CRIME IN WICOMICO COUNTY IS ON WANE ACCORDING TO FIGURES

Report Of Magistrate Shows Decrease Toward Latter Part Of 1922.

MOST CASES DISPOSED OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY

39 Less Cases Handled In Last Four Months Of 1922 Than In Preceding Four Months—Nearly $700 In Fines Turned Over By Justice Jones.

If the reports of Magistrate T. Rodney Jones, which are turned in to the County Commissioners several times a year, be taken as a criterion, crime in Wicomico county is on the decline. The cases tried before this justice for which fines must be turned in to the county and reports of same made, taking the figures of the last eight months of the year 1922 it is found that 39 less cases were tried in September, October, November and December than in the four months preceding those. $690.30 was turned over to the Commissioners in fines. In all 112 cases were tried in the period May 1st-December 31st and 56 in the first four months and 46 in the other four.

By far the greater number of transgressors of the law came within the common assault or battery class. There were 45 carried before the bar of justice on these charges. 38 paid fines amounting to $301. 4 were found not guilty. 1 was held for Court and 2 sent to the Maryland House of Correction.

Other cases tried were as follows: Selling intoxicating liquors, six; 2 were fined a total of $175. 2 found not guilty and 2 sent to the House of Correction. Carrying concealed weapons, 2, one to House of Correction, other fined $50. Drunk and disorderly, 16. 9 fined a total of $95. 4 sent to jail and 3 found not guilty. Disorderly conduct, 14; total fines $86. Two sent to jail and one to House of Correction. 3 found not guilty. Manufacturing intoxicating liquors 2. One fined $100, other to House of Correction.

Only one murder case was heard in this the alleged perpetrator was held for Court. Trapping on railroad, 1, fined $5.00; Adultery 1, fined $10; Keeping bawdy house 2, one to House of Correction, other not guilty; had check 1, held for court; burglary and larceny 1, held for court; larceny 4, 2 held for court, 1 dismissed and 1 paroled; carnal knowledge 2, both held for court.

Two were apprehended for interfering with an officer while in the performance of his duty, these were each fined $1. Violating school law, 2, one fined $1 and other dismissed; gaming for money 1, held for court; hasty 1, held for court, non-support 1, held for court.

That crime seems to be on the wane is quite gratifying to the friends of law and order.

Mr. Paolini was formerly Miss Ethel May Watson, the daughter of Mr. Will Watson, of Hebron, Her younger sister, Minnie Dorothy Watson, has been in New York for several years and is said to have been on the stage at that city for a period. She is a pretty girl with sharp and expressive features. Coming down to Salisbury last Thursday, she spent most of the time with relatives, only making a brief visit to her married sister, Mrs. Paolini.

On Saturday afternoon however, they were together for a while in the afternoon and this is the time when it is thought that the escape was thoroughly planned. For that night, about eight o'clock, Dorothy called at the home in a taxi supposedly to say goodbye. Mr. Paolini was at work in his father's shoe shop on Dock street and no one else was in the house but his wife and the two small boys, Guy, age 5, and Samuel, age 3.

"MANSLAUGHTER" TO BE DISPLAYED AT ARCADE

Cecil B. DeMille's Powerful Screen Production With Thomas Meighan Here Monday And Tuesday.

"Manslaughter," Cecil B. DeMille's new Paramount production and by far the greatest picture this director has ever made will be shown on the screen at the Arcade Theatre on next Monday and Tuesday, February 12 and 13. The three leading roles are interpreted by Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy and Lois Wilson. The play is a spectacular romance of a daring daughter of luxury and the man who loving her sent her to prison. A torrent of emotional thrills and exciting situations follows.

The most lavish scene since "Joan the Woman!" That's what is said of the Roman bacchanal recently staged by Cecil B. DeMille for his latest Paramount production of "Manslaughter."

Several years ago the same producer gave to the screen his classic tale of the Maid of Orleans. At that time thousands of "extras" clad in picturesque costumes of the period, were to be seen daily around the studio and on the massive sets created for that picture.

WRECK IS CAUSED BY AN ABANDONED AUTO

Ford Plunges Into Packard Without Lights On Quantico Road Last Saturday Night—Had N. J. Tags

An abandoned Packard touring car bearing New Jersey tags and said to belong to a colored man who makes frequent trips to this section, was the cause of a smashup on the Quantico Road about a mile this side of Royal Oak last Saturday night.

The car, which had been left there for about a week, was without lights of any sort and was run into by a main-traveling Ford when he attempted to pass another vehicle. The State Police were notified and had the Packard towed here where it is being held until the owner can be located and reparations for the damage sustained by the other car owner taken care of. No one was reported hurt in the collision although the cars were so wedged together that much difficulty was experienced in getting them apart.

DECORATIONS ARE THIS YEAR MOST ELABORATE

Cars Are Well Arranged And Models Appropriately Selected—Ornamentations Selling—Decorations Sold—Afternoon And Evening—$25000 In Motor Cars Represented—30 Different Models.

Notwithstanding the fact that a raging snow and sleet storm held back the attendance on what many have predicted to be the most successful 5th Annual Auto Show of the Salisbury Fire Department which officially opened in a blaze of glory in the First Regiment Armory Tuesday night.

Amazing indeed is the decorative art which meets the eye of the spectator as he enters the doors to the exhibit. Four immense rings fastened around the huge arc lights with streamers of blue, red, white and orange crepe paper, radiating in every direction transform the interior of the building completely. More amazing to the observer is the fact that every single bit of this work was done by members of the department, working under the direction and capable leadership of Charles L. Ullman. This phase of the Baltimore Show alone would have cost the local people several hundred dollars had professional decorators been called in.

A novelty this year are the telephone concerts being put on by the Electrical Development Company of this city. The instruments are set up on the stage and the orchestra is also on hand and every single bit of this work was done by members of the department, working under the direction and capable leadership of Charles L. Ullman. This phase of the Baltimore Show alone would have cost the local people several hundred dollars had professional decorators been called in.

The closed car is fast pushing open models for suppers but if other year will have had to go on before the former gain the supremacy as the open models predominate at the Salisbury Show.

The Committee who had charge of allotting space, arranging of entertaining and decorating the dealers who have so generously contributed to making the show a success deserve praise and the co-operation of the public. ### $10,950 INVESTED BY SALISBURIANS

Per Capita Of $1.10 Put In Treasury Saving Certificates In 1922

Says Postmaster Phillips

More than ten million dollars worth of Treasury Savings Certificates were purchased in the Fifth Federal Reserve District in 1922, the exact figures being $10,950,283, according to a statement just received by Postmaster Phillips from Treasury Department officials. In Maryland the sales through post offices, amounted to $2,075,533 with a per capita of $4.45 for the state, while the Salisbury post office is credited with $10,950, or a per capita of $1.10. Salisbury was the third in the state in the per capita investment.

Post Office sales throughout the district were distributed as follows: West Virginia $3,061,905; per capita $14.71; District of Columbia $1,014,035; per capita $2.31; Virginia $1,744,460; per capita $3.22; North Carolina $1,515,145; per capita $3.63; Maryland $2,075,533; per capita $4.45; South Carolina $569,277; per capita $3.38. In addition there was sold through the Treasury at Washington $257,255 and through the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond $1,342,907, to purchasers scattered over the entire district, making a grand total of $10,950,283, or a per capita $1.15.

The above sales were nearly ten times what they were in previous years. The increased showing may be explained, in part, by the large number of War Savings Stamps, series 1918, which were exchanged for the new Treasury savings certificates. Many reinvested the proceeds of their war savings stamps they had held for five years in these new certificates which are similar to war stamps they had held for five years in these new certificates which are similar to war stamps except that they are issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 and may be bought for $20.50, $85 and $850, respectively.

The postmaster urges all holders of 1918 war stamps, who have not come to present their stamps for redemption or exchange immediately as each day of delay means a loss of interest on their investment. Exchange for the new certificates begins in five years to run but may be cashed at owner's option at values increasing every month, the investment award possesses earning power, as the savings certificates begin to bear interest the day they are issued.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

Notwithstanding conservation, general business conditions continue to improve with no particular class of trade being favored. January has been characterized as possibly the best month for sales and collections in more than a year. Estimates vary as to percentage of increase as compared with 1922 but certainly it can be said that trade on the whole was fully fifty per cent greater last month over the same period a year ago. Commodity prices show no weakness although advances are not quite as general as they were thirty days ago. Jobbing trade is good while business at retail is of surprisingly large volume for this season even taking into consideration the fact that marked down sales helped some.

Most manufacturers are seeking means to increase their output this being particularly true in metal lines. Transportation facilities are heavily taxed and although the railroads are endeavoring to relieve the situation as to car supply by better trade requirements and purchasing new equipment, permanent improvement seems a long way off. The great demand for coal particularly anthracite continues without let-up and prices are very high. Building operations have to some extent been hampered by wintery weather but all materials and supplies having to do with construction work are in very good call for this season of the year. Comparatively speaking, unemployment is small in fact the better grade of unskilled help is by no means plentiful. The live stock market is very quiet with receipts small. The butter market is steady but in a wholesale way at least eggs are quiet. Desirable green fruits and vegetables are in fair demand at moderate prices but the market in white and sweet potatoes is quiet. Dressed hogs are in ample supply for trade requirements. Grains are quiet especially wheat, oats and rye. There is no activity to the demand for flour from any quarter and the market is drifting along without positive direction. Demand for straw is principally of a jobbing nature but desirable grades may have found ready sale at prices ranging from $15 to $20 per ton.

The Delmarva Peninsula seems to have borne the brunt of this storm which appears to have had its origin in the southern states which suffered one of the worst storms in their existence. The storm did not hit Baltimore until Tuesday, Cape Charles, Va., reported ten inches of snow on Monday, while other Eastern Shore towns seem to have averaged about five.

The snow has been of the dry variety and consequently may remain on the ground for sometime. Fine coating has been afforded the youngsters on the street hills. Fuel has been somewhat short in some quarters but at least two firms reported coal on hand. The main drawback this week was getting the fuel hauled. Some difficulty and retarding of broke through the clouds. The wind which accompanied the storm at its start soon died down and as a result the roads in this section were kept open without difficulty although motorists and teamsters were compelled to exercise caution. 380 Upton Street, Miss Ruth Dykes, Principal, 39; East Salisbury School, Miss Mamie Hastings, 290; Bell St., Miss Wilkie Woodcock, 156.

On Wednesday last 40 children in Salisbury finished the 7th grade and received certificates to enter Wicomico High School on Thursday. 13 of these finished the course at East Salisbury School and 27 at the Grammar School.

Following was the programme of the graduating exercises of the East Salisbury School Friday evening: Professional, Graduates, Invocation, Dr. Wilson, Selection, Mering Star Waltz, Orchestra; Chorus, Ist. The starting of the second semester on Thursday also found 40 of Salisbury's fair young daughters and sons getting their first glimpse of the interior of a school room as seekers of knowledge. ### Peace Prize Essay County High Schools

Mrs. Pauline W. Holmes, State Superintendent of Peace and Arbitration for Maryland, W. C. T. U., has started a Peace Essay Contest in the County High Schools. She offers a first prize of $10.00 and a second prize of $5.00. Subject: "World Peace, How Shall We Promote It?" Number of words: maximum 1,000, minimum 700 markings. Essays shall be graded three-fourths on subject matter and one-fourth on style and grammatical excellence. It is recommended that the essay writing be part of the English Department who shall decide upon the best and second best essay, and forward these TWO to the Tri-County Superintendent of Peace, Mrs. W. J. Downing, 700 Park St., Salisbury, not later than April 20th, 1923, who will award to the best essay received from all the Tri-County High Schools a prize of $6.00 and to the second prize $4.00.

It is suggested that all the pupils of the High Schools write and that the best six or eight be read by the writers before the whole school, or at a public meeting and prizes be awarded. All county prizes must be type-written and sent by Tri-County Superintendent of Peace on or before May 1st.

At this critical time in the World's History, the State Superintendent urges that every County in State do something and that all local and County Presidents co-operate and make this a power for good. Mrs. Pauline W. Holmes, Rogers Ave., Mt. Washington, Md., will send on application to each School participating free literature for subject matter.

VOLUBILITY

Dr. A. A. Brill, the well-known psychologist and translator of Freud, was no doubt trying to speak as a scientist and not with the desire to start a controversy when he expressed himself as follows before the National Association of Teachers of Speech:

It has always been asserted that women are more voluble than men, and there is no question about it. Jespersen, the philologist, states that "the superior readiness of speech of women is a concomitant of the fact that their vocabulary is smaller and more central than that of men... that the highest linguistic genius and the lowest degree of linguistic imbecility are rarely found among women."

It is only fair to add that he strengthened his statement by marking more explicitly that while men have the larger number of orators, they also have a much larger number of creatures who "cannot put two words together intelligently, who stutter and stammer and hesitate and are unable to find suitable expression for the slightest thoughts."

This expansion of his statement may serve to modify any possible irritation on the part of women. Even at that some qualification or modification of his point of view must be made. Down the ages men have had the larger number of orators, for the same reason as they had the larger number of soldiers, because man's sphere was war, or public affairs and woman's as a rule, the home. They had a higher degree of linguistic genius because there were so many who agreed with Dr. Johnson that "one tongue is enough for a woman." Since women began to take part in public affairs they have had a considerable number of public speakers who, so far as matter, manner or persuasive force were concerned, were quite the equal of men. But even if that were not the case, mere man must, if he is candid, admit that if men delivered orations, women, even Insurance seemed to him a sheer waste of money, until—a slushy day, a steep grade, a sharp turn at the bottom and a tree that God planted a few inches too near the road, and ZOWIE!!—away went a perfectly good hub, frame, wheel, tires, radiator, etc., etc.

MOTORDOM IN ITS ASCENDENCY.

With the Salisbury Fire Department's annual Automobile Show on display at the Armory, people living in this section of the Peninsula are having brought to them a touch of real city life. For there are but few small cities, the size of Salisbury, that are able to boast of an Automobile Show brilliant in glory and beauty as the one now in progress here. The firemen are to be congratulated upon the success of their effort and it is gratifying to note the interest of the public manifested. The Salisbury Fire Department is a vital part of this city and for its efficient service the citizens of Wicomico county are intensely grateful.

This year finds the automobile industry more active than ever before. Production in the various plants is surpassing previous records. In America the automobile is not only a luxury but also a necessity and is used by both wealthy and poor classes. Automobiles are an American institution. Recently an editor of the London Outlook remarked after a trip to this country, that automobiles and prohibition are the two topics foremost in the average American mind. If this be true, the importance of the Automobile Show is obvious. At it, the automobilist, the would-be automobilist or the curious investigator can inform himself upon one of the leading Yankee hobbies.

In the quarter century which has passed since motorcars first were viewed with alarm or curiosity the history of this amazing movement in transportation has outstripped the most fanciful traditions and ideas of early centuries. During the last ten years of this period the development of the motorcar industry has astonished even those accustomed to the speed of American progress. Boys and girls still in school can remember when they ran to a window if an automobile stopped in their neighborhood and when the advent of a new car was a town event. So rapid has been the progress of the nation in this particular line that today the entire population of the United States, infants included, could by close packing be seated in the nearly 12,000,000 cars distributed among our 20,000,000 families.

The latest accurate statistics procurable are for the year 1922 when there were 12,281,444 cars in the United States. The average yearly mileage of these cars was 5,000 miles, which means that they covered a grand total during the twelve months of last year more than 65,000,000,000 miles, and shows that some of our 2,500,000 miles of travelable roadway must have been gone over a number of times. Incidentally it may interest the reader to know that some 300,000 miles of this roadway is more or less smoothly surfaced—enough to provide a motor boulevard from the earth to the moon with some 60,000 miles to spare.

We hear a great deal in these days regarding the contribution of the car to our national life, social and industrial," says a recent writer on the subject of motor progress. "This contribution cannot be overestimated and only now are we beginning to understand it. However, there is another contribution of the motorcar which is not generally understood, either, and that is the contribution in cold cash which it makes in the form of registration fees." In 1916 the gross contribution of the motorcar in this respect was $25,000,000. In 1917 it had risen to $37,000,000 and in 1921 the total was $122,000,000.

Ten years ago the motor industry produced 378,000 vehicles, with a wholesale value of $262,000,000. In 1921, which was called an off year in the industry, nearly 1,700,000 vehicles, with a wholesale value of $1,200,000,000, were produced. "It is doubtful," says one economist, "if there ever has been a more rapid commercial growth than this, especially as it must be looked upon as a normal growth, since most of it was held through a period of depression."

At the end of 1922 there were several million motortrucks and business vehicles of various kinds registered in this country. New York was the leading state in this connection, Ohio second and Illinois third. Obviously, the motortruck finds its greatest field of service where the great centers of population lie. This is no belittling the use of trucks in the rural districts, where express lines and actual farm service are absorbing a constantly growing number. In 1921 these motortrucks hauled a total of 1,430,000,000 tons of freight, equal to nearly nine-tenths of the total of freight carried by all our railways. And this phase of transportation is said to be still in its infancy.

So much for the feast of figures. What do these millions and billions mean to the people of this land? To answer this question in detail would require more space than we have at our command. One phase of it alone, however, deserves special emphasis—the health value of motoring. "Motoring is one of the most effective forms of health insurance that modern life has produced," says Dr. Royal S. Copeland, present health commissioner of New York and United States senator-elect from that state. "The first and most obvious effect of the motorcar on the health of America is, of course, its contribution in getting out into the open air and the inspiring country many thousands of people who would otherwise spend their time sitting indoors, to their physical and mental detriment." By means of the motorcar, workers of every kind and degree have been enabled to live further from their place of business, without increasing to burdensome proportions the time consumed between home and office or shop. The business head or executive has so been enabled to add to his working time. He is able to reach his office with a head cleared by fresh air and the beneficial mental stimulus of driving his car. The workman, who formerly, perforce, herded at the nearest possible living place to the factory whistle, is now able to move out into uncongested districts, where his children may be reared under conditions calculated to develop sound bodies and uncontaminated minds."

In addition to its health benefits the motorcar has proved a great educator. It is the common verdict of school teachers that in the matter of physical geography alone widespread motoring has brought about marked advance in this study, and all educators know the traveled mind is far more alert than the stay-at-home. Of course, the motorcar has completely revolutionized rural life. No longer is the farmer an isolated individual, and no longer can his family complain of lack of such pleasurable and profitable recreation as lies within easy reach of the town and city dweller. As a social benefit it takes precedence even over the railway, for in these days of thirty miles an hour a new meaning has been given to the good old word neighbor. Those who wondered as to the future possibilities of the gas engine on wheels have lived to see more than ever a fruitful mind could dream.

Gone but Not Forgotten

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION INVITED.

The News is particularly desirous of building up its Letter Box Column to the greatest efficiency. This section of the paper is the mouthpiece of the people. Through it our readers are given the opportunity of expressing their personal views on the impending topics of the day, particularly those affecting local living conditions.

Few restrictions are placed on the manuscripts designed to find their way into this column. Correspondents are asked to be concise. As a rule 250 words should be enough; beyond that the editor reserves the right of blue penciling. The name and address must accompany the communication—not for publication unless it is the wish of the author, but as evidence of good faith. These manuscripts must reach the office not later than Tuesday morning.

This paper values, and gives the most careful consideration, to the views of its readers and welcomes constructive criticism of anything affecting the public welfare. Therefore each week hereafter we shall publish a subject along some line for the discussion of our readers in the following issue.

In this manner religious topics, educational matters, proposed legislation, sports and other items will be discussed from time to time. In this way those responsible for these things may have reflected to them that light so invaluable to success in any endeavor—public sentiment. Letters not pertaining to the subject given, of course, will be welcomed as usual and printed.

The subject this week will be: IN WHAT WAY DO YOU THINK THE WICOMICO NEWS COULD BE MADE A BETTER, MORE INFLUENTIAL PUBLICATION? IS THERE A DEPARTMENT YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE ADDED OR IS THERE SOME ELEMENT YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE ELIMINATED?

Those who may never have thought of the wheel as, next to fire, the greatest of all contributions to progress, now are every-minute witnesses of the incalculable value of the gift of whoever it was first applied the shape of the sun to human uses. And despite the magnitude of this development to date, undoubtedly the next decade will dwarf the figures here given.

THE FARMER IS SEEING THE LIGHT.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Chairman of the farm bloc, says: "The legislation which must be enacted in the near future to help cure the agricultural situation is in no sense class legislation. Agriculture is the only foundation upon which the state and nation can securely rest."

Capper also insists that Congress must put through the complete rural credit plan and it must pass a constitutional amendment prohibiting tax-exempt securities.

The program is ambitious, but in the main sound and constructive. Evidently the farmer, however, has come to see the evil effect of inequitable and unscientific taxation.

In our hunger for money we created the tax-exempt security and urged the rich to absorb it. When we discovered that the wealth from which business and farmers must draw their loans was withdrawn from its productive function and thrown en masse into tax-exempt securities, we realized the fault.

The tax-exempt security is an expedient makeshift appeal that this country does not and never has needed. Had Secretary McAdoo advertised the several Liberty Bond issues in a businesslike way instead of depending on a spurious patriotic press agent free advertising exploitation of United States securities, our finances would be in a different condition today.

Abolishing tax-exempt securities is a wise thought, but getting down to equitable taxation is a just thought and justice must prevail.

there is evil in all of us. Put your strength to the test, but never your weakness. Dare to try the apparently impossible tasks if they are tasks for good; never bear failure—all the world loves a good loser; and when you fail in the right, your defeat is only the beginning of final victory.

Day by day civilization is demanding more of each one of us—more that is pure and strong. Twentieth century society tolerates no weakness, no taint in individual workers. Today every man must be above suspicion. Each one of us must be proof against calumny. Everybody is lied about—sometimes by envy, sometimes by ignorance. Never resent a falsehood about yourself—after all it is a test of your reputation. Let your life, not your words, be your rebuke to slander. You defeat yourself when you stoop to the slanderer's low level.

Noble living is all the armor you need to wear. Silence is the most eloquent answer that can be made to the slanderer and it is the sure searchlight that will reveal the slanderer's shame and put him in complete disrepute.

Be so true to yourself that you never need to fear yourself and you will never need to fear the world.

SLOT MACHINE CHARITY.

Faith, Hope, and Charity are the only permanent virtues. All the other virtues and all the other graces are temporary. Charity dominated and controlled by love is personal. The greatest dynamic that has ever moved any one is the dynamic of love.

Whenever you reduce love to a mechanical basis or you reduce charity to a slot machine method of administering, you have blown out the light of love and you have chilled the personal touch, and have robbed virtue of its heart.

Whenever you administer charity by proxy or by an organization, which is more interested in investigation, registration, tabulation, and confiscation of the domestic skeleton than it is of administering charity, you have turned the sweetest sentiment on earth into mockery, a curse, and an object of contempt.

Let each family in each church be responsible—personally responsible—for some unfortunate family. Let them administer to that family personally, visit it, clean its house, clothe its children, feed its hungry, nurse its sick, educate its ignorant, and sing the songs of cheer and happiness and thus dispel its dullness and gloom.

Then, and only then will you eradicate suffering and put real charity back on its throne.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1923.

Three hundred and fifteen married men killed themselves in New York City in 1922, and 141 married women committed suicide in the same period of time. Only 151 single men and 56 single women killed themselves. The conclusion seems to be that the married folk are unhappier than the single folk, but it isn't so. It's all a question of percentage.

The married couples are in the majority, so more of them sought the great adventure. It's a great thing in a metropolis of $5,000,000 people to find only 350 fools that want to get out of it. Such a preponderance of men and women from the very rich to the very poor, who are content to remain with us, is pretty good proof that the old world is a rather satisfactory sort of place after all. The best way to decide if the world is worth living in is to give it a trial for seventy-five or eighty years and then sum up.

V. F. W. ESTABLISHES MEUSE POST, NO. 194

Mr. Editor:—This is written with the hope that it may find space in your paper. In the interest of all lodges and orders in Salisbury, I respectfully suggest a fraternal column as a valuable addition to your paper. It would be a means of informing members and the public of the happenings of the different orders.

We are here—the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. In the establishment of Meuse Post, No. 194, a long hoped for event by the Department of Maryland, has been realized. It has long been their desire to see a post of the V. F. W. on the Eastern Shore. Our greatest desire as an ex-soldier organization is to go hand in hand with the American Legion, knowing their ideals are as noble as ours, knowing that we can enlist no truer Americans in our ranks than can they and standing side by side to uphold the causes we know to be right and just. Contrary to public opinion the Veterans of Foreign Wars is now no new organization. Stewart Post, No. 1, Denver Col., is the oldest post in the organization, being formed December 12, 1899. The Veterans of Foreign Wars is the only National organization composed exclusively of Veterans of the World Wars and campaigns conducted by the United States on foreign soil and in foreign waters. We extend the hand of comradeship to all who saw actual service in any war or campaign with a foreign foe. Those who helped humble the Don in '98, who helped stamp out insurrection in the Philippines from '98 to '06, who sealed the walled cities of China with the relief expeditions in 1900 and 1901 and those who served outside the United States in the war with Germany and her Allies. It is as foolish for a member of the Legion to hold animosity towards the V. F. W., because he is ineligible to membership, as it would be for a member of the V. F. W., to be "down on" the D. V. A., because he is ineligible through lack of wounds. Baltimore City has done much to allay friction between veteran organizations by forming an "Allied Committee" this committee is made up

VALENTINE'S DAY IS ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Queen Custom Comes From Roman Lupericalia And Martyred Saint—Festivities Have Changed

The celebration of St. Valentine's Day is a widespread custom. St. Valentine, the gentleman thus honored, is a saint of the Roman Calendar supposed to have been martyred in 306 A. D., and the custom of choosing valentines on his birth anniversary has been accidentally associated with his name.

On the eve of this holiday the young people of both sexes used to meet and each of them drew by lot a number of names of the opposite sex. In this way, each boy got a lady for his valentine and in turn became the valentine for his lady. The youth remained bound to the maiden for a year. This custom has been traced to the Roman Lupericalia, the annual celebration in honor of a pastoral god who has since been identified with the Arcadian Pan. The festival, however, was held on February 15th instead of the 14th.

Today the celebration consists for the most part of sending thru the mail sentimental or ludicrous missives, often anonymously. It is the season of the year, too, at which confectioners reap a harvest from lovesick youths whose belief is unshaken that large candy hearts, queerly shaped cakes and candies with love messages written on them in red cinnamon drops will prove efficacious in winning the dream girl of their hearts. Salisbury stores are carrying full lines of valentines and the younger folks are awaiting anxiously the 14th.

WARNING BY MELLON

Secretary Mellon isn't the kind of man to multiply his words; when he speaks he usually has something very useful to say. Just now he is warning the country against the harmful effects of extravagance and waste, says it would be little short of a public calamity if the lessons in thrift learned during the war should be lost in these days of reconstruction.

As a matter of cold, hard fact, care and prudence are needed far more in these days of reconstruction than in times of war. Everything was so outrageously upset then that one evil now or less didn't matter so much. Now, however, how are we ever going to build back save on reasonably sound foundations? And the foundation of all prosperity must of necessity be the conservation of resources; in other words, plain, everyday saving.

This country would never be what it is today if those who helped in the making of it hadn't been thrifty. To the pioneer spirit spending wasn't necessary to escape boredom. Those who made the country found joy in working and in their leisure moments they found pleasure in books and other intellectual pursuits. They reared families of useful children and tried to build up a competence for old age. We have gone on in the past half century and what would have been luxuries in the palace of a king a hundred years ago are now the ordinary conveniences of the ordinary workman's household. Instead of making these comforts help toward thrift and old-fashioned happiness, a vast number of people use them only as avenues to greater extravagance.

All the governmental regulations in the world cannot stop individual waste. First and last it is up to the individual. If every wage-earner in the land saves a dime out of a dollar the nation must of necessity forge forward to greater prosperity if every wage-earner spends a dollar plus a dime out of every dollar earned, there can be but one answer in the long run.—Baltimore News.

IN MEMORIAM.

IN MEMORIAM

RICHARDSON—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear baby, Hilda Mary Richardson, who died February 7, 1922.

Little eyes so soft and gentle, Little lips without a stain, Little lips that smile so sweetly, Little form that suffered pain.

In a little snow-white casnet, Resting sweetly among the flowers, Lies our darling little Hilda, Who such a little while was ours.

By Mother and father.

IN MEMORIAM

RICHARDSON—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear cousin, Hilda Mary Richardson, who died February 7, 1922.

The roses that's the fairest and sweetest, And the one we most cherished and loved, Is the kind that God wants in his garden, So he transplanted our cousin above.

Dear Hilda, how we miss you, None but God will ever know, If tears and sighs would bring you back, You would have been here long ago.

By Cousins.

IN MEMORIAM.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear little daughter, Hilda Mary, who went to live with her heavenly Father one year ago today, February 7, 1922. Age 12 years.

Just one year ago today, Our dear little Hilda passed away No one knows the bitter heart-ache No one knows the silent pain, Oh if we could only have you, To cheer our home and hearts again.

For eight sad months we saw you suffer Prayers and tears were all in vain So the Angels brought the message And relieved your aching pain.

Some may think that we have forgotten you, And our wounded hearts are healed, But they little know the sorrow, That is within our hearts concealed.

You were the light of our home, dear Hilda, You were so pure and so sweet and God only loaned you to us, To love and to keep for awhile.

For twelve short years we had you with us, Then our hearts with joy were filled But your hearts are filled with sorrow Since your dear, sweet voice is stilled

Up in heaven you are a little Angel Smiling and shining so bright That is the reason God took you He, who doeth all things right.

Keep her Jesus in thy keeping, Till we reach the shining shore, Then dear Jesus let us have her, To love and keep her as before.

By Mother, Father, Sister and Brothers.

OCEAN GROVE EVANGELIST HERE SUNDAY

Fortunate In Securing Dr.
E. L. Hyde.

INDICATIONS POINT TO SWEEPING REVIVAL

Renowned Visitor Is Said To Be Second Only To Famous Billy Sunday
In Point Of Results Obtained In The Salvation Of Souls—Here All
Thru February.

What, from indications, promises to be a sweeping revival of religion was gotten underway at Asbury Church last Sunday when the pastor, Dr. J. T. Heron, delivered two stirring sermons to large congregations. The subject of the morning discourse was "The Need of Vision" and the night text "The Merchandise of Souls". Services of an evangelistic nature will be held each night throughout February with the exception of Monday evenings. On Tuesday night of this week, the Rev. John Brandon Peters, of Trinity M. E. South was the speaker and on Wednesday evening, the Rev. Joseph P. Wilson, of Grace Church. To Rev. R. L. Shipley preaches tonight, the Rev. R. A. Boyle Friday night and the minister Saturday night. These clergymen are all assisting Dr. Heron with the revival.

On next Sunday, the Rev. E. L. Hyde, D. D., comes to Salisbury to take up the work of soul salvation during the remainder of February. Dr. Hyde is a member of the Philadelphia Conference and is the Ocean Grove evangelist. He has been in work of this kind for the past 25 years or more and with the possible exception of Billy Sunday is the most successful evangelist in the country today. At the New Jersey resort it is no uncommon thing for Dr. Hyde to preach to a congregation of from 8000 to 12,000 people.

This renowned evangelist, was here two years ago and at that time moved Asbury Church as it had not been moved for 30 years previous to his coming. At that time he stayed two weeks although every evening a new arena was used for his retention for a longer period he had to go elsewhere. This time his coming here was made possible only by the close relationship existing between Dr. Heron and Bishop Berry. The evangelist had 19 invitations for the month of February alone.

An augmented choir under the direction of Prof. W. T. Dashiell is furnishing music for the revival services. When seen on Tuesday Dr. Heron said: "There is much complaint concerning the social and moral conditions obtaining in Salisbury. I do not want to believe, and will not, some of the things that are being passed from lip to lip about social conditions but I am certain of this, that there is not anything that will more quickly and so thoroughly change wrong conditions as an old fashioned revival of conviction concerning sin and salvation thru Jesus Christ. This is one thing I desire above anything else to see Salisbury mightily stirred for God and I believe every other preacher in this city is equally anxious about this matter."

Last Thursday—Buried Sunday

Mark L. (Babe) Adams, manager of the Salisbury baseball team during the major portion of last season, died last Thursday in the Allegheny Hospital, Pittsburg, Pa., of pneumonia. He was buried on Sunday in Williamstown, Pa.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL H. HITCH

Samuel H. Hitch well known in this city died at his home on West Main St., Thursday morning at 7.30, February 1st, 1923.

Mr. Hitch had been ill since October 1st, 1921, suffering with tuberculosis. He received treatment in Baltimore for some time and in April of 1922 returned to his home and until September 1922 was able to be out in the fresh air at which time he was confined to his bed.

Prior to his sickness, he was in the employ of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., of Baltimore and had been in their service for fifteen years. Mr. Hitch was Plant Wire Chief having charge of all maintenance work and installation of telephone lines in the city of Baltimore, Md. He was loved and respected by all of his superiors, subordinates and fellow workmen. He was known by all of his friends as the man with the wonderful smile and good and quiet disposition.

The deceased leaves a widow, who was Miss Carrie Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Evans, of Maryland, Md. He is also survived by his father, Herbert H. Hitch, one sister, Mrs. W. J. Oakes, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and one half sister, Miss Margaret Hitch of this city. Funeral services were held in St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Sunday afternoon at 2.30, February 4th. The Modoc Tribe of Red Men and Newton Lodge of Odd Fellows took part in the funeral rites. His pall-bearers were W. H. Murphy, R. E. Latham, C. G. Truitt, J. S. Russell, C. N. Davis and W. H. ### WILLIAM E. TRUITT, JR.

