the Dane was near would have cost him his life—unless he had first shot and shot to kill. The intelligence of the dog is a source of constant amazement to those who know him best and love him most; and of his devotion there is, happily, no question. If all children had dogs as playmates there would be fewer to run away and get lost.—New Bedford Standard.

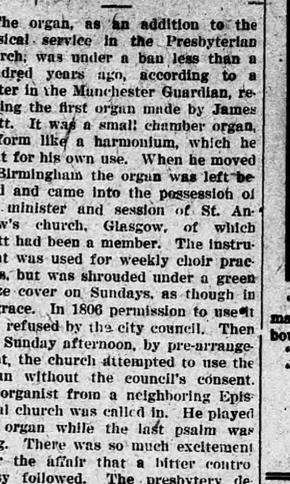

ORGAN WAS ONCE UNDER BAN

Scottish Presbytery, Less Than a Century Ago, Declared Its Playing Contrary to Law.

The organ, as an addition to the musical service in the Presbyterian church, was under a ban less than a hundred years ago, according to a writer in the Manchester Guardian, recalling the first organ made by James Watt. It was a small chamber organ, in form like a harmonium, which he built for his own use. When he moved to Birmingham the organ was left behind and came into the possession of the minister and session of St. Andrew's church, Glasgow, of which Watt had been a member. The instrument was used for weekly choir practices, but was shrouded under a green balize cover on Sundays, as though in disgrace. In 1806 permission to use it was refused by the city council. Then one Sunday afternoon, by pre-arrangement, the church attempted to use the organ without the council's consent. An organist from a neighboring Episcopal church was called in. He played the organ while the last psalm was sung. There was so much excitement over the affair that a bitter controversy followed. The presbytery declared it was contrary to law and the constitution of the established church and it was prohibited in all churches and chapels within their bounds. Sixty years later St. Andrew's church got its first organ peaceably. The Mocking Bird. No two mocking bird families can occupy the same tree or bush—and there are some lively scraps before their territorial boundaries are established; but once settled, their peace treaty is faithfully kept. The mocking bird never forgets that he is a star in the musical world. He will help pick out the building place and lay the foundation of the nest; then he suddenly seems to make up his mind that he is a poor architect, but a fine musician, and abandons house-building for the business of singing for his own little world.

WORKERS JOIN

Plan Big Co-operation Scheme for Production, Buying and Selling.

FORM A JOINT COMMISSION.

Representatives and Brotherhoods and Many Crafts Represented Meeting Officials—May Drop Wage Demands.

Washington.—Failing to obtain satisfactory relief from the high cost of living, either through further wage advances by the railroad administration or from the anti-profiteering campaign of the department of justice, officials of the four railway brotherhoods and the railroad shop crafts affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have decided to seek a solution for themselves through co-operative buying, production and distribution. The plan was conceived in some quarters as a result of demands for further wage increases would not be granted without the outcome of the experiment.

Details of the co-operative scheme have not yet been completed, but plans for it have been under consideration since the farmer-labor conference at Chicago in November. The formation of the All-American Farmer-Labor Co-operative Commission, an outgrowth of the conference, was announced at an earlier date. Another conference will be held in Chicago, February 12-13.

Warren A. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and one of the organizers of the Chicago meeting, is general treasurer of the Co-operative Commission, and other officials of the railway employees' organizations are officers.

Representatives of the four brotherhoods conferred with Howard Figg, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of the campaign against the high cost of living. Mr. Figg said the brotherhood representatives had come to obtain first hand information regarding results achieved by the department of justice and had informed him that their organizations planned to solve their own problems of living costs through co-operative methods.

Indications that pressure from railway workers for increased wages might be lessened was seen in a statement by Bert M. Jewell, acting president of the railway employees' department of the Federation of Labor, that "an increase in pay will not solve the problem." Jewell asserted that higher wages, accompanied by a proportionate increase in prices, result in a "vicious circle" which leaves the railroad man no better off after the increase in pay than he was with the smaller salary.

Other officials of railway workers' organizations saw no hope for relief in the prosecution of profiteers and declared the only way to deal with an economic situation was with economic factors.

An alliance of the farmers, the organized producers, on the one hand, with the laborers, or organized consumers, on the other, was the purpose of the Co-operative Commission, said Jewell, who is a member of the commission. It aims to "conduct a vigorous campaign for direct dealing between farm producers and city consumers and, as soon as feasible, between city producers and farm consumers."

Plans for the organization of a co-operative bank, authorized by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers before the war, may soon be pushed to completion and steps taken to establish co-operative stores and distribution facilities to supply members of the brotherhood with necessities of life at a reasonable price.

Allen E. Barker, grand president of the Maintenance of Way Employees, is a member of the joint commission, and L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, is vice president. C. H. Gustafson, president of the Nebraska Farmers' Union, is president of the commission, and Oscar H. McGill of the Western Co-operative Timber Mills is general secretary.

VIENNA HAS CRIME WAVE.

During Robberies Committed Continually in Daylight.

Vienna.—The most daring robberies are continually committed at broad daylight in the heart of the capital, and so serious have conditions become that all drivers are armed to defend themselves against thieving attacks. Vans filled with relief food and other goods are held up by large gangs, who bring with them guns to carry off their loot. It is estimated that 2,000 additional police are needed.

SAN FRANCISCO SELECTED.

Site in Fight for Democratic National Convention on June 23.

Washington.—San Francisco was selected as the place of the next Democratic national convention, and Monday, June 23, was fixed as the date by the Democratic National Committee at a meeting at the Shoreham Hotel. The vote on the free ballot was San Francisco, 17; Kansas City, Mo., 17; and Chicago, Ill., 17. The election of the convention was held at the Hotel.

LET PEOPLE DECIDE TREATY, SAYS WILSON

Well Received at Double Jackson Day Dinners, While Bryan's Dissent Wins Applause.

Washington.—The President of the United States, who is also the leader of the Democratic party, accepted the challenge offered by the Republican majority in the senate to make the League of Nations the issue in the impending presidential campaign.

It was received by 1,000 guests at a double-headed dinner to commemorate the birthday of sturdy old "Hickory" Jackson with every manifestation of approval and sympathy.

The dissenting note was sounded by William Jennings Bryan. The three-time Democratic candidate for President declared his opposition to President Wilson's proposal in a dramatic statement which provoked only a small amount of applause from the two groups of diners whom he addressed at the Willard and Washington Hotels, following the reading of the President's letter in which he declared that "the clear and single way out of it (settlement of the controversy over the peace treaty) is to submit it for determination at the next election to the voters of the nation."

Mr. Bryan, who hurried here from Florida to attend the Democratic feast, squarely took issue with the President's declaration in these words:

"We must either secure such compromises as may be possible or present the issue to the country. The latter course would mean a delay of at least fourteen months, and then success only in case of our securing a two-thirds majority in the senate. We cannot afford, either as citizens or as members of the party, to share with the Republican party responsibility for further delay; we cannot go before the party on the issue that such an appeal would present."

Mr. Bryan did not confine his criticism to the international policies of the Wilson administration, though he specifically singled out the President's acceptance of the gauge of battle thrown down to his party by Senator Lodge. He instanced his disapproval of Article 10. He also had much to say on matters of domestic interest.

Senator Hitchcock, who has led the administration fight in the senate for the treaty, professed satisfaction at the President's statements on the treaty.

DON'T DELAY

Some Princess Anne People Have Learned That Neglect Is Dangerous

The slightest symptom of kidney trouble is far too serious to be overlooked. It's the small, neglected troubles that so often lead to serious kidney ailments. That pain in the "small" of your back; that urinary irregularity; those headaches and dizzy spells, that weak, weary, worn-out feeling, may be nature's warning of kidney weakness. Why risk your life by neglecting these symptoms? Reach the cause of the trouble while there yet is time—begin treating your kidneys at once with a tried and proven kidney remedy. No need to experiment—Doan's Kidney Pills have been successfully used in thousands of cases of kidney trouble for over 50 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are used and recommended throughout the civilized world—ask your neighbor? Endorsed at home. Read Princess Anne testimony.

Mrs. C. A. Young, Beechwood St., says: "I was in a bad way from a run down condition of my kidneys. My hands and ankles were swollen and there were bruffy spots under my eyes. I was subject to dizzy spells and when I stooped over, sharp pains caught me in the small of my back. I simply felt miserable. After using one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was rid of all symptoms of kidney trouble."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Young had. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Bookeller And Others

For many years it has been customary when news was scarce to take a wallop at John D. If he gave ten thousand to charity, we figured that he would save his conscience by raising the price of oil. Whichever way the cat jumped, John D. would land in front of it.

A few years ago the giving of a million to charity would create a national stir. Today it is nothing. John D. gave a hundred millions to philanthropy Christmas morning, and by night the story was too old for repetition. But John D. is different from others. He scatters his money abroad in the hope that it will do some good in the world. The new generation of money kings hugs it to their own breasts and grows at the poor devil who begs a nickel for a crust of bread. The devil may become peevish at John D. even yet.

Maryland Ahead in Navy Recruiting

For the week ending January 1st, '20, the Baltimore district, including most of Maryland and part of West Virginia, jumped to third place in the number of recruits obtained in the Eastern Recruiting District. Only the quotas for New York and Philadelphia exceeded that of Baltimore.

Twenty-one recruits were obtained in five days. This in spite of the fact that it was in the midst of the holidays.

Against Race Track Gambling

The following resolutions were passed by the Maryland State Grange at a recent session of that body:

Whereas, the Maryland State Grange favors clean racing as provided for by the laws of New York and other states and the breeding and racing of standard bred horses, and

Whereas, we believe the free use of stallions offered by the Maryland Jockey Club is misleading and detrimental to the breeders of farm horses, as such grades are undesirable for farm or utility purposes, and

Whereas, we believe that race track gambling corrupts and stultifies the morals of our citizens, and

Whereas, we believe that the governing factors of race tracks where gambling is permitted have an evil influence upon the social and political conditions of our state,

Therefore, be it resolved that we, the members of the Maryland State Grange in the 47th session assembled, do hereby record our disapproval of race track gambling and will use our best endeavors to rid our state of this great evil, and

Be it further resolved, that we will co-operate with the Maryland Anti-Race Track Gambling Association and such other organizations as may have the above purposes in view.

FERTILIZERS

The Best is None Too Good For Your Mother Earth

Just like in everything else, fertilizers included, there is always one best brand. As Daniel Webster said: "There is always room at the top."

Another good old saying is: "The best is always the cheapest." We don't know who said that, but whoever he was, he was right.

And of all things—you cannot afford to skimp on the food, in the form of fertilizer, that you feed to your mother earth, because your food and well being depend upon the quality and abundance of the crops that mother earth yields for you.

So when you go to buy fertilizers, buy the top brand:

Of all the ingredients that go to make a perfectly balanced maximum producing fertilizer, fish is one of the most important. There is no substitute that can take its place. That is why our fertilizers have come to be known as fish fertilizers because they always contain that important ingredient properly balanced with other materials to make a fertilizer that meets the soil requirements of this part of the country.

If you want to see results use Tilghman's Fish Fertilizers.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENES TODAY

Grand Jury Indicts Nine Negroes In The Gypsy Shooting Affair

The grand jury which was re-convened in Princess Anne Monday of last week to consider cases against the negroes held for shooting up the gypsy camp near Pocomoke City, finished their labors last Tuesday. Indictments were found against nine, as follows: Zebedeo Long, William Long, Edward Martin, Edward Cottman, Horace Cottman, Clarence Long, Frank Kersey, Gardner Kirkwood and Orrie Bevans. All of the men are charged with assault with intent to kill.

Trial was postponed until today and it is understood the men will waive a jury trial and be tried before the court. It is expected that all three judges—Chief Judge Pattison and Associate Judges Dyer and Bailey—will sit at the trial.

The State will be represented by State's Attorney L. Croston Bencham and George H. Myers, who was appointed Assistant State's Attorney for these cases. The prisoners are represented by Col. Henry J. Waters, of this town, and Charles O. Melvin, of Pocomoke City.

Board Issues For Public Schools

The Board of Education will hold a special meeting next Tuesday, January 27th, at 10 o'clock, to consider the propriety of asking the Legislature for a bond issue for public school purposes. The Board of County Commissioners and a number of responsible men from different parts of the county have been invited to meet the Board of Education at that time.

The idea of this bond issue is to provide money with which to paint and repair the school houses of the county, many of which are going to decay from neglect; to extend the building of the Princess Anne High School, which is now overcrowded with pupils; to provide a new school building at Kingston and to arrange for the construction of the Central School at Mt. Vernon and also one at Marumaco, in all probability.

The County Commissioners, it is true, have already levied about $5,000 for the Princess Anne school, of which the sum of $1,000 has been paid to the school board and also the sum of $200 for the Mt. Vernon school, of which $50 has been paid to the school board. The plan is to add to these amounts by the bond issue and in addition to the various buildings, to make the school houses of the county more presentable.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Wharton Dead

The Rev. Dr. J. S. Wharton, 85 years old, retired Baptist clergyman, died at the home of his son, W. J. Wharton, at Crisfield, Monday of last week. Dr. Wharton was born in Culpeper county, Virginia. He was a brother of the Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton, pastor of Brantly Baptist Church, Baltimore.

Dr. Wharton practiced medicine in Virginia and was surgeon in charge of Chambergo Hospital during the Civil War. In 1880 he entered the ministry, serving pastorates in Madison and Farmington, Va., the Eastern Shore of Virginia and Chase City, Va. He went to Crisfield, organized a congregation, and built the first Baptist Church there. He retired from active work in 1895. He was twice married and is survived by his widow and two sons, W. J. Wharton, of Crisfield, and J. S. Wharton, Jr., of Wilmington. The funeral service was held from the First Baptist Church Wednesday. Burial was at Rehoboth, Del.

Does Your Soil Need Lime?

Our farmers now have an opportunity to have their soils tested free of charge by taking or sending samples to County Agent Keller or sending sample to the Department of Soils, Maryland Experiment Station, College Park, Md. Since this offer is good only for a limited time we want to urge upon our readers the importance of taking their samples on Monday, February 2nd, and sending them to the office of the county agent or in the mail at once.

If your soil needs lime you should know it and supply the need. If on the other hand you have been using lime and have already satisfied the lime requirement, you should know it and invest your money on fertilizers rather than in additional lime.

Harry C. Long Dead

Mr. Harry C. Long, son of the late James W. Long and Mrs. Mary C. Long, died at his home near Rehoboth last Saturday morning, aged 39 years. His funeral took place from his late home on Sunday afternoon and interment was in the Rehoboth Presbyterian cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and three children. He is also survived by his mother (Mrs. Mary C. Long), two brothers (Messrs. James M. and Robert C. Long), and four sisters (Mrs. Tubbs, of near Rehoboth; Mrs. F. J. Long, of near Rehoboth; Mrs. F. J. Long, of near Rehoboth; and Mrs. F. J. Long, of near Rehoboth).

FAREWELL "JOHN BARLEYCORN"

Stringent Constitutional Prohibition Succeeds Wartime Drought

The 18th amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing for National Prohibition, and prohibiting the sale and manufacture of all intoxicating beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol went into effect at midnight Friday, January 16th. It is now unlawful:

To make or sell intoxicating liquor without a permit from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

To carry liquor with you, "on the hip" or in any other way.

To tell anyone where he can get a drink.

To own or sell any apparatus for making liquor.

To make hard cider from sweet or by any means to put a kick into bevo or grape juice.

To tell anyone how he can make liquor.

To distribute any tablet or substance to be used in making liquor.

To possess any liquor, except in your own home, in a United States bonded warehouse, on an authorized physician's prescription, or for sacramental purposes.

To sell even non-intoxicating cider or fruit juices except to persons with licenses to make vinegar.

To advertise liquor for sale, or formulate whereby liquor can be made.

To give liquor to anyone except for consumption in your own home immediately after the gift.

To exchange anything for liquor or one kind of liquor for another.

To import or export liquor.

