

ADVERTISER.
SATURDAY, DEC. 1, 1888.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

With the beginning of the next year the publisher of the ADVERTISER desires to introduce several improvements in the interest of readers. One of the most important is the doing away with the reading notices which are so disagreeable to nearly all the country papers and so annoying to subscribers. We wish to put all advertisements in the space assigned to them and thereby increase the actual reading matter as well as avoid the necessity of our readers being bored with patent medicine and similar notices when they are interested in other matter. To accomplish this, the cooperation of subscribers is necessary. With a subscription list as large as the ADVERTISER's, the failure of any considerable portion to pay promptly is a serious loss and to make up this loss, the publisher has to stretch his advertising space to its utmost to pay the heavy expense of publication. Bills will be sent to all subscribers between this date and the first of next year. If our request is complied with and all subscribers will assist us in this matter, we promise to take no more contracts for these reading notices and get rid of what we have as rapidly as possible. The rule we would like to insist upon is that, counting from the date of subscription, every subscriber over a year in arrears will be stricken off without respect to persons. It will be readily seen that such a rule must be invariable and promptly executed and if adopted it will be. It would be better still if every subscriber would pay in advance, but many do not have an opportunity to send or bring the money exactly at the time and we are willing to indulge them a few months. But if we are to be successful in our proposed improvements, we shall have to insist that all must settle during the year without exception. It will give us pleasure to hear from all our patrons upon this subject, though we are now convinced that they will gladly welcome the change.

The editor of the Eastern Ledger is evidently not of a timid temperament. Unfortunately his judgment is not equally developed. He makes a fool of himself boldly but the foolishness is just as apparent. He plunges into the turbulent but shallow surf of personal abuse and doesn't know enough to discover that better men are navigating in a deeper and calmer sea of political discussion beyond, smiling at his struggles. We don't like to call a man a fool without proving it, so considering no further his tirade about the editor of this paper, let us see the proof. First we notice that the point at issue is the comparative fitness of ex-Gov. Thomas and Judge Wilson for the United States Senatorship. So whether the editor of the ADVERTISER is worthy of the privilege of counselling the democratic party can be tested only by what he says upon that subject. Two points, after a while the Ledger flounders up to and criticizes. The first is the statement we made to the effect that Mr. Thomas had held enough offices. We leave that without going over the list, for dating from the almost prehistoric days when he began to draw upon the public treasury, to catalogue his offices would take a great deal of space. The second is our commendation of Judge Wilson. We may leave that too, because there is not a man on the Eastern Shore of Maryland except the editor of the Ledger, who does not recognize his eminent qualifications. To state that our esteemed contemporary finds fault with two propositions everybody knows to be true is almost proof enough of his mental myopia.

But he makes a further display. He says that when the senatorship is discussed people turn naturally to Mr. Thomas. Isn't it a little curious that he has not been turned to frequently before? No doubt some people turn toward him, Baltimore politicians do and so perhaps, does Senator Gorman. There is no question in the world that Mr. Thomas is looked at, but by the people, no.

Then the Ledger fears Judge Wilson is mortified because he is talked of for the senatorship. Possibly he may be, but with all due respect to Judge Wilson he has nothing to do with it. We advocate his election in the interest of the people of Maryland, because he is the best man we know to occupy that distinguished position. It is disagreeable to make comparisons but in politics it has to be done and when a station requiring the highest qualities of mind and character is to be filled, a journal would miserably fail in its duty to the people of the State if it were not a democratic party, if it were not a journal of its ability to do its duty.

tal, and devote its space to an intelligent discussion of the issues. Suppose it should not be so indignant at our saying that Gov. Thomas has had enough offices and calmly recite to the people the offices he has had and thereby prove that he has had too few. Suppose it should not use so many adjectives in support of his greatness but turn its energies to the pleasant task of describing what he has done to be so great. We can assist it here, by the way, by stating that the only thing we ever heard of his doing was to deliver a speech to an empty House of Representatives on the Sandwich Islands. What an eloquent passage the Ledger might make of it; the profound effect produced on the walls and desks by the utterances of Gov. Thomas on the portentous, sublime and glorious subject of the Sandwich Islands. To return to our supposition would not that course be much more brotherly and at the same time more logical? We leave it to the Ledger's consideration.