The demise of Mr. William E. Truitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Truitt which occurred Friday morning, February 2, at seven o'clock though not wholly unexpected was a shock to the community for only on the previous Saturday evening he had taken a leading part in a play "An Old Fashioned Mother" given by local talent. On the Sunday though far from well he was found in his accustomed place at Sunday School in the Ayres M. E. Church. On Tuesday evening he was among his friends and associates for the last time on earth. He was ill when he returned home. Pneumonia developed from which he never rallied. "Bill" as he was most familiarly called was most seriously injured in an automobile accident July 2, 1920. He was taken to the Peninsula General Hospital where for weeks he lingered on the borderland of eternity. He was removed to his home where the fight continued and finally a partial victory was won, but he was never the strong, healthy boy he had been prior to the accident. He was possessed of a wonderful ambition and an indomitable will and the succeeding summer found him on Pittsville baseball team though physically unable to do so. In February 1922 he was operated upon again, a very delicate operation in the Delaware Hospital, of Wilmington, where he again went down into the valley of death, and again he lived.

"Bill" had a large host of friends who mourn his untimely death, for only twenty times had the flowers bloomed and faded since he was born, October 18, 1902.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of his parents Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock by Rev. C. W. Strickland and Rev. Baxley. Interment was made in Pittsville cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Truitt and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Clarence Burroughs, of Wilmington, Mrs. Escall Baker, Miss Ada Truitt, Mr. Edgar Truitt, Mrs. Charles W. Truitt. The family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

Late on Friday Spinal Meningitis developed and death came shortly before midnight. Funeral services were held at the home of the parents on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Bounds and children spent part of each summer at the home of Mr. Bounds' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bounds. The sunny disposition and charming ways had endeared Eleanor to the hearts of all her many acquaintances throughout the entire community. Mr. Bound's sisters, Misses Ludo and Hester Bounds left for Philadelphia on Saturday and will be gone several days.

He is survived by a widow who was a Miss Katie Seabrook and by one daughter, Mrs. Edna Larsen, of Ithaca, N. Y. Funeral services were held from his late home on Sunday morning conducted by the Rev. ### WICOMICO HIGH WINS ITS INITIAL GAME

The Wicomico High School opened its basketball schedule last Friday night by defeating the Pocomoke High School quintet on the First Regiment Armory court, 51 to 14. The victors did not threaten the Wicomico High School team at any time.

With the opening of the season a full schedule had been arranged for the month of February with Pocomoke, Cambridge and Crisfield high schools maintaining basketball teams on the Eastern Shore.

The local high school cagemen are expecting to make an excellent showing this year, and the splendid floor work exhibited would seem to justify their optimism. The present team is the first the school has produced for years, because of the lack of a court. The First Regiment Armory court has been acquired for the season. Much improvement in basketball, under Coach William Duffy, former Washington College star, has been made.

AND HE DID

"Dear," she said wistfully, "did you ever love another girl?"
"Why Mary," he began—
"No," she shrieked. "Lie to me Jack—lie to me and keep me happy!"

The automobile is becoming more and more an all-weather, all-season vehicle.

The efficiency of the automobile is being increased more and more through simplification and inter-changeability of parts and units.

The automobile is becoming more and more essential in social, commercial and industrial life.

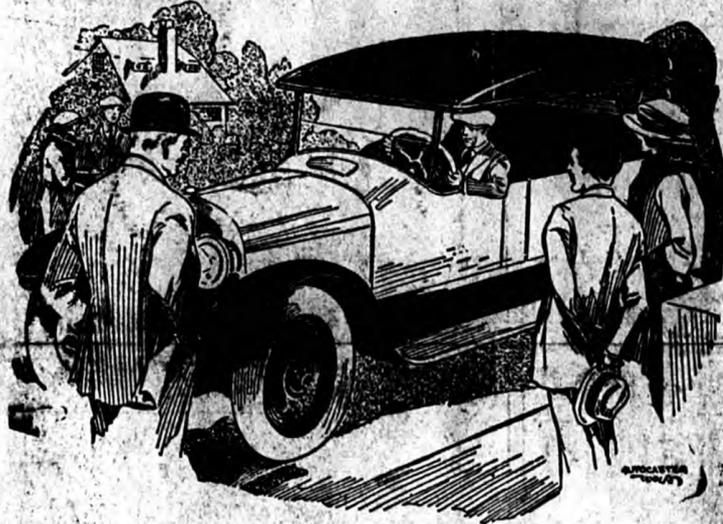

The automotive industry is developing more and more along railroad lines.

The automobile is meaning more and more to millions of men and women in terms of human freedom.

Automobiles are an American institution. They are the hobby of the rich and the agent of the poor.

How To Keep Alive Till Spring

1. Slush plus a surfaced road form a super-slippery combination. Keep your car well under control so that you will not have to depend on your brakes to bring you to a stop on a sleet-surfaced road.
2. It is almost impossible to "Liaise" at a grade crossing when riding in a closed car with the windows shut. Therefore, your eyes must do double duty. See that the tracks are clear in both directions before you attempt to cross.
3. Trains and trolley cars are just as deadly in winter as in summer. Failure to take every precaution at the grade crossing may be punishable by death.
4. The roadhog is with us 12 months of the year. If he tries to take more than his share of the highway, don't stand too firmly on your rights. There's a lot of bootleg bootch around, especially at holiday times, and he may be carrying some inside him.
5. Winter nights fall early and necessitate more driving after dark. Keep a couple of extra bulbs on hand in case of a burnout. Adjust your lights so they won't blind the other fellow.
6. Pedestrians on the highway at night are likely to be heavily muffled in dark overcoats, making it harder for them to hear you and for you to see them. Watch out!
7. Connecticut Judge has ruled that failure to see a person does not relieve you of the responsibility for his death or injury. If snow, fog or glare from an approaching automobile makes it impossible to see more than a few feet ahead, reduce your speed.

INCREASED CAR BUYING COMING SAYS E. B. FORD

Ford Motor Company President Reveals New Conditions Facing Manufacturers—Survival Of The Fittest His Conception Of 1923—Dealers Have Been Busy Trading.

"The demand for automobiles during 1923 will be greater than during any other year in the history of the motor car industry." This statement made by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, is based upon an analysis recently made in connection with automobile sales.

"But the race is going to be a sure and not the swift," he added, with a characteristic touch of caution. "It is to be a case of the survival of the fittest, and the manufacturer who rushes in with a desire to get a lot of sales without consideration of what he gives in return for the owner's confidence placed in his product is not likely to find the year a success."

"The demand is coming from a more concentrated sales effort on the part of manufacturers and dealers. Even with all the cars now running, there are hundreds of thousands of potential owners in all parts of the country who have yet to buy their first car."

"Dealers and manufacturers have been content to skim the cream off the top of the market and now are engaged in the business of trading, rather than in the development of new car owners."

"But the change is on the way. We have sensed it for months at the Ford Motor Company."

"The great volume of prospective owners are looking for their automobiles and the selling organization that is properly organized is planning to carry the story to them."

"All our efforts have been devoted to building better, to increasing the actual value offered in the products we build. Only upon such a basic and serious consideration can owner or buyer confidence be permanently maintained. When the natural reaction on the part of the buying public expresses itself in steadily increasing demand for a product the matter of price automatically takes care of itself."

"Recent price reductions on Ford products in the face of the heaviest demand we have ever known came as a natural result of savings through constantly increasing production."

FOURS AND SIXES ARE 1923 DURANT MODELS

Star Is Also Represented by Lloyd A. Richardson Motor Company—A Smart Low Priced Car

Durant represented in Salisbury by the Richardson Motor Company, Main Street, is shown as both a four and a six this year, the latter having made its appearance during the year. The four-cylinder chassis has 109-inch wheel base, using their four cylinder overhead valve type of motor, with 3 1/2-inch bore and 4 1/4-inch stroke. The electric system is autolite, the front axle Elliott type and the rear three-quarter floating. It is made as a five-passenger touring, a roadster, with big rear deck compartment, a sedan for five, with low top and broad windows, a two-passenger coupe, accommodating also four passengers, with plenty of luggage space. A feature of the mechanical construction is the Durant tubular backbone, lending strength and rigidity to the frame.

A six-cylinder model has 123-inch wheel base, uses overhead valve type motor, with 3 1/2-inch bore and 4 1/2-inch stroke. Some of the units include Rayfield carburetor, ten-disc dry-plate clutch, Timken semi-floating rear axle. The body type includes the touring, roadster, sedan and coupe.

The Star which is also represented by the Richardson Motor Company was the latest addition to the products of W. C. Durant, brought out during the year, appearing last fall. It is in the field of low priced cars and is made in one chassis size, with 102-inch wheelbase using a four-cylinder L-head type of motor with 3 1/2-inch bore and 4 1/4-inch stroke. Standardized units used include Feders radiator, Timken front and rear axle, Tillotson carburetor and Auto-Lite starting, lighting and ignition.

Smartness in looks, thoroughness and modern design characterize these cars, which are built with stream-line effects and are provided with selective sliding gear transmission with three speeds forward and reverse. The springs are semi-elliptic, underslung. The body types include a standard touring car, a roadster, coupe, sedan, station wagon and delivery wagon.

STORAGE BATTERY MAN ISSUES A WARNING

The fact that the entire electrical equipment of an automobile may not be made in one factory does not mean that the manufacturers of the various parts have not co-operated, to the end that the whole functions most efficiently as a unit. Quite to the contrary, makers of the generators, starting motor, dash equipment and storage battery on a single car, are required to work together for the most satisfactory operation of the car itself—their parts must co-ordinate properly.

This point at once suggests another fact that the substitution of other than the original manufacturers' parts in the repair of any of these units is almost certain to impair its efficiency. That is particularly true in the case of the storage battery, where it seems to be a common practice for some battery repair men to "rebuild" an old battery with a few new parts, and sell it again as a "repaired" standard make, "with a lot of life left in it" at a price way out of reason for the service it will render.

"Such imposition by unscrupulous battery men" says Mr. H. S. Gardner, Sales Manager of the Willard Storage Battery Company, Cleveland, "is the thing that all manufacturers of standard storage batteries are anxious to bring to the attention of car drivers. There would be no occasion for the original owner of such a battery to dispose of it, if it could have been economically repaired. It certainly cannot be made an economical change for anyone else after having been once worn out and discarded as worthless."

COMPLETE EQUIPMENT ANNOUNCED FOR PAIGE

Stock Model Has Every Accessory Necessary To Comfort And Convenience—Makes Economy Possible

A fully equipped stock model is the statement of compelling interest to motorists in the Paige Company's announcement concerning its new Paige model, the 6-70 on display for the first time at the automobile shows.

"We are using the term 'completely equipped' in the more exacting European sense," says Harry M. Jewett, president of the Paige Company. "This equipment consists of accessories selected and tested by our own engineers and built into the car in our own plant. By this policy the owner is assured that all accessories are of standard make, 'with a lot of life left in it' at a price way out of reason for the service it will render."

"We have, we believe, carried this policy of complete and suitable equipment to the logical limit, and the advantages to the motorist are many and obvious. The owner not only gets everything he could possibly desire or use, but he has the advantage of the factory's purchasing power and, moreover, there is no delay or annoyance incident to installation."

"Mechanically the 6-70 is a development and a perfection of the 6-66, its immediate predecessor. An interesting mechanical development included in the 6-70 is a new type of engine chain drive—a chain drive with an automatic take-up."

"Another feature we believe will create general satisfaction is the use of anti-squeak material at every point where metal touches metal or metal touches wood."

NEW DODGE SEDAN IS IDEAL FOR SHOPPING

Closed Car Was Designed For Social And Business Purposes By Makers—Great For Touring

The Dodge Brothers business sedan is literally a closed car for everyday use, for business or social occasions.

The decision on the part of Dodge Brothers to build a closed car that would economically and satisfactorily solve the need for closed-car transportation called for a type of construction with practical features not previously known to the automotive industry.

The problem was given exhaustive study. It was realized that a steel body for such a closed car was one of the first essentials, both from the standpoint of economy and utility. Once the manufacturing obstacles were overcome, the steel body closed car could be put into quantity production, bringing the cost down to the plane of the average family and at the same time increasing the car's scope of operation. Steel would withstand the hardest everyday usage. It would lend itself much more readily to the salesman's requirements, for example than the delicately finished de luxe sedan. Instead of many coats of varnish applied slowly and painstakingly by hand, it would take a lustrous baked-on-enamel, just as this same enduring finish is applied by a highly perfected mechanical process to Dodge Brothers open cars.

Campers and auto tourists will be amazed at the available room in the rear compartment for packing necessary camping equipment. Instead of strapping equipment in inconvenient rolls to the running board or rear it can be easily and neatly stored in the car. It is possible to pack all needed equipment—blankets, cooking equipment, bedding rolls, clothes and extras

Automobile Industry Now Is Occupying Second Place In American Productions

More Than Billion And Quarter Dollars Invested In Manufacturing Of Various Makes Of Machines—Produces 2 1/4 Million Vehicles Annually And Employs 1-3 Million People

The production of automobiles has become, in less than a quarter of a century, the second largest manufacturing industry in America, an industry that represents a capital investment of a billion and a quarter dollars, produces two and a quarter million vehicles annually and employs a third of a million people, in addition to those employed by associated industries, such as in the manufacture of tires, automobile accessories, bodies, etc., which industries have been created through the manufacture of automobiles.

This investment and employment of such an army of people is doubled through the sales efforts upon the part of local automobile dealers located in every large city and small town throughout the country, and the manufacturing and sales volume of the automobile industry is such as to cause the greatest amount of respect upon the part of the public.

The automobile industry as large as it is takes the greatest pride in the fact that it has been able to reduce prices for its product to the point where, quality of the goods and purchasing power of the dollar considered it is offering today, greater value than ever before in the history of the industry.

Provided an article has the merit to support it, no better form of advertising is possible than the display of that article, and this thought has given birth to the automobile show.

Years ago when the automobile show was first held, there was considerable talk of trying and trying to bring the automobile then was a novelty and had not found its stride or its proper place in the twentieth century of speed and progress.

Today the automobile show is a dignified exhibition of the production from the most efficiently equipped minds of the world and offers for comparative inspection the results of years of labor and the development of exhaustive study in motor transportation.

The automobile is no longer a novelty. No longer is the automobile even considered a plaything or means of pleasure. The automobile of today is a necessity and it fills a definite place, and a large one, in our modern life.

Never before in any motor car exhibition has so high a standard of excellence been set and reached in the Baltimore show, which opened this week at the Fifth Regiment Armory. Both from the mechanical and artistic point of view, the 1923 cars are better and more attractive than in any previous year, while the newer models brought from the New York show and exhibited for the first time in Baltimore have pronounced improvements over the cars displayed in the salesrooms, and such a condition could hardly be different, as every show from the humble beginning in this city in 1906 to the present time has been characterized by noteworthy achievements by the American motor-car industry.

The number of cars exhibited this year is slightly less than a year ago. This is of minor importance, for the factor is quality improvement and not the number of individual products. The elimination of inferior production is decidedly beneficial to the industry at large.

A casual inspection of the new models impresses the visitor with the sense of completeness that has been reached in the production of the modern car. Whether of the closed or open model, it seems to possess everything that could possibly make for comfort and convenience in the way of riding as well as of driving. The seats are wide and roomy, the cushions soft and the springing excellent. The controls, either by foot or hand, are where they can be reached with the least trouble; the engines are businesslike and compact.—Bal. Sun.

RACING KING FLAYS "SPEED MERCHANTS"

Jimmy Murphy Has No Patience With Drivers Who Care Nothing For Others—Vanity Is The Cause

Jimmy Murphy, fastest man on wheels, has no patience with the street speeder who is piling up frightful national toll.

"Much recklessness," he says, with his verbal cut-out open, "is the sheer deadly vanity of the man who steps on the gas because he wants the world or his passenger to see what a virile and masterful fellow he is."

"Nine cases out of ten he's mutton-headed rather than masterful."

This thoughtful, self-controlled, genial little Irish-American cut his eye-teeth on racing tires and his wisdom molars on track accidents. No one would accuse him of being faint-hearted, but he attributes his laurels to a degree of caution of which the average driver would be ashamed.

"The fellow who has an impulse toward bravado," said Jimmy, "had better overhaul his mental machinery, especially if he's sitting at a steering wheel."

"Of course, every race driver knows the seductions of the speed given inciting him to carelessness. That's one of the temptations we have constantly to fight, especially during the early laps and brushes when you're almost drunk with exhilaration. There is such a thing as excessive speed even in races dedicated to speed."

"But there's no place to teach you the value of rigid self-discipline like the speed bowl, where even with the utmost precaution your chances of life and death are almost even. I've seen many crashes and have figured in several, and I have come to have a high respect for danger. It fairly makes my skin crawl to see the chances taken by your swaggering driver of the boulevard."

Murphy holder of the French Grand Prix at 28, has just added the 250-mile Beverly Hills, (Cal.) classic to his five notable victories of the season, breaking his own and the world previous record for the distance with an average of 114 6-10 miles an hour.

Jimmy's Irish heart yearns for a green car, but he doesn't drive in that color because too many of his friends have come to grief in emerald machines.

It's just one more way of emphasizing his refusal to take a chance when chances seem unnecessary, and so he's forced to win his races in an orange blond car, much to the disgust of that uncle from Erin with whom he lives.

THE NEW NASH FOUR DRAWS MUCH ATTENTION

Those visitors at the Automobile Show whose tastes incline them toward the highest in quality, yet whose judgment dictates a certain degree of conservatism, are expressing marked interest in the Nash Four. The unusual interest exhibited this year is due to the splendid account this car has given of itself in the hands of owners since its introduction nearly three years ago. The fact, together with the many improvements and refinements, has created a demand for the Nash Four that has made necessary plant extensions.

The Nash Four is built in five body styles, three open and two closed cars, each mounted on a chassis of 112 inch wheelbase. The new Sport Model, the five-passenger touring car, and the two passenger roadster comprise the open cars in the Nash Four line. The closed cars are the five passenger Carriole and the five passenger Sedan. These models are all equipped with the Nash perfected valve-in-head motor, the power and smoothness of which have been accorded frank admiration. Recent refinements have resulted in a motor so smooth at all engine speeds as to amaze seasoned automobile men who for years have driven and hauled four cylinder cars of high price.

"There is no question," says C. B. Voorhis, vice president and director of sales of The Nash Motors Company, "but that the Nash Four today occupies a field entirely its own. The Nash engineering and production departments have combined to produce a four cylinder car, so smooth in operation, so fine in appearance and so comfortable in riding qualities as to eclipse anything heretofore deemed possible even in much higher price fields."

The show visitor's first impression of the Nash Four touring car for five passengers is one of beauty and lightness. This is due to the handsome body line, set off by new type barrel head lamps, parking lamps of the same design, genuine leather upholstery, low handsome top, large steering wheel and 33x4 inch cord tires. The doors are wide, the floor room is ample and the broad deep seat cushions mean spacious comfort.

Riding comfort in the Nash Four is assured by the Nash easy-riding springs with which all models, open and closed are equipped.

Economy of operation and upkeep is an outstanding attribute of the Nash Four. This together with low first cost, makes a distinct appeal to the owner. The perfect balance of the car, its powerful and flexible motor, its easy-operating clutch and its short turning radius, combine to the comfort and pleasure of the driver.

A notable feature of this model is the one-man low step top with its large single rear window, six-inches by twenty-four. The curtains fit snugly and all four open with the doors. The curtain passes are set lengthwise giving clear vision. There is a pocket in the top where curtains are stored smoothly when not in use.

So great has been the demand for the Nash Four that the Nash four cylinder car factory at Milwaukee is being practically doubled in size. This will mean greatly increased facilities for production when the buildings now under construction are completed.

It's just one more way of emphasizing his refusal to take a chance when chances seem unnecessary, and so he's forced to win his races in an orange blond car, much to the disgust of that uncle from Erin with whom he lives.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you. Sold Everywhere. E 30

1,202,517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922—

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company—It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed—keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealers' requirements—

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery dates on certain types because there are no reserve stocks to draw from—

Commercial users, business houses and farmers, anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay—

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed—

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately—

We have given you these facts as they actually exist so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Tractor for use this Spring or Summer, you can list your order now and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

 One year has passed since that sad day.
 When our dear mother, who was called away.
 She was always patient, loving and kind.
 What a beautiful memory she left behind.
 And now though the circle is broken, And the path is dark, we still feel the love she gave.
 The loving home she made for us.

 In sad but loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, Agnes B. Mallett, who departed this life two years ago, January 29, 1921.
 Again this month of January is here, To me the saddest of the year.
 For just two years ago today, My dear wife passed away.
 Surrounded by friends, I am no longer lonely.
 In the midst of pleasures I am blue,
 A smile on my face and an aching heart.
 I am thinking of you.
 Some may think I have forgotten, Though on earth you are no more,
 But in memory you are with me, As you always were before.
 Dear is the grave where our mother lies,
 Sweet is the memory that never dies,
 Heart of our lives is buried deep,
 Under the sod where our mother sleeps.

Over 12 1/4 Million Cars In U. S. In '22 About Same As In The World In '21

Automotive Industry Reached Its Zenith Last Year—Statistics For State of Maryland Show That Registrations Increased 2.1% Over 1921. State Ranked 22nd In 1922.

The annual statistics on motor vehicles compiled by The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., give a total of 12,281,445 cars and trucks registered in this country in 1922. A gain of 1,707,050 or 16% is registered over 1921 which gave a total of 10,574,395. 1922 was the biggest year the automotive industry has known. Every state in the union shows an increase in the number of cars operated, as opposed to the preceding year. From the standpoint of production, manufacturers enjoyed the biggest year since the inception of the motor car, with 2,576,219 cars and trucks produced. There can be no doubt that the motor vehicle is essential to the social and industrial welfare of the country. Today there is one car for every 8.6 people in the country. In the past two years more cars have been produced than were registered in 1916. This enormous growth is unparalleled in any industry.

New York is again the leader with 1,002,293 cars and trucks. This is an increase of 186,289 over 1921, the largest annual gain made in any state since the inception of the motor car, with 859,000 vehicles, 182,300 more than in the preceding year. California advanced to third place, with 842,663, passing Pennsylvania and Illinois, respectively fourth and fifth. Nevada climbed to the cellar position with 12,847. This, however, is a gain of 2,047 or 19% over 1921. Nevada's registration is not as small as it might seem, since it is greater than the combined total of 27 foreign countries.

The District of Columbia registered the largest percentage gain with 37.6 per cent, more vehicles than in 1921. California increased its number of cars by 28.1%, a testimonial to its popular climate and progressiveness. The smallest gain recorded was in Maryland where there are only 2.1% more cars than in 1921. In the agricultural section, such states as Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri and North Dakota, show increases ranging from 7% to 15%, any one of which is greater than the gain made in Massachusetts, namely 6.4%. The gain throughout the southern states is generally greater than in the middle west.

It is interesting to note that six states have nearly 40% of all the motor vehicles registered in the country. New York, Ohio, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan accomplish this with a combined total of 4,886,863.

The gain made in these states during 1922, 859,326, is greater than the registration of Great Britain and France combined. Any one of these states has more cars than the entire Dominion of Canada. Their

NEW NASH LINE OFFERS WIDE RANGE OF CHOICE

The Nash line of cars for 1923 offers a wide range of models to choose from, both open and closed and on the six and four cylinder chassis. The Nash Six touring car for five passengers has come to be looked upon as the leader of the Nash line because of its particularly wide appeal. Other open cars in the six cylinder line include a seven passenger touring car, four passenger Sport Model and two passenger Roadster.

Nash Six closed cars include a four-door coupe, seven passenger sedan, five passenger sedan and two-door coupe. Cars in the Nash four cylinder line include five passenger touring, sport model, two passenger roadster, five passenger sedan and five passenger Carriole.

partments and more than 7,000 highly trained workmen are carried on the payroll. This, together with the remarkable financial resources of the Nash Motors Company enabling it to purchase materials at the most favorable prices, makes possible the value represented in this line of cars. At the head of these plants and directing their activities is G. W. Nash, whose experience as a manufacturer dates back twenty-eight years, to the days of the carriage industry before the motor car had begun to establish itself. Mr. Nash's insistence upon precision is best indicated by the fact that each Nash car must undergo more than 4,000 separate and distinct inspections and tests before it is sent to the shipping platform.

DISCUSSES STUDEBAKER ACHIEVEMENTS IN 1923

Sales Manager Tells Significance Of Feet In Surpassing Record Year. Total Output 110,000.

"Nineteen twenty-two made automobile history. It took its place as the banner year of the industry in production as well as sales. It stands out all the more strikingly because it followed a year of depression," so writes H. B. Harper, sales manager to the local distributors, Pope and Parker, Palace Garage. "It is quite natural, with the automobile industry as a whole reaching new heights, that manufacturers of cars generally should have surpassed in 1922 the records made in the year of 1921," Mr. Harper adds. "With Studebaker it was a different story. Instead of beating one of the worst years in our history we set out to exceed the biggest year we ever had!"

"Students of the automobile business recall the story of 1921, in that year the sales of Studebaker cars were 29.4 per cent, greater than in 1920, while the total number of cars sold of all other makes, except Ford, was 40 per cent less than in 1920. Stated otherwise, Studebaker's ratio of sales was 120 and the total of other makes 60, as compared with 1920. "These Studebaker figures show the goal we had to pass in 1922 to exceed our record of 1921."

"With the showing of a record year instead of a weak year to surpass, Studebaker laid plans for a production of 100,000 cars in 1922, as compared with 66,643 in 1921. We had every reason to believe that this production figure would be reached. And right from the first of the year this opinion was borne out by an insistent demand. "Before the year 1922 was seven months old, we had surpassed the 1921 mark of 66,643 cars, and on November 15, with a month and a half to go, we reached and passed the goal of 100,000 cars, so that for the year our total production and sales amounted to 110,000 cars. "At no time during 1922 were we able to catch up with orders. At times our sales were running as many as 20,000 cars ahead of production, despite the fact that our plants were operating at full capacity. "The record of Studebaker in 1922, as in 1921, commanded world-wide attention, and therefore it is of interest to consider outstanding reasons why this was possible. One of the potent reasons—of which there are many—is the completeness of the line with three models, a wide variety of 13 body types and a consequent appeal to the broadest market of buyers. Another advantage lies in the fact that Studebaker specializes in six-cylinder car manufacture, which means that our dealers and salesmen do not have to talk against themselves in switching from one model to another of more or fewer cylinders. "Other reasons have inspired the ever-growing popularity of our product. For instance vital parts of our cars such as motors, transmissions, axles, frame, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, stampings, etc., are manufactured complete in our own plants. Parts-makers profits on such items are eliminated and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices."

Chamberlain's Tablets
 For Indigestion and Constipation
 "The nicest and pleasantest medicine I have used for indigestion and constipation is Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Melard F. Craig, Middle Grove, N. Y. They work like a charm and do not gripe or leave any unpleasant effect.—Advt."

CAUGHT ON THE RUN

Private Banks had been the most bashful and retiring little man in the Army. When women visited the camp he had always fled for shelter and stayed there until after they had left. So it came as a surprise when one of his former companions came across him in civilian garb and was introduced to a large, husky girl as Mrs. Banks.

When he was able to get Banks aside, he asked him how he had met his wife. "Well," returned the little man meekly, "it was this way. never did exactly meet her. She just kinder overtook me."

They Appeal to Our Sympathies.

The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. Many such, however, have been completely restored to health by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets strengthen the stomach invigorate the liver and improve the digestion. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. When you have any trouble with your stomach give them a trial.—Advt."

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

Since 1909 the same officers, directors and engineers have been working together on the development of the Ideal Paige. Each year has brought it closer. Now it is achieved. Obviously the Ideal Paige is a car of outstanding performance. Like its predecessor, this Paige will stand America's unchallenged champion in speed, hill-climbing and acceleration. And it has a new degree of endurance—of long life at reduced upkeep.

The Powerful Jewett Six

The standard Jewett touring car is a leader in its line. Built for the $1,000 field to complete the Paige offering, over 25,000 of these cars were sold during the first eight months of their production which commenced last year. The Jewett is still a new model, in the sense that it is ultra-modern in chassis and body design. The Jewett is the most powerful of the smaller sixes.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

Dodge Brothers, with equal aptness, could have named it the Family Sedan.

In the first place, it is big and roomy—a five-passenger car that will really seat five adults in comfort. There is no space wasted on superfluous adornments. Every inch of body and chassis is put to actual use.

There are no delicate cloth furnishings to be soiled by the children. The seats are upholstered in durable and attractive blue Spanish leather.

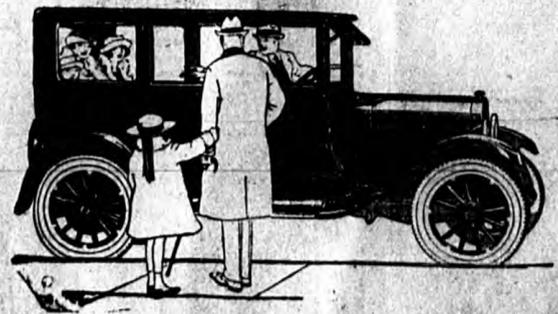

There is no sensitive varnish to be easily scratched or finger-spotted. The body is steel-built—a new principle in Sedan design—making it possible to finish the exterior in Dodge Brothers oven-baked enamel, the most durable finish known.

The rear seat furnishings come out—instantly converting the rear section into a spacious carrying compartment—handy for carrying trunks, boxes and household luggage of all sorts.

Children can romp and play to their hearts' content in this car, and when cleaning time comes, you can turn the hose on it—inside and out.

The price is $1300 delivered

GLARE PROBLEM HAS NOT YET BEEN SOLVED

Public Must Cooperate And Use The Proper Focal Adjustment Says Secretary Auto Club of Md.

By H. M. Lucius
The question of "Why automobile headlights glare?" is asked almost daily of the authorities of various States, and whether or not the law does not give them power to make arrests for such violations. The answer to this question is that it is not the law, but that it is not the cure.

No state in the Union as yet has solved the headlight problem, but efforts are being made constantly, by those studying the situation, to at least improve it. To this end a number of States now have laws, empowering those in authority to make rules and regulations governing the sale and use of headlights which have passed the required specifications of the Illuminating Engineers Society, which is a part of the Federal Government.

The passing of headlight anti-glare devices and their use does not in itself make it possible to comply with the law, but in addition to this there are certain relative positions of the headlight bulb required for each and every device so passed.

The former responsibility is assumed by the authorities, but the latter must be borne by the motoring public and the user; and this is where the greatest difficulty occurs. The manufacturers of headlights have not as yet established a standard device for the proper focusing of a bulb in the hands of the motoring public and therefore it is difficult to convey to it just how to accomplish this, although every approved device sold and equipped on new cars must be accompanied by printed instructions as to the proper focal adjustment required for each respective device.

Until the public itself realizes its responsibility regarding the vast importance of proper focal adjustment of the electric light, the greatest nuisance can be but little improved.

It is my contention that if the various States would provide, through an appropriation of funds, some central station or stations operated by State or city officials, who would be ignorant of the method of properly focusing a bulb in order to accomplish the desired result, could go for instructions, it would be a big step in the right direction.

One thing the authorities are sure of is that non-glaring devices approved by them, if properly installed and used with a proper focal adjustment, candle-power of bulb and tilt, will comply with the law. They also realize, however, that in some instances certain devices are more or less intricate and therefore found not to be practical in use on the road. In such instances these non-glaring devices have been and will be withdrawn from the approved list.

There are now about 10 Eastern States that are cooperating with one another with a view of standardizing rules, regulations and approved devices which will result in uniformity. There is nothing more anxious to motorists in night driving than glaring headlights and nearly every automobile has them. Yet there are, in the writer's opinion, very few accidents that can be directly traceable to this cause.

The lighting engineers of the country realize that headlights could be dimmed to the point of non-glare with out any difficulty whatever and could be made visible for quite a distance ahead, but that this would not be a sufficient light to drive behind. Difficultly therefore, is to provide sufficient and safe driving light and yet eliminate the glare. Some day the headlight problem may be satisfactorily solved, but in the meantime the greatest problem now facing the motoring public itself, in the proper focal adjustment of the bulb, which is nothing more or less than moving the bulb backward or forward in the reflector to the point required by the specifications of the device used. The total distance in which the bulb would have to be moved, to cover any focal adjustment, would not exceed five-sixteenths of an inch.

It is evident therefore, that whole-sale arrests for violations of the headlight law, when the motorist has an approved non-glaring headlight device installed is not the solution.—Baltimore Sun.

PRESIDENT OF GRAY MOTORS TELLS OF CAR

It Is An Economy Auto That Has Seen Wonderful Strides Made In Its Line During Past Year

A year ago we exhibited one car at the New York show. Today thousands of Gray cars are in daily use. That is our record of progress for the year. That is how Frank L. Klingensmith, president of the Gray Motor Corporation, summarizes the achievements which has established the Gray.

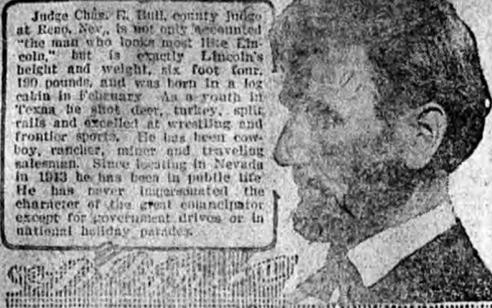

"Other facts of our busy year crowd for notice," the Detroit manufacturer went on. "They indicate the basic soundness of the automobile industry in this country as well as reflecting the confidence of the public in the Gray car."

