CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.

ON the 5th an extraordinary Divan was held to consider of the Measures to be taken with the Governors of Janina and Iconia. The former, who is named Ishmael-Pacha, had Notice given him by his Friends nine or ten Months ago, that the Grand Signior had given private Orders to cut off his Head. He prevented the Execution of these Orders by a hasty Flight into Albania with a good Number of Dependents. But not thinking himself safe there, he afterwards took Refuge, with his Family and his Treasure, in the Venetian Territories. It is uncertain whether the Ottoman Porte will reclaim him; the Resolution of the Divan is not yet known. Mean while, two of his principal Officers, who did not choose to accompany him in his Flight, have been beheaded. With respect to the Bahaw of Iconia, tho' he hath received three Summonses, in the Name of his Sublime Highness, to repair hither, to give an Account of his Conduct, he has paid no regard to them. He is declared a Rebel, and has assembled 15 or 20,000 Men, with whose Assistance he lays the Countries adjoining to his Government under Contribution. His Rebellion may have very fatal Consequences. [A limited Government may, whenever it pleases, and without any Danger, relax its Springs. It is supported by its Laws, and by its own Force. But when a despotic Prince ceases one Moment to lift up his Arm, when he cannot instantly pull down those whom he has entrusted with the highest Posts and Employments, all is over: For as Fear, the Spring of this Government, no longer Subsists, the People are left without a Protector." Spirit of Laws, III. 9.]

I R E L A N D.

Dublin, Sept. 5. Letters Patent have been passed under the Great Seal of this Kingdom, containing a Grant of the Dignity of a Baronet, unto Booth Gore, of Artarmon in the County of Sligoe, Esquire.

Amongst the many princely and beautiful Improvements made by that public spirited Nobleman, Lord Powercourt, for the Entertainment of the People of Ireland, as well as of Foreigners, his Lordship hath made a broad Road, in as direct a Line as the Ground will admit, from his fine Seat at Powercourt to the Waterfall, by cutting down useless Underwoods, leaving fine old Trees and Clumps of them at proper Distances. Drains are cut through the low lands from the Park Gate to the Waterfall; near which Place there is a fine Octagon Room of twenty five Feet in Diameter, and sixteen high, built with Brick, plaistered and rough cast on the Outside: The Floor is Mosaic Work of different Colours, the Ceiling is Stucco, and the Top covered, with Straw. This elegant Room is so contrived, that there may be five Openings at once, or any less Number, having Windows arched to fill up these Vacancies from Top to Bottom, and Doors for the same, if necessary: Both which, by Springs, fly up and down with the greatest Expedition. Within a few Yards of this Octagon, there is a very neat Kitchen of twelve feet Square, containing a large Grate, a handsome Jack, a Boiler, Stew-holes, and Oven, with all Necessaries for dressing Food; and, what is worthy of Notice, the Foundation and finishing these Buildings did not exceed five Weeks. His Lordship hath also erected a Wooden Bridge over the River near the said Buildings, at a short Distance from the stupendous Fall of Water, which is allowed by all Travellers to be the greatest Cataract in Europe, and even superior to any in the River Nile. From this Park to the Dargel, or Dark Glyn, which is about three Miles Distance, his Lordship, at a very great Expence, hath made very fine Roads to come at this most luxuriant Beauty in Nature, by cutting through Rocks, levelling Hills, and filling Hollows for Wheel-Carriages, which hath given the Public an Opportunity of Viewing, in different Prospects, the most delightful, frightful, and surprizing Landscapes in the World, which would have been imperceptible to all human Sight, and even Thought, had it not been for his Lordship's great Munificence, in finding out, and making Ways to this earthly Paradise, where stupendous Rocks are hanging over each other, and several others Perpendicular, with many full grown Oaks, Ash, and Elm, interspersed with Lauristinas, Myrtle, and Arbutas, Quicken Trees with Scarlet Berries, Holly, Ivy, and other Evergreens, many growing Horizontally out of the Sides of those Rocks and others Perpendicularly on dreadful Precipices. To these great and surprizing Delights, his Lordship, from his great Benevolence and Humanity, hath cut circular Stairs and Alcoves, and placed Chairs and Tables at proper Distances in meandering Walks, thro' delightful Groves of ascent and descent, with every Convenience for the curious Eye, and fatigued Traveller. On the Side of one of these Hills, there is a Hexagon Pavilion of about seventeen Feet Diameter, floored with red Tiles, the Roof covered with Straw, supported by six Pillars of the Bodies of grown Trees, covered with natural Bark: Two Sides of which are lined with Moss, and the other four open, from whence there are many rich and delightful Prospects. Next to the Moss in this rustic Building, are placed Benches to sit on, Chairs in other Parts, and a Table in the Center, to rest the weary, and regale the Hungry who bring their Food. Into this dark Glyn roll many Torrents of Water from the adjacent Hills, which, when united, make a considerable Body, gliding gently over Beds of Sand; then rushing furiously and suddenly over huge Stones and broken Rocks, foaming in great Cataracts and Cascades, until spent in gentle, glittering Streams, meandering by delightful Islands covered with the finest Verdure, Woods, Shrubs and Flowers, gently gurgling thro' the Commons of Bray, under the Bridge, and then to the Sea, where the greatest Rivers are swallowed up. Handel's grand Chorus in the Messiah, would have wonderful Effects at this Place, from Hills, Mountains, and Grottos. Lord Powercourt hath caused an excellent Inn to be built at Tynchinch, near the Dargel and the Deer Park, for the Accommodation of Travellers, situated in a most pleasing Vale, with Prospects of Hills, Dales, &c.

Cloumell, Sept. 15. Yesterday was married here, one Patrick O Neil; he was born in the Year 1647, and is now married to his seventh Wife, who is of the Family of the O Connors; he was married to his first Wife Aug. 18, 1675; to his second July 9, 1684; to his third May 4, 1689; to his fourth March 8, 1701; to his fifth June 5, 1720; and to his sixth October 9, 1730. He enlisted for a Dragoon in the 17th-Year of Charles II. and continued serving their successive Majesties till the Year 1740, when he was discharged, having been in all the Battles, Sieges, and Skirmishes with King William and the Duke of Marlborough. It is remarkable, that this Man never drank any thing stronger than plain Ale, never eat Meat but when he chose to feast his Family, living mostly on Vegetables, rising and going to Bed with the Sun, unless his Duty prevented it; he is now in the 113th Year of his Age, in perfect Health, understanding Sound, and walks without the help of a Crutch or Stick: And though he has arrived to this incredible Stage of Life, he never knew an Hour's Illness, and goes on Sundays with his Children, Grand Children, and Great Grand Children, to this Parish Church.

The following is the Prussian Account (published at Magdebourg) of the Battle of Torgau, on the third of November, between the King of Prussia, and the Army of the Empire, under Count Daun, wrote by an Officer of Distinction, from his Camp at Belgarn.

THE 3d Inst. the King brought M. Daun to a Battle by Stratagem. His Majesty first caused the Enemy to be harrassed by a few independent Battalions and Squadrons of Hussars, whilst Gen. Hulsen, with a Body of 10,000 Men, turned a Wood that lay on the Left of the Austrians, and took Post in that Spot, without being discovered by the Enemy. This General had positive Orders to attempt nothing more, till he should hear our Cannon Roar; and the Prince of Wirtemberg was then to advance likewise with his Corps towards the Enemy's right Wing, and endeavour to get Possession of the rising Ground. In the mean while, our light Troops continued harrassing the Austrians, and the Battalions and Squadrons, actually at Blows, having been successively supported on both Sides, the Affair soon became general. One of our Independent Battalions having there mastered one of the Enemy's Batteries, turned the Cannon against them; and as soon as Gen. Hulsen and the Prince of Wirtemberg heard the Report of the Artillery, they fell with great Impetuosity, one upon the Left, and the other on the Right of the Austrian Army, whilst the King with the rest of the Troops, attacked it in Front.