The U. S. Senatorship.

Views of our Contemporaries upon the Approaching Contest.

The Baltimore Day says: It will be noticed, by a glance at the list of the Legislature, that the choice of senator will be left to rather limited number of members. The caucus will be composed of five senators—Mr. W. T. P. Turpin, of Queen Anne's; Mr. E. E. Jackson, of Wicomico; Mr. Levi R. Mearns, of Cecil; Hon. Henry Lloyd, of Dorchester, and Dr. Geo. M. Bishop, of Worcester, and twenty representatives, as follows: Caroline, D. R. Culbreth and J. H. Douglass; Cecil, Henry Jones, Frank R. Scott, Wm. B. Robbins; Dorchester, Isaac H. Houston, Kent, J. P. Wilson, H. B. Adkinson; Queen Anne's, Wm. H. Legg, A. J. Gadd, W. E. Barton; Talbot, Philip F. Thomas, Ed. Lloyd, Jos. B. Seth; Wicomico, Thomas B. Taylor, William S. Moore; Wm. E. Sheppard; Worcester, Benj. J. Taylor, Edward D. Martin, Francis T. Taylor. It is pretty generally conceded that the votes of the senator and representatives from Dorchester county will be cast for Ex-Congressman Daniel M. Henry, and if there are scattering votes for other candidates there is a likelihood of the caucus failing to agree. This might throw the question into the hands of a caucus of all the Democratic members, or into the Legislature in session, and the matter would be fought out there and an end reached through votes of the members from the Western Shore counties.

"I do not think there will be much trouble over the senatorship," said a well-known politician, whose judgment upon State affairs is valuable and seldom in error, yesterday. "The contest, you see, is a good distance ahead of us, and there is yet plenty of time. My impression is that the Eastern Shore will agree upon a man in caucus."

"What will be the attitude of the Western Shore in the contest?"

"I have talked with a good many members of the Legislature from the western counties, and all of them say they will stand aloof and let the Eastern Shore members settle it among themselves. That is really the only thing they can do, don't you see, unless there is more difficulty than is anticipated now and more bitter feeling than is likely to occur. In that case the Eastern Shore may say, 'We were the first to raise this question, and the friends of the opposing candidates, not willing to let their opponents win, will tell the Western Shore to take some one from that section, as they would sooner see that than have the men whom they have been fighting. Now this, I say, may be the case; but it is not at all likely."

Under the operation of law and still more deeply-rooted custom the choice for senator is confined to the Eastern Shore, and the probability is that any one agreed on by the senators and representatives from that shore will be elected. The proper thing, then, for these gentlemen to do is to dismiss all petty considerations and select the best and ablest man they can find east of the Chesapeake for the position. It is high time that the representatives of the people of this State were showing some comprehension of the qualifications requisite in a United States senator and allowing other considerations than those arising out of factional preferences and local jealousies to dictate their choice. We have no desire to disparage the Eastern Shore, but we can, without doing so, safely say that it is not in the nature of things that it should contain many men pre-eminently fitted for so exalted a position; and hence it ought not to be difficult for its representatives to select the best man they have for the place, if they will consider fitness rather than such a petty thing as success in electioneering.

The Greensboro' Free Press says: "Another name mentioned in connection with the senatorship is that of ex-Governor Philip P. Thomas, of Talbot. It has fallen to the lot of no Marylander to wear more honors and, withal, more gracefully than has the venerable and honorable gentleman above mentioned, and by reason of the advantageous acquaintances and friendship formed during his various incumbencies as member of Congress, United States senator, cabinet officer, governor, comptroller of the treasury, etc., forces might conspire to again vest the ex-Governor with senatorial honors; but there should be a pause in advance of any such attempt. The office in question is the conceded property of the Eastern Shore, and the Western Shore or Baltimore should not attempt to contest the Eastern Shore in the matter. Mr. Thomas is clearly not the choice of the section having the right to decide. Different reasons are assigned for this repugnance, but to the honor of the man be it said that none reflect upon his past career."