The penalty for illegally making or selling liquor is: For a first offense a fine of not more than $1000 or imprisonment for not more than six months; for a subsequent offense, a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $2000, in addition to imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than 5 years.

A Man Who Had Time For Religion

Mr. Henry W. Hodge was a nephew of the late Dr. H. P. Wilson, of Baltimore, and a first cousin of Mrs. Henry J. Waters, of Princess Anne. The following article is from the Southern Churchman, and is published by request:

"There died in New York during Christmas week Mr. Henry W. Hodge, one of the finest men that this country has ever produced. His passing was chronicled by the great daily papers in a few words, because he was one of the leading structural engineers of the world and because he designed many of the largest bridges and sky-scrapers of the United States.

"But he was more than this. Some one should call attention to the remarkable religious character of this man. He was not of our communion, as perhaps the name may suggest. Busy as he was in his profession and with his mind fully occupied by his daily tasks, he yet always had business of the highest importance on each Wednesday evening of the week, the night of the prayer meeting in the church he attended. He practically never missed attending the services on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, performing his religious duties with the quietness and earnestness which tells of a sure belief. He was with General Pershing in France as the engineer in charge of all the bridge building in connection with the army, and even there, with all the excitement attending to his duties, he could always slip away on a Sunday morning at 11 o'clock to attend to his religious duties. All this was done with such a quiet unostentation that few suspected the intensity of his religious devotion, yet always admired him for the devotion he showed.

"A clergyman of England named Horrocks made the first calculation of a transit of Venus across the disk of the sun. It occurred on a Sunday about two hundred and fifty years ago. He wrote an account of how he looked for it. He started looking for it in the early morning, because in those days men had not arrived at that degree of accuracy which the astronomers of today have. It was not to be seen. Then he pens the sentence, "Business of the highest importance called me away." It was the hour of the morning service and he carefully attended to that. Then he again took up the task of observing the sun, but he saw nothing. Again "business," and he could not come back until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. And to reward his faithfulness there was the small black disk on the face of the sun, showing the transit of the planet.

"Business of the highest importance to Henry W. Hodge and the clergyman Horrocks was simply doing their duty in a religious sense to Almighty God. "Perhaps it is worth while in these days to call to mind such examples of men who have lived up to the teaching, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God.'"

RITCHIE MARYLAND'S NEW GOVERNOR NOW

Takes Oath Of Office Before An Admiring Crowd In The State House At Annapolis—Greeted By People From All Parts Of The State

In the presence of a great concourse of admiring friends, public officials and others, Albert C. Ritchie, of Baltimore city, Democrat, was inaugurated Governor of Maryland for a four-year term at noon last Wednesday, succeeding Emerson C. Harrington, of Cambridge. The inaugural ceremonies were, in a way, of a simple nature, this being in deference of the wishes of the new Governor, but in spite of that crowds of persons from all sections of the State flocked to Annapolis to witness the quadrennial demonstration.

The oath of office was administered, shortly before noon, by Chief Judge A. Hunter Boyd of the Court of Appeals. Standing side by side with the outgoing Governor, Mr. Ritchie, the cynosure of every eye, repeated the oath, sentence by sentence. At his first word a deep silence fell upon the room and his voice, though low, penetrated to every corner. As the last syllable, proclaiming him Governor of Maryland, fell from the lips of Judge Boyd, the deathlike stillness was rent with a tumult of applause. The people had acclaimed one of the youngest Governors of one of the oldest States.

Escorted by the Fifth Regiment Veteran Corps, the Governor-elect and his official party arrived at 10.50 a. m. Political clubs of the Third, Seventh and Tenth wards had preceded him.

The day was cheerful as a bright wintry sun could make it. A chilly breeze shook out the many flags and pennants which bedecked the quaint old town, whirled in eddying gusts the withered leaves still to be found on the hill on which the State House stands, and ruffled the surface of the Severn till it flashed like a million mirrors. Politicians from Baltimore and elsewhere, and sturdy giants whose brawn and tan bespoke years spent on the farms of Maryland, crowded the State House. Amid the cheers of these, the Governor-to-be proceeded to the Executive Mansion, where Governor Harrington awaited him.

Leaving the Governor and Governor-elect at the mansion, the official party, including the Governor's personal friends, his personal escort and the committees from the House and Senate, marched to the chamber of the House of Delegates, escorting there the judges of the Court of Appeals. Hundreds of spectators were already on the scene. The House, which had adjourned to await the arrival of the new Governor, resumed its session.

After a short delay Governor Harrington left the executive mansion with Governor-elect Ritchie, Philip B. Perlman, the new Secretary of State; Mr. Radcliffe, the retiring Secretary, and Adjutant General Warfield. They entered the State House between lines of policemen and immediately proceeded to the House where they were received by the Legislature, the Senators having joined the Delegates and the members of the Court of Appeals. Speaker Tydings received them on the rostrum. Standing between the incoming and the outgoing Governors, he introduced Gov. Harrington, who in a brief farewell speech, the Governor presented the Governor-elect to the General Assembly and Mr. Ritchie, though slightly nervous, read his inaugural address in clear, firm tones. It was a serious, thoughtful presentation of problems to be faced and aspirations to be realized. It was neither flowery, flamboyant nor grandiloquent. Peering into the future, he neither minimized the importance of the work ahead nor underestimated the obstacles which stood in the way of its achievement. But, with all, it was delivered with an earnestness and a fearlessness that inspired confidence in the heart of every auditor.

Following the address, and escorted by Governor Harrington and members of the Senate and House, Mr. Ritchie proceeded to the Senate chamber, where the oath of office was administered and Governor Harrington gracefully surrendered the helm of the ship of state. The new Governor then held a reception in the old Senate chamber, where he was warmly greeted by hundreds of personal and political friends who made Annapolis their Mecca Wednesday.

School Of Journalism At Camp Meade

A school of journalism for enlisted men of the army has been started at Camp Meade, Maryland. Although more than a hundred trades and professions are being taught in the vocational schools of our new, democratic, peace time army, instructors report that comparatively few are enrolling for the purely professional courses such as journalism, advertising, etc. A journalistic student at Camp Meade the other day asked to take up bricklaying also, as a side issue and as sort of a precautionary measure in these days of unsettled standards. His request will probably be granted.

GOV. HARRINGTON SAYS GOODBYE

Expresses Gratitude For Aid From Every Quarter Of State

Governor Harrington last Wednesday said farewell as Governor of Maryland in an address delivered at the inaugural ceremonies marking the induction of Governor Ritchie into office as his successor. Governor Harrington said:

"The past years have been so crowded with events, not only of state and nation, but world-wide importance, that it is hard to realize that four years have now passed by since I became the chief executive of Maryland.

"At that time I was conscious that my hopes of a successful administration depended largely upon the generous sympathy and support of the people of the state. But had I at that time foreseen the great questions and problems which a world war was to bring, I would, indeed, have had a still greater diffidence to meet these obligations and perform these duties.

"However ill or well these duties have been performed, with what ability these problems have been met, or whatever may have been the failures, all these things cannot now be recalled. They have become a question of history. And for all these things to be rightly judged, we are too near to them now to give a proper verdict.

"We must wait the calm critical judgment of after years, when Maryland's history of these days and times will be written. I cannot let pass, however, this occasion without expressing in the strongest language that I can command, my sincere and grateful appreciation of the aid and support given me from every quarter of the state in the great crisis through which we have passed, in helping me to keep Maryland true to her past, and among the foremost in the very highest ideals of patriotic service. I am prouder of my state today than ever before.

"I have seen our people from every county and every city stand together, a united band ready to make any sacrifice for our country's cause. We have a beautiful state. The war has given me an opportunity to see our state and our people at their very best. Four years ago standing upon the platform I promised to dedicate whatever energy, whatever ability I possessed, and all my time to the service of the state. A God has given me vision to see the right. I have tried to keep the faith and have conscientiously endeavored, regardless of favor or criticism, to perform my duty as I have seen my duty.

"Today the state's finances are in excellent shape and our people are more prosperous than ever before in our history. That mistakes have been disappointments, too, must be conceded. These but incidents in political life. The great criterion of the future will be, however, what service has been rendered to the state?

"At this hour I am conscious only of a deep sense of gratitude for those friends who were with me at the start and have remained with me to the end. I am unconscious of any feelings, only the kindest, toward either friend or foe.

"To the people of Annapolis, Mrs. Harrington, myself and family shall ever be indebted for their many evidences of their friendship and kindness. We shall ever hold our stay here in fondest memory. We have formed friendships and associations which we shall ever cherish. I am confident my successor will find it as we have, and will leave it with as much regret.

"It is indeed a personal pleasure as well as an honor that is mine to present to you my successor. For four years I have had the benefit of his counsel and his advice. For four years I have had an opportunity to know his views upon public questions, to recognize his zeal and splendid ability in the performance of public duties.

"While the war is over, there are many difficult questions that are now awaiting solution. The people of our state decreed that Governor Ritchie shall be our leader during the next four years. And now, regardless of all differences, and of all politics, we should stand now just as united, as we stood during the war, together behind his leadership for the common good, for everything that tends toward the advancement and welfare of this grand old commonwealth, which we all love so well.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I now present you your governor, the Hon. Albert C. Ritchie."

M. L. V.

By JAMES OSBORN

He had seen her slight from a train one afternoon when he was leaving a certain mid-Western town to come East. A porter followed her in her two porters followed her, each carrying an assortment of very valuable baggage.

Hezekiah saw her established in a chair in the very Pullman car in which he had engaged a chair, and then paid the car porter to have his chair, which was at the end, changed so that he might sit nearer the charming M. L. V. Those were the letters on the well-built luggage that was stowed away beside her chair by the station porter.

When their ways parted six hours later Hezekiah had failed to find the opportunity to speak to M. L. V. that he had hoped might arise. Just before leaving the Pullman at his station he sought the porter.

Made Hezekiah Feel Entirely Welcome

"The young lady travels with a good deal of luggage," he said. "Is she an actress?"

"No, indeed," drawled the porter. "She is no actress; she is some rich young lady traveling for her own amusement."

Hezekiah, a few months later, boarded a Pullman at the same mid-Western town, making a run toward the West. And there was M. L. V.—as crisply, daintily, demurely lovely as ever.

Hezekiah had thought he liked fair or red-haired girls, and that he admired the buxom type. M. L. V. was of the slight, dark type. You might have called her Japanese, because her eyes were a little almond-shaped and her complexion was clear and pale, and her hair was smooth and dark. Straightway Hezekiah revised all his former meditations on the subject of his ideal.

Hezekiah felt dejected. He was quite sure that he would have to make M. L. V.'s acquaintance some time, some way.

But if she were a young woman of wealth—and she was obviously a person of much education, for she had been reading "Rabindranath Tagore" before—and now she was deep in a French book, even the name of which was too much for Hezekiah—what show had he? For the first time Hezekiah felt contempt for the business that his grandfather had bequeathed upon him.

He would no doubt like him better if he were a doctor or a lawyer or a college professor. He thought for a moment, not rapidly but intently. Hezekiah seldom came to quick conclusions, but he usually came to wise ones.

In business he had the reputation of being as slow as any man in the field, and as sure. It was the sort of slowness that fascinates you with its security and stability.

When Hezekiah had come to this conclusion on this occasion he summoned the porter to him, and covertly handed him a dollar. "See here, Rags," he said. "I want you to forget that I'm a drummer. I want you to call me professor. I've a special reason for wanting that little lady over there to think I am a professor. Understand?"

And then, as he noticed that the little lady was glancing at him from beneath heavily shaded eyes he said:

"I'm sure to see and get me the next Monday at the next stop."

"Yes, professor," said Rags, "and I'll have those Harvard professors in the next car looking for you again, Monday. I'll just tell them you are

PEACE BULLETINS

William J. Bryan broke with President Wilson on the peace treaty and League of Nations in a speech at the Jackson day dinner in Washington, declaring the Democratic party could not afford to carry the league to the people because it could not share with Republicans responsibility for the long delay in restoring peace.

Members of the senate received from Mayor Thompson of Chicago telegrams denouncing the treaty and condemning ratification even with the Lodge reservations. Coming so soon after Governor Lowden's pronouncement in favor of ratification on the basis of the Lodge program, Washington declined to regard Mayor Thompson's action as a mere coincidence bearing no relation to Illinois politics. It is construed as a stab at Lowden.

Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, in behalf of a group of Democrats who had not consulted Senator Hitchcock or Senator Underwood on their move, offered to Senator McNary of Oregon, a Republican mild reservationist leader, a set of peace treaty resolutions drafted with a view to forming the basis of a compromise.

FARM POULTRY

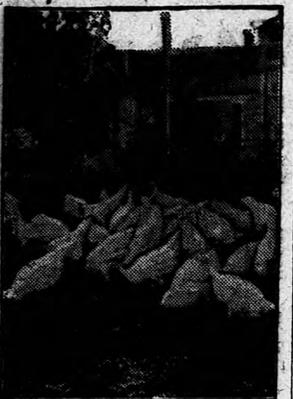

BEST FEED FOR LAYING HENS

Object Should Be to Repair Waste and Furnish Heat to Body and Supply Egg Materials.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The nutriment in the feed of laying hens serves a twofold purpose—to repair waste and furnish heat to the body and to supply the egg-making materials. As only the surplus over what is needed for the body is available for egg production, the proper feeds should be fed in sufficient quantities to induce this production.

In supplying feed to fowls there are three kinds of constituents which should be present in certain fairly well-fixed proportions if the desired results are to be obtained most economically. These constituents are mineral, nitrogenous, and carbonaceous, all of which are contained in corn, wheat, oats and barley, but not in the right proportions to give the greatest egg yield. In addition some animal feed and green feed should be supplied.

In feeding poultry a valuable lesson may be learned from nature. In the spring the production of eggs on the farm is an easy matter. Fowls which are at liberty to roam find an abundance of green and animal feed on their range, which with grain furnishes a perfect ration for laying hens. In addition to this they get plenty of exercise and fresh air. So far as lies within his power, then, the feeder should aim to make the winter conditions springlike.

PORRIDGE FEED FOR POULTRY

Scraps and Waste Are Best Prepared by Running Through an Ordinary Meat Cutter.

Table scraps and kitchen waste are best prepared for feeding by running them through an ordinary meat grinder. After the material has been put through the grinder it is usually a rather moist mass, and it is well to mix with it cornmeal, bran or other ground grain until the whole mass assumes a crumbly condition. The usual method is to feed the table scraps at noon or at night, or at both times, as may be desired, in a trough or on a board. All should be fed that the hens will eat up clean, and if any of the material is left after one-half or three quarters of an hour it should be removed. If allowed to lie it may spoil and would be very bad for the hens.

POULTRY NOTES

You get more for dressed poultry by picking it dry than when scalded.

It is almost impossible to give laying hens which are confined too much exercise.

Nature teaches us that fowls should have a wide range and that a farm is the best place for them.

The fall renovation of the poultry business should include a thorough survey of the feed bins and corn cribs.

Idle hens soon grow too fat to lay and in the plans for winter it is well to provide some means to compel them to work.

A burglar could demand no more comfortable living conditions than the red mites and lice receive in some poultry houses. They are thieves of poultry vitality and must be controlled.

Poultry houses should be covered with a good grade of roofing paper, as it makes a tight roof and does not permit the warm air to seep out through the roof, as is the case with shingles.

POULTRY FACTS

BEST FOOD TO FATTEN FOWL

Whether Young or Old Mixed Grains Are Better Than Any One Variety —Milk Is Relished.

Mixed grains are better for fattening fowl, whether old or young than any one variety alone. Oats and corn, ground, are perhaps the most fattening. Buckwheat and ordinary wheat are good food and add variety to the rations but they are not so fattening. Chickens get tired of one kind of feed, the same as people do, but they thrive on mixed feed. Skim milk is one of the best articles of diet that can be put on the fowl's bill of fare. It is relished, it is healthful, it is nourishing and it greatly improves the color, flavor and texture of the dressed meat. Among the most rapid gainers for killing purposes are the barred Plymouth Rocks, the Rhode Island Reds and the Wyandottes. Fed on the above rations any of them can be made to gain from a pound to a pound and a half in three weeks, possibly less. This is profitable feeding.

