A Common-Sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.

No More Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case. It is the only remedy for all rheumatism, neuralgia and gout for the standing quality.

SECRET!

The only Dissolver of the Phosphoric Acid which cures the Blood of Rheumatism and Gouty Patients.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the root of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specific and supposed remedies only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oil ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will do but little good, as the cause of the disease is in the blood.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is not merely a blood-purifier, but a permanent physician of America and Europe. It cures in three days.

WARRANTED! Salicylica is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The medicine is given in capsules. It is guaranteed to give relief. It is guaranteed to give relief. It is guaranteed to give relief.

Sullivan's hemorrhage turns out to be claret. We have heard frequently that Sullivan soon got to pumping, but didn't know it was claret he pumped before.

The druggists formed an association in Baltimore Tuesday. If they will get pills down to a smaller margin of profit, say 100 per cent, we go in for them.

Baltimore people are talking only of base ball and Barnum's circus. The editors didn't draw worth a cent. A couple of steady reporters at the door were the only persons desirous of seeing the "slashers."

We have raised enough money to do a part of the needed work on the river. We want Col. Craighill to come down. If this river don't need a bit more cutting, none does and besides it has something in the way of business to show for it.

It's only ten years since Goldsmith Maid's 16 1/2 was telegraphed over the country as a marvel. Last year a double team did it and now a horse green from a winter's rest, accomplishes the same feat. The world moves. The old Maid's grand career, however, will never be eclipsed in the history of horsemanship.

The story published by the Day and corroborated by the oath of its reporter concerning the alliance between Gov. Hamilton and Mayor Whyte, is evidently somewhere near the truth. That the reporter is right seems to be the belief of most people. Whether the Mayor's private secretary who now denies the whole thing, told the reporter a true story or whether he magnified some interchange of civilities between the officers of the two factions into a treaty offensive and defensive, is the question. The former is likely. Neither faction can win alone and it is very credible that some understanding has been reached between them. Here is another indication that the Governor's lands are not so clear as many of the reformers would have us believe. He is a little more honest than most politicians but he is not without guile and he is after his own ends. The number of broken idols plainly teaches the moral that a new array is needed by the democracy of Maryland, wherein most of the captains of the past will be found in the ranks and some of the more quiet men in the ranks in the front.

The meeting the democratic editors Tuesday resulted in an agreeable surprise. Representing the different factions of the party the expectation was that there would be some disagreements. But every man there was of the same opinion, namely that too much attention had been given to the politicians and that the time had come to drop them all and for the people with one accord to close up the ranks. Every editor pledged the influence of his paper to that end. Could anything more sound and favorable to the future strength of the party be asked? Whyte, Hamilton and the rest are to be buried with all decency, but nevertheless buried. The people are to govern if they will come out and act for themselves. The newspapers are awake and ready to take the side of the people against the politicians. All that remains is for the people to pour out in their might, take charge of primaries, conventions and nominations. They have now no excuse to stay at home. Any attempt to thwart their wishes at the primaries will be promptly exposed and punished. The result need not be feared unless the people themselves make mistakes. They must select delegates of probity and intelligence, who are above intrigue and temptation and they must send them to the state and county conventions pledged only to the best men.

A meeting of the druggists of the State for the purpose of organizing a pharmaceutical association was held Tuesday morning at the Maryland College of Pharmacy, Alsquith street, near Fayette. Dr. Joseph Roberts stated the objects of the meeting to be the forming of a permanent union of druggists and hope that those present would follow in the paths of their sister States by organizing a union that will fairly and honestly represent the interest throughout Maryland. Dr. Edwin Eareckson was elected president pro tem, and Charles Caspar secretary. A resolution was adopted declaring themselves a pharmaceutical association and a committee of five was appointed to draft a constitution and suitable by-laws. The committee was as follows: Dr. Joseph Roberts, Louis Dehms, Dr. Corning, of Baltimore; Dr. Collier, of Salisbury, and Dr. Dury, of Hillsboro, Md. While the committee was present, Fred R. W. Bedford, of the College of Pharmacy of New York, delivered a brief address.

In the Fair divorce case public sympathy appears to be on the side of Mrs. Fair, the mother of the child. It is hoped that the court will grant the mother's demands—expenses of the suit, control of the children, $5,000,000 in cash, and $1,000,000 in property. Senator Fair acknowledged he knew his wife was bringing the suit, but said he would defend the case. He characterized the allegations as vile lies, having no more foundation than the story about his eldest son shooting him.

The Editors.

They Discuss Party Matters and Prepare an Address.

Pursuant to a call made about two weeks ago by a number of editors living in the city of Baltimore, a number of democratic editors, representing thirteen counties and the city of Baltimore, met at Barnum's Hotel, Baltimore, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Wm. H. Ruby, who explained that the meeting was called, and added that it was intended for consultation upon the political situation. Col. Clement Sullivan, of the Cambridge Chronicle, was called to the chair, and I. S. Wilson was chosen secretary.

W. H. Ruby moved the appointment of a committee of seven to formulate a public expression of the democratic editors. This was done to allow expression of views, and speeches were made by W. H. Ruby, Frederick Balne, Edwin Wardell, G. W. Cruikshank, Joseph K. Roberts, J. T. I. C. Williams, Charles H. Vanderford, Wm. T. Crossland, Wm. Z. Iglehart, Jos. A. Graham and C. B. Ludwig, in the order named.

The chair appointed the following committee to formulate the views of the body: Wm. T. Iglehart, Wm. H. Ruby, G. W. Cruikshank, Edwin Wardell, Chas. H. Vanderford, Wm. T. Crossland and Jos. K. Roberts, Jr.

The meeting took a recess for two hours, when it reconvened and the committee reported an address to the public, which was unanimously adopted. The address sets forth that they have viewed with concern the discussions that have been in progress for some months among members of the party of more or less prominence, and think that those discussions and controversies are engendered differences rather than conduce to harmony. The democratic party in the State is not divided nor engaged in any internal contest, except in Baltimore, and even there it is more among aspiring leaders than among the voters of the party that differences exist. All that appears necessary to bring the rank and file into harmonious action that will assure the success of nominations when made is that the city convention shall choose fair and honorable men to select those who are to conduct the primary elections, and thus allow the voters unrestricted opportunity to make such nominations as they wish. In behalf of the democracy of the whole State we urge that no reasonable and just demand shall be gladly and freely complied with. The address reminds the people of the danger of republican rule. "Two congressional districts have been wrested from us and partisan republican judges have been elected. We see in two districts partisan judges drawn, which is an evidence that the republican party could repeat the practices of 1883-87 if they were permitted to gain control in the State. If we look about the State we find the highest tax rates in those counties where republicans control the local offices. In Allegany county it is 69 1/2 cents on the $100, in Prince George's 77, in Caroline 81 1/2, in Frederick 89, in Garrett 87, in Washington 88, in Queen Anne's 95, in St. Mary's 91, in Garrett 91 1/2. The highest tax-rate in any democratic county is 89 1/2. In Carroll it is 50, in Baltimore county 60, in Howard 60, in Cecil 61, and so on. The average for republican counties is 89 1/2; the average for the democratic counties is 70 1/2."