"We have had to enlarge our factory. We have had to speed production even beyond the schedule the most enthusiastic of my associates thought might be necessary. We have dumped out our line with five models. As fast as we could supply them we have selected distributors and dealers from eager applicants of highest standing in the industry. Today we have 600 sales outlets well distributed over the country."

Complete Cycle For The Texas Company

What is known as "the complete cycle" in the petroleum industry has now been completed throughout the United States by The Texas Company, producers of Texas petroleum products. This complete cycle includes production, refining and marketing facilities, and The Texas Company now has facilities in all three phases from coast to coast, and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes. The Salt Creek fields in Wyoming, which have been developed and expanded by the Texas Company in the Far West, which was the link needed to make the activities of the company country-wide. The production is from the company's wells in the Salt Creek fields in Wyoming, and the refining facilities have been accomplished by the erection of a splendid new refinery at Casper, Wyoming. Along with these production and refining facilities has been the organization of a Western Sales Department, with headquarters at Denver, Colorado, and the establishment of stations and other marketing equipment throughout the new territory.

Fred W. Freeman has been named as General Western Manager and H. W. Dodge has been appointed Western Sales Manager.

WHERE THE GOLD GOES HELPS FIGHT CONSUMPTION

Since the end of the war Europeans have been falling up, not without a great deal of envy and even reproach in their voices, that we have "all the money in the world." This was, of course, merely a manner of speaking, but the fact that huge quantities of gold were being sent to the United States from all parts of the world, seemed to bear out their statement. As a matter of fact, the larger part

STUDEBAKER LEADERSHIP IN 1923

The 1923 series Studebakers, which we are displaying at the Automobile Show, are the finest cars and the greatest values Studebaker has ever offered. And they are 1923 cars, introduced in 1923, with 1923 refinements and betterments. Each is its own guarantee of a continued leadership. Studebaker has gone far beyond current practice to make these cars the motoring feature of the year. They embody every important improvement known to fine car manufacture.

With $32,000,000 of actual net assets, including $41,000,000 of plant facilities and an organization of able, experienced men, Studebaker is enabled to manufacture automobiles at the lowest possible cost and give the greatest intrinsic value for a given price.

The broad principle upon which the Studebaker business has prospered for 17 years and upon which it is now conducted, insures satisfaction to everyone who deals with the House of Studebaker.

DECLARES HIGH DUTY OF CHURCHES TO FIGHT LIQUOR IN ALL LANDS

Bishop Cannon, Native Of Salisbury Declares Followers Of Founder Of Christianity Must Do No Less Than Carry Out Program Which He Began; Scores Lax Enforcement.

(Below is printed an address by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., before the World League Against Alcoholism, Toronto, Canada. Bishop Cannon is a native of Salisbury, his father having been a merchant here for several years of Main Street. The speaker's early education was gained in the public schools of Salisbury and he is a graduate of the old Salisbury High School, (now known as Wicomico High School.)

The great fundamental purpose of the Christian church is the making of disciples of Jesus Christ, and not a theoretical, but an intensely practical aim. It does not end with the public confession of individual belief in the existence of God, or intellectual assent to the premisses of the character and personality of Jesus. "The devils also believe and tremble." The aim of the Christian religion is to bring every thought "into captivity to Christ," so that the teaching and the example of Jesus will dominate the thinking, the air, and the conduct of all life—business, social, domestic and devotional. . . . Jesus and all his apostles preached the beauty, the glory, the effectiveness of the gospel of love and at the same time denounced with unparalleled plainness of speech the antagonism of Jesus and his true followers to all forms of evil and the duty of all genuine Christians to love, and to live a life of sacrificial love.

This statement of principles upon which the Church of Jesus Christ is founded seems to be fundamental to any proper estimate of the NECESSARY attitude of the Christian church toward the prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating liquors. Jesus Christ gave to his disciples a simple but acid test by which they could judge the nature of a tree. "Ye shall know them by their fruits."

Is a law prohibiting the traffic in intoxicating liquors a good law? How shall that be determined? Shall it be condemned as bad because it is violated? Then all of God's laws are bad laws and are to be condemned, for all are violated. And all laws which conflict with the appetites and desires of men will be violated until men migrate to control their appetites and desires for the good of others, that is until selfishness gives place to love.

It is clearly, therefore, the duty and the high privilege of the Christian church to set forth the facts—the awful, horrible, selfish facts—in reference to the liquor traffic and to throw all the weight of its teachings and influence to protect society from those who put the gratification of appetite and covetousness above the common good? The church has no more powerful enemy in every land than this traffic. Whatever may be the attitude of honest citizens, the missionary workers in all lands are a unit in their realization of the opposition of this traffic to the fundamental purposes of all Christianity.

By what method, or methods, should the Church of Christ endeavor to hew down this corrupt tree and cast it into the fire? . . . The church, as an organization, should never attempt to legislate for the nation. There should be no such identification of the organization of the state as to limit the proper spheres of action of either form of organization. But it is equally true that the members of the various Christian denominations are citizens of the nation, and they are, therefore, responsible for social and moral conditions and for laws upon the statute books, so far as those conditions and laws can be affected by their voice and vote.

The teaching of Jesus has been as the leaven hid in the bosom of human society, which has developed slowly, but surely, a great social conscience, which today more and more brushes aside, without hesitation, any claim of any individual in any station in life to perform any action, or to enjoy any privilege, which act or privilege is a menace to the comfort, safety, or life of other members of the community to which he belongs.

And following out this teaching of Jesus of the duty of all men to equalize the happiness and welfare of others, year by year we see fresh curtailment of the rights of the individual and more careful definition of the rights of the society of which the individual is a part.

For the protection of other people on the public highway, the law regulates the speed at which a man can drive his own automobile; in order to protect adjacent property from fire or collapse, the law determines the kind of material and the plans to be used in the construction of a house by an individual on his own land and with his own money, in order to protect the lives of others, the law puts a man in quarantine and under medical inspection who has been exposed to cholera or smallpox, no matter how prominent he may be, and no matter what important interest may be jeopardized by his detention.

representatives in state and national legislative bodies prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes throughout the United States. There must always be an irrepressible conflict between the liquor traffic and the true enlightened Church of Jesus Christ can have no concord with Belial. Prohibition is the axe laid at the root of the corrupt tree by which to hew it down that it may be cast into the fire. How distressing it is to hear men who call themselves Christians defending the liquor traffic, opposing the prohibition of it and refusing to sacrifice for the good of the weak and sorely tempted a mere sensual indulgence. . . .

Some of these who are called Christians: "The Prohibition law is violated, is the cause of lawlessness and therefore is a bad law." How utterly illegal, even absurd, such statements are! All laws, divine as well as human, are the expressions of the will of the governing power. More or less all laws are restrictions upon human activities. The Ten Commandments are simply expressions of the will of God concerning the relation of men to God and to fellowmen. Are these laws—the Ten Commandments—a good law? Will he who hears it denounce them? Who calls for their repeal? Are they violated? Why multitudes violate them secretly and openly every day! One might almost say men flaunt themselves in the face of God.

Is a law prohibiting the traffic in intoxicating liquors a good law? How shall that be determined? Shall it be condemned as bad because it is violated? Then all of God's laws are bad laws and are to be condemned, for all are violated. And all laws which conflict with the appetites and desires of men will be violated until men migrate to control their appetites and desires for the good of others, that is until selfishness gives place to love.

It is clearly, therefore, the duty and the high privilege of the Christian church to set forth the facts—the awful, horrible, selfish facts—in reference to the liquor traffic and to throw all the weight of its teachings and influence to protect society from those who put the gratification of appetite and covetousness above the common good?

Ohio Cook Spoiled to Make Great Singer

When Cyrena Van Gordon, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company was a little girl at Camden, O., and the great Campanini told her she would be the greatest contralto in the world, a fine cook was spoiled. Later she got her musical education at Cincinnati. Even yet, however, her idea of a gala occasion is to invade the kitchen to cook "veal au saumon"—a dish taught her by her grandmother. This is the recipe: "Take one pound of veal and one pound of ham, cutting into small cubes. Simmer until tender. No seasoning is necessary. Thicken the gravy, place in a baking dish and add two thin slices boiled potatoes. Cover with this rich biscuit dough and bake 20 minutes."

tion missionary effort, and in their support of measures to control and, finally, prohibit its destructive work. There is still today in many lands sections of the Christian church not only do not come up to the help of the Lord against the mighty, but which give a certain amount of aid and comfort to the enemy. It is absolutely necessary that the educative process be carried on among such churches until no really honest, candid follower of Jesus can doubt or fail to assert that the liquor traffic must be classed as among those works of the devil which the Master came to destroy, that it is a corrupt tree which should be hewn down and cast into the fire.

Wherever the Christian church openly, unitedly, earnestly, persistently, demands and works for the abolition of the traffic in intoxicants, victory will inevitably follow. It may not come today or tomorrow, but it will come, and in that day his church shall shine forth clear as the sun, as fair as the moon, and terrible as an army with banners.—American Issue.

By what method, or methods, should the Church of Christ endeavor to hew down this corrupt tree and cast it into the fire? . . . ## DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration—strength and courage.

The church keeps the eyes of the spirit open to the things which life offers and becomes a source for the courage required to meet the demands of every day life.

Sunday is the day the church delivers its oral message to the man who hears it and applies it throughout the week.

Sunday is the church's day. Respect it. Go to church and renew your spiritual vision—take the vision into your work and note how it helps.

(We some times take a peep in the outside world. I believe we were the only faculty in the county that attended the State Teachers' Association in a body, but if such affairs are so unattractively managed as to call down upon us a shower of criticism, to lose the respect, the confidence and the cooperation of the public, the parents and consequently the pupils, the effect will be far more demoralizing than the old toilets as they exist. . . . ## COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Day

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and rundown and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to eat better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it."

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of these symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

SENATOR REED FLAYS PRO-GERMAN OUTBURSTS IN THE U. S. CONGRESS

Pennsylvania Senator Makes Plea For U. S. To Mind Its Own Business—Says We Need Not Show Pro-French Sympathy But Above All Don't Sympathize With The Murderer

The stringent rebuke of pro-Germanism delivered in the Senate by David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, in effect a reply to all those members of Congress who have been denouncing the French, and at the same time uttering sentiments calculated to please the Germans. Senator Reed said, in part:

"For many days in the chamber we have heard expressions of sympathy with one side or the other in the present European crisis. We have heard perhaps more expressions of sympathy with the German than with the French. I think these questions ought to be looked at from the standpoint of the American, not the pro-French, not the pro-German, but the pro-American, and I believe there is a distinct pro-American policy which should be followed, not only in the debate here, but in the actions of our administration.

"There is a tendency among a certain group of people to take pains to show pity for the criminal who has met justice. We find people in America who are inclined to send flowers to murderers and to forget the victim and the crime which brought that murderer to his present pass. They complain of the rudeness of the warden of the imprisoned convict, and they never think of the victim of that convict's crime.

"That is what we are in danger of doing now in our discussion of this crisis on the Ruhr? We are forgetting what it was that brought Germany to her present pass. We are forgetting why the French have found it necessary to invade that district. We are forgetting what those Germans have done to bring themselves into the predicament in which they find themselves today.

"Why the sudden outburst of sympathy for one of these two nations? Why was it that in 1914 we did not break out with a similar outburst in favor of the Belgians? Hear you know, the country was invaded with fire and with sword, and not merely the threat of it. Their country was invaded in a direct violation of a treaty to which this country was a party, and yet we did not raise our voices to sympathize with the Belgians, who were invaded.

"Northern France was devastated, its churches, its homes, its fields, and its orchards laid waste, but somehow our sympathy did not break into voice the way it has in recent days. All the laws of nations were defied when those people lost their lives and their property, and we sat quiet. We did not break into voice as we are doing now at an invasion that is not attended by murder and disregard of international law.

"The women and children at Lille were deported by the invaders and sent off in practical slavery to work in German factories, and somehow the Senate remembered then that it was American and it managed to control its expressions of sympathy.

"When our German friends, with whom we were at peace, saw all to torpedo the Lusitania and hundreds of Americans had their shrieks of agony stifled with the gurgle of death as they sank into the Atlantic ocean, somehow we managed to stay neutral and why in God's name can we not stay neutral today when retribution is coming to those murderers of Belgians and French and Americans?

"What is it that drags us to the front now to protest because Germany has to pay what she has promised to pay? Why should we suddenly grow maudlin in sympathy because the murderer is called upon to expiate his crime?

"There is talk about the unborn children of Germany having to pay these reparations. There is not a man or woman or child who hears my voice at this minute who will not be dead long before the American people have ceased to pay what they have to pay as the result of German violation of international law. Do we forget that when we get maudlin in sympathizing with German taxpayers?

"I am not speaking my own sentiments, my own private views alone. I think I am speaking as the men who fought in France would speak if they were here in the chamber; I think I am speaking as the men who died in France would speak if they could. I tell you, Mr. President, we are forgetting our own dead, when we begin to waste sympathy because France has levied execution for this reparations debt.

"There was a default, clearly there was a default, in the reparations payable by Germany; clearly there is no intention on the part of the Germans to pay these reparations. The bully who swaggered in 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917 now whines when he is beaten. Are we going to allow ourselves to be deceived by that?

"What talk do we hear of unborn generations of French when in 1916 and 1917 the Germans thought they were going to win and their experts were busy calculating what was the utmost in France they could make France pay, and what was the utmost pound that they could make Great Britain pay, and what was the last dollar that they could squeeze out of this great nation of ours which they so mightily envied?

"Did any of the Germans stop to think about the unborn generations of American children whom they then proposed to tax? If they did, their voices did not reach our ears. There was no sympathy shown them for what they proposed to do to us.

"We have forgotten how to mind our own business. But in that, if we can revive that art, lies the true American policy. This is not our concern. We said we did not want reparations; therefore, we are not a creditor. We need not show a pro-French sympathy if we have not for any reason, but, for God's sake, let us not sympathize with the murderer. Let us stand off and let France collect her debt if she can."—Phila. North American.

DOLLAR DAY IN SALISBURY NEXT MONDAY

Clothing Merchants Preparing Counters For Rush Of Bargain-Seekers.

ECONOMY IDEA PROMOTED BY THE NEWS WELCOMED

People In This Section Expect To Use The Mighty Dollar To Advantage In Purchasing Miscellaneous Articles—Merchants Anxious To Clear Out Winter Stocks.

Sponsored by the News, Dollar Day bargains will be introduced to the buying public of Salisbury and vicinity on next Monday, February 19th. The co-operation of the merchants of this city was secured for this event and practically all of the clothing houses on Main Street will line their counters on that day with miscellaneous articles that can be bought for the price of "one dollar."

Crowded stores predict a commercial activity in the purchasing activities of any populace prove an excellent criterion of the status of the day's business in a community. Since the first of the year, many of the merchants have been complaining of the dullness of things and it was generally acknowledged that the people are unusually quiet and inactive in patronizing the stores.

As a result, the customary January and February Clearance Sales failed to produce a rush and consequently the merchants found themselves with a mass of winter stock still on hand while room must be made for the incoming lots for Spring. The Dollar Day idea was immediately seized upon as a possible solution for the crowding of store shelves and counters with numerous small articles of wearing apparel.

Dollar Day in Salisbury is no new event and people are said to be very favorable to its inception. For the bargain counters on that day are generally unusually attractive both to the eye and the pocketbook and many a good-looking piece of goods is bought with the mere sum of a single greenback.

This year with the economical conditions of this section rather poor, both men and women have not been prone to extensive buying. And yet, it is expected that when the morning of the Dollar Day comes, the people will gather at the respective stores, eager to take advantage of the extraordinary bargains offered. The following stores have announced that they will provide special dollar day prices for their customers: The People's Store, American Style Shop, Babenston & Co., J. E. Shockey & Co., R. E. Powell & Co., Benjamins', Neck Bros., and Kennerly & Mitchell's.

GOVERNOR RITCHIE ADDRESSES MEMBERS OF CITY AND COUNTY PRESS ON STATE AFFAIRS

At Annapolis Conference Saturday He Reviews Accomplishments Of Present Administration And Outlines Projects In View. Discusses Gas Tax Increase, Co-Operative Marketing.

Governor Ritchie reviewed the accomplishments of his administration at Annapolis and also outlined the work yet to be consummated in his address before the newspaper men of the State at the Executive Mansion Saturday afternoon. More than sixty members of the county and city press were present for the conference and the luncheon which followed.

The Governor stated at the outset that his purpose in calling this meeting was to acquaint the press of Maryland with the number of changes in the State Government that had been made and also to urge their co-operation in its numerous affairs that are going to receive the attention of the next legislature.

In his speech, the Governor said that he would advocate at the next legislature an increase in the gasoline tax from 2 cents to 3 1/2 cents per gallon so as to enable the State to charge no license tax at all. He added that not only is such a tax equitable and fair, but the State's method of collecting it from the wholesaler works admirably and in the majority of cases the motorist does not even know that he is paying a tax.

In discussing the farming situation in Maryland, Governor Ritchie said that this question must be studied in the light of conditions which actually exist here, for many of the difficulties which confront the farmer in other States do not confront him in Maryland at all. He pointed out that in some of the mid-Western States the average farmer's capital investment is as much as $40,000. In Maryland, he said it is somewhat less than $10,000. Accordingly our farmers can earn the interest on their investment and begin to count their profits much quicker than the western farmers.

Co-operative marketing, worked out to a satisfactory degree, is the State's present problem, Governor Ritchie said. But it is the farmer's first duty to organize as there can be no working partnership between the farmers and the official agencies of the State unless the former organize and develop a State-wide unity of thought and counsel.

The Governor opened his remarks on Saturday afternoon with words of praise for both the Baltimore press and the county press, the combined circulation of the county papers, he gave, as being 150,000. He then took up a brief review of the State Reorganization Act and the Fewer Elections Amendment. ## HEART ATTACK FATAL TO ALEX G. MALONE Passes Away At His Home In Nutters District Monday—Prominent Farmer And Mill Man.

Wicomico county was shocked on Monday morning last when the news was circulated around that Alex Guseen Malone, one of its best known and most successful farmers had died very suddenly about 7 o'clock of heart trouble, at his home in Nutters District about four miles from Salisbury.

Mr. Malone had suffered periodically from rheumatism and during the past two months had been seized at times with what was believed to have been heart attacks. When taken sick Monday morning, he was on the road about one-quarter mile from home in a buggy with one of his family. He had started to the station to go to Philadelphia to a specialist for examination and was to have been accompanied by his physician Dr. George W. Todd. When he was taken ill he was rushed back home and medical

NATIONALLY KNOWN FIRM COMES HERE

Branch Of National Biscuit Company Will Be Located On Mill Street.

LEASES PART PROPERTY SALISBURY COAL CO.

Will Probably Employ 15 Or More Persons In Business Which Will Be To Distribute Products By Truck And Train To Delmarvia Peninsula.

The National Biscuit Company, world renowned manufacturers of cakes, crackers as well as other eatables, whose home offices are in New York City, will establish a large distribution warehouse here for the supplying of their customers on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, the lower part of Virginia and the Eastern Shore.

The company has leased a part of the Salisbury Coal Company's property on Mill street and will occupy same on March 1st. For some time this property, which was formerly owned by E. G. Evans Company, has been undergoing alterations both exterior and interior for the purpose to which it is to be put. Up-to-date offices have been constructed and everything is expected to be in readiness for occupation on the above mentioned date.

This property is highly desirable for business purposes, being located on the Wicomico River with wharfage sufficient for taking care of any river trade and a sidetrack running right through the warehouse to adequately take care of freight shipments.

Two or three high priced men will have supervision of the business here and the firm will probably employ 15 people in addition. Trucks to convey these products, which will be shipped in carload lots direct from the factory to Salisbury, will go out in all directions over the improved roads and goods will be shipped to Salisbury in carload lots, stored and reshipped to other points in less than carload lots, instead of from Baltimore, Philadelphia or other cities thus greatly reducing freight rates.

This is one of the things upon which the Chamber of Commerce is now actively engaged, viz., the showing to outsiders of Salisbury's location as a central distributing point for this territory, a point which the National Biscuit Company seems to have recognized.

OSCAR L. MORRIS

to his employers and he was not long until he became a member of the firm.

When the business was incorporated a few years ago under the name of William B. Tilghman Company, Mr. Morris was elected secretary and treasurer, a position he still fills. He is also actively identified with civic activities, being a member of the Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce which he now heads. He is also Mason, Shiner, Knights of Pythias, Moose, Red Man and the Luthar Burbank Society. Mr. Morris is a Democrat but has never held public office. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the News Publishing Company. He is a member of the Methodist Protestant Church and very active in all phases of religious work.

Frederick Paul Adkins, who has served as president of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce for the past three years—or since its beginning, and who declined to be a candidate to succeed himself at the annual election of officers last Thursday night, is an someone fondly spoken of him as he was about to vacate the president's chair, "not only one of the outstanding personages of this community, but of the entire Peninsula as well."

Notwithstanding his many and varied business interests in this community, Mr. Adkins gave unstintingly and unselfishly of his time and money to the Chamber and hence to the community. He was a prime mover in the accomplishments of the organization and the results of his endeavors have been reflected in the accomplishments of the body.

The rising vote of thanks for his services and the many expressions of regret at his stepping down are an attestation to the ideals and ideas of the man himself and truly expressed the feeling of those present "Well Done Thou Good and Faithful Servant."

Mr. Adkins' retirement does not mean that he will cease his endeavors to aid in the upbuilding of the community. It is understood that he has other visions, those of the upbuilding of the entire Delmarvia Peninsula and the linking into one great organization its interests for the common welfare of all its citizens. The farming interests must be developed to their highest degree of efficiency if the section is to prosper and grow as it should, and to this phase of the work Mr. Adkins will devote much time.

Oscar Lafayette Morris, who takes the helm of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce to guide the destinies of that organization through the coming twelve months is a conspicuous example of what a boy reared in the rural sections of Wicomico County can make of himself, in honor, sobriety and indomitable pluck.

Mr. Morris was born December 26, 1879 on a farm located in Nutters District. His father was the late John L. Morris. Attending the rural schools and passing the various grades taught in the schools, young Morris went to Baltimore and entered Bryant & Stratton Business College, completing a general course.

Soon after returning home he was married, and accepted a position in the business of the firm of Wm. B. Tilghman & Co., manufacturers, of commercial fertilizers and dealers in Florida shingles. By close applica-

Educational Board Asks That Another Place Of Worship Other Than Freney's School Be Found

Acting upon the recommendation of the trustees and a majority of the people of that community, the Board of Education has ordered the discontinuance of the use of Freney's School situated on the Delmar Road, as a Sunday School room and prayer meeting place.

The action was brought about by the fact that the meetings are said to have interfered with the day school work and caused other inconveniences. The place has been used for this purpose for the past three or four years, the permission having been granted at the request of a delegation of people from that section.

THRILLING 4-4 FIRE CALL SOUNDED THRICE

That Many Blazes In Commercial Section In Day Keep Citizens On Edge Friday Last

Three fires in the commercial section of Salisbury on Friday last kept citizens of Salisbury pretty much on uneasy street. The 4-4 alarm—most thrilling of alarms—rang due to the fact that it proclaimed a fire in the business district was rung twice during the evening in addition to the call which came from Adkins' Mill Shed, Mill Street in the morning.

The first call came from the French Style Shop, Joseph Tibbitt, proprietor, 125 Lower Main Street, 7:15 p. m. and was caused by the igniting of an object placed over the register carelessly by someone. The damage was very slight. The other call followed the catching on fire of a Ford Sedan in front of the 5 and 10 cent store. This blaze was also quickly extinguished.

The day's work sets up a record for 1923 and ties that of 1922 when on two different days, three calls were answered within 24 hours.

When the steamer Emerson C. Harrington was making her regular trip from Annapolis to Claiborne on Friday night last, a fire was discovered in the bunkroom of the crew quarters and began to count their profits much quicker than the western farmers.

Miss Matthews and Mr. Hammarloough rendered a duet which was very well received.

POSTOFFICE HERE SETS A NEW RECORD

Volume Of Business Done Last Month Largest In Its History

GROSS STAMP SALES PLACED AT $6634.80

No Plausible Reason Is Evident Other Than Same Condition Seems Prevalent All Over Country—Turning Loose Of Bills And "Dunn" One Cause Of January Increase

More business was done at the Salisbury postoffice during the month of January just passed than during any other month in the history of the Salisbury postoffice. It is announced by Postmaster R. H. Phillips.

The gross receipts from the sale of stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, etc., upon which the amount of business actually done is computed reached the new high water mark of $6,634.80 for the month of January 1923, according to the report turned in to the government.

Most people have the idea that December is the banner month of the year in point of business done because of the fact that the Christmas rush is added to the regular routine business. This is decidedly not the case as the figures above will show. $7,171.18 more than the sales in December.

Compared with January 1922 an increase of nearly $1,000 is noted, the figures in the corresponding month last year being $5,634.60. The annual volume of business at the Salisbury office for 1922 was $61,900 or an average per month of something like $5,000.

Assistant Postmaster, H. Winter Owens, a veteran in the service here, when asked by a reporter of the News as to how he accounted for the unprecedented volume of business last month replied that he could not explain it any more than that it seemed to be a condition which is prevalent in various parts of the country, many postoffices reporting a similar happening.

"Each January," however, said the official, "sales pick up slightly due to the fact, in the main, to the fact that the month which is a dull one from a business standpoint is utilized by the merchants and business people in going over their accounts and sending out bills and dunning letters."

As noticed by the rural carriers during the recent snow although service on some of the routes had to be curtailed on account of the roads. The lighting system of the postoffice is being overhauled at the present time.

Two of the applicants were from Detroit, two from Boston and a like number from New York City.

Menacing Fire In Lumber Shed Friday

Bucket Brigade Plays Prominent Part In Keeping Down Blaze On E. S. Adkins' Property, Mill St.

Fire of threatening proportions was discovered about 10:30 o'clock last Friday morning in a pile of lumber under the sheds of the E. S. Adkins Company, Mill Street, by boys from the Salisbury Grammar School who were playing in that section. An alarm was sent in from the factory of the Harry A. Wilson Company and the employees of that concern formed a bucket brigade, with the neighbors and others, keeping the flames down until the arrival of the fireman who extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The loss was small and the origin of the fire unknown.

RUNAWAY WIFE LEAVES BEHIND A COLD TRAIL

Husband And Authorities Have Been Unable To Locate Whereabouts Of Mrs. Paoloni And Sister

No word has been heard from Mrs. Tony Paoloni since she ran away from her husband and home last Saturday night and in company with her sister, Dorothy, boarded a train supposedly for New York. Although she left a note for her husband on the table saying that she would write him not a line has been received.

The local authorities have been unable to secure any trace of the young wife, the only clue being that two girls answering the description sent off of the two sisters had bought tickets at Dumas for New York. The younger one came down from that city; it is thought with the express purpose of persuading Mrs. Paoloni to return with her. Indications seem to point to this accomplishment and Mr. Paoloni is of the opinion that his wife was lured on by the bright lights of Broadway. Their two young children are being cared for by the grandparents.

Mrs. M. ### TWO SOCIAL EVENTS HOLD INTEREST HERE

Two social functions last evening occupied the attention of a number of Salisbury people, as well as others from various points on the Peninsula. They were: the Shriner's Banquet which was held in the E. M. C. A. and the Fireman's Dance in the Fire Regiment Armory. Both of which were well attended.

BASKETBALL FRIDAY

Wicomico High School will meet Crisfield High School at basketball in the Armory floor Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The local team won its first start two weeks ago and is planning to use its strongest lineup against the Somerset contingent.

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN PARALYZED SUNDAY

Entire Right Side Of R. Frank Williams Affected By Stroke—Condition Said To Be Serious.

Mr. R. Frank Williams was stricken with paralysis at his home on Camden avenue about ten o'clock last Sunday morning. Mr. Williams was in a room by himself in reading a newspaper when his wife, and a nurse who was in the house at the time, heard strange noises proceeding from the room where Mr. Williams was and rushing in found him in an unconscious condition.

Dr. Dick Tall and Pichard were immediately summoned and everything done to revive the patient but up until the time of going to press he was still unconscious. His entire right side is affected. Mr. Williams is Income Tax Agent for this territory with headquarters in Baltimore City. Up until Sunday he apparently was enjoying excellent health.

Mr. Williams is well known in this community, having been a prominent real estate broker here prior to his accepting the government position.

TRANSIT LINE HAS STARTED TO OPERATE

Buses Now Making Trips Daily Between Here And Claiborne.

WILL CONNECT WITH THE ANNAPOLIS FERRY

Line Is Forerunner Of Others Planned To Be Placed In Operation Very Soon By Shore Transit People—Will Stop Anywhere Upon Signal To Take On Passengers.

The Shore Transit Line is now in operation. On Wednesday the palatial buses of this motor transportation company started plying between this city and Claiborne. In an interview with General Manager R. T. Perry on Tuesday, that official stated that Saturday, Sunday and Monday had been spent in test trips in order to work out in detail the schedule.

One started running on the line Wednesday and trips will be made in each direction twice a day shortly connecting at Claiborne with the Annapolis Ferry. Stops will be made upon signals at any point on the stage road between Salisbury and Claiborne.

This is the first unit of the network of motor transportation lines which this company figures on operating on the Eastern Shore. Its work on this route is being established which is expected will take about two weeks. Manager Bonham will return to Baltimore and bring down two additional buses to be put on a route between Easton and Chestertown.

The next route to be gotten underway after this one is in running stage will be the Harlock-Rock Fall line. All of these routes, it is proposed, will be fed into the other so as to connect up the shore with a network of bus lines.

The schedule which started Wednesday calls for a bus leaving the Courthouse at 8:50 A. M. and the Peninsula at 7 A. M. arriving at Claiborne 9:40 A. M. In the afternoon the bus leaves Claiborne at 3:50 P. M. upon arrival of the Annapolis boat and arrives here at 9:30 P. M. This service is to be operated daily except Sunday.

Another bus will be put on schedule on this route within a few days.

Mr. T. Byrd Lanford, who has been seriously ill, is reported improving rapidly.

ASPHALT MIXING PLANT TO BE BUILT BY CITY DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF COUNCIL

Such A Thing, It Is Held, Would Be Great Saving And Insure City Of Better Highways—Run Down Condition Of City Streets Discussed At Length.

Much criticism has been heard recently concerning the dilapidated and run down condition of Salisbury's streets and the council seems to be well grounded as a number of the hard surfaced streets are in a mighty poor condition. However, Mayor Kennedy and the City Council are well aware of this fact and the question of resurfacing the bituminous thoroughfares was discussed at length at the regular meeting of the Council Monday night and indications are that these defects will be remedied in a comparatively short time.

City Engineer Dryden was instructed to recommend the type of repaving most suitable and he is at present studying the situation carefully in order to give to the city the best and most serviceable coating for its hard surfaced streets.

The question of the town building an asphalt mixing plant is being seriously considered. A plant of this character can be constructed, it is said for a few thousand dollars and pay for itself in the course of a year or so in the saving of expense. The plan as it appears on its face looks like one which will save the city money and at the same time insure better and safer thoroughfares.

NEW TAXI COMPANY STARTED THIS WEEK

The Yellow Taxi Company, a new concern, started business on Monday of this week. The firm is composed of Messrs. Earl Hastings, William Winsor and Sewell Dove, the first named gentleman having been associated with the City Taxi Company. The concern will consist of a number of which are of the yellow color. The plan is to operate at the corner of North Division and Broad Streets, and good service is expected or night.

CEDARHURST IS LEASED TO H. L. VAN HORN

Former Homestead Manager Will Move On 300 Acre Dorman Tract.

WILL FOLLOW DAIRYING AS WELL AS AGRICULTURE

Rest Rooms, Refreshment Stands, and Filling Station Will Bid For Trade Of Summer Tourists—Retail Milk Route To Be Established Here—To Occupy March 1st.

Cedarhurst Farm, on the Spring Hill Road, about 2 1/2 miles from this city and owned by Levin W. Dorman, was this week leased to Harry Lee Van Horn for a period of three years. This property, which has been in the hands of the Dorman family for the past 110 years, or since 1813, is considered one of the finest and most beautiful farms on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

The tract of land contains 300 acres and the home place has been used as a summer home by the Dorman family for the past several years. Located as it is on the main artery of travel from Baltimore and Washington to Ocean City, as well as to points south of Salisbury, the place should prove admirable for the purpose for which Mr. Van Horn intends using it.

In an interview with a representative of the News on Tuesday, he stated that the plans were to further beautify the property and to stock the farm with carefully selected Guernsey Cows and to install a milk truck and ice cream stand together with a roadside rest-room, gas and oil filling station and other features allowing to the motorist which include the natural scenery and effect of a grove lawn of about 1/4 acre well set with and maple trees providing an abundance of shade. Mr. Van Horn also contemplates putting on a retail milk route in the city about April 1st.

Mr. Van Horn needs no introduction here as for the past seven years he has been general manager of the 600 acre Homestead Dairy Farm owned by Senator William P. Jackson, and was the main factor in building it up to its present state of efficiency.