FEED FOWLS DAMAGED GRAIN

It Is Essential to Exercise Particular Care That Birds Are Not Injured by Material.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Although it is good management to allow poultry to rustle about in grain fields and stock yards after the grain crop has been stacked or thrashed, it is essential to exercise particular care that the fowl are not injured by feeding on damaged grain. Specialists of the United States department of agriculture assert that where damaged grain is fed in limited amounts to the flock which is on free range, the possibility of serious injury is reduced to a minimum. On the other hand, they state that it is advisable not to feed the damaged grain—and never to use this material if it is moldy or musty—in anything but very small amounts where the fowl are closely confined all the time. There is an inexplicable something about the range which the birds have as well as the waste products which they utilize that apparently keeps them healthy, so that they are able to handle small amounts of grain which are not too seriously damaged. It is especially necessary to watch corn and cornmeal, as these feeds are inclined to spoil rather easily.

Chickens Having Free Range Utilize Much Waste Product.

GREEN BONE GOOD FOR HENS

Material Can Often Be Purchased From Local Butcher—Is Substitute for Meat Scrap.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Green cut bone can often be purchased from the butcher. This material when procured fresh makes an excellent substitute for beef scrap. It should be purchased in small quantities, as it cannot be kept fresh for any length of time and when spoiled may cause severe bowel trouble. It is best fed in a trough not oftener than every other day, allowing about one-half ounce per bird. Should severe or continued looseness of the bowels follow the feeding of green cut bone it should be discontinued or the quantity reduced.

TRAP-NEST ALL LAYING HENS

Tends to Tame Birds, Thereby Increasing Egg Production and Permitting Clear Record.

When possible it is advisable to trap-nest the layers for the following reasons: (1) To tame the birds, thereby tending toward increased egg production. (2) To furnish definite knowledge concerning traits and habits of individuals. (3) To furnish the only satisfactory basis for utility or other breeding. (4) To eliminate the non-productive hen. (5) To add mechanical precision to judgment and experience in developing and maintaining the utility of a flock.

WHITE BIRDS GAINING FAVOR

Rocks, Orpingtons and Rhode Island Coming to Front Fast as Egg Producers.

The White Rocks, White Wyandottes, White "Reds" or Rhode Island Whites—are fast coming to the front as high egg producers. The achievements of the White Leghorns seem to overshadow all other white birds.

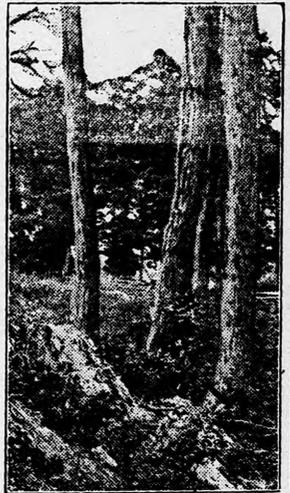

BLACK LOCUST RECOMMENDED FOR WOODLOT

Black Locust Plantation, Trees Five Years Old.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Black locust—known also as "yellow" locust—is one of the most profitable and useful kinds of timber for the farm. The wood is heavy, hard, and particularly durable when used in the ground. For use as fence posts, black locust is long-lived and very desirable. Only one other wood gives longer service, namely, osage orange or "hols

"arc," which, however, nowhere occurs in abundance and is so hard that it is difficult to drive staples into it except when it is green.

Locust Grows Rapidly. Black locust grows rapidly and yields good-sized fence posts at an age of from fourteen to twenty years, according to the forest service. A worn-

FEEDING HAY AND ROUGHAGE

Handling and Hauling of Large Bulk May Be Saved by Giving Products to Live Stock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the marketing of hay and roughage there is a large bulk to handle and haul to the point of delivery. The United States department of agriculture points out that this means much extra labor for the men and teams on grain and crop farms, and much fertility is taken off which might be returned to the fields if the products were fed to live stock.

HOW WHEAT IS DISPOSED OF

One-Half of Crop of 1918 Sold by Farmers in Three Months Beginning With July.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Wheat is mostly marketed by farmers soon, or, at any rate, not long, after the harvest. Of the crop of 1918, more than one-half was sold by farmers in the three months beginning with July, and 69.3 per cent in four months. Thereafter the monthly sales dwindled to 1.5 per cent of the year's total in June, 1919.

NICE INCOMES FROM POULTRY

Raising Chickens Has Many Attractions for Those Who Enjoy Association With Fowls.

Poultry raising, like raising live stock in general, has many attractions for those who enjoy the work. Men and women often enjoy association with animals and fowls. There are women making nice incomes from poultry.

KILL GOPHERS IN ORCHARDS

Rodents Delve Deep at This Time of Year and Sometimes Nest Under Cherry Trees.

Look out for gophers and get them now. In well-drained orchards they delve deep and nest under the root-crown of your best cherry-tree without giving much evidence of it.

out field in middle Tennessee which 20 years previously, had been planted with one-year-old locust seedlings, yielded fence posts worth $188 an acre on the stump, or $480 at the railroad about two miles distant. This was a gross return of $9.40 an acre yearly on a hillside of fairly good soil which before the trees were set out had started to gully badly. Returns of $5 to $7 an acre annually have frequently been realized on poor, thin hill land. Good soils underlain with limestone and planted to black locust in the Appalachian and Piedmont regions, from Pennsylvania to Kentucky and Tennessee, can be counted on to yield an average of $10 an acre yearly at the end of from 15 to 20 years.

The manufacture of insulator pins requires large amounts of black locust, for which purpose it is the most satisfactory wood.

Starting Black Locust.

In starting black locust, small sprouts with a portion of the root may be dug up and used; or, better, the seed may be sown in the spring in drills in good soil, like onion seed. At the end of the season the seedlings will be from two to four feet in height and satisfactory in size for setting out. This may be done in the late fall, but the spring season, about the time growth starts, is preferable. In some regions the locust wood borer is almost certain to cause extensive damage to young plantations unless special precautions are taken to keep the trees in a healthy growing condition and the bark shaded by foliage, either from near-by trees, shrubs, or weeds. Information on this insect and methods of its control will be found in United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 787, "Protection From the Locust Borer."

Strange as it may appear, black locust, although one of the most durable woods when set in the ground, matures early and deteriorates in the tree rapidly if not cut when ripe. Commercially the tree is usually mature in 15 to 25 years.

GOOD TOP DRESS FOR WHEAT

Application of as Little as Two Tons of Manure Per Acre May Increase Yield Ten Bushels.

It pays a big profit to top dress the wheat with manure. An application of as little as two tons per acre may increase the yield ten bushels; at least it has done this much one year with another in Indiana tests. Four tons make only about two bushels more.

The manure benefits the wheat directly through the plantfood which it contains, and indirectly through the winter protection, which often is of greater value. Where manure is used as a top dressing the stand of clover is generally better. There is an organic benefit from the manure which is considerable and is not so easily explained. Where as much or more plantfood is applied in the form of commercial fertilizers the resulting yield has not been as large.

CUT STRAW IS BEST BEDDING

Much of Liquid Manure, Now Wasted, Can Be Saved by Use of Effective Absorbents.

A great deal of the liquid manure now going to waste can be saved by the use of absorbents, such as straw, sawdust, muck and loam. Uncut straw is a very valuable absorbent, taking up two or three times its weight of water, while fine cut straw will absorb six or nine times its weight of liquid. Moreover, oats straw contains quite a large amount of plantfood, especially potash.

BUYING SMALL FARM TOOLS

Time and Money Can Be Saved by Making Purchase on One Order—Give Systematic Care.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If possible all small tools for the farm should be purchased on one order. This will save time and, usually, money. Also, it will entail a total expenditure sufficiently large to impress the farmer with the importance of giving systematic care to his small tools.

Mr. Ralph Webster, a student at St. Johns College, left Monday for Annapolis to resume his studies.

Miss Elizabeth Somers, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbie Twigg, has returned to her home in Crisfield.

Deeds Count, Not Years.

In the olden times people sought the fountain of youth, and they thought that a draught of its water would enable them to live forever. But the best of life is not its length, not the chronological quantity of it. Better fifty years of the moving, pulsating, busy life of the present than all the dull centuries of Methuselah. What did he do with all his weary years? He had the reputation of having been the oldest man, and nothing to show for it—Exchange.

PUBLIC SALE OF TWENTY-ONE

Horses and Mules
 Saturday, January 24th, 1920

BEGINNING AT THE HOUR OF 1.30 P. M.

These Horses and Mules range in age from 4 to 8 years, and were selected with a view of meeting the needs of the farmers of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia. They are good sound stock and every farmer in need of Horses and Mules should take advantage of this opportunity of securing them at a reasonable price. Call at my stables in Princess Anne and look them over on Friday before the sale. In the lot are several young single and mated Mules and Horses. I will trade or sell this stock on Friday before offering it at public sale on Saturday.

TERMS OF SALE to suit purchaser.

Christian Era.

The Christian era was not adopted as a means of reckoning time until several centuries after Christ's time. An error was made in the reckoning then and it is now agreed that the time assigned for the birth of Christ was at least four years out of the way; that is, according to the accepted reckoning, Jesus was born in the year 4 B. C.

Free Hot Water.

Free hot water for hot drinks at picnic or for any other use is served to the public at a recreation park in Toronto from a gas water heater placed on the grounds by the city authorities. A wooden shed houses the heater and a sign on the building calls attention to the fact that hot water is free.

Bound to Get His Share.

Little five-year-old Willie was invited to a birthday party. On his return home his mother was surprised to see him take two big pieces of cake out of his pocket. When asked for an explanation Willie replied: "Mamma, I could not eat much because my stomach was full, so I brought some things home."

Indiana's Apt Description.

Sinnaschugy is the word coined by the Navajo Indians of Utah for motorcar, and it is literally translated to mean a wagon that goes with a "chug," according to an authority on the language of the Navajo, Hopi and Apache Indians. The Indians are now seeking a word for the airplane. It is a miracle to them.

Ditto.

The first recorded case of attempted economy by a government official was unfortunately a failure. It appears that somebody, whose duty it is to issue all outgoing checks, attached his signature to the first one of a batch and simply put "ditto" on the remainder.—London Punch.

Johnson Knew Human Nature.

Johnson wrote to Boswell on September 22, 1777: "When a man is invited to dinner he is disappointed if he does not get something good . . . everybody loves to have things which please their palate put in their way, without trouble of preparation!"

Lion Had Long Life.

Authorities differ as to the age limit of a lion. Some biologists fix the normal span of a lion's life at about twenty-two years. A lion which died in the Tower of London in 1760 had lived in captivity over 70 years.

To The Dyspeptic

Would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles are over, that you can eat any kind of food that you crave? Consider then the fact that Chamberlain's Tablets have cured others—why not you? There are many who have been restored to health by taking these tablets and can now eat any kind of food that they crave. (Advertisement)

PRINCESS ANNE MARYLAND

A Card of Thanks

I hereby extend my sincere thanks to the citizens of Princess Anne and Somerset county for their patronage during the 35 years I have been engaged in the jewelry business.

Owing to my nerves and eyes, I have discontinued the business which I have sold to Mr. Godfrey Anderson, a watchmaker of 25 years experience. I feel sure he is one of the best on the Shore and all work entrusted to him will be handled in a first-class manner.

I have found him to be a congenial gentleman as well as a good watchmaker and trust you will give him your patronage. Respectfully,
 E. I. BROWN.

The Express company was not in its usual spirits for the holiday business.

No Great Act of Heroism Required

If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effective.

HERE TO REPRESENT PERU

Frederico A. Pezet is the first Ambassador from that country in the United States.

Peru has been added to the list of Latin-American states maintaining embassies in Washington, states the New York Tribune. The first ambassador, Frederico A. Pezet, has arrived in this country and the state department seems inclined to annul his benefactor's famous Costa Rican "house rule," to the effect that no diplomatic recognition can be given to a Latin-American government coming into power through revolution.

Mr. Pezet will be welcomed as the representative of Peru, a state which has always had the most friendly relations with the United States. He served here formerly both as first secretary of legation and as minister. He knows this country thoroughly, speaks English as well as he does Spanish and enjoys in an exceptional degree the esteem of government and other circles in Washington, in which he has long been at home.

SEEK FOR TRADE IN ARCTIC

Boston Capitalists Form Organization Something Like the Famous Hudson's Bay Company.

Word has just come out of the North of a rival to the Hudson's Bay company that has sprung up. It is an organization backed by Boston interests and its aim is to get a share of the trade that the "Ancient and Honorable Association of Adventurers" has monopolized for over a century.

The expedition went into the North via Calgary, Alberta, with eight carloads of goods, of an estimated value of $240,000. In addition to this they sent in a river power boat for operation on the Mackenzie river. The vessel was sent in sections and assembled on the big river. The party worked slowly down the river, canvassing and exploring among the tribes and only reached Fort Macpherson when winter came.

Reasonable Expectation.

"Ah, how do you do, sir?" saluted the suave salesman of enlarged crayon portraits, as the householder opened the door. "I am offering—My stars! Is that revolver loaded?" "I reckon," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "Leastways, 'twas the last time I noticed."

Schooldays.

In a physiology recitation during a discussion of the organs of breathing, a sixth grade girl, when asked what the diaphragm was, replied: "It is something that if we didn't have we'd go all out of shape when we breathed."

The teacher in assigning a lesson in the fifth grade geography ended by saying: "The question need not be answered by written answer; the answers must be in your head." There was a general laugh when a boy raised his hand and asked, "Must I hand it in?"

Girl Mines Coal.

Pittsburgh lays claim to the only girl coal miner in America and probably in the world. Miss Ricka Ott is her name and she is just twenty-one years old and very attractive. But she is a coal miner, and is proud of it. In addition, she is a coal operator, truck driver, farmer and general "jack of all trades."

Filipinos Take to Athletics.

Since our soldiers in the early days of American occupation held their first athletic contest in the Philippines the natives of the islands have taken an active interest in many forms of athletics and sports popular in the western world. It was not, however, until rivalry between towns and provinces was created that a deep general interest in every form of sport was developed.

Ludendorff and the Germans.

Representative Fees was talking about Ludendorff's memoirs. "Ludendorff's present day attitude toward the German people and the German people's attitude toward him are pretty clearly shown in this work," he said. "It reminds one of the lawyer."

Old Friends are True Friends

The man, who loves a dog and a pipe, has two staunch friends that never fail him in good luck or in bad. They give all and ask nothing in return. Day by day they become nearer and dearer to him. The man who has not a dog and a pipe has missed two of the greatest things this good old world can give.

Every man who loves his pipe should know Velvet, the one tobacco that brings out all of a pipe's best and sweetest qualities. Your pipe takes on an added friendliness from Velvet's choice Kentucky leaf aged in the wood to a mellowness that's rich and smooth as cream.

Your pipe takes on a mild sweetness that is Velvet's natural tobacco sweetness. And around you hovers the real tobacco fragrance that all good pipe smokers love.

Never did Velvet Joe say, a wiser, truer thing than this:

"Folks say you can't buy friendship. You can buy a dog and a pipe and good old Velvet—and I reckon no man ever had three better friends."

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

There's a lot of pipe-loads in every big generous tin of Velvet, and every pipe-load is good tobacco at its best.

There's a certain physician in Los Angeles who admits the fact as his responsibility, he will shortly lose his daughter. He tells it this way: "I was in my study when the door opened and in came Jack. I knew him well, and just a glance told me that he was far from being his usual self. He looked as though he had been waiting for me to speak. I commenced an examination. His heart was fluttering. His brow was drawn and his eyes were red. I sprang toward the phone, crying over my shoulder, 'You're a case for the hospital, young man.' 'Sure, by gad, but you must have let me ask, you first?' 'Ask me what?' I demanded in amazement. 'I want to marry your daughter, by gad, and then I realized that I had made the wrong diagnosis and that he had unconsciously my reference to the hospital.'—Los Angeles Times.