In conclusion, the address reminds democrats that the party is on the eve of a presidential election, and ends with an appeal to disagreeing leaders to cease their strife, and for every county to send free and untrammelled delegates to the State convention.

The list of the editors present was as follows: G. E. Melvin, Denton Journal; I. S. Wilson, Marlboro' Gazette; Fred Sasser and Joseph K. Roberts, Jr., Prince George's Inquirer; Wm. T. Iglehart, Annapolis Advertiser; Edwin Wardell, Elliot City Times; T. I. C. Williams, Hagerstown Mail; Jos. A. Graham, Salisbury Advertiser; George W. Cruikshank, Cecil Democrat; A. J. Almon, Rockville Advocate; Wm. H. Ruby, Towson Journal; Chas. H. Vanderford, Westminster Advocate; Littleton Dennis, Snow Hill Messenger; Wm. T. Crossland, Baltimore Day; Col. Clement Sullivan, Cambridge Chronicle; George Colton, Annapolis Republican; C. B. Ludwig, Oakland Democrat; J. F. Adams, Hagerstown News; Col. Fred Baine, German Correspondent; T. B. Taylor, Cumberland Times; Wm. Kilgore, Rockville Sentinel.

The meeting was harmonious throughout, not a ray occurring during the entire proceedings. The invitations to be present were sent to the proprietors or managing editors of the democratic journals of the State, and the meeting was private to all other press representatives. Mr. George Colton, of the Annapolis Republican, was at the hotel before the meeting, but went away to attend to his duties as police commissioner. The speeches of the several editors were all in the direction of an expression of personal views to the best thing to be done for securing party success in the coming campaign, and there was a general absence of anything that looked to the promotion of individual preferences. The editors represented the different ideas as to leadership which are supposed to prevail in the party ranks, but nothing of that kind was discussed. Those who first proposed the meeting were pleased with its success both as to the numbers in attendance and the conclusions which were reached.

A protectionist organ, the Philadelphia Inquirer, professes to be anxious that the Democrats shall make reform an issue next year, and says: "Congress is supposed to represent the will of the people by its acts. If the opposition is correct, then is the country, as the result of the last Congress, a mass of prostrate and feeble creatures, anything like it?" The revised tariff act of the last Congress proves nothing, as it was passed in part by a Republican House of Representatives after the people had disapproved the acts of the branch of the legislative department by electing as its necessary House Democratic by an overwhelming majority. The will of the people as expressed in November was not that represented by Ketter's House in February and March.

The Day is democratic and doesn't hesitate to impress democratic ideas upon the party. During the week it has shown, in answer to Robert P. Porter's protection statement as to low wages in England, compared with this country, that wages in Italy and Germany, highly protected nations, are far lower than in England. If the people who have wasted ten years upon learning a trifle of Latin only to forget it had been taught political economy and history, such statements would not be necessary, for it don't take a fair intelligence more than a week of study to know that wages are very slightly affected ultimately by protection or free trade. But as by a hallucination, now some centuries old, which prescribes Latin and Greek as the important objects of study, young men are left in comparative ignorance of the real things of life, the truths as to what wages the laborers of different nations get is useful in impressing the minds of voters. The laborers of the country, in all the different occupations, are the people oppressed by a protective tariff and yet it is to them the republican politicians make their appeals. It is indeed a perverse and stiff-necked generation that will allow protection to govern them.

A few democratic papers not represented at the recent conference are disappointed to make light of the editorial gathering. The Caroline Democrat waxes especially funny. The Democrat is in a county that has rapidly lost the democratic spirit and is almost, if not quite, in the hands of the enemy. That journal ought to embrace every opportunity to learn how to preserve democratic majorities.

The conference could not be expected to do anything of a world-shaking or state-shaking nature. It was composed, not of politicians but of newspaper men who desire the success of democracy. They quietly discussed the situation and concluded to publish to the people of the state a short review of what they deemed a correct policy. It was certainly modest enough to escape censure and it was straightforward enough to be favorably considered. As to its soundness, we and all who were present are prepared to defend our views. When they are called doubtless there will be plenty of champions. The sneers of the absentees are now the only things we have to answer. Does the Democrat object to the address?

Maryland has illustrated within a few days the uncertainties of politics. Two weeks ago, the republicans were boasting of the weakness and dissensions of the dominant party and a few of the more sanguine indulged in a hope of seeing the state in their own hands. Many good but ill-judging democrats were apprehensive of the same direful result. Three events have served to change the aspect of affairs. The democratic editors met and joined hands in denouncing the fomenters of party strife. The Baltimore city democracy established a commission of respectable and capable citizens to arrange the primaries. At once public confidence in the party was restored and the party stood as of old strong and united. The republicans at the same moment are thrown into dissension by the Presidents taking up Holton as a "boss" over and above Creswell. Without multiplying words, if the election were to take place to-day, Hamilton's twenty two thousand majority would be exceeded by the democratic candidate, if he were the right sort of man. And that leads us to say that having safely tided over one trouble, the party must keep out of them for the rest of the campaign.

Acts of equity between towns and country show the sense of inter-dependence which is the real relation between the two. The business of Salisbury depends largely on the farmers of the county. On the other hand the farmers and business men in the county depend upon Salisbury as the cheapest market in the state for what they buy and one of the very best for what they sell. The prosperity of either is closely interwoven with the well doing of the other. In view of this fact, it was eminently proper that the board of county commissioners should levy to the town a respectable sum for the repair of the streets. The people who drive teams to Salisbury will remember the condition of the streets fifteen years ago and the comparative ease of hauling now. The inhabitants of the town pay, according to the estimate of the custodian of the assessment books, one third of the county taxes. They pay then a thousand or two dollars a year for keeping up the roads of the county, none of which is spent in the corporation. Of the five hundred dollars to be levied the town, they pay one third themselves. Hence the burden is still heavier on them and the action of the commissioners will be regarded by all concerned as a just and proper expenditure. This is the more in view of the present temporary embarrassment of the town finances, which is due in a measure to the small expenses last winter. After the fire engine is paid for, this embarrassment will be removed, but at present a levy from the county is the only way to keep the town in decent condition.

Mitchell Knocked Out.

His Brief and Luckless Encounter with the Violent Mr. Sullivan.