He is an expert on dairying and prior to coming to Salisbury for 14 years managed the well-known Westchester around West Chester, Pa., including the well-known Highland Farm. It is understood that he will also devote some of his time to pushing the agricultural features of his new acquisition. Mr. Van Horn will occupy the property on Sunday, February 19, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Dorman's fine lot of stock will be disposed of at public auction February 22, at 10 A. M., a notice of which sale is to be found in another part of the paper. It includes about 50 head of cattle, mostly milk of the Holstein and Guernsey variety, 5 horses, 2 mules. Quite an amount of farming implements, etc., will also be sold.

NEW SCHEDULE

The winter schedule of the Wicomico River Boat Line of the E. C. & A. Railway Co. shows two boats a week arriving and departing from this port.

Steamers arrive at 10:45 a. m. on Thursday and 8:00 a. m. Saturday. Leave Salisbury, 12:00 noon, Friday and 10:00 a. m. Monday. Schedule effective February 5, 1923.

ICE AND SNOW REMOVED

Main Street was cleared of ice and snow on Saturday morning by the use of fire hose. A force of men, under supervision of Bounds had the thoroughfare looking spick and span for the arrival of the usual Saturday afternoon crowd.

DIVISION AND MAIN STREETS HOTEL SITE

Option Secured By Incorporators On Peoples Bank And Wallis Property.

CAPITAL STOCK TO BE ISSUED $200,000

President Citizens Are Named As Incorporators—Temporary Board Of Directors Will Pass Upon Plans Of Architects—Financial Campaign Seen To Be Gotten Started

An option has been secured upon one of the best sites in the business section of the city for a temporary modern fire-proof hotel here and a list of incorporators, comprising 28 prominent citizens, has been secured. Architects will arrive here within the next few days to discuss plans of structure and other details.

The site secured includes the property of the Peoples National Bank and the entire front between the Humphreys Building and the old Trader property now owned by the Ebenezer L. Wallis heirs. The property has a frontage on North Division Street of 15 feet and 10 feet on East Main Street.

Attorney Hooper S. Miles is preparing incorporation papers for the Wicomico Hotel Company with a capital of $200,000, all common stock with a par value of $100.

Pending the first meeting of the stockholders a temporary Board of Directors has been selected which is composed of the incorporators, which body will transact the preliminary business of the corporation. The incorporators and directors are Fred S. Miles, Chairman, Hooper S. Miles, Secretary, John W. Downing, Ralph H. Grier, Charles R. Disharoon, Wm. S. Gorry, Jr., Wm. P. Ward, F. Leonard Wallis, Wm. B. Tilghman, Samuel A. Graham, Henry W. Ruark, Walter J. Powell, Marvin C. Evans, Wm. M. Cooper, Christian O. Culver, Walter S. Shaw, Ernest C. Turner, Samuel S. Feldman, Henry H. Hanna, Henry S. Todd, Jesse D. Price, W. Lee Allen, Guy M. Fisher, Herman W. Carty, Wm. H. Jackson, John D. Williams.

The first three named composed the executive committee. The Board of Directors is composed of the following: Hooper S. Miles, Chairman, John W. Downing, Secretary, and the following: Fred S. Miles, Samuel S. Feldman, Henry H. Hanna, Henry S. Todd, Jesse D. Price, W. Lee Allen, Guy M. Fisher, Herman W. Carty, Wm. H. Jackson, John D. Williams.

A tentative commitment has been made with the B. K. Gibson Company, architects, of Chicago, Ill., who will submit plans for the structure and accept bids after the plans have been approved by the Board of Directors. Mr. Gibson of the firm, will be in Salisbury within the next ten days, along with Harvey J. Hill, of the Hotel Finance Corporation, of New York City, who will be in charge of publicity during the financing campaign.

Members of the local building trades will be given an opportunity to bid on the structure, for after architectural plans are approved bids for sub-contracts will be sought. An architect of the Chicago firm will be located in Salisbury during the process of construction to check progress of the building and will make periodical reports to the directors.

The plans are expected to be for a modern, fire proof hotel of about seventy-five rooms and ample provisions made for public and private dining rooms, a combination assembly and banquet rooms, coffee room, lobby, lounge and writing room facilities. Suitable provision will be made for the erecting of additions in the future. The first commercial revenue producing features such as dining rooms, cigar and news stand will be incorporated in the plan.

LIQUOR CASE AGAINST DELMAR MAN DISMISSED

Charles Mitchell, Jr., Is Dismissed After State Is Said To Have Failed In Proving Case

In the Court of General Sessions at Georgetown, Delaware last week in the case of the State vs. Charles Mitchell, Jr., of Delmar, arrested about September 22, last year, by Federal prohibition agents, charged with having liquor in his possession, the court, after hearing the State's side and upon motion of Daniel J. Layton and James M. Tunnell, counsel for the defendant, gave the jury binding instructions to return a verdict of not guilty. The missing link in the chain of circumstances which the State tried to prove to fasten the crime upon Mitchell was when the prohibition officials obtained an alleged sample of the intoxicant and carried it to the office of Justice of the Peace Patrick H. Hearst, at Delmar, and let it remain there during the night, and delivering it the next day to Deputy Attorney General Robert G. Houston of Georgetown. The defense Justice of the Peace Hearst was not present to testify as to whether or not the alleged sample carried to his office was the same as produced in the court, but it could not be admitted in evidence and therefore the case fell.

Heart Attack Fatal To Alex G. Malone

ed summoned but he died shortly after reaching the house. Right up to the time he was taken ill Monday, Mr. Malone was apparently in good health most of the time and on Saturday was in town and transacted his business as usual, stating that he was feeling fine. Deceased was 64 years of age and had been a lifelong resident of Wicomico county where he has very large family connections.

He was a man of outstanding personality. Strong, rugged, and healthy with always a word of good cheer for everyone, his handsome figure will be missed in this community where he counted his friends by the hundreds. Always ready to lend a helping hand to anyone in distress or trouble he will be sorely missed in the community where he lived and which he loved. He was strictly a family man and was devoted to his home. Honest, jovial and good humored he won the favor of everyone with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Malone was a man of considerable means and, it is said, his estate will probably amount to upward of $50,000. In addition to being a prosperous farmer, he was also in the lumber business practically all his life, having started in at an early age. He was the father of his first wife, Mr. Sturgis. Deceased owned considerable land in both this county and Worcester. Besides his homestead he owned two other farms in that neighborhood.

A hobby of Mr. Malone was seeing good roads in the county and he was one of the leading spirits in pushing the Salisbury-Snow Hill road project, first as a shell proposition and then concrete and it is said that he has done many a day's work on county roads gratis. Many millions of feet of lumber has been cut here by his teams from the forests of Wicomico and Worcester counties to the firms of yesterday which included: Humphrey Humphreys, Humphreys & Tilghman, John D. Williams, L. E. Williams & Co., E. C. Jackson Co. and Jackson Brothers Co. Mr. Malone was considered an expert on the amount of timber in a tract and its value and the members of the two last named firms had explicit faith in his judgment, relying practically solely on his judgment of lumber purchased on the Eastern Shore. At the time of his death he owned a saw mill which was located in the Union neighborhood.

He was an ardent follower of the hounds. This was probably inherited from his father whom it is said, together with the late J. Bayard Perdue, the late James L. Bedsworth and the late David J. Fryer, owned a kennel of about a dozen fox hounds which were far-famed for their strain, especially in this, Worcester, Somset and Dorchester counties.

An ardent exponent of the Democratic party, Mr. Malone never was a political leader although he was always an interested citizen. He never held office.

His father was the late Alexander P. Malone and his mother the late Elizabeth Carey Malone, of Fruitland. He was twice married, his first wife being before her marriage Miss Mary Sturgis and his second, Miss Lizzie B. Hammond, to whom he was united 34 years ago yesterday, February 14, 1889.

By the first union there were four children, two of whom survive him. They are: Hartwell M. and Mrs. Herbert Chatham, both living near Salisbury. The deceased ones were: Joshua Malone and Mrs. Walter Duff. By his second wife, who survives him, he had six children, all of whom, with the exception of one who died in infancy, survive. They are: Roger, Avery F., Elwood, Alex Jr. and Frances, who is a student at State Normal School, Lutherville. One brother, Edwin Malone, Newton street, also survives.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon (Wednesday), at 2 o'clock from his late home, the Rev. R. L. Shipley, pastor of Bethesda M. P. church of which he was a member, officiating. Interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

Gov. Ritchie Addresses City And County Press

ed before, have been reduced to nineteen, thus promoting system, economy and efficiency and creating a well-ordered, well-balanced governmental structure. However, he said, the ultimate success of the plan depends, of course, upon the men who administer it and in this instance the responsibility of the Governor is great.

The Governor stated that several hundred thousand dollars in election expenses would be saved by reason of the Fewer Elections Amendment, providing as it does, that beginning with November, 1926, all State and County elective officers, except judges, shall be elected by the people for four-year terms, and that elections thereafter shall be held every fourth year, the elections thus always falling in Congressional election years, but never in a Presidential election year.

It was brought out in this speech also, that the present State administration is most solicitous in the improvement and development of the public school facilities of the State. Inasmuch as the State expects its boys and girls to grow up to make the highest type of citizenship, it should stand ready to educate them fully in the obligations of good citizenship, it was pointed out by the speaker. The Governor stated in this connection that the four outstanding things on the present school program are: (1) higher salaries for teachers, (2) more aid to high schools, (3) better teacher training, both in the Normal Schools and at universities and (4) the Equalization Fund. Under the latter's provisions any county too poor to carry its part of the State program with a higher form of education in the State and asserted that at the next legislature, a definite policy for the University of Maryland would have to be determined. He also made a plea for those old colleges, St. John's and Washington, which are rich in tradition and yet are standing still because the necessary state-aid has not been forthcoming.

Other subjects treated on in the course of the Executive's address were those of: Roads, health, the insane, delinquent boys and girls, prisons, workman's compensation, the merit system, Southern Maryland, National Guard, judiciary, minors, tax revision, aviation and the tax rate. Governor Ritchie delivered a very practical and clear-cut address on all of these items and urged the press representatives to take up from time to time the various problems.

NO MORE FEAR.—Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day; nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.—Psalm 91:5-6.

SALISBURY'S TOMORROW.

Need there be a prophet among us to foretell Salisbury's status on the Delmarva Peninsula two decades hence, if her development and progress during the past ten years be taken as an omen of future accomplishments. Remarkable indeed, has been this city's expansion in the early part of the 20th century and it is interesting to note that the march forward has been conducted not along any one line, but civic, commercial and industrial interests alike have kept time to the baton of improvement.

Within the last few days, two more examples of Salisbury's advancement have emerged to the point of crystallization. One reflects more the civic phase of development while the other is distinctly a commercial addition. In the latter instance, Salisbury's self-acclaimed position as the metropolis of the Peninsula is acknowledged by one of this country's largest business houses, the National Biscuit Company, which is going to take over large warehouse facilities here and make this city a distribution center for all of the company's products.

The other example of progress has long been in the minds of the populace. For several years, this community has keenly felt the need of a modern hotel. Oftimes the subject has been broached and plans temporarily drawn up for the building of such a project. But there has always been a hitch somewhere and the actual consummation of the idea was lacking. However, with the incorporation now under way of a $250,000 hotel company backed by 29 of the most prominent business men in town, it looks as if dreams were about to come true. Every assurance is to be had that this time the foundation is one on solid rock, not shifting sands.

A careful survey of the situation has been made by experts, whose advice is that Salisbury can support a 75 room modern hotel. There is no such hostility on the entire Eastern Shore and with the influx of traveling men greater than ever, it is high time that their requirements for satisfactory accommodations be given attention. Again, the social life of a town the size of Salisbury, demands the atmosphere of an up-to-date hotel with its well-appointed settings, including an inviting dining room for local and out-of-town guests and attractive banquet halls for club functions. And with the erection of a State Normal School here, the need for a modern hotel becomes more imperative. And just now prospects are the brightest they have been in years for a fulfillment.

And so, day by day, in every way, Salisbury is becoming a bigger and better Salisbury. Geographical location, transportation facilities, and agricultural resources have all played an important part in the city's development. But back of all these factors, there has been at work an unseen force, more powerful and productive of results than all combined. In analysis of which, there comes to our mind a modern parable.

A little boy who was enjoying his first sight-seeing trip in one of the large Metropolitan cities was wonderfully impressed with its vastness and marked activity. Turning to his father, the lad said: "Daddy, who made this place so big?" And the father, otherwise pre-occupied, thoughtlessly replied: "Oh, it just grew." That father missed a great opportunity to enlighten a growing mind.

His answer to that child's question, however, is not without parallel in the explanation by many people of a city's growth. They seem to be obsessed with the idea that a city, when it starts to develop and expand, merely "just grows." Nothing could be wider of the mark. A city never grows of itself. In every case where we find a place showing a rapid growth or even a gradual one, we also find the underlying cause to be the alert progressiveness of its citizenry, or, at least, the right-thinking element of it. There is no mystery attached to it. The degree of a city's growth is simply commensurate with the "spirit" that lies behind it.

The interior and the limits of a city will grow or remain inert according to the vision of its people. If this vision is restricted or narrow, no advantages will be utilized in development. If broad-visioned and backed by a whole-hearted, aggressive and cooperative municipality, the opportunities are boundless. A perspective wide in scope, supported by harmony of action must be characteristic of the community's attitude toward its place in the world.

The Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce has perhaps been more influential in promoting the interests of this city and section than any other force. And its manifestations of activity indicate a strict adherence by its component parts to the principles evoked above. For, those individuals comprising the Chamber of Commerce are imbued with the "real spirit of progress." And they are not known to stand idly by and watch the city "just grow."

The report of Secretary Freeman, elaborately prepared by this able official and printed in full on page nine of this paper, is conclusive evidence of the conspicuous part the organization is playing in the expansion of Salisbury and the securing for it of its natural and acquired rights as the Peninsula's metropolis. To this body of business men, staunch in purpose, broad in vision and honorable in all affairs, should go a major portion of the credit for this city's rise in the past three years. Under the sagacious leadership of Mr. F. P. Adkins there has been gained much ground. He has resigned and has been succeeded by Mr. Oscar L. Morris, a man of sparkling personality and undisputed ability. Prompted by the most unselfish motives and guided by the desire for civic betterment and sectional development, Mr. Morris' selection as president, insures the community against any recession whatever and augurs well for future attainment.

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1923.

Down with the pain killers. Away with the crowd that would make life just a sweet indolent song. These fellows pose as our friends, and yet they'd strip us of protection, and leave us victims of the stealthy and insidious approach of evil and disease. Don't cuss when you have a toothache. Praise the good Lord who sent it along. Pain is the signal of danger. If you don't heed it, it'll be a little louder, and finally it'll make you hear. Ever have back dollaroo? When you know somethin's wrong, you start to cuss it. If you don't the consequences are up to you. That cuss with his pain killer an' his alluring soporific, is the worst enemy of man. You can't get pure gold without sizzling through the molten pot. Don't kick. Cheer.

Just What He Needs

TO THE GLORY OF WOMANHOOD.

No greater tribute has ever been paid to the women of America than is found in the calm analytical report of the University of Wisconsin which dispassionately discloses the fact that widows and self supporting mothers sent 153 sons and daughters to the University this fall to join the freshman class. Mothers registered 93 sons and 60 daughters.

Now learn the story of the self sacrifice of these mothers. One hundred and twenty-five were housewives, 5 were nurses, 3 dressmakers, 3 milliners, 2 matrons, 2 stenographers, 1 a dramatic critic, 1 a librarian, 1 chaperon, 1 musician, 1 retired farmer, 1 club manager, 1 business woman, 1 caterer, 1 hotel proprietor, 1 saleswoman, 1 beauty operator, 1 canner and finally, one a telephone operator. Truly of such mothers as well as children is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Fathers who sent boys to college embraced a variety of the most menial callings.

Such is the American melting pot. Such is the hunger for education to provide education that will fit the rising generation for better things than father or mother ever knew. From the seeds of sacrifice may come to us in a single generation development that will spell a power and a better America. Let these youngsters not forget.

GOVERNMENT GAMBLING.

While our dear old Uncle Sam frowns on gambling he seems to indulge in the sport quite freely in the conduct of his own affairs, all of which shows the difference between national and personal moral conduct.

The total amount appropriated by Congress for the fiscal year of 1923, which began July 1, is $3,747,935,382.64. This is $119,230,984.10 less than the appropriation for 1922. What the deficiency appropriations for the current year will foot up naturally is problematical.

The preliminary estimate of total expenditures for the current year is $3,771,258,452 or $24,223,139.36 more than has been appropriated. The preliminary estimate of total receipts for the current year is $3,073,825,311. This of course indicates a deficit at the end of this year of $697,210,071.64. At the close of the last fiscal year there was a balance on hand of $272,105,512.63.

In this way the government goes calmly ahead with the certainty of a deficit so far as human minds can foresee, but yet with the knowledge that there is a good gambler's chance that things will come out all right. Heart is taken from the fact that the estimated receipts for 1922 were exceeded and anticipated expenditures were $759,000,000 less.

No individual or corporation of course would dare conduct its business in such a way, yet there is little else the government can do unless a still heavier tax burden be placed on the people to provide for a margin of safety, and gracious knows taxes are heavy enough, as heavy in fact, as they are unscientific.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION INVITED.

The News is particularly desirous of building up its Letter Box Column to the greatest efficiency. This section of the paper is the mouthpiece of the people. Through it our readers are given the opportunity of expressing their personal views on the impending topics of the day, particularly those affecting local living conditions.

Few restrictions are placed on the manuscripts designed to find their way into this column. Correspondents are asked to be concise. As a rule 250 words should be enough; beyond that the editor reserves the right of blue penciling. The name and address must accompany the communication—not for publication unless it is the wish of the author, but as evidence of good faith. These manuscripts must reach the office not later than Tuesday morning.

This paper values, and gives the most careful consideration, to the views of its readers and welcomes constructive criticism of anything affecting the public welfare. Therefore each week hereafter we shall publish a subject along some line for the discussion of our readers in the following issue.

In this manner religious topics, educational matters, proposed legislation, sports and other items will be discussed from time to time. In this way those responsible for these things may have reflected to them that light so invaluable to success in any endeavor—public sentiment. Letters not pertaining to the subject given, of course, will be welcomed as usual and printed.

The subject this week will be: WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE WATER AND SEWERAGE SYSTEM OF SALISBURY AS IT EXISTS TODAY?

COMMENDS INDEPENDENT VIEWS OF THIS PAPER

Pittsville, Md., Feb. 12, 1923

Mr. Editor, Wicomico News.

I seen in the paper last week that you wanted to know how to make the News a better paper. I just want to say that I have been readin the paper ever since the Brewington boys was runnin it and I am satisfied with it like she is. I see fer the past few weeks you have put in there sermons by big preachers. Me and my wife both like to read them fer while we both are church goers and hear good preachin like everybody else we like a variety.

Another thing I like about the News is that stuff that Mr. Cobb writes. When I pick up the paper I know just where to turn over and find the kind of readin that we farmers like because it is all in one place.

I dont take no other county paper. I did think about changin after you new people got hold of it because I am a democrat and they tell me the principlemen who own the paper are O.P.'s but I didnt want to see if the water might get better we have been here for years and years and we have been fair and treated boys alike just so I am glad to see one.

A FARMER

WE ASSUREDLY APPROVE OF THIS SPLENDID IDEA

Salisbury, Md., February 10, 1923.

Dear Editor:

Noticing last week in the paper that you were desirous of constructive criticism in the getting up of the Wicomico News beg to say that I have been a reader of your valued paper for the past thirteen years and would hardly know how to get along without it each week. I therefore feel qualified to express my views on the matter in a sense.

Above all I enjoy the local column the best and I believe the majority of ladies do. It seems to me this part of the publication could be improved.

Where there now appears but one of possibly two columns of these personal happenings there really, I feel, should be five or six and in this connection I wish to offer a suggestion and that is that those who read this paper, and have its interests at heart as I have, send in as often as they find time to, items of personal happenings to themselves and friends.

This, I do not feel is egotism, but is helping make one of our county institutions a bigger, better and more welcomed visitor each week. I take the liberty, Mr. Editor, of making this suggestion without consulting you but hoping that it meets with your approval.

Yours very truly,
A NEWTOWN LADY

WICOMICO MAN FLAYS STAND OF RITCHIE ON LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT

Editor Wicomico News:

It is refreshing to find that Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania intends to enforce the liquor law in that State. It is not a play to the galleries for last Wednesday he convened twenty-five District Attorneys of that many Counties in that State and the Public Ledger says he made it clear to the "wets and organized liquor interests that the Administration is going thru to the end to have its interests at heart as I have, and in as often as they find time to, items of personal happenings to themselves and friends. This, I do not feel is egotism, but is helping make one of our county institutions a bigger, better and more welcomed visitor each week. I take the liberty, Mr. Editor, of making this suggestion without consulting you but hoping that it meets with your approval. Yours very truly, A NEWTOWN LADY by me, or subject to removal by me, from the highest to the lowest, entire obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law. They are a part of the law of the land."

Now the contrast: Governor Ritchie of our own State was honored by the President of the United States with an invitation to meet with him and the Governors of other States to discuss the liquor enforcement question; and, instead of agreeing to help, not only refused, but gave encouragement to liquor criminals as notorious as is crime in this State because of laxity of County, State and Municipal officers.

Look at what is behind our Governor—Baltimore, Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick, Salisbury, cities of from eight hundred thousand to eight thousand; and then behind Governor Pinchot—Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Altoona, Reading, cities from two million to one hundred thousand. Of course, we know when he was elected and while the legislature was in session that Governor Ritchie sided with the rum element and did what he could to defeat law enforcement, as well as the people of Pennsylvania knew when Governor Pinchot was elected and now that the legislature is in session that he is for law enforcement. The real question then is why a State like Maryland, bordering on Pennsylvania which is many times greater in population and area, should be so far behind morally. And the size is not all, for we are surrounded by little Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia, all of whose State Governments are more in harmony in enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead law.

Even in New Jersey, as wet as it is reputed to be because of Edwards, Nugent, et al, there started in Trenton last week a movement to launch a "state-wide program to redeem the State from the reign of law violations." What will the harvest be in Maryland, unless we do something, since a New Mexico man has opened the running sore?

A New Mexico man has come here and opened this running sore in Salisbury and it does not appear to have started more than a ripple.

A late prisoner in the Wicomico jail offered to "squel on" perhaps a dozen bootleggers in Salisbury and vicinity for his liberty. Can't some organization be effected in this County that will compel an enforcement of this law. It is interesting to note how the sentiment of the county is changing to law enforcement and as the law is here to stay and the liquor interests are seeing it we do not want to lag too far behind.

JOHN H. DULANY, Fruitland, Md. February 10, 1923.

To the people of Salisbury and Community:

I desire to take this opportunity of expressing my thanks and appreciation to those with whom I came in contact either in a social or business way during the seven years I was manager of the Homestead Dairy Farm. I came here a stranger to take up my work and one of the first things which was told me upon my arrival was, "after living here you will not want to leave, you would not be satisfied elsewhere." I have found this to be true and have leased a farm and plan to start business soon. My dealings with the public in the past have been very pleasant indeed and the business people of Salisbury have been very considerate and obliging. For these things I desire to express my appreciation and heartfelt thanks and hope I may merit your continued confidence in the future.

Yours for a bigger and better Salisbury,
HARRY L. VAN HORN.

LEFTY HEARN TO JOIN RANK OF BENEDICTS Letter From Salisbury "Ace" Brings News Of His Retirement To New York Nurse In a letter to the Wicomico News this week from his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., Edward "Lefty" Hearn, pitching ace for the "White Clouds" last year, breaks the mantle of a silence which the ball players have maintained during their hibernation and comes forth with the startling announcement that he is engaged to a New York nurse. "Lefty", who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hearn, 325 Palmetto St., Brooklyn, writes that he is to be married to Miss Barbara Hirm, 1300 Madison Street, same city. Mr. Hearn met his fiancée at a ball game in which he was engaged and at which she was a spectator. Before coming to Salisbury last year, Hearn played for the Farmer Baseball Club of his city. He states that he expects to be with Salisbury again next year and anxiously anticipates in his letter for baseball "dope". His bride to be is a nurse in the Bellevue Hospital where she will remain until the week of October 15 at which time the wedding will take place. Hearn was one of the players on the retained list sent in for the coming season and much is expected of the "little giant" whose slants proved so baffling to the other clubs in the Eastern Shore Circuit. Just who will open up a business at this most desirable stand is not yet known. WEDDING ON SATURDAY A VERY UNIQUE AFFAIR Four Generations At Hitch-Bailey Nuptials—Day Is Also 31st Anniversary Of Bride's Parents A unique feature of the wedding of Miss Nettie May Hitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. W. Hitch and Mr. George Roger Bailey, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Light Street, at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon last, was the fact that four generations of the Hitch family were represented at the ceremony. Mr. Herman W. Bothun, a great-uncle of the bride, the bride's mother, her sister, Mrs. Ralph Trader, Wilmington, Del., and the latter's child Ralph Trader, Jr., making up the four generations. Another fact in connection with the wedding was that it was also the 31st anniversary of the marriage of the parents of the bride. The ceremony itself was a very pretty one. "At Dawning" was sung by Miss Marguerite Hitch, younger sister of the bride who was accompanied on the piano by Miss Aileen Smith. The latter then played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as little Ralph Trader Jr., the ring bearer entered the living room followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Reginald Bailey, Smithfield, Va. Then followed the bride and her attendant, Miss Iva Hitch, a sister who was beautifully gowned in brown canton crepe and carried pink cananans. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of blue poret twill and carried Bride's Roses. The ceremony took place under an arch of cut flowers and ferns and was performed by the Rev. R. L. Shipley, pastor of Bethesda M. P. Church. The double ring ceremony was used. After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served the guests who numbered about fifty and included the immediate friends and the members of the contracting parties' families. Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left on the 3:06 for Niagara Falls to be gone two weeks. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents on Light St. Both the bride and groom are well known in this city, the former being a graduate of Cambridge High School and employed in the capacity of secretary with the C. R. Disharoon Co., while the groom a graduate of Wicomico High School was a member of

MORRIS NOW PRESIDENT OF LOCAL C. OF C.

Tilghman Company Official Is Unanimous Choice To Succeed Fred P. Adkins

ANNUAL BANQUET ON EVENING OF MARCH 1st

Freeman Re-elected Secretary And Ruark, Treasurer—Both Read Reports For Year Which Are Unanimously Adopted By Members—Walls Appeals For Loyal And Co-operation Coming Year.

The annual election of officers was the principal business which occupied the attention of the members of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting last Thursday night. Prior to the meeting, President F. P. Adkins had sent out a letter to the members stating his desire to retire in favor of another after three years in the capacity of head of the organization.

After the taking up of routine business, Mr. W. T. Gardner, new traffic expert was introduced and in a few words outlined what his department was doing and what it hoped to accomplish in the future. Mr. Elias W. Nuttle, circulation manager of the Eastern Shore Business Journal, which recently made its appearance, followed Mr. Gardner and spoke of what the Washington College publication hoped to do for this Peninsula and especially for the young man and appealed for the support of the members. A number subscribed after the meeting.

Secretary Freeman then read his report of the accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce during the year just closed which was very comprehensive exhibit and was immediately adopted as read. A detailed account of this will be found on page nine. Treasurer Ruark's report of finances showed the organization to maintain a balance on the right side of the ledger notwithstanding the fact that a number of members were in arrears on their annual dues.

President Adkins then called for the election of officers, at which time Mr. A. M. Walls asked permission of the chair to say a word. Mr. Walls in a timely, sincere and forceful talk urged the members to be very careful in the selection of their new president officer, to give the matter mature thought and once their decision had been made to stand by the man with unwavering support.

"Let us make co-operation and loyalty the paramount issues during the coming year," said the speaker, "and give to this community which we all love so well the best that is in us." He then proposed a standing vote of thanks to the retiring president for the time and money he had given unselfishly and fully to the Chamber and this was given with alacrity. Mr. Adkins replied to Mr. Walls and the members by saying that in honoring him to the presidency three times, he had been fully repaid for any time or expense on his part.

Mr. Morris was elected president and a number of seconds were immediately heard. Mr. Morris was elected by acclamation as were also Mr. Henry W. Ruark, treasurer and C. M. Freeman, secretary, both of the latter having held office for the past 3 years.

President Adkins lauded the decision of the members in electing Mr. Morris to succeed him and characterized him as "a most liberal and broad-minded man having the interest of the community at heart rather than any personal aggrandizement" and also heartily approved of the selection of both Messrs. Freeman and Ruark.

President Morris will, in the near future, name seven vice-presidents, to head the various committees. Four vacancies on the Board of Directors are also to be filled. The other 46 members were re-elected.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN OF PARSONSBURG DIES

Roy T. Farlow, Son Of Judge H. T. Farlow Of Orphans Court Was In 26th Year.

The funeral services of Roy T. Farlow, age 26 years, who died at his home Friday night, February 9th, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in Parsonsbury, M. E. Church. The church was crowded with an immense throng of people who were present to pay their last tribute of respect to this popular young man. There was a beautiful display of flowers from his many friends and relatives among them a beautiful floral cross from the Superintendent's office at Cape Charles, Va., where Roy was formerly an employee, a beautiful spray of rosebuds from the Fairfax Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Wilmington, of which he was a member, and from B. F. Shaw Co. of Wilmington, where he was an employee for three years prior to his illness, a lovely floral tribute.

Roy had been suffering from tuberculosis since 1919 but was not confined to his home until October last. His death, though not entirely unexpected, was a shock to his many friends and loved ones. His sunny smile and charming personality had endeared him to everyone who knew him in this entire community as well as other towns where he was known.

He was a patient sufferer and displayed unusual will power in his fight for health, only being in bed three weeks before his death. His parents, brothers and sister did everything in their power to prolong his life and give him every comfort. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Farlow, two brothers, Ralph W. of Parsonsbury, John C. of Cape Charles, Va., and one sister, Mrs. O. B. Humphreys of Parsonsbury. ## EXTENSIVE FARMER AND LANDOWNER DIES Parnell C. Coulbourn, Of Near Salisbury, Was At One Time Largest Land Owner In Worcester.

Mr. Parnell C. Coulbourn, an extensive farmer and land owner, died at his home about four miles east of Salisbury on the Johnson Road on Thursday morning about seven o'clock of Bright's Disease after a lingering illness of several years. Mr. Coulbourn was a man of considerable means and at one time is said to have been the most extensive land owner in Worcester county.

A few years ago he sold much of his land to E. S. Adkins & Co., lumber firm of this city although he owned considerable property at the time of his death. Mr. Coulbourn was 70 years of age having been born near Whiton, January 14, 1847 and resided there until about four years ago when he moved to his late home. Politically Mr. Coulbourn was a Democrat. He was a member of Mt. Zion Methodist Protestant Church. His wife, who survives him, was before her marriage Miss Emma Johnson, a daughter of the late John Johnson.

Beside his widow he is survived by one daughter, Miss Sallie Coulbourn, who lived with her parents. One brother Mr. George Coulbourn, Snow Hill, also survives. ## Some Want New Road While Others Oppose Citizens Of Spring Grove Community Appear Before County Board Here At Meeting Tuesday.

About 20 citizens of Spring Grove, this county, composed a delegation which appeared before the Board of County Commissioners at its regular session on Tuesday. The delegation was here to discuss with the board a half mile road to connect the Mardela-Riverton Road up with the stone road in that locality. The members who came here, however, were divided in their views some desiring the stretch to be built and others opposing same. The pro-road adherents are said to have been in the majority. Engineer Clark was instructed to look the country over and report on the feasibility of such a road.

ATTENDANCE AT AUTO SHOW IS NOT SO GOOD

Notwithstanding That Fact 16 Cars Are Reported To Have Been Sold During Week

Around 2,000 people saw the exhibits at the 16th Auto Show which was held under the auspices of the Salisbury Fire Department and which closed on Saturday night. This figure while estimated, is thought to be fairly accurate and no definite number can be given because so many people use the same tickets. The attendance fell much below that of last year which was around 5,000. The receipts consequently are much smaller and according to Dr. D. B. Potter, treasurer, will amount to something like six or seven hundred dollars clear.

From authoritative source it is learned that about 16 cars were sold during the exhibition. Even this number proves that the show pays from the standpoint of the dealers. A line was gotten on many other prospects, it is said, and a stimulus of the automotive industry should naturally follow locally.

Members of the department are to be thanked, individually and collectively for providing such a nice entertainment. The show was well worth while as it will tide the annual affair over next year when it is hoped things will be better.

The Salisbury Fire Department has asked the News to express its sincere appreciation to the public for the patronage given its show.

The session and banquet will be held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The inside flues of the furnace should be cleaned every week or two during the winter and a brush for this purpose is a very good investment. Dust and soot are good insulation.

INTENSE ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED AT REVIVAL

Dr. E. L. Hyde, the Ocean Grove List, Speaks At Both Services On Sunday Last

Dr. E. L. Hyde, the Ocean Grove Evangelist, delivered the sermon at both the morning and evening services at Asbury Church. Both were well attended and at the night gathering the church was packed to its utmost capacity, necessitating the bringing in of a number of extra chairs.

The topic of the morning sermon was "A Progressive Church" and in the evening "The Sinners Plea." Both were delivered in the evangelist's forceful and appealing way and with the same degree of vigor which characterized his sermons here two years ago.

Extraordinary in its effect seemed the message of the gospel as expounded by this famous speaker as some conversions took place at the evening service, something unusual in meetings of this character the initial night and the service resembled the old fashioned Methodist Revival of 50 years ago.