M. Daun, seeing himself thereby forced to come to a Battle, made his greatest Efforts against our left Wing, and smartly repulsed it; but General Zeithen hastening thither upon full Gallop, with Part of the Cavalry of the Right, where there was not near so much Danger, he found Means to cut off the Communication of the Enemy's Horse with their Intrenchments, and drove them into a narrow Spot, where they could not act without great Difficulty. The King no sooner perceived this, than he rode up to his left Wing, and having rallied it, he not only frustrated Gen. Zeithen, but caused the Enemy to be attacked so vigorously on every Side, that our Infantry having forced their Intrenchments, cleared the Way for our Cavalry, who made a surprizing Slaughter. The Austrians then began to run. We pursued them till it was dark; but by Favour of the Night, they passed the Elbe, on three Bridges kept ready for that Purpose, and in the Passage they lost a great many more Men. Their Loss in killed and wounded may be estimated at about 7000, viz. 4000 slain in the Field of Battle, and the rest lost in the River. We have made about 10,000 Prisoners, among whom are the Generals Wallis, Angier, Ried, St. Ignon and Bathiani, with 300 other Officers. Marshal Daun is wounded, and several other general Officers; and Gen. Waldner is among the slain.

The Trophies of our Victory are 21 Colours, 15 Standards, and many Pieces of Cannon. Our Loss in the whole, reckoning the Wounded and Missing along with the Killed, may amount to between 4 and 5000 Men. Among the Dead are Gen. Finckenstein, Lt. Col. Shwerin, the Count of Anhalt, and Major Zedinar. Among the Wounded we find the Margrave Charles, and the Generals Hulsen, Stutterheim and Syburg. The Generals Bulow and Aseburgh are missing. The King's Breast was grazed by a Ball.

L O N D O N, October 20.

A few Weeks since died at his House in Hoxton, Mr. Thompson. He has bequeathed the Bulk of his Fortune, which was upwards of 10,000l. to an intimate Friend and Companion, and 10l. a piece to his poor Relations. He was formerly a very considerable Velvet-Weaver in Spitalfields; he left a Legacy of 50l.

to a Servant Maid, who had lived with him for some Time, as a Reward for her Good Behaviour. A few Hours before he died he called her to his Bed-side, and asked her whether she could be honest and keep a secret? She replied in the Affirmative. He directed her, in case of his Decease, to acquaint his Executors, that if they pulled down a Partition in such a Room, they would there find his Wife's Wedding Gown, and a black Jack; the Girl strictly followed the Injunction; on which the Executors ordered the Wainscot to be pulled down, behind which they found the Gown, and a large Leathern Jack filled with Guinea; and, as a Compensation for her Integrity, they generously added 50 l. to her Legacy, and gave her the Wedding Gown, and the major Part of the Household Furniture of the Deceased.

Oct. 24. The Servant Maid, whose Fidelity to her Master, and Integrity to his Executors, has been already mentioned; was married to a Peruke-maker at the above Place. Besides the Things found before-mentioned, there was also discovered Mrs. Thompson's Wedding Ring, which was likewise given to the Girl, and with which she was married.

A few Days ago a whole Buck was sent out of the Country, which for Expedition Sake, was sent up with the Mail; by which Means the Postage amounted to upwards of 80 l. but the Person for whom it was intended, not chusing to take it upon those Terms, it became a Perquisite to the Officers of the Post Office.

November 18. We hear the King's Civil List is fixed at 800,000 l. per Annum, in Lieu of all Duties, &c. allowed his late Majesty.

It's said some great Alterations will be made in his Majesty's Household, in Relation to the Expences of Table-keeping, &c. by way of Example to the whole Kingdom.

The King of Prussia has made a Demand of 20,000 Recruits from Saxony, and the City of Leipzig is compelled to cloath them.

Letters from Frankfort of the 16th Instant say, That it was currently reported that divers Ministers of the several Powers are soon to meet at Leipzig to settle the Preliminaries for a general Peace.

November 20. Yesterday the Right Honourable the House of Peers waited on his Majesty at St. James's with their Adrefs.

The Dreadnought, Bailey, from Londonderry to New-York, is put back into Longhendon, with six Feet Water in her Hold, and is since Stranded.

Nov. 24. Last Wednesday the Gentlemen who have engaged to supply the Government with the Loan of Twelve Millions for the Service of the ensuing Year, delivered in Lists of their Friends, by which it appeared, that there was a much larger Sum subscribed than the Twelve Millions; and we hear that a Deposit of 15 per Cent. on the above Sum of Twelve Millions is to be made at the Bank in the Course of the third Week of next Month.

Some Letters from Hamburg insinuate, that if the French had succeeded in their Design of seizing Hamburg, it was to have been given to the King of Denmark, to secure him in their Interest.

A Gentleman lately arrived from Hamburg says, It was currently reported there, that a Scheme was on Foot for making a Winter's Campaign in Germany; and that several Vessels had lately failed up the Weser, with Provisions and Forage for the Allied Army.

December 13. The GRAND EXPEDITION from Portsmouth is countermanded. Orders were sent Yesterday from the War-Office for the Troops to disembark and march into Winter Quarters. Thus far may be depended on.—Some pretend, or rather conjecture, that this is occasion'd by new Proposals of Peace that are not inadmissible.

There are many Conjectures about this Fleet; 'tis generally said to be countermanded till the Month of February; one Reason assigned for it is, and a very probable one, that the Campaign in Germany must be nearly at an End, on account of the Season, the French might march a Body of Forces into their own Country, instead of staying in Germany, in order to defeat the Enterprize of the English Fleet, and return in Time to join their grand Army before the Operations of another Campaign could be opened: On the other Hand, it is said, that the French, finding our Court determined to push their Successes, have made some fresh Overtures for bringing about a general Pacification, under the Mediation of his Catholic Majesty, which seems to be somewhat attended to.

His Grace the Duke of Richmond has resigned his Employment as Lord of the Bed-chamber to his Majesty.

Five Companies are going to Jamaica. The eldest Captain is to be Captain Commandant, and Captain Weimys is going over Major of them.

One of our Portsmouth Correspondents writes, that he believes the cause of the Expedition Fleet being countermanded, was the Sickness of the Troops and Horses, the latter of which had for several Days refused all Kinds of Fodder; the length of Time they had been embarked, the tempestuous Weather they have had ever since, and riding at Anchor in such a swelling Sea, might, had they continued a few Days longer, been attended with the Loss of a great Number of the Troops, and all the Horses. Such Numbers of Troops were ill on board some Ships, that there was not a sufficient Number of the Soldiery to attend their sick Brethren, which Duty was most kindly performed by the Seamen.

December 18. The Amsterdam Gazette tells us, that at a Council of War held by his Prussian Majesty on the Eve of the Battle of Torgau, he spoke to his Generals in the following Manner: "Gentlemen, I have called you together, not to ask your Advice, but to tell you, that To-morrow I shall attack M. Daun. I know he is in a good Position, but it is also such, that a Retreat is impracticable: If I beat him, most of his Army must be taken or perish in the Elbe; if we are beat, we must all die, and I the first. I am weary of this War, and you ought to be so too. To-morrow will decide it."

The Austrian Prisoners in the Hands of the Prussians, amount, according to some Accounts, to 36,000 Men; and the Prussians who are Prisoners to the Austrians, amount to 28,000. It is imagined an Exchange of Prisoners will soon take Place.

We learn from Magdebourg, that his Prussian Majesty is at Leipzig, where it is thought he will receive Application for Peace. The Russian Army is certainly retired into Poland. Our Troops have taken Possession of Landshut, and Gen. Linden is advanced with a strong Corps to join the Allies, and oblige the French to retire out of Hesse; which are so many indubitable Proofs that his Majesty was victorious at Torgau.

Notwithstanding all Reports to the contrary, we are assured, that the greatest Harmony subsists among all his Majesty's Ministers.

It is now said, that the Parliament will be dissolved in March, and that the Coronation will be deferred till after the General Election is over.

It is said, that his Majesty, in Consideration of the War with France, has forbid all French Wines of any Sort to be drank in the Palace, not even excepting his own Table. 'Tis calculated this will be a Saving of at least 40,000 l. per Annum.