Despite the unpleasant weather there were about seven thousand persons inside Madison Square Garden to witness the Sullivan-Mitchell Monday night, and the boxes were filled with prominent club men and politicians. Boscoe Conkling and Charles A. Dana had front seats in the space reserved for the press. There was great applause when Sullivan appeared in fighting costume. Mitchell was also warmly applauded. Before the time was called Capt. Williams cautioned the two men. The work was earnest from the start. Sullivan went viciously at Mitchell, and the latter in getting out of his way fell twice. Watching this opportunity, he got in a quick blow and Sullivan went down. He got up and closed with Mitchell, and there was close fighting until time was called and the men ordered to break. In this corner Mitchell looked fresh, smiling and confident, while the breathing of Sullivan was labored, plainly showing wear of his skin.

The second round was very spirited. Mitchell danced around Sullivan, and then closing suddenly upon him, drove him back upon the ropes. Sullivan rallied and pursued the Englishman with caution, evidently bent upon delivering a knock-out blow. He caught Mitchell square in the face, and the Englishman fell. He got up quickly, and after sharp blows from Sullivan threw him hard across the ropes. The latter sprang lightly to his feet, was knocked down and got up dazed. Sullivan pressed him and drove him to the ropes again and threw him clear over them, the Englishman falling with his head down and his feet sticking straight up in the air.

In the third round the excitement was intense. Mitchell got in some sharp blows on Sullivan, but the latter defended his blows with great directness and force, and the Englishman was twice knocked down. The third time he rose quite groggy, when Capt. Williams rushed upon the stage and ordered the fight to be stopped. There was much confusion for a few minutes, but when order was restored both men removed the gloves, shook hands, and were presented with bouquets of flowers, and Sullivan was officially declared the winner of the match.

Mitchell was voted a game and clever boxer, but to light too cope with a heavy-weight like Sullivan. The winner took 60 per cent, and the loser 40 per cent of the gate receipts, which amounted to about $10,000.

The Crawford County Plan.

How Far It is Adopted by Several Maryland Counties.

The Crawford county plan of nominating democratic party candidates for office exists in Harford, Montgomery and Kent counties. In Harford delegates were elected Saturday to meet in convention at Beloit Tuesday to consider as to the best interests of the party and the mode of making nominations. The question has been in exciting shape in Harford for some time. Both the Crawford system and the convention mode of making nominations have strong advocates. On the one hand it has been urged that the Crawford plan has steadily built up opposition forces and recruited the republican party. On the other hand, it is claimed that the democratic party has never sustained one defeat on account of the system, which is in fact founded in the purest principles of democracy. The plan has been in 12 years in operation in the county, and after eight years' experience it was reformed by a majority of 1,644.

In Montgomery county the system applies to all offices to be filled by the vote, and the candidates for nomination are voted for directly in the party primaries. In the approaching primaries Montgomery democrats will have candidates for Governor, comptroller and attorney-general, as well as for members of the legislature and county officers. The State candidates may be all unreal. Nevertheless the successful candidate in the county for Governor has the right, under the system, to name his delegates to the State convention, and will be able to control them. Last fall the democrats reiterated their preference for the Crawford plan in the county.

Too Good to be President.

A Man Who Can Beat the New York Sun. The Philadelphia Times says of Dana: The Jersey City Herald nominates Charles A. Dana, the accomplished editor of the New York Sun, for President and devotes a two-column double-headed leader to a portrayal of the merits and claims of the veteran editor to the first official trial of the civilized world. None will doubt that Mr. Dana possesses all the sterling patriotisms and broad statesmanship and exceptional administrative qualities which are claimed for him; and it would be most fortunate for the country could he be made President; but there are two grave obstacles to such a consummation.

In the first place, Mr. Dana would not accept the Presidential candidacy, even if an election were reasonably certain to follow. He holds a higher trust than the Presidency, and one that he could not afford to resign. He is the greatest newspaper teacher of the continent and the newspaper is now the greatest of all our great teachers. He is vastly more potent than the President, with all his patronage, and his power for usefulness will continue regardless of the mutations of parties or administrations, while Presidents rule for a brief season and are forgotten.

She calls these waists "ragoos," that being the first word of a baby usually utters, and the style of waist being generally known as "baby waists." She frequently wears sun-flowers with her evening dresses.

A number of the Democratic editors of the State held a consultation in Baltimore last Tuesday over the political situation. They gave expression of their desire for peace and harmony, but as they represented nobody but themselves, and were without any powers to do anything beyond passing resolutions, the meeting amounted to little more than a pleasant reunion. What they said and did were in the right spirit.

No expression in favor of or against any individual or faction was indulged in. Their desire for peace and harmony, and they did not do anything to peril a great Democratic victory in this State in November. If all others did so well as the editors to assure a Democratic victory, the republicans will be literally wiped out next fall.—Exchange.

The Democratic city convention of Baltimore reassembled on the 10th inst., determined to act under the primary election law, appointed the 19th of June as the time for holding the primary elections for a new city convention, ordered the election of delegates to the State convention, and appointed to Gilmer Meredith, Wm. H. B. Fussellburg, Findley H. Burns, James L. McLane and Bernard Carter, the duty of appointing judges and clerks and managing the primary elections. The commission selected is unexceptionable, and was appointed by the convention with unopposed acclamation, and appears to give very general satisfaction, which augurs well for harmony in the party the coming campaign. The mischief makers appear to have taken a back seat in the city lately.

Mr. Editor:—As the subject of a candidate for Governor of Maryland, is now agitating the public minds, and especially the Democracy of the State. I take it, that a suggestion from a plain farmer may not be unwelcome, while the suggestion may not be adopted, it may at least say we might go further and fare a great deal worse. I therefore suggest the name of Mr. E. B. Whitman, editor and proprietor of the Maryland Farmer, as a suitable man for the place. He is honest, fair, intelligent and safe, too honest to be a partisan, too good a Democrat to join a faction, and too pure to become corrupt. I therefore declare my decided preference for Mr. Whitman, for the next Governor of Maryland, and hope the convention may rise above faction and nominate him, or some other just such a man as he.

By Virtue of authority vested in me as Collector of Taxes levied by the County Commissioners of Wicomico County for State and County for the years 1878 and 1879, I have levied on all the interest and estate of John J. Bralley, in and to a tract of land called "Friend's Addition," containing 16 acres and improvements. And hereby give notice that on Saturday, the 2nd day of June, 1893, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the Court House door of said County, I will sell said property to the highest bidder, for cash, to satisfy said taxes and cost.

By Virtue of authority vested in me as Collector of Taxes levied by the County Commissioners of Wicomico County for State and County for the years 18

From the Tuesday Edition
Fire in the Woods—A Reply to Dr. Taylor on Paris Green.

—Mr. Gillis Bouslog has beat the wheat record again. He brought in a stalk 8 feet 5 inches tall May 13th.

—G. H. Toadvine brought down from Philadelphia Saturday a fine draft horse, seven eighths Normandy and weighing 1475 pounds.