The Democratic Messenger, of Snow Hill, in the course of a long editorial in favor of Judge E. K. Wilson, says: "We say without qualification he is the man for the place. We therefore take the liberty, though we have never heard him express a desire for the office, and do not know whether he will approve our advocacy of his claims, to add our voice to the many who are expressing their hearty endorsement from him by our contemporaries in Wicomico and Worcester counties."

We do not think we indulge in extravagance when we express the opinion that he is the strongest man on the Eastern Shore for United States Senatorship. He has great strength, indeed, the whole State and the people of Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester counties. Can any other man in the State be so generally loved and their length and breadth of the people want to elect him.

—The late Peter Cooper once said: In all the towns where a newspaper is published, every man should advertise in it, even if nothing more than a card stating his name and the business he is an advertiser, but it lets people at a distance know that the town you reside in has a prosperous community of business men. As the seed is sown so the fruit recombines. Never pull down your sign while you expect to do business, for it often indicates that business is poor and you are losing your grip, commercially speaking. The judicious advertiser will receive in return ten dollars for every one invested in the column of a good newspaper.

—It was a common saying among the thrifty oystermen on the north shore of Long Island Sound, in the days when stock companies had not begun to cultivate large plantations under water, that two acres of good oyster "land" were worth as much as an ordinary New England farm. There is money to be made in growing oysters. A dispatch from Bridgeport shows that the business is more profitable it is also more risky than farming on dry land. The oyster's most deadly enemy is the star-fish. Near Bridgeport about 4,000 acres of submerged land are now under cultivation, and the star-fish is rapidly destroying the crop. In three weeks the oysters on the tract of 100 acres have been killed by the "five-fingers," as they are sometimes called, and an oyster merchant has recently taken up 800,000 of the fish in seven hours by dredging. This attack upon the oysters by their enemies is not without precedent along the Connecticut shore, but it seems to be the most destructive one that has been made in many years.

—The Potomac News and Advertiser says that a farmer living near Smyrna reports a yield of 56 bushels of corn per acre on a 20 acre field. Forty bushels per acre is a yield common to the best farms of Kent county. O. L. Hudson, four miles north of Millford, raised nearly 1200 bushels on 25 acres.

Mr. Editor:—This said that a calm invariably follows a storm, and now that the political contest is over and the dust and smoke had time to clear up from the fields of battle, the contending forces may view from their respective stand points the field upon which they met contended and clashed swords in a force and bitter conflict. Over! What a sense of relief comes over us in the contemplation of the significance of the work. Let us hope that with the subsidence of the clamorous belligerent spirit and the return of equilibrium that the errors will be seen and corrected, that right will prevail, that all parties will come out of the contest wiser and better men. There are democrats who hurl opprobrious epithets at republicans simply because they are republicans, et vice versa. O tempora! O mores! This absurd to say the least to excrete a man and denounce him as a rascal simply because he is at variance with one in opinion. We claim to be a democrat, but not one of so small a mental culture and respect a man's sentiments.

Teacher's Institute.

Questions Discussed at the New Castle Teacher's Meeting.

From Every Evening's report of the New Castle Teachers' Institute we take the following: "How to Teach Reading," was discussed by Superintendent Williams. He said no branch of study in the public schools of this county was more criticised by the daily papers of our State than that of reading. He insisted that all teachers present should pay this strictest attention to Dr. Purnell, and Assistant Superintendent Carpenter on this subject. Dr. Purnell talked for 40 minutes, and he was followed by Mr. Carpenter, who answered all questions asked him, and said he deemed it useless to put a sixth reader in the hands of pupils, believing the fifth a sufficiently high grade.

M. C. Smith followed with a few black-board exercises. He was followed by principal of the New Castle academy on articulation, this being a greatly neglected point in teaching of reading classes, as many teachers looked upon the recitation of a reading class as a time of rest. He showed that in a well conducted school a teacher never had a minute to rest. To be a successful teacher in reading one must have much general knowledge and not deal with the old-fashioned routine of sing-song teaching. Interesting and general discussion followed.