Dec. 27. It is reported, that the Right Hon. Arthur Onslow, Esq; Speaker of the House of Commons, and the Hon. John Spencer, Esq; will soon be called up to the House of Peers; and that the Earls of Northumberland and Egremont, are to be created Dukes.—Eleven other Gentlemen are talked of, who are shortly to be raised to the Peerage.

Some of the Expedition Transports are ordered to be kept in Readiness to receive Troops, as supposed, for Germany.

The Army of the Empire have entirely quitted Saxony, and suffered prodigiously in their Retreat.

Dec. 30. We hear that Books are opened at the Bank for receiving the Deposit of 15 per Cent. which is to be paid on or before the third Day of January next on the Twelve Millions.

Several English Officers of Distinction arrived at the Hague the 20th Instant from the Army in Germany, and sat out immediately for England.

They write from Dunkirk of the 14th Instant, that between there and Calais, ten Ships were wreck'd in a few Days; and that between Dunkirk and Graveling, an English Frigate of 40 Guns was lost, and all the Crew perish'd.

Extract of a Letter from Hamburg, Dec. 20.

"The Talk of Peace is again renewed; sanguine in their Expectations, the Friends to Humanity form Projects, and give them to the contending Powers. Alas! I fear the Flames of War have not yet got to a sufficient Height; the Spirit with which they are raising Recruits in the Austrian and Prussian Dominions, is no Indication of a pacific Temper. Our Politicians, indeed, have given up one of the Silesia's to the Empress Queen; but will the Prussian Monarch abide by their Decisions? But, should Necessity make these two Powers patch up a Peace, Who is to indemnify the King of Poland? Will the Russians relinquish their Project of getting Footing in the Empire? Will the French submit tamely to all their Losses? Believe me, that desirable Event is far from taking Place; there is no Expectation of seeing the Spirit of Moderation introduced at the Court of Vienna; nor are we sure that Ambition has not found a Residence at B----; for my Part, I expect, at least, one more bloody Campaign before Matters can be adjusted, and even then Victory must declare on one Side or the other; Drawn Battles but inflame each Party, and give them a keener Appetite to cut each other's Throats; What horrid Work! From Rage and Ambition, my Friend, Good Lord deliver us."

Extract of a Letter from Portsmouth, Dec. 28.
"On Saturday sailed into the Harbour to visit his Majesty's Ships Firedrake and Bluff; as did the Pluto Fireship.

"Our Artificers are very busy in Sheathing the Transports, which are almost compleat: The Preparation here against the Spring (in Shipping) is very great, at which Time we shall have a prodigious Armament ready.

"At Spithead, Admiral Holbourne with 24 Ships of War."

Advices from Nuremberg say, that tho' the Armies are gone into Quarters of Cantonment, we must by no means look upon the Campaign as at an End.

A Letter from the Hague confirms the Account of the Death of Lord Downe, at Meurs, on the 9th Instant.

Most of the Letters from Germany agree, that Prince Ferdinand, on Account of the Badness of the Season, had been obliged to raise the Blockade of Gottengen.

Some Letters from Saxony, mention, that a Convention is on the Carpet for a Suspension of Hostilities between the Prussians and Austrians in Saxony during the Winter.

Dec. 31. The Waters of the Leck, in Holland, are so swelled, as to have rose 58 Inches above the Mark at which they ring the Alarm Bell; but by draining the Dykes, they apprehend they are no longer in fear of an Inundation.

We have nothing but melancholy Accounts from the Netherlands, of Rivers overflowing their Banks; at Nimeguen they were obliged to go along the Streets in Boats, upon their necessary Occasions. In the Province of Zutphen, they not only have Inundations to fear, but to compleat their Misfortune, the Sickness has again broke out among their Cattle.

It is said, that if a Peace should not take place before Summer, a Fleet of Forty Ships of the Line, under four Commanders, to form four different Squadrons along the Enemy's Coasts, will certainly sail, the utmost Diligence in the Equipment of which is now absolutely making.

Dec. 30. Letters from Vienna of the 10th Instant, contradict those of the 6th, and leave no Hopes of a Peace, unless the King of Prussia will grant the Empress Queen as much as might reasonably be expected from him, if he had constantly been Beaten.

Our last Letters from Paris tell us, That in consequence of the Resolution lately taken to push the War chiefly, if not wholly, by Land, the Court proposes to augment their Army in Germany to 200,000 Men; 140,000 under Marshal Broglie, and 60,000 in the Lower Rhine under the Marquis de Castries.

The French Court were fully persuaded that the Destination of our Expedition was for the Recovery of the Island of Minorca, and are actually preparing to send a considerable Reinforcement thither. It is also reported, that the whole Naval Force of France will sail early in the Spring for Martinico, to prevent, if possible, the French from being expelled out of America.

January 1. Private Letters from Stockholm inform us, that the Government have made some Overtures for an Accommodation with the King of Prussia.

Notwithstanding what has been said to the contrary, we are well assured, that only 40 Men of the Troops embark'd for the Expedition were taken ill on Ship-board, and that no more than 7 died.

The Cesar Tender with pressed Men for Plymouth is lost in Bristol Channel, and 62 Men and 3 Women were drowned. The Lieut. and some of the Officers and Men were saved.

His Majesty's Ships Venus and Juno, are destined to sail in Search of the numerous Privateers that now infest the Channel.

The Swedes are flying before Prince Eugene of Wirtemberg, who has laid the whole Dutchy of Mecklenburgh under Contribution.

Letters from Italy by this Days Mail give an Account that the Plague has carried off considerably more than half the Inhabitants of Grand Cairo, the Capital of Egypt.

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the latest Advices foreign and domestic.

THURSDAY, March 12, 1761.

From the VOYAGES and CRUISES of Commodore WALKER.

WHEN Mr. Walker was setting out on his second cruise in the Boscawen private Ship of war, A. D. 1745. a report made by the French Officers, when the ship was taken, that a gunner's wife had been murdered on board, began now to be looked upon by the men, as ominous of the Misfortunes which would attend the cruise. One of the seamen, remarkable for his sobriety and good character, one night alarmed the Ship, by declaring he had seen a strange appearance of a woman, who informed him, among other particulars, that the ship would be lost. The story spread among the Crew and had such hold of the imagination, as would have been attended with the most serious consequences, had not Mr. Walker contrived a device for turning it into ridicule, and with great presence of mind related the following anecdote to the assembled Ship's crew:

In June, 1734, Mr. Walker lying at an anchor at Cadiz, in his ship the Elizabeth, a gentleman of Ireland, whose name was Burnet, was then on board, going to take his passage over to Ireland. This gentleman was a particular acquaintance of Mr. Walker's, and he was extremely fond of him, being a man of great good sense, and very lively in conversation. The night before the affair we speak of happened, the subject turned upon apparitions of deceased friends, in which this gentleman seemed much to believe, and told many strange stories as authorities for them, besides giving some metaphysical arguments, chiefly that the natural fear we had of them proved the souls confession of them. But Mr. Walker, who was entirely of another way of thinking, treating all his arguments with ridicule, Mr. Burnet, who was bred a physician, was curious to try how far fancy might be wrought on in an unbeliever, and resolved to prove the power of this natural fear over the senses: A strange way, you will say, to convince the mind by attacking the imagination: Or, if it was curiosity to see the operations of fear work on fancy, it was too nice an experiment to anatomize a friend's mind for information only. But perhaps the humour of the thought was the greatest motive; for he was a man of a gay temper, and frolicsome.