—Ephraim Becher, a well known citizen of Tyaskin district, died Saturday afternoon. The remains were interred Monday.

—Mr. Levin Gordy, of Quantico, beats them all with wheat. He sends along a bunch exactly four feet tall. It was raised without phosphate or guano.

—The new owners of the fair grounds are going to make their purchase pay its board. They are plowing it inside and outside the track, preparatory to planting a crop of corn. We are glad to see the track level. It looks like some intention of renewing the race in the future.

—The question as to the speed or our school comes up again. The letter below explains itself.

Mr. Editor:—I noticed in your issue of the 5th inst. the quick trip of the "Travers." Allow me to state, that it has been admitted, that the Sch. "Kate H. Tilghman," was making the quickest trip this spring, making her run from the "Horse head" to Chincoteague Island in 10 minutes and 15 seconds, (including 3000 bushels of oysters), in sixty-six hours. This is the quickest time on record for size of vessel.

—A whirling passing over a field of Mr. J. J. Morris's land about two miles from town. Thursday afternoon last, caught up some burning brush and carried it to the adjoining ridge and thickets. The brush was rapidly through the woods. After fighting for some time the persons on the spot had to start fires to meet the rapidly advancing flames, and in that way the progress was arrested. Several acres of valuable thickets and young pine were burned over and about fifty cords of wood destroyed. The loss is considerable. Fortunately the first green pine was not reached.

—The Paris green subject introduced by Dr. Taylor is commented on by a practical correspondent as follows: Editor Artisan:—In your paper of 5th inst. I find, I think, a mistake made by Dr. Taylor about Paris green. I fear the Doctor's remarks are calculated to injure some potato raisers. In our sandy soil almost all the potatoes that form near the surface are green. When we want to plant a second crop of Early Rose, we put the potatoes out in the sun until they turn green. We then set them in a good row. I hope some of our large potato growers will notice the matter. I am satisfied that the article of Dr. Taylor will have a bad effect unless the growers will take some steps to convince the Doctor that he is mistaken. Very truly, John A. Insley. Tyaskin, May 9, 83.

The Colored Convention.
A Meeting that Falls to Field the Usual Crop of Resolutions.

For some weeks past the republicans of the state have looked with a suspicious eye on the colored convention called to meet here last Tuesday. Large placards called upon the colored men of the first district to come together and consider the questions affecting the welfare of the race. The authority that issued the call did not seem to be known. It was an Unknown, but dreadful to the republican bosses. Tuesday last the great movement came to a head. It was an abortion, a dead failure. The colored people here did not appear to be taking the slightest interest in the proceedings. A few knew of the session but very few. The true intransigence as it leaked out, was that one Isaiah Bayne, one of the numerous offshoots of the movement and had brought a few delegates to assist him. Tabbot, Caroline and the three counties were alone represented in the convention. Mr. Ditz is an invalid, using a wheel-chair, but he has been a very potent factor in State politics. He was earnestly championed by colored preachers, who styled him their Maryland Moses. His removal was based upon reliable information that he is physically incapable of longer performing the duties of his office.

The following estimates of the peach and berry crops for 1883 in Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland have been received by the Day.

Delaware—No truth in the recent reports of injury to peaches by frost; the crop estimated fully up to last year.

Clayton—Peach crop in this section estimated at about 80 per cent. of last year; fruit finer in quality.

Ridely, Georgetown and Oxford, Md., report full crops. Some accounts give more than last year.

Wyoming, Del.—Prospects for berries and peaches never better; fully equal to last year with better quality; berries, however, two to three weeks later than last year in ripening.

Felton—Same as Wyoming.

State and Peninsula.
What the Newspapers Have to Say on Various Subjects.

—Two tons of sturgeons, caught at Naaman's Beach, are shipped daily from Middletown.

—A Masonic Lodge will shortly be established in Snow Hill, and will start under very encouraging prospects.

—The sportsmen are now shooting bull frogs, summer duck and turtles as the season for those "birds" is coming on.

—The Hon. R. F. Brattan left for the capes on a gunning expedition on Wednesday last. He will probably be gone until Saturday next.

—It is possible that Prof. J. J. Sylvester, of the Johns Hopkins University, may accept professorship at Oxford University, England.

—Witnesses have been summoned before the grand jury of Harford county in reference to the doings of the Mormons located near the Pennsylvania line.

—Mr. E. B. Cook, of Westover, will sell his farming stock and implements, on Wednesday the 23rd day of May 1883, commencing at 9 o'clock, sharp.

—The new propeller Dale, at the Annapolis navy-yard, contains the engine used in connection with cooling President Garfield's bedchamber during his illness.

—Mr. S. Thomas McCullough, of Annapolis, who served in the Confederate army, has accepted the invitation from the Grand Army Post in that city to deliver the oration on Memorial day.

—Judge Theodore Williams, of Worcester who has been confined to his home for the past two months, was out again on Tuesday and attended to his duties as presiding Judge of the Orphans Court.

—Philadelphia Times (Ind.): The Maryland stalwarts are very much surprised that the President should receive any of their inefficient representatives from office, but the country will be willing to believe that a man indorsed by Creswell and his fellow-bores deserves removal on general principles.

—Lake escaped from Cambridge jail on Thursday night. His escape became known shortly after his departure and squads started in pursuit. The chase was kept up until he was recaptured Friday morning. Dorchester is engaged in building a new jail, and some say one is needed.

—Wheat never looked finer in Somerset county, at this time of the year, than at present, and the prospect for a good yield is bright. Some fields are already heading. It is said that a cold, wet April is the thing for wheat. If the adage is true one, the weather last month was exceedingly propitious for wheat.—Herald.

—A party of nearly 800 Dunkards met at Cumberland Thursday afternoon from Somerset, Uniontown and other points in Pennsylvania, and from Washington county, this State, and from the Valley of Virginia, on their way to attend the annual session of the Dunkards to be held in a few days at Bismarck Grove, Kansas City, Mo.

—The Cambridge fire-alarm bell was originally a convent bell in Spain. It has not compass enough in its present purpose, and Commodore Barney, of Cambridge, has written to Archbishop Gibbons to ask his aid in exchanging it for a larger bell. The Archbishop has written to the Commodore promising to ascertain if any of the religious houses are in need of a bell.

—Mr. E. R. Gunby, a delegate in the last legislature from this county, returned from Florida, a few days ago, where he had been prospecting, and announces his intention of going to that state in a month or two to locate. Mr. Gunby has been prominently spoken of as a candidate on the republican ticket for Maryland Senate. The party will now have to look up another man for the place.—Herald.

—Four sets of license have been issued to parties in Dublin district, Somerset county, to sell liquor under the new high license law which went into effect the first of this month. To obtain a license the party applying must be recommended by twelve freeholders of the district, must have a merchant's license calling for a $500 stock, and in addition to the regular price of liquor license must pay over to the clerk of the court $20, which sum goes to the school fund of the locality.