A large contributing factor to the success of these meetings is the singing by the augmented choir, under the leadership of Prof. W. T. Dashiell, who is with the ministers heart and soul in the work.

Dr. J. T. Herson, the minister, is very optimistic in his outlook on the revival and feels assured that they will eclipse anything of this character here for some time.

Accomplishments Of Local Chamber Past Year Set Forth In Sec. Freeman's Report

Much Constructive Work Has Been Accomplished—Unfinished Projects And Work To Be Undertaken During Coming Year Includes New Postoffice, New Freight Yards.

Following is a report of the activities of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce, as read at the meeting last Thursday night by Secretary Freeman. The report covers the period from January 31, 1922 to January 31, 1923.

Rooms used from January 31, 1922 to January 31, 1923, 210; number of persons attending meetings other than Chamber of Commerce, 414; number of persons attending Chamber of Commerce meetings, 664; number of letters sent out, 4418; number of letters sent out in answer to inquiries, 535; number of miscellaneous letters, 168; miscellaneous letters written by President, 139.

FUNCTIONS

1. Chamber of Commerce Dinner.
A. Speakers: Mr. Josiah Kirby, of the Cleveland Discount Company, and Mr. J. C. Koons, Ex-First Assistant Postmaster General. President Adkins presiding.

B. During the last four or five months the following gentlemen have addressed the regular Chamber of Commerce meetings: Mr. R. H. Bond, Sales Manager, McCormick Company, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. Ralph E. Barnes, of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. De Somesekeo, local representative of the State Board of Health and Col. Thomas J. Dickson, retired U. S. A. Officer.

ACTIVITIES

1. Dredging of Wicomico River to ten feet at low water has been done. A large amount of the credit for this undertaking should be given Mr. Charles E. Harper.

2. Smith & Williams Company, members of the Chamber of Commerce sent a representative with a Chamber of Commerce committee to call on Col. Harrington of the War Department regarding river dredging, and immediately after this visit they made plans for enlarging and improving their plant so that they are now able to take care of practically any business offered them.

3. Secured the elimination of the fifty mile minimum freight charge out of Salisbury. Also a reduction of the commodity rates out of Salisbury. This work is only half completed at this time but will be followed up closely.

4. Several committees have studied the various phases of the Northern Neck boat line and made recommendations to the proper officials concerning same. This line has been given much trade by the merchants of Salisbury and Crisfield. It has proven of great value to the people of the public and while the freight has not been all that was hoped for, yet the indications are that this route will increase its freight haul as the people of the Northern Neck become acquainted with its possibilities.

5. The United States Government sent one of its expert engineers to Salisbury at the request of the Chamber of Commerce. He was taken to various sections of this county, and has made a complete report concerning the draining of certain farm areas. It is hoped the plans may be carried out.

6. Plans are being made for the dredging of Pocomoke River which will be of great value to Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico County.

7. The Chamber of Commerce through its committees gathered data and otherwise assisted Senator G. R. Disharoon in securing for Salisbury a State Normal School. This is the one outstanding feature that has come to this section in a long time.

8. At the request of the State Fuel Distributing Committee the Chamber of Commerce made a survey of the local needs of the county. The Secretary was appointed local representative of the State Fuel Commission and such information as they require is being secured and forwarded to them from this office.

9. The Chamber of Commerce rooms have been used by numerous committees having under consideration the erection of a new hotel and matters are gradually shaping themselves towards its erection.

10. The Peninsula Chamber of Commerce was that organized by the Salisbury people and that organization has now taken form. It is believed that through it this county can play its part toward the advancement of the whole Peninsula in a much better manner than it would working alone.

11. The New Industries Corporation, which has for its object the securing of new industries for this community, is composed of Chamber of Commerce members.

A. This Corporation has financed and caused to be erected a very large building in South Salisbury and it has been taken over by Rombo Bros., this lease beginning on January 1, 1923.

B. The Peninsula Ice Cream Company will be ready for business next March and this enterprise has been largely fostered by this organization and it is hoped that this new industry will receive the support of this community, because it will make possible a new source of income for our farmers as well as a decided saving on city fertilizer.

C. The committee appointed to investigate the proposition of Mr. H. A. Noek concerning a Fire Insurance Company reported that they considered it impracticable at this time. Likewise the committee which investigated a Tiling proposition decided it did not offer the proper possibilities.

D. The Hearn Oil Company, of Wilmington, Del., was assisted in securing a satisfactory location for their plant as well as homes for their employees. This Company has already expended a considerable sum of money in this county and is conducting its affairs in a very business like manner.

12. The membership has been increased more than twice as much as it was in June 1922.

13. Newspaper publicity for Fire Prevention Week was supplied, and the co-operation of the clergymen, local officials and schools along fire prevention lines was secured.

14. Thirty-five solicitors having stock and other-selling propositions have been interviewed and eight of this number were given cards by the Chamber of Commerce.

15. Five representatives from the Public Service Commission have called at this office and gone over matters pertaining to their work.

16. Five individuals from other states have been shown farm lands in this community and have been given such information as they desired.

17. Numerous letters have been written and interviews have been had concerning delay in shipments of freight and express as well as numerous other matters of importance to individuals along transportation and other lines.

18. The Chamber of Commerce at the request of the County Commissioners sent a committee before that body to discuss the building of a new bridge on West Main Street. At this meeting a committee was appointed by the County Commissioners which visited Mr. Mackall of the State Road Commission and discussed with him the possibilities of the State building the bridge. They then called on Col. Harrington of the War Department and secured his consent for the continued use of the present bridge until a later date.

19. The securing of a new Freight Yard for Salisbury which would be convenient for the shippers and which would at the same time give us additional rail and water facilities was kept before the committee having it in charge and at a recent special meeting called for the purpose of a thorough discussion of this matter a counter proposition was presented by the Railway Officials and the matter is at the present time being further investigated.

20. A committee was sent to Washington to make inquiries as to the situation regarding a new Postoffice building for Salisbury. This committee was informed that there had been an appropriation made for such a building out of which the land had been purchased and that there remained a balance of $78,000.00 which would be applied to the erection of a new Postoffice building any time the plan calls for a two story building which would be a decided addition to the city. It is hoped that this matter may be successfully carried through in the near future.

21. Senator Harrison who is a member of this organization reported before the Chamber of Commerce his ideas for the encouraging of small farm ownership. A committee was appointed to investigate ways and means. Mr. T. L. Ruark at a subsequent meeting outlined a plan for the financing of such properties as Senator Harrison had in mind. The work of this committee is not finished but should be taken up in the near future.

22. Mr. Marvin C. Evans and the Transportation Committee interviewed a number of shippers and after due consideration they devised a plan for the financing of a Traffic Department. It was pointed out that this section in general and Salisbury in particular has been the victim of unusual and unjust freight rates and rules. Anyone desiring to have his freight bills audited or claims against the roads handled had to send them to some one of the large cities. This committee was most fortunate in being able to secure the services of Mr. W. T. Gardner, who has for a number of years been associated with Railroad Traffic Departments and for the few years past he has acted as Traffic Manager for the Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce Exchange, Onley, Va. Arrangements have been completed with the above Exchange whereby Mr. Gardner will not only handle their work but the work of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce. This means that two of the largest organizations of their kind on the Peninsula have joined for their mutual benefit. It is hoped that this marks the first step toward an organization of all allied interests in the Peninsula whereby many needed improvements may be secured. This Department has already performed the following work.

Fertilizer
Prepared and submitted to the Pennsylvania fourteen Exhibits covering the present and proposed rates on fertilizer from Salisbury, Md., and Crisfield, Md., Seafood, Laurin, and Milford, Del., Snow Hill, Centerville, Oxford and Cambridge, Md.

The proposed reduction ranges from fifty cents to one dollar per ton and the rates from the above named points covers the entire Peninsula from each point and all other points to which rates are published.

We have been assured of an adjustment and they will submit a basis for our check and approval.

Manure
We are in correspondence with the Traffic Manager of the Pennsylvania System for a reduction of rates on manure from New York, Philadelphia and vicinity to points on the Peninsula in which we hope to secure some substantial reduction as soon as possible before the season starts.

Class and Commodity Rates From Salisbury, Maryland to Eastern Shore Water Line Points, B.C. & A. Via Crisfield, Md.
We have requested the Pennsylvania to publish through class and commodity rates from Salisbury, Maryland to Eastern Shore Water Line points via Crisfield and the B. C. & A. R. R., and have acknowledgements that this is receiving their attention.

Protect Through Published Rates To Salisbury, Maryland For All Deliveries Within The Switching Limits Of Salisbury, Md.
We are in correspondence with the G. F. A., of the B. C. & A., Railway requesting that they publish in a delivery tariff or in an absorption tariff, a note to the effect that the rates to Salisbury, Md., N.Y.P. & N. will apply to all deliveries within the switching limits on the B. C. & A., tracks at this point.

Stone Crushed and Screenings
We are in correspondence with the G. F. A., of the B. C. & O. R. R., Baltimore, requesting the publication of rates on stone, crushed and screenings from Havre de Grace, Md., located on their line to all points on the Peninsula on the same basis as are now in effect from Port Deposit, Md., located on P. R. R., tracks. This has been acknowledged by connections and they have promised to handle this promptly.

Local Class Rates on the N. Y. P. & N. R. R. and B. C. & A. R. R.
Submitted to the Pennsylvania, B. C. & A., and N. Y. P. & N., Exhibit No. 1 requesting a reduction in the present local class rates from Salisbury, Md. For the reason that the present basis is from 10 to 15% higher for the same corresponding distance than the rates from Philadelphia and Baltimore to the Maryland and Delaware Divisions. Exhibit acknowledged with the advice that they hope to advise us definitely in the matter within the next few days.

Lumber and Lumber Articles
We are in correspondence with the Norfolk & Southern Railway regarding the adjustment of lumber rates from Carolina territory to Salisbury which we find to be higher than to Laurel, Del.

Claim and Tracing
We are tracing some cars and handling a few claims.

Milk and Cream Tariffs and Service
We have secured the tariff rates on Milk and Cream and also getting a memorandum of the service from the Peninsula to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Tariffs
We have requested a complete set of tariffs from all carriers both from and to Salisbury, Md., as well as Express rates. Of course, said tariffs are applicable to and from practically all points south of Wilmington on the Peninsula. We have received about 75% of said tariffs.

Freight Bills
Audited 184 freight bills, total overcharges discovered $116.02 for which claims have been filed.

23. One Hundred and seven out of town people have called in the office during the last year seeking information along all lines and inquiring for the location of various industries and places of business. If the information sought for was not at once available it was secured. As a result of one man's visit to this office a contract was placed with one of our industries which amounted to $50,000.00.

Dover Rotarian, Braving Weather, Attends Salisbury Meeting To Give His Club 100% Attendance Record

The unselfishness of the Rotarian has never been questioned but an instance of loyalty, unsurpassed probably in the annals of local fraternal organizations, was that of Rotarian Elmer Horsey, of the Dover (Del.)

Club, who braving the wintry blasts and slippery highways, motored to Salisbury to attend the regular meeting of the organization here in order that he might give his own club a 100% attendance record for the previous Tuesday evening's meeting.

For some unavoidable reason, Horsey was unable to be present at that meeting which would have given his club a perfect attendance record for four consecutive gatherings and, in order to make amends, all which remained was to visit some other club during the week, hence his decision to come to Salisbury. He was accompanied by a brother Rotarian, Robert Stett.

The Rev. Kloman, new Episcopal rector here, was present as a guest of the club and gave an interesting talk on his interest in and activities with boys. John Smith of the Smith & Williams firm drove the "lucky" card and gave a talk on his business career.

FEBRUARY 19-24 TO BE OBSERVED IN 27 COUNTRIES AS ROTARY ANNIVERSARY WEEK

First Club Founded in Chicago February 23, 1905—President Harding and Speaker Gillett Issue Messages Concerning Responsibility Of Citizens To Government

As the sick man, discouraged, becomes the easy prey of the quack, so the citizen, discontented, becomes the easy prey of the demagogue. Don't let your discontent lead you to blindly follow one method. They paint sympathetically your sufferings, which are real, in order to win your confidence in their remedy, which is generally ephemeral.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, Frederick H. Gillett, of Massachusetts, makes this statement in the course of a brief message to the people of the United States today, through the Rotary Clubs of the country, on the subject of the individual citizen's responsibility for legislation.

In twenty-seven countries of the world ninety-thousand Rotarians are this week carrying on a gigantic campaign to set before the people of the communities in which they live the responsibility of the individual citizen. The campaign is incident to the annual observance of the founding of the first Rotary Club in Chicago February 23, 1905, and is designed to be a demonstration of the sort of community service Rotary has been organized to in each country where the campaign is in progress messages on the responsibility of the citizen for the various branches of the government are being sent from the heads of the various branches of government to the heads of the various political parties and to the heads of the various political organizations. In the United States the messages follow the lines of representative government and down in the Constitution. President Harding has sent out the message on the individual citizen's responsibility for the execution of the laws of the country through the proper channels of their offices. The Speaker of the House of Representatives has sent out the message on the individual citizen's responsibility for legislation and the Attorney General of the United States has sent out the message on the individual citizen's responsibility to the courts.

The full text of Speaker Gillett's message follows: The Speaker's Rooms House of Representatives Washington, D. C. To International Rotary: The individual citizen's responsibility for legislation is mainly indirect. We are not a democracy; we are a republic. We elect representatives to legislate for us. And the first duty of the citizen is to select well his representative, to discriminate wisely between those candidates who seek to hold him by pandering to his temporary whims and those who seek to serve him by honest and intelligent independence.

The other chief responsibility of the citizen is to keep informed on questions of legislation. That every citizen should master every question that will vex our national and state legislatures no one will claim. But if you live up to your responsibility as a citizen, you will not only scrutinize the character and ability of every candidate, but you will inform yourselves on the vital principles at issue in each election. Yet in drawing your conclusions you should not be too assured. In this enormous country of ours with its racial prejudices, and its class jealousies an untrained and all embracing vision is difficult. Don't assume that all legislation which seems to favor your personal interest must be right, or must be permanently beneficial even to you. Because you run an automobile don't think every scheme for good roads is wise. Because you believe education is of prime importance don't conclude that every measure which its friends suggest is judicious. Try to look on all sides. When keenly conscious that money exists it is natural to support the first plausible project for righting them. But as the sick man discouraged becomes the easy prey of the quack, so the citizen discontented becomes the easy prey of the demagogue. Don't let your discontent lead you to blindly follow one method. They paint sympathetically your sufferings which are real, in order to win your confidence in their remedy which is generally ephemeral.

Therefore, your responsibility as an individual requires you to select well your representative, and to study the problems of legislation. Sometimes in perplexity you must leave to your representative's unhampered judgment the duty of every voter is to vote regularly and to perform. Before that, it implies the duty to vote intelligently, to make the vote represent a deliberate decision based on the claims of the opposing parties and candidates. Finally, the Executive being duly selected, it implies the obligation to give him the support of all good citizens in every effort of administration of the law. That citizen who regards himself as a model of the civic proprieties, because his present conduct is impeccable; but who does not cooperate with the civil authorities or exert his influence in behalf of the best possible administration of the laws, greatly overrates his own usefulness as a citizen. The responsible officers of government, whether it be municipal, state or national, need and are entitled to the full and effective support of all citizens in the enforcement of laws. If the effort of Rotary should be effective in impressing this conception of the citizen's duty it will have performed a most useful service. Warren G. Harding.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

The outlook for February continues good, there being no let up in the surge forward to business. Wholesalers and jobbers say buyers are careful but report that sales both for immediate and future delivery are quite satisfactory. Distributive trade was hurt but not materially during the past week by bad weather. Steel requirements continue to be steady and production is up.

Machinery and hardware lines are doing a good business with prices reported firm. Lumber values are stiff and a rather serious scarcity is reported in some grades. Retail yards are doing a good business with stocks less than normal. Building costs are very high and there is little hope of any reduction. Hard building brick is selling at $20 per 1000, while prices of all material going into construction tend upward. Carpenters are receiving ninety cents per hour and bricklayers one dollar and twenty-five cents for the same time. Plasterers are paid not less than ten dollars per day and in some instances are being paid fourteen and eighteen dollars per day including bonuses. Bank deposits are satisfactory with money reported fairly easy with interest rates ranging between 5% and 6%. The supply of staple bonds is rather limited as January was an unusually busy month in point of new offerings. Railroad earnings for the latter half of January showed a material increase. Live oil advanced six cents per gallon in the past week and is now quoted at ninety-nine cents. Turpentine is quoted at one dollar and thirty-five cents per gallon in five barrel lots at Savannah and one dollar and forty-two cents per gallon in the same quantity at Baltimore a decrease of nine cents per gallon in ten days. Viscous oils are holding their own but non-viscous products are a drug on the market. There is little change in the market for cylinder stocks which remain weak. The wholesale price of gasoline is quoted at twenty-one and one-half cents per gallon, the retail price being twenty-three and one-half cents. There is little or no activity in wheat and flour. In corn, however, the general undertone is firmer with some improvement re-

Mickey was an apprentice in a shipyard and the first morning the foreman put a two-foot rule in his hand and told him to measure a large plate. He was back in 20 minutes.

"Well, Mickey," said the foreman, "what was the size of the plate?" "A satisfied grin stole over Mickey's face. "It's just the length of this rule," he replied, "and two thumbs over, with this brick and the breadth of my hand and my arm from here to there, bar the finger!"

Rules and Regulations. In a large organization such as ours, performing a tremendously intricate service, it is absolutely necessary that there be some rules and regulations—some orderly method of procedure. But at times situations come up that are not covered by rules or regulations and which can not be foreseen. When these cases do arise, telephone employees are expected to use good judgment and to do satisfactorily the thing that the circumstances call for. Likewise, there are times when an explanation given does not satisfy the patron. When this is the case, the patron is entirely justified in asking to speak with someone higher in authority or someone more familiar with the subject under discussion. In other words, when you come to our office or call us by telephone, it is our desire and aim that you shall receive courteous and intelligent attention—the kind that goes hand in hand with satisfactory telephone service.

SERMON

Lord's Day Alliance,
Baltimore, Md.

The following sermon was preached recently in Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church, this city, by the minister whose name appears above and is published here with the consent of the writer: "And the Disciples were called Christians first in Antioch"—Acts 11:26.

All of us are interested in the beginning of things. Maryland is the home of first things; the first steam locomotive ever run on rails on this Western continent ran from Baltimore to Elliott City in 1828. This locomotive lost out in a race between it and a horse. The first telegram ever sent in the World was sent from Baltimore to Washington; the message being "Behold what God hath wrought."

I am not interested so much in the first things of the material world as I am in the first things in Maryland that have to do with the Kingdom. The first Methodist Church ever built in this world was built in Maryland in the Sam's Creek neighborhood, now in a part of Frederick County, now in Carroll County. The Church was built by Robert Strawbridge, and its site is marked by a monument setting forth the facts. The first house in which a Methodist Class Meeting was ever held is still standing in Carroll County, Maryland—the John A. Fowler house—the property of the American Methodist Historical Society. The first Presbyterian Church ever built on this Western Continent was built in Maryland at Rehoboth, in Somerset County. This congregation organized in 1808 in worshipping in a brick Church erected in 1706. The first English-speaking Roman Catholic Church ever built on this Continent was built at St. Mary's City. This Church building was destroyed and on its site stands a Protestant Episcopal Church built of the bricks of the first State House in the Colony, and the Jews of the timbers of the first fort of the Colony. The first Friends Meeting House ever built in this Western world was built in Maryland—in the West River neighborhood, just about a mile out from the little village of Gaesville. When the friends had their joint Conference in Baltimore last Spring, they gave Saturday over to a Pilgrimage to the site of their first meeting house and planted an oak there.

The first Young Men's Christian Association building ever erected in this Western world was built in Baltimore. I have already given enough to justify my claim that Maryland is premier among all the states in the first things that make for the upbuilding of the Kingdom. My text calls your attention to a first thing that antedates by hundreds of years any first thing that Maryland has to offer. It tells us that the Disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. I am not interested so much in the place as I am in the "Why" they called Christians.

From the time of the promise "the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head" to the closing of the old canon, promise after promise that there should come one who would save the world from sin and His name shall be called Jesus Christ. This promise was passed by for God intended us to something more than saved souls, and so He called us after the second coming—Christians—Christian or reworded to serve. So that from that day on the very name Christian, crown of glory for service, suggests the fulfilling purpose of every true Christian life.

There are many fields for service, but I shall content myself with naming but two. First—Suppose every one hearing the name Christian should have the vision that in the year 1828 he would find at least one person and bring him to Christ. This would mean the greatest revival in history for the Church in one year would double its membership. Let me urge this upon all who are called Christians as a supreme duty of the 1925 journey. Second—The opportunity for service the last of which I shall call your attention, is that of serving to save the Lord's day for the home, the Church, the Country, and through this country for the world. Flippant newspaper writers, as well as shallow talkers, tell us that the Lord's day is the minor importance in human affairs. Let me state that in my judgment the biggest question that confronts the American people today is "What shall we do with the Lord's Day?" This is a question that is tremendously important because it is on with greater than the three greatest facts in human history. First, the creation; second, giving of the Law at Sinai; the third, the resurrection of Christ. Creation has been finished, man has been given his commission "to subdue and replenish the earth," but God has never let him down. The greatest of all commissions, in substance he says to him, let us go apart for a season of communion and fellowship, and so of this period of time the Scriptures say—"God sanctified it." From this statement God has never answered in creation time it was a holy day, at Sinai it was a holy day, and our Sabbath the Lord's Day, memorial of the resurrection of Christ is no less holy.

So then when we recall that the Sabbath is intimately connected with the three greatest facts of history, let no man say then its observance is not of the first highest importance. But we of the white race have even another reason—a selfish one if you please—for the Lord's Day Observance. Less than five hundred years ago the white man was at the zenith of his power. He had no abiding place on this Western hemisphere, for here the red man was monarch of all he surveyed. The African continent was inhabited by the black and brown races, while the Asiatic continent belonged to the brown and the yellow races. These two races had pushed up into Europe—ever pushing the white race back until they had literally backed them up against the Atlantic on the West and the Baltic Sea on the North, with only a fringe of Europe that he could call his own. The fate of your's saved, for the white race, for victory here he began his world-wide march until at the dawn of the 20th Century 9-10's of the world's population were either under his dominion or under his control and influence. The pages of history contain no record of achievement by our other race like unto that of the white race.

I find my explanation for this phenomenon of the ages in Isaiah, 58-13-14. The white man's world triumph is in fulfillment of the promise. "I will cause you to ride upon the high places of the earth and feed you with heritage of Jacob, thy Father," on condition thou shalt "call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord honorable." That folks might know that Sabbath keeping means success and the life of the nation, the prophet closes the 14th verse with the words "For the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." At the dawn of the 20th century there was not a cloud in the sky to suggest that any other race would ever contest the world supremacy with the conquering white race. As along the highways of Maryland are the red sign boards with the white letters "Danger," so in the last twenty years two danger signs have been placed in the path of the white race, warning of imminent danger. In 1904 for the first time in all history a white nation surrendered to a nation of another color—Russia the nation of millions laid down its arms to the conquering Japan, a member of the yellow race. Russia had been notorious in wrenching the Sabbath from the home and the Church and giving it over to the selfish things of life, until when the testing time came, Russia, the great nation of two continents, surrendered to the little island people, Russia to the United States.

The second danger sign was the World War. Statesmen may differ as to the causes of this War, but history will warrant the statement that the nations of continental Europe had wrenched the Sabbath from the home and the Church and given it over to the bull fight, the race course and the amusement resorts until the Continental Sabbath had become a byword among the nations of the earth. Germany had forgotten the sanctity of the Sabbath and along with this the consciousness of the sanctity of human life and of human relations so that she was well qualified to lead the nations into the awful abyss of blood, out of which they will never climb until once again they acknowledge the supremacy of the Lord of the Sabbath.

If for the white race there is greater obligation to keep the Sabbath than for the other races of the earth, then for the people called Americans, descendants of those who planted the 13 colonies, there is additional reason for the observance of the Lord's Day. When Roger Babson was touring South America he came in the course of his journey to Buenos Aires and was received in audience by the Argentine President. Asked by the President why it was that the stability of government, while in the South American continent there was revolution. After discussing it pro and con Mr. Babson asked the President for his answer to his own question. The South American President, in whose town the contest over Spanish lands was being fought, replied that "when our Spanish forefathers came to these South American shores they came seeking gold, but when your forefathers came to your North land they came seeking God. This is the reason of the difference. Today this battle is on with greater force than ever as to whether gold or God will have the hours of this day that is memorial of our risen Christ. The men who have moulded the destiny of this American nation came to these shores with the open Book, and the Day closed and ordinary amusements. From the very first, the statutes of every one of the 13 colonies contained a law protecting this day from unnecessary work and from painful pursuits. This fact in no small measure accounts for the wonderful developments of this nation is the hope of the storm tossed world. If we are going to respond to the disappearing world, the people called Christians must rally to the defense of His day. It is not going to be easy but hard, for we shall be misunderstood and criticized, but victory is sure for us, for we are more than conquerors through Him that loveth us."

When I think of this battle I think of the cattleman of whose conversation Kipling tells us in his Mulholland's Contract: "And I spoke to God of our contract and he says to me in prayer, I never put on my servants no more than they can bear. So back you go to the cattle boat and preach my Gospel there. For they must quit their drinking, they must quit gambling their wages, and you must preach it so, For now those boats are more like Hell than any place else I know. I didn't want to do it, I knew what I should get. And I wanted to preach religion, handsome and out of the wet;— But the word of the Lord was laid on me and I done what I was set,

DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration to aspiration—which renews strength and courage. The church keeps the eyes of the spirit open to the higher things which life offers and becomes a source for the courage required to meet the demands of every day life. Sunday is the day the church delivers its oral message to the world. Doubly fortified is the man who hears it and applies it throughout the week. Sunday is the church's day. Respect it. Go to church and renew your spiritual vision—take the vision into your work and note how it helps.

And I sign four pound ten a month, and save the money clear, And I am in charge of the lower deck, and I never lose a steer. The God who gave the cattleman victory is our God, and the pages of the Sabbath, and if we called Christians will get the vision of service that inheres in this name we shall win the fight and hold the Sabbath for God, for home, for country and thru the Country for the world.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

BOATS FOR BABY By Martina Gardner Owen

There are two classes of mothers who need to utilize kindergarten principles in the home; those who have children in the kindergarten, that they may cooperate with the teacher in her methods for development of the child; and those living where no kindergarten is yet established and who realize the need of making the most of the golden, quickly speeding, formative years, while still endeavoring to lead a kindergarten at the earliest possible moment. Too many stresses cannot be laid upon the importance of this pre-school period. Some child psychologists tell us that the trend of the child's character is determined during the first six years. In any event the problem of keeping the run-around baby from the beginning of his life is the largest one which must be confronted in the home. The average mother has no training for this job. She does one of three things; inundates her child with a flood of "don't's"; devotes her self to his amusement to the detriment of his education; or leaves him absolutely to his own device, by which he does not "bother" her. By the use of kinder methods the mother can so direct legitimate child activity that the child's character will be strengthened while she is left with uninterrupted time for her own interests and for household duties.

By way of illustration, consider the picture resultant from a rainy day in the average home. Its high lights show tired whining children, a fretful nerve-frazzled mother, and disorderly rooms. Contrast that picture with this of the home in which the mother has a working knowledge of kindergarten plans. Drizzle! Drizzle! Drizzle! Drip! Drip! Drip! Mother's eyes searched the horizon in vain for a tiny speck of blue. Undoubtedly this early morning shower will be the beginning of an all day downpour, and baby Marjorie was wailing: "Nasty old rain! Keeps baby in the house. No, I don't like my dollies. Tired of my tea-set. Please read me lots and lots of stories." Mother, keenly conscious of her unpaid tasks, returned the impulse to explain: "Stop bothering me or I'll put you back to bed."

She knew that Marjorie was not naughty, that she merely needed to have her activities wisely directed. She knew, too, that she could easily afford to devote ten minutes to this purpose. She cuddled the disconsolate midget on her lap and read a three minute story. Then she said firmly: "Now more, now, dear. Mother is very, very busy. She must shell the peas for baby, and you may have the pods for baby. See, here is a tinny pan of water on the oilcloth. Here is your rubber apron. And there are toothpicks. Open the pod, so. Put a bit of the toothpick in for a seat and to hold the sides apart. Now away it goes across the ocean. Now another. Where is it going and what does it carry?"

Mother's fingers flew nimbly while they talked. They decided that the first boat was loaded with peas for poor children; that the next was bringing oranges for Marjorie's break fast. The morning harmony was restored. Baby was busy and happy. She was learning to conquer conditions. Her imagination was trained,

Charlie Chaplin and Bride-to-be

Charlie Chaplin has found his true love. He admits it—and so does the Pola Negri. They are engaged—and to be married within the year. They are so sure of it that they posed in a fond embrace for the camera—and giggled in their happiness.

As well. And the difference between an untrained and a trained imagination is the difference between the man who is content to remain a hot-carrier and one who could visualize and plan the Panama Canal before a spadeful of earth had been turned.

When I met her first I gave her a book of verses. I gave her a diary; And when she graduated; I gave her a set of Emerson's Essays. We're married now— I give her a checkbook.

I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. ## SKIRTS FOR MEN HAVE BEEN THE FASHION IN MANY FOREIGN LANDS FOR YEARS

Question Of The Proper Length Of Garment A Matter Of Controversy For The Last Four Thousand Years—Apparel Called By Different Names

The question of the proper length of a woman's skirt from season to season is one which springs eternal. Ever since the dawn of history, according to recent newspaper reports, say that it has been a matter of controversy for 40 centuries and they point out statuettes of the times of the Pharaohs with skirts of various cuts and lengths.

"Men, too, have had skirts to worry with almost since the dawn of history and some of them—notably the Greek soldiers and the famous 'Ladies from Hell, of the World War—were literally wearing skirts today," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters.

"In fact," the bulletin continues, "the first garment which man everted after he originated in the tropical latitudes and began drifting toward colder climes was probably a skirt of skins suspended from a girdle. Such a garment was worn by the ancient Babylonians and many others.

"The first man composed of the sarong and the kabaya. The sarong is a brightly colored skirt kept in place around the waist by a silk scarf, which is wound around the body several times. The skirt falls down over the hips in straight lines and is cut in the front one simple deep fold in front. The kabaya is a sort of dressing jacket, often embroidered in elaborate colors. Though the Javanese noblemen today are accepting the commonplace English and American attire for ordinary occasions, it is at the festive occasions that the contrast in attire. Native men of Mozambique and of some of the Pacific islands also wear the sarong.

"Nothing is dearer to the heart of the canny Scotchman than his family plaid. Once he wrapped himself in the huge oblong piece of cloth and belted in the lower portion, which extended down to his knees, forming the kilt. Later this lower part was made separately and was dignified with the name of philibeg.

"The Arabian armed watchman at the doors of foreign embassies and consulates and the Greek soldiers wear what they are pleased to call the 'fusenella,' which is a kilted skirt of knee length, made of white cotton or linen, very full and starched. The royal bodyguard of the Greek King and the Greek peasants on a holiday also wear the 'fusenella.'

"The men of Ponapi Island, in the Carolines, wear skirts, usually made of grass and palm leaves appended from beaded belts, the King's being more elaborate than the commoner's. And many a black king in Africa has on his coronation robes when he can smile in pride in a short skirt and a tall hat.

"Among the aborigines of Australia the women get out their needles, made from a little bone from the leg of an emu, thread them with the sinews of opossums, kangaroos or emus and do the little 'plain sewing' which makes the necessary skirts for their lords and masters.

"But man suffers one step nearer feminism than the skirt—the kimono. Indeed, it seems that the street attire for the greater part of mankind is a garment of that ilk. The Shah of Persia is all dressed up when he gets on a gorgeous robe cut exactly like the American woman's one-piece kimono, except that his sleeves are long and tight and would be a nuisance to her lady-

Frequent Headaches

"I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Mrs. Stephen H. Kiepar, of R. F. D. 1, Cripple Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition."

Theford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. ## Yes, Times Have Changed

MANY centuries ago the word "idiot" meant a member of the Roman citizenry. Citizens in general would recent the implication that the word conveys, today. There are still idiots, but the application of the word is entirely different from what it was of old.

There was also a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

Today you can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their services believe in them. You can safely share their confidence.

HOUSING OF WORKERS IN SALISBURY ONE OF CRYING NEEDS AT THE PRESENT TIME

Number Of Plants Handicapped—Others Kept Away Entirely—Rents High Account Lack Of Dwellings—New Industries Corporation May Solve Perplexing Situation

That the housing problem here is one of the outstanding questions of the day to be solved was manifested on Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce meeting when the following review of the situation and the recommendations of the Chamber were set forth in a paper read by the Secretary.

As has been stated in our main reports there have been about fifty new positions for various classes of labor created in the last three months and these new industries will bring to Salisbury a number of people either as managers or skilled laborers. They must be able to secure homes at prices in line with their wages.

It is a well known and recognized fact that the living conditions to which labor is subjected, plays a large part in the productiveness and contentment of the laborer. Automatically our town suffers as rents are high and the general conditions not satisfactory.