About noon, as they were standing, with more of the ships company, upon deck, near the fore-castle, looking at some of the Governor's guard boats making fast to a buoy of a ship in the Bay, in order to watch the money, that it might not be carried out of the country, Mr. Burnet proposed, as a plan for a Wager, he being a remarkable good swimmer, to leap off the gunnel of the ship, and dive all the way quite under water, from the ship to the boats at that distance, and so rise up upon them, to startle the people at watch in them. A wager being laid, he undressed, jumped off, and dived entirely out of sight. Every body crowded forwards, keeping their eyes at the distance where he was expected to come up; but he never rising to their expectation, and the time running past their hopes of ever seeing him more, it was jolly concluded he was drowned, and every body was in the greatest pain and concern; especially those, who by laying the wager, thought themselves in some measure accessory to his death. But he by skillful diving, having turned the other way behind the ship; and being also very active, got up by the quarter ladder in at the cabin window, whilst every body was busy and in confusion, at the forward part of the ship; then concealing himself the remaining part of the day in a closet in the stateroom, wrapped himself up in a linen night gown of Mr. Walker's. Evening coming on the whole ship's company being very melancholy at the accident, Mr. Walker retired with a friend or two to his cabin, where, in their conversation, they often lamented the sad accident and loss of their friend and dear companion, speaking of every merit he had when living, which is the unenvied praise generally given to our friends when they can receive nothing else from us. The supposed dead man remained still quiet, and heard more good things said to his memory than perhaps he would else have ever in his life time heard spoken to his face. As soon as it was night, Mr. Walker's company left him; and he being low in spirits went to bed, where lying still pensive on the late loss of his companion and friend, and the moon shining direct thro' the windows, he perceived the folding-doors of the closet to open; and, looking steadfast towards them, saw something which could not fail startling him, as he imagined it a representation of a human figure, but recalling his better senses, he was fond to persuade himself, it was only the workings of his disturbed fancy, and turned away his Eyes. However, they soon again returned in search of the object; and seeing it now plainly advance upon him, in a slow and constant step, he recognized the image of his departed friend. He has not been ashamed to own he felt terrors which shook him to the inmost soul. The mate, who lay in the steerage at the back of the cabin, divided only by a bulk-head, was not yet a-bed; and hearing Mr. Walker challenge with a loud and alarmed voice, 'What are you?' ran into him with a candle, and meeting Mr. Burnet in the linen gown, down drops the mate without so much as an ejaculation. Mr. Burnet, now beginning himself to be afraid, runs for a bottle of smelling spirits he knew lay in the window, and applied them to the nose and temples of the swooning mate. Mr. Walker, seeing the ghost so very alert and good-natured, began to recover from his own apprehension, when Mr. Burnet cried out to him, 'Sir, I must ask your Pardon; I fear I have carried the jest too far; I swam round and came in at the cabin window; I meant, Sir, to prove to you the natural awe the bravest men must be under at such appearances, and have, I hope, convinced you in yourself.' 'Sir, says Mr. Walker, (glad of being awakened from a terrible dream, and belief of his friend's death), you have given me a living instance; there needs no better proof; but pray take care you do not bring death amongst us in earnest.' He then lent his aid in the recovery of the poor mate, who, as he retrieved his senses, still relapsed at the sight of Mr. Burnet: So that Mr. Walker was obliged to make him intirely disappear, and go call others to his assistance; which took up some considerable time in doing, every body, as Mr. Burnet advanced to them being more or less surprised; but they were called to by him, and told the manner of the cheat, and then they were by degrees convinced of his reality; tho' every one was before thoroughly satisfied of his death. I being persuaded that this story carries a lesson in it, which speaks itself, shall conclude it by mentioning this circumstance, that the poor mate never rightly recovered the use of his senses from that hour. Nature had received too great a shock, by which Reason was slung from her seat and could never regain it afterwards; a constant stupidity hung around him, and he could never be brought to look direct at Mr. Burnet afterwards, tho' he was as brave a man as ever went, in all his senses, to face death by day light.

Austrian Head-Quarters at Dresden, December 9.
ALL is quiet here, as well as in the Prussian Army, the Army of the Empire having retired into Franconia. The Enemy has occupied Freyberg; they extend towards the Confines of Bohemia, and some of their Parties appear on the Side of Egra. As it appears that the Enemy is still meditating something, we are upon our Guard; in Consequence of which, three general Rendezvous have been assigned to our Army; namely, Dresden, Dippolswalde, and Altenberg. The greatest Part of the Infantry is cantoned in the Environs of this Capital. The Corps under M. Maguire is at Dippolswalde; that under M. Lascy between those two Places. General d'Ayaffes is at Altenberg, and General Esterhazy occupies the most distant Posts on the Wiserits. The Enemy has 10 Posts opposite to him at Wilddruff. General Beck is near Neudorf and Langenbruck, with his Corps of national, Hungarian Militia, with some German Battalions, and the two Regiments of Savoy, and Darmstadt Dragoons. General Vogelfang commands at Bautzen, with a Regiment of Cavalry, and three Battalions; and his Communication with the rest of the Army is kept open by eight Regiments, most of whom are quarter'd beyond the Elbe.

Vienna, Dec. 10. Marshal Daun is arrived here, he made half his Journey in a Litter, and the other in a Coach. The Surgeons say his Wound which he received in the Battle at Torgau with the Prussians, will be Healed in three Weeks. Their Imperial Majesties have honoured him with a Visit.

Paris, Dec. 12. They are fitting out the following Ships at Brest, with the utmost Expedition; Le Hector, of 74 Guns; Le Couragen, of 74; Le Sage, of 64; L'Achille, of 64; and also the following Frigates, La Malicieuse, 32 Guns; L'Hermione, 32; La Benfenne, 32; La Camele, 32; L'Opalle, and La Brune; but we know nothing of their Destination. We are going to put three more upon the Stocks at that Place; and Le Royal Louis, of 116 Guns, is quite finished; it is said to be one of the finest Ships ever seen, and is Proof against 36 Pounders.

Leipsic, Dec. 16. His Prussian Majesty, after all his Fatigues, is in perfect Health, and as soon as Things can be settled in this Electorate, intends to take a Tour to Berlin.

Paris, Dec. 22. An English Man of War and a Frigate are lost on the Coast of Brittany. The Ship was pierced for 70 Guns, but only 9 were found on board, and not a single Man. It was laden with Plank, and it has already been taken out. The Frigate mounted 40 Guns, had 260 Men on board, of whom 115 perished, the Remainder are Prisoners of War.

The King's Frigates the Opalle and Brune have sent into Brest 10 English Ships, which they have taken in a 20 Days Cruise; and ten more Prizes made in 15 Days time, have also been sent into the same Port.

L O N D O N.

Nov. 18. After General Yorke had imparted to the other foreign Ministers at the Hague, the News of King George the Second's Death, and the Accession of his Grandson to the Throne of Great-Britain, they all, in Turn, waited on his Excellency, with Compliments of Condolence and Congratulation, as is usual on such Occasions, except the French Ambassador, who omitted the congratulatory Part in his Harangue; in Consequence of which Neglect, it is said, Orders have since been sent to General Yorke, to avoid all Intercourse or Interviews with the French Ambassador, and to shun as much as possible the Meeting of him any where accidentally.

By Letters from Holland we learn, that the French Ambassador is endeavouring to borrow for his Court, from the Merchants of Amsterdam and Rotterdam, two or 3 Millions. But it is thought he will not meet with his usual Success, Mr. Yorke having remonstrated, that those two Towns were greatly instrumental in protracting the War, by the Assistance they gave to his Majesty's Enemies.

December 18. They write from Liege of the 8th Inst. that they had Intelligence from several Places, that the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick was advancing at the Head of his Troops towards the Admiral's... better, which gave great Satisfaction to all who heard it. Lord Howe, and several other Persons of Distinction, are gone to see the Admiral. Expresses are sent from the Admiralty continually to the Admiral's Country Seat.

An essential Piece of Service might be performed, which would do more Honour to the Nation than suffering the Ships of War to rot in the Harbours, or upon insignificant Cruizes; namely, an Attack upon the Mississippi Settlements. The Advantage of which, if successful, would not only be in the Conquest, but would strike such an universal Terror among the Cherokees, and all the rest of the Indian Nations, that they would not hereafter presume to take up the Sword against the English, after seeing such repeated Proofs of their Strength and Valour.