HISTORIANS HAVE NOT SAID

Of Course There is Just a Possibility That Mrs. Patrick Henry Was Unsympathetic.

They were having one of the usual family quarrels over his having been at a meeting at the Commercial club while she was "at home all alone and so lonesome." "You don't wish me to have any city or country spirit, either," he finally said to her hotly. "I wonder where our country would be today if all the men who have lived in it had stayed at home and petted their wives all their life as you are wanting me to do for you?" "Well, the women always suffer," she retorted. "Public men never have time to appreciate their wives and sympathize with."

Then he interrupted her. "Oh, that cry for sympathy" (he was angry now). "I suppose that it's a national cry. I imagine that while Patrick Henry was at the Virginia legislature making his famous speech, 'Give me liberty or give me death,' that Mrs. Patrick H. was at home waiting, 'Give me sympathy or give me death.'"—Indianapolis News.

The Cheerful Exterminator. On moving into our honeymoon apartment we discovered that it was really in need of the services of an exterminator. With a bride's ignorance of apartment home life and the clubby ways of the cockroach, I regarded this as a personal disgrace, and took great care to keep it a profound secret from our friends.

One day, while exhibiting my shiny new kitchen equipment to a girl friend, I answered the back-door buzzer, and there was the exterminator, inquiring in a loud, cheery tone, "Well, how are the cockroaches?" The situation reduced my mind to such a pulp that I babbled, "They're well, thank you!"—Exchange.

The Site That Failed.

As a rule the relations between Russians and Japanese soldiers in Siberia have been friendly enough. But at a town on the Transiberian railway, which had just been freed from the foul tyranny of bolshevist rule, a Japanese soldier hailed a big, strolling southerner into the presence of his commanding officer. "What has he been doing?" asked the colonel. "I gave him a cigarette," said the soldier, "and then he tried to bite me!" Kissing, even between members of the opposite sexes, is not a Japanese custom.

Evermore Demand for Furs.

Siberian furs are almost entirely shipped to the raw state. Very few are sent abroad, the exceptions being Tibetan lamb, muffs (plucked and worn), and a few other varieties. The great demand for furs in all countries had the keen competition in the market has sent up the prices of raw skins to a point unheard of in the past. The demand for the skins is so great that the supply is being exhausted at a rapid rate.

SWISS CONDENSED MILK

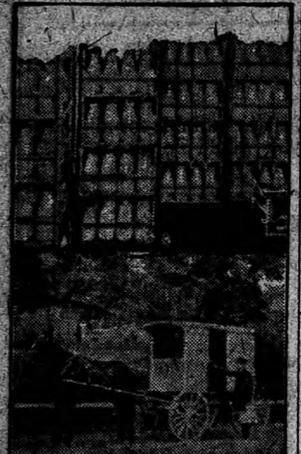

VERY HEALTHFUL FOOD

International Commission Being Conducted by Dairy Division of Department of Agriculture

Approved by the United States Department of Agriculture

Drink more milk—a healthful food as well as drink—is the slogan advocated in an educational campaign now being conducted by the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture. Lectures, demonstrations, charts and moving pictures are being used to teach the food value of milk, and the work is carried to all classes and nationalities of people in all parts of the country. Recently in Bridgeport, Conn., two milk specialists in one day spoke before five meetings; two audiences were colored, one was Lithuanian, one Slavonic, and one Greek and American mixed—1,000 people in all.

In a certain town in Illinois a factory employing 1,400 men has recently introduced the plan of permitting milk vendors to go through the plant at ten and three o'clock each day with sweet milk and buttermilk. Most of the men buy a pint each time. The foreman stated that since the drinking of milk has become so popular with the men not only is their efficiency improved but they are more contented and even tempered.

Specialists are giving lectures in many large department stores, and explain that a glass of cool milk is not only refreshing on a hot day but also furnishes a definite amount of nourishment.

In New Haven, Conn., the manager of one department store had posters made entitled, "Why We Should Drink Milk," and sold six milk tickets for 25 cents to the employees, no attempt being made to show a profit on the sales. Half-pint bottles of milk were distributed to the clerks in the middle of forenoon and afternoon. Straws were furnished with each bottle of milk, as the manager believes that too often people drink milk too fast, causing bodily discomfort.

BEST DAIRY BARN LOCATION

It is of importance that Building Be Comfortable, Durable and Sanitary.

It is not necessary that the dairy barn be elaborately built out of expensive materials, suggest the dairy husbandrymen at the Illinois experiment station, but it is of importance that it be comfortable, durable and sanitary and that it be well located and arranged. It is essential that the roof be waterproof, the sides wind-proof and the stable floor substantial and easily cleaned.

It is of some importance that the site for the dairy barn shall have good drainage. The yards should never slope toward the barn. It is also well to locate the yards to the south of the barn, if possible, to protect the stock when they are turned out in the winter.

DAIRY NOTES

Screen your dairy rooms against flies.

Wheat bran is eaten readily by young calves.

Clean milk is impossible if cows are not kept clean.

Perfect circulation of air in the stable means more milk.

The dairyman who is too saving of feed cheats himself as well as the herd.

Cleanliness is the beginning and the end of the gospel of pure milk production.

Much attention should be given to feeding calves if they are to become good dairy animals.

The cleanest stable by day and pasture by night for the dairy cows help them produce more milk.

GIRL SCOUTS BATTLE TO MAKE PRICES DROP

Many Troops in This State Are Interested in Deferred Spending Plan Outlined by National Director.

More than seventy thousand Girl Scouts, according to an announcement made recently at National Girl Scout headquarters, 189 Lexington Avenue, New York, have adopted the principle of deferred spending as a means of combating hysterical prices of the present day and "doing their bit" to help put the nation on a stable economic basis. Instead of spending all of the money that they earn or get from parents as gifts or allowances, hundreds of these patriotic girls in each of the eighty-three local councils throughout the United States are investing in Treasury Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps obtainable at the majority of banks and trust companies, or at local post offices.

Maryland Girl Scout troops interested in the announcement are as follows: Cambridge, Miss Margaret Small, captain; Church Hill, Miss Grace Riggan, captain; Coloma, Miss Frances Steel, captain; Cumberland Mrs. Orville Shirley, captain; Easton Mrs. Reed Marshall, captain; Frederick, Miss Mary Sappington, captain; Grantsville, Miss Wilda Getty, captain; Hagerstown, Misses Zella Stickell and Ethel Kohler, captains; Hancock, Miss Mary Bridges, captain; Hillsboro, Miss Lucretia Gibbs, captain; Millington, Miss Martha Pennington, captain; North East, Miss Marion Underwood, captain; Rising Sun, Miss Grace Rawlings, captain; Rock Hall, Miss Estelle Biddle, captain; Savage, Miss May Shipley, captain.

"One of the ten Scout laws is that a Girl Scout must be thrifty," says Mrs. Jane Deeter Rippin, national director of Girl Scouts. "This means that a Scout must avoid all useless waste of every kind, must be careful when spending her money and must always remember that she should save every penny that she can invest in a safe manner. This habit of saving, if practiced regularly in youth will make for better womanhood and will also give to the Girl Scout a surplus in time of need."

"Reports coming into National Girl Scout headquarters show that the idea behind the government's 'work and save' movement appeals to Girl Scouts. They like the Treasury Savings Certificates, for they are forward looking girls. That the investment now of $2.40 means the return in January, 1925, of $100, with the money meanwhile absolutely safeguarded from loss through accident or theft, shows them that the certificate is sound. And where are the girls of America who do not have dreams of the days in the near future? Some want to give a present to their mothers; some wish to save for a trip; others desire to start a fund for educational purposes. These are only a few of the many reasons prompting girls to save and to invest now in government securities."

What Was Done.
Wes Whittle, a teamster down in Lowell, Ark., was so patriotic during the fall of 1918, before the Hun was finally vanquished, that he put a mortgage on his team and wagon for $50 and bought War Savings Stamps in his desire to do his duty by the government. Some thought Wes was doing more than his financial strength warranted. But he just went down into the woods, cut up fuel and sold it and the mortgage was soon lifted. Now Wes is buying more stamps, because he realizes their value and finds he can save.

Crew Demanded Stamps.
Clean up day on the battleship New Jersey means something more than hard work to the gobs on board that craft. It means a decided addition to the ship's fund that is drawing interest in the form of War Savings Stamps. While the war ship was anchored in Boston harbor recently, the crew gathered up all the obsolete ship's fittings, cast off jumpers and other clothing, books and papers and sought out a junk dealer. The dealer was willing to pay cash for the junk offering but the crew demanded payment in War Savings Stamps and got it. All condemned material on board is being carefully stored away in preparation for another clean up.

Must Work and Save.
As a portion of its campaign against high prices, the National Association of Credit Men has directed a letter to each member, declaring that the remedy necessary to change present conditions rests in increased production and stimulation of personal savings. The letter was sent through J. H. Tregoe, secretary and treasurer of the organization. Members of the association throughout the country have been extending hearty co-operation to the Savings Division of the Treasury Department to popularize thrift through the sale of government savings securities such as Thrift and War Savings Stamps and Treasury Certificates.

H. C. L. TO BE PUNISHED IN THE ORIOLE STATE

War Loan Organization of Fifth Federal Reserve District Will Continue to Develop Thrift and Savings Plan.

Vigorous assistance in the movement to reduce the high cost of living, through encouraging sane spending, will be given by the War Loan Organization of the Fifth Federal District in 1920, according to an announcement made from Richmond, Va., by Albert S. Johnstone, director for this district, which includes the State of Maryland.

"With the foundation of the government's savings movement firmly laid and with a full knowledge of the tremendous benefits which inevitably follow when the principles of thrift are adopted, the United States Treasury Department will continue to push the movement," Director Johnstone said.

"The War Loan Organization of this district has enjoyed the co-operation of many able citizens," the district director continued. "Numerous banks and mercantile and industrial establishments have rendered wholehearted assistance while the newspapers of the district, by their patriotism and generosity, have accorded a service of inestimable value."

Spending, Saving and Investing.
"It will be the policy of the War Loan Organization of the Fifth Federal Reserve District during 1920 to continue to emphasize the importance of spending wisely, of saving regularly and systematically, of investing in sound securities, and to point out to investors the attractiveness of Liberty Bonds and Victory Notes, particularly when bought at market prices. Also especial emphasis will be given to the savings movement which is now popularly identified with War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps."

"A point to be mentioned, but which no longer needs to be emphasized, is that thrift does not mean miserliness. It means getting your money's worth; it means the elimination of waste; it means saving on what you do not need; it means the steadfast refusal to buy useless luxuries; it means the most efficient use of all natural and acquired resources; it means safeguarding against unforeseen emergencies and protection for the future."

Total Exceeds Billion.
"Through this thrift movement, begun in December 1917, the government has marketed to millions of purchasers savings securities to a total exceeding $1,121,000,000. Despite the falling off in interest on the part of the public in these securities following the armistice, the sales began to increase last summer, showing that the efforts of the treasury to stem the tide of extravagance and develop habits of saving were beginning to bear fruit.

"The development of this savings movement during recent months has been very encouraging. Since the beginning of the present school year, more than 6,000 savings societies have been organized in the schools of the Fifth Federal Reserve District. In many school rooms and grades every child is a member of a Savings Society having agreed to save systematically and invest his savings in Thrift and War Savings Stamps. How much this movement means potentially is suggested by the fact that during the last two weeks in October children in the public schools in Baltimore alone saved $23,600, investing the whole amount in these securities."

"Upwards of 1,000 woman's organizations throughout the district have been actively enlisted in studying budget-making, promoting thrift among their members and associates, shopping more carefully, and in these ways fighting campaigns in behalf of systematic saving and wise investment in government securities in more than 600 concerns in this district employing more than 385,000 people."

If you want to get ahead—get your head! The person who is saving and investing his savings this day, and time in War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps is showing that he has a head and knows how to use it. Fifteen-dollar silk shirts won't keep you warm this winter but they will cripple your bank account. Better get a common-sense shirt and put the difference in War Savings Stamps where it will earn four per cent, compounded. It's not what you make but what you save that counts. Are you getting ahead or slipping behind? War Savings Stamps are pretty good non-skid chains.

Who Leads the Crickets?
An individual cricket chirps with no great regularity when it is by itself, and its chirping is intermittent, especially in the daytime. At night, however, when great numbers of crickets are chirping, the regularity is astonishing; one hears all the crickets in a field chirping synchronously, keeping time as if led by the wand of a conductor.

Numerous Comment.
Wills had accompanied his mother to a church social at which ice cream was served. The following Sunday his brother had served ice cream at the Sunday meal, and there being a small quantity left, had apportioned it to the members of the family at supper. On receiving his portion Wills looked at his plate critically, then said: "Mamma, this looks like a scabbed dish of ice cream."

Only Shakespeare was endowed with that healthy equilibrium of nature whose range was elliptical, dominating all zones of human thought and action—that power of verisimilar conception which could take away Richard III from history, and Ulysses from Homer—and that creative faculty whose equal touch is alike vivifying in Shallow and Leah—Lowell.

First Motion Pictures.
The motion picture was experimented with and test exhibitions were privately given in both this country and Europe in the early nineties, though it was not until 1895 that the invention had so far advanced as to make a public exhibition practicable. The latter part of that year they were exhibited in Europe and America.

The Kind That Princess Anne People Cannot Deny
Many an earnest Princess Anne man or woman has publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.
Week after week, month after month we've read their statements.
Would these Princess Anne people recommend any medicine if it were not good?
Would they confirm and repeat their statements after years had passed?
Local proof is good evidence.
The following Princess Anne man's statement leaves no room for doubt.
"It most convince every kidney sufferer who reads it."
"If your back aches—if your kidneys are weak, profit by the experience of Tom H. Heath, 114 Bedford Ave., he says: "I suffered from severe pains through my back and loins. I was unable to rest well at night and mornings felt tired and worn out. I suffered from frequent dizziness spells and at times they were so severe I could hardly stand. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in every way, and my system was entirely restored to normal."

A SERVICE MESSAGE

Own Your Own Home

In these days of high rents the "renter" has many grievances. His rent has been raised materially (whether justly or unjustly) and the former "service" which appealed to the renter has gradually faded away.

Contrast his position with the home owner who is in no way affected by the general advance in rents. And in addition to enjoying the comfort and independence of owning one's home, the home owner has also made what shrewd business men would call "a wise and profitable investment."

The question of owning your own home is one that should merit the attention of all thinking men.

SIX NEGROES SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY

Now Accused Of Shooting Up A Gypsy Camp Got Six To Ten Years—Three Of The Negroes Were Acquitted In Trial By The Court

The Circuit Court for Somerset county yesterday afternoon rendered its verdict in the case of the six negroes indicted for shooting up the gypsy camp near Pocomoke City on December 1st. The men indicted were Zebedee Long, William Long, Edward Martin, Edward Cottman, Horace Cottman, Clarence Long, Frank Kersey, Gordon Kirkwood and Orrie Bovans. These men were all charged with intent to kill and there were seven cases against each party as there were seven gypsies wounded at the time of the shooting. The crime was a very heinous one, it being evident that the negroes who did the shooting either intended to kill the gypsies or else were so grossly reckless as to be indifferent to the consequences of the shooting. A great deal of interest had been stirred up by the crime, especially in that section of Somerset county contiguous to Pocomoke City, and the court room was crowded both Tuesday and Wednesday.

The prisoners were represented by Col. Henry J. Waters, of Princess Anne, and Charles O. Melvin, of Pocomoke City. The State was represented by State's Attorney Beauchamp and George H. Myers. On Tuesday morning the seven cases against Zebedee Long were the first called.