There is a crying need for the Chamber of Commerce to take the Chamber of our people for the increasing of industries and labor using organizations but while we may assure any prospective or desirable industry that labor is abundant and that houses will be provided, yet the logical result of any inquiries would be some such as follows: Mr. A. the head of a large industry who might desire to locate a branch of his business in Salisbury would write us asking questions as to the general conditions and among those questions almost without exception we find one which asks the number of companies already located here. Mr. A. at once writes to Mr. B. who has knowledge as to the actual conditions and Mr. B. replies that their branch or other organization here has experienced hardships in securing as much labor as it needs by reason of the fact that houses are not available for the people that would be inclined to work in his plant. The chances are we would receive a very courteous letter from Mr. A. thanking us for our invitation but that he found it impossible to locate in Salisbury at this time.

A number of our plants at the present time find themselves seriously handicapped by reason of the fact that they can not get their productions up to a satisfactory point because of shortage in employees. To illustrate this point it might be called attention to the branch plant of the American Cigar Company. This organization as you know is among the first five or six great corporations of the United States. They came here at no expense to the town and are at the present time employing about a hundred and fifty people a week with a weekly payroll varying from $2,000 to $2,500. They have the machines already to install and would gladly hire one hundred more persons which would bring the payroll to practically $4,000.00 per week. They are now employing a truck at a cost of about $100.00 per month to bring laborers to their plant. What is true of this Company is also true of several others and it would appear that our efforts might well be directed toward the creating of conditions which would retain to our city a weekly payroll as high as that indicated above, as well as securing better labor conditions for other plants in our city.

HEAVY PENALTIES ARE PUT AGAINST DRY LAW SINNERS

Federal District Attorneys Show Collective Sentences Of Two Thousand Years Imposed On Violators—Fines Assessed Total Up Over 5 Million. Statistics relative to dry law enforcement have been made public by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. They are based on reports from district attorneys including all liquor cases handled up to December 1, 1922, by attorneys of the Department of Justice. The collective penalties now being paid by violators of the national prohibition law on convictions in the federal courts, for the entire United States since July, 1921, were 2,000 years in jail and more than five million dollars in fines.

There have been 58,862 cases in the eighteen-month period reported to the U. S. Department of Justice offices in the United States. Attorneys acting for the Department of Justice, have obtained 27,301 convictions with jail sentences aggregating 2,045 years, 11 months and 24 days, and fines totaling $5,220,558.02. There are pending on the dockets of federal courts 21,850 cases undeposited of December 1, 1922, with more than 3,000 new cases developing every month.

It is noted that federal courts in states that were dry before national prohibition became effective have less crowded dockets than those in former wet states. The attorney general said, is due largely to the fact that most of the liquor prosecutions in the dry states are taken under state prohibition laws and it is only in certain more important cases, notably those involving conspiracy, that it has been found to be advisable for federal officials to act. The attorney general might have added that the less crowded docket may also be due to the fact that in states that were dry before national prohibition became operative there were fewer violations of the law, and that the longer the prohibition policy is in effect the better it is observed. It rapidly proves its worth and just as rapidly makes new recruits to the dry ranks.

As might be expected, the most crowded docket of all is found in the southern district of New York, the report shows, which includes New York City. During the last fiscal year there were 84 trials with 937 convictions, showing that in most of the cases pleas of guilty were entered.

SYRUPS TAKE PLACE ALONGSIDE OF SUGAR

The housekeeper of fifty years ago, according to the annals of cookery, was very adept at preparing "plain cooking," but she had little time or instinct for preparing fancy desserts. A layer-cake, a pie or occasionally a simple pudding comprised the list of her accomplishments in that line. In this respect, as in many others, it is different today.

Scientific discoveries and inventions from the vacuum cleaner to automatic dish and clothes washers, have lifted a huge burden from the modern housekeeper's shoulders. She has commenced to live more intensely and vigorously than of old times. Simultaneously she has sought means to improve the attractiveness of the home.

WHO PAYS?

THERE is an old saying that if a person needs a thing, he pays for it whether he buys it or not. If your family needs the protection of life insurance, someone is going to pay for it. If you fail to insure, the premiums of want, suffering and privation pile up and must be paid by your widow and fatherless children.

URGES CARE FOR BIRDS DURING WINTER MONTHS

State Game Warden Makes Appeal To Scatter Grain Especially When Snow Is On Ground

At this time of the year previous to severe cold weather or heavy snows, it is always necessary to call the attention of the public to the necessity of feeding the birds. A state may do a great deal in the way of restocking depleted covers, but more can be gained by saving what we have than by purchasing at great expense large quantities of birds and other game. It is only necessary for farmers and sportsmen and bird lovers to divert a little time, and a small amount of grain to save many birds and game animals throughout the State of Maryland. A shelter provided for them to protect them from the snow or a place scrapper bare in the snow and feed scattered thereon will accomplish a great amount of good and the State Game Department urgently requests all those who are interested to do what they can, especially since the ground is now covered with a deep snow.

CLINICS FOR SCHOOLS OF 3 COUNTIES

Wicomico's Clinic Being Sponsored By Local Chapter Red Cross.

DENTISTS CO-OPERATE WITHOUT ANY CHARGE

Work to Be Started Among Pupils of First and Second Grades—Medical and Surgical Clinic Also Planned—These Innovations Under State Department of Health.

At a meeting of the Eastern Shore Dental Association, which was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on the 8th of February, the matter of establishing dental clinics in the schools of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties was taken by the Deputy State Health Officer, Dr. de Somosky. This subject met with the hearty approval of the dentists of these three counties and the matter of arranging a program and outlining the work that was to be done was taken up.

It was decided that, due to the short time which remains before the end of the school year, it was better to take up the work in the first and second grade school children. This work will consist of prophylactic work, and each child will be given a chart of the dental work that is necessary to be done. This prophylactic work will be entirely without charge, the dentists giving their time and whatever materials are necessary to carry out the work.

The arrangements as to completing other dental work in the schools is a matter which will have to be taken up at the beginning of the succeeding school year.

All necessary plans have been made for carrying out the program as above outlined, and the work will start in all three of these counties within the next two weeks.

It is hoped that within a short time a similar medical and surgical clinic can be organized, but this matter is delayed due to the fact that the new addition to the Hospital is not as yet completed.

This work will be augmented by the establishment of welfare centers throughout these three counties where proper care, attention and instruction can be given to the mothers of young children and babies, special attention being given to the feeding of the under-nourished children.

This work will be under the direction of the State Department of Health and the State Welfare Department.

The funds for the Red Cross nurse who will have the greater part of the burden of this work are being supplied by the members of the local Red Cross organization.

"GROW MORE LEGUMES", IS RECOMMENDATION OF SPECIALIST TO FARMERS OF WICOMICO

F. W. Oldenburg, University Of Md. Extension Service, Spent Last Week In County—Soy Bean Should Be Propagated Extensively, His Advice.

F. W. Oldenburg, soils and crops specialist of the University of Maryland Extension Service, in the following article gives much expert advice to the farmers of Wicomico county regarding the getting of the most service out of their lands. Mr. Oldenburg spent last week touring the county with County Agent Cobb, and his opinions and recommendations at this season of the year, just prior to planting time, should prove invaluable to local farmers. A little later Mr. Oldenburg will return and give lectures and demonstrations in various districts of the county which he found impracticable this trip because of the condition of county roads.

In pursuance of a request of this paper for his recommendations for local readers in agricultural pursuits, the specialist had this to say: "To improve Eastern Shore soil one important thing is more legumes. These have the ability to take nitrogen out of the air, a good crop adding anywhere from 50 to 100 pounds per acre.

It is well to remember that nitrogen is principally in the tops of the plants. The soy bean, especially, should be more generally grown in this county, and the day should soon arrive when there is one field every year on every farm in soy beans. On nearly every farm on the Eastern Shore of Maryland soy beans could be grown in place of wheat with profit to farmers and for the betterment of the soil.

"Soy beans are grown both for hay and as a cash crop when seed are sold. The hay, when well made, is equal in value to alfalfa hay—in fact, many dairymen claim even better results with it. The average yield for this region is about two tons to the acre, although on rich land a much higher yield is produced. When grown for seed they produce somewhat more than wheat, and the growers have been getting at least twice as much per bushel as for wheat, besides the soy bean straw, which will be at least a ton, makes excellent feed for all the farm animals and they seem to prefer it to any other feed.

"In regions where soy beans are grown on an extensive scale a harvester is used that takes the beans directly from the vines. This leaves the vines in the fields to be plowed under, and the few beans left can be fed off to the hogs. This lowers the cost of production of the beans and brings up the soil fertility. There are already two such harvesters in the county, and it is reported that several others are planning to get them the coming season. One of the harvesters has been in operation on the farm of W. E. Pligim, Delmar, Spring Hill Road, for several years with success.

"It is time for farmers to be making their final selection of seed corn for this Spring's planting. The principal thing to guard against in selection of seed corn is root rot. Corn with good, hard grain should first be selected, and several times as much as is needed to plant. In picking out for root rot the following method is (Continued on Page 2.)

SALE OF 100 LOTS STARTED MONDAY LAST

North Division Street Extended Property Being Sold On Installment Plan For Long & Johnson.

Another large sale of lots started on Monday morning of this week when S. Franklyn Woodcock, Sales Manager for Long & Johnson, owners of a large tract of land on North Division Street Extended just beyond the railroad tracks, put on sale practically one hundred building lots at terms within reach of the pocketbook of even the small wage earner.

Mr. Woodcock feels fully convinced from previous sales that in putting within the reach of this class of people these lots, he is able in some degree to solve the housing situation here and also give this class of citizen the opportunity to own his own home. A small initial payment and the remainder on the installment plan at a small sum per week is the method by which these lots are being sold.

As soon as a man has finished paying for his lot, Mr. Woodcock stands ready to erect a home on the same plan. A field office is now on the ground which a man is on duty from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M., to answer questions and close deals. Many of the lots front directly on the Salisbury-Delmar stone road in one of the most rapidly growing sections contiguous to Salisbury.

Salisbury Rotary Has Served City Well Since Its Inauguration Three Years Ago

Review Of Local Club's Activities For Community Betterment Discloses Unfailing Dedication To Cardinal Principles Of International Rotary Now Celebrating 18th Anniversary With Nearly 90,000 Members.

"He profits most, who serves best." In looking back over the pages of local history that have been written since the winter of 1920, one is quick to discern the stimulating hand of those who have pledged themselves to a promulgation of the above theory.

Salisbury's Rotary Club has been a most active force in the advancement of the civic and commercial interests of the community that gave it birth and the broad principles involved in the splendid slogan of "Service above self" have been strikingly exemplified in the individuals making up this city's quota to International Rotary.

On January 14th, 1920, Rotary was inaugurated in Salisbury with a membership of 25 men. Today in the celebration of Anniversary Week of the national body, Salisbury is represented by 72 sons of finance and industry. The club's growth has been commensurate with the enormous strides made by the parent organization. Rotary demands that a man shall do his bit of the world's work so that the impact of his life makes men who do business with him have a firmer trust in humanity; makes womanhood feel safer; and makes every child have a better chance. How well the Salisbury Rotary Club has fulfilled these moral obligations is seen when a brief

"TRY-TRY AGAIN" WORKS IN RECOVERING AUTO

Unsuccessful In First Attempt Princess Anne Man Returns Later In Night And Finds Stolen Auto

A stolen car, belonging to J. W. Scott a traveling salesman of Onancock Va., was located on Smith Street near Newton one night last week by the owner and a companion named Ed Wood Wilson. The car was stolen from in front of the Washington Hotel, Princess Anne, while the owner was taking supper at the hostelry. Coming to Salisbury, together with deputy sheriffs Culver and Sterling, of Somerset, Mr. Scott at once got in touch with the State Police, but a search of the city was unsuccessful. A man was found here who had been given a ride by Mr. Scott from Kings Creek to Princess Anne in the afternoon but he disclaimed any knowledge of the lost touring car. Scott then returned to Princess Anne but after midnight returned here and was successful in his quest.

FIGURES MADE PUBLIC THURSDAY SHOW COUNTY SCHOOLS HIGH IN ATTENDANCE

Third Of 23 Counties Of State In Attendance White High And Elementary, Also Colored Pupils—Increase Marvellous When Considered Only 1-3 Of Children Attended In '16.

Plans for increasing school attendance were discussed at a meeting on Thursday last in Baltimore of the county attendance officers. The meeting was held in the office of the Baltimore County School Board, William J. Holloway, Assistant State Superintendent of Education and formerly superintendent of schools in Wicomico county, presided. Charles E. Tilghman, attendance officer for this county, was in attendance.

As a result of the conference the spirit of rivalry among the various counties will be invoked to increase the average attendance. The standing of the school in this respect will be published in the county papers from time to time. Parents as well as children will be impressed with the necessity of regular attendance of pupils if the most good is to be gotten from the funds appropriated for school purposes.

Wicomico county occupied an enviable place in all three classes—white high schools, white elementary schools and colored schools. In each class she ranked third in the counties. In white high schools the Wicomico per cent attendance was shown as 91.3, while the county average was but 87.1, and even that of Baltimore City was lower, 90.1.

In the white elementary school class the average for the county is 80.6, the county average for the State is 75.8 per cent, while the State average is 78.4.

Colored school attendance records showed Wicomico 77.2. This exceeded Baltimore City, which was 72.7, and the state average was 68.2.

An increased attendance in the county schools here since 1916. In that year there was an attendance of only 65.6 per cent, which means that nearly one-third of the pupils enrolled did not attend school. In 1917, the terribly cold winter, the attendance dropped to 62.2 per cent. Then started the upward trend. 1918 found 69 per cent in their places in the classrooms. 1919, however, found the average falling again to 66.8 per cent.

In 1920 the authorities commenced to enforce in earnest the attendance law, with the result that the average leaped to 70.8 per cent. The next year it jumped to 81.5 per cent, and the averages for the past year speak for themselves.

Both this year and last Wicomico school attendance has been retarded by sickness; last year by scarlet fever, and this year by diphtheria.

Much of the credit for this increased attendance should go to Wicomico's efficient attendance officer, Charles E. Tilghman. In an interview on the subject of attendance, Mr. Tilghman said:

"It is not my wish to bring parents who have become delinquent in preparing their child's education before the bar of justice and impose a fine upon them, although in a few cases it has been necessary. When we find from the attendance books that a certain child under the age of fourteen has not attended school the required number of days, we later interview the parents and acquaint them with the (Continued on Page 2.)

WELL APPOINTED TEA AT SILVERMAN HOME

Occasion Was Annual Frances Willard Anniversary Affair Under Auspices Local W.C.T.U.

The home of Mrs. A. H. Silverman, Camden avenue, was the scene of a beautifully arranged tea on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. The occasion was the annual Frances Willard anniversary given by the W.C.T.U. to perpetuate the memory of the founder of Woman's part in the temperance reform of the world.

The program given was one of especial merit, and evoked the unlimited applause of a large audience. Miss Carrie Adkins, Miss Mildred Matthews, and Mrs. Wm. Feldman, were each at their best in rendering vocal solos, beautiful in melody and pleasing to a music-loving audience. Mrs. Engler proved that she was an artist of rare ability by rendering piano solos which both pleased and entertained.

Mrs. J. S. Taylor, paid a touching tribute to the memory of Frances Willard in which she emphasized the life of that great reformer and the campaigns which she led to perpetuate her work she began. Miss Ruth Silverman and a group of girls gave a patriotic demonstration in which America was shown as the satellite around which other nations were centering looking for light and guidance in leading to world prohibition.

Delightful refreshments were served by a group of ladies under the direction of the hostess. The W.C.T.U. feel that the success of this entertainment was entirely due to the committee of ladies in charge of arrangements and to the hostess who offered her home and time to the achievement of making it a success both socially and financially. The attendance was very large.

THREE STORY BUILDING FOR DIVISION ST.

Structure Being Built For Thos. Clnno To Cost About $45,000.00.

2 ADDITIONAL STORES FOR BUSINESS SECTION

Basement Will Be Used By Owners As Pool Room While Second And Third Floors Have Been Leased To Management Of Blue Bird Tea Room.

Plans have been completed and the contract awarded for the construction of the Clnno Building, on North Division street, on the site of the old Parker property. The specifications were drawn up by Architect Lloyd A. Richardson and call for a three story brick building with large basement, with white terra cotta front and trimmings. The contemplated structure is of such type as to be a credit to any town of the size of Salisbury and the cost, including the site, is estimated at $45,000.

The foundation work has been started and the firm which was awarded the contract, Pusey & Morris, Cape Charles, expect to complete the building some time the latter part of June or the first of July. In the basement will be located a first class, up-to-date pool room which will be run by Frank Clnno.

On the first floor will be two store-rooms, one of which will be occupied by the owner, Thomas Clnno and the other will be rented out, probably to Harry Dennis, shoe merchant. The entire second and third floors will be leased to the Blue Bird Tea Room management. On the second floor will be a large, modern dining room front with a smaller one in the rear for the use of private parties. The third floor will be used for living quarters for the White family, proprietors of the Tea Room who will also rent out rooms. This firm, although in business but a few months has far outgrown its present quarters in the Williams Building.

MARCH 5TH CIRCUS DAY IN SALISBURY

Salisbury is now thoroughly placarded for the first circus of the year which comes here on March 5th, and exhibits in the Arcade Theatre, after noon and evening. The show is under the direction of the physical department of the Y.M.C.A.

In addition to the Physical Department exhibit which was the talk of the town last year, Pamahasika's Pets, monkeys, dogs, cats, birds and other amusing and wild animals are included this year. This man has had 40 years experience training animals and his show is well worth the price of admission alone.

PORTER UNSIGNED

Contracts were mailed out last Friday by Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles to all players unsigned for 1923. One of these players is "Dick" Porter, the Allen boy. Whether Porter is a holdout or not is unknown at this time. He certainly delivered the goods for Dunn last season and would seem to have "rounds for a boost in salary as 1922 was more or less of a trial season.

NEGRO DOCTOR ARRESTED ON DRUG CHARGE

A. F. McLaurens, Delaware St., Said To Have Peddled Narcotics.

DECOYED INTO TRAP BY AID MARKED MONEY

Arrested Friday By Sheriff After Official Sends Two Truanted Colored Girls To Secure Some "Dope"—First Intimation Of Unlawful Practice Came From Prisoner.

Dr. Archie F. McLaurens, colored, ostensibly a practicing physician with a large number of patients but in reality an alleged notorious peddler of narcotic drugs, was arrested at his home on Delaware street this city, by Sheriff Farlow Friday last.

The doctor has been very popular for sometime, it is said, with drug addicts locally and is said to have dealt quite extensively in "dopes," being his office as a distribution center for activities.

Some time back a negro was arrested following a fracas in the White House Restaurant, operated by Sam Henry on East Church street. This man recently in the course of a conversation with Sheriff Farlow told the officer that he was not himself when he participated in the shooting affair and that he was under the influence of cocaine. Further questioning revealed that it had been procured from the negro physician.

Two truanted colored girls were then called in by the Sheriff, given marked money and told to proceed to McLaurens' home and buy a certain amount of cocaine under the pretense of wanting to smuggle it into the jail to Sambo Brown, a negro prisoner. This story the negroes told the doctor.

The latter was somewhat suspicious and told the girls it is said that he did not propose to "have them turn him over" or something to that effect, further stating that there was another doctor who prescribed for the jail and that he, himself, was out of the dope at this time. He finally agreed to write a prescription in the name of one of the girls and this he is said to have done. He was accordingly paid with the marked money. The prescription was then filled, the cocaine taken away from the negroes, McLaurens arrested and the marked money found on his person.

He is now held in jail awaiting a hearing for unlawfully prescribing narcotic drugs. He is said to have been arrested just last week for being drunk and disorderly and released upon payment of a fine.

OCEAN CITY HIGHWAY CLAIMS ANOTHER TOLL

Health Officer Hurt When Heavy Closed Car Swerves Off Road And Crashes Into Telephone Pole.

Again the Ocean City road has claimed a toll of automobile wreckage. On Sunday evening while returning from a visit to the nearby Atlantic beach, three prominent Salisburyans figured in a highway mishap that fortunately caused no serious casualties.

The accident happened on a sharp curve just outside of this city and of the three occupants of the car, Dr. Charles Smith, Mr. Frank Adams and Dr. DeSomoskey, only the latter was injured when the heavy closed coach swerved off the roadway and crashed sideways into a telephone pole.

Dr. Smith, the owner and driver of the car, states that he lost control of the machine when cigar ash blew into his eyes, momentarily blinding him. Though only traveling along at about 35 miles per hour he was unable to stop the car ere it had run off the road and headed for a telephone pole.

Recovering his poise in time to swing his steering wheel around thus skidding the car, Dr. Smith avoided a headlong collision that would have probably proved fatal to all parties. However, Dr. de Somoskey, who occupied the back seat alone, was stunned by the crash of the side of the heavy car against the pole. He was taken to the Peninsula Hospital suffering from abrasions on the side of his head and a bruised body. Dr. Smith and Mr. Adams escaped without a scratch. The machine was badly damaged and was not covered by insurance.

DR. BEALE IS DOING WELL IN PATERSON

Word from Paterson, N. J., indicates that the Rev. Wilson F. Beale, pastor of Eastside Presbyterian Church, formerly at Wicomico Presbyterian church, this city, is doing a great work in that place. At one service Sunday week twenty-three persons were received into membership. Dr. Beale has many friends in Salisbury and will be pleased to learn of his continued success in the New Jersey city.

AT NEW STAND

Joe Barranco, the well-known local fruit merchant, has leased the Pooler store room on North Division Street formerly occupied by the Tire Shop and is getting ready to open up his business.

J. D. ESTILL ATTEMPTS TO END HIS LIFE

Five Bullet, Supposedly At Heart, At His Home On Thursday.

IS NOW SITTING UP AND WILL RECOVER

Innocent And Nervous Troubles Had Evidently Brought On Dependence And Depression Of Mind—Business Affairs And Family Life Said To Be All Right.

John D. Estill, in charge of the estimating department of the E. B. Adkins Lumber Company, and a veteran of the World War, attempted suicide at his home on New York avenue about 5:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon while alone at his home by firing a bullet from a pistol into his body. The shot was evidently aimed at his heart but went a little wild and lodged about two inches above the vital organ.

Mr. Estill's wife and two small children had gone down town to do some shopping with Mrs. Estill's father, the Rev. Vaughn S. Collins, Superintendent of the Salisbury District, Wilmington Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, who lives in Salisbury.

He was found by Mrs. Estill upon her return and medical aid was immediately summoned. Dr. John M. Eldridge soon arrived on the scene and rendered first aid and on Friday morning the bullet was extracted by Dr. J. McF. Dick.

Mr. Estill had suffered quite a bit recently from insomnia and nervous troubles and is supposed to have been in a despondent condition as persons who had seen him earlier in the afternoon had noticed that he seemed much depressed. His business affairs are said to be in good shape and his family life is said to have been a happy one.

In the late war he was a Quartermaster Sergeant in the forces of the United States abroad and at present is technical sergeant in the reserves. He is a member of Wicomico Post, American Legion. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is now practically out of danger and is able to sit up in bed.

PROPERLY PREPARED LAMBS REMUNERATIVE

Valuable Information As To Care Of These Animals Given By U. S. Dept. Of Agriculture

Docking and castration of lambs destined for the market materially increases their market value because of improvement in quality, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are several reasons for this. Docking makes the hind-quarters of lambs appear more blocky and deep and it also adds much to the cleanliness of the animals. Thus they appear more attractive to the buyer when they reach the market. Ewes which are to be kept in the breeding flock should also be docked as a very large portion of the undocked ewes will fail to breed.

From lambs over three months of age tend to grow thin and develop coarse shoulders and neck. Thin-fleshed, coarse, open-shouldered lambs are not of a desirable quality and when they reach the market they are discriminated against by the buyers because of these features. If the lambs are castrated and docked when they are a few days old their growth will not be retarded. On the other hand they will present a better appearance and if they have been properly fed will have a smooth, desirable finish at four months of age. Lambs of good quality in this condition command a premium over bucky and prodded lambs at the markets. Oftentimes during the period when the Jersey City market is receiving large numbers of lambs from the Eastern States, lamb prices at that market fluctuate sharply because of the high percentage of undocked and bucky lambs which are discriminated against by buyers seeking a high quality product. Improving the quality of the lambs intended for that market will help to stabilize prices, according to members of the trade represented there.

Wether lambs are quiet and easily handled. They feed well and make good gains in flesh, particularly in the hind-quarters, the region of the high priced cuts. Thus a better quality of carcass is secured together with higher market prices for wether lambs. Meat of this quality when sold by the retailer will result in a well satisfied consumer and a future demand for more meat of the same quality. It is often stated that lambs which are to be shipped to the market before they are four months old need not be castrated. This is a mistake as some of the same animals will begin to worry the rest of the flock and to lose flesh before this time. Furthermore, the market may not be strong at the time the lambs reach this age and they may be held back by the owner for several weeks for higher prices. During this time the ram lambs will not only rapidly lose in weight but if kept with the rest of the flock they will also cause the ewes and wether lambs to lose flesh.

Neither docking nor castrating are dangerous operations if properly performed. Lambs should be docked and castrated when they are from seven to fourteen days of age, as there is practically no retarding of growth and less pain than in the case when they are older. Lambs may be docked and castrated at the same time, thus avoiding the necessity of the operations should be performed on a clear day, cool morning and care should be taken that the animals are not excited or overheated either before or after the work is done.

A sharp knife or some type of docking irons may be used to do the docking. In either case the tail should be cut at the first joint which occurs about one inch from the body. If a knife is used the lamb should be held with the feet up, the stump resting on the top of the fence or upon the knee of the person assisting in the work. There is less pain when the knife is used but there is more loss of blood and it is sometimes necessary to tie a string around the stump to prevent the lamb from losing a large amount of blood. This string must be removed a few hours later. When hot irons are used it is necessary to rest the lamb on a board. The irons near the stump as the cut is made and this prevents the loss of blood. The wound will heal more slowly, however, than when a knife is used.

In castrating the lamb should be held in the same position as for docking. The lower third of the scrotum should be cut off and the testicles pulled straight out. It is highly important that the wound be washed with an antiseptic solution and that the hands and knife be disinfected for each operation. It is also necessary to furnish clean quarters for the lambs in order to prevent infection of the wounds.

Car Is Stolen And Recovered In Hour

Ford Sedan Of W. H. Livingston Is Abandoned Near West Main St. Station Sunday Night.

A Ford sedan, owned by the family of W. H. Livingston, near this city, and driven down town by his son, William, was stolen from in front of Powell's Store about eight o'clock Sunday night while the driver was in the Candy Kitchen. The State Police were at once notified and started a search.

About an hour later, Officers Cahall and Sullivan of the city police force, received a call from West Main street, saying that someone had tried to rob a gasoline tank in that vicinity and had made off when discovered leaving an abandoned Ford sedan. The officers confiscated the car, carried it to the garage of Pope & Parker, where it was restored to its owner.

Jurors Are Selected For March Court

Term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county, is setting the politicians to talking about the possible candidates for the various offices to be nominated at the coming primaries.

For years the convening of the March Term Court has been the occasion for the coming out of candidates and many slates have been made and broken during the two to four weeks' session.

Hundreds of people from the rural districts avail themselves of the opportunity to come to Salisbury during court, many of whom serve as jurors but by far the larger number come to discuss politics and to meet old friends.

In the old convention days, when the party leaders dictated to the convention the list of nominees for the various offices, the March Term was looked forward to with interest by the men who were looking for political preferment, and the gathering here of so many people never failed to bring out numerous candidates for office.

But times have changed from those of the old convention days. Now the candidates don't wait for the coming March Term to make their announcements, but avail themselves of the public press to announce their willingness to "serve the dear people" at any time, even months in advance of the primaries.

For several weeks the announcements of two aspirants for county sheriff both in the Democratic party, have appeared in the county press. It is said that this fight will, in all likelihood, be more than a two man affair before the primaries roll around. Candidates in plenty are also being talked for other offices among the Democrats but as yet no announcements have been forthcoming through the columns of the county press.

There will undoubtedly be many more announcements from Democrats in the near future, forecasting a warm fight in the September primaries.

NERVOUS WOMAN COMPLETE WRECK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"Now I want to tell you just what induced me to take your medicine. It seemed that I had some kind of weakness so that I could not carry a child its full time. The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and if I did that I would never be well and strong again. But I told them that I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound ever since, and if you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. MARY F. BRANTON, 224 Detroit St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire reproductive system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intends.

suggested: In order to see both ends of the cob the butt and the tip are cut off with a sharp corn knife. If any discoloration is noted, principally in the form of a pink, brown or yellow ring around the pith, which indicates the presence of root rot, such ears are cast out and only those retained for best seed that show a clear white inside. In 1921 the average gain on farms where this was done was about 33 bushels per acre, and last year, which was a good corn year, it was nearly eight bushels per acre gain. There is no easier way of raising that much extra corn.

"The best time to select seed corn is in the Fall, before freezing weather arrives. Seed corn should be selected at this time and put away where it can be dried out thoroughly and not exposed to freezing weather before it is dry, for it has been found that if it has been exposed to a freezing temperature it will be hurt and the yield will be decreased, although testing the seed shows that every grain will germinate. If this is done, in addition to selecting for type and against root rot, we can expect a de-

law in regards to the education of their children. If after a time they continue the practice, they are summoned to appear before a Justice of the peace to show just cause for the delinquency. In most cases I have found that the parents were ignorant of the existing law and readily agreed to send their children to school when it had been thoroughly explained. The number of cases tried each year in which fines are imposed are generally less than the previous year.

"The law compels full attendance only of children between the ages of seven and thirteen years. From 13 to 17 they have to make 100 days or so to school five of the nine months. This permits the parents to have the use of their children's help in all busy seasons."

NO EVIL:—Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation: there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. —Psalm 91:9, 10.

OUR ROTARY.

With Rotary Anniversary Week being celebrated in all parts of this country and abroad too, there comes to the attention of the people in general a real conception of the magnificent work that is being accomplished by this great body of men, linked together in one grand purpose of "Service Above Self."

Growing out of a small union of nineteen business men in Chicago in the year 1905, the organization has miraculously expanded until today over 86,000 members of 1,300 clubs in twenty-seven different countries are bound together by a motto that sets forth the most ideal and unselfish code of ethics. The ideal of service is as deep and as broad as the human race itself and the individuals who have caught the great vision are reflecting it in grand style to the vast betterment of the world.

The philosophy of Rotary is not new, save that it is a modern expression of an old thought. For many centuries thinking men have realized the necessity of substituting brotherhood and service for hate and personal aggrandizement. The promotion of the former commendable qualities has been the duty of each Rotarian, and in each city where his noble club is attaining its objective, there stand many monuments of fitting testimonial to the success that has crowned the efforts of Rotary.

The average man has but a limited capacity for abstractions, but a much greater capacity for concrete effort. By affording him opportunities for the latter, Rotary incidentally brings him a little closer to the former. And so, in the commercial world was first instituted this idea of co-operation by mutual service, as a solution for the problem of human relations. Consequently many a man's conception of his life and his business has been revolutionized. He has come to make a great discovery; that his daily work, by which he earned his living, could become a channel through which he could honestly serve his fellow-men, developing the finest elements of his own manhood and leaving his community broadened and strengthened.

Salisbury is rightfully proud of the manner in which her sons of finance and industry have partaken of the bread of Rotary. Ever since the winter of 1920, this community has strikingly felt the touch of the unselfish hand of its Rotary Club and great has been the benefit. Working as they have, both as individual units and as cogs in the machine, the members of our representative group have "put across" many worth-while programs and have lent aid to other causes. With seventy-two exponents of Rotary's golden principles now united in common effort, this city's progress must in a great measure be attributed to a finely evolved esprit de corps. Here's to Salisbury's Rotary Club.

WON AND LOST.

The School Board of Wicomico county is to be congratulated upon the standing of this county in comparison to other counties of the State in the school attendance records recently given out at a meeting of the school attendance officers in Baltimore City. Wicomico ranked third both in the figures presented for High schools and those for elementary schools.

This splendid showing in the educational circles of the State is indicative of an educational system and organization in this county that is far above the average and reflects no small amount of credit upon the officials. Attendance officer Charles E. Tilghman deserves the lion's share of the praise for he is the man directly responsible for the attendance figures in the various schools and his methods in securing a high percentage of attendance have proved their worth in the test.

Wicomico county occupied an enviable place in all three classes that were considered in the comparison by William J. Holloway, Assistant State Superintendent of Education. In the attendance records for white high schools, white elementary schools and colored elementary schools, this county came third and topped Baltimore city in each instance.

Accomplishments in this particular phase of school work can easily be interpreted as examples of results obtained in other departments because a system that arouses the interest of the children in their class rooms and elicits the co-operation of the parents in seeing that they get there is certain to provide not only educational training of the highest order but moral as well. What a pity it is that that lack of adequate facilities for the reception of the many students is allowed to blot records achieved.

BETTER TEETH—BETTER HEALTH.

Announcement this week that a dental clinic for school children has been arranged by the health authorities of Worcester, Somerset and Wicomico counties and members of the Eastern Shore Dental Association should elicit much favorable comment in every quarter. In this move both of the above-named groups should receive the greatest of co-operation for it means but another feather step forward in the advancement of health in the community.

Life has been made much safer for us all by the progress of medical knowledge during the past few decades and by the general spread of hygienic information. A great part of the increase in the average life span recorded in recent years is due to the vast amount of medical work among the children in the land. And one of the most important items on the public health programs has been the care of the teeth.

The establishment of dental clinics in the schools of these three neighboring counties is therefore going to be responsible for a greater inclination on the part of children and in their parents to see that the mouth and teeth are not neglected. And in growing up this the clinics will materially aid in the betterment of the physical being of each boy and girl that comes under their supervision.