Yesterday Morning, about six o'Clock, a young Ox went mad in Smithfield, by the Cruelty of the Drovers in beating him over the Legs, &c. The Creature was remarkably furious, tossing every Thing it met. It even attempted to toss some Cocks and Hens, but they were too nimble for him. None of the Drovers themselves dared come near him, one of them being very near killed in attempting to turn him; but the Fellow luckily saved himself by nimbly jumping over the Rails, against which the Ox ran very furiously. He then ran down Hoher Lane, and into the George Inn Yard, where he made at the Oiler, and tossed him up in the Air, but very luckily for him he fell into the Horse-pond, whereby he saved his Life. He then made up into Holborn, where he was overtaken by some of the Drovers Dogs, two or three of whom pinned him down by the Nose, while the Drovers came with ropes, and led him back to Smithfield, where they secured him.

They write from Leghorn that the Pilot of a Dutch Ship called La Johanna Lamberta and Christina, commanded by Capt. Adrian Mallaga, has given us the following melancholy Account. The Ship arrived at Goze, in the Island of Candia, on the 3d of August, from St. John D'Acre, otherwise Ptolema, and being in Want of fresh Water, the Greeks of that Place persuaded the Captain with the Surgeon, and Cook, and 7 Sailors, to come on Shore; when the Capt. Surgeon, and the Cook, were inhumanly murdered by those wretches. The Sailors got to their Boat, and notwithstanding the Greeks fired some Musquet Shot at them, they got safe to their Ship, and arrived here on the 9th. This Affair has been confirmed by the Crew of the Johanna.

Brig. Gen. Gage is appointed Governor of Montreal. Lt. Col. Haviland is appointed Col. of the 3d Battalion of Royal Americans in the room of Col. Lawrence, deceased.

Lt. Col. Burton is appointed Col. of a new Regiment in America.

Letters from the Hague mention, that the Dutch look upon the King of England's Death as one of the greatest Misfortunes that could befall their State, as he was always disposed to accept of the Apologies made for Irregularities committed by their Subjects, during the present War, without coming to Extremities, from the Regard he had conceived, early in Life, for that Protestant State, on Account of its hearty Concurrence in the Grand Alliance formed by King William against France; and it is for this Reason the States General are sending over an Ambassador Extraordinary.

The last Letters from Paris advise, that the Count de Stahrenberg, the Austrian Minister, had had several Conferences with the Duke de Choiseul, on the Means of carrying on the War vigorously. The Count desired the Minister to put his Master in Mind of the Engagements he had contracted with the Empress Queen, to which her Majesty would invariably adhere: That her Majesty had preferred the Alliance of France to the Proposals made her some Time before the War, which tended to nothing less than overturning the whole French Monarchy: And that the first Bait thrown out to her was the Prospect of conquering Alsace and Lorraine, and annexing them to the Dominions of the House of Austria, as an Indemnification for Silesia which was to remain in the King of Prussia's Possession.

The Austrian Minister further added, that as his Prussian Majesty, on the first considerable Check he received, would be forced to make a speedy Peace, the Wirtembergers and a Body of Austrians would, if necessary, join Marshal Broglio's Army, to enable him to secure good Quarters during the Winter in the Electorate of Hanover.

Letters from Altena, of the 17th Inst. advise, that the Russians were again advancing into Pomerania, and that their Motions began to give much Uneasiness.

Yesterday in the Afternoon an Express arrived at the Admiralty from Admiral Boscawen's Seat near Guildford in Surrey; and another Express at Court, with Advice, that the Physicians thought the Admiral's... better, which gave great Satisfaction to all who heard it. Lord Howe, and several other Persons of Distinction, are gone to see the Admiral. Expresses are sent from the Admiralty continually to the Admiral's Country Seat.

An essential Piece of Service might be performed, which would do more Honour to the Nation than suffering the Ships of War to rot in the Harbours, or upon insignificant Cruizes; namely, an Attack upon the Mississippi Settlements. The Advantage of which, if successful, would not only be in the Conquest, but would strike such an universal Terror among the Cherokees, and all the rest of the Indian Nations, that they would not hereafter presume to take up the Sword against the English, after seeing such repeated Proofs of their Strength and Valour.

MAGDEBOURG, November 18.

A LIST of the Austrian Generals and Officers taken Prisoners is published here, by which there now appears in all to have been 216, together with 46 Pieces of Cannon, three Haubitizers, and one Mortar. To this Number then must be added 25 more Officers, which were taken upon their March towards Torgau.

Vienna, Nov. 12. We were to have sung Te Deum the 9th, for the Victory gained the 3d over the Prussians near Torgau; but upon the Arrival of the second Courier, the Order was countermanded.

Vienna, Nov. 15. The Battle of Torgau has been one of the bloodiest that has happened in the Course of this War. Neither the Sun nor Darkness, could slacken the Fury of the Combatants. All the Regiments were engaged, and all have suffered. The Prussian Generals especially bear the Marks of this terrible Day.

November, Nov. 18. From all the Letters and Advices received concerning the Battle of Torgau, we put down the Loss, on both Sides, at between 24 and 25,000 Men.

Berlin, Nov. 15. Since the Action of the 3d, scarce a Day passes without the Arrival of some Hundreds of Defectors at his Majesty's Army.

LONDON, December 15.

The Letters from Saxony agree, that the Prussians are much better received than they ever were in that Electorate, the People having felt far fewer Hardships when they were driven out, than ever they experienced while they were in Possession, at the same Time that there was no Care at all taken to enable them to provide for their future Subsistence, in which the Prussian Government were extremely punctual; so that till now the Country was never in Danger of becoming a Desert, and which it can now only escape by remaining in their quiet Possession during the Remainder of the Winter and the Spring.

They write from Naples, that the Viceroy of Sicily had sent an Express to Court, to know how they should behave in Case the six English Ships of War which were cruising off Messina, should want to come into that Port.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, Nov. 21.

"The Issue of the late obstinate Action of Torgau will only tend to protract the War. If the King of Prussia had been vanquished (which, according to all Appearance, would have been the Case, but for Marshal Daun's Wound, the Business might have been finished. The greatest Loss the Empire has sustained on the Occasion is that of this great Man. Tho' his Wound is not said to be mortal, he will not be able to command during the Remainder of the Campaign. In the mean Time her Majesty, to repair the Check of that bloody Day, has sent Orders into Hungary for raising a Corps of 20,000 new Troops, which will join the grand Army in Saxony before the End of March. As to the rest, they were in no Pain for Dreiden, in the Neighbourhood of which the Austrian Army was assembled, to join that of the Empire.

"We have Advice from India of a terrible Hurricane at the Isle of France, on the 27th of January, which overthrew most of the Houses in the Place. Two of the best Ships of M. d'Ache's Squadron were entirely lost, and the rest so much damaged, that there was no Likelihood of his going to the Relief of Pondicherry."

The Court of France went into Mourning the 15th ult. for three Weeks, on Account of the Death of his late Majesty King George the Second.

Dec. 8. The following is the Purport of the Bill which the Empress Queen received the 6th of November at Noon, from Marshal Daun:

"Most glorious Sovereign,

"By the Assistance of the Almighty, the just

Arms of your Majesty have once more gained a complete Victory over the King of Prussia near Zinna; the Enemy are defeated, &c.

Nov. 3, 1760. DAWN.

BOSTON, February 16. Since our last came to Town from Quebec, and Montreal, &c. Capt. John Malcom, of the Sloop Wilmot, and Capt. John Holmes, of the Sloop Sally.

The Advices from his Majesty's Dominions of Canada, are such as with Pleasure we can give the Public, viz.—That all the Troops stationed in the several Parts of that Country, together with the English and French Inhabitants, are well and in high Spirits, having Supplies of almost all sorts of Provisions.—That great Harmony subsists among the Whole.—Those Inhabitants who but lately were under the Tyrannical Yoke of France, now exult in the Liberty they enjoy under the British Government: No greater Burden is laid on them than they can bear: The British Troops are quartered upon the Inhabitants in proportion to their Circumstances; and whatever they have to dispose of, they are paid for with the strictest Honour, or rather Fathers: Any who are in Want, are supplied with Necessaries suitable for them; Particularly we hear, That on considering the Circumstances of many of the poor Peasants and others, who suffered the Loss of all their Effects, and being under Arms most of the Summer could not raise Grain necessary for their Families, a Contribution was set on Foot at Quebec, and a large Sum of Money collected by the Officers of the Garrison, the English Merchants, &c. &c. to support those Poor during the Winter.