Grates and Baskets.
We offer a large stock of such this season to the trade and Fruit Growers. Our Grates are lighter, stronger and better finished than ever before. Our Baskets are neat, well made and constructed so they will not Bruise or "Bleed" the Berries. They can also be used for Huckleberries. Orders by mail will receive prompt and careful attention. Write for prices to G. H. TOADVINE, (Successor to H. Humphreys), Salisbury, Md.

Local Points.
—Among the sound Philadelphia houses are R. P. Stewart & Co.

—Clark, Brooks & Co., are another of the leading Philadelphia firms. They are safe and solid.

Harold the forist will be in Salisbury on Saturday the 26th., with Plants. Those wishing Plants please notify.

—Armstrong & Mitchell do a large business in all sorts of produce. Their heavy Western business gives them great advantages in the trade.

—S. T. White is a commission man who has been in the business long enough to completely understand its details and to get a good reputation.

—Among the old houses who always do good work for their patrons are Olivitt Bros., New York. They are well established and of high business character.

—Martin Johnson & Son New York are not so extensively known in this particular section as some other commission houses but they do a large business and deserve recognition.

—Blumenthal is very proud of his window and has a right to be. It looks like a city jeweler's show. The bright, glittering jewels, the opera-glasses, watches and chains are very attractive.

—Those who prefer to ship to the firms whose names are familiar and who are in means and reputation above question will be glad to avail themselves of the services of Brown, De Winter & Brown, New York.

—Fresh and Genuine Garden Seed assorted; 12 papers for 25 cts. Philadelphia Seed Sower $5.50. Atlas Plow with extra point $3.50. A large line of Seed Potatoes, Peas, Beans and Corn and Field Seeds. Nails $3.00 Keg Base. Address L. W. Gunby, Salisbury, Md.

—Mr. H. D. Spence represents this year the Boston commission house of R. Tuttle & Co. The firm have long done a large business in Somerset and those who are regarded with high favor. Those who intend shipping to Boston should look at the list of Somerset references contained in the card among the new advertisements.

—The dead duck advertisement form Oxford, Md., comes to us again some what changed. The Formula for Dr. Taylor's Bile Bitters thereon is said to be by eminent chemists "par excellence." This medicine is used, endorsed and recommended by the Editor Weatherill, Berns, J. A. Arter, Alfred Smith, A. E. Mohr, A. D. Martin, R. S. Rowe, J. Earle Maloy and thousands of others as being of undoubted excellence.

PROPOSITION.

The price charged by Dealers in our paints is a glaring anomaly higher than competing dealers obtain for the same quality of paint.

The reason why other Paints are offered at less price, has been often demonstrated, but we do not think the proposition for the purpose of clearly proving it.

Purchase one-half gallon of any other Paint and one-half gallon of our Paint, and have any painter use the side by side, then select the paint to be used.

It is our Print the cost of the one-half gallon of other paint will be paid for by us if the other paint is preferred, then the one-half gallon of our Paint will not be charged.

Our Paints have now been in general use throughout the United States and Canada, also the West and South America, during the past three years, and under a Written Guarantee which would have raised us ten times over; if they were otherwise than the very highest quality of Paints for outside use and exposure.

HALF-WAY.

BY CHARLES H. MERRILL.

To-day I stand beneath my sun's most direct rays. Thus I'm involved with my fate toward its bliss; With blistered feet, and garments stained. I've come half-way—

With respect to journey on or rest, I cannot say. With retrospective look I see what's left behind. Pitfalls and snares for heedless feet, of every kind. Bestrew the way, as thorns among the roses here. Or poisoned gases on the evening zephyrus ride.

Of battle-grounds that mark the way are many more; Of battles lost than victories won, aye, many more. Now forty beds of ease I've had to lay upon. No downy pillows for to rest my head upon.

No dew distilled and caught up in ambrosial cups. No mortal held that feverish lips might slip it up; But duty stern, unmitigated by a smile. Has spurned me many a weary, dreary, darksome mile.

And now that I have spanned the half of three-score ten. And found the bitter with the sweet so intermingled. That no dividing line between seems to be fixed.

Why should I care pursue the other half of life. When, maybe, may, will be made up of greater strife? Why not lie down to rest while yet my sun's high noon? Why not struggle toward the end come late or soon.

In all our plans and all our projects here begun. Who would pledge a crown to him who has the victory won. No matter how distressed we are when half-way run. We may as well go on and run the race until it's done.

So 'tis with this, the race of life, and heaven's the prize. Where running for the glorious "mansions in the skies." Where ends the race the prize is placed, and not half-way.

Who wins it must fatigue endure day after day. Arise, my soul! be not cast down by doubt and fear. The God who brought thee thus half-way is always near. True to His motto, and lean upon His outstretched arm; 'Twill save thee many anxious doubts, and shield from harm.

Farwell thy arm. I bid thee now a last adieu; Methinks say no more shall light my course from you; But shadows shall the longer grow as I move on. Unto terrestrial and celestial meet upon One common level, and my hope's fruition's seen. And I my weary head upon Christ's bosom lean.

With respect to journey on or rest, I cannot say. With retrospective look I see what's left behind. Pitfalls and snares for heedless feet, of every kind. Bestrew the way, as thorns among the roses here. Or poisoned gases on the evening zephyrus ride.

Of battle-grounds that mark the way are many more; Of battles lost than victories won, aye, many more. Now forty beds of ease I've had to lay upon. No downy pillows for to rest my head upon.

No dew distilled and caught up in ambrosial cups. No mortal held that feverish lips might slip it up; But duty stern, unmitigated by a smile. Has spurned me many a weary, dreary, darksome mile.

And now that I have spanned the half of three-score ten. And found the bitter with the sweet so intermingled. That no dividing line between seems to be fixed.

Why should I care pursue the other half of life. When, maybe, may, will be made up of greater strife? Why not lie down to rest while yet my sun's high noon? Why not struggle toward the end come late or soon.

In all our plans and all our projects here begun. Who would pledge a crown to him who has the victory won. No matter how distressed we are when half-way run. We may as well go on and run the race until it's done.

So 'tis with this, the race of life, and heaven's the prize. Where running for the glorious "mansions in the skies." Where ends the race the prize is placed, and not half-way.

Who wins it must fatigue endure day after day. Arise, my soul! be not cast down by doubt and fear. The God who brought thee thus half-way is always near. True to His motto, and lean upon His outstretched arm; 'Twill save thee many anxious doubts, and shield from harm.

Farwell thy arm. I bid thee now a last adieu; Methinks say no more shall light my course from you; But shadows shall the longer grow as I move on. Unto terrestrial and celestial meet upon One common level, and my hope's fruition's seen. And I my weary head upon Christ's bosom lean.

North American Review.