In the absence of M. A. Husted the subject of "How to Teach Geography," was taken up by Prof. Montgomery and made plain to all present. He favors map drawing and short lessons well taught. He cited a case where a teacher gave a scholar four pages of descriptive geography to commit to memory in one lesson. He says such teachers are not worthy of their certificate. The instructor insists upon the use of books having clean print and good pictures. This interesting the pupil in study all the more, and does not approve of discouraging pupils by severe criticism on their errors, and especially so in reading, but says a teacher should repeat what the scholar says in the same tone and the mistake will at once be noticed and corrected.

NEVER FAILS. NERVE TONIC. THE GREAT NERVE CONQUEROR.

"You claim too much for SAMUELSON'S NERVE TONIC," says a skeptic. "How can one medicine be a specific for Epilepsy, Dyspepsia, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Rheumatism, Spasmodic, or Spinal Weakness, and fifty other complaints?" We claim it a specific, simply because the virus of all diseases arises from the blood. Its Nerve, Resolvent, Alterative and Laxative properties meet all the conditions herein referred to. It's known world wide.

It quiets and composes the patient—not by the introduction of opiate and drastic cathartics, but by the restoration of activity to the stomach and nervous system, whereby the brain is relieved of morbid fancies, which are created by the cases above referred to.

To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all those whose sedentary employment causes nervous prostration, irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or kidneys or who require a nerve tonic, appetizer or stimulant, SAMUELSON'S NERVE TONIC is invaluable. Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

The Tribute of a Friend to the Late Mrs. Holland.

Died in this town on Sunday, Nov. 25th, Mrs. MARY ANABELLA HOLLAND, wife of Charles F. Holland, Esq. Death is indeed a solemn event. No respecter of persons, it lays its hand on the noble, the pure, the good, and the true, as well as those less worthy. Who that knew Mrs. Holland does not mourn her loss? Who among her neighbors will not miss the genial companion of admirable social qualities, the woman of a well stored mind, the one free from all affectation, the sound, practical woman who could ever be found ministering to the suffering, if she knew it, whether they belonged to the humbler walks of life, or the wealthiest, most cultured and influential class? So far as the suffering were concerned it made no difference to her. Could she relieve them it was done cheerfully, not grudgingly. Too much is sometimes said in eulogy of the dead. In this case the writer cannot. Some time since his mother was sick and she left her home and did as much for her as a daughter could have done. This he appreciated as much as it had been done for him. A short time thereafter in a spell of severe illness, the longest of his life, not a day passed, but what she with her own hands prepared several times some delicacy for him. Near neighbors, two persons could not have been more kind and considerate than herself and husband, nor were two ever better allied in heart and soul. With him this whole community sympathizes most deeply. Holding on to life with remarkable tenacity during a very long spell of severe sickness, she received the most skilful medical attention, the kindness nursing, the most tender and constant care from him, but the grim messenger came at last and she was called away.

Sad loss indeed! Her neighbors will miss her; society will miss her; her church, (the P. E. church) will miss her; her relations will miss her. Indeed, all will miss her most sadly. Possessing in a great degree the graces that dignify and adorn all that is pure and good in womanhood, this town has sustained a loss, which it will be hard, hard, indeed, to repair. Verily a noble soul is gone, but her memory is not to be forgotten.