That the mouth is a natural breeding place for germs of all kinds has long been acknowledged and its relation to the healthy normal individual is all-important. Many impending ailments on the part of children and adults are thwarted by constant and thorough care of the mouth.

The dental clinic in this county comes as a culmination of the work and efforts of the Nursing Activities' Committee of the local Red Cross. In September 1921, when Miss Mary Kell, the public health nurse, began the examination of the pupils in the first and second grades of the public schools, it becomes apparent even then that a free dental clinic was needed since fully 90% of the children were unfortunately burdened with defective teeth.

The Nursing Activities' Committee immediately began work on the problem and the funds necessary to promulgate such a clinic were secured by contributions from the Wicomico Woman's Club and other sources. The aid of the members of the Eastern Shore Dental Association was then enlisted and these dentists agreed to give a part of their time to the examination and treatment of the children. Deputy State Health Officer, Dr. DeSampsey has recently directed the attention of all the officials upon the problem and the clinics will start operating on Monday, February 26th. May they be but forerunners of more extensive health work among the children of today.

GOVERNMENT COSTS YOU $226 A YEAR.

William P. Helm, Jr., who delves into statistics for the National Budget Committee, tells us that nearly eight and one-half billion dollars are spent every year in governing the United States.

In round figures, there are forty millions of workers in the country having a gross income of $60,000,000,000. This means that the burden of government on every man and woman in business or professional life, including the 2,000,000 persons on the public payrolls, stands at $226 per head annually. Surely, if this fact were driven home there would be a deeper civic interest manifested among our thoughtless and spendthrift people.

If the annual governmental expenditure was paid in labor instead of in money, every worker in the United States would be giving up as his or her share, more than seven weeks of work every year.

The cost of government becomes staggering when closely considered. The number of public servants in the United States is greater than the number of all the military forces we sent abroad for the world war. If their salaries had to be paid in gold it would require all the gold in the world to meet the bill for a single year.

Counting the average family as five persons, the actual cost of government is about $400 per family per year. All of which comes as a result of lack of interest in public affairs. The situation is a sad reflection on the intelligent understanding of a businesslike people.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1923.

If you have a dollar and you take off ten per cent you have ninety cents left. If you put ten per cent back again, however, you haven't got your dollar back again. You've got ninety-nine cents. One cent has vanished in the operation of tearing down and building up. You can bank on it whenever you begin to monkey with something one hundred per cent strong you're going to suffer somehow. It's all very well to tear down before you build up, but it's best to be sure that the thing you attack can be improved. Tearing down before the plan of rebuilding is well in mind is a risky business. Watch your step. Better keep on building. The useless things wither away of their own account.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION INVITED.

The News is particularly desirous of building up its Letter Box Column to the greatest efficiency. This section of the paper is the mouthpiece of the people. Through it our readers are given the opportunity of expressing their personal views on the impending topics of the day, particularly those affecting local living conditions.

Few restrictions are placed on the manuscripts designed to find their way into this column. Correspondents are asked to be concise. As a rule 250 words should be enough; beyond that the editor reserves the right of blue penciling. The name and address must accompany the communication—not for publication unless it is the wish of the author, but as evidence of good faith. These manuscripts must reach the office not later than Tuesday morning.

This paper values, and gives the most careful consideration, to the views of its readers and welcomes constructive criticism of anything affecting the public welfare. Therefore each week hereafter we shall publish a subject along some line for the discussion of our readers in the following issue.

In this manner religious topics, educational matters, proposed legislation, sports and other items will be discussed from time to time. In this way those responsible for these things may have reflected to them that light so invaluable to success in any endeavor—public sentiment. Letters not pertaining to the subject given, of course, will be welcomed as usual and printed.

Salisbury finished last in the Eastern Shore Baseball League last season. How do you think she could turn the tables and have a winning nine on the diamond this year. Manager Shipley would doubtless welcome suggestions from real fans, what is yours?

Editor of News:
In Defense of Harmony Sabbath School

In the February 15th issue of the News appeared an article entitled "Revokes Privilege to Use of School House", to which we desire to reply. First, at the beginning of the execution of the plan to "put the Sunday School out," two members of the local Board were against the proposition to exclude the Sabbath School, reluctantly consented to it; this was manifested at a meeting of the local Board with a delegation of the Sabbath School. Second, the article states that "A majority of the people of the community" recommended that the Sabbath School should not be allowed to use the school house; this statement is a plain mistake, for the friends of the Sabbath School have 54 signers to their petition all over twenty-one years of age residing in the community, besides 10 others favorable to the school, (plus the children); while the opposers have only 34 names to their plea for "ousters" and it is said some of these are under age. More than three-fourths of the resident land owners and tax payers are favorable to the Sabbath School as shown by petition and stated verbally. Third, considering the moral and educational good that the Sabbath School has done for this community, and that the building was used only Sabbath afternoon and Thursday evening (for Prayer Meeting) the claim for "interference" is negligible; especially since the Sabbath School workers constitute a large majority of the tax payers and many of them first patrons of the day school, and earnest supporters of the same; John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, "Prince of American Merchants" said, that he regarded the Sunday School as the principal educator of his life; why should not the Sabbath School and its school go hand in hand for the betterment and education of the community.

We do not believe it is the will of the Lord that we are denied the use of our school house, for we have no other convenient place of worship and we do not feel able to build; many of the folks are now deprived of Sabbath School, including some older people, because some are too far away from any church, and others have no suitable conveyance.

Never have we violated any section of the Public School Laws, for we only teach BIBLE TRUTHS and BIBLE DOCTRINES; using David C. Cook & Co. literature, a strictly non-sectarian publishing house as every well informed Sabbath School worker knows; our school is made up of members of five or six different denominations, all working together in harmony for the upbuilding of the entire community. Allow us to further say, in support of our existence as an organization that during the past four years we have provided sufficient money to start three other Sabbath Schools in the neglected mountain regions of Southern Kentucky and Eastern Tennessee under the direction of a competent missionary. The school also has given liberally to the Near East Relief Fund and other charitable needs, and was active in county Sabbath School work, having won the "Banner" for three consecutive years. (1920, 1921, 1922) for the highest percent of officers and teachers present at our county convention; we also contributed more than our quota to the financial support of the county and state associations. The closing of the School is (for the present at least) one of the principal factors for good in our neighborhood, for which someone will have to give an account at the day of final reckoning; and if the children of this vicinity do not get proper religious teaching it is no fault of ours, but the blame will lie at the door of the opposers. With malice toward none and charity for all, we are earnestly praying for the right to prevail.

Committee for Liberty Sabbath School

Salisbury, Md.
February 20, 1923.
Messrs. Editors:
Will you please allow me a little space in your paper.
I see in last week's issue of your paper where the Board of Education has revoked the privilege to use the Frenzy's School house on Delmar road to hold Sunday School and Prayer Meeting in, on the recommendation of trustees and a majority of the people in that community.
I would like to state right in the beginning that the majority of the people of this community did not sign the petition of trustees. They did have quite a few signers but the majority of them do not live in this community and I am sure that the most of them have never been to Sunday School at this place. If they had, surely they would have refused to sign such a petition. If they the trustees of the school had attended this Sunday School they could have seen the work of the Lord being carried on in such a nice way they would not have thought of trying to break it up; but, would have felt like helping in the good work.

As for interfering with the day school I cannot see where that could be the case, for I have been there very often and have not seen the building left in any worse condition than what we found it in.
We furnished our own wood cleaned the school building after Sunday School was over; therefore, I think the Board of Education was a little hasty in revoking the privilege of the building to the delegation of the Sunday School until we had gotten our petition up and signed by the people who attended the Sunday School and lived near by. We did not know of any petition being carried around by one of the trustees.

CHEER UP, YOU'LL PAY JUST THE SAME.

There is a delightful humor in the announcement that the bituminous coal operators and miners in the central competitive field have come to an agreement to have no strike this year. The miners evidently have awakened to the fact that a strike spells only one thing—a greater exploitation of the public of which they themselves are a part. For the operators, their profits are secure either way.

The understanding to maintain peace was reached when the operators agreed not to reduce the present wage rates. That was the issue last year, so that technically, the miners have won a point. The operators, however, also have won, and now it only remains for the consumers to pay the price.

Wages are now fixed on a basis that the miners will have to work approximately only two-thirds of the time.
In other words, there are too many miners for the needed amount of coal, and so the public must carry the burden of the idle time. When there are too few workers the public pays the high prices because of lack of production.

We could understand this economic operation if there were any law compelling a man to be a coal miner, but as there is not, it would seem that the coal business is being conducted with really scientific inefficiency and a total disregard of the public. The robbing of the people this year is little short of flagrant grand larceny.

Richard Lloyd Jones says

ABOUT TOWN BUILDING.

When Chicago burned, its bankers and builders were in despair, until its leading real estate operator, who at the time was in California, was reached by wire with the question, "What shall we do?" The one word answer came back, "BUILD." It was that faith in the future that remade the inter-ocean metropolis.

Every city is as great as the faith of its staunchest citizens. No greater. The real asset of a city is not its past but its future.

Complacency is as deadly to a community as to an individual. The town that waits to be discovered has hardly a gambler's chance of growth. The town that has discovered itself has opened a future's door to greatness. The city that would find for itself a future must utilize the NEW and not the old. Each age demands improvement on the past.

The merchant who so respects ancient methods that he ignores the newest ideas in merchandising, must lose his lead to the merchant who is eager to employ the last in salesman efficiency.

The town that holds fast to obsolete and ideas and ideals surrenders supremacy. The community that expects to fall by accident into industrial greatness through no effort of its own, has a child-like faith in modern miracles, and has as little chance of its hope's fulfillment as has the youth, who, by wishing, would see the river change to honey.

The wish is worthless without the will. Imagination precedes the architect's pencil in its course, but the mason must follow that tracing ere the castle in air is anchored to earth.

Ethical laws are as essential to life and the growth of things as physical laws. The flower unfolds according to a well-ordered plan. Town problems are merely the common problems of individuals. The town that is without plan and purpose, without ideas and ideals, is as colorless and as hopeless as the individual who lacks these attributes, as the mason without blueprints before him.

The town that permits selfish interests to outplay common interests, that allows personal wants to warp community ideals, and low aims to thwart high aims, handicaps its chances of being bigger and better.

Many minds are wiser than one mind. We create instruments of government, develop boards of commerce and clubs dedicated to civic interests to pool the intelligence of thinking minds. Secure is the town whose destinies are carved out by the common judgment of minds, endowed with the enthusiasm of common sense.

The satisfied mind wants nothing, does nothing, accomplishes nothing. But the mind that is obsessed with a wholesome unrest is likely to bless the world with benefits.

So with the town. The community that is eager to be better is destined to be bigger, healthier, wealthier and wiser.

Uncle John's Poem

THE MENACE.

With all of the rubbish that litters our minds, we only endure the impossible kinds; there's some that blows in, with the dust of the day, but it's never much trouble to bresh 'em away. There's other afflictions that do us to leath; they sizzle our whiskers and shorten our breath—and the gezzer in front of the villainous clan, is what we may term "the impossible man."

The wisdom of sages is, stored in his bean—he's the knowinest critter that ever was seen. He's allers around where there's nothin' to do,—discussin' religion and politics, too! He can periscope, publish, and piffle, and plan,—this most super-human, impossible man. He's full to the muzzle, of virulent gall, and generally fights with his back to the wall—for no one endorses his militant jazz—if any one did it he's sorry he has,—we're sick of his bombast, and babble, and bosh—he ort to be sent to the Senate, begosh!

SHIPS AND SHIPMENTS.

Little Johnny was seeking information from his father.
Father, he asked, "freight is goods that are sent by water or land."
"Well, then, why is it that freight that goes by ship is called a cargo, and when it goes by car it is called a shipment?"
And then Johnny wondered why father put on his hat and sauntered out to get the air.—Everybody's little Johnny.

Male Of The Species To Cook This Supper

Young Men's Service Class, Asbury Church, Plans Unusual Event For Next Tuesday Evening. "Come get your chow". This is the call which the members of the Young Men's Service Class of the Asbury Church are causing their trumpeters to sound over the city in anticipation of a big supper to be held at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening, February 27th. And the reason the call is made in the name of "chow" is because the young men are not only going to serve the supper but they are going to cook it and drastic punishment is already being drawn up to be meted out to the woman who dares intrude on the boy's kitchen that night. The event is arousing no little interest because of its oddity of form and a big crowd is expected.

Indignation Evoked By Board's Ruling

Many Of Leading People In Vicinity Freeny's School Claim No Harm Done By Worshipping There. Considerable indignation seems to have been aroused among the people living in the neighborhood of Freeny's School by the action of the Board of Education in revoking the privilege of using the building for Sunday school and prayer meetings purposes. Some of the leading citizens of that section, which lies between this city and Delmar, have been loud in their protests on the ruling claiming that many of the signers on the petition, to do away with the school as a meeting house, did not live in the vicinity at all and furthermore that the majority of the best people in the neighborhood were in favor of religious worship there.

DR. PURNELL OFF TO "TORTILLS Y FRIJOLE"

Leaves Saturday To Make Future Home In Orizaba, Mexico—Resided in Country 23 Years. Dr. J. W. Purnell, for the past five years a dentist in Salisbury lately located in the Fisher building, Main street, leaves on Saturday to take up his future residence in Mexico. From Salisbury the doctor will go to Baltimore where he will spend a few days with his family. From there he will go to New York, sailing on Mar. 1st for Havana, Progresso, and Vera Cruz. From the famous seaport, he will take a train cross country to Orizaba, Mexico, where he proposes to settle. Orizaba is a city of around 50,000 inhabitants and according to Dr. Purnell has but four dentists neither of whom do any operative dentistry at all but confine their activities solely to extractions and the making of plates etc. Dr. Purnell is not going to a country strange to him as he has spent 23 years of his life in Mexico. He speaks the native language fluently and lived when there before in the town of Guadalupe about 100 miles from where he is now going and where he now has a brother who for the past 30 years has practiced dentistry there. In the town where Dr. Purnell will locate there are but three American citizens. The dentist is optimistic about the chances of making a good living in Mexico and states they are the best ever. The main drawback in the past, he states, has been the instability of the government which kept many from taking a chance in investing in the country. Dr. Purnell termed it the "finest country in the world." He will move his family from Baltimore to Mexico at the expiration of the present school year. "Tortills y Frijoles," is the term used to express Mexico in a slangy phrase, according to Dr. Purnell, which translated into English means white bread and beans. The dentist is a native of Snow Hill.

Bakst, Famous Costume Designer Reveals Tricks Of Costuming Art

Founder Of The Modern School Of Feminine Fashion Says Silhouette Is Most Important Part To Woman's Appearance—Tells Proper Garb For Both Stout And Thin People

A little bit of powder, a little bit of paint makes the little girl seem just what she is.

Lovely woman would be less lovely and charming if there were fewer ornaments written did she appear as nature made her, unaided by the little artifices which every smart woman knows. So, at least, says Leon Bakst, costume designer, founder of the modern school of costume design, and possessor of a name known to all who read the mystic writing of the sartorial slate.

In a recent address in New York before a gathering of smartly-gowned women in the Plaza ballroom, Mr. Bakst divulged many of the secrets which he knows so well, and, whisper it, dared to intimate that with the worst modern woman is casting aside her claim to the "sweet gracefulness" of which the poet sings.

"One finds thousands of graces in this voluntary improvement of the body," stated Mr. Bakst. "Woman is truly too much at her ease in the careless costume of today; and such an attitude on her part is rarely able to satisfy for long either art or taste. The velvet form of which the poet sings is obtained by artifice.

"And something tells me that, to give an impression of grace and beauty, it is necessary to resort to these artifices.

"The touchstone of the costume is the silhouette," Mr. Bakst stated. "This is never stable, but is continually changing.

"If one succeeds with the silhouette of the costume that is what is most essential for her success. It is the silhouette which really arrests the attention. Unfortunately, few women realize this. They think of their face, their hands, their feet, rather than of the silhouette. This is a familiar fault of painters.

"To show beauty and to hide the imperfections of the silhouette is a most powerful art. We must study what color is able to best bring perfection to nothing, so that it will not be seen or remembered.

"Black is the color with which to hide all imperfections. What one does not see one supposes is beautiful. The charm of the masked face at the ball lies in the black domino.

"When hips are too large let them be suppressed by black. White is a color which gives more massive impression. When you do not wish to use black use deep violet or blue or green for the same purpose.

"Ornaments and details that may be used as a means to correct imperfections of the silhouette. When I first introduced this idea, however, it was thought to be merely the invention of a half-savage Russian. What a revenge I have now!

"Singers, unfortunately, never abandon the false idea of wearing tight-fitting garments in order, as they suppose, to conceal any imperfections they may possess. This is not only bad taste, but by crushing in their fat in this manner they defeat their own end.

"For the fat, woman, eroline, heavy sating, velours, all are good. They conceal the body.

"We find that the native costume of every country is always good, and in true taste. Take the Spanish native costume, where almost all the women are heavy at thirty. Their costume is a skirt that is larges at the bottom, perhaps trimmed with ruffles, and gives a charming silhouette to the largest woman.

"When one remembers that the Spanish woman is always small of stature, one admires to see the clever way she has adapted the high collar, surrounded by enormous shell combs and draped with a mantilla which descends to the train and which elongates the silhouette and singularly fits it.

"The person who is thin is easy to deal with, but the person who is too thin is more difficult. Bones that are too obvious must be hidden, for they are traitresses. False pinks and draperies on the hips happily repair this. The shoulders, neck and arms of a woman who is too thin may be slightly padded in 'mousselines plines.' Here, the padding is effective on the person who is too thin.

"Horizontal designs and large designs also have the virtue of masquerading imperfections of the person who is too thin, and communicates to that person the illusion of flesh. Silver and gold ornamentations also are effective on the person who is too thin.

"Ermine and light furs are for the thin person, as they exaggerate fat. On the contrary, dark furs with long hair is for the woman who leans toward embonpoint.

"Most distasteful to M. Bakst of all costumes, most odious to his artistic soul, is the tailored suit of the modern woman. Yet he forbears to blame it, since it fills a need now that women are more and more in the public eye. But he is always grateful for the fall of night, when woman is able to take revenge on the half-man that she has been during the day and dress up. 'If she did not,' he exclaims, 'mon Dieu! What would become of us apostles of beauty!'—Baltimore American.

VITAL STATISTICS ON U. S. HEALTH AND LIFE

In Past 20 Years There Has Been a General Awakening on Matters of Public Hygiene.

During the last twenty years: 1. The infant mortality rate has been reduced over one third. 2. The tuberculosis death rate has been cut in half. 3. Typhoid deaths have been lowered 30 per cent. 4. Diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles have been greatly reduced. 5. Smallpox has practically been eliminated.

The non-communicable diseases are in a different category. 1. The death rate from cancer has steadily increased during the last 20 years. In 1900 it was 63 per 100,000; in 1920 it had risen to 83.4. 2. There was a similar increase in heart diseases which are the greatest single cause of death in the United States. In 1900 the death rate under this heading was 128.1 per 100,000; in 1920 it had risen to 186.2.

During the year 1921, according to reports of the Census Bureau: 1. There were decreases in the death rates from heart diseases, influenza and pneumonia, tuberculosis in all its forms; 2. The general death rate was the lowest recorded in any year since 1900. 3. There were decreases in the number of deaths by accident and injury on railroads and street cars, in mines and industrial plants. 4. There were considerable increases in the number of deaths by automobile accidents, suicide and homicide.

On the whole, it is an amazing record of progress. The expectation of life has increased by 15 years since 1870, and this remarkable result has been achieved by medical skill, by preventive hygiene, by the general awakening of the public to the importance of public hygiene and by hygienic education. The apparent increase in cancer is probably largely due to more accurate diagnosis and the more frequent reporting of cases. The increase in cardiac diseases is due to unwise living, excess of work or of play, and to the general speeding up of life. The automobilists know, without being told, why there are so many automobile accidents and crime commissions are busy discussing the reasons for the remarkable increase in the homicide rates.

Special Kind Sugar For Each Purpose

The modern cook has learned that it does not pay to put all her sugars into one container any more than it pays to put "all her eggs into one basket."

The reason is, they would get all mixed up, scrambled, not good for much. Her grandmother, or her great-grandmother may have had one large can marked "sugar," to which she went whenever she desired some of that condiment. One, on the other hand, has a series of boxes or cans. One is marked neatly "Granulated Sugar," another is marked "Brown Sugar," another is marked "Powdered Sugar," still another is labeled "Tablet Sugar." There are almost as many sugars alone as there used to be of all the spices.

It seems to the modern housekeeper dreadfully dull and unimaginative to make one kind of sugar do the work which might, with all sorts of improvements in taste and texture, be divided among several. She would not, for instance, in making candied sweet potatoes, put white granulated sugar into the pan. She is more in her choice and demands the harmonious, not quite so sweet, brown sugar.

On the other hand, when she is composing an icing she wants the sugar especially suited to that work, and calls upon confectioner's sugar. Baked beans dictate a return to brown sugar. Then, if she wished to do some baking or some ordinary sweetening, or to make candy, she will fall back on granulated sugar.

Whatever cooking she is engaged upon she has in connection with it an habitual instinct to choose among her five containers of different sugars.

HOUSEWORK IS A BURDEN
Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Salisbury women.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury says: "I was feeling badly for some time before using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was in a weak condition and everything I did was a burden to me. Rheumatic pains, shot through my shoulders causing me a great deal of pain. My head ached nearly all the time and I had constant dizzy spells. I tried different remedies but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box of Doan's I was much better and they entirely relieved the trouble. I have had no return of it and gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."—Advt.

A BUDDING ROMANCE

There was hardly even standing-room in the crowded tram, but a young woman wedged her way just inside the door.

Each time the car made a sudden forward lurch she fell back, and three times she landed in the arms of a portly man who was standing on the platform. The third time it happened he said quietly: "Excuse me, but hadn't you better stay here?"—Everybody's Magazine for March.

VERY TOUCHING.

The touching part of the evening was when Mrs. Lillian Wilson revealed ed the pasts of all the present lines in their hands, the different expressions were: "You have told enough." "Who told you that?" and "Yes; that is so." After telling the past, getting everyone excited and wanting to know their future, they could think of the future no longer, for at that time the finish of the evening was made known by serving lovely cake and cocoa. ## HOG CHOLERA COSTS MD. FARMERS $68,000

Heavy Annual Losses May Be Prevented, Says Dr. Atherton, Inspector in Charge

Hog cholera costs the farmers of Maryland in direct losses more than $68,000 in 1922, according to estimates of Dr. L. K. Atherton, inspector in charge of hog cholera work in Maryland, who argues that the disease will continue to take a heavy toll until the idea gains headway that it can be prevented more easily and cheaply than it can be controlled after it starts.

In his annual report of the work of his department for the past year, Dr. Atherton shows that there were 569 outbreaks of the disease during 1922 compared with 468 in 1921. Sixty per cent. of 354, of the total number of outbreaks were classified as primary or new outbreaks. The other forty per cent. or 235, were classified as secondary and had spread from primary outbreaks.

Dr. Atherton lays particular stress on the number of primary outbreaks which were due to the feeding of garbage, table refuse or kitchen scraps, containing pork and shows that garbage feeding was responsible for 84 per cent of the primary outbreaks in which the cause could be traced. The important factor in the number of primary outbreaks and was responsible for 13 per cent of such cases.

"The hog cholera problem in Maryland can be solved and the heavy annual losses due to it can be prevented," says Dr. Atherton. "If swine growers will stop the primary sources of the disease. If they will discontinue to feed any product which contains bones, rinds or scraps of pork, and use care that no such hogs likely to have been exposed to the disease are permitted on the premises there will be practically no new centers of infection. Without centers of infection there can be no spread of the disease."

"Either these simple methods, which entail no expense, will be adopted and practiced faithfully or the large and unnecessary losses caused directly or indirectly by hog cholera will continue annually," says Dr. Atherton.

ADVERTISING CLASSIFIED IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of William Severn Riggin, who departed this life one year ago, February 10, 1922.

In the church yard softly sleeping Where the flowers gently wave, Lies the one we loved so dearly In his lone and silent grave.

Some my think we have forgotten Though on earth you are no more But in memory you are with us As you always were before.

And now the circle is broken And the parting thus with pain We hold a glorious token The bright hope of meeting again By wife and children.

We never can forget you dear grandfather How lonely the big arm chair looks without you How we miss the smile you gave us When upon the threshold we would throng.

Keep him Jesus in thy keeping Till we reach the shining shore Then dear Jesus let us have him To love and cheer him as before. By Grandchildren.

LINGERING COUGH ENDANGERS HEALTH

Bear's Emulsion Brings Quick Relief and Guards Against Serious Results

If you have a cough—even a slight cough—the best thing to do is to take Bear's Emulsion immediately and stop it before it becomes serious. If, however you have failed to do this and the cough has run on for some time it is even more important that you rid your self of it at once. A chronic cough will weaken the whole system, make it less able to resist the germs of disease and is liable to lead to many serious consequences.

Bear's Emulsion has proved to hundreds that it will relieve the most obstinate cough of cold. People have written to Dr. Niblett telling him how his Emulsion helped them when other medicines had failed completely.

Bear's Emulsion is not only a wonderful aid in the treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis, grippe and other affections of the throat and chest, but it is also a splendid tonic for the whole system. It is pleasant to take, induces better appetite and makes the user strong enough to combat the germs of disease that would otherwise find in him a easy victim.

Bear's Emulsion is for sale at leading druggists, or will be sent direct from the manufacturer at $1.25 a bottle.

WILLIAMS OF STATE POLICE AT ROTARY

Captain of Force, With Detachment, To Be Guests Tonight.

WILL DEMONSTRATE SELF-DEFENSE WORK

Several City and County Officials Are Invited To Attend As Guests Of The Rotarians—Latter Vivaly Interested In Anything Pertaining To Law And Order.

A feature at the meeting of the Rotary Club tonight (Thursday) will be the entertainment of a detachment of the Maryland State Police under the supervision of Captain Roger Williams. H. L. Varian, a deputy commissioner, will give a talk on the possibilities and advantages of a police force organized in Maryland on the same basis and plans as the police force of New York and Pennsylvania.

In addition to talks by Commissioner Varian and Captain Williams the latter and his men will give demonstrations of self-defense work which have greatly entertained men whenever and wherever they have been given.

Mayor Kennerly, Sheriff Parlow, Chief of Police Disharoon and President Hearn, of the Board of County Commissioners, have been invited as guests of the club this evening.

At present the State police force is more or less of a provisional establishment which has left the officers with but limited authority and they have been compelled to follow almost solely violations of the Motor Vehicle law. A movement is on foot to try and create public sentiment toward a proper and complete establishment of a force which, it is contended, would automatically bring with it an improvement in personnel, activities and every other phase of the matter.

It is true that a certain amount of animosity has been created toward the State police on the Shore, due to the acts of some of its officers at different times. Arrests have been made when courteous reprimands would have been sufficient, and other things have caused the larger work which the force is attempting to be overlooked.

Wicomico High Five Downs Crisfield Quint

Wins Second Start Of Season Handily By 32-6 Score—Baseball Practice Started Last Monday

Wicomico High School Basketball Team had no trouble last Friday night in disposing of the Crisfield High quint on the Armory floor. The score was 32-6. During the entire first half the visitors did not score a field goal, their only point coming from the foul line. The floor work of the home five was not up to standard. This is the second game which the local five has played. Dallas, regular guard, was out of the lineup with a cut hand. His place was taken by Price. Preliminary baseball practice was started on Monday afternoon by Coach Duffy in the Armory. The first drills consisted of properly handling the bat, learning to step correctly in meeting the ball. ## ALL KNOWN INSURANCE RECORDS ARE BROKEN

The Metropolitan Insurance Company broke all records in amount of business done in the year 1922, according to a report published last week. The amount of new business placed on the books exceeded the phenomenal year 1920 and was far in excess of what had been done in 1921.

Particularly significant is the fact that industrial insurance, which is taken largely by wage earners and their families, had such a great volume. The total amount of industrial insurance placed during the year was over $775,000,000. The investment situation is also good. The income of the Company increased by over thirty eight and a half million dollars that of 1921, reaching the total of $340,000,000.

Along with this great increase on the business side, the welfare work done by the Company, in behalf of the health of its industrial policyholders, kept pace. Metropolitan nurses made more than two million free visits to sick industrial policyholders, bringing the total number made since this service was inaugurated to over sixteen million. The Company has distributed altogether two hundred and seventy-two million booklets and pamphlets giving hints on hygiene and prevention of disease and this, in cooperation with the general activities which are widening each year on the part of all official and semi-official health organizations, has resulted in extending the life expectancy among industrial policyholders by eight and one-half years since 1911.

ANOTHER WHACK AT LAWYERS

During the course of a trial some years ago a witness was asked by the prosecuting attorney if he knew what it meant to take an oath. He replied: "To take an oath means that you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." "What happens if you do not tell the truth?" asked the judge. "If you do not tell the truth, your Honor," replied the witness, "it means that you are dishonored in the sight of God, dishonored in the sight of man—in fact, you are dishonored in the sight of everyone except lawyers."—Everybody's Magazine for March.

Local Real Estate Brokers Optimistic

Both David Dallas and W. S. Nock Find Business Far In Excess Of 1922 Thus Far.

That "better days" are ahead for business in general around this section especially in the line of real estate seems apparent from the activities of the Eastern Shore Real Estate Company, whose offices are located on North Division street, this city. During the month of January this firm sold three farms near Salisbury, which is considered extraordinary business during such a month as January. On Saturday last another farm changed hands through the medium of this firm as did a piece of property in Salisbury proper. Considering that during the same period last year, business was extremely dull in fact practically at a standstill with this firm, both Mr. Wilbur S. Nock and David Dallas, the members, are looking with a great amount of optimism into the coming months. Both are good substantial citizens, capable of smiling even in the face of adversity, and it is very gratifying to their friends that they should have been thus successful.

Suggests That City Adopt Its Own Flower

Fulton Allen Advances Idea and Gives Illustrated Lecture at Rotary Club On Landscape Gardening.

Fulton Allen gave an illustrated lecture on "Landscape Gardening" at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Thursday evening. Mr. Allen suggested that Salisbury adopt a flower as its own in the same manner as states now have their own flowers, and suggested among others the chrysanthemum, rose or aster, some one of which could be grown satisfactorily in this soil and climate. A number of the Rotarians will attend the inter-city meeting in Baltimore on Friday, February 23. Mr. W. F. Allen gave an interesting talk on his recent Florida trip.

JOSIAH KIRBY OUT AS HEAD DISCOUNT CO.

Former Executive Was Principal Speaker At C. of C. Annual Banquet Last March—Cleveland Discount Company Maintains Office in Salisbury Under Supervision District Manager, C. W. Miles.

After months of a steady fire of criticism from financial publications and bankers, Josiah Kirby, president and a director of the Cleveland Discount Company, and some other officers closely associated with him in management, have resigned. This information was received last week from Cleveland which stated that the resignations were in compliance with the request of a committee of bankers appointed some time ago to look into the company's affairs. The committee in fact consisted of a virtual reorganization of the management of the huge concern Mr. Kirby had built up.

The company maintains a branch office here and has representatives in several of the other larger towns of the State, through whom it has sold large amounts of its stocks and collateral trust bonds.

George W. Harris, formerly treasurer of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, who has recently been appointed one of the vice-presidents of the Cleveland Discount Company, with headquarters at Washington, has charge of the Baltimore office, as well as all operations in this state. Mr. C.
W. Miles, of Wilmington, has supervision of the Salisbury office of the concern.

The company has operated all over the country on its biggest scale of financing, being the $3,000,000 advanced on mortgage to complete the Baltimore-Westchester Hotel in New York. On large mortgages it issued collateral trust bonds specifically designating the property, but besides these it dealt in three classes of collateral trust bonds secured by morgage being a third lien with the two prior liens aggregating $3,500,000, making a total of $5,500,000.

The criticisms became so insistent that a bankers' committee, with F. H.
Goff, president of the Cleveland Trust Company at its head, was appointed to make recommendations for the reorganization of the management along more conservative lines. Following recommendations of this committee three vice presidents resigned with Mr. Kirby, one of whom was a director, which position was also vacated.
Fred C. Fendi was made acting president and general manager pending the election of several new directors and the thorough reorganization of the management. A firm of auditors is making a complete audit of the company, after which it is predicted that statements of its actual condition will be made public.

The stock of the Cleveland Discount Company, which is held by more than 18,000 persons all over the country, has depreciated rapidly of late, getting down to around $5 a share.
Many of the shares are held by bondholders at the rate of two shares for each $500 of collateral trust bonds purchased, the warranted value of the shares being at first $10 and later $20. These shares for a while sold as high as $35 until they began to pour in on the Cleveland market in volume. The bonds have held up better, but the serials have recently dropped 10 points.

PRICES OF LUMBER TO REMAIN HIGH IN 1923

Large Manufacturers Think That Increased Building Will Keep Demand Strong.

Lumber prices will not decline in 1923. Lumber manufacturers are in far greater danger from sudden and extraordinary increases in price than from falling quotations. That was the way some of the biggest lumber men in the United States outlined the situation in this great basic industry today.

"The statistical position of lumber products is most healthy at present," said John H. Kirby, president of the Southern Pine Association and chairman of the board of the Kirby Lumber Company, the largest producer of yellow pine lumber in the world.
"Building permits in all the cities of the country are, in the aggregate, greater than for any period in the last two decades.