The June number of the North American Review opens with an article by Joseph Nimmo, Jr., Chief of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, on "American Manufacturing Interests," in which is given a singularly full and instructive historical sketch of the rise and progress of manufactures in the United States, together with a very effective presentation of their present condition, and of the agency of tariff legislation in promoting diversified industries and encouraging the inventive genius of the people.

Should this author's address be given a singularly full and instructive historical sketch of the rise and progress of manufactures in the United States, together with a very effective presentation of their present condition, and of the agency of tariff legislation in promoting diversified industries and encouraging the inventive genius of the people.

When the autumn winds were sighing around the grave of Ida James, a grand wedding took place at which Alice Keating and Harry Melvin pledged their love to each other. Harry Melvin, who was received in the same sweet manner that she had always been by the lovely Alice.

Three years had rolled away. Harry and Alice are completely estranged. Alice Keating was standing by the window in her room when the news came that Ida James had taken the fever and as she stood there a voice whispered, "Go and minister unto Ida; try to nurse her back to life." But another voice whispered, "Nurse her back to life and see the man marry her that she (Alice) loved better than life. No, no! never!" But Alice murmured, "I will go!" and going down stairs said, "Mamma, I am going over to help attend to Ida James."

"Why, my dear," said Mrs. Keating, "you must not go there she has the fever." "But, mamma, I must," and her eyes filled with tears. "Well, my dear, if you think you can stand it." Alice bent forward and kissed her, and left the house.

When she reached the James mansion Mrs. Bern (Ida's married sister) met her at the door. "Mrs. Bern," said Alice, "I have come to help to take care of Ida." "Why Alice!" said Mrs. Bern. "Yes, Mrs. Bern I feel it is my duty, please tell me what to do." Mrs. Bern led her up stairs and silently drew her in a darkened room. "There she lies," said Mrs. Bern. "The doctor has no hope of her." Alice went toward the bed and said: "Ida do you know me?" "Oh! Alice Keating, is it you? I do not deserve this," she screamed wildly.

"Yes, Ida, it is Alice," said Mrs. Bern. "She was a darling child, but she never did care for you. I saw you turn pale and glared in your downfall. Harry commenced coming to see me regularly, and I never allowed your name to cross my lips in fear that the old fame might be aroused, and I would lose the prize I had so long coveted. Now, Alice, I have told you all. I feel the hand of death upon me, sister. Lizzie will tell Harry Melvin all." "Alice," she exclaimed wildly, "say that you forgive me and I will die happy."

Alice Keating could not speak after hearing that awful revelation. She knelt there by the death bed of her bitter enemy in life, and most now call her a friend in death. Lizzie will tell Harry Melvin all. "Alice," she exclaimed wildly, "say that you forgive me and I will die happy."

It is said that a young lady can never whistle in the presence of her lover. The reason is obvious. He doesn't give her a chance. When she gets her lips in a proper position for whistling something else occurs.

The Albany Argus says that four members of the seven comprising Mr. Garfield's cabinet—Messrs. Wisdom, Vose, Veagh and James—do not believe Mr. Blaine to be an honest man.

A philosopher informs that a bonnet is no longer a woman, when it becomes a pretty woman. And the inference is that a woman is no longer a woman when she becomes a "pook."

When the Philadelphia Times says that every farmer should take his grass in at night and keep it by the stove, it might have said strawberries, if the writer had been thinking of this neighborhood.

The housekeepers who have been engaged in the disagreeable but needful employment of house-cleaning, must feel disappointed at the continued cold weather. There is a dead waste of carbolic acid and insect powder.

The reports of snow five inches deep in Ohio do not reassure us on the coast. People are beginning to fear for every crop. This week has been cold enough for fire constantly. The thermometer has risen little above 60° and has fallen as low as 45°.

Behringer is depending on attacking the character of the confessing conspirators. If he acquires his clients that way, government trials must be of little use. Witnesses in such cases must almost necessarily be participants criminals and therefore of poor character.

The democratic State Central Committee held a harmonious meeting Wednesday and decided to call the State Convention at Baltimore September 19th. There may be dissenting views to the policy of nominating candidates only a little more than a month before the elections, but the voters will take a deeper interest in the campaign and they will be relieved at having but one set of primaries to attend. We presume one county convention will make nominations for county offices and select delegates to the state convention. It is very probable that the people would greatly prefer such a course to going through the trouble of two separate conventions. In that case the county convention would be held about the second week in September, say the 11th or 12th. This would give ample time for a thorough canvass. One consideration might intervene, which is that the farmers who ought to be present at the primaries may then be busy getting in the fodder crop. The county committee should consider this. It is not well to have primaries when the farmers are busy. They are the most important element of the party and their convenience is to be consulted.

The Kentucky Democracy have done well. The resolution of their State convention in reference to the tariff forebodes the action that will be taken at the next national Democratic convention. By that resolution they reiterate their opposition to the tariff. They demand reform and a tariff for revenue only. This platform meets all the requirements of principle or expediency. It satisfies those who desire to put an end to the unjust privileges which monopolists enjoy under the present tariff. It also meets the views of the business men or furnish grounds for the apprehension that a Democratic administration would imperil the commercial interests of the country. It is a declaration of principles which a large majority of the American people will heartily endorse.—Brooklyn Eagle Dem.

The Dorchester Era publishes the following description of Republican dissensions: The cliques among Republicans in Baltimore are far more numerous than those among the Democrats. The Creswell faction numbers among its supporters Booth, Stirling and Webster. Intensely opposed to it are the half-breeds, headed by Thomas, Skeckel, Mathews and Fulton. Another faction is led by Gary and Hooper, the one a Republican on general principles without any pronounced leanings to either the stalwarts or half-breeds, the other a staunch third-terminer, whose admiration for Grant is fully equal to his party loyalty, but does not extend to the friends of Gen. Grant among whom Creswell is the foremost in this State. George C. Maund and General King have also a Republican following who deprecate the dissensions in the party, but are powerless to stay them, and believe it to be more dignified not to mingle where they cannot exert their proper influence. Mr. Henry Skeckelridge is a kind of free lance, with very decided leanings to the Creswell wing of the party.