The chief prosecuting witness was Richard Harrison, one of the gypsies. He testified that during the afternoon of December 1st, about 1 o'clock, he and Edward Cottman, one of the men under indictment, traded horses, the bargain being that in addition to the exchange of horses Harrison was to get $5.00 to boot. Harrison stated that after trading horses he rode a short distance down the road with Cottman, expecting to receive his $5.00; but that when they had gotten a short distance from the camp Cottman called a number of colored men and after talking with them for a little while one of the men, Zebedee Long, came up to him (Harrison) and told him that he would never get the $5.00. He said that Long's manner was threatening at the time. Later in the afternoon Cottman and Long came back to the camp together, when Long again, in a threatening manner, told Harrison that he would never get the money. That same evening, about 8 o'clock, the shooting started. This same witness testified that at the time he was in a tent with his sister and brother-in-law; that his sister went out to the tent for something, and that at about the same time he heard the command, "Attention! Take Aim! Fire!" and shots rang out. When he went out of the tent he found that his sister had been shot in the back. He said that the men were lined up in rows, and that at the front of the column was Edward Cottman and Zebedee Long. Again the firing commenced and either Cottman or Long shot him. The only shot fired by the gypsies was the one fired by John Harrison. This witness testified that he was shot by Edward Martin, and that he shot Martin. The other witnesses in the case were John Harrison, Harry Harrison, Ishak Harrison and Pearl Harrison.

In the case of Zebedee Long the defense attempted to prove an alibi. His witnesses attempted to show that at the time of the shooting he was in the yard of Sidney Dickinson, colored, about 100 yards from the camp where the shooting took place. This attempt however collapsed when in testifying in his own behalf, Long confessed that he had previously stated that when the shooting took place he was out in a field near the gypsy camp, that he became frightened, ran to his own home and went up stairs to bed, where he was during the shooting. Long also testified that while he was in the field, an automobile went by and from the light of the machine he saw Edward Cottman, Horace Cottman, Edward Martin and Frank Kersey near the gypsy camp, all carrying guns. Tuesday afternoon the Court pronounced a verdict of guilty in the case of Zebedee Long.

Wednesday morning the trial of the six negroes who were indicted jointly continued. The evidence produced by the State was much the same as was shown in the case against Zebedee Long. An important witness in this case was the testimony of Zebedee Long, when he confessed he had previously testified he had seen Edward Cottman, Horace Cottman, Edward Martin and Frank Kersey, all carrying guns, near the gypsy camp during the shooting. There was no evidence in this case to show that any of the negroes who shot him had in turn shot him.

Horace Cottman, one of the prisoners, who was shot on the night in question, in his defense said that he was walking on the road to Pocomoke, going by the camp at the time he was shot, but was alone, and he saw no other shooting, neither saw nor heard any disturbance at the camp.

All the prisoners were placed on the witness stand and attempted to account for themselves on the night of the shooting. They had relatives and friends who appeared and testified in their behalf. Much of the evidence produced along this line was contradictory.

Late Wednesday afternoon the trial was concluded. Six of the prisoners, including Zebedee Long, were found guilty. These men are Edward Cottman, Horace Cottman, Gardner Kirkwood, Edward Martin and Francis Kersey. All of the negroes were sentenced to the Maryland penitentiary for a term of 10 years, except Francis Kersey, who was given a sentence of six years. The other three men who were tried were acquitted. Another negro, Tomie Dashiell, was indicted by the grand jury, but in the meantime left the county and has not been apprehended. In addition to the fact that several of the men found guilty were identified at the camp during the shooting, the strong circumstances running through the case was that the convicted men were together at different homes right near the camp just prior to the shooting.

Chief Judge Pattison delivered the verdict of the Court and pronounced the sentence. He reviewed the testimony in the cases, and stated it was not clear that the deal between the gypsy and the negro over the horse had ever been finally closed; that perhaps Cottman had gotten the worst of the bargain and naturally felt aggrieved. He referred to Cottman's own testimony to the effect that a Mr. Townsend of Pocomoke had advised him to return the gypsy's horse and then go to Princess Anne and take legal action to regain his own horse, but instead of following this advice, Cottman, with his friends, had chosen to take the law in his own hands and committed violence. Judge Pattison said that much of the unrest and trouble of the present day was due to the fact that men, though they had a right to redress wrong by law, resorted to force instead. He reviewed the manner in which the shooting had taken place and referred to the fact that several infants had been shot while asleep.

COL. SISK OUT FOR CONGRESS

Caroline County Democrat Wants Nomination For First District

Col. A. W. Sisk, of Preston, Caroline county, while at Annapolis last Wednesday, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First district. He is the only Democratic candidate in the field to date. There have been reports from time to time that former Congressman Jesse B. Price, of Wicomico, who was defeated two years ago, would again seek a nomination. The latest report is that Mr. Price will not be a candidate.

Colonel Sisk is one of the best known residents of the Eastern Shore. He is a well known broker. For several years he has taken an active interest in public affairs, being a member of the State Board of Education by appointment by the late Governor Crothers. He was appointed by Governor Goldsborough to be a member of a commission, which, with the Rockefeller Educational Foundation, made a survey of the public school system of this state. Important changes were introduced on the recommendations by the joint bodies.

Mr. Sisk has met but one defeat, falling by the wayside as a candidate for the Senate in Caroline county several years ago. Caroline is the only county on the Eastern Shore which has never had a congressman, an United States senator, a governor, comptroller, attorney general, appellate or circuit judge, or indeed, any state wide elective officer.

Mrs. Eleanor Townsend Dead

Mrs. Eleanor Townsend died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Denton, last Tuesday morning, aged 89 years. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. E. B. Denton, Mrs. J. E. Pusey, Mrs. R. K. Riggan and Mr. Harry Townsend, of near Perryhawn, and Mrs. J. Lee Casey, of near Pocomoke City.

Funeral services were held in Olivet Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. E. H. Oldaker. Burial was in the church cemetery.

REQUEST TO FEED THE BIRDS

Conservation Commission Sends Out Call Because Of Severe Weather

At this time of the year previous to severe cold weather or heavy snows, it is always necessary to call the attention to the public to the necessity of feeding the birds. A State may do a great deal in the way of restocking depleted coveys, but more can be gained by saving them than by purchasing at great expense large quantities of birds. It is only necessary for farmers and sportsmen and bird lovers to divert a little time and a small amount of grain to save many birds throughout Maryland and have large number of quail and other valuable birds. A shelter provided for them, to protect them from the snow or a place scraped bare in the snow and feed scattered thereon will accomplish a great amount of good and the Conservation Commission urgently requests all those who are interested to do what they can, if there is any cold weather or snow during the coming months, to save the birds.

The following little verse has been issued by Miss Gertrude Knevals, secretary of the Forest Hills Garden Audubon Society. It is passed on in this manner so that everybody will help the conservative committee to feed the birds.

How big your nest is neighbor man,
How bountiful your fare,
While small birds in the wind and snow
Are starving everywhere.

Some scattered crumbs, a little seed,
A drop of water, too,
And we will sing our gratitude,
Big brother man, to you.

Eastern Shoremen Dine

The annual banquet of the Eastern Shore Society was held at the Hotel Rembert, Baltimore, last Wednesday night. The speakers were Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, and Governor Ritchie. This was Governor Ritchie's first appearance since his inauguration and the Eastern Shoremen gave him a warm reception.

The dinner was one of the most representative of the bona-fide membership of the society in the seven years of the society's existence, more than two-thirds of the diners holding active memberships. Here are some of the vicands that Eastern Shore folk eat when they start out to set records in the culinary line:

- Selected Tangiers
- Eastern Shore Gumbo
- Olive
- Chesapeake Bay Rock, Botted
- Egg Sauce
- Potatoes Natural
- Breads of Chicken Supreme
- Romany Chaffin Dish
- Sweet Potatoes, Candied
- Maryland Biscuits
- Ham Sliced, Maryland
- Hearts of Lettuce
- French Dressing
- Bisque Ice Cream
- Assorted Cake
- Coffee
- Cigars
- Cigarettes

Samuel K. Dennis, United States District Attorney, a native of Worcester, was toastmaster, making his first appearance as the new president.

Among those present were: Jas. U. Dennis, A. T. Dixon, J. M. Davis, T. J. Ewell, L. I. Jones, G. W. Kirwin, E. L. LeCompte, S. F. Miles, Jr., E. R. McDorman, T. J. Milbourne, L. I. Pollitt, F. W. Miles, H. N. Miles, J. D. Price, F. S. Porter, W. E. Whittington, Jr., J. L. Wickes, D. C. Mansfield, Dr. J. B. Schwatka and Dr. M. B. Stephens.

To Amend Somerset's Tax Sale Law

Senator Robins, of Somerset, introduced a bill in the Senate last Thursday applicable only to his county which seeks to correct an anomalous situation now obtaining under its tax sale law. This now provides that the person whose property is sold shall have one year within which to redeem the property, nevertheless, the buyer is permitted to report the sale to court, have the sale ratified and have the county treasurer execute a deed for the property before the redemption period has expired. When the owner undertakes to redeem his property he has to pay the additional costs of ratifying the sale, recording the proceedings, the cost of the sale and then pay for another deed to himself.

Under this arrangement the costs are multiplied and the original owner put to much unnecessary expense. To remedy this Mr. Robins' bill prohibits the passing of the title until one year after the sale for taxes.

Maryland Legislature

Last Wednesday Senator Robins introduced a bill in the Senate to grant consent to the sale of property to the trustees of the First Baptist Church of Crisfield.

Senator Bartlett also introduced a bill to amend the laws of Somerset by providing that the premiums on the bond of the county treasurer be paid by the County Commissioners.

The same day by Mr. Bartlett—to amend the motor vehicle laws by abolishing the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and transferring the power to the State Roads Commission, the clerks of the Circuit Courts of the counties and the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas at Baltimore.

TO PICK G. O. P. CANDIDATE

Committee Named To Select Opponent To O. E. Weller

Pursuant to a resolution adopted at the meeting held in Albaugh's Theatre, Baltimore, on December 29th, by Republicans who are opposed to the Senatorial candidacy of O. E. Weller, J. Kemp Bartlett, who presided at that meeting, announced a committee which is authorized to find a man to pit against Mr. Weller. The resolution provided for a committee of 27—one man from each county and one from each city legislative district. This committee is to select "the most eminent and best qualified man," get his consent to run for the Senate and then try to reconcile all factions of the party to his support, according to the instructions of the resolution.

Mr. Bartlett has delayed announcing the personnel of the committee, he said, until he could secure the acceptance of each member. That having been accomplished he announced last Tuesday the following:

- Edward Blain, Worcester county.
- Wm. J. Hall, Somerset county.
- F. P. Adkins, Wicomico county.
- Harry A. Eos, Caroline county.
- Thos. M. Bartlett, Talbot county.
- Chas. F. Rich, Queen Anne's county.
- Howard E. Owens, Kent county.
- Albanus Phillips, Dorchester county.
- Henry M. McCullough, Cecil county.
- C. C. Pusey, Harford county.
- Wm. L. Seabrook, Carroll county.
- J. W. Turnbaugh, Baltimore county.
- B. B. Love, St. Mary's county.
- F. S. Posey, Charles county.
- Thomas Farran, Calvert county.
- O. Metterot, Prince George's county.
- J. M. Munroe, Anne Arundel county.
- Chas. F. Macklin, Howard county.
- W. T. S. Curtis, Montgomery county.
- J. S. Annan, Frederick county.
- C. B. Wagner, Washington county.
- D. M. Dixon, Garrett county.
- Albert A. Daub, Allegany county.
- F. W. Jacoby, First Legislative district.
- Peter E. Tome, Second Legislative district.
- Wm. C. McCord, Third Legislative district.
- R. Frank Smith, Fourth Legislative district.

Death Of William H. Rider

Mr. William H. Rider, Jr., son of the late Dr. William H. Rider, of Salisbury, and prominent lumber man of Baltimore and Salisbury, died suddenly of pneumonia last Wednesday in Philadelphia. He was 64 years old.

Although retired from active business, Mr. Rider at the time of his death was director of the Jackson Lumber Company, of Lockhart, Ala., and for many years was vice-president of the E. E. Jackson Lumber Company, of Riderwood and Riderville, Ala., and Baltimore. He was associated with the firm from the beginning of his business career, it having been founded by his brother-in-law, the late Governor E. E. Jackson.

Surviving Mr. Rider are his mother, Mrs. Margaret A. Rider; a sister, Mrs. E. E. Jackson, and a brother, John B. Rider, of Riderwood, Ala. The funeral was held at 11 o'clock last Saturday from the residence of Mrs. E. E. Jackson in Salisbury. Burial was in Parsons' Cemetery.

Standing Committees Of The House

Speaker Tidings Monday night of last week announced the House Committees. Mr. Coblenz heads the Committee on Ways and Means, a position which carries with it the Democratic floor leadership. The selection of the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which is the most important since the creation of the budget, was given to Mr. Burke.

The chairman of Temperance is Mr. Jones, of Baltimore. The anti-prohibition forces have a majority of this committee according to present appearances.

Chairman of the Chesapeake Bay and Tributaries is Mr. Milbourne, of Somerset. He is also on the following committees: Insurance and Loans and Roads and Highways.

Mr. Hall, of Somerset, was appointed on the committee on Militia, and Mr. Gladden, of Somerset, on the Committee on Insolvency.

Mrs. Sarah E. Pusey Dead

Mrs. Sarah E. Pusey, wife of Mr. E. Frank Pusey, died after a lingering illness at her home near Venton, Monday of last week, aged 88 years.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, (Messrs. Theodore F. Pusey, of Westover; Wm. T. Pusey, of near Princess Anne), and two daughters, (Mrs. Virgie Powell and Mrs. Baldwin Pusey). She is also survived by 14 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at her late home last Wednesday, conducted by the Rev. I. S. Hankins, pastor of the Baptist Church. The interment was in Manokin Presbyterian Church Cemetery.

The Harford County Fair this year will be held Oct. 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th.

Col. Page Will Go To Denver

Col. Henry Page, commanding officer at Fort McHenry General Hospital, last Tuesday announced that he had received instructions to leave the Fort on February 1st, to take charge of General Hospital No. 21, at Denver, Col.

The commanding officer also stated that at the rate the men are now being discharged, the Fort would probably be closed by the 1st of April. More than 150 Pennsylvanians, who are well on the road to recovery, were transferred to General Hospital No. 31, located at Carlisle, Pa., last week. No one has as yet been named to succeed Col. Page.

Wilmington M. E. Conference

The Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference will hold its annual session in Grace Church, Wilmington, March 24th to 29th with Bishop Wm. F. McDowell, of Washington, D. C., presiding. March 26th is the time for the convening of the Lay Electoral Conference.

Dr. Clarence T. Wilson, corresponding secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, will make an address on Sunday evening, March 28th, when the temperance anniversary will be celebrated.

LETTER FROM PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Lieutenant Robt. H. Maddox Is Delighted With The Country

Lieutenant Robert H. Maddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, formerly of Princess Anne, but now of Walbrook, Baltimore, has been transferred from Fort McKinley (near Manila), Philippine Islands, to Pettit Barracks, Zamboanga, Mindanao, the southernmost island in the Philippine group. He is delighted with the country and beautiful scenery. He hopes to return to the United States next Summer. It takes six weeks for a letter to reach the States from where he is located. In a recent letter to his father he said in part:

"Since writing you the last time I have been transferred, as you doubtless know, Am now at Zamboanga. I am well satisfied here and like things very much. Only a Battalion Post, a beautiful location at the east of the city of Zamboanga and right on Maslian Straits—a fine location. My house is directly on the beach, the rear faces it. I sleep in an upstairs porch which is in the rear, facing the sea wall, and is screened in. It is fine sleeping there, and I go to sleep listening to the waves splash upon the sea wall. I can lie in bed and see the moon play upon the water, and these tropical moons are mighty pretty. Nearly every afternoon, with some other officers, I go in swimming. A fine beach here and the water is great. Many interesting star-fish of various colors and coral bits can be picked up along the shore. There are so many curious and strange things that one bumps into every day.