"The railroads and lumber-using industries are in the market for unusually large supplies, and all conditions seem to be conspiring together to foreshadow an unusual demand."
No new mills have been built in any part of the country in the last 10 years except a few on the Pacific Coast, and the production of these will not more than compensate for the loss of production in sections where the lumber has been cut out.

"This condition would indicate no increase in the supply of lumber. It would indicate, however, a price situation which will bring thriving condition to all parts of the lumber producing territory."

Larger operations in the yellow pine districts of the South will decrease substantially each year from this time on, for 15 years, according to Mr. Kirby, at which time supplies will be diminished to a point where large operations will no longer be profitable or possible. Some of the larger operators of Texas and Louisiana, he added, are buying or have bought timber lands on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Kirby said that his company had not yet taken such a step, although he personally had accumulated some holdings on the Pacific Coast.

"The aggregate production of yellow pine mills from Virginia to Texas," Mr. Kirby asserted, "will steady-ly diminish and the larger operations will culminate in final consumption in about 15 years. Smaller operations will go on much longer, but the large operators must buy timber on the Pacific Coast if they expect to remain in the business of producing lumber."

SHRINE CLUB ENTERTAINED BY STATESMAN

Cuban "Diplomat" Proves To Be However, But A Pseudo Foreigner —150 Guests From Shore Present At Affair in Y.M.C.A. Last Wednesday Night—Local Members Host

The outstanding feature of the entertainment accorded the 150 guests of the Salisbury Shrine Club, which included members of the Eastern Shore Shrine Club and their wives at the Y.M.C.A. Building on Wednesday night last, was the address on the Volstead Act and the Woman's Suffrage Amendment as to how they affected his native country by Dr. Rudolph De Toro, Cuban Statesman, dressed in his native costume and with an unmistakable, apparently, foreign accent.
Throughout his discourse, which was listened to attentively by those present, no one suspected him to be other than the person whom he represented himself to be. When his discourse was thrown aside, however, he proved to be Noble Charles R.
Crockett, of Boomi Temple, Baltimore.
The banquet hall was tastefully decorated under the direction of Nobil
R. W. Hamerslough. The color scheme was red with valentine decorations dominating. Southern similes intined with various lights to a very large extent covered the walls giving the room a veritable dress of splendor.

After the guests were seated fourteen girls in valentine costumes entered to the oriental music played by the Boomi Temple orchestra, of Baltimore, with Director John C. Bohl.
After promenading the length of the room and among the tables each was assigned to a post as waitress.

Marvin C. Evans—resident of the Club, was toastmaster. A short talk was made by vice president, H. H.
Dunbar, with Director John C. Bohl.
Hamerslough was the recipient of a platinum pin given to the lady holding the "lucky" number.

Unearthing $15,000,000 Treasure

World wide interest is focused on the valley of the kings along the Nile in Egypt—where Howard Carter, an American, discovered the tomb of King Tutankhamen for Lord Carnarvon of England. This is last of the tombs of Egyptian kings who ruled four thousand years ago. The treasure is valued at $15,000,000. Native troops are on guard night and day. Upper photo shows natives emerging from the outer tomb with a large blue cabinet containing valuable fabrics. On it were names of king and queen lettered in gold. Lower photo shows wonderful chair being carried from the tomb under guard. All treasures show little effect of time.

Your Telephone Bills

It is probably no particular joy to anyone to receive a bill of any kind. And if the bill is inaccurate or vague or carelessly made up, the matter may be decidedly annoying.

The rendering of bills for telephone service, including long distance calls, for Maryland's thousands of subscribers is quite a task.

It requires system and organization and training to get it done accurately, intelligently and on time, month after month.

Occasionally an error does occur. And when it does, the Company stands ready to make prompt and satisfactory adjustment.

If you will call such matters to our attention either by telephone, in person or in writing, they will have our best attention.

INSIDE INFORMATION ON LITTLE JACKIE COOGAN

Mrs. Coogan Says That Son's Habits
Are Just Like Any Other Regular Boy's.

"In the avalanche of mail which reaches me," said Mrs. Jack Coogan, Sr., "there are many letters which are oddly condemnatory—letters from mothers who accuse me of overworking my little son.

"As a matter of fact, there is probably no youngster in the world who is happier or healthier than Jackie.
Work and play for him are so mingled that life is simply a series of interesting incidents. One mother wrote me saying it simply made her weep to see the poor little child scrubbing the floor in 'Oliver Twist.' That was a triumph for Jackie and his director, Frank Lloyd; the woman was weeping for Oliver Twist, not for Jackie. Jackie was having the time of his life, as would any normal youngster who was allowed to get down and mess himself up to his heart's content.

"All his short life Jackie has lived in the world of make-believe of the stage. Both Mr. Coogan and I have been in the theatrical world for many years, and when our son came to us we were in vaudeville. Until he was three years of age he lived with his grandmother in San Francisco, and they took him with us wherever we went.

"Although he already has a large fortune, which has been carefully invested for him in his own name, we do not allow Jackie to be satisfied with a tithing pleasure or toy. The child who is given everything he desires quickly becomes indifferent and lame.

"I have always insisted that Jackie receive sufficient sleep and the proper food at all times. Jackie generally sleeps from nine to eleven hours out of every twenty-four. He eats like any other regular, healthy boy of his age. His breakfast is a hearty one;
he eats nothing then until lunch time comes, and at dinner he is given healthy food and is prepared for his good night's rest.

"How could a youngster be happier?
Isn't it the sort of life that every little boy dreams of? That he is making a great name for himself and amassing a fortune means nothing in his young life; he is just a care-free 8-year-old, with more than his share of fun and frolic, and living such a life as would be approved by even my most severe critic."

How to Save Coal

Coal consumers should meet the coal situation by getting all of the heat out of coal, and eliminating at least 5 to 10 per cent of the waste, according to the doctrine preached by heating engineers.

"Look to the chimney connection. Perhaps the pipe is pushed in too far into the chimney. Perhaps it is very loose.

"The inside flues of the furnace should be cleaned every week or two during the winter and a brush for this purpose is a very good investment. Dust and soot are good insulation.

"Hard coal should be put on at least four times a day, in small enough amounts to ensure complete combustion.

"In shaking, stop when a glow appears in the ash pit. Many people waste lots of coal by shaking too much.

FEW PERSONS KNOW HOW TO GET MARRIED ACCORDING TO WICOMICO LICENSE CLERK

Tells Just How It Is Done And Thus Discloses Mystery To Prospective Benedicts Who Harbor Inherent Visions Of Trip To Court House

HOW TO GET MARRIED—the columns of advice on the early stages have reached into the thousands. But that hectic period between the last sitting on the wedding gown and paying the minister is left to the ingenuity of the happy pair.

If you don't think there is many a slip in that period, ask the lady in the office of Clerk of the Court Kelly, who presides over the big red book in the Wicomico Court House. She will tell you that very few people really know how to get married once they're past the deciding point.

In the first place, contrary to moving-picture custom, you must get a license. The cost in Maryland is $2, although it was only half that until a few years ago. An instance which happened here recently was that of a man from out in the country, just on the sunny side of 60—who woeberfully protested that the price was too steep.

Often, says this official, the applicant becomes very indignant because of the few questions which he is asked to answer. Especially is this the case when the ages of the contracting parties vary a considerable number of years. Another feature to which some object is that of publishing in the weekly press their names in the marriage license records. This is mainly in the case of those "uncertain" age or where the nuptials are intended to be kept a secret.

Second—and here's a bad stumbling block—you must get it yourself. When the best man appears breathless at the license counter by way of helping John, who is to arrive from out of town on the 1:15, express, there are sure to be some wedding plans upset. Either the bride or groom must appear in person by the state law of 1920. Almost weekly a third party attempts to buy the license, but the kindly clerk is adamant. Frequently much more so of late—the woman comes for the license and, on the whole, is more self-possessed than the male applicant.

Sometimes the applicant merely steps up to the counter and asks for a license. Now here in Wicomico, the oystermen, crabbers, merchants, gunners, et al, procure their permits to pursue what they desire at the same place. Now this particular clerk is very adept at sizing up the applicant and seldom does she miss the mark but—once day recently she slipped a man who had every earmark of passing from the bachelor state into the realms of matrimonial bliss and asks for a license.

Out comes the time-honored red book. It having been decreed by law that the interrogations in various species of license applications run in the same channel for awhile things in this particular case ran along smoothly for the first three or more questions. Then came the parting of the ways. The clerk asks the name of the bride-to-be. The man sees a ray of light. "Patience but aren't you on the wrong trail. What I want is a hunting license. My 'gunning' days for the other sex are over now I want a permit to hunt rabbits and quail."

If the girl is under 18 or the boy under 21, both father and mother must appear to sanction the marriage or otherwise do so in writing. This does not alter the rule, however, that one of the parties themselves must appear. The license is good immediately or until used. Sometime ago back came a man who said that he had gotten his license two years before and had just decided to use it providing it was good but he supposed like licenses for automobiles, he would have to get a new one for that particular year. However, he did not.

Only an ordained minister may perform the ceremony in Maryland, one of the few states having such a law. Many couples aspire to be married by a Councilman, a magistrate or the Mayor, but they are steered, whether or no, to a pastor's study.

Now in regard to the matter, Salisbury does not resemble Elkton. To the knowledge of the writer the city does not have either "grassing" minister in this respect. Many couples come here from the neighboring states of Delaware and Virginia but they usually have their denominational preference made before they arrive.

The age limit is a knotty problem to the marriage license clerk and she solves it mostly by common sense. Most of the minors who seek to beat the age law fail to think ahead for a false birthday and give me much too recent when asked that question. Others balk at backing the falsehood with an affidavit, while still others are turned down on guess-work.

There isn't a marrying age, according to Wicomico records, although the average for the girl seems to be somewhere around 19 and the man 21. Often applicants get in touch with officials of the office at night, even sometimes arousing them from their downy couches. They cheerfully respond and no extra compensation is exacted for this disturbance of slumber.

"It's a complicated thing, this getting married," said the keeper of the big red book. "No law could be worded to cover all the conditions we have to meet. So, you know what we do? We just use horse sense—an awfully good thing for the marrying business, any way you take it."

DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration to aspiration—which renews strength and courage.

CHURCHES OBSERVE BEGINNING OF LENT

Last Wednesday was Ash Wednesday and marked the beginning of the Lenten season, which is being observed by special services in many of the churches.

Religiously considered, Ash Wednesday takes its name from a custom which is traced back to the penance of sackcloth and ashes, as told by the Old Testament prophets, and takes its name from the use of ashes as a symbol of penitence.

The sign of the cross is made on the forehead of the faithful by the officiating priest, who dips his thumb in the consecrated ashes, makes the mark of the cross and intones the words: "Remember, man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return."

The palms were burned and are blessed at early masses held in the morning. A special penitential office for Ash Wednesday is provided for in the prayer book of the Episcopal church. The Lenten fast is still maintained in the Anglican and Lutheran communions as well as in the Roman Catholic.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Is there a growing tendency upon the part of the public to give up attendance upon Divine services in the churches on the Sabbath day, and, if so, why?

Recently a speaker discussing what was termed the "Crime Wave", placed a portion of the responsibility upon the parents of the children of the nation, is it not also true that possibly the growing lack of respect for and interest in religion may be properly traced to the same sources?

There are many men who belong to secret organizations, most of them fraternal in spirit and in teachings and in everyone of them the candidate has to solemnly declare his belief in God before he can be admitted to membership, but how many members after declaring their belief in God neglect to attend the place set aside for the worship of God. These are persons who claim they stay away because they cannot stand this thing or that, that they do not like this person or that, but they fail to recognize the fact that after having expressed a belief in God, they are permitting someone else to prevent them from worshipping God in the places set aside for His worship.

Frankly speaking, too, how many parents are in a position to administer rebukes to their children for not attending Sunday School or Church services, when they themselves, do not do so.

Perhaps, too, the community has learned to value too highly the church. Perhaps it fails to require those who constitute its citizenship to be law-abiding citizens, men and women of high principle and good character; perhaps it places a premium upon wickedness, Sabbath day violations and desertions and lack of regard for the Sabbath and God by being just as generous in its patronage of those who show utter disregard for God and His Church. Perhaps if the public took just a little more interest in what is going on and did not patronize those who show lack of interest in, lack of sympathy for and complete disrespect to the churches and the Sabbath day there would be more general observation of this day.

Are You Satisfied With Your Church?

"Several million Americans are looking for a church," says Gerald Mygatt in the February Delineator. "They want a church that will mean something to them not one day a week, but seven days a week—a church without having to believe or disbelieve any creed—a real church for all Faiths!"

Billy Sunday in his answer says: "I do not think he is as much of a truth-seeker as he is one looking for a church which will fit the solution of religion he has built for himself. That is exactly the position taken by Mrs. Eddy, Pastor Russell and every other false religionist in the world."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise says: "The truth is that the church means an association in which God, not the individual man, is the common denominator. The church does not have reference to the common quest of men whose goal is Godward, and therefore the church is in its essence an institution of contacts. Contacts, whether social or religious, can not be without adjustments—that is, self-adjustments."

James J. Walsh, professor at Fordham university, also answers the "church" question. He calls it, and so does Hugh Black, of the Union Theological Seminary, New York. The "ad," and the answers all appear in the February Delineator.

"Lots of young men blame bad luck for their failure when the real culprit is bad manners."

POSTOFFICE DATES FROM ANCIENT DAYS

From the use of the dromedary in Biblical times to the swiftly flying mail plane of today, the history of a letter, as a written means of communication between peoples, was traced by Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover in a speech recently to the postmasters and postal employees in a postal conference convention at Winston-Salem, N. C.

"On the postoffice job," he said, "nothing can take the place of the individual. While in a great many industries the human equation has been reduced to a minimum, no one has yet invented anything to take the place of a man in the delivery of letters. Today, as a hundred years ago, we are depending on the nerve and the sense of loyalty of a human being for the punctual delivery of our mail, regardless of the weather and everything else."

"The history of the postal service goes back as far as the sixth century B. C. and may be called the handmaid of civilization, since it is the dispatch bearer of the Assyrian and Roman times to the airplane service of the present day, the postal business has doubled in the last decade while the number of employees has increased only 9 per cent."

"The use of postage stamps is now so common and the mailing of letters so general that it seems as if there never was a time when this practice was unknown. But the stamp itself is comparatively new, while the sending of letters is older than Solomon."

"The Book of Esther in the Bible tells how King Ahasuerus, learning from Queen Esther that Haman had ordered the death of all the Jews, commanded Mordecai to call together the scribes and send letters to every province in the kingdom forbidding the massacre. This is the verse that describes the sending of the messengers:

"And he wrote in the King Ahasuerus' name, and sealed it with the King's ring; and sent letters by posts on horseback, and riders on mules, camels and young dromedaries."

"And now come to the staggering figures showing the growth of this great business. In every single hour of the 24 there are mailed 1,400,000 letters, and in every day of the 365 of the year 33,600,000 letters slip into the box. To carry this great volume of letters there were sold 14,000,000,000 postage stamps, 57,000,000 special delivery stamps, 38,000,000 newspaper wrappers, 62,000,000 postage stamps, used on short paid mail matter, and a billion postal cards printed and sold, and all counted, used and sold eighteen billion units during the last fiscal year. And again, to carry this vast quantity of mail, we operate a very large motor-truck service, having in operation today 4,433 motor vehicles. And then, in the carrying of this volume of mail by railroad it requires 2,000 railway mail clerks, who cover 215,000 miles daily."

C. & P. SUCCESSFULLY PUSHES SAFETY DRIVE

As a result of three years of effort to prevent accidents among its workmen, the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company in its 1922 safety campaign achieved a record which is looked upon by all industry as a remarkable one.

Three departments of the company in Maryland, numbering several hundred men, had perfect records in the annual accident prevention contest. It is shown in the announcement of the winning districts, and they accordingly have been declared tied for first place, in the contest. Sixteen districts of the company in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia competed.

In all of the Baltimore division of the company the number of accidents totaled 14 in 1922, against 48 in 1921. The number of days lost from work by employees as a result of injuries on the job was 222, which is 406 less than in 1921. In the Hagerstown district, comprising in all of Western Maryland, there were only three accidents last year, against 10 in 1921.

The company has been campaigning strenuously against accidents for several years, and has reduced them throughout its territory from 269 in 1919 to one-sixth that figure in 1922. Each man of the company's plant avoidance of dangerous and careless practices in constructing and main-

B. C. & A. DEFICIT IN 1922 WAS $19,133

With a bill pending for the foreclosure of the mortgage on the Maryland Delaware and Virginia Railway Company, it would appear that either foreclosure or reorganization will be necessary soon in respect to the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, the other Eastern Shore road. Both companies ran behind last year even more than in 1921 both in gross and net revenues. The Maryland, Delaware and Virginia had gross revenues of $1,730,000, as compared with $1,251,000 in 1921, and after expenses, taxes and rents reported a deficit of $105,235, as compared with a deficit of $102,437 in the previous year. Operating expenses, including maintenance, were reduced about $40,000 last year, of which $13,000 was saved in maintenance of way. Transportation cost $47,000 less but maintenance of equipment was somewhat higher than in 1921.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic's gross revenues for the year were $1,554,000, a decrease of about $40,000, and after expenses, taxes and rents the company had a deficit of $19,133, as compared with net revenue in 1921 of $69,344. Operating expenses for the year were $26,000 more than in 1921 all items showing small increases. With the exception of 1920 this company has shown deficits even more consistently for the past six years than the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia. Both roads are controlled by the Pennsylvania and it is understood that the situation confront-

DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration to aspiration—such renews strength and courage.

CHURCHES OBSERVE BEGINNING OF LENT

Last Wednesday was Ash Wednesday and marked the beginning of the Lenten season, which is being observed by special services in many of the churches.

Religiously considered, Ash Wednesday takes its name from a custom which is traced back to the penance of sackcloth and ashes, as told by the Old Testament prophets, and takes its name from the use of ashes as a symbol of penitence.

The ceremony is carried out in Catholic churches with ashes obtained from the burning of palms blessed on Palm Sunday last year.

The sign of the cross is made on the forehead of the faithful by the officiating priest, who dips his thumb in the consecrated ashes, makes the mark of the cross and intones the words: "Remember, man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return."

A special penitential office for Ash Wednesday is provided for in the prayer book of the Episcopal church.

The Lenten fast is still maintained in the Anglican and Lutheran communions as well as in the Roman Catholic.

The Lenten season really covers a period of 46 days, but as Sunday has always been regarded as a feast, these days are not counted as belonging to the fast.

Lent is generally associated with the beginning of spring, as the word is derived from the old Anglo-Saxon word "lencten," meaning that season.

By common usage Lent always falls in the early part of the year and ends with the Easter festival of the resurrection and the reawakening of life.

From the earliest days, the chief Lenten food was fish and herring; these were considered so great a delicacy in the days of Edward III that charters granted to seaports often contained clauses providing that the municipal authority should send so many herrings to the King during the Lenten season.

In America, in Roman Catholic as well as Episcopal and Lutheran Churches, a tolerant policy is observed and the devout are not required nor expected to engage in such fasting as might be injurious to the health.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Is there a growing tendency upon the part of the public to give up attendance upon Divine services in the churches on the Sabbath day, and, if so, why?

Recently a speaker discussing what was termed the "Crime Wave," placed a portion of the responsibility upon the parents of the children of the nation, is it not also true that possibly the growing lack of respect for and interest in religion may be properly traced to the same source?

How many parents are there, for instance, in Salisbury who have not been within the doors of a church in a year? What kind of an example are such people setting for not only their own children, if they have any, but for the children of the community at large as well?

There are many men who belong to secret organizations, most of them fraternal in spirit and in teachings and in everyone of them the candidate has to solemnly declare his belief in God before he can be admitted to membership, but how many members after declaring their belief in God neglect to attend the place set aside for the worship of God. These are persons who claim they stay away for and interest in religion may be properly traced to the same source?

Perhaps, too, the community has learned to value too highly the things of this world. Perhaps it fails to require those who constitute its citizenship to be law-abiding citizens, men and women of high principle and good character. Perhaps it places a premium upon wickedness. Sabbath day violations and desecrations and lack of regard for the Sabbath and God by being just as generous in its patronage of those who show utter disregard for God and His Church. Perhaps if the public took just a little more interest in what is going on and did not patronize those who show lack of interest in, lack of sympathy for and complete disrespect to the churches and the Sabbath day there would be more general observation of this day.

Repeating: Parents, if you do not go to church, can you expect your children to do so? We should like to see a census taken of the number of persons who attend Divine services on the Sabbath and then another census of those who do not—just to see why they do not. No nation that is not a Christian nation can survive in this world and no nation that is not a church-going nation can be a Christian nation.

Are You Satisfied With Your Church?

"Several million Americans are looking for a church," says Gerald Mygatt in the February Delineator. "They want a church that will mean something to them not one day a week, but seven days a week—a church without having to believe or disbelieve petty creeds—a real church of all faiths!" He states the case plainly in his article, "Wanted: A Church," and famous preachers answer him.

Billy Sunday in his answer says: "I do not think he is as much of a truth-seeker as he is one looking for a church which will fit the sort of religion he has built for himself. That is exactly the position taken by Mrs. Eddy, Pastor Russell and every other false religionist in the world."

"He asks if the church cannot come half way 'Nevet' Jesus never compromised; and if the church does, it ceases to be the church of Jesus Christ."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise says: "The truth is that the church means an association in which God, not the individual man, is the common denominator. The church as an institution has reference to the common quest of men whose goal is Godward, and therefore the church is in its essence an institution of contacts. Contacts, whether social or religious, can not be without adjustments—that is, self-adjustment."

"The synagogue never set out to be an ingratiating invitation to church attendance. It was a stern command to wait upon the Lord." Such adjustments as proved necessary were of one to many rather than of all to any. No man was called to stifle his personal convictions at the dictate of dogma, but creed could not be altered every hour to satisfy fugitive opinion."

James J. Walsh, professor at Fordham university, also answers the "want ad." "No man is called to stifle his personal convictions at the dictate of dogma, but creed could not be altered every hour to satisfy fugitive opinion."

NEW TAX WHYS AND WHEREFORES EXPLAINED BY INCOME COLLECTOR

Latest Regulations Make It A Little Easier To Figure Out The Government's Part—Almost Everybody Must Pay Something Between Now And March 15.

By FRANK K. BOWERS
Collector of Internal Revenue, New York.

Questions will arise with increasing frequency until March 15 as to the method and time of payment of Federal income taxes. It is my purpose in this article to give a brief resume of the important points of the Revenue act of 1921, pointing out what new features are involved.

Every citizen of the United States, wherever resident, is subject to tax on his income, no matter what the source of income may be. Residents of the United States are taxed as citizens and non-resident aliens are taxed only on income received from sources within the United States.

The normal tax on individual citizens and residents of the United States is at the rate of one percent of the amount of net income in excess of $5,000, with a proviso that the rate upon the first $4,000 shall be four per cent. The graduated surtaxes are upon the net income in excess of $5,000. It is at this point that the law this year differs from the previous year. The surtax rates for the calendar year 1921 started on net incomes in excess of $5,000. This is a point which should be borne in mind by taxpayers filing returns for the calendar year 1922.

Individuals are taxed upon net income, which is derived by deducting from gross income such deductions as may be allowed by law. Gross income includes gains, profits, income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service, or from professions, vocations, trades and businesses; also interest, rents, dividends, securities or any transaction carried on for gain or profit. There are certain items of income, however, expressly excluded from gross income, such as life insurance policies paid up the death of the insured, the value of property acquired by gift, bequest, devise or descent, and amounts received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation act.

As I have said before the net income which is subject to tax is ascertained after allowing certain deductions from the gross income. Such deductions include, among other things, all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year in carrying on any trade or business. This is a point that the small business man and merchant should keep in mind, as he must deduct all such expenses before determining the amount of income on which he should pay tax. He should remember that the cost of goods sold is deducted from his receipts before his gross income is determined.

Interest paid or accrued during the taxable year, as well as taxes, are deductible. Deductible taxes practically include all taxes with the exception of taxes paid under the Federal Income Tax law assessments for local benefits. Certain losses are also deductible provided they are incurred in the trade or business of the taxpayer or sustained in any transaction entered into for profit. Also losses sustained during the taxable year, if arising from fire, storm, shipwreck, theft or other casualty are deductible unless the taxpayer is fully compensated by insurance or otherwise. It may be of interest to many taxpayers to know that under this section a deduction could not be made for a loss sustained to an automobile which was used purely for pleasure purposes, through a collision, but if such automobile was destroyed by fire or was stolen the loss could be deducted as a general provision, losses to be deducted must be incurred in the taxpayer's trade or business.

Bad Debts Deductible.

A taxpayer also is entitled to deduct debts owing to him which have been ascertained to be worthless and charged off during the taxable year. The act in that connection is regarded as new in that it allows the taxpayer to deduct a debt in part if he is satisfied that it is in part worthless.

The deduction for depreciation is a subject which is full of complexities and should be considered very carefully before finally determined. Depreciation, generally speaking, can only be taken as a deduction when it relates to property used in the taxpayer's trade or business. Property used for the personal convenience of the taxpayer is not subject to depreciation.

Contributions, provided they are made to corporations or philanthropic organizations organized or operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, may be allowed, but the taxpayer should bear in mind in this connection that such contributions to be allowed must not exceed 15 per cent of his net income as computed without the benefit of the deduction for contributions. Contributions made to individuals can never be deducted. It should be constantly borne in mind that persons living or family connections are not items which the law allows as deductions. Any expense, except that relating to taxes and interest, which the taxpayer may incur in connection with his residence or maintenance of his family, is considered as personal and is not allowed as a deduction.

After the taxpayer has determined his net income subject to tax by deducting from his gross income such deduction as the law may allow, he is for the purpose of computation of net income allowed to deduct still further certain credits for dependents and personal exemption. In the case of a single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, the personal exemption is $2,500, where the net income is not in excess of $5,000, or $2,000 where the net income is in excess of $5,000. Also a head of a family by which is meant one who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him or her by blood relationship, marriage or adoption, and whose right to exercise family control is based upon some moral or legal obligation, is entitled to an exemption of $2,500 where the net income is not in excess of $5,000 or $2,000 where the net income is in excess of $5,000. Further than this, each taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each and every dependent receiving his chief support from the taxpayer, provided such dependent is under eighteen years of age, or is incapable of self support because of mental or physical disqualification. The Revenue act of 1921 has raised this personal exemption from $200 to $400.

A further exemption to which the taxpayer is entitled, for the purposes of the income tax, is the amount of dividends received from domestic corporations. Dividends are not subject to the normal tax, but are only subject to the surtax. Hence, in determining the amount of normal tax to be paid by the taxpayer, they may be excepted. This also applies to taxable interest received on Liberty Bonds. Such interest, if taxable at all, is subject only to surtax. From 1940 points clearly what Liberty Bond interest is so taxable. Thus, after the taxpayer has deducted from his net income such personal exemption and credits as he may have together with such taxable interest on Liberty Bonds and dividends as he may have, he has then determined the amount of income which is subject to the normal tax. This, as I stated at the beginning of the article, is at the rate of 4 per cent on the first $4,000 and 8 per cent on amounts in excess of $4,000.

Those Who Must Pay

The question naturally and frequently arises as to who must make a return. The law is explicit on this point and states that every individual having a gross income for the taxable year of $5,000 or more, or every individual having a net income of $1,000 or over must make a return; every married person having a net income of $2,000 or more must make a return. It naturally happens that although it is necessary for a taxpayer to file a return, because of his deductions for credit and personal exemption he is not liable for tax. This is what is termed a non-taxable return and is a form frequently received. Husband and wife living together have the privilege of filing either a joint or separate return if their combined net income is in excess of $5,000. In such cases it is advisable for them to file separate returns as in such cases the amount of surtax will be reduced.

Every fiduciary agent should make a return for the estate or trust for which he acts, stating specifically the items of gross income and deductions and credits allowed by the law, if net income is $1,000 or gross income $5,000. In certain cases where the income is held by the fiduciary for future distribution, his return should be on the same form as the ordinary taxpayer. In other cases, where the fiduciary distributes moneys received by him, he should file a return of information on form 1011 and the beneficiary should report for income tax purposes the amounts received by him from the fiduciary.

All partnerships must make returns of information no matter what the net income of the firm may be. These returns are not taxable but are information returns, each partner showing on his individual return his proportionate share of the proceeds of the partnership. He is taxable on these proceeds even though they have not been distributed.

All corporations, except those especially exempt from taxation, must file income tax returns regardless of income received during the taxable period. Corporations are now taxed on a flat rate of 12 1/2 per cent. The excess profits tax which previously applied to corporations ceased to exist after December 31, 1921. Corporations having a net income of $2,000 or less are entitled to a credit of $2,000. There are certain classes of corporations especially exempt under the law from payment of income tax, such as labor organizations, fraternal societies, orders or associations, domestic building and loan associations, corporations and any community fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable and scientific purposes, business leagues and chamber of commerce, clubs operated exclusively for pleasure, recreations, etc. These corporations, to secure exemption, must file with the Collector of Internal Revenue a statement showing their purposes and claiming exemption.

The net income and gross income of corporations, generally speaking are determined in a manner similar to that applied to individuals. Corporations also are allowed deductions for ordinary and necessary business expenses incurred during the taxable year as well as interest paid or accrued and taxes paid or accrued similarly applying to individuals. Losses sustained by the corporation and debts ascertained to individuals. Losses sustained by the corporation and debts ascertained to individuals. Losses sustained by the corporation and debts ascertained to individuals. Losses sustained by the corporation and debts ascertained to individuals.

Dividends received by individuals are subject to surtax when paid out of the earnings or profits accumulated by corporations subsequent to February 28, 1913. For the purpose of this act, every distribution by corporations is made out of the earnings or profits and from the most recently accumulated earnings or profits to the extent of such earnings or profits accumulated since

From Millionaire To Milliner

Mrs. Anne Stillman, recently divorced wife of James A. Stillman, ex-president of America's great bank, The National City Bank of N. Y., has opened a millinery shop. Her two boys Baby Guy and Alexander, are with her. Mrs. Stillman successfully repudiated all charges of her husband in the sensational divorce suit.

February 28, 1913. The mere fact that a corporation announces that the dividend is paid out of the profits accumulated prior to March 1, 1913, will not satisfy the bureau unless the corporation can substantiate the fact that all profits earned and accumulated subsequent to that time have been distributed. Since the decision in the case of Eisner vs. McComber, stock dividends as such are not taxable to the recipients.

Basis for Gain or Loss

The basis for determining gain derived or loss sustained from the sale or other disposition of property acquired after February 28, 1913, shall, generally speaking, be the cost of such property. This broad rule, however, is subject to certain variations and modifications. For instance, the gain derived or loss sustained in the case of property included in an inventory is determined on the basis of the last inventory value of such property. Again, in case of the sale or other disposition of property acquired by gift after December 31, 1920, the basis for determining the gain derived or loss sustained shall be the same as that which it would have been in the hands of the donor or last preceding owner by whom it was not acquired by gift. In the case of property acquired by gift prior to December 31, 1920, the basis for ascertaining gain or loss shall be the fair market value of such property at the time of its acquisition. The reason for this change in the Revenue act of 1921 was to prevent the attempt by many taxpayers to circumvent the provisions of the law and evade taxation by making gifts to relatives or friends.

Another exception to the broad principle that the cost of the property is the basis for determining gain or loss is in the case of property acquired by bequest, devise or inheritance. In all of these cases the basis shall be the fair market price or fair value of such property at the time of acquisition, which is considered the appraisal value for Federal estate tax or State inheritance tax purposes.

All income tax returns must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue before the close of business on March 15, with exception of withholding returns due March 1. Taxpayers having incomes of $5,000 or under use form 1040a; taxpayers having net incomes in excess of $5,000 use Form 1040; corporations use Form 1120. On each of these forms instructions are given which in many instances will clarify debatable matters in the minds of the taxpayers. Also Regulation 62, which may be obtained at the office of the Collector, will give further light on the Income Tax law.

It is hoped that the Collector's office during the income tax rush may be able satisfactorily to answer any inquiry on the part of the taxpayers which may be presented to it.—New York Times.

HARGIS DEPARTMENT STORE IS OPENED

Modern in Every Particular—Formal Opening Takes Place in March—On Site Of Old Dickenson Store

The big Hargis Department store, Pocomoke City, is now open for business, although the formal opening will not take place until March. Workmen are still busy putting on the finishing touches which, when done, will give the town the largest department store south of Wilmington.

Entering the building on Market Street, one is at once impressed with the unusually deep vestibule, flanked on either side by immense show windows. It is nearly 250 feet thru to Vine street.

Offices of the proprietor, conference rooms, publicity department, book-keeping and cashier's offices occupy one portion of the first floor. On Clark Avenue the store has a stretch of 106 feet, 4 inches; on Market street 45 feet and on Vine street 77.8. It has a stretch of 225 feet of show windows, all splendidly adapted to the display of goods.

The ladies' ready-to-wear department occupies the rear of the first floor. Show boys' clothing and military departments are also on this floor. Music booths, furniture and floor coverings take up the second floor space until one reaches the rear where will be found buying rooms, pricing rooms, room for display fixtures and a girl employee's rest room.

A stairway runs to the third floor which story is used for unpacking and packing goods. An elevator carries goods to all three floors. It is safe to say that no such store can be seen in a town of similar size in the state and it is certainly a monument to the pluck and enterprise of Mr. Milton Vessey.

There are few unmix blessings. The amendment that emptied the jails is filling the canteeneries.