Provisions it is said are brought into Montreal and sold very cheap: Poultry being in great Plenty, is sold at a Quarter of a Dollar for a Turkey; and Dunghill Fowls 3 for a Piftreen; and Wheat at 3 Piftreens per Bushel.

NEW-YORK, February 23.

By a Gentleman Officer who came to Town on Thursday last from Montreal, and who has been from hence to Quebec and back again since we had the account of the King's Death; we are told,—That all the French in Canada of any Distinction, went in Mourning for the late King.—That they have had a very mild Winter in Canada; the Troops all very healthy, and have all the Necessaries of Life in Plenty.—And, that Governor Gage had been address'd by the Officers of the Militia, and Merchants, of Montreal, on the Loss of our Sovereign, in the following Manner, viz.

To his Excellency General GAGE, Governor of Montreal and its Dependencies.

The ADDRESS of the Officers of the Militia, and Merchants of the City of Montreal.

CRUEL Destiny has then cut short the glorious Days of so great and so magnanimous a monarch! We are come to pour out our Grief into the paternal Bosom of Your Excellency, the sole Tribute of Gratitude, of a People who will never cease to exalt the Mildness and Moderation of their new Masters. The General who condescended us has rather treated us like a Father than like a Vanquisher, and has left us a precious Pledge, by Gage, in French Name, and Deed, of his Goodness, to us. What Acknowledgments are we not beholden to make for so many Favours? Ha! they shall be forever engraven in our Hearts, in indelible Characters.

We entreat Your Excellency to continue us the Honour of your Protection; We will endeavour to deserve it by our Zeal, and by the earnest Prayers we shall ever offer up, to the immortal Being, for your Health and Preservation.

March 2. Thursday last his Majesty's Ship the Greyhound, of 20 Guns, Captain Francis, arrived at Sandy Hook, from Spithead, in six Weeks and three Days, and the same Night the Captain came to Town, and delivered his Dispatches to his Excellency General Amherst.—Captain Francis left Spithead the 12th of January, but came off so suddenly that he has brought no public Prints: By him we learn, that the greatest Preparations were making to forward the Grand Expedition, which, in our last, we mentioned to be laid aside.—That 13 Sail of the Line were sheathed, and that 200 Sail of Transports were ordered to be sheathed also: That two Expeditions were said to be on the Carpet, viz. one in the West Indies, and the other designed against the Southern Settlements of the French on this Continent; for which last Expedition a Number of Frigates, and some Fire-Ships, were ordered to be put ready: That the brave

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the latest Advices foreign and domestic.

THURSDAY, March 19, 1761.

To the KING's most Excellent MAJESTY.

The humble ADDRESS of the Right Hon. the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, Novem. 18, 1760.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WHEN your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to return your Majesty our humble thanks for your most gracious speech from the throne.

On this first occasion of approaching your royal person, permit us to express our unfeigned sorrow for the severe and distressing loss, which not only this nation, but all Europe has sustained in the sudden death of our late excellent and most beloved sovereign, your Majesty's illustrious grandfather, the late King GEORGE II. whose long reign, and his uniform care of our liberties, not interrupted in any one instance during the course of so many years, demand from us the most grateful acknowledgments; and will make his memory as dear to us as the height and splendor to which he had raised the names of these Kingdoms, will render it glorious to all posterity.

Such a loss could only be repaired by your Majesty. And the same time that we condole with your Majesty on this melancholy event, we beg leave to offer you our most sincere congratulations on your happy accession to the throne. As your Majesty is the rightful and immediate inheritor of his Majesty's virtues with which he adorned it; and which promise a continuation of the same blessings to these Kingdoms. It fills our minds with inexpressible joy, to see the shining hopes we had conceived from your many talents and amiable endowments, and the early demonstrations of your affection to this country, so fully verified in our first resolutions to your Parliament.

We are penetrated with the condescending and endearing manner in which your Majesty has expressed your satisfaction in having received your birth and education amongst us, and a little while it cast on the name of BRITON, when you, we are pleased to esteem it amongst your glories!

The several paternal assurances which your Majesty has graciously given us, speak your resolution to be the common Father of your people. No stronger proof can be given than by adjusting this undeniable maxim, That their love and loyalty to your Majesty, shall be the security of your throne. From this principle will naturally flow the strictest adherence to our excellent Constitution in Church and State, and the maintenance of that sacred trust of the protestant interest in these Kingdoms, the Foundation of which we cannot but applaud your Majesty's wisdom in making the encouragement of true religion and the maintenance of the great foundations of your government.

We adore the goodness of providence in the signal success which we have been blessed this last summer. The success of the extensive province of Canada, with the recovery of Montreal, is an event of the highest importance in your Majesty's reign; and it is no small addition to the glory resulting from the recovery of that city, that while the British arms carry conquest, they carry protection.

We look upon the great advantages gained in the East-Indies, as highly beneficial to the trade of these Kingdoms. And we have the justest sense of the happy consequences resulting to the operations of Great-Britain in particular, and to the common cause in general, from the wise conduct of Prince FERDINAND OF BRUNSWICK. After what the world had before experienced from his abilities, we are not surprised that they should not come to a decisive engagement. The magnanimity and perseverance of the King of Prussia, and not only the admiration of the present age, but of all ages; and the noble stand made, and the victories obtained by that Prince, must be the strongest motives to the wars engaged against him, to concur in the proper measures to restore the tranquillity of Europe.

The justest sentiments which your Majesty has declared concerning your royal navy, and the commerce of your Subjects, are truly worthy of a British monarch, and tend to improve our natural strength, and most valuable resources. The weakening of the French force by sea, to great advantage, and the low state to which their trade is reduced, we esteem amongst the most solid benefits accruing to this nation from the extensive efforts made this year.

Your Majesty's regard for public merit shines forth in the several honors, which you are pleased to take of the valour and intrepidity of your officers and forces by sea and land. They are equally conducive to the safety and glory of our country; and your gracious acceptance of the service of the line, as being useful in the present arduous conjuncture, will be a great encouragement to their zeal.

At the same time that we thankfully acknowledge your Majesty's tender consideration for your people, in your desire to have found your Kingdoms in full peace, we cannot but admire your wisdom in the comprehensive sense you have expressed of the causes and necessity of the present war. We are convinced that your Majesty's humane disposition, makes you lament the calamities of it; whilst your greatness of mind has determined you to pursue it with vigour, in order to a safe and honourable peace, so desirable, not only to your Majesty, but to all Europe. Animated by that duty which we owe your Majesty, and by our zeal for the honour and interest of these Kingdoms, we give your Majesty the strongest assurances, that we will cheerfully support you in prosecuting the war; assist the King of Prussia, and the rest of your allies; and heartily concur in all such measures, as shall be necessary for the defence of your Majesty and your dominions, and for the other national and important ends which you have so fully laid before us.

The anxiety, which your Majesty has so early declared, for the uncommon burdens of your people, demands our sincerest thanks. Your tender concern will be an inducement to bear them the more cheerfully, and a pledge to your faithful Subjects, that they shall be relieved from them as soon as the public security will, in sound policy, admit.

These many and eminent proofs of your Majesty's goodness, and of your fixed attention to our happiness, call upon us for the warmest returns of duty, gratitude, and affection, to your sacred person and government. Our loyalty and fidelity are inexhaustible. Our resolution to maintain your undoubted title to the Imperial crown, and the Protestant succession in your illustrious house, at the hazard of our lives and fortunes, is never to be shaken. Happy shall we be in every instance, whereby we may be able to contribute to the glory, prosperity, and ease of your reign. Your Majesty's prudence, and the benevolence of your royal heart, have pointed out to us the most agreeable means of promoting these ends, by so strongly inculcating the continuance of that union and good harmony, which subsist amongst your people. In doing this, your Majesty has set an inviting and powerful example to all your Subjects, which we are determined to follow, by performing every thing on our part, to strengthen and improve this happy situation.