"In front of my quarters is a very pretty canal that runs all the way through the Post. It is lined on either side by many cocconut trees and is a wonderful sight. An old Spanish fort near by, built in the 17th century, is quite an interesting place. It is very close to the water.

"Three other officers and myself went out horseback riding, and a fine ride we had too. Up the mountains back of Zamboanga we went about 8 miles, and at this particular place it is very high. You can see Zamboanga, the Maslian Straits and beautiful country in all directions. This place is being developed as a high-class residential park for foreigners and the better class of Filipinos. Fine stone roads, squares and parks are being laid out. We went to this place through narrow trails, fording streams, going through cocconut forests and saw plenty of hemp and banana trees. Looked for monkeys, but they were all in hiding. I am 200 miles from Borneo."

MAJOR LEE NOW COMPTROLLER

Governor Ritchie Administered The Oath of Office Last Week

Major E. Brooke Lee qualified Monday afternoon of last week before Governor Ritchie as comptroller for two years, succeeding Hugh A. McMullen. The oath was administered in the presence of Philip L. Perlman, Secretary of State; W. Oscar Anderson, the Governor's secretary; Mr. McMullen, Harry J. Hopkins, chief clerk to the Comptroller now, who has been reappointed by Mr. Lee; Marion A. McKee, Police Justice Tormalion, L. Bullman, Ogle Marbury, Dr. J. Hubert Wade and Col. Jerome H. Joyce.

State Treasurer-elect John M. Dennis will qualify prior to February 18th. The date for taking over the office will be agreed upon by him and Mr. Jackson, the retiring treasurer.

The new Comptroller finds a treasury containing a very creditable basis, but he faces heavy drains on the state's finances in the next two years because of increases in salaries of public school teachers and other heavy expenses incidental to the abnormal times.

The condition of the treasury is set forth in a report which was submitted tonight by Mr. McMullen to the General Assembly for the fiscal year ending September 30 last. On that date, says the report, there was in the Treasury $3,018,617.22. The amount of money due to "dedicated funds" was $1,727,549.12, and the surplus or "free money" in the treasury, belonging to "general funds," was $1,291,068.10. Balances carried down to credit of sundry accounts were $515,375.77, leaving a balance in general funds, unobligated, $775,692.33.

Chesapeake Bay-Frozen

Ice fields in the Chesapeake Bay are solid as far down as Sharp's Island, a distance of 51 miles from Baltimore, and the bay is frozen from shore to shore for this distance, as was reported at Baltimore last Friday.

The upper bay is frozen up to its farthest point, which also is about 50 miles. The ice ranges in thickness from one inch to nearly a foot.

OUT OF THE DUSK

By A. W. PEACH

Margery Orvis had never stopped to think of the danger that lay for her in her habit of leaving the coal office after dark. Old Martin, who owned the business, had never reached the point of moving his office from his yard to some uptown locality, nor had he changed the old system of having his drivers collect the money for coal delivered.

He had found Margery so clever and keen that soon he was leaving the office early for his home, and she was taking the money from the drivers. Many times the great coal yard was gray with dusk before she slipped homeward from the office.

It did not occur to her that anyone would rob her, for no one was supposed to know that she left with the silver money collected during the day. Some did know, however.

On that particular evening she was hurrying down the road between the bins when her heart jumped at the sound of rushing steps.

She half turned, to be grasped tightly around the body and to feel the innocent bag she carried snatched from hand. In the same moment, in a wild effort, she seized her assailant about the neck, but with an oath he tore loose, flinging her aside, and disappeared.

She drew herself quickly to her feet, but the dusky silence of the deserted yard gave back no sign of the robber. She stood helpless, a bit dazed.

"What little girl, I thought I would see a few cars, in hopes of seeing you. I want to engage you for the evening," he said eagerly.

"I am not free," she answered as coolly as she could, although trembling within. He was wearing the very suit he had worn when he robbed her. How keenly she recalled that gray stripe she had seen as she had struggled!

"I suppose it is Reed, this time. Well, I can't complain. You have treated me fairly," he said genially.

He chatted with her, but she had little to say, and when he dropped from the car at his destination she was relieved, although she could hardly restrain herself from following his swinging form as it disappeared in the crowd.

All that day she fought a silent battle—whether to tell Mr. Martin what had happened and who the guilty party was. Like a caged animal her mind went back and forth. At last she sought freedom.

The gray-haired veteran listened to her story without comment; then he said gravely: "The evidence is clear against him. My dear little girl, you must learn, as we all learn, not to trust a handsome face, a friendly way, until it has been tested. I'll send for him and see what he has to say. My boy likes him, and I hate to have him jailed."

She suffered in silence until, hours later, released from his work, he came. He was changed in some way, and she guessed that he sensed what he was wanted for.

She caught him impulsively as he started to the private office door, and whispered: "Oh, Alden!" Then recovering and remembering, she backed off, leaving him bewildered, a glad smile on his face fading to a shadow of pain.

Martin called her in after a little. She went in with trembling step. Alden sat, white-faced and silent, in a corner, wearing the look of a trapped man.

Martin's voice was grim. "Margery, Kenyon admits that the pin is his. It is such an odd one that I doubt if he could do otherwise, and he practically admits that he robbed you, although he won't say so."

She looked at him with tears in her eyes. "I can't believe it! I can't!" Kenyon stared at her and half rose to his feet; his lips opened, but he said nothing.

Martin looked at him coldly. "I shall take action against you unless you return that money. Can you do it?" "I'll try," Kenyon answered—and the answer was admittance of guilt.

As she sank back with a low cry, she heard a sharp knock on the door. It opened, and in came Reed; his handsome face dark. He threw his hat into a chair and sat down.

"I just heard what was up. I'm the one. I room with Alden. It was easy. I needed the money—debts—cards. I borrowed his suit, and the rest of his stuff. He was wise, and I knew he would try to save me. I'm not such a dog as I might be—and, dad, I'm downright sorry. I feel like a cur."

She saw the old man at the desk, age years in a moment. As his son's self-condemning voice went on, his despair seemed to be checked.

She caught Alden's signal, and they both went out.

Outside the door, he looked down at her with a twisted smile. "I was afraid the old man's heart would break, and I thought I could save him. Reed told me, and I urged him to 'fess up this afternoon, but I didn't think he would. Now he has. Gee, but it's a rotten mess. And the only thing that looks good to me now is you. Say, will you go to the park with me this night?"

She leaned her face against his shoulder as his boyish voice rambled bravely on to cover his own emotion; and then, while his hand patted her encouragingly, she managed to say with more quavering than she wished: "I guess so," which seemed to be quite satisfactory to him.

VOYAGE THAT MADE HISTORY

Englishman's Search for the "North-east Passage" Resulted in the "Discovery" of Russia.

It is a curious fact that Archangel owed its origin to an Englishman. It was in the days of Spanish greatness, when the galleons of the king of Spain claimed to rule the sea after a truly Spanish fashion, and the strangely elastic law of reprisals made voyaging for all merchantmen in certain waters a very uncertain experience. For several years there had been talk in England, especially at the English court, of the possibility of the existence of a northeast passage to India, and of the desirability of exploring it. Such a passage, if it existed, would undoubtedly be safe from Spanish depredations, and there were, moreover, great possibilities of opening up in this way a new field for British trade.

The talk, however, was all there was to the matter, until about the close of the reign of the boy king, Edward VI. About that time, however, the famous navigator, Sebastian Cabot took up the question in earnest, and, in May of the year 1553, there set out from Deptford an expedition of three ships, under the command of Sir Hugh Willoughby, bound for the northern seas. One of these ships was the Bonaventure, of which Richard Chancellor was the "captain and pilot-general," and it is around this ship and its doughty captain and pilot-general that all the interest of the story centers. He did not discover the northeast passage, but he did "discover" Russia, and, after many surprising adventures, returned to London with a letter from the czar "establishing trade relations between the two nations."

World Has Many Lepers.

Neither geography, climate, diet, heredity nor any other known influence sufficiently explains the cause, the distribution or the behavior of leprosy. There is no discovered certain cure for it, and the cases of complete recovery, if there have been such, are rare. To most Americans it is happily only a name made familiar by missionary mention or by reports of missionaries to far-off lands; and the estimate that there are 2,000,000 of these hopeless sufferers in the world comes to many people as a surprise.—Rochester Post-Express.

Ancients Had Much Wisdom.

A great civilization flourished in the valley of the Nile some three thousand years B. C. These Egyptians worshiped the dung beetle, the scarabaeus, possibly recognizing its scavenging powers. The well of Joseph, near the great pyramid, is excavated through nearly three hundred feet of solid rock. The ancient Hebrews were the founders of real public health. The laws of Moses, who was born about 1800 B. C., the first hygienic code known, apply about as well today as when first promulgated.

Kept Ignominy in Memory.

On the 5th of November, in 1500, Christopher Columbus, in spite of the incalculable services he had rendered to Spain, was taken into Cadiz in fetters. King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella were moved at the sight and commanded that he be released. Columbus, however, was unable to forgive the insult, and until the time of his death the ignominious fetters were hung in full sight on his walls as a reminder of the ingratitude of his sovereigns.

Persia Sparsely Peopled.

It is easy to overrate the land of Darius and Cyrus, Amar, and Hafiz, for Persia has not nearly as many inhabitants as Mexico. Estimates differ widely and there has never been a real census, but it is possible that in a territory equal to France, Germany, the British Isles and Italy all taken together, the population does not exceed that of little Belgium. In area, Persia is more than 15 times as big as Ohio, but it contains fewer than twice as many people.

AGAINST HIM.

A prominent Boston lawyer has a 10-year old son who seems to be treading quite closely in his father's footsteps. One day the boy told a falsehood about some boyish scrape, and his father took him aside to lecture him on the wickedness of not telling the truth. He told him the story of George Washington and the cherry tree.

"Now, Roger," he concluded, "don't you think that George was brave as well as truthful to own up to doing the deed? Give me your opinion, my son."

"Well," said Roger, seriously, "I think that the only thing he could do was to plead guilty. You see, pa, the evidence was all against him. He owned the hatchet."

A Remedy.

FROM AMERICA ASKS AMERICA'S AID

Under National and Battlefield Baby Tearing Country With War for Near East Relief.

A mother, father and daughter, the latter born in a tattered Red Cross tent in the icy Caucasus while guns raved all around and Turkish shells, bearing the screeching emblem, burst near them, are tearing America in behalf of their native Armenia. They are General Mesrop Newton Agapetian, his wife, Lady Anne, and French Esther Araxie Agapetian, whose baby eyes opened upon scenes of horror and later through them saw much of the sufferings of the people of Armenia.

The family are making their tour under auspices of the Near East Relief, the big organization which has saved hundreds of thousands of the people in that part of the world from death by hunger and cold and is soon to open a nation wide campaign for funds to complete the work of saving the survivors, more than a half million of whom must perish unless aid comes to them soon. America is their only hope.

General Agapetian served gallantly in the Russian armies in the Caucasus against the Turks. His wife, who accompanied him to the front, did noble work for the wounded and sick, and it was while in this service that her baby was born in a hospital tent during a battle. An army blanket swung from two poles in one corner of the tent was the baby's crib during the rest of that terrible winter campaign. With the collapse of the Russian armies after the Bolshevik revolution the Agapetians returned to Armenia for a brief spell and did their best to alleviate the suffering they found on every hand. But with a Turkish price on his head the father finally made his way with his family through Russia to Finland and then to this country. What they tell of conditions and needs in Armenia is first hand evidence.

In the Caucasus, Armenia, Syria, Turkey and Persia are more than 250,000 orphans, helpless little victims of war, massacre and deportation, and for the great majority the only bar between them and absolute starvation is a bowl of hot bean soup every day. This soup is supplied by the Near East Relief now making an appeal to the American people for sufficient funds to increase this dole and to provide these suffering little ones with clothing and give them an education that will help them to become self supporting. It is estimated that more than 1,500,000 in Western Asia will die of starvation unless American aid is continued.

CHURCH COUNCIL ENDORSES N. E. R.

Federal Body Says No More Compelling Need in All the World.

Departing from custom, the Federal Council of Churches has endorsed the work being done by Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City, the former committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief which has saved the task of caring for 1,250,000 starving people in Western Asia.

Resolutions adopted by the executive committee, as announced by Charles B. Macfarland, general secretary, are as follows:

"That committee recommends that prayers be offered in all our churches for the suffering children throughout the world, especially those who are in distress and pain as the result of the war."

"That we further recommend that we sympathize and emphasize our interest and cooperation in the plans of Near East Relief. We know of no other part of the world that is more completely in the hands of the Armenian, Greek and other peoples in the Levant who have already received and need to receive the generous assistance of the American people."

SALTON SEA IS DISAPPEARING

Possibility That the Land it Has Covered Will Be Sober Available for Agriculture.

An inland sea which, according to geologists, has changed from sea to desert, and back again to sea, at least fifty times since its inception, is one of the wonders of the Imperial valley in California. At the present time the Salton sea, which is 100 feet below the ocean's level, is receding from its banks at the rate of approximately a mile a year. Today the sea is 18 miles long and nine miles wide at its widest point. In the heat of the torrid season the temperature in its neighborhood is from 10 to 20 degrees cooler than that of the surrounding country and outdoor dances are held on one of the abandoned fish-piers left high and dry by the receding waters. The Salton sea is situated in the very heart of the principal date-producing region of America. The land left bare by the retreating waters is eagerly sought by agriculturists, who stake their claims far out into the water in anticipation of further recessions. The soil is of salt-increased adobe clay and very fertile. Mud volcanoes, miniature geysers and bubbling "paintpots" attract many tourists to the spot. The quality of the volcanic "paintpots" is declared to rival the best European stenna and amber. Utilization of this new-found color supply may soon render the continuation of European imports of such pigment unnecessary.

MADE BOAT FROM SIDE CAR

Enthusiastic Duck Hunter Found Valuable Use for His Motorcycle Attachment.

On the opening day of the duck season at Baldwin Lake, Cal., last fall, a strange craft was sighted in the elms of the shooting grounds. Its occupant was known to have ridden a motorcycle in more than 150 miles of mountain and desert road, and then to have been so unfortunate as to find all the boats gone. When he came in that night with his limit of birds, it was seen that he had made a queer but efficient duck boat out of his motorcycle side car.

Wood plugs closed the bolt holes where it was removed from the frame, and a can of pitch, judiciously applied, sealed all possible leaks. Rock ballast of some sixty pounds steadied the somewhat cranky craft, and its inconspicuousness aided the ingenious sportsman in securing an unusual bag of birds. So well pleased was he with the adventure that now he contemplates constructing a real combination side car and boat.—Mechanics Magazine.

Have Earned Place in History.

They failed to get overseas as a unit in the recent world conflict, but the famous Hell-for-Lether Fort Garrys, who charged into the blue at Cambrai, the Strathcona horse, the Royal Canadian dragoons and the Canadian Mounted rifles were filled with rankers who had worn the red tunic of the old Royal Northwest Mounted Police. The police have not been empire-builders, but they have smoothed the road for empire and kept it smooth. Western Canada is western Canada today largely because of them. Though the old name under which they won fame and glory is now numbered with forgotten yesterdays, it will live forever in the history of the Canadian west as a symbol of efficiency, loyalty, heroism and law fearlessly enforced.

To Think and to Know.

A Charleston housewife being suddenly deserted by her cook advertised for another, stipulating that applicants must bring good references. The only response to the advertisement was a very fat and very black old woman who seemed promising until she was asked for her references. "Dead, honey, Ah done tore up dem references," she responded. "Destroyed your references? How unusual. Don't you realize that that must cause people to suspect that you are not a good servant?" "Yassum, maybe dat's so," the applicant agreed. "Yo' des' speck Ah ain't er good serbent, but ef Ah had brung dem references yo'd know Ah was crazy!"

Dog Answers Doorbell.