To add to the chagrin of Gen. Creswell, all the elements of the opposition appear to be concentrating upon Mr. Holton, the gentleman who has done him so much mischief, as the Republican candidate for governor, and some of his own strongest adherents are willingly admit that their only hope of winning the fight is to fall into line for the young leader who swept the Fifth district like a beson last fall and forced their chief with the ease of a proctored boxer this spring. It is generally conceded that Creswell's choice for governor is Judge Stone, of the Court of Appeals. The latter is said to have grown weary of the tolls of his office and to be anxious for the honor of governing the State. He could poll a large vote in the lower counties, but so did Mr. Holton an unprecedented vote, and while Mr. Holton has no antagonistic alliance to engage him in the contest, and is personally popular and able to make an energetic canvass, Judge Stone is not favorably regarded outside of his own district, and would be looked upon as the candidate of a faction. Mr. Alexander Shaw is the candidate of the half-breeds and also of the Hooper faction, but the former are ready to yield to party exigencies provided they can be assured that Holton is not tainted with Creswellism, a fact which is patent to everybody, else, but which to their vision, excites by years of the bitterest factional strife, and irritated by numerous defeats, is not so plain. The Hooper faction will probably do anything. Mr. Gary tells them to do, and as Mr. Holton is Mr. Gary's brother-in-law, prediction is unnecessary. It will thus be seen that the Republican party is not at this writing a happy family, and Barnum's ingenuity would be puzzled to invent a cage where the different cliques could be confined together with safety.

Walter Evans, of Kentucky, who was appointed commissioner of Internal Revenue Monday was at one time a law partner of Benjamin H. Bristol, and voted for him in the Republican National Convention of 1876, but in 1880 was one of the "600" at Chicago. He was the last Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky, having been defeated by Governor Blackburn in 1878.

Politics.
Views of Leading Journals in and Out of Maryland.

The Kentucky Democracy make themselves clearly understood on the subject of national politics. The late convention at Louisville declared adhesion to the fundamental law of the party as embodied in the platform of the national conventions held in St. Louis and Cincinnati. This means a revenue tariff and an end of taxation of one industry for the benefit of another.—St. Louis Republican Dem.

Should there be a change, Hon. Geo. W. Covington would naturally come to the front as a strong candidate for the United States Senate. He has made an excellent representative in the lower house of congress, and stands well amongst his colleagues, and amongst the people, not only of his own congressional district, but of the whole State. Mr. Covington, we suspect, has a bright political future before him, and a man should have who possesses youth, ability, wealth and ambition.—Exchange.

The last slate which the Baltimore American has fixed up for the democrats appears in its political gossip of last Sunday. It is as follows: For Governor, Hon. Robert M. McLane, of Baltimore city; For Comptroller of the Treasury, Hon. Wm. H. Gale, of Somerset; For Attorney General, Hon. Charles B. Roberts, of Carroll county. The American professes to have inside information relative to these matters and probably it has for the people are talking quite openly as to what they intend to do this fall and it is our opinion that the people will make the next nominations. And we aver, more-over, that if the people should put up this slate when the time comes, it will all our bill exactly.—Marylander.

Hagerstown Mall of the 18th inst. says: The Baltimore "Evening News," in referring to candidates for Governor, mentions, most favorably, James U. Dennis, Esq., of Somerset. In this we concur. We think that this gentleman would make a most eligible candidate. In him we would, as a Governor, have no reactionary movements.—The progress we have made in reformations would not be arrested by him, but, on the contrary, all encouragement given them.

We are pleased to see the name of our fellow townsman mentioned favorably in above connection. He may be relied upon to conduct the affairs of state upon a sound and economical basis.—Ed. Herald.

The first shipments of strawberries in Somerset, were made by Wm. E. Widdington, of Marion, and Wm. Maddox, of Westover.

The name of Dorchester and Delaware R. R. has been changed to the Cambridge and Seaford R. R. As the road runs between the two towns mentioned, the new name is a very appropriate one.

The next annual meeting of the Maryland State Teachers' Association will be held at Ocean City on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 10th, 11th and 12th of July.

Under the heading "Ice made by steam," the Eastern Ledger gives a very readable description of that industry as carried on by John H. Shannahan at that place. Mr. Shannahan's factory will turn out six tons of ice in 24 hours.

W. H. Haddaway and Edwin Sinclair, oyster packers, were given a hearing before Esquire Walsley at Oxford, last Friday, adjudged guilty of shipping oysters out of the State subsequent to April 1st, and fined $50 each and costs. They appealed to the circuit court.

Mr. Thomas H. Fitzgerald, Jr., shipped on Saturday last 80 quarts of Crystal City strawberries. They were picked on his Goose creek farm, and were very fine. The Crystal City is now the leading early berry in this section.—Herald.

Two hogheads of tobacco, the first grown upon the Eastern Shore of Maryland for a number of years, arrived at Light-street wharf last week per steamer Georgian. It was raised on the farm of Southern Greenville, near Travers, Dorchester county, and is consigned to J. S. Hawkins & Co., South Charles street.

Horace Outton, a boy about 15 years of age, and a nephew of David Outton now in jail at Georgetown, shot at Harry Scott, son of Mr. Thomas Scott of this place, on Tuesday evening. As Horace is not a very good marksman, Harry was not injured, the ball passing just over his head. The cause of the shooting originated from a quarrel between the two boys. No arrests had been made as we go to press.—Seaford Enterprise.

William Kelly, a native of Wisconsin, and a former resident of Worcester county, died at Fort Gibson, Indian Territory, of cholera, on Saturday, in the 66th year of his age. He leaves five sons—Jackson, William, James, Robert and Jehu. The deceased left Worcester county in 1870 and removed to Pike county, Mo., where he remained until 1878, when he removed to Fort Gibson, at which place he resided up to the time of his death.

The steat yacht Gov. Hamilton, Commander Waddell, from Baltimore, with John Hopkins scientific party on board, arrived at Norfolk, Va. Monday. Dr. Brooks, of the Johns Hopkins University, who perfected his apparatus for the artificial hatching of oysters some time ago, is of the party, and expects to locate his contrivance at some good point on the shore for the prosecution of his researches in this direction. Much interest is felt in the work to be carried on this summer by scientists as well as by those commercially interested in oyster production.

The Civil-Service Reform Association of Maryland, Mr. J. Hall Pleasant, democratic president, Mr. George B. Coles, republican collector, has prepared a bill for legislative enactment against political assessments. It is to be printed and circulated among the 400 members, who will ask for its passage at Annapolis next winter. It makes political assessments or pecuniary solicitation from office-holders a penal offense. It follows in the line of the congressional enactment which was passed after the Jay Hubbell scandal. New York has also made this style of levying political contributions a penal offense.

Mr. A. P. Pascault, of Eastern, has recently returned from New York, where he went to obtain laborers. He brought back three families with him, and has made arrangements with the commissioners at Castle Garden to obtain the citizens of Carolina and Talbot counties, who are to be sent to the island club together for procuring emigrants direct from Germany through the agency at Castle Garden. The total cost of procuring these people is estimated at $5 each. General E. L. F. Hardesteas says that in a short time arrangements can be made to secure all the help that may be needed from Baltimore.

Some of the peach-growers became quite nervous at the chilly atmosphere of last Wednesday and night and heavy frosts and dreadful dews of last night, in the line of the congressional enactment which was passed after the Jay Hubbell scandal. New York has also made this style of levying political contributions a penal offense.