His MAJESTY'S most gracious ANSWER.

My Lords,

I Return you my hearty thanks, for this very loyal and dutiful Address. Nothing can be more agreeable to Me, than your unanimous concurrence in the several weighty matters which I laid before you. The assurances you give Me, of your fidelity and affection to My Person and Government, and of your zeal for the true interest of your country, and for the support of My Allies, afford Me the highest satisfaction; and will have the best effect both at home and abroad. It shall be My constant endeavour to approve the expectations which you have formed of My reign.

To the KING's most Excellent MAJESTY.

The humble ADDRESS of the House of Commons to the KING.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WHEN your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great-Britain in Parliament assembled, approach your royal presence, to express the deepest sense of the great and severe loss, which your Majesty, and these Kingdoms, have sustained by the death of your Majesty's royal grandfather, our late most excellent sovereign; the memory of whose just and prosperous reign will be held in reverence by all posterity.

We beg leave to congratulate your Majesty on your happy accession to the throne, the only consideration that can alleviate our grief for such a loss. The knowledge of your Majesty's royal virtues, wisdom, and firmness, opens to your faithful Subjects the fairest prospect for their future happiness at home, and for the continuance of that weight and influence of your Majesty's crown abroad, so essentially necessary in this arduous and critical conjuncture, for the preservation of that system, upon which the liberties of Europe depend.

We return your Majesty our humble thanks for your most gracious speech from the throne; and acknowledge, with the liveliest sentiments of duty, gratitude, and exultation of mind, those most affecting and animating words of our most gracious sovereign, That, Born and Educated in this Country; He glories in the name of BRITON. And we offer to your Majesty the full tribute of our hearts, for the warm expressions of your truly royal and tender affection towards your people. We venerate and confide in, those sacred assurances of your Majesty's firm and invariable resolution, to adhere to, and strengthen, this excellent constitution in church and state; to maintain the Toleration invariable; and to protect your faithful Subjects in that greatest of human blessings, the secure enjoyment of their religious and civil rights.

Permit us to congratulate your Majesty on the various successes, which, under the protection of God, have attended the British arms, during the last summer; particularly in the reduction of the city of Montreal, and the entire province of Canada; a conquest equally important and glorious, achieved with intrepidity, and clothed with humanity, the genuine attributes of that British spirit, which, under the benign auspices of your Majesty, will, we trust, continue, by the divine assistance, to give additional lustre to the arms of Great-Britain.

This valuable and extensive acquisition, joined to the signal advantages gained in the East-Indies; the flourishing state of our commerce; the respectable condition of your Majesty's navy, by which the remains of the enemy's Fleet continue blocked up in their harbours, while their trade is almost annihilated; are considerations which fill our hearts with the most pleasing hopes, that your Majesty will be thereby enabled to prosecute this just and necessary war, to that great and desirable object of establishing, in conjunction with your allies, a safe, honourable, and lasting peace.

We see, with the greatest pleasure, that the progress of the French armies in Germany notwithstanding their superiority of numbers, has been stopped, and to the honour of your Majesty's arms, their attempts hitherto baffled, by the wife and able conduct of his serene highness prince FERDINAND OF BRUNSWICK.

When we consider the stupendous efforts, made in every campaign, by your Majesty's great ally the king of Prussia, the defeat of the Austrians in Silesia, and that recent and glorious victory obtained over the army commanded by marshal DASSA, we cannot sufficiently admire the invincible constancy of mind, and inexhaustible resources of genius, displayed by that magnanimous monarch, to whom the most dangerous and difficult situations have only administered fresh occasions for glory.

Our most dutiful acknowledgments are due to your Majesty for the mention which you have so graciously made of the distinguished valour and intrepidity of your officers and forces at sea and land, and for the declaration of your Majesty's constant resolution to encourage and reward such merit; and we return our most humble thanks to your Majesty for your favourable acceptance of the zealous and useful service of the militia, in the present arduous conjuncture.

We assure your Majesty, that your faithful commons, thoroughly sensible of this important crisis, and desirous, with the divine assistance, to render your Majesty's reign successful and glorious in war, happy and honourable in peace, (the natural return of a grateful people to a gracious and affectionate sovereign) will concur in such measures as shall be requisite for the vigorous and effectual prosecution of the war; and that we will cheerfully and speedily grant such supplies as shall be found necessary for that purpose, and for the support of the king of Prussia, and the rest of your Majesty's allies; firmly relying on your Majesty's wisdom, goodness, and justice, that they will be applied in such a manner as will most effectually answer the ends for which they are granted; and with the utmost economy that the nature of such great and extensive operations will allow; and that we will make such an adequate provision for your Majesty's civil government, as may be sufficient to maintain the honour and dignity of your crown, with all proper and becoming lustre.

Your Majesty's faithful commons approach your royal person with hearts penetrated by the warmest and liveliest sense of your unbounded tenderness and concern for the welfare of your people; and rejoicing at the high satisfaction which your Majesty takes in the union which so universally prevails throughout your Kingdoms: A deep sense of that national strength and prosperity visibly derived from this salutary source, and above all your Majesty's approbation of that happy union, and the natural disposition and wish of your royal heart to cement and promote it; are the strongest incentives to concord, and the surest pledge of its duration. The fixed resolution, which your Majesty has declared, to countenance and encourage the practice of true religion and virtue, will, we doubt not, prove the best means of drawing down the favour of God upon a dutiful and united nation; and we shall never cease devoutly to offer up our ardent vows to the divine providence, that, as a recompense for these royal virtues, your Majesty may reign in the hearts of a free and happy people, and they, excited by your Majesty's benevolent care to discharge your royal function, and animated by gratitude for the enjoyment of so many blessings, may make the due return, by a constant obedience to your laws, and by the most steady attachment and loyalty to your person and government.

His MAJESTY'S most gracious ANSWER.

Gentlemen,

I Return you my cordial thanks for this most dutiful and affectionate address, and for your warm expressions of loyalty to my person, and attention to the honour and dignity of my crown.

The unanimous assurances that you will make effectual and speedy provision for the vigorous prosecution of the war, and for the support of my allies, give me the truest satisfaction, and will, I trust, prove the happy means of reducing the enemy to the terms of a just and honourable peace. With such zeal and loyalty among my people, I have only to express the continuance of the divine blessings on their generous efforts, and on my ardent endeavours for the permanent felicity of my loving Subjects.

V I E N N A, November 15.

The Rear Admiral gives a farther Account, that the Anson Cutter has taken a French Cutter Privateer, of 10 Guns, 54 Men, belonging to Dunkirk, which has been five Days from Havre, and had not taken any Thing.

Lieut. John Symons, of his Majesty's Ship the Unicorn, of 28 Guns, and 200 Men, gives an Account, in a Letter dated at Plymouth the 11th Instant, That on the 8th Capt. Hunt, (his Predecessor in the Command of that Ship) being cruising off the Penmarks, discovered, at Eight in the Morning, a Sail to the Northward; to which he gave Chace, and found to be a French Frigate. At half past Ten the Unicorn came up with and begun to engage her, and continued in close Action with her till near half past Twelve: At which Time the Enemy struck, and proved to be the Vestal, a Frigate of the French King's, commanded by M. Boisbertelot, mounting 26 Twelve and Nine Pounders upon her Lower Deck, and four Six Pounders on the Quarter Deck and Forecastle, with 220 Men. She escaped (as the Prisoners declared) from the River Vaine on the 2d Instant, under Convoy of a very thick Fog, in Company with two Ships of 64, Le Grand of 24, and Calipso of 18 Guns, and was bound to Breit.

Capt. Hunt received a Gunshot Wound the third Broadside, in his right Thigh, of which he died an Hour after the Action was over. The Unicorn had five Men killed and ten wounded, six of whom dangerously.