There is one dog in London which, were its duties known, we should all join in voting an extra ration. It is the care of an entire household. All the human members of the family are deaf and dumb. The dog answers the door. That is to say, when it hears a knock or a ring, it conveys the information to its betters by barks, which are detected by the opening and shutting of its mouth, by wagging its tail, and in the last resort by gently pawing its master or mistress and running toward front or back door.—London Chronicle.

And If It Wasn't.

The man who had served throughout the war as a private in the base hospital at Angers was loud in his scorn of a neighbor who hadn't gone into the service at all. A friend let him rave on till the Angers soldier had used the word slacker. Then he said: "That's right, give it to him. All he did during the war was hang on to a nice soft job as testing pilot for the Curtiss people. All he had to do was to fly each machine long enough to see if it was safe for one of our aviators."—The Home Sector.

Cardinal Gibbons Asks Aid For Starving Armenians

This is the message from James (Cardinal) Gibbons read at the big meeting in Washington in aid of the Near East Relief. The venerable primate of the Catholic Church in America is intensely interested in the Cardinal Gibbons appeal which the Near East Relief will make to the country in February for funds to support its work among the starving people of that stricken land. To the Washington meeting he wrote:

"Advices and information coming from the Near East cannot be doubted. There is great actual suffering and famine. These people, recently become independent and released from bitter thralldom, cannot support themselves. And the Christian and common instincts of humanity, which have prompted the people of the United States during the last two years to relieve the distress and needs, especially of the Near East, must not be allowed to grow cold and be diminished.

"I hope we shall all unite in this present emergency and be able to collect sufficient funds to enable these peoples to live and work until next summer brings them permanent relief and subsistence. I call upon all to respond generously to the appeal now being made and trust that the committee will be gratified with the results."

$5 PER MONTH FEEDS ORPHAN

Cleveland H. Dodge Shows What Near East Relief Can Do in Efficient Purchasing.

Buying in wholesale lots and under the most favorable market conditions, Near East Relief of 1 Madison Avenue, New York City, with representatives in every state of the Union, has been able to baffle the high cost of living so far as relief supplies for the suffering millions of the Near East are concerned.

Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, in a statement shows that the committee is able to provide food for the suffering people of the Near East at prices much lower than the average charge here.

A donation of $5 per month will provide food for one orphan, $10 per month provides not only food, but also clothes and shelter for one orphan, and for $15 per month attendance at school is assured, each orphan in addition to food, clothing and shelter.

In the appeal for funds to save the starving remnants of the Armenian and other western Asia peoples, Near East Relief is inviting the American public to "adopt" an orphan at the rates given here. Over 250,000 homeless children are in need of help in the Near East. Women's organizations, lodges, churches and social clubs are responding to the appeal by adopting quotas of orphans for support over a definite period.

WOMEN ADOPT 10,000 ORPHANS

Connecticut to Provide Foster Mothers for Little Victims of Turks.

Ten thousand little victims of Turkish brutality are to be foster-mothered by the big hearted women of Connecticut as the result of appeals by Near East Relief, the former Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief of 1 Madison Avenue, New York City. The women at a meeting voted to "adopt" that number as their share of the 250,000 homeless and starving boys and girls orphaned in the massacres and deportations.

Three hundred representatives of women's organizations attended the meeting at Hartford, at which Governor Marcus H. Holcomb presided and pleaded the cause of the stricken peoples. Another speaker was Henry Morgenthau, former U. S. Ambassador to Turkey.

Assurances that the example of these noble hearted Connecticut women will be followed by similar organizations in all the other states have been received at the headquarters of the Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobacco. But when tobacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' tobacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobacco-ness" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.

Lightly and smoothly

—the friendly tobacco

February will contain five Sundays the first time in 40 years.

Mrs. Philip Wyatt and little daughter, of Baltimore, are visiting friends at Oriole and Princess Anne.

The annual meeting of the Del-Mar-Via Press Association will be held at Hotel Dupont, Wilmington, Del., on January 31st, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Judges Duer and Bailey went to Snow Hill Monday of last week and held the January term of the Circuit Court for Worcester county. Only routine business was transacted.

Roads Superintendent Page Jackson last Tuesday appointed Mr. William Maddox road supervisor for Asbury district, in the place of Mr. Ernest Sterling, who has held the position for some time.

Spencer Dennis, colored, aged 80 years, who lived in a shack near the store of Mr. Peter Hudson on the State road, was found dead in bed Tuesday morning. Dr. George Coulbourne, who was called to view, remains pronounced death due to natural causes.

Mr. W. F. Byrd, of Crisfield, has accepted a position as special inspector under Joshua W. Miles, collector of Internal Revenue, with headquarters at Annapolis. Mr. Byrd, who left on Monday of last week to take up the work will have supervision over three counties.

Mr. J. Carl Fleming, of Atkinson's district, Worcester county, who recently purchased of Mr. John B. Fleming his farm near Westover, known as the "William Sudler Farm," has moved his family to his new purchase. Somerset is Mrs. Fleming's native home, hence the attraction for this county.

The streets were so coated with sleet several days last week that they were very dangerous to pedestrians and a number of falls were reported without serious accident. There were many debates by pedestrians as to where safest to walk, on sidewalks or in the street, with about an even division of opinion.

Algonquin Tribe Improved Order Red Men, of Preston, Md., has been organized with 40 members. E. L. Fooks is great sachem, C. L. Perry, senior sagamore; Ernest Wright, junior sagamore; John Tull, prophet; Fred. F. Collins, keeper of wampum; J. Lee Covey, collector of wampum; John W. Noble, chief of records.

Six Muskrat Shooters Fined

Last Saturday Justice of the Peace J. Frank Miles heard the cases against 65 men charged with participating in the raid on the muskrat lands on Pigeon House marsh, just below St. Peter's, on January 6th and 7th.

Six of the men, Alonzo Smullen, Oscar Travis, Sigbee Noble, Clarence Muir, Harvey Bowman and Paul Smith were found guilty of shooting muskrats and were fined $15 and costs each. The other cases were dismissed. The State was represented by State's Attorney L. Creston Beauchamp and George H. Myers appeared for the accused.

To The Dyspeptic

Would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles are over, that you can eat any kind of food that you crave? Consider then the fact that Chamberlain's Tablets have cured others—why not you? There are many who have been restored to health by taking these tablets and can now eat any kind of food that they crave.

Government Praises McMullen

Governor Ritchie wrote last Wednesday to former State Comptroller Hugh A. McMullen expressing his high appreciation of the services rendered by Mr. McMullen during the four years of his incumbency of that office. Mr. McMullen retired Monday of last week, when Major E. Brooke Lee, who was chosen to the office in the November election, took the oath as his successor. The Governor's letter was as follows:

Dear Mr. McMullen—I cannot let the occasion of your retirement from public office pass without writing you my profound appreciation, not only as Governor of the State, but also as a citizen, of the splendid work you have done for the people of Maryland during the past four years and the fine service you have rendered them.

It is a work from which the people will always continue to benefit and which is a source of pride to your many friends, among whom I trust you will always count me. Sincerely yours, ALBERT C. RITCHIE, Governor

$2,000,000 For Canal in View

According to a report just issued by the chief of engineers of the United States Army it is proposed to expend $2,000,000 on the Chesapeake and Delaware Ship Canal by June 30th, 1921. This amount would be expended according to the following estimate: Purchase of land for right of way, $175,000; construction of new bridges, $850,000; dredging, $180,000; contract work, high-level elevation, $815,000; contingencies, supervision, administration, $180,000.

The necessary surveys will be made, and it is proposed to construct and operate for three months a pipe line hydraulic dredge in the work of deepening the level between Chesapeake City and St. Georges.

During the year 1919, 5,424 boats passed through the canal, carrying 729,188 tons of freight valued at $73,000,886. No record of passengers is available.

Don't You Forget It

Bear in mind that Chamberlain's Tablets not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They contain no pepper or other digestive ferment but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally.

Wanted To Young Men

Clarence Wallace died a murderer and a safe cracker and left behind him the record of a "bad man." But there is a lesson in his dying statement that many of the present-day young men and boys could heed and which might save them from future waywardness. We do not know whether it is true or not, but the confessions of a dying man are usually accepted as evidence in the courts, and there is no reason to doubt Wallace's story of the causes leading to his life of crime. Late hours, bad companions, pool rooms and the thought that he "knew it all," together with a deaf ear to advice given him, even that of his mother, led this man from bad to worse, carrying him, first from ordinary robber to safe-cracker and finally murderer. Here is the story in brief of a man who started out with the average chances in life, who threw those chances to the winds and went to the dogs. And unless some of the young men of today change their course they will bring shame to their parents, their relatives and their friends.—Federick News.

No Great Act Of Heroism Required

If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual.

GOODMAN'S

120,000 STAND IN BREAD LINE

More Than 1,000,000 Face Death in Message Brought by Miss Dakessian.

Behind a bread line of 120,000 famished people waiting for twenty-four hours a day for the sole of food that is the sole barrier between them and death from starvation. That is the situation in Alexandropol, a city in Eastern Armenia, according to Miss Heddine Dakessian, a pretty Armenian girl, one of the survivors of four years at the horrors of Turkish massacres and deportations. Saved by an American woman, she has come to this country and entered Oberlin College.

With her came fourteen other Armenian girls in charge of Miss Adelaide S. Dwight, a Near East Relief worker, who has been instrumental in helping to save hundreds of thousands of their people from death by starvation. Miss Dwight, who is not given to exaggeration and has seen conditions at first hand, says more than a million people are facing death by starvation in Armenia and will perish unless America aids.

Herself an eyewitness to the slaughter of hundreds of helpless women and children by the Turks and a victim of the deportations, Miss Dakessian, an unusually pretty girl, says there is untold suffering in Armenia and Syria. She praises the efforts of the Near East Relief, formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, to save as many of these people as possible. At Erivan, the capital of the Armenian republic, one hot meal is given out daily, and by this relief alone the city's death rate has been cut from a thousand daily to an average of twenty. At Alexandropol, where the refugees from Turkish Armenia were driven by thousands, the situation is appalling, Miss Dakessian says. It is to avert these wholesale deaths that Near East Relief is making a nation-wide appeal for funds.

BOY SCOUTS IN YOUNG ARMENIA

Strangest Troop of All in Constantinople Being Made Into Good Citizens.

American Boy Scout training is aiding prominently in the rehabilitation of hundreds of little Armenian boy refugees from the Turkish massacres, who have been organized into a scout troop in Constantinople as the solution of one of the most troublesome problems that confronted the Near East Relief workers in that city.

Hounded and driven for four years, having seen their parents and relatives slaughtered or worse by Turks and Kurds and themselves forced to beg, steal or do almost anything to eke out the barest existence, these boys had completely lost their moral sense when they finally found refuge in the Near East Relief orphanage.

The boys had been clad in rags for so long that they had forgotten how to take care of clothes. This was a tragedy when the Near East Relief had need of every pair of shoes and of every suit of clothes for new boys constantly coming in.

Then the boys were organized as Boy Scouts and given their uniforms. They began to be careful of their school clothes as well as of their uniforms.

They had been so often hungry they had come to steal without compunction. When they first entered the orphanage they continued to steal. One day a purse from his American teacher. For two or three weeks after he became a Boy Scout he was obviously no longer a thief. One day he came to her with the purse in his hand.

"Don't want to give it back," he said. "But I have to. I'm a Scout."

"GOOD OLD DAYS" RECALLED

Century-Old Ledger Unearthed in Marietta, O., Makes Some Rather Interesting Reading.

Marietta, O., in 1797 paid $408.04 for the maintenance of the government, according to a ledger just brought to light from its hiding place of many years.

December 23, 1797, was the date of the first entry in the book. Six years later Ohio became a state.

The county at that time was three times as large as it is today. The tax duplicate showed a total of $1,310. In the territory allotted to Washington county in 1797 were the towns of Marietta, Gallipolis, Middleton, Adams, Waterford, Salem and Bellepree now Belpre.

Six collectors were appointed, with headquarters in Marietta, and these men made their rounds in the "wild land" at the risk of their lives for a wage of $3.55. Indians surrounded the county, and in some instances the villagers, so the tax collector was often lucky to return "body whole."

In 1798, according to the ledger, the district was divided into nine sections, instead of six, and nine collectors were chosen. Names of the men are given and their places of residence. The commission chose a board of three members and named a chairman in that year.

Meetings were held at the home of Joseph C. Lincoln, a Revolutionary war hero, and a member of the original Ohio company which settled in Marietta, the first town in Northwest territory.

Judges received 75 cents a day whenever they worked on the bench, the ledger records show. There were quarterly sessions and a judge for each session. Six cents a mile was paid a judge for each mile traveled. The foreman of the grand jury received 60 cents a day and the jurymen 50 cents and 8 cents a mile for travel to and from court.

Disbursements for advertising in Atlantic coast and New England town papers are mentioned in the ledger, showing advertising was a necessity in that day.

Roumanian Military Men Dandies. The Roumanian, at least the city resident, is extremely fond of perfume, scented soap, rouge, cosmetics and other artificial aids to beauty. This applies not only to the women but to the men. The average young Roumanian army officer is scented, powdered, rouged and often, it is said, corseted! His habits mark him for a good deal ofillery on the part of foreign officers and visitors. In dress he is as faultless as a Beau Brummel and in manner as polite as a Lord Chesterfield. He is seen at his best on Saturday or Sunday afternoon on the Caise Victoria (the Fifth avenue of Bucharest).

Dressed in a sky-blue uniform, gaudily trimmed with red, high patent-leather boots with silvered spurs that clink musically as he walks, glistening sword at side, white kid gloves and many military decorations, he makes a striking figure.

Answered the Purpose. The assignment in the English composition class at Scripps was the supplying of the feminine equivalent term when the teacher gave out the masculine term. All was going lovely, duke with the answer duchess, marquise and marchioness, but "lord" brought no answer until Johnnie stumbled on to his answer out of his everyday vocabulary—"lordy."

New Use for Photography. The gas meters in New York are to be read by photograph. Meter readers employed by the gas company will be equipped with small cameras which fit over the indicator on the meter. By pressing a button light is thrown on the dial and exposure made, showing the amount of gas consumed since the last photograph.

Reopening Irish Copper Mines. The old copper mines of Ardmore, in County Waterford, Ireland, are to start working again. Engineers state that the cliff still possesses rich lodes of copper ore, and the Drumm hills have workable deposits of coal. It is proposed to start work at once with 300 men.

Easy for Papa. Little Joe's father had died and after the funeral Joe called his mother and asked: "Mamma, where is daddy?" "In heaven, dear," his mamma replied. Joe exclaimed: "Oh, gee, ain't that nice; he can see all the ball games free."—Chicago American.

Puzzled at Sink's Thirst. My little daughter, after watching me pour a bucket of water, into the sink and seeing it disappear, said: "Oh, daddy, does the sink drink water, too?"—Chicago American.

THREE YEARS WITHOUT HOPE

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to Health It will do you good to read it.

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rozalia Kanis of 29 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh effects the mucous membranes in any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply of blood and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membranes and health returns.

For coughs, colds, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possession of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of preparation and protection.

Sold everywhere in tablet or liquid form.

FEED FOWLS SCRATCH GRAIN

Proper Amount Specified by Specialists for Leghorns and General Purpose Breeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Specialists of the United States department of agriculture advise poultry keepers to feed about one quart of scratch grain and an equal weight of mash (about 1 1/2 quarts) daily to 18 hens of the general purpose breeds, such as the Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or Wyandottes, or about 16 hens of the smaller or egg breeds. This would be about 7 1/2 pounds each of scratch grains and of mash daily to Fowls Having Free Range Pick Up Much of Their Feed.

100 Leghorns and about 9 1/2 pounds of each to 100 general purpose fowls. If hens have free range or large yards containing green feed a general purpose hen will eat about 75 pounds of feed in a year, while a Leghorn will consume about 55 pounds in addition to the green stuff which she eats.

EPSOM SALTS FOR CHICKENS

Many Digestive Troubles May Be Overcome by Purging or Cleansing the Intestines.