plenty of gravel will be...
The best of cattle lost in the fall is...
If grafting is done early, as it should be, cut and set soon as you go.
Ashes as a fertilizer are of no use without bone, nor bone without ashes.
New cuts are not a good diet for horses, and should be fed sparingly.
Squashes and sweet potatoes must be stored where the temperature can be kept up to sixty degrees.
When pigs are fed plentifully with soft corn, as is common at this season, it sours on their stomach, and charcoal should be given as a corrective. It will be greedily eaten, and will enable the pigs to dispose of more corn and with better prospect of gain.
Partially rotten potatoes are not good food for milk cows. They are unwholesome; they impart a disagreeable flavor to the milk and injure its keeping qualities, and also that of the butter made from it. Even cooking will not make them proper food. Better throw them away.
If trees are pruned at any season the larger wounds should be covered with gum shells to exclude air. Many a valuable tree is lost by neglect of this precaution. Water gets into the wood, which begins to rot before the bark can grow over. It is the same as when mortification begins on a diseased or dismembered limb in animals.
A Vermont sheep raiser says that the best method of doctoring sheep for foot-rot is to wet every foot of every sheep in the flock, sound or lame, thoroughly with kerosene or coal oil, and put what sulphur you can take in the thumb and finger between the hoofs of each foot. Keep them in a dry place for twelve hours. Repeat this operation in about two weeks, and you will have no more trouble.
The Germantown Telegraph says that "in selecting old apple and pear trees for the purpose of grafting, care should be exercised to take only those that retain their foliage in the autumn. They will insure the growing of the graft sufficiently long to establish it and cause it to remain unaffected during the winter. In every instance that we have tried to raise fruit from old trees which shed their leaves early we have failed. They grow for a few years, bear a few specimens and then die."
Most crops come to have a special fertilizer adapted for them—as plaster for clover, lime and potash for potatoes and nitrogen and phosphoric acid for wheat. The peach tree has a special fertilizer also, one which combines a great many ingredients, but the most suitable for the purpose. It is the cleanser in comparison with anything else that can be tried as it gives quicker growth, increases the fruit and colors and foliage to a deep green. The discovery was made by a New Jersey fruit grower who experimented for the purpose, and the most casual observer could easily discern the difference in the appearance of trees treated in this way from those manured in any other manner.
Horseshoeing, for a long time an art, is fast becoming a science. Owners of horseflesh realize that their animals, if properly shod, are much better fitted for the work expected of them.
Recognized as experts in the science, the great development of the art and the interest taken in him of late years has done much to promote the science. Apprentices of six months standing are no longer allowed to tamper with the feet of valuable horses. A farrier with understanding can do more for the horse than the veterinary surgeon, as the former does away at once with the causes of many ailments, while the latter treats the effects. In shoeing a horse the normal condition of the hoof should be strictly adhered to. While excessive paring and rasping may not lame the horse, it will in a measure unfit him for work or travel. The farrier must use method, and at the same time discretion in shoeing, as the hoof of nearly every horse is differently shaped. As a rule short nails should be used, and hot filing should not be allowed under any circumstances, as it burns the horn of the hoof and greatly injures it. The style of shoes should be selected with a view to the class of work to be done in them. Draft horses, roadsters, trotters, runners and pacers all wear different shoes best adapted to their work. Extremely heavy shoes or high corks are discontinued.
Mr. T. O. Nourse, in his prize essay, written for the Massachusetts Agricultural College, discourses as follows on the rotation of crops: "There was an old practice of following to give the land rest and thereby enrich it. This, however, is going out of practice, from the fact that it gives so great a chance for loss by drainage. Now a general farmer does not offer the same chance for losses for it is very easy to adopt a system so that a crop may be kept growing all the time, for if a crop comes on early in the season, but not early enough to allow another crop to ripen, it is very easy to sow rye and either feed it off in the fall or spring or plow under for green manure. It has been found from repeated experiment that one crop will not grow on a piece of land for a long series of years and give good results. This is probably due to the fact that a large proportion of the particular elements needed by the plant are exhausted, while if these are rotated with those of another culture the former will again soon grow as well as ever. For a rotation of crops the following may be a good one in many localities: First year, corn, second, roots; third, oats; fourth, wheat; fifth, clover; and sixth, clover. This is for a six-year rotation, and can, of course, be modified to admit it to the circumstances and location, as, for instance, in Canada, peas may take the place of corn, for there a large crop of peas may be grown and make a very valuable one, too, while further south this would not be possible on account of the pea weevil. The Norfolk rotation, which is theoretically a perfect rotation, is as follows: First, wheat, second, turnips; third, oats or barley; fourth, clover. This is, however, hardly admissible in most localities, for so large a proportion of turnips would not be fed to advantage, and might well be modified by placing the barley before the roots and inserting a wheat crop between the roots and clover."