The Vestal had many killed and wounded; and among the latter M. Boisbertelot, who lost his Leg, and died of the Wound next Day.

Lieut. Symons adds, that the Day after the Action, he saw a Sail to Windward, which had greatly the Appearance of a French Ship, and bore down upon him for about half an Hour, then hauled her Wind, and stood in for the Land. That on the 10th, in the Morning, he saw two Ships engaging, which proved to be his Majesty's Ship Seahorse, and Le Grand-Frigate above-mentioned, the latter of which made all the Sail she could from the other, upon the Unicorn's coming within two Gunshot of them, and escaped, notwithstanding he chased her till Evening, having greatly the Advantage in Sailing, the Unicorn having got a Mizzen-top-mast up for a Fore-top-mast, to ease the Fore-mast; and a Main-top-gallant-mast for a Mizzen-top-mast, and her Sails and Rigging much damaged in the Action with the Vestal.

Capt. James Smith, of his Majesty's Ship Seahorse, of 20 Guns and 160 Men, by Letter dated at Plymouth the 11th Instant, gives the following Account of the above-mentioned Action with Le Grand Frigate, which happened 24 Leagues S.W. from the Start, viz. That he saw her in the Morning about Eight o'Clock, in the S. E. Quarter, crowding down upon him; that he continued to Court her and prepared to engage. At a Quarter before Eleven the Enemy came within Pistol Shot, and an Action began, which lasted an Hour and Quarter with great Warmth, during which the Ships were Boarded and Boarded three different Times, which occasioned great Slaughter on both Sides. The Enemy then left the Seahorse, as is before-mentioned in Mr. Symons's Letter, notwithstanding his utmost Endeavours to bring her to Action a second Time.

The Seahorse had 11 Men killed, and 28 wounded, many of the latter, Capt. Smith fears, cannot recover.

Lieut. Symons is preferred to the Command of the Mortar sloop.

And another Captain is appointed to the Seahorse, which is to proceed, the Moment she is repaired, on her outward-bound Voyage: that Capt. Smith may be at home, in the Way to be preferred the first Opportunity.

Both these Gentlemen give the Officers and Seamen of their respective Ships the greatest encomiums for their Bravery during the above Engagements.

His Majesty's Sloop Swallow has brought into Plymouth the Valour Privateer of St. Malo, of four Carriage Guns and 28 Men, taken by the Aquilon.

And the Hornet Sloop has taken and brought into Plymouth the Chevalier d'Arthesiary, a Snow Privateer belonging to Granville, of eight Carriage and six Swivel Guns, and 58 Men.

PHILADELPHIA, March 19. Extract of a Letter from New-York, March 16. "By the Tamar Sloop of War, Captain Lee, who left Portsmouth the 29th of January, we have Advice, that there are two Expeditions going on in England; one supposed for the East, the other the West-Indies: That there was not the least Appearance of Peace, nor no Talk of any Congress, tho' the French gave out that there was to be one: That our Ministry seemed resolved not to make Peace till they could get a most honourable One: That it was said the King of Prussia would take the Field this Month with 150,000 Troops: That it was reported two of the French Ships, that had been detained so long in the Vilaine, were taken: And that the Grand Expedition Fleet last Fall, was designed against Belleisle, every Foot of Ground of which Place was strongly secured by Trenches."

ANNAPOLIS, March 26. The General Assembly of this Province is prorogued to Monday the 13th of next Month; when it is certainly to meet for the Dispatch of Public Business.

Since our last, we have received Public Prints, to the 19th of January, brought by Capt. J. ... Collidge, in the Wilson, who left England the latter End of January. By the Prints we have the melancholy Account of the Loss of many of our Ships, which sail'd from hence last Fall. The George, Chere, is taken and carried into St. Malo; The Neptune, Beg; Nelly, Wilkinson; Friendship, Mc Dougal; Fortune, Christie; Wye-River, Neel; Elizabeth, Shaftoe; and Charming Betty, Haeter; are all taken and carried into Bayonne: These are all that we find mentioned in the Papers; but it is said there were six or seven Others taken.

Sunday last arrived here, Capt. Jacob Walters in the Ship St. George, from London and Teneriffe. Capt. Montgomerie, in the Montgomerie, is arrived in Painxent from Glasgow.

Yesterday arrived here from Barbadoes, in the Schooner Chester, Capt. Tho. Ireland, who left that Island the 18th of February; he informs us, that Commodore Douglas having been acquainted by the Temple and Emerald Men of War, that they had chased a 70 Gun French Man of War, a French Frigate, and a Store Ship, into the Grenades, the Commodore, with Two other Ships of the Line, sail'd immediately down in order to block them in; and the whole Fleet was soon to sail from Carlisle Bay, in order to join him, in an Attack against those Islands.

One Day last Week, an Overseer of a Plantation in Prince-George's County, Beat a Young Negro Fellow, committed to his Charge, to Death. [What a pity it is, that INHUMANITY should be a necessary ingredient in the composition of a GOOD OVERSEER!]

Sunday last Died here in an advanced Age, Mrs. Mary Callahan, who was many Years an eminent Midwife.

WHEREAS I have told divers Persons, and particularly Daniel Killum and Charles Pickering of Talbot County, that Mrs. Mary Edmondson, Wife of Mr. Pollard Edmondson, or about the 11th Day of February last, came with her Daughter Mrs. Martin, into the Store that I kept for Mr. Joshua Clark at Talbot County Court-House, and that whilst the said Mrs. Edmondson and Mrs. Martin were in the Store, I mist a Piece of Linnen, and that I put my Hand on a Pillow Case which Mrs. Edmondson brought into the Store with her, and felt therein a Piece of Linnen, and that I mist'd at Daniel Killum to take Notice of it; and whereas I told the said Daniel Killum and Charles Pickering, that I suspected Mrs. Edmondson had taken the said Piece of Linnen out of the Store; and whereas I did desire the said Daniel Killum to go to the House of Dr. Martin, where Mrs. Edmondson was, and to tell Mrs. Edmondson, that if she would bring back the said Piece of Linnen, I would not tell the said Joshua Clark thereof, nor speak to him about it; and whereas the said Mrs. Edmondson has made it evidently appear, to my intire Satisfaction, that what I took to be the Piece of Linnen which I mist'd, was the greater Part of a Piece of Linnen of her own, which she brought into the Store with her in the Pillow Case. Now I do think myself bound in Conscience, and in Justice to Mrs. Edmondson's Character, to declare to the World, that I was mistaken in my Apprehensions of the Matter, and that my Suspicions were without the least real Foundation; and I do hereby own my Rashness, and Indiscretion, in divulging my Suspicions upon so slender Grounds; and I do take this public Method of asking Mrs. Edmondson's Pardon, for having made use of her Name so indiscreetly and unwarrantably; and I do hereby declare, that I have not any Reason to suspect that the said Mrs. Edmondson took the said Piece of Linnen, or any Thing else out of the said Store, unknown to the Store-keepers, or was, or would be guilty of any such Act: And whereas Daniel Killum alleges, and has sworn (as I am informed) that I did in direct Terms assert, that Mrs. Edmondson had taken the said Piece of Linnen out of the Store, I do utterly deny that I ever made any such direct Charge, but only communicated to him the Causes and grounds of my Suspicions (which I do acknowledge to be groundless); and do further acknowledge, that if I did make such direct Charge, the same was false, scandalous, and without any other Foundation than my mistaken Apprehension aforesaid.

TEST. JOSEPH BEWLEY. W. Martin, Wm. Trapp, J. Gibson, Jacob Gibson, Richard Grafon, William Sharp, Thomas Dudley, Ja. Strainer, Wolman Gibson, W. Thomas, John Dickenson, P. IF Edward Ellkins, of Londonderry, in the North of Ireland, who arrived at New-Castle on Down about 16 Years ago, be Alive, and will apply to Dr. Henry Stavenon in Baltimore-Town by Letter or otherwise, he may hear of something to his Satisfaction. JAMES ELLKIN.