A great many chickens suffer from indigestion or digestive troubles, which may be due to improper feeding or some method of management. It has been found that many of these conditions may be overcome by purging or cleansing the intestines through some means of a laxative. One of the cheapest and easiest handled laxatives is epsom salts, which can be purchased at any drug store. For mature fowls the dosage is one-half teaspoonful per bird though if the case is minor, one-third teaspoonful may be sufficient. An easy and effective way of administering this is to mix it with a dry mash of bran and shorts, using the above proportions and afterwards moistening it with water.

CURE FOR POULTRY DISEASES

Use of Vaccine Has Considerable Value in Correcting Allments, Says Professor Lewis.

Prof. Harry R. Lewis of New Jersey college before a recent meeting at the Connecticut station said the use of vaccine in the cure of poultry diseases has considerable value. Professor Lewis told of trying out a vaccine on hens afflicted with chicken pox and roup and the successful results. He believes that other diseases may be treated by the vaccine plan. The next step at the New Jersey station will be an effort to immunize pullets against chicken pox or roup by vaccinating while young and before they have been exposed to the disease.

Watch your flock carefully and as soon as one member shows disease remove it.

It is easy to keep your hens healthy if you know the laws of health and practice them.

Close confinement without exercise is not conducive to the best results in the poultry yard.

Geese are not like hens. Old geese lay better than young geese and old ganders are better than young ones.

The weather is something, but the hen is more. Have your hens in a laying condition and they will lay in spite of weather.

The dust bath is recommended highly for flocks but it should not be the only means of preventing lice as some birds will not dust themselves thoroughly.

Unusual Value—In Tires for Small Cars

Not only is characteristic Goodyear merit conspicuous in Goodyear Tires for small cars but ordinarily the first cost is found to be not greater than that of other tires; often it is actually less.

The combination of unusual value in first cost and very low final cost, of course, is a result of Goodyear experience, expertness and care employed as insistently in the making of 30x3, 30x3 1/2 and 31x4-inch tires as it is in the construction of the famous Goodyear Cord Tires used on the highest-priced automobiles.

For this reason more cars using these small sizes were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Get this unusual tire value to enjoy on your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other small car, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Get these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at this station.

HUNGER KNOWS NO ARMISTICE IN CAUCASUS

Colonel Haskell Reports to Near East Relief on Desperate Needs of Helpless.

"Peace may come elsewhere in the world, but hunger knows no armistice in the Near East," says Colonel William N. Haskell, Allied high commission in the Trans-Caucasus, in an appeal to Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City, for food and supplies for the relief of the starving millions.

Colonel Haskell is in charge of all operations and disbursements of Near East Relief in the Caucasus.

"There is no fuel of shelter for the greater part of them during the terrible winter in the mountains," he says, "and the existing food supply is entirely inadequate for the great number of refugees without resources of any kind.

"By a recent agreement between the premiers of the republics of Armenia, Azerbaijan and Georgia to cease hostilities and settle all differences by arbitration one obstacle to relief work in the Caucasus has been removed and makes accessible a great number of destitute people who otherwise would perish this winter.

"Two hundred thousand destitute Armenians and Tartars can now be reached in the districts of Karabagh, Shusha and Nakhichevan, in the southeast section of the Trans-Caucasus, and we are planning to extend our work there. The economic situation is so desperate and food supplies so scanty that the Georgians have ordered 100,000 persons, mainly Russian refugees without employment, to leave the city of Tiflis. About 45,000 workers in the oil fields of Baku have been ordered by the Azerbaijanese to leave the city because there is no work for them and food is scarce.

Around every station along the railway are gathered groups of hundreds of homeless people lying huddled together on the ground, the majority of them too weak even to try to help themselves. From time to time the stronger ones climb on freight cars and move elsewhere, always seeking better conditions, which do not exist. Two hundred and sixty-three thousand homeless refugees from Turkish Armenia thus are constantly drifting about throughout Russian Armenia, making the relief work conducted by the Americans a problem requiring infinite patience and organizing ability.

"This is especially true in view of the existence of 248,000 destitute inhabitants of Russian Armenia who possess homes, but no food, as well as 150,000 Greeks, Russians, Persians, Syrians and Yezids who have been driven out of parts of Transcaucasia.

"One hundred and forty thousand Moslems, whose villages were destroyed in the course of five years of constant warfare, are helplessly encamped in the open around villages of their former enemies, begging infinitesimal quantities of flour, which they mix with dirt to give the illusion of nourishment.

"These hundreds of thousands of suffering adults, mostly homeless and lacking every necessity of life, having nothing more to lose, are concentrated in a country as yet inadequately policed or governed. They constitute a fertile field for the seeds of Bolshevism or any form of anarchy, the spread of which once loosed would be impossible to predict.

"It is generally admitted in the Caucasus that the Americans of the Near East Relief already have saved the lives of at least 30,000 babies and children and of 500,000 adult refugees and destitute. This work still is continuing.

"In an effort to procure funds to carry on the work and save the lives of these hundreds of thousands who otherwise will die of starvation and exposure, Near East Relief, of which the American people are the benefactors, is

Camel CIGARETTES

CAMELS supply cigarette contentment beyond anything you ever experienced! You never tasted such full-bodied mellow-mildness; such refreshing, appetizing flavor and coolness. The more Camels you smoke the greater becomes your delight—Camels are such a cigarette revelation!

Everything about Camels you find so fascinating is due to their quality—to the expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

You'll say Camels are in a class by themselves—they seem made to meet your own personal taste in so many ways!

Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels particularly desirable to the most fastidious smokers. And, you smoke Camels as liberally as meets your own wishes, for they never tire your taste! You are always keen for the cigarette satisfaction that makes Camels so attractive. Smokers realize that the value is in the cigarettes and do not expect premiums or coupons!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

New Value of Contrast.
For several evenings after school my small daughter persisted in coming home with an exceedingly unkempt-looking child. Upon asking her why she was possessed to go with such a dirty child she replied: "Oh, mother, I like to go with her 'cause it makes me look cleaner than I am."—Exchange.

Earth Gives Light to Moon.
Everything reflects light more or less. Sun's light shining on earth is reflected to moon, exactly as sun's light shining on moon is reflected to earth to produce moonshine. This "earth shine" can be observed on the darker part of moon when conditions are favorable.

Marvelous Arcturus.
Of a deep orange color and of the first order of brightness, Arcturus is a sun that makes our own pale in comparison as a fallow dip pales before an arc lamp. Indeed, it is thought to radiate 500 times as much light as our sun.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

HUNGER KNOWS NO ARMISTICE

NEAR EAST RELIEF

This picture, painted especially for the Near East Relief by M. Leone Bracker, vividly portrays what words fail to express—the horrible suffering of the women and children of Armenia and adjacent countries. Peace has blessed Europe and America for more than a year but in Western Asia conditions more frightful than any war time experiences of the martyred populations of Belgium and France still exist. Thousands of women and children escaped massacre by the Turkish soldiers only to face the terrible agonies of death by starvation. At the present time it is estimated that 1,250,000 adults and fully 250,000 orphaned children are completely destitute and in imminent danger of death by starvation and exposure.

The Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York, is at present the only organization giving aid to these suffering people and lack of funds still prevents the reaching of more than a small part of the stricken people.

SAVED FROM HAREM

Armenian Girls Rescued from Turks Being Taken to Near East Relief Home.

The three pretty Armenian girls in the auto are taking a real "joy ride," joyful having another meaning from that generally associated with auto riding here. They have been rescued from the harem of a Turk after four years of shameful servitude and are being taken to one of the Near East Relief rescue homes. No wonder they are smiling for the first time since their captivity. The Near East Relief is caring for many thousands of these girls until they can find their relatives. Also it is working to save 250,000 orphans and over a million adults from starvation this winter. That is why it is making a nation wide appeal for funds to carry on its noble work.

"Before and After" in the Near East

From misery to comfort and self-respect in five days' time, simply through the magic of an American ten dollar bill, is a transformation that is being wrought daily in Western Asia by the Near East Relief of 1 Madison Avenue, New York City. The group of five Armenian children shown in two pictures here have reason to bless the American donor of that ten dollar bill. With this money, the expert workers of Near East Relief in Armenia were able to rid the poor children of their loathsome rags and to clothe them with new garments of alaja cloth, woven in a Near East Relief Industrial plant and sewed into garments by the mother of the children. The mother was also paid a small fee for her services in making the garments.

This was a lucky family. There are thousands of others not so lucky in the Near East, simply because of a lack of other ten dollar bills. Near East Relief is asking the American people to contribute funds to save the starving in the Bible lands. It is estimated that over 1,250,000 adults are in desperate need, and 250,000 children are orphans and must be cared for. For the sum of $180 a year Near East Relief can not only feed and clothe and shelter an orphan child, but can also give a course in education towards ultimate self-support and independence. Many of these orphans are being "adopted" by Americans who are providing funds for the support of one or more over a given period.

SOIL TEST FOR FARMERS

County Agent Keller has made arrangements with the Soil Department of the Maryland Experiment Station to test every farmer in the county...

From one-half to two-thirds of the farm land in our county requires lime to produce a profitable crop. It is a well-known fact that the poor and unproductive land of this section is invariably sour and that many of our good soils would be more productive if lime was used more liberally.

With the above in mind, our County Agent, C. Z. Keller, has set aside ground every day, February 2nd, as soil testing day and urges that every farmer in the county take a sample of his soil and bring it to his office in the County House at Princess Anne.

He wants a sample from every farmer and from every farm a sample from every field that has not received an application of at least one ton of lime per acre during the past two years. All samples received by him during the week of February 2nd will be tested for lime requirements free of charge if the directions given below are followed:

With a spade or shovel dig a square hole to the depth of about six inches, lay a piece of clean paper in the bottom of the hole and then shove a thin slice from one side of the hole, allowing the soil to fall on the paper. (Be sure shovel is clean or free from any material like lime). Lift the paper and the soil slice from the hole and proceed to another place in the same field and repeat the operation; one quart will be enough for sample.

If the field is small and fairly uniform two holes will be sufficient to give representative sample, but if the field is large and uneven it will be better to secure samples from at least four different places. The samples thus secured from different places in the same field should then be mixed together and from the mixture a half pint of soil should be taken for the test. This half pint sample should be wrapped in paper or put in a clean bag and marked on the outside of the package.

The samples from each field should be wrapped and numbered separately, then all packed together in a box or package for shipment by parcel post. The package may be sent or taken to the County Agricultural Agent or it may be sent by mail or parcel post direct to the Soil Department Maryland Experiment Station, College Park, Md.

It is desired that all samples be taken on Monday, February 2nd, regardless of the weather. If the ground is frozen at this time the samples may be taken by chopping out small pieces of soil with an axe or hatchet and after thawing mix as directed above.

For the convenience of our readers we are printing below a coupon which should be used in sending the samples. Before the package is wrapped for shipment fill out this slip, tear off and attach to your sample, keeping a copy for reference. This is important since the result of the test will be reported to you by number, and it will be necessary for you to know the fields corresponding to the numbers.

32,313 Marylanders Served in War

Adj. Gen. Henry M. Warfield handed to Governor Ritchie last Wednesday advance sheets of his report for 1919 and 1920, which show that 32,313 men from Maryland served in the World War. Of that number 10,144 were in the Army, 7,526 in the navy, 776 in the Marine Corps, and 38,967 in the national army.

General Warfield's report also shows that 312,417 Marylanders were registered under the Selective Draft act; that 232,949 were classified; that 83,556 were put into Class 1, and that 34,412 were inducted into the service. Those between 27 and 45 years of age were not classified and all classifying ceased with the signing of the armistice.

Hard Case.
 "The lovers in the days of chivalry must have had hard times when the fathers kicked about anything."

"Why so?"
 "Because then the fathers wore steel boots."

Modern Caution.
 Father—So he asked you to marry him? And are you sure that he is a careful and cautious young man?
 Daughter—Oh, yes; he looked all over the room first for a possible telephone.

Uncomplimentary.
 Sister—Well, Harold, isn't the baby lovely?
 Brother—Yes—or—that is to say—or—about how old must a baby be before it begins to look like a human being?

The Woman Depositor.
 "Sorry, madam, but your account is already overdrawn!"
 "Well, what of it, young man? Haven't I a right to do what I like with my own account?"—Life.

"PERFECT" MAN GETS ROAST

London Writer Refuses to Envy Women Who Are "Blessed" With Such a Life Companion.

Every one envied a certain lady because it was apparent that she had such a perfect husband.

True enough, the gentleman neither drank, swore, looked at other women, grumbled, nor did he spend any time away from his wife except when at business.

Yet the woman who "possessed" this model of perfection found him a most irritating companion with whom she was forced to spend her life, says London Answers. For instance, if she got worn out trying to pacify baby, who was cross, and eventually lost her temper with the child, her husband would come in, take the little one in his arm and amiably try—and often succeed, as a fresh person sometimes does—to work the oracle with calmness.

That would be all very well if he didn't put on the "See how much better my method is" air, which is most tantalizing.

Perfect men are so anxious to obtrude their perfection upon their womenfolk that they often defeat their own ends. They spend money on seats for the opera or buying little presents with no knowledge of whether such will be the most acceptable or desirable gifts.

It is because these men are so good in intentions that their wives haven't the heart to say, "I'd rather have had 5 shillings for a new box iron. It would save me such a lot of trouble."

The husband who has a few glaring faults is pretty sure to look over his wife's failings and humor her whims. The perfect man has a horrible knack of preaching at his womenfolk.

The woman with a faultless husband often feels like doing something to make him swear at her. Perfection is apt to become dull and monotonous.

Don't envy the woman with a perfect husband, you wives who wish your own men wouldn't drop cigarette ash on the carpet or storm a bit when things go wrong; for these careless, "temperish" men have a lot of good qualities to balance their faults.

The man who never raises his voice to complain rarely softens it to wife with loving words of praise.

Shells Still Flying.
 Residents of the devastated districts of France are still fleeing from bursts of shell and shrapnel.

The new menace is caused by the small grass and swamp fires, which frequently set off the shells that have been piled up to be hauled away and exploded in some safe place.

Maj. H. C. Greene of Boston had a thrilling ride and narrowly escaped a hail of shrapnel on his way from St. Quentin to Laon as a result of one of these fires. A French woman working in a field near Bouconville was gassed and considerable damage has been done.

In the vast, desolate fields, thousands of unexploded shells have been picked up by German prisoners, and though there are details hauling them away and exploding them in remote valleys every day, there are still long ranks of them everywhere. Sparks from locomotives and from small fires where battlefield rubbish is being burned occasionally set fire to patches of dry weeds, and the accidental bursts are numerous.

BACKING UP PROOF
 The Kind That Princess Anne People Cannot Deny

Many an earnest Princess Anne man or woman has publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.

Week after week, month after month you've read their statements.

Would these Princess Anne people recommend any medicine if it were not good?

Would they confirm and repeat their statements after years had passed? Local proof is good evidence.

The following Princess Anne man's statement leaves no room for doubt. It must convince every kidney sufferer who reads it.

If your back aches—if your kidneys are weak, profit by the experience of Theo. H. Heath, 114 Beckford Ave., he says: "I suffered from severe pains through my back and joints. I was unable to rest well at night and mornings felt tired and worn out. I suffered from frequent dizzy spells and at times they were so severe I could hardly stand. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in every way and my system was entirely rid of kidney complaint."

Over five years later, Mr. Heath said: "Nothing has changed my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I always recommend them when I get a chance." Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Heath had. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

A SERVICE MESSAGE

Credit Is Confidence

When you purchase an article in a store or create a debt of any kind, it is assumed on the part of the creditor that the bill will be paid when presented. This is the confidence that the creditor has in the party assuming the debt.

It is both bad for business and bad for the debtor to betray that confidence. Prompt payment of bills helps business, and incidentally establishes a credit standing in the community for the man or woman who appreciates the privilege and convenience of a charge account.

And, if you pay your bills with a check drawn on this bank you'll have an indisputable receipt that the account is paid.