Mr. A. J. Lawler, 72 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md., says: "Malaria and dyspepsia troubled me for nine years. Brown's Iron Bitters gave me relief."

Ex-Minister Christianity says the Republicans can carry Michigan next year. He so concludes, probably, because that party was defeated in the last two State elections.

It is reported that there will be an extra session of the New York State Senate very soon, at which Governor Cleveland's nomination will be confirmed with Republican help if it be necessary.

Snow Hill.

The Deluge and Hobbies in Our Neighboring town.

Snow Hill can vindicate her claim to be worth a dozen dozen towns, at least this week. Court is the chief public concern, but for a jury term, it is very dull. There are no cases of any importance on the trial docket and one bright young lawyer says he is going to start a subscription for the attorneys. Judge Wilson's health continues unfavorable. Though on the bench, he evidently ought to be taking an entire rest. It would be better to lose his services for a few months than for him to retire from a judicial position altogether. His place could not be filled. Judge Irving and Goldsborough are also present. The Chief Judge takes animately of his fine stock which is a good sign. Professional men who take an interest in outdoor affairs are apt to retain mental and physical strength.

The races are the talk of the younger men and some old ones. At the time of writing, the horse men who expect to have animals in Thursday's trots are very busy. Mr. W. Wilson has a strong mare, bred in New Jersey, and valued at a thousand dollars, which will trot. This animal has turned the track here in 2:42, which is good for a five year old on a half-mile track. Mr. Lon Nottingham, of Virginia, is here with a pair of trotters and works them every day.

Base Ball comes next to horses. The nine here contains some excellent players, among them Mr. Joseph Hearin, who has played many games in Salisbury. He is the only curve pitcher in the place and fills the holes in the matches. The nine played a game in Pocomoke last week which resulted in the close but rather extensive score of 28 to 29 in favor of Snow Hill. Prominent among the Pocomoke players is Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson, who resided in Salisbury a short time.

Politics are beginning to be talked of. Most of those well informed are non-committal and it is hard to find out the prospects. It is feared by many democrats that the aspirants for the sheriff's office may cause trouble. For the state's attorneyship are mentioned Col. Derfington, the incumbent, A. F. Barnes and Lloyd Wilkinson, with the chances rather favoring Mr. Barnes as he is a rising young lawyer who has the advantage of an extensive family influence.

Death of Henry C. Bell.

A Brother of J. C. Bell Dies in California.

The Etua Cal. Post publishes the following notice of the death of Henry C. Bell.

He was called upon to make the sad announcement of the death of this old time citizen, and accomplished, genial gentleman, which occurred at Sawyer's Bar on Wednesday, the 22nd inst., at exactly 9:55 A. M. Mr. Bell passed quietly and peacefully away, representing in his last moments the same quiet, patient, unassuming, mild and gentle characteristics ever displayed toward all by him throughout his life. It can be truthfully said that he died without an enemy in the world. His heart was large and his body sincere, and he will be greatly missed and regretted by all who knew him.

James Henry Clay Bell was born at Salisbury, Maryland, on the 8th of October, 1830, and was consequently 53 years old at the time of his death. He came to California in the spring of 1850, first mining in Trinity county, and then in Klamath county. He engaged in merchandising on the South Fork of Salmon river, and thence removed to Sawyer's Bar, where he was for a long time a member of, and finally successor to the old firm of Coddington & Bell. For the past few years his health has been gradually failing, until the termination on Wednesday last. The name and characteristics of James Henry Clay Bell are synonymous with all that is honest, pure, attractive, gentlemanly, and worthy of admiration and emulation, according to the highest standards of civilization and gentility.

He leaves a sister and three brothers, namely: Dr. John B. Bell, Foted, M. Joseph C., and Noah D. Bell, and Mrs. M. E. Parsons, Salisbury, Maryland.

Paris Green Potatoes.

Dr. Taylor Replies to Mr. Insey's Article of Last Week.

Mr. Editor:—In the last issue of your paper I noticed a communication from Mr. John A. Insey, where he says my article in reference to Paris Green Potatoes "will have a bad effect, etc.," and then calls upon some of the larger potato growers to "notice the matter," "for unless the grower will take some steps to convince the doctor that he is mistaken, it will have a bad effect." In reply, I would say to Mr. Insey that I know whereof I speak. It is not guess work with me, but a fact beyond contradiction. All the potato growers in the county could not convince even Mr. Insey that I had made a mistake, did he but know that there are actual tests upon which all truthful men base their statements. Every sensible man knows that the sun will tan the skin of the potato a light-dark green when exposed thereto; and every chemist in the land knows by actual test whether a green skin is the result of sun heat or sunlight or arsenical poison. I would suggest that Mr. Insey apply the arsenical test to the green skin, and then he need not ask the "large potato grower" to notice the matter." How deep does sun tan go beyond the skin? How deep does Paris Green? Open the potato when grown where Paris Green is used, and where no Paris Green is used, and note the difference. Also compare the Paris Green potato with the sun tan green skin potato, and you will ask no further questions concerning this matter.

Dr. J. Z. Taylor.

Oxford, May 22, 1883.

—The Snow Hill races came off Thursday but were not exactly satisfactory. W. S. Wilson's mare trotted in one race against Mr. Snow's. The drivers got into a dispute and the race was not finished. The other race in which Daisy Bell was entered was won by a pacer taken from a plow to enter.

PROPOSITION.

The price charged by Dealers in our paints is a trifling amount higher than competing dealers obtain for other paints.

The reason why other Paints are offered at less price, has been often demonstrated, but we submit the following proposition for the purpose of clearly proving it.

Purchase one-half gallon of any other Paint and one-half gallon of our Paint, and have any painter paint them side by side, then select the paint to be used.

If it is our Paint the cost of the one-half gallon of other paint will be paid for by us or the merchant who sells our paint. If other paint is preferred, then the one-half gallon of our Paint will not be charged.

Our Paints have now been in general use throughout the United States and Canada, also in Cuba and South America, during the winter in Cuba, and under a Written Guarantee, which would have ruined us ten times over, if they were otherwise than the very highest quality of Paints for outside use and exposure.

Wadsworth, Martin & Longman.

Buildings painted with Paints mixed by hand have to be repainted every three years. The best Paint cannot be made by hand mixing.

The Paint used is the smallest item in cost of painting, labor the largest.

Any building will be repainted at our expense if not satisfactorily painted with our Paint.

Now is the Time to Paint your House.

Buy only the best Paint—Wadsworth, Martin & Longman's. The only paint that can be sold in some localities where it is better known. Inquire of the following parties using this Pure Paint: Col. S. A. Graham, E. E. Jackson, Dr. Collier, Wm. H. Jackson, Milton A. Parsons, Dr. Slemmons, Jas. Birkhead, Capt. Wm. M. Ruark, Levin M. Wilson, George W. Waller, D. S.
